other businesses," he said. "No one can stay in business with a 50 percent loss of business."

At a city council meeting several weeks ago, the administration said it studied the possibility of a temporary road paralleling Newburgh, but rejected it because of the estimated $700,000 cost.

But Vermeulen said he and other businesses affected by the closing would prefer the temporary road.

With the road to be closed for two summers, some businesses which have been in the city for 25 years would be jeopardized, he said.

Veldhuis told the Observer Thursday that motorists will have continual access to Newburgh businesses, even though the road will be closed at the railroad for 16 months, starting next summer and through late summer or early fall of 1996.

"I offered any assistance to help promote and market their businesses during the construction period," Veldhuis stressed.

He said the city plans to open construction bids this winter and start preliminary work in the spring before widening the road and constructing the underpass under the railroad crossing in the summer.

During the major portion of the road project, the city is recommending a detour directing drivers to use an alternate route of Palmer, Wayne Road and Cherry Hill.

At the same time, the administration is concerned about assuring fire safety for the businesses and residents in the city's southwest section during the widening.

To make sure that fire and emergency medical services are maintained, the city plans to hire additional firefighters to make sure that fire station No. 4, on Palmer just east of Newburgh, would be continuously manned.

At present, there are occasions when one of the city's four stations aren't manned around the clock because of manpower levels.

While there would be an immediate net increase of firefighters, the eventual cost would be reduced when other firefighters retire within the next few months.

The administration and the Newburgh businesses plan a second meeting to discuss the planned closing on Monday, Nov. 21, at the Bushel Stop, on Newburgh, just south of Cherry Hill.

At Wednesday night's meeting, Veldhuis outlined the planned four stages of the road project.

Starting next spring, the contractor will have construction signs and traffic control devices in place; excavate and construct storm sewer and pump house; build service drive utilities; build a service drive and relocate utilities and overhead cables.

Business owner will face trial in assault

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

The owner of a Westland dry-cleaning business has been ordered to stand trial on charges of sexually assaulting a 24-year-old woman who worked for him.

The woman testified Thursday in 18th District Court that Adil Hikmit Izzat, 34, of Northville made unwanted sexual advances toward her after letting two other employees go home between 8 and 9 p.m. Sept. 22.

The woman said she was in a back room at Hyatt Cleaners, 31519 Joy Road at Merriman, when Izzat locked the back door and approached her.

"He came up behind me and grabbed my breasts," she testified. "I told him to stop." Izzat persisted and rubbed his clothed body against her from behind, she said.

"He was making sexual movements on me. He was rubbing his penis on me," the woman testified.

She managed to break free and then fled the building, she said, later reporting the alleged incident to police because "I didn't want him to do it to someone else."

Izzat, who has pleaded not guilty, didn't take the stand Thursday during a preliminary hearing that concluded as he was ordered by Judge C. Charles Bokos to stand trial for fourth-degree criminal sexual conduct.

The defendant could face two years in prison and a $500 fine if convicted in Detroit Recorder's Court.

He has been released on a $5,000 personal bond, meaning he won't have to post any money as long as he obeys the judge's orders. Bokos has ordered Izzat to have no contact with the former employee.

School boundary meetings coming

Wayne-Westland school officials will continue a series of community meetings tonight to explain a proposed redistricting plan to redraw attendance boundaries throughout the 15,600-student district.

The plan, if approved by the Wayne-Westland school board during a scheduled Dec. 12 meeting, would result in the closing of Fisher, Monroe, Stottlemeyer and Titus elementary schools.

Residents in the attendance area of Fischer Elementary School, 466 N. John Daly in Dearborn Heights, may attend a session 7-8:30 p.m. today at the school gymnasium.

Other meetings scheduled announced by the administration include:

6:30 to 8 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 9, in the gymnasium of Monroe Elementary School, 5021 Biddle, Wayne.

6:30 to 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 10, in the gymnasium of Titus Elementary School, 300 Henry Ruff, Westland.

6 to 7:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 21, in the gymnasium of Stevenson Junior High School, 38501 Paliner Road, Westland.

8 to 9:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 21, in the auditorium at Adams Junior High School, 33475 Palmer Road, Westland.

In addition, the school board has scheduled two public hearings at the high schools:

7 p.m. Monday, Dec. 5, in the auditorium of Wayne Memorial High School, 3001 Fourth Street, Wayne.

7 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 6, in the auditorium of John Glenn High School, 36105 Marquette, Westland.

The board is expected to vote on the redistricting plan during a session scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday, Dec. 12, at school board offices on Marquette, 36745 Marquette, Westland.

"I don't care if she's going to John Glenn or Wayne Memorial. My goal is to get her graduated to a university," Ringel said, nearly in tears.

Parents such as Craig McFee, a father of two, asked the board not to close schools.

"I moved (near) there because I was proud of that school and proud of this district," he said.

Other parents and students continued to voice opposition to the elimination of busing for junior and senior high students.

Bob Grenier of Westland criticized the board's purchase of a new warehouse delivery truck for $21,000. He said a used truck could've been bought and that he didn't care whether employees have a new truck to drive.

"What I do care about is that my child has a bus to get to school," he said.

Like many residents, Grenier also criticized salaries that reach a maximum of $64,000 for a few teachers and $110,000 for administrators.

"Education is No. 1. Your salaries are not No. 1," he said.

bed near his right temple during a dispute that he said erupted over an employee sign-in sheet. He testified that someone grabbed the book and that Fanning blamed him.

McKnight accused Fanning of stabbing him, and he said Williamson then held him from behind while Fanning jerked a gold necklace from his neck. McKnight said Williamson handed the chisel to Fanning just before the attack occurred — an allegation supported in testimony by employee Keyko Clark.

"Johnny handed Carlos a chisel," she said.

Clark testified that she saw Fanning hit McKnight and that Fanning and Williamson then ran to a plant bathroom.

"Carlos and Johnny wound up in the bathroom washing blood off," she testified.

McKnight testified that he started going toward Fanning after being stabbed, but the fight was broken up.

Supervisor Gowain Mandeville testified that he asked Williamson to help break up the fight. He said Williamson had worked for him for about 60 days, and "he was one of my best" employees.

Testimony indicated that much of the incident had already occurred when Mandeville arrived at the work station. He said McKnight was already injured.

"His head was bleeding. He had a hole in his head about the size of a nickel, maybe," Mandeville testified.

McKnight and Clark testified that Fanning dropped the chisel after the stabbing occurred. Clark said she heard someone say, "I got it." Police said the chisel was never found.

Seniors being sought to share crafts and hugs

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
STAFF WRITER

If you're a senior citizen with craft skills or just a lot of love to give, the SMILE program at the Bentley Center needs you.

Livonia Head Start is expanding its SMILE (Seniors Making Intergenerational Learning Exciting) volunteer program to help children from low-income families in Livonia, Redford and Westland get a good start.

Supervisor Donna Pomerson is looking for 100 senior citizens to read, tell stories, share handicrafts, and to give and receive hugs from 3- and 4-year-olds served by the Head Start program.

An informational meeting for volunteers will be 10 a.m. to noon Monday, Nov. 14, in Room E-11 at the Bentley Center, 15100 Hubbard at Five Mile Road in Livonia.

"We want to bring the generations together. A lot of our children do not have grandparents or an older person's support and a lot of our young, single moms don't have an extended family to look to," said Pomerson who hopes to have the expanded SMILE program in the classroom by Christmas.

So far, volunteer seniors have taught the children how to make mop dolls and wreaths. Although promises were made to introduce the children to the magic of clowns, no one ever came through for the kids.

Any clowning enthusiasts willing to share their talents with these young ones would be greatly appreciated, Pomerson said.

"We're looking for someone who's very good with a craft or special hobby, or maybe they collect something. We're trying to break the cycle of poverty here."

Began in the spring of 1980 with 40 children, Livonia Head Start provides a comprehensive program to meet the emotional, social, health, nutritional and psychological needs of low-income families with preschool children living in Livonia, Redford and Westland.

It is part of the Out Wayne County Head Start serving 3,502 children and families in 26 communities within Wayne County outside of the city of Detroit.

Verna Paine of Southfield volunteers her time to the program running from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., four days a week. Part of the reason she does it is because her 3-year-old granddaughter, Colette, is enrolled in the program, but that's not all of it.

"I've raised kids all my life. There's a satisfaction. They say 'Hi' to you. They know you. They're all calling me Nana," said Paine. "I think Colette is learning manners here. She wants an older person's attention and I enjoy it."

Jan Wilhelm, supervisor of Livonia Public Schools Continuing Education Services at the Bentley Center, gives additional reasons for volunteering time to help the children.

"It's fun. It's rewarding, and according to an article in American Health Magazine there's more evidence than ever that helping others has definite health benefits for those who lend a helping hand.

"A recent study at the University of Michigan's Survey Research Center found that doing regular volunteer work, more than any other activity, dramatically increased life expectancy. Helping others creates a feeling of inner strength that affects both the immune system and the release of stress inhibitors."

Livonia schools will honor three teachers of the year

BY MARIE CHESTNEY
STAFF WRITER

Once again, teachers and administrators in the Livonia Public Schools have dug deep into their ranks and honored three teachers who shine as educators.

The following teachers will be honored at 6:30 tonight at Livonia's Teachers of the Year in a reception at district offices at 15125 Farmington Road:

■ Barbara Ferguson, first-grade teacher at Marshall, who has been named elementary Teacher of the Year.

■ Jerome W. Roulo, seventh-grade social studies teacher at Holmes, who has been named middle school Teacher of the Year.

■ Diane Burk, co-op coordinator and marketing teacher at Franklin, who has been named high school Teacher of the Year.

"This is our opportunity to formally recognize three master teachers who are representative of so many excellent teachers in our district," said Jay Young, community relations director.

Both Ferguson, who lives in Northville, and Roulo, who lives in Livonia, have spent their entire teaching careers in Livonia Public Schools. Burk, a Westland resident, has taught in the district since 1971.

Ferguson earned her bachelor of science degree in 1968 from Eastern Michigan University and a special education learning disabilities degree in 1977 from Madonna College.

Roulo earned his bachelor of science degree in 1965 from Wayne State University and his master's degree in education in 1976 from Wayne.

Burk earned her bachelor of science degree in 1970 from Central Michigan University and her master's degree in 1976 from the University of Michigan.

Early roots

Ferguson's roots in Livonia schools go back to 1950, when she attended kindergarten at the former Wilcox Elementary. She graduated from the former Bentley High in 1963. In 1968, she was hired as a Livonia teacher.

"It was like a dream come true," Ferguson said.

As a teacher at Buchanan, she helped develop a readiness program for all Livonia elementary children. The program, housed at Buchanan, ran for eight years.

"I felt one of the most beneficial aspects of the program was the opportunity to build the independence and self-confidence of the children," Ferguson said. She calls teaching "one of the most important professions."

"I want children to have the confidence to be willing to try, to take a chance, even be willing to make a mistake and learn from it. It's very rewarding as a teacher to know that I have had the opportunity to give children a solid foundation to build on and a positive attitude toward school."

A coordinator

Roulo has spent his entire 29 years in the district at Holmes. Over the years, he has coordinated the following: career day, authors assembly and writers workshop, endangered species unit, assembly on Abraham Lincoln and the Civil War, PTA's Reflections and spelling competitions, Odyssey of the Mind, future problem solving and the Metropolitan Detroit Science and Engineering Fair.

"As an educator, I've actively worked to increase and enrich the learning opportunities made available to Holmes students," Roulo said. "I've further attempted to promote the kind of trust, communications and working relationships that would best facilitate the coming together of teachers, administrators and parents, so that they collectively would do that which is best and most advantageous for students."

A nurturer

Since 1971, Burk has taught at Whittier, Bentley, Churchill, Riley and Franklin. She said she is a firm believer in the saying that the "community" educates the child.

"I am a product of this nurturing community effort," Burk said. "The community educates the child, and we all teach all the time. Students need opportunities to experience the thrill of success. Students need to participate in the learning process and not be allowed to be only spectators. They must be prepared for life. Children need to be nurtured continuously."

In nominating Ferguson, Livonia Public Schools' administrator Pamela Lemerand called her "one of the most innovative teachers I've ever had the privilege of observing, and I have observed in over 100 classrooms."

Lemerand added: "The highest compliment I can give to a teacher is to say, 'I wish my children could be in this classroom. That is how I feel about Barb.'"

Dan Shepard, chairman of the math department at Holmes, said that in 27 years with the district, he had never encountered a teacher who spent more of his own personal time to improve children's education and the educational system than Roulo.

He ticked off Roulo's many activities and added: "The above list is not something Jerry has done a little one year and a little another. The above list is something Jerry does every year and

Victim testifies about attack

BY DARRELL CLEM

A Westland man has testified that he was attacked and stabbed with a piece of broken glass by a Livonia acquaintance who came to his upper flat in the 35200 block of Marquette.

Jason Martin, 25, testified Thursday in 18th District Court that he was assaulted by Daniel Clark Hughes, 32, on the evening of Oct. 25. His testimony prompted Judge C. Charles Bokos to order Hughes to stand trial in Detroit Recorder's Court for felonious assault.

Hughes is accused of going to Martin's flat because he believed that Martin had some of his belongings, Westland police Sgt. Leonard West said. Hughes, a residence with Hughes' former girlfriend, West said. In court Thursday, Martin testified that he was asleep when he was awakened by someone pounding on his door. When he opened it, he said Hughes lunged at him and swung a 40-ounce bottle at his head.

"He said, 'I'm going to kill you,' and then he tried to hit me in the head with a 40-ounce bottle," Martin testified.

Martin ducked to avoid being hit, but the two men engaged in a struggle that resulted in a window being broken, according to testimony. Hughes then picked up a piece of glass and stabbed Martin in the back and on the hand, Martin testified.

Two neighbors who heard the fight came to Martin's rescue, and Hughes was restrained until police arrived at the flat, Martin said.

Martin was the sole witness to testify Thursday during a preliminary hearing for Hughes, who was ordered to stand trial for felonious assault. The defendant could face four years in prison if convicted.

Bokos refused a defense attorney's request to reduce Hughes' $5,000 cash bond, and Hughes was returned to jail after his hearing ended.

"Frankly, I'm wondering if the charges shouldn't have been more severe," Bokos said, in refusing to lower the bond.

Martin testified that he and the defendant had known each other for about three years when the alleged incident occurred.

Monster Mile: Ed Kozloff of the Motor City Striders gives costumed runners last-minute instructions before the starting gun sounds at the March of Dimes Halloween Fun Run Oct. 30.

Monster Mile fun run aids March of Dimes

By M.B. Duffon
Staff Writer

Nearly 400 runners, walkers, ministers, Disney characters, cows and jack-o-lanterns did their part to prevent birth defects while getting into the Halloween spirit at the March of Dimes Halloween Fun Run Sunday in Plymouth.

The Monster Mile fun run was followed by a 3.1-mile race through the streets of Plymouth, finishing in Kellogg Park where a costume contest took place and goodies were served.

Traditionally hosted by the Motor City Striders, outside Plymouth, the race was moved to the community after Medas Muffler Shop of Plymouth offered to sponsor the benefit run. As many recall, Medas sponsored Emily Gail's "Say Nice Things About Detroit" mega-races in the 1980s. The company made a decision to get involved with the sport again, said Ed Kozloff, president of the Motor City Striders.

Alan Van Meter, 37, of Southfield won the five-kilometer race in a time of 18:29, with University of Michigan cross country runner Nicholas Watson on his heels in 15:41. Third was Jeff Martin, 36, of Northville in 15:15.

Breaking the finishing tape for the women was Nancy Gray, son, 44, of Northville in 18:35. One of the nation's top runners, Grayson was lauded as master's (40-and-over) Runner of the Year by Runners World magazine in 1992.

Runner-up was Michelle Kitz, 23, of Kettering, Ohio, in 19:20 followed by Robyn Frankowicz, 42, of Northville in 20:12.

Jajuan Hall, 12, of Detroit won the Monster Mile in 5:55, followed by Richmond Taylor, 14, of Detroit (6:05) and Darius Naylor, 12, of Detroit (6:07).

Juanita Thomas, 12, of Southgate won the female division, finishing in 6:20. Runner-up was Sheryl Mascarenhas, 12, of Southfield in 6:57, followed by Laura Stewart, 12, of Plymouth, who ran 7:28.

Proceeds will go to the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation, founded by Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1938 to fight polio.

The foundation's mission is to improve the health of babies by preventing birth defects and infant mortality through community services, advocacy, research and education. Birth defects are the leading cause of infant death.

An independent, nonprofit agency, March of Dimes receives no government funds. Pleased with the large turnout and the city's support, race organizers plan to hold the race in Plymouth again next year. "Pre-registration was up 30 percent. For a local little race, I don't think a field of nearly 400 is too bad. We should hit 500 next year," said race director Ed Kozloff.

"The nice thing about doing it in Plymouth was that we drew so heavily from the Ann Arbor area," said co-race director Sue Kozloff.

Sixty-eight years young, Jim Porshee of Ann Arbor finished in 19:44, 51st overall; first by nearly four minutes in his age group; and 14th in master's competition.

University of Michigan cross country runners Jon Aubuchon, 21, of Monroe (fourth overall and second among men 18-29 in 15:54) and Ken Kozloff, 19, of Huntington Woods (14th overall in 17:01) joined their teammate Nick Watson (first among men 18-29) in the Halloween fun.

Three of the top four women were master's runners. Nina Bovio, 48, of Brighton finished fourth in 20:38.

"When you look back to the 1890s and examine what women — and men for that matter — were expected to be like, and contrast it to what people are doing now, it says a lot about where we've gone and where we are," said Ed Kozloff.

World War II comrades reunited after 50 years

By Barbara Wilson
Staff Writer

It had been 50 years since area businessman Gordon McIntosh saw his friend Mantou, and times were different then.

McIntosh, an Air Force pilot in World War II, had been shot down in Belgium. Mantou was a scientist working for the French Resistance.

The two men spent more than three months together in an odyssey to get back to safety and to further the cause of the Resistance.

Earlier this fall, as McIntosh prepared for a trip to Greece, he received a telephone call.

"I recognized his voice right away," McIntosh said. "He always spoke in half English and half French. He said it was Mantou and wanted to know when I could come see him at his home in New Mexico."

Herman Bodson, or Mantou as he was referred to in the Resistance, had been trying to find McIntosh and several other servicemen. He had a friend in the military who researched their whereabouts through the military archives and they were finally located.

Bodson had written one book about his experience in the Resistance and wanted to do a second book with more documentation from those who experienced it with him. The two met again, face to face last month.

"I had always wanted to know what happened to Mantou," McIntosh said. "I have tried to meet with other people I know then, but there aren't many left."

McIntosh was 20 years old when he served in the U.S. Air Force 38th Bomb group, 545th Squad. In those days the odds didn't favor airborne troops. Statistics indicate that one out of every 10 flyers was killed during World War II.

In 1941, McIntosh found himself in a B-17 on a mission to bomb a factory in Schweinfurt, Germany. On the return trip, his plane was shot down near the Belgian border.

Mantou was being forced to make explosives for the Germans, but he was also working with the Resistance on a sort of underground railroad.

As we say today, he was a spy for I helped him rob 15 million francs from a bank to help the Resistance and he taught me to walk and talk and dress like a Frenchman," McIntosh remembers.

The robbery was more like a scheme to divert the money from the bank so it could be used to buy the things Resistance fighters needed.

During this time, Mantou was gradually working to move McIntosh and other servicemen through the Swiss border to safety.

Before he could make it to safety, however, McIntosh was captured by the Germans on the Swiss-Luxemburg border and was transported in a small box car with 80 other men to a prison camp in Poland.

"I was lucky I wasn't shot on the spot, but I hid the fact I was an airman because they were really hated by the Germans because of all the propaganda that was spread," he said.

After the invasion, McIntosh's camp was liberated by the Russians but there was still a battle to fight. Along with 6,000 other prisoners, he walked 200 miles on foot through Germany before finding refuge in a British Army camp.

"We stayed in barns and any place else we could find and we ate what was available and what we could steal," McIntosh said. "I was amazed by the devastation I saw around me and by the destruction."

The journey took nearly four months and by the time he made it to safety he weighed only 97 pounds with his gear on. He was shipped back to the United States on a hospital ship and remained with the Air Force until 1963.

The clockmaker and restorer often reflects on his experiences during the war and his friendships with Mantou and others. He tries to stay in touch with his military buddies, enjoys traveling to Europe and elsewhere to get a calmer look at the surroundings.

He admits it's kind of surreal to return to the towns and villages that were so devastated by the war and to see them rebuilt, to know that so many people died.

McIntosh, following in the footsteps of his father and grandfather, now works quietly in his Hands of Thyme shop in Old Village.

Candidates address election issues

The following voters' guide on selected local races was prepared by the Livonia League of Women Voters.

Found in today's newspaper are races for state Senate in the 9th District, state representatives in the 19th and 20th districts, and the Wayne County Board of Commissioners from the 9th and 10th districts.

The 9th state Senate race includes Redford, Livonia, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, part of Canton Township, Northville Township, and part of Northville. The candidates are incumbent Republican R. Robert Geake and Democrat Patrick O'Neil.

The 19th state House District includes parts of Redford Township and Livonia. Incumbent Republican Lyn Bankes is being challenged by Democrat Elaine Miller.

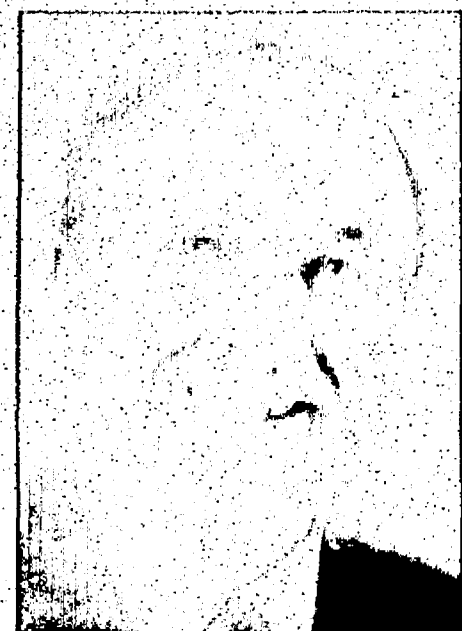

The 20th District includes Plymouth, Plymouth Township, part of Livonia, Northville Township, and part of Northville. Republican Gerald Law and Democrat Carolyn Blanchard are the choices in that race.

The 9th County Commission district includes Redford Township and Livonia east of Middlebelt. The candidates are incumbent Democrat Michelle Plawewski and Republican Kirk Najarian.

The 10th County Commission district includes Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Livonia west of Middlebelt. The candidates are incumbent Republican Thaddeus McCotter and Democrat Karl Burnett.

The league asked each candidate to provide biographical information and to answer three questions, with each answer limited to 50 words.

The information, questions and answers follow.

R. Robert Geake
Republican
9th Senate District

R. Robert Geake, 57, of Northville, attended the University of Michigan, where he got a bachelor's degree in special education, a master's degree in guidance and counseling and a doctorate in education and psychology. Geake has served on the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees 1969-1972, in the state House 1973-1977 and in the state Senate from 1977 to the present.

1. Do you or would you support proposed legislation that would exclude educating any student who brings guns to school?

I voted for the new law which requires exclusion from school of students caught bringing guns to school. However, they must be provided, and required to attend, alternative educational programs. Simply turning them loose on the streets would only guarantee future problems for them and for society.

2. There are those who propose that an alternative to term limitation is campaign finance reform. What recommendation do you have regarding campaign finance reform?

Campaigns are too expensive, making candidates too dependent on contributions and overly preoccupied with fund raising. I would limit the amount each candidate could spend per election and shorten the time period candidates are allowed to campaign. Current contribution limits and public reporting requirements should be maintained.

3. What is your position on subsidizing small businesses and/or low-income individuals to pay for health care?

I support measures to reduce the cost of health care rather than burdening the taxpayers with more government subsidies. Health care cost containment can be achieved through malpractice insurance reform, increased alcohol and drug abuse prevention and treatment and greater competition among health-care providers, yielding affordable health insurance for all.

Patrick O'Neil

Patrick O'Neil lives in Livonia with his wife and two sons, ages 7 and 10. He is an attorney in private practice. During the 1970s and 1980s O'Neil spent 14 years on the Inkster City Council. He has also served in organizations, including the Nankin Transit Authority and the Indian Guides. Currently, O'Neil volunteers at his children's school and serves as chairman of Hegira Programs, a nonprofit corporation that provides mental-health and substance-abuse services.

1. Do you or would you support proposed legislation that would exclude educating any student who brings guns to school?

Local school boards are better equipped to decide this than the Legislature. I would oppose legislation that would tie their hands. The legislation sent to the governor would require the same treatment for a first-grader who brings a jackknife to school as a fifth-grader who brings a gun.

2. There are those who propose that an alternative to term limitation is campaign finance reform. What recommendation do you have regarding campaign finance reform?

Allow contributions only from individual residents of a district, not from organizations or from out of district. Committees may only exist six months before the primary and must dissolve after the general election. Officeholders must avoid the appearance of impropriety in voting on issues supported or opposed by their contributors.

3. What is your position on subsidizing small businesses and/or low-income individuals to pay for health care?

This is a federal issue, but as a Democrat, I support the concept of financing health care by a means other than as a cost of employment. The high cost of American health care for workers makes it difficult for them to compete in the international market.

Profiles of candidates for state university boards

Among the long list of candidates voters are asked to choose from Tuesday are 19 individuals who want to help run the state's three largest public universities: the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, Michigan State University in East Lansing, and Wayne State University in Detroit.

Trustees are elected for eight-year terms.

Voters may select two candidates for each university board.

University of Michigan

The candidates for the University of Michigan Board of Regents are Democrats Paul Brown and James Waters of Muskegon, Libertarians Gary Bradley of St. Johns and Emily Salvette of Ann Arbor, Natural Law candidate William Quarton of Ann Arbor, Republicans Andrea Fischer of Birmingham and Daniel Horning of Grand Haven, and Workers World candidate Kevin Carey of Detroit.

Brown, 59, is running for re-election to this board, on which he has served since 1971. He earned a law degree from U-M in 1961 and practiced law in Petoskey from 1962-91.

Waters, 54, has a bachelor's degree in business administration from Western Michigan University and a law degree from U-M. He is a senior partner in the law firm Waters, Cook, Oslund & Waugh.

Salvette, 38, has degrees from U-M in telecommunications arts (1993) and economics (1977). She was a graduate teaching assistant in the Communication Department 1992-93.

Bradley, 41, is also a graduate of U-M, with degrees in chemistry and chemical engineering. He is employed as a chemical engineer.

Quarton, 44, has a bachelor's degree in philosophy from Beloit College in Wisconsin and a master's degree in business from Eastern Michigan University. He is the owner of Nortex, a financial services company in Texas.

Fischer, 36, graduated from U-M in 1979 and earned a law degree in 1983 from George Washington University. She is a principal member of the law firm Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone. Currently, Fischer is a member of the Oakland University Board of Trustees.

Horning, 35, earned a bachelor's degree from U-M in 1982. He is a partner in the district agency of Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co.

Carey, 38, is a graduate of Wayne State University. He lists himself as a fighter against imperialism, racism, sexism and gay/lesbian oppression. Carey advocates free tuition, open admissions and a $10/hour minimum wage.

Michigan State

The candidates running for the Michigan State University Board of Trustees are Democrats Joel Ferguson of Lansing and Coleen McNamara of Lansing, Libertarians Benjamin Bachrach of Dearborn and Mary Ruwart of Kalamazoo, Republicans Donald Nugent of Frankfort and Paul Wartner of Portage, and Workers World candidate Kristen Hamel of Detroit.

Ferguson, 55, got an elementary education degree from MSU in 1965. He is the owner of a Lansing TV station and co-owner of F&S Development. Ferguson ran unsuccessfully for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate this year.

McNamara, 44, has a social science degree from MSU. She is the executive director of the Michigan Cable Television Association.

Bachrach, 47, has a master's degree in business administration from MSU and a doctorate in engineering from Cornell University. He is employed as an engineer with Ford Motor Co.

Ruwart, 45, has a bachelor's degree in biochemistry and a doctorate in biophysics from MSU. She has taught and performed research in university and industrial settings over the last 25 years.

Nugent, 53, is a graduate of MSU and owns a family farm. He is founder and president of Grace-Land Fruit Cooperative and Gateway Products.

Wartner, 55, has a bachelor's degree and a master's degree from MSU. He is a state senator, former state representative and former finance consultant for Portage Public Schools.

Hamel, 33, is a former United Auto Workers and Newspaper Guild steward. She describes herself as a socialist.

Wayne State

The candidates for the Wayne State University Board of Governors are Democrats Alan Amen of Dearborn Heights and Leon Atchison of Detroit, Libertarians Thomas Jones of Detroit and Brian Wright of Farmington Hills, Republicans Diane Dunaskiss of Lake Orion and Edward Haroutunian.

Amen, 47, has a bachelor's degree in business administration from WSU. He is employed as the executive director of financial aid at Mott Community College in Flint. Atchison, 65, is running for reelection to this board. He was first elected in 1970. Atchison has a bachelor's degree and a master's degree from MSU. He is the former director of civic affairs for Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

Jones, 60, attended Cass Technical High School in Detroit and WSU for 2 1/2 years.

Wright, 45, has a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from WSU. He is employed as a technical writer for a Livonia software company.

Dunaskiss, 42, has a bachelor's degree in elementary education from WSU, and a master's degree in reading and learning disabilities from Oakland University. She is employed as a special-education teacher in the Lake Orion School District.

Haroutunian, 60, has a bachelor's degree in pre-legal studies from U-M and a law degree from WSU. He is employed as an attorney in Southfield.

Circuit court candidates for Tuesday's election

There are 15 candidates for 11 Wayne County Circuit Court judgeships, including 10 incumbents and five challengers.

Two of the challengers, John Callahan of Detroit and Amy Hathaway of Grosse Pointe Park, are running for a seat being vacated by Judge Michael Stacey, who will retire at the end of the year.

Hathaway has been an attorney with the Wayne County Corporation Council since February 1992. Before that she worked for Dykema Gossett as a paralegal (1985-86), "admitted associate" (May to August 1986) and associate (1987-92). Hathaway got her law degree from U-D in 1987.

Callahan, 47, heads the bankruptcy section of the law firm Plunkett & Cooney, where he has worked since 1987. Before that he was in private practice by himself (1981-87) and with mid-sized law firms (1976-81). Callahan got his law degree from the Detroit College of Law in 1974.

The Public Advisory Committee of the Detroit Bar Association has rated the Circuit Court candidates and graded each with one of the following adjectives: Outstanding, Well Qualified, Qualified, Not Qualified.

Callahan was rated as well qualified, Hathaway qualified.

Of the other 13 candidates, voters may choose 10 to be circuit judges. Ten of them already are circuit judges and are seeking reelection.

The incumbent judges (with bar association rating in parentheses) are William Leo Cahalan of Grosse Pointe (well qualified), Robert J. Colombo Jr. of Grosse Pointe (outstanding), Andrea J. Ferrara of Grosse Pointe (qualified), John H. Hausner of Detroit (well qualified), Arthur J. Lombard of Grosse Pointe Farms (well qualified), Cynthia D. Stephens of Detroit (outstanding), Michael J. Talbot of Grosse Pointe Farms (well qualified), Paul S. Teranes of Grosse Pointe (outstanding), Kaye Tertzag of Allen Park (outstanding) and Sharon Tevis Finch of Detroit (well qualified).

The challengers are Richard L. Cunningham of Detroit (well qualified), Deborah A. Thomas of Detroit (not qualified) and Carole F. Youngblood of Grosse Pointe (well qualified).

The following is background information on each candidate, beginning with the incumbents:

■ Cahalan, 63, was elected to the Circuit Court in 1974. From 1971 to 1974 he worked for the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office. From 1961 to 1970 Cahalan was in private practice. He got his law degree from the University of Michigan in 1956.

■ Colombo, 44, was elected to the Circuit Court in 1982. Before that he was in private practice for six years with Riley & Roumiell. Colombo's law degree is from the Detroit College of Law.

■ Ferrara, 42, was elected to the Circuit Court in 1992. Before that she worked as an attorney for the U.S. Department of Justice's Immigration and Naturalization Service (1988-92); as a visiting judge with Wayne County's 36th and 19th district courts (1987-88) and as a judge with Wayne County's 33rd District Court Downriver (1981-86). Ferrara got her law degree from DCL in 1978.

■ Hausner was appointed to the Circuit Court in 1976 and elected in 1977. He was an assistant U.S. Attorney for the Eastern District of Michigan from 1969 to 1976. From 1961 to 1971 Hausner also has significant teaching experience at the University of Detroit, Wayne County Community College and the Michigan Judicial Institute. Hausner got his law degree from the University of Detroit in 1966.

■ Lombard, 52, was appointed to the Circuit Court March 30 by Gov. John Engler. At the time he was a professor at DCL, where he served as dean from 1987 to 1993. Lombard was a law professor at Wayne State University for 21 years. Prior to that he taught briefly at Harvard Law School. Lombard got his law degree from Columbia University in 1961.

■ Stephens has been on the Circuit Court since 1985. She also teaches at U-D, Wayne State University and Wayne County Community College. Stephens' prior experience includes service as a judge on Wayne County's 36th District Court (1982-85) and as associate general counsel for the Michigan Senate (1979-81). Stephens got her law degree from Emory University in 1976.

■ Talbot was appointed to the Circuit Court in June 1991. From 1980 to 1991 he was a Detroit Recorder's Court judge. From 1972 to 1978 he was in private practice with the firm Talbot, Grant & McQuarrie. Talbot got his law degree from U-D in 1971.

■ Teranes, 59, was appointed to the Circuit Court in 1982, then elected in 1982 and 1988. For 20 years before that Teranes was a Wayne County assistant prosecutor. Teranes got his law degree from U-M in 1961.

■ Tertzag, 55, was appointed to the Circuit Court in 1986 and elected in 1988. Previously he was city attorney for Melvindale and River Rouge. Tertzag served on the Wayne County Charter Commission and the Wayne County Community College Board of Trustees. He got his law degree from DCL in 1969.

■ Tevis Finch, 51, was appointed to the Circuit Court in 1982. Before that she was briefly a judge with the 36th District Court (September 1981 to January 1982), a Detroit Common Pleas Court judge (1975-81) and in private practice with Finch & Finch (1968-75). Tevis Finch got her law degree from DCL in 1969.

Challengers

■ Cunningham, 47, has been an associate counsel on the Attorney Grievance Commission since 1993. He was appointed to Detroit Recorder's Court in 1991, but failed to win election in 1992. Before that Cunningham was an assistant prosecutor in Wayne County (1984-91), in private practice (1982-84) and a staff attorney in the U.S. Veterans Administration (1979-82). Cunningham got his law degree from U-D in 1978.

■ Thomas is a mediator in the Wayne County Probate Court and also maintains a private practice, specializing in real estate, family, criminal, juvenile and probate law. Her previous experience includes three years as assistant general counsel with the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority. Thomas got her law degree from U-D in 1977.

■ Youngblood is a partner in the law firm of Williams & Youngblood, where she practices with her husband, Amos Williams. Before that she was an associate with the law firm of Goodman, Lister, Seikaly & Peters (1986-92). Youngblood got her law degree from DCL in 1986.

County Charter Commission in 1980. She is a member of the Livonia and Redford chambers of commerce and the Schoolcraft College Women's Resource Center board.

1. Do you or would you support proposed legislation that would exclude educating any student who brings guns to school?

Michigan's students deserve a quality education in a safe environment. That's why I voted to suspend students who bring weapons to school. However, this does not preclude the school district from developing alternative programs for these students.

2. There are those who propose that an alternative to term limitation is campaign finance reform. What recommendation do you have regarding campaign finance reform?

I have voted for many campaign finance reform bills to give the voters more information. I currently list all contributions even though the law only requires that those over $20 should be reported. I voted to end political bingos because contributions did not have to be disclosed.

3. What is your position on subsidizing small businesses and/or low-income individuals to pay for health care?

I believe that the state needs to encourage cost-saving incentives that will make it possible for small businesses and individuals to purchase insurance. Exploring tax deductions for all health insurance purchasers will provide an incentive for individuals to be covered, and consequently health care delivery costs should be lower.

Michigan.

1. Do you or would you support proposed legislation that would exclude educating any student who brings guns to school?

I support legislation to make our schools safe. First offenders must be evaluated and decisions made about the best way to educate the student without jeopardizing others' safety. Chronic offenders must be taught in alternative programs away from the normal school setting. Truly dangerous students must be excluded from school.

2. There are those who propose that an alternative to term limitation is campaign finance reform. What recommendation do you have regarding campaign finance reform?

Campaigns should be limited to specified amounts of money dispersed from an objective source which represents no special interests. A small amount of money to each candidate from a public domain would be sufficient. Campaigning would mainly be through televised debates, printed newspaper publications and person-to-person contact.

3. What is your position on subsidizing small businesses and/or low-income individuals to pay for health care?

I doubt any American can truly be in "pursuit of happiness" without some type of medical coverage. If the only source of coverage for low-income individuals and small businesses is subsidization, we must consider that. People who have no insurance coverage are the primary reason for spiraling health costs.

state government. He has a bachelor's degree and a master's degree from the University of Detroit and a law degree from Wayne State University. Previously, Law was a financial analyst for Ford Motor Co., a state representative (1983-91) and supervisor of Plymouth Township.

1. Do you or would you support proposed legislation that would exclude educating any student who brings guns to school?

Support SB 966 which would permanently "expel" any student found carrying a weapon, convicted of rape or arson on school grounds or at a school function. Schools should not be responsible for providing educations for those who commit crimes. We should not put the rights of gun possessors above the rights of children who are in school to get an education.

2. There are those who propose that an alternative to term limitation is campaign finance reform. What recommendation do you have regarding campaign finance reform?

Support the term limitation plan approved by the voters of the state of Michigan in 1992. Campaign finance reform should include limiting to one the number of political action committees any group can organize and limit the total dollar amount candidates can spend during the election process.

3. What is your position on subsidizing small businesses and/or low-income individuals to pay for health care?

Public sector economic development programs should create economic growth for local citizens, communities and industries. Public resources should be used to encourage development that otherwise would not occur. I do not support incentives that merely transfer resources from the public to the private sector as does the current proposal for Tiger Stadium.

Carolyn Blanchard, 42, of Northville, has practiced law for 10 years, specializing in criminal and probate law. She has a bachelor's degree from Edgemoor College (Cincinnati, Ohio) in 1974, a master's degree from Tufts University (Medford, Mass.) in 1976 and a law degree from the University of Detroit in 1980. Blanchard is president of the Detroit Dietetic Association, on the board of the Women Lawyers Association, the Detroit Audubon Society, and the Metropolitan Detroit ACLU.

1. Do you or would you support proposed legislation that would exclude educating any student who brings guns to school?

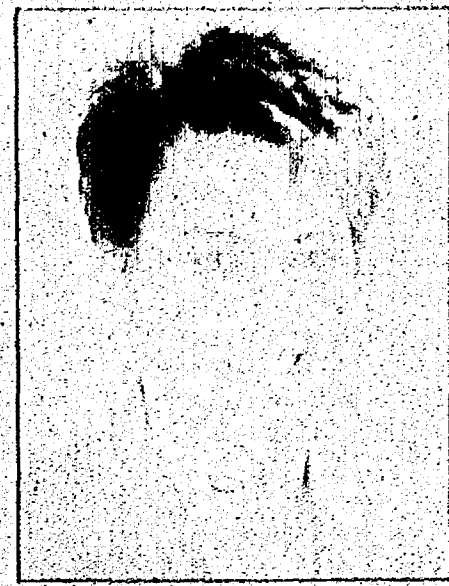

No! These children need to be educated separately. If these children have no education it will cost us more in the end.

2. There are those who propose that an alternative to term limitation is campaign finance reform. What recommendation do you have regarding campaign finance reform?

Limit PAC contributions to $100. Limit individual contributions to $100. Prohibit independent expenditures on behalf of candidates.

3. What is your position on subsidizing small businesses and/or low-income individuals to pay for health care?

I believe there should be universal coverage of health care financed by a payroll tax.

Michelle Plawecki
Democrat
9th Commission District

Michelle Plawecki holds a master's degree in public administration from the University of Michigan, as well as a bachelor's degree from U-M with a double major in political science and psychology.

Plawecki attended Mercy High School. Plawecki completed a psychology internship at Suburban West Community Mental Health in Redford Township, as well as a political science internship in the Canadian parliament in Ottawa, Ontario. Prior to being elected, Plawecki worked as a court screener at Southwest Detroit Community Mental Health.

1. What would be your main objective as Wayne County commissioner?

When re-elected I will continue to provide the highest quality of leadership possible. I will not support an increase in taxes. New and innovative programs must be implemented to raise additional revenues. Government spending must be streamlined. The County Commission must maintain strict oversight of the executive branch.

2. What is your position regarding Wayne County's responsibility to toxic cleanup?

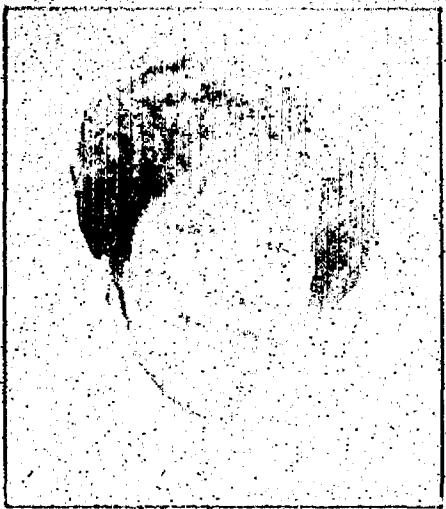

I serve as the first chair of the committee on environment and energy and strongly believe that cleaning up our local communities is a priority. I have been a leader in holding companies who have polluted our land and water fiscally and legally responsible.

3. Even though money was earmarked for a new youth home in Wayne County, nothing materialized. Where and/or how was this money spent? What is your feeling related to funding and/or building of a new youth home in Wayne County?

A portion of the money which the 0.1 mill generated has gone towards community-based programs. Although I strongly believe that such programs are effective, I disagree with current spending practices and support the decision the voters made in 1988 -- to build a new youth home.

POINTS OF VIEW

Endorsements summarized for Tuesday voting

Westland voters will go to the polls Tuesday and have a major voice in deciding who will be their next U.S. representative, state senator and state representative.

What makes this year's election different from, and more important than, ones in previous years is that four major officeholders who have represented Westland for many years are retiring at the end of their terms in seven weeks. They are U.S. Rep. William Ford, in office for 30 years; state Sen. William Faust, in Lansing for 28 years; state Rep. Justine Barns, in the House for 12 years; and state Rep. William Keith, in the House for 22 years.

The nominees running to succeed these four are vied in energetic in what have been in the past traditional Democratic strongholds.

With so many new faces on the ballot next week, voters should support those whose political values match their own, and who have the ability and experience to analyze issues and come to thoughtful conclusions.

The Observer believes the best for those positions are Lynn Rivers, a state representative from Ann Arbor running for U.S. House in the 13th District; Charles "Trav" Griffin, a Westland city councilman seeking the state Senate seat; Eileen DeHart, legislative assistant to Barns for more than seven years who wants to succeed her boss in the 18th state House District; and Thomas Kelly, a Wayne city councilman who wants to replace Keith in the 17th House district, which includes the southeast section of Westland.

On the county Board of Commissioners, incumbent Kay Beard is clearly the best choice to continue her work on the board where she has served since the spring of 1978.

In the races for U.S. House and the state Legislature, Rivers, Griffin, DeHart and Kelly have the backgrounds and skills to be effective policymakers and represent their constituents.

Rivers, in her first term in the state House, brings to her campaign an eight-year record of serving on the Ann Arbor Board of Education, including several terms as board president. In numerous candidate forums this fall, Rivers has shown she has the ability to represent the district in Congress.

A former mayor of Westland, Griffin has served on the Wayne-Westland Board of Education and for 11 years on the City Council. He clearly understands the problems of small businesses, the impact of state policies on local governments, and the importance of creating new jobs to bolster the state's economy.

DeHart and Kelly both have many years of public and community service and have the potential to be effective legislators.

In the 18th District Court races, the best choices are Judges Gail McKnight, seeking a second six-year term, and C. Charles Hokos, cam-paing for the remaining two years of a six year term. Both have the ability, background and judicial temperament to be continue being effective judges.

Wayne-Westland School District voters should support a 1-mill/four-year property tax renewal for Wayne County Community College general operations. While the college and its centers aren't convenient to local students, the community has an obligation to provide post-high-school education for all county students who may seek local jobs. The millage renewal should be approved.

Make sure you cast your votes in Tuesday's election. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Here are recommendations on how to vote on state ballot proposals

On Tuesday, voter attention will fall on a number of Michigan's "jewels" — its state parks, state constitution, and the right to appeal, are among these.

Here we recap our earlier state and county endorsements.

The state constitution, revised last in 1963, provided such improvements as a balanced budget requirement, county home rule and more. Since then, it has been amended, without rewriting it from scratch through a constitutional convention, and all the damgers that imposes. The beauty of our constitution is that change is still possible, when needed, without shattering its core. Therefore, The Observer urges a No vote on Proposal A, which calls for convening a constitutional convention to draft a general revision of the constitution.

our parks and all that they contain.

Unfortunately, our parks have been dulled by a steady funding drought. That should change with the passage of Proposal P for state parks, one that The Observer strongly endorses.

We believe auto insurance needs reform, but we're not at all sure that Proposal C will accomplish this noble aim.

LETTERS

Proposal C knocked

The column by Tim Richard left out much important material to analyze Proposal C. It is alleged to be different than the former referendum that the people rejected because it was passed by the legislature. It is no question that this bill was drafted at the request of the insurance industry lobby and that they donated sums to the campaign coffers of legislators to vote for it.

This lobby is one of the most powerful in Michigan and one of its former pawns was Gov. John Engler who used to introduce their bills for them when he was in the legislature. He is ofcourse, still their pawn as exhibited by his forced sale of the Accident Fund by the state without any reserve for actual value of a business entity.

One feature of the bill that was not covered is the removal of the rights of the insured to sue for their benefits from their own insurance company.

Instead you have to appeal the denial of your benefits to the company that has denied them.

Then you have a right to appeal to the insurance commission which is the pawn of the governor who is the pawn of the insurance lobby. This seems like further victimization by the insurance industry.

Ross Mac Ewen, Westland

That same constitution protects our court system, but here there is need for change. The right to move on to the Court of Appeals after pleading guilty is bogging down the court system to the point that dozens more judges are being requested.

Proposal B is prudent: It would restrict criminal defendants who plead guilty or no contest from appealing their conviction without approval from the court. The automatic right to appeal would be eliminated.

Also on the proposal section of the state ballot is one that has bipartisan support, as well as that from private associations and those interested in recreation. It offers many colors, from the blues of our lakes to the greens of Many jewels stand to be rescued here and it won't cost taxpayers a penny! How? The state already is getting revenue for the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund, which includes rentals and royalties from oil and natural gas found on state land.

Proposal P would establish a state parks endowment fund, without having to lobby every year for funds. The proposal also would increase the maximum allowable funds in the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund and eliminate diversion of dedicated revenue from that fund. This is the 75th anniversary of our parks system. Let's make it a diamond one.

On Proposal C, which pretends to reform the state's auto-insurance industry, the Observer recommends a "No" vote.

Proposal C is a referendum on the state Legislature's Public Act 143 of 1993, a revision of the auto insurance law. PA 143 is horrendously complex. Proposal C is more than 100 pages of complicated calculations and loopholes that will not result in any real reform to ratepayers.

The rate reductions are not guaranteed after six months and the proposal, if approved, permits the insurance commissioner to waive a company's obligation to reduce rates if it is determined the rate reduction would reduce profits below the statewide average.

Auto insurance is too costly in our state and our no-fault system needs reform to contain medical costs, but Proposal C offers consumers too little in the way of real reform.

Polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Don't forget to vote on Election Day, Tuesday, Nov. 8.

Family Talk.

The doctors at St. Mary Hospital believe that the things that go into making a good family — sharing, cooperation, and close involvement — are the very things that are needed for good medical care. So, we listen to our patients — their thoughts, their concerns, their viewpoints and those of their family. And when we talk to our patients we avoid confusing medical terms and try to be understanding as well as understood.

Besides talking with our patients, we also talk to each other. We share professional experiences and pass on information about new technologies and techniques. We also discuss our patients' care. This exchange of ideas is essential to good medical care, for you, and for your family.

The simple act of talking to each other is an important part of good families. And, at St. Mary Hospital, we think it's an important part of good doctoring.

If you want a doctor who practices medicine as if family matters, call (313) 464-WELL. We'll help you find a physician who fits into your family.

Ficano, O'Hair, cops endorse Lynn Rivers

Lynn Rivers, an Ann Arbor resident and Democratic candidate for the U.S. House of Representatives in the 13th District, has been endorsed by Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano, Wayne County Prosecutor John O'Hair, Washtenaw County Prosecutor Brian Mackie, Macomb County Prosecutor Carl Marlinga, and Donald Cox, president of the Wayne County deputy sheriffs' Local 502 union.

The 13th District includes Canton and Plymouth townships, Plymouth, Westland, Garden City and the southeast quadrant of Livonia.

Rivers' opponent is Republican John Schall. The election is scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 8.

"Lynn Rivers' approach to fighting crime is both tough and sensible," Ficano said in a press release. "She has the guts to keep the ban on assault weapons firmly in place, the commitment to keep violent offenders locked up, and at the same time understands that crime prevention is part of the solution."

"Lynn Rivers is not only tough on crime," said O'Hair, "she is smart on crime, and that's exactly the type of leadership we need in Washington."

Kirk Najarian
Republican

jarian has also coached the Red Rangers baseball team.

1. What would be your main objective as Wayne County commissioner?

My main objective is accountability, i.e. to provide the utmost value for the least tax dollar (to hold the line on taxes). I want to make sure my district receives its allotted share.

2. What is your position regarding Wayne County's responsibility to toxic cleanup?

I believe the responsibility of toxic site cleanup lies with the property owner, and it is the county's responsibility to ensure that it's done properly.

3. Even though money was earmarked for a new youth home in Wayne County, nothing materialized. Where and/or how was this money spent? What is your feeling related to funding and/or building of a new youth home in Wayne County?

To my knowledge, the money has not yet been spent on anything. I feel that all monies collected for a specific purpose should be used for that specific purpose only. If the money was spent on other projects other than what it was collected for, the money should be returned to the people immediately! If the people approved a new youth home, then let's get it built.

Former candidate endorses John Schall

John Schall, an Ann Arbor resident and Republican candidate for the U.S. House of Representatives in the 13th District, has been endorsed by Randall Roe, who ran for Congress as an independent in the 13th District two years ago.

The 13th District includes Canton and Plymouth townships, Plymouth, Westland, Garden City and the southeast quadrant of Livonia.

Schall's opponent is Democrat Lynn Rivers.

The election is scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 8.

"I believe that Schall is the most qualified, knowledgeable and experienced candidate to replace retiring Congressman Bill Ford," said Roe in a press release. "Schall's Washington experience as chief of staff for the Department of Labor, coupled with his master of public policy degree from Harvard University, will benefit our district."

"Two of Schall's highest priorities will be developing new business opportunities with good-paying jobs and expanding high-tech programs to meet the pressing needs of our future."

"Schall deserves your vote. If he doesn't do what I've said, you can hold me responsible, too!"

Schoolcraft to publish journal

Schoolcraft College has announced the beginning of a new research journal by and for community college teachers.

The name of it will be "The Michigan Community College Research Journal for Practitioners."

Louis Reibling, dean of instruction, and Denise Sigworth, director of grants and institutional research, will head the project as editor in chief and senior editor, respectively.

English teacher Gordon Wilson will be the managing editor.

Many employees offered separation or early retirement packages; financial planning a necessity.

Many employees will need more than luck to make the most effective use of early retirement or separation packages, says certified financial planner Chuck Bolans.

Many people take advice from well-meaning friends. The problem is that their situation could be significantly different from yours, and the results could be significantly different, too.

"Do you or a friend have the expertise to accurately evaluate the tax implications concerning early retirement or separation packages?" asks Bolans. "Will you really be able to decide a plan is truly in your best interest, as long as you don't believe you'll be able to find a better job or a better investment opportunity that will work to address these and the numerous other related questions that can impact your retirement?"

Bolans' Financial Planning Group, Inc. has specialized in helping people plan for financial security, retirement, and estate issues. All members of the Bolans' Financial Planning Group are Certified Financial Planners. For people who are being early retirement or separation packages, Bolans and his team of professionals can make an important contribution in helping them make the right decisions. Personalized financial planning can help you get the most out of your retirement assets, says Bolans.

Bolans' Financial Planning Group will soon be putting their knowledge to practical use in a free seminar.

The seminar will address financial issues associated with early retirement and separation packages, including when to retire, what are the pros and cons of a monthly annuity vs. a lump sum payout, and tax planning to minimize taxes now and in the future. How to deal with the new withholding laws and how to draw on your lump sum before 59½ without a penalty, among other topics.

The seminar will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday, November 15, at the Wyndham Garden Hotel, 52100 Crescent Blvd., Novi and at 7:00 p.m., Wednesday, November 16, at the Somerset Inn, 2601 W. Big Beaver Rd., Troy.

Even if you don't normally attend seminars, you can't afford to miss this one, says Bolans.

For reservations, call (810) 262-1100, ext. 1100, or (800) 444-PLAN.

Forum on aging to aid D.C. delegates

Michigan delegates to the 1995 White House Conference on Aging in May in Washington, D.C., will benefit, in part, from perceptions and information shared with them next month in Livonia.

The Office of Services to the Aging will sponsor four forums to develop policy recommendations on various issues of concern to the state's older adults. Those policy recommendations will then be shared by the Michigan delegation at the national conference May 1-5.

The Livonia forum will be on "Economic/Financial Security" and will be 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Nov. 15 in Kresge Hall at Madonna University, 36600 Schoolcraft at Layan in Livonia.

A forum on care-giving will be held Nov. 10 in Escanaba, another on productive aging on Nov. 17 at Grand Valley State, and one on health and long-term care on Dec. 8 in Gaylord.

Wednesday is the deadline to register for the forum at Madonna. For information on registering call Shirley Bentsen at (517) 373-8765.

Delegates will be asked to study and refine issues raised at the forums, producing a final report and set of recommendations for consideration at the national level.

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

'Stock' up on broth for warming soups

Many cooks who gladly spend hours in the kitchen baking or preparing elaborate dinners are thrown into a panic when it comes to preparing a simple stock or broth.

Not that there's anything wrong with making a good soup or gravy from a canned or concentrated soup stock, but there's something medicinal about making homemade soup. It helps erase the fall chill, and fills the house with comforting aromas.

Although there are a few tricks for making the stock clear, and especially delicious, all that's really required is to cook the bones and vegetables at a slow simmer. The actual time working in the kitchen shouldn't be more than 15 minutes, and the results will be well worth it.

Different varieties

There are four different types of stock that anyone can easily make: meat, fish, poultry and vegetable.

The meat, fish and poultry stocks are all made with the discarded bones coupled with your basic aromatic vegetables and a bouquet garni. The meat bones can be beef, pork, lamb or wild game. It's virtually impossible to get good meaty soup bones. Neck bones, short ribs, ox tails and stew meat are excellent substitutes.

A good fish stock is comprised of fish bones, trimmings, skin, heads and tails. Poultry parts that make good stock are the feet, neck, back and wings, preferably removed of their fatty skin.

My personal favorite is homemade vegetable stock made with onion skins, carrot parings, potato skins, the leaves from celery stalks, green onion tips and just about any fresh or frozen vegetable on its last legs in my refrigerator.

Enhancing flavor

Once the stock base is determined, anything with bones should be pre-roasted to achieve a great golden color and help the flavor. When I make a homemade beef stock, I douse all the bones with a healthy splash of olive oil and roast them for 45 minutes in a very hot (425 degree F.) oven. You can add a few aromatic vegetables (carrots, celery and onion) if you desire, and a clove or two of fresh garlic would always be welcome.

After the initial roasting, the bones and everything else in the roasting pan are transferred to a stock pot and covered with good, cold water. The roasting pan is returned to the stove and heated just enough so that a good splash of dry wine or water can be used to dislodge any and all of the good things that might have stuck to the roasting pan bottom which in turn goes into the stock pot.

A bouquet garni is inserted, the mixture is brought to a quick boil and then reduced to a slow, steady simmer.

Bouquet garni

To make a homemade bouquet garni, place 5 sprigs of parsley, 1 bay leaf, 2 cloves of garlic, 10 peppercorns and a dash of thyme, marjoram and tarragon in a patch of cheesecloth and tie with string. If you don't have cheesecloth, a paper coffee filter or stainless tea ball can be substituted. Now all you have to do is wait. Meat bones will begin giving up their flavor after being simmered for 10-12 hours.

Poultry bones begin to fall apart after three hours of simmering while fish stock can be made in under 30 minutes with the bones exuding all their flavor in less time than that.

Homemade vegetable stocks can be simmered for 2-3 hours and then the vegetable parts can be run through a food mill or pressed through a sieve to emit their luxurious flavors and essences.

A good stock should always be simmered uncovered so that it can easily be skimmed of fat and froth. Again, I cannot reiterate enough the importance of simmering and not boiling a good stock. Boiling creates a cloudy stock where the fat is churned back and forth into the broth creating a greasy taste in the mouth.

I prefer to skim the fat off my stocks while simmering using one of those handy dandy fat separators. I ladle in the simmering stock from the top of the pot and the fat separator allows me to pour back the stock and remove just the fat. Fat separators are great for gravies and sauces and are available at Kitchen Glamour, Williams-Sonoma and wherever good kitchen equipment is sold.

Hot bagels: A good bagel has to be boiled. Competition is heating up among bakers locally because the healthy, low-fat bagel has risen in popularity. At Bruegger's Bagel Bakery in Farmington Hills, baker Amy Kowalisky managers the boil.

Appetite for bagels is rising

■ Bagels are healthy and growing in popularity, and a new player has entered the local bagel market.

Chewy bread has been a 'round' for long time

BY BRIAN LYSAGHT
SPECIAL WRITER

You can argue pretty convincingly that the bagel is the perfect food.

At least Howard Goldsmith can, even after a long day of baking at New York Bagel Baking Company, which he owns with his father Harvey.

His company's round, chewy rolls contain no fat, no oils, no dairy products and no preservatives. Bagels are cheap, versatile and lower in calories than most muffins.

"It's a good product," said Goldsmith, a former speech pathology professor who has stores in Oak Park, West Bloomfield Township, Southfield and Ferndale. "That's one of the reasons for me being in the business."

Americans seem to agree. Interest in bagels is rising rapidly, like so much dough. One industry estimate had Americans consuming five billion bagels last year, compared to 500,000 in 1963.

There's dough to be made, of course, and one company positioning itself to prosper on this growth nationally is Bruegger's Bagel Bakery, a Burlington, Vt.-based chain.

Here's a little bit of history to go with your bagel.

The first bagel is thought to have been created by a Jewish baker in Vienna, Austria, to thank a Polish king for saving that city from Turkish invaders.

The distinctive roll had the shape of a riding stirrup, in honor of the king's love of riding horses.

They became popular as gifts for women in childbirth in Poland and parents gave them to children as teething rings. You can still get teething bagels.

A blend of yeast, malt syrup and flour, bagels became popular throughout Eastern Europe. The art of bagel making emigrated to America with bakers and flourished on the east coast, especially.

Bakers kept bagel recipes a secret, and the New York Bagel Bakers Local no. 338

Napa Valley uncorks exciting new wines

BY ELEANOR AND RAY HEALD
SPECIAL WRITERS

It doesn't matter how many times we visit Pine Ridge Winery in the Stags Leap District of Napa Valley, there is always something new.

Owner, Gary Andrus has purchased more hillside acreage, and is terracing it to plant Bordeaux varieties, blending components for his Stags Leap District red wines.

Andrus is also establishing a new winery in Oregon specializing in pinot noir. Yes, this Napa Valley cabernet boy is on the pinot band wagon. His new venture, Archery Summit, makes him neighbors with Burgundy's Drouhin family and their project Domainé Drouhin Oregon in the Willamette Valley, an area becoming crowded with wine makers searching for the Holy Grail - the best place to make pinot noir.

Andrus garnered new partners and capital infusion has brought his wines back to world-competitive form. His trio of chardonnays is a knockout. The 1992 Pine Ridge Chardonnay, Knollside Cuvée ($14) is stylish with exuberant fruit and integrated oak. The 1992 Pine Ridge Stags Leap District Chardonnay ($22) is as close to a white Burgundy as you'll find in California. The 1992 Pine Ridge Vieilles Vignes (old vines) Chardonnay ($30) is the last of a lineage. The vineyard was lost to Pierce's Disease and is being replanted to Bordeaux varieties.

The 1992 Pine Ridge Merlot from the Carneros District with big cherry and cranberry flavors, attests to the potential for merlot grown in Napa's Carneros region.

East of Pine Ridge Winery, in a small valley that parallels the Silverado Trail, is Carl Doumani's Stags Leap Winery (not to be confused with Stag's Leap Wine Cellars).

Doumani, a gregarious man loves life and all its adventures. His winery is the site of the original Stags Leap Manor, a popular get-away for San Franciscans in the last century.

"There are only a handful of exciting California white wines, but there are many very exciting red wines," Doumani contends. Stags' Leap Winery has dropped chenin blanc from its portfolio, but petite sirah continues to attract new converts every year. He recommends his 1991 Stags' Leap Winery Petite Sirah ($22) with herb-grilled butterfly leg of lamb.

A new project keeping Doumani happy is Benton Lane, an Oregon wine adventure with Napa Valley partner Steve Girard (owner of Napa Valley's Girard Winery). The winery is located in Monroe, Ore., between Corvallis and Eugene. The 1992 Benton Lane Pinot Noir ($14) boasts cherry-berry flavors in a style we describe as simply delicious.

Bruegger has opened two stores locally this year — in Farmington Hills and Grosse Pointe — and is planning to open one each in Rochester Hills and Canton. They are planning for 15-20 metro Detroit stores.

Nationwide, Bruegger's had 81 stores in 1993, and is projecting 300 by the end of the year.

Goldsmith doesn't say he's worried about the big chain from the east. At New York Bagel, which was started by his grandfather in 1921, they're baking about 5,000 dozen bagels a day, he said.

limited membership to sons of members. These bakers worked in teams: two made the dough and shaped the bagels, one boiled them and one baked them.

In the 1960s, the Thompson Bagel Machine simplified the procedure, allowed production to increase and put the union out of business.

"We're just busier than all get out," Goldsmith said.

"It's been our experience that the more competition we have the busier we get. It's just part of business."

Bruegger's is selling bagels in some seemingly unlikely areas — Iowa, Minnesota, even Grosse Pointe and Canton.

But Bruce Phillips, vice president of Quality Dining Inc., the South Bend, Ind.-based franchise operating the Detroit-area stores, said most people know bagels. There is no education necessary for the consumer, he said.

"Murray Lender did it for us," Phillips said, referring to the founder of the company that put frozen bagels in America's supermarkets. Lender increased interest in a product that had ethnic and regional roots — European Jewish and New York — roots.

"People are pretty bagel-literate. I'm learning, even in virgin bagel territory," said Phillips, a Livonia Bentley High School graduate.

Americans love no-fat food, said Larry Galbraith, a bread baker who teaches bagel making at local Kitch'n Glamour stores. His classes fill up with people who want to learn how to make bagels at home, Galbraith said.

"It's not easy," he added. It took five months of securing books, experimenting at home and questioning bagel makers before Galbraith came up with a bagel as good as the bakeries.

"It's not easy." The books don't tell you," he said.

Nutritionist Stephen J. Sapienza, a Livonia-based consultant, said that bagels can easily become a high-calorie snack.

"For the most part, bagels are low fat and high carbohydrate. They're an excellent food."

"Typically though, what happens is that people load them up with cream cheese and other things that are not very healthy."

Sapienza suggests using a low-fat fruit spread, which will enhance flavor while keeping the calories down. Jellies and jams are fat free but heavy in calories.

Low-fat cream cheeses are also good choice, he said. See recipes inside.

wines from mountain-grown fruit. Winemaker, Bob Foley knows that his cabernet sauvignon, merlot and cabernet franc will develop intense aromas and flavors when grown under low vigor, mountain conditions. Soon a new winery will be under construction and caves will be dug to house barrels for aging wines.

The 1992 Pride Mountain reds ($20) are impressive. Merlot has black cherry and rose petal aromas with notes of clove and allspice. Cabernet Franc boasts extracted berry aromas, intense spice and supple mouthfeel while blackberry, cassis and violets introduce the Cabernet Sauvignon, a wine showcasing its mountain origin and big tannin structure.

The 1993 Pride Mountain Chardonnay ($20) has just arrived. We tasted it at the winery right after bottling, not a particularly good time in the life of a wine, but it showed well. It is barrel fermented with 100 percent malolactic fermentation and full sur-lie aging. Tropical fruit with balanced French oak highlight the long white from Pride Mountain.

Another mountain property is The Hess Collection at the southern end of the Mayacamas range in an appellation known as Mount Veeder. Here, Randle Johnson makes wines with concentrated aromas and flavors. He has 15 years experience with mountain fruit grown on poor soil stressing the vines. His particular talent is the ability to rein in the power and fruit intensity to produce a wine with balance, finesse and charm.

The 1992 Hess Collection Chardonnay ($19) is a blend of fruit from Mt. Veeder and Carneros with dynamic fruit flavors, hints of almonds and toast with generous body. The 1991 Hess Collection Cabernet Sauvignon ($18.50) shows blackberries, currants and black cherry with notes of coffee in a wine with layers of complexity. For wines in a more moderate price range, look for the Hess Select Cabernet ($11) and Chardonnay ($11) grown in the Pinnacles area of Monterey County.

HOMEMADE CHICKEN NOODLE SOUP

6 cups chicken broth
2 medium sized carrots, peeled, halved and sliced
1 tablespoon olive oil (optional)
6 ounces dried noodles or 9 ounces fresh homemade noodles
1 cup shredded cooked chicken or 2 skinned and boned breasts, chopped
salt and pepper to taste
Bring the broth to a simmer in a large saucepan and add the carrots and olive oil. Simmer until the carrots are soft, about 15 minutes.

Slide the noodles into the broth and cook until the noodles are soft. Add the chicken meat and simmer until the noodles are tender. Season with salt and pepper and serve. Makes eight, 1 cup servings.

SHRIMP BISQUE

2 pounds shrimp
1 small carrot
1 medium onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 small turnip, peeled and chopped

1/2 teaspoon dried thyme
3 tablespoons unsalted butter
4 medium tomatoes, halved and seeds removed
1 quart fish stock
1/2 cup heavy cream
salt and pepper to taste

Peel and devein the shrimp, saving the shells. Place the shrimp shells in a pot with the vegetables, thyme and butter. Cook over medium heat until the shells turn red and the vegetables soften, about 10 minutes. Add the tomatoes and 2 cups of the broth to the shrimp shells. Simmer for 5 minutes.

Transfer the contents of the pot to a blender or processor and process 2 minutes. Strain the mixture through a fine sieve.

Add half the shrimp to the mixture and simmer for 5 minutes. Puree this mixture in a blender or processor for 1 minute. Combine the shrimp puree with the remainder of the stock and the heavy cream. Season with salt and pepper. Chop remaining shrimp and stir into the simmering shrimp mixture. Simmer for 1 minute. Ladle into bowls and serve immediately. Serves 8.

CLASSIC FRENCH ONION SOUP

5 pounds onions, peeled and sliced
4 tablespoons butter or margarine

10 cups beef stock (can be made with a vegetable stock instead)

1 bouquet garni
2 cups about 1/2 pound grated Swiss cheese (i.o. Gruyere)
8 slices French bread

Melt the butter in a large skillet and add the onions. Stir the onions every few minutes over medium heat until they begin to soften and begin to brown, about 40 minutes.

When they begin to brown, stir in 1/4 cup of the stock and turn the heat to high. Stir the onions scraping off any caramelized juices that have clung to the bottom or sides of the pan. When the broth has completely evaporated and forms a brown glaze on the bottom of the pan, add another 1/4 cup of the broth and repeat. Continue doing this until you have used up 2 cups of the stock.

Add the remaining broth and the bouquet garni to the onions and gently simmer for 15 minutes. Season with salt and pepper and remove the bouquet garni.

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Ladle soup in oven proof bowls and top with bread slices and some grated Swiss cheese. Place the bowls on a sheet pan and bake until the cheese bubbles, about 10 minutes. Serve immediately. Serves 8.

"D" FOR EFFORT
People who rely on milk consumption for their vitamin D intake should take heed. In 1992, Boston University researchers found that the milk on store shelves failed to deliver the levels of vitamin D that their labels promised. In the intervening years, the situation has not improved, despite the dairy industry's promise to do better. In fact, a recent scientific sampling of 79 milk samples from 10 states indicates that 80 percent of the milk contained 20 percent more or less than labels indicated. Fourteen percent of the samples had no detectable vitamin D. One sample contained 914 percent more vitamin D than it should have. The situation does not promise to get better until the FDA requires dairies to submit their milk for lab analysis in 1995.
If you take a daily multiple vitamin supplement, make sure that enough Vitamin D and C are included. Vitamin C actually helps the absorption of Vitamin D in the body. At the GOOD FOOD CO., we are committed to offering the highest quality natural foods and vitamin supplements. Our fruits and vegetables are always fresh and delicious. Our first priority is the good health of this community. If you have any questions, please feel free to call us at 981-8100. We are conveniently located at 42615 Ford Road. We are open for business Monday-Saturday from 9-9 and Sunday from 10-6. We will be closed on Thanksgiving, so come on in early for your holiday shopping.
P.S. In the long run, too much vitamin D can cause the kidneys to malfunction.

Chowder: Delicately flavored Mushroom-Seafood Chowder features your choice of seafood.

Make a seafood chowder

As the days get chillier, menus turn toward warm comfort foods and among the most popular are soups and chowders. Chowder is an excellent way to increase the amount of seafood in your diet, and seafood is especially low in fat. It's also high in protein and rich in omega-3 fatty acids, a factor that could help protect against both heart disease and cancer.

Center a casual fall dinner around a seafood chowder, with some wholesome whole grain bread and a salad. The thick, creamy chowders that hail from New England are notorious for their use of butter and cream, but low-fat fat versions can produce a robust chowder without any butter or cream.

Using pureed vegetables and skim milk, for example, provides lots of features with a limited amount of fat. Russet potatoes have a high starch content and so make excellent thickeners for soups and stews. A mixture of pureed potatoes and skim milk can be substituted for cream in almost all soups and chowders. Other low-fat chowder recipes use skim milk thickened with cornstarch or chicken bouillon thickened with flour and canned cream-style soup.

All nutritious vitamins and minerals to a warm and hearty chowder with lots of chunky vegetables. Potatoes are traditional, but you can add diced carrots, turnips, parsnips, sweet green or red peppers, sliced mushrooms, chopped celery, chopped onion and corn.

Seafood chowders often feature clams, but crab meat, shrimp, scallops and mussels are also popular. White fish such as flounder, halibut, haddock and scrod can be used as well, cut into 1-inch pieces.

In delicately flavored Mushroom-Seafood Chowder, the choice of seafood can be varied according to availability and personal preference. Combine scallops and any white, non-oily fish as described here, or use one pound of only scallops or only fish.

MUSHROOM-SEAFOOD CHOWDER

- 4 teaspoons olive oil
- 1/2 cup onion, chopped
- 1/2 cup celery, chopped
- 1/2 cup sweet red pepper, chopped
- 2 1/2 cups sliced mushrooms
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 2 teaspoons or cubes instant low-sodium seafood or

- chicken bouillon
- 3 medium boiling potatoes
- 1/2 pound bay scallops
- 1/2 pound white-fleshed fish, such as haddock or cod
- 1/4 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
- 12 ounce can evaporated skim milk
- Freshly ground pepper to taste

Heat the oil over medium-high heat in a large pot or Dutch oven. Add the onion and celery, and cook, stirring often, until the onion is wilted. Add the red pepper, mushrooms, water and instant bouillon. Bring to a boil.

Meanwhile, peel the potatoes and cut them into half-inch cubes. Add them to the pan immediately (even if the vegetable mixture is not yet boiling). Cover and simmer for about 15 minutes, until the potatoes are tender.

Cut the fish into chunks. Drain the scallops and add them to the pan with the fish. Add the thyme. Simmer gently for 2 or 3 minutes. (Do not overcook or the fish will fall apart and the scallops will be rubbery). Add the evaporated milk and heat through; do not allow to boil. Season with pepper to taste and serve.

Pair bananas, dates for creamy pudding

AP — Transform ordinary pudding into something special by adding a mashed banana and some chopped dates to instant vanilla pudding mix. The pudding is spooned into dessert glasses and layered with crushed chocolate wafer cookies. Garnish with mint sprigs and pitted dates.

DATE BANANA PUDDING PARFAITS

- 3-4 ounce package instant vanilla pudding mix
- 2 eggs yolk beaten
- 1 1/4 cups plain fat-free yogurt
- 1/4 cup chopped dates
- 1 banana, mashed
- 1 cup crushed chocolate wafer cookies

Whisk together pudding mix, milk and yogurt. Stir in dates and mashed banana. Layer 1/4 cup pudding in bottom of each of four 3-ounce dessert glasses. Sprinkle 2 tablespoons cookie crumbs on top of each. Layer in another 1/4 cup pudding and another 2 tablespoons cookie crumbs. Top each with remaining pudding. (If desired, garnish with additional dates and mint sprigs just before serving.) Makes 4 servings.

Enjoy venison anytime

During hunting season, venison has long been the hunter's favorite way to replenish meat supplies in the freezer. Today, however, you can enjoy the savory taste of venison anytime, without having to don hunting gear.

Farm-raised venison is less gamey tasting and more tender than wild venison. It is available frozen in some specialty stores and supermarkets or can be ordered through the mail year-round.

Hints for Cooking Venison

Venison has a fine texture, with a flavor similar to beef. It is generally leaner than beef. When prepared properly, the taste of venison rivals the best beef or lamb. Follow these hints:

Choose the cut to fit your schedule. As with beef, venison cuts include roasts, steaks and chops, with roasts requiring longer cooking than steaks or chops.

Because farm-raised venison meat is more tender than wild venison, it really needs no marinating. Instead, use light-flavored marinades or sauces to enhance the flavor of the mild-tasting meat.

Quick-cooking ground venison and fully-cooked venison lunchmeats are also available.

Because the fat carries most of the strong flavor, trim away as much fat as possible, leaving only a thin covering to keep the meat from drying out as it cooks.

Remove any sinew or skin before you pan-fry or grill venison. Also be sure to remove the silver membrane around the meat muscles. (You can purchase de-skinned and de-sinewed venison.)

Marinate wild venison cuts from the shoulder or leg to tenderize the meat. Marinate the more tender cuts from the ribs, loin or rump to complement the venison flavor. Fruit marinades, such as pineapple, raspberry or kiwi, accent the venison flavor deliciously.

Because farm-raised venison meat is more tender than wild venison, it really needs no marinating. Instead, use light-flavored marinades or sauces to enhance the flavor of the mild-tasting meat.

Serve venison rare or medium-rare (130 degrees F to 135 degrees F). If it's cooked to 140 degrees F or above, venison dries out and toughens because the meat is so lean.

Pumpkin is delicious, and good for you

LOIS THIELEKE

The sweet flesh of pumpkins makes delicious soup, salads, stews, side dishes, cookies, muffins, breads, cakes and the ever popular pie.

The Indians were planting pumpkins between corn long before the Pilgrims arrived. The entire pumpkin was used, the flesh, seeds to eat and then the scooped out shell was dried and used as a water container. Naturally, a supply of seeds was kept for the next year's crop. Pumpkin slices were sundried, then ground to make flour.

Pumpkins are rich in flavor, and high in nutrients such as beta carotene which is converted into vitamin A. They also contain some potassium, iron, vitamin C, fiber, calcium and much more. A regular pie pumpkin is usually small, squat, pale, meaty, heavy and sweeter than decorative ones. But any pumpkin can be eaten.

Cooking tips

Pumpkin or any winter squash such as Acorn, Butternut, Hubbard or Turban can be used interchangeably in nearly all recipes. After cutting open, remove the stringy part and seeds before cooking. To bake, arrange pumpkin pieces, skin side down in a greased baking dish. Bake at 375 degrees until tender.

Pumpkin can be steamed, peeled or unpeeled. Cook until tender. It goes faster if cut into one-inch cubes to steam. They can also be cooked in water, cut peeled pieces into cubes and boil until tender, just like boiling potatoes.

An excellent and fast cooking method is the microwave. They can be cooked either in chunks, or peeled and cubed in a covered dish.

To season pumpkin, try nutmeg, allspice, coriander, chopped candied ginger, brown sugar, or maple syrup. Fried bacon pieces, sauteed onions and a touch of garlic make a tasty side dish when added to pumpkin. For those that do not like vegetables or pumpkin, mix pumpkin with equal parts of applesauce, banana or crushed pineapple. When making pancakes add a little pumpkin to the batter. Stir cooked pumpkin in some low-fat yogurt with a little brown sugar for a sweet treat.

Slimming Ideas

Slim down your favorite pumpkin pie. You can cut the calories from fat from 49 percent to 26 in a pie substituting evaporated skim milk for the cream and using three egg whites for every two whole eggs. An egg substitute can also be used. For the most part the calories will remain the same but the fat is reduced. To reduce the calories, use a graham cracker crust or bake in a nonstick casserole without any crust.

After you're done with the jack-o-lantern, cook it up and freeze for use later. Pumpkin can be watery when cooked so make sure the pieces are well drained before freezing. Cut into cubes for cooking then mash or put in a food processor to make a puree to freeze.

Pumpkin butter can be made using mashed pumpkin. Add one cup sugar or honey to every two cups of pumpkin and one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon or ginger to each cup pumpkin. Cook this over low heat until thick. Stir to prevent scorching. Refrigerate or freeze — it's great on toast.

Don't forget the seeds for snacking. Wash the seeds to remove any stringy fiber. To dry roast, spread seeds in a single layer on a cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 to 15 minutes. When the seeds begin to swell and start to crack, they are ready to eat. Salt to taste. Go easy on adding fat or lots of salt to pumpkin seeds or you'll make something unhealthy out of a good snack.

Ripe pumpkins should be bright colored firm and unblemished. If possible leave two to three inches on the stem if you're going to store them. Store pumpkins in a cool dry place (40 degrees to 50 degrees F.) away from the danger of frost. High temperatures will dry them out.

If you're storing them in the basement, keep them off the floor if possible. Store with care and pumpkins or squash will keep through the winter.

If you don't want to bother cooking your own, there is canned pumpkin and pumpkin pie filling on the grocery shelves. Pumpkin is good for you, besides being a very versatile vegetable.

EDY'S GRAND ICE CREAM

Dessert: Petite Pumpkin Patch is a festive fall dessert.

Pumpkins make a tasty dessert

Here's a fall dessert idea from Edy's Grand Ice Cream.

PETITE PUMPKIN PATCH

Dessert ingredients
4 tiny pumpkins, about 3-inches in diameter
1 quart Edy's Grand Pumpkin ice cream
Ground cinnamon
Warm Caramel Sauce

Pierce the bottoms of pumpkins with a knife in 3 or 4 places. Microwave on High (100 percent power) 6 to 7 minutes, just until pumpkins are tender when pierced or gently squeezed. Cool.

Slice off tops and scoop out seeds and pumpkin meat, leaving shells intact. Reserve tops.

Use dessert plates and arrange pumpkin shells in middle of plate. Place a large scoop of Edy's Grand Pumpkin ice cream in the center of each pumpkin.

Pour warm caramel sauce over ice cream and around pumpkin on dessert plate. Dust with cinnamon and arrange pumpkin tops to the side of shells. Serve immediately.

WARM CARAMEL SAUCE

¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup packed light brown sugar
½ cup heavy cream

In a 4-cup glass measure or deep microwavable bowl, microwave butter on High (100 percent power) 45 to 60 seconds to melt.

Add brown sugar and cream and whisk until blended.

Microwave 2 to 2½ minutes more until bubbly and slightly thickened. Stir once during cooking. Serve warm. Makes about 1½ cups.

Westland man wins recipe contest

Tim Zacharias of Westland submitted a winning recipe to Hospice of Southeastern Michigan's Celebration of Color contest. His contribution was one of eight recipes submitted. The winners were announced Oct. 25.

Zacharias will receive two tickets to the Celebration of Color event at the Roostertail in Detroit on Oct. 29. His recipe was featured in the program for the event. The Celebration of Color is an event which celebrates the ethnic diversity of Southeastern Michigan.

Here's the winning recipe. STAN'S GOLABKI (POLISH STUFFED CABBAGE)

1½ pounds meatloaf mix (beef and pork)
½ cup cooked rice
½ cup sauteed onions
1 head of cabbage
2 cans of tomato soup
6 peppercorns
Salt and pepper to taste
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 bayleaf

Mix the meat, rice, onions, and salt and pepper in a bowl. Remove core from cabbage. Place cabbage in boiling water and vinegar. Remove leaves as they soften. Place 2 tablespoons of meat mixture in center of cabbage leaf and roll. Place extra cabbage leaves in bottom of roasting pan.

Place the stuffed cabbage in roasting pan. Pour 2 cans of tomato soup and 2 cans of water over the stuffed cabbage, along with the peppercorns and bayleaf. Cover and bake in 325 degree oven for 2 hours.

Opposes any new taxes

Thaddaus G. McCotter is Wayne County commissioner for the 10th District, representing Plymouth Township, Northville, Northville Township and Livonia west of Middlebelt Road.

During his first term, McCotter is vice chair of the commission's environmental committee and its small, minority and women-owned businesses task force. He is also a member of the committee on economic development, roads, airports and public services, public safety and judiciary, audit and legislative research.

1. What would be your main objective as Wayne County commissioner?

My main objectives as Wayne County commissioner are to stop tax increases, make county government concentrate its time and resources upon performing its state and charter mandated services, and perform the duties of the office in the honest, open and accountable manner the residents of the 10th District demand and deserve.

2. What is your position regarding Wayne County's responsibility to toxic cleanup?

As vice chair of the commission's department of environment and energy, I have supported Wayne County and its communities' efforts with the state to receive more adequate state funding for, and decision-making power over, toxic site identification and remediation.

3. Even though money was earmarked for a new youth home in Wayne County, nothing materialized. Where and/or how was this money spent? What is your feeling related to funding and/or building of a new youth home in Wayne County?

While I opposed it, a majority of the commission voted to use the 0.1-mill money on youth services. I believe the 0.1-mill money for a new juvenile detention facility

Thaddaus McCotter
Republican
10th District

must be spent on a new building or renovations of the existing youth home in accordance with the will of the voters in 1988.

Critical of youth home

Livonia Democrat Karl Burnett is a graduate of MacKenzie High School, class of 1968. He has also taken classes at Scholcraft College and Henry Ford Community College. Burnett is a certified internal organizational consultant for General Motors.

1. What would be your main objective as Wayne County commissioner?

Strengthening the working relationship between the county executive's office and the commission. The commissioner relies too heavily on staff. Minor things such as a charter mandated reorganization plan from the executive (beginning each term) have not been done. As commissioner I'll become a reputation for getting things done.

2. What is your position regarding Wayne County's responsibility to toxic cleanup?

Wayne County responsibility rests in exhausting every possible means of cleaning up our county, preventing it from becoming the responsibility of taxpayers living here. A part of that is participating with city, state and federal government elements. The intent and spirit of state law requires polluters pay. A clean and safe environment that prospers is my focus.

3. Even though money was earmarked for a new youth home in Wayne County, nothing materialized. Where and/or how was this money spent? What is your feeling related to funding and/or building of a new youth home in Wayne County?

One-tenth mill was approved in 1987 for 10 years for a new facility. There are different interpretations regarding the use of these monies. The existing home is overcrowded and unlicensed. Without a renewal a new one will not be started. I would support a

MADD readying red ribbons

The Wayne County Chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Driving has scheduled its red ribbon campaign kickoff for 9 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 22, at the county building, 600 Randolph in Detroit.

Guest speakers include Detroit Police Chief Isaiah McKinnon and Wayne County commissioner Andrew Richner, R-Grosse Pointe.

The red ribbon campaign is organized to encourage drivers to tie red ribbons on their car antennas or door handles to symbolize their concern for the victims of drunken drivers.

Red ribbons are available at the Wayne County MADD office, 515 N. Wayne Road in Westland.

For more information, call Jenny Tomaszewski at (313) 721-8181.

Reading council meeting set

The Wayne County Reading Council will have its second meeting of the year 4:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 10, at the Baylor-Woodson Complex in Inkster. Featured speaker will be Jerry Pallotta, author of "The Icky Bug Alphabet Book."

There will also be a session on the subject of integrated language arts.

For more information, call Kenneth Krueger at (313) 467-1577.

Area artists make items to treasure

All of us have hidden talents, passions that absorb our hands and our hearts. Some of us are content to let those talents evolve as hobbies, pleasant diversions to enjoy in fleeting moments. We may garden or cook or knit or paint. Though we may dream of turning our secret loves into careers, we convince ourselves that idle day-dreams are neither practical nor possible.

I think that's why we so admire those individuals who allow the dictates of their hearts to shape their lifestyles. They recognize their talents, take some risks and become entrepreneurs. Their destiny's are determined by their ingenuity and a single-minded devotion to their craft.

This column salutes some of our best local artisans. West Bloomfield artist Anita Flory, sculpts life-like papier-mache animals with storybook appeal. Her billy goat wears a copper bell around his neck and her smaller kittens, rabbits and sheep seem fit for a fairytale setting. Find them standing among the cabbage roses at Marley's in the Townsend Hotel, Birmingham.

If you love Victorian finery, visit Coach House of Metamora, 429 N. Washington in Royal Oak. This holiday season, Greg Valenti and Sue Lindstrom outdo themselves with their signature doll ornaments. Hand-painted porcelain faces peek from beneath elaborate bits of antique millinery velvets, satins and furs. Silk rosebuds and lace crochet adorn hats and collars. See their entire collection at Kingwood Giftorama, Cranbrook Educational Community, Nov. 12 & 13.

Jennifer Swartz owns and operates Detroit Metalworks, the studio from which she designs jewelry, small objects and home decor items worked in brass, wood, steel, acrylic and glass. A professional metalsmith, Jennifer ensures that her pieces are fun and definitely not boring. You'll appreciate her attention to detail and fine craftsmanship. Ogle her earrings, lockets and bejeweled letter openers at Objects of Art, 6243 Orchard Lake Rd., West Bloomfield.

Angel face

Everyone needs a guardian angel, and Nancy Garchu and Ann Pettersson have created a dozen celestial beings to watch over special people. Each original design has an accompanying poem and holds items related to her particular guardianship. The handmade and embroidered soft sculptures are available at Angel Treasures, 401 N. Main in Royal Oak or by calling the artists' Farmington Hills studio at (810) 553-9354.

When Vera Cohenova creates her earthstone earrings, bracelets and necklaces, she selects the stones for their healing and protective qualities. Each piece of jewelry is life enhancing, combining genuine turquoise (which sustains life) with a variety of gems including amethyst to strengthen courage, carnelian for prosperity and agate to promote joy. She also works in lapis (for respiration), garnets (creativity), rose quartz (stimulates love) and coral (cleansing). She believes that we naturally gravitate to that which we need, explaining our preferences for certain stones. See her unique, South-west-inspired Veruska jewelry at Mesa Arts, 32800 Franklin Road, Franklin.

Standouts at this year's Pebble Lane Art and Craft Show in Bloomfield Hills included Jennifer Kirk, whose exquisite Santas sell out in the show's first few hours. She also fashions hip pocket pouches and heart pendants from silk ribbon embroidery, elegant fabrics and yarns. Call (810) 685-9272. Julie Barnes recycles antique quilts into angels with twig wings, call (810) 429-0134. "Giggles" is the name of Ann Marie Fischer's collection of whimsical jewelry. You'll love her expressive Santas, reindeer and gingerbread men, all made from polymer clay with movable parts definite conversation pieces.

Holiday tables are set with care

Tabletop departments are at their finest this time of year with crystal goblets, gold-banded plates and ornate silverware on display — all help for holiday hostesses. However, the experts say it's the treasures you already own that create the memorable settings that delight dinner guests.

It's your turn to host the holidays. Smart idea to start planning now!

To inspire and motivate you, it's worth a trip to Cranbrook House in Bloomfield Hills to see the 19 table settings created by the area's leading hostesses, including the expert's at Neiman Marcus, Heslop's and Morley's.

Carole Larson Weidzel of Bloomfield Hills is an organizer of the event, and hostess of note, said the best table settings are those that reflect

Hat designer Javits makes a statement

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

There are three kinds of hat women," milliner Eric Javits explained on a recent meet-the-designer visit to Neiman Marcus in the Somerset Collection. "Beginners who want a hat for a special occasion. Intermediates who wear hats to keep their heads warm or the sun off their faces. Advanced who wear hats everyday and demand a variety of things in a hat design."

Javits, who's been making hats since 1978, is the Advanced Hat Wearer's dream: A former artist who studied sculpture at the Rhode Island School of Design, he elevates chapeau creations to an art form.

"There are only a few watering holes here and there where a hat lover can find wonderful hats to wear," he said. "Neiman Marcus is one. Customers with small heads, large heads, a special suit that calls for a custom-made hat, can find or order something from Neiman's."

With the average price, $200 per hat, a Javit's topper is a collectible. Each year he brings out five collections with many classic styles refabricated from season's past. As he points out, berets, straw hats and church bonnets never go out of style. But with the rest of the collection he likes to add new twists and turns to the classics, adorning bowlers, derbies and fedoras with netting, gardenias and ribbon.

"Right now the runways in Paris and Milan show hats with almost every outfit," he said. "Hats that perch, pill boxes, and the cloche are favorites right now. Hats that you see in movies from the '40s and '50s are back for the retro look. They've been rediscovered and popularized by the contemporary customer whose young attitudes and nonchalant hat donning is a way to express themselves."

For a hat to work, to create what Javits calls a "real hat moment," a hat must flatter the face, soften the features, and go with an outfit.

plained: "Hats have a magical power to transform a woman. Men love women in hats. Some women say they feel invisible until they put one on!"

Javits says he designs behind closed doors, testing his ideas on two aides and the 50 assistants who hand-make more than 30,000 hats a year in New York City. After almost 20 years of creating hats, Javits says confidently, "I know my customers and I address their needs."

After the long-houred days and weeks it takes to run his own business, the 38-year-old bachelor enjoys "films, friends and family."

Tables from Previous page

personality. Everyone's is different. It's fun to use the unique stemware they bought on a vacation trip, the china they inherited from their grandmother, tablecloths their parents got for a wedding present. An urn or statue they bought at an auction may hold the centerpiece. These things add to the occasion and make an event very special."

Judie Sherman of Bloomfield Hills agreed. Her Victorian table settings are filled with antiques and family memorabilia dating back to the Sherman family's arrival from Essex County England to Watertown, Mass., in 1833.

"A hostess should put herself into the table," she advised. "The settings should reflect the individual, consist of items collected and treasured. There are really no strict rules, if something works, use it."

One year, Sherman created a table setting for the Cranbrook House exhibit she called "A Victorian Christmas Eve Supper For Two." The table was set on a tapestry and lace cloth, with silver candleabras from 1920, pre-WWI Dresden plates, antique silver mesh bowls and hand-blown crystal Venetian goblets with rose-colored accents. A handwritten note fell across one setting. The message read: "I have long loved these — have joy on my passion, on paper bordered with cut out hearts and flowers."

The note must have worked magic, for an abandoned hat and cane resting on the caller's chair, suggested the diners had retired to another room in the house.

Gail Geiger of Birmingham and Anne Thompson of Bloomfield Hills used a large white ceramic basket decorated with two playful cupids to inspire their holiday table setting. "A New Year Engagement," The basket centerpiece was filled with green hydrangeas from Thompson's yard, berryed branches from a nearby field, a sprig of orchids, and a box offering up a twinkling diamond ring.

"Use things on your table that have sentimental meaning to you," Thompson insisted. "These don't have to cost a fortune to be special. If you love them, your guests will probably enjoy them as well."

Geiger advised bringing a few surprises to a table setting — like antique nut dishes, pomanders hand-made from dried flowers to hang on the back of chairs, tokens that spotlight a party's theme.

Here are a few ideas from a recent preview of the exhibit held at Saks Fifth Avenue at the Somerset Collection:

■ Layer china patterns. A gold charger, under a floral-banded plate, under a white salad plate, under a crystal soup bowl or sterling silver fruit cup.

■ Instead of napkin rings, tie two (tip and lap) coordinating napkins together with metallic ribbon decorated with tiny pine cones or mini silk roses.

■ Mix stemware shapes and colors. Use a crystal water goblet with a colored wine glass that matches the color in the china pattern.

■ Adorn the back of chairs with ribbon, silk ivy, or evergreens tied with ribbon that matches the tablecloth.

■ Top a floor-length tablecloth with a contrasting coverlet.

■ Boost a too-small centerpiece by placing it on top of an elegantly gift-wrapped box.

■ Nothing says "holidays" like silver and gold. If you don't have the real things, buy some metallic spray paint to add pizzazz to baskets, walnuts, pinecones and dried branches.

■ Add an item of humor or whimsy to a table to spark conversation and relax guests.

This year's Holiday Tables will be presented by the following: Cranbrook House Auxiliary, Cranbrook Gardens Auxiliary, Mrs. Tim Allen (mother of comedian Tim Allen) Denise Lucas Andris, Patricia Auer, Barbara Caponigro, Janet Fluehr, Mrs. Donald Gregg, Helen Guittard, Barbara Heslop, Cynthia Leonard, Becky Magnus, Neiman Marcus, Marley, Cynthia Ohanian, Diane Schoenith, Karen Street and Kitty Lavery, Connie Vetowich, Robert Yates and Gregory Wittkopp.

The public is invited to Cranbrook House's 10th annual Holiday Tables exhibit, Friday, Nov. 18 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 19 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Sunday, Nov. 20 from noon to 4 p.m. Admission is $8 at the door. Cranbrook House, the former Booth Estate, is located on Lone Pine and Cranbrook Roads in Bloomfield Hills. A parking and shuttle service operates from Christ Church across the street. Proceeds from the event benefit Cranbrook House. For more information call (810) 645-3149.

ITALIAN EATERY OPENS

East Side Mario's is opening its second metro-Detroit restaurant at 31630 Plymouth Road between Merriman and Farmington in Livonia on Nov. 14. At the Rochester Hills location, business is booming. Patrons enjoy everything from pastas to pizza, ribs and chicken served with bottomless bowls of soup and salad. The high-energy interior design plays up Mulberry Street in New York's Little Italy district, with pushcarts of produce and pasta, vintage store fronts, and replicas of the Brooklyn Bridge and Statue of Liberty. East Side Mario's is owned by restaurateur Norman LePage.

PLYMOUTH PERKS

From Nov. 20 to Dec. 24 Plymouth's merchants will give the gift of Christmas to holiday customers to thank people for shopping in downtown Plymouth. Shoppers should watch for random presentations of gift certificates, discount coupons and merchandise items — courtesy of the Downtown Development Authority.

According to DDA director Steve Guile, it's the merchants' wish to thank shoppers for their patronage all through the year. The season begins with Open Houses at most stores from noon to 5 p.m. on Nov. 20 and Santa's arrival at Kellogg Park at 5 p.m.

T.J. MAXX OPENS

Northland Center in Southfield welcomes T.J. Maxx opening Thursday, Nov. 10. The 40,000-square foot store will sell a wide range of clothing for the entire family as well as fine jewelry, women's shoes, domestics and giftware at 20 to 60-percent less than department store prices. The store will create 100 new retail jobs at the area's oldest shopping center, located at 9 Mile and Greenfield. There are 16 other T.J. Maxx locations throughout metro-Detroit.

Throughout the summer and most of fall, the 40-year-old

Northland Center has been undergoing a major renovation, including a complete update of its Hudson's flagship store.

AWARD FOR BEAUTY

The City of Livonia awarded a Beautification and Improvement Award to the 7 Mile & Farmington shopping plaza on the recommendation of the Roads Committee.

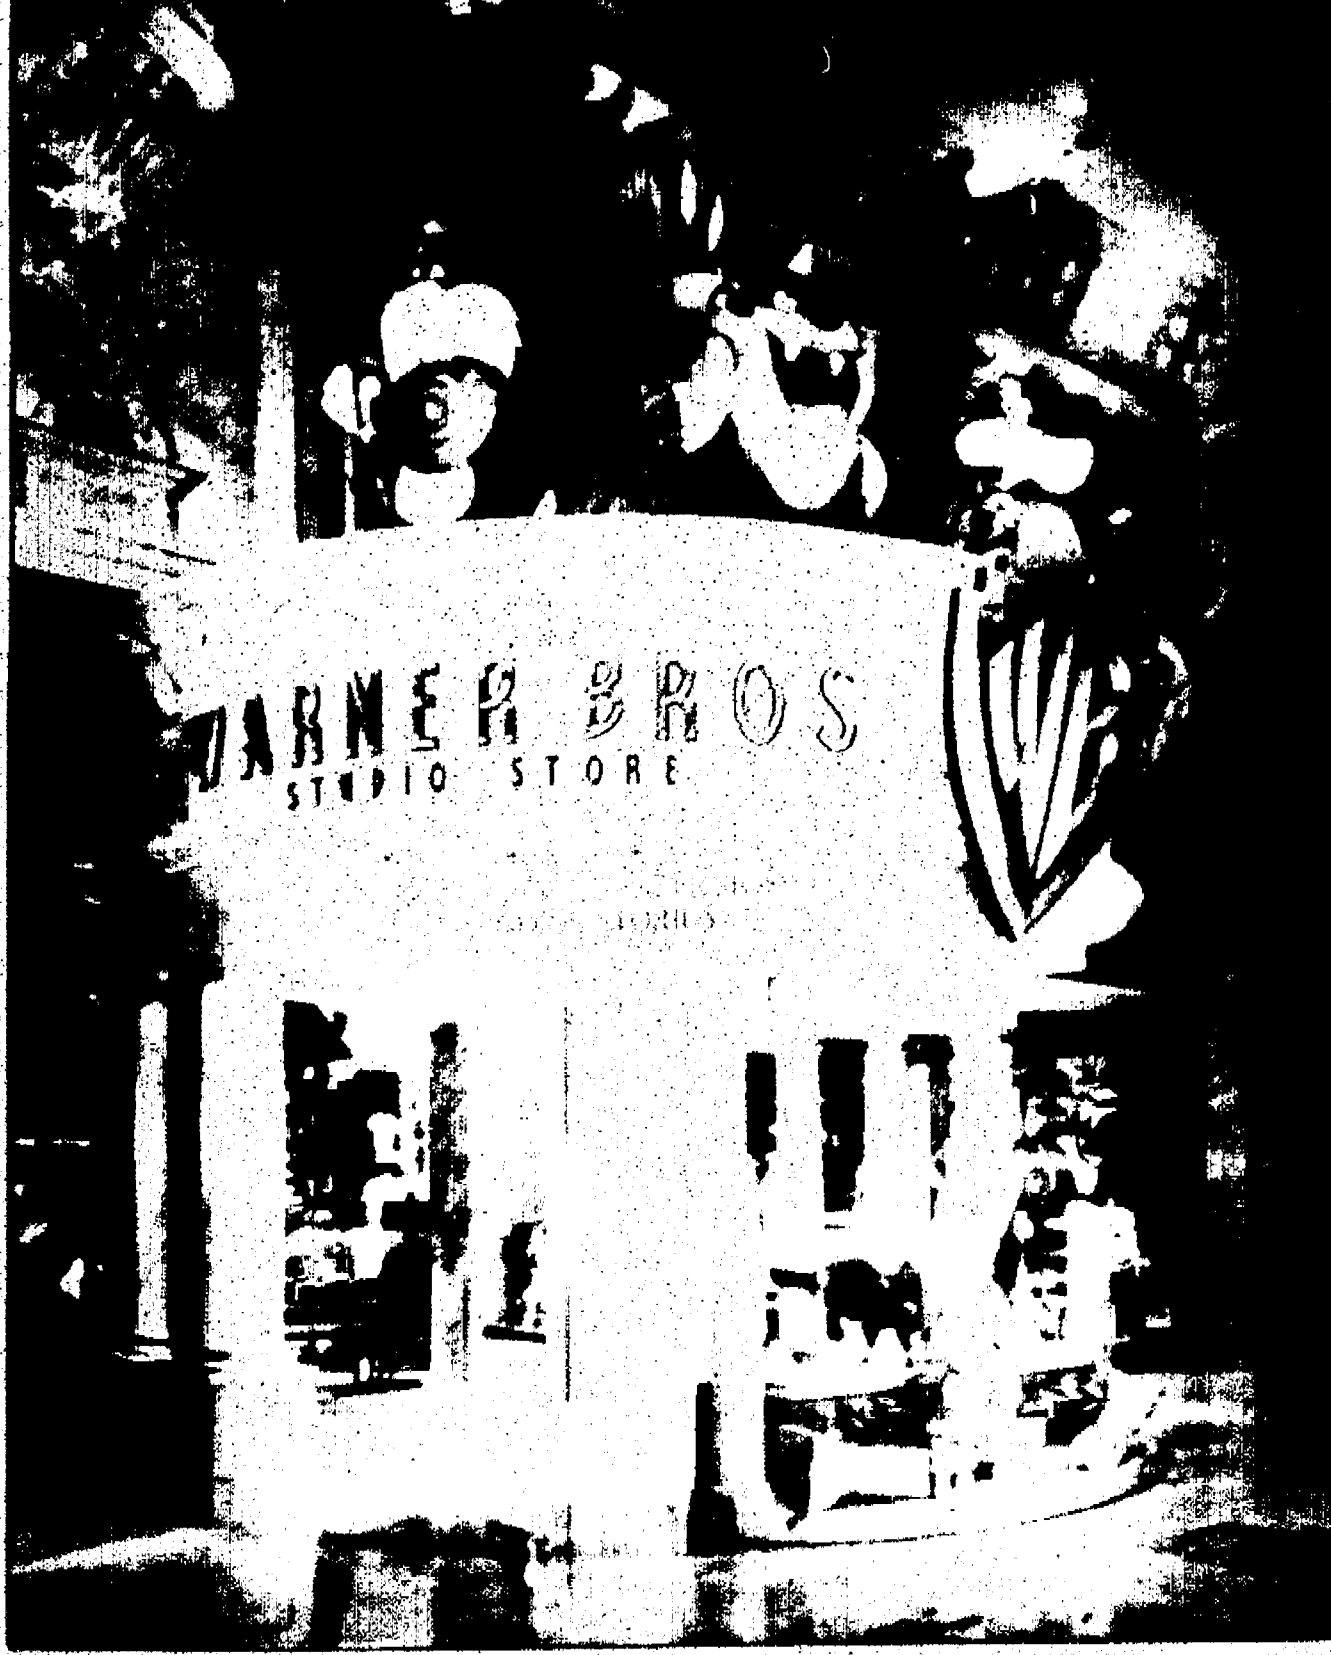

The city applauded the shopping center for improving and maintaining aesthetic conditions and "helping to make Livonia a pleasant place to live and do business."

OAKWOOD BENEFIT

Jacobson's in Dearborn teams up with Oakwood Healthcare Systems Foundation for a night of fun, food and fashion, Wednesday, Nov. 9 from 6:30-9:30 p.m. at Jacobson's.

Celebrities Catherine Leahan, Don Shane and former pitcher Rick Leach will be guests of honor. There will be merchandise demonstrations, food tasting, magic and fashion shows. Tickets are $30 at the door. For more information call (313) 563-6700.

Warners' Welcome

Studios Stories: The area's third Warner Brothers Studio Store opens this week at the Fairlane Town Center in Dearborn. According to Midwest publicity director Clay Chaffin "since the stores opened in 1991, they have exceeded projected sales by a wide margin, defying a national slump that has plagued the retail industry." Patsy Hoelscher will manage the 7,500-square-foot store. Other WBSS are located at Lakeside and Briarwood malls.

"I like watching old Jerry Lewis movies and romantic comedies. When I go to see a film with my dad, it's usually got the violence and gore — guy stuff."

Javits, the great-nephew of the late Senator Jacob Javits of New York and son of Eric Javits, U.S. Ambassador to Venezuela, said he was surprised to discover that his great grandmother's grandparents had also used their hands and imaginations to earn a living. They designed headaddresses and the coat of arms for the Austro-Hungarian empire.

"My grandmother Lily made hats for celebrities like Mae West and A.J.olson," he said. "I never paid attention to all the talk as a youngster, but now that I'm in the same business, it really amazes me."

Celebrities who wear Javits' hats include Michelle Pfeiffer, Madonna, Barbra Streisand, Jacqueline Bisset, Lauren Bacall, Bella Abzug, Her royal highness, Diana, Princess of Wales, and her royal highness, Queen Sophia of Spain.

In addition to being sold in the United States in stores like Neiman's, Jacobson's and Bergdorf's, Javits has a license to sell in England and Japan and makes a line of fur hats for Maximilian's Furs.

Janet Linstrom of Livonia tried on a Javits' beret at Neiman's and broke into a wide grin.

Close shave for 'Eis'

The first thing Terry Eisminger noticed about her husband Bob when the two met 11 years ago as students at Eastern Michigan University was his golden blond hair. "The whole semester at school, he sat in front of me and I was in the back," she remembers. "The next semester, we were in class again and I said to myself, 'There's that guy with the gorgeous hair.' I asked him to a wedding and that led to our wedding."

Now the first thing Terry notices about her husband, the Garden City head football coach, is his lack of hair. Bob Eisminger made a deal with his players, saying he'd shave his head if the Cougars won three of their last four games.

The Cougars beat Taylor Truman Eisminger 33-12 in Week 6, Redford Union 20-3 in Week 8 and Chelsea 19-18 in the season finale.

And out came the razor. The players had as much fun watching Eisminger's hair come off as Eisminger had watching the Cougars rally for three unanswered touchdowns in the second half to beat Chelsea.

Terry Eisminger watched as the Cougars took turns shaving her husband's scalp in the Garden City locker room.

"I thought, 'They can't cut the hair I fell in love with,'" Terry said, laughing. "I didn't stand a chance stopping them. I didn't want to be a heel. They all stood in the way and everyone took a snip and kept a piece. He added a lot of respect for holding up his end of the deal."

"The new look caught the Eismingers' children by surprise."

"Kristen ran away from him the first time he came home. Now that she's come around, she tells people it's the funniest haircut she's ever seen," Terry said. "Billy just laughs. They like playing with his scalp because it's so soft and fuzzy."

Eisminger, known to friends and co-workers as 'Eis' for short, has been called "Mr. Clean, Fester (from Addams Family fame) and Kojack," according to Terry.

"I just put a hat on his head when I see him," Terry said.

Sometimes the defense rests, and other times the fate of your team rests with the defense. Friday night, Livonia Stevenson's defense bruised and badgered host Howell and came away with 7-3 Class A playoff win.

By CHRIS MCCOSKY

Livonia Stevenson linebacker Mike Redington refused all congratulations. There was still 1:48 left.

"Ain't over," he said, shrugging off all pats on the back.

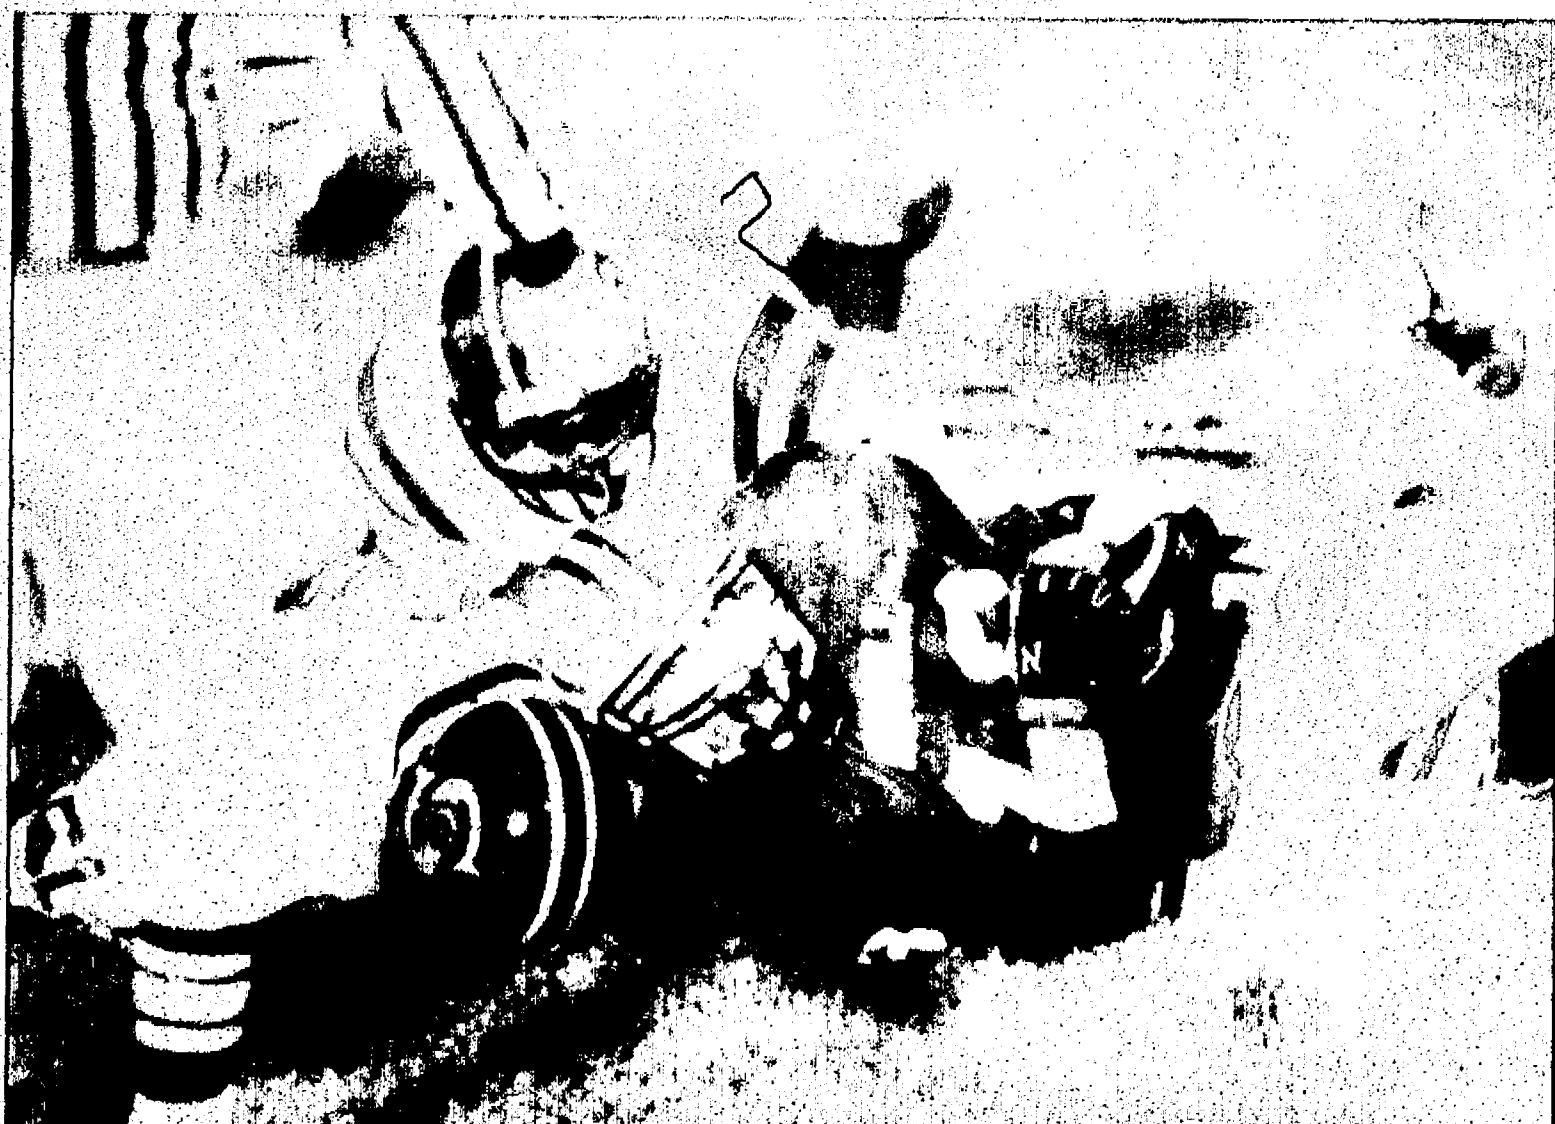

Just a little more than a minute later, after teammate Chris Mullett's interception ended Howell's final drive, Redington walked off the field, unstrapped his helmet and thrust it triumphantly skyward to the delight of the Stevenson fans.

"It's over, baby! It's over."

Stevenson, behind an unyielding defense led by Redington, stonewalled host Howell Friday night, 7-3, in the first round of the Class AA Region II playoffs.

"Our defense is like a family," said Redington, who single-handedly stopped Howell's most serious scoring threat in the second half and had an interception that set up the Spartans' score. "We love each other. We pick each other up and we don't let anybody get down. We're a team. The reason I made those plays was because the guys up front were doing their jobs."

Stevenson's defense, which was without senior defensive end Craig Martin who dressed but didn't play because of an injured ankle, allowed Howell just two first downs in the final quarter, six total in the second half. Only five times did the Highlanders penetrate Spartan territory, and one was after an interception.

"They are a great defensive team and they have been all year," said Howell coach John Dukes, whose team bows at 8-2. "They started blitzing more in the second half and we really had a hard time with that. Their linebackers are very good. That No. 44 (Redington) in one tough, tough kid. I think he made every

He made most of the important ones, for sure.

Howell led 3-0 and had momentum midway through the third quarter when Redington picked off a pass from Howell quarterback Marcus Dukes (10-for-23, 103 yards, two interceptions), and ran it to the Howell 19.

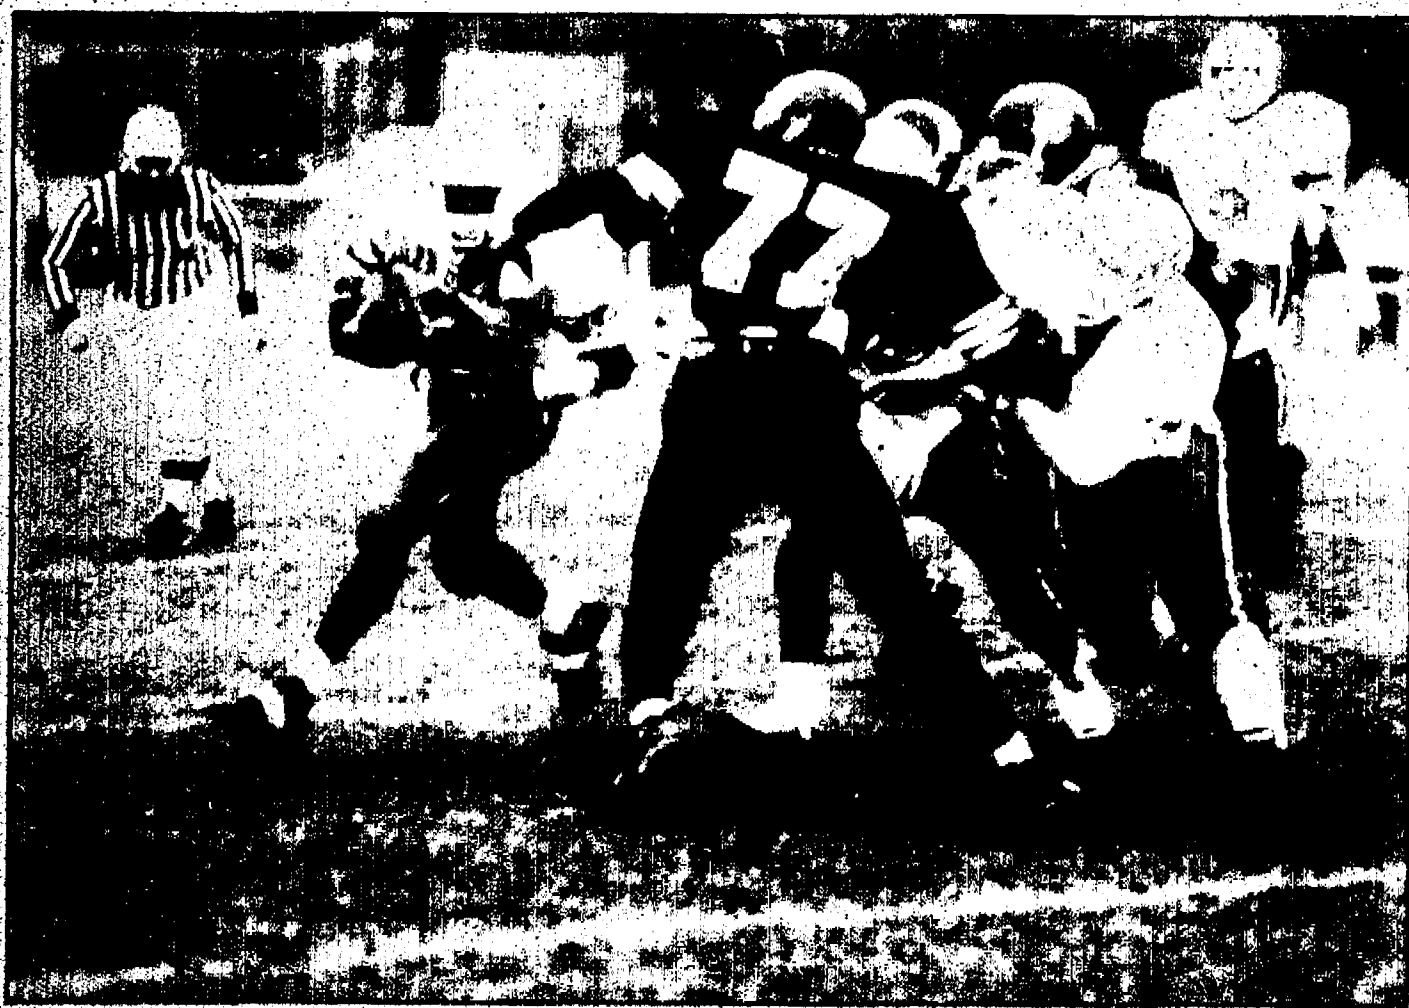

"The quarterback telegraphed the pass and I just faded toward that spot," Redington said. "I just made the read and picked it."

Three plays later, junior Todd Ayres, filling in for Martin at fullback, plowed in from the 2. Steve Vezina kicked the extra point.

Howell mounted a long drive on its ensuing possession. A 33-yard run by Ryan Arnold (49 yards in 12 carries), plus a 15-yard roughing penalty put Rocket fireball: Brent Washington burned the Belleville defense for 175 yards and two touchdowns Saturday in John Glenn's 14-0 playoff victory.

Rockets stuff Tigers in AA win

By NEAL ZIPPER
STAFF WRITER

If you told Westland John Glenn coach Chuck Gordon that his Rockets, after beginning the season 0-2, would not only advance to the state playoffs but beat the top-ranked team, he might have thought you were crazy.

The Rockets, who recovered after their two early season defeats to finish 6-3, pulled off a major upset Saturday by shocking host Belleville 14-0 in a Class AA Region II battle.

The Tigers, who were 9-0 and riding a 16-game winning streak, were outplayed on both sides of the ball the entire game.

The hero for Glenn was senior tailback Brent Washington, who didn't let a rain-slicked field affect his slashing running.

Despite the constant drizzle, Washington gained 175 yards on 24 carries and added a fourth-quarter interception that led the victory. Washington also accounted for both touchdowns, on runs of 67 and 5 yards.

"I have to give credit to the cleats," Washington said. "It's just great to come here and get the win because no one thought at the start of the season we'd be here. We're on a mission now."

Glenn plays Saturday at Livonia Stevenson. Kickoff is set for 1:30 p.m. The Rockets will try to avenge a 13-10 loss suffered at home Oct. 7.

"I won't even think about Stevenson until tomorrow," Gordon said. "I'm going to enjoy this win."

The down side of the victory was an injury suffered by Glenn quarterback Jason Haglithorn. The senior, who also plays defense back, injured his throwing elbow when breaking up a pass.

"I'm not sure how bad it is yet," Haglithorn said. His status depends on the results of X-rays taken Saturday.

Perhaps the rain neutralized the speed factor, which was in favor of Belleville. The rain, in addition to the stingy Glenn defense, limited the Tigers to 149 yards — all on the ground.

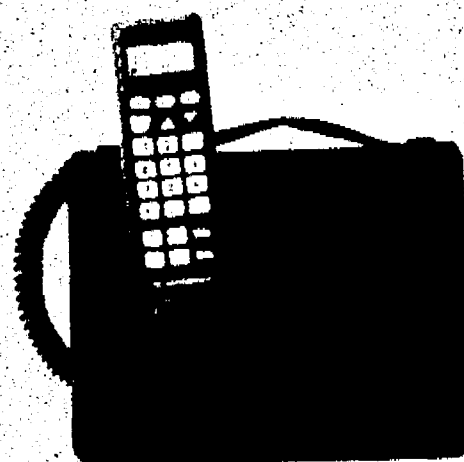

"You have to give them multiple fronts in order to confuse them," Gordon said. "The muddy field didn't help them either, but you still have to make the plays defensively."

The passing game was nonexistent for Belleville, as junior quarterback Nate Lewis didn't complete a pass and was picked off three times in the second half.

"They played a great game defensively, and you can't blame the loss on the weather," Belleville coach Bob LaPointe said. "We had a heckuva run the past couple

No sweat for St. Agatha in Class D playoff start

By STEVE KOWALSKI STAFF WRITER

Redford St. Agatha football players Mike Wilson and Chris Wall returned to their old positions Friday night and got comfortable in a hurry.

Wilson threw a 42-yard touchdown pass to Wall on St. Agatha's first play from scrimmage and the Aggies didn't let up, winning a Class D Region 4 semifinal game against North Branch Wesleyan, 34-0, at Hillbert Junior High.

The first play was a sign of things to come.

Wall caught a 41-yard TD pass in the second quarter and finished with six catches for 131 yards.

This was Wilson's first game back since missing the last two regular season games with an ankle injury. Wall filled in at quarterback while Wilson was injured and was happy to return to wide receiver.

Wilson knew Wall would have a big day because of Wesleyan's decision to play man-to-man pass defense in an effort to shut down St. Agatha's running game, mainly tailback Bill Matti.

"We wanted to throw to show we still could," said Wilson, a junior who completed 13 of 22 passes for 252 yards and one interception. "They don't run a zone, they play a man to man and we knew we could beat them passing. Chris is the best receiver in our league and I knew he could beat any of their guys one on one."

The win sends St. Agatha, 8-2 overall, into the Region 4 final where it will meet the winner of the Center Line-St. Clement-Marine City Cardinal Mooney game played on Saturday.

The Wilson-to-Wall combination has been going on for some time. "We played together at St. Gemma, he was the quarterback and I was the receiver -- we even live on the same block," Wall said. "All we used to play was street ball."

Matti, held to 25 yards on 13 carries in the first half, finished with 103 yards on 27 carries and three touchdown runs. Matti scored on runs of two and five yards in the first half as the Aggies enjoyed a 27-0 halftime cushion. The Aggies added a one-yard TD run by Matti following a catch of 18 yards by Wall with 2:14 remaining that finished the scoring.

The game got chippy late in the second half and St. Agatha coach Gary Tuz said the Aggies' late score was in response to Wesleyan's dirty play. The referees had to throw several flags because of excessive play after whistles.

"I've never done that (poured it on) in 22 years, but they were cheap-shooting our kids," Tuz said. When told of Tuz's comments, Wesleyan coach Doug Tuttle said

"If you believe Tuz, I've got swamp land in Florida to sell."

The Aggies had five interceptions, including two by senior defensive back Yohance Brock. Wall, Brent Case and David Krupinski also had interceptions for the Aggies.

Brock also made a touchdown saying tackle, catching Wesleyan's tailback Don Cramer at the Aggies' 5-yard line on the last play of the first half. Cramer took a handoff and blasted through the Aggies secondary for an 83-yard carry before being dragged down from behind.

"That set the momentum for us and showed they couldn't outrun us," Tuz said.

Cramer finished with 197 yards on 15 carries.

Matti showed his versatility for the Aggies, catching four passes out of the backfield for 92 yards. He and Kevin Tuz also combined on a pass and go play in the first half that gained 42 yards.

Tuz caught the pass at midfield and lateraled to Matti, who covered the remaining 30 yards.

"We scouted them twice and saw their game film against Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes and knew exactly what their offense was going to run," Tuttle said. "Our game plan was to stop the run. You give the ink to Matti all year and we pretty much controlled him. We were living and dying by our defensive secondary pass protection and didn't do it."

Early scores, defense give Hawks win over Explorers

By DAN O'MEARA STAFF WRITER

Bad weather and a slick field had a disrupting effect on the Farmington Hills Harrison offense Saturday, but maybe it was just as well.

The poor playing conditions seemed to be an even greater negative for Detroit Chadsey and provided an assist for the Harrison defense.

The Hawks scored early while the getting was still good and held on for a 14-6 victory over the visiting Explorers in a first-round playoff game.

Defending Class A champ Harrison (9-1) travels to top-seeded South Lyon for the regional final at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

The Hawks played with the advantage all the way after sophomore tailback Jason Granger sprinted 65 yards on the first play from scrimmage to give Harrison a quick lead.

It was the third time this year Granger has done that. In the first playoff game a year ago against Dearborn Edsel Ford, he ran for TDs on his first two carries.

Harrison had a 65-yard drive on its third possession to take a 14-0 lead in the second quarter.

Sophomore Kevin Bambeniek passed 35 yards to Granger to the Chadsey, 8 and, after being sacked, 21 yards to Kevin Bryant in the back corner of the end zone for the TD. Kyle Vessell kicked both extra points.

"I thought we should try running wide early and throwing early before it got bad," Harrison coach John Herrington said. "It wasn't that the ball was too wet to throw, but the quarterback couldn't get any footing."

The Explorers (7-3) had the edge in total yards, 251-244, and tailback Anthony Hobbs rushed for 109 yards on 26 carries. But Chadsey also lost two of six fumbles, and quarterback Courtney Dinkins was intercepted twice.

Fifty yards in penalties hurt Harrison. In the second half, the Hawks had two first downs called back by clipping and holding penalties and also lost two fumbles.

The Explorers scored their only TD off the second-half kickoff, driving 59 yards in 10 plays.

ple years considering we were 2-7 two years ago.

"We have nothing to be ashamed of losing to Glenn. We'll take this and hopefully build on it for next season."

The Rockets opened the scoring late in the first quarter. On third and four, Washington ran off right tackle and seemed to be tackled by a host of Belleville defenders. But he snuck out of the pile and raced untouched down the sideline for a score.

Brian Kolb booted the point after, giving the Rockets a 7-0 lead.

On their next possession, the Rockets marched 63 yards in 13 plays to score again. A key play in the drive was a 20-yard scamper by Washington on third and 12.

Glenn got its biggest break in the drive when Belleville jumped offense to give the Rockets a first and goal at the 5. On the next play, Washington reached the end zone, and Kolb's extra point accounted for the final points.

The Rockets, who had only 4 yards in the air, gained a total of 237 yards on the ground.

Belleville's offense was led by junior Ian Gold, who rushed 19 times for 51 yards.

the Highlanders at the Spartans' 30. But the Spartans suffered.

On fourth and 1 from the 21, Hedington, again leading the play perfectly, hit running back Tom Dell behind the line and hung on until Chris Arsenault and others showed up to finish the tackle.

"It seemed like forever," Hedington said. "But I wasn't letting go."

Howell did cross the Stevenson goal line once. Early in the first quarter, Steve Selvaige returned a punt 65 yards for an apparent score. Howell, however, was flagged for clipping on the play.

"The play happened right in front of me," said Spartans coach Jack Heardon. "It was definitely a clip. Just one of those things."

Dukes, who was on the far side of the field, didn't dispute the call.

"That seemed to knock the wind out of the Highlanders' pipes. They went three plays and out on their next two possessions, and Stevenson ate up nearly five minutes with a drive that took them from their 8 to the Howell 34.

Howell took over on its 20 with 1:52 left and no timeouts. Mullett's interception ended that drive and the game.

"What a great game," Heardon said. "Both teams executed very well. At halftime I told the team that we were only down 3-0 after playing a poor game. If we play a good game in the second half, we could win. And we did."

Stevenson (8-2), which managed just 183 total yards, turned the ball over on its first two possessions. Dell recovered a Scott Goldman fumble at the Howell 23 and quarterback Dean Bacheller had his only pass of the game picked off by Dukes, which set up a 20-yard field goal by Ryan Kopylowski.

"We got a couple of breaks early and only got three points out of it," said Dukes, who team finished with 154 yards rushing. "When you get a short field against a great defensive team, you had better take advantage of it."

Bacheller, by the way, did some damage with his foot. He had wind aided punts of 61 and 50

Ocelots' offense sparkles, but DuPage still rules, 5-3

By C.J. RISAK STAFF WRITER

The match Schoolcraft College's men's soccer team played against the College of DuPage was the kind fans love and coaches hate.

Unless you happen to be a Schoolcraft fan or a DuPage coach.

Two of the NJCAA's best teams tangled in this Inter-regional Tournament first-round matchup, and it proved to be an offensive show. Host DuPage emerged with a hard-fought 5-3 triumph in Glen Ellyn, Ill.

For the eighth-ranked Ocelots, it was their first loss of the season (they finish 13-1), and DuPage's score nearly matched the number of goals Schoolcraft has allowed all year. DuPage played for the Inter-regional title Sunday; a win would have put the NJCAA's top-ranked team into the NJCAA Tournament.

"DuPage has some kids of a caliber we haven't seen all year long," said SC coach Van Dimitriou. "We're not used to seeing kids with that much talent."

And yet, after some first-half problems, the Ocelots recovered well and nearly pulled it out. DuPage's Scott Graham opened the scoring in the 10th minute, netting a ball that deflected in off a couple of SC players. The Ocelots tied it on a direct kick from stopper Tim McCarley (from Livonia Stevenson) just outside the penalty area in the 25th minute.

But DuPage ruled the remainder of the half. Graham headed in a cross in the 36th minute, and Joe Cavallo redirected a corner kick in the 38th to give DuPage a 3-1 halftime lead.

SC defensive mistakes aided Cavallo's goal and convinced Dimitriou to switch keepers, from Aric Meechlewicz to Brian Mlynarek (from Redford-Thurston).

The Ocelots started to regain momentum in the second half. It manifested itself on the scoreboard when McCarley netted his second goal in the 62nd minute, this one coming after a Fadi Bazzi cross.

McCarley's score touched off a wild ending. Five minutes later, Bazzi beat the defender marking him after taking a pass from Mo Hijazi and lined a shot into the net from 18 yards out, tying it at 3-3.

SC, according to Dimitriou, was dominating play at this point, but the game's physical nature ended up costing the Ocelots. Eric Stoecklein (Plymouth Canton), in for McCarley at stopper due to a yellow card issued to McCarley, injured his leg.

DuPage was able to take advantage of the injury in the 75th minute on a quick counter, with Graham scoring his third goal on a low, hard shot from in close.

With time ticking away and down a goal, the Ocelots were forced to press. It was DuPage that scored, however, Jose Rico finishing another quick counter in the 88th minute.

"We just lost to a better team this day," said Dimitriou. He knew what made DuPage better, too: "When things were not going well for us, it was because Cavallo and Graham were controlling the middle of the field."

"We've got to face reality, and reality is we played one helluva team. They just had outstanding talent. I have not seen talent like that on a junior college team."

Next year they will. — Dimitriou plans to open the season with a tournament that will include DuPage, which he hopes will better prepare SC for postseason play.

Canton reaches Class A semis

By C.J. RISAK STAFF WRITER

Everything favored Plymouth Canton at Saturday's regional soccer final.

Size, speed, strength of schedule, even the weather — not to mention ability — were all in Canton's corner. Adequate reason why the end result was as well: a 4-1 triumph over overmatched Ann Arbor Pioneer, qualifying the Chiefs for their first-ever trip to the state semifinals. In fact, it's the first time since coach Don Smith took over in '89 that they've gotten past the districts.

All of which had to get Smith excited, right? "No," he answered, only "slightly tongue-in-cheek." "Heck, I haven't been able to sleep the last two weeks."

He could have headed home for a nap early in Saturday's match, played on a soggy Walled Lake Western field. Before 25 minutes had elapsed, the Chiefs had built a 3-0 advantage.

Jeff Fliss scored the first two in what proved to be Canton's easiest game of the state tournament (proof again: how ludicrous MHSAA officials were in their district setups, with seven of the state's best teams crammed into two districts). The first, and probably pivotal, goal of the game came directly off his corner kick five minutes into the game.

Fliss' corner was right on net. The Pioneer keeper, Eric Gilbertson, tried to punch the shot out but instead punched the ball in.

"Certainly the first goal was a downer, because it came off a situation where the other team didn't really put it in, your own teammate put it in," said Pioneer coach Bill Browning. "Our goalie went to fist it and he didn't fist it right — boom. It's five minutes into the game and you're down."

"That's hard in any sport like this, where scores aren't that high."

The Pioneers' task got a whole lot harder nine minutes later. Canton's constant pressure — Pioneer rarely got the ball into Chief territory in the first half, indeed, there were no shots on net by the Pioneers in the first half and most of the second — culminated in Fliss' second score, out of a scramble in front. Chad Da' assisted.

Fliss, a senior midfielder and the second-ranked player in the Western Lakes Activities Association, was involved in the third Canton score as well. He took control of the ball at midfield and kept it, eluding two Pioneer defenders. His pass went toward the left corner to Jeff Knysz, who crossed it to Jeremy Stillings for a header into the net with 15:08 left in the half.

"He's a quality player," said Smith of Fliss. "He's out there scoring, he's fast, he's scrappy, he's chusing."

Which is something all the Chiefs did throughout the match, utilizing their size in a dominant fashion. "We tried to come out and play a control game, and a control game is hard to do in the rain and mud and snow and with their extra size and their heading ability," Browning said.

Let's not forget defense. The last time Canton surrendered three goals in a game was to Livonia Stevenson in both teams' regular-season finale. Only two goals have been scored on the Chiefs now in five state tournament games.

"Our defense has been tough all season," said Smith. "They haven't given up an awful lot of goals. They've really risen to the occasion, against some pretty tough forwards."

Canton's final score defined Simon Alleyne's style. Taking a pass from Robert Gumber, Alleyne jockeyed into position with a couple of quick moves and powered a shot into the goal with 11:16 left in the match.

Pioneer eluded the shutout when Brian Spaly, on a semi-breakaway, knocked one past Shawn Conway with 2:25 left. Conway took over for George Tomasso in goal for the second half.

Canton's semifinal will be at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Jackson against the East Lansing-Portage Central win.

Salem zaps Spartans from WLAA

Third time 'round.
On Friday, either Plymouth Canton or Plymouth Salem will be playing for the Western Lakes Activities Association girls basketball tournament title. That much was assured when both teams won their first-round games Thursday - Canton walling Walled Lake Western 61-16 and Salem outlasting Livonia Stevenson 40-27.
Which sets up a showdown between Canton and Salem in one of the WLAA semifinals, 7 p.m. Tuesday at Canton. It marks the third time this season the two cross-creek rivals will meet; the Chiefs won the first, in the consolation round of the Farmington Hills Mercy Hoops Classic, and Salem won the second, a WLAA game played a week later.
The Rocks carry a 13-5 record into the game; Canton is 14-4. The other WLAA semifinal pits Walled Lake Central, the reigning league champion, against Northville.

Franklin 81, John Glenn 77 (OT): Who said these Western Lakes consolation games have to be dull?
"Hey, we have to make it exciting," said Franklin coach Mary Jarvis. "We have to get ready for districts."
Glenn's Rochelle Harris hit a 3-pointer with four seconds left to send the game into overtime, but it was all Franklin in the extra period.
Tracy Renkiewicz scored nine of her game-high 26 points in overtime for the Patriots (7-10). Kellie Main scored 20, Jaclyn Deane 14 and Sarah Camp 11.
For Glenn (4-14), Harris had 23, Jami Grigal 18, Kelly Klene 16 and Nykiya Lee 11.

Farmington 48, Church Hill 30: The Falcons avenged a regular-season loss to the Chargers in the WLAA playoffs Thursday at Farmington.
Amanda Porter scored 17 points and Andrea Salyer 15 for the Falcons (6-12). Zira Vassallo and Kathy Stein netted eight points apiece for Church Hill (2-16).
"We lost to them a week ago, and we played with much more intensity tonight," Farmington coach John Verdura said. "We had better concentration, better defense and better shot making."
Lutheran East 44, Clarenceville 40: Clarenceville's best wasn't quite good enough Thursday against Harper Woods Lutheran East (10-8).

"The kids played very well," said Clarenceville coach Bob Wolf. "It was probably our best effort of the year."
Lutheran East outscored the Trojans 19-9 in the final quarter. Kharysha Barden, who scored a game-high 20 points, hit the eventual game-winner with 40 seconds left.
"It was kind of a snowball effect," Wolf said. "We made some turnovers, they capitalized and we didn't counter."
Pam Inzano led C'ville (1-15) with 12 points and 14 rebounds. Wendy Roy had eight points and 13 rebounds.
Luth. Westland 73, Harper Woods 32: Jenny Twietmeyer scored a career-high 22 points and Sarah Drews and Lauren Horton added 11 apiece for the winners (16-2, 10-2 in the Metro Conference).
Ann Marie Score had 15 for Harper Woods (4-15).

The sign is up!
After 18 years, Super Bowl on Ford Road in Canton finally has a sign up at the roadside. It reads, "SUPER BOWL" and also underneath, "Here We Are."
The first time I ever went there, I passed it a half-dozen times before I finally located the place, and then I had to remember to turn in at the Burger King and you are there."

It took a while, but the sign's up and the confusion is over, for I'm certain I wasn't the only one who passed it by. The problem was that there is not enough signage on Ford Road that is owned by Super Bowl.

Through the years following its opening in 1976, some ordinances were changed and now this fine establishment has its identity. And yes, even a fool could find it now (I did) - just turn in at the Burger King.

The Chevrolet Bowl Off is right around the corner. It begins Nov. 14 at 27 designated bowling centers throughout the metropolitan area. It is open to all sanctioned league members, consisting of five-person teams with one or two alternates. Interested bowlers can call (810) 299-5889 for registration information.

The participating houses in the O&E Area are: Bel-Aire Lanes in Farmington, Drake's Lanes in Farmington Hills, Mayflower Lanes in Redford, North Hill Lanes in Rochester Hills, Plum Hollow Lanes in Southfield, Super Bowl in Canton, Town 'n Country Lanes in Westland and Woodland Lanes in Livonia.

Bel-Aire Lanes, the venerable old bowling center on Grand River and Beech Daly, isn't in the best scoring condition around (not many 300 games are reported from there), but there were two perfect games rolled in the house last week.

First, Gwendolyn Barnes, a 28-year-old Detroit postal employee, fired a 300 game in the Postal Fun Trio Mixed League. This happened to be her first 300, and it came in her first season of league bowling. She bowled a lot in open play, but there is a big difference when you are in competition.

Gwendolyn's reaction after the perfect: "I cried for two hours." Some may look at those twelve strikes as just good luck, but in her viewpoint, "I wasn't lucky, I was blessed." She is also getting her younger, Tyrie, started in a Youth-Parents League.

The other 300 game was by Carl Gray in the Monday Morning Mixed Foursome. He had a 717 set to go with his perfect game.

Halfway through the "Ford Team Challenge" tournament at Super Bowl, the leading team is "Spare Pins" with 3,418. Patrick Fisher holds the top rung in singles with a 762 total.

How would this man compose a PERSONAL SCENE ad? Perhaps something like this:

LONG-HAIRED printer, well known for electric persona, enjoys getting (kites) high in the rain, revolutionary thinker, ingenious inventor, seeks like-minded travel companion for frequent visits to France.

Observer & Eccentric
CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

"Setting too Good an Example is a kind of Slander seldom forgiven."
— Benjamin Franklin, 1753

Personal Scene Ads in The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers allow you to record a message in your own voice over the phone. That way when people see your ad in the paper, they can dial your code, hear your message and leave a message of their own. You can call day or night to get your messages. It's fast, it's easy, and it helps people find out more about each other. Look in today's classifieds or call your Observer & Eccentric ad taker and ask about our introductory offer. There may be a printer in your future... or a tip to France, or a walk in the rain. It pays to advertise.
