Assessments increase slightly

Westland homeowners will see their smallest property assessment increase in years — 3.33 percent — this spring. The city assessor also expects a sharp drop in the number of assessment appeals to the city's board of review.

Westland residential property assessments are increasing just 3.33 percent in 1994 — the smallest jump in seven years excluding a statewide freeze in 1992. Westland assessor

Karen Hardin said Friday.

"I believe this is going to be very good news to people," she said.

Assessment notices are expected to be mailed to property owners by the middle of this week, Hardin said. Appeals will be heard next month.

The 3.33-percent increase is dramatically less than last year's 13 percent, which sparked a record 3,600 appeals, the assessor said. She is predicting far fewer appeals — perhaps 1,400 — in 1994.

Barring the 1992 freeze, this year's assessment increases are the lowest since a 2.6-percent hike was recorded in 1987, Hardin said.

Commercial and industrial assessment increases are typically lower than those for residential property, and that holds true this year, too, Hardin said.

Commercial assessments are climbing 2.38 percent for 1994, while industrial assessments are unchanged from last year, Hardin said.

"Residential properties sell much faster and at a higher rate," Hardin said, explaining why residential assessments typically rise faster than those for commercial and industrial properties.

Increases in housing prices have slowed in the last two years, which helps account for the smaller as-

Woman dies from injuries

BY DARRELL CLEM

A 24-year-old Westland woman died Thursday night from injuries she suffered 30 hours earlier when she lost control of her car on Warren Road near Newburgh and was hit broadside by an oncoming semi-trailer, police said.

Lori Ann Ankenbrandt, who suffered severe head and internal injuries, died at 11 p.m. Thursday at the University of Michigan Hospitals, said Westland police officer Jack McIntosh.

Ankenbrandt — whose death marked Westland's second traffic fatality this year — had undergone surgery and had been placed on a life-support system prior to her death, the officer said.

A semi-trailer slammed into the driver's side of Ankenbrandt's 1980 Mercury at 5:20 p.m. Wednesday when she lost control of her car while driving east on Warren, about a quarter-mile west of Newburgh, McIntosh said.

Ankenbrandt's car crossed the double-yellow line and skidded sideways into the path of the westbound truck, driven by a Kentucky man who didn't have time to avoid the accident, McIntosh said. The truck driver won't face any criminal charges, the officer said.

"He did slow down," McIntosh said, based on information provided by eyewitnesses.

Police are investigating why Ankenbrandt lost control of her car. She was alone at the time.

"We think she (started skidding) when she turned the wheel to try to get back into her lane," McIntosh said.

Her car spun around during the crash and came to rest beside a guard rail, the officer said.

Ankenbrandt's body was partially hanging out of the vehicle when officers arrived on the scene; she wasn't wearing a seat belt, McIntosh said.

Funeral arrangements weren't available as of Friday morning.

Ford Vocational/Technical Center in Westland will compete in the first Ford Motor Co./AAA Student Auto Skills National Quality Care Challenge. It will be held at Washtenaw County Community College, Ann Arbor. Schools finishing in the top 10 on the written exam will compete May 12 in the "hands-on" state final in Dearborn. The national competition will be June 20 in Washington, D.C. Purpose of the competition is to encourage automotive students to pursue careers in the auto care profession, said Jerry Basch, AAA Michigan community safety services manager. Nationally, some 6,000 students will compete for more than $1.8 million in scholarships and prizes.

Taxing times

Free income tax preparation will be offered to local senior citizens throughout the tax season at the Westland Friendship Center, 1119 N. Newburgh near Marquette. Hours are 10-11:45 a.m. and 12:45-3 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays through April 14. People seeking the free help are urged to bring their 1992 tax returns, W-2 and W-2P statements for 1993, SS1099 Social Security and other 1099 forms, real estate tax or recent receipts and hospitalization premium and prescription receipts. The service is provided by the American Association of Retired Persons, Chapter 1642, in cooperation with the Westland Senior Resources Department and volunteers. A private tax consultant will be at the center between 10 a.m. and 3:20 p.m. every Tuesday through March 22 by appointment only. A small fee will be charged. To arrange an appointment, call 722-7632.

City council approves more money for prisoner care

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Capping weeks of discussion, the Westland City Council has approved a measure nearly tripling the amount of money it had earlier given the police department to jail prisoners.

The city will spend about $294,000 for prisoner care for the fiscal year that ends June 30. The original budget approved by the council was only $101,340.

Rising costs have been largely attributed to a crackdown on criminals — particularly repeat offenders — by police and 18th District Court judges.

The council last week voted unanimously to boost the original budget by $163,000. Coupled with an earlier $30,000 amendment, money set aside for prisoner care has virtually tripled to $294,000.

Costs have increased substantially in recent years, climbing from only $113,763 in 1989-90. Simultaneously, 18th District judges have seen an increase in the criminal cases they hear, with 1,325 new felony cases being filed in the last three years for serious crimes such as robberies and rapes.

■ The city will spend about $294,000 for prisoner care for the fiscal year that ends June 30.

When police officials sought the budget amendment in January, some council members questioned the need for the threefold increase and asked for documentation. Subsequent reports provided by police and court officials have apparently eased any concerns, judging by last week's unanimous vote.

Councilwoman Sandra Cicirelli — who earlier had questioned the increased costs — stressed last week that her concerns shouldn't be viewed as casting doubt on the police department.

"That was not the intent at all," she told Police Chief Emery Price during the council session. "If that misunderstanding is out there, I certainly hope it is corrected."

The budget amendment was approved last week with little fanfare or discussion, capping public discussions that began in mid-January.

Some of the $193,000 in added expenses will be paid by shifting money to prisoner care from other police department expenses. For example, $60,000 will come from decreased expenses in fringe benefits for police employees.

In an effort to cut prisoner-care expenses, Westland police are sending more and more jailed criminals to out-state facilities in Iosco, Hillsdale and Shiawassee counties — where costs are lower than in Wayne County.

assessment increases in residential properties, Hardin said.

Homeowners are expected to notice their property taxes decline by 40-45 percent this year because of school taxes that were slashed by state lawmakers, she said.

Michigan voters will decide a state ballot proposal on March 15 that will determine whether they want to replace school funding by raising the state sales tax or the income tax.

In a related development, the city has scheduled residential assessment appeals for March 10 from 1-8:30 p.m. and on March 11, 14 and 15 from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., Hardin said.

Commercial and industrial appeals will be heard March 8 and 9.

After receiving their assessment notices, residents seeking an appeal should phone 467-3160 for an appointment with the Board of Review, Hardin said. Residents can appeal based on financial hardship or if they believe their property is assessed too high, she said.

The Westland assessor's office has pamphlets to help property owners understand the appeals process. The pamphlets are available at the assessor's office, which is on the second floor of City Hall on Ford, between Wayne Road and Newburgh.

The appeals will be heard in City Hall's city council chambers, also on the second floor of City Hall.

Man charged in assault with auto

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A Wayne man has been charged with ramming a car into four people as he drove away from Westland's Rock-a-Way bar, where he had been involved in a fight, Westland police said.

Carl Wayne Boone, 22, was arraigned Thursday in Westland 18th District Court on four counts of assault with intent to do great bodily harm (less than murder), said Westland Detective Sgt. Donald Haigh.

The incident sent a 28-year-old Westland man to the University of Michigan Hospital, where he underwent at least two surgeries for leg injuries, Haigh has said. Three other people received lesser injuries, he said.

A not guilty plea was entered for Boone in 18th District Court last week. He is expected to be in court again this week for a preliminary examination to determine if he should stand trial on the charges.

He remained in jail at press time Friday in lieu of a $50,000 cash bond, Haigh said.

The incident occurred at 2:05 a.m. Jan. 31 outside of the Rock-a-Way Cafe on Ford Road near Wildwood, on the Westland-Garden City boundary.

The incident began inside the bar when he became embroiled in a dispute with a female friend he had accompanied to the bar, Haigh had said earlier. He was subsequently ordered to leave the bar.

He also argued with other people, including a Rock-a-Way doorman who was among the injured, Haigh said.

The man, who had the keys to the woman's car, started it and drove over a concrete parking block, ramming into a small crowd of people and injuring four, Haigh said.

The victim who received the worst injuries was virtually pinned between the car and the building, Haigh said.

Recital to explore work of black pianists

What do Fats Waller, Scott Joplin, and Os- car Peterson have in common with John Work, George Walker, and William Grant Still?

On Wednesday, the Livonia Area Piano Teachers Forum will present Gail Davis-Barnes in a lecture-recital titled "Piano Music of Black Composers," in which the above question and many others will be answered.

The program will begin 9:30 a.m. in the Hammell Music Store, 15630 Middlebelt Road, Livonia. The lecture-recital is open to the public. For information call 427-1597.

Barnes, pianist and teacher in the Ann Arbor area, has lectured and performed the music of black composers for school and community groups, and her expertise and artistry are appreciated by her audiences.

Her recital-lectures often includes performances of such selections as "A Deserted Cabin," "Magnolias," "Dark Horseman."

Hill, Haigh said. The robbers — one white and one black — escaped with an undisclosed sum of money.

Police also are continuing to investigate an armed robbery that occurred at 12:04 a.m. Feb. 19 at Hungry Howie's pizzeria, 1820 S. Newburgh.

A lone white male walked into the pizzeria carrying a semiautomatic pistol and demanded money from three employees, Haigh said. The man took money from the business and also robbed the workers of their personal money, Haigh said.

The robber has been described as a heavysset, 5-foot 4-inch male who wore a black ski mask over the lower part of his face, the detective said.

Police also are continuing to investigate the 12:30 a.m. Feb. 18 robbery of the 7-Eleven at 172 S. John Hix, south of Cherry Hill. A lone white male escaped with an undisclosed sum of money after he walked into the store and used a black-steel automatic pistol to rob the store clerk, Haigh said.

The robber was described as a white male, 17 to 18 years old, about 5-foot-5 and weighing about 150 pounds.

Girl Scouts explore world's cultures

Some 140 Girl Scouts were reminded recently that they are part of a world-wide organization. The scouts, from three neighborhoods, took part in their second annual multicultural festival, Saturday, Feb. 19, in St. John's Episcopal Church, 555 W. Wayne Road.

"Each troop represented a different country in which the troop provided a flag from the country, a presentation ranging from a dance, song or report from that nation," as well as food from that country, said Pam Moyer, scout leader.

"Many took it a step further and dressed in the country's attire. Each girl also had to make a small gift to exchange with another girl that represented her country."

The festival gave the scouts an opportunity to see how other cultures live, Moyer said. They tasted different types of food, heard music, learned an African song and Russian dance, played international games, saw different types of clothing, and made a Mexican art picture.

Nancy Leonard headed the festival.

Adults involved, followed by their scout level, nation and school, are:

Susan Hershberger, Daisy troop, Scotland; Bonnie Deroch, Brownie troop, Mexico; Pam Moyer, Brownie Troop, Nigeria;

Nancy Leonard, Junior troop, Greece; all from Walker School; Desiree Sandstorm, Brownie troop, China, St. Michael School; Kim Sundman and Leeann Paraski, Daisy troop, America; Kim Morales, Brownie troop, Australia; Suzie Bower, Brownie troop, Philippines; Cindy Lear, Brownie troop, America; Lynda Heebsh, Junior troop, Japan, and Kathy Edwards, Junior troop, Germany, all from P.D. Graham School.

Teen could get life in prison for robbery that netted $33

BY DARRELL CLEM

A Westland teen has pleaded guilty to a December robbery in which a 7-Eleven clerk was beaten with a steel pipe.

Charles Emory Gates, 19, faces sentencing March 15 after pleading guilty to an armed robbery that occurred at 1:49 a.m. Dec. 20 at the 7-Eleven on Hix Road, south of Cherry Hill.

Gates could face up to life in prison; he will be sentenced by Detroit Recorder's Judge Leonard Townsend.

Townsend's clerk confirmed Friday that Gates pleaded guilty Feb. 18 - the day that he had been scheduled for a final pretrial conference.

Garden City co-defendant

Shawn Michael Fischer, 21, is still facing a jury trial for armed robbery. His trial is set for April 19.

Westland police accused Gates of going into the 7-Eleven, assaulting the employee with a steel pipe and robbing the store of $33.50. The pipe was 2 feet long and 1 inch wide, Westland Detective Sgt. Donald Haigh has said.

The employee was injured but survived the incident.

Although police have said Fischer didn't go into the store, he was charged with armed robbery amid allegations he accompanied Gates and waited outside in a getaway car.

Gates and Fischer were ordered to stand trial on the charges after they appeared in Westland 18th District Court for a preliminary examination on Dec. 30.

Gates voluntarily waived his examination, in a move that automatically sent his case to Recorder's Court. Fischer tried to beat the charge by having testimony presented during his hearing, but he, too, was ordered to stand trial.

Westland police arrested Fischer after he initially went to the police department posing as a witness to the robbery. Police allege that he later made incriminating statements against himself and Gates.

Gates was subsequently arrested and identified in a photo lineup of suspects, Haigh has said.

Man pleads guilty to assault

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A Westland man accused of holding a knife to his ex-girlfriend's throat and threatening to kill her has pleaded guilty to attempted felonious assault.

Nathan Anderson Atkinson, 22, could face up to two years in prison when he is sentenced May 5 by Detroit Recorder's Judge M. John Shamo.

Atkinson had faced trial for felonious assault, which carries a maximum penalty of four years in prison upon conviction. But his guilty plea last week averted the trial.

He is free on bond pending his sentencing.

Atkinson was ordered to stand trial Feb. 3 when he appeared in Westland 18th District Court for a preliminary examination. He waived the hearing, in a decision that automatically sent his case to Recorder's Court.

The charge stemmed from an incident on the night of Jan. 22 in which his 24-year-old former girlfriend accused him of holding a knife to her throat and threatening to kill her.

The incident occurred about 11:20 p.m. inside the woman's residence in the 36600 block of Palmer. The two formerly lived together, and they have two young children, police have said.

The woman reported to police that she and Atkinson had argued over her new boyfriend and that Atkinson became violent. She was not seriously injured, however.

Police reports indicated that the suspect told her, "I should kill you and then kill myself."

The woman managed to phone 9-1-1 for help during a lull in the dispute, police reports said. Atkinson then went outside of the house and sat in his car until police arrived.

Schools to celebrate anniversary

Circle Friday, April 22, on your calendar. That looks like the day Livonia Public Schools will hold a 1950s-style sock hop at the Bentley Center to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the school district, which includes the northern section of Westland.

District residents of all ages are invited to the party, which will be held on the exact day 50 years ago when residents went to the polls and approved consolidating the seven districts serving local students into one district.

A 30-member committee has been meeting to decide how to celebrate the district's golden anniversary. A consensus emerged quickly to have one big, inexpensive, fun-type party that the whole community could attend instead of something more formal.

Tickets will be $5 per person, or $15 per family. In keeping with the '50s motif, food sold at the sock hop will all be 50 cents, said Jay Young, district community relations director.

The committee soon will unveil a 50th anniversary logo specially designed for the occasion. The logo will be put on banners and posters hung in each school.

"Schools are being asked to research the history of their school," Young said. "Everyone is working feverishly because of the short time-line."

Father and sons: International Extrusions officer Marshall Noecker (center) was joined by sons William (left) and Nicholas at a company open house several weeks ago to showcase new equipment at the facility on Venoy north of Ford. Another son, Gregory, also works for the business.

Storm window plant expands

BY LEANNE ROGERS
STAFF WRITER

Nearly 40 years after getting into the aluminum business, Marshall Noecker showed off nearly $1.5 million worth of new equipment several weeks ago at his International Extrusions company.

"I started out as a certified public accountant with Ernst and Ernst in New York City," said Noecker. "I was in World War II. I realized that aluminum was the wonder metal of World War II and somehow I had to get into the aluminum business."

Moving to Detroit, Noecker started manufacturing aluminum storm windows in an operation that included plants in England, Scotland, Ireland, Belgium, Holland and Wales. He still has plants in Ireland and Wales.

"The market for storm windows got pretty saturated and I was big in aluminum siding. I got out of that 10 years ago," said Noecker. "I was also in awnings. Air conditioning got so cheap that they could cool the house for the price of a set of awnings. So I sold that off."

Today, the 160,000-square-foot facility on Venoy north of Ford, which employs 90 people, uses 5,000 different dies for various firms. The products include everything from automotive equipment, to a bracket for wheelchairs, to covers used for the sides of pool tables, and Lionel trains.

"Transportation is a growing area. Bus shelters are really coming," said Noecker. "So are commercial replacement windows. Right now we are changing all the windows at the Detroit Athletic Club."

International Extrusions, which opened in Garden City in 1972, is being updated with high-tech equipment like the $1.3 million powder coat paint equipment.

"The paint is 98 percent recoverable. There is no waste. There is a stainless steel floor. It scoops up the paint and recirculates it," Noecker said. "There are none of the three problems you have with liquid paint."

The three problems eliminated by the new equipment, he said, are paint fumes being released into the atmosphere, chemicals entering sewer systems and solid waste.

"We use it for auto parts, windows, picture frames and big signs like for Shell," Noecker said. "We have two powder coat (machines), one is dedicated to white and the other one can do six colors."

At 78, Noecker said he has no plans to retire from the business in which three of his eight children work.

"The business has always been competitive. I feel we've done a good job because of the high quality and service," he said.

Westland budget director out of running for new job

Westland budget director Tim McCurley won't be taking a similar position in Rochester Hills, after all.

Although McCurley was the last of 78 applicants to remain under consideration, the Rochester Hills city council decided Wednesday to seek another batch of applicants rather than offer him the job.

A fractured council conducted a 5½-hour meeting Wednesday night, before deciding — unanimously — to reject McCurley as the replacement for departing finance director/clerk/treasurer, Keith Sawdon. And, they decided to re-advertise for new candidates.

Near the 1 a.m. ending of the meeting, council member Scot Beaton evaluated the meeting: "We're big people here, but sometimes we act like kids in a playground."

The finance candidate selected by the majority of the seven-member council — from a field of 78 applicants — didn't meet with the approval of Mayor Billie Ireland and her two principal council supporters, Jon Buller and Ken Snell.

McCurley, 37, faced the council Wednesday in his first public interview but essentially his second interview for the job. He was rejected outright and the search process was ordered to begin anew.

"I don't feel when the net went out it was cast far enough," said Buller. "The pool from which we drew our applicants was not large enough."

Ireland, asked by council president Pat Roberts if she would have a problem working with McCurley, said, "Yes. Personality-wise, no."

The council's six-member search committee of Ireland, city labor attorney Tom Boyer, Sawdon, plus council members Roberts, Pat Somerville, and Lauren Shepherd narrowed the candidates to four, then two. Some members said they worked 10-12 hours a day on the matter.

McCurley has worked for Westland for eight years after three as deputy finance director for Canton Township. He received an evaluation score of 82 points from Shepherd and 81 from Somerville, Roberts and Sawdon. Ireland (who said she scored everyone low) gave him 42 points and Boyer gave him 60.

A woman who tied McCurley as top candidate was rejected after a second interview, committee members said, because in her another job she invested city money in a fund later deemed improper by the state Attorney General's Office.

"But that was after the fact," Buller said, "and wasn't a reason to reject her."

However, alluding to the legal problems of Ireland — who was scheduled to go on trial today for fraud — Roberts said: "If we don't, in the city of Rochester Hills, hire somebody who is squeaky clean — S-Q-U-E-A-K-Y, squeaky — we are in trouble."

A factor against McCurley was the low level of the Westland investment portfolio he handled, about $15 million, compared with Rochester Hills' $100 million portfolio.

McCurley told the council that despite Ireland's low rating of him, if accepted he would "work closely with her and talk with her. I don't see that as being a problem. We're all here to achieve one goal and that's what is best for Rochester Hills."

With council members split, they agreed to draft new advertisements consisting of more detailed criteria — including insisting on references, which weren't in previous specifications. Council members will decide at their March 2 meeting on the appropriateness of the ads and perhaps establish a new timetable for replacing Sawdon, whose last day was Friday.

Meanwhile, Cheryl Drinnon, the deputy treasurer, and Bev Jasinski, deputy clerk, were officially named to handle Sawdon's old duties until his job can be filled.

"This is only going to be one more sore under the saddle that will split us apart," Snell said, adding later that, "If we don't all join together the boat's going to sink."

Snell and Buller chastised Roberts at length on several procedural matters.

Snell complained that a hastily-called council meeting the previous Saturday to discuss the Sawdon replacement did not include a mandatory 24-hour written notice presented to members. And Buller railed that a decision to take an item off the agenda at Wednesday's meeting didn't follow Robert's Rules of Order.

"I don't think that all this jumping down on the president of the Rochester Hills Council is healthy," said Beaton. And, "I wish the seven of us could find a way not to spend so much time bickering."

Buller, accused by Beaton of being mean-spirited, countered that, "I'm not doing this to be nasty to an individual. It's done because the chair has run roughshod over some of the members."

Proposal A

Government groups have little enthusiasm

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Only the Michigan Townships Association likes Proposal A, the school finance reform plan on the March 16 ballot.

The Michigan Municipal League, composed of 500 cities and villages, is opposed.

Neutral is the Michigan Association of School Boards and Michigan Association of Counties.

"MTA says everyone must play a part (in school reform). The townships will play a part by accepting a cap on assessments," MTA staffer Pat McAvooy told the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

She referred to Proposal A's 5-percent cap on growth in assessments, which actually will mean a smaller percentage growth in revenue, because business and farm property values haven't increased as fast as residential property.

"We're willing to take that cut in revenue to support school finance reform," McAvooy said.

"Proposal A provides guarantees that (new sales-tax) revenues will go into the school aid fund," McAvooy said, citing the MTA Board's primary reason for endorsing the plan.

"School (property) taxes (under A) can't be increased without a three-fourths vote of the Legislature," she said, citing the second reason.

"For all the reasons MTA supported A, we opposed it," said John Niemala, lobbyist for the Michigan Municipal League. MML's statement said most municipalities would see service cuts "as local officials scramble to cope with reduced funds."

The assessment cap, Niemala said, "will require assessors to keep two sets of books — one with the assessed value and one with market value."

Niemala said Proposal A would amend the state constitution by removing language clearly guaranteeing 15 percent of the current 4-percent sales tax to cities, villages and townships.

MML also opposes Proposal A because it would "nearly eliminate" tax increment financing to pay for local industrial, commercial and downtown economic development. Proposal A will halt cities' "revenue capture" of school property taxes.

The Michigan Association of Counties hasn't taken a position because "there are not enough data to tell the fiscal impact," said MAC lobbyist Ron Wilson.

Lowering school property taxes from 35 mills to 24 mills or less will mean fewer tax delinquencies, Wilson said, and that will cost many mid-sized counties $250,000 a year in delinquency fees.

Linda Beers, lobbyist for the neutral Michigan Association of School Boards, said Proposal A doesn't fully protect school revenue.

"I've removed 'guarantees' from my vocabulary," said Beers. "Only the sales tax is earmarked constitutionally. Other taxes are only statutorily earmarked."

She said school districts no longer will be able to sell bonds to finance technology, re-equipping, and remodeling of buildings. And she deplored the "blinking war" state politicians are waging for the support of interest groups.

MASB has taken no position on Proposal A, she said.

Beers added that income-tax revenues have grown 102 percent in 10 years while sales-tax revenues have gone up 82 percent. Proposal A would raise the sales tax to 6 percent and lower the income tax to 4.4 percent. If voters reject Proposal A, the income tax will rise to 6 percent.

Spring picnic reservations go on sale at parks office

The Wayne County Parks System begins taking reservations for outdoor picnics beginning Tuesday, March 1.

Permits can be obtained at the parks headquarters in Nankin Mills on Hines Drive, just west of Farmington Road in Westland. Hours for applying are 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday through Friday.

General picnic permits are $25. Rental of Elizabeth Park Shelter in Trenton is $50. Rental of Wilcox Shelter in Plymouth is $50. Rental of Warrendale Shelter in Dearborn Heights is $100.

S'craft offers computer classes

Computer classes offered at Schoolcraft College beginning in March will include "Introduction to Pagemaker on the Macintosh," "Lotus Skills Development" and "Personal Computing Basics."

"Introduction to Pagemaker" will meet 9-11 a.m. Saturdays, March 12 to April 30. Fee is $152.

Students will learn to produce publications like newsletters and brochures with Pagemaker. Some layout techniques will be discussed.

The Lotus course will meet noon to 2 p.m. Saturdays, March 12 to April 16. Fee is $127.

"Personal Computer Basics" will meet 5:30-7:30 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays, March 14 to April 13. Fee is $169.

For more information, call 462-4448.

S'craft plans home improvement day

They couldn't get Tim Allen, but Schoolcraft College has followed and will host the first annual "Home Improvement Seminar" from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday, April 9.

No, this won't be an insightful analysis of the recurring comedy themes in Allen's television show, but rather a demonstration regarding minor construction work around the house.

The seminar consists of 10 90-minute, hands-on clinics revealing the mysteries of ceramic tile installation, glass block installation, kitchen design ideas, wallpapering, and toilet installation, each offered twice; plus one three-hour clinic on basic deck construction. According to Kathy Simonelli, a program technician in Schoolcraft's Continuing Education Department, participants will be permitted to handle materials and perform some of the work like "wallpapering around tricky areas" and handling the glass blocks. "You could learn a whole lot in one day," she said.

Each person will get a 10-percent discount coupon from Handy Andy and a chance to win the 8-by-8-foot deck that will be assembled in the deck clinic. Handy Andy personnel will transport the deck to the winner's abode, but installation is up to the winner.

Handy Andy will provide all the instructors:

regional training coordinators Rick Dobbert and Greg Smith, kitchen and bath coordinator Dan Philips, and in-store demonstrator Tom Tilney and Chris Sneddon.

Vendors in attendance will be Walker Williams Lumber, Tafo Glass Block, Norcraft Cabinets, Kraftmaid Cabinets, Starmark Cabinets and Contempo Laminates.

Simonelli, who moved into a Canton Township house a year ago, said she's a home improvement aficionado, too.

"I'm a real Handy Andy kind of person," she said. "I like to do this stuff."

The cost for all this is $30, of which Simonelli said, "I don't think you can beat the price." To register, call 462-4448.

Applications being accepted for scholarship

The Schoolcraft College Foundation is accepting applications for the 1994-95 Foundation Scholarship Award.

The $1,100 scholarship covers tuition and fees.

To be eligible, candidates must be Schoolcraft students, have completed 30 credit hours by the end of the spring 1994 semester, have a minimum 3.0 grade point average, be enrolled as a full-time student carrying a minimum of 12 credit hours and plan to be a full-time Schoolcraft student in the fall 1994 and winter 1995 semesters.

Applications are available in the financial aid office: The deadline to submit applications is May 2. For more information, call 462-4433.

SECURITY HOME LOAN (810) 669-4334

Firm makes loans available to individuals with troubled credit

There are many reasons why millions of Americans fall victim to credit problems every year. From maxing out credit cards to more sobering causes including loss of employment, family growth, medical emergencies and poor training in personal and household financial management.

Fortunately, there is now a local company making consolidation and new purchase loans available to people in these situations. We asked Bill Cunningham, Vice President of Security Home Loan...

Who is eligible for one of these loans?
We will work with individuals who have equity in their homes and have had debt problems of one type or another.

How does the loan work?
We take the people who are living from paycheck to paycheck and consolidate all of their obligations into one lower payment. In fact, the average person will save from 30 to 40 percent of this type.

How can someone apply for one of these loans?
At Security, we pre-approve people over the phone at no charge. At that time, we also give the person an idea of how much money we can save them.

Call Bill Cunningham at Security Home Loan (810) 669-4334 if you are interested in having a payment analysis done.

Marking time with real style

It's about time I devoted a column to that which passes all too quickly. Yes, time flies and if you measure time by the face of your Seiko or Timex, you may be a bit out of synch with the newest trends in timepieces. The Swiss are once again the premier watchmakers of the world and to discover the companies that are household names to Europeans and astute collectors, you need only a brief visit with Dion Zaniewski, master horologist.

Zaniewski pursues the science of time measurement at his shop, Dion's World of Watches, in the Crosswinds Mall, 4301 Orchard Lake, West Bloomfield.

What's the newest trend in watches? Believe it or not, quartz is out and mechanical (you wind it) is in. "There's a certain tradition, nostalgia in mechanical watches," says Zaniewski. "You can hear it ticking, can see it working."

Zaniewski wears a Krieger mechanical chronograph ($3,000). It has what he calls a PhD, or certificate of accuracy, that attests to the superior quality of the instrument. It is also engraved with a serial number that identifies it as yours alone. Only the best Swiss companies offer this certification. They include Rolex, Chopard and Chronoswiss.

In praise of the mechanical watch, Held Kamber of Bloomfield Village has worn her distinctive manual-wind Cartier for the past 15 years. It still keeps perfect time, but she also secretly loves her daughter's bright-faced Swatch.

Tres chic

The most expensive watch that Zaniewski has sold in his shop was a handmade limited-edition Swiss Chopard ($35,000). The company made only 50 and four came to the United States. "The watch took over a year to produce and encased 650 hand-crafted parts.

The Chopard collection includes an 18 karat rose gold skeleton-back beauty ($4,500) and a lady's gold watch face surrounded by floating diamonds ($16,750). The hottest new watches to hit the U.S. this year are the Hermes creations. The Medor is a covered fashion watch distinguished by its raised gold pyramids ($1,100).

This Hermes signature began as a dog collar, evolved into a belt design and can now adorn your wrist.

The Kelly watch by Hermes is a replica of the famous Grace Kelly handbag with the characteristic padlock attached ($850-$900).

Sports watches

Sports watches are another skyrocketing market and the European leader is Sector. They sponsor No Limits athletes, those extremists who endeavor the world's most challenging feats. These rugged timepieces are Swiss made of Italian design and, according to Zaniewski, are the best value for your dollar ($198-$1,695).

Another one-of-a-kind watch design is that of Alain Silberstein, architect turned watchmaker. The industry loves his signature squigly second hand and triangle-shaped hour hand. His limited-edition professional diver's watch ($6,500) is available at Dion's, one of only 100 in the U.S. Finally, my favorite, the vintage-look Chronoswiss rimmed in etched silver with hand-cut steel hands and a leather band. It has a classic turn-of-the-century dial ($4,950). But Americans still love Rolex, the best mass-produced watch on the market.

Leon Landsberg and his wife of Farmington Hills, both own Rolexes and trust them to no one but Dion. "Dion's the greatest. He's honest and saves you money," gushed Landsberg.

When it's time to replace that Rolex, look to Chopard, Breguet, Vacheron Constantin, Pignet, the most respected names in Europe and the pride of Switzerland, the Land of Time.

Jake's bridal show glitters at the Fox

The highlight of Jacobson's first Bridal Fair was a fashion show that lasted almost two hours on stage at the Fox Theatre in Detroit.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Planning a wedding is both joy and jitter, so Jacobson's Bridal Fair, "The Making Of A Great Wedding" at the Fox Theater Tuesday night, sounded like a good idea to hundreds of metro-Detroit brides. The place was packed.

"I came to Jacobson's bridal show because I saw the ad on television, and I wanted to see Jacobson's selection of bridal gowns and get some ideas for my wedding," said Agnes Burke of Canton. Indicating her fiancé, she added "He's here because I made him come."

Her fiancé, Larry Niemi of Redford, laughed and added, "That's true, but we're both getting ideas for our August wedding."

The couple made their way through a thick crowd of brides-to-be, mothers, fiancés and bridesmaids toward tables set with china, crystal, silver and flowers — all very glamorous and elegant under the light from flickering candles and sparkling chandeliers in the tri-level lobbies of the Fox Theatre.

Musicians played wedding tunes, vocalists sang selections from love songs, photographers displayed unusual wedding shots, and there were florists and bakeries to consult with.

Caterers served meatballs, chicken wings, fruit, cheese and vegetable dips. Drinks were available, and representatives from several homeware companies were on hand to discuss their products.

By all appearances, Jacobson's first bridal show — "The Making of a Great Wedding" — was a big success.

TV premiere

But the event goes beyond Feb. 22's festivities. Fox 50 television will turn it into a one-hour bridal special set for broadcast at 7 p.m. Saturday, March 19.

"In the past the print media — magazines and newspapers — have done the job of informing brides about trends, new products, bridal party and honeymoon fashions," said Debbie Carnago, of TV 50.

"This broadcast will use television as the medium to convey product information and fashion in a way that's both entertaining and informative. People at Waterford and Estee Lauder are very excited about bringing the retail industry into television."

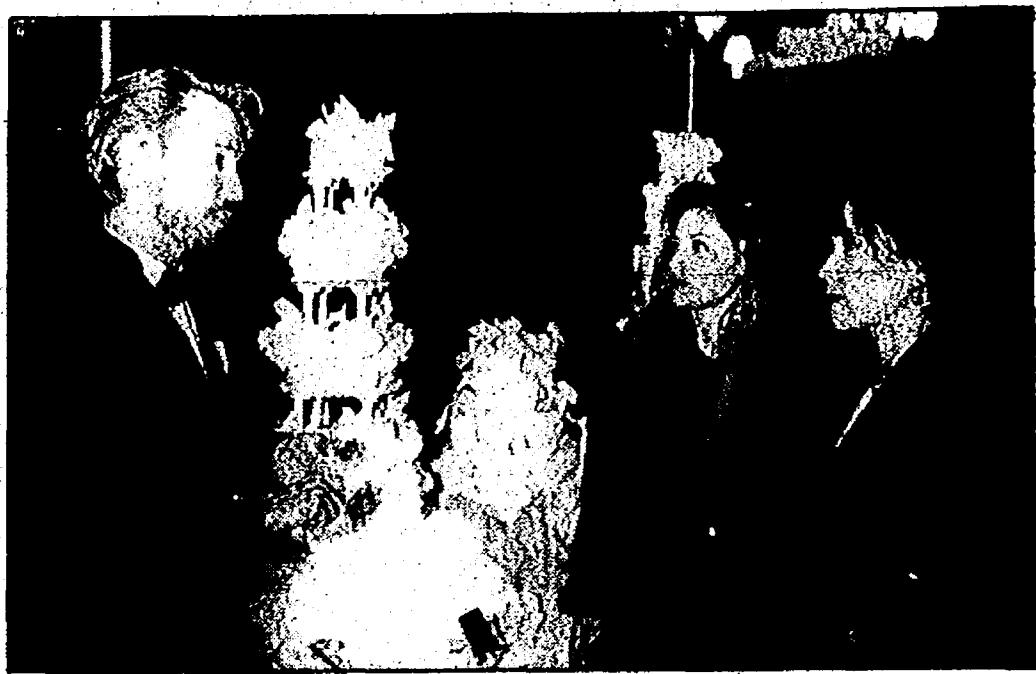

Interspersed with live footage from the Fox Theatre fashion show will be segments about china patterns and cappuccino machines available at Jacobson's. There will also be opportunities for viewers to call in and win door prizes, just like the members of the audience did at the live bridal show.

The show will be produced by Toby Cunningham, who has worked Jacobson's on the event.

"Jacobson's is going after the younger customer, the 25-49-year-olds," said Carnago. "These people are very influenced by television."

Janice Hayes, spokeswoman for Jacobson's, said the company decided to host a first-class bridal fair this year to coincide with Jacobson's February debut of a computerized bridal and gift registry and the assignment of a gift registry coordinator at each

Bridal consultants can make a difference

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

According to the Association of Bridal Consultants based in New Milford, Conn., a recent survey by Brides Magazine revealed that 87 percent of American brides knew about the services of professional bridal consultants, but only 7 percent used them.

Gerard Monaghan, president of the ABC, expects that figure will grow because brides and their mothers, the traditional wedding planners, now work outside the home and don't have the time it takes to listen to 16 bands, visit several florists to compare prices, or consult with dozens of bakeries about cake designs and deliver dates.

Doris Carter of Livonia recently became a professional bridal consultant after years of working at the Golden Rings Wedding Chapel in Plymouth. She said brides should consider working with a bridal consultant for three reasons — a bridal pro can save a family time, money and aggravation. "We do all the legwork after learning the bride's preferences and budget," Carter said. "We run around so she doesn't have to."

"Next, we can get discounts on flowers, bands, photographers, etc. because we bring these vendors repeat business."

"Finally, we know the vendors. We've done the research on their qualifications and dependability."

Carter said a bridal consultant will coordinate the entire wedding for a couple and arrive early the day of the wedding to make sure everyone does what he's supposed to do when he's supposed to do it. The bride and her family stay free of worry and responsibility to enjoy the day and their guests.

Her price? Ten to 15 percent of the total cost of the wedding. Carter refused to discuss the "average cost of a wedding," pointing out that it all depends on the size, the tastes of the bride, and the kind of reception planned. "Some cost $2,000, other can go as high as $100,000," she said. "It's important the bride have the kind of wedding she wants for the money she has to spend," Carter said. "I respect the gal who knows what she wants before she comes to see me. She's looked at a few bridal books, read a few articles on etiquette, knows her flowers. Last year, one gal I worked with had her bridesmaids attired in the sharpest black suits."

MALLS & MAINSTREETS

Jacobson's store. (Ann Massey has the title in the downtown Birmingham store; Melissa Champagne is registry coordinator at the Rochester store at Great Oaks Mall, and Oresta Pierce heads the department at the Livonia store at Laurel Park Place.)

Mark Rosenfeld, CEO of Jacobson Stores Inc., told the audience in opening remarks before the fashion show that Jacobson's is "one-stop shopping" for all bridal needs, from wedding invitations through honeymoon attire, a marketing strategy he revealed to Observer & Eccentric readers in November in a Malls & Mainstreets story about the company's 125th anniversary.

Rosenfeld said the company will work hard to expand their bridal business in every department, from stationery to bridal attire to home furnishings.

Celina Hernandez and Tony Crites of Berkley plan to be married in July. They came to the Jacobson's bridal fair "to make some decisions about our wedding plans."

Did the event help? "Oh yes," Tony answered. "We saw some things we liked and some things we wouldn't want. It's all becoming a little clearer."

Karen Kleinfelt, a member of Hudson's public relations staff and also a bride-to-be, was spotted in the crowd. "Just checking out the competition," she laughed. "I'm registered at Hudson's."

She compared Jacobson's Bridal Fair to the one Hudson's has been hosting for years each January at the Southfield Pavilion. "They did a good job, but it's just too crowded at all the bridal booths. They needed more room."

The bridal fashion show was expanded to include special-occasion attire for before-the-wedding parties and honeymoon resort wear for after the wedding vacations. The 90-minute show featured bridal party ensembles categorized by color and type of wedding. The set changed several times, adding a theatrical touch to the presentation. A guest performance by flutist Alexander Zonjic mid-show was a wonderful surprise.

Emcee Linda Carter was delightful in her duties, despite difficulties with a TelePrompTer that was hard to read. She made a brief plea for participation in Detroit's Race for the Cure, Saturday, April 9, at the Detroit Zoo. She reminded the audience a portion of the ticket price would be donated to the Susan G. Komen Foundation for breast cancer research and education. She asked that additional donations be made to the Michigan Cancer Foundation at 1-313-833-0710.

"The only requirement was that they be knee-length. It really worked. The bride wore a white, floor-length gown and the party looked stunning — and saved themselves a fortune."

Carter works from her home in Livonia and welcomes inquiries at (313) 427-2122.

Marcia Masserman of Southfield has been coordinating weddings for 28 years. She said, "I've seen everything, I can work with anything," adding that she best serves her clients by directing their bridal budgets to "bring them the best for their money."

Masserman charges $35 for an initial consultation and refunds the fee if she is hired. Her fee then becomes $3 per guest in attendance.

"I do everything for the couple except help them with wedding attire. I even address and mail their invitations. They just show up on their big day and enjoy the festivities," she said.

In this age of second marriages, third marriages, mixed-racial marriages and mixed racial marriages, a bridal consultant must be flexible, yet know what etiquette is required, she said. So she extends this service to her clients.

"I can be as sophisticated as the next person, but there is still wedding protocol and courtesy that extends through all ethnic backgrounds," she said.

Masserman said common sense is usually the rule. Her forte is being creative as well as organized. She knows who to call to get things done right.

"Couples can really personalize their weddings through their table settings and the favors they give their guests," Masserman said. "There are a lot of options and choices out there these days." She also welcomes inquiries at her home (313) 557-8542.

POINTS OF VIEW

Kroger's, teachers fill stomachs, hearts

Nancy Spinelle knows her kindergartners at Tyler Elementary School in Livonia need a little help learning. She knows learning's tough to do on an empty stomach.

Spinelle, a Westland resident, is on the Livonia teachers union's board of directors, handling community relations efforts. She and her fellow educators were concerned about students who come to school hungry.

Those concerns led to a commendable effort, the Food To Share program. Union members work with Kroger staffers to provide food vouchers for needy families.

"We see kids come in, and they're not always getting food that's beneficial to them. If kids come to school hungry and don't receive proper nutrition, absolutely they aren't able to learn, she said.

The Livonia program is operated with the assistance of St. Edith's, Holy Cross Lutheran and Ward Presbyterian churches. The program's been under way for about a year, and already $5,000 has been raised to help feed the hungry.

The idea's a simple one, and a good one. And it has spread to the Plymouth-Canton community, where more than 20 churches are working to have it in place by the spring, and to Farmington, where members of the Farmington teachers union are getting involved.

Educators, church members, store officials and others willing to get involved are to be commended for their efforts. It's all too easy to overlook the needs of the "working poor" in our communities, to pretend they don't exist or don't need our care and compassion. Food To Share partnerships help to overcome that perception and put food on tables where it's needed.

Kind-hearted shoppers at the grocery stores spend a certain amount over their own grocery bill, keeping the receipts for tax purposes. Kroger takes care of the accounting work; based on what's contributed the previous month, that amount is made available to needy residents the following month.

"I read a newspaper article last fall about a program going in Livonia," said the Rev. Bryan Smith of Canton, pastor of Geneva Presbyterian Church in Canton. He contacted Spinelle and talked to her to get some ideas on how such a program could be set up in Canton and Plymouth.

Many churches, including Smith's, operate food banks. Geneva members alone distribute 30 bags of groceries each month. The problem is those facilities aren't able to provide fresh produce, meat and dairy products, which require refrigeration.

There's the question of dignity, too, organizers agree. Spinelle heard about one woman who was brought to tears and said, "What you've done for me is brought back my independence."

"That really made me feel great," Spinelle said. "We thought, 'Yes, it's working.'"

All the money raised has gone back into the program. Spinelle doesn't expect the Livonia program will come to an end — "as long as Kroger is willing to work with us, and they've been wonderful."

Help isn't limited to those with children in school or to members of certain churches, she emphasized.

The Livonia program began with the store at Eight Mile and Farmington roads and was expanded to include the other Kroger store at Five Mile near Merriman. The Plymouth-Canton program will include the store at Sheldon and Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth Township and on Sheldon north of Ford in Canton.

In Plymouth-Canton, the local Salvation Army will serve as a clearinghouse, making sure the help only goes to the truly needy. The three Livonia churches, which operate year-round food banks, provide a similar service, according to Spinelle. Vouchers given to the needy can't be redeemed for cigarettes or alcohol.

"We do want to be sure the money is being spent for food," said Tom Chrzanowski, president of the Farmington teachers union. He's pleased to see his union getting involved.

March 21 is the anticipated kickoff date in the Farmington community, said Chrzanowski, a math teacher at East Middle School in the Farmington district. Shoppers would begin to contribute on that date; following some time for accounting work, money would be made available to the needy.

Two Farmington district teachers, Rose Galvin and Dan Schneider, are coordinating the efforts at two Farmington-area Kroger stores, on Middle-belt just south of 11 Mile and on 12 Mile just west of Halsted. Each teacher is working with managers at each store.

Farmington teachers union members will depend on a local social service agency, perhaps Neighborhood House, to provide screening of eligible families and individuals.

Neighborhood House has a food pantry and can serve as a clearinghouse for the Food To Share program in the Farmington community, Chrzanowski said.

The Farmington district's southeastern corner has some lower-income residents who need such help, he said. Needy families are something of which local educators are aware.

Spinelle's heard the teachers union in the Redford Union district is beginning to organize a Food To Share effort.

All those individuals and organizations concerned about the health and well-being of their communities are to be commended for getting involved.

Perhaps this first-rate idea will spread to neighboring communities and to other organizations.

Private vs. public schools: Playing field differs

QUESTION: We are considering taking our son out of public high school and putting him in a private, denominational school. He skips school and his study habits are poor even though his test scores are high. He is in trouble with his teachers and the principal all the time. I don't think the public school is doing the job with my son. Also, I've heard that private school teachers are more dedicated than public school teachers.

ANSWER: The private schools, such as Catholic Central, Lutheran West (and others), offer students an excellent education; no doubt about it. I know, I attended Catholic schools as a child.

The private, denominational school setting is safer, has fewer discipline problems and has many outstanding teachers. However, if we are going to compare the private and the public educational systems, let's determine if we are on a level playing field.

Let's start with something simple, a dress code, and look at the differences.

Private School Dress Code: Adolescents entering a private denominational school are handed a list of requirements, including the acceptable (not recommended) dress code. Ron Horwath, a teacher for years in a private Catholic high school before ending up a principal in Northville, says, "We told the students that being properly dressed makes them ready for the world of work. If they didn't dress properly, after a few warnings, we sent them back to the public school. No lawsuits . . . a done deal."

Public School Dress Code: Public school administrators fought the dress code battle for decades — an unbelievable amount of time and taxpayer's money was spent on lawsuits. It was taking too much time from what a public school administrator is supposed to be: an educational leader, not a surrogate parent. What is proper dress in the public schools is now open for discussion and for consultation with the adolescent and generally handled quietly to avoid court cases.

So from the very get-go, those entering the private school setting are literally told what they will wear before even getting into a class. And there is an old saying: Set the standard early, enforce the little issues and the big ones won't even arise.

DOC DOYLE

I personally believe in a reasonable dress code, especially in this day and age of youth gangs. I also believe teachers, who are now being paid professional wages, should dress as a professional and set the tone. A few teachers I knew wouldn't be let in a restaurant dressed the way they come to school, and some are excellent teachers. But, hey, I guess I'm just old fashioned. I still consider teaching a professional occupation.

Student Behavior: As far as acceptable student behavior goes, the private schools have a great edge. Private schools are wonderful for those adolescents who are border line problems (possibly like your son) and can document thousands of success stories.

However, those adolescents with severe behavioral problems are dumped right back on the public schools. Not that private schools don't care, but they don't have the money or resources (special ed) to deal with certain children. So it's simply not a level playing field when one compares private and public education.

Private schools generally select those students who have good grades and good test scores. They then set the rules, enforce the rules and send back those who don't wish to take advantage of the opportunity. Public educators set the rules, and then are told what they can and will do by lawyers and the courts.

Consider just one issue: Locker checks (for drugs, knives). At one time it was ruled public school administrators couldn't check lockers for drugs, knives and guns; this infringed upon a student's constitutional rights, his/her privacy. Do you think a private school principal cares what lawyers or the ACLU think? It simply is not a level playing field.

All this withstanding, if we set up a public vs. a private school olympics, the event being who are the brightest and the best put-together adolescents, it would be a draw.

Public education's top 20 percent students, in quality school districts, are as bright or brighter as any private school's product. And keep in mind, the private schools deal with the top 20 percent of the student population, while public education handles the other 80 percent, those who don't qualify for a private school setting.

As far as private school teachers being much more dedicated to teaching than public school teachers, I must have missed the boat. As a central office administrator, I continuously received telephone calls or letters from people who wanted me to help their wife, son or daughter who were presently teaching in a private school get a job in a public school setting. The obvious reason being the much better fringe and retirement benefits, a powerful teacher's contract and a salary sometimes triple what they could make in the private school setting. I guess money talks.

I suggest you keep a seat warm for your son in his present public school.

GIVE BLOOD, PLEASE.

You share the same body, the same life-giving nutrients for nine months. Each of you affects the other in countless ways.

Why is it then that many hospitals treat you and your baby like completely unrelated people?

OUR NURSES SEE THEM AS STILL BEING ATTACHED

You stay in your room. Your baby stays in the nursery. And you're each cared for by a different nurse.

A better way

At St. Mary Hospital we offer a better way to begin. A personal nurse takes care of you and your baby together to encourage the best possible start. So your nurse can tell how your comfort level, moods and medication may be affecting your baby. And how your baby's behavior influences you. This new way of caring is called mother-baby nursing.

Mother-baby nurses

With mother-baby nurses, you can learn by watching the nurse care for your newborn at your bedside instead of out of your sight in a nursery. If you have a question about your baby, the nurse can answer it immediately. You won't have to wait for the "baby nurse."

The Miracle of Life Maternity Center at St. Mary Hospital has mother-baby nursing all the time.

More support, more education. It's a better way of caring.

Area Jews organize new congregation

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Wendy Sadler, Amy Rose and Debra Beck are pretty certain there's a group of people in western Wayne County that want to feel connected and part of a larger family.

"I would look to see who didn't have Christmas tree lights up," said Sadler of Canton Township. "We knew there had to be other Jewish people out there — unconnected. We wanted to start connecting with these Jewish families."

The three women and their families are among approximately 15 families — including persons from Garden City and Westland — who learned of each other and got together to form Congregation Bet Chaverim.

"We're going to work with the needs of the people. A lot of the people have no where to go. My family is out of state," said Rose.

The families got together about six months ago. Sadler is a teacher at Stepping Stones, Southfield, which is an educational program for intermarried families who have been unaffiliated with Judaism. Beck's daughter, Sarah, attends the program.

"She came home and said, 'Guess what, mom, there's another Jewish person in Canton,'" Beck said. Rose's daughter, Rachel also attends the program.

And that was the beginning. The families meet once a month on a Friday for Shabbas or Sabbath services, rotating between each other's houses. They also meet usually on a Saturday once a month for social activities.

"It's almost like a co-op mentality. Everything we do is potluck. We rotate so everyone is a host and leads the services," Sadler said.

Rose, Beck and Sadler each speak of feeling unconnected before meeting each other. "I started looking (for other Jewish families) because of what is called the December Dilemma," Beck said, adding her son is the only Jewish boy in his class, which celebrates Christmas in one form or another.

The three families didn't want to live or belong to a congregation in Oakland County or Ann Arbor. Besides not being able to afford living there, they want to form their own community where they enjoy living — western Wayne County. "We want to let people know we are out here," Sadler said, encouraging other Jewish families and intermarried Jewish families to join the group. "It isn't a prerequisite (to be intermarried) or a criterion to join in. It just happens to be case for many of us. Spouses who are not Jewish also participate. We try to make them comfortable."

Anyone who is interested in joining the other families to continue forming the congregation should call Sadler on her beeper number, 630-8950.

"Besides religion, everyone gets along. We all enjoy each other," Rose said.

The families are getting ready for Passover during which they will have a Seder on March 27. The families will meet Saturday, March 12, to plan activities and conclude with a Havdallah, or closing of the Sabbath.

The congregation as of yet has no temple — they follow Reform Judaism — or a rabbi. So far, the congregation has formed a board of directors and is drafting by-laws.

Probably the next step is Hebrew school for their children, particularly those approaching the age (13) for the bat mitzvah (for girls) and bar mitzvah (for boys). "We have a group of kids who need a Jewish education," Sadler said. "Anyone who can read Hebrew can teach Hebrew. That's really the only criterion." The families are also happy that their children get along so well. "It is wonderful to see the total interaction of all these kids.

That is a good symbol — the warmth, the generosity," Sadler said.

Livonia Public Schools
15125 Farmington Road
February 7, 1994

*The following is a summary, in synopsis form, of the Board of Education's regular meeting of February 7, 1994; the full text of the minutes is on file in the office of the Superintendent, 15125 Farmington Road, Livonia, and in the principal's office of each school, and is available on request.

President Watters convened the meeting at 7:10 p.m. in the Board Room, 15125 Farmington Road, Livonia. Present: Suzanne Clulow, Joseph Laura, Pat Tancill, Susan Thompson, James Watters. Absent: Richard McKnight, Kenneth Timmons.

Golden Apple Award: A Golden Apple Award was presented to Brenda Husband, math teacher at Emerson Middle School.

Principal's Week Resolution: The Board unanimously adopted a resolution supporting the Governor's declaration of the week of February 13-19 as Principal's Week in Michigan.

Audience Communications: Three individuals addressed the Board to express their appreciation for the support program in place for students, specifically at Churchill High School, who are recovering from alcohol and drug addiction.

Consent Agenda: Motion by Tancill and Thompson that the following consent agenda items be approved as recommended by the superintendent: Approval of minutes and synopses of the regular meeting of January 17, 1994, January 24, 1994, and closed session of January 24, 1994; Approval of payment - general fund checks in the amount of $9,587,042.76, building improvement and technology fund checks in the amount of $2,246,269.81 and general fund wire transfers in the amount of $5,668,228.00; Approval of the purchase of student work stations, teacher work stations for labs, and Stylewriter II Printers from Apple Computer Inc. in the amount of $819,378.

Presentation - Technology Update: Staff members See Bird, Terry Davidson, Jim Winebrener, and Paul Derwick gave the Board an update on the district's bond-technology project. The presentation included an overview of the staff development philosophy, the initial three day training sessions, teacher training options, and the building level support teams.

Gift - Churchill High School PTSA: Motion by Clulow and Tancill that the Board of Education accept the gracious gift of $4,500 from the Churchill High School PTSA for program improvement purchases for Churchill High School. Ayes: Clulow, Laura, Tancill, Thompson, Watters. Nays: None.

Teacher Approvals: Motion by Thompson and Laura that the Board of Education accept the recommendation of the superintendent and offer employment for the 1993-94 school year to the following teachers: Chad E. Campas, Liada K. Eastman, Jeffrey P. Hatley, Lynda M. Melcher, and Wanda J. Smith. Ayes: Clulow, Laura, Tancill, Thompson, Watters. Nays: None.

30 Year Recognition: The Board unanimously adopted resolutions of appreciation for 30 years of service with the district for the following employees: David Dames, Judith Kirkby, and Ramon Kugler.

Retirements: The Board unanimously adopted resolutions of appreciation for the following employees upon their retirements from Livonia Public Schools: Patricia Boland, Kenneth Kaestner, Paul Mack.

Reports from Superintendent: The superintendent reported on the following topics: school aid legislation; legislative ballot proposals; and MEAP test results.

Second Reading - Board Policy: Motion by Clulow and Thompson that the Board of Education accept the recommendation of the Policy Committee and adopt new Board policy language for Board Policy BHA (d) - BOARD OPERATIONS/CONFLICT OF INTEREST-NEPOTISM. Ayes: Clulow, Tancill, Thompson, Watters. Nays: Laura.

Board Committee Reports: Reports were heard from the following Board committees: Livonia Liaison.

Hearing from Board Members: Board members reported on the following topics: WCASB Winter Conference; Mrs. Thompson announced she would be resigning from the Board effective June 30, 1994.

Adjournment: Motion by Clulow and Tancill that the meeting be adjourned. Ayes: Clulow, Laura, Tancill, Thompson, Watters. Nays: None.

President Watters adjourned the meeting at 8:30 p.m.

Bills give police more tools to fight domestic violence

By TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

A suburban prosecutor praised a package of legislative bills aimed at curbing domestic violence but objected to strong police reporting requirements in one bill.

"Law enforcement is difficult because you have to wait for actual violence," Livingston County's David Morse told the Senate Judiciary Committee last week. "This (injunction procedure in one bill) allows us to head off violence."

But Morse objected that requiring police to give the domestic violence victim a copy of the report immediately "may inhibit the officer at the scene. You should allow 24 hours." Morse also disliked the length of the required police report and the sanctions against police officers and departments who fail to write them and make them available.

But Sen. John Kelly, D-Grosse Pointe, said it's a good idea to require police to issue the victim an immediate report. "The husband can't just wait for the police officer to leave so he can finish what he started. It's helpful (to the victim, usually a woman) to have that piece of paper," Kelly told Morse.

'Not trying to duck'

Backing Morse was Ingham Prosecutor Don Martin, who objected to bills ordering prosecutors to prosecute for contempt those who violate court orders.

"It's not that we're trying to duck our duties. But if we're required to prosecute for criminal contempt, it may result in double jeopardy," Martin said. He said prosecutors should be given the choice of which offense to prosecute.

Sen. William VanRegenmorter, R-Jenison, said his panel would take up the bills again March 1 and possibly report them to the Senate floor.

Purposes of the bills are to give law enforcement more tools to fight, and victims more power to seek relief from, domestic violence. A key technique is to require police and prosecutors to treat complaints more seriously.

For example, a bill by Rep. Shirley Johnson, R-Royal Oak, requires police agencies to establish a "preferred or pro-arrest" policy. A bill by Rep. Barbara Dobb, R-Union Lake, provides for court orders to prohibit threats in cases of domestic violence. A bill by Rep. Maxine Berman, D-Southfield, sets up an exception for the "spousal communication privilege," allowing a wife to testify against her husband.

Shelters abused

A former Detroit policeman, however, raised a cry against the abuse of domestic violence procedures in divorce cases.

A five-page synopsis of the domestic violence bills is available from the Senate Judiciary Committee, (517) 373-6920.

Gang bill draws fire

By TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

A bill to make gang membership a felony is drawing fire from both conservatives and liberals on a House committee, where it raises the specter of "guilt by association."

"This would penalize membership in a gang," said sponsor Ilona Varga, D-Detroit. "They take pictures of themselves with automatic weapons and rifles. They document their activities, so it's easy for police to prove they're gang members. Police have pictures of them in uniform."

Varga's bill would penalize those who belong to and recruit for a "criminal organization," defined as one where "members commit crimes as a purpose of that organization."

"What bothers me," said Rep. Michael Nye, R-Litchfield, "is how to avoid labeling other organizations — for example, groups who lay down in front of a bulldozer to stop a nuclear landfill or a dump."

"I'm a Methodist. A Methodist bishop demonstrated against a power plant. I've put money in (the collection plate) every Sunday. That makes me an associate," said Nye, Republican co-chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

Rep. David Gubow, D-Huntington Woods, was worried about defining a gang. "None of these groups files articles of incorporation or holds receptions in the Capitol and gives lapel pins," he said.

Rep. Nelson Saunders, D-Detroit, asked, "How do you prove that committing crime is a purpose of the organization?" Saunders raised the specter of "guilt by association" and the name of the late J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Rep. Lynn Rivers, D-Ann Arbor, said a basic premise of law is that one is responsible for his own crimes, "but here you could be prosecuted for simply associating. What if a mother associates with her son who is a member of a gang?"

After counting speeches, Judiciary chairman Tom Mathieu, D-Grand Rapids, announced, "We don't have the votes to put it (the bill) out today (report it to the floor). I urge the sponsor to work with representatives who raised these concerns."

Supporting Varga's bill was the Michigan Interfaith Council on Alcohol Problems (MICAP). "We're disturbed," said the Rev. Allen B. Rice, executive director. "They (gangs) are drug-related and youth-related."

"Gang violence hits every school district in the state," added MICAP's education director, the Rev. Tod Clark. "Members of the Latin Kings from Pontiac went to the north part of the state with a 9 mm pistol to 'take care' of some people his gang leaders didn't like very well."

Clark, who has spoken to student groups across the state, urged lawmakers not to worry about definitions "because the body count is too high."

Under Varga's bill:

- Being a gang member is a misdemeanor punishable by 90 days in jail and a $100 fine.
- Committing a misdemeanor to "further the unlawful goals of the criminal organization" is worth a year in jail and a $500 fine — on top of any sentence for the misdemeanor itself.
- Committing a felony to further gang goals is worth four years in prison and a $2,500 fine on top of a sentence for the felony.

CHEF LARRY JANES

Here are answers to your questions

Thanks for your kind comments about a recent column on getting ready for Lent and growing up in Wyandotte. It was fun reminiscing and hearing from readers especially those with roots Downriver.

Friday fish fries are still a big business in Wyandotte. If you know of a church or fraternal organization that makes for a great fish fry, we'd like to hear from you. Also, if your church or organization is preparing fish and other goodies with a healthy twist, please pass the word. This isn't a call for your favorite restaurant folks, just those places that prepare fish on Friday nights during Lent.

Speaking of healthy eating, Don Burski of Union Lake called to request information on a healthy cooking school.

Well Don, short of taking a course in nutrition and dietetics, I don't know of a cooking school that specializes in low-fat classes. Many communities offer healthy cooking classes as part of their adult education program. Another good source is your community hospital. St. Mary and Botsford Hospital offer healthy cooking demonstrations.

Yours truly is teaching a healthy cooking class at Kitchen Glamor shops. The next class is 6:30 p.m. Thursday, March 4, at the Kitchen Glamor store in Novi. Call 537-1300 for details.

Food allergies

In January's reader request column I mentioned Pauly Smorch of Farmington who was searching for recipes and information on gluten free cooking. Pauly was overjoyed when we passed along the name of the local Celiac Support Group whose 104 members all have allergies to gluten. They meet monthly. For information, contact Kathy Davis, President, TriCounty Celiac Sprue Support Group, 332-2938. Anyone else out there suffer from food allergies? Drop me a note or call. We're gathering information for a future column on food allergies.

Tanya Carney and Don Quackenbush invited me to Churchill High School's second annual wild game feast in Livonia. The staff of Churchill High School, under the supervision of Quackenbush, prepared over 50 different wild game recipes that included everything from a smoked venison ham to squirrel stew and muskrat. While the wild game was great, I just couldn't resist the wonderful breads from a relatively new bakery that opened in beautiful downtown Northville dubbed Great Harvest. If you love all natural, no preservatives earthy breads that not only taste good, but are good for you, check it out.

If your taste for great food lies a little closer to home, circle March 22 for the 1994 S.O.S. (Share our Strength) benefit at the Rattlesnake Club in Detroit. Yours truly will be loosening his belt buckle to taste the foods of Marshall Chin from Mon Jin Lau in Troy, Peter Goatley from The Palate Pleaser in West Bloomfield, Matt Prentice and Tim Cikra from Morels/Bruscetta et al, and the foods of Jimmy Schmidt, Pete Peterson, Brian Polcyn, Mary Brady, Vera Ambrose and Lorraine Platman, just to name a few from our area. All of the event proceeds fight hunger in our area. For tickets call Angie Bournias, 259-4950. I'll be there and you should be too!

Mark Fangianelli of Canton has requested a recipe for a great tasting homemade tomato sauce. Well Mark, this is the best. You can add mushrooms and cooked meats to make a heartier sauce.

Tomato Sauce

- (Salsa Di Pomodoro)
- 1/4 cup extra virgin olive oil
- 1 small onion, minced
- 3 fresh cloves of garlic, minced
- One 28 oz. can peeled Italian plum tomatoes, crushed
- Several sprigs of parsley, bay leaves and celery leaves

Heat oil in saucepan and add onion and garlic and cook over moderate heat until the garlic turns golden but does not brown.

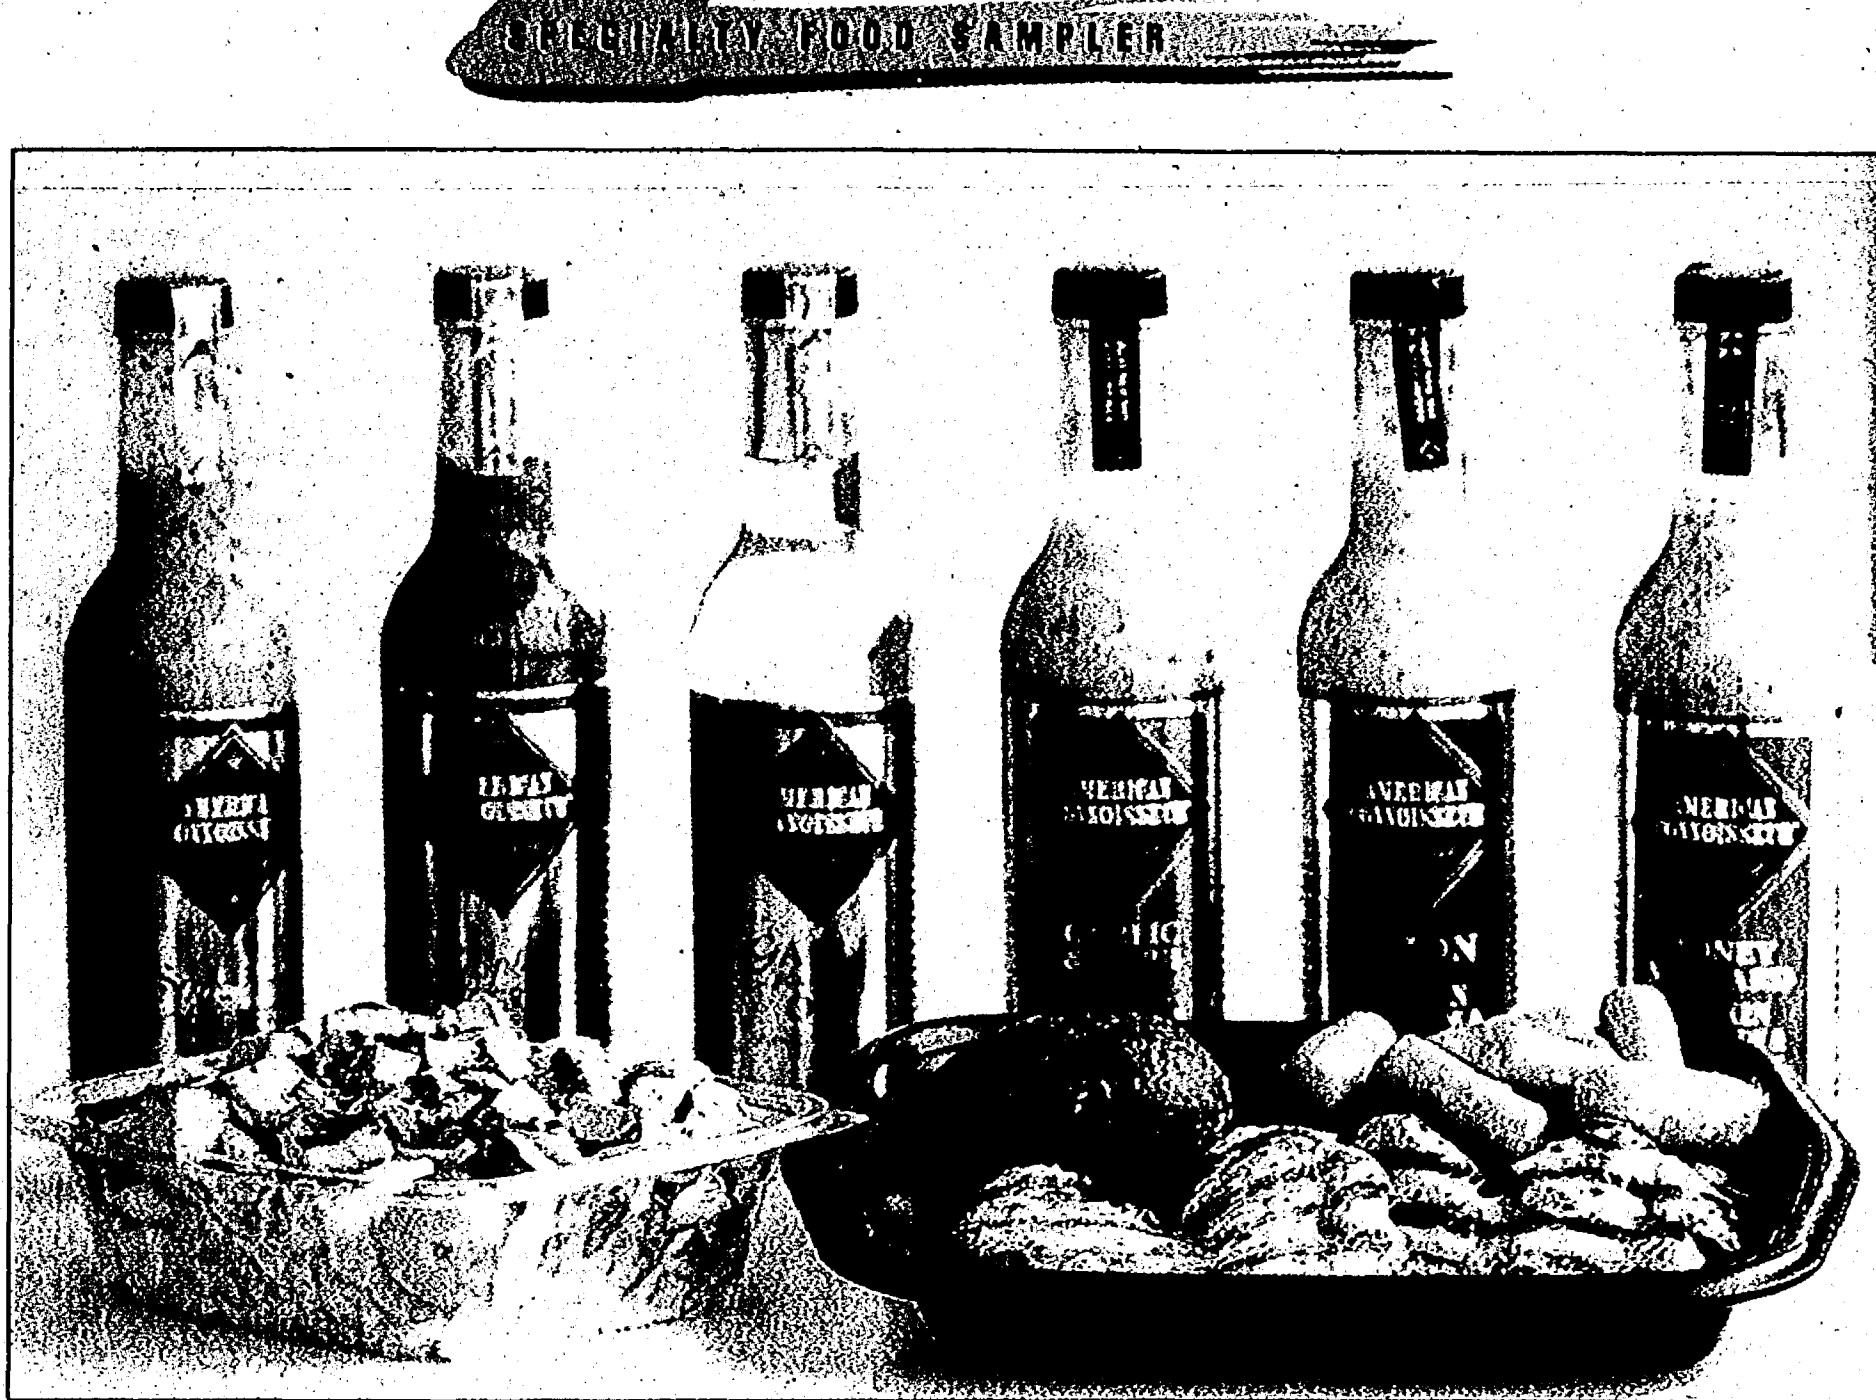

Add tomatoes and herbs. Simmer, uncovered for 30 minutes. Remove the herbs, season with salt and pepper.

Larry Janes answers more reader requests for recipes inside. To leave a message for Chef Larry, dial 953-2047 on a touch-tone phone, then mailbox number 1886.

LOOKING AHEAD

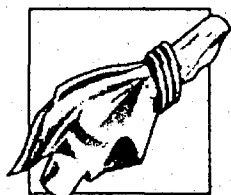

What to watch for in Taste next week:

- Local hospitals are celebrating National Nutrition Month by offering programs to help you improve your diet.
- Wine columnists Eleanor and Ray Heald feature wines from France's southern Rhone.

'AMERICAN CONNOISSEUR' WINS GOURMET GAMBLE

Meet Peter Gikas and Dave Zilko who gambled on a gourmet product they believed in and won in our new series featuring the people behind products made in Michigan.

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

Blasting his stereo got Todd Ronces more than he bargained for - an opportunity to own and operate his own restaurant - American Connoisseur in West Bloomfield.

The restaurant is just part of the suburban success story of Birmingham entrepreneurs Peter Gikas and Dave Zilko who launched the American Connoisseur line of gourmet marinades, salad dressings, vinaigrettes and dessert toppings two years ago with no food experience and a $2,500 credit card loan. In 1993 they doubled their sales, introduced five new products, and opened their first restaurant with the help of Ronces who is the owner and operator.

"The first time I met Dave he complained my stereo was too loud," said Ronces, 23. "Todd and I were living next door to each other," explained Zilko.

Once the stereo issue was resolved, the neighbors learned they had much in common. Both are graduates of Michigan State University, and share a passion for food.

"He told me about the marinades and I thought they were very high quality," said Ronces a transplanted Manhattanite who recently earned a degree in hotel and restaurant management.

"I sent a box of the marinades to my mother Rona in New York. She was impressed and said I shouldn't pass up this opportunity."

On July 20, Ronces' dream of Defend yourself to fight fat temptation

LAURA LETO BAR

Sometimes eating healthy is a struggle no matter how much effort we put forth. Most of us start our day with good intentions of eating low fat. We start with a great breakfast and before we know it are bombarded with temptations.

A co-worker will bring in a box of doughnuts as a way of saying "thank you" for some project you helped them finish. Or, a friend will stop by with a great new casserole they just made and you feel obligated to eat it.

Nancy Hay of Livonia told me that one thing she needs to change to eat healthier is to have "more self-control when put in a position where sugary treats are available."

Hay, and her husband Keith, basically eat very low fat. They have made significant dietary changes such as no sugar desserts, no processed bakery items, and little or no red meat. But temptations do exist, so how do they avoid them?

Hay is an advocate of healthy living. Besides feeling better, she feels that "along with exercise (eating low fat) gives me more control over my health and mental well-being." Her number one defense against the fat temptation is the grocery store she shops at.

Hay shops at The Good Food Company, 42615 Ford Road in Canton. She visits this store for more than the obvious reason of buying gro-

RECIPE MAKE OVER

SPINACH PIE

Original Recipe

- 6 eggs
- 2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen chopped spinach
- 1 bunch green onions, finely chopped
- 1/4 cup oil
- 1 cup cottage cheese
- 3/4 pound feta cheese, crumbled
- 1/2 pound butter, melted
- 12 sheets phyllo dough, defrosted

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Butter bottom of 9 by 13-inch pan. Fold each sheet of phyllo dough in half. Place six sheets of phyllo dough in pan, buttering between each sheet. Cook spinach according to package directions. Drain and squeeze all excess liquid from spinach. Mix first six ingredients in a bowl. Place this mixture on top of phyllo dough in pan. Place remaining six sheets of dough on top of mixture, buttering between each layer. Brush remaining butter on top of dough. Bake for 20-25 minutes uncovered. Cover with foil and continue baking for 35 minutes. Serves 8.

Reduced-Fat Recipe

- Eggbeaters egg substitute equal to six eggs
- 2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen chopped spinach
- 1 bunch green onions, chopped
- 1/4 cup Campbell's Healthy Request low sodium, low fat chicken broth
- 1 cup 1 percent milkfat cottage cheese
- 15 ounces Sargento brand "lite" ricotta cheese
- 2 ounces feta cheese
- 12 sheets phyllo dough, defrosted
- Vegetable cooking spray

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Cook spinach according to package directions. Drain and remove all excess liquid from spinach. Fold six sheets of phyllo dough in half. Place each folded sheet in the bottom of a non-stick 9 by 13-inch pan. Mix first seven ingredients in a medium bowl. Place mixture over phyllo dough. Fold remaining dough sheets in half. Place each sheet over mixture, very lightly spraying each sheet with vegetable cooking oil spray. Lightly spray top layer of dough. Bake uncovered for 20 to 25 minutes. Cover pan with foil and continue baking for 35 minutes. Serves 8.

owning his own restaurant came true when Zilko and Gikas made him a partner in the carry-out restaurant which showcases the American Connoisseur product line. The West Bloomfield restaurant at 4301 Orchard Lake Road in the Crosswinds Mall features salads, gourmet marinated hamburgers, char-broiled and rotisserie chicken. Eventually the partners hope to offer franchises.

"American Connoisseur is the only restaurant I know of to be designed around an existing line of gourmet food products," said Zilko.

The story of American Connoisseur begins in January 1992 when the company was started by Birmingham based commercial real estate brokers Peter Gikas, an attorney, and Dave Zilko, who has a master of business administration degree in marketing.

"We studied the gourmet food market and looked for niches where products weren't available," said Zilko. "We both like to cook, but had no food industry background. We wanted to make something that tasted great with powerful flavor, and didn't compromise on ingredients."

"We wanted to make it very tasty, and high quality. We found a niche for ourselves," adds Gikas.

They spent four months in their respective kitchens in Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills in the fall of 1991 developing their gourmet marinades. "We'd get together four to six nights a week," said Zilko. "We mixed the products up ourselves."

Six months after they were introduced, these marinades, now manufactured at a commissary in Sylvan Lake, were featured in Bloomfielddale's, Marshall Field's, Macy's, Hudson's, Jacobson's, Woodward and Lothrop, Wanamaker's and Kaufmann's.

Last spring, American Connoisseur became one of the few food companies to be featured on the upscale home shopping network,

QVC which is shown nationally in 54 million homes. On their first appearance, they sold over $16,000 worth of product in 45 seconds. Since then they've been appearing on the show on a regular basis. They are also of the Prodigy computer network and will soon be on Compuserve.

American Connoisseur now offers three chicken marinades — Dijon, Honey Mustard, and Garlic and Herb. There is a hamburger marinade — Classic Burger Marinade with Marsala Wine, and three cooking oils — basil, garlic and oregano.

They also offer two salad dressings — Creamy Greek, Balsamic Italian, three vinaigrettes — peach, raspberry and strawberry, four dessert toppings — honey, peach, raspberry and strawberry, and plans to launch a candy division in April.

"The gourmet chicken marinades are all natural and canola oil-based," said Zilko. "Canola oil is 94 percent saturated fat free — the highest percentage of any oil. The marinades are designed to be used with boneless, skinless chicken breasts. The honey mustard marinade is one third pure honey, canola oil, vinegar and mustard."

American Connoisseur products are also available at Meljer's and some Kroger stores in Oakland County. Prices for the gourmet marinades range from $3.99 to $7.50. The gourmet vinaigrettes range from $3.69 to $4.95 and the flavored cooking oils from $3.99 to $7.50. The dessert toppings range from $4.50 to $4.95.

Chef Janes answers more reader questions

See Larry Janes' Taste Buds column on Taste front.

Readers who enjoy cruising the open waters and enjoying great food will appreciate a berth through the land of the midnight sun when Executive Chef de Cuisine Peter Loren of Detroit's 1993 "Restaurant of the Year" Opus One sets sail with the Royal Viking Line on a 16 day trip.

Chef Loren will prepare two special dinners and will be your host for folks on board from metro Detroit. For more information, contact Carson Travel at 313-885-3100.

Arnie Metras of Troy called to say that he loves anchovies, especially in a Caesar Salad but always has leftovers.

You can keep them in a covered container for up to 1 month in their oil, or you can make this recipe that is absolutely wonderful when brushed over fish before, during and after cooking.

ANCHOVY BUTTER

- 2 sticks butter or margarine, cut into pieces
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- ½ teaspoon fresh ground black pepper
- 1 (2 ounce) can anchovies, drained

Using a food processor or a blender, add all the ingredients and process until smooth. Will keep tightly covered in the refrigerator for up to 1 week. Makes 1 ½ cups.

Cara Smiley of Rochester was looking for an easy recipe for pretzels that she can make with her two kids, Kara, 5 and Kevin, 8.

This a recipe for a soft and chewy pretzel that can be twisted into a traditional shape or simply baked in circles or sticks for great eating.

SOFT PRETZELS

- 1 cup warm water (105-115 degrees F.)
- 1 package active dry yeast
- About 3 cups sifted all purpose flour, divided
- 2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 egg, (optional)

Combine in a mixer bowl the warm water and the yeast. When dissolved, add and beat 1 ½ cups flour, butter, salt and sugar. Mix for three minutes.

Pour onto a board and knead in remaining flour in small quantities just until the dough loses its stickiness. Allow to rise in a covered bowl until doubled in bulk, about 1 ½ hours. Punch down and divide into 12 pieces for pretzels or 36 strips for sticks.

With the palms of your hands, roll into lengths about the thickness of a pencil. Twist and shape, if desired into pretzels. Preheat oven to 475 degrees.

Brush with a beaten egg and sprinkle with coarse salt, if desired. Bake until golden brown and crispy, about 12 minutes for pretzels and about 8 minutes for the sticks.

Gourmet marinades make dinner easy

See related story on Taste front. Here are some recipes featuring American Connoisseur marinades.

CRUNCHY CHICKEN GARDEN SALAD

- American Connoisseur Gourmet Garlic and Herb Marinade
- 4 boneless, skinless chicken breasts
- 1 head lettuce — your choice of iceberg, romaine, spinach

- 1 cucumber, sliced
 - 2 tomatoes, quartered
 - 1 medium red onion, chopped
 - Optional ingredients
 - Cheese — your choice of Parmesan, Muenster, Cheddar or Feta
 - Sunflower seeds
 - Nuts — your choice of almonds, walnuts, pecans or peanuts
- Marinate chicken breasts in garlic and herb marinade in refrigerator overnight, or at least one hour before cooking, turning chicken once. Grill or broil chicken and cut into strips.

Toss with lettuce, vegetables and optional ingredients. Serves 4 to 6.

HONEY MUSTARD BAKED CHICKEN

- 1 fryer chicken, (3 to 4 pounds) cut up
- American Connoisseur Gourmet Honey Mustard Marinade

At least 1 hour before baking, rinse chicken pieces, pat dry and place in a shallow baking dish. Pour enough marinade into baking dish to cover chicken half-way up. Refrigerate 1 hour, turning once.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Cover baking dish and bake chicken 1 hour, or until tender. Baste chicken 2-3 times during baking.

Before serving, pour American Connoisseur Gourmet Honey Mustard marinade over chicken. Also use as a table sauce. Serves 4-6.

SHRIMP STIR-FRY

- ½ cup American Connoisseur

Gourmet Classic Burger Marinade

- 1 pound shrimp, peeled and de-veined
- 2 teaspoons cooking oil
- 2 cloves minced garlic
- 1 medium onion, diced
- 2 teaspoons sesame seeds
- 1 cup chopped zucchini
- ½ cup green or red pepper, chopped
- ½ cup water chestnuts, sliced
- 1 (6 ounce) package frozen Chinese pea pods, thawed
- ½ cup bean sprouts
- Rice

Marinate shrimp in American Connoisseur Gourmet Classic Burger Marinade.

Heat cooking oil in a skillet or wok on medium-high heat. Add garlic, onion and sesame seeds. Cook until onion is translucent. Add zucchini, pepper and water chestnuts. Saute 4 or 5 minutes.

Add marinated shrimp and cook 4-5 minutes. Just before serving, add bean sprouts and pea pods. Heat thoroughly. Serve stir-fry over rice. Serves 4.

ceries. Good Food Company also has a small restaurant that has an "amazing selection of prepared foods including soups, salads and entrees."

A few grocery items she regularly buys are non-fat fruit and fig bars, non-fat cereals such as Oatios, and Alta Dena, a non-fat European style yogurt. She also states convenience as being another plus of the Good Food Company. She can pick up groceries, vitamins and water in one store and have a great meal at the restaurant at the same time. This is a big plus for people who do not like to cook, eat out frequently, or do not like to cook for one person.

Hay asked for a "make over" of her spinach pie recipe. She was shocked to discover 46.4 grams of fat per serving were in the original recipe. By using a non-stick baking dish and cooking oil spray instead of butter, the total fat was reduced by 170 grams. We eliminated the butter and cut 1,530 calories. Also, this recipe is best when made a day ahead. The cheese and spinach flavors blend together nicely.

Also, note that no cooking spray was used between the bottom layers of phyllo dough. The moisture from the spinach mixture provides the liquid needed to cook the dough.

I suggest making two pies at a time, baking one, and freezing one for future use. This recipe is wonderful to serve to guests. It is a very satisfying meal when served with a large garden salad.

How to pick tasty wines

AP — After studying long and hard to become a pedigreed wine expert, Doug Frost has some advice for other people who would try it: Don't.

"It's impractical for most people to become wine experts," he said. "I'm here to tell you it costs a lot of money, money I didn't have. And it certainly takes a lot of time."

So how does the casual wine drinker make the right choices?
 ■ Find a good retailer who knows your taste. When you get a wine you dislike, tell the retailer and ask him to recommend something else. "Once you find a little niche, try to expand it," Frost said. "If you like this particular grape, find out where else that grape is grown. Keep exploring with the assistance of a smart retailer. If you do it by yourself you're wasting your time, you're going to blow a lot of money on lousy wines."

■ Read wine magazines. However, Frost warned, they use an "arcane lingo," and there's no substitute for actual tasting of new wines.

Cookbook is for people with 'A Passion for Potatoes'

AP — Some potato recipes from Lydie Marshall's "A Passion for Potatoes," published by Harper Perennial.

AN ELEGANT POTATO SALAD

- 1 1/2 pounds unpeeled small Red La Rouge, Ruby Crescent, Peruvian Blue, or Yukon Gold potatoes
- 1/2 cup white wine
- Salt
- Freshly ground pepper
- 1 teaspoon minced fresh tarragon
- 1 ounce (1 cup) dry morels
- 2 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 small head radicchio, cut into fine julienne (2 cups)
- 1 small fennel bulb, cut into fine julienne (2 cups)
- 4 1/2 ounces Gruyere cheese, cut into fine julienne (1 cup)
- 1/2 cup vinaigrette dressing (see recipe below)
- 4 cups watercress, stems removed
- 4 cups arugula, stems removed
- 1 tablespoon walnut oil
- 1 tablespoon vinegar

Pour about 1 inch of water in a large pan. Bring to a boil, fit the steamer into the pan, put in the potatoes, cover and steam for 15 to 20 minutes, depending on the size of the potatoes (Peruvian Blues will take longer to cook).

Peel the hot potatoes, and cut into 1/4-inch slices, or quarter them if they are very small. Pour the wine over them and sprinkle with salt, freshly ground pepper and tarragon. Meanwhile, soak the morels in 1 cup of water for half an hour. Drain through paper towels and reserve the liquid.

Quarter the morels only if they are more than 1 inch long. Heat 2 tablespoons butter and saute the morels for a minute, then gradually add the morel liquid over high heat and boil it down until 2 or 3 tablespoons remain. Season with salt and pepper and toss morels and the reduced liquid with the potatoes. Stack the leaves of the radicchio and roll up like a cigarette. Cut crosswise into very thin strips. You should have about 2 cups.

Toss the radicchio, fennel and cheese into the potato and mix in the vinaigrette dressing. Taste and add more salt and pepper if necessary.

Decorate each plate with watercress and arugula; sprinkle oil and vinegar over the greens, and fill the center with potato salad. Serves 10.

VINAIGRETTE DRESSING

- 1 teaspoon salt
- Freshly ground pepper
- 1 teaspoon prepared Dijon-style mustard
- 1 tablespoon red wine vinegar
- 1/4 cup olive or sunflower oil

2 tablespoon walnut oil
Place salt and pepper in a mixing bowl. Add the mustard and mix in the vinegar. Add the oils and whisk vigorously. Taste and correct seasoning. Makes 1/2 cup.

GARLIC MASHED POTATOES WITH OLIVE OIL

- 2 pounds russet or Yukon Gold potatoes
- 8 large unpeeled garlic cloves
- 1 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Freshly ground pepper
- 1/4 cup extra virgin olive oil

Cover the potatoes and garlic cloves with cold, salted water. Bring to a boil, partially cover, and cook for 30 minutes, or until tender. Drain the potatoes and garlic. Boil the potato water and reduce to 1 cup.

Peel the potatoes and the garlic. Mash them in the cooking pot with a potato masher, a ricer, or through a strainer. Turn on the heat and whisk in enough potato water to bring the potatoes to a thick, creamy consistency. Season with salt and freshly ground pepper.

Heat the olive oil. At the table, pour 1 tablespoon of hot oil on each portion. Serves 4.

NEW POTATOES BRAISED WITH THYME

- 1/4 cup virgin olive oil

1 1/2 pounds Red La Soda or La Rouge potatoes, quartered

1 sprig fresh thyme

1 teaspoon salt

Freshly ground pepper

Heat the olive oil in a large non-stick skillet and stir-fry the potatoes for 8 minutes, shaking the pan once in a while to prevent scorching. Add the thyme and season with salt and freshly ground pepper. Cover and cook for 20 minutes over low heat, checking once in a while and letting the water gathered on the underside of the lid fall back into the potatoes.

Uncover, raise the heat, and brown the potatoes, shaking the pan. Serve right away. Serves 2.

Produce pointers

Here are some answers to your produce questions from the Produce Marketing Association.

How can I speed up the ripening of my kiwifruit?

Kiwifruit, like some other fruits, give off ethylene gas, which helps promote ripening. To speed the process, store unripe kiwifruit near other ethylene sources such as apples, bananas, citrus, pears, and avocados.

If, on the other hand, you do not want to speed up ripening, keep kiwifruit away from other ethylene-producing items.

How can I tell whether cantaloupes are ripe?

A ripe cantaloupe should have a distinct cantaloupe aroma. The blossom end should also give slightly to gentle pressure.

SOY GOOD FOR YOU

When investigators tried to isolate the reason that Japanese women report fewer hot flashes and other menopausal symptoms than American women, their research began to center on the soybean. Japanese women consume about twice the amount of soybean products as do American women. This differential may well be a factor in countering the symptoms of menopause when one comes to realize that soybeans contain large amounts of isoflavonoids, a weak form of estrogen. Beyond that, another isoflavonoid is soybeans (genistein) has been found to slow the growth of breast and prostate cancers in the test tube. This may also explain why Oriental women have lower rates of breast cancer and Oriental men experience less prostate cancer than their American counterparts.

The GOOD FOOD CO., a natural food supermarket, offers a tremendous variety of quality natural foods, organic produce, and even natural cosmetics. We also have a variety of delicious ways you could easily add soybean products to your diet. Our staff always is willing to answer any questions you may have about a given product. Please call us at 981-8100. We are conveniently located at 42815 Ford Rd. Hours are Monday-Saturday 9-9, and Sunday 10-6. Give us a try — we offer great food at a great price!

Szechwan sauce makes chicken

AP.— One bite of this spunky stir-fry and you'll think you're in your favorite Chinese restaurant. The good news is you don't have to leave home. Take advantage of a ready-made sauce when you're in a hurry for dinner.

This delicious stir-fry gets its spiciness from bottled Szechwan sauce, an ingredient available in the Oriental section of most supermarkets.

SZECHWAN-STYLE CHICKEN

- 1 pound skinless, boneless chicken breasts
- 6-ounce package frozen pea pods
- ½ cup teriyaki sauce
- 3 tablespoons Szechwan spicy

- stir-fry sauce
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 1 large onion, chopped (1 cup)
- 3 cups chopped bok choy
- 2 to 3 tablespoons cooking oil
- 1 cup broccoli flowerets
- 1 red sweet pepper, cut into strips
- 14-ounce can baby corn, drained and halved cross-wise
- 7-ounce jar whole straw mushrooms, drained
- Hot cooked rice (optional)

Cut chicken into bite-size strips. Thaw pea pods. In a small bowl stir together teriyaki sauce, stir-fry sauce and cornstarch. Set aside.

In a wok or large skillet stir-fry onion and bok choy in 1 tablespoon of the hot oil for 2 minutes. Add broccoli and red pepper; stir-fry for 2 minutes. Remove from wok.

Stir-fry chicken, half at a time, in 1 tablespoon oil for 2 minutes, adding more oil, if necessary. Return all chicken to wok. Stir sauce mixture; add to wok. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Cook and stir for 2 minutes more. Return cooked vegetables to wok; add corn and mushrooms. Heat through. Serve over hot rice, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Baker leads way to better bread

BY BARRY JENSEN
STAFF WRITER

If you want to make better bread, Daniel Leader will show you the way. A professional baker, Leader stresses good ingredients, simple recipes and a careful eye on the temperature. His guidebook is "Bread Alone," which contains 64 recipes for breads, quick breads and rolls.

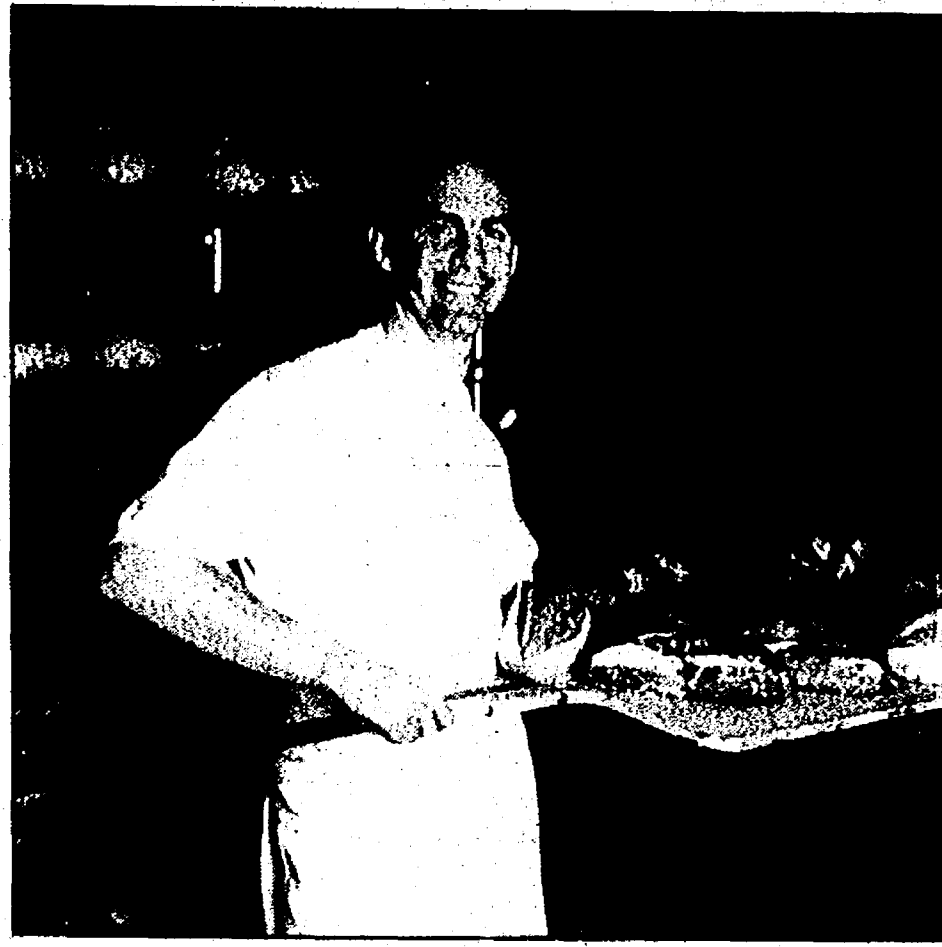

"Bread Alone" by Daniel Leader and Judith Blahnik is published by William Morrow & Co. The 8-by-10-inch hardcover book costs $25. It has 332 glossy pages, including 24 pages of color photos.

Tops on Leader's list are using good organic flours, spring water and a couple of thermometers: He believes in long, relatively cool risings.

Leader is a baker in upstate New York who specializes in traditional breads — hearty breads with lots of wheaty flavor. Leader is so authentic he even has two wood-fired ovens. His book contains a chapter on recommended flours and suggested sources. It also has a chapter devoted to equipment and suggested sources.

The recipes range from a great basic bread (just flour, water, yeast and salt) to a pain au levain that must be started four days before baking. Along the way, Leader includes recipes for classic French baguettes, sourdough loaves and hearty peasant breads.

The book also lists quick breads, but Leader's heart clearly is in the making of high-quality yeast breads. Although he is a knead-it-by-hand kind of a guy, Leader does offer advice on both mixing machines (thumbs up) and bread-making machines (thumbs down).

Good eating: Professional baker Daniel Leader makes simple, hearty breads. He tells readers of Bread Alone how they, too, can bake outstanding bread.

The large book's 24 pages of color photographs are handy: They show what the loaves should look like. Because many of the breads begin with a kind of starter called a poolish, a poolish is shown in several stages of development: The poolish starts out thick, but it will get thinner as it ages up to 10 hours.

The photos also show the many types of loaves you can use in addition to the standard pan loaf: round, log, torpedo, baguette, fantasy, crescent, braided, etc.

Each recipe is up to three pages long. They aren't that complex recipes, it's just that each recipe is thoroughly explained. A lot is repeated from recipe to recipe, but this means you don't have to keep turning back to a master recipe.

Because breads made without preservatives will go stale faster than factory-made bread, Leader includes a note on how to freeze bread and then thaw it so that it retains as much flavor as possible.

So far I've made three of the breads by the methods listed in this book. They were good, even though I substituted Detroit water and bleached flour. Tomorrow I'll head over to Zerbo's to pick up some fresh unbleached flour. Then maybe I'll buy a jug of spring water and a thermometer to take the dough's temperature.

Bread Alone is available at Border's Book Store, 13 Mile and Southfield Road, Beverly Hills, and Border's Book Store in the Novi Town Center.

I made a pepper and cilantro loaf from a recipe in this book and took it to a soup luncheon with other editors and writers. "Great bread" they said as they completely devoured my rustic-looking loaf.

Country-style loaf crisp and chewy

This is a large, rustic loaf with a golden rugged crust that is both crisp and chewy. This bread is much like the peasant breads of 17th-century France and Italy. Makes two loaves.

is bubbly and has increased in volume (2 to 10 hours).

clean and lightly oil the large bowl. Place two tablespoons of vegetable oil in the bowl. Place the dough in the bowl and turn the dough to coat the top with oil. Cover with a damp towel and place in a moderate draft-free place until doubled in volume. The dough has risen enough when a finger pressed 1/2 inch into the dough leaves an indentation. Deflate the dough by pushing down in the center and pulling up on the sides. Turn out onto board and knead briefly. Form again into a ball, return to the bowl and cover with plastic wrap or a damp towel. Let rest in a moderate draft-free place for 30 minutes. Deflate the dough, transfer to a lightly floured work surface and knead briefly. Cut into two equal pieces. Flatten. Shape each piece into a tight ball. Cover and let it rest 10 minutes. Flatten into a disk 1 inch thick. Fold the top edge down about one-third of the disk and seal firmly. Fold from the top a second time and seal firmly. Fold in half lengthwise and seal firmly, pinching the seam closed. Put in greased pans. Cover with a damp towel or plastic wrap and put in a moderate draft-free place until the dough rises until it just reaches the rim of the pan. Do not let it overrise or "dome." Preheat the oven to 450 degrees F. Put the pans in the center of the oven and quickly spray the inner walls and floor of the oven with cold water from a spritzer bottle. Avoid spraying an electric light bulb in the oven. Spray for several seconds until steam has filled the oven. Quickly close the door to trap the steam and bake 3 minutes. Spray again in the same way, closing the door immediately so that steam doesn't escape and bake until the loaves begin to color (about 20 minutes). Reduce heat to 400 degrees and bake until the loaves are a rich caramel color, another 15 to 20 minutes. Turn the loaves onto a rack and cool at least 20 minutes.

FINAL DOUGH

- 2 1/2 cups spring water
- 1/2 package dry yeast
- 1 Tbsp salt
- 5 1/4-6 1/4 cups flour*
- 25% organic whole wheat and 75% organic white

Scrape the poolish into a 6-quart bowl. Add the water and yeast. Break up the poolish well with a wooden spoon and stir until it loosens. Add 1 cup flour and stir until well combined. Add the salt. Add only enough of the remaining flour to make a thick mass that is difficult to stir. Turn out onto a well-floured 2-foot-square work surface. Gradually add the remaining flour as you knead the dough vigorously for 15-17 minutes. Do not shorten the kneading time. The dough is well kneaded when you pull a little dough from the mass and it springs back quickly. Shape the dough into a ball and let it rest on a lightly floured surface while you scrape,

POOLISH

- 1/2 cup spring water (75 degrees)
- 1/2 package dry yeast
- 3/4 cup flour*
- 25% organic whole wheat and 75% organic white

The water should be at room temperature, around 75 degrees F. Combine the water and yeast in a medium bowl. Let stand 1 minute, then stir with a wooden spoon until yeast is dissolved. Add the flour. Stir until the consistency of a thick batter. Stir for another 100 strokes. Scrape down the side of the bowl with a rubber spatula. Cover with a damp towel or plastic wrap. Place in a moderately warm (74-80 degrees) draft-free place until mixture

Don't leave food on counter to defrost

"My mother still insists on defrosting her meat on the counter, how can I convince her that this isn't safe?"

This is a very commonly asked question on the Food and Nutrition Hotline, said Sylvia Treitman, home economist for the Michigan State University Extension, Oakland County office.

There is good reason to be concerned. Food should never be defrosted at room temperature because bacteria can multiply rapidly and may cause food poisoning. Some "old time" methods of food handling may no longer be safe.

Here are some tips for proper defrosting:

- Do not defrost food on the counter.
- Defrost food in the refrigerator.
- Provide a drip pan for meats, poultry and fish and catch juices which may contain bacteria.
- If you are in a hurry, defrost food in microwave — carefully follow directions given in microwave handbook and then cook food immediately. ■ The cold water method of defrosting is also safe — immerse meat or poultry which is in water-proof wrap under cold water. If you have questions on defrosting food or other food safety questions. Call the Food and Nutrition Hotline for help, 858-0904.

Good laugh:

Pam Stone has own gold medal dream

BY BOB SADLER
SPECIAL WRITER

With the 1994 Winter Olympic Games over in Norway, the attention shifts to Atlanta, where the world will gather again in 1996. At the risk of revving up the hype machine a bit too early, here's a preview.

One of the country's top stand-ups may be there to compete. In her hometown, no less.

No, telling jokes in front of brick walls has not been made an exhibition sport for the '96 Games (actually, it's one of the few pastimes that hasn't when you think about it). Pam Stone, known for her recurring role as Judy Watkins in ABC's "Coach," is seriously training to go for the gold as an equestrian.

Underline the word S-E-R-I-O-U-S-L-Y. This is not a joke. Stone only appears on six episodes of "Coach" per season and hits the stand-up trail two weekends each month. That leaves plenty of time for what she readily admits is her true passion.

"I prefer to be working with my horse, actually," said Stone last week before heading to the "Coach" set for the day's rehearsals. "It works out

AT THE MIKE

"Opera Man World Tour 1994"... His comedy album "they're all gonna laugh at you" isn't exactly a huge hit, but Adam Sandler is one of the hottest comic talents around today. You'll find his characters on "Saturday Night Live," like Cajun Man and Opera Man represent his best work. On stage, he mixes some good parody songs with a lot of sophomoric, anatomical stuff. Perhaps that's why, Sandler chose to appear at Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor on Saturday, March 5, as part of the University of Michigan's Greek Week activities. Show time is 8 p.m., and tickets are available at the Michigan Union and all Ticketmaster outlets, or by charge by calling 763-TKTS.

Green Beer and Belly Laughs... You don't have a chance to see Kevin Pollak in comedy clubs much anymore. He's been too busy starring in films like "A Few Good Men," "Indian Summer" and "Wayne's World 2" (He did a cameo as the guy with the weird eyes at the City of Aurora Parks Department.). His act is loaded with great material and dead-on impressions. His "Star Trek" bit in which he recasts major celebrities as the crew, is worth the price of admission alone. Catch Kevin at Mark Ridley's Comedy Castle March 17-19. Call (810) 542-9900 for reservations.

P.S. Sources close to The Second City-Detroit indicate that the troupe's second revue, the follow-up to "Power to the People Mover," will premiere around mid-March. Watch for more details.

WIN A CD!
Oh, shame on us. We've decided to extend the The Meat Puppets CD contest a week because we forgot that U.S. Postal Service didn't pick up or deliver mail on Monday, Feb. 21. Those of you who would like a chance to win one of six copies of the band's new CD, "Too High To Die," must send a postcard with your name, address and telephone number, postmarked by Thursday, March 3, to: "Street Scene," Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI 48150. Winners will be announced in the Monday, March 7, edition of Street Scene...Scout's honor.

LOOKING AHEAD

What to watch for in Street Scene next week:

- Christina Fuoco interviews local band Sweaterfish and the up and coming Eve's Plum.
- John Monaghan takes a look at the movie scene.

New tunes: Beyond the 'biggies'

■ When thumbing through those music-store bins, you have to get past plenty of national acts before you stumble on the lesser-known groups. But once you do, you can find some good — and some not-so-good — regional sounds.

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Albums by regional bands are generally overlooked when national acts like Alice in Chains, Pearl Jam and Guns 'N Roses have new albums.

So, for those of you wondering what's new, here's a look at a few of those releases:

"Hearts and Bones and Voices," Pet Engine: The overriding theme on "Hearts and Bones and Voices" is being something that you're not. What Pet Engine is is a gold mine waiting to be discovered. Fans of Best Kissers in the World, The Posies or The Replacements will dig this Milwaukee band, formerly known as Blackfish. Matthew Schroeder's guitar assault drives the 10-song CD along with vocalist and fellow axman Stephen Ziel.

Lyrical, the quartet — which also includes bassist Clem Blanding and drummer Daniel Andera — isn't afraid to tell it like it is: "My knuckles bleed as I knock on the wood of the cross that you carry like a bulb that's planted. A bulb that never grew."

The album closes on a tender note with the acoustic ballad "Universe" during which Ziel is joined vocally by The Posies' Ken Stringfellow. Get this record and tell all your friends you had it before they were "big."

"Hearts and Bones and Voices" is available through Don't Records, P.O. Box 11513, Milwaukee, WI, 53211, (414) 224-9023.

"The Emma Peel Sessions," The Pretty Green: The follow-up to "Panachecake" doesn't stray far from the Warren-based band's influences of British pop and pure American rhythm guitar rock.

The band doesn't waste time with flowery lyrics, instead opting to be honest and to the point. In "Virtue" lead singer Dave Goulette asks for relief from emotional pain: "Let's pray the world will end today or something that will make me feel OK." The four-song EP ends with a live recording of "It Stands to Reason."

The cassette version of "The Emma Peel Sessions" includes The Pretty Green's cover of the Goo Goo Dolls' "There You Are." Both live recordings are rough but it captures the essence of The Pretty Green's live show.

"The Emma Peel Sessions," recorded at Soundcamp Studios in Macomb County, is available on cassette and vinyl through Lemon Jellow Records, 11515 Hanford Drive, Warren, MI 48093, or by calling (810) 588-9617.

"Swollen" Yardboss: Lead singer Marty Conselyea's choppy lyrical phrases sometimes makes it difficult to follow the lengthy songs. But his throaty growl on top of thundering guitars by Nick Sokolowski and Greg Savala and Rico Grazioli's powerful drumming carry this CD above others by local rockers. Bassist Todd Pocobello brings his musicianship to the forefront with the song "Sticks & Stones," the obvious hit on "Swollen."

Items should be submitted two weeks in advance to: Christina Fuoco, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI 48150, or by fax at (313) 691-7279.

STREET BEATS

The CD, recorded at Studio A in Dearborn Heights, is available at most independent record stores or through Hole in Your Heart Productions, P.O. Box 371, Dexter, MI 48130.

"Drain-O," Mr. X: "Drain-O" is a highly underrated fast-rocking record by Mr. X, a.k.a. the Junk Monkeys' Glenn Scanlan, and his band Drain-O. Filled with more hooks than a fisherman's tackle box, "Drain-O" tears through 10 songs recorded at the Tempermill studios in Ferndale. It also features guests like The Exceptions' horns section ("Toledo"), and fellow Junk Monkeys David Bierman ("Pain") and "Hyper" and Dave Boutette ("Toledo"). A bonus track on the cassette is a live recording of "Suburban Life," a song by Mr. X's former band The Idiots.

Don't let this one slip by. "Drain-O" is available by calling Bam Boom Graphics in Dearborn at (313) 563-2897.

Forehead Stew "Water"/'React': Forehead Stew calls itself a "disruptive rock band producing anti-social music of little value." There's plenty of value in this single, especially in the A-side "Water." Jeff Fowlkes' booming drums and Matt McGuire's hypnotic guitars kick off "Water" followed by Al Sutton's gut-wrenching, over-compressed vocals. With bass lines by Andy Sutton topping off the song, speed metal fans should rank Forehead Stew high on their priority list.

On the flipside, Al Sutton's vocals are so convincing that it's easy to feel his frustration in "React." "... I step out of line, but you push me back in place. Frustration and anger let me out. It's always the same. All the games they play. Let me out. Let me out."

Many bands in this genre, fall victim to hookless songs. However, Forehead Stew listeners will be helplessly drawn in with "Water" and "React," which was featured in John Freeman's snowboarding video "Demented Chowder Pilots."

The vinyl-only single is available through Rust Belt Records, 1145 Griswold St., Detroit, MI 48226.

"The Nothing Like Vaudeville Show" The Nothing Like Vaudeville Show: This 10-song concept album tells the story of a "strangely deformed boy" who runs away from home. The bumpy road, on which he is introduced to drugs and a short-lived love affair, eventually leads him to an evil Ringmaster's Freakshow where the child is one of the top attractions.

The song "Mr. Hyde" explicitly describes the boy's newfound friend: "Lurking in the shadows, don't need a disguise. Evil's in my blood. Evil's in my eyes. Step into my parlor; I'll take you for a ride. No, I'm not the doctor. Call me Mr. Hyde." His parents find their son and when confronted about his job he says, "The Ringmaster told me that God made me a Freak for everyone to enjoy."

Abrasive guitars and eerie keyboards lace "The Nothing Like Vaudeville Show," which is one of the few concept albums that works. "The Nothing Like Vaudeville Show" is also an appropriate vehicle for lead vocalist Michael Jones to prove he has a tremendously versatile voice. Imagine Pantera meeting The Who's "Tommy" and that's what "The Nothing Like Vaudeville Show" is all about.

The 10-song cassette is available by reaching the band at 6282 Mill Road, Broadview Heights, Ohio, 44147.

"Bermuda Mohawk" Bermuda Mohawk: This five-song debut concentrates on the raw side of Bermuda Mohawk. Recorded primarily at PR Music in Detroit, the self-titled cassette intertwines the band's blues, country and rock influences with Sal D'Agnillo's raspy voice.

The cassette is available through Whirled Records, 627 Lloyd Ave.,

Royal Oak, MI 48073.

"Higher," Higher: The band's self-titled effort doesn't take rock to new heights. The six-song EP, however, does serve as an adequate introduction to the Rochester Hills-based band's bass heavy, straightforward rock'n'roll.

Although the lyrics are predominantly simple, the song "Rise" possibly offers insight into the quartet's outlook of their musical future: "We've got to rise (higher) one way or another." For starters, the band recorded at the prestigious Pearl Sound Studio in Canton Township, and is discussing future plans with LA record producers.

While it seems as if lead vocalist/guitarist Michael Alexander is uncomfortable in the recording studio, the glossy album has laid a nice foundation for future releases. The album is available at most independent record stores or through Genre Productions, 123 Canterbury Trail, Rochester Hills, MI 48309, or by calling (810) 375-0202.

"Electrip," HAL: These winners of the 1993 Modern Rock Jam at Detroit's State Theatre take listeners on a trip through the band's mind with its debut release "Electrip." Produced by Dave Feeny at Ferndale's Tempermill studio, "Electrip" blends elements of metal, guitar-driven rock, and industrial dance music to create HAL's slick sound.

The cassette opens with the Nine Inch Nails-esque "Pincushion" which sticks it to a former love, ("Sticking pins in my mind, a psychological voodoo doll."). Each of the remaining three songs — "Blown," "What Is This," and "Alien Eyes" — brings the band a step closer to patenting its sound. "Electrip" is also one of the few recent studio products that is as electric as the band's live show.

The cassette is available by contacting HAL at 1040 Larson Court, Rochester Hills, MI 48307, or by calling (810) 651-5859.

Sharing, talking helped answer son's questions

STREET SENSE

BARBARA SCHIFF

Voice Mail Message: This call is regarding the column on Playboy subscriptions for teenagers. I have a 17-year-old who goes to a private high school, makes straight A's, and is going to college next year. At 14, he expressed a similar interest and so I went out and bought "Playboy," "Penthouse" and "Hustler." Then I looked then over myself and went up to his room with them.

I showed him all of the magazines and what they had to offer ("Playboy" being the better option). We talked over the cartoons, the articles, the letters. I told him that the letters from "Hustler" clearly were not from real women; I told him that women would have to be psychotic to want to be hurt the way that these women said they wanted to be.

I pointed out that these were not pictures of real women; they were "perfect" — airbrushed, no blemishes or bruises. We talked about the importance of love and about sex and hormones. We talked for about two hours.

I gave him the magazines and told him he could share them with his friends, if he wished, as long as they were locked up (I have a younger son also). He is not allowed to have these magazines on a subscription basis. He may still look at them when I'm not around.

On his 16th birthday, I rented an X-rated movie, "Deep Throat," the only one I'd ever seen. I told him about mechanical sex, loving sex and what marriage meant or should mean. I then left him to watch the movie alone. I think this is a private thing, and I didn't want him watching me for my reaction.

Then we discussed pornography again, and I let him know that he was not to watch these movies in the house. After watching the movie he said that he became bored with it and felt he didn't have to sit through it a second time.

From the start, my husband supported me in all that I did. He was not, however, comfortable taking part in my talks with my son. I don't know if that's the best way to handle it. This might not be for everybody, but it's what worked for us.

Dear Caller,

Yours is the sixth response to the question of pornography for teenagers. What is so interesting is to see the wide range of different approaches to the same problem. We do not know everything yet to say this one is right or this one is wrong.

As discussed in the reply to the original caller, what might be right for one family might be the wrong thing for another. What I have to applaud is the good intentions of the parents who put themselves out in order to help their children solve a problem in their growth and development.

Also, I was impressed by the husband and wife working together for the benefit of the children rather than being at odds with one another.

I would like to use my response to your letter as an opportunity to thank all of my readers who are willing to share their experiences with others. I would think that there may be many readers who have opinions about the issues that are printed in this column, but who do not report them to us. May I sway you to overcome your reluctance and help us to learn from your experiences?

Angel epic goes way of all sequels

BY JOHN MONAGHAN
SPECIAL WRITER

MOVIES

Like most sequels, "Faraway, So Close" stretches a great idea way too thin. Stunningly photographed and engagingly acted, this story of angels in modern-day Berlin walks a fine line between poetry and pretentiousness.

You might say that German director Wim Wenders has earned the right to be so self-indulgent. Actually, he's been that way all along.

A major international director since the early 1980s, Wenders made his biggest splash with "Wings of Desire" in 1988. Bruno Ganz starred as an angel who longs for an earthly life with a beautiful trapeze artist.

Ganz appears in "Faraway, So Close" (playing at the AMC Woods after a recent run at the Detroit Film Theatre), but the focus here is on "Desire's" right hand man, Cassiel (Otto Sander). Leaning closer to a mortal so that he can hear better, the angel listens in not only on conversations but inner thoughts as well.

Usually, he's joined by fellow traveler Nastassja Kinski. Now sporting long blonde hair (remember her in Wenders' "Paris, Texas"?), she nurtures the troubled souls she watches over with a caring, often pained expression.

Black-and-white photography backs scenes in the angels' domain while ultra-bright colors accent the world of humans. Turning mortal so that he can save one of his charges, Cassiel has a bout with alcoholism before entering the lives of those he used to protect.

He also looks up old friend Ganz, a pizzeria owner still married to the trapeze artist. They have a beautiful daughter together, who has her father's angelic personality and her mother's passion for the high wire.

Wenders' films cleverly mix European sensibilities with stunning international casts. Aside from the welcomed return of Kinski, there's a great supporting role for Willem Dafoe as a cynical angel whose loyalties and motives remain clearly ambiguous.

You'll also find Lou Reed, Peter Falk and even Mikhail Gorbachev as themselves. Falk was hilarious and poignant in "Desire," given the superhuman ability to feel the presence of the angels. Here, he's simply along for a gag or two, including a misfire bit where he cons a pair of security guards who, like everyone else in Europe, are big "Columbo" fans.

Several different melodramas unroll at once in "Faraway, So Close," perhaps the most interesting of which involves a gangster/bootleg video exporter (Horst Buchholz) in search of his long-lost sister. They were separated as children during the last minutes of World War II.

Wenders also employs a modern-rock soundtrack, featuring U2's current hit "Stay" and a live performance by Reed. But even this device, a staple in all of the director's recent films, grows too self-consciously "hip" after while.

The movie, which runs almost 2 1/2 hours, looks like it has been edited, though I'm not sure if it was too much or not enough. There are enough loose ends here to support two other movies, especially in the climactic scene aboard a barge loaded down with weapons.

At times an engaging meditation on the earthly and the ethereal, "Faraway, So Close" truly reflects the contrasts of its title.

SCREEN SCENE

A sampling of what's playing at alternative movie theaters across metro Detroit as reviewed by John Monaghan.

DETROIT FILM THEATRE
Detroit Institute of Arts, 5200 Woodward Ave., Detroit. Call 833-2323 for information. ($5)

"Naked" (Britain — 1993), 7 and 9:30 p.m. March 4-5; 4, 7 p.m. March 6. Mike Leigh, the director of "Life Is Sweet" and "High Hopes," takes a walk on the wild side in this contemporary portrait of anti-social behavior.

KINOTEK
Capitol Theatre and Arts Centre, 121 University, Windsor. Call (519) 971-5160 for information. ($4.50)

"Tristana" (Spain — 1970), 9 p.m. March 5-7. In Luis Bunuel's very dark comedy, a pretty young woman (Catherine Deneuve) is seduced by her guardian, loses a leg, marries the old man and lives to inherit his money. One of the director's finest works.

MAGIC BAG THEATER
22918 Woodward, Ferndale. Call 544-3030 for information. ($4)

"Dazed and Confused" (USA — 1993), 8 p.m. March 3. It's the last day of school in 1976 as teenagers ponder the bigger issues in life, such as who will drive to get the Aeromath tickets. Richard "Slacker" Linklater directs this subversive and entertaining comedy.

MAIN ART THEATRE
118 N. Main St. at 11 Mile, Royal Oak. Films play through at least Thursday. Call 542-0180 for information and show times. ($6.50; $4 students; $3 twilight/matinee)

"Schindler's List" (USA — 1993). Stephen Spielberg may finally get his Academy Award for this story of Oskar Schindler (Liam Neeson), a war profiteer and Nazi crony who saved the lives of more than 1,000 Jews during the Holocaust.

"Six Degrees of Separation" (USA — 1994). Based on John Guare's award-winning play, a savvy young man (Will Smith) poses as Sidney Poitier's son to cajole his way into the home of a Fifth Avenue couple (Donald Sutherland and Stockard Channing).

"The War Room" (USA — 1993). A behind-the-scenes look at the 1992 Clinton campaign focuses not on the candidate but on his team of election advisors, led by the charismatic James Carville and George Stephanopolous. Veteran documentary filmmakers D.A. Pennebaker ("Don't Look Back") and Chris Hegedus direct.

MAPLE THEATER
4135 W. Maple Road, Bloomfield. Call 855-9090 for information. ($5.75; $3.95 matinee; $2.95 twilight)

"Body Snatchers" (USA — 1994). The third version of Jack Finney's paranoid novel finds people replaced by alien replicas. Abel Ferrara directs.

"In the Name of the Father" (Britain — 1994). In this true story, Daniel Day-Lewis plays an Irishman falsely accused of bombing a pub near London in 1975. The brilliant story of miscarriage of justice is co-written and directed by Jim Sheridan, who teamed with Day-Lewis on "My Left Foot."

"Schindler's List." See Main Art Theatre listing.

REDFORD THEATER
17360 Lahser, Detroit. Call 537-1560 for information. ($2.50)

"Tin Pan Alley" (USA — 1940), 8 p.m. March 4; 2 and 8 p.m. March 5 (organ overture begins a half hour before show time). Alice Faye, Betty Grable, and Jack Oakie star in this musical about songwriters trying to sell their wares. The colorful musical numbers include "Sheik of Araby."

really well because it's a lot less demanding to do a recurring role. I could work every weekend doing stand-up if I wanted to, but I'm competing on the indoor circuit this winter. I'm trying not to work that hard so I have more time to train.

"I've done this (riding) my whole life. I often say that I do the acting and the comedy to support my equestrian stuff. I'll be working for rent when I come to town (March 11-12 at Miss Kitty's Comedy Club in Oxford)."

Does she have an honest chance of making the U.S. equestrian team in two years? Her trainer has already qualified, and Stone is doing her best to follow suit. Regardless of the result, Stone appears to have matters in perspective.

"The great thing about equestrian events is that the horses don't care who you are," said Stone, who gets recognized frequently when she competes. "They'll dump anybody on their butt. And, of course, you're still shoveling manure in the morning, just like everybody else."

A legitimate six-footer, Stone lends immediate credibility to her role on "Coach" as Judy Watkins, head women's basketball coach for the Minnesota State Screaming Eagles. Judy has proven to be a formidable foe for Craig T. Nelson's lead character, football coach Hayden Fox. Before season's end in May, you can also expect Judy and Dauber, Hayden's second assistant (played by Bill Fagerbakke), to finally tie the knot.

"In the episode we're shooting this week (to air sometime later in March), an old flame of Dauber's shows up, and Dauber almost falls for her again," Stone said. "But the marriage will definitely happen."

In addition to her work on the small screen, Stone will make her big screen debut later this year as well. The film, entitled "Radio-land Murders," is produced by George "Star Wars" Lucas and is slated to be in theaters for the all-important holiday movie-going season.

And don't forget, watch for those Olympic equestrian events on NBC in 1996. Pam Stone could be there.

Pam Stone will appear March 11-12 at Miss Kitty's Comedy Club in the Long Branch Saloon, 595 N. Lapeer Road, Oxford. Call (810) 628-6502 for reservations and show times.

LIVE REVIEW

St. Andrew's Hall

James closed their 1 1/2-hour show at St. Andrew's Hall in Detroit on Saturday, Feb. 19, by telling the audience not to expect so much the next time they perform. Singer Tim Booth perhaps thought his fans had their hopes up too high.

The show featured James' stripped-down sound that is evident on their latest release "Laid." The near capacity audience milled around for most of the show but let loose a little energy when James performed "Laid," followed by the "alternapop" hits "Born of Frustration" and "Sit Down." Violinist Saul Davies, previously a predominant feature of James shows, kept a low profile occasionally strapping on a guitar.

Fans of the British band didn't seem ready to accept James' natural sound at The Palace of Auburn Hills January show either. Booth's whirling dervish style of dancing is still entertaining to everyone, nonetheless.

FREE SEMINAR

How to Buy a Home

How much home can you afford? What are your financing options? Do you know the basic steps in the home buying process? You will need the answers to these common questions if you are considering one of the most important purchases of your life - buying a home.

This free seminar is provided to you as a public service of the Western Wayne Oakland County Association of REALTORS®. No individual REALTORS® or real estate companies will be promoted, as this is a strictly informational program. You will receive an excellent packet of information and your questions will be fielded by the panel of speakers. Make your reservation today.

Canned good donations for the Salvation Army will be accepted at the door.

YOU'RE INVITED TO A FREE SEMINAR ON HOME BUYING ON Tuesday, March 8 • 7:00 - 9:00 p.m.

Madonna cagers tumble

According to Madonna University men's basketball coach Bill Sharpe, the story was much the same: "We dug a hole for ourselves and can't get out."

It happened again Wednesday at Siena Heights. The Fighting Crusaders fell behind by 18 at the half and never made it close, losing 128-95.

The loss dropped Madonna to 2-29. The Crusaders played their final game of the season last Saturday at Spring Arbor.

Siena Heights (24-7 overall) simply outperformed Madonna in every phase of the game. Thirteen Saints got into the game, and they all scored.

Best indicator of how one-sided the game went: shooting percentages. Siena hit 59.5 percent of its first-half shots, 60 percent in the second; the Crusaders managed to make 51.2 percent in the first half, but just 39.5 in the second. Siena also converted 14-of-28 three-point shots (50 percent) to Madonna's 7-of-23 (30.4 percent).

The Saints were led in scoring by Brent Tucker with 26 points. Aaron Downs added 23. Combined, they were 20-of-27 from the floor (74 percent). Chuck Foster scored 18 and JoJo Boggan 16.

Madonna got 26 points from Kurt Carlos, 15 from Brandon Stone, 12 from both Jay Dimes and Jason McNab, and 11 from Dan Dombrow and Mike Slone.

Rangers finish 1st

The Livonia Hockey Association Squirt Rangers, sponsored by Buddy's Pizza, captured the Michigan Amateur Hockey Association District IV playoffs with a 3-0 victory over previously unbeaten the Lakeland Blades in the finals Feb. 13 at Grand Oaks Arena.

The Rangers, 27-3-1 overall, finished 5-1 in tournament play. They also scored victories over USA (7-1), Livingston (2-0 and 3-0) and Lakeland (4-3). Their only loss was a 3-1 setback Feb. 10 to Lakeland.

Members of the team include leading scorers Greg Parsons (53 points) and Chris Wrigley (51), and goalie Kevin Marlow (1.29 goals against average).

Rounding out the Rangers' squad is Eric Clinton, Maro Damino, Scott Gilles, Sheila Gilles, Jon Green, Scott Hines, Megan McLeod, Sal Perri, Danny Ross, Peter Udink, David Waligora, Ryan Yono and Nate Zuziak.

The Rangers, headed for the MAHA finals, March 17-20 in Southfield, is coached by Ken Hines, Mark Tice and Brian Parsons.

Livonia Wings triumph

Going undefeated MAHA district playoff action, the Livonia Pee Wee B Wings, sponsored by Flo Tec Inc. are headed for the state tournament, March 25-27 in Ann Arbor.

Members of the Wings, coached by Tim Yarnell, include Marc Perino (captain), Scott Rayburn (assistant captain) Wesley Yarnell (assistant captain), Josh Ranilovich, John Tokarsky, Mike Currie, Mark Dabiero, Jim Katikos, Willie Wilson, David Pasi, Scott Krieg, Brian Currie, B.J. Kokenos, Kyle Knoll, Ben Morrow and Don Strauch.

Assistant coaches include Mike Perino and Al Buchanan. The manager is Lori Yarnell.

Johnson in Senior Bowl

Nikki Johnson, a Livonia Churchill High product and standout for the Siena Heights College women's soccer team, has been invited to play in the sixth annual Umbro Senior Bowl, April 23 in Birmingham, Ala.

Johnson, a senior midfielder on the Saints' 16-5 NAIA district championship squad this year, was an honorable mention All-American and second-team All-America by the National Soccer Coaches Association.

Last season, Johnson led the Saints in assists (15) and was second in goals and total points.

Johnson will be one of the 16 players on the West squad coached by Dr. Colton Hacker of Pacific Lutheran University.

James Head honored

Plymouth Salem standout James Head has been nominated for the McDonald's All-American High School Basketball Team. Head is one of 1,400 prep stars from all over the nation so honored.

A committee of nationally prominent experts will choose 20 players for the team, which will be announced Sunday during halftime of the St. John's vs. Syracuse game on CBS. The 1994 all-star game will be April 3 in New York, and will be broadcast by CBS.

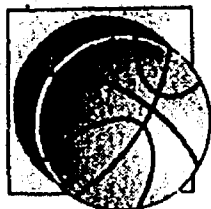

Head, a 6-foot-6 forward who has already signed with Iowa, is averaging 20 points and 14 rebounds per game. He has already been selected to play in the McDonald's Kentucky Derby All-Star Game April 30 in Louisville.

Racquetball star visits

Michelle Gould, 1992 World Racquetball champion and Sullivan Award nominee, recently paid an instructional visit to the Body Rocks Racquetball team.

Gould, a native of Boise, Idaho, has been a member of Ektelon's professional playing since 1990.

Shamrocks win Catholic title

Redford Catholic Central's Bernie Holowicki became the first coach to win a Catholic League boys basketball championship in four separate decades with Sunday's win over Detroit St. Martin DePorres.

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

A going away present? Bernie Holowicki still shrugs when asked if he'll return next year as the Redford Catholic Central boys basketball coach but if he doesn't, at least he'll have a Catholic League championship to remember his last year by.

The Shamrocks continued their glorious season with a surprisingly easy, 69-45 victory over Detroit St. Martin DePorres in the championship game Sunday at the University of Detroit-Mercy's Calihan Hall.

The win, which improved CC to 14-4 overall, was the first Catholic League title for the Shamrocks since 1989 and the seventh in Holowicki's 23 years at the school. Holowicki has never lost a Catholic League championship game.

"Winning never gets old," said Holowicki, 62, rumored to be in his last year as coach. "My theory is you win with good people and you lose with good people. We have real good people here and it makes it fun. They're just a bunch of blue-collar kids who work hard."

Although Holowicki has said it is up to CC whether he returns, athletic director Bob Santello said after the victory he had no comment about the issue.

The Shamrocks play Detroit Public School League champion Murray Wright in the Operation Friendship game at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at Calihan Hall.

Of the five players who scored for CC, four are seniors. Senior guard Andy Slankster scored a career-high 24 points and had a game-high 10 rebounds, senior center Joe Daly had 16 points and eight rebounds and guard Anthony Hesano had 13 points.

Daly made six-of-seven shots from the field and the Shamrocks also were sparked by senior guard Andy Kummer's nine points and junior forward Mike Ridley's seven points and seven rebounds.

The Shamrocks have won seven games in a row.

"The whole thing this year is to 'make it a memory' — coach's 600th victory, the Catholic League championship," said Hesano, who had the hustle play of the day, crashing into the scorer's table for a loose ball in the fourth quarter. "Us five seniors knew what we had to do. We had a talk one day at practice, said 'playoff time,' is 'senior time.' We knew it was our 13 guys on our own. Kids at school jumped on us (early) when we lost and then jumped on the bandwagon when we won."

DePorres, No. 1 ranked in Class C, made only 16-of-59 shots from the floor (27 percent) and was out-rebounded, 36-29.

DePorres, 16-2 overall, forced seven CC turnovers in the first quarter to lead 15-11 but a 13-0 run in the second quarter by the Shamrocks changed the momentum.

The Shamrocks committed only eight turnovers after the first quarter and led 28-21 at halftime and 44-33 after three quarters.

Slankster scored 10 points in the fourth quarter, including a put-back basket with 5:10 remaining to end a 6-0 run and give the Shamrocks a 54-37 lead.

The frustration got to the Eagles with 2:04 left in the fourth quarter when Keifer Oliver was assessed with an intentional foul. The bench received a technical foul and coach Derrick Owens after was ejected after a meeting with the referee.

Churchill reclaims its crown

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

So much for seeding. Nothing followed form at Saturday's Western Lakes Activities Association volleyball championships at Livonia Churchill — except that the champion is used to that designation.

The same two teams — Livonia's Stevenson and Churchill — met in last year's final, with Stevenson winning. It wasn't supposed to be that way this time.

Indeed, according to the seeding, those two teams should never have made it to the finals. But they did, with Churchill — winner of six previous WLAA titles — prevailing over Stevenson 15-10, 15-7.

So, even though this was old stuff to Charger coach Mike Hughes, was this title special? "Unquestionably," he answered, "because we were definitely the underdogs."

Which prompts the obvious question: Where the heck were the favorites?

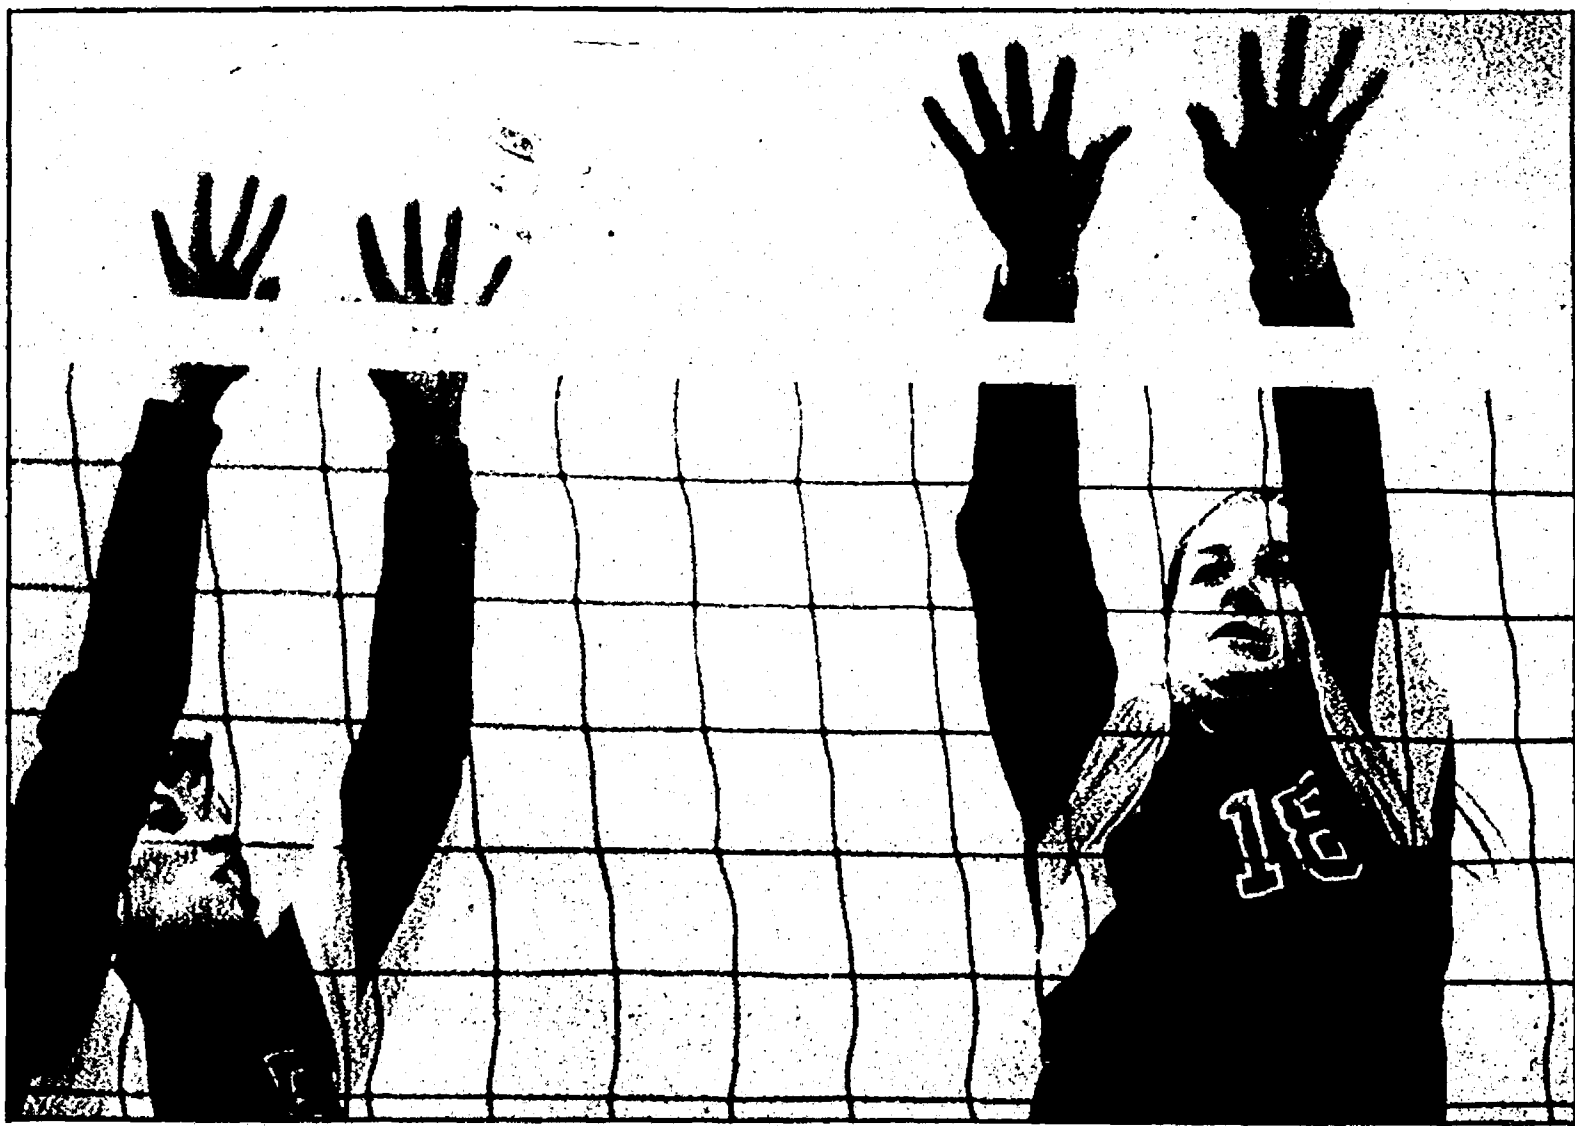

No. 1 seed Plymouth Salem, which breezed through the league season unbeaten through 11 matches, and No. 2 Walled Lake Central failed to survive pool play.

Salem's loss was particularly painful. The Rocks, Farmington Harrison and upstart Livonia Franklin all posted 4-2 records in pool play. All three of them split their two-game sets with each other. That brought the next tie-breaker into play — point differential in games against each other.

Franklin took the top spot in the pool (the first two advanced) with a plus-five. Harrison was a minus-two in its four games against Franklin and Salem; the Rocks were a minus-three.

The Hawks advanced by a single point scored in those four games.

"It was partially the format," admitted Salem co-coach Allie Suffety. "But we had some lapses during play. That's what happens with a young team." Stevenson had a young team, too, after losing its coach and starting lineup from the championship team of a year ago. But the Spartans advanced with a 4-2 pool record; beating both Plymouth Canton (15-11, 15-5) and North Farmington (15-7, 15-11) but losing to Churchill (15-13, 15-9). They knocked off Northville in the quarterfinals (15-6, 15-7) and Franklin in the semis (15-12, 15-2) to set up the rematch with Churchill.

The Chargers were 6-0 in pool play, also beating Canton (15-7, 15-1) and North (15-2, 15-7). In the quarters, they ousted Harrison (15-11, 15-1), and in the semis, they defeated Westland John Glenn (15-2, 15-8).

In the third pool, Glenn advanced with a 6-0 mark, topping Northville (15-3, 15-4), Farmington (15-3, 15-10) and Central (15-11, 15-12). Northville advanced by edging Central on a tie-breaker. Both were 3-3 and split with each other, but the Mustangs advanced on point differential.

"A lot of teams went home early," noted first-year Stevenson coach Kelly Graham. "We played probably the best we've played all year. They moved and hit the ball hard."

"But the last two games (against Churchill) they looked tired. They just didn't have it in them."

Churchill did, as Hughes noticed. Tradition played a part, to be sure; before Stevenson beat the Chargers last year, they had won five straight WLAA championships.

The difference this time, according to Hughes, was "we served tough, which makes it difficult for the other teams to get the ball to their big hitters."

Hughes had tinkered with his lineup throughout the season, one reason for Churchill's 7-4 conference record and No. 3 seeding in the tournament (Stevenson was No. 4).

"We had been playing very inconsistently," he said. "Just last week, we started playing more consistently. And we've been real tough on defense." Size is not a Charger attribute, but according to Hughes, "We have a very even volleyball team."

And they also have a strong setter in Amy Cousir. "She was absolutely outstanding today," he said. "We use a 5-1 lineup, which means she has to do all the setting, and I know she had to be exhausted."

Cousino finished with 70 assists to kills in the tournament. Sarah Fabirkiewicz led Churchill with 39 kills, including four against Stevenson in the final. Renee Tomlinson had five kills to lead the Chargers against Stevenson.

Candice Ribar led the Chargers' strong serving contingent, serving for 40 tournament points.

Both Churchill, with a 21-8-7 overall record, and Stevenson, with an 18-15-9 mark, will make a lot of momentum into Saturday's Class A districts. Churchill hosts Canton in its first match; Stevenson plays Redford Union at Franklin.

Northville pays back John Glenn, 63-50

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Westland John Glenn didn't have much going its way Friday night in the first round of the Western Lakes Activities Association boys basketball playoffs.

Glenn, the No. 1 seed, was missing one starter and 6-foot-10 junior center Guy Rucker was fighting a cold.

To make matters worse, the Rockets had to drive through a blizzard to get there.

Host Northville overcame an early 8-0 deficit and rallied behind a strong defense to post a 63-50 upset victory over the Rockets.

It seems unfair to have Glenn, the Lakes Division regular-season champion, play on the road but it was decided before the season that Western Division teams would host first-round games.

"The way we played and the way they played, it wouldn't have mattered where we played the game," Glenn coach Mike Schuette said. "No excuses. They earned it."

Rucker's condition hurt the Rockets' chances against Northville's front line that includes 6-9 senior center Josh Williams and 6-8 forward John Buser.

BASKETBALL

Rucker was held to eight points but showed University of Detroit Mercy coach Perry Watson, who was there scouting, some of his potential with a couple big-time blocks in the fourth quarter.

"Guy had a 100 degree plus temperature and I know his eyes were drooping," Schuette said. "He told me he could not go far. That took us out of what we were going to do."

Northville, which lost the first meeting to Glenn, improved to 11-6 overall and plays a second-round game Tuesday at the winner of the Walled Lake Central-Farmington game. Glenn, which fell to 13-4 overall, hosts the loser of the Central-Farmington game on Tuesday in a consolation game.

Senior forward Tony Goins was the most consistent Rocket, scoring 21 points. Senior guard Tariq Horne added 10 and sophomore guard Albert Jones added seven points.

The Rockets trailed 31-26 at halftime and 46-39 after three quarters.

Goins cut the deficit to 50-49 with a three-point basket with 2:55 remaining. Rucker blocked a Northville layup but Glenn failed to score on its next possession.

"We got the ball back and acted like we didn't want to do anything with it," Rucker said. "Since we knew we were the top seed, I guess we thought we didn't have to play that hard."

Williams made a free throw to make the score 51-49 and Scott Anderson's steal and basket put the Mustangs up 63-50. John Farrar added a driving basket and the Mustangs made eight-of-10 free throws in the last two minutes to clinch the victory.

Buser led Northville's balanced attack with 16 points and Farrar added 13. Williams had nine points and Anderson eight.

The Mustangs, who upset Plymouth Canton seven days earlier, might be playing their best basketball of the year.

"We tried to play up-tempo, in your face defense and move our feet," Northville coach Larry Taylor said. "We tried to double down on Rucker and still do the job on Goins. It worked. If you hold the conference champion to under 50 points, you're doing good."

Spartans reign

Decision gives Stevenson outright title

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

The Suburban High School Hockey League race is over — at least for now.

Livonia Stevenson is the outright champion after finishing 12-2 overall for 22 points.

Livonia-Churchill wound up second with 20 points at 11-2, but the Chargers missed gaining a share of the title because they played one less game.

On Jan. 28, Churchill scored a 5-4 win over Livonia Franklin, but the game has been declared a "no contest."

The matter was resolved when a protest regarding the use of a disqualified player, directed under league rules to serve a two-game suspension for fighting, was finally heard last week in a meeting by school administrators.

Churchill principal Rod Hosman and Franklin principal Michael Fenchel negotiated a deal that the protested game would not count for or against Churchill and Franklin in the final league standings.

The dispute centered around a protest lodged by Franklin coach Terry Jobbitt, who questioned the use of the disqualified player.

The player in question sat out the Jan. 22 game against Birmingham, but the next scheduled game, Jan. 27 against Bloomfield Hills Andover, was postponed because of snow.

"With our withdrawing of the protest, it was agreed that the two schools call it a no contest," Fenchel said. "The initial basis of the protest involved an illegal player who participated in that game, but not two consecutive games."

"Churchill and their athletic director Don Albertson interpreted the rules differently after the next scheduled game was snowed out."

Albertson would not comment on the matter.

Hosman, meanwhile, deferred all questions to Fenchel, but said, "Our players and coaches have been notified regarding the resolution of this matter."

This Wednesday, all eight members and their representatives of the Suburban High School Hockey League's will get together for their annual meeting.

"The league may look at this differently when they meet," Fenchel said. "It's a group of principals and athletic directors who are supposed to go over the by-laws once per year."

As for the action on the ice:

■ STEVENSON 7, ANDOVER 4: Brian Terain scored twice Thursday as the Spartans wrapped up the SHSHL title against host Bloomfield Hills Andover at the Detroit Skating Club.

Tony Ferrero, Kyle McNeilance, Gino Gaudi, Brian Calka and Jason Baylis also scored goals for the victorious Spartans, who finished the regular season at 14-8 overall.

"We had a 6-2 lead and then tried to give it away," Stevenson coach Matt Mulcahy said. "We definitely won because of our goal tending and the play of our third line."

Eric Rosenau, Stevenson's goalie, stopped four breakaways.

On Wednesday, Stevenson lost to Grosse Pointe North in a non-leaguer at Edgar Arena, 6-4.

McNeilance scored twice, while Kevin Berger and Gaudi each added one goal.

■ CHURCHILL 15, SOUTHFIELD 0: On Friday, the Chargers wound up the regular season 14-6-1 overall with a resounding win over Southfield-Lathrup.

Dan Higham had three goals to lead the winners, while Dave Elenich, Mark Bugnell, Jody Milam and Steve Grom added two apiece.

Jason Kiehler, Jason Samelko, Mike Coon and Justin Young also scored for Churchill. Jim Pollock contributed three assists.

The Chargers are 9-0-1 in their last 10 games.

On Wednesday, Churchill beat Ann Arbor Huron, 4-3, in a non-leaguer at Edgar Arena.

Goalies Steve Stavech and Brendon Frazier each allowed two goals.

The Patriots finished the regular season at 12-8-1 overall.

Trojans hold off upstart Warriors

Livonia Clarenceville's volleyball team completed an unbeaten regular season in the Metro Conference Thursday, but it wasn't easy.

The Trojans pulled out a 15-9, 11-15, 15-11 win Thursday at Lutheran High Westland.

The Trojans, 25-6 overall and 9-0 in the Metro, were led by senior Jamie Zemke, who had 10 kills, 34 assists, 15 digs and three blocks.

Other contributions came from Wendy Roy, seven kills and four blocks; Tracy Sledz, seven kills and 22 digs; Kristen Przewgenka, 29 assists and 11 digs; Joanna Galuszka, five kills and 10 digs; Chris Nunery, 19 digs and 13 service points (with four aces);

ROUNDUP

Pam Inzano, two aces and five digs.

Lutheran Westland, 18-12-2 overall and 6-3 in the Metro, was missing Erin Cicero, who is out for the season with an ankle injury.

Jenny Pruchnik picked up the slack with eight solo blocks, seven digs and six kills.

Sophomore Kristin Priskorn had 11 solo blocks, four aces and four kills, while teammate Julie Twietmeyer made six solo blocks.

Katie Ollinger and Dena Purdy combined for 30 assists with 17 and 13, respectively.

Pro-Am tournament taking shape

AL HARRISON

Things are heating up at Bowl One Lanes in Troy, getting ready for the big one — the U.S. Open Pro Bowlers Tour in April.

The pro-am squads are filling up, so anyone interested in participating should not delay. Get the entries in right away, as all Saturday squads are now filled. The remaining openings are Friday night or Sunday afternoon. Check with Bowl One at 588-4850 for squad times still available.

The entrants receive a new Rhino RE bowling ball by Brunswick, and the pro winners get a trip for two to Hawaii and $2,000 in cash.

Most of the top names in bowling will be on hand for this event, including Walter Ray Williams, Marshall Holman, Pete Weber, Brian Voss, Del Ballard, John Mazza and Harry Sullins. Nelson Burton will also be bowling in this one.

The Press Party will be Monday, March 7, with several pros on hand for interviews along with the current president of the B.P.A.A. John La Spina, proprietor of Gil Hodges Lanes in Brooklyn, N.Y.

As reported in this column a few weeks ago, Tom Baranski set an all-time ABC record for longest interval between 300 games: 24 years.

It is now likely the previous record holder was a local bowler — Archie Fiorenzi, now 81 years old and living in Allen Park.

His son, Jim, informed me the first 300 was on Dec. 5, 1937, at the old Fort Park Recreation in Detroit. Twenty-two years later Archie fired his second perfect game on Feb. 8, 1960, at the old Highland Park Recreation with a 754 series.

Archie Fiorenzi was a very good bowler in those days, averaging near 200 and competing with the likes of Ed Lubanski, Thern Gibson and Spider King. He bowled actively until last year when leg injuries forced him to give up the game. Fiorenzi had retired from driving a beer truck for Don Lee distributors.

■ Have you seen the promos for the movie "Greedy"? It looks like a very funny and entertaining movie, featuring Michael J. Fox as a pro bowler. Gotta see it!

How about the TV commercials shown during the Winter Olympics, one with a pick-up truck going "truck bowling" and another from a pain reliever in which the "paineer" says "I even went bowling last night!"

Razor-sharp Canton turns back Franklin, 87-69

By BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

The only thing missing was Nolan Richardson, Todd Day and Lee Maybury.

Plymouth Canton turned to its "Razorback" style of basketball Friday to gain an 87-69 victory over visiting Livonia Franklin in the first round of the Western Lakes Activities Association boys basketball playoffs.

It was the Chiefs' second victory over Franklin in as many tries. On Tuesday, Canton beat the Patriots, 68-59.

Using a high-paced offense, coupled with a hounding defense, the Chiefs improved to 12-6 overall.

"A team that makes a tournament run usually plays great defense," Canton coach Dave Wagoner said. "We knew playing Franklin a second time would be tough. The kids like to call our pressure defense our Arkansas defense. I think it paid off tonight."

Matt Paupore, a 6-foot-3 senior guard, scorched the nets lead the Chiefs. He scored 19 of his 29 points in the opening half as Canton bolted out to a 49-34 advantage.

Paupore hit 12 of 20 shots from the floor, including three 3-pointers.

"I felt so good out there," said Paupore, who is being recruited by Wayne State and Northern Michigan. "The last two games I came out tight, so tonight I just tried to relax. I felt every shot was going to go in."

"I usually shoot in streaks, but tonight was my most consistent. I went through my normal pregame routine, although I didn't wear my lucky shorts. I left them in the wash."

At times the speedy Chiefs left Franklin gasping for air and hanging out to dry.

Paupore had plenty of help.

Ron Hunter, a 20-6 sophomore, came off the bench to contribute 23 points. Rob Radney and Tadarus Rachal added 11 and 10, respectively. "They play harder I think than anybody in our league," said Franklin coach Larry Jackson, whose team slipped to 10-8 overall. "They're after you all the time. We tried and ran every press-breaker we had in our arsenal."

Canton came out cold to open the second half and Franklin took advantage by cutting the deficit to seven, 52-45, on Mark Baluk's rebound basket with 2:51 left in the period.

"When they made their run we didn't execute our offense," Van Wagoner said. "Also, the first five or six minutes we stopped guarding people."

The Patriots had their chances to cut into the lead even further, but Greg Maple had a shot blocked underneath and four consecutive missed free throws sent the Chiefs off and running again.

Radney's three-point play to end the third gave Canton a 61-49 advantage.

The Chiefs went on to outscore Franklin 26-20 in the final quarter.

For the night, Canton hit 36 of 79 shots for 45 percent, while Franklin made 39 of 64 (39 percent).

Franklin committed 24 turnovers to Canton's 18.

"The talk for us all year and our main goal is to be there on championship Friday (at Northville)," Van Wagoner said. "But tonight this was only step one. But our guys are really focused right now."

Jason Maschke, a 6-3 senior forward, led Franklin with 22 points. Maple and Baluk chipped in with 15 and 14, respectively, while Clem Herrera added 11.

Canton will go on the road Tuesday in a semifinal matchup against Saturday's first-round winner between Plymouth Salem and North Farmington (postponed Friday because of snow).

Franklin, meanwhile, will face the loser away, also on Tuesday.

Lutheran Westland captures Metro West

BASKETBALL

Lutheran Westland clinched the Western Division title in Metro Conference basketball Friday with a 63-43 win over host Detroit Lutheran West.

The Warriors (8-5, 9-9) will play either Harper Woods Lutheran East or Grosse Pointe University Liggett in the conference crossover game Thursday at Lutheran Westland.

Senior guard Jim Hoefft scored 17 points and junior forward John Smolka 15 to lead the Warriors. Junior guard Chris Tiernan had 11 points, nine rebounds and five assists, and Andy Manthei added eight points.

Wayne Wright scored 12 points and Chetham Brazil 11 for the Leopards (0-13, 0-17).

Lutheran Westland led 25-

11 at halftime and 40-27 after three periods. The Warriors made 11 of 18 free throws, Lutheran West four of 10.

CHURCHILL 45; STEVENSON 44: It was not an artistic victory Thursday, but host Livonia Churchill won the "rubber match" of the three-game series against city boys basketball rival Stevenson.

Both teams are 5-13 on the season. Bill Morris paced the host Chargers with 12 points and 12 rebounds.

Jeff Anderson and Ethan Jerome added 11 and 10 points, respectively. Jim Balow led Stevenson and all scorers with 14, while Brett Ferris chipped in 11.

Stevenson had the final shot, but missed.

"I hate winning like this, but I told the kids I'd hate losing like this," Churchill coach Tom Lang said.

Stevenson hit 14 of 18 free throws, while Churchill was four of eight.

Salem vaults by rival Canton girls

WLAA MEET

In the final analysis, Plymouth Salem's loss Feb. 21 to Plymouth Canton in its dual-meet finale may have been a turning point for the Rocks.

They had been performing well, it's true, but they didn't quite seem up to defending their Class A gymnastics championship. And time was running low, with the Western Lakes Activities Association meet Thursday and the regional and state finals all that remained.

The Chiefs' 136.4-135.6 upset victory may have shaken Salem up just enough. No, the Rocks did not put their best lineup out against Canton, but they still could have, and probably should have, won.

There were no such mistakes repeated in Thursday's WLAA meet at Westland John Glenn. Salem simply dominated, posting the state's best score this season in romping to its fifth-straight league title.

The Rocks finished with 142.75 points, more than a point better than their previous best this season. Canton placed second (again — the Chiefs' fourth consecutive year as runners-up) with a team season-best score of 139.75.

Host John Glenn was third (131.45), followed by North Farmington (125.40), Farmington (117.75) and Walled Lake (111.90).

"I'm very happy," said a glowing Johanna Anderson, Salem's coach. Anderson felt personally responsible for the loss to Canton and said so; she didn't put her best team up against the Chiefs, and it ended up costing them.

If their confidence had been shaken, the Rocks didn't show it Thursday. "They're really excited now for regionals and state because they know they can win it again."

The depth of their talent makes the Rocks a formidable foe. There are five Division I-level gymnasts on the team: Melissa Hopson, Sarah Makins, Alysia Sofios, Kristen Kosik and Zoe Yockey. By comparison, Canton has one.

But she's a good one — freshman Katy Gilles. Gilles extended her unbeaten streak in the all-around (she has yet to lose in high school competition) and set a new Canton school record in the process, breaking her own mark of 37.60 with a 37.75.

Gilles was first in the vault (9.5), balance beam (9.4) and floor exercise (9.6) and second in the uneven parallel bars (9.25).

Salem's Hopson was second in the all-around with a 36.30, followed by teammates Sofios (35.95) and Makins (35.85). North Farmington's Michelle Tsai took fifth (34.55), with Salem's Kosik (34.35) sixth, Canton's Tied Wall (34.25) seventh and, tried for eighth, Shelly Underwood of John Glenn and Salem's Yockey (33.55).

"We had an excellent meet," said John Cunningham, Canton's coach, noting his team's three-point improvement in its final score. "(Salem) had to do a little work (to win)."

The difference, he thought, was Sofios, who joined the team late because of her time spent on the Salem cheerleading squad. She did not compete against Canton last Monday.

"She has some work to do, but she's the one who will elevate them," predicted Cunningham of Sofios.

As for his own team, the performances of Wall, Kim Nowak and Adrienne Brenner gave him confidence going into the regional and state meets. "This is what the kids have to do," he said, noting the personal bests posted by several Chiefs in several events. "And they know what they have to do."

Nowak took a third in the floor (9.4) and a seventh in the bars (8.5); Brenner was seventh in the beam (8.4). Wall's scores: 8.6 in the beam (fifth), 8.8 in the floor, 8.7 in the bars and 8.15 in the vault. Kari Jackson added a fifth in the vault (8.7).

For Salem, Makins finished first in the bar (9.3), fourth in the beam (8.95) and floor (9.25), and sixth in the vault (8.35). Hopson was second in both the beam (9.35) and floor (9.50), third in the bar (9.1) and tied Makins for sixth in the vault (8.35).

Simple, honest, straightforward. How else would you expect to lease a Saturn?

By now, you've probably heard about the Saturn buying experience. No hassles, no pressure, no fuss, just common courtesy, along with a pretty great car.

Well, the way we see it, your experience shouldn't be any different if you want to lease a Saturn. After all, what could we possibly gain by making things any less straightforward than they have to be?

GMAC must approve lease. Mileage charge of $0.10 per mile over 45,000 miles. Your payments may be higher or lower. Lessee pays for excessive wear and use.
