Father shoots son, self

Westland police are continuing their investigation of a Westland man who shot and injured his son and killed himself. The injured son is in a local hospital for treatment.

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITEB

A Westland man had argued at length with his son Tuesday before shooting him in the hand, barricading himself inside a Glen Street house and killing himself with a gunshot wound to the head, police said Wednesday.

Police are continuing to investigate why 53-year-old John Neuwerth shot his 27-year-old son, John Neuwerth III, with a shotgun before killing himself with a .22-caliber rifle.

The son was recovering Wednesday at Oakwood Hospital/Annapolis Center-Wayne after being shot in the left hand, Westland police Sgt. Scott Fetner said.

"He's going to be fine," Fetner said.

The father, however, died of a single gunshot wound to his own head inside a bedroom of his residence at 34441 Glen, near Wildwood between Palmer and Avondale, Fetner said. The father was found about 3:30 a.m. Wednesday after police, fearing that he was armed and dangerous, fired tear gas and other distraction devices to help them gain entry into the house, Fetner said. Police moved into the house about six hours after receiving reports that the son had been shot by his father. Fetner said. "We didn't have to rush in because we had time on our side. There were no hostages," the sergeant said. The son had fled the house immediately after he was shot and sought help from a neighbor, Fetner said. Deputy Police Chief Robbin Crosby said police received a call shortly after 9 p.m. Tuesday that the father had shot the son and had barricaded himself inside the house. Westland police called in a Dearborn Heights police negotiator who tried for several hours to make contact with the father, who apparently died soon after shooting his son; Crosby said. "He had killed himself early on," the deputy chief said, but police didn't know about the suicide for hours. The father apparently had a collection of guns, Crosby said.

Stadiums' backers promote proposal

BY LEONARD POGER

EDITOR The major promoters of a user tax to help finance stadiums for the Detroit Lions and Detroit Tigers brought their case to a Westland Chamber of Commerce audience of some 100 people Tuesday.

They are pushing for public support for Proposition S, a countywide issue on the Nov. 5 ballot which would levy a 1-percent tax on motel/hotel bills and a 2-percent tax on rental vehicles. The tax would be levied only in Wayne County.

The four main speakers said that the stadiums are needed to help revitalize downtown Detroit as well as boost its property tax base.

Mayor Robert Thomas stressed that the tax and stadium developments would help the suburbs as well as Detroit.

County Executive Edward McNamara stressed that the image of Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer, who arrived at the end of the program, said that his city wants to be partners with the suburbs.

Besides stadium plans, the city of Detroit hopes to upgrade its waterfront to surpass those in Chicago, Baltimore and Cleveland.

Their comments, along with those from Detroit City Councilman Gil Hill and Detroit Lions' representative Tom Lewand, may have made some believers in the audience.

Margaret Harlow, co-owner of Harlow Tire, said she was undecided the proposal before the Tuesday presentation and is now "leaning toward voting yes."

But she said she wants to also hear the other side of the issue.

Library cards coming

Hundreds of Westland public library user cards will be mailed by early next week to residents who made early requests for them, library Director Sandra Wilson said Monday.

Wilson also urged some 30,000 residents who use libraries in neighboring communities to

"PERFECT" THE HOUSE

You found a terrific house in the Westland/Garden City area, and like many smart home buyers, you included a structural inspection contingency in your purchase agreement. What nappens when you find out that your "perfect" house needs work? Do you ask the sellers to pay for the repairs? Before you answer "yes", there are some important considerations.

Some contracts require all the systems. such as plumbing, heating, electrical and central air conditioning, to be in working order. In this case, the sellers may be obligated to repair any problems with these systems. Leaky roofs, damp basements, or other structural problems may not be covered, however. If you ask the sellers to make these types of repairs, you may void the contract by doing so. The sellers might prefer to negotiate the repairs to keep from losing the sale. if there are other buyers waiting in the wings with backup contracts, however, you run the risk of losing the home.

Momentum continues to build as the city prepares to unveil publicly' the William P. Faust Public Library of Westland, named after the late state senator who helped to secure state dollars for the long-awaited facility.

Culminating four years of planning, the library is slated to be publicly unveiled during a grand opening celebration at 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 3, on the west side of Central City Parkway north of Ford Road. An open house will follow.

Spectators may park behind the library or ride a shuttle bus from Westland City Hall.

City officials will be joined by Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara for a ribbon-cutting ceremony that will include music by the John Glenn High School band.

The library carries no debt. The $12 million price tag is being paid from local Tax Increment Finance Authority dollars and a state grant.

Police didn't have to barge into the house; instead, they obtained a key from a relative, Crosby said.

Police couldn't say with certainty that the father had been drinking alcohol, but, Crosby said, "we believe so."

Schools confident of expulsion

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

A Wayne-Westland school official is predicting that a student expulsion stemming from alleged death threats and ethnic intimidation will withstand a threatened state appeal.

"I feel comfortable with our decision, and I believe it's going to hold up," Greg Baracy, assistant superintendent of general administration, said this week.

His remarks came one week after parent Otis Wilder told the Observer that he plans to appeal his 17-year-old son Mario's expulsion to the state Board of Education.

Local school officials have refused to reinstate the boy after a Wayne County juvenile court judge in July found him not guilty of ethnic intimidation.

bathroom Feb. 9 with certain slurs aimed at a female staffer at Tinkham Center, an alternative education building on Venoy south of Cherry Hill. The words "Jew bitch" had been scrawled on a wall.

But Baracy said Monday that school district allegations go deeper than the ethnic intimidation court case. School officials also say the boy made verbal death threats against the Tinkham Center employee.

"He threatened to kill one of our staff members," Baracy said. Otis Wilder attended a due process hearing for his son before the school board voted to expel the boy. "I feel very comfortable with the due process hearing that Mr. Wilder attended." Baracy said Tuesday. "I feel that Mario was not only given due process, but certainly had a fair hearing. "I believe the result was in the best interest of Mario and all of the other students in the school district," Baracy concluded. Mario Wilder has said he is now attending adult education classes in Romulus.

Otis Wilder has rejected school officials' allegations against his son, saying the boy was blamed for what another student did.

The father has said he believes his son should be allowed to return to Wayne-Westland after being cleared of charges in juvenile court.

But Wayne-Westland Superintendent Duane Moore has said that the school district isn't bound by the same standards as courts. He has said district policy was followed in Mario Wilder's situation.

Otis Wilder has indicated that he will not only file a state appeal, but that he also will eventually file a lawsuit against school board members.

Father and son maintain that school officials didn't fully investigate the matter.

School officials have disagreed and said their investigation found Mario Wilder to have been involved in threats against the female employee.

will probably support it Nov. 5. She was impressed by the argument by the proposition's supporters that the hotel/motel and rental vehicle tax will be paid mostly by tourists, not Wayne County residents.

Diane Abbott, the city's cable and community relations contractor, admitted that she had her mind made up ahead of time to support the stadium tax proposal.

Abbott said that the stadium developments would be an economic benefit.

She added that Tiger Stadium needs to be replaced.

Mayor Thomas told the chamber, which sponsored the program as one of several legislative forums, said the economic growth in Detroit will benefit the suburbs with increased residential and industrial developments.

McNamara said he wants the tax issue appreved in all 43 county communities.

In responding to questions from the audience, McNamara said that the Gein Theater, on developed for the stadiums, may be relocated to a new location.

Councilman Hill commented that the building of two stadiums has generated an interest in the city of Detroit, joining with suburbs and Windsor, making a serious bid for the 2008 Olympics.

What would happen if the tax proposal is defeated Nov. 5?

"We'll all commit suicide,' McNamara quipped.

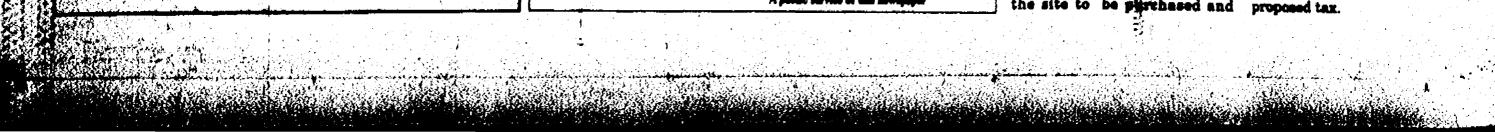

But he and Hill said that if the tax is rejected, the Lions will stay in the Pontiac Silverdome and the Tigers will build a new stadium on the west side of the theater district, behind the Fox Theater.

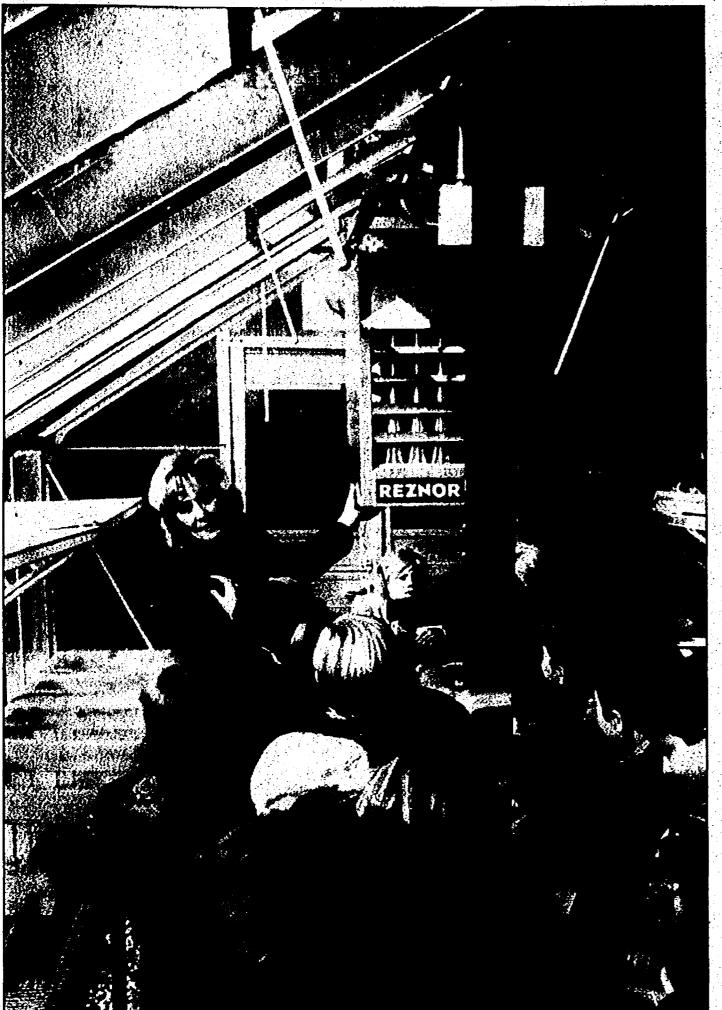

But McNamara said several times during the presentation that the owners of the Tigers and Lions are committed to Detroit and want to build new stadiums in its downtown.

The reason is that the students of teacher Greta Buehler visited the pumpkin patch behind the Westland District Court where persons assigned to the probation work do volunteer work.

Buehler said the students listened to District Judge C. Charles Bokos talk about the court system and hear him preside over court matters.

They then moved down the hallway to view Judge Gail McKnight's court room with some students sitting in her chair, the teacher said.

After enjoying cider and doughnuts, the youngsters walked to the pumpkin patch where each student picked out a pumpkin and brought it back to their school.

Chamber board members angered by campaign letters

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

Two high-ranking Westland Chamber of Commerce members have drawn criticism for citing their chamber positions in a letter supporting the candidacy of Republican state House nominee Dennis LeMaitre.

Some chamber members fear that the letter, signed by chamber vice presidents John Toye and Kim Shunkwiler, may have given the impression that the chamber board has endorsed LeMaitre.

The chamber has a policy of remaining neutral in political races.

Although Toye and Shunkwiler didn't use chamber stationery, they cited their vice presidential positions in letters sent to chamber members in support of LeMaitre.

"I do not believe their titles should be in the letter," chamber member Margaret Harlow said when contacted by the Observer. "The chamber has tried very hard to be non-partisan.

E Greg Baracy, Wayne-Westland school district representative to the chamber, also expressed concerns when asked about the letter, although he said he didn't want to inflame the situation.

"There were a lot of people who were upset because the titles were on the letter," she said. "The chamber does not endorse candidates."

Greg Baracy, Wayne-Westland school district representative to the chamber, also voiced concerns when asked about the letter, although he said he didn't want to inflame the situation.

"It was an unfortunate situation," he said. "I think it was poor judgment."

LeMaitre, a longtime chamber member and former president, is challenging state

Rep. Eileen DeHart, D-Westland, in the 18th District state House race that voters will decide Nov. 5.

On Monday, Toye said that he and Shunkwiler wanted to publicly announce their endorsement of LeMaitre, but he added that they didn't mean to give the impression that the chamber was backing a candidate.

Harlow said it would have been more appropriate for Toye, a Realtor, and Shunkwiler, a chiropractor, to cite their business positions in the letter, rather than their chamber offices.

Toye labeled the situation "a misunderstanding" and said that a second letter to chamber members explains that he and Shunkwiler intended the endorsements to be personal, not as a chamber board.

LeMaitre also confirmed Monday that he has sent a letter of apology to the chamber board.

The 18th District includes most of Westland and the northeast corner of Canton Township.

State board to unveil character ed program today

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

After a long gestation, the State Board of Education is due to give birth today (Thursday) to a resolution advising public schools to do "character education."

The question is: Will it embody values such as "respect, responsibility, caring, trustworthiness, justice, fairness, civic virtue and citizenship," as proposed by Superintendent of Public Instruction Art Ellis?

Or will it be laced with references to God, Bible lessons and parents, as advocated by board president Clark Durant, R- Grosse Pointe?

The eight-member State Board has been tangled on the issue since July. It didn't take up the matter in August and September.

Today's meeting is scheduled to start at 9:30 a.m. in the fourth floor of the John A. Hannah Building, 603 W. Allegan about two blocks west of the State Capitol in Lansing. Public comment is scheduled for 1 p.m.

There are signs many consider it a tempest in a teapot. Tim Kelly, Gov. John Engler's representative to the board, already has said the body has spent too much time on it. Louis Legg III, R-Battle Creek,

Gov. Engler's latest appointee to fill a board vacancy, has hinted he is less than ecstatic over the dragged-out argument. In a letter to all board members, the Jewish Community Council of Metropolitan Detroit called it "unnecessary for the State Board of Education to devote so much energy on this issue. Values always have been, and continue to be, taught by capable, caring educators throughout our public school system."

The letter, signed by president Allen Zemmol, said Durant "has repeatedly used his position as president... to attempt to insert religion into the public schools." Durant apparently had a hand in drafting the first resolution, which emphasizes "fundamental rights of parents" and places parents and religious leaders in prominent spots to be on local school district drafting committees.

And Durant touched a raw nerve among many when he said, in an out-of-the-room interview with a broadcaster, that Bible stories could be used to teach character.

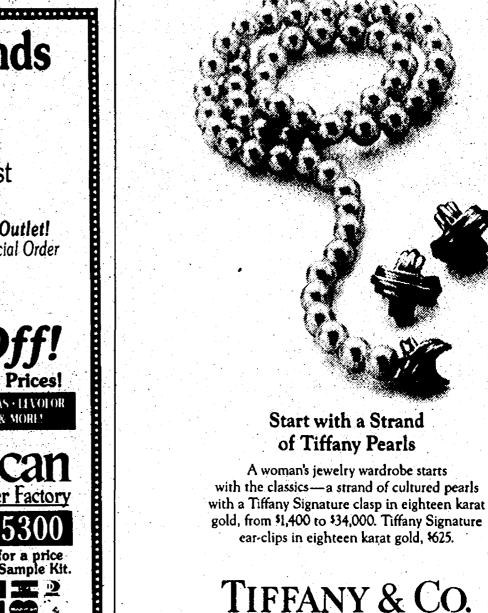

Board member Dorothy Beardmore, R-Rochester, offered a counter-proposal. It says American values "transcend religious beliefs." She cited the values of "respect, responsibility, caring, trustworthiness, justice and fairness, and civic virtue and citizenship."

The Beardmore draft places responsibility on "public schools to provide character education," without mentioning what interest groups should be on the local district's committee. And it underscores "constitutional separation of church and state," to which Marilyn Lundy, R-Grosse Pointe and a Durant supporter, strongly objects.

A Texas company sells a curriculum in building character, but the State Board, as a matter of policy, refuses to endorse any one curriculum or textbook.

Many of Michigan's 560 public school districts long have tried to teach values of character, though not necessarily in a systematic way and not necessarily the same values.

Congressional candidates address election issues

Voters in the 13th Congres- High School. sional District will choose among five candidates to elect to a twoyear Congressional term in the Nov. 5 election.

A U.S. Representative earns $133.600.

The 13th Congressional District includes Canton Township, Plymouth Township, city of Plymouth, Northville Township, city of Northville, Westland and Garden City.

The following candidates are running:

Joe Fitzsimmons, 61, a Republican from Ann Arbor, is the retired president and CEO of University Microfilms. He holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Cornell University. He is an adjunct lecturer at the University of Michigan.

Democrat Lynn Rivers, also from Ann Arbor, is serving her first term in the U.S. House of Representatives. Rivers, 39, previously served in the Michigan state House from 1992-94. She was a member of the Ann Arbor Board of Education from 1984 to 1991, including three terms as president. She holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan and a law degree from Wayne State University.

Libertarian candidate James F. Montgomery, 62, has a master's degree in higher education from the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Montgomery, from Ann Arbor, is a foreign student advisor at the University of Michigan. A Michigan resident since 1962, he and his wife, Pat, established the Clonlara School and Clonlara School Home Based Education Program. He is a Korean War veteran.

Montgomery is a member of the Ann Arbor Rotary Club; and St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Jane Cutter, a candidate from the Workers World Party, lives in Ann Arbor and is an educator.

Cutter has a bachelor's degree in history from San Francisco State University, and has teaching credentials in History and English as a second language.

Jim Hartnett, 24, is a candi-

Hartnett is an engineer and was raised in Canton. He joined the Workers League, predecessor of Socialist Equality Party, in 1994.

Candidates were asked to summarize their backgrounds in 50 words and were allotted 25 words to answer each question. The candidates were asked to answer following questions which are listed by subject in alphabetical order:

Q: Abortion: Should the decision to have an abortion be left to the individual under any circumstances? If so, which circumstances?

Fitzsimmons: I support a woman's right to choose, but not at taxpayers' expense.

Rivers: I support the provisions of Roe v. Wade which allows for abortion on demand through the second trimester and in limited medical circumstances thereafter.

Montgomery: Abortion is not a proper concern of the federal government.

Cutter: Guarantee abortion and all other health services (including prenatal care) to women, children and men. Provide housing, child care, jobs, to care for wanted children.

Hartnett: Decision on abortion should always be left to the woman affected; a basic democratic right not to be infringed by the state or organized religion.

Q: Affirmative Action: Do you believe that the federal government has a role to play in preventing discrimination based on race, gender or disability? Why or why not?

Fitzsimmons: I'm a passionate advocate of equal opportunity. If it means better schools and improved opportunities, I'm for it. If it means quotas or setasides, no.

Rivers: Discrimination is illegal in the United States. Of course the government has a role in enforcing those laws and prosecuting those who flout them.

well as prevent their recurrence. Hartnett: Discrimination based on race, gender or disability should be outlawed, but affirmative action foments racial divisions. Jobs and education for all, not quotas or rationing.

Q: Budget Deficit: How would you eliminate the federal budget deficit? How quickly?

Fitzsimmons: We need to grow the economy, contain runaway government spending and pass a balanced budget amendment.

Rivers: I supported the 'Coalition' budget which balances by 2002. By responsibly delaying tax cuts until balance, it protects education, Medicare, Medicaid, and the environment.

Montgomery: By immediately selling off federally owned assets (national parks, etc).

Cutter: Slash Pentagon budget, eliminate corporate welfare, increase taxes on wealthiest individuals, moratorium on debt service, to balance the budget quickly, increase social services. Hartnett: The budget deficit could be quickly eliminated through cuts in military spending and ending massive tax breaks for the wealthy and giant corporations.

Q: Campaign Finance Reform: What federal campaign finance reforms do you support, if any?

Fitzsimmons: We need to level the playing field so incumbents don't hold all the advantages. Organizations should not be able to donate unreported money.

Rivers: We need less money in the system, not more. I support spending caps, time limits on campaigning, and limiting use of candidate's own money.

Montgomery: Federal law should not address issues of campaign financing. Cutter: Guarantee free, equal

ble. the wealthy control political process. Full media access for all parties and candidates;

Q: Crime: What can the federal government do to help citizens feel safer in their homes and on the street?

Fitzsimmons: We need to support our local police, pass tougher laws that require career criminals to serve their full sentences and protect victims rights.

Rivers: Prevention, protection, punishment. Assist communities in developing recreational and anti-drug programs for youth, putting more cops on the streets, and funding courts and jails.

Montgomery: End the federal governments' War-On-Drugs which creates enormous profits for criminals and causes addicts to steal to support their habits.

Cutter: Fight crime by guaranteeing jobs for all, with $10 minimum wage. Access to education, mental health and substance abuse treatment, and youth programs.

Hartnett: Fight crime by fighting its real causes. Program to end poverty, provide drug rehabilitation for all who need it.

Q: Environment: Should the federal government continue to set regulations to protect the environment and public health? Please explain.

Fitzsimmons: We must protect our natural resources, but regulations need to be based on sound research, not arbitrary findings.

Rivers: Absolutely. It is one of my top legislative priorities.

Montgomery: No. This is not a proper function of the federal government.

Cutter: Strengthen environmental and public health protections. Severely punish corporate access to all print and electronic polluters. People before profit! Simultaneously protect jobs and environment by creating environmentally friendly employment.

Q: Foreign Policy; What responsibilities, if any, does the United States have to other nations and their citizens?

Fitzsimmons: We must exercise leadership with the restraint to not engage in every problem area in the world where there is no clear objective for America.

Rivers: We should keep our leadership role in the world, remain a part of the UN, while urging greater effectiveness, and promote global communication and cooperation.

Montgomery: The proper foreign policy role of the federal government is to maintain diplomatic relations with foreign nations, NOT to provide for their welfare or defense.

Cutter: No U.S. military intervention abroad. End murderous economic sanctions against Cuba, Iraq, Libya. Guarantee equal pay, conditions, for foreign employees of U.S. corporations.

Hartnett: Bipartisan Democratic and Republican government works to defend interests of big business abroad. Oppose all intervention, support massive aid if organized by a workers government.

Q: Health Care: Does the federal government have a proper role in ensuring that all citizens have access to adequate health care? Explain.

Fitzsimmons: Quality, affordable health is not a debatable issue. It should be accessible to everyone.

Rivers: Absolutely. Addressing this single issue would allow us to make progress on myriad other programs like welfare, Medicare, tort reform, etc.

Montgomery: No. This is not a proper constitutional function of the federal government.

any, would you propose for the federal tax system?

Fitzsimmons: We need a flatter, fairer, simpler system. I. want to make tax bills smaller. so people can keep more of what they earn.

Rivers: Deficit reduction before tax cuts, expansion of Earned Income Tax Credit, closing loopholes, and favorable treatment of education and . housing expenses.

Montgomery: Abolishment of the IRS and the personal federal income tax.

Cutter: Close corporate loopholes, increase taxes on corporations and wealthiest families, reduce or eliminate taxes on poor and middle class, don't tax . unemployment benefits.

Hartnett: A genuine progressive tax system, end to regressive sales taxes eliminate all loopholes for corporations and . the wealthy.

Q: Welfare: How would you change the current welfare system, if at all?

Fitzsimmons: I support the . plan that was passed by the Republican Congress and signed : into law by the President.

Rivers: Move people to economic self-sufficiency by aiding. them in acquiring education/job training, child care, health care coverage, and transportation.

Montgomery: Abolish the, federally funded welfare system.

Cutter: Repeal welfare 'reform.' Jobs or guaranteed. income if unable to work. Raise minimum wage. Free quality child care, affordable housing.

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

Candidates for the Michigan Supreme Court can't campaign much, but this year other politicar interests are doing the jungle fighting for them.

The result is a series of attack and as savage as in a congressional race. The issues are liability lawsuits and money.

The Supreme Court itself, in 1974, wrote highly restrictive canons of conduct. Says Canon 7: 'A candidate, including an incumbent judge, for a judicial office. . . should not make pledges or promises of conduct in office other than the faithful and impartial performance of the duties of office."

The result has been wooden campaigns between candidates in black suits or robes, all stressing fairness and experience. Voters are so poorly informed that one-third never bother voting for Supreme Court, and only about 7 percent can even identify a justice in a non-election year.

This year the Michigan Chamber of Commerce, aided by defendant corporations, is doing its best to help Republican nominees, Chief Justice James Brickley, 67, of Traverse City, and Oakland Circuit Judge Hilda Gage, 57.

The Michigan Association of Trial Lawyers and organized labor help Democratic hopefuls,

ELECTION '96

William Murphy, 51, of Grand cratic nominee) in 1988. Rapids, and Marilyn J. Kelly, 58, Under Michigan's quirky law, of Bloomfield Hills, both judges most candidates are nominated by political parties but run on a nonpartisan ballot.

The tort issue

President James Barrett wrote courts.

Its complaint is that appellate courts are too free with other folks' money in allowing plaintiffs to sue for injuries, with "greedy" trial lawyers collecting one-third of the awards.

Its ads attack Murphy and Kelly without mentioning Brickley and Gage. One ad features the case of a hockey player who sued the ice rink for a puck injury and a woman who complained of sexual abuse 41 years after the event. Murphy and Kelly favored letting the cases go to trial.

"Let the jury decide," say trial lawyers, who resist any effort to cap "pain and suffering" awards, the kind of "expert" witnesses who can be used and limits on their fees. "Wait 'til you are injured some day," they add.

Democratic chair Mark Brewer replied that the chamber. through its Justice for Michigan Citizens political action committee, is trying to "buy control of the Michigan Supreme Court."

Murphy, the first Democratic nominee, is a former president of the Michigan Trial Lawyers Association, the hobgoblins of business and health care providers. His 1996 literature, however, buries that fact. Instead, Murphy's campaign pushes better management of the criminal docket.

In his acceptance speech, Murphy departed from his text to remind Democratic delegates his sister "is a proud member of the MEA (Michigan Education Association)."

Kelly's quest for the nomination stressed her labor support.

The money issue

Both sides have made an issue of how the other gets its money. The chambers' PAC, Justice for Michigan's Citizens, says

"more than 88 percent of all the money raised so far by Murphy. . has come from trial lawyers."

It singles out Sommers, Schwartz, Silver and Schwartz, a Southfield law firm, for raising 33 percent of Murphy's money as .: of Labor Day and personal injury lawyer Lee Steinberg (as in "Call Lee for Free") for donating up to the limit.

"More than 90 percent of the contributions to his (Murphy's) campaign are from trial lawyers," added GOP chair Betsy DeVos on Oct. 11.

Democratic chair Mark Brewer says the chamber is dodging the campaign finance law and doubling its contributions by creating the second PAC, Justice for Michigan's Citizens.

In a formal complaint to the Secretary of State, Brewer said the chamber is largely in control of the second PAC.

Brickley, Gage, Murphy and Kelly remain quietly above the fray, letting the special interests and partisans do the heavy work.

The spoilers

Because one-third of Michigan voters fail to vote for Supreme Court justices, an independent candidate has ample opportunity" to challenge a major party nominee.

Chief Justice Brickley has about 11.6 percent name recognition, according to an EPIC/MRA poll, and leads the field. He will be aided by the fact that on , he will be the only Supreme Court candidate designated as an incumbent justice.

His running mate, Hilda Gage, has about 2.6 percent name recognition. The Murphy-Kelly slate has 2.0 and 3.6 percent name recognition, respectively.

Retiring from the Supreme Court will be Justice Charles Levin, ineligible to run because he has reached age 70. Levin, a liberal on the tort issue, nevertheless has always won as an independent.

Judge Cooper, 50, also is runing as an independent, invoking Levin's name at every opportunity. She has received great publicity from two high-profile cases, a murder trial of Dr. Jack Kevorkian and her light sentence of the Japanese woman from Farmington Hills who drowned her baby. Whether voters approve of her judicial conduct or not, it's likely the name recognition will propel her candidacy. The political newsletter, Inside Michigan Politics, gives Cooper a good shot at. topping Gage on Nov. 5. Enter Jerry J. Kaufman, the Libertarian candidate. There are ' 19 Kaufmans practicing law in Michigan, and four of them are judges or former judges. Kaufman has been a great political "name" since the 1950s, when Nathan was one of the first television judges. Jerry Kaufman, who has a civil and worker's comp practice in Berkley, does little campaigning, but his name was strong enough to win him a fourth place in the 1988 Supreme Court race, ahead of Democratic nominee Marvin Stempien, a prominent Wayne circuit judge and former legislator. The other Libertarian candidate is David Raaflaub, an Ann Arbor lawyer who has run before but without denting the other candidates' votes.

The chamber started it. in its magazine that business was tired of seeing tort reforms passed by a pro-business (read: Republican) governor and Legislature but junked by appellate

Livonians face off in sheriff's race

Democrat Robert Ficano of Livonia and Republican Timothy J. Olszewski of Livonia are yving for a four-year term as Wayne County Sheriff.

The sheriff is paid $88,148.26. The following League of Women Voters questionnaire appears in an effort to inform voters on the candidates stands in certain issues. Republican Olszewski did not respond.

Q: Specifically, what is your position on allowing law-abiding citizens to carry handguns?

Ficano: We have laws that permit citizens to carry handguns as concealed weapons. Currently, the law is applied inconsistently from county to county. The Legislature should set uniform standards across the state for gun boards to act upon when considering applications.

Democrat Robert Ficano of Livonia and Republican Timothy J. Olszewski of Livonia are vying for a four-year term as Wayne County Sheriff.

Q: What is your position on casino gambling for Detroit? Did it increase crime in Windsor? Ficano: To my knowledge, crime has not increased significantly in Windsor. Citizens of Detroit have voted to approve gambling, the city should be allowed to follow the will of its electorate. The state allows gambling via horse racing, lottery and bingo, it seems inconsistent to ban one type of gambling. Regardless, safeguards for licensing application and revenue for law enforcement should be significant if gambling is approved.

Q: Where can the sheriff's department save money?

Ficano: Saved taxpayer money by confiscating approximately $3.2 million a year of drug dealers' assets. That money used to pay for the salaries and equipment of officers. Saved taxpayers money by confiscating the cars of those soliciting prostitutes. That revenue also pays for the salaries of officers in the morality unit. With the right legislation, the same type of could be used to save money in other criminal area.

Local woman plans book drive for Detroit school

A drive will be held Saturday at Livonia Mall to collect books for a library at Cooper School, 6836 Georgia, in Detroit.

The drive will take place in front of Sears from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Books for preschool through 6th-grade students are being sought.

Karen Calka, a book distributor for her home-based business with Dorling Kindersley Family Learning, is asking people to bring to the mall any books they can donate. Monetary donations also will be accepted for people to purchase books at cost for the school.

"Cooper School currently has no books in their library," Calka said. "I do not mean they have very few, I mean they have none.

"They recently received tables and chairs for the students to sit at. They also received bookshelves for the books to be placed on. But due to the lack of funds, the bookshelves remain empty."

Calka also will display books at the mail that people can purchase to donate. Calka will discount them 50-75 percent off retail. Any donation is tax

Calka is working with a foundation to help Cooper, as the school was selected as the focus of "Communities that Care," a community building program that seeks to address identified risk factors for young people such as early academic failure, lack of commitment to school. low neighborhood attachment, and neighborhood crime and drug problems.

Calka hopes people can make the book drive a "top priority."

"I am giving of my time to this cause because I firmly believe children need to be educated in order to become productive citizens." Calka said.

Candidates oppose county split

Voters in Redford Township, Dearborn Heights and part of Livonia will select the Wayne County commissioner to represent District No. 9 for the next two years.

Democratic incumbent Michelle Plawecki and Republican challenger Marge Horvath square off in the general election Nov. 5.

Plawecki, 29, of Dearborn Heights, was elected in 1992 and 1994 to county commission. Prior to those elections, she was a court screener for Southwest Detroit Community Mental Health Services. Plawecki holds a bachelor's degree in political science and psychology and a master's degree in public administration from the University of Michigan.

Horvath lives in Dearborn Heights and was elected to the Dearborn Heights City Council in 1993. Horvath is employed with AT&T.

The following questions were posed to the candidates by the League of Women Voters. The League of Women Voters is a nonpartisan organization established in 1920 to encourage citizen participation in government.

Q: How much of your campaign funds come from vendors who do business with the county?

Horvath: None.

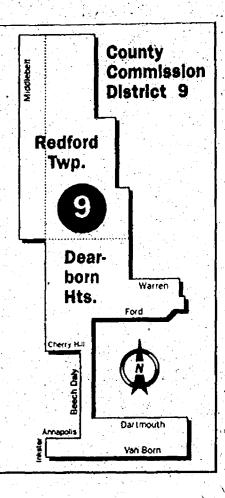

Plawecki: Approximately 50 percent of the contributions which I have received since the inception of my campaign in 1992 for Wayne County Commissioner is derived from businesses who do business with the County.

Q: Why is the county pushing new stadiums when problems of housing, crime and drugs are more important?

that I am trying to find an answer to. I haven't a clue as to why stadiums are such a hot issue when help is needed in so many other areas.

Plawecki: Many elected officials in Wayne County believe that constructing two new stadiums are necessary in order to make Detroit viable for economic growth. While I have always been a proponent of increasing economic development in and around Wayne County, I am opposed to using taxpayer dollars for the purpose of constructing such stadiums.

Q: Should Wayne County Horvath: That is a question be made into two counties?

Why or why not?

Horvath: No. Not cost effective. We just need more accountability and local control and say-

Plawecki: Western Wayne County would have to double its taxes to offset the increase in costs which would be incurred from secession. Until data is presented to me suggesting otherwise, I will not support raising taxes and will continue in my efforts to improve the services provided to the local communities.

S'craft marks 35th year with community open house

In 1961, voters approved the establishment of Northwest Wayne County Community College. Three years later Schoolcraft College opened its doors to students.

Today marks the 35-year anniversary of the college that was later named Schoolcraft.

The new Continuing Education Center will hold an open house today from 3 to 5 p.m. with food and an opportunity to meet the staff and talk about the programs. From 5 to 7 p.m. the party will shift to Waterman Center where there will be cake, balloons, clowns and face paint-

Nine faculty and staff members of the original facility still work at the college. They remember 1964 as a time of tremendous excitement, a feeling of community, much construction and mud.

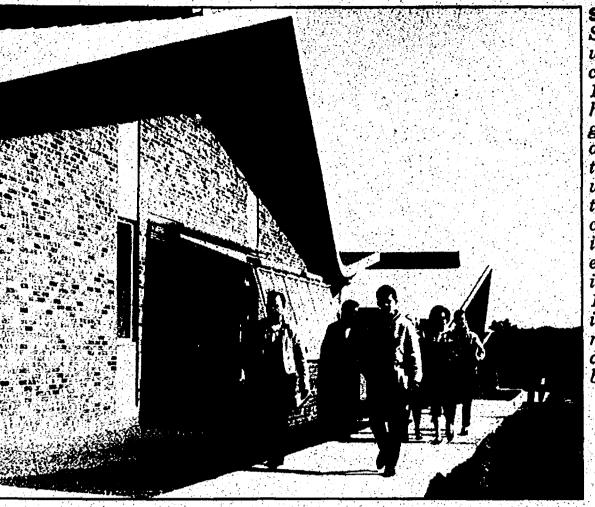

So many students showing up for the first registration they referred to the day as "Black Tuesday." Staff members also remember their yearly salaries -somewhere between the upper $5,000s and the high $7,000s.

"It was pretty stark," said Fernon Feenstra, now assistant dean of technology/natural sciences, who comprised the electronics department in 1964 and earned $6,400 his first year. "Construction was still going on, there was no paving and we walked on planks."

Feenstra was living in Milwaukee when the college called him, based on the recommendation of a professor at Western. When Feenstra saw the campus, the mud and the surrounding fields, he thought it was surreal. "But in talking with the president, he convinced me this was the future."

Feenstra ordered all the equipment for the lab from his Milwaukee home and unloaded his boxes by flashlight because there was no electric power in the Forum Building.

"Those were fun times," he said. "The president got us and our bowling team, the Tech Boys, cleaned up on all the rest of the staff."

Mary Gans, assistant dean for continuing education services, was tapped to set up the athletics department, and build a schedule for the cross country and basketball teams. Gans was without a physical education building for seven years, and had to find places for teams to practice.

"The basketball team practiced in nine different places," Gans said. "We held classes at Northville State Hospital. In the winter, I carried a shovel in my car and had to shovel snow away from the State Hospital door. Then I would unlock the door, let the students in, and lock them up because it was a state hospital:

"One day the water in the swimming pool was 140 degrees. so I held class by the side of the pool and used it like a sauna room. Gans, who earned $7,800 because he taught, organized the schedule and coached basketball, said his normal day began at 6:30 a.m. and ended at 10 p.m.

"We were kind of a raucous bunch, very optimistic, relatively young and naive, and enthused about starting a new school. We were going to make it into something special," said Sue Kaplan of the 48-person faculty. "The first students were very good, and it really seemed to be an academic institution devoted to teaching instead of research. The students were exciting and excited. It was really pretty nice."

Except for a few minor incidents. Kaplan remembered that her office partner opened a closet door one day, reached into her coat pocket, and found a field mouse. Some of the little creatures were apparently displaced and decided to move inside once the original farm site became a college.

Kaplan reported a $6,700 salary. "The closer to the time school opened (that) you were hired, the higher your salary," Kaplan said. "As each of us got the offer, we were told not to tell anyone, so we immediately went out and told each other." Kaplan said faculty had extra duties chaperoning student dances and counseling students, although none were trained counselors. Feenstra said he was the entire financial aid office for a time. Dumont Hixon, who came to Schoolcraft as a reading teacher, remembers President Bradner walking out to the parking lot to count cars at different hours of the day - a first-hand, market survey of class loads:

Andy Watson, chemistry professor, remembers the "plywood palace," a make-shift cafeteria at the east end of the forum building he said was similar to a circus wagon with a plywood roof.

Faculty members walked through the mud and snow to buy coffee and sandwiches the entire first year until a snack bar was established inside a building. Watson recalled the dress code stating that women faculty or students could not wear slacks and at least one student who was sent home for inappropriate dress.

Jean Pike, current associate dean of students, remembers the ankle-deep mud. She also remembers how friendly everyone was.

"We all pulled together as a team," Pike said, But she also on Haggerty Road between Six remembers discovering that her and Seven Mile roads, just west $5,600 salary as a business of I-275. instructor was somewhat below that of her male counterparts.

Another of Pike's memories is the first orientation at the old Mai Kai Theater which was the? showing of the movie, "What a Way to Go." The marquee said, "What a Way to Go --- Welcome" to Students of Schoolcraft College."

One of those students, Donna Nordman, who now works as a coordinator in Schoolcraft's career center, said she remembers everything being new and shiny, with the bookstore located in a trailer where the Waterman Center now stands.

Also involved in the Oct. 24 celebration will be Harold Gor-, don, now a managing member at Roney & Co. Gordon taught Schoolcraft's first continuing education class in 1971, an investment class with about 50 students.

Gordon said he had "a basic blackboard, one chalk and one eraser." After 25 years, the Continuing Education Center Service has grown to 260 classes with more than 15,000 participants yearly.

Hospital staffer surprised with car raffle prize

Joyce Anspach had a premonition that Thursday evening would hold more than good entertainment, tasty food and a night out with friends and colleagues.

The medical education coordinator for St. Mary Hospital won first prize in the raffle at Hollywood Nights, the fourth annual fund-raiser for the hospital. The prize was a two-year lease of a 1997 Cadillac DeVille or the cash equivalent.

"My husband and I bought a book (of tickets) together," said Anspach as she accepted congratulations from throughout the room at Laurel Manor, "I told my husband before I even came tonight that I thought I would win a car."

She plans to take the cash and use it toward her daughter's upcoming wedding.

Second-place winner in the raffle was also a Livonia resident, Margaret Gniewick, who won a two-year lease or cash equivalent of a Jeep Grand Cherokee. In all, 10 prizes were awarded.

Attendees were taken on a musical journey into the past with the Diamonds and Johnny Trudell and his Band, who performed such well-known hits as "Little Darlin'," and "The Stroll."

The event is the largest fund-raising effort by Sti Mary Hospital. Past contributions to Hollywood Nights have provided state-of-the-art equipment for patients, such as an infant ventilator, electronic pediatric scales and specialized infant warmers surgical care and women's health care. in the emergency center.

With the theme "Building the Future," proceeds from this year's event will be used toward new technology, medical services and programs provided by the latest expansion projects, including the Emergency Care/Prompt Care area, progressive care, diagnostic services center, the hospital's south entrance, endoscopy suite, short-stay unit, an additional CT scanner and the recently opened child care center.

Contributions will also assist with the development of the new West Addition, scheduled to open in February providing facilities for maternity care, Hollywood Nights has become a major community event since it was first introduced in 1993 under the direction of Carol Cassie, president of First Michigan Title Inc. Past headliners such as Alexander Zonjic, Johnny Trudell and Marilyn Turner have provided entertainment throughout the years.

This year's event was chaired by Sherri Fletcher, director of St. Mary Hospital Fund Development and Volunteer Services. "This evening's success is due to the efforts of so very, very many people both inside and outside and St. Mary community," she said.

College board honors CC students for high scholarship

Twenty-five students at Detroit Catholic Central High School in Redford Township have been named AP Scholars by the College Board in recognition of their achievement on the college-level Advanced Placement Examinations.

About 54 percent of America's graduating seniors have taken one or more AP examinations. Only about 12 percent of the more than 537,000 students who took AP examinations in May 1996 performed at a level to merit such recognition.

The College Board recognizes several levels of achievement long courses and exams (or their, equivalent semester-long courses and exams). At Catholic Central:

based on the number of year-

One student qualified for the AP National Scholar Award by earning grades of 4 or higher award by earning grades of 8 or on eight or more AP examinations. Michael Buchanan of Catholic Central received this honor,

Eight students qualified for the AP Scholar with Distinction Award by earning grades of 3 or above on five or more AP examinations, with an average exam grade of at least 3.5. These students are: Michael Buchanan, Scott Chemello, Robert Delonis, Clint McDonell, Jeffrey Monnette, Melchor Munoz, John Railich, and Gregory VanHoey.

Five students qualified for the AP Scholar with honor above on four or more AP examinations, with an average exam grade of at least 3.25. These students are: David Jackett, Christopher Jensen, Dante Passera, Richard Ratke and Craig Soules.

Twelve students qualified for the AP Scholar Award by completing three or more AP

AP examinations are taken in May after students complete college-level courses at their high school, are graded on a 5-point scale (5 is the highest).

Most of the nation's colleges and universities award credit and/or placement for grades of 3 or higher, and more than 1,300 institutions award a year of credit to students with a sufficient number of qualifying grades. There are 29 AP examinations offered in 16 disciplines. each consisting of multiple. choice and free-response (essay . or problem-solving) questions.

Exchange program is seeking homes for high school students

Foreign high school students are scheduled to arrive soon for academic semester visits in area homes, and the sponsoring organization needs a few more local host families.

Students are all between 15and 18-years-old, are Englishspeaking, have their own spending money, carry accident and health insurance, and are anxious to share their cultural experiences with their new American families, according to John Doty, executive director of Pacific Intercultural Exchange.

PIE currently has programs to match almost every family's needs, ranging in length from a semester to a full academic year, where the students attend local high schools.

PIE area representatives match students with host families by finding common interests and lifestyles through an informal in-home meeting. Prospective host families can review student applications and select a match. As there are no "typical" host families. PIE can fit a student into just about any situation, whether it be a single parent, a childless couple, a retired couple or a large family.

Families who host for PIE also are eligible to claim a $50 per month charitable contribution deduction on their itemized tax returns for each month they host a sponsored student.

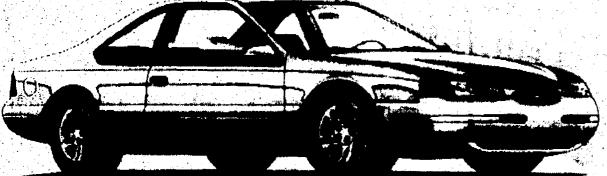

For the upcoming programs, PIE has students from Spain, Denmark, Germany, Poland, Russia, Finland, Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Paraguay, Australia, New Zealand, Croatia, and many other countries. PIE has been invited to participate in a special governmentfunded program to bring scholarship students from the newly independent states of the former Soviet Union to the United States.

PIE is a non-profit educational organization that has sponsored more than 18,000 students from 40 countries since its founding in 1975. The organization is designated by the United States Information Agency and is listed by the Council on Standards for International Educational Travel (CSIET), certifying that the organization complies with the standards set forth in the CSIET's standards for international educational travel programs.

Doty encourages families to contact the program immediately to allow the proper time for the students and hosts to get to know one another before they actually meet.

Area families interested in learning more about student exchange or arranging for a meeting with a community representative may call PIE tollfree at 1-800-631-1818 or via the Internet at http://www.pieusa.org. The agency also has travel/study program opportunities for community volunteers to assist and work with area host families, students and schools.

Livonia attorney challenges O'Hair for prosecutor's post longer?

Wayne County voters will select between Democrat John D. O'Hair and Republican Donald Knapp to a four-year term as county prosecutor.

O'Hair has been county prosecutor since 1983. He is a Detroit resident.

Knapp, a Livonia resident, has not campaigned for the post.

The Observer will be running excerpts of questionnaires from the League of Women Voters, a nonpartisan organization which aims to inform voters on election issues.

Q: Should first offense cocaine dealers be sentenced to life terms? If not, why not?

Knapp: First offense means first-time convicted not necessarily first-time dealing cocaine. Cocaine and cocaine dealers destroy lives. If you are convicted of trafficking in large amounts of cocaine, you should receive a life sentence. Those in the lucrative business of destroying lives should pay a very high price.

O'Hair: Michigan's 650 drug lifer law is not too harsh for the major drug trafficker, of for the person regularly engaged in selling drugs, whether or not the offender has been arrested before. For a youthful or firsttime offender not previously or regularly engaged in drug distribution it is time to review the wisdom of lifetime prison sentences. For this kind of offender, there may be more proportion-

Knapp: I believe that despite any effort to create a system that would permit physicianassisted suicide, abuses will arise that will result in unintended deaths. I stand with the American Medical Association in opposition to physician-assisted suicide.

Knapp: The real issue is not plea bargaining, it is whether we should require mandatory minimum sentences for criminals. Anyone convicted and sentenced should know that he will serve his full sentence, without parole, and not be released early because of jail overcrowding. Build more prisons, don't impair law enforcement.

Tickets are $37.50 per person. For tickets and information, call (313)285-2966 or (810)681-5736.

Honored as Irish Pallottine Men of the Year for their support of the missions will be John Wisely of Waterford, formerly of Southfield, and Dr. John Newell of Allen Park.

The Rev. Stephen Keogh of the Wyandotte-based Pallottine priests said "a missionary is a religious who goes to a place where he is needed but not wanted, and remains there until he is not needed, but wanted.

"Our fund raisers and church appeals are the lifelines of our missionaries in Tanzania, East Africa. Our success in that wind-scorched land of famine and death is not only due to the dedication of our missionaries, but also to the generosity of caring and loving people. Without this help, our missionaries cannot do their work of spiritual and human development."

Yes for stadiums Proposition deserves support e endorse, with lukewarm enthusiasm, Wayne County Proposition S on the Nov. 5 ballot – two taxes for two stadiums.

We endorse them because Wayne County is on a roll in turning around the economy in Detroit and helping it grow in the suburbs. The list of successes seems to swell daily: a theater district in Detroit that includes a comedy and an opera house, General Motors' bailout of the Renaissance Center, business offices in the City-County Building, a shift of city hall to the New Center area, a $1.6 billion expansion at the county's Metropolitan Airport that makes it a center of both national and international travel, spillovers from the airport in the suburban I-275 and M-14 industrial corridors ... and so on.

Major league sports teams, like the Detroit Lions and Tigers, are an important ingredient in a region that already boasts a world class symphony orchestra and art institute. All the improvements, taken as a growing package, can make the county seat a magnet instead of a place to flee, as it has been since 1967.

It is hard to object to the tax proposals as such: 1 percent on hotels and motels, 2 percent on rental vehicles, with travelers (mostly on business expense accounts) picking up the bulk of the tab.

The Hotel Association of Greater Detroit and the Michigan Hotel/Motel and Resort Association not only don't object but are actively supporting them, calculating the new business will more than offset the higher costs. Many car rental companies support the package.

We share the concerns about "corporate welfare" but in fairness must point out two things: The governmental contribution to the $500 million-plus projects is smaller than in nearly all other big city stadium projects; and the two most famous benefiting families, Ilitch and Ford, have shown a dogged loyalty to this region with their investments and contributions. They deserve public confidence.

Our enthusiasm, however, must be lukewarm because of the tax situation in Michigan and the region.

An objective Citizens Research Council points out that Proposition S, if approved; will raise the Detroit hotel tax rate to 15 percent, third highest in the country and ahead of Chicago's, Los Angeles', San Francisco's and even New York's. The new car rental tax rate will be 8 percent, not tops but close to the 50city average of 8.24. Most importantly, we point out that this is the third county tax increase the McNamara administration has proposed in just two years. There is a disturbing statewide trend, in the wake of the hefty Proposal A property tax cut of 1994, for all kinds of local governments to ask all kinds of new taxes.

We supported with great zeal the mid-1995 property tax increase for SMART, the suburban bus system, because it opened the gates of opportunity for many would-be workers to get suburban jobs. We also smiled on the parks proposal of last August. As traffic swells, people deserve healthy and well-maintained recreation facilities close to home. That parks tax runs five years.

We fear that if Wayne County and other units keep it up, however, there will be another taxpayers' revolt; we fear that revolt may be directed against schools, SMART and the parks.

And so, while recommending a yes vote on Proposition S, we say emphatically that the Lions' and Tigers' stadiums are a far lower priority than schools, buses and parks for Wayne County families. ARKIE HUDKINS am sick of the negative campaigning coming from the (Republican nominee for Congress) Fitzsimmons office. U.S. Rep. Lynn Rivers is a candidate we can all be proud of. What is wrong with struggling in life, like most of us have? I once heard that without struggle there is no progress. And what is wrong with belonging to a good union?

My grandfather belonged to a union for 50 years. And what is wrong with being an ordinary person? Most of us are! Congresswoman Rivers is doing a great job for us. I'd like to clear the air of negative campaigning with some honest truth. Here is just a little about what she is doing. • She is saving taxpayers money by cutting her office budget 29 percent and returning $244,000 to the U.S. Treasury last year alone. are shocked. It almost seems that Mr. Perot has broken the rules by using real numbers to support his positions.

Perot is a victim of what I would call "Newt's Fallacy" – which is the erroneous assumption that at some points in history reality and politics intersect.

Perot wants to "engineer" real solutions to real problems. But what the public wants is political conventions that are three-hanky soap operas with lots of children, wheelchairs and dancing.

What we want are Bill Clinton's "dreams" and Bob Dole's "fuzzy thinking." Democratic dreams don't fit on graphs. And Republican fuzzy thinking cannot be put on a chart. We want to be lied to. But we want true lies - lies we want to be believe. We really don't want the truth because it might be too scary. So, go away, Mr. Perot! Just go away and take your charts with you! We don't want to talk about money.

Vote no on 'D,' yes on 'G'

Michigan's bear population has been managed masterfully the last few decades. There are 10,000 black bear in the northern woods, a healthy population. Hunters take about 1,500 a year. More importantly, bearhuman encounters are dwindling. It has been decades since a child was killed by a bear. Only one or two bear cubs are erroneously killed per year.

This excellent record is the work of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, which fine-tunes the bear population through hunting rules. It allows the use of bait piles and packs of dogs, through which 95 percent of the bears are taken.

Proposal D would outlaw the use of bait piles and dogs. Its purpose is to keep alleged trespassers off private property, although in the Upper Peninsula only a dozen such cases were reported last year.

Proposal D amounts to using a bomb to do the work of a paring knife. It is overkill and bad management. It should be defeated.

Suppose, if it passes, the bear kill is cut to a few hundred per year. In a few years, the bear population would explode. There would be more bear-human conflicts, more bears declared nuisances for just behaving like bears. There are likely to be new reports of tiny humans being mauled in their backyards, as we saw in the 1950s.

Micro-managing of the bear population is not the answer. The job should be left to the DNR.

That brings us to Proposal G. It would declare state policy to be scientific management of wildlife by trained biologists. It should be adopted.

Proposal G makes one change from existing law. Gov. John Engler took away rule-making authority from the Natural Resources Commission and gave it to the DNR director. Proposal G gives authority back to the commission. Engler himself supports G.

Proposals D and G are rivals. If voters say yes to both, the one with the most yes votes becomes law. If both fail, the DNR director will continue to make hunting rules.

To be safe, voters should say no to Proposal D and yes to Proposal G.

State proposals are crucial

Some are important, some mere nuisances. But we urge all voters to look at the state proposals at the bottom of the Nov. 5 ballot.

Proposal A is a mischief law to ban use of bingo games as political party fund-raisers. Democrats, mainly in the tri-county area, sponsor most of the political bingos. Their take is a mere 5 percent of the total bingo profits. They hardly intrude into church bingos.

Republicans in the Legislature passed the law in 1994 when they had a temporary majority in the House. The law amounts to a piecemeal approach to campaign finance reform. A no vote rejects the law. We recommend a no vote on Proposal A.

Proposal B would amend the Michigan Constitution to require that lawyers must have been licensed (admitted to the State Bar) for five years before they can run for judge. Currently, a greenhorn fresh out of law school can be elected judge. On Wayne County's bedsheet ballots, several inexperienced persons have been elected on the basis of "name."

Proposal B wouldn't guarantee smart and experienced judges. But it would provide a good minimal qualification for officials who hold our fortunes, our safety and our lives in Proposal B.

Proposal C is a puzzler. It would elevate the Veterans Trust Fund, established in 1946 after World War II, to constitutional status.Over the decades, the Legislature has raided the Veterans Trust Fund several times for general fund purposes during recessions, when revenues declined. The Legislature itself, in a moment of penance and self-denial, placed Proposal C on the ballot. If the fund should be retained at all, it should be protected. We recommend a yes vote on Proposal C.

Proposal E would allow three non-Indian gambling casinos in Detroit. In the past, we have editorialized against establishing casinos in Detroit because at that time there was no redevelopment going on in the city. But things have changed under the Dennis Archer administration.

Gambling is a recreational pursuit for many people. More than 16,000 people pass through Detroit every day to visit Windsor casinos, restaurants and hotels.

In addition, the limited gaming allowed under Proposal E will create a number of lowskilled jobs that may be needed in the city.

We recommend a yes vote on Proposal E.

• She refuses all gifts, meals, and trips from lobbyists and has written a bill to put these restrictions on all members of Congress.

• She has achieved a nearly perfect attendance record in Congress while still coming home practically every weekend to meet with her constituents.

Lynn Rivers is my choice for Congress because she is a decent, hardworking, caring woman. She votes for what is best for the people she represents.

Newt's fallacy

To understand American politics in the late 1990s, it is necessary to understand the difference between money and rhetoric.

Real politicians know that politics is really about money – big money – and more particularly about which of the many competing special interests get the taxpayers' money. Hundreds of billions of dollars change hands annually.

Yet the American public thinks that politics is about rhetoric, sometimes called "the issues."

The issues include things like family values, abortion, gays in the military, education and welfare policy or Bob Dole shouting "liberal, liberal, liberal."

The problem is that issues are vague and ill-defined. But money is real and quantifiable.

So, when someone like Ross Perot comes along with his charts and graphs, may people We want to talk about "the issues."

Tests questioned

With much fanfare, the State Board of Education recently released the results of the new high school proficiency tests. As the scores from this test are published by the media, local school board members will "take the heat" from a public that has been misled by the board into believing that the results of these tests, and their endorsement ratings, are meaningful. In my opinion, the state board has a long way to go in perfecting both the tests and their scoring before I will be convinced of their worth.

My daughter Judy is a senior at Churchill. She's a 4.0 student who scored 30 on the ACT exam. Many top colleges are courting her and she's already been accepted to Michigan State. Her ACT score in reading was 34, which is extremely high, yet she did not receive a reading endorsement from the state proficiency test! Unfortunately, this is not an isolated incident. What does concern me is that the public will have the misguided perception that our curriculum, teachers, students, administrators and board of education are not proficient. In my opinion, this perception would be erroneous and grossly unfair.

Our Mission: "Because we publish community newspapers, we think about community journalism in a fundamentally different way than our bigger competition. They consider themselves to be independent from the stories and communities they cover, swooping in to write the unusual or sensational and then dashing off to cover something else. We regard ourselves as both accurate journalists and as caring citizens of the communities where we work."

POINTS OF VIEW

Young, old can use care outside home have never really believed in either day care for babies and todplers or assisted living for the elderly.

I thought that if both parents had to work, it was better to bring someone into the home to care for the child, if it could be afforded, rather than to cart them off to day care.

And, I thought, that the elderly, tod, were better off staying in their home with someone to assist them, if they could afford it, rather than to enter an assisted living situation.

Of course I had considered both concepts only from afar. And, as with many untested philosophies, the reality is quite different.

Because my own experience now shows I was wrong.

Drawing similarities between caring for the young and the elderly is not so unlikely. It's actually hard not to draw parallels between my 20month-old granddaughter and my 80year-old mom in what is truly a circle of life. For example, as Allyson was learning to walk, my mother became dependent on a walker.

As Allyson is picking up new words, my mom is aware that words don't come to her as easily after a slight stroke.

And now that Allyson is running, jumping and climbing, my mom has had a setback and can only get around in a wheelchair.

Luckily, both are plucky,

Allyson, who has been in part-time day care since she was 6 months old, has just graduated to the 2-year-old room along with Jack and Jordan, with whom she has shared her babyhood.

Not only has she made the adjustment, but, after a perfunctory acknowledgment she continues to play when her mom, dad or even Grammy (sob) come to pick her up. She makes it perfectly clear that she's stimulated and at home away from home.

My mom, faced with surgery for a benign tumor on her back that we hope will allow her to regain mobility and relieve her pain, tries hard not to complain and doesn't let us see her tears. Luckily, she also has her "Jack," who has been both advocate and companion.

But she has resisted assisted living, preferring to stay in her own apartment in another city with practical nurses around the clock and her out-of-town children visiting intermittently.

It's not a good situation. The right caregivers are hard to find. Cooking nutritious meals is not part of their job. Some have tried to take advantage of her. And, although yes, she is surrounded by her own things and in a traditional high-rise apartment building, it is an isolated existence.

I recently accompanied Observer & Eccentric book reviewer Esther Littmann to an assisted living facility, The Trowbridge in Southfield, where she gives weekly book reviews on a volunteer basis.

It was an interesting hour. Littmann brought the book "True Colors," the autobiography by Bloomfield Hills resident Patricia Hill Burnett, home to an audience of 35 or so senior citizens.

Some were in walkers and wheelchairs and a few were accompanied by nursing attendants. But all except one who fell asleep for a bit were completely engrossed in the lively review, which Littmann, a Bloomfield Hills resident, punctuated with questions to which they eagerly responded.

(PC-21A)(LWG)19A

And Littmann is not their only source of outside excitement. They had to move to a larger room for Linda Garfield, who discusses current events twice a week. And large crowds also attend storytelling by Corinne Stavish. Other smaller draws are American history and humanities classes.

So although you think of assisted living as prepared meals, transportation and health services, it is also about socializing and stimulation.

It seems that home can sometimes. be more confining than cozy for a young child or an elderly person if well-chosen day care or assisted living is available.

To understand budget, get lock on lock box studied high school civics, college political science and business school accounting and never heard of a "lock box."

Nowadays, you can't understand the machinations of your tax dollars at work unless you know about a "lock box." Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Redford, who ranks as one of Lansing's 25 queens and kings on the House Appropriations Committee, educated me recently.

A line-item is made in a state spending bill but takes effect only if the U.S. Congress makes changes in welfare and Medicaid programs that yield Michigan more revenue. If the feds come through, we can spend the money; if not, forget it. dure that makes sense. In the old days, Gov. Bill Milliken had to issue executive orders cutting spending, particularly for schools, when a recession shriveled revenues.

Later, Gov. Jim Blanchard had his own device: He would underestimate revenue and get the budget passed. Months later, Blanchard would say, Hey, let's use the extra revenue for a nifty new program I have in mind.

The lock box technique says we'll hike spending on program X if extra revenue comes in. Whatever one thinks of Gov. John Engler's policies, his budget practices deserve praise. Naturally, legislative Democrats

Hertel pointed to $100 million worth of expansions of health-care coverage for children, in-home care for the elderly, Medicaid, prison construction, schools for new state troopers, Job Commission grants and conservaMichigan Democrats, we told you so. This mightily annoyed Rep. Don

Gilmer, R-Augusta, chair of the House Appropriations Committee. He said Hertel and the Democrats were well aware of the lock boxes in the budget bills. Gilmer said Democrats were off base in saying program backers had been told they would receive increases. "They were told they would get the funding only if the federal changes occurred," Gilmer said.

"The budget is balanced, the programs are funded as approved, and shame on them," he added.

Meanwhile: There is little public discussion but lots of quiet worry about the Michigan Supreme Court's refusal to take up Durant vs. State and Schmidt vs. State. Those were the cases in which the Court of Appeals ruled Engler had improperly cut "categorical" school aid to out-of-formula school districts.

Engler's argument, you'll recall, was that if well-off suburban school districts didn't get general school aid, they shouldn't get categorical aid, either. The suburbs disagreed. So did the courts.

One day you hear the districts are entitled to $500 million; next day, others could file claims, and the total amounts to $1 billion, $2 billion, $3 billion. Keep in mind the total general fund budget is just $8 billion.

Will the Durant decision drain the $1 billion "rainy day fund"? Will a tax hike be necessary?

Doubtful. Engler will negotiate a settlement with the schools closer to the $500 million mark than to the $3

Open Meetings Act hampers search for new U-M president

onsider this: Suppose you are a board member of a $2 billion corporation, a world leader in its field but facing troubled times.

Suppose you are searching for a new CEO for the company, competing with other companies in the job market for leadership.

And suppose the Michigan Legislature passed a law which, when interpreted by the courts, ordered you under criminal penalties:

• Not to meet one-on-one with candidates for the job.

• Not to talk privately about any of the candidates with your search committee or the headhunter you have hired.

• Not to use confidential reference checks – letters and phone calls to former employers – without releasing them to the public.

• Even – get this! – not to talk with your fellow board members about the decision except at a public meeting of the board.

And suppose further that these legal requirements deterred many excellent candidates from putting their names forward and, at the last minute, caused one of your finalists to withdraw.

How would you feel?

For starters, how about outraged and hamstrung at this terrible example of absurd and damaging governmental intrusion into your business affairs?

Sounds outlandish? Not at all.

This is exactly what is going on just now at the University of Michigan, where the Board of Regents is working under court order to select a new president in a way that complies with the Michigan Open Meetings Act.

It's clear that the publicity requirements of the Open Meetings Act scared off most sitting presidents from participating in the search, thereby eliminating from the selection pool abnost everybody with prior experience as a university president.

Then last week, the Detroit and Ann Arbor newspapers sued the U-M, claiming the search process set up by the Board of Regents violated the Open Meetings Act. Washtenaw Circuit Jadge Melinda Morris ruled that the university had to open up every aspect of the search process and forbade one-on-one meetings between regents and presidential candidates. One of the five finalists promptly withdrew, discussion about sensitive issues." Search consultant Malcolm McKay pointed out that selection procedures at private universities wisely offer presidential candidates the chance to get to know, one-on-one, the board members for whom they will be working.

Of course, the newspapers are harrumphing that the Open Meetings Act is just wonderful because it requires all public bodies (U-M Board of Regents is one) always to conduct the public's business (the university is in large part tax-supported) entirely in public (i.e., so that reporters can look over shoulders and report about scandal in the background of candidates and backroom deals between the regents).

This absolutist position amounts to saying that a central point of public policy in Michigan should be to place our public universities at an enormous competitive disadvantage versus private schools in searching for competent leadership. Talk about cutting off the nose to spite the facel

The Board of Regents – let the public record show clearly that I'm one – is going ahead to select a new president, even under the strict terms of Judge Morris' ruling. It won't be easy, But the university needs a new president right now, and the Michigan Constitution says selecting one is our job.

I can only hope we'll get good candidates. And when all the fuss is over, I hope the Michigan Legislature will amend this intrusive, poorly written and counterproductive law to cut trustees some slack in selecting the best possible candidates to run the universities that are among the crown jewels of our state.

Halloween can be risky for pets

Halloween is fun, but it can be hazardous for household pets, warns Dr. Paul Bloom of Bloom Animal Hospital in Livonia,

"We worry about dogs who share the goodies collected by trick-or-treaters," Bloom said.

"It frequently leads to an upset stomach, and it isn't healthy for their teeth. Chocolate is a special concern because it contains a chemical, theobromide, which is toxic to dogs in large quantities."

Cats, dogs and other house pets may also be at risk during Halloween because of increased arrivals and departures at houses, and increased vehicle traffic.

"If you're expecting visits from any little ghosts or goblins, it's a good idea to confine your furry friends to an area where they can't slip out of the house accidentally," Bloom said.

Keeping Halloween safe is important for the whole family, including the four-legged members."

Bloom is a diplomat of the American Board of Veterinary Practitioners, Feline and Canine Specialty.

He is an assistant adjunct professor of dermatology at the Michigan State University College of Veterinary Medicine.

FAMILY ROOM

🖩 Deborah Dodge was looking for a business she could operate out of her home. An ad in the newspaper provided the answer and today she spends her time making personalized children's books.

KAREN MEIER

E-mail provides food for thought n a minute, I'll be sharing with you an E-mail letter I got. I'm sharing it because ... well, I've already shared so much with you over the years. Mostly good, some bad. Yet even with the bad I've always looked for the good. A lesson, maybe a promise, a hope. Something good. And it's there. The good is always there. Like the phoenix rising from the ashes.

And that's how it's going to be with this letter. Good will come of this.

"Dear Karen, I just finished reading your latest article, and I am humored by how you describe the public reaction to 'easy to take, ordinary life ... simple break from serious business, etc.' For a long time ... there has been a group of women who read your article and get quite upset. In fact, we have all talked about actually contacting you.

"We are working mothers, with high-powered careers, stressed to the max. We are the moms that use the 'nasty words' at gymnastics practice because we've been running on a bagel and Coke since 7:45 a.m. ... have a run in our hose, a broken nail, no milk in the fridge, a kid who needs a seven-page book report typed that evening, and we haven't done laundry in 12 days. Some of us have husbands, some of us do not, our reasons for our careers are very diverse, we love our families as much as you ... we just vent in a different way ... but for sure, I can tell you we find no humor in your attempt to hold on to the 'Americana' life of the past. I've seen you out in public ... your young children looked unkept, runny noses, dirty diapers and improperly dressed. In fact, you were not put together so well yourself. This was even at a school event where every mom does her best to make her kids proud of her. Instead, your younger children were so distracting, no one could concentrate on your son's presentation and everyone seated around you prayed that your toddler wouldn't wipe his nose in their lap. "Which leads me to another thought ... all of us working moms really got upset at how you tried to present to the world what a great blessing having your last 'special needs' child was. It. appears to us you weren't able to keep up with karma. When Deborah Dodge was looking for a business opportunity, she found it in the clas-

A dental assistant who had taken time off because of an illness, she was ready to go back to work, but wasn't sure what she wanted to do.

"It was one of those things like what do I want to be when I grow up," the Livonia resident said. "I got sick and took 1 1/2 years off and got spoiled, so I thought about what I could do at home. I found the ad in business opportunities.

"It just sounded right and felt right when I went over to her house."

The right is her Star-Shine Creations, a Create-A-Book business she purchased in August from a fellow Livonia resident. For $14.95 (plus sales taxes and $2 shipping), Dodge will create a children's story book that features the reader as its "star."

With the help of computer program, she inserts such pertinent information about the child as his or her name, nickname, hometown a variety of adventures and even a book celebrating their births. and the names of three friends or relatives.

The computer inserts the information at appropriate spots in the story line, prints it out on pages that are assembled with colored illustrations and coordinating hard cover she gets from the Hefty Publishing Company, the sole owner of the Create-A-Book trademark.

In addition to the personalized story, there's a dedication page and a sticker that displays a photograph of the "star" of the book.

"I've always been interested in children and I like that this is something special for kids," Dodge said. "The price is reasonable and it's personalized for that child.

"I did a few for relatives and the kids were delighted."

The personalized children's books are the brainchild of John and Rita Hefty, who founded the Create-A-Book company in 1980. John created the software while Rita wrote the stories.

The business evolved into Hefty Publishing Company in-1993 with the merger of Create-A-Book Inc. and their second publishing company, Presto Print Books. Hefty is the largest publisher of personalized books with more than 80 titles.

Her selection includes books about Christmas, Hanukkah, fishing, camping, the beach, sports and birthdays. There also a McGruff safety for children in the third through fifth grade and a "My School Fun Book" that includes the names of the child's teacher and school and has activities that can be done with a parent. New to the line is the "Baby's Create-A-Book," the story of the child's birth. It comes in four versions standard mother and father, adopted, single parent and Christian.

Dodge also is doing personalized letters at $2 each from Santa Claus both naughty and nice – and letters for Easter and Hanukkah.

Owning a business isn't something new to the Dodge family. Husband David is a partner in Pyramid Pavers and son Scott, who is studying business at Schoolcraft College, started a lawn maintenance and landscaping business when he was 16.

Daughter Katie, a junior at Livonia Churchill High School, has dreams of being an actress, and has helped her mother with Star-Shine.

"David was supportive, but he was skeptical at first," Dodge said. "I think my son thought I'd flipped my lid, but when he saw the stuff, he was amazed."

The amazement is how easy it is, to manufacture the books. While, Dodge tells customers there's a 10day turnaround time for orders, it takes all of 10 minutes to print and assemble a book. Once the pages are printed, assembled and cut to fit the book, they are stapled between two sheets of sticky-backed paper that are attached to the inside covers.

While Dodge could have bought a Create-A-Book franchise, purchasing the established business was +...

First of all let me say that the handwriting of young people often changes along with the personality so I rarely select it to analyze in my column.

However, since your handwriting is very good in that each and every word is clear and easily read, I am going to make an exception. Also, I hope it is not too late to show your teacher that you are quite a mature > Determination is a positive and strong part of your personality. Once you start on a task orgoal, you can be counted upon to finish it.

> You are not a wishy-washy person. When you make up your mind, you can be rather decisive. Security is important to you. You need to know you are useful and accepted in your own way of doing things. You also need support and assurances of love. The opportunity to express yourself and your feelings without anyone putting value judgments on how you say or do things is also needed.

Parents can find help, info at 'Celebrate Families'

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO STAFF WRITER

Asking for emotional, psychological or financial help can be an intimidating experience.

Interested in helping families before their problems get out of hand, the Child Abuse Prevention Council of Out-Wayne County (CAPCo) decided to make it easy on agencies' potential clients by hosting the "Celebrate Families" fair Saturday, Oct. 26, at Wonderland Mall in Livonia.

"Instead of calling someone from the phone book or hearing about it from a friend and not really knowing what it's like, they will be able to talk directly with a staff person about what they do, or how much it costs, how to get the service," said Sandra Murphy, executive director of CAPCo. "The idea is I think it's a little less intimidating and a little less formal. The mall is just a busy place on the weekends and we thought that this would give people the opportunity to informally just pick up something then they could call. if they wanted to.

"Plus if they're having to deal with a problem and don't want to do it when other family members are around this will give them the opportunity."

"CelebrateFamilies" is an annual family resource fair that the Child Abuse Prevention Council coordinates at Wonderland Mall. The fair will feature booths staffed by volunteers and employees of health care systems, human service agencies, volunteer agencies, churches and schools, she explained.

Murphy's hope for the fair is that while it will help people, it will also boost area organizations' number of volunteers, foster parents and mentors.

"All of these agencies are focused on family issues, parenting issues and helping to create healthy families; that's sort of the underlying tone," she said. "That's why we call it 'Celebrate Families' because we want it to be upbeat, and we want it to be positive.

"Our feeling is that there certainly are enough negative things that we read about and see every day that we need to start focusing on the positive things that are very much a part of what we do, that there are healthy families."

Besides the presence of area agencies, "Celebrate Families" will host a guest appearance by TC Bear, the mall's mascot, who will lead sing-alongs with children at 11 a.m., 1, 3 and 5 p.m. in the center court.

"The mall has been very supportive," Murphy said. "They are providing entertainment throughout the day in the center court area. The whole idea is it would be a place where the kids I All of these agencies are focused on family issues, parenting issues and helping to create healthy families; that's sort of the underlying tone.

do is to promote the checkoff by getting more people to do it, and to help agencies to develop prevention programs and then get them funding from the checkoff," Murphy said. "We know that for every $10 we spend on treatment for families that are already in trouble, we can spend $1 on prevention and have a greater impact on what we're really trying to do.

"Our goal is to prevent child abuse by trying to get more programs to help get families before they get over the edge and become terribly dysfunctional."

One of those programs is "Be a Hugger, Not a Slugger," a parent education program partially funded by Target. It is offered for free through area agencies.

"It helps provide information for parents on alternatives to hitting, slapping or shaking their children; it's aimed at the average parents who's trying to do the best job they can managing their children without using corporal punishment," Murphy said.

Through "Celebrate Families" and other programs, CAPCo helps to make families function-

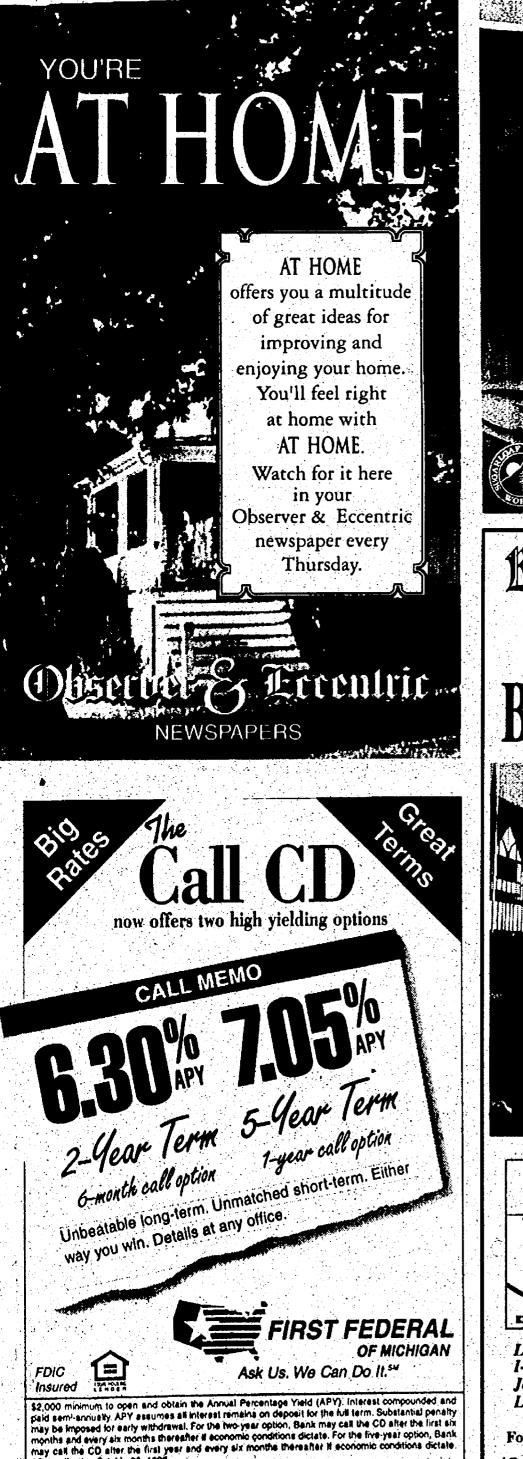

"Of late I've heard people use the word diversity to describe families, not just diversity in terms of race or culture, but diversity in terms what makes up a family - one parent, two parents, three kids, six kids, special needs children, grandparents raising children," she added. "Whatever they define as family in their family we have to be really be focused on positive things for family and how we can help families be the best theycan be.*

The Child Abuse Prevention, Council of Out-Wayne County, located at 30000 Hiveley in a Inkster, is seeking volunteers for the following positions: human resource committee member; finance committee member, education and training committee member, special events assistant, media and communications. assistant, literature distribution. assistant, public speaker on parenting programs, clerical, bulk mailers, resource materials librarian, office assistant and receptionist. Brides-to-Be was a fantasy for me," said Cyd LaChiusa, who owns the leading bridal show company in Michigan. "When I started the business 18 years ago, no one even knew what a bridal show was Brides-to-Be created the whole business."

Before she started the company, LaChiusa was working in advertising and promotions, which provided a natural lead-in.

Her company produces 25 shows a year all over metropolitan Detroit. Between 60 and 100 wedding-related businesses set up booths and brides are able to browse, comparing products and prices. Typically, around 600 people attend each show.

The biggest show of the year is in January in Dearborn, where some 4,000 guests come to see over 250 exhibitors.

She tries to schedule several photographers at each show, from the inexpensive to the extreme high end. Limousines, balloons, cakes, catering, flowers, ice sculptures, and, of course, wedding gowns and tuxedos are all among the products and services represented. Visitors can even find such exotic items as the swans from "Father of the Bride." Each visitor also receives a free "Brides-To-Be" bridal directory. A big change from the early days is that brides are much more price conscious than they used to be.

"Moms and dads used to pay for the wedding," she said. "Now, you see more working women attending the shows and they're very aware of costs, of services, of what the money will buy."

To fill the need, three shows a year are "Super Sales" where everything is discounted.

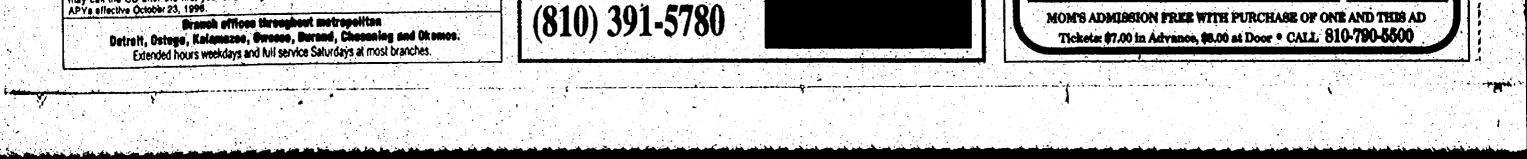

LaChiusa added a new division three years ago: Babies-To-Be, which holds two shows annually. About 2,000 people come to the shows.

She is also planning to expand geographically into Indiana and Ohio.

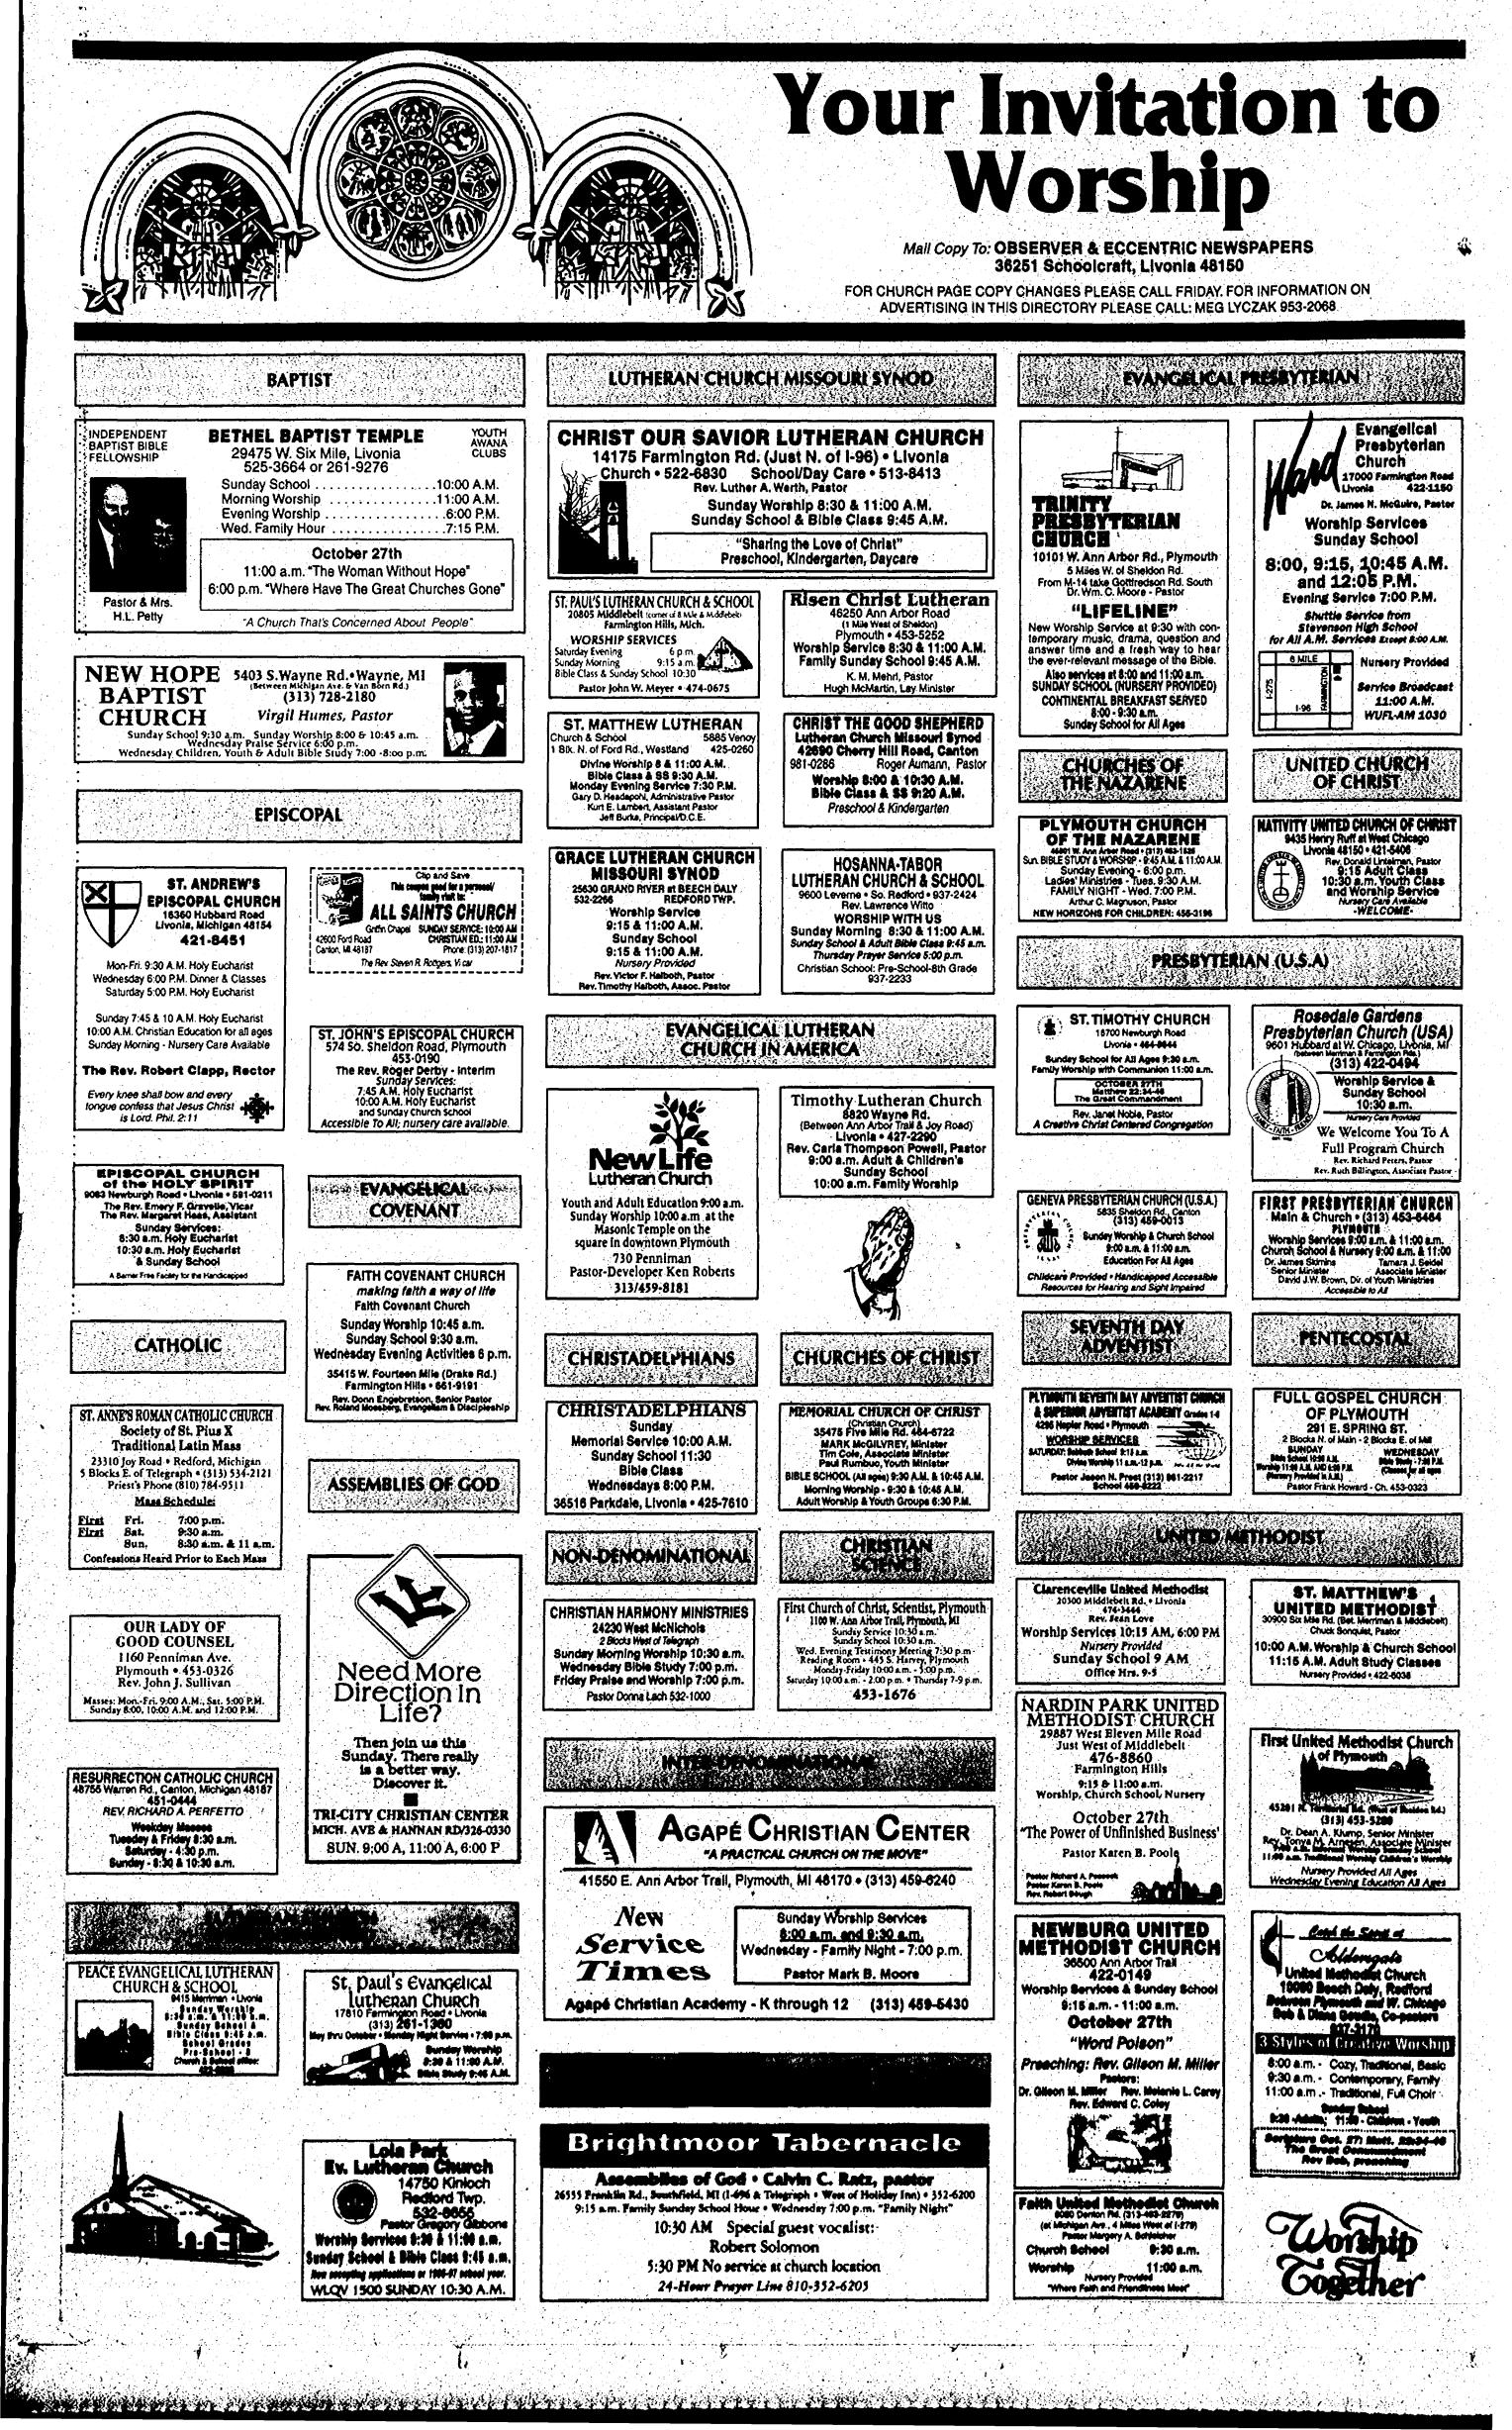

The Brides-To-Be office is located at 36000 Moravia, Suite B, and can be reached at (810) 790-5500. The office is open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and callers can request lists of upcoming shows and a free bridal directory.

Volunteers talk about health

Breast cancer can occur in women of all ages. It's the leading cause of death in women between the ages of 40 and 50 and often has no obvious symptoms - no pain, no preceptible. lumps, nothing, However, it can be developing.

One goal of the Barbara Ann Karmanos Cancer Institute is to detect breast cancer early, when it's most curable.

During October, Breast Health Awareness Month, the institute's West Region Office, serving west areas like Livonia and Plymouth and Downriver, is highlighting its speaker program for early cancer detection.

The regional office provides breast health awareness speakers for any size gathering in any setting, from a small group in a private home to larger groups in a church, work place or senior citizen center. The office will tailor the program to the group.

The speakers, most often breast cancer survivors, address groups on health education and awareness; encouraging they follow the guidelines of breast health.

The recommendations include monthly breast self-examinations starting at age 20, yearly clinical breast examinations by a health care professional and screening mammograms according to national guidelines.

The number of breast cancer deaths can be reduced by 30 percent, if women would follow these guidelines, according to the institute,

Olga Cameron, a nurse from Livonia and a 19-year breast cancer survivor, serves as a volunteer speaker for the organization. She stresses the importance of the breast health guidelines for early detection of cancer.

Her mission, through education and awareness, is for women to take responsibility for their own good health, to become breast health care advocates and to contribute to the control of breast cancer.

Cameron addresses diet, refers participants for further information and uses a follow-up program as part of her presentations.

She also works as a volunteer for the American Cancer Society with their Reach to Recovery program.

Her message is important since the lifetime probability of breast cancer among American women is about one in eight At age 40

Cancer study needs participants

Researchers at Detroit's Barbara Ann Karmanos Cancer Center are looking for women to participate in a study that may answer the question: can breast cancer be prevented?

The Breast Cancer Prevention Trial, established in 1992, is an international effort to determine whether the drug tamoxifen can prevent breast cancer.

Tamoxifen has already proven effective in the treatment of breast cancer to prevent recurrence in women already diagnosed with the disease. It is the most commonly prescribed cancer medication in the world. To be eligible, women must be 35 or older, with a family history of breast cancer or a personal history of benign breast biopsies. Participants will receive either the drug or a placebo (a pill containing no drugs).

For more information, call Erica Anderson or Ann Marie Ferris at (800) 527-6266.

Rockets face stiff foe for title

BY BRAD EMONS STAFF WRITER

The stakes will be high Friday as the best of the Western Lakes Activities Association, Westland John Glenn (7-0) and Walled Lake Western (6-1) collide for the football championship.

Glenn won the the first meeting between the two teams at home, 28-17, back on Sept. 13, in a WLAA crossover.

This time the Rockets, ranked No. 1 in Class AA-Region III, hit the road for a 7:30 p.m. start at Western, ranked No. 2 in Class AA-Region II.

"Our goal is to get in the playoffs injuries, pretty much rolled through and Glenn wants to be first in their region," Western coach Chuck Apap said. "It's an important game to them. It has great implications in both regions.

The last time these two teams met in the WLAA final was 1992 when Western prevailed, 10-7. The Warriors went on play for the Class A state championship.

ings, this season and in 1995.

"I think our loss to Glenn solidified our team and gave us a mission and direction," said Apap, whose team went 5-0 in the Western Division. "It gave us something to go for. Our spirits were down, but we wanted to be able to play Glenn.

"I have great respect for Chuck (Gordon) and his program. It's a great honor to play them again. You don't always get a second chance and we're grateful."

The Rockets, despite a slew of the Lakes Division thanks to the passing of 6-foot-6 junior quarterback Justin Berent, who has completed 62 percent of his passes and thrown just two interceptions.

"Justin is very accurate," Glenn coach Chuck Gordon said. "We chart every pass he throws in practice. We place a great emphasis on throwing catchable balls.

Glenn has won the last two meet- "And he's a smart kid. He's improved by leaps and bounds from a year ago.'

Western counters with the dangerous Frank Stanford at QB. He orchestrates the Warriors' potent Wing-T offense.

"They've gone almost exclusively with him at quarterback and he's a threat because of his great speed," Gordon said. "Defensively they'll give you heavy pressure, they bring a lot of guys who can cause you problems.

"It's a pretty good scheme and you have to be patient and hope you keep them all blocked."

Western's defense is led by 6-foot-4, 220-pound outside linebacker Kevin Crane, whom Apap calls a Division I prospect. He is only one of three Warriors to play both sides of the line of scrimmage (the other is two-way back Scott Naz)

Western lost center-linebacker Nick Gerhard in the sixth week to a broken hand, but Ricky Styes has done the job at center and Chad Stevenson has filled in nicely at plays quarterback and slotback, is the team's long snapper.

"Gerhard was a tremendous leader and he could be back by the playoffs," Apap said. "We're platooning now and platooning the right way so when injuries occurred, we had guys ready to step in and play."

In the first meeting, Glenn trailed 17-14 at intermission, but wound up scoring 14 unanswered points in the second half to earn the victory.

"We got some momentum going and hit some big plays that changed the complexion of the game," Gordon said. "It was nothing scientific, we just rode that momentum."

Apap, meanwhile, hopes the home field advantage will work to his team's benefit.

"We look to climb that mountain. but we only got half way the last time," he said. "We have our dream beads ready. If you don't want to play a team the caliber of Glenn, then you don't want to be playing for a league title or be in the playoffs.

Patriots survive Wayne; Warriors, Spartans win

The Bill Wojtas and Jose Cazares show was a big hit at Livonia Franklin.

The two seniors practically willed the Patriots to a 4-3 victory Monday over host Wayne Memorial in the opening round of the district phase of the state Class A boys soccer tournament.

"Those two played phenomenal games, both of them. We've got a lot of kids out with a suspension and injuries," Franklin coach Dave Hebestreit said. "I was really impressed with the way they played." Steve Finneran and Ken Tamonia are out with injuries at least until the regionals, should Franklin get that far, while sophomore sweeper Bill Fischer is also out with an injury.

Madonna joins WHAC for 1997

BY C.J. RISAK SPORTS WRITER

Another piece to the athletic puzzle has been fit into place for. Madonna University _ and this is a big, big piece.

The current schools in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference have voted in favor of allowing Madonna to join the conference. The Fighting Crusaders will officially join the WHAC July 1, 1997

The WHAC, an NAIA conference, currently has six members: Aquinas, Spring Arbor, Cornerstone, Concordia, Siena Heights and Tri-State (Ind.). Madonna is the first addition to the conference since the sevention in 1992.

"I think well add to the strength of the WHAC, and I think they realize this fight Materia what this will do for Madonna, Summers said: "It should really help us become more centered in Michigan NAIA sports, and it gives us a conference identity.

Madonna, which has been competing in the NAIA as an independent, plays all the WHAC members anyway, since all of them compete at the same level and all but Tri-State are located in Michigan.

Gaining admittance has not been easy. Since adding men's soccer in 1994, Madonna has offered enough sports (six _ men's and women's basketball, baseball, softball and volleyball are the others). But it took three tries, in consecutive years, for Madonna to be accepted.

Part of the problem was that other conference members thought there was an inequity in how-much money per student-athlete Madonna offered, compared to what WHAC members alloted. As it turned out, it proved to be more a matter of how that figure was calculated.

Also, there was some concern with Madonna's past athletic history, which included dropping intercollegiate programs. That concern is no more, not with Madonna's proven success in softball, volleyball, soccer, baseball and women's basketball.

This should embellish our programs, add to them," said Summers. And with future league expansion a definite possibility, "This will be one of the strongest (NAIA) conferences in the midwest, and in the future one of the strongest in the country."

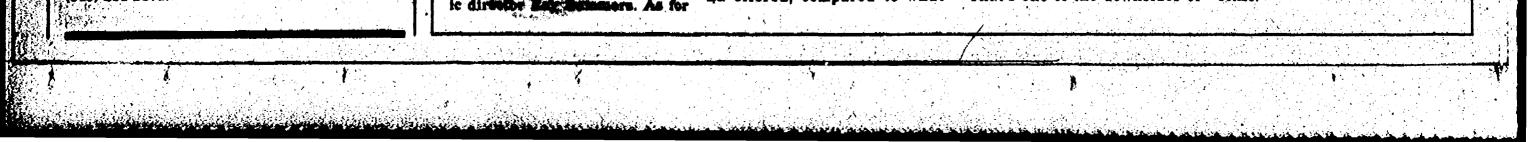

It will also help Madonna keep costs down, with easier scheduling and a cutback in travel costs. "That's one of the downsides of sense."

being an independent," said Summers. "Over 50 percent of our budget goes for travel. When you have an implanted schedule, that will be greatly reduced."

As an independent, Madonna has been forced to qualify for postseason NAIA playoffs by going through a tournament with other independents, prior to regionals. In the WHAC, conference champions automatically qualify for post-season play.

"Everyone wants to belong to a conference," summarized Summers. "When you're an independent, it's always nebulous, obscure, who you're going to play in the post-season and where you'll play."

So it seems there are no negatives in this move. Which means it will be a major plus for Madonna, establishing it with an athletic pre-

Aristeo captured the 200-yard individual medley (2:10.57) and 100 freestyle (54.14). She also teamed up with Clark, Marti McKenzie and Julie Kern to win the 200 freestyle relay (1:43.27). Other individual first-place

WEEKEND HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL REPORT

Playoff race taking shape

BY BRAD EMONS STAFF WRITER

IC(LW)

Two weeks left until we pick our next president.

Two weeks to go when we will also determine which Observerland teams are headed to the state football playoffs.

Nobody in the area, however, is a lock like Bill Clinton just yet.

On Friday, Westland John Glenn (7-0) faces a treacherous rematch with host Walled Lake Western (6-1) for the Western Lakes Activities Association crown. Glenn won the first meeting between the two teams (Sept. 13) by a 28-17 count.

The Rockets, leading Class AA-Region III, then close out their season with rival Wayne Memorial (4-3).

Farmington Hills Harrison (6-1) also has a rematch of sorts this weekend, 1 p.m. Saturday at home against Livonia Stevenson (5-2) in the second-place WLAA crossover. Harrison has edged Stevenson for the last two WLAA crowns.

Harrison then closes out its season at home against defending Class B state champion Beverly Hills-Detroit Country Day (4-2).

Another playoff possibility is Lutheran High Westland (6-1), which needs wins over Harper Woods Lutheran East (4-3) and Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest (0-7) to beat out Deckerville (6-1) and Harper Woods (6-1) in Class C-Region IV.

Redford Catholic Central (5-2) is a longshot in Class AA-Region III, but could put itself in position with a victory this Saturday over unbeaten Dearborn Divine Child (7-0). If CC wins by two points, the Shamrocks will get a rematch with Birmingham Brother Rice in the Catholic League A-B Division championship game Saturday, Nov. 2 at the Pontiac Silverdome.

As for the predicition race, it's a dead heat as both prognosticators (yours truly and Dan O'Meara), each went 13-2 last

FRIDAY'S GAMES (all 7:30 p.m. unless noted)

Clarenceville at Hamtramck (4:30 p.m.): Hamtramck (3-4, 3-3) has been somewhat of a disappointment in the Metro Conference, but there's no doubt that Livonia Clarenceville (3-4, 3-4) can hang with the league's best. PICKS: The Cosmos can't stop Donahue Fulton, but beat the Trojans.

Trenton at Redford Union (7 p.m.): The best of the Mega-White Division, Trenton (7-0, 5-0), Class A-Region III playoff bound, takes on cellar-dweller RU (0-7, 0-5). Trenton is coming off an important win over Dearborn, 7-6. PICKS: RU can't stop quarterback Ryan Szokola and Trenton.

St. Agatha at Notre Dame Prep: The. Aggies (0-7, 0-4) got ripped last weekend by Center Line St. Clement, 49-0, while Pontiac Notre Dame Prep (2-5, 1-3) pulled a Lou Holtz, losing to Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes, 20-0. PICKS: Lou Holtz saves his job at Notre Dame Prep with a Catholic League C-Section

Lutheran Westland at Lutheran East: The Warriors (6-1, 5-1) looked shaky in their last Friday night outing (14-13 over Clarenceville), but this team appears to be on a mission. East (4-3, 3-3), with the Bruce and Dennis Tuomi connection, is coming off a 38-23 loss to Clarenceville: PICKS: The Warriors find a way to win.

Edsel Ford at Garden City: Dearborn Edsel Ford is 5-2 overall and 3-2 in the Mega-White after a 27-7 victory last week over Taylor Kennedy. Meanwhile, GC (1-6, 1-4) earned its first win of the year against Redford Union, 19-6, as junior tailback Mike Wrobel rushed for 191 yards. PICKS: The Edsel is not quite obsolete. GC becomes the lemon.

Romulus at Wayne: The Zebras (4-3, 3-3) showed much promise winning their first four, but now find themselves in a funk after losing their last three, including a 35-14 shellacking last week by Dearborn Fordson. Romulus (1-6, 1-4) shouldn't be considered dangerous, but after losing only 21-6 to Mega-Red Division leader Wyandotte, the Eagles appear to be more than a match. PICKS: Wayne show true grit with a victory.

W.L. Central at Franklin: This is a batthe of third-place divisional teams in the Western Lakes. Both have identical 4-3 records. Central coach Darrell Harper, who is harboring playoff aspirations in Class AA-Region II, cried foul when the WLAA athletic directors originally had his Vikings paired against Plymouth Canton (3-4) in the crossover. He may also realize that Franklin has looked Ply. Salem at Northville: Thanks to the grips of the Walled Lake Central people, Salem (4-3) gets a rematch with Northville (1-6), a team the Rocks barely beat in the second week, 17-14. Salem's original opponent in the crossover was rival Canton, but the WLAA A.D.'s didn't want Salem and Canton to meet in consecutive weeks. PICKS: Salem wins by more than a touchdown this time.

Farmington at Ply. Canton: Farmington (1-6) is coming off a 41-6 loss to Lakes Division champion Glenn, while Canton (3-4) lost to Western Division champ Walled Lake Western, 33-13. Confused? PICKS: It's easy pickings for Canton.

N. Farmington at Liv. Churchill: Both teams are 0-7 and this is their chance to redeem themselves. North may have the better defense, while Churchill might enjoy the advantage on offense. PICKS: Flip a coin, it says North.

W.L. Western at Westland Glenn: The two teams met in 1992 with Western taking the Western Lakes title. Glenn (7-0) has a balanced offensive attack, led by the passing of 6-foot-6 junior quarterback Justin Berent, the area's most accurate passer, and the running of Reggie Spearmon. Western relies on the Wing-T offense and a stunting defense, led by 6-4, 220-pound outside linebacker Kevin Crane. The Warriors. are quick on both sides of the ball. PICKS: Emons sticks with Glenn in a cliffhanger, but O'Meara sides with Western.

SATURDAY'S GAMES (all at 1 p.m. unless noted)

Liv. Stevenson at F.H. Harrison: The Spartans (5-2) are steadily improving. but will remain an underdog against Harrison (6-1), which is fighting for a playoff berth. Stevenson's Gade Clark is only 13 yards away from the 1,000-yard mark. Harrison got its passing game going last week as quarterback Kevin Bambenek riddled the Franklin secondary for 251 yards. PICKS: Harrison keeps it going.

Taylor Truman at Red. Thurston: Both teams are 4-3 overall and 3-3 in the Mega-Blue. Truman shut out Dearborn Heights Crestwood last week, 36-0, as the Hardin brothers, Wes and Mike, teamed up for three touchdown passes. Meanwhile Thurston struggled to beat last place Dearborn Heights Annapolis. 21-12. PICKS: It's a history lesson for the Eagles, the Truman Doctrine goes into effect.

Bishop Borgess vs. A.P. Cabrini at the Downriver Community Center: Borgess (2-5, 0-4) lost to playoff-bound Southgate Aquinas, 41-0, while Cabrini (2-5, 2-2) edged Detroit East Catholic last week, 9-6. Picks: Cabrini stops the

Shamrocks remain in post-season hunt by trouncing Cubs

If overall point differential becomes the tie-breaker to decide the winner of the Catholic League Central-West Division football title, then Redford Catholic Central did itself a huge favor Saturday night.

The Shamrocks scored 41 points before halftime and went on to defeat U-D Jesuit, 48-7, at Livonia Clarenceville.

The win, coupled with Dearborn Divine Child's 14-13 upset victory over Detroit St. Martin DePorres earlier in the day. moves the Shamrocks into a second-place tie with DePorres in the Central-West with a 2-1 record.

The win also keeps alive the Shamrocks' hopes of qualifying for the Class AA playoffs as they are now 5-2 overall.

If CC beats unbeaten DC (7-0, 3-0) and DePorres (6-1, 2-1) beats Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher this weekend, the three teams will be deadlocked for first place.

If CC beats the Falcons by more than one point, the Shamrocks will qualify for the Catholic League championship game in the Prep Bowl on Saturday, Nov. 2 against Birmingham Brother Rice at the Pontiac Silverdome.

But if CC beats Divine Child by only one point, then the point differential against all teams comes into play. That's why it was important for the Shamrocks to score big against U-D. U-D lost five fumbles and one interception, which led to five CC touchdowns.

ROUNDUP

Junior fullback Chris Dueweke scored on runs of 2, 32 and 5 yards and finished with 62 yards on six carries.

Senior Rich Deptula scored on a 2-yard run, junior Josh Christenson scored on a 4-yard run and senior James Gusoff on a 1yard run.

Senior quarterback Greg Call completed three of nine passes for 41 yards, including a 12-yard TD pass to Jeremy Jakary.

Aaron Rock made six of seven extra point attempts, with his only miss coming after a bad snap.

The Shamrocks finished with 241 total yards.

U-D avoided a shutout when quarterback Joe Clinton threw a 7-yard touchdown pass to James Carson with 3:03 left.

A running clock is used whenever a team gets a 35-point lead in high school football. A running clock was used in this game the entire second half and part of the second quarter.

The Shamrocks ran only six plays from scrimmage after halftime.

Joe Sgroi, Nick Mastroionni, Newell Bentley, Gino DiGiandomenico and Brian Teefey had fumble recoveries for CC. Teefey and John Daguanno each had one sack. Sgroi led the Shamrocks with six tackles.

Call returned an interception 26 yards to lead to CC's first score in the first quarter.

about covering community sports, he told us, "The people we deal with, from the coaches to the student-athletes, they truly appreciate the coverage-we cover a good group of schools from the smallest to the largest.'

Brad began reading the major league box scores when he was still in grade school, wrote in high school and earned a degree in journalism from Franklin College in Indiana. He's been writing for your hometown newspapers since he graduated in 1977.

Holman wins Ebonite Classic

I had a great seat, front row, center for the "finals" of the Pro Bowlers Tour Oct. 15 at the Thunderbowl Arena.

It was a bit unusual, since the qualifying rounds and match play all took place at Bowl One Lanes in Troy.

It is a new trend, to get into an arena setting, but there are always logistical and fiscal problems associated with the arena setting, and through the good graces of George Prybyla, they were able to pull it off, and "Oh, what a show it was."

HARRISON

The first three matches were all decided as to who got the least number of splits was the winner, in each case it was the veteran Wayne Webb.

He was matched against Marshall Holman, this week's "pole-sitter" for the championship game.

It turned out to be a well bowled and exciting contest with Marshall Holman coming through in the clutch for the Greater Detroit Ebonite Open title and $22,000 in prize money.

Holman had beaten Webb in the same situation back in 1981, and they both remembered that match well.

When Holman rolled the winning shot, he leaped and hollered, "I'm Back," referring to his first title in eight years.

•Last Sunday was a lucky day for Bill Funke of Livonia as his league, the University Men's at Country Lanes in Farmington, staged a make-up for later on. They usually bowl on Tuesday nights, but Funke took advantage of the opportunity and shot a 300 game, his seventh perfect game.

I was present when he rolled his first one also, back in 1984 in the Greenfield Mixed league.

For the victory, Glenn (Farmington Hills) outshot Ben Smock 233-225, then blitzed Doc Jeffries 296-255, followed by a 254-196 victory over Earl Justice.

Glenn then faced off against Lee

These are the kind of tests that one wear on a team.

So far, Madanna University has handled their mid-season challonges well. The only letdown, and calling it that would certainly be debatable, was a loss at Oakland University two weeks ago.

The Lady Crusaders' perseverance was evident again last Saturday, when they hosted University of Michigan-Dearborn and Taylor (Ind.) University in the Madonna University. Classic.

Each match went four sets, but each match was also a win for Madonna.

The Crusaders did away with UM-D, 13-15, 15-6, 15-5, 15-6, then handled a team expected to challenge them for the Great Lakes Region title when they beat Taylor, 15-17, 17-15, 15-3, 15-8.

Julie Martin (from Livonia Stevenson) filled a major role for Madonna, both offensively and defensively, in both matches. Against UM-D, she collected a team-best 18 kills (.548 kill average), had two service aces, 14 digs, and paced the Crusaders with two solo blocks

Karin Sisung also was instrumental, with 12 kills (.478), two aces and 18 digs against UM-D, and nine kills, three aces and 18 digs against Taylor.

Heather Steinhelper, just returning from an ankle injury, had a team-high 32 digs in the two matches to go with 13 kills; Erin Comment had 19 digs in the Taylor match and 14 kills for the tournament; and Meg Paris collected an incredible 93 assists to kills (11.6 per game) in the match. The two wins allowed Madonna to reach the 30-win mark _ the Crusaders' record improved to 30-8.

Legionnaires' disease threat reduced

BY WILLIAM COUTANT STATT WRITER

A Livonia resident is among those persons, up to 24 in number, who have contacted Legionnaires' disease in Farmington.

The latest reports, however, indicate the outbreak of Legionnaires' disease that appears to have originated along the Grand River corridor in Farmington or Farmington Hills poses no continuing threat to area residents.

That's what Oakland County and state health officials are saying. There have been additional confirmed cases of the sickness that has so far claimed two lives. There are unconfirmed reports of a third death still being investigated by health officials.

But officials stressed that those cases were people already hospitalized.

We still believe that this exposure was during the last weekend in September," said Dr. Carolyn Bird, the county's chief of medical services. "There will be more cases, but we think they will be people already in area hospitals."

As of Tuesday afternoon, there had been 24 confirmed cases and two other suspected cases of the disease that officials believe was spread by water droplets from a contaminated cooling tower in the area.

All but six of those confirmed cases were Farmington or Farmington Hills residents. Among the six were the Livonia man, 67, and a Redford resident. The Livonia man is now reported in good condition.

The health department has evaluated water towers of 47 different facilities and taken water samples from many of them. It could be three to four weeks before results from the tests will be available, because it takes time to grow the bacterial cultures and cross reference DNA samples of patients.

and a 76-year-old Farmington Hills woman, have died from the disease.

Bird said at a news conference that pneumonia is very common in Michigan, especially at this time of year, and Legionella outbreaks are not that uncommon.

"When we were first notified Tuesday (Oct. 15) that we had three cases, we thought it might be a problem," Bird said. "When we had the fourth one Wednesday morning, we knew we had an outbreak."

Hospitals were required to report their findings to the county, which then determined the extent and scope of the outbreak.

"All of these people came to the hospital with pneumonia," said Bridget Gosin, manager of community relations for Botsford Hospital. "Based on their condition, lab work was done. That can take two or three days,"

The outbreak wasn't made public until Friday, even though the officials knew it was an outbreak by Wednesday.

"The important thing was to get the information Two women, a 74-year-old Farmington woman to the hospitals," Bird said, "so they could be on the lookout."

> But the delay caused some confusion and anxious moments for city officials and many in the public.

> Bird said there was no reason to be concerned because the disease probably spread during a limited time Sept. 28-29 and would not be contracted later. She said if you weren't sure you had Legionnaires', then you don't have it. "It's not something you wouldn't know you had."

(WQ)C7

And even though the area where the disease is believed to have originated is being thoroughly tested, there is no guarantee that its source will be found because the bacteria that caused it may not be traced after three weeks.

Bird said urine and blood tests can detect the virus.

Officials believe all of those affected either live, work or shopped in the area where stagnant, dirty. water hatched the virus.

"The treatment takes up to three weeks," Gosin said. "It takes some time to recover, especially if they have been on a ventilator."

Farmington Hills Mayor Aldo Vagnozzi said getting the information to the public sooner should have been a priority. "They have been doing a good job of informing the public. But they should have gotten it out there as soon as possible."

Bird said although they don't believe some warm days since late September were unlikely to bring a repeat of the outbreak, it is possible.

Health officials tell how people can get help in fighting disease

BY WILLIAM COUTANT STAFF WRITER

Health experts believe the recent outbreak of Legionnaires' disease in the Farmington area was due to a bacteria spreading from condensation in a cooling tower of an air conditioning unit.

The disease is an acute form of pneumonia produced by bacteria that derives its name from a highly-publicized disease that killed 29 of 182 victims at an American Legion convention in Philadelphia in July 1976.

The disease usually occurs in late summer or early fall and is transmitted through the air, not

Nausea, vomiting, disorientation, mental sluggishness, confusion, mild temporary amnesia, chest pain, rapid breathing. shortness of breath and in many cases a slow heart rate are other symptoms.

Under a doctor's care, a person can be treated and recover completely. An antibiotic treatment is recommended.

Dr. William Hall said in his 17 years with the state health department, he has seen four outbreaks of the disease.

"It is definitely an unusual event and something we take when someone dies serio from it," he said. "Good basic 1276. maintenance of cooling tower systems is the best prevention."

he said, comparing it to a business installing proper fire safety equipment. "We do depend on routine inspections and maintenance."

Hall said algae or corrosion from a poorly maintained system can provide the right conditions for the spread of the virus. Bridget Gosin, Botsford Hospital's community relations manager, said there have been a lot of calls since the public became aware of the outbreak. "We've been getting a lot of calls about what to expect, the curious and some of general concern. We're asking them to call the Oakland County Health Department."

MEDICAL BRIEFS

Don't shake baby

Shaking a baby, even one time, can delay normal development, result in brain damage, spinal injury, retardation and even death. Shaken Baby Syndrome is a medical term used to describe the shaking and resulting injuries sustained when infants are violently shaken. The JOF Foresters, a fraternal benefit society offering family benefits and supporter of better parenting, suggests the following tips for a crying baby:

- feed the baby slowly, burping often
- offer a pacifier as needed
- hold close and walk or rock the baby
- take the baby for a ride or put in a swing
- T take a break: have someone else offer care for baby.

The first national conference on this syndrome will be held Nov. 10-12 in Utah. For more information, call (801) 399-8430.

Arthritis help

The Michigan Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation and St. Mary Hospital in Livonia are teaming up to help area residents who suffer from arthritis — a debilitating disease that affects one in seven Michigan residents.

The organization will co-sponsor a six-week Arthritis Self-Help Course from 3-5 p.m. beginning today, Oct. 24. For information or to register, call the Arthritis Foundation at (800) 968-3030.

The Chinese have been aware of t'ai chi's power since the form originated about 1,300 years ago. It's based mostly on circular motion and flow at a smooth even tempo creating perfect balance as the weight of the body is shifted from one side to the other. When t'ai chi is perfected the student learns coordination and relaxation of the entire body. Breathing techniques enhance lung capacity and stamina. The movements open the circulatory system and increases the return of blood from the body to the heart and eases the flow of blood from the heart to the body. With t'ai chi's mystical and new- age aura, the Western Hemisphere has taken a lot longer to embrace the idea of using deep breathing and mental concentration to obtain harmony between mind and body. Yet, in as the students gracefully and ever so softly sway their limbs. They look as if they're using pantomime and ballet to tell an elaborate and dramatic story. Every movement of the soft-style martial art is designed for defense, but most people who. take the classes are seeking stress management and healing benefits.

T'ai chi trains the body to be. loose and elastic through exercise and mediation that also used yoga techniques.

"It totally changed my life," said Barb Johnston, a student in a class offered by Botsford General Hospital.

"Five years ago I was very, very unhealthy," said Johnston, a Birmingham teacher, explaining that systemic lupus made her extremely tired and gave her severe joint pain and kidney problems/

"By doing water classes and t'ai chi I'm much calmer and I have fewer flare-ups," said Johnston who was diagnosed with the ailment 15 years ago when she was 18. "My doctor supports it (t'ai chi) 100 percent."

Help for muscles

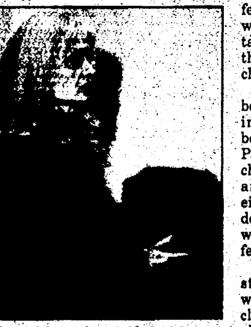

In fact, another student in the class, Marilyn Feingold of Livonia was told by her doctor that t'ai chi might help her, too. Feingold, who has fibromyalgia, a muscle disorder, said the class is relaxing and helps her focus better during the day.

Pat Reynolds, of Redford, was drawn to t'ai chi for its meditation benefits, but he, too, has found physical relief.

"I've only been doing it for a few weeks, but before I came here I had pain that shot down my legs and they've subsided," Reynolds added.

t'ai chi's benefits.

For instance, the "American Geriatrics Society" recently published reports that t'ai chi improves balance among senior citizens. Another study published in the magazine showed that t'ai chi lowers blood pressure.

"Tai chi gets all the nutrients to the different parts of the body that need help," according to Genie Parker, who teaches the Botsford course and is a senior instructor at the Wu's T'ai Chi Chu'an Academy on 14 Mile Road in Clawson. The school also has locations in Ann Arbor and Rochester.

Relax and think

"It's not aerobic," she added. "Aerobics will take the heart and get it up to a high rate of speed. The East is suggesting you relax and pump circulation through different types of motions. The heart will beat slower, but stronger and take more blood and oxygen into the brain so you can think more clearly."

"Students relax their minds, because they have to stop thinking about everything else, because it's quite detailed," said Parker, who teaches Wu style t'ai chi, one of five t'ai chi methods, and has been practicing it for eight years. "As you learn it you don't have to think so much about what you're doing, then you can feel and enjoy it more."

People of all ages from youngsters to 90-year-olds and every walk of life are taking t'ai chi classes. Corporate managers are also bringing t'ai chi instructors, like Parker, into their buildings to help employees with stamina and concentration.

"On the west and east coasts you see a lot of t'ai chi, in the school systems, in the universities and in parks," Parker said. "Here in the middle we're just trying it."

She recommends trying several different places and teachers before you decide which t'ai chi class you want to take.

"There's a lot of bad t'ai chi around," said Parker who trains with members of the Wu family. "There are students of students of students and they start making things up. You really have to watch out."

T'ai chi effects

As a teacher Parker sees what t'ai chi can do.

"I've seen a woman come in with arthritis in the knees and it took her about one year and a half and she walked out feeling wonderful," said Parker who immediately remembered another man who needed a cane, because he was born without a hip bone. After three years of t'ai chi he walked without an aid. Other students are dealing with depression and stress and have found relief.

"I have a student now with MS (multiple sclerosis) and we're hoping to see good results there, too,' she added.

When perfected t'ai chi teaches students to remain calm under all circumstances.

"You can stay calm and centered so that whatever force comes into you, you learn to neutralize it," Parker said. "Incoming forces are not only fists and feet. It's when you've spilled your coffee and your boss is coming in the door. It teaches techniques for people to deal with situations."

One of Parker's students is Dr. Alex Green a pathologist at Botsford who introduced the idea of offering t'ai chi classes through Botsford.

"There's been some major medical studies showing the benefits of t'ai chi in regards to helping balance, stress management and overall health," said Green adding that t'ai chi has improved his health allowing him to overcome bad allergies, a lot of colds, lower back problems and stress.

"You feel an overall increase in energy and an increased feeling of well being," he said. "The medical profession is becoming more open minded. It (t'ai chi) improves overall strength and improves the immunological system.

"That's my opinion and it's the opinion of the Chinese who have been using it for more than a thousand of years."

The development of the World Wide Web and the introduction of Mosaic pretty much sounded the death knell for Gopher. We forget now that Gopher had only been around for about two years before the Internet went bonkers for the Web and Mosaic (soon to be supplanted by Netscape).

In the present Internet environment, Gopher is pretty much relegated to being valuable only as an archive service. Because everyone has flocked to the Web, there is no need to update Gopher sites as often when the traffic is so low.

Gopher still is functional as a means of storing research and other data so it is available when wanted. Gopher also is very functional to access books or other literature when a text-only world is quite adequate. Among the books and other media available via That's scary: Frightening folks greet visitors at Silo X, on the campus of Oakland University, one of the area's newest and largest haunted attractions.

BY DIANE HANSON SPECIAL WRITER

he thick green fog envelops the unsuspecting intruder so quickly that finding the exit to beat a hasty retreat is an impossibility. Once inside the abandoned missile silo at the top-secret military base, irradiated mutated beings pop out of nowhere, growling and sneering menacingly close. Some are armed and dangerous with weapons like chain saws, drawing screams from even the most stoic.

Not to worry, it's all part of the elaborate hoax of the haunted Halloween habitats that materialize in October.

Silo X is one of the area's newest and largest. Located on the Oakland University campus in Rochester, the haunted attraction spans the length of 10 football fields, and even goes outdoors through the woods and a crashed military helicopter. Being sufficiently scared, the Silo X tour could take as little as 20 to 30 minutes, or up to 45 minutes for those who relish that fright feeling. Lines to get in could take equally as long.

So why do otherwise normal folks go to such lengths to be scared out of their wits when the air chills and the frost collects on the pumpkin? "I think they like to come through with their friends and get a reaction, being in a scary situation with a group of people," said Al Canavan,

Farmington Jaycee haunted house veteran. He has been with the Jaycees for seven years and said "definitely, high school girls are the best screamers."

It's a safe way to get some excitement, said Canavan, "It's getting a rush with their friends." That adrenaline rush is easy to achieve at Dr. Jeckhell's Haunted House and Children of the Corn, both in Sterling Heights, or Dr. Jeckhell's Haunted Hayride at the Brighton Recreational Riding Stables in Brighton.

A Hollywood set designer has utilized Disneyworld-type technology to create some very special effects that don't just stay inside. Dr. Jeckhell's Haunted House includes a trip into the dark night as part of the deal with equally scary creatures lurking in the shadows or rising from the dead.

Children of the Corn is perhaps even a bit more frightening. Both take 10 to 15 minutes to tour, and are very likely to "scare the yell out of you" as promoters predict.

Perhaps an ironic twist, many of these frightfully fun domains offer an avenue for some very philanthropic deeds. That's not exactly the first thing that comes to mind when confronted by a menacing space creature or blood-dripping, knifewielding zombie.

Jeff Crank, owner of Crank's Catering of Warren, and creator of the Dr. Jeckhell attractions, started the spooky spectacles last year on a whim to raise money for a friend who needed a bone marrow transplant. This year he added Children of the Corn, and the hayride, where one never knows what may pop out of the hay, to help raise money for another bone marrow patient, Annette Ferrara, a Macomb County resident.

Crank said they scared over 10,000 people last year while raising thousands of dollars for his friend's operation. With this year's added attraction, he hopes to collect even more money for his Second Chance Foundation.

A portion of the September revenue from Silo X benefited the Rochester and Clarkston school districts. Not to worry if you don't have the opportunity to make it out to Silo X this year, the Rochester Community Schools Foundation has a contract with Silo X and Oakland University to reconstruct the greenfog-filled attraction for the next six autumns.

> The Jaycees are wellknown for their goodwill and community support as well as a multitude of dire domains in October. Many local Jaycees groups sponsor the haunted houses while contributing to their communities.

The Farmington Jaycees offer a discount for bringing two or more cans of food to be donated to "Neighborhood House," a community organization for needy families. They are also encouraging blood donations by offering a free trip through their daunting domicile with a Red Cross receipt verifying an October donation. Keep in mind, many of these fright factories are pretty scary even for the brave hearts (or those who claim to be) and may not be suitable for young children.

Some of the nightmare-provoking abodes do have special children's times or "Friendly Monster" showings. There are also many children's and family events to celebrate the fall holiday. Mechele McClain, president of the Livonia Jaycees said the children really love Friendly Monster days. Lights are kept on and masks off. "It was unbelievable the number of people that brought their children," said McClain. "We don't jump out at them. We just explain to them what they're going to see and what we would do."

She said that if parents bring reluctant children to the full-blown scare scene, they will offer to watch them in the office while the adult tours the house. It appears that the area haunted attractions offer something for every terror threshold from amiable to adrenaline rush plus.

For the second time in a decade, Livonia Public School art teachers will exhibit their paintings, sculpture, weavings and pottery at the Livonia Civic Center Library Fine Arts Gallery.

Sponsored by the Livonia Arts Commission, the show enables parents and students, as well as, the community to view the skills and creativity 20 of Livonia's elementary, middle and high school teachers, and student teachers, bring to the classroom daily.

"We're not only educators but we're artists. Art is in your blood. There's a need to do it," said Phil Dimmer, Churchill High School art department.

Dimmer, an exhibitor at the Ann Arbor and other art fairs, displays serigraphs in the show. An evening landscape takes on an unusually slim but vertical form that's sure to be a crowd pleaser due to the peacefulness it instills in the viewer.

An avid gardener, Cronenwett created silver-soldered copper and brass garden sculpture for the exhibit. Perched on top of stakes, the lighthearted faces strike whimsy similar to that found in her masks of personalities she's known throughout the years.

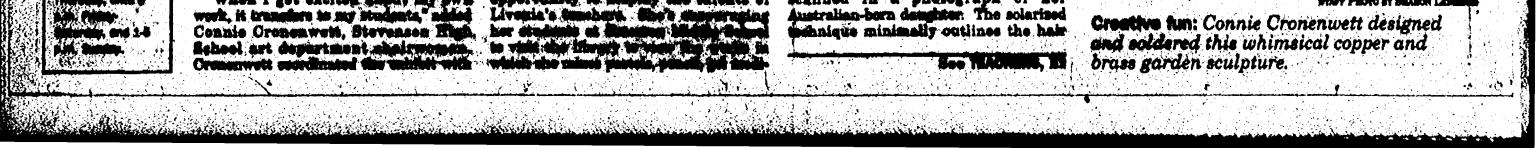

"They're fun and sany," said Cronenwett, who's taught in Livonia

Public Schools since 1955. Waring cose the binchers' exhibit as an opportunity to display the talents of

"I love color. The way it flows together. I teach my students it's okay to be frustrated, to work with an area when they're not pleased with it," said Waring. "Letting other people see my work, gives me a unit of measuring. There's an old adage: those who can, do and those who can't, teach. Well, we do both. We have a lot of talent out there in the schools."

Sandy Attebury agrees with Waring about the importance of the exhibit. Attebury, who grew up in Western Australia, teaches art at Buchanan and Webster Elementary Schools. "I think it's great to showcase the teachers. We don't see each others work in school," Attebury said.

While many of the teachers produce their art on weekends during the school year, or on summer vacation, Gary Boyll always carries a camera to capture images ranging from rusted old cars to Maui volcances. Boyll, a teacher at Tyler and Kennedy schools, has exhibited at the Detroit Institute of Arts, Detroit Artists Market and Wayne State University.

tography because everything in the past has been black and white. Although composition is the same, it's very challenging to work with the light in color," said Boyll.

An art teacher at Randolph and Cooper Elementary Schools Morche-Diskin likes to work with her hands and it shows in her traditional as well as nontraditional weavings. Her interest in textiles led to her creating a line of wearable art marketed under the name of Stella's Creations. She's displayed her wares, incorporating a rainbow of fibers, in the Ann Arbor Street Fair and the Northville Arts and Crafts Show. "Sunset" is a wall hanging focusing on a fiery sun as it reflects on the water.

"I like feeling what I'm creating, the tactile sense of working with textiles. I feel like I'm more a part of it. I'm energized, working with the colors to capture the blazing sun," said Morche-Diskin, who's taught art for 24 years. Her students have seen the exhibit.

"It's interesting for the students to see us differently, not only as a teacher but as an artist. This is how I spend my spare time. I can weave while watching television and create wearable art on commission by using the colors in someone's wardrobe."

Livonia art teachers included in the exhibit are Suzanne Crooks, a teacher at Adams and Hull; John Wagner and Wayne Johnson, Stevenson; Ed Hubert. Livonia Career Center; Joanne Hoekstra, Nankin Mills and McKinley; Barbara Bray, Roosevelt and Johnson; Mary Lynn Giovan and Anita Lamour, Churchill; Doreen Lawton, Tyler and Coolidge; Lea Gonzalez. Village Artists show at Farmington library

Orchestra in Canton. October has "Classes ($8 a session) are been an exciting ongoing at the studio so people can start at any time. There's so much to be gained from people working in groups. We put up our paintings regularly for critiques. They all learn from that. They need to get feedback from other artists."

Rowe opened the Village Artists studio in March to teach transparent watercolor to students of all levels from beginners to seasoned exhibitors. Most of the sessions take place there except for occasional field trips to paint on location. Frequently, the destination of choice is Rowe's four-acre Canton farm where she raises pet llamas and chickens.

"I always encourage them to paint from life as much as possible whether it's on location or a set-up still life. When you paint from a photograph, you're just copying.

Rowe has taken art classes and workshops at the Detroit Institute of Arts, the University of Michigan, Schoolcraft College and the Visual Arts Association of Livonia. She previously taught at St. Andrews Episcopal Church in Livonia, and Michigan Art Exchange in Plymouth before it closed last year. A recent visit to Rowe's studio in Plymouth's Old Village revealed a multitude of reasons that students take classes here.

Nancy Walls Smith, who had formerly worked in colored pencil.

A Plymouth resident, she began art studies with drawing instructor Pam Grossman. Smith's first watercolor, a still life, is in the library show.

"Art is such an escape. You come here and just forget whatever else is going on in your life."

Ann VanWagoner, an exercise therapist for Oakwood Health Systems, began studying with Rowe in May. She was working on an illustration for a book on the Marine Corps Marathon.

"Painting offers me the opportunity to create. I have always been attracted to watercolor because of the way the light is reflected from the paper under the paints," said VanWagoner of Plymouth.

Impressed by watercolor techniques learned in Rowe's classes, Lorainne Petro, who has directed a latchkey program for 20 years in Northville Public Schools, is now passing the lessons onto her second to fifth grade students.

"I think the kids need to have spice in their life. One little girl framed her picture and gave it to er in Plymouth Canton Schools. Marilyn Carl of Plymouth began classes with Rowe to learn more about the watercolor medium. She has exhibited with VAAL and Independent Artists. Each summer she attends weeklong sessions in Northern Michigan with Farmington Hills artist Edee Joppich.

"Kay takes a lot of time to help me. Sometimes teachers expect you to know techniques and basics already, but she will explain them," Carl said.

Village Artists studio not only provides instruction but studio time ($2 fee) and exhibiting opportunities as well. For more information, call Rowe at (313) 455-7221 or 455-1487.

The space at the library is available for showing by members of the Farmington Artists Club, to which Rowe belongs. Other Village Artists included in the October exhibit are Terry Allor of Plymouth; Pam Grossman, Livonia; Yvonne Craig, Farmington; and Norine Berryman, Brighton.

Farmington Public Library hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Thursday, to 5 p.m. Friday-Saturday, and 1-5 p.m. Sunday.

Of her classes with Rowe she continued, "Kay has taught me discipline. My raccoon painting looks like raccoons but they're stylized. If I wanted a photograph I'd take it, but I needed the discipline and basic skills to start painting before realizing my own style."

Britain's 'Secrets and Lies' one of year's best

Mike Leigh's movies have a and "Naked" rank among the way of sneaking up on you. Characters you find mildly irritating to downright repulsive will keep you watching for their next unpredictable, wholly but believable, move. Titles like "High Hopes,"

"Life is Sweet,"

Lies," the Palme d'Or winner at Cannes this spring and probably Leigh's best movie yet. This study of a British family suffering from the title maladies benefits from startlingly real performances. It's an emotional roller coaster ride that mines hope out of seemingly overwhelming despair.

Hortense, having just lost her research the real one. Despite the advice of the adoption agency. which questions her timing, she tracks down Cynthia, a fragpast decade's most perceptive ile woman who spends a examinations of the human con- wretched life trying to relate to dition. Now comes "Secrets and another daughter, 19-year-old years, spends several months prisingly, works as an Roxanne, who hates her guts.

complication: Another Hortense is black, Cynthia white. When they finally meet at the daughter's urging, Cynthia politely tells her that there must be some mistake. She breaks down when she realizes who fathered the little girl she gave up at birth. This moment is all the more incredible when you adopted mother, decides to understand that Leigh has arranged for actresses Brenda Blethyn and Marianne Jean-Baptiste to meet for the first time in the scene. The writer/director, who has been making movies for the past 25 working with his actors, developing characters and then deciding how they're going to interact.

Cynthia has a younger brother, teddy bear-shaped Maurice (Timothy Spall). He runs a local photography studio, positioning squirmy kids and married couples, shooting weddings on the weekends. The irony is, of course, that a man who spends his life telling other people to smile has little to smile about himself. His materialistic wife shows him little affection, putting all her effort into cleaning and decorating their expensive, sterile suburban home. Not surpris-Cynthia.

mains Hortense, who not sur- to life. Visually, the movie is optometrist. She's the only one who can see things clearly in a classically dysfunctional family for whom there may still be hope.

Outside of the recently extended family Leigh drops in a couple of wild cards. A man comes into the studio one day claiming to be the former owner and starts to berate Maurice, his one-time apprentice, for not being more ambitious. The man turns out to be a drunk who actually overextended and squandered the business away. It's this kind of unrelated incident that may make you second guess Leigh's motives ingly, she doesn't get along with in an already lengthy film. But it's also this kind of random At the center of the action occurrence that makes it so true appropriately bland. Leigh, who has worked extensively in television, favors close, ups to capture the expressive faces of his performers. He gives his actresses free reign during that intense first meeting, refusrestaurant booth conversation for what could easily be 10 minutes.Whether ""Secrets or Lies" will find the audience it deserves is anyone's guess. After premiering at the Detroit Film Theatre earlier this month, it now screens at the Birmingham.

Those used to the witty repartee and idyllic country estates of "" Jane Austen will find a bracing dose of reality in the claustrophobic rooms of Leigh's workingclass Brits.

Lovitz has fun with friends n new 'High School High'

CHRISTINA FUOCO

When actor Jon Lovitz was d that Tia Carrere was going co-star with him in his latest vie "High School High" he sn't too sure of her talent.

'I didn't really know how talted she was. When I saw ayne's World' I really thought ey got some girl who could ely speak English. I rememthinking, 'Who is this girl? e can't even speak.' I thought really spoke that way," said vitz during a recent interview the Ritz Carlton Hotel in arborn.

'She's super talented and realnice, just the warmest person." High School High," which ens Friday, Oct. 25, is reminisnt of a comedic version of angerous Minds." It tells the tory of Richard Clark (Lovitz),

His innocent nature immediately butts heads with the tough principal Mrs. Doyle (Louise Fletcher). Naive about gangs, Clark breaks up a fight between ex-gang banger Griff McReynolds (Mekhi Phifer) and a tough gang leader and begins to see potential in McReynolds. "High School High" also stars Natasha Gregson Wagner, Williams, Malinda and Guillermo Diaz.

The urban street comedy is produced by David Zucker. Robert LoCash and Gil Netter, and written by Zucker and LoCash and Pat Proft . Lovitz explained that it was the chance to work with Zucker, best known for his "Airplane!" and "Naked Gun" movies, that drove him to audition for the movie.

"I think those movies are hilarious. I read the script (and) thought it was funny. When I

It was especially exciting to work with Fletcher, who earned an Academy Award for her performance of "Nurse Ratched" in "One Flew Over The Cuckoo's Nest," and Neville, a recipient of the Order of the British Empire, whose credits include stage and movie roles.

"Working with a lot of the actors was great. Hart Bochner ('PCU' and 'The Buzzz') directed it, and he's a friend of mine. He helped me a lot. The actors like Louise Fletcher and John Neville, one of the best actors, and the rest of the cast Tia Carrere, Mekhi Phifer, and the kids were so much fun. Everyone was real nice."

"They found these people that I had never heard of and here they are, just great."

Lovitz, whose next project is a movie starring Gary Shandling and Annette Bening that begins filming in the summer, began his career as a stand-up comedian and made his way to "Saturday Night Live" from 1985-1990. While on SNL, his signature characters became Master Thespian, and the pathological liar "Tommy Flanagan" whose line "Yeah, that's the ticket," made him a household name. "It started out as an inside" joke between a friend of mine and I. I took it to the 'Tonight Show' and the next day people were telling me they saw it and they thought it was so funny that they put it on their answering machines," said the goateed Lovitz, decked out in black-_= framed glasses, a plaid shirt, jeans and Adidas sneakers. "When I got 'Saturday Night Live,' I remembered that and thought 'Man if I do it on; 'Saturday Night Live' the country may be saying it.' Sure enough they did. It was pretty amazing that because you say something on television, especially 'Saturday Night Live,' can become a part of pop culture," Lovitz said. He wishes the current SNL cast the best, but was vague about his opinion on it. "I think there's a lot of funny people on the show. Whoever's on the show it becomes their show. They keep changing casts all the time and it's hard because you don't know who you're going to work with. As soon as you get used to working with someone, they're gone. It's hard. I only wish the show well. It gave me the career that I have." His career has included appearances in the movies "City Slickers II," "A League of Their Own," and "Big." In addition, Lovitz did voice-overs for the animated features "An American Tail: Fievel Goes West" and "The Brave Little Toaster.' On television, Lovitz, who earned two Emmy nominations for his work on SNL, provided. the voice of the title character in the animated series "The Critic." and guest starred on "Seinfeld," "Friends," and "The Larry Sanders Show." His role in "High School High" marks an important milestone in ? his career, he explained. "It's different because it's the first time I had a lead in the film. That made it enjoyable. The story is about me and the kids in the school. I was the guy who's driving the film as opposed to reacting to everyone. I had accom drunk scens, a love scene, and a tran fight scene, which I had never, met with David Zucker and read some lines, and they just thought it was funny. I really tried to sell myself and said I really can do this part and they hired me. It worked out. I was really excited to do it," Lovitz said.

 The Cleveland band Dink has never been too thrilled about the constrictive title of "industrial band." But it's sure to go away with the recent release of the "Blame It On Tito" EP. Hiphop flavored interludes and roughed up pop passages are still there, but the album is much more guitar driven.

"Most of the writing started on guitar rather than on machines," said guitarist/singer/programmer Sean Carlin. "I find our thing much more akin to bands like the Sex Pistols. I see ourselves as a garage band with a computer. We are very, very lowfi, high tech."

The five-song EP features the original version of Dink's hit single "Green Mind," as well as the band's reinvention of Neil Young's "Ohio," an account of the disturbances at Kent State University.

"We all kind of live in the Kent area. We all went to Kent State, There's still some weirdness about it here in Kent."

"Blame It On Tito" is a teaser to an as-of-yet unnamed fulllength debut due out in February. or March. The album may include remixes by members of Consolidated and Download, and David Oglivie.

Timber Wolf Tavern has good looks and food

BY RENEE SKOGLUND SPECIAL WRITER

The Timber Wolf Tavern may well be the best-looking tavern in town. Its pine and oak interior, complete with a large, stonefaced fireplace, provides a rustic, warm ambience that makes you want to dunk your chocolate chip cookie into that second cup of coffee.

Chocolate chip cookies in a tavern? Sure, why not, especially if they're homemade. These paw-size cookies have been a menu hit since the Timber Wolf opened last April.

"We've donated those cookies to many events in Redford," said owner Bryan Boyadjian. The cookies are free on Sundays.

Boyadjian, who owns the Timber Wolf with his father Samuel, knows it takes more than cookies to keep customers coming back. It takes homemade pasties ("Better than the U.P."), meatloaf with sauteed mushrooms and onions, roast turkey and Shepherd's Pie, a baked casserole of sirloin steak, vegetables, cheese and goldenbrown mashed potatoes.

Speaking of potatoes, the Timber Wolf dishes up some terrific au gratins. "One thing I wanted on my menu was au gratin potatoes," said Boyadjian. "They're served in a crock, and they are just great."

The Timber Wolf also features hearty specials, like fried lake perch for $7.50 or prime rib on Friday and Saturday nights at everything is home-cooked. We $10.95 for a 10-ounce slice and a $12.95 for a 12-ounce slice. And if you're a Friday-night fish eater, there's Icelandic cod with hearty portions of fries and slaw for $5.95.

The Timber Wolf attracts just about anyone with a hearty appetite who doesn't mind eyeballing a wild boar or moose head while eating. Families are most welcome. (The kids love petting the heads, which come compliments of Boyadjian's uncle Harold Bjornstad's hunting prowess.)

"Our restaurant is geared to a blue-collar clientele. "We serve large meals and just about really put a lot of love and care into our food," said the personable Boyadjian.

And if you happen to drop by on Tuesday night, you can wash down your dinner with a 16ounce mug of micro-brew for a mere $2. Thursdays, it's $2 for draft beers and $1 off of house drinks for women.

Tim Proben, owner of Mom's Plumbing in Livonia, pronounced his meatloaf "wonderful." Proben brings his wife and four kids to the Timber Wolf at least twice a week. "I like the atmosphere. I like the people running it, and best of all I like the food. I haven't had a bad meal yet," he said.

The focal point of the Timber Wolf Tavern most definitely is the bar area, the abode of a mounted 200-pound silver-furred Northern Alaskan wolf. Surrounding the wolf is a wraparound oak and pine bar, handcrafted by Samuel Boyadjian. A pressed-tin ceiling rimmed in soft gold recessed lighting completes the visual effect.

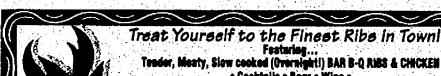

Boyadjian is proud of his and his father's handiwork. "We pounded every nail, stained every board," he said, then pointed to 600-pound wooded bear near the fireplace. "It took five guys to get it off the pick-up truck."

On Saturday, October 26, the Timber Wolf Tavern is having a "Howling Party," with costume prizes, drink specials and entertainment by Double Cross, a top-40s band. Call for reservations.

NEW ELONES THURSDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1996 Southfield infill project off beaten track

Take a single-family infill residential project with 14 lots in a heavily-wooded Southfield neighborhood with easy freeway access, nearby schools and shopping opportunities.

Mix in a couple of builders offering new houses on large lots for less than $150,000.

What you get is the newest addition to Meadow Downs, tucked off Coral Gables south of 11 Mile east of Southfield Road.

"One reason I give for naming this Southfield's newest little secret is people who come to open houses say, 'I didn't know you were back here," said Marion Tindle, assistant manager for Century 21 Elegant Homes and sales representative at the site.

"It's a nice secluded area," said James R. Guibord, president of United Home Builders. "You won't have an influx of traffic. It has good access to 696. Because, of all the trees, it's another advantage to the area. It's like living up north."

"It's a great, central location," said Scott A. Cantor, partner with Coventry Homes.

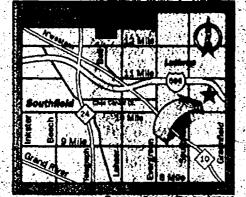

"It's a wonderful school system there," said Robert Schwartz, Coventry Homes partner. "There's real good shopping in the area."

Both builders have many floor plans to offer or will customize to a buyer's specification.

United's prices range from $134,900 for a two story of 1,450 square feet with three bedrooms and 1-1/2 baths to $172,900 for a colonial of 1.900 square feet with four bedrooms and 2-1/2 baths.

Coventry offers three-bedroom, 2-1/2 bath colonials ranging from 1,500 square feet for $145,000 to 1,850 square feet for $168,500.

Both offer ranches and plans with the master suite on the first floor United's on-site model, features a living room, dining room, kitchen/nook and half-bath on the first floor.

The model includes a range and dishwasher, basement laundry and two-car, attached garage.

Vinyl siding covers the exterior. Base price is $134,900. Gaibord terms this model an éxpanable house because preengineered plans are included for a later addition of a family room downstairs and a fourth bedroom upstairs for an additional cost.

A fireplace ($3,000) and air conditioning ($2,200-$2,800) are also extra.

Coventry intends to construct a three-bedroom colonial as its on-site model.

Floor plans indicate a living room, dining room, family room, kitchen/nook with sink facing the family room, laundry and half-bath on the main floor.

Upstairs, the walk-up master will have a cathedral ceiling, two walk-in closets, dual sink vanity and separate tub and shower. Two other bedrooms will share a full bath.

The house will have an attached two-car garage, basement, full covered front porch and include and dishwasher. Exterior materials will be brick, vinyl siding and wood accents.

Find more storage space around the home

BY READER'S DIGEST BOOKS FOR AP SPECIAL FEATURES

If you are a typical homeowner, you probably are forever trying to find more storage space for an increasing number of possessions.

The first step to making more space is to throw out those things that you never or rarely use. After that, you can look for nooks and crannies that, with a bit of ingenuity, can accommodate items you keep.

Here are some tips:

Where there are closets under stairways, install a small shelf under each step for storing small articles.

New bathroom storage Install a shelf just above the sink. It will give you a handy, dry place for cosmetics and toiletries. Place it high enough so it doesn't interfere with turning the water on and off.

Fill unused space around a toilet with combination shelves and towel bars in a ladder arrangement. Leave space above the tank to take the top off.

Your child's storage

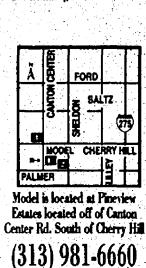

Most young children have trouble putting away toys. Your toddler will clean up with less fuss if you provide roomy catchall storage bins. For quick, inexpensive bins, cover cardboard boxes with stick-on paper. To encourage neatness, label the boxes with pictures of what's supposed to go into them. Replace them when they become tattered. To put your child's ond, lower rod in the closet. Install 1-by-4 cleats on either side of the closet and mount sockets for a new clothes rod on them. Or simply suspend the rod on chains from the higher rod. Use the upper rod for out-of-season wear.

More closet space

Use the same idea in one section of your own closet. Install two rods, one 3 to 4 feet above the other. Hang short items such as shirts and skirts on them. Suspend wire shower curtain hooks from the rods to hold belts, purses and scarves. Attach hooks, towel racks or shoe bags to the closet walls or door for miscellaneous items.

APPLIANCE DOCTOR

More warning needed on faulty gas line

In a recent article a newspaper reported that the gas line to hook up an appliance such as a stove or clothes dryer might be dangerous to your health. The article was written based on information obtained from the Product Safety Commission in Washington.

The CPSC reports that they have received 200 cases where the old style corrugated metal gas lines have sprung a leak and been associated with 35 deaths and 59 injuries. This type of flexible connector has not been sold for the past 10 years, but I'm sure there are many clothes dryers in the American home which still have this product connected to it.

Millions of consumers out there have clothes dryers which are well over 10 years old. It is sad that the CPSC had to wait until 35 people died before they brought out information that could possibly save the lives of more victims. The article you might have read will not be seen by many millions across the country and yet I feel they should do more in an endeavor to reach these people. The deaths and injuries reported so far might be a small amount compared to the figures of the next five years. As these connectors get older than I think the likelihood of a leak would increase tremendously. There are many ways they could increase this warning so that it reached more homeowners than it has so far. As an example I would suggest that they work through every major utility company across the land and put a warning notice in every utility bill sent to each customer. I would have printed and charged back to the manufacturer of these deadly connectors, a full page article in all newspapers across America and follow that up with the same procedure on television.

Let me give you a synopsis of the warning put out by the CPSC and the action you should take to correct the problem. First, let me say that it is my recommendation to hook up a gas line dryer using only solid copper tubing with flared fittings. Use enough tubing so that you have several loops coiled at the rear which allow you to move it for service and cleaning. These materials are available at your local hardware store where they will flare the fittings etc. The hardware store industry is very versed on what has to be done to properly hook up your clothes dryer.

The CPSC reports that older corrugated metal tubes were used in hooking up ranges, ovens and clothes dryers. They are uncoated, brass, flexible metal lines which has a fitting on each end which is soldered in place. The solder can fail resulting in a gas leak. They also recommend that the appliance not be moved to any degree as this might cause the connector to break and leak gas. The CPSC suggests that you call a professional service provider to inspect the product. They fail to mention that there might be a cost for this service or that a clothes dryer in operation has a vibration to it that could cause a leak as well.

I recommend that if you are using

Season sensations: Pumpkins and mums welcome the fall season.

Color the autumn season wonderful

Isn't it wonderful the way the colors of fall all blend together? The oranges, yellows and crimson shades of the leaves, the golden yellow of pumpkins and the yellows and greens of winter squash, the reds and yellows of apples and pears and the colors of autumnsubsequent chlorophyll decays, the other pigments in the leaves are revealed.

Trees have various amounts of two principal types of pigments: carotenoids, which produce yellows and oranges; and anthocyanins, which are red-colored.

When the days are warm and sunny and the nights are cool, we can probably expect the foliage colors to be more brilliant than when the weather is blooming flowers and shrubs. The ever-popular grasses also blend their maturing seedheads to the color scheme. Nature has really endowed this planet with something remarkable.

Have you ever wondered just what makes the leaves turn color at this time of year? It's connected with the way deciduous trees (those that lose their leaves) store food and prepare for winter dormancy. As the days become shorter and cooler temperatures prevail, the trees stop producing chlorophylls and then begin sending nutrients to the roots. (Trees produce chlorophyll, which are the green pigments that absorb energy from light by way of photosynthesis to make food.) As the cloudy and wet.

This coming weekend is the perfect time to carve your Halloween pumpkins. The possibilities are endless. For instance, by using various sizes of pumpkins stacked one on top of another, a whole "being" could be created. If you carve spooky, happy or sad faces, or faces that resemble a famous person or friend, your imagination could really be put to work.

When you carve your pumpkins use a good sharp paring knife, or one slightly larger. A seriated knife may work better for those with tough skins. If the skin is especially thick, small children might need Mom or Dad to scrape some away so that the pumpkin will glow when a light is in it.

Cut the lid (we often put a little V at one edge to match the lid with the pumpkin top) and scoop out the insides with a big spoon. Put a lot of newspapers on the table or floor to catch the mess. If there are several children in the family and you have only one pumpkin, let each one draw a feature on a piece of paper and then all can choose which ones should be used. Each child then should have a turn at carving.

This is the time to save the pumpkin seeds for toasting in the oven. They are a healthy and delicious treat. Spread the seeds on a baking sheet, sprinkle lightly with salt and bake in a 375degree oven for 20 minutes; stir occaionally. While the family is carving the faces, Mom or Dad might tell the youngsters that the Irish were the first to fashion a lantern out of vegetables for display on Halloween. They used rutabagas, turnips and potatoes. One story that comes from Ireland is about the Irishman named Jack who was kept out of heaven because he was so stingy and out of "that other place" because he was so mischievous. Jack had to wander the Earth with a lighted lantern until Judgment Day. When the Irish came to the United States in the middle of the 19th century, they brought with them the tradition of "jack o'lantern." Here were pumpkins to carve and fashion for Halloween, a perfect replacement for those other vegetables.

This pumpkin (or squash) soup could be cooking while the carving is being accomplished and will add a perfect finale to the festivities. PUMPKIN SOUP

Master Chef Milos Cihelka (one of 66 Master Chefs in America) specializes in "the reward of the hunt." Many of you will remember Chef Milos from his chef-partner days at the Golden Mushroom Restaurant in Southfield, Michigan. Now, in partnership (Wild Harvest Videos) with acclaimed cinematographer Jerry Chiappetta, they have combined efforts and produced a series of wonderful videos - Master Chef Series of Game Care & Cooking.

An avid hunter, as well as a Master Chef - Milos demonstrates in the first video; Big Game: Field to the Table, the importance of proper field dressing and transporting game, the need to age the game, skinning techniques, how to preserve a hide, the actual butchering, freezer wrapping of the meat, and last but not least, simple camp recipes for preparing the venison. The second video, VENISON Healthy & Tasty has Chef Milos demonstrating the use for marinades, and how to make some of his favorite venison recipes (along with accompaniments). Throughout the videos, the chef shares numerous tips on handling this type of game. CARE & COOKING Gamebirds & Animals is the third, in this series of videos.

Herbal air: The upper herb garden at Cranbrook has a new look.

Franklin antique show features herb items

BY MARTY FIGLEY

SPECIAL WRITER

Members of the Herb Society of America, Southern Michigan Unit, have been doing a lot of planning, digging and planting to create a new look for the upper herb garden at Cranbrook Gardens in Bloomfield Hills.

Perhaps you have missed this special garden, which is several steps above the lovely formal herb garden – the one with the statue "Ecola." The next time you visit, I hope you will make a special effort to see the new design.

Members participate in several fundraisers each year, and for the second year they will offer exceptional gift items at the upcoming Franklin Community Antiques Show.

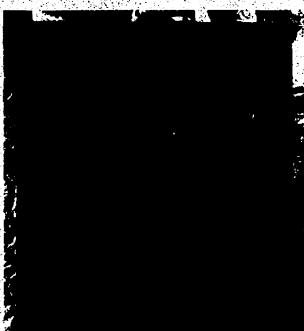

The show will take place Thursday-Saturday, Oct. 24-26, at Franklin Community Church, 32473 Normandy in Franklin. A preview party is planned 69 p.m. Thursday. Reservations at $35 are requested; call (810) 626-6606. Daily admission to the show (10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday) is $5.

The herb society unit will offer colorful dried herb bundles, the popular mustards, woolen angels, wreaths, lavender and rose bath salts, herbal note cards and many other unusual items. Proceeds from this booth and other unit functions are used to maintain the two herb gardens at Cranbrook. The unit has also contributed funds for the children's garden at Michigan State University, the National Herb Garden in Washington, D.C., and the Herb Society of America, with headquarters in Mentor, Ohio.

More than 30 selected dealers will offer quilts, folk art, furniture, porcelain, wicker and more.

Luncheon will be served in the Country Kitchen and baked goods will also be available for purchase.

To make the sauce, combine the shallots, wine and cream in a saucepan over moderate meat and reduce to half of the original volume. Lower the heat and add the crumbled cheese; stir until melted. Cut the cold butter into 4 pieces and add to the sauce, a piece at a time, stirring all the while. Season with white pepper. Set the sauce aside in a warm place but not over direct heat as it could cause the sauce to separate.

Put the meat close to the heat source to allow the olive oil coating to flare up and create a hot fire. Keep turning the meat to allow the outside to char without overcooking the middle. Remove the venison from the heat when it is rare (130 degrees F) or at least no more than medium-rare (140 degrees F). Slice, arrange on individual plates, top with sauce and serve. The modern bathroom is now a private retreat

Q. Do you have any information available on the current trends for remodeling bathroom?

A. Homeowners are always looking to develop kitchens where they can bond as a family, but the bath is where they escape. The biggest trend in bathrooms today is cocooning. "Homeowners want to retreat from the world and their families," says Peter Schor, president, Institute of Bathroom Product Knowledge. "The American attitude toward the bath is changing. We used to look at the room as purely utilitarian. Now, we are approaching the bath as the Europeans do – we are seeing it as a place for personal pampering."

That may explain the rise in steam showers, rain bars, rain domes, double shower heads, body massagers and sprays, saunas, jetted tubs, oversized tubs and in-line heaters. Baths are becoming the one place to submerge problems and get away from life's stress and demands – and that retreat is getting bigger. Schor notes that 75 percent of consumers in a recent poll said they wanted a larger master bath with a separate tub and shower. He also notes that 18 percent of all tubs are jetted, and that number is increasing.

Americans want to relax. Some are even going so far as to put their exercise equipment in the master bath to release their aggressions before climbing into a private sauna or hot bath. But this is one trend Iris Harrell, NARI member and winner of the NARI 195 Contractor of the Year Award for Residential Baths Over $15,000, doesn't recommend. There may be too much moisture in the bath for the health of the exercise equipment. You may be encouraging rust and other deterioration.

It is better to create a separate but adjoining room for exercising. The trend for larger baths can be a trick when there is limited space to grow. If you have to choose between a bath or shower, the shower is more important. Don't try to combine the two, Harrell warns. The tub-and-shower combination is difficult to get in and out of and looks clumsy in a small space. A larger shower stall with clear glass enclosure well. As Baby Boomers are aging and their eyesight declining, the magnification is appreciated. Good lighting is, too.

Lighting is an important element of any room, but particularly in the bath. Here is a room where you must be able to shave, put on makeup, find a fallen contact lens, sort laundry, and still be able to have a soothing soak - all activities that require different lighting techniques. Schor recommends crossillumination along side of mirrors with an additional top lighting bar. The cross lighting from the sides will eliminate dark shadows (another feature aging Boomers love). Use recessed cans and diffusers for increased mood lighting around the tub. In this area of the bath, atmosphere is everything.

The other type of lighting to remember is natural lighting. Harrell contends that daylight is essential in the bath. "People want to make a visual connection with the outside. It helps them relax and increases the visual size of the room."

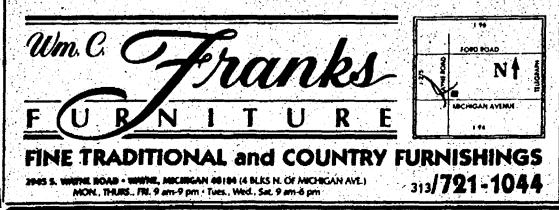

Skylights, picture windows, solar tubes are all added benefits to creating the perfect bath. They increase the light and the view. Homeowners today are having hard days. Most families include two working adults who both need to get ready at the same time in the morning. These homeowners want two lavatories and maneuvering room for two, but they still want to maintain their privacy.

Another quality they are seeking to maintain is safety. Again, the largest market group is aging, and their abilities are declining; in addition, they are settling into homes in which they would most likely want to stay. These homes, and baths, need to incorporate universal design features, such as higher vanities (30-35 inches), curbless showers, wider clearances around the tub and toilet, and easily manipulated faucets and hardware. The bath industry is a big segment of the remodeling industry and is also the most expensive per-square-foot project in the entire house. Always keep in mind safety, relaxation; expansive spaces and accessibility. But most of all, remember that the bath is a home will increase the visual line of the space while still maintaining the need for a relaxing water experience.

And an "experience" is what homeowners are seeking. They are looking at their baths as a form of water recreation, be it a long hot bath in a tub that has in-line heaters or in a shower with a rain bar. Whatever the form, the feel of water seems to be relaxing. Steam and heat seem to do the trick, too. Radiant floor heating, towel warmers and steam showers also are emerging and finding a comfortable niche in the bath market.

So at those times you feel you're at the end of your creative rope and you're ready to pack up the camera - don't! Here are some ideas to beat the blahs and get you back on the road to creativity.

Mourning edition tells of tragic history

Carl,

BY NANCY AND FRANK BOOS SPECIAL WRITERS

Dear Nancy and Frank: I have an old newspaper called the Detroit Advertiser and Tribune that covers the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln. Do you think it's real and what is its value?

Royal Oak

Your paper, dated Monday, April 17, 1865, is the morning "mourning" edition of a paper reporting stories relating to the assassination of President Lincoln by the actor John Wilkes Booth. This paper wasn't the forerunner of either our current Detroit Free Press or

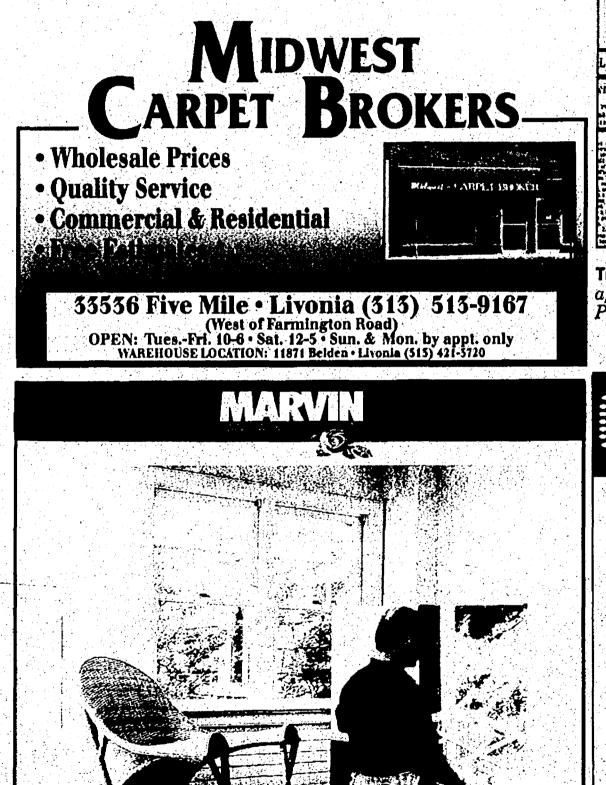

Dear Carl:

Detroit News. There were about 20 newspapers at that time, most of which have gone the way of the Detroit Times.

On Good Friday, April 14, 1865, the president was in a good mood for three reasons: five days before, Gen. Robert E. Lee had surrendered his Confederate army at the Appomattox Court House in Virginia; for all intents and purposes slavery had ended in the rebellious Southern states; and those states were now aware, in no uncertain terms, that secession from the Union wouldn't be tolerated.

Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln were planning to attend the theater that evening, venturing out in public even though it was common knowledge that Confederate sympathizers were many and were lurking in Washington.

Booth, a fanatic on the cause of the Confederacy and the mastermind of the assassination plot, learned of the Lincolns' theater plans and the special box in which they would be sitting.

While watching the play, "Our American Cousin," Lincoln's bodyguard become so engrossed in it that he drifted away from his position guarding the entryway to the president's box. While Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln were sitting, holding hands, Booth slipped into the box with a .44 caliber derringer loaded with one bullet. He fired from six inches into the back of Lincoln's head. Gun smoke filled the box, pandemonium broke loose, Mrs. Lincoln, weeping, cradled her husband's body and Booth leaped from the box to the main floor 10 feet below. He caught a spur in the presidential decorative bunting draped on the box and this caused him to land unevenly and break a leg. He still managed to flee from the theater shouting, "Sic semper tyrannis," which translates to "Thus always with tyrants."

Tragic news

By 11 p.m., all of Washington had heard and the nation began its mourning. By 3 a.m. Saturday, April 15, Booth's name had been released as the assassin and at 7:22 a.m., Lincoln's heart stopped and Mary Lincoln's heart broke. She never really recovered. Booth, considered by most to be a black-hearted traitor, managed to escape roadblocks and searches for days. He had to get medical attention for his leg and went to a confederate sympathizer he had known, Dr. Samuel Mudd.

Later, when being prosecuted, Mudd said he didn't recognize Booth, who arrived in disguise, and wasn't aware that the man he treated was Lincoln's assassin. Mudd, who maintained to his dying day that he was innocent of conspiracy, was later sentenced to life in prison for helping Booth.

By Monday, April 17, the date of your paper, the entire nation had learned of the tragedy and was in mourning. By this day, Lincoln's body lay in state in Washington and hundreds of thousands turned out to pay their respects in that city and all along the route the funeral train passed as it took the body of Lincoln and his young son, Willie, who died three years earlier, to Springfield, Ill., where they were buried side by side.

Booth was finally captured in a barn in Virginia after 12 days of running and hiding. He had sworn he would never be taken alive, which turned out to be prophetic as he was shot in the head and died two hours later.

Mournful memorabilia

Your paper is memorabilia from one of the most tragic events in the history of the United States, the first assassination of an American president. If it appears to be good old paper made from rags, our feeling is that it is authentic. Newer paper would be yellower because of the acid content.

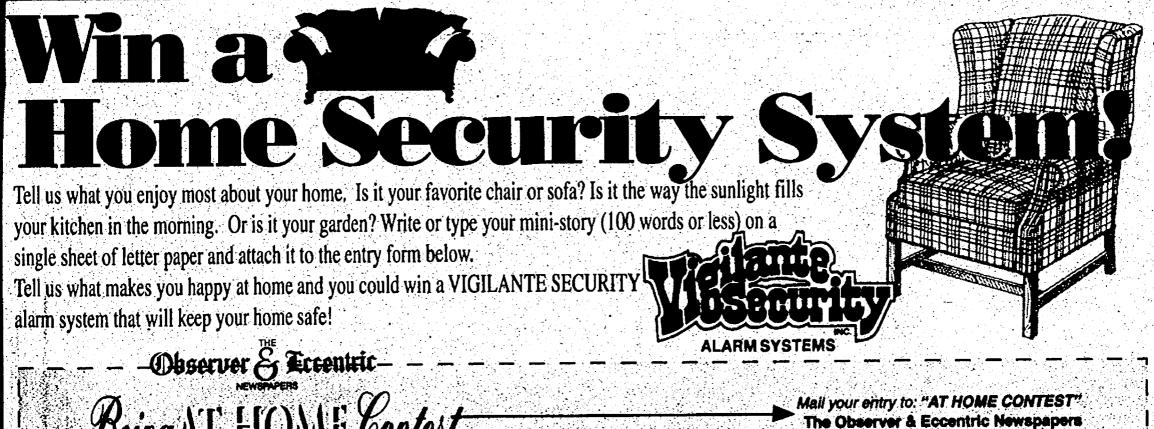

Also, the obvious condition of staining, discoloration and tears along the crease makes us more confident that it is authentic but also decreases value. Also, you'll notice the heavy black lines between the columns. This was traditionally done for publications dealing with death and mourning.

We feel that your paper would bring about $100 to $150 at an auction and perhaps 50 to 100 percent more at a retail store. This is a real dichotomy, as your item is a wonderful piece of memorabilia about one of the most heinous times in U.S. history.

agents stay calm

BY NORMAN PRADY SPECIAL WRITER

"I had an ugly situation," said Linda Kittredge, a real estate sales associate, when explaining how she handles difficult clients. Kittredge, of Quality Real Estate NW/BHG, Livonia, recalled the home seller who refused to close of the sale of his house because he wanted 100 percent of a previous deposit, of which cent. There had been an out-of-town buyer moving here to take a new job, she said. He made an offer on this seller's house, paid a deposit of almost $6,000, was then offered an even better new job in another city and backed out of the deal knowing he might lose his deposit.

he was legally entitled to only 50 per-

So what happens to the deposit? Sometimes, the seller may choose to have it returned to the almost buyer. Or it can be retained and divided; half to the seller, one-quarter to the sellers broker or agent, one quarter to the broker and agent who brought the buyer.

At Kittredge's company, "we always give our 25 percent to the seller." So this seller now had 75 percent but wanted it all. "His perception was that it was a deposit on his house and it was his money. We went around and around for days, maybe two weeks."

He apparently was not impressed with the words in the sales contract, which clearly outlined the distribution of a retained deposit. Nor did he accept, Kittredge said, her further explanation that the remaining guarter was not her company's to give, that the other company was legally. entitled to and, when asked, had said they intended to keep it.

How determined was the seller to get the remaining 25 percent, a sum less than $1,500? Consider this: while he was demanding the additional. money, Kittredge brought him a new offer on his house with a higher selling price than the first offer, which would more than make up for the amount he felt he was losing. He accepted the offer, but then said he wouldn't complete the sale until he got the balance of the original deposit.

We sat down to sign and he refused to sign. I brought in my broker, who explained to him that it could go to arbitration but he'd lose. He settled down and signed."

While all this was happening, this seller himself was under pressure to move to another city to start his own new job. He was "otherwise pleasant," Kittredge said.

"We have to be very careful in writing contracts," Kittredge said, "and standing behind them and explaining them.

People understand conceptually, but when an unexpected situation arises, it's easy to become confused the buyer and the seller, or when the and for harsh feelings to start erupting."

On the other side of the transaction, difficult times with buyers, Kittredge said, can be due to expectations about the content or condition of the house

When the buyer discovers, for example, when taking possession of the house, that something is missing, possibly a major appliance, "sometimes agents will try to smooth things. over," she said.

"Sometimes," she said, "the buying and selling agents will chip in to replace something. When the (buyers) are angry, who are you going to lash out at?"

Nancy Howell, office manager and associate broker at ERA Home & Land, Rochester Hills, says that "calm" is the secret to handling a difficult client.

"Have to keep everyone calm. Remain calm and try to reason with facts. Constant communication. Documentation. And patience. We have to be adept at being good counselors."

Like Kittredge, Howell has had the experience of solving problems with cash out of her own pocket, replacing what she refers to as "small items" to resolve some sticking point. This can mean she might "end up buying an. appliance or a light fixture."

When there are differences between buyer feels shortchanged, they "look to the Realtor to kick in," she said.

Are there times an agent would like to fire a client? Apparently so, according to the experience of Virginia Tipton, associate broker with Red Carpet Keim Will Tipton, Garden City.

For Tipton, the issue was "trust," and the difficult client was a seller who was "questioning everything we do," Tipton said. "You do have to trust people."

Tipton drew up a contract to return the seller's listing to him, legally keeping the commission rights to the buyer she had already presented. The seller knew that this was a premium buyer and his best selling opportunity. He "then became manageable. Transaction was perfect."

"It boils down to patience," said Jane Maier, associate broker with Why USA All American Properties, Farmington.

As issues come up for seller or buyer to confront, "I present the situation and leave it alone. It has to be their decision.

"I've always been considered a 'soft sell,' someone who considers people's feelings, she explained.

"Buying or selling a house is emotional. People have to work things through, not be pressured."

Don't just sit there quietly if your condo is noisy

Q. My air conditioning chiller system is a common element of our condominium and is in my building. It didn't work for a number of years, but recently, it was activated. Since then, the noise level and vibrations have become very disturbing.

Do you think I have any basis to pursue the condominium association and/or its board?

A. Of course, each claim would depend upon the sentiments of the judge, but in a recent appellate case from Massachusetts, the court held that a co-owner could maintain a nuisance action against the condominium association. The court recognized the obligation of a board to correct a "substantial interforence with the quiet enjoyment" of the co-owner's unit from a cause located in the common areas. The case in quastion also uphold the right of the co-owner to sup the broker, who, at the time of broker was one of opinion of fact. The court said that while a statement about noise can be either, in the case at hand it was reasonable to infer that the real estate agent had facts to justify her statements because her employer maintained an office in the condominium and had been involved in sales for a period of years.

Q. I entered into a purchase agreement for a condominium and made a deal with the builder, but unfortunately I did not get legal advice and the contract provided no specific time table in the purchase agreement. Now, after the purchase agreement has been signed, I find that the builder made a deal with a topsoil contractor to store the topsoil on my condominium property. Accordingly, the builder has not started my unit.

What recourse do I have in order to have the builder live up to his part of the purchase agreement.

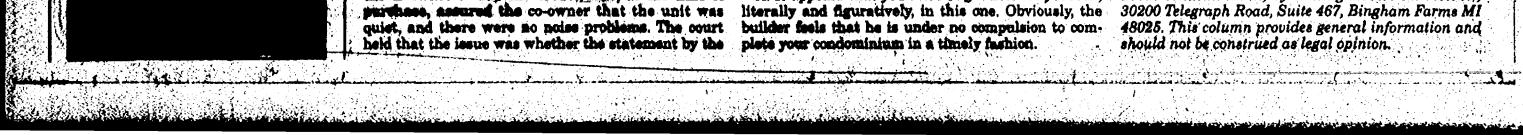

A. It appears that you have flug a hole for yourself,

However, reasonableness dictates that he would make a good faith effort to commence construction, Presumably the builder would be willing to give you your purchase money deposit back if you requested it from him, and, if this is a new condominium and the builder is a developer, you may have recourse in the event that the purchase agreement does not comply. with all of the aspects of the condominium act.

You should immediately consult with a lawyer to review your purchase agreement and inform the builder of your dissatisfaction. You will have to make a decision as to whether you want to try to force the builder to complete the building in a timely fashion or simply get your money back.

Again, it depends upon the terms of the building contract and a further review of the facts.

When were the lowest mortgage rates offered?

MORTGAGE SHOPPING

rates and mortgage trends over the last 25 years, Last week we looked at when the highest 30-year fixed-rate occurred. This week, let's look at when the lowest 30-year fixed-rate

DAVID C. occurred. Do you MULLY know what the rate was and in what year it occurred?

With the presidential election coming up. I thought it would be interesting to look at what interest rates have typically done after an election. Looking back to the 1988 and 1992 election years; do you think rates went up or down after the election? (Answers are at the end of this column.)

To buy an existing home:

Most have heard about the supposed hassles lenders put us through when applying for a mortgage. But, simply by documenting the way you manage your assets before you buy a home, you can avoid some of these hassles. For example, when you know you are getting ready to move and purchase a home in the near future, make sure you save your three most recent bank or asset statements. If you move any of your assets from one account to another in preparing for the purchase, simply keep records of these transactions. Often, people don't think of this. When applying for a mortgage, the lender may notice a large deposit in a particular account and ask for an explanation. It becomes difficult to verify where the deposit came from if you do not keep accurate records.

You may ask why lenders even care where the money comes from if you are making a large down payment. But, they do care because they have the closing and helps the lender do to verify that these funds were not an accurate verification of funds porrowed. Because lenders generally sell loans in the secondary market, they need verification for their buyers of all funds used in the transaction. Even if you're receiving a gift from a relative of have money under a mattress, you're best to have the money in your bank account at least three to four months before you buy. If this is not possible, simply keep a record of any deposits you make and

In this segment of where the money came from. This my column, I look will help to avoid some of the hassles back and compare others have gone through because mortgage interest they did not keep records.

To buy a newly constructed home:

My advice here is to always read your purchase agreement with the builder. Specifically, be aware of what the Michigan State Transfer Tax will cost on new construction purchases and whether the builder (seller) is paying it or passing the cost on to you, the buyers.

Recently, in talking to senior loan officer Vivian Johnson from Old Kent Mortgage, she shared the experiences of two of her customers who recently bought new-construction homes. She said, "They were not aware that the fine print in their contract with the builder stated that they were to pay the Michigan Transfer Tax." The Michigan Transfer Tax normally is paid by a seller when selling a home. Builders are considered the seller in new construction transactions. Therefore, they pay the transfer tax or sometimes, as in this case, they pass it on to the purchasers.

Where it was confusing for these customers, according to Johnson, was "It was not pointed out or even estimated as to how much the cost would be to my clients until the time of closing. This caused a problem in that the purchaser ended up needing additional funds to close which they were not prepared to pay." Even though the builder disclosed this in the contract, they did not include the tax amount in their estimate of cost to the purchaser. Make sure you ask up front who is paying for this tax and how much the cost will be. According to Johnson, "Make sure you give this information to your loan officer so they may include this cost in your total estimate needed." This helps you have a better understanding of how much you need for their rate increasing, causing their payment to increase. Other homeowners may see the adjustment date creeping up and don't want to wait for the upward adjustment to occur so they refinance before this can happen to them.

It can make sense for some of these homeowners to consider another one-year adjustable mortgage (with no prepayment penalty). In most cases, I have found that the cost to refinance can easily be recouped in a matter of months, So; depending on your opinion of where rates are going and how long you plan on staying in your home, it may be the right decision for you now. Mortgage Timeline answers:

In October 1993, the 30-year fixed-rate was at a 25-year low; it bottomed out at 6.83 percent. Before this time, the previous 25-year low was in April 1972 with a 30-year fixed rate of 7.29 percent. Compare this to today's rate of 8.0 percent and you can see that we are still very close to some of the all-time 25year lows.

After both presidential elections in 1988 and 1992, interest rates went down. In November 1988, the 30-year fixed-rate was at 10.27 percent; falling slightly to the high 9 percent range by mid 1989. In November of 1992, the 30-year fixed rate was at 8.31 percent, falling all the way to the 25-year low of 6.83 percent in October 1993.

heating system is their home's biggest energy user - and biggest factor in their energy bills.

Thus, when buying new heating equipment, consumers should consider not only the purchase price but also the energy it uses, the efficiency of the equipment and annual operating costs.

Federal ratings, called "annual fuel utilization efficiency" or AFUE, help consumers compare the efficiency ratings of new furnaces and boilers. These ratings are found on bright yellow EnergyGuide labels.

Using average energy cost information from the U.S. Department of Energy, the American Gas Association (A.G.A.) has calculated how much it costs to operate central heating systems

For most consumers, their with various types of energy on a national average basis.

For example, a conventional gas furnace with a 78 percent efficiency rating would cost $637 to operate in 1996, according to A.G.A. A high-efficiency natural gas furnace with a 94 percent AFUE would cost $483 to operate. in 1996, A.G.A. says.

In contrast, a high-efficiency: electric resistance heating system with a 99 percent efficiency rating would cost $1,727 to operate - almost four times more than the high-efficiency natural gas unit.

This means that, over the average 18-year life of a heating system, a consumer could save $22,000 by selecting a high-efficiency gas unit instead of an electric resistance unit.
