Library still the place to be

The new Westland Public Library, open for five weeks, has seen a sharp reduction of long lines of residents applying for library cards.

But the library staff and board are still busy planning for major improvements in services and equipment within the next few months.

A large poster in the lobby of the library, on Central City Parkway just north of Ford, said that during January, there are plans for children's storytimes, self-checkout, 10 additional public access catalogs, and a weeklong celebration with the theme of "A New Year/A New Library."

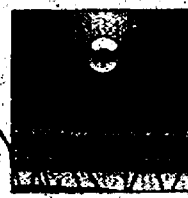

The following month will have the start of Internet access, new CD-ROM stations, online indexes and full-text periodical citations for computer users.

The library's plans for March include access to a variety of audio-visual equipment.

That includes books on tapes, videos, audio cas-

Legislation aids nature area

A feared hurdle to the protection of Sassafra Trails, a Westland nature area, apparently will be cleared with new legislation pushed by state Sen. Loren Bennett, R-Canton Township.

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A state Attorney General's opinion that threatened efforts to save a Westland nature preserve is expected to be circumvented by new state legislation.

Michigan natural resources officials, in a Dec. 2 letter to Wayne-Westland school district attorneys, said the state would likely halt negotiations to buy the development rights for Sassafra Trails, a 64-acre nature area northeast of Pakner and Wildwood.

The decision meant that the state wouldn't give the school district $520,000 to protect the land from potential residential development.

Natural resources officials cited an Attorney General's opinion indicating that Sassafra Trails didn't qualify for the money because it wasn't farmland.

The opinion noted that changes to the Michigan Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act in June meant that the state "may not purchase" the development rights.

The opinion fueled fears among a citizens group, the Friends of Sassafra Trails, that has been lobbying heavily for three years to protect the land from residential development.

On Thursday, however, state Sen. Loren Bennett, R-Canton Township, announced that the Senate unanimously passed a bill he pushed to protect Sassafra Trails.

Bennett, moving swiftly to circumvent the Attorney General's opinion, said he has been assured by House leaders that the bill will be passed before a Dec. 12 holiday recess.

Wayne-Westland school board President Patricia Brown said Thursday that state Rep. Eileen DeHart, D-Westland, also is "working extremely hard" to save Sassafra Trails.

Also Thursday, a Bennett spokesman said an aide to Gov. John Engler has indicated that the

Ringer rings false

Salvation Army officials in the Canton and Plymouth areas are warning consumers that at least one person has been caught impersonating a red kettle bell-ringer this holiday season.

"There are people out there who are dishonest and they are soliciting in the Salvation Army name," said Martha Schultz, community center director and kettle coordinator for the Salvation Army in this area.

The incident in question occurred on Nov. 27 and involved a man who was holding a tin can in front of the Canton Kroger store, asking for donations on behalf of the Salvation Army. When a Salvation Army worker confronted him and asked for identification, he bolted for his car and left the area, Schultz said. A number of people were seen putting money in the man's tin cup.

Students explore the world of work

Hundreds of Marshall Middle School students benefited from a peek into the future during a major career day program last week.

Many businesses or public organizations had representatives present for the program, for which the theme was "Future Vision."

Students heard about several local leaders and their professions.

They listened to Mayor Robert Thomas, who worked for more than 20 years at the city's public services department, discuss municipal government.

Also coming to the program were representatives of local organizations. They included 18th District Judge C. Charles Bokos, Westland police Officer Candy Vinnay, and the city's cable TV contractor Dianne Abbott.

On the committee planning the event were counselor Jan Tomlinson, coordinator, Gretchen Thomas, Cathy Coulter, Cheryl Boliard, Faye Smith, Carolyn Washington, Rick Reynolds, R. Michael Downs and Dennis Chall.

Also attending the daylong program were staff members and students from the other middle schools in the district - Adams, Stevenson and Franklin.

The range of the 39 organizations went from Ford Motor Co. to city government and hospitals.

Participants in the NBD Bank-sponsored program were:

A Ford Motor design engineer, Robertson Plumbing and Heating, Tri-Rehab (an athletic training agency), Pulte Homes of Michigan, Canine Clippers, the local William Ford Career/Vocational Center.

Also Barbizon Modeling Agency, Westland Veterinary Hospital, Family Services of Detroit, Western Wayne Skills Center, City of Westland (represented by the mayor), Kelly Services/NBD Technology Center, U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Also Beagle Brigade (a plant protection business which uses dogs), U.S. Marine Corps, FBI, Detroit Sunday Journal, Garden City Hospital, Hegira Young Mothers Program, Fantastic Sam's, Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, Michigan

Jazzy holidays

The halls of Schoolcraft College's Radcliff Center will ring with the sounds of Christmas music Wednesday night.

"Jazz Up the Holidays" is the theme of the annual holiday concert, to start at 7:30 p.m. in the community room of Radcliff Center, on Radcliff, just south of Ford and east of Wildwood.

The free concert will have performances by the SCool Jazz instrumental group and the SCool Jazz Prime Chamber Singers.

They will provide an evening of madrigals, jazz and seasonal offerings, a college spokeswoman said.

In another holiday event, the Westland Historical Commission and Friends of the Museum have invited the community to its eighth annual "Luminaries," or Christmas decoration of the museum at 857 N. Wayne Road, between Marquette and Cherry Hill.

It will be held at 5:30 p.m. Monday, Dec. 16, with the hosts to provide seasonal refreshments.

Yule business

In a business note related to the holidays, a new Westland business has opened to sell used children's toys and accessories. It is located at 8017 N. Wayne Road, between Joy and Cowan, next to the Black & Decker retailer.

The new owner will pay for used toys and baby furniture. Large items can be picked up. Interested persons may call 266-0931.

More holiday fun

With only 17 days left before Christmas, there are other events coming up for the holiday.

The Westland City Council will sponsor its 10th annual Christmas decorating contest for residents. Council President Sandra Cicirelli will chair the contest committee.

To enter, contact City Clerk Diane Fritz at 467-3190 or 467-3191 during weekday business hours.

Deadline is Monday, Dec. 16. Council members will view the nominees Thursday, Dec. 19.

Yule music: The Churchill High School Choralations music group provided the musical touch to the annual holiday event.

Mill fills bill

Local history buffs lit a bit of historical tradition Wednesday night.

They gathered in chilly temperatures to turn on the Christmas lights at the historic Nankin Mill and welcome Santa Claus.

The event was sponsored by the Friends of the Mill, a private, non-profit group formed in the late 1980s to raise money for improvements to the 133-year-old building on Ann Arbor Trail near Farmington Road, with plenty of help from the Wayne County parks department, which is housed in the building.

Denise Johnson, longtime Friends president, said Christmas music was provided by the Churchill High School Choralations singing group.

Students also sharing in the annual event were from Adams and McKinley Elementaries and St. Damian Catholic School.

Westland City Council members attending were Sharon Scott, Richard LeBlanc, Glenn Anderson and Justine Barns.

After greeting Santa, youngsters and adults enjoyed refreshments in the mill.

The building has undergone major renovations and expansions in the past two years.

governor will likely sign the bill into law.

Bennett said the bill will protect Sassafras Trails and allow the school district and state natural resources officials to move ahead with plans to protect the development rights.

"The Senate took some common-sense steps today to clear up a technical difficulty involving the continued preservation of the Sassafras Trails natural area," Bennett said Thursday. "This means a lot to area residents."

Teresa Robbins, a Friends of Sassafras Trails member, said, "Sen. Bennett has persevered in his efforts to preserve this natural area in an urban setting for our children and future generations to enjoy. It hasn't been easy, but it shows how community involvement can really make a difference."

Robbins also commended DeHart for her ongoing efforts to help save Sassafras Trails - a heavily wooded area that the citizens group wants used for educational and recreational purposes.

Bennett said the latest legislative measure makes the Attorney General's opinion "a moot point."

The problem arose because legislative changes made in June removed the term "open space" from the Michigan Farmland & Open Space Preservation Act, Bennett said.

Sassafras Trails had qualified as "open space" for the $520,000 in state dollars.

Bennett said changes to the act weren't intended to interfere with negotiations long under way between the Wayne-Westland school district and state natural resources officials.

State legislators in 1995 had appropriated $520,000 so that the natural resources department could buy the development rights for Sassafras Trails.

Brown said Thursday that "it looks like everything is going to be fine."

"The school board is going forward as we said we would, and we're looking forward to closing on the property," she said.

Brown called the Attorney General's opinion "a temporary setback, and it's not much of a setback."

She said she hopes that school officials and the state can complete the Sassafras Trails deal by early spring, so that the $520,000 will be available for the district's 1997-98 budget.

The threat of deficit spending looms as a two-year, voter-approved tax of 3 mills is set to expire June 30.

"We are counting on those dollars (for Sassafras Trails), so it's not something that we're going to let slide," Brown said.

Pause before buying pet for Christmas

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

It seems that pet store owners and veterinarians have 101 reasons why not to buy dalmations.

Instead, they advise holiday shoppers who want to give pets as gifts to consider ferrets, cats, birds, fish or dogs such as beagles, golden retrievers and mixed breeds.

Still others don't recommend giving pets at all for Christmas.

"Kids are too excited, and sometimes a living creature gets lost in the holiday shuffle," said Terri Bennett, owner of Specialty Pets of Plymouth.

Puppies, for example, need love and attention, and they may resort to whining at night and wetting the floor because of neglect, she said.

"And then they get the blame for it."

With "101 Dalmations" a box-office hit, many children want one of the spotted canines for Christmas, and that concerns pet store owners and vets.

"They have a lot of kidney problems, and 20 percent of them are blind," said Sue Comerinski, owner of Amazing Animals in Westland. "They don't have a very good temperament, either."

"I would not recommend buying a dalmation at Christmas or otherwise," she said. "I'd take a golden retriever any day."

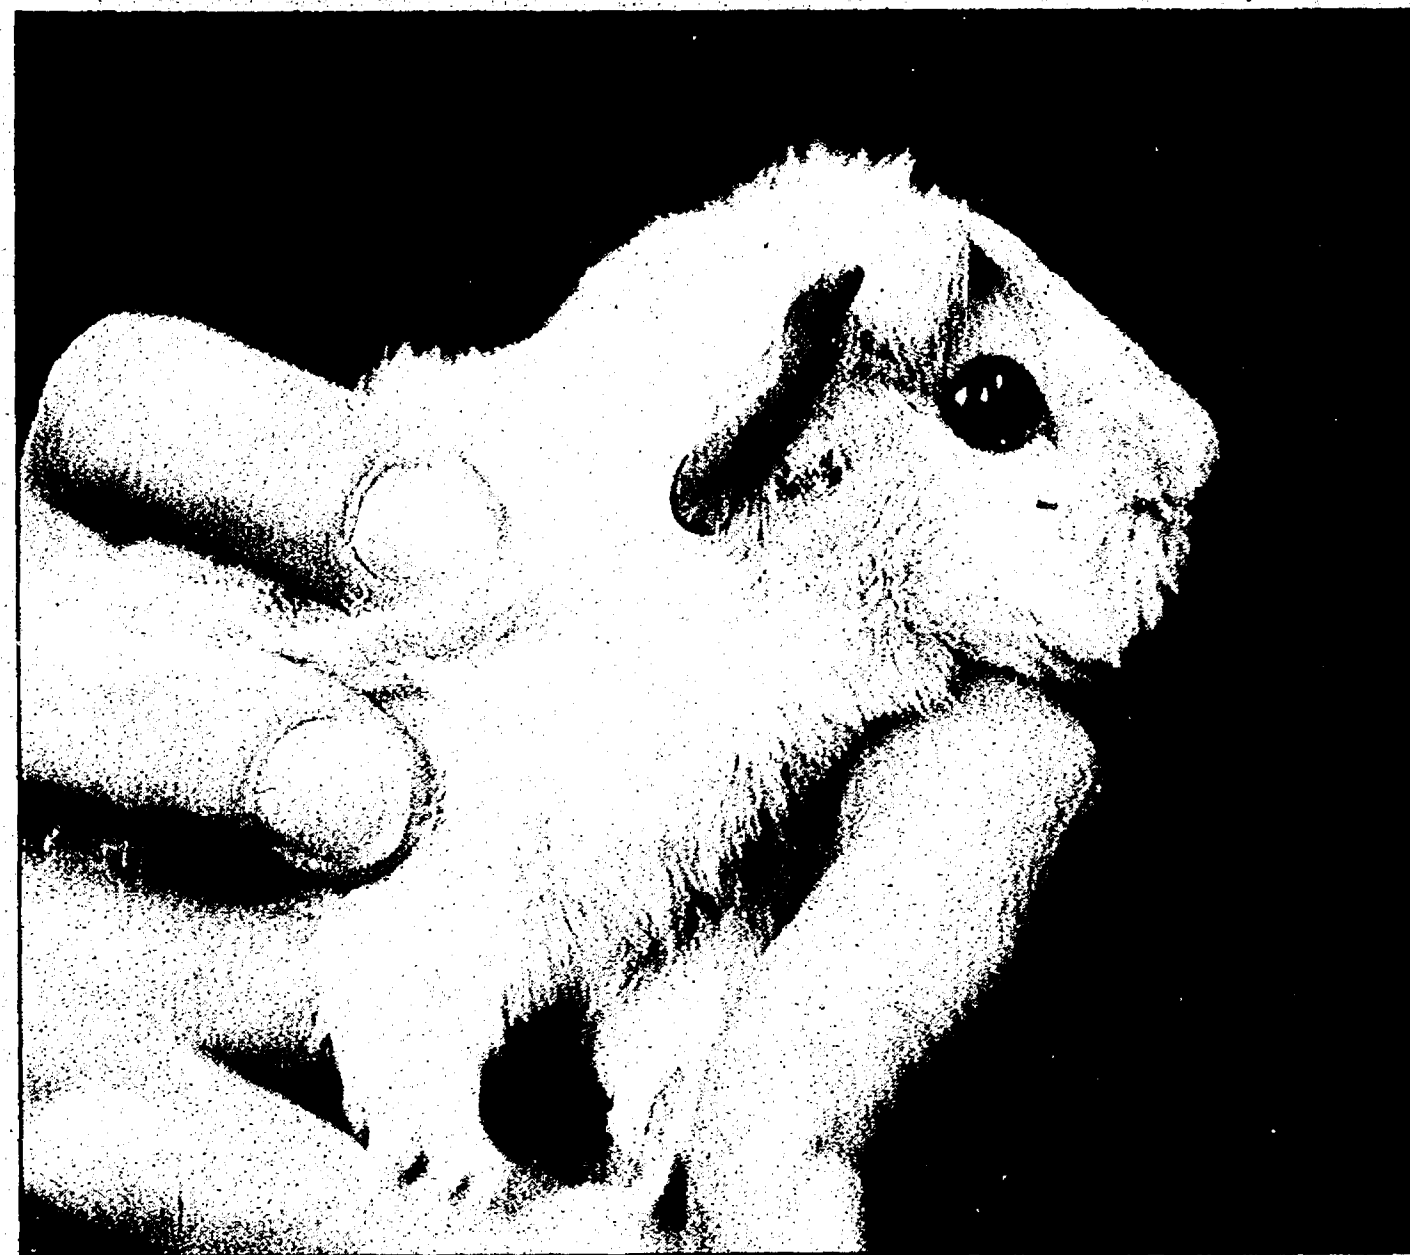

Tammy Miller of Five Mile Animal Hospital in Redford described dalmations as "high-strung" and warned, "They can turn on you, too."

Bennett fears that the dalmation fad will prompt breeders to cash in.

"They're going to be popping out puppies left and right," she said. "Buy a stuffed one, instead."

Veterinarian Sharon Lawrenchuk of Westland Veterinary Hospital recommends ferrets for children over 10 years old.

"They are wonderful pets," she said, adding that they require little maintenance and can be kept in a cage most of the time.

Lawrenchuk, a Livonia resident, cautioned that children under 10 tend to be afraid of ferrets, which sometimes like to nibble on an owner's hands when being held.

"It's not really mean behavior, though," she said.

Some vets say that parents buying Christmas pets for their children don't think ahead.

"At Christmas or anytime, owning a pet requires a lot of care and responsibility," Lawrenchuk said.

She offered these tips when looking for pets:

■ Consider the animal's size and whether it will have enough space in a residence and yard.

■ "Meet the animal's parents," if possible, to see what their personalities are like.

■ If shopping for a dog, consider a mixed breed. "They are usually the most healthy, intelligent and best-tempered."

■ Think about an animal's maintenance. Long-haired dogs such as collies "need a lot of upkeep," Lawrenchuk said.

Bennett discouraged hasty decisions to buy animals during the holiday rush.

"It's the wrong thing to do," she said.

Would-be pet owners should do their homework and learn about animals before buying them, Bennett said.

Rather than buying a pet for Christmas, she suggested that parents show a child a picture of an animal and discuss plans for a post-holiday purchase - when the holiday rush is over.

Miller noted that "the whole family needs to think about it before getting a pet. It's a major responsibility."

Too often, she said, families buy pets on a whim and end up dumping them in the street or taking them to the humane society, where "they may be put to sleep."

Pets can be costly, too. Miller said they may need to be vaccinated, treated for worms and spayed or neutered - not to mention the ongoing expense of food and the potential costs of sudden health problems.

For parents determined to buy a pet for Christmas, many vets recommend getting one from the Michigan Humane Society - a move that could save an animal's life.

Meanwhile, the humane society suggests these ways of being kind to animals:

- Provide daily grooming.
- Provide fresh food and water daily.
- Keep vaccinations current.
- Provide the proper shelter that pets need and deserve.
- Seek medical attention promptly when needed.
- Dress pets with appropriate collars and identification tags.
- Spay or neuter pet.

Choice pets: This pet shop puppy is a Lhasa Apso. At right, a bearded dragon lizard is one of many animals at the Amazing Pet Store.

Backyard dogs need attention

The most common abuse of backyard dogs is "out of sight, out of mind."

That's according to the Michigan Humane Society's anti-cruelty division.

"Some owners of outside dogs forget to feed and water their pets as often as they should since the dog is never directly underfoot, whining by its bowl," said a publication from the society.

"Many owners also fail to provide adequate shelter for their outside dog. In winter, an outside dog's water can freeze in their dish within an hour. The responsibility of frequently checking on the dog in periods of extreme hot and cold weather is a great one, and though most people would not neglect their pet intentionally, they are often just too busy with work or other activities to attend to the animal's needs."

Besides the deprivation of physical needs, the group's cruelty investigation division commented that most outside dogs suffer from one or more forms of emotional cruelty or neglect.

That happens when dogs are chained and typically abandoned in their owner's back yard with little contact with humans and limited chance to move around.

With such little human contact, "the exile (in the back yard) becomes an act of cruelty," said the humane society.

"In winter, they shiver. In summer, they languish. Year round, they suffer," the organization said.

There are two key phone numbers to retain if you know of anyone abusing animals.

- They are:
- The Michigan Humane Society's anti-cruelty division, (313) 872-3401.
  - The Michigan Anti-Cruelty Society, (313) 891-8704.

Holidays a bad time to get a new animal

The Michigan Humane Society wants adults to think twice before giving a youngster a pet as a Christmas gift.

"From our perspective, never, never give a pet as a gift. When it is done, the results aren't so good," Michelle Mitchell, the society's community relations director, said.

She added that buying a pet as a gift is usually an impulse purchase.

In a flier aimed at gift-givers, the organization said:

"Do you really want a puppy? Don't just look at the cute furry face. You're looking at a 10- to 20-year commitment of time, hundreds of hours, and money, some $300 a year or more.

"You're looking at an animal that will be five or 10 times bigger a year from now. Those cute little teeth will chew rugs, books, furniture, fingers and everything else."

"Many, many poops and piddles lie between now and that glorious day when the puppy is finally housebroken."

In another MHS publication, the organization stressed:

"The hectic holiday season is a difficult time to bring a pet into a household. Holiday food and decorations can be special dangers to pets.

"Ornaments, lights, tinsel, ribbons and extension cords should be kept out of reach. Poinsettia plants can be poisonous and chocolate contains a substance which is toxic to dogs and can be fatal."

The society suggested that older dogs be considered for adoption. The nearest MHS animal shelter is on Marquette, a half-mile south of Ford, and just east of Newburgh, 721-7300.

Career Day teaches students workplace realities

BY MARIE CHESTNEY
STAFF WRITER

Ten years ago, when he went to Henry Ford Community College, Tom Lee knew exactly what he wanted to do for a living: wire machines.

But back then, detailed courses in that area were scarce. So after putting in two years, Lee left college to get on-the-job experience in his field.

Today Lee owns his own company, Westland Control Systems Inc. His 43 employees make electrical panels for the automotive industry.

Lee was one of 23 local employers who took part in "Career Day" Tuesday at Livonia Public Schools' Career/Technical Center, which serves students from the northern section of Westland.

From computer programming to nurse/health assistant to office management, each came armed with tips on how to succeed in that field.

"We're here to provide information that can't be found in a textbook," center principal Janet Haas told the professionals. "Be honest with your answers. Let them see your world."

Lee and Sue Pickel, electrical engineer for OPTIM Electronics, took 43 electronics students into the world of electronics/electrical technology, taught by Alan Essenmacher.

Glimpses into the working world also were given by: Cesar Obano, Blue Cross/Blue Shield; Alberta Muzzin, Dynamic People; Laura Kafkas and Sharon Fisher, Botsford Hospital; Fred Shepherd, A Birkett and Pete Perez, St. Mary Hospital; Rafael Ramia Jr., Pinkerton Security and Investigative Services; Charles Whitman, Angela Pratt, and Joe Garcia, Livonia Ford Transmission; and Lisa Morris-Agius, Mary Kay.

Also: Richard Barker, Shaw Construction Corp.; Terri Jones, Livonia Marriott Hotel; Erika Stengle, AAA Travel Service; Lois Letwin, Travel Industry Placement Service; Kristie Celeski, flight attendant; Paul DiPirro, Top Value Exhaust Systems; Henry Limieux and Barbara Vukits, Linhout Associates; and Joe Agius, Young and Rubicam Advertising Agency.

While Lee and Pickel talked a lot about electrical panels and electronic sensor equipment, they also gave basic tips that are sure to bring workplace success.

Pickel, who graduated from Northville High and lives in Howell, gave two pieces of advice: Learn where to go to find answers. And do what you love to, the money will soon follow.

Lee, a graduate of Catholic Central, advised new employees to write their own training manual. "If someone explains something, write it down so you can figure it out next time. Companies want experienced people. There's not a lot of places willing to train, because of the demands on business."

Bob Morris, job placement coordinator for the center, summed up one fact all job-seekers should know well today. "Industry doesn't want warm bodies anymore. It wants brain power."

Livonia's career center, he said, is the connecting link between the worlds of school and work. Lee was accompanied by employee Dennis Walker, who's just three years out of Wyandotte's Roosevelt

High and now deeply immersed in learning the world of electrical technology.

Like many high school students, Walker said he graduated without any clear idea of what he wanted to do. Since joining Westland Control Systems, he's tackled schematics, robotics and now works as a production leader.

"The learning is endless," Walker said. "Learning doesn't stop after high school. I'm learning new things every day."

Besides working what he called a "pretty hefty schedule," Walker also takes college classes to buttress what he's learning on the job.

Lee puts in 58-hour work weeks; his company is now making electrical panels for 1998-1999 cars.

His employees, Lee said, don't get stuck in the same job year after year. They move around, learning different facets of the business, generally ending up in an area where they excel. For some, it's electrical design and layout; for others, it could be writing technical manuals.

Walker started out putting electronic panels on car doors. He then became a field electrician, working off-site. Once he learns how "the whole system works," he can start designing systems.

Pickel, who graduated from Schoolcraft College and Lawrence Technological University with a degree in electrical engineering, parlayed a love for fast performance cars into a job where she often tests how parts of a car perform.

Her company, in its manufacturing plant in Maryland, makes sensors that tell engineers what's going on inside the equipment being tested.

The machines can test pressure, noise, vibration, force, chemical reactions, even temperature. She once worked on a military tank where tire tread was being tested.

In her sales office, Pickel teaches others how to use the machines, and trouble-shoots when things go wrong.

While going to college, she worked nights to gain experience in engineering.

But in their world of work, both Lee and Pickel agreed that a college degree is not essential to job success.

"Learn how to learn," Pickel said. "Employers want people who are enthusiastic about what they do. They looked at my resume, but wanted to know what I was all about. Make good contacts. Learn from electronics books, but learn from other people, too."

In smaller companies, they said, new hires are more apt to get help from fellow workers. In larger companies, they said, workers' jobs are more focused, and less help is available.

Lee just moved into a new 40,000-square-foot building and set a new goal for his business: hire 20 semi-skilled workers.

That goal brought forth the following advice from him. "Don't come into an interview with Guns N' Roses on your T-shirt. Be on time, not early, not late. If you leave for a better-paying job, give two weeks notice. Don't quit on the spot just to earn an extra 50 cents an hour. If a company wants someone to start right away, they'll get rid of you as soon as things slow down."

St. Nick's a true animal-lover

Santa Claus is coming to town but before he slides down the chimneys of local homes, he's going to stop off at Livonia's Pet Supplies "Plus" store on Seven Mile and Middlebelt to help the area's displaced dogs and cats.

Jolly old St. Nick will be at Pet Supplies "Plus" Saturday, between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Owners are invited to bring their dogs, cats and other pets to the store, across Seven Mile from Livonia Mall, to have a color photo taken of their four-legged friend with the famous visitor from the North Pole.

Bringing your pet to the store for a photo with Santa will not only provide you with a beautiful keepsake memory that will be enjoyed for many holidays to come, it will also help displaced dogs and cats in the Livonia.

The $5 donation that you'll be asked to make for your pet's Santa photo will benefit the Michigan Animal Adoption Network (M.A.A.N.), a non-profit coalition of animal rescue groups in the southeast Michigan area.

Since the cost of film and other expenses will be covered by Pet Supplies "Plus," all money raised from the Santa photos this Saturday will go directly to M.A.A.N.

Last year's Santa photos at Pet Supplies "Plus" stores in the Detroit metropolitan area raised over $17,000.

Jack Berry, the president and founder of Pet Supplies "Plus," hopes to top that figure this holiday season. "We're looking forward to a big turnout of dog and cat owners," said Berry. "Everyone likes to involve their pets in the holiday festivities, and what better way to do this than to have a photo taken with Santa?"

M.A.A.N. is made up of animal shelters, breed rescue clubs and individual volunteers. The group runs a toll-free animal adoption hotline (1-800-990-4343), as well as a lost-and-found pet service at the same number.

Anyone seeking to adopt a dog or cat can call M.A.A.N. and be matched with an animal that fits the description of the pet they're looking for in terms of age, breed (or breed-mix), and gender.

All dogs and cats put up for adoption by M.A.A.N. have received veterinary examinations and are current on their vaccinations. Animals are also spayed or neutered if they are old enough. Many of the displaced pets are housed in the "foster homes" of volunteers until they're adopted.

In addition to its toll-free service, M.A.A.N. holds off-site adoption events in the Detroit area just about every weekend. Some of these events focus on older dogs (over the age of two) that are typically more difficult to place in new homes.

The group also runs a program to help low-income owners obtain dog houses for their pets.

Displaced dogs and cats come to M.A.A.N. in a variety of ways, according to Marie Skladd, the group's president. Some are found abandoned on a street or highway. Some are turned over to one of M.A.A.N.'s rescue groups after their owner dies and no one is available to care for them. Others are left without a home after their owners divorce.

For information, pet owners may call the business at (810) 615-0039.

Action expected on bills outlining university searches

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Rep. Liz Brater, D-Ann Arbor, summed up months of waiting and days of intense work on a bill to close down university presidential searches: "Neither side likes it, so it must be good legislation."

The full state House is scheduled to vote this week on its version of Senate Bill 211, originally intended to allow university boards to search for, interview and hire presidents in total secrecy.

As it emerged from the Higher Education Committee, however, SB 211 requires a board to reveal the names of the five finalists 30 days prior to any hiring but allows it to appoint a search committee that can meet behind closed doors to hunt for candidates.

SB 212, a companion bill whose fate is still in doubt, would allow universities to suppress background material on candidates under a Freedom of Information Act exemption. It came out of committee on a 5-1 vote with one abstention.

Rep. Clark Harder, D-Owosso, will fight the FOIA measure unless it's amended to require revelation of all but the most personal documents about the candidates. "The finalists should stand public scrutiny," he said.

The two sides: • University of Michigan Board of Regents, which sought total secrecy in its hiring. In committee, Regent Phil Power, D-Ann Arbor, supported by Wayne State University President David Adamany, said the prospect of open applications and open interviews scared off sitting presidents of other universities.

Even if U-M was able to hire a top-notch person in Lee Bollinger last month, Power said, the open process was flawed and limiting. "I was personally told by three university presidents that they refused to go forward" under the current Open Meetings Act, said Power, without naming the presidents.

• Michigan Press Association and newspapers, which sought to

Host families sought for exchange students

As the holiday season approaches, American families are opening their hearts and homes to foreign exchange students with the Academic Year in America program.

Academic Year in America, which is sponsored by the not-for-profit American Institute for Foreign Study Foundation, has been bringing foreign students and American families together for the past 15 years. Students range in age from 15 to 18 years old and arrive from Brazil, Germany and Argentina with their own medical insurance and spending money.

Both parents and students benefit from the exchange experience. The host family can learn about another culture, make a special friend and earn a scholarship toward designated international travel-study programs. The students have the opportunity to participate in the "American way of life."

Anyone who wants to host an international student can call AYA Placing Regional Director Amy Mullen at 1-800-322-4678 ext. 5423.

SENSITIVE?
Teeth become sensitive when their top layers of enamel become thin or when gums recede to expose the roots. Either of these conditions can result in a sensation of cold- or pressure-induced tooth pain that is usually sufficient enough to send people with sensitive teeth in search of a toothpaste specially formulated to combat sensitivity. According to a recent study published in the Journal of the American Dental Association, some products are better than others. The eight-week study involved patients with sensitive teeth who were asked to use one of three toothpastes that offer sensitivity protection or a standard toothpaste. At the end of the study, the patients were asked rate their sensitivity to cold temperatures from food or air and toothbrush pressure. The result: Toothpastes with the active ingredient potassium nitrate reduced sensitivity to cold and touch better than those containing stannous fluoride.

House package directs gas tax money exclusively to roads

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Rep. Tom Kelly, D-Wayne, had a big hand in re-designing a package of bills to trim road-building costs in Michigan.

The state House of Representatives this week will vote on the four Senate-passed bills, but the question is whether the Senate will accept the amendments.

"Right now, eight different departments take almost $110 million from the Michigan Transportation Fund," said Kelly, a first-term member, citing the Department of State's $86 million.

"My amendment says no state department can do that any more. When we passed the last gas tax increase in 1982, we said all the new money would be used for roads and bridges. It hasn't been."

The Kelly amendment, approved 13-1 in the Transportation Committee, would keep the $110 million for use on roads and bridges - the equivalent of a 2 to 2.5 cents a gallon hike in the fuel tax. The political result: Lawmakers might avoid voting on a fuel tax hike in their post-election, lame-duck session.

The total state transportation fund is about $2.1 billion. Fuel taxes bring in about $700 million, or one-third.

Kelly also succeeded in altering an amendment from the upper chamber sponsored by Sen. Loren Bennett, R-Canton. The Bennett amendment would have allowed townships of more than 10,000 population to receive state road allotments directly, taking jurisdiction away from counties.

Kelly's amendment limited the impact to Wayne County and will require townships to accept legal liability for roads, too. It also gives townships five years to opt out of the deal and return the money and jurisdiction to counties.

"My amendment forces townships to take liabilty. That was my main concern," said Kelly. "It narrows the scope to Wayne County. That's where most of the argument came from."

Wayne County's government is Democratic, while many townships such as Canton have Republican officials. Townships see themselves as being short-changed by county handling of road money.

Rep. Terry London, R-Marysville, chair of the House Transportation Committee, conceded the bills "are not the answer to all of Michigan's road woes" but "provide the necessary foundation to keep the law as enacted in 1976. Dawn Phillips, MPA general counsel, said 10 years of fighting cases convinced her "there's lots of paranoia and distrust of government. It's odd that you should be feeding that distrust by closing down the process."

Ed Petykiewicz, editor of the Ann Arbor News which twice has won court battles against the U-M regents, said the regents' own bad reputation was partly responsible for scaring off sitting presidents. He cited incidents where a faculty review committee, whose records were brought to light by a Freedom of Information Act suit, made derogatory references to "the Armenian candidate" and "the short and stocky candidate" in its secret deliberations.

The committee vote to recommend SB 211, the Open Meetings Act amendment, was:

YES - Republicans Jessie Dalman of Holland, Charles Perricone of Kalamazoo and John

'Neither side likes it, so it must be good legislation.'

Liz Brater
—state representative

Llewellyn of Fremont, and Democrat Clark Harder of Owosso.

NO - Democrats Brater of Ann Arbor and Lingg Brewer of Holt and Republican Harold Voorhees of Wyoming.

Dalman, three-term lawmaker and committee chair, took criticism from both sides for her handling of the bill.

The bills were sponsored by Sen. John Schwarz, R-Battle Creek, and passed by the Senate in March 1995. Dalman waited 20 months, until the lame-duck session, to take them up in the House.

After the open meetings amendment was rejected on Dec. 3, Dalman didn't adjourn the meeting but merely recessed it "at the call of the chair," giving the backers time to work on opponents. She reconvened the meeting Dec. 5.

"I'm concerned with the lame-duck process," said Harder. "I got my meeting notice the day before Thanksgiving. I'm not pleased with the fact that we (members) were bouncing between here and other committees."

Added Brater, a former council member and mayor of Ann Arbor: "I'm disappointed with the process. We were forced to rush. We met on (a Tuesday), not our usual meeting day. We're flying by the seat of our pants. We don't know the implications of this bill."

"The timing is suspect," said Brewer, criticizing Dalman for failing to bring up the bill for 11 months in 1996. Brewer, a former county commissioner and clerk, added, "People in academia, when subject to backroom deals, are first to howl. But here they put on an air of injured self-righteousness."

Voorhees, a former mayor of Wyoming, criticized the bill for setting up one set of rules for the university "niche" and another set for intermediate school districts, community colleges, school districts, counties, cities, villages and townships.

The committee rejected his amendment to extend the closed process to other units of government. The majority viewed it as a "poison pill" amendment, designed to make the bill so unacceptable that it would be defeated.

Harder and Voorhees predicted that other units of government will insist on equal measures of secrecy if the university bills are enacted.

Resolutions:

This New Year will be the best one yet

It's never too soon for making resolutions that will change your life or appearance for the better. And since New Year's Eve is just around the corner, here are some promises I think you should make to yourself.

(And the happiest holidays to all!)

• I resolve to... never wear blue eye shadow. No, that was too easy. You expected me to say that. Let's get down to some more realistic resolutions.

• I resolve to... ignore anybody who wants to tell me which season I am, forever confining me to a limited number of colors. Astute women have always known that any color can be worn as long as it is properly blended, muted, combined or highlighted with complementary colors.

• I resolve to... not put on make-up in public. Watching a woman pull out a mirror, lipbrush, lipstick, eyeliner and try to balance them while applying at the dinner table is not sophisticated. That's why women's rooms are well lit and appointed.

• I resolve to... not wear more than one hairstyle at the same time. Simplicity is so much more attractive and glamorous. Let us also take time to say a fond farewell to the shag, skunk stripes and ponytails on women over 50. They deserve a well earned rest and we can be sure that there are plenty more fashion horrors just lurking around the corner at the mall.

• I resolve to... promise that the more I get tan, the darker the lipstick, not the lighter. The days of Connie Stevens pink are well gone.

• I resolve to... admit to myself that I really know how to get and stay in shape. There are no magic potions, psychic networks, reading of the cards, etc. that will transport me into the next Cindy Crawford. Eating less, exercising more — it's that simple. I also agree to grow old gracefully. Only in Hollywood is there perpetual youth, and the price for that is way too high.

• I resolve to... not buy products just because they have an unpronounceable name or special ingredient. Do you really think that they will work because they are in a foreign language. Does "effetto immediato" make your toes tingle? Does "hydrassimat" make all the difference?

• I resolve to... not base my wardrobe on that of a Calvin Klein or Vivienne Westwood model. I also will agree to leave the wearing of clothes from another decade to somebody who didn't live through that decade the first time.

• I resolve to... leave sherbet colors behind in makeup and enjoy them where they belong — on the dessert tray.

• I resolve to... really start looking after my skin. I promise to have facials regularly and start using a night cream and an eye cream.

• I resolve to... ignore claims of products that they are superior because they contain an exotic plant extract/aromatic juice/bark/royal jelly/whatever — brought to you at great expense from the remotest part of S. America/Borneo/Africa/Siberia/whatever.

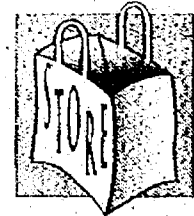

If you are so intent on natural products, then cut out the middle man and wear no makeup or deodorant and smell as nature intended.

• I resolve to... choose my fashion role models carefully. Not all of us can have the luxury that movie stars enjoy with wardrobe consultants, personal makeup artists, hairdressers, etc. at their every moment. On the other hand, it seems clear that Anna Nicole Smith, Pamela Lee Anderson, Courtney Love, Steven Seagal, and others too numerous to humiliate have not yet got around to buying a mirror.

• I resolve to... enjoy life more, worry less, and be certain to catch Jeffrey, starring in Neil Simon's "Plaza Suite" at the Crosswell Opera House in Adrian (two weeks in January — (517) 264-7469 for tickets. For more information about my upcoming appearances in the Detroit area, 1-800-944-6588.

Lauder spa draws Hudson's shoppers

One of the most interesting facets of Hudson's Somerset North store in Troy, is the main floor day spa directed and operated by the Estee Lauder Company. It's a new treat for department store shoppers.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
EDITOR

What's so special about the new Estee Lauder spa at the Hudson's Somerset Collection North store?

Give Estee Lauder president Robin Burns a few moments and she'll tell you with words like "totally pampered, luxurious surprise, and fantasy."

Burns came to Troy recently to check out the finished spa and promote its presence in the community.

Indeed, Lauder's spa is meticulously clean. It's classically designed in antique golds and vanilla creams with privacy doors and curtains throughout. Yet there are many other spas to choose from in town which also claim to pamper and please in elegant surroundings.

"Ah, but all of the products used for our massages, manicures, pedicures, facials and body wraps are Lauder's finest," Burns pointed out. "And this new 3,000-square foot Hudson's spa is one of only seven that we've opened in very exclusive department stores around the country. The demographics here should prove a good partner to this state-of-the-art spa."

Hudson's president Dennis Toffolo called the spa "a fabulous addition to our new store at Somerset. Our guests recognize the Estee Lauder name as one associated with the highest standards of quality and customer service."

Each of the 20-some staff members is a licensed aesthetician or massage therapist, trained to make your visit one you'll want to schedule monthly. The spa has four sound-proof treatment rooms complete with soothing sound effects and aroma therapy collections.

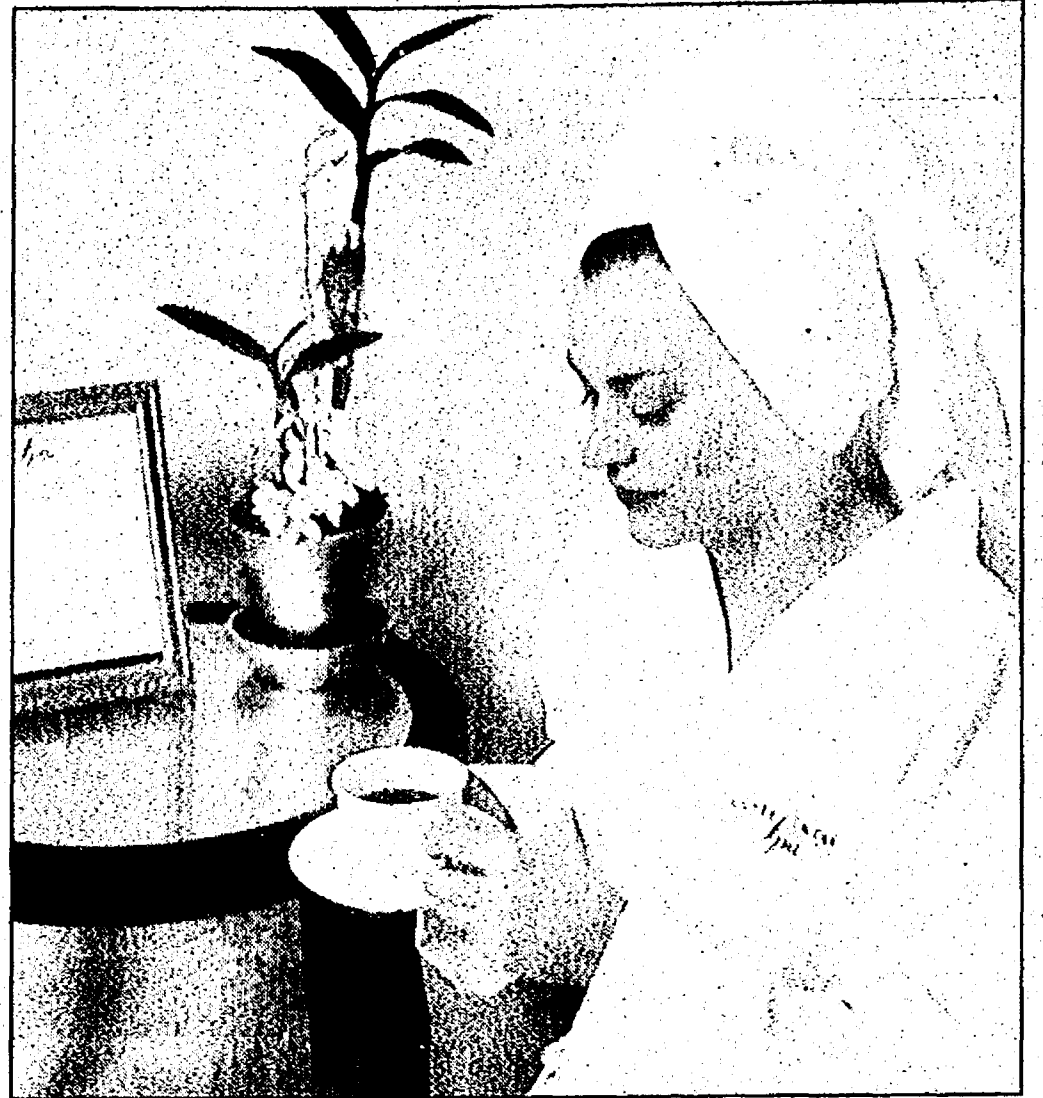

Two pedicure "thrones," have whirlpools below the seat level to eliminate uncomfortable positions. Curtains can be drawn to assure privacy.

Another private "break" room serves beverages and meals delivered from Hudson's Marketplace department. Make-up stations offer lessons and how-to's which Burns especially recommends for teens and bridal party members.

"These days we all lead very busy, very stressful lives and anything we can do to look or feel better is important," she said. "Our customers will find they are well taken care of here."

Aromatic mood treatments

Spa visitors can "positively affect their moods" with an aromatherapy treatment. After filling out a personal profile, a custom blend of oils from herbs and flowers is created for the client and administered in a sound-proof, private room with soothing lighting. From $65.

Burns said the spa business in the U.S. continues to grow as American women adopt the European approach to health and skin care with the emphasis on diet, exercise and environment, not makeup.

She advised that men and women, as young as 13 years, could benefit from facials and massage treatments living in today's world with pollution and reduced Ozone protection.

Burns said Lauder is pleased with the public's response to the spa which was a part of the mall's opening festivities in August. Right now there is a two-month wait for appointments during prime times like weekends, or for groups of friends who want to be treated at the same time. Bridal parties also need to book well in advance of the big day.

In addition to the popular Day at the Spa package for $185 (which includes hand and foot massage, pedicure, manicure, facial, lunch and make-up) Lauder has a holiday special for a year of monthly Day at the Spa visits for $2,000 — complete with a robe and basket of products.

For appointments or more information, call (810) 816-4255.

Parisian event has a French twist

The good life: Buffet's work is recognized worldwide for its whimsical fantasies, cinematic style and naïve impressionism. His creation of the sculpture "Le Sommelier" (known as Gaston) for the Monnaie de Paris, has become the Oscar of the wine industry, handed out to exceptional chefs by Champagne Perrier-Jouet.

Vive La France!

Parisian Department Store salutes the work of Guy Buffet, Saturday, Dec. 14 with a special shopping program showcasing the French artist's line of gift items.

"From 1 to 4 p.m. in the main aisle of the men's department we'll have chanteuse Jeanette Lorente and her accordionist Walt Lipic performing "La Vie En Rose" and other favorites. We're serving refreshments and offering shoppers a wide assortment of Buffet's designs on gift items like signed and numbered prints, five different series of serving plates, neckware and baseball caps," said events director Jane Bassett.

"Unfortunately, Buffet can't be here, but his spirit is surely captured in his fun, very joyful art."

Buffet was born in 1947 in the same Montparnasse neighborhood where Chagall, Picasso, and Matisse had studios. His family owned a restaurant in town and since many of the patrons were artists, the conversation often centered on painting. Buffet's biography has him listening intently as he drew on napkins in a corner of the dining room.

He enrolled in the Beaux Arts de Toulon. After graduation, he joined the French navy serving as a gunner on a cruiser, touring the Pacific Islands, and painting in his spare time.

By 20, he was the official artist of the navy with his work in the Navy Museum in Toulon.

As a civilian he returned to Hawaii, painting for patrons. He was commissioned to do 50 paintings on French Polynesia and 50 paintings on China. His works on the forgotten people and places of Hawaii hang in libraries throughout the state.

Returning to Paris in 1983, Buffet met his wife Laurette, and teamed up with Pierre Ernst, of Perrier-Jouet Champagne where he created many famous images for the world of fine dining. In the last few years, Buffet has enjoyed dual-citizenship residing in both Paris and Maui with his wife and two children. He is focusing his art on the great restaurants in America, acquiring new sponsors such as Absolut Vodka, Grand Marnier and the Ritz Carlton Hotels. His first retrospective book, "The World of Guy Buffet," was recently published.

Last year, he entered the Japanese market under the sponsorship of the Fujisankei Group.

Parisian is at Laurel Park Place, Six Mile/Newburgh, Livonia.

Assistant prosecutor named as new Wayne County circuit judge

An assistant prosecuting attorney was named to fill a vacancy on the 3rd Judicial Circuit Court in Wayne County, Gov. John Engler announced Nov. 27.

Timothy M. Kenny of Livonia will be filling a vacancy created by the resignation of John Kirwin.

"Tim has excelled as an assistant Wayne County prosecuting attorney, dedicating more than 20 years of his professional career to prosecuting criminals who have perpetrated crimes in Wayne County," Engler said. "During his career Tim has distinguished himself as one of the best prosecuting attorneys in Wayne County, and has a proven commitment to hard work and prosecuting the most complex cases. I am confident Tim will continue this tradition of excellence as a Wayne County Circuit judge."

Kenny received his bachelor of science degree from the University of Michigan in 1970 and his juris doctor from the University of Minnesota in 1973. Upon receiving his law degree, Kenny joined the Wayne County Prosecuting Attorney's office.

He later served with the law firm of Larson, Harms, Wright and Bibeau and in 1990 went back to the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office.

Since 1990 Kenny has been assigned to prosecuting major drug crimes in the prosecutor's office in the special crimes division. Kenny is a member of the State Bar of Michigan, the Prosecuting Attorneys Association of Michigan, as well as the Federalist Society and various community volunteer organizations.

Kenny is married to June and they are the parents of two children.

The gubernatorial appointment extends through Jan. 1, 1997.

build upon."

If enacted as revised by his panel, the bills would:

- Put monetary caps on lawsuit damages by uninsured drivers. The state would have no liability if the driver were intoxicated.

- Streamlines the state process for condemning land for highway construction.

Still in the Transportation Committee is Senate Bill 746, which would increase the motor carrier fuel tax for truckers to 18.5 cents a gallon. It provides a credit for the six-cents sales tax paid on diesel fuel.

Refer to Senate Bills 1011 (distribution of road funds), 353 (caps on liability), 778 (condemnation procedures) and 746 (diesel tax) when writing to your lawmaker, State Capitol, Lansing 48909.

TASTE SENSE

LOIS THIELEKE

Early baking, freezing eases holiday pressure

Positioned between two of the largest "cooking, baking, feasting, shopping and frenzied" holidays, it's hard to know where to start. Beat some of the holiday rush with detailed shopping lists for gifts, food and party guests. Early baking and freezing food for gifts or entertaining later will help take the pressure off. Get a head start by baking cookies, candies or breads before the rush. If these are frozen and used within six months, the taste and texture will not be affected. They will taste as fresh as the day you baked them.

To store cookies in the freezer:

- Both frosted and unfrosted cookies can be frozen.
- Arrange cookies in a container lined with plastic wrap or aluminum foil; separated with layers of aluminum foil or plastic wrap.
- Tightly seal container, label and freeze.
- Thaw cookies by allowing them to stand loosely covered on a serving plate for about 20 minutes before serving.

To store candies in the freezer:

- Individually wrap candies in wax paper or plastic wrap; nearly all candies will stay fresher longer.
- Store individually wrapped candies in boxes, tins or carton with tight-fitting lids.
- Exception: store small, hard candies together in a tight fitting jar after dusting with finely ground (not powdered) sugar.
- Do not mix candies that absorb moisture (caramels, mints, hard candies) in the same container as those that lose moisture (fudge, fondants, meringues).
- Use wax paper to individually wrap or separate layers of fudge to avoid sticking.

To store breads in the freezer:

- Baked quick breads such as muffins, biscuits, corn bread and fruit and nut breads should be wrapped air tight before freezing.
- Wrap in double thickness of foil or put in two plastic bags.
- Thaw soft-crust breads at room temperature still inside the wrapping.
- Muffin dough can be frozen right in the muffin tin, wrap well to make hot breakfast muffins when you want them, but you'll need to thaw an hour before baking.
- If you are worried about making foods healthier for the holiday, make over some of your recipes. Nut breads, muffins, carrot cakes and other moist cakes are all candidates for a make-over. Use pureed fruit such as applesauce or prune to replace up to three-quarters of the oil called for in a recipe. In bar cookies, substitute equal amounts of dried fruit in place of nuts or chocolate chips.
- Substitute two egg whites for every egg and use cocoa powder for chocolate. Your old-fashioned cookie recipes don't usually fare too well with fat or sugar reductions, so it may be better to find a recipe designed specifically for that purpose. There are certainly enough cookbooks out there with tested low-fat recipes.

Update recipes for holiday eggnog. Do not serve raw eggs in any form. Eggs need to be cooked for safe consumption. Commercially made eggnogs are safe to serve, they are made with pasteurized eggs. Commercial pasteurization destroys the salmonella bacteria. If you want to make homemade eggnog or homemade ice cream, start with a cooked base, not a raw base.

More helpful hints for the holidays are:

- Pies can be baked and frozen. For best results use within two to four months.
- If you forget to thaw the frozen whipped dessert topping, place the container of topping in the microwave, cook uncovered on medium-low until softened, about one minute.
- Buy candles and freeze, they burn better after being frozen.
- There are holiday food hazards to watch out for while entertaining. If you set food around on low tables during a party, be careful if there are small children around. These items can get caught in their windpipes and they can choke: peanuts, hard candies, popcorn, cocktail franks, small meatballs and raw carrots.

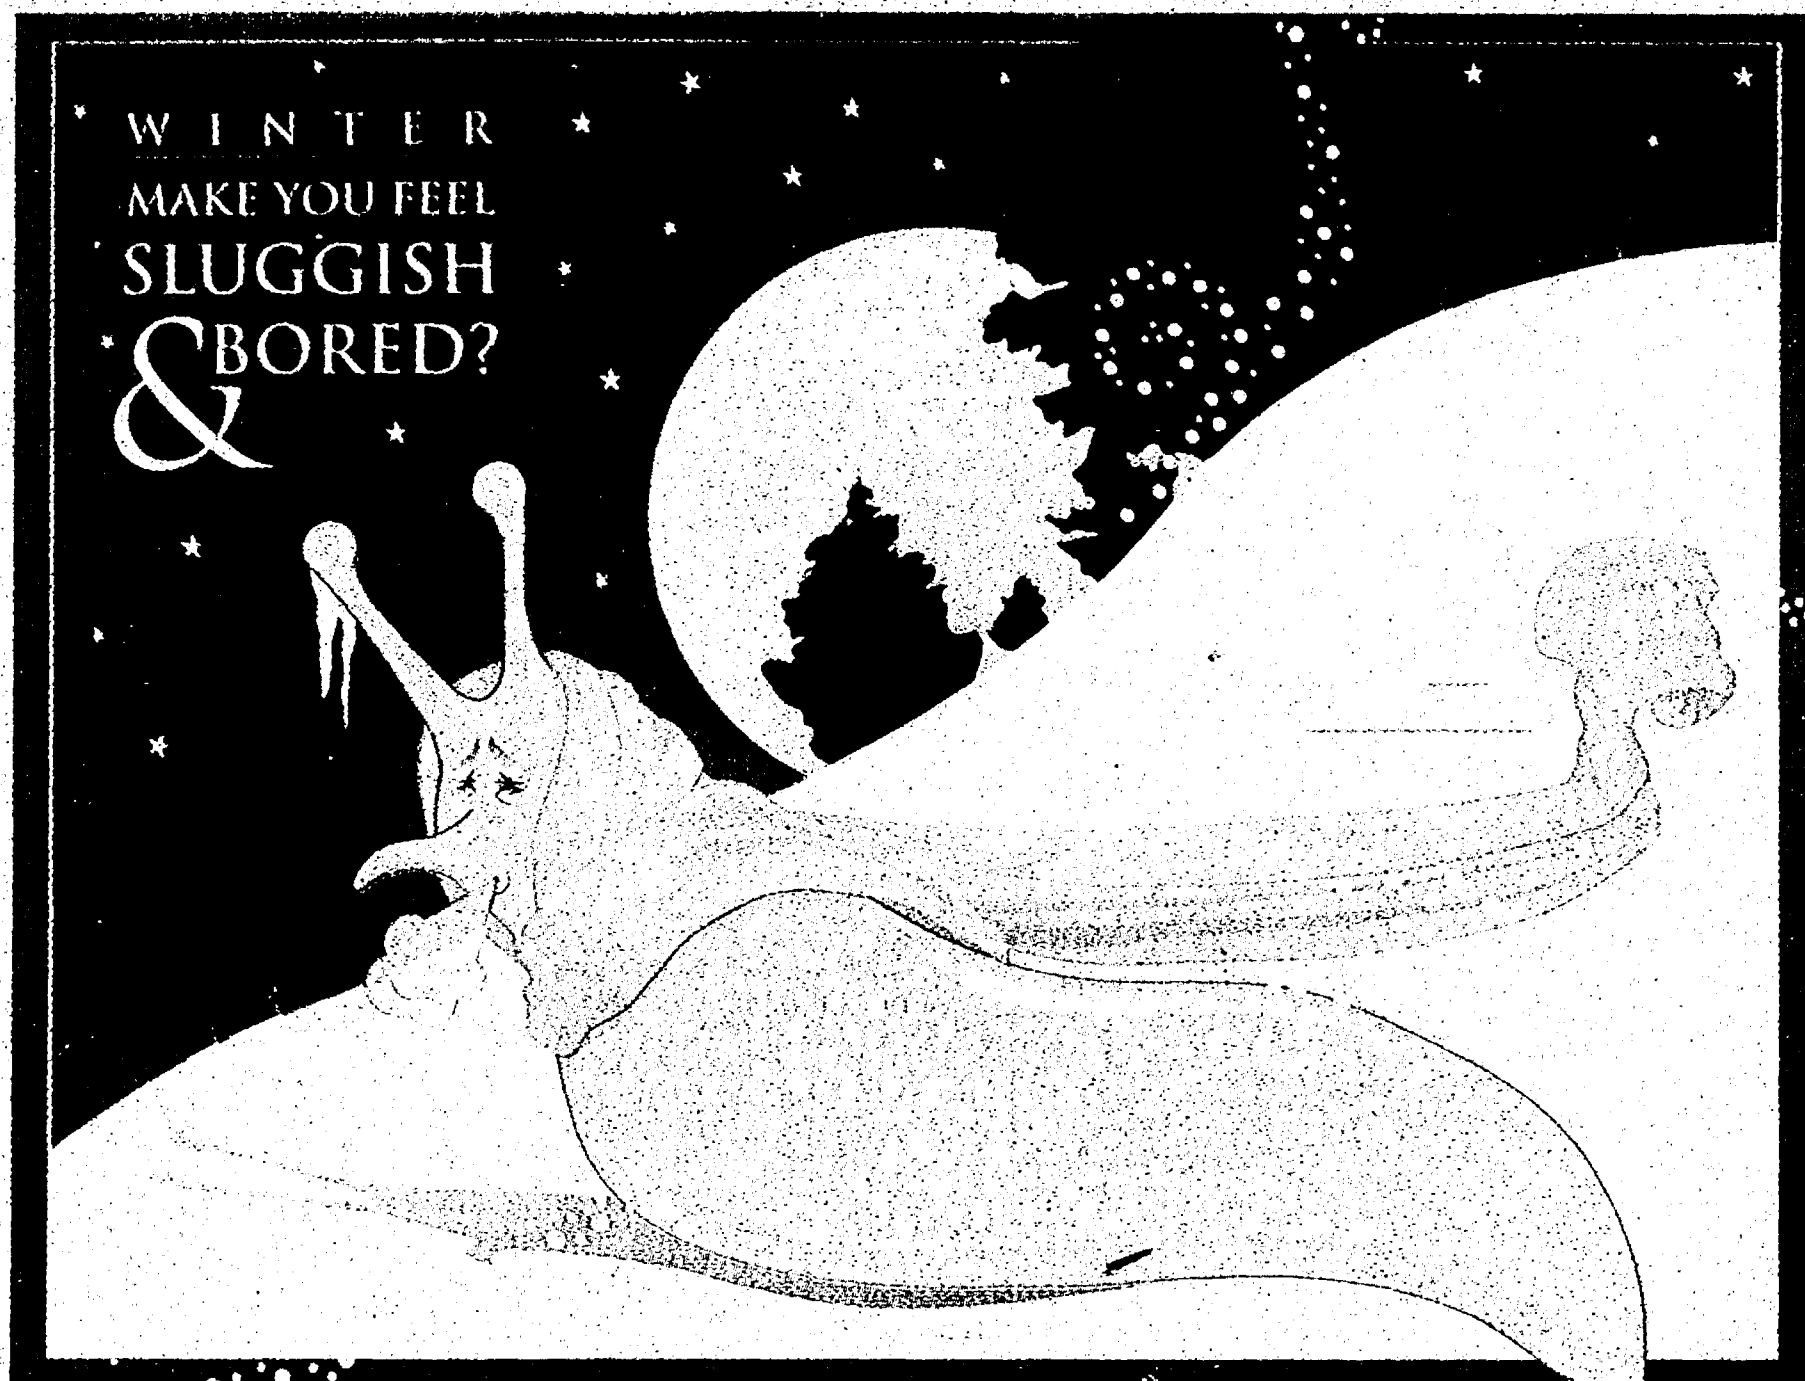

The holidays are for enjoying, not for panicking. Design a plan now to avoid feeling overwhelmed with things left to do. The more things you can do ahead of time, the better off you'll be to avoid the last minute rush.

Lois Thieleke, of Birmingham, is a home economist for the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, Oakland County. For answers to food questions, call the MSU Food and Nutrition Hotline (810) 858-0904.

LOOKING AHEAD

What to watch for in Taste next week:

- Champagnes add sparkle to holidays

This is supposed to be a happy time of the year, when friends and family gather together, exchange gifts and reflect on all that we are thankful for. But for many, the frantic pace, added responsibilities and financial strain of the season can lead to depression. Add fast food eaten in the car, between shopping stops, and we can feel down right sick.

It is common to feel sluggish and bored as the days grow shorter and the weather gets colder. Many people suffer from seasonal adjustment disorder (SAD) this time of year. We drive to work before the sun comes up and drive home in the dark too. Some people respond to the lack of sun by overeating, sleeping more, feeling like they have no energy and even feeling mildly depressed.

To overcome the Holiday Blues and the urge to hibernate, you must be a little selfish. It is important to keep sight of your body's needs and adhere to them in order to stay healthy and ready to tackle the next shopping trip.

Try to avoid the fast food drive-through line. Instead, when you head off on your next shopping junket, pack some easy-to-eat snacks that provide energy and are nutritious. Apples, bananas and other fresh fruit are good choices. Raisins, sunflower seeds and pretzels are easy to eat out of hand. Sandwiches made with whole-grain bread and lean meat are a much better choice than a high-fat burger. If you stop at a fast-food restaurant, choose a plain hamburger with no "special sauce," or a plain baked potato, side salad and juice or low-fat milk.

Exercise! The chart below gives you an idea of some suggested exercises you can do in order to burn off some of the extra food we tend to eat this time of the year. If you are not

Here's one way to think positive! Look at this suggested exercise list before you sit down to a big feast. Eat moderately, but don't deny yourself a taste of any special holiday foods. Then, plan the exercises right into your schedule. You'll feel better knowing that you are in control. These are general guidelines. Remember that each individual burns calories at a different rate, depending on fitness level, age, sex and other factors. These are only meant to be examples.

- Turkey: nine ounces of light and dark meat, with skin and gravy
580 calories
Walk 5.8 miles
- Stuffing: one cup

Rowing machine for 50 minutes
- Candied sweet potatoes: one cup

Water aerobics for one hour
- Green bean casserole: 1/2 cup

Jump rope for 11 minutes
- Cranberry sauce: 1/4 cup

Swim for 14 minutes
- Wine: 10-ounce glass

Stairclimber for 35 minutes accustomed to exercising, begin moderately. A brisk walk can do wonders for your spirit. Learn to cross-country ski or help a child build a snowman. Shovel a shut-ins sidewalk and make two people happy.

Try to put more light into your life. Make sure you get outside during the daylight hours, even on a cloudy day. Soak up the sun wherever you can, but remember that the sun reflecting on snow magnifies its intensity. Be sure to wear sunscreen and sunglasses.

Eat feel-good foods. Food that helps you relax are rich in carbohydrates and low in fat and protein. A baked potato with salsa, a bagel with jam, oatmeal or pretzels can help you wind down. Remember not to add butter or other fats to these foods and you'll feel more relaxed.

To fight drowsiness, eat protein-rich foods like cottage cheese, beans or lentils, fat-free yogurt, a hard-boiled egg or tuna.

Share those Christmas cookies with others. Don't keep them around the house. By giving them to someone else, you will not only get them out of your sight, the act of giving will lift your spirits.

Eat regular meals. It doesn't make sense to starve yourself before a big party then eat out of control when you get there. Eat your normal meals and satisfy your hunger.

Limit alcohol consumption. It's easy to get carried away with all the parties and stress of the season. But booze not only stimulates your appetite, it also clouds your judgment and works as a depressant. Sparkling water and lime is a great alcohol substitute. You'll feel much better the day after a party if you down a few of these instead of martinis, spiked eggnog or champagne.

At parties, concentrate on eating slowly. Put your fork down and make conversation between bites. You'll eat less and enjoy your meal more. It takes about 20 minutes for your brain to tell you that your hunger has been satisfied.

Experiment with the "five minute rule." Wait about five minutes after each course to decide if you are still hungry.

Think positive! Talk back to your "internal critic" that says "I'll always be inferior." Train yourself to recognize self-critical thoughts and think about how these are distorted visions of reality. Strive to want to be well and plan to be well.

Here's an elegant meal in quick time

BY LAURA L. SYKES
SPECIAL WRITER

The holiday season can leave us feeling rushed and tired. With so many functions to attend, gifts to buy and chores to do, it is no wonder we don't look forward to standing over a stove in the evening. Yet, healthy meals don't have to be time consuming.

This month's recipe, Chicken with Mushroom Gravy, is an elegant meal with minimal preparation. Served with a tossed salad and steamed green vegetables, it is nutritious and filling.

The original recipe called for one pound of chicken breasts. With the skin, there are 784 calories, 41.6 grams of fat and 288 milligrams of cholesterol.

If we replace the original chicken with one pound of boneless, skinless chicken breast meat, we lower the calories to 498, contribute only 6.4 grams of fat and reduce the cholesterol to 256 milligrams.

Sour cream should always be substituted in a recipe for a lower fat alternative. Three quarters of a cup of sour cream contains 36.2 grams of fat and 369.6 calories. Substituting nonfat yogurt or nonfat sour cream will eliminate all the fat from this ingredient and contribute only 100 calories!

Margarine is added to most recipes to provide moisture. Since yogurt is higher in water content than sour cream, the excess liquid from the yogurt will allow us to reduce the amount of margarine.

Don't forget to use low-fat or fat-free salad dressing! Fat grams and calories can add up quickly if you aren't careful.

Cookbooks make great holiday gifts

RENEE SKOGLUND
STAFF WRITER

The holiday season is upon us, a time for gathering friends around our dinner table and giving gifts to our loved ones. What better gift to give, or receive, than a beautiful cookbook that unravels the secrets of making the perfect red wine risotto or baked apples with caramel rum-raisin sauce.

The following cookbooks promise to keep the sweet and savory smells of holiday cooking wafting through your home all year long:

- "Unplugged Kitchen" by Viana La Place, (William Morrow & Company, Inc., $25)

The simply illustrated white cover sets the theme for this cookbook's contents: Eloquent, simple everyday cooking that reflects the author's Italian and European heritage. "Spaghetti with Tender Parsley and Lemon" comes accented with little more than mint leaves, sea salt, black pepper and lemons. "Unplugged Kitchen" presents its recipes for salads, stews, soups, appetizers, pastas and desserts in a visually uncluttered manner. La Place writes sensually, her comments often stirring up the feel of warm Mediterranean breezes. No food processors used in this book, only the pleasurable physical contact between hand and food.

- "Rick Bayless's Mexican Kitchen," (Scribner $35).

The author, an acclaimed chef and restaurant owner, says Mexican cuisine is "rich with complex flavors, remarkably delicious, invigorating and satisfying." And it all starts with the "essential recipes," 14 building blocks of salsas, sauces and seasonings that weave their way through many of this cookbook's more than 160 recipes. Thought that pumpkins were only for carving? Try "Smoky Braised Mexican Pumpkin with Seared White Onions." How

A quick look:

- "Healthy Homestyle Desserts"
- "Four-Star Desserts"

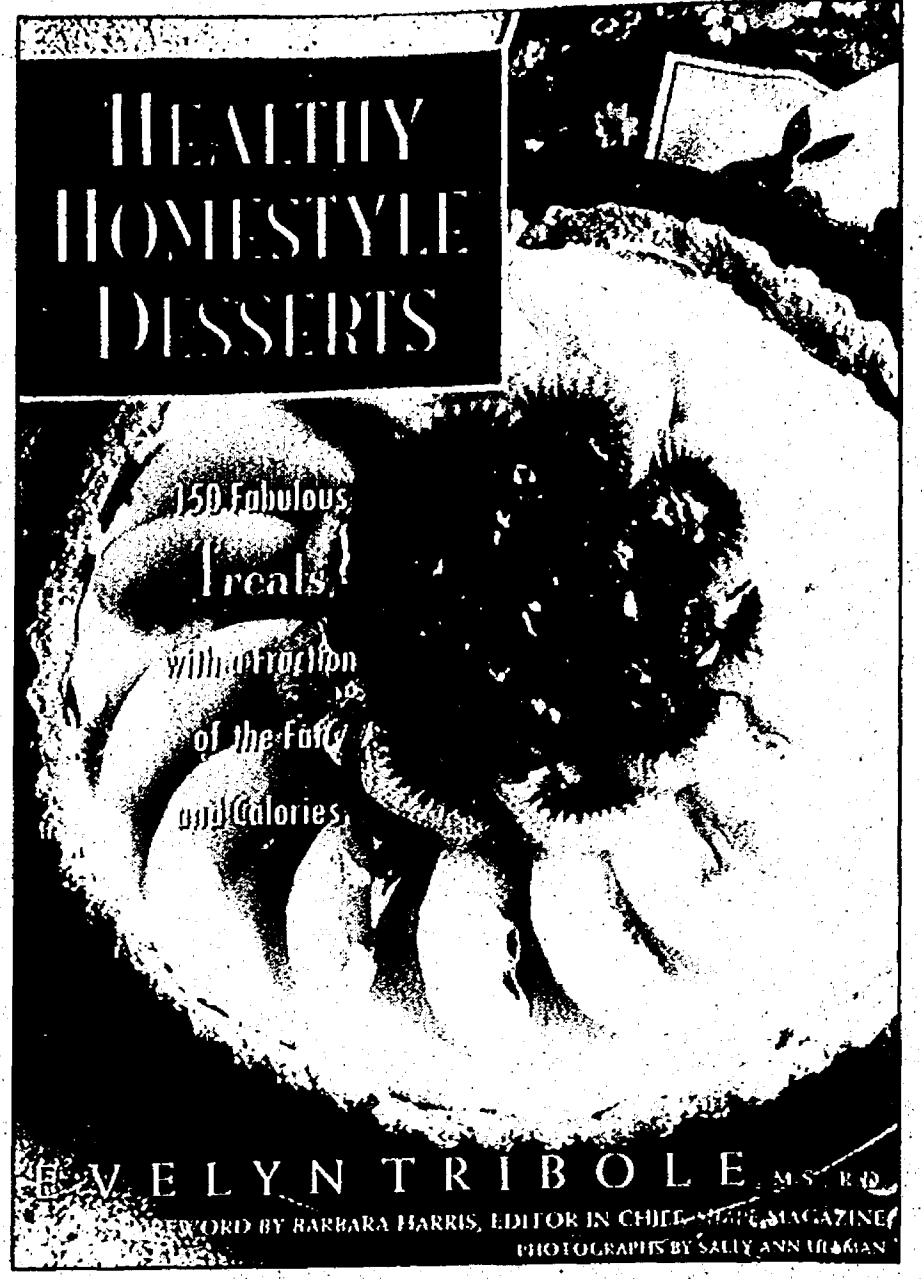

many ways do you love tacos? Try a dozen, including "Crispy Black Bean-Bacon Tacos" or "Tacos of Creamy Braised Chard, Potatoes and Poblanos." From soups to desserts, Mexican Kitchen celebrates the marriage of full-flavored cooking with simplicity of preparation.

- "365 Easy One-Dish Meals" by Natalie Haughton, (Harper & Row $15.95).

Flip through this compact, spiral-bound cookbook for a year's worth of great recipes like "Mom's Fast Chili," "Easy Minestrone" or "Super Taco Skillet Pie." Easy One-Dish Meals makes efficient use of your skillet, slow cooker and casserole dishes, and few recipes call for more than 20 minutes preparation time. The recipes may be quick, but they're hearty, varied and make the best of American cooking available to today's busy cooks. No illustrations; just neat, easy-to-read black and white print.

- "Old-Fashioned Christmas Cookbook," (Time-Life Books $24.95)

Beautifully illustrated glossy pages of memorable Christmas recipes tempt the eye and the palate in this cookbook: "Christmas Eve Borscht with Polish Mushroom Pockets," "Glazed Carrots with Red Grapes," "Honey-Glazed Roast Healthy desserts: "Healthy Homestyle Desserts," by Evelyn Tribole is sure to delight the calorie conscious on your holiday gift list.

Turkey with Orange and Sweet Potato Stuffing," and "Tourtiere," a savory, spicy pork pie eaten France on Christmas Eve. And what's a Christmas cookbook without recipes for plum pudding and sugar plum? This one has both, as well as ideas for food gifts and holiday decorations. A perfect Christmas gift for your favorite host or hostess.

- "Healthy Homestyle Desserts" by Evelyn Tribole, (Viking $24.95)

The author, a registered dietitian, proves that "healthy desserts" is not an oxymoron with the 150 great recipes she includes in this cookbook. If "Frozen Peanut Butter Fudge Pie," "Triple-Layer German Chocolate Cake" or "Fudgy Blackbottom Pie" is not on your menu, put it there. Tribole puts a healthy twist on fatty desserts by substituting low-and-no-fat products, egg substitutes, buttermilk and crispy cereals for there fatty counterparts. Author of the best-selling "Healthy Homestyle Cooking," has appeared on ABC's "Good Morning America" and written nutritional features for Good Housekeeping, Redbook and USA Today. "Healthy Homestyle Desserts" includes substitution and quantity reduction charts.

- "Four-Star Desserts" by Emily Luchetti, (Harper Collins $32.50)

Both the illustrations and the recipes in this compact, glossy-paged cookbook are luscious. The chapters are divided according to main ingredients, like chocolate, and summer berries. The author's pairing of nouns and adjectives make every recipe sound appealing. Who could resist "Morning Apple Cake," "Raspberry Champagne Cream Cake," or "Tippy Italian Nectarines"? These are not heart-smart recipes, but when cream, sugar and butter result in a dessert art form, who cares. Luchetti, author of "Stars Desserts," is the former pastry chef of the highly acclaimed San Francisco brasserie, Stars.

Hanukkah recipes can be easy to make

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In the November-December issue of the culinary newsletter "Cinnamon Hearts," visiting chef Dorothy Baldauf shares her recipes for Hanukkah. Hanukkah Fruit Fritters are easy to make, using a fresh banana and apple and canned, well-drained pineapple pieces. The recipe for Sweet Israeli Chicken is made with dried fruits and walnuts, but canned fruits or other nuts can also be used.

SWEET ISRAELI CHICKEN

2 pounds chicken, cut into

- small pieces
- 25 dried apricots, or apricots and prunes
- 4 ounces orange, apricot or pomegranate preserves or marmalade
- 1/2 cup chopped walnuts or almonds
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 1/2 cup raisins
- 1/2 cup heavy grape juice or kosher blackberry wine
- 1 1/2 tablespoons vinegar
- 3 cloves minced garlic
- 1 large onion, thinly sliced
- 1/3rd cup honey

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F.

Rinse chicken pieces and pat dry. Place in a large roasting dish or casserole.

Combine the rest of the ingredients in a large bowl and mix well. Pour the mixture over the chicken. Bake for 1 1/2 hours or until golden brown, basting every 15 minutes. Add water, if necessary. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Note: Dried apples or pears, or canned fruits like mandarin oranges, or fresh peaches, oranges or tangerines may be used in place of the dried apricots or apricots and prunes. Other nuts like cashews, pistachios or hazelnuts may be used for variety.

HANUKKAH FRUIT FRITTERS

- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon melted butter
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- Vegetable oil
- 1 banana, sliced
- 1 apple, peeled, cored and thinly sliced
- 6 slices canned, well-drained pineapple pieces

Prepare batter by beating together the egg, milk and melted butter.

Sift the dry ingredients together and blend with liquid ingredients. Beat until smooth and no lumps remain (flour may be added to make a stiff, but not dry, batter).

Heat vegetable oil to a depth of 1/2-inch in a large, heavy skillet. (Note: Oil should be no less than 365 degrees F and should never be smoking. Let oil reheat between batches.)

Stir well-dried fruit slices into batter; drain, drop by full tablespoons into oil. Fry until brown on both sides.

Lift fritters out with a slotted spoon and dry on absorbent paper. Serve-hot with a sprinkling of confectioners' sugar. Makes 6 servings.

Eating tips for the holidays

BY DR BASIL LUCAK
NEW YORK UNIVERSITY MEDICAL CENTER

A pinch of moderation and a dash of common sense can help prevent your holiday meals from becoming a recipe for heartburn and the discomfort that goes with it.

Heartburn is an irritation of the esophagus - the tube connecting the throat and the stomach. It is often caused by eating too much too quickly.

Ordinarily, after you swallow, food travels down the esophagus to the junction of the esophagus and stomach where there is a valvelike mechanism known as the lower esophageal sphincter.

This muscular ring generally opens only to allow food into the stomach or to permit the escape of excess gas in the form of a burp.

When you overeat or eat too fast, you strain the capacity of the digestive tract to process the food and cause a buildup of pressure in the stomach.

This excess causes a buildup of pressure in the stomach that forces the opening of the lower esophageal sphincter. As a consequence, the acids and gastric juices used in digestion within the stomach reflux, or flow back into, and irritate the esophagus.

Pacing yourself and taking time to enjoy the food you eat can help prevent one part of the problem. But it's also important to monitor when and what you eat and drink.

If you want to reduce the chance of reflux, begin by avoiding an excess of alcoholic drinks or caffeinated beverages, such as coffee, tea or colas.

Alcoholic drinks pose additional problems because they serve as irritants to the digestive tract.

Another step to avoid heartburn is to limit the amount of fried or high-fat foods that you eat - gravies, sausage stuffing and ham for example.

It generally takes two-to-three hours for digestion within the stomach to be completed and the stomach to empty.

But high-fat foods slow the digestive process, leading to an uncomfortable, bloated sensation. They can also stimulate reflux by inducing relaxation of the lower esophageal sphincter.

Despite their best intentions, many people overdo their holiday cheer. If this is the case, medications, such as antacids or histamine receptor antagonists, now available over-the-counter, can provide relief.

Be aware, however, that these medications are for occasional use and are not a substitute for restraint at the dinner table.

Dr. Basil Lucak is a Clinical Assistant Professor of Medicine at New York University School of Medicine.

Readers share memories of frantic toy searches

There have been Barbies, Masters of the Universe and Buzz Lightyear dolls. But the Cabbage Patch Kids are unparalleled in toy-shopping folklore.

Thirteen years after their introduction, the pop-eyed dolls with puffy cheeks and outstretched, give-me-a-hug arms provoke stories of Christmas shopping horrors ... well, experiences ... from Observer & Eccentric readers.

Of the 19 entries to our Holiday Toy Search contest, seven were reminiscences of the Cabbage Patch Wars. Barbie (three essays) was a distant second. No other toy was mentioned more than once.

Some samples: "Behind us was a blur of faces and bodies, running and yelling 'Cabbage Patch Dolls!' We lunged towards the cart and grabbed at the boxes. Sweet victory, I had two dolls in my hands. ..." (Jan Alpert of West Bloomfield.)

"I went on daily reconnaissance missions to all the big toy stores and a lot of little ones, too." (Jo Ann Tierney of Farmington Hills.)

"My phone was ringing when I walked in, and a lady offered me $100 for the doll - she was on a pay phone at Meijer's." (Lynn Martel of Livonia.)

Stories about hunting for other toys proved just as interesting, however. Margaret Nottingham of Troy wrote of the search for a Bathtub Baby doll for granddaughter Amanda. "Even her grandpa, who hates shopping, went to Meijer's and moved lots of Cabbage Patch Dollies to look for her."

Audrey Kohn of Westland admitted Masters of the Universe turned her "from a nice, calm mother to a wild, fighting get-out-of-my-way mom!"

Deborah Kainu wrote a charming piece about hiding two scarce Buzz Lightyears (from "Toy Story") in another section of the store, giving her time to get her checkbook and return. The Christmas gift to son Timothy - the only thing he wanted - brought joy to some rough times during the family's move to Michigan. (But Kainu added: "P.S. I hope the same thing doesn't happen this year with 'Space Jam!'")

The contest was inspired by the current holiday flick "Jingle All the Way," in which Arnold Schwarzenegger as Howard Langston is frantically seeking the season's hottest action figure - Turbo Man - on Christmas Eve. His odyssey pits him against mail carrier Myron (Sinbad), who is also out for the last Turbo Man, a shady Santa (James Belushi) and a tough police officer (Robert Conrad).

Each of our 19 winners is receiving a "Jingle All the Way" prize package - a memo board, T-shirt, stocking cap and coloring book.

Thanks for the memories.

Seminars offered in Livonia for coping with grief during holidays

GranCare Hospice in Livonia is offering two seminars, "Bittersweet Celebration: Coping With Grief During the Holidays," on Tuesday from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. and on Wednesday from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

"Grief during the holidays is often intensified because of the fantasy society has created of the 'perfect holiday,'" said Joan Southworth, GranCare bereavement counselor. "The grieving person misses the intimacy and closeness of their loved one, making coping with their absence even more difficult."

The seminars are open to the public at no charge. Southworth offers these tips for coping with grief over the holidays:

- Plan ahead. Prepare emotionally by thinking about the holidays and making a plan for celebrating without your loved one. Talk over your plan with family and friends.
- Break tradition. Celebrate the holidays differently by creating new traditions like opening gifts at your child's home instead of yours, opening gifts at a different time.
- Allow yourself to grieve. Take time to feel sadness, but set a limit of 15 or maybe 30 minutes. Cry if you need to. Tears are normal and can be healing.
- Be aware of possible grief attacks. You may feel emotionally overwhelmed when you hear a special holiday song or drive by familiar holiday displays. Allow yourself to feel what you feel. Afterward, you will probably be better able to cope with your activities.
- Recognize that holiday stress and distress are normal. People expect holidays to mean family closeness, relaxation, intimacy and togetherness. Realize that, in reality, most of us experience some level of holiday stress, anxiety and sometimes disappointment, even when not grieving. We often remember only the good parts of holidays and not the anxieties, even when not grieving. We often remember only the good parts and not the anxieties, even when loved ones were here to celebrate.
- Reminisce about past holidays. Talk about your loved one and holidays you've shared. Encourage others to share with you about your loved one who has died.
- Talk about your feelings. Choose a family member or friend with whom you feel comfortable sharing your feelings. Or, join a support group.
- Start a new ritual in your loved one's memory. Volunteer at a soup kitchen or nursing home, or make a special decoration that you display in a visible spot.
- Learn to ask for help. Be specific about what you need from family and friends. Ask for help with decorating, shopping, cooking and baking or addressing holiday cards.

GranCare Hospice is located at 38935 Ann Arbor Road between I-275 and Hix Road. For more information, call (313) 432-6565, Ext. 114, or 1-800-932-5202.

House votes to sell state's vaccine manufacturing laboratory

The House of Representatives voted to sell the state's vaccine manufacturing laboratory, the nation's last such state-owned facility, and sent the bill to the Senate.

The vote was 66-32. Republican Lyn Bankes of Redford joined Democrats Maxine Berman of Southfield, Eileen DeHart of Westland and Tom Kelly of Wayne in opposing the House Bill 6192 on Dec. 3.

"The entire process has been co-opted by the executive branch for the last four years," Berman objected. "The Legislature held no hearings until the bill was presented to them."

"The labs should not have been allowed to deteriorate, but since (Gov. John Engler's) administration decided to have this happen, we should at least get fair value for what we are giving up."

The Michigan Biologic Products Institute's childhood vaccine sales have dwindled in recent years. But it is the only licensed manufacturer of the anthrax vaccine, an inoculation against chemical warfare that the Pentagon requires for active-duty personnel.

HB 6192, which drew opposition, authorizes the lab's sale. A second bill, passed, 98-0, provides for early retirement options and a one-year job guarantee for employees after the sale.

Youth bills OK'd

Three bills by Sen. Mike Rogers, R-Brighton, would crack down on juvenile home escapees if signed by the governor. The House passed them 88-0 and the Senate concurred in amendments 34-0 during the post-election session.

Aimed at the W.J. Maxey home in Livingston County but applying to all juvenile residences, the bills require state officials to notify local police departments and State Police of escapes and place the notification on the law enforcement information network (LEIN).

Lists to be public

Private citizens would have access to records of sex offenders in their community under a Senate-passed bill waiting House action.

"We now have 20,384 individuals in Michigan's sex offender registry," said Sen. Michael Bouchard, R-Birmingham, the bill's sponsor. "While that's a startling number, it also allows law enforcement personnel to monitor the whereabouts of these potentially dangerous individuals."

"Also, information like this will empower people to take preventive actions to protect themselves and their children," he said, citing the case of two girls murdered in 1992 by repeat sex offender Leslie A. Williams.

Opponents, however, fear vigilante action may be taken against ex-convicts who have served their prison terms.

Refer to SB 959 when writing to your state representative, State Capitol, Lansing 48909.

Liquor bill passes

Sen. Willis Bullard Jr., R-Milford, said his Senate-passed bill will help protect the public and employees as the Liquor Control Commission privatizes its operations.

His SB 1171, passed Dec. 4 and sent to the House, would:

- Reduce the state's markup from 65 percent to 55 percent.
- Ensures that authorized distribution agents (ADAs) will provide weekly deliveries and 12 emergency deliveries to retailers and prohibit the charging of split-case and delivery fees.
- Prohibits ADAs from having an interest in a retailer of liquor.
- Requires that liquor distributors be located in Michigan and encourages them to hire former state LCC employees.

House committee and may die there. Senate Bill 766, sponsored by former Sen. Dave Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, is in the Local Government Committee.

Lame-duck Rep. Sandy Hill, R-Montrose, is seeking a House vote to discharge the bill from committee but so far has been unsuccessful.

"I have heard from many police officers and firefighters on this issue who feel their rights are being violated," said Hill. "People should be allowed to live where they wish if they can do their jobs competently."

Edith Raleigh

New dean of graduate studies chosen

Dr. Edith Raleigh has been promoted to the dean of graduate studies at Madonna University.

Raleigh accepted the half-time appointment. Raleigh also will remain in her present position, professor and coordinator of nursing research, on a 50 percent basis. She became a member of Madonna University in 1991 and is entering her sixth year at the university. Raleigh will become dean effective in January and will replace Dean Ernest Nolan who was promoted to vice president for academic affairs at Madonna University.

"I believe Madonna University's graduate program will continue to mushroom," Raleigh said. "Students cite many reasons for coming to our university such as the individual attention they receive and for the fact they are not just a number."

"Through the graduate program we will continue to focus on these strengths. I am excited about this opportunity and eager to work more closely with the colleges and especially the deans, who are very approachable and are committed to higher education."

The new dean received her bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan and her master's and doctorate degrees from Wayne State University.

After graduating with her doctorate, Raleigh was awarded a postdoctoral fellow at the University of Michigan's School of Nursing where she developed and conducted research projects. While attending WSU and U of M, she served as an adviser for graduate students. Advising graduate students, especially in the research aspect of graduate studies, has always been one of her strongest interests.

Raleigh worked for Harper-Grace Hospitals in Detroit as an associate corporate director of nursing and research and a nurse researcher.

S'craft has martial arts classes

For a different holiday gift that teaches your child discipline and skills, Schoolcraft College is offering a martial arts holiday camp on Dec. 26, 27, 29 and Jan. 2 and 3.

Students may choose ninja, karate, aikido and tai-chi sessions. Ninja classes are designed only for boys ages 1 to 14. Karate classes will be offered for boys and girls, with separate sessions for ages 7-10, 11-15 and 16 and older.

The aikido sessions are for boys, ages 12-15; girls, 12-17 and a class of 18-years-old and older men and women. Tai-Chi self-defense classes will be offered to boys and girls, with sessions for ages 11-17 and ages 18 and older.

The holiday camp's head instructor is Robert Skinner, owner of a martial arts training club for 28 years and the holder of a fourth-degree black belt in karate, a third degree black belt in judo and a first degree black belt in aikido.

There are specific requirements for the ninja, aikido and tai-chi classes. All participants must have a copy of their birth certificates at registration, and camp organizers recommend a complete physical examination by a qualified physician.

Fees for the camp range between $250 and $270, depending on the participants age. All payments must be received by Dec. 13 and there will be no refunds. To register or for more information, contact Schoolcraft at 462-4413.

Schoolcraft College is located at 18600 Haggerty Road, between Six and Seven Mile Roads just west of I-275.

Car dealer donates food to families

Kit Tennyson, the owner of Tennyson Chevrolet, gave something back to the Livonia community through his annual holiday turkey donation. This year he provided over 200 pounds of turkey to families of the Livonia Head Start program.

"I am very impressed with the number of children's lives the Livonia Head Start program enriches and wanted to show my support for the program as well as the community," Tennyson said.

Donna Pomerson, director of the Livonia Head Start program, was pleased with the generosity of Tennyson.

"Community support and a partnership with business is what fuels the program," Pomerson said. "A federal grant only covers 80 percent of the program expenses, and we are grateful for the donation from Tennyson."

The Livonia Head Start program has an enrollment of 135 students. The program's goal is to break the cycle of poverty. The program provides emotional, social, and nutritional programs designed to meet the needs of low-income families.

Established in 1955, Tennyson Chevrolet supports various organizations including the Muscular Dystrophy Association, Livonia YMCA and Focus:HOPE. Tennyson is a member of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce and Livonia Rotary Club.

Madonna spikers spiked

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

An era has ended.

And it wasn't with the flourish many of Madonna University's volleyball team had hoped for. There was no NAIA championship banner to hoist to the rafters.

The Lady Crusaders could not survive a very challenging pool in the 20-team national tournament, hosted by Point Loma Nazarene College in San Diego. They split their two matches and were eliminated from tournament competition Friday morning by No. 1-ranked Brigham Young University-Hawaii.

But perhaps Madonna's defining moment came the previous day.

The Crusaders, seeded eighth, knew losing more than one pool-play match would almost certainly prevent them from advancing to the quarterfinals. And with unbeaten BYU-Hawaii in their pool, slip-ups were unallowable.

But on Wednesday, Madonna was shocked by host Point Loma in their pool opener, losing 15-10, 15-12, 16-14. With BYU-Hawaii yet to come, the Crusaders knew they were in big trouble.

But they never surrendered. On Thursday, they bounced back to beat both Hastings College (Neb.) 15-9, 15-12, 4-15, 15-8 and Peru State (Neb.) 8-15, 15-9, 15-10, 15-11.

When Peru State upset BYU-Hawaii, it created

COLLEGE SPORTS

a logjam at the top of the pool, with four teams still alive. But on Friday, the Crusaders could not cope with BYU-Hawaii, losing 15-8, 15-5, 15-6.

The 2-2 match record gives Madonna 52 wins — most this season in the NAIA and a school-record total — against six losses.

"I think we had the toughest pool in the tournament," said Madonna coach Jerry Abraham. "We played very, very well this weekend... we bounced back to beat Hastings and Peru State."

Unfortunately, the Crusaders could not sustain their momentum. "We knew what we had to do, we just couldn't beat Hawaii, that's all," Abraham added with more than a little sarcasm. "If we had to go out, at least it's nice to know we went out against the best team in the nation."

"There was nothing to be ashamed of."

For the tournament, Madonna was paced by Julie Martin (from Livonia Stevenson) with 57 kills and 32 blocks; Kelly McCausland (Redford Union) with 50 kills, 29 digs and 15 blocks; Karin Sisung, with 39 kills, four service aces and 38 digs; Heather Steinhilper, with 14 kills, 38 digs and 18 blocks; Erin Comment, with 20 kills and 36 digs; and Meg Paris, with 158 assists-to-kills, four aces, 24 digs and 10 blocks.

"It's been a dream season, no question about it,"

Abraham summarized.

True enough, and for four seniors — Martin, McCausland, Steinhilper and Paris — the dream is over.

Schoolcraft steams

Schoolcraft College's women's basketball team put their game into high gear in the second half to overcome a six-point deficit Wednesday and roll over host Kalamazoo Valley CC 83-68.

The victory pushed SC's record to 4-1.

After converting just 14-of-36 floor shots (38.9 percent) in the first half to fall behind 41-35 at the intermission, the Lady Ocelots found their rhythm, offensively and defensively. They hit 18-of-36 from the field (50 percent) in the second half while limiting KVCC to 9-of-44 shooting (20.5 percent), outscoring their hosts 48-27.

Julie Schmidt paced SC with 19 points, 15 rebounds and five assists. Sheilah Coulter and Crissy Harmon added 16 points apiece, Coulter getting 10 boards, and Chris Edwards totaled 12 points and eight rebounds.

KVCC (2-4) had four players in double-figures in scoring: Casey Monroe, 15 points; Kelly Vanderstelt and Mandy Shellenberger, 11 apiece; and Katie Mein, 10.

SC continues its season-starting road trip with a game at Glen Oaks CC at 6 p.m. Wednesday, followed by a trip to the Sullivan College Classic this weekend.

Franklin win a big hit for fans

For Livonia Franklin's Justin Sawyer, the wait only took four games. For seven of his teammates, the wait was four years.

Sawyer's two goals Wednesday lifted Livonia Franklin to a 3-1 victory over rival Livonia Churchill in Suburban High School Hockey League action at Eddie Edgar Arena.

It was the first time the Patriots had beaten the Chargers in four years, and the first time for seven Franklin seniors.

Sawyer, a freshman right winger, scored the first and last Franklin goal in a game that had enough emotion to be a playoff game.

To Churchill's defense, the Chargers played without three of their top players and without Coach, Jeff Hatley, serving the first half of his two-game suspension after receiving a game misconduct in Churchill's previous game.

Also missing were defensemen Brandon Martoia (suspended) and centers Ed Rossetto and Anton Sutofsky (both injured).

Hatley's absence forced assistant coach Jamie Allen to take over with bench duties. Admitting his first head coaching experience was fun, Allen still felt like the Chargers should have won.

"We took some dumb penalties and they took advantage of them," Allen said. "But we had three of our top five players out and that did have an impact."

But even being shorthanded, the Chargers (2-2) jumped out to the lead six minutes into the game when senior Mike Boote blasted a shot past Franklin goalkeeper Tom Taylor. Jason Hendrian assisted.

It took the Patriots only 23 seconds to tie the game. Sophomore Tony Saia broke away from the Churchill defense and hit the goalpost with his shot. Sawyer pounced on the rebound and tipped it by Churchill goalie Mark Felker.

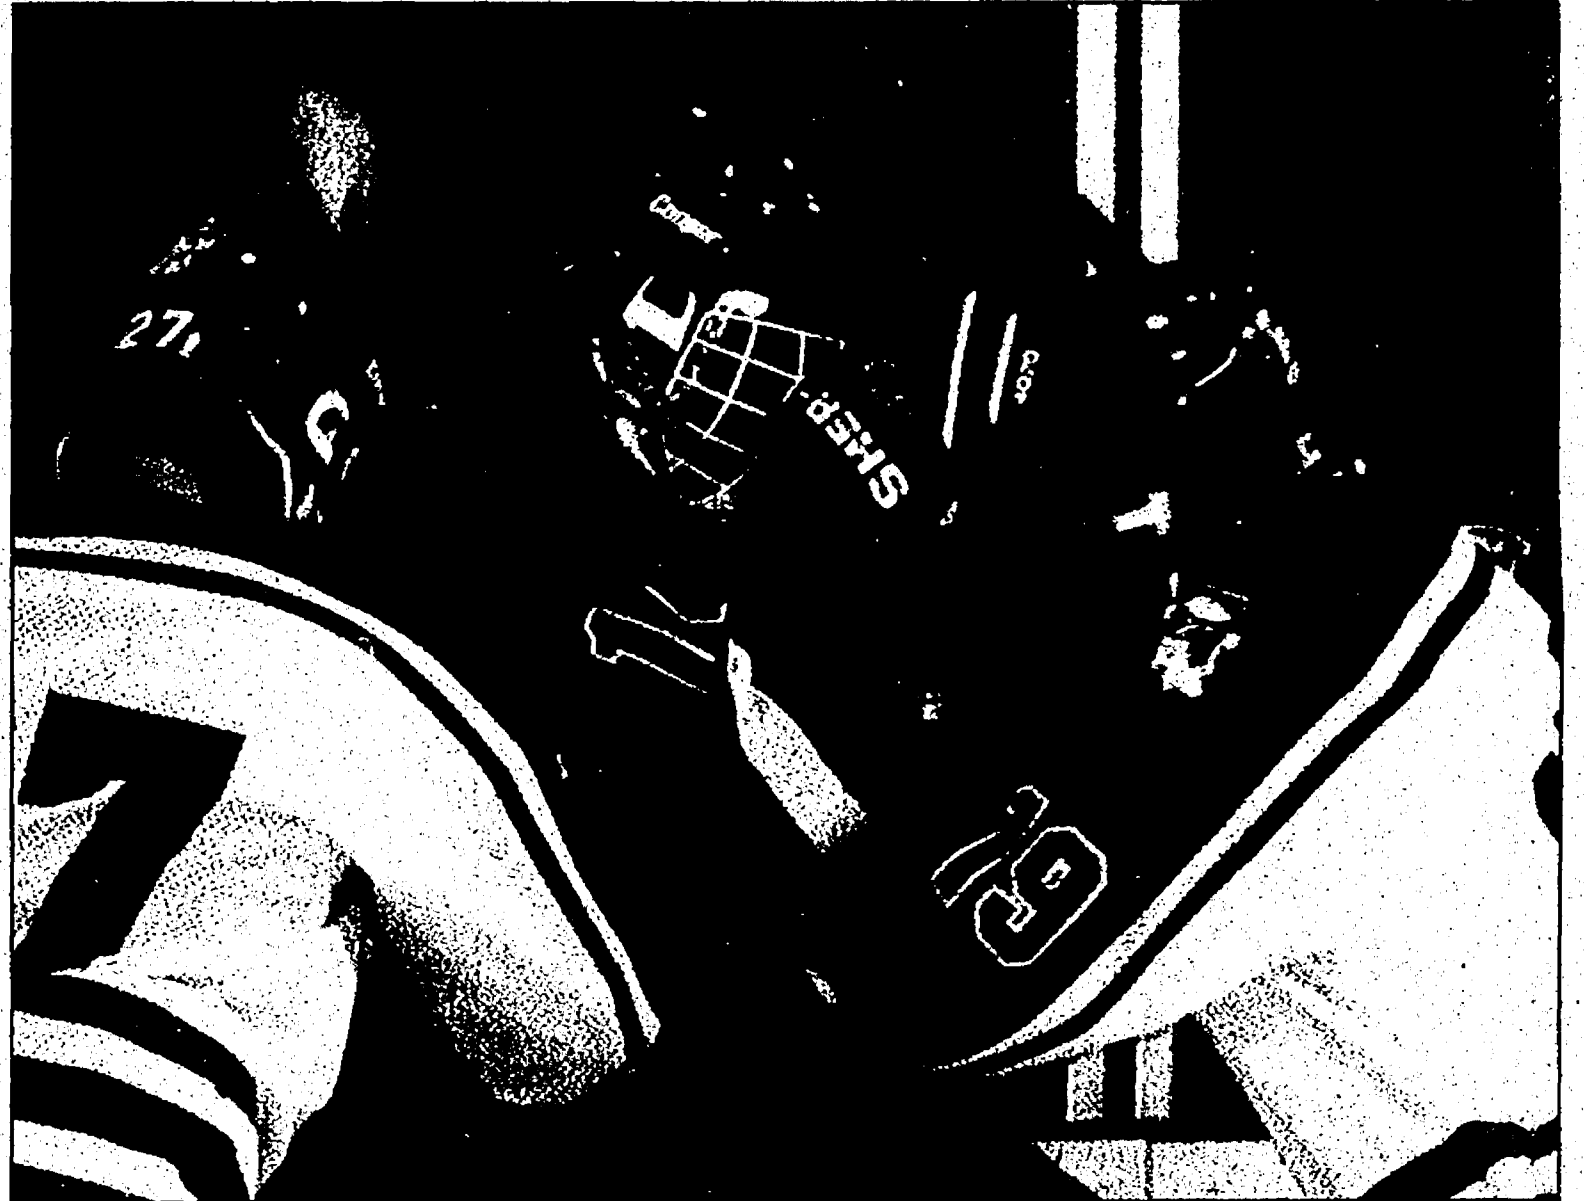

The second period was scoreless even though Churchill dominated with an 8-1 shot edge. The Chargers hurt themselves with three of their 10 penalties in the period.

"I wasn't disappointed to be tied at the end of the period because both teams had their chances," Allen said. "We killed off some penalties and I felt we had the momentum going into the third period."

"We played well in the first period and outworked them but then our systems totally broke down in the second period," Franklin coach Terry Jobbitt said. "Churchill came out strong in the second and Taylor saved us. I felt fortunate to be tied heading into the third period."

Three minutes into the third period, Franklin went ahead after junior Greg Job stole the puck from the Churchill defense deep in the Chargers end and centered it to Dan Hofflich who beat Felker.

"We reviewed our systems after the second period and everyone played better," Jobbitt said. "We were able to get the go-ahead goal and go into a defensive mode after that."

The Patriots added an insurance goal when Sawyer sent a slapshot over Felker's shoulder with 5:49 remaining. Senior Brad Thornhill forced a Churchill turnover and fed Sawyer.

"It wasn't necessarily the goal scorers that made the difference it was the guys behind the play that set up the scores," Jobbitt said.

"This was a total team effort, from the assistant coaches on down," Jobbitt said. "Some of their players were out which may have hurt them but they'll be back when we play them later this season and I still feel we'll be able to play them tough."

The Chargers will seek their revenge when the two teams next meet at Eddie Edgar on Jan. 24.

•STEVENSON 3, BIRMINGHAM UNITED 2: Darin Fawkes scored twice and assisted on the third goal Friday night to lead Stevenson to its victory at Edgar Arena.

Fawkes, assisted by Mike Jobbitt, gave the Spartans a 1-0 lead in the first period. He then assisted on a goal by Mike Radakovich at 7:42 for a 2-0 lead.

Birmingham United, a combination of players from Seaholm and Groves high schools and not a British soccer squad, tied it up early in the second period on a pair of power play markers.

Jon Reepmeyer scored at 2:51, assisted by Darrin Eger and Brody Flanigan. It scored again at 4:17 on a point shot by John Collins, with Reepmeyer drawing the assist.

Just 62 seconds later, though, Fawkes worked a 2-on-1 break with Andy Domzalski to score the goal that gave Stevenson the win and improved the Spartans to 4-1, 2-0 in the SPSHSL.

Fawkes passed to Domzalski, who then returned the favor so Darin could bury the puck in the upper right-hand corner of the net.

Stevenson goalie Anthony Alfonsi turned back 19 of 21 shots while his teammates were putting 18 on Todd Weston of Birmingham.

"It was an overall good team effort," Stevenson coach Mike Harris said. "It was a very demanding week for us."

"We had a scrimmage against (Bloomfield Hills) Cranbrook, we played Wyandotte and then Birmingham United. It was a productive but demanding week for us."

•STEVENSON 4, WYANDOTTE 2: Fawkes scored two goals and added an assist to lead Stevenson to its non-league victory Wednesday over Wyandotte at Edgar Arena.

The Spartans scored three unanswered goals to break a 1-1 tie and go on for the victory in a game which had 23 penalties.

Radakovich opened the scoring for Stevenson 6:48 into the game on a play set up by Bill Marshall and Dave Nanas. The Bears tied it on Keith Rowe's unassisted goal.

With less than a minute remaining in the first period, Marshall put the Spartans ahead for good. Fawkes and John May received assists on the goal.

Fakes scored both of his goals in the second period (Domzalski recording an assist on the first tally; Marshall assisting on the second).

•BH ANDOVER 7, FRANKLIN 3: Two games in two nights proved to be too much for Coach Terry Jobbitt's Patriots to overcome.

Franklin, ahead 2-1 after two periods, collapsed in the third Thursday night at the Detroit Skating Club. The Patriots are now 2-2-1.

Tony Saia scored on a power play, assisted by Eric Hillebrand and Dan Hofflich, as the first period ended at 1-1. Greg Job scored an unassisted goal in the second to give Franklin its 2-1 lead and scored the Patriots' final goal on a feed from Dan Boyle.

"After playing such a fabulous game against Churchill the night before, the first time we'd beaten them in four years," Jobbitt said, "having back-to-back games didn't help."

"We're a very, very young team. When we came out in the third period, there wasn't much left. Job played an excellent hockey game. He was doing everything right."

Franklin faces the same situation next week when it plays Birmingham United and Royal Oak on consecutive evenings.

•REDFORD CC 6, AA HURON 0: Six different players scored Wednesday for the Shamrocks as they improved to 3-1.

Eric Bratcher, Mike Sharp, Ian Devlin, Nick Lewarne, Mike Porter and Scott Curtin scored goals while Tim Cibor had two assists. Goalie Rick Marnon turned back 11 shots for his first shutout.

Area's grid talent always first rate

Talk about a dream team!
If a coach were to take the 1996 All-Observer football team on a barnstorming tour, the 26 players featured on this page would be a part of it.

Observerland talent is always among the best in the state, and this year is no exception.

Westland John Glenn, the Western Lakes Activities Association champion and a Class AA semifinalist, leads the way with seven first-team selections.

Catholic League champion Redford Catholic Central and Class A runner-up Farmington Harrison have four players each on the squad.

Six players are repeat honorees: Francis Gojcay, Rob Johnson, Matt Griglio, Greg Call, Lorenzo Guess and Nick Shaieb.

Scott Wiemer of Lutheran High Westland was chosen Coach of the Year after guiding the Warriors to an 8-1 record in his first year as head coach.

Lutheran High began the season with a 16-14 loss to Harper Woods and then won its last eight games. The Warriors just missed qualifying for the playoffs, however, finishing fifth in Class C Region 4 behind Southgate Aquinas, Almont, Deckerly and Harper Woods.

"We were disappointed we didn't make the playoffs, but we had a very, very good year," Wiemer said. "We felt we could have competed with those teams, because our defense had improved so much in the last four games."

FIRST-TEAM OFFENSE

Matt Lawson, lineman, Franklin: Lawson is a two-year starter at offensive and defensive tackle. He had 42 tackles and four sacks. Only a junior, he is one reason the Patriots expect to have a strong team against next season.

"He's a real student of his position," coach Rick Lee said. "He has quick feet and was a dominating lineman. Against the big teams we played, Matt played even better."

Eric Jachym, lineman, John Glenn: Much of the reason Glenn was effective in the air and on the ground was due in large part to the blocking of this two-year starter.

Jachym used his superb footwork and balance to keep defensive linemen in check. According to Glenn coach Chuck Gordon, his outstanding ability to move for a player his size made the difference.

"Eric works very hard," Gordon said. "He had a great off season in preparing for his senior year. He's one of the best linemen we've ever had at Glenn."

Francis Gojcay, lineman, Harrison: Gojcay was a three-year varsity player and the best lineman on Harrison's offensive and defensive lines this year. He played offensive guard and defensive tackle; he was second in tackles (96) with 66 first hits in 13 games. He also returned a fumble 73 yards for a touchdown.

"I was told by one college scout he might be one of the best two or three tackles in the state," coach John Herrington said. "He has great athletic ability for someone that size."

"He's a very tough, hard-nosed player. Nobody liked to run toward him, and we loved to run over him on the goal line."

Jay Myrand, lineman, Franklin: Myrand started 27 games at left guard and also was a two-year starter at defensive tackle. He was a key to making the running game go; he had 54 tackles and five sacks. Myrand can bench press 360 pounds.

"Jay has been the foundation of the program since I took over," Lee said. "He was the first kid we looked at to bring up as a sophomore. He contributed on and off the field with his leadership; he's well respected by his coaches and his peers."

Matt Kukusa, tight end, Thurston: Kukusa was a three-year starter who excelled on both sides of the ball.

"At tight end, he caught 30 passes, including three for touchdowns; he also caught a pair two-point conversion tosses. He had 17 career catches. As a linebacker, Kukusa had 109 tackles, including four sacks and 13 for losses. He had two interceptions."

"Matt's a first-class, quality kid," coach Bob Snell said. "He's done what we've asked the last three years on both sides of the ball. He rarely missed a snap and, for a big guy, has excellent feet and tremendous hands."

Paul Terek, wide receiver, Franklin: Terek was an all-round player for the Patriots, but he excelled as a pass receiver with 32 receptions for 602 yards and seven touchdowns.

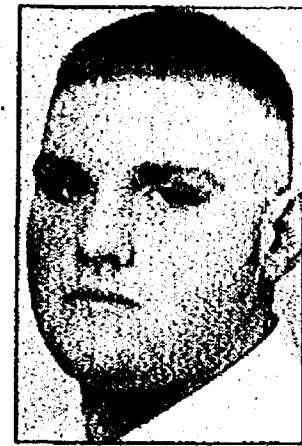

"He had 1,128 all-purpose yards, which included 19 punt returns for 200 yards and a touchdown, 10 kickoff returns for 224 yards and 10 rushing attempts for 102 yards."

"As a defensive back, Terek had four interceptions, five pass deflections and 38 tackles (15 solos)."

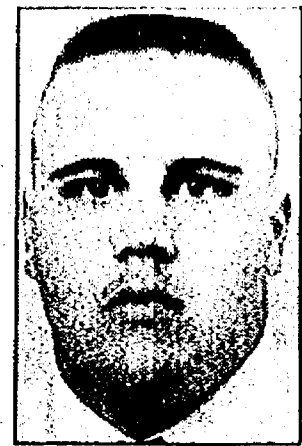

"He's the best pure athlete I've ever coached and one of the best athletes to ever play football at Franklin High School," Lee said. "Even in double coverage, he would go up and take the ball away from defensive backs. He made his plays for us all year long."

David Jarrett, wide receiver, Glenn: Jarrett did just about everything for the Rockets except kick extra points. The two-way starter was most successful at wide receiver with 29 receptions for 520 yards and five touchdowns.

Jarrett also excelled at defensive back where he picked off seven passes and returned one for a TD. He also returned a fumble for a score, and he even rushed for two touchdowns.

"David is a very exciting player and a big-play threat," Gordon said. "He was at his best in the big games."

LaVelle Guess, wide receiver, Wayne: Guess wasn't overshadowed by his brother this season as he put his own talents on display, with the help of Lorenzo's passing.

Guess became one of the area's leading receivers. He caught 28 passes for 456 yards and 10 touchdowns. On defense, he recorded 39 tackles and picked off two passes.

"He also ran back punts and kickoffs and played great defense," Wayne coach Chuck Howton said. "He did it all and was truly our most valuable player."

Rob Johnson, quarterback, Canton: Johnson made his college choice last weekend when he committed to Northwestern University. He displayed his intelligence on the field as well, doing a bit of everything for the Chiefs.

Johnson was 68-of-154 passing for 966 yards, with eight touchdowns and three interceptions. He also rushed 79 times for 350 yards and seven TDs, returned nine kickoffs for 313 yards and two TDs and had two punt returns for 67 yards and a score.

"Rob is the only one we've ever had (recruited) to a Division I school," said Canton coach Bob Koenig. "He could help (Northwestern) as a wide receiver, defensive back, punt returner, kick returner; he could do anything, really."

"He'll get his first shot at Northwestern as a quarterback, though."

Kevin Bambenek, quarterback, Harrison: Bambenek became the starting quarterback in the sixth game of his sophomore year and led the Hawks to two state finals, a Class A championship and two league titles. Harrison had a 27-4 record with him at quarterback.

Bambenek was 94-of-180 passing for 1,701 yards and 11 touchdowns. He was 15-of-24 and passed for a state-finals record 282 yards in the Silverdome this year.

His career passing numbers are 201 completions, 371 attempts, 3,150 yards and 21 TDs. He also became an effective runner this year, rushing for 202 yards and 12 touchdowns.

"He really matured as the season progressed," Herrington said. "He was required to do more and more; he was just terrific in the playoffs — his decision making and the way he threw the ball. The only other quarterback who played that much (in his career) was Mill Coleman."

Justin Berent, quarterback, Glenn: Berent led the Rockets to another WLA title and the Class AA semifinals. Berent gave fans more than just the Glenn defense and tailback Reggie Spearmon to worry about.

The second-year starter was able to establish an explosive passing attack. He set school records with 101 completions and 179 attempts while passing for 1,448 yards and 10 TDs.

"Justin is a very hard worker and has made tremendous improvement during his career at John Glenn," Gordon said.

Gade Clark, back, Stevenson: Clark, who started in every game (39) since his freshman year, was a stellar performer for the Spartans. Due to his durability, the senior tailback gained a school-record 3,260 yards in his career.

Clark saved his best season for last as he gained 1,270 yards on 213 rushes (an average of 24 carries a game), including 14 touchdowns. He also caught 10 passes for 108 yards and returned 18 kickoffs for 393 yards.

"Gade was an absolute force this year," Stevenson coach Tim Gabel said. "He really had an ideal senior season in that all his talents came together in a complete package. He learned to blend his quickness and power with knowing when to cut and when to lower his shoulder."

Reggie Spearmon, back, Glenn: Spearmon used his cutback ability and elusiveness to rush for 1,130 yards on 108 carries and find the end zone 13 times. He also started as a defensive back.

The tailback was forced to miss Glenn's regional championship victory over Dearborn Fordson with a sprained ankle but played the semifinal game against Sterling Heights Stevenson.

"Reggie is very quick and runs hard," Gordon said. "He is also an excellent cover guy as a defensive back."

Albert Cook, back, Lutheran High: The Warriors had their best season ever, and they wouldn't have been able to do it without Cook.

He was not only named Metro Conference Defensive Player of the Year, but he was probably the most explosive performer on offense as well.

Cook scored 20 touchdowns and also converted 13 two-point conversions for 146 points. He carried the ball 156 times for 1,275 yards (8.2 average); he had two games of more than 200 yards.

On defense, he played linebacker and had 98 tackles, one interception, two fumble recoveries and a blocked punt. He returned a kickoff 75 yards for a touchdown.

"Albert was a leader through his performance and intensity in all our games," coach Scott Wiemer said.

"Being able to put up such good numbers on both sides of the ball showed his durability and impacted the drive of other team members. Although he is a quiet individual, Albert was very vocal about his desire to be successful on the field."

FIRST-TEAM DEFENSE

Rich Deptula, lineman, Redford CC: Deptula played equally well against the pass and rush for the Shamrocks.

The two-year starter at defensive tackle had seven sacks. His 56 total tackles placed him third on the team behind Deptula recovered four fumbles and scored a touchdown while lining up at fullback.

"Rich played hard from beginning to end, never took a break," CC coach Tom Mach said. "He caused all kinds of havoc. If a play was across the field, he'd get there."

Ira Bargon, lineman, John Glenn: On possibly the area's best defensive unit, Bargon was the best player.

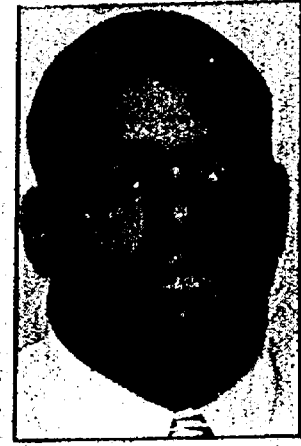

He started two seasons at defensive tackle and was named the team's MVP on defense. He had 50 first hits and assisted on 26 more.

Bargon draws high praise from his coach, who has seen his share of fine defensive players pass through Glenn.

"Ira has very good speed and some of the best work habits I've ever seen," Gordon said. "He's a very good player and was a real key to our success."

Gino DiGlandomenico, lineman, Redford CC: After hardly playing as a junior, DiGlandomenico developed into Observerland's top pass rusher with nine sacks.

He had 49 tackles, including 16 solos and 24 assists. The one-time soccer goalkeeper also recovered two fumbles.

"He was relentless, the way he'd pass rush," Mach said. "He developed a lot. No one could block him one on one. Teams ended up double teaming him as time went on."

Jon Becher, lineman, John Glenn: Becher's speed made him one of the most dangerous defensive ends in the WLA. In addition, he provided much of the leadership and heart that propelled the Rockets to the Class AA semifinals.

He recorded 30 solo tackles and assisted on 24 others. The team captain also was a force on offense where he started two seasons at tight end. He grabbed seven passes this year, and was a key blocker.

"Jon had a great senior year," Gordon said. "He worked very hard and is one of the best leaders we've ever had."

Mike Allison, linebacker, Stevenson: Allison recorded 86 tackles (nearly twice that of the next leading tackler), knocked down four passes, recovered a fumble and had two interceptions. Both of his interceptions led to game-winning touchdowns.

"His toughness and mobility stood out, but he is also a very savvy player," Stevenson defensive coordinator Conrad Newman said. "We relied on him to make our reads and calls on the field, and he used those keys to always be around the ball."

Allison also scored three touchdowns as a fullback on offense.

Matt Griglio, linebacker, John Glenn: The three-year starter saved his best season for last as he recorded 75 solo tackles and 57 assists this season.

Griglio will graduate as the leading tackler in Glenn history.

"Matt is very smart and understands what to do," Gordon said. "He's worked so hard the past three years. It's been a real pleasure to coach him."

Nick Shaieb, linebacker, Harrison: Shaieb, a three-year starter on defense, played both ways most of the season despite a recurring elbow injury. He was fourth in tackles with 76.

He was a two-year starter at fullback and emerged as a legitimate rushing threat this year. Shaieb was the leading rusher with 892 yards (107 attempts) and scored with 90 points. He had 14 rushing touchdowns and returned a fumble for a TD.

"He really blossomed as an offensive player this year," coach John Herrington said. "When we were having trouble with the running game, Shaieb really came on and did a good job. His 304-yard game (against Country Day) is unheard of for a Harrison fullback."

Milan Brooks, linebacker, Redford CC: No one knows the quickest way between two points is a straight line better than Brooks.

He plugged the gaps as his role required and finished with a team-high 97 total tackles.

As a fullback, the three-year letter winner rushed for 300 yards on 52 carries and two TDs. Brooks sparked the Shamrocks to the Catholic League title with 144 yards on 11 attempts against Brother Rice.

"Milan is an impact hitter," Mach said. "People knew when they got hit by him and wouldn't want to come back twice. His aggressiveness is what we pattern ourselves after."

Ed Hight, linebacker, Harrison: Hight was a two-year starter at inside linebacker and Harrison's leading tackler each season. He had 129 total tackles this year (with 75 first hits) and 246 for two seasons. Hight also started at offensive guard.

"He was the hardest hitter on our team," Herrington said. "We moved him from tackle to linebacker as a junior; he adapted quickly to the position and was outstanding. Ed came to play all the time; he had a mean disposition on the field."

Lorenzo Guess, back, Wayne: Guess, who committed to play Michigan State University, ended his career by having a stellar season on both sides of the ball.

He made 39 tackles, intercepted two passes and recovered one fumble. The four-year starter at quarterback threw for 990 yards and 12 touchdowns.

"Lorenzo leads by example on the football field, on the basketball court and in the classroom," Howton said. "Hard work and commitment are the keys to his success. His work ethic is unparalleled; he was never outworked."

Greg Call, back, Catholic Central: The three-year starter on both sides of the ball had four interceptions, two fumble recoveries and 48 total tackles.

At quarterback he completed 34 of 75 passes for 412 yards with only one interception and two touchdowns. Call executed the option attack and rushed for 281 yards on 93 carries. He also filled in as a placekicker, converting one extra point and a 26-yard field goal.

"I'll always associate Greg Call with the word winner," Mach said. "He's one of the best athletes to come through CC and one of the reasons we were so successful. He's a great leader whose competitive attitude is contagious."

Nate Gray, back, Ply. Salem: Gray was a three-year varsity player and two-year, two-way starter at quarterback and defensive back.

He had three interceptions and returned two for touchdowns of 72 and 91 yards. He had 33 tackles, caused one fumble and recovered another.

Gray directed Salem's wishbone attack, rushing 96 times for 444 yards and eight TDs. He completed 42 of 99 passes for 707 yards and five TDs.

"He provided great leadership and was a catalyst," Salem assistant coach Tom Garrett said. "He set the tone with his toughness and attitude. He's a real winner; he's the kind of guy who refuses to lose."

Preseason basketball Top Ten — and more

Here is a pre-season look at the top 10 boys basketball players in Observerland as selected by Redford-Garden City sports editor Steve Kowalski:

1. Lorenzo Guess, senior guard, Wayne Memorial: Signed with Michigan State. Guess has done everything in three years at Wayne except take the Zebras to the Class A finals, which looms as a possibility this year. No one has more court sense or awareness than Guess, a sturdy 6-3 guard who is a threat off the dribble and now as a stand-still shooter.

2. Marc McDonald, senior guard, Detroit Catholic Central: Some guys can hit the three, but most not as consistently as McDonald, who has signed with Loyola University (Chicago). McDonald's dedication to the weight room has helped him get stronger. He is a hard-nosed defender and adequate ballhandler and driver.

3. Brad Buddenborg, senior guard-forward, Garden City: A definite Division I player who can score inside and outside and guard bigger players in the post because of his leaping ability. Buddenborg, a 6-5 swingman who can run the court, played on the same AAU team with Shane Battier and McDonald.

4. David Jarrett, 6-4 senior forward, Westland John Glenn: An outstanding rebounder and finisher around the basket, Jarrett was a second-team All-Observer selection as a junior. He also is used to help break presses.

5. Matt Bauman, senior center, Livonia Franklin: Slowed by a pre-season leg injury, the University of Detroit-Mercy signee won't return to the lineup until January. The 6-8 Bauman has been productive each of his two years in the Franklin lineup.

6. Rob Johnson, senior forward, Plymouth Canton: Johnson came back from a knee injury early in his junior year to lead Canton to a 22-2 record and a district championship before losing to Detroit Pershing in the regional. He can take a hit, as he has shown as a quarterback in football, and is as rugged as they get in the paint in basketball. Signed with Northwestern for football.

7. Richard Rashad, senior forward, Wayne Memorial: The 6-4 senior is Wayne's biggest threat around the basket. He is more comfortable facing the basket, but can post up when the Zebras are in the half-court offense.

8. Chris Young, junior center, Detroit Catholic Central: Young played only a handful of games on the varsity as a sophomore but is getting a lot of looks from major colleges after an impressive summer on Battier's AAU team. He runs the floor well for someone 6-9 and has some strong moves in the post.

9. Shawn Woloszyn, senior guard, Livonia Churchill: If he's improved his defense, the 6-3 Woloszyn is a definite Division I player. He has a variety of moves on offense and a jump shot that's hard to defend.

10. LaVelle Guess, senior guard, Wayne Memorial: Wouldn't it be something if you could combine Lorenzo Guess' playmaking ability and LaVelle Guess' sweet shot into one? The twins have their own styles and complement one another perfectly. LaVelle, long in Lorenzo's shadow, has become one of the most feared shooters in the metro area.

LIVONIA CLARENCEVILLE BASKETBALL CAPSULE

Head coach: Rick Larson, third season.
League affiliation: Metro Conference (West Division).
Season opener: 7 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 10, at home vs. Dearborn Heights Roblaud.

Last year's overall record: 12-9.
Notable losses to graduation: Joe Hernandez, Scott Barnhard, Jack Stallings, Bryan DeCalre.

Leading returnees: Jason Merritt, 6-2 forward; Albert Deljosevic, 5-11 sophomore guard; Donahue Fulton, 5-10 guard; Paulo Hernandez, 6-0 forward; Justin Villanueva, 6-2 junior center; Travis Calderwood, 6-3; Nino Deljosevic, 5-10; Walter Jones, 5-9.

Promising newcomers: Matt Evans, 6-5 junior; John Wallace, 5-5 sophomore; Tim Riedl, 5-11 freshman; Carlos Wambler, 6-3; Josh Kilar, 5-8.

Larson's 1996-97 outlook: "We have a strong group of returning players coming back. Last year we tied our best record since 1994.

"We're looking to get up and down the floor, force the issue, because we've got a lot of scorers.

"We've got good balance with height, quickness, speed and rebounding.

"Merritt is going to have an outstanding season. I'm sure of it. I expect him to be one of the best players in Observerland."

(Note: All players are seniors unless otherwise designated.)

Special Camaro is unadulterated power on wheels

By Anne Fracassa
Avanti NewsFeatures

Take a deep breath. Open the door. Slip behind the wheel. Buckle up. Slowly turn the key in the ignition.

Listen. It's the sound of pure, unadulterated power.

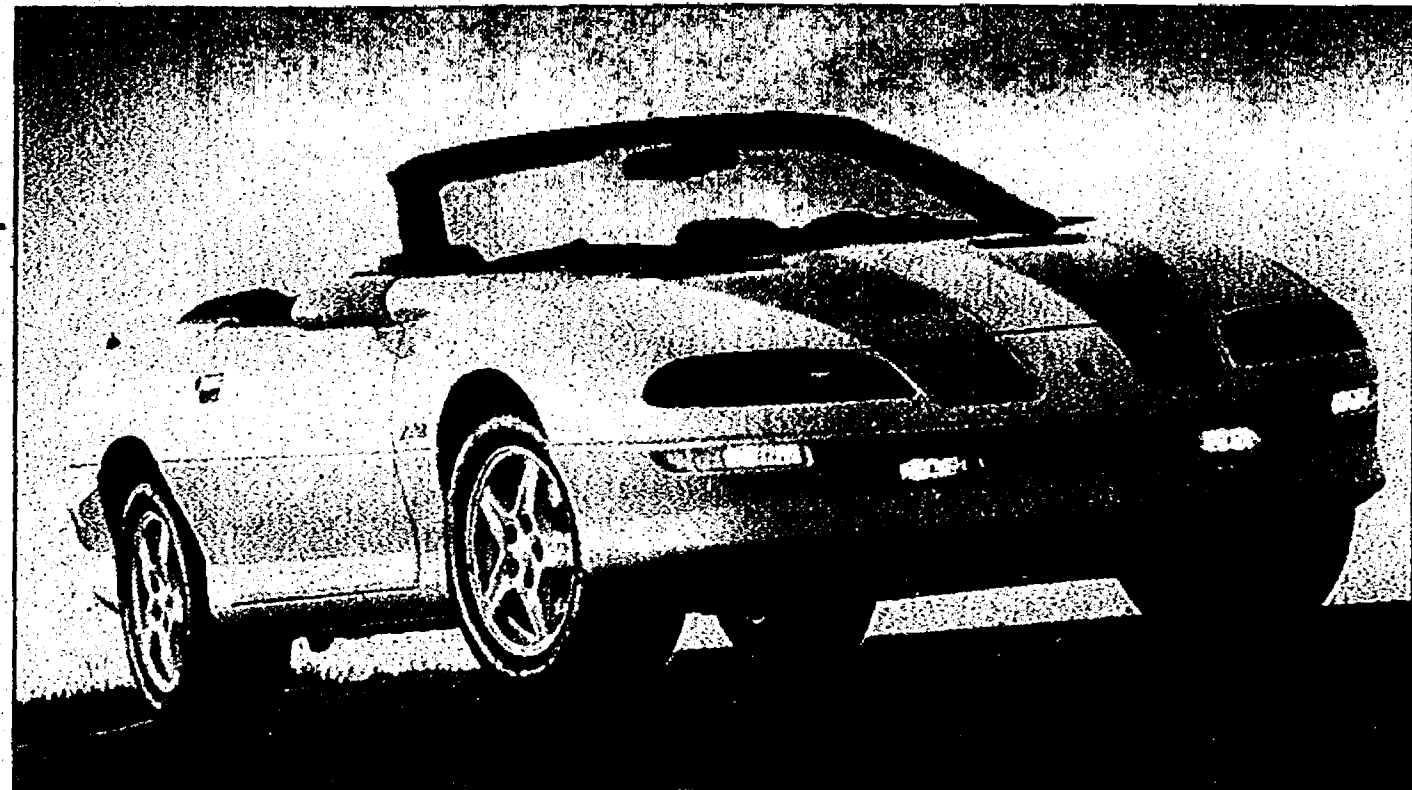

The 1997 Chevrolet Camaro limited edition Z28 SS 30th anniversary package makes you feel young again.

Back to the time when the whole world was ahead of you, your eyes were clear and bright and you didn't have a care in the world.

Take yourself back to 1967, when the first Camaro was born. Wide hood stripes were all the rage. Thirty years later, Chevrolet brings back the wide stripes on the anniversary edition Camaro.

There will only be 1,000 of these "Hugger" orange-striped arctic white Camaros built, so it's certain they'll become collector cars. The anniversary edition is stocked full of special features.

It's a doggone pretty package, too. White all the way around, the exterior features white door handles, white five-spoke wheels and white front fascia. The interior instrumentation, dash (a word from the past) and all around is black.

Complimenting the interior are white front leather bucket seats with black-and-white cloth inserts. At the top of the headrest is a neat 30th anniversary heat-stamped logo. The seats are new and are wider to offer better lumbar support during long-distance driving.

Back to the inside in a minute.

Let's jump to what's hiding

under the hood.

It's the beautiful 5.7-liter LT4 V8 engine with sequential fuel injection that's graced the Corvette for a number of years. Turn the key and this engine roars to life, has a beautiful, throaty growl on takeoff and makes this puppy just too much fun to drive.

The 5.7-liter features a cast-iron block and cast-aluminum cylinder head and provides 350 horses under the hood.

Mated to a 6-speed manual transmission, the V8 performs flawlessly and gives you power with just a tap on the accelerator. Without trying to risk an accident, if you look at the tachometer, it barely moves when you shift into the different gears.

The 6-speed performed quite well, but there was one annoyance. On occasion, when shooting out of the gate, there was a second-shift override. When you tried to get it into third, it was difficult and it was unnatural just to pop it into fourth gear. Minor annoyance and actually my fault for not shifting at the right time.

Top speed on the speedometer is 150 miles per hour. I never got it above 80 mph. That was more than enough. With a hot-looking car like this, you're prime for a ticket for just driving it around town.

I didn't turn on the sound system until just a couple of days before I turned the car back in. I just loved listening to the engine roar and the sound of the throaty exhaust.

But the new high-performance audio system in this anniversary edition deserves some mention. It was outfitted with an electronically tuned AM/FM stereo with seek-scan, digital clock, automatic tone control, speed-compensated volume, Dolby noise reduction and compact disc. The six speakers strategically located throughout the cabin make music come alive.

One thing was new to me. In choosing the pre-calculated equalizer choices there now is one just for country-western. Usually you can just pick the rock choice on most. But there actually was a difference in sound when you chose the "C-W" mode. The stereo also has a TheftLock security system on it.

Other neat features on the anniversary edition include remote keyless entry, leather-wrapped steering wheel, power windows with driver's express down, theft-deterrent alarm system, remote rear hatch release, power door locks, twin remote electric mirrors, electric rear window defogger, electronic speed control, fog lamps, 6-way power driver's seat, 16-inch aluminum wheels on 16-inch performance blackwalls and acceleration slip regulation (designed to decrease tire spin on slippery surfaces).

Safety doesn't take a back seat on this Camaro. No surprise that it has dual air bags or even daytime running lamps. But standard is a 4-wheel anti-lock brake system. There's also reinforced steel safety cage with steel side-door beams and front and rear crush zones. The safety belts were easy enough to get into and out of in the front seats, but the in the rear seats were a bit annoying.

All Camaro owners have, at their dispatch, the Chevrolet 24-hour Roadside Assistance program. The program provides everything from a gallon of gas and free towing for warranty repairs to free locksmith and routing assistance. Heck, you can even have a tire changed or a jump start if need be.

Camaro also features platinum-tipped spark plugs that don't need maintenance for the first 100,000 miles, automatic trans fluid that never needs replacing, battery-rundown protection and extended-life engine coolant good for 5 years or 150,000 miles (whichever comes first).

The anniversary edition wasn't outrageous in cost, either. It starts at a reasonable $20,115 and with all the bells and whistles topped out at $24,217. Not bad for a collector's item.

This pony sure is a lot of fun to drive, looks great and performs well. You'd expect the younger kids to be craning their necks to get a look at this anniversary edition Camaro. Nothing was farther from the truth.

Most of the looks came from late thirty-something and forty-something guys and gals. I guess it reminded them of when they were young.

Can you tell? I loved this car. You will too.

WRITE IT AND REAP!

Writing a classified ad that gets results—whether it be for real estate, employment, the personals, transportation, or merchandise—is easy if you follow the guidelines below.

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in-kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.
