The city administration wants to launch an afterschool recreation program to fight the boredom experienced by middle schools students. The program was proposed by the mayor's task force on substance abuse and violence.

BY BARBARA WILSON

By overcoming boredom among seventh- and eighth-graders, city and school officials hope to curb their involvement in violence, drugs and alcohol.

Mayor Robert Thomas and his task force on substance abuse and violence announced at a press conference Wednesday morning a new afterschool recreation program targeted for middle school students.

New trial sought in molesting case

A former Westland man convicted of molesting his stepdaughter and his niece was sentenced Tuesday, but may also get a second chance in the courtroom.

Scott Alan Falklewicz, 34, was sentenced to two 8- to 20-year prison terms on first-degree criminal sexual conduct charges and 5- to 15-year terms on each of five counts of second-degree criminal sexual conduct. He was sentenced by Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Gerschwin Drain.

Falkiewica's attorney filed a motion for a new trial, which will Sept. 29.

Falklewicz will remain in the custody of the Michigan Department of Corrections pending the hearing on the motion.

The victims were ages 10 and 11 when they were molested, according to Westland police Sgt. Michael Terry. The younger of the two girls told her mother that Falkiewicz molested her on several occasions between August and December 1993. The older of the girls said Falkiewicz molested her for a 11/2-year period that ended in early April 1994.

The stepdaughter lived at Falkiewicz's house in Westland at the be heard in Drain's courtroom time, and the niece was a frequent visitor to the house, Terry said.

They hope to get two more cars freed up for the volunteer detail, and other businesses to donate two more phones for use in those cars.

Council members seemed unwilling to jump in and suggest a role they could play in the program, but they did offer some supportive comments along with their questions and concerns. "It seems like a good way to make people feel part of the community," Councilwoman Sharon Scott said.

Councilwoman Sandra Cicirelli said the program's success might be difficult to measure because the volunteers might create more ries as well. of a deterrent to crime rather than actually find crime to report.

Council President Thomas Brown expressed some concern about possible vigilante attitudes and about the salety of the volunteers while they are on the road.

The volunteers received two hours of training/orientation, according to police Chief Emery Price. They are told to report to the station before their scheduled shift to get their assignments and their cars.

We are very selective of the areas we put them in and we tell them only to call when necessary," Price said. Calls from the volunteers will not be given added weight, but rather their calls will be prioritized along with other

Volunteers are also told not to

"If they get out of the car at a crime scene, they're out of the program," Thomas said. "We don't want them getting involved."

Councilman Glenn Anderson questioned the city's liability with the volunteers. Finance Director Michael Gorman said he was comfortable with the liability issue, but reported that if one of the volunteers while on duty was to hit a pedestrian, for example, the "city would be into it up to their necks."

Willow Creek gets acquainted with new home

The Willow Creek Cooperative Preschool is getting used to its new home.

Formerly in Canton Township, the organization announced this summer it will start the new achool year in Kirk of Our Sayior Church, on Cherry Hill between Wayne Road and Newburgh in Westland.

Wendy Sadler, Willow Creek president, said that the preschool has playground equipment and other materials from its previous location.

Willow Creek, organized more than 20 years ago, is a member of the Greater Detroit Cooperative Nursery Council, which provides advice, seminars and resources to help local co-ops throughout southeast Michigan.

Outside the classroom, Willow Creek plans picnics, open houses, monthly administrative meetings and guest speakers.

Like other cooperatives, parental involvement is required.

Willow Creek has openings for 3-year-olds, whose classes will meet from 9:30-11:45 a.m. or 12:45-3 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays, and for 4-year-olds, with classes meeting the same times on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Parents may call 326-0078 for more information.

Livonia School chief gets 1-year contract extension

BY MARIE CHESTNEY

Ken Watson, who just completed one full year as superintendent of Livonia Public Schools, won high marks from the school board in his first annual performance

Now, with a year of successes behind him, the longtime educator looks to the teachers he leads to deliver on one of the district's most pressing needs - higher MEAP scores.

"I have a great deal of faith in our teachers and administrators, said Watson, who earned an outstanding evaluation from the trustees, whose district includes the northern section of Westland.

"They will improve the scores as far as improvement is possible. So the scores will go up. But I'm willing to accept the consequences, whatever that may be."

Watson mustered the intensity needed to bring the "boost-MEAP" message to his staff and make it stick, said James Watters, board president.

"Watson is the kind of leader who can walk into administrative meetings, make needs known, and make certain administrators carry them back to the school leadership teams," Watters said. "He has gotten the MEAP message

Two years after naming Watson to succeed former superintendent Joseph Marinelli, Watters said the trustees know they made the right decision.

together during Marinelli's last year in the district, which ended in June 1994.

After serving nearly 30 years as a district teacher and administrator. Watson took over as school chief in July 1994.

As part of his outstanding review, the trustees gave Watson a one-year extension of his current three-year contract. Watson's contract now expires July 1, 1998.

Watson turned down a pay increase for the 1995-96 school year. His current salary is $106,500 a

"I believe I'm being compensated fairly," Watson said. "I'm also thinking about the future. I want to set an example in belt tightening. I believe that with the present state of public education, other employees will be taking a hard look at wages and salaries.'

Watson earned accolades in nine areas:

MEAP tests are given in the fall. Watson must wait until December to find out if the district has succeeded in its mission this past year to boost scores.

"If this is possible, we will do it," Watson said.

For many years, the district insisted that it shouldn't teach to the MEAP test, Watters said. But now that what's tested on the MEAP is indistinguishable from what's taught in the classroom, that philosophy no longer holds, Watters said.

Christmas gift develops into photography career

By LEONARD POOER

Don Nicholson wants everyone to get the picture when it comes to car racing and raising money for a special education center.

The owner of Prism Photo, on Middlebelt north of Ann Arbor Trail. Westland, does more than just handle film processing and studio work.

For the past three years, he was instrumental in organizing and running an annual rar show to raise money for the Burger Center for autistic students in Garden City, which his 12-year-old son attenda.

The show, held every July, raised some $7,000 in three years for the school on Beechwood and Dillon:

The Westland resident got into the photography field as a 13year-old when he received a photo developing kit as a Christmas gift.

After high school, he worked as a film stripper, putting film on a machine for processing in a darkroom at Fox Photo in Plymouth.

In 1973, Fox was one of the first processors to generate finished prints in seven hours - while most competitors had their photos ready for customers in several days.

To process the film quickly. For Photo would call Nicholson who was in a separate building: He would then turn on the machine, drive to Fox and then return to develop the film.

Nicholson doesn't think Fox made any money on the faster processing, but did it as a gimmick or service for its customers.

He recalls that Fox developed thousands of rolls of film a day in a 10,000 square foot lab at a time when most competitors had labs of 1,000 aquare feet.

In 1974, Nicholson started training as a photographer with two studios, Gem theatrical photographers in Redford Township and Studio Four in Troy. Gem specialized in police and fire departments throughout the country while Studio Four focused on dance, music and karate schools.

In 1983, 3M closed its photofinishing division in Canada and Nicholson decided to move back to Michigan for relatively warmer winters and took a job with Hi-Tec one-hour processing service in Westland Center.

About the same time, he was sent to Indiana to help organize a Santa Claus photo business and find a new manager for the lab and studio.

In late 1984, when Hi-Tec was sold to a major chain, Nicholson decided to stay on his own.

Production Manager Jim Jimmerson said that the Redford, Garden City and Westland papers will not be delivered until Friday. The Plymouth and Canton editions may be late as well if production problems arise.

In "normal" times, the 15 Observer & Eccentric newspapers contain 1.2 million inserts per week. This week's papers contain 3.2 million inserts.

"The workload in the production department has doubled plus," Jimmerson said. Fifty new employees have been hired to put the inserts in the papers and production work hours are up 25-30 percent over average. Fifty per- forth."

An increase in the volume of cent more raw paper is needed to Observer Publisher Banks Dishmon said, "We're doing everything possible to get the papers out on time. And it's all strike related. We appreciate our readers' patience with us."

Dishmon thanked Observer carriers and delivery personnel "for their outstanding work" during the strike.

Although Dishmon admits that the papers may be late again if the strike continues - "it can happen again" -- he said everything is being done to prevent that. "We're working to make this problem go away."

The increase in advertising has probably peaked, Dishmon said

Observer Circulation Manager Larry Geiger said, "It makes you proud of our carriers to see what they're going through. I admire their patience and understanding. We're really proud of the carriers, the drivers and the staffers here for the extra effort they have put

Buses bought

Imlay City-based Champion Motor Coach, a division of Champion Enterprises, has received a $5.2-million contract to manufacture 74 to 86 mid-size buses for the Suburban Mobility Authority for Regional Transportation,

These buses, which are 29 feet in length, will replace 40-foot vehicles currently in use.

By downsizing to 29-foot buses, SMART can expand coverage with additional new routes.

"Champion is pleased to participate in this contract and fully supports the building and revitalization efforts that SMART is promoting with the business community," Kathleen Gaffney, government sales manager for Champion Motor Coach, said in a press

Champion Motor Coach is one of the largest manufacturers of mid-size buses in North America.

Champion produces buses for tour and airport shuttle service, hotels, churches, nursing homes, universities and state and municipal governmental agencies.

Goodyear seeks heroic truck drivers

For the 14th year, The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company is looking to honor unsung heroes in the professional trucking community, the tiremaker said.

Truck drivers who have performed acts of heroism or humanitarianism during the last 10 months may be eligible for monetary awards and national recognition in the annual Goodyear National Highway Hero Program, said Bryan L. Kinnamon, general manager for commercial tires at Goodyear.

Nominations are being sought for drivers who rescue or assist motorists in trouble or who have benefitted society by some humanitarian service, he said.

The program is open to any professional driver who was operating a vehicle with 14 or more wheels and performed a heroic or humanitarian act while on the job, Kinnamon said.

There are thousands of men and women behind the wheels of big rigs who perform outstanding acts of heroism and bravery every day, and usually their efforts go unrecognized," Kinnamon said. "We are pleased to be able to give them the recognition they deserve for their efforts to help those in During Democratic Gov. James Blanchard's second term (1987-90), Watkins headed the state Department of Mental Health, In the first term Watkins worked in various administrative tasks. He was deputy campaign manager paign.

Watkins helped write Wayne County's charter in 1980-82 as an elected Democrat from northwest Detroit. His earlier work was as a child care worker and counselor for agencies in Garden City and Detroit.

He relocated to Northville Township several years ago and had been under consideration for several public posts.

New program

Crime-fighting effort creative

he Westland city administration has developed a new and creative technique in fighting crime. Hopefully, the new program which was to start last weekend will be successful.

With deserved optimism, Mayor Robert Thomas and police Chief Emery Price have developed a volunteer "eyes and ears" of the police department program, announced two weeks ago.

The basic thrust of the effort is to recruit and train local residents on how to spot problems and report them immediately to the department. The volunteers, made up of 12 people so far with more sought, will be driving city cars on weekday and weekend nights to spot problems.

One major reason for the new crime prevention program was reflected by one of the first volunteers. Karen Patterson, who said that "neighbors should get more involved" in the campaign to curb vandalism, break-ins, larcenies, graffiti and other criminal activities.

On a personal level, Patterson and her sonin-law, Alexander Trout, also a crime prevention volunteer, have good reasons to join the program. Trout has experienced 10 incidents involving his vehicles or apartment.

What makes the new program so attractive is that it is designed to get results without costing any more money.

Over the years, residents have complained about problems in their neighborhoods. There are reports of break-ins, larcenies, gang-related graffiti and other problems.

criminal activities.

The new volunteer program is only the latest step to curb crime problems.

But it certainly demonstrates the creativity of police officials and others who want to seek new ways to fight old problems instead of asking for more money.

With only 12 volunteers in the program at its start, the police want more residents involved. Interested people may contact deputy mayor George Gillies at 467-3200, or the police department, 722-9600.

State's target: Public schools

eading one day's news, you can lose track of where the attack on public schools is heading. So let's put the State Board of Education's July 20 watering down of core curriculum standards into context. It's Act II in the battle.

Act I occurred in 1994 with an attempt to discredit public schools, chiefly through a withering barrage at the "National Extortion Association," as the parent of the Michigan Education Association was branded. MEA, though not the most lovable and charitable of institutions, nevertheless was nowhere near as evil and depraved as its attackers alleged.

Keep in mind that the real target wasn't the public school union; it was public schools. By year's end it was fairly easy to find polls showing huge numbers of Michiganians were less than 100 percent satisfied with the products of public education. This year, you'll notice, the attack on MEA has quieted. It's all part of a staged drama.

Act II is to water down state standards, mandates and curriculum laws — except abstinence, of course. The State Board of Education, in the words of its leader Clark Durant, "derailed the state's putting in a core curriculum." The board is watering down the 67 standards in math, science, social studies and English language arts that the Department of Education has been drafting.

The board stopped short, however, of adopting Durant's proposal to allow the teaching of the fundamentalist religious doctrine of "creationism" as science. Yet it was scary that Durant's sidekick, Marilyn Lundy, would go so far as to declare there's no scientific evidence in favor of evolution. There is no sunlight, either, if you cover your eyes.

After a decade of progress, the State Board of Education is coming dangerously close to violating its constitutional mandate to provide "leadership and general supervision over all public education, including adult education," except colleges. It also is turning its back on a 1993 statute that says it should issue a core curriculum.

In the attack on public schools, it's necessary to obliterate all the rules — except abstinence, of course — so that anything goes. Problem solving? Naw, ciphering is OK. Science? Oh. Genesis is enough. Cooperation in a diverse society? Just obey your parents. The arts? Why, we have a portrait of Jesus. Dealing with ethical dilemmas? Ask your parents or your pastor.

If the state has only the mealiest standards for public schools, it becomes easier for non-public schools to meet the standards. The issue is not whether public schools in suburban Oakland and Wayne counties will set and meet high standards. The issue is whether any ethnocentric, parochial or just plain odd-ball school can boast it meets state standards.

Act III is parochiaid, state aid to private and denominational schools. It will take a voter-approved amendment to the Michigan Constitution to remove the prohibition against parochiaid. That bid will come in an election year, probably 1996.

This talk about "charter" schools is part of the play. Scratch a supporter of "charter" schools, and you will have a supporter of parochiaid or its brother, a "voucher" system.

You will get a lot of hocus-pocus about "parental choice" and how public schools are a "monopoly" and "let the free market work." That's not the name of the act. The act is to get state tax money for private schools and for sectarian schools, particularly those who think everybody is ungodly except themselves.

God made an imperfect world. Certainly even the best public schools are imperfect. The solution is not to water down curriculum standards and support sectarian, anti-science rivals in the name of "competition." The solution is to make all public schools as good as humans can make them, hoping the non-public schools will follow.

We are disappointed the Durant-influenced State Board of Education is backing away from common sense and its constitutional duty. It should draft high standards so that kids will be prepared for the working world, and so that a high school diploma will stand for something.

Charter schools urged

have a few words to say about charter schools: More! More! More! Charter schools will be the salvation of public education in this country.

The current highly protected and unionized monopoly system has degenerated into nothing more than a high-priced baby-sitting service.

In the future — charter schools will offer each child a chance to have an education customized to his or her interests, talents and needs. In the new information age, the watchwords for education will be: Customize. Customize. Customize.

No longer will we be enslaved by the archaic "one-size-fits-all" system developed by our "low-tech" agrarian forefathers.

No longer will a bright and motivated student be held hostage to a system that seeks routine and uniformity — even at the price of mediocrity and dullness.

Even more importantly — no longer will less bright students be stigmatized and made to feel inferior by an "out-of-touch" system that rewards only the college bound, and reduces everyone else to second class status.

The new charter schools will allow us to create a modern-day equivalent of the apprenticeship system — similar to the one so highly praised in Germany.

In the future, we will look back with horror at the present education system — that for generations has allowed 18-year-olds to graduate into the world totally unskilled and virtually illiterate. There is no excuse for a system of education, as expensive as ours, to be mass producing unskilled labor.

Recently, in Westland, a charter school was established for educationally challenged kids. So much for the "cherry-picking" argument. Additionally, another charter school has been set up to cater to students interested in automotive technology.

With the help of parents and enlightened educators, more customized charter schools will be coming soon.

These career-specific schools will motivate kids — who are understandably bored with current schools because the curriculum seems irrelevant to their lives and their futures.

These are exciting times in education. Why did we wait so long to make this change? Every parent and student should be mightily rejoicing. The old monopoly is dead. The "hostage-taking" is over.

Let's give the old monopoly a decent burial. Then, let's move on with the task of giving each child the best and most customized education that money can buy.

Engler action criticized

note of Goy. John Engler's recent action to eliminate the autonomy and power of community-based corrections in Michigan.

In 1988, the Legislature passed the Community Corrections Act to encourage the participation of local communities in developing policies and programs for non-violent offenders.

The act created a State Community Corrections Board and local Community Correction Advisory Boards responsible for the planning and implementation of community-based corrections programs. These programs have received broad, bipartisan legislative support.

Engler abused his executive order powers last week by unilaterally moving the authority of the autonomous agency implementing these programs, the Office of Community Alternatives, to the Department of Corrections where the governor will have sole control.

As he's done in the past, Engler has taken this action when the Legislature is not in session to limit public debate and to prevent a legislative override of this important public policy issue.

What will this mean for local communities? More than likely, state-run programs will be less accountable to local citizens and less sensitive to public safety.

Local communities will have less say in tailoring programs to their own needs and there will be less local decision-making and local responsibility. It appears that the governor only believes in local control if he's the one gaining power.

We urge the governor to end this power play and work with the Legislature to address the problems in our corrections system. The serious issues of prison overcrowding and public safety demand all of our cooperation and coordination.

POINTS OF VIEW

'To be a school master is next to being a king'

with a teacher who is getting ready to retire next year and he seemed very bitter. It seems to me that at this point in his teaching career . . . getting ready to retire, he would have some good memories. Is this typical?

Answer: It's not typical behavior from retired teachers. I know!

Unfortunately, a few of our older teachers are still trying to fight the 1935 battle of the Overpass at the Rouge Plant. They still want the 7-, 8-or 9-percent raises of the 1970s and 1980s that the public financially supported and which administrations and the Michigan Education Association negotiated.

Realistically, no one is getting big raises in this area. It's like when Wall Street says, "There is a stock market correction taking place." That correction is taking place in education and in many professions.

I believe teachers need to step back and take a look at where we are today compared to when your golfing friend started teaching. And then be thankful. Indeed, teachers' salaries—thanks to public support, board support and the efforts of administration and the MEA—have taken teachers from a lower middle class range to the middle class, higher in some cases.

Taken in context, and trying to understand your retiring teacher friend's concern, one has to have been there, back when he started teaching — probably in the late 1950s and 1960s — prior to the right to negotiate. Raises were $50-$150 a year. Indeed, many teachers made more painting houses during the summer months and after school than they did teaching from September to June.

I was there, but I don't remember being bitter. I loved teaching and picked up extra work in the summer and survived. Time-wise, I figured the 2½ months off in the summer, the winter and spring break was a pretty good deal, a major fringe benefit.

Frankly, I've found the few teachers who are negative at retirement time were negative throughout their career.

DOC DOYLE

I am convinced that in every profession, in every office, there are those who accentuate the negative, as your teacher golfing buddy does. It is usually a pattern of chatter without even thinking what is being said. But I assure you that is not the typical mind-set . . . I have known throughout my career.

A sad commentary, considering they were in a classroom dealing with young minds for many years.

Teaching is one of our noblest professions. I have observable proof of that since I retired. My wife, Barbara, a retired kindergarten teacher, and I can be strolling through a store or in line for movie tickets when, suddenly, someone will walk up to us. That someone will immediately smile and acknowledge my wife, who was either her kindergarten teacher or had that person's children in her class.

After one "love-in" between my wife and a parent, I said, "I was in education too... I was the assistant superintendent for instruction in Troy." After I got a puzzled look that said "that's nice" or "what did you do?" I got a message that there was a vast distinction between what one perceives of her teacher and one who was in a "curriculum" position.

Both positions are important, but teacher is still the noblest role in the education profession. I am convinced that in every profession, in every office, there are those who accentuate the negative, as your teacher golfing buddy does. It is usually a pattern of chatter without even thinking what is being said. But I assure you that is not the typical mindset of the teachers, administrators, MEA representatives and school board members I have known throughout my career.

"To be a school master is next to being a king. Do you count it in the lowest employment... those who enrich the minds of our young people and then return them to our country as honest and virtuous men and women. In the opinion of this fool, teaching is a humble task but in fact the noblest of all occupations." — From the 15th century (author unknown)

James "Doc" Doyle has more than 25 years experience as a public school teacher and administrator. He now works as a consultant and lives in Northville Township.

Women aren't the only ones to suffer injustices

By Jerry Bogos

n her Aug. 3 op ed page column,
"Early feminist's lessons illuminate life today," Susan Noguera writes,
"As an American female, I am constantly reminded of the injustices inflicted on women in relationships, inequalities in the workplace, in education, and within the family structure."
(It's understandable why she's constantly reminded of it. The media are constantly reporting feminists' victimology theories!)

Does Ms. Noguera seriously think only women suffer injustices in the realms she cites?

In the "family structure," the wife has three options:

Full-time work.

Part-time work and part-time

The husband has three slightly different "options":

erent "options": Full-time work,

Full-time work. Full-time work.

power" has done for men!

At the turn of the century, before women had such options, both women and men lived an average of 49 years. Now men live seven fewer years than women and die sooner of all major illnesses, developing heart disease 10 years sooner. More men than women are alcoholics, drug addicts, and among

After a divorce, a man often finds himself on the outside looking in, having lost his children and home to his ex-wife. He may find his children are turned against him and may feel as if he is paying support to people who hate him.

the street homeless. See what "male

As for a male-female relationship, before it is secure, the man has to take roughly 150 initiatives — and risk rejection 150 times — between first eye contact and first sexual contact.

He also usually feels expected to pay the dating expenses even if he earns less. Yet he fears that if he brings this up to the woman, she will be offended. (Women, too, have fragile egos.)

If the woman in a relationship finds herself pregnant, guess who has all the power? If he wants to be a parent and she doesn't, her right to control her body supersedes his right to be a father. If he doesn't want to be a parent and she does, her right to be a mother supersedes his right to control his wallet; he'll be stuck for 18 years paying support for something he didn't want.

In most states, the husband must support children his wife has from affairs! If men had all the power in the reproductive sphere, feminists would call it the Number One Oppression Against Women.

Regarding education, more females go to college, more females graduate from college, and more money is spent on women's education, just as more money is spent on women's health even though men are at far greater health risk than women.

In the workplace, we hear only about the wage gap between the sexes because the media is pro-female. We don't hear about a worse gap at work, the injury and death gap. Over 93 percent of those killed on the job are men. Eighty to 100 percent of those holding 25 of the 26 worst jobs are men. The more dangerous a job, the more men are likely to hold it.

As for the sexes' wage gap, feminists will say that men should be the "primary providers" — so that women can have the option of staying home — but that it's unfair if men earn more!

Now let's reveal some real injustices against men in this country. In the Civil War, only one woman was killed (by a stray bullet), compared to 600,000 men. In the wars that followed, millions of men have been killed and millions of others physically and psychologically mangled for life — all so that today feminists like Susan Noguera have the freedom to complain about injustices against women.

Ms. Noguera is the sort of feminist whose sexism I will always protest. I would welcome a public debate with her any time, any place — with the goal of creating peace between the sexes, instead of driving a wedge between them.

It's an overlooked 200th for Mad Anthony's county

t's sneaking up on us. We may overlook it. I refer to the 200th anniversary of the forming of Wayne County, Michigan's largest, It was named in honor of Gen. Anthony Wayne, who was as big a hero in 1796 as Gens. Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1945 and Colin Powell in 1991.

They're not forgetting Wayne down in Ohio. I spent a day in Greenville last week where the governor and top state scholars observed, analyzed and dissected the Treaty of Greenville on its 200th anniversary. There were an afternoon and evening of lectures and slides, on Wayne's tactics, military architecture and the results of "digs."

Today Greenville is west of 1-75, insulated by 20 miles of farms, but in the Ohio Valley campaign it was the center of Wayne's activity. Greenville, I learned, occupies high ground near the Indiana border from which little creeks flow in four directions. In history classes, it's a well-kept secret that Wayne's campaign of 1792-4 and the treaty he negotiated opened up not only Ohio but Detroit and many points in the Midwest.

Turn back the clock: It's the second term of the Washington Administration. The British not only haven't given up Detroit and other western frontier forts but are supplying Indian tribes to keep Americans penned up east of the Appalachians and south of the Ohio River.

"I can venture to say that more than 1,500 persons have been killed and taken prisoner by the Indians; and upwards of 20,000 horses have been taken away, with other property," said Judge Henry Inness of Kentucky in a 1790 letter to the secretary of war. Local historians said more Americans were killed in Ohio than anywhere else in the nation until the Civil War.

In 1791 an American army under Gen. Arthur St. Clair was mauled so hadly north of Greenville that it disintegrated. To form a new army and take the Ohio Valley, President Washington appointed Wayne, a university-educated Pennaylvania farmer and tannery owner; Revolutionary combat veteran of Ticonderoga, Philadelphia, Germantown, Stony Point and Yorktown; liberator of Georgia; two-term state legislator; and lover of the arts — he worked for licensing of the theater, prohibited by the Quaker power atructure.

Wayne formed a "legion" near Pittsburgh.
Politicians differed sharply on military policy.
Federalists, Washington and Wayne knew militias were badly trained and crumbled in combat. They advocated a standing army of regulars. Washington wanted an academy to train officers — now known as West Point.

Naive republicans like Jefferson thought militias were just fine. God blessed America — the Federalist view prevailed.

Wayne spent 1792 training an army, 1793 bringing it down the Ohio River to Cincinnati (Fort Washington) and building a string of forts in western Ohio, and 1794 fighting two major battles. One was at the scene of St. Clair's disaster (Fort Recovery), the other at Fallen Timbers on the Maumee River a dozen miles southwest of Toledo. (Within the last month, archaeologists have relocated the actual battle site in a soybean field a short distance from the existing memorial. It's never too late to dig.)

The Indians called Wayne "Suckach-gook," Black Snake, because of his cunning. Whites called him "Mad" because of his bravery in

On Aug. 3, 1795, Wayne with 3,000 troops and 1,130 Indians from 12 tribes signed a treaty at Greenville that current Miami Chief Floyd Leonard, 69, groused was "the beginning of the end for Indian tribes east of the Mississippi." Leonard is correct. U.S. treaty policy wasn't so much for the purpose of making peace as for buying land.

In Treaty No. 23, Wayne agreed to pay $25,000 and an annuity of $9,500. Tribal leaders gave up two-thirds of Ohio plus Detroit, Chicago and other spots.

Unlike Powell and Eisenhower, Wayne didn't live to reap political fruits from his victory. He took possession of Detroit in 1795 and, en route home, died of disease in what is now Erie, Pa., on Dec. 15, 1796, just two weeks short of his 52nd birthday.

Wayne was overshadowed in the Revolutionary War by Washington and others.

But as one symposium speaker pointed out: Without Anthony Wayne, Fallen Timbers and Greenville, today we might be Canadians.

view of the V-chip and censorship of movies and television.

It's not that the Oakland Community College professor defends violence and video slaughter. Just the opposite.

"It's harmful to humanity. I don't think that's necessary," said Smith, who teaches acting, broadcasting, speech and theater at OCC's Orchard Ridge Campus.

But American culture thrives on it. We picture ourselves as a peace loving country. But we have set up such a negativity that we don't look at positive action any "Commercial broadcast television is an advertising medium, not a news and entertainment medium. It's driven by the ratings. If the ratings go down, what goes out - the commercial or the program? The program. It's replaced by something the advertisers want.'

He has a "positive alternative" - his own Wallace Smith Productions, a professional touring chamber theater company. "Chamber" means the handful of actors work in a room, rather than on an elaborate stage, in street clothes rather than costumes, without props. They tell stories, using dialog, mime and dance.

Smith just returned to his Walled Lake home from a conference in Australia. "They heard about my work. The conference dealt with positive images of society and justice, peace and an ecologically sustainable world."

The conference was sponsored by IDEA, the International Drama and Education Association. "I went as a representative of professional theater rather than education," he said. A Brisbane paper published a half-page interview after his performances before school children with local college students.

Smith's favorite phrase: "conflict resolution." He has used the theme since 1972, during the war in Vietnam. "We don't have violence (in his plays and skits). We have conflict, but there are ways to settle it." Examples:

Two people have "a silly argument," but a third helps them settle it by aiding them in seeing each other's point of view.

A family is confronted with a flooded household. Their problem: What can they save? "It turns out they can't save anything. Their each otherness was of value," said the producer.

His second favorite phrase: "cultural diversity." He has been at IDEA conferences in Spain and plans to attend another in Kenya. and he tells one anecdote after another about kids in Pacific Island villages wearing Detroit Tigers caps or Chicago Bulls T-

He fears the effects of exported American TV programs. He sees Japanese and Indian TV as imitating America's violence.

"I'm grateful to be an American. I'm absolutely, positively grateful to be at OCC. It's nice to know people are interested in peaceful alternatives.

"But other cultures aren't as slam-bang as Americans. It was so nice to be around quiet people as opposed to noisy people . . . We seem to need to have things to be happy." Increasing numbers of Americans share his concern.

A Bloomfield Hills matron, Terry Rakolta, has organized boycotts of advertisers who support unsavory network TV programs.

Smith won't comment on her efforts, preferring to push his own brand of "positive alternatives." Congress has deregulated cable TV but called for use of a V-chip allowing parents to block out programs for their kids. Smith: "I don't know what good it's going to Wayne County commissioners ordered Sheriff Robert Ficano to stop showing jail prisoners videotapes that have the effect of "inducing or provoking violent and assaultive behavior" or that glorify racial conflict, prison insurrections or violence against women. Commissioners exercise the power of the purse over the sheriff's budget.

An Arizona sheriff put 1,000 prisoners in a desert tent city without movies, cigarettes and coffee.

Smith shrugs at these news items. He earned degrees in 1965 and 1969 at Wayne State University, where he acted in the Hilberry Theater, and has taught and worked at OCC since 1968. The college named the Orchard Ridge Campus theater for him in 1983 - a rare honor for a living, active employee.

"I'm not a researcher. I'm in the trenches," he said. "It's a shame we have to have an alternative to violent art."

Professor Wallace Smith's office number is (810) 471-7705. He's in and out but checks his messages regularly.

You know the kinds of articles I'm talking about - where the writer goes out to eat and makes notes, probably on a napkin, about the service, the food, the ambiance, the wine list, the use of exotic spices and the price. And I'm captivated by this. I don't know why. Restauranta themselves don't captivate me; they're too fancy, too expensive.

And fancy food I am deathly afraid of. If the food is exotic, I'm scared. And here's how I determine exotic food: if it lived in the water, it's exotic. Except tuna, But that lives in a can. And if it's wild, it's exotic. Or raw. Or has its bones still in. And steak. And nursery rhyme animals. All

My mother used to call this "being a picky eater." My husband calls it "annoying, but cheap." Which brings me to the subject of "expensive" restaurants.

Restaurants are always expensive. There are no inexpensive ones. Restaurant, as you may know, is a French word meaning "bring lots of money - and put the washing machine repair off for awhile."

Newsletter helps those caring for others

For almost 92 years, Mary Kowalski cared for her family. Now they are caring for her, and their experiences have become the impetus for publishing a newsletter, Caregiver Monthly.

Mary Kowaleski traveled to the United States from Poland as a young girl and has spent nearly all of her 92 years working to support and care for her family. Now, she needs some help.

And her grandson and granddaughter-in-law John and Vikki Kowaleski are pleased to step in and provide the day-to-day care the elderly woman requires.

Vikki Kowaleski gave up her own house-cleaning service three years ago when her husband's grandmother suffered a series of small strokes, fell in her home and was believed to be in early stages of Alzheimer's.

She is now responsible for the day-to-day care of Mrs. Kowaleski, as she remains an involved parent of two young teenage sons and a supportive wife:

getting more response, however. I will share some of the things I have learned in taking care of Grandma."

So far, after two issues the neveletter has more than a dozen subscribers and has received some financial support from a local podiatrist.

One of the newsletter's first subscribers and first guest columnists, Gloree Coleman, R.N., of Farmington Hills, said "Caregiver Monthly" could be a very useful tool for those caring for loved ones at home.

Coleman used to care for her elderly mother-in-law and she said the advice is easy to understand and a quick read.

"So much of the information you get is in medical terms," she said. 'This is written clearly and because your time is limited when you're caring for someone, you can read it quickly and get some good information out of it. It has a lot of value for caregivers because of that."

Because of her own health concerns. Coleman had to place her mother-in-law in a nursing home, but she plans to subscribe to Caregiver Monthly again as a gift for a relative who is caring for an elderly person.

Vikki relies on the business advice of her husband John, who said the newsletter could be a great vehicle for all kinds of businesses.

The newsletter, I thought, would be a great way for us to share some ideas and to help make up a little of the income we lost. We hope it will become a good business opportunity and rewarding personally," Vikki said. Right thing to do

The Kowaleskis didn't enter into the decision to care for Mary lightly. They knew there would be difficult times, but they also knew it was the right thing to do. It was a family backed decision.

Vikki said her grandmother-inlaw's mental state has declined as she sinks further into dementia, but her physical state is good. Mary, just 98 pounds, can no longer walk and has to be restrained at times because she forgets her limitations.

Vikki, an energetic redhead who was named one of Detroit's Hottest Housewives on "Kelly & Company," runs from one thing to another in the care of her family, but always has a well-formed plan

We have a very loud house, but it's very good," she said. "I have set up a system and it keeps things going.'

The mother of two has thought of everything from toileting habits, to how to handle her in case of a house fire. She participates in an Alzheimer's study group and an incontinence study group at Wayne State University and is always quick to share the things she has learned. She also bowls once a week and makes time to attend school functions and help with homework.

While the daily routine keeps Vikki busy, she is always thinking of the bigger picture and tries to remember to take time out to laugh and enjoy the time with her

"She's a real gem and she still has a lot to offer," Vikki said about her grandmother-in-law. "She can't help being the way she

Mary loves basketball star Sha-

"He doesn't talk back at her and he has a nice smile, that's all she knows," John said. The basketball star recently sent Mary an autographed photograph which was a big hit.

"She was so excited when she heard she got a picture of Shaq." Vikki said.

John is just pleased that at the end of his grandmother's life, she can be allowed the same level of dignity that she enjoyed her whole

"I always try to think about how I would want to be treated. and that's how we treat grandma." he said.

After 15 years of marriage, the Kowaleskis still make time for themselves and their two sons. The couple said their sons enjoy having grandma around and are great about helping out.

"It's very rewarding to care for someone you love and I think I am setting a good example for my kids," she said. "You always take care of family. I don't ever regret our decision and only hope that our newsletter gives other family members the strength to make the same decision or at least to consider it as an option to nursing homes."

INTRODUCING

The New Life Center at Providence Park

Where families are born...close to home

A COMFORTABLE ATMOSPHERE

Imagine giving birth in a comfortable, home-like atmosphere where you make many of the decisions about your birth experience. And then, think about being able to go home within 24 hours after your baby is born. Well, the New Life Center at Providence Park in Novi offers all that, and it's just minutes from home.

A UNIQUE APPROACH

It's a new beginning. A new way of thinking.
And an alternative to traditional hospital births*.
The New Life Center at Providence Park was born from the success of the New Life Center at Providence Hospital, where for generations, thousands of women have had wonderful, nurturing, family-centered birth experiences.

THE CHOICES ARE MANY

From the moment you choose to have your baby with us, many decisions are yours. You may choose to go natural or to have an epidural. You may also prefer to share the event with your loved ones. But the best part is giving birth in a relaxed, home-like atmosphere and having your baby by your side. What's more, a nurse will come to your home for private, follow-up visits. Because that's the kind of extra care, attention and education people expect from Providence.

COME SEE FOR YOURSELF But don't take our word for it. Call 1-800-806-BABY for an appointment to see what the New Life Center at Providence Park has to offer expectant families.

*Only pregnant women who have been pre-screened and assessed as low risk by a Providence physician are eligible to deliver at the Providence Park New Life Center.

At 155 years, GC Presbyterian is still going strong

BY SUE MASON STAFF WHITER

When the congregation of Garden City Presbyterian Church gathers on Sunday, Aug. 13, there. will be plenty of old time hymns sung and special prayers said, much like is done every Sunday.

But this Sunday will be a bit more special. The church is celebrating a milestone. On Aug. 15, it will be 155 years old.

"It's been really interesting to me to see the names of the people who have been here a long time and the relationships of members as families and friends," said interim pastor the Rev. Gretchen Denton. "Looking at the history is the easy part. Looking at the future is harder, but for a church with a long history, there's a lot of stability.

Denton has been working with the Evangelism Committee -Wanda Jarvis, Virginia Zawilia, Toni Lawrence, Steve Lynch, Bob Fowler and Larry Miles - in creating a celebration that captures the spirit of the church's early days.

Hymns have been picked from throughout history and prayers selected that will connect the congregation to the past and the future. And a "familiar friend" of the church, the Rev. Paul Sutton, will preach that day, according to Denton.

One of the hymns Denton has selected is "Old Hundreth" which is known as "Dozology." It will be sung with the Psalm words a congregation would have sung long ago, she said.

When people say they want to sing the old time hymns, they're thinking of the turn of the century, not the 1840s," she explained. "At that time, this congregation. didn't have an organ or piano. The congregation sang by line and they sang songs not hymns."

Following church services, the congregation will gather in Sutherland Hall for cake and fellowship.

Different twist

With a strong emphasis on special worship - the congregation planted a tree as part of its Pentecost service — the church has come up with a twist on history for its celebration. The American Red Cross will conduct a community blood drive 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the church that day.

The congregation and residents of the community are invited to roll up their sleeves and give. Church attendance isn't required to be a blood donor, she said.

We received a call from the Red Cross that they needed blood and we decided it would be appropriate to have a blood drive," Denton said. "It's an interesting twist on history - the continuation of life by giving life."

Denton has created a scroll of white paper that shows the church's time line from its found. ing as the Presbyterian Church of Nankin (old school), organized on Aug. 15, 1840, with 13 members, to the East Nankin Presbyterian Church built in 1894 at Ford and Inkster roads in what is now

Dearborn Heights to its current mation is a decision by the building on Middlebelt Road south of Ford Road, dedicated in October 1928 as the Garden City Presbyterian Church.

While information about the church during the 1900s is readily available, only a few things have church. Among the bits of infor- tory of the church before the Garden City, 1900s," Denton said. "The Press byterian Church has had a lot of reunions and divisions and you can see that in the church histor but mostly, we know a lot of the history after the 1900s."

Adding on

There were several additions Id. the church on Middlebelt Roads including the manse, built 1943 to serve as the ministers residence. Attached on the sould side of the church, it was used se such until 1954, when the paster moved into a home of his own.

"Part of the difficulty was that it was attached to the church a afforded the family little privaces said Denton. "People would knock at the door any time of the day and night."

The manse eventually became the church's Christian Education Annex and a second addition housing classrooms and office was built in 1955. A new wing v built in 1966.

The 1950s were growth year and by 1952 church membership was at 359, not that far below the 1995 count of 416 members. The church's success spilled over in an outreach that resulted in de founding of Kirk of Our Savior2 Westland in 1960.

Denton isn't sure how many former members will be on hate for the celebration, although lot of people have stayed in the area." She isn't sure what if are thing has been done to inval them back. But, she added, would be great. The members would love to see people they h ven't seen in awhile."

People interested in more infec mation about the celebration or an signing up for a blood donation appointment can call the church at (313) 421-7620. Garden Ord Presbyterian Church is at 1861

When we say we screen our doctors, it's not a slogan and it's not just some routine examination, either. This is a procedure we take very seriously. After all, your health is at stake here. So, before any doctors become Blue Care Network doctors, before they ever examine one single patient, they must first survive a very detailed examination themselves.

Here's what it takes. First, all doctors (personal care physicians and specialists) are reviewed against very specific written criteria. (Quality of care is what we're measuring here.) In addition, an on-site inspection is conducted by specially trained staff and results are reviewed by Blue Care Network doctors in the area.

Patient satisfaction surveys are conducted by a professional, independent research company. Here, we ask patients to evaluate their doctor's technical skills as well as the basic level of service and care.

And, Blue Care Network works with its personal care physicians to ensure that quality standards are met.

of going through this process all over again every two years for as long as they're with us.

Now, that is a tall order to fill. But if we're going to take the guesswork out of selecting a doctor, we should try our hardest to provide you with a sizable list of quality personal care physicians and specialists. It's as simple as that.

Family Birthing Center of Providence Hospital... Often imitated - never duplicated.

Many places claim to be birthing centers, but the Family Birthing Center of Providence Hospital has the credentials, It is the only center in Michigan accredited by The Commission for Accreditation of Freestanding Birth Centers, A division of the National Association of Childbearing Centers,

The Family Birthing Center is a unique alternative for childbearing families. The staff is committed to providing each family with a birth experience which meets their individual needs in a safe environment. Our philosophy is based on the belief that birth is a normal process, and routine medical intervention is not needed for most labors and births. We provide a partnership with families that encourages education, participation in decision making and more control over the birth experience, Extended families, including siblings, can participate in the birth event, and mothers and bables are not separated after birth. Your care may be provided by an obstetrician, family practice physician or certified nurse midwife with privileges at Providence Hospital.

In addition to our home-like almosphere, the Family Birthing Center offers the safety of nearby Providence Hospital with its quality high-risk services in case of a problem.

We offer a comprehensive program of childbirth education, including your choice of normal birth or Christian birth classes, breast feeding education and support, preparation for early discharge and sibling classes. Our services also include oneto-one nursing care, early discharge with extensive follow-up and a home visit by one of our nurses. Homemaker assistance is also available as part of our program.

We are located in the Fisher Center attached to Providence on Nine Mile Road in Southfield, Come visit us and see for yourself. We want to help make the birth of your child the personal experience it should be. There is a difference.

Livonia

Here is the handwriting of a very socially oriented woman. Her main focus is on her social life. embraces life with. outstretched arms and wants to live it to the fullest. She may be overly concerned with socializing at the expense of the intellectual.

Our writer is friendly and wants to be where the action is. Usually, she is up on all the latest. whether it be restaurants, fashions, movies, television or gossip. Her enthusiasm often carries others along with her as it is an infectious trait.

This is a master showman who enjoys an audience and knows to speak.

It seems that our writer is attempting to conceal some unresolved personal problems and can become defensive, if quizzed. When things don't work out to her liking, she may try to manipulate or use excuses to save face. She is not a stranger to rationalizing. In addition, she is sometimes distrustful and is reluctant "to put all her cards on the table," so

I've figured it up. And here's the bottom line: the cost of one moal at a restaurant is equivalent to seven meals at home. And so for a picky, cheapskate eater like me, reading restaurant articles doesn't make any sense. But I do it anyway. It's weini.

And another thing about those restaurant articles, they always feature restaurants in far-flung places. Now you must understand, anything you can't walk to is "far-flung" in thy book. I know that's being entirely unreasonable. But piling everyone into the van and then driving somewhere can be horribly unreasonable, especially when they're all hungry: Proximity is paramount at feed. ing time.

Now maybe the reason I get caught up in those articles is because I think that maybe, just maybe. I'll read about a restaurant that meets the outrageous and unreasonable criteria for restaurants that I have: not exotic, not expensive, not far-flung.

Well, such a place opened just a couple of weeks ago. And around here the excitement and anticipation had been building since the very first days of summer vacation and the "Coming Soon" sign. went up in its window.

Now, the excitement wasn't just here in this house, it was throughout the neighborhood. We all waited and waited. And then it happened. The Soda Jerk opened wide its doors and in poured the people. Including us - the Meier six. One hot evening, after supper - chicken stir fry, I think - we walked there. Actually, four of us walked and two were in the stroller. How do you like that? Within walking and strollering distance. We walked, strolled, and talked ice cream flavors.

The Soda Jerk is about a sixminute walk from my house. And it is really cool. It's a soda fountain straight out of the '50s. The floor is black and white squares, the stools at the long counter are red and spin all the way around, the metal containers of ice cream and syrups and toppings shine like the bumper of a '57 Chevy and the liuted sundae glasses stacked in old-fashioned pyramids are perfect and real and made of glass.

And the jukebox in the back is real, honest to goodness. And it plays 45's, all '50s songs, I guess. They all sounded '50s anyway, especially the song that made the two waitresses burst into dance right in the middle of the black and white floor. Everyone in the restaurant clapped for them. It was great!

And then there was the ice cream we ordered. It was not exotic. In my sundae glass was none other than good, creamy vanilla ice cream with hot fudge poured all over it and whipped cream and a cherry on top. Nothing raw, nothing fishy, nothing bony, And the price for this? $1.85. Still higher than a hot fudge aundae at home. But then, a real soda jerk, a jukebox and the litterbug have their worth, too.

A note about the "D" word that appeared in my column last week. It wasn't supposed to, but it got there anyway. And I apologize. Between the 'D" word and "D-A-170,000 species, spiders are this planet's best form of pest control, protecting crops by devouring billions of insects. It is estimated that 2,000-3,000 of these nocturnal crawlers dwell, rent free, in the average American home and that one can be found within three feet of a time.

afternoon stroll through "Spiders!" a something-for-all-ages exhibit, currently on display at Cranbrook's Institute of Science. Spiders are found around the globe and in every habitat. Relatively small in size, these eight-legged creatures with an equal number of eyes, are sophisticated architects often busily spinning intricate and efficient webs: survivalists who live a solitary life learning early on that the best way not to be eaten is not to be seen; and tenacious predators able to ensuare, impale and devour. It would seem that Miss Muffet wasn't entirely off base in fleeing the spider who sat down beside her.

The fact is, however, that spiders would rather dodge than fight. They often match their surroundings in color and pattern for protection. They live lonely distrustful lives unaure whether mates or siblings will turn them into dinner.

"Spiders!" uses hands-on activities, live specimens, photos, and videos to introduce visitors to the complex and challenging world of the spider. For those who would rather sit than roam, there are lectures, storytellers, a spider-themed laser show, puppet play, a reading corner and an assortment of short videos.

Most memorable of the latter was a nine minute film entitled "Victims of Venom." As a bug becomes trapped in a sticky web, the narrator declaims menacingly, "Imagine having your dinner land right on the table." This graphic and up close look at spiders' modus operandi in snaring and seizing their prevwas one of the show's highlights for 12 year old Seth Barnett of West

With an estimated Bloomfield. "It was amazing to watch small spiders catch animals so much bigger than themselves." An Orchard Lake Middle School student, Barnett was amused by the craftiness of the trap door spider and its ability to surprise its victims with amazing speed and efficiency.

"Weave a Web," one of the most popular attractions, allowed visitors to create a spider web design and test their abilities to snare insects with interactive video. "Good Vibraperson at any given tions" offers viewers an opportunity to experience the sensory world of These are just some of the infor- the spider. explained with plaster models, while in the Nature Place adjacent to the Institute of Science, an actual spider egg sac, bustling with spiderly activity, was on display.

This was 13 year old Susic Barnett's favorite part of the exhibit. Though this Orchard Lake Middle School student says, "the only thing I like about spiders is stepping on them," she admitted that she found the live egg sac incredible.

"The babies were so small you could hardly see them," she said mystified by the enterprise, In the end, she said, "spiders still scare me, but I like having them around because they kill mosquitoes."

Sprinkled throughout the exhibit are Spiderbytes - fun tidbits of information. For example, a spider runs 330 times its body length in 10 seconds, the equivalent of a human being running across six football fields in the same amount of time.

The exhibit also addresses interesting questions, like why spiders do not get caught in their own webs. It turns out that, besides being caus tious climbers, they exude an oily fluid which causes them to have non-stick feet.

If there is anything to take away from "Spiders!" it's that the genius of nature is contained in these amazing creatures. The show, which was organized by the Smithsonian Institution's National Muse: um of Natural History and the Marvel Entertainment Group, creator of "Spiderman" comics, will run at the museum through Sept. 24.

At Work: Jean Weber layers watercolor to create paint. ings with a depth of color:

Artist washes richness into paintings

By Linda Ann Chomin

Unlike the transparent watercolors many artists paint, Jean Weber layers the medium to create works rich and vibrant. The Livonia Acts Commission presents more than one dozen of Weber's paintings through Aug. 31 in the lobby of Livonia City Hall, 33000 Civic Center Drive east of Farms Paintings with depth of color capture everyday acenes of a farmer tilling his fields, a stock boy spilling a burlap sack of corn onto a counter display, and a cat watching a bird feeder from the comfort of a living room end table.

Weber uses a technique called glazing by which layer after layer of transparent paint is washed over an underpainting.

Each adds depth. "In true watercolor you see the luminousity shine through the paint. The critical part is in the planning. I'm not using a wet-on-wet technique but a wet on a fairly dry surface, said Weber during an interview in her Plymouth home.

Weber originally painted oils but took a 16-year hiatus to raise her and husband Paul's two children. Paul is the assistant superintendent of Redford Union Schools.

She resumed painting, this time with watercolor, nearly four years ago, A graduate of Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti, Weber studied watercolor with Visual Arts Association of Livonia teachers Janus Benda and Donna Vogelheim.

"My love has always been art," said Weber, who considers composition the most important element of a painting.

She uses a variety of tools to create texture after the watercolor has dried. Razor blades rough up the striped coat of a cat. Sandpaper and toothbrushes are other vehicles for texturizing the paper. For deeper color, Weber employs strokes of watercolor pencils and the water-soluble crayon Caran D' Ache.

If Weber is unhappy with a painting, she sometimes cuts it into strips then weaves it back together again.

"There is great freedom in recognizing that there is not one correct way of working in watercolor," she said, "And that personal expression often comes through combining traditional methods with experimentation and inventiveness."

Potters help shape envisioned arts community

LINDA ANN

If Torb and Dolores Guenther and more than 20 members of the newly formed Village Potter's Guild get their way, one area of Plymouth's Old Village could become a thriving arts community called Alter

Five years ago when the Guenthers bought the building housing their manufacturing business (CD Sparling, maker of handicapped grab bars), plans were to eventually turn the facility into a place where artists could meet and work. The building, home of the Alter Motor Car Co. from 1914-16, rests on four acres.

The idea was soon shelved when the Guenthers realized manufacturing and the creation of artwork were not meant to coexist.

They purchased four small bungalow homes that back up to CD Sparling, and would eventually like to buy the entire block of Karmada to serve as centers of learning for a variety of fine crafts and visual arts.

Right now, the fate of the Plan Unit Development rests in the hands of the city's zoning board.

"I was always a lover of the arts and wanted to have an involvement with the arts. I envision a community of artists working in clay, glass, metalsmithing and other mediums, a teaching situation where they could pass their knowledge on to others. It would be a great asset to the community," said Torb Guenther.

"The number one criteria is that it should be self supporting."

That's where members of the Village Potter's Guild come in. The nonprofit organization founded in May 1995 was the brainchild of Kris Darby, who retired this spring after teaching art for 27 years in the Plymouth-Canton Schools. Darby, a student at the Ann Arbor Potter's Guild, applied for membership in the cooperative but found a long waiting

The same was true of the highly-respected Pewabic Pottery in Detroit. Darby found it would be years before she could work in a cooperative setting. That's when she sought out other potters in

A call for members placed in local newspapers turned up eight other potters seeking the same. Darby hopes that September, along with its falling leaves, will bring a rebirth of the arts with the opening of the pottery studio in Old Village.

"I like the clay but like the atmosphere of working with others," said Darby. "All the while I was teaching it to students, it kept calling to me. Clay is one of the elements of the earth. It's always been my first love. It comes from the earth. It's made workable with water, hard by air, and decorated and durable by fire."

The future home of the Village Potter's Guild sits gutted now. Two large rooms will serve as separate areas for working potters and classes. The gas kiln will be housed in the garage. Guild members hope to eventually enclose the porch to provide an area for selling their wares.

"Part of this whole thing is to offer education to the community and teach them about the aesthetics of clay," Darby said.

Members will pay an initiation fee plus yearly dues to cover the cost of rent, electricity, heat and clay. Classes, featuring both wheel-thrown and hand-built techniques, will be geared toward adults and promising high school students.

"There seems to be a need for a place for people interested in classes," said charter member Barbara Hulme during a recent tour of the facility.

For more information about the Village Potter's Guild, call Kris Darby, (313) 453-2281, or guild president Barb VanPelt, (313) 455-0392.

TREET SCENE

Live in Roseville - Dogstar featuring Keanu Reeves

BY TODD WICKS SPECIAL WRITER

Anyone driving by The Ritz last Friday could tell something was up. The packed parking lot, the never ending stream of women going inside, police everywhere... you just knew this wasn't another of Night Ranger's monthly visits to Roseville.

Nove, it was Dogstar, the band of unknowns whose bass player just happens to be movie star Keanu Reeves. Standing in the crowd, waiting for turn rubbed shoulders with a few bespectacled secretary-types who would otherwise never have even thought of setting foot in the Ritz. An EMS ambulance was parked by the door, silently waiting for the inevitable fainting or case of Keanumania gone berserk. The fact that Dogstar has thus far made no videos, released no recorded material or done anything to warrant attention other than have an internationally famous actor on bass didn't dissuade hordes from snapping up T-shirts and posters. I asked a dozen Ritz employees for a press release, a flier, anything with the other band members' names. No one knew or seemed to care. You heard his name wherever you turned, Keanu, Keanu, Keanu, on the lips of everyone there. Even the DJ seemed to forget the rest of the band: "OK people, sit tight, Keanu Reeves will be out in a few minutes!"

When Dogstar did amble out around midnight, the overwhelming screams were unmistakably directed stage right. Unshaven, tousle-haired and sporting a loose-fitting flannel, Reeves simply strapped on his bass and went to work.

The band played about 90 minutes of the usual "modern rock," not very heavy, just 15 or so jangly originals. It was amusing to watch the other members work the audience like crazy, playing at the edge of the stage, using wine bottles as guitar slides and shouting obscenities into the micro-

The crowd collectively stifled a yawn. All eyes firmly focused on Reeves intently working his bass and pulling the occasional rock move, staying out of the spotlight except to smile and say "Thanks" into a microphone now and then. Of course, the crowd exploded each time.

Halfway through Dogstar's set, the audience wanted to get into the act. A few girls with backstage passes began dancing on Reeves' side of the stage, at first unobtrusively, shooting a few shy glances his way.

As the night went on, they got bolder and bolder (or drunker and drunker) and finally pranced right up within inches of Reeves. At this point I almost expected him to throw his bass on the ground, tired of all this star treatment, Couldn't anyone see that he's just one of the guys, that he just wants to rock with his buddies? That he wants to be left alone? That he's only human? But Reeves just looked over, gave a most excellent Ted "Theodore" Logan goofy grin and kept playing.

Indeed, the most remarkable thing about Dogstar was Reeves' pleasant, low-key response to the hysteria he induced. He knows he could walk onstage and floss his teeth to the same wild response.

As for the music, it was disposable. I forgot all of the originals as soon as the next one began, and a cliche cover of "Rockin' In the Free World" was awkward and unforgivably lightweight, especially after Pearl Jam's definitive live versions. Why anyone besides Neil Young would play it again is perplexing.

The show concluded with an extended Reevenand drums jam with some crew member rapping on about Detroit far too long.

In the end, everyone got exactly what they came for, No one was expecting to be blown away by the band, no one was looking for the next big thing: they all wanted to see a movie star, and they did. Reeves didn't embarrass himself, but his low-key charm proved more than enough to send the crowd home happy.

Me, I preferred Reeves' old band: Wyld Stal-

Suicide Machine protects audience

By Christina Fuoco

As a young "punk rock kid," Jason Navarro was harassed by bouncers for getting into the music that he enjoys. Now that the 22-year-old Redford resident is fronting the punk/ska band The Suicide Machines, he and his bandmates are dedicated to protect their audlences.

"I think Jay is doing for the kids what he wanted to be doing when he was a kid. When I see him chasing bouncers around that are roughing kids up (it reminds me of what) they did that to him when he was kid -and me too - and nobody ever did anything," said guitarist Dan Luka-cinsky of Redford.

"We stand up for the kids who see our shows. We always end up having problems with security because we want people to be free to do what they

Meanwhile the multi-pierced Navarro gets to live out his childhood fantasy.

"I think I like this band the most because the way I envisioned things when I was a little punk rock kid. I used to like to grab the mike and scream at all the kids like the old punk bands," Navarro said.

Even though The Suicide Machines subscribe to the punk rock doit-yourself lifestyle, the band is torn about the recent airplay of the skaflavored single "New Girl." The single is from the album "Skank for Brains!" (Dill) a 22-song CD that the band split with the Rudiments.

"I like the radio and I'm glad they played it on the radio," Lukacinsky said. "I'm not dissing alternative radio or anything like that but a lot of the stuff they play on there is boring bland indie pop like British stuff, Lukacinsky said.

"That's all they play - just crap. It's like they should play some stuff with a little get up and go to it. That's why I'm glad they re playing our stull on there. It's got some energy. I don't want to be depressed when I listen to the radio but that's what I get from alternative radio."

Navarro has a more punk-rock view of their new-found popularity.

"It's weird for me. I'm not into that sort of thing. . . . I hate radio. I hate it.... All my friends don't listen to the radio. Maybe I'm sheltered, I don't watch TV or listen to the ra-

Formed in October 1992, the band - which also features bassist Royce Nunley of Redford and drummer Derek Grant of Westland - originally called itself Jack Kevorkian and The Suicide Machines. Within the last year, they shortened their name due to convenience and obvious other problems.

We were just avoiding any problems in the future. Besides I always thought that the name was too long anyway. I hated saying the name. I talked to (Jeffrey) Peiger's secretary and he said, 'If they know what's good

Deadly addictive: The Suicide Machines - clockwise from top, drummer Derek Grant of Westland, bassist Royce Nunley of Redford, guitarist Dan Lukacinsky of Redford, and singer Jason Navarro of Redford - have created a buzz around town with its hook-laden single "New Girl" off the disc "Skank for Brains!"

The name was so long that it didn't fit in advertisements or marquees so clubs would shorten the band's name: which caused a few misunderstand-

"One time we played Ypsi and they put 'Jack Kevorkian' on the flier and two kids came in asking where's Jack Kevorkian. It just got ridiculous."

Many would argue that ska music - a speeded up form of reggae - has seen its time. Judging from the response they've received at shows, from "New Girl," and the recent popularity of bands like Rancid, Sub-for them they better change the lime, and Lollapalooza participants Speedball, Hoarse, Trash Brats, Big the Mighty Mighty Bosstones, all of Block, The Goldentones, Caelum whom incoporate ska into their music, the Suicide Machines feel that ska could meet its second coming.

> "I think it already had its chance, with Specials and Madness and that kind of stuff from the early 80s and late 70s, (But) I think with the new breed of what's coming out in ska there's a lot of punk being mixed with it and I think that definitely could get played on the radio in the future,' Lukacinsky said.

The Suicide Machines perform during the "Clutch Cargo's Birthday Party" at 2 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 13, with

Stages can't hold The Bucket anymore

By CHRISTINA FUOCO STAFF WRITER

Live shows have proven to be a problem for the Ann Arbor-based funk hand The Bucket. Not only has their crowd outgrown smaller clubs, the 12-piece group has outgrown most

"Oh that's always a factor," said keyboardist/vocalist Lance Loiselle of Plymouth. "We just cram. When we play at Mackinac Island at the French Outpost, the stage is about 4feet deep and 10-feet long. We fit 10 people on there last time. Now we have to fit an extra guitar on the stage. I don't know how we're going to do that."

On Saturday, The Bucket shouldn't have a problem. The group will play the Blind Pig in Ann Arbor in celebration of the release of its debut tape. Even though the band is happy with the tape, Loiselle said The Bucket's strong suit is its live

"Most of our gigs are just a big partý. Everybady always leaves in a goad mood. . . What this band is all about is playing live. There's not that many live hands out there. The tape sounds great and it's a good representation of how we wound, but it's not even close to what we do live."

Like most of The Bucket's live shows, the Blind Pig gig will be a musical marathon compared to most hand's 1% house sets.

'We don't really have opening hands. We like playing three or four hours at a time, three one hour sets." If we put all our originals and all our YAVOTR LIN have 40 songs."

The Bucket formed in March 1994 as a jam assaion that quickly evolved into a firm group. Besides Loiselle,

Nostalgic radio show enjoyable

SRO Productions present WSRO on the Air III" 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays, Aug. 11-12, 18-19 (and 2 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 19); 2 p.m. Sundays Aug. 13 and 20. Tickets $7; seniors and children $6. Call (810) 354-9362.

Three years ago SRO hit upon a successful, if unusual, theatrical format - a simulated radio show. Executive producer Bill Mandt notes that "we wanted to include something in our season of plays that would have special appeal to our many senior theatregoers, since besides the city of Southfield we are sponsored by the Senior Arts League."

Community theatre veteran Marge King directed the first radio show and is at the helm again for SRO's "WSRO On the Air III". It's another enjoyable and nostalgic trip down memory lane for anyone who remembers the golden age of radio in the thirties and forties. This installiment features excerpts of actual scripts from Lights Out, The Green Hornet, Our Miss Brooks, The Bickersons, and a rollicking rendition of Beetlebaum by the daffy Spike Jones band.

There are actual commercials from that time. And SRO members review the historical record and write news, sports, and Hollywood gossip. The WSRO Singers chime in with variety of songs that were popular fifty years ago. In short, it's just like being in a radio studio, watching the sound effects people and performers create illusions for the mind's eye.

The large cast generally does a fine job with their material. Some of the better performers include Dennis Broadhead who creates a variety of terrific characters and voices. First as the linguistically challenged Professor Beetlebaum. Then he literally and figuratively wears two hats in the Our Miss Brooks sketch as Walter Denton and Mr. LaBlanch.

Margaret Gilkes is excellent as Miss Brooks. The phrasing, wit and sarcasm in her voice are near mimics of the original star, Eve

Wyn and Harold Landis are engaging as that perpetually argumentive couple The Bickersons. Wyn seems right at home behind the mike. And no wonder. She performed on radio station CKLW in Montreal when she was only 4 years old.

Another with real radio experience is Ina Sky. She sang at the age of three in Pittsburgh in the 1930s and has performed on radio and television around the country. Her gossipy character, Holly Hollywood, is right on the money as is her Kato in the Green Hor-

The WSRO Singers, featuring Carl Reves on the organ, are in fine form with favorites such as It Don't Mean a Thing, You Made Me Love You, and I Only Have Eyes For You. Deborah Laura Rhodes' solo number, The Man I. Love, is especially good.

The audience seemed to get a bang out of watching and hearing the interesting sound effects. They also liked the 1940s prices for refreshments — two bits for coffee and cookies.

Keanu Reeves takes 'A Walk in the Clouds'

"A Walk in the Clouds," a romantic adventure starring Keanu Reeves, opens Friday, August 11 at metro Detroit theaters.

After returning home from the war, a young GI has a chance encounter with the beautiful daughter of a vineyard owner and agrees to pose as her husband to help her face her domineering father. They unexpectedly find themselves embarking on a romantic adventure as they overcome all odds to be together.

Alfonso Arau, the director of "Like Water for Chocolate," directs from a screenplay by Robert Mark Kamen and Mark Miller and Harvey Weitzman, the team responsible for "Ghost," the "Naked Gun" series and "Airplane!".

Not suprisingly, Arau had his pick of projects following the success of "Like Water for Chocolate."

"The most important things in this film are love and family,"

Arau explains. "I was so intrigued by the attachment the characters feel to the earth and the story's depiction of unbending traditional values.

'A Walk in the Clouds' offered Keanu Reeves, who stars as Paul Sutton, an idealist who unexpectedly finds love and family when he returns from war, an opportunity to try something very different from his two previous roles in "Speed" and the cyberpunk thriller "Johnny Mnemonic." It is the actor's first romantic role.

"A Walk in the Clouds" reunites Giannini with Quinn, who starred with him more than 20 years ago in "The Secret of Santa Vittoria.

"A Walk in the Clouds," is a Twentieth Century Fox presentation and is rated PG-13.

This is the world of virtual reality, where a futuristic cop tracks his video generated nemesis. Sid 6.7. It's also one of the few interesting moments in "Virtuosity," which challenges that other computer-generated turkey "Johnny Mnemonic' as worst action movie of the summer.

Too bad, because it has a lot going for it: an intriguing hightech concept, likable leads in Denzel Washington and Russell Crowe, and a built-in audience of computer geeks and action movie fans who deserve much better.

In his world of the wall-sized video screen, a sharply dressed Sid performs magic tricks and wise cracks while an everchanging background floats by. He wants access to the real world, where he can experience the rush of killing has the face of both a merry

He patrols the in three dimensions.

Supposedly Sid has 183 programmed personalities, including serial killers from Adolph Hitler to John Wayne Gacy. He smears a bloody "Death to the Pige" on the walls after his first murder, a la Charles Manson.

Little is done with this idea afterward, since Sid concentrates on the killer who offed Washington's family and sent the former cop on a rampage that landed him in prison. The rest is a cat-andmouse game where Washington can gain his freedom by bringing Sid down.

Washington, who proved his action mettle in "Crimson Tide," is better than this trash and he knows it. The soft-spoken actorlooks ridiculous in Rasta locks and beard and he has to be downright embarrassed battling a white supremacist in prison - a tacked-on action scene if I ever saw one.

Speaking of extraneous, Washington's saddled with a sidekick, a criminal psychologist played unconvincingly by Kelly Lynch. The minute you meet the woman and her daughter, you know they're going to end up in big trouble.

The few clever bits in "Virtuosity" belong to Crowe's Sid, who pranketer and a lunatic. Again the filmmakers don't know what to do with him. His rampages, orchestrating a bizarre scream feetival at a nightclub and hijacking a television station, have panache but they're ugly even by serial killer standards.

Certainly blame writer Eric Bernt, but also blame director Brett Leonard, who did only slightly better with "The Lawnmower Man" a few years back. There are car chases and shooting matches aplenty, but nothing that approaches the spectacle we've come to expect after a summer of 'Die Hard," "Batman" and even 'Waterworld."

"Virtuosity" ultimately fails in its own prime directive - really the same one that all movies have. The fun of virtual reality is how well it whisks you outside the real world. For 100 minutes of "Virtuosity," we're never anywhere but grounded in a truly bad-

Tour the Ford estates

By DIANK HANSON Brecial Waiter

After the crafts, the awimming pool, movies, hanging out at the mail, and amusement parks with endless lines, what can you do, where can you go?

The Ford estates are an option. Henry and Clara Ford's home, Fair Lane, now designated as a National Historic Landmark in Dearborn, is nestled on the banks of the Rouge River just two miles from his birthplace. There are tours of the property five times each day that start out in the powerhouse with a 13 minute historical video.

Ford's good friend. Thomas Edison, helped design the six-level powerhouse that provided the residence with electricity, heat, refrigeration and a central vacuum system — very innovative for 1915. The giant turbines, turned by the Rouge, also provided electricity to the Village of Dearborn in the early 1900s.

A tour through the old English castle-styled 56-room home gives a sense of who Henry Ford was, his likes and his dislikes. It's fun to imagine him entertaining friends like Edison, Harvey Firestone and John Burroughs or serving dinner for such notables as the Duke of Windsor, Charles Lindbergh and President Hoover.

Marjane Baker of Livonia, is a fourth grade teacher at Tonda Elementary School in Canton and took her class on a tour of the estate this spring. She recommends children learn a little about Henry Ford before going on the tour.

"Before they go, generally I have them read a biography of Henry Ford," said Baker. "Then I think it just makes them live the story. To me, having them see where someone lived and what their home was like gives them a much more in depth feeling about how this person lived and how this person thought."

Baker felt children from second grade on "would get a lot out of it. Actually, I think anybody would enjoy it," she said.

The Ford Discovery Trail was a particular favorite of my 7, 8 and 10-year-old. It was developed by Donn Werling, director of the Henry Ford Estate and a member of the faculty at University of Michigan, Dearborn. The 45 minute self-guided tour winds around the estate through the scenic beauty created by Henry Ford and noted landscape architect, Jens Jensen, from turn-of-the-century farm land. Explorers can walk along the Rouge River and discover the wizards of Pair Lane as they climb in the re-created tree house, stand by a 400-year-old bur oak tree and peer up into the bat house.

Bird lovers will find a real treat while on the Discovery Trail. According to Werling, "Some days you can see over a hundred species of birds. There are probably more birds here because Mr. Ford specifically enjoyed birds and he wanted the landscape architect to design for birds."

Kids will love seeing the scaled-down farm house that Ford had built for the 1924 Michigan State Fair that was later used as a play house by the Ford's grandchildren and their friends.

Henry and Clara Ford's only child, son Edsel, and his wife, Eleanor moved into their sixty-room Cotswold style English manor house overlooking Lake St. Clair in Grosse Pointe Shores in 1926 when their children, Henry II, Benson, Josephine and William were aged 12 to four.

A tour through the elegant estate, designed by Albert Kahn, and reveals the Ford's love of art. Hanny of the original pieces were given to the Detroit Institute of Arts by Mrs. Ford and were replaced by photographic reproductions. However, there are still Formany originals that grace the walls from such artists as Cezanne, Matisse and Diego free Rivera. The 2,000-year-old wine six.

jar from China intrigues adults and children, alike

My children particularly enjoyed seeing the Art Deco style used in the boy's room and delighted in the fact that even they shared a bedroom. Other favorites were the powerhouse and tunnel in the basement. And, of course, the three-quarter scale house on the property that was a gift to Josephine from Grandma Clara. The house comes complete with workable water faucets, tiny light switches, child-sized furniture and even a pint-sized piano.

Both houses could be toured in a day but, with children, two separate days would definitely be advised. There should be enough to see, do and think about at the Ford homes to stave off boredom for at least a day or two.

Italian fare served with smiles

BY SANDRA DALKA-PRYSBY

The would guess when you walk into the Macaroni Grill that it's a chain restaurant. Although large, it has the quaint charm of that "little place down the street where everybody knows you!"

But don't let the colorful decor, in green, red and white - the colors of the Italian flag, and the friendly service fool you. Macaroni Grill is part of Brinker International, Inc. (they're the folks that own the popular Chilis restaurants) and there are 50 Macaroni Grills nationwide. Michigan now boasts two, one in-Livonia and one in Farmington Hills, and there may be more.

Both Michigan establishments - like elsewhere - are identi-

"The difference," according to Darin Bybee, general manager of the Livonia catery, "is in the staff. The staff, and we have a great one, sets the mood and personality of the restaurant."

Many of the wait staff at Macaroni Grill have a musical background.

"In addition to providing the customers with fine service, our waiters and waitresses also entertain our guests at their tables, It's not unusual to hear an accordion or someone singing an opera during the dinner hour," Bybee said.

Since Livonia's Macaroni Grill opened in February, 1994 (Farmington Hills' establishment opened in 1993), it has drawn a large following due to the casual atmosphere and the good food.

The atmosphere can be described as "Italian country kitchen" with tables covered in butcher paper (there are crayons on the tables so kids and adults can decorate the coverings) and a gallon jug of wine is plopped in the center of each table. Guests are to help themselves to the wine and then report at bill time the number of glasses they drank.

There are lots and lots of fresh flowers at stations located throughout the vast dining area, and red, green and white pasta and butcher cases containing meats and seafoods decorate the entranco.

While the dining area is vast, it's also cozy — almost too cozy. Tables are shoved so close to each other that it borders on uncomfortable, This arrangement is to accommodate the crowds of diners who are forever lining up for a chance to taste the fine Italian cuising. (Even with the multitude of tables, guests usually have to wait up to 30 minutes to be seated on weekends).

Macaroni Grill offers a large menu of selections including antipastos (appetizers), insalatas (salads), pizzas, pastas and dishes made of pesce (fish), pollame (chicken), and vitello, manzo (veal and pork). There's a children's monu and there are a number of dishes to satisfy a vegetarian palate.

The restaurant provides diners with two basic menus a year - a winter and a summer menu. In addition, there are a number of chef's daily features.

The winter monu features more hearty fare, such as roasted meats, pork, fowl, and stews. The pasta and fish dishes are spicier.

The summer menu has a lighter taste and contains more chicken and fish items. Also, there are lots of fresh vegetables in the dishes. The pasta dishes have lighter sauces with more herbs, vegetables and fresh tomatoes.

While all Macaroni Grills everywhere have basically the same menu, dishes can be altered to accommodate special dictary needs.

"We make alterations and substitutions at no charge. We want everyone to have an enjoyable dining experience with us," said Bybee.

And enjoyable it was for our group of eight. We ordered a variety of dishes including the Mozzarella alla Caprese (imported buffalo mozzarella, tomato, olive oil, oregano and basil), Pizza Margherita (fresh tomatoes, mozzarella and basil). Saltimbocca di Vitello (veal with prosciutto and spinach with pasta) and the chef's special Halmon feature.

We all were pleased with our choices. Other favorites at our table was the house Caesar salad, which comes a la carte for 95 cents, and the focaccia (peasant bread with rosemary that is dipped in extra virgin olive oil and ground pepper), which is provided with the meal.

Aristeo shaves times for trials

Several area swimmers, led by 15-year-old Anne Aristo, met U.S. Olympic Trials qualifying standards at the Phillips 66 Senior National Swimming Championships held last week in Pasadena, Calif.

BY BRAD EMONS

Several awimmers from Observerland made a run for the roses last week in the Phillips 66 Senior Nationals held in Pasadena, Calif., but the youngest competitor is just beginning to bloom.

Anne Aristeo, a 15year old who will be a junior this fall at Livonia Stevenson High School, reached the finals of the 200-meter butterfly where she finished seventh.

She was just touched out for sixth by 1992

Olympic gold medalist Summer

Aristeo's time of 2:14.48 at the Rose Bowl Aquatic Center was well within the U.S. Olympic Trials cut of 2:16.89. She has now qualified in the 400 Individual medley, 400 freestyle and 200 backstroke. (Aristeo also took a 37th in the 800 freestyle.)

The trials will be March 6-12, 1996 in Indianapolis, Ind.

"I was very happy, and it was probably my biggest leap forward," said Aristeo, who also took an 11th in the 400 IM (4:53.34) and 16th in the 400 freestyle (4:18.63). "It was my best meet by far. I've really been training hard. I was just ready. And my coach (Dave Seagraves of Livonia-Novi Spartan Aquatic) was a definitely a motivating factor."

Ironically, the area's oldest competitor at the Nationals, 26-year-old Sheila Taormina, refuses to wilt.

The ex-University of Georgia standout, earned a trials cut time of 4:18.31 in the 400-meter freestyle, placing ahead of Aristeo in the same heat and finishing ahead of her younger counterpart by a couple of places overall.

"She (Taormina) is really nice to me and we get along well," Aristeo said. "We kid each other a lot."

Taormina, who swims for the Clarenceville Swim Club, will compete in the World University Games later this month in Japan after posting a time of 2:02.89 in the 200 freestyle.

Yet another Stevenson grad, 20year-old Scott DeWolf of Texas A&M, set a personal best in the 200 butterfly with a time of 2:02.5, good enough for 13th overall and a trials cut. DeWolf, a political science and Spanish major who plans to enter law school next May after graduating from A&M, is contemplating returnating home this fall to train under Seagraves in preparation for the tri-

He believes he can go faster and has a chance to crack the top eight places.

"Once you reach that, anyone has a chance," said DeWolf, who has returned temporarily to College Station. "I'm the only one from my team that has made it (the trials), but I need to train harder with a lot more variety in my workouts.

"The NCAAs are right after the trials, but there's the (Southwest) Conference meet, too. And right now that just isn't that important at this stage.

"I'm a team player, but I have to have a meeting with my coach (Mel place singles money with a 6-2, 6-3 triumph over Boling in the U.S. Tennis Association-sanctioned tourney on Sunday.

The singles final, however, took a back seat to an earlier match.

Boling, a 42-year-old who moonlights as a teaching pro, spending his summers in White Lake and winters in Arizona, won a grueling 414-hour semifinal against Herb Sistrunk of Naperville, Ill., the 1993 champ (formerly of Southfield).

The match, which ended up 6-7, 6-7-6 in favor of Boling, started at 9:15 a.m. and didn't end until 1:45 p.m. under the humid conditions.

"I played my semifinal at 9 a.m., took a two-hour break and then played my doubles semifinal . . . and they were still playing," said Rose, who disposed of Ohioan Eric Matthews in the other semifinal, 6-2, 6.4. "I kept watching their match on the other court because I wanted to know who was playing. I told myself 'I got to know,' and at times I wasn't concentrating on my doubles match.

Boling, a native of Bowling Green, Ky, who played at Murray State University, somehow managed to pull out the third-set tiebreaker against Sistrunk, 7-4.

"I think we both agreed that this could have gone either way," Boling said. "It boiled down to breaks, but I was happy with the fact that the tennis was really good. It was high standard for five hours and we both felt good about that.

"But we both decided we were tired. I thought about having somebody hang me from one of the lower

"but you can only do so much." In the final against Rose, Boling, trying to conserve energy, appeared to be taking more than the allowed 90 seconds between changeovers.

In the second set, Rose confronted Boling about stalling and asked tournament referee Jack Kingsbury to enforce the rules.

"It was nothing personal," Rose said. "I have the utmost respect and I admire him because he always plays for more than four quarters.

"I definitely raised my game a level. I dug in and he (Boling) made some uncharacteristic errors. I came up with some of my best shots and got the games when I needed it.

"I'm tickled pink considering the downtime, and all the waiting.'

Last month, Sistrunk and Boling split sets in the semifinals before rain halted the Metropolitan Detroit Clay Courts tournament.

The three, including Rose, split the first place prize money and had a coin flip for the trophies.

Nash) in a couple of weeks to work things out."

Also headed to the trials is Plymouth Salem product and former MSU swimmer Ron Orris. He has qualified in the 100 butterfly and 200 IM, but did not place in the top 16 at the Senior Nationals.

He is currently training with the Texas Aquatics in Austin under Eddie Reese, the U.S. men's assistant swim coach. Orris also swam for Spartan Aquatic under Seagraves.

Others area swimmers who attended the Senior Nationals. but failed to place in the top 16 or make a trials cut was Matt Martin (Westland John Glenn/ Stanford), 200 IM, 100 and 200 backstrokes; Mandi Falk (Stevenson/Wisconsin), 200 butterfly and 400 IM; and Ellen Lessig (Livonia Churchill) Oakland University), 50 free-

Aristeo's performance, however, may just be the beginning of big things to come.

"She's a tough little girl," said DeWolf, who trains at the same Botsford Pool during the summer. "She's a hard worker and has got the mental aspect down. She has no fear of anybody, and she can hang with the best."

Aristeo, who turns 16 next month, is now a veteran of three Senior National meets.

And despite her first trip to California and awimming against likes of gold medalists like Sanders, she remains focused.

"My first Senior National was hard to get used to," she said. "It was a scene, and all these fast people I had read and heard about. But it doesn't bother me anymore. I'm not in awe anymore.'

Two weeks ago, Aristeo competed at the Olympic Festival in the thin air of in Colorado Springs, Colo.

She was a member of the first-place 400 and 800 freestyle relay teams. She also took a second in the 200 butterfly and pair of fourths (400 and 800 freestyles).

"I did what I expected," she said. "In the altitude I didn't know what to expect. I just went out to have fun, while a let of people came in tapered and shaved because it was their big meet.

"But I was getting ready for Nationals."

"It's just not certain days, he (Seagraves) always has the stopwatch out," Aristeo said. "You can't dog it, it's not al-

Concealed comeback yields spot in series

The Concealed Security Systems Connie Mack baseball team might not be playing this late in August were it not for some careful consideration by June.

Concealed owner Lou Pirronello pays the bills and shares coaching duties with Rick Berryman, but statistician June Berryman does more than just keep

She convinced the coaching staff to use a draft pick after the American Amateur Baseball Congress district to select Kris Gundrum, a first baseman who was a member of the Kalamazoo Maroons.

What a pick it turned out to be. Gundrum batted .571 (16 hits in 28 at-bats) with 10 RBI as Concealed railied out of the loser's bracket to win the regional played at Bailey Park in Battle Creek.

The championship sends Concealed to the AABC World Series in Farmington, N.M. Concealed, 38-7 overall, will meet the Southeast regional champion East Cobb Yankees of Marietta, Ga. in a first-round game at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Shortstop Mike Cervenak batted .517 with a team-high 11 RBI and Billy Morris (Redford Union) with a .400 average (6-15).

Gundrum, a Western Michigan University signee from Mattawan, was one of several players, including four others off his own team, Concealed was thinking of draft-

Jake Lawson from North Farmington West Bloomfield (Farmington Hills Harrison) and Chris Wasen (Rochester Adams) from Concealed Security II are the other Concealed draft picks. The pickups come in handy with Greg Ryan (Garden City/Dearborn Divine Child), a first baseman, pitcher and outfielder, unavailable after making the United States Junior Olympic Team.

"We had a meeting last week trying to figure out who we were going to pick up and on the way home in the car, June kept insisting we take Gundrum," said (Redford Union coach) Rick Berryman, June's husband. "I said, 'Don't yell at me, call Lou.' What did she do? She called Lou at 2 a.m. and that clinched it."

Concealed's most consistent pitcher throughout the season, Terry Bigham, was named Most Valuable Player after winning three games and saving one. He was the pitcher of record in Monday's come-from-behind 9-5 victoprovided a spark in key situations ry over Mount Clemens in the championship game.

Pirronello called Bigham the "gutsiest pitcher on the team.

Here's some kid throwing 81 at best, but he's got a great straight. change and breaking ball." June Berryman gave Bigham the nickname "Iron Man." The players listened, of course.

After allowing only one walk, 12 hits and three earned runs in 15% innings, they're all calling him that now.

"One person made a comment, 'Hey, what's a woman doing in the dugout?' But she's a very intelligent baseball person, "said Pirronello, "She has respect of the players, and has got a ticket to New Mexico."

Bigham allowed no runs on three hits, one walk and nine strikeouts in pitching the final 61/4 innings of the championship game. Concealed trailed 5-1 when Bigham entered the game, but sent the game into extra innings with three runs in the fifth inning and one in the sixth.

Cervenak was 3-for-5 with one RBI and Gundrum 2-4 with two RBI in the championship.

Concealed clinched the championship with four runs in the top of the ninth. Matt Mlynarek (Warren DeLaSalle) led off with a single and was sacrificed to second with a bunt by Gundrum.

Cervenak singled home Mlynarek with the eventual winning run. After consecutive walks to Aaron Shrewsbury (Divine Child) and Deandre Cooper (Allen Park Cabrini), Wasen singled Lawson, who overcame nine home two runs. Tom Hartley's ground out scored the final run.

Concealed had to win two games on Saturday and two on Sunday just to make it to the championship.

It dug itself an early hole after being upset 6-3 Wednesday, the first day of the regional. Concealed won its first-round game that day 12-10 over TSI after Bigham came on and threw 3% innings in relief of Ryan Kelley (Divine Child).

"All (losing to DCI) did was wake them up," Pirronello said.

On Saturday, Consealed mercied the Youngstown Astros, 13-0, behind the one-hit pitching of walks.

J.J. Putz showed why he was a third-round draft pick of the Chicago White Sox, throwing a threehitter with 14 strikeouts in a 9-2 win over Joliet, Ill. in the second. game Saturday. Shrewsbury was 3.4, including two home runs, with three RBI. Cervenak was 3.4 with two RBI and Hartley 2-3 with two RBI.

On Sunday, Concealed defeated Mount Pleasant, 9-3, as Cooper hit a homer and two RBI. Bigham relieved Jeff Mull, who complained of a blister on his finger after falling behind 3-0 in the first inning. Bigham allowed one hit, no runs, one walk and struck out six in 4,8 innings. Gundrum was 2-3 with three RBI and Chris

Deshetler had two hits and two

Concealed earned a berth in the championship game after defeating the Clevelanders, 9-4. Mitch Jabczenski was the winning pitcher, getting support from Gundrum, Mlynarek and Billy Morris, each of whom had three hits. With Concealed holding on to a 5-3 lead in the sixth, Bigham surrendered one single before ending a bases-loaded threat with a strikeout.

Gundrum had three RBI; Mlynarek had two RBI and Morris one. Concealed scored three runs in the seventh to go ahead 7-

Cooper, who hit a homer, Wasen and Hartley each had two

Decision ousted in AABC region

Decision Consultants Inc. baseball coach Norm Brusseau couldn't blame his players if they sleepwalked through their likely tournament run and final game Sunday morning at the American Amateur Baseball Congress Connie Mack rewional at Battle Creek's Bailey Park.

DCI lost for the first time in four regional games, 19-5, to the Clevelanders before the final out was made about 2 a.m. Sunday, Brad Lear (Plymouth) Salem) went 3 for 4 and Mike Burgess (Dearborn Edsel Ford) had two hits in a game that didn't start until 10 p.m. Saturday because of earlier rain delays.

The loss left DCI as one of five teams remaining in the tournament with one defeat each. But before anyone could go to bed, teams had to draw names out of a hat to see who received a bye and who played in the first game the next ly maturity wise," said Brusmorning.

As bad luck would have it, DCI drew the first game against Mount Clemens, which started at 10 a.m., leaving Brusseau's players with about it'll be your last at-bat." aix hours rest at best.

Mount Clemens scored three runs on four hits in the first ineliminated DCI, 7-3.

Stankewicz complained of a sore arm and was removed alter the first inning. Chris De-Mar and Jesse Wozniak (Garden City) pitched in relief and the second base combination of thing to have them play at the Mike Brusseau (Redford CC) same time," Brusseau said. and shortstop Greg Rogers "It's been a pleasure. They're (Redford CC) supplied strong almost identical. I've had umdefense, but the DCI bats nev- pires ask me if Joe was too old

The loss ended DCI's un Yeah, that's Mike.

SANDLOT

DCI began the tournament with a pair of wins on Wednesday, including a 6-3 upset over eventual champion Concealed Security.

DCI had two days rest and stayed in the winner's bracket after a 10-9 win Saturday afternoon victory over Mount Pleasant.

DCI broke a 9-9 tie in the seventh inning. Burgess doubled, went to third on a groundout by Mark Lantzy (Lake Orion), and scored on a suicide squeeze bunt by Lear.

Lear had a roller-coaster relationship with Brusseau, but finished with high regard from the coach.

"He improved a lot, especialseau, who doesn't give anyone star treatment. "If you're the best hitter in the world and I want you to lay one down, you better, because if you don't,

This season is likely the last Brusseau will coach his son Mike, who will leave in a couning off Justin Stankewicz ple weeks for Michigan State (Redford Catholic Central) and University, where he is on a hockey scholarship.

The coach's only regret is not being able to coach both Mike and his older son, Joe, now 23, on the same team.

gave the team a 23.14 overall record.

Barons finish 2-2 in Mack tourney

The South Parmington Barons finished with two wins and two losses Saturday in the AABC Connie Mack (ages 16-18) baseball regional tournament in Battle Creek.

The Barons won their third. game, 7.5 over Saginaw Wright-K, but were eliminated after a 4-2 loss to the Mount Clemens Baseball Club.

South Parmington rallied from a two-run deficit in the seventh inning to defeat

Wright-K. Todd Miller's bases-loaded, two-run single was the winning hit. Nick James had an RBI groundout and Jamey Palazeti an RBI single. Bill Dillingham and Dave Hensel sandwiched Palazeti's hit with walks to set the table for Miller. The Barons had 10 hits, including two spiece by Chris Karney (RBI), McLaughlin and Daguanno. Ryan Tripp pitched the last four innings to get the win in relief of Ken Stringer. Tripp allowed five hits and four walks but only two runs.

Tripp started the second game, which was scoreless before a 11/2 hour rain delay, but gave up three runs on two triples, a single and a walk when play resumed.

He pitched five innings, surrendering four runs on five hits and six walks.

Angelo Palazeti doubled and scored on McLaughlin's sacrifice fly, and James smashed a 340-foot homer for the second

The Barons loaded the bases with two out in the seventh but failed to score any more runs.

James went 3-for-4; Ron Blackmore and McLaughlin had two hits each.

"I think we were as good as anybody up there." Barons coach Dick Miller said, "and we were probably the youngest team with 13 of 18 players being 17-year-olds.

"It was obvious most of these teams had been to the regional before. We were the new kid on the block, competing with the big boys. The bottom line is we have great experience and will be better for it next

James was 6-for-13 at the plate with three doubles, one homer and eight RBI in the regional. McLaughlin went 7-for-14 and Daguanno 5-for-14.

Ryan Express: Area player in Junior Olympics

BY STEVE KOWALSKI STAIP WRITER

When Greg Ryan is mentioned in baseball circles, his versatility is usually a hot topic.

Ryan can pitch, play first base and outfield. He also played catcher for an inning this summer with the Concealed Security Systems Connie Mack team, even though it's not the conventional thing for a left hander to do.

But something should be said about the way he adapts to conditions off the field.

Ryan grew up in a modest ranch house in Garden City and is the youngest of nine children. "We had bunk beds in every bedroom," he said.

Ryan is currently leading a charmed life as a member of the United States Junior Olympic baseball team, but the sleeping accommodations are just like old

The 1395 Dearborn Divine Child graduate and 51st round draft pick of the Detroit Tigers played a pair of exhibition games over the weekend at Sky Dome, the home of the Toronto Blue

He didn't get to stay in Sky Dome's plush hotel rooms overlooking the outfield.

Players stayed three to a room at the Neill Wycik College Hotel in Toronto. There is no air conditioning, one bathroom for every five rooms and telephone calls could only be made from the lobby, which is where he was when he did this interview.

Dorm life at Eastern Michigan University ought to be a breeze for Ryan.

"These rooms are about 7 feet by 7 feet, just a little box," said Ryan, who made the team after a strong performance on the North Team at last month's Olympic Sports Festival in Colorado Springs, Colo. "I was itching to get out of Colorado, I was there so long. But now I think that's a palace compared to here. We were all joking that we'd pitch in and pay for a good hotel room."

Ryan's also an accomplished hockey player, but he didn't think he'd have time to visit the Hockey Hall of Fame in Toronto.

Much of his free time has been spent on the phone. He talks daily with his family and twice a day with his girlfriend, Michelle Popost. Thank God for mom's calling card.

"Mom doesn't know we talk twice a day, I kind of whisper it to her and get off the phone," said-Ryan, who hasn't been home since July 16.

After another exhibition in Ottawa on Tuesday, the U.S. team will head to Cape Cod, Mass., for the World Tournament. Teams will play seven round-robin games and the top four will play in the medal round Aug. 19-20 at Boston's legendary Fenway Park.

The U.S. team has medaled in all of the previous 15 World Tournaments, according to public relations director Jack Duggan.

"(Being on the Junior Olympic team) didn't hit me until the morning after the team was announced?" Ryan said. "I went to practice and started looking around at all the players and I realized they're probably doing the same thing. I'm always the underdog. I don't want to go in like. 'I'm the man.' We all met a week and a half ago and it seems like we're one big family. We're ready to go

To think, Ryan almost didn't get a chance to show his talents at the Olympic Sports Festival.

About a week before he was scheduled to report, Ryan separated ligaments in his lest foot while walking.

"The next morning I couldn't walk and had to get some old crutches out of the garage," Ryan

Ryan had a cast put on his foot and worked out the next week at the University of Michigan's MedSport. After a few days of rehabilitation and removal of the cast, Ryan wasn't limping anymore, but said his foot was only at about 75 percent strength for the start of the Olympic Festival.

The first four days of practice were difficult, he said, because a series of 60-yard sprints were part of the routine. He persevered, however, and was one of the members.

North's top hitters, batting .384 (four for 11, including two doubles) with three RBI, three runs scored and two walks.

In one of the games Ryan went three for five, and his only two outs landed in an opponent's glove nearly 400 feet from home plate. The North team finished 1. 3, losing in the bronze medal gaine to the East. Anyone who watched Ryan at Divine Child, where he set a school record with 123 career hits and 41 stolen bases as a senior, wasn't aurprised. He also threw three straight no hitters as a sen-

"Greg has great hand-eye coordination, hits the ball where it's pitched and uses all fields," U.S. Junior Olympic coach Steve Cohen said. "The first thing that impressed us is the way he plays the game, the respect he has for baseball. We're not only looking for talent, but how well the player will represent his country.'

Ryan didn't expect to see any family members at the Olympic Sports Festival, but his mother, Shirley, and brothers Gary and Jim were able to get a low-cost flight out of Chicago and planned on surprising him with their attendance.

His sister, Debbie, ruined the surprise. "I called my sister and she said, 'Guess who's on the plane?' Greg said. "I was just so happy to see them. They walked into the stadium right as my name was being announced."

The athletes stayed at the Air Porce Academy and had certain restrictions, such as eating on the base and a curfew. Athletes were allowed to leave for a couple hours a night, however, with family

During one of Ryan's off days, he and his brothers went whitewater rafting. It probably would have been wise to bring some of the team's batting helmets. "All of us were thrown out of the boat, Greg ended up 100 yards ahead of us," Gary said.

Close-knit family

Ryan has a special bond with Gary, 35, who has been his coach since little league and a father flgure since their dad died of cancer six years ago:

Gary coached Greg at St. Raphael and also on the Garden City Youth Athletic Association travel team that made the Pony League World Series in Iowa. "Greg's always been a leader, one to say the glass is half full, not half empty," Gary said. 'When things are going good asses eryone can be a superstar, a good kid, but he always has been able to pick everybody else up."

The boys and girl in the Ryani family used to play whiffle ball in the front yard and baseball games a couple blocks away at Farmington Elementary School.

"All of us took to him. We're a pretty close family," Gary saids 'He got a ton of attention.'

Greg can now return the favor to his nieces and nephews - all the new clothes he received from the Junior Olympic committee are way too much for one person to have. He also received new spikes. a batting glove and a first base. man's glove.

He's working on getting an out. fielder's glove.

"I sent home my clothes, a huge bag full, when I made the Junior Olympic team," Ryan said, all have T-shirts galore, new spikes, tennis shoes, golf shirts, hats, It was like Christmas in July," ,,,,,;;

The Marauders captured the Tournament of Champions sheld at Louisville, Ky., during the weekend in a seven-state Midwest competition.

"We're the Midwest champion of champions," Coach Dan O'Shea said proudly. "It's the first time we've ever gotten out of our bracket in the event. To win it was quite a feat for us."

The Marauders were pooled , with host Kentucky, Wisconsin and Indiana, advancing through the bracket with a 2-1 record and meeting Ohio North in the championship match where they recorded a 3.0 victory.

Goals by Bob Hayes (Livonia Franklin, EMU), Mike Gentile (Livonia Churchill, Wisconsin) and Steve Weiger (Dearborn Edsel Ford, Butler) provided the margin of victory.

Goalie Kal Kaliszewski (Churchill/Detroit) gave up just one goal in the four-match. event while John Gentile (Churchill/ex-OU All-America) directed the defense in front of

Wildcats win Metro crown, 7-4

BY RICHARD L. SHOOK BTAYP WRITER

Plenty of time and plenty of Pietilas were a winning combination for the Wildcats in their battle with the Falcons for the championship of the Metro Summer Hockey League.

The Falcons held leads of 3.1 after one period and 4-3 after two Sunday night, but couldn't hang on against a team with five Pietilas, two Wiegands and a pair of Elenichs.

There was also one period too many for the Falcons, which enabled the Wildcats to came out with a 7-4 victory in the game between conference champions with 12-1 records.

"They're good," said Keith Pietila, team captain who also serves as director of the MSHL. "They were able to capitalize on our mistakes. They had the lead, but we were able to come back."

The Wildcats will take a 13-1 record up to the Copper Country this weekend for a two-game total-goals series against another summer league team.

Keith, Ron, Kevin, Mark and cousin Jim grew up in South Lyon. All play senior hockey except Mark, who attends Michigan Tech and plays intramural hockey there.

So if it seemed there was a Pietila on the ice at all times, it's because there was. And they scored three of the four third-period goals that brought the Wildcats their win.

The Wildcats were the slicker passing of the two squads but their go-for-broke style led to frequent interceptions by the Falcons, who too many times were either a hair too quick or a fuzz too slow to convert their many 2-on-1 and 3-on-2 chances.

On a power play at the start of in the net at the other end.

the final period, the Falcons made one pass too many at the 1:40 mark and saw a scoring opportunity go to the boards. Then, as the penalty expired, Paul Schloss (UM-Dearborn) fanned on a pass from the point with Wildcat goalle Jim Sexsmith (Cleveland NC Jr Barons) out of position.

Ron Pietila made those inabilities to convert costly at 3:35 with a nifty move that tied the score, 4. 4. On the lest side of the net, he deked Falcons' goalie Brian Guillery (UM-Dearborn) to the middle of the net and then to the ice before drawing the puck back and flipping it into the vacated left side spot.

Eric Frantti completed a hat trick and gave the Wildcats their first lead since the first goal of the game at the 5:09 mark. Coming off a shift change, he got behind everybody and drilled home a 25. footer.

Mark Pietila then scored two goals 1:20 apart in the final five minutes to ice the verdict. He one-timed a shot between Guillery's pads off a point pass from Frantti at 10:26, then picked up a flubbed clearing attempt at midice and scored on a breakaway to make it 7.4.

Just before both scores, the Wildcats stymied the second Falcons' power play of the period.

The tenor of the game was set immediately when the Wildcats broke down ice whip-whip-whip - and saw the Falcons' Dan Hunt (Redford Catholic Central) intercept. Hunt led a 2-on-1 with Jim Hubenschmidt, who took a pass but missed his shot with the contest 30 seconds old.

One minute later the puck was Josh Wiegand (Omaha Lancers) one-timed a pass from Jim Pietila on the right side to give the Wildcats a 1-0 lead.

Mario Mazzuca (Alabama-Huntsville) converted a pass from Jesse Hubenschmidt (UM-Dearborn, Redford) on his right to tie the score at 8:40 and the Palcons took a 2-1 lead at 12:31. Schloss kept the puck on the boards behind the net, then finally shoveled a pass out for Robert Poupard (Jackson Midgets) to bang past Sexsmith. Jesse Hubenschmidt made it 3.1 at 13:50 from a scramble in front of the Frantti got the first goal of his hat trick 2:45 into the second period; converting after Josh Wiegand won a faceoff. He notched his second and tied the score after the halfway ice resurfacing break, scoring at 8:16 from in front of Brian Guillery (UM-Dearborn) to capitalize on the Palcons' inability to clear.

The Palcons regained the lead with 33 seconds left in the period near the end of a power play, Mike Kneiding scoring from a scramble in front of Sexamith.

That left things up to the clock. And the Pietilas.

The Palcons were loaded with prep players (Livonia Stevenson, two from Cranbrook, a pair from Redford Catholic Central, two from Jackson Lumen Christi and a Jackson Midget player). The Wildcats had one high school player but several junior players.

"It's a good developmental league for younger players," Keith Pietila said. "They get some experience against older guys. And they get to stay in shape.'

And pick up a souvenir championship summer league shirt in the process.

Natural gas comes to Shell station

Vehicles burning natural gas will be able to fill up beginning Aug. 29 at a Shell station on Wixom Road south of 1-96 in Wixom. Consumers Power Co. will provide natural gas, as it does for a growing number of stations in Michigan.

With the addition of Windmill Truck Stop (near Lansing) and the Shell station in Wixom, the NGV (natural gas vehicle) public fueling infrastructure has grown to 13 stations in the lower peninsula and two in the UP, said Vance G. Anderson, director of NGV programs for Consumers Power, the Jackson-based utility.

This clean-burning, economical and domestically abundant natural gas is truly becoming a viable fuel option for fleet operators in Michigan," Anderson said.

So far, state government is the chief customer. The departments of Transportation, Natural Resources, Management and Budget. Corrections, and Social Services had 19 NGVs in their fleets last spring with plans to put a total of 105 in by fall.

Reason Under the 1992 federal Energy Policy Act, state and federal governments must acquire or convert 75 percent of their new light duty vehicles to alternative fuels such as natural gas by the end of the decade.

"We've had tremendous success with NGVs," said Duane Berger, director of the state's motor transport division. He praised NG's clean burning quality.

Second biggest customer is Consumers Power itself. On June 1 it took delivery of five Fordbuilt trucks, modified by TDM World Conversions in Auburn Hills. TDM is the first company in Michigan and second in the nation to be recognized as a Ford conversion installer.

NG vehicles are driven by meter readers in the Livonia service area, Anderson said. The Pontiac area already has 25 NG vehicles. Consumers Power plans to purchase or convert 30 percent of its new light-duty vehicles to alternative fuels by 1996; 50 percent by 1997; and 90 percent by 2000.

The Wixom station's grand opening for natural gas will be at emissions of gasoline vehicles 10 a.m. on Aug. 29. Operator is Mark Ambroziak.

A consultant who helps turn real estate agents into mega-sellers recently gave an overview of the good, the bad and the ugly, Many of his observations were surprising. He didn't mince words.

Most real estate agents don't really know how to market themselves and their services.

They focus on their professionalism, experience, how much they know about the business. And because so many take that approach, they're just another face in the crowd.

The key to successful real estate is not professional service but attracting clients," says Greg Herder, chief executive officer of a California advertising firm that specializes in real estate.

"Your clients aren't dying to find out about your educational background," he told about 50 agents during a seminar here. "It's not about your knowledge of real estate.

*How does the average person find an agent? Do they call the local board and ask for the most experienced, knowledgeable agent? No. Who do they call? Their friends. The last live Realtor they talked to.

"Agents are advertising here on the basis of performance," Herder said. "Great advertising, great marketing is emotional. It's not facts and fig-

Herder cited the example of Nike, which advertises the lifestyles of its athlete-endorsers rather than the shoe. The same with Rolex watch.

"Most (real estate) advertising done today is not to get consumers, but impress other agents," Herder said.

"If you leave this room and base your market plan on service, experience, professionalism, you're a moron. You look like every other fiake in Herder offered several suggestions on how agents can stand out. Develop an image, and, subsequently, an expertise. Herder told about one agent who promoted himself as the condo king

"Company advertising is not a prospecting tool, it's a credibility tool," Herder said. "You must have your own identity, your own synergy." Offer an unconditional money back guarantee of your commission if clients aren't happy with your work.

"Business will skyrocket," Herder said. Very few consumers will take advantage of this. Be a pacesetter.

Do some informal market research. Invite several customers you've done business with to breakfast for a

"Every agent who's done this has said it's been an eye-opening move of their career," Herder said of the breakfast. "This is so powerful, so revealing. All you have to do is try it." "I think it's a wave of the future, to have a personal brochure, personal marketing as opposed to just going along with what the company does,"

"A personal brochure tells the story of who you are and what you're doing. Maybe a prospect will see it and say, "She sounds like me. I know she can help me,' " Cavanaugh said. Steve Levett, an associate broker and manager with ERA Banker's Realty in Farmington Hills, said a previous brochure he had done focused on all the wrong things numbers, experience, education.

He pointed out the tax benefits of buying the house and how I could get them. I was wasting my money paying rent while my landlord was gaining most of the benefits. And if my house appreciated in value, it would cost me more the longer I waited. At the same your own house instead of paying

The main point is to talk to a mortgage lender to get a prequalification so you will know how much house you can afford and then check with a Realtor to find out what's available in that price

Keep your expectations realistic. If you need to, make sacrifices in what you want in that first house so you can first gain the benefits of home ownership and buy a nicer house later.

are most people's biggest deduction. You would be surprised how much money these deductions put in your pocket.

The monthly house payment won't seem so big if you take into account the smaller size of your tax payment or the larger size of your refund check at the end of the year, Keep this in mind when a lender quotes you a house payment and it seem a little high.

Buying a condominium has the same benefits. Buying a condo can get you into a nicer area because condos are generally less expensive than houses. They may on a home loan and the deduction not appreciate as much as a house, but you still gain a lot of benefits and will be way ahead versus continuing to rent.

If your plan is to save up for a few more years to buy your first house, why not lower your expectations a little and buy now? This way, you can start to enjoy the benefits now and still buy that nicer house in a few years.

If you have questions on shopping last several years.

Observer & Accentric

Personal Scene Ads in The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers allow you to record a message in your own voice over the phone. That way when people see your ad in the paper, they can dial your code, hear your message, and leave a message of their own. You can call, day or night, to get your messages. It's fast, it's easy, and it helps people find out more about each other. Look in today's classifieds or call and place your own ad. There could be a printer in your future, or a trip to France, or a walk in the rain. It pays to advertise.
