Council: Art Van is on the hot seat again

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

Art Van Furniture has come under fire again from the Westland City Council for failing to complete landscaping work at the company's 8300 N. Wayne Road store,

The controversy, resurrected after months of calm, prompted Council-woman Justine Barns last week to lash out at a company that she said makes money in Westland while ignoring city officials' orders.

"When do you resolve the problem totally?" she demanded of store manager Tim Blankenship during a council meeting.

The latest conflict erupted as Art Van sought council approval for a tent sale that the furniture company wanted to slate for Tuesday through June 3 to sell excess stock. The company had planned to erect a tent in the store parking lot for the

However, council members postponed for two weeks a decision on the tent sale, causing a snag in Art Van's plans.

Barns strongly criticized Art Van in a verbal attack that seemed to catch Blankenship by surprise. She refused to accept his explanation that he hadn't been store manager when the earlier problems arose:

Money and stress

Livonia candidates worry about future of education

By Marie Chestney

Money worries and parents who don't take part in their child's education are two of the biggest problems facing K-12 education today, according to most candidates seeking a seat on the Livonia Board of Education.

Not far behind on the stress list are violence in schools, the voucher system, large class size and dysfunctional families.

"It's always money," said school board hopeful Steve King, who lives on Edington. "I'm afraid of the voucher system. It's the worst thing that could happen to public education."

The Livonia Observer recently interviewed 12 of the 14 candidates seeking a seat on the board in the June 10 school election. Eleven challengers face incumbents Dianne Nay, Dan Lessard and Kenneth Timmons. Two candidates, Mike Webster of Brookview and Joseph Aristeo of Vargo, did not attend the inter-

Passage of Proposal A in 1994 changed the face of school financing in Michigan. In approving the proposal, voters shifted the bulk of school financing from local property owners to the state.

For most of the candidates, the change has become a nightmare for Livonia schools.

"There's been no real benefit to education," said Jerry Murray, who lives on Scone. "Superintendents are biting their nails, waiting to hear if they'll get the money due them."

Alicia D'Orazio, who lives on Camborne Lane, called Proposal A scary. Three candidates, challengers Jane Teska of Foch, William Switzer of Country Club and incumbent Diane Nay of Stamford, said Livonia hasn't yet seen the worse fallout from Proposal A. The worse will come, they said, when voters vote on millages where the money is shared countywide.

"It will be impossible to get people to vote for this," Switzer now vote on millages for specific Pat Nalley, who lives on Bristol Court, called Proposal A the "worst thing that happened to Livonia Public Schools ever. Historically, our residents taxed themselves for good schools. We don't have the opportunity to do that any more.'

Two incumbents, Timmons of Barkley and Lessard of Flamingo, decried the loss of local control Livonia now has over its finances.

"No longer can we control the kind of program we want," Timmons said. "We can't enrich our programs. It's very difficult to plan ahead."

While Proposal A has negatives, it also was the voice of the people, and the people wanted lower taxes, said challengers Jim Stephanoff of Alpine and Steve King.

"We have to live within our means," Stephanoff said.

Residents favored Proposal A because taxes were outrageous and people opposed any more tax increases, King said. Residents purposes. "People don't mind paying when they see the benefits.'

If income is a problem, challenger Kirsten Galka of Ronnie came up with a novel way to raise money. Following a trend out west, school buses can sport advertising to bring in extra revenue, she said.

The candidates generally believe Livonia should make cut- SAFE in the process? No." ting class size in grades one through three the district's top-Both Murray and Nalley sugpriority.

But the road to doing so, they said, is filled with many potholes.

"Some other instructional programs might suffer," Timmons said.

Lessard said he would not back cuts in other programs if the district can only get class size down to 26 students.

"No one wants larger classes, but we don't have control over our money and the problem is money," Lessard said. "I don't know if we can manage this to any degree that it would be worthwhile doing. A couple less students will not make that much of a difference."

If cutting class size is easy, Morgan said Livonia would have already done it. "I'll not give up successful programs that help kids to cut class size. Should we cut by two or three and lose gested cutting class size incrementally. That means phasing in a class-cutting program over a five-year period.

"Criticism comes when we take all 13 grades and give an estimate for that, "Murray said.

Special millages won't raise the money needed to cut class size, Nalley said. "That only raises pocket change. We're talking big money when we talk about class size reduction."

Hearing is delayed

A court hearing for two suspects charged in a Westland killing has been delayed until June 6.

A preliminary hearing for Antonio Jacob Peay, 20, of Detroit and Thomas Lamar Walker, 22, of Inkster was postponed Thursday at the request of defense attorneys.

The attorneys told 18th District Judge Gail McKnight that they needed more time to prepare.

Peay and Walker are charged with the May 1 shooting death of Christopher Rugg, 30, of Redford Township.

Rugg was shot about 3:15 p.m. when he went to avenge an earlier robbery, Westland police Sgt. Scott Fetner has said.

Rugg was shot in the head and chest.

The incident started on Klink Street in Inkster, but Rugg ran across Henry Ruff Road into Westland as he was being chased by suspects, Fetner said.

Rugg's body was found near Henry Ruff between Michigan Avenue and Annapolis.

Educational exhibits featured paintings, drawings, charts, handmade pottery, jewelry and other student creations to explain how Native Americans lived off of the land.

Student displays showed that Native American foods differed among geographic regions. In California, for example, smoked salmon was popular.

It also proved to be popular last Monday with Edison fifthgrader James Fisher, 11.

"The smoked salmon is my favorite part" of the exhibit, he said.

Fourth-graders actually helped prepare the food with culinary arts students at the William D. Ford Career Technical Center.

A $650 state grant made the Native American project possible, and it was evident from viewing the exhibit that the money went a long way. In creating their projects, students had to do research in subjects ranging from science to geography to history to social studies, Williams said.

Fifth-grader Swantner learned about squash.

"I'm doing a report on squash," she said. "It can grow up to 10 feet tall." When asked how Native Americans used squash, she said, "I think they would build a fire and put it on a stick and roast it." One display noted that the Cherokee alphabet was invented by Chief Sequoyah, born in Tuskegee, Tenn. It was one of many colorful displays.

"This is a good example of how to teach students about multicultural diversity," Wood said.

The exhibit included board games created by students. One game had a board space that caused players to lose two turns for falling through ice.

One game showed the students' sense of humor. Players landing on one space had to "go to the shoe cleaner" for stepping in bison manure.

Some visitors said they would have liked to have seen the exhibit continued so that more people could see it. But the Dyer Center space had been reserved for only one day, and other functions the following day made it impossible for the exhibit to remain.

Schoolcraft trustees approve tuition increase

BY BETH SUNDRLA JACHMAN STAFF WRITER

A tuition increase was approved along with the 1996-97 budget Wednesday at Schoolcraft College.

"None of the trustees take tuition increases lightly." Trustee Mary Breen said before the vote by Schoolcraft College's Board of Trustees. "I'm going to vote for the tuition rate because I believe we have to do it."

The tuition increase means instate students will pay $2 more per credit hour and out-of-state students will pay $4 more per credit hour. Schoolcraft College district residents will pay $50 per credit hour; non-resident students will pay $73 per credit hour; and out-of-state students will pay $109 per credit hour. The new rates were approved 6-0, with trustee John Walsh Schoolcraft students have seen tuition increase several times in the past year. Tuition increased $2 a credit hour in May 1995 and increased $1 a credit hour in January 1996.

Trustees also approved a $36.8 million budget, which is a 3.61 percent increase over last year. A tentative tax levy of $1.8521 per thousand dollars of taxable State Equalized Valuation was approved based on last year's figure, because the rate isn't expected to be certified by the State Tax Commission until May

The rate is expected to be close to that this year, according to Adelard Raby III, vice president for business services.

The 1996-97 general fund budget includes $22 million or 60.04 percent of the budget for instruction; $3.7 million or 10.10 perservices; $6.97 million or 18.93 nearby colleges; Oakland Compercent of the budget for business services; $2.4 million or 6.55 percent of the budget for general administration; and 1.6 million or 4.16 percent of the budget for the institutional contingency fund.

Revenue includes $14.48 million in property taxes, a 3 percent increase over last year; $9.9 million in state appropriations, a 5 percent increase over last year; $11.9 million in tuition and fees, a 3.34 percent increase over last year; and other income of over last year.

SEV is expected to increase about 2.8 percent and grow about 0.2 percent, Raby said. An increase of a half percent in the number of credit hours taken is also expected, Raby said.

Schoolcraft's tuition rate is cent of the budget on student about average in comparison to munity College, which recently won a millage increase is at $46 a credit hour; Wayne County Community College was proposing $54; Washtenaw Community College, $52; Henry Ford Community College, $49; and Macomb is at $51.

Eastern Michigan University charges $91 per credit hour for. 100 and 200 level courses.

Tuition and fees play a larger part in the college's budget than they did 15 years ago, while state appropriations as a per-$508,200, a 0.58 percent increase centage have dropped, Raby said at the April meeting.

He also cited a "fairly rich" faculty union contract and the increasing cost of updating technology as budget pressures, but that was disputed by the faculty union president at Wednesday's meeting.

The budget still reflects the same relative rank in salaries (about fifth) in comparison to other community colleges, with $60,526 being the maximum salary, according to Bill Nickels, president of the Faculty Forum, the faculty union. He called "fairly rich" a relative and comparative term. If it creates a budget pressure, then it would follow that it would take a bigger percentage of the budget, but that isn't the case. Nickels said.

He presented Michigan State Board of Education figures that showed a drop in the percentage of the general fund budget spent on instruction, while figures presented by the administration to the board at the April meeting showed an increase in the cost of instruction as a percentage of the budget.

Spending bill aids higher ed

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

Liberal with money. Conservative on social policy.

That sums up the way the Michigan Legislature this year treated 15 state universities in a $1.5 billion appropriations bill. It's 5 percent higher than a year ago in a time when inflation is below 3 percent.

"It's about as good as you can do _ the best in 10 years," said Sen. John Schwarz, R-Battle Creek, chair of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee on higher education.

"It brings some floors up," he added, referring to a 12 percent boost for U-M Dearborn and nearly 16 percent for Grand Valley and Saginaw Valley universities. They were brought up to a floor of $4,150 per student.

The Senate May 22 voted 33-3 to concur in two controversial House amendments to Senate Bill 850 and sent it to the governor's desk for signing. The amendments:

• A deduction for the University of Michigan and Wayne State University to the extent they provide benefits for unmarried "domestic partners."

The House failed May 21 to strip out that amendment by a 25-72 vote. Voting to knock it out were Maxine Berman, D-Southfield, and Republicans Barbara Dobb of Union Lake and Jan Dolan of Farmington Hills.

• A prohibition against funding abortions as a health benefit, and an order to university boards to negotiate an end to abortion funding in future union contracts.

That amendment, sponsored by Rep. David Jaye, R-Utica, was tacked on by a bare 56-44 vote with 10 members absent. Here is how area members voted: YES _ Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, Jim Ryan, R-Redford, Deborah Whyman, R-Canton. NO _ Lyn Bankes, R-Redford,

wood, praised the monetary increase because "the more we put into higher education, the less tuition students have to pay. We put a dent into the upward spiral of tuition."

Sen. Alma Wheeler Smith, D-Salem, whose district includes U-M and Eastern Michigan University, agreed on the money part but deplored the amendments. "I think it's unconstitutional," she said, referring to a section of the Michigan Constitution that gives U-M, Michigan State and Wayne State operating autonomy. "Universities will have to expend tax dollars to go to court."

Sen. Gary Peters, D-Bloomfield Township, joined Smith in voting no.

The budget bill includes $1.495 billion in state money and $5 million in federal finandial aid _ a 2 percent cut in Washington's contribution. Student aids including titition grants, work-study, den-(a) and allied health programs also are boosted about 5 percent.

'Get tough' bills attract criticism

STAFF WRITER

More juveniles would be tried and punished as adults under a series of "get tough" bills passed by the Legislature and due for Gov. John Engler's signature.

A handful of Senate Democratic critics, however, protested that over-zealous prosecutors could ruin children with jail time instead of saving them.

"The House (amendment) has no (lower) age limit," said Sen. Virgil Smith, D-Detroit, who is running for Wayne County prosecutor in the Aug. 6 Democratic primary. "If you don't like 13, how about 10? Nine? Eight? . . . This will come back to haunt us."

Sen. William VanRegenmorter, R-Hudsonville, who steered the bills through the Judiciary Committee, defended the House's tougher version in which the Senate concurred May

"It's a package that makes some fundamental changes. We added to the list of crimes for which a juvenile could be charged. We dropped the age from 15 to 14. The prosecutor could petition the juvenile to a juvenile court or adult court. The judge can move them into the juvenile system or youth prison," said VanRegenmorter.

As for sending kids under 14 to adult jails, VanRegenmorter said there are four procedural safeguards: "The prosecutor must request adult treatment; the judge must agree; the sheriff must agree to accept them; and there must be physical separation of facilities.

"For a 12-year-old who is into serious crime, there's an argument that a night in jail might be an attention-getter."

Sen. Alma Wheeler Smith, D-Salem, joined Virgil Smith (no kin) in blistering the bills. "The chair talks of frightening children with a day in jail. But the bill leaves an unlimited (young) age and leaves 25 years for a

"Oh, we will save money by sending kids to the Department of Corrections, but we will not save children," she said.

"There's no question we have to deal with prevention," replied VanRegenmorter, "but there's an explosion of juvenile violence."

Most bills were adopted 36-0. But Senate Bill 724, calling for certain juveniles to be held in adult jails while awaiting trial in adult court, won by a lesser margin of 25-11.

Among those voting against were area Democrats John Cherry of Clio, the two Smiths and George Z. Hart of Dearborn. All other area senators voted yes.

SB 682, expanding the list of crimes for which juveniles could be charged as adults, passed on a 29-8 vote, with Cherry, the two Smiths and Hart dissenting.

Alma Smith also cast a dissenting vote as the Senate gave final approval to a bill by Sen. Mike Rogers, R-Brighton, aimed at cracking down on escapees from Maxey boys training school in Livingston County and a dozen other institutions.

"We have created a four-year felony for escape from a juvenile facility," said Smith. "Until the Legislature fences the facility, I vote no," said Smith. The Senate concurred in the House's version on a 34-2 vote.

Currently, juveniles can be waived to adult courts when charged with first- and seconddegree murder, attempted murder and rape. Under the new package, which becomes law as soon as the governor signs the bills, the list would be expanded to armed robbery, carjacking, kidnapping and arson.

The Senate threw a scare into Sen. Mike Bouchard, R-Birmingham, sponsor of the bill to expand the list of crimes for which a juvenile can be tried as an adult. One portion allows the Family Independence Agency (formerly Department of Social Services) to place juveniles in

Can and bottle drive helps Friends of the Rouge clean up

If your garage or basement is slowly filling up with returnable bottles and cans, the Rouge is coming to the rescue.

As part of their annual Rouge Rescue river cleanup June 1, the Friends of the Rouge will conduct a major can and bottle drive. Returnables brought to specific Rouge Rescue sites will be redeemed by the Friends of the Rouge to support their Education Project in local schools.

For the second year, Farmer Jack, Coca-Cola, Pepsi Cola, Tri-County Beverage Distributors, Imperial Sports, and WJBK-TV are teaming up with the Friends of the Rouge on the returnable

Anyone may bring returnable bottles and cans to these collection sites from 8:30 a.m. to noon Saturday:

•Birmingham Ice Arena, Lincoln at Eton, Birmingham.

•Oakland Community College Orchard Ridge Campus, Orchard Lake Road at I-96, Farmington Hills.

•Beech Woods Park, Beech at Nine Mile, Southfield,

•The main collection site will be at Eliza Howell Park in Detroit. The collection site will be in the south section of the park, which is entered from Schoolcraft (the Jeffries Expressway service drive) east of Telegraph. The site will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Again this year, school students can compete for some terrific prizes. There will be a $500 U.S. Savings Bond for the most bottles and cans turned in by an individual student, plus sports equipment from Imperial Sports for teams of 10 students or less, and for the school that turns in the most bottles and cans.

Individuals may also redeem them at Farmer Jack stores and bring the redemption slips to the collection sites, or mail them to: Friends of the Rouge, 950 Michigan Building, 220 Bagley Ave., Detroit, Mich. 48226-1412.

Garden spot: The bent willow creations of Michigan's own master furniture maker Bim Willow, are available at Four Seasons Garden Center, 14471 Eleven Mile in Oak Park.

Garden gifts will bloom with flowers

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO STAFF WRITER

It's almost impossible to buy annuals and perennials these days without adding a cement rabbit, a box of wind chimes, or a miniature fountain to your shopping cart - not to mention a patio swing, a stone duck for the deck, or a ceramic garden marker. Wise retailers realize that nature lovers will go all out for the great outdoors and most purchases serve to delight season after season.

Bringing art into the garden is as ancient as Greece, and you'll find an impressive selection of unique, contemporary pieces of metal, wood and clay creations at Objects of Art, 6243 Orchard Lake, West Bloomfield. Through June 30, browse amid little wind petals and large scale sculptural compositions at the gallery's annual Spring Artscape exhibit.

Casual Concepts, 828 North Main in downtown Rochester introduces a Garden Gazebo filled with terra cotta, antiqued iron and resin planters, moss pots and bird feeders, and a sensational furniture collection for indoors or out.

"We have created this area as a refuge from busy, hectic lifestyles just for our shoppers to explore," said Mary Ann Chila, owner. "From copper wind chimes to imported French candles, all our garden elements will help you make your garden personalized."

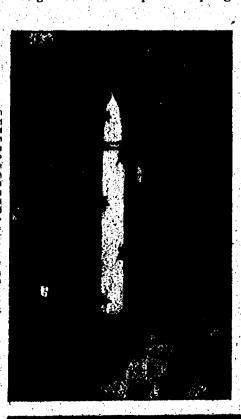

And speaking of candles and lighting, M. T. Hunter stores on S. Woodward in Birmingham and 201 E. Main in Northville, have dozens of interesting, conversation-piece lanterns for the porch or patio, including pole stands with glass covers, $26.25; wrought iron wall hanging candles with glass covers $24.50; and hanging egglamp bulbs from $67.50.

Four Seasons Garden Center in Oak Park features unique bent willow furniture creations from $20, that will delight and charm garden visitors. Custom orders are available for benches, birdhouse poles, tables and trellises. Bent willow furniture was a familiar sight on the front porches of America until the late 1930s when modern furniture debuted.

The problem of placing a centerpiece on a table with an umbrella pole up the middle has been solved at English Gardens, West Bloomfield, Dearborn and Clinton Township. Wraparound planter boxes of terra cotta, ceramic or plastic fit snugly onto the pole base with room for plantings or silk arrangements inside, from $24.98.

McFarland's Florist and Garden Shop, 28915 Grand River, Farmington, has stone garden markers, gardening hats and skirts.

If you need more inspiration for your patio paradise, visit the 5th Annual Landscape and Garden Show at Meadow Brook Hall in Rochester Hills, June 7-9. Admission is $7 at the gate to view 21 picturesque gardens.

Setting the mood: European-style candles throughout the garden are replacing outdoor lighting, said Matt Twomey of M.T. Hunter in Birmingham and Northville.

Nordstrom: New '90s retail niches

Nordstrom hopes to provide Detroit with style and substance. When the Seattlebased retailer opens its first store in Michigan on Aug. 16, shoppers will be treated to several new retail experiences.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO

It's not your mother's department store. It's not even your department store, if you're used to shopping locally. The new Nordstrom at the Somerset Collection in Troy, will provide its customers with state-ofthe-art retail amenities customized for '90s lifestyles.

First consider Nordstrom's opening black-tie dinner dance which features a designer runway show to benefit several local charities. Next, look at the store's fall lecture series which is bringing in names like Paula Zahn, Alexandra Stoddard and Elsa Klensch.

Where else in town will you enjoy the services of a body spa while your husband, a few feet away in the men's department, picks out a tie and then wanders into the adjoining pub for a sandwich and a peek at a televised ballgame?

The cafe on the third floor is certain to become a suburban hot spot with its wide windows overlooking Big Beaver and the pulsating cityscape below.

Throughout the store special accommodations for persons with disabilities include dual-level drinking fountains and telephones, automatic entrances, voice-activated elexators, and low trays at the register counters so wheelchair shoppers can see what they're signing.

Open drawer concepts in each department put cosmetics, apparel and fragrance within the customer's grasp. Strategically placed video screens show sporting events, music videos and cartoons. Family restrooms on each level have private nursing areas and diaper changing $4.1 billion from 80 stores in 16 facilities along with two level sinks. Shoppers who stop by the Concierge Desk will never hear, "You can't leave your packages." The parcel-laden can check coats, umbrellas and bundles, send a fax,, book a restaurant reservation, call a cab, or borrow an umbrella, wheelchair or stroller.

In the men's department, a shoe shine shop, spiffs up footwear for $1.25 while you wait. A cup of Starbuck coffee in the any of the store's the restaurants is 25-cents, just drop a quarter in the can on the honor system.:

But the best amenity, is the fact that Nordstrom will not be undersold. The store will match any other retailer's price at a customer's request.

Ideas for stylish dads

By Susan DeMaggio Staff Writer

With Father's Day in view, (Sunday, June 16) it's a good time to help dad update his look with some well-chosen fashion gifts.

According to Stan Tucker, of Saks Fifth Avenue, this season's menswear has been influenced by the fashions from the 30s, 40s and 50s. Suits take on an elegant sartorial look. Jackets are nipped at the waist with broad shoulders and longer lengths. (Think Cary Grant or Fred Astaire.)

The look is finished off with a crisp, white shirt and a satin, solid, woven tie. The most stylish men will wear spectators, white or natural bucks, the updated penny loafer with a chunkier heel, sandals, and even Hush Puppies. Corporate Casual dressing has popularized the lug sole and bulkier shoe soles.

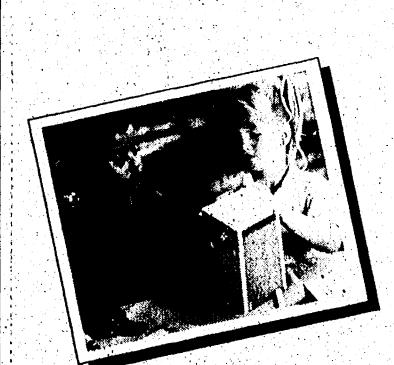

If you think dad needs a new shirt and tie, make it tonal. A blue tie on a blue shirt, or these ensembles, suggested by Tucker - a pair of putty linen trousers, a cotton tonal tee, a taupe light weight cashmere v-neck and suede bucks; or a gray suit with a pale gray dress shirt and solid tie in a darker gray.

If dad is a totally casual guy, lycra yarns are being used for fitted tees and straight leg pants with a touch of stretch to accentuate the body. Body conscious clothes and comfort are the byproducts of stretch.

"The news in men's suits is all about shape and proportion giving a refined elegance to silhouettes," Tucker said. "The six on two button double breasted jacket has been reengineered to accentuate the waist and the new one button shaped silhouette is a beauty. The two and three button styles are still strong spring standards, however they have been updated with a revised, higher button stance."

Saks style: Searle nylon jacket with mesh lining in white and royal, $198; cotton polo, trousers from Victor/Victoria, $140.

The home you've always wanted doesn't have to be a high-flying dream.

Schoolcraft staffers OK contract

By Beth Sundrla Jachman Stapp Writer

The Schoolcraft Board of Trustees and the college's union of office personnel have ratified a new contract.

In the new contract, Schooleraft College Association of Office Personnel members received 2.5 percent pay increases, beginning June 1, plus a lump sum payment which will average $514 per person, according to Betty Gilbert, director of labor relations at Schoolcraft.

. A change in the payment structure that union members receive for opting out of the health insurance program was increased to $75 per pay period, Gilbert said.

The board ratified the contract Wednesday. The union ratified it Tuesday.

It is a one-year contract from July 1,1995, through June 30,1996, for the 60-member union, which had worked for about 11 months without a contract. A three-year contract for the union expired June 30,1995.

Contract talks broke off in November, and the board of trustees decided not to offer for the next contract since this retroactive pay raises to the union, Gilbert said. Union president Belinda Eleson came before the board earlier this year, in hopes of having talks resume. Talks resumed about three weeks ago, Eleson said.

"We just kept talking," Gilbert said. "I don't know in particular what did it."

Eleson called the agreement "bittersweet." "We lost more ground than we gained. But it was just a matter of closure," she said.

Contract talks will now begin one ends June 30. Gilbert said she hopes contract talks won't drag on as long for the next contract, but "we do have some issues," she said. Eleson said the union is optimistic.

When talks broke off Eleson said the issue was money. The secretaries' union is always the last to settle, both sides say.

Last time the union went a year and a half without a contract, Eleson said last year.

The secretaries' salaries range from about $24,000 to $33,000.

County commissioner seeking re-election

Michelle A. Plawecki has announced her bid for re-election as Wayne County commissioner in District 9, which includes Redford Township and Livonia east of Middlebelt.

them through," Plawecki said. D-Dearborn Plawecki, Heights, had been approached but opted not to run for state representative against Rep. James Ryan and is seeking her third term on the county commission.

"I was overwhelmed by how many people contacted me and offered their support for the state representative seat, and for that I am sincerely grateful. For now, however, I am satisfied with my duties as a county commissioner and look forward to continuing to represent the citizens of district nine," she said.

She sees negotiations at Northwest and expansion at Metro Airport among the big issues coming up. "Everybody's looking to see what happens with negotiations with Northwest," she said!

Demolition and cleanup at the county-owned Northville Township property, in Commissioner Thaddeus McCotter's district, is also very important, she said.

Plawecki cited her vote in favor of the county's holiday light show, LightFest, as one of the more controversial issues she's voted on in her tenure, but one that has brought many complimentary letters.

She lists a plan to build a Corporate Family Picnic area in Bell Creek Park in Redford Township among her accomplishments. "It's rewarding to see that that project is finally coming," she said.

Other accomplishments she lists include, the commission's stand on road funding and an ordinance bringing stiffer fines for littering in Wayne County parks.

Plawecki is a graduate of St. Sabina's grade school and graduated from Mercy High School in 1984. She received a bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan in 1988 with a double major in political science and psychology and a master's degree from U-M in public administration, · Plawecki, 29, serves as chairperson of the committee on Roads, Airports and Public Services, which approves projects and services at Detroit Metro Airport and Willow Run as wellas for county roads.

During her freshman term on the commission, Plawecki was appointed as the first chairperson of the Committee on Environment and Energy. Currently Plawecki is a member of Health and Human Services, Economic Development and Ways and Means committees.

Plawecki serves as vice chair of the board of directors for HealthChoice, a health-care program designed to provide insurance for individuals who live and work in Wayne County, but do not have insurance provided by their employer. Currently, 3,366 people are receiving benefits.

In addition to being appointed to the Wayne County Solid Waste Planning Committee by county Executive Edward H. McNamara, Plawecki also serves on the Wayne County Drainage

: Plawecki is chairperson of the Readers make time for more gourmet fare

ere I sit with an aching back, feeling good about how great the lawn looks, the fact. that my garden is in, and the patio furniture is set up. All the while I'm thinking that my readers are not too busy to find the time to cook, not just good old comfort food, but surprisingly, far more gourmet fare.

I base my comments on the fact that after the tamale column ran last month, I received more than 30 calls about it. Some of the more interesting calls included.

■ A call from Chris Morris of Redford who said I missed the boat not mentioning Evie's Tamales, a restaurant in Mexicantown. Well, Chris, my sources claim that Evie's formerly owned the take-out tamaleria now occupied by Nuevo Leon; but if Evie still makes tamales like she used to, I stand corrected. Evie's is at 3454 Bagley (313) 843-5956.

■ Bonnie Kelly of Birmingham called about the tamale column, and said she wants to know more about Latino and Cuban food. One of my favorite books on the subject is "A Taste of Old Cuba," by Maria Josefa Lluria De O'Higgins (Harper Collins, 1994, $25). This book has more than 150 recipes highlighted by the author's reflections and memories. I really enjoyed this recipe as O'Higgins claimed her mother made it, and it was considered a real "comfort food"

PUDIN DE BONITO (TUNA PUDDING)

- 4 slices white bread, cut into pieces
- 🌣 cup olive oil
- 1 large onion, peeled and chopped 4 eggs, beaten
- 4 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
- h teaspoon salt (optional) 🕏 teaspoon ground cumin
- Two (6 ounce) cans tuna, drained and flaked

1 tablespoon butter

Place the bread in a mixing bowl and pour the milk over it. In a small skillet, warm the olive oil over medium heat and saute the onion until translucent, about 3 minutes. Stir the eggs into the bread mixture. Add the onion, pepper, salt, cumin and tuna and stir to combine.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Grease a 2-quart casserole with butter and fill with tuna mixture. Bake for 30 minutes or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean, Serves 6.

■ I really love it when a local turns entrepreneur. The next time you're in any Kitchen Glamor store, or Kitchen Port in Ann Arbor, check out Westland's self-proclaimed Pizza Gourmet Chef Carl Oshinski and his new line of gourmet food products. P.G.'s flavored oils (the wild mushroom infused oil, my favorite) is stellar drizzled over cooked pasta and grilled portabello mushrooms. He also offers bread machine mixes, pizza doughs, pasta - all of the highest quality, and without a doubt, locally made. Oshinski said his products will be soon available at Best Buy as they are expanding into housewares.

An anonymous reader called to say she was curious about my rhubarb pie recipe. She wanted to know what a "prepared pie shell" was. A prepared pie shell is dough that has been made and rolled and fitted into a pie plate and as yet remains unbaked. A prepared pie crust, on the other hand, is a prebaked crust. The reader also wanted to know if she could substitute sugar Twin for half the 2 cups recommended sugar. Unfortunately, even though it pours the same, I wouldn't recommend it because when artificial sweeteners warm to any temperature above 300 degrees F. their chemical make up changes and they usually Fancy food lovers - have I got a hot one for. you! I recently returned from the International Association of Culinary Professionals Conference in Philadelphia and tried a new product called Demi-Glace Gold. Made with no MSG, salt, sugar and in the classically made Old World Tradition as defined by Chef Master Escoffier, this product is just what gourmets need when preparing homemade sauces needed a veal or chicken stock that tastes almost as good as homemade. or a quick lunch or dinner, it's hard to beat a burger. They are the source of fond childhood memories, and harbingers of summer. Some of us mark our passage from childhood to adulthood with burgers.

We start out with a "Happy Meal" and graduate to a double cheeseburger, "Big Mac" or

A&W Root Beer was our family's favorite burger joint. We used to go there on summer nights when it was too hot for mom to cook, or when good report cards or deeds merited a treat. When we were little tykes, mom always ordered the "Baby Burger" for my brothers and I. Then as we, and our appetites grew, so did the size our burgers. While most of us think of hamburgers as being as American as apple pie, they're not.

"It came from the Baltic provinces of Russia in the Middle Ages where various tribes of Tartary, who were rowdy, nomadic horsemen, developed a fondness for raw beef, known today as steak tartare," writes Jeffrey Tennyson author of "Hamburger Heaven," (Hyperion, 1993). "These Tartars introduced it to their German trading partners from the port city of Hamburg, who developed a taste for it fried and seasoned with onions - Hamburg Steak. When German immigrants arrived in the United States in the 1700s and 1800s, they brought the steak with them. The first documented American appearance of the Hamburg steak is on the menu at New York's fabled Del monico's Restaurant in 1834."

According to some sources, Charlie Nagreen of Seymour, Wis., invented the American hamburger at the age of 15 when he delivered it from his ox-drawn concession stand at the Outagamie County Fair in 1885.

Other sources say a German, Frank Menches, introduced the sandwich at his food stall at the Summit County Fair in 1892 in Ohio when he ran out of bulk pork sausage for his sandwiches and substituted beef.

Another story credits Louis Lassen of New Haven, Conn., with creating the hamburger steak in 1900 as a means of using the trimmings from the steak sandwich he featured at his lunch wagon.

Hamburgers created a sensation at the 1904 World's Fair in St. Louis. Several authorities believe the vendor was Fletcher Davis who owned a lunch counter in Athens, Texas. In 1921, Walt Anderson and Billy Ingram founded White Castle in Wichita, Today, burgers remain one of America's favorite foods. The Taste of America Survey conducted in 1994 by "Restaurants & Institutions" showed 86 percent of the population ordering them in the past year.

According to "The Great Food Almanac: A Feast of Facts from A to Z," by Irena Chalmers (Collins Publishers San Francisco, 1994) even the "King" himself, Elvis Presley, loved burgers. His favorite food was a hamburger burned to a crisp. He often send his back until it was what some people would call totally charred. According to the National Cattlemen's Beef

■ Shape ground beef gently; over handling can result in firm, compact burgers.

Burgers have come a long way from the basic burger on a sesame seed bun, with lettuce, tomato and mayo. For a change of pace, try a Mediterranean Burger. Season ground beef patties with lemon pepper, then grill to medium doneness. Instead of a traditional bun, serve the burgers with pita bread quarters. Garnish with tomato slices, red onion, and a sauce made from a blend of yogurt, chopped cucumber and lemon pepper. For "Cooking With Three Ingredients: Flavorful Food Easy as 1, 2, 3" try "Buffalo Burgers made with ground beef, butter and hot pep-

Author satisfies hunger for veggie burgers

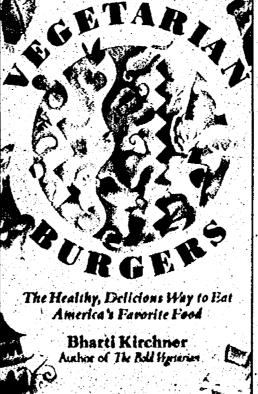

Cookbook author Bharti Kirchner was first introduced to vegetarian patties as a child in India, the land of her birth. In her newly published cookbook, "Vegetarian Burgers: The Healthy Way to Eat America's Favorite Food," (HarperPerennial; $12.50/trade paperback) she shares a bevy of burger ideas developed from her travels around the world.

Drawing from a wide variety of ethnic cuisines - Indian, Middle Eastern, Asian and European - she combines the rich flavors and unique textures. of whole grains, legumes, vegetables, seeds, fresh herbs and spices to create

"Indian cooks prepare not only many sorts of ground meat patties, called kebabs, but they also do an equally varied set of vegetable patties, known as chop, patis, tikki, or bora," writes Kirchner. "These vegetarian delights are composed of legumes, grains, and various minced vegetables, laced with fresh chiles, herbs, and spices. Indian cooks roll them into balls or flatten them into oval shapes, then coat them with bread crumbs before frying or baking."

Many people are familiar with falafel and kibbe, the Middle Eastern version of vegetarian burger.

A food processor is a must for preparing vegetarian burgers. It helps blend the ingredients, creates the need for eggs as a binding agent. Prepare ingredients ahead of time, Form patties early on the day you intend to serve them or even a day ahead of time. If preparing them more than an hour in advance, refrigerate them, and then bring them to room temperature just prior to cooking. For grilling burgers, a vegetable grid works best. If sauteeing burgers, use a nonstick skillet and nonstick spatula for turning the burgers. You can make a large batch of

To reheat, place burgers in a 325 degree F. oven for up to 15 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Overbaking makes them dry.

Talk to your doctor about prostate cancer. Your prostate is a small gland located at the base of your bladder. Many men don't even know they have a prostate or that prostate cancer is common, especially among older men. In fact, prostate cancer is the leading form of cancer in Michigan.

What should you do? If you're between 50 and 75 years old, ask your doctor if you should be tested. Have this talk when you turn 40 if there is prostate cancer in your family or if you're African American. And if you experience pain or discomfort when you urinate, see a doctor right away.

See related story on Taste Remove from heat and allow to front. Recipes from: "Vegetarian cool. Burgers" by Bharti Kirchner (HarperPerennial). FALAFEL BURGERS

- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 1 cup diced onion
- 1 tablespoon minced garlic 1 jalapeno pepper or other green chile of choice. cored, seeded, and minced (or to taste)
- 1 1/2 cups cooked or 1 (15 ounce) can chick-peas, drained (measured after draining)
- 1 cup cooked basmati rice or other long-grain white rice
- 1 tablespoon freshly squeezed lime juice
- 1 3/4 cups bread crumbs Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste

Ground pasilla or red (or cayenne) pepper to taste

Heat the olive oil in a small skillet until sizzling. Cook the onion and garlic until the onion is wilted and the garlic is golden. Add the jalapeno and stir several times.

Place the onion mixture, drained chick peas, and rice in the container of a food processor. Pulse on and off several times until the mixture becomes a smooth puree. Transfer to a large bowl. Add the lime juice and 1 cup of the bread crumbs. Season to taste with salt, black pepper, and red pepper. Mix with a large spoon, or even better, with your hands, until all ingredients are thoroughly combined.

Shape into 3-inch patties 1/2 inch thick, adding extra bread crumbs if the patties don't hold their shape. They will be slightly sticky.

Prepare a grill or preheat the broiler. If broiling, place the patties on a broiler pan or large cookie sheet lined with a lightly oiled piece of aluminum foil. Grill or broil 3 to 5 inches from the heat, 4 to 7 minutes per side or until lightly browned. (When one side is done, turn the patties carefully with a spatula). Check often to prevent burning. Celebrate warmer weather with spring vegetables

BY DANIEL TURGEON THE CULINARY INSTITUTE OF AMERICA

HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP) Spring is a glorious season that can awaken our senses to the simpler things in life. Our taste buds seem to come out of hibernation as we anticipate one of life's great pleasures, fresh spring vegetables.

This time of year my mind immediately goes to work thinking of ways to combine local produce with other new harvests from around the country, like sweet Vidalia onions from Georgia, globe artichokes from California or earthy wild mushrooms from Virginia.

Although these vegetables can always stand on their own, blending their flavors together can be a pleasure for the palate.

A multitude of cooking methods can enhance the flavor of these tender vegetables, but their nutrients, color and texture are preserved if they are cooked in the quickest manner.

The recipes that follow are a few ways to prepare these seasonal vegetables at home.

FRESH ASPARAGUS SALAD

- 1 pound fresh asparagus 2 tablespoons balsamic
- vinegar 1/2 teaspoon Dijon mus-

1/2 teaspoon shallots. minced

- 6 tablespoons olive oil 1 teaspoon Italian parsley,
- chopped Salt and black pepper, to taste
- 1 red pepper, roasted, peeled and finely diced
- 2 tablespoons capers,
- drained 4 tablespoons pine nuts, lightly toasted
- 2 ounces Parmesan cheese,

Cut the fibrous root end off the asparagus and peel the lower portion of the stem.

Bring a large pot of salted water to a rolling boil. Add the asparagus and cook for about 2 minutes, or until tender. Drain in a colander and rinse with cold water until the asparagus is cooled.

To make the vinaigrette, mix together the balsamic vinegar, Dijon mustard and shallots. While whisking slowly, add the olive oil and season with the parsley, salt, and pepper.

Place the asparagus on a plate and sprinkle with the roasted red pepper, capers, pine nuts and Parmesan cheese. Drizzle the vinaigrette over the asparagus and serve. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

SAUTEED SPINACH WITH VIDALIA ONIONS AND MUSHROOMS

- 1 1/2 tablespoons unsaited butter
- 1-3rd cup Vidalia onions, finely diced
- 1 cup shiitake mushrooms, stemmed and cut into thin
- strips 1 pound fresh spinach leaves, stemmed, washed and drained
- Salt and black pepper, to Melt butter in a skillet over low heat and add the onions. Sweat the onions for 2 minutes.

Add the mushrooms and continue to sweat for an additional 3 minutes or until the mushrooms are tender.

Increase the heat to medium and add the spinach leaves, a few handfuls at a time, allowing each batch to wilt before adding more. Season with salt and pepper, and serve. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Fans of 'Friends' will enjoy Schwimmer in 'The Pallbearer'

BY DOLORES BARCLAY AP ARTS EDITOR

NEW YORK (AP) Meet Tom Thompson, a dull, nerdy-looking guy who lives with his mother and can't seem to find a job. Actually, you probably won't want to meet Tom _ he's that boring.

But at least one character in Matt Reeves' "The Pallbearer" finds him simply scintillating and that's the vamp queen Ruth Abernathy (Barbara Hershey), whose son has just died.

·Ruth asks Tom (David Schwimmer), who she thinks was her son's good friend, to be a pallbearer and to otherwise "help out" _ a request that takes on interesting ramifications as the movie progresses.

But there's one big problem: Tom doesn't have even the slightest glimmer of an idea who the guy was.

His friends, played by Michael Rapaport, Toni Collette, Bitty Schram and Michael Vartan, think he's nuts when he agrees to carry out the mother's wishes. And they're no help, either: They also have no idea who the dead kid was. When Tom checks the yearbook for clues, across from the guy's name is just a blank square.

But Tom's mind veers away from matters funereal when his pals throw a party and invite Julie DeMarco (Gwyneth Paltrow), his high school crush.

Tom and Julie get together, of course, in what has got to be one of the most awkward date scenes on film. And it's somewhat sweet to watch two adults tip-toe around a man's apartment because they don't want to

Reeves, who wrote "The Pallbearer" with Jason Katims, has crafted a bunch of characters we don't really care much about. They're nice, but they're all fair-Rapaport, a dynamic young actor, is wasted in this movie. He's miles above Schwimmer! and Vartan, but has little to do. Collette, fresh from the very wonderful "Muriel's Wedding," also isn't allowed to stretch.

Schwimmer, who shot to TV stardom in the sitcom "Friends," holds little fascination. He's perfectly cast for the role of Tom, but hardly a compelling pres-

C.J RISAK

Chargers learn common sense doesn't prevail

Not to make light of a serious matter, but a sports season wouldn't be complete without some kind of MHSAA screwup.

Remember last fall, when Plymouth Salem's basketball team had to wait and wait and wait for its first regional game because of a court injunction filed on behalf of three Oak Park players who had been ruled ineligible?

And then there was the first-ever cancellation and subsequent rescheduling of a state championship soccer match, also involving Salem.

The list, if not endless, is indeed lengthy. The point is, why not one more?

And so here it is, courtesy of officials who used the wrong rule book.

The beneficiary: Plymouth Canton, which advanced to last Saturday's Class A soccer district final against Plymouth Salem.

The loser: Livonia Churchill's girls team, which has experienced nothing but bad luck when battling the Chiefs at Canton.

A point of clarity is necessary regarding the latter, however. Because when officials make mistakes, everyone loses. And the district semifinal between Canton and Churchill deserved better, because it was highvolume, fast-paced drama from start to finish.

Of course, where that finish finally ended up was the controversy. Seems the officiating crew referee Saba Kayj and sideline judges Tom Montroy and Joe Trachy - went by the wrong rulebook for the overtime format.

They said it would be two 10-minute sessions (not sudden death) followed by a five-minute sudden death period, then a penalty kick

Wrong ruling

That would be correct, if high school state tournament games followed the National Federation guidelines. However, the Michigan High School Athletic Association (the previously-mentioned MHSAA), with support from the state soccer coaches' association, opted two years ago to have two 15-minute sudden death periods, followed by a penalty kick shootout.

(Note: Except in the state final. Teams play only two 15-minute sudden death periods; if the score is still tied, the teams are declared cochampions. There is no shootout.)

Now if Canton had just scored first, there would never had been a problem. But the Chiefs didn't; Churchill got a goal from Marie Spaccarotella early in the first OT.

End it there? By MHSAA rules, it should have. But the officials, with the previous acknowledgement of both coaches, had already ruled otherwise. Canton subsequently tied it, then won it in the second OT.

Churchill coach Nick O'Shea, contrary to what the officials said, did challenge their OT format at the end of regulation. But he didn't do so vehemently, and when all three officials in unison told him what the format would be, well, what could he do?

"If the officials don't know, who does?" O'Shea questioned.

A lot of people wondered about it. But it didn't come to the officials' attention until an hour after the game had ended.

Churchill people, quite understandably, were incensed. It isn't the first time they feel they were cheated by officials, while playing Canton at Canton.

History repeats

Two years ago, in a game that eventually decided the Western Lakes Activities Association's Western Division champion, the referee allowed play to continue past the time on the scoreboard clock. When O'Shea told him the scoreboard, by state rules, had to be the official clock, he was waved away and, later, yellow-

Canton scored in that extra time to win the game, which allowed the Chiefs to play Livonia Stevenson in the WLAA title game (they tied).

And the protest? The MHSAA agreed the official was wrong; however, as stated in the rule book, official's rulings (or mis-rulings) can not be

In other words, his word is law. End of story. Same thing happened to Churchill this time. Yes, a mistake was made. The officials are sorry. But the result - a 3-2 Canton win - stands. That's the MHSAA's ruling (as of Thursday).

Churchill players feel cheated. Canton players feel fortunate - but was it because they were just lucky? Is that what got them to the district final?

You see what I mean. Nobody wins, not really. And a game as good as this one was deserves a better epitaph.

Spartans advance to regional

BY BRAD EMONS STAFF WRITER

Livonia Stevenson conceded a pair of penalty kick goals, but the Spartans cruised to the Class A district girls soccer crown with a 5-2 victory Friday over Farmington Hills Mercy in the finals at Walled Lake Central.

Stevenson, now 15-2-1 overall, advances to the regional semifinals, 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Walled Lake Western. The opponent will be top-ranked and unbeaten Brighton, which is riding a 19-game winning

"Brighton is exceptionally talented and well-coached," said second-year Stevenson coach Jim Kimble, who gained his first district trophy. "It's going to be a difficult task to play them, but that's why you play the game.

"And we've said all year long that our (Western Lakes) league play against teams like Canton, Salem, Churchill and Northville have prepared us for this. They've realize 26 seconds left).

GIRLS SOCCER

there's an opportunity, and it's time to step up and take it.'

All five Stevenson goals occurred in the first half as the Spartans held a commanding 5-1 lead.

Applying the pressure early, Stevenson took less than two minutes to score.

Shortly after, Campbell made it 2-0 on an assist from Melissa Jacobs, but Mercy responded on a Kluska penalty shot at 15:34.

The Spartans, however, roared back with three unanswered goals during the final 10 minutes of the half - Tobin on a left-footed rifle shot; Anne Fedrigo on a nifty backfoot boot off a cross from Campbell; and Christine Wilson on an assist from Michelle Vettraino (with only

This is the best game we've played all year long, as far as being focused, playing with emotion and attacking the goal," Kimble said. "The girls came to play tonight."

Mercy's Mary Gignac added another penalty kick goal with 17:29 left in the match for the only score of the second half.

But Stevenson had the game well in hand, despite allowing the two freebies.

"The first one was just a lack of communication by our defenders." Kimble said. "The player felt she had to make the tackle, but actually the breakdown came before that. I'm not going to blame anybody. It was just a small lapse on our part."

Throughout the match, Stevenson continually had odd-man advantages in front of the Mercy net.

"They (Mercy) were playing some type of off-sides trap and it played into our favor," Kimble said. "Actually it was our midfielders who got behind their defense, not the for-

"I can't say enough about the way our midfielders played."

Mercy, member of the Catholic League's Central Division, bowed out with a 9-7-1 overall record.

"Head-to-head I think we could have competed against them," Mercy coach Deepak Shivraman said. "Our problem in the first half was that we made some critical mistakes. When we did that, our intensity went down, and we found ourselves in a bit of a hole."

Shivraman, however, was pleased with the way his girls came out and played over the final 40 minutes.

"We picked it up in the second half," he said. "We tried to create a lot of opportunities, but it was too late. The damage had already been done.

"Their offense deserves a lot of credit, too. They have a couple of seasoned forwards in Campbell and (Mamie) Vanderburgh. They have an offense that can score."

Stevenson, Churchill go 2-3 in WLAA meet

BY NEAL ZIPSER

The Western Lakes Activities Association girls track championship rests at the feet of Plymouth Canton.

But it wasn't easy, as the Chiefs won the title for the third year in a row and for the fourth time in the past six years.

Canton accomplished the feat the hard way, with only one first-place finish. The Chiefs did, however, place in 15 of the 16 events to score a team-high 88½ points.

Several other teams made strong showings including Livonia Stevenson, which made a late rush to finish second with 73. Surprising Livonia Churchill edged Plymouth Salem for third, 72 1/2-72. See statistical summary on page 2C.

"We knew we were the favorite but we knew the competition would be intense," said Canton coach George Przygodski, who picked up his fifth title in his 11 years. "As coaches, we had to work harder and coach more this year than in the previous years we won," Przygodski said. "In past years, we've have the prime-time athletes, but we didn't this year and only one first place shows that."

The lone win for Canton was from Angkana Roy, who ran a season-best 2:26.1 in the 800-meter run. Roy had plenty of help, including second places by Marisa Kovach in the high jump (5-feet) and Mary Anderson in the 100 hurdles (16.1), and thirdplace finishes by Becky Uryga in the 400 dash (1:00.8) and Nancy Hoffman in the 300 hurdles (48.9).

Roy edged out Farmington's Kate Adams and Livonia Stevenson's Kelly McNeilance.

"Some of the other girls in the race had already run a couple races and Roy had only run in one, and it really made a difference in the last 200 meters," Przygodski said.

Stevenson, fourth a year ago and third in last week's Class'A regional, wrapped up second in the meet with a second-place finish in the final event, the 1,600 relay (behind Walled Laké Western).

That foursome consisted of Katie Kolodziejczak, Erin Ray, Nicole Dettloff and anchor leg Jeannette Stojcevski, the latter whom made up 15 yards and passed up two teams on

"We felt if we ran well and Canton faltered in the meet a bit, we could beat them," Stevenson coach Paul Holmberg said. "But we both faltered a little and that brought the others up. Overall it made it tighter, but it really didn't change the order of finish."

According to Przygodski, Churchill's performance was one of the more impressive outcomes of the

"I think what was surprising was Churchill's third place finish," the Canton coach said. "(Churchill coach) Kelly Graham did a great job preparing her team and they ran a great meet."

The Rocks, who scored in 14 of the events, had only one first also. That came from Kristin Kosik in the high jump (5-2).

Salem coach Mark Gregor was happy with his team's performance, but believed his squad had a chance to pull the upset at the end.

"I thought we had a chance to make it interesting toward the end of the meet," Gregor said. "The meet was there for us to make close but we couldn't take advantage."

Gregor was referring to the 800meter run, where the Rocks were ranked first and the 1,600 relay, where they were ranked second. Salem even caught a break when Canton's Mary Anderson got hurt and had to sit out the event. One of Salem's top runners in the 1,600,

Stevenson completes perfect year at Western Lakes meet

BY C.J. RISAK

Who ended up on top when the final scores were tallied at Thursday's Western Lakes Activities Association championship golf tournament wasn't so surprising.

The margin of victory at Huron Meadows in Brighton, however, was astounding.

Livonia Stevenson cruised through the WLAA regular season. posting a 7-0 dual-meet record. So, quite obviously, the Spartans were heavy favorites.

And they came through, by a wide, wide margin. Stevenson's team score was 368; runner-up Walled Lake Western was 50 strokes behind at 418.

After that, the results got closer.

Plymouth Salem was right bening

The Spartans' next two scorers were Kelly Kristy and Kristin Bartholomew, both with a 96. They were each named to the all-division team. Western's leader was Becky Vollmer (101). Churchill's top scorer was Emily Bischoff (92). Canton's best was Anne Alioto (109), Central's was Amy Emerine (106), and Franklin's was Beth Parnell (117). Weather contributed to the scores, to be sure, particularly on the back nine holes, according to Salem's Wilson. Collins' ability to handle the changing conditions was a main reason she earned medalist honors; she Trailing 7.6 after Lutheran East scored in the top of the seventh, Lutheran Westland drew a two-out walk and then Matt Baltz smacked a home run to give the Warriors the win.

Mike Baltz hit a grand slam and Jeff Hunsaker a solo home run as Lutheran Westland hit three of the seven round trippers. Although the Thursday doubleheader was held at Lutheran East, the first game was treated as a Lutheran Westland home game because it was the makeup of a weathered out contest.

Banquet circuit plentiful

Mmmm Good . . .

That was the best way to describe the month of May, as there were just so many bowling banquets to attend.

Of course, there's a lot more to the dinners than just good food, there are the many awards, the renewal of friendships with TEN-PIN people that are seem only on these occasions, but in the traditions of the game, these banquets are the tributes to those who performed exceptionally well both on and off the lanes.

Since ladies are HARRISON first, the very first one in May was the Ladies All-Stars, combined Monday and Wednesday night leagues.

There were many highlighted awards including 800 series recognition for Karen Hagen, Cheryl Daniels, Aleta Sill and Charlyne Gervase-Kruliski, Several awards for 300 games, and other such recognition.

The Contour Power Grips team took the championships in both leagues, a. rare feat but not unexpected from this team, captained by West Bloomfield's Kathy Haislip with a little help from Cheryl Daniels, Aleta Sill, Carmen Allen, Lisa Bishop, Jodi Monday and Jeanne Gebbia of Garden City.

The night will be remembered mostly because Rose Marsh and Dorothy Thompson, secretary and President of the D.W.B.A. respectively, actually kicked up their heels and put on a song and dance act for the attendees.

The next banquet was my own Greenfield Mixed League where a nice buffet was followed by point money and awards with the Team No. 2 of Tim Hettinger, Lil Vandervennet, Sherry McMahan and Bill Weed taking first place honors; Dan Wright with league high game of 296 for men; Sue Addy and Barbara Turner sharing ladies high game honors with 255 each.

The Wayne Westland Bowling association was next with a top-notch buffet (I am gaining weight by now) and featuring the retirement of long-time (23 years) Secretary-Treasurer Doug Uhl. He deserved his standing ovation for a job well done.

The association had several 800s from their members including Pat Kline with 832, Chuck O'Rourke with 803 (twice) in the FoMoCo league at Westland Bowl, followed by Gregory Smith (816), Dick Lang (802), Scott Barker (842 with 300 and 298) at Town'n Country Lanes; Jason Johnson with 804 in the Sunday Sleepers at Westland Bowl.

Among the many 300s in the league the perfect game by 70-year-old Ed Szmansky had to be the outstanding performance of all.

The youth bowlers had their day in May as the Y.A.B.A. held forth at the Polish Century Club featuring their famous kielbasa and kraut, those incredible pork chops and chicken.

This year's crop of young bowlers was as strong as ever with some of them moving on to the adult leagues

Betty Heider presided, and scores of trophies were handed out, too numerous to even start to list here, but the event was highlighted by the surprise presentation of "Coach of The Year" honors to Eleanor Hill of Redford, who was in charge of the youth program at Mayflower Lanes. Hill initiated the enior/Youth Challenge, which was so successful and will be rerun again next

My own Inter-Lodge league held its banquet and meeting at Perrysburg, Ohio starting the next day, with a three-day stay at the Holiday Inn, a night at the harness races Friday followed by the annual golf outing, the banquet, then many of the attendees went to the went to the Toledo Mud Hens ballgame on Sunday before returning home.

Bill Vida was awarded a ring for his 300 game, but it was during our "notap" doubles and his ring was a huge ruby which was purchased for $1.50 at Gags and Games.

The final banquet (help, my clothes are shrinking) was on May 21 at the St. Mary's Cultural Center in Livonia.

This one was for the Men's All Star teams, in both the Les Stanford Chevrolet Hall of Fame Classic, which bowls at Thunderbowl on Tuesdays and The Lew Ansara All-Star Traveling Classic.

It took a half hour to hand out all of the 300 game awards, but the greatest honor went to the veteran Tony Lindeman, who received the Raymond Kowalski Memorial Award for his life time committment to the furthering of this sport.

Tony is a living legend, a link from the old glory days when the great Stroh's Beer teams were a dominant force in the nation as well as in Detroit.

As for the present, Tony can still bowl pretty well, his 300 last year was a record-setter for his age.

There were some very nice momentos for both of the major sponsors, and

Lew Ansara left with so many placques and awards, they should have supplied him with a wheelbarrow. In the Les Stanford league it was

Team No. 18, CloverLanes/Wish U Well Tavern winning the Winter Season, whilethe No. 4 Team, Red Robin Restaurants took the Spring Champi-

An amazing statistic, the individual high average was by Windsorite Scotty Laughland, who at age 65, led everybody with a 238.2 average. He also led his team to the winter season champi-

Scotty easily took the honors as "Bowler of the Year," and he might have used Lew's wheelbarrow to take home his many awards.

If I had a wheelbarrow, I might have taken home some of that great roast beef they served up at this delightful dinner. The banquet season is over, now it's back to the old diet again.

Mazda pickup offers something for everyone

By Anne Fracassa

Avanti NewsFeatures

Here's a no-nonsense truck that's perfect for a single guy or gal, a couple with small children or a contractor.

This may sound trite, but It's got something for everybody. Really.

The Mazda B4000 4x4 Cab Plus pickup is so versatile it can handle towing, taking the family to dinner or hauling a kitchen dinette set across town. It's high off the ground for anyone who loves four-wheeling in a field full of mud and muck.

Best of all, it's a comfortable pickup. My two little girls loved to sit in the rear jump seats. My 4year-old told me the seats were perfect for her. She and her sister could easily see out of the truck and the belts fit around them perfectly. I even stuck the booster car seat in there for my 3-year-old (very awkward) and it fit decent-

Up front there's a split bench seat, which makes getting a passenger into the back very easy. The bench seat can also accommodate three adults, and there are The truck's bed has added belts each. That means you can seat five without a lot of problems.

This year, a driver's side airbag is standard on all B-Series trucks and a passenger-side airbag is available on SE and LE models. Also standard this year are antilock brakes.

Assembled in Edison, N.J., alongside the Ford Ranger pickup, Mazda's B-Series trucks are offered in three trim levels, with two cab configurations, two bed lengths and in 2- or 4-wheel drive. Hey, that's a lot to choose from, and prices start at just $9,925.

There are engine choices as well. The B2300 has a 112-horsepower 2.3-liter 4-cylinder engine, while the B3000 is powered by a 145-horsepower 3.0-liter V6.

I tested the B4000 4-wheel drive Cab Plus SE model. This baby has one of the largest and most powerful powerplants in its class — a 160-horsepower 4.0-liter V6. That translates into fun fourwheeling and easy towing of anything under 5,900 pounds.

The suspension is outfitted with an independent twin traction beam with stabilizer bar, and the ride is smooth for a pickup. You're not going to get a luxurytype ride, but it doesn't knock you around the cab like a lot of other manufacturers' trucks.

Sporty body-side graphics add some color and give the truck a special look.

switch is there. Great idea.

The shift-on-the-fly capability allows you to simply switch into 2. or 4-wheel-drive from the driver's seat. The switch, located right of the steering wheel on the dash, locks the front hubs automatically. That means you don't have to exit the truck to manually lock the hubs.

The base price of the B4000 is $19,460, which looks like a steep pricetag. In reality, this truck has a standard equipment list that'll poke your eyes out it's so good.

Take a look: Full gauge group (including a tachometer), headlights on warning chime, 4-wheel anti-lock brakes, 2-speed transfer case with shift-on-the-fly, power assisted steering, power assisted brakes, 72-amp heavy-duty battery, heavy-duty shock absorbers, underbody skid plates, front and rear mud guards, all-terrain 15inch tires, a high-mount stop light, cargo box light, engine compartment light, map light, intermittent windshield wipers, dual mirrors, an AM/FM cassette stereo, tinted glass and fold-down center armrest with storage.

The B4000 tested had a lot more equipment on it, like air conditioning, a premium cassette stereo, sliding rear window, keyless entry, towing package, antitheft system, privacy glass, power window/locks/mirrors and cruise control. With all that equipment, that baby. Industry studies have it pumped up the price to just a hair under $25,000.

For that price, you won't car seat is in the front seat, signif. expect this pickup to be easily dismissed by people on the street. It isn't. One woman driving a latemodate an infant car seat, so the model pickup rolled down her window to get information about my test truck after chasing after me for four traffic lights. And a stockboy at an office supply store who lugged a 5-foot-long table into the flatbed for me said "that's so COOOOL" when he first laid eyes on the truck.

Performance the B4000's got. You wouldn't expect it to be so, but the 4-speed automatic transmission performed well. It's not even sluggish when traversing steep inclines.

All in all, this is a pickup that measures up 100 percent to give you good value, versatility, durability and comfort. Can you really ask for anything more?
