Cable TV beefs will be aired

Do you have a complaint about cable TV service? The cable commission wants to hear from you at Thursday's public hearing. Some feel that rates are too high compared to nearby communities.

BY DARRELL CLEM

Some Westland cable TV subscribers - upset that they pay more money and receive fewer channels than some communities - will have an opportunity this week to lodge their complaints.

Local cable commissioners will hear comments about cable service during a public hearing scheduled for 6 p.m. Thursday at the second floor of Westland City Hall, on Ford Road just west of Central City Parkway.

The hearing comes in the wake of complaints by some citizens and city leaders who say that Westland cable subscribers are treated unfairly by Continental Cablevision.

Subscriber John Pantalone told the Westland City Council during a recent meeting that he believes Westland cable rates are "terribly out of line" compared to other communities that receive more services for less money.

Earlier this year, a rate analysis prepared by Westland Cable Commission member David Moranty showed that Westland residents paid $24.25 for basic cable and satellite services totaling 64 channels.

By comparison, Canton Township subscribers paid $21.59 for 78 channels.

Canton also receives some channels, such as The Disney Channel, that Westland subscribers don't receive.

Westland municipal cable director Diane Abbott noted that about 70 percent of the city's 23,000 households subscribe to cable TV - a level of participation that she termed "excellent."

Cable commission chairman Ed Turner said the percentage of subscribers is "about the best in Michigan, yet Continental seems to be treating us like second-class citizens."

Turner noted that numerous complaints have been received about Continental's service.

Earlier this year, Bill Black, Continental's regional corporate affairs director, said the company is in the process of improving its system in Westland.

Continental has made an investment in Westland by installing a big satellite dish and other equipment at a company location on Executive Drive, Abbott said. The "head end" as it is called, will eventually serve about 20 communities, she said.

By mid-1997, Abbott said, Westland cable subscribers should have several channels added at no extra cost, namely ESPN II, The History Channel, Home and Garden and The Golf Channel, among others.

Moreover, Westland subscribers should receive better reception and experience fewer outages, she said.

Thursday's hearing comes as city officials and Continental gear up for contract talks. The city's current agreement with the company

Needy families get help

The Westland-Wayne Salvation Army is planning its campaign to help area needy families at the holidays.

Capt. Mark Welsh told the Observer last week of his plans for the group's fund-raising efforts.

The army's goal this winter is $100,000, or 10 percent higher than last year's goal of $90,000. Because of fewer locations, the group fell $4,000 short of its goal.

Welsh said his organization hopes to provide help this winter to 3,000 people, also 10 percent more than last year.

He said the Salvation Army is planning to have from 12 to 15 locations for its familiar red kettle volunteers.

Local businesses, churches, community groups and schools can help in many ways, he added.

Specifically, businesses can provide a merry Christmas to needy families by starting an employee matching gift program to encourage Salvation Army contributions; sponsor a food or toy drive; adopt-a-ke-

LightFest brightens holiday skies

Wayne County parks officials may want to consider putting new deer crossing signs on Hines Drive.

It's not that Hines Park is experiencing an influx of these animals. But motorists can expect to see one light up the sky, above their cars, near Middlebelt Road.

That's just one of the new holiday displays offered at the fourth annual Wayne County LightFest, a group of exhibits all aglow for the yuletide season.

The displays are set up throughout Hines Park and scheduled to light up evening hours 7-10 p.m. Nov. 21 through Jan. 1. The display will be closed Christmas Day.

County Executive Edward McNamara, LightFest sponsors and county commissioners will pull the switch at 7 p.m. Nov. 21 to kick off the light show at the LightFest entrance. Fireworks will fill the sky on opening night.

People who want to view the display will enter Hines Drive at Merriman Road in Westland 2 1/2 miles south of I-96 and proceed eastbound, one way, exiting at Warren Road east of Telegraph in Dearborn Heights.

Motorists will be asked for a $5 per vehicle donation.

Westbound Hines will be closed during the display hours.

Parks officials boast that the LightFest is the Midwest's longest drive-through holiday light show. More than 35 displays with 750,000 lights will be powered by more than 400,000 watts of electricity.

And as it does every year, the display has added some variety with new exhibits and twists for the 70,000 cars expected to drive through the display area.

A poinsettia ribbon arch display will be shown near the Merriman Road bridge, lit by 20,000 watts of electricity.

Motorists will be able to drive right through the lights of the poinsettia and under the deer leaping over the road.

expires in February 1999, and some Continental critics have already indicated that they would prefer a different company.

The Federal Communications Commission requires that a public hearing be held as part of the renewal process, Abbott said.

Turner said, "We're not going to solve any problems at the hearing. We're just going to listen to the complaints."

Some Westland residents have voiced hope that Americast, which has already moved into some communities, will target Westland.

For now, Americast (Ameritech) and Continental are embroiled in a federal-level dispute about whether Continental should continue to have exclusive rights to HBO, Turner said.

Other cable companies have to go through Continental to provide HBO, he said.

On the local level, city officials have long complained about the way Continental does business in Westland, including the setting of subscription rates.

Under the city's franchise agreement with Continental, the city receives 5 percent of gross revenues in Westland. That amounts to $500,000-plus a year, Abbott said.

However, the city has little control over Continental, Turner said.

"Continental has a social contract with the FCC (Federal Communications Commission) that virtually supersedes our franchise agreement," he said.

Westland city officials have initiated an audit to determine whether the city is receiving its fair share of franchise fees, Abbott said.

City Attorney Angelo Plakas noted recently that the city has had some preliminary discussions with Americast. He noted during a council meeting that "sometimes competition has a way of resolving" problems.

However, Abbott and Assistant City Attorney Keith Madden said Thursday that Americast for now has pulled back from the talks, largely because of the dispute with Continental about HBO.

In the end, will Westland dump Continental? Turner said such a move isn't likely.

"I'd say we'll keep Continental because they've got so much money invested in the city," he said.

Dec. 9 trial date set in case involving center

BY DARRELL CLEM

A Detroit man charged with sexually molesting a Westland respite center resident is scheduled to stand trial on Dec. 9, a Wayne County Circuit Court clerk said Friday.

David McGee, 45, faces trial on two counts of first-degree criminal sexual conduct for allegations that he molested a mentally impaired woman at the Rose Kennedy Respite Center.

The center is located behind Wayne-Westland school administration offices on Marquette, east of Newburgh.

McGee could face a maximum sentence of life in prison if convicted as charged.

He had been a temporary care worker at the respite center when he was accused of molesting the 28-year-old woman on Feb. 20, Westland police Sgt. Michael Terry has said.

The respite center provides 24-hour care for people with developmental disabilities to help families and guardians in times of stress, emergency or vacation, center spokesman Leon Berger has said.

McGee has been released from Wayne County jail as he awaits trial.

McGee had been hired through an outside agency on a temporary basis when allegations emerged that he molested the mentally impaired woman.

Berger called it "the first incident of this kind" at the respite center.

Terry has said that the center has an otherwise impeccable history and that "there was no wrongdoing by any of the (full-time) staff."

McGee was ordered to stand trial in March after the victim and two respite center employees testified against him during a preliminary hearing in Westland 18th District Court.

The allegations emerged after the molested woman was found alone in a room where respite center employees had seen a suspect entering and leaving, Terry has said.

McGee had originally been scheduled to stand trial on Nov. 12, a court spokeswoman said in July.

However, another spokeswoman said Friday that a new trial date has been scheduled for Dec. 9.

tle this month and next, and adopt families for the holidays.

Schools hold talent shows or carnivals with the proceeds donated to the Salvation Army's preventive homeless program.

In addition, they can challenge other schools to in volunteer bell-ringing and hold a penny drive to feed the hungry in the community.

Churches and their members can also provide volunteers to ring bells at the red kettles, to be stationed at major commercial sites; take up an Advent offering for the Salvation Army, or adopt-a-family.

Community organizations are encouraged to adopt-a-kettle, adopt families or volunteer to man the red kettles during the next six weeks.

Welsh said the Westland Rotary Club has agreed to sponsor a penny drive with the goal of raising $5,000 to buy children's gifts.

Textron Co., on Newburgh near Palmer, will hold a food drive, he added.

Westland Bowl, on Wayne Road north of Ford, will hold a bowl-a-thon to raise funds.

The Salvation Army and Westland Center have formed a holiday partnership, the captain said.

Welsh said the holiday kickoff will be Friday, Nov. 29, the day after Thanksgiving.

Club seeks animal volunteers

The Pet-A-Pet Club is looking for residents who have a pet that can help improve the quality of life for nursing home residents, hospital patients, or children.

Many of the nursing home residents have short attention spans or do not always respond to any other stimuli except animals. Even those most difficult to motivate are responsive to the dogs and cats.

"We are now going to a school with autistic children and they are saying words such as 'doggy' or 'kitty,'" said Klosterhus.

Anyone interested may call Ruth Klosterhus at 422-8416.

Seniors to talk turkey

The Westland Senior Resources Department (the Friendship Center) is inviting all Westland senior residents to an annual Thanksgiving celebration on Friday from noon to 4 p.m.

Dinner will include turkey, stuffing and all the trimmings. The dinner also will celebrate birthdays and will include a live band, dancing, prizes and more.

The cost is $6 for members and $9 for non-members (Westland residents only). Tickets can be bought at the Friendship Center, 1119 N. Newburgh.

For information, seniors may call the Friendship Center at 722-7632. Organizers are asking that participants bring a piece of fresh fruit for baskets that will be prepared for shut-in seniors.

Teens vie for scholarships

BY LEONARD POGER
EDITOR

The Westland Junior Miss scholarship program will be held Saturday with a special twist to mark its 30th anniversary.

Three former Junior Misses will return as judges with another past crown winner to be master of ceremonies for the event, open to the public.

It will start at 6:30 p.m. Saturday in the Wayne Memorial High School Stockmeyer Auditorium, on Glenwood at Fourth.

"Celebrating 30 years of Excellence" is the theme of the annual program, being chaired for the second straight year by Pat and Dennis Hermatz.

Pat Hermatz said the upcoming program will have more than $7,000 of college scholarships awarded to contestants.

Over the 30-year history of the program, more than $90,000 in scholarships has been awarded.

"We are proud that we have raised more than $11,000 in the past two years," she added. Of the 21 contestants in Saturday's program, 18 are John Glenn High School students while three are from Wayne Memorial High.

The contestants are Maryn Emmert, Heather Bersano, Tracy Mikszewski, Angela Hoops, Carrie Dole, Nicole Jervis, Brooke Formolo, Darcy Bemis, Lisa Mendenhall, Melandine Caine, Melissa Easley, Nicole Watkins, Marjorie Brooks, Shari Jedinak, Kathy Gates, Nicole Jacks, Erika Champagne, Katie Boogren, Andrea Thomas, Shirley Grim and Tina Haidy.

Among the judges will be Marie Neu Lambert, Natalie Kozorosky Reilly and Terri Clark, former Wayne-Westland program winners who went on to win the state titles and additional scholarship monies.

Master of ceremonies will be Pam Curtis, the local scholarship winner in 1975 who also won a state title and was third runner-up in the national competition.

At the start of the program in 1968, the Westland Jaycees sponsored and administered the program.

In later years, the effort was taken over by private, non-profit Wayne-Westland Junior Miss Inc., made up of former Jaycees and other community leaders.

The judges' interviews of the 21 contestants took place Sunday, Nov. 17, at the Westland Friendship Center, where the young women have been meeting weekly since mid-September.

The judges' interviews represent 25 percent of the total. Other factors are creative/performance arts, 25 percent; scholastic achievement, 20 percent; and fitness and presence and composure, 15 percent each.

Tickets for the program are available from the contestants, the Hermatz' landscaping business in Wayne and at the door.

Redford man won't face trial in traffic death of local woman

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A Redford Township man won't have to stand trial for negligent homicide in the June 17 death of a 67-year-old Westland woman who was hit while walking across Inkster Road.

William Stanley Gniewek, 75, has been allowed to plead no contest to a civil infraction of careless driving, Westland police Officer James Dexter said.

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Michael Callahan has suspended sentence for Gniewek, ending an ordeal that Gniewek's family members had considered unfair from the beginning.

Family members had contended that Gniewek shouldn't have been charged because Anna Platukas, the woman he hit, walked in front of his car on Inkster Road between Warren and Ann Arbor Trail.

Platukas died on her 67th birthday. Gniewek's defense attorney had filed a motion in Wayne County Circuit Court asking that the negligent homicide charge be dismissed, Dexter said.

Callahan denied the motion, Dexter said, but Platukas' family subsequently agreed that Wayne County prosecutors should have discretion in deciding whether to proceed with the case.

"Gniewek was allowed to plead no contest to careless driving, which is a civil infraction," he said. "Sentence has been suspended, and that's the end of the case."

Platukas was hit while crossing Inkster Road on her way to a mobile home park.

Westland police determined that Gniewek was driving southbound at less than the posted 40 mph speed limit and that he hadn't been drinking alcohol.

At issue, however, was whether he saw Platukas and had time to stop his car before hitting her.

The woman died at Garden City Hospital about eight hours after she was hit.

At the time of the accident, witnesses stated that Platukas walked in front of Gniewek's vehicle on the four-lane road.

One witness stated that Platukas walked into the southbound curb lane, where she was hit, after another motorist in the inside southbound lane stopped to let her cross from the center line.

Gniewek's family members contended that the defendant didn't see the woman because of the other car, rainy weather conditions and the woman's small stature. She was less than 5 feet tall.

Had Gniewek been tried and convicted of negligent homicide, he could have faced a maximum two-year term and a $2,000 fine.

Motorist who killed runner seeks to withdraw murder plea

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A Garden City man, imprisoned for second-degree murder for driving drunk and killing a Westland jogger, is awaiting a decision on whether he can withdraw his guilty plea.

Paul Raymond Sadler, a 43-year-old father of two, is hoping that the Michigan Court of Appeals will allow him to withdraw his guilty plea to murder.

"He is encouraged by the fact that the court of appeals has agreed to hear the case," defense attorney Mark Kriger said Friday.

Kriger has filed his legal briefs with the court, and he is awaiting a court date for Sadler's hearing. He said he hopes the hearing will come within a year.

Kriger contends that Sadler shouldn't have been charged with murder because he didn't mean to kill 24-year-old jogger

Sadler's blood alcohol level was .21 percent, more than twice the legal limit.

Caryn Casaz, struck down in Hines Park as she trained for a marathon.

Mary Casaz, the victim's mother, has said the family has had a "difficult" time accepting the appeals court decision to hear Sadler's request.

In a Feb. 23 sentence handed down in Wayne County Circuit Court, Sadler is serving 10 to 20 years in prison for second-degree murder. Witnesses said he swerved off of Hines Drive and hit Casaz before fleeing the scene.

Kriger has said that Sadler "did not have the required intent for murder."

Kriger isn't challenging two other guilty pleas by Sadler, who also is serving five to 15 years for driving drunk/ causing a death and two to five years for leaving the scene.

During an in-jail interview before he was sentenced, Sadler told the Observer that he lapsed into unconsciousness while driving in Hines Park and that he didn't immediately realize he had hit anyone.

A Livonia man who saw Sadler hit Casaz trailed the suspect to his Garden City home and reported the address to authorities.

Sadler's blood alcohol level was .21 percent, more than twice the legal limit, after he was arrested at his house.

Authorities also said Sadler had cocaine in his bloodstream, although Sadler denied using the drug on the day that he hit Casaz.

Frost students will explore wonders of the workplace

BY MARIE CHESTNEY
STAFF WRITER

Just how is math used in business? Why should I care about China, half a world away? What goes on in auto factories?

Come January, Frost Middle School students won't have to wonder what the answers are, they'll get first-hand knowledge from pros in the business world who deal with these questions every day in their job.

Both seventh- and eighth-graders will soon participate in school-to-work partnerships with such local businesses as Sears-Livonia and Chrysler Corp.

The partnerships are funded by one-time-only mini-grants from Wayne County's School-to-Work Partnership.

The district serves the northern section of Westland, with Frost serving local students.

Led by counselor Janet Good, Frost teachers applied for four grants, and received about $4,500 for each of the four projects they suggested.

This is a big project involving multiple companies and departments at Frost, probably one of the most comprehensive collaborations for one school ever in the state," said Donna McDowell, partnership coordinator for Livonia Public Schools.

"Momentum is growing for collaborations between education and the business community."

Such collaborations benefit both groups. Students see how what they learn in school is applied to the workplace. And businesses get a pool of workers better prepared for the workplace.

The partnerships will take place next year in four areas. Frost seventh-graders will participate in science and social studies projects. Eighth-graders will participate in two math projects and a manufacturing project.

On Jan. 21-22, about 400 seventh-grade science students will hear workplace safety and lab testing tips from employees of BASF Corporation.

Part of the project also involves students using the scientific method to analyze the marketability of products for companies. Science teacher Mary Haines is working with BASF employee Lisa Groves to put the workshop together.

Seventh-grade social studies students will tackle the question about China. Through guest speakers, the 146 students will discover that China is a vast potential market. They'll learn about Chinese customs and culture. They'll visit companies that export to the Asian country. They'll create products that they believe they could sell in China.

And, lastly, they'll present those products to a panel of business people, and learn from their feedback. Teacher Kathy Guntzwiller is organizing this project.

Eighth-graders taking both general math and more advanced algebra classes will tackle the math question.

Two hundred students taking general math will work with Little Caesars and Sears Roebuck and Co.-Livonia to learn how basic math skills are used in both businesses. Coordinating this project are teachers Lee Houck, Anne Kwilos, and Jennifer Fraser.

The 187 students taking algebra classes will get the same insider's view from visits to two companies, Spring Engineering & Manufacturing Corp. and Gel Inc.

For the students, the project involves both statistics and problem solving as well as the manufacturing applications of higher math. Teachers Chris Berry and Angie Valdick are organizing this project.

The 70 eighth-graders in the materials and processes class will construct a wind tunnel to test an aerodynamic vehicle.

They'll also visit Chrysler Corp., to see how that company uses state-of-the-art auto technology. At Frost, students will construct a wind tunnel to demonstrate their knowledge of airflow and air pressure. Teacher Bill Petrer is organizing this project.

School Superintendent Ken Watson called school-to-work programs such as the new one at Frost a boon to both students and employers alike.

"It's a connection to the workplace, where all students wind up," Watson said.

"It makes the transition easier, from student to employee."

Lieutenant named to lead DEQ's investigations section

The Department of Environmental Quality has tapped an experienced law enforcement professional to lead its Criminal Investigations Section.

Lt. Milton Scales II of East Lansing has been named chief of the 17-member section by DEQ director Russell Harding. He has served as acting chief since February.

"Our criminal investigations section has many accomplishments to its credit," Harding said. "Chief Scales' emphasis on teamwork, innovation and professionalism will enhance those successes. Under his guidance, the DEQ's well-trained and highly motivated enforcement arm will be an important force in protecting Michigan's natural resources."

"Milton is dedicated to the protection of Michigan's environment and families. His record of public service and standing within the law enforcement community ensure his success in this role."

A Detroit native, Scales began his career in 1977 as a Detroit police officer. He earned a chief's citation for alertness and quick action for disarming a suspect during a robbery, and a commendation for the immediate arrest of a burglar.

Scales joined the state of Michigan in 1980 as a conservation officer in Jackson County. He was later promoted to sergeant in the Department of Natural Resources' Environmental Investigations Section, working in the Lansing, Saginaw and Shiawassee County areas. In May 1995, Scales was appointed supervisor of the Southern Michigan Unit.

Scales led investigations in Michigan's first "polluters pay" incarcerations, and decertification of Michigan Underground Storage Tank Financial Assurance Act contractors. Scales also was appointed facilitator of the Environmental Protection Agency's Common Sense Initiative air permit work group, a diverse group of industry, union, governmental and environmental groups which he helped bring to consensus.

The DEQ's criminal investigations section has launched 81 new cases, conducts scrap tire sweeps in Detroit, directs enforcement actions to protect Michigan against illegal waste importation, aggressively polices urban and rural areas, and is building partnerships with communities.

Ameritech opens 32 payment locations

Ameritech now has 32 new payment locations in metro Detroit for customers who pay their bills in person. The new locations are in areas where Ameritech receives most of its customer payments via its payment agents.

"The new locations allow us to increase our presence in high volume areas," said Jeff Swindler, manager of strategy and planning at Ameritech Consumer Services. "This will allow us to better accommodate customers who like to make their payments in person."

Over the last year, Ameritech has increased the number of payment locations in the Detroit area from 130 to 422. The payment locations include retailers, banks and savings and loans.

New area locations for Ameritech payment include:

• Meijer, 45001 Ford Road,

Canton Township
• Andrews Drugs, 29436 Ford Road, Garden City
• Redford Food Center, 24250 Five Mile Road, Redford Township

• Ameritel Inc.-AmCom, 5730 S. Middlebelt Road, Westland
Ameritech also is notifying customers that Farmer Jack locations will no longer act as payment agents for Ameritech beginning Dec. 1.

The Farmer Jack locations are being replaced by the 32 new agents Ameritech announced today and about 20 additional agents Ameritech will bring on board by Dec. 1.

"We will end up expanding the number of payment agents in the city of Detroit from 165 to 182, so that we can accommodate our highest-volume areas. We'll still have 240 payment locations in the suburbs," said Swindler. "We'll continue to add payment agents in order to bring locations within reach of more of those customers who choose to pay in person."

Ameritech is telling customers about the changes in payment locations via bill inserts, ads in community newspapers and signage provided to new locations.

Ameritech's payment agents offer convenient locations, longer hours, faster processing of payments and more convenient parking, making it easier for customers who pay in person.

In addition to paying phone bills in person or mailing their payments, Ameritech customers can participate in the company's direct payment debit program in which their monthly phone bills are automatically debited from their checking account.

Michigan customers interested in signing up for Ameritech's Automatic Bill Payment Plan can call Ameritech at 221-4455 (toll free in any Michigan area code).

Ameritech serves millions of customers in 50 states and more than 40 countries. Ameritech provides a full range of communications services, including local and long distance telephone, cellular, paging, security monitoring, cable TV, electronic commerce, on-line services and more.

Madonna learning center enrolling for winter term

Madonna University's Learning Center is accepting applications for its winter term, which begins in January. Applications should be completed as soon as possible to allow time for an assessment of each student.

The tutorial sessions are designed for first through 12th grade students who are experiencing difficulty with reading and related skills. Individual or group sessions, consisting of two students, are available.

Classes run from Jan. 20 through April 17. Parents may choose the day and time that best fits their needs: Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday from either 4 to 5 p.m. or 5 to 6 p.m.; or Thursday from either 3:55 to 5 p.m. or 4:55 to 6 p.m. The extra five minutes added to Thursday classes are to make up for Holy Thursday when there will be no class.

Prior to admission, each student will be informally assessed, and a tailored remedial plan will be designed. Instruction will include strategies for reading, process writing and study skills, and emphasis will be placed on text comprehension.

Fees include $20 for registration, $20 for materials and $85 for an informal assessment (students continuing the program do not need an assessment). Tuition for group sessions is $168 and for individual sessions, tuition is $204.

Madonna University's Learning Center has assisted thousands of children, from public and private schools.

For more information, contact the Learning Center at 432-5586.

Lights from page A1

Holiday lights: A variety of displays will greet visitors to the annual Wayne County LightFest. Kathy Lewand, executive assistant for resource development for Wayne County Parks, says the lights are sure to bring some "oohs" and "aahs" inside vehicles.

looking forward to seeing it," said Kathy Lewand, executive assistant for resource development for Wayne County Parks. "It should be interesting and should be cool."

Another display promises to bring some "oohs" and "aahs" inside vehicles.

"This year we have a toy land at the North Pole, which is a combination of a couple of different displays," Lewand said. "There are some neat toys and it's really cute."

"It's the first time we've had that theme."

That display is located at Perin Field, just west of Inkster Road.

The event makes about $50,000 annually for the county parks, but that's not the purpose of the display.

"We don't do this as a money-maker," Lewand said. "We do it as a benefit for the public."

The $5 donation helps support parks maintenance, Lewand said. That support includes picnic tables, playscapes, picnic areas and baseball diamonds.

Lewand expects large crowds again. "It's becoming a family tradition," Lewand said. "Just like the Thanksgiving parade and fireworks downtown."

Food concessions, gift items and Photos with Santa are available at "Santa's Shelter" at the Warrendale picnic area at the exit. Santa won't arrive until Nov. 28. Photos with Santa will be $5.

As a special treat for AAA members this year, Michigan Living will feature a $1 off coupon good any night at the LightFest. AAA Michigan's Antique Auto Parade display features a waving Santa reminding drivers to play it safe during the holidays.

Other displays and sponsors include: poinsettia ribbon arch, NBD Bank; poinsettia wreath, Blue Care Network of Southeast Michigan; American flag, Ameritech; nativity scene, Melody Foods and Ring Screw Works; leaping reindeer, Friends of Wayne County Parks; Parkway express train, NTH Consultants Ltd.; elves' village, Torre & Bruglio; menorah scene, Arbor Drugs and The Farman Group; gingerbread village, Detroit Edison; Santa's Golf Cart, Friends of Wayne County Parks; and Kwanzaa scene, Lewis, White & Clay, Avis Ford, Lewis & Thompson Agency, First Independence Bank, and Coopers & Lybrand.

DRYING TIMES in the 90s

by Herbert M. Gardner, D.D.S. & Martha P. Zinderman, R.N., D.D.S.

DRYING TIMES FOR MED USERS

It has been found that certain medications may not directly lead to tooth decay, but they can put users at higher risk for enamel erosion which can pave the way for cavities. That was the finding of two English doctors who noticed a drug/cavity link when two patients with histories of good dental hygiene developed new cavities within a year or two of taking prescription antidepressants. These medications often have "dry mouth" as side effects. As a consequence of being deprived of the saliva's natural cavity-fighting ability, tooth enamel becomes more vulnerable to cavities. Other (non)prescription medications associated with dry mouth include antihistamines, antidepressants, and non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs (NSAIDs).

If you are looking for a family dentist who understands the needs of everyone in your family as individuals and as patients, we hope you will consider us. At LIVONIA VILLAGE DENTAL ASSOCIATES, we believe in preventive care for the whole family. Teeth are meant to last a lifetime. They will take care of you, if you take care of them. We're located at 19171 Merriman Road, where we emphasize preventive, functional and cosmetic dental care. Let us help you keep that smile! Please call 478-2110 to schedule an appointment. ### Faux fur fuels the coat trade

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

Fake fur outerwear is fast becoming this year's fashion best seller. Already on its second order of faux fur jackets and coats, Jacobson's at Laurel Park Place in Livonia is solving the wonderful retail "problem" of keeping the items on the racks.

"Last year was the first big season for faux fur. Our biggest request is for the solid black and brown. They're calling brown, a key fashion color, the new black this season," said department manager Julia Brim.

From parkas to full length dress coats, today's fake furs make a woman look stylish even when topping a pair of jeans. While St. John makes a black 3/4 length swing coat priced at $1,050, most of the fake furs at Jacobson's cost between $200 to $300. Ultra Fur's full-length faux beaver coat at $275 is affordable chic. "I think they're so moderately priced, that's why they sell so well. A faux fur does not cost more than a regular winter coat," said Jacobson's spokesperson Peggy Tobe.

Warmth is one of the reasons Linda Mehnert of Plymouth was considering her second purchase of a fake fur at Jacobson's last week. She bought her first five years ago and found the deep pile wards off cold winter winds.

"A lot of people don't want to buy real fur. With the technology now, they look so great," Mehnert said.

In the last few years, manufacturers have become more responsive to consumer requests for fabulous-looking fake furs. They have developed new fabrics and weaving techniques allowing faux furs to be softer and lighter in weight. "Push as a teddy bear" is how Jacobson's pearl-colored stroller ($480) looks and feels when wrapped around the body. Besides being fun, a green faux mink jacket by Tissavel ($355) resembles the real article except for the color.

"They're so fashionable and easy to care for," said sales associate Hana Yono. "And it makes a fabulous gift for Christmas - a husband to his wife, a mother to a daughter, a working woman to herself."

Today's sporty designs are one reason the younger set chooses fake furs. Animal print parkas and reversible microfiber jackets offer versatility as well as practicality. On the racks at Loehmann's in Farmington Hills, customers will find two-button leopard bolero jackets by Maria Dionisiou for Olympia ($99), shiny fake seal skin parkas ($79) in black or brown, and reversible black acrylic fur/nylon and polyester strollers ($169).

"These coats sell well because animal prints are so hot right now. And many of these coats are reversible as well," said associate manager Jane Corcoran.

At Hudson's Westland, a black parka fake fur with a hood lined in cheetah by Style VI ($225) is a glamorous way to add warmth to a Michigan winter day. In February when temperatures drop to 20 below with the wind chill, you'll be glad this number is yours.

The Cover-Up in West Bloomfield offers a four-button chocolate brown or black jacket, $375 as well as a denim jacket with leopard collar, $310, by Charta.

The real thing: Natural blackgama ranch mink with lynx trim $15,000 at Bricker Tunis.

Deck the malls with memories

Holiday shopping season is here! Santa arrivals this week mark the beginning of all the magic malls mix up for customers. This year many centers are rolling out new displays for kids of all ages.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
EDITOR

It's time to deck the halls of the shopping centers as Santa Claus prepares to touch down at most malls this weekend.

The magic of miniature Christmas villages is captured at the Oakland Mall in Troy with a Department 56 replica of the North Pole set up throughout the center. Santa is surrounded by a 26-foot Lookout Tower, complete with snowmen, elves, snow-laden evergreens. Special display cases around the mall feature exhibits of Department 56 miniature villages.

Shelley Darmetko, Oakland Mall's marketing director, said the idea behind the holiday decor is to "take adults back to the memories of the villages they played with as children, and create memories for their children."

"The mall's holiday festivities are a gift to our customers to show our appreciation for their business and also make the holiday shopping experience as pleasant as possible," she said.

Oakland Mall also plans a holiday story hour for children with pennies for admission to benefit Children's Hospital of Michigan, a drawing for a 5-day stay in a real Snow Village, Stowe, Vermont; and a Gingerbread House Auction Dec. 8-21 to benefit the Ronald McDonald House.

Here's a peek at the holiday plans at other malls:

Elsa Klensch paints rosy picture of spring

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
EDITOR

Fresh from the runways of Paris with the first report on spring '97, CNN's style editor Elsa Klensch told an audience at Nordstrom that

"designers have reached a turning point in fashion."

Speaking at a breakfast/fashion show on the store's third level last Saturday, Klensch said that the newest materials and designs provide women with clothing choices that "allow you to see all the possibilities in yourself."

"These designs will reveal the other, more womanly, side of you," she insisted. "Lots of choices in colors and prints. Lots of different skirt lengths to offer options for women with different lifestyles."

Klensch christened spring designs "edgy" and predicted asymmetrical necklines and hemlines would be the rage - "it's a look that's modern, new."

She said the line between day and evening wear is erased for spring, "Daytime and After Five clothes are one and the same for a full expression of this concept."

Klensch said she started out in journalism wanting to "cover wars and hard news" but found it hard for a woman to break into the profession. "So I gradually drifted into feature reporting."

Marriage to an American brought her to New York and by chance she ended up with a job at Women's Wear Daily.

"I've discovered that fashion is a very big industry," she said. "It's not fluff. It's full of very creative, hard-working people, very dedicated to their profession."

Klensch named Bill Blass, Sonia Rykiel and Donna Karan as the fashion folk she most admires. She concluded that department stores need not worry about losing customers to home shopping shows on television.

"I can't see buying clothes from a TV screen," she insisted. "The color reproduction is a long way from accurate and a person really needs to feel the fabric and try the garment on before buying."

Her spring forecast:

- Brown continues as the new black; other strong colors include pastels, earthtones, navy, Chinese lacquer red

- Prints make a big comeback
- The pant suit is dominant, but with smaller shoulders and narrow slacks for a young, feminine look

- Knits are important; the cardigan replaces the jacket
- Shoes include wedges, platforms, high heels; the square toe, chunk heels will still be around for a young look

- Silhouettes remain long and lean; slim pants, longer jackets
- Clothes will hug the body, fashion is fitted

Katharine Keeble of Bloomfield Hills and Alexis Frazier of Milford agreed that Klensch was worth the rush to the mall on a Saturday morning. But their strongest praise was saved for the fashion show that followed.

"The clothing was so colorful, such fresh designs. The opera gowns were stunning," Frazier opined. "Nordstrom has such wonderful fashions."

Keeble added, "I just had to see the show, I worship at the shrine of Nordstrom."

Sixty years later, Acqua di Parma is still being produced in limited amounts and will be newly available at all Neiman Marcus stores, including Somerset Collection in Troy. It still comes packaged in the same distinctive Parma yellow cylinder.

Road repair

Commissioners OK contract for Cherry Hill resurfacing

Wayne County commissioners provided the final link recently for the county and local communities to receive federal funds for the resurfacing of Cherry Hill Road.

Commissioners approved a Michigan Department of Transportation contract between Wayne County and the cities of Garden City, Inkster and Westland for $1.4 million.

Cherry Hill will be resurfaced next year from Inkster to west of Merriman Road.

The project will cost $1.2 million in federal funds, Wayne County will finance $148,984, Garden City, $58,635; Inkster, $39,289; and Westland, $19,343. These communities already have approved their shares of that project.

The contract provides for the construction of pavement widenings for right-turn lanes at the Cherry Hill and Merriman intersection and any needed revisions to drains.

"The most important aspect of this project will be a left-turn signal at Cherry Hill and Merriman," said Eric Candela, legislative aide to County Commissioner Kay Beard, D-Westland. "The widening for right-turn lanes will help traffic continue on its way at the corner."

Some preliminary work may be completed this year, but the actual construction probably won't begin until spring or summer, Candela said.

CWW narrows search for new director

The chairman of the Conference of Western Wayne has received about 65 applications for CWW's vacant executive director's position.

That field recently was narrowed to about 12 people by a CWW committee.

Daniel Gilmartin resigned in October to accept a new job as a lobbyist with the Michigan Municipal League. Assistant CWW director Marcia Bianconi has acted as an interim director until a new one is chosen by the CWW.

The director will be responsible for legislative updates, communicating the CWW's position on legislative matters to city, county, state and federal officials and work for the CWW board.

CWW chairman Tom Yack said a questionnaire was to be sent to those finalists. Yack expects interviews to follow soon.

"Our intent is to screen down to four, then interview," Yack told the CWW.

Yack said Friday he hopes to return to the CWW board in December with a recommendation. Yack, who is also Canton Township supervisor, Northville supervisor Chris Johnson and Westland Mayor Bob Thomas serve on the committee.

"I can't say when we'll come back (to the CWW members) with a recommendation," Yack said.

Foster families needed locally

Open your heart and home and become a foster parent.

That's the message from Joyce Newsom, a licensing worker with Methodist Children's Home Society, Children's Village, 26645 Six Mile Road, in Detroit.

The Society is again campaigning to recruit foster families for children aged up to 14.

For more information, contact Newsom at (313) 531-4155.

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

Shortcuts make up for lost time while preparing dinner

Some time ago, when I was younger and had much more hair, I had endless time to cook, and endless time to shop for ingredients. Anyone delivering a package to my house on the afternoon of a dinner party would have found me in the kitchen dicing or slicing, trussing a chicken, clarifying butter or whipping egg whites in a copper bowl. Those days are long gone.

There is nothing that puts a crimp in your cooking style than the addition of a family. It's hard to whip egg whites when at any moment your kid(s) will wake from a nap, the school will call and say they just threw up after recess, or you have to make 29 (why not an even 12, 24 or 36?) cupcakes for the next days bake sale. It's also not easy to stuff a chicken breast when your $80 French knife has just been used to cut 2-inch Styrofoam or corrugated cardboard into the shape of a nucleus. Have you ever tried to concentrate on a recipe while your kids call out a thousand times from the dining room table "dad, what does intrigue mean?" Once you have kids, speed and convenience is definitely the name of the game.

Roast chicken

Take for example roast chicken, which is almost everyone's favorite dish. In the old days I used to slip fresh snipped herbs under the skin and baste the chicken constantly. Now I don't even tie up my bird (the kids used the string to make Halloween spider webs). If I can find an onion that hasn't sprouted six inches of green under the grocery bags under the kitchen sink, into the chicken it goes. I rub the chicken generously with bottled lemon juice and shake on some cheap Italian seasoning that I picked up at the dollar store. My kids will be studying English 101 at community college before I'll have the time to make a wonderful mixture of chestnuts and diced prunes again, I suspect.

Butter flavored with microscopically minced garlic is also great if you have the time. Now when I need garlic butter to spread on Wonder Bread and pop under the broiler, I open a jar of chopped garlic and mix in a few tablespoons of margarine.

Easy potatoes

Scalloped potatoes go wonderfully with roast chicken. Scalloped potatoes were a signature dish, made with a real roux, hand shredded cheddar cheese and a fresh bread crumb crispy top. I have since learned a trick from a now-unrecalled magazine article and I can make them in nothing flat. I slice up about 2 pounds of potatoes (skin on, of course) and then plunge them into cold water. Simply bring 2 cups of milk to a boil in a large saucepan (skim or low-fat will suffice) pat the potatoes dry, and boil them in the milk until barely tender. Add salt to taste and then tip the entire mixture (the sludgy milk and half cooked potatoes) into a buttered casserole dish. Scatter a handful of bread crumbs on top (the more seasoned the better) and bake the potatoes in a 400 degree F. oven for 20 minutes or until bubbly. You will have to soak and scrub the saucepan—that's boiling milk for you—but it's worth it!

For people who are constantly on the lookout for kitchen help, I highly recommend children for such menial jobs as cutting up carrots, onions and peppers. These vegetables, when scrubbed, peeled, cut into big cubes (even a 7-year-old can do that!) and then tossed into a pan and drizzle with olive oil can roast next to the chicken for about 45 minutes to an hour.

Even picky eaters love roasted carrots as they really cook up sweet and tender.

Yes, even busy cooks can make the time to have dessert. After the chicken and vegetables roast, brownies always make for the ideal dessert. I used to serve them with poached pears, sugar glazed strawberries or real whipped cream. Some people like their brownies on the cakey side and some feel they should be more like fudge. My opinion is that they should be happy I made them.

A dinner of roast chicken, roasted vegetables, scalloped potatoes and brownies is a festive meal. In certain lights, it even could be elegant. To make it so, I put aside the Corelle and haul out the Lennox. Everyone thinks I'm wonderful for making such a monumental effort. I sit back, with a smile and say "oh, it was nothing."

Thanksgiving Dinner

Tasty side dish: Chef Louai Sharkas of the Townsend Hotel in Birmingham will be making "French Bread and Sweet Corn Pudding," a Southern-style dish for his family's Thanksgiving buffet.

Chefs bring family favorites to dinner

BY RENE E. SKOGLUND • STAFF WRITER

While the turkey may be the focal point of Thanksgiving dinner, it's the colorful, savory side dishes that make the table sparkle and guests salivate.

I love to make green beans with mushrooms and bacon or baby carrots cooked in chicken broth then bathed in butter, fresh lemon juice and chopped chives. We asked area chefs what they planned to bring to their mom's or sister's house (the usual Thanksgiving destinations), and the replies were surprisingly simple and straight from the heart.

Chef Bill Dembiec of Westland who works at Greenfield Village will make his grandmother's recipe for creamed onions. "Oh, it's really good. It's a semi-sweet dish. The onions are sweet and the cream tames the sweetness. The potato chips add a saltiness. When you bake the dish you have a collaboration of flavors."

The Dembiec clan, seven siblings and an assortment of nieces and nephews, will gather around sister Cherise Lambert's table this year and tell lots of stories. "We tell a lot of 'remember whens.' We grew up with a lot of respect for seniors. There were always stories about past events. They were always brought up at the dinner prayers."

Some of those stories are bound to be about his grandmother, who helped raise Dembiec and taught him and his sisters how to cook. "I remember making the creamed onions with her," said Dembiec.

Although Dembiec has added his own personal touch to the creamed onions, only his grandmother could make the perfect lemon meringue pie, another Thanksgiving favorite. "I really miss that lemon meringue. No one had her touch," said Dembiec.

Chef Louai Sharkas of the Townsend Hotel in Birmingham will be making "French Bread and Sweet Corn Pudding," a Southern-style dish he originally created as an accompaniment to lobster. It became an instant hit at the Townsend and will be part of their Thanksgiving buffet.

"Although it has a slight sweet taste, it's more savory. It's not a dessert," said Sharkas who lives in Southfield. "I think it will be perfect on the Thanksgiving table. It's a nice substitute for dressing."

Sharkas and his mother, Amelda, who share a home, expect a large crowd for this year's Thanksgiving feast, which will include two or three turkeys, a ham and two roast legs of lamb.

"Just about every member of my family will be there. About 35 to 40 people. We never count. There's too many, an army of relatives from every area in the country."

Like most good chefs, Sharkas credits his mother for his love of cooking. "She's a great influence in my taste. My first classes in cooking were when I was four-years-old in her kitchen. Every holiday, I was the only one of the kids who went in the kitchen and helped out."

There's always room for Jell-O, right? Chef Michael Hunter of Botsford Inn in Farmington continues the inn's decades-old tradition of making "Sherry Cherry Jell-O." And he's not been tempted to change the recipe one bit.

"I don't change things that aren't broken. People love it the way it is," he said. "It's a real popular item at Botsford. We have to make three or four pans every week."

While Hunter said he definitely would bring the Jell-O if invited to a Thanksgiving dinner, he would also bring his mother's baked sweet potatoes cooked in cider. "It's very good. She slices the potatoes really thin and bakes them with dried fruit, cider and cinnamon," he said.

Fortunately for people planning to eat out this Thanksgiving, Hunter will be cooking in Botsford's kitchen. Guests will be able to sample the sweet potato dish, which will be part of dinner buffet. Hunter knows it will be a hit. "It's a 10, definitely."

When asked who is the better cook, he or his mother, Hunter said: "She thinks I cook better, but I know she cooks better."

MacRostie dedicated to Carneros wines

BY ELEANOR & RAY HEALD
SPECIAL WRITERS

Steve MacRostie, owner and winemaker at MacRostie Winery in Sonoma, California has a passion for wines from the Carneros appellation. When he launched his winery in 1987 producing only 1,300 cases of Chardonnay, his commitment was to the Carneros region of southern Sonoma and Napa counties because of the area's ideal combination of climate and soil.

MacRostie is convinced that great wines begin in the vineyard. "A winemaker's job is to control what happens in creation of his raw materials," he contended. "It's relatively simple to make a good wine. Just select the best grapes then let the fruit speak for itself in the wine. We learned the importance of a wine's flavors and mouthfeel and strive for a careful balance between fruit and oak without letting either dominate. I take every measure to avoid the astringent effects of grape skins and oak tannins from barrel aging."

The Carneros appellation is blessed with a maritime influence creating persistent morning fog and afternoon breezes during the height of the growing season. This climatic condition affords Carneros more moderate temperatures and a longer growing season than any other north coast California wine region. With a longer growing season, grapes have more "hang time" to mature on the vine developing more flavors and complexity in the wine.

Carneros soils are dense and shallow with moderate fertility restricting development of a vine's root system. The vine gets only the water and nutrients to sustain growth, and retard vigorous foliage development. In this condition, grapes are smaller and have less but more concentrated juice with flavor intensity.

Today, about 6,200 acres of vines are planted in Carneros with chardonnay and pinot noir the most widely planted. MacRostie along with a few other wineries in the region have discovered that Merlot grows well on specific sites. There is definitely a Carneros regional identity for wines from all three grape varieties.

MacRostie now produces about 10,000 cases of chardonnay, pinot noir and merlot which is not keeping up with increasing national demand for his wines, but unlike a few years ago, more cases are available to our market. There are ambitious plans to increase production to 25,000 cases by the year 2000.

"It will be a challenge to find the grapes," MacRostie admits. "I look for operating control of a vineyard before I will buy the grapes. This is my grape quality assurance."

Current MacRostie releases include 1995 Chardonnay, Carneros $18, a blend from six vineyards, the largest percentage coming from the renowned Sangiacomo Vineyards. Fermented in French oak barrels, 27 percent new, the wine was aged in these same barrels for seven months. About 88 percent completed malolactic fermentation. Overall, the wine sports apple, citrus aromas complemented by toasty oak with hints of butterscotch. Broad and texturally palate pleasing, the finish is lengthy with fruit, oak and acid in balance.

There's also a Reserve Chardonnay $27.50 from the 1995 vintage. "Each year, the Reserve is our benchmark Chardonnay," MacRostie said. This wine is highlighted by baked apple, citrus and butterscotch notes. It has exceptional length and creamy texture.

The 1994 MacRostie Pinot Noir, Carneros $18.50 showcases a broad spectrum of red fruits with vanilla and slightly toasty oak accents. On the palate red fruits are in the forefront with a solid middle and well rounded, structured tannins. It's juicy, delicious and immediately appealing. Fruit is sourced from two vineyards with an esoteric clonal mix that MacRostie believes gives him a good number of blending components for the bottling. The wine was aged 10 months in French cooperage, 43 percent of which was new. It was bottled unfined and unfiltered and will undoubtedly throw some sediment in the bottle with extended aging. Because pinot noir needs gentle handling to retain its flavors and nuances, the best pinots are frequently not fined nor filtered before bottling.

Blended with 19 percent cabernet franc, the 1994 MacRostie Merlot, Carneros $22 is highly perfumed with red roses, bright cherry and blackberry. Spicy anise and allspice notes add complexity to ripe, high-toned red fruits. Toasty oak elements from aging 18 months in French oak, 31 percent of which was new, are in harmony with a broad, full, rich fruit palate experience.

"Where merlot tends to have some tobacco and weedy elements, cabernet franc pulls the wine away from those less desirable qualities to elevate the focus of black fruits in the wine," MacRostie noted. "It harmonizes well with soft, merlot-like tasting elements."

Brownies, roast chicken sure to please

See related Taste Buds Column on Taste front.

The best recipe I have for brownies comes from a friend who got it from a magazine article about Katharine Hepburn. It is, apparently, her family recipe. If there is no other reason to admire Katharine Hepburn, this pan of brownies is enough to make you worship her.

KATHARINE HEPBURN'S BROWNIES

Melt one stick of butter and 2 squares of unsweetened chocolate and take the saucepan off the heat.

Stir in 1 cup of sugar, beat in 2 eggs and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Beat well.

Stir in 1/4 cup all purpose flour and 1/4 teaspoon salt. If desired, stir in 1 cup chopped nuts, (but we don't have any as the kids ate them for an after school snack 2 days ago).

Bake the brownies in a lightly buttered and floured 8-inch cake pan at 325 degrees F. for 40 minutes. Makes 1 pan of brownies.

ROASTED ONION — LEMON CHICKEN

- 1 lemon or 1/4 cup bottled lemon juice
- 2 medium onions, peeled and quartered
- 1 (4 pound) chicken, rinsed and dried with giblets removed Preheat the oven to 350 degrees F. Remove the zest from the lemon with a fine grater or zester. Chop fine. If using bottled juice, measure out 1/4 cup juice. Season the cavity of the chicken with salt and pepper. Carefully loosen the skin of the chicken by running your fingers under the skin of the breast and the leg, separating it gently from the meat underneath without tearing it. Rub the lemon zest or the juice under the skin.

Rub remaining juice or zest over the entire outside of the chicken. Insert onion quarters in the cavity. Place the chicken, breast side down, on a rack set above a baking dish and roast for 30 minutes. Turn the chicken breast side up and continue roasting for 30-35 minutes longer or until the thigh juices run clear. Allow to rest 5 minutes at room temperature before carving. Serves 4-6.

If you have kids and they don't go for the roasted vegetables mentioned in the article, every parent has a package of carrots hiding in the fridge. The little sweet ones that go in lunches are best but you can use the big ones too.

HONEY-GARLIC GLAZED CARROTS

- 1 pound carrots, peeled and cut into 1/4 inch thick diagonal slices
- 1 tablespoon minced garlic

(preferably in oil, the jarred type)
2 tablespoons honey

In a large non-stick skillet, toss the carrots and minced garlic in oil over medium high heat until thoroughly mixed. Add 3/4 cup water and bring to a boil. Add the honey and season with salt and pepper. Simmer, stirring occasionally, until all but a thin film of honey glaze is left, about 7-10 minutes. Serves 4.

MOVIES

Holiday rush: Arnold Schwarzenegger as Howard Langston races across a huge mall on Christmas Eve in a madcap search for the hottest toy of the season in "Jingle All the Way."

Share your toy search story

It's Christmas Eve and Howard Langston is frantically searching for the toy every child's wish list — Turbo Man, in "Jingle All the Way," opening Friday at metro Detroit movie theaters.

Who hasn't braved the last-minute Christmas Eve rush to buy something that's long disappeared from store shelves?

Parents, share your "Holiday Toy Search" story with us to win a "Jingle All the Way" prize package for your child. What toy did you look all over town to find? Were you successful, or disappointed? Deadline to enter is Tuesday, Nov. 26.

Twenty-five prize packages containing a "Jingle All the Way" memo board, T-shirt, stocking cap, and coloring book will be given away. Send entries to: Keely Wygonik, Taste/Entertainment Editor, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, Inc., 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI 48150. To fax entries, call (313) 591-7279.

We'll share excerpts from your holiday toy search stories in an upcoming issue of Arts & Entertainment.

Arnold Schwarzenegger who stars in "Jingle All the Way," is a high-powered businessman, hard at work. Now he's going to miss yet another of his son, Jamie's (Jake Lloyd), karate awards ceremonies. Howard loves his family, but he just can't seem to find enough time for wife Liz (Rita Wilson), and Jamie. This year he's going to make it up to Jamie, he'll buy him the toy on ever child's list to Santa — and the hottest action figure of the season — Turbo Man!

Unfortunately, Howard is facing one big problem: It's Christmas Eve, and Turbo Man has been sold out since Thanksgiving.

Howard's down-to-the-wire trek to find Turbo Man quickly turns into an odyssey wilder than he could have ever imagined. In the course of his Yuletide misadventures, he finds himself in a no-holds-barred fight-to-the-finish with a pesky postman named Myron (Sinbad), who is out to claim the last Turbo Man for his kid. Also standing in Howard's way is a shady Santa (James Belushi), and a tough policeman, Officer Hummell (Robert Conrad).

To make matters worse, while Howard is scrambling across the city for the prize that will redeem him in the eyes of his family, neighbor Ted (Phil Hartman), the so-called "perfect father," has made himself at home — in Howard's home, relieving Liz of her baking duties, and taking it upon himself to put up the Langston family Christmas lights. It's enough to scare away even the bravest of men. But to Howard, this is war — and he's determined to win.

In addition to "Jingle all the Way's" easily recognizable themes, the Twentieth Century Fox film also features non-stop action and laughs.

As traditions go, the turkey as the centerpiece of Thanksgiving dinner is hard to resist. Roast turkey is a satisfying lean meat that goes well with a table full of wholesome fresh fruit, vegetable and whole grain side dishes. But when large Thanksgiving gatherings are impossible, how can you enjoy this annual feast with all the flair and flavor of years past?

Turkey is an amazingly versatile food, made even more so by a variety of new cuts. If you don't need a whole bird, half or quarter turkeys provide an economical option. White meat lovers can choose between half-breasts or whole breasts, with the bone or boneless. Supermarkets now also offer turkey cutlets, extra thick turkey steaks and delicate tenderloins.

Tender, juicy turkey breast cutlets can be prepared in many different ways for special occasions. Sprinkle them lightly with salt and pepper and saute them in a skillet over medium-high heat with one tablespoon of margarine for one to two minutes, or until cooked through. Create a light sauce by mixing two teaspoons lemon juice, one teaspoon soy sauce, one teaspoon honey and one eighth teaspoon pepper and pour it over the cutlets in the pan. heat the entire mixture evenly and serve each cutlet with sauce and garnished with one tablespoon sesame seeds.

Turkey gains foreign flavor when cooked with international seasonings. Cut a half pound of turkey breast cutlets in one half inch strips, and combine them in a small bowl with one half cup of cubed apple and one quarter teaspoon of curry powder. Let the mixture stand for 10 minutes. Add the turkey mixture to a medium size non stick skillet and stir fry over medium high heat in one and one half teaspoon margarine for two or three minutes, or until turkey is no longer pink. Stir in one quarter cup mango chutney and continue to cook until heated throughout. Serve over rice.

Dinner entree: Apricot stuffed turkey tenderloins are a non-traditional Thanksgiving dinner entree made easily and quickly in your microwave.

If you think the holidays means a meal that takes hours in the oven, try this non-traditional Thanksgiving dinner entree made easily and quickly in your microwave.

APRICOT STUFFED TURKEY TENDERLOINS WITH CREAMY MUSTARD SAUCE

- 1/2 cup dried apricots, chopped
- 2 tablespoons raisins, chopped
- 1 clove garlic
- 2 green onions, cut into 1-inch pieces
- 1 celery stalk, cut into 1-inch pieces
- 2/3 cup plain dry bread crumbs
- 1 pound turkey breast tenderloins
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 cup low-sodium chicken

- boillon
- 1 tablespoon country-style grainy mustard
- 1 tablespoon honey
- 2-1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1/3 cup reduced-calorie mayonnaise

Combine apricots and raisins in a medium-sized microwave-safe bowl and cover with water. Microwave on HIGH (100 percent power) for 1 to 1/2 minutes. Drain the fruit and set aside.

Mince garlic in a food processor. Add the onion and celery and process the entire mixture until finely chopped. Combine the vegetables with the fruit mixture. Microwave on HIGH (100 percent power) for 1-1/2 minutes.

Cut a length wise pocket in the tenderloins, being careful not to cut all the way through to the other side. Spoon half of the fruit mixture into each tenderloin pocket and secure with wooden toothpicks. Place the turkey in a 9-inch microwave-safe dish and set aside.

In a large, microwave-safe bowl, mix cornstarch, boillon, mustard, honey and lemon juice. Microwave on HIGH (100 percent power) 1-1/2 to 2 minutes, stirring every 45 to 60 seconds. Fold in the mayonnaise.

Pour the sauce over the tenderloins and cover with plastic wrap. Microwave on MEDIUM-HIGH (70 percent power) for 10-15 minutes, rotating the dish 1/4 turn every four minutes until the turkey is no longer pink in the thickest part.

Each of the four servings contains 360 calories and 6 grams of fat.

Soda fountain offers several terrific flavors

"OK, kid, what would you like?" smiles the man behind the counter in the wire-rimmed glasses.

"What kind of flavors do you got?" the freckle-faced youngster responds. Without going through the list of all those Faygo Pops, it's a good bet you'll find at least one flavor to your liking, you know, the kind that's a "prodigious, protation of sun-ripened citrus."

No red pop or rock & rye in this group of girls basketball teams, however.

We'll stick mostly with the name brands, the kind of stuff you like to drink come girls basketball tournament time.

November Madness is here once again and I'm running out of ideas for this twice-annual theme.

But here goes, time to give you a few refreshments to whet your appetite for this year's tournament.

BRAD EMONS

MOUNTAIN DEW (my favorites)

Redford Bishop Borgass (14-5): The Spartans have motivation, getting clipped in last year's state Class C final by Lansing Catholic Central. Frankenmuth, Lansing CC and Detroit DePorres could be stumbling blocks. But these girls have been battle-tested.

Plymouth Salam (17-3): The Western Lakes champs must get through a tough district (Plymouth Canton and Northville) and a mean regional (Birmingham Marian looms), but this team appears to be up to the task. This could be a breakthrough year for coach Fred Thomann.

DR. PEPPER

Plymouth Canton (16-4): A late-season tailspin, due to a lack of offense, could put these guys out early. But with a week off, coach Bob Blohm could get things ironed out in time for the third and deciding game Wednesday with rival Salem.

PEPSI WILD CHERRY

Wayne Memorial (15-5): The Zebras have had a nice season, gaining a co-share of the Mega Conference-Red Division title. The Garden City district is very winnable and a spot in the regional finals is highly probable.

MUG ROOT BEER

Farmington Hills Harrison (13-7): Came on strong during the latter portion of the season, reaching the WAAA championship game. The district at Bloomfield Hills Lahser is intriguing, and coach Pete Mantyla's Hawks are capable.

SUNKIST

Livonia Ladywood (3-14): District championship? It's possible for the Blazers at Southfield. Then they can go home to the regional. If only Dan Kennedy could suit up and shoot the three.

MINUTE MAID

Farmington Hills Mercy (10-10): The Marlins have a tough road to hoe in the Lahser district with Lahser, West Bloomfield and Harrison, all decent teams with good records. But who knows?

FAYGO MOON MIST

Livonia Stevenson (8-12): The Spartans haven't won a big game all season, but Wednesday's potential matchup against Ladywood at Southfield could put them in the regional. Not out of the possibility. If only Mo Drabicki had some eligibility left.

HAWAIIAN PUNCH

Lutheran Westland (19-1): The Warriors started their season with a loss (Detroit Benedictine) and it could be over tonight against state-ranked Riverview. Gabriel Richard. But whatever, comes up, a lot of good happened in between for coach Ron Gentz's team.

Redford Thurston (18-4): The Eagles tied for the Mega-Blue Division co-championship with Taylor Center, but tonight's Class B matchup with host Detroit Renaissance, another state-ranked team, is difficult. Regardless, it's been a nice season for Thurston.

CANADA DRY

Farmington (7-13): The play this season of Amanda Porter gives the Falcons reason for hope, but the Lahser district draw is not favorable.

North Farmington (8-11): The Raiders missed the WAAA playoffs and it appears they will miss out on the district fun at Bloomfield Hills Lahser.

7 UP

Redford Union (7-13): The Panthers are in position to play for the district championship because first-round opponent Detroit Redford has really struggled this season. Can they beat either Stevenson or Ladywood in the final?

CREAM SODA

Livonia Churchill (8-15): The Chargers showed some promise earlier in the year, but couldn't get into the WAAA playoff dance. Tonight's foe, state-ranked Northville, is too good to beat.

Livonia Franklin (8-15): Coach Gary Warner's Patriots could reach the Garden City district championship game with a little luck. Too bad daughter Dawn is not around to complete the job.

ORANGE CRUSH

Garden City (3-17): The Cougars are at home, that's the good news for the district. The bad news is that somebody else will be playing for the championship come Friday.

SQUIRT

Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (13-7): The division champions of the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference reached the district final a year ago, but can they get over the hump? The door is open at Taylor (You Light Up My Life).

CRYSTAL LIGHT

Westland John Glenn (0-20): The Rockets, in search of their first win, could break out tonight against Romulus, the last place team in the Mega-White Division.

St. Agatha (10-10): The Aggies are to be commended for playing 500 ball, but winning the Southfield Franklin Road Christian district, with state-ranked Auburn Hills Oakland Christian as the favorite, is a tough task.

COUNTRY TIME

Plymouth Christian (10-10): Greenhills, Whitmore Lake, Grass Lake? Sounds more like an outdoor hunting and fishing expedition than a district girls basketball tournament. PCA seems to bring the country to the city. Who has the better game? Who knows?

DIET SQUIRT

Livonia Clarenceville (9-17): Thanks to a redraw in the Class C district at Dearborn St. Alphonsus, the Trojans got a reprieve. The business at hand for Clarenceville tonight is Detroit Commerce. Originally, the Trojans would have played Borgess. Now they played the winner of St. Al's and Detroit Communication & Media Arts.

Plymouth Agape Christian (12-1 record last report): Truly the area's mystery team. That one documented loss came at the hands of Plymouth Christian. I need a root beer.

Rockets rule Region III, 22-8

Tractors stalled; Glenn now 11-0

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

It's becoming standard practice. Re-entry for the Westland John Glenn Rockets usually occurs in the second half.

The Glenn football team floated around in space for the first two quarters Saturday, then turned up the boost to subdue visiting Dearborn Fordson for the Class AA-Region III championship, 22-8.

It was the same pattern of orbit for the 11-0 Rockets, who have been tied or trailing at halftime in five different games this season, only to come back home safely with a win.

Next off the pad for Glenn is 11-0 Sterling Heights Stevenson, a 21-13 victor Saturday over rival Utica Eisenhower in the Region IV final.

The Glenn-Sterling Heights Stevenson semifinal is tentatively set for 1:30 p.m. this Saturday at Rochester High School.

"The guys on this team all know that it's a 48-minute game," said Glenn coach Chuck Gordon, whose team was tied 8-all with the Tractors at halftime. "In big games they know it's not won in the first or second quarter, and rarely in the third quarter. But when it comes down to it, it's won in the fourth quarter."

"If things don't go well early, they dig in and know they just have to play a little better." Glenn did it with a makeshift lineup.

The team's leading rusher, sophomore tailback Reggie Spearmon, who is also a starter in the secondary, sat out with a badly bruised ankle.

But in stepped starting fullback Antonio Gibson, who shifted spots and let Sean Heard do the blocking for him at fullback. Also, junior Marlan McClendon and sophomore Nick Hudson filled in admirably for starters Spearmon and Steve Waller (knee injury) as DBs.

77 yards in 26 carries. His 5-yard touchdown run with 8:26 left in the final quarter proved to be the game-clincher.

"I just had to step it up a notch and fill in for Reggie," Gibson said. "I pretty much knew what I was doing. It felt the same. I was just running the football."

Glenn won its fourth Region championship under Gordon with an opportunistic defense.

The Rockets also played error-free football, while Fordson racked up 11 penalties for 115 yards, not to mention two interceptions and a pair of costly fumbles in the third quarter.

"We had too many doggone turnovers," said Fordson coach Jeff Stergalas, who guided the Tractors to the 1993 Class AA championship with a 12-7 victory over Glenn at the Pontiac Silverdome. "You just can't turn it over. We're not a good team when its first-and-25. We're not a good offense for that type of situation."

"Last week (a 34-20 win over Clarkston), we were able to play over it. But Glenn is very determined and they were well prepared for this game."

Glenn, however, appeared to be in a bad spot during the opening quarter when Fordson drove 74 yards in 11 plays, capped by quarterback Carlos Smith's 6-yard touchdown run. Smith then hit wide receiver Nicholas Smith for the two-pointer, giving the Tractors an 8-0 advantage with 7:21 left in the period.

The Rockets then found themselves trapped in their own end on the ensuing possession as junior quarterback Justin Berent was sacked for a 9-yard loss back to the Glenn 13.

But the 6-foot-6 Berent, who has been resourceful all season, hit Lou Hartwig for a crucial 23-yard gainer for a first down. Paul Merandi then hauled in a 39-yard pass down to the Fordson 3, and Gibson found the end zone with 9:58 left in the half, cutting the deficit to 8-6.

Hartwig followed by catching the two-pointer to make it 8-8.

In the third quarter, momentum began to swing Glenn's way.

Defensive end Jon Becher nailed the Fordson QB from the back side and Bryan Schwesing scooped up the fumble at the Fordson 31.

Berent, who was nine of 15 for 107 yards, lofted a beautiful 6-yard pass to the corner of the end zone to the 6-3 Hartwig for a TD. Steve Paling's extra point made it 15-8 with 7:21 left in the third period.

Fordson senior tailback Kamal Jaafar, who had 310 yards in the win the previous week over Clarkston, was stripped of the ball by Hudson and David Jarrett. Becher came up with the fumble at the Fordson 32.

Glenn, however, couldn't punch it in and was forced to punt.

But late in the third, Hudson picked off a pass and returned it to the Fordson 42.

Five plays later, Gibson scored from 5 yards out to put Glenn in control with 8:26 left in the game.

Fordson had the ball three more times in the final quarter, but the first drive was stopped by a David Jarrett interception.

Glenn's defense, which held the dangerous Jaafar to 126 yards in 21 carries, then stymied Fordson on the next two possessions to close out the victory.

"Our defense was set up for angles and fires against them," said third-year linebacker Matt Griglio. "In the first half we didn't play with a lot of intensity, but in the second half we just got emotional and started playing."

"We've been behind before and we're used to it. But we don't do it on purpose, that's for sure."

Gordon also praised his defensive corps.

"To think we could hold that team to one touchdown is a tremendous defensive effort," he said. "Because that team had been scoring 30 points-plus a game."

Fordson finished the year 9-2.

Bowling Green signs Wayne cage standout

Yalanda Holt is closing one chapter on her basketball career, but another one is in the works after the versatile 5-foot-11 senior signed an NCAA national letter-of-intent last week with Bowling Green State (Ohio) University.

Holt has helped Wayne to a 15-5 record and a co-title in the Mega-Red Division (10-2 record) this year. Last season, Holt averaged 18 points and eight rebounds per game as Wayne finished 16-1. She was named first-team All-Observer.

The former state champion, 25.8 points per game, 8.5 steals and two blocks.

Although she was in Wayne State, Michigan, she was a member of the Detroit Mercy team.

Holt started her high school career in 1993 at Bedford Bishop Borgess where she was a contributing member of the Spartans' Class C state championship team.

"I started at Borgess because I thought that wasn't going to be a good fit for me. I was a state champion at Wayne State, Michigan, but I was a member of the Detroit Mercy team."

versity of Detroit Mercy expressed interest in Holt, she was sold on Bowling Green after making an official visit on Oct. 11.

"I just liked the coaching staff, the players and the location, being only an hour-and-a-half away," Holt said. "I'd like to study business or sports management. They have very good programs in those fields."

Yalanda said her father Larry, a native of Montgomery, Ala., got her interested in basketball.

"He played all the sports," Holt said. "I started playing organized ball in the sixth grade. I used to play ball with the boys, open gym, when I lived in Detroit. I played a lot at O'Shea Park."

Holt started her high school career in 1993 at Bedford Bishop Borgess where she was a contributing member of the Spartans' Class C state championship team.

"I started at Borgess because I thought that wasn't going to be a good fit for me. I was a state champion at Wayne State, Michigan, but I was a member of the Detroit Mercy team."

trict's pay-to-play plan.

Holt resided in Detroit with her aunt and step-sister, but then enrolled her sophomore season at Wayne where she played only a handful of games. Her eligibility came into question following the move, and the Michigan High School Athletic Association ruled later she had to sit out the remainder of the year.

"It was hard leaving (Borgess), but my living situation was bad, so I decided to move back," Holt said. "At Borgess I learned to be a team player. I had to learn a role whereas I used to be the star player."

At Wayne, coach Chuck Henry leaned on Holt heavily for direction.

"I had to make all the decisions moving from the three spot (wing) to the point," she said. "I had to be more of a leader. Coach Henry is always reminding me of making the right decisions on the floor."

Holt enjoys shooting and going out with her friends during her free time, but she enjoys watching basketball more than anything else.

"It doesn't matter who is playing on TV, Boston or whoever," she said.

The Wayne standout also admires two fellow students, teammate Rica Barge and boys All-Stater Lorenzo Guess, when it comes to basketball.

"They play with a lot of heart and give it their all," she said. "They play good defense and they're good team players."

Holt, who posted a 3.6 grade-point average last year marking knows her prep career is winding down. Wayne opens district play Wednesday at Garden City against Monday's GC-Romulus winner.

"It's going to be sad when it ends," Holt said. "I'll miss my teammates and my coach, and just the excitement of the high school game."

More exciting things, however, could come down the road in college.

ALL-AREA BOYS CROSS COUNTRY

Run support

Shamrocks land 3 harriers on 1st team

BY RICHARD L. SHOOK
STAFF WRITER

Repeat selections Rob Block of Livonia Stevenson and Jared Roth of Farmington Hills Harrison highlight the 1996 All-Area Boys Cross Country team.

Rob Block Stevenson

Block, a junior, was the Observerland's top cross country runner and has won his city meet for three straight years. He is hoping to repeat his trip of last year to the United State Track and Field finals.

Roth, who started running as a sprinter, made the All-Area team last year in his first year of competitive cross country running.

Moving up from second team honors a year ago are Mike Felczak of Livonia Stevenson, Joe Wojtowicz of Westland John Glenn and Jon Little of Plymouth Salem.

Also on the boys All-Area team are John Griffin, Chris Laney and Dan Danic of Redford Catholic Central, whose 17th place finish in the state Class A meet led Observerland schools.

Rounding out the team are Shaun Moore of Plymouth Canton and sophomore Josh Burt of Livonia Franklin.

FIRST TEAM SELECTIONS

Rob Block, junior, Liv. Stevenson: "Rob knows how to race," said his coach, John Gores. "He knows how to read his body and is able to combine that with a fierce competitive attitude." Block led area runners in the state meet, finishing 17th in 16:27.47. His best time was 16:17 at Cass Benton. He was undefeated in dual meets and captured the Western Lakes conference championship. Block has run in the state meet since his freshman season.

Jared Roth, senior, Farm. Hills Harrison: "Jared is the finest runner I have ever coached," the Hawks' John Reed said. "He has a terrific future of running ahead of him. He's very coachable and competitive... and a terrific person." Roth finished 23th in the state meet individually, was second to Block in the Western Lakes championships and placed sixth in his regional. "A lot of colleges have shown interest in him because he's accomplished a lot in a short time," Reed said of Roth.

Mike Felczak, senior, Liv. Stevenson: "Mike is a runner who is very competitive," Spartans' coach Gores said. "He has a very good sense for pace and has been able to use that ability successfully in his races." Felczak ran second to teammate Block in the Livonia city meet and was seventh in the Western Lakes meet. He was 39th in the individual race at the state finals (16:50.65) after a 12th place finish at the Ann Arbor regional.

John Griffin, senior, Redford CC: "Although quiet by nature, John has manifested remarkable leadership qualities," Catholic Central coach Tony Magni said, "not only academically, but also in his capacity as leader of our team. He endures to his maximum potential and participates with selfless concern, dedication and loyalty." Griffin was second in the Haslett Invitational, third in the Catholic League championship, fourth in the Operation Friendship meet and third in the state regional.

Chris Laney, senior, Redford CC: "Chris is an excellent example of running in the summer and hard work paying off," Shamrocks' coach Magni said. "He steadily improved each year to become one of the elite runners in the Catholic League and in the area. He was our most consistent runner." Griffin and Laney gave CC an excellent 1-2 combo. He finished fourth in the Haslett Invitational, fourth in the Catholic League championship, eighth in the Operation Friendship meet and eighth in his state regional.

Shaun Moore, junior, Ply. Canton: "Shaun is the kind of kid who will listen to what you have to say, contemplate it and in a relatively short time take action on it," said Canton coach Mike Spitz. "He started out as a middle-of-the-pack JV runner last year. But he kept on working, and by the end of last season he was No. 3 on the varsity." Moore turned in his best run of the year in the state finals, where his 16:56.29 put him 48th. He was No. 1 in every meet but one this year. Spitz laid out what Moore had to do to become a top runner... and the youngster went out and did it. He finished fifth in the Western Lakes meet and 15th in his regional.

Joe Wojtowicz, senior, Westland Glenn: "Joe provided outstanding leadership this season as co-captain," Rockets coach Jess Shough said. "He was very consistent, scoring as a medalist in every invitational in which he ran. He is an outstanding individual." Wojtowicz established the John Glenn course record with a personal best time of 16:55 at Central City Park. He was 13th in his regional and finished 80th in the Class A individual race.

Josh Burt, sophomore, Liv. Franklin: "Josh developed into an extremely competitive and consistent runner," Patriots' coach Bob Holmes said. "He never had an off race during the entire season and peaked for the big races at the end." Burt was 52nd individually at the state meet, was fourth in the Livonia city meet and 16th in his regional. His best time was 16:57.

Jon Little, sophomore, Ply. Salem: "Jon has a great desire to win," Rocks' coach Geoff Baker said. "He is a hard worker and will be one of Salem's best." Captained the team as a sophomore. Best regular season time was 17-minutes flat but lowered that to 16:44.6 in the USTAF state meet, where he ran fifth overall. Was ninth in the Western Lakes meet and 24th in his regional. Was fourth in the Crestwood Invitational.

Dan Danic, senior, Redford Catholic Central: "A great example of perseverance," coach Magni said. "Being injured his sophomore and junior years, Dan never gave up. He matured into a very competitive runner. Despite his own personal achievements, Dan is a team player at all times." Danic placed ninth in the Catholic League championship, 10th in the Operation Friendship meet and 15th in his regional.

Warriors finish year 19-1; Huron Valley wins in OT

Lutheran High Westland is ready.

It defeated Dearborn Heights Annapolis, 40-28, Thursday night and will take a 19-1 record into the state girls basketball tournament tonight at Gabriel Richard against the host school.

"I won't say we've got our backs to the wall," Warriors' coach Ron Gentz said, "but it's going to be a tough battle down at Gabriel Richard."

"I think they're 17-3 or 18-2. We're going to have to play better and protect the basketball better or it's going to be a quick night and a shorter season."

"But we'll see what happens. We'll be healthy. And it's been a good season so far."

Lutheran Westland jumped out to a 14-8 first quarter lead at Annapolis and won the rest of the quarters by margins ranging from 1-3 points.

Sophomore Janelle Twietmeyer led the Warriors with 14 points and Jenny Blaine added 10. Dearborn Heights Annapolis, 9-11, got 10 points from Cheryl Cagle.

•FOLEY 42, LADYWOOD 30: Livonia Ladywood fell to 3-14 with its loss Wednesday against visiting Madison Heights Bishop Foley.

Foley extended a 19-15 lead to a 15-point lead by going on a 12-1 run in the third quarter.

"We had a difficult time shooting against their zone and didn't shoot the ball well," Ladywood coach Andrea McAllister Gorski said.

Foley, which made 15 of 29 free throws, was paced by Christina Bradford's 10 points. Becky Senseig added eight points and five blocks.

Sarah Pogilts netted six points for the Blazers, who made only three of nine foul shots.

•HURON VALLEY 42, LIGHT & LIFE 34: A 12-4 run in overtime carried Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (13-7) to a season-ending victory over visiting Taylor Light & Life in a game played a Marshall Middle School.

Amy Mohacsi and Sara Tacila each connected on three free throws during the four-minute extra session. Mohacsi and Tacila finished with 13 and 11 points, respectively.

Mohacsi' two free throws with only 12 seconds left in regulation forced the OT. The host Hawks went on to hit eight of 13 from the line in overtime.

Maureen O'Malley, a freshman guard, scored 17 points for Taylor Light & Life.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Northville's harness racing opens Monday, Oct. 20, and winds up on New Year's Eve, a Wednesday in 1997.

MASTERS BLASTERS TRIUMPH

The Master Blasters Two rebounded from a third-place regular season finish to win the 35-and-over 1996 softball playoffs in Garden City for the second straight year.

1997 Buick Park Avenue Ultra changes for the better

By Anne Fracassa
Avanti NewsFeatures

Change is good, some say. When it comes to the 1997 Buick Park Avenue Ultra, change is really, really good. And change is what this car really needed.

Its updated exterior look, modern interior and strong engine make the Park Avenue Ultra signal a new turn for Buick. Until recently, many thought Oldsmobile was the General Motors senior citizen in need of retirement. Olds was, well, for the old.

But Buick's cars were just as stagnant. Out of date. Old.

This new Park Avenue Ultra brings Buick into the 21st century. The styling is a little better, at least. It's still not what the 20- or even 30-year-old would readily order. But it's a beginning.

Let's start with the inside. The interior is roomier than last year's model and it's brighter, too. Larger instrumentation — you know, the knobs and buttons — is welcomed for anyone's hands. Seating is comfort-driven for all five passengers.

There's a neat console in the

equipped with the 3800 Series II Supercharged V6. A strong engine it is and it gets you there when you punch it. Horsepower is rated at 240. And fuel economy — 18 mpg in the city, 27 on the highway — lends itself to no worries about taking this smart touring car on long trips.

The size of the Park Avenue has also changed. The wheelbase is more than 2 inches longer. What that gives you is more room on the inside for your head and hips. A little more than a cubic foot has been eliminated from the trunk volume (now 19.1 cubic feet), but the lift-over height is lower and the opening is larger for easier access.

The new seat-mounted safety-belt system in the front are really neat because the design allows anyone to have the shoulder belt come comfortably across your shoulder. It's a real nice fit.

Quiet, this puppy is.

Buick engineers used sophisticated engine mounts, triple door seals and a one-piece cast magnesium cross-car beam to quiet both the exterior and interior.

Some neat trivia about the Park Avenue Ultra: If the air bag deploys, the doors will automatically unlock in 15 seconds. The use of electrical multiplexing (that means fewer wires can perform more jobs) reduced the number of wires that go into a door by 75 percent. The same key opens the car's locks and is also used in the ignition. There's even a damage-resistant radio antenna in the rear window.

Climate controls are really handy and there are dual front controls and adjustable rear-seat vents. That means when your spouse is cold and you're not, you can adjust the climate controls for your side of the car. There's a replaceable filter in the system that removes pollen and other stuff from the air before it's circulated to the inside of the car.

Park Avenue Ultra comes equipped with 4-wheel-disc anti-lock brakes, variable-effort power steering, aluminum suspension components, 10-way power driver and front passenger seats, PASS-key III theft-deterrent system, power operated lumbar support adjustment, "flash-to-pass" and daytime running lamps.

The remote keyless entry not only opens your door and trunk, but it also can do a bunch of stuff. It can be programmed to remember mirror and seat positions, automatic door lock operation, perimeter lighting, delayed lock and security feedback.

At first, I thought the Park Avenue had a mind of its own. I started the car and the windshield wipers turned on. And the turning stalk said the wipers were "off." I turned them on, off, on, off. Still kept running. Got to my destination, turned the car off and back on and they stopped. Hmmm.

Later in the week, driving down the highway, it started to sprinkle. All of a sudden, the wipers turn back on. Now I think the Park Avenue is possessed.

Not at all true. Buick engineers found a way to design moisture sensing windshield wipers that are triggered automatically according to the level of moisture detected on the windshield. There's even a tire pressure monitoring system that alerts you if your tire needs a bit more air. Neat features.

Other stuff you'll like: dual air bags, anti-lock brakes, power windows, door locks and mirrors, delayed entry and exit lighting, gradual "theater dimming" interior lights, battery, rundown protection, lockout protection on power door locks, chimes to warn of parking brake engagement, turn signal and headlamps left on after you turn the car off, 100,000-mile platinum-tipped spark plugs, transmission fluid that requires no change under normal operating conditions and traction control.

The all-new Park Avenue Ultra should get your attention when choosing a sedan that's long on comfort and features. This car is perfect for the business executive as well.

1997 Buick Park Avenue Ultra Vehicle class: Full-size luxury sedan.

Engine: Supercharged 3800 V6. Mileage: 18 city / 27 highway. Where built: Lake Orion, Mich. Base price: $34,995.

The glass shop you choose should keep a detailed record of your job and the actions taken on your vehicle.

WRITE IT AND REAP!

Writing a classified ad that gets results—whether it be for real estate, employment, the personals, transportation, or merchandise—is easy if you follow the guidelines below.

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in-kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.
