Schools launch tax campaign

The school board and administration want community support for a tax rate increase they're seeking in an upcoming election. School officials have scheduled a meeting for July 20. In a public letter, they describe the district as being "in crisis."

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Keeping his promise, the new Wayne-Westland school board president has embarked on a plan to gain widespread community support for a tax increase to restore nearly $14 million in school programs.

The massive budget cuts are to be implemented this fall, eliminating all extracurricular activities, closing school libraries and halting transportation for junior high and high school students.

Newly elected school board president Francis "Bud" Winter has appointed board members Mathew McCusker and Patricia Brown to help him reach a recommendation on a tax proposal.

To seek advice, a letter signed by Winter and Superintendent Larry Thomas has been mailed to more than 100 community representatives, inviting them to the important meeting on Tuesday night, July 20.

"We need your help," the letter said. "Our district is in crisis, and we believe the only answer is a successful millage campaign."

Winter hopes that his appointed board committee can decide on a recommendation for a specific tax proposal and choose an election date during the July 20 session.

Winter hopes to build a strong foundation for a tax campaign by inviting government officials, civic leaders, parents and other community representatives from Westland, Wayne, Canton Township and Inkster.

The general public also is invited to attend the session, scheduled for 7

Keeping cool in the pool

STAFF PHOTOS BY ART BRANDELL

Beating the heat: The Bailey Center swimming pool, used by all ages to cool off, is also available for birthday parties and special events.

Pool's cool spot for summertime visitors

Want to keep cool, but don't have air conditioning in your home and car?

Then the Bailey Center swimming pool is the place to be to beat the heat.

That's the message from Debbie Lindquist, pool supervisor.

She said the pool can be used for special events, such as youngsters' birthday parties, as well as recreational swimming and swim lessons.

The pool, next to Bailey Recreation Center, behind City Hall on Ford east of Newburgh, will be open through Labor Day.

The city's parks and recreation department is now in the middle of its second of five two-week swim lessons. The third will be July 19-30 with the others to continue through Aug. 27.

Lessons start at 9 a.m. for 5-to-10 year-olds and continue through noon for other age groups, starting at 3 months.

For preschoolers, one parent must accompany the child in the pool, said Lindquist.

Open swimming is held noon to 4 p.m. and 5-8 p.m., daily when weather permits. Daily admission is $1.50 for children and $2.25 for

Livonia schools cut $8.8 million

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Reluctantly wielding their fiscal ax, the Livonia school district trustees last week whacked $8.8 million from the new budget, then tentatively set a millage election for Monday, Aug. 30.

The budget cuts were necessary to offset expected cuts in the district's state subsidy, said Jim Watters, elected board president last week.

The cuts include payroll savings from people laid off last month, plus cuts in equipment purchases, vehicle and equipment replacement and supply budgets.

The good news is that trustees didn't cut the sixth hour from the school day and will recall some folks from layoff to fill six elementary teaching positions and six library jobs. More than 200 employees were laid off in June.

The bad news is that the district's cash reserve, has been virtually wiped out. It was slashed to $72,000, down from $7 million in 1991 and $10 million in 1989. That means that there's virtually no additional money stashed away to pay unexpected expenses for the district, which includes the northern section of Westland.

The millage request, which the board is expected to make final at its July 19 meeting, would go on the ballot Aug. 30. Trustees have tentatively decided to ask voters for 1 mill over three years, which would raise about $2.9 million per year. In a straw poll last week, only trustee Joe Laura opposed the millage request.

That money would be used for two things:

■ Fully fund high school and middle school athletics and activities programs, eliminating the current "pay-to-participate" system.

■ Recall some people from layoff to fill 13 art, music and gym teaching jobs and six reading teachers.

If voters reject the millage, athletic and activity programs could be cancelled altogether, said Jack Kirksey, the director of educational services.

A lot of what happens now depends "on what Lansing is going to do to us," Kirksey said.

State government officials are seeking a way to subsidize school districts, eliminate a $400 million deficit and cut property taxes simultaneously. State Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Redford, whose district includes Livonia, said she doesn't expect the school subsidy budget to be finished any-

Sign of the 'old' times

Someone with a political sense of humor has erected old — very old — campaign signs last week at major intersections. The signs along Wayne Road urge residents to vote for city council members Ken Mehl, Ben DeHart and William Ziemia. They haven't run as a team since 1989.

There are more choices for restaurant-goers this month. The Little Mexico II restaurant recently opened in the former Cantonese Village Chinese restaurant on Wayne Road south of Warren. A few blocks north is a new Lebanese restaurant, on Wayne Road between Joy and Cowan. In the meantime, a vacant Sizzler's steak house, which closed months ago for remodeling, is being prepared for opening under a new name. It is on

Mom, son guilty in store robbery

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A 29-year-old Detroit woman and her 15-year-old son have been found guilty in a Nov. 19 gun-point robbery in the parking lot of the Westland Meijer store, police said.

The boy, Dorian Jamill Franklin, remains in custody of juvenile authorities, and his mother, Lechandria Pershon Franklin, is scheduled for sentencing Aug. 10 in Detroit Recorder's Court.

The son was found guilty in juvenile court of armed robbery, said Detective Sgt. Marc Stobbe. The boy could be placed in juvenile facilities until age 21, though he could be released sooner.

The mother, meanwhile, was convicted Wednesday on a lesser charge of being an accessory to armed robbery. She could face a maximum sentence of five years in prison when sentenced Aug. 10, Stobbe said.

The mother had originally been charged with armed robbery and could have faced a maximum sentence of life in prison. But she was found guilty of the reduced charge during a bench trial before Judge Robert Evans in Recorder's Court.

The conviction came after

Lechandria Franklin gave conflicting testimony about the armed holdup of a 47-year-old Detroit woman at the Meijer store on the southeast corner of Warren Road and Newburgh.

"I had problems with her credibility on the witness stand," said assistant Wayne County prosecutor Glenn Page.

In court testimony, the mother denied that she initially confessed to Westland police and told them that she and her son committed the 10:10 p.m. robbery because she needed money to buy Christmas presents for her family.

The robbery occurred a month before Christmas. The victim was robbed of a purse that contained $60 in cash plus credit cards and a bank card.

The items were later recovered in Livonia when police stopped a vehicle that matched the description of the getaway car, a red Pontiac Fiero, police said.

Conflicting testimony emerged about whether the mother or the son initiated the robbery. At one point, the son testified that the holdup was his idea and that his mother knew nothing about it, Page said.

Council vows to aid chamber

BY LEANNE ROGERS
STAFF WRITER

The city council promised in writing last week to improve communications with the Garden City Chamber of Commerce.

The council approved a resolution, recommended by the chamber, which directs the city manager to designate a staff contact person for business issues.

Council member Mary Jane Schildberg, an associate chamber member, questioned a provision resolving that the mayor and council would attend chamber meetings whenever possible.

"That may raise expectations or place an undue burden on future council members. Once this is stated the expectation is there," said Schildberg, noting the city's elected officials have not often attended the chamber meetings.

Council member Michael Breen, who drafted the resolution based on a communication from the chamber, said the measure was designed to raise expectations. The resolution indicated elected officials would attend whenever possible, he noted.

Sharing Schildberg's concerns was council member Patricia Nunneley, who said that many council members like herself had a difficult time attending daytime meetings due to work commitments.

"I recall that Mr. Breen has indicated (previously) that he didn't want to serve on boards or committees (that meet during the day) for that reason," she said. "At the workshop I expressed concern as this affected myself. Most meetings are during the day. I used personal time to attend committee meetings."

While all of the council members would like to attend chamber meetings, Nunneley said work commitments would interfere for many.

"Also the mayor is the ceremonial head of the city and I imagine he would attend many of those meetings," she said. Breen is running for mayor in November against Walter Balfour.

In the resolution, the council also resolves to schedule at least two open forum meetings in a calendar year to discuss issues concerning the business community and to keep the chamber informed on proposed ordinances or resolutions concerning businesses.

Livonia man arrested following auto accident

A Livonia man was arrested for drunken driving following a traffic accident Wednesday morning. He told officers he had consumed half a cup of wine at church but registered a .25 Breathalyzer reading, more than twice the legal minimum to be considered drunk.

Larceny

Four fishing poles with reels, two tackle boxes with assorted tackle, a tent, propane stove and generator were reported stolen from a truck parked in the 30000 block of Bock Tuesday.

COP CALLS

Assault

A Garden City man was arrested for assaulting his girlfriend and damaging two cars outside their apartment in the 1000 block of Arcola Wednesday. The woman told officers the man called her at work and said he was moving out of their apartment. When she arrived at the apartment, she said she parked behind the car he was driving and blocked him in. After the woman refused to move, she said the man got into the other car and rammed the second vehicle, damaging the two vehicles, both of which she owns. He then assaulted her before leaving. He was arrested nearby in a taxi.

Break-in

A compact copier and $17,000 worth of merchandise was reported stolen from two adjoining businesses in the 28000 block of Ford July 6. A hole had been knocked in the restroom wall and locks removed from the front door. The stolen merchandise included $600 worth of jewelry, 475 imported Indian dresses, 50 pairs of Pakistani shoes, 95 rolls of silk and 80 pieces of imported Indian cloth.

Drunk driving

An Inkster woman and a Garden City woman were arrested for drunken driving Wednesday. An officer noticed the car driven by the Inkster woman was swerving while the car driven by the Garden City woman was following too close. When their vehicles were stopped, both women were found to be intoxicated. The Garden City woman said she was helping her friend by following her home. Both had prior drunken driving convictions.

Larceny

Stereo equipment and a gold watch valued at $825 were reported stolen from a vehicle parked in an apartment building parking lot in the 6400 block of Venoy Thursday.

Watch missing

A Garden City man reported a gold watch valued at $350 stolen Thursday at the swimming pool in City Park. He said he had placed the watch under his towel at the side of the pool but found it missing when he returned from taking his son to the restroom.

Disorderly person

A Garden City man was arrested as a disorderly person early Friday after officers saw him assault a Dearborn Heights man at a bar in the 29000 block of Ford. Officers were investigating an earlier assault complaint as patrons were leaving the bar and congregating in the parking lot. As the Dearborn Heights man was leaving, the Garden City man jumped on him from behind and began punching him, according to police.

Man charged in drug raid gets one year of probation

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A former manager charged in a cocaine raid at the now-closed Token Lounge in Westland has been placed on probation for one year.

Ronald Baltrusz, 49, of Livonia has had his sentencing deferred for one year while he is on probation, and a reduced charge of attempted cocaine possession will be dismissed if he stays out of trouble, a Detroit Recorder's Court clerk said Thursday.

Baltrusz's case, heard by Judge Gerschwin Drain, will be reviewed in one year when he returns to court, the clerk said.

The former manager of the Token Lounge on Joy, east of Middlebelt, could have faced a maximum sentence of two years in prison during his June 27 sentencing, Westland police Sgt. Timothy Abramski has said.

But Baltrusz qualified for the probationary sentence, in part, because he had no prior criminal activity, the clerk said. The attempted cocaine possession charge will be struck from his record unless he violates his probation.

Baltrusz had been charged with cocaine possession following the 11:20 p.m. Jan. 19 raid that came in the wake of a three-month investigation by police officers from Westland, Garden City, Wayne and Inkster. He had faced a possible 20-year prison term.

However, Baltrusz pleaded guilty June 4 after he was offered a plea agreement that resulted in the charge being reduced to attempted cocaine possession — a two-year felony.

He was arrested along with another Token Lounge worker, 35-year-old Larry Wade Slusher of Wyandotte, during the raid that occurred in front of a packed crowd at the once-popular rock club.

Slusher's case was decided earlier in Recorder's Court. He pleaded guilty to delivery of cocaine and possession with intent to deliver.

Slusher was placed on lifetime probation and released from jail after serving 87 days, although he could have faced a maximum sentence of 20 years in prison, Abramski has said.

The Token Lounge is owned by an out-of-state businessman who has no plans to reopen it as a rock bar, the police sergeant has said.

Second trial ordered in arson

A second trial has been ordered for a Garden City man charged with setting fire to his sporting goods store in 1990.

James Sierb is charged with two counts of arson, one for burning real property and the other for burning insured property, both 10-year felonies.

A two-week trial last month in Detroit Recorder's Court resulted in a hung jury. A new trial is scheduled for Sept. 20 before Judge Dalton Roberson.

The fire at the now-closed Jimary Sporting Goods, which had been located in Rainbow Plaza on Ford Road, was reported in the early evening of June 27, 1990, by employees of adjoining businesses.

The store didn't reopen following the fire, which was contained to one aisle of the store which contained flammable merchandise such as lantern fuel, sterno and disposable grills.

p.m. in the Dyer Center on Marquette, east of Newburgh.

If Winter's committee decides on a tax proposal and an election date, he plans to call an emergency meeting of the full seven-member board amid hopes of voting to approve the measures. That meeting could come within two days of the July 20 session, he said.

Winter is not naive, and he knows that any tax proposal will draw some criticism. Wayne-Westland voters soundly rejected a local tax plan April 5, and they opposed a statewide ballot issue June 2 that would have slashed local school taxes while boosting the state sales tax from 4 cents to 6 cents.

"We're not going to make all of the people happy, but we're going to try to do what we can for kids," Winter said.

That help is not expected to come in time to avert program cuts this fall. Many tax supporters, including district employees, are out of town during the summer months and cannot campaign for a tax increase. Moreover, some board members already have indicated support for an October tax election.

However, programs would be restored as soon as possible this fall — some of them immediately — if a tax campaign proves successful.

In his letter to community representatives, fears were raised that massive program cuts could make it difficult for Wayne-Westland seniors to be accepted at major colleges, universities and military academies.

The district's two high schools, combined, have one of the best track records in the country for military academy appointments, partly based on student involvement in extracurricular activities.

In his letter, however, Winter said the high schools could lose their accreditation because of program cuts. And he stressed that the entire community will suffer.

"Sooner or later, all of us will feel the effects these devastating cutbacks have afforded," the letter said. "Homeowners will find the value of their homes decreasing due to the decline of our school district and will also find it more difficult selling their homes."

Man could face 90 days in jail

BY DARRELL CLEM

A Canton Township man accused of sexually exposing himself to a Westland woman at a local doughnut shop has pleaded guilty to a reduced charge.

John Richard Dalton, 34, will be sentenced July 27 in Westland 18th District Court on a charge of being a disorderly person — reduced from an earlier charge of indecent exposure.

He could face a maximum jail term of 90 days, less than the one-year term he could have faced on the original charge. He also could be fined up to $500.

Dalton pleaded guilty to the reduced charge on July 1, averting a trial before 18th District Judge C. Charles Bokos. He has remained free on a personal bond.

Dalton was arraigned on the original charge on April 27, after a Westland woman accused him of sexually exposing himself to her at the Dunkin' Donuts on Wayne Road near Palmer.

The woman had filed a police report claiming that she was inside the doughnut shop when a man walked up to a full-length window and exposed himself as he stood outside.

The woman also had reported that the same man followed her for about six miles in her car as she drove from the Inkster-Cherry Hill Road intersection to the Newburgh-Palmer area, according to police Sgt. Laura Moore.

The woman telephoned police. Officers later that day arrested a man who allegedly followed her to her residence, Moore said.

In an earlier court hearing, Moore indicated that three witnesses were prepared to testify against Dalton. Judge Bokos ordered Dalton to have no contact with the woman or the witnesses.

adults. Season passes can be bought for $50 each with $35 charged for each additional person in the family.

Lindquist said birthday packages for the pool can be arranged by calling 722-7620 or 722-7631.

Cost is $3.50 per person which includes soda pop, use of the nearby Central City Park, paper products, games and gifts.

The Bailey pool is also used for practices by the newly-formed Hurricanes Swim Team. The Hurricanes, organized and headed by Jim McNellis, formerly of the Wayne-Westland Family YMCA, is co-sponsored by the Westland recreation department and Garden City Public Schools' adult education department.

McNellis, who may be contacted at 981-7578, said the team will face Lincoln Park Saturday morning, July 31, at the Bailey pool.

time soon, but the deadline is Sept. 30.

However, everyone agrees that out-of-formula districts like Livonia will be hit with additional cuts in state aid. District finance director Mike Furlong estimates the state will reduce its Livonia schools subsidy by as much as $2.5 million. The subsidy is $8.5 million now and has also been cut in the previous two years.

At the same time, Furlong suspects state government will reduce property taxes without compensating school districts for the lost revenue.

Banks said Gov. Engler feels his chances for re-election next year hinge on whether he can cut property taxes.

Trustee Sue Thompson said the state legislators have "chosen to take the politically safe route instead of the tough route."

Future customers?

New business: Leo Belogolovsky (left) and Larry Martin, owners of the new Livonia Carpets business on Wayne Road between Joy and Cowan, took time to visit with Martin's daughters Kadlyn and Cortney. The business, which opened six months ago, is in the Oak Plaza strip center. The owners have a combined 26 years of floor coverage experience.

Board members certified

Two local school board trustees were recently certified after completing a voluntary program of formal instruction in educational leadership.

They are Richard LeBlanc, Wayne-Westland school board member, and James Watters, Livonia school board member, whose district includes the northern section of Westland.

They received the Certified Board Member Award from the Michigan Association of School Boards.

To earn the certification, they took courses in school law, budget and finance, curriculum, policy making, labor relations, community relations, legislative relations and leadership.

Completing the program gave them a background in school governance issues.

About 1,000 school trustees from across the state are certified. Hundreds more are completing courses in the program.

School group meets

Wayne-Westland school district residents are asked to attend a Wednesday meeting of a citizens committee that wants to raise money to save extracurricular activities for students.

The committee, Community Support for a Complete Education (CSCE) will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Wayne-Westland Board of Education meeting room on Marquette Road, between Wayne Road and Newburgh.

Organizers hope to assign participants to specific tasks during the meeting. The committee will appoint several subcommittees.

The nonprofit group hopes to raise money from businesses and through activities such as telethons, lotteries, raffles and other events.

Area lawmakers split on 'informed consent' bill

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Step 3 in Right to Life's effort to curb abortions in Michigan will be taken this week when the state Senate completes work on an "informed consent" bill.

Voters took step 1 in 1988 when they eliminated Medicaid funding for abortions. The Legislature took step 2 later when it required parental or judicial approval for minors' abortions.

Steps 4 and 5 — if taken — would be to outlaw abortions as a state-paid health benefit for state employees and to prohibit abortions in state or local governmental hospitals.

"Today we are told that adult women are too immature, too ignorant, to make decisions about their bodies without the state acting in loco parentis," protested Rep. Maxine Berman, D-Southfield.

"It's not a 24-hour waiting period. It's a 24-hour stalking period," Berman said, referring to the chance clinic watchers would track down women making their first visits to an abortion clinic. "Ironically, last year Michigan passed the nation's toughest stalking law, and we are now declaring open season on pregnant women."

Rep. Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth, agreed the bill was insulting to women. "When I married my wife, I promised to protect her, and that includes her constitutional rights," he said.

"It's a reasonable bill," said Barbara Listing, president of Right to Life of Michigan. "It is not going to stop abortions. It is not going to make abortions illegal. It simply is going to provide women with information and the opportunity to make informed choices."

How they voted

The House passed Senate Bill 384 on a vote of 62 to 40 and sent it back to the Senate for concurrence in amendments. It was the narrowest victory yet for a measure restricting abortion.

The vote came Wednesday evening after an all-day session. Seven of 25 women members present (28 percent) voted yes, as did 54 of the 77 men (70 percent). Ten members missed the vote.

Abortion foes tried for a two-thirds vote (74) to give the bill immediate effect on Gov. John Engler's signature, but came up 12 votes short.

field Township, Greg Kaza of Rochester Hills, and Deborah Whyman of Canton, and Democrat William Keith of Garden City.

Area members voting no: Republicans Lyn Bankes of Redford, Penny Crissman of Rochester, Barbara Dobb of Union Lake, Jan Dolan of Farmington Hills, Shirley Johnson of Royal Oak, Jerry Vorva of Plymouth, and Democrat Berman, Justine Barns of Westland.

Absent: Democrat Richard Young of Dearborn Heights.

Voting no: Republican Jerry Vorva of Plymouth.

Berman wins one

Berman, the House's staunchest pro choice member, won 60 to 39 approval of one amendment. It would make confidential the name and address of a woman provided information or consent to an abortion.

Local health departments would be required to "destroy the information containing the identity and address of the patient within 30 days after assisting the patient under this section."

In committee, Berman had lost, on a tie vote, an amendment requiring men seeking vasectomies to wait 24 hours and be given a pamphlet detailing its medical risks.

"There is a fetus involved in abortion," countered Rep. Richard Bandstra, R-Grand Rapids, a pro-life voice, "and there isn't with tubal ligation or vasectomies. That's the difference."

In floor debate, Vorva of Plymouth lost an amendment to require the state to compensate women lost wages and transportation costs because of the 24-hour

Legislator offers bill to prohibit abortion clinic blockades

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Michigan legislators are about 60 percent pro-life, but Rep. Maxine Berman is confident a majority will like her bill to prohibit human blockades of abortion clinics.

"This protects the right to protest and the right to abortion," Berman, D-Southfield, told the House Thursday. "Stand up and vote for it, or stand up and vote against it."

Berman said many pro-life members are unhappy about threats by anti-abortion protesters to block entry to abortion clinics in the Detroit area.

The House spent an hour debating procedures on Berman's bill but failed to vote it up or down. It will be on the agenda again Tuesday.

In a test vote, the House Thursday rejected an effort to send the bill to the Judiciary Committee.

Among 27 yes votes: John Jamian, R-Bloomfield Township, Richard Young, D-Dearborn Heights, and Deborah Whyman, R-Canton.

Among 74 no votes: Lyn Bankes, R-Redford, Berman,

Penny Crissman, R-Rochester, Barbara Dobb, R-Union Lake, Jan Dolan, R-Farmington Hills, Shirley Johnson, R-Royal Oak, Greg Kaza, R-Rochester Hills, William Keith, D-Garden City, and Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth.

Among 9 not voting: Justine Barns, D-Westland.

Berman's bill had been reported out of the Civil Rights and Women's Issues Committee, where it had been referred by Democratic co-Speaker Curtis Hertel of Detroit.

"This bill should have gone to the Judiciary Committee as it always has in the past," said GOP floor leader Richard Bandstra of Grand Rapids. "Even the ACLU (American Civil Liberties Union) has concerns."

Bandstra cited the bill's provision of triple damages and payment of attorney's costs for persons charged with blockading abortion clinics.

Berman protested vehemently, saying Bandstra felt "Hertel was obviously too ignorant to know where the bill ought to go."

She was joined by Rep. Tom Mathieu, D-Grand Rapids, a co-chair of the Judiciary Committee.

"We've gotten away from the pattern of referring bills to committee to kill them. There's absolutely no reason to clog up this committee. We have hundreds of bills in our committee," said Mathieu.

Vorva, a freshman representing Plymouth, Northville and western Livonia, scoffed at Bandstra's argument that the bill needed legal study. "He's a lawyer, and he knows what these bills mean," said Vorva, a former police officer.

Refer to House Bill 4618 when calling your state representative. A second reading vote is due Tuesday, and final passage Wednesday.

What bill says

The bill declares the state "has an interest in protecting women" and the fetus, subject to limitations of the U.S. Constitution. It requires "private, individual counseling," a 24-hour waiting period after receiving abortion information, and written consent.

The physician or assistant must provide:

- The name of the physician performing the procedure.
- An oral description of the probable gestational age of the fetus.
- Information about what to do and whom to contact if medical complications follow.
- Information on how to obtain birth control information.
- A written summary of the abortion procedure.
- A medically accurate description of the fetus.

Memorial planned for GC's Gundella

Don't expect to call up the spirit of Gundella the Witch at a seance. Only souls who departed life suddenly or with unfinished work are likely to reappear.

"I'm getting everything finished," said Marion Kuclo, the Garden City grandmother who told stories and entertained a generation with experiments in the supernatural while using the stage name Gundella.

Two years ago, she was diagnosed with massive internal cancer, but held on to life with good cheer. "I've been given this time for a reason," she said. "The morphine has killed the pain."

She gave up entertaining publicly as Gundella, wrote books, recorded stories and set up a trust fund for her grandchildren's education. At Easter she took 20 friends to brunch. Then her health rapidly failed.

Marion Kuclo died Saturday, July 10, in her Bridge Street home with her family at her side. She was 63. Her body was cremated.

A memorial service will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at Garden City's Maplewood Community Center, 31735 Maplewood, west of Merriman and south of Warren, the scene of many of her famed parties.

"Tell people to bring snapshots of her — you know, pictures from parties and the happy times — to share," said daughter, Madelyn Mulleague.

■ Marion Kuclo, who used the stage name Gundella, died July 10. She was an author, storyteller, entertainer and newspaper columnist. She wrote two sets of columns for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. The first was called "Witch Watch." The second was on cooking.

Quay story drew her through repeated trips to the scene, county records and interviews with elderly residents.

Her daughters will use her notes to complete the book, also to be published by Thunder Bay Press.

A green witch

Born in Port Huron and raised in East Tawas, Marion Clark, the daughter of Wilfred and Violet Clark, was taught the pre-Christian religion from ancient Scotland that had been practiced by her great-grandmother, grandmother and mother. Initiated at 18 into a coven, she took the name Gundella and also used it as her stage name.

She said her coven members were the green witches, and she colored her face green for costumed appearances. Green witches are into agriculture, herbs and potions; blue witches study the heavens and astrology; and red witches are into alchemy, she said.

"This really is much older than Christianity. It's not anti-Christian, simply non-Christian. There's nothing in the Christian Bible that conflicts with witchcraft," she said.

Not black or white

"There's no such thing as black or white magic. Magic is magic."

Books, tape out

Her "Michigan Haunts and Hauntings," a collection of stories from metropolitan Detroit and across the state, was published last year by Thunder Bay Press of Lansing.

Some of those stories are on an audiotape, "Ghastly, Gruesome, Ghostly Tales," from Ron Rose Productions of Southfield.

A cookbook with more stories than recipes is due to be published soon by Thunder Bay Press. "It's almost an autobiography — the story of my 40 years' cooking," she said.

An earlier collection of short stories, "The Werewolf of Grosse Pointe and Other Tales," is due for another edition.

Almost finished at her death was a book about Minnie Quay, who died mysteriously in her teens in the 1870s on the shores of Lake Huron — one death certificate said suicide by drowning, another said she died two days later of pneumonia. Mrs. Kuclo stumbled across the story several years ago on a vacation trip to the shoreline town of Forester.

"I felt that Minnie was talking through me, asking me to tell her story," she said as the book and her life drew near their ends. Her most serious and heavily researched work, the Minnie

Exercise gear lets you take off

For many of us, exercise has become routine, a part of our day that we no longer have to pencil in on the calendar. We may not be bound by schedule to a 9 a.m. aerobics class, but we choose to walk to the bank or the drugstore instead of automatically grabbing the car keys.

And it's just that easy. Walking is a convenient and inexpensive way to get and stay fit. Benefits increase with the frequency, duration and intensity of your walk, and it is the only form of exercise that does not drop in participation as people get older.

However, though once perceived as an activity for the elderly, walking has been adopted by professional athletes, distance runners in training and aerobic instructors. More than 70 million Americans walk for fitness and they are rewarded with weight loss, reduced stress and increased cardiovascular endurance.

Shoe support

So throw on a pair of shorts and a cool cotton T-shirt and take a walk around the block. All you need is a good pair of shoes. When buying a walking shoe, look for comfortable fit, good support, lightweight cushioning, a low beveled heel, fore-foot flexibility and breathable material. Jeanne Rosinski of The Urban Walker in downtown Birmingham recommends the Saucony Jazz Step. "It was voted number one by Consumer Reports magazine," she says. It's probably the store's most popular walking shoe. The Urban Walker can also provide you with colorful specialty walking tees, new full-figure jog bras that fasten in the back and strap-on water bottles.

As a result of our busy schedules and our desire to integrate exercise into our day, fitness wear has become synonymous with street wear. One wardrobe can take you from the carpool line to the grocery store to the health club. That's the premise of Leotards Et Cetera, in the mall at Bloomfield Plaza. "Comfort and ease are the key words," says manager Marianne Morris. The women are buying cropped tights, bike shorts or leggings and big, roomy tops, often with hoods.

Leotards Et Cetera also has lightweight linen coats to wrap stylishly around their infinite selection of leotards. And what about those sexy thongs and backless leotards? Delta flight attendant Mary Walker-Harris saves her fancy leotards and long tights for winter. "In the summer I like oversized tees with cropped tights," she says. Though she opts for a body-shaping leotard in a mirrored aerobics class, she prefers a looser, more covered-up outfit for a weight training workout.

Hudson's recently introduced a line of fitness wear that should address the needs of all exercisers. The 88th Street Bodywear Collection supports the Museum of Contemporary Art in San Diego and its educational initiative to cross cultural barriers and serve inner-city youth through contemporary art programs.

Pictured are the Block Party leotard, wide stripes in green, red and yellow ($28), and matching green bike shorts with a black racing stripe ($25). Included in the collection are wide-leg cropped pants, sleeveless cover-ups, ethnic-inspired tees and colorful unitards. The street look is evident, and it's hot.

Perhaps your game is tennis. Any new looks in court attire? USTA doubles partners, Gwen Washington and Nancy Evseoff of Beverly Hills prefer skirts to shorts. They agree that skirts are cooler and allow for more fluid movement. They have a wardrobe of warm-up suits that they travel in, walk in and shop in. They're not just to wear to the club anymore. It's so easy these days to "fake it 'til you make it," says Gwen. "If you don't know how to play, you can look like you do," she says, referring to the popularity of fashionable fitness clothing.

Whether lounging or lolling, look for great warm-up suits at Tennis Time, 3627 Maple Road in Bloomfield Township. And grab a fun cotton Ellesee tee ($15-$20) for that brisk mall walk.

Picking through the pile: Sidewalk sale shoppers had plenty to choose from at last year's Night on the Town in downtown Birmingham with pricetags 75-percent below original markings. This year the fun is set for Friday, July 16, when shops will be open until 11 p.m. and parking after 6 p.m. is free.

With retailers dangling 75-percent off signs from their clearance tables, it'll be hard to resist our malls and mainstreets this weekend.

Not since the January clearance sales have bargains been so good.

"The merchants love sidewalk sales because they can clear out seasonal stuff to make way for fall and winter merchandise," said Bill Checks, marketing director of the Livonia Mall. "The shoppers love sidewalk sales because it's fun to find things you want at below-clearance prices."

This year to bring out the crowds, several shopping centers are holding sidewalk sales with themes and added attractions like refreshments, clowns, giveaways and entertainment.

At the Livonia Mall, Checks will host sidewalk sales in the the midst of a country-western hoo-down complete with live band, dancing lessons and an entertainer. All the action takes place July 15-18 at the mall on the corner of Seven Mile and Middlebelt.

A health fair awaits bargain hunters July 15-17 at one of Oakland County's oldest shopping centers, Harvard Row Mall at Eleven Mile and Lahser in Southfield. According to sidewalk sale organizer Cecile Koznak, a crew of medical volunteers will offer free blood pressure screenings and eye, foot and dental exams to interested shoppers.

Healthy twist

"We're advertising our sidewalk sale as a Health Awareness Fair," she explained. "Shoppers will get health consultations, watch clowns do pocket magic and enjoy browsing through merchandise priced 50 to 75-percent off the original price."

At the Seven Mile and Farmington Road shopping plaza, a custom car show will be held while the sidewalk sale progresses July 15 to 18.

"They'll be a lot of bargains for shoppers from McDevitt's Hallmark cards, Perry Drugstore, Bo-Ric's and Winkleman's," said Connie Pino, manager of Winkleman's.

Other area malls holding sidewalk sales include: Tel-Twelve Mall in Southfield and Universal Mall in Warren July 15-18; Westland Mall at Wayne and Warren roads and Wirtchester Mall at Rochester and Avon roads July 22-25; Northland Mall in Southfield July 29 to Aug. 1; and Wonderland Mall on Middlebelt and Plymouth roads Aug. 19-22.

Winkleman's wants to be the department store women walk into when they're shopping for a wardrobe, so several of their stores are being expanded and remodeled for more efficiency and ease — demands of the busy woman of the '90s.

The latest store with the new look opened last week at Seven Mile and Farmington Road in Livonia. Four others are slated for fall re-openings at the Westland Mall, Southland Mall, Tel-Twelve Mall and Windmill Plaza in Sterling Heights.

These four Winkleman's stores are patterned after their sister shops at Oakland Mall in Troy, Lakeside Mall in Sterling Heights and Fairlane Town Center in Dearborn. They are 4,000 square feet larger than their older models, stocking everything the well-dressed woman needs from headwear to footwear.

Lakeside Mall in Sterling Heights, Oakland Mall in Troy, Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi, Fairlane Town Center in Dearborn, Summit Place Mall in Waterford, Laurel Park Place in Livonia and the Somerset Collection in Troy do NOT hold sidewalk sales, however summer clearance sales are in full swing at individual mall stores.

Mainstreets turn their sidewalk sales into summer happenings, complete with refreshments, tents, entertainment and unique merchandise.

The 18th annual "Night on the Town" in downtown Birmingham is set for 6-11 p.m. Friday, July 16. More than 25,000 shoppers are expected to attend the evening of family fun co-sponsored by the Birmingham-Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce and the City of Birmingham Principal Shopping District Board.

Free parking

Parking is free after 6 p.m. in the city-owned lots and structures.

Frank Caruso, owner of Caruso's and It's The Ritz on Maple in Birmingham, said shoppers can expect 75-percent off the original price of men's, women's and children's clothing at his corner of the sidewalk sale.

"The end of our season is July 15 when we start getting our fall goods shipped," he explained. "The sidewalk sales help give us some cash dollars and shelf space for fall lines. We don't bring lower-end merchandise in for the sale, the sale is off our regular merchandise which is priced to close-out."

In downtown Rochester, the annual sidewalk sales become a weekend of street fairs July 15-18. New this year, shopping by moonlight until 11 p.m. will be featured Friday, July 16. On Saturday, July 17, live from the River Square Center, 543 Main Street, radio personalities will pass out promotional items and greet visitors from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Eve Heiden a sales consultant at Peggy's Dolls and Toys in downtown Rochester, said lots of customers start their Christmas shopping during the sidewalk sales taking advantage of Peggy's 50-percent off many plush toys, games, craft items and collectibles.

Marge Borri of the Plain and Fancy Gift Shop, invited shoppers not to miss "gift items, pottery and collectibles at 50 percent off" during the Rochester Sidewalk Sales.

erate, mixing classic fashion lines with styles in the latest looks.

One shopper at the Tel-Twelve mall store said she thought Winkleman's coats were their specialty, noting she's always purchased "unique, well-designed" outer wear from the store.

Winkleman's stores are headquartered on Helm Street in Plymouth, founded in 1928 when the Winkleman family opened the first store for women in downtown Detroit. In the mid-1980s Stanley Winkleman sold the company to M. J. Carroll, a division of the Petrie stores, based in New Jersey.

There are currently 89 Winkleman-M.J. Carroll stores in Michigan with 48 others across 10 other states.

Engler signs reform laws at area hospital

BY TIM RICHARD and JUDITH DONER BERNE STAFF WRITERS

Gov. John Engler journeyed to metro Detroit Thursday to sign medical malpractice legislation, plus a series of bills streamlining the licensing and disciplining of health professionals, and one which reduces barriers for small hospitals.

In a ceremony held at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, Engler signed 11 bills designed to reform Michigan's health care system. He said they would "increase access, reduce costs and maintain high quality."

"I waited 10 years for this," said Sen. Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron, who was among the lawmakers and medical professionals who attended the bill signing ceremony. "We've all known for years that Michigan's a good state to practice law. Now it can be a good state to practice medicine."

Gerald Robbins, president of the Michigan Osteopathic Society, and a neurologist at Garden City Hospital, said cutting liability costs will help keep young doctors who train in Michigan from moving away.

Targets lawsuits

The new legislation is aimed at curbing lawsuits against health care personnel — and thus liability insurance costs. It's tied to 11 bills tightening discipline of health care professionals, first introduced in the House by Jamian.

When the House and Senate agreed on each other's amendments, it broke an 11-year deadlock.

The final Senate roll call was 27 to 11, with 20 Republicans and seven Democrats voting yes while nine Democrats and two Republicans voted no.

Voting yes were Republicans Robert Geake of Northville, David Honigman of West Bloomfield and Democrats William Faust of Westland and George Z. Hart of Dearborn.

Voting no was Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills. Two Republicans broke ranks to vote no — Fred Dillingham of Fowlerville, who is nearing a complete separation from the GOP, and Doug Carl of Utica.

Pollack objects

A last minute hitch developed when Sen. Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor, objected to time limits on the ability of women over age 35 to sue for damage to their reproductive systems. The House had added that amendment, and Senate agreement was necessary for final passage.

"The deals have been cut," said a bitter sounding Pollack. "I just wonder where the women were when the deals were cut. Many women over 35 are still having children. Why you discriminate against women over 35 is beyond me." She offered an amendment to remove the suit limits for women over 35.

"Without the amendment," added Democratic gubernatorial hopeful Debbie Stabenow of Lansing, "we do not have responsible medical reform legislation."

"Some of us were born to mothers past 35," said Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills — "35 is not an appropriate line to draw."

Van Regenmorter and sponsor Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron, pleaded with senators to agree to the House version so that the bill wouldn't be sent to conference committee where the Michigan Trial Lawyers Association, sworn opponents of tort limitation, could tie it up.

DeGrow promised to address Pollack's concern in a separate follow up bill during the fall session.

But Pollack and Stabenow held their ground. "We always hear there will be another bill,"

DAN DEAN/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

New laws: Gov. John Engler accepts congratulations for signing health care reform legislation from Dr. Gerald Robbins, president of the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons and a neurologist at Garden City Hospital.

said Stabenow, "but then we never see it."

"I resent that severely," said DeGrow. "Anytime I ever said there will be a follow up, there was a followup."

But DeGrow, Van Regenmorter and Senate majority leader Dick Posthumus of Alto held up the med mal bill for two hours, won House Speaker Curtis Hertel's agreement to concur in the Pollack amendment, and brought the bill back to the Senate floor.

The Pollack amendment won 37 to 0 approval.

On final passage, however, Pollack and Stabenow voted no anyway.

Win for GOP

The bill embodies the Republican philosophy of controlling legal costs and rejects the Democratic philosophy of direct price controls on insurance premiums.

The battle in favor was led by outstate senators from both parties who complained that Michigan's lawsuit happy climate drove physicians out of the state.

The medical malpractice law:

- Sets $250,000 caps on "pain and suffering" awards (non-economic damages) for many torts.
- Restricts "expert" witnesses to those who devote 80 percent of their time to active practice or teaching. It's designed to crack down on non-practicing, out-of-state experts who testify for a living.
- Restricts attorneys' fees to a smaller percentage of higher awards, giving trial lawyers an incentive to seek astronomical awards.
- Sets time limits on when suits could be filed on behalf of children.

The licensing/discipline laws:

- Speed up the disciplinary process.
- Create disciplinary subcommittees led by public members that can suspend or revoke licenses or registrations.

School trustee watched growth of Young's career

BY DICK MCKNIGHT
GUEST COLUMNIST

Like many of my fellow suburban Detroiters, I have some complicated and mixed feelings about Coleman Young. He has influenced my life in some significant ways over the past 30 years.

I first came to know of Coleman Young through the political eyes of Westland State Sen. Bill Faust, who served with Young in the Michigan State Senate. A product of the labor and civil rights movements, Young was the occupant of a safe Detroit seat. He took to Lansing the ability to speak with unquestioned authority about his district and its people.

Faust in the late 1960s had great respect for the legislative abilities of Coleman Young and counted him among his good friends. As an active Democrat and a Faust supporter, I saw Coleman Young as a champion of things that were right and good in a place like Lansing, where such things were not always valued.

In the early 1970s I finished law school and took a job as a civilian legal adviser to the Detroit Police Department, working closely with then Police Commissioner John F. Nichols (now Oakland County sheriff). When Nichols decided to run for mayor of Detroit, I was an eager recruit and eventually became his campaign manager at the tender, inexperienced age of 28.

We didn't expect to run against Coleman Young, who was a last minute filing in the mayoral race. Instead, we expected the opponent to be Mel Ravitz, whom Nichols saw as an ineffective potential administrator. Young's nomination (Nichols ran first in the primary by a substantial margin) suddenly left us facing an energized and hungry black Detroit electorate.

The 1973 Detroit mayoral election was highly polarized, comparable to the 1969 election in which Roman Gribbs edged out the moderate Richard Austin. But the 1973 results were Westland State Sen. Faust in the late 1960s had great respect for the legislative abilities of Coleman Young and counted him among his good friends. reversed and the campaign that preceded it was bitter and divisive.

Coleman Young had learned from the moderate Austin that you didn't win by being nice. Coleman Young's victory left me feeling alienated from a city for which I had great affection.

I remained an active Democrat and often observed or felt the influence of Coleman Young. He was sometimes a welcome ally — in victories for Jimmy Carter in 1976 and Bill Clinton in 1992. Other times he was a resented poor sport — in his coziness with the Bill Milliken Administration in Lansing and his coolness to Jim Blanchard that may have cost Blanchard the 1990 gubernatorial election.

As a suburban resident, I suffered the inflammatory rhetoric Young often used, even as I recognized this talk was for the benefit of Detroit residents alienated from the suburbs.

Eventually, I came to feel that whatever community pride he created in Detroit wasn't worth the divisions he represented. When he retired I felt it was overdue.

It's interesting to engage in "what ifs." What if kindly and much less threatening Richard Austin had won the 1969 mayoral election to become the first black mayor of Detroit? Would the Detroit metro area today be a haven of harmony? What if John Nichols had won the 1973 mayoral election? Would black aspirations for power have abated and would white flight from the city have stopped? None of these scenarios is very likely.

Coleman Young's departure, from a suburban standpoint, is a time for reassessment rather than celebration. The mayor's perceived antipathy to the suburbs was too often an excuse for many of us to indulge our worst instincts about the future of race relations. We no longer will have an excuse.

From here on, suburban attitudes toward Detroit and its residents should be based on two things: our own enlightened self interest and our innate understanding of what is right.

Price adds to the pain of relaxing for baby boomers

When the movie "A River Runs Through It" came out last winter, a fly fishing friend dubbed it "The Yuppies Run Through It."

The idea here is that anything that shows up on the big screen will eventually play out in real life. The guy's instincts were right, but he missed a crucial fact: Yuppies just don't know how to relax.

I had the same vision as my friend. Volvo driving, Izod wearing people with too much money showing up at the trout streams of Michigan. But they didn't show up.

They were at the Midwestern Fly Fishing Show in Southfield in March, buying the place up. But they weren't in the Upper Peninsula in late June.

There were so few people at my favorite spot that I recruited a Mississippian I met at a bar to go with me. Southern people know much more about drinking Wild Turkey and taking time off to fish than northerners.

The $900 rod buyers weren't at my favorite spots in the Lower Peninsula either. Like always, once you get 50 feet from a parking lot, you rarely see anybody all day.

The reason is simple. Yea, baby boomers were buying up every fly rod over the price of $500 they could get their hands on, but chances are they've never had an opportunity to use them. They don't have time.

That's the perspective of a Canton Township professor of recreation at Eastern Michigan University.

JEFF COUNTS

In an interview, he told a reporter that young adults are so consumed with buying everything that they have to work too many hours to make the payments. They make payments on boats they never use, and let $900 cane fly rods gather dust.

And even when they do go, they can't let go of the business world. One outdoor writer recently expressed outrage in an article over the use of telephones on trout rivers. It seems that he was fishing near a wannabe upper middle class bozo whose telephone kept ringing.

If it had been me, I would have rang the guy's bell in a different fashion.

The professor's assessment reinforced some of my old beliefs. Never take fishing advice from anybody whose clothes look too good or equipment too new. It's usually the guys with greasy, disreputable clothing with old fly rods who know the most. They've turned down the over time in order to fish.

And anybody driving a Grand Cherokee Limited can be written off on the spot. Who in their right mind would drive a $27,000 car on a two-track forest road where the branches would scrape the paint? Again, the guy with the beat up pickup has the best advice.

As Michigan author John Voelker once wrote: "The best time to go fishing is when you can get away."

And for us baby boomers that's turning out to be never.

Universities should lead by helping teach change

To lead is to transfigure. But many education professors propound a "research"-based leadership theory which shows scant concern for transfiguring anything — particularly the unequal social conditions which are the root cause of our other problems.

Such "theory" is actually a propagandistic, static model of control. Universities must not promulgate propaganda or the status quo. Instead, they should help us give youngsters knowledge and skills to improve the world.

Any administrative leadership theory which threatens to substitute for experience rather than explicate it isn't genuine theory. Rather, it's mere theorizing: intellectual speculation unanchored in empirical reality. (Theoria, in the Greek sense, is a heightened mode of experience whose ideal is an unclouded view of reality.)

While theory may sometimes inform practice, practice must always inform theory. Dependence on esoteric research to train kindergarten through 12th grade principals celebrates the scientific method and gets professors published in journals, but it disregards our desperate need to humanistically transform the kindergarten through 12th grade administrative art.

Battle-proven kindergarten through 12th grade administrators should be brought in to teach full-time in universities regardless of whether they've published a blizzard of papers in journals, and untested or unproved professors should enhance or update their experience by periodically running kindergarten through 12th grade schools.

Administrators need to be humanistic, transfigurative liberationists, dedicated to helping teachers free students' minds and preparing them to solve social problems. Universities that don't support this liberative need render themselves irrelevant.

Our white male power triumvirate of higher education, industry and government proclaims itself egalitarian, but fails to fully free minorities and women. Further, it fails to educate millions of children whose families don't embrace traditional school values. Such failures stem from ingrained practices of oppression, aspects of culture, hard economic facts, college staff who lack kindergarten through 12th grade experience, and college—"certified" kindergarten through 12th grade officials who play political survival games at kids' expense.

This nation needs more truly transfigurative professors and superintendents and other top-level leaders who will risk their careers to liberate school systems rather than sell out to them, and whose sense of self doesn't depend on memberships and titles. Far from seeking to sustain the existing social scene, leaders like this blast down the barriers established by it. They fight unjust educational conditions wherever they find them, even if they have to be calculatedly insubordinate.

That is why the buzzword "empowerment" represents a radically paradoxical concept. Top-level leaders' power can actually be enhanced by sharing it with school staffs and welcoming divergent views. Were teachers and principals empowered to apply their expertise at kindergarten through 12th grade executive levels of decision-making and university levels of influence, they could reformulate entire school systems.

Rather than perpetuate patterns that stratify us by sex and race and rank, we should design cooperative models to transform traditional processes and relationships. Today's leaders must ask hard moral questions about the institutions they lead. The right answers will transfigure our children's future.

If Your Child Has Problems Learning at School, A Free Screening May Find the Cause

Your child may have 20/20 eyesight but 0/0 vision—the difference is critical.

Eyesight is merely the basic ability to see; vision is the ability to identify, interpret, comprehend, and act on what we see.

Routine vision tests performed by school personnel or by most eye care professionals measure eyesight. They do not include the kinds of testing that can find visually-related learning problems.

COULD YOUR CHILD BE AT RISK? Our VIP (Vision Improvement Program) can diagnose and successfully treat vision problems that are often reflected in the following behaviors:

1. Unable to sit still; cannot stay on-task for any length of time.
2. Very clumsy; poor eye-hand coordination.
3. Does written work very slowly; often fails to complete a task.
4. Has difficulty copying visual material; constantly looks up and down.
5. Moves entire head instead of eyes when reading.
6. Reversals—for example: confusing the words "was" and "saw" or letters "b" and "d."

7. Is disorganized and frustrated when studying visual information.
8. Makes frequent, "careless" errors.

If you son or daughter, age six to 16, has one or more of these behaviors, call 313-525-8170 today to schedule a free screening for vision-related learning problems. It could be the most important phone call you will make during his or her school years.

The screening consists of 18 different tests and takes approximately one hour.

The free screening will evaluate the child's ability to gather visual information, process it and make appropriate decisions or movements.

Forty-one percent of students in the lower third of a normal class and 68% of students in special education programs have vision problems that can be corrected. Could your child be among them? It costs nothing to find out. Call us at 313-525-8170 for a free screening!

WHAT IS THE VIP STRATEGY?

First, we test and diagnose a child's visually-related learning problems. If a visual handicap exists, a vision therapy program will be developed to meet the child's special needs. Once enrolled in our intensive Vision Improvement Program, a child will work on specific goals. A professional vision therapist will conduct carefully sequenced activities to strengthen weak areas in order to bring the "vision system" up to par. The time span for therapy is designed to allow each child to achieve maximum results.

WILL INSURANCE COVER THE COST? Here's a comforting thought. Our VIP program is covered by most major medical insurance policies.

THE TIME TO ACT IS NOW! If your child is between the ages of six and 16, call us today at 313-525-8170 to set up an appointment for a free screening.

Any unexplained learning problem is a potential vision-related learning problem. When diagnosed early, VIP can significantly improve and often alleviate the problem entirely.

The comprehensive screening is free. Can you afford to pass up this possible explanation for your child's baffling lack of success in school? Call 313-525-8170 today.

It's power. It can be used in a good way or a bad way," said Gundella, who never cast a curse or even used four-letter words. She abhorred Satanism and kept her distance from satanic cults she knew about.

She believed in life before birth and after death. She was conscious of two previous lives: one in 15th-century England, the other as a black in the pre-Civil War southern United States.

She inherited a love of writing from her mother; an accomplished poet. In her teens, Marion Clark went to work as a printer's devil, a print-shop job description rather than a theological term, for the Iosco County Gazette. There, owner Edna Otis taught her the publishing business from the broom up.

She earned a limited certificate from Central Michigan University, a bachelor's degree from Wayne State University and later a master's degree from Eastern Michigan University. She left Tawas in the late 1940s to teach in South Rockwood, and later Inkster, for 20 years. She also did a brief stint as a county social worker.

Married twice, she had four children: James Mulleague, a Las Vegas entertainer famed for his Oliver Hardy impersonation; Madelyn Mulleague, a Dearborn postal worker and frequent writing assistant; John Kuclio, an engineer with American Yazaki Corp.; and Veronica Kuclio-Raub, a Garden City environmental activist and member of the city recycling board; and five granddaughters. Also surviving are a brother, Don Clark of Oscoda, and sister, Beatrice Abbott of Tawas City.

Age of Aquarius
As Gundella, Mrs. Kuclio moon-lighted as a storyteller for scout groups until 1972 — the dawning of the Age of Aquarius. It spawned an intense interest in the occult, astrology, Tarot cards, tea leaves and the supernatural.

Gundella left teaching and became a full-time lecturer at universities and schools, and an entertainer with Tarot cards and tea leaves at small private parties.

Audiences ranged from a Presbyterian church congregation to the Livonia Symphony to the Oakland County Young Republicans. Occasionally there was controversy — as when Wonderland Mall and Plymouth-Canton schools came under religious pressure from conservative churches. The results: immediate jumps in her entertainment bookings.

She wrote two sets of columns for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. The first, in the 1970s, was called "Witch Watch." Tim Richard, who edited it, recalled that she received 400 letters in response to a column on teas and once was asked by a Lovell psychiatrist for advice.

The second set, discontinued with her illness in 1991, was on cooking. Keely Wygonik, current editor of the Observer & Eccentric's Taste section, said there were requests for some recipes several years after publication.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Kuclio met four times a year with an Ann Arbor coven with a full complement of 13 members, many of them educators.

Gundella taught that the supernatural is only what cannot yet be understood by science. "Power is within you," she said, though most people fail to realize they have extrasensory powers.

Her chief regret was that she never traveled to Scotland, the land of her ancestors.

Marygrove to host open house

Detroit's Marygrove College Admissions Department will host an evening open house "The Marygrove Experience for Adults" from 6-8:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 14 in the Madame Cadillac Building on the campus located at 8425

Kids can play in mud Tuesday

Wayne County Parks Department has scheduled "Mud Day" for 11 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. Sunday, July 13, at the Nankin Mills site in Westland.

Youngsters age 7 and younger will go first, from 11-11:45 a.m. Kids aged 8 and older will follow from 12-12:45 p.m.

Parents are requested to see that their kids are wearing old clothes and shoes.

An on-site changing area will be provided for clean-up.

Adults who want to get muddy may participate in a mud volleyball tournament in the evening. Call 261-1990 to register.

West McNichols Road at Wyoming.

The annual summer open house is an opportunity for new, transfer or returning adult students to take a look at Marygrove.

Attendees will have an opportunity to meet the faculty, staff and students, learn about the admissions process, explore financial aid opportunities, review degree programs and tour the campus.

A panel discussion will be led by current students and alumni.

The $15.00 application fee will be waived for those who apply on July 14.

Serving the metropolitan Detroit area for over 65 years, Marygrove College offers two and four-year degree programs in more than 65 areas of concentration as well as master degrees in administration, education and pastoral ministry.

Adult students overwhelmingly choose Marygrove because of its outstanding academic programs, personalized attention and beautiful campus.

For more information or to register for the summer open house call Marygrove College Admissions Office at 862-5200.

He kept the monsters away when you were little.

Now he has a few of his own.

For many older adults, the monsters they fear most are the changes in their lives. Retirement, loss of loved ones, children moving away, unfulfilled dreams, loneliness and health problems truly make aging one of the most difficult passages of their lives. Yet very few hospitals offer specific programs to help.

Annapolis Hospital—Westland Center is the exception, with the only program of its kind in Michigan. Our staff specializes in treating the problems of depression and mental illness that often accompany aging.

In addition to Supportive Group Psychotherapy and Individual Therapy, our caring staff offers many involving and creative programs that have helped hundreds of older people resume happy and productive lives.

Transportation to and from the patient's home is included in the program, which runs Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., and lunch is also provided.

We accept most major insurance, and all calls are confidential. You can help simply by calling 467-STEP for more information. Call to make the first step, and we'll do the rest.

LARRY JANES

Search for authentic French cookies ends

My Voice Mailbox has gotten pretty full. Susan Mikarski of Troy requested a recipe for authentic French Gaufrettes, those thin rolled cookies you see stuck in desserts. Mikarski said she searched high and low. I did, too. I searched my files, the library and even called my old high school French teacher. The good folks at Kitchen Glamour directed me to "Larousse Gastronomique," a French cookbook which supplied the following recipe.

In order to be truly authentic, you will probably want to search out a French Gauffrette iron, but a pizzelle maker should do the trick.

FRENCH GAUFRETTES

- 2 1/4 cups all purpose flour
- 1 generous cup of sugar
- A pinch of salt
- A dash of vanilla, cinnamon and/or orange or lemon zest
- 1 egg white
- Generous 1/2 cup softened butter

Combine all ingredients as listed. Shape the dough into a ball and cook on a pizzelle iron as directed. Eleanor Graham of Livonia wrote and told me about her red currant bush that is busting forth with a bumper crop of red currants this year. She went on to say that she has made all kinds of jelly and can't bear the thought of making more so could I please find her some recipes for using fresh red currants? Glad to oblige Eleanor, hope you enjoy the following.

RED CURRANT PIE

- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 quart red currants
- 1 prepared 9-inch pie crust

Combine the sugar, flour and the currants. Mix and squeeze the currants with the back of the spoon while mixing. Pour into a prepared pie shell and bake at 450 degrees for 10 minutes, then lower the temperature to 350 degrees and cook for 30 minutes or until the crust is golden.

Jeanette Alder of Livonia couldn't wait to try the recipe that appeared several weeks back for a French Strawberry Torte, but couldn't locate white baking chocolate for the recipe. Once again, the folks at Kitchen Glamour in Redford came through with a supply.

Shirley McCullen of Livonia called to say she enjoyed my recent article on soup stocks, but wondered why she occasionally ends up with a cloudy batch of stock. I suggested she lower the heat a bit when making stocks so that everything in the pot is not bouncing around in a furious jumble.

If you're looking for some fun reading and a few great recipes, check out the July 1993 issue of "Gourmet" magazine. Laurie Colwin, a great food writer who passed away last year, has a deposition on "Desserts that Quiver" that is must reading for anyone who cooks and loves Jell-O.

BLOOM'S BROWNIES

- 16 ounces unsweetened chocolate
- 16 ounces butter
- 7 eggs
- 1 tablespoon plus 1 splash vanilla
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons cocoa
- 4 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup raspberry jam
- 3 tablespoons raspberry liqueur, optional
- 2 1/2 cups flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Melt the chocolate and the butter on the top of a double boiler. Line a large cast iron skillet with double layers of foil and lightly grease to prevent brownies from sticking. Using an electric mixer, mix together the eggs, vanilla, salt, cocoa, sugar, jam and liquor.

Fold in butter and chocolate mixture. Sit flour and baking powder into the chocolate mixture and mix well. Pour into the lined cast iron skillet and bake for 60 minutes. Cool in the pan as brownie will rise and fall. Wrap in foil and keep refrigerated. Best eaten at room temperature.

I tried this recipe and found that the brownie needed to cook a little longer than 60 minutes.

SHARE HEAVENLY RECIPES

There are a lot of angels who can cook at Christ Child Society and St. Hugo of the Hills Church. When the Christ Child Society and Altar Guild of St. Hugo of the Hills decided to publish cookbooks they shared their heavenly recipes.

BY GERI RINSCHLER
SPECIAL WRITER

Looking for inspiration to create the Christ Child Society cookbook was not a problem for editor Pat Hardy. She was surrounded by inspirational quotes for every day of the week to accompany 365 recipes in this newly released recipe collection.

According to past Christ Child Society president, Kathy Sheean, Hardy presented the idea of a cookbook, that would include an inspirational quote from each of the members contributing recipes, a few years ago. The proceeds would help raise money to keep the Christ Child House, a residential treatment center for neglected and abused children in Detroit operating.

"Angels can fly because they take themselves lightly" by Gilbert Keith Chesterton inscribed on the opening page of the cookbook along with a whimsical angel drawn by illustrator Jon Buechel is Hardy's favorite quote.

"We couldn't have found a more perfect way to begin," she said.

Recipes are divided by seasons and accompanied by a chapter of menus for special occasions such as "A friendship coffee" for May or June by Peg Harber. "A country picnic for a wedding or shower" by Bernice Muench, and "A Polish Christmas dinner" by Sharon Otlewski.

There are recipes perfect for summer parties such as Peg Harber of Birmingham's menu which includes a Chilled Hungarian Berry Soup, Rose Geranium Bundt Cake, Lemon Tea Bread with a Lemon Glaze and Zucchini-Carrot Bread.

A number of cooks have also included tips for entertaining such as Detroit caterer Mary Ann Chutorsh and Bloomfield Hills' Bernie Muench who says — "my advice for happy entertaining is to put your guests first, enjoy the day and use something common in an unexpected way."

"There are so many wonderful recipes in the book," said Hardy. "For example, Peg Harber, one of our volunteers, loves to cook. Many of the recipes she submitted include herbs and flowers. People don't realize how to cook with herbs especially when they're incorporated into dessert recipes such as Peg's Rose Geranium Bundt Cake."

Although most folks don't grow their own herbs, many of the fresh herbs included in the cookbook can be purchased fresh at large gourmet produce markets and at local farmer's markets.

Other tempting summer dishes to be found in the cookbook for the month of July are Summer Squash Casserole, Shrimp Remoulade, and Jeff Baldwin's Chilled Pasta and Duck Salad with Cherries and Walnuts.

"The Christ Child Society Inspirational Cookbook" can be ordered by mail by sending a check or money order for $18.60 to Sarah Koval, 2587 Binbrooke, Troy, MI. 48064 — check payable to the Christ Child Society. Call 642-9780 for information.

The Christ Child Society volunteers are not the only angels who have been cooking and testing recipes for the past few years. Their competition so to speak have been The Altar Guild of St. Hugo of the Hills Church in Bloomfield Hills, who have published a collection of over 800 recipes in "Amazing Taste"

The cookbook which is presented in a vinyl covered three-ring binder is filled with recipes in every category which they have been collecting and testing for the past three years.

"Amazing Taste can be purchased at the church office 644-5460 or by sending $24.80 to St. Hugo Altar Guild 2215 Opydke Road, Bloomfield Hills, MI 48304.

"We, too, wanted to publish a collection of family treasured recipes but we also realized when organizing the project that we had a wealth of cultural diversity within our church community which could be a great foundation for a recipe collection," said Denise Di Mambro one of the cookbook co-chairmen.

"When Theresa Mazur and I began our research for 'Amazing Taste' we discovered, that the first St. Hugo cookbook had been pub-

Not enough time is not one of Dawn Rassel's reasons for not cooking dinner for her family. She never has enough time... she makes it.

"We think sitting around a table eating together is important. It gives us a chance to talk, regroup and review the day," said Rassel of Bloomfield Hills, a part-time marketing consultant, and chairman of "Jazzfest '93," to be held July 29-31 throughout downtown Birmingham.

Dawn Rassel gets help making salad dressing from Lauren, 8, who is measuring out mustard, and Brian, 6, who is squeezing a lime.

Festival passes are $20 and festival patron passes which include a champagne afterglow at the Townsend Hotel, are $50. To purchase a pass, call 433-FEST.

To cook dinner in a hurry, Rassel keeps a few basic ingredients on hand. Her husband Richard often cooks on weekends.

Rassel makes her own salad dressing often with help from Brian, 6, and Lauren, 8. Brian and his sister set the table, serve and clear, make dessert, and "sometimes help just by staying out of the way," said Rassel.

Besides Brian and Lauren, Rassel's helpers include her daughter, Lissie, 19, a sophomore at Albion College, and son Rick, 22, who graduated this Serve rice and noodle pilaf with grilled pork chops and tossed green salad. The vinaigrette with lime juice is a favorite at the Rassel house. Let your kids squeeze the lime.

RICE AND NOODLE PILAF

3 tablespoons oil
3 ounces fine noodles, uncooked
1 1/2 cups rice, uncooked
3 cups chicken broth freshly ground pepper and salt to taste
Pine nuts, sunflower seeds, nuts optional

Heat oil in large skillet and add noodles (and nuts, if desired) turning them frequently.

When crisp and browned, add rice, salt and pepper, and 2 cups broth. Cover skillet and cook over low flame 10 minutes.

Add remaining cup of broth, taste and correct seasoning. Cook, covered, until all liquid is absorbed and rice is soft and fluffy, about 25 minutes.

Note: the total cooking time is similar to the total time on directions of rice used. Serves 4-6.

VINAIGRETTE

1 small clove garlic, crushed
1/2 teaspoon coarse salt
1/2 teaspoon Dijon mustard juice of one lime
1 tablespoon dry vermouth
1/2 to 3/4 cup olive oil

Mash garlic with salt in small bowl or jar. Stir in mustard, lime juice and vermouth. Whisk in the oil. Shake or whisk before using. Serves 6 to 8

Serve dressing on a salad of mixed greens. Try mixing red leaf and bibb lettuce. Add sprouts, green onions and red pepper.

MEAT MARINADE

1/3 cup olive oil
1/3 cup lemon juice
1/3 cup wine, whatever is open and on hand fresh rosemary sprigs

summer from Marquette University in Wisconsin.

In the summer, the family gives their grill a good workout. Russel marinates her meats usually with a mixture of oil, lemon juice, wine and fresh herbs. Her meat marinade recipe works well with pork chops or chicken. Use equal portions of lemon juice, oil, and wine. "You can be real creative with rice and noodle pilaf depending on the extras," she said. "Add spices, pine nuts, raisins, or dried cherries and you've got something special."

Russel says she's not a dinner planner, but knows how to stock a pantry and refrigerator. Having lots of fresh ingredients on hand is her secret.

She always has a variety of pasta, rice, nuts, dried fruits including cherries and cranberries, chopped garlic with oil in a jar, flavored vinegars and oils, tomato sauce, pasta sauce, beef and chicken broth, potatoes, onions and cake and brownie mixes.

In the refrigerator are different kinds of cheese including ricotta, Romano, blue and feta, salsa, yogurt, flavored mustards, yogurt, fresh fruit, vegetables and herbs. She grocery shops about every two weeks, and stops at whatever market is on her route for the day to buy fruit, vegetables and meat.

"Salsa is great. It's good for dipping vegetables in; add a little mayonnaise and you've got a salad dressing," she said.

Nuts and crumbled feta or blue cheese are added to salads with apples, pears and other fresh and dried fruits. Yogurt is served as a snack or a topping for fruit salads.

lished some 40 years ago. In it we found wonderful sketches of our patron saint, St. Hugo the Abbot of Cluny preparing meals in and about the Stone Chapel.

"So with the help of artist Doris Spanski, we added those sketches illustrated by another Altar Guild member Hope Ruessmann along with a number of additional sketches illustrated by Doris to be the divider pages in the book."

The volunteers and especially the six member executive committee organized the format of the recipes, established a testing committee and worked with a local printer to design the book.

"We wanted to take the guesswork out of the recipes for the reader," said DiMambro so, we shopped and checked out the recipe ingredients in grocery stores making sure the recipes had the exact sizes for the ingredients listed.

Also an addendum was inserted which recommends substitutions for recipes which called for raw eggs or egg whites.

There are a number of unusual ethnic dishes to be found amongst the 564 pages of "Amazing Taste" such as East African Fish Stew, Armenian Lamb Shanks and Japanese Salad.

In the book you'll also find recipes from Mary Ann's Kitchen, Bloomfield Hills, the Fox and Hounds, Bloomfield Hills, Opus One, Detroit the Machus Sly Fox, Birmingham, Da Edoardo, Grosse Pointe Woods, the Roma Cafe, Detroit, the Golden Mushroom, Southfield and more.

In the forward the cookbook committee expresses gratitude to Monsignor Anthony Tocco for his support and encouragement, but they are especially grateful to him for his culinary contributions to the cookbook for which he has been described by parishoners "to be an outstanding gourmet cook."

Tocco shared a number of special recipes in the book including Lobster Antonio — lobster tails made with seasoned bread crumbs, butter and Chardonnay wine and Pollo a la Monsignore — a marinated, grilled chicken dish made with a medley of colorful sauteed peppers in a wine sauce of balsamic vinegar and mushrooms.

CHILLED HUNGARIAN BERRY SOUP

- 1 package (10 to 12 ounce) frozen blueberries, strawberries, or raspberries or use fresh fruit in the same amounts
- ¼ cup sweet Madeira
- 2 containers (8 ounces each) blueberry, strawberry or raspberry yogurt
- 1 container (8 ounces) plain yogurt
- 1 to 4 tablespoons super fine sugar or as needed to taste (optional)

In food processor fitted with metal blade, puree all ingredients, using two or three 30-second churning of motor (scrape work bowl down between churning with rubber spatula).

Pour into stemmed goblets and garnish by floating an orange slice on each portion, adding a mint sprig and a cluster of fresh berries (blueberries look great!). Serves 4 to 6.

ZUCCHINI CARROT BREAD

- 3 eggs
- 1 cup salad oil
- ¾ cup brown sugar, packed

- 1 cup zucchini, grated and drained
- 1 cup carrots, grated
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 2½ cups all-purpose flour
- ½ cup bran cereal
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 cup chopped nuts

Preheat oven 350 degrees F. Grease well, two 8½ by 4½ loaf pans. In large mixing bowl, beat eggs with oil. Stir in sugar, zucchini, carrots and vanilla. Sift in flour, baking soda, baking powder, salt and cinnamon and blend remaining ingredients into zucchini mixture, adding nuts last. Bake 1 to 1½ hours.

RICE SALAD

- 4-5 cups cooked long grain or brown rice, chilled
- 1-2 bunches scallions, finely chopped
- 2 large tomatoes, skinned, seeded and diced
- 2 avocados
- Juice of ½ lemon
- 1 14-ounce can artichoke

- hearts, quartered and drained on paper towel
- 1 green pepper, seeded and diced
- 1 4-ounce jar pimento, diced
- ½ seedless cucumber, unpeeled and diced
- 1 cup celery, diced
- 1 1¾-ounce can flat anchovy fillets, chopped
- 1 6-ounce can pitted black olives, halved lengthwise
- 1-2 pounds frozen shrimp, cooked and cooled
- ½ cup olive oil
- 2 tablespoons tarragon wine vinegar
- 1 teaspoon Dijon mustard
- ½ teaspoon dried tarragon
- Salt to taste
- Pepper to taste
- 2-3 hard-cooked eggs, sliced (garnish)
- Parsley or watercress (garnish)

In a large bowl combine rice, scallions and tomatoes. Peel and dice avocados and toss in the lemon juice. Add to rice. Add artichokes, green peppers, pimento, cucumber, celery, anchovies and olives.

Save a few olives for garnish. Halve or chop shrimp if too large. Add to bowl. In small jar with screw top combine oil, vinegar, mustard, tarragon, salt and pepper. Toss with salad until well-mixed. Garnish with eggs and watercress. Serves 10 to 12.

ZUCCHINI SOUP WITH YOGURT AND DILL

- 6 medium zucchini (approximately 2½ pounds)
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 3 cups onions, chopped
- 1 teaspoon garlic, chopped
- 1 cup tomatoes, peeled and chopped
- 3 cups chicken stock
- 2 cups plain yogurt
- ¼ cup fresh dill chopped or 1 tablespoon dried
- Salt to taste
- Pepper to taste
- Tabasco sauce to taste

Wash and trim off ends of zucchini. Cut into ¼-inch pieces. Melt the butter, add the onions and garlic; cook until transparent. Add zucchini and tomatoes, cook for 5 minutes. Add chicken stock and seasonings, simmer for 5 minutes. Cool.

Pour mixture into a food mill or processor and puree. Refrigerate the puree; when cold add yogurt. Serve cold; garnish with fresh dill.

Expand your pork repertoire

Listen to the sounds of summer: a breeze waiting through leafy branches, birds singing, waves lapping the shoreline — and the sizzle of food on the grill.

Outdoor grilling — and pork — are synonymous with summer.

Cooking over an open flame contributes a wonderful flavor to most foods, and especially to fresh pork. Yet, if you're like most Americans, you find yourself relying on two or three old standards.

It's easy to fall into the habit of always cooking the same things on the grill. Burgers, hot dogs and steaks are grilling classics — and for good reason. But if you want to be a virtuoso of the grill, expand your grilling repertoire.

Start by selecting the main course and build from there. Feeling a bit tentative? Play it safe by introducing a single new dish to a menu of tried-and-true favorites. Try pork burgers on sandwich buns instead of traditional hamburgers, served with two summer favorites — creamy cole slaw and sliced tomatoes vinaigrette. You can also add interest and a variety to your outdoor grilling repertoire with different cuts and shapes of meat.

Marinades and sauces harmonize with foods to create an exciting and exotic array of flavor sensations. F

For example, the tropical flavors of Caribbean pork kabobs, served with green beans with coconut and yellow rice will have family and friends offering accolades.

With a little creativity you can find yourself enjoying rave reviews. Let yourself go on the grill and create a completely original composition. Menu planning can be creative and fun. Use the following guidelines to help spark your artistic vision — and remember, variety is the key to creating a meal that appeals to all the senses.

■ Color: Give your eyes a feast. Think of foods that will complement each other on the plate. Contrasting colors are more appetizing than foods of a similar shade. For instance, the contrast of carrot-lime salad and gingered snow peas creates a splash of color and complements the more subtle color of Honey-Garlic grilled chops.

■ Form: Don't serve too many similar shapes or too many small pieces. Leave some foods whole and serve others sliced, cubed, shredded or cut into other interesting shapes and sizes.

■ Flavor: Complement tart or spicy foods with something bland or neutral. Usually plan only one highly seasoned food item per menu. So rice is a good foil for the stronger seasonings in Caribbean pork kabobs.

■ Temperature: Include a variety of temperatures. Hot, cold and room temperature foods make a good combination.

■ Texture: Combine a variety of textures in your menu. Serve soft or creamy foods with crisp or crunchy ones. Everything creamy or everything crunchy is too much.

If you want to make a claim to being a grilling maestro, you definitely need to master the two most basic grilling methods — indirect and direct heat

■ Indirect: In this method, food is cooked by hot air circulating around the food, similar to the way your oven works. Simply position food away from the coals by banking the coals on one side of the grill; or in a ring around the outer perimeter of the grill bed. This method is ideal for larger cuts of meat, such as roasts and thick pork chops. Indirect heat allows you to cook meat without burning the surface.

■ Direct. This quick, high-heat method is best for grilling small pieces of tender meat, such as kabobs, sate, shrimp, scallops and ground meats such as sausage and burgers. Similar to broiling, direct heat is applied to the food being cooked.

Whether you are a master or beginner, anyone can put in a virtuoso performance when it comes to outdoor cooking.

PORK BURGERS

- 1 pound lean ground pork
- Seasoned pepper to taste
- 4 large soft sandwich buns

Divide pork into four portions and shape into patties about ¾-inch thick, handling meat as little as possible. Sprinkle both sides of patties with seasoned pepper. Grill over direct heat over medium-hot fire 5 minutes per side, turning once. Serve immediately on buns with favorite condiments. Serves 4.

CARIBBEAN PORK KABOBS

- 1 pound pork tenderloin, cut into 1-inch cubes
- ½ cup orange juice
- ¼ cup lime juice
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon thyme
- ¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon ground cloves
- ½ teaspoon ground cayenne pepper

NATIONAL PORK PRODUCERS COUNCIL

Barbecue pork: With a little imagination, you can orchestrate a symphony of exciting colors, textures and flavors to please the most demanding critics. Instead of hamburgers, try ground pork. Or experiment with different marinades on your favorite pork kabobs.

Combine all ingredients in a self-sealing plastic bag; seal bag and refrigerate 2-24 hours. Remove cubes from marinade; discarding leftover marinade. Thread cubes evenly onto four skewers (if using wooden skewers, soak them in water for an hour before using to prevent burning). Grill over hot coals 10-12 minutes, turning often, until nicely browned. Serve with hot rice and kabobs of grilled fruit and pepper chunks, if desired. Serves 4.

Make burgers special

AP — It's easy to make ordinary burgers a special tasty treat, and one that's low-fat, too. Italian turkey burgers are flavored with Parmesan cheese and Italian herbs. The burgers are made moist by mixing in some plain low-fat yogurt to the patty mixture. Yogurt makes the meat juicy and helps distribute the seasonings evenly throughout the patties.

- 2 tablespoons ketchup
- 1 teaspoon Italian seasoning, crushed
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon ground black pepper

Prepare outdoor grill or preheat broiler. In a large bowl, mix just until combined, the turkey, onion, yogurt, bread crumbs, cheese, ketchup, Italian seasoning, salt and black pepper. Shape into six patties. Place on a grill or broiler pan 4 to 5 inches from heat; cook, turning once, until turkey is no longer pink in the center, about 5 minutes per side. If desired, serve on warm buns with tomatoes, lettuce and shredded mozzarella cheese. Makes 6 servings.

ITALIAN TURKEY BURGERS

- 1 pound ground turkey
- ½ cup finely chopped onion
- ½ cup plain low-fat yogurt
- ¼ cup unseasoned dry bread crumbs
- 3 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

CLARIFICATION

There was an error in Larry Janes' potato pancake recipe on July 5. Here is the corrected recipe.

POTATO PANCAKES

- 2 cups fresh grated potatoes (about 4 medium)
 - 1 ½ tablespoons all-purpose flour
 - 1 ¼ teaspoon salt
 - 2 carrots, grated
 - 1 small onion, grated
 - 1 egg, beaten
 - 4 tablespoons oil
- In a medium bowl, combine potatoes with flour, salt, grated carrots, onion and egg. Mix well. In a large skillet, heat oil until hot. Using a spoon, drop about ¼ cup of potato mixture into a mound in the skillet. Repeat with remaining mixture.

Lower heat to medium and with the back of a spatula, flatten the potato pancakes. Cook, over medium heat for 3 minutes. Flip and continue cooking for 4 minutes. Cover and reduce heat to a simmer. Cook for 5 minutes. Serve with apple sauce, if desired. Makes about 4 good sized pancakes.

These fast foods won't shortchange your health

LOIS THIELEKE

Hectic life-styles makes it very tempting to plan dinner around a bucket of chicken, a bag of burgers or a frozen boxed dinner. Fast foods can dent the budget and may shortchange you nutritionally. Most families are "into" lighter meals, easier preparation of foods, and faster cleanup. Time-consuming cooking (other than holidays) has really passed its prime. "Foods fast" as opposed to "fast foods" may be the perfect solution.

"Foods fast" preparation does not mean defrost and cook a frozen TV dinner or open a box, instead, use your imagination! The key to quick and easy nutritious meals is organization. Start by planning menus. Think about how much time you have for preparation, cooking and cleanup.

Stocked kitchen

Have a well stocked kitchen of food staples, the basics, such as flour, sugar, rice, shortening and pasta so you can immediately put together a meal. Always have some "no cook" foods handy. These are canned fish, canned vegetables and fruits, for a hot or cold meal. Streamline shopping by planning ahead for several meals and do the shopping all at one time.

Look at what convenience appliances you may have in your kitchen. The biggest time-saver is a microwave, the cooking time is cut in half or more. "Meal in a peel," a baked potato with meat, vegetables, and cheese on the top can be a very quick and nutritious meal from the microwave and certainly less expensive than the fast food restaurant. There is very little cleanup with microwave cooking because you can cook on the serving dish.

Quick cooking

Leftovers can be made into your own TV dinners and popped into the microwave for a quick meal with more imagination and more nutrition than the purchased kind. Stir frying is an easy way to cook quickly. Use a wok or a skillet to stir-fry chicken, beef, pork, other meats or seafood. The meat should be fully cooked, but all the vegetables are better if still crunchy. Lemon juice or herbs sprinkled on these will eliminate salt and bring out the good flavor of the vegetables.

Crock pots are great for long, slow cooking in the summer or winter. (They add only minimal heat to the kitchen). Let the crock pot cook all day and when you arrive home the soup/stew is ready. Serve bread and a piece of fruit and you have a nutritious meal in minutes! Since a crock pot makes a larger batch, freeze some for another time. Tough meats cooked in liquid with a slow cooking method can make them very tender.

Food processors and blenders make chopping, peeling, slicing, shredding, pureeing easier and quicker. Do extra for the next time so you are preparing two or more meals at own time. One mess, one cleanup. Broiling and stove top cooking are usually faster than one item oven cooking. Do several things at the same time. If the oven is set on 400, in 30 minutes you can have meat pie, biscuit roll-ups, pasties, baked salmon, scalloped potatoes, cobbler, baked apples, and muffins. If the oven is set on 375, in one hour you can have meat loaf, casseroles, spanish rice, stuffed peppers, baked potatoes, upside-down cake, and gingerbread.

If the oven is on, make two roasts at the same time, use one and freeze the other. Remember when you double a recipe you only clean the kitchen once! A freezer can really be helpful for a quick meal by offering convenience and flexibility to meal planning.

Freeze foods in containers you can use in the microwave or oven. You do not have to wait to thaw them out — just pop in the oven.

Other helpful suggestions are: Shorten the cooking time by cutting ingredients in small pieces. So what if the spaghetti isn't 12 inches long! Recipes that call for water. Use boiling water or very hot water. A flat baking dish cooks faster than a regular casserole dish, for instance, use a cake pan for a casserole. Bake on the garnishes to save time. Just before baking, press nut meats or fruit gently into bread, cake and cookie batters.

Make individual portions as opposed to one large (for example, individual meat loaves instead of one large). Look for recipes that are one dish meals or casseroles. Foods heat faster if they start out at room temperature. This does not mean leaving the food to sit out on the counter all day. Instead, when you arrive home, take the food out of the refrigerator, let it sit for 20-30 minutes, then cook.

You still may be tempted to turn into the first fast food place you pass on the way home, so make nutritious choices. Whether it be fast-foods or making foods fast, remember the key is moderation and variety for good eating and good health.

Tips to prevent moldy food

How do you know if it's OK to use that moldy piece of cheese you found in the back of the refrigerator? "This is a very common question for the staff of the Food and Nutrition Hotline in Oakland County," said home economist Sylvia Treitman.

"The best advice we can give about moldy food is to save only hard or firm foods with only minor mold and to discard soft or liquid foods," she said. Small amounts of mold on cheese can be removed carefully with a sharp knife by cutting away at least one inch around the moldy spot. Keep the knife or instrument out of the mold itself so as not to contaminate the remaining fresh cheese.

Prevention is really the best advice for mold growth. Here are some tips to help prevent the growth of mold on foods.

- Clean the inside of your refrigerator every few months with 1 tablespoon baking soda dissolved in a quart of water.
- Rinse well with clear water and dry.

■ Scrub visible mold (usually black) on rubber casings with 3 tablespoons bleach in quart of water.

■ Check food at grocery for mold before purchasing — many times it may have mold at the store and you unknowingly buy it moldy.

■ Keep opened cans or containers of food in the refrigerator covered and use up promptly.

If you aren't sure if an item that has mold on it is OK to use — call the Food and Nutrition Hotline, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

HENRY FORD HOSPITAL IS SEEKING RESEARCH SUBJECTS FOR NEW MEDICATION TO TREAT OSTEOPOROSIS

Osteoporosis is a condition in which bone tissue is reduced in amount, increasing the likelihood of fracture. Bisphosphonates are drugs which appear to prevent bone loss and may actually increase the amount of bone tissue. It is hoped that a new bisphosphonate medication, that has been studied in other countries, will be effective in treating post-menopausal osteoporosis. A placebo controlled study using a new bisphosphonate will soon be starting at Henry Ford Hospital Center for Osteoporosis Research in Southfield. The study will pay for:
• medical evaluation costs related to the study
• tests related to the study
• medication used in this study
• transportation costs to the Center

You may qualify to participate in this research project if you are a woman between the ages of 50 and 80 years, and are postmenopausal, have been diagnosed with osteoporosis, and meet the entrance criteria.

If you are interested, and would like to see if you qualify, please call 1-800-447-7883. Leave your name, address and a telephone number where you can be reached. You will be contacted promptly.

ART ON THE EDGE

Untold stories: Inventive clay sculpture by Joel Mesnikoff, a graduate student in the ceramics program at Cranbrook Academy of Art, prods viewers into conjuring up their own narrative.

Artist crafts story without end

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

Joel Mesnikoff sculpts interlocking clay vessels and invented implements to provoke viewers into creating a narrative based on their experiences.

Mesnikoff exhibits his stimulating work as part of "New Generation: the first annual graduate exhibition," through July 19 at Habatat/Shaw Gallery, 32255 Northwestern Hwy., Suite 25, Farmington Hills.

"I like how minimal they are and the way the implement works within the vessel. They're very strong pieces," said gallery director Jeff Guido in reference to work from Mesnikoff's latest series, "Implements in Basins."

"One looks at Joel's work and questions what the purpose is. There's an obvious reference to tools."

Black basins cradle implements that look as if they were inherent to the labors of an ancient civilization. The vessels' roughly textured exteriors enhance the crudeness of the implied task.

"I'm interested in objects that speak about the hand. You see the handle; the tools are incomplete as themselves. They call on the viewer to find a use. In doing so they create a story," Mesnikoff said in an interview at the gallery.

"Ultimately I'd like the work to conjure up some sort of narrative: 'Oh, you could use it for this. You could use it for that.' That's when I feel like I'm successful, when they lead a person to speculate about what they are."

According to the Cranbrook Academy of Art graduate student, viewers of the work have ventured guesses that range from devil's tools to cooking utensils.

Mesnikoff's sculpture addresses the relationship of two separate elements coming together to form a whole: a specific tool designed for a particular space in which it carries out a task.

"My work draws on the tradition of objects created for a specific use," said the Bloomfield Hills resident.

Initially his work drew on architectural details and organic forms. The most recent series, begun in December, evolved from concerns discussed with Tony Hepburn, chairman of the ceramics department at Cranbrook. Hepburn asked if Mesnikoff had ever considered working in two parts.

"I took it as a challenge to create sculpture in two parts, the tool or implement and the basin. I'm interested in this place," Mesnikoff said, pointing to the black basin, "where an implement carries out a specific function like a Phillips-head screwdriver, for example. It's entirely specific. It only fits in this certain location, nowhere else. It's a discrete relationship."

Mesnikoff uses this relationship as a vehicle for investigation. He believes it is appropriate to craft invented implements that speak about hand labor in an age in which we are so thoroughly dependent on sophisticated machines which dominate our lives. "Our notions of progress are drawn into question in a world in which the mechanisms created to serve and protect us may also threaten our existence," Mesnikoff said.

From a historical perspective, he thinks machines created during the industrial age to provide goods for the masses enslaved factory workers in boring, repetitious and often dangerous tasks.

"For me personally my work speaks about the labor of my forebears, a labor of necessity," Mesnikoff said. "I feel I've tapped into something that I could spend my life working on, working and reflecting on what I've made."

Born and raised in New York, Mesnikoff has had an on-again, off-again relationship with clay for 22 years but questioned whether a career as an artist working with the material was feasible. The turning point for him came during two years of intense studies at the Kansas City Art Institute, where he worked under artists like George Tl-mock.

Mesnikoff has a bachelor of art degree from Rutgers University, a bachelor of fine art degree from Kansas City Art Institute, a master's degree in ceramics and a master's degree in art education from Columbia University's Teachers College.

Stinson finds fine 'replacement'

The fun of playing in a band has finally kicked in for former Replacements member Tommy Stinson. His new band, Bash & Pop, has a revised lineup, and Stinson's ready to do his favorite things - playing live and writing songs.

After more than 10 years as sideman to Paul Westerberg, fellow ex-Replacement Tommy Stinson is finally learning what it's like to be a frontman. He's formed Bash & Pop and now he's taking his own talent show on the road.

"It does feel good doing something that I created and started," said Stinson with his "one too many cigarettes" voice.

It may feel good but he admits it was harder than he imagined to record Bash & Pop's debut, "Friday Night Is Killing Me."

"It got hard right around the time we made the record. It was a lot more work than I thought," he said.

But now that the album's been released, Stinson is ready to relax on tour.

STREET BEATS

"Now the fun's sort of kicked in. I get to do the stuff I like to do - play live and writin' songs," he explained.

Bash & Pop is currently on its second tour. (The band will play St. Andrew's Hall on Wednesday, July 14.) This time around, Bash & Pop is gigging with a new lineup. Aside from Stinson and drummer Steve Foley, Bash & Pop now includes bassist Janis Tamaka and lead guitarist Max Butler.

Stinson recruited the two new members after the first leg of Bash & Pop's tour was uncomfortable.

"It just didn't feel like a band. It felt like me, Steve, and a few other guys," said Stinson from his Madison, Wis., stop.

So Stinson and Foley decided to go back to Los Angeles and "take the dice and just roll them." Along with getting veteran West Coast musicians, Stinson got something else - new inspiration.

"It's Janis' first tour. She's having a ball. It's like having a little sister on tour. She saw her first cornfield - not that that's all exciting, but you know what I mean. It takes me back to when I was first on the road," he said.

For the 26-year-old Stinson, that was about 10 years ago. At age 13, he started young with the Replacements - and trouble.

"I was starting to get at an age when I started doing bad things. I was heading toward stealing. I was lucky that I ended up with some sort of a career or lifelong interest," he said.

His mother, who sometimes sees his shows, was grateful too.

"My mother was real supportive. She saw things (get) better with me (after joining the Replacements). She's a pretty happy mom," he said.

As for the Replacements, the band is committed to do three more albums to its label, Warner Bros./Sire records. Westerberg's album "14 Songs" counted as one of those.

"Paul's album gets to count as one, but mine doesn't. I didn't have a lawyer at the time," he said.

Bash & Pop performs Wednesday, July 14, with special guests the Dirt Merchants and the Junk Monkeys at St. Andrew's Hall, 431 E. Congress, Detroit. Tickets are $6.50 in advance. Must be 18 with ID to enter. Doors open at 8 p.m. For more information, call 961-MELT or 645-6666.

On his own: Bash & Pop — (clockwise) Tommy Stinson, Janis Tamaka, Max Butler, and Steve Foley — will perform at St. Andrew's Hall in Detroit on Wednesday with the Junk Monkeys and the Dirt Merchants.

Band in harmony

Songwriter moves his music taste into the light

New lineup: The Verve Pipe is (from left) guitarist A.J. Dunn, guitarist/vocalist Brian Vander Ark, drummer Don Brown, and bassist Brad Vander Ark. The band will play the Blind Pig in Ann Arbor on Friday and Lili's in Hamtramck on Saturday.

Brian Vander Ark, lead singer and songwriter for the Verve Pipe, admits he's compromising his musical tastes to stay in his band. Although most musicians admit to the opposite, he said it's a positive thing.

"(The other members) are more interested in harmony, real melodic songwriting," said the sleepy-sounding Vander Ark, a Royal Oak resident.

Compromising his tastes to follow that route has improved his songs, he said.

"It's not quite as bad to compromise. The songs are more of a pleasure to listen to now. The melodies are sweetened. The writing is toned down. It's less pretentious, less dark."

Apparently, that formula is getting the Lansing-based band the gigs they deserve. This month, the group, who has opened for the Goo Goo Dolls, Toad the Wet Sprocket and the Gin Blossoms, will play a showcase for record company executives at the legendary CBGB club in New York.

Although a little nervous about playing for industry reps, they're thrilled to perform outside of the Midwest.

"We're just excited about going to the city," said Brad Vander Ark.

The Verve Pipe has toured throughout Michigan and Chicago in support of its first CD "I've Suffered a Head Injury." The CD sold more than 2,000 copies in its first six months of release and has been played on numerous radio stations in Michigan. The College Music Journal has listed the Verve Pipe's album in the top ten for East Lansing or Kalamazoo college radio since February of 1993.

Currently, the band is working on its next CD at Station C studios in Grand Rapids. The quartet said this CD will showcase the growth of Brian Vander Ark's songwriting talent.

Improv troupe sees life's humor

BY BOB SADLER
SPECIAL WRITER

Doctor. Wife. Mother. Student. Homemaker. Stand-up comic. Leader of her own improvisational comedy troupe.

These are a few of the many hats worn by Dr. Cynthia Shelby-Lane, a woman who possesses boundless energy.

"I sleep and eat every other day," Shelby-Lane said during a rare break. "I slept yesterday. Today is my eating day."

By night, you will find Shelby-Lane at one of three hospitals where she works the midnight shift in the emergency room. At Detroit's Sinai and Riverview Hospitals or Pontiac's North Oakland Medical Center, the doctor deals with a gamut of medical problems from stabbings and gunshots to heart attacks and strokes.

By day, you may find her at the mall buying the latest video game cartridge for her three children or perhaps jetting to Chicago for continuing classes in improvisational technique for The Second City. Sometimes she'll fly to Los Angeles to gather more hours toward her degree in motion picture and television production at the UCLA film school.

Some evenings the past three years, the busy doctor has appeared on stage at local comedy clubs, trying out material on open-mike nights. But her true comedic love is the improv troupe she formed two years ago.

"I was too scared to do comedy alone, so I decided to get a group around me," Shelby-Lane said.

Known as Girlfriend Village &

COMEDY

'I try to be the best doctor I can be. I knew in my heart when I was in college that I wanted to take care of people. Another part of my heart wanted to be on stage. I'm doing this (Girlfriend Village & Co.) because it's what I love to do.'

Cynthia Shelby-Lane

Co., the troupe features a mix of black and white, male and female members and focuses on learning to deal with life through laughter and humor. Shelby-Lane draws on her Second City training, passes it on to her cast, and creates a show that would be familiar to fans of sketch-oriented shows such as "Saturday Night Live" or "In Living Color." The group first performed in 1991 at 1515 Broadway in Detroit. While the cast has changed often during the past two years, the focus remains the same — keep it edgy and funny while never doing the same show twice.

"I started with a group of mostly comedians, and now I've got a group of mostly actors and actresses," Shelby-Lane said.

Currently doing shows at Ferndale's Magic Bag Theatre, Girlfriend Village & Co. does sketches that focus on current events, including local news. Detroit mayoral candidate Dennis Archer and the Baby Jessica adoption battle were lampooned in a recent performance. Shelby-Lane's personal favorite involved her dressed up as Tina Turner, complete with blonde wig and barely there dress accentuating the legs.

"We were belting out 'Proud Mary,'" Shelby-Lane recalled, "and Steve Mitchell (a Detroit comedian) comes up to me playing Ike. He said he came to apologize for hitting me, but Tina and Ike end up arguing over how many times. The scene fades to black with everyone coming to blows."

"The show is good, clear fun, except for a few three- or four-letter words."

The talented doctor does not foresee leaving the medical profession. But working with an improv troupe and developing various film projects simultaneously could tip the balance someday.

"I try to be the best doctor I can be," Shelby-Lane said. "I knew in my heart when I was in college that I wanted to take care of people. Another part of my heart wanted to be on stage. I'm doing this (Girlfriend Village & Co.) because it's what I love to do. Some of the stuff I've learned here, I think actually makes me a better doctor. Laughter is crucial to your soul and your well-being."

Girlfriend Village & Co. performs 8 p.m. July 20, July 27 and Aug. 3 at the Magic Bag Theatre, on the east side of Woodward north of Nine Mile in Ferndale. Call 544-3030 for more information.

Brad Vander Ark attributes his brother's growth to drummer Don Brown.

"Brian's been working with Don for a while. I think that has something to do with it. Don's extremely talented... He's inspired Brian."

Brian Vander Ark agreed somewhat.

"It's a bit different but it's not. There's more input from Don in my songs."

However, he said, writing songs has gotten easier for him.

"The songs on the last record were written over a five-year period. Eight (of the new songs) were done in probably a year. Songs come a lot easier now," he said.

The new release — to be in stores in October — will showcase the band's new guitarist, A.J. Dunning, who moved from Cincinnati to play with the Verve Pipe. The group also uses horns and strings to fill out its sound.

"It's a different style of playing... There's more acoustic guitar. The songs are still pretty much upbeat," Brad Vander Ark said.

'It's not quite as bad to compromise. The songs are more of a pleasure to listen to now. The melodies are sweetened. The writing is toned down. It's less pretentious, less dark.'

Art collector recalls real-life 'Matinee'

BY JOHN MONAGHAN
SPECIAL WRITER

In "Matinee," released on video last week, John Goodman plays a horror movie producer/director who blows into a Florida town to premiere his big-bug epic "Mant." He wires the local theater with gizmos that bring the movie to life.

Dan Grascuck, a long-time art and pop culture collector, recognized the obvious tribute to William Castle, the '50s and '60s filmmaker known for his wild gimmicks. As a kid, Grascuck was a card-carrying member of the William Castle Fan Club and has scrapbooks to prove it.

Grascuck, flipping through yellowing pages in his Detroit home, hadn't looked at this stuff for more than 20 years. But he'll never forget the midnight "world screamers" of Castle films at the Broadway Capitol, the downtown Detroit theater later known as the Grand Circuit.

"I liked Castle's films especially because they were the scariest, but they were funny too," Grascuck remembered. "All the great scary movies have humor in them. You have to have a little release from the tension."

Grascuck was 14 years old on Tuesday, Aug. 4, 1959, when he saw the "world screamers" of "The Tingler," probably the best of the Castle films. In it, Vincent Price plays a doctor who discovers a large, slug-like organism that attaches to your spine when you're really scared.

Price theorizes that you get a little tingle up your spine right before the creature snaps your back. Screaming your lungs out is the only way to destroy it. At one point, the film appears to break and the Tingler, crawling shadow-puppet-style across the screen, is loose in the theater.

Just in case the tingle didn't occur naturally, Castle rigged many of the seats with mild shock buzzers. He called this gimmick "Percepto."

He also gave each audience member an insurance policy (just in case he died of fright) and a penny-sized plastic disk. The instructions read: "As long as the magic disc glows in the dark, you are safe from the Tingler."

Of course, the little plastic disk stopped glowing about 20 minutes into the picture. Castle arrived personally to rig the seats for the midnight "screamers." He mingled with the fans, many dressed up in monster costumes, during the "Tingler's Ball," which started at 10 p.m. Radio personality Dick Osgood also made a personal appearance.

The newspaper ads read, "Bring your date and watch her tingle."

For fans like Grascuck who grew up in the '50s, 'Matinee' brought his hero back into the limelight. The Castle cult continues when 'The Tingler' appears with horror movie host The Ghoul at Ferndale's Magic Bag Theatre on July 31.

Was Grascuck dressed up like a vampire or wolfman that night? "I was lucky just to be there," he said. "My mom was really good about taking me to these things and all the Creature from the Black Lagoon movies."

A few months previous, Grascuck had seen his first Castle film, "The House on Haunted Hill," also starring Vincent Price. "The gimmick at the Broadway Capitol that night was 'Emergo,' which had flying plastic skeletons ride on pulleys over the heads of the audience," Grascuck remembered.

When Castle arrived in Detroit, his plane would be greeted by a hundred adoring kids, many dressed as monsters. The public relations gimmick, which usually ended up in the newspapers, was orchestrated by the Castle Fan Club as shown in a blue-inked mimeographed letter. "Be there with the rest of the spooks," the letter read, alerting young horror fans that chartered buses would take them from the theater to the Willow Run Airport.

Castle marked the end of his horror reign with "13 Ghosts" in 1960 (though he did go on to produce "Rosemary's Baby" later in the decade). The haunted house movie was over-the-top and jokey, but it still had a few chills. The gimmick, called "Illusion-O," used a "Ghost Viewer," which provided a 3-D effect when the spirits made their appearances.

For fans such as Grascuck, who grew up in the '50s, "Matinee" brought his hero back into the limelight. The Castle cult continues when "The Tingler" appears with horror movie host The Ghoul at Ferndale's Magic Bag Theatre on July 31.

Grascuck will be there, this time without his mother. He will be in the lobby with his scrapbooks and copies of those old "Tingler" insurance policies. He'll be looking for others who remember Detroit's "world screamers."

Hall of Famers prove legendary

Bruce Gerish has his own corner of sports history right in his own home. It's Cooperstown, Canton and Springfield all rolled into one room. Gerish, who played baseball and basketball at Plymouth Salem High and later pitched for Alma College, has amassed one of the most unique sports collections in western Wayne County. His Northville home is filled with sticks, shoes, gloves, cards, programs, ticket stubs, bats, jerseys and balls, not to mention autographs of many of sport's most noted legends. Here's a sample of his collectibles: Payne Stewart's golf spikes, Adam Oates' skates, the netting from Fenway Park's green monster, an Arnold Palmer original putter, a wooden seat from Tiger Stadium, an Olympia Stadium brick, an autographed photo from Red Auerbach, a hockey stick from Mario Lemieux, Gordie Howe's jersey and an autographed basketball by all the Lakers (including Magic and Kareem). "All I want to have here is a piece of history, I really don't want to sell it," Gerish said. "I'd like to get ahold of a (authentic) Michigan football helmet some day. Alan Trammell's glove is also something I'm interested in obtaining. I have his bat. I understand he's quite a collector, too." And not to be outdone, Gerish stages an annual Legends Hall of Fame induction ceremony.

An entertaining MC

The gregarious Gerish, who stands 6-feet-5, is of course the master of ceremonies, coordinates the ballot process and designates the nominees. Some may remember him doing stand-up comedy at local nightclubs, or as a regular during the morning drive on the Dick Puritan radio show (he does a mean Coleman Young imitation). He's also part sandlot baseball coach and father of two while moonlighting as a manufacturers rep (his real job). The main wall of his sports shrine is now adorned with the jersey numbers with his local heroes. A former inductee, Ron Egloff, No. 85, made it back from Denver. Donned in a tuxedo, the former Salem, University of Wisconsin and Bronco tight end was in town for his high school reunion. This year's group of inductees covered a wide spectrum of local sports legends: ■ Tim Dillon, No. 24, quarterbacked Salem to the mythical 1974 state football title before going on to play at Miami "where he backed up Jim Kelly," Gerish panned. Dillon, actually played defensive back as a walk-on at Miami of Ohio (not Florida). ■ Bill Fillmore, No. 13 (not to be confused with Wilt Chamberlain), where he starred in three sports at Sanford Meridian before going on to Alma College. "Bill and his wife Kathy earned a total of 23 college letters, 22 by Kathy," cracked Gerish. ■ Brian Gilles, No. 1, ex-Salem baseball coach and standout athlete at Plymouth High during the '60s. Gilles made the U.S. Slo-pitch Softball Association All-World team (Snyder's and Choo-Choo Car Wash) four straight years. "Brian popularized such sayings as 'in the wheelhouse' and 'that ball was jacked,'" Gerish said. "His two favorite pitchers were Brian Wolcott and 'Johnny Wholestaff.'" ■ Rich Hewlett, No. 2, former Salem standout (1979) who started at quarterback as a freshman for Michigan against Ohio State. Nicknamed "The Deuce," Hewlett is now an attorney in Detroit. Hewlett's day was not complete without a letter of congratulations from Michigan head coach Gary Moeller.

An Art-filled room

As for special inductees, Gerish honored his father Art, a builder who once played baseball at Central Michigan. Art's battery-mate at Mackenzie High School in Detroit was TV-50 sportscaster Ray Lane. Jim Tucker, a former three-sport star at Garden City West, was not in attendance, but will join the wall of fame under the moniker (HWT). The ex-wrestler went unbeaten his senior year before a referee disallowed him to continue with a broken ankle. "Jim's childhood heroes are Bobo Brazil and Ernie 'The Cat' Ladd," Gerish quipped. Gerish also announced next year's inductees. "We had 98 this year on the ballot," he said. "The list continues to grow. There were some tough choices." Former Michigan gridders Bob Thornbladh and Rob Lytle are next up, along with Gerish's wife Jennifer, and baseball coaches Bill Klenk (Alma College) and Bob Atkins (Redford Union and Adray Appliance). The ceremonies will also include another legend by the name of Churchill, not the high school or Sir Winston, but a guy named Brian.

Pros stake out Livonia site

BY BRAD EMONS

Is semi-pro soccer coming soon to Livonia? The possibility is being explored by a co-owner of the Windsor Wheels with an official from Schoolcraft College. Antonio Soave, a resident of Troy and one of three partners with the Wheels of the Canadian National Soccer League, met Saturday afternoon with an assistant dean at Schoolcraft. The discussion was held during the Wolverine 14 youth soccer tournament.

The two parties were scheduled to launch preliminary discussions about housing a team in the U.S. Interregional Soccer League, an 8-year-old semi-professional outdoor circuit with 48 teams throughout the south and southwest.

The Detroit News reported Friday that Soave is interested in finding a suburban location to play games in the new Midwest Division, which may also include franchise bids from Cincinnati, Minneapolis, Toledo, Cleveland, St. Louis, Chicago and Milwaukee.

Soave, who could not be reached for comment on Friday, was quoted in the News as saying: "We're negotiating with Schoolcraft College. They're interested in building a soccer stadium."

Soave said he is also looking into such areas as Rochester Hills, Troy and the Pontiac Silverdome.

"I'm surprised he (Soave) made it public regarding Schoolcraft College," said Midge Carleton, Schoolcraft's assistant dean for allied health, physical sciences and athletics. "He called Thursday and asked me to talk to him regarding the possibility of accommodating a team at Schoolcraft College. I set up a meeting to hear his proposal. That's all it is — period."

Schoolcraft has a home soccer field with a few bleachers. It does not have an enclosed stadium.

"It's not a negotiating session,"

Carleton said. "It's strictly a fact-finding meeting. There's no commitment, no criteria on the table. I just need to listen and take back what I hear to our executive administrators."

League play in the USISL begins next May. As many as 18 new franchises are expected to be awarded next month.

Schoolcraft Athletic Director Marty Nowak and men's soccer coach Van Dimitriou were unaware discussions were under way as of Friday.

"It would be nice, that would be my dream to have a soccer stadium here," Dimitriou said.

Nowak, meanwhile, said "I have not heard a word about it."

The USISL's aim is to develop local youth soccer players with few imports. Salaries are low, on a par with Class A or rookie league minor league baseball players.

Walter's remains in chase

Walter's Appliance kept its Livonia Collegiate Baseball League playoff hopes alive Wednesday with a 10-3 victory over Del-Wal at Ford Field.

Walter's, which won the LCBL playoff championship and finished second in the All-American Amateur Baseball Association national tournament last year, improved to 9-13 overall. The win, coupled with Hines

COLLEGIATE

Park Lincoln-Mercury's 1-0 win Thursday over Westland Federation, leaves Walter's and Westland tied for the fourth and final playoff spot with 18 points each.

Westland (9-11) still has the inside track at the playoffs with 10 games remaining compared to Walter's eight remaining games. (Friday's results will appear in Thursday's editions of the Observer).

Walter's enjoyed a 15-hit attack to back up the combined five-hit pitching of starter Mike Zielinski and reliever Ryan Grabetz.

Chuck Coleman went 4-for-4 with four RBI, including a two-run triple in the second that highlighted a five-run inning. Jim Solak was 3-4 with three RBI and Zielinski and Jeff Schaffer (Livonia Franklin) each contributed two hits.

Zielinski earned the win, allowing two runs, one walk and three hits before leaving after 4½ innings because he was a "dehydrated landscaper," according to coach Mike Keller — referring to Zielinski's daytime job.

Ryan Grabetz allowed two hits and one run in 2½ innings of work.

Derek Wirebaugh was the losing pitcher, allowing eight earned runs in 4½ innings. Andy Duncan led Del-Wal with two hits.

Hines Park wins 2

First-place Hines Park regained some luster after a recent slump with back-to-back complete-game pitching victories. Scott Kapla (Redford Catholic Central and Canton) threw a four-hitter Wednesday to lead Hines Park past the Tecumseh Green Giants, 4-1, at Ford Field and Jeff Paluk (Plymouth Salem) followed with a three-hitter on Thursday to beat Westland Federation, 1-0, at Westland John Glenn.

The wins improved Hines Park to 19-3-1 (39 points) and moved the team closer to clinching first place with six regular-season games remaining.

Kapla moved his pitching record to 5-0, striking out six and walking only one against Tecumseh. Tom Davey (Plymouth Salem) and Gary Pierce (John Glenn) each went 2-for-3. Davey had an RBI and Pierce, batting a recent batting slump, scored two runs. Ed Gundry and Jason Riggs added RBI singles.

Hines Park scored its only run Thursday against Westland on consecutive doubles by Heath Fowler and Tracy Ewald in the fifth inning.

Westland's hard-luck pitcher Danny Taylor suffered the loss despite allowing only four hits in six innings. Pierce made a pair of outstanding defensive plays at shortstop in the fifth inning to help keep Westland off the scoreboard.

Westland had runners on first and third in the seventh after Hines Park committed two infield errors. Paluk then delivered a wild pitch but the game ended on a double play when a Westland player was thrown out at home plate and another at third base, trying to advance on the wild pitch.

Paluk fanned eight and walked only two to improve his pitching record to 7-1.

St. Agatha names ex-Walled Lake coach

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Before announcing his retirement at Redford St. Agatha, athletic director Jim Murphy had one last item to address: Name a football coach.

He settled on Gary Tus, a long-time Catholic League coach whose last head coaching position ended at Walled Lake Central after the 1991 season.

Tus spent 1992 scouting opposing teams for St. Agatha coach John Goddard, who resigned in the spring to become head coach at Royal Oak Shrine.

"Gary's a very cooperative man and I think he'll do a great job," Murphy said. "Gary knows his football and wherever he's gone he's done pretty well."

Tus's coaching experience in the Catholic League included stops as a head coach at Riverview Gabriel Richard (1977) and Redford St. Mary's (1984-85) and as an assistant coach at the University of Detroit-Jesuit and Redford Bishop Borgess.

Tus inherits an Aggie's team that was hit hard by graduation after going 7-2 in 1992. Tus's son

Kevin will be a junior this fall at St. Agatha.

Tus is looking forward to wearing head phones on the sidelines instead of sitting in the stands, scribbling notes on a clip board like he did last fall.

"I scouted for my good friend John Goddard, enjoyed it but I got a little antsy — it was the first time I wasn't on the sidelines in 20 years," said Tus, 42, who graduated from Detroit Salesian High School and Eastern Michigan University. "We'll be real young and inexperienced, especially on the line. We need a quarterback, have good skilled people — runners, receivers — but you're only as good as the people in front of you."

Tus said St. Agatha will employ a three-back offense and likely throw as much as it runs.

"We'll probably be a 50-50 threat, that's why we're at passing camp (at EMU) — to get the kids in the passing flow," Tus said.

Tus teaches English at Walled Lake Central and was the head football coach at the school from 1987-91. His contract was not renewed for 1992 due to a difference in philosophies with the administration, he said.

Tus didn't have a winning season in six at Central and he upset some in the administration when he suggested the Western Lakes Activities Association should be realigned for football.

Central plays in the Lakes Division of the WLAA with traditional football powers Westland John Glenn, North Farmington and Plymouth Salem. Farmington Hills Harrison was the lone traditionally-strong football team in the Western Division.

"I didn't feel we could win the way the league was aligned," Tus said. "I refused to resign and had a lot of parent and player support but we had a difference in philosophy so my contract was not renewed. I love Walled Lake and would have loved to coach there the rest of my life but it didn't work out. I love St. Agatha and I'm happy to be there."

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Items for the Sports Roundup must be submitted by noon Tuesday (for Thursday's edition) and noon Friday (for Monday's edition). Items run once only.

DONALDSON IMPROVING

The condition of Livonia Clarenceville football coach Chuck Donaldson has been upgraded from critical to fair at the University of Michigan Hospital, where he remains after being involved in a two-car accident last month in Canton, family members said.

Donaldson's sister Debbie Cole said he still can't move his legs but was sitting up in a chair last week. Donaldson was treated for a fracture in his skull, a partially broken neck, broken arm and broken leg, she said.

"Chucky's fantastic, he's sitting up in a chair — I don't think they're going to keep him down," Cole said Thursday night. "He wants a Pepsi in the worst way. He wants to teach again. It's incredible the drive he has. They (doctors) are not counting him out walking again but they're not counting him out not walking again."

BUELOW ALL-AMERICA

Livonia Franklin graduate Roger Buelow, a senior co-captain on the Case Western Reserve University fencing team, was recently selected to the GTE Academic All-America Third Team. Buelow carries a 3.96 grade-point-average. A three-year letterwinner and two-year captain, Buelow posted a 35-30 record in the men's foil last season. He was the only fencer for Western Reserve with a winning record last year.

WISLA WINS

The Under-17 WISLA boys soccer team won the Fourth of July Indy Soccer Tournament in Indianapolis, Ind. WISLA won five games by a combined score of 14-1. One of WISLA's more impressive victories came against the Ohio north state champion from Cleveland, 1-0. WISLA beat Springfield, Ill. in the final, 4-0.

Jason Follibout was the leading scorer and the goalkeeper was Alan Placek. Other team members included: Jason Brown, Steve Coy, Jim Grewe, Justin Lankes, Goran Rauker, Jim Mitchell, Mike Jablonski, Gronehik Chatterjee, Chris Grodzicki, Charlie Price, Mohamed LeHusseiny, Bob Aggarwal, Seamus Rustin, Trevor Austin and Keith Gordon. The team is coached by Zlatko Rauker and Cass Zarlikowski and managed by Jack Austin.

VARDAR REACHES FINAL

The U-19 Vardar boys lost to the Wisconsin state champion, 2-0, in the championship game of the Region II Soccer Tournament in Springfield, Mo. Vardar won the semifinal game over the Ohio south state champion, 4-1, with two goals coming from Dario Rauker and one each by Chris Castillo and Steve Weiger. Vardar also beat the Nebraska state champ (5-1), and Ohio north champ (1-0) and tied the Kentucky state champ (1-1) in early round games.

Castillo was the MVP. Other team members included: William Bothe, Jeff Cassar, Scott Fouracre, Mike Gentile, Scott Lerner, Andy Mathieson, Chad Schomaker, Mike Solan, Dominic Vella, Timm Webb and Scott Wiggins.

LEAGUE'S BEST

The Redford travel softball team, representing the Redford Township Junior Athletic Association, leads the South Oakland Travel League with a 10-2 record. Four games remain before the playoffs start Saturday.

Team members, all from Redford, are: Tracy Rachels, Kelly Waxmund, Shelly Galea, Lisa Sexton, Amanda Rigley, Tracy Kurdziel, Kelly McSween, Jenny Jeffords, Chris Miller, Theresa Walker, Jennifer Turnquist, Jenny Price, Tammy Livingston, Krista Pelc and Katie McSween. The team is managed by Lynn Eutsler and coached by Richard Eutsler and Ed Turnquist.

METEORS SPRING CHAMPS

The Livonia Family Y Meteors, an under-12 boys soccer team, recently won the spring season in the open division of the Great Lakes Soccer League. The Meteors went undefeated in league play, outscoring opponents 47-4. The Meteors also took second place June 12 and 13 in the Findlay, Ohio Society Bank Invitational.

O'SHEA SOCCER CAMPS

Nick O'Shea's soccer camps under way for all interested youth, seven to 13 years old. The next session of the Livonia day camps will start next Monday (July 19) and run through Friday (July 23), at Livonia's Bicentennial Park.

The camps are conducted by former professional player O'Shea and current Detroit Rocker Lars Richters, with former collegiate stars Robbie Ludwig and Chris Speen assisting. The session for 7-10 year-olds will be from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.; the session for 10-13 year-olds will be 12:30 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Cost is $65 per player. For more information, or for a camp brochure, call the Soccer Store and More at 421-7533.

WINNING EDGE FOOTBALL

The Winning Edge, a football camp for boys 10-18 years old, will be conducted by Walt Bazylewicz, former Redford Bishop Borgess coach and Detroit Catholic League commissioner, at Orchard Lake St. Mary's in August.

It will be a non-contact camp concentrating on offensive and defensive techniques. The cost is $80 for day campers, Aug. 2-5, and $230 for overnight campers, Aug. 1-6. For more information, call Bazylewicz at 544-0494.

OCC STARTING TENNIS

Oakland Community College is starting a women's tennis team this fall.

Women who currently attend OCC or wish to enroll in classes at OCC are eligible. If you feel you have the ability to compete at the college level, call Don Roehl at 340-6801. Practice begins in mid-August. Scholarships are still available.

Lady Ocelot coach optimistic

By C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

The dark age has ended.

Or so Schoolcraft College women's basketball coach Jack Grenan believes. Three-straight lackluster seasons, during which the Lady Ocelots struggled to reach .500, were difficult to accept for a program used to dominating its conference.

But that's in the past. Grenan foresees a bright future for SC, a return to the top. In a four-season span starting in 1984-85, the Ocelots finished either first or second. Since then, it's been a struggle to reach the Eastern Conference's upper division. Last season, SC was 11-14 overall, 4-10 in the conference, barely qualifying for the post-season tournament.

"That will change, he vowed. 'We should, by the end of the season, be playing for a spot in the first division, instead of just trying to qualify for the playoffs.'"

The reason for such confidence? "This is the best recruiting class I've had in my 10 years here," Grenan answered. "It compares to the years when we were finishing first or second."

Gone from last year's team are Dana Hudson, the leading scorer who will attend Slippery Rock; Lori Murphy, headed for South Dakota State; and Michelle

BASKETBALL

Ernst, Jen Audet, and Jamie Alex. Audet and Alex both suffered season-ending knee injuries. Alex has a year of eligibility, but is still in rehabilitation.

Recruits bolster returnees

Returning are three key players: 5-foot-11 center Alisa Wechter, who averaged 16 points and 11 rebounds a game last season; point guard Becky Piotruchowski, who started coming on midway through the season and finished with a 14-point average; and Angie Cerne, a 10-points-per-game scorer and one of the first substitutes.

Chris Nichols, who played early last season before a knee problem sidelined her, may also return.

That's not a bad foundation for optimism. Grenan's recruits, six of them so far, have inflated hopes further.

The biggest on the list is Julie Klos, from Dearborn Edsel Ford. She's just 5-10, but has bulk that's difficult to move. "You can't move her out of the post," said Grenan. "If she sets a blind pick, the opposing player won't get up off the floor." Klos averaged 12 points, 10 boards a game as a senior and was all-Northwest Suburban League three-straight years.

Grenan improved the team's depth at point guard by signing Dawn Newlin, from Dearborn Heights Anapolis, and Cindy Nuha, from Walled Lake Central. Both are 5-5, both can shoot from three-point range, and both are quick. Newlin was twice all-Tri-River League; she averaged 13 points a game as a senior and was her team's MVP. Nuha was all-Lakes Division.

More, they can play together. "They can find each other and they can see the whole court," said Grenan. "And they do all the little things."

More options

Another shooter who should help immediately is Shelly Sockow, a 5-8 guard from Plymouth Salem. Sockow was her team's most improved player last season, averaging nearly 10 points a game. She, too, has three-point range.

Two forwards who only lack experience are Jodi Graham, from Livonia Clarenceville, and Jennifer Walker, from Howell. Grenan called Graham, at 5-10, a "strong player who will develop. She has the ability, the speed, the strength and the intelligence. All she needs is experience." Graham played just one year at Clarenceville.

Walker, at 5-11, has long arms that enabled her to set a school record for blocked shots.

Grenan likes the depth the recruits will add, but mostly he likes the improved play he should get in the pivot. Teams with strong inside players have dominated the league; when SC was winning, it had players like Sharon Miller, who went on to star for University of Detroit, and Barb Krug, from Plymouth Canton.

With Wechter returning and the addition of Klos, Graham and Walker, SC's inside play should be much improved. Also, with the outside shooting of Piotruchowski and newcomers Newlin, Nuha and Sockow, "No one's going to play zone against us. If they do, it'll be a short game."

It all adds up to better balance. "It's nice as a coach to come in and not start the season looking for Band-aids to cover up weaknesses," said Grenan.

The options provided by the new recruits should allow SC to dictate tempo and style. It should put a few more wins on the board, too.

Which will brighten the SC picture considerably.

Murphy steps down as Aggies' A.D.

By STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Jim Murphy has announced his retirement as athletic director and coach at Redford St. Agatha.

Murphy just finished his 22nd year as AD and his sixth season as boys varsity basketball coach at the high school.

"I had a great time but all things end sooner or later," said Murphy, 63.

Murphy said he made the decision late last month because he wants to devote more time to his business, Murphy/Goddard Insurance Inc., and his wife of 42 years, Betty.

Murphy has been a parish member of St. Agatha for 38 years and spent the past 30 coaching in some capacity at the grade school and high school levels. His most memorable stint came with the girls high school varsity basketball team, which enjoyed several winning seasons in his 10 years as coach.

Murphy's girls teams had three-straight 20-win seasons in the early 1980s and reached the Class C quarterfinal one year when they were led by all-star Mona Clor and a supporting cast of Mary Kellow, Kelly Stack, Paola Picano and Beth Reica.

His boys teams won one Catholic League division championship but juggling his coaching and AD duties with his business had become too much.

"I'm going to miss it (coaching and being AD) but like (outgoing Detroit Mayor) Coleman Young said, 22 years is enough," said Murphy, whose term has been met with much more approval than any of Young's five terms in office. "Things have changed, almost to the point where I wasn't enjoying it anymore. It was almost like a job and when it gets to the point where it's like a job, you get out. It was a great experience, but it's time to say it's over. Goodbye."

Walt Bazylewicz, a former Catholic League Director, said Murphy ran a class program.

"Jim Murphy was outstanding, dedicated, worked hard and had St. Agatha programs going real good," Bazylewicz said. "He was a part-time guy, but I'm sure he put as much time in it as a full-time guy would do."

Murphy said Bob Sowden, who coaches girls volleyball and softball at St. Agatha, has been named interim AD. Murphy hopes Sowden, a teacher at St. Agatha, gets the job on a permanent basis.

"One of the recommendations I made when I quit is that the AD should be (a teacher) in the school," Murphy said. "Not being a teacher, sometimes that created conflicts. Bob is a good guy and will do a good job. I have a lot of confidence in him."

Murphy has had some of the area's most respected coaches, current and past, work for him.

Among them are Joe Charnley, who coached the Aggies boys basketball team and now is at Dearborn Divine Child in the same capacity; Harvey Heitmann, who coached Aggies football before going to Redford Union; and John Goddard, who just resigned as St. Agatha football coach after 17 years to accept the same job at Royal Oak Shrine.

"I met some great people," Murphy said. "The kids were wonderful, most of the parents and administrators were wonderful."

At one time, the high school had more than 400 students but this fall Murphy said the anticipated enrollment is less than 200. Murphy had five children graduate from the high school.

"It's not the school itself; it's the economic situation," Murphy said of the declining enrollment. "I highly recommend it. They're really working hard at getting kids to come there."

Livonia players carry GDP pee wee champs

BY MIKE ROSENBAUM
STAFF WRITER

The GDP, 12- and 13-year-old hockey team might've played in the Pee Wee division for the last two years, but there's nothing small-time about the squad.

They won just about everything in sight during a two-year span.

The team won numerous tournaments throughout the United States and Canada, won Michigan National Hockey League titles the past two years, finished 75-10 in the 1992-93 season, then iced its triumphant run by winning the recent national championship tournament in Anchorage, Alaska.

GPD, led by veteran coach Bob Brown, features players from across Michigan, from Jackson to Port Huron. The team includes a group of nine area players.

Three of the teams' forwards live in West Bloomfield. Nicholas Jardine is a small but rugged, playmaking winger. Mike Swiatak combines strong, physical play with a good scoring touch while David Tigay is another forward with a strong shot.

Brown split the goaltending time evenly between Chris Tom of Rochester Hills, who posted a 1.80 goals-against average last season, and Phil Osauer of Livonia.

Another Livonia native is forward Dustin Kuk, the team's leading scorer last season. Area defensemen include Scott Curtin of Redford, Westland's Dwayne McGowan and Mike Porter of Plymouth. The trio were primarily stay-at-home defensemen, although McGowan also possesses a strong shot from the point.

Brown preaches a team-oriented, defensive-minded style of play. He's so dedicated to the team concept that he was reluctant to even name his leading scorer.

"Our team's philosophy is, not a lot of all-stars," Brown explained. "It's just a lot of good, solid hockey players. And we play very, very good team play. We backcheck exceptionally well. But it all starts in the offensive zone. When we put the puck in the zone we forecheck a certain way. A lot of people are against what I do. But we create chances in the zone. When the puck's turned over to us, that's when we get our goals."

When Brown said that some people are "against" his style, he means that many prefer a more wide-open, offensive game. But he defends his team's style strongly, sounding like a lower-key version of TV commentator Don Cherry.

Brown said the wide-open game "is not our style. Our style is, instead of creating great plays going into the zone, we put the puck in and have the other team turn the puck over to us. And then we create chances for us there."

Although the team is physical, Brown noted that "we don't take a lot of penalties."

Barry Tigay, David's father, said the team made "a very intense commitment. These kids play pretty much all year round. They play from four-to-six days a week. They attend hockey school and camps all summer."

This fall, the team will move up to the Bantam Major ranks, for 14- and 15-year-olds, although it's too early to know how many of last year's players will continue to skate for Brown's squad, which will be sponsored by Computaware. In the long run, however, most of the players have the same goal — a college scholarship.

Playing college hockey is "a little slower route to professional hockey," Barry Tigay said, adding his son "might think of professional hockey, but we don't as parents. That's a one-in-a-million longshot, and maybe not that great of a career anyway. But with college (hockey), at least you go to college, you attend college. And you don't really give up the opportunity for further, higher-level play."

Summer icers beat heat

Barbecuing is nice but no doubt the coolest places to be over Fourth of July weekend were the ice rinks that host the Metro Summer Hockey League.

The MSHL got into full gear despite the holiday weekend with three games played Monday followed by two on Tuesday.

The Wildcats moved into sole possession of first place at 3-0 (six points) in the Bakes Conference (which seems like a proper name considering the recent heat wave) with Monday's 13-1 victory over the Spartans.

Redford Bishop Borgess graduate Larry Pilut was missing from the Spartans' lineup but it wouldn't have mattered much the way Bobby Davis played, scoring three goals with two assists. Dave Matthews added a goal and four assists.

Brian Schemotti had the Spartans' lone goal.

The Spartans remained in second place in the Bakes at 2-2 with Tuesday's 10-4 win over the Redskins. Jim Mitchell, from Wayne, scored the hat trick and Matt Corriveau of Livonia had a goal and five assists. Jeff Mitchell, also of Wayne, a recent third-round draft pick of the NHL's Los Angeles Kings, had two goals and two assists.

"We atoned a little from the debacle a day ago," Spartans' coach A.J. Baker said.

The Bulldogs, meanwhile, notched their first win of the season, 8-5, over the Lakers on Monday. The Bulldogs (1-2) and Lakers (1-3) are tied for last place in the Bakes with two points each but the Bulldogs have a game in hand.

Chris Smith, formerly of Plymouth who plays at Michigan State, led the Bulldogs with two goals and an assist. Matt Allen had three assists.

The Huskies scored a goal with 3:39 left in the third period to break an 8-8 tie and beat the Wolves 9-8 in an Eagle Conference game. The Huskies have five points at 2-0-1 in the Eagle, one point behind the first place Broncos (3-1, six points).

Grant Patterson scored four goals and assisted on another for the Huskies. Matt Brush and Tim Vosnick led the Wolves with three goals each.

The Broncos moved into sole possession of first place in the Eagle with a 14-5 win over the Lakers. The Broncos have six points and a 3-1 record.

Darin Evans had four goals for the Broncos. Tim Osborn added two goals and four assists and Keith Aldridge of West Bloomfield had four assists.

The high-scoring games should continue, according to Baker, who doubles as league commissioner.

"There are a couple defensemen who stay home and an occasional forward who busts his butt for 40 seconds and gets back on defense but everyone knows it's an offensive game," Baker said. "The goalies love it. They want more action."

Ninja Master

New ball on market draws large interest

TEN-PIN ALLEY

AL HARRISON

Now from AMF, which had a regular urethane ball called the "Sumo" (you remember those TV commercials?), comes a trio of reactive resin balls, each a different version of the "Ninja" series.

The Ninja has been out on the market already, but now there will soon be a "Ninja Fury" and the "Ninja Master."

Ball talk. That's the usual topic these days as many bowlers are thinking up new ways to attack the lanes this fall.

There's a new product out every time you look. Winger rolled a 300 in the final match against Jimmy Certain. In his first match he beat Gary Dickinson, rolling 11 of a possible 12 strikes for a 279. The only frame he failed to strike was the ninth, where he left the 10-pin standing.

While we're on the subject of senior bowlers, this will be the inaugural season for the Senior Men's Classic, which will compete at 10 a.m. Wednesdays at Mayflower Lanes in Redford Township. It will be comprised of four-man teams and is restricted to those with averages of more than 170. The pre-season meeting will take place at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Aug. 18. There are still a few openings left, either for regulars, substitutes or fifth men. If interested, call Oz Hovsepian at 277-1249 or Mayflower Lanes at 937-8420.

Hall-of-fame bowler Mary Mohacsi of Livonia will be conducting a bowling clinic for seniors-only 2-3:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 13 and 2-3:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 27 at Merri Bowl Lanes. Beginners are welcome. The more experienced bowlers will learn to sharpen their skills. Cost is $5 and includes coffee and free bowling passes.

Concealed stops Kensington Valley

Concealed Security scored five runs in the first inning and that's all that was needed Tuesday to beat Kensington Valley, 5-2, in a Little Caesar Connie Mack baseball game at Madonna Park.

Concealed starting pitcher Craig Benedict (Plymouth Canton) cruised to his fifth win in six decisions, scattering four hits and striking out six. Benedict struggled with control, however, walking eight.

BASEBALL

Eric Marcotte (Canton) and Tim White (two RBI) each went 2-for-3 to lead Concealed. Craig Peterson (Madonna) had one hit and an RBI.

The win kept Concealed in the hunt for the league championship with a 5-1 record.

Concealed traveled to Cincinnati over the weekend to play some of the finest Connie Mack talent in the country.

Concealed finished with a 1-5 record, including a double-header loss to Cincinnati Midland, the defending national champion and the best team in the nation five of the last 10 years.

Concealed lost to Midland, 8-6 and 14-4. Peterson made a big impression, however, going 7-19 for the tournament with three homers, including two against Midland.

Concealed split a double-header with Grand Rapids, winning the first 8-1 and losing the second 8-1. White finished 7-17 at the plate and also was Concealed's only winning pitcher.

J.R. Taylor also was effective at the plate, going 5-13. Concealed closed out the tournament with a double-header loss to Dallas, 11-3 and 7-2.

Finesse gains 2nd in Cincy tournament

The road to respectability — and perhaps national recognition — can lead to some out-of-the-way locations. Like Milford, Ohio (a suburb of Cincinnati) or Shepherdsville, Kentucky.

That's where the Finesse under-16 girls slow-pitch softball team spent the last two weekends. On its trip to Milford for the Snokey Baker USSSA National Invitational Tournament, during the extended holiday weekend, Finesse took Stroker's of Cincinnati to the limit before falling 11-2 in the July 5 final.

The hot, humid weather played a part in Finesse's demise. As team manager Bill Martin of Westland described it, "They just ran out of gas" against Stroker's in the final game of the double-elimination tournament.

Three Finesse players were named to the all-tournament team: Sarah Rowe (Plymouth Canton HS), a defensive wizard at shortstop who hit .323 and scored nine runs as lead-off batter; Colleen Wutke (Garden City), .429, three triples, one home run, eight runs scored, seven runs batted in; and Teresa Reese (St. Clair Shores), .500, three doubles, one homer, nine runs scored, eight RBI.

Mandee Horosko (Garden City) was Finesse's top pitcher; she was 4-2 on the mound and batted .526 in the tournament. Stacey Phillips (St. Clair Shores) was 2-0 as a pitcher and hit .556, with a home run, a triple and 13 RBI.

Finesse opened the tournament July 3 with wins over Connersville (Ind.), 6-1, and Touch of Class (Dayton, Ohio), 8-7, before losing 4-3 to Stroker's. Four-straight wins followed: 9-1 over Hit'n Misses (Louisville, Ky.); 10-7 over Mount Vernon (Middleton, Ohio); 14-9 in eight innings over the Grayhaws (Louisville, Ky.); and 5-4 over Stroker's.

Other team members are: Vonne Jenks (Garden City), Rebecca Schreiber (Walled Lake Central), Katy Duncan, Cara Best and Kelli Knight (both from Plymouth Salem), Kelly Klene (Westland John Glenn), Christina Bogulawski (Dearborn St. Alphonsus) and Sherry Foster (Dearborn Edsel Ford). Tommie Walker (Southfield) serves as the assistant team manager and Bill Eskew (Warren) is the team coach.

Nothdurft senior team wins gold medal at nationals

The Nothdurft Softball Club won the U.S. National Senior Olympic Gold Medal in the men's 55-over division with a 16-13 win last month over defending champion Palm Beach (Fla.) in Baton Rouge, La.

Nothdurft, featuring several players from the Observer & Eclectic coverage area, had a perfect 8-0 record. Starting pitcher Bob Kaump of Redford Township went 7-0 on the mound.

Palm Beach loaded the bases in the top of the sixth inning but failed to score. Nothdurft scored three runs in the bottom of the sixth to seal the championship.

Members of the championship team include Don Cartwright (Florida), Bill Cole (Sterling Heights), George Caloria (Warren), Bob Delfgaw (Redford), John Fawcett (Plymouth), Ed

Eidt (West Bloomfield), Al "Chico" Gomez (Detroit), Pilarowski (New Baltimore), Kaump, Joe Kovalcik (Pinckney), Andy Kovalcik (Warren), Andy Kozub (Warren), Louis Lamberti (Roseville), Don Nieman (Florida), Ed Nadolski (Eastpointe) and Trompicks (Mount Clemens).

The team is sponsored by Fred and Karl Nothdurft.
