Brown drops assault charge

Sharon Felan said she is disappointed that Wayne-Westland school board member Patricia Brown dropped an assault charge against her. Felan's attorney suggested that a civil suit charging Brown with defamation of character is possible.

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A judge dismissed an assault charge against former Wayne-Westland school board appointee Sharon Felan after her accuser, board member Patricia Brown, announced suddenly Thursday that she wanted to drop the case.

Brown's about-face decision stunned Felan, who said she wanted an opportunity to fight the charge and clear her name in court.

"I am in shock. I was not expecting this," Felan said Thursday morning, immediately after visiting Judge

Thomas Van Tiem Sr. dismissed the case in 18th-District Court.

"I'm disappointed," Felan added, standing with her attorney, Michael Ostrosky, outside the courtroom.

Ostrosky indicated that a civil lawsuit accusing Brown of defaming Felan's character is still possible.

"This issue isn't dead," he said. "This matter is not over with."

Brown declined to comment on the possibility that she could be sued over the controversy that erupted when she filed a police report, accusing Felan of shoving her during a

Nov. 23 argument. Only one witness, Brown's roommate, claimed to have seen the alleged hallway incident.

In a written statement, Brown, 30, said she asked prosecutor Don Vandersloot to have the case dismissed Thursday "since my most recent encounters with Mrs. Felan have been favorable."

Felan, 46, seemed puzzled by Brown's remark and said their only encounter since Felan was charged was when Brown and other school

Group: 'Outcome' education flunks

BY MARIE CHESTNEY
STAFF WRITER

Every Friday at 3 p.m. a small group of parents takes the "don't dumb down our kids" message to another elementary school in the Livonia school district, which includes the northern portion of Westland.

"In the past, schools focused on academics," said Lisa Morency, a parent and picketer.

"Now, schools are into intuitive functioning, feelings, emotions, physical sensing. Some think this is wonderful, and some kids need this kind of help. Others don't. Social workers have a place in society, but not in my son's academic instruction."

In the fall, group members handed out informational packets at the corner of Five Mile and Farmington, near the school district's administrative offices.

Now that it's winter, they're picketing schools at closing time, a time when parents are picking up their children and more apt to see the group's message.

The picketers oppose outcome-based education (OBE), a new state-mandated way of measuring what students learn in the classroom. In a nutshell, the state now uses OBE to define the knowledge, values and attitudes a student should assimilate after being taught various subjects.

To monitor the learning that takes place in the classroom, the state no longer looks at numbers, whether it be the number of years spent in a class or school or the number of books in the school library.

Instead, the state now tells districts to measure what students learn from those books. The state now tells districts what exit goals, or outcomes, it should test for. The emphasis has shifted from what is taught to students to what is learned by students. OBE creates a new accountability for education based on results, not intentions, according to the Michigan State Board of Education.

The state's core curriculum spells out outcomes in the following areas: language arts, career and employability, world studies, cultural and aesthetic awareness, math and science, physical education and health, technology, arts, and life management.

City reassures anxious homeowners

BY LEONARD POGER
EDITOR

Hundreds of upset Westland homeowners wondering whether they will qualify for a large property tax exemption were assured by city officials last week that help is on the way.

That help, in the form of a property tax affidavit, is expected to be in the mail and in homeowners' hands early this week, said city assessor Karen Hardin.

She and other employees in her assessing department office were swamped by hundreds of people waiting in line to hand in a version of the affidavit that was erroneously mailed to Westland homeowners.

Hardin said the form that should be used by local homeowners has a preprinted name, address, property tax identification number, and a computerized bar code to make it easier for the state to determine if the homeowners qualify for the exemption.

The forms received last week by local homeowners were virtually identical to the ones expected to be in their hands this week — the exception being the absence of the name, address, identification number and bar code.

When the appropriate form is received, Hardin said, homeowners need only fill in the date and their Social Security number and sign it.

Those affidavits will be accompanied by a self-addressed envelope and then returned to City Hall.

The affidavits, which must be returned by March 1, are crucial to homeowners qualifying for a major school operations property tax cut.

Depending on what Michigan voters decide at the special election March 15, residents will pay either 6 or 12 mills. (One mill equals $1 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation.)

Victim describes baseball bat beating

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A Garden City man testified that he was kicked in the face and beaten in the head with a baseball bat when he went to help two Westland relatives fend off an attack in front of their house.

Basel Buck, 35, said he was severely beaten after he drove to the 6300 block of Wayne Road, near Hunter, to help a nephew and an uncle fight off three attackers at 11 p.m. Jan. 27.

Buck testified that he feared he would die if he suffered one more blow from an aluminum bat that, ironically, he took to the scene for protection.

Buck said the bat was taken away from him after he hit one of his assailants in the leg while trying to thwart an attack. Two others joined in the assault, kicking him and beating him, he testified in Westland 18th District Court.

"They were holding me down," Buck said.

The assailants went to the house to demand $100 that they said Buck's nephew owed to them, police have said. The nephew phoned Buck for help when the attackers began trying to force their way into the house, Buck said.

His testimony came Thursday during a preliminary examination that concluded with three Westland men being ordered by Judge C. Charles Bokos to stand trial on charges stemming from the incident.

John Robert Young, 20, Richard Anthony Nastal, 21, and Ryan Allen Nastal, 19, could face up to 10 years in prison and fines of $5,000 if convicted in Detroit Recorder's Court. The Nastals are brothers.

Each defendant faces a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm (less than murder) and a second count of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Young is accused of wielding the baseball bat, but the Nastals also were aggressors during the incident, Wayne County assistant prosecutor Maria Petito said in court Thursday.

"They continued to hold (Buck) and kick him, even after the second blow (from the bat) was coming," Petito said.

Not guilty pleas had been entered for all three defendants prior to Thursday's hearing. Pending trial, they remain free on bond.

Inaugural dance

Mayor Robert Thomas will hold his inaugural ball Saturday night, Feb. 26, in the Hellenic Cultural Center, on Joy between Wayne Road and Newburgh. Tickets for the semi-formal ball are available at the mayor's office, which may be contacted at 467-3200. The Rendezvous band will provide live music. The event is open to the public. Thomas was re-elected to a second term in November by a 2-1 margin.

Driver education for seniors

A two-day "55 Alive/Mature Driving" course is offered by the American Association of Retired Persons to provide refresher driving information for people aged 50 and older. It will be held 9:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 21, and Tuesday,

PLACES & FACES

Feb. 22, in St. Theodore Church, 8200 Wayne Road, just south of Joy. Purpose of the class is to help older people improve driving skills and help prevent accidents, said Thomas Stockman, assistant state coordinator of the program. How to drive in bad weather and the effects of aging and medications on drivers will be covered. Fee is $3. Interested people may contact Cathy or Ray King, 281-6688. The local sponsor is St. Theodore Church Seniors Club.

DARE benefit

A "challenge" benefit will be held Sunday afternoon, March 27, at the Westland Scoop and Shoot recreational facility to raise money for the Westland police department's DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) program. A similar one was held a year ago at the site on Marie, south of Ford and west of Hix. Entry forms for teams considering taking part are available at the Westland Chamber of Commerce office, 36900 Ford, which may be contacted at 326-7222. Entry fee is $50 per team. Challenge games will be held at 2 and 6 p.m.

Grand opening

Remerica Neighborhood Realtors will hold a ribbon-cutting ceremony at 4 p.m. Tuesday for its new office, 39015 Cherry Hill, west of Hix. Office broker is Robert Watson, who will be assisted by associate broker Robert Patterson. Refreshments will be served from 4-7 p.m.

Daddies, daughters dance

It was another sellout Thursday night when just over 200 "couples" enjoyed the Westland recreation department's annual daddy-daughter Valentine dance.

Actually, some fathers brought two daughters while some girls were dancing with their grandfathers.

The square dance, held in Bailey Center, had the dancers move to the calling of Mike Brennan, have free Polaroid photos taken and taste heart-shaped cookies.

It was the department's 13th annual Valentine dance for fathers and daughters, following by one week the mommy-son square dance.

The Bailey Center gym was decorated with red and white balloons and crepe paper.

Among the dancers were recreation director Charles Skene and his daughter.

Business owners like SMART route changes

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

The SMART bus system is soliciting the opinion of Wayne County business operators regarding how SMART routes might better accommodate employees who have no cars.

And the business people seem to be impressed.

At a public hearing Wednesday, about 60 individuals representing various private enterprises told SMART personnel how the buses might better serve carless employees.

"It was very productive," said Bobbie Shorter, manager of a Rally's Hamburgers outlet in Westland. "I assumed it wouldn't be anything that would interest me, but I came out with a very different opinion. They're really genuinely concerned with our needs."

What SMART is doing is adjusting its existing bus routes to accommodate specific needs of businesses. (To get your two cents in, call SMART at 223-2100.)

For example, Technicolor Video Services at Seven Mile and I-275 in Livonia hires many temporary workers who don't have cars. The nearest bus stop is a mile away. So SMART plans to change the route and drop the employees off right at Technicolor.

Kelly Services also has a problem. "Almost all the positions we have are west of Middlebelt," said sales representative Jessica Callaway. "It's hard to get (our employees) out there."

SMART has agreed to extend bus service to the Kelly sites, with the help of a little Kelly green. "We're going to have to subsidize some of the runs, but the cost is negligible," Callaway said.

Richard Walker, the manager of Rally's in Livonia, is in a similar fix. Most of his employees live in Detroit, but the SMART bus doesn't roll any farther north than Wonderland Mall at Plymouth and Middlebelt. The majority of Walker's employees ride the bus to work, but must disembark at Wonderland to walk the remaining two miles. Walker wants SMART to extend the bus route.

Michael Duggan, the interim general manager of SMART, said it's no secret that the metro Detroit bus service is skimpy at best. "There's no question we need a major increase in service," he said, noting that just one SMART route penetrates Canton Township, two in Redford Township and two in Livonia. SMART has no service to Laurel Park or Schoolcraft College. After 11 p.m. SMART has just five buses running in the tri-county area.

Currently, SMART is negotiating with the Detroit Department of Transportation to consolidate services. For example, DDOT maintenance crews might repair SMART buses that break down downtown. And schedules might be coordinated to avoid duplication of service.

"Ultimately, a merger is the solution," Duggan said, but that depends on how well consolidation of services goes.

Candidates want to keep SC on track

BY SUSAN ROSIEK
STAFF WRITER

Expanding business partnerships, community service, and a desire to lend expertise so that an already "fine institution" stays on track were themes echoed by nine candidates seeking an appointment to the Schoolcraft College Board.

The board interviewed nine of 13 candidates last Wednesday. The other four will be interviewed beginning at 7 p.m. Wednesday, after which the board is expected to make a decision.

The person selected will serve the remainder of Michael Burley's term, which expires June 30, 1995.

Candidates speak

"I am indebted to Schoolcraft College for my degree in nursing," said Bernadine Horan of Livonia. "It'll allow me to be marketable for a long, long time."

Horan, an emergency-room nurse at Botsford General Hospital in Farmington Hills, also holds a bachelor's degree in allied health management from Madonna University.

Horan wants to see more technical programs because "that's where the emphasis must be as the college responds to the needs of the community."

Harriet Larson said she too would emphasize vocational and technical programs as a board member.

Now retired, Larson taught for more than 20 years in Livonia Public Schools. She lives in Livonia and is president of the Livonia Library Commission.

SC praised

Larson praised the Women's Resource Center, the Citizen Advisory committees, and the college foundation for the programs offered and the progress they've made in the college community.

"I'm good at working with people, setting goals and expediting discussions," said Larson when asked what she would bring to the Schoolcraft board.

"I am interested in the Schoolcraft College board because I wanted you to have someone who knows about education, someone intensely interested in education, and someone who cares about the community," said Larson, who added that she was impressed with the high quality of candidates seeking the appointment.

John J. Pantalone, a retired school principal and present owner of a travel agency and motivational seminar firm, told trustees: "I'm not here because I think anything's broken and needs to be fixed."

Opportunities here

He said, however, that education can be improved and there are tremendous opportunities for Schoolcraft to get closer to the community.

As a trustee, he would encourage more joint ventures with business and industry.

Pantalone, a Westland resident, said it's important to review curriculums to make sure that the college is offering curriculums where there are jobs for students when they complete the program.

Michael Reynolds, an attorney from Livonia, said he applied for the post because Schoolcraft has "a good track record."

Team player

"I see myself as a team player. I have no personal agenda. My impression of the school is that the present and past boards have done a tremendous job developing the school," said Reynolds.

"I don't believe in trying to fix something that's not broken," he added.

Reynolds said the principal benefit that a lawyer can provide is objective analysis and an understanding of the concepts of public good and the benefit of compromise.

Mary Siegreen of Northville told board members she applied for the position because after being so involved in her work for the last 13 years she felt she was neglecting her community.

"I see the role of a community college from two perspectives — as a jumping-off point for students starting out in college, and for people who need to get to work."

Value of S'craft

"I believe strongly in the value of education and in particular the value of a community college," said Siegreen, who has taught nursing at the community college level.

She told trustees there's a great need for people who have technical skills.

Siegreen works as a clinical nurse specialist/case manager at Harper Hospital, Detroit Medical Center.

Luis Torres of Livonia said that as a trustee he would push the board to get more involved with business and industry.

He too stressed the technical skills students need to enter the workplace. Among those are automotive design, drafting, and nursing.

Prepare students

"As students leave campus they must be prepared for the future."

"Technology is going so fast — We need to catch up," said Torres, who works as a mechanical engineer at AM General Corp. in Livonia.

"I would be honored to serve on the board. I think I can help. I'm convinced I can help," said Torres, who lives in Livonia.

Michael Dani, a self-employed certified public accountant, said it was former U.S. Rep. Carl Purler who encouraged him to apply for the trustee post.

Expertise can help

Dani said his CPA expertise would be beneficial to the board.

A Canton resident, Dani said he likes the idea of a satellite center in that community, but it must be cost-effective.

Dani said that although the college is doing a good job, he would like to see computer courses expanded and improved.

Dani's wife works at the college, and trustees asked about a potential conflict when it came time for contract negotiations.

"I'm not a strong union person, but I believe unions are a necessary evil," said Dani, adding he could separate the personal and professional issues.

Dani holds a degree from College. He said being knowledgeable in finance, management and human services would help him on the board.

Linda Chuhnan of Canton Township said Schoolcraft is not "a new interest, but a continuing interest" with her.

"I have several degrees from Schoolcraft. It's part of me. I like the college; it's an important cornerstone in the county," said Chuhnan.

Chuhnan was formerly a candidate for the Schoolcraft board.

"I simply wish to serve the tax-

Bryan Amann launches campaign for U.S. Congress

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

As the February wind rattled through the cars at Jack Demmer Ford Thursday, Bryan Amann attempted to heat up his campaign for U.S. Congress in the parking lot.

Speaking over the whoosh of traffic on Michigan Avenue, and interrupted by a flag that keeled over, Amann criticized the federal government in general and the federal deficit in particular, adding, "If we think paying for the deficit is expensive, consider the cost of a bankrupt society."

A Wayne County commissioner since 1991, Amann now aims for the seat in Congress long held by his mentor, Democrat William Ford, who recently announced his retirement.

The only other declared candidate in the race for the 13th Congressional District is Republican John Schall of Ann Arbor, formerly of Livonia. Observer communities in the 13th District are Canton and Plymouth townships and the cities of Plymouth, Westland, Garden City and the southeast quadrant of Livonia.

Gesturing to the Ford Motor Co. plant behind him, Amann, 36, recalled the days when he worked there to pay his way through the University of Michigan. "The work was hard, monotonous and sometimes dehumanizing. But it was worth it," he said. "I was forever charged with an understanding of the values and sensibilities of working men and women and their families."

Chester Amann of Westland, the candidate's father, said his son "is going to go to Washington to help carry out the garbage."

Dorothy Amann, the candidate's mother, clips every newspaper article her son is mentioned in. "I guess I'm going to have to get a bigger scrapbook," she said.

Although Amann has yet to raise the first dollar for his campaign, he already has a tidy stable of endorsements, including Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack, Westland Mayor Robert Thomas, former Garden City Mayor Jim Plakas, Livonia city councilmen Dale Jurcisin and Mike McGee, Plymouth city commissioner Dennis Shrewsbury, Plymouth Township Trustee K.C. Mueller and Canton Community Foundation director William Joyner.

Other officials from Wayne, Romulus, Inkster, Huron Township, Northville Township and Sumpter Township have also endorsed Amann.

Yack's endorsement comes as somewhat of a surprise, considering Yack is a Republican and Amann a Democrat. However, Yack is reserving the right to support the Republican candidate after the Aug. 2 primary election.

"I know Bryan very well," Yack said. "The qualities he has are what I'm looking for in a congressman." And the qualities are? "Integrity, talent, knowledge, intelligence, responsiveness to the citizens, hard worker, very hard worker."

Amann said he expects the campaign to cost $1 million, which he calls "obscene." He will "probably" accept contributions from political action committees, but "you have to be careful about who you take money from."

On mud-slinging campaigns, Amann said, "I won't start it, but I'm not going to stand here like a punching bag and take it (if someone else starts it)."

Given his druthers, Amann said, he'll stick to the issues. "One of the lessons Bill Ford taught me is never mention your opponent's name."

In December 1992 Amann said, "I think I can make a difference from within the system, usually by kicking the system in the butt."

But would that strategy work in Washington? "It wouldn't hurt a bit in Washington," he said.

Amann has lived in six of the 22 communities in the 13th district, including Westland, Canton and Garden City. He now lives in Wayne with his wife Mary and their daughters, Lindsay, 8, and Lauren, 5. He graduated from John Glenn High School in 1975 and earned his law degree from the University of Detroit and Georgetown University.

While studying in Washington, D.C., Amann served Ford's staff. He also worked as assistant county executive for criminal justice under Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara and was instrumental in setting a noise abatement policy between the Federal Aviation Administration, Metro Airport and the airlines.

In private life, Amann is an attorney with the Livonia law firm Brashear, Tangora and Spence.

payers and my community in a capacity which I feel I have experience that would be beneficial," wrote Chuhnan when applying for the post.

She holds several associate's degrees from Schoolcraft College, and bachelor's and master's degrees from Madonna University.

She works in cost accounting in the GM Powertrain Division in Pontiac.

William Fried, CPA, attorney and owner of Fried & Associates, P.C. said his background in law, finance and accounting will make a contribution to the board in this "process of change."

Fried told trustees that Schoolcraft must embrace the "information superhighway" and strike up more partnerships and joint ventures with growing companies.

Fried called teachers the most important element in the educational process because "they deliver the end product."

It doesn't matter how much money or power a "fat cat" has. In an American courtroom, he's exactly the same as you.
But wait! Can't a fat cat hire the best lawyers? Won't they affect the case?
Yes, he can. And they probably will. But so can you.
That's the beauty of our legal system. You can hire a good lawyer without spending a dime.
Some very fine, respected lawyers will take your case for a percentage, which they earn only if you win.
That's a contingency fee. The only way some people—decent people like you—can afford legal counsel.

Firm makes loans available to individuals with troubled credit
There are many reasons why millions of Americans fall victim to credit problems every year. From maxing out credit cards to more sobering causes including loss of employment, family growth, medical emergencies and poor training in personal and household financial management.
Fortunately, there is now a local company making consolidation and new purchase loans available to people in these situations. We asked Bill Cunningham, Vice President of Security Home Loan...
Who is eligible for one of these loans?
We will work with individuals who have equity in their homes and have had debt problems of one type or another.
How does the loan work?
We take people who are living from paycheck to paycheck and consolidate all of their obligations into one lower payment. In fact, the average person will save from 30 to 40 percent a month with a consolidation of this type.
How can someone apply for one of these loans?
At Security, we pre-approve people over the phone at no charge. At that time, we also give the person an idea of how much money we can save them.
Call Bill Cunningham at Security Home Loan (810) 669-4334 if you are interested in having a payment analysis done.

Travel gadgets make life easier

Everyone has a favorite travel essential, the one item you can't leave home without. My husband, for instance, spends lots of time in airport corridors and nondescript hotel rooms. His bags are perpetually packed and there are a few things he claims makes life on the road a bit more bearable.

As a compulsive ironer, his compact clothes iron and steamer is tucked safely in a special interior pocket of his hanging bag. You can find a similar one at Travel 2000 in Twelve Oaks Mall, Novi ($29). His newest lifesaver is a Tumi expandable organizer brief from Baggit in Applegate Square, Southfield. Its plethora of pockets and roomy interior eliminates the need for an extra carry-on.

Tom Feiten of Farmington Hills swears by his leather tie case from Jos. A. Bank, 300 Pierce in Birmingham (and Laurel Park Place in Livonia.) It keeps four ties perfectly pressed, no crumpled ends. He's even given the case as a gift to friends.

If your travel plans call for luggage with a little panache, check out the World Map-patterned bags at Rand McNally travel store in The Somerset Collection in Troy. The antique map print covers fanny packs, wallets, totes, camera bags, duffels and cosmetic pouches ($15.95-$84.95).

For the ultimate in practicality, Travel 2000 recommends the new Travelpro suit carrier on sale now for $189.90. Part of the original Rollboard Travel system, this newest piece is perfect for the business traveler.

Peggy Collias at Rand McNally pointed out some of her customers' favorite trip take-alongs. Journals are available in various sizes and motifs. The one pictured is an actual travel log containing beautiful prints of famous sites ($22.95). Neck nests are extremely popular for long car journeys. The inflatable pillow comes with a carrier ($6.95) and is also available with a fleece lining ($9.95).

Travel shave is a nifty little product that looks like a fountain pen. It provides 10 shaves and even dispenses the foam ($5.95). Mini-hangers, a laundry line and detergent packets for fine washables always come in handy in an under-stocked hotel room.

If you're traveling overseas, you might consider wearing an undercover neck pouch to carry your money, passport and travelers checks ($9.95). They're called "safes" at Travel 2000 where the waist safe is a top seller ($10-$12).

World travelers should also pack converters and adaptors, phrase books, dictionaries and cultural reference books from Rand McNally. Worldmate is a travel translator, calculator, currency converter, clock and calendar all in one ($129.95). It makes foreign travel much easier, as does the Seiko folding alarm clock ($69.95). The Seiko world time credit card-size clock is a constant travel companion of Jim Shaivoy of Rochester Hills.

Ever stay awake all night in a hotel room bothered by street noise, the air conditioning or loud neighbors? The Sharper Image offers a micro sound soother that provides a tranquil sonic environment for dream-filled sleep ($79.95).

Finally, if you're traveling with kids, Rand McNally suggests ways to minimize the stress. The shop carries children's activity books and toys, magnetic games, disposable Kodak cameras that are simple enough for little ones to use, and Accubanda for the prevention of motion sickness without drugs. Once you're home, organize all of your family photos in a Shoebox photo viewer that cycles up to 40 pictures for individual viewing ($14.95).

Linda Bachrack is a Birmingham resident. You can leave her column ideas at 953-2047, mailbox 1889, or fax them to her at 644-1314.

If correctly spelling words like "hazardous" or "plagiarism" for fun, fame and prizes sounds like something your son or daughter might like to do Saturday afternoon, sign up for Livonia Mall's annual Spelling Bee on Feb. 19.

Radio personality Karen Savelly of WCSX-FM will host the Spelling Bee, co-sponsored by the Livonia Mall Merchant's Association and World Book Encyclopedia.

All children in grades two through six are invited to participate and several hundred students are expected to show up. Every contestant will earn an "I'm A Champion" bookmark and take home a treat.

Grades one and two will start the competition at 11 a.m. in the mall's center court. Grades three and four will be up at noon. At 1 p.m. grades five and six will be quizzed. Participants must report to the World Book Exhibit 30 minutes prior to contest time.

Parisian opens up hiring for store at Laurel Park Place

About 300 new jobs will be created when Parisian Department store opens in Livonia in early August. The store's known for its customer service so new hires are in for some serious sales training.

Due to construction advancements, the October opening and Michigan debut of Parisian at Laurel Park Place in Livonia has been moved up to August. Resumes for employment are being accepted.

"The apparel store expects to hire about 300 employees," said Michael Buescher, Laurel Park Place marketing director. "The company is looking for people who love fashion, enjoy helping people and have a sincere desire to excel."

Resumes should be sent to: Vicki Moore, Director of Human Resources, Parisian Stores, 750 Lakeshore Parkway, Birmingham, AL 35211.

Parisian will open at the five-year-old mall as a two-story, 150,000-square-foot specialty department store emphasizing customer service.

Eight additional new stores, including one restaurant, also are being added to Laurel Park Place, extending from the current shopping center to the new Parisian storefront.

Timothy Grimske, Laurel Park Place property management director, would not reveal the names of the new addition's tenants, but said that four out of a possible eight to 10 leases had been signed, including one for a sit-down restaurant.

"Parisian is the perfect cap for Laurel Park Place," Grimske said. "We can be compared to The Somerset Collection in Troy — but not that high end. This market doesn't support that. But our stores definitely have a higher level of merchandise than their counterparts in other malls. We are a neighborhood center but the boundaries of that neighborhood get bigger everyday."

Although the grand opening is still six months away, an "awareness campaign" is under way to build excitement for the addition.

Parisian president Donald Hess will address the Livonia Chamber of Commerce at a construction site conference at 5 p.m. Thursday, March 10. Livonia Mayor Robert Bennett will

First prize in each grade group is the two-volume World Book Dictionary. Second prize in each grade group is a World Globe. Third prize in each grade group is a Selections from Childcraft Book.

This contest is not affiliated with the national spelling bee, but national rules apply. Words will be taken from World Book's graded vocabulary inventories.

"At the Livonia Mall, one of our concerns is the national literacy problem," said Bill Checks, marketing director. "We've been hosting this event for kids for at least 10 years. It's our way of trying to promote reading and academic scholarship."

Interested students should register with Checks at the mall management office as soon as possible. The contest is limited to 100 participants from each grade. However, there will be sign-up tables at the event for late comers who want to chance it.

The Livonia Mall is located at Seven Mile and Middlebelt. For more information call 313-476-1166.

be on hand as well as mayors and other officials from neighboring communities.

Parisian spokeswoman Amy McRae described the Alabama-based retailer as an apparel and cosmetic store founded in 1887. It was purchased in 1920 by the current owners, the Hess and Abrams families. There are 30 Parisian stores nationwide, primarily in the south. The most recent Parisian was opened in Indianapolis.

McRae said knowledgeable sales associates are key to the success of the specialty retailer, which reported sales of $450 million in 1992. To hire one person, Parisian will interview an average of 20. To attract high-caliber associates, Parisian mixes higher-than-average salaries, commissions, incentives and non-monetary forms of recognition.

Parisian's customer services include: a liberal return policy, competitive pricing (the company will match the price of any of its merchandise found for less anywhere else), free alterations, and no interest on credit card purchases when a minimum monthly payment is made.

Each customer receives free fashion consultations from sales associates, who have received 42 hours of classroom instruction before being assigned to the selling floor.

There is shopping by appointment for busy clients. In the children's department, Cartoon Corners, young shoppers are kept entertained with videos while mom and dad make merchandise selections.

McRae said she considered Nordstrom's to be Parisian's competition in terms of style and service, though she acknowledged the store would carry merchandise similar to Jacobson's, the other major department store anchor at Laurel Park Place.

Jacobson's Laurel Park Place manager Burt Hyman said he hopes the Parisian addition will "bring a lot more people to the mall each day."

"They are a fine operation," he said, adding, "of course, they are no Jacobson's."

Hyman pointed out that Parisian does not carry homeware, linens or gourmet foods or have a bridal registry like Jacobson's. Nor will Parisian carry the up-end, designer clothing lines found at Jacobson's.

There are currently 60 stores at Laurel Park Place, located at Six Mile and Newburgh in Livonia.

A Pea In The Pod maternity shop and a Suncoast Video Store are the latest Laurel Park additions, which are set to open in the next few weeks. The shopping center's other major tenants include Talbot's, Eddie Bauer, Jos. A. Banks, The Gap, Gap For Kids, Winkleman's, Gantos, The Limited, Victoria's Secrets, Williams and Sonoma, Coopersmith's, Max & Erma's, D. Dennison's and Olga's. There also are a few local specialty shops like In The Cards and the Land and Seas.

Jacobson's owns its building at Laurel Park Place. The center is a Southfield-based Shostak Brothers and Co. property, which opened in 1989.

The collection is based on interchangeable, mix and match pieces that provide a variety of outfits at a affordable price. For more information call company president Charisse Dore Nilles of Canton at 1-313-459-4148.

MAJOR MAGIC'S OPENS

Major Magic's All Star Pizza review opened at the Seven & Farmington Center in Livonia.

The restaurant features family-oriented entertainment with a menu of salads, sandwiches and pizza. Children can play video games, enjoy indoor rides, and win prizes to take home.

Bob Rashid, president of Major Magic's said the Seven & Farmington location is the fifth to open in Michigan.

OPTICAL MERGER

D.O.C. Optics Corp. and the Vision Institute of Michigan joined forces to open a D.O.C. Superstore and VIM ophthalmology practice under the same roof at 508 W. 14 Mile, outside the Oakland Mall in Troy.

Dr. Lawrence Loewenthal, founder and director of VIM, said the new facility provides total eye care to customers under one roof — everything from eye exams and eye wear to surgical treatment.

FAIRLANE NEWCOMERS

Nine new stores have opened at the Fairlane Town Center in Dearborn: Musicland, Sempliners Tuxedo World, The Goldsmith Limited, The Art Effects (specializing in Afro-American imports), Little King Deli & Pizza, The Sweet Factory, Frederick's of Hollywood, Pacific Coast Sunwear and The Nature Food Center.

FARMINGTON BOUTIQUE

Fini of Farmington, next to the Grand Cafe on Grand River, opened in downtown Farmington. The shop's buyer Gina Smith said the boutique offers unique woman's clothing and accessories, and soon, gifts for the home with a romantic, vintage look. Fini of Farmington is open Tuesday through Saturday.

HOURS EXTENDED

Lakeside in Sterling Heights will open an hour earlier on Sundays at 11 a.m. instead of noon. Closing time remains at 6 p.m. Weekday hours are unaffected.

The shopping center made the change, according to manager Miles McFee, at the request of shoppers who said they would prefer to start their shopping earlier to have an extra hour at day's end to spend with family. Lakeside is located on Hall Road at Schoenherr, 1-313-247-1744.

NEW BRIDAL SHOP

Bonnie's Bridals is open in the Village Fashion Mall on Merriam, south of Seven Mile in Livonia. The store specializes in custom dress designs for brides, maids, prom goers and flower girls.

Custom headpieces and expert alterations are also included. Owners Bonnie Bentley of Farmington and Karen McDermott of Garden City agreed that the reason they opened the shop was to offer the bride-to-be an opportunity to create "the dress of her dreams."

Bonnie's Bridals is open Monday through Saturday and evenings by appointment. For more information call 1-810-471-7394.

KIDS' COMPUTER CENTER

FUTUREKIDS, the world's largest chain of computer learning centers for children, opened a new franchise in the The Sugar Tree Shopping Center on Orchard Lake Road in West Bloomfield.

When you have a baby it should be a wonderfully close time for you and your family. That's why the Miracle of Life Maternity Center at St. Mary Hospital has you at the center of its visiting policy.

WHY A LOT OF BABIES SEEM LIKE DISTANT RELATIVES

Instead of asking you to conform to limited visiting times or placing barriers between family members, at St. Mary you decide who can visit and when.

All private rooms

We believe you know best when you want visitors and when you need time alone with your baby. That's why all the maternity rooms at St. Mary are private. So a family member can even stay overnight if that's what you want.

Real family care

Your baby can stay in your room even when family members are visiting. We accept your definition of family. Grandparents. Children. Aunts and uncles.

Your best friend. If you call them family, so do we. It's that simple.

Our physicians even examine babies at your bedside so you and your family can watch and ask questions. So if you want real family-centered care, call St. Mary Hospital.

CHEF LARRY JANES

Lenten season brings meatless meals, sacrifice

Rowing up in Wyandotte, we never called it "Fat Tuesday." We heard about Mardi Gras in current events at school, but never dreamed it was so raucous until we experienced it ourselves.

There was no such a thing as "Paczki Day." To us, it all started on Ash Wednesday, the only day of the year you could tell who was a good Catholic and who wasn't simply by the gray smudge of ash embedded on their forehead.

Ash Wednesday signaled the beginning of Lent, a time of fasting and other forms of self sacrifice. Since my oldest brother was an ordained Roman Catholic priest, the meaning of Lent stayed with us until Easter, far longer than the smudge of gray ash.

We did special chores around the house to earn money to "buy" pagan babies. In addition to Sunday mass, there were novenas on Tuesdays, stations of the cross on Fridays and confession on Saturdays.

For 40 days and 40 nights, meat did not grace the Janes' Gang dinner table. We wondered how McDonald's stayed in business. I can remember eating so much pasta one year. I thought we were Italian.

Meatless meals

Momma was, and still is, an amazing cook. Besides pasta, main dishes included potatoes or rice. Potato soup was a weekly favorite, usually coupled with what we called "johnnycake" otherwise known as cornbread. Fish, which I distinctly remember as being nothing but batter dipped and deep fried perch or smelt, was served with homemade french fries and coleslaw.

Oh yes, there was always tuna fish drained and tossed with Miracle Whip, a small chopped yellow onion, and served on toast. I can recall when Momma cooked her first tuna casserole, resplendent with tuna, noodles and of course, Campbell's cream of mushroom soup. We were especially enamored when potato chips were crushed by hand and spread over the top prior to baking.

Sweet dream.

Sweets were something we dreamed of getting in our Easter baskets. Doughnuts were forbidden, and to this day I still feel cheated knowing that we never gorged on rich foods and paczki before Lent began.

As kids, we looked forward to Jimmy Millstein's birthday party the first week in March because we knew that his parents knew nothing of Lent. After three weeks of fasting we welcomed the opportunity to gorge on Jimmy's favorite - Sander's yellow cake and Affholter's blue moon ice cream.

During Lent we ate gourmet but never realized it. Momma made quiche, but we called it impossible pie because it was impossible for Momma to remember the recipe if she didn't have a box of Bisquick to read from. When a recipe called for cooked ground beef momma substituted frozen broccoli.

We had a Frigidaire deep freeze in the basement that housed chopped tomatoes and frozen corn gleaned from the garden the previous summer. Tomatoes were simmered with a few herbs and served over cooked spaghetti. Corn was dumped into luscious cream based chowders.

There was little doubt it was still a few days before payday when homemade dumplings simmered in vegetable broth were the main course on the dinner table. Of course, we thought it was nothing more than meatless food. Little did we know then that Momma's culinary talents would be cherished today.

New traditions

Throughout the years, the Janes Gang has continued to hold sacred the season of Lent. But with changing tides, the new Catholicism, Mass changing from Latin to English, our thoughts have evolved. Yes, we observe the weekly ritual of meatless meals, but the fasting and purchasing of pagan babies has given way to modern rituals that accentuate the positive.

On payday, the first check written goes to the Salvation Army. We have agreed to prepare a meal at the Ronald McDonald House as a family for families in need. This year we will prepare a batch of cookies for a neighbor confined to a nursing home.

Dusting powder: Lidija Vangelov owner of Heritage Bakery in Livonia dusts freshly made paczki with powdered sugar. All over town, mouths water at the thought of these jelly filled jewels that are made only once a year.

PACZKI

IT'S NOT JUST AN ORDINARY DOUGHNUT

Richer filling and dough, these are the things that make paczki the Cadillac of doughnuts. One bite and you'll be hooked. These plump jelly doughnuts are made only once a year.

In Hamtramck Paczki Day is like a holiday. People start lining up at bakeries on Jos. Campau and Conant as early as 5 a.m. Nobody seems to mind waiting in line, and those that do buy their paczki on Monday.

It's a Polish tradition that has spread to the suburbs where it continues to grow more popular every year. A lot of the bakers I talked to said it's the biggest day of the year for them.

Lidija Vangelov, owner of Heritage Bakery in Livonia, averages 42 hours straight without sleep on Paczki Day.

"Four girls who worked for me while they were going to college take the day off work every year just to work in the bakery on Paczki Day," said Vangelov. "They said they wouldn't miss it. It's like a holiday."

Vangelov and her husband Vasil (Vick) opened their first bakery, New Family Bakery, in Detroit in 1974. They've been in Livonia since 1983.

"Our paczki recipe is an original Polish recipe from the family we bought New Family Bakery from," said Vangelov. Heritage Bakery is a family-run business. Vick does the baking, and will work round the clock, with help from relatives, to meet the increased demand for paczki. The couple's children, John, 18, an engineering student at Henry Ford Community College, and Annette, 16 a junior at Crestwood High School, also help out at the bakery, after school and on weekends.

Health conscious restaurant owner enjoys low-fat fare

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

Lucy Mitchell grew up in a restaurant family and didn't plan to carry on the family tradition. She studied dance and fashion photography, and even had her own photo studio in downtown Pontiac for 10 years.

In June, she and her husband Darryl Date both 30, opened Mitchell & Max TOGO, a carryout restaurant at 28901 Southfield Road in Lathrup Village that specializes in barbecue ribs, chicken, pizza, pasta and more. She's also part owner of Mitchell's Barbecue and Grill in Royal Oak and the third generation of her family to be involved in the restaurant business. Her father and uncles owned Mitchell's on Cass Lake.

"We always had a big pot of spaghetti on the stove at my house," said Mitchell. "My dad would always say you can never put enough garlic or onion in food."

While pizza and hickory smoked ribs are family specialties, Mitchell who studied dance for over 20 years, and teaches ballet classes in Southfield's community Education program, said she's always been health conscious.

"I don't use butter when I cook. I use olive or vegetable oil," she said. "I like to be creative when I cook. I always buy low-fat sour cream and cheese."

Mitchell likes to cook with chicken, her husband Darryl who makes a "very good lasagna," likes beef filets. Mitchell compromises when she cooks by mixing ground beef with ground turkey. "My husband would know the difference if I used all ground turkey," she said. Add whole tomatoes to the meat mixture, a little tomato sauce, warm and serve over rice for a quick dinner. This mixture can also be used to stuff green peppers.

Another Mitchell creation is sauteed zucchini, green peppers, onions, and mushrooms mixed with tomato sauce, sprinkled with Parmesan cheese and baked in the oven at 350 degrees for about 10 minutes until the cheese melts.

Sauteed broccoli and mushrooms tossed with pasta, olive oil and Parmesan cheese is also quick and healthy.

"Once I sauteed lean hamburger with zucchini, carrots, green pepper and onion, rolled it in Lavoosh bread, and served it with a yogurt and fresh dill sauce," said Mitchell. "It was very good."

Since they opened Mitchell & Max TOGO, Mitchell said she doesn't have much time to cook. "We provide quality food for people on the go," said Mitchell. Their motto is "An old tradition with you in mind."

Customers can either dine in or take-out. They also offer a catering service. Often, Mitchell and her staff are cooking for someone like you and me who are rushing home after work and don't have time to cook dinner.

Their oven roasted and barbecue chicken are big sellers and so are the vegetarian dishes and Greek specialties that are a family tradition. See recipe inside.

PACZKI

2 cups flour
2 cups boiling milk
¼ cup lukewarm milk
3½ ounces yeast
6 egg yolks
½ cup sugar
½ vanilla bean, ground
1-2 teaspoons grated orange rind
¼ pound butter, melted
Flour (for pastry board)
Jam
Deep fat for frying

Sift 1 cup flour into boiling milk, remove from heat, and beat until smooth. Cool. Dissolve yeast in the ¼ cup lukewarm milk. Add to flour mixture, stir, and let stand half an hour.

Cream egg yolks and sugar, add vanilla and orange rind and add to dough when it begins to rise. Add remaining flour and butter, and work with fingers until dough begins to stand away from the hands. Let stand until it has risen to about twice its bulk.

Roll out on floured board to thickness of ⅓ inch, and cut out circles with a pastry cutter or glass. Place a teaspoon of jam in center of half the circles (using only fruit, not syrup), cover with remaining circles, press edges together, and let stand in warm place to rise again.

Fry a few at a time in deep fat, taking care not to heat the fat so much that the dough will burn. Drain and serve dusted with confectioner's sugar.

PARIS BAKERY PACZKI

1 cup milk at room temperature
¾ cup sugar
3 eggs
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ cup all-purpose vegetable shortening
4 packages dry yeast
4 ¼-4 ½ cups all-purpose flour
Juice from ½ fresh lemon
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
Vegetable oil for frying
Jam for filling

Cream dry ingredients with shortening. Add eggs and milk. Mix until dough is completely incorporated and pliable, approximately 5-8 minutes. Cover dough with damp cloth or cloth moistened with oil to prevent crusting, and let rest for 10 minutes.

Divide dough into 24 pieces, cover again and let rest until dough doubles in size, approximately 45 minutes to one hour.

Place doughnuts into pot containing pure vegetable oil heated to 375 degrees (doughnuts will not be entirely covered but will float on top of oil). Cook for two minutes or until golden brown crust forms.

Turn doughnuts over, submerge completely and continue frying for two minutes.

Remove doughnuts from fryer and let rest on screen or rack until cool. Split doughnuts partially and fill with your favorite preserves or jelly.

When doughnuts are completely cool, top with sugar water glaze or dust with either powdered or granulated sugar. Makes 24 doughnuts

Serve momma's soup casserole during Lent

One of the recipes that remains dear to my heart momma's scrambled egg soup. It is known internationally as stracciatella - which means "little rags."

HOT BROTH WITH EGGS AND CHEESE

1 quart chicken or beef broth
2 large eggs
3 tablespoons finely grated Parmesan cheese
3 tablespoons chopped parsley
A sprinkling of fresh grated nutmeg
Salt and pepper to taste

Bring the broth to a simmer. Beat together the eggs, cheese, parsley and nutmeg with a fork. Beat the egg mixture into the broth with a fork. Give the egg about 45 seconds to set - it should set into tiny threads in the same way as Chinese Egg Drop Soup.

Season the soup with salt and pepper. Serves 4.

Mommas famed scalloped potatoes are served year round, usually with leftover ham. But during Lent, the ham was omitted and in its place, a cheese au gratin potato casserole was served.

AU GRATIN SCALLOPED POTATOES

2 tablespoons all purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
¼ cup shredded cheddar cheese (momma used Velveeta)
1 ½ pounds potatoes, peeled and thinly sliced
1 medium onion, thinly sliced
3 tablespoons butter
1 ¼ cups milk

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. Generously butter a shallow 1 ½ quart casserole dish. In a small dish, combine the flour, salt and pepper. Cover the bottom of the baking dish with a layer of about ⅓ of the potatoes, then make a layer of ⅓ the onion, ⅓ the cheese and sprinkle with ⅓ the flour mixture, then dot with ⅓ the butter.

Make two more layers in the same manner to use all the potatoes, onions, cheese, etc. Pour the milk evenly over the potatoes. Cover and bake for 35 minutes.

Uncover and stir gently and bake 30 minutes or until potatoes are tender and sauce is nicely thickened. Serves 4.

For the uninitiated, paczki, correctly pronounced "pouch-kee," according to my friend Ewa Junczyk-Ziomecka, who's from Warsaw, Poland, and ought to know, are special jelly doughnuts made only on Shrove Tuesday, the day before Lent.

"They're not just an ordinary doughnut," said Carl Richardson president of the Metro Bakers and Allied Club at the January meeting held at Paris Bakery in Livonia. This year, the club is launching a national and statewide campaign that includes signs, bumper stickers and 108 billboards across to promote paczki.

"I grew up on the lower east side of Detroit and was 14 before I ever heard of paczki," said Michael Gralowski of Sweetheart Bakery who researched the history of paczki to make a presentation at the meeting.

I was all ears, he was talking about a subject near and dear to my heart. Both of my parents are Polish, my maiden name is Kaleski, and my husband is Polish too. But I confess, I didn't eat my first paczki until I moved to Hamtramck.

"Years ago paczki were made on a skillet," said Gralowski. "They were flatter and fried. I recall as a child that fat was very expensive. Anything fried in fat was a treat. Over the years, people added raisins, prunes and other dried fruits that were available during the winter."

They don't celebrate Paczki Day in Poland, but they do observe "Grease Thursday" - the beginning of Shrovetide which lasts six days and ends with the beginning of Lent on Ash Wednesday. On Grease Thursday, Poles indulge on paczki and other fancy pastries.

According to Richard Jurkiewicz, who is vice president of the Metro Bakers and Allied Club, translated, paczki means "fat and jolly."

Paczki are rounder, larger and fuller than regular doughnuts. The dough is richer and so are the fruit fillings. They take longer to fry than regular doughnuts, too.

Jurkiewicz and Vangelov both said the most popular flavor is raspberry, followed by strawberry, custard, apple, and blueberry.

Paczki should be eaten right away, but if you want to save some for later, Vangelov recommends storing them in the box at room temperature. They can be frozen for up to 30 days to be enjoyed later.

Believe me, you'll be fat and jolly if you eat too many paczki. They are rich in taste, and calories. But that's the whole idea - indulge before Ash Wednesday and the fasting that accompanies Lent.

Make sure your diet is rich in calcium

Calcium has long been recognized as essential to building strong bones in children and averting the onset of osteoporosis, the brittle bone disease that afflicts many older Americans. More recently, calcium has been identified among the nutrients that may offer protection from colon cancer and other types of cancer.

Unfortunately, the average person consumes far less calcium than is needed in his or her daily diet. The recommended daily allowance (RDA) is 1,200 milligrams for people up to age 24 and 800 milligrams for adults, although many authorities believe that women at certain stages of life need more calcium than the RDA. Nutrition surveys, however, show that the typical adult gets only 450 to 550 mg per day.

The main sources of calcium in most people's diets are dairy foods, especially milk. An eight-ounce glass of skim milk provides about 300 mg of calcium, so three or four glasses of milk a day should have you covered, right? But what if you don't like milk, or are among the many people who are "lactose intolerant" and can't handle large amounts of dairy foods in their diets?

There are many calcium-rich foods, both dairy and non-dairy. High-calcium vegetables include cooked spinach (244 mg per cup); turnip greens (198 mg per cup); and cooked Chinese cabbage (158 mg per cup); cooked broccoli (85 mg per cup). Salmon, with bones, contains about 260 mg in a four-ounce serving. Low-fat cheeses, including part-skim mozzarella (207 mg per ounce), part-skim ricotta cheese (168 mg per 1/4 cup) and 1 percent milkfat cottage cheese (138 mg per cup) are also good calcium sources. Low-fat yogurt contains 300-400 mg calcium per cup, and ice milk contains 88 mg per 1/2 cup.

A person can maintain healthy stores of calcium by not eating too much protein or caffeine, which increase the body's excretion of calcium.

High calcium cookery can start with appetizers — such as dips made with cottage cheese, yogurt, part-skim ricotta or buttermilk. A salmon dip would be especially rich in calcium (use salmon canned in water to keep fat content low). Serve entrees that include low-fat dairy products and leafy greens, such as chicken curry made with low-fat yogurt and greens, or spinach salad with salmon.

Here's a calcium rich entree from the American Institute for Cancer Research.

SPINACH-RICOTTA LASAGNA

6 ounces lasagna noodles (uncooked)
1 (29-ounce) can tomato puree (about 3 1/2 cups)
3 to 4 teaspoons dried basil
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
3 cups fresh spinach, washed, with stems removed
1 1/4 cups part-skim ricotta cheese
1/2 cup grated parmesan cheese (2 ounces)
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

Cook lasagna noodles in a large pot of boiling water (12-15 minutes). In a small bowl, stir together the tomato puree, basil, and garlic powder.

Chop the spinach coarsely and steam for 2-3 minutes until it is wilted and tender but still bright green. Drain thoroughly. Place the ricotta, all but 2 tablespoons of the Parmesan, the pepper and nutmeg in a food processor or blender and puree until smooth. Add the spinach and process until well blended.

To assemble the ingredients in a 13 by 19-inch baking pan, begin with a thin layer of tomato mixture, then a layer of pasta. Spread half the spinach-ricotta mixture on top, then add 1/4 to 1 cup of tomato mixture, another layer of pasta, the remainder of the spinach mixture, another 1/4 to 1 cup of tomato mixture, a final layer of pasta, remainder of the tomato mixture, and remaining 2 tablespoons of Parmesan cheese.

Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Let stand 2-3 minutes after removing from the oven before slicing. Each of the 6 servings has 5 grams of fat and 238 calories.

Restaurant owner shares favorite chicken recipe

Known to her friends as Lulu, Lucy Mitchell's chicken dish is sure to be a hit at your house. She marinates her chicken in the family's Greek house dressing which is sold at Mitchell & Max TOGO in Lathrup Village. The salad dressing was created over 30 years ago by Mitchell's mom and dad. You can substitute your favorite Greek or Italian salad dressing if you like.

Your HEALTH

by Sandra John

FOR THOSE SEEKING IMMUNITY

Older people in apparent good health still have something to benefit from taking even modest amounts of vitamin and mineral supplements. So says a Canada-based researcher from the World Health Organization (WHO). He studied the effects of vitamin/mineral supplementation on 96 white, upper-middle-class men and women over the age of 65 who lived in their own homes. All the subjects were in good health and none took medications that are known to interfere with immune function. Half the subjects took placebos, while the other half took a formulation of 18 vitamins and minerals near U.S. R.D.A. levels. No one knew who was taking that pill. After one year, it turned out that the supplement users experienced significantly fewer infections and had been sick fewer days than the non-supplement users.

Vitamin and mineral supplements are a good idea for most of us — young and old. For instance, studies show vitamin C, or golden seal, with echinacea are terrific for combating the symptoms of flu and colds. At the GOOD FOOD CO., a natural food supermarket, we offer an amazing variety of vitamins, supplements, and whole food products. If you have any questions about the benefits of one product over another or about our column, please call us a 981-8100. We are located at 42615 Ford Rd. We are open Monday thru Saturday from 9:00 to 9:00, and Sundays from 10:00 to 6:00. Happy President's Day!

P.S. The vitamins/minerals that the WHO study says best boost the immune system of older people are: vitamin A, B6, E, beta-carotene, zinc, and iron.

Spicy seafood creole quick main dish

AP — Granted, you can't beat spicy creole made the classic Southern way — long and slow to blend the flavors. But when you're pressed for time, we've come up with a speed-cook microwave version that's a kissin' cousin to the original in flavor.

Your flavor helpmate is convenient Cajun-style canned tomatoes with the seasonings already in the can. Add fish or shrimp and serve this Creole to your family in less than 20 minutes.

QUICK SEAFOOD CREOLE

- 1 pound fresh or frozen catfish fillets or medium shelled shrimp
- Two 14½-ounce cans Cajun-style stewed tomatoes
- ½ cup chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons white-wine Worcestershire sauce or Worcestershire sauce
- Few dashes bottled hot pepper sauce
- 1 bay leaf
- Hot cooked rice

Thaw catfish or shrimp, if frozen. If using catfish, cut into 1-inch pieces and remove skin. If using shrimp, devein. Cut up large pieces of stewed tomatoes.

In a 2-quart microwave-safe casserole combine undrained tomatoes, green pepper, flour, Worcestershire sauce, hot pepper sauce and bay leaf. Cook, uncovered, on 100 percent power (high) for 5 to 8 minutes or until bubbly, stirring after every minute until slightly thickened, then stirring every 30 seconds.

Add fish or shrimp; cover. Cook on high for 3 to 5 minutes or until done, stirring once. To test for doneness, catfish should just flake when tested with a fork, and shrimp should turn pink. Remove bay leaf. Serve over hot cooked rice. Makes 4 main-dish servings.

Three cheese omelet brunch treat

AP — For a weekend brunch, treat your family to a three-cheese omelet, served with chunky homemade applesauce and crunchy wheat and sourdough rolls.

To give the omelet a light, airy texture, the egg whites and yolks are beaten separately. Cheddar, Swiss and Monterey Jack cheeses are folded into the egg mixture along with chopped deli or Black Forest ham.

For the applesauce, chop a few red and green apples. Cook on the stove with butter, brown sugar and allspice until the apples are crisp, about 10 minutes.

THREE-CHEESE OMELET WITH APPLESAUCE

- 8 eggs, separated
- 1 cup grated cheddar cheese
- 1 cup grated Swiss cheese
- 1 cup grated Monterey Jack or Teleme cheese
- ¾ cup chopped, thinly sliced Black Forest or deli ham
- ¼ teaspoon ground cayenne pepper
- 1 recipe Chunky Apple sauce (recipe below)

In a large bowl, beat egg yolks until well blended. In a separate bowl, beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold about 1 cup beaten egg whites into the egg yolks. Add cheeses, ham and cayenne. Mix in carefully.

Fold remaining egg whites into cheese mixture very gently. Pour omelet mixture into a buttered 2-quart shallow baking dish. Bake in a 325-degree F oven for 20 to 25 minutes or until puffed and set. Meanwhile, prepare applesauce. Serve immediately. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

CHUNKY APPLESAUCE

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 3 apples (red or green), chopped
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons apple jack or rum (optional)
- ½ teaspoon allspice

Melt butter in a medium saute pan; add remaining ingredients. Stir over medium heat until sauce has a syrup-like consistency and apples are tender, about 10 minutes.

Recipe from: California Milk Advisory Board.

CLARIFICATION

This is a correction for a recipe for microwave apple crisp, featuring Thank You Brand's new More Fruit Apple Pie Filling that ran on page 2B in the Feb. 7 paper. The amount of flour was accidentally omitted.

MICROWAVE APPLE CRISP

- ¼ cup (½ stick) margarine or butter
- ½ cup quick or old-fashioned

- oats
- ¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- ¼ cup all-purpose flour
- ¼ cup chopped walnuts
- 1 can (21 ounce) Thank You Brand More Fruit Apple Pie Filling
- Ice cream or whipped cream, if desired
- Microwave margarine in medium-size bowl or 4-cup measure until melted. Stir in oats, brown sugar, flour and nuts. Microwave on high 3 to 4 minutes, stirring frequently during last 2 minutes, until crisp and toasted. Pour filling into 9-inch microwave safe pie pan. Microwave on high 3 to 4 minutes, until hot. Sprinkle oat mixture over filling. Serve immediately. Top with ice cream. Makes 6 servings.

It's easier

healthy.

You'd have to look a long time to find someone who doesn't care about their health.

We all do. It's just a matter of degree. It depends on how much time and energy we want to devote to our health profile. Do we want to get out for a regular brisk walk? Do we want to substitute a fresh apple for that piece of chocolate cake? How much do we really want to invest in our health and well-being? Like everything else in life, it's a matter of choice. We'll have a few ideas on the subject when we publish "Your health in the '90s" on Thursday, March 3.

Look for it.

ART ON THE EDGE

BILL HANSEN

The Unknown: A wide eyed figure shrieks in terror at the sight of UFOs in "Fear."

His artwork is inspired by dreams

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

Christopher Wirth has always held art close to his heart. From abstractly painting tables at the 3-D nightclub in Royal Oak to producing videos for local acts Charm Farm, Discipline and Jeffrey Dean Marlow, this young Waterford artist continues to search for ways of expanding creativity.

Dreams inspire Wirth's current works — a series of mixed media paintings addressing the emotions and desires of modern man. Groove Gallery in Royal Oak will exhibit more than a dozen of Wirth's paintings March 4-26. An opening reception to meet the artist and view his work in a special black light art show will be at 8 p.m. March 4.

Christopher Wirth

Compelled by an inner necessity to transfer dream images to paper, Wirth lays down fluorescent gouache undertones building up color with the addition of pastel and watercolor. When the sun starts setting, the lights in Wirth's skyscrapers seem to search out the night, glowing with warm animation.

In mixed media he taunts the viewer with wide eyed figures that shriek in fear of the unknown upon sighting UFOs. Along with the emotion of fear, frustration and security come to life through Wirth's use of cartoon like imagery.

Swaying buildings against a night sky lend a touch of whimsy to statements about the craziness of living in big cities.

"I paint what I dream — dream visions. I try not to father my images from other people's work," said the 26-year-old artist with a passion for painting. "I'm very expressionistic because I'm overwhelmed with emotions."

During a recent interview Wirth, who refers to his work as semi-abstract, was adamant about following his own vision.

"When I go into a piece everything else around me becomes invisible," he said. "I've had people say they're too dark. I can only paint what I feel. I'm not going to paint what everybody else wants me to paint, what everybody else wants to buy."

It's obvious by color and content that Wirth is an admirer of French Impressionist Vincent van Gogh and American Scene painter Thomas Hart Benton whose disgust for big cities emerged not only in his work but in the statement that they were nothing but coffins for living and thinking.

"Thomas Hart Benton didn't have any love for the city. I like his beliefs. '5:43 A.M.' alludes to the craziness of the city," said Wirth, motioning to a work focusing on big city life. "The guy driving the car likes being able to enjoy man's construction without man."

Art attracted Wirth early. In fifth grade he won a scholarship to the Creative Arts Center in Pontiac, but soon after sports took over his life. He wrestled from about age 8 until breaking a thumb in his senior year at Waterford-Kettering High School. That's when he became interested in photography, then video.

"Photography taught me about composition. Taking black and white photographs I learned the importance of contrast. Color seduces you. But if

Show pairs SisterSeed, Breech

■ How you describe them may well explain their positions on the musical spectrum. Breech's music is "bare-boned, rough and tumble," while SisterSeed's sound is "solid."

BY KYLE GREEN
SPECIAL WRITER

Never use adjective such as concise, full or comfortable when describing Breech's music.

"Comfortable" is not a word (be)fitting to Breech," said vocalist Missy Gibson. "It's not easy. It's not something you are at ease with. It's sort of prickly."

On the other hand, "solid" is a comfortable word to describe SisterSeed's music that won acclaim as an acoustic folk duo about the same time as it expanded into a four-piece modern rock band.

"We will always keep our acoustic roots, and we can always fall back on that if we have to, but we don't," said SisterSeed vocalist Alicia Gbur.

Even though the bands represent different ends of the modern Detroit musical spectrum, Breech and SisterSeed will perform at Lili's in Hamtramck on Friday, Feb. 18.

Being different is OK, but there's still one common denominator — each grabs you and refuses to let go.

"Both bands grab your attention, just in totally two different ways."

STREET BEATS

said SisterSeed drummer Benjamin Ridley Jr. "SisterSeed is musically more subtle, where Breech slaps you in the face. I think SisterSeed can slap you in the face as a band but differently."

Regardless if one gets hit or not, the bands' upcoming show should prove both acts are independent but interesting.

First of all, Breech's Gibson is the former lead vocalist for Strange Bedfellows, while partner Thomas Trimble used to be in Weeping Rachel. While SisterSeed, which includes members of the rock band Blue Nation, began as an acoustic duo.

Second, the angelic singers of SisterSeed are musically focused on a stable musical presence, while the "in your face" Breech prefers references such as gutsy, fully wired, bare-boned and rough and tumble for its pop art approach to music, according to guitarist Trimble.

"When you come to see Breech, you almost feel guilty to turn your back on us," Trimble said. "Usually people turn their backs on rock bands. Unfortunately, there is only Missy and I. You almost have to watch Missy and I — you feel guilty to go to the bathroom."

"In every show we pick up about five people who really weren't expecting what they saw, but about 20 people turn it off."

What they see is Gibson singing

Clashing styles: The musical styles of SisterSeed — Chrissy Kerwin, Benjamin Ridley Jr., Alicia Gbur and Michael Puwal — and Breech — Missy Gibson, formerly of Strange Bedfellows, and ex-Weeping Rachel member Thomas Trimble — may clash but they'll perform together at Lili's in Hamtramck Feb. 18.

loudly into a microphone and occasionally mimicking a bass drum sound by stepping on another mic. Trimble sits in a chair and strums his acoustic guitar. There are no other members to Breech.

The music, as Trimble describes it, is "emotionally jagged."

"When you see Breech, you are taking a subliminal voyage to places Missy has been," Trimble said. "It's almost like reading an (Ambrose) Bierce book because you sit in a car with Bierce and he takes you for a ride."

"It's not as though one sits there watching traffic go by, but when you listen to Breech, Missy pulls up and you have to agree to go along and hope she brings you back to where you started."

Instead of traveling through dark musical passages, SisterSeed is striving to evolve as a unit. What started as a duo composed of Chrissy Kerwin and Gbur on acoustic guitars has now sprouted with the addition of guitarist Michael Puwal and drummer Ridley — and a new musical direction.

Nevertheless, the acoustic material of old earned the band the 1993 Detroit Music Award for "Best Folk Duo."

"I think the award was a step in the right direction to put us on the right track . . . and now we want to strive for a sound that opens us up more," Kerwin said. "Our music writing has grown. Before it was so simple that guitars and our voices were enough."

"I think it was so natural to have Mike and Ben playing. . . . It is to the point with our music that it is missing something without these two."

The members of Breech, however, look back on their past in rock bands with mixed emotions. Trimble and Gibson said they feel comfortable as a duo.

"It's hard being in a regular four-piece because there is more to do, more responsibilities. When you are in a band, you are lazy. In Breech there is no room for it. You have your hands busy all the time."

Trimble said. "Breech is sort of stuck between two things because half wants to be sort of in a rock scene and (the other half is) of an underground sound more like a Tom Waits sort of thing."

"We just have to be careful that we walk the line between what it is and what it should be."

What Breech is, is honest. "When it fails to be honest and direct, it fails. It fails to be Breech. In a band you can hide behind others. In Breech, you can't," Gibson said.

Breech, SisterSeed and the Joe Lawless Project perform at Lili's, 2930 Jacob, Hamtramck, on Friday, Feb. 18. Must be 21 to enter. Call (313) 875-6555 for more information.

Listening is understanding Restroom Poets

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

The Restroom Poets admit that a majority of bar clientele wouldn't find the band's music particularly attractive. It takes an element of thought to understand the Restroom Poets.

"We're not a band that is easily palatable if you're in one of those groups," lead singer/guitarist Jason Magee said of the typical drunken, talkative bar crowd. "It's not easy to listen to us and get what we're trying to do."

"It takes some effort on the listeners' part. The big part are our lyrics and what we have to say."

The Restroom Poets, who have gigged with the likes of Paw, Counting Crows and George Clinton, aren't about fluff. Ironically, that may be one of the factors hindering their popularity outside of the Restroom Poets' hometown of Ann Arbor.

Karen Koski, president of the Detroit Musicians Alliance, said the band's time will come once the right crowd is exposed to them.

"There is an audience here for them. The audience just hasn't heard them yet. (They need to find) an audience that appreciates somebody who's doing something a little more difficult, that's a little more important," said Koski, who also writes for "Jam Rag."

Magee, a University of Michigan graduate, said he's tried to write less-challenging lyrics, but he hasn't felt comfortable with them.

"I've tried to write stupid lyrics. I was trying to write a song for someone else and I failed. . . . He told me 'You have to make dumber lyrics.'"

"I don't think I could sing something like that anymore," he added.

His bandmates — drummer Ben Lorenz and bassist Brian Poore — said that sometimes listeners misinterpret Magee's point because he speaks in "long sentences and long words."

It just takes time for people to get his point.

'War Room' looks at Clinton campaign

By JOHN MONAGHAN
SPECIAL WRITER

Actor John Malkovich would make a great James Carville, that is if the real thing weren't such a captivating performer himself. With his high forehead, deep-set eyes and Southern accent, he would look right at home in the uniform of a flamboyant Civil War general.

Carville's war, however, is fought in Bill Clinton campaign headquarters, where he and George Stephanopoulos miraculously dodge the bullets of scandal while trying to lob a few grenades into enemy camp. "The War Room," a new documentary about their unconventional exploits, is a fascinating and entertaining portrait of American politics in action.

After watching the movie, which plays exclusively at the Main Art Theatre in Royal Oak, you may be convinced that the wiles of these two men alone steered Clinton into the White House.

Stephanopoulos, a handsome, 31-year-old Rhodes scholar, coaches the Arkansas governor on key points in rally speeches, right down to pauses, asides and inflections. When election night results point toward landslide, he calls the shots about where each member of the first family will stand during the acceptance speech.

Carville, a veteran in the political arena, wisely reads the signs from a bank of television screens in the cluttered makeshift offices they call the "war room." He swears back at a George Bush speech harping on Clinton's character and breaks into an alligator smile when Perot stumbles into a mine field with women's issues.

"The War Room" is directed by D.A. Pennebaker and wife Chris Hegedus. Pennebaker, whose "Don't Look Back" and "Monterey Pop" set the standard for rock documentaries in the 1960s, keeps the movie simple. He uses music effectively, especially the Fleetwood Mack standard "Don't Stop Thinking About Tomorrow" that became Clinton's anthem.

The President-to-be shows up more than expected, dressed in T-shirt and fiddling with the rim of his baseball cap during a telephone interview. Much of the time we experience him on the other end of telephone calls where we only hear the advisers' side of a conversation.

While the movie focuses on the action in the war room, key news conferences and speeches from Clinton, Bush, Paul Tsongas and Gennifer Flowers keep things in historical perspective. Unused footage from the Kevin Rafferty documentary "Feed" also appears early in the film when the Clinton campaign gets off to a slow start at the New Hampshire primary.

Don't blink or you'll miss it, but local news anchor Bill Bonds even appears in "The War Room," refereeing the now-famous debate between Clinton, Bush and H. Ross Perot.

One of the most interesting sequences in the film shows Carville's efforts to leak a supposed Bush inappropriety to the press. The adviser thinks he has proof that the President used a South American printer for campaign materials, and though the lead goes nowhere, it illustrates Carville's ferocity at manipulating the media.

Though the campaign occurred almost two years ago, the documentary is no less poignant today. It was nominated for a Best Documentary Feature Oscar, but perhaps the most impressive reviews have come from the people on film.

Now in stressful White House positions, they say that watching their passion in "The War Room" reminds them what they got into politics for in the first place.

If you have a comment for John Monaghan, call him at (313) 953-2047, mailbox number 1866 on a Touch-Tone phone, or write him care of Street Scene, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

Poetry in motion: The Restroom Poets — from left, guitarist Jason Magee, drummer Ben Lorenz, and bassist Brian Poore — recently scaled down to a trio.

"Lyrics really are poetry. Poems are dense. You can't just get the meaning out of the first try. When you do make a connection, even though it might not necessarily be the one that was intended, it was a struggle to get it," said Magee. Then, he added, it's satisfying.

Besides their lyrics, the band has a reputation for being musically challenging.

"I think they are more musically intense. Somebody who's really into music" will like the Restroom Poets, the DMA's Koski said.

The Restroom Poets' intensity is one that is often under fire by fellow bands. Drummer Lorenz said that they've been called everything from "cheesy college rock" to "not alternative enough."

Actually, the Restroom Poets are going for the "power rock trio sound." In mid-1993 the band scrapped their lead guitarist and strapped an ax on Magee.

"We're more energetic and tighter as a three-piece; we don't have someone who will space out in their own little lead guitar world," Magee said.

Currently, the Restroom Poets are working on an album at PR Music in Detroit. However, it won't be released anytime soon due to "the powers that be," Lorenz said. They wouldn't elaborate any further. In the meantime, current and future fans will have to settle with their live show (or bootlegs, which they encourage).

"If anybody likes rock 'n' roll, rise to the challenge and be happy to see us," Lorenz said.

The Restroom Poets with special guests Train of Thought perform at the Blind Pig, 206-208 S. First St., Ann Arbor, at 9:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 19. For more information, call 996-8555. They will also play Friday, March 4, at Cava Java, 1101 S. University, Ann Arbor (313-741-5282); and Thursday, March 31, during the Detroit Musicians Alliance benefit at St. Andrew's Hall, 431 E. Congress, Detroit. (313-961-MELT). Contact the Restroom Poets at P.O. Box 7764, Ann Arbor 48104.

A sampling of what's playing at alternative movie theaters across Metro Detroit as reviewed by John Monaghan.

DETROIT FILM THEATRE
Detroit Institute of Arts, 5200 Woodward, Detroit. Call 833-2323 for information. ($5)

"Faraway, So Close" (Germany-1993). 7, 9:45 p.m. Feb. 18-19; 1, 4, 7 p.m. Feb. 20. Many of the same characters from Wim Wender's 1986 classic "Wings of Desire" appear in this sequel. Equally astonishing visually, it employs the same premise of angels mingling in modern-day Germany, yet it carries a different message since the fall of the Berlin Wall.

KINOTEK
Capitol Theatre and Arts Centre, 121 University, Windsor. Call 519-971-5160 for information. ($4.50)

"In the Realm of the Senses" (Japan-1976). 9 p.m. Feb. 19-21. The still-controversial Japanese import about obsessive love and sex, based on the 1936 case history of a woman who actually went out of her senses with desire.

MAGIC BAG THEATRE CAFE
22918 Woodward, Ferndale. Call 544-3030 for information. ($4)

"Outrageous Animation" 8 p.m. Feb. 17. A collection of bizarre contemporary animation from around the world, including such provocative titles as "The Toilet," "Erection," "Lupo the Butcher" and "Inside Job."

MAIN ART THEATRE
118 N. Main (at 11 Mile), Royal Oak. Films play through at least Thursday. Call 542-0180 for information and show times. ($6.50; $4 students; $3 twilight/matinee)

"Schindler's List" (USA-1993). Stephen Spielberg may finally get his Academy Award for this story of Oskar Schindler (Liam Neeson), a war profiteer and Nazi cynic who saved the lives of more than 1,000 Jews during the Holocaust.

"Six Degrees of Separation" (USA-1994). Based on John Guare's award-winning play, a savvy young man (Will Smith) poses as Sidney Poitier's son to cajole his way into the home of a Fifth Avenue couple (Donald Sutherland and Stockard Channing).

SCREEN SCENE

"The War Room" (USA-1993). A behind-the-scenes look at the 1992 Clinton campaign focuses not on the candidate but on his team of election advisers, led by the charismatic James Carville and George Stephanopoulos. Veteran documentary filmmakers D.A. Pennebaker ("Don't Look Back") and Chris Hegedus direct.

MAPLE THEATRE
4135 W. Maple, Bloomfield Township. Call 855-9090 for information. ($5.75; $3.95 matinee; $2.95 twilight)

"The Snapper" (England/Ireland-1993). When 20-year-old Sharon announces to her working-class parents that she's pregnant, her family and neighborhood react in some most surprising ways. The second film adaptation of a Roddy Doyle's trio of books about Dublin life ("The Commitments" was first) is a disarmingly funny movie highlighted by Colm Meaney's performance as Sharon's ram-bunctious father.

"In the Name of the Father" (Britain-1994). In this true story, Daniel Day-Lewis plays an Irishman falsely accused of bombing a pub near London in 1975. The brilliant story of miscarriage of justice is co-written and directed by Jim Sheridan, who teamed with Day-Lewis on "My Left Foot."

"Schindler's List." See Main Art Theatre listing above.

REDFORD THEATRE
17360 Lahser, Detroit. Call 537-1560 for information. ($2.50)

"A Damsel in Distress" (USA-1937). 8 p.m. Feb. 18; 2, 8 p.m. Feb. 19 (organ overture begins a half hour before show times). Ger-shwin penned the music for this light-as-air romp set in London. Fred Astaire pursues heiress Joan Fontaine, while George Burns and Gracie Allen provide the comic relief. The score includes "Nice Work if You Can Get It."

it looks good in black and white, you know you've been successful," said Wirth. "Doing video was good because it taught me, you have to tell a story.

That's how I see my paintings, as one frame of a story." Groove Gallery director Dawn Hulme is hooked on Wirth's stories.

"I saw his work and fell in love with it. I really like his composition in which he involves a funny cartoony character. I love his color. He uses deep but vibrant color."

WESTLAND SPORTS SCENE

Clarenceville A.D. needs Bo's touch

Hugs and kisses to all my valentines. The nicest athletic director in all Oberverland has to be Livonia Clarenceville's Leo Kinsella.

Leo is so kind, that he's allowed recently departed varsity boys basketball coach Rob White to finish out the season commuting back-and-forth from Cincinnati.

White, a Baptist youth minister who recently changed jobs, more or less quit last week. He apparently has taken the low road (I-75), but feels obligated to the program even though he's going to be 280 miles away.

Bad weather prevented White from making last Tuesday's game against Hamtramck, but Kinsella said, "Rob is going to be there when he can."

Meanwhile, Kinsella told me he's "phasing in" Larson and former Clarenceville player Rick Larsson as varsity coach.

Ironically, it was only a couple of years ago when varsity football coach Mark Ladd did a similar thing and bailed out in the middle of the season to take a teaching job in Georgia.

Leo, the gentle A.D., allowed Ladd to hang around another week, running the ballclub, before handing the reins over to Russ McKenzie.

Doesn't this remind you of the Bill Frieder/Steve Fisher episode?

It's time for Leo to act less kind and more like Bo Schembechler.

Tell Rob thanks, but no thanks, Leo, and let Larson run the show full time.

Prep basketball rankings

As one Oberverland coach (who shall remain anonymous) told me just before Christmas, "This isn't a very good year for basketball."

There's a lot of credence in that remark.

How can you explain Farmington losing by 25 to Plymouth Canton, beating a talented Westland John Glenn team on the road by 12, and then losing to Livonia Stevenson at home in overtime?

Belleville, state-ranked? They just got by Garden City last week by three.

I don't want to hear anyone belly-aching about the rankings anymore.

Trying to rank the top five (mediocre) teams each week is a real chore.

Right now Plymouth Salem is winning more than anyone else, so they have to be No. 1.

But according to talent, here are my rankings thus far: Glenn, Bishop Borgess, Catholic Central, Salem and Farmington (does that make you guys happy?). Honorable mentions go to Wayne Memorial and Plymouth Canton (my WLAA playoff sleeper).

When the Western Lakes playoffs start, I believe as many as seven teams have a shot at winning the tournament.

KVC/Western Lakes?

Rumors continue to circulate that the seven-school Kensington Valley Conference and the 12-member Western Lakes Activities Association are trying to join forces and form a mega league.

Somebody also wants it known that Ann Arbor Pioneer, Huron and Ypsilanti are also being courted in the deal.

My sources tell me that Northville athletic director Dennis Colligan and Brighton principal Dick Bologna are spearheading this plan. Farmington Schools A.D. Ron Holland apparently has told some of his coaches it's a done deal. Churchill principal Rod Hosman, I've heard, also loves Mega II.

The plan is a model of the newly-created downriver Mega Conference, which has three divisions (Red, White and Blue) and pairs up schools based on enrollment and past performances by sport.

Sounds noble enough.

Nothing personal, Denny, but this idea is a disaster, more so than when the WLAA ripped apart the Suburban Eight, Northwest Suburban, Western Six and Inter-Lakes circuits 10 years ago.

How does Livonia Franklin at Howell football sound on a cold Friday night in October? Or how about John Glenn at Brighton basketball in the dead of winter (slip-sliding up I-96)?

Let's face it. Some days it may be raining in Pinckney, but the sky is clear over North Farmington.

More travel, more gas, more missed school time, less gate receipts and less newspaper coverage.

Of course, it's easier for the ADs to schedule events and it fills up non-league dates.

Tell me something? What does Livonia Churchill have in common with Hartland anyway? Oh, I forgot. There are a lot of teachers and administrators who live up that way.

I hope this idea is dropped like a hot potato.

Jordan rules baseball?

Danny Ainge may have said it best about Michael Jordan's chances of playing major league baseball.

"I do know he has a better shot making it in baseball than he does on the PGA tour," said the former Toronto Blue Jay.

Does Nashville play the Toledo Mud Hens?

Hawks claw way past Franklin

Livonia Franklin couldn't hold a 52-49 lead after three quarters as Farmington Hills Harrison stormed back for a 72-67 Western Lakes Activities Association boys basketball win.

BY NEAL ZIPSER
STAFF WRITER

The fourth quarter has not been good for the Farmington Hills Harrison basketball team.

Entering Friday's game at Livonia Franklin, the Hawks had been outscored four straight times in the final quarter resulting in a three-game losing streak.

The pattern continued when the Patriots opened an eight point-lead, but the Hawks put a stop to their late-game disasters by pulling out a 72-67 victory.

With the win, Harrison improved to 7-8 overall and 3-6 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. Franklin evened its record at 6-6 overall and 4-4 in the league.

Harrison coach Mike Teachman was happy with the way his team executed as the Hawks dished out a total of 23 assists and held a 52-36 rebound advantage.

A key to the fourth quarter success was the play of Harrison's bench.

"What we needed was more bench minutes early in the game," Teachman said. "We got good quality minutes from Tom Sokol and Jeremy White and that helps Calvin (Pruitt) and Aaron (Weiss) later in the game. We've been stressing blending in the second team with the first team in practice and tonight it paid off."

The onslaught on the boards was led by the duo of Pruitt (17 points and 22 rebounds) and Weiss (23 points and 12 rebounds). Pruitt's 23-rebound effort was four short of the school record.

"I've always wanted to break the Harrison rebound record — that's one of my biggest goals," said Pruitt, who has "Rebounds" written on his ankle brace. "I love watching (NBA rebound leader Dennis) Rodman and the way he rebounds."

Weiss was the beneficiary of Pruitt's strong inside play, as he cashed in on several open jumpers and putbacks.

"If Cal is on, then I look good," Weiss said. "When he's doing well inside, he may draw a double team and I'm open. He opens me up and allows me to grab some rebounds. Between us we had 40 points in the paint, and if we can do that, we'll win every time."

Franklin coach Larry Jackson said, "We knew Pruitt was a good athlete, but the one who surprised us was Weiss."

After Franklin jumped ahead 57-49 one minute into the fourth, the Hawks erupted on a 12-3 run, sparked by the inside play of Pruitt and Weiss and a huge triple from Charles Bambeneck (14 points), which gave Harrison a 61-60 lead.

Three Pruitt free throws and putbacks by Weiss and Pruitt put Harrison ahead 68-64 with 3:35 left. A triple by Franklin's Mark Baluk cut the Harrison lead to one.

Harrison extended the lead to three with two Kevin Bambeneck free throws. The Hawks got the ball back, but were called for a 10-second backcourt violation, even though only 9.5 seconds went off the clock.

"We called a timeout with 0:48.1 and the violation was called at 0:38.6," Teachman explained. "Since I'm a math teacher, I thought I should look into it. (The official) said the 10-second count goes by his count and not the clock."

After Teachman lost his argument, Baluk blew a wide open layup, while Charles Bambeneck iced the game with two more foul shots.

"For the spectators it had to be a good game to watch as close as it was throughout," Jackson said. "But we missed some open shots and they made their shots and got the lead under two minutes to play. Then we were forced to foul."

Jason Maschke paced Franklin with 16 points. Other Patriots in double figures included Baluk (15), Greg Maple (14) and Paul Kruschka (10).

For the game, Harrison was 10-of-18 at the foul line, compared to Franklin's 2-of-4. Harrison also outshot the Patriots from the floor 44 percent to 38 percent.

Lady Crusaders get much-needed win over UM-Dearborn

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

The key factors in Thursday's women's basketball game between Madonna University and University of Michigan-Dearborn were evident everywhere:

- Pre-game notes;
- Shooting percentages;
- Rebounding;

And, of course, in the final score — 82-66 Madonna, in one of the Lady Crusaders' most impressive performances of the season.

The victory raised their record to 10-12; the Lady Wolves slipped to 11-12.

Now for those key factors. The pregame notes indicated that the two teams were very close record-wise, which magnified the importance of this game regarding NAIA playoff hopes.

The notes also indicated Madonna's roster contained 13 names; UM-D's had eight. That proved decisive — UM-D coach Dave Mann's options were limited when fouls started mounting. Indeed, in the final stats the Crusaders had six players reach double figures in scoring to the Wolves' two.

One more thing: Don't underestimate the location of the schools. As Madonna coach Bill Potter said, "The girls really wanted this game. This is a cross-town rival. It was nothing I said. They just decided to play, and when they want to play they can play with anyone."

Factor No. 2: shooting percentages. Not from the field, mind you, although Madonna did have an advantage, making 39.7 percent to UM-D's 32.4. But more impressive was the Crusaders' free throw shooting — 26-of-31, 84 percent. The Wolves hit 15-of-27, 55.6 percent.

COLLEGES

Finally, factor No. 3: rebounding. UM-D did rebound Madonna, but the margin (52-50) wasn't nearly enough, considering UM-D's starting front line measured 6-foot-1, 6-0 and 5-10 to Madonna's 5-11, 5-10 and 5-7.

Also, as Potter said, "They're leading the region in rebounding. Our main goal was to stay close to them in rebounding."

The stretch in the game that put Madonna into control started with 9:03 left in the first half. UM-D's Anita Beatty scored to put her team in front, 20-19.

The Wolves scored just one point in the next seven minutes, and had three the rest of the half. Madonna doubled its total in that same span, taking a 38-23 lead into the break.

UM-D made one serious run at the Crusaders in the second half behind center Heather Towery (24 points, 17 rebounds) and forward Gwen Kollmorgen (13 points, eight boards). Kollmorgen had six points and Towery four in a 12-3 spurt that narrowed Madonna's 22-point lead to 72-59 with 4:47 left.

But the Crusaders didn't allow the Wolves to get any closer. A 9-2 run — aided by two missed UM-D free throws — in the next three minutes assured the triumph.

A triumph, it should be noted, that nearly everyone shared in. After a pathetic performance in a loss to Tri-State University the previous Saturday, in which Madonna missed 20 layups and managed just 14 second-half points, the Crusaders turned things around.

In the UM-D match, Potter noted, "We were finally making our layups."

ANN HEALEY/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Finding a seam: Madonna's Meegan Marlatt, who finished with 11 points, tries to weave her way weaves past UM-Dearborn's Rachele Tustanowski.

Stephanie Crelley led Madonna with 16 points. Vikki Koenig had 14 and 13 rebounds; Jill Burt, Meegan Marlatt and Mary Bieniewicz scored 11 apiece; and Denise Williams collected 10 points and 10 boards.

Koenig and Bieniewicz came off the bench. So, too, did Tracy Prybylski at point guard — in 27 minutes, she totaled five points, six assists and zero turnovers.

Madonna's ability to penetrate — with Crelley, Koenig and Williams scoring inside — against the Wolves was significant, and Mann noted, an indication of UM-D's poor play. Certainly foul problems to Towery (four, including a technical), Rachele Tustanowski (who fouled out) and Carrie Hickson (three) hurt.

"When Towery gets into foul trouble, we're in trouble," Mann said. "But she's always in foul trouble, so it's not like it's something new. It's an ongoing problem with her."

But it wasn't the free throws that beat his team, he felt. "That wasn't the difference," he said. "The difference was we gave up 82 points."

Against a team that scored just 39 in its previous game? Goes to show how far an attitude adjustment can carry a team.

Stevenson surprises; CC top seed

Senior center Chris Chichla poured in a game-high 32 points Thursday, carrying Livonia Stevenson to a surprising 75-71 overtime boys basketball win at Farmington.

Stevenson is 3-12 overall and 3-6 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. Farmington falls to 10-5 and 5-4.

Jim Grewe, a sophomore point-guard, contributed 17 points for the Spartans. He made four straight foul shots as Stevenson outscored the Falcons 9-5 in the extra session. Rod Drolet also added three of four free throws in OT.

Brett Ferris chipped in with 10 points for the winners, who led 52-48 after three quarters.

Four Farmington players scored in double figures: Stan Lewis (19), Steve Juncaj (18), Mike Tokar (15) and Kevin Afferbaugh (12).

Tokar's 10-foot baseball jumper with six second left sent the game in OT.

■ JOHN GLENN 61, N. FARMINGTON 53: Tony Goins, a senior forward, led all scorers with 30 points Thursday, sparking Westland John Glenn (11-3, 7-

ROUNDUP

11 to the WLAA victory at North Farmington (6-9, 4-5).

Guy Rucker, a 6-foot-10 junior, chipped in with 16 points and six blocked shots. Senior guard Tariq Home came off the bench to score nine points.

John Pennala tallied a season-high 23 points for North. Doug Dolak added 12. Scot Lord and Evan Ellis snared nine and eight rebounds, respectively.

■ NORTHVILLE 40, CHURCHILL 28: Livonia Churchill's deliberate offense yielded quality shots, but not points in a WLAA encounter Friday against the host Mustangs.

Churchill is 4-11 overall and 2-7 in the Western Lakes.

Northville, despite 13 of 30 shooting from the free throw (43.3 percent), improved to 10-6 overall and 4-5 in the WLAA.

Josh Williams, a 6-foot-11 senior center, led Northville with nine points.

Adam Bower and Jedd Thorderson each tallied six for the Chargers, who made only 12 of 23 from the line (52 percent).

"We played a delay game, but it was not meant to be a slowdown," Churchill coach Tom Lang said. "Northville just played aggressive man-to-man defense and took us out of our offense. We missed a lot of layups and short jumpers. It was the same offense we ran when we scored 66 points against Farmington. But maybe there was a little intimidation factor against Northville."

■ WAYNE 73, FORDSON 63: On Friday, Wayne Memorial rallied from a 27-14 first-quarter deficit with a 26-9 third quarter run to beat host Dearborn Fordson in a Mega Conference Red-Division encounter.

Rod Hardison helped spur the comeback with a game-high 20 points for the Zebras, now 12-4 overall and 6-2 in the Mega-Red.

Freshman Lorenzo Gues added 14 points and seven rebounds. Gerald Adams and Courtney Howard chipped in with 13 and 11, respectively.

Nashir Abdallah led the the Tractors (7-7 overall) with 20 points, while Rabih Zahr and Matt Gae contributed 10 each.

■ REDFORD CC 69, DELABALLE 63: Redford Catholic Central earned the top seed in the Central Division for the upcoming Catholic League playoffs after a hard-fought victory Friday over visiting Warren DeLaSalle.

CC, now 10-4 overall, ties Redford Bishop Borgess for the Central crown. Both teams finished 8-2, but the Shamrocks earn the top seed by virtue of head-to-head meetings (2-0 versus Borgess).

Senior center Joe Daly and senior forward Andy Slankater each tallied 16 points for CC. Justin Hoener, a sophomore guard, added six of his 11 points in the decisive fourth quarter.

Kurt Schroyer had a game-high 20 points for the Pilots, who slipped to 6-8 overall and 3-7 overall.

eight assists, while senior guard Jim Hoelt also netted 14 points.

Senior guard Jeremy Harrison paced Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest (5-8, 2-5) with 23 points, including four 3-pointers. Teammate Matt Blom, a junior guard, contributed 15.

■ CLARENCEVILLE 49, LUTHERAN WEST 38: Interim coach Rick Larson earned his first varsity victory as Livonia Clarenceville (7-7, 4-5) won a Metro Conference game Friday at Detroit Lutheran West (11-3, 0-9).

Clarenceville won despite shooting 11 of 25 from the free throw line (44 percent).

"It wasn't a pretty win, but we got the job done," said Larson, who is taking over for the departed Rob White (job transfer). Mark Kalaj led the victorious Trojans with 16 points and nine rebounds.

Dual slate: Spartans undefeated

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Something had to give Thursday as divisional wrestling champs collided in a Western Lakes Activities Association crossover.

Host Livonia Stevenson, the Lakes representative, capped off an unbeaten dual-meet campaign in the WLAA with a hard-fought 31-20 win over Western Division winner Northville.

WRESTLING

Stevenson finished off the regular season at 7-0 and 6-0 in the WLAA.

"It's been a crazy year and everything just fell into place," Stevenson coach Don Berg said. "It's really unbelievable. It's been storbook season from the start and hopefully it will be that way at the end."

On Saturday, Stevenson and Northville were favored to battle it out at the WLAA league meet. (Results will appear in Thursday's Observer.)

But the Spartans' ultimate goal is to repeat as district champs (where team dual action starts this Thursday), advance through the regional and make a run into the state Class A quarterfinals in Battle Creek.

"This was a good match to peak toward our team goal," said Berg, whose lineup includes all underclassmen. "We'd like to go to Battle Creek just for the experience of saying we were there."

It wasn't easy, however, on Thursday.

Northville made things interesting by taking a 20-18 lead after 160-pounder Adam Lynch decided Stevenson's Matt Fisher, 10-4.

But Stevenson won the final three matches to pull out the dual meet victory.

Ben Lewis (171) scored four points when he gained a superior decision over Erik Hibbler.

Unbeaten Craig Martin (189) was then scheduled to meet John Matthews, but the Northville grappler pulled out with a bad shoulder.

With six additional points to put the Spartans ahead 28-20, the

TEAM WRESTLING DISTRICT TOURNAMENTS

CLASS A At Garden City

Thursday, Feb. 17: Garden City vs. Wayne Memorial, 6 p.m.; Westland John Glenn vs. Romulus, 6 p.m. Final: 7:30 p.m. (Winner advances to the Garden City regional versus the Temperance Bedford district champion.)

At Livonia Franklin

Thursday, Feb. 17: Redford Union vs. Livonia Stevenson, 6 p.m.; Livonia Franklin vs. Livonia Churchill, 6 p.m. Final: 7:30 p.m. (Winner advances to the Ann Arbor Huron regional versus the Brighton district champion.)

At Woodhaven

Thursday, Feb. 17: Wyandotte vs. Southgate Anderson, 6 p.m.; Redford Catholic Central vs. Woodhaven, 6 p.m. Final: 7:30 p.m. (Winner advances to the Garden City regional versus the Fraser district champion.)

At Novi

Thursday, Feb. 17: North Farmington (A) vs. Farmington Harrison (B), 4 p.m.; Farmington vs. Northville, 5:30 p.m.; Novi vs. A-B winner, 5:30 p.m. Final: 7:15 p.m. (Winner advances to the Ann Arbor Huron regional versus the Ypsilanti district champion.)

CLASS C At Lutheran Westland

Tuesday, Feb. 15: Lutheran Westland (A) vs. Flat Rock (B), 6:30 p.m. Final: Clarenceville vs. A-B winner, 7:45 p.m. (Winner advances to the Dundee regional versus the Morenci district champion.)

Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton will compete Thursday in the district tournament at Ypsilanti High School, but that district draw was not conducted until Monday morning. Belleville, Ann Arbor Pioneer and Ypsilanti are the other teams involved. Wrestling will start at 5 p.m.

meet was over with the exception of David Ross' 3-1 overtime victory against Nick Bowersox in a heavyweight match.

"We didn't expect Matthews realistically to beat Martin," Northville coach Bob Boshhoven said. "There were a couple of matches where we thought we could get pins, but they were able to fight off their backs and stall it out."

Stevenson got a boost when Phil Tsapatoris (130) earned a 2-0 decision over Chris Harrison.

Northville's Joe Scappaticci (152) and Adam Lynch (160) scored decisions over Nick Petryk and Matt Fisher, respectively, but could not gain pins.

"Those were big matches because they only scored four points instead of 12," Berg said.

Other Stevenson winners included Dan Christenson (103), Jon Sata (125), Chris Jaztremski (135) and Chris Mullett (145).

In a mild surprise, Northville's cat-quick Carl Tune (140) avenged a loss earlier in the season to Scott Goldman, earning four points for the Mustangs with a 12-4 superior decision.

"My guy (Tune) lost to Goldman in the finals of the Garden City tournament," Boshhoven said. "He's really worked on his takedown move. Win or lose, he's got to win a match on his feet."

Despite the dual meet defeat, Boshhoven was glad his team got the chance to face a team like Stevenson.

"This was a nice opportunity because we don't see teams in the other division," he said. "It's good to pair off strength against strength."

East vs. West

Heady's hat trick lifts CC, 4-3

Jon Heady notched a hat trick Friday as Redford Catholic Central improved to 9-1-1 in the Michigan Metro High School Hockey League's West Division with a 4-3 victory over East Division leader Grosse Pointe South in a game played at the University of Michigan-Dearborn Ice Arena.

Jason Couture added the other goal for the Shamrocks, now 15-1-1 overall.

Each team recorded 26 shots. CC goalie Mike Brusseau made 23 saves.

"Brusseau played really well and Heady was outstanding as always," CC first-year coach Gordie St. John said. "There were too many penalties on both teams. We were just happy to win."

STEVENSON 9, WYANDOTTE 1: Livonia Stevenson avenged its only Suburban High

HOCKEY

School Hockey League defeat with a convincing 9-1 win over Wyandotte Roosevelt in a game played at Edgar Arena.

Kyle McNeillane led the victorious Spartans (13-6 overall and 11-1 SHSHL) with three goals and two assists.

Other offensive contributions came from Kevin Berger, two goals and two assists; Mike Lanspeary, one goal and two assists; Dave Gorton, one goal and one assist; Gino Gault, two assists; Brian Calka and Nick McCormick, one goal apiece.

A total of 106 minutes in penalties were called.

Wyandotte (8-6, 7-4-1) was minus top scorer Tony Cusumano (illness).

FRANKLIN 5, BIRMINGHAM 4: Junior goalie Pete Stasevich turned away 27 of 31 shots Thursday, propelling Livonia Franklin (10-7-1, 6-5-1) to the Suburban League win over host Birmingham (8-9-1, 5-7) at Cranbrook Ice Arena.

The Patriots built a 4-0 lead midway through the second period before holding on for the win.

Dave Proctor paced Franklin with two goals and one assist. Joe O'Connell, Matt Harrigan, and Kevin Bernard also scored goals.

Derek White collected two assists, while Chris Mason, Jeff Berger, Kevin Bernard and Jason Welter added one each.

Jamie Schroeder had a pair of goals for Birmingham.

On Wednesday, Bernard and Dominic Cantanario scored twice as Franklin defeated Dexter in a non-leaguer Wednesday at Edgar, 6-3.

Harrigan and Mason added goals for the Patriots. Ed Kruschka and Berger each collected two assists.

CHURCHILL 11, LANSER 1: Jody Milam notched a hat trick, while Chris Kiebler and Dave Higham each added a playmaker (three assists), leading Livonia Churchill (9-6, 8-2) to the victory over Bloomfield Hills Lanzer in an SHSHL game Thursday at the Detroit Skating Club.

Todd Keeler and Dan Higham each contributed two goals and one assist for the Chargers. Jason Samelko and Mark Bugnell added one goal and one assist each.

Other Churchill point producers included goalie Chris Maki (second straight assist), Kyle Dawley (two assists) and Jason Lee (goal).

Trojans unbeaten in Metro

Kristen Przegendza continues to put up Troy Aikman-like numbers quarterbacking the Livonia Clarenceville volleyball team.

Setting the Trojans' 5-1 offense, Przegendza had 24 assists and collected 10 digs in a 15-8, 15-13 Metro Conference victory Thursday at Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest.

The win pushes the defending Conference champs to 15-4-4 overall and 6-0 in the Metro. Clarenceville can clinch at least a tie for the Metro title with a win tonight at home against Grosse Pointe University-Liggett. (Varsity game time is 7.)

Jaime Zemke and Tracy Sledz each collected seven kills for the winners. Zemke also had six solo blocks and seven assists, while Sledz had 13 digs and served five points.

Chris Nunnery served 18 points, including six aces. She led the Trojans with 18 digs. Teammate Joanna Galuszka chipped in with four kills and six digs.

Lutheran Westland wins

Lutheran High Westland improved to 15-11-2 overall and 4-2 in the Metro Conference with a 15-13, 15-1 win Thursday at Mount Clemens Lutheran North.

VOLLEYBALL

Sophomore Kristin Priskorn served six-straight points, including a pair of aces, to help erase a 10-1 deficit in the first game.

Setters Katie Ollinger and Dena Purdy combined for 24 assists.

Emily Schroeder, a junior outside hitter, had four solo blocks and three kills. Jenny Pruchnik added three kills, while junior defensive specialist Julie Twietmeyer and senior Erin Cicero collected two kills each.

Churchill whips Raiders

Livonia Churchill scored a 15-9, 15-4, 15-9 Western Lakes Activities Association win Wednesday over visiting North Farmington.

The Chargers are 17-4-6 overall and 5-2 in the WLAA.

Amy Place served seven points and Sarah Fabirkiewicz had five kills in the second game.

Mindy Sullivan played a fine all-around game offensively and defensively, according to coach Mike Hughes.

The Churchill coach also praised the play of sophomore setter Kerri Verardi.

Monaghan leads Spartans

Junior outside hitter Jen Monaghan recorded 11 kills Wednesday, leading Livonia Stevenson to a 15-6, 15-9, 15-11 WLAA win at Walled Lake West-ern.

Stevenson is 11-12-8 overall and 5-4 in the Western Lakes.

Janene Copi contributed seven kills, while senior setter Angie Piippo had 36 assists.

Blazers block Mercy

On Thursday, visiting Livonia Ladywood tuned up for the Catholic League playoffs by beating Farmington Hills Mercy for the third time this season, 15-6, 16-14.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Items for the Sports Roundup must be submitted by noon Tuesday (for Thursday issue) and noon Friday (for Monday issue). Items run once only.

GALEA STEPS DOWN

Citing work commitments, Joe Galea has resigned as Livonia Franklin High's varsity girls soccer coach after four seasons, according to school athletic director Dan Freeman.

In four seasons, Galea finished with an overall record of 27-35-1.

"Practice starts in mid-March and the timing makes it tough," Freeman said. "I hate to rush through this, especially when you're hiring a varsity coach. At this short notice, a lot of people are locked into jobs.

"We hope we can run across a person who has the expertise and experience to run a varsity program because there are some quality players in the program."

Freeman said Friday he did not know if JV coach Don McDougall would apply for the varsity post.

Those interested should call Freeman at 523-9317.

RODDY EARNS GOLD

Lucinda Roddy, a junior at Livonia Clarenceville High School, won a gold medal in smallbore rifle and a silver in rifle competition at the Junior Olympic Shooting Championships, Jan. 30.

Long drought between 300 games well worth wait

AL HARRISON

When Tom Baranski bowled a 300 game at Avon Recreation in Rochester Hills last week he probably did not realize he had set a new all-time record, of sorts.

It took a phone call from ABC headquarters in Greendale, Wis. to verify the fact that indeed it was a new record for the longest interval between 300 games for any individual bowler.

For the 53-year-old Baranski, it was 24 years since his other perfect game. The previous record was 21 years, and that was held by none other than Fred Wolf.

Most older bowlers will immediately recognize that name. So for Tom Baranski, it turned out to be much more than just a perfect game, it was one for the books!

For those who missed the ABC-TV Good Morning America show which featured Cheryl Daniels and Martha Reeves singing and bowling from Bowl One Lanes in Troy, you get another chance. ESPN taped a session with them on the lanes at Bowl One, and it will be aired sometime in March.

I will announce the date and time as soon as it is released. Daniels is expected to sing the National Anthem for the opening ceremonies of the U.S. Open Professional bowlers tour from Bowl One in April.

According to John Fallows, owner of "Pro Balance" pro shop in Farmington Hills, the biggest thing about Reactive resin balls is "To know when NOT to use them."

Salem grad sinks Madonna

Plymouth Salem High product John Hoffmeyer scored a game-high 25 points Wednesday, leading host University of Michigan-Dearborn to a 116-83 men's college basketball win over Madonna University.

Pat Hughes contributed 23 points and 16 points for the Wolves, who improved to 8-19 overall.

Mike Slone (Salem) led the Crusaders (2-25 overall) with 21 points.

SCHOOLCRAFT CC WASHED OUT: A water main broke Wednesday at Macomb Community, forcing the campus to shut down and the game to be rescheduled for 7:30 tonight, at Macomb.

The Monarchs were 8-4 going into Saturday's action. Delta was the conference leader at 10-3 (prior to Saturday), followed by Mott (9-4); Macomb and Henry Ford CC (9-5 each); Highland Park (8-5); St. Clair (7-7); Oakland CC (5-8); Alpena (2-10) and Schoolcraft (1-12).

Catholic Central cruises

Redford Catholic Central won eight of nine individual events and all three relays in an easy boys swim victory Tuesday over Ann Arbor Huron, 59-34, at Farmington Hills Mercy.

The Shamrocks are 9-2 overall in dual meets.

James Leslie and Steve Reinke won two events each.

Leslie won the 200 freestyle (1:47.74) and 100 freestyle (50.25) and Reinke won the 200 individual medley (2:04.74) and 100 butterfly (55.17).

Other winners were Paul Magoulik, 50 freestyle (23.12), Kevin Reinke, 100 backstroke (59.12) and Greg Tracey, 100 breaststroke (1:10.10). Ken Marzec won the diving for CC.

In the relays, the team of Kevin Reinke, Tracey, Jason Markou and John Zarrow took the 200 medley relay (1:50.05), Steve Reinke, Zarrow, Magoulik and Leslie won the 200 free (1:33.15) and Steve Reinke, Zarrow, Brian Green and Leslie won the 400 free (3:27.75).

Local Arm of National Program Helps Children with Attention, Comprehension, and Reversal Problems

LIVONIA—The rationale behind the Vision Improvement Program (VIP) is that if children are unable to intake, process and respond to visually presented information, they are missing 80% of the learning opportunity. For these children, it is like placing a wall between them and knowledge and asking them to retrieve it," according to VIP Director John P. Jacobi, (O.D.)

The common belief is that 20/20 vision equals perfect sight, when in reality, this is not the case. The visual system is comprised of several skills, including visual memory, visual concentration, visual motor speed and precision (eye-hand coordination), visualization, visual-sensory integration, visual tracking, eye teaming and focusing skills, visual discrimination.

Ten years ago, a team of psychologists, educators and vision specialists developed an intense program for children with learning difficulties and dubbed it VIP. After extensive postgraduate training, Livonia optometrist Dr. Jacobi introduced the program to southeast Michigan, and has since treated hundreds of children. Currently, 136 optometrists have implemented the VIP nationwide.

The ten-week program has resulted in an average improvement of 3.1 years in the child's ability to comprehend, stay on task, work faster, and handle more complex tasks.

Outstanding results are the norm because it is an intense program with a highly trained therapist who conducts carefully sequenced activities.

Dr. Jacobi and VIP have been repeatedly featured in local media.

Area eye doctors have referred patients to the program and have found it a welcomed relief to frustrated parents. Due to time constraints, these doctors note that many of these visual skills are not investigated during routine eye exams. Educators from numerous school systems have recommended the Vision Improvement Program as a way of enhancing a child's ability to function visually.

But, the most impressive effects beyond mere statistics have been cited by parents as they observe their children's daily functions.

Susan C. noted, "After therapy had finished, I found my son's memorizing ability greatly improved. In music lessons, we once struggled to remember a new song without music—now it is much easier and happens much quicker."

"I have seen my son reading a book on his own—what a sight! Our family reads a lot and previously, my son wanted to be read to or would simply flip through the book looking at the photos," said an enthused Susan K.

"My daughter has made marked improvement in her self confidence. At her school conference, her teacher remarked that she had seen great improvement as well. I am very pleased with the progress she has made. In fact, her teacher has requested that she present to the class her visualization training. Thank you for all the support your staff has given my daughter," wrote Mary Alice K.

As in these children's cases, a visual processing problem can affect a child's ability to function. Signs and symptoms of a visual processing problem include:

- reversing letters
- avoids reading
- illegible or unorganized writing
- headaches
- inability to sit still
- slow work
- careless errors
- difficulty copying

"Parents be aware," warns Dr. Jacobi. "In this information age, the modern world is a very competitive place, and can be particularly hostile to non-readers. With empathy, I listen to parents who say, 'If my child were only given more time...' or 'My child is smart, but he has to learn everything auditorally.' Unfortunately, these scenarios are either impossible or unacceptable, but when the problem is visually related, we have been able to obtain tremendous results."

To identify a child who could benefit from this program, doctors utilizing VIP, such as Dr. Jacobi, provide a comprehensive screening of 18 different tests for children ages six to 16. The screening is free, therapy is covered by most major medical insurance, and if treatment is needed, parents can start their child immediately.

To schedule a free screening, call (313) 525-8170.
