Students gear up for MEAP tests

Educators want students who are prepared and rested for the annual Michigan Education Assessment program tests. A good night's sleep and a nutritious breakfast before taking tests are essential, they agree.

BY LEONARD POGER
EDITOR

Wayne-Westland and Livonia school district students are going to be "MEAPed" this week and next as they prepare for the state of Michigan's annual testing program in reading and math.

In a change from past years, writing and science tests will be given in March.

Not only administrators, teachers and students are deeply involved in preparing for the annual academic testing, but many parents are volunteering to make sure their children are ready for the Michigan Education Assessment Program.

Fourth and seventh graders will be tested in reading and math now through Oct. 27 while fifth and eighth graders will be tested on writing and science in March.

Eleventh graders will take high school proficiency tests in reading, writing, math and science next March.

This month, those same students are scheduled to have retesting done to prepare them for March.

The results of the tests scheduled for this month are expected to be released by the state department of education in December. The results will show results on a district-wide and building-by-building basis.

Wayne-Westland's Lincoln Elementary School, on Grand Traverse near Wildwood, the staff and students were involved for two weeks in an after-school hands-on math activities to help them succeed.

The activities at Lincoln covered algebra, fractions, geometry, problem solving, probability, measurement and base 10 blocks.

Over two weeks, students spent up

At the same time, Jennifer Von-Braunsberg, 11, and sister Leslie, 8, come across the "fresh meat" message in the Y's converted barn. The haunted house opened Friday night for the first weekend and will remain open to children and parents starting at 7 p.m. Friday, Oct. 20, through Tuesday, Oct. 31. The barn is located on the Y property, Wayne Road south of Cherry Hill. The Y also plans a "friendly monsters" tour of the haunted house for elementary school-aged children from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. the next two Saturdays, Oct. 21 ad 28. Proceeds will support the Y's programs and services. Another Halloween season haunted house is sponsored by the Palace Theatre Co. in the historic former theater on westbound Michigan Avenue west of Wayne Road, from 7:30 p.m. now through Oct. 31. Proceeds will help pay for the restoration and renovation of the building.*

Anti-violence program draws 400

With youth gangs infiltrating her Westland neighborhood, Lisa Uhlian, a 31-year-old mother of two, is keenly aware of the threat of violence.

The Norwayne area woman worries that her 7-year-old daughter, Stephanie, and her 12-year-old son, Steven, are growing up in a society bombarded by violence on the homefront, on television and in movies.

"There's too much violence going on," she said.

Uhlian and her children were among an estimated 400 Westland-area residents who registered their opposition to violence Thursday evening by attending a "Turn Off The Violence" program at the Bailey Recreation Center on Ford Road, near Carlson.

The three-hour program, sponsored by the Westland Rotary Club and the Mayor's Task Force on Substance Abuse and Violence, was aimed at

What's cooking

Orders are being taken for the Westland recreation department's cookbook, to be made up of recipes submitted by local residents. Margaret Martin, a recreation department supervisor, said books are $8 in advance and $10 if ordered after the printing. The books will make excellent Christmas gifts, she said.

The book will include more than 250 recipes as well as plenty of Westland trivia questions, she said.

"Proceeds (from the book sale) will benefit the Westland Therapeutic Recreation Program, which provides a wide variety of fun activities for people with disabilities in the area," Martin said.

Order cookbooks by making a check payable to the City of Westland and sending it to: Book Sales, c/o Margaret Martin, Westland Recreation Department, 36601 Ford, Westland 48185.

PLACES & FACES

Open house set

The Wayne-Westland Family YMCA will hold its annual fall open house from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 28, at the facility, 827 S. Wayne Road. The open house, which is free, will include fun activities, popcorn, program demonstrations, balloons, free 20-ounce water bottles to the first 100 families to visit and special merchandise coupons. The Y is also having a special membership drive. For information, call 721-7044.

'Donahue' guest

U.S. Rep. Lynn Rivers, D-Ann Arbor, whose district includes Westland, is scheduled to appear on the "Donahue" TV talk show at 10 a.m., Thursday, on WXYZ-TV (Channel 7). She will be one of several guests on the show entitled "Everyday People Who Run for Office." Rivers, elected to Congress last November, served eight years on the Ann Arbor school board and one two-year term in the state House of Representatives.

Cable programming

Continental Cablevision will offer a portion of its premium services free to customers on the eve of Halloween, Monday, Oct. 30. In an effort to deter problems associated with Devil's Night, the night before Halloween, the company is offering a free preview of the PASS sports channel and the Disney channel. On PASS, the Detroit Red Wings-Winnipeg Jets game will be aired live at 8:30 p.m. On the Disney channel, "Disney's Little Mermaid" and "Adventures in Wonderland" will air.

Schools upset with attendance boundary bill

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Area public school officials are upset by a proposed state Senate bill that would broaden the concept of schools of choice by allowing students to cross district boundaries.

"To me, this is just a travesty," Wayne-Westland Superintendent Duane Moore said.

The legislation is being strongly opposed by the 10-district Michigan Association for Improved School Legislation, which includes Wayne-Westland, Livonia, Garden City, Redford Union, Inkster, Dearborn, Romulus, Northville, Taylor and Westwood.

Proponents of the interdistrict schools-of-choice legislation say it would give students and parents more choices in seeking a quality school. They also say it would force districts to improve in order to compete.

In a one-hour meeting Friday in Westland, MAISL members urged several state legislators in attendance to oppose the Senate bill.

Lawmakers attending the meeting included 18th District state Rep. Eileen DeHart, D-Westland; 8th District state Sen. Loren Bennett, R-Canton Township; 17th District state Rep. Tom Kelly, D-Wayne; 20th District state Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth; and 38th District state Rep. Willis Bullard, R-Milford.

Former state Rep. Justine Barns, D-Westland, also attended, and an aide was sent from the office of 22nd District state Rep. Gregory Pitoniak, D-Taylor.

Virtually all Wayne County school superintendents oppose the measure, Moore said.

MAISL delegate Patricia Brown, also a Wayne-Westland school board member, has cited several of MAISL's concerns about the proposed bill. Among the concerns that MAISL is trying to impress upon legislators:

- The measure would worsen school funding inequities, making it even more difficult for financially ailing districts to offer competitive programs, the group says.
- The bill would prompt some districts to try to draft students who are intellectually or athletically superior to their peers, MAISL said in a statement. The group noted that its members "cannot fathom the extent to which some individuals might go to gain an athletic advantage."
- The plan would result in further racial segregation in a metropolitan area that, according to the Federal Office for Civil Rights, is already "the most racially segregated area in the United States," Brown said.

MAISL's statement notes that "interdistrict schools of choice simply enhances the opportunity for minority populations to be left behind and for the evolution of economically elite schools."

- The law would fail to address transportation issues, meaning students without a ride couldn't travel to their district of choice, MAISL believes.

"Choice is not a choice when it isn't equal," Moore, the Wayne-Westland superintendent, has said. "Who will go (to an interdistrict school)? It will be the students of parents who have money."

- The bill would have a negative impact on bond and millage proposals, MAISL says. Students choosing a new district "would benefit disproportionally from the financial sacrifices" made by local taxpayers, the group's statement alleges.
- The plan would place a heavier burden on some districts in the area of special education, MAISL says. The group's opposition statement charges that "districts will be hesitant to accept general special education students because of the increased cost associated with providing services to them."
- The measure would make it difficult for districts to plan their staffing needs in a timely fashion, as is required by most bargaining unit contracts, MAISL says.

Pins and pens sold to boost awareness of breast cancer

BY CHERYL VATCHER
SPECIAL WRITER

■ Susan Walters, Avon district manager for the area covering Westland, Garden City and Inkster, and her sales representatives have taken part in the effort which has contributed $10 million nationally in the past three years for Encore Plus.

With October being the 10th anniversary of National Breast Cancer Awareness Month, Avon cosmetic representatives will work for the third consecutive year to raise money for the YWCA's Encore Plus program, serving women with the disease.

This year, Avon will have 440,000 representatives nationally offering the awareness pink ribbon pins for $2 and pink pens for $3 to raise money for the support group.

Susan Walters, Avon district manager for the area covering Westland, Garden City and Inkster, and her sales representatives have taken part in the effort which has contributed $10 million nationally in the past three years for Encore Plus.

She said it is the most successful cause-related marketing program that has been dedicated to the issue of breast cancer.

"Last year our district sold $9,584 for this program," Walters said.

"Our top sellers for the district were Gwen Jeffers with 327 pieces, Joanne Schlict with 60 and Frances Stanberry with 32," Walters added.

"We'll do better this year with the pen. The same people who bought last year will probably buy again."

The pens are decorated with the pink ribbon, the international symbol of breast cancer awareness. The proceeds will support more than 140 community programs promoting breast cancer awareness and improving women's access to early detection services.

That includes low-income, and minority or older women who may not have medical insurance.

Those buying the pen or pins are asked to read the educational "Take the Pledge" fliers which encourages women to pledge in writing to follow the three-step promise to have early detection of potential breast cancer.

These steps include getting a regular mammogram starting at the age of 40; annual clinic breast exams, and monthly self exams.

"The focus of our pledge drive is to encourage women to take better care of their health and to support our crusade so that all women, regardless of income, can do the same," said James Preston, Avon's chairman and chief executive officer.

Gwen Jeffers, who raised more than $600 in last year's sale, said:

"I had a contact at Oakwood Hospital last year. My girlfriend worked there and she told me about the breast cancer floor."

Jeffers was able to get into the hospital and sell pins.

"At the (hospital) lunch room from noon to 2 p.m., I would sell to those interested. There was also a breast cancer awareness booth there."

Jeffers added that last year she didn't know anyone with breast cancer.

"When I learned that you can have breast cancer without even knowing it, I realized how important Avon's program is to raise money for the awareness crusade.

"By selling this item, that was my way of making people aware."

The pink pins and pens are available year-round. Those interested may call 595-7287.

Women who want more information on breast cancer and early detection may call the National Cancer Institute at (800) 4-CANCER.

Women with breast cancer who want help and support may call the YWCA national breast cancer organization at (800) 221-2141.

to an hour each in six math activity centers in the school's learning center.

The 35 students were aided by principal Cynthia Swift, fourth grade teacher Anne Pace, learning consultant Melanee Hirvela, teacher consultant Carol Anderson, paraprofessionals Rita Nippes and Carol Schoi and several parent volunteers.

Swift, new to Lincoln School, said that the after-school math activities were the first for the school. The program was designed to help students learn the terms, such as face and surface.

The youngsters were also given sheets showing five figures (cones, cubes, cylinders, pyramids and boxes) and asked to tell how many faces, or flat surfaces, they are on each.

Jane Kuckel, the Wayne-Westland district's assistant superintendent for instruction, told the Observer that parents can do many things to improve their children's chances of doing well on the tests.

The district also provides its normal review of materials in the first month of the school year and work with parents to remind them of the test's importance.

"Make sure the students get a good night sleep and a good breakfast," Kuckel advised parents and youngsters since the tests are usually given in the morning.

With some tests being two hours, schools are offering snacks to the youngsters, she said.

To make sure parents get the message on the importance of the tests and their importance, some principals are sending letters home.

One example is William Camp, Stevenson Middle School principal, whose letter said that MEAP tests show which math and reading skills the students have learned and where they need help.

Camp also urged students to question their teachers if they don't understand the tests' directions.

Patricia McAllister, Title I coordinator in the district's curriculum department and a former elementary school learning consultant, stressed that the high school tests are important because they can help students receive state-endorsed diplomas in communication arts, math and/or science.

"The endorsements are important because we believe that businesses and universities are looking for students who have the endorsed diplomas," she said.

McAllister also met with all building testing coordinators, gave them suggestions, had their review materials and suggested that they even take the tests themselves.

No restrictions found in selling Patchin property

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Wayne-Westland school officials have found no legal restrictions to selling property that the district owns around Patchin Elementary School, Superintendent Duane Moore has said.

"We find no restrictions as to the sale of that property at all," Moore said during a Tuesday evening meeting, in response to a citizen's question.

However, Moore said he hasn't prepared a recommendation on whether the school board should sell a portion of the land around the school, on the east side of Newburgh south of Warren.

He said Tuesday he isn't yet prepared to issue a recommendation, though he is expected to report to the board within a few weeks.

Moore said he doesn't yet have a definitive description of the portion of property that could potentially be sold.

Some Westland residents living near Patchin have urged the board not to sell any property around the school.

They want the land to remain in its natural state. Moreover, some parents oppose efforts to have the land used for development because of the potential for increased traffic in the area.

The issue arose after a developer approached school officials with a proposal for buying property that would have a 120-foot frontage on Newburgh Road.

The land would be used for residential development, Moore has said.

The superintendent subsequently recommended that the board sell the property for no less than $450,000 and that it include only 60 feet of frontage on Newburgh.

In the end, the board voted 5-1 to declare an unspecified portion of the 24-acre Patchin property as surplus. The board also authorized the superintendent to negotiate with Dearborn Real Estate Co. for the possible sale.

The motion, approved in September, made no mention of the $450,000 price or the 60-foot frontage.

The board did appear united, however, in wanting to protect a kindergarten playground that would have been eliminated under the developer's original proposal.

School officials researched any possible restrictions to selling the property after former board member Laurel Raisanen raised the question last month.

She said she had heard that a former land owner donated vacant property to the school district on the condition that it not be separated from the school.

But Moore said the district's research has indicated that there are no legal restrictions on the property.

Computers connect libraries

The new Library Network Service Center, housed in the Wayne County Library on Van Born near Howe, Wayne, was turned on Sunday, activating the DRA Shared Automation System for 55 public libraries in Wayne, Oakland, Livingston and Washtenaw counties.

The Shared Automation System will allow libraries to improve existing service and offer new informational services to their users, a county library spokesperson said.

Amaong the advantages are:

- The system will enable libraries to track their users and inventory with up-to-the-minute information on a fast and reliable computer.
- The software used to find information, as well as keep inventory, is user friendly and vent powerful, in that it allows a user to perform many jobs from one screen with a minimum of keystrokes.
- The software allows immediate access to new materials just received by a library.
- The borrowing of material between libraries will be faster and more efficient.
- The new system will bring databases of journal articles to the screen of the public catalogs. Users will be able to locate the titles of journal articles with the complete article on topics of their choice.
- The new system has software that will be introduced in the near future which allows libraries to buy items for their collections. "On order" items will be listed in the public catalog for users.
- The system will provide access to the "Information Highway" where hundreds of thousands of databaso becomo available for information browsing.
- The system will bring the library into the user's home. Each library will be able to install a modem for the local community to dial-into with a standard local telephone call. This dial-in capability will permit searching of the public catalog and INTERNET access.
- The system provides different interfaces for the public. There will be a software program for adult users, another for children and another for limited-vision users. Not all users will necessarily have to use the same software.
- The system provides management information for the library staff quickly and directly to their desktops. Thus, decisions can be made faster with more information at hand for better service to the community.

getting parents and children to spurn violent television and movie programming for an evening.

Instead of watching violent programs, parents and children played board games, ate hot dogs, watched non-violent movies, listened to campfire songs, saw a John Glenn High band performance and played athletic games.

A favorite activity, judging by the long lines of people, was the opportunity to ride skyward in a ladder-equipped fire truck. Children and parents, alike, were in awe of the view from the truck's aerial bucket.

"It's pretty fun," said Matt Wilhide, 12. "It's neat. Once you go all the way up, you can see Detroit."

"It's kind of weird," said his friend, Meagan Moore, 13. "I'm usually scared of heights. But I wasn't really scared."

As Westland fire Sgt. Mark Wilhide accompanied a group of riders into the air, Capt. Jim Cheng estimated that they were 70 feet above ground.

In nearby Tatton Park, Westland police officers involved in the DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) program cooked hot dogs for the participants while Adams Middle School assistant principal Michael Holuta and his 15-year-old son, Jeremy, strummed guitars by a campfire.

Though the songs they performed were familiar, Holuta noted that the pair incorporated some of their own lyrics to fit the theme of "Turn Off The Violence."

In the Santana song "Evil Ways," for example, they sang, "You've got to change your evil ways, TV," rather than, "You've got to change your evil ways, baby."

Meanwhile, back inside the Bailey Center, Uhlian played a game of "Sorry" with Lisa and Steven as the announcement came that the movie "Mighty Ducks" would soon be shown, with free popcorn as a bonus.

"I figure this program will help the children get a good attitude, and it lets me spend quality time with them," Uhlian said.

Stephanie Uhlian hadn't yet taken a ride in the fire truck, but said she was eagerly awaiting the opportunity.

Margaret Harlow, a Westland Rotarian and member of the Mayor's Task Force on Substance Abuse and Violence, estimated that 400 people came to the three-hour event that began at 6 p.m.

"We had no idea whether we would have five people or 5,000," she said. "For our first event, we're very pleased."

The program stemmed from a national campaign initiated in 1991 as a coalition of law enforcement, education and social service providers working to educate the public about the problem of violence.

The program was first started by the Minnesota Citizens Council on Crime and Violence, but it has been adopted by other communities.

First Citizen nominations sought

There are only nine days left to nominate people for the 10th annual First Citizen of Westland community service award.

The recognition program, co-sponsored by the Westland Observer and the Westland Chamber of Commerce, has a deadline of 5 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 25.

Nominees will be considered by a panel of judges, to be named later this month, on the basis of their community service activities and the impact those activities have had on the city or a segment of its residents.

In the past nine years, the backgrounds of First Citizen recipients have included fire safety, government, education, business organizations, recreation and social services for low-income families.

Nominees must have made a significant contribution to helping improve the quality of life for the community in general or a segment of the community.

While the previous First Citizens have been local residents, residency isn't a requirement.

Nominators should provide detailed information about those to be considered for the award and the nominees' impact on the community or groups of people.

The community service award was initiated by the two co-sponsors in the fall of 1986 to honor volunteers whose efforts are many times overlooked.

The 1995 First Citizen will be publicly honored at the chamber's monthly membership luncheon-program on Tuesday, Nov. 14, scheduled for the Hellenic Cultural Center. Besides receiving plaques or certificates from the Observer and the chamber, federal, state, county and city officials are also expected to honor the First Citizen.

Last year's recipients, Tom and Mary Wieske, marked the first time that a couple won the award.

Past winners have been, in order, Joseph Benyo, Thomas Brown, Sam Corrado, Linda Pratt, Sharon Scott, Margaret Harlow, Madeleine Schroeder and Susan Powers.

Nominations must be in writing and directed to:

Westland Observer Editorial Department, First Citizen Award, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Our fax number is 591-7279.

Blood drive turnout sets record

Thanks to a reorganization of its community blood drives, Garden City Hospital had a record turnout for blood donations last week.

Over the two-day blood drive, 412 pints of blood were collected for the American Red Cross. A total of 556 people signed up to be screened for a blood donation.

"We didn't do 412 in four blood drives last year. And 130 of those were first-time donors," said Community Relations Director Terry Carroll, who was among the first-timers.

In the last three years, the hospital's goal had been 100 pints per blood drive but actually averaged only 68 pints. The new goal was set at 200 pints including 40 first-time donors.

The hospital organized a new blood drive committee with intent of having each employee personally asked to donate blood.

To that end 87 recruitment captains were choosen to contact the approximately 1,200 employees regarding the blood drive.

WORD OF MOUTH

Kissing may be a very good way to express affection, but recent research shows that it also carries the potential to spread gum infection amongst kissing partners. That is the conclusion reached by a new study from Finland's University of Helsinki. Other less likely ways to convey the harmful bacteria from one mouth to another include the shared use of food implements. In light of this new information, couples who are plagued by recurring gum infections should be treated simultaneously by their dentist for the problem. Paying attention to one's own oral hygiene is also a good idea for parents of newborns and young children. Doing so will serve to reduce the chances that unwanted oral bacteria will be passed on to children as a consequence of being kissed by their parents. Gum disease is a particular problem for adults, much more so than cavities. If the problem is allowed to progress, it can lead to the destruction of ligaments and bone structures that hold teeth in place, resulting in teeth lost to advanced gum disease.

Attorney general rejects investigation of O'Hair

Attorney General Frank Kelley has rejected the pleas of 15 suburban and outstate legislators to investigate Wayne County Prosecutor John O'Hair's handling of murder trials of two Detroit police officers.

"An injustice occurred. The conduct of the Wayne County prosecutor's office denied an opportunity for a fair trial," said Rep. John Jamian, R-Bloomfield Township, in Lansing last week.

Joining him in seeking a better deal for convicted officers Larry Nevers and Walter Budzyn were a bipartisan group that included area Reps. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth; Deborah Whyman, R-Canton; James Ryan, R-Redford; and Alan Cropsey, R-DeWitt.

The officers are serving terms in a federal prison for the October 1993 beating death of Malice Green in Detroit. The defense contended drugs more than blows were responsible for Green's death.

Budzyn is eligible for parole in 2000 and Nevers in 2003 unless some action succeeds in winning a new trial or commuting their terms. Here is an outline of efforts on their behalf:

- The 15 lawmakers, in their letter to Kelley, accused O'Hair's office of 1) suppressing evidence from a second autopsy of Green; 2) paying a $595 "witness fee" to a woman without disclosing it to the defense "as required by court rules"; 3) directing Detroit police homicide investigators to remove from the Law Enforcement Information Network criminal warrants against prosecution witnesses; 4) condoning a conflict of interest by Sharon McPhail for her dual roles as an assistant prosecutor and an officer of the NAACP, which demonstrated against the defendants.
- Although the Court of Appeals has upheld their convictions, the officers are seeking leave to appeal to the Michigan Supreme Court.
- The Nevers & Budzyn Defense Fund, headquartered in Royal Oak, on Sept. 12 asked Gov. John Engler and the state Parole Board to commute their sentences. A key portion of the fund's pamphlet attacks Detroit Mayor Coleman Young for poisoning the atmosphere to prevent a fair trial and hastily firing the officers before they were even bound over for trial.
- The Police Officers Association of Michigan, headquartered in Livonia, wrote form letters to state senators asking them to support Jamian's letter. So did the National Association of Police Organizations Inc., a Washington-based group which says it has 15,000 members in Michigan.
- The defense fund bought a series of radio commercials in September on behalf of the officers.

Jamian said he expects a Parole Board hearing in "two or three weeks" on the Nevers-Budzyn case.

The Nevers & Budzyn Defense Fund's address is P.O. Box 458, Royal Oak 48069; phone (810) 976-6611.

Parents battle against required vaccinations

BY NORMAN PRADY
SPECIAL WRITER

The future is spread across Sue Waltman's kitchen table.

It's a future, she'll tell you, in which Michigan parents can lawfully choose to not have their children vaccinated against any or all of the diseases on the state's list.

Oakland County's Waltman heads an organization called M.O.M., Michigan Opposing Mandatory Vaccines with a Troy P.O. Box. It's an outgrowth of work she began in 1993, and was recently incorporated, with the purpose, as indicated on the filing document, of providing "information, educational resources, and a network of communications regarding issues arising out of or concerning the use of vaccines."

In the pile of paper in the kitchen are newspaper articles, membership correspondence, her letters to the editor, and contributors' checks.

And in her focus is the defeat of a bill, introduced by state Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Redford Township, which would eliminate parents' option to waive immunization before school admission.

Right now, Michigan parents can claim exemption of their children from vaccination for medical reasons, religious reasons or "other."

'Walking time-bombs'

To Waltman and M.O.M. members, "other" means freedom of choice. Not so to Bankes.

"School districts, parents and others are using this exemption when they shouldn't," even to cover lax administration, Bankes says, calling un-vaccinated children "walking time-bombs."

M.O.M. members and others have pages and pages of research and statistics proving, they believe, that vaccinations like DPT shots can be harmful, dangerous, fatal.

Health care professionals and others have pages and pages of research and statistics proving, they believe, that failure to vaccinate can be harmful, dangerous, fatal.

Waltman says she has seen some of the informational inserts packaged with vaccines and says that ingredients listed include mercury compounds, formaldehyde and other chemicals not intended for human consumption.

She also reports that a brochure from the U.S. Health Department's Centers for Disease Control warns about possible vaccine reactions, ranging from "mild," such as soreness, to "serious," such as allergic reaction or temporary paralysis, to "severe," such as decreased consciousness, coma or brain damage.

In her own family, a 5-year-old cousin is said to have died of a seizure a few days after a pertussis vaccination.

In 1986, Congress passed The National Childhood Vaccine Injury Act, a no-fault, tax-supported compensation system as an alternative to lawsuits against vaccine makers or physicians because of brain damage or death. For the period from 1990 to September of 1994, the fund paid $471 million to 1,386 cases.

Weighing dangers

As an example of its benefits-outweigh-risks view, the Michigan Department of Public Health cites its statistics on pertussis:

"Three out of every 100 young children who contract pertussis will have seizures and . . . the risk of a seizure associated with receipt of the pertussis vaccine is 6 out of 10,000," according to Catherine Virskus, a spokesperson for the department.

"Vaccine-preventable diseases are still a threat in Michigan," Virskus says. "In 1993, Michigan reported the highest number of cases of pertussis in 20 years. Most of these cases occurred in un-immunized or under-immunized children."

Not every member of M.O.M. is anti-vaccinations. "We don't oppose vaccinations," Waltman says. "We oppose mandated vaccinations."

Waltman says it's sometimes "scary that people don't agree" with her views. "I don't go with the flow. But neither did our founding fathers, and look what they gave us."

Headline pushes her

An accountant and University of Detroit MBA, Waltman woke up to her minority standing, almost literally, on the day in 1993 that a newspaper headline said: "State Targets Vaccine Dodgers."

"I said, 'That's me! I'm a dodger!' " She decided to work on improving her status, starting by making political contacts, gathering information, telling her story to everyone she could, and fighting the then-current bill drafted to close the "other" exemption.

In October 1994 in her kitchen in grass-roots America, Waltman organized a committee which eventually would become M.O.M. The key members, who now are directors of the newly formed nonprofit corporation, include doctors, nurses, physical therapists, an attorney and other professionals. Some are parents, some not.

She says there are now "over 200" members, mostly in nearby communities, but including "a few in the U.P." She's working on getting tax-exempt status.

As the vaccination arguments continue, Waltman tightly grips her belief. The care of the child, including the decision to vaccinate, "is the parents' ultimate right and responsibility."

She knows there are a lot of people to convince.

For more information, write to M.O.M., P.O. Box 1121 Troy, Mich. 48099-1121.

Views on vaccinations

In Michigan, vaccinations are intended to protect children against many illnesses, including diptheriea, pertussis (whooping cough), tetanus, polio, meningitis, hepatitis, mumps, measles and German measles.

Here are a few viewpoints on the issue:

- "Childhood vaccines are very safe. Like any medication or medical procedure, there may be side effects, but the most common reactions, like redness and soreness at the injection site, are manageable and temporary," Catherine Virskus of the director's office, Michigan Department of Public Health.
- "Other countries use a vaccine for pertussis that doesn't have deadly side effects," Selena Karo of Rochester Hills, mother of a 4-year-old and a 7-year-old, and member of M.O.M.
- "The risks of not getting children vaccinated are far greater than the risks of vaccinations. Any number of childhood diseases can lead to brain damage or death," Dr. Karen G. Hufnagle, chief of pediatric services at Beaumont Hospital-Troy.
- "The government should be doing more research," Tammy Zimmer, of Romeo, a M.O.M. supporter, and mother of a 2½ year old boy who, she says, is seriously hearing-impaired as a result of a vaccination.
- "The proposed law would turn parents into criminals," Bill Dobreff of Harrison Township, M.O.M.'s attorney.
- "Michigan ranks 50th in immunizations of children up to age 2," state Rep. Lyn Bankes.

Seminar scheduled to explore ADD

An informational seminar on Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD), a common and potentially serious disability that affects a significant number of children and adults, will begin at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 28, in the Livonia Civic Center Library.

The seminar, which will provide information on recognizing, understanding and treating the disability, will feature Dr. Hugh Leichtman of Wediko Children's Services, Boston. Leichtman is an expert and speaker on ADD. The seminar is free and open to the public.

ADD is a neurobiological disability that can have serious consequences, including school failure and dropout, depression, conduct disorder, failed relationships and even substance abuse.

Children and adults with ADD exhibit symptoms which may include difficulty paying attention, distractibility, impulsive behavior, and, in some cases, hyperactivity.

ADD affects 3 to 5 percent of school-aged children, perhaps 50 percent of these children are never properly diagnosed and treated, and 30-70 percent of these children will continue to exhibit symptoms in adulthood.

Fortunately, ADD is highly treatable. In his discussion, Leichtman will review the treatment options, including medical, psychological and educational interventions and behavior management techniques.

Leichtman also will provide information on identification and assessment including necessary skills to conduct a comprehensive evaluation of a person who may have ADD. This evaluation includes psychological testing, a medical evaluation, and school and family history.

In addition, Leichtman will provide practical tips for educators and parents to use in daily life to promote success at home and school.

This seminar is part of a nationwide education program developed by Children and Adults with Attention Deficit Disorders (CHADD), the national organization working for the success of children and adults with attention deficit disorders.

Bank or Credit Union: What's best for you?

Each October credit unions all around the world celebrate International Credit Union Week. What's all the fuss? After all, isn't a credit union just like a bank?

In short, the answer is no.

Last year alone, over 90,000 people in Michigan joined a credit union for the first time. At the end of last year, more than 3.8 million Michigan citizens (more than 40% of the state's entire population) were credit union members. Why? The quick answer is that credit unions are—for most people, most of the time—a better deal than banks.

Is there really any difference among financial institutions? Consumer groups, such as the Consumer Federation of America, have for years been advising consumers to join a credit union. A recent study on bank and credit union fees done by the Public Interest Research Group (PIRG) starkly demonstrates some of the differences between credit unions and banks.

The contrast in the PIRG study of fees for a range of services is quite striking. Need to stop payment on a check? The average fee at a bank is $13.57 while credit unions charge $8.01. Covering an overdraft check? The average bank fee is $14.43 while the average credit union charges $5.52. "No fee" checking? The bank average is a $2.94 monthly charge with 9 free checks and then 20¢ per check. The credit union average is 27¢ monthly charge with 19 free checks and then 1¢ per check. Some difference.

"The bankers still have their hands buried deep in our wallets," stated Ed Mierzwinski, Director of the PIRG Consumer Program. "Consumer bank fee increases once again defied gravity, rising at twice the inflation rate from 1993 to 1995." Mierzwinski cited the rising cost of an interest-bearing NOW checking account. In 1990, a consumer had to leave a $135 balance in his interest-earning NOW checking account to cover fees. By 1993, that had risen to $725. By mid-year 1995, the required balance had reached $1,123.

Then there are the rates for savings and loans. According to June 1995 figures, banks charge 9.56% for new car loans while credit unions charged 8.49%. Banks charged 18.21% for credit card loans and credit union charged 13.14%. For savings, banks paid 4.92 on a one year certificate and credit unions paid 5.97%. The numbers go on and on in that fashion. It is no surprise that educated consumers often chose credit unions as their primary financial institution.

The reason for this difference lies in the different structures and purposes of banks and credit unions. Banks are businesses created to make money from their customers and give it to their stockholders. Credit unions are member-owned financial cooperatives which exist to provide services. Any money earned beyond the cost of operation just goes back to the members, usually through lower interest on loans, higher interest rates on savings, or lower service fees.

There are times for banks, of course. Credit unions serve individuals but most don't serve business. If you are a corporation seeking a line of credit, a business wanting a loan to build inventory or developer seeking a few million to construct a new subdivision, credit unions won't be much help. If, however, you just want a car loan, a checking account, an ATM card or other individual services, you might want to look into a credit union.

1994 BANKS VS. CREDIT UNION FEE COMPARISONS

Fee Type	Average bank fees (including 0's/no fee)[1]	Average credit union fees (including 0's/no fee)[2]
Nonsufficient funds/NSF (for check returned)	$18.03	$13.95
Overdraft (for check covered)	$14.43	$5.52
Stop-payment	$13.57	$3.01
ATM Issuance	$1.33	$ .65
Annual ATM	$4.43	$ .63
Cashiers check	$2.86	$1.31
Money order	$1.79	$ .84
Certified check	$6.02	$1.85

FACTS ABOUT CREDIT UNIONS

statistics based on 1994 year-end NCUA call reports

Membership:

Michigan credit unions have 3.8 million members, which means more than one out of every three Michigan citizens is a credit union member. Nationally, over 67.4 million Americans belong to a credit union. To find out about joining a credit union, call 1-800-474-JOIN.

Assets:

In the past decade, assets held by Michigan credit unions have grown from $4 billion to over $14.8 billion. Across the nation, credit union assets have reached over $298.9 billion.

Insurance:

All Michigan credit unions are insured by the federal government up to $100,000 per member account through the National Credit Union Share Insurance Fund (NCUSIF) administered by the National Credit Union Administration (NCUA). The credit union insurance fund is the safest of all federal deposit insurance programs. It is fully funded by the credit unions themselves and has never needed, accepted or borrowed a cent of taxpayer money.

Loans:

Although each Michigan credit union establishes a loan policy tailored to the needs of its members, certain general trends are evident. Only one half of one percent of loans from Michigan credit unions can be classified as "commercial" in nature.

What makes you so special?

To your friends and relatives, it could be just about anything - your dimples, those freckles on your nose, the way you use your hands when you talk. We like those things about you, too. But when you belong to a credit union, you're special for an entirely different reason. You're a member, the keystone of our business. Every product we offer, every service we provide, is carefully crafted to meet your unique needs. You can expect a degree of personal attention and a dedication to your satisfaction far greater than you'd receive at any other banking institution. Because your credit union isn't simply a place you bank. It's where you belong.

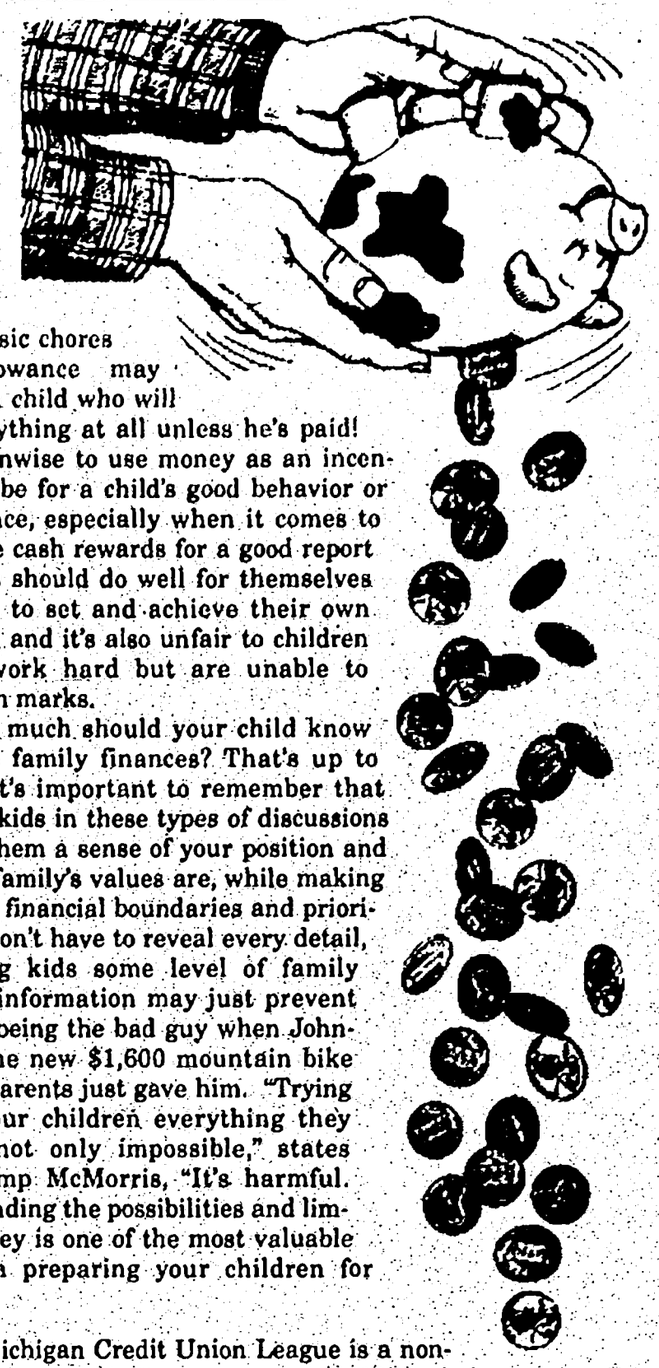
TEACHING KIDS ABOUT MONEY



With the new school year in full swing, children throughout Michigan are studying everything from computer science to English literature to international economics. But how about those practical life skills that schools can't always impart to their students?

"The importance of education has never been more important," says Allan Kemp McMorris, Chairman of the Board for the Michigan Credit Union League (MCUL). "So much is being demanded of schools these days that it's usually up to parents to help their kids understand the ABC's of money - one of the most important lessons in life," McMorris says.

Allan Kemp McMorris

Teaching basic money management skills to children has never been more critical, according to McMorris. Statistics indicate that teenagers alone spend more than $80 billion a year, yet fewer than half (42%) know the basics about credit, checking, savings accounts or auto insurance. "Children who are taught early to become regular savers and responsible borrowers are far better prepared for adulthood than those who are not exposed to basic financial concepts," according to expert Bobbie Shocket Lazarz, Director of Member Education for the CUNA Mutual Insurance Group (CMG).

MCUL and CMG have developed the following tips and guidelines for parents who want to teach their children about money.

Under Age 5

Set up a coin bank at home to help the little ones learn how to identify different coins and how to count money. Introduce the concept of money by giving children small change to spend occasionally when you go to the store. Set limits on the type of item to be purchased in order to save time and minimize conflict.

Ages 5 to 10

This is the time to begin a weekly allowance program to offer hands-on money management experience. Set down the terms of the allowance - how much, and when it will be distributed. Saving habits for youngsters of this age group are reinforced by reaching goals, so encourage the child to save for, and then buy something he really wants. Another good technique is setting up three coin banks, labeled "Spend," "Save" and "Share." Encourage children to contribute a portion of their allowance and cash gifts to each of the coin banks. When the "Save" bank is full, take the child to your local credit union or bank to open an account. Many financial institutions have special programs for children; be sure to inquire. The "Share" money could be contributed periodically to a charity or non-profit organization of the child's choice.

Ages 11 to 14

Bring children on shopping trips to show them what things cost. Let them help compare product quality, prices, return policies and warranties. Encourage children to use their own savings to buy "beyond the basics" clothing and accessories. Warn them against the dangers of impulse shopping. At this age, encourage your kids to take on odd jobs, such as babysitting, yard work or pet care, to earn extra money. These should be tasks beyond the realm of a child's regular household duties. This is also a good age to introduce the concept of investments. Consider purchasing a share or two of stock in a company the child picks (perhaps Disney or Mattel!) and then monitor progress together by checking the daily newspapers.

Ages 15 to 18

Start discussing savings plans with your children to cover larger goals, such as the purchase of a car, or the child's contribution to his college fund. You might set up a seasonal clothing allowance for kids in this age range. This fund should be separate from regular allowance; after setting spending guidelines and limits, let the child make his or her own choices. Consider helping your teen to open a share draft or checking account, if he has shown adquate signs of fiscal responsibility. You might also consider letting him use your credit card, or co-signing for a card in the teen's name, again based on your own judgment of his readiness.

Other Tips

When it comes to allowances, use your financial situation and your child's maturity level as guidelines. Spell out the details on paper, so there's no confusion. If a child overspends, do not reimburse him. Do review the terms of the allowance agreement periodically to see if adjustments are needed. Do not link the allowance to the performance of regular household duties. Children ought to contribute to the household simply because they are members of it; linking basic chores with allowance may result in a child who will not do anything at all unless he's paid! It's also unwise to use money as an incentive or bribe for a child's good behavior or performance, especially when it comes to things like cash rewards for a good report card. Kids should do well for themselves and learn to set and achieve their own standards, and it's also unfair to children who do work hard but are unable to attain high marks.

How much should your child know about the family finances? That's up to you, but it's important to remember that including kids in these types of discussions can give them a sense of your position and what the family's values are, while making clear your financial boundaries and priorities. You don't have to reveal every detail, but giving kids some level of family financial information may just prevent you from being the bad guy when Johnny sees the new $1,600 mountain bike his pal's parents just gave him. "Trying to buy your children everything they want is not only impossible," states Allan Kemp McMorris, "It's harmful. Understanding the possibilities and limits of money is one of the most valuable lessons in preparing your children for life."

The Michigan Credit Union League is a non-profit trade association representing 90% of the state's credit unions. Some 3.8 million people, or 40% of Michigan's population, are credit union members. CUNA Mutual Insurance Group is owned by credit unions and their members in 52 countries. It provides policy owners with innovative insurance and finance-related products, and is the leading provider of credit insurance in the world.

SAVINGS MYTH

You probably say it every time a paycheck comes: "Next time, I'm going to set aside some money for a rainy day." It's a sincere yet oft-broken promise we make to ourselves whenever we look at the state of our savings accounts and think about that summer cottage, a shiny new car or school tuition for the little one. Saving money isn't a habit everyone is born with; it's a skill you need to cultivate.

Start with desire and a positive frame of mind and then consider this common misconception about saving money outlined in a recent edition of "Everybody's Money," the consumer publication for members of America's credit unions.

Never spend saved money - it should stay in a savings account.

Funny thing about money - the only thing you can actually do with it is SPEND IT! The question then becomes when to spend it, on what, and how much should be spent. Would it better to buy that new suit with your credit card and pay interest on your purchase, or would you rather cover the cost from money you set aside awhile back for that very purpose? That $50 you've been socking away every month will get spent eventually, and if you don't spend it in your lifetime, someone else will get the chance to do so. The point of saving money is to spend it at some point in time.

Five Ways to Find a Credit Union To Join

If you already belong to a credit union, you know about the exceptional financial services and treatment you find there. If you don't belong, or know friends or family members who don't belong to a credit union, but would like to, here's how to find a credit union to join:

1. Ask the boss. Often you'll find out when you're hired that the company sponsors its own credit union, or is a Select Employee Group (SEG) that provides access to an existing credit union. Employers consider the credit union an employee benefit that help workers avoid financial problems and build savings, while being able to borrow money at fair rates. Many employers offer direct deposit of part or all of your paycheck to the credit union. This services helps you save regularly, make efficient deposits to your checking account and even make loan payments.

2. Poll your family members. If your employer doesn't sponsor a credit union, perhaps your spouse's employer does. Or a parent, brother or sister, or child might work at a company sponsoring a credit union. Most credit unions allow credit union members' families to join the credit union also.

Different credit unions may define "family," differently though. At some, members of your immediate family—spouse, parents, and children—are eligible. At other credit unions, family may include extended family members, like cousins, uncles, and aunts.

Full-family membership makes it possible to introduce your children to prudent money management using credit union services at an early age. And, sharing a credit union account with your spouse makes household money management practical and convenient.

3. Quiz the neighbors. Many credit unions have a "community" field of membership, serving a region defined by geography rather than by employment or some other association. Ask friends in the community if they know of a credit union you may join.

4. Read the yellow pages. Some credit unions never or rarely advertise, so you might not know about them unless you look them up in the phone book. (Although word of mouth is a powerful messenger for credit unions, too.)

And, sometimes a credit union that originally served only employees of a meat-packing plant, for example, expands its field of membership to other companies over the years.

A credit union with an expanded field of membership often changes its name to signal its new "field." But don't assume that the credit union that always served, say, air force base employees still only serves base employees.

A yellow pages display ad may state a credit union's field of membership. If not, at least you'll know what number to call to ask about membership eligibility.

5. Call us. The Michigan Credit Union League, offers a service to help you find a credit union by calling (800) 474-JOIN. You'll hear an electronic message that asks for some information that will enable us to help you find a convenient credit union you are eligible to join.

Credit unions are for everyone, but the law places some limit on the people each may serve. The federal or a state government grants a credit union's charter, which defines its "field of membership." That may be an employer, a church, a school, or a community.

Anyone working for an employer that sponsors a credit union, for example, is eligible to join that credit union. The point is, many folks in the United States are eligible to join a credit union but don't realize it.

To them, "welcome to the wonderful world of credit unions!"

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

Farm-raised catfish is utterly delicious

I'll admit that I'm a bit prejudiced about Great Lakes fish. I grew up in Wyandotte, and when we didn't have tuna noodle casserole on Fridays, Momma either pan-fried fresh Lake Erie perch or we piled into the 1962 Chevy Nova and headed for the perch fish fry at the local Dom Polski hall.

When perch wasn't on the dias, there was always a large fillet of walleye, or a couple of pounds of bass or lake trout buried in the freezer. All of the fish was caught in an old 13-foot Fiberglass boat that was originally aqua, and now painted red. If memory serves me correctly, Dad won the boat in an all night card game at Uncle Johnnie's house.

Many an early morning five a.m. alarm sounded to wake me so that I was ready and waiting to help Dad hook up the boat to the car for the five minute drive to the Wyandotte boat docks. Then there was a 20 minute boat ride to where the Detroit River opens its mouth and empties into Lake Erie. When we caught an occasional channel catfish or carp, it was immediately thrown back with absolutely no desire to eat. My, how times have changed.

Aqua culture

With the advent of aqua culture (the science of raising water-based animals in a controlled environment) every time I walk into my local fish market or grocery store, I'm noticing a bigger space being afforded catfish. Rightfully so, I guess, because the U.S. government calls aqua culture "the fastest growing segment of U.S. agriculture."

None of this is more evident than seeing millions of acres upon acres of catfish ponds viewable from 20,000 feet while flying over Arkansas, Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama. More catfish is produced in the United States on a yearly basis than all other farm-raised fish combined. Furthermore, catfish consumption has more than doubled since 1985 with the average man, woman and child consuming more than a pound per person, per year. I'll admit to the fact that I ate (with the emphasis on "ate" and not "enjoyed") a channel catfish on my last fishing expedition with the boys. But up until recently, the thought of purchasing catfish for dinner from my local fish monger never really crossed my mind.

Mike McNamara, owner of the Plymouth Fish Market sells 25-40 pounds of catfish per week and claims that his western-suburban market is beginning to prefer catfish over cod, mainly for the light flavor, no smell and excellent pricing.

"Cod and scrod are getting more difficult to obtain and when I do get my hands on them, the price is getting higher and higher" said McNamara who was frying up a batch of catfish for a waiting Unysis employee on his lunch hour when I called. McNamara also said "the secret to preparing good catfish is not to overcook it."

The Plymouth Fish Market suggests customers quickly pan-fry catfish fillets that have been lightly dusted with bread crumbs or seasoned flour in a little butter or oil.

Dietary differences

So what is it that makes farm-raised catfish the preferential choice of fish consumers? One of the main differences between farm-raised catfish and wild catfish is their living conditions.

Farm-raised cats are raised in a quality controlled environment of clay based ponds filled with fresh water pumped from underground wells. Farm-raised cats are fed a "gourmet diet" of puffed, high protein food pellets (a mixture of soybean, corn, wheat, vitamins and minerals) that give the fish a very mild, almost sweet taste. Because the food pellets are "puffed" they float, giving farm-raised catfish a cleaner food source, unlike their distant cousins, notoriously known as "bottom feeders."

After 18 months from hatchery to pond, the fish are harvested with seine nets and loading baskets and are transported alive to processing plants in aerated tank trucks. Once they reach the processing plants, the whole production takes less than 30 minutes from start to finish. Approximately 50 percent of the crop is frozen for agricultural export while the remaining is packed on ice and air freighted to your nearest wholesaler who then distributes his catch to local markets and fish mongers.

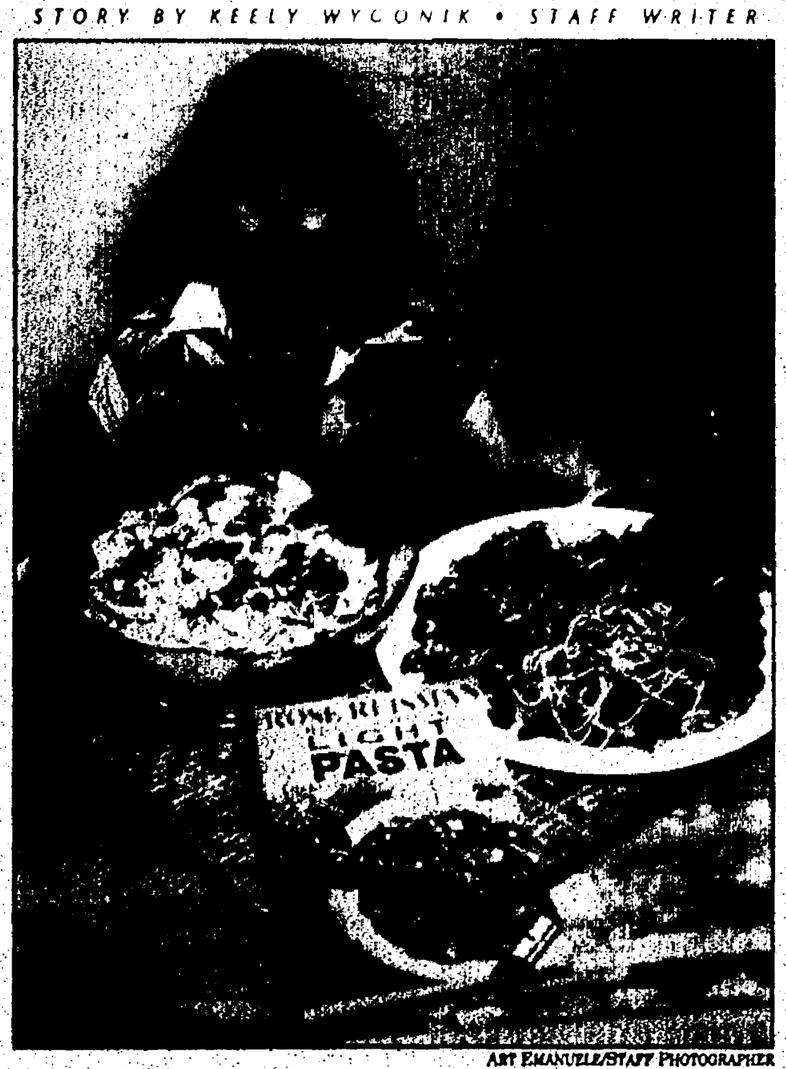
BUSY MOM BRINGS HOME LIGHT

TASTE

STORY BY KEELY WYGONIK • STAFF WRITER



ART EMANUELE/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Pasta light: Cookbook author Rose Reisman presents some of the pasta dishes featured in "Rose Reisman Brings Home Light Pasta."

REISMAN TAKES READERS BEYOND SPAGHETTI AND LASAGNA WITH HEALTHY DISHES THAT CAN BE PREPARED IN 30 MINUTES OR LESS.

Rush – that's what most of us do. And after we've survived the rush hour – there's another rush – making dinner.

"Pasta is a good choice for busy families," said Rose Reisman, author of "Rose Reisman Brings Home Light Pasta," (Robert Rose, Inc.; September 1995; $16.95). "It's economical and versatile."

Married, and the mother of four children ages 4, 7, 9 and 11, Reisman takes readers beyond spaghetti and lasagna with healthy dishes that can be prepared in 30 minutes or less.

"You can make the pasta the night before," she said during a visit to the Observer & Eccentric offices in Livonia. "But rinse it in cold water. Coat it with three tablespoons of cooking water or sauce. You can store it at room temperature, or put it in the refrigerator. After work, cover the bowl with Saran wrap and microwave on high for one minute. If you put the pasta in the refrigerator the night before, it could take a little longer to reheat. Heat the sauce and toss with the pasta."

Generous servings of tips make Reisman's book even more appetizing. Every chapter and recipe has them.

There are tips for stocking a pasta pantry, preparing soup, salads, fish, chicken, meat, and vegetables. Very busy cooks will appreciate the make ahead recipe suggestions.

"One of the mistakes people make when they cook pasta is they don't use enough water, and they don't wait until the water boils to add the pasta," she said. "Cook pasta in a large pot of boiling water. Use 12-16 cups water for each pound. Cook pasta 'al dente,' or firm to the bite. Do not add sauce to pasta until just ready to serve, or pasta will absorb the sauce, leaving the appearance of not enough."

Reisman also encourages readers to try different shapes of pasta. "They taste differently," she said.

These recipes are low in fat, but yet many contain a sprinkling of cheese. "They're allowed," she said. "I don't use diet cheese in my recipes. I find that people who use diet products are not satisfied and they're binging somewhere else. It's OK to keep fat in your diet, but keep it to a minimum."

Her suggestions include sauteeing chicken in a non-stick pan sprayed with vegetable oil. Using Cheddar, feta, goat, Swiss and other strong cheeses in recipes. "Most Greek salads have eight ounces of feta cheese on them. Two ounces is plenty," she said. "In light pasta cooking, the key is lowering the amount of cheese used, not eliminating it."

Her passion for light cooking stems from her belief that lifestyle and eating habits play significant roles in health for all ages.

"My children eat very little meat, and they'll be a lot healthier," she said.

"Englightened," is the word Reisman prefers to use when talking about low fat cooking. "Everyone is so used to hearing low fat and light. This is about substituting great flavor for fats."

A portion of proceeds from the sale of "Light Pasta" will go to the Y-ME National Breast Cancer Organization, a Chicago based non-profit organization whose patient advocacy programs have provided information and support for breast cancer patients and their families for 15 years. Call 1-(800)-221-2141 for more information.

A resident of Toronto, Reisman holds masters of fine arts and business administration degrees. In 1991 she launched the "Rose Reisman Brings Home" series which includes "Spa Desserts," "Pasta Dishes," and "Light Cooking," and began raising money for the fight against breast cancer. Through the "Rose Reiseman Brings Home" series, North American breast cancer groups have received more than $275,000 in funding to raise awareness, support women with cancer and aid in research.

COOKING TIPS

- Prepare the sauce while the pasta is cooking. Plan ahead so the sauce will be completed at the same time the pasta is cooked.
- If reheating leftover pasta, add more stock or tomato sauce to provide extra moisture.
- Use meat sauce with larger, heavier pastas, such as rigatoni, large shell pasta or tortellini.
- If vegetables are to be cooked in advance for a pasta dish, they can be steamed, microwaved, blanched or boiled. Stop cooking vegetables when they are tender-crisp and still retain their color. Drain and rinse with cold water to prevent overcooking. Add to pasta. Overcooked vegetables are dull and soft, and most of the nutrients are lost.
- After cooking manicotti or cannelloni pasta shells, drain, rinse with cold water and cover until ready to use. To stuff easily, slice shell to open and lay flat. Place some filling over top shell, close and place seam side down in baking dish. These shells can be refrigerated up to 1 day ahead, then baked.
- Cook tomato sauces, covered, on low-medium heat, to avoid letting the liquid evaporate. If the sauce appears too thick when reheating, add more stock, water or pureed canned tomatoes.
- Plum tomatoes are the best tomatoes for making a fresh tomato sauce. They are drier and meatier and make a denser, more flavorful sauce.

FOCUS ON WINE
BY RAY & ELEANOR HEALD

Spanish wine myths need to be dispelled

Spain, one of the world's great wine regions, has remained in hiding due to ethno-centric traditions, lack of capital and bulk wine production. A Civil War that ended as World War II was beginning in Europe, destroyed the Spanish economy. Low-yielding wine grapes, those that made the best wines, were ripped out in favor of lesser varietals with higher yields. Only a decade ago, Spain was Third World status with its wine industry dominated by co-ops and negotiants. But much has changed. Prized estate wines are being recognized and myths about Spanish wines need to be dispelled.

Images of Spain's sand and sun may make you think that Spain is hot. Actually, more than half of Spain falls within Continental and Atlantic climactic influences and is cool. Vineyard altitudes average over 2,000 feet. Great grapes are grown at cooler, higher elevations.

Much of what the world knows about the best Spanish wine estates comes through the efforts of Steve Metzler and his Seattle-based company Classical Wines of Spain. His internationally known wine portfolio is recognized for integrity. We caught up with Metzler recently, and were impressed by the wines he currently represents.

Brand names, grape varietals and regions may be unfamiliar, but a taste of the well-priced wines will be reassuring. Enjoy the dry whites in place of sauvignon blanc and the reds as a change from merlot or cabernet sauvignon.

Sherry is making a comeback as an aperitif. Hidalgo La Gitana Manzanilla $10 is the standard of excellence. In Seville, it outsells all other dry sherries. Manzanilla should be fresh. The newest lot has arrived from Spain. Look at the lot number on the label. If it says 12/5 this means it was bottled on the 12th day of 1995. This is old stock bottled last January. You want to try a much later day in 1995 and drink it within eight months of bottling.

Oysters or crab are delicious with 1994 Morgadio Albarino $18. Albarino is a rare grape variety, and the Spanish contemporary of Viognier, the "hot" white from California.

■ 1994 Carchelo Monastrell $7 is a light, fruity, dry red that is great with spicier food. Monastrell is the French grape mourvedre. You'll be pleasantly surprised by the Spanish style at a popular price.

■ 1992 Guelbenzu EVO $8 is one of Spain's most acclaimed wines. It's 70 percent cabernet sauvignon, 15 percent merlot and 15 percent tempranillo aged one year in 100 percent new French oak. If it were French, it might be called the producer's grand vin.

■ And then there's Rioja. The 1990 Lorinon Tinto Crianza $9 is an estate-bottled classic Rioja Alta with plummy fruit and spice. By law, a Rioja labeled Crianza has been aged 12 months in oak, but this wine was aged 18 months, approaching the minimum for a Gran Reserve.

Those who know Spanish wines know Pesquera from Bodegas Alejandro Fernandez. They are 100 percent tempranillo from the hands of a master. Tinto Pesquera is aged a minimum of 18 months in oak, but Reservas and Grandes Reservas from great vintages are aged in barrel 24 months and longer. The 1991 Pesquera Reserva $16 is a wine unique in the world. Delicious now, it will age into the next millennium.

In addition to Spanish estate-grown wines, look for a fabulous Spanish olive oil, Almazara Luis Herrera Unpressed Extra-Virgin $11 for a half-litre. Herrera has the smooth fruity character of French olive oil from Provence and the pepperiness of great Tuscan olive oils. It's unbeatable at the price.

CATFISH ANTIPASTO

2 cups water
8 ounces catfish fillets
4 ounces Cheddar or Monterey Jack cheese, cut into cubes
4 ounces Calamatta pitted ripe olives, drained
1 small zucchini, sliced ¼-inch thick
1 cup canned artichoke hearts, drained, halved
⅔ cup white wine vinegar
½ cup olive oil
3 green onions, finely chopped
3 cloves garlic, minced
1 teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon dried basil, crushed
¼ teaspoon pepper

In a skillet bring the water to a boil. Add catfish fillets. Return to a boil; reduce heat. Cover and simmer for 5 minutes. Remove from water. Cool slightly. Cut into bit sized pieces.

In a large plastic bag or non-metallic bowl, combine cheese, olives, zucchini and artichoke hearts. Add catfish. In a small bowl stir together vinegar, oil, onions, garlic, sugar, basil and pepper. Pour over catfish mixture. Seal bag tightly. Cover and chill for 6 hours or overnight, turning bag occasionally.

To serve, allow mixture to stand at room temperature for about 15 minutes. Drain mixture and arrange on lettuce covered plates. Makes 4 servings.

CLASSIC PAN-FRIED CATFISH

¾ cup yellow cornmeal
¼ cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon cayenne pepper
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
4 catfish fillets, about 1½ pounds
Vegetable oil for pan-frying

Combine cornmeal, flour, salt, cayenne pepper and garlic powder. Coat catfish with mixture, shaking off the excess.

Cover the bottom of a 12-inch skillet with vegetable oil. Heat to 350 degrees F. or medium heat. Add coated catfish fillets in a single layer and pan-fry until golden brown, about 5-6 minutes, depending on size. Remove and drain on paper towels. Makes 4 servings.

CATFISH FAJITAS

2 pounds catfish fillets
1 cup lime juice (about 5-6 fresh limes)
3 cups mesquite or hickory wood chips
1 large onion, sliced and separated into rings
1 large sweet red pepper, cut into strips
2 cloves garlic, minced
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
8 flour or corn tortillas, warmed
Salsa, sour cream or guacamole and lime wedges, optional

Place fish in a large plastic bag. Pour lime juice over the fish. Seal and marinate in the refrigerator for 1 hour.

Soak wood chips in enough water to cover for 30-60 minutes. Drain wood chips. In a covered grill, test coals for a medium-hot heat. Sprinkle wood chips over preheated coals. Lightly brush grill rack with cooking oil.

Place catfish fillets on grill rack. Cover and grill directly over medium hot coals for 5 minutes on each side.

Meanwhile, in a large skillet, cook onion, pepper strips and garlic in butter or margarine until just tender. Stir in salt and pepper. Cut grilled catfish into chunks. Toss with onion mixture. Fill tortillas with catfish mixture. Serve with salsa, sour cream, guacamole and lime wedges. Makes 4 servings.

These days, pasta means more than spaghetti

See related pasta story on Taste front.

Recipes from "Rose Reisman Brings Home Light Pasta," (Robert Rose, Inc; September 1995)

Sweet Potato, White Bean And Orzo Soup

2 teaspoons vegetable oil
1 teaspoon crushed garlic
1 cup chopped onions
½ cup chopped celery
3 cups diced sweet potatoes
½ cup diced carrots
4 cups chicken stock
1 cup canned white kidney beans, drained
⅓ cup orzo or small shell pasta
1 cup 2 percent milk
Chopped parsley

In large nonstick saucepan, heat oil; saute garlic, onions and celery until tender, approximately 4 minutes.

Add potatoes, carrots and stock. Cover and simmer on medium heat for 20 to 30 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Puree in food processor until smooth. Pour back into saucepan; add kidney beans and pasta. Cover and simmer for 10 minutes or until pasta is tender.

Add milk. Heat, then sprinkle with chopped parsley. Serves 6.

Prepare in early in day, up to point of adding orzo. Add orzo 10 minutes before serving.

Rigatoni With Thick Creamy Beef Tomato Sauce

1 pound rigatoni
2 teaspoons vegetable oil
2 teaspoons crushed garlic
1 cup diced onions
½ cup finely diced celery
½ cup finely diced carrots
12 ounces ground beef
½ cup dry red wine
½ cup 2 percent milk
1 can (28 ounces) tomatoes, crushed
1 tablespoon tomato paste
1½ teaspoons dried basil
1 teaspoon dried oregano
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Cook pasta in boiling water according to package instructions or until firm to the bite. Drain and place in serving bowl.

In large nonstick saucepan, heat oil; saute garlic, onions, celery and carrots until tender, approximately 5 minutes. Add beef and saute until no longer pink, approximately 4 minutes.

Add wine and cook on high for 2 minutes. Add milk and cook for 2 minutes. Add tomatoes, tomato paste, basil and oregano; cover and simmer on low-heat for 20 minutes or until sauce becomes thickened, stirring occasionally.

Place in food processor and puree in batches just until still slightly chunky. Pour over pasta; sprinkle with cheese; toss and serve. Serves 6-8.

To make ahead: Refrigerate sauce up to 2 days ahead and reheat gently, adding more milk if too thick.

Spinach Cheese Tortellini

1 pound cheese and/or spinach tortellini

Sauce:
1 tablespoon margarine or butter
1 teaspoon crushed garlic
1 cup finely diced carrots
1 cup finely diced zucchini
1½ cups chicken or vegetable stock
⅓ cup chopped fresh or (1½ teaspoons dried) basil
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Cook pasta in boiling water according to package instructions or until firm to the bite. Drain and place in serving bowl.

Make the sauce: In small nonstick skillet, melt margarine; add garlic, carrots and zucchini. Cook until tender, approximately 8 minutes. Add stock and basil; simmer on medium heat for 5 minutes. Puree in food processor on and off for 30 seconds. Pour over pasta. Add cheese, and toss. Serves 6.

Spaghetti carbonara need not be high fat

AP — Low-fat spaghetti carbonara is a contemporary version of a traditional recipe. This creamy egg-and-cheese-based dish is traditionally flavored with bacon. The recipe below cuts the fat by using egg substitute and turkey bacon.

Despite the whittled-down fat and cholesterol content of this recipe — which weighs in at under 30 percent calories from fat — this dish has maintained the richness and flavor of the classic recipe from which it was adapted.

Low-Fat Spaghetti Carbonara

1 pound spaghetti or thin spaghetti, uncooked
6 ounces turkey bacon, finely chopped
3 cloves garlic, crushed
⅔ cup dry white wine
1 cup egg substitute
⅓ cup fresh parsley, chopped
⅓ cup grated Parmesan cheese
Salt and freshly ground pepper, to taste

Cook pasta according to package directions. While pasta is cooking, cook the bacon and garlic in a small saute pan over medium-low heat until the garlic is aromatic and the bacon is lightly browned, about 3 to 4 minutes.

Add the wine, increase heat, bring the wine to a boil and cook until it has reduced by about half. Pour mixture into a large serving bowl and let it cool for 5 minutes. Stir in the egg substitute and the parsley.

When pasta is done, drain it well and add it immediately to the bacon mixture. Add Parmesan cheese and toss quickly. Season with salt and freshly ground pepper and serve. Makes 4 servings.

Award-winning recipes also quick

Here are some prize-winning farm-raised catfish recipes from the Catfish Institute's national "Farm-Raised Catfish Meals in Minutes" contest.

The contest challenged consumers nationwide to test their culinary creativity with farm-raised catfish — the country's fifth most popular fish.

Contestants were asked to submit an original, easy-to-prepare recipe featuring farm-raised catfish which could be prepared in 30 minutes or less (including preparation and cooking time) with readily available ingredients. Each dish was judged on its taste, creativity, ease of preparation, cooking time and appearance.

The winners, one from each of six regions in the country, received prize packages, and a $1,000 check from the Catfish Institute.

Oven Fried Catfish With Pineapple Chutney

1 pound farm-raised catfish fillets
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup evaporated skim milk
⅔ cup corn flake crumbs
2 teaspoons canola oil
Pineapple Chutney
1 can (8 ounces) crushed pineapple
½ cup chopped green apple
½ cup chopped red pepper
3 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
¾ teaspoon curry powder
¾ teaspoon mustard seeds

Heat oven to 450 degrees F. Spray baking pan with non-stick coating; set aside. Sprinkle catfish with lemon juice. Dip fillets in milk, then roll in crumbs. Arrange fillets in prepared pan; drizzle with oil. Bake about 8-10 minutes or just until fish flakes easily. Garnish with chutney.

For pineapple chutney: In small saucepan, combine all the ingredients; simmer, stirring 5 minutes. Serves 4.

Recipe submitted by: Richard Michael Rizzio, Troy, Mich.

Orange Rosemary Poached Catfish Fillets

1 tablespoon cooking oil
2 tablespoons diced red onion
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon black pepper
¼ cup fresh orange juice
¼ teaspoon grated orange zest
¼ teaspoon dried rosemary, crushed
1¼ pounds genuine U.S. farm-raised catfish fillets
Orange slices for garnish (optional)

In larger skillets, heat oil over medium heat and cook onion for 5 minutes, until soft but not brown. Sprinkle on salt and pepper and add orange juice, orange zest and rosemary; stir and cook for one minute. Add catfish. Lower heat to medium low. Cover tightly and cook for 8-10 minutes, until fish is opaque.

Remove catfish to serving plate and spoon sauce from skillet over. Garnish with orange slices if desired. Serves 4.

Cookbooks for those who like it really hot

BY CAROL DEEGAN
AP NEWSFEATURES

Some like it hot and some like it hotter.

"Turn It Up!" by noted food writer Janet Hazen (Chronicle Books, $12.95) is the blistering companion to Hazen's best-selling "Hot, Hotter, Hottest."

With 50 all-new, fiery recipes, "Turn It Up!" is organized by the dominant heat-lending ingredient in each dish. Dedicated hotheads and ingenues alike will enjoy pan-fried potatoes and horseradish cakes, grilled chicken wings with two mustards and honey, and chocolate-coffee brownies with chipotle chilies.

Dave DeWitt and Nancy Gerlach visited pepper farms, sauce and salsa makers and habanero aficionados from the Yucatan peninsula to New Mexico for "The Habanero Cookbook" (Ten Speed Press, $17.95).

Each of the habanero recipes, including peach-habanero chutney, Caribbean chicken and marinated grilled vegetables, is hot. But those that are truly fiery are labeled "extremely hot," so the reader can always reduce the recipe's heat intensity.

Also of Interest:

"The All-American Chili Cookbook" by Jenny Kellner and Richard Rosenblatt (Hearst Books, $14.95 hardcover). This is the "official cookbook" of the International Chili Society in Newport Beach, Calif.

"Red Hot Gourmet"is a collection of 50 recipes from the Cole Cooking Group ($7.95). The cookbook contains fiery recipes from Southeast Asia, Mexico and other cuisines internationally known for pure heat.

Lucinda Hutson is the author of "Tequila!: Cooking with the Spirit of Mexico" (Ten Speed Press, $16.95). Hutson provides an armchair tour of Mexico's kitchens and cantatas. Among the recipes: pinata punch, "drunken cowgirl-style" beans and jalapeno carrot cake.

Victoria Wise is the author of "Mexico: The Vegetarian Table" (Chronicle Books, $19.95), with 90 recipes, including jicama and watermelon salsa, melon and potato soup, and candied gourd squash.

"The Best of Quintana" by Patricia Quintana (Stewart, Tabori and Chang, $22.50) contains 60 recipes and 60 full-color photographs by Ignacio Urquiza. All of the recipes have been tested for the American kitchen, and substitutions are suggested for the occasional hard-to-find Mexican ingredient. Quintana is the author of "The Taste of Mexico."

"Food From My Heart: Cuisines of Mexico Remembered and Reimagined" by Zarela Martinez (Macmillan, $14) is a collection of over 175 recipes. With menus and mail-order sources for ingredients. Martinez is the owner of Zarela restaurant in New York City.

"Healthy Mexican Regional Cookery" by Lotte Mendelsohn (Font & Center Press, $17.95). With 150 recipes, travel tips, shopping tips and charming anecdotal reminiscences of family and friends.

"Betty Crocker's Easy Mexican" (Macmillan General Reference, $16). Contains 130 "old-time favorites" and new South of the Border tastes.

"The Essential Mexican Cookbook" (Courage Books-Running Press, $12.98). Contains 50 recipes, 250 full-color, step-by-step photographs and introduction to the most popular Mexican ingredients. Edited by Heather Thomas.

Southwest Cooking

Chef Wayne Harley Brachman believes desserts should be fun. And in his new book, "Cakes and Cowpokes: New Desserts from the Old Southwest" (William Morrow, $23), Brachman takes the best of the Southwest, adds his own sense of humor and mixes up great-tasting, great-looking desserts.

"Mark Miller's Indian Market Cookbook" (Ten Speed Press, $27.95) features recipes from Miller's Coyote Cafe in Santa Fe, N.M. Each recipe is prefaced with insights into the region's culture, landscape, people and culinary traditions. The cookbook also includes full-color photographs, detailed instructions for common Southwestern cooking techniques and a helpful glossary of ingredients.

"Trail of Flame: The Red Hot Guide to Spicy Restaurants Across America" by Jennifer Trainer Thompson (Ten Speed Press, $11.95) is a cultural and culinary trip through the world and underworld of hot and spicy foods. More than a restaurant guide, Thompson's book is a celebration of the "culture of hot" and where to find it.

SHOPPING CENTERED

LINDA BACHRACK

New casual looks for leisure hours

Are you sick and tired of hearing about business casual? Everyone seemed to handle "Casual Fridays" just fine. Then suddenly Fridays evolved into every day of the week and "Business Casual" became de rigeuer.

If you ask me, casual is casual. You don't need a guide to tell you that ripped jeans, Budweiser T-shirts and dirty sweats are NOT welcome in the work place. Just think neat, clean and pressed. For guys, it's business as usual sans the coat and tie. And as for women, I believe we always had enough fashion savvy to discern tasteful from tacky.

After hours ugly

The real dilemma comes after the workday is over. Do you routinely walk in the door, peel off your pantyhose, shed anything that is the least bit restrictive, and throw on a robe or a pair of old sweatpants? Seems like the sensible thing to do . . . But, I recently heard from a teenager who proclaimed that her professional mom embarrassed her with the aforementioned routine.She complained that her mom's apres work attire was so awful that she wouldn't let her friends come over after school. So, if you're a mom who doesn't have the luxury of flopping on the couch at 5 p.m.; if you have to entertain your kids' friends, or drive carpool, or pick up groceries or dry cleaning, what can you wear that's more attractive, but just as comfortable as your well-worn baggy stirrups or sweats?

Expect the unexpected

Start your search in the lingerie departments. Saks Fifth Avenue at Fairlane in Dearborn has jewel-toned velour separates and cute cotton dusters. At Neiman Marcus in the Somerset Collection, Troy, find zip-front Ruth Norman caftans in exotic designs, drawstring-waist pajama-like pants with coordinating tops that are way too pretty to wear inside the house, and sleek hostess tunics with matching pants.

In the Leisure Sportswear department at Neiman's, look for the reasonably priced Cotton Stuff separates. The cotton knits are available in elastic-waist pants and shorts, as well as skirts, jumpers and vests. The colors are pretty autumn hues of sage, putty, slate blue and beige.

Freesport is another comfy cotton French terry line that features yarn-dyed tops and bottoms with banded cuffs.

At Liz Claiborne in the Somerset Collection, getting cozy is easy and attractive in a red polyester fleece anorak, cotton striped turtleneck and black drawstring pants.Jantzen's take on easy-care casual wear includes embroidered tunic sweaters, country quilt turtleneck sweatshirts and pull-on corduroy, denim or cotton twill pants that are available at area Crowley's stores.

Finally, Hudson's encourages you to relax in style in a denim jumper and T-shirt, a Polartec shirt jacket and rib stretch pant or a plaid flannel shirt with a corduroy shirt jacket and stretchy roll-cuff pencil pants (most pieces under $40).

As for the man in your life — a recent survey revealed that most men watch television in their underwear . . . Well, give that guy of yours a little loungewear class with DKNY's black nylon and spandex boxing shorts and a white cotton long sleeve crewneck. This outfit has a "cabana attitude" rather than a couch potato look and it might inspire him to jog around the neighborhood or at least stroll the baby around the block, available at Saks Fifth Avenue).

Discount stores trade chic for savings

To shop (according to Webster's New World Dictionary) is to go from store to store looking for bargains or special items. Therefore, "real" shoppers frequent the discount emporiums.

Close outs! Manufacturer's over runs! Special purchases!

The sight and sound of these words sends shivers down the spines of bargain hunters everywhere. Locally, shoppers seeking the lowest prices find them in the aisles of these fun and fascinating stores:

Amazing Savings!: 14 Mile and Orchard Lake in Farmington Hills. Wild assortment of merchandise includes kitchenware, office supplies, paper party goods, tools, toys, cosmetics, silver and crystal.

New merchandise arrives daily. Manager advises customers to stop in two or three times a week. Buyers scour trade shows and pester manufacturers for low prices on close out merchandise. Shoppers see savings of 50 to 70-percent off retail.

Limited amounts of merchandise. No special orders. Prices are rock bottom. Amazing Savings is closed on Saturdays.

Tuesday Morning: Square Lake and Woodward in Bloomfield Hills; 14 Mile and Haggerty in Farmington Hills; 10 Mile and Meadowbrook in Novi. Based in Dallas, Texas. Open four times a year. Offers buy outs and discontinued products at savings of 50 to 80-percent off retail. Limited merchandise quantities. Manager advises customers to arrive "as soon as possible" after ads announce opening sales. Tuesday Morning operates seven days during sales. Closed Dec. 31 through Feb. 24.

Marshall's: Several area locations: Elizabeth Lake and Telegraph in Pontiac; Avon and Rochester in Rochester Hills; Orchard Lake in Farmington Hills; Southfield Rd. north of 12 Mile in Southfield; Novi and Roseville. With 500 locations across the U.S., the company's bulk buying provides big savings for customers in clean, orderly stores. Merchandise arrives by truck three times a week. Up to 60-percent off retail, (often higher on sale items). Also sells over-buys from stores like The Limited, Structure, as well as merchandise created especially for Marshall's.

T.J. Maxx: Numerous locations since 1977. Company suggests shoppers call local managers to see what days new merchandise arrives before shopping. Vendors and manufacturers offer T.J. Maxx great deals on over runs, discontinued merchandise, and special purchases. Company does not offer shipping, transfers or merchandise searches. Savings between 20 and 60-percent off retail price, more on clearance racks. Great source for saving on gifts and designer wardrobe basics.

Value City Department Stores: Warren and Newburg in Westland; Telegraph and Eureka in Taylor. New ads break on Wednesdays, best times to shop follow. Savings of 50 to 70 percent on housewares, clothing, shoes and furnishings. Low prices come from buyouts of over-runs and discontinued merchandise.

Designer Shoe Warehouse: Tel-Twelve Mall in Southfield; Rochester Road between 16 and 17 Mile, Troy.

Emilia Castillo designs art for the table

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Suggest that silver-designer Emilia Castillo lives a dream-life in paradise, and she's the first to agree.

"I surely do have many blessings," she winked at daughters Alex, 11, and Christina, 8, who accompanied her on a recent visit to Neiman Marcus in the Somerset Collection, Troy.

BEHIND THE LABEL

From her "ranch" (read production compound with 300 employees) in Taxco, Mexico, the petite brunette and her daughters, design, manufacture, and sell tableware, trophies, sculpture and jewelry across the globe. Clients include The Vatican, Prince Charles of England, and specialty stores like Neiman Marcus.

Enchanting: Sterling silver philodendron leaf necklace ($525) by Emilia Castillo at Neiman Marcus.

Castillo and partner/husband Roberto Romo, talked about their craft and company over breakfast in the department store's cafe. Their charm would make you smile. Emilia's enthusiasm for her life and work, would make you envious.

"My daughters are third generation silversmiths and designers," she said with pride. "They have their own workspace in my studio and they love to draw and create ideas. Their jewelry line is a favorite with people around the world.

"Last year in Paris, we met an older woman who told us she wears the girls' pins because they are young and happy. Her trademark is to give our pins away as gifts."

Alex looked at her mother and asked to say a few words on behalf of her own designs.

"I love to draw them," she said with a shy authority. "I am working on some necklaces and pretty silver frames now, and candleholders that come apart to make three."

Emilia explained that four silversmiths are assigned to her daughters' drawings, charged with recreating the best ideas in metal. The pins, exclusive to Neiman Marcus, cost $30 to $80.

"My girls are fortunate to attend the school that has been provided at the ranch for the children of the craftsmen," Emilia continued. "The children wear uniforms, study computer, art, English, and Japanese. This year is the first to add high school. We have 65 students, some who may eventually become apprentices at our workshops."

"Everything we do is by hand, custom," Castillo continued. "We have resisted installing machines like other silver companies in the area. I try and tell them, 'You are putting local people out of business,' but they incorrectly believe I do not want them to grow or succeed. We are dedicated to our way because we see the prosperity that being part of our company brings to young Mexican families."

At the ranch the family enjoys horseback riding, natural waterfalls and tropical gardens — luxuries brought about by the town's natural silver deposits and the artistry of Emilia's father, Antonio, and uncles Coco and Chato, who were apprentices of American architect William Spratling in the late 1930s in Taxco.

Vacationing, Spratling came across the town's magnificent silver cathedral, erected to God in the 1700s as repayment for His gift of silver. Spratling recognized the artistry in the sleepy town's trade. He settled in the area to learn its techniques and create silver pieces, now collector's items.

■ 'When I designed this gift, I pictured a very serious man with many problems on his shoulders needing, like a little boy, to pull the tail, relax, have some ease from the tensions of the day.'

Emilia Castillo
designer

The Castillo's met and married in 1978. Romo explained that it was a "shotgun" wedding quickly arranged by Emilia's father an hour after the pair returned from touring a site in Acapulco that would eventually become their award-winning restaurant "Madeiras." The restaurant was sold when the couple decided to focus all energies on becoming metalwork innovators.

Today the Castillos make one-of-a-kind silver pieces by request for governments and crown heads of state. They also make holloware, flatware, dinnerware and sculpture for the rest of us. Most pieces are silverplated, but sterling pieces are created for customers by special order through Emilia Castillo stores in Taxco, Paris, Milan and St. Barts.

Castillo said her crowning achievement came in 1992, when her company completed a cross for the interior of the Chapel of Guadalupe in the Vatican using 800 kilos of silver, donated by the people of Mexico. The chapel is near St. Peter's tomb.

She is also proud of a World Polo Masters trophy she fashioned for the government of Mexico (recently won by Prince Charles), and a silver iguana for the governor of Mexico which she uses to illustrate her design philosophy.

"The iguana's tail rattles and the body can be moved many different ways," she explained. "When I designed this gift, I pictured a very serious man with many problems on his shoulders needing, like a little boy, to pull the tail, relax, have some ease from the tensions of the day. I try to add humor to all my designs for this reason."

The Castillos continue to improve their craft, working high-tech materials into their designs and adding new color tones. Collectors have come to appreciate Castillo's unique process of fusing pure silver and porcelain, and her silverplate pieces fused with malachite. She promises to continue embellishing her pieces with inspirations from the tropical landscape that surrounds her — scampering iguanas, ephemeral butterflies and dancing fish.

Two malls will offer college scholarships

Laurel Park Place and Wonderland Mall in Livonia are speaking up for higher education.

The centers announced a first annual scholarship program for local high school classes of 1996, based on responses to an essay question. Winners will be selected by local educator judges.

Laurel Park Place and Wonderland Malls plan to award $2,500 in scholarships, divided among first, second and third place essay winners.

The first place winners will receive $1,500, second and third place winners will receive $500 each. Checks will be made out directly to the winning students with proof of enrollment at the college or vocational school of their choice. The scholarship awards can be used toward the purchase of books, supplies or the cost of classes.

The scholarships are based on the essay question "How will your college education benefit you and your community?" Principals and counselors will judge the essays.

In March 1996 there will be award ceremonies for the winners and their families at Laurel Park Place and Wonderland Malls. At that time, all winner will read their essays on stage in Center Court at both Laurel Park Place and Wonderland Malls.

Interested high school seniors can contact their school's office to pick up a scholarship program application. For additional information, students can contact their school's office, Laurel Park Place's Management Office at (313) 462-1100, or Wonderland Mall's Managment Office at (313) 522-4100.

'Strange Days' beats to death a fascinating premise

TICKETS PLEASE

JOHN MONAGHAN

In the final hours of 1999, the streets of Los Angeles look like they've just heard the Rodney King verdict. Police in riot gear hold back crowds as they loot and burn everything in sight. Asian shop owners patrol outside their businesses with Uzis under their arms.

Through these streets walks (or maybe slithers) Lenny Nero, a greasy ex-cop who hustles more than just fake Rolexes from his briefcase. He specializes in a form of virtual reality so state-of-the-art and addictive that it sells like drugs.

It works like this: an octopus-like device lies beneath a hat or wig, wires dangling onto your scalp. Keep a Discman-style deck near you and it will record everything you hear, see, even feel. Lenny collects these slices of life for resale to "wireheads," who can now tap into someone else's cerebral cortex.

A great concept to be sure. But in "Strange Days," director Kathryn Bigelow and writer James Cameron beat the idea senseless for nearly two-and-a-half hours. What should have been (and sometimes still is) the best cyber-fantasy of the decade becomes one of the year's most frustrating and ponderous films.

REVIEW

Cameron, the man behind the "Terminator" movies and last year's "True Lies," is not one for brevity. His story, co-scripted with former film critic Jay Cocks, has some of the worst dialogue you'll hear in a movie this year, a form of hard-boiled retro banter that would make Raymond Chandler wince.

Bigelow, who made the impressive "Near Dark," has some stunning moments behind the camera, right from the opening shot. Here we see a restaurant robbery take place through the eyes of one of the perpetrators, from the rounding up of customers to a chase across downtown rooftops.

While robberies and sex tapes are his most popular sellers, Nero draws the line at anything where someone is actually killed. He has a doozy on his hands, a graphic rape and murder where the killer has wired the victim so that she can feel his sensations along with her own pain.

Nero is played by Ralph Fiennes, the talented actor from "Schindler's List" and "Quiz Show." With oily hair falling to his eyes and garish necktles, he's out of his element as this urban loser and ex-cop. Even when he mumbles he's way too articulate.

No problem with Angela Bassett as the limousine driver Mace who comes through time and again for her friend. She disapproves of Nero's business, offering up of the movie's few good lines: "Memories are meant to fade; they're designed that way for a reason."

A flashback shows her coming home from work one day to find her husband led away in handcuffs while Nero watches over her son. It's one of the only moments in "Strange Days" where something is conveyed so briefly and effectively.

Of course this is primarily an action movie and it has its share of over-the-top sequences. What looks like a routine car chase, machine guns blazing from the follow car, ends with Mace and Nero trapped in a flaming limousine. Open the door and they know they'll be shot.

Familiar faces dot the supporting cast, from Tom Sizemore as the Nero's ex-cop friend to Juliette Lewis as his ex-girlfriend, now the property of a powerful music producer and club owner. He's basically an extension of the long-haired, gravel-voiced baddie in "The Crow," played by the same actor.

In a movie about seeing, the look is very important. Many of the scenes in "Strange Days" are well-designed in wide-screen, but Bigelow overcompensates for those long point-of-view passages by giving everything else more shots than necessary, at one point cutting an entire soliloquy between two slightly different angles.

"Strange Days" is far from the worst movie of the year, but it sure tries hard. Where most of Cameron's movies have been released on laser disc with additional footage in the director's cut, it might be worth a look at this one with a half hour actually trimmed.

BOB MARSHAK

Family gathering: Holly Hunter and Anne Bancroft star in "Home for the Holidays."

Share one of your favorite family holiday recipes to win a pass for two to the preview screening of "Home for the Holidays," 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 2, at the Star-John R. Theatre.

The first 50 readers to respond will receive a pass for two to the screening.

After you've dug up your recipe. Reflect on holiday's past. Share a memory of a bizarre or funny holiday incident (25 to 50 words or less) to become eligible to win one of five prize packages consisting of a movie poster, apron, soundtrack and other surprises. Include the essay (no names of relatives please) with your recipe entry.

Deadline to enter is Monday, Oct. 23. Send or fax entries to: Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, Inc., Attn: Keely Wygonik, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI 4815. To fax entries, call (313) 591-7279.

"Home for the Holidays," a Paramount Pictures release, stars Holly Hunter as Claudia Larson, a single mother who goes home every Thanksgiving to visit her family in Baltimore. A dutiful daughter always goes home for the holidays, even if she can't convince her own 15-year-old offspring to follow.

Giving thanks looks like a tall order this year, in light of the downward spiral Claudia's life is taking. In the span of 36 hours, she manages to lose her job, her coat and her cool. What Claudia doesn't expect to lose this Thanksgiving is this sense of dread and loathing — of wanting to be anywhere but home with the family.

"Home for the Holidays" is a comedy that honors the timeless holiday tradition of family gathers and reminds you of why you left home.

Churchill golfers 1st

Led by co-medalists Chris Kiehler and Gary Kraus, Livonia Churchill won its first Class A boys golf regional since 1985 Friday at Oak Pointe.

The Chargers shot a four-man total of 308, edging host Brighton by one stroke. Plymouth Salem also qualified for the state finals Friday and Saturday at Forest Akers in East Lansing with a third-place total of 317. Northville and Hartland took fourth and fifth, respectively, with 318 and 320.

Kraus, a junior, bounced back with a vengeance after shooting an 88 earlier in the week at the Western Lakes Activities Association meet (won by Churchill). He was even-par going into the final hole before a triple-bogey resulted in an 18-hole round of 74.

Kiehler, a senior, the WLAA medalist, played a steady round. He had one birdie en route to a 74.

Other Churchill scorers included senior Dave Higham (79), Leon Kashawlic (81) and Mike Cotter (84).

"Our guys did a heck of a job," Churchill coach Kirk Osler said. "We celebrated on the way back by stopping at Parmenter's Cider Mill (in Northville). We had some apples, cider and doughnuts."

Salem was led by Mike Hjelmstad's 76. He was followed by teammate Brian Fox (77), Ryan Deschaw (81) and Jeff Lear (83).

Other team scores included Westland John Glenn, ninth (333); Livonia Stevenson, 10th (335); Livonia Franklin, 17th (363). Freshman Steve Polanski had a 76 to lead Stevenson.

CC golfers qualify

Chris Misiak's 76 paced Redford Catholic Central's golf team to a second-place finish in the Class A regional Friday to advance to this weekend's state meet at Forest Akers golf course at Michigan State University.

Catholic Central was second at 308, one shot behind host Milford Lakeland and one ahead of West Bloomfield on the Pontiac Country Club course.

"We're looking forward to going back," CC coach Phil Heyer said, "to extending the season another week."

Chris Hulgrave and Brian Karabelski each shot 77, Mike Pedrys hit 78 and Brandon DiPaola 79 (only the top four shooters counted).

"We were one of the only teams who had all five kids under 80," Heyer said. "It was a tough regional. For a couple of teams, that was their home course. We had five solid scores. I'm pretty pleased."

SC, Madonna spikers win

Schoolcraft College made apple sauce Thursday out of host Flint Mott, beating the Eastern Conference women's volleyball leaders in five games, 15-6, 11-15, 15-4, 12-15, 15-7.

"We knocked Mott out of first place and we put ourselves in control — we can dictate our position in the conference," said SC coach Tom Teeters, whose team is 18-15 overall and 5-2 in conference. "It was a big effort by our team.

"But we still must win every conference match. On the plus side, those matches are at home."

Freshman setter Andrea Greer was the team's top playmaker with 55 assists.

"Andrea was able to move the ball around and take advantage of their small (5-foot, 2-inch) blocking setter," Teeters said.

Hermina Angeles was SC's top attacker with 20 kills. Michelle MacRae added 14, while Tracy Sledz (Livonia Clarenceville) and Jamie Clark (Livonia Churchill) added 12 each. Clark also had 40 digs.

McRae led with six blocks. Stacy Sallus added five.

■ Junior middle hitter Kelly McCausland (Redford Union) had 18 kills and 14 digs Thursday, leading host Madonna University to a 15-9, 15-9, 16-14 triumph over Siena Heights University.

Junior Julie Martin added 10 kills, while sophomore Erin Gregoire contributed 15 kills.

"This was a match where we got a chance to get everyone in, and offensive, we hit the ball extremely hard," said Madonna coach Jerry Abraham, whose team is 21-8 overall. "Our defense was set up to Siena Heights' off-speed type game, and that gave us a few problems.

"But I thought some of our younger players played well and got some game experience. I'm happy with the outcome."

■ The 6-2 Martin was named NAIA Great Lakes Section II Player of the Week after averaging 4.12 kills and 2.06 blocks per game as Madonna went 5-0 for the week. In 17 games, Martin recorded 70 kills with a .359 attack percentage, along with 36 blocks, 34 digs and seven service aces. She was also successful on 48 of 50 serves for a .960 percentage.

Spartans earn title shot, 14-7

■ Livonia Stevenson will play for the Western Lakes football championship for the second straight year after beating Westland John Glenn, 14-7.

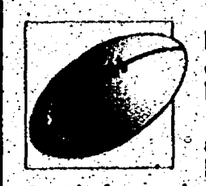
BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER



Livonia Stevenson lineman Eric Curl called it "pure football out there."

And nobody could argue Friday as the host Spartans, playing before a homecoming crowd of 3,000-plus, won its first-ever outright Lakes Division football title with a spine-tingling 14-7 triumph over long-time nemesis Westland John Glenn.

"It was a battle of two really good teams," said the 6-foot-3, 246-pound Curl, a two-way starter. "It was a hard fight and nobody wanted to go home a loser."

It was a dramatic finish as Glenn reached Stevenson's 1 in the final seconds but failed to score.

Stevenson defensive back Tom DuMont deflected Glenn quarterback Justin Berent's pass to the corner of the end zone (intended for Bernie Toby) on the game's final play.

"I knew number 81 (Toby) was their go-to guy," DuMont said. "They (Glenn) ran a fade to the corner. I think I broke to the ball before he broke, and maybe I was lucky I guess. I couldn't seem to get any (defensive) plays all night, but maybe this was my big play."

Many thought the Spartans, who reached the 1994 state Class AA playoffs before losing to Glenn in the region final, 21-20, had been hit too hard by graduation to make another run at a WLAA crown. But Stevenson, under first-year coach Tim Gabel, improved to 6-1 overall and wound up 5-0 in the division.

The Stevenson victory sets up a rematch of last year's Western Lakes Activities Association championship game against Farmington Hills Harrison. The Hawks, who beat the Spartans 21-20 for the title in 1994, also bring a 6-1 overall and 5-0 divisional record into the showdown, 7:30 p.m. this Friday at Stevenson.

"What makes this team unique is that they work extremely hard," Curl said. "And everybody wants to win. There are no individuals on this team."

It took a great individual effort, however, by senior wide receiver Jeff Backus to give Stevenson the game-winning points.

The Spartans drove 74 yards in 14 plays, capped by Backus' 24-yard touchdown catch from quarterback Dean Bacheller. The score, coming on a fourth-and-7 situation, occurred with just 3:45 remaining.

Agony and ecstasy: Glenn quarterback Justin Berent lays dejected near the goal line as Stevenson players celebrate the 14-7 win.

"We drew up that play in the dirt," said the 27-year-old Gabel. "Our game plan was to throw the ball when we could. I had faith in Dean, in our receivers, and in our blockers. We felt the passes were there all night, but our blocking broke down in the first half.

"Plus, Glenn can stop the run the way they play defense. It would be futile to run, run, run."

Backus, in the right spot at the right time, took the pass over the middle and broke away from a Glenn tackler at the 10-yard line before heading into the end zone.

"They (Glenn) were in double coverage so I made a fake to the outside and went inside," Backus said. "I had trouble tucking it in, but I got my legs up so I wouldn't fall."

Backus ran cross country a year ago for Stevenson.

"I played football my sophomore and freshman years," he said. "I went to talk to the coach because I missed it too much."

Down seven points, Glenn put together a last-ditch drive of its own in the final 3:37.

North Farmington wins tiebreaker

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

North Farmington and host Livonia Stevenson, scoring 22 points each, tied for first at last week's Western Lakes Activities Association girls tennis tournament.

But the WLAA championship trophy goes to North, which won the overall title based on a better dual-meet record during the regular season.

The difference was a half-point.

During the regular season, the Raiders and Stevenson tied 4-4 in their only meeting, but North finished 10-0-1 while the Spartans, who also tied Northville, 4-4, finished 9-0-2.

Third place was also a battle between Northville and Farmington Hills Harrison.

Harrison, 8-2-1 during the regular season, scored 16 points, while Northville, 8-0-2, finished with 15. See statistical summary.

"We've always done it (0-0) and that puts more pressure on you at the league meet," North coach Norm Staniszewski said. "We've been third in the tournament before and it costs you. It's more pressure than the duals.

"It couldn't get any closer. I don't like those close meets."

Sophomore Rachel Wool, the top seed at No. 4 singles, earned a three-set victory over Harrison's Lindsay Frank in the finals to clinch the team title for North.

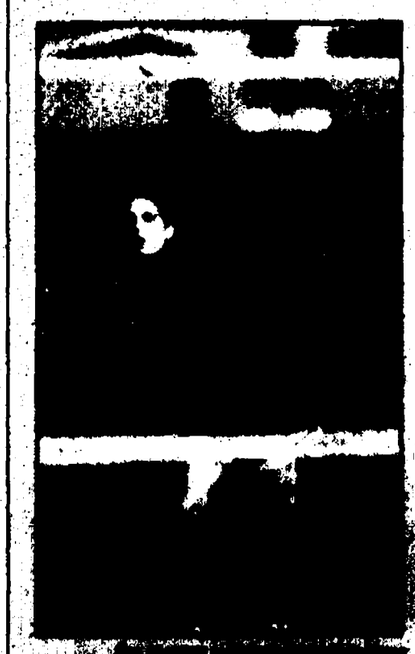
"Rachel's been a steady player all year," Staniszewski said of the 10th-grader. "She was undefeated in the league and her only loss was to Bloomfield Hills Andover."

The Raiders also won the No. 4 doubles flight behind the efforts of sophomore Kristina Kraljevic and junior Elyse Lakritz. The North duo was also seeded No. 1.

North also piled up points by reaching the finals at No. 3 singles, No. 1 and No. 3 doubles.

Harrison's unseeded Brittany Maxey, a freshman, dealt North sophomore Sarah Hand her first WLAA loss in the finals at No. 3 singles, 7-5, 4-6, 6-1. In the semifinals, Maxey also upset No. 2 seed Amanda Kowal of Walled Lake Central, 6-2, 6-4.

Stevenson eyes state



Livonia Stevenson is making its first trip to the state Class A girls tennis tournament for the first time since 1992.

The Spartans scored the minimum requirement of 16 points to take third Friday at the Ann Arbor Pioneer regional.

Host Pioneer (28 points), winning all seven flights, and rival Ann Arbor Huron (17) finished one-two to also advance into this weekend's state finals at the Midland Community Tennis Center.

Stevenson's No. 1 singles player, sophomore Whitney Crosby, finished the finals before losing to Huron's Cara Risner in a battle of seconds, 6-1, 6-3.

The Spartans' No. 3 doubles team of Kajal Badani and Andrea Khoury, both seniors, also advanced to the finals before losing to Lindsay Clay and Nicole Wagner of Pioneer, 6-4, 6-1.

Stevenson's other two doubles teams and three singles players each captured two matches before being ousted.

■ TENNIS

"I thought we'd win at No. 3 singles, but they had gone three sets before and I knew it be close," Staniszewski said. "I knew we had a solid team because of the balance. Our No. 3 and 4 doubles teams gave us some depth.

"And our No. 1 (Lauren Jones) has played consistent tennis. She's always been a stalwart."

Walled Lake Central's Becky Clanton, a junior, and Danielle Geelhood, a senior, took the No. 1 and 2 singles titles, respectively.

Clanton downed Stevenson sophomore Whitney Crosby in the finals, 6-7, 6-4, 6-1. Crosby, who is 17-3 overall, who lost earlier this year to Jones, gained a 6-4, 6-0 win over the North girl.

Geelhood, meanwhile, beat Harrison's Sara Kloosterman in a battle of top seeds, 6-3, 5-7, 6-1.

Stevenson, meanwhile, won three of four doubles flights.

Sophomores Lindsay Pfeifer and Anita Plante, the No. 1 seeds, erased a 4-1 third-set deficit to beat North's senior duo of Erica Brown and Jennifer Panush for the No. 1 doubles crown, 5-7, 6-4, 6-4.

At No. 2, senior Kristi DiBasio and junior Pam Samael, the top seeds, took the title with a 6-4, 6-4 win over Northville's Amanda Nelson and Sarah Johnson, avenging a three-set dual-meet loss.

At No. 3, seniors Kajal Badani and Andrea Khoury capped an undefeated WLAA season with a 6-2 6-0 win over North's Jenny Yen and Danielle Weisman.

Patriots prevail

Churchill can't capitalize in 14-7 loss

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Franklin has only two football victories this season, but the Patriots make them count when it comes to Livonia encounters.

The Patriots can crown themselves city champs after escaping with a 14-7 triumph Saturday over visiting Livonia Churchill.

Franklin, which defeated Lakes Division champion Livonia Stevenson earlier this year, 15-14, is now 2-5 overall and 1-4 in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Churchill, still searching for its first win of the season and only the second during the 1990s, drops to 0-7 and 0-5.

The Chargers' downfall was missed scoring chances in the "red zone." Churchill moved inside the Franklin 20-yard line on four different occasions, but could only convert once when junior quarterback Nathan Jerome threw a 5-yard TD pass to Matt McCormick with 44 seconds left in the game.

Clinging to a 7-0 lead early in the fourth quarter, Franklin was pinned back on its own 4 after Kevin Biga intercepted a Churchill pass at the Patriots' 3.

But Franklin deflated Churchill by marching 97 yards in 13 plays, capped by a 2-yard touchdown run from sophomore Anthony Grech with only 3:16 remaining.

Franklin got out of danger when Dave McMullen hit Paul Terek with a 7-yard dump over the middle and Steve Ashbay followed with a 34-yard scamper.

"We try to be explosive, but we're really a ball control team," Lee said. "That play (Terek's catch) was key. That's why I called timeout. I knew Churchill was coming up with a lot of people at line of scrimmage. We needed to make a big play."

To their credit, the Chargers came back and scored in only 2½ minutes. The Chargers then tried an onside kick after McCormick's TD, but the ball didn't travel the required 10 yards.

"Franklin deserved the win, but our kids deserved a win as far as effort goes," Churchill coach Steve Naumcheff said. "We've had our fair share of frustration. The record is still the same and we're still on the short end of the scoreboard, but these kids are waiting to erupt."

Jerome accounted for 182 of Churchill's 228 total yards. He completed 18 of 29 passes for 153 yards. But the Chargers had only 75 yards rushing on 28 attempts.

Churchill's speedy tailback Todd Wilson was held to 41 yards in 16 carries.

"A lot of teams have gotten passing yards against us," Franklin coach Rick Lee said. "And they (Churchill) did a nice job executing the passing game, but we did a good job at stopping the run."

The Patriots had just enough offensively to beat the Chargers.

Midway through the second period, Terek, taking a punt on the fly, returned the ball 15 yards to the Churchill 35.

Five plays later, McMullen's pass, intended for Terek, was accidentally tipped into the hands of Ryan Davis, who grabbed the loose ball while sprawled out on his belly in the middle of the end zone.

The TD pass covered 11 yards and Brandon Bell converted the first of his two extra points with 5:30 left in the half make it 7-0 for Franklin.

Churchill then drove 72 yards all the way to the Patriots' 1, but came up short after being penalized 5 yards each (illegal procedure and offsides).

On the opening drive of the game, the Chargers reached the Franklin 11, but Wilson's halfback pass was picked off by Terek at the goal line.

"They (Churchill) had opportunities," Lee said. "It was an ugly win for us, but a win that we're very happy to have."

Franklin had 220 yards total offense as McMullen, the senior, was eight of 14 for 96 yards. He was intercepted once (by McCormick). Grech was the game's leading rusher with 73 yards in 19 carries.

Trojans roll at homecoming, 51-18

Junior Chris Lakner ran for 138 yards, scoring on a pair of short touchdown runs, and Livonia Clarenceville got plenty of long dazzlers to swamp Lutheran Northwest 51-18 in a Metro Conference football game Friday at Clarenceville.

The Trojans didn't complete any of their four pass attempts — but who needed to? With 354 yards rushing between five backs and special plays galore, the Crusaders saw more backs of Clarenceville jerseys than they did fronts.

Clarenceville, 3-4 overall and 3-3 in the Metro Conference, even scored on the last play of the game — a 43-yard romp by freshman back Walter Ragland. Another freshman, John Wallace, pounced on a fumble that gave the Trojans field position for a score on their next series.

Bryan Decaire scored on a 70-yard run and sophomore linebacker Tim Atkins intercepted a pass in the fourth quarter and zipped 88 yards into Lutheran Northwest's end zone.

Lutheran Northwest, winless in seven games, got the first score of the game on a 38-yard pass play. The Crusaders should have known something was up when the extra point was missed, even though they drew to within 28-12 at halftime on a halfback option pass on the last play of the half.

Junior Donahue Fulton returned a punt 66 yards for Clarenceville in the second quarter to start the flood of game breakers.

FOOTBALL

■ FORDSON 19, WAYNE 8: For three quarters, Wayne Memorial played visiting Dearborn Fordson evenly.

Unfortunately for the Zebras, they were outscored in the second quarter 19-8. The loss dropped Wayne to 2-5 overall, 2-4 in the Mega Conference's Red Division. Fordson is 6-1 overall, 5-1 in the Red.

Lorenzo Guess once again supplied most of the offense for Wayne. He completed 11-of-27 passes for 168 yards, throwing a 25-yard touchdown pass to his brother, Lavelle Guess, with 6:21 left in the half. One play earlier, Lorenzo found Jim Biwula on a 34-yard pass play to the 25; Dwayne Jackson's two-point conversion run gave the Zebras' a short-lived 8-7 lead.

It took less than two minutes for the Thunderbirds to recapture it. Carlos Smith tossed a 40-yard scoring pass to Mohamad El-Zaghir, and Fordson was ahead 13-8. They finished the scoring in the final minute of the half, with Kamel Jaafar racing 34 yards for the TD. The play capped a 75-yard drive, which began after Wayne fumbled the ball away at the Fordson 25.

Jaafar also scored the game's first TD early in the second quarter on a 1-yard burst. He finished with 138 yards rushing on 23 carries to lead all ball carriers.

Jackson led Wayne's rushers with 48 yards on nine attempts. Wayne was outgained in the game, 265-224.

■ HARPER WOODS 24, LUTHERAN WESTLAND 0: Harper Woods' Kevin Pace riddled Lutheran Westland's defense for 285 yards rushing and three touchdowns in leading the Pioneers to a home field victory Friday.

The win improved Harper Woods' record to 5-2 overall, 5-1 in the Metro Conference. The Warriors slipped to 3-4 overall, 3-3 in the Metro.

Pace was a one-man wrecking crew for the Pioneers. He not only rushed for three TDs, he threw for one on a halfback option pass at the end of the third quarter.

Lutheran Westland, meanwhile, was aiding Harper Woods' cause by turning the ball over three times. The Warriors twice drove inside the Pioneer 10, losing the ball on an interception in the first half and on a fumble in the second.

They did get 105 rushing yards from Albert Cook. Cook and LeRoy Turner were the defensive leaders.

"The way the seeds worked out there had to be some upsets, but North won just about everywhere they were supposed to," said Stevenson coach George Croll, whose team was the defending champion. "We lost in three sets at No. 4 singles and No. 4 doubles. Those were key matches, but North was seeded higher in each case.

"And Whitney beat Lauren Jones. We beat them where we had to beat them."

Croll, however, would like to have back the dual meet tie with Northville on Sept. 22.

"We played them on a cold, windy night," he said. "That match hurt us.

Starting on their own 34 with three timeouts to burn, Berent, a sophomore, hit five of seven passes to put the Rockets in scoring position. With 12 seconds remaining, Glenn fullback Matt Griglio ran 3 yards to the Stevenson 1, but the Rockets were penalized 5 yards for illegal procedure when a lineman wasn't apparently set as Berent was grounding the ball.

With the ball on the Stevenson 6, Berent tried one last-ditch pass, but it fell incomplete.

"We had our chances," said Glenn coach Chuck Gordon, whose team falls to 5-2 overall and 3-2 in the division. "Stevenson is a good team. They wouldn't be where they are if they weren't.

"We just didn't play as consistent as we needed to be. In big games things go back and forth and we needed one more play somewhere along the line. We didn't get it done when we had to."

Glenn had 198 total yards to Stevenson's 172. The Rockets were led on the ground by senior tailback Jay Jackson, who had 90 yards on 23 carries. Griglio added 63 on 13 carries.

The Spartans' workhorse was junior tailback Gade Clark, who finished with 87 yards in 23 carries.

"Clark is a very good back," Gordon said. "We expected it to be a good defensive game and that's exactly what it was."

The Spartans' defense arose to the occasion.

Clark couldn't handle Bachelle-er's lateral pass on the game's first offensive play and Glenn's Jeff Cook recovered at the Spartans' 30.

But Stevenson averted disaster, holding on downs when safety Chris Colley tripped Jackson at the 21 on fourth-and-5.

Stevenson scored the game's first TD with 4:22 left in the first half on Bacheller's 1-yard sneak. (Jason Borregard added the first of his two extra points.) The score was set up when fullback Mike Allison, taking a direct snap from center, surprised the Glenn defense with a 43-yard bomb to Du-Mont to the Glenn 33. Stevenson also got some help on a questionable pass interference call in the end zone, giving the Spartans a first down.

The Rockets, helped by Toby's 39-yard kickoff return, then drove 52 yards in seven plays, capped by Berent's 1-yard TD sneak. Steve Paling's extra points made it 7-7 with 1:26 remaining in the half.

In the third quarter, Stevenson marched to the Glenn 11, but Paling intercepted Bacheller's pass as he was hit by lineman Ira Bargon.

The Rockets moved it to the Stevenson 40, but Jackson was stacked up short of a first down on fourth-and-1.

"Defensively, except for the drive they (Glenn) scored on, I thought we absolutely played stellar defense," Gabel said. "Jackson is hard to tackle and No. 34 (Griglio) runs hard, but overall I thought our defense was excellent."

The Spartans were particularly gritty down the stretch when Glenn began to drive.

Clarenceville gets 1st victory of year

It took awhile, but Livonia Clarenceville finally has a victory in girls basketball.

The Trojans played a strong first half Thursday, outscoring visiting Hamtramck 24-8, en route to a 34-27 Metro Conference victory.

Clarenceville is now 1-11 overall and 1-4 in the conference.

The Cosmos remain winless in 12 games.

"We played well the first half," Clarenceville coach Bob Wolf said. "We made some turnovers in the second half, but it was a situation of who made the fewer mistakes."

Sophomore forward Melissa Berry led the victorious Trojans with 11 points. Senior center Nora Kohlruss added five.

Hamtramck, which shot only six of 18 from the free-throw line, got a game-high 13 points from Vicky Nuculovic.

■ LUTH. WESTLAND 49, LUTHERAN EAST 25: Despite a slow start, Metro Conference leader Lutheran High Westland recovered Thursday to beat visiting Harper Woods Lutheran East.

The Warriors, who have won 12 in a row, are 13-1 overall and 6-0 in the Metro. East falls to 4-6 and 4-3.

Facing a packed in zone defense, Lutheran Westland missed its first nine shots, falling behind, 6-0. But Jenny Twietmeyer, who finished with nine points, hit a three-pointer and sister Janell Twietmeyer added a field goal to cut the first quarter deficit to 6-5.

Lutheran Westland went on to outscore the Eagles 18-7 in the second quarter and 25-12 in the second half.

Katie Olinger, who sparked the Warriors defensively, led the scorers with 12 points and seven assists.

BASKETBALL

Melissa Stadelbauer had seven for East.

■ LADYWOOD 65, DIVINE CHILD 60: Livonia Ladywood, behind senior center Kathy Dankert's 23 points and eight rebounds, broke a 10-game losing streak Friday with a Catholic League Central Division triumph over visiting Dearborn Divine Child.

Katie Law contributed 16 points for the Blazers, now 2-12 overall and 1-7 in the division.

Erin LeSage added nine rebounds and seven points for Ladywood, which outscored DC 14-9 in the decisive fourth quarter.

Anne Yoches tallied 12 points in a losing cause for the Falcons.

■ HURON VALLEY 46, ZOE CHRISTIAN 24: Nikki Kightlinger scored 21 points and Michelle Ruth added 15 Friday, leading Westland Huron Valley Lutheran to the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference win at Warren Zoe Christian.

The Hawks improved to 9-4 overall and 3-1 in the MIAC.

Kari Carlson and Lori Carlson combined for six points each for Zoe, now 4-9 and 0-4.

■ WAYNE 46, MONROE 39: It wasn't artistic, but Wayne Memorial came away with the Mega Conference-Red Division victory Thursday against the host Trojans.

Wayne is now 10-2 overall and 5-1 in the division. Monroe drops to 3-8 and 1-5.

Junior Yolanda Holt paced the winners with 10 points, while Sandy Jackson added nine. The Zebras were seven of 10 from the free-throw line.

"I was not happy with the way we played," Wayne coach Chuck Henry said. "We never seemed to be in the game. I guess we were flat after the Garden City win (73-52 on Tuesday.)"

Jennifer Ansel scored 12 for Monroe, which was nine of nine from the charity stripe.

■ NORTHVILLE 62, FRANKLIN 49: On Wednesday, host Livonia Franklin couldn't overcome a sluggish first quarter start in a Western Lakes Activities Association battle with the visiting Mustangs.

Franklin, which trailed 13-2 after one period, got a game-high 21 points from senior guard Tracy Rynkiewicz. Senior forward Kellie Main added 11.

The Patriots, now 7-6 overall and 3-4 in the Western Lakes Activities Association, pulled to within two points in the fourth quarter, but couldn't get over the hump.

Three Northville players scored in double figures — Gina Chiasson (17), Lauren Metaj (16) and Christine Hearndon (11). The Mustangs are 9-2 overall and 6-1 in the WLAA.

■ W.L. CENTRAL 64, JOHN GLENN 27: The state's No. 3-ranked team in Class A, Walled Lake Central, rolled to its 12th straight victory without a loss Thursday at the expense of host Westland John Glenn.

Becky Cummings paced the victorious Vikings (12-0, 7-0) with a game-high 22 points and grabbed 12 rebounds. Jessica Regentin added 13.

No Glenn player reached double figures.

The Rockets fall to 1-10 overall and 0-7 in the WLAA.

■ SALEM 69, STEVENSON 28: It was no contest Thursday as state-ranked Plymouth Salem (8-4, 4-2) rolled to the WLAA triumph over visiting Livonia Stevenson (6-7, 3-4).

Senior center Shellye Sills paced a balanced Salem attack with 13 points and seven rebounds.

The Rocks outscored Stevenson 40-11 in the second half.

Other contributions came from Amanda Abraham, who had 12 points, five rebounds and seven assists; Andrea Pruett, 10 points and seven rebounds; Angela Sillmon, nine points and five steals; Janelle Sterling, nine points; and Kelly Simpson, eight points.

Stacey Nichols, a senior center, paced Stevenson with nine points.

■ W.L. WESTERN 56, CHURCHILL 41: Jody Miller pumped in 15 points and Gina Burke contributed 13 Thursday, leading host Walled Lake Western (2-10, 2-5) to the WLAA win over Livonia Churchill (1-11, 0-7).

The Chargers, who couldn't overcome a 22-3 first-quarter deficit, got 15 points from Alicia December and 14 points and eight rebounds from Jessie Jenkins.

"We were standing around and watching from the stands, we weren't in the ball game and it cost us," Churchill coach Dave Balog said of the poor start. "They (Western) did everything right and made their shots."

Stevenson swimmers run mark to 7-0

State-ranked Livonia Stevenson remained unbeaten in dual meets Thursday, winning nine of 12 events in a 117-70 girls swim victory at North Farmington.

The Spartans are 7-0 overall and 2-0 in the Lakes Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Julie Kern was a double winner for the Spartans, capturing the 200-yard individual medley (2:20.82) and 100 butterfly (1:03.62).

Other Stevenson first-place finishers included Tina Caranicolas, 200 freestyle (2:03.06); Anne Aristeo, 50 freestyle (24.68); Beth Gallagher, diving (202.7 points); Julie Gallagher, 500 freestyle (5:29.97); and Kelly Carlisle, 100 backstroke (1:05.32).

Aristeo, Carlisle, Marti McKenzie and Jordyn Godfroid won the 200 medley relay (1:55.1), while the foursome of Aristeo, Caranicolas and Marla and Marti McKenzie took the 400 freestyle relay (3:49.04).

Country Day smacks CC, 5-1

Redford Catholic Central stayed close for a half, but Beverly Hills-Detroit Country Day rolled to a 5-1 boys soccer victory over the the visiting Shamrocks.

CC falls to 9-4-2 overall.

Country Day, ranked No. 1 in Class B, got three goals from Tim Castillo, all in the second half. His penalty kick after a CC handball at the 46-minute mark made it 3-1.

"We just kind of died after that," CC coach Phil LaJoy said.

Maurice Ojeda and Steven Chang tallied the other goals for the Yellow Jackets, now 11-0-3 overall.

CC trailed 2-0 early in the second half when Tom Derhake scored on an assist from Dan Mulvihill.

"We just made mistakes and they capitalized," CC coach Phil LaJoy said. "They're a good team, no question about it.

Travis Miller started in goal for CC and Matt Kessler finished up.

ROUNDUP

■ STEVENSON 5, W.L. WESTERN 0: Jeff Urbats notched his 23rd and 24th goals of the season, while goalkeepers Jim Grewe and Todd Smith combined on the shutout Wednesday, leading unbeaten Livonia Stevenson (14-0-1) to the Western Lakes crossover victory over host Walled Lake Western.

Matt Quinter, Steve Ingrao and Pete Lechowicz added goals for the Spartans.

■ CHURCHILL 5, N. FARMINGTON 0: Livonia Churchill celebrated Senior Night Wednesday with a 5-0 boys soccer WLAA victory over visiting North Farmington.

The win improved the Chargers to 8-3-4 overall and 7-1-2 in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Senior midfielder Brian Zawislak paced the Chargers with two goals and two assists.

Junior Corey Berzac added one goal and one assist.

Seniors Mike Monson and Jeff Tomlinson added goals. Senior Jeff Stirling contributed two assists, while junior Chip Norton chipped in with one.

"All the seniors started," Churchill coach Chad Campau said. "It was a nice finish for them."

■ FRANKLIN 4, JOHN GLENN 0: The Patriots improved to 11-5 overall on the season with the Western Lakes crossover win Wednesday at Westland John Glenn.

Eric Kracht scored Franklin's first goal from Mike Gonzalez; Steve Blanconi followed from Bill Berner; Gonzalez from Dan Schloff; and Steve Finneran from goalkeeper Shawn MacGillis, who notched his sixth shutout of the year.

■ WAYNE 2, CARLSON 2: On Wednesday, host Wayne Memorial played Gibraltar Carlson to a tie in a Mega-White encounter.

Andy Arnett scored twice for the Zebras, now 2-4-3 in the division.

Tony Pitzenbarger had two assists, while goalkeeper Jason Wallace was sharp in the nets.

On Oct. 9, Clint Nemeth had the lone goal in Wayne's 4-1 loss to visiting Taylor Center.

■ LUTHERAN WESTLAND 2, CRANBROOK 0: On Oct. 10, sophomore Chris Broge and Brad Woehlke each teamed up for a goal and an assist, leading Lutheran High Westland past host Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook in a Metro Conference game.

Goalkeeper Adam Danielczyk made seven saves in posting the shutout.

On Friday, Lutheran Westland lost to visiting Grosse Pointe University-Liggett in a Metro match, 2-0.

The Warriors are now 7-7-2 overall and 3-7 in the Metro.

■ HURON VALLEY 4, ZOE CHRISTIAN 3: Jeremy Zahn had two goals and one assist, while teammate Joe Hartley tallied the other goal as Westland Huron Valley Lutheran beat Warren Zoe Christian to move into third place in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference.

Huron Valley is now 5-8-1 overall and 4-4 in the MIAC.

Assist goes to Abuamsha in Ocelot victory

George Abuamsha is becoming quite a set-up man.

The Westland John Glenn High product assisted on three goals Wednesday, leading host Schoolcraft College to a 5-0 men's soccer victory over visiting Macomb CC.

"George has really been playing well of late," said SC coach Van Dimitriou, whose team is 8-2-2 overall and 5-0 in the Eastern Conference of the Michigan Community College Athletic Association.

COLLEGES

The Ocelots jumped out to a 3-0 halftime lead as Abuamsha put a pass on the left foot of Tawfiq Eldabadani (Dearborn High), who blistered a shot to the right corner from 18 yards out.

Victor Rodopoulos (Livonia Franklin) then made it 2-0 on a pass from Eldabadani.

Mo Hijazi (Dearborn) scored the next two goals, both set-ups from Abuamsha. On the first goal, Hijazi was isolated on the left side and beat the defender and sweeper. On the second score, Hijazi deked a pair of defenders on the right side and beat the Macomb keeper.

Canton, Rocks win 3-0 games

After a scoreless first half, Plymouth Salem soccer coach Ken Johnson made a few halftime adjustments that resulted in three second-half goals and a 3-0 victory for the Rocks over Northville Wednesday at Northville.

The win allows Salem to improve to 14-3 overall. The Rocks next host Livonia Churchill at 7 p.m. tonight in a Western Lakes Activities Association crossover match.

"They were very tough in the first half," said Johnson of the Mustangs. "They were fired up and really flying around, until halftime.

"We made a couple of changes and went to three forwards."

Andy Makins, Mike Mezgec and Ronny Mashni each capitalized on Salem's more offensive style in the second half by scoring goals. Scott Loewe assisted on Mezgec's and Mashni's goals; Drew Drummond assisted on Makins' score.

■ Canton 3, W.L. Central 0: Ryan Meath popped in two goals, propelling Plymouth Canton to victory Wednesday against visiting Walled Lake Central.

"I wasn't playing a lot of kids because we have some people banged up," coach Don Smith said. The win improved the Chiefs' record to 11-4-2 overall.

Anthony Riemma also scored a goal, and assisted on one of Meath's. Other assists went to Scott Wright and Nick Wright.

■ Country Day 5, CC 1: Redford Catholic Central stayed close for a half, but after that Beverly Hills-Detroit Country Day rolled over the visiting Shamrocks.

CC falls to 9-4-2 overall.

Country Day, ranked No. 1 in Class B, got three goals from Tim Castillo, all in the second half. His penalty kick after a CC handball at the 46-minute mark made it 3-1.

"We just kind of died after that," CC coach Phil LaJoy said.

Maurice Ojeda and Steven Chang tallied the other goals for the Yellow Jackets, now 11-0-3 overall.

HENRY FORD WYANDOTTE HOSPITAL

ONE GOOD NAME DESERVES ANOTHER.

Innovations that continually improve the level of health care available to our community. That's what you find at Henry Ford Wyandotte Hospital. Now that we have built a partnership with Henry Ford Health System we can serve our community even better. And soon, we'll be building something else... a multi-million dollar replacement and expansion project to meet the needs of the Downriver community into the 21st century. Our new and expanded emergency room, operating suites, obstetrical suites and cardiac services are just a few of the areas that demonstrate this commitment to improving the quality of our services and facilities. While our name, size and resources grow, our focus remains the same: serving the Downriver community.

At Henry Ford Health System, our vertically integrated system redefines the idea of health care delivery. We remain committed to providing superior, comprehensive care to our own patients, which in turn raises the level of care available throughout the country. It's an exciting process that works because of the talent and resources behind it. And if your ambitions are as advanced as your talent, you can find your place within our system.

'95 Lincoln Continental gives Lexus a run for its money

By Anne Fracassa
Avanti NewsFeatures

ROAD TEST By Anne Fracassa

CARMEL, Calif. — When Lexus came on the market five years ago, American luxury carmakers didn't really take the threat to heart. It was a mistake they later regretted.

Today, the battle to sell a state-of-the-art luxury car to demanding American car buyers isn't so clear-cut. The redesigned Lincoln Continental complicates everything. This car should prove to be one of Ford Motor Co.'s better ideas of all time.

But let's back up for a sec to get some perspective on the luxury-car segment. When Lincoln-Mercury introduced the Mark VIII about 18 months ago, many thought the light bulb had burned out at Ford. The VIII didn't look, feel or act like a luxury car. It just didn't compete with Lexus and Infiniti. And the previous-generation Continental didn't rate, either.

But the lightbulb is back on in the heads of engineers at Ford's Lincoln-Mercury Division with this 1995 Continental, which should make its pricier import competitors shudder.

The Continental delivers the newest and most innovative technology offered by Ford in years.

Just slip in behind the wheel. You're staring into a Lexus LS 400 instrument panel, complete with 3D graphics. No more plastic on the dash. Fine-touching, leather-like material surrounds you. Colors aren't stark; instead, they're really pleasing. The wood trim is understated and actually looks real — it's not cheap plastic imitation.

This is a Lexus LS 400 with a Lincoln nameplate on it.

The Continental's MSRP is $41,375, up from the previous model's base price of $34,375. Ford expects to sell at least 30,000 Continentals in 1995.

Keith McGee, vice president and general manager of the Lincoln-Mercury Division, said the Continental was not built from the ground up.

"The Continental was built from the customer out," he said. "Our mission was to build the best front-wheel-drive luxury car in the world. Every aspect of Continental is personalized for the individual driver."

Herein lies the rub. Personalization for at least two drivers has never been done — by a domestic or foreign automaker.

Oh, sure, we've seen those little memory buttons on the driver's door that can recall seating and steering-wheel placement for two different drivers. But this sets everything. Or everything that you change when you get into a car to drive.

Lincoln calls it the Memory Profile System, and it's comprehensive. Each driver can set his or her own preferences for autolamp delay settings, inside and outside mirror positions, seat positions, instrument lighting intensity, easy entry and exit seating positions, ride firmness (plush, normal and firm), variable assist steering effort (low, medium and high) and even radio station presets.

The driver can also set on and off positions for the door lock confirmation chirp, automatic express-down driver's window, automatic door locks at 3 miles per hour and automatic tilt-down outside rearview mirrors that help drivers see better when they're backing out of a space.

All this can be programmed in the driver's seat by scrolling through a message center in the instrument panel. Once all the selections are made, the driver can set the program by using the key fob or by choosing the "driver 1" or "driver 2" buttons on the driver's door panel.

And if you just don't want to fool with it — as some mature drivers who aren't computer-oriented — it can all be set at the dealership at delivery, as many times as the owner wishes, said Fred Simon, project manager for the Continental.

"What we're doing is tailoring the car for each individual customer, and (that) lets us build a car around the customer," he said. "Such personalization of a car is the first of its kind in the industry."

The Continental is powered by an all-new InTech V-8 engine. It's Ford's first transverse-mounted front-wheel-drive engine and the first time the Continental has ever had a V-8.

The car's got a 4.6-liter dual overhead cam four-valve 8-cylinder that produces a more-than-adequate 260 horsepower. It has 62 percent more power than the 3.8-liter V6 it replaces, and has a zero-60 time of 7.6 seconds.

Due to its platinum spark plugs, the InTech engine can go 100,000 miles without a tune-up and is coupled to a beefy 4-speed automatic transmission, a computer-managed air suspension, load-leveling suspension and four-wheel independent suspension system.

Other changes on the Continental:

* The radio antenna is now within the rear window glass to cut wind noise.
* There's a 5-disc CD changer in the center console (rather than in the trunk).
* A hands-free, voice-activated cellular phone is now. The phone is so sensitive that it can even detect your individual voice even if you have a cold. And, more importantly, it won't voice-activate a call during normal conversation. It only calls if you direct a command to make the call. This is an important feature because previous voice systems would dial "the jerk" if that was a keyword, causing embarrassment since the driver didn't really mean to call "the jerk" right now.

Anti-lock brakes, dual airbags, side-impact standards that meet the 1998 federal standards and 5 mph bumpers round out the safety package.

"The interior and exterior design enhancements make the 1995 Continental a more than worthy opponent for its import and domestic competition," said L-M GM McGee.

For once, he's right. The lightbulb shines bright on this one.
