Finances stymie security plan

Don't look for private security guards to be in Wayne-Westland secondary schools this month. The delay until next fall was reportedly caused by contract problems between the security firm and school officials.

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Security guards apparently won't be placed in Wayne-Westland schools during the waning days of this school year, as officials had hoped.

Amid growing concerns about school violence, school board members had asked administration officials to hire security guards for the district's secondary schools to protect students and employees from potential harm.

But contract problems between the district and Merchants Security Co. have stalled the plan for now, although the board had wanted security guards in place for the flurry of year-end school activities.

"Frankly I question whether there will be any security this year," said Bill Taylor, associate superintendent for employee services.

It appears the plan will be delayed until the opening of school next fall, Taylor said. It would be implemented then unless the board drops the project because of a projected $14-million budget shortfall.

The decision to place guards in the district's high schools and junior highs emerged after the board became increasingly worried about violence on school grounds.

Numerous incidents have been reported in recent years in which students have been caught with guns, knives and other weapons in schools. Shootings and a pipebomb explosion also have occurred on school grounds, but those incidents occurred during after-school hours.

Under the security plan, two guards would be placed in each of the district's two high schools, and one guard would be placed in each of the four junior high schools.

Graduation season

Last get-together: John Glenn High School assistant principal Marie Pleuss, (lower center in black gown) helps assemble seniors for the procession into Crisler Arena for Saturday's commencement.

The party's over: graduates bow out

More than 800 Rockets and Zebras closed their public school careers Saturday at the University of Michigan's Crisler Arena.

In separate ceremonies, starting at noon, John Glenn and Wayne Memorial high schools awarded diplomas to an estimated 810 seniors in the annual commencement.

In the Glenn graduation, nine co-valedictorians were honored. They are Deborah Coole, Karen Deschaine, Neil Duncan, Jill Gordon, Valerie Martin, Alisa Shyu, Gregory Sobzynski, Brooke Wess and Ryan Zantow.

The five Wayne Memorial co-valedictorians were John Bemenderfer, Valerie DeVore, Toby Kmet, Erica Schmitt and Daniel Wilkins.

But the graduation season isn't over yet for some Westland families.

In the Westland portion of the Livonia school district, Franklin High will hold its commencement Wednesday evening, June 16, in the school gym with Churchill High's ceremony planned for the next day on the school's football field.

Happy grads: John Glenn senior Mark Wertz adjusts the cap of classmate Brenda Morawa before the ceremony, which was followed by Wayne Memorial's commencement.

'Catastrophic' budget cuts predicted

BY MARIE CHESTNEY
STAFF WRITER

It's back to square one tonight for Livonia school district officials who put together a "kinder" budget based on the passage of Proposal A and now, due to the proposal's defeat at the polls last week, must adopt an infinitely harsher one.

The 1993-94 budget will be so painful — cuts up to $12 million — that Superintendent Joseph Marinelli has called it catastrophic. It's a budget that will cut into the heart of the Livonia school system, said the superintendent whose district includes the northern section of Westland.

Cuts include the layoff of 250 teachers, elimination of sixth hour for middle and high schools, and dropping all athletic and extracurricular activities.

How deep the cuts will be also hinges on whether outstate lawmakers follow through on threats they made in the wake of Wednesday's Proposal A defeat. Angry outstate lawmakers blame voters in the tri-country area for killing the tax plan they backed.

"I'm bothered by the negative feelings of outstate legislators," said Rep.

Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia. "These lawmakers are angry at us and threaten to take revenge in the educational budget. I'm hoping their furor abates. I hope they're just kidding."

After tonight's regular board meeting, which begins at 7 p.m., the trustees begin debate on the worst-case scenario budget put together earlier by the administration. The scenario

Motorcycle race ends in death

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A 21-year-old Westland man was decapitated and killed Saturday evening when he lost control of a motorcycle that he was driving on Avondale, between Hix and Worcester.

Westland police are investigating eyewitness reports that Ralph Painter Jr. died while he and another cyclist were speeding down neighborhood streets at speeds of 60 to 100 mph, said Westland police Sgt. Peter Brokas.

"We're investigating the possibility that they were drag-racing," Brokas said.

Painter and another cyclist — described as a friend — were speeding in the neighborhood when Painter lost control of his Suzuki while turning a curve on Avondale at 7:47 p.m., police said.

Painter scraped a pickup truck, lost control of his motorcycle, hit a curb, traveled across a couple of yards and was eventually thrown from the cycle into the back of a parked van, police said.

He was decapitated and died instantly, Brokas said. Police believe that Painter may have been hit by his own cycle after he was thrown from it, Brokas said.

Police have declined to release the identity of the other cyclist. Charges may be sought against the 22-year-old cyclist, Brokas said.

Conflicting eyewitness accounts indicated the two men were driving at speeds of 60 to 100 mph, though Brokas said reports of 100 miles per hour appear to be exaggerated.

Painter was wearing his helmet at the time of the accident, but it couldn't prevent the type of injuries he received.

Painter's mother was home at their nearby residence at the time, police said. She did not come to the scene, but an uncle and a cousin did, Brokas said.

Autism group plans networking session

An educational networking session for parents of disabled children is scheduled Wednesday night by the Wayne County Chapter of the Autism Society of America. It will start at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Livonia Civic Center Library, Five Mile east of Farmington Road.

The country's largest autism program, the Burger Center, is based in Garden City and serves all of Wayne County.

The session will be on inclusive education, which is a policy expressed in state and federal laws which encourages the placement of disabled students in general education classrooms.

The chapter is preparing for a June 22 hearing at the Wayne County RESA headquarters on Van Born just west of Venoy in Wayne on the inclusive education report on "Barriers to Inclusion in Michigan Schools."

Small business gets local boost

New Westland small businesses will be "hatched" under a new program announced last week by the Westland Chamber of Commerce.

The organization said it will use vacant buildings in the city to start "incubator businesses," said Joyce Wheeler, chamber executive director.

By taking a vacant building, dividing it into 300-400 square feet sections, a number of small businesses currently operating out of their homes will have the advantage of keeping the cost of a professional office down to an affordable means, she said.

There would be a common reception area as well as a secretari-

The 'Incubator business' will also allow each small business person to grow at their own pace, and eventually move into a larger office complex to fit their needs.

office complex to fit their needs, the chamber official said.

The chamber has been concerned about the vacant buildings in the community, and decided to move forward to eliminate the problem that has existed for many years, Wheeler said.

Ann Arbor has had success with a similar venture, she said. Westland Chamber of Commerce president Dennis LeMaitre has formed a committee consisting of Wheeler, board members Joseph Benyo, Richard Honaker and himself to plan the new program.

The committee has already had meetings with prospective building owners. Just in conversation during recent weeks, over 10 small business owners have expressed enthusiasm about the idea.

Wheeler said the "incubator business program" is moving forward with the chamber setting a goal of starting their first sponsored project by early fall. They will strive to have two or three such buildings in operation within the year.

Interested persons may contact the chamber, 326-7222.

McKinley Preschool moving to Westland

The Westland community will soon have its first nonprofit cooperative nursery.

The McKinley Cooperative Preschool will hold an open house in its new home in Good Shepherd Reformed Church, 6500 N. Wayne Road at Hunter, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, June 12.

Classes for 2-, 3- and 4-year-olds are available, said Ann Katopodis, preschool spokeswoman. "Children are welcome and there will be activities for them to enjoy," she said.

The open house is a chance for parents and their preschoolers "to see the classroom, meet the teacher and learn more about the benefits of a co-op preschool," said the spokeswoman.

McKinley, starting its 20th year, was previously located in the McKinley Elementary School, in the Joy-Henry Ruff area of southeast Livonia.

Preschool teacher Carol Miles has been with McKinley for nine years, previously working as an elementary school teacher for 4 years.

The nursery, with a capacity of 100 families, now has 75, slightly under the maximum of 83 served, Katopodis said.

At the McKinley School for 18 years, the nursery is moving to its new location because the Livonia Public Schools, owner of the school, needed the classroom space for an increasing enrollment, she said.

"The preschool will be missed by McKinley Elementary School, and vice versa, but the move should be an exciting change since this will be the first cooperative preschool located in the city of Westland," she said.

She added that parental involvement is a key ingredient in the success of any cooperative preschool.

Katopodis said Mrs. Miles got involved in co-op nurseries when her own children were in the program many years ago.

The spokeswoman said McKinley Cooperative offers crafts, music, games and story time with a certified teacher. The organization is nonprofit and isn't church-affiliated, she added.

Three-year-old children have classes Tuesday and Thursday mornings or afternoons with 4-year-olds convening on Monday and Wednesday mornings or afternoons. Parent-tot meetings are Friday mornings.

For information, persons may call Donna, 522-8501, for the 4-year-olds' program; Francis, 425-4654, for the 3-year-olds' program; and Jennifer, 458-5195, for the tots' program.

Candidate slams mayor for forming drug panel

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Westland Mayor Robert Thomas has come under heavy fire from a political opponent for forming a drug and alcohol abuse task force in his re-election year.

Mayoral candidate Doug Noel, a 43-year-old Internal Revenue Service specialist, dismissed the task force as "a great political move" in an election year in which Thomas already has three opponents.

Thomas, seeking a second four-year term, is being challenged by first-time candidate Noel, former Mayor and current Westland City Council President Charles Pickering, and Councilman Kenneth Mehl.

Thomas' administration announced last month that 25 people — police officers, school district representatives, city officials and community leaders — have joined his task force.

Noel conceded that "we certainly should do everything we can to combat drug abuse," but he criticized the mayor to task for certain statements about the drug abuse panel.

Thomas, in forming the task force, said he wants to seek state legislation giving a 5-percent reduction in workman's compensation premiums to businesses certified as drug-free workplaces.

Noel, however, stressed that the workman's compensation program "covers a great deal more" than drug abuse. "To insinuate that people on workman's compensation are there due to drug abuse is irresponsible," he said.

Noel also charged that "more red tape and government involvement in the private affairs of individuals and businesses is never the answer."

Thomas also suggested that the city develop a community resource book about drugs, their effects and where to get help.

Noel responded that such books already exist and added, "The fact that the city of Westland has not put together or sponsored a guide is a shame to the Thomas administration."

Thomas, saying he wants "to strengthen the home," called for enforcement of a residential party ordinance." Thomas pledged to try to enhance the quality of life in Westland neighborhoods.

The challenge, one of four announced for the Sept. 14 primary, suggested the mayor's comments amounted to trying to establish a value system by law.

The city can't enforce a "party ordinance" unless parties infringe on the rights of others.

Noel also questioned Thomas' proposal to promote an in-school program that gives awards, pennants and trophies to students who get involved in anti-drug activities.

Noel called it "an insult to the intelligence of high school students."

"A trophy or pennant for learning about drugs?" he asked. "I find it difficult to fathom a John Glenn honor student calling someone to his or her locker to show off the anti-drug trophy."

Noel also raised questions about how the mayor's proposals would be funded. The administration, in part, has suggested getting businesses involved in making donations, particularly for the community resource book.

Injured officer returns home

BY DARRELL CLEM

Westland police officer Kenneth Warsaw has been released from the hospital after emerging from a coma which resulted from a May 10 traffic accident in Detroit.

He is, however, expected to be in recovery for several more months, police said.

Warsow, who suffered head injuries, was released Friday from the Rehabilitation Institute of Michigan in Detroit, but he will continue to be treated on an outpatient basis for several months, Westland Police Chief Emery Price said.

Warsow, 29, was injured May 10 during an early morning, two-car accident on the Southfield Freeway near Puritan in Detroit. He collided with another motorist when they tried simultaneously to get into the same lane, Price has said.

Warsow, who was alone and off duty, hit a concrete wall on the freeway. He remained in a coma for several days and then slowly began regaining consciousness.

Warsow had initially been treated at Detroit Receiving Hospital, but was transferred to the Rehabilitation Institute after his condition improved. He is expected to be treated on an outpatient basis for at least three to six months, Price said.

■ 'His sister has really been cheering for him and taking care of his personal things.'

Emery Price
Police Chief

It remains unknown whether Warsaw will ever be able to return to work, the police chief said.

Price received an update on Warsaw's condition from the officer's sister, who has been caring for him. Warsaw is single.

"His sister has really been cheering for him and taking care of his personal things," Price said Friday, after talking with the sister.

Warsow had initially been in critical condition. He had suffered bleeding in his brain because of a closed head injury, but doctors stopped the bleeding and his condition improved.

A Detroit resident, Warsaw has been an officer with the Westland Police Department since October 1991. One of his most recent accomplishments was to be awarded a Certificate of Merit during the department's annual awards ceremony.

Local problem solvers take on nuclear waste

Problem solvers of the world will be in Madison, Wis., this summer. And four students from Churchill High, which serves the northwest section of Westland, will be among them.

The students will represent Michigan at the 19th annual Future Problem-Solving International Conference June 10-14 on the University of Wisconsin campus. Some 2,000 students from countries around the world, including Australia, Canada and New Zealand, will discuss how to rid the world of its problems with nuclear waste.

The Churchill students are sophomores Amanda Barrett and juniors Lizzie Kostielney, Nirav Shah and Becky Smedley. All are veteran problem solvers.

This year, however, Michigan will be represented by two senior teams, one each from Churchill and Berkley.

But some terms of the proposed contract with Merchant Security Co. didn't satisfy school officials, such as contract language about liability issues and the termination of services, Taylor said.

Attorneys for the district and the security company are trying to resolve the issues, but Taylor predicted the contract problems won't be resolved in time to hire security for the remainder of this school year, which ends June 18.

Earlier this month, board trustee Francis "Bud" Winter indicated that security guards should have been in place this year. Winter called the delay "unacceptable."

In another development, the district's new in-house suspension program appears to be working "very effectively," Taylor said. Under the new program started this year, students suspended for infractions such as tardiness, minor insubordination and not completing assignments have been allowed to stay in school, in special classes.

The goal was to punish the students but to keep them in school and off the streets, where they could get into more serious trouble.

"I think everybody is pleased" with in-house suspension, Taylor said.

That program is expected to be continued next school year.

includes $12 million in cuts. Marinelli said he will recommend trustees put off deciding how much to cut until they see what education and property tax relief plans emerge from Lansing.

"We don't know if the cuts will be $6, $8, $10, or $11 million," Marinelli said. "It doesn't make sense to go through the agony of trying to make the decision on how much to cut and where to cut until we know the bottom line."

The board must adopt a new budget by June 30. If trustees accept Marinelli's recommendation, the board will adopt a budget based on $12 million in cuts, Marinelli said.

On Thursday, Michigan lawmakers scrapped an education state aid budget assembled earlier in anticipation that Proposal A would pass.

A substitute property tax relief plan that would roll back property tax assessments is now in the House. It already has passed the Senate.

Bankes fears the worst-case scenario drawn by Livonia schools could get much worse if outstate lawmakers follow through on their threats. She cited a scenario in which lawmakers cut categorical aid to out-of-formula districts such as Livonia even more deeply than they have cut categorical up to now. The state gives districts extra money for such programs as transportation and gifted education and pays the bulk of school employees' Social Security and retirement.

To save school programs, under Bankes' scenario, districts would ask residents to pay more taxes.

But residents, reeling from recent assessment increases, refuse. "They have these huge assessments and then are asked to pay more," Bankes said. "When the millage request doesn't pass, districts will face not only the current cuts they must make, but the cuts in categorical also."

At this point, Bankes said, momentum will grow for cutbacks in teacher, administrative and school worker salaries.

"Under this worse-case scenario, as soon as the state stops paying Social Security and retirement, districts will be forced to get real. You can't get blood from a turnip."

Marinelli said he hopes "cooler heads prevail" in the weeks ahead as lawmakers assemble the 1993-94 school aid bill.

"Everybody is trying to blame everybody else for the defeat. They're looking for scapegoats," Marinelli said. "Unfortunately, this spirit of revenge would hit districts such as Livonia which actively endorsed Proposal A."

Marinelli said he fears the concept of Robin Hood — shifting money from wealthier districts to poorer ones — will resurface among vengeful lawmakers.

Any request for higher taxes should be delayed until the final school aid bill emerges, Marinelli said.

"Right now, it's premature. We need to know how much to ask for."

Prop A backers mad at Detroit

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Questions you might ask about the defeat Wednesday of Proposal A, the plan to replace $2 billion in school property taxes with a sales tax increase.

Q. How's Gov. John Engler really taking this, his second defeat on a property tax cut?

A. Engler is smart enough to restrain his tongue, but the western state politicians around him are fuming at "Detroit."

House GOP speaker Paul Hillenborg of Holland: "Tonight the state sort of divided in two. It's like two separate states in how they view the world."

Gubernatorial press agent John Truscott: "It's really a shame when we can carry 70 counties and have one area decide the fate of the whole state."

Senate majority leader Dick Posthumus: "They (who voted no) benefitted from the present system."

Grand Rapids Press news headline: "Area voters endorse proposal but can't counter Detroit ballots."

Engler: "The metro area has a higher level of alienation. There's less sense of community with the rest of the state. When we got to the W's (in counties), we were leading."

Q. Is that view of "Detroit" justified?

A. No. There were four clear pockets of opposition to Proposal A:

- Oakland, Macomb and suburban Wayne counties. Even though school boards endorsed A, taxpayers would have received little property tax relief, trivial school aid relief and the displeasure of shipping their higher sales tax money outstate.

- Detroit itself, where taxpayers would have received a 19-mill cut but voted no anyway.

- Four large outstate counties — Washtenaw, where Ann Arborites would have had a mere 2-mill cut; Genesee (Flint), Saginaw and Bay City, the latter three on the I-75 corridor.

- Six Upper Peninsula counties around Marquette.

Q. Why would Detroit, with so much to gain, vote no?

A. Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-

Fowlerville, supported A but blamed the GOP leadership for alienating Detroit by recalling the Cobo Hall refinancing bill from Engler's desk after the Legislature had passed it.

The Cobo Hall bill had a major impact on what they did in Detroit. The issue was trust. Dave Holmes, D-Detroit, who rarely says anything, said, "I'm not taking this layin' down. You're not doing this to my city." Engler was part of it. It (Detroit's negative vote) should not have been a surprise.

Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, an opponent, said: "The governor put it as three counties versus 80. Those three counties have 50 percent of the people. The people showed a lot better judgment than the organizations who were pushed and cajoled into supporting it."

Q. What will happen now?
A. A reporter put it best: "Robin Hood is back, and he's madder than poop," or something like that.

Q. Meaning?
A. Engler and legislators who supported tax base sharing will take away every state dollar suburban schools get for pensions and categorical aid.

That's the reason many out-of-formula suburban school boards supported A — they feared the wrath of Engler, Sen. Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron, and Rep. James O'Neill, D-Saginaw, on categoricals.

Q. How does Engler justify that wrath?
A. He points to Bridgman, a Lake Michigan shoreline district with a nuclear plant.

"It's unsupportable," Engler said, "that Bridgman levies 8 mills, spends $7,000 per pupil and still gets a $400,000 check from the state. They won't get that check. And they'll have to go to 9 mills."

Q. Bridgman is one thing, but what about the Novis, Northvilles, Farmingtons, Livonias, Southfields, Troys, South Redfords . . . ?

A. Engler and the western legislators make straw men of the three B's — Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills and Bridgman — as examples of super wealth. They don't talk about the others.

Voters to elect 3 to S'craft board

■ Candidates respond on Page 7A

In an effort to inform voters, the Livonia League of Women Voters posed three questions to candidates running for the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees.

The league is a non-partisan organization dedicated to providing information about candidates and issues. The league does not endorse candidates.

Six candidates are seeking three seats on the board — one four-year term and two six-year terms.

The election is Monday, June 14.

Squaring off for one four-year term are Winifred Fraser of Northville and Richard DeVries of Livonia.

Seeking the two six-year terms are Catherine Broadbent of Westland, Linda Chuhuran of Canton Township, John Walsh of Livonia and Patricia Watson of Northville.

Fraser, appointed to the Schoolcraft board in January, is a retired from Wayne State University, where she was an associate dean in the graduate school. She holds bachelor's and master's degree in psychology and a doctorate in philosophy.

Fraser is a member of several boards, including the Child/Youth Initiative of Detroit/Wayne County, the Visiting Nurse Association of Southeastern Michigan and the Michigan Department of Health Prevention

Advisory Committee.

She served as chairwoman and vice chairwoman of the Western Michigan University Board of Trustees and is a former member of the Livonia Family YMCA Board of Directors.

She serves as a peer counselor at the Schoolcraft's Women's Resource Center.

DeVries is retired from the Livonia Public Schools, where he worked for more than 30 years.

He holds a bachelor's degree in math from the University of Michigan. His postgraduate work includes course work at U-M, Eastern Michigan University and Wayne State University.

DeVries coached the Churchhill School debate team from 1985 to 1992 and coached boys baseball from 1966 to 1992. He is a member of the Livonia Optimists Club and charter member of the Livonia Arts Commission.

He is active in the Republican Party and has served as a precinct delegate, a member of what was formerly the Wayne 2nd Congressional Committee and a delegate to the state convention.

Broadbent holds a bachelor's of science degree in business management from Madonna University. She received an associate's degree in business administration from Schoolcraft. She is a graduate of Churchhill High School.

She is the director of human resources for Plymouth Township.

The mother of two school-age children, Broadbent is active in the Michigan Metro Girl Scouts. She was the governmental chairwoman of the Plymouth Community United Way Annual Fund Campaign and vice chairwoman of the Madonna University Corporate Fund Campaign in 1992.

She is member of the personnel committee of the Conference of Western Wayne.

Chuhuran holds five associate's degrees (marketing and applied management, general business, cosmetology management, small business management and liberal arts/general studies) from Schoolcraft College. She has a bachelor's of science degree from Madonna and a master's of science degree in administration from that school.

Chuhuran is a senior accountant at General Motors Corp. and a member of the National Association of Accountants and the American Society of Professional and Executive Women. She was formerly the clerk in Canton Township.

Walsh is an attorney with Lewis, White & Clay of Detroit. He holds a bachelor's degree in international relations from James Madison College at Michigan State University and a law degree from Wayne State University. He is a graduate of Garden City East High School.

He is a member of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, the Livonia Jaycees, where he was recognized as the director of the year in 1991-1992, and the Wayne and Oakland Young Republicans.

He was appointed to the Schoolcraft board in January.

Watson, who works as a psychologist at Providence Hospital in Southfield, holds a bachelor's degree from Aquinas College in Grand Rapids, a master's degree from St. Francis College in Indiana and a doctorate from the University of Detroit.

She has served on the Schoolcraft board since she was appointed in 1991.

She is a member of the American Psychological Association, the Northville Business and Professional Women's Organization and the Michigan League of Women Voters. She serves as a consultant to the Salvation Army and Edwin Denby Memorial Children's Home in Detroit.

Registered voters in the school districts of Livonia, Clarenceville, Plymouth Cnaton, Garden City and Northville are eligible to vote in the Schoolcraft race.

Schoolcraft trustees are not paid. Other Schoolcraft trustees are Mary Breen of Plymouth Township, Michael Burley of Canton Township, Harry Greenleaf of Livonia and Steve Ragan of Plymouth.

Q. Are our leaders giving up on cutting property taxes and achieving school funding equity?

A. No, but they're licking their wounds and looking for other options. Engler still argues Michigan's property taxes are 30 percent above the national average. University of Michigan economists still see high property taxes as an impediment to industrial growth.

Q. Is there a clear message in the defeat of A?

A. Not that Engler can detect. "Sixty percent (of voters) are against anything at any given time... I'm waiting to see what Mike Sessa, Bill McMaster and Frank Garrison send us."

Sessa and McMaster are vocal tax cutters. Garrison heads the AFL-CIO. All opposed A and attacked Engler.

Best guess: Some effort to pare or hold down property taxes, such as Senate Bill 146, a 1994 freeze. It was due to be taken up the day after Wednesday's election but was bypassed.

Q. What's ruled out?

A. Engler and Senate leaders say an income tax increase is out, though many House members of both parties would go that route.

Rusty Hills, Engler's communications chief, also says another ballot proposal is out.

Q. Are any other plans out there?

A. Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, will push his plan, which would cut property taxes for most districts, not just 70 percent of them, and raise the sales tax 2 cents.

The difference: Faxon's plan would grant state aid based on regional costs of doing business rather than giving all $4,800 per pupil, whether they need it or not.

Another difference: Faxon's plan aims at cutting the dollar amounts of property tax bills, not tinkering with assessments or millage rates.

Reaction from his suburban audiences: very good.

Q. Any chance of a federal court forcing Michigan to do school funding equity?

A. Some Democratic lawmakers, like Reps. Kirk Profit of Ypsilanti and Bill Keith of Garden City, wanted to write "equity" into the Michigan Constitution to allow such a suit. They've had no luck.

Engler says a federal lawsuit is "not unthinkable," but he clearly would like to avoid it. Kentucky was forced to raise its tax load $1 billion for schools. Texas is in a messy suit.

Belle Isle attracts fans of all ages

Hands down holding flags of encouragement—the usual montage of smiling faces trying to squeeze into the camera view at major sporting events. However, this year at First of America Free Prix Day on Belle Isle, you may see a number of fans shying away from the camera.

Since the event is annually held on a Friday, many of the expected 60,000 race enthusiasts will be escaping from a day of work or school hoping not to be caught by the watchful eye of the camera. Dedicated fans are expected to travel from as far as Canada and northern Michigan to enjoy a day of racing.

nearly 45,000 are expected to view the Grand Prix race on Sunday

Race fans range in age and social backgrounds, from high-powered businessmen and women to fathers and sons reliving memories of past generations of racing legends. "The attraction of Indy car racing seems to stem from inside race fans and isn't definable by gender, race or social status," commented McCabe. "The diversity of the audience itself plays a major role in the success of racing."

McCabe hopes track conditions continue to be as favorable as in past years.

S'craft board candidates address election issues

Winifred Fraser: Appointed to the Schoolcraft board in January, she is seeking a four-year term.

Richard DeVries: Retired after nearly 30 years as a Livonia school teacher, he is seeking a four-year term on the Schoolcraft board.

Catherine Broadbent: The director of human resources for Plymouth Township, she is seeking a six-year term on the Schoolcraft board.

Linda Chuhnan: An accountant at GM, she is seeking a six-year term on the Schoolcraft board.

John Walsh: The Livonia attorney was appointed to the board in January. He is seeking a six-year term.

Patricia Watson: Appointed to the board in 1991, she is seeking a six-year term on the Schoolcraft board.

1. What would you do to enhance the acceptability of Schoolcraft credits at four-year institutions?

Schoolcraft has working relationships with most colleges and universities in Michigan. Schoolcraft's credits are respected. The problem is that some four-year institutions do not accept community college credits for graduation requirements. Students are asked to take tests or often repeat courses to take higher level courses and/or graduate.

1. What would you do to enhance the acceptability of Schoolcraft credits at four-year institutions?

Schoolcraft has working relationships with most colleges and universities in Michigan. Schoolcraft's credits are respected. The problem is that some four-year institutions do not accept community college credits for graduation requirements. Students are asked to take tests or often repeat courses to take higher level courses and/or graduate.

1. What would you do to enhance the acceptability of Schoolcraft credits at four-year institutions?

Schoolcraft College currently has agreements with several dozen state and private colleges concerning the acceptance of transfer credits. To enhance acceptability at additional colleges, graduation testing, similar to the ASSET test required of incoming Schoolcraft students, may provide the necessary assurance to these colleges of post-secondary skills developed at Schoolcraft.

1. What would you do to enhance the acceptability of Schoolcraft credits at four-year institutions?

Schoolcraft has a high level of acceptance, currently. Structuring course element with very specific focus on program identification for specialized skill training will enhance student enrollment and assist students to concentrate on career development and a stronger association with a four year program instead of two years general studies education.

1. What would you do to enhance the acceptability of Schoolcraft credits at four-year institutions?

Schoolcraft credits are presently acceptable at over 25 four year institutions through articulation agreements. As trustee, I will urge the administration to pursue articulation agreements with additional four year institutions as well as encouraging our counseling staff to work closely with students to assure compliance with such agreements.

1. What would you do to enhance the acceptability of Schoolcraft credits at four-year institutions?

Schoolcraft has agreements with 32 four-year institutions in Michigan to guarantee the transfer of credits. Mandatory counseling is also provided with a "transfer guide" to insure courses transfer. The guide is provided by four-year institutions to facilitate this process. Students need to access academic counseling if questions arise.

2. How do you see institutions like Schoolcraft fitting into the proposed job retraining program in an era of steadily declining state funds for community colleges?

While state cuts affect Schoolcraft's general fund, retraining programs are funded through JPTA's proposal procedure. Submitting worthwhile proposals as we have in the past should maintain our funding level. Schoolcraft also develops retraining agreements with the private sector through our Business Development office. This activity would receive greater emphasis.

2. How do you see institutions like Schoolcraft fitting into the proposed job retraining program in an era of steadily declining state funds for community colleges?

Schoolcraft should take advantage of any available programs to help train students. Schoolcraft already works directly with area businesses on specific retraining projects. Fitting new programs into this format would be a very direct use of funds.

2. How do you see institutions like Schoolcraft fitting into the proposed job retraining program in an era of steadily declining state funds for community colleges?

This is one way for the college to enhance their revenue picture and self-promote at the same time by capturing retraining funds. According to the Hudson Institute report, the average worker will change jobs seven times in their life. This means continual training, retraining and learning opportunities.

2. How do you see institutions like Schoolcraft fitting into the proposed job retraining program in an era of steadily declining state funds for community colleges?

Schoolcraft can easily find a market to coordinate college programs assisting employers changing job descriptions with transitional skill training and career pathing. Employers will fund the cost when courses are structured to benefit their unique specialized needs. Corporate funding will offset funding and enhance student involvement.

2. How do you see institutions like Schoolcraft fitting into the proposed job retraining program in an era of steadily declining state funds for community colleges?

Schoolcraft already participates in retraining programs with private businesses. It is important that Schoolcraft be involved in retraining citizens, who in a rapidly changing economy require new skills to compete. Retraining courses should be provided as the budget allows, but should not cause a reduction in resources allocated to traditional two year students.

2. How do you see institutions like Schoolcraft fitting into the proposed job retraining program in an era of steadily declining state funds for community colleges?

Schoolcraft constantly seeks to obtain grants and funding to address the employment needs of our communities. This effort is another innovative strategy to insure our financial stability. Schoolcraft College has obtained five grants from a fund for job training and adult education in 1992-1993 for a total of $342,541.00

3. In your opinion, what three problems at Schoolcraft need the most attention from the trustees?

Cost containment while assuring quality education will be a tremendous problem since state aid has been continuously decreasing. Maintaining a sufficient number of full time faculty to ensure quality education will continue to be a challenge. Achieving broader public recognition of the quality and community resources Schoolcraft offers is crucial.

3. In your opinion, what three problems at Schoolcraft need the most attention from the trustees?

1. Schoolcraft College must increase the number of full time faculty members. Part-time instructors should be provided extensive training to insure competency.
2. Schoolcraft must make a greater effort to comply immediately with the American Disabilities Act.
3. The college should evaluate all equipment used for instruction. Outdated and older equipment must be replaced.

3. In your opinion, what three problems at Schoolcraft need the most attention from the trustees?

1. Competition from other educational institutions.
2. Revenue enhancements and tuition such as grants, business/education partnerships, fund-raising and expanded facility use.
3. Compliance with ever changing laws such as the Americans with Disabilities Act as it pertains to retraining of teachers, physical access and employment issues.

3. In your opinion, what three problems at Schoolcraft need the most attention from the trustees?

Long range growth development to include expansion of programs and facilities to accommodate a changing work force with continual course curriculum upgrades; implementation of student affordability programs and improvements to various student services currently provided; gain considerable private industry involvement with program design, facilities, course instruction and funding.

3. In your opinion, what three problems at Schoolcraft need the most attention from the trustees?

The three immediate problems/concerns requiring attention from the trustees are: the impact of declining state aid to the college, the retirement of over 30 percent of the faculty and the staff in the next five years, and community recognition of the excellent courses and programs available at Schoolcraft.

3. In your opinion, what three problems at Schoolcraft need the most attention from the trustees?

1. Uncertain funding from state of Michigan revenues and the resulting impact to the college.
2. Meeting the ever-changing needs of providing the best academic grounding, technical education and career preparation.
3. Maintain the quality of staff as we face a rate of 30-50 percent retirement within five years.

Athletes who drive

Athletes come in many shapes and sizes, yet constant visions of physically superior "super-beings" pushing themselves to the limits seem to plague the minds of most Americans. This fallacy has led to the exclusion of many deserving athletic groups, one being race car drivers. The argumenting a test of athletic ability? The car expends all of the energy, not the driver. The rationale becomes clear when you examine the word "athlete." An athlete is someone who takes part in competitive sports. No one can deny that racing cars is a competitive sport. So although race car drivers like Scott Brayton, for example, may not be able to run a mile in under five minutes or bring in the winning run in the ninth inning, they can make hundreds of life-threatening decisions throughout a challenging three-hour race, displaying a level of concentration worthy of any athletic event.

Scott Brayton

Brayton started his Indy car career by driving partial campaigns almost exclusively for his family's team. However, he made his mark in 1985 when he set a track-record lap time of 214.99 mph and qualified with a four-lap average speed of 212.354 on opening day of the Indy 500. This year, Scott, sponsored by First of America Bank, will drive No. 22, Anway's Winning Spirit Indy Car in the Detroit PPG Indy Car race, the Indianapolis 500, the Milwaukee 200 and the Michigan 500.

Self-tanners aid a summer's glow

Though the temptation to bask in the sun is powerful, we all know the results could be devastating. Sunbathing habits have changed drastically.

The "Sun Goddesses" of yesteryear favor protective sunscreens or counterfeit tans from a bottle. There's certainly no need to shun the sun. Though careless exposure and sunburn is destructive, sunlight is vital for our bodies and our spirit.

To take advantage of the positive side of sunlight, skin needs a chemical-free sunscreen that reflects infrared rays while blocking ultraviolet light. Titanium dioxide is a natural protective film that is now being used in sun products to prohibit the absorption of UV rays. It is transparent, PABA-free and oil-free. Look for these revolutionary chemical-free sunscreens, now manufactured by Origins (only at Neiman Marcus), Clinique, Chanel and Erno Laszlo.

Spray-on tans

Self-tanning products abound and I took an informal survey of users. Which one produces an even, natural-looking tan with no odor and no orange streaks? The overwhelming favorite is Estee Lauder's Self-Action Tanning Spray ($19.50). The fine mist creates even color.

Among those standing in line at Hudson's for this popular spray was Sandy Smith of Dearborn.

To take advantage of the positive side of sunlight, skin needs a chemical-free sunscreen that reflects infrared rays while blocking ultraviolet light.

She was so pleased with her "tan," she persuaded her mother and her aunt to buy the Lauder product. "The color is very natural," she said, "but you have to be extremely careful when applying it. I'm going to teach my mom."

Cathy Wright, cosmetics consultant at Saks, Fairlane, stresses the importance of proper application. Exfoliate first, sponge on knees, elbows and ankles for even coverage and wait 30 minutes before dressing. Then moisturize.

I received so many positive comments about the Estee Lauder self-tanner, I was compelled to try it on my winter-white legs. Though the color is a deep golden bronze, I hurried the process, resulting in a few drips and splotches. Take your time and blend well.

Colleen Pisa swears by Chanel's Perfect Colour Pump ($26.50). "The color is the best I've seen," she said. "It comes quickly, but fades fast." Again, as an ardent self-tanner, she emphasizes proper application.

Clinique's Self-Tanning Formula is the choice of Lois Meadows of Bloomfield Hills. "It gives a soft, mild shade," she said.

Ignore the smell

Though these products initially emit a strange odor, not unlike Polaroid film developer, the scent fades and is not indicative of a harmful chemical. Dermatologists endorse self-tanners as the safest nonsun tanning method (100 percent safer than tanning salons). They contain DHA which binds to the proteins in dead cells on the top layer of skin, turning them yellow to brown. The color disappears through natural skin exfoliation.

Other summer skincare essentials include eye creams, post-sun moisturizers and tinted moisturizers that substitute for foundation and include sun protection.

"I love tinted moisturizers," said makeup artist Todd Skog of Lori Karbal in Birmingham. "It's the best alternative to a heavier foundation, especially in summer. Trish McEvoy's product is great. It provides a sheer coverage, yet you feel like you don't have anything on."

Another excellent moisturizer with a touch of color is Complexe Phyto-Hydratant Teint by Sisley, exclusively at Neiman Marcus. This botanical beauty treatment is available in three shades.

Protect your lips

And if you're a devoted M.A.C. (Make-up Art Cosmetics) lipstick fan, try their environmental protective tinted Day Emulsion for all skin types. It has a fresh, clean scent and silky texture.

M.A.C. recently opened in the Somerset Collection. Known for its anti-cruelty, anti-gimmick approach to cosmetics, M.A.C.'s trend-setting colors and "hip" image draw raves from supermodels and Hollywood glamour-types. Make the rich brick-red Viva Glam lipstick color your hot new summer shade. All proceeds from its sale are donated to fund AIDS research.

ART EMANUELE/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Framed figures: Thousands of shoppers have passed Fritz Koenig's sculpture on their way into J.C. Penney since the Westland Mall opened in 1967.

Mall art adds some pizzazz to shopping

Shoppers intent on locating merchandise, don't always notice the artistic surroundings of some malls. However, sculptures, fountains and skylit domes add a touch of class to the retail world.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Shoppers say they don't "gotta have art," but it sure is nice when it's there.

A Jacobson's employee sheepishly confessed that she never even noticed the sculpture hanging on the wall of the spiral staircase leading to the store's second floor in downtown Birmingham.

A mother with three in tow incorrectly insisted that there were no sculptures at her favorite mall, the Westland Center.

Two early morning walkers at the Tel-Twelve Mall said the only art in shopping centers they could recall were fountains and benches with planters.

Art incidental

"I guess when I go shopping I care more about store selection than anything else," said Ruth Gross of Southfield. "I shop at Twelve Oaks Mall because they have the stores I want and a beautiful atmosphere, but I don't think that mall has any art objects."

Her friend, Ruth Hirschfield of Southfield, agreed, but added that Twelve Oaks' recent sand castle exhibition was appreciated.

"That was like a piece of art," she said of the Mickey Mouse's Toon

Pause that refreshes: The fountain in the center court of the Oakland Mall in Troy was designed by Wahyee Associates of Farmington Hills. The fountain, obelisk and surround seating creates a mid-mall rest stop for shoppers. It was installed during the 25-year-old mall's renovation project, completed in August 1992.

Town sculptured from 100 tons of sand in the center court. "I was really impressed by that exhibit. I was one of the kids again."

Kathy Knezek of Dearborn Heights was shopping during her lunch break at the Laurel Park Place.

"I haven't noticed any pieces of art at this mall, but the mall itself is a work of design," she said. "It's important to me that things aren't cluttered, that there's an airy feeling of space. I like the way the seating is a part of the mall's pathways. I like the skylights."

Laurel Park Place in Livonia was designed by James Ryan and Associates of Farmington Hills, the same firm responsible for the Somerset Collection in Troy, arguably the two

DIA stores are mini museums

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

They're not the streets of Paris, but shopping malls are drawing their share of artists — it's like Renoir meets Eddie Bauer. Across the country, city-based art museums are reaching into the suburbs with satellite museum stores in shopping malls.

Locally, the Detroit Institute of Art Museum Shops opened in the Twelve Oaks Mall in September 1991, and the Somerset Collection in October 1992, following a trend set by the Metropolitan Museum of New York and the Chicago Art Institute.

The DIA Museum Shops pay mall rent and operate during mall hours just like regular mall tenants, except for their non-profit status. Store proceeds go to support the art museum through the sale of jewelry, books, sculpture and gift items.

"We actually have three museum stores, counting the one within the museum downtown," said Cheryl Hutton, manager of the DIA Store in Somerset. "And the stores are doing well. The merchandise is similar between the stores, but not the same because each mall has a distinct personality and customer base."

The DIA Museum stores are visual extensions of the Detroit Art Institute incorporating details from the Diego Rivera fresco, the Pewabic compass, and the entrance columns into their interior design.

Katherine Darby manages the retail shops for the DIA and insists that they carry "something for everyone in everyone's price range."

"We have $5 art boxes to $500 Tiffany and Frank Lloyd Wright lamps," she said. "And don't forget the gift certificates."

Best-selling items include jewelry made from 2,000-year old pieces of Roman glass, and scarab necklaces. The children's merchandise is also popular.

"I have my eye on a genie bottle for my coffee table," said LuAnn Brezinski of Troy, shopping at the museum store in the Somerset Collection. "It's really just a vessel made from glass found in the Holy Land, but it's so neat."

"Neat" stuff is why shoppers stop into the stores, according to Shirley Winters of Plymouth, shopping at the museum shop at Twelve Oaks.

"prettiest" malls in the metro Detroit area.

But unlike Laurel Park Place, the Somerset Collection has several works of art.

Bronze statues

"Rising Day" and "Descending Night" stand at either end of the mall, where nearby benches and greenery create a feeling of respite for the shopper. The 5-foot-tall bronze statues were created by Adolph Alexander Weinman in 1914 and acquired by Somerset partner Maurice Cohen from the Hirsch & Adler Galleries in New York.

The pair of bronzes were cast from the sculptor's working models (now destroyed), which were commissioned to commemorate the opening of the Panama Canal and the joining of the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. They were first seen in plaster at the World's Fair of the time in San Francisco.

Works of art are not exclusive to "new" malls. The Westland Center, built in 1965, has several objets d'art: two fountains, two sculptures and a very old giant rubber tree.

"Shoppers tell us the sound of water from our fountains is relaxing," said Claudia Frederick, Westland Mall's marketing director. "The huge rubber tree in front of Hudson's is a conversation piece. The sculpture in front of Penney's, 'Framed Figures,' represents a crowd. It was created by Fritz Koenig, and has been here since the mall opened."

A white goose welcomes shoppers to the mall's Hudson's store. "The Goose That Laid the Golden Egg" was created by Samuel Cashwan.

At the Livonia Mall, several pieces of art are provided for shoppers. There are four art deco chandeliers dating back to the early 1900s at Crowleys and Sears. These light fixtures are made of brass and Tiffany-type glass.

The Crowley fountain "Via Marie" was cast in bronze by Morris Brose, a Detroit sculptor. It was installed in 1964 to depict "sea life."

If pop art is more appealing, several malls have Mr. Gumball, a giant, colorful dispensing display where 25 cents gets you a big gumball. Mr. Gumball is manufactured in Phoenix, Ariz. There is a Mr. Gumball at Tel-Twelve Mall in Southfield and Wonderland Mall in Livonia.

"There are unique, original gift items at the Museum Shops," she said. "And it's fun to browse, like you're visiting a minimuseum. I like the stationery items because I'm a letter writer."

Financial support for the arts is the goal of the satellite stores, but building an awareness of the museum and an appreciation for art is also a priority, according to Darby.

In May the stores sold tickets for a bus shuttle service between the shopping centers and the art museum in downtown Detroit. The program has ended for June but is under consideration for future months. The ticket price, included a docent tour and admission to special exhibits.

For more information about the trial shuttle program or the shops, call the DIA Museum Stores at Somerset Collection, 649-2222 or Twelve Oaks Mall, 380-8050.

It's time for our Viet vets to give up bitterness

It's time for the Vietnam War to end. Sure, our troops pulled out of Saigon in the early 1970s, and the ones who didn't go came back from Canada a few years later. But the war continues on the home front.

Just ask President Bill Clinton who was heckled during a Memorial Day speech at the Vietnam War memorial in Washington. The guy was just trying to make peace with the Vietnam veterans and, for his efforts, he was called a draft dodger.

It's a label that Clinton and I both wear, if that's what you call somebody who didn't have to go to Vietnam because they were in the draft lottery in the early 1970s.

During the presidential campaign, it came out that Clinton was in the same lottery I was during 1970 and his number didn't come up. Mine didn't either.

Up 'til then, I never considered myself a draft dodger and still don't. The same goes for Clinton.

We were in a lottery. Your birthdate was matched up with a number selected at random and you were drafted on that basis. In other words, if you were number one, you better start packing, and if you were 365, it was OK to put the down payment down on the Mustang.

For me there was a certain guilt in not going to Vietnam. Most of my friends went. There were all-night parties and then a dawn drive to Metro Airport where we would put a drunken 19-year-old on a plane.

It wasn't fun. Luckily, I had a father who didn't want me to go to Vietnam. His contention was that it was a war for the military. The more troops you have; the more generals you need. That means rank and money for career military guys.

Being a World War II veteran, my father contended that was enough for our family, especially since somebody in his family had fought in almost every war since the Revolution.

Even my friends who did go to Vietnam didn't show any bitterness because I hadn't.

Oh, sure there were divisions between those who went and those who didn't. There was a certain bit of snobbery on both sides. I remember friends telling war stories in a newsroom at the paper I was working at, and the reporters there ignoring, and even refusing to write about the war. Interviewing Vietnam vets was seen as being pro-war, which wasn't the thing to be at newspapers in the early 1970s.

However, that division started to evaporate as the 1970s wore on and during the 1980s, Vietnam seemed to slip out of our vocabulary.

But it seems as we baby boomers march toward middle age, things are getting worse. That was evident when Clinton tried to talk to the veterans at the Vietnam memorial. And he was the first president to visit the monument; George Bush and Ronald Reagan headed for good old reliable World War II events for Memorial Day.

There stood Clinton looking as uncomfortable as a Baptist choir boy on a warm Sunday in Hot Springs when the church service is going too long. He was smiling and trying to keep it together while being booed.

The guy was trying to make amends. It's just too bad that the veterans weren't listening. It makes us all victims of the war.

Jeff Counts is the editor of the Plymouth and Canton Observer Newspapers, who still suffers from Vietnam-era guilt and can remember his draft lottery number. He can be reached at 459-2700.

Leftists participate in politically correct bigotry

By REGINA SALER
GUEST COLUMNIST

Warning: Right-wing lunatic! If the American Civil Liberties Union had its way, this would become a mandatory button worn by every religious, conservative individual who wasn't comatose or stone-dead.

What a public service it would be to identify these subversives. Mothers with small children could scurry to the other side of the street when seeing a RWL approaching. Enlightened voters could avoid deception.

How easily the public could discern truth when they could discount all RWL ideas by simply pressing the RWL delete button in their minds.

How absurd this scenario would be. Yet time and time again, representatives of the Left refer to conservative, religious individuals as "right-wing fanatics," "right-wing lunatic fringe," and other disparaging generalities, all of which amounts to politically correct bigotry.

If any other group — gays, feminists, blacks, etc. — were labeled similarly, there would be a huge outcry of protest, lawsuits filed and probably some call for the federal government to compensate the offended group.

But religious conservatives are supposed to take the abuse quietly because, after all, they are responsible for much that ails the world today.

Liberals would have you believe that religious conservatives are the primary promoters of bigotry, intolerance, gay-bashing, woman and child abuse, as well as anti-Semitism.

Furthermore, these RWL's want to force their world view upon the rest of the citizenry.

The truth is that labels and generalities have never been an accurate assessment of any people. The religious right is a group of diverse people whose worldview dramatically contrasts the humanistic, secular worldview espoused by many Leftist individuals. It could be a wife and mother who is concerned for her children's future. It could be a businessman who wants the best economy for the benefit of his business.

It could be an African-American who believes that the government is not the cure of blacks' social ills.

It could even be a person who has become a committed activist in any one of a number of causes, not unlike the activists of the Left.

These are people so mindlessly categorized as the "right-wing lunatic fringe." The ACLU would apparently like to spread the misconception that these people are second class citizens with less rights than others to hold to and practice their world view in any meaningful way, that is, within a cultural context.

It would appear that the liberal gospel of tolerance for a wide spectrum of beliefs and practices ironically excludes those of a Christian nature.

Fortunately, the Constitution still guarantees the right of all people to believe, speak and assemble, regardless of their world view.

Any objective study would reveal that one unifying mission of the Left is the secularization of the United States' institutions, a task which has been largely successful over the last 50 years.

The ACLU, the legal arm of the Left, has been the epitome of intolerance as it has filed lawsuit upon lawsuit nationwide to purge Christian influence from public life, especially the practice, even by private individuals.

Through the courts, it has become an organization forcing its views upon the citizenry.

For the ACLU to host a meeting outlining the dangers of right-wing activists is the height of philosophical arrogance. This act alone should speak volumes.

Apparently the Left wishes to close the free market of expression so that the secular, humanistic world view can be promoted without the nuisance of philosophical competition.

How ironic that in the former Soviet Union, where secular humanism was the state mandated religion for so many years, where atheism was taught in public schools as a matter of course, there is now a cry for religious material.

Meanwhile, we in the United States witness the trend to further secularize our nation in the name of "Separation of Church and State."

For most of our history, we have enjoyed the benefits of being a predominantly Judeo-Christian nation. We must answer the question: "What will be the consequences of becoming a secular nation?"

As world history can demonstrate, pagan nations often pay a price, including increased crime, regimental law-enforcement, loss of personal freedoms, violations of human rights, intolerance of varied beliefs, sexual immorality, breakdown of family units and even ultimately, the downfall of the nation.

Legislators brace for fallout from A

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Suburban lawmakers will be fighting outstate retaliation in the wake of Proposal A's defeat June 2.

They'll have to stave off outstate attacks on "categorical" aid to suburban school districts.

They may have to consider raising sales tax revenue by broadening the base — that is, taxing more items.

Don't punish

Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, publicly advised Gov. John Engler against retaliating against anti-A metropolitan suburbs by sharply cutting categorical aids.

"Western Wayne and Oakland counties were crucial components in Engler's narrow election victory," Geake said. "If he were to sign a school aid bill that was harshly punitive to the out-of-formula school districts, I don't know how we could get him re-elected."

Geake said outstaters view southeastern Michigan residents as "wealthy and spending too much on their schools. But since 80 percent of every school district budget is personnel costs, they're really saying we pay teachers too much. I don't think people in this area would agree with that."

'Rattle sabers'

"They'll come after categorical, rattle their sabers and go for something else, like sales tax exemptions," predicted David Wygonik, an aide to Sen. George Z. Hart, D-Dearborn.

"What I'm hearing is that since they haven't been successful in raising the rate (to 6 percent in Proposal A), they'll raise the base by taxing soft drinks, medical services, medical supplies and catalog sales."

Wygonik said Hart surveyed voters in Garden City and Dearborn prior to the election and found 80 percent opposition to Proposal A. Hart opposed the $2 billion tax shift plan.

But he said Hart is skeptical that outstate lawmakers can muster the votes to strip pension and categorical aids from what they perceive to be wealthy school districts. "The schools won't accept such a burden again," the Senate aide said.

Engler wants to shift pension costs to local districts over three years.

Us, Them

"I would hope the governor would not retaliate with the school aid bill," said Sen. William Faust, D-Westland, deploring the Us versus Them barriers between outstate and the metropolitan suburbs.

"A couple of things could happen," Faust said. "The Legislature could roll back assessments. Or the 'Robin Hood' (cutting categorical aid to schools) agenda could be advanced, which would not bode well. I hope good sense would prevail."

Faust supported Proposal A. His home district, Wayne-Westland, levies the highest school tax rate in the state at 47 mills and would have seen a 20-mill cut if A had passed.

"Wayne-Westland is in deep crap. I'm really concerned. I know we're not alone," Faust said.

Faust recalled the state looked at broadening the sales tax base in the recession of 1983.

Geake said the Florida Legislature had a bad experience by expanding the sales tax base to services. "There was such a massive uprising that the legislature promptly repealed its own law," he said.

ROLL CALL REPORT

Area legislators split on keeping U.S. troops in Somalia

Here's how Observer & Eccentric area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes in the week ending

HOUSE

Vote Keeps Troops in Somalia: By a vote of 127 for and 299 against, the House rejected an amendment to bring U.S. forces home from Somalia by June 30. The House then passed a measure (S.J. Res 45) authorizing American troops in Somalia for at least another year under the War Powers Act. About 5,000 GIs remain there under United Nations command, down from a peak deployment of 25,000 in 1992. A yes vote was to withdraw American troops from the U.N. force in Somalia by June 30. Area representatives voting yes were: Joseph Knollenberg, R-Birmingham. Voting no: Bob Carr, D-Pon- tlac, Dale Kildee, D-Flint, Sander Levin, D-Southfield and William Ford, D-Ypsilanti.

Borrowing for Defense Spending Maintained: By a vote of 188 for and 244 against, the House rejected an amendment deleting $1.2 billion in deficit military spending from a $1.8 billion appropriations bill (HR 2118) for fiscal 1993. The amendment sought to force the Pentagon to get the money from other defense accounts instead of by borrowing. The funding consists mainly of $750 million for operations in Somalia, $295 million for civilian medical insurance claims and $100 million for Air Force patrols over southern Iraq. The House sent the bill to the Senate.

A yes vote was to require the disputed military spending to be put on a pay-as-you-go basis. Area representatives voting yes were:

Kildee and Levin. Voting no: Carr, Knollenberg and Ford.

Yes to New Jobs Bill: The House passed, 287 for and 140 against, a bill to spend $920 million immediately on creating summer jobs for city youth, launching public works projects and hiring more police at the state and local level. The "son-of-stimulus" measure (HR 2244) was a reduced version of the $19 billion White House-sponsored jobs measure that filibustering Republicans recently killed in the Senate. This stimulus bill does not worsen the deficit because it is paid for by cuts elsewhere in the budget.

A yes vote was to pass the bill. Area representatives voting yes were: Carr, Kildee, Levin and Ford. Voting no: Knollenberg.

No to Strip Jobs Program: By a vote of 176 for and 251 against, the House refused to strip the jobs and infrastructure bill (above) of $80 million for piloting a new program to quality persons 17-to-30 for the job market. Participants would learn skills, receive classroom instruction and get a $100 weekly stipend for meals, transportation and attending to personal needs.

A yes vote opposed the new program. Area representatives voting yes were: Knollenberg. Voting no: Carr, Kildee, Levin and Ford.

SENATE

Yes to Confirm Achtenberg: By a vote of 58 for and 31 against, the Senate confirmed Roberta Achtenberg as the Department of Housing and Urban Development's assistant secretary for open housing and equal opportunity. Achtenberg, a lesbian, is a civil rights attorney and has been a San Francisco County supervisor. She drew Senate criticism for having used her county post to fight Bay Area Boy Scouts over their refusal to accept homosexual scoutmasters.

A yes vote was to confirm Roberta Achtenberg. Michigan Sens. Carl Levin and Donald Riegle, both Democrats, voted yes.

CHEF LARRY JANES

Sail away with all the comforts of home

Still haven't made plans for that great summer vacation? Michigan has lots to offer and this summer you'll find me fishing on the Manistee, enjoying the arts and shopping in Saugatuck and Traverse City, eating chicken in Frankenmuth and admiring the natural splendor of the UP.

But if you're looking for something a little different, yours truly just returned from a long weekend of fishing and enjoying the views from a 65-foot houseboat on the absolutely gorgeous Dale Hollow Lake in Tennessee.

Houseboating in the "finger lake" regions of Kentucky and Tennessee is one of the fastest growing vacation destinations sweeping the nation. After spending four days aboard in what was nothing short of a fully-equipped floating condominium, I'm hooked.

This impromptu weekend with seven guys was hastily organized by Mick Livernois, a longtime friend. When the invitation was initially proposed, I had visions of an old tugboat equipped with the basics.

The 10-hour drive was the beginning of what I thought would be the bust of a weekend. I stand corrected.

Comfortable quarters

For starters, our 65-foot houseboat had all the amenities of home. In addition to a fully-stocked kitchen, complete with cookware, cutlery and basic gadgets, our houseboat comfortably slept 10 and included air conditioning, color TV, VCR, stereo and deck furniture.

Knowing that I was assuming the duties of galley chef, I packed a duffel with all the mandatory staples like condiments, basic spices and herbs, a favorite selection of non-stick cookware, and my favorite knife.

Items from a prearranged shopping list with dinner for three days were solidly frozen and carefully packed in insulated coolers for the trip. Relying on a basic camp list organized from past fishing and vacation trips, I packed the necessary kitchen supplies.

Anyone who has ever camped or spent time in a trailer knows the importance of having everything you need, when you need it. Marina and local party stores have a tendency to take advantage of someone in need of a corkscrew or salt and pepper shakers.

Assistant chef

Fortunately, I had the assistance of Mike Ooskie, a graduate of the Johnny Kolakowski School of Culinary Arts in Wyandotte and experienced houseboater who served as co-chef.

With duffels and coolers packed to the gills, we loaded our houseboat and were off for a great weekend of sun, fun and fishing.

In all honesty, I couldn't tell you what was better, the weather or the surrounding beauty of the finger lakes region. With all the conveniences of home tucked away in our galley, we ate like kings. Not wanting to feel chained to a kitchen for hours on end, the first night featured grilled steaks (on the supplied gas grill) with baked potatoes and stir-fried broccoli.

Simple dinners

No muss, no fuss, and the only dishes in need of washing were a load of silverware and a non-stick fry pan used to cook the broccoli. Subsequent breakfasts and lunches were self-made because in this case, the chef was either busy playing cards or fishing for the next night's dinner.

Although the fishing wasn't as productive as what I'm used to, dinner number two consisted of some fried potatoes (left over from the previous night's bakery), a few pans of cornbread and some sauteed shrimps.

Since we were in a dry county and white wine was about as plentiful as the fish, the frozen shrimps were defrosted and tossed with a seasoned flour and then pan-fried in butter that was made into a great sauce with the addition of a can of cold beer.

The leftover cornbread was crumbled and used as a coating for the singular five pound catfish which was brought aboard by a lone fisherman, dipped in an egg wash and rolled in crumbled cornbread, pan-fried and served as an appetizer. Our last dinner was barbecued chicken and a Fettuccine Alfredo that was tossed simply and seductively with boiled noodles, some cream, fresh grated Parmesan cheese and a crackling of fresh ground pepper. My shipmates were duly impressed.

If you would like more information about houseboating on Dale Hollow Lake, we contracted with the Holly Creek Marina in Celina, Tenn. They can be reached at 1-800-331-1780 and will gladly send you a descriptive brochure and price list. Bon Appetit!

TAKE A CRACK AT SOFT-SHELL CRABS

You don't have to crack claws or pick through a hard outer shell to enjoy soft-shell crabs. These seasonal delicacies are almost completely edible. Take a crack at cooking soft-shell crabs, they're flavorful and low in fat and calories.

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

Like caviar and champagne, soft-shell crabs are an acquired taste. These seasonal delicacies, available mid-May to September, are completely edible except for the face and gills. You don't have to crack claws or pick through a hard outer shell to get to the sweet meat.

"They're just good eating," said Vince Clark, operating partner with Bill Kruse at the Rochester Chop House and Oyster Bar in Rochester.

"They're crispy, you get the flavor of fresh crab meat, and there's almost a caramelization of the outer shell that makes for great eating."

This has been a good season for soft-shell crab. "We brought in 20 dozen and ran out," said Clark. "I hope to have them all summer. I love soft-shell crab. I figured if we didn't sell them, I'd eat them."

Soft-shell crabs are blue crabs that have just molted or backed out of their hard shells. Blue crabs shed their shells a couple times a year. "They have to be caught fairly quickly because the shell stays paper soft for only a day or so," said Clark.

They're a very clean seafood because the crab stops eating about three days before it molts. Its digestive system is cleaned and it is just like a cleaned fish.

Nick Tringali of Jack's Seafood

Market in Farmington Hills describes the taste of softshell crab as "just as sweet as blue crab, but crunchier."

"The traditional way to prepare them is to season them with flour, pan fry, and give them a squeeze of lemon at the end of cooking," said Tringali. "You can also make a sauce, sautee the crabs, and serve them on top of flavored pasta like tomato basil."

"You can also baste them with garlic butter or barbecue sauce and broil or grill about 5 minutes per side. Or bake them at 350 degrees for about 8 minutes." They are either sold live or dressed and cleaned, ready to cook. Call ahead to see if your favorite seafood market has them, or will order them for you.

Anna Georgiou will order, and even cook them for you at her market — Anna's Fresh Seafood Market, Inc. in Redford.

"They're very good," she said.

"You can fry them and make a sandwich with lettuce, tomato and onion."

Use soft-shell crabs within two days of buying, or freeze now while they're available, to enjoy later. They thaw quickly in the refrigerator.

"Figure two to three crabs per person for a main meal," said Tringali. "One per sandwich. The cost ranges from $1.49 to $1.99 for small crabs — 3½ inches to $2.49 to $3.49 for the larger crabs, about 5 inches."

To fry crabs, cook five minutes per side or 8 minutes in a deep fryer. Dry crabs before breading and allow the breading to dry before frying.

Soft-shell crabs are low in fat, calories and cholesterol, only 81 per 3½ ounce serving, 1.0 gram of fat, 41 mg. cholesterol. They're also an excellent source of zinc.

CHEF'S SECRETS

Short order creativity piece of cake for chef

BY JOAN BORAM
SPECIAL WRITER

Eric Haggerty is a lucky man. In 1984, 13-year-old Eric went to Atlanta as assistant to a Swiss chef, a friend of his parents, Kathy and Mike Haggerty.

At an age when other boys have paper routes, Eric discovered his affinity for cooking and baking. He returned to Atlanta the following summer.

So, in 1986, when the Haggertys began offering English teas at their popular shop in downtown Birmingham, Eric's talent and enthusiasm were put to good use. After school, and during the summer, Eric created light-as-air tortes, Black Forest cake, and classic French brioche and chocolate croissants. For diehard American palates, he made blueberry muffins and carrot cake.

In 1990, the family moved their business to the elegant Bloomfield Hills restaurant, Monchelle Lamour (don't run to your Larousse; they just like the sound of the words). Kathy ran the front of the popular restaurant, Mike did the cooking, and Eric was patissier.

"We provide a selection of pastries on the dessert menu in the restaurants," said Eric. "But we also offer a more elaborate special order menu. With 24 hours notice, we'll create lemon hazelnut, Italian rum, cappuccino, or several other tortes, all with a minimum amount of sugar."

A second establishment, Cafe Lamour, joined the family late in 1992. Located in Southfield, the light-filled room is decorated in a warm French country style. "Dad began cooking at Cafe Lamour," said Eric, "and I took over all the cooking chores in Bloomfield Hills."

Each restaurant is in an office building, and therefore closed on weekends. But don't think the Haggertys get weekends off: they often provide delicacies for weddings, teas or hors d'oeuvre parties. Eric's most popular creation is the white

Alaskan mousse torte. "We bake the white-chocolate-flavored tortes for weddings almost every weekend during the summer," said Eric. "The average wedding requires about 20 tortes, and by late fall, I'll have made at least 500 wedding tortes. They're very light, and perfect after a heavy meal."

Creativity on short order is one of the 20-year-old pastry chef's specialties. Recently, a customer requested an outstanding dessert for a Kentucky Derby Party only three days away.

"He provided us with tiny horses, and jockeys and split-rail fences," said Eric. "I made a track out of chocolate shavings around the perimeter of a 12-inch torte. The inner circle was green frosting, and we had a florist friend make us a tiny wreath of rose buds. It was so pretty that nobody wanted to eat it — they just kept taking videos."

For a recent hors d'oeuvres party at the Bloomfield Hills location, the dessert menu featured tartlets with fresh fruit and custard; mousse tarts floated in raspberry puree; raspberry Bavarian cakes; espresso tortes and lemon hazelnut tortes. Each of these morsels were about 1½-inches in diameter.

"Small size breaks down willpower real good," said Eric, with a knowing smile. "Even people on diets will eat dessert, if it's small enough."

Monchelle Lamour is in the atrium of the Bloomfield Center, 1533 North Woodward, Bloomfield Hills. Hours are: 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. — 647-4140. Cafe Lamour is in One Northwestern Plaza, 18411 Northwestern Highway, Southfield. Hours are: 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Americans are increasingly diet conscious. Given that, why do you suppose these elaborate desserts are so popular?

"The Swiss pastry approach is to make light and airy batters. It's unlike traditional heavy and very

Sauternes perfect for special-occasion desserts

In Bordeaux, famed for the great red wines of the Medoc, St. Emilion and Pomerol, there is a small southern region called Sauternes, renowned for its prestigious white dessert wines. Here, Chateau Yquem rules as queen of Sauternes, but its high price tag ($150) makes it a truly special-occasion wine.

At the foot of Yquem's domain are the contiguous vineyards of Chateau Raymond-Lafon making exquisite wines rivaling those of the queen in many vintages, but at one-fifth the price ($30).

The Meslier family, current proprietors of Raymond-Lafon, reside in the property's modest chateau. They are pleased to have succeeded in re-establishing the reputation of Raymond-Lafon, a property that had fallen into neglect prior to their purchase in 1972.

Imagine a white wine that ages longer than any red wine in the world; a wine with the richness to complement foie gras d'oie (goose liver pate), the intensity to stand up to Roquefort and viscosity to completely coat the palate.

Contemplate a wine with intense honey aromas and peach flavors made from botrytis-infected, shriveled grapes picked berry by individual berry. That's the luxurious taste experience of Chateau Raymond-Lafon Sauternes.

What dessert lives up to that? None, just serve it well chilled as an exquisite finale to any meal.

In 1963, Pierre Meslier became director at Chateau Yquem where he managed the vineyards and winemaking of both Yquem and Chateau de Fargues until 1989.

FOCUS ON WINE

ELEANOR & RAY HEALD

Wine Selections

■ 1992 Preston Vineyards Marsanne ($17.50) or Viognier ($19).

Both marsanne and viognier are white grapes originating in France's Rhone Valley. Nobody in California is doing a better job with these varieties than Preston.

■ 1991 Mirassou Chardonnay Limited Bottling (blue label $14)

This wine may be the best-kept secret around.

■ 1988 Clos du Val Reserve ($49)

This wine rivals the best Bordeaux chateau for complexity and richness.

■ 1990 Lyeth Red ($13) is approachable, delicious and value priced.

"At Yquem, I learned the importance of demanding the very best," Meslier said. "In Sauternes, we grow grapes under extremely difficult conditions. I guess it is the struggle with nature that makes our wines so deliciuous." While managing Yquem, Meslier became acquainted with other properties in Sauternes, and when the opportunity presented itself in 1972, he purchased the neighboring property of Raymond-Lafon.

Meslier continued managing Yquem while his wife Francine directed the operations at Raymond-Lafon. Together, the Mesliers have reacquired the original vineyards of the Chateau, raised the quality to that of a great growth, and in 1990, gave this treasure to their children.

Today, with the elder Mesliers continuing as consultants, Jean-Pierre, Charles-Henri and Marie-Francoise have assumed the roles of international marketer, winemaker and manager, respectively.

The quality of Raymond-Lafon Sauternes is a result of impeccably high winemaking standards and strict grape selection employed in the vineyard.

"Our vines must struggle against the odds to make a great wine," said Meslier. "Our soil is chalk and clay with gravel, not very hospitable to most crops, but poor soil is best for grapes. The extremely humid Sauternes climate in September and October would be disastrous for dry, white wines, but it is excellent for sweet dessert-style wines because it encourages pourriture noble (botrytis cinerea)."

This microscopic fungus feeds on the sugar, moisture and tartaric acid in the grapes, shriveling the berries and concentrating sugar levels. Grapes are harvested at 20 percent potential alcohol. Once the fungus has established itself, the grapes lose their shape, becoming fuzzy, amorphous balls of pulp. The rich, sweet nectar given up by the harvest is one of the miracles of nature. It is the character imparted by botrytis cinerea that gives sauternes its rich, peach-honey flavors.

Without beneficial botrytis infection, sauternes would be a different beverage. During fermentation, this benevolent fungus produces an antibiotic that kills the yeast and stops the fermentation before all the sugar is fermented. Therefore, a natural balance is achieved between percent alcohol and residual sugar.

Because botrytis is slow to develop, attacking individual berries rather than whole bunches, a team of 25 women (Meslier claims that pickers must have small fingers to pick the botrytis-infected grapes) pass through the vineyard several times during harvest, picking only those individual grapes that have shriveled due to botrytis-induced dehydration. In 1985, when botrytis was particularly slow to develop, harvest included 11 pickings that extended through Dec. 16.

The vineyards at Raymond-Lafon are planted to 80 percent semillon and 20 percent sauvignon blanc yielding only 88 to 99 gallons per acre or about one glass of wine per vine. By comparison, one picker in the Medoc can pick enough grapes to produce one barrel of juice per day, but it requires 10 pickers to yield one barrel of wine in Sauternes. The pressed juice from one day's picking makes only two to three barrels.

Pierre Meslier projects that a great sauternes from Raymond-Lafon may age well for up to 80 years. Current releases, especially those from 1988 and 1989 are incredibly luscious desserts.

rich German desserts. We use less sugar and more chocolate for flavoring, and most of our desserts are based on aerated genoise (spongecake)."

How do you continue to learn your craft?

"Luckily, several suppliers have continuing education programs. For example, the Lindt chocolate people have traveling shows designed for pastry chefs. Also, the Retail Bakers Association features videos, seminars, a recipe exchange, and other programs at their annual show. But once you know what you're doing, and you have experience and confidence, it's easy to improvise and develop new recipes."

What are your favorite cooking magazines?

"Well, of course, we read all of the industry publications. But we have stacks of Gourmet and Bon Appetit magazines, too. We never throw them out."

Have you had any noteworthy disasters?

"In the new location in Southfield, we burned everything we put in the oven for the first two weeks. Turns out the ovens were off by 75 degrees!"

Who cooks at home?

"My mom does most of the cooking, but to tell you the truth, we eat out a lot. After a day in the kitchen, the last thing any of us wants to do is cook!"

Tips prevent food poisoning

Summer outings, picnics and barbecues are soon to be a part of our everyday lives once again. "Don't invite unwanted guests of food poisoning to your next summer warning," said Sylvia Treitman, home economist for the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service.

When the weather warms up, extra care needs to be taken to keep food fresh and prevent food poisoning. Food should be left out no longer than two hours at room temperature.

"In early spring and summer we tend to forget the danger of leaving food out and even grocery shopping can pose a food poisoning problem," said Treitman. If you leave perishable groceries in the car and still have other stops to make — food spoilage can easily occur. It's a good idea to take an ice chest along in the car for extended shopping trips.

"Remember food does not have to look bad or even smell bad to be spoiled," adds Treitman.

To prevent food poisoning:

■ Keep everything clean: utensils, hands and work area.

■ Keep hot food hot and cold food cold.

■ Return food to refrigerator within two hours.

■ Wash utensils after cutting raw meat and poultry before using another food.

■ Wash utensils used for marinating raw meats or poultry before reusing.

For any questions related to food safety or food and nutrition, call the food and nutrition hotline, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 858-0904.

LOOKING AHEAD

What to watch for in Taste next week:

- Sensational steaks for Father's Day barbecue.
- Super suppers — dinner strategies for busy families.
- Plant some herbs in the garden or a sunny window box to add flavor to foods.

FRENCH STRAWBERRY TORTE WITH WHITE CHOCOLATE MOUSSE CREAM

- Mousse Cream:
    - ½ cup chilled heavy whipping cream
    - 1 teaspoon vanilla
    - 6 ounces finely chopped white chocolate, melted
  - White Chocolate Torte:
    - 4 ounces finely chopped white chocolate
    - ½ cup boiling water
    - ½ pound unsalted butter, room temperature
    - 2 cups granulated sugar
    - 4 large eggs, room temperature, separated
    - 1 teaspoon vanilla
    - 2½ cups cake flour
    - 1 teaspoon baking soda
    - ½ teaspoon salt
    - 1 cup buttermilk
  - Sauce:
    - 4 pints fresh strawberries, stemmed
    - ½ cup Grand Marnier liqueur
  - Garnish: white chocolate shavings
- To make Mousse Cream — place whipping cream and vanilla in a cold bowl, and mix with electric mixer at medium speed until soft peaks form. Add melted chocolate and whip until stiff peaks form. Cover and refrigerate 3 hours.
To make White Chocolate Torte — preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Butter bottoms of three 8-inch cake pans. Line bottoms of pans with parchment paper. Melt white chocolate in double boiler, stirring frequently. Beat in the boiling water and set aside.

Mix creamed butter and sugar at medium speed until light and fluffy. Beat in egg yolks one at a time, beating after each yolk. Stir in melted white chocolate and vanilla.
Sift flour, baking soda and salt together into a medium bowl. Beat flour mixture into white chocolate mixture, alternating with buttermilk, until mixture is smooth.
Beat egg whites in a bowl until they start to foam. Increase speed to high and beat whites until stiff. Fold ¼ of egg whites into white chocolate mixture to lighten, then fold in remaining egg whites.
Pour cake batter into pans and bake 35 minutes. Transfer cakes, still in pans, to cooling racks. When cool enough to handle, remove parchment paper and cool thoroughly.
To make sauce — finely chop half the strawberries and combine with Grand Marnier. Slice remaining strawberries and reserve.
To serve — Place one layer of cake on plate and top with ½ of mousse cream, spread evenly. Pour ½ of strawberry sauce and ½ of reserved berries in middle of layer and spread evenly. Repeat for second and top layer. Sprinkle white chocolate shavings over top layer. Chill, serve, and enjoy!

Put clarified butter and olive oil in saute pan heat on high flame for 2 minutes.
Dredge crabs in flour, add to saute pan. Cook for 3 minutes a side. After 6 to 7 minutes remove crabs, drain to olive oil and butter, add sweet butter and almonds. Cook for 1 minute until butter is golden brown. Add red wine vinegar, reduce until it's almost like a glaze. Add cream, bring to a boil, reduce 5 minutes until sauce thickens.

Place crab on serving platter with flavored pasta like tomato basil and pour a ribbon of sauce on top of crabs and over noodles. Serves 4.

Fuel up on carbohydrates for energy to exercise

LITE SUCCESS

FLORINE MARK

Summer is the most active time of year for me and my family. When June rolls around, I'm out the door! Whether I'm walking, biking, or playing tennis, the fresh air and sunshine always gets me going.

To get the most out of an active lifestyle, it's essential to condition your body from the inside. What you eat has the power to add to the enjoyment of an exercise program or inhibit your performance.

Certain foods can prepare you for physical activity by supplying long-lasting energy — namely carbohydrates. Carbohydrates are the best source of energy for our bodies. Complex carbohydrates — potatoes, rice, pasta, beans, breads, grains — supply vitamins, minerals, some protein and fiber, as well as energy. An added bonus is that most foods with complex carbohydrates are naturally low in fat, filling, and satisfying, so you won't be defeating the purpose of exercise.

Try one of my favorite energy boosters to get you going, like Peach and Strawberry Breakfast Parfait, Stuffed Sweet Potatoes, or Banana Spice Muffins. Reap the benefits of outdoor exercise and have fun while doing it! But remember, you'll have a better, safer time if you're well-fortified.

PEACH AND STRAWBERRY BREAKFAST PARFAIT

1/2 cup plain nonfat yogurt
1/2 cup strawberries, cut into halves (reserve 1 whole strawberry for garnish)

1 teaspoon pourable all-fruit strawberry syrup
1/4 cup chopped peach
1/2 teaspoon granulated sugar
1/2 teaspoon wheat germ

In small mixing bowl combine first 3 ingredients. In separate small mixing bowl combine peach and sugar, stirring to coat.

Into 10-ounce parfait glass spoon half of the strawberry mixture; top with peach mixture and remaining strawberry mixture.

Garnish with reserved strawberry and sprinkle with wheat germ.

Makes 1 Serving

Each serving provides: 1 Milk, 1 Fruit, 35 Optional Calories. Per serving: 161 calories, 1 g fat, 29 g carbohydrate. SOURCE: "Weight Watchers Simply Light Cooking, 1992."

STUFFED SWEET POTATOES

Two 6-ounce baked sweet potatoes, halved lengthwise

1/2 cup drained crushed pineapple
1/4 cup raisins
1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon reduced-calorie tub margarine
1/2 teaspoon pumpkin pie spice
Dash salt

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Scoop out pulp from potato halves into mixing bowl, leaving 1/4-inch shells. Mash pulp; reserve shells.

Add remaining ingredients to potato pulp; stir to combine. Spoon potato mixture evenly into reserved shells; place on baking sheet and bake until heated through, about 10 minutes. Makes 4 Servings

Each serving provides: 1/2 Fat, 1 Bread, 1/4 Fruit. Per serving: 128 calories, 2 g fat, 27 g carbohydrate. SOURCE: "Weight Watchers Favorite Homestyle Recipes Cookbook, 1993"

BANANA SPICE MUFFINS

1 1/4 cups plus 1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
3 tablespoons firmly packed dark brown sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
3/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1 1/2 medium bananas, mashed
1/4 cup low-fat (1 percent) milk
3 tablespoons reduced-calorie tub margarine, melted
1 large egg, lightly beaten or egg substitute
1 ounce chopped walnuts

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Spray six 2 1/2-inch nonstick muffin cups with nonstick cooking spray, or line with paper liners; set aside.

In medium bowl, combine flour, sugar, baking powder and spices. In another medium bowl, stir together all remaining ingredients except walnuts. Pour wet ingredients into dry and stir just until moistened (do not beat or overmix).

Spoon batter evenly into prepared cups, filling each about two-thirds full. Sprinkle evenly with chopped walnuts. Bake 20 minutes, until muffins are light brown and toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool on rack. Makes 6 servings.

Each serving provides: 1 Fat, 1 Bread, 1/4 Fruit, 75 Optional Calories. Per serving: 226 calories, 7 g fat, 36 g carbohydrate. SOURCE: "Weight Watchers Favorite Homestyle Recipes Cookbook, 1993"

The '90s version of George Seurat's "Sunday Afternoon on the Island of La Grande Jatte" is this year's official Detroit Grand Prix poster. Mark Zapico, creative director for D'Arcy, Masius, Benton & Bowles in Bloomfield Hills, cloned the classic for the annual poster contest open to metro Detroit advertising agencies.

"I wanted to bring back a feeling of the past, of a more genteel time on the island, while at the same time bringing it forward to the '90s," Zapico said. The artist used electronic imaging and hand illustration to duplicate Seurat's style. It's available from Detroit Renaissance (259-5400) at $15 plus postage or at local poster shops.

Be my guest

Aero bed is one way to oblige unexpected house guests this summer — even a 300-pound wrestler. The twin-sized portable mattress inflates in 45 seconds and accommodates guests up to 6 feet 1 inch tall. Plug it in, push a button and inflate to any firmness. When it's not in use, the bed folds into a carrying bag to store for the next round of guests. Makers of Aero bed suggest using the bed-in-a-bag for cottages, dorms and efficiency apartments, too. Folded, it's slightly bigger than a backpack. It's practical, surprisingly comfortable and costs the same as a modestly priced twin mattress ($99). Sold only at Jacobson's Home Stores.

Yard Boss proves it's the boss

■ With the help of a silent partner and a big dose of talent, Yard Boss is closing the door on comparisons of the group to grunge bands. One step in that direction is its debut CD "Swollen."

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

When Yard Boss records its debut CD "Swollen," it's going against the traditional layering technique to give it a more "live" taste.

"We like it to be like lasagna. We like it all melted together," said lead singer Marty Conselyea, intertwining his fingers together.

Conselyea and guitarist Greg Savela have other hopes about the product. They anticipate it closing the chapter on comparisons to grunge bands.

"Swollen" will set the record straight," Savela said.

"We're like an exceptional journey without a destination," Conselyea said.

Yard Boss has attracted plenty of vacationers on its "journey," including two die-hard fans who the band has never met. They stand in front of the band shouting during its set. Before Yard Boss comes on, the duo chants the group's name.

"We don't even know who those two guys are; they come to almost all our shows," Conselyea said. "It started, I think, with the (fraternity) TKE show we did at Eastern (Michigan University)."

As the group collects its following, Savela said, unknown fans become more common.

"We're pretty shocked at how well it's building," said guitarist Savela.

The hype about Yard Boss is also building quickly. Recently, the band won the first round of radio station WLLZ's "Home Cookin'" battle of the bands at the Royal Oak Music Theatre. The group will now compete in the semifinals July 8 at the theater. Semifinalists will appear on

WLLZ's "Home Cookin'" CD and winners will open for a national act at the theater.

Within the last few months, Yard Boss has also appeared on the "Home Cookin'" radio show along with CIMX's "Homeboy" show, both of which broadcast on Sunday nights.

It's only been about a year since Yard Boss formed. Within five months of its first show on June 27, 1992, the band released its first effort "Gateway." The local record label, Anti-Music, picked up on the group's success and solicited them to contribute to "Thick," a local music compilation. The album, which also included Bog Blast, Brickyard, Fiesty Cadavers, Ricochet, Scruffy Tearaways, Six Feet Deep and Smoke, is being distributed internationally.

STREET BEATS

The group's soon-to-be recorded CD "Swollen" will be recorded under the its label, Hole in Your Heart Productions.

Yard Boss is a full-time job for the fivesome, which also includes drummer Rico Grazioli, guitarist Nick Sokolowski and bassist Todd Pocobello. The musicians live together in a 2,400-square-foot home with seven acres of land in Dexter, outside of Ann Arbor. They wouldn't say who's fronting their career except for it's "one of Todd's connections."

"It's a silent partner," Conselyea said.

Understandably, they enjoy this carefree way of living.

"It's a lot better than working for 'The Man,'" Conselyea said. This "Don" as they call him, is what's helping Yard Boss live up to its name — at least musically — in town.

"It's the toughest guy in the prison. He's the one guy you don't sit anywhere near on the bench," Conselyea said. "We're all bosses of the yard in our own special way."

Yard Boss will perform Tuesday, June 8, at the Blind Pig in Ann Arbor. Call 996-8555 for more information. They also will perform Friday, June 18, with Rollinghead, Flock and Back Alley Blues at Paycheck's Lounge in Hamtramck (874-0909), and Friday, July 16, with Black Mali at Alvin's in Detroit (832-2355).

Young drummer has the beat of a veteran

Smart sticks:

At age 13, drummer Tom Clufetos of Rochester has played with the likes of Chuck Berry, the Pointer Sisters, Jerry Lee Lewis and his dad's group, Tommy C. and the Gamut Band.

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Most 13-year-olds spend their time off from school baby-sitting, doing homework, or goofing around with friends.

Drummer Tom Clufetos of Rochester preps himself to play with the likes of Chuck Berry, the Pointer Sisters and Jerry Lee Lewis, along with his dad's group, Tommy C. and the Gamut Band.

Despite reaching such success at a young age, the teen shrugs it all off — with a big grin.

"It's all basically the same," the clean-cut Clufetos said about his gigs. "Every gig is fun."

Presumably, an early May gig during the Music West Conference in Vancouver, British Columbia, will stick out in his mind. There, Pearl Drums representatives along with Charlie Quintana, drummer for Bob Dylan and Izzy Stradlin, and Greg Bissonette, drummer for David Lee Roth and Joe Satriani, voted him the best drummer younger than age 16 in North America.

Clufetos and 14-year-old Leo Cordin of Vancouver were chosen from 1,500 drummers who sent in performance tapes to the drum company to compete for the title.

Bob Attwell, Pearl Drums' general manager, said it was Clufetos' maturity that made the teen stick out.

"At that age... they tend to be full of energy; dynamics (of playing) get blown out of the water," Attwell said. "Tom really plays at a whole different level (than what a) player at that age would play. He really had command of the instrument."

The modest teen didn't expect to make it that far.

"I thought I had a chance..." Clufetos said.

His teacher, Mark Mead of Royal Music Center in Royal Oak, isn't surprised.

"He's always set his goals high," he said. "He's an example of endurance. He goes through the motions. He's here every week. The only time he misses is when he's incredibly ill."

As a reward, Clufetos received a Pearl Forum series drum kit worth $1,200 and jammed with Joe Walsh, guitarist Danny Gatton, Bissonette and Quintana. Shy, he prefers not to say much about his success.

"Let's just say he's been a very good sport about it," said his mother, Debi.

Empathic person helped in dealing with sexual abuse

BARBARA SCHIFF

STREET SENSE
Barbara: I am the caller you quote in the column of May 24. I really appreciated the way you clarified the idea of objectivity.

I am in my 40s and have been in therapy for six years. It is through therapy that I have become able to face my past without feeling paralyzed as I was before I found an understanding and empathic helper. Because of my experience I don't believe that one can heal oneself. I believe that we need professional help. I had to go back and relive my experience and for that I needed someone to carry me through.

I want to share my experience, remembering the abuse and finding someone to help, with your readers. I believe that reading about my recovery can help others with their struggle.

I was 19 when I remembered my father exposing himself and demanding that my sister and I, 5 and 6 years old at the time, fondle him. I was in therapy when I remembered, and I told my therapist. He answered, saying, "The only reason you tell me this is that you want me to do this to you. You have an Electra complex. What you are saying never happened."

His response confused me. It was 25 years ago and there was little publicity and education on sexual abuse. I didn't think others could understand my story, then, as I believe they do today. As I said, that is the reason I am sharing my story; I wish I had read one like it when I remembered my father abusing me.

Even though I was confused, I stopped seeing this therapist. I did not see another one until I was in my 30s and unable to continue denying the memories. I told a new counselor; he affirmed me and for days I did not stop crying. Then, I understood that until he believed me that the abuse occurred, I did not believe myself.

This counselor referred me to a woman for the therapy he said I needed. He told me that in the initial stages I would be more able to trust a woman; he was right. I felt safer with her than I could have with a man.

Together, this woman and I worked hard to understand my life experience. I still appreciate that she accepted me where I was and never tried to force me to tear down a wall of denial until I was ready to go further.

I learned that sexual abuse was only a small part of my sick family system. Other facts of our existence were as harmful as the sexual abuse. There was the emotional abuse. My father belittled me; he called me "ugly" and "stupid." He told me that no man could ever love me and that I could never amount to anything.

Worst of all we, my family, denied these realities of our existence. I learned that I was sicker because of the denial than because of the abusive behavior. One of the outcomes of getting better was that I was able to see my parents as people not as parents. This is one of the ways I moved toward independence from them.

I stopped seeing this therapist because I moved from one city to another. Since that move, I am in therapy again, this time with a man. This has worked out very well, too. I feel more hopeful than ever that I will one day be healed. All the time, I am less and less angry. The pain returns but with less intensity; I am no longer overwhelmed by it.

I have a good job. I divorced my alcoholic husband, and I am thinking about dating. On many days, I feel spontaneous joy for no reason at all; I am happy to be alive. I feel like life is just beginning. I cannot believe all of the emotions I am capable of feeling. I feel lucky to be alive. I am healing.

I hope my life story will help someone else believe in their ability to heal.

Dear Caller,

Thank you for having the courage and generosity to share your story. It is beautiful. About two years ago a woman, whose father had killed her mother, wrote to me. In her letter, she said she did not believe someone else could help her overcome the sadness caused by her family experiences. She said she believed she would have to do it alone or that it could not be done. I hope she reads your letter. I believe as you do that in order to heal one needs professional help.

Again, thank you.

Barbara

'Sargasso' expands on Bronte

BY JOHN MONAGHAN
SPECIAL WRITER

In Charlotte Bronte's classic novel "Jane Eyre," temperamental husband Rochester hides his looney first wife in the attic. Only rumor and speculation hint at how the woman was driven to madness, mad enough to leap to her death after setting fire to the mansion.

The character long fascinated author Jean Rhys, who created a sweeping history for her in the 1966 novel "Wide Sargasso Sea." The new film version by Australian director John Duigan, currently at the Maple, offers a fascinating and sensual look at a 19th-century Creole heiress driven mad on a Caribbean island.

She marries Rochester (Nathaniel Parker), a typically stuffy Englishman keeping a stiff upper lip amidst the oppressive heat and uninhibited ways of the natives. Outfitted in a high-collared shirt, jacket and ascot, he takes the wealthy Antoinette in an arranged marriage.

Antoinette (Karina Lombard), who was born here, is more relaxed and open to this environment. For awhile they are recklessly happy until a blackmailer arrives and fills the husband's head full of stories about his bride and her family.

Rochester now treats his wife coldly. His passion, once inspired by her primitive nature, turns from amorous to violent. Antoinette, meanwhile, begs her native nursemaid Christophene (Claudia Robinson) to restore their love with "obeah," the local brand of voodoo.

"Wide Sargasso Sea" sustains its steamy atmosphere through its lush locale, a primeval jungle buzzing with ever-present birds and insects. Cinematographer Geoff Burton bathes his images in heat and sweat, especially in the myriad sex scenes, while ex-Police drummer Stewart Copeland blends both modern and primitive sounds in his percussive score.

The movie has an NC-17 rating, most likely due to explicit shots of both the male and female anatomy. This, after all, is a movie about mood and sensuality rather than plot, which in weaker moments recalls both Harlequin romances and "Mandingo."

As Antoinette's mother and stepfather, Rachel Ward and Michael York head a supporting cast much more recognizable than the attractive leads. We learn that our heroine's condition has a family precedent since Antoinette's mother was similarly taken for mad and locked away in loneliness and desperation.

The idea that each of the characters is caught in a net of his or her own making has a visual re-ferent in one spooky shot. A drowned sailor is pulled out of the water, having failed in his quest to free a boat from the underwater weed beds that block passage through the wide Sargasso Sea.

Rochester later dreams that he, too, is trapped by the waving weeds. In a nightmare image, his wife's face floats toward him before he jerks awake in fright.

Though linked strongly to its predecessor, "Wide Sargasso Sea" successfully stands on its own as an exotic set piece and a tragic romance.

Mead, who's taught Clufetos for seven years, agreed: "He's the last person to blow his own horn. But once he's behind those drums, the shyness is gone."
Aside from the drums, Clufetos is a normal gangly teen. He plays drums and trumpet in the band at Van Hoosen Middle School, where he also helps teach his peers the drums. His friends have bands, but he prefers to sit back and watch them, 'choosing not to show them up."
Although only in his early teens, Clufetos is a touring veteran, having played drums in his father's band throughout the United States. (They will release an album, "Then and Now," on Atlanta's Butterscotch Records on June 20.) At first, he said, he was apprehensive about telling his teachers why he was going to miss school.

"I just said, 'I'm going to be gone for a while,'" he said with a grin.
When he returned from the competition, it was hard to hide his accomplishment.
"He got a big write-up in the school paper," his mother said. Clufetos found his teachers to be understanding.
"They thought it was pretty cool," he said. Although he travels and practices frequently, Clufetos maintains an "A" average at school.
"I couldn't do it if I wasn't getting good grades," he said.
How does he do it?
"I just use my time well, I guess."

Blazers shock Canton, 1-0

Livonia Ladywood pulled off a stunning victory over last year's Class A state runner-up Plymouth Canton, beating the host Chiefs in the district championship, 1-0.

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

As the leadoff batter, Lisa Rozum has scored plenty of runs for the Livonia Ladywood softball team, but none more important than the one she scored Saturday. Rozum raced home following an error for the only run as the Blazers shocked Plymouth Canton 1-0 in the championship game of the Class A district tournament at Salem. "I was thinking I'd better run faster, because the game is on the line," said Rozum, a sophomore who lives in Canton. "I think the adrenaline carried me most of the way. It was the best run from third to home I've had." Ladywood (21-11-1) advances to the regional tournament at Plymouth-Canton to play the Ann Arbor Pioneer district winner Saturday. The loss was filled with irony for the Chiefs (31-6) and all-state pitcher Kelly Holmes, who threw a perfect game through six innings. She still ended her career throwing a no-hitter without a walk, but the Blazers capitalized on three errors (all in the seventh inning) to win the game.

"Kelly was outstanding today; everything was working for her," Canton coach Jim Arnold said. "She even looked a little faster today. She really wanted this game." Rozum and Melissa Campeau started the top of the seventh for Ladywood with bunts and reached base on errors. A dropped ball at first on Campeau's bunt allowed Rozum to take third, and an overthrow at third opened the door for her to score. "The breaks went our way this time instead of theirs," first-year Ladywood coach Lisa Parsons said, recalling a 4-2, eight-inning loss to the Chiefs in the Canton Classic. "We knew we had to put the ball in play. The last time we struck out 14 times. We put pressure on them to play defense, because you just don't hit off (Holmes). The last time they sat back and let Kelly strike everybody out." Holmes, who finished with 958 career strikeouts, fanned the first six Ladywood batters and assisted on five of the next six putouts. But the Blazers started swinging harder and making better contact as the game progressed. "I started them bunting and slapping at the ball to give them confidence — and it helped," Parsons said. "Once they found they could touch the ball against her, they weren't as intimidated as the last time." "The last time they said they were scared going up there because she throws so hard. (The patient strategy) showed she's human and we didn't have to be afraid."

Rockets jet into regional

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Jarrett Minch's day of pomp and circumstance took place on a different stage — Saturday's Class A district baseball final at Garden City Park. The seldom-used reserve, foregoing graduation exercises, came off the bench to deliver the game-winning hit as Westland John Glenn advanced into the regional with a hard-fought 5-3 victory over the host Cougars. Minch, one of seven Glenn seniors who skipped cap-and-gown ceremonies, singled sharply to right field with two outs, bringing home Bryan Besco from second base with the go-ahead run to break a 3-3 deadlock in the top of the seventh inning. Mike Bint followed with a single to left, scoring Minch from second (after he advanced on a wild pitch), to put the Rockets ahead by two runs and into the regional. "After we beat Belleville (in Tuesday's predistrict) Jarrett came to me Wednesday at practice and told he was going to stay," said Glenn veteran coach Norm Hoenes, who captured his seventh district crown. "He (Minch) is one of our 'Pine brothers.' He hasn't played hardly at all, but he said, 'Coach, you might need me in case we need the big hit.'" Ironically, Minch came on as a pinch-hitter in the fifth inning with one out and runners on first and second, but was fanned by Garden City's Justin Black. (Jarrod Hura's RBI sacrifice fly tied it earlier in the inning.) The Rockets (24-4 overall) also received a clutch pitching performance from lefty Greg Nesbitt. The senior reliever, who came on for Besco in the fifth, pitched three scoreless innings to pick up the victory. "He's our third pitcher, but he's pitched well all year and he'd be a lot of guys' number-one starter," Hoenes said. Glenn opened the scoring in the first on singles by Aaron Scheffer and Derek Besco, followed by an RBI sacrifice fly by Bryan Besco. The Cougars tied it in the bottom of the inning when Jason Holton's groundout brought home Jason Workman. Scheffer's RBI single made it 2-1 in the second, but GC answered with a pair of runs in the third. Bell singled and Perkey doubled. Both scored on a Glenn infield error. But the Cougars, who were out 10-6, could not get on the board the rest of the way. "I thought our team played like pit bulls, but it's awfully tough to beat a team as good as Glenn," Garden City coach Bob Dropp said. "They've had some super teams in the last few years, but we stayed with them and played tough." "The front of our lineup has hit well all year. Overall, each kid had a good time at bat each time up." GC finished the year at 20-8 overall, the first 20-win season in Dropp's 25 years as coach.

Belleville too strong for Cougars, Zebras

BY BOB STEBBINS
STAFF WRITER

On a gloomy Saturday afternoon, the state playoff hopes of Garden City's softball team blew away in a 5-4 loss to Belleville in the Class A District Championship game at Garden City. The Tigers, 27-7 overall, scored a run in the bottom of the seventh inning to break a 4-4 tie and unseat Garden City as district champions. Despite the loss, Garden City coach Barry Patterson was pleased with the performance of his team. "Belleville is a good team, and I think Garden City is a good team," Patterson said. "We played a good game and hung right in there with them." Early on, it looked like Garden City was going to take command of the game. After Belleville notched a run in the first inning, the Cougars responded with two runs in second to grab the lead. Jennifer Kintz led off with a triple. Kintz raced home on a single from Shannon Bush, who scored on a shutout by the middle by Christina Bako. Garden City added an additional run in the fourth inning to increase its lead to 3-1; however, Belleville reclaimed the lead in the bottom half of the inning by pushing across three runs. The big hits in the rally were a double by Heather Holshoe and a RBI single by Amanda Kessler. The Cougars tied the game at 4-4 in the fifth inning, with Bush driving in Kintz, who had again tripled. The game remained tied until the bottom of the seventh, when the Tigers pushed across the winning run after a pair of Garden City walks, a wild pitch and a throwing error. Leslee Dickerson was the winning pitcher for the Tigers, while Lori Cook pitched a fine game in defeat for Garden City. Kintz and Bush each had three hits for the Cougars, while Cheryl Lynn Thick had two hits for Belleville. Patterson was complimentary of his team. "This was as nice a group of young ladies to coach as any I have been associated with in a number of years," said the Garden City coach. Singled out by both coaches for her talents was Kintz, with Patterson adding that the slugging outfielder, "is one of the finest players I have ever coached." Garden City ends the year at 19-13. The Tigers, who won the Wolverine A League, advance to Saturday's Plymouth Salem regional to face the Novi district winner. In the first district semifinal game played Saturday, Belleville advanced with a 6-0 triumph over Wayne Memorial. Dickerson tossed a no-hitter for the Tigers.

JIM JAGDFELD/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Winging it: Wayne hurler Erica Cox (No. 3) couldn't overcome a no-hitter thrown by Belleville's Leslee Dickerson.

She struck out 10 and walked two. Michele Swat had two hits for Belleville, while Erika Cox was the losing pitcher for Wayne. Garden City ousted Romulus, 15-6, in the other semifinal. Kintz was the winning pitcher for the Cougars, with Cook coming on in relief in the fourth inning and giving up only two runs the rest of the way. Garden City scored six runs in the fourth to break the game open, with the key blow being a three-run triple by Kintz. Kintz later added a two-run double in the seventh.

Walter's bounced by Del-Wal

Boike, pitching in relief of starter John Vanderbrink, earned the win for Delwal. Vanderbrink struck out three and allowed one earned run in 6 1/2 innings.

Local legion Area baseball players spark Henry Ford

By BRAD EMONS STAFF WRITER

Henry Ford Community College, thanks to the efforts of several Observerland players, recently captured its sixth straight Eastern Conference baseball title in the Michigan CC Athletic Association.

The Hawks, coached by Stu Rose, finished 32-12 overall before being ousted in the Region 12 tournament.

The pitching staff was led by Redford Catholic Central High product Steve Ross, who made All-MCCA honors after finishing 6-1 with a 3.39 earned run average. He struck out 57 and walked only 26 in 50 1/3 innings.

North Farmington's Andrew Margolick went 5-1 with a 4.46 ERA, while Westland John Glenn's Chris Kirkey, a reliever, led the team with 12 appearances. Kirkey had two saves and a 3-1 record.

Dave Roman (Livonia Franklin) also proved effective, going 2-1 with a 3.48 ERA. He struck out 42 batters in 31 innings. He also threw a no-hitter on Henry Ford's spring trip.

Teammate Adam Marano (Garden City) was used as a spot starter, going 2-1.

Offensively, freshman Gary Pierce (John Glenn), the Hawks' lead-off man, hit .377 (46 for 122), including 49 runs, 11 extra-base hits and 24 stolen bases. He struck out only six times.

Tom Davey (Plymouth Salem) earned a starting position at first base, hitting .444 (40 for 90) with sixth homers and 33 RBI.

Outfielder Jason Riggs (Plymouth Canton) batted .327 (38 for 116) with 12 extra-base hits. He finished with 36 runs scored and 27 RBI.

Roman, meanwhile, hit .314 (27 for 86), including seven extra base hits, with 19 RBI and 26 runs. He was 10-for-10 on stolen bases.

Dave Wood (Berkley) was the team's MVP, all-MCCA and All-Region 12 choice.

He broke several of HFCC of-fensive records held previously by Clint Straub (John Glenn), batting .461 with 61 RBI. Wood also went 5-3 on the mound with a 2.67 ERA and two saves.

Shamrocks advance to regional tourney

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

After surviving Class A district baseball challenges, Redford Catholic Central was able to shift its-attention to Saturday's regional.

That's when the Shamrocks will battle the Temperance-Bedford district winner at Temperance-Bedford.

But before they pack their bats and gloves and tuck their glowing district title memories away, it might behoove them to keep in mind how they made it there.

Pitching first. Defense second. And some timely, if not overpowering, hitting.

John Salter, CC's coach, was well aware of all this. He allowed himself to think ahead to the state championship weekend for a moment, saying, "Just five more."

That's how many wins the Shamrocks will need to win the championship. But then Salter quickly backed up: "We've got the math all figured out. The problem is getting there."

Another lesson his players might take with them to Bedford: While the scores of Saturday's district games at Dearborn High School, 6-0 over Dearborn Fordson and 9-3 over Dearborn Edsel Ford, might indicate easy wins for CC, the reality was somewhat different.

The Shamrocks prevailed over Fordson in the opener thanks to Brian Paluk's superb pitching.

BASEBALL

The senior right-hander pitched six innings, allowing two hits and two walks while striking out 12 to run his record to 10-2.

But the game was close until the late innings. CC didn't get on the board until the top of the fifth, when Aaron Babicz doubled, was sacrificed to third and scored on Dave Kapla's sacrifice fly.

The Shamrocks got a second run in the sixth on Juan Sanchez's triple and Jeff Gutt's sacrifice fly. They didn't break it open until the seventh, when they scored four times. Andy Slankster singled in one run and Brian Hicks singled in two more. Hicks, with two singles, was CC's only player with multiple hits.

The game against Edsel Ford was a bit easier, and Salter knew why. "We did swing the bats better," he acknowledged. "But that was a young pitcher they had out there."

It's true; the Thunderbirds' sophomore right-hander, Todd Tobin, was overmatched. He went all six innings but was never in command. All nine runs were earned; they were scored in three three-run innings (the first, fourth and sixth). He surrendered 14 hits and two walks, striking out two.

Meanwhile, Shamrock starter Andy Kummer, a junior right-hander, withstood a shaky start to

"We're a little disappointed, but when they look back they'll be proud," Dropp said.

Hoenes also came away impressed with GC's club.

"They swing the bats well and with two strikes they keep swinging," Hoenes said. "They fouled off a lot of pitches."

GLENN 5, WAYNE 1: John Glenn advanced to the championship with a victory over rival Wayne Memorial as Aaron Scheffer struck out seven and tossed a three-hitter.

"It was the best I've seen from Aaron in quite some time. He was in front of every hitter," Glenn coach Norm Hoenes said.

Mike Bint's three-run homer off Wayne starter Tadd Kempainen in the sixth inning broke open a close game. "Without that, it's a 2-1 ballgame, but give the Bint kid credit, he got all of it," said Wayne coach Jim Chronowski, whose team bowed out at 11-1 overall. "We had only six base runners and it was another effective game for Scheffer. He's one of the best I've seen this year."

"He (Scheffer) likes to get you to bit on the fastball up high, and our hitters needed to show more discipline. But he doesn't throw many balls."

Glenn broke a scoreless deadlock in the fifth on an RBI sacrifice fly by Scheffer (scoring Jeromey Cosby), followed by an RBI single by Greg Nesbitt (scoring Bint).

Wayne tallied its only run in the sixth on a walk to Jeff Tapp, followed by back-to-back singles from Jeremy Cox and Phil Snow.

go five innings, giving up two runs (one earned) on five hits. He did not walk a batter and struck out four. Dave Susalla relieved in the sixth and struck out five batters in two innings, but did allow two hits and a run.

Hicks was the hitting hero for the Shamrocks, collecting three hits and three runs batted in; he was five of seven at the plate, with five RBIs, in the two games.

After Edsel Ford took the lead, with J.J. Schimizzi doubling in a run in the first, Hicks answered by doubling in two in the bottom of the first. Susalla's single scored CC's third run of the inning, and the Shamrocks were ahead to stay.

They made it 6-1 in the fourth after two were out. Eric Justice singled and Mike Brusseau doubled, with a wild pitch scoring one run. Sanchez's base hit brought in a second and, after Gutt singled, Hicks delivered again with an RBI single.

The Thunderbirds got single runs in the fifth and sixth, Kaniewski's groundout scoring the first and Bekim Ala's single knocking in the second. But CC replied in the bottom of the sixth, adding three runs to its cushion on five hits.

Sanchez singled to start the scoring, coming home on Gutt's double. Hicks singled and, after Babicz struck out with men at second and third, Susalla singled to score two.

Joining Hicks in the multiple-hit category were Sanchez, with three and an RBI; Susalla, with two and three RBIs; Gutt, with two and an RBI; and Kapla, with two hits.

Lutheran Westland whips softball foes

DISTRICTS

Lutheran High Westland had an easier time than expected Saturday in capturing the Class C softball district championship at Maasey Field in Plymouth.

The Warriors (16-10 overall) trounced Metro Conference West Division rival Livonia Clarenceville in the finals, 20-3, despite being out-hit 6-2.

Clarenceville pitchers surrendered 19 walks and hit three batters to aid the Warriors' offense.

Westland scored 15 times in the first inning to put the game out of reach. The Warriors were coming off an 11-0 mercy-rule triumph over Detroit Benedictine in the semifinals.

Meanwhile, the Trojans had a much tougher outing in their semifinal before squeaking out a 7-6 win over Redford Bishop Borgess.

"They (Clarenceville) simply ran out of gas," Lutheran Westland coach Ron Gentz said. "Their pitchers couldn't find the plate. I think that 7-6 game took a lot out of them. I feel bad for them. We beat them twice earlier in the year, once by one run and once by three. They have a much better team than the score indicates." Senior Shannon Wasil recorded the wins in both games. Against the Trojans, she walked two and struck out three. She threw a one-hitter and walked only one against Benedictine.

Erin Cicero ripped a triple and knocked in two runs against Clarenceville. She also had two hits and an RBI against Benedictine.

In the semifinal, Suzie Clark got the Warriors going with a two-run home run in the first. Liza Dean added a two-run double in the fourth.

Even though Westland scored 31 runs over 10 innings, it was the defense that pleased Gentz the most.

"We have played better defensively over the past three weeks," Gentz said. "We made only two errors all day and that is good for us."

The Warriors next hurdle is the Erie-Mason regional. Awaiting Lutheran Westland is Riverview Gabriel Richard — one of the state's top ranked teams in Class C.

Salem's Marsella no-hits Patriots in district final

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

For a baseball pitcher who nearly lost control, Plymouth Salem junior Mike Marsella was in complete control Saturday.

Despite a rocky start, Marsella threw a no-hitter against Livonia Franklin and led the Rocks to the Class A district championship at Canton with a 7-0 victory.

Pitching carried the day for Salem, which toppled Western Lakes Activities Association champion Canton in the first round as junior Nirav Kher tossed a three-hit shutout, 3-0.

"That's one of the things we worked at and had to work on all year because we were inexperienced," Salem coach John Gravelin said.

"The biggest find was Nirav. We knew Mike was going to be a starting pitcher, but he hasn't been quite as consistent as Nirav, who has thrown 14 (consecutive) innings and not given up a run. Of course, Mike has thrown seven."

In the final, Marsella hit three batters in the first two innings and was nearly ejected because of it.

Instead, he collected himself and proceeded to make history; only one more Franklin player, Pat McCormack, reached base, on an error in the sixth inning.

"The umpire said one more and I'd be tossed," Marsella said. "It shook me up. I didn't have my control. Plus, my pitches were tailing up and in so that didn't help. I changed my grip and got back in the groove."

Marsella, who threw a no-no against Belleville in his freshman year, found his control and faced just 16 batters over the last five innings. He threw 79 pitches overall, striking out five and walking none.

Salem (20-13) will play Ann Arbor Pioneer in the regional tournament Saturday at Plymouth-Canton.

Sophomore Mike AuBuchon pitched six innings for Franklin, but the Rocks scored a single run in the first and got to him for four in the second. Salem had seven of its 13 hits in the first two innings.

Charlie Winstel, who had four hits on the day to raise his season total to 42 — the most by any player in Gravelin's 10 years as coach, had an RBI single in the first.

Patriots in district final

The Rocks loaded the bases with three straight hits to start the second. An error scored one run, Bryan Zarosely (three hits) had a two-run single and Eric Kida added an RBI sacrifice fly.

"The time to get (Marsella) was early when he was ragged and hit kids," Franklin coach Jim Karoub said. "His control was not real sharp and that was the time to do it."

AuBuchon followed with three scoreless innings before Salem scored twice in the sixth to make it 7-0. Rob Jansen finished the game for the Patriots (9-19).

"For a sophomore, I think my kid pitched a pretty good game," Franklin coach Jim Karoub said. "I don't think he pitched as poorly as the six runs they scored on him. He was around the plate all day and had nice stuff."

Kher, who boasts an earned-run average below 1.00, struck out one and walked two against Canton.

The Chiefs (21-12) loaded the bases in the fourth, but a forceout and two flyouts ended the threat. Canton put its first two batters aboard in the sixth, but Kher retired the side with a pair of flyouts and a strikeout.

The Rocks defeated Canton ace Craig Benedict, who allowed six hits, struck out two and walked one.

Salem scored twice in the fourth inning when Brandon Los was hit by a pitch, stole second and scored on Stryker's single. Stryker later scored on an error. Winstel had two hits, including an RBI double in the fifth.

Franklin got a complete game from sophomore Brian Crumley to beat Livonia Stevenson (5-18) in the first round, 6-2. Crumley tossed a four-hitter, fanned six, walked one and hit two. Brad Morgan was the losing pitcher.

"Brian was very effective," Karoub said. "I don't think he had his best stuff, but he was consistent and around the plate, and he pitched out of some tough situations, which is really good to see a pitcher do."

McCormack, Matt Fournier and Jason Schniers had two hits each for the Patriots, who scored five runs in the second inning. Franklin made two errors in the fourth that led to Stevenson's runs. McCormack also had two RBIs and Schniers one.

Upset win from page 1C

Winning pitcher Mary Jo Kelly was nearly as effective for the Blazers, throwing a four-hitter and walking three. Both pitchers struck out eight.

Kelly allowed just one hit through five innings, but the Chiefs got two and threatened in the sixth, in which Rozum had a game-saving catch in center field.

Canton had runners at first and second when Lisa Nicastrri hit a line drive that Rozum caught on the run. The inning ended with Tina Schafer (two hits) being thrown out at the plate after a single to right field by Holmes.

"In the end, I didn't throw as much junk because I wanted to get it over the plate," Kelly said, adding that it was her biggest victory in four years of Ladywood softball. "I have a good defense behind me and I trust them."

The loss was disappointing for the Chiefs, who were state runners-up last year and had hoped to make another tournament run.

"It's not an automatic thing," Arnold said. "We heard a lot of that, and there was a lot of pressure on the kids all season. I tried to downplay it, but it's always on their minds."

"We had a legitimate shot at it, but you have to have some luck to be there. We had a tough district and it doesn't get any tougher."

By eliminating Canton, the Blazers have put themselves into serious contention for additional honors.

"I think this was a big step for us, and we have a chance to go far," Parsons said. "This definitely is one of the toughest, if not the toughest, games we'll have to play."

In first-round district games, Canton and Ladywood posted five-inning mercy-rule victories.

The Blazers defeated Livonia Franklin 14-4 behind the two-hit pitching of Kelly, who fanned eight and walked two.

She also had a big game at the plate, with two hits, two RBIs and three runs scored. Stacey Judd had two doubles, two RBIs and two runs, and Katie Wright had two hits and three RBIs.

Senior shortstop Dani Mortiere hit two over-the-fence home runs at Canton as the Chiefs routed Livonia Stevenson 19-3. She had three hits and six RBIs with a grand slam and a two-run homer.

Donahue logical choice for U-D Mercy cage job

C.J. RISAK

If it comes down to picking the right man for the job — the man with the proper connections, the best credentials, the most experience — then Glen Donahue will be the choice to coach University of Detroit-Mercy's basketball team next season.

No one else interested in coaching the Titans has nearly as much experience. None have proven they can recruit any better (not even Perry Watson — more on that later). And, although the other candidates would argue otherwise, they could not possibly be as committed to a school as Donahue is to UD-M.

So why the wait? What are Titan officials debating about? Why bother interviewing anyone else?

Why don't they just hire him? Their answer: Well, let's be thorough. Let's be fair.

Those are just dodges, of course, which I fear will lead to one of those "other factors to consider" replies as an explanation when someone else is hired.

This much I know: If someone else is chosen to replace Ricky Byrdson — who for a reason I will never comprehend resigned to take the coaching position at Northwestern University (I hope it was the money) — it won't be because he's better qualified.

A solid record

There's so much to be said for Donahue's credentials. Teams under his direction have won more than 600 games, with the majority coming in the college ranks. He took a struggling St. Mary's College program and in four years turned it into a contender for the NAIA national title.

Thing is, Donahue wouldn't have been in position to turn St. Mary's around if he had been hired at UD-M instead of Byrdson. He had coached just one year at St. Mary's when he interviewed for the UD-M job.

But UD-M officials decided against Donahue, an alumnus (class of '58) and former assistant coach ('86-87), in favor of Byrdson — who had no local ties but had two factors in his favor: He was young and he was black.

Donahue is neither. And, chances are, if he is passed by again, those will be key factors.

The perception is only a black coach can recruit in the city, and only a young coach can relate to today's players.

Generalizations like that are unfortunate. In Donahue's case, they're untrue. He's proven he can coach and recruit in the city — he was 401-205 in 20 seasons at Highland Park Community College. And he's had no trouble relating to young players. He took over the Redford Bishop Borgess program last fall, just two weeks before the start of fall practice, and did a creditable job.

But there are more important traits his credentials don't reveal.

The right attitude

For one, Donahue is a strong rebounder. When St. Mary's program folded underneath him, just a few days after he had taken them to the NAIA National Tournament, he was stunned.

Who wouldn't be? But he overcame it, never allowing bitterness and resentment to anchor him. He began searching for a place to coach, but not until after all his returning players at St. Mary's were taken care of.

If UD-M officials need an example of Donahue's loyalty, they need look no further.

What is bound to be used as an excuse for hiring someone else is age. Donahue is 58.

But he's no dummy. He knows how to turn what could be perceived as a detriment into a positive.

"One of the things I emphasized," he said from his Southfield home of his interview at UD-M two weeks ago, "is that I'd be there for the long haul. This would not be a stepping stone for me. I want to spend the rest of my career there."

And how long would that be? Donahue has no other interest except coaching. If he kept the job for eight years, he'd be third in longevity in UD-M's basketball history, which dates back to 1905.

What could he bring to the program? An unwavering attitude, for one. He is always positive. And he has an established program.

Livonia's Cloverlanes treats blind bowlers

AL HARRISON

And so it has been proclaimed as "Blind Bowlers Week" by Livonia Mayor Robert D. Bennett.

The week of May 24-30 was recognized as such as the 46th annual ABBA National Blind Bowlers Tournament was held at Cloverlanes in Livonia.

There were 165 teams and a total of 649 blind bowlers who converged on Livonia from all over the United States and a few from Canada.

There were many competitors from our own Greater Detroit area and it was a nice break for them not to have to travel out-of-state. Next year's event will take place in Atlanta, Ga.

The group was based at the Hyatt Regency. Extra activities included visits to Greenfield Village and a day at the races at Ladbrook DRC where the bowlers used their other skills to bring home the green stuff.

Dinner-dances were also held on Friday and Sunday. The tournament was hosted by the Metro Detroit Blind Bowlers with Dennis Godfrey as chairman.

In watching the blind bowlers in action, the first thing you would notice is the placement of the hand rails on the approaches. These are used to guide the bowlers in the direction of the pins as they keep one hand on the rail during delivery.

I had mistakenly referred to this item as a bar, only to be advised that the bar is where drinks are served. Another unusual sight to behold is all the dogs on the scene.

These animals are the wonderful guide dogs, and they just wait patiently for their owners to finish their bowling. Buck, a 28-month-old Black Labrador looked like he wanted to try his paw at bowling.

One of the competitors, Elmer Kapp, is a Livonia businessman, and totally blind. The C class bowlers are totally blind; B is comprised of partially blind and all class refers to the sighted bowlers who participate with the blind bowlers in their regular league play.

It's necessary to have sighted bowlers to spot the pins by number. The blind bowlers can usually tell how many pins are downed, but not which ones.

One of the most active local leagues can be seen regularly at Garden Lanes in Garden City on Saturdays.

No event involving blind bowlers can be complete without mention of Harry Hunter, one of the pioneers and organizers of this activity. Harry was ailing and unable to attend, but as this year's recipient of the GDBA's Meritorious Service Award by the Hall of Fame committee, Harry Hunter was certainly missed by his many friends among the blind bowlers.
