Cable rates on the rise

Cable television rates are creeping up in Westland - unlike in neighboring Canton where there is competition. Continental Cablevision said rate hikes step from networks passing along increases.

BY DARRELL CLEM

Westland residents will pay more for cable TV services starting Feb. 1, adding fuel to complaints that rates already are too high.

Rates will jump 28 cents a month for 24-channel basic cable service, from $9.37 to $9.65, Continental Cablevision has announced.

Perhaps more startling, subscribers will pay $1.40 more a month for 33-channel satellite service, which will cost $14.79 compared to the current $13.39.

"I'm not pleased with the way Continental is treating the citizens of Westland," Ed Turner, Westland Cable Commission chairman, said Friday. "We're subsidizing other communities, as far as I'm concerned.

"I think that Continental forgets that we are their customers," he said. "It's just not fair."

Subscribers will see a 40-cent increase - from $8.55 to $8.95 - for Showtime, Cinemax and The Movie

Costs will remain at $9.95 a month for HBO and $6.95 for The Disney Channel, while subscribers will actually see a $2 decrease for PASS Sports - from $11.95 to Bill Black, Continental public affairs director, said the rate hikes stem from increases that cable networks such as CNN and ESPN are passing on to Continental.

Talks leave officials hopeful

By DARRELL CLEM

Wayne-Westland school officials struggling to fend off a $5 million deficit are hopeful they will get state help following talks Wednesday with two Lansing legislators and Senate finance staffers.

"It's a good start," Wayne-Westland Superintendent Duane Moore said. "I'm certainly hopeful that comething positive will come out of Moore, two of his cabinet members and school board President Patricia Brown made a pitch for help to state Sen. Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron, a key author of 1994's voter-approved Proposal A. The law slashed $10 million a year from Wayne-West: land's budget.

Senate Fiscal Agency staffers also joined the talks - arranged and attended by state Sen. Loren Ben; nett, R-Canton Township.

Ideally, Wayne-Westland officials want permission from state legislators to ask local voters to renew a 3: mill enhancement tax levy that expires June 30.

"That may not be feasible," Brown conceded following Wednesday's one-hour meeting.

However, she said she is "opti: mistic" that DeGrow and Bennett will push for some Lansing solution to Wayne-Westland's money problems. "We're hopeful, but we don't have a lot of time on our side," Brown said. "We have to work hard."

Wayne-Westland's tax levy plunged from 47 mills to 37 mills just before Proposal A went into effect, and two attempts at a tax increase also failed, Brown said. In June 1994, district voters finally approved a 3-mill enhancement levy, but Proposal A places a two: year limit on a locally approved tax. Local school officials have said that Wayne-Westland suffered a big ger tax loss than any other Michigan district in the wake of Proposal A. Moore and Brown seemed hopeful that DeGrow and Bennett - who appear sympathetic to the district's problems - may push for state help; although a specific solution isn't

"The fact that we're unique may offer some solutions for us that may also be unique," Brown said.

Moore said Wednesday's talks gave school officials "a good opportunity" to seek solutions to the district's post-Proposal A financial diffinerve damage, or are simply not satisfied with your ability to hear, your local audiologist will conduct a variety of tests to determine the exact nature of your hearing loss, if any. He or she will explain the options for treating the problem and alert your physician if the problem warrants medical attention.

Most hearing loss is sensorineural, caused by damage to hair cells in the car. While not treatable medically or surgically, sensorine real loss can be improved through amplification. Your audiologist is trained to properly select the appropriate hearing aid and prescribe and fit today's high technology hearing instruments with the precision they require. Pickering also said that increasing competition from such companies as Americast could eventually cause Continental to reduce its rates.

Westland residents have long complained that they pay more but receive less service - than their cable-viewing counterparts in communities such as Canton Township.

Interestingly, as Westland subscribers face a $1.40-a-month increase for satellite service, their Canton counterparts will see a 13-cent decrease. In Canton, Continental has competition from Americast, an Ameritech subsidiary which is has been installing cable there over the

For basic cable, however, Canton subscribers will pay 74 cents more a month, compared to Westland's 28-cent rate hike.

Meanwhile, Continental is slowly switching Westland subscribers to newer in-house cable equipment, and the company is preparing for a Jan. 30 open house at its new distribution facility on Executive Drive in Westland.

Bentley Center 'friends' solicit support for community building

By Marie Chestney Staff Writer

"Friends of Bentley" flier has brought "phone calls galore" to the Livonia Board of Education trustees who are now debating the fate of Bentley Center. Livonia school board President Sue Clulow said the district will take its time in studying the Bentley issue and likely won't go to voters this spring.

The flier, distributed at the center, questions if classes will continue if the center either closes or is demolished.

"Callers are concerned about their programs going away," Clulow said. "They're relieved when I tell them the classes will be shifted to other buildings.

"We have two gyms at Dickinson Center. I've asked the district to investigate how Bentley's swimming programs can fit into the pool schedules for the high schools."

School Superintendent Ken Watson repeatedly has said that programs housed at Bentley will either stay in the renovated part of the building, if a special millage is passed and the work is done, or be transferred to other buildings in the district.

Those who lease space in the former high school - both individuals and companies - may have to find leased space elsewhere.

More discussion on Bentley's fate is expected to take place at 6:30 p.m. tonight during the board's committee meeting.

Clulow said the trustees won't make a quick decision, and most likely won't ask residents to approve a 1.5-mill tax increase

The center costs the district about $700,000 each year to operate. Watson has described the center as "old, inefficient, a maintenance hog.'

The district now has two plans on the table: demolish part of the building and renovate the rest, or raze the entire building and turn the grounds into vacant parkland.

Livonia city officials recently tossed in a third possibility: form a partnership with the district to build some sort of civic or recreational facility on the 37acre site on Five Mile and Hub-

Members of the Livonia City Council will explore that option and others at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in council chambers at Livonia City Hall.

At a recent board meeting, former trustee Dan Lessard urged the district to "get out of the community center business.

"There's little initial cost to homeowners from the millage,' Lessard said. "But we still have to spend about $360,000 each year after renovations to run the building. That's more than we can afford. We'll get stuck with this bill for a long time to come.

arah Akil wept periodically on the witness stand Thursday in Wayne Circuit Court during her testimony as she battled to regain permanent custody of her 3-year-old child, Jessica Jane.

But her ex-husband and Jessica's biological father, John Muckley, claimed Akil's tears were nothing but an act. Muckley and his wife, Doreen, who live in Redford Township, were awarded temporary custody of Jessica in November by order of Wayne Circuit Court Judge Kirsten Frank Kelly after the Muckleys learned of Akil's plan to go to Lebanon with her husband and the child's stepfather.

The child custody hearing continues this week before Kelly.

Akil, a German citizen, testified she would like to go to Germany, where her family and her current husband's brother live. Her husband, Wissam (Sammy) Khalil Akil, has a brother living in Germany and has a job waiting Sammy Akil, a Lebanese citizen, is being deported from this country, said Muckley, 32, a British citizen.

Sammy and Sarah Akil and Sarah's attorney, Mark Hibbs, declined comment on the case.

Just the fact that he brought in a wider audience Wednesday was viewed by Wayne-Westland officials as a positive sign.

Brown seemed impressed that DeGrow "had done his homework" on Wayne-Westland's financial problems prior to Wednesday. That allowed the two sides to focus more on potential solutions, rather than engaging in a history lesson on Wayne-Westland finances, she said. "This man is the school finance expert."

Wayne-Westland officials want to avoid a return to budget cuts that plagued the district in previous years. Painful cuts, such as eliminating transportation and forcing students to pay fees for extracurricular activities, fueled a public backlash that strained school-community relations.

School officials in recent years have made strides to reduce expenses, such as closing four of the district's 21 elementary schools and selling some properties. Two other buildings, the old Wilson and Monroe, are currently on the market.

Patricia Brand, assistant superintendent of business, has said she is hopeful that costcutting measures in the works will reduce the projected $5 million deficit to $1.8 million by June 30.

That still leaves a gap between revenues and expenses that could force painful budget cuts - barring help from Lansing, officials has determined that lack of physical activity is detrimental to your health.

Area programs to honor life, work of Martin Luther King Jr.

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK STAFP WRITER

It's hard to imagine someone celebrating a holiday by hanging wallpaper, painting and installing light fixtures.

But that's how Westland resident Judy Kennard plans to spend Jan. 20 to commemorate Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday.

That's just one of scores of activities planned throughout

Wayne County by schools and universities. Kennard, the chair of a committee to commemorate Martin Luther King Jr. and a staff member at University of Michigan-Dearborn, has helped coordinate: and organize about 600 students. faculty and staff members from UM-D and three other universities to vol-

About 40 volunteers also will visit the Thomas Gist Academy in Westland to paint a mural at the: entrance of the building, refurbish several lab tables and other maintenance work, Kennard said.

Program expands

UM-D's program has grown since it began four years ago, Kennard said. Once activities to commemorate King were held on-campus, but organizers looked for a more "tangible" way to remember King and his sense of unity and community.

- "We decided (volunteerism) would be more of a service to the community, so we targeted the metro Detroit area," Kennard said. "The unique thing is many of these students have never done volunteer work and here you have the campus so involved."

UM-D chancellor James Renick called the project "a wonderful opportunity for all of us to celebrate the spirit of mutual support, community and caring.

"It is an excellent way for us to emulate the example set by Dr. King throughout his life, and to connect the energy and skills of our campuses with the needs of this region," Renick said.

UM-D, the Detroit College of Business, Henry Ford Community College and the University of Detroit-Mercy are working with United Way Community Services to plan the volunteer activities.

Since the initiative was launched by UM-D and United Way four years ago, students, faculty and staff members at the schools have painted, cleaned and renovated schools and other facilities; tutored children; supervised art and recreation programs; and coordinated activities for senior citizens at several area agencies.

Volunteers also will work at Salina Elementary School in Dearborn, the Detroit Rescue Mission and Detroit's Coalition on Temporary Shelter

The effort has been endorsed by the leaders of the participating institutions including Andrew Mazzara, president of HFCC; James Mendola, senior vice president of DCB; and Maureen Fay, president of UDM.

"It's exciting to work collaboratively with people from all different backgrounds who, through this day of service and reflection, continue to represent the spirit of Dr. King," said Geneva Williams, chief operating officer of United Way Community Services. "This event is one of the many activities sponsored by our volunteer center in support of its mission to maximize effective involvement of volunteers year-round to solve community problems."

Local activities

Regionally, there are several activities planned. Madonna University will co-sponsor the second annual Martin Luther King Jr. Observance on Jan. 20 with People of Livonia Addressing Issues of Diversity. That event features a commemorative march with participants carrying flashlights, a storyteller performing a half-hour sketch on the civil rights movement and choral groups from four Livonia high schools.

March participants will gather in the lobby of the Civic Center Library for the 6:30 p.m. walk. which will take them east on Five Mile to Hubbard, and then to the auditorium at Livonia Public Schools' Bentley Center. Walkers will light their way with flashlights.

La Ron Williams, a professional storyteller from Ann Arbor, will perform in a half-hour sketch he wrote on the civil rights movement, beginning with the 1950s bus boycott in Montgomery, Ala., and leading up to King's assassination in 1968.

Choral groups from four Livonia high schools — Stevenson, Franklin, Churchill and Clarenceville - will perform, and poet Debby Mitchell, also of Ann Arbor, will read her poem "The Wall," whose theme is breaking down barriers.

In area schools

In many Wayne County schools, teachers will bring King into lessons and the curriculum that day, including Redford Union and Plymouth-Canton schools.

"We have a tribute read to all of the children, and teachers have an opportunity for activities at each school," said Ken Johnson, Redford Union's

High court sides with local officer in worker's comp suit

STAPP WRITER

The Michigan Supreme Court, splitting along ideological lines. handed a worker's comp victory to a disabled former Plymouth Township police officer.

Shawn Corbett was 29 when he "cashed out" his pension fund, into which the township had paid nearly $11,000.

Under a worker's comp magistrate's ruling, Corbett's weekly benefit should have been reduced by 43 percent, from $283 to $161, for a full year, allowing the township to recoup its after-tax pension investment. An appeals board upheld that ruling, 2-1.

But under the Supreme Court's 4-3 ruling Dec. 27, the township would be able to "coordinate" only $4.63 a week of its $283 weekly worker's comp pay-

The court's liberal majority independent Charles Levin plus Democratic nominees Michael Cavanagh, Patricia Boyle and Conrad Mallett Jr. - ruled against Plymouth Township, Stroh Brewery and McLouth Steel in three cases that were argued together.

"We conclude," wrote Levin, in his last week on the bench, "that where a lump sum is received on early withdrawal, weekly compensation payments should be reduced by an amount that will amortize, in weekly payments, employee's life expectancy" - 42 years in Corbett's case.

"And we thus have also rejected the defendant employers' contention, at the other extreme, that the weekly compensation payment is to be eliminated entirely until the aggregate of the weekly compensation payment equals the lump sum ($11,000) withdrawn," Levin said.

Corbett's attorney, Robert F. James of Southfield, said during Oct. 8 oral arguments that Corbett "was rewarded for having been seriously injured while protecting the public in the line of duty by having his pension fund misappropriated by the (town-the amount to be offset over the ship) to cover its worker's compensation payments."

Dissenting indignantly were Republican nominees Dorothy Comstock Riley, Elizabeth Weaver and Chief Justice James Brickley. Wrote Riley:

"Under the life-expectancy approach, the court (majority) pretends that the employee is only receiving a small amount of his pension payment periodically, despite the fact that he has received the entire amount...

"The employee who elects to receive his lump-sum pension payment while still relatively young will have only a tiny percentage of his pension payment suffered a badly fractured leg coordinated with his worker's compensation payments. . . Thus, it would take 42 years for Plymouth Township to fully coordinate the after-tax value of its pension payments."

The Levin opinion, Riley said, "ignores the fact that the statute was designed to encourage some disabled workers to return to work, not to encourage them to remain idle while receiving double payments of wage-replacement benefits." (Italics hers.)

Corbett joined the township police department in June of 1985 and in February of 1987 and gashed chin when his police car crashed as he was answering a call to an armed bank robbery.

Five months later, Corbett returned to work but left a year later, in July 1988, because of what doctors termed psychiatric "panic attacks."

In March of 1991, Corbett cashed out his pension and got a check for $14,800, including $11,000 contributed by the township and $3,800 of his own contribution. He paid tax on the $11,000 and had about $8,400 left. At stake in this case was the township's contribution.

If it's true the tie makes the man. Sherry Wolf could be on a winning track with the creation of neckwear meant to ensure a successful climb up the corporate ladder.

Best known for her contemporary Super Realist paintings, the 40-something artist recently made an appearance at The Tie Man in Livonia to introduce her neckwear collection. Made in Italy, the silk ties are available in more than 70 designs ranging from bold abstracts to conservative classics with elements reminiscent of Neoclassical architecture and mosaics.

. "I want my ties to be CEO ties. If someone walks into a board meeting wearing one, others are going to listen. A tie makes a statement about a man's personality," said Wolf, whose paintings are in the permanent collection of the Albright-Knox Museum in Boston and Museum of the City of New York.

While most ties are printed with three to four separate color screens. Wolfs ties go through 14 screenings: to achieve the vivid yellows, reds, blues, and purples. However, design remains the essential ingredient targeted when producing sketches for new neckwear patterns. Mark McClellan, owner of The Tie Man in Livonia, decided to offer the Sherry Wolf Collection to his customers for just these reasons. So far, the ties have been best sellers.

"I wanted these ties in my shop because of their brilliant colors from the screenings, and also for their aesthetic and art value. At The Tie Man, we choose only the best quality neckwear. Sherry Wolf's ties are 100 percent woollined, hand-stitched silk jacquard so they're resilient as well. Besides that, the way Sherry designs, the art draws attention to the face and neck assuring eye contact, one of the most important principles for a successful businessman," said McClellan.

Designing is nothing new for the Maryland artist whose clothing accessories drew rave reviews from buyers at Neiman Marcus, Bloomingdale's, Bergdorf Goodman, and Saks Fifth Avenue in the late 1980s. Three years ago when Wolf became fascinated with precious metals, the result was a line of 18 karat gold jewelry. Now, it's ties, at $59.99 each.

While her real love remains painting, Wolfs evolution from the world of fine art to design was a natural one. After graduating from the fine arts program at the University of Maryland, her whirlwind career took off after being hired as a commercial illustrator for NBC Nightly-News anchor David Brinkley. Her portraits of the day's newsmakers were seen by millions of viewers.

It wasn't long before she was deluged with commissions for cover art and illustrations for Simon & Schuster publications, and magazines like Time, National Geographic, Rolling Stone and Ladies Home Journal. A highlight of these years was a request from The White House to paint a series at Tricia Nixon Cox's wedding in Unsatisfied with life as a commercial artist, Wolf turned to full-time fine art painting. A series of portraits of Marilyn Monroe, Frank Sinatra and Humphrey Bogart were first on her easel followed by a satirical commentary on characters found in everyday American society. With these came notoriety from the Today show and People Magazine, The New York Post, and

The Baltimore Sun. In addition to her design work, Wolf continues to paint large-scale Realistic works as well as reinterpretations of Neoclassical paintings. Look for more of the same from her in the future. A line of Sherry Wolf men's shirts is scheduled to debut this spring.

Mall walking:

It's time to sign on!

In January, mall workers are busy with two projects: eliminating year-end stock with sales and clearances, and registering shoppers with resolutions to keep fit for indoor Walking Club programs.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO

Walking programs at the area's larger shopping centers allow you a free fitness workout in a climatecontrolled environment and the chance to earn prizes for your efforts.

And since the neighborhood medical center usually co-sponsors the walking club, you get free monthly health tests and information seminars as an added bonus.

At Twelve Oaks in Novi, the mall even arranges for low-impact aerobic classes for its walkers each Monday and Wednesday from 9 to 10 a.m. in the Lord & Taylor court. The class is instructed by staff from the University of Michigan's Health Education Department and is wellattended by regulars who have incorporated the morning programinto their weekly routine.

Mall spokeswoman Elaine Kah points out that Twelve Oaks' walking regulars have formed a private club of sorts, meeting for breakfast and coffee as new friendships enfold.

As walkers keep track of their "miles," many malls reward them for milestones reached with fanny packs, T-shirts and water bottles.

The malls with organized walking clubs urge interested shoppers to register for membership now, through the management office or Information Desk, An identification badge is usually issued to members along with a newsletter and outline of the program. You may be requested to sign a waiver.

Plymouth Ice Spectacular

By Susan DeMaggio

When Lakeside's marketing director Janita Gaulzetti learned that Temple Beth El in Birmingham was interested in acquiring the mall's holiday decor program, she admits she was amused and confused.

'What would a temple want with our set of 16, 25-foot-tall purple, orange and green buildings celebrating holidays around the world?" she laughed. 'What would they do with our Big Ben, Eiffel Tower and Sydney Opera House?

"Well, you guessed it, the very unique pieces will be used for theatrical productions - saved from the dumpsters."

Gaulzetti explained that Lakeside's decor program was scheduled to be scrapped in January. When the word got out to Taubman mall employees, community groups and shoppers, her office was besieged by requests for the trees, 75 large stars, ceiling streamers, pillows and even the small elves!

"When Robert Kaves of our leasing staff and his wife Susie, heard the decor was up for grabs, they requested it on behalf of the Temple Beth El. Old mall decor is typically donated to civic or community groups anyway, except for the keepsake items that go to those who work on a special event or promotion."

Kayes said that the temple's cantor is busy producing a broadway revue slated for April. The mall's display, which has several New York references, will be worked into the show's scenery.

Gaulzetti said Lakeside spent $350,000 on its holiday decor package a few years back, refurbishing and modifying the set-up, including the 36-foot high centerpiece tree, each year since.

"It's like we leased the program from the Becker Group of Baltimore that created the concept for us," she said. "Now it's time to have a meeting of the minds with them again to come up with Holiday 1997. The theme must suit our market, appeal to our customers, and work into our stage area and Santa photo operation."

Gaulzetti said 1996 was a record-year for Santa visits at Lakeside. She based the 18,000 figure on the number of calendars Santa Claus gave away.

Westland resident is new exec of western Wayne conference

By Ken Abramczyk Staff Writer

The Conference of Western Wayne's new executive director believes 1997 will be a hot year for legislative issues. Marsha Bianconi, CWW's assistant director since 1988, was selected Friday by the CWW board of directors, an 18-community group of elected leaders, to become executive director.

Bianconi, a Westland resident, officially begins her new position today (Monday).

The CWW meets monthly to discuss state, federal and regional issues of concerns to local municipalities, including legislation, state and federal funds available to communities, solid waste and public transportation. Bianconi was approved by 16 community representatives present. Two were absent.

Bianconi was recommended by a search committee of Northville Mayor Chris Johnson, Westland Mayor Robert Thomas and Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack.

The search began with 63 applicants interested in the post, which was vacated by Dan Gilmartin in October. The field

"The committee felt strongly that she was the best candidate to fill the role," Johnson told the CWW board.

Bianconi, who expects to receive a bachelor's degree later this year in business management and English, will receive a salary of $39,000 this year.

As an assistant director, Bianconi developed and initiated new municipal programs, monitored state legislation and communicated the CWW's position on various issues. She helped initiate an enhanced 911 emergency telephone district for 14 communities and developed a regional recycling public education program with a state grant.

She also has coordinated a regional job placement program for low income and disadvantaged youths, created a salary survey of communities and a firefighting testing consortium which transferred costs from local communities to test candi-

She expects one of those issues will be the state's gasoline tax. Monies raised from that tax are earmarked for road improvements. "What happens with that issue, revenue sharing and cultural tax bills will be back in the new year," Bianconi said. "Many environmental issues also will be important to Wayne County."

Homemade soup, hot bread, tonic for winter blahs

omemade soup and hot bread are pure medicine for the winter months. If you're not feeling well, or just want to warm up after winter out-door activities, a bowl of steaming homemade soup and a slice of hot bread may be what you need.

Soups can take the edge off your appetite or it can be the meal. Homemade soups can be made filling without adding lots of calories, fat or salt. Soup is also a great way to use leftovers.

The best and most tasty soup is made from homemade stock. Beef bones cooked slow will develop a deep, rich flavor and color, while chicken, turkey or fish stock have a more delicate flavor. To make good stock, start with cold water, this helps to draw out the juices and the nutrients from the meat and vegetables.

Keep the stock pot at a low steady heat, do not boil: Simmer four to six hours, then strain through several layers of cheese cloth. Cool the stock in the refrigerator or freezer to skim off the unwanted fat. Now you have stock, the base for soups or flavorful additions to a casserole. Stock is perishable, so don't keep in the refrigerator more than two days. Freeze for use later.

If you don't have the time to do a stockpot, start the soup with a canned broth, bouillon granules or cubes. Add browned onion or roasted garlic to give the canned broth a real flavor boost. Tomato skins also lend flavor and color to a soup. Select a single main ingredient or a combination of main ingredients, add liquid and complement with one or more seasonings. A main ingredient could be asparagus, carrots, potatoes, mushrooms, celery, cauliflower, green beans, spinach, peas, cabbage, rice, noodles, broccoli, tomatoes, fish beef or chicken. Add these to a liquid such as broth, bouillon, tomato juice, milk, or homemade stock. Seasonings are onions, garlic, parsley flakes, Tabasco sauce, soy sauce, Worcestershire sauce, pepper, herbs and spices.

There is an old saying that goes, "Use parsley lavishly, but dried herbs discretely in soups." Always add seasonings at the end of the cooking time for better flavor. If the soup is too spicy, simmer three to four medium potato slices in the soup for a short period of time, then discard the potatoes. However, this is not always guaranteed to work, you may have to start all over.

Thickening

Thicken soups with noodles, pasta, dumplings, oatmeal, barley, rice, raw potato, or dry crustless bread. If you are adding uncooked pasta, rice or cereal, make sure there is enough liquid for these to expand. Pasta and rice especially absorb lots of liquid as they cook.

The flavor of stock improves overnight, so make it one day and the next day it will make a real pick-me-up cup of broth. Another advantage to having homemade stock is that it can be used to dilute condensed soups. To make cream soup, the broth is thickened with cornstarch or flour and then adding cream, yogurt, milk, or half and half. Do not boil after adding the milk product or you'll ruin your soup. A cream soup contains more fat and calories so use skim milk to keep it lighter. Garnish the hot steamy cream soup with lemon or orange slices, float small slices of cheese or meat balls, pieces of fresh herbs sprinkled on the top, a sour cream dollop, grated egg, nuts or croutons. Just before serving add the garish so it looks fresh and attractive. Put popped popcorn on the top of cream of tomato soup, the kids will enjoy it.

Better crust

The rest of the medical prescription is hot crusty bread served with the soup. Aromatic breads hot from the oven are easy and so inviting. Use a regular yeast bread recipe and make the crust just the way you like it, by choosing the right pan, Glass, dark tin, or dull aluminum will give you a thick, heavy, brown crust because the pans absorb and hold more heat, but the oven temperature has to be lowered by 25 degrees. Setting a pan of warm water on the bottom of the oven while baking the bread will help harden the crust. Brushing the tops when the bread is partially baked with salted water also makes a crusty crust.

If you don't want to make your own bread from "scratch," there are hot-roll mixes, bread loaves in a tube in the grocery refrigerator case, or frozen bread dough.

BY PEGGY MARTINELLI-EVERTS . REGISTERED DIETITIAN

ore and more people are taking meat out of their diet. This trend is particularly strong among teens and young adults. HDS Services, the company I work for, provides food service management for numerous private schools including Interlochen Academy for the Arts in northern Michigan. The call for vegetarian meals among these young, talented kids is overwhelming.

The reasons people give for omitting meat from their diet vary greatly. Some do it strictly for humanitarian reasons; others to reduce fat or cholesterol; still others, I suspect, do it because it is currently fashionable to shun meat. Regardless of why people become vegetarians, there are benefits:

■ It is healthful. People who eat vegetarian style have lower incidences of heart disease, diabetes, high blood pressure, obesity and certain forms of cancer

■ It is good for your pocketbook, grains, legumes, vegetables and fruits are normally less expensive than meat and animal protein. (Plus, you may also save on medical bills because a healthier diet leads to a healthier you.)

■ It adds spice to your life. Without the "hunk-of-meat-in-themiddle-of-your-plate" constraints. vegetarians tend to become more creative in their food choices. trying interesting grains and exotic fruits and vegetables from around the world. Think of the exciting dinner conversation. Plus, you'll be in good company. Famous vegetarians include Benjamin Franklin, Mohandas Gandhi, Albert Einstein and Paul McCartney.

■ It is environmentally correct Feed fruits, vegetables and grains to humans instead of feeding livestock to slaughter for food takes one step out of the food chain and makes our food supply go much farther. Additionally, it's estimated that it takes 2,500 gallons of water to produce one pound of wheat. Plus, no more greasy broiler pans or animal carcasses around after dinner.

Truly, there is nothing mystical or difficult about vegetarian eating. Research now shows that by eating a variety of grains, legumes, seeds, nuts, fruits and vegetables, and by eating sufficient calories, vegetarians can get all of the required nutrients for good health. If you decide to try eating a vegetarian diet, plunge right in! The only special considerations for nutrients may be for infants, children, pregnant women and lactating mothers. They need to get enough calories, iron and vitamin D and should be able to do this with small, frequent meals and snacks. For these people, or for those who must restrict their diet due to other medical reasons. I recommend consulting your doctor or a registered dietitian.

You can learn more about vegetarian cooking at Great Meals—Cooking and Nútrition School, 2-6 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 23, Metropolitan Adventist School Auditorium, 15585 Haggerty Road, (north of 5 Mile Road). Each participant will receive a vegetarian cookbook loaded with practical ideas and recipes. A delicious vegetarian buffet will be served. Suggested donation $15 per person, $25 for couples. To register, call (313) 531-2179 or (313) 495-0538.

A newer product from Green Giant called "Harvest Burgers for Recipes" helps reduce the fat, cholesterol and sodium of this month's recipe while still maintaining flavor and protein.

Harvest Burger is derived from soybeans. Green Giant Co. conveniently made this tofu product to look and taste similar to ground beef. It is usually located in the breakfast food freezer section of the grocery store. The wonderful aspect of vegetable protein is that it takes on the flavor of anything added to it. For example, if you add beef bouillon, it will taste like beef. If you add chicken flavoring it will taste like chicken.

We begin reducing the fat in Goulash by sauteing onions in water in a nonstick skillet. This step completely eliminates the need for butter, and immediately reduces the amount of fat by 44 Next, substitute tofu for beef. I think everyone should at least try the Harvest Burger product. Two pounds of ground beef has 2,814.8 calories, 241.1 grams of fat and 772 milligrams of cholesterol. Tofu contributes only 727.3 calories, 0 grams of fat and no cholesterol.

But, if you are still not convinced about using tofu, substitute 100 percent ground turkey breast. The turkey will add only 960.9 calories, 12.0 grams of fat and 440 milligrams of cholesterol. the tofu.

There are fat-free gravies on the market now that are wonderful. The only drawback is that

Creamy macaroni and cheese low in fat

By MELANIE POLK REGISTERED DIETITIAN

The chill of late January can make anyone yearn for the rich taste of comfort food. Nostalgia for grandma's meatloaf or oldfashioned macaroni and cheese can also bring back a desire for foods that are simple, filling and delicious. With a few substitutions and flavor enhancers, you can create modern versions of these traditional dishes that keep all of the wonderful taste without all of the fat, salt and calories.

Although meatloaf seems an improbably part of low-fat fare, it can be made much leaner by using a low-fat cut of beef such as ground sirloin instead of ground chuck.

Decrease fat even further and add fiber by substituting a whole grain for some of the meat. Combine I pound lean ground beef with 1/3 cup unprocessed wheat bran and 1/3 cup unsweetened applesance, 1 egg, 1 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, a tablespoon of chopped onion and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Form the mixture into an oval and place it in a lightly greased loaf pan. Make a long, narrow indentation along the top of the loaf and spread with a mixture made from 5 tablespoons applesance, 1 1/2 teaspoons brown sugar, and 2 tablespoons of prepared mustard. Bake for an hour at 350 degrees F.

If grandma's apple crisp was always your favorite treat, try this version with a scoop of lowfat vanilla vogurt: Combine 1/3 cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons of cornstarch, 1 tablespoon ground cinnamon and 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, Place 3 pounds peeled, cored and sliced Granny Smith apples in a 2-quart shallow baking dish lightly greased with nonstick cooking spray. Sprinkle with the sugar mixture. tossing to coat evenly. Cover the dish with foil and bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes. Meanwhile, combine 3 tablespoons of flour, 3 tablespoons rolled oats and 1 1/2 tablespoons brown sugar in a small bowl. Mash a tablespoon of margarine into the dry mixture with a fork. Remove the baking dish from oven, sprinkle with the crumb mixture and bake uncovered for another 40 minutes.

Macaroni and Cheese doesn't have to be high in fat or come out of a box.

MACARONI AND CHEESE

- 1 3/4 cups elbow macaroni. uncoaked
- 1 tablespoon margarine
- 2 tablespoons all purpose flour
- 1 1/4 cups skim milk 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce 1/8 teaspoon hot sauce

1 1/2 cups shredded

- reduced fat cheddar cheese
- 3 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
- 3.4 cherry tomatoes, halved 1/4 teaspoon basil

Cook the pasta according to directions, omitting salt and fat. Drain and set aside.

Melt the margarine in a saucepan over medium heat; add flour, and cook on low for 1 minute. Remove the pan from the heat and stir in dry mustard and the next three ingredients. Add reduced-fat cheddar cheese and stir until melted. Sprinkle Parmesan cheese on top and garnish with cherry tomatoes and basil. Serve immediately.

Each of the six 3/4 cup servings contains about 253 calories and 8.5 grams of fat.

second chance.

The first in the recent string of Jane Austen novels adapted for the screen was the fine 1995 British production of "Persuasion." This is the more somber story, a tale of a missed opportunity for happiness and a possible

VIDEO

Eight years earlier, Anne, played by Amanda Root, had been persuaded by an older friend to reject the marriage proposal of a naval officer due to his lack of fortune and position. Now that he has returned to England, still bitter over being rejected, Anne becomes painfully persuaded that she should have followed her own instincts and accepted the proposal. A very intelligent and accomplished woman, Anne is also saddled with a family that has little appreciation, and probably really no idea, who she is or how she feels. Her father is shallow and vain, obsessed with appearance and social connection - forced to "retrench" because of his tremendous spending. Anne's sisters, one married hypochondriac, take for granted that Anne has no life of her own and nothing better to do then serve as a convenience for them. It's ironic that none of her family comprehend how well-liked and highly thought of Anne is outside the family. At first it looks like Anne has missed her chance with Capt. Wentworth, played by Ciaran Hinds. After some initial aloofness on his part and uncertainty on her part, the pair gradually become aware that feelings are unchanged for each other. Misunderstandings, rumored matches with others and the limitations of their small social world threaten to keep them separated. This is not a smooth flowing romance. It's full of sadness, regrets and eventually hope.

Perhaps more than any of the Austen adaptations, "Persuasion" captures how binding societal restraints were on women, in this case single women. There is only so far a woman can go to obtain what she wants. I first saw this film with a friend, a romance novel aficionado, who thought that the actors in this film were good-looking enough - especially Hinds, who is striking rather than handsome. That's really one of the 'Persuasion' full of sadness, hope more effective things about this film. These look like real people, not actors. Their clothes aren't always new and crisply pressed. dress and long coats get dirty during walks on wet country

I understand "Persuasion" will be aired in the future on Masterpiece Theatre. If you're of fan of that program, you'll enjoy this

OBSERVER SPORTS SCENE

United-COPA takes 1st

Michigan United-COPA, an under-14 boys soccer team sponsored by the Wayne-Westland Soccer League, recently won the first session at the Canton Soccerdome.

Playing up in the boys under-16 division, the Little Caesars Premier League team finished with a 6-1-2 record.

Members of the team include: Brian Braun, Patrick Graff, Ryan Kunkle and Justin Parzuchowski, all of Livonia; Andrew Kogut, Mike Johannes, Evan Malone, Ryan Nephew, Doug Radcliffe, Kurt Sarsfield and Shon Washington, all of Canton; Corey Dahn, Westland; Justin Smoes, Wayne.

The head coach is Dave Radcliffe, assisted by Kerm Kunkle. The team trainer is Paul Kogut.

St. Colette cagers 3rd

The Livonia St. Colette boys basketball team (grades 7-8) recently finished third in the Catholic Central Christmas Tournament.

After beating Ann Arbor St. Francias (40-33) and losing to Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows (53-26), St. Colette took third with a 38-31 win over Garden City St. Raphael.

Bob Zapalski was St. Colette's top tournament scorer with a total of 37 points. Matt Champine added 18.

Other team members include Ryan Drolet. Nick Ehlendt, Matt Esper, Tony Hoblack, Kevin Lacourcier, Sean Mahoney, Bill Marsack, Ray Rondy and Marshall Sied.

Sarnia "Stings" Whalers

For the first period at least, it seemed as if the Detroit Whalers had shaken loose their offensive shackles.

Against a formidable Sarnia Sting squad, the Whalers took the early lead Thursday in Sarnia, getting first-period goals from Harold Druken and Julian Smith. With Robert Esche back in goal after representing Team USA in the World Junior Championships, it seemed the Whalers were back on track.

Not so. The sluggish offense (two goals in two previous losses) was not at all cured; Detroit did not score again, and after frustrating Samia for one period to carry a 2-1 lead into the third, the roof fell in. The Sting scored four unanswered third-period goals to gain a 5-2 Ontario Hockey League West Division victory.

The loss dropped Detroit, the West's fourthplace team, to 14-22-4. Sarnia is second at 22-13-4. three points behind division leader Sault Ste. Marie.

Esche made 37 saves in the game to keep the Whalers in it for the first two periods, but the Sting got a power-play goal from Jon Sim 43 seconds into the third to tie it at 2-all, then got two goals from Brad Simms to pull away.

Detroit plays Wednesday at the London Knights, then returns for back-to-back home games against Sault Ste. Marie, 7:30 p.m. Saturday and 6 p.m. Sunday.

Esche makes All-Star team

Goalie Robert Esche of the Detroit Whalers has been named the starter for the Jan. 21 Ontario Hockey League Bell All-Star Cup at the Molson Centre in Barrie, Ont.

Esche, sixth-round pick of the Phoenix Coyotes last year, had a 3.43 goals-against average with two shutouts in 32 games for Detroit.

He also represented Team USA in the World Junior Championships earlier this season,

"We're very excited for Robert," Detroit Coach and General Manager Peter DeBoer said. "He has continually improved over the season and is one of the finest goalies in the league. We're very proud of him."

Players for the Bell Cup were selected by fans through the interactive Bell Three Star program during each game.

Open outdoor skating

Winter means frozen ponds and chances to ice skate outside - and there are several local places to do it.

• Wayne County Parks has several spots open for skating. In Plymouth, there's Wilcox Lake; in Redford, it's Lola Valley; in Livonia, go to Newburgh Lake; and in Westland, slide over to Nankin Mills.

All rinks will be open during the day, weather permitting. In addition, the rink at Nankin Mills is lighted and will remain open until 10 p.m.

To get locations of other County skating rinks, or to receive skating conditions, call the Wayne County Parks office at (313) 261-1990.

Jarrett, Berent propel Rockets past Pats, 55-47

BY BRAD EMONS STAFF WRITER

Justin Berent to Dave Jarrett proved to be a deadly passing combination for Westland John Glenn's 11-1 football team this fall.

And same could be said Friday night on the hardwood as the two teamed up once again to lead the Rockets past host Livonia Franklin, 55-47, in a boys basketball game.

The 6-foot-3 Jarrett, a standout senior wide receiver on the gridiron, scored a game-high 20 points and came up with several key plays down the stretch to help Glenn even its record at 3-3.

And not to be outdone, Berent, a 6-6 junior quarterback who displayed pin-point accuracy during Glenn's semifinal playoff run, added 16 points and helped keep Franklin's 6-8 senior center Matt Bauman, who finished with 19 points, under wraps for much of the "Justin played a great defensive game," Glenn coach Mike Schuette said. "We hadn't scouted Franklin, so we weren't sure what Bauman would do. We didn't know if he'd play the perimeter, or post up inside. I was pleased with the way Justin played him."

Ironically, Franklin sorely missed its starting quarterback, 6-3 junior forward Brian Facione, who reinjured his broken collarbone just days before in practice after seeing his first action of the year Tuesday versus Milford, (He scored 12 in a 50-38 defeat).

Facione sat out Franklin's first four cage games after initially suffering the injury in a season-ending football win over Trenton.

PREP HOOPS

He is expected to be out at least a month according to Franklin coach Dan Robinson.

"He gives us a ball-handler and makes things happen where he can create opportunities for other people," said the first-year Patriot coach, whose team is also 3-3 overall and 1-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. "He can get in the lane and drop the ball off to other people. And nobody can take the ball from him."

But it was the Jarrett who was the creator this night for Glenn,

He scored eight first-quarter points as the Glenn jumped out to a 16-12 lead.

Glenn then outscored Franklin 12-6 in the second period to lead 28-18 at intermission.

The Glenn advantage swelled to 19 points, 37-18, with 4:43 left in the third period as the acrobatic Jarrett took a pass and hammered home a thunderous dunk to cap a 9-0 run. Robinson then called a pair of third-quarter timeouts to stem the tide and his Patriots responded with 12-2 run of its own to cut the deficit to 39-30 after three quarters.

"We came out kind of flat and it was a case of not wanting to lose instead of playing to win," Robinson said. "Because we were so down, we had no other choice but to pick up our energy level. We had to play with more emotion on offense and become scrappier on defense. That's hard when you dig yourself a hole."

Expansion team RU ices Franklin

BY STEVE KOWALSKI STAFF WRITER

Trevor Pagel hasn't quite reached celebrity status, but at least he's getting noticed.

Pagel had two goals and two assists Friday, leading the first-year Redford Union hockey team to a surprisingly-easy 6-0 victory over Livonia Franklin at Eddie Edgar Arena.

Pagel, a senior forward who spent his first three years at RU playing in relative anonymity on various travel teams, stood outside the locker room talking to a reporter following Friday's game.

Only thing missing were autograph seekers.

"It's a lot more fun playing for the school, the atmosphere, getting fans into it," Pagel said. "They ask when all the games are, where they're at."

For a first-year team, RU can't complain about where it stands in

Two of the Panthers' remaining three goals also came on the power

'We had a good power play tonight, we executed real well in the corners," Pagel said. "We all came to play hard. We were determined, knew what we had to do. We had to keep our heads because we knew we were in for a physical game."

The Panthers finished the scoring at 12:26 of the third period, scoring another power play goal by Mike Podina, with assists going to Tim Kennedy and Phil Sinelli.

Junior goaltender Mike O'Keefe earned the shutout for RU.

Panthers' coach Kirk Hunter was pleased with his team's overall effort and its ability to keep Patriots' standout Greg Job off the scoreboard.

"We played well, moved the puck, and were patient," Hunter said. "We knew about Job, scouted them before this game, so we put Pagel or (Jon) Price on him."

Villanueva's 33 lifts Trojans by Northwest

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS BASKETBALL

Livonia Clarenceville's Justin Villanueva was hitting on all cylinders Friday night, leading the Trojans to a 73-66 Metro Conference boys basketball victory at Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest.

Villanueva, a 6-foot-3 junior, poured in a game-high 33 points on 11 field goals and 11 of 17 free throws, including six of seven in the final quarter.

He also snared 13 rebounds and did not commit a turnover.

"Justin just played a great game," said Clarenceville coach Rick Larson, whose team has won three straight.

Sophomore guard Albert Deljosevic chipped in with 17 points and seven assists. He made five of six from the free throw line.

Senior guard Donahue Fulton added 13 points, including five of five from the line.

For the game, Clarenceville shot 78 percent from the charity stripe (25 of 32) after averaging 54 percent the first six games.

Clarenceville is now 3-4 overall and 3-2 in the Metro Conference.

"After a rough start it's good to see two good efforts in a row,' Larson said.

Junior guard Dan Chewning and senior guard Todd Pontillo tallied 20 and 17 points, respectively, for the Crusaders, now 4-4 overall and 3-2 in the Metro.

Spartans dunk foe

Livonia Stevenson won nine of 12 events Thursday to earn a 101-85 boys swim victory over host Westland John Glenn.

Stevenson is now 2-2 in dual meets, while Glenn drops to 1-1.

The victorious Spartans were led by Steve Domin and Keith Falk, each winning two individual events.

Falk figured in three firsts including the 200 individual medley (1:05.32) and 100 freestyle (51.41). He also teamed up with Mike Malik, Mark Sgriccia and Victor Hakim for a firstplace time of 3:45.49 in the 400 freestyle relay.

Domin, meanwhile, earned a state qualifying time in the 100 butterfly (55.16) by edging Glenn's Paul Merandi (56.6), who took second, and Sgriccia (56.8), who was third. Domin just missed a state cut in winning the 50 freestyle (22.78).

Other firsts for the Spartans were recorded by Hakim, 200 freestyle (1:59.46); Dave Knapp, diving (185.4 points); Malik, 500 freestyle (5:17.41); and Sgriccia, 100 backstroke (59.76).

Glenn captured two of three relays with the same quartet.

The foursome of James McPartlin, Bill Cummings, Ryan Zoumbaris and Merandi won the 200 medley (1:46.37) and 200 freestyle (1:36.25).

Zoumbaris also captured the 100 breaststroke (1:07.5).

Stevenson returns to action at p.m. Thursday at Livonia Churchill before competing at 1 p.m. Saturday in the six-team Plymouth Salem Invitational.

Glenn has a pair of home meets this week, 7 p.m. Tuesday versus Belleville and 7 p.m. Thursday vs. Livonia Franklin.

Sosnowski leads C'ville club

Nick Sosnowski captured four open events recently for the host Clarenceville Swim Club in the first annual Sheila Taormina Gold Medal Classic age-group meet.

Sosnowski, 16, finished first in the 200-yard freestyle (1:53.29), 100 backstroke (1:00.02), 200 individual medley (2:10.8) and 200 backstroke (2:09.82).

Teammate Jessica Makowski, 14, placed first in three events — 100 backstroke (1:04.09), 50 freestyle (26.41) and 100 butterfly (1:05.03). She was also second in the 200 IM (2:22.58) and 200 backstroke (2:21.34), and third in the 100 freestyle (58.41).

Schoolcraft earns 77-55 conference victory over Delta

There's nothing like a nice blowout to take the chill out of a nippy winter's night.

Which was how Schoolcraft College warmed up Wednesday night, breezing to a 77-55 victory over Delta College.

Alan Caver and Sheilah Coulter each scored 14 points to pace Schoolcraft to its 11th victory in 14 tries this season.

Julie Schmidt and Kristi Engel each contributed a dozen points to the Ocelots' cause while Christine Edwards scored 11.

Erica Kaweck paced Delta with 23 points and Christie Thomas added 10.

Thomas added 10.

Schoolcraft held a 40-22 lead

MADONNA 89 SPRING ARBOR 80

(OF): Dawn Pelc, Katie Cushman and strong defense were a nice overtime combination for Madonna University's women's basketball team.

Madonna blew a five-point lead in the final two minutes of regulation Wednesday night but recovered in overtime to edge Spring Arbor, 89-80, and improve to 7-9 on the season. The visiting Cougars fell to 6-9.

Penny Supiran hit three free throws with four seconds left in regulation to force a 76-76 tie but the Lady Crusaders limited the Cougars to just a solitary three plus a free throw in the overtime.

Pelc broke a 79-79 tie with a field goal with 3:15 left in the extra period, then Cushman made a shot. Mary Murray followed with a layup and Cushman sank a pair of free throws to put Madonna ahead, 87-79, with 1:26 left.

Meegan Zann led the Lady Crusaders with 17 points. Chris Dietrich had 16. Pelc and Murray 14 apiece and Cushman scored 13.

Supiran led the Cougars with 16 points. Spring Arbor made 36 turnovers, though, to 24 for Madonna.

Murray grabbed a team-high seven rebounds white Zann, Dietrich and Pelc combined for 15 assists.

The Lady Crusaders won despite being outshot 46 percent (29-of-63) to 39 percent (31-of-79). However Madonna made 10-of-29 three-point attempts while Spring Arbor had only 1-of-11.

Spring Arbor led by as much as six points three times in the first half but Madonna came back and was up by as much as 10 in the second.

Petc's two free throws with 21 seconds remaining in regulation made it 76-73 but Supiran was fouled on an attempt to tie the game with a three-pointer and made all three shots to force the extra period.

Ocelots rally to win

It's still early in the season, but you'd have to check the last time Schoolcraft College was atop the men's basketball standings in the Eastern Conference of the Michigan Community College Athletic Association.

Maybe the last time was 1983 when Carlos Briggs, who led the nation in scoring and went on to star at Baylor, paced the Ocelots to an Eastern Conference title.

Schoolcraft made it two straight in conference play Wednesday with a come-frombehind 76-73 homecourt victory over Delta.

The Ocelots, 5-9 overall, had five players score in double figures, led by Naron Burks' 14 points. Rudy Hatfield (Livonia Churchill), Tykie Reeves and Bruce Goode each added 12, while Tymon Marshall had 11.

Schoolcraft rallied from a 43-29 halftime deficit and overhauled Delta with eight minutes to play.

"We played hard the whole game," Schoolcraft coach Greg Thomas said. "And we kept our heads in the game."

Delta's Mike Neely tallied a game-high 25 points, including seven three-pointers. Steve Booker added 16 as Delta fell to 0-2 in the conference.

The Ocelots finished 0-2 earlier in the week on their Florida trip, but gained some valuable experience.

In the opener Jan. 4, Florida Community College of Jacksonville trimmed SC, 115-79, as 6 foot-8 Marquise Gainous sepred 30 and Desmond Walker added-20.

Burks led Schoolcraft with 16 points, while Richard Johnson (Wayne Memorial) and Reeves each contributed 15. Dwaun Warmack added 11.

On Jan. 5, Schoolcraft lost to Daytona Beach CC, 93-79; Reeves had 28 points and Marshall scored 16.

shall scored 16. It was a costly loss. Guard Pete Males (Garden City) suffered what appears to be a fractured finger.

But Thomas saw benefits in the trip.

"They're both great teams and big-time programs," the SC coach said. "Their players are on full scholarships and their coaches are full-time."

•MADONNA 73, UM-DEARBORN 62: Kristian Magro pumped in 22 points and Narvin Russaw added 19 Wednesday as Madonna University won its second-straight against host University of Michigan-Dearborn.

The Crusaders are now 6-13 on the season.

UM-Dearborn (3-15) got a team-high 16 points from Will Marcoux (Redford Catholic Central), 12 from Charles Johnson and 10 from Pat Hughes.

Madonna took control quickly in the game, building a 12-point lead by half-time. The Crusaders' front-line players were a major factor — Magro, Russaw and Mike Maryanski (nine points) combined to make 20-of-36 floor shots (55.6 percent) and totaled 26 rebounds, leading Madonna to a 42-32 edge on the Russaw, playing just his second game since becoming eligible, made 8-of-14 shots and grabbed a team-best 10 rebounds. Magro was 9-of-14 and pulled in nine boards, and Maryanski was 3-of-8 (2-of-4 three-pointers) with seven rebounds, four assists and two blocked shots.

•MADONNA 90, CONCORDIA 74: On Jan. 7, the 6 foot-7 Magro scored 25 points to lead Madonna University to a victory over visiting Concordia College.

Madonna was up 10 at the half, 44-34, and stretched its lead out to as much as 18 points, 58-40, before easing to the victory. Concordia is now 4-12.

Magro made 9-of-15 shots plus 7-of-11 free throws in leading Madonna. Christian Emert had 16 points and 12 assists while Brandon Slone also had 16

Mike Maryanski scored 14 and John-Mark Branch 10. Derrick Nelson scored 23 points and Aleks Selmanovic 20 for Concordia

Madonna had a 60-35 edge in rebounding with Maryanski getting 16 and Magro 13. The Crusaders shot 44 percent, making 31-of-70 shots, to 36 percent (26-of-72) for Concordia.

Madonna made nine of its 22 threepoint attempts.

Schoolcraft roster thinning out

BY C.J. RISAK

It's become a rite of the new year — as January rolls around, basketball players on Schoolcraft College's men's basketball team roll out.

Some are academic casualties, others leave for other reasons.

Those who were on the Ocelot roster as the season began who aten't any longer are Scott Allen, a 6-foot-5 forward from University of Detroit Jesuit; Luther Buie, a 6-5 forward from Detroit Cooley; Stanley Cavin, a 6-3 guard from Dearborn Crestwood; and Kevin Melson, a 6-6 forward from Detroit Communication and Media Arts.

Neither coach Greg Thomas

nor athletic director Ed Kavanaugh would indicate which players were lost due to academic troubles.

Thomas, in his first season as head coach, instituted a mandatory study table that players are required to attend. Although it wasn't a 100-percent success, it did help; the Ocelots weren't hit as hard as they have been in the past. Only one of the players lost was a starter.

But the roster casualties together with guard Pete Males (from Garden City) suffering a possible broken finger left the Ocelots seeking help — and they got it. Thomas picked up Eric Hall, a 5-9 guard from Livonia Franklin, and Ian Zajac, a 6-0 swingman from Garden City.

your hometown newspaper will now be on your doorstep bright and early Sunday mornings.

It's Sunday.

This means no alarm clock clanging in your ear.

No grabbing a quick cup of coffee before fighting the freeway.

Sunday seems slower-paced for all of us, even if we don't have to dash out the door to work. It's a day to spend time doing what you want to do, not what you have to do.

Like discovering what's happening right where you live. And beginning Sunday February 2, you can do just that because we've moved our Monday papers to Sunday.

Your hometown newspaper will now be on your doorstep bright and early Sunday mornings.

It'll be filled with some familiar features, a few new ones and some that you've been used to seeing on Thursday. It'll be like sitting down and spending what they like to call "quality time" with the whole town. You'll be able to make a career change, find a new place to live, plan your leisure hours, check the sales, a whole lot more, without feeling pressed for time.

And here's another plus: on Monday, morning, you'll be the one that starts the conversation with, "Did you read about..."

1997 Saab 900 S will impress you with hidden power

By Anne Fracassa Avanti NewsFeatures

The engine in the 1997 Saab 900 S responds as though there's an 8-cylinder under the hood, even though there isn't.

Really. Power is there the millisecond you press down on the gas pedal. It's easy to reach excessive speeds on the freeway, even if you don't want to.

The car's power comes from a 4-cylinder engine. Yep. Those Swedish engineers put together a 2.3-liter dual overhead cam naturally aspirated turbo inline job that delivers 150 horsepower in a flash.

And the 900 S driven had a 5speed transmission in it. I never felt put out by it. It performed well, shifted easily and only confused me in the dark when I couldn't remember where reverse was. You've got to lift the ring under the shift knob to get it into reverse gear.

This 4-door hatchback that performance vehicle with a lot we could make the test fun. of functional uses. It's almost like it's a sport utility because of its functionality.

TEST By Anne Fracassa

ROAD

I was thinking about this the other day because many years ago, Saab's big bosses invited us over for the weekend. We flew to Fairhope, Ala., not far from Mobile to see how functional Saabs could be.

When we got into town, we were given instructions and a map outlining a typical seats five with ease is a high Saturday morning of chores so game and participated actively.

airport. She used a cane and told us how easy the car was to get into and out of. Then we drove to the hardware store to pick up several bags of feed and some hay.

The Circle K let us put what would in my household be about six months worth of groceries. Then the clock store called. The grandfather clock was fixed, so we went to pick that up. Our last stop was picking up one of the town's kids for tuba class — tuba and all.

What we learned that day is how versatile Saabs were. And still are.

With the back seat up in the 900 S, the cargo area is 24 cubic feet. More than most. But with the back seat down — and by the way, it goes all the way down flat -the cargo room increases to 49.8 cubic feet.

The back seat has enough All the town was in on the room for a couple of large adults. The front seats are We picked up Grandma at the comfy as well, and perfect for anyone with long legs. Headroom was perfect. Hiproom was great.

The only problem I had was getting the seat belts to stay locked. On several occassions, I heard the belt "click" in securely, only for the belt to pop out unexpectedly several minutes later.

The 900 S has a better brake system this year. The brake calipers and discs are larger and the brake pads have been repositioned. What that gives you is better braking torque, resulting in shorter braking distances. The brake system is also outfitted with 4-channel anti-lock braking system.

Saab really didn't change a whole lot on the 900 this year. Much is the same as last year. And I still have the complaint that I shouldn't have to be a Rhoades scholar to figure out the radio controls.

There are four new paints for 1997 — hot shades of blue, violet, red and yellow. The manual transmission has a new shifter. The seats are more comfy. And there's new luxury velour upholstery.

The 900 S isn't a blast to drive, but it surely is spirited. It's a large car that you wouldn't expect to handle like a sports car, but it does. If you want to get a little wild in the 900, you can — it will accommodate and be happy doing so.

Another thing you'll like about the Saab 900 S is the level of safety features included as standard equipment. I'm talking about ABS, dual air bags, lap and shoulder safety belts and head restraints in all five seating positions, side impact reinforcement, the wellknown safety cage construction with front and rear crumple zones and 5-mph self-restoring bumpers.

The rear seat, called Saab Safeseat, has crossbeams under the seat and at the top of the rear seatback. What that gives your backseat passengers is the protection of cross-car reinforcement in side impact collisions and holds those passengers against the seat with the three lap and shoulder belts.

That crossbeam on top also adds another level of safety by protecting the rear passengers from any possible cargo in the luggage compartment.

The Saab 900 S is the lowest-priced Saeb and starts at around $25,000. But take a look at some of the goodies it offers: 15-inch alloy wheels, 4-wheel disc brakes with ABS, premium stereo with power antenna, heated seats, power windows, . includes the Safety Guide, a tire power door locks, telescoping steering column, heightadjustable belts, remote lock and alarm system.

The alarm system, by the way, has an engine-immobiliziing feature, intrusion sensofs for the doors, hood and hatch, and a glass-breakage sensor. 🚎

Saab takes care of its cust tomers — the first maintenance service at 5,000 miles is dong free of charge.

OK, so the book on the Saak! 900 S is that it's fun to drive. performs well in inclement weather and is the perfect fami; ly sedan.

Heck, it's a great car for any
