odies and blood spilled from a Ford Bronco II that flipped over Tuesday afternoon in front of Wayne Memorial High School - an accident blamed on teens driving drunk.

Actually a mock accident, the scene became a chilling reminder for seniors to avoid drinking and driving on prom night, Friday.

"I'm hoping this allows students to see what kind of tragedy can come from their careless behavior if they chose to drink and drive," said 18-year-old senior Matthew Collings, who posed as the driver "arrested" by

Trustees expel more students from schools

Two Adams Middle School students expelled for having brass knuckles at school are reportedly tied to a Marshall Middle School incident in which one pupil was stabbed and another beaten up, police confirmed.

However, neither Adams student was the sus-pect who allegedly stabbed 14-year-old Neil Young on May 8 in a field behind Marshall, police said.

Adams eighth-graders Raymond Grant and Daniel Lowhorn have been expelled from Wayne-Westland schools amid allegations that they had brass knuckles at school on April 9, said Greg Baracy, assistant superintendent of general administration.

School board members expelled the two boys on May 19.

Grant and Lowhorn also are among four juveniles suspected in the May 8 incident behind Marshall, Westland police Sgt. Tom Kubitskey confirmed Tuesday. Their expulsions, however, stem from the alleged earlier incident involving brass knuckles, Baracy said.

The four juveniles, who have been released from custody of juvenile authorities, face court proceedings on charges of assault with intent to do great bodily harm for the Marshall incident, Kubitskey said.

A fifth suspect, 16-year-old Timothy White of Detroit, faces the same charge and an additional charge of assault with intent to murder. He is accused of stabbing Neil Young and has been charged as an adult.

A second victim, 12-year-old Steve Young, no relation to Neil Young, was beaten up during the May 8 incident. He told the Observer that he was kicked in the head and over his body while he was on the ground.

White could face a maximum sentence of life in prison if convicted as charged. The juveniles could be jailed until age 21 if convicted.

Meanwhile, school board members also expelled two Wayne Memorial High School students on May 19, amid allegations that the boys brought knives to school in separate incidents, Baracy said.

Shonen Simmons, a 12th-grader, was expelled for allegedly having a knife at school on April 16, Baracy said. He was reported to school officials after another student allegedly saw the knife, Baracy said.

Timothy Patchin, a ninth-grader, was expelled for allegedly having a knife at school on April 17, Baracy said.

Patchin was found to be carrying a knife after he became involved in an altercation, Baracy said. However, the weapon wasn't revealed during the Vayne police.

Some students said it was eerie to see Collings and classmates Antoinette Gilbert, Melandie Caine and Larry Williams in the upside-down Bronco - fake blood spilling from their bodies.

"Operation Prom" was staged by Wayne police, Wayne firefighters, Mothers Against Drunk Driving, Wayne Memorial High School and Oakwood Hospital Annapolis Center-Wayne, just three days before the senior prom.

The fifth annual program, created by firefighter Ken Chapman, also provided a sobering reminder as graduation looms June 7.

The "accident" scene followed an indoor program featuring real stories from a mother who lost a child - and a man forced to use a wheelchair - because of drunken drivers.

"I hope that maybe we reach out to one student," Wayne firefighter Rich Berger said. "If we save one life, it's worth it."

In the mock accident, Gilbert didn't survive, Caine and Williams suffered extensive injuries and Collings' life was ruined by arrest during the post-prom "fatality," Berger explained.

The accident scene was covered by a tarpaulin until organizers unveiled it to seniors. Some of them looked shocked; others simply laughed.

Bloodied bodies sprawled from the vehicle, and empty beer cans and bottles could be seen inside and outside.

"I think it helps some people a little to see the effects of drinking and driving, but some people don't care," 17year-old senior Aerogene McDuffie said.

She said the realistic scene had an impact on her.

Lorenzo Guess, a Wayne Memorial Zebra basketball point guard, said the program should have an effect on students.

"It reaches the people who want to pay attention," he said.

Hitting home: During a mock accident held at Wayne Memorial High School this week, student Antoinette Gilbert played a crash victim being aided by members of the Wayne Fire Department and other medical personnel. While some students participated in the event on Tuesday, others watched.

Dog injury investigated

Bubba, a German Shepherd struck by a van Thursday on Five Mile in Livonia and later found wandering near Hines Park in Westland, is now a ward of the Michigan Humane Society as animal control officers and the society investigate whether the dog was a victim of cruelty.

Charges against the owner could be filed if investigators determine cruelty was involved, said Vickey Steier, animal control officer for Livonia.

It's not the accident that took place around 7 p.m. on Five Mile near Harrison that have investigators puzzled.

screamed to alert the driver to the face he had struck a dog and to get him to stop. Witnesses saw the dog climb out from under the stopped van and limp to the driveway of a house on Five Mile where his owner lived.

Witnesses saw the owner put the dog in a car. He said he would take the dog to a veterinarian.

Witnesses saw the owner return about an hour later, without the dog.

The puzzle is: how did the dog wind up alone and without medical treatment near Hines Park?

Someone found Bubba wandering near Westland-Livonia city limits and called Westland police. Police took the dog to the Michigan Humane Society's shelter in Westland, where he was treated for his injuries.

Police traced the dog to his owner, and notified him the dog had been recovered.

The owner later relinquished ownership of the dog to the society, surrendering all rights to him, said James Bryne, assistant manager of the Westland shelter. Bryne said Bubba suffered

Pedestrian is fatally injured after being struck on Van Born

A 36-year-old Romulus man was struck by a van and killed late last Friday while walking across Van Born Road just east of Middlebelt, police officer Daniel Karrick said.

John Crowley suffered multiple injuries when he was struck by a 1996 Ford Windstar after leaving Ed's Place, a local bar in Westland's far southeast end, Karrick said:

The accident happened just before midnight.

Crowley apparently stepped into the path of a Windstar being driven westbound on Van Born by a 76-year-old Westland man, Karrick said. The driver's name hasn't been disclosed.

Alcohol isn't believed to have been a factor in the accident, which marked Westland's second fatality for 1997, Karrick said. The driver, who stopped at the scene, apparently didn't see the victim, the officer said.

The investigation is continuing, and Westland police are asking anyone who saw the accident to phone the traffic bureau at 722-9633.

In particular, police are trying to find the driver of a large truck, possibly a Ryder moving truck, that is believed to have been in the area when the fatality occurred, Karrick said.

The Native American Indian Exhibition will be held July 4 through 6, between the tennis courts and the large gazebo behind the Bailey Recreation Center at Central City Park. Admission is free. The exhibition will feature Native American dancing, singing, and drumming, and an emcee to explain what's going on. Native American traders also will be on hand, selling their crafts. Demonstrations will be given on basket weaving and on wood, leather and bead work, and storytellers will tell children's stories, from 1-7 p.m. each day.

"The main purpose of this is to have people become a little more aware of Native American culture," said Mike Spisak, organizer of the exhibition. "A lot of Native Americans live in this area. It's something that's totally new to the festival, and I'm sure everyone will enjoy it. And it's not meant to be a show or a spectacle, but to make us more aware."

He said he hopes to turn the exhibition into a true Pow Wow

American tribal councils in Michigan.

"Because of the short amount of time I've had to work with, I haven't been able to approach all of the councils for their approval," said Spisak, who is Native American. But he said many tribes will be represented at the exhibition this year.

The festival parade, which will be about two hours long. will begin at 7 p.m. July 2, at the intersection of Wildwood and Ford Road, in front of Schoolcraft College. The parade will continue down Ford Road to City Hall.

Last year's parade was the festival's largest ever, with 96 entries and Spisak said he expects to have at least that many this year. He and his wife, Beth, are co-chairs of the parade.

The Grand Marshals of the parade will be a group of Native American Indians, in keeping with the festival theme.

Capping off the evening's festivities will be a concert by the Motor City Brass Band, a 37-

Charter battle

Look for a battle of rhetoric when a bill to regulate public school academies - so-called "charter schools" - hits the full House of Representatives. Charter schools are tax-supported. specialized, self-organized schools operating under grants of authority from universities and the state Jobs Commission.

You will have trouble detecting that the warring factions are talking about the same measure. House Bill 4395, as reported out of the House Education Committee.

"We need accountability measures in place to ensure the education needs of children are being met," said the sponsor. Rep. James Agee, D-Muskegon, a former school superintendent. a one-time finalist for state superintendent and a gubernatorial hopeful.

Agee's bill:

Requires each charter school to submit an annual report on oversight activities, non-compliance with the charter, areas of performance that need to be improved, assurances the school has no religious affiliation, and a plan to improve performance.

Allows the State Board of Education to revoke the charter if a charter school fails to provide an annual oversight report.

Specifies that, if the school closes, its real estate and personal property become the property of the state.

Opponents say charter schools already are heavily regulated since they must comply with the federal Americans with Disabilities Act, Open Meetings Act, their performance contracts with the authorizing agency and "the microscope of the media."

Senate majority leader Dick Posthumus, R-Alto, and House minority leader Ken Sikkema, R-Grandville, say Agee and allies are "enemies of charter schools who, unable to strangle this infant reform in its crib, have done their utmost to keep it from growing big and strong."

Too public records

There's danger in the brief amendment to the Public Health Code, said Rep. Greg Kaza, R-Rochester, who was on the short end of a 95-2 vote on House Bill 4450.

The bill allows county clerks to act as registrars for cities of 40,000 or more for "vital" records such as birth, death, marriage and divorce. Kaza said it has the "potential to invade the privacy" of individuals.

"The state Department of Community Health supports this legislation because 'the use of computer software to generate vital records documents as part of an ongoing business practice could be more convenient and less costly for those responsible. ..." said Kaza.

But he warned that "security issues are raised by the possibility that unauthorized persons may secure access to computer hardware and software for malicious purposes." The bill, on its way to the Senate, should be repaired as it affects computer data bases. "Do we really want to place the birth certificates of the children of our constituents on the computer Internet?" Kaza said in a formal protest.

Tobacco ads hit

The full Senate is due to take up a bill banning tobacco ads on billboards after it was reported out of the Local Government, Urban and State Affairs Committee.

Sponsor Loren Bennett, R-Canton, said, "These offensive forms of advertisement should no longer be permitted where they can be viewed by thousands of children every day. It is painfully clear that these ads with their slick youthful messages are aimed directly at young people. . .

"Radio and television ads for tobacco products have been banned since the early 1970s," said Bennett. "It's a public health issue."

Parks oversight committee formed

Michelle Plawecki, D-Dearborn Heights, whose district includes Redford Township and part of Livonia, has established a subcommittee to oversee a five-year capital improvement plan of Wayne County parks.

The subcommittee was created to ensure that money from a 1/4 mill approved by Wayne County voters last year will be dedicated to the improvement and maintenance of the Wayne County parks division. Plawecki is chairperson of the Committee on Roads, Airports and Public Services, which has oversight of the is spent. parks division.

Commissioner Plawecki. Robert Blackwell, D-Detroit, and Commissioner Chris Cavanagh, D-Grosse Pointe will serve on the subcommittee.

Plawecki said the parks system has a dedicated source of Wayne County Commissioner revenue for the first time in cal about county government western Wayne County include: Wayne County's history. The millage will generate $31 million over the next five years for county parks.

"In the past, all programs or maintenance costs related to the parks were paid for by the general fund," Plawecki said. "This new revenue, which can only be used for the parks, will provide for an increased level of service, as well as implementing new programs and construction."

Plawecki believes that oversight is important and taxpayers deserve to know how the money

"Next to the expansion of Detroit Metro Airport, which is estimated at $1.6 billion, this is the single largest project that Wayne County has undertaken in years," Plawecki said.

Plawecki said she has learned that the public is generally cyni-and its spending practices. Plawecki hopes her efforts to provide additional legislative oversight will help put some concerns at ease.

Plawecki said the subcommittee will meet monthly and review project and building plans, design and cost calculations, as well as the projected schedule for the projects. Plawecki believes the oversight will ensure that what happened to the public safety millage money approved 10 years ago doesn't happen again.

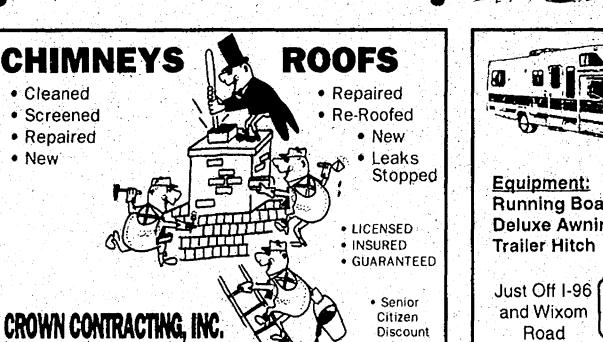

"In 1988 voters approved a millage increase which was supposed to be used specially for the construction and operation of a county jail and a youth home. As of today, the jail is up and running, but the youth home has yet to be built.

Projects and improvements in 1,000 new picnic tables; newgrills and trash receptacles; new backstops and bleachers at league ball diamonds; new entrance, directional and informational signage; improved parking and handicapped access, and renovation and opening of 10 miles of bridle trails.

Also planned are two picnic areas per year for five years; new picnic pavilions; new playscape and upgrade of restrooms; restoration of William Holliday Forest and Wildlife Preserve; rebuild and re-open eight ice skating ponds; re-open Bennett Arboretum in Northville; nine new high-quality soccer fields; two new street hockey rinks; three new basketball courts and major improvements at Lola Valley and Bell Creek parks.

Golf outing benefits SC scholarship funds watch a game, it's fun. If you play it, it's recreation. If you work at it, it's golf."

Participants in Schoolcraft College's 14th Annual Golf Outing can have fun, get some 'recreation, and work at raising scholarship funds for students. The tournament is scheduled for Monday, June 16 at the Washtenaw Country Club. Proceeds help provide scholarships for Schoolcraft College students in all areas of study.

Golfers can opt for a morning package, an afternoon package, hole sponsorship or a President's Club-level participation, each including lunch and a pro clinic. Tee-off time for morning

Bob Hope once said: "If you golfers is 8 a.m., with afternoon rounds beginning at 1:30 p.m. A steak dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m.

People also can participate in a raffle and auction, including several rounds of golf at area and northern courses, a Buffalo Bills jersey signed by Chris Spielman, theater tickets and a 1997 Pontiac Grand Am for any. golfer scoring a hole-in-one.

County establishes new hotline for environment

A new 24-hour hotline provides residents with phone access to the Wayne County Department of Environment.

The department consists of the air quality division, land resources division, division of public works, and watershed management division.

Should any resident have a ing any service or problem in Wayne County relating to any of these divisions, or to report any illegal dumping activity, they should call 1-888-223-2363 and they will receive assistance.

The air quality division protects the air quality within the county and in turn protects the public health and welfare. Citizens with complaints about odors or other observed emissions from industrial can obtain assistance here.

The division of public works maintains and operates drainage systems and wastewater management.

The land resources division protects Wayne County land resources through the prevenquestion or a complaint regard- tion of land contamination, soil erosion control and solid waste management.

The watershed management division develops a coordinated watershed basic approach based on hydrologic boundaries for the protection, restoration and stewardship of the county's streams, rivers, lakes, ponds, wetlands and ground water.

o matter what my knees were doing, when the offer came to ride with the Red Baron Stearman Squadron - Four Ship Aerobatic Team, my mouth piped up "I'll do it!"

Aerial showmanship or "barnstorming" began prior to World War I but flourished in the 1920s when thousands of surplus military planes. became available at bargain prices. Traveling across the countryside dozens of barnstorming pilots earned money by performing at fairs and taking adventurous passengers for rides. Continuing the tradition, the Red Baron Squadron is flying for charity at the Wayne County Air Show this weekend with proceeds going to the American Cancer Society with the focus on children. At 8:30 a.m. Wednesday morning I arrived at Willow Run Airport to preview the activities. Having been somewhat shaken on a simple Ferris wheel a few days earlier, I realized this could be trouble. A tall, dark man came into the room wearing a Red Baron jumpsuit with the name John Bowman printed on his lapel. John is the lead pilot of the formation aerobatic team and has flown for the Red Baron's since 1982. Although he has more than 10,500 hours flying time to his credit he confesses to a fear of falling off a ladder while cleaning his plane.

The four bi-planes were walked from the hanger and arranged in a row. John instructed me on how to get into the plane and carefully explained the procedure to follow in case of an emergency. Of course, I wasn't paying too much attention as he was strapping me into my parachute and headgear with earphones and microphone. Through the headset John explained every movement as: we were positioning for takeoff. The plane engine was loud and rumbled as we bounced down the runway. We were in the air in a flash. The ride was a bit bumpy though John said it was a pretty decent day for flying. Having only a small windshield for protection, I was surprised to learn I didn't need my goggles. We were up in the air approximately 2,200 feet (aerobatics need to be performed at least 1,500 feet in the air).

Of the four bi-planes, John and I took the lead formation and it was difficult to see what the others were doing. John's voice came through my headset and said "Tammie, are you ready for a little aerobatics?" I said, "go for it!"

Having never flown in this type of plane, I barely knew what to expect. I'm not quite sure what we did but I saw the horizon line every which way and the G-forces gave me an instant facelift and pressed me backward into my seat. All I could do was laugh and yell "wo-o-o doggie!"

each other a whole lot up here," John said.

"Most of the communication is with head and hand signals. Sometimes I have both hands and feet on the controls and it's hard to give hand signals so I ... use my head to indicate a turn or when we're rolling out of a turn."

We did the "loop," "hammerhead turn," "barrel roll" and "quarter clover." Then indicating that we were heading for home, he did a sharp turn to the right and came in for a very smooth landing.

Unable to see in front of the plane, John shimmied back and forth along the runway to Whatever the future may bring, this is what will bring it. The fact is no one really knows for sure what the future will bring. It's the reason 1984 wasn't like "1984." And why 2001 will be nothing like "2001." But there is one thing we do know – in the future, our entertainment, our information and our communications will all come from Broadband. OK, so what is Broadband? Simply put, it's a wire with enormous capacity, a wire with two-way capabilities. The wire you now think of as bringing you cable TV is being transformed into something that can literally bring you the future. Broadband will give your computer the power to be as entertaining as your TV. Your TV will become as smart as your computer. And you will be able to communicate in ways you never imagined. O Right now, in communities around Boston, Detroit and Jacksonville, where our networks are already in place, Broadband is allowing people to download from the Internet up to 50 times faster, providing the fastest Internet connection to the home. A supersonic speed that is changing the way people are using the Net.

 Broadband is making ideas travel faster. The exchange of knowledge is increasing exponentially. Once you are connected, you will no longer merely be entertained; Broadband's unique twoway capabilities will let you send home videos through your computer, entertaining others. You won't just sit back and be informed. You will inform. Nothing will remain static. O Over the next few years, a whole new culture will emerge. Not just through our computers, but through our TV as well. Broadband is about a new level of involvement and interactivity. You will no longer be strictly on the receiving end of genlus. And once your big idea connects with your friend's amazing inspiration, there will be no end to the brilliance that can come from Broadband in the next hundred years. THURSDAY, MAY 29, 1997

June 9 election Brown, Turner best for board

lthough things may be looking up for Wayne-Westland schools on the state financing front — thanks to the efforts of many - we still face an uphill struggle.

This is a major issue facing Wayne-Westland voters as they head to the polls Monday, June 9. Although we don't want to ignore other issues such as curriculum and technology, everything boils down to having the money to do these things.

That's one reason we are endorsing the candidacies of current Wayne-Westland trustees Patricia Brown, an incumbent and Canton resident, and challenger and former trustee Ed Turner who lives in Westland. Brown and Turner would bring an element of consistency to the board and to an issue where the community must stand together and forge ahead.

Both have the heart of a servant -- something important when public tax dollars and especially children's issues are at stake. They are strongly committed to public education and their communities, which can be seen by the many activities in which they are involved.

Neither Brown nor Turner will be afraid to vote for controversial issues if they are for the betterment of the Wayne-Westland schools. Both will take the lead in the ongoing school finance reform issue.

Brown has proven herself through her aggressive approach in working with Lansing her strong stand on tough issues like selling off school properties and her positive attitude toward sharing public information - somedents at risk, and has brought a strong leadership role to the board.

We applaud incumbent Mathew

McCusker's long history in education including his strong ties to the MASB group in Lansing. He is articulate, well-spoken and serves the district well. But we feel it's time for someone new, and Turner deserves a chance at this board seat.

Turner can be seen throughout the community, whether on the YMCA board, the Westland Cable Commission or through his involvement with the Wayne-Westland Junior Miss program or elementary school programs. Although often a cheerleader for the community and school district, he also has the skeptical approach needed to review issues and make the right decisions.

We offer two cautions in this endorsement, however.

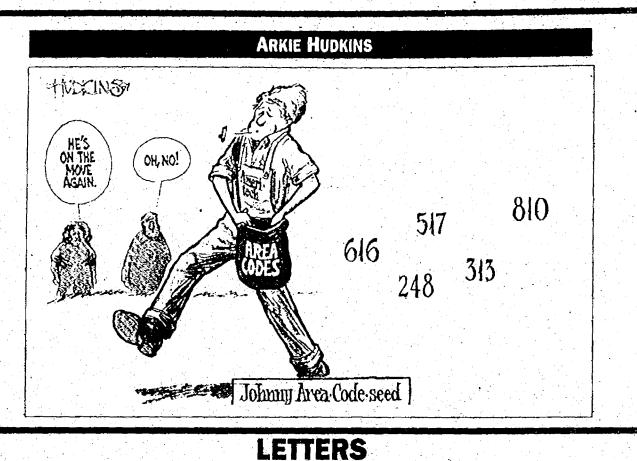

During our candidate interviews, we sensed that the board is not as consolidated as it should be due to political affiliations and issues on which the board has been divided, such as the renaming of Walker-Winter school.

We call on the new board to put aside these issues and work together for the good of the community.

Also, there was much political posturing about the responsiveness of the current board. Whether that is true, or simply a perception, we call on the new board to make a real effort to include all members of the community.

Perceptions can sometimes become reality if no action is taken to counter them.

With that, we recommend Patricia Brown and Ed Turner for the Wayne-Westland

Death notice poor

irst, let me say "thank you" on behalf of my family and myself for the beautiful article written on my brother, Doug Corbeil, who was killed in a boating accident on May 3, 1997.

The reporter, Darrell Clem, came to my mother's home and talked with several of Doug's close friends. He was very nice and seemed to really care about getting the facts straight, something the local TV news stations didn't do. My family and I really do appreciate it.

What we didn't appreciate was the way my mother was informed of Doug's death. Westland police station called her at about 5:30 a.m. Sunday morning and gave her the phone number of Monroe County police, who then told her of the accident.

We would like to know if this is how situations like this are handled. Shouldn't a police officer have been sent to her home to tell her and make sure she was OK until we got there? I am very upset that my mom was alone when told that her youngest son had died. I would hope this is not standard procedure with Westland police. I find it hard to believe that they were so busy at that time of day that they couldn't send someone in person. Lastly, to all those TV news stations: Please set the record straight. The driver of the boat, Kevin Mann, was not impaired and was not speeding, according to Monroe police. Kevin has to live with this tragedy for the rest of his life and doesn't need to deal with these false rumors and stories. Doug and Kevin were good buddies just out to have fun and do some night fishing. My family has no ill feeling toward Kevin at all. Kim Pollock Again, Trish Brown demonstrated she listens to her constituency in 1994, when residents demanded the district not cut busing and force secondary students to walk to. school. Trish Brown was the only board member to vote against the busing cuts.

And finally, in 1996 when citizens asked Brown to keep a commitment she made to them regarding the Sassafras Trails Nature Preserve, Trish Brown was instrumental in leading the board of education in a unanimous vote to approve protecting the property. If that's not listening to the public, then I don't know what is.

Trish Brown has a record that speaks for itself. I'd rather go with someone who has kept her word and listened to the wishes of the citizens of our community than back an unknown candidate who only has words and not actions to back his claims.

Do your part to keep Rouge clean

We hear a lot about "volunteerism" these days. It's become the buzzword of the late '90s, a newly discovered concept. And that's fine.

But to the Friends of the Rouge, "volunteerism" is nothing new. They've been relying on volunteers for the past 12 years in their efforts to restore the Rouge River to an unpolluted state. And on Saturday, June 7, Rouge Rescue '97, the 12th annual cleanup, will take place. More than 2,500 people are expected to take part.

Indeed the entire Rouge project has been a classic example of volunteerism and cooperation. From the $1 billion Rouge River National Wet Weather Project the federally funded project to build retention.

basins to treat stormwater before it flows into the river - to the volunteers fishing old tires and downed trees from the water, the Rouge cleanup project has involved all levels of government, businesses and private citizen volunteers.

But much remains to be done. And local governments and citizens can play a major part. An Environmental Protection Agency official says local communities should take active roles in clearing logiams and managing stormwater flow and runoff. That, according to Tim Henry, associate director for watershed and community environmental protection for EPA Region V, is due to the "variability" of stormwater flow from one community to another.

Henry also urged local communities to "work together on watershed management." We're seeing cooperation now between local communities, federal, state and county agencies and U.S. District Court on watershed management. Communities were encouraged to participate in the drafting of stormwater permits required under the Clean Water Act and use voluntary methods, such as street sweeping and downspout disconnection programs, originating from the local communities and not as a federal mandate.

In these voluntary programs, communities are left enough room to meet Clean Water Act guidelines so they, and residents, aren't bankrupted by federal court rulings which would happen if sewer separation was required in these local communities.

Even those who do not take part in the annual cleanup can do their part to keep pollutants out of the Rouge. Since many of the contaminants flow into the river as part of the runoff following rainstorms, residents should avoid washing such things as fertilizer or oil and gas spills into storm drains. Home septic systems should be properly cleaned and maintained. Even something as simple as washing your car on the lawn instead of the driveway can help keep pollutants out of the sewer system.

More active roles include joining Friends of the Rouge or taking part in Rouge Friendly. Neighborhood programs.

The entire Rouge project has been a classic example of volunteerism at work. And it has worked. But there is still much to be done.

Brown the best

n recent articles concerning the upcoming Wayne-Westland school board election, I have noticed a familiar theme coming from several of the candidates seeking election: That the current board has not listened to the citizens of the community.

When it comes to Trish Brown, nothing could be further from the truth. Since she took office in July of 1993, Trish Brown has been one of the most accessible board members this district has ever had.

For example, during her first year when the state Legislature was rewriting the State Aid Act, Trish Brown took two groups of community leaders to Lansing to share their views on what was important to Wayne-Westland in terms of funding for public education. The first group consisted of those most affected by what decisions are made - the students of our district.

The second group consisted of students, community leaders from Wayne and Westland and business leaders. These individuals all had the opportunity to express what they believed was necessary in public education.

Change the board

he citizens in the Wayne-Westland school district should re-evaluate the priority they have given their school board elections.

Did you know that only an estimated 2 percent of the registered voters decided the outcome of the last school board election? That's like letting one state make our choice for president.

School board trustee is an important position that affects our lives and, for some, their livelihoods. These are individuals that we are placing in charge of the education and temporary well-being of our children as well as $94 million per year of our money. They are the ones who will determine what our children learn, how they learn it, if they walk to school or ride, what they will eat, if there will be sports to play, if there will be a band to play in, etc.

These elections are important and these people can and do affect our lives.

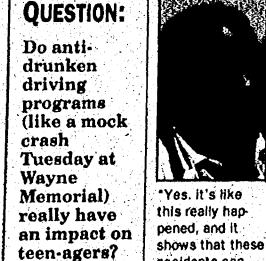

Now, being that our children are still not scoring well on the MEAP test and that the district is millions in debt with no solution in sight, I think we not only need to re-evaluate the priority we place on the school board election, but also the kind of individuals we are putting on the board.

We need to elect individuals who will talk with us - not at us. Individuals who are willing to talk about the problem and issues not ignore them because it's election time. Ones that will seek out long-term solutions to out problems, not short-term Band-Aids. We need to elect Ed Turner to our school board so we can have someone we can count on to work out solutions. Someone who will listen to us and act on it, not act like they're listening.

On June 9, let's raise the priority of our children and of our schools. Let's get out and vote for Ed.

Domestic violence awareness needed he recent articles in the Observer regarding domestic violence are certainly a reflection of increased public awareness brought about by the media and very public O.J. Simpson trials.

Domestic violence is a serious problem in our society with predominantly male defendants. However, female on male violence is neither miniscule nor without serious consequences.

State police figures for 1995 report male victims in 45 percent of domestic homicides, 32 percent of aggravated assaults and 18 percent of simple assaults. These statistics strongly suggest that female on male domestic violence is much greater than the 5 percent commonly reported by women's groups. Recognizing that female on male domestic violence is significant does not negate nor dilute the seriousness or magnitude of the male on female domestic violence problem.

The articles also quote comments by several police officers such as "taking the complaint out of her hands" and "protecting women from boyfriends and husband." These quotes serve to foster the stereotype of the male aggressor. In particular, these comments indicate a prejudice against the male by the officers who are interested in carrying out a proarrest policy – a policy that dictates that police must determine who is at fault and who is the aggressor.

ANDREW KOPYSTYNSKY

Limited comment was reported regarding false arrest reports to gain leverage in custody or divorce proceedings. There was no comment regarding false reports to deflect responsibility for initiating physical violence. In a basically he said-she said scenario with no physical evidence or witness, there is a prejudice against the male. Allegations are easily made. The state takes over the prosecution. If the defendant chooses to contest the charge, even successfully passing a polygraph unequivocally is of no help since this is not admissible in a criminal assault trial.

The costs to the defendant are significant regardless of the final outcome. Even though a substantial number of these cases are dropped or found not guilty, there are serious social, professional and financial repercussions to these defendants. There are no repercussions in the domestic violence statutes for false allegations. It would be naive in the extreme to suggest that this male prejudice and the lack of legal consequences are not used to gain advantage.

The 1994 amendments do address some deficiencies in the domestic violence statutes. Legal consequences for false allegations would go a long way toward reducing the incidence of manipulation of the legal system for personal gain. Increased awareness of the general public especially the police, attorneys, judges and female prosecutors of both sides of the domestic violence problem would certainly help to make the judicial system impartial.

Freedom of information laws need repair henever politicians try to hide something, it's usually because they have something to hide."

So goes Richard's First Law of Government.

One brave soul bucking the tide of official secrecy is Rep. Greg Kaza, R-Rochester Hills. When last we checked in with him, he was working on re-amending the Freedom of Information Act to say we slobs in the public are entitled to "full and complete information regarding the affairs of government and the official acts of those who represent them as public officials and public employees."

You will recall that last December, in the dead of night, the Legislature conspired with the darker elements of the Gov. John Engler administration to cripple the FOIA to limit our access to "decisions" of government.

Kaza got the damage repaired, and last week Engler signed the good amendment, though without fanfare. champions in the Legislature these days, and they are far between. One is Kaza, a Republican of free market and libertarian bent. Another is Rep. Laura Baird, D-Okemos.

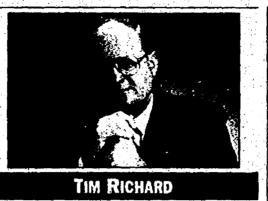

Kaza is working on two more bills of note:

House Bill 4758, which requires partisan caucuses of the Legislature to follow the Open Meetings Act. When OMA was written in 1976, the Legislature carefully exempted itself.

Clearly, Kaza doesn't mind wrestling with a chain saw. He will be cut up badly. But I wish him luck. As far as I can tell, the two parties' caucuses in Lansing are devoted to political strategy designed to make a) themselves look good in the public eye and b) the other party look bad. They should be concentrating on good public policy rather than publicity.

I have watched the Republican and Democratic caucuses in the Oakland County Board of Commissioners. They have healthy discussions of policy. One learns the intricacy of issues. ■ A just-drafted Kaza bill raises fines for violating the FOIA from $500, where it has been for 21 years, to $5,000. It also allows the plaintiff (John Q. Public) to collect "actual attorneys' fees" instead of "reasonable" fees.

Our "sunshine laws" have few champions in the Legislature these days, and they are far between.

The fines do need to be raised. As mation because, if you sue, it costs them only $500. Our public officials need to be punished much more severely for their planned sins of secrecy.

Good as those changes are, I have others in mind that may be more important.

The first has to do with committees. The Open Meetings Act says a public body's committees and subcommittees are also public bodies and subject to OMA.

But suburban government and universities slither around the law by appointing committees that include elected officials, administrators and the public. The Ionia school board appointed a committee to look at athletic standards that included students.

Any committee that deliberates public policy, even for a mere recommendation, ought to meet in public. Shunning daylight, Ionia shut the doors on its committee, and Attorney General Frank Kelley upheld the Ionia tactics – a bad ruling. Any student of government will tell you that the real work is done in committees. Anyone who suggests that a committee can be closed because its decisions "aren't final" is joshing you, as well as proving Richard's First Law of Government.

The law needs to be repaired to cover any committee appointed by a public body such as a college board, school board, intermediate district board, county commission, municipal council, township board or special authority board – whether or not the board members are part of the committee.

Another change would be to cap fees that public agencies may charge under FOIA. When (for example) police departments want to hide their ineptitude, they don't deny access but delay their responses and discourage you with atrocious copying fees. Governmental price-gouging should be stopped.

Welcome change: State's a secure place to work don't often listen to broadcast news programs, but because this newspaper's Tim Richard is a panelist on the June 1 "Spotlight on News" on Channel 7, I listened with care.

Featuring a group of local experts including Oakland University's distinguished retired professor of business administration, Karl D. Gregory, the program focused on prospects for the economy in southeastern Michigan.

The panel's conclusion: It's good now and likely to remain so.

Of course, Michigan still depends heavily on the auto industry. But the structure of the industry is very different from the 1980s, when we experienced a recession every three or four years. Gov. G. Mennen Williams used to complain that, when the nation caught a cold, Michigan came down with pneumonia.

First, the industry seems finally to have learned a lesson from its "boom and bust" past.

Each of the Big Three has downsized, substantially improved productivity, pounded down the break-even point and accumulated gigantic cash reserves – all in realization that today's prosperity has hardly repealed the business cycle. Demand for cars and trucks seems to be tailing off a bit, but the auto companies are in much, much better position to ride out the tough times.

Moreover, the composition of the auto work force in Michigan has changed significantly over time. While auto assembly remains an important part of the economy, the auto industry has built lots of assembly plants around the country, leaving at headquarters in Michigan a disproportionate share of white-collar labor force of engineers and managers, folks who are unlikely to get laid off when a downturn comes.

Indeed, the bigger problem appears to be finding enough folks with suitable skills to meet what looks very much like an absolute labor shortage: Kurt Metzger, director of Wayne State University's Michigan Metropolitan Information Center, predicts 52,000 new auto-related jobs in Oakland County alone by the end of the century.

The problem here is what economists call a mismatch in local labor markets. While employers are crying out for skilled workers, the supply from area schools and apprentice programs is not increasing.

Worse, many people who want jobs and have (or can learn) the required skills live in Detroit, where lack of mass transit or access to a car prevents them from getting to the jobs now opening up in suburban locations.

Indeed, according to the experts on the program, it now appears that the very meaning of "local labor market" is changing. Instead of thinking about a labor market defined by the city of Livonia, for example, or even Oakland County, it appears that the entire area from Port Huron to Toledo to Howell to Ann Arbor is becoming a regional labor market, with complicated patterns of supply and demand working throughout the area.

One expert remarked that while "two stadiums and three casinos do not make a world class city" (referring to Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer's boast that Detroit is "on the verge of becoming a world class city"), it may well be we are seeing the creation of a world class region. Flies in the ointment? Sure.

We could see a recession in the next year or so.

Worse, many banks that used to have their corporate headquarters in Michigan have been bought out – NBD is now headquartered in Chicago, Michigan National has been bought by an Australian bank holding company and Standard Federal's takeover by a Dutch concern has just been finalized. Although there is little current evidence this change of focus has had much effect, I cannot believe that we will see in the foreseeable future the sort of local focus and concern that existed while ownership was firmly rooted in the state.

But, according to the experts, Michigan has become a pretty secure place to find work and raise a family. For those of us who remember the 1970s and 1980s, that's a big and welcome change.

Head of anti-tax group raps fuel tax hike plan

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

State budget makers got $83 million of good news when the House Fiscal Agency reported a rosier-than-expected revenue picture.

The agency told lawmakers the state was $1.2 billion below the limit of $21.7 billion imposed by the 1978 Headlee amendment to the Michigan Constitution.

That failed to stop Bill McMaster, chair of the gadfly Michigan Taxpayers United, from blistering the "ambush plan" of top Republican officials to raise fuel taxes about $200 million. "Any increase in gas(oline) taxes will have to be decided by taxpayers and not the governor or state legislators," McMaster said at a May 20 news conference in Pontiac.

He blistered Gov. John Engler, Oakland Executive L. Brooks Patterson and Brent Bair, managing director of the Oakland road commission, for seeking the Michigan II" program.

But the HFA report, released two days later, said the applicable limit is $21.7 billion, based on 9.49 percent of state total personal income of $228.4 billion for the current fiscal year, while revenue is projected at $20.4 billion.

For fiscal 1998, beginning Oct. 1, the limit will be $22.6 billion, while actual taxes are projected to be $1.4 billion less.

The HFA report came as legislators put together school aid, university and community college appropriations bills that are tens of millions higher than recommended in February by Engler's Department of Management and Budget. In short:

Baseline general fund revenues on May 22 were estimated at $8.82 billion, or $83 million higher than estimated last January

School aid fund revenues are estimated at $8.66 billion. or Personal income rose by 4.4 percent last year, will go up 5.4 percent this year, and taper off to 4.6 percent in 1998.

Unemployment, after hitting a low of 4.4 percent last month, will average 4.7 percent for the entire year and 4.8 percent in 1998.

■ Inflation, as measured by the Detroit consumer price index, will drop from last year's 2.7 percent to 2.6 percent this year and 2.5 percent in 1998.

Michigan's "rainy day fund," an accumulated surplus to be used in times of recession, rose to $1.15 billion for fiscal 1995-96 (which ended last Sept. 30). The fune will grow to $1.23 billion this Sept. 30 and $1,31 billion for fiscal 1997-8 (beginning Oct.

Poor little robin is gentle victor nce upon a time, a week ago Wednesday, a schoolgirl walking past our house called out, "There's a sick bird over here, in the bushes, I think it's hurt or something, it's not moving."

Carmen, my 10-year-old, just minutes home from school herself, heard this cry for help. She burst out the door, ran across the street to the grassy boulevard where the other little girl stood. I saw the two talking, I saw their hands expressing concern and helplessness.

And then Carmen came running back home and asked if she could have the towel hanging in the bathroom. A cold May drizzle had begun to fall. I said, "OK." Away she dashed, with towel in hand.

Her older brother, Tony, and the three little ones looked on as she scooped the bird up, carefully, and brought it into our home. It was a robin, a quite fat and healthy looking robin. except it was lying quite still on its side on the towel.

I'm not an ornithologist, I don't know from birds, but this, to me, did not look good at all. No matter. My children wanted things to be right for this creature. A small dose of comfort and care would help.

I choked back my skepticism as those five pairs of eyes met mine. A box was found and Carmen very gently laid the bird, still wrapped in the towel, inside the box. I shook my head, it was a subtle shake, one that spoke of futility. Carmen saw it; I didn't mean for that to happen. She began crying. I told her we'd keep the bird dry and warm and safe, we'd put the box up high enough so our cat and the nosy, curious younger brothers wouldn't bother. And then she got ready for her gymnastics practice. I took Carmen to her practice and returned home. While I was gone, Tony had set up a warming light over the bird box. I looked inside expecting to find the limp form of a near dead bird. Instead, I saw a robin standing up, on its own two feet and making a cheep noise.

Bit of relief

RLS sufferers find support in new group

With the help of her second husband, Lillian Eory has found some relief from a motion disorder in her legs that has at times forced her to eat dinner standing up. Now, she hopes to help others with a new support group.

BY SUE MASON STAFF WRITER

As she talks, Lillian Eory presses the palms of her hands into her thighs, moving them up and down in hard continuous strokes.

She's not certain if she does the hand movements out of need or out of habit, but it is a home remedy that seems to give her some relief from the twitchy, itchy feeling in her legs,

"I can feel it coming," she said. "I have to take my pills on time, so I don't get started, because if I don't, I'm in for a good 30-45 minutes of it until the pills take effect."

The Westland resident is among an estimated 3 million Americans diagnosed with Restless Legs Syndrome, a motion disorder characterized by uncomfortable sensations that usually occur in the calves, but can be felt anywhere from the thigh to the ankle.

Eory's first brush with RLS was at age 35, but it took 28 years and the help of her husband, Frank, before she found "the right kind of doctor" and some relief two years ago.

I went to chiropractors, neurologists, psychiatrists and endocrinologists until I final found what I needed, a neurologist specializing in motion disorders."

Lifelong condition

RLS was first described by Thomas Willis in 1685. A lifelong condition, it has no cure. Its cause is unknown, although it can run in families. Symptoms gradually worsen with age and are worse in the evening and at night, making sleeponset insomnia its most disabling feature, according to the Minnesotabased Restless Legs Syndrome Foundation.

While Eory uses words like itchy and twitchy, others describe the sensations as creeping, crawling, tin-gling, pulling and painful. The symptoms worsen during periods of relaxation and decreased activity, making riding in a car, watching a movie, going to dinner or sleeping difficult because of the irresistible urge to move the legs when the sensations occur. Eory has had to stand up in a restaurant to finish dinner, to play cards and even do crafts.

"Even taking a plane," she said. "I had an attack and it pushed me into a panic attack because I wanted to get off. I pushed my head into the corner and cried, then I took two Tylenol 3s and fell asleep."

"If we went from here to Chicago, we'd have to stop a half dozen times; it was aggravating," added Frank. "But the frustrating part is that doctors don't understand; they would just give her a bunch of bull."

That was until they found Dr. Jay Garol, a neurologist specializing in motion disorders, at Henry Ford Hospital. With Garol's help, Eory has been able to manage her symptoms and get some sleep - "I slept from 11:30 to 6 a.m., my longest sleep for God knows how long."

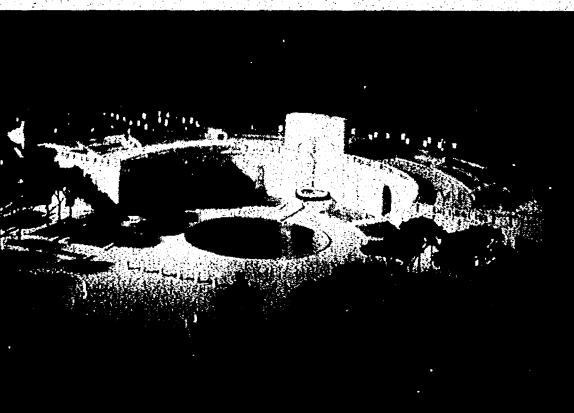

"I never got a whole night's sleep," Eory said. "I get four-five hours and then I'd get up and walk or do the laundry, As long as I was on my feet, I was OK."

A combination of dopamiergic agents to reduce symptoms and nighttime leg movements, benzodiazepines to depress the central nervous system and allow her to sleep even through movements and sensation, and opieds to kill pain and relax have given her relief.

"My husband travels a lot with his work and with Dr. Garol's help, I can go with him now," she said. "I take my medication just before we leave and stay up all night so that I get in the car and fall asleep. The best trip was when I slept all the way to Chicago."

Tony went on a brief worm run in the backyard. He came back with a couple and put them were, all of in the box. The first one the robin didn't even seem to notice. But the second one, she JUMPED! Her wings flapped a little and she jumped. And she cheeped.

Jack wanted to know if she could become our pet. Joe was thinking of names and Tony, in his reserved way, let a smile spread across his face. This bird was going to be OK,

The rain let up and we decided to take the box out to the back yard and place it on its side so the bird wouldn't have to jump. but rather, just hop out. The bird stayed in the relative comfort of the box for just a few minutes, then suddenly she flew. she didn't hop, she flew out of the box. Right smack into the neighbor's tree.

The robin hit hard and fell straight down to the pine needles below. Just as she hit the ground several birds swooped down from the pine boughs. They attacked her. Viciously attacked, pecking and pecking and making a hideous racket. The attackers were fellow robins.

The scene was raw, ugly. And much, much too familiar, to me. I shooed my young onlookers back inside. I distracted them, getting them ready for their soccer practice.

Before we left, I found the bird, not under the tree, but a few feet away in the open grass. She was still breathing and blinking her eyes. There were bare patches, devoid of feathers, on her torso. I didn't see any blood.

To personify the situation, I'd have to say she was a fighter. She wasn't giving up. I admired that. With everything going against her, she hung on. Stubbornly and with great strength of spirit.

As we drove up the driveway after soccer, Jack insisted on seeing "his bird." He's newly 3 and still has hope and innocence brimming within him. When 1 opened the van door for him, he scooted past me and went to the back yard.

"Mommy," he yelled, "my bird flew away to heaven."

I was afraid to see what he was talking about. What I saw was nothing, The robin was gone. No signs anywhere.

And so the story ends. But how? That I can't tell you for sure, 'cause I just don't know. But as a friend of mine once said, "We see things not as they are, but as we are."

So my ending to this story has to do with the bird being a fighter. And a survivor. And, finally, a gentle victor.

Finding relief was a turning point for Eory as was the item Frank saw on TV about the RLS Foundation. After getting more information, Eory joined and is now starting the first-ever RLS support groups in Michigan.

Foundation members with ZIP codes within an hour's drive of Westland were alerted to contact Eory about the new support group. For the first few days, she couldn't get off the telephone

And the first meeting - at 1 p.m. (for the elderly) and 7 p.m. (for working people) - on April 30, drew responses from 24 people from Livonia, Redford, Westland, Garden City, Canton, Farmington and West Bloomfield responded.

The group drew up a charter at the meetings and set a goal of educating the public and doctors about RLS.

"You say RLS and they say OK like it's a mosquito bite," Eory said. "They think it's ALS, Lou-Gehrig's disease. That's what they think."

Since the first meetings, Eory has heard from more RLS patients and anticipates an even bigger turnout for the May 30 meetings. With a good number of people from Oakland County, plans are in the works to start a second support group in the West Bloomfield area.

Eory has already begun thinking about a larger location for the meetings, since seating capacity at her house maxes out at 25 "and that's with some sitting on the hearth." "We get in there and it's like we're all old friends because we see that we're all suffering from the same thing," Eory said. "We talk about our symptoms and what we're doing, but it's difficult because everyone wants to talk at the same time."

The group shared information on home remedies like rubbing the legs, using topical creams like Zostrix and soaking in a hot tub, both of which relieve the sensations between doses of medication.

"Some rub with peppermint oil or Vaseline or use a rolling pin," Eory said. "One man gave up on medicine and is using prayer, hypnosis and meditation.'

Eory anticipates having 50 members within a few months, opening the door to guest speakers like a pharmacist to talk about drugs and their interactions and a counselor to speak about depression.

"Out of 20 people there, 12 considered suicide, including myself," she said. "I thought that if this is living, what's the point, but I never got down to the brass tacks."

While she is dealing with her RLS, Eory also is taking a close look at her family, since it can run in families.

She vaguely remembers her mother sitting on the edge of a sofa and leaning forward. She never asked, but suspects she suffered from RLS. And one of her children is showing signs, but won't admit there's a problem.

What's wonderful about this memorial is that it is a living memorial," said Dabe. "It will be an ongoing project to maintain and to add names to the database.'

Ground was broken for the memorial in June 1996 and its dedication is set for Oct. 18. The WIMSA Memorial Foundation Inc., is looking to raise $20 million to finance the construction and maintenance of the memorial, expected to attract 4 million visitors a year.

To date, it has received a bequest of $9 million from the U.S. government as well as contributions from the governments of Kuwait and Saudi Arabia to honor the women who served in: Operation Desert Storm, and from many of the 50 states, said Lorraine Dieterle, state WIMSA chair.

To date, 130,000 women have registered for the memorial, which might explain why finding out from their great-granddaughters about two women who served during World War I was a cause for celebration at the expo. "At first, the women who registèred were predominantly from World War II," Dieterle said. Now, we're starting to get young women; we're starting to get a good sampling."

Dabe and Dieterle both served during World War II. Dabe enlisted in the U.S. Navy's Women Appointed for Voluntary Emergency Service and served for two years. Dieterle enlisted in the. U.S. Coast Guard's SPARs, a name derived from the Coast Guard motto of "Semper Paratus, Always Ready."

Dabe's father had always told his children to get an education and then go see the world. Dabe gave up a $100 a month job at Murray Corporation to do that, seeing the worldly likes of Hunter College in New York and the dormitories and classrooms of Oklahoma A & M before being stationed in Cleveland, Ohio.

Good experience

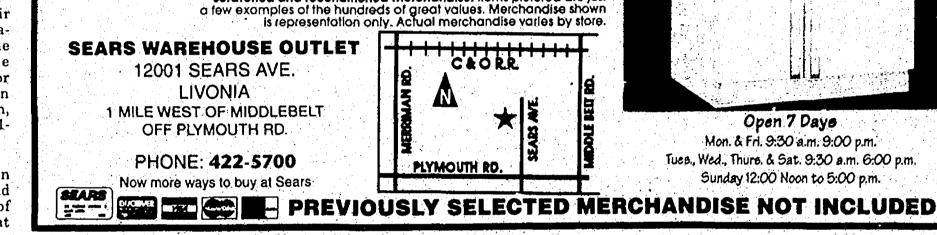

A yeoman first class, she Worked in the Bureau of Supblies and Accounting producing allotment checks for the families of servicemen.

"I don't know if it was purely patriotic or because I wanted to be a part of it, but it was a wonderful experience," said Dabe. "I met a lot of people and I learned a lot. And I fought the 'battle' of Euclid Avenue in Cleveland."

The military needed photographers and Dieterle had the expe-

Livonia Franklin received an early exit from the Class A girls softball state tournament - earlier, in fact, than anyone originally thought possible.

Franklin, playing four days sooner than first anticipated, lost to Garden City, 4-0, in a Class A predistrict game Tuesday hosted by the Cougars at Garden City Park.

The game originally was scheduled for Saturday, but the draw was re-done after the late addition of Detroit Cody following confusion over an eligibility list.

The new draw landed the Patriots and Cougars together again, only this time in the pre-district and not . on Saturday as originally drawn.

Neither coach complained about the new setup, which changed the practice schedule for both teams.

"It was kind of hard going through school today knowing you had to play the game," Franklin coach Linda Jimenez said. "But if we had won, it would have been fine."

Garden City coach Barry Patterson asked his players to set aside some of their time over Memorial Day weekend to practice.

It turned into a wise investment. "It was equal for both teams, one of those freak situations," Patterson said. "I was upset at first. We had Franklin anyway but we had a whole week of practice scheduled made out to work on some things we'd need against Franklin. Some had to cancel plans to go out of town. Right now it's well worth it."

The win sends Garden City, 14-17 overall, into the district semifinal. The Cougars play Dearborn Edsel Ford at noon Saturday. Cody and Dearborn play in the other semifinal at 10 a.m. The championship game is scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday. Patterson laughs at the irony that his team could be a district champion and still have a sub .500 record. It's a testament to the Cougars' competition in the Mega Conference Red Division. "We knew the winner of today's game would be the favorite," Patterson said. "But you've still got to come out and play every game." Churchill romps, 9-1; All-Livonia final set

BY C.J. RISAK SPORTS WRITER

Two weeks ago, in winter weather conditions, Livonia Stevenson dominated Plymouth Canton in the Western Lakes Activities Association soccer final.

Despite their mastery, the Spartans had to settle for a 1-0 victory.

Last night in a Class A regional semifinal played on Southgate Anderson's smaller field, but in perfect weather, Canton turned in a better game against their nemesis. The Chiefs got more scoring opportunities and didn't allow Stevenson ownership of the midfield.

The result: worse, at least for Canton. Stevenson pumped in three goals in the first half, two coming off of corner kicks, and although the Chiefs had more chances, they didn't capitalize on any of them.

Stevenson's 3-0 victory, in a match played at Southgate Anderson, makes for an all-Livonia regional final. Livonia Churchill routed Woodhaven 9-1 in Wednesday's first game at Anderson.

Churchill and Stevenson play at 11 a.m. Saturday at Anderson. The winner advances to the state semifinal, which will be at Jackson's Mehall Field at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

The state final will be 1 p.m. Saturday, June 7. at Plymouth Canton's field.

"They took it to us," said Canton coach Don Smith, his defending state champions now finished for the season with a 14-2-2 record. "If we could have got one in early on, it might have changed the whole complexion of the game."

Of course, getting one in the net against Stevenson is no easy chore. The Spartans' incredible streak continues - they have surrendered just one goal in 20 games (they are 18-0-2) this season, that coming in a 3-1 regular-season triumph over Northville.

The Chiefs have had their shots at Stevenson, that's for sure, Wednesday's match was the third time the two have met this season; Stevenson has two wins and a tie.

Canton has been blanked all three times.

In the WLAA final two weeks ago, the Spartans had plenty of chances. Problem was, they didn't capitalize.

They did Wednesday, "Execution was the key tonight," said Stevenson coach Jim Kimble.

It didn't take long, either. With just 5:18 elapsed, Sarah Wittrock angled her corner kick into the middle of the box, in front of the Canton goal

Allison Campbell, the key to the Spartans offense, headed the ball toward the far corner of the net - right where Brianna Roy was positioned for the tap in.

The second goal looked similar, only from the other side of the Canton net. Melissa Jacobs took this corner, putting the ball into a spot populated by Canton defenders.

But Campbell charged through the tangle of players, chested the ball to the ground and

The Franklin players and coaches were teary-eyed afterward. They'll remember their 22-8 overall record, but mostly some growing pains that turned out for the best in the end.

It was the final high school game for seniors Missy Blanton, Jessica Sabbadin, Randi Wolfe, Margaret Schultz and Melisa Thompson.

"These five seniors came a long way, became role models, maturing, and their sportsmanship improved," Jimenez said. "We had a lot of talks last year. I've coached teams where we've been successful but it's like 'Bye, bye girls.' I've never cried before this year."

Wolfe finished with two hits, risky throw to third base to force Thompson for the first out.

A ground out and pop out to second base ended the Patriots' threat without a run.

"We could have used a base hit there, eh?" said Jimenez, whose team had a .328 batting average through the year.

The other three Franklin hits came by Jackie Ziem, Schultz and Kelly Young.

Garden City scored two runs in the third inning, one in the fourth and one in the sixth.

Sylvester led off the third with a single. Lewis ground out sent her to second base and a passed ball to all year."

Talbot's triple in the sixth was followed by Lewis' bunt single that gave the Cougars a 4-0 lead.

Patterson said the play of Sylvester and the breaks the Cougars are now receiving are welcomed at this time of year.

"It's only the second game she started for us," Patterson said. "She's been swinging the bat good of late, gotten an opportunity to start, and will probably get another one....

"I've been telling the girls all year be patient and those breaks will go our way. We had three little 'nubbers' go our way today and those type of plays have been beating us

Champion Chiefs nip Ladywood

BY C.J. RISAK SPORTS WRITER

Really, what happened in Tuesday's Class A pre-district softball qualifying game between Plymouth Canton and Livonia Ladywood wasn't shocking.

Or jolting. Not even stunning. That lack of surprise didn't lessen the drama, however. When two league champions face off in a qualifier, one anticipates a high degree of tension.

And that's what Ladywood and Canton supplied in quantity Tuesday at Ladywood. The Blazers struck first, but the Chiefs answered their one-run rally in the bottom of the second by pushing across two runs in the top of the third, and that's all that was needed.

Canton's 2-1 victory completes Saturday's district bracket. Canton, now 29-5, will play Livonia Churchill at 10 a.m.; Livonia Stevenson and Plymouth Salem play at noon.

The winners of those games will meet to decide the district title at approximately 2 p.m. All the games will be at Ladywood.

The Blazers will take an 18-15 record into Thursday's Operation: Friendship game against the champion of the Detroit Public School League.

"That was a helluva game," said Canton coach Jim Arnold. "It could have gone either way. It's unfortunate the two best teams in the district played each other first."

the early meeting of the two championship teams. Canton won the Western Lakes Activities Association title; Ladywood was best in the Catholic League.

"We were going to have to face them sooner or later," he said. "That's the way it goes. Someone's got to win, someone's got to lose.

"This game could have gone either way. It was just a matter of who got the breaks."

At first, it seemed that honor Canton shortstop Nikki Kovachevich next two batters without further runners were safe, with

PREDISTRICT PREP BASEBALL Allison hurls 1-hit gem

as Stevenson wins, 8-2

BY BRAD EMONS STAFF WRITER

Pitcher Mike Allison had the best of both worlds in Tuesday's Class A predistrict baseball encounter with Plymouth Salem.

The senior left-hander did his part, allowing just one hit and four walks over seven innings, and was also supported by a 13hit attack as the Spartans eliminated Salem in the first leg of the state tournament, 8-2, in a game played at Redford Catholic Central.

The win moves Stevenson (13-9 overall) into a 10 a.m. Saturday's semifinal at CC against Livonia Churchill (7-13). The other game, starting at noon, pits CC (18-13) against Plymouth Canton (12-15). The final follows 30 minutes after the conclusion of the second game.

"Churchill beat us 5-0 in the City tourney and they've been coming on strong at the end," Stevenson coach Mike Keller said of the impending matchup. "They've been putting things together of late."

During the regular season, Salem and Stevenson, fellow members of the Lakes Division in the Western Lakes Activities Association, split a pair of regular season meetings.

But Allison, who ran his record to 5-0, was up to the task, allowing just one earned run, a solo homer over the center field fence in the fourth inning by Salem catcher Ryan Rumberger (his seventh of the year). He struck out nine.

"Mike's always been a control pitcher and today his fastball was working," Stevenson coach Mike Keller said. "Today we got a little hitting, a little fielding, good pitching and good defense. It was a combination of things." Stevenson scored four times in the opening inning off Salem starter Tom DeMetsenare, who had beaten the Spartans in an earlier Lakes Division meeting this season, 7-5.

Kevin Marvin's two-run double keyed the surge.

The Spartans also added two in the top of the fourth and two more in the fifth to put it away.

Mark Dietrich and Roy Rabe led Stevenson with three hits apiece.

Rabe contributed a pair of doubles, while Dietrich added one.

Tony Dattilio and Justin Kerr each added two hits.

DeMetsenare (5-3) gave up four runs on six hits in the opening inning before giving way to Kurt Berlin, who worked the final five innings. Berlin allowed four runs on six hits.

"Stevenson hit the ball from the beginning and played well." Salem coach Dale Rumberger said. "You can't win with one hit." That's tough to do in any game.

"I thought we'd come out and hit, but that's been the story of our season. We have not been consistent with the bats all season long. We've been very hot and cold.'

Salem lost twice in the Madonna University tournament on Saturday, 6-5 to Allen Park and 5-2 to North Farmington.

The three losses left Salem with a final season record of 11-18 record.

Rockets hammer Romulus to gain district semifinals

The Westland John Glenn baseball team assured itself another encounter with its neighborhood rivals Tuesday.

The Rockets routed Romulus 13-3 in a pre-district match-up at the Belleville district to advance to Saturday's action where they will face Wayne Memorial. The game will begin at 10 a.m.

After spotting Romulus a 2-0 lead in the first inning, the Glenn bats came alive spanking 15 hits.

Tim Reeves carried the biggest bat, going 3-for-4 (single, double and triple), scored a pair of runs

The Rockets (15-13) ended the game in the sixth when Josh Utley recorded his second hit - a tworun, inside-the-park homer.

Greg McCollum hurled the first five innings for Glenn for the win. He scattered four hits and struck out four without allowing a walk. Brian Ault allowed an unearned run in his one-inning of action.

Sean Dick survived the first five innings and took the loss for Romulus (6-17).

•REDFORD CC 14, FARMINGTON 0: Redford Catholic Central broke the game open early by scoring 12 runs in the first. Inning to knock out Farmington starter Dave Viane.

Ryan Kolb (4-0) pitched the first three innings in the fiveinning mercy. He struck out two, walked one and allowed only one hit.

Casey Rogowski provided much of the offense, going 3-for-4 with four RBI. Chris Woodruff knocked in three runs with a pair of hits and Pete Broccoli added two hits and one RBI.

On Saturday, the Shamrocks (18-13) advanced to the semi-game with a four-run third inning

In the fourth-inning rally, CC combined two bunt singles, one Raider error and two walks to manufacture its runs.

Tony Nozewski improved his record to 5-1 with the complete game performance. He struck out seven and welked three:

Jeff Trzos took the defeat for North, despite fanning eight, He scaffered five hits and walked four.

Mike Haller (4-3) recorded his first shutout of the season as the Shamrocks blanked Allen Park 3-0.

Clinging to a 1-0 lead in the seventh inning, the Shamrocks provided Haller with some breathing room with two runs. Ryan Ossenmacher's double gave CC a 2-0 lead. Ossenmacher later scored on a suicide squeeze bunt off the bat of Broccoli.

Rogowski collected three of CC's eight hits. Dave Lusky added two hits.

Rogowski's fourth-inning single proved to be CC's only hit in their tournament-ending loss against Alpena. The Wildcats, who scored three runs in each of the first two innings; received a gem from Aaron Sobek, who struck out three and walked one.

Alpena, who had earlier shutout Birmingham Brother Rice 1-O, faced DeLaSalle, a 12-2 winner over Farmington Hills Harrison in semi-final action.

Crews leads Glenn to triumph

Westland John Glenn softball coach Ron Staples hopes that his team has been saving its best performances for the end of the season.

"I've told the team that it's now a new season," he said Tuesday following Glenn's 16-6 five-inning mercy of Romulus in a pre-district game at Belleville.

The Rockets (6-13) will play Wayne Memorial at noon Saturday at the Belleville district.

"We got a good draw and now we have new life," the Glenn coach said. "Today's win was a good way to go into the districts."

The Rockets seemed to do everything right as every Glenn starter recorded at least one hit and one RBI. As a team, the Rockets stole seven bases and the bottom four batters in the lineup went 8for-16.

Leading the way was shortstop Samantha Crews who was 3-for-4, including a solo home run and a two-run triple.

Megan Brady and Stacy Stevens added two hits and three RBI each, while Kathie Suda drove in a pair of runs on two hits.

Jessica Beach struggled early, but calmed down to record the win. She struck out five and walked two in her five innings of work.

Local bass anglers successful

Bass season opened Satur- Greene ends season day and a couple local anglers wasted little time in finding a successful pattern.

Southfield's Terry Sanders and Livonia's Byrum McBride teamed with their partners to place second and fourth, respectively, Saturday in the 1997 Oakland Bass Master's Kent Lake Open.

Sanders and his partner, Terry Abfalter of Howell, caught an eight-fish tournament limit which tipped the scale at 21.51 pounds, less than a halfpound short of the winning catch of 21.94 pounds, caught by F r e d Malmquist

PARKER (Milford) and Jim Indreica (Flint). For their success

Sanders and Abfalter each received a plaque and they pocketed $929.25 in cash, $20 in Big Boy Cash and two Gander Mountain hats.

Sanders also just missed big bass honors with his 5.16pound largemouth. Fenton's Tom Holda had the big bass of the tournament, a 5.26-pound largemouth.

McBride and his partner, Al Fazakas of Dearborn Heights, placed fourth with a catch of 17.54 pounds. They earned $442.50 cash, $20 in Big Boy Cash and two Gander Mountain hats.

Despite cool rainy conditions throughout a major portion of the tournament 40 two-man teams weighed fish out of the 75 teams entered in the tournament. The 40 successful teams combined to land 143 keepers which weighed a tournament-record 400.52 pounds. That's an average of 2.80 pounds per fish. Every fish weighed was alive and released back into the lake.

The next event on the Oakland Bass Master's schedule will be the Orchard Lake

While the bass season in Michigan is just starting, the season on the BASSMASTER Tournament Trail has come to a close. First-year pro Kyle Greene of Bloomfield Hills had a very respectable year and ended up 50th in the Eastern Invitational point standings with 833 points. The top five in the Eastern Invitational standings receive an invitation to the prestigious BASSMASTER Classic. Greene, who had a tough outing in the final event when he placed 170th (seven fish, 13.03 pounds) in the Alabama Eastern Invitational on May 8-10, fell just 221 points shy of an invitation to the Classic.

Waterfowl stampions

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has announced the top finishers in the 1998 Michigan Waterfowl Stamp design competition and several local wildlife artists placed in the top 10.

For the third time, Manistique artist Dietmar Krumrey won the competition, this year with a painting of pintails. His winning work will appear on the 1998 Michigan Waterfowl stamp.

Livonia's Ken Bardel placed second with his painting of a buffleheads and Rochester artist Larry Tucci placed third with a painting of mallards.

Paul Butala of Southfield, and Heiner Hertling of West Bloomfield, both placed in the top 10.

Help promote fishing

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources is looking for anglers to help with its successful "Fishing in the Parks" program at Pontiac Lake Recreation Area.

If you love to fish and are interested in helping others learn the sport, the DNR is seeking your help.

The program is run by DNR staff. Volunteers will assist new anglers with knots, baiting hooks, casting and removing fish.

The program begins at 6:30 poked it past Chiefs' keeper Kristin Lukasik, making it 2-0.

"Surprisingly enough," said Kimble, "we worked on corner kicks for two days after. our last game with them. It was one area we felt we could be better at.

"Sometimes things work."

The 2-0 lead, considering the defensive work turned in all season long by Stevenson's Stacey Nastase, Andrea Sied and Jacobs in front of keeper Jenny Barker, must have seemed insurmountable to Canton.

It soon expanded further: Jacobs got control of the ball late in the first half and took it toward the corner, to the right of the Canton goal. She unleashed a shot that somehowsqueezed between Lukasik and the post, and into the net, to make it 3-0.

"I can't say we didn't lose some heart," Smith admitted. "When you're down 3-0, it can be hard to stay enthused.

"But we were. We came back in the second half with enthusiasm. We didn't lay down."

However, the Chiefs could not solve the Stevenson defense. The shutout string, now. at nine in a row, is "a pride thing now," Kimble added. "We work on a few things as a team, but as far as those three (Nastase, Jacobs, Sied) are concerned, no one will score.'

It's a pledge the Spartans just might carry all the way to a title.

.CHURCHILL 9, WOODHAVEN 1: It can be an uneasy feeling, coming into a state regional semifinal as Chad Campau did Wednesday against Woodhaven.

"I didn't know what to expect coming in," he admitted. His Livonia Churchill team had never seen Woodhaven, nor did they have much information on the Warriors.

"I got a scouting report from a friend whose team had played them, and he said they like to push the ball up hard to their forwards," Campau explained. 'So we played a little defensive at first, until I saw we could move it around on them."

The Chargers moved it around, over and through their opponents in this game, played at Southgate Anderson. They scored five first-half goals, the last two by Andrea Galindo, to move into Saturday's regional final opposite Stevenson.

Stacey Supanich also had two goals for Churchill, one in each half. Kersten Conklin and Andrea Will had the other two first-half goals for the Chargers; Karrie Bewersdorf, Luba Steca and Tina Fischer scored in the second half.

Tina Willmuth had Woodhaven's goal.

The victory pushes Churchill's record to 13-3-4 and sets up a rematch with Stevenson. The two teams played to a scoreless the during the regular season.

Campau knows his team won't find the marking to be as soft against Stevenson as it was against Woodhaven. His Chargers have scored 16 goals in their last two state tournament games, and have developed their. passing game well.

However, Campau warned: "That's what the last few opponents have allowed us to do. But at least it gets it into their mind to look for those types of things."

Saturday's final will be a different kind of match, to be sure.

Farmington slides by Mercy in predistrict

BY DAN O'MEARA STAFF WRITER

What should have been a wellplayed game between two good softball teams turned into a mistake-filled contest Tuesday.

But it was winner-take-all in the Class A predistrict game, and having more runs than Farmington Hills Mercy was the bottom line for Farmington High.

The Falcons overcame eight errors of their own and capitalized on six by the Marlins to claim a 6-5 victory at Founders Park.

"That kind of game is a coach's nightmare, because you preach defense and work hard at it," Farmington coach Jerry Osborne. said. "But you can't make the plays for them.

"We were fortunate to beat anybody, let alone a team like Mercy, and give up that many errors."

Farmington (19-10) will play Southfield in the district tournament at 10 a.m. Saturday at Founders Park. The Marlins finish with a 17-8 record.

Despite all the mistakes; the Falcons scored the winning run with a heads-up play by Kristin Brown in the top of the seventh inning.

Schroeder, but Brown beat the throw to the plate, sliding under catcher Erin Fitzgerald before she could make a tag. "I told her, if anything was hit on the ground past the pitcher, I wanted her to go, because she has really good speed," Osborne said.

"When I asked her after the game, she said she went because the ball wasn't hid hard and she thought she could make it.

"She was able to get a good lead, because the third baseman was playing up so tight, thinking of a possible suicide squeeze, I imagine. She got a good jump and took it on her own; it was definitely a gutsy play on her part." Alana Heikkinen pitched a good game for Farmington, holding Mercy to five hits and no walks - an important stat considering six reached base on errors - while striking out five.

"Alana did pitch well for us," Osborne said. "She kept the ball low and we had a lot of groundball opportunities. We just didn't

But it was a short-lived lead as the Falcons scored four times without a hit in the fourth inning. Five errors in that half inning was Mercy's undoing.

"It was pretty disappointing for Mercy; I don't think we played anywhere near what are capabilities are," Mercy coach Jack Falvo said. "Both teams played very sloppy; we were just better at being sloppy."

Falvo pulled starting pitcher Dana Dziekan after she issued the only walk of the game to Heather Martin with still only one out in the fourth.

Leah Moeller finished the inning; Schroeder pitched the . last three and took the loss. Farmington had four total hits.

"(Dziekan) didn't get any defense behind her, but they were starting to hit her and the pitches were starting to come up," Falvo said, adding Dziekan has suffered from a sore back the last month. "I made the move because I didn't want to get behind; I didn't want to let the game get away from us."

The Marlins rallied with three runs in the bottom of the fourth to tie, however. Farmington helped them with four errors, but Fitzgerald's two-run single and expect to win another ballcapped the inning.

Maureen Carolan's sacrifice and reached the plate when Heather Martin's outfield fly was misplayed for an error.

An infield error put Mercy's Asia Johnson aboard in the bottom of the inning. A passed ball and another infield error on Dana Falvo's grounder led to the tying run.

"If Jack and I sat down and hammered out what we thought were hits and errors, there might be two earned runs the whole game - one for each team," Osborne said.

"The score should have been 1-0 or 2-1 instead of 6-5. The bottom line is both teams played poorly; we were just fortunate to come out on the winning end."

"If either team had played any kind of defense and caught the ball, the other team would have been shut out," Falvo said.

"Mercy softball takes pride in its defense; we simply didn't play defense. Jerry's team put the ball in play and played defense in the last inning to point they got the win."

Osborne knows his team will have to be sharper in the field Saturday to win the district title. "We can't give up nine errors

Knowledge aids design

this column, very early on, I stressed the need of knowledge – in every phase of design. I reiterate that ever-important factor. Learning should be a continuing goal. It is the key that opens doors.

NAOMI STONE LEVY

Expose yourself to all the information you can garner, because you cannot buy good taste.

Acquiring this knowledge should be fascinating. I have never tired of pursuing it; whether through current or outdated magazines; whether through books on related subjects; whether visiting museums; or whether attending lectures by knowledgeable people.

Our local Detroit Institute of Arts has remarkable displays of interiors for your edification. You will love it! What you tearn will depend on how you relate to the objects, and how they relate to your needs.

interior motives

Early American, Colonial, 17th century Spanish or English or German, and 18th century and 19th century and 20th century etc., etc., etc. Endeavor to learn a little about each era. Your knowledge will pay off if you make fewer costly errors when assembling your interiors.

It is hoped, if you have retained an interior designer, he or she has also accumulated cultivated taste. If this sound pretentious I regret it, but too many of us aren't thoroughly educated.

There are many styles of furniture and accessories that are eclectic, and happily mix together. There are a few that don't.

As an example of "don'ts," the formality of Sheraton Fabrics wouldn't be tasteful with rough-hewn Early American. Fabrics offer their own diversity. Not esthetic would be the combination of satins and formal brocatelles with rough-surfaced cotton burlap.

The history of each facet of interior design is part of the knowledge that should become your best friend. Furniture styles are a mere touching point. Do you know the difference between a 17th century Windsor chair and a 17th century French bergere? Who was Thomas Chippendale? Necessary information.

Acknowledging architectural detail is another element needed to execute an inordinate job. Crown moldings, dentils, columns and pilasters are a few of the items you should be able to recognize.

Execute your interior with accouterments that are harmonious with all of the foregoing. You will be so proud of the final outcome.

Zesty decor

Juicy look: What has traditionally been considered the color of autumn is coming out of hibernation this spring. Two new decorative pieces by Kosta Boda unite the zest of orange with bright spring colors. The orange pinstripe candlesticks retail for $125 each. The orange centerpiece bowl retails for $300. The candlesticks and bowl are available at Heslop's at The Colonnade in Ann Arbor and Orchard Mall in West Bloomfield.

Finishing touch

Make It personal: Personalize your gift for the bride and groom with "their" colors by painting it yourself at You're Fired in The Boardwalk shopping center at 6925 Orchard Lake Road in West Bloomfield. Make your selection from shelves of unfinished dinner ware, serving pieces, mugs, trays, pitchers, vases, tiles and more. Then paint your piece in a comfortable studio setting where instructions, glazes, supplies, design ideas and firing are included for $8 per hour. Prices of individual pieces range from $2 to $80. With special group rate prices, you can paint an entire set of dinner ware for the couple by gathering their friends for a painting party at You're Fired. Call (248) 851-5594.

garden spot Write on: Books offer adventure

This "Book Nook" column runs the gamut from personal gardening experiences and advice, specialty gardens and John Muir's nature writings.

"John Muir: Nature Writings"

(The Library of America, $35), should be on every book-shelf.

Muir (1838-1914) was instrumental in creating our national parks system and was a founder of the Sierra Club.

The book includes a collection of some of his best-loved compositions, beginning with "The Story of My Boyhood and Youth" in which he relates his young boyhood in Scotland, the family's move to America and his enthusiasm for the wilderness of nature.

In "My First Summer in the Sierra," he shares his experiences of being in central California, and in "The Mountains of California" his lyrical words evoke the beauty that he found there. "Stickeen," his most popular book, is the story of his Alaskan adventures while accompanied by a faithful dog.

Some of the essays that are included reveal highlights of his long, fascinating and varied career.

Specialty gardens

"The Self-taught Gardener: Lessons From a Country Garden," Sydney Eddison (Viking, $24.95), is a down-to-earth book for both novice and experienced gardeners. It is a no-nonsense approach to this popular activity and she makes it sound easy.

Eddison gives information (such as what deciduous means) and other advice she couldn't find in other books when she began gardening, and covers all aspects: tools, division, basic design, paths, winter interest, soils and more. She describes her 10 favorite plants for sun, shade and other situations and suggests companion plants to carry the garden through the season. Eddison lives in Connecticut and writes from experience covering questions that gardeners (especially new ones) need to know and often don't know who to ask. Even though you don't have the land on which to build a pond, the recipes that are included may make it worthwhile.

Recipes for catfish, turtle soup and fried frogs legs may not be in your repertoire. Hearty Fish and Vegetable Chowder, Southwestern Style Baked Beans, and Baked Trout will make your family ask for more.

Riotte's book is both witty and fun to read, but it also includes practical information about the subject, pond construction, plants, fish and wildlife, maintenance, and the pluses that the pond brings.

"Japanese Gardening in Small Spaces," Isa Yoshikawa (Joie/Japan Publications, distributed by Kodansha America Inc., $28), is the definitive book for those who want an authentic Japanese garden.

The author explains the principles behind each style of garden, how to place the stones, water basins, lanterns and accents to best interpret the designs. He also discusses the use of trees and shrubs, stones and gravel.

The directions for constructing a kinkakuji-gaki (bamboo fence) are very complete, with excellent illustrations. Line drawings of detailed explanations will result in an authentic garden of which the owner can boast.

Family values

"Landscaping Makes Cents: Smart Investments That Increase Your Property Value," Frederick Campbell and Richard Dube (Storey, $16.95), is an invaluable guide.

The authors explain in great detail about the value of landscaping, perceived and real. If you are planning to improve your property, buy or sell, this book is an important tool that will help in many decisions.

"Green Fun: Plant as Play," Marianne Haug Gjersvik (Firefly, $7.95 soft, $19.95 hard), is the perfect book for youngsters as summer vacation begins.

The small book "Catfish Ponds & Lily Pads: Creating and Enjoying a Family Pond," Louise Riotte (Storey, $12.95), tells all about the subject and the Riotte family experiences.

The author shares how to make playthings with leaves, flowers and weeds, using just your hands. No other equipment or supplies are required.

Color photos of each project illustrate just what to do. Tuck this into a picnic basket and enjoy the experience! Marty Figley is an advanced master gardener based in Birmingham. You can leave her a message by dialing (313) 953-2047 on a touchtone phone, then her mailbox number, 1859.

focus on photography

Special touch: Texture itself is an important ingredient in this photograph. Monte Nagler took this interesting picture in Baton Rouge, La.

Develop a feel for texture in photos

MONTE NAGLER

Textures play a vital role in the appearance of most photographs. Used creatively, textures will enhance the color, shape and overall composition of your work.

Our environment is rich in texture, from the rugged surface of a pebbled beach to the alternating smoothness and roughness of an old wall of peeling paint or the intimate texture of a single feather.

Late afternoon or early morning light will produce a skimming light that will rich in texture. Even an old junkyard contains a multitude of shapes and textures that will produce exciting results.

Remember that with city scenes, just as in landscapes, directional lighting is necessary to bring out strong textures.

Enjoy photographing food? If so, you know that skillful lighting is a must. A sliced cabbage, the skin of an orange or the crust of a loaf of bread all require proper directional lighting to enhance surface textures.

When photographing your pet, always try to use side or back lighting. By doing so, you'll obtain maximum detail in the animal's fur and get separation from the background, too.

Another interesting texture to explore is human skin. Strong side or back light-produce needed texture that will give your shot important impact. An overhead sun will minimize texture, making your photo appear too flat.

In landscape photography, tune in closely to how texture can relate to composition. Rivers, roads, fences, etc. will break the scene into distinct textured shapes so that the areas created build into an integrated design pattern.

In the city, textures are everywhere. The granular pattern of a street or the irregularities of a wall of bricks are both ing will bring out weathered wrinkles in the face of an old sailor while soft frontal lighting will show the sleek, smooth skin found on the face of a beautiful model.

Don't forget, texture itself can be made the main subject.

House given special treatment

BY MARY KLEMIC At Home Editor

"If these walls could talk ... " the expression goes.

You could say the walls, treated with luscious colors and fabulous faux finishes, almost sing in the Mark and Lisa Sanderson home in Plymouth.

The house is one of 10 in the Plymouth-Canton-Northville area that will be featured on the Symphony of Homes tour sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony League. The tour will take place 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Friday, June 6, and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, June 7.

Each house on the tour has something unusual to offer, such as historical value, creative decorating or beautiful gardens.

In the Sanderson residence, the walls often draw attention, Lisa Sanderson said

"They're all different colors," she said.

The shades include soft gold and gentle peach. The hues - from a warm, appealing palette - and open, beckoning archways contribute to the welcoming flow between the rooms.

Lisa, who does faux finishes professionally, gave special treatment to various walls.

The house was built in 1927; Mark and Lisa think it is possibly a kit house as they discovered all of the boards in a room were numbered.

• The couple has lived in the house for three years and did renovation work that brought out or enhanced its beauty. Leaded glass doors and cove ceilings are among its style.

"It's been a lot of fun," Mark said. The work included removing the acoustic tiles from the living room

"The sun room is where we hang out," Lisa said.

Walls in the sun room have a Venetian plaster finish, a touch of Old World charm.

The walls in the dining room had been covered with dark paper. The Sandersons removed the wallpaper and painted the walls sage.

For the first time in the Symphony of Homes tour, a boutique will be at one of the houses. It will feature items from The Velvet Plum, Traditions, Friends, Debbie Malek, Carolyn Still and more. Station 885 will be there with beverages, light lunch food and desserts available for purchase.

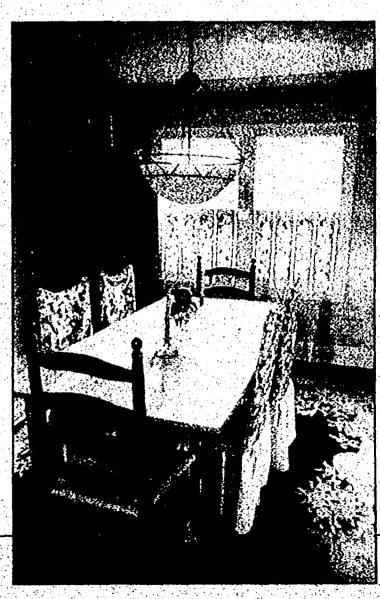

Many area businesses - including Sideways, Ribar Florist, The Velvet Plum, The Ritz Carlton, Heidis, Emerald City and Jewel - have donated raffle prizes, floral arrangements and other details. Local musicians will perform in the houses.

Pre-sale tickets are $15 and available at Frameworks, Beitner Jewelers, The Velvet Plum, Friends and Coldwell-Schweitzer Realtors. Tickets will be available tour days at any of the houses for $18.

appliance doctor

Columnist takes on small appliances

I had lunch the other day with Bill Damman and he was asking what I'm going to do with my life once I retire. Carmack from Appliance.

informed him that I wanted to write a book about a certain school principal I know and that I'd like to devote the rest of my time to expanding my radio show to other parts of the country.

He asked if the money was good at my^t current position with WIR.Radio and if I was pleased with what I was doing. I replied, "I work for the best radio station in this country and they pay me much more than I'm deserving. I enjoy helping consumers become more aware and saving a lot of money, and I constantly want to reach more people."

You know how it feels to do something good for someone else, well, imagine how it must feel to do it for several hundred thousand people. Now, you can understand the happiness that I feel.

Bill's conversation went a lot further until he brought up a good point. "Why don't you become a total appliance expert by expanding into the field of small appliances like irons, toasters, breadmakers etc.? Imagine how many people you will be able to help with your knowledge."

Well, folks, he didn't have to say more because at that point he had me. hooked. I have already begun the process of getting information from manufacturers about their products and how they are made etc. I am asking that they send me a new product that I can tear apart and put back together. I will not pay for these products but I will donate them to someone needy in their name, provided it still works once I'm done taking it apart. I will interview these manufacturers on why their product is worthy of mention and we as consumers will gain information that makes us better shoppers.

Now, let's get into the unwritten which many of you can already figure out. I'm not shy to say what's on my mind because the end result is helping consumers. Damman Hardware stores sell a lot of small appliances and it would benefit them greatly to have this writer as a spokesperson for their 18 stores. I personally would be pleased to play that role and it might even help the producers of such products to advertise, especially if the show was syndicated. I'm certain that Dammans' would become a major advertiser on WIR Radio and therefore the station would benefit as well. This great newspaper that you're reading today would also benefit from more advertising and more readers.

All in all, everybody would share in the talents of the Big and Small Appliance Doctor. More important than all of the above, the essence of everything 1 do, you the consumer would benefit most.

Sometimes we all need a wake up call to remind us or awaken us on a given subject. You may thank Bill Damman for hitting me on the head and starting me on this new venture. I will return the example to other business people already associated with me on radio.

Joe Gagnon, the Appliance Doctor, will answer your questions about maintaining and repairing large appliances. Gagnon is president of Carmack Appliances in Garden City' and does a weekly radio program on WJR-AM. He is author of "First Aid from the Appliance Doctor," available at area bookstores.

Robert Goulet who made his debut as Lancelot in the 1960' original production of "Camelot," stars in "Man of La Mancha," opening for a three-weekend engagement June 3-22 at the Fisher Theatre in Detroit.

The show by Dale Wasserman and songwriters Mitch Leigh and Joe Darion opened on Broadway in 1965 and became one of the biggest hits in New York history. It played in New York for seven years and won five Tony Awards. The story of Don Quixote is told by its author Miguel de Cervantes to prisoners in a dungeon during the Spanish Inquisition. It is a tale of a man striving to pursue the dream of his attaining his ideal - "The Impossible Dream." The show captures the bold spirit and gallant absurdity of its hero Don Quixote.

Goulet received a Tony nomination for his role in "Camelot," and a Tony Award for best actor in the musical "The Happy Time." He returned to the musical "Camelot" in the role of King Arthur which played at the Fisher Theatre during its national tour in 1992.

In "Man of La Mancha," Goulet becomes the ultimate idealist, the deluded Don Quixote de la Mancha who, with his faithful squire, Sancho Panza, crisscrosses the Spanish countryside in pursuit of "The Impossible Dream." "Man of La Mancha," opens 8 p.m. Tuesday, June 3, and closes Sunday, June 22. Performances 8 p.m. Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays; 7:30 p.m. Sundays; and 2 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. Tickets range from $22-$52; Friday and Saturday evening performances $26-$58, call (810) 645-6666, or (313) 872-1000 for information. Frank Provenzano, Observer & Eccentric arts reporter, was scheduled to interview Robert Goulet on May 28 after we went to press. Look for his story in the June 5 edition of Entertainment.

Saturday, June 5-7. It seems that his majesty King Arthur has temporarily moved his monarchy, Camelot, to a very enchanting, prime piece of real estate - the Greek Theatre in Bloomfield Hills. Located at 400 Lone Pine Road, behind St. Dunstan's Playhouse on the grounds of Cranbrook Educational Community, the 600-seat Greek Theatre has been the site of St. Dunstan's Theatre Guild's summer show for 59 of St. D's 65 seasons.

One of only six outdoor amphitheaters of its type in the country, the Greek Theatre will be home to Alan Jay Lerner's and Frederick Loewe's musical "Camelot" when it opens May 30 for a five-performance run. Directed by Birmingham resident and 28-year St. D's member Nancy Brassert, "Camelot" reunites several cast and crew members from another Lorner and Loewe musical that Brassert also directed at the Greek Theatre in 1991, "My Fair Lady." Among those are Birmingham residents Richard Hartle as King Arthur and Edgar A. Guest III as Arthur's trusted advisor Pellinore; and Bloomfield Hills resident Marlene Loucks as music director.

"Camelot" pits chivalry against deceit and revenge when King Arthur's bride Guinevere (played by St. D's newcomer Jan Casai of Bloomfield Hills) falls in love with Lancelot (Chris Steinmayer of Bloomfield), a knight of the Round Table. Their affair is exposed by Arthur's illegitimate son, Mordred (John Marshall of Pleasant Ridge) who attempts to dishonor King Arthur and overthrow the throne. That "one brief shining moment" is shattered forever.

"'Camelot' is a show of dreams and hopes and human frailty," said Brassert, who worked very closely with set designer Bob Raisch of Lathrup Village to ensure an authentic backdrop to the musical, which Brassert has set between 1250 and 1300 A.D. "I think it's a show that displays forgiveness and tolerances for human mistakes. Look at this day and age. There's so much nastiness going on," adds Brassert, who's directed five outdoor shows for the Greek Theatre and worked on more than 80 sets in her 20 years as chair of the Set Production Committee. "There's a feeling of compassion between Lancelot, Guinevere and King Arthur. Arthur loves Lancelot as a son. He also loves Guinevere and doesn't want revenge on them. He wants them to be safe. But, at the same time, Arthur knows that his Round Table fell apart because of Guinevere and Lancelot. So he's forced to go to war because of tradition."

Now, you can't exactly go to war without the proper gear. And it's just so hard to find comfortable armor these days. So, St. D's Wardrobe Mistress and "Camelot's" costume designer Roz Basherian of Bloomfield Hills took a very 1990s approach to a very medieval problem: She surfed the net. Her detective work uncovered that there was a way to knit chain mail, a flexible armor made of linked metal circles. Ultimately, Basherian was led to Tobin Lakes Studios, a theatrical supplies distributor, in Brighton.

"I commandeered my mother to follow the directions in the kit and knit a chain mail set out of cord to see if it would work" says Basherian about the costume dilemma ably solved by her 82-year-old mother, Margaret Melikian, a St. D's season subscriber and former professional dressmaker. Basherian wanted her mother to knit with the nylon cord because Basherian felt cord would be more realistic looking than yarn. "Then, I ran an ad in St. D's newsletter: 'Join the mail knitters wanted."

That led Basherian to a knitters group within Birmingham Area Seniors Coordinating Council), including one 90-year-old nimble fingered woman. Four BASCC members and several St. D's volunteers produced 12 sets of chain mail. With six pounds of white cord per hood and tunic set-that's 36,864 feet of cord for all the costumes the knitted chain mail was then spray painted with a black matte finish and finally shaded with silver metallic paint to create a genuine armor effect. In addition to their hoods and tunics, Arthur, Lancelot and Pellinore wear knitted chain mail leggings.

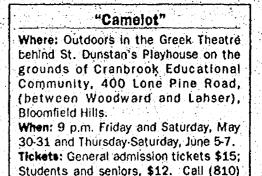

"The biggest challenge when costuming a show is to bring about a look that's in synch with the director. I'm very fortunate that Nancy [Brassert] and I were on the same wavelength," says Basherian, whose art history and research librarian background proved very helpful on the project.

"Nancy kept asking 'How are you going to do this?" Basherian laughs: "But, actually, it turned out to be the easiest thing because the kit worked and I had so much help. The knitters were so enthusiastic, and the guys love wearing the stuff.

"The most interesting aspect of creating the chain" mail was bringing to life something that's supposed to be centuries old, but using modern means to accomplish the task."

Jay Gatsby.

On Friday, Spivak and 28 other members of Village Players of Birmingham will conjure up the literary worlds of writers living and past in the fourth annual "Authors on Stage."

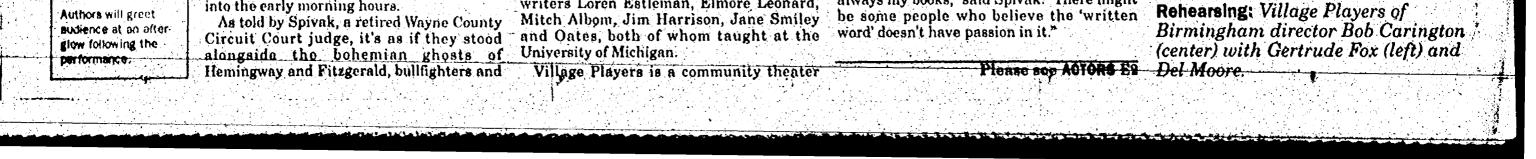

The two-act dramatic presentation includes works of several American literary legends along with contemporary Michigan writers Loren Estleman, Elmore Leonard, group that includes 270 members from the metro area. The production is cosponsored by the Cranbrook Writers Guild, a group founded in 1966 by the former head of the English department at Cranbrook and Henry Booth. The Guild holds an annual writer's conference for college-age students along with workshops throughout the year.

"From childhood, my best friends were always my books," said Spivak. "There might

After three years of playing to a half-filled theater, Village Players and the Guild expect a sell-out in their 200-seat playhouse for Friday's performance. That's good news since both groups will share the proceeds from the event.

For Village Players, Friday's performance will have a touch of nostalgia. Days after the event. the roof and walls of the theater will come crumbling down. Completion of a new auditorium and lobby will be ready by the opening of next season in mid October.

Part of the proceeds from "Authors on Stage" will pay off the $500,000 reconstruction cost of the playhouse. To date, Village Players has raised nearly half of the total. Meanwhile, the Guild has earmarked proceeds for its annual writer's conference held in August.

Lost

Ooh! Ahh! 'Lost World' will please dino-crazy fans

it the biggest attraction of the summer.

Don't get me wrong - the $80 million special effects fest is often a blast. It's also a sequel so, though set on a neighboring island from "Jurassic Park," it takes much of its running time to cover any new ground.

Jurassic Park, it turns out, was only a display for the real dinosaur show room. Without Lost World" that even the loathfences, this new island allows its several species of the geneticallyengineered reptiles to roam freely and multiply.

Jeff Goldblum, who returns as Dr. Ian Malcolm, reluctantly joins a photographer and a tactical expert who are hired to document the island in the hopes of preserving it. Malcolm just wants to protect his girlfriend (Julianne Moore), a dino-Jane Goodall who has been known to put herself in harm's way to talk to the animals.

They are pitted against another, better-outfitted group who want to hunt and trap dinosaurs and bring them back for display on the mainland. While the environmental téam worries about disturbing even a blade of grass, the hunters turn the island into a cross between a monster truck show and a rodeo.

some T-Rex comes off misunderstood and even cuddly. A pair of the great beasts are only trying to protect their young, though they stomp and chomp a number of human victims in the process.

Of course, we still have the velociraptors, long-necked lizards who travel in packs and whose strategically designed claws and teeth help tear prey to pieces.

Spielberg spares us the gruesome details of an attack that opens the film, a "Jaws"-like encounter between a little girl on the beach and a pack of young raptors. The little creatures look at first like undernourished birds and then swarm around their victim.

It's easy to see Spielberg paying tribute to the monster movies he was weaned on. Despite Michael Crichton's '90s So politically correct is "The reworking, "The Lost World" employs the same dopey storyline as the two previous movies that bear its name (1925 and 1960), just with better special effects.

something really bad is happening. It kind of helps us bond together and know that it's going to be a really rocky road," said drummer Jeff Moehle, a former Troy resident and 1990 Avondale High School graduate.

Upon arriving in Ann Arbor for its first CD release party for its latest effort "Intuition." the band noticed that all its fliers posted around town were taken down. That night an ice storm blasted the city.

A recent review of "Intuition" erroneously, according to Moehle, called Knee Deep Shag a Christian band that was trying to sneak a message through its songs.

"I'm a Christian. I think most of us are. Matt (Gross, lead singer) is definitely inspired by that. But we're not a Christian band," he explained.

"The music itself and the words are really positive. What twinges of blues music. Matt talks about is just basically good stuff. In a nutshell, it's not rooted in blues-based music,

"Intuition," Knee Deep Shag's second release, is a musical hybrid singer Matt Gross' soulful voice, and roots rock ("Delivery"), dreamy pop which escalates into funk ("Up All Night"), straightahead funk ("Bottom of the Well"), rock ("Balance"), and

With "Intuition," the band dropped its tendencies to jam found on its debut, and began concentrating on songwriting and harmonies.

"(Gross) has a different-sound voice than the other bands that are on the scene with us. He's got that 'white boy with soul' kind of thing going on. It's kind of interesting to have our voices blend with his," said Moehle, who earned a bachelor of arts degree added a fifth member - keyboardist Rob Cookman - which Moehle said adds to the live show.

"Having a fifth member has kind of helped the stage energy. It's like 'Hey, there's the new guy.' There's this little organ where it wasn't before. We're really one of those kind of bands where the audience is as much a part of the show as we are," he. said.

"Magdalena came from an aristocratic Polish family,' Marsha explained. "During World War II like so many people, she was subjected to any number of traumatic experiences. In one particular incident: she and her family were being herded in a large mass and a soldier fired into the crowd, shooting her mother's hand off. It was a seminal experience, and crowds remain very important in her work - the masses of people, the power of the group." As is so often the case, the stories behind the work edify the impact of the images. Marsha described to me how that personal trauma informed the more universal themes in Magdalena's work. "There are certain universals that experience leads you to - we each feel the suppression of the group - but we're not faceless individuals. Her work is really trying to touch us, to speak to that basic duality." Besides showing us the work, Marsha will welcome to the Channel 56 studio Gerhardt Knodel, also a fiber artist and the president of the Cranbrook

The Concert was started five years ago by the Cultural Exchange Network, a subcommittee of New Detroit. The network is comprised of representatives from 30 different ethnic groups in support of the five broad communities of color: African-American, Latino, Arab, Native American and Asian. But the Concert isn't just for the communities throwing the party. The whole idea is for everyone to get involved. Like Kim told me, "This concert represents a celebration of diversity. New owners give historic mill breath of fresh air

BY ELEANOR & RAY HEALD SPECIAL WRITERS

Paint Creek Cider Mill has long been a late summer and early autumn destination for lovers of fresh cider. Now, this historic mill, built in 1835, has been given new life by restaurant owner Ray Nicholson and his wife, Mary. Under the management of Norman and Bonnie LePage and after extensive renovations, Paint Creek has reopened its restaurant for yearround dining in a scenic "Up North" atmosphere. There's nonsmoking only seating for 100 indoors and smoking permitted for about 60 on the deck with its creek view.

The Nicholsons explained that Paint Creek is one of the historical spots to which they brought their children when they were growing up only about a mile away. When the property came up for sale, they wanted to preserve it for their grandchildren and made the decision to purchase in 1996. Last November, the cider mill reopened with new equipment. Efforts then concentrated on the restaurant which had a soft opening mid-April. Despite this, locals have found the bar areas a place to meet friends after work and Oakland County foodies are filling up tables on weeknights and weekends.

"While the mailing address signals Rochester, Paint Creek Cider Mill Restaurant is technically located in Oakland Township," Ray Nicholson point-ed out. "The Township is 36 square miles with a population of 10,200 and 3,800 homes. We own the only restaurant and the community has received us well." While the menu is modern American, prominently displayed area historical artifacts have been worked into the "preservation" decor as a local history exhibit. A set of logging wheels beneath the sign in front of the mill were used to haul logs from area woods. Standing guard at the restaurant entrance is the wooden figure Chief Pontiac, in the same employ he had at Hedges Wigwam when it was located at 10 Mile and Woodward Avenue in Royal Oak.

The logo with brown trout attracted to a May fly and the 300-gallon trout-stocked aquarium located inside the main entrance point out that Paint Creek is a significant area trout stream. Behind the aquarium, is a small English-style pub. On route to the airy dining room, Rochester Hills artist Jim Jeffries' murals depict more area history. Images of fly-fishing and a realistic-looking fly fisherman complete the greeting. Diners are offered either a view of the mill's working water wheel and its three waterfalls or the general feeling of being outdoors, creekside in the woods at an upscale fishing lodge.

A bike rack out front signals welcome to walkers and bikers using the 10-mile long Paint Creek Trailway running alongside the property. Not only is their attire appropriate, but the menu reflects healthful choices for trail people.

An extensive menu is capably engineered by corporate chef Jeff Baldwin, Culinary Institute of America graduate and Commerce Township native, who has been with the Nicholsonowned and LePage-managed restaurants for more than 10 years.

"I created the Pecan Trout (pecan herb-crusted boneless rainbow trout topped with apple brandy sauce) $14 for this restaurant," he said. Broiled Planked White Fish $13 and tender, tangy Beef Short Ribs $10 are also Baldwin signatures.

Keeping an eye on diner preferences, Nicholson said the most popular starters are fried calamari, spicy chicken quesadilla and smoked rainbow trout. Paint Creek Apple Bounty Salad, a generous $9 dinner salad is accompanied by marinated and grilled, tender chicken breast, sliced apples, Michigan sundried cherries and pecans topped with flavorful raspberry vinaigrette. Falling-off-the-bone Bar B Que'd Spare Ribs (half slab $10 and full $15), Baked Vegetarian Lasagna $9 and Smoked Turkey Penne Pasta tossed with fresh basil, artichokes and roasted peppers topped with gorgonzola and Parmesan are also favorites. He's also noticing that many diners are opting for wine and the short but savvy list will be expanded.

But just as there's landmark preservation at Paint Creek Cider Mill Restaurant, there's family recipe history in the mak-Ruth Carrick, Mary ing. Nicholson's mother, has been honored with Grandma Ruth's Meat Pie $9, melt-in-your mouth tiny meat loaves in pastry and served with Ruth's tomato sauce. Daughter-in-law Kris Nicholson makes such tasty cole slaw that

Q. I live in a small condominium. One of the problems we have is that the association has been penny wise and pound foolish for many years, has not built up adequate reserves and is now hitting association members with substantial additional and special assessments. Moreover, the association refuses to take care of problems of the units, if they have any excuse to avoid it. It seems like you almost have to be on the board to get anything done since those are the only people the management' company plays up to. What can I do?

A. At the risk of sounding factitious, you can run for the association's board of directors and try to change their ways in a positive fashion. As many condominiums are coming of age after 20-25 years in existence, the concerns that many of us in the community association field have expressed are coming to fruition in connection with the unavailability of adequate reserves to meet the needs of these associations.

Associations should undergo reserve studies and build up adequate reserves from the beginning.

Boards should meet their responsibilities in terms of maintenance and repair to the common element in an honest and forthright manner.

Management companies should discharge their fiduciary responsibilities, which they own to the association and their members, not showing favoritism to one merely because he or she is on the board of directors.

Courts should look to these abuses and provide stern penalties to the associations and their board members who partake in these acts or omissions.

Talk to your neighbors and take political control of the association and the try to straighten things out.

Here's what "Dress Your House for Success" advises:

Take everything out of every drawer and cupboard, wash them inside and out, then re-arrange things in perfect order. Throw things out.

Dust or replace light bulbs in lamps. Polish plumbing fixtures, even those hidden behind vanity doors. Organize the garage and laundry. Sweep the attic. Throw things out.

Wash windows inside and out. Scrub walls and apply scratch cover to wood, if necessary. Paint closets. Tighten all doorknobs and oil squeaky hinges. Throw things out.

■ Get rid of accumulated newspapers and magazines. Pull weeds between cracks in the sidewalk. Throw things out.

The authors go so far as to suggest replacing a tattered net on the basketball rim with a fresh one.

What happens when prospects push the doorbell as they enter the front door and nothing happens, or they see the kitchen faucet go drippity, drippity, drippity?

taken care of and there's major, major problems," Zackheim said. "That might not be, but that's the impression. Buyers come in looking for reasons not to buy a house.

"You're talking visually when people come to look at your house," Zackheim said. "You want to speak in a way that will make life easier."

Steve Larimore manages Century 21 Towne Pride in Westland.

"A lot of people don't realize that little things do make a difference," he said. "A lot of it is minor painting around windows, cleaning the carpet. Curb appeal just how nice do they keep their yards?" Gordon E. Fox, a Realtor with Hall & Hunter in Birmingham, has been in the business for 27 years.

"Most houses need some kind of work," he said. "There's an awful lot of clutter under almost all circumstances. Magazine racks are overfilled, dishes on the kitchen counter, throw-blankets on a couch, too many knick-knacks, too many pictures on the wall."

Dynamizing - staging scenes, getting prospects to linger, visualize and actually talk about living in this house - is the final step in the Webb/Zackheim plan. Examples include setting up a board

"The fear is this house hasn't been game in the family room, draping a luxury towel over the tub and placing bath oils and a lighted, scented candle on the sink.

You might set a cookbook, a loaf of bread on a cutting board or a tray of vegetables on the kitchen sink. Place an afghan over a chair, book open, lamp illuminated on a nearby table in the living room or family room.

Dynamizing is the icing on the cake. But uncluttering, cleaning, repairing and neutralizing come first. And if you choose to do just one thing, the authors say, attack the clutter.

Remove family pictures from walls, furniture that crowds rooms, collectibles, toys. Clear counters. Weed out closets, pantries, cupboards and bookshelves, Take magnets off the refrigerator.

Don't just move clutter to the basement, attic or garage - throw it away.

Get ideas about how your house stacks up - and how it can be improved - by visiting open houses and new models at subdivisions under construction. Read decorating magazines.

"People are willing to pay a premium for the best," Zackheim said, "People are intelligent. They're really out there looking."

When you're ready to settle on your loan, important to learn as much as you can about what the lender is promising you before you apply for a loan Ask for the following information when you shop for a loan:

Lock-ins and fees

• Does the lender offer a lock-in of the interest rate and points?

• When will the lender let you lock in the interest rate and points? When you apply? When the loan is approved?

• Will the lock-in be in wiring? If the lock-in is not in writing, you will have no record of the lender's agreement with you in case of a dispute.

• Does the lender charge a fee to lock in your interest rate? Does the fee increase for longer lock-in periods? If so, how much?

If you have locked in a rate, and the lender's rate drops, can you lock in at the lower rate? Does the lender charge you an additional fee to lock in the lower rate?

• Can you float your interest rate and points for now, and lock them in later?

Loan processing time

• How long does the lender expect to take to process your loan?

• What has been the lender's average time for processing loans recently?

• Has the lender's loan volume increased? Heavy volume might increase the lender's average processing time.

Expiration of lock-ins

• What rate will be charged if the lock-in expires before settlement - the rate in effect when the lock-in expires?

• If you don't settle within the lockin period, will the lender refund some or all of your application or lock-in fees if you decide to cancel the loan application?

Roof can improve home's appearance

BY POPULAR MECHANICS FOR AP SPECIAL FEATURES

Most people give little thought to their roof until one of two events occur: it starts to leak or it looks so shabby it needs to be replaced.

In one sense, this is how it should be. There's enough to maintain in a home without worrying about your roof. In another sense, it overlooks the fact that a roof can go a long way toward improving or changing your house's appearance, and this has never been more true than today.

There are more roofing materials than ever - you don't have to settle for standard black shingles. You have your choice of color, texture and, of course, price. Furthermore, there's no reason your roof can't be worry-free. Today's roofing products combine durability yourself. On the other hand, it's hard work. Besides, other types of roofs require professional installation, so you may have to hire someone. Picking a contractor is as important as choosing the right roofing. Here's a few words of advice:

Ask for as many references as you can get. Check that the contractor has a license if you live in a state that requires it (not just a business license but a license for the trade). Ask to see insurance and bonding certificates.

Review the contract carefully. Any home-improvement contract should be specific. It should cover when the work will start and when it will be completed (depending on weather), the complete cost (including the disposal of roofing debris), and the type and color of roof. ing should be specified in detail. Inci-

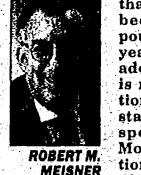

Ask the contractor if the existing roofing needs to be torn off because some communities allow no more than two layers of shingles on a roof. Also ask if the deck or portions of it need to be replaced.

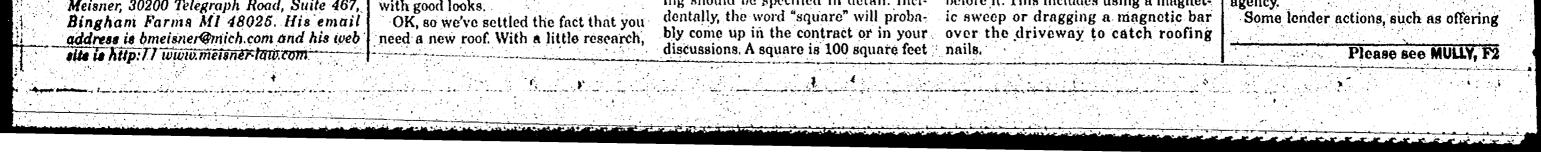

Finally, ask about the roofing's fire rating (Class A is most resistant to flame spread, Class B is next, followed by Class C). Some communities permit only Class A and B roofing.

All this makes the process sound more complex than it is. It all boils down to this: if you are going to go through the expense and the mess of having your house reroofed, you want the job done right.

Speaking of mess, make it clear that the job site be as clean after the job as before it. This includes using a magnet-

BY COUNTRY LIVING A HEARST MAGAZINE FOR AP SPECIAL FEATURES

Collectors and homeowners are discovering that architectural fixtures and other details can be rescued from historic dwellings to serve as offbeat. indoor furniture - everything up to and including the barn door.

Many are choosing to recycle vintage mantels, doors, lighting fixtures and windows, Bruce E. Johnson wrote in the current issue of Country Living, for use in their homes.

The concept of salvaging architectural details has become so popular that many antiques dealers who once devoted their floor space to furniture and folk art now trade in such items as fireplace mantels and pedestal sinks. A number of firms specializing exclusively in architectural salvage are springing up all over the country.

"Thousands of buildings are destroyed every year without an attempt to salvage anything out of them," said Beau Kimball, general manager and partner in Salvage One, a Chicago-based source for res-

"People are looking for three things, color, design and quality," he said.

For years, stained glass all but eclipsed the market for other leaded glass windows. Of late, however, collectors of Arts and Crafts works and renovators of early 20th-century bungalows have created a demand for geometric patterns inspired by such architects and designers as Frank Lloyd Wright, Louis Comfort Tiffany and Gustav Stickley.

The same trend holds true for other areas of architectural salvage.
