BB gun triggers teen's expulsion

The expulsion of a Stevenson Junior High School student is the latest in the case of a teen who brought a gun into school. No one was hurt when the BB gun discharged in the school cafeteria during lunch hour.

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A Stevenson Junior High student has been expelled for bringing to school a loaded BB gun that was fired in the lunchroom, officials said. No injuries were reported.
Ninth-grader Michael Pearce was permanently kicked out of the Wayne-Westland district Monday night during a 7-0 school board vote that followed a closed-door expulsion hearing.

The decision stirred little discussion and reinforced an earlier warning that district officials won't tolerate weapons being brought to school. Several guns have been confiscated from students in recent years.
The BB gun was brought to school on Dec. 2. Another student who handled it also faces possible expulsion, though the school board hasn't yet decided his fate, said Greg Baracy, assistant superintendent for general administration.

In December, school officials said the boy who brought the gun to school gave it to another student who waved it around.
On Monday, Baracy confirmed that the gun was pointed at some students, but he said it didn't appear anyone was singled out for any threats.
The gun was discharged in the school lunchroom; fortunately, the BB only hit a hamburger, Baracy said.

"But the potential for bodily injury is there with any weapon," he told reporters after Monday's meeting.
The incident resulted in a due process hearing in December, after which a hearing officer recommended that Pearce be expelled from the district. The boy's parents appealed the decision, but the school board upheld it Monday.

House gutted: Firefighters battled a blaze Saturday afternoon which destroyed the interior of a home on Hazelwood.

Family's home gutted when auto catches fire in garage

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Several Westland people fled a burning house Saturday afternoon on the southwest corner of Hazelwood and Dowling, escaping from flames that spread when a car caught fire in a garage, officials said.

No injuries were reported when family members and visiting neighbors fled the 12:16 p.m. blaze, which caused extensive damage to Theodore Brewer's two-story residence at 36697 Hazelwood, said Patrick Harder, Westland's assistant chief/fire marshal.

The fire was among three blazes and one attempted fire that Westland firefighters fought during a nine-day period that ended Saturday.

The Hazelwood fire, northeast of Newburgh and Palmer, was touched off by a mechanical problem in a 1992 Cougar that was parked in the garage, Harder said. Family members sharing coffee with neighbors in the kitchen smelled smoke, and then flames spread from the garage inside the house, he said.

Another vehicle, a 1988 Chevrolet Suburban, was parked in the driveway and also caught fire, Harder said.

Damages were estimated at $100,000, he said. The first floor of the house received heavy fire damage, while smoke damaged the second floor and water damaged the basement, he said.

The fire came just one weekend after firefighters fought two other blazes in chilling temperatures, in addition to an attempted fire, Harder said.

"Our guys really took some abuse in that weather," he said.

In an 11:10 p.m. fire on Jan. 14, several pets died but no people were injured during a fire that destroyed a house at 29649 Joy, near Beatrice, Harder said.

"It was a total loss," he said.

Bonnie Lucas escaped with her son and a friend of her son's, but three cats were killed along with a dog and a duck, Harder said. One other cat and one other dog also suffered burn injuries, he said.

The cause of the fire remains under investigation.

Shots fired outside bar

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A Westland man has admitted firing six gunshots outside of the Ford Road Bar following a dispute early Sunday with two Garden City men, police said.

The 30-year-old suspect faces possible charges but had not been arraigned as of Tuesday, Detective Sgt. Marc Stobbe said.

CRIME

The suspect, who lives near the bar with his family, drove home in his truck and got a loaded .32-caliber semiautomatic following the 2 a.m. dispute that began inside the bar and spilled into the parking lot, Stobbe said.

The suspect has admitted firing shots outside of the bar, located on Ford just west of Wayne Road, Stobbe said. No one was injured, he said.

Two cars were hit by the bullets and received minor damages, the detective said.

The suspect had been drinking heavily when he got into a closing-time verbal dispute with the Garden City men inside the bar, Stobbe said. The other men, both 21, also had been drinking, and an investigation hasn't yet revealed what caused the initial argument, he said.

All three men left the bar, and the suspect has reported that the two Garden City men began pounding on his truck after he got inside, Stobbe said.

"One of them punched him in the face through an open window," the detective said.

The suspect drove about two blocks to his house and came back with the gun, firing six rounds, Stobbe said.

The incident was reported to police, and the suspect has since been arrested and released from custody, pending possible charges, Stobbe said.

"He gave a full confession," the sergeant said.

Thus far, no one appears to want to press charges, although a man who wasn't involved in the dispute would like to have the tab picked up for damages to his car, Stobbe said.

Even though the men have indicated they don't want to press charges, Stobbe said the suspect is still likely to be charged with an offense.

Cable TV hearing

The Westland Cable Commission will hold a public hearing at 7 tonight (Thursday) to hear subscribers' comments about the changes in cable TV rates implemented Sept. 1 under orders from the Federal Communications Commission. Continental Cablevision revised rates, which resulted in a decrease in charges for about half of the city's subscribers and an increase for the other half, said Kayelen Perry, Continental general manager for the Westland-Dearborn Heights system. The public hearing will be in the city hall council chambers, 36601 Ford, between Wayne Road and Newburgh. The hearing is part of a process through which the city council may decide if it wants to object to the rate changes.

Taxing time

The Westland Senior Resources Department is offering free income-tax preparation for low-income elderly persons, starting Feb. 7. The help will be provided from 10-11:45 a.m. and 12:45-3 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays through April 14 in the center, 1119 N. Newburgh near Marquette. Others may get help from a private tax consultant on Tuesdays and Thursdays between Feb. 15 and March 10. A donation of $10 will be accepted for single taxpayers earning $9,000 or more a year, or couples earning $12,000 or more. For appointments and other information, call 722-7632. For both programs, people are urged to bring all tax records with them, including their 1992 tax returns.

Mayor's ball

Mayor Robert Thomas, re-elected to a second four-year term Nov. 2, will hold his inaugural ball Saturday night, Feb. 26, at the Hellenic Cultural Center, on Joy between Wayne Road and Newburgh. Tickets are available at the mayor's office, 467-3200. Reservation deadline is Feb. 11. The mayor's ball was initiated in the 1970s by then-mayor Thomas Taylor.

Doctors convicted in federal court

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Two Oakland County doctors have been convicted of criminal charges in connection with a now-closed Westland clinic where they were partners.

Keithly Johnson, 65, of Auburn Hills was found guilty by a U.S. District Court jury in Detroit of nine counts of unlawfully distributing pharmaceutical drugs "for no legitimate medical purpose," Assistant U.S. Attorney Jonathan Tukul said Monday.

Tejinder Uppal, 47, of Troy was convicted of 16 counts of Medicaid fraud. Both defendants were found guilty of four counts of defrauding Electronic Data Systems Corp. for medical bills.

The charges stemmed from the doctors' partnership in Neighborhood Health Clinic P.C. of Westland, which was shut down following a January 1993 raid by the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration.

A jury deliberated for one week before returning the verdicts Monday, Tukul said. Jurors deadlocked on several other drug and fraud offenses, prompting U.S. District Judge Averil Cohn to declare a mistrial on those counts.

Eight of the nine counts against Johnson stemmed from unlawful distribution of the drug Vicodin, and one count involved the drug Fastin, Tukul said.

"The Medicaid and EDS fraud counts related to billings for services which the defendants had not rendered," Tukul said. A sentencing date for the two doctors wasn't known on Tuesday, Tukul said. Johnson could face up to 55 years in prison, he said. Uppal faces maximum penalties totaling 100 years in prison.

Johnson was released on a $100,000 surety bond, and Uppal remains free on a $10,000 unsecured bond, Tukul said. Authorities last July suspended both doctors' licenses to practice medicine.

The DEA was assisted in the investigation by the state Attorney General's Office, Michigan State Police and Blue Cross and Blue Shield's corporate and financial investigations department.

Mother charged in scissors attack

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A Wayne woman has been charged with threatening another woman with scissors and trying to rob her outside of a Westland drugstore.

Sally Ruth Conciatore, 30, could face up to life in prison if convicted of trying to rob the woman of her purse outside of the Arbor Drugs on the northeast corner of Newburgh and Glenwood.

Conciatore was arraigned Monday in Westland 18th District Court a charge of assault with intent to commit armed robbery. The arraignment came nine days after she was accused of trying to rob a female shopper who was walking into the drugstore.

Police said a suspect drove up in a car, got out with a pair of scissors, lunged at the shopper and grabbed at her purse. But the victim fought off the 6:18 p.m. attack and managed to keep her purse, Westland Detective Sgt. Marc Stobbe said.

The suspect, mother of a 3-year-old daughter, told police she attempted the Jan. 15 robbery because she needed money for food, Stobbe has said.

The victim jotted down the license plate number of the getaway vehicle — a quick move that helped police to make an arrest.

A not guilty plea has been entered in 18th District Court for Conciatore. She has been ordered to return to court Feb. 3 for a preliminary hearing to determine if she should stand trial on the charge.

She has been released on a $5,000 personal bond. But 18th District Judge Gail McKnight has ordered her to stay away from the victim and the site of the alleged incident.

Although a male companion was with the suspect during the alleged incident, he was sitting in the passenger seat and didn't know that she was going to attempt a robbery, Stobbe has said.

The two had just recently met, Stobbe said.

Board member chastises colleagues

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A Wayne-Westland school board member suggested Monday that some of her colleagues may have violated the confidentiality of closed-door discussions.

"There appears to be an assumption by certain members of the board that there are no secrets in this district and that closed-session confidentiality will be broken," board member Laurel Raisanen said in an open session Monday night.

"If closed-session confidentiality is broken, then the law is broken," she said.

Raisanen didn't single out specific board members or say what confidences may have been breached. But, noting that some employee union contracts will be expiring soon, she hinted that her concerns stem from the negotiation process.

Raisanen said board members "shouldn't tolerate" the belief that their closed-door discussions will be leaked to the public.

She went even further to suggest that the board needs a special study session on the state Open Meetings Act so that members have a clear understanding of what is to be discussed in open and closed sessions.

"I believe on occasion we have not always been in compliance," she said.

With recent elections, the board is newly revamped and will be negotiating contracts for the first time, she said.

"Confidentiality must be preserved, or we're breaking the law," she said later.

Board vice president Mathew McCusker indicated that an expert could be provided by the Michigan Association of School Boards to lead a study session on the Open Meetings Act.

Raisanen agreed and also suggested that a representative from the Westland Observer could be helpful during the session by providing a journalist's perspective.

During an informal poll Monday, most board members appeared willing to plan a session on the Open Meetings Act. Patricia Brown, a former Associated Newspapers news editor, was the only member who said she didn't believe she needed a session on the act.

"I don't think it's necessary," she said.

No date has been scheduled for the possible study session.

family to call her. The number is 422-6685.

In a 4:05 p.m. fire on Jan. 16, a second-story London Townhouse apartment suffered damages when fire swept through the four-bedroom unit where a family of six lives, Harder said.

A woman was treated for back injuries and smoke inhalation but wasn't hospitalized, he said. The fire is being investigated as a "suspicious fire," Harder said.

The apartment is located at 29038 Manchester, near Ann Arbor Trail and Middlebelt, he said.

In yet another emergency call, firefighters responded to an attempted fire at Huntington on the Hill apartments, near Ann Arbor Trail and Inkster Road, at 1:10 assistant chief/fire marshal

a.m. on Jan. 16, Harder said.

"Somebody severed a gas line to a dryer in the basement," he said. "That allowed raw gas to enter the building."

No fire erupted and no injuries were reported, but the fire department's quick response averted what Harder said could have been a disastrous situation.

Board member Laurel Raisanen indicated that expulsions are among the most regrettable decisions she makes, but she commended her colleagues for their "get-tough approach" toward weapons in schools.

Pupils each year are given copies of the Student Code of Conduct that outlines unacceptable behavior, Raisanen said.

"I hope that they read that thoroughly and that they understand it," she said Monday.

'The potential for bodily injury is there with any weapon.'

Greg Baracy
assistant superintendent

Before Monday's expulsion, the Stevenson student had been on suspension since the incident.

In other developments to combat weapons, officials used walk-through metal detectors for patrons entering the Jan. 18 basketball game between John Glenn High School and Wayne Memorial High School. No guns were found, Baracy said.

The district also has received some of the hand-held detectors, or wands, that are to be used to detect possible weapons in secondary schools. Officials have said the wands will be used to search students only if there's a strong suspicion of weapons.

The latest measures come as officials continue to grapple with increasing incidents of weapons in schools. An armed police officer has been placed at Wayne Memorial, and officials also are moving to beef up security at John Glenn.

Nonprofit boxing club on the ropes

By BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

The Livonia Boxing Club, long a staple in the area for amateur and professional fighters, is about to be left out in the cold.

Mounting financial burdens may put the LBC's newly renovated 5,000-square-foot gym, located off Middlebelt just north of Plymouth Road, down for the count.

LBC director Paul Soucy is hoping local businesses or a "George Steinbrenner-type donor" can step into the ring and help erase nearly $11,000 owed in back rent and utility bills.

"Our back is to the ropes," Soucy said. "And I'm just sick over it because I've spent countless hours taking kids to shows and tournaments all over the country. We've been in existence 15 years and we've put so much work into the program that it would be a shame if this thing doesn't stay open."

According to Soucy, R.D. Management of New York, which leases the back side of the building (formerly Duff's Cafeteria) to the LBC, is threatening to proceed with an eviction notice by the end of the month.

"We're classified a 501(c) nonprofit organization, but it may be too far gone to renegotiate our lease," Soucy said. "Our lease runs about $2,300 per month. Then there are the utilities like electricity ($450 per month), gas ($500 per month), liability insurance ($500) and the phone bill from Michigan Bell ($56.60 per month)."

Bingo not enough

To keep the facility afloat, the LBC and Soucy derive expenses from a weekly bingo night, which runs 6:30-10:30 p.m. each Tuesday at the GLA Hall, at Merri-man and Cherry Hill in Westland.

Other income to help defray costs comes from amateur boxing or kick-boxing shows Soucy stages periodically at the LBC.

"Our take-in from the bingo is down from last year," Soucy said. "It was $31,000 last year, but now it's around $26,000."

Soucy began the LBC program with the help of the city of Livonia.

The LBC initially rooted at the Jackson and Jefferson community centers. The city of Livonia then offered Soucy the opportunity to relocate his gym in the basement of Fire Station House No. 5, on Middlebelt just south of Seven Mile.

Not purely local

"It was a city building, so it was rent-free and we had no liability," Soucy said. "The problem was that we had to have 60 percent residents to constitute it as a community program."

After a cool reception from firefighters, due to traffic by boxers in and out of Station House No. 5, Soucy decided to start his own gym.

"We've moved four times and I was hoping this would be the last move," he said. "The program is open to anyone and anybody in the community. We take people from all over the metro area."

"I believe we took a lot of kids off the street. Boxing builds self-confidence. We sent three kids to the Olympic Trials. And we've had one surgeon, two dentists and a couple of attorneys come through our program."

Schools find fewer grads than thought go to college

By MARIE CHESTNEY
STAFF WRITER

In 1988, according to a survey done last summer, 55 percent of Livonia Public Schools graduates enrolled in a four-year college or university.

The same survey shows that, five years later, only 31 percent had received a four-year college degree.

The survey, done mostly over the phone by staff of the Livonia Career Center, discounts the myth that the vast majority of its students go on to — and graduate from — a traditional four-year college.

The district includes the northern section of Westland.

The survey fuels a controversy over just what role K-12 schools should play. Should they prepare students for two-year colleges? For four-year colleges? Or should they prepare students for the world of work and a dramatically changed job market?

"The majority of schools are set up to prepare students to get a bachelor's degree, but the survey shows that in the district only 31 percent got that degree from that year," said Mary Couillard, a career center coordinator.

An important message to parents emerges from the survey.

"Parents need to be aware of what's happened in the job market," said Stephen Smith, who heads the career center. "Just because you get a four-year degree, there's no guarantee you'll get a good job. In fact, in today's market, you can get a better job with a two-year degree than with a four-year degree. There's really a need for the technically trained student."

It's a message that Willard Daggett is now taking to school districts in Michigan. Last year, the Legislature appropriated $500,000 so that 10 districts could hire Daggett's International Center for Leadership in Education and begin changing their curricula to meet the needs of the real world.

Repeated message

It's a message that Philip Gardner, Michigan State University professor, recently brought to district teachers and counselors in a special seminar put on by the career center.

"You've got to change, folks," Gardner told district educators. "The people being prepared worst for the world of work are those in college-prep courses."

Ken Watson — director of secondary education, who becomes the district's superintendent July 1 — jokingly told of a phenomenon now occurring in more and more families.

"When your child is 30 and still living at home and still doing graduate work, you want him to go out and get a job," Watson said. "Colleges should not turn out students who at the end can't find employment."

Couillard said college-bound students should consider other options besides the four-year school. "The message parents need to hear is that four-year colleges are wonderful for some kids, but two-year colleges are good, too."

The district won't change its curriculum based on one survey. But the district is piloting new "tech-prep" courses this September in the three high schools, Smith said. That includes courses in technical reading and technical writing at Franklin and Stevenson and an applied biochemistry course at Franklin and Churchill, he said.

"The biochem class is hands-on learning, as opposed to theory," Smith said.

Survey catches up on class of 1988

The Livonia Career Center survey set out to test the popular belief among residents that a majority of its students graduate from a four-year school and get a job in a career that requires at least a bachelor's degree.

The center serves the northern section of Westland. They chose the class of '88 because many students now take five years to get through college.

From July to September last year, Tina Ferris, center vocational technician, did most of the leg-work, calling every fourth graduate from the district's three high schools.

She asked these questions:

- In high school, in what program of study were you enrolled?

The answers: 55 percent college prep; 36 percent general; 8 percent vocational; 1 percent special education.

- In high school, what classes helped you most with what you are doing now?

The answers: 28 percent English and math; 19 percent business; 17 percent vocational education; 16 percent science; 10 percent none; 6 percent social studies; 5 percent music/art; 2 percent foreign language; and 3 percent all others.

- If you could attend high school all over again, what classes would you take now that you didn't take while you were in school?

The answers: 23 percent math; 15 percent science; 14 percent business; 9 percent English; 8 percent drama/music/art; 7 percent vocational education; 5 percent college prep; 4 percent foreign language; 3 percent social studies; and 1 percent global education.

- In high school, were you made aware of your career options?

The answers: 77 percent said they were aware of four-year college; 69 percent, two-year college; 64 percent, military; 44 percent, vocational; 33 percent, jobs; and 10 percent, none.

- Where did you get your career or educational information?

The answers: 55 percent parents; 52 percent counselors; 37 percent other; 35 percent friends; 30 percent teachers; and 3 percent none.

Free fingerprinting offered

A free fingerprinting program is now available from the Independent Order of Foresters for the children and grandchildren of Livonia business people. In the past, the IOF has brought its free "ChildPrint" service to local stores, schools, day-care centers, fairs and community events, and will continue to do so. But the program has proved to be so popular, the nonprofit fraternal society is now offering it to any business that wants to protect the children of its employees. Generally, the IOF will perform the fingerprinting and child identification service on a Saturday, during special hours set aside by the business. "This year marks a new drive to organize with corporations," said IOF spokesman Henry DeVries. "Employees bring their children to work, usually on a weekend day, to be fingerprinted and photographed." For more information, or to set up a fingerprinting day for your business, call the IOF at 1-800-245-6794 or 1-800-478-8280. The ChildPrint program gives children an identification card. With this card, fingerprints and photographs, police get a head start on finding a missing child.

Skill training

One trend Daggett, Gardner and Smith all cite is the fact that skilled workers from foreign countries are now getting the technical jobs open in the U.S. because companies show they can't find American workers trained to do the job.

One big hurdle for district educators to get over is the fact that many colleges and universities still won't accept for credit "tech prep" courses taken by students.

"Michigan is behind in the 'tech-prep' movement," Smith said. "Colleges are hesitant to take anything that says 'applied' in front of it. But our students need more technical writing and reading skills to be better prepared for the job market."

Smith is particularly concerned with Livonia's graduates who don't get any type of higher education whatsoever.

In years past, these students could get "assembly-line" type jobs. But those days are now largely gone, with the jobs replaced by the "tech-prep" trained worker who sits behind a computer or robotics machine and works with both to get a manufacturing job done. These workers must be able to read technical manuals and perform intricate math calculations.

"The question is, how do we train these 'general' students?" Smith asked.

Educators agree that parents should pay particular concern to the class schedules students are asked to fill out and return to school.

"A large percentage of students fill out their own schedules, without help from their parents," said Livonia Board of Education trustee Ken Timmons.

In a study session Monday, Smith presented the results of the survey to the trustees.

"We've not asked graduates often enough," Watson said. "We need to ask more questions. There's too much guessing and not enough asking about what our graduates are doing."

To get a truer picture, trustee Joe Laura suggested the survey should be done in different economic times.

■ What education did you pursue after high school?

The answers: 58 percent four-year college; 45 percent community college; 13 percent none; 9 percent trade or technical school.

■ What schools have you attended?

The top answers: 11 percent Michigan State; 10 percent Eastern Michigan; 9 percent University of Michigan-Dearborn; 8 percent University of Michigan, Ann Arbor; and 6 percent divided among Madonna and out-of-state schools.

■ Did you graduate or complete your training?

The answers: 31 percent bachelor's degree; 27 percent still were in school; 8 percent associate degree; 26 percent technical certificate; 28 percent no postsecondary training.

■ If degree was completed, in what field?

The answers: 28 percent business/marketing; 26 percent arts/humanities; 24 percent engineering/industrial; and 22 percent health/human services.

■ If still enrolled in school, what is your prospective field?

The answers: 45 percent arts/humanities; 24 percent business/marketing; 19 percent health/human services; and 12 percent engineering/industrial.

■ If you had no post-secondary degree/training, where are you employed?

The top answers were 15 percent business/office; 12 percent service; 11 percent sales; 10 percent construction; 5 percent military service; and 4 percent divided among art, design and communications, health fields, homemaker and unemployed.

■ Are you currently employed in the career you studied for?

The answers: 53 percent yes; 47 percent no. Of the 47 percent, 18 percent are pursuing an advanced degree; 14 percent are looking for work; 8 percent gave economic reasons; and 7 percent said they didn't like the field.

Soucy's program produced Olympic Trials competitors Mike Dardini and Craig Payne, along with the late Kermit Fitzpatrick, the state trooper who was gunned down in the line of duty in 1991.

Last summer, Soucy realized his personal dream by moving into the new facility at Middlebelt and Plymouth.

Nearly $20,000 in renovations were made through volunteer work and independent contracts paid out by Soucy.

"We painted, rewired and installed new lights. We did the cement work for the floor and put in new carpeting. We put in doors and windows. The place didn't have a bathroom. We'd also like to finish off the locker rooms some day."

Steve Bond, 24, of Westland is a regular at Soucy's gym.

"If this wasn't around, I'd have a lot more time on my hands," Bond said. "I'd rather be in the gym instead of being in front of a TV. It keeps you in shape and keeps you out of trouble."

"I've put a lot of time and hard work into this gym. We hit the streets for months getting money to start this place. I was here when we poured the concrete."

Open to public

The LBC is open to the public 6:30-9:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, as well as 9 a.m. to noon on Saturdays. The gym is closed on Sundays.

Membership dues for youngsters ages 10-16 are $10 (monthly), $50 (semi-annually) or $90 (annually). Adults pay $15 per month, $80 semi-annually or $150 per year. Non-member professional boxers can work out for $5 daily.

"It's a very reasonable fee for a gym," said Chuck Fecay, an ex-boxer and trainer, who now judges amateur and professional fights. "I've been to Kronk Gym in the city many times, and I've been to Jackie Kallen's gym in Redford. But those gyms have only a couple of heavy bags, but this place has several. The equipment they have here is outstanding."

His son, Donald Fecay, 33, drives in weekly with his three sons and twin brother all the way from New Boston to work out at the LBC. His twin brother, Randy, is also a regular.

"It's been a long time since I've been in the ring," said Fecay, who as a Marine once fought Pernell "Sweet Pea" Whitaker for the 1982 state amateur championship in Virginia. "I just started working out again, but I can tell you this place has a lot of equipment for boxing. It's better than any gym I've been around."

"I bring my three boys in because it's good for confidence. It keeps you in shape and hopefully it gives you the discipline to always work out. There are just too many 'couch potatoes' out there."

Fecay, who works for a small door company in Southgate, believes it's time for local businesses to step up and be counted.

"Places like McDonald's, any small business in the area, could become a sponsor," Fecay said. "They could buy a spot on the wall and advertise their business."

"I think it would be smart. This program takes kids off the streets. If you don't want kids to break into your business, you need to support this."

Last Thursday, Soucy had more than 20 fighters sparring and training in the gym.

Contributions can be made to Livonia Boxing Club, 14637 Loveland, Livonia 48154, or call Paul Soucy at 525-1387.

Ford's departure breaks open 13th District race

BY SUSAN ROSIEK
STAFF WRITER

Candidates from both major parties are lining up to test the political waters in the wake of U.S. Rep. Bill Ford's announcement Tuesday that he will not seek re-election later this year.

Ford, a Democrat, whose district includes Garden City, Westland, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, part of Livonia and eastern Washtenaw County, has been in the U.S. House of Representatives for 30 years.

Democrats reportedly eyeing the seat include Wayne County Commissioner and former Ford staffer Bryan Amann and state Rep. Kirk Profit, D-Ypsilanti.

Northville resident Tom Watkins, special assistant to Wayne State University President David Adamany, has also been mentioned as a possible Democratic contender.

State Sen. Lena Pollack, D-Ann Arbor, has reportedly stated that she's staying in the race for U.S. Senate. However, several Democratic leaders contacted said Pollack would be the front runner if she jumped into this race.

Former Livonian, John Schall, a Republican who now lives in Ann Arbor, announced his candidacy in September. Schall served on the White House staff for 2½ years as deputy of the Domestic Policy Council under President George Bush. He was also chief of staff to the U.S. Department of Labor from 1991 to 1993.

"Representative Ford's retirement really doesn't change the race that much. I've been running as a new voice for the people of the 13th district. This campaign is about the future — about getting the economy moving and creating jobs. I'll be talking about the issues that matter for the future: crime, health care, education and jobs," Schall stated in a press release late Tuesday.

Cynthia Hudgins Wilbanks, former aide to Pursell who now heads Michigan's Children, a private non-profit multi-advocacy group, said she "is in the process of talking to people" close to her about running.

Wilbanks holds a degree in political science from the University of Michigan. She worked for Congressman Marvin Esch for four years then ran U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell's three district offices for 16 years.

Wilbanks had considered a run in the district two years ago but backed away when State Sen. Robert Geake, a Northville Republican, announced. She has been active in the Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce, Ann Arbor Rotary and served as government relations chair of the Michigan Technology Council. She lives in Ypsilanti and grew up in Detroit.

Democrats eyeing the seat are county commissioner Bryan Amann, state Rep. Kirk Profit, D-Ypsilanti and Tom Watkins of WSU. Republicans include John Schall, who announced his candidacy in September; Cynthia Hudgins Wilbanks, former aide to Pursell, Schoolcraft College Board President Steve Ragan and Susie Heintz, former Wayne County commissioner.

"This will be a dynamic race on both sides," said Wilbanks.

Other Republicans mentioned as possible candidates are Schoolcraft College Board President Steve Ragan and Susie Heintz, former Wayne County commissioner and currently head of Gov. John Engler's southeast Michigan office.

Geake, who ran against Ford in 1992, said he decided "months ago that I would run for my seat." He said Schall has an excellent chance, but he is not supporting him at this time.

Geake said there are others who have helped him on past campaigns who may get into the race but he declined to elaborate.

Ragan, who works in fund-raising for Eastern Michigan University, didn't rule out the possibility but added that he's happy working for EMU and being president of the Schoolcraft board.

Amann, a graduate of John Glenn High School, the University of Michigan and the University of Detroit Law School, worked as an intern in Ford's Washington office in the summer of 1978. He's worked as a deputy county clerk and assistant county executive in the Ed McNamara Administration.

Amann praised Ford saying that "every educational institution in this state has benefited from having Bill Ford in Congress."

Profit, Democratic chairman of the House Higher Education Committee and vice chair of the judiciary committee, said he'll make his decision with the state Democratic team.

"Absolutely. I'm very interested," said Profit, who is serving his third term in the state House. He grew up and now lives in Ypsilanti. Before being elected to the state House he worked as executive assistant to Democratic House Speaker Gary Owen.

Profit is a graduate of EMU and worked as a Washtenaw County deputy. After graduating from the University of Detroit Law School he worked as an attorney in private practice and later became undersheriff of Washtenaw County.

"Bill Ford has served the Ypsilanti area very well. I really didn't expect this. It's a terrific challenge," said Profit.

Labor launches campaign to defeat Proposal A Big Labor is opposing Proposal A, the March 15 ballot plan on school finance reform.

Both the General Board of the Michigan State AFL-CIO and the Executive committee of the United Auto Workers community action program called for votes against Proposal A, whose key feature is a 2-cent increase in the state sales tax.

"The statutory plan was best for the men and women we represent," said Michigan State AFL-CIO President Frank Garrison. The statutory plan, which features a 1.4 percent hike in the income tax rate, will go into effect if voters reject the sales tax plan.

"The board decided to oppose the ballot proposal because its impact on middle- and low-income families, senior citizens and renters would be worse than that of the statutory back-up plan," said Garrison.

"Generally, the state AFL-CIO has opposed increases in the sales tax (as the ballot plan would do) because middle- and low-income persons spend a higher percentage of their incomes on items subject to the sales tax than do high-income persons."

While the statutory plan increases the state income rate from 4.6 to 6 percent, the plan also increases the personal exemption from $2,100 to $3,000 (and up to $3,900 for senior citizens), lessening the impact on low- and middle-income individuals and families.

UAW-CAP said Proposal A would place an unfair burden on senior citizens living on a fixed income.

"The ballot plan would raise a projected $425 million from the real estate transfer tax. But the highly cyclical nature of the real estate market makes such a tax an unstable source of funding for Michigan's schools," said UAW vice president Ernest Lofton.

Both labor groups objected that Proposal A would send $300 million or more to the federal government because the sales tax isn't deductible from taxable income under the federal income tax.

'A' affects more than sales tax

STAFF WRITER

Q. Gov. Engler keeps talking about the March 15 ballot proposal as if only increasing the sales tax were involved. What else are we voting on?

A. Lots — Proposal A has more than 900 words and affects six sections of the Michigan Constitution.

Even if you read all the fine print, you won't see many changes because they are in laws "tied barred" to passage of Proposal A.

Proposal A will:

- Raise the sales tax rate from 4 percent, where it has been since the 1960s, to 6 percent.
- Constitutionally earmark the extra 2 cents for the school aid fund. The statutory plan earmarks an income tax increase for the school aid fund, but Engler will argue that a future Legislature could tamper with that.
- Proposal A is passed, only voters may change the earmarking.
- Cap property assessment increases at the rate of inflation or 5 percent, whichever is less.
- Raise the real estate transfer tax to $2.11 per $1,000 of valuation. The Legislature passed a law raising it to $1.11 from the current 11 cents.
- Nullify a law raising the income tax rate to 6 percent from the current 4.6 percent, and lower that rate to 4.4 percent.
- Nullify the law raising the personal exemption to $3,000 and keep it at $2,100.
- Nullify a law raising the single business tax rate to 2.75 percent and keep it at 2.35 percent.
- Roll down property taxes on homesteads from 12 mills under the statutory plan to 6 mills. Businesses and second homes would pay 24 mills under either plan. Under Proposal A, it takes a three-fourths vote of all legislators to alter those rates.

Q. I live in one of those so-called "rich" school districts that spends far more than $6,500 per pupil. The state would reimburse us only to $6,500. To get the rest, we'd have to vote a "hold harmless" millage. Would Proposal A affect us?

A. Yes, quite a bit. Under the statutory plan, you could levy a supplemental property tax on both business and homestead property.

Proposal A would limit your district to a supplemental tax only on homestead property — until you reached 18 mills. After that point, the local tax would apply to both kinds of property.

Q. When do all these tax changes take effect?

A. Most tax changes, under both the statutory and ballot plans, take effect May 1. Exception: the real estate transfer tax would take effect next Jan. 1, 1995.

Q. I'm going to be in Florida March 15. When can I get an absentee ballot?

A. Right now, according to Secretary of State Richard Austin.

You may obtain an absentee ballot from your city or township clerk if you plan to be out of town on election day, if you are age 60 or older, or if you're unable to vote without assistance.

If you're not registered, deadline for registering is Monday, Feb. 14.

Q. I'd like to talk to Gov. John Engler about some tax ideas I have. How do I get to him?

A. You need an appointment. Engler boasts his "open door" policy has drawn 700 people.

For a form to schedule a visit, write to: "Open Door," Governor's Office, PO Box 300013, Lansing 48909.

AROUND

3 get certified

Three dental assistants of Garden City dentist James Tsoucaris recently gained certification from the Dental Assisting National Board Inc. The three and their years of service with Tsoucaris are Janice Beers of Garden City, six years; Cassandra Lewis of Westland, six years, and Joyce Larson of Taylor, 18 years. The certification program is to establish and monitor standards of excellence and to be used as a gauge of a dental assistant's professional accomplishments, Tsoucaris said.

Scholarship offered

Westland Chapter 387 of the Vietnam Veterans of America will offer a scholarship to a Wayne-Westland school district high school senior in an upcoming essay contest. The scholarship is open to seniors at John Glenn or Wayne Memorial highs with a grade point average of 3.0 or higher. Seniors may write a 500-word essay on the topic: "Do You Favor Re-establishing Political and/or Economic Relations With Vietnam?" The three best essay writers will win $500, $300 and $200, respectively. Chuck Moberg, scholarship committee spokesman, said seniors may get more information from the counseling departments in their home schools. The VVA launched the scholarship program last year.

Dances coming up

There's still time to buy tickets for the Westland recreation department's mother-son and daddy-daughter square dances to be Wednesday, Feb. 2, and Thursday, Feb. 10, respectively. There is a limit of 400 people for the daddy-daughter dance. Tickets must be ordered in advance.

Employees get lowdown on Neon

Crestwood Dodge employees took part in a corporation-wide training to teach them of the new Dodge Neon and how it differs with its closest competitors.

Some 75 Crestwood Dodge employees went to "school" for six hours Saturday to learn more about compact cars.

But the learning program was more than just driving a four-mile route, checking under the hood, and seeing if the front and rear seats are comfortable.

It was all part of a nationwide move by Chrysler Corp. to educate all of its employees on how its new product, the 1995 Neon compact, compares with its closest competitors - a first for the auto industry, said Rob Robbins, Crestwood owner.

To Robbins, it's part of a team effort by all his 75 employees who work in the dealership on Ford and Venoy.

Robbins, who bought the dealership in 1981 when Chrysler was in the verge of bankruptcy, is no stranger to team efforts.

He was baseball team captain at Denison (Ohio) College and played football and basketball in high school. Later, Robbins coached youth teams.

Robbins said the Crestwood move to have all employees involved in the Neon educational program is similar to handling a sports team in which everyone contributes.

In a move to promote team spirit and encourage all employees to promote the cars sold by Crestwood, each worker last month received individual business cards to be distributed to neighbors, friends, relatives and others they meet outside the dealership.

"This is a learning festival," Robbins said in describing the Saturday session as fun.

"It will help us better serve our customers' needs and wants," he said.

Todd McCall, Chrysler customer satisfaction district manager, who handled several of the presentations at the Saturday "school," told the employees that the new Neon is mainly aimed at first-time car buyers.

"They want a lot of attention and answers," he said in urging that dealership employees provide quick, accurate information about the car.

McCall admitted that while the corporation is urging all dealerships to get involved in the "Discover Neon" program, not all are taking part.

One of the publications Crestwood employees received shows a comparison of the Neon with the Ford Escort, Honda Civic, General Motors Saturn and the Nissan Sentra.

In the comparison driving, employees drove the Neon, Escort and Saturn.

Honoring Ford

Praise pours in for retiring representative

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Area officials and residents are reminded of a lot of good things that U.S. Rep. William Ford, D-Ypsilanti Township, has done in the last 30 years.

Ford, who is chairman of the powerful Committee on Education and Labor, announced his retirement from Congress Tuesday on the House floor.

"To my colleagues, thank you for your friendship, your support and the opportunity to realize the goal of my freshman year: chairmanship of the committee I love."

Jim Plakas served on Ford's staff in 1966 and later worked with Ford as the Garden City mayor. "I say this real respectfully. He's a true liberal," Plakas said. "He has always fought hard for the working man. I disagreed with him on some issues, but overall he has done a good job. Whether you agreed with him or not, Bill always did his homework."

Ford has served in Congress since 1965, working his way up to the chairmanships of the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service (1981-91) and the Committee on Education and Labor (1991 to present).

"I began my congressional career with the presidency of Lyndon Johnson, and I am proud to have been here during the enactment of many ambitious Great Society programs. I will leave during the presidency of Bill Clinton, whose proposals renew the Johnson legacy. Truly, I have seen the pendulum swing," Ford said.

Ford's 13th Congressional District includes the Observer communities of Canton and Plymouth townships, Plymouth, Westland, Garden City and the southeast quadrant of Livonia.

In announcing his retirement, Ford said: "Time has snuck up on me. As I approach my 67th birthday, it is time for me to focus on my remaining years. I want to spend more time doing the things I enjoy and concentrating on my family, whose sacrifices, because of my career, have been immense and often painful."

Always a friend of the United Auto Workers union, Ford drew praise from UAW President Owen Bieber, who issued a press release saying: "On all the tough issues over the years, ordinary working people could count on Bill Ford fighting on their side, no matter what the odds. His commitment, perseverance, and effective leadership will definitely be missed in the U.S. House next year."

Michigan State AFL-CIO President Frank Garrison said: "Billy Ford's retirement is sad news for Michigan workers. He is the best congressman that workers in this state have ever had."

Bill Joyner, director of the Canton Community Foundation, former county commissioner and Democratic party activist in Plymouth Township, said Ford has sacrificed a lot to serve his constituents and should be honored for the great job he's done.

"I'm going to miss Congressman Bill Ford, and I think we should take a look at the success of anyone who has been able to survive the political wars, and we should be grateful for the support (that Ford) has given this district. Whether you agreed or disagreed with him, you knew where he stood."

U.S. Sen. Carl Levin called Ford's retirement "a stunning loss for the state of Michigan. The people of Michigan and the nation have lost a great leader in the fight to give workers a fair shake in the labor market and improve education. He was a tough negotiator who wouldn't sacrifice principles for short-term gains."

Gary Corbin, Michigan chairman of the Democratic party, said Ford's retirement "is a loss that will be experienced in very real terms by every resident of Michigan's 13th Congressional District, the state of Michigan and, indeed, the entire country. Perhaps no one in the Congress better understands the challenges and hardships experienced by ordinary people."

Press releases honoring Ford also came in from U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Secretary Donna Shalala and Department of Labor Secretary Robert Reich.

Said Shalala: "Billy Ford is a remarkable public servant and gifted legislator. This past year alone he has been instrumental in bringing to fruition many of President Bill Clinton's key accomplishments, from the new national service program to the Family and Medical Leave Act."

Said Reich: "(Ford) has dedicated his career to protecting the people who often get overlooked in our society. His never-ending advocacy on their behalf will not easily be replicated."

Before Ford entered the Congress in 1965, he was Taylor Township justice of the peace from 1955 to 1957, Melvindale city attorney from 1957 to 1959, Taylor Township attorney from 1957 to 1963, and state senator from 1963 to 1965. Ford was also a delegate to the 1960 Michigan constitutional convention.

In Congress, Ford is currently the chief House sponsor of the Comprehensive OSHA Reform Act.

COLO-RECTAL POLYP, CANCER SEQUENCE

Colo-rectal cancer is the second leading cause of cancer death in the United States. It is believed that more than 95% of colo-rectal cancer arises from benign adenomatous polyps, and among patients with a positive fecal occult blood test, 38% have such a polyp in the colon. The prevalence of polyps increases with age and is generally higher in men than in women.

In average risk people there is 24-30% chance of having a polyp present in the colon even without any complaints. First degree relatives of the patient with colon cancer are at 2 to 3 fold increased risk for development of polyps or cancer. The colo-rectal cancer risk is associated with high intake of animal fat, red meat and total calories, and a low intake of cereal, fruits and fresh vegetables. Detection and removal of precancerous polyps will drastically diminish the cancer attack rate.

The cold you feel right now is how thousands of families feel 24 hours a day.

This year, thousands of men, women and children will be cold due to a financial hardship. For them, the thought of snow only brings doubt and fear. Whether they are physically or mentally disabled, unexpectedly unemployed or the working poor, these people will endure the chill of winter without the protection of a warm home. That is until The Heat And Warmth (THAW) Fund.

THAW is a non-profit organization which helps struggling families in 11 Southeastern Michigan counties keep their heat on. It is the last resort for families who have exhausted all other possible resources. Since 1986, THAW has assisted over 11,000 families, more than half with children. Yet, THAW is not considered a handout, but a helping hand, for less than 10% of the recipients are repeat cases.

Once again, Detroit Edison is supporting THAW's efforts. Every dollar you donate will be matched by Detroit Edison and will go directly to those in need. So, as the nights grow longer, please remember the families who grow colder.

Donations may be made using a VISA or MasterCard by calling 1-800-558-THAW. Or send contributions to: The Heat and Warmth Fund, PO Box 1900, Plymouth MI 48150.

Youth Assistance a big bargain

The Westland City Council did itself, the police department, and hundreds of local parents and youngsters a big favor last week. In what is viewed as a bargain, the council renewed the Youth Assistance Program, which began just over a year ago to curb teen problems and help youths improve their behavior.

The program provides free, confidential counseling for boys and girls ages 7-16 with the help of two professionals directing a crew of volunteer mentors who work with the youngsters every week to improve behavior.

At the same time, parents having problems with their teen sons and daughters can also be helped through a parenting skills program to be held Tuesday night, Feb. 1, at Grant Elementary School, on Hubbard north of Joy.

The Youth Assistance Program has received a "tremendous" response from the community, said city councilwoman Sandra Cicirelli, who was a major leader several years ago in getting the program under way.

Originally budgeted to handle 100 referrals, the program has already served 157 young people in its first year — youths who were referred by the Westland police, school counselors and administrators, and the Wayne County juvenile court.

While it's too early to conclude if the program will have any permanent impact, the initial indications are that it will cut down on juvenile contacts by the police department and court system.

On a day-to-day basis, the program helps youths and their parents to relate to each other on a positive basis without the stress and strain usually associated with the teen years.

But the program isn't protected from the ongoing budget problems faced by the city council and city administration.

City Hall should continue to look at the program not as something which costs a small part of a $30 million budget, but as a cost-saver in reducing the hours spent by local police officers and school employees in dealing with problem youths.

To paraphrase the TV commercial which has an automotive engine repairman discussing the value of regular replacement of air filters: "You pay us now or you pay us later."

We hope that current and future city council members will realize not only the financial value of the program, but also the benefits seen by hundreds of local parents and youths who can see the improved family relationships.

While there shouldn't be any sacred cows in the city budget, the Youth Assistance Program obviously appears to be a real bargain for everyone.

But money isn't the only problem facing the council and the program. Youth Assistance mentors are needed. Interested people who want to undergo the training may call Ronaelé Bowman at 467-7904 during business hours.

School can alter attitudes

They say education is the answer. So why, at Cranbrook-Kingswood — a nationally renowned private school in Bloomfield Hills that prides itself on its college preparatory program in literature, science and the arts — were four black students subjected to snowballs and racial epithets?

Why? Because racism begins at home and the seeds of prejudice are sown long before children go off to school — Cranbrook-Kingswood or elsewhere.

Cranbrook prides itself on being multicultural and ethnically diverse. Racism isn't tolerated, officials say, and the black co-president of the senior class agrees: "(Racism) is probably less prevalent here than anywhere."

But Cranbrook is an insular, secluded community, despite including students from 20 countries, other states and many of our suburban communities, and despite the fact that it has an exemplary, longstanding minority scholarship program — Horizons Upward Bound.

And maybe that is where it is making its mistake. Racism can and does occur everywhere — in the suburbs and in the city. Despite its excellent intentions, Cranbrook is no exception.

Why? Because racism begins at home. In a letter sent to parents Jan. 17, a school official talked of disappointment and "a strong desire to want to have everything return to normal."

Cranbrook officials, as well as parents and students, must ask what normal means to them. We hope it doesn't mean they are willing to tolerate underground hurtful, harmful attitudes for the sake of a false sense of peace.

Racism can and does occur everywhere — in the suburbs and in the city. Despite its excellent intentions, Cranbrook is no exception. Why? Because racism begins at home.

That's why the announced disciplining of students involved in the incident — a week's suspension, probation and counseling — doesn't go far enough.

These students should also perform community service in a situation where they are able to put aside the myths and stereotypes they learned, yes, at home.

In addition, student leaders should now work with administrators to produce the fundamental, even if slow, changes needed in suburban attitudes.

Multicultural commissions have formed in Farmington, Birmingham, Livonia and Southfield.

Cranbrook — unzip your cocoon. Let your students — perhaps led by their existing African-American Awareness Association — work with those commissions.

It is a privilege to attend a school like Cranbrook that has turned out graduates who have contributed to the leadership of this region, and in some cases the wider world.

Students who attend schools like this have a duty to contribute to the betterment of society. And schools like this have a duty to show them how.

Because education is the answer.

School support urged

Is there a reason the Observer continues to give Walter Warren of Westland so much space in the paper to whine and complain about taxes and education?

Having graduated from John Glenn High and Eastern Michigan University, I am now a teacher in the Farmington Public Schools but continue to live in Westland.

As a unionized teacher paying union dues ($600), I and my fellow teachers spend up to three or four hours a night planning lessons and grading papers. I guess this breaks down your perception of us "new, younger" teachers who aren't concerned about the youth of today. Don't lump all of us young teachers as well as the rest of teachers together, stereotyping us. Could this stereotyping you are doing be one of the problems in society today?

I take offense to Warren's continued attacks on teachers and unions. Why not focus on the positives in education? For example, why don't you take your band wagon and encourage legislators to turn over drug funds, seized by law enforcement, to the schools?

The Observer suggested this idea and it seems worthwhile. Use your time more constructively. Encourage community and business partnerships within the community to get behind the schools. Become more "proactive" in your approach to reaching exceptional schools for Wayne-Westland.

Currently, I am in the process of purchasing a new home in Westland and my son will attend P.D. Graham Elementary in a few years. You can bet I will be involved in that school's parent organizations. Isn't education about parental and community involvement? Parents have the right to demand more and should.

Mr. Warren — try teaching 180 seventh and eighth graders a day with one 43-minute planning period. Let's see, calling two parents a day will take me 90 school days. When should I plan, grade papers, tutor students before or after school and attend countless meetings? The union has nothing to do with my abilities as a teacher. I'm tired of your comments about unionized teachers.

Wayne-Westland has many fine educators, as I am proof of their success. Mr. Warren, focus on community partnerships and encourage parents to get involved. Quit bashing teachers and unions!

I suggest you sit down with school administrators to find out about the excellent programs they have. Get behind your superintendent and show him his community is behind him. You're right — students are intelligent, they can tell when their community is not behind them. Mr. Warren, get behind your community and support your schools!

political agenda like no governor in recent history.

What's his secret? Answer — he simply tells the truth about big government in Lansing. Government and politics have become so corrupted by money and special interest pandering that anyone who simply tells the truth about what's going on in government seems like a genius!

In the coming gubernatorial race, Gov. Engler will be able to trounce the Democrats with his common sense approach to the state's problems.

What is so shocking about the idea that you should work hard to support yourself and your family and not expect the state to support you? What is so radical about the concept that people who earn money should be allowed to keep it — and not have to turn most of it over to big government?

These ideas are basic — they are just common sense. Yet they are all thought to be "conservative" Republican ideas by today's standard of thinking.

On the other hand, Michigan's Democrats are in disarray. They are running around like "Keystone Cops" trying to figure out what to do next. Their problem is that they don't think for themselves. They let the special interests like the AFL-CIO and the public sector lobbies like the Michigan Education Association do their thinking for them. Indeed, they often appear to be the "lap dogs" of the tax and spend lobbyists for the public sector unions.

Here is the Democratic problem in a nutshell. When you are trying to defend special interest positions that violate the general public's basic view of common sense — you are already doomed.

Now, the public sector lobbies are telling the Democrats to go out and sing the praises of increasing the state income tax to 6 percent. You and I both know that everyone, including "Joe six-pack," will absolutely hate a 6 percent state income tax. If that tax goes to 6 percent, Engler will be handed a second term as governor on a silver platter — all thanks to Michigan's Democrats!

Gangs all here

How parents can tell if a youth has joined up

The recruitment of new members into gangs is important for the gangs to continue to exist and to expand illegal drug-activities into new and existing selling areas.

Research has shown that the youth, even as young as 10 years old, is most at risk for being recruited.

The most at-risk youths are those who have lower levels of self-esteem and self-concept.

They feel less overall control of their lives and they don't fit easily into existing social systems.

Gangs offer these youths a sense of identity, status, belonging, power and often economic gain.

Youths who become involved with a gang may do so by becoming members. They become fully initiated into the gang by identifying with the gang through all their activities, their hairstyle, use of symbols and their clothing.

A youth may be involved with a gang by being a gang associate: someone who has a very close relationship with a gang but does not completely identify with the gang, for example, by not being involved in all activities, or by not wearing gang colors.

Whether a youth is a gang member or an associate, his or her general behavior will change.

Although there is no totally positive way to predict who will join a gang, there are some general indications that a youth may be headed toward gang involvement. These indicators include:

- Poor progress or achievement in school.
- Truancy from school.
- Lack of hobbies or something to do with leisure time.
- Resentment of authority.

GUEST COLUMNIST

MICHELLE MUALEM

■ Youths who become involved with a gang may do so by becoming members. They become fully initiated into the gang by identifying with the gang through all their activities, their hairstyle, use of symbols and their clothing.

- Frequent negative contact with police.
- Drawing gang symbols.
- Problems at home.
- Putting tattoos on self.
- Feeling like an outcast from school, teachers, peers, society.
- Residing in a neighborhood where gangs exist.
- Wanting to dress in specific colors only.
- Preferring traditional gang attire.
- Having friends who are gang members — seldom alone, often in groups.
- Using gang graffiti on book covers, folders.
- Using hand signals.
- Seeing signs of tobacco, alcohol or drug use.
- Sudden affluence (money, clothing, jewelry).
- Desiring too much privacy.

While the items on the list are characteristic of gang involvement, some youths who are involved with gangs don't exhibit such conspicuous behaviors.

It's important for parents to be aware of the behaviors, activities and friends of their children.

The female role in gangs has traditionally been supportive, such as lookouts, carriers of weapons, drivers, and/or providers of alibis, to name a few. Lately, however, females have been forming their own gangs and committing their own crimes, including violent ones. At present, there are five identified female gangs in lower Michigan.

This is the second in a series of three columns on gangs by Michelle Mualem, a social worker with Northwestern Community Services, a private, non-profit counseling agency which serves local families.

Nuisance suits make unnecessary work for courts

Before the anti-government lobby screams for an across-the-board tax cut, I have five words of advice:

Tell it to the courts. Gov. John Engler boasts he has squeezed $2 billion out of state spending — turning a $1.8 billion deficit into a $300 million surplus. He pared or hacked at natural resources, commerce, labor, the ombudsman, social services, state police, regulators of professions

Everything but the courts. We're getting more judges this year on the Court of Appeals, allegedly the most overworked body of its type in the republic.

Consider three true stories: Ray and Chris set fire one night to a neighbor's barn. There was evidence they intended to rescue the horses inside to look like heroes, but numerous horses were destroyed. Ray's parents sued Auto-Owners and Chris' parents sued Pioneer State Mutual, their respective homeowners' insurers, for defense costs. You and I might laugh the case out of court, but not the lawyers.

The policies had similar language that excludes liability for injury or damage "expected or intended" by the insured. The lawyers hassled over whether the boys expected to hurt any livestock inside the barn.

Tuscola Circuit Judge Patrick Reed Joslyn and appellate Judges John Shepherd, Gary McDonald and Janet Neff all arrived at "the only reasonable conclusion . . . both also must have expected that whatever was inside of the barn would be burned."

The courts ruled in favor of the insurance companies.

The losers are the taxpayers who pay for the courts. (Mallak v. Auto-Owners, CA 141596 and 142824 decided in October 1993).

Inez drove her pickup truck to a coin-operated self-serve car wash in Harrison. Walking to the change machine for coins, she slipped and fell on a patch of ice and was injured.

ing out of "ownership, operation, maintenance or use of a motor vehicle" (italics added).

Clare Circuit Judge Kurt Hansen and appellate Judges John Shepherd and Donald Holbrook Jr. agreed the term "maintenance" was to be liberally construed and that Inez was entitled to no-fault personal injury benefits because she was injured while attempting to wash her vehicle. (Gendron v. State Farm, CA 152060, decided October 1993)

Joe pleaded guilty to a drug delivery charge. For pleading guilty, he got a year in jail, five years on probation and an order to pay restitution of $20 which the undercover cop spent on Joe's drugs. Get that: The guy pleaded guilty.

So Joe appeals with the argument that "government does not qualify as a victim to whom restitution may be ordered to be paid" under the Crime Victims Rights Act.

Appellate Judges Janet Neff, Gary McDonald and William Murphy upheld Berrien Circuit Judge Casper

Grathwohl's order of restitution, saying he "had broad discretion in imposing appropriate conditions (of probation) under the particular circumstances of this case." (People v. Thompson, CA 151815, decided October 1993)

Losers: state taxpayers who have to pay the appellate judges and Berrien County taxpayers, whose prosecutor had to research and submit a 35-page brief.

These cases drive home the otherwise humdrum press release of the Professional Insurance Agents of Michigan. "Legal expenses are driving up the cost of auto insurance" and, I would add, homeowners insurance and appellate costs for prosecutors.

Even with reforms (cuts) in the auto insurance law due to take effect in April, I doubt we'll see a dent in the taxpayers' court costs.

Anxious legislators muddle state diploma requirements

This year's MEAP test scores are causing a big stir.

Why? This time around, they count for something.

Starting with the class of 1994, students must achieve specific levels on the Michigan Educational Assessment Program test in order to receive a state-endorsed diploma when they leave high school. Up to now, the only specific content that could be validated by a graduation certificate was that a student was docile enough to have stuck it out in school for 12 years.

But beginning this year, employers can distinguish between ordinary (meaningless) diplomas and state-endorsed ones. Originally, to qualify for a state-endorsed diploma, students had to score at least 60 on the math test, at least 300 on one of two passages in the reading test, and at least reach 16 specific objectives on the 11th grade science test.

That seems tough, but fair enough, if one takes into consideration that the law offers kids multiple chances to pass the test and requires their teachers to identify deficiencies and offer additional help.

But our legislative leaders, ever anxious not to offend, have watered down even those minimal standards in a little-noticed law signed by Gov. John Engler in September.

Graduates in 1994, 1995 and 1996 who are unable to meet state requirements on all three test subjects will receive, instead of a state sticker on the diploma, one ribbon for each area of achievement. So if a student fails the MEAP standard in math but passes in reading and science, the graduate gets two ribbons attached to the state medallion sticker. Under the previous rules, the same student would not have received any diploma endorsement from the state.

Of course, our masters in Lansing can't even water down education standards without causing bureaucratic confusion.

Schools now must keep lists of each student's accomplishments in each area tested by MEAP to order the stickers and ribbons from the company selected by the state to supply such things.

PHILIP POWER

■ Of course, our masters in Lansing can't even water down education standards without causing bureaucratic confusion.

And after 1997, the basis for the diploma endorsements will not be the MEAP (which has been around since 1970) but an entirely new test now being developed by the state Department of Education. Instead of all multiple-choice questions, the test will involve questions requiring written responses.

So the graduates of 1997 can look forward to showing prospective employers their diplomas, complete with one state endorsement medallion and up to four — count 'em, four — ribbons, one each for math, science, reading and writing.

I suppose now the big question being debated in Lansing is how to make the sticker and the ribbons so they can't be counterfeited. But these days, even that counts as progress.

Boosters eye ways to expand funding for state parks

STAFF WRITER

Politically, fans of the state parks have their team together.

Financially, they have yet to map out how to build a $700 million endowment fund that will free state parks from depending on the legislative budget process.

"I am heartened that our Legislature is providing the necessary leadership in this state parks initiative," Joey M. Spano, a member of the state Natural Resources Commission, said at a State Capitol news conference recently.

Spano, the West Bloomfield Township parks and recreation director, has been on the NRC for two years as an appointee of Gov. John Engler.

2 groups push it

Michigan United Conservation Clubs started the push in January 1993 for better financial underpinning for the 100 state parks.

MUCC's plan: a penny hike in the sales tax for one year to set up an endowment fund whose interest earnings would replace tax money from the general fund.

Spano said MUCC and Michigan Recreation and Parks Association, of which she is a member, "raised awareness of the fact that our state parks were deteriorating. But we were not going to be able to do this on our own."

MUCC's plan would have produced $15 million a year in interest revenue, more than double the general fund support of state parks.

MUCC's idea was shoyed aside in Engler's and the Legislature's preoccupation with school funding and property taxes. With the Dec. 24 agreement on school taxes, lawmakers are free to take on — and take over — the parks initiative.

It's a crucial year because 1994 is the 75th anniversary of the founding of the State Parks Commission. It is also an election year. MUCC has been harshly critical of Engler on parks funding and reorganization of the Natural Resources Commission.

Plan unveiled

Lawmakers unveiled a 12-part legislative package to improve state parks.

The key measure is taking $40 million from sale of the Accident Fund, a state-owned workers compensation insurance business for 80 years. Engler won a bruising battle last year to sell it. His 1995 budget message in December proposed that $40 million would be the first step toward the $700 million endowment fund. House Bill 5064, sponsored by Alley, would do that.

Next would be a constitutional amendment to stop a $20 million "diversion" of Michigan Land Trust revenues into the Michigan Strategic Fund. Voters approved the land trust in the 1980s, sending revenues from oil and gas leases on state land.

Former Gov. James Blanchard budgeted part of the land trust money for water pollution projects under the strategic fund, his pet economic development plan. Senate Joint Resolution E, sponsored by Paul Wartner, R-Portage, would end that "diversion."

If approved by voters next November, SJR E would send $10 million back to the land trust, ppt $5 million into the endowment fund and send $5 million into the parks budget for repairs and infrastructure improvements.

Speakers at the news conference were unclear how the endowment goal of $700 million would be reached after the first $45 million shot.

Other bills would:

- Create a State Parks Foundation for parks projects (SB 952 — Ehlers). It would be similar to college foundations and the Oakland Parks Foundation.

- Allow income taxpayers to use part of their refunds to buy annual state park vehicle entry permits (SB 951 — Ehlers).

- Start an adopt a park program in which businesses and civic groups could volunteer to work on projects at parks they select (no bill number yet). It would be similar to the Transportation Department's adopt a highway program.
- Provide liability protection for volunteers (no number yet).

Deterioration

A handful of libertarians say state parks should be funded only by user fees or sold off.

Alley stated the prevailing view in Lansing — state parks have been financially and physically neglected.

Nevertheless, parks attendance has been on an up trend from 20 million to 25 million over the past 18 years, with some variation due to weather.

Examples of deterioration:

- Park staffing is down from 700 in 1975 to a bit more than 500 currently. Some managers have been assigned two or more parks.

- The Legislature has increased user fees faster than inflation. Daily vehicle permits have gone from $2 in 1980 to $3.50 last year and $4 this year. Annual permits have gone from $7 to $18. Camping permits have gone from $2 to $6 a night to $6 to $14.

- Last year, DNR officially shut down 23 state forest (rustic) campgrounds, many of which had been unused because they were so weed grown. The campgrounds had contaminated wells or needed new outhouses, access roads, bridges or camper pads.

Goins propels Glenn, 66-56

Westland John Glenn survived a scare and remained tied for first place with Plymouth Salem in the Western Lakes Activities Association basketball race after downing stubborn Plymouth Canton, 66-56.

BY NEAL ZIPPER
STAFF WRITER

Tony Goins scored eight of Westland John Glenn's final 12 points Tuesday, lifting the host Rockets to a 66-56 boys basketball win.

Goins' outburst in the final three minutes broke open a close game and helped Glenn stay tied with Plymouth Salem atop the Western Lakes Activities Association with a 4-0 record.

The Rockets are 8-1 overall. Goins, a 6-foot-4 senior forward, spent most of the night concentrating on shutting down Canton forward Matt Paupore. His offense suffered as a result, but came alive in the game's deciding moments.

"I knew my game would eventually come around," he said. "Coach (Mike Schuette) wanted me to keep Paupore down and that's what I planned to do."

He held Paupore to 12 points — nine under his average — as Paupore made five of his 15 shots. Goins finished with a game-high 20 points, nine rebounds and five blocked shots. The Chiefs (5-5 overall and 2-2 in the WLA) weren't pushovers, however, as they rallied from an 11-point, second-quarter deficit to take the lead in the third quarter.

Trailing 32-25 entering the third, Canton opened the half on a 10-2 tear and took a 37-34 advantage behind consecutive baskets from Ron Hunter. The sophomore finished with a team-high 16 points off the bench.

"We wanted to come out in the third and pick up our defense and take better shots," said senior guard Ted Docks, who finished with 15 points and had four steals in the third.

The key to the turn of events was Canton's swarming full-court pressure, which resulted in seven Glenn turnovers.

"I don't think there was much difference in the way we were playing in the third as much as Canton coming out and forcing us into mistakes," Glenn coach Mike Schuette said. "I knew they would be tough and scrappy and they were hustling everywhere. They also started doing a good job boxing out and doing a better job on the boards."

Leading 40-37 with 42 seconds remaining in the third, the Chiefs got sloppy and committed three consecutive turnovers which allowed the Rockets to tie the game at 40.

But Glenn took control early in the fourth and went ahead 52-46 after tips by Guy Rucker and Savon Hubbard. Two short jumpers, however, by Hunter closed the margin to 52-50.

The lead was extended to four after two Tariq Horne free throws. The Rockets converted eight of 10 free throws in the fourth and 15 of 24 for the game.

Warriors smash C'ville, 75-55

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Lutheran High Westland's John Smolka came out smoking Tuesday, leaving host Livonia Clarenceville smoldering in ruins, 75-55.

Smolka, a 6-foot-1 junior forward, provided the spark, scoring a team-high 24 points as the Warriors captured their third-straight Metro Conference boys basketball game.

It was also Lutheran High's first win ever over the Trojans.

Senior guard Jim Hoeft added 20 points for the victors, all in the second half, as the Warriors improved to 4-5 overall and 3-1 in the Metro.

Chris Tiernan chipped with 11 points.

"We hope this can continue," an elated Lutheran High coach Scott Wiemer said. "It's taken awhile, but maybe finally we're starting to reap some benefits of all the work we've put in."

Smolka, an effective stand-still jumper shooter, hit nine of 20 shots from the floor, including a pair of threes.

But his performance was even more remarkable because he was doubtful prior to the game. He suffered a contusion on his arm after taking a charge in Saturday's win over Detroit Lutheran West.

"His right arm was pretty swollen and it was X-rayed for possible bone chips, but he was OK," Wiemer said. "His strong suit all year has been rebounding. He's been averaging about 10 rebounds a game. He's only 6-foot-2, but he's deceptive because he's got long arms. Tonight he just played a great all-around game."

Clarenceville's top two sharpshooters, cousins Mark and John Kalaj combined for 40 of the Trojans' 55 points.

Mark, who finished with a game-high 25, was nine of 21 from the floor. John added 15 on six of 18 shooting.

"We didn't want them to score off the fast-break," Wiemer said. "We wanted to make sure they put the ball on the floor before they shot the three. Our rotation defense worked pretty well. We changed up in the fourth quarter and used a triangle-and-two."

The Trojans managed to stay close for almost three quarters before falling apart.

Thanks to five first-half blocks by 6-6 junior center Mark Berry, Clarenceville was only down 26-20 at intermission.

But 26 turnovers on the night led to the Trojans' undoing.

"We don't really have a point-guard and ball-handling at guard has been a problem all year," Clarenceville coach Rob White said. "In the first half we played good man-to-man defense, but the second half we were just terrible. We didn't run our press very well. And we stopped forcing the ball to the corner and we stopped pushing them to the baseline. We let them go right down the middle of the floor."

Leading 42-34 after three quarters, Lutheran Westland went on a 19-4 run to open the fourth period. The Warriors held a commanding 61-38 advantage as Hoeft tallied 10 of his 20 during the outburst.

"Jimmy was on the JV last year, but he's grown about three inches," Wiemer said. "He's done a good job all year off the bench for us. He's been averaging in double figures. We really use all 10 guys because that's all we have."

The game's final three minutes dragged out, degenerating into a foul-shooting contest. The Warriors sewed up the victory by hitting 12 straight from the line to end the game.

"We moved the ball well, especially against their three-quarter court pressure," Wiemer said. "It bothered us the first couple of times down the floor, but then we adjusted."

"We moved the ball really well and executed our man-to-man offense. The kids played well."

Shamrocks rip Southgate Anderson

The Redford Catholic Central hockey team heads into the tough part of its schedule on a high note, whipping Southgate Anderson, 10-0, on Saturday at Redford Ice Arena.

The Shamrocks, who host Trenton on Saturday and play No. 1 ranked Birmingham Brother Rice on Wednesday, improved to 10-0-1 overall.

"It was the best game we played all year," CC coach Gordie St. John said. "The kids really came to play."

HOCKEY

Junior forward Jeff Helner continued his strong play, scoring four goals with one assist.

"He's on a heck of a spurt and I hope he can keep it going the next couple weeks," St. John said.

Greg Vaquera added two goals and two assists. Jon Heady had a goal and four assists and Jason Couture, Chris Gonzalez and Jeff Lachapelle had one goal and one assist each.

CHURCHILL 3, BIRMINGHAM 1: Senior defenseman Steve Grom scored two goals and an assist Saturday, leading Livonia Churchill past Birmingham at Cranbrook Ice Arena.

The Chargers, who broke a 1-1 tie with two goals in the third period, improved to 6-4 overall and stayed in contention for first place in the Suburban Prep Hockey League standings at 6-2. Birmingham is 6-6 overall.

BASKETBALL

Livonia Franklin had its chances Tuesday, but host Plymouth Salem escaped with a 66-61 Western Lakes Activities Association boys basketball victory.

The victorious Rocks, 8-1 overall, remained deadlocked with Westland John Glenn for first place in the WLAA.

Both teams have 4-0 records. Pesky Franklin fell to 4-4 overall and 2-2 in the WLAA.

The Patriots led 22-20 after one quarter, but Salem pulled ahead 38-30 at halftime. The Rocks maintained their eight-point advantage heading into the fourth when Franklin made a late run.

Pulling within one with just under a minute left, Franklin fell short after missing an uncontested layup and turning the ball over on its next possession.

James Head, the 6-foot-7 senior headed for the University of Iowa, led Salem with 26 points, nine coming in the final quarter. Adam Hammons added 11.

"We didn't have anybody who could match up with Head, but the kids played hard," Franklin coach Larry Jackson said.

Jason Maschke, a 6-3 senior, led Franklin with 14 points and 10 rebounds. Mark Baluk also contributed 14 points, while Paul Kruschka and Greg Maple chipped in with 13 and 10 respectively. Freshman center Matt Bauman had a career-high 10 rebounds.

CHURCHILL 62, N. FARMINGTON 59: Bill Morris poured in 18 points Tuesday, propelling Livonia Churchill to its third-straight win Tuesday at North Farmington.

Both teams are 4-6 overall and 2-2 in the WLAA.

Tim Wrublewski contributed 14 points for the victorious Chargers. Jeff Anderson added eight, while guard Ethan Jerome had eight points and eight rebounds.

A 17-11 run in the third period clinched the win for Churchill.

"It's the best game we've played all year," Churchill coach Tom Lang said. "We shared the ball and everybody made nice offensive plays."

The Chargers shot just under 50 percent from the floor (24 of 49) and won despite being out-rebounded 38-26.

Four North players scored in double figures: Scott Lord (18), Doug Dolak (14), Jon Penala (10) and Evan Ellis (10).

MONROE 73, WAYNE 55: Guards Mitch Sweet and Don Marcero scored 22 and 21 points, respectively, carrying the host Trojans (8-3, 4-1) to the Mega Conference (Red Division) win Tuesday over Wayne Memorial (7-4, 3-2).

Forward Adam Lindsay contributed 12 points for the Trojans, who outscored Wayne 43-25 in the second half after a 30-all halftime deadlock.

Monroe made 20 of 24 free throws (83.3 percent) compared with Wayne's six of 15 (40 percent).

Freshman Lorenzo Guess led the Zebras, who dropped their third straight, with 14 points. Jamesel Wooden chipped in with 12.

HARRISON 64, STEVENSON 59: Five players scored in double figures Tuesday as Farmington Harrison won a WLAA encounter at Livonia Stevenson.

Aaron Weiss tallied 17 for the Hawks, now 5-5 overall and 1-3 in the WLAA. Other contributions came from Calvin Pruitt (16 points and 21 rebounds), Kevin Bambenek (11), Rick Smith (11) and Charles Bambenek (10 all in the second half).

Senior Brad Morgan scored 14 to pace the Spartans, who slipped to 1-8 overall and 1-3 in the WLAA. Senior center Chris Chichila added 12.

REDFORD CC 66, DELASALLE 51: Mike Ridley, a junior transfer from Millford, scored 18 points Tuesday, propelling Redford Catholic Central (8-3, 4-1) to the Catholic League Central Division victory over visiting Warren DeLaSalle (5-5, 2-3).

Three other Shamrocks scored in double figures including sophomore guard Justin Hoener, senior forward Sean Gallagher and senior center Joe Gallagher — 10 each.

CC hit 26 of 30 free throws (86.6 percent). Mark Kampa scored 15 for the Pilots.

LUTN. WESTLAND 65, LUTHERAN WEST 52: Chris Tieran pumped in 19 points Saturday,

First, he tipped in a missed shot, then scored on a breakaway slam. The senior forward then stole a Canton pass and fed Hubbard, who scored on an uncontested layup to give Glenn a 60-52 lead with 2:02 remaining.

Goins added a basket in between two Paupore driving layups and later finished the scoring on a monster slam.

Rucker added 15 points and 13 rebounds for Glenn who also got 12 points from Hubbard and 11 from Brent Washington.

leading Lutheran High Westland (3-5, 2-1) to the Metro Conference win over visiting Detroit Lutheran West (1-7, 0-4).

Jim Host and John Smolka each contributed 12 for the victors, who hit 22 of 30 free throws (73.3 percent).

Chatham Brazill netted 13 for the Leopards. ROEPER 80, HURON VALLEY 37: Junior guard Hassan Jihad finished with 18 points, eight steals and eight assists Tuesday, leading Bloomfield Hills Roeper (10-1, 4-0) to the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference win over visiting Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (0-10, 0-4).

Senior guard Eric Ruth scored eight in a losing cause.

All 11 Roeper players scored.

Borgess picks up key victory at Rice

By MIKE ROSENBAUM STAFF WRITER

Redford Bishop Borgess relied on 6-foot-6 Perry Robinson and 6-3 Charles Smith for much of its scoring in Tuesday's game against a smaller Birmingham Brother Rice squad.

But it was a pair of guards, Wendell Green and Jerome Ross, who made the key plays in the final two minutes to secure the Spartans' 60-57 victory.

After the host Warriors took their only lead of the game, 53-52, Green and Ross scored Borgess' final eight points.

"Green really took charge and did a good job" down the stretch, said Spartans' coach Glen Donahue. "And Ross, our sophomore guard, did a good job."

Rice was close all the way, never trailing by more than seven points, but couldn't get over the hump until Derek Canine drove the lane and scored with 2:12 left. But the game turned on the next four possessions.

After Canine's basket, Green came right back with a nearly-identical layup to put Borgess back on top. After the Warriors lost the ball on a traveling call, Ross broke out of a four-corner spread for a driving layup and a 56-53 margin with 59 seconds remaining. Rice missed a three-pointer, then Ross and Green closed the game by hitting four straight free throws.

"We could've won the game," said Rice coach Frank Carrico. "We just didn't make some plays down the stretch that would have enabled us to win the game."

The Spartans improved to 6-4 overall, 4-1 in the Catholic League's Central Division. The Warriors are 5-5, 1-4.

Both coaches complimented their opponents for playing hard. Although the phrase is often a coaches' cliché, it applied to this contest. The teams went toe-to-toe from the opening tip. Both squads played physical games featuring aggressive, man-to-man defense.

Donahue said Rice "played better against us than they played against Flint Central. And they beat Flint Central. They had good ball movement. They didn't have a great shooting night tonight but they played very, very hard."

Carrico similarly praised Borgess, adding "their athletic ability is certainly a factor."

The Spartans grabbed a 10-3 lead in the first five minutes as Rice's shooters were cold early. The Warriors warmed up and pulled within 16-12 after one quarter.

Robinson took charge in the second quarter, scoring nine points to help the Spartans take a 31-28 lead into halftime.

One Warrior whose shooting wasn't cold was Brian Kalczynski, who scored 14 points in the first half. But Kalczynski got into foul trouble early in the third quarter and added just two points in the second half. Robinson also suffered from foul problems, but still managed six points in the third quarter as Borgess maintained its lead, 42-38.

Led by Canine's eight points, Rice rallied in the fourth quarter, tying the score at 44, then taking the lead before Borgess' guards took charge.

Rice has lost several close league games, a factor which Carrico called "extremely frustrating for the players and for me. In spite of the frustration (the players) have continued to be very positive. They come back every day at practice and try to be a little better."

Borgess, meanwhile, is "starting to gel as a team," Donahue said. "We're getting better each game."

Robinson led the Spartans with 15 points. Smith scored 13, Green 10, Richard Paige had 9 and Ross added 8.

For Rice, Kalczynski scored 16 points, Canine 12 and Rob Chrysler 7.

Rockets struggle but win handily

Westland John Glenn posted its lowest score of the year, but it was more than enough to gain a 121.75-107.75 girls gymnastics victory Monday at Wayne Memorial.

The Rockets improved to 4-0 under second-year coach Debbie Tomasko.

"We're going to expect some wonderful things from this team this year," said Tomasko, a 1987 grad and former Glenn gymnast. "We're shooting for state this year. Last year we had to fight to get 120 because it was a building year."

Glenn swept the vault event led by sophomore Shelley Underwood, who posted a score of 8.3. Sophomore Sarah Coombs (8.1), junior Elizabeth Swanguarin (7.85) and junior Tamara Wright

(7.75) took the next three spots.

The Rockets took the first three places in uneven parallel bars led by junior Kristen Nicholls (8.05), freshman Katie Boogren (7.75) and freshman Missy Parr (7.6). Wayne's Tiffany Morningstar was fourth at 7.0.

In the balance beam, Glenn took places one through four led by junior Lori Patalocco (7.65), freshman Tracy Wright (7.55), Coombs (7.45) and Boogren (7.15).

Underwood captured the floor exercise with a score of 8.65. Glenn also garnered the next three spots — Parr (7.9), Windy Coughanour (7.7) and Joanne Beach (7.4).

Avery entertains lefties

STEVE KOWALSKI

Saturday's baseball clinic at Taylor Truman High School, sponsored by the Concealed Security Connie Mack summer baseball team, was a worthwhile experience for youngsters.

Especially for those that are left-handed.

Atlanta Braves' star left-handed pitcher Steve Avery, the featured speaker, invited all the left-handers to join him on the basketball court so he could show off a new pick-off move.

Redford Catholic Central pitcher Dave Sussalla is a true lefty, but I wonder if any of the others faked being left-handed, just to get a closer look at their idol?

Avery, who graduated from Taylor Kennedy in 1988, spent about 45 minutes answering questions from kids in the crowd.

Avery is a rising star with the Braves, recording an 18-10 record with a 2.94 earned run average last year. At $560,000 per year, he's also been a real bargain. An arbitrator will rule this winter whether Avery makes $2.1 million or $2.8 million this year.

Whenever someone asks me if I saw Avery pitch in high school, I tell them about his awesome swing.

Avery still holds the career home run record at Kennedy and his senior year he hit two three-run homers to beat CC and Westland John Glenn in the Class A regional at Plymouth Salem.

Scouts started watching Avery his junior year. As a senior, Avery once had 43 scouts at one of his games, pointing a radar gun at his every pitch.

"When I see them, I usually think I'm speeding," he said.

Avery, who would have played at Stanford had he not signed a professional contract out of high school, talked about the importance of education and answered questions about pitching and even one about Michael Jordan.

About speed: "To me, speed is one of the most overrated things because I throw hard, but guys who throw harder haven't made it to the major leagues. The best pitch is the change-up."

About the curve: "Imagine yourself throwing a karate chop. Get your fingers over the ball and throw it straight down."

On Jordan, the retired basketball star who is thinking about playing professional baseball.

Gable top finisher in giant slalom tilt

Farmington Hills Mercy junior Niki Gable led the Marlins to a second-place finish Tuesday in a giant slalom ski meet at Mount Brighton.

Gable, who has finished first in every meet this year, posted a combined two-run time of 33:52. Teammate Jen Werner was 10th (39:25), Erica Healy 14th (40:46) and Ginny Harte 21st (43:02).

Birmingham Seaholm won the eight-team meet, and Okemos was third behind the Marlins.

SKIING

Redford Catholic Central was fourth in the boys competition. Brighton was first, Okemos second and Birmingham Groves third.

CC's Mark Klencza placed seventh (35:23), Nick Muccimo 13th (35:57), Todd Turowski 18th (36:47) and Matt Connolly 19th (36:52).

The next event is a slalom meet today at Mount Brighton.

Concerts offer notable introduction to classics

This is a good weekend to introduce your children to the classics. Area symphonies — Livonia, Plymouth and Detroit — are hosting concerts with children in mind. The Farmington Area Philharmonic, also known as Group du Jour, and Rochester Symphony Orchestra are busy rehearsing for their family-oriented concerts on Feb. 6.

The Livonia Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of assistant conductor Karl Karoub begins its chamber concert series 8 p.m. Friday, Jan. 28, and the children's concert series 2 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 29, at the Livonia Civic Center Library Auditorium, 32777 Five Mile Road, east of Farmington Road. Tickets are $12 adults, seniors 62 and older, $8; students 12 and older, $6; and children under 12, $3. Call 421-1111 or 464-2741.

"At the children's concert we introduce the different instruments, and explain how to listen to music," said Karoub. "We show children how to appreciate all kinds of music to broaden their horizons."

Young Artist Competition winners will be featured in concerts to be presented by the Plymouth and Rochester symphonies.

Violinist Christian Hebel, 18 of Plymouth, the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's second place Youth Artist Competition winner, will perform at two concerts — 8 p.m. Friday, Jan. 28 at Novi Civic Center, 45175 10 Mile Road, west of Farmington Road, and 8 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 29, at First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, 701 W. Church Street. Tickets are $6 adults, $5 seniors, and $3 students in K-12. Call 451-2112.

The Detroit Symphony will present a live production of the award-winning HBO special and Classic Kid's recording "Beethoven Lives Upstairs" 11:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 29 at Orchestra Hall in Detroit. The production is a combination of music, history and dramatic storytelling using two actors whose anecdotes and observations are based on true incidents from Beethoven's life. More than 25 examples of Beethoven's music will be featured. Tickets range from $7 to $21. Call 833-3700 or Ticketmaster, 645-6666. The next concert in the series "Cinderella" will be on April 30.

The Rochester Symphony Orchestra family concert 2 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 6 at Varner Hall on the campus of Oakland University in Rochester, has

What to watch for in Entertainment next week:

- Find out what's new at the movies.
- Village Players of Birmingham present "The Music Man."

Classic comedy has timeless appeal

"Our American Cousin" is unforgettable because of its hilarious script, and the fatal shooting that occurred at a performance in 1865.

British and American customs clash with comic results in "Our American Cousin," the 19th century classic that opens Friday, Jan. 28, at Henry Ford Museum Theatre in Dearborn.

A favorite among theatrical audiences for more than a century, this 1858 comedy by Tom Taylor was the first professional play performed at Henry Ford Museum Theatre in 1964. Its last revival by the Greenfield Village Theatre Company was in 1983.

The cast of the current production includes Dan C. Bar of Plymouth and Stephanie Nicols of Troy. Elaine Kaiser of Livonia is assistant producer, and costumer is Bernadine Vida of Redford Township.

In "Our American Cousin," the title "cousin" is Asa Trenchard, an American backwoodsman whose character and colorful speech were inspired by Davy Crockett. As heir to a family fortune, Asa travels to England to meet his very proper but eccentric relatives.

ON STAGE

"Our American Cousin"

*Theater: Henry Ford Museum Theatre, inside Henry Ford Museum at Oakwood Boulevard and Village Road in Dearborn, west of the Southfield Freeway, south of Michigan Ave.

*Curtain time: 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays, Jan. 28 through March 5; 4:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 13.

*Tickets: $9 for theater only, $27 for dinner/theater. Call (313) 271-1620 ask for the Reservation Center.

PREVIEW

The British Trenchards welcome their rustic relation with mixed emotions. They are overwhelmed by his manners, clothes and way with words, but eager to win his good will because of the inheritance.

Among the historic fans of Asa Trenchard was President Abraham Lincoln, who was watching the play at Ford's Theatre on April 14, 1865, when he was shot by John Wilkes Booth.

But long before its link with the assassination, "Our American Cousin" was significant for being the first major American play produced

HENRY FORD MUSEUM

Classic comedy: "Our American Cousin" returns to the stage at Henry Ford Museum Theatre beginning Jan. 28. Director Henry Bennett as "cousin" Asa Trenchard and Mar Riehl in a scene from the play by a woman — actress and theatrical manager Laura Keane. She also starred in the production.

The Ford's Theatre production, which starred Keane, had opened on April 3. Lincoln and his wife had received invitations to attend two different plays that evening, but decided to accept theater owner John Ford's offer to view the actress' closing show.

Stagehands created a special box for the presidential party. The president had not arrived at the theater at curtain time, but the show proceeded. When Lincoln's party arrived at 8:30 p.m., the action on stage paused while the audience greeted the president and the orchestra played "Hail to the Chief."

The play was nearly finished when Booth, a well-known actor, slipped into the presidential box and fired the fatal shot. The next offering at Henry Ford Museum Theatre will be "Purlie Victorious," a 1961 comedy by Ossie Davis. Performances are March 25 to April 30.

Families get into the act for 'Music Man'

Living in harmony is not just an act for two local families who have provided six of the cast members in Village Players of Birmingham's production of "The Music Man," which opens Jan. 28.

Patrick Lynch, who plays Prof. Harold Hill, is joined by his daughter Caitlin, 13, who plays Pick-a-Little Lady, and his son, Patrick Jr., 10, who plays a Boy's Band member.

Celia Keenan-Bolger, 16, is playing Zaneeta, while her sister Maggie, 10, plays Amaryllis, and brother, Andrew, 8, plays Wintrop.

A veteran Village Player, Patrick Lynch is combining two of his great loves — family and music for a great personal experience.

"I was so thrilled when Village Players decided to do this show," he said. "I've had this role before, but neither of the children where the right age to play a part. This is something I'll treasure probably more than the children will."

Celia Keenan-Bolger is "the leader" for her younger sister and brother. "It's fun acting together," Andrew said. "We get along well, but sometimes we argue about who gets the parts."

The three Keenan-Bolgers have performed together before in "Peter Pan," "The Wizard of Oz" and "Sunny Side Up." They are members of the Screen Actors Guild as a result of acting in commercials.

Another cast member, Diedrich Steljes, 13, performed on Broadway for eight months in "The Secret Garden," as Collin. "It was a tough show to do because there were eight shows per week, and I had to go to school, too," Diedrich recalled. He is also a member of the Screen Actors Guild and is performing through the courtesy of the Actor's Equity Association.

"The children in this show have been remarkably well behaved," Patrick Lynch said. "They know their lines and their music, and they've known for a long time. These are very bright kids. I'm sure they do very well in school."

ON STAGE

"The Music Man"

*Theater: The Village Players of Birmingham, 752 Chestnut Street, corner of Hunter Boulevard, south of Maple.

By the time February rolls around, most of us are sick of winter. It's nice to escape to Florida or the Caribbean, but if time and finances don't allow it, you can get away, at least for the evening, by attending a special dinner, or picking one up. Here are some suggestions.

Morton's of Chicago, The Steakhouse, in Southfield's Oakland Towne Square Building, just off Northwestern Highway between Civic Center and Lahser, presents an evening of wine and a five course dinner featuring Jeffrey Friedman of Caymus Winery in California's Napa Valley, 7 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 3. The cost is $70 per person (all inclusive). Seating is limited, call (810) 354-6006 by Jan. 28, a deposit is required.

New Year, 5 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 6; 6 p.m. Monday, Feb. 7 through Thursday, Feb. 10. Call 473-3939 for information, reservations.

Music series features Classical Bells

Nardin Park United Methodist Church in Farmington Hills is featuring the acclaimed Classical Bells at its Music Series 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 6.

There is no admission charge nor offering. A reception will follow the program in the church's Fellowship Hall. Nardin Park is at 29887 W. 11 Mile, just west of Middlebelt.

Composed of handbell directors and accomplished ringers from the Detroit metropolitan area, Classical Bells has entertained since 1983.

Ringling more than 65 English, handbells, the equivalent of a five-and-a-half octave keyboard, plus four octaves of choir chimes, this self-directed ensemble presents all types of music.

Classical Bells has been featured in the Detroit Aglow program at the Fox Theater, "Brunch with the Classics" at the Som-er set Collection in Troy and appeared as part of the Lyric Chamber Ensemble's annual Christmas concert.

The group's recordings have been heard over WQRS, and the choir recently appeared in the series Global Connection, broadcast by WTVS-TV, channel 56.

Youth symphony presents concert

The sounds of the Metropolitan Youth Symphony will fill historic Orchestra Hall in Detroit with both classical and contemporary sounds 4:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 13. Divided into three levels of accomplishment, MYS numbers nearly 300 students, grades 5-12, representing 45 metropolitan Detroit communities.

Concert tickets will be available at the Orchestra Hall Box Office, 3711 Woodward, Detroit. Tickets are $16 for box seats and dress circle, $11 and $9 for Main Floor and Balcony.

At the podium of the award-winning MYS Symphony Orchestra will be Alan McNair, concertmaster and assistant conductor of the Rochester Symphony Orchestra and orchestra director of the Troy High School Orchestra. McNair will lead the symphony orchestra in a performance of Rimsky-Korsakov's well-known and loved "Scheherazade Suite."

Conducting the MYS Concert Orchestra will be Richard Piippo. An avid promoter and performer of chamber music, Piippo also serves as artistic director and conductor of the Dearborn Summer Music Festival and adjunct cellist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

In a departure from the usual, the concert orchestra will perform a contemporary composition by John Downey, composer-in-residence at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

Entitled "Declamations," the work was first performed in 1985 in New York. Not only will the students play the work, they will have the rare opportunity of working with the composer in two rehearsals.

Downey will also attend the Feb. 13 concert.

Arrangements have been made for another major Rimsky-Korsakov work: The "Russian Easter Overture" will be performed by the MYS String Orchestra, conducted by Jacqueline Coleman.

Coleman is department head and director of the middle school music program at Detroit Country Day School.

Theater searching for young talent

Marquis Theatre will present a "Talent Search" 1-8 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 12, at the theater, 135 E. Main, Northville.

They are looking for children ages 6 to 16 who can act, sing and dance. To make a reservation, and for more information, call (313) 349-8110 to request an application for entry — no later than noon Feb. 10.

Each participant will be asked to make a three-minute presentation. An accompanist will be provided.

"Talent Search" will be videotaped, and the information will be shared with other professional theaters and talent agencies.

The event is open to the public. Tickets are $4 per person.

Tale of love weaves mystery, intrigue, revenge

As a young brash agent fresh out of law school in 1952, FBI agent Kevin Walker (Matt Dillon) along with his partner Ron Pirelli (Bruno Kirby), is assigned to Chinatown to ferret out suspected subversives during the height of America's communist witchhunt. At Broadway Nathan's, a local hangout, Walker meets Cynthia (Teri Polo), a tall striking blond, who poses a simple question to the young agent — does he believe in law or justice? This question resonates throughout the rest of his life in "Golden Gate," opening Friday at metro Detroit movie theaters.

The agents ensnare a local laundryman Chen Jung Song (Zi Ma), who has organized an innocent campaign to forward money to the community's impoverished families in "Red" China. Walker frames Song, who is prosecuted and sentenced to 10 years in prison.

Upon his release from prison, Song is once again investigated, now with reservation, by Agent Walker, which forces the already broken man over the edge. Song invokes a curse on Walker — that he "become a Chinaman," and inherit all the pain and suffering his naive actions have inflicted.

Song's daughter Marilyn (Joan Chen), a child during her father's ordeal, now attends a local law school. She has no true memory of her father or the real circumstances that led to his misfortune.

Kevin, in an attempt to assuage his guilt, befriends Marilyn. She has no notion of Kevin's complicity in destroying her father. Kevin introduces himself as a public defender who knew her father during his period of incarceration. In time, they fall in love. Kevin's moment of bliss ends abruptly when Marilyn discovers his true identity.

PREVIEW

Promising revenge, she invokes the name of the goddess Fa Mu Lan, the Woman Warrior, "the one who takes her father's place in battle." Marilyn's avowed desire for revenge and Kevin's quest for redemption climax poignantly against the backdrop of the Bay Area's civil disobedience of 1968.

The Samuel Goldwyn Company presents "Golden Gate" in association with American Playhouse Theatrical Films. It is directed by John Madden from an original screenplay by David Henry Hwang. The film is produced by Michael Brandman.

David Henry Hwang came upon the inspiration for "Golden Gate" in a New York City bar in conversation with a friend from New York's Chinese community. The friend recounted the story of the false prosecution of Chinese-Americans in the early 1950s for sending money home to their impoverished families.

Hwang's penchant for taking historical footnotes and turning them into multi-layered dramas is not limited to "Golden Gate" and his smash Broadway hit "M. Butterfly." His first award-winning play, produced exclusively for the New York stage, "The Dance and the Railroad," is, according to Hwang, "a story about people who are shut out of the mainstream cultures and how they manage to create their own rites."

"America," Hwang continues, "at least in principal, subscribes to the notion that whoever takes residence on these shores may call it home. This is a relatively new concept in the history of ideas, and I think people of color grapple with it in a particularly vital fashion. One of the particular burdens of my minority is that we are never completely accepted as Americans."

Haunting tale: Joan Chen (left) stars as Marilyn Song and Matt Dillon stars as FBI Agent Kevin Walker in "Golden Gate."

Lolita Davidovich bright light in 'Intersection'

AP — Mark Rydell's last movie, "For the Boys," was a critical bomb that never really grabbed a significant audience. With "Intersection," now playing at metro Detroit movie theaters, it looks like Rydell — who distinguished himself with such movies as "On Golden Pond," "The River" and "The Rose" — is on a downward spiral.

Rydell can't take all the blame for "Intersection." The movie has an excellent concept — a successful but emotionally crippled man who's unable to make a commitment — but gets bogged down by a trite screenplay and inferior performances by Sharon Stone and Richard Gere.

Gere certainly was miscast as Vincent Eastman, an award-winning architect married to his business partner, Sally (Stone). The carefree, sexy spark that leaves some marriages early on has fizzled. Sally has become a workaholic whose ambitions and enthusiasm are more tied to the firm than to her marriage. Bored and confused, Vincent leaves Sally and their daughter, Meghan (Jenny Morrison), for a vivacious and sexy magazine writer Olivia (Lolita Davidovich).

But Vincent is incapable of making a commitment to Olivia. Part of him is still attached to Sally. Almost as a symbol of his indecision, he leaves his car parked at his wife's home and must go there in order to drive. It also doesn't help that Sally is in the office with him. And when it comes to company social events, he excludes Olivia.

Caught in the middle of course is the 13-year-old Meghan, who nevertheless manages to balance Daddy's girlfriend and Mommy's natural hostilities.

It all comes to a head for Vincent when Olivia, heady on too much wine, crashes the opening of a new museum that the firm has designed. Sally is there. The two women meet, and Vincent erupts in fury at Olivia. After dropping her off in the rain, he drives around for the rest of the night, winding up sleeping in his car outside a diner.

He's written Olivia a goodbye letter and is about to mail it when he meets a little girl who has the same flashing red hair as Olivia. He tucks the letter into his jacket (it would have been prudent to simply rip it up and throw it away) and leave the message on Olivia's answering machine to meet him at a romantic country hotel. He gushes excitedly that he loves her and wants to marry her.

Exhilarated by his decision and in a rush to meet Olivia, Vincent speeds along the mountainous two-lane road and breaks too late when he sees a stalled van. He does a 360 just as a tractor-trailer roars into view in the other lane. This is how the movie opens — with the accident. Even if you fall asleep during this movie, which is pretty easy to do, you still know how it's going to end.

And little things, such as the letter and the telephone message, are indeed telescoped.

If "Intersection" has one bright hope, it's Davidovich. She's a joy and a natural; and when she's on screen, you realize just how thin the acting abilities of Stone and Gere really are.

Gere comes across more so as a cad than a tortured man at a crossroads in his life. He offers little emotional confusion; the inner frustration is complicated but eludes Gere in his one-note performance.

Martin Landau doesn't have much to do, but manages to put in an able supporting performance as Neal, a close family friend and partner in the architectural firm. Morrison is fine as the daughter.

But Stone fans are in for a disappointment: She doesn't take off her clothes. There are no hot moments here. Instead, Stone is required to — emote.

The screenplay was written by David Rayfiel and Marshall Brickman. Bud Yorkin produced with Rydell, Frederic Golchan was executive producer. And Ray Hartwick co-producer.

The Paramount Pictures release is rated R (Restricted). Under 17 requires accompanying parent or adult guardian for adult situations and partial nudity.

Musician regains sight in thriller

Emma Brody (Madeleine Stowe) was blinded as a child.

Now, a corneal transplant has returned the gift of sight to the musician, and once again, Emma can see. She can finally see her best friend Candice (Laurie Metcalf). She can see her fellow band members. She can see all the beautiful sights that her hometown of Chicago has to offer.

And she can see the face of the man who murdered her neighbor in "Blink," a mystery-thriller now playing at metro Detroit movie theaters.

Due to an unusual effect of her surgery, Emma suffers from a disorder known as "retroactive vision." As a result, when Emma looks at something, sometimes her mind doesn't register those images until a day later.

Did Emma really see the face of a killer, or was this a hallucination?

Detective John Hallstrom (Aidan Quinn) thinks she did see the killer. Despite the odd circumstances of Emma's condition, Hallstrom senses the woman is his best chance to crack this case. His partner, Thomas Ridgely (James Remar), is a bit more skeptical, however, and feels that perhaps Hallstrom may be blinded by his desire to catch the murderer, and by the beauty of his only witness.

As the investigation progresses, Emma and Hallstrom grow more and more convinced that she has seen the killer. What becomes frighteningly apparent is that the killer has also seen her, and if they don't catch him soon, Emma may be his next victim.

Co-starring with Stowe and Quinn are James Remar, Peter

PREVIEW

Friedman, Bruce A. Young and Laurie Metcalf. The film was produced by David Blocker and directed by Michael Apted from an original screenplay by Dana Stevens.

For the character's musical prowess, Stowe came to the production with the benefit of having studied classical piano as an adolescent. To learn the fiddle for her place as a fictional member of the real-life group The Drovers, the actress first met with Los Angeles violin instructor Cait Reid, who is versed in Celtic violin. On location in Chicago, Stow got additional tips from The Drovers' founder Sean Cleland.

"Madeleine is much better than she gives herself credit for," said Cleland of Stowe's eight weeks of fiddle training. "In a few group rehearsals, she actually played the pieces. She mastered all the different things that go into playing the violin — the bowing, the fingering, the rhythm, trying to make it look natural while at the same time trying to make it look like she's blind."

Reader applauds 'Philadelphia'

Debra Greka of Redford Township highly recommends "Philadelphia," a drama about a rising young lawyer (Tom Hanks) who, fired when he develops AIDS, hires a personal injury attorney (Denzel Washington) to help him win redress. "It's a wonderful film, very sensitive," said Greka. "I can see some Oscar nominations for Denzel Washington and Tom Hanks."

Greka called and told us what she thought about a movie, you can too. Share your comments

UPCOMING MOVIES

There's something for everyone at the movies. Here's a list of what's in the wings:

Opening Friday, Jan. 28:
 ■ "Car 54, Where Are You?" — An action-comedy inspired by the 1960s television series, teams two goofy cops and a colorful cast of characters on a chase that fuels the humor of Car 54.

Opening Friday, Feb. 4:
 ■ "Gunmen" — An action-thriller about an eccentric Bulgarian smuggler and a New York City tough who reluctantly team up and head for the Amazon in search of a $400 million treasure.

■ "I'll Do Anything" — A romantic comedy set in Hollywood about an unemployed actor who's unexpectedly forced to take responsibility for his 6-year-old daughter.

■ "My Father the Hero" — Mad-cap comedy of errors has a love-struck teenage girl passing off her unknowing father as her lover in order to impress the boy of her dreams.

■ "Romeo Is Bleeding" — A conviving New York cop is employed by the mob and has an obsessive attraction to a cold-blooded murderer that he is hired to kill.

■ "The War Room" — Main Art Theatre exclusive. Documentary on Bill Clinton's 1992 bid for the presidency.

Opening Friday, Feb. 11:
 ■ "My Girl 2" — The story of Vada Sultenfuss's journey to self-discovery continues with the exploration of first love, the importance of family and the challenge of pursuing a dream.

Opening Friday, Feb. 18:
 ■ "On Deadly Ground" — An oil rig worker who joins forces with an Inuit activist in opposition to his former employer's rapacious drilling program finds himself in a battle for survival.

■ "You So Crazy" — A one man stand up comedy show starring Martin Lawrence, star of the hit Fox series "Martin."

Opening Friday, March 4:
 ■ "With Honors" — The true story of Harvard University students who befriend a homeless man.

Opening Friday, March 11:
 ■ "Guarding Tess" — Tess is the beloved former first lady who is running her secret service detail ragged. Tired of being at the mercy of her imperious will, one young agent squares off with her in a class of wits as unremitting as it is hilarious.

FAMILY LIFE

EARTHA DEYAMPERT

Great sums: Tots can do mathematics

Toddlers explore their environment with such vitality - touching, smelling and even tasting. Toddlers are probably the best "taste testers" you can find, if you're fortunate enough to have a playful toddler at home or in day care.

Since toddlers are hands-on exploring type of folks, parents and caregivers can respond to their hands-on nature by offering activities which can help foster mathematical thinking.

Mathematical concepts should and can be introduced to toddlers - before numbers. Matching, sorting, patterning, classifying and estimating are all concepts parents and caregivers can introduce age-appropriately - interestingly enough to keep busy toddlers on their toes.

Adults can offer activities to toddlers informally, being sensitive to toddlers' limited attention spans and need to "keep it moving." The same and different concept is a beginning to teaching toddlers mathematics. Different words to compare, contrast and show similarities between objects help toddlers focus on characteristics of objects, label and develop an awareness of their environment.

You might say, "Let's feel the soil or dirt in the plant aquarium. It feels wet, sticky. But the plants really feel smooth and dry." Or you can say, "Rhonda has a big ball with stripes; Jean has a small one with circles."

Most toddlers are not quite ready to sort objects into categories, but they sure can generalize. For example, "Let's put away the toys in the toy box. Put all the dolls in this basket." These types of activities encourage children to think in terms of groups and sets of objects.

Toddlers can understand the basic concept of "twoness." To foster this concept, point out many things in pairs - two shoes, two feet, two arms or two eyes. Then informally you can say, "I see two cups the same color . . . two plates on the table."

Begin to mention when you see two of anything at home or while walking in the neighborhood or riding in the car to grandma and grandpa's house. Tots will soon pick up the concept and start pointing to and/or telling you about things they see in twos.

There's early estimating - "Andrea, do you think your hand can fit into your mittens? Do you think daddy's hand will? Walter, do you think I can fit in the baby crib? Do you think I can fit in the big bed?" Making comparisons and simple predictions helps toddlers make deductions about size and shape.

Through these and similar activities, adults can help toddlers build on nature and master their understanding of basic mathematical concepts.

Society holds 99-cent sale

It takes the sale of approximately 200 coats to send a child to summer camp or the sale of 10 coats to feed a family of four for a day. It may not be a full-course meal or a London Fog coat, but it still provides warmth and hope to meet the challenges of the coming day.

During the past year, people have donated more than 28,000 winter coats to the Society of St. Vincent de Paul. Those coats will go on sale Feb. 1-4 at 16 outlets and at the main warehouse on Gratiot in Detroit.

Proceeds from the sale go to fund St. Vincent de Paul's summer camps on Lake Huron, the organization's Food Depot and employment placement program.

The sale is the first of five 99-cent sales the nonprofit agency has scheduled for 1994. Sweat shirts and sweaters will be sold two for 99 cents Feb. 8-12, shirts and blouses two for 99 cents Feb. 15-19 and pants and slacks two for 99 cents Feb. 22-26. Bicycles also will be sold, starting at 99 cents, March 1-5.

There will also be three specialty sales. Its fur, leather and overcoat sale will be Feb. 5 at its main warehouse, 2950 Gratiot, and at 15725 Grand River, both in Detroit, 1337 24th, Port Huron, and 28417 Telegraph, Flat Rock. Golf

Gladiators talk fitness with fans

To fans they're known as Tower and Lazer, "American Gladiators" who use their strength to slow down competitors on the popular TV show. But in their spare time, they're teaching kids about the importance of physical fitness.

BY SUE BUCK
STAFF WRITER

Some wanted to be just like them. Others wanted fitness information. Whatever their reasons, 12 kids got a treat recently - lunch with two American Gladiators, Jim Starr and Steve Henneberry.

The youngsters were the winners of a contest, sponsored by Livonia Mall, in which they were invited to write in with their reasons why they wanted to dine with the duo, known on the internationally syndicated television show as Lazer (Starr) and Tower (Henneberry). Members of the Livonia Mall Merchants Association selected the winners.

The chance to lunch with the two Gladiators was a thrill for Jeremy Conenwett, who with brother Dale, was among the lucky winners. The Redford resident wrote that he wanted to meet Lazer "because he is good at sports and so am I."

Matthew Norred, who lives in Livonia, wanted to "use the get-together to find out how much weight they work out with." He had a good reason for asking; he's working on his Cub Scout fitness badge.

Those of the female persuasion had different reasons for wanting to meet the Gladiators. Winner Sarah Davis of Livonia wanted "to learn more about how to keep healthy," while Nicole McGahan, also of Livonia, was interested because she wants to "be like you guys," when she grows up.

Also joining the Gladiators for lunch were Brian, Lisa and Andrea Waldo, Garrett and Brett Mette, Brett Wanamaker and Richard Stoddart.

Role models

Starr and Henneberry were a big hit with the kids and they both admit they value their celebrity status as well as their positions as role models for kids.

During the show's hiatus, the two men devote a lot of their spare time to teaching children and adolescents the importance of physical fitness. They have developed a program, "Ultimate Challenge," that offers a learning experience and physical activity for children.

Close friends, they take pride in their interaction with fans who range in age from five to 65 - "We don't do bars or nightclubs," Starr said.

The Gladiators also have "four affirmations" they stress to their fans: be a leader not a follower, just say no (to drugs); speak up and speak out (against sexual abuse), and respect yourself.

"American Gladiators" pits contestants against each other and a troupe of body-building men and women whose aim is to slow them down during a variety of timed physical challenges. In its fifth year, it's seen in more than 50 countries.

"We've been in the Detroit area two years," Henneberry said. Named Mr. America in 1989, Henneberry earned his nickname through his body-building career.

"Muscle magazines called me the 'Tower of Power,'" said Henneberry, who weighs 275 pounds and stands 6 feet, 4 inches tall.

With Arnold Schwarzenegger as his inspiration, the Wisconsin native set out in 1979 to become body building's Mr. America in 10 years' time. On the way there, he won Junior Mr. Milwaukee, Mr. Wisconsin, Mr. Mid-Eastern America and in 1989, Mr. America.

He also embarked on an acting career and landed several national and international commercials and appearances on popular TV shows before being tapped as a Gladiator in 1991.

Fast and strong

Starr's fans often misspelled his nickname so he ended up adopting the spelling which he considers more forceful, anyway.

"A lazer is fast, strong and extremely hard to beat, just like me," said Starr, who weighs 225 pounds and is 6 feet, 1 inch tall.

An all-American football player, from Montana State University, his professional career included playing for NFL's Kansas City Chiefs and Los Angeles Rams and with the Canadian Football League's Toronto Argonauts.

His football career was cut short by a severe back injury and after a stint doing commercials, he was selected in 1989 to be a member of the "American Gladiators."

The dynamic duo also is looking forward to starting a line of athletic line and a talk show for kids as well as publishing a drug awareness book for children ages 5-7 to cover life situations they will need to overcome.

Collection gives insight into Lincoln's heritage

BY SUE MASON

Think you're good at American history? Here's a little test:

Which president's young son, upset with the lack of snow in the nation's capital, used calling cards he found in the attic of the White House as snow on the stairs so he could try out his new sled?

President Harry S. Truman's ancestors were among those who helped fire bricks for a church reconstructed on the site of the grave and cabin of the grandfather of this president.

Which president got cold feet on his wedding day, leaving his bride-to-be, the guests and minister waiting at the church, only to be reconciled with his true love and married a year later?

You'll find the answer - it's the same for all three questions - in books, but not quite history books . . . a biography, yes; a history book, nah. They're bits of the family history Dr. Weldon Petz has researched and collected about our 16th president, Abraham Lincoln.

Petz highlighted the third installment of the 1993-94 Livonia Town Hall series that attracted a smaller than usual crowd because of the bone-chilling winter weather. A fourth-generation Detroit, Petz has been interested in Lincoln since he was a child, crediting a book his parents gave him and his great Uncle Will. His personal Lincoln collection includes 5,000 books and more than 40,000 artifacts, including his great uncle's horn.

"Uncle Will was with the Fifth New York Battery Band; it was one of four that played for the Gettysburg address," Petz explained. "He always told me he stood right in front of Lincoln and the bell of his horn reflected his face. I've researched it and found out it was true."

Lincoln's life

Petz chose the Town Hall gathering to take a look at the Lincoln family tree and brought along a few of his artifacts as well as a wealth of information about a man once believed to have risen above poverty to become president of the United States.

"There was very little information on his background when he died, so the writers had to invent a background," Petz said. "It wasn't until the 1930s when the WPA (Work Projects Administration) was going through records that his real life came out."

For 1½ hours, Petz entertained his audience with tidbits about Lincoln and his ancestors, but it was his artifacts that attracted a lot of attention.

20TH ANNIVERSARY

Bethel Baptist Temple of Livonia will celebrate its 20th anniversary with a special service at 11 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 6. Started on Jan. 23, 1964, in the Detroit home of the Rev. H.L. Petty, the church rented space from another church in Detroit and from a school in Redford before moving to its current site at 29475 W. Six Mile, Livonia, in September 1974.

The church bought from a catering company. Major improvements have been made to the building since then, including an addition in 1989 that provided much-needed space and a new facade. Petty has remained its pastor throughout its 20-year history.

Bethel Baptist has an active congregation and through the years has provided free transportation and youth club called AWANA and sponsored camps and picnics. The church also has supported worldwide mission efforts, giving more than $750,000.

The celebration will feature The Templetons, a quartet from Temple Baptist Church in Redford. For more information, call 525-3664.

MARRIAGE ENCOUNTER

Marriage Encounter United Methodist will be held in the Detroit area Feb. 11-13. The encounter offers couples an opportunity to look deeply into their own relationship. It is open to couples regardless of faith, race, age, education or financial status. Is it now 'The 10 Suggestions'?

MORAL PERSPECTIVES

RABBI IRWIN GRONER

With the announcement that the Reader's Digest has condensed the Bible to 60 percent of its original length, one wit said that he was eager to see which four commandments we don't have to worry about any more.

In our time, we should worry about all of the Ten Commandments more than ever before. The contemporary moral attitude does not strongly support the observance of these time-hallowed precepts.

Up until modern times, there was little controversy about the validity of the Divine commands. True, there were those who rejected God's dictates, but they were prepared to accept the consequences. Because the Almighty was regarded as the Absolute Authority, He had the right to command that we abide by His moral code.

and sporting equipment will be sold March 19 and push lawn-mowers and summer furniture April 5-9 at the main warehouse.

St. Vincent de Paul is the largest recycler of its kind in the metropolitan Detroit area. Detroit-based, the nonprofit organization employs more than 100 people. It has 16 retail outlets and 29 trucks that answer calls daily to pick up donated items, traveling from Monroe to Ann Arbor to Port Huron.

It prides itself on prompt service and recycling ability. It also is known as a "collector's paradise." It has one store devoted to books and records and another will soon be directed toward frames, oil paintings and prints.

St. Vincent de Paul contributes more than $1.5 million in goods through social service and parish organizations. It also gives away, at no charge, more than $3.5 million worth of food, appliances, furniture and clothing to families in need throughout southeastern Michigan.

In addition to the main warehouse and the stores on Grand River and in Port Huron and Flat Rock, St. Vincent de Paul stores can be found at 5200 E. McNichols, 5840 W. Fort, 14074 E. Seven Mile and 14922 Kercheval, all in Detroit; 501 Gratiot, Marysville; 27114 Michigan Ave., Inkster; 107 S. Main, Capac; 8138 Nine Mile, Oak Park; 23746 Greater Mack, St. Clair Shores; 24021 Van Dyke, Centerline; 14040 Nine Mile, Warren; 19310 Ecorse Road, Allen Park; and 12354 Fort, Southgate.

For more information about the 99-cent sales or the St. Vincent de Paul stores, call 567-1910.

Then the mood of modern man changed this traditional conception. Sophisticated and educated, people questioned whether God or anyone, for that matter, could issue commands without our veto. They preferred to replace the Ten Commandments with 10 suggestions. Let the individual decide for himself if he wants to follow the biblical code, or any code for that matter.

These modernists brought up their children in the same atmosphere of relativism. They would not command them to do anything. They would only employ gentle persuasion at best. These elders remembered only too well that when they were told that God commanded, or when their parents imposed prescribed behavior, they resented the restrictions and promised themselves they would do nothing more than suggest without being authoritative. They would want their children to enjoy freedom and latitude in making up their own minds on moral issues. This, they believed, is how true respect is gained.

Unfortunately, the results have not been altogether encouraging. Those who grow up without clearly defined rules and respect for authority encounter great difficulty. Some become delinquent, others do not internalize standards of right and wrong. Many are confused, lacking clearly defined goals and a sense of discipline.

Meanwhile, the statistics on crime and violence continue to mount in all the countries of the free world. The streets of our major cities are no longer considered safe as night falls. Fear has become a way of life for those who live in the deteriorating sections of America's urban centers.

In recent months, I have found myself nonplussed as I listen to friends and neighbors talk animatedly about the comparative merits of various alarm systems, particularly when the speaker climaxes his conversation by ruefully telling how he was raiding his refrigerator when the police raided his house. He had forgotten to turn off a motion detector device before he came downstairs.

To live in constant dread of authority and its demand can cripple the mind and stunt the spirit. By the same token, to live without fear of external authority, to ignore the consequences of disobedience and normlessness, to establish oneself and one's desires as the sole arbiter for right and wrong can be equally destructive.

I offer a parable of our times:

It seems that in the year 2100, the world was still in a state of war, violence in the streets, increased crime and widespread social upheaval. The greatest scientists of the world met at the United Nations. They were enthralled with a new computer recently created that could answer any question submitted to it, even questions relating to complex human problems.

These scientists were summoned to request an answer from this giant computer on how to find a solution for peace, for a decrease of violence, for the elimination of corruption, stealing and murder.

After days of assembling the proper material to feed the computer, the moment had come to receive an answer which would bring stability to the world. Scientists carefully programmed the information into the computer and waited for the answer.

The vast machine began to sputter and smoke and the tape gradually emerged. All the scientists gathered around and began to read the print-out message to the assembled world leaders: "I am the Lord your God who brought you out of the Land of Egypt. . . Thou shalt not murder. . . Thou shalt not steal. . . Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor."

Henneberry especially enjoys working with the Make-A-Wish Foundation, a group which strives to grant the wishes of terminally ill children.

His most touching memory is of a six-year-old North Carolina boy named Chase, who had liver cancer. His last wish was to meet an "American Gladiator."

"He died the afternoon I left," Henneberry said. The boy's mother dressed him in the T-shirt Henneberry gave him. Henneberry's photo was close by.

"There should be no quota on granting children wishes," Henneberry said.

The men will also be on board the Lazer and Tower Cruise sponsored by Carnival Cruises and the Ronald McDonald House in August.

"Without the kids and the fans, we wouldn't have a job," Henneberry said.

GRAPHOLOGY PROFILES

LORENE GREEN

Dear Mrs. Green, I have recently become interested in graphology when I had to do a report on it. But it seems hard for me to analyze my own handwriting. I see your column in the Observer & Eccentric and am impressed by how much information you can give about someone with the little writing you receive. I'm 15, almost 16 years old and am right-handed.

Thanks.

Almost 16
In West Bloomfield

From my experience, I know it is indeed difficult to analyze one's own handwriting. I might also mention that I often have more handwriting to study than the amount I have space to show in the paper.

When we first learn to write in school, we write as we are taught. However, those people who have a need to express their creativity soon develop a handwriting style of their own. Today's writer is one of these people.

Rarely do I select the handwriting of 15-year-olds for this column as their handwriting often makes many changes during the teen years before it settles into a set pattern. However, this is such a sophisticated 15-year-old that I felt I would like to share the handwriting with you.

Pervasive in her handwriting are signs of very high intelligence. She is not a stranger to culture and may also be quite a gifted young woman. Some indications of this are (1) good spacing, (2) many I dots connected to the next letter, (3) elimination of beginning and ending strokes, (4) printed capital letters in cursive handwriting, and (5) fluent T bars that flow into the following letter.

Her mind is resourceful and geared toward efficiency. She can discard the extraneous and get right down to the essentials.

She visualizes herself as an independent person who needs freedom and wants to do things in her own way. She also sees herself as a doer who brings about new changes. She is objective and lacks pretense.

In interpersonal relationships, she is often quite direct. Protocol may not be her first priority. Augmenting this is a tendency to have the last word in matters of importance to her. This might be difficult for her young friends to handle.

It seems quite possible that very early in life she had a need to break away from traditional norms and do her own thing. In her quest for independence, she probably became somewhat rebellious. She can also be impulsive at times.

When things do not happen as she might like them to, she engages in a little rationalizing. She is probably talented at coming up with all sorts of reasons why things did not work out.

With all the positives in her handwriting I am a little concerned that her goals are not always commensurate with her capabilities.

Seemingly, music provides enjoyment for her. The beauties of nature may also furnish pleasure.

If you would like to have your handwriting analyzed in this newspaper, write to Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist, at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please use a full sheet of white, unlined paper, writing in the first person singular. Age, handedness and signature are all helpful and objective feedback is always welcome.

Prominent among them were were copies of casts made of the president's face and hands by sculptor Leonard Bolk in early 1860. The copies were one of 11 sets made of the original molds in 1829. The originals, kept at the Smithsonian, were then broken, Petz said.

As the story goes, Bolk, at his wife's behest, did sketches of Stephen Douglas for a sculpture that now stands before the State Capitol in Springfield, Ill. He also did sketches of Lincoln, but had trouble with the president's angular features and asked if he could make a plaster cast of his face.

Lincoln agreed although later said it was "most disagreeable." Petz placed pieces of quills in Lincoln's nose so he could breathe and placed cotton on his eyes before encasing his face back to his ears in plaster.

"He had to sit there for one hour and when the time was up Bolk asked the president to gently remove the mold," Petz said. "It was said the president had tears in his eyes when he took it off. It had taken the hair off his right temple."

Bolk also got the president to agree to casts of his large hands, asking that he would hold something in his one hand to show grip of the maul he used to split wood. The president used a portion of his wife Mary's broom.

"The knuckles on his right hand were swollen," Petz said. "He had received representatives of the Republican Party Committee the day before who had come to tell him he was the Republican nomination for president. The townspeople were proud of that fact and that night 800 came to his home."

"The house wasn't big enough to receive them, so they filed through the front door and out the back and Lincoln shook hands with all of them."

Gifts to cherish

Petz acquired the copies from his mentor, Thomas Starr, who had worked on the telephone exhibit at Greenfield Village. He was given the set by Henry Ford in appreciation for his work. Ford had order two copies of the masks and had them shipped separately to avoid the risk of both sets being damaged. Both arrived in Detroit intact.

Petz also showed off two pictures of Lincoln taken within a five-year time span. The first was a copy of an original ambrotype, a form of photography in which a glass negative was backed by a dark surface to make it appear to be a positive.

The photo is a one of a kind, the original ambrotype, much smaller than the reproduction, is locked away in a bank vault. It was given to Petz by the son of Henry Leland of the Lincoln Car Co. fame. The older Leland had known Petz's great-grandfather.

The photo was taken when the then clean-shaven Lincoln was 51, prior to his becoming president. The second photograph was one of six copies of an original print taken four days before he was assassinated. The photo shows a bearded Lincoln with a slight smile. It was the last photo taken of him.

"He looked 30 years older when there only was 5 1/2 years difference between the photos," Petz said.

A close friend of Carl Sandberg, Petz also showed off one book of a six-volume work the author had done on Lincoln. Sandberg had given him the volume covering the war years and while he thought it odd, he discovered leafing through it that only the first 28 pages contained type. The remainder of the pages were blank.

"I couldn't figure out why he gave an unfinished book; what he gave me was the original printer's dummy for the work," Petz explained. "And I cherish it."

Another of his treasures is a biography of Lincoln that is less than an inch in size. The book is fully bound, with gilt edges. The letters are one-sixty-fourth of an inch high and each page contains 90 words. Only 25 copies of the book were made.

"The printer cast all the letters in metal, cut them apart and put them in a frame and printed the book page by page," Petz explained.

The book isn't the smallest in the world. One even smaller was done and sold for $6,000. Petz didn't get it for his collection "because my wife likes things like washers and dryers."

At 72, Petz has begun deciding what will be done with his massive collection. He told the Town Hall crowd he is working on the sale of his collection. Some of his treasures will stay with the family, but the rest "should be used by young people."

"Kids today don't even know when Lincoln or Washington's birthdays are," Petz lamented, "because now we have President's Day so stores can have sales."

Question time: Connie Beresford of Livonia poses a question about Lincoln to Dr. Weldon Petz.

JIM JAGDFELD/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

A few Lincoln facts

To say Abraham Lincoln was the 16th president of the United States doesn't quite say enough about the family. Here are a few things you might not have known about "honest Abe" and his relatives.

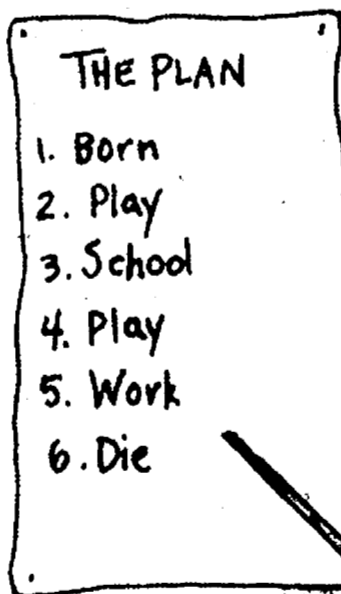

■ Lincoln's genealogy has been traced back 10 generations to Hingham, England, a small town northeast of London. It was Samuel Lincoln who brought the name to the United States, arriving as an indentured servant in Hingham, Mass. Abraham Lincoln's side of the family was prosperous by pioneer standards with doctors, lawyers, inventors, statesmen and generals.

■ Lincoln's grandmother, named Bethsheba, was "an old pioneer woman when Washington became president" who lived almost long enough to see her grandson become the 16th president. She was 109 when she died.

■ Lincoln's stepmother, Sarah Bush Johnson, whom he called his other mother, saw him for the last time when he was on his way to Washington for his inauguration. She predicted that that would be their last visit because "he would die in office."

■ It was during his campaign for the presidency that he grew his beard because of the suggestion of 11 1/2-year-old Grace Bedell. The youngster wrote Lincoln, suggesting he grow whiskers after seeing a campaign photograph. He wrote back, saying the people might think it a "silly affectation" if he grew a beard, but when his train to Washington stopped in her hometown, he had a chance to ask her how she liked the whiskers.

■ Lincoln was asked to speak at Gettysburg just three weeks before the consecration of the battlefield.

One wisely said, "God is His own interpreter." Yes, and God tells us how we should study His Word. Rule 1. COMPARE SCRIPTURE WITH SCRIPTURE. "Knowing this FIRST, that NO prophecy of the scripture is of any PRIVATE INTERPRETATION" (2 Peter 1:20). It takes WORK to HONESTLY COMPARE all the Bible says on any subject, but the result is knowing the TRUTH.

Kudos comes home

County parks officials, friends group win honors

The Wayne County Park System, headed by Hurley J. Coleman Jr., has been singled out for three special awards at the Michigan Recreation and Park Association statewide meeting next month.

Wayne County Park System director Coleman and the Friends of Wayne County Parks are the recipients of top state awards, while recreation manager Anastasia "Tessie" Pitseas has been named to the MRPA board.

Coleman will be honored with a fellowship award from the Michigan Recreation and Park Association.

The award is presented to an active member of MRPA for significant, longstanding contributions toward the betterment of parks, forestry and recreation.

It is considered the highest honor for recreation and parks professionals in Michigan.

The Friends of Wayne County Parks will receive the MRPA's community service award.

The honor is given to organizations that have made outstanding contributions to the community.

Pitseas will serve on the board for the 1994-1995 term. She served as a deputy director of MRPA before joining the Wayne County Park System.

Coleman will receive his award at the group's banquet Monday,

Feb. 7 in Traverse City.

"Hurley has done a remarkable job with our parks system and deserves this level of recognition," said Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara.

"When we hired him in 1988, families used to be afraid to come to places like Hines Park. This year we had more than 200,000 people use that park just to see the Festival of Lights display.

"He has brought a new professionalism to Wayne County's parks and given them back to the families," McNamara said.

Coleman was named Wayne County parks director in 1989.

The friends group will be honored at a celebrity luncheon on Tuesday, Feb. 8.

Accepting the award on behalf of the organization will be the group's executive director, Kathleen Lewand.

Winner: Wayne County Parks director Hurley J. Coleman Jr. won a fellowship award from the Michigan Recreation and Park Association.

SC announces CLEP class

A Schoolcraft College workshop on the College-Level Examination Program will be held 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 5. Fee is $55.

The CLEP is a series of exams designed to test knowledge in a variety of subjects. It can be used to get college credits for courses not taken. The next CLEP will be administered Saturday, Feb. 12.

Madonna University offers the CLEP exams on the Thursday before the third Saturday of every month. Fee is $40 for Madonna students, $47 for others. For more information, call 591-5174.

Nursing data available at SC

Schoolcraft College hosts "Nursing Job Opportunities Day" from noon to 3 p.m. Friday, Feb. 4, in the Physical Education Building.

Representatives from more than 30 hospitals and health care organizations will be present. For additional data, call 462-4400, Ext. 5150.

Scholarship offered

A $600 scholarship is being awarded by the University of Michigan Northville Alumni Club to a Schoolcraft College student who is transferring to U-M.

Applicants must have a minimum grade point average of 3.0. Applications are available at Schoolcraft's counseling office. Deadline is April 1.

For many women control during childbirth is very important. Of course, some things are out of your control, but many of the options surrounding childbirth don't have to be. At St. Mary Hospital we encourage you to make choices. To ask questions. To learn. To be in control.

More real choices

To control your position during labor. You're in charge of the electronic controls on our state-of-the-art birthing beds. So you can select the position that's most comfortable for you.

Or, you can sit in your rocker and admire the view from your birthing room window.

To control when family and friends are with you. During and after the birth. On your schedule, not ours.

To control when your baby is with you. Twenty-four hours a day is fine. Less often if you wish. We bring services to you, so your baby only goes to the nursery when you decide.

To control what you need to learn. Our nurses can teach you everything from giving your baby a bath to understanding your baby's special ways of communicating. We'll ask what's tops on your list.

It's your baby

At St. Mary Hospital, we understand that it's your baby. So if control is important to you, give us a call. We're here to help you.

TIMOTHY NOWICKI

Many birds that are summer residents in southeastern Michigan migrate south for the winter. Those that migrate do so because they are unable to find food or they cannot tolerate the cold temperatures.

Generally, robins, bluebirds, warblers, catbirds, loons, towhees and others are not seen here during winter. But in any large population there are going to be individuals that do not follow the norm.

During the Detroit Audubon Society Christmas Bird Count this past December, some of those nonmigratory migrants were found. Common loons, for example, typically migrate to the Atlantic Ocean and the East Coast. Salt water does not freeze thus enabling birds to capture fish.

At the time of the count, some of the bigger lakes in northwestern Oakland County were not completely frozen. In one of those areas two common loons were identified. Undoubtedly when the lakes did freeze over, these two birds flew south to the next available area of open water.

Those birds that rely on insects as their main diet are most likely to migrate — since insects are very rare in winter. But this year a carolina wren was seen. Though other wrens and insect eaters migrate, carolina wrens have readily adapted to our suet feeders. Historically, carolina wrens were more common in winter, but severe winters in the mid-1970s reduced their populations in the state. The recent record low temperature probably took its toll on this species and others.

Though most robins and bluebirds migrate, a small number are typically seen during most winters. They subsist on berries from dogwood trees and other bushes. Several bluebirds will often rest together in the hollow of a tree at night to conserve heat. Bent tail feathers are a tall "tail" sign of this behavior.

Seed eating birds have a better chance of surviving Michigan winters, but even many of them migrate. Rufous-sided towhees are a good example. Though a fairly common bird in summer, they have only been seen during 10 counts. During any one of those years only a handful (maximum 6) were seen.

It's difficult to determine why some of these birds stay around when food is scarce. One possible reason could be that if they survive until spring, they will have first choice of the prime breeding areas. But surviving is the critical part.

Tim Nowicki is a naturalist at Independence Oaks County Park in Oakland County. He lives in Livonia. You can leave him a message using a Touch-Tone phone at 953-2047, mailbox 1874.

Seed eater: The rufous-sided towhee, although a fairly common bird in summer, makes itself scarce in winter. Few have been seen during 10 recent bird counts. During any one of those years, only a handful (maximum six) were seen.

The four-week "homestays" are available in France, the Ivory Coast, Spain, Mexico and Germany during the summer. Participants will live with families in their chosen countries.

"I feel I learned more during those weeks abroad about France's language and culture than (in) all of my school classes combined," said Rebecca Volenweider. "I had a lot of fun and am looking forward to going back."

The cost for these homestays range from $1,125 for Mexico to $2,110 for the Ivory Coast, which includes airline tickets and insurance. Spending money is the only additional expense. Meals will be provided by host families.

For additional data, call Evelyn Prince at (810) 626-6641, or the Nacel national office at (800) 622-3553.

GARDEN SPOT

MARTY FIGLEY

Hit the heights with our sunflower contest

Sunflowers! They make tall exclamation points in gardens and add a ray of sunshine even on cloudy days. There are many varieties of these flowers, some with the traditional yellow rays, while others have been bred for color — banded gold, orange, burgundy, bronze and white.

Background

Sunflowers originated in South America and the American Southwest. The Incas used them extensively and put their likeness on their art. They were used by American Indians as food, as dye plants and in poultices. Colonists learned from the Indians and also found other uses for this plant — food for cattle, a coffee substitute and "tobacco." The oil was used in cooking, soap and candlemaking.

Today, sunflower oil is used as a cooking oil and in industry. The seeds are eaten raw or roasted by humans, and used in birdseed and poultry mixtures. Some cultures still use them as our forefathers did.

As Europeans came to America, they took the seeds back to their countries where they were cultivated with much success. As a result, many new cultivars were developed. Plants originally from America were hybridized so well in the Soviet Union that even today, these same cultivars are grown here for commercial purposes.

There was a sort of one-upmanship about growing sunflowers in Europe. Gerard reported growing one 14 feet tall. It was reported that one in the Royal Garden in Madrid reached 24 feet. The Italians boasted that one in Padua topped out at 40 feet. So our contest can be a little continuation of something that happened long ago.

Sunflowers are in the Compositae family (includes daisy, chamomile, dandelion), and the best-known genus is Helianthus (from the Greek helios for sun, and anthos for flower), which contains 150 species. Some of the annual species that can range from five to 15 feet in height are Mammoth Russian, Full Sun, Giant Grey Stripes, Sunbeam, Mammoth, Russian Giant, Inca Jewels, Evening Star and Evening Sun.

Although the rays provide the beauty to these flowers, the achenes (the parts in the center) contain the little seeds that are so loved. The entire flower is called the head.

See GARDEN, 2D

MARTY FIGLEY

Headstrong: The grower of the sunflower with the largest verified head will earn an honorable mention in the High Hopes contest.

Westland artist to teach pastel portraiture

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

Learn the finer points of rendering a portrait of your favorite sports celebrity in a series of workshops on dry media at The Art Gallery, 30116 Ford Road, Garden City.

Known for her drawings of star athletes, award-winning artist Laurel Raisanen will teach the pastel portraiture sessions for six weeks beginning Feb. 3. Cost is $8 per week. Classes are scheduled Thursdays 10 a.m. to noon, 2-4 p.m. and 6-8 p.m.

"I would encourage people to give it a try because they could create something very beautiful. It's very relaxing, drawing and painting, and you learn to take a look and see things, to study them," said Norma McQueen, gallery director.

During the pastel classes, Raisanen will cover construction of the face, how to apply pastel to the basic sketch and add detail to the eyes, nose and mouth.

"The goal is to help them develop their eye to break the face down with space relationships and to get a good likeness to learn how to draw faces," Raisanen said.

Students should bring any pastels and paper they may already have to the first class. At that time, Raisanen will talk about paper and supplies, offering them at cost to any who wish to buy them.

"We'll start with five or six basic colors to keep costs down because pastels can run $50 to $60 a set," she said.

Steve Yzerman, Cecil Fielder, Secretariat, Seattle Slew— Raisanen sees all these star athletes as challenges; that's why she spends hundreds of hours drawing them. "They're all winners because of all the years they put in practicing and striving to be the best they can be,"

she said.

Raisanen's love of horses shows in her portraits of the thoroughbred racing dynamos. The time she spent working as a groom at the Detroit Race Course in Livonia, coupled with intense studies, gave Raisanen the knowledge to portray the beautiful animals' muscle and bone structure. It's not getting the musculature right so much as getting down the correct proportions, she says.

Following Raisanen's pastel portraiture classes at The Art Gallery, six weeks of oil and watercolor painting will be taught by well-known area art instructor Sharon Dillenbeck of Canton Township. The wet media workshops take place March 17 to April 21. Cost is $10 a session. They run Thursdays 1-3 p.m. and 7-9 p.m.

To register for classes, call McQueen at 261-0379 or stop by The Art Gallery during business hours, noon to 6 p.m. Thursday to Saturday.

Scoring point: Laurel Raisanen will lead a series of pastel painting workshops in Garden City.

WHOPPING SUCCESS

Contemporary folk artist Kathy Jakobsen's painting, "Ice Sculpture Festival," proved a big hit during the 12th annual Plymouth International Ice Sculpture Spectacular.

On Jan. 15, she spent four hours at Creative Framing in downtown Plymouth signing 19- by 22-inch posters made from the original oil.

"People were lined up all the way around the corner in the cold to buy a poster and have it signed by the artist," said Chris Burke, owner of Creative Framing, 853 W. Ann Arbor Trail.

Art Beat

"They were three deep inside the store and our store isn't that big. The day was just super. We hope to have Kathy back if she can fit us in her schedule. She's a real neat lady. We were just amazed at the turnout and so was she."

Burke has sold more than 1,200 posters at $20. Splashes of whimsy, family and memories color Jakobsen's artistic interpretation of Plymouth's famous winter fest. The spirit of Americana inspires her. Her detailed outdoor scenes span the seasons and evoke the energy of everyday life. The Dearborn Heights native now lives in ral Connecticut. She also writes and illustrates children's books.

Creative Framing also stocks a 12- by 14-inch poster of Jakobsen's painting of historic Nankin Mills in Westland. It sells for $12.

WOMEN IN SPOTLIGHT

It's time to enter the Women Artists Juried Art Show celebrating Henry Ford Community College's 20th annual Women's Recognition Week March 7-12. The art show will run March 7-30 in Bshleman Library on campus, 6101 Evergreen, Dearborn. Call 845-9629.

Two-dimensional works created and signed only by women artists will be accepted. The $15 entry fee covers the maximum three entries.

Artist Leslie Masters, an instructor for the Ann Arbor and Birmingham/Bloomfield art association, will judge the artwork.

Research has found (and is continuing) that sunflowers are allelopathic — they produce a substance that inhibits the growth of other plants, therefore helping to control weeds. If sunflower debris has been left in a bed from one season to the next, a toxicity may develop that may inhibit the growth of subsequent sunflowers.

Growing glory

Two of our readers had interesting experiences with their plants last year. Both had tall sunflowers after the second year of sowing seed.

B.F. Landuyt of Beverly Hills found three volunteer sunflowers where some had grown the year before. One had reached the lofty height of 6½ feet, another was catching up, while the third was cut down, probably by a squirrel. Landuyt had planted "just the common one" and fertilized them with water-soluble Rapid Gro (23-19-17) when he fed his other plants.

Alexandra Ravitsky of West Bloomfield also had sown seeds two years ago that produced "just regular-sized plants." Last spring, two seedlings came up and when they were about two inches tall, she transplanted them to another area of the garden, where they developed huge leaves and grew more than 10 feet tall. She planted the seedlings where she had applied topsoil but used no fertilizer.

Both Landuyt and Ravitsky have saved seeds — so the race is on!

Plans for planting

Seeds can be sown outside up to two weeks before the last frost date — generally April 25 in this area. They like a well-drained soil, rich in nutrients with neutral pH (6.0-7.5), lots of sun and extra water especially during dry spells.

We want many of our Observer & Eccentric readers to participate in this contest and ask that you keep us posted about your successes.

See the related story for contest rules.

Bonsai Club sets meeting

The Four Seasons Bonsai Club of Michigan presents a free public lecture on growing indoor bonsai trees by Jack Wike, noted regional bonsai master of Tecumseh, 2-4:30 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 30, at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, 814 N. Campbell, Royal Oak.

Light refreshments will be served. The church is one mile west of I-75. Enter on the porch facing Campbell. For more information, call Marge Clayton at 810-667-0185 or Rosalind Evanoff at 810-354-6119.

New officers elected for 1994 are Rick Mikulak of Dearborn, president; Mark Makahon of Sterling Heights, vice president; Marge Clayton of Lapeer, secretary/newsletter; Olga Mirakiou of Oakland, treasurer; and Elves Malfonte of Farmington Hills, Audrey Donner of Farmington Hills and Vance Hanna of Bloomfield Hills, directors. Appointed were Nina Michalik of West Bloomfield, library, and Rosalind Evanoff of Southfield, publicity.

HIGH HOPES CONTEST

Seed head is to be measured diagonally

Height is to be measured from soil level to stem neck (calyx)

We're looking for the tallest sunflower, and for the sunflower with the largest seed head, grown in the 1994 season through July 28. The sunflower's height is to be measured from the soil level to the base of the head where the stem attaches to the flower. The head is to be measured diagonally. If you're raising a super sunflower, let us know. Call 313-953-2047, Ext. 1859, or 810-901-2569; fax 810-644-1314; or write the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham 48009. Deadline is 5 p.m. July 29.

Here's how to enter

These are the rules for the High Hopes Sunflower Contest:

1. Winner will be the person who grows the tallest sunflower in the 1994 season through July 28. First, second and third prizes will be awarded.
2. Measurement must be taken from soil level to the base of the head where the stem attaches to the flower (see drawing).
3. Participants must notify the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers by 5 p.m. Friday, July 29. Call 313-953-2047, Ext. 1859, or 810-901-2569; fax 810-644-1314; or write 805 E. Maple, Birmingham 48009 (postmarked 5 p.m. July 29). Judges will contact finalists to verify height.
4. A prize of honorable mention will be given for the sunflower with the largest seed head. Measurement must be taken diagonally (see drawing).
5. Winners will be announced Aug. 11 in the Garden Spot column.
6. Employees and families of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers are not eligible.
7. Decisions of the judges are final.
8. Entrants must live in Wayne County or Oakland County to be eligible.

Jim Taylor began collecting 35 years ago. He became a dealer 25 years ago, after running out of places to store his priceless pieces of history. He and wife DeDe have sold their warehouses for nearly a decade in the 18-dealer antique mall, Troy Corners. Housed in the oldest (1840) church in Troy, the space provides plenty of atmosphere, right down to the original stained glass windows.

'Having things of the past around us takes us back to better times. Antiques warm, they give a personality to a home. You can express yourself through collectibles.'

— Peggy Blaisdell

The Taylors, who specialize in decorative accessories and primarily early American country furniture, buy their antiques "in Maine and out East," said Jim Taylor, a teacher at Seaholm High School in Birmingham. "We buy from 'pickers,' who go knocking door to door, the farmhouses, searching for antiques that may have been in families for generations."

The Taylors' booth will include a collection of inkwells, spool cabinets used in country stores to hold thread, an 1850 step-back pine cupboard from Maine, a turn-of-the-century bride's trunk, end tables, one-drawer stands, deacon's benches, blanket chests, silver, jars and perfumes, tea sets, Oriental porcelain, including Tmari, Rose Medallion and Canton, Flow-Blue china, early American country furniture, brass, copper, small wooden boxes, lamps, candlesticks, and accessories.

"We'll have a lot of 'small,' a lot of 'tabletops,'" said Taylor.

There are many advantages to buying antiques, the least of which is owning a piece of history like a rocking chair that made it through the Civil War era.

"Antiques are a good investment, something you can enjoy. No two are alike," said Jim Taylor.

Besides those reasons, DeDe Taylor added, "antiques tell a story, a history."

And along with that, it's becoming trendy, she said: "It's not just people who decorate their homes in antiques buying from them. A lot of people who decorate with contemporary are buying brass and copper accents now."

Blaisdell, who with husband John owns Blaisdell Antiques, has her own set of reasons for loving antiques. "Having things of the past around us takes us back to better times. Antiques warm, they give a personality to a home. You can express yourself through collectibles."

The Blaisdells are surrounded with the past in their contemporary colonial home in Plymouth.

Blaisdell's booth will offer a collection of pitchers; an oak dresser and commode, assorted furniture in a mixture of woods, a turn-of-the-century child's desk, plant stands, a late 1800s bowl and pitcher set, an ironstone Tea Leaf, Staffordshire, glass, lamps, and shades in country plaids and designs. If people want to order custom shades, Blaisdell reminds them to bring their swatches.

Blaisdell finds that of late, she's been buying more and more glass and china. When asked what trends she sees in other's antique purchases right now, Blaisdell says, "The country look is still in but people are getting away from the primitives, the things that look beat up, and moving toward Victorian and pretty things."

The Taylors have done the Plymouth show at least a dozen years.

"The Plymouth show is a good show with a nice mix of antiques," said Jim Taylor. "It has a variety, with something for everyone, from young couples to advanced collectors and it's for a good cause, the Plymouth Symphony."

Don't freeze at photography in winter

FOCUS ON PHOTOGRAPHY
MONTE NAGLER

For those of you who live in cold climates or for those who live in the South but travel to snow country, winter photography can reward you with fabulous shots for your photo album.

But cold weather photography can present you with some problems that make shooting more difficult than during fair weather.

While photographers who live in a very cold climate are accustomed to such conditions, anyone used to more temperate weather can get caught unprepared.

Before setting off to take photographs in very cold conditions, you should spend some time preparing your equipment and your own clothing. Almost any camera can be operated normally at about zero degrees, but at temperatures lower than this, difficulties may start to occur.

Why do cameras function less efficiently in the cold? The most common reason is loss of battery power. Batteries not only operate the metering system, but also operate the shutter on most newer cameras. Batteries work by chemical reactions that always proceed more slowly at lower temperatures. Solution: Keep the battery in your pocket until just ready to shoot. Take your shots, then place the battery back in your pocket to keep it warm.

There are precautions you should take, too, for photographing in very cold weather. Dress warmly, in layers, and make sure your clothing allows easy access to cameras and lenses. Wear two pairs of gloves — a heavy outer pair and a thin inner pair. Remove the outer gloves when you're ready to shoot. The thin pair will keep your hands warm yet will enable you to work all camera controls.

In cold weather, you must take special care with your film. Because it can become brittle, advance it carefully and slowly as you run through the roll (turn off your power winder) and rewind it carefully, too.

Besides the physical problems of working in low temperatures, there are other considerations.

A major one is exposure. Snow-covered scenery is quite different from the average scene and the meter can be fooled. Remember that all meters are programmed to read average gray, so with snow scenes, be sure to overexpose a stop or two in order to produce a good negative.

When you come in out of the cold, pay special attention to your camera. Water vapor in a heated room condenses on cold metal and glass surfaces and your camera will become covered with moisture. No damage will be done, just be sure to wipe off your camera.

There you have it. During the next cold snap, get out and snap some prize-winning shots.

It's a snap! The temperature was below zero, but by keeping himself and his equipment warm, Monte Nagler was able to bring home this exciting shot of Michigan's Taquamenon Falls.

Short shot

Monte Nagler's exhibit, "Statements of Light," continues through Feb. 3 at the Janice Charach Epstein Museum/Gallery in the Jewish Community Center, 6600 W. Maple in West Bloomfield. This is a major exhibit for Nagler and is featuring for the first time in the Detroit area his series of nude figure studies. For gallery hours and more information, call 661-7641.

Monte Nagler is a fine art photographer based in Farmington Hills. You can leave him a message by dialing 953-2047 on a touch-tone phone, then his mailbox number, 1873. His fax number is 644-1314.

Lecture to explore design

Michigan Design Center in Troy welcomes the public to its ongoing ViewPoint lecture series Thursday, Feb. 3, to introduce the book "Showcase of Interior Design, Midwest Edition II."

This exquisitely prepared, full-color book highlights Michigan and metro area designers' backgrounds, design projects and photos of their work. All attendees will receive a copy of the book, a $35 value.

For reservations, call 649-4770 by Friday, Jan. 28. Cost is $35. The event will begin at 6:30 p.m. with refreshments. The lecture will take place at 7 p.m., followed by a book signing.

MDC, the resource market for the interior design trade, is north off Maple (15 Mile), between Coolidge and Crooks.

The keynote speaker Feb. 3 will be Elaine Markoutas.

DETROIT ARTISTS MARKET

Friday, Jan. 28 — The Detroit Artists Market — 300 River Place, Suite 1650, in Detroit — will launch an 18-hole miniature golf course, designed and constructed by Michigan artists, with a benefit bash Friday. Tee-off time is 6 p.m. with cocktails, followed by a buffet supper catered by the Rattlesnake Club. Throughout the evening guests may challenge each other or one of the many celebrities, including "resident pro" J.P. McCarthy. Tickets are $50 and may be bought by calling 886-1623. This unusual art installation will then be available until May 1 for open play to individuals, private groups, organizations and corporations during most days, some evenings and all weekends. Call 393-1770 for information.

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN MUSEUM OF ART

"Socialist Realism: 20th Century Paintings from the Soviet Union" continues to Feb. 27; public tours Friday-Saturday, Jan. 28-29. "Drawing on Water: An Installation" by artist Larry Cressman, who teaches printmaking and drawing at the U-M Residential College, continues through March 6; tours Sunday, Jan. 30. Call 764-0395.

THE SCARAB CLUB

Saturday, Jan. 29 — The Hemispheric Arts Show, continuing to Feb. 28, will feature selected works of Hispanic artists of Michigan and introduce as guest artist ceramist Rodolfo Padilla of Mexico. Opening reception 6-9 p.m. Saturday. Hours are noon to 5 p.m. Wednesday-Sunday, 217 Farnsworth, Detroit, 831-1250.

DETROIT INSTITUTE OF ARTS

Sunday, Jan. 30 — "Intimate Visions: The Photographs of Dorothy Norman" continues through Feb. 27. Diane Kirkpatrick, professor of history of art at the University of Michigan, will give a gallery talk on selected works in the exhibit 2 p.m. Sunday. Call 833-7900.

THE WOODS GALLERY

To Jan. 27 — An exhibit highlighting some of Michigan's finest folk artists continues. A juried exhibit by the Michigan Weavers Guild will take place Feb. 2-26; reception to meet the artists, sale and demonstration of work 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Feb. 26. Hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Thursday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, on the lower level of the Huntington Woods Library, 26415 Scotia, south of 11 Mile and west of Woodward, 543-9720.

CREATIVE ARTS CENTER

Through Jan. 28 — "Bodily Function," an evolving installation on the theme of the body, continues. The work is produced by graduate students from the Cranbrook Academy of Art photography and architecture departments. Concurrently with this exhibit, a video production called "Cerebral Succotash" by the senior photography students at Cranbrook runs in the Community Arts Room. The center is at 47 Williams in Pontiac. Call 333-7849 for information.

LEMBERG GALLERY

Through Jan. 29 — "Works for Young Collectors: A Changing Exhibition" continues. The works range from $500 to $2,000, creating an opportunity for many to begin or add to their art collections. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday-Friday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, 538 N. Woodward, Birmingham, 642-6623.

HABATAT GALLERIES

To Jan. 29 — Works by gallery artists Michael Pavlik, Jon Kuhn, Richard Ritter and Steven Weinberg, among others, are exhibited, along with pieces by John Littleton, Dale Chihuly and Dominic Labino. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, 32255 Northwestern Highway, Suite 45, Farmington Hills, 851-9090.

THE ARTISTS' GALLERY

To Jan. 29 — The Giant Red Tag Sale continues, with paintings, sculpture, glass, photography, furniture, jewelry and more by 30 artists. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Tuesday and Friday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday-Thursday, 1-5 p.m. Sunday, in Orchard Place Mall at 30905 Orchard Lake Road in Farmington Hills, 855-8832.

MEADOW BROOK ART GALLERY

Through Jan. 30 — An exhibit of work by Michigan artists Ted Lee Hadfield and Wendy MacGraw continues, part of the "Artist at Mid Career" series intended to encourage and stimulate young artists by recognizing the artistic achievements of their seniors. Hours are 1-5 p.m. Wednesday, 2-6:30 p.m. Saturday-Sunday, and evenings of a Meadow Brook Theatre performance (one hour prior to the show and through the first intermission), at Oakland University in Rochester, 370-3005.

O.K. HARRIS/DAVID KLEIN GALLERY

Through January — Exhibits of new work by Michigan artists Robert Gniewek and Gail Eisner continue. Hours are 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, 430 N. Woodward, Birmingham, 433-3700.

BIRMINGHAM BLOOMFIELD ART ASSOCIATION

To Jan. 31 — An acrylic on paper exhibition by Carol Weisnauer of Trenton, who has taught at the BBAA and Wayne County Community College, continues. The show portrays in an abstract way the artist's feelings about the illness and recent death of her husband and her slow recovery and ability to move on with her own life and career. Hours are 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday-Saturday, 1516 S. Cranbrook, Birmingham, 644-0866.

HENRY FORD MEDICAL CENTER

To Jan. 31 — An exhibit of paintings by West Bloomfield artist Kris Lamb continues at the center, 6777 W. Maple in West Bloomfield. The show features Lamb's lively, fresh works ranging from impressionistic Michigan landscapes, to frolicking dancers, to colorful contemporary abstracts.

PRIVATE COLLECTION GALLERY

For the month of January — Bolero bowls by Richard LaLonds and sculptures by Richard Royal are featured. Both artists work in glass. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Saturday, noon to 3 p.m. Sunday, 6736A Orchard Lake Road, West Bloomfield, 737-4050.

OAKLAND COUNTY GALLERIA

Through Jan. 31 — "St. Thomas: The Final Days," a multimedia presentation, continues. The extraordinary presentation is an art essay about the demolition of Detroit's St. Thomas the Apostle Church. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Friday in the Executive Office Building at the County Service Center, 1200 N. Telegraph in Pontiac. For more information, call the Oakland County Office of Cultural Affairs at 810-858-0415.

WARREN CITY HALL GALLERY

To Jan. 31 — Oil paintings by Nancy Kopacko of Warren are exhibited. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Friday, 29500 Van Dyke.

Artists sought

Observerland artists take note: All Michigan artists 18 or older are invited to submit works for a juried competition March 17 to April 24 at Krasl Art Center, 707 Lake Blvd., St. Joseph 49085.

All media, including photography, will be accepted. The entry fee is $7.50 per piece up to two entries. The deadline for hand-delivered works is Feb. 18-27.

Cash and purchase awards will be presented, including a $1,000 Best of Show Award from the Arts Foundation of Michigan.

Write Krasl Art Center for prospective forms or call 616-983-0271.

Improving your home can yield tax saving

Undertaking home remodeling projects may offer you more than just personal satisfaction. Some home improvement projects also may bring tax advantages, according to the Farmington Hills-based Michigan Association of CPAs.

Tax implication

Capital improvements, such as replacing a roof, landscaping a yard and updating a bathroom, can be added to the basis of your home and decrease your taxable project when you sell it.

Be aware that some home projects are merely repairs that do not add to the basis of your residence. A capital improvement must add to your home's value, prolong its life or adapt part of your home to a new use.

When deciding which home improvement to make, also look at the trends in home sales and consider the features most important to home buyers in your area. For example, adding an outside deck may give you a better return on your investment than installing oak trim and handrails throughout your house.

When making your improvements, consider home prices in your neighborhood. If you want to recover your costs when you sell your home, don't undertake projects that elevate your property value above the neighborhood norm.

How will you pay?

Try not to borrow money for small projects — $3,000 or less. Instead, pay with cash. If your home improvement is larger in scope, there are a number of financing alternatives to consider.

If you've lived in your home for a while and have built up equity in it, you may be able to obtain a home-equity line of credit. The benefit of using home-equity loans is that, unlike consumer interest, home-equity interest is fully deductible, except for certain high-income individuals who are subject to an overall reduction in itemized deductions.

Home-equity debt may not exceed the home's value or $100,000 ($50,000 in the case of a married individual filing separately).

You also may finance a large remodeling project by refinancing your home at a lower interest rate. This may enable you to keep your monthly payments about the same, even if you take out a larger mortgage to finance a home improvement.

Another financing alternative is a home-improvement loan. Although you may be able to obtain the funding you need in a matter of weeks, the terms of the loan can be expensive. Home improvement loans generally have short repayment terms.

In most cases, it's wise to avoid financing a home improvement through credit cards. The interest rate on these cards is likely to be higher than on the loans mentioned above and the interest also is nondeductible.

Be wary about allowing a contractor or remodeling company to provide the financing. Since there has been a great deal of fraud in this area, it's wise to check out the company's reputation with regulatory authorities before making a commitment.

Selecting a contractor

Once you've decided on a project and have determined how it will be financed, look for a contractor. Obtain recommendations from people who have hired individuals for similar projects and be sure to obtain three bids.

Also, remember to check the references of the contractors you interview and be sure the contractor is licensed and bonded. You also may want someone who is accredited in remodeling. The National Association of Home Builders (1-800-368-5242) may help you find a contractor with the appropriate remodeling experience.

CPAs urge you to keep receipts and records that can substantiate your home improvement expenses. Establish a home improvement file for cancelled checks, credit card bills, signed contracts and loan agreements, and contractor invoices.

CONDO QUERIES

ROBERT M. MEISNER

Is there any authority in the condominium statute giving a developer the right to maintain an office in a model or unit or other facilities on the condominium premises. Our developer, we believe, is abusing his privileges in this regard.

However, the statute requires the developer to pay all costs related to the condominium units or common elements while owned by the developer and to restore the facilities to habitable status upon termination of its use.

To the extent you have problems with the developer, you should obviously attempt to seek a resolution of them, after having been advised of your legal rights as it relates to the developer's maintenance of these facilities.

The Michigan Condominium Act of 1978 provides the developer and duly authorized agents, representatives and employees may maintain offices, model units and other facilities on the property, which is subject to the condominium regime.

It may include provisions in the condominium documents relative to the facilities as may reasonably facilitate development and sale of the practically leased up.

 However we still have a few select 1 & 2 bedroom apartment homes for a few very selective people.
 If you are seeking an apartment home with these special extras like 24 hr service, patios, huge closets and more, you've found a secluded location that's not out of the way.

Dream Street: Keating's Home Town includes nine full-sized modular houses inside a 93,000-square-foot warehouse in Farmington Hills.

Modular homes sold from 'town square'

Prospects sometimes have only a couple of models to walk through at a building site or they have to resort to pictures, renderings and floor plans at a construction trailer. Now comes a new way of marketing homes in Farmington Hills.

By DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER

Howard T. Keating III is an expeditor now, not a builder. But he has built an unusual new home sales concept in Farmington Hills. The Troy resident matches buyers of modular homes - units constructed to traditional code in factories, then transported to lots in sections for reassembly - with licensed builders who can put things together on site.

Keating, 45, can show prospective buyers nine models, not renderings or photographs, but actual houses they can walk through. He can help find a lot to place the model, arrange a mortgage and, if necessary, find a second job to pay for everything.

All of this under one roof in a 93,000-square-foot warehouse off Halsted, between Nine Mile and Grand River, which he calls Keating's Home Town.

"This is Dream Street," he said pointing to seven models arranged in a square. And with the house lights dimmed amid the sights and sounds of a babbling fountain and artificial landscaping, it actually looks like a piece of small-town America.

"Isn't this wonderful?" he said. "Remember, it's freezing outside, guys."

Keating said he came up with the idea to expand after enjoying tremendous success with three modular models at a builder's show about six years ago.

"We were astonished at how many people came just to see our houses," he said. "There was a 20-minute wait just to get into the first home. We walked out with 1,306 appointments and 8,000 written inquiries."

"The past president of Frank's Nursery said, 'Howard, too bad you can't do this year around,'" Keating said.

Shortly thereafter, Keating said he was caught up in financing problems with a failed savings and loan. He stopped building and began to massage the model-within-

Suburban contractors upbeat about Archer

STAFF WRITER

Suburban contractors may have received the signal they were looking for last week when Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer spoke to their professional association about doing business in the big city.

Members of the Detroit chapter Associated General Contractors of America agree that the potential for work in Detroit is great. Several expressed their thoughts on what it will take to get the redevelopment ball rolling.

"We would hope the atmosphere, the energy Archer seems to exert will renew confidence so developers will invest and put money in the city," said Richard Millgard, executive vice president of the Millgard Corp. in Livonia.

"Instead of building walls, I think Archer will work to enhance building," Millgard said.

Part of that may involve relaxing or rethinking existing work crew requirements established by previous mayoral order, especially as they concern residency, Millgard suggested.

"I don't think it will happen overnight, but, again, it goes to immediate confidence," he added.

Larry Dailey, chairman of Perini Building Central U.S. Division in Southfield, said he believes that Archer will be a breath of fresh air.

"I think Coleman (Young) tried to do a job, but became kind of one-dimensional," Dailey said. "Dennis seems to want to work with (Wayne County Executive Edward) McNamara and (Oakland County Executive L. Brooks) Patterson."

"He (Archer) looks at it not just as a Detroit issues, but a metro issue," Dailey said. "Developers are going to have to have attractive economic packages, the permit process must become easier, funding must become available, which means banks must become involved, clients must be attracted."

"The challenge is so big, you just have to work area by area," he continued. "One of the biggest things you can do is get enterprise zones, grants and tax breaks by the federal government. That can start growth."

Thomas H. Landry, president of A.J. Etkin Construction in Farmington Hills, also is president of the Detroit chapter. "One person being positive and focusing on a vision can create a spirit and vitality," Landry said. "To achieve a dream, you have to have a dream."

Archer can help developers by cutting through red tape and promoting enterprise zones, Landry suggested. Contractors can help by looking at their costs of doing business and pro-

Teamwork with suburbs a must: new mayor

STAFF WRITER

It was almost a love-in when Mayor Dennis Archer told a group of predominantly suburban contractors what he would try to do for them and what they could do for Detroit and their own cause.

"Let's talk about what it is that we perhaps can do together," the mayor said, outlining both long-term and immediate action plans.

"I will name two task forces," Archer said. "I want them to look at all the documents gathering dust called master plans."

"What should we do about the world's greatest undeveloped waterfront? Where should we have a new industrial park? Where should we have a mall? The east side or west side? Strip centers - we need them all."

"Detroit is an ideal lab for growth and development," Archer continued. "Ninety percent of the vacant land in the city is free of environmental problems. We have enough land in this city to accomplish anything."

The mayor, who drew two standing ovations from some 230 contractors and their guests, mentioned a couple other goals.

"I think you will find our pension fund will be involved in new projects in the city of Detroit," Archer said. "We're going to cut red tape. If you want inspections, you'll get them. And we'll pay our bills on time."

The mayor also asked for the contractors' help.

"In April, my wife, sons and I are going to lead a beautification clean-up of our city," Archer said. "If you've got big trucks or dumpsters you can let us use... that would be a big help to us."

The mayor suggested that contractors hire school kids at minimum wage a few hours per week to teach work values and provide some spending money.

"Show them what to do, to be at work on time, to be dressed properly, the importance of good manners," the mayor said. "When we do that, we give our children opportunity to see hope."

"The days of the designated developer are gone," Archer continued. "Let me suggest that those of you with the capacity go from contractor to developer. If you have a good idea, bring it to the table yourself."

"Let's come together so we can make opportunities for everyone to be successful," he said. "There's going to be a lot for everyone to do. It's in everybody's interest for Detroit to become healthy again."

"Detroit isn't competing with Auburn Hills, Novi and Livonia. Our competition is the Cleveland region, the Boston region, the Philadelphia region. Everyone suffers from the negative image we've had in the past."

Lear Seating Corp., Southfield, announced the following promotions in the firm's major customer groups: Gerald G. Harris of Troy becomes vice president and general manager of GM operations. He joined the company in 1962 as manager-management information systems and also has been plant manager, sales manager and director of sales. Randal T. Murphy of Farmington Hills becomes vice president and general manager of Chrysler/BMW operations. He joined Lear in 1965 as a product engineer and became vice president-product engineering. Arthur H. Vartanian of Farmington Hills was promoted from director of GM operations to vice president and general manager of Ford operations. He joined the company as a product engineer in 1981 and has held several engineering posts.

Suzanne C. Drean, a native of Farmington Hills, was named associate director of community relations at Havenwyck Hospital, Auburn Hills. Drean, now of Lake Orion, is a limited license psychologist and a licensed counselor, with nearly 10 years of experience in public schools and community agencies. She's chairperson of the Oakland County Substance Abuse Advisory Council and has a private practice in Lake Orion.

Michael E. Quarton of Birmingham, who purchased an interest in TRM Group, Inc., an Auburn Hills telecommunications firm, was named company president. Tim Mackin of Royal Oak will continue as chief executive officer. Both Quarton and Mackin spent several years at AT&T, where Quarton was branch manager and marketing director of high tech products. Mackin worked in AT&T's engineering and sales divisions.

TRM, an Ameritech distributor, specializes in designing telecommunication systems for business.

Michelle D. Caron of Canton was named marketing services representative at Smith-Winchester, a Southfield advertising agency. She previously was director of marketing resources at Creative House Advertising, Farmington Hills.

Pamela Light of Canton has joined First International Financial Corp., Livonia, as the loan officer. She previously worked for Home Protection One Corp., Farmington Hills.

Art Nall, a former Redford Township resident, has joined 7UP Detroit as sales promotion manager for independent retailers. He previously was a regional sales manager for Pepsi Cola. Curtis Paul Gropman of Bloomfield Hills has joined the firm as sales promotion manager in charge of drugstores and mobile market customers. He'll develop joint advertising promotions between retailers and 7UP Detroit, an operation owned by Brooks Beverage Management, Inc.

Ross Roy Communications, based in Bloomfield Hills, has hired five account administrators from Observer & Eccentric communities: Joanne Schettler of Plymouth is responsible for the account administrative functions for the Chrysler Plymouth merchandising account. Robert Gibb of Bloomfield Hills joins the Chrysler International account, tracking the status of projects in production and managing the communication between account groups and support staff. Todd Morton of Birmingham will work on the Jeep Eagle merchandising account team. Julie Sayyae of Royal Oak will track the status of the Chrysler Educational Services jobs in production. Darrin Dimitry of Orchard Lake joins the Sports Authority and National Bank of Detroit account teams.

Pamela S. Ritter of Royal Oak, previously a law clerk at the law firm of Strobl and Manogian in Bloomfield Hills, has joined the firm as an associate in the commercial litigation division.

Kevin Leeser has joined Unique Film & Video in Farmington Hills as head of the graphics department. The Hazel Park resident previously worked for Amway Corp., where he developed the multimedia lab. He's also designed multimedia special effects for live music performances throughout the Midwest.

Stephen A. Krawczyk of Rochester Hills was named product manager for garage doors at Stanley Door Systems, Troy. He's responsible for pricing, promotion, packaging and product development of Stanley Door Systems' steel garage door products.

Emma J. Brooks was appointed marketing administration manager at J.R. Thompson Co., a Farmington Hills marketing and communications firm. She's responsible for managing program administration services, including marketing and communications support and research services. The Holly resident previously was supervisor of customer service and advertising/marketing at Tractech/Dyneer Corp., Warren.

a-warehouse concept. He eventually found a half-dozen investors.

They leased a large warehouse in Farmington Hills — "the ceiling height, it's 27½ feet, and it's a good location for us" — and spent about three months setting up. The official grand opening was Jan. 15.

When completely finished, Keating's Home Town will feature a child-care room, a nature center, and a vending/eating area where suppliers like Carrier, Honeywell and Detroit Edison can exhibit their goods and conduct demonstrations, Keating said.

There is no admission charge and visitors will be taken on guided tours through the models.

"Our mission is to educate people," Keating said. "People who want $200,000 can go fend for themselves. People who want to buy for $75,000, $80,000 need help.

"We have special financing. We have employment agencies here for people who need supplemental income. We have credit counselors here if people need help with that.

"We are not builders here, we're coordinators," he emphasized.

While Keating designs the models, the units actually are built in Indiana or Marlette, Mich., and purchased by individual buyers through the builders who reassemble the units on lots.

The nine models ranging from a 1,093-square-foot ranch to a 2,104-square-foot, two-story country home all are priced at less than $100,000, even with upgraded options.

The models can be constructed over a basement or crawl space. Garages are standard on some models, extra on others.

Keating expects two models to be especially popular.

Expressions, a ranch of 1,203 square feet, has an option of three bedrooms or two bedrooms and a study. The base price with basement is $73,600, crawl space $70,200.

"People love it when kids can be on one side of the house, parents on the other," he said.

Then there's the Freedom, a 1,093-square-foot, barrier-free ranch priced at $80,200 with basement, $75,400 with crawl space.

"Look at the large thermostat, (electrical) plugs are off the floor, wide hallways, space for a wheelchair under the kitchen sink, a wheel-in shower," Keating said.

Lots cost extra.

Buyers of the models can arrange their own financing and find their own building site or use the services provided by Michigan Lot Exchange, a Keating subsidiary, or Nationwide Mortgage at Home Town.

Modular homes have the same building codes as stick-built, site construction. Keating said.

ing said. His prices include a 15-year warranty and one-year layoff insurance policy to pay the mortgage, utilities and medical insurance and child care as part of the base price.

Gordon Blake is spokesman for the major investors of Home Town.

"My confidence in this concept, the people involved and the opportunity to get a return on my investment — and to give back to society — prompted my involvement," he said.

Raymond Anderson is an area builder who will link up with Keating.

"I think it's nice you can show people what their house is going to look like," Anderson said. "People are amazed. The quality of the houses is fine. There's nothing wrong with that at all."

Joe Slavik, owner of a Farmington Hills building company, serves as an advisor to Keating.

"The key in this is you market housing like you market automobiles," Slavik said. "You have a big showroom with all the models and styles where people can come and have all their questions answered."

Keating figures he can get customers into a house within 90 days if there's no hold-up on municipally issued building permits.

"Really, this is the least risky of all (marketing strategies)," Keating said. "I have six markets under one roof. In a subdivision, you only have one market and if you're wrong, you're in trouble."

"This is a fun experience and a learning experience. This will attract the public."

The crime problem has been addressed in areas of the city that have experienced a renaissance — Harbortown, Victoria Place and Riverfront, Landry said. He's also impressed with Archer's commitment to education. "Quality of life is a concern of everybody, obviously," Landry said. "You need a trickle before it can pour. That's what's happening."

Art Shmina, chairman of A.Z. Shmina in Livonia, is a past president of the Detroit chapter. "The new mayor is non-confrontational," Shmina said. "He has a spirit of cooperation. He's of the type who invites people in. Very definitely he can make a difference."

"I don't think Archer should be looked upon as an entity of Detroit. He's quality all the way and sets a tone for the area. At that point, there must be encouragement of private enterprise through laws about anything that restricts our activity."

"Taxes, I think, have got to be lowered," Shmina added.

Bill McCarthy, president of McCarthy & Smith in Redford Township, sees a need to attract new business and then better efforts to expedite the construction process once it starts.

"You've got to go out looking for industry to locate in the area," McCarthy said. "It won't be automatic. They won't spend in the city."

And about the paperwork process?

"The whole attitude here was very poor," McCarthy recalled. "It was tough to get permits. Inspections? Impossible. You're probably going to have to do something about taxes in the city, too. Income and property taxes are out of touch."

"It's going to take time and patience. Don't get your expectations so high you'll be disappointed. It takes year to cultivate an environment. Investors perceive hospitality, a good investment."

"A city has to be safe, clean, well managed. If he can get the garbage picked up, buses run on time, crime is better, education — that's what it's going to take," Smith said. "Can one man make a difference? You better believe it."

Frank Smith, president of the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce, said: "We have 11,200 companies as members, only 25 percent in the city. We're regional. Our whole perspective is this marketplace."

Cut to core when window shopping

Windows are not just windows anymore. Energy-saving inert gas fills the gap between panes, special coatings let in light but not heat, and window blinds can operate between the panes to keep clear of dust and damage.

"If energy savings are important, don't stop with how a window looks," says Paul Martin, territory sales manager, Pella Window and Door Co., Livonia. "The decision should include the frame material."

"Because most window performance characteristics depend on the frame to work properly, it's a critical place to start. The greatest difference in windows is still the product it's made of — solid wood, vinyl plastic or hollow metal."

Wood and vinyl frames have a stronghold on the window market, in large part due to the energy-efficiency problems of aluminum frames. Wood, a natural insulator, has more than 1,500 items the thermal resistance of metal.

MARKETPLACE

Marketplace features a glimpse of suburban business news and notes, including corporate name changes, new products, new store or office openings, new affiliations, new positions, mergers, acquisitions and new ways of doing business. Write: Marketplace, Building & Business, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Our fax number is 313-591-7279.

BASELINE NEWS

Four new mayors, including Arnold Campbell of Farmington and Lawrence Lichtman of Farmington Hills, have joined the Eight Mile Boulevard Association board of directors.

At a November meeting, the board decided that businesses, community groups and individuals may join the association as associate members. Associate members will receive a quarterly newsletter and annual report and will pay discounted fees for the annual meeting and other events the organization may sponsor.

Early this year, a membership invitation will be sent to more than 600 names on the association's mailing list. The group also will use direct mail to recruit some 3,000 businesses along Eight Mile from Farmington Hills to Harper Woods.

Dues are $8 for individuals, $18 for nonprofit organizations and $28 for businesses. For an advance membership application, call 810-559-8633.

AHHH, SUN ROOFS

Representatives from Auto Sunroof and Accessories of Troy, a sales and service center for ASC Inc. sunroofs, visited ASC's 112,000-square-foot plant in Columbus, Ohio.

The new facility has the capacity to produce 500,000 sunroofs annually. ASC manufactures power, venting and sliding sunroofs and factory models for the Honda Accord EX and Chrysler LH models at the Ohio facility.

SPEED VIDEO MESSAGES

Fiber optic cabling has been installed at MVP Communications on-site studio in Troy, creating a faster, less expensive way to send video messages.

The fiber connection links MVP with the Ameritech switching center in downtown Detroit. From there, the video signal can be routed to its destination by fiber optic cables or to a satellite uplink station for transmission.

In the past, MVP needed one to two days to set up a portable uplink outside of their studio. With the fiber optic link, the cost to transmit a video signal will be reduced by one-half to two-thirds the cost of the portable uplink, the company said.

AIR BAG VENTURE

Southfield-based AlliedSignal Automotive, Sequa's Atlantic Research Corp. and BPD Defesa e Spazio (Gilardini) of Italy have formed a three-way venture to supply advanced air bag inflators to European automakers.

The group, named BAG S.p.A., will design, produce and sell hybrid inflators for driver and passenger-side air bags. It will be the first company to produce hybrid inflators for driver-side bags. The inflators provide a cost-efficient way to inflate air bags, using compressed argon gas that operates on the principle that heated gas expands.

AlliedSignal has also signed an agreement to acquire the seat belt business of Gilardini. Terms of the agreement were not announced, but the agreement is expected to be final by Jan. 31.

NEW CLIENT

Goldfarb & Co., Southfield, will handle advertising, marketing and public relations for Zaske, Sarafa and Associates, a Bloomfield Hills investment firm.

SCORE OFFICE

Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE) opened a new office in the Buell Management Building at Lawrence Technological University, Southfield, Jan. 4.

SCORE helps people start their own business and assists people already in business, says Jack Caminker, SCORE's coordinating counselor at Lawrence Tech.

SCORE counselors typically have 20-45 years of experience in various areas of business, including personnel, marketing, advertising, accounting, engineering, sales and taxes. Advisors can help prospective business owners prepare a business plan and marketing strategy, says Caminker, whose background includes 40 years in real estate management.

Counseling is free and business seminars are $15 to $30. For an appointment, call 810-356-0200, ext. 3053, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. Counseling is scheduled Tuesday and Friday mornings.

EXECUTIVE AGENCY

Continental Search Associates, a Bloomfield Hills executive placement agency, has opened Continental Interim Executives, providing temporary senior level executives, superintendents and managers for a range of industries.

"The new company offers our clients more flexibility in the staffing process," said William R. Dewey, Continental Search president. "Our clients have gone through great changes during the last recession, and we have widened our spectrum of services to meet the growing demand for alternative hiring arrangements. Professional temporaries are increasingly used by corporations as part of their business plan."

The Continental Group is at 1100 N. Woodward, Suite 224. The telephone number is 810-644-4506.

TOP DEALER

Richard A. Mealey, president of Birmingham Chrysler-Plymouth, Birmingham, is among 17 dealers in the U.S. and Canada to receive the Dealer Education Award from Northwood University, Midland, in San Francisco this month.

Dr. David E. Fry, Northwood president, said Mealey's up-to-date employee training has produced sales and service achievement and frequent recognition from manufacturers. The dealer was also singled out for supporting programs at Michigan Technological University, Houghton, and Oakland University, Rochester Hills.

ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGER

Compliance Engineering, a firm specializing in hazardous and industrial waste management, regulatory report preparation, environmental plans for facilities and safety and environmental training for employees, has opened at 320 E. Maple, Suite 182, Birmingham.

Training includes Occupational Safety and Health Administration "Right to Know," Confined Space Procedures and Training, and Emergency Spill Response Training.

For information, call Steven Kurth, environmental engineer, at 810-642-6045.

TOP ACCOUNT

Anderson Paint Co., with stores in Farmington and Ann Arbor, was named Maxum UltiMAX account of the year by Premier Coatings, manufacturer of Maxum coatings and paints, Elk Grove Village, Ill.

In 1993, Anderson sold more UltiMAX than any other account in North American and Europe. Anderson was also commended for educating the public on proper painting procedures, product selection and problem solving.

DEDICATE LAB

SmithKline Beecham Clinical Laboratories, Farmington Hills, will dedicate its new 35,000-square-foot facility at 38700 Country Club on Jan. 28. The firm's staff of more than 100 moved to the new location in November.

SmithKline, based in Collegeville, Penn., does medical testing for physicians, hospital and employers throughout Michigan and northwest Ohio.

SELECT AGENCY

Autoworks, an automotive parts retailer based in Rochester, N.Y., has selected Stone, August, Baker Communications, Troy, to handle advertising and marketing activity. Autoworks' billing for 1994 is projected at $5 million. Autoworks has 58 locations in Michigan.

MEMBERSHIP ANNIVERSARY

Plante & Moran, based in Southfield, marks its 15th year of membership in the Private Companies Practice Section of the American Institute of CPAs. Plante & Moran was one of the founding members of this voluntary association, whose membership now exceeds more than 6,500 CPA firms.

MARKET RESORTS

Golf Marketing Services of Bloomfield Hills will handle marketing activity for Dunmaglas Golf Club and High Pointe Golf Club, both located in northern Michigan.

In 1992, Golf Digest selected Dunmaglas as one of the five best new resort courses. In 1990, Golf Digest picked High Pointe as one of the 75 best public courses in the United States.

Simple, honest, straightforward. How else would you expect to lease a Saturn?

By now, you've probably heard about the Saturn buying experience. No hassles, no pressure, no fuss, just common courtesy, along with a pretty great car.

Well, the way we see it, your experience shouldn't be any different if you want to lease a Saturn. After all, what could we possibly gain by making things any less straightforward than they have to be?

The Saturn SL

($190/Month *$561/Down 36/Months)

SmartLease payments based on 1994 Saturn SL Sedan, 5 speed, AC, MSRP $11,210 excluding taxes, title, license fee and insurance. First month's lease payment of $189.56 plus $225.00 refundable security deposit and down payment of $561.00 for a total of $975.56 due at lease signing. Option to purchase at lease end for $6,277.60. Payments total $6,824.16.

GMAC must approve lease. Mileage charge of $0.10 per mile over 45,000 miles. Your payments may be higher or lower. Lessee pays for excessive wear and use.
