Schools consider ethics code

Wayne-Westland school board members would be banned from taking financial or political advantage of their positions under several proposed policy rules. If adopted, the policy would provide guidelines for board members and their behavior.

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A newly proposed conflict-of-interest policy would prohibit Wayne-Westland school board members from using their public positions for personal gain.

The policy — one of several newly drafted rules — defines behaviors that board members should avoid to maintain their integrity and credibility.

The policy would prohibit board members from:

- Reaping financial benefits from confidential information that they receive in their public positions.
- Soliciting or accepting gifts, money or services that could influence their decisions as board members.

■ Engaging in situations where "prejudice, bias, favoritism or personal gain" is a motivating force in board member conduct.

■ Disclosing confidential board information, unless a board member does so because of a suspected law violation.

■ Misrepresenting their personal views as the entire seven-member board's opinion.

■ Becoming employed by the district or receiving any compensation except for attending board meetings. Board members may earn up to $1,530 a year, plus mileage.

The policy wouldn't block the individuals from ever working in the district. However, they would have to be out of office for at least one year before they could be considered for positions.

The newly proposed rules came from a three-member board subcommittee that studied the issues and made recommendations.

"Other boards have them," said Richard LeBlanc, board secretary and

Restaurant banks on neighborly warmth

BY LEANNE ROGERS
STAFF WRITER

Local residents who have a hankering for an oversized sandwich or hamburger won't have far to drive, now that a new Wheat and Rye restaurant has opened on Middlebelt near Warren.

With its trademark glass block windows and new natural wood decor, the building would never be mistaken for its previous incarnation as Crazy Rose's.

"We worked on it for seven or eight months. It's totally revamped. The look you see is ours," said co-owner Terry Nichols. "The clean lines and the glass block look — it's like back in the mid-'40s and '50s. It's the neighborhood bar feel."

The four Wheat and Rye restaurants grew out of a fifth restaurant — the Allen Park bar which also featured big sandwiches and sports themes.

"We want to be a neighborhood bar. We want to be the 7-Eleven of bars," said Nichols. "This is a place where everyone can come in. The family can come in. We have pool and darts. There is a nostalgic flavor."

New Wheat and Rye restaurants are planned in Farmington and Tampa, Fla., as well as one under construction near Metro Airport. The first of the restaurants opened in 1980.

"We came up with the name because it goes along with sandwiches, and beer is hops and grains," he said. "It was kind of a catchy name."

The menu features oversized sandwiches, such as two-pound stacked ham or corned beef. The sandwiches have been rated tops by local radio stations and AAA Michigan.

"We have a half-pound ground round for $1.50. That's cheaper than McDonald's," Nichols said. "We have a turkey club the size of a shoobox. That's our schtick. We're a burger and beer joint. It's back to basics."

For those with a smaller appetite, the restaurant offers smaller sized sandwiches, specialty burgers, and, for the health-conscious, a buffalo burger which has half the fat of ground beef.

"For the price you pay, no one has better quality. Everyone is a professional connoisseur. You know what you like and so does everyone else," said Nichols. "If you serve a good piece of meat it speaks for itself."

Suspect arrested following bank robbery

BY DARRELL CLEM

A man possibly holding a gun in his coat pocket robbed a Comerica bank Tuesday morning in Westland — but a suspect was later captured in Detroit, Westland police Sgt. Timothy Speir said.

The incident at the Comerica branch on Ann Arbor Trail, east of Merriman, was one of three robberies reported in Westland during a seven-day period ending Friday.

No injuries were reported in any of the incidents. Other robbery reports included:

- A robbery at 12:42 a.m. Friday at the 7-Eleven at 172 S. John Hix.
- A robbery just before 1 p.m. Feb. 11 at Hampton Court apartments on Ford Road, just west of Wildwood.

Westland police refused to disclose details of the 7-Eleven and Hampton Court incidents, which remain under investigation. A 7-Eleven assistant manager also said she wasn't at liberty to discuss that robbery.

The Comerica robbery occurred at 11:45 a.m. Tuesday when a white male walked into the bank and handed a note to a teller, who couldn't read it, Westland police reports said.

The man then spoke to the teller, demanded the money, and escaped with $1,430, police reports said.

The man didn't reveal a gun, but he had his right hand in his coat

Burglary defendants won't get break on bonds

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Three young men wanted to steal weapons when they broke into a house in the 35200 block of June, near Wayne Road and Palmer, a prosecutor said.

The allegation — voiced by Wayne County assistant prosecutor Maria Petito — came Thursday as defense attorneys tried to convince a judge to reduce bond for the defendants.

"They were looking for guns," Petito told 18th District Judge C. Charles Bokos.

Bokos refused to reduce bonds ranging from $10,000 to $25,000 for defendants Aaron Michael Thomas, 18, of Livonia, Ryan Donald Morrison, 18, of Canton Township and Jeffrey Brian Parsons, 20, of Auburn Hills.

Bokos, noting that the defendants fled from police and had to be captured on foot, said he feared the men would also flee the area and try to avoid being tried on breaking and entering charges.

Moreover, Bokos said the allegation that the three men were trying to steal guns is "a great concern to the court." The incident was reported at 9:45 a.m. Feb. 7.

The Wayne-Westland Soccer League will hold its spring registration 1-3 p.m. Saturday in the Wayne Community Center, on Annapolis and Howe, Wayne, for boys and girls ages 3 1/2-18. For more information, call 458-7788.

Trial ordered for man charged with beating girlfriend

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A Westland man accused in the brutal beating of his former, much-younger girlfriend has been ordered to stand trial on a felony charge that could land him in prison for 10 years.

Kevin Lloyd Cavil, 37, is accused of ordering his 17-year-old former girlfriend into his car and driving her around for three hours — often beating her with his hands — and later taking her to an apartment complex and assaulting her, police said.

The incident began at 10:30 p.m. Feb. 8 in a parking lot at Western Hills apartment complex on Hickory Lane, near Newburgh and Cherry Hill.

In the incident, a man held the 17-year-old for about six hours before he released her.

the apartment complex and assaulted her several times before setting her free at 4:30 a.m., police said.

The woman suffered a possible concussion and bruises, and she phoned Westland police after she was released by her captor, police said.

Cavil was subsequently arrested and charged in the incident, but a not guilty plea has been entered for him in Westland 18th District Court.

On Thursday, he appeared before 18th District Judge C. Charles Bokos for a preliminary hearing to determine if he should stand trial on the charge. Cavil voluntarily waived the hearing, prompting Bokos to bind him over for trial in Detroit Recorder's Court.

Cavil could face up to 10 years in prison if convicted of assault with intent to do great bodily harm. He remained in custody last week in lieu of a $50,000 cash bond.

Bokos reiterated his earlier warning that Cavil is not to contact his former girlfriend. The judge also declined a request by Cavil's defense attorney to lower the bond.

"I found this to be a very serious assault," Bokos said in court.

Unlicensed contractor charged with fraud

BY LEANNE ROGERS
STAFF WRITER

A Garden City man is facing charges in 21st District Court that he defrauded residents who hired him to do cement work at their homes.

Kenneth Zychowicz, 6768 Lathers, is charged with two counts of committing a fraudulent scheme under city ordinance.

Zychowicz, who isn't a licensed contractor, is charged with taking a $450 deposit from a resident on Barton in May 1993 and a $300 deposit from a resident on Pierce the following month. In both cases it is charged that he failed to do any work or return the deposits.

These aren't the first legal problems for Zychowicz, who has been operating unlicensed businesses from his home under various names.

In 21st District Court, seven homeowners have received judgments against Zychowicz ranging from $302 to $826 to compensate for payments for cement work that was never performed or projects not completed at homes in Garden City, Westland Bloomfield, Canton and Farmington Hills. Default judgments were entered in all of the civil cases filed from 1990-93.

Zychowicz has also been fined by the Michigan Department of Commerce for practicing without a license. Hearings were held in Lansing, but he failed to attend.

The state fined Zychowicz $2,500 on each of two counts and ordered to make restitution of $500 to a homeowner. In a second case he was ordered to satisfy a civil judgment entered against him in 16th District Court in Livonia.

The business names used by Zychowicz have included Area Masonry and Cement, Chiarelli Construction and K.Z. Quality Built Construction.

A pretrial hearing scheduled last week in 21st District Court was adjourned until Wednesday after Zychowicz indicated he couldn't pay an attorney and asked for court-appointed counsel.

St. Mary Hospital announces appointments

Mary Ann MacMurray, R.N., has been named unit manager of the emergency department day shift at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia.

Her appointment was one of two recent personnel changes at the hospital. Marilyn Dyer was named director of quality improvement.

MacMurray, who has a bachelor of science degree in nursing, has been employed by St. Mary Hospital for 20 years and most recently served as afternoon shift supervisor.

As the new emergency department manager, she is responsible for staff scheduling, inservice training and other duties.

A resident of Livonia, MacMurray earned a diploma from the Henry Ford Hospital School of Nursing and her bachelor of science in nursing from Madonna University. She is working on a master of science degree in administration from Central Michigan University.

A certified emergency nurse, she is also certified in advanced cardiac life support and is a basic cardiopulmonary resuscitation instructor. She is a member and former secretary of the Huron Valley Chapter of the Emergency Nurses Association.

Dyer, in the new position of director of quality improvement, supports and directs hospital-wide quality improvement activities.

Dyer was most recently director of medical records, utilization review and quality assessment at Detroit Osteopathic Hospital in Highland Park, where she worked for 10 years.

For two years prior to joining DOH she served as director of medical records for Pontiac Nursing Center, a 300-bed extended care facility.

A registered record administrator, Dyer earned a bachelor's degree in medical record administration from Mercy College of Detroit. She also attended Wayne State University College of Nursing.

Three men broke into the June house while they knew the homeowner was in court on another matter, Westland police Sgt. Steve Ryskamp said.

But the homeowner returned home and caught them in the act, prompting the three suspects to flee the house and leave behind a Ford Bronco that they drove to the scene, Ryskamp said. The vehicle didn't belong to any of the suspects.

Police arrived quickly on the scene and caught one suspect just three blocks away. The other two were later apprehended separately during foot chases that ended in Wayne, police said.

Thomas, Morrison and Parsons appeared in 18th District Court on Thursday for a preliminary hearing to determine if they should stand trial. All three volunteered to waive the hearing, in a move that automatically sent their cases to Detroit Recorder's Court for trial.

All three could face up to 15 years in prison if convicted. Not-guilty pleas had been entered for them in court, prior to Thursday's hearing.

pocket as though he was hiding a weapon, a female teller told police. Several customers and employees were in the bank at the time, police reports said.

The same suspect has been accused in another robbery that occurred three days earlier at the Michigan National Bank branch at Wonderland Mall in Livonia, Speir said.

Livonia police issued a bulletin for a specific suspect, who was arrested Tuesday after he was stopped in Detroit for driving erratically, Speir said. The man matched a description of the Livonia robbery suspect, Speir said.

The sergeant also said a female suspect was arrested with the man.

The case has been turned over to FBI investigators, Speir said. Neither an FBI spokesman nor the Livonia officer who handled the Livonia case could be reached for comment Friday.

policy subcommittee member. "Rather than being caught in a circumstance we don't want to be in, we should have something that gives us some guidelines."

The policy was brought to the board last week for a first reading. A required second reading is expected next month, when the rules could be formally adopted, said Gary Dell, administrative assistant to the superintendent.

The policy fails to prescribe any penalties for board members who violate it, and LeBlanc conceded during an interview with the Observer that the board might want to consider how to respond to any violations.

The new rules also don't address whether board members should vote on contracts that benefit spouses or relatives, LeBlanc said, when asked about the issue.

"That's going to be a personal decision left up to the board members," he said.

Other policies ready for adoption include:

■ Rules that clearly define why employees and students can be fired and expelled for drug or alcohol offenses.

■ Rules prohibiting employees from campaigning for a political candidate or ballot proposal on school property. Moreover, employees couldn't use students in after-school campaigns without approval from parents.

The policy subcommittee hopes the new rules — particularly the conflict-of-interest section — will improve public confidence in a board whose image has been tarnished by numerous controversies in recent years.

"The objectives of this conflict-of-interest policy are to maintain an impartial administration of the business of the school district and to maintain public confidence in the board of education and the Wayne-Westland schools," the subcommittee wrote in introducing the proposed rules.

Willow Creek residents get smart

BY LEONARD POGER
EDITOR

Seniors who live in the Willow Creek apartment/townhouse complex are smarter this week.

Not because they're doing anything to increase their IQs.

The reason is that last week they heard two speakers who helped the seniors to "eat smart" and be "street smart."

Talking about nutrition, blood pressure and other health issues was Mary Lou Anolick, a St. Mary Hospital registered nurse and a community programming staffer.

Helping educate the seniors to be more street smart was Westland police Detective Michael Terry, who talked about personal safety and auto theft prevention.

When the "eat smart" program concluded, Anolick and Marianne Simancek, also a St. Mary registered nurse, gave free blood pressure tests.

In his crime prevention talk, Terry urged residents that they don't have to open their doors to anyone who rings their door bells. If the seniors are in doubt, they should call the police department on its 911 emergency line instead of contacting the Willow Creek manager.

While it may sound obvious, Terry warned the residents to keep their cars locked and urged them to avoid leaving the engine running while they dash into a convenience store for a quick purchase.

The crime prevention officer noted that in one case his mother-in-law left the keys in her car, which she parked in her Redford Township driveway. While the woman could see part of the car from her kitchen, a thief entered the auto and drove away - waving to her.

Testing: Marianne Simancek (left), St. Mary Hospital nurse and wellness program coordinator, administers a blood pressure test to Willow Creek's Jeanette Nicoson after the "eat smart" program.

In interviews with criminals, Terry said, some go into large retail parking lots and walk up and down the lanes checking door handles to see which cars are unlocked.

Another problem for drivers is that they sometimes leave bags, cameras or other articles on the seat which are visible to thieves.

"Thieves thrive on a lack of discipline and laziness," of car owners, Terry said.

On the "eat smart" topic, Anolick urged her audience to avoid salt, foods with high cholesterol, such as lunch meats and TV dinners. They should also get plenty of exercise and look for ways to relax since stress increases a person's blood pressure.

"Exercise is crucial," she said. "You don't have to do a marathon, but walking several times a week is important. Swim aerobics will also help."

She said that St. Mary Hospital sponsors a walking club at Wonderland Center. There is a similar club at Westland Center, sponsored by Garden City Hospital.

On stress, Anolick said that sometimes blood pressure readings are higher than normal because of many factors, such as stress, activities and smoking.

The 432-unit Willow Creek complex is on Newburgh between Ford and Marquette.

Glenn cheerleaders bring home first-place honors

John Glenn High School's cheerleading squad won first-place honors in the recent Western Lakes Activity Association's league competition, held at Churchill High School.

The team was first in the home cheer, crowd response and dance categories as well as in the overall league championship. The traveling trophy will be housed in the high school for the next year.

In the junior varsity competition, John Glenn was first in the home cheer and crowd response categories and second to Plymouth Salem in the dance competition.

On the varsity squad are Felicia Bailey, Terri Marshall, Jackie Oxford, Kelle Boogren, Kristen Nichols, Alissa Enriguez, Jane Carter, Shelley Underwood, Cindy Thompson, Katie LaBonte, Kelly Hamrick and Mary Dean.

Cheryl DeLuca coaches the varsity team while Vivian Eldridge directs the JV team, assisted by Bev Porter.

Judges for the Feb. 12 competition were Michigan High School Athletic Association-certified. They evaluated the squads on the basis of voice, execution, precision, enthusiasm, pep, creativity, originality, group coordination, poise, expression, floor mobility, cheering and jumping techniques and general impression.

Other schools winning second- or third-place ribbons in the varsity competition were Northville, Farmington, Plymouth Canton and Churchill. In the JV category, ribbons went to Plymouth Salem, Northville, Walled Lake Central, and Churchill.

Cheering champs: The John Glenn High School cheerleading team won the Western Lakes Activity Association league competition.

YMCA spring programs include indoor soccer

Programs and activities for all age groups are being offered by the Wayne-Westland Family YMCA, which plans to start the year's first spring session next week.

Starting Monday, Feb. 28, the Y will offer a variety of programs which will continue through April 23.

As in the past, the Y, which also serves Garden City, will have a variety of swimming and physical fitness programs for all ages.

The Y's activities center and indoor pool are at 827 S. Wayne Road.

With the Wayne-Westland school district on its annual mid-winter break this week, the Y will hold its "recess camp" program Monday through Friday. Activities will include use of the swimming pool, games, craft projects, physical fitness activities and field trips. Fee is $69 per week for Y members and $79 for program members. Member fees for two- and three-day periods are $27 and $40, respectively. For program members, the charge is $31.50 and $47.25, respectively.

The camp is designed for children ages 6-12.

During the school district's Easter break, the Y will have a camp program for the week of April 4-8 covering the same activities as planned for the recess camp.

Family Fun Nights are planned for 6-8 p.m. Saturday, March 19, and April 16, at the Y. There will be swimming, games, crafts and movies for the entire family.

The program is free for Y members, with program members paying 50 cents and non-members $1.

In the swimming program, the Y plans to have lessons for all ages, including preschoolers.

There will also be teen and adult classes in aquatics, aerobics, water exercise, exercise and karate.

A new indoor soccer instructional program is under way, with registration available at the Y office. The class for boys and girls will be March 1 through April 19 with all instruction to be held at the Wayne Ford Civic League hall, 1645 N. Wayne Road.

There is a limit of 25 per age group. Fee is $21 for Y members and $42 for program members.

Starting March 14, the Y's basketball instructional program will continue for eight weeks. Games and practices will be held on Mondays or Saturdays. Registration fees are $21 for Y members, $42 for program members.

Detailed information on all Y programs is available in a publication available at the Y office.

Businesses call EPA order on dump site 'inappropriate'

BY LEONARD POGER
EDITOR

A federal government order directing a cleanup of a former dump in the city's northwest section is "inappropriate" and should be withdrawn, said a consultant representing a company which has already starting preliminary testing of the site.

The action in early January of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency is "inappropriate in light of the history of the (agency's) enforcement activities and the conditions at the site," said the Weston-Golf Coast Inc. report.

The firm completed a preliminary study of the site, north of Warren Road and west of Central City Parkway, for two companies and Wayne County, which dumped materials there in the 1950s and 1960s.

The companies are 3M, which used to have a plant in the city of Wayne, and Crestwood Development, which built the two nearby apartment developments.

Weston-Golf, in its detailed report for its clients with a copy sent to the EPA, said the agency's unilateral directive for a cleanup should be withdrawn.

The environmental consultant said that while the agency ordered the removal of all hazardous substances from the former dump, the site contained mainly "ordinary municipal garbage" of which only one-half of 1 percent is hazardous, based on EPA's own documentation.

In related action, the county, 3M and Crestwood announced that they have started a study to determine the type and extent of material in the dump.

The preliminary sampling by the EPA showed there were "small quantities of hazardous materials" in the dump, said the announcement.

"We believe the environmentally-sound approach to this situation requires additional study of the site to determine the type and extent of waste disposal, which will lead to an informed decision on the next steps to take with the property," said Ellen Lindquist, deputy corporation counsel for the county.

If the EPA insists on a full-scale cleanup, the county, Crestwood and 3M would be responsible for it and the costs.

The dump accounts for nearly five acres of a 12-acre site on the south bank of the Tonquish Creek and extends into part of the nearby William Holliday nature preserve.

"When the site was identified as a potential hazard in early January, the two firms and county erected a perimeter fence to keep people from entering it.

Initial testing of the nearby Tonquish Creek surface water and the air conducted by the environmental consulting firm "indicated there are no measurable impacts from the property," said a spokesman for 3M.

Further testing will include surface soil removal, groundwater sampling, sub-surface soil sampling, air quality monitoring and soil gas surveys.

"We want to conduct a very thorough assessment of the site and take samples to check what problems, if any, are there," said Robert Paschke, 3M's environmental engineer in a statement. "Once the testing and sampling are completed at the site, appropriate action will be taken to clean up the property."

The company also met with residents of the two nearby apartment complexes to explain what it is doing and announce a toll-free informational line (1-800-435-3344) for area residents.

House Dems delay real estate tax cut

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Democrats hope they've stuck a poison pill into a cut in the real estate transfer tax sought by Gov. John Engler.

The House Wednesday passed the tax cut 76 to 28. But it failed to come up with the two-thirds majority (72) to give Senate Bill 999 immediate effect. The second vote was 68 to 32.

So if the Engler-backed Proposal A wins March 15 at the polls, the real estate transfer tax — a 2 percent sales tax on homes — can't be cut to 0.75 percent until about April 1, 1995.

Under the statutory plan, which takes effect if Proposal A loses, the real estate transfer tax starts at 1 percent on May 1 and drops to 0.75 percent in April of 1995.

"It will kill real estate sales," said Republicans like Rep. Willis Bullard of Milford and Sen. Michael Bouchard of Birmingham. Bouchard sponsored the bill.

They fear sellers will keep houses off the market until April of 1995 in order to avoid a tax of $200 per $100,000 of sale price.

Under Proposal A, the real estate transfer tax's yield will be cut by $266 million on a full-year basis, Bouchard said.

The Republican chieftains hope to try again for a two-thirds immediate effect vote — perhaps after the March 15 election, when the issue may be less partisan.

Engler called the plan a "poison pill" designed to damage Proposal A at the polls. The governor said he proposed it last October when it appeared home property taxes would be zeroed out completely, but he wanted to drop it after the residential property tax was revived. Engler said it was reinserted in the Dec. 23-24 marathon legislative session.

Four Democrats — including Rep. Justine Barns of Westland — voted both ways: for the tax cut but against giving it immediate effect.

Voting no both times were Democrats Maxine Berman of Southfield, David Gubow of Huntington Woods, William Keith of Garden City and Richard Young of Dearborn Heights.

Voting yes both times were Republicans Lyn Bankes of Redford, Penny Crissman of Rochester, Barbara Dobb of Union Lake, Jan Dolan of Farmington Hills, John Jamian of Bloomfield Township, Shirley Johnson of Royal Oak, Greg Kaza of Rochester Hills, Jerry Vorva of Plymouth and Deborah Whyman of Canton.

One Democrat, Howard Wetters of Bay County, denounced Engler and Republican senators as "willing to change this in mid-stream while the voters are watching."

To give this bill immediate effect would only encourage and reward this behavior" and aid the GOP "in their headlong desire to appease the special interests."

House bill pits banks, insurers

Bankers and insurers — two groups politicians love to hate — are fighting in Lansing in what one lawmaker calls "a turf battle."

The House Insurance Committee is considering a bipartisan package of bills to prohibit banks, savings and loans, credit unions and other financial institutions from selling insurance.

On the bankers' side, opposing the bills, is Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City, a former banker. "The national banks can sell insurance," Keith said, citing a court opinion. "State-chartered banks can't compete on a level playing field."

Supporting the insurers' view is Rep. John Jamian, R-Bloomfield Township, a co-sponsor of the bills. "There are insurance agents all over the state. I don't know how allowing a bank to sell insurance is going to make much of a difference (in its availability)," said Jamian.

On the fence, but leaning toward the bankers, is Rep. Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth. His view is that government shouldn't interfere in the marketplace, competition is good for consumers, and "that's the American way." Insurance agents who want Vorva's vote will have to convince him that there's something overwhelmingly evil in letting banks sell insurance.

Which is worse?

Detroit Democrats dislike both industries. They see insurance agents abandoning their city, Flint and Saginaw, leaving them without coverage.

"But at least with financial institutions," said Rep. Nelson Saunders, D-Detroit, "we have a hammer — the Community Reinvestment Act. They (banks) became much more diligent in complying (by making loans in the city). But we don't have that hammer with insurance companies."

Rep. Bill Martin, R-Battle

Creek, sees banks as the greater evil. "You go to a bank and give them your life history, your next life's history, your children's history. It's these practices that make this (banks selling insurance) so difficult to swallow."

"Banks keep saying 'competition, competition, competition,'" said Martin, noting that big banks are acquiring smaller banks and reducing competition.

Seven Democrats and three Republicans are sponsoring the bills. They would prohibit a financial institution from getting into "the insurance or surety business as a principal, underwriter, agent, broker, solicitor or insurance counselor." The bills also prohibit financial institutions from buying "shares of a corporation engaged (in) the insurance or surety business."

Insurers set rates

Don Anderson, who handles NBD Bancorp's South Bend insurance operation, said banks are good for the business. "We represent a number of insurance companies. We have contracts with 35 different insurance companies. We bring to the table access to all carriers."

Regarding questions about what banks would charge for insurance, Anderson replied, "Banks don't set the insurance rates. Banks distribute (sell) inurance. The insurance carrier sets the rates."

Banks, however, have seen their business shrink from 38 to 18 percent of deposits nationally as other institutions move in. Even Merrill Lynch, a name associated with Wall Street's stocks and bonds, is moving into mortgages. So banks now are trying to diversify by selling insurance and annuities.

Polly Reber, of the Small Business Association of Michigan, supported the ban because "lending institutions hold a great deal of power over small business."

Reber foresees banks using their lending power as a "subtle, coercive" influence to make borrowers buy their insurance from the bank, too. That would harm the 60,000 licensed insurance agents, many of whom serve rural communities that banks don't serve. "Insurance agents are at a competitive disadvantage," she said.

Supporting SBAM's view was Don Wilke, of Wilke Brothers Conveyors in Marysville. Wilke said he can pick and choose between insurance agents, "but the relationship changes with banks. It's not which bank I will accept. It's which bank will accept me."

Refer to House Bills 5281 to 5284 when writing to your state representative. The bills are still in the House Insurance Committee.

Fund-raiser aids leukemia research

The Leukemia, Research, Life, Inc. 13th annual "Evening of Hope" dinner dance begins 6:30 p.m. Saturday, March 5, in Burton Manor in Livonia.

Tickets are $50 per person ($75 for benefactors) and may be purchased by calling the development office at Children's Hospital of Michigan at 745-5373.

Proceeds will benefit LRL, a non-profit organization dedicated to the elimination of childhood cancers through research at Children's Hospital of Michigan.

This event features a dinner buffet, which includes a salad, fruit and dessert table. It is highlighted by an after-dinner auction and dancing to the music of the Take Five Band.

Since its inception in 1981, LRL has raised more than $1.2 million for childhood cancer research.

ST. MARY HOSPITAL

For many women control during childbirth is very important. Of course, some things are out of your control, but many of the options surrounding childbirth don't have to be. At St. Mary Hospital we encourage you to make choices. To ask questions. To learn. To be in control.

More real choices

To control your position during labor. You're in charge of the electronic controls on our state-of-the-art birthing beds. So you can select the position that's most comfortable for you.

Or, you can sit in your rocker and admire the view from your birthing room window.

To control when family and friends are with you. During and after the birth. On your schedule, not ours.

To control when your baby is with you. Twenty-four hours a day is fine. Less often if you wish. We bring services to you, so your baby only goes to the nursery when you decide.

To control what you need to learn. Our nurses can teach you everything from giving your baby a bath to understanding your baby's special ways of communicating. We'll ask what's tops on your list.

Blonde & Blue — Angela Strehli

One of the people who put An-tone's Records on the map, both as an artist and behind-the-scenes wheel, it comes as a bit of a surprise to see her now signed to Rounder Records (although finding a new Strehli disc on any label is a treat). One of the most honest singers out there, she's turned her label debut into the best thing she's ever recorded, the closest to approximating the energy and grit of the live show.

Like her pal, and fellow Austin-ite, Lou Ann Barton, Strehli's got a delivery that comes from the toes and rumbles out, full bore, like a runaway soul train. Check out her take on Little Walter's "I'm Just Your Fool" for sanctified confirmation. Loaded with treats from top to bottom, it's impossible to call out favorites here. Certainly, her duet with legendary soul man Don Covay on the Major Lance classic, "Um, Um, Um, Um, Um, Um," with Steve Cropper on guitar, is a first-rate stunner. The Sister O.M. Terrell gospel classic, "Going to that City," with Steve James sitting in on stunning National steel, is a shiver-sender, and give a wheelbarrel full of points for that amazing "Can't Stop These Teardrops" and equally hip "Say It's Not So," both from her own pen.

Versions of Little Walter's "You Don't Love Me" and the Booker T/Isaac Hayes composition "Never Like This Before" give an extra dose of sass and sway that fit Strehli to a Texas T, and what emerges is one of the sweetest treats of the year.

Darkness, Light & Everything — Spiral Dance

There is something about rock music which seems to attract and repel with no regret or prejudice. That is what makes it so appealing.

Spiral Dance's "Darkness, Light & Everything" (Times Beach Records, 1993) offers heart and soul on a platter without making any judgments.

The easy-flowing 10-track CD grabs you by the throat, slaps you around and doesn't let go.

The three-piece act has produced a solid musical experience which is easy to get hooked on and dragged along behind. Each piece is a bit of ride with some offering a flashback to the 1970s funk-filled tracks and others so concise and powerful that you cannot ignore them. Vocals are shared by Kevin Loucks and Ethan Davidson which adds grainy aspect to each track while concise riffs provided by guitarist Doug Kasischke contributes to the band's appeal.

Each track twists through such subject matter as love ("Everything"), disillusioned dream ("Land of the Free"), social dismay ("Cass Corridor Voodoo Mind Jelly Warp") and self-understanding ("Rain at Hovenweep").

"Darkness, Light & Everything" is packed with powerful and clear sounds with an essence of a fuller garage-based quality.

Spiral Dance may not be the next Nirvana, but who cares when one needs to strive for its own musical revelation.

— Kyle Green

Tool: a positive in a negative

■ Tool has been commonly referred to as a "disturbing" rock band. Members of the band think people who believe that are missing the point of Tool.

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

"My hands bound and my head down and my eyes closed — eyes closed wide open. Do unto others what has been done to you. Do unto others what has been done to you."

Those troubling words, as sung by Tool's mohawked lead singer Maynard James Keenan, blares through the sound system at Industry nightclub in Pontiac.

The song has become a dance hit with twentysomethings at clubs like Industry and 3-D in Royal Oak. However, the lyrics seem more likely to provoke fear than fun. It tells a tale of a sexually abused man who, as an adult, is jailed for passing his misfortune along to youngsters. ("You're breathing so I guess you're still alive. Even the scent seems to tell me otherwise," Maynard, a Scottville native, continues singing.) Drummer Danny Carey let out a hearty yet confused laugh upon hearing that the guitar-heavy, toe-tapable "Prison Sex," not even officially released yet as a single, has become a dance hit in Detroit.

"I think it's funny. It's the last thing I would expect. But that's our straightest song on the record, so I guess that would be the one they would play," he said from the offices of his record label, Zoo Entertainment, prior to the start of the tour.

Tom Zito, who DJs at Industry, said he started playing the song when Tool first released their album "Undertow" because it "fit in."

"That's the one I started playing first. I never played (the first single) 'Sober'... I've been playing it since the CD came out, that's the song I picked, and it just fit in with the groove of one of my harder sets," Zito said.

Humor is alive
The entire album doesn't have a sobering effect, however. Although humor is hinted at in some of Tool's songs, they eventually return the band's trademark trembling undercurrent. For example, track No. 69, "Disgustipated," begins with a sermon ridiculing animal activists by telling the tale of a soon-to-be slaughtered family of carrots. "These are the cries of the carrots. The cries of the carrots. You see, Rev. Maynard tomorrow is harvest day and to them it is the holocaust." The 15-minute song turns serious just as tribal drums join in. "This is necessary. Life feeds on life, feeds on life, feeds on life, feeds on this is necessary. Life feeds on life, feeds on life, feeds on life." As the song continues, gunshots enhance the beats.

Telling lyrics and visuals
As with the rest of "Undertow," the lyrics are graphic without being unnecessarily obscene or violent. That's just part of the disturbing picture that completes Tool.

Inside of the CD book is a photo of a nude obese woman lovingly embracing a thin, equally clothed male — a vision by which some people may be put off. Flip the page and you'll see the members of Tool in various forms of facial torture. A blurred collage of Tool's lyrics run underneath. The stop-frame animation in the video for "Sober" is nightmarish but so intriguing that it's impossible to take your eyes off it.

"It's not like we're tormenters," Carey said with a laugh. "We're not out to torture people. We're trying to capture the image (of) the song the best way we know how," Carey said.

Visually it's through the talent of guitarist Adam Jones, who used stop-action animation to tell the story of "Sober." That video, which snagged two Billboard music video awards, was so successful that the group returned to the format for the "Prison Sex" video, which will be released shortly after Tool's sold-out show with Failure at the State Theatre on Saturday, Feb. 26.

"It's just such a great medium to work through. You can be really creative. Our guitarist Adam, he's the main guy behind the artwork and stuff. It's a good venue to express himself," said Carey, who previously played with Green Jelly and Carole King.

Both videos took about two months to finish, although the filming of the "Prison Sex" video and their headlining U.S. tour were held up due to the California earthquake in January.

Finally success

The "Sober" video may be intriguing, but it wasn't interesting enough for MTV to add it to its rotation soon after its release. The driving force behind Tool's popularity was their spot in the Lollapalooza tour, during which the band split time between the main stage and the side stage.

Even during the early part of the tour, it was obvious that something was brewing with the then-relatively unknown band. Although they played the same time as mainstagers Arrested Development, it was impossible to even see Tool because so many people were packed in front of the small area around the side stage.

"I was surprised when all of it started happened," Carey said in retrospect about Tool's success. "Everybody I talked to said how much they see our video on MTV. (But) It's a lot better than most of the other bands I've ever seen. That's the reason I play this music, I suppose. There's just not that much to choose from that's really valid. I don't like very many bands, so I'm glad I'm playing with something like Tool."

The band, he has said in previous interviews, is his and the rest of his band's tool for "digging within oneself and using the pain to the fullest extent." He just hopes that Tool fans see his band — which also includes bassist Paul D'Amour — for what it is.

"(It's about) changing, moving on and growing," Carey said. As long as Tool is provoking some thought, Carey said it's OK. However, he hopes that people don't view his band as "negative."

"In some way I guess that's OK as long as the people don't dwell on it. We're not out to disturb or depress people. Our band is a very positive thing. We're not a negative band. We don't put out a negative energy. We're dealing with things that a lot of people deal with."

Tool performs with special guest Failure on Saturday, Feb. 26, at the State Theatre, 2115 Woodward Ave., Detroit. Doors open at 7 p.m. for the all-ages show. The show is sold out. For more information, call 313-961-5451.

Coffeeshop rock: The Meat Puppets — Cris Kirkwood (from left), Derrick Bostrom and Curt Kirkwood — play an acoustic set at R&J Coffee Shop in Royal Oak in support of their latest release, "Too High To Die."

Meat Puppets strike low profile for 'High'

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

The Meat Puppets have long been cited as a "major influence" by bands like Nirvana and Soul Asylum. That's become a great publicity tool for the Meat Puppets since their admirers have reached superstar status. The band is naive about why they are so inspirational to their peers.

"In the kingdom of the blind, the cyclops is king," the orange-haired bassist Cris Kirkwood said with a smirk while muttering other explanations.

"We just play our stuff and imitate our country and western forefathers," added his brother Curt, lead singer/guitarist.

Ryder and Davies face their realities

By JOHN MONAGHAN
SPECIAL WRITER

"Reality Bites," a new film aimed at the MTV audience, doesn't follow a script as much as run down a list of pop culture references. "Planet of the Apes," "Good Times," "Big Gulps from 7-Eleven," Peter Frampton. These motivate the characters as they ponder life and love after college graduation.

While it ultimately has little to do with the real world it tries so hard to reflect, the movie is surprisingly engaging, thanks in part to a witty and talented cast.

Winona Ryder plays Lelaina, a communications graduate who now works on the set of "Good Morning Grant," a geriatric morning talk show. On the side, she's making a video documentary comprised of candid interviews with her "twentysomething" friends.

Aside from life as a struggling artist, Lelaina also has boyfriend troubles. She meets and falls for a likable square young TV executive named Michael (Ben Stiller) who thinks her video might work on his MTV-style station. She's also involved in a love-hate relationship with Troy (Ethan Hawke), a college dropout and the genius who plays in the local grunge band. Though entertaining, "Reality Bites" irritates me in the same way that a recent "Time" magazine article did about Generation X, the media's label for post-"Baby Boomers." Its overgeneralized premise states that college graduates have the option of working at The Gap, in fast food, at MTV or simply slacking.

Actor/director Ben Stiller tries to hit every base of modern culture here, especially in the embarrassingly "brilliant" video that Lelaina is compiling. We follow her best friend into an AIDS testing clinic, "a rite of passage for our generation," she comments cynically. We also have a token character "coming out" to his parents.

Stiller does infuse the movie with some clever moments, usually backed by an endless playlist of modern rock and vintage pop tunes so tacky that they're now hip. He follows a much-advertised gag in a gas station/food mart ("My Sharona") with a nicely-framed shot of the tiny building beneath a starry night.

The rest of the charm here comes from the cast, especially Ryder as the soul-searching heroine. When you really think about it, her career has almost moved backwards. She started out with directors like Coppola, Burton, Jarmusch and Scorsese. Now she's making the kind of "brat pack" movie that her contemporaries moved on from long ago.

The childhood memories of British director Terence Davies comprise "The Long Day Closes," which questions the nature of reality when viewed some 40 years later.

This stunning film, bumped from last season's schedule to this weekend at the Detroit Film Theatre, finds 11-year-old Bud (Leigh McCormack) plodding out an existence in post-war Liverpool not radically different from others of his generation. He helps his mother in the kitchen, gets thwacked across the hands at school, and lives for afternoons at the local movie palace.

What makes this boy's life so exceptional is that Davies picks up on every detail of a time and place long gone. As in his previous work (the black-and-white "Terence Davies Trilogy" and "Distant Voices, Still Lives"), the director has an unblinking eye when it comes to beautifully composed shots.

There can't be more than 100 images in the entire movie, but each comes suitable for framing.

The most-publicized of these shots finds Bud with his chin resting on his hands in the first row of the elaborately decorated movie house balcony. The light of the projector shines warmly behind him. Another, shot from above, shows the boy swinging on a pole as the camera moves slowly over meticulously recreated rows of narrow houses.

Behind these images are smatterings of dialogue and music from vintage movies, everything from "Tammy and the Bachelor" to "The Magnificent Ambersons." As in the old musicals, characters in Davies' films often break into song, long-forgotten ditties from the past, which, like these settings, the director feels are his calling to preserve.

Pornography causes crime: That's baloney

STREET SENSE

BARBARA SCHIFF

Voice mail message: Dear Barbara,

Shame on you, you must know better. Why did you let the woman who quotes Ted Bundy, blaming the media and pornographic pictures for his sex crimes, get away with it? That's like blaming the weatherman for earthquakes and hurricanes. Of course, Ted Bundy would pawn off responsibility on someone else or something else for what he alone did. Criminals in general, and sexual offenders especially, almost never blame themselves for their behavior. That doesn't mean we have to accept their sleazy scapegoating.

In the letter I just read, the woman who wrote it quotes Ted Bundy saying, "We (does he mean killers and sex offenders) are your sons and we are your husbands. And we grew up in regular families. And pornography can reach out and snatch a kid out of any house today."

I say baloney. Ted Bundy is not my son or my father, or anything like either one of them. The woman who wrote you implies that pornography could turn anyone into a beast like this serial killer. Ted Bundy would have liked to believe that lie but that doesn't mean anyone sane should believe it.

I do not believe in pornography for children. I also do not believe it has the enormous power to corrupt as your writer expressed. An adult's responsibility for his or her behavior can't be relinquished.

Dear caller, I will say the same thing to you as I did to the woman who wrote the letter that offended you. Thank you for taking the time and trouble to express your opinion, which is also expressed succinctly. You, too, vent the feelings of many others along with yourself. They will appreciate the validation of seeing this opinion in print.

— Barbara

Voice mail message: Barbara, I'm commenting on the letter from the mother whose 12-year-old son wants a subscription to "Playboy" magazine. In handling that situation with our son, we decided that a subscription would not be appropriate. We did, however, purchase an individual magazine that he was able to look at and we also let him know that if he wanted to purchase another occasional magazine, we would not object.

I would agree with you that a "steady diet" each month is excessive and should not be allowed. But, for us at least, one magazine satisfied his curiosity and took the mystery out of the magazine.

After about six months, our son asked for another magazine, and again we allowed it. I don't know if this is the right thing, but it has worked for us.

Dear Caller, Congratulations on your individuality, creative thinking, and good taste in finding a solution to your son wanting a subscription to "Playboy."

Your son is lucky to have parents who are so sensible. Common sense is not so common.

SCREEN SCENE

A sampling of what's playing at alternative movie theaters across metro Detroit as reviewed by John Monaghan.

DETROIT FILM THEATRE
Detroit Institute of Arts, 5200 Woodward Ave., Detroit. Call 833-2323 for information. ($5)
"The Long Day Closes" (Britain — 1993), 7 and 9:30 p.m. Feb. 25-26; 4 and 7 p.m. Feb. 27.
Terence Davies ("Distant Voices, Still Lives") directed this autobiographical account of his years growing up in post-World War II Liverpool. The camera lingers longingly on detailed, emotionally-charged images.

KINOTEK
Capitol Theatre and Arts Centre, 121 University, Windsor. Call (519) 971-5160 for information. ($4.50)

"El Topo" (Mexico — 1971) and "The Holy Mountain" (USA/Mexico — 1973), Feb. 25-27 (call for show times). Two rare cult films by director Alejandro Jodorowsky. The first follows the title character, El Topo, through a series of surreal adventures across the Mexican desert. "The Holy Mountain" offers much of the same: repulsive images surrounding a paper-thin plot. Not for the squeamish.

MAGIC BAG THEATRE
22918 Woodward, Ferndale. Call 544-3030 for information. ($4)

"Dazed and Confused" (USA — 1993), 8 p.m. Feb. 23. It's the last day of school in 1976 as teen agers ponder the bigger issues in life, such as who will drive to get the Aerosmith tickets. Richard "Slacker" Linklater directed this subversive and entertaining comedy.

"Man with the Movie Camera" (USSR — 1928), 8 p.m. Feb. 24. The avant-garde musicians of DROP return, this time with Dziga Vertov's experimental Russian film where the camera careens around with a mind of its own. The musicians have also created their own video and slide show to present before the picture.

"We Think the World of You" (Britain — 1988), 1, 3:30, 6 and 8:30 p.m. Feb. 27. Alan Bates and Gary Oldman star in this oddball comedy about unrequited love. Shown with "Look," a short take on lesbian love and humor. Presented by South East Michigan Pride. ($8 this film only)

MAIN ART THEATER
118 N. Main St. at 11 Mile, Royal Oak. Films play through at least Thursday. Call 542-0180 for information and show times. ($6.50; $4 students; $3 twilight/matinee)
"Schindler's List" (USA — 1993). Stephen Spielberg may finally get his Academy Award for this story of Oskar Schindler (Liam Neeson), a war profiteer and Nazi crony who saved the lives of more than 1,000 Jews during the Holocaust.
"Six Degrees of Separation" (USA — 1994). Based on John

Guare's award-winning play, a savvy young man (Will Smith) poses as Sidney Poitier's son to cajole his way into the home of a Fifth Avenue couple (Donald Sutherland and Stockard Channing).

"The War Room" (USA — 1993). A behind-the-scenes look at the 1992 Clinton campaign focuses not on the candidate but on his team of election advisors, led by the charismatic James Carville and George Stephanopoulos. Veteran documentary filmmakers D.A. Pennebaker ("Don't Look Back") and Chris Hegedus directed.

MAPLE THEATER
4135 W. Maple Road, Bloomfield. Call 855-9090 for information. ($5.75, $3.95 matinee, $2.95 twilight)

"The Snapper" (England/Ireland — 1993). When 20-year-old Sharon announces to her working-class parents that she's pregnant, her family and neighborhood react in some most surprising ways. The second film adaptation of a Roddy Doyle's trio of books about Dublin life ("The Commitments" was first) is a disarmingly funny movie highlighted by Colm Meaney's performance as Sharon's ram-bunctious father.

"In the Name of the Father" (Britain — 1994). In this true story, Daniel Day-Lewis plays an Irishman falsely accused of bombing a pub near London in 1975. The brilliant story of miscarriage of justice is co-written and directed by Jim Sheridan, who teamed with Day-Lewis on "My Left Foot."

"Schindler's List." See Main Art Theatre listing above.

MICHIGAN THEATRE
603 E. Liberty, Ann Arbor. Call 668-8397 for information. ($5; $4 students and senior citizens)

"Combination Platter" (USA — 1993), through Feb. 24 (call for show times). Recently arrived from Hong Kong, a young waiter tries to adapt to the strange ways of American society while working in a Chinese restaurant.

Puppets

you'd expect to see the underground rock legends. But the show was part of their low-profile "Munchies" tour, designed to introduce their new acoustic-tinged album "Too High to Die" to the music industry.

For this show they crammed their sparse equipment in a corner near a window facing Fourth Street. Drummer Derrick Boston, who rounds out the trio, pounded away on his drums with the tips of wooden kitchen utensils — while the Kirkwood brothers, whose father is a former Farmington resident, strummed on their bass and acoustic guitars.

The band was the first that R&J has hosted inside its restaurant. Kim Snell, the wife of an R&J owner, said she was surprised at how well it went.

"I think it went great; it went a lot smoother than I thought," she said. "We kind of thought we'd be mobbed with orders for cooking. The music was real good. We've got a small place and the music wasn't too loud."

Even though they have done plenty of promotional tours, the Meat Puppets prefer to play public shows for their fans, they said.

"It's different than playing to a regular audience. They (music industry executives) talk and jabber while you're playing," Curt said.

Detroit fans won't be able to see them anytime soon. After the quick "Munchies" tour, the band jetted off to Europe to open for longtime admirers Nirvana and Soul Aylum. Subsequent gigs will be with Blind Melon in the United States. (Their tenure stops short of the March 9 Blind Melon show scheduled at the State Theatre in Detroit, however.)

Meanwhile, "Backwater," the first single off "Too High to Die," has been added to Detroit rock stations' play lists. That's not surprising, considering the fact that most critics have said that the album will be the one to dig them out of the underground rock scene.

The album's quick success is due in part to the production work by the Butthole Surfers' Paul Leary, a longtime friend of the Kirkwood brothers.

"He's working to please," Cris said, "His only thing was to make it the best. He really wanted to make the album the best Meat Puppets album."

The brothers met Leary after he called Curt when his band stopped in their hometown of Phoenix, Ariz.

"He really wanted to meet me, so he looked me up in the phone book," Curt said. "We became pretty fast friends."

And mutual admirers. "He told us that there wouldn't have been a Butthole Surfers, if it wasn't for us," Cris said.

Retreating to modesty, Curt preferred the more biologically correct answer.

POINTS OF VIEW

In the name of their fathers, sons embrace politics

A few days ago, the past met the future — and at a political fundraiser no less!

As finance director of the Oakland County Democratic Party, I delivered U.S. Rep. Joseph P. Kennedy, II and his wife, Beth, from Metro Airport to the party's annual Phil Hart Dinner, last Sunday, Feb. 13.

Kennedy, D-Mass., the eldest son of the late senator Robert Kennedy, holds the same congressional seat once occupied by his uncle, President John F. Kennedy.

As the congressman moved through a throng of party stalwarts, all evidently Kennedy admirers, a familiar face approached to greet the handshaking politician.

When the man was but a few feet away, you could finally read the name written on his lapel: Jim Hoffa. The man, James P. Hoffa, a Detroit area lawyer, is the son of the late Teamster president James R. Hoffa, who disappeared without a trace near a Bloomfield Township restaurant in 1975. Both men's fathers were reputed to be mortal enemies.

When the two men were introduced, the congressman appeared to be startled for just a fraction of a second, but then he broke into a winning smile. Both men talked, shook hands vigorously, embraced and posed for a photograph.

According to Hoffa, as the picture was taken, Kennedy said, "I hope we don't screw this up like our fathers."

While straining to hear the conversation, the writer thought about their commonalities. Both are Democrats. Both had fathers who were killed because they were outspoken. Both, though from different backgrounds, received outstanding educations and opportunities. Both are famous in their own rights. Both might run for president one day — Hoffa for president of the Teamsters — Kennedy for president of the United States.

Hoffa was to say later, "I came there to meet him. I was touched. It was a wonderful meeting. . . I was very pleased by his friendliness."

"We both share the same commitment to working men and women," he added.

As the men parted, the writer thought of both their fathers and hoped, wherever they were, they were smiling as broadly as their sons.

And, the writer thought about Walt Whitman's words: "Political democracy . . . in America, with all of its evils, supplies the training school for first class men."

GUEST COLUMNIST

ALBERT HOLTZ

■ As the men parted, the writer thought of both their fathers and hoped, wherever they were, they were smiling as broadly as their sons.

Albert Holtz, a Bloomfield Hills attorney who practices family and real estate law, has been published in several legal periodicals. He is a member of the American, Michigan and Oakland County Trial Lawyers Associations, the Oakland County and Southfield Bar Associations, and chairs the district court mediation committee. A West Peacemakers: James P. Hoffa, a Detroit-area lawyer and son of James R. Hoffa, who disappeared in Bloomfield Township in 1975, stands shoulder-to-shoulder with U.S. Rep. Joseph P. Kennedy, D-Mass., at the Oakland County Democrats' annual Phil Hart Dinner. The two shook hands vigorously, despite the past differences of their fathers.

Bloomfield Township resident, he recently was appointed by the Michigan

Supreme Court to the attorney discipline board.

Respondents — sweet and cranky — are special

We get letters, stacks and stacks of letters responding to our stories, editorials and columns. And we get telephone calls and faxes as well.

Frankly most of the time, they are cranky — taking issue with something we have written. And that comes with the territory.

So I cherish some sweet responses, based on three recent columns.

■ Re: "This Sanders melts away after Valentine's Day" (Feb. 14 edition).

Mary Lou Alwood from Plymouth called to say the closing of yet another Sanders stirred up some memories for her and husband Richard.

"My husband and I met at Sanders — the one on the Boulevard," Alwood reports. "I was working at the GM Building; he was at Burroughs. He just struck my fancy. It ended up he knew my brother, so that made it OK."

It was April 1939. They were married the next year. And they'll soon celebrate 54 years together.

After seeing the column, they spent Valentine's Day poring over a box of antique Valentines — a legacy from Richard's mother.

"He's now legally blind; I've had hip surgery. We don't get out as much as we used to," Mary Lou confided. "It (the column) really made our Valentine's Day."

■ Re: "Grumpy old men move out to change the world" (Jan. 24 edition).

A small band of suburban dissidents who take pen in hand to write letters to the editor on various issues are now a somewhat larger body.

Organizer Tony Brehler of Livonia called to say 25 people contacted him after seeing the piece on the non-dues-paying, open-to-anyone fraternity they label A.D.C. — short for Another Disgusted Citizen.

And 18 showed up Feb. 9 at Bob Evans in Southfield, where the group holds monthly meetings to share views.

"I never expected anything like this," Brehler said. "We're going to have to find a bigger meeting place. We tripled in size overnight."

In addition, the grumpy old men were joined by two women (they had been an all-male group, not by choice) and one or two others who had a personal political agenda (who won't be invited back).

"We're not there for that purpose," Brehler said. "We're into government responsibility, government accountability. These are people who want to get at those issues — and see what we can do."

■ Re: "Improve education by merging school districts" (Jan. 3 edition).

Tiny Clarenceville that schools 1,700 kids from three communities — Redford Township, Livonia and Farmington Hills — was featured as a prime target for consolidation.

That got up the dander of some Clarenceville High School students. And their teacher, Micki Scarvi, asked me to come in and field their questions. Then, the journalism students among them had to write up the exchange.

According to a piece entitled "Burning over Berne," Marc Ferretti accurately reported: A handful of pupils agreed with Judith Berne, whereas the overwhelming majority were opposed.

In her story, "Fusing flowers," Tracy Holbrooks likened Clarenceville to an untended flower: "Standing tall through the years, enduring the cold, the tender rose flourished in the fading garden. Surrounded by overgrown dandelions, the flower grew strong. All it took was a little extra care to turn a dying bud into a cherished blossom."

For my part, I was struck that in this society we consider so mobile, more than half the students in the class raised their hands when asked if they had attended Clarenceville schools since kindergarten.

I was further impressed with their well-thought-out questions, yet capacity to listen; their passion for that school district, yet ability to remain polite.

In my head, I still believe in the need to consolidate districts. In my heart, maybe we could exempt Clarenceville!

LINDA BACHRACK

Top your vanity with personality

If your bathroom seems to be the only place you can go to shut out hectic household demands and the pressures of the work day, why not turn it into your private inner sanctuary?

You don't need a huge space. Even a tiny bath like mine can harbor the essentials you need for a bit of self-indulgence. Turn an ordinary counter-top into your own personal vanity. The only way to make your vanity special is to dress it with your favorite things, whether they be fragrances, a cherished collection, unusual apothecary bottles, crystal or flowers.

Rosemarie Karbal of Bloomfield Hills is fortunate to have a large marble bath in which she has created a personal haven filled with precious antiques and cherished necessities. Her Lalique mirror reflects a sparkling collection of silver-topped crystal powder boxes and a gallery of silver frames containing family photos. Antique perfume bottles gather alongside a sterling hand mirror and a potpourri of bath oils, candles and fragrances. Daughter Lori owns Lori Karbal et al in downtown

Birmingham and the shop provides Rosemarie with her favorite Comptoir Sud Pacifique scents and L'Artisan mimosa candle. "I'm a flower person and the mimosa is addicting," smiles Karbal.

Lori's boutique has an array of vanity niceties, including bath salts and soaps by Nasturtia, packaged in white boxes and topped with satin roses and ribbons ($22.50-$32). Handblown glass bottles of bath oil by Apothecary Gardens ($60) grace a vintage table in the shop. Antique compacts, Victorian lipstick holders and silver mirrors add to the ambience.

Keepsake cases

A brocade love letter holder decorated with vintage photos, enameled trim and satin ribbons is a conversation piece for your vanity ($75). You didn't save those old love notes? Tuck stationery, makeup brushes or jewelry inside instead.

Judith Slotkin of Bloomfield Hills remembers a similar letter holder from her past and bought one for a friend.

To begin your own collection of crystal dressing table toppers, you need only visit Lord & Taylor at Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi. Priced under $100, look for Waterford candlesticks, makeup brushes, heart-shaped boxes, clocks and vases. You may also want to enjoy The Smell of Spring in your bath. The new fragrance baskets by Aromaticque contain candles, potpourri and sachets ($7.50-$25). Every well-dressed vanity begins with an exquisite tray.

Caswell-Massey, 266 E. Maple in Birmingham, displays glass-topped trays lined with vintage lace ($250-$750). Some are embellished with gemstones and crystals. Peek into the antique cabinets for a glimpse of stunning silver-topped jars, lotion bottles, French perfume decanters and powder boxes ($100-$225). The box pictured is crafted of Dore bronze with a flowered porcelain top.

Hand mirrors in ornate silver ($200) and antique bonnet brushes capture the feel of a luxurious turn-of-the-century boudoir.

Mall 'grazin'' beats cabin fever

Most people agree that the best part of shopping is stopping for a snack. The malls and main street mavens know it, too. That's why there are pretzel stands, espresso bars, cookie shops, yogurt carts and frozen Coke dispensaries every few hundred feet!

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

The center court benches at Oakland Mall were all taken Sunday afternoon by people spooning frozen yogurt into their mouths — and the mouths of their stroller-bound toddlers.

Some benched folks sipped cappuccinos from The Coffee Beanery. Others drank Cokes from a nearby stand. The Kessler family of Hazel Park enjoyed a yogurt treat, tired from watching dad get fitted for a tuxedo and trying on new shoes.

"When we go shopping, we always have to stop and get a snack," Mrs. Kessler explained. "We head over to the frozen yogurt bar in the middle of the mall because yogurt is healthier for the kids than other snacks. Besides, I love the creamy, smooth texture."

Denise works the mall's snack counter near the center court. She said vanilla yogurt with strawberries is the best-selling item. On weekends she prepares 350 such treats for shoppers.

The Vella Family of Royal Oak stopped to buy two caramel cappuccinos from The Coffee Beanery and then some soft drinks for the kids. They were shopping for mom's cosmetics and just browsing for other items.

"Coming out to the mall is an inexpensive way to hang out, to get out of the house in the middle of a long winter," Jim Vella said. "You walk around and look at things, stop for a snack, and then go home. It's relaxing."

At the opposite end of the mall, a Haagen Dazs "Sweetery" sells ice cream and cool beverages in the front corner of the Burger King restaurant. It's hard to tell which counter was busier — the burgers or the ice cream.

"On weekends it's non-stop," one Haagen Dazs clerk sighed. "It seems like the mall's food counters are busier than the stores."

Chuck Johnson directs marketing at Troy-based Mr. Bulky's based. The company recently came to the attention of Forbes Magazine, which is planning to publish a story about the operation in a few weeks.

"We sell a wide variety of candy in bulk and gift items," he said. "Is business good? In two years we've gone from 40 stores to 120 stores and 90 franchises in 42 states. Our best seller is the Sour Patch Kids candy. We sell, on average, 70 pounds a week."

Shoppers also like Mr. Bulky's malt balls, which are made to the company's specifications in a triple dip of chocolate process. "I load up on them whenever I'm out at the mall," said Jeanette Johnson of Troy. "I keep a jar of malt balls on my desk at work to get me through the day."

Cream vs. yogurt

Don Iseberger of Troy has been dispensing ice cream at Antoine's in the Oakland Mall for nine years. He laughs at the thought of losing business to the frozen yogurt competition down the aisle. "Our Ashby's ice cream in a home-made waffle cone can't be beat," he said.

Neighbors Bonnie Voss and Sue Smith of Rochester stopped to buy a few fresh roasted almonds from a counter near the J.C. Penney store.

"The smell just grabs you," Voss insisted. "I always stop and buy a bag. They're delicious."

But the smell of cinnamon from the nuts counter can't compete with the wafts of cinnamon that fill an end of Lakeside Mall in Sterling Heights letting shoppers know The Cinnabon Store is coming up.

"My husband and I come in every Sunday after church when we visit the mall," said Diane Beard of Mount Clemens. "The cinnamon buns smell so good, and they taste good, too. It's one good reason I give my husband for going shopping."

Healthy treats

Specialty drinks, cookies, pretzels, confections, nuts and popcorn aren't for everyone. But even the eat-for-good-health folks can find snacks at the mall.

In Hudson stores with Marketplaces, sparkling waters, pasta salads and fresh fruits are now available. At the General Nutrition Centers in most malls, Tiger's Milk energy bars and Carboforce health drinks are bestsellers. Kelli Summers at the GNC in the Wonderland Mall in Livonia said it's not unusual for people heading to a mall movie to stop in for healthy snacks before showtime.

At Wonderland's Pretzel Peddler, Dawn will sell as many as 350-500 pretzels each Saturday. "Pretzels are a great snack. They're low in fat," she said. But hot pretzel competition comes from the Frostyogurt counter where this cool treat has an endorsement from the Henry Ford Hospital Heart and Vascular Institute.

Punk Pop

Teens at Wonderland Mall are big on the "Punk Pop." This frozen beverage combines layers of Pepsi, Mountain Dew and strawberry pop for a drink that's "really cool and delicious," according to Molly Grant, 15, of Garden City.

Cafe caramels and cafe mochas are the best-sellers at Piccola's Cafe, also at Wonderland. Co-owner Don Salva said he enjoys a steady business as the mall's only specialty coffee counter.

"You can keep all those new fancy snacks," said Alice Bannon of Livonia. "When I go shopping, I always top off the day with a hot fudge cream puff from Sanders. It's tradition."

Her granddaughter, Tiffany, was sharing one with her, and she nodded in agreement.

"When shopping in downtown Detroit was popular, I always stopped into Sander's on Woodward before coming home. Almost everybody did. Then I enjoyed cream puffs at the Eastland Mall Sander's store in Harper Woods in the 1970s. Now, here in the '90s, you can still find Sander's cream puffs — but in the mall's food court."

Retirees Dick and Leslie Hamlin of Farmington enjoyed a cup of coffee from Gratz's at Twelve Oaks in Novi.

"We like to stroll around the mall, you know, to get out of the house for a while, and then break for coffee," Dick said. "Maybe you can't afford all the beautiful things you see at the center. But you can always afford something to eat."

Elaine Kah, marketing director at Twelve Oaks, said the market drives the kind of eateries and snack counters that get space in the mall.

"Obviously if these businesses weren't prospering, they wouldn't be here," she said.

Malls are a destination for many a family outing, Kah said.

Firm makes loans available to individuals with troubled credit

There are many reasons why millions of Americans fall victim to credit problems every year. From maxing out credit cards to more sobering causes including loss of employment, family growth, medical emergencies and poor training in personal and household financial management.

Fortunately, there is now a local company making consolidation and new purchase loans available to people in these situations. We asked Bill Cunningham, Vice President of Security Home Loan...

Who is eligible for one of these loans?

We will work with individuals who have equity in their homes and have had debt problems of one type or another.

How does the loan work?

We take people who are living from paycheck to paycheck and consolidate all of their obligations into one lower payment. In fact, the average person will save from 30 to 40 percent a month with a consolidation of this type.

How can someone apply for one of these loans?

At Security, we pre-approve people over the phone at no charge. At that time, we also give the person an idea of how much money we can save them.

Call Bill Cunningham at Security Home Loan (810) 669-4334 if you are interested in having a payment analysis done.

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

How to pick and cook your catch of the day

Without a doubt, this is the time of year when retail fish sales escalate. In addition to the Lenten season, thoughts of spring and summer are on the minds of just about every dieter.

Hoping to shed unwanted pounds, hoards of health conscious cooks will resurrect any and all fish to new heights.

Unfortunately, in doing so, most fish will become the punching bag of the masses, due mainly to improper storage and over cooking.

Choosing fish

You've read it here once, and you'll read it here again, when it comes to choosing good fish you have to know a good fish (person). If you have limited culinary skills, you shouldn't buy fish that's best broiled or poached. Likewise, if your skills were gleaned from the Johnny Kolakowski School of Culinary Arts in Wyandotte, you need to choose a fish more suited to frying than baking.

For the record, it doesn't matter how fresh the fish is, or if it's been sitting on a tray wrapped as tight as a drum in cellophane. Even deader-than-a-door-nail fish that have been beheaded, skinned and boned need to be well refrigerated (on ice) and ventilated to retain their freshness. So do your homework. Your responsibility doesn't end when the check-out cashier says "have a nice day."

Storage tips

When the you and the fish arrive home, as soon as possible, remove the fish from its wrappings, fill a colander with ice and place the fish to rest in a free crisper drawer in the refrigerator.

Change the ice and/or drain the water daily and your fish should remain fairly viable for up to two days.

If your idea of learning all there is to know about fish is to read a book while peddling away excess pounds on a stationary bike or treadmill, one of the best books ever written is "Fish; The Basics" by Shirley King, (copyright 1990 published by Simon & Shuster, $24.95.) This book is an illustrated guide to selecting, storing and preparing all kinds of fresh seafood.

A little harder to secure but generally available at most public libraries is James Beard's "Fish Cookery" (copyright 1954 by Warner Books).

In typical Beardian style you relish his literary descriptions that include: "Filets of sole should be fried at a temperature of only 365 degrees and Only until they are delicately brown. Otherwise you will have a dish that resembles sawdust and (one) that has no more flavor than the breading material that it surrounds."

Of course, you can skip both books and simply pop some frozen cod onto a pie plate and smother it in spaghetti sauce and bake it until it resembles nothing more than the sauce.

Cooking techniques

There are a few cooking techniques that rank as personal favorites when it comes to cooking fish.

First off, whenever the fishmonger suggests a firm fish like tuna, swordfish, marlin or halibut, the grill immediately gets fired up. If you don't have a grill, you can broil. No need to shake and bake, simply douse with a good Italian dressing or better yet, a homemade vinaigrette and four minutes on one side and three on the other over a hot fire is all it takes.

Anyone who has ever written or taught about proper fish cooking will suffice to say that the second biggest mistake most consumers make is that they cook the fish far too long. Sushi is not a family favorite but then neither is something dry and dilapidated. When the fishmonger points out thin fillets like yellow lake perch, rainbow trout, smelt or sole my favorite non-stick skillet gets a paper-thin coating of butter or margarine while the fillets slip in a seasoned flour sprinkled with some pepper, paprika and salt. Nothing fancy and nothing as overpowering as a cajun seasoning for these tasty beauties and when they emerge from a fast pan-frying then need nothing more than a light shower of lemon juice. (Yes, fresh lemon juice).

When the soul and the waistband demand something lighter and healthier, I've been known to swath a fillet of salmon, cod, catfish or walleye in a few fronds of fresh dill and wrap it in parchment paper. Set it in a baking dish, and bake at 350 degrees for no less than 30 minutes. The fragrance of dill will fill the air.

COOKS FISH OUT RECIPES TO PLUNGE INTO LENT

If you're not a vegetarian, meatless Lenten meals can be blah. Don't feel like a fish out of water. Three area cooks offer options to macaroni and cheese.

BY SANDRA DALKA-PRYSBY
SPECIAL WRITER

With the arrival of the Lenten season comes, in many homes, the arrival of meatless meals, especially on Fridays.

For many this means old standards - macaroni and cheese, a tuna casserole or cheese pizza.

This year you can forget blah meals. Three area cooks will help you escape from the ordinary and show you how to put a little zip into your meatless meals.

Brian Black is one cook who feels compelled to follow a meatless regime at certain times during Lent. His faith is one reason for this; his job is the other. He is a Roman Catholic deacon assigned to St. Ives Church in Southfield.

Deacon Black and his wife Lyn (unlike priests, deacons are allowed to be married) make seafood stir-frys during Lent.

"Stir-frys are healthy, taste good and are easy and fast to make," Black said. "Another great thing about stir-frys is that you can use almost any vegetable that you have in the refrigerator. I find that making stir-frys is relaxing and creative. I also like the fact that stir-frys can be low in fat, which is important because we are trying to stay fit," he said.

The Blacks, including Matthew, 9, and Rebecca, 6, don't limit their enjoyment of seafood and vegetable

New Italian wines, flavorful, affordable

FOCUS ON WINE

ELEANOR & RAY HEALD

It's inspiring to meet people who genuinely enjoy their work. When people are excited about their work, you detect it in their voice and the glint in their eyes. We have experienced more and more conversational competition over who works harder, who has the most problems or puts in longer hours. It's refreshing to find folks who admit they enjoy life or receive some pleasure from their job.

Eugenio Spinozzi likes his work and isn't afraid to tell his story. We have met many enthusiastic people who work in the wine industry, but Spinozzi's excitement is infectious. The bonus for you is that the wines he represents are now available in area restaurants and shops.

Spinozzi lives in central Italy's Abruzzi province and is in partnership with Sam Levitas, an American. Together they select quality Italian wines for import to the U.S. through their New York-based company Tricana Imports. They have a personal, sometimes familial relationship with each of the wine producers they represent. Each of Tricana's wines is produced by a family who is proud of the tradition and winemaking history of their region.

Spinozzi considers himself a vintner, even though he does not make the wines. He gives his clients advice on topics ranging from winemaking to label design.

"I have a little bit of me in each of the wines I sell," he says. "A successful winery is like a successful restaurant, it helps if it is family-owned. I try to become a part of that, winemaking family. I am proud to have discovered each of the wines I represent and the contribution I've made to their continuing success."

Another important part of the good news about the Tricana wines is that many of them are affordable. Today, too many Italian wines come in fancy packaging with inflated prices so few can afford to drink them. We think you'll find value in many of Tricana's brands.

Vigna Del Re is a quality Tricana brand including a chardonnay, pinot grigio, cabernet sauvignon and merlot for $8. These are fresh and fragrant wines for everyday drinking. Especially flavorful whites include the 1992 Villa Frattina ($13), a single estate pinot grigio with elegant flavors and concentrated fruit. The 1991 Gavi Figini di Gavi ($14), grown in the Italian Piedmont, boasts a rich texture and pear and apple flavors characteristic of the cortese grape. The 1992 Illuminati Trebbiano d'Abruzzo "Costalupo" ($9) is grown in the state of Abruzzo between the Adriatic Sea to the east and the Appennine Mountains to the west. It is a wine particularly well-structured for country dishes such as pasta, polenta, and chicken.

The 1991 Illuminate "Ciafre" ($15) is a rich, textured wine made of trebbiano, malvasia, garganega and riesling. This is a white wine that will complement lamb and veal as well as fish and mushroom sauces. Arneis is a white grape of the Piedmont region. If you taste 10 different wines made from arneis, each will be different.

See WINES, 2B

Wine Selections of the Week

Two attractive zinfandels from the Dry Creek Valley are the 1991 Preston Zinfandel ($12.50) and the 1991 Dry Creek Vineyard Zinfandel ($14).

Merlot seems to be the darling of red wines right now. We have tasted a host of good ones:

- 1990 Chateau St. Jean Merlot ($17)
- 1991 Clos du Bois Merlot ($16)
- 1990 Kenwood Merlot ($16)
- 1991 Markham Merlot ($17.50)
- 1991 St. Clement Merlot ($20)

If you prefer cabernets, try:

- 1991 Clos du Bois Cabernet Sauvignon ($13)
 - 1990 Kenwood Cabernet Sauvignon ($17)
- The 1990 Clos du Bois Marlstone ($22) is a tasty blend of cabernet sauvignon, merlot, malbec, cabernet franc and petit verdot, the five Bordeaux varietals.

SWEET SHRIMP STIR-FRY

2 tablespoons peanut oil
1 pound thawed pre-cooked small shrimp
1 tablespoon mustard
2 tablespoons honey
Dash of cinnamon
1 cup chopped green pepper
½ cup chopped red pepper
½ cup pea pods
2-3 stalks celery, chopped
½ cup chopped broccoli
½ cup chopped cauliflower
¾ cup chopped walnuts

Heat peanut oil in a wok on high temperature. Add shrimp, stirring constantly. Add mustard, honey and cinnamon, stirring quickly. Almost immediately, add all the vegetables and walnuts. Continue stirring for approximately five minutes or until hot and crispy. Serve immediately over cooked rice. Serves 4.

Recipe submitted by Brian Black.

TUNA VEGETABLE GRATIN CASSEROLE

2 cans (6½ ounces each) white albacore tuna, water-packed, rinsed, drained and chunked
1 small eggplant halved lengthwise, then thinly sliced crosswise
2 small zucchinis, thinly sliced crosswise
1 tablespoon salt
4 carrots, peeled and thinly sliced
1 medium onion, finely chopped
2 cloves garlic, finely chopped
1 teaspoon tomato paste
¼ cup white wine

1 medium tomato, thinly sliced
1 yellow sweet pepper, seeded and sliced into strips
1 bulb fennel, trimmed and quartered
1 red bell pepper, seeded and sliced into strips
1 teaspoon dried thyme
1 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
½ tablespoon olive oil
6 sprigs parsley finely chopped

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Lightly cover eggplant and zucchini slices with salt and set aside for 30 minutes. Then rinse slices under cold water and pat dry. Pat carrots, onion and garlic in a heavy Dutch oven or casserole. Dissolve tomato paste in white wine and pour over carrot mixture and stir to combine. Arrange eggplant, tuna, tomato, yellow pepper, fennel, zucchini, and red pepper in that order in alternating layers on top of carrot mixture. Sprinkle on thyme and black pepper, then drizzle olive oil on top. Cover pan and bake for 45 minutes. Remove cover and continue to bake for an additional 30 minutes. Garnish with parsley. Serves 4.

Recipe submitted by Muriel Wagner from "Tun... Ahhh".

TUNA, RED PEPPER, RED APPLE AND RED ONION SALAD

2 cans (6½ ounces each) white albacore tuna, water-packed, washed, drained and chunked
1 red pepper, cut into strips
1 unpeeled red delicious apple, cubed
¼ cup red onion, coarsely diced

½ cup nonfat mayonnaise
2 tablespoons Dijon mustard
Garnish of lettuce leaves, red and green grapes

Combine nonfat mayonnaise and Dijon mustard. Add tuna, red peppers, red apples and red onions. Serve on lettuce leaves. Garnish with red and green grapes.
Recipe submitted by Muriel Wagner from "Tun... Ahhh".

ST. AGATHA'S NEW ENGLAND CLAM CHOWDER

4 dozen clams
5 cups of cold water
3 tablespoons of butter
1 large onion, chopped very fine
4 medium sized potatoes, diced
Salt and freshly ground black pepper,

2 cups hot milk
1½ cups of heavy cream, hot

Wash clams thoroughly. Place them in a deep pan with 5 cups of cold water covering the clams. Bring to a boil, then reduce heat and simmer just until the shells open. Strain the broth through cheesecloth and reserve. Remove the clams from their shells and chop into small pieces. Combine butter and onion in a saucepan, and cook gently over low heat for about 3 minutes; do not brown. Add reserved broth and potatoes. Add salt and pepper to taste. Cook until potatoes are tender. Add clams. Remove from heat and slowly add heated milk and cream. Stir immediately. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Oven steamed fish is easy and delicious

See Larry Janes' Taste Buds column on Taste front.

OVEN STEAMED FISH EN PAPILLOTE

2 tablespoons coarsely grated carrot
1 bunch green onions, chopped
1 celery stalk, cut into thin strips
8-10 ounces fish fillets (your choice of salmon, trout, cod, catfish, etc.)

1 teaspoon dried dill weed
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Parchment paper

Preheat the oven to 400 degrees. Cut parchment paper in a piece 16 inches by 12 inches. Mix vegetables together with dill. Place fish in the center of the parchment paper. Top with vegetable mixture and sprinkle with lemon juice. Wrap parchment to secure. Place on a baking sheet and bake at 400 degrees for 20-25 minutes. Serves 2.

STEAMED OCEAN PERCH

2 cups water
1 whole carrot, thinly sliced
2 celery stalks, thinly sliced
1 bunch green onions, chopped
2 large lettuce leaves
1 bay leaf
5 peppercorns
¾ pound fish fillets with skin (your choice of perch, salmon, grouper, or lemon sole)

In a medium saucepan, add water, vegetables, bay leaf and peppercorns. Cover and bring to a boil and boil for 5 minutes. Reduce the heat to medium low. Insert a folding vegetable steamer or a small bamboo steamer. Place fish on top, cover and steam for 5 minutes. Thicker fillets will require up to 9 minutes of cooking. Remove from heat. Remove lid, remove steamer and enjoy fish. Serves 2.

Arneis which translates "rascal" Italian is appropriate for the wine because of its unpredictable behavior. The 1992 Cairel Arneis ($17) showcases the fresh aromas of a boac pear and is made by Giuseppe and Luigi Rivetti. In the region known as Marche, the Cifola brothers produce a single vineyard verdicchio that you must try for its rich fruit and attractive fruit aromas. The 1991 La Monacaca Verdicchio de Matelica ($14) represents one of the few wines available locally, produced in the Marche. Italian red wines are abundant. The 1991 Illuminati "Riparosso" ($9) is made from the Montepulciano d'Abruzzo grape, but don't confuse it with the wine known as Vino Nobile de Montepulciano. It has delicious blackberry fruit and is one of the best red wine buys around. Flavors are magnified many times in the 1988 Illuminati Zanna Montepulciano d'Abruzzo Vecchio ($18). An incredible wine for the money, the Vecchio (old) shows a wonderfully mature nose with integrated oak and intense fruit that is simply delicious — a wine worth a search. Space will not allow a complete description, but we suggest that you taste the following: 1990 Francesco Sasso Aglianico del Vulture ($16), 1990 Quercivalle Chianti Classico, Paolo & Pietro Losi ($13), 1991 Rosso di Montalcino, Nardi ($13), 1988 Brunello di Montalcino, Nardi ($30), 1988 Barolo "Cascina Bruni," Pasquale Veglio ($35).

stir-frys solely to the Lenten season. Stir-frys are popular at the Black house throughout the year.

"Stir-frys are our choice when we entertain guests. Everybody seems to enjoy this type of meal, and many times we invite our guests to help by chopping the vegetables. Our friends enjoy being personally involved in the meal."

Rice, homemade bread and a salad most often accompany the Blacks' stir-fry dinners. "A nice benefit to this meal is that while I make the stir-fry, Lyn makes the salad and we have the chance to talk and catch up with each other."

While the Blacks put seafood in stir-frys, the Rev. Thomas Flowinski, pastor of St. Agatha Church in Redford, uses seafood to attract hundreds of paying guests to his church. For the fourth year in a row, St. Agatha's is serving seafood dinners, ranging in price from $3.75 to $5 every Friday during Lent.

"The profits from these dinners go into our general fund for various projects," said Flowinski who does much of the cooking. "We offer such a variety of food including fish and chips, shrimp, baked cod and clam chowder, that our dinners have become very popular."

Flowinski said parishioners help him cook the dinners. "I really enjoy cooking these and other dinners. I find that cooking is creative and fun, as well as great therapy for shuffling papers and working at my desk all day."

Seafood dishes garner Flowinski's attention for 40 days a year, but Italian cuisine is his choice on the remaining days. "I like making Italian dishes because I like the taste of garlic — lots of garlic — and I like pasta."

Muriel G. Wagner, a registered dietitian who practices in Southfield, is busy creating recipes using tuna fish. She has been so successful in this mission that her first 50 recipes are found in a book entitled "Tun... Ahh: Smart Eating With Good Taste," which she coauthored with food writer Irene Burchard.

"My tuna recipes provide a nice change to the traditional tuna fish casserole recipes. And, in addition to tasting good, these recipes help to lower fat, cholesterol and weight," Wagner said.

"We wrote this book because tuna is one of the healthiest foods you can eat, as well as a real nutritional bargain. But most people only think of tuna as a salad that you put on a sandwich or on a plate. We wanted to introduce our readers to a variety of ways tuna fish can be served — all of which are delicious!"

For those who would like to try some of these tuna recipes during Lent, you can order "Tun... Ahh" by sending a check or money order payable to W/B Press for $9.85 (includes postage, handling and Michigan sales tax) to Dr. Muriel Wagner, 24901 Northwestern Highway, Suite 613-C, Southfield, MI 48075.

St. Agatha's Church is at 19800 Beech Daly in Redford, between Eight Mile and Grand River. Dinners, including children's portions, are served 3-8 p.m. Fridays during Lent. See recipes inside.

Purim merriment capped off with delicious hamantaschen

Masks, plays, merriment and hamantaschen make the Jewish celebration of Purim a delight for children, as well as adults.

The holiday, celebrated Feb. 25, marks a time in Jewish history without persecution. Believed to be taken from the Book of Esther, Purim is celebrated with customs from the Persian New Year dating back 2,000 years.

Persecution has been a part of the Hebrew-Jewish tradition since Joseph entered Egypt, but the Purim story talks of a time when a secular king ruled most of the known world and married a Jewess. The king turns the tables on those who persecuted the Jews and sets out to annihilate those who sought their destruction.

Preparation for Purim begins well in advance of the festival with families making masks and costumes and preparing the traditional hamantaschen. The treats are believed to have originated in Germany and are sometimes called mohntaschen.

A pre-Purim event with mask- and crown-making activities for children will be hosted locally by the Jewish Community Center in West Bloomfield at 10:30 a.m. Feb. 24. Grandparents are invited to bring their grandchildren dressed in Purim costumes to the center. Reservations can be made by calling Lorraine Morris at 661-7649. There is a fee for the event.

Purim itself is not a full holiday and children attend school as usual. Late in the afternoon, a special Purim meal is prepared and the actual celebration begins.

The traditional Purim Se'udah (festive meal) would have included 24 meat, poultry and pastry dishes, but the meal has been simplified for most modern-day Purim revelers. Families then visit their synagogues where the Purim traditions continue.

After a celebration of games, masquerading and a reenactment of the book of Esther, the costume-clad children venture off with baskets of hamantaschen to share with neighbors.

The traditional hamantaschen recipe is quite involved, but a simple children's version of the holiday treat will keep the celebration alive in Jewish households and allow maximum involvement for the entire family.

HAMANTASCHEN FOR KIDS

1 cup butter
2 cups sugar

1 Teaspoon vanilla
3 eggs
4 cups flour
1/2 Teaspoon salt
jam or jelly

Mix all ingredients together, except jelly. Roll into balls and then flatten out. Place a spoonful of jelly or jam in the center of each flattened circle of dough. Pinch the corners together to form a triangle. Bake in a 350-degree oven for 8 to 10 minutes or until golden brown. Recipe makes 12 servings.

Top chefs served up at seminar

An impressive slate of award-winning chefs will share their talents at a seminar hosted by Schoolcraft College. The sixth annual Chef's Seminar, March 7, will be just like "buying a cookbook," according to a spokesman for the college.

Included on the menu of chefs will be Peter Ashcraft, executive chef at Charley's Crab; Keith Josefak, corporate chef for the Rattlesnake Club; Kevin Brennan, executive chef for Orchard Lake Country Club; and Peter Loren, executive chef for Opus One.

The chefs will prepare everything from alderwood planked New England shad and shad roe with leeks, anise and spinach stuffing; star-shaped pasta with tender rock shrimp and ginger; stuffed pork tenderloin with mushroom inlay; and Moscow duck breast meat with straw vegetables and potatoes.

Class size is limited although open to anyone. The seminar will begin at 9 a.m. and continue until 4:30 p.m. The fee for the seminar is $150 per person.

To register call 313-462-4400.

YOUR HEALTH

E FOR EXERCISE

Aerobic exercise improves the health and efficiency of the heart; however, it also produces "free radicals" as a by-product. These highly reactive, cell-destroying forms of oxygen increase along with metabolic rate. Fortunately, such antioxidants as vitamin C, beta-carotene, and vitamin E help block oxidative reactions and protect the body's cells from damage. A recent study from Tufts University in Boston suggests that those who engage in regular exercise might consider supplementing their diets with vitamin E. The RDA for vitamin E is 30 I.U.'s, but the study showed that ingesting 800 I.U.'s of vitamin E before vigorous exercise reduced free radical levels by a factor of more than four. The study suggests that active people take daily supplements of vitamin E at least 100 I.U.'s.

Vitamin and mineral supplements are a good idea for most of us — young and old. For instance, vitamin C, or golden seal, with echinacea are terrific for combating the symptoms of flu and colds. At the GOOD FOOD CO., a natural food supermarket, we offer an amazing variety of vitamins, supplements, and whole food products. If you have any questions about the benefits of one product over another or about our column, please call us at 981-8100. We are located at 42615 Ford Rd. We are open Monday through Saturday from 9:00 to 9:00, and Sundays from 10:00 to 6:00.

P.S. The initials "I.U." stand for international units, a measurement of vitamin strength.

Lamb dish brings spring to mind

Spring means many different taste treats to many different people, but for those of us who spent winters in the cold snowy parts of the country, fresh vegetables were a taste of heaven.

The tiny pink buds of rhubarb pushing through the ground, followed by the bright green heads of asparagus gave us a sure indication that spring and warm weather had arrived.

Even though American lamb is not seasonal as once thought, it still comes to mind as the spring holidays — St. Patrick's Day and Easter — near. St. Patrick's Day invites a hearty lamb stew, and Easter features a crusty brown, pink and tender roast perfect for a large family celebration.

American lamb is certainly more versatile than stew and leg of lamb, and many people who have not tried lamb before will find that stir-fry with simple ingredients will enhance their meals, both nutritionally and economically.

Lamb is characteristically tender so that cuts such as the arm chop or leg steaks makes an ideal cut for slicing into thin strips for stir-frying.

This asparagus lamb combination is a hit when it comes to nutrition. Both asparagus and lamb are sources of iron. Since American lamb is generally low in sodium, use the reduced sodium broth and soy sauce now found on grocer shelves to keep your stir-frying dishes in line with the guidelines suggested by the dietary guidelines. Additional good news about this recipe includes Vitamins A and C, fiber and less than 20 percent calories from fat.

Don't forget to cut your lamb in even strips so that it cooks evenly. Freezing also makes it easier to slice.

The asparagus needs to be well trimmed so that there are no tough stalks. If a knife does not cut the stalk easily, either peel the tough outside or discard the remaining piece. Try to use asparagus as soon after buying or cutting from the patch as it tends to toughen as it is stored.

Fresh mild green onions create a delightful background for the lamb, but any onion can be substituted. Make sure that you do not overcook the lamb to keep it at its tender best. And by keeping the other vegetables crisp tender, it will help retain the vitamins and minerals. Celebrate spring with fresh asparagus and American lamb.

LAMB ASPARAGUS STIR FRY

- 12 ounces boneless lean American lamb, leg or shoulder, cut in 1/2-inch strips
- 1 tablespoon oil
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 1/2 teaspoon ginger powder
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce, reduced sodium
- 1 cup chicken broth, reduced sodium
- 4 cups asparagus, trimmed and cut diagonally into 3/4 inch pieces
- 1 large onion (1 cup), cut into 1/2 strips
- 1/2 cup carrots, thinly sliced

Springtime meal: Lamb and asparagus stir-fry is nutritional and economical.

1/4 cup slivered almonds or peanuts, optional
Mix cornstarch and ginger. Gradually add soy sauce and broth, blending well. Set aside. Heat oil to medium hot and add garlic and lamb strips to the skillet or wok. Stir-fry until the lamb is slightly pink. Remove the lamb from the skillet or wok. Add asparagus, onion, carrots and continue to stir-fry until crisp tender; 3 to 5 minutes.

Return lamb to the vegetable mixture. Stir in broth and continue cooking until the lamb vegetable mixture is glazed and heated thoroughly. Serve over rice or ramen noodles and top with nuts, if desired. Serves 4. Preparation time 15 minutes, cooking time 15 minutes.

Eggs require care to avoid poisoning

Due to the possibility of contamination with salmonella, enteritidis or other bacteria, it is important to handle all eggs and egg-rich foods properly. Here are some tips from the Oakland Cooperative Extension Service.

homemade mayonnaise, ice cream or eggnog. Commercial mayonnaise, ice cream and eggnog are safe, since they use pasteurized eggs and the pasteurization kills bacteria.

- Wash hands, utensils, equipment and work areas with hot, soapy water before and after they come in contact with eggs and egg-rich foods (foods with eggs as the main ingredients: quiches and baked custards for example.)
- Buy grade AA or A eggs with clean, uncracked and checked shells.
- Do not buy unrefrigerated eggs.
- Refrigerate eggs in the original carton.
- Cook eggs thoroughly — until the yolk is not runny and the white is firm. Cook scrambled eggs until firm.
- Avoid foods that contain raw eggs, such as Caesar salad or
- Avoid foods that contain lightly cooked eggs such as chilled chocolate mousse or soft meringues that are only slightly cooked.
- Eggs and egg-rich foods should never be kept out of the refrigerator for more than 2 hours, including serving time.
- To ensure safe Easter eggs, do not leave hard-cooked dyed eggs at room temperature for more than two hours. Hard cooking an egg destroys much of its natural protection and makes it more susceptible to bacterial growth.
- When refrigerating a large amount of a hot egg-rich dish or leftovers, divide it into several shallow containers so it will cool quickly.

Health smorgasbord served up at Hospital

A smorgasbord of health screening opportunities, from medication counseling to blood analysis, will be served up March 2-4 by Botsford General Hospital at Project Health-O-Rama at Livonia Mall.

Botsford is joining the Blue Care Network, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan, WXYZ-TV 7 and the United Health Organization in presenting Health-O-Rama, now in its 15th year.

Health care professionals will offer colo-rectal screening, a blood panel and prostate screening among the 20 displays of important health information and screenings in the midway of the mall.

Also included will be body fat analysis, nutrition information, hearing screening and sinus information, information on diabetes, speech, voice and language therapy, information on heart health and foot care. Health-O-Rama includes special information for women, children and older adults. Most of the screenings are free. There are minimal charges for the prostate screening, colo-rectal screening and a 22-test blood panel profile.

The program runs 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on all three days.

Vegetarian buffet is offered for 'Meatout'

Humanitarians for Animal Rights Education is hosting its second annual vegetarian buffet Saturday, March 19, at the Pleasant Ridge Community Center, 4 Ridge Road, Pleasant Ridge, from 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

This event is part of the national Great American Meatout campaign sponsored by Farm Animal Reform Movement. Adults will be charged $1, and children eat for free.

More than 60 vegetarian entrees, salads, appetizers, drinks and desserts will be served to acquaint guests with modern meatless cooking. Recipes and vegetarian lifestyle information will be provided, and there will be demonstrations of cruelty-free makeup and household cleaning products.

The purpose of the Great American Meatout is to reduce the national consumption of meat and the raising of animals for food. Meat consumption has been linked to chronic diseases such as heart failure, stroke, cancer, and diabetes.

Not eating meat is known to have some benefits, according to representatives of H.A.R.E. It is healthier for people, kinder to animals, and much more sparing of earth's resources, they say.

Don't get mud on your shoes

...until you've called our new BUILDERS HOT LINE DIRECTORY

It's worth a little mud to find the right new home, but why not check out what's happening in the new home construction business before you trek out into the building fields?

All you have to do is call our new Builders Hot Line Directory number from your touch-tone telephone and take a "talking" tour of what's being offered. A lot of builders plan to include their Hot Line numbers right in their ads, so if you should see an interesting advertisement in the Real Estate section of our classifieds look for the builder's Hot Line number there, too.

Remember, before you travel into unknown territory, check our new BUILDERS HOT LINE DIRECTORY by calling

Shamrocks win title

Redford Catholic Central clinched the Metro Hockey League championship with Saturday's 3-3 tie against Birmingham Brother Rice at Redford Arena.

The Shamrocks, 17-1-2 overall, finished the Metro schedule with 24 points and an 11-1-2 record. Rice, which needed a win to tie CC for first place in the final standings, finished with 22 points and a 10-2-2 record in the Metro.

CC senior forward Jeff Lachapelle tied the score at 3-3 with a goal off a scramble in front of the net at 7:40 of the third period. Ken Lauer drew the only assist.

Rice trailed 2-1 after two periods but went ahead 3-2 with goals by Mike Jalaba and Jeff Wojcik in the first 6½ minutes of the third period.

CC goalie Mike Brusseau made 19 saves. "It was a tremendous hockey game," CC coach Gordie St. John said. "Two teams that went out there and absolutely gave everything they had."

The Shamrocks wasted little time getting the game's first lead, scoring 48 seconds into the first period on a goal by Greg Vaquera, assisted by Jeff Helner and Pete Davis.

Jalaba scored his first goal of the game in the second period to tie the score but CC's Jason Couture responded with a goal to put the Shamrocks up 2-1. Couture's goal was assisted by Jon Heady and Chris Gonzalez.

Knights Bantam champs

The Livonia Knights, a Bantam A hockey team, recently captured the Michigan Amateur Hockey Association District IV Championships with a 3-2 victory over the Livingston Freeze.

The Knights, coached by Bob Tyler, advance to the state finals, March 10-13, at Westland Ice Arena.

Assistant coaches include Jerry Ahmet and Larry Marshall. The team is sponsored by Wisti Engineering, Man-u-tec, American Gear & Engineering and Henry Ford Medical Center (Fairlane).

U-D baseball reunion

Calling all former University of Detroit baseball players.

A reunion will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, March 5, at the Titan Club Room in Calihan Hall.

The cost is $5 per person (includes snacks, beer, wine and soda).

For more information, call UD-Mercy coaches Bob Miller or Bob Atkins at 993-1700.

Carbo Baseball School

The Bernie Carbo Baseball School will be staging individual and small group clinics for youngsters.

For more information, call Gordie Rutherford at 421-4928.

WYAA registration set

Registration for the Westland Youth Athletic Association T-ball, coach-pitch, baseball and softball will be from noon to 2 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 26, March 5, 12, 19 and 26; and 8 to 10 p.m. Wednesday, March 2, 9, 16, 23 and 30 at the WYAA Lange Building, 6050 Farmington Road (just north of Ford Road).

Each registrant must provide a copy of their birth certificate (only parent or legal guardian can register child). All players must participate in a fund-raiser. Hats, T-shirts and trophies for all T-ball and coach-pitch players. Veterans must register on or before March 30 to return to last year's team.

The cost is $20 for T-ball (5-6 year-olds) and coach-pitch (7-8); $30 for Mustang (9-10), Bronco (11-12), Shetland (8-11), Filly (12-14) and Pony (13-14); and $45 for Colt (15-16). A late fee of $5 will be charged after March 30. (Three-sport plan is $80 and family plan is $65.)

Spring softball leagues

Anton Softball Center opens its 1994 season Early Bird Tournament, Friday through Sunday, April 15-17 (weather permitting). The open tournament guarantees four games.

The 14-game season fee is $495 per team (plus $7 per game, per team umpire fee). Men's, women's and coed teams are welcome (no residency requirement). A weekday morning and 35-and-over leagues are also being formed.

Teams or people interested in getting on a mailing list should call 483-5600, Ext. 102 or 103 (ask for Bob Hope).

Fillipino martial arts

Professor Remy Prezas, 10th Degree Grand Master and a leading authority on Fillipino Martial Arts, will hold a class in from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, March 12, at the Defensive Tactics Center, 31134 Five Mile Road, Livonia.

The cost is $35 per person. For more information, call 422-5000.

Glenn gets a piece of the Rocks

Westland John Glenn earned the top seed in the upcoming Western Lakes Activities Association playoffs with a 47-44 victory Friday over Plymouth Salem. Both teams finished 10-1 in the WLA.

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Westland John Glenn executed its game plan with a guillotine Friday.

Off with James Head. Glenn made a precision cut on the 6-foot-7 Iowa-bound center, holding him to a 11 points while ending the visiting Rocks' 14-game winning streak, 47-44.

Both teams finish 10-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association and share the Lakes Division crown at 4-1, but Glenn is the No. 1 seed heading into the playoffs, which opens Thursday and Friday with first-round action.

Tony Goins, a 6-foot-5 senior forward, was most responsible for holding Head in check. He limited the Salem star, who was suffering from the flu, to three of 16 shooting from the floor.

And if Goins, whose big two free throws with eight seconds left ensured the win, didn't give Salem with a migraine, Excedrin No. 2 was provided by the Rockets' 6-9 junior center Guy Rucker, who proved to be the difference with 17 points, eight rebounds and six blocked shots.

"Tony had kind of a tentative game offensively, but defensively he just did a great job," said Glenn coach Mike Schuette, whose team is 13-3 overall. "Great ballplayers rise to the occasion, and when we needed it, he grabbed a big rebound."

"He wanted to play Head because Head is a great player. He's the best in western Wayne County and to hold him to that (11 points) says something."

Head, limited to a mere two free throws over the first three quarters, came alive during the latter stages of the tightly contested game.

His rebound slam with only 59 seconds remaining gave the Rocks a 44-43 advantage.

Schuette then called timeout to settle his team down as the Glenn gym rocked to a deafening sound.

The Rockets composed themselves and scored when Goins hit a short shot with 46 seconds remaining to regain the lead at 45-44.

Head then missed a short baseline shot.

Rucker rebounded the ball and the Rockets whittled the clock down to 10 seconds before Albert Jones was fouled.

The sophomore guard missed both free throws, but Goins came up with the big rebound and got fouled on a put-back.

After a Salem timeout, he went to the line and calmly sank a pair.

"We talked about that very thing during the timeout, don't let them get the second or third shot," Salem coach Bob Brodie said. "But sure enough it happened."

The Rocks found themselves trapped after rebounding the ball in their backcourt, but the clock operator failed to turn on the switch.

With the ball in Salem's possession after being knocked out of bounds, officials huddled at the scorers table and took three seconds off.

"I felt confident with a three-point lead because the worst we could do was overtime if we played it smart," Schuette said. "But I couldn't help but think back to last year when Salem beat us at the buzzer on a long three-point shot."

Needing a three-pointer to tie, Salem's Justin Marcis took aim, but stepped inside the ring, failing to convert as time expired.

"We were pretty inept offensively,"

Shamrocks, Spartans advance in playoffs

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Redford Catholic Central and Redford Bishop Borgess have advanced to the semifinal round of the Catholic League boys basketball playoffs.

Each team won a quarterfinal game on Sunday at the University of Detroit-Mercy's Calihan Hall.

CC trailed 22-18 at halftime but held Riverview Gabriel Richard without a field goal in the third quarter and pulled out a 55-44 victory. Borgess, playing perhaps its best game of the season, raced to a 37-24 halftime lead over Southgate Aquinas and won easier-than-expected, 78-51.

CC, 12-4 overall, will meet Dearborn Divine Child in a semifinal at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Schoolcraft College. Borgess, 12-5 overall, plays Detroit St. Martin DePorres in a semifinal at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Schoolcraft College.

Gabriel Richard's Marc Carafelli led all scorers with 19 points but CC was only four-of-16 from the floor, including zero for seven in the second half.

Sophomore guard Brent Everingham was the Pioneers' only hope in the second half, scoring all of his 11 points in the fourth quarter.

"The first half we were sleep walking," CC coach Bernie Holowicki said. "We upped our intensity and denied Carafelli more in the second half. Our defense was a good lift, like a cup of coffee in the morning. We had Andy (Kummer), (Mike) Ridley, (Justin) Hoener on Carafelli. He got a lot of our fans in foul trouble."

Gabriel Richard missed all seven of its field goal attempts in the third quarter and was six-of-22 in the second half. The Pioneers, 8-9 overall, were 13-41 from the field (32 percent) for the game.

CC made 8-11 field goals in the third quarter and finished at 50 percent for the game (19-38).

Senior guard Andy Slankster led CC with 14 points. Senior center Joe Daly had 12 points and tied teammate Sean Gallagher for the team lead with six rebounds.

Ridley had eight points and senior guard Anthony Hesano played one of his better all-around games with seven points.

The Shamrocks used a 6-1 run at the start of the second half to take a 24-23 lead. Richard regained the lead with two free throws by Carafelli before the Shamrocks scored 12 straight points for a 36-25 lead.

Hesano started the 12-0 run with a baseline drive and he ended the quarter with a three-point shot at the buzzer to give the Shamrocks a 39-27 lead.

"Justin gave me a little wink and saw me break on the left," Hesano said. "Luckily, it went in. As long as we win, I'm happy."

Borgess was perhaps the most impressive team of the day.

The Spartans made 31-64 field goal attempts (48 percent), including eight shots from three-point range.

Seniors Perry Robinson and Charles Smith had 20 points each and sophomores Richard Paige and Vince Callaway contributed nine and eight, respectively.

The Spartans enjoyed a 62-46 lead after three quarters and outscored Aquinas, 16-5, in the fourth quarter.

Robinson, a 6-foot-5 senior who has signed with U-D Mercy, made 7-12 shots including two from three-point range and led the Spartans with 13 rebounds. Smith, who has signed with Ball State, was 10-15 from the field, including two three-pointers.

"I felt like I was at home (playing at U-D Mercy)," Robinson said.

Aquinas, the defending Class C state champion, was 20-59 from the field (34 percent). Junior forward Jason Singleton led Aquinas with 16 points on only 6-21 shooting from the floor. Borgess had only nine turnovers, none in the second quarter.

"We've been playing better and better each game and that's a sign of a good team," Borgess coach Glen Donahue said. "This was one of Perry's better games. He can do just about anything when he wants to."

UNC-Charlotte's web: Livonian Bobby Kummer scored nine points and grabbed seven rebounds in an upset of No. 5-ranked Louisville.

49er-Kummer strikes gold vs. Louisville

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

You've seen fans tear down goal posts after college football victories.

University of North Carolina-Charlotte fans don't have a football team to cheer for, or goal posts to climb, but they've gone nuts over their basketball team.

UNCC swingman Bobby Kummer, a 6-foot-6 sophomore from Livonia and Redford Catholic Central, played 28 minutes in Thursday night's monumental 64-62 upset victory over No. 5-ranked Louisville and then was caught in the middle of the post-game celebration at Independence Arena.

The rims weren't safe from the thousands of fans that rushed the floor.

"The horn went off and next thing I knew, fans were coming from everywhere," Kummer said. "Some dude tried to get on the top of the rim. He got on a guy's shoulders, got one foot on the rim but his other foot caught in the net. He almost fell flat on his head. People were going crazy."

UNCC followers are calling the victory the biggest since 1977 when the 49ers upset No. 1-ranked Michigan to reach the Final Four.

The victory gave UNCC sole possession of second place in the Metro Conference at 6-3. The 49ers are 13-8 overall and with five regular-season games and the Metro Conference Tournament remaining, have renewed hopes of earning a berth to the 64-team NCAA Tournament.

Kummer made all seven of his free throw attempts to finish with nine points and seven rebounds. He also played strong defense, holding Louisville's star forward Dwayne Morton to 14 points on 6-15 shooting from the floor.

The 49ers lost the earlier meeting at Louisville, 76-55. A possible third game between the two teams would take place at the Metro Conference Tournament held next month in Biloxi, Miss.

Ladywood stops Marian for Catholic League title

Livonia Ladywood continued its domination over Birmingham Marian and the rest of the Catholic League by winning the A-B Division title, 15-11, 15-6, in the finals Thursday at Madonna University.

It was Ladywood's fifth straight victory over the Mustangs. The Blazers move into Operation-Friendship match with an overall record of 28-4-4. Ladywood takes on the Detroit Public School League champion at 6:30 tonight at Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher.

Anne Poglits, a 6-foot-4 junior, led Ladywood's hitting attack with 17 kills (and four digs). Junior setter Renae Rozell had 19 assists.

"It has a lot to do with Anne and Renae making a good combination," Ladywood coach Tom Teeters said. "Both work real hard and both stepped up when we changed our team from last year."

Other Ladywood contributions came from Shannon Swish, three aces and seven digs; Kristy Walker, 15 digs; and Deborah Sobczak, nine digs.

Julie Storen and Carina Carlesimo, a pair of juniors, led Marian with five kills apiece. Setter Amanda Baranski, a senior, had 18 assists.

The loss drops Marian to 20-8-2 overall.

"Ladywood has one hitter (Poglits) and they find her no matter where she is," Marian coach Patty Kopmeyer said. "She hits down on balls. Next year she'll be amazing."

"They just have a basic offense with no quick attacks. It just frustrates coaches."

Pats spike Churchill

Jaelyn Deane, a 6-1 junior, loomed large Thursday, leading visiting Livonia Franklin to a 15-17, 15-9, 15-11, 15-3 Western Lakes Activities Association win over Livonia Churchill.

Deane finished the night with 20 kills, four solo blocks and 18 digs.

"When it came right down to it, their big kid (Deane) in the middle put the ball away," Churchill coach Mike Hughes said. "Franklin also played excellent defense. It was a hard-fought, intense match."

Franklin, now 18-8-4 overall, also received sterling setting from senior co-captains Sonja Hlushchenko and Lenay Truchan. They combined for 45 assists and a .468 passing percentage.

Hlushchenko was also 15 for 15 serving, while Truchan had 21 digs and three aces.

Andrea Greer added 11 kills, 26 digs and two ace serves for the Patriots, now 4-5 in the WLAA. She also served-received at a .963 clip (one error). Teammate Mary Bagazinski added seven kills and three aces.

Sarah Fabirkiewicz led Churchill with nine kills.

Hughes also singled out the serving and defense of Mindy Sullivan.

Lutheran Westland rolls

Sophomore setter Katie Ollinger had 21 assist-to-kills Thursday, lifting host Lutheran High Westland to a 15-6, 15-7 Metro Conference win over Harper Woods.

The Warriors are now 17-11-2 overall and 6-2 in the Metro. (Livonia Clarenceville is 8-0 in the Metro.)

Senior Etsuko Kaneko, an exchange student from Japan, added three key digs in the second game to thwart a Harper Woods comeback.

Junior Jenny Pruchnik contributed six aces, five kills and three solo blocks for the victorious Warriors. Senior Erin Cicero chipped in with four kills.

The Warriors return to action Tuesday at Flat Rock before closing out the Metro season Thursday at home against Clarenceville.

Cougars claw Glenn for crown

It's hard to figure what was more of a surprise: Garden City winning its team dual wrestling district or Redford Catholic Central failing to win one.

Garden City, a program with modest wrestling tradition, will advance to this week's team regional while CC will stay home.

CC, which has won seven Class A state championships under coach Mike Rodriguez, was ousted by Southgate Anderson, 32-31, in the district final at Woodhaven.

Garden City captured its own district, edging Westland John Glenn 37-35 in the final. The Cougars won a semifinal match against Wayne Memorial, 44-24.

This is Garden City coach Phil Freeman's first district title. The most impressive part of the victory was seven sophomores and one freshman contributed.

Garden City's team regional starts at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

"It (the district title) offers credibility to our program," Freeman said. "I felt this was nice after hosting all these years to keep the district trophy instead of giving it away. (The team's youth) makes it gratifying because we get to set the tone for the next couple of years."

A couple adjustments in the Cougars' lineup against Glenn helped gain momentum.

Garden City's Jason Milne, who is 34-7 at 112 pounds, decided to move up a class and wrestle Glenn's Anthony Underwood. Milne got pinned in 4:21 but trailed only 10-7 in the third period and his inspirational showing picked up the Cougars' spirits, according to Freeman.

"Jason got caught under, but he wrestled a great match," Freeman said.

The Cougars followed with a pin from Derrick Davis at 125 pounds.

Garden City's second lineup adjustment came when Steve Horvath was moved from 130 to 135. Glenn won six points with Garden City's void at 130, but Horvath gained five points back, winning by technical fall over Tye Golden, 18-2, at 135. Tim Sayn (140) and Jim Stewart (145) also followed with pins.

Ryan Frost added a win at 160 for the Cougars and Glenn won two of the last three matches by voids, but the Cougars managed to hold on to the lead and advance to the regional.

Spartans breeze to title

Livonia Stevenson, 9-0 in team duals, is headed to Wednesday's Ann Arbor Huron regional after repeating as Class district champs Thursday.

The Spartans whipped Redford Union (70-0) and host Livonia Franklin (55-15) en route to the title.

There was little or no suspense on the evening, with the exception of the 171-pound bout between Stevenson's Ben Lewis and Franklin's Jesse Shakarian, Observerland's version of Ali and Frazier.

Lewis had won four of five previous meetings, all by a point, while Shakarian won the Observerland title with a one-point win.

The sixth meeting held true to form as Shakarian jumped out to a 4-2 lead before Lewis tied it at 4-4 heading in the final period.

With 13 seconds to go, Lewis scored a reversal move to earn a hard-fought 6-4 victory.

Spartans upset North; Wayne Memorial rolls

The Livonia Stevenson boys basketball team recovered from one of its most embarrassing defeats in a hurry.

The Spartans, who experienced a 66-point loss last Tuesday at Plymouth Canton, rallied on Friday for a 63-52 victory over visiting North Farmington.

Eric Giovanni's three-point shot with nine seconds left put Stevenson ahead to stay. The Spartans, who trailed by five earlier in the fourth quarter, improved to 4-10 overall, 4-17 in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

North fell to 7-10 overall, 5-6 in the WLAA.

Senior guard Kevin Szczembarski led Stevenson with 17 points and senior forward Chris Chichila contributed 12 points.

Giovanni added nine points. Senior forward Scot Lord led North with 19 points. Jon Pennella added 15 points.

Stevenson led 13-9 after one quarter and 26-24 at halftime. The Spartans enjoyed a 41-39 lead after three quarters.

LUTHERAN NORTH 83, LUTHERAN WESTLAND 78: Lutheran Westland scored 33 points in the fourth quarter Friday night and it still wasn't enough against host Mount Clemens Lutheran North.

The Warriors, who trailed 36-29 at halftime and 57-45 after three quarters, fell to 7-9 overall and 6-5 in the Metro Conference.

Lutheran Westland rallied behind junior guard Chris Tieman and trailed by three with seven seconds left. North missed a front end of a one-and-one free throw attempt but Kevin Morowski scored on the rebound to provide the final margin.

North, 11-5 overall and 7-4 in the Metro, overcame Lutheran Westland's school-record of eight three-point shots.

"We shot well, they shot well and defense was atrocious," Lutheran Westland coach Scott Wiemer said.

Tieman scored 31 points, making a school-record six three-pointers. Tieman had 15 points in the fourth quarter.

Senior guard Andy Mantel scored 12 points, senior guard Jim Hoef had 11 and senior forward Jeff Lichtner added eight points and 15 rebounds.

Morowski, a 6-6 junior forward, led North with 30 points and junior guard Kyle Simmons added 21.

WAYNE 72, WOODHAVEN 55: Wayne Memorial enjoyed an 18-8 lead after one quarter Friday night over host Woodhaven and held on to win its sixth-straight game.

The Zebras are 13-4 overall, 9-2 in the Mega Red Division. Woodhaven fell to 10-6 overall, 4-5 in the Red.

Wayne led 31-26 at halftime and sealed the outcome by making 15-20 free throws. Senior guard Gerald Adams led Wayne with 19 points. Courtney Howard had 15, Rod Hardison 13 and Lorenzo Guess 12.

Vince Carafelli had three Woodhaven players in double figures with 13 points.

CRANBROOK 57, CLARENCEVILLE 54: Senior forward Mark Kalaj scored 31 points Friday night, but couldn't lead host Livonia Clarenceville to victory against Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook.

The Trojans fell to 8-8 overall, 6-6 in the Metro Conference. Cranbrook improved to 8-9 overall, 5-6 in the Metro.

George Gjoka scored with 200 left to give Clarenceville its only lead, 53-52, before Cran-Kalaj was consistent, scoring eight points in the each of the first, third and fourth quarters and seven in the second.

Kalaj made 9-12 free throws and the Trojans were 14-18 as a team.

Senior guard John Kalaj added nine points for the Trojans, who trailed 16-10 after one quarter and 38-25 at halftime.

Senior forward David Nachman led Cranbrook with 19 points. Senior center Jason Edleston had 16 points and senior guard Paul Hatz added 12.

FRANKLIN 70, ANNAPOLIS 52: Livonia Franklin won a non-league game Wednesday at Dearborn Heights Annapolis.

The Patriots had three players in double figures, led by Paul Kruschka's 21 points. Clem Herrera had 16 points and Jason Maschke 10. Herrera and Maschke had four steals each.

Paul Thompson led Annapolis with 22 points.

Franklin jumped to a 21-12 lead after one quarter and led 31-25 at halftime. The Patriots sealed the victory with a 23-13 advantage in the fourth quarter.

Hat trick week

Patriot cagers fend off Churchill

BY NEAL ZIPSER
STAFF WRITER

Livonia Franklin first-year coach Larry Jackson knew that the city's bragging rights were on the line in Friday's game at Livonia Churchill, but that wasn't the foremost thought in his mind.

More importantly, Jackson was just happy the Patriots were able to win their third straight game, a 55-49 boys basketball win over a resilient Churchill squad.

The victory was Franklin's third win of the week, following a three-game losing streak.

"Our first goal was to make it to the league playoffs," Jackson said. "After that, things like the Livonia city championship are just icing on the cake."

With the win, Franklin improved to 8-6 overall and 6-4 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. The Chargers dropped their seventh consecutive game and fell to 4-13 overall and 2-9 in the league.

The Patriots, who beat Livonia Stevenson earlier in the season, put away the pesky Chargers with a 16-3 run over an eight-minute span covering the late third quarter and first six minutes of the fourth.

Franklin used a balanced scoring attack as its starters combined for all but six of the team's total. Jason Maschke led the way with 13 points while Paul Kruschka added 12.

Senior forward Bill Morris paced the Churchill attack with 13 points and nine rebounds.

Churchill fell behind early 24-10 as Franklin nailed four 3-pointers, including two by Kruschka. The Chargers struck back on a 12-0 run of their own and trailed only 28-27 at halftime.

Franklin tried to pick up the tempo of the game in the third quarter as it extended a zone defense into a full-court press.

"We knew coming in that they wanted to stall," Maschke said.

Lang disagreed with Maschke, saying Churchill's plan was to open up the floor.

"We wanted to spread out the floor and try to take advantage of our players' ability to drive to the basket," Lang said. "It worked for a while as we got some easy baskets. But Franklin's three-pointers early really hurt us."

Jackson agreed that Churchill's strategy paid off.

"We were playing man-to-man, but doubling pretty high out," Jackson said. "They were able to find a man open for a short jumper, and they were hitting them on a pretty consistent basis."

After falling behind by four, the Chargers scored nine straight points and took the lead 38-35 after senior guard Jeff Anderson hit a triple with 1:44 left in the third. Then the walls caved in on Churchill.

The Patriots scored the final six points of the third and the first five of the fourth to take a 46-38 lead. The lead was extended to 51-41 on a Greg Maple layup and free throw.

"We had one missed assignment that led to an easy basket for them — perhaps we got tired," Lang said. "But I was happy with the way we kept coming back. We've been playing hard most of the season."

Morris did his best to keep the Chargers within striking distance as he accounted for seven of the team's 11 fourth-quarter points. But Franklin made four of seven free throws in the game's final minute to hold on for the win.

"It was frustrating that they kept coming back, but our league is tough," Jackson said. "You have to be ready for anybody every night. Tom did a great job preparing his team tonight and you have to give them credit."

Neither team fared well from the floor, as each team shot 38 percent. The biggest statistic was Franklin's dominance of the boards, as the Patriots held a 35-21 overall advantage and 17-7 on the offensive end.

"They killed us on the boards," Lang said. "There was a stretch where Franklin didn't score but had seven straight chances. We were without our leading rebounder, Adam Bowser (sick), and that hurt."

"Now we know we can beat them," said Kummer, who would settle for snipping the net off the rim instead of standing on it. "I want to get a Metro League ring."

Kummer has been in the UNCC playing group since arriving in the fall of 1992.

As a freshman, he averaged 5.0 points and 2.6 rebounds per game coming off the bench.

Kummer earned a starting role earlier this year and is averaging 6.3 points and 4.6 rebounds while shooting 40 percent from the field, including 35 percent from three-point range (21-60).

Kummer scored a career-high 17 points, including five triples, in a 60-58 win over Butler on Dec. 29 in the Cable Car Classic in Santa Clara, Calif. He had 14 points, five rebounds and three assists on Feb. 5 in a 76-71 win over Tulane.

Kummer's confidence has carried over to the free throw line, where he is shooting 78 percent (36-46).

"Last year I played, but it was a pretty simple role: scrap and get garbage baskets," Kummer said. "This year, I'm counted on for defense and to hit the open threes. If I have an open shot, I know I will make it. Whereas last year, if I made a shot it was like it kind of took a load off my shoulders, like 'Thank God, it went in.'"

Kummer has been a can't miss in the classroom, carrying a 3.65 grade point average overall as a history major concentrating in secondary education.

He had a 3.75 GPA last semester and in December was the first UNCC basketball player to ever be honored as the Metro Conference Student-Athlete of the Month.

He has been nominated for the GTE/Co-SIDA Academic All-America team, but in his own family has the distinction of being only the second smartest child behind brother Andy, a senior at CC who carries a 4.5 GPA.

"I'm catching up to him,"

Bobby joked. "My mom and dad get more excited about those (academic) awards. I go for the basketball awards. The academic ones keep my mom and dad at peace."

UNCC coach Jeff Mullins said Kummer has adjusted well to his roles for the 49ers. On defense, they ask Kummer to prevent open shots. On offense, they ask him to find open shots, for himself and others.

"He's had his hands full a lot of nights (defensively) but we feel very comfortable and he does a good job," said Mullins, who played 10 years in the NBA for the Golden State Warriors. "We've asked him to play defense, rebound and make the open shot. We play him like a 'point forward.'"

"He is the spirit on the team. Everyone knows he gives it all he's got and he's also feisty enough, if a teammate isn't (giving 100 percent), he'll say something. He's also taken that intensity to the classroom, where he's great as well."

said Brodie, whose team shot 18 of 55 from the floor (32 percent). "We didn't have enough players who wanted to take charge. James forced some shots, but he was the only guy who wanted to take charge. Nobody else did."

Glenn led 17-14 after one quarter, but the Rocks pulled even at intermission, 24-24, as forward Dan McKian came off the bench to contribute two field goals, a steal and a blocked shot.

The Rockets outscored Salem 13-9 in the third period, hitting six of 12 shots from the floor to gain a 37-33 advantage.

But Head, who missed his first 10 shots and was held without a field goal over the opening 25 minutes, suddenly came alive with nine fourth-quarter points.

But it was Rucker, the intimidator inside, who proved to be the equalizer on the defensive end.

"He stood inside and didn't guard anybody," Brodie said. "He sat back there and blocked shots. He has a nice touch, too. He's a good player."

Sanj Seth added nine points for the Rocks (15-2 overall), all on threes, while senior guard Tariq Horne added 11 for Glenn.

"I thought our perimeter players — Albert, Tariq and Savon Hubbard — all played smart," Schuette said. "They didn't force the pass inside when it wasn't there."

"And Guy (Rucker) hit some nice jumpers in the first quarter. He has a soft touch. He took a couple out of his range, but he didn't get down on himself. Earlier in the year he would have held his head down."

Did somebody just say Head?

SOME DAYS COST MORE THAN OTHERS
(... like $285,000?..)

The Salvation Army is spending $285,000 EACH DAY for earthquake relief to give more than 210,000 people hot meals, personal care kits and blankets; to provide temporary shelter for nearly 7,000 people; to distribute megathousands of gallons of water... and the list is nearly endless.

Come on metro Detroit... let's pay for a couple of days of assistance for our friends in Los Angeles. What a difference a day can make!

The money you give to earthquake relief will go directly to providing disaster assistance throughout the area. Please send your gift today.
