Schools lose finance director

Randy Liepa gained respect from Wayne-Westland school board members on both sides of the political fence, and his financial expertise helped the district during troubling times. Now he is going to the Livonia school district.

Randy Liepa, whose financial expertise helped give credibility to a money-troubled Wayne-Westland school administration, is leaving the district's top finance job to accept a similar post in Livonia Public Schools.

"It's a terrible, terrible loss for our school district because he's an excellent business manager," Wayne-

Westland Superintendent Larry Thomas said Tuesday, one day after the Livonia school board hired Liepa.

"He's probably the best business manager I've ever worked with in my career. He's going to be very hard to replace."

Liepa, in his third year as Wayne-Westland's assistant superintendent for business and operations, has been the district's top finance official during some of its most uncertain times. Money problems have been persistent.

He will assume the Livonia post of assistant superintendent for business

July 1. He will replace Robert Laundroche, who will retire June 30 after serving 33 years with Livonia Public Schools.

The Livonia board reached into its own ranks to choose its new director of secondary education, J. Stephen Smith. Both appointments were unanimously approved.

The two central office members will work with Livonia Public Schools' new superintendent, Kenneth Watson Jr.

Man survives gunfight

BY DARRELL CLEM

A 32-year-old Westland man was shot seven times Saturday during an exchange of gunfire outside of a residence in the 36300 block of Booth, near Palmer between Wayne Road and Newburgh, police said.

The man received no life-threatening injuries and sought medical help on his own, police reports said. He was shot four times in the right leg and twice in the left hand, and a seventh bullet grazed his head and knocked off his cap, police said.

Conflicting stories have emerged about the gunfight that erupted shortly before 8:30 p.m. Saturday, when the wounded man and a Booth resident exchanged gunfire with shotguns, Westland Detective Sgt. Marc Stobbe said. Both reported firing in self-defense.

No other injuries were reported. Both men could face criminal charges, Stobbe said, but they had not been arraigned early this week.

The wounded man, a Second Street resident, told police that he went to the Booth residence to confront a 27-year-old man whom he believed was responsible for earlier threats made against him. Threats had been posted on plywood signs on the man's Second Street lawn, police reports said.

The wounded man told police he believed the threats stemmed from a dispute over a girlfriend. He reported that he put a 12-gauge shotgun in his van and drove to the Booth residence to scare his rival, police reports said.

When he arrived, however, the rival's 54-year-old father came out of the house with a shotgun and opened fire, wounding him seven times and also hitting his van with bullets, the man told police.

The wounded man told police that he returned fire, shooting four times at a vehicle parked in the driveway of the Booth residence, police reports said.

However, the 54-year-old Booth resident told police that the man driving the van fired first. Moreover, the Booth resident said the wounded man made threats against his wife and son, the reports said.

"Both (men) admit to firing shotguns at each other. However, neither admits to firing first, and each (man) claims they fired in self-defense," police reports said.

The Booth resident told police that he didn't know he had hit the Second Street man when he fired the shotgun, police reports said.

The case remains under investigation.

Council president accused of playing politics at meeting

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Westland City Council president Thomas Brown violated the city charter by passing his gavel to another council member who presided over a recent meeting, a council watchdog charged Tuesday.

But Brown denied allegations from Dorothy Smith that he let the council's second-in-command — president pro tem Sandra Cicirelli — conduct the Feb. 7 session to boost her visibility on Westland's government cable channel.

A legal opinion from city attorney Angelo Plakas concluded that "the president pro tem may only chair an entire meeting of the council when the council president is absent . . ." However, votes taken during the session will stand, he said Tuesday.

Smith accused Brown of trying to help Cicirelli, a Westland attorney, as she prepares to challenge 18th District Judge C. Charles Bokos in the November judicial race.

Smith also criticized Brown for changing the seating arrangement at meetings, placing Cicirelli at his immediate right. Before Brown was named president in January, former president Charles Pickering had been flanked by Plakas and city clerk Diane Fritz.

"Why did you put the president pro tem in front of the camera and put the city clerk in the boondocks?" Smith asked, adding later, "Since this is an election year for judge, I just wondered if it was a matter of exposure."

Plakas confirmed that Brown should preside over council meetings, though Cicirelli would step in during his absence.

In his own defense, Brown said he decided weeks ago to open up the presidency and let the pro tem person conduct meetings on occasion. Moreover, he said Cicirelli had put together the Feb. 7 agenda because he was out of town.

Both denied any political motivation.

"You're bringing up politics now," Brown told Smith. "There's no politics intended."

Cicirelli asserted that the actions were "not for political purposes. That's not why that was done."

She asked the city clerk to get a legal opinion on the issue. Had she been seeking the spotlight, Cicirelli said she would be council president.

"I had the opportunity to be council president. I declined that opportunity," she said.

Brown said the city attorney's opinion will be reviewed, and "we will conduct these meetings as prescribed."

But he defended his decision to change the seating arrangement. "We do have some latitude," he said.

Schools report progress with team-teaching method

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Stevenson Junior High School educators say they are seeing progress since they adopted a team approach to teaching seventh-graders.

The project puts Stevenson in the lead in the Wayne-Westland district as school officials eye teaching methods more compatible with a middle school concept.

Team teaching could become prevalent if officials follow through on a much-discussed, districtwide middle school plan, which would group students in grades six, seven and eight in the same buildings. Ninth-graders would be moved to the high schools.

Stevenson educators launched their team teaching plan last year, grouping seventh-graders into "blocks" of 30 students who had mostly the same classes at the same time, said principal Bill Camp.

This year, educators chose to group only nine students together, allowing the smaller blocks to cross paths with other blocks as they move from class to class. But Stevenson, a 1,005-student school on Palmer west of Newburgh, is expected to return to the more popular 30-student blocks next year, Camp said.

Team teaching allows classroom teachers in all disciplines to focus on the same subject at the same time, reinforcing what students learn. During recent studies of the Caribbean, students made maps to learn the area's geography, gave mock Caribbean weather forecasts in their science classes, and read books about the Caribbean in their English classes.

"We're all teaching the same thing," teacher Bob Crawford said. "It's reinforced throughout the day."

During their planning periods, teachers often meet in groups to discuss their across-the-curriculum approach to teaching. Planning is a crucial element to the project, Camp said.

"I have complete faith in these people," Camp said of Stevenson's teachers.

Team teaching also lets educators place extra emphasis on areas of the Michigan Education Assessment Program (MEAP) test in which students might be lacking, Crawford said.

Aside from the curriculum advantages, team teaching also has made it easier for teachers to focus on behavior problems of some students, said English teacher Barry Shiek.

"We can track them hourly," he said.

Shiek also pointed out that parents who contact the school with concerns about their children can meet not only with one primary teacher, but the entire teaching team.

"That's been tremendously positive," Shiek said.

Although the project has focused primarily on seventh-graders, it has been expanded somewhat to the eighth grade, Camp said. Some students recently dressed in Caribbean clothing when they studied that section.

"Everybody in the building gets involved," Camp said.

District officials haven't announced a specific timetable of moving to a middle school plan, but it would likely be at least a couple of years before the plan goes into effect.

In the meantime, however, Stevenson will continue to fine-tune the team teaching approach that would make the middle school transition easier, Camp said. Stevenson, in fact, could become a model for other Wayne-Westland schools during the transition.

Fire officials say residents should be wary of solicitors

Westland citizens "are being plagued" with telephone solicitations for cash donations by callers who are wrongfully using the name of the local fire department, said Patrick Harder, Westland's assistant chief/fire marshal.

In a press release, Harder stressed that the calls are coming from an organization known as the Michigan Association of Firefighters, which "is not affiliated with or endorsed by the Westland fire department."

Some Westland residents may perceive that they won't receive assistance during an emergency unless they make donations — which is not the case, Harder said.

"The Westland fire department does not solicit funds over the telephone for any reason," Harder said. People contacted by telephone "should simply state that they do not wish to make a contribution," he said.

If contacted in person, residents should ask to see the local fire department identification, Harder said.

"If threatened in any way, please make note of the time of day and the actual conversation," he said.

Complaints should be forwarded to the fire marshal's office, 467-3261.

City council delays vote on residential site plan

BY DARRELL CLEM

In a conciliatory move, a condominium developer has agreed to meet with Westland residents who oppose his plans to build 25 homes on the south side of Hunter, just east of Wayne Road.

Despite some resident opposition, however, developer/architect Amarjit Chawney reminded the Westland City Council on Tuesday that he has met all of the legal requirements necessary to build Westhaven Estates, a detached condominium development.

The proposal came before the council Tuesday night for a vote on the site plan, which would clear the last major hurdle to the project. A decision was postponed for two weeks.

Councilman David Cox sought the delay and asked Chawney to meet with residents to discuss concerns about increased traffic on Hunter and the use of heavy construction equipment in a neighborhood where children walk to school. Westhaven Estates would be built just west of Edison Elementary School.

"We're going to be neighbors in this area for a long time," Cox told Chawney. "I'd like to see us get off on the right foot."

City planning director Tod Kilroy noted that 25 single-family, ranch-style condominiums would be built. The smallest home would contain 1,260 square feet of space; the largest, 1,658 square feet. Prices would start at $120,000, Chawney said.

didn't want condominiums "in every available space" when she moved to her neighborhood eight years ago.

"I want real homes," she said. "I don't want abandoned buildings like Detroit's eyesores."

Aldrich said Westland has seen several developments fizzle, such as an abandoned PharMor drug-store project on Central City Parkway south of Warren.

"Let's take care of the buildings that we already have before we desecrate the rest of the city," she said.

Some council members have said Chawney's plan marks a vast improvement over an earlier-proposed townhouses development on the same site.

Smith, now principal of the Livonia Career Center, replaces Watson who will begin his duties as superintendent July 1, or sooner if current Superintendent Joseph Marinelli steps down before June 30. Marinelli's contract with the district expires then.

In Wayne-Westland, Thomas said Liepa's job will be posted both inside and outside of the district. Thomas hopes to find a successor before Liepa leaves.

Liepa, hired as Wayne-Westland's supervisor of accounting in 1987, became the top finance official after Elwood London retired. Liepa earlier had worked for Plante and Moran, a firm of certified public accountants based in Southfield.

"It has been a good experience for me here in Wayne-Westland, and I think there are some good people who work here," Liepa said Tuesday. "We've done the best we could with the money we had."

Liepa said he decided to make a career move because "these opportunities don't come up very often."

At the Livonia board's meeting, officials praised Liepa and Smith. "I'm please to have someone of his (Liepa's) caliber on our team," Watson said. "Both his education and background make him an outstanding person."

"And Smith has the ability to do what has to be done to move our district toward the 21st century. The strongest qualities he has are his vision, his willingness to express that vision, and his willingness to look at change as we move toward doing a better job."

The district has not yet replaced a second key executive who will retire June 30 — Art Howell, director of operations.

Watson called Laundroche a "difficult person to replace."

"He's played a significant role through times of intense budget problems," Watson said. "It's hard to lose good people, but people have different stages of their life and they move on. I'm happy for him."

Laundroche plans to spend the summer in Alaska.

Smith, who has served as assistant principal at both Stevenson and Churchill high schools, called his new post a "great challenge."

"We must not be afraid to try new things as we look to the year 2000," Smith said. "We can't stay in the status quo. If we do, we'll get behind. We need to better prepare our kids for the future. We need to start educating parents in terms of the changing job market."

Trustee Richard McKnight called Liepa an "expert number cruncher" who has worked closely and extensively with the 10 districts in the Metropolitan Association for Improved School Legislation (MAISL).

"He's an outstanding guy," McKnight said.

All the job changes take place when Watson becomes superintendent July 1, or sooner if Marinelli leaves sooner.

Marinelli has no definite job plans yet. "I'm exploring a number of very fine options that are available. This is the time of the year for announcements and turnover. It's a very competitive field."

In Livonia, Laundroche also has been a teacher at Bryant Junior High, assistant principal and principal at Riley Junior High, career center administrator, director of career education services, principal of the career center, director of secondary education, and assistant superintendent for business/instruction.

Smith joined the district in 1968 as a teacher at Stevenson High. Since then he also has been Stevenson's social studies chairman, assistant principal of both Churchill and Stevenson, and vocational director.

Family defends man convicted of killing child

BY JAY GROSSMAN
STAFF WRITER

It took less than 11 minutes to turn Donald Gimotty's life upside down.

But his family hopes to turn it right side up through appeals and a petition drive.

Gimotty led police on an 11-minute chase that tragically ended with the death of a 3-year-old girl.

The chase started on a warm July night after Gimotty, 30, of Westland stole six dresses from Winkelman's clothing store at 13 Mile and Woodward in Royal Oak.

Another man who was in the car, Calvin Billingslea, 44, of Detroit faces similar charges.

During his trial, Gimotty said Billingslea stole the dresses and pushed him to elude police.

Gimotty was driving his silver Ford Thunderbird when he led police through four different cities at speeds of up to 70 mph. He tried running a red light at the corner of Maple and Dequindre in Troy when he crashed into an Oldsmobile minivan.

The driver of the minivan, Lisa Ann Sarles, 35, of Warren, was left in critical condition from the crash. Her daughter, Nicole Thibideau, who was sitting in the front seat in a restraining chair, was killed.

Gimotty now faces an automatic sentence of life in prison without parole after a jury found him guilty last week of first-degree felony murder. His only previous conviction was for stealing a Walkman radio.

While his family is upset over young Nicole's death, they're also angry with the sentence. They say it's simply too harsh, especially since the whole chase began over a shoplifting incident.

"We're sticking behind him," said his sister, Jill Gimotty. "We know he deserves some punishment, but not what he got. That's ridiculous."

The family is already planning to appeal the verdict. Jill Gimotty also wants to start a statewide petition drive to place greater restrictions on police chases.

"Something has to be done," she said. "There's too many innocent people getting hurt on these

'He cries all the time and he keeps telling us that he's not a killer, that he never wanted to hurt anyone.'

chases."

Jill Gimotty shared an apartment with her brother. She describes him as a steady worker who never got into serious trouble before. "He just got involved in something that was way over his head," she said.

The family visits him on a regular basis at Oakland County Jail while he awaits the formality of his March 21 sentencing date. Jill Gimotty said her brother is still remorseful over Nicole's death.

"He cries all the time," she said, "and he keeps telling us that he's not a killer, that he never wanted to hurt anyone."

Gimotty's mother, Judy Bullock, said she's received dozens of calls from supporters who agree the sentence was too harsh.

"It's just so sad and he's so heartbroken," Bullock said. "It's not like we don't think about what the other family is going through... but I lost a son, too."

Both mother and daughter believe police should have broken off the chase when it became clear Gimotty wasn't going to stop. Several police officers from Berkeley and Madison Heights testified in court they were aware it was a pair of shoplifters they were chasing. Troy police were not involved in the chase.

Bullock also claims she was misquoted in a recent news story that described her son as a con man, but not a hardened criminal. "He's anything but a con man," she said. "And he's got dozens of friends who will testify to that."

Her goal, however, is to do more than clear her son's name. Bullock wants to see that he doesn't spend the rest of his life in prison. She thought the jury would return with a verdict of manslaughter.

Billingslea, who was a passenger in the Thunderbird, faces similar charges and is still awaiting trial.

FBI takes over bank robbery case

An unusually sharp photograph from a bank surveillance camera and a patrol officer's memory were instrumental in the Feb. 16 arrest of a suspected bank robber, Livonia police said.

U.S. Border Patrol agents arrested the man and a female companion after they were spotted driving erratically on Michigan Avenue in Detroit.

Police expect the pair to be charged in federal court with the Feb. 12 robbery at Michigan National Bank, 30055 Plymouth.

They are also prime suspects in the Feb. 15 robbery of a Comerica Bank branch on Ann Arbor Trail in Westland.

'One of our uniformed officers recognized the picture as somebody he stopped a couple of days before.'

Both cases have been turned over to the FBI.

The agent handling the investigation failed to return phone calls Monday and Tuesday.

A spokeswoman at U.S. District Court in Detroit said indictments hadn't been issued as of Tuesday.

"One of our uniformed officers recognized the picture as somebody he stopped a couple of days before," said Livonia police detective Sgt. Ken Prokes.

"He went back over (his records) and we were able to identify the guy and put out a bulletin."

Investigators believe the woman was the getaway driver in both holdups.

caped with $1,315 following the Feb. 12 holdup.

Witnesses told police the man, who implied he had a gun in his jacket pocket, appeared nervous when he entered the bank at 11:20 a.m.

A note he handed to the teller demanded $50 bills, $20s and $10s, police said.

In Westland, the suspect escaped with $1,430 after walking into the bank and handing a teller a note that was almost illegible, witnesses said.

The suspect also implied he had a gun in his jacket pocket in that robbery, police said.

Student takes seat in press box

Justin Issa is a skilled interviewer. In fact, the 12-year-old Frost Middle School seventh-grader is so good, he's been invited to sit among members of the Detroit-area media and interview Detroit Pistons players and coaches during an upcoming basketball game.

Justin and three other area youngsters won the chance to be interviewers and appear on local TV by submitting winning entries in a broadcasting contest sponsored by the Pistons and WKBD Fox TV-50. The contest was judged by members of the Detroit media.

The four youngsters will appear in a "Kid's Report" segment on the Detroit Pistons' pregame show within the next two months.

They also made their first Palace visit recently as "media members" when the Pistons hosted the Washington Bullets.

They and their families were invited to eat in the press box along with other members of the media. To do so they'll need press passes, which will be given to them by the Pistons.

The students also toured the Palace's state-of-the-art television center.

Justin said he heard the broadcasting contest advertised on the radio. For his entry, he put together a sophisticated video featuring a color monitor replay screen and an outdoor remote shot.

"I set this up in my basement and did a play-by-play for a sports network," Justin said.

The Pistons received more than 80 entries.

In naming the winners, the media judges considered the students' ability to deliver dialogue while addressing a camera and their overall interviewing skills.

County residency requirement sought

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

A Wayne County commissioner wants to force almost all the employees of the county government to live in Wayne County.

Currently, of 5,137 county employees (not including court employees), 439 live outside Wayne County.

Commissioner Bernard Parker, D-Detroit, has introduced an ordinance that says, "Each person who is hereafter hired to a position as an employee of the county of Wayne shall, maintain their principal residency within Wayne County. The chief executive officer shall place the highest priority upon implementing this policy when bargaining with each (union) of Wayne County employees."

Furthermore, Parker's ordinance gives the commission and Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara an option to waive the residency requirement "in those cases where particular skills are required which are not possessed by a county resident."

The commission has scheduled a public hearing on the ordinance for its next meeting, 10 a.m. Thursday, March 3, at 600 Randolph in Detroit. Interested people may comment on the proposed ordinance at that time. Commissioners can adopt the ordinance after the public hearing.

Commissioner Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, who also represents Plymouth and Plymouth Township, opposes the ordinance, but thinks it will be approved. "This is all just gut-level policy making at its worst," he said.

It would be nice if county employees all wanted to live in Wayne County, but they shouldn't be forced to do so, McCotter said.

Commissioner Bryan Amann, D-Wayne, who also represents Canton Township, opposes the ordinance, too. "We need to have the freedom to get the best and brightest (employees)," he said. "From the taxpayers' perspective, you want to get the best, most qualified people you can."

Commissioner Kay Beard, D-Westland, who also represents Garden City, voted for the ordinance in committee.

Commissioner Michelle Plawecki, D-DeARBORN Heights, who also represents Redford

Township and part of Livonia, opposes the ordinance. She fears that neighboring counties might also adopt residency requirements, making it more difficult for Wayne County residents to find work.

Howard Rubenstein, president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Local 101, said the union's position is that a residency requirement, if implemented, should apply to all employees.

"One of the things unions want to be about is fairness," he said. Other than that, the union doesn't support or oppose Parker's ordinance, Rubenstein said.

Parker could not be reached for comment.

Readers' questions on Prop A answered

Most of your dozens of questions on Proposal A continue to be about the homestead exemption affidavit — the simple form you must sign to make your home eligible for the 6- or 12-mill property tax instead of 24 mills.

Q. I own and occupy my own home. My daughter and son-in-law are on the deed as co-owners. Whose name and Social Security number are needed?

A. Only co-owners who occupy the home as their principal residence must sign the affidavit, the state Treasury Department says. Family members who are co-owners but don't live there should not sign.

Be careful if you own a house and are listed on a parent's house as co-owner. Sign an affidavit only for the house you occupy. You are entitled only to one homestead tax break.

Q. My children are owners of my home, but I hold a life estate. May I claim the exemption?

A. "Yes. Fill out the affidavit using your name, address, Social Security number and signature. Your children should not sign the affidavit," Treasury says.

Q. We live in a mobile home in a trailer park in South Lyon. Do we get any break?

A. You may claim an exemption on your garage and shed if they're taxable. But mobile homes in a licensed park are taxed under a different law, not the homestead property tax.

Homeowners object to SS number request

STAFF WRITER

Homeowners who object to giving the local assessor their Social Security numbers may have to prove by other means that they're eligible for the lower school property tax rate this year.

Citing fears of "Big Brother," some homeowners are refusing to give their Social Security numbers when they send city or township the affidavit entitling them to a six- or 12-mill tax rate on their domiciles.

Without some proof, they may have to pay 24 mills.

"The Michigan Department of Treasury has the legal authority to use Social Security numbers for tax purposes," according to the state treasurer's Feb. 10 advisory memo.

"Federal law prohibits the state or local governments from releasing a Social Security number to unauthorized persons. Local governments may not use Social Security numbers for any purpose other than to administer the homestead exemption."

Maximum penalty for improperly disclosing a Social Security number: five years in prison and a fine of $5,000.

Will you receive the homestead exemption if you fail or refuse to enter your Social Security number?

Treasury's answer: "The Department of Treasury may ask for further verification of your homestead exemption claim." It does not say what "further verification" might be.

All property will be taxed at 24 mills for school operations except your principal homestead. If Proposal A, a constitutional amendment, is approved March 15 by voters, the rate will be six mills; if it's rejected, 12 mills.

Deputy treasurer Madhu Anderson said the state requests the number to "preclude any person from having or claiming more than one principal residence at any time."

When you have a baby it should be a wonderfully close time for you and your family. That's why the Miracle of Life Maternity Center at St. Mary Hospital has you at the center of its visiting policy.

WHY A LOT OF BABIES SEEM LIKE DISTANT RELATIVES

Instead of asking you to conform to limited visiting times or placing barriers between family members, at St. Mary you decide who can visit and when.

All private rooms
We believe you know best when you want visitors and when you need time alone with your baby. That's why all the maternity rooms at St. Mary are private. So a family member can even stay overnight if that's what you want.

Real family care
Your baby can stay in your room even when family members are visiting. We accept your definition of family. Grandparents. Children. Aunts and uncles.

Your best friend. If you call them family, so do we. It's that simple. Our physicians even examine babies at your bedside so you and your family can watch and ask questions. So if you want real family-centered care, call St. Mary Hospital. Call 313-591-2882 for a free brochure, personal tour, or a physician referral.

County road officials expect nasty potholes this spring

Wayne County roads officials have seen the future of road conditions around here — and it isn't pretty.

Last week county road workers discovered that this winter's frost has penetrated four feet into the ground beneath paved roads, and three feet beneath unpaved roads — deeper than in recent years.

That means there's more water than usual trapped under the roads. The simple translation is this: Paved roads may be rougher this spring and gravel roads impassable.

So county road crews are already beginning preparations for the "big thaw," which may have already begun. "We are making sure that all of our yard locations are stocked to the ceiling with large-stone gravel for the unpaved roads and cold patch for the potholes," Wayne County director of roads Robert Mahoney reported in a press release.

The way it works is this: Thawing frost near the surface, unable to drain through the frozen ground below, mixes with soil to form a soft mud unable to support the weight of pavement and vehicles. This causes areas of the road to collapse and potholes to form.

On gravel roads the three feet of frost-bearing ground can become three feet of slick mud, as was experienced across much of the eastern United States last spring.

The only way motorists can avoid a bad spring is if the temperatures rise gradually, allowing moisture to be released slowly, and if there are no significant spring rains. But if the thaw is really fast, large-stone gravel will be dumped by the truckload on unpaved roads, which will later be graded, or scraped to smooth out ruts.

"If things get really bad," Mahoney said, "we may be closing unpaved roads."

Homestead form Engler attempts to extend deadline

STAFF WRITER

Homeowners are likely to see a May 1 deadline for filing a homestead exemption affidavit to get a major break on the school property taxes.

The state has taken two steps to push back the deadline from the original March 1:

■ Gov. John Engler issued an executive order extending the deadline two months effective if Proposal A is adopted by voters March 15. Engler said he lacked authority to push back the deadline under the statutory plan that takes effect if Proposal A is rejected.

■ The state Senate Tuesday approved a bill to extend the deadline under the backup plan and sent it to the House, where passage may come as early as today.

"The March 1 deadline has caused a great deal of confusion and anger — and I don't blame taxpayers for being upset," Engler said. "I've made it clear that I think our property owners should have more time to file, and I will sign a bill that extends the deadline."

Affidavit forms weren't mailed out until mid-February, giving vacationing homeowners too little time to file.

Meanwhile, freshman state Rep. Deborah Whyman, R-Canton, learned a major lesson of politics: There's no limit to what you can accomplish if you don't care who gets credit.

Whyman, a member of the House Taxation Committee, drafted the bill to extend the deadline, but it ran into problems in committee.

"I got a call from Posthumus (Sen. Dick Posthumus, GOP majority leader) asking if the Senate could use my blue back (original copy of the bill)," Whyman said. She consented. Senators then introduced her bill as their own and passed it.

Officially the sponsor will be Sen. Gil DiNello, R-Eastpointe. Among 23 co-sponsors are area Republicans Michael Bouchard of Birmingham, Robert Geake of Northville, Fred Dillingham of Fowlerville and Mat Dunaskiss of Lake Orion.

The bill also allows a homeowner to reapply for an exemption every two years instead of annually.

It requires the state treasurer to reimburse the taxpayer for overpayment if an affidavit is filed late.

The school finance reform package taxes principal homesteads at a lower rate, but homeowners must file an affidavit stating that a property is their principal residence. The affidavit must include the PIN (property identification number), co-owners' signatures and their Social Security numbers.

Refer to Senate Bill 1024 when writing to your state representative, State Capitol, Lansing 48913.

Cancer Society's lock-up fundraiser set

The American Cancer Society's ninth annual Great American Lock Up will occur Tuesday, March 1, to Friday, March 4, at 14 "jail" sites throughout the Detroit area.

Here's how it's done. For a fee of $25, anyone 18 years of age or older may have someone "arrested" by calling (800) 543-5245.

The "prisoners" will be told to telephone everyone they know and convince them to donate money to the society. In that way the "prisoners" may raise their "bail."

Q. I rent a room to a boarder. May I still claim an exemption?
A. Yes, but only the portion of your home you live in, not on the portion you rent out. On the affidavit, find section 3, and enter the percentage of your home that you occupy and explain with a note on the form.

Q. My home and an additional lot are on the same deed and mortgage. But the lot has a separate PIN (property identification number) on the tax bill. Can the vacant lot qualify for an exemption?

A. Yes, you may claim an exemption for the lot if it's adjacent and contiguous to your home, according to Treasury. If it's across the road, the lot is still contiguous.

Q. Is the state really going to change the March 1 deadline for filing for the lower homestead tax rate?

A. A Senate bill is being prepared to extend the deadline to May 1. A lawmaker tells us: "May 1 is the consensus date." Nothing's certain, but this Lansing watcher would bet yes.

Q. I am having a new home built in 1994 which I will be moving into later in 1994. May I file an affidavit on my new home?

A. That continues to bother readers. We get two answers:

Rep. Willis Bullard, R-Milford, co-chair of the House Taxation Committee, wants to pro-rate the exemption. If you're in the home a half-year, you'd get half the tax break.
Treasury's answer: "No. The property was not being occupied as a principal residence on tax day, Dec. 31, 1993. However, the 1994 assessment will not be based on the value of a completed home since a completed home did not exist on the tax day. You may claim an exemption for the home for 1995 taxes after you occupy the home as your principal residence."

Q. Your paper is offering a fax-mail service to homeowners who didn't get a homestead affidavit from their local assessor. People should know they can get these free from the assessor's office.

A. You're right. Our service is designed for those who can't get to city or township hall during office hours or who are elsewhere in the country. Our $4.95 price beats a plane trip home.

If you still need a homestead exemption form, call toll-free 1-800-967-5904 from anywhere in the U.S. Have your Visa or Mastercard charge card ready. Ask for item 0301. Specify whether you want delivery by fax (complete phone number, please), mail (complete address with ZIP code) or Federal Express (for an additional $20).

Q. I'm in the process of buying a house from a relocation firm. Who files for the exemption?

A. Only the owner-occupant may file for the exemption.

Q. My home in Bloomfield Township has been for sale for a year. I live in my second home. My CPA tells me not to change my voting address in order to qualify for a federal capital gains tax break.

A. This reporter is neither a CPA nor an attorney and isn't licensed to give such detailed advice. Treasury's answer is short and sweet: "You must claim the exemption for the home you occupy as your principal residence." Treasury does not check your affidavit against your voter registration. It checks only to make sure you're claiming only a single homestead.

This newspaper will try to answer in print all questions of general interest. By touchtone, call (313) 953-2047 ext. 1881. One question per call, please.

"Because some taxpayers may inadvertently make errors on their affidavits or improperly claim more than one homestead exemption, we ask for a Social Security number to verify that the property is properly claimed," she said, citing three sections of the Social Security Act.

Here's how it works: If a local unit raises a question about whether you are seeking more than one exemption, Treasury uses your Social Security number to run a computer check to see if you've filed more than once.

your principal homestead. A second home is ineligible for the lower rate.

"If the Department of Treasury denies your homestead exemption, you may file an appeal with the Michigan Tax Tribunal," the Treasury bulletin says.

The exemption applies only to County plans to take over DNR's regulation function

STAFF WRITER

In an effort to speed the process of everything from road building to redevelopment of property, the Wayne County government is trying to take over many of the key oversight responsibilities of the state Department of Natural Resources.

"We have major problems with the DNR now, as I suspect everybody does," said deputy county executive Michael Duggan. "Ultimately, what we'd like to do is be free of the DNR bureaucracy."

Specifically, Duggan objects to the DNR's performance regarding permit applications, which must be submitted whenever building activity occurs near water or requires soil to be moved.

Some developers, Duggan said, have waited more than two years for the DNR to act on a permit application. Wayne County won't take as long, he said. "The answer may be no, but we promise them a prompt answer."

So far, thanks to a Clean Air Act bill passed in Lansing last year, Wayne County has the responsibility to administer air pollution laws that the DNR handles everywhere else in Michigan. All air pollution emission fees in Wayne County are now paid to the county instead of the DNR.

County officials hope to get authorization this year to add ground contamination and wetlands to its list of responsibilities.

'We have major problems with the DNR now, as I suspect everybody does. Ultimately, what we'd like to do is be free of the DNR bureaucracy.'

Michael Duggan
Deputy county executive

The county commission voted last Thursday to establish "The Wayne County Department of the Environment," to be administered by Executive Edward McNamara. A commission committee to oversee the new department's activities was also created.

Commissioner Michelle Plawecki, D-Dearborn Heights, who also represents Redford Township and part of Livonia, is chairwoman of the committee. Commissioner Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, who also represents Plymouth and Plymouth Township, is the vice chairman.

Plawecki said last week that she will run an activist committee. "We're going to actively go after companies and industries we can trace who have contaminated the soil," she said.

The committee will hold public hearing throughout the county beginning in less than two months to hear complaints about pollution and pollution regulations, Plawecki said.

Duggan said the environment department will be built from portions of existing county departments, including health and public works. The new department will probably be headed by James Murray, who currently is the public works director. No new employees will be hired, Duggan said.

The environment department is almost universally supported on the county commission.

Commission Vice Chairwoman Kay Beard, D-Westland, is among the supporters, but she attempted Thursday to block the vote establishing the new department.

Because McNamara didn't submit an executive department re-organization plan to the commission after he was re-elected in 1990, as Beard believes the county charter requires him to do, commissioners would "make ourselves look foolish" by authorizing the new department, Beard said.

The commission would be amending a re-organization plan that doesn't exist, Beard said.

Several other commissioners argued that a ballot proposal approved by voters in 1992 requiring the county executive to submit a re-organization plan to the commission every four years makes Beard's point moot.

Award recognizes teacher's enthusiasm

Diane Duncan is surprised that she was nominated for the Wayne-Westland school district's "Teacher of the Year" award because many of her colleagues have more experience. Duncan teaches language arts at Lincoln Elementary School.

BY LEONARD POGER
EDITOR

Diane Duncan, Lincoln Elementary School teacher in the Wayne-Westland district, doesn't hold the typical teacher's resume.

While she did receive her bachelor's degree at 22, she found out a month after graduation that she was pregnant with the first of her two children.

She stayed home with her son and daughter before entering the work world in 1979 as a Wayne-Westland Family YMCA preschool gymnastics instructor. In 1982, she served as a teacher's aide at the Red Bell Nursery School Westland. Three years later, she was a substitute teacher in the Wayne-Westland district as well as at St. Mary Catholic School, Wayne.

Duncan, now 42, began teaching full time at Hicks Elementary before transferring to Lincoln, Elliott and back to Lincoln.

Because of her dedication and enthusiasm in the classroom, Duncan is the school district's nominee for the "Teacher of the Year" recognition program sponsored by Newsweek/WDIV-TV.

Duncan's "teaching style is diverse and offers her students variety and opportunities for learning," said co-worker Janice Tomlinson, a Lincoln School resource room teacher. The nomination was initiated by Marian Greer, Lincoln principal.

Duncan uses music, art, movement, drama and extensive cooperative learning experiences, said

Tomlinson in her nomination.

Over the past two years, as Lincoln's special education students re-entered conventional classrooms, Duncan "rose to the challenge. She is progressive in her attitude toward inclusion (of disabled students in the conventional classroom), is flexible in her program adjustment, and makes it possible for all of her students to learn and be successful," Tomlinson said.

Duncan is also a risk taker and an innovator, she said.

The nominee is active in pursuing opportunities for incentive and esteem-building projects.

For example, Duncan co-wrote a 10-week goal-oriented incentive program in which 98 percent of students involved were successful.

During the current school year, Duncan and her students took part in "Creative Connections," an inter-generational mentoring project.

A language arts teacher in a two-person team-teaching arrangement, Duncan found time from her work and family to enter graduate school and earn a master's degree in reading in 1992.

Duncan said she was surprised at being nominated for the annual recognition award, especially since many others have more experience.

Working mainly with students from the Norwayne neighborhood, which has a high concentration of low-income families, many pupils are "considered to be high-risk academically," Tomlinson said.

But Duncan daily provides a "safe, challenging environment for teaching and learning," she said.

What has been her family's reaction?

Her husband, William, is a little "embarrassed," being concerned mainly with accompanying her to a televised recognition dinner to be held in early May.

Duncan's daughter, Katy, a John Glenn High School sophomore, "doesn't know what to make of it." A son, Neil, attends Michigan Technological University in the Upper Peninsula where he is a freshman.

Typically, her family is very supportive of her career, she said.

Duncan said she has no regrets in staying home with her children shortly after earning her degree.

"It was a good thing," she recalled, "in that I gave my children a good foundation. I'm not sorry I stayed home."

Duncan said she wanted to be a teacher when she was a youngster.

The only regrets are the days when "I take home papers to grade and stay up until midnight, but I love it," referring to her profession.

So. How do I get my kid home from the doctor's office?

That's how kids feel about Oakwood Canton Health Center's new pediatric suite. Designed especially for kids, it sports bright, cheerful colors, Disney characters and kid-sized furniture. And there are lots of games, toys, and books to make the doctor's office feel more like home.

We took care to make sure moms felt better, too. With highly qualified pediatricians on staff.

So your kids will not only receive the best of care, but will benefit from the state-of-the-art equipment and technology we have right on hand. And there's one final worry moms can say goodbye to.

Scheduling appointments for last minute emergencies. With Immediate Needs Hours, you can bring your kids in between 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. for that fever or runny nose. All we need is a phone call to let us know you're coming in.

These are just some of the many comforts you'll discover waiting for you at Canton's pediatric center. Now, don't you feel better already?

False spring fools nature

TIMOTHY NOWICKI

Spring officially starts in just a few weeks but last week our weather was spring-like. In combination with longer daylight periods some thought spring was here.

Animals and plants are aware of these changes too. The lengthening daylight period begins to stimulate changes in the body that initiate changes in behavior. Migration and courtship begin. But animals must wait for the right condition before mating begins.

Warm periods, like the one we experienced last week, may cause birds and plants to act like it's spring. Redwinged blackbirds may come north and establish nesting territories. Buds on trees may begin to swell.

Spring may be recognized as a period of regrowth, but it can be one of the hardest times for plants and animals. Warm conditions at about the right time can cause behaviors that turn out to be premature. If a bird migrates north too early, it could encounter a severe storm that would put the animal in jeopardy.

Many migratory birds are insect eaters. Not many insects are available early in spring. They could get trapped here because of ice and snow and not be able to find food.

Trees may open their buds too early because of the warm weather and force flowering too early. If freezing temperatures occur during blooming, the flower dies and no fruit will form. Since fruits are what make more trees, the chance to replace dead or dying trees has been lost.

Food supply for winter residents also is at its lowest point. If there has been a hard winter and spring temperatures are late in arriving, there may not be enough food to last until new food supplies occur.

On the other hand, if a bird arrives early and can find food and a nesting territory, it may be able to raise more young than those birds who do not arrive early. If a tree blooms early and leaves come out early, because of the warm temperature, it will set seed early and have leaves to produce food for a longer period. Producing more food for storage will help the tree to survive during periods of stress.

Behavior of plants and animals

Decision time: Warm conditions can cause behaviors that turn out to be premature. If a bird migrates north too early, it could encounter a severe storm that would put it in jeopardy.

is adapted for the average conditions of the area. They can tolerate some of the extremes, but sometimes they can get caught short. Getting caught short for some animals means death.

Firm makes loans available to individuals with troubled credit

There are many reasons why millions of Americans fall victim to credit problems every year. From maxing out credit cards to more sobering causes including loss of employment, family growth, medical emergencies and poor training in personal and household financial management.

Fortunately, there is now a local company making consolidation and new purchase loans available to people in these situations. We asked Bill Cunningham, Vice President of Security Home Loan...

Who is eligible for one of these loans?

We will work with individuals who have equity in their homes and have had debt problems of one type or another.

How does the loan work?

We take people who are living from paycheck to paycheck and consolidate all of their obligations into one lower payment. In fact, the average person will save from 30 to 40 percent a month with a consolidation of this type.

How can someone apply for one of these loans?

At Security, we pre-approve people over the phone at no charge. At that time, we also give the person an idea of how much money we can save them.

Call Bill Cunningham at Security Home Loan (810) 669-4334 if you are interested in having a payment analysis done.

Beating the blahs A winter festival would be fun

Westland — Michigan's winter wonderland?

That could be the theme of a community-based winter week of fun, similar to the summer Fourth of July activities.

City councilwoman Sharon Scott recently raised the idea of a winter festival, politely commenting that this season is dull for local residents.

Scott may be on to something. While the city doesn't have the centralized downtown that Plymouth and Wayne have for their festivals, Westland does have a lot of other facilities that can be used.

Among the major physical improvements which could be used for a winter festival are the Central City Park and its Friendship Lake, already used for ice fishing. But the large, open expenses could provide excellent cross country skiing with the tennis courts flooded over for ice skating.

The nearby Bailey Recreation Center could be also be used for inside winter-theme activities, such as a holiday dance or dinner under the sponsorship of local civic groups. A short distance away, the Westland Sports Arena could be used for a hockey tournament or figure skating exhibition.

A short drive away, the Wayne-Westland Family YMCA is always looking for ways to generate more use of its excellent facilities, such as an indoor swimming pool and the nearby child care center where Santa Claus listens to children's gift requests.

On a commercial level, Westland Center can be tied in to special winter-season events or activities for people who want to stay inside.

While Westland has no major hotel/motel base like Plymouth, any winter festival can be geared to making sure people just have fun without spending a lot of money.

Hopefully, the administration and city council will convene a committee this spring or summer to develop plans for some type of winter festival.

School district will miss Liepa

The Wayne-Westland school district will miss Randy Liepa, who was named Monday as the new business manager for the nearby Livonia Public Schools.

Besides his professional expertise, Liepa added substantial credibility to the district, after several years of problems when the school administration's financial projections weren't believed by the community.

Liepa always handled the financial and political juggling of school finance with honesty and directness.

He joined the school district's business office nearly seven years ago as supervisor of accounting and was promoted to department head 2½ years ago.

The board of education is sorry to see him go, as well the district of some 16,000 students and thousands of local taxpayers who benefited from his expert and clear analysis of various state school financing reform proposals.

Marketing ploy a useful tool

When someone advises you to "call New York," it's usually a sarcastic reference that you're incapable of handling things yourself.

Well, some Oakland County folks did call New York — actually, The Wall Street Journal — recently. But, in so doing, they lead us to believe that they're handling things just fine.

Oakland County will be the subject of a 12-page advertising supplement in the Journal. Stories and pictures will tell and show how good it is to live and do business in Oakland County.

The supplement makes Oakland County look good. A similar effort could do the same for Wayne County, we believe.

Oakland County is the fifth wealthiest in United States, according to one estimate, and is certainly "the epicenter of business in Michigan" in the words of Ken Rogers, the economic development director for county government who helped secure the deal with the Journal.

The supplement will appear tomorrow, Friday, Feb. 25, in Wall Street Journals that are sold in 15 Midwestern states.

If Rogers and Oakland County Executive L. Brooks Patterson are smiling over this deal, it could be because all the positive publicity about their turf apparently didn't cost the county one single tax dollar.

The Wall Street Journal wrote the stories, took the photographs and sold the advertisements that appear in the supplement.

That's fine with us. Oakland County is blowing its horn on somebody else's battery juice. But the important thing is that the horn gets tooted and the county's story gets told to some very important Midwestern readers who are concerned with business.

■ The supplement makes Oakland County look good. A similar effort could do the same for Wayne County, we believe.

And, if it works in Oakland County, why not try it in Wayne County, too? After all, western Wayne County is certainly no slouch when it comes to providing good places to work and do business.

When Ed McNamara was mayor of Livonia, we remember, the city administration engaged in a lot of one-on-one promotion, advertising and recruiting.

Such efforts haven't been very noticeable for a long while south of Eight Mile and west of Telegraph. It's time to revive them, and something like this Wall Street Journal supplement would be a good way to do it.

"We think it (the Journal supplement) is an opportunity for everyone to explore," said Oakland County's Rogers.

Rogers said he thinks the Oakland supplement will recur next year and the year after and so on.

"It's a demonstration of government not settling for the status quo," he said. "We need to find new ways to talk to the people we want to do business with. We're trying to do new things, getting off with the old and on with the new."

Flower power

Vote 'yes' March 15

Democrats who argue in favor of a 6-percent state income tax are being penny wise and dollar foolish. A higher state income tax would be devastating to poor and low-income people in Michigan.

Why? Because a higher income tax is a tax on jobs! Poor people need jobs more than rich people. The income tax is a "jobs tax." If you tax something, you get less of it. Fewer jobs in Michigan is the last thing that poor and low-income people need. The jobs tax is the cruelest tax of all!

By creating a "normalized" tax structure in Michigan — you encourage existing business and industry to stay and you attract new industries. There is already talk of re-opening General Motors' closed Willow Run plant.

The sales tax is a tax on "conspicuous consumption." Rich people who buy lots of new cars and luxury items will pay most of this tax. Poor people are mostly exempt from this tax because food, rent and medicine are not taxed. To say otherwise is pure policy wonk nonsense!

Vote yes on March 15. Don't tax poor and low-income people out of their jobs. Instead raise the "conspicuous consumption" tax on your doctor's new Mercedes and your dentist's new Porsche. Don't worry — they'll still be able to afford it.

Walter Warren, Westland

Support legal challenge

There is a third choice! Proposal "A" and the "Blackmail" backup statutory plan do not represent a choice between the sales tax and the income tax, nor the Democratic plan versus the Republican plan. They represent the actions of an arrogant and deceitful government who, having lost fairly several elections in the past, is now trying to force you to accept a massive tax increase and the loss of your constitutional right to tax limitation and tax fairness.

The uniformity clause in the constitution is destroyed by Proposal "A" and seriously violated by the statutory plan. This includes both the uniformity of property assessments and property tax millages levied. The door will be wide open for tax discrimination!

Both proposals immediately discriminate against business people, renters and other people foolish enough to have invested in Michigan. Under Proposal "A," they will pay four times the property tax of single-family owners, twice as much under the "Blackmail" plan.

Both proposals also nullify the property tax limitations of Article 9, Section 6 of the Michigan Constitution. A state education authority is created for the sole purpose of levying property taxes which will be exempt from these limitations. Local school boards may vote to become authorities, thus exempting their taxes from these limitations. The stated property tax limits in these proposals of 6 or 12 mills on homesteads and 24 mills on non homesteads are sinking fund millages. Many property owners will pay more property taxes than they currently do!

To add insult to injury, Proposal "A" takes away your right to vote on future school tax increases and grants this right to the legislature!

The proposed sales tax or income tax increases are less than 18 percent of this total school spending program, which has been increased by $1.2 billion. Obviously, many other taxes are increased, such as land transfer taxes, single business taxes, cigarette and tobacco taxes and telephone taxes.

All of this is supposedly being done for education and school finance reform, neither of which is accomplished by either proposal! The funds behind each student will still be unequal and the little education reform involved pushes us further down the path of outcome-based education and school intervention in student privacy and parental rights. The funds raised by these proposals are not earmarked for kindergarten through 12th-grade education. They may be used for higher education and school employee retirement costs, the proportion of which will be determined by the legislature.

You do not have to choose the lesser of these two evils! Defeat Proposal "A" at the ballot and support Taxpayers United in mounting a legal challenge to the unconstitutional and illegal statutory plan. Then support the simple constitutional 20-percent property tax reduction contained in Senate Bill 667.

James M. Brennan, Clarkston

Ask the host

They trudged thru snow yet no one fell. Someone had spread NaCl. All thanked their pastor, Eggebean. The nicest priest you've ever seen. This small attempt to override that Lansing ban on suicide. No pulpit used. No minaret. Livonia's church is ringing yet.

Jeff's oration shook the walls. A thousand souls had packed St. Paul's. Dr. Death, then set the tone for all, except, Ruth Pettibone.

Who tried to give old Jack some strife with shouts, and screams of "Fight For Life." She got escorted through the door outside of which she shouted more.

Jack had support from Janet Good. The hemlock group knew he would. This was in church. You shouldn't laugh at clapping hand, and autograph.

Did Jeff, or Jack, impress the most? You'll have to ask the talk show/host.

Job talk becomes a political constant

Get a job" is more than just a popular song by the Silhouettes from the late 1950s. It's the politically correct thing to talk about. "Jobs, jobs, jobs," Jim Blanchard would sing out back when he was governor.

His replacement, John Engler, crooned in his state of the state address this year that not only were good paying jobs important, but unemployment was lower than the national average for the first time in 23 years.

Wednesday, U.S. Rep. Bob Carr added his voice to the chorus by declaring himself a candidate for the U.S. Senate, saying the issue was to grow the economy in order to promote — you guessed it — jobs.

Making it a quartet is the Detroit job summit now in the planning stages.

But it seems that always has been a tune for the times. Those of us attending the University of Detroit back in the '60s studied medicine or marriage, as sometimes still happened at that time. But basically we were there to get jobs, and when the university president declared that we were an urban school with a mission to the community and to ourselves personally, we figured he was just tooting his horn.

SANDRA ARMBRUSTER

■ Sometimes, when I have the moody blues, I remember those days and what I later learned from those in and out of my career. From a professor: Stay flexible. From Roger B. Smith, a Bloomfield Hills resident and former chairman of General Motors who spoke to our Observer & Eccentric editors group: If you don't like the job you're doing, switch.

I switched to journalism while in college and found not only a way to earn a living but a way of living.

However, my college career hit a high note while on the job as an editor with the Varsity News at U-D. It's about this time each year that I remember when in 1968 Martin Luther King Jr. came to speak at the original Grosse Pointe High School.

My job that cold night, as we crossed the picket line of right-winger Donald Lobsinger, was to photograph King as he spoke before a packed auditorium. A writer by training, it would be the first time my photos would be published.

I did my job and got the pictures, but I often wonder how much richer I would have been had I been able to listen to his words.

Sometimes, when I have the moody blues, I remember those days and what I later learned from those in and out of my career. From a professor: Stay flexible. From Roger B. Smith, a Bloomfield Hills resident and former chairman of General Motors who spoke to our Observer & Eccentric editors group: If you don't like the job you're doing, switch.

Some years after college graduation, I met one of the editors I had worked with on the Varsity News during the great Detroit daily newspaper strike the year that King died. While daily reporters walked the streets that year, we published a special edition. I met that former editor at a suburban art show. He said that he now traveled the country — making jewelry.

That's why I'm concerned about a political refrain that is fast becoming public policy — whether we like it or not. There are spin doctors out there who tout training high school students for jobs.

While it's one thing to provide them with work skills, it's quite another thing to train them for one specific job. High school students may still be exploring their interests, and the job market is in a continual state of flux, now that high school grads are no longer guaranteed slots in the auto industry.

Which brings me to my final point. We certainly don't want our youth coasting through life without a job. But politicians talking about jobs are a lot like country music: They'll always go on whining.

Some get to live out chance for a 'dream team' job

Michael Jordan isn't my favorite basketball player. He certainly wouldn't bump Magic Johnson or Dr. J off my personal dream team.

But this spring, he is my favorite baseball player.

Jordan, the most celebrated athlete to ever arch a jump shot, is trying out for the Chicago White Sox. I say more power to him.

There's been a fair amount of grousing, from fans, sports commentators and some of his would-be teammates about the appropriateness of all this.

"He's not a real baseball player," they moan.

They're right, of course. Even though he can run faster and leap higher than almost all the other men in the White Sox training camp, even though his physical stamina and competitive instincts would leave them in the dust, Michael Jordan hasn't spent most of his adult life as a professional baseball player.

He's only dreamed of being one. In that aspect, he, I and several generations of American men are brothers under the skin.

Baseball was the first sport I wanted to play — ballplayer the first job I wanted to hold — and there are at least a dozen 30-, 40- and 50-something guys in my workplace, and yours, who can make that same claim.

My own baseball dreams died early. Even as a 12-year-old, I realized that my beloved New York Mets had no room for a player who ran as if his legs were sinking in sand and who fielded batted balls warily as if they were hand grenades.

But my few heroic moments — those fly balls that cleared backyard fences, those curveballs that sent other batters down to defeat with a frustrated whoosh — still burn brightly.

Few kids today share such moments. Today, they play basketball, or soccer, or Nintendo.

Today, baseball is a troubled sport. Maybe even a dying one. If Jordan's presence on the ballfield ignites the interest of young American boys and girls, that would be great.

For me, it's providing a good, solid, vicarious thrill. It's better than any imagined trip down an Olympic luge run; much better than living out the rest of my life as Donald Trump. Or Bruce Springsteen.

Just think of this. Michael Jordan, a basketball megastar recognizable from Chicago to Calcutta, left it all behind for an infinitesimal chance to be the last man on the Chicago White Sox bench.

Or is it all a stunt? I don't know.

I do know that if the Mets, the Tigers or the Toledo Mud Hens called, and if they invited me down to spring training, and if they let me get even one time at bat, I'd dig right in, swinging with all the strength I could muster; simultaneously praying to dear God the ball wouldn't plunk me smack in the head.

If I struck out — when I struck out — and if they asked me right there to hand back my bat, my shiny batting helmet and my uniform with the big numbers of the back, I'd not only do it but I'd also walk over to shake the hand of the man who asked me down there in the first place. I'd go home a winner, as proud of my one strikeout as Babe Ruth was of any of his 714 home runs.

That's the appeal of this ancient, pastoral game.

Maybe you understand. Maybe you don't.

But I believe Michael Jordan understands.

State coffers are losing bet on funding through wagers

Gambling may be going the way of smoking: down. Both horse race wagering and the State Lottery are losing customers and yielding shrinking revenue for state and local governments.

Why? You hear lots of reasons: the economy, competition from other states' lotteries, simulcasting of races in Windsor.

I would like to think people are getting smart. Economists say it's healthy when people try to achieve wealth by savings and investment; bad when they try to hit a jackpot with one wager.

Lawmakers look folks square in the eye and talk taxes instead of preying on gamblers. Horse racing is regulated by the Michigan Department of Agriculture. In the old days, horses were considered a farm industry deserving of promotion, the way apples, cherries and beans are promoted today.

Clearly, horse racing's heyday is past. Ladbroke DRC in Livonia set its attendance record Memorial Day 1952; Northville Downs, May 15, 1950; Hazel Park, Memorial Day 1965.

From the tax standpoint, Michigan's record horse racing year was $28.9 million in 1975. Since then, state taxes have slipped more or less steadily to the $21 million mark, according to the racing commissioner's annual report.

Michigan has been trying desperately to raise the take by expanding the racing season from 590 days in 1975 to more than 900 days currently — even as wagering and attendance have slipped.

It was silly, in my opinion, to expand racing dates because the horse supply is down — 17,000 in 1991 compared to 19,000 in 1984, according to the Senate Fiscal Agency.

Fewer horses and more races mean poorer quality. A decade ago, I went to Northville Downs on a Wednesday night. The first five or six races were "maidens" — horses who never had won a race. Handicapping (rating) horses of such poor quality is impossible — like predicting the weather without satellite maps or looking out the window at the sky. Any bet is a sucker bet. I haven't been back. Obviously, other ex-fans agree.

The Michigan Lottery is having a similar experience. A decade ago, ticket sales were less than $600 million a year. They topped in 1988 and have been slipping since then.

Lottery Commissioner Jerry Crandall notes

TIM RICHARD

■ Economists say it's healthy when people try to achieve wealth by savings and investment; bad when they try to hit a jackpot with one wager. Lawmakers look folks square in the eye and talk taxes instead of preying on gamblers.

that Michigan pays out only 45 cents of each $1 bet. State taxes eat the lion's share. The retailer gets a fee.

Clearly, lottery players are making a wager with poor payoff odds.

Crandall thinks taxes should be cut. He thinks legislators blundered when they exempted lottery winners from the Freedom of Information Act. Newspapers used to give the lottery a lot of free publicity when they published feature stories on local winners. No more.

Crandall also thinks lottery fans become distrustful when Lansing doesn't (can't) tell them winners' names. Folks suspect bureaucrats are hiding the money.

Some lottery players believe fervently that certain numbers have "luck," as if luck were a measurable quality like radiation or calories. That's raw superstition, unscientific and anti-religious. The chances that any digit will come up are always one in 10. Ask your pastor. Ask your kid's math teacher.

If gambling casinos ever come to Michigan, I bet they go broke.

Special Olympic games planned

The Wayne County Special Olympics Basketball Tournament will take place Saturday at Hilbert Junior High.

The tourney, an annual event co-sponsored by the Redford Jaycees, will begin at 8:15 a.m. in the school on Puritan west of Beech Daly between Five and Six Mile roads.

The tournament will include teams from Redford, Livonia, Westland, Dearborn, and Downriver communities. More than 250 athletes and coaches are expected to attend.

The tournament at Hilbert will serve as a warm-up for upcoming district tournaments. In addition to the many basketball games, athletes will compete in skill contests. Interested individuals who would like to support these athletes are encouraged to attend. There is no admittance charge for any of the day's events.

Special Olympics is a program of physical fitness, sports training, and athletic competition which helps individuals gain confidence and build a positive self-image.

The Redford Jaycees set up the site, and provide basketballs, a free lunch to the athletes and coaches, manpower, trophies, patches, and programs.

Water fowl benefit from free lunch

By KEVIN BROWN STAFF WRITER

Lured by food from folks who flock to visit them, geese and duck populations have surged on the west end of Newburgh Lake in Hines Park.

Birds that normally migrate as far south as Tennessee have chosen to make this section of the lake their year-round home.

But the glut of birds isn't causing any particular problems, say authorities.

A county sheriff's department corporal, who declined to be named, said sheriff's deputies' only concern is that geese and other birds slow up traffic when they waddle across Hines Drive in search of food.

And of people who stop, "We don't mind them feeding birds as long as they don't litter up the joint," he said.

The corporal gestured toward plastic bags strewn about the area, containers that once held bread or other feed left for the birds.

While he was observing the scene from a blue and gold sheriff's department patrol pickup truck, a woman and her two young children pulled alongside the road in their van, carrying loaves of bread to feed the birds. When the sheriff's department corporal

'We don't mind them feeding birds as long as they don't litter up the joint.'

a county sheriff's corporal asks to talk to her, Sally Aninos of Plymouth says, "I know you weren't supposed to feed them in Livonia."

"You can feed them there," the corporal responds, adding that this section of Newburgh Lake is in Plymouth Township — and you can feed them here too.

He asks her not to leave the plastic wrappers holding the bread. "We always take them," she said.

Aninos said she and daughter Nicole, 6, and son Paul, 2, started feeding the birds last fall. "We usually feed them five days a week before she goes to school," Aninos said.

Even before unwrapping the bread, dozens of geese and ducks begin approaching them in anticipation of food.

"Once in a while, the kids get their fingers nipped," Aninos said. On this morning, the birds don't get that close, as they wait a few feet away before spearing pieces of bread tossed on the muddy ground.

"See the one with the broken wing? We always have to make sure we get him something because she's always worried about him," Aninos said.

Tim Payne, district wildlife biologist for the state Department of Natural Resources, said: "We're very strongly against feeding Canada geese or ducks for that matter."

"We discourage that because usually they're not getting a good diet."

Canada geese naturally graze on grass in the summer and eat corn and other grains in the winter — and wetland vegetation year-round. They're even known to eat apples, Payne said.

The DNR does relocate young birds when enough lakefront owners ask. But Payne said the county government has not asked the DNR to look into the rising geese and duck population in Hines Park.

Payne said geese and ducks have enough insulation to survive a severe cold snap like the one in January, adding they need open water and food.

He suggested that people who have in effect made pets out of the birds by feeding them in summer should continue to feed them in winter.

Hospital focuses on dieting in nutrition clinic

Participants will learn about key elements in a successful weight-loss program during a St. Mary Hospital nutrition clinic, "Why Diets Don't Work," 7-8 p.m. Tuesday, March 15.

The clinic will be in the auditorium on the lower level of the hospital at Five Mile and Levan in Livonia.

Taught by a registered dietitian, nutrition clinics help participants understand and apply good dietary habits. Participants will receive a booklet with the latest information, recipes, and practical ways of implementing good eating habits.

The charge for the clinic is $8 per person or $12 per couple. CareLink members receive a 10 percent discount. Advance registration is encouraged as seating is limited. To register, call St. Mary Hospital Food Nutrition Services at 591-2983.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
CITY OF GARDEN CITY
March 7, 1994

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Mayor and Council of Garden City will hold a Public Hearing on March 7, 1994, at 7:00 p.m., in the Council Chambers, at the Civic Center, 6000 Middlebelt Road, Garden City, Michigan on the following ordinance known as the Business License Ordinance.

PROPOSED ORDINANCE
AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTIONS 110.02, 110.05, SUBSECTION (C) OF SECTION 110.06, SECTION 110.07, SUBSECTION (A) OF SECTION 110.11, AND SECTION 110.13 OF CHAPTER 110, TITLE XI OF THE CODE OF THE CITY OF GARDEN CITY.

THE CITY OF GARDEN CITY HEREBY ORDAINS:

THAT SECTIONS 110.02, 110.05, SUBSECTION (C) OF SECTION 110.06, SECTION 110.07, SUBSECTION (A) OF SECTION 110.11, AND SECTION 110.13 OF CHAPTER 110, TITLE XI OF THE CODE OF THE CITY OF GARDEN CITY BE AMENDED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

Section 110.02 - DEFINITIONS - "BUSINESS" Includes all kinds of vocations, occupations, professions, enterprises, establishments and all other kinds of activities and matters any of which are conducted for private profit or benefit, either directly or indirectly, physically located within the city, together with all devices, machines, vehicles, and apparatuses used therein.

Section 110.05 - QUALIFICATIONS OF APPLICANTS General standards to be applied. The general standards herein set out relative to the qualifications of every applicant for a City license shall be considered and applied by the City License Officer. In making such determination, the City License Officer shall consider:

A. HISTORY/RELEVANT FACTS

- (1) Any criminal convictions, the reasons therefor, and the demeanor of the applicant subsequent to his release;
- (2) The license history of the applicant, whether such person, in previously operating in this or another state, has ever had a license revoked or suspended, the reasons therefor, and the demeanor of the applicant subsequent to such action;
- (3) Such other facts relevant to the general personal history of the applicant as he shall find necessary to a fair determination of the eligibility of the applicant.

B. NON-DEFAULT
The applicant shall not be in default under the provisions of this chapter or indebted or obligated in any manner to the City except for current taxes.

C. BUILDING/ZONING COMPLIANCE
Compliance with building and zoning regulations. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation, to hereafter occupy or re-occupy or for any owner or agent to permit the occupation or re-occupation of any building or addition thereto, for commercial and industrial purposes, until a Certificate of Occupancy has been issued by the Office of the Building and Protective Inspection. The Certificate of Occupancy shall state that the occupancy complied with all the provisions of the within chapter, as amended, and all other applicable codes and ordinances of the City. This section shall not apply to any occupancy in existence at the time of the adoption of this section.

Subsection (C) of Section 110.06. RENEWAL LICENSE PROCEDURE
The applicant for the renewal of a license shall submit an application for such license to the City License Officer. Any inspections subsequent to the initial licensing shall be in accordance with the ordinances, policies and procedures of the fire, health and police departments. The application shall:

- (1) Be a written statement upon forms provided by the City License Officer; such form shall include an affidavit to be sworn to by the applicant before a notary public of this state;
- (2) Require the disclosure of such information concerning the applicant's demeanor and the conduct and operation of the applicant's business during the preceding licensing period as is reasonably necessary to the determination by the license officer of the applicant's eligibility for a renewal license.

Section 110.07 DETERMINATION OF LICENSE FEE/REBATE License fees shall be in the amounts established in Section 110.12. No rebate or refund of any license fee or part thereof shall be made by reason of the non-use of such license, or by reason of a change of location or business rendering the use of such license ineffective.

Subsection (A) of Section 110.11 ENFORCEMENT

A. INSPECTIONS

- (1) PERSONS AUTHORIZED The following persons are authorized to conduct inspections in the manner prescribed herein:
 - (a) The City Health Officer, Fire Chief, Police Chief, and Building Inspector having duties to perform with reference to such licenses or businesses shall be in accordance with the ordinances, policies, and procedures of their respective departments;
 - (b) All police officers shall inspect and examine businesses located within their respective jurisdictions or beats to enforce compliance with this Chapter.
- (2) AUTHORITY OF INSPECTORS All persons authorized herein to inspect licenses and businesses shall have the authority to enter, with or without search warrant, at all reasonable times, the following premises:
 - (a) Those for which a license is required;
 - (b) Those for which a license was issued and which, at the time of inspection, are operating under such license;
 - (c) Those for which the license has been revoked or suspended.
- (3) REPORTS BY INSPECTORS Persons inspecting licenses, their businesses, or premises as herein authorized shall report all violations of this Chapter or other laws or ordinances to the License Officer and shall submit such other reports as the License Officer shall order.

Section 110.12 REQUIRED LICENSES, BONDS, FEE SCHEDULE

A. All business, trades, occupations or activities requiring licenses under this chapter shall pay the sum of Sixty ($60.00) Dollars as an original license fee, which fee shall cover the period from the date of issuance of the license until June 30th of the year obtained, plus an additional year ending on June 30th.

B. Renewal fees shall be Twenty-Five ($25.00) Dollars per year. Any further increase after an initial two (2) year period shall be limited to the increase in the rate of inflation as determined by the consumer price index.

C. Business, trades, occupations or activities requiring a license and/or insurance and bonds shall annually submit proof of the following insurances and/or bonds:

- Bond - Used auto parts - $500.00
- Bond - Foreign Corporation Building Contractors - $1,000.00
- Bond - Christmas Tree Lots - $350.00
- Insurance - Taxicabs
 - P.L. - one person - $300,000.00
 - P.L. - one accident - $500,000.00
 - P.D. - one accident - $100,000.00

D. Businesses existing as the date hereof shall be obligated to pay the renewal fee of $25.00 for 1993 and 1994 and each year thereafter until the renewal fee is amended pursuant to subsection (B) of this section.

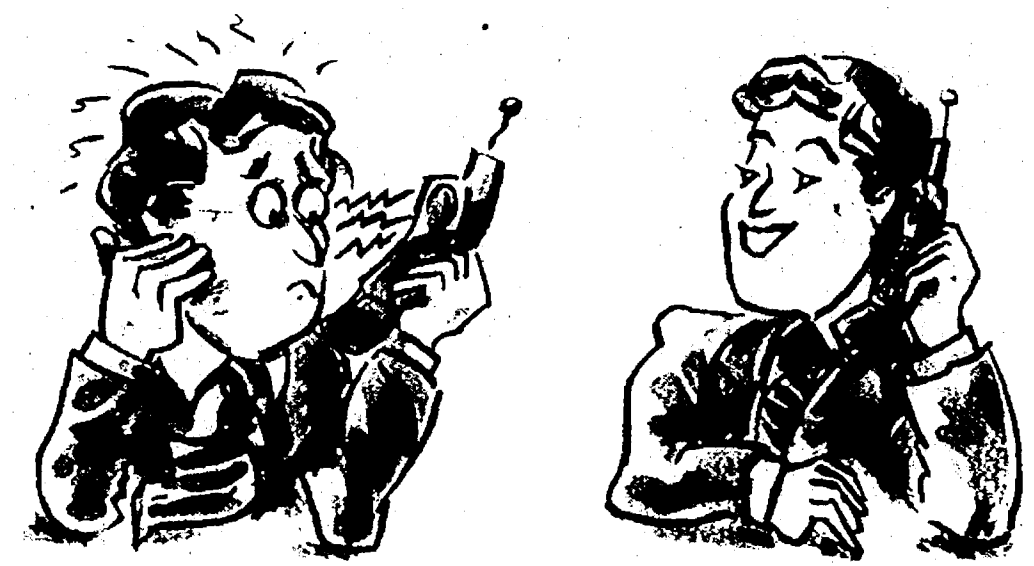

E. Trial/renewal fee for address change of same business license - $5.00.

F. No fees may be waived except by Council resolution for non-profit enterprises or corporations.

Amateur boxing show

Twelve amateur bouts, featuring fighters from London and Windsor, Ontario, Lansing and metro Detroit, will begin at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Livonia Boxing Club. The gym is located off Middlebelt, just north of Plymouth Road (just south of McDonald's). Doors open at 6:30 p.m. Admission is $5. Representing the Livonia Boxing Club will be newcomers Sean Phelps (132 pounds) and Adam Lewis (95). Golden Gloves contestant John Hart (165) of Livonia will compete along with Garden City's Scott Mattson (156). The LBC's Jeff Cairns (147) is also scheduled to appear. "We really have some quality amateurs coming from Ontario and it should be a good show," LBC Director Paul Soucy. "We will also be hosting the Golden Gloves semifinals in early April. We'll have more information when it becomes available." For more information, call 525-1387.

District hockey champs

The Livonia Knights recently defeated Berkeley-Pepsi, 3-2, to advance to the state Pee Wee A championships (March 10-13 in Jackson). Members of the Knights, coached by Jim Devlin, include Sean Devlin, Eric Strzempek, Justin Charnock, Bryant Osikowicz, Jeremiah White, Lance Antrobus, Brandon Davis, John May, David Moss, Michael Zientarski, Shawn McGowan, Tom Close, Tim Alien, Kevin Richards, Jeff LaBelle and Daniel Huizar. Assistant coaches include Greg Strzempek and Brian Devlin. The team manager is Sandy May. The Knights are sponsored by McGowan Sports, Sheraton Oaks and Metro EMS.

Brighton team pins Spartans

Livonia Stevenson's state tournament aspirations fell short Wednesday when Brighton came away with a team dual meet triumph in the Class A regional wrestling semifinals at Ann Arbor Huron High School.

The road to Battle Creek for the Livonia Stevenson wrestling team met a dead end Wednesday night at Ann Arbor Huron.

The Spartans suffered their first defeat of the season against Brighton, 34-24, in the Class A regional team dual semifinals.

Brighton, ranked No. 4 in the state, won the meet's first six matches to build a commanding 25-0 advantage.

The Bulldogs then scored a pivotal victory when sophomore Larz Olsen won a close 6-4 overtime decision over Stevenson junior Chris Mullett in the 152-pound match. L.B. Beurman wrapped it up for Brighton at 160 when he pinned Matt Fisher.

With the victory in hand and a spot against Northville in the finals, Brighton voided the final three matches.

"I'm very happy," Brighton coach Ted Buckless said. "I thought we would be tough in the lighter weight classes, and if we could be competitive upstairs, we would be in good shape. Stevenson is a nice team. They gave us all we wanted."

Stevenson coach Don Berg was forced to alter his lineup when Chris Jaztremski couldn't make weight at 135.

Jaztremski won at 140 and teammate Scott Goldman followed with a win at 145, but Mullett, wrestling up, fell in overtime.

"Chris wrestled a great match," Berg said. "The kids wrestled hard and that's all I could ask for."

"Brighton qualified eight of 13 for the (individual) regionals. We saw them last Saturday and we knew it would be a tough road to hoe. It would have been a miracle upset. They had too much of a lead and they didn't really give us an opportunity to come back."

The future, however, looks bright for Stevenson, a team loaded entirely with underclassmen.

"It's been a nice road and it will be interesting next year," Berg said.

Season ends

Ford ousts Lady Ocelots, 69-49

It was one game and out for the Schoolcraft College women's basketball team in the Michigan Community College Athletic Association tournament.

On Monday, host Henry Ford CC used a strong second half to subdue the Lady Ocelots, 69-49.

A 19-2 run to open the second-half sent Schoolcraft (11-11 overall) reeling. The Lady Ocelots made six turnovers, missed three field goals and made only two free throws during their first 10 possessions after trailing by only three at intermission, 28-25.

"For the first time this season I went hard after my team at half-time," Henry Ford first-year coach Dan Henry said. "We've been playing hard all season long, but for some reason that was missing in the first half."

"We had a big win Saturday over Flint Mott and maybe they had come off that game 'high-fiving' themselves. The second half we came out and played. I knew eventually they'd play their tails off."

Bev Marquette, a 5-foot-9 sophomore, scored a game-high 26 points to pace a balanced attack for the victorious Hawks (20-6 overall). Speedy guard Kathy Corchis added 12 points, seven assists and five steals. Leslie Swick and Melissa Toth each contributed 10 points, while Erica DeSenz added nine.

Shelly Sockow (Plymouth Salem) scored nine points for the Lady Ocelots, who committed a total of 30 turnovers.

On Saturday, the Lady Ocelots took the lead with 12 minutes to play and never looked back in besting the host Alpena CC Lady 'Jacks, 73-69.

The win allowed SC to finish its regular Eastern Conference season at 6-8. Alpena ended up 2-12.

Angie Cerne paced the Ocelots with 16 points. She finished the regular season by reaching double figures in every SC conference game. Cerne averaged 15.8 per game, shooting a spectacular 91 percent from the free throw line.

"She's kind of our anchor," said SC coach Jack Grenan. "We all know we'll get 15 to 20 points from her."

Cerne will represent the Eastern Conference in the MCAA All-Star game Saturday at Kalamazoo Valley.

Cindy Muha added 13 points,

11 coming in the second half, while Shelly Sockow — who scored 86 points in the last five regular-season games — netted 10.

Julie Klos and Tricia Kazyaka scored eight apiece, while center Alisa Wechter snared 11 rebounds.

MADONNA 72, SIENA HEIGHTS (WOMEN) 68: Mary Bienewicz (Farmington Hills Mercy) and Stephanie Creley each scored 14 points Monday, leading the Lady Crusaders to victory.

Madonna ended the regular season at 13-13 overall. Rachel Emery and Tracy Prybylski (Livonia Ladywood) added 11 and nine points, respectively.

Vikki Koenig had a team-high five assists, while Creley and Prybylski each added four. Koenig and Creley grabbed eight and seven rebounds, respectively.

Melissa Foster scored 14 points for Siena Heights, now 10-19 overall.

Victory, however, escaped Madonna on Saturday, but not by much. And the opponent was no slouch — Aquinas College, which edged the Lady Crusaders 64-61 at Madonna, is ranked 20th in the NAIA. The win improved the Saints' record to 19-8.

The Crusaders kept it close throughout, trailing 30-26 at the half. They had a shot at tying the game in the final seconds, too, but Tracy Prybylski's three-point attempt bounced out.

Jill Burt closed out her homecourt career for Madonna by scoring 23 points. Koenig turned in another strong performance, netting 16 points, grabbing 11 rebounds and making four steals. Prybylski dished out six assists.

Aquinas got 21 points from Nikki Tuttle, 12 points and nine assists from Kim Zydrel and 11 points and five assists from Ronna Russell.

Jennifer Marcum, who led the winners with 32 points, connecting on 10-of-11 from the floor, both three-point tries and 10-of-11 free throws. Joyce Hensley added 10 points.

Madonna countered Marcum's assault with Jill Burt, the team's only senior, who scored 18; Vikki Koenig and Meegan Marlett, with 12 apiece; and Stephanie Creley, with 10. Koenig also nabbed 10 rebounds.

Madonna can't keep pace down in Kentucky, 84-67

For the first half anyway, Madonna University's women's basketball team gave a more experienced (four seniors), more talented Brescia College a battle.

But the Lady Crusaders couldn't keep pace in the first round of their NAIA regional playoff contest in Owensboro, Ky., and ended up dropping an 84-67 decision Wednesday.

Madonna finishes its season at 12-13. Brescia improves to 20-9 and advances to play rival Georgetown (Ky.) College Saturday at Georgetown. The two teams split during the season.

The Crusaders kept pace with Brescia throughout the first half and trailed by just one, 32-31, at the intermission. But Brescia was able to open the game up in the second half behind 6-foot senior swing per-

Warriors topple C'ville; Patriots fall to 6th seed

Lutheran High Westland held off a furious fourth-quarter rally by Livonia Clarenceville to gain a 62-59 Metro Conference boys basketball win Tuesday.

Senior guard Andy Manthei paced a balanced Warriors' scoring attack with 17 points.

Lutheran Westland withstood a 29-18 Clarenceville scoring run in the final period to gain the win.

Junior forward Jon Smolka added 14 points, while junior guard Chris Tiernan contributed 10 points and five assists for the Warriors, now 8-9 overall and 7-5 in the conference.

Senior forward Mark Kalaj scored a game-high 30 points and grabbed 16 rebounds for the Trojans (8-9, 5-7). Kalaj also had eight steals.

Junior center Mark Berry chipped in with 10 points and 11 rebounds, while John Kalaj, still slowed by an ankle injury, had 10 rebounds and seven steals.

Trailing 31-20 at intermission, Clarenceville picked up with tempo with a full-court press. The Trojans made 10 of 12 shots from the field, but shot only 19 of 51 (37.2 percent) for the game.

Both teams shot accurately from the free-throw line.

Lutheran Westland was 21 of 26 (80.7 percent), while Clarenceville hit 19 of 21 (90.4 percent).

CANTON 68, FRANKLIN 59: On Tuesday, host Plymouth Canton clinched the third-place seed in the upcoming Western Lakes Activities Association playoffs behind Matt Paupore's game-high 18 points.

Canton is 11-6 overall and 7-4 in the WLA, while Livonia Franklin, the No. 6 seed, falls to 10-7 and 6-5.

Both teams will meet again Friday at Canton in the first round of the playoffs.

Ron Hunter contributed 17 points for the victorious Chiefs.

Mark Baluk and Greg Maple each scored 14 for Franklin, while Jason Maschke added 12. Paul Kruschka had nine.

Maschke and Baluk snared 13 and 10 rebounds, respectively.

"The whole game was relaxed," Franklin coach Larry Jackson said. "We never got into a rhythm. They took us out of what we wanted to do. We didn't shoot, or play very well."

STEVENSON 75, LAKELAND 66: Senior center Brett Ferris pumped 23 points, leading a balanced attack as Livonia Stevenson (5-12 overall) earned a nonleague win at Milford Lakeland (4-12 overall).

Three other Stevenson seniors netted double figures including Chris Chichila (14), Steve Jacobs (12) and Kevin Szczembara (10).

Tom Hartley tallied a game-high 24 points for the Eagles, who were outscored 23-14 in the third period.

FRANKLIN 69, NOVI 55: Senior Greg Maple had a season-high 24 points, leading Livonia Franklin to the nonleague win Monday against the host Wildcats (7-10).

Three other Franklin players scored in double figures: Mark Baluk (14), Jason Maschke (13) and Clem Herrera (10).

The Patriots also got a lift from Mike Aubuchon, who filled in for the injured Paul Kruschka (ankle injury).

Greg Perman scored a team-high 19 for Novi.

SFIELD CHRISTIAN 62, HURON VALLEY 49: Kurt Ruppenthal scored 15 of his game-high 26 points in the opening period, leading host Southfield Christian (8-10, 8-2) to the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference win over Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (0-17, 0-11).

Ruppenthal connected on five 3-pointers.

Jason Batkouski scored 15 points for the Hawks, who couldn't overcome a 28-10 first-quarter deficit.

Tigers maul Wayne

BY NEAL ZIPSER
STAFF WRITER

After Tuesday, it's hard to believe the Wayne Memorial boys basketball team would want to face Belleville a third time.

But it's true. The state-ranked Tigers embarrassed Wayne, 74-47, and the Zebras must look ahead to the possibility of meeting their arch-enemies next month at the Romulus district.

Belleville won the first game against Wayne, 57-53, on Jan. 24.

"If they beat us, it will be three times in a row and they say it's hard to beat a team three times in one season," Wayne coach Chuck Henry said. "But I think you can say that Belleville has established itself as the team to beat."

Belleville, 16-2 overall, also has established itself as the Mega Conference Red Division champion, with an 11-0 record and still two games remaining. The Zebras slipped to 13-5 overall and 9-3 in the division.

"I don't look forward to seeing Wayne again," Belleville coach Mike Garland said. "Chuck is a great coach and I'm always uneasy when we play them. It will be a tough district — a dogfight."

This wasn't the typical hard-fought battle between both teams. Each Belleville player who dressed scored, and garbage time arrived midway through the third quarter.

BASKETBALL

The Tigers have allowed only one team, Detroit Pershing, to score 60 points on them this season.

"It's never been this easy, but we've been playing very well," Belleville senior guard Michael Foley said. "We're playing well as a team. We're very unselfish, and our defense is playing sort of miraculously."

Henry agreed the credit goes to Belleville, which was coming off blowouts of Monroe and Detroit Cooley. Garland said the Tigers' four-point victory over Garden City on Feb. 8 was a wake-up call.

"They don't do anything fancy," Henry said. "They did a nice job on offense and we were miserable, probably to their credit. They have all the ingredients to do well. They have athletes and they are pretty deep."

Wayne entered the game on a six-game winning streak and playing its best ball of the season, according to Henry. After shooting a dismal 30 percent from the floor (19-of-63) and committing 22 turnovers, Henry struggled to find any positives.

"I thought we were playing well coming in, but I knew this game would be tough," Henry said. "It's almost March and it's 'put up or shut up' time. The only bright spot was Lorenzo Guess, who has been playing well all year."

Guess was the only Zebra in double figures, scoring 15 points and collecting 13 rebounds.

"I didn't expect this," Guess said. "We just didn't have our heads in the game. We just weren't ready."

Belleville took control with 2:23 remaining in the first quarter. After a Courtney Howard free throw for Wayne tied the game at 11, the Tigers went on a 19-2 run to finish the first half.

The run began with two Scott Chatfield free throws. After the first shot, a disgruntled Garland called timeout.

"I just wanted them to shut up and start playing basketball," Garland said.

From there it didn't get much better for the Zebras. The Tigers made 11 of 15 shots in the third quarter and built a 56-29 lead heading into the final quarter.

Foley, a senior guard, scored 13 of his 15 points in the quarter. Chatfield and Christopher Cannon added 13 and 12 points, respectively, for the Tigers.

The Tigers shot 50 percent from the floor (28-of-56) and held a 36-32 rebounding advantage.

"This game meant a lot to us," Foley said. "We haven't won a conference outright in awhile and we want to keep the undefeated season (in the league) going."

The kids were playing well — very well," he insisted. "It came down to them shooting free throws and us shooting none. I don't think it was a well-officiated game, but the kids played tough."

Certainly, free throws decided the game. SC was 10-of-16 (65 percent) from the line; Alpena was 21-of-31 (69 percent).

In the second half, the Lumberjacks were 16-of-24 to SC's 3-of-6.

The Ocelots' inside game, centered around Todd McNeil, wasn't as effective. McNeil, who leads the Eastern Conference in scoring, managed just 15 points and eight rebounds.

"We missed a lot of shots from the 7-to-10 foot range," said Bogataj.

Three-point shooting helped offset the inside misses: SC converted eight (a season-high) in 13 attempts. Mike Pichan led the Ocelots with 17 points. Dan Nunery had nine and Dan Pertulla eight.

Alpena got 18 points from Travis Smith, 14 from Omar Nicholson, 12 from both Andrew McClellan and Richard Jenkins, and 11 from Mono McDonald.

SC finishes its season at 8-18 overall, 2-14 in the conference. Alpena ends up at 7-19 overall, 3-13 in the conference.

AQUINAS 102, MADONNA (MEN) 76: The final game of a trying first season for the Fighting Crusaders (2-28 overall) is Saturday at Spring Arbor.

Last Saturday, host Aquinas' field goal percentage wasn't outstanding (38-of-82, 46.3 percent), but the Saints got to the line enough (23-of-30, 76.7 percent) to earn a victory.

The victorious Saints, however, enjoyed a staggering 60-33 rebounding advantage.

Coach Bill Sharpe cited there was more to Madonna's loss than a lack of rebounding. (No Madonna player had more than five boards.)

"Everything comes off the defense," he conceded. "But if you shoot 38 percent (Madonna: 31-of-80 from the floor) you're going to lose. We dig holes for ourselves, and when we dig holes, we don't get out."

The hole the Crusaders dug against the Saints, who improved to 8-18, was 54-39 at the half. They never got closer than 12 in the second half.

Dan Dombrows' 15 points was best for Madonna. Mike Stone and Eric Furlotte each added.

Aquinas got 27 points and 16 rebounds from Steve Van Vliet, 25 points from Nate Niewiek and 14 points from Derek Donnelly.

Daly double leads CC to semifinal win

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Redford Catholic Central senior center Joe Daly said he tries to avoid taking outside shots unless he's at the free throw line.

The 6-foot-6 Daly followed the game plan Wednesday, scoring a career-high 25 points to lead CC to a 61-40 win over Dearborn Divine Child in a Catholic League boys basketball semifinal playoff game at Schoolcraft College.

Daly made nine of 12 shots in the paint, 7 of 8 free throws and also led the Shamrocks with 11 rebounds.

With DC's tallest starter being a guard, 6-5 junior Dan Geoghegan, it figured there would be a Daly Double: double figures in points and rebounds for Daly.

"All of the guys told me before the game they'd look to me because of the mismatches," Daly said. "They didn't have a whole lot of height and we had to get the ball in the post."

CC, 13-4 overall, advances to the Catholic League title game for the first time since winning the championship in 1989. The winner of tonight's Redford Bishop Borgess and Detroit St. Martin DePorres game will meet CC for the championship at 4 p.m. Sunday at the University of Detroit-Mercy's Calihan Hall.

For CC coach Bernie Holowicki, these Daly performances have become the norm.

"Joey is a nondescript player but he can shoot and has good touch around the basket," Holowicki said. "We ran a couple things for Joey and luckily it panned out."

Another key to the victory was CC's defense against Geoghegan, one of the state's top juniors. Geoghegan led DC with 24 points but made only 7-22 shots from the floor.

The rest of the Falcons shot a combined 3-24.

Geoghegan had 11 points on 4-10 shooting in the first half but CC still managed a 31-17 halftime lead.

The Shamrocks led 43-30 after three quarters and scored the first 10 points of the fourth quarter to gain their biggest lead, 53-30.

CC guards Andy Kummer,

Andy Slankster and Justin Hoener took turns guarding Geoghegan. The three finished with a combined 10 fouls, but the attention was worthwhile.

"He's one heck of a player," Holowicki said. "I told the team before the game we had to keep him in his limit and hold the rest of the team down."

"Every game, Dan is double teamed like that," DC coach Joe Charney said. "They did a good job on him. Usually, the other guys look to score but today, they weren't."

CC made 23-53 shots from the floor (43 percent) and had a 39-32 rebounding advantage.

Junior forward Mike Ridley scored nine of his 10 before halftime and grabbed eight rebounds. Kummer had eight points and seven rebounds, Slankster had seven points and six rebounds and Anthony Hesano scored six.

"We're limited in that we don't have a bona fide star but they work hard," Holowicki said. "We're playing a lot of kids and ball hawking full court."

Schoolcraft men bow out 8-18 overall

Any unhappiness Schoolcraft College men's basketball coach Dave Bogataj harbored after Saturday's 76-72 defeat at Alpena CC had little to do with his team's performance.

"The kids were playing well — very well," he insisted. "It came down to them shooting free throws and us shooting none. I don't think it was a well-officiated game, but the kids played tough."

Certainly, free throws decided the game. SC was 10-of-16 (65 percent) from the line; Alpena was 21-of-31 (69 percent).

Alpena got 18 points from Travis Smith, 14 from Omar Nicholson, 12 from both Andrew McClellan and Richard Jenkins, and 11 from Mono McDonald.

SC finishes its season at 8-18 overall, 2-14 in the conference. Alpena ends up at 7-19 overall, 3-13 in the conference.

Chargers rebound

Livonia Churchill rallied for four unanswered goals in the final period Tuesday to earn a 7-4 Suburban High School Hockey League win over host Bloomfield Hills Andover in a game played at the Detroit Skating Club.

The victory improves the Chargers to 12-6-1 overall and 10-2 in the SHSHL. Churchill is two points behind league leader Livonia Stevenson (11-2).

Churchill goal scorers included Dave Higham, Jason Kiehler, Justin Young, Chris Kiehler, Dan McNutt, Dan Higham and Jason Samelko.

McNutt's third-period power-play goal from Young and Chris Kiehler proved to be the game-winner.

Steve Grom, Dan Higham

and Jason Kiehler each finished with two assists.

J.P. Grondin paced Andover (7-6 SHSHL) with a pair of goals, while Jarred Starr contributed a goal and one assist. Ryan Tracht had the other goal for the Barons, now 9-9 overall.

FRANKLIN S. HARTLAND 4: Matt Harrigan scored twice and added one assist Saturday, lifting Livonia Franklin (12-7-1 overall) to its eighth consecutive victory against the host Eagles in a nonleague Grand Oaks Arena.

Joe O'Connell collected one goal and two assists for the victorious Patriots, who overcame a 4-1 deficit with five unanswered goals in the final period.

Dave Proctor, Ed Kruschka and Chris Mason each added a goal and one assist. Dominic Catanzarite collected two assists, while Brad Dicks had the other.

Goalender Pete Stassevich, who relieved starter Brendon Frazier, came on to hold Hartland to one goal.

Stevenson qualifies 6 for regional

By DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

Chris Jaztremski was just trying to keep pace with the Joneses (his teammates on the Livonia Stevenson wrestling team) Saturday.

That can be as challenging as the competition since so many of the Spartans are doing well in the big post-season meets.

Stevenson produced three district champions and six regional qualifiers in the Class A individual district tournament at Walled Lake Western.

Jaztremski (135), Ben Lewis (171) and Craig Martin (189) finished first at their weights, Scott Goldman (140) and Chris Mullett (145) placed second and heavyweight Dave Ross was fourth.

Other Livonia wrestlers advancing to the regional Saturday at South Lyon were Churchill's Josh Banks (119) and Franklin's Jesse Shakarian (171). Both placed third.

"All the captains are placing, and I just want to keep up with them," Jaztremski said. "I'm peaking at the right time, not too early in the season."

He was seeded third but beat No. 2 Willie Daniels (Pinckney) in the semifinals 11-5 and whipped Farmington Harrison's Marc Lesperance 14-1 in the finals.

Lesperance was injured and hadn't wrestled for several weeks. That made him somewhat of a surprise finalist, but Jaztremski dominated his opponent and the match.

"He's a pretty built kid," Jaztremski said. "Everybody told me not to lock up because he's so big. But, hey, I'm not too small, either. So I locked up and took what he gave me."

"I think, after I put him on his back the first time, he lost gas and didn't wrestle like I expected he would."

Martin, who went to state last year, improved to 34-0 while pinning all three opponents, including Novi's Ben Wendt at 1:49 in the final. Martin faced Wendt once before and pinned him in the third period.

"Whenever you see someone a second and third time, you know what's coming at you," Martin said. "He almost took me down. He didn't get the points, but he had a nice fireman on me."

Martin finished the day with nine consecutive pins and tried to extend that streak Wednesday against Brighton in the team dual regional. The school record is 11.

"It's always a goal just to win it, but it's a bonus when you go through and pin everyone," Martin said. "The thing with this district is I've already wrestled everyone. I think that made it a little easier. I knew what to expect."

Martin, who was second in the district and regional last year, is more experienced and confident this year.

"Last year I was only a sophomore, and I was seeing a lot of seniors and juniors," he said. "I have more of an edge this year because I'm the junior, and, with that, I'm hoping to do a little better."

Top-seeded Lewis scored early and stayed in front against South Lyon's Jeff Archey, winning 9-5 in the final, but his toughest bout was a rematch with No. 4 Shakarian in the semis.

It was the third-straight Saturday they wrestled, although the last two occurred in the finals of the Observerland and Western Lakes Activities Association tournaments.

All of their meetings have been decided by a point, and Lewis won this one 2-1 when he escaped with two seconds left in the second overtime.

"It's always tough; we know what to expect from each other," Lewis said. "After wrestling Shakarian, that was a good warm-up for (the final). That got me pumped up."

"I expected to see him in the finals. We were all surprised (that Shakarian was fourth). They messed up the seedings. He should have been second, because I beat the Pinckney kid (No. 2 Chris Lavin) 11-3 and Jesse beat me."

Goldman and Mullett wrestled the same opponents as in the WAAA finals a week earlier and had to settle for second again. Both are going to the regional a second time.

Farmington's Mike Prough managed an 11-4 decision over Goldman despite hurting his right shoulder early in the match. No. 3 Goldman pinned No. 2 Steve Richardson of South Lyon 26 seconds into their semifinal bout before facing No. 1 Prough.

"I was going upper body with (Prough) and just slipped on my throws," Goldman said. "My major goal is just to get to state. Nothing else matters but next week. Two matches and I go to state."

Mullett had a 3-1 lead over Walled Lake Central's Frank Lovio after two periods, but Lovio got an escape and two takedowns in the finale to win 6-4. Lovio was seeded first and Mullett second.

"I'd like to have another shot at Lovio," Mullett said. "I have to move a little more on my feet and work on escaping, because he rode me pretty well. I'd like to pull it off in the end. I've been coming up short a couple weeks in a row."

Ross was disappointed but also encouraged by his results. He lost 3-2 in the consolation final to South Lyon's Jason Firby when he was given a penalty point for locking hands with a second left in the second overtime.

"It was an important match because I'm going to see the No. 1 seed from the Bedford regional instead of the second," Ross said. "I'm disappointed but I'm going to come back Saturday."

That match could have gone the other way and the same is true of a 3-2 loss to Brighton's Scott Niles, the heavyweight champ.

"Everyone of those heavyweights is beatable," Ross said. "It doesn't really mean anything. I'm still going to the regional and I'll come back next week."

Blazers top PSL foe

Livonia Ladywood improved to 34-5 overall with a 15-11, 15-2 volleyball win Monday over Detroit Cass Tech in the Operation-Friendship title match at Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher.

Anne Poglits, a 6-foot-4 junior, was the Blazers' top hitter with 17 kills, including eight from the back row, against the public school league champs.

Erin LeSage added three kills, while Stacey Judd and Lyndi Paling each contributed two.

Setter Renae Rozell had 21 assists.

Deborah Sobczak was Ladywood's top server with three aces.

VOLLEYBALL

Other standouts for the Patriots included Lenay Truchan, 17 digs; Sarah Brady, .929 serve reception and seven digs; Melissa Wolvin, six digs and two aces; and Sonja Hlushchenko, nine assists and three aces.

Lutheran Westland wins

Sophomore Katie Ollinger registered 22 assists, while Dena Purdy added 13 Tuesday, sparking Lutheran High Westland to a 15-11, 16-14 nonleague win at Flat Rock.

The victory increases the Warriors' overall record to 18-11-2.

Also contributing to the victory for Lutheran Westland: Emily Schroeder, two kills (100 percent serving and attacking); Jenny Pruchnik, five solo blocks and two kills; Erin Cicero, three kills and four blocks; Sarah Drew, two aces to end the match.

Lutheran Westland wraps up its Metro Conference season tonight at home against first-place Livonia Clarenceville.

Other prep matches

Livonia Stevenson pulled off a 15-11, 15-6, 8-15, 16-18, 15-0 upset win Monday at home over Farmington Harrison.

In another WLAA match Monday, host Plymouth Salem remained unbeaten in the Western Lakes with a 15-10, 15-7, 10-15, 15-7 win over Livonia Churchill.

Glenn wins in 3

Senior middle hitter Lynn Little recorded 20 kills Monday, while senior outside hitter Christi Wrybkowski made good on 60 of 61 sets, leading Westland John Glenn to a 15-11, 15-12, 15-10 win at Northville.

Glenn is now 18-8 overall and 6-4 in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Defensive standouts for the Rockets included Heidi Socia (24 digs), Marianne Candela (20) and Jamie Cook (19).

Yasemin Ahmed (five aces) was Glenn's top server.

Franklin whips Western

Junior Jaclyn Deane had 13 kills and 11 digs Monday, powering Livonia Franklin to a 15-4, 15-9, 15-12 WLAA over visiting Walled Lake Western.

Franklin is 20-9-5 overall and 5-5 in the WLAA.

Sellers, Underwood champs

Lutheran High Westland heavyweight Brian Sellers scored a 1-0 decision over Brian Gribbin of Harper Woods Lutheran East to claim a Class C-D individual district wrestling title Saturday.

Sellers, a junior, is one of three Warriors to advance out of the Lutheran East district.

Mike Faith (125 pounds) added a third place and Joe Kemp (189) took fourth, advancing to Saturday's individual regional at Goodrich.

Lutheran Westland was missing three standouts at the individual meet due to injuries.

Brian Horvath (112), a Metro Conference champ, could not make the trip.

Also out was Steve Faith, who dislocated an elbow in his first match at the Metro tourney (Feb. 12 at East), along with Jason Braggalla, who cracked a sternum in practice.

Glenn's Underwood 1st

Westland John Glenn's Anthony Underwood captured first place in the Class A individual district Saturday at Temperance Bedford.

Underwood took the 119-pound title with an 8-1 decision over Derek Greene of Wyandotte Roosevelt.

Glenn's Brian Kolb (160) and Mike Henry (130) also qualified for this Saturday's individual regional at South.

Kolb lost in the finals to Greg DeGrand of Saline, 14-3.

Lally makes return in Boston

Brett Lally says his next fight, scheduled for Tuesday, March 15, in Boston, Mass., is "sort of like a do or die situation."

Lally, a Westland native who turned 31 last month, will meet 22-year-old Dana Rosenblatt in a 10-round super middleweight bout that will be shown live on USA Cable.

Rosenblatt, ranked 12th by the North American Boxing Federation in the middleweight division, is 18-0 with 15 knockouts. Lally, once ranked as high as No. 2 in the junior middleweight division by the World Boxing Council, has lost three of his last five fights.

Lally, 31-9 overall and currently ranked 16th by the WBC, fought twice in 1993. He lost to

BOXING

Vinny Paziienza on a six-round, TKO last March and lost on a fourth-round TKO to Otis Grant in an NABF title fight in August.

Lally suggested a name change for his opponent, Rosenblatt, who was 10-years old when Lally became a professional.

"As my dad would say, his name is Dana 'Rosensplat,'" said Lally, making fun of his opponent's name.

Lally, nicknamed the "Irish Hawk," said he's a natural for a fight scheduled two days before St. Patrick's Day in Boston.

"Oh, yeah, my New Year's Eve," he said.

Cast does a good job in 'Guys and Dolls'

THEATER REVIEW

VICTORIA DIAZ

With its opening and closing numbers, the Plymouth Theatre Guild production of "Guys and Dolls" gets off to a flying start and finishes up with a big bang. In between, though, it's an odd mishmash of ingredients that is sometimes delightful, sometimes disappointing.

With music and lyrics by Frank Loesser, "Guys and Dolls" is, as you'll remember, a story about a zany group of Runyonesque card sharks, horse players, etc. who hang around the sidewalks of New York, and eventually meet up with a group (also zany) from a Salvation Army mission. Romance plays a large part, of course. After all, this is musical comedy.

Adam Carey is the suave Sky Masterson, who eventually wins the hand of the Salvation Army's Sister Sarah Brown (played here rather inconsistently by Lisa Brandow). Carey has a pleasant voice and a distinctly appealing way with a song. In the acting department, he does a good job, too (although one sometimes wishes his Sky were a bit more "shady" and a little less sweet).

The irrepressible Ivory McKay plays Nicely-Nicely Johnson, one of the most lovable crooks you'll ever encounter. When McKay is onstage, his sense of fun is of epidemic proportions. His appearances seem to literally energize this cast and, consequently, the audience benefits, of course. His big number, "Sit Down,

ON STAGE

"Guys and Dolls"

★Theater: Plymouth Theatre Guild at the Water Tower Theatre on the campus of Northville Regional Hospital, west of I-275 between Haggerty and Northville Roads.

★Curtain time: 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays, Feb. 25-26, March 4-5, March 11-12; 6 p.m. Sunday, March 6. Performance on March 11 will have a sign language interpreter.

★Tickets: Adults $10, seniors and youth $9. Call 349-7110.

Musical comedy: Nathan Detroit (John Jordan of Westland) and Miss Adelaide (Stephanie Hindmarsh of Canton) in a scene from "Guys and Dolls."

You're Rockin' The Boat," is a veritable showstopper.

Stephanie L. Hindmarsh as the frustrated songstress, Miss Adelaide, punches up this production too. A gifted comic who can really belt out a song, she's also cute as a button, even when she's wearing some pretty frowzy costumes.

Nathan Detroit, a character afflicted with probably the worst fear of matrimony in the history of musical theater, is played by John Jordan. Although Jordan is fun to watch, his portrayal of Nathan seems slightly off the mark. Isn't "good old reliable Nathan" in fact about as slick and slippery as a sewer rat? Here, he just seems flustered and overwrought most of the time, which is kind of funny in itself, but is it Nathan Detroit?

Jeannette Sowman, as Sister Arvine Abernathy, has an especially nice moment with Loesser's fine creation, "More I Cannot Wish You." And Wendy Sielaff, along with Brandon Gauvin, Amber Thrift, and Andrea Gauvin as Gen. Cartwright and her sidekicks, are always a riot.

In general, the sizable supporting cast of "Guys and Dolls" does a good job.

Peripherals are a little spotty, although clever sets amount to some first-rate fun.

Much of the show's disappointment has simply to do with the exasperating acoustics at the Water Tower Theatre. The snappy dialogue — so much a part of the fun in "Guys and Dolls" — is often lost to the audience. Even more regrettable, many of Loesser's great lyrics are lost too.

Also, though musical director and conductor Cheryl A. Bubar appears to try hard, her musicians often fail to do right by Loesser's splendid tunes. It's not that they bungle the music or miss cues or overpower the singers onstage. It's just that spark and verve needed to really deliver this great score glimmer only now and then. Consequently, this musical comedy, directed and choreographed by Sally Dubats, is left frequently with a very real struggle.

Concert features outstanding local pianist

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

Livonia Symphony audiences are well acquainted with Anthony Bonamici's talent. The secret is out, and word is spreading about this talented young musician, who will present a solo piano concert Tuesday in a new addition to the Cranbrook Music Guild Chamber Series called "Undiscovered American Artists" on March 1.

"I'm thrilled," said Bonamici, who presented a concert with the Livonia Symphony Orchestra in September, and has performed extensively in the Detroit area with several youth orchestras, Schoolcraft Wind Ensemble, music from a wide variety of time periods from Baroque to post-romantic, including works of Bach, Beethoven, Brahms and Cesar Franck.

Cranbrook Music Guild Chamber Series program director Elaine DeWolfe said Bonamici is "certainly one of the most gifted young musicians in Michigan, and his career will be watched with great local interest. His talent at composing is of special interest, something not seen often in young artists today."

Bonamici, a 1992 graduate of Stevenson High School in Livonia, has studied piano since he was 5. Prior to college, he studied several years with professor Donald Morelock in Ann Arbor.

Now a freshman at Rice University's Shepherd School of Music in Houston, Texas, Bonamici studies piano performance with John Perry.

Bonamici has won numerous performance competitions locally and nationally including the 1991 Yamaha/Music Teachers National Association High School Piano Competition. He won the 1992 William Schuman Prize at the 40th International BMI Student Composer Competition for his piano quartet. Competing against 352 contestants up to age 26, Bonamici was awarded first prize for the score judged most outstanding.

$5 per person and includes hors d'oeuvres, cash bar and live music.

The symphony, under the direction of PSO conductor Russell Reed, will present "Russian Easter Overture" by Rimsky Korsakoff, and "Pictures at an Exhibition" by Mussorgsky. Zonjic will join the orchestra to perform "Suite in A Minor" by Telemann.

Zonjic and his ensemble will be performing "Sentimentale," "Take Five," "Catilena," "Spain," "Belavia," and "Send in the Clowns."

Canadian-born flutist, Alexander Zonjic picked up the flute for the first time at the age of 21. He has come to be recognized by artists such as Bob James, Earl Klugh and Detroit Symphony Orchestra principal flutist Ervin Monroe.

Advance tickets for the PSO concert are available at Novi Parks and Recreation, Novi Community Education office, Beitner's Jewelry, Evola Music, Gitfiddler Music, Bookstall/Main, and Dearborn Music in Canton.

Guest artist: Jazz flutist Alexander Zonjic performs with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra on Saturday.

For the most part, director David Fox, captures the naturalness of the story that won wide acclaim in the 1930s as a masterpiece for the author, John Steinbeck.

"Of Mice and Men" is a sympathetic look at lonely, unfortunate souls who are unlikely to achieve their impossible dreams; given their inadequacies and lack of opportunities offered by society.

Two characters dominate the story — George Milton and Lennie Small. George is a compassionate, street-smart sort of a man. Lennie is big, strong and simple-minded. There's not a mean bone in his body. But he has trouble remembering right from wrong.

Should he put poor Lennie out of his misery rather than leave him to the shot-guns and rope of a lynch mob? We won't reveal the dramatic ending for those who may see the show. Suffice to say, it will leave you with second thoughts on what's right and wrong.

Mark Flanders gives a splendid performance as Lennie. His childlike speech and mannerisms are consistent from beginning to end. There's nothing artificial to evoke undue sympathy.

Phillip Matora scores as the conflicted George, one moment filled with compassion for Lennie, the next exasperated at his incompetence.

Remi Esordi is very good as Curly, the cocky son of the boss. You know right away that his meanness is going to cause trouble.

The big troublemaker is Curley's wife (a seductive little tart) played superbly by Wendy Shaper.

Brothers pay price to fulfill their destinies in 'Sugar Hill'

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

A.R. Skuggs was a talented musician and dedicated father who planted seeds for morality in his two sons before losing everything to drugs in "Sugar Hill" opening Feb. 25 at metro Detroit movie theaters.

Abandoned by their father, the boys — Roemello (Wesley Snipes) and Raynathan (Michael Wright) battle their way to the top of their own crime empire. Roemello weary of the violence that surrounds him, and offered the promise of a better life with a new love, Melissa (Theresa Randle), has decided to walk away from this destructive world. The painful decision threatens to bring down not only the lucrative business he and his older brother Raynathan have built together, but the last vestiges of his family as well.

"Sugar Hill" is taken from the legendary neighborhood that represented the aspirations and hopes of all Harlem.

"Part of the film is in black and white to show the golden age of Harlem," said Clarence Williams III who portrays Roemello's father A.R. "Sugar Hill was where all the entertainers and professionals lived. The decline of Harlem is a metaphor for this intense family drama. It's about how things can go radically wrong."

When the film begins, Raynathan and Roemello are boys. Williams and Randle agree "Sugar Hill" is a reality-based story which illustrates both sides of street life. It shows that the strong-willed do survive and that the streets take a toll on young victims. "Sugar Hill" is about the quicksand effect of the drug business — of trying to climb out of a hole to rise up to a certain level, and getting pulled back down.

"At any given moment you can change your set of circumstances, love conquers all," said Randle. "Melissa is a strong, yet vulnerable woman. She's a woman who, in the midst of some tough circumstances, wants to strive for a better life."

Musical star Leslie Uggams makes a dramatic appearance in "Sugar Hill" as Melissa's embittered, yet over-protective mother. "We have a love/hate relationship," said Randle. "I think it's a must-see movie."

The seeds of the story and screenplay of "Sugar Hill" were planted in the weeks following the opening of the film "New Jack City," also written by Barry Michael Cooper. Brought back to New York for the film's production and opening, Cooper, born and raised in Harlem, suddenly found himself besieged by other young black men he had grown up with who had since made their careers and fortunes in street life. Tense encounters developed between once-childhood friends whose lives had followed different paths.

Other childhood peers of Cooper's, however, had a different reaction to him and his film-writing career. They looked to him to help "save" them — help them get out of Harlem — to different lives. Cooper began to observe these young men, haunted by violence, living on an edge of relentless fear, young men with big bank accounts and ulcers. He entered a new subculture of rich, young, African American men who had made fortunes in film, records, television, sports, business — and crime — centered in downtown New York underground clubs and restaurants. "The new lost generation," Cooper calls them, "similar to that of Hemingway and Dos Passos."

Plunged into this world of excess and brutality, Cooper decided to begin writing "Sugar Hill." The musical score for the film is composed by acclaimed jazz trumpeter Terence Blanchard ("Do the Right Thing," "Malcolm X.") The soundtrack is outstanding and includes cutting edge pop and rhythm & blues as well as classic jazz tunes.

Rough and tumble life depicted in '8 Seconds'

From Academy Award-winning director John G. Avildsen comes an unforgettable portrait of a true American hero. "8 Seconds," based on a real-life story, chronicles the turbulent world of championship bull-rider Lane Frost, played by Luke Perry, whose ambitious and meteoric rise to fame was cut short by his rough-and-tumble lifestyle.

The movie, opening Friday at local theaters, begins as Frost is just a boy living on a small ranch in Oklahoma. The son of Elsie (Carrie Snodgrass) and Clyde Frost (James Rebhorn), a former bareback champion, Lane inherits his father's passion to ride professionally and become a recognized champion.

When Lane is old enough to hit the circuit, he goes on the road with his closest friends, Tuff Hedeman (Stephen Baldwin) and Cody Lambert (Red Mitchell). He quickly distinguishes himself as a young master of the sport and suddenly his career takes off. But not before he falls in love with and marries Kellie Kyle (Cynthia Geary), a champion horse rider.

The perseverance and sacrifice he dedicates to his craft tests the boundaries of their marriage as the young couple struggles with the pressure and hardships that come with Lane's burgeoning fame. "8 Seconds" provides a vivid glance at the roughest and most dangerous of all sports — professional bull riding. It's a grueling competition that requires staying on top of a 2,000-pound bull for eight seconds while holding a mount with one hand. Equal parts skill, courage, luck and determination are required from those willing to risk all for the ultimate thrill.

Perry, best known for his part in the hit series "Beverly Hills 90210," studied the art of bull riding for the movie and even did many of his own stunts.

While set against this unpredictably precarious world, "8 Seconds" emerges as a bittersweet love story about a maverick hero who elevated his sport to an art form in the manner of Michael Jordan and Wayne Gretzky.

The film was produced by Michael Shamberg, co-produced by Tony Mark and written by Monte Merrick. The film's MCA soundtrack features such popular country music stars as Vince Gill, Reba McEntire and Pam Tillis.

"Lane's story is not only that of a remarkable athlete who dreams about being a world champion and becomes one. It's about a man who grew up wanting to be a cowboy, who chose to live by a cowboy code and was willing to pay the price," Mark said.

Touchy subject handled with care in 'Philadelphia'

Here is what one reader had to say about "Philadelphia."

Kimberly who has two kids and not a lot of time to write, left these comments on voice mail.

"My husband won't go see 'Philadelphia' because he's uncomfortable with the idea of seeing two men together," she said. "I keep telling him that this is something maybe a lot of men feel. It's not a movie where you're exposed to or forced to watch a lot of affection between two men. This is something that might hold a lot of people back from seeing it. I don't think it should. It really didn't make me feel uncomfortable, and I don't think it would make him feel uncomfortable either."

'Body Snatchers' inspired by classic tale

Warner Bros. "Body Snatchers," a science fiction thriller directed by Abel Ferrara and starring Gabrielle Anwar, Terry Kinney, Forest Whitaker and Meg Tilly, opens Friday at local theaters.

Inspired by the 1956 classic "Invasion of the Body Snatchers," this new version follows the fates of a group of people on an Army base who discover that something is taking possession of the minds, bodies and emotions of the people they once knew and loved.

British-born Gabrielle Anwar starred in "Wild Hearts Can't Be Broken" and appeared opposite Al Pacino in "Scent of a Woman."

Meg Tilly's film credits include "The Big Chill," "Agnes of God" and "Leaving Normal."

Terry Kinney is co-founder, with John Malkovich and Sinise, of Chicago's famed Steppenwolf Theatre Company and has appeared in their productions of "Tracers," "Loose Ends" and in the film "Last of the Mohicans."

Forest Whitaker made his film debut in "Fast Times at Ridgemont High" and since then has appeared in "The Color of Money" and "Vision Quest."

In "Body Snatchers," the

Malone family is plunged into a nightmare — a world where people's lives are drained, only to be replaced by soulless, emotionless aliens emerging from their cocoon-like "pods" and taking possession of their human "hosts."

Once-normal people, with the full range of human emotions and behavior, have become silent, blank-eyed automatons. Those who have not changed are consumed with fear and paranoia, frantically denying the behavior of their loved ones. And, eventually, denying their own lives.

"Body Snatchers" is a Robert H. Solo production.

UPCOMING MOVIES

There's something for everyone at the movies. Here's a list of what's in the wings:

Opening Friday, Feb. 25:

"Body Snatchers" — A new telling of the classic science fiction tale of alien invasion. Stars Gabrielle Anwar, Meg Tilly, Terry Kinney and Forest Whitaker.

"You So Crazy" — A one man stand up comedy show starring Martin Lawrence, star of the hit Fox series "Martin."

"8 Seconds" — Based on the true story of Lane Frost, a champion rodeo bull-rider and his meteoric rise to fame.

Opening Friday, March 4:

"With Honors" — The true story of Harvard University students who befriend a homeless man.

"The Chase" — A romantic comedy about a falsely convicted bank robber who takes a beautiful heiress hostage and makes a run for the Mexican border. Stars Charlie Sheen, Kristy Swanson, Henry Rollins, Josh Mostel and Ray Wise.

"What's Eating Gilbert Grape" — The story of a young boy's plight in Iowa and the effect on him by the arrival of a mysterious teenage girl.

"China Moon" — A steamy thriller about seduction, blinding love and bloody murder.

"Angie" — A comedy about a funny irreverent and vulnerable unwed mother who shuns advice and sets out to discover her own way in the world.

"Greedy" — Comedy about a shameless bunch of money-hungry cousins who battle one another for the fortune of their manipulative uncle who (they hope) will die soon.

Opening Friday, March 11:

"Guarding Tess" — Tess is the beloved former first lady who is running her secret service detail ragged. Tired of being at the mercy of her imperious will, one young agent squares off with her in a class of wits as unremitting as it is hilarious.

Cancer Society endorses Prop A

The American Cancer Society, Michigan Division, has endorsed Proposal A, the March 15 ballot proposal on school finance reform.

The Society likes Proposal A's 50-cent-per-pack tax increase on the sale of cigarettes. The Michigan Department of Public Health claims that the tax increase would save more than 69,000 lives in Michigan by reducing the number of adult smokers by 143,000 and the number of teen smokers by 29,000.

Society President Marie Swanson said in a press release: "It is well documented that higher tobacco prices result in a reduction in use, especially among youth. And 6 percent of the money generated by the tobacco tax increase, or roughly $36 million, will be earmarked for health programs under Proposal A.

"These two factors make Proposal A a win-win situation for the people of Michigan by reducing tobacco consumption and raising new dollars for public health initiatives."

Proposal A, if approved by voters, would also raise the sales tax to 6 percent and drastically reduce property taxes.

New Morning auction set

The New Morning School will hold its 18th annual fund-raising auction beginning 5 p.m. Saturday, March 26, in the Laurel Manor banquet hall on the north side of Schoolcraft Road just east of Haggerty in Livonia.

Tickets cost $45 and include hors d'oeuvres, an open bar, seated dinner and late-night snack. Advance registration is required. Silent auction bidding begins at 5 p.m. The live auction, conducted by Dan Stall, Inc., begins at 9 p.m. To register, call 420-3331.

Some of the items that will be auctioned are an autographed Sergei Fedorov jersey, a 27-foot sail boat, a Sligh-Kingsley grandfather clock, round trip airfare on American Airlines, a paddle boat, a gold bracelet with sapphires, a watercolor painting, Michigan Opera Theater tickets, a gemstone tennis bracelet, a doll house, doll house furniture, mountain bikes and a golfing vacation. More than 500 items will be auctioned. New Morning is a small private school in Plymouth Township for youngsters in preschool through the eighth grade. Students come from through western Wayne and parts of Oakland County. The school was established in 1973 by parents and teachers who believe that parental involvement is critical to a child's education. Parents who perform volunteer work at New Morning get a discount on their youngster's tuition.

Students win writing awards

Thirty-four Michigan high school students were honored recently in the Michigan Press Women high school journalism contest.

World Cup USA seeks volunteers

The World Cup USA 1994 organizing committee will host a "Volunteer Rally" 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 26, at Detroit Edison's Southfield Center, 26801 Northwestern Highway, west of Lasher.

This will be the last opportunity for volunteers to get involved in the staging of four opening round matches of the quadrennial championship of international soccer at the Pontiac Silverdome June 18, 22, 24 and 28.

More than 2,000 World Cup volunteers will be needed for a myriad of tasks to include language services, protocol/hospitality, press operations, transportation, accreditation, office and clerical needs.

Michigan's piece of the World Cup pie will comprise four games in 11 days involving the national soccer teams from Brazil, Romania, Russia, Sweden, Switzerland and the United States.

Those interested in volunteering should attend the Volunteer Rally, or call (810) 456-1994, Ext. 207.

Tantrums: Some ways to stop them

A friend and associate of mine talked shop over a cup of coffee the other day. We were between meetings, so what did we talk about? Whining, teary eyes and temper tantrums, of course.

Although Helen is a child care consultant and teacher, she admitted her weakness in dealing with and handling her own daughter's temper tantrums. Helen's youngest child of three years apparently has been giving her the blues with her whining and wailing while stiffening her young body, making it hard to hold or move her.

By the time we reached our respective cars, I had given Helen some written information that I had in one of my many file folders in the back seat. It apt offered tips on how to stop temper tantrums.

Many young children show their angry feelings by screaming, kicking, throwing themselves on the floor or banging their arms. These temper tantrums are no fun for parents or children. Here's how to help curb them:

- At home
- (1) After making sure your child cannot hurt him- or herself, someone else or objects around him or her, ignore the temper tantrum. Don't talk to your child during the tantrum.
 - (2) Walk away from your child, if you're having trouble ignoring the tantrum.
 - (3) If your child follows you, close yourself in a bedroom or bathroom until the tantrum ends.
 - (4) When the tantrum is over, tell your child, "I like being with you when you are smiling (or sitting quietly or playing with your sister, etc.)" Say nothing about the tantrum.
 - (5) Don't give in to a tantrum. That is, do not give your child what he or she wants to make he or she stop screaming.
 - (6) If the tantrum is over something your child does not want to do, wait until the tantrum is over, then calmly but firmly say, "Now it is time to do . . ." Again, say nothing about the tantrum.

- With company
- It is often difficult and embarrassing if your child has a temper tantrum when you have company or are visiting. At these times, it might seem easier to give in to your child. However, if you give in to tantrums only when company is present, you may teach your child that temper tantrums work when company is around. It is best to respond as consistently as possible to tantrums whenever they occur. When possible use the six steps listed earlier and alert your visitors to your plan. If you're unable to carry out this plan, you might try the following:
- (1) If you or your guests are unable to ignore the tantrum, lead or carry your child to his or her room, saying, "Your behavior is not OK. You may come out when you're finished."
 - (2) If your child comes out of his or her room before the tantrum has stopped, lead him or her back to the room without saying anything. If your child leaves his or her room repeatedly and you are uncomfortable leaving your guests, try to ignore the tantrum as much as possible. When your company leaves, you can then lead your child back to his or her room.
 - (3) Once the tantrum is over, let your child leave his or her room, saying, "Would you like to join us?" or "I like the way you are behaving." Say nothing about the tantrum.
 - (4) In some cases, you may not be able to allow your child to "scream it out." If your child is starting to throw a tantrum in front of company, you might try distracting him or her. Another approach is to give your child a choice other than what he or she is demanding. For example, if your child is demanding a drink of soda, you might offer him milk or juice.
 - (5) Sometimes it is difficult for young children to share their parents' attention, particularly if they are used to being with them much of the day. You may be able to prevent tantrums for your attention if you spend a few minutes helping your child become acquainted with your company and by giving your child a little special attention during the visit.

In public

Some children seem to wait until they are in public places before they throw temper tantrums. Not only is this behavior highly embarrassing but also many parents don't like to let their children scream in public because they are afraid of what people might think. Again, it is important that you not give in to tantrums in public unless you want your child to learn that tantrums sometimes work.

Finding food for thought

Classroom learning can have a few limitations, especially if the subject is culinary arts. That's why a group of Plymouth Salem High School students took to the road to see what goes on behind the scenes at two hotels in the metropolitan area.

By CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

At one time, high school students dabbled in home economics. The student of the '90s, however, is into the culinary arts.

A name change for turning out scrambled eggs and buttermilk biscuits for the family? Nope. It's the first tentative step toward a possible career in the food service industry.

For culinary arts students at Plymouth Salem High School, the class gave them a chance to see what goes on behind the scenes at two of Wayne County's better known hotels - The Ritz-Carlton and Hyatt Regency, both in Dearborn.

"Most kids say 'I want to work in a hotel' . . . this gives you an idea of what you have to do," said senior Paul Montresor.

The students, most of whom work at their school's Salem Rock Cafe, learned that it takes an army of people to run a hotel. They toured the laundry facilities, the kitchens, VIP suites (which seemed to be a favorite), health clubs, restaurants and management offices.

At The Ritz-Carlton, the teens participated in the India portion of the hotel's International Cultural Festival, watching a demonstration by visiting chef Jeet Reen of Shalimar Restaurant in Farmington Hills. Afterward, the students tasted Reen's Tandoori Chicken spiced with ginger, pepper, allspice and paprika.

While waiting for the school bus ride to the Hyatt, aspiring hotel manager and high school junior Chris Weidman took the opportunity to inquire about future employment. Others quizzed The Ritz-Carlton's employees about their experiences and pay at the hotel.

At the Hyatt Regency, the teens got a bird's-eye view of the hotel through the glass walls of the elevator, visited with the hotel management team, and compared the hotel's facilities with those of The Ritz-Carlton.

The students also gazed at the view of the Detroit skyline from the revolving restaurant atop the hotel. They finished the day by having lunch at Kyoto Steakhouse in Dearborn.

In retrospect, Stephanie Fill, a senior, said she was impressed with the benefits that hotel employees receive like "how the staff gets to eat free, how they take care of them," she said.

The tours and meal were scheduled to prep the students for their participation in the Salem Rock Cafe, said teacher Carey Garey. The restaurant, open to the public, offers a variety of dishes, including Cajun catfish, Tex-Mex chicken and desserts.

"We have a set menu for entrees, salads and sandwiches and grill items and desserts to our specials that we have everyday," she said.

The restaurant, which opened in 1971, is open to the public and teachers. Plymouth Salem and Canton students - except those who work in the cafe - cannot eat in there.

"That's part of the perk for giving up their lunch period. The time we need to be open is during lunch so they have lunch after our doors close, but they eat in our dining room," Garey said.

The students have also toured the restaurants at Henry Ford Community College and Schoolcraft College. In March they will tour Oakland Community College and learn about its curriculum. These field trips, Garey said, offer orientations to the different schools' programs.

Her students have gone on to become chefs on cruise ships, managers of restaurants in Hawaii and at Disney World in Florida. Another student was presented with the first bachelor's degree from Johnson and Wales College and has since become a teacher's assistant. That's the part of the job that makes Garey proud.

"That's one of the best things about this job, training these kids for actually doing something."

Students who choose to go onto other fields still learn valuable employability skills, she said.

"Even if a kid decides they are not going to be interested in culinary arts . . . all the employability skills are all the same no matter which job they go to," she said. "They have a time clock that they have to punch. We try and treat it as a regular job. They don't get paid but what they do get in terms of experience and experiences that they wouldn't have gotten otherwise."

Junior Heather Anderson wants to go into marketing but she agrees with Garey. Her experience and experiences have taught her valuable skills of dealing with people.

"The people . . . I like to work with people. I love serving people," Anderson said. "Except for the people that come through and yell at me because their food isn't ready or something. They don't understand that I don't cook."

That's part of maturing, however, Garey said. The students find "out a lot about themselves which is part of the learning process."

'Mattress' is musical at Rosedale

By SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

When the curtain goes up on Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church's annual musical next week, Martha Kuykendall will be there . . . just like she's been for the past 23 years.

The Livonia resident has been directing musicals at the church since 1971 and is putting the finishing touches on this year's production of "Once Upon a Mattress," a musical version of the fairy tale of "The Princess and the Pea."

Now is the time for people to build bridges, not walls

MORAL PERSPECTIVES

RABBI IRWIN GRONER

In this month dedicated to the ideals of brotherhood, I reflect upon bridges and walls. They are the most challenging and inspiring symbols of human speech and thought. Walls have a definite value and purpose in human life, giving us shelter, security and privacy. They enclose us in a manageable world. They define for us beyond doubt and dispute what is ours and what is our neighbor's. They are part of the necessary elements of civilized life.

Selfishness is such a wall. When a person barricades himself behind it, it becomes his prison. He fondly believes that this wall of self-centeredness will give him greater strength and security. Actually, it isolates him and shuts him off in loneliness from the great and exciting world around him. Prejudice and intolerance, racial and group hatred are tragic walls which people build around themselves. Our age has unfortunately witnessed the erection of many such forbidding walls — walls that divide, separate and sunder the peoples of this earth. Robert Frost said it well: "Something there is that doesn't love a wall. Before I build a wall, I ask to know what I was walling in or walling out, and to whom I was to give offense."

Over the centuries, people have had enough religion to hate each other, but not enough to love each other. Minority groups have found themselves excluded from participation in the social and economic life of the societies in which they lived. The original meaning of the word "ghetto" is a walled-off section of a city, physically separating Jewish inhabitants from contact and commerce with others. Such walls, actual and symbolic, have become symbols of degradation and destruction for all groups that have been forced to be separated and thereby rejected.

The fomenters of group hostility are still active in the world today. Even in our own country, whenever there is unhappiness, discontent or unrest, racial and religious bigots creep over the land and sow the pernicious seeds of suspicion and hate.

There are nations that put their trust and security in strong walls, in iron curtains and man-made fortresses. But they all crumble sooner or later. The mighty walls of Jericho fell and the broad walls of Babylonia were utterly overthrown and, in our own age, we have seen the fall of the Soviet empire.

Our shared heritage of faith teaches us to be builders of bridges, rather than of walls. It is good to remember the word of the Prophet Malachi: "Have we not all one father? Hath not one God created us all? Why then do we deal treacherously with one another?" We need to build a bridge of tolerance as we affirm the truth that there are many highways to heaven and many rooms in God's mansion.

America is a pluralistic society in which diverse religions, races and nationalities are free to express different points of view. It is almost self-evident that we shall disagree on many things. But it is more important to note that we agree on even more. We collectively believe that American life is built on a common acceptance of the Judeo-Christian ethic as the foundation of American society and government.

We have vital concerns in American life where we should continue to build bridges. Our joint efforts can make a major contribution, and our common action can change the present and shape the future.

The condition of family life is of primary concern. We are faced with the disintegrating family. The high divorce rate, the decline of standards of sexual morality and the attenuation of parent-child relations have all assumed epidemic proportions. In the past, standards of ethics and responsibility have been communicated in the family from one generation to another. The challenge to us, all religions, races and creeds, is to restore the quality of family life. There are many other areas where we have joint concerns. Among them, the problems of the aged, health care, drugs and the ever-rising rate of crime. While the executive and legislative branches of government seek solutions for these problems, we must recognize that such solutions require the collective strength and moral consensus and shared support of the American people.

We must be builders of bridges rather than of walls. Charity, compassion and magnanimity are such bridges. So are friendship, tolerance and brotherhood. "Love Thy Neighbor as Thyself" is the noblest and most enduring of all the bridges ever devised.

St. Genevieve Church will have a Red Cross blood drive 2-8 p.m. Thursday, March 3, at the church, 28933 Jamison in the Middlebelt/Five Mile area. Call Joanne Camiller at 427-3718 for an appointment. Walk-ins welcomed. Babysitting will be provided 2-4 p.m.

GRIEF SUPPORT
Single Point Ministries of Ward Presbyterian Church sponsors an ongoing grief support group. It will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 3, in Room A15 and 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, March 9, in the Calvin Room of the church, 17000

Farmington Road at Six Mile, Livonia. For more information, call the Single Point office at 422-1854.

DAY OF PRAYER
The 107th annual Church Women United Ecumenical World Day of Prayer will be Friday, March 4. The service for western Wayne County churches will be at 1 p.m. at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, 26701 Joy, between Inkster and Beech Daly, Dearborn Heights. The service, "Go, See and Act," was written by Christian Women of Palestine and includes music, under the direction of Lafern Porter. For more information, call the church office at 274-3820 between 9 a.m. and noon weekdays.

BETHANY
Bethany West, a nonprofit Catholic organization which provides spiritual, social and educational assistance to divorced and separated Christians, will have a general meeting at 8 p.m. Saturday, March 5, at St. Robert Bellarmine Church, on West Chicago, east of Inkster Road, Redford. The speaker will be Amy Devone of KIND (Kids in Need of Direction). Admission is free. For more information or a calendar of events, call Bruce at 622-3976 or Karen at 261-3602.

'CLOWNS FOR CHRIST'
Several "Clowns for Christ" will participate in the 10:30 a.m. worship service Sunday, March 6, at St. Andrew Presbyterian Church, 26701 Joy, between Inkster and Beech Daly. The worship will include a celebration of communion, followed by the monthly luncheon with speaker Dan Urrea of the Buckhorn Children's Center. For more information, call the church office at 274-3820 between 9 a.m. and noon weekdays.

FREE CLASS
A free class showing how to present the uniqueness of Christ in visuals will be held 7-8:30 p.m. Monday, March 7, at Plymouth Baptist Church, 42021 Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth. The Easter Kit, "The One Who Was Different," includes everything needed to share the gospel message at family gatherings, Easter parties for children and in nursing homes or church settings. For more information, call Lita at 453-2357 to reserve a kit. For more information on the program, call the church at 453-5534.

OPEN HOUSE
There will be an open house for families 10 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 8, at the Northville Christian School, 41355 Six Mile, west of I-275. For more information, call 348-9031 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

ART EMANCELE/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

"It's coming along pretty good," said Kuykendall. "I think it'll turn out OK."

More than 50 members of the church have been rehearsing, making sets and costumes for the production, which will be performed at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, March 4-5, and 4 p.m. Sunday, March 6. Kuykendall has been responsible for bring such renowned musicals as "The Sound of Music," "Oklahoma," "The Music Man," "Fiddler on the Roof" and "South Pacific" to life on the basement stage of the church. "The Sound of Music" was the church's first production, done when the choir director suggested a musical be staged with Kuykendall directing.

This year, Kuykendall has gotten help from Caroline Dunphey, who designed the sets, Marylou Valrance, who is coordinating costume and, in fact, made many of the costumes, Catherine Stage, who not only is the show's choreographer but the lead character, and Dick Burgess, who is in charge of the technical aspects. And since a musical wouldn't be a musical without music, Landon Swanson is directing the orchestra.

Kuykendall selected the play last year and held auditions the first week in January. Unlike the whittling-down process used on Broadway, anyone who shows up for the Rosedale Gardens productions gets a part.

"If you show up, you're on stage," Kuykendall said with a chuckle. "No one goes away without a part. It's the only way we can do it with an in-house group like this."

Stage is appearing as Princess Winifred, with Andrew Mac as Prince Dauntless, Millie Everson as Queen Aggravaine and Merrill Thomas as King Sextimus. Other cast members are John Hirtzel as the Wizard, Jerry Stage as the Jester, Becky Prost as Lady Larken and David Conrad as Sir Harry.

Kuykendall isn't certain how many hours go into producing the play. Over the course of the six-eight weeks before curtain time, the cast spends three nights and a Sunday afternoon rehearsing.

Saturdays are devoted to doing the scenery.

"It's a fun hobby, but it takes a lot of concentration," Kuykendall said.

Kuykendall doesn't have any formal training in directing plays, just hands-on experience. She has done some work in community theater and did some musicals for three years at Schoolcraft College.

Tickets for the musical are priced at $5 for adults and $2.50 for students through the 12th grade. They are available at the church, 9601 W. Chicago, Livonia. For more information, call 422-0494.

HOMELINE

The following suggestions should help you stop your child's public tantrums.

(1) In some cases, you may be able to end tantrums quickly by saying nothing and/or walking out of your child's line of sight, but staying where you can see your child. Although it is difficult for most parents to be comfortable with this technique, it is highly effective for many children.

(2) If you cannot ignore the tantrum or comfortably walk away, lead or carry your child to the car, saying, "Your behavior, tells me you do not want to be in the store (or the mall, or McDonald's, etc.). You can try again tomorrow (or the next day)."

(3) If you have taken your child home because of a tantrum, be sure to give him or her another chance within a day or two.

(4) If your child throws a lot of tantrums in public, start out with very short (15-20 minutes) trips close to home. As the tantrums occur less and less, you can go out more often and for longer periods of time.

(5) It often helps to control their behavior, if you include something they enjoy as part of your outing. For example, when going to the mall, you can stop at the pet store or after shopping for shoes, you could go to the playground.

If you have a question or comment for Eartha DeYampert, call her at 953-2047, mailbox number 1883, on a touch-tone phone, or write her at The Observer Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

Handwriting represents creativity

GRAPHOLOGY PROFILES

LORENE GREEN

Dear Ms. Green, I've always been interested in handwriting analysis. I'm amazed that you can pull out so much about an individual simply by looking at handwriting.

People often say my writing looks nice but is difficult to read. What do you think? I am 36 years old and am right-handed. Eagerly awaiting your reply.

T.B., Livonia

I personally do not think this handwriting is difficult to read. To me, it represents creativity and independence.

While I realize I have said this before, I think it bears repeating here. First we learn to write as we are taught, then as we wish. People like T.B. who have a need to express their creativity will usually change from their copybook training.

Our writer was raised in a home with strong female influence. Very early in life, she wanted to be independent and may have been a little rebellious to gain the freedom she needed. And yet she sometimes feels a need to return emotionally to the mother figure when things are not going well.

She wants both variety and action in her daily life. At the time this letter was written, she had many irons in the fire and may not be entirely satisfied with things. Fulfillment seems to be eluding her.

Cultural leanings are here. She is much aware of the arts, literature and music. She is a creative and probably gifted person.

You will know when this woman is around. Her ego craves success and attention and she wants to do things in her own way. Her need for status and/or stroking serves to propel her on toward higher achievements.

I've always been interested in handwriting analysis. I'm amazed that you can pull out so much about an individual simply by looking at their handwriting.

She can make quick decisions and get right to the point. She is not rebuffed by sudden new demands.

Here is a woman of strong convictions and appreciation of hard work. She sticks to essentials and has the ability to keep things simple. She clearly recognizes the importance of getting down to fundamentals.

This is a risk taker. She knows who she is and has a need to remain aloof from the demands of conventional society.

In a position which offers stimulation and challenge, she will excel. If involved in routine chores with too much detail work, she will soon become restless for a change.

For relaxation, she would probably like sports or activities that require physical endurance and/or an opportunity to compete.

If you would like to have your handwriting analyzed in this newspaper, write to Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist, at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please use a full sheet of white, unlined paper, writing in the first person singular. Age, handedness and full signature are all important and objective feedback is always welcomed.

'Evening of Hope' benefits hospital

More than 1,000 people are expected to fill Burton Manor in Livonia when Leukemia, Research, Life, Inc. (LRL) holds its 13th annual "Evening of Hope" dinner-dance Saturday, March 5.

The largest annual fund-raising event for the group, proceeds, expected to top $60,000, will benefit LRL, a nonprofit organization dedicated to the elimination of childhood cancers through research at Children's Hospital of Michigan in Detroit.

The dinner-dance will feature a dinner buffet, including a salad, fruit and dessert table, an after-dinner auction and dancing to the music of the Take Five Band. Doors will open at 6:30 p.m. with dinner at 7:30 p.m.

Ray and Lucie Shepard of the Detroit Red Wings and Jim Fitzgerald, Detroit Free Press columnist, are honorary chairmen of the dinner-dance. Rich Mayk of WDIV-TV Channel 4 and Colleen Burcar of WKQI-FM are the master and mistress of ceremonies.

Tickets to the event are $60 per person. Benefactor tickets are priced at $75 per person. They are available by calling the development office at Children's Hospital at 745-5373.

Since its inception in 1981, LRL has raised more than $1.2 million for childhood cancer research at Children's Hospital, a private, nonprofit 260-bed pediatric hospital organized in 1886.

Children's Hospital is a member of the Detroit Medical Center, the academic health center of Wayne State University.

Doctors to discuss prostate cancer

Dr. Philip Lafata, chief of general surgery, and lecturer Dr. Ali Rahmanian, senior urological surgeon of the Horizon Surgery Center and St. Mary Hospital, will be the speakers at a health education program on prostate cancer 7 p.m. Thursday, March 3.

Lafata will introduce Rahmanian. The lecture, at the Horizon Surgery Center, on Haggerty south of Eight Mile, will include a slide presentation as well as a question-and-answer session.

A packet of information will be available to members of the audience, courtesy of the Michigan Cancer Foundation and the National Cancer Institute. Light refreshments will be served.

In the United States, prostate cancer is the leading malignancy in men, and the number two cause of cancer deaths. Current estimates are that a 50-year-old American male has a 40 percent chance of developing microscopic prostate cancer during his lifetime, a 10 percent chance of being diagnosed with the disease and a 2-3 percent chance of dying of prostate cancer.

Data from the Center for Disease Control's National Center for Health Statistics shows an alarming increase in the incidence of the disease since 1980. The number of prostate cancers diagnosed increased 8-10 percent annually the past few years.

This trend may be due in part to aging of the population (prostate cancer occurs with a greater frequency in elderly men), to improved diagnostic procedures that discover tumors that may otherwise have been undetected in the past, or to increased awareness and health-seeking behavior of men.

Research is being done, with an emphasis on oncogenes and genetic predispositions as well as more efficient methods of diagnosis and treatment of prostate cancer.

The Horizon Surgery Center is at 19900 Haggerty, south of Eight Mile, Suite 100, Livonia. There is no charge for the seminar, but seating is limited, so call 462-1888 for reservations or more information.

Applications accepted for BPW scholarships

Applications are being accepted for the Elizabeth J. Szilagyi Scholarship, offered through the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's organization.

As a member of the Plymouth BPW, Szilagyi was vital to the group's scholarship program. She realized the impact a scholarship could have in helping women who alone supported their families.

The scholarship program was founded in 1990 by the Robert J. Szilagyi family with memorial contributions from family and friends of Elizabeth Szilagyi to benefit women preparing to re-enter the business, financial, technical or educational fields. Since then, more than $2,000 has been given to recipients.

To apply for the EJS Scholarship, an applicant must be a single, female head of household, have a high school diploma or equivalent, be accepted to or attending an accredited college, business, or vocational school and identify financial need.

The deadline for applying is March 15. To receive an application, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to EJS Scholarship, Plymouth BPW, P.O. Box 5338, Plymouth 48170. For more information, call Marilyn Alim-pich at 453-4845.

School events focus on better living

The Parent Connection of the Metropolitan Seventh-day Adventist School in Plymouth and Better Living Seminars will offer several events for the family in March.

Frequently heard on radio and television, Dr. Joseph Arends will kick off the series with his lecture on fitness and the whole family at 7 p.m. Tuesday, March 1, at the school, 15585 Haggerty, Plymouth. Arends, who received his training in preventive medicine from the U.S. Navy in Pensacola, Fla., will offer a program designed to motivate people to start and stay with a regular fitness program as well as provide the facts on all the fitness madness.

Arends has been seen on ABC's "20/20," NBC's "Today Show" and PBS's "Late Night America" and has been written up in Sports Illustrated, Time, Newsweek and

The New York Times. He is a consultant to the University of Michigan, the U.S. Navy and U.S. Department of Defense.

Cost of the lecture is $2. Information and reservations are available by calling 420-3131.

The Gymnicks, an internationally known acrosports gymnastics team from Andrews University in Berrien Springs, Mich., will show off their talent in an acrobatic sports spectacular at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, March 5.

Children also will have a chance to work out with the team 9:30-11:30 a.m. Sunday, March 6. Youngsters will be divided according to age and skill level. The workout will provide them with new skills as well as sharpen old ones. No experience is necessary. The Saturday performance costs $3 for adults, $2 for students and children and $10 for families. The gymnastics and acrosports clinic costs $5 per participant. For tickets and information or to register, call 261-1976.

For parents or those who would rather watch than work out, a pancake breakfast will be served 9 a.m. to noon Sunday, March 6. Cost is $3 for adults, $2 for students and children and $10 for families.

Even sitting can be a move toward better living for those who take advantage of a blood cholesterol screening 8:30 a.m. to noon Sunday. Cost is $25. For information or to register, call 531-2179.

Summer camp fair offers big selection

Are you looking for a camp to send your children to next summer?

If so, then consider attending the fifth annual "Camp and Activities Fair" 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 27, at Bloomfield Hills Middle School, 4200 Quarton Road.

Sponsored by The Merrill-Palmer Institute of Wayne State University, Metro Parent magazine and The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, the fair features representatives from 72 camps and activity programs from around the state and across the country.

Twenty-two of the 72 programs represented are new to the camp fair, so there's something new for those who attended last year's fair.

Merrill-Palmer spokeswoman Sandy Schwartz reports that there is a camp specializing in virtually any activity a kid could conceivably be interested in.

Those activities include skiing, sailing, windsurfing, kayaking, biking, canoe paddling, rock climbing, dancing, photography, horse riding, rifle shooting, archery, scuba diving, snorkeling and rocketry.

Other camps emphasize computers, ecology skills, leadership, marine biology, music, art and drama. There is even a camp for speech- and hearing-impaired kids and a camp for kids from abusive families.

Also, representatives from Nacel Cultural Exchanges will be on hand to answer questions about sending your children to foreign countries or hosting a foreign student in your house.

Admission is free and camp operators are asked not to take any money.

Among organizations scheduled to attend the fair are the Howe Military Summer Camp, the Tall Timbers Sports Camp, the Up-land Hills Farm Day Camp, the Beverly Hills Racquet/Health Club, the Jewish Community Center, Detroit Country Day Camp, the Farmington Gymnastics Center and the Catholic Youth Organization.

For additional data, call Schwartz at 872-1790.

LACTOSE DEFICIENCY

Lactose intolerance is a common digestive problem. It has been estimated that 30 million Americans are lactose intolerant. 50 or 60% of these people will experience abdominal bloating, flatulence 2-6 hours after ingesting 1 or 2 glasses of milk, or a large amount of ice cream especially on an empty stomach.

Lactose intolerance occurs as a result of lactose deficiency in the intestine. Symptoms of distention, bloating, abdominal pain, flatulence, or even diarrhea occur frequently but the severity of these symptoms varies widely between people who have this condition. Reducing the exposure to milk or milk products will help to alleviate the symptoms. Lactase enzymes supplements are also available in capsules and tablets form. Which will also help to digest the lactose containing product or products and help to avoid symptoms of lactose intolerance.

GARDEN SPOT

MARTY FIGLEY

Savor flavor, aroma of homegrown herbs

Have you always wanted to have an herb garden, but thought you didn't have enough sun? A surprising number of herbs do grow well in a partially shady location. Some of them are perennials, meaning they grow from year to year without having to be replaced, while others are annuals, those that need to be replanted each year.

Herbs generally don't require much effort and don't need a lot of fertilization because flavor is sacrificed when there is lots of growth. And fresh herb flavor can't be beat! Herbs also are fragrant and pretty and reward the gardener in many ways.

Herbs do like a rich soil. Compost or sphagnum peat worked into the existing bed will accomplish this. Good drainage is necessary. Herbs don't like wet feet any more than we do.

Most people begin growing herbs for the part they play in our culinary world, so that is the type of garden I have planned. Start small — the garden can always be enlarged and I don't want you to be discouraged with too much work. But as I said, what little is required is well worth the effort.

Garden planning

I've designed a small rectangular garden about 20 feet by 5 feet. It doesn't have to be "squared off" — it could be oval in shape or some other configuration. Use this plan as a guide (see related story).

A raised bed will allow the soil to warm up earlier in the season, but isn't necessary. It will be easy to reach all the plants from all sides, but if the garden abuts a building or hedge, a path of stepping stones, gravel or wood chips will make it easier to care for the plants. A layer of newspaper or landscape fabric under the latter two will reduce weeding chores.

Some perennials will form the bones of the garden and will do fine in the semi-shady location. They can be bought as plants in May, while the annuals can be started from seed indoors in early March or sown directly into the garden when the soil warms up.

Savory characters

Perennial plants include Lavender, which blooms a beautiful deep blue-purple and will provide a fragrance as you brush the foliage — Munstead and Lavender Lady are good choices. Common Thyme is a relatively short upright plant with deep green foliage, while the foliage of Lemon Thyme is tinged with yellow. Sage plants are lovely with gray-green, purple or variegated foliage. Taste the leaf of the French Tarragon plant before you buy it to be sure the flavor is strongly anise-like. Space them 18 inches apart.

Livonia shows African art objects

In honor of Black History Month, the city of Livonia exhibits its African art collection thought to be objects of the Ovimbundu tribe of Portuguese Angola.

By LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

In celebration of Black History Month, the Livonia Arts Commission presents an exhibition of the city's African art-facts through Feb. 25.

The turn-of-the-century art, thought to be tribal objects of the Ovimbundu people from Portuguese Angola, is on display in the circular showcases on the second floor of the Livonia Civic Center Library, Farmington Road and Five Mile.

"This is the appropriate time to display our African artifacts, in honor of Black History Month," said arts commissioner Lee Alankas.

"It is an expensive exhibition that belongs to the residents of Livonia and they should be able to enjoy it."

Donated to the city 30 years ago by The Rev. and Mrs. Paul Haskell Clark of the Pilgrim Congregational Church in Livonia, the art objects were collected by the missionary supported by the congregational church.

The collection was originally assembled by Brewster Pilgrim Congregational Church of Detroit, which became Pilgrim Congregational Church when it moved to Livonia in 1957. It was the wish of the church that the artifacts be shared with the community as a whole.

Handcarved figures and drums, baskets, war clubs and corn cob dolls reveal a culture where art was a part of daily life.

Appraised in 1985 by David Ackley on the recommendation of Evan Maurer, director of the University of Michigan Museum of Art, the value of the collection was placed at $32,545.

Most of the objects were readily identified and appraised, being comparable to known objects in the literature and on the art market, stated Ackley.

However two of the objects, a handcarved mask and a female figure with child, posed problems of evaluation, leading Ackley to believe they could be priceless due to the fact the existence of such a mask, if it is a tribal work of the Ovimbundu, until that time had been unknown.

When arts commissioner Dorothy Wilshaw found the collection tossed haphazardly into a library closet in 1992, she took it upon herself to see that the objects were stored properly in acid free paper.

"I think since we have this valuable collection, it should be looked after," said Wilshaw.

City librarian Michael Deller says that when he first came to Livonia, he was impressed by the quality of the African art collection. He considers the residents of Livonia very lucky to have these artifacts.

In his travels, he has seen comparable pieces only at museums in New York and California.

Of course, that's not to slight the fine collection of the Detroit Institute of Arts, whose collection former Gov. G. Mennen Williams was instrumental in assembling during the time he served as ambassador to Africa.

"The items themselves are important because they represent a culture that's rapidly disappearing as we know it in Africa," Deller said.

Over the years, the collection was loaned to local schools and colleges as well as the University of Michigan Art Museum.

Hollowed from a tree stump, a tribal drum with pyro-engraved incised patterns sports a four-legged animal crawling up the side. The animal and drum were carved from a single piece of wood. In 1985, the drum was appraised at $375.

Another of the art objects, a female figure holding a child has the word fetish carved into the back. It is more than likely a fertility image.

The figure of woman with child according to Ackley is a rare object that he roughly valued at $2,500.

Hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday to Thursday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday-Saturday and 1-5 p.m. Sunday.

Fertility fetish: Right, a sculptured wood female image holding a child is thought to be a fetish used by Ovimbundu tribe of Portuguese Angola.

Very Special Arts seeking performers

SPECIAL WRITER

Very Special Arts of Southeast Michigan is searching for performing artists with disabilities to participate in its fourth annual festival, "A Celebration of Arts-Ability" May 6-7 at Wonderland Mall in Livonia.

Performing artists with varying disabilities are invited to apply, including adults and children with sight, hearing, mobility, emotional and development impairments.

The festival celebrates the power of the arts to triumph over physical and mental challenges. It serves to expose and educate the community to the artistic talents of individuals with disabilities.

"We want to showcase the talents of artists with disabilities. We're focusing on ability, not disabilities," said Connie Lott, chairwoman of Very Special Arts Southeast Michigan headquartered at FAR Conservatory in Birmingham.

"We want to share with the community the impact that the arts can have on disabled people."

The festival spotlights art skills honed in Very Special Arts programs throughout the year. Performances will include, but are not limited to, instrumental and vocal music, dance, drama, comedy, mime, puppetry, baton and pompon.

"For the first time this year, we're going to have drama. We will have hands-on activities for the participants not only with disabilities but for the people from the communities who attend the festival," Lott said. "We will also have the touring art exhibit showcasing artists with disabilities from around the state."

ARTS ACHIEVER

Roy E. Ernst, a music education professor at the Eastman School Music at the University of Rochester and a former instrumental music teacher in Livonia, is one of seven alumni who will receive an arts achievement award at Wayne State University during the Celebration of the Arts March 4.

He will be honored in the music category. At 11:45 a.m. Friday, March 4, Ernst will offer a free music master class in 101 Schaver Music Building.

The 1961 master's degree graduate of WSU earned a doctorate at the University of Michigan. He has taught in Eastpointe and Livonia public schools and at WSU and Georgia State University. In 1984, he was a visiting professor in Sydney, Australia.

He founded the Aesthetic Education Institute that annually provides art education for teachers and K-12 students in Rochester, N.Y.

CRAFTY MOMENTS

Craft Gallery will host a country folk art and Victorian craft show from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 27, at Hawthorn Valley country club; 7300 Merriman, north of Warren, Westland.

The fare will feature 65 displays of Michigan talent. Admission is $2 (children younger than 12, free, but strollers are not allowed).

Exhibitors include Bev Jovan of Livonia, wearable art; Val Davis of Plymouth, country wood; and Joyce Paavola, seasonal and country ceramics, and Hazel Owens, fine art of paper feathering and layering (Vue 'd' optique), of Garden City.

CRAFT FAIR

Schoolcraft College will present its spring craft show featuring 150 exhibitors from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday, March 12 in the Physical Education Building, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

All proceeds will go toward student scholarships. The $1.50 admission will include parking and drawings. Food and refreshments will be available.

Area artist earns painting accolades

Northville artist Linda Banks Ord has won three national painting awards.

This brings to 27 the number of honors she has received over the past six years.

Ord is a professor in the University of Michigan School of Art and a U. of M. alumni board member.

She's past chair of the Michigan Water Color Society.

The Philadelphia Water Color Club, in an international exhibition at The American College in Bryn Mawr, Pa., in January, selected her painting "Confirmation Series No. 6 for an Award of Excellence.

The painting uses imagery from Ord's western ancestry and is quite realistic with strong abstract qualities. It has appeared on the cover of the Michigan Bar Journal.

Other awards came from the North East Watercolor Society's National Exhibition held at the Trotting Horse Museum in Goshen, N.Y., and "The Medicine Show," a national exhibition at Buckham Gallery in Flint.

were the vocal choir from the Burger Center for the Autistic in Garden City; Schoolcraft Players, a chime choir from Redford Township; tap dancer Kelly Miles of West Bloomfield; vocalist Katie Weidig of Royal Oak; and pianist Craig Dankanics of Livonia.

For the last three years, the festival has been held at Laurel Park Place Mall in Livonia but due to its increasing popularity more space was needed this year.

"This is a little larger mall. We'll be in the center court there at Wonderland where the foot traffic is greater."

Application/permission/release forms for performers must be submitted by March 7.

Very Special Arts was founded for children and adults who because of their disabilities cannot participate in the sports of Special Olympics. It gives individuals with impairments a sense of dignity and self-esteem.

The festival serves as a model for ways the arts can be used to integrate the disabled and non-disabled in cultural and educational disabilities.

Very Special Arts, an educational affiliate of the Kennedy Center for Performing Arts in Washington, D.C., has been designated by Congress as the nation's coordinating agency for arts programs for people with disabilities.

Lott says the group is in dire need of help in producing the festival. She is asking that anyone who is able to do so to please volunteer their time. "We're looking for people who might want to help at the festival either day."

To request an application or for more information about the festival, call Connie Lott at the Far Conservatory in Birmingham, 646-3347.

Learn how to market arts

"Effective Marketing for the '90s," a workshop on marketing and promoting arts and cultural organizations, will take place 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Friday, March 11, in the Liberal Arts Building, Room 200, at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

The college is at 18600 Haggerty, between Six Mile and Seven Mile. For information or to register, call the Accounting Aid Society at 313-961-1840.

The workshop is designed for staffs, board members and volunteers of non-profit organizations. The fee of $35 includes lunch and materials.

Linda Delene, professor of marketing and director of the Service Quality Institute at Western Michigan University, will lead the workshop. The workshop is co-sponsored by the Michigan Association of Community Arts Agencies and the Accounting Aid Society.

Interior design seminar planned

A free interior decorating seminar will take place 7:30-8:30 p.m. Thursday, March 10 in the Holiday Inn of Livonia, 1-275 and Six Mile.

The seminar, "Home Decorating: Pickle or Panache?", is hosted by Linda Kittredge and Nadine Henderson, both sales associates with Quality Real Estate/Better Homes and Gardens of Plymouth and Livonia; and interior designers Patricia Newman and Kathleen Tomassi. Purpose of the seminar is to identify decorating/pickles and gain practical solutions for achieving personal panache.

For reservations, call 462-3000 by Saturday, March 5.

The seminar is a result of Kittredge's "realization that many homeowners have refinanced their homes and will not be moving in the near future."

Because she wanted to continue providing services to her clients and friends, Kittredge thought a free home decorating seminar would be a great idea. "I wanted the seminar to provide practical, yet fun decorating ideas that could be put into operation immediately when the attendee got home," she said.

Newman owns Patricia Newman Interiors. Residential homes, condominiums and apartments are a few of the specialties she has developed over the past 20 years. She was an award winner at the 1991 HOMERAMA, was involved in the 1993 Parade of Homes and has been featured in the Creative Living section of the Observer & Eccentric.

"Good taste and good design do not necessarily have to be expensive," Newman said. "Color, form and scale can deliver a lot of panache without being made of pricey materials."

Tomassi started M.K.T. Interiors of Grosse Pointe in 1986. An interior designer for more than 17 years, she started out making drapery and soft furnishings for residential homes. She also worked for a company that custom-designed aircrafts for the likes of a Saudi Arabian princess. She has done residential and contract work throughout the United States as well as serving as a consultant to other interior designers.

"I feel I provide a very valuable service and my background in interior design, construction and factory experience have given me what is required to do my job with reasonable ease, accuracy and enthusiasm," Tomassi said. Henderson has been a sales associate for 17 years. Because of experiencing firsthand eight moves in 20 years, both domestically and internationally (Brazil, Mexico and Venezuela), she says she understands how helpful the Realtor can be in locating services, interior decorating, painting, carpeting, etc. "My primary goal is to create customer and client satisfaction," Henderson said.

Before beginning her career in real estate, Kittredge was an admissions assistant at Henry Ford Community College. "In my previous position, I worked to market the college to the community.

Now, as a sales associate, I can apply my experience to marketing homes," she said.

"I recognize that people need to make wise choices where their lifestyle and pocketbook are concerned. I work hard so they can make decisions they won't regret."

HIGH HOPES CONTEST

Seed head is to be measured diagonally

Height is to be measured from soil level to stem neck (calyx)

We're looking for the tallest sunflower, and for the sunflower with the largest seed head, grown in the 1994 season through July 28. The sunflower's height is to be measured from the soil level to the base of the head where the stem attaches to the flower. The head is to be measured diagonally. If you're raising a super sunflower, let us know. Call 313-953-2047, Ext. 1859, or 810-901-2569; fax 810-644-1314; or write the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham 48009. Deadline is 5-p.m. July 29.

FOCUS ON PHOTOGRAPHY

Most of us rely on a single picture to record an event or happening. And, done well, this shot would "tell" a lot about that particular circumstance.

But a picture series or photo essay can add much more information and convey an entire story. A sequence of pictures for your photo album can be as few as four or five shots.

For example, imagine the children going for a walk in the woods on a blustery day.

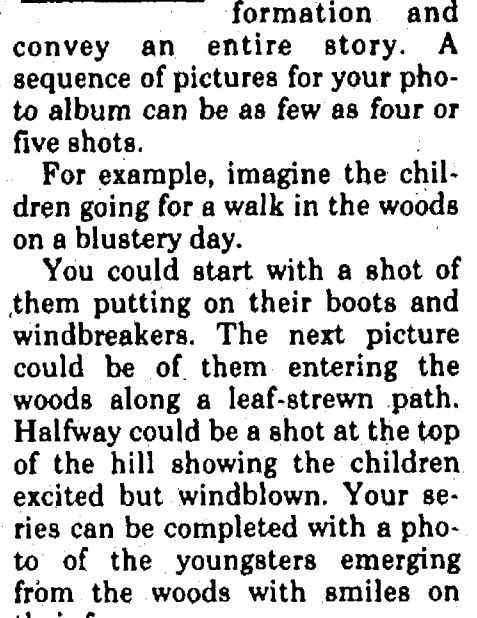

You could start with a shot of them putting on their boots and windbreakers. The next picture could be of them entering the woods along a leaf-strewn path. Halfway could be a shot at the top of the hill showing the children excited but windblown. Your series can be completed with a photo of the youngsters emerging from the woods with smiles on their faces.

Do you see the impact a series of photographs like this can have rather than just a single shot?

There are numerous other possibilities: a family member's birthday party, going to the zoo, heading out to the beach or a Sunday barbecue. Linking together pictures with a common theme will "tell a story" about a meaningful event in your life.

Travel offers excellent opportunity for photo essays. In most cases when we are looking for a way of photographing a particular place, we tend to look for the definitive picture that sums up our impression in one shot. Yet it can often be more interesting and sometimes more effective to produce a series of pictures that combine to create a record of a particular occurrence.

Traveling through Austria, I chanced on a mother and son

The annuals include Basil, which comes in several "flavors" — large or small leaves. Choose your favorite and include one with purple foliage. Flat-leaved (Italian) and curly-leaved parsley will both be used. Summer Savory is low-growing with light green foliage. Coriander grows two to three feet tall — the seeds are coriander and the foliage is known as cilantro. It, as well as the parsley, may self-sow.

The seeds of the basil and savory can be started indoors in March, although they can be sown directly into the garden as can parsley and coriander. Follow the directions carefully that are printed on the seed packets — they contain a wealth of information. It's always fun to have some special adornment in an herb garden, perhaps a bee skep, or a pedestal topped with a gazing ball (the latest "new" rage), or a potted plant. Bay, aloe, rosemary, scented geranium or a mint of your choice all will grow well in this area, as they can tolerate some shade. Set this "pretty" in the center of the garden and surround it with the Lemon Thyme.

Marty Figley is an advanced master gardener based in Birmingham. You can leave her a message by dialing 313-953-2047 on a touch-tone phone, then her mailbox number, 1859. Her fax number is 810-644-1314.

Here is suggested guide

This is a guide for your semi-shady herb garden. It gives the number of plants and packages of seeds needed. The plants needn't be placed in such rigid rows — as they grow, they will spread.

ROW I: Lavender (Lavandula angustifolia), one plant; Parsley (Petroselinum crispum), one package; Coriander (Coriandrum sativum), one package; Summer Savory (Satureja hortensis), one package; Lavender, one plant.

ROW II: Basil (Ocimum basilicum), one package; Sage (Salvia officinalis), one plant; Lemon Thyme (Thymus citriodorus), 12 plants; Sage, one plant; Basil, one package.

ROW III: Lavender, one plant; French Tarragon (Artemisia dracunculoides), four plants; Common Thyme (Thymus vulgaris), eight plants; Parsley, one package; Lavender, one plant.

Artists can get grants

Michigan artists may apply for up to $7,000 in the creative artists grant program provided by the Arts Foundation of Michigan and the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs.

This program is intended to fund projects by professional artists in all disciplines. Projects must be significant, original new work. Funded projects must include provision for public access to the work through a sponsoring nonprofit group.

Artists must apply through a Letter of Intent process. The deadline for receipt of Letters of Intent is 5 p.m., March 16 in the Arts Foundation of Michigan offices. Artists successful in the intent review process will be invited to return a full application.

For a copy of grant guidelines or more information about the Foundation and its programs, call 313-964-2244 weekdays or write: Arts Foundation of Michigan, 645 Griswold, Suite 2164, Detroit 48226.

White Oak boasts north Michigan feel

Builders and developers who work together on several projects tend to build good rapport and quality subdivisions. Three with Rochester connections are combining efforts on a 35-acre parcel a few miles north of The Palace of Auburn Hills.

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER

A residential subdivision that attracts buyers with no models on the site must be something special. That's how Rochester builders James Rutkowski, president of James Joseph Builders, and Mario Cerqua, president of Stella Homes, view White Oak in Orion Township. "You've got a wooded, beautiful subdivision, you're right by Bald Mountain State Recreation Area," Rutkowski said. "I was out here Sunday and people were riding horses through here." "You feel like you're in northern Michigan, but a quarter mile away you're in town," Cerqua said. Rutkowski controls 36 lots, Cerqua 12, each at least 100 feet wide, in the subdivision off Clarkston Road just east of Lapeer Road. Mike Foley of Rochester developed the parcel and figures that the natural beauty and seclusion will be big draws. "It's somewhat wooded off a gravel road," Foley said. "The site is surrounded by wooded, wetland areas.

"Our intent and the builders' intent was to keep homes with a base price in the $190s, which is considered affordable here today in northeast Oakland County," Foley said. "Both of these builders have been with me through several subs - Paint Creek Ridge in Orion, Oakland Farm in Oakland Township," he added. The models should be up by June, Cerqua and Rutkowski said. Prices range across the spectrum from $179,000 for a three-bedroom, 1,800-square-foot ranch to $209,000 for a four-bedroom, 2,425-square-foot two-story to $255,000 for a colonial of 3,000 square feet. Standard features include side-entry, two-car garage; first-floor utility room; basement; and range, dishwasher and garbage disposal in the kitchen. The site is serviced by city water and sewers. "Foley bought the land at the right price," Rutkowski said. "The land is inexpensive now for the area and it got passed along to us." "These houses probably will be second time (new) buyers," Cerqua said. "That's what I'm dealing with at Silver Bell. Most have kids less than 10 years old." "I'm getting a lot of interest from the Chrysler Tech Center," Rutkowski said. "What are we eight minutes away?" "I talked to one customer and she said she preferred the (Lake Orion) schools in this part of town, the wooded area," he continued. "It's wooded sites, schools and up-graded homes."

Home banking: David J. Morin, product manager with Michigan National Bank, demonstrates how to write a check on a personal computer using Microsoft's Money program.

Bank at home through your PC

STAFF WRITER

Michigan National Bank, founded in 1941 and now headquartered in Farmington Hills, impacts the community in many ways. With 191 branches statewide, it touches virtually every corner of the Observer & Eccentric coverage area. The bank reported: ■ Some 900 employees at headquarters and about 3,500 overall in the tri-county metro area. ■ A mortgage service portfolio of $13.6 billion, which includes $4 billion of its own originations. ■ Consumer loans outstanding of some $596.6 million. ■ About 8,000 individual and institutional investors/owners. Michigan National, working with two out-of-state banks and a computer software manufacturer, has developed a home banking service where its customers can write checks and manage their financial accounts from a personal computer at home. The service became available here earlier this month exclusively for its customers, Michigan National officials said. Following are edited excerpts from recent interviews with David J.

Morin, product manager; Alan M. Ostroff, senior vice president for corporate marketing and retail products; and Douglas E. Ebert, newly appointed president and chief operating officer:

What's home banking all about? Ostroff: We've given our customers the ability to bank with us from home with a personal computer. They can do just about everything except receive cash. It tracks loan accounts, investments. You don't even have to make (check register) entries with this. It reconciles automatically. Morin: What we have in addition is the ability to categorize. Maas was reappointed executive director.

where you spend your money and know your net worth at any given time.

What's needed to get the service?

Ostroff: A personal computer with 386 or better processor, which is the speed of the machine. It needs Microsoft Windows 3.1. That comes with most computers now. You would need a modem and you would need a bank account with us. And, of course, Microsoft Money (software) version 3.0.

What does this cost the individual consumer?

Ostroff: We can order the software for $29.95. In addition, we provide a $20 rebate when they sign up for the service.

The Bank On-Line allows automatic reconciliation of up to 10 accounts, balance inquiries and electronic mail to the bank for $7.95 per month. Pay On-Line, where we make 20 payments per month is $9.95. The two together, which we would expect most people to get, is $14.95.

What did you have to do at your end from a technical standpoint to make this service possible?

Morin: There was programming done on our main frame. We make files available... customers' data. The customer dials in, the personal computer takes it and brings the data down.

Who is your prime target group? Who is most likely to use something like this?

Ostroff: There's a large segment of people who want to keep all their finances well organized.

Morin: A lot of people write the checks for the same amount every month. They have an ability to press a button and we'll send the checks for them.

Ostroff: There are people who don't like to reconcile a checkbook, but want to know how much money they have all the time.

To do a good job, we have to provide a delivery system that satisfies all kinds of customers.

How long will it be before your competitors offer a similar service?

Ostroff: Exclusivity (with Microsoft) is a provision of our contract. The agreement is long enough to give us an advantage.

Morin: The software business always has been innovative. I think they will start testing, but it will be a full year before they put a system in place.

Mr. Ebert, you joined Michigan National in December. How do you think the bank is perceived in the community?

Ebert: The most important constituent, of course, is our shareholders. That's why we're here. Shareholders fall into two categories. People who bought our stock, will never sell and look at it for income. Over time, this group has done well with us and will continue to do so.

Another group who buys for capital appreciation is happy when the price goes up, unhappy when it goes down.

Then there's the customer group. Our market share of deposits has grown faster than all but one major bank in the state. We're 8 percent market share. In a market that's mostly stable, we're growing.

On the commercial side, business borrowers and government institutions, we probably have one of the strongest and loyal customer base of any financial institution.

Our third constituent is our employees. We have a quality of team members. I don't know how our turnover compares to other banks, but it's quite low. We want to keep it that way.

What do you see as your biggest challenge?

Ebert: How do we expand beyond our brick and mortar to allow people to transact business with us regardless of where they are... at the lowest cost?

Jim LeGray and his fiancée, Roxanne Lee, plan to build a story and a half model on a back lot.

"We prefer the great room and master bedroom on the main floor and two bedrooms upstairs," LeGray said.

"I work for Chrysler and expect to be at the CTC in the near future," he said. "My girlfriend works in Flint. We were interested in Orion Township for that reason, plus she grew up there."

"The development is quite heavily wooded off Lapeer Road which moves pretty good," LeGray added. "We were looking for a walkout lot that backed up to Bald Mountain Recreation Area. We were looking for privacy."

David and Lynette Ormsby, with two children, will build a ranch in White Oak.

"We've looked around," David said. "We looked at what he (Rutkowski) built. He does pretty good work. That's what a lot of people do — look through plans then find a builder."

"We're moving up a little bit from the first new house we built. I'm in the country, but near the city, too," he said.

Kevin and Sabrina Morelli, also with two children, ordered a story-and-a-half from Cerqua with the master suite on the main floor and three bedrooms upstairs.

"It's our first new house," Sabrina said. "It's so wooded, a real country atmosphere. Yet, we have access to the highway to get where we have to get fairly quick. We fell in love with the lots in general."

The current property tax rate to provide school, township and county services in the subdivision is $54.54 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, half of market value. That means the owner of a $179,000 house in White Oak would pay about $4,881 annually now in taxes.

However, that will change when voters decide a new school financing plan.

Rutkowski's sales trailer at White Oak (call 810-814-0375) is open 1-6 p.m. daily, closed Thursday. Cerqua's sales trailer (810-693-4004) is open 2-7 p.m. weekdays, noon to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, closed Thursday.

International builders show tickets now on sale

The second annual Spring Home and Garden Show proved to be the perfect warmup for the upcoming 76th annual International Builders Home, Flower and Furniture Show, March 19-27 at Detroit's Cobo Conference-Exhibition Center.

"The huge crowds at the spring show indicate the popularity of this type of event," said Robert Jones, president of the non-profit Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan and Robert Jones Associates in West Bloomfield.

"The spring show ran Feb. 3-6 at the Novi Expo Center, with rave reviews from show-goers who are looking forward to the 'grand-daddy' of all home and garden shows: the Cobo Builders show."

The Cobo show is the largest show of its kind in the Midwest.

BASM is the event sponsor. Builders show hours will be 2-10 p.m. Monday-Friday, noon to 10 p.m. Saturdays and noon to 6 p.m. Sundays. Admission is $5.76 for adults, $3.50 for children age 6-12 and seniors, and free for children under 6. Family tickets for two adults and accompanying children are available at Farmer Jack/A&P for $8.

Discount admission coupons were mailed to homeowners in their Detroit Edison bills. Free admission coupons for Monday, March 21, are available at all Builders Square stores. For more information, call 810-737-4478.

More than 400 exhibitors will span 500,000 square feet of display space showing the latest technology, products and services for kitchens, baths, doors, windows, yards and gardens, remodeling, arts and crafts, decorative accessories, appliances, heating and cooling.

Special highlights at the show will include the Riverwalk Gardens created by the Metropolitan Detroit Landscape Association, PBS-TV's "Victory Garden" guest host Gary Koller March 19-20, Discovery Channel's Ms. Fix-It Beverly DeJulio March 24-27, Parade of Homes featuring new homes and a free plan book, expert demonstrations on gardening, decorating and remodeling, entertainment such as dancers, musical groups and singers, House of Nails and Treasure Chest contests and a Chevy truck giveaway.

BASM is also sponsor of the second annual Fall Remodeling Show at the Novi Expo Center.

Videoconferencing offered

The Kinko's stores in Southfield and Ann Arbor now offer videoconferencing services. The system offers customers high-quality, face-to-face communications technology. Business people can use it to open a video link with other Kinko's stores or with videoconferencing facilities worldwide.

The system will make it possible for executives to communicate with colleagues on the road or at home and for families to reunite for the holidays.

Kinko's and Sprint announced an agreement in September to offer the largest public retail videoconferencing network ever in the U.S.

It plans to have the network, featuring PicturTel videoconferencing equipment, installed in 100 stores by April. Many of the company's 650 stores eventually will be linked. Sprint will provide the phone lines for the videoconferencing and data network.

Videoconferencing rates, including use of conference rooms and other amenities, are $150 per hour at each end. But once the system becomes operational, Kinko's will feature a special introductory price of $20 per hour at all 100 locations for the first 30 days.

In addition to videoconferencing links between participating Kinko's stores, Sprint's video network will allow Kinko's customers to communicate with 3,000 other public and private rooms in 38 countries through Sprint's Meeting Manager 800-number reservations system.

The new electronic capabilities will complement Kinko's desktop publishing, photocopying, finishing and computer rental services.
