estland Shopping Center officials expect booming holiday sales this year, fueled partly by a healthy economy and a new Sears store.

"We are expecting a wonderful year," senior marketing director Claudia Frederick said Friday, as shoppers besieged Westland's retail hub,

As the post-Thanksgiving Day shopping frenzy began Friday morning, thousands of enthusiastic shoppers swarmed Westland's mall.

In the first two hours of shopping, a traffic count indicated that the mall drew twice as many shoppers compared to the same time frame just one year ago, Frederick said.

"We've had double the amount of people that we had during the first two hours last year," she said.

Shoppers such as Westland grandmother Jane O'Kray couldn't resist joining the holiday throng.

"It's a tradition. I love the crowds," she said. "I love the excitement of it. Some people think it's horrible, but I love it.

"I'm just about done with my shopping," she added. "I have most of my presents wrapped already.".

O'Kray rushed to Hudson's for a stuffed mouse that the store gave away for each $25 sale. She said she spent $100 to receive four mice - one for each grandchild.

"I was buying some things anyway," she said, "and I have four grandchildren under the age of 2."

O'Kray made one trip to her car to put packages in the trunk, then walked briskly toward the mall, again.

"I'm back for more shopping," she said, smiling. Shoppers like O'Kray are expected to boost holiday sales dramatically this year, although Frederick stopped short of predicting record sales.

"We've seen some great holidays," she said.

The mall parking lot was virtually filled with cars early Friday morning. Frederick said the new Sears store, which opened in October, helped to draw more customers this year.

"It's definitely an advantage for us this holiday season," she said.

Other retail places also drew large numbers of shoppers, as throngs of people flocked to businesses such as Best Buy and Circuit City. Traffic snarls occurred early.

Dearborn resident Maureen German rose from bed at 6 a.m. Friday and squeezed fresh orange juice to entice her friend Susan Boldrick, visiting from Chicago, to get an early start for Westland Center.

"I dragged her out of bed," German said. "I like to get my shopping done."

Boldrick, visiting parents and friends in metro Detroit, agreed.

"We're trying to get all the shopping done early," she said, her arms loaded with packages as she left Westland Center.

"I came in from Chicago, the best shopping place in the world," Boldrick said. "And here I am shopping."

The Durant decision came as welcome news to a district where officials continually seem worried about finances, but Baracy cautioned that the settlement shouldn't be perceived as a cure-all.

Instead, he said, the settlement amounts to a state reimbursement for dollars that the local district spent in previous years, while school officials statewide waited for a court decision on the 17-year-old lawsuit.

"It's money owed to us," Baracy said, but added, "This is not a one-time payout."

Officials also don't know whether they will have to give up a portion of the money for county-run special education programs, he said.

Scrooge strikes at yuletide display in Westland

BY DIANE GALE ANDREASSI SPECIAL WRITER

Santa and his reindeer were in an accident last week in Westland, but don't fret, it looks like they'll be up and ready for Christmas.

John Molesky found the crash site in front of his house when he woke up early Nov. 25 and discovered the 11 reindeer, Santa Claus, a sleigh and two ornamental Christmas trees had been in a wreck.

An unidentified driver rode on his lawn and mowed down the display on a corner lot of Tawas Trail north of Warren Road east of Wayne Road in Westland. The vandals struck sometime between 10 p.m. Nov. 18 and 6 a.m. Nov. 19. Aside from damaging the display, tire marks gouged out part of the lawn.

"I woke up in the morning and looked outside and the reindeer were down and the trees were down," said Molesky, 76.

"I couldn't believe it. The neighbors were out looking shaking their heads. They couldn't believe it, either."

The driver traveled the entire length of Molesky's 110-foot wide lot.

"I'll put it up again and hope nothing happens before Christmas," Molesky said last week.

But, he isn't going to let the phantom grinch take away his Christmas spirit or ruin a 15-year holiday tradition.

In fact, people who have been watching the display on an annual basis look forward to seeing what's been added. This year the house and reindeer twinkle and glisten with more than 8,000 lights.

"You buy one pièce and another piece and another," Molesky explained.

The reindeer cost between $75 and $100 each. Molesky said he thinks he can fix a lot of the damage done by the

South Redford district to pay settlement in sex assault suit

BY JEFF COUNTS STAFF WRITER

A2(W)

An 18-year-old Redford woman will receive a $100,000 settlement from the South Redford school board in exchange for not pressing a lawsuit against the schools.

' The settlement stems from charges that a former teacher sexually assaulted the woman while she was a student at Thurston High School.

The teacher, Conway A. Jeffress III, is facing trial in Wayne Circuit Court on two charges of criminal sexual conduct. Each count carriers a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison upon conviction.

Jeffress, 26, of Westland pleaded innocent to the charges and said at his preliminary hearing on the charges in Redford District Court that: "I absolutely never, ever touched her."

The money for the settlement will come out of the general fund for right now," said Murray Tobin, school board president. "We're talking to our insurance company right now."

- He said the district has insurance to cover such instances.

The board approval came when members unanimously approved paying the district's bills.

The former student testified at the August court hearing that the alleged sexual relations were not consensual on her part. That testimony contradicted her documented statement during a meeting with school officials who were investigating the allegations after the incidents.

The woman was 16 years old at the time of both alleged incidents, according to police.

She testified at the hearing that she first met Jeffress while he was a substitute teacher at Thurston. The first of the two alleged incidents occurred during the afternoon of Nov. 14, 1995, when no one was home in the southeast Redford house of her mother, she said.

They had sexual intercourse, but Jeffress had not asked her permission and she didn't tell him she wanted to have sex beforehand, she testified. "I felt dirty and I wanted to tell someone," she testified.

The woman testified she didn't want to have sex with Jeffress and indicated to him her reluctance, but he didn't stop.

But she didn't because Jeffress and former Thurston principal Marlene Kukuzke are the best of friends, the woman testified.

She was concerned her education would be "screwed up" by receiving bad grades and expulsion as retaliation for reporting the alleged incidents, she testified.

The second alleged incident occurred in February of 1996 when she drove Jeffress from Thurston to a Westland bowling alley where they again had sexual intercourse in her car.

The woman testified that Jeffress told her that he would hurt her if she didn't do as he demanded

The woman testified she didn't want to have sex with Jeffress and indicated to him her reluctance, but he didn't stop.

Redford police began an investigation in March after receiving a complaint from Wayne County's Family Independence Agency that originated from staff at Thurston, according to police.

The woman graduated in June, the same month Jeffress resigned. He was completing his second year at Thurston.

School officials have declined to say why Jeffress resigned and wouldn't explain why he was suspended for a period of time prior to his resignation.

Jeffress was hired as a substitute teacher at Thurston in the spring of 1995, then hired as a full-time teacher in October.

They called it Jar Wars, and they raised almost $3,800 for charity by competing in it.

Students at John Glenn High School competed recently to see who could collect the most pennies for charity.

The brainchild of Steve Tamaroglio, a freshman and member of Student Council, all the secondhour classrooms had a container to collect pennies in for eight days.

The wars part came in when competing students would put silver coins and dollar bills in the enemy classroom's jar - because those amounts were subtracted from the total number of pennies.

But, all of the money is going to charity. The $3,768.73 will be donated as evenly as possible between the Junior Civitans and the Salvation Army, according to Lorraine Brickman, assistant principal at John Glenn.

The winning class, a second-hour physical education class which raised 18,421 pennies, will be treated to a continental breakfast by the Student Council, Brickman said.

out, coffee cans were used.

John Glenn High School borrowed the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers' change counting machine to help count all the change.

NBD Bank also agreed to waive the fee for turning in bags of change, Brickman said.

The fund-raiser went "extremely well," Brickman said. It took several days to get all the change counted, she said.

Tamaroglio said he presented the idea because it had been done at Marshall Middle School last year.

"It went great," he said.

At Glenn, students were going all over trying to change their dollar bills into pennies, he said.

"The spirit was just great," Tamaroglio said.

Local cycling program garners national honors

BY BETH SUNDRLA JACHMAN STAFF WRITER

A local cycling program has won a national award.

The Arc Cycling Program, based in Westland. won the Boggs/Mitchell Award from The Arc United States this month.

The award honors an exemplary recreational program that integrates individuals with disabilities with individuals without disabilities.

Winning the award was "fantastic" considering it was a national competition. Cycling program founder John Waterman said.

After starting the program nine years ago in Battle Creek. Waterman started the program in Wayne County five years ago after relocating here. He was inspired to begin the program when a student of his was injured in a car-bicycle accident. The student had been riding on the wrong side of the road and had received no safety instruction. Waterman said.

A teacher at Franklin Middle School in Westland. Waterman's program now numbers about 150 members ranging in age from about 4 to 72 with all types of disabilities, he said.

New applicants go through an assessment test which tests for basic riding skills, ability to follow direction and safety awareness.

After the assessment, riders are scored and then a prescribed program begins with an hour of training twice a week. Training includes intense safety and cycling instruction so that riders can safely ride in the community with local cycling clubs, their families and friends.

They are being trained to ride independently. and although some cycling candidates may be expected to have limited success, in general the riders surpass their goals, Waterman said.

In one case a young girl with cerebral palsy who has to use a walker wanted to learn to ride a twowheel bicycle. Surprisingly, she has been able to learn to ride down hill on the bike. Waterman said. Three-wheel and tandem bikes are also available for program participants.

The program, open to all Wayne County residents, operates out of the Coil Center in Wayne, the Jo Brighton Center in Wyandotte, the John Dieter Center in Detroit and Lenox Center in Detroit

There is also a family ride night where families come out and ride together. Waterman said. Between 20 and 30 people ride in that group.

Waterman said he fell in love with the sport of bicycle riding nine years ago when he started out with a $49 Huffy bike.

He has advanced in the sport and now helps others to become advanced.

The goal is to have riders with disabilities who can compete in races with people without disabilities, he said. The more advanced riders, though. have to learn strategies when competing. "Bicycle racing is a chess game and that is a tough thing to teach," Waterman said.

The program was honored at a ceremony in Utah earlier this month. Waterman said accepting the award in front of 1,500 people was quite impres-

To be nominated for the award the program had to first win local and state awards.

Waterman attributes the success of the program to support from the Wayne County Community Mental Health Board, Detroit Lions charities. ## Non-plaintiff districts to wait for Durant money

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

A4(W)

School districts that won a court decision in the so-called Durant case will receive their $211 million total in checks from state Treasurer Doug Roberts around next April 15.

However, non-plaintiff districts such as Wayne-Westland will have to settle for receiving the bulk of their money over 10 to 15 years, local officials said.

The Michigan Legislature recently put the finishing touches on bills to pay 84 mostly suburban districts the money Lansing owes them for shorting them on special education and other mandated services over 17 years.

The bills await Gov. John Engler's signature.

It was a major bipartisan victory for House members, who fought Engler's and the Senate Republicans' plan to pay off the winners over three years. The state will use about one-sixth of the budget stabilization fund, known as the "rainy day fund," to make the payments. Engler and Senate Republicans wanted to use only the fund's interest.

Rep. Tom Middleton, R-Ortonville, won unanimous approval of an amendment requiring that school boards convene a public meeting within 90 days after receiving their settlements and before spending any of the winnings.

"After all the controversy surrounding this matter," Middleton said, "I insisted that the public have a strong voice. when important choices are made."

The House on Nov. 13 gave final approval to a conference committee report on a vote of 99-7. Here is how area representatives voted:

Yes - Lyn Bankes, R-Redford, Bob Brown, D-Dearborn Heights, Eileen DeHart, D-Westland, Tom Kelly, D-

Wayne, Gerald Law, R-Plymouth. No - Deborah Whyman, R-Canton,

Kelly was one of the three House conferees that put together the final versions.

The 84 plaintiffs filed suit in 1980 charging the state violated the 1978 Headlee amendment to the Michigan Constitution by failing to pay them for such state-mandated services as special ed, transportation for special ed and other categoricals.

The suit, named for Donald Durant of Warren School District, was decided in the spring by the state Supreme Court. The court awarded local districts about 43 percent of the $492 million they were seeking.

The Supreme Court ruled 4-3 on the money damages, awarding $210 million of the $492 million sought by 84 school districts.

The bills also dealt with related school finance issues. The deal:

School districts which weren't plaintiffs in the suit, but could have filed claims, will get a total of $768 million - about $350 million from stateissued bonds, the rest in equal installment over 10 years from the rainy day fund. Engler and Senate Republicans had wanted to pay them off in one lump sum, restricting use of the money to capital improvements and not salaries.

Programs for "at-risk" pupils will get $250 million in the current fiscal year and $260 million in fiscal 1998.

Special education this year will get $66.7 million more and next year another $48.2 million. This avoids violating the court decision in future fiscal years.

■ The per-pupil minimum school aid grant will rise $46 to $5,170 for the lowest-funded districts.

A handful of districts with large numbers of at-risk students will get $20 million to reduce class sizes. Flint lawmakers, in particular, had pushed hard for this money.

School districts will have to pay 3.54 percent less into the employees' pension fund for the next two years. Estimated savings: $246.6 million in fiscal 1998 and $252.7 million less in fiscal 1999.

Adult education will be given $80 million despite Engler administration efforts to shift much of those funds to the Jobs Commission.

bond issue," Baracy said.

Just $25 million of the total would be used to improve classroom technology, he said. The remaining $83 million would lead to long-delayed building repairs ranging from new ceilings to new boilers to classroom additions.

Even though the district's finances have risen above a multi-million deficit that officials formerly projected, Baracy said the district still needs the bond issue.

The bond proposal has received a nod of approval from state officials who plan to do more homework by conducting on-site school building inspections this week, Baracy said.

to enhance learning opportunities by giving students greater access to the Internet and other classroom technological advances.

"It will be at their fingertips," Baracy said. "Our students will have access to that technology. And why shouldn't our students?"

The question, however, will come down to whether district residents are willing to loosen their purse strings to pay for building repairs and technology.

Tough time

Wayne-Westland school boards have historically had a difficult time convincing voters to increase their own taxes.

Only time will tell whether members are expected to vote officials can mount an effective campaign that will support by Feb. 17. "I think it will be a difficult sell, of course," board member Ed Turner said. District residents who only see Wayne-Westland schools when driving by them don't realize the "hidden" problems inside, he said. "Not that many people really go into the schools and see what's going on," Turner said. "I don't know of a school that doesn't have something major that needs to be done."

Ceiling tiles fall at even the newer buildings, he said. Teachers often use duct tape to cover floor holes or to tape down ragged carpeting that could trip students, he said.

In Wayne-Westland, he said, it's often said that "duct tape is a teacher's best friend."

"The Band-Aids just don't work anymore," he added.

Although Turner conceded that officials face a difficult time convincing voters to support the bond proposal, he offered a couple of points that he said should be made during the campaign.

■ If taxpayers approve the 4mill bond proposal, they would be paying only 1 mill more in taxes than they paid before an earlier-approved 3-mill tax expired in June.

Livonia district expects more than $10 million

Livonia Public Schools' rainy day fund will more than double next April 15 when the district gets a lump-sum payment of more than $10 million from the state.

But much of the money — the district's share in the settlement of a long-standing lawsuit against the state - won't remain in the savings account for long, once debate gets under way on the 1998-99 school budget, said Superintendent Ken Watson.

"There's no immediate rush, no pressure to spend the money, Watson said. "It needs to be done wisely and with deliberation. We'll certainly not spend it all at once. It will be factored into the 1998-99 school year budget." Some of the money could be spent on continuing the district's push to lower class size in both elementary and secondary schools, Watson said.

The suit contended the state underfunded state-mandated special education and other programs. The suit challenged state reductions in funding, claiming it was illegal under the Headlee Amendment. The amendment requires the state to pay for programs it mandates.

Local special-education programs and bilingual and driver education classes were statemandated programs that the suit claims were underfunded.

The state paid about 29 percent of the cost for special educa

Term limits Some fear higher education will suffer under new system

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

It's not unanimous, but the majority view is that Michigan's public universities will be hurt when legislative term limits take effect in 1999.

"Term limits will be a bad deal. You'll see some absolutely gonzo appropriations bills in the next few years," predicted Sen. John J.H. Schwarz, R-Battle Creek, who chairs the Senate's Appropriations subcommittee on higher education.

Reason: While many new legislators know local government, farming or natural resources, few bring a background in Michigan's 15 public universities and 28 community colleges. Higher ed takes time to learn; state representatives now are limited to six years and senators to eight, under a constitutional amendment approved by voters in 1992.

"State universities have been fortunate that higher ed appropriations subcommittees have been supportive of them," Schwarz told a meeting of the Michigan Association of Governing Boards of State Universities (MAGB) in East Lansing Nov. 19.

"But the money is falling off (as a percentage of the state general fund). The trend will continue. Tuition and fees will make up the difference. If I could, I would flatten that (downward) curve," Schwarz said.

Some 65 of the 110 state representatives will be unable to run again in 1998. For senators, the turnover will come in 2002. Schwarz predicted these effects: Legislative committees will be "trivialized and marginalized. . If you have a governor who knows as much as (John) Engler, it's going to be curtains; the Legislature will be like a complacent Trilby to his Svengali" (submissive and dominant characters in an 1894 British novel). "Lobbyists will be empowered far more, though I do not know any lobbyists that like this."

"Legislative staffs will have an inordinate amount of power." Bureaucrats will have "extraordinary, arbitrary power."

Strong governor OK

Disagreeing was Ferris State University President William Sederburg, a former three-term Republican state senator, onetime State Board of Education member and pollster.

"The governor will be more significant in setting the agenda." said Sederburg, who has a doctorate in political science. Lawmakers are good at responding intuitively to public mood swings but not at long-range policy setting.

"The percentage of the state budget going to higher ed has shrunk steadily, but there's no proof term limits will affect higher ed. I think it depends on executive leadership - on who sets the agenda."

"Legislators represent districts. It's impossible (for a legislator) to be a statesman," said Sederburg, whose Senate district included the Michigan State University campus. "It makes sense to shift power to the governor."

Agreeing with Sederburg from the audience was Carl Pursell. an Eastern Michigan University regent who represented western Wayne County in both the state Senate and U.S. House.

"The Presidents Council (the 15 state university presidents) has an opportunity to develop an equitable (funding) formula," said the Plymouth Republican. "Rather than debating term limits and spinning our wheels, we should take the opportunity to do a professional effort."

Judge Duggan to hear lawsuit on term limits

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

Patrick Duggan may have been taking notes when a federal court on C-SPAN quizzed lawyers in the California legislative term-limits case.

Duggan, a Livonia resident and Reagan appointee, is a U.S. district judge in Detroit. He will hear the lawsuit against the Michigan Constitution's term limits section passed by voters in 1992.

All 11 judges in the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in California heard the case en banc (sitting together) Nov. 20. Several judges practically leaped down the throat of Joseph Remcho, the attorney for Assemblyman Tom Bates, who was attacking California's legislative term limits.

"This is an unseemly confrontation," said Judge Pamela Rymer. "I have some question whether we (federal courts) even have jurisdiction to entertain this kind of case."

A day earlier, Bill Ballenger, proprietor of the Inside Michigan Politics newsletter, predicted Duggan may be in no hurry to decide the Michigan case. Ballenger sees the case going to the U.S. Supreme Court in October of 1998 for a decision in 1999.

Ballenger predicted a 5-4 decision, with Justice Anthony Kennedy casting the swing vote. He didn't predict the outcome.

2 Harshest rules

California's and Michigan's term limit rules rank Nos. 1 and 2, respectively, in harshness, said Ballenger.

California allows an eligible to serve three Assembly terms of two years (total six years) or two Senate terms of four years each.

Michigan's rule is three House terms and two Senate terms, a total of 14 years.

The Big Three university boards should be nominated in primaries by voters rather than at state party conventions, said Sen. John J.H. Schwarz, who's angry about his own Republican Party's behavior.

and the states

Schwarz told a meeting of state university board members he will sponsor a bill to end party nominations of candidates for the University of Michigan, Michigan State University and Wayne State University boards.

Schwarz recalled the case of Judy Frey, an experienced Grand Rapids civic worker who was recruited in 1996 by Gov. John Engler to run for the U-M board. Engler even made her nominating speech.

"Judy Frey was treated shabbily, shamefully, by my party," ination to Mike Bishop, a trustees to 12 other university

The issue was abortion. Frey was pro-choice; Bishop, who put together his campaign in three days, was pro-life and was Backed by Right to Life and the religious right.

Schwarz said it was "not only wrong but absolutely wrong" for GOP delegates to make their choices for university trustees on the basis of the abortion issue. He said parties tend to pick candidates for "ideological reasons or services rendered."

There are two methods of changing the way U-M, MSU and WSU trustees are selected:

> "His bill won't fly," predicted Carl Pursell, veteran Republican legislator and congressman now serving on the Eastern Michigan University board.

> "Who would have enough money to run for a non-paying job?" asked a skeptical Annetta Miller, Democratic member of the WSU board and former member of the State Board of Education.

LEARNING PROBLEMS OFTEN RELATED TO VISION PROBLEMS

Eight year old Michael was struggling to the point of tears. "It was a struggle to get him to read. It took hours to do homework and he still didn't comprehend. His self-esteem," describes his mother, "was so low."

This story is typical of many families. In fact, 25-40% of children in an average classroom have vision-related learning problems. Vision is needed for 80% of what we learn. Testing has shown that in many cases of learning problems the child's focus is not clear and is often double.

Dr. John P. Jacobi, has been working with these children with learning difficulties, and with tremendous success. "These are little boys who are acting out in frustration, third graders who have run into a brick wall academically, even college students who can't study without getting terrible headaches,"explains Jacobi.

Extensive testing for attention and learning problems is often given, without a single test for vision and evesight. In most cases, vision has a great deal to do with the child's problems

"I'm finding many kids who have 20/20 vision, but see double at reading distances or lose focus after only a few minutes of reading. They often experience headaches and eyestrain." Dr. Jacobi continues. "They struggle so hard, and sometimes give up."

Basic school screenings or basic eye health exams will not specifically probe these areas, so it may go undiagnosed. But once the vision dysfunction is bans on further service in the Legislature.

Michigan's term limits amendment already has been modified by the courts. Originally, Michigan voters set term limits for U.S. senators and representatives. Unconstitutional, said the U.S. Supreme Court; the U.S. Constitution alone sets rules for Congress.

It's possible that, if a court doesn't strike down Michigan's term limits entirely, it could modify them by lifting the lifetime ban on further service in the Legislature.

Interruptions

Back to the California arguments:

Judge Andrew Kleinfeld interrupted attorney Remcho immediately to say, "I cant find the provision of the U.S. Constitution that's supposed to be violated" by California's term limits.

Remcho: "States may not violate basic constitutional rights," for example, by barring a minister from attending a political convention.

Remcho, continuing: "Term limits put a severe limit on the right of voters to elect whom they want. . . a severe burden."

Judge Diarmuid O'Scannlain: "Your brief says the evil is lifetime term limits. But we also have term limits for the governor and attorney general."

Remcho: "Term limits are inherently unconstitutional. There are less restrictive means" to accomplish the goal of keeping lawmakers from becoming entrenched.

Remcho replied the term limits rule is unfair because it tilts the choice of candidates to voters who prefer inexperience. Power belongs "only people who don't believe in experience."

Arguing for the state, and in favor of term limits, was Harvard law professor Einer Elhauge. He quoted the Declaration of Independence on the right of the people to institute government for their own ends and organize it as they wish.

Foes of term limits, Elhauge said, say in effect that the U.S. Constitution, which limits the president to two terms, "somehow denies the same right to people in limiting the terms of their legislator."

Term limits don't work any hardship in the civil rights area, Elhauge said. Since California passed term limits, "the number is to stop the revolving door," of women (in the Legislature) is LaPetra said. "These are policy

One of the lower court opinions against California's term limits said the people weren't adequately informed about the lifetime ban on further service in the Legislature.

Not so, said Elhauge. "Access to the text cure any problem." There was nothing ambiguous about Proposal 140. "The lifetime ban was intended."

'Stop revolving door'

LaFetra, for the Pacific Legal Foundation, said voters didn't have their votes "debased or diluted in any way" by term limits. The state has a right to determine qualifications of its own officers.

"Incumbents are an entrenched, dynastic bureaucracy" able to raise money to perpetuate themselves in office, LaPetra said. Since there is no burden on the voters, there is no need to narrowly tailor the term limits rule to lift the lifetime ban on running for the Legislature.

"The purpose of a lifetime ban

"Carl Pursell is right," added Craig Ruff, panel moderator, president of Public Sector Consultants and once a top aide to Gov. Bill Milliken (1969-82). "We should expand the pie (chunk of appropriations going to colleges) rather than fight over carving it up."

'A terrible thing'

Sen. Alma Wheeler Smith, D Salem, joined Schwarz in deploring the effect of term limits - "a terrible thing. It will be a shift of power to the executive and lobbyists. Newcomers to the Legislature will rely on that flow of information."

Programs like the Indian tuition waiver and the University of Michigan's Douglas Lake project will become vulnerable in the budgeting process, said Smith, a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Smith and Ruff agreed that higher ed would be challenged for state general fund appropriations by the Corrections Department (prisons), Family Independence Agency (welfare), and Community Health.

Bill Ballenger, former Republican legislator and now proprietor of the Inside Michigan Politics newsletter, predicted the constitutionality of California's term limits law will go to the U.S. Supreme Court for oral arguments in 1998 and be decided in 1999 by a 5-4, with Reagan appointee Anthony Kennedy casting the swing vote.

Ballenger said term limits will bring legislators who are "less professional" and increase the chances that a popular governor can sweep in a score of new lawmakers from his own party.

his is the season for cooking and baking. But what happens if you run out of an ingredient for that special tasty delight? Your choices are to go to the store or substitute one ingredient for another. There are many substitutions you can make when baking, however you may end up with a somewhat different product. The taste, moisture content, texture and weight of a product can be affected by changing ingredients.

A frequent question is, "What can I substitute for cream of tartar?" The answer is, there is not a good substitution. If cream of tartar is used along with baking soda in a cake or cookie' recipe, omit both and use baking powder instead. One teaspoon baking powder is equivalent to 1/4 teaspoon baking soda plus 5/8 teaspoon cream of tartar. It may just be better to make that trip to the store for cream of tartar.

Brothers share holiday recipes

Because their food memory bank is brimming with Christmas nostalgia, all three brothers offer Observer & Eccentric readers original recipes they like to cook for the holidays. All are exceptionally colorful on the plate. For example, to enhance presentation of his Marinated Calamari with Roasted Peppers, Sam Sharkas reserved some red and green peppers to use as a sprinkled garnish. around the outside of a plain white plate.

Louai Sharkas chose a lobster entrée that reads long, but is very easy to prepare once all ingredients are gathered. The versatile chutney that accompanies is also a low-fat condiment for ham, pork or grilled chicken. For a new spin on left-over turkey, use unleavened flat bread, substitute the chutney for mayonnaise, then roll a sandwich.

Lee Sharkas remarked that although he heads up an Italianstyle kitchen, there are daily specials that are not regionally focused. He offers two in his Roasted Corn and Pepper Soup and Honey-Glazed Salmon.

If you don't want to tackle the recipes yourself, just drool a little as you read them, then visit one of the brothers' restaurants and order up.

Amelda Sharkas thinks Louai serves portions that are too large. "She says the same thing about me," Sam added. "But she loves my lamb chops and lasagna,"

"Hey, Lee, I'm looking at your salmon recipe," Louai chided. "It's simple and I'm going to steal it for New Year's Eve at my restaurant!'

er. Granulated white sugar can be substituted for brown sugar, however, this changes the color of the product. To get the brown color, use a cup of granulated sugar plus 1/4 cup unsulfured molasses.

One cup of corn syrup can be used for regular syrup, but you'll need to reduce other liquids by 1/4 cup. Sugar can be reduced by 1/4 to 1/3 in quick breads, cookies, pie filling, custards, puddings and fruit crisps. Do not reduce sugar in yeast breads as it acts as food for the yeast.

Here are some rules to remember when making sugar modifications to a recipe!

Do not over bake, bake until firm on the outside and soft in the middle. Products with less sugar are less brown.

Add applesauce, additional cinnamon or vanilla to enhance the sweetness. Non-fat dry milk can replace up to 1/4 of the sugar.

If you want to use a non-sugar sweetener, substitute, find and use a recipe designed especially for them. Some of the non-sugar sweeteners do not react very well to baking or cooking.

Many cookie recipes do not take too well to sugar and fat reduction.

Reducing fat

Fat provides flavor, richness, improves texture, tenderness and flakiness in baked goods. You can try to substitute oil for shortening in a recipe to reduce the fat by 1/4 to 1/3. For example, if the recipe calls for 1 cup hydrogenated shortening, try 2/3 cup oil. Drop cookies may be more successfully adapted to less fat than rolled cookies.

As a general rule, for minimal fat content in cakes and cookies, use no

After a few positions in area restaurant kitchens, Louai was hired at Birmingham's Townsend Hotel where he became executive chef upon the retirement of chef Carolyn Haskins (now special projects chef at Birmingham's Big Rock Chop and Brew House), whom he cites as his culinary mentor.

"Carolyn insisted on classic cooking techniques," Louai remarked. "But Douglass Grech (former owner of Douglass Douglass in Southfield, now a personal chef and New York food designer) taught me the meaning of flair."

Louai thoroughly enjoys being owner, managing Oakland Grill and directing the kitchen. "I love doing my own thing and controlling my own destiny," he added.

Louai's brother Sam needed a part-time job when he said. "A chef didn't show up for work, but I did. Opportunity knocked and I had a kitchen job after a few weeks."

SPECIAL WRITER

Sam credits Picano's (Troy) executive chef Bill Hall as his mentor. After nearly two years at Colangelo's, Sam says he enjoys his work because "I can be creative without limitations."

When Lee Sharkas needed his first job, he applied at Larco's (now in Troy). From there he went to the kitchen at Andiamo Italia Ristorante in Warren to work under Master Chef Aldo Ottaviani, Andiamo's corporate executive chef. Lee says he loves the rush of running a kitchen in a very busy restaurant, cooking for people and still being guided by Chef Aldo.

Believing that the apple does not fall far from the tree, I talked to the Sharkas brothers about holiday dining experiences in their home.

"My mom makes literally hundreds of time-consuming kibbe, a cracked wheat dumpling stuffed with beef and onions," Louai responded. "Only a mother has the love and would take the time to do this. We have 30 people for Christmas Eve and Christmas Day and we each eat six or seven kibbe per person per seating."

Lee and Sam like Christmas Eve because restaurants close early and remain closed Christmas Day. When we were growing up, we helped cook for the family get-together on Christmas Eve," Sam said. "That's when we open presents and have a big meal at midnight."

Lee added, "We still help, once we get to my parents" home. My father is a great helper, also."

Could the three brothers work together professionally? "Never," came the unhesitating chorus answer. "That's too many chiefs and not enough Indians," said Sam. "It's like three artists trying to paint one picture together," Louai added. "Each of us is too opinionated;

Grilling your holiday turkey

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If you want to speed up the cooking time for your holiday turkey, wrap the turkey in aluminum foil and roast it at 450 degrees F. Using this method, a turkey can be ready for carving in just over three hours.

If you grill outdoors yearround, you can grill your holiday turkey. While the bird's on the grill, you can use your oven for side dishes and desserts.

What happens to your money and property when you die?

If you are like most folks, you hold your assets jointly with your spouse. When the surviving spouse dies, your estate must endure the legal process of "probate" before the assets can be distributed to your children. The survivor's will does not avert this process. The procedure takes 12-18 months and can consume 25 percent of the assets in legal fees.

Deeding the assets to your children - jointly or wholly - before death to avoid probate is a no-no since it exposes your children to capital gains taxes far exceeding the cost of probate!

Only a Living Trust avoids both the long, expensive probate procedure and exorbitant capital gains taxes when you die.

However, to perpetuate their lucrative source of income generated by the probate procedure, many attorneys intentionally misrepresent the Living Trust as being of value only to estates in excess of $600,000. Others engineer needlessly complex trust documents costing $1,000 to $3,000 up front that at death will still require the attorney's high-priced services to unscramble.

In Michigan's most informative and eyeopening Living Trust seminar, the author of the best-selling Bypassing Michigan's Probate Tollgate reveals how anyone can set up their own completely legal and foolproof Living Trust in just an afternoon or two; no attorney is needed. More than 5,000 Michiganians have already done so after attending this easy-tounderstand workshop.

The workshop is free and without obligation. Husbands and wives are urged to attend together.

Cookie swaps make sweet connections

When friends and family get idea. They all will stay fresh for busy with their separate lives, a couple of weeks when sealed in it's hard to stay connected, even around holidays. A cookie swap is a special way to get together with the people you'd always like to see but seldom do. It's also the perfect excuse to both indulge in some delicious seasonal confections and lighten your holiday workload.

In a cookie swap, people bring a tin filled with one kind of cookie and leave with it refilled with a variety of the treats everyone else brought. Not only do the wide assortment of goodies serve as refreshments for the cookie swap participants themselves, but they are the perfect treat to serve when guests stop by during the holiday season.

Entertain with classic dinner for 4

The holiday season is synonymous with entertaining. When a small intimate gathering of good friends is on the calendar, you'll want to serve something extra special.

Beef Wellington has always been a special-occasion dish, often reserved for restaurant dining. You can easily prepare the '90s version of this classic for elegant at-home holiday entertaining.

Mini Beef Wellingtons are every bit as delicious as the original. The time-consuming puff pastry and pate are gone, replaced by a seasoned mushroom filling and paper-thin phyllo sheets which make this version leaner and easier to prepare.

The phyllo sheets (available in the freezer case at your grocery store) are gathered up around the lean beef tenderloin steaks and mushroom filling then twisted closed to give the appearance of small packages. - ---

The cooking process is accelerated by partially panbroiling the steaks in a skillet before assembly. Even with the panbroiling, the entire dish can be prepared and served in less than an hour making Mini Beef Wellingtons the perfect holiday entertaining choice for hosts with busy lives.

A vegetable medley such as green beans, carrots and red potatoes makes a colorful accompaniment, and for dessert, serve lemon cake with raspberry sauce.

A cookie swap works best when each guest brings five dozen cookies. Homemade sweets are nice, but since this is a gathering meant to relieve holiday stress, they are not mandatory. Start your cookie swap by relaxing for an hour or two, visiting with one another while enjoying a cup of hot tea, mulled cider, or a glass of chilled wine. Guests munch on the various cookies, so there's minimal work for the hostess.

Big ideas for looking great at any size

Turn on the nightly news, and you'll probably hear at least one sound-bite about Americans being overweight.

So what! says Fern Bratten, a former comedian-turned fashion-consultant. "There's nothing wrong with being a size 20," said Bratten, a plus-size woman herself. "In our business, we believe that a size 20 is twice as good as a size 10."

Artists celebrate with their own shops

Traditionally, artists create, leaving the marketing and selling of their work to others. But these days, several savvy crafters have opened their own stores, eliminating the middleman.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO EDITOR

It was once the dream of an artist to exhibit work in a gallery of renown.

Today, many artists open galleries of their own, stocking their stores with items they've made themselves.

Folk artist Barbara Bourgeau-Richards of Romeo just opened her namesake gallery at 154 West Maple in Birmingham, down the street from the gallery/store impressionist painter Pierre Bittar opened last year.

Paige Stanton of Bloomfield Hills also just opened her store in downtown Franklin, lining the carefully-papered walls with her custom pillows, beaded bags and vintage-looking necklaces.

Groups of area artists take turns supplying the shelves of two co-op galleries at Summit Place Mall in Waterford and Great Oaks Mall in Rochester Hills.

"Having your own store allows you to work with your own work," said Bourgeau-Richards. "I also sell country antiques in the shop which blend very well with my watercolors and prints."

Collectors have been seeking out her cherubic, pearshaped characters in European-styled frocks, since she began painting in 1986 after one watercolor class at the local education center. Though she suffers from rheumatoid arthritis, she transfers a positive outlook to her "characters," drawing them enjoying the simple pleasures of life fishing, gardening, sipping

With help from her family, Bourgeau-Richards turned her artwork into a profitable career, adding wool rugs, cross stitch patterns and limited edition prints to her repertoire. She has customers around the globe.

Stanton used craft fairs as her proving ground, networking with other artisans to learn the trade and collect names of reliable crafters who could supplement her #### work.

"I specialize in taking old photographs and transferring them onto quilts and pillows to create heirlooms suitable for brides and new mothers,' she said. "These are absolutely custom gifts, personalized with lace, satin, beads and embroidered flowers.

"I also make little bags on beaded straps that double as a necklace, and jewelry. The shop is complete with folk art dolls, fabric-covered boxes and lamp shades, hand-knit sweaters, and hand-painted frames, candlesticks and dishes by other very talented artists."

Bittar who has had his gallery/store on West Maple in Birmingham for three years, said promoting business in his own store, as well as the rest of the city, has become an important part of his life.

"If you own a gallery, you must become involved in promoting the town as a cultural center," he said. "It's difficult, you have many hats to wear. I've started painting in the area schools and teaching an art class or two. Children are so eager and hungry to know about art.

For this kind of business to succeed you must be in an area that draws people who desire beautiful things."

occasion clothing for plus-size women, sizes 16 to 26, from a variety of manufacturers, including Elizabeth (by Liz Claiborne), Koret, and Baxter & Wells, to name a few.

Some of the clothes were from Bratten's own line, Fern Bratten for Melrose. Crowley's sponsored the show to highlight the extensive selection of merchandise in its Women's World departments. Crowley's has nine locations in southeast Michigan, including Farmington, Livonia Mall, New Center Place in Detroit, Tel-Twelve Mall, Macomb Mall, Westborn Shopping Center, Universal Mall, Lakeside.

For 19 years, Bratten traveled across the country, emceeing fashion shows and conducting fashion workshops, as a representative of Koret. She and Koret parted ways in 1995, and last year, Melrose, a Los Angeles-based clothing manufacturer, asked her to represent its line of plus-size women's sportswear. That's how Fern Bratten for Melrose was born.

She said that the clothes in her line are comfortable, moderately priced (most items are between $48 and $60), and have a youthful spirit, yet are meant for women of all ages.

"And of course, they look good," she said. Her line features a lot of animal prints (such designs will be popular for the next two years, so don't be afraid to invest in them, she insisted); the color black (because it's slenderizing); and a lot of slinky knits. "That's what the fabric is called - slinky knit. It's a 100percent poly with a soft, slinky feel, and it's wash and dry."

One of the highlights of the show was an evening, tank dress with a matching swing coat ($120 to $150), by Onyx Nites. The dress and coat were made out of iridescent purple and lime "shimmer" material. The fabric appeared to change color - from purple to lime and back again - as the model moved.

"I just love these shimmer dresses," Bratten told the audience. "Aren't they yummy? They're so pretty."

Here are some of her fashion tips for plus-size women:

• Make sure that your clothes fit properly, even if it means having them altered. Pants with adjustable tabs at the waist are great, because they let you adjust the fit.

 You may be petite and not know it. Petite, in the fashion world, refers to a woman's height, not her width. Petite clothing is designed for women 5-feet-4 and under. Many stores carry petite sizes up to a size 16; some go even high-

• Wear shoulder pads, to create a balanced look. Also, wear long necklaces and scarves, and make sure that your hair and makeup look good, to draw people's attention north and south, "never east and west."

•It's O.K. to wear pants. But make sure that you pair them with a long top

After graduating in 1979, Annie went to work in a glass gallery in Santa Cruz to learn the retail end of the business. By 1983, she had opened Annieglass, her own glass studio. And, as the pundits say, the rest is history.

Annie first marketed her one-of-a-kind pieces at juried national craft fairs. One of her very first customers was Neiman Marcus. "But the store that really put me on the map was Zona in New York," she said. "In the mid '80s many individual retailers went to Zona to see what they were selling, then those retailers would try to find me."

Today, Annieglass offers more than 17 different designs and is sold worldwide. President and Mrs. Clinton own Annieglass. It's also in the personal collections of such celebrities as Oprah, Barbra Streisand and Bette Midler and in the permanent collections of the Corning Museum of Glass and the Renwick Gallery of the Smithsonian.

Annieglass is now created at Morhauser's new 16,000 square foot pro#### duction-office complex in Watsonville, California, just south of Santa Cruz. With 25 full-time employees, the company produces over 100,000 handmade glass plates, bowls, serving dishes and decorative accessories per year.

Yet, Annie related, "It's practically medieval the way we do things. It's a lot of hand work. We only use machines to sand and ovens to melt the glass." Each piece of Annieglass is still crafted and signed by hand and the decorative edges are hand-printed.

Morhauser is probably best known for her highly textured, Roman Antique glass dinnerware which is banded in either 24-karat gold or platinum and can mix or match with practically anything ranging from heirloom china to the funkiest contemporary pottery.

But she doesn't rest on her laurels! Annie continues to introduce new products twice a year. Last January it was Flora, a white-glazed pattern designed to look like a "sculptural dogwood flower." In August it was Diva. Inspired by a gold bracelet, Diva is highly-textured with a matte gold finish.

"My newest 1950s linoleum, retro-look black and white pattern called Santa Cruz Modern will be introduced in New York in February," she said. The serving pieces will have a black and white drizzle pattern, dinnerware will be solid beige or black. Annieglass is sold at Neiman Marcus, Hudson's (Somerset store only), Jacobson's, Art Loft Gallery, Magnolias, Studio 330 and Slades.

MEDICAL BRIEFS

Rational Recovery

Rational Recovery is an international non-profit, self-help organization for men and women who are experiencing problems as a result of alcohol/and or substance abuse or other self-defeating behaviors. Rational Recovery meets every Thursday at 12:30 p.m. at Harrison School in Garden City in classroom #5 and every Friday at 7 p.m. at Garden City Hospital in the lower level of the Medical Office Building.

RR has its roots in Cognitive Behavioral psychology. The distinguishing features from other prevailing abstinence programs are its rejection of the "disease" concept and the belief that individuals who engage in self-defeating behaviors have the power to overcome their problems by replacing their irrational thought processes with a rational belief system thus eliminating the previous outcome of self defeating behavior. For additional information call (248) 476-2657.

Providence to open Canton facility

LEGISLATION TO ENCOURAGE ORGAN DONATIONS WAITING IS THE HARDEST PART

BY KIMBERLY A. MORTSON STAFF WRITER

There are approximately 2,200 Michigan residents currently waiting for an organ transplant to save their lives. What's more discouraging is that they live in a state that ranks 45th of 50 in the nation for organ and tissue donors - one of the worst in the country.

Proposed legislation pending in the Senate has the potential to position Michigan among 19 states, including Florida, Illinois and Pennsylvania, that have aggressively sought to increase tissue and organ donations, saving thousands of lives annually.

One of the most ironic tragedies that arises out of a death is that countless people could go on living healthy and complete lives from the organs of a single donor. A donor whose wish often goes unfulfilled because it was never shared with the family.

"The single most frequent response we hear when families are asked about donating organs and tissues from a loved one is, We never talked about it, we'd better say no,' " said Tom Beyers-dorf, executive director, Gift of Life Agency of Michigan.

A set of bills that already passed in the House will require the Michigan Secretary of State to: Provide every driver's license applicant with information about organ and tissue donation. Allow every applicant the opportunity to register as a future donor and have that donation status affixed permanently to the license. Transmit the list of donor registrants to the Michigan Donor Registry maintained by the Gift of Life Agency. The registry will be for future use in communicating with families at hospitals following the death of a loved one. Supporters believe the current system of affixing stickers to the back of licenses "falls short" of the potential in the state. Public education and increased awareness are two of the keys, say backers, that will shed light on a problem that often goes unaddressed.

family members invariably honor those wishes. The registry is a vital tool in communicating those wishes," said Beyersdorf.

The computerized donor registry, maintained

The state of Illinois has seen dramatic percentage increases since a "Live and Learn" law was signed in 1993. Today, there are 3.7 million people on the state's donor registry, the largest in the nation; organ donation has increased by 52 percent in only four years; and registry participation at driver license facilities serving mostly minority customers has increased by more than 100 percent. Michigan legislators are optimistic about furthering legislation that can bring about positive change - turning tragedies into charitable acts of heroism.

Tragedy eased by mom's heroic decision

Hero: 18-year-old Phillip Lewis lost his life in 1994 but thanks to organ donations five transplant recipients were saved.

BY KIMBERLY A. MORTSON STAFF WRITER

Cynthe Lewis made a decision Oct. 15, 1994, that saved the lives of five people. Her heroic act was born out a tragic accident that left her son, Phillip Lewis, brain dead. He was just 18 years old.

Lewis consented unselfishly to have her young son's organs donated to transplant patients whose chances of living, rather than dying, were made greater by her generosity.

"I was told there was no hope," said Lewis, "and I was given the chance to help someone else. I didn't have to think twice about saying yes."

The Redford teen's heart went to a 85-year-old retired teacher from Kentucky. She has since returned to enjoying normal activities with her children and grandchildren. Phillip's liver restored life to a 64year-old widow from North Carolina. Both of his kidneys went to men from Tennessee. The youngest of the two recipients was a diabetic for more than 30 years who had been on a waiting list since November 1992.

Please see HERO. C2

The second man, a 53-year-old father, no longer endures hours of dialysis he would undergo each week as a result of cysts that formed in his kidneys.

A 47-year-old wife and mother from Kentucky, suffering from a chronic disease, became the recipient of his lungs. The second day following the transplant, she was removed from a machine that breathed for her and had normal blood oxygen levels. Previously simple tasks were impossible as a result of her advanced illness.

Greatest gift

Their only hope was a transplant. Cynthe Lewis's only wish was that something good come out of a bad situation.

Phillip, a spirited teen who loved music and playing guitar with his band, was in Kentucky staying with a friend at the time of the accident. Cynthe remembers receiving the call from Kentucky authorities who notified her that Phillip had been transported to a local hospital after falling out of a four story window to the cement pavement.

"I knew something wasn't right when they asked me if I had a child named Phillip Lewis," said Cynthe Lewis. "The news can't be good when they start out with a question like that."

Gift puts new heart in minister's life

BY KIMBERLY A. MORTSON STAFF WRITER

In September, the Rev. Jack Spitza of Westland celebrated his second anniversary. Not a marital milestone or an observance of his dedication to the church but a celebration of the gift of life. In 1995, his failing heart was replaced with that of a 20-yearold accident victim.

"I'm living, breathing proof that organ donations work," said Spitza. "Someone saw the chance to give or extended the life of a stranger who couldn't live without the donation and they gave the greatest gift any of us can - life."

The Westland grandfather's health began to decline in 1988. He was experiencing chest pressure, water retention, extreme fatigue and an overall lack of strength,

"I was getting so weak it took all of me to get to the altar every Sunday for service," remembered Spitza, "but I never missed a sermon."

After being diagnosed with congestive heart failure and undergoing a battery of tests, Spitza was placed on a transplant list in March of 1995 at the age of 66 and began a costly waiting game. Despite his age, he was a can-didate thanks to his general good health. "I never drank or smoked and I was in pretty good shape except for my heart," said Spitza.

Labor Day weekend of the same year, Spitza was contacted by the transplant team at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit. A young male accident victim's family agreed to donate their son's organs and Spitza was a match for his heart.

"I remember waking up after the surgery on Tuesday staring at the beige . ICU wall and thinking, 'I don't have congestive heart failure any more.'

Just nine days after the transplant, he was released from the hospital and returned to the pulpit at New Hope Baptist Church like he had every Sunday for the last 36 years.

"Families faced with a tragedy need to know their loved ones organs won't do them any good," Spitza said frankly, "but they can help save the lives of countless others."

In the last two years, Spitza has resumed all normal activities with no limitations holding him back. Last summer, he and his 9-year-old grandson traveled to Florida and enjoyed riding "all the roller coasters " they could during a vacation to Disney World. "I've been given a chance to watch my grandson grow and be a part of his life - for that I am grateful." In addition to sharing his story with his congregation, Spitza speaks to ser-

Winter itch indicates dry, chapped skin

As we say goodbye to Novem- ates less oil ber we find days are getting shorter while temperatures take an uncomfortable downward spiral. That crackling sound you may hear, however, isn't chestnuts roasting on an open fire, but the dry touch of your chapped skin.

Skin dryness is not uncommon, particularly in the winter months when wind exposure and freezing temperatures take a toll on all parts of your body, including those you think you've kept under wraps. Dermatologists warn that even short stints outside require a complete coverup to help avoid serious skin damage (frostbite) or windburn.

"Skin needs hydration to stay healthy, and usually it protects itself from drying out by producing a layer of oil," said Dr. Michael Mahon, D.O., Botsford dermatologist. "Unfortunately, as we grow older, our skin gener-D.

damage." Dry skin is a natural component of the aging process - it can be accelerated by a lack of moisture or slowed if proper care is taken to keep skin supple, moist and well-hydrated.

Another source of dehydration is the tendency to "turn up the heat" in the winter that leads to a serious lack of moisture in your home where you spend a good portion of time from November through March. Moisture needs to be returned to the

the air. "I tell patients to cut down on those long, hot bubble baths and beware of harsh detergent soaps," said Mahon. "To combat chapped, dry skin, you should consistently use moisturizing lotions or creams -Eucerin, Lubriderm, Vaseline or the like several times a day, especially after washing your hands or bathing. Any of these help soothe and prevent moisture from evaporating."

Mahon strongly cautions outdoor enthusiasts and those not so fond of winter to wear gloves and hats, "even if out only for a short time."

If dry skin becomes severely cracked or inflamed, you may want to seek treatment from a dermatologist. Prescription medications can be very effective in preventing infection and further damage to chapped, cracked and scaled skin.

Just because it's winter, it doesn't mean vou shouldn't be using sunscreen. "In addition to moisturizing, sunscreen is the best sure-fire way of protecting your skin and your health – as well as reducing the signs of aging," said Mahon.

"I believe Phillip waited for me to get there knowing this was an opportunity to help someone. He knew I would consent and he hung

The chief neurological surgeon at the University of Kentucky consulted with Lewis following two days of treatment in the Intensive Care Unit where Phillip was being kept alive by a respirator. The physician explained that Phillip had no brain activity and little chance to survive.

"I agreed to donate his organs because it was the right thing for me to do," she said. "I give blood so it seemed only natural to feel that way about organ donations."

Three years have passed since Phillip died. His mother's face lights up when she talks about her son but it's easy to see her pain lies just below the surface. On her sweater lapel she wears a green ribbon that symbolizes support of the Gift of Life organization and their crusade to increase awareness of organ/tissue donations. She says it's a good conversation piece to get people talking about organ donations.

"It reminds me of Phillip, too." Speaking out

Besides wearing the green ribbon, Lewis has become a public speaker for the Gift of Life Agency of Michigan. She tells Phillip's story in formal presentations or to anyone who will listen in an effort to "promote organ and tissue donations" as much as she can. "That's where the pin comes in handy. Someone will ask me about it and that gives me another opportunity to talk about donating. I always say yes when they ask me to speak. Whatever it takes to make people more aware.

"It helps me heal and gives me a sense that I'm still taking care of Phillip."

Lewis is also in full support of proposed legislation to provide every license applicant with information about donating and have dona-tion status permanently affixed to driver's licenses. "Whatever it takes to make more people aware of the need and importance of making their wishes known to their family."

While the final decision remains with the family, Tom Beyersdorf, executive director of Gift of Life Agency of Michigan, says families will usually honor those wishes if they were made known or are made aware the potential donor was listed on a donor registry.

Many lives were changed forever in October 1994. Lewis has the option to call the Kentucky Organ Donor Affiliates to find out how each of the recipients are doing since the transplants. Sadly, the man whose kidney's failed from diabetes died - not as a result of organ rejection but from colon cancer.

The other kidney recipient and transplant patients are doing great. In fact, Lewis received what she called "a very touching letter" from one of the recipients' daughters last June. The young woman expressed her sympathy for the loss of Lewis' son and explained how grateful she was for having her father back thanks to the kidney transplant.

"She wrote that her dad no longer had to drive three hours one way, sometimes four times a week, for dialysis treatments." said Lewis. "It was a hard letter for me to read."

same thing from the Microsoft Network Home Page (www.msn.com). Explorer uses your zip code to call up the movie schedule for what's playing in your neighborhood theater. It also has local TV listings and, my favorite, a direct link to the daily Dilbert comic strip.

You don't have to stick with just the so-called "Browser Big Two," the Net these days is offering users the opportunity to customize their Web · each start-up pages. My current favorite is from Excite, which is known for its very fast and reliable search engine. But it also has a custom start page, called Excite Live! (live.excite.com), and I think it is the slickest on the Net. It opens with a very easy to follow look at the top news headlines of the hour. The headlines are what's wanted.

Excite Live! really shines when it comes to displaying business news and information, especially stock prices. Most of the other custom start pages limit you to only a few stocks and funds to monitor. Excite lets you fill in a virtual portfolio.

My favorites include CNN (www.cn.com), MSNBC (www.msnbc.com) ABC (www.abcnews.com) and Wired Magazine's Newsbot (www.newsbot.com). Mike Wendland covers the Internet for NBC-TV Newschannel stations across the country and can be seen locally on WDIV-TV4, Detroit. start-up pages. There are dozens available, with more being released every day. I am always amazed at how many people never set up their Internet browser to reflect their personal tastes and interests.

This week, we're going to get personal with our browser.

Let's start with Netscape's Communicator and Microsoft's Internet Explorer, the two browsers used by close to 95% of the 56 million adults in the U.S. who currently have access the Internet.

By default, when you open up either one of these browsers, it goes to the home page of either Netscape Communications or Microsoft. All that is fine. Both companies offer very complete and useful home pages. But with so many users opening up the same start page on the same site at the same time, it often takes a long time to draw on your screen. Besides, they're pretty boring.

The solution is setup another start page. You do not have to settle for what they provide. You can chose to begin your web sessions with any site you want.

Here's how to change the startup page:

In Communicator, you go to 🥊 Options, then General Preferences. Click on the Navigation tab. See where it says Startup? In that box is a place for a URL. That stands for Universal Resource Locator, or the Internet address of a Web site. Just type example, for (www.netscape.com ) and look for a hyperlink to something called Powerstart. Click on it and you'll be led to a template. You fill in the things you want to see on your own start page. You can have a localized weather report, movie listings and start times for the theaters in your neighborhood, a stock ticker that scrolls across your screen listing only the companies you're interested in, and headline news and sports. You can even have your own to-do list pop up, as well as current information about your favorite stock.

'Mummy' needs help at the DIA

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN STAFF WRITER

While most people are looking forward to the holidays, the Detroit Institute of Arts Volunteer Services is hoping to keep its galleries open by asking people to give a few hours of their time.

The mummies, in particular, would appreciate it since they are the stars of the "Splendors of Ancient Egypt" exhibit, which is drawing record crowds.

This exhibit features more than 200 masterpieces from the Roemer-Pelizaeus Museum in Hildesheim, Germany. Mummy cases, jewelry, statues, wall relief and ceramics, from the predynastic period to seventh century A.D., create a panoramic view of the pharaohs, technical achievements, political unrest, and fascination with afterlife.

"We are desperate for volunteers on Dec. 24, 27 and 29, 30 and 31, and Jan. 2 and 4," said Eileen Kozloff of Farmington Hills.

March of toys: Carl (left) and Julianne Schultz play the roles of tin soldiers in the Plymouth Community Arts Council's production of "Babes in Toyland."

"Babes in Toyland," the Victor Herbert Musical, comes to the Plymouth Community Arts Council 7 p.m. Friday, Dec. 5-Saturday, Dec. 6, and 2 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 6-Sunday, Dec. 7, at the Joanne Winkleman Hulce Center for the Arts, 774 North Sheldon at Junction, Plymouth. $5. (313) 416-4278

Cynthia Zeitz directs two casts of 35 kids each, ranging in age from 5 to 15. Jennifer Tobin, former director and now the new arts council executive director, wears a different hat choreographing and coordinating the production.

"It's singing, dancing, acting, the march of toys," said Tobin. "They'll also see Santa who saves the day. It's very Mother Goose with Little Bo Peep and her Sheep. She's a modern Bo Peep with 14 kids and a single mom."

Janice Derian accompanies the production on piano. A community and family effort, mom Kathy Zaumseil coordinated other moms to costume all of the performers.

"There is all kinds of wonderful color and sparkle," said Tobin. "It's just stunning when all of the toys in the shop come to life - the tin soldiers, dogs and cats."

Unfortunately, the sudden format change at WQRS has left many choirs without an effective means to advertise their holiday concerts.

"I'm excited about liaving my granddaughter and daughter in the lead roles," said Greene. "Hilari's been working up to do this for so long. She danced her first Nutcracker as a mouse at age three."

"We're excited because we received a $500 grant from the Livonia Arts Commission bought new props and a few new costumes for this year's production," said Jean Newell, Livonia Civic Ballet artistic director. "We have a new Mother Ginger dress that's worn by the father of one of the dancers. He's on stilts and the children dance out from underneath the skirt."

Jill Rees' daughter Amanda dances with the company for the first time. The 7-year-old is in the first scene as a child and later in the production as a mouse.

"It's very exciting for her to be a part of the Nutcracker," said Jill Rees. "What's nice is the kids start out in smaller parts then grow into roles like Clara."

Newell founded the company more than 30 years ago to provide performing opportunities for dancers like Amanda Rees.

"We want to give the young people the chance to perform, to rehearse and rehearse and find out what it's like to be a professional dancer." said Newell.

In addition to competing as a level five gymnast, Bracht studies ballet at Canton Dance and Performing Arts.

175-member choir. And based on recent ticket sales, audiences. aren't tiring of the annual concert.

Last year, 40 percent of the audience for the "Messiah" were first-time attendees, according to UMS spokesperson Sara Billmann. Nearly three-quarters of the tickets for the two upcoming concerts have been sold at the 6.000-seat auditorium.

One member of the choir has been singing the "Messiah" for the last 50 years, said Billmann. In February, UMS will also perform another oratorio classic, Mendelssohn's "Elijah."

Often overlooked by most contemporary choirs is that the original "Messiah" composition was written in a baroque pitch, a half-step down from modern performances.

To capture the original sound, a 24-member DOS choir will perform the "Messiah" accompanied by Apollo's Fire from Cleveland, a 20-member baroque orchestra using period instruments, including harpsichord, contra bass and elongated trumpets without valves. The string instruments are played with shorter bows and have a softer resonance.

In contrast to the heavy modern orchestral sound, the DOS presents a scaled-down version without the resounding chorale waves and vibrato.

"It's more of an intimate experience," said Christine Bonner, DOS executive director and cofounder.

"The 'Messiah' has so many different styles within it," she said. "We're one of the few choirs to perform the entire piece in the original way it was written."

But there are mainstream audiences who might not have the patience to sit through twoand-half hours of Handel's most famous oratorio.

To offer its audiences a range of holiday classics, the Detroit Concert Choir will perform several pieces from the "Messiah" along with seasonal music in their upcoming December concerts.

Admission is by donation to the music scholarship fund. For information, call the music department at (313) 432-5713.

The concert will include a "Ceremony of Carols" by Benjamin Britten, accompanied by harp, and "The Infant Savior" by Dietrich Buxtehude performed with strings and organ. The program will also include traditiona) Christmas carols with some audience sing-a-longs.

Now in its 33rd season, the 50member choir, under the direction of Donald Stromberg, is presenting two holiday-concerts in December.

to go with her cousins to Watervliet, New York. It follows her as she marries Michael Haroutunian, moves to Michigan, changes her name to Victoria and gives birth to two children. The focus then shifts to the youngest of these children, Virginia.

At the center of the book is Virginia's confusion over her mother's emotional coldness, penny-pinching, nagging and general unhappiness. It has a strong and damaging effect on Virginia's life.

Virginia's dream of being a concert pianist never comes to fruition. Her relationships with men never develop. Her attempts at independence are always thwarted. But she finds comfort in her family, especially her warm and understanding father, her friends and her work as a choral music teacher.

This story is told baldly, each incident suggesting how the emotional repressions of her homelife have created a crushing reserve in Virginia.

As she reaches her 40s, the whole story begins to reveal itself. On a trip to Armenia in the late '70s, as the Soviet Union begins its first melting period, Virginia learns of her father's escape from Turkish soldiers.

But it is later, after her mother comes through a bout with cancer, that the mother insists on taking a trip to Ellis Island. Here, surrounded by the memories of her arrival in a free country, the mother (Myreeg in Armenian) finally breaks down and tells her daughter of her involvement as a child in what is called the Armenian genocide of 1915 at the hands of the Turks.

The story of the forced starvation march, told in Myreeg's careful, broken English is effectively handled and placed for best dramatic effect. The story continues'as Myreeg is placed in the home of a harsh Turkish family and then in an orphanage. She then tells how she finally made her way to her cousins in America.

It must have been painful for Virginia Haroutunian to recreate this emotional watershed, which gives such insight into the special power of Ellis Island as a refuge from the tyranny of ethnic battles, political oppression and rank human cruelty.

The revelations finally allow Virginia to come to terms with her own life. She ends the book with a nicely done coda in which she meets a friend and comes to terms with the life she has.

Eastern Michigan theater production is a classic

Eastern Michigan University Theatre presents "Guys and Dolls" 8 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 4 to Saturday, Dec. 6, Quirk Theatre, 103 Quirk, Ypsilanti. $5 bargain night Thursday; $10 general admission Friday and Saturday; $7 and $5 for Mainstage members; $8 and $6 for EMU students in advance. Add $2 for tickets purchased at the door. (313) 487-1221 BY TONY LAWRY SPECIAL WRITER

With all of the new age theatrical musicals such as "Rent." 'The Life." and "Bring in da Noise, Bring in da' Funk," classics. such as, "West Side Story," "Hello, Dolly!" and "Guys and Dolls," still remain in the hearts of many longtime theatergoers. Eastern Michigan Theatre is presenting one of these classics -Guys and Dolls."

This musical fairy-tale deals with the love acquired between Sky Masterson and Sarah Brown. What is the problem you ask? Well, Sky is the sinner of all sinners, a gambler. Sarah however, is the Virgin Mary reincarnate, a mission's sergeant reporter. Observer Newspapers,

The Friends of Nankin Mills

are inviting everyone to their ninth annual Christmas Tree and inspired to rid all of Broadway of its' devilish attitudes. They do not meet until a bet is set by Nathan Detroit for Sky to win over the heart of Miss Sarah.

Mister Detroit has his own problems though. Not only does he need Sky to lose this bet so he may conduct his crap game, but hide these illegal activities from the law and his fiancee of 14 years Miss Adelaide.

Adelaide and Detroit are not quite the star crossed lovers that Sky and Sarah are but more in it for the longevity. Poor Adelaide suffers with her constantly breaking heart in such a way that she has become "sick" over it.

In many ways this production of the musical theater phenomenon is different than any other. In a well directed way, it is sexy and less cartoony. Sadly though, it is also less funny. This however, is not a reflection of the directing, but obviously a misinterpretation by the actors.

Not all is lost though. The four leads obviously are on a different professional level than the rest of the company. They plainly seem natural whereas many of the other characters have created a contradicting way of portraying themselves or are just too stiff on stage.

Michael Jaworski, despite his less than perfect singing, has incredible comedic timing as Nathan Detroit. Erik Schark, working through his feminine hand movements, makes for a very realistic Sky and developed the perfect characterization for this particular production.

Tricia Smith, as the pure and naive Sarah Brown, was utterly wonderful in every way - a beautiful soothing voice matched with a beautiful and soothing face and a character that seemed part of herself.

Careful not to totally steal the show from her counterparts is Laura Dysarczyk as Miss Adelaide. She portrays Adelaide as a stronger character than most productions let on but none the less she is what the audience is hoping to see following every blackout. A strong voice and immense stage presence make this Adelaide one Nathan should succumb to quickly.

The music of course is timeless but one thing Frank Loesser was careful to do was to put the show's best number in the latter portion of the second act. As in most musicals that showstopper comes either at the end of the first act or in the beginning of the second. Not true for "Guys and Dolls." The biggest crowd pleaser falls well into the two and one-half hour mark and is beautifully put together by director Pirooz Aghssa and choreographer Kerry Graves. Just when the theater patrons think the show is coming to an end, "Marry the Man Today" takes off as the high point of the evening. A duet by the two dolls Sarah and Adelaide is no more than a cute and fun song about the girls solving their romantic problems in interesting ways. This is the one moment in the show where the audience's grin got perpetually bigger and bigger as the song went on. One other interesting concept is the more realistic costumes for the period. If any guys are looking for some dolls to brighten up their holidays, make a trip to Quirk Theatre and let Sarah and Adelaide entertain you.

Grand Rapids museums celebrate history, art

BY HUGH GALLAGHER STAFF WRITER

The streets of downtown Grand Rapids were being excavated and traffic patterns were a bit turned around in Michigan's second city. But the city, and especially Pearl Street, AKA Museum Row, have been celebrating a yearlong Grand Renaissance.

The emphasis on renewal and things Italian has been in anticipation of the Grand Rapids Art Museum's exhibition of works by Italian Renaissance painter Perugino, which opened Nov. 16 and runs through Feb. 1.

Perugino was a colleague of Michelangelo, Leonardo and Botticelli and the teacher of Raphael. This is the first exhibit of his work internationally in 50 years. To commemorate the occasion, Grand Rapids' other museums and art organizations are providing support. The Gerald R. Ford Presidential Museum will exhibit a collection of Italian gifts presented to America's presidents; the Kendall College of Art and Design is holding conferences on Italian art; and the Grand Rapids Community College is holding a Renaissance Musical Feaste Dec. 11 and 12. Other events have been held throughout the past year.

But Grand Rapids was already a city with interesting museums celebrating its own history and its place in the history of the country.

This past spring, the Ford Museum introduced a new interactive presentation that gives viewers a richer understanding of the presidency in general and Gerald Ford's career in particular.

The Ford Museum is an informative walk through history. Of course, the museum offers a pos-other points of view. That essential fairness makes the museum worthwhile even for those who don't share President Ford's moderate conservative views.

The museum begins with a flashback to the '70s, a decade that almost screamed bad taste. This opening, also, shows the carry over from the turbulent, historically decisive '60s, to which the '70s was a reaction.

The museum then moves in to the heart of the matter with a multi-media exhibit on the Watergate scandal that, ultimately, brought Gerald Ford to power. The burglar tools used to break into the Democratic Party hearings and television film bring it all back.

Then we step back into time. Paint barrels and rough granite walls lead us into the life story of Gerald Ford. Ford's stepfather, whose name he took, owned a Grand Rapids paint and varnish company. The exhibit presents Ford as something of a Midwest ideal - blond, handsome, a football hero in high school and All Big-Ten at the University of Michigan lawyer, naval officer during World War II and congressman

It was in Congress that Ford made his mark. He was conservativé on fiscal matters but an rose to become a highly respected minority leader who understood the fine art of compromise. It was these qualities and the near universal personal admiration of others that led the troubled Richard Nixon to appoint Ford vice president in the wake of Spiro Agnew's personal scandal.

This "wonderful life" walk through is never sappy and often quite informative.

The new museum presentation uses state-of-the-art exhibiting to give a detailed look at being president. The oval office is recreated just as it was in Ford's time and an eerie, sound-only presentation takes us through a the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the National Gallery of Art, the day with the president (using Art Institute of Chicago and the actors' voices, of course, since Detroit Institute of Arts. A room devoted to diplomacy has a real huey helicopter and a room size interactive film presentation that lets visitors join Ford and Henry Kissinger on their shuttle diplomacy. A hologram presentation of the White House lets visitors take their own personal tours, right up the President's bedroom. Another presentation takes visitors right into the Republican convention where Ford faced a challenge from Ronald Reagan.

Presidential artifacts, thoughtful considerations of controversies in Ford's administration (the pardon and his WIN economic policies) and a respectful exhibit on First Lady Betty Ford and her work before and after leaving the White House are all nicely presented.

Across the street at the Van Andel Museum Center, Grand Rapids history is celebrated. Here is an excellent recreation of a Grand Rapids street of the 1890s, a planetarium honoring local astronaut Roger B. Chaffee with changing programs, a presentation on the native Anishinabek tribes of western Michigan, a classic carousel and, the center piece, a multi-media presentation on "Furniture City," Grand Rapids' once and future claim to fame. The Furniture City exhibit has presentations on how furniture was and is made, shows outstanding examples of the work, traces the history of the industry and its marketing and shows the movement toward being an office furniture center.

The Grand Rapids Art Museum Perugino exhibit features nine works loaned from the Galleria Nazionale dell' Umbria in Perugia, Italy, which have never been seen outside of Italy. It also includes Perugino works from Perugino (real name Pietro Vannucci) was an important master painter, highly regarded in his early career, but he began to lose favor in his own life time and has never been as well known as other Renaissance painters. This exhibit and the accompanying lecture presentations put Perugino's work into perspective and allow visitors a chance to explore the impact of Italian art in general.

The exhibit has already had an impact on Grand Rapids, leading a New York Times writer to proclaim in typically haughty style, "...it may be true that never has Livonia Stevenson may be young but the Spartans' hockey team plays old.

Redford Union's extremely young team found that out Wednesday night when it went to Eddie Edgar Arena and lost to Stevenson, 8-0.

Like jam on toast, the Spartans spread their scoring around.

Junior Ryan Sinks scored twice, opening and closing the game, while junior Dan Cieslak had a goal and two assists to help the Spartans improve to 4-0 while handing the Panthers their third loss in four tries.

"We were thoroughly outplayed," said Panthers' assistant Rusty Lynch, behind the bench in place of ailing RU Coach Kirk Hunter. "They're a wellcoached team with a lot of speed and a lot of talent.

"I can't say enough about their speed, the way they moved the puck."

Stevenson totally dominated the first period, piling up a 16-1 shot margin and scoring three times. But Redford Union came out hitting in the second and by game's end the shot margin stood at 37-15.

"It was a great team effort," Spartans' coach Mike Harris said. "This was our third shutout in a row. We have a lot of pride in our defense. We play sound defense."

Sophomore Chris McComb played the first two periods in goal for the Spartans with Matt McLeod working the final 15 minutes.

The game deteriorated a little at the end with pushing, punching and shoving. Some Redford Union partisans also felt Stevenson might have played some key players too much in the final minute.

"We're not trying to run up the score on anybody," Harris protested. "We played four lines.

"Everybody came ready to play and everybody played. We're not trying to embarrass anybody. This is hockey. You try to score. That's what we're trying to do."

Both teams are quite youth. The Panthers have three seniors, seven juniors, 11 sophomores and a freshman. The Spartans carry four seniors, 14 juniors and a pair of sophomores.

"We still have to develop a little bit," Lynch said. "We're going to get better as the season goes on. We're still learning. We should be better by the next time we play them."

Bruce Caskey had some strong shifts for Redford Union and Mike O'Keefe, who played the first two periods, did a good job in goal. Joe Roe came in to play goal with 3:11 gone in the third period.

Sinks made it 8-0 with an unassisted goal off a faceoff with 41 seconds to play. He skated in on left wing and fired in a short shot.

Bill Marshall blasted in a drop pass from Cieslak 5:44 into the final period. Cieslak scored unassisted just 1:52 into the period.

Willie Wilson, another junior, gave Stevenson a 5-0 lead at 8:21 of the second period. Wilson's goal and one by Mike Radakovich early in the period came on power plays as Stevenson scored four of its first five with a man advantage.

Sinks, junior Roy Rabe and junior Steve Anderson scored in the opening period for the Spartans. Junior Mike Walsh had two assists in the game while junior John May, junior Mike Zientarski, Jeff Lang, Marshall and junior Adam Heseltine each assisted on goals.

In other games:

•MILFORD 7, FRANKLIN 4: Paul Schiebold and Chris Neyn each scored twice Wednesday, leading the unbeaten Redskins (4-0 overall) to the non-league victory over host Livonia Franklin (2-1) at Edgar Arena.

Milford led 2-1 after one period and increased its lead to 6-2 after two periods.

Dave Tyler scored a pair of goals and added one assist for the Patriots. Tony Saia (power-play) and Jeremiah White added the other Franklin goals.

Erik Rakoczy, Justin Sawyer, Brandon McCullough, Greg Job and Trevor Skocen each drew assists.

Franklin used two goaltenders - Phil Brady and Rob Williams.

"It was a penalty-filled game," said Franklin coach Terry Jobbitt, who had two players disqualified. "Milford is a good team, very well-coached and I think they'll do very well in the state tournament."

The Patriots will also be missing two other players for Wednesday's game with Livonia Churchill because of disciplinary reasons.

On Tuesday, Franklin won its second straight behind a pair of goals from Greg Job in a 4-2 non-league victory over host White Lake-Lakeland.

Franklin outshot the Eagles 32-19. Patriot netminder Williams stopped 18 of 19 shots.

After a scoreless opening period, McCullough notched Franklin's first goal from Skocen and Adam Sexton and Job followed with his first from Sexton and Jeremiah White for a 2.1 lead.

White then scored from Jeff Job and Nick Tilt in the third and Greg Job finished off Lakeland with his second, a power-play effort, from Tyler and Sawyer.

King simply just had too much speed, strength and depth for the Blazers.

"We like to play all of them because it makes for good spirit on the team and it makes for good practices when they all know they're going to play," said Win-field, who uses all 12 girls.

Winfield, who missed four minutes of the opening quarter, had to make an emergency stop at his nearby Southfield home to pick up a jersey for senior Alisa Holley.

His assistant, Curtis Green, capably manned the sidelines as the Lady Crusaders nailed three triples to gain a 17-10 first quarter lead.

"I told him to take over until I got back," Winfield said. "We've been together quite a long time. He likes the same thing I do -press and play defense."

Ladywood's 6-foot senior center Sarah Poglits, playing her final game as a Blazer, tallied all 10 Ladywood first-period points.

Poglits, who finished with a team-high 14, could get off one shot during the second quarter as King opened up a 36-15 halftime advantage.

"I thought we play a 2-3 zone (defense) to start to keep some of our people inside because I was worried about their inside game," Gorski said. "But they (King) shot well from the outside, so we went to a 3-2 to combat that, so we could matchup up with their guards out-front. ### STATE TOURNAMENT GIRLS BASKETBALL ROUNDUP

Bishop Borgess shuts down Goodlow to advance into Class C quarterfinal

BY STEVE KOWALSKI STAFF WRITER

Detroit Dominican senior forward Rayna Goodlow is a strong candidate to win the state's Miss Basketball award, but Redford Bishop Borgess senior center Ayisha Smith made a strong case for herself in Wednesday's Tlass C regional final between The two schools.

Smith made a pair of three-Dont shots and scored eight points in the first quarter of the Spartans' 65-26 victory. That's all coach Dave Mann receded to see to secure his vote. Smith added only two points The rest of the game as Mann was content to use her as a decoy with as many weapons as the Spartans have.

Goodlow, ranked the No. 1 player in the state according to one pre-season poll, finished with 14 points, including all all nine of the Ravens' points in the second quarter.

"I think she's the best player the state," Mann said of Smith. "She didn't need to prove to me. When they went man Minan to man defense) I was fighte happy to put Isha in the corner. I told her to stand there fand the rest will play four on Your. I felt we could win that game.' The win sends the Spartans, No. 1 ranked in Class C, to the state quarterfinal to face Sandusky at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Troy Athens.

The Spartans took control early, going on an 11-1 run to end the first quarter with a 15-8 lead. Smith sparked a 9-0 run during that spurt with a threepoint shot from right of the key and a 15-foot jumper, both in the half-court set.

Smith is surprised people still let her shoot those.

"They say 'Oh she's a tall girl, she's not going to shoot that,' Smith said. "Coach Mann gives me the green light. He gave me the green light last year."

Smith isn't the only player that gives teams a matchup problem when they face the Spartans.

If Smith isn't scoring from inside or out, senior point guard Christina Anderson is penetrating and scoring or dishing off, senior forward Koren Merchant is driving for baseline baskets (when she's not called for traveling) and junior forward Tiffany Simon is scoring points on the fast break.

Merchant led the Spartans with 21 points and seven rebounds, Simon contributed 12 points and Anderson 10.

The Spartans forced Dominican into 30 turnovers, including 11 in the fourth quarter when the Ravens went scoreless for the first 4:25.

Borgess outscored Dominican, 26-2 in the fourth quarter, which didn't leave as much of a bad players decision makers. They taste in Ravens' coach Diane don't want to be."

Jones' mouth as the way the Spartans played at times.

Jones wasn't happy when Mann chose to have his team stall in the half-court offense in order to get Dominican out of a zone defense.

"He does that passing around, stalling stuff and their athleticism is tough to stop in the open floor," she said. "It's not like they're executing, they're just taking advantage of their ahleticism. Once they got it started, there's no stopping them."

Mann said it's tough to teach his players to enjoy the stall tactics as well.

"I don't want them to settle for jump shots because there is no one in rebounding position," Mann said. "Merchant and Simon are still settling, but they've gotten better. We want them to wait, wait, wait, then be aggressive.'

The two teams each had 20 rebounds but the Spartans had their fair share of offensive caroms that led to second shots in the paint.

"We couldn't keep them off the boards, that was our biggest problem," Jones said.

Jaczuise Purifoy, a 5-10 sophomore forward, had the Ravens' first four points before finishing with six.

After Goodlow and Purifoy, no one else had more than two points.

Point guard Latisha Martin. who makes the Ravens' offense go, made several turnovers and had only one point.

Plymouth Canton can't hold off late Mustangs' comeback, 42-36

BY C.J. RISAK SPORTS WRITER

Something was going to give. A test of wills? This was more like a war, and for  $3^{1/2}$ quarters, Plymouth Canton's girls basketball team was winning it. Birmingham Marian, the defending Class A state champions, had been unable to get its high-pressure, fasttempo game into gear.

The result: a low-scoring game with plenty of fouls, a game in which a six-point lead seemed insurmountable.

And that's just what the Chiefs had with under three minutes left to play in a game in which their slow, deliberate style was prevailing.

But it was then, in those final three minutes, that the Mustangs showed their mettle, refusing to surrender their championship banner, battling back with a 16-4 run in the final 2:40 to post a 42-36 triumph Wednesday in a regional final at Plymouth Salem.

Marian, now 20-4, advances to the state quarterfinals at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Waterford Mott. Canton ends its season at 19-5.

When Janell Twietmeyer's two free throws put Canton in front 32-26 with 2:55 left, Marian coach Mary Lillie-Cicerone had a sinking feeling. "I thought, if we don't score this time down,° it's over," she recalled.

Cicerone had taken steps to get her team on track offensively. The Mustangs had been

CLASS A team's captain, point guard Breean Walas. "I told Breean

she was going to have to take over this game. And she did." Indeed she did. Fifteen seconds after Twietmeyer's free throws, Walas hit a short jumper. What followed after that was something Canton had dealt with the entire game.

The difference was, the Chiefs couldn't cope with it down the stretch - Marian's trademark pressure defense.

"The bottom line is, we just didn't handle their pressure very well (at the end)," said Canton coach Bob Blohm. "The rest of the game we did, except for a three-minute time span in the fourth quarter."

The Chiefs committed 11 turnovers in the first 3½ quarters; in the game's last three minutes, they had seven -four of them in their own backcourt.

An offensive foul by Melissa Marzolf led to another Walks basket with 2:25 left, and when Kristin Lukasik was pressured into a third-consecutive turnover, Markeisha Thompson followed with a free throw to pull Marian within a point, 32-31, with 2:04 to go.

Marzolf stopped the Mustang run briefly with two free throws, but Kellie Byers drained a three-pointer on Marian's next possession and the game was tied at 34 with 1:49 left.

The Chiefs could never

Walas finished with a game-high 15 points, eight in the fourth period. Byers scored 10, seven coming in the fourth. The Chiefs got 10 from Marzolf and eight from Nkechi Okwumabua, all scored at the free-throw line.

"We just got a fire under our heinies," said Cicerone. "We stepped up our defense and said we were not going to lose this game."

Blohm had to agree. "Rehash it all you want, but they made some plays," the Canton coach summarized. "We did what we wanted. I thought if we could keep the game around 40 (points), we had a chance.

"And we made some plays. too."

That the Chiefs did. They led 7-4 after one quarter and 16-15 at the half, despite making just 4-of-17 of their first-half floor shots (23.5 percent).

Fouls were mounting, particularly against Marian; early in the fourth quarter, the Mustangs - who trailed 26-22 after three periods — had two starters with four fouls and another with three.

It all added up to Canton's kind of game. The Chiefs were 17-of-23 from the line (73.9 percent); Marian was accurate as well, converting 9-of-11 (81.8 percent) free throws.

"I thought we'd be gassed," said Cicerone. "We played defense 80 percent of the game."

In the end, shooting was the difference: Marian was 15-of-41 from the floor (36.6 percent) to Canton's 9-of-36 (25 per cent). But the Mustangs made 6-of-9 (67 percent) in the fourth quarter. "I couldn't be prouder of this team," Blohm said. "They always give a championship effort."

Four miserable 2-of-14 from the an's fire; the Mustangs scored floor in the first quarter (14.3 percent) - due largely to Canton's "tremendous, in-yourzolf got a basket - Canton's shorts defense" as described by only field goal of the fourth the Marian coach.

But the Lady Crusaders made sure they had all they could eat in the final quarter, knocking the stuffing out of Ladywood with a 21-5 run.

Ironically, King's only losses this year have come against Catholic League champion Birmingham Marian (53-48 in the Operation-Friendship game) and Beverly Hills-Detroit Country Day.

"Both teams have tremendous post players," Winfield said. "We were outmanned in the post. Both teams had two good post players.

"How good is this team? We might be six points away from the lead group. But we'd love to play Marian again."

King will meet Troy Athens (21-3) in Tuesday's quarterfinal.

Harrison clips Midland Dow gridders, 21-6

BY DAN O'MEARA STAFF WRITER

It seems a fitting coincidence Farmington Harrison senior quarterback Jared Hopkins wears the same No. 7 on his football jersey as does John Elway of the Denver Broncos.

Just as Elway is noted for orchestrating long scoring drives, Hopkins did the same Friday as the Hawks captured the Class A championship with a 21-6 victory over Midland Dow at the Silverdome.

It was the eighth state title overall for Harrison, which has won four in this decade and three of the last five in Class A.

A 99-yard drive in the second quarter, during which Hopkins completed all four pass attempts, gave Harrison a 14-0 halftime lead and an advantage the Chargers couldn't overcome.

"That was the turning point of the whole game," Dow coach Frank Altimore said. "If we stop them there, we have a chance to come back. But they turn around and mix the pass with the run beautifully."

It wasn't his best game as a passer, nor an easy day for Hopkins, who was pressured early by Dow's defensive ends and was sacked twice in the game.

Hopkins was 6-of-13 passing for a modest 67 net yards, but he threw for 68 yards on that drive, including a 26-yarder to junior wideout Ricky Bryant for the touchdown.

"When we saw how their ends were playing, we went to a quicky passing game," Hopkins said. "We could get off the ball quicker and let guys like Ricky create.

"That made us feel like we were in control of the game. We knew our hearts were in this, and nothing was going to stop us."~

Bryant, who had four catches for 56 yards, caught the ball in the right flat. He dodged one tackler and tightroped the sideline to the end zone with 6:10 remaining in the half.

"It was a quick screen," Hopkins said. "I didn't think it would be a touchdown, but that's what I get for doubting Ricky's talent."

Holding a two-TD lead, the Hawks (13-0) looked to be in good shape. Harrison's defense played well all afternoon, containing Dow's run-oriented offense, and the Chargers (11-2) didn't have the passing attack to mount a comeback.

"For the first time, somebody stopped our offense and put us in a situation where we were down 14," Altimore said. "It was very uncomfortable having to pass when we haven't been forced to do it all year."

Dow quarterback Mike Johnson was 3-of-9 passing for just 32 yards. The rushing stats were virtually even, but the Chargers were never inside the Harrison 15 except for scoring their only touchdown late in the game.

"They had more heart the whole game," Johnson said. "They were ready for us and everything we threw at them. We just got outplayed."

Tailback Matt Samocki rushed for a game-high but rather-quiet 130 yards on 28 carries and scored Dow's only touchdown at 5:47 in the fourth quarter.

"(Coach Bob) Sutter's defense did an outstanding job and held them," Herrington said. "Defense was the key to the game, and we did just enough on offense to get ahead."

The Hawks sandwiched a pair of short touchdown drives around the 99-yarder by taking advantage of Dow turnovers in the process.

Dow's first possession stalled at its own 48. The ball rolled through the legs of punter Phil Brabbs, and Harrison senior tackle Mike Fisher recovered at the Dow 26.

After being three-and-out on its first possession due to the pressure coming from the outside, Harrison ran the ball up the middle seven straight plays with senior tailback Chris Ghannam scoring from the 2.

"All my assistants said 'Run the ball,' so I figured I'd better," Herrington said. "Dow's ends were tough to stop, so we weren't able to throw the ball like we wanted, but we were able to get some nice turnovers and capitalize on them."

The Hawks might've had a couple more scores before halftime except for a great play by Dow defensive end Doug Church and an unsportsmanlike penalty on Harrison.

Senior upback Zack Cornwell, who kicked three extra points, had the ball stripped from behind by Church after he made nearly a 50-yard run.

Senior linebacker Matt Walker's interception gave Harrison the ball at the Dow 37, but the Hawks were unable to get the first down after the penalty pushed them back.

Harrison increased its lead to 21-0 in the third guarter when senior tackle Brian Lewis stole the ball from Dow fullback Jason Spiece at the Dow 13. The Hawks needed just five plays to score again on Cornwell's 1-yard run.

"We had too many mistakes ---the punt, the fumble," Altimore said. "Their defense stymied our offense.

"I told our coaches we had to score three touchdowns today to beat them, and we just weren't able to do that.'

Samockí scored on a 12-vard run. Harrison senior Jason Sharp blocked the extra point, and Dow's last two possession ended with turnovers --- an interception by Cornwell and another fumble recovery by Lewis.

"Coach (Sutter) said that was the first time all year I was running through my tackles," Lewis said. "We worked real hard on our reads. We did a real good job and shut down their threat, which was the running game."

Junior linebacker Mike Hoad and Walker led the Hawks with 10 tackles apiece; Lewis and Fisher made eight stops each, senior outside linebacker Matt. Struble seven. Junior noseguard Bryan McGhee also forced a fumble.

"Their defense was outstanding and their offense was more dominating than I would have liked," Altimore said. "Their down guys and linebackers played great. Their quickness to the ball on defense hurt us.

"I wasn't surprised their wideouts were so quick, but they had great quickness from their running backs. They were able to make the quick cut and get an extra 3 or 4 yards."

The Chargers had 187 total rushing yards, the Hawks 186. Harrison outgained Dow 167-139 in net rushing. Both teams had nine rushing first downs.

Cornwell gained 103 yards on 14 carries, Ghannam 73 on 22. Spiece added 25 on seven attempts for the Chargers.

Harrison had a 234-171 advantage in total yards and the edge in total first downs, 12-11.

Herrington wins 8th state title

BY BRAD EMONS STAFF WRITER

John Herrington has reached the summit among Michigan high school football coaches.

over each other."

Hawks were in attendance Friday afternoon including former

"He's one of the reason why At least 40 to 50 former he'll make me come back again." Herrington said.

And, of course, Herrington All-Staters Mike Bowden, who would feel naked without his assistants.

The Farmington Hills Harrison head coach now shares most state titles won (8) with the late Ron Thompson of Detroit St. Martin DePorres, but he's not about to guit now.

"That's terrific, but I really wanted it so bad for the kids because they're the ones who really deserved it," said Herrington, who has compiled an astounding overall record of 248-54-1 in 28 seasons (all with Harrison), including a 21-6 victory over Midland Dow in the state Class A championship game play Friday before 15,320 fans at the Pontiac Silverdome.

Herrington has taken 16 teams to the playoffs and is-now 8-3 in state championship games.

Two years ago, the Hawks were demolished in the firstround of the playoffs by South Lyon and last year Harrison lost to Grandville, 24-17, in the state championship.

"As a coaching staff, we thought we could get back here with this group," he said. "Our job was don't mess it up."

Herrington remembers his first state final like it was only vesterday. Back in 1976, the Hawks fell to 36-27 to Dow.

"Sometimes I pinch myself because in '76 I didn't know if I'd ever come back and get another chance," he said. "Now it kind of hits you."

Herrington is also a big hit with his players.

"He's the most dedicated and the greatest coach I'll ever play for," Harrison senior quarterback Jared Hopkins said. "As an individual, he's very caring of people. It's his love for the game and his players."

Hopkins has also been one of Herrington's students in Civil War classes where discussions about military manuevers often lead into football strategy.

"Personally for me, he always emphasized the two golden rules of passing - first, don't ever throw a fade out of bounds, and number two, don't ever throw the slant behind him," the Hawk QB said.

Harrison's lead running back all year, senior Chris Ghannam, believes Herrington has the Midas touch.

"He's extremely, extremely talented at getting the most out of coach Herrington, coach (Bob) Sutter, coach (Steve) Dollaway and coach (Jon) Witkowski --break things down so well in played in the first state championship; John Miller, who later starred at Michigan State; and Mill Coleman, the state's alltime passing leader now playing for the Montreal Alouettes.

"We had a few leftovers from the Turkey Bowl yesterday,' Herrington said. "They get together each Thanksgiving to play (touch football). And we had quite a few of the Hawk family come over to the school this morning to wish us well."

What may separate this state championship team from the others, according to Herrington, is the close-knit atmosphere.

During the victory press conference, Herrington got a little choked up.

"I'm happy, but I'm sad, too, because these guys have been like sons, every last one," the Harrison coach said. "We've had not had off-the-field problems. I wanted them to win this as bad as any team I've had. They're so close, even with the many different ethnic groups. They love each other and they're academically sound. It's just a joy to coach because I don't have teachers coming down to my room asking me to take care of a problem.'

So how high can Herrington elimb?

To his immediate right at the podium was junior wide receiver Ricky Bryant, a standout.

"As long as Sutter, Dollaway and Witkowski stay on: I wouldn't coach without them." Herrington said. "I orchestrate, but they do all the work. We're a team. Right now football is my hobby, I really don't do anything else.

"But I suppose there will be a day when I wake up and won't want to coach anymore, I guess, but right now that's not on my mind," he said.

After a much-deserved day off, Herrington and his staff will get together today review the season

"Monday we'll watch fill and then we'll do individual player interviews Tuesday with the returning varsity kids Tuesday and bring in the JV players who want to play next year on Wednesday," said Sutter, Herrington's longtime sidekick and expert line coach. "And we'll probably have some kids coming into the weight room with coach (Bill) Slobin to start working out for next year."

And even though the winter sports season has officially started at Harrison, football will also be on the back of Herrington's mind.

And it doesn't seem the Hawks or their head coach are settling for any kind of plateau.

Herrington's number nine is well within sight.

WINTER DRIVING SAFETY TIPS

The last few articles we featured were informative referencing the importance of automotive repairs and preventive maintenance. Since winter is here, and a little earlier than typical, I feel the need to stress the issues of emergency breakdown.

According to the Federal Emergency Management Agency, the leading cause of death during winter is transportation related accidents. Knowing how to react if stranded or lost on the roads are the keys to safe winter driving.

Everyone driving a vehicle should carry some basic equipment. At a very minimum, an emergency kit should be in your vehicle. This should include a flashlight, flares, reflective triangles, blanket, distress sign, jumper cables and some basic tools. If you and your vehicle should become disabled, please follow these very simple procedures.

 Pull off to the far right lane or shoulder and turn on your hazard lights

• Light flares and/or put the reflective triangles behind your vehicle to warn oncoming traffic.

If you decide to stay with your vehicle, roll up all the windows and lock the doors. If someone approaches your vehicle to offer assistance, talk through the closed window. Simply ask the good Samaritan to call the local police or towing facility for you. Do not get out of your carl

I am sure, all that are reading this have already taken the needed preventive measures in order to make sure your vehicle is road worthy. If not, please consult your local repair facility for more information and guidance to vehicle maintenance schedules. Now is not too late!

Plymouth Salem cast dominates All-Area

BY NEAL ZIPSER STAFF WRITER

If there is such a thing as a "sophomore jinx," Ed McCarthy was never infected by it.

The second-year coach nearly guided Plymouth Salem to a perfect record this season. After going 19-0-3 in their first 22 games, the Rocks season came to an end with a 2-1 loss to Troy Athens in the Class A title game.

But the significant strides by Salem helped earn McCarthy the 1997 All-Area Coach of the Year honor. In his rookie season, McCarthy led the Rocks to a 13-4-2 mark.

McCarthy will be the first person to admit that the play of senior forward Brett Konley made his job much easier. Konley, who scored a league-high 26 goals last season, scored a remarkable 38 goals this season, along with collecting 29 assists (both school records).

Konley, along with Livonia Churchill defender Dave George, were the only repeat members of this year's All-Area first team. The impressive group of performers consists of 10 seniors, and a pair of juniors, as well as a rare sophomore selection (Livonia Stevenson's Tom Eller).

The Rocks weren't the only local team to enjoy success this season as the Observerland and Western Lakes Activities Association were again filled with perhaps the state's best talent.

Stevenson's only blemish in the Lakes Division was a tie to Salem as the Spartans finished 4-1. Livonia Churchill had a perfect 5-0 mark in the Western score 14 goals and collect nine assists. The 5-foot-8 midfielder knows how to use his size to his advantage, according to McCarthy.

Power also helped Salem forget about the graduation of Matt Sarkesian, a twotime All-Area first teamer.

"He lives on his quickness," the Salem coach said. "He's as quick as they come and he did a terrific job running our transition game."

Tom Eller, midfleider, Liv. Stevenson: Eller is the first sophomore to make the All-Area first-team in two years. He proved he deserved to be on the squad by tallying six goals and recording four assists.

The Spartans, who were forced to play without injured defender Steve Roy for most of the season, still finished 4-0-1 in the WLAA Lakes Division, thanks in big part to Eller.

Scott Rich, senior, Garden City: If someone told Scott Rich to 'Break a leg" before his freshman year, he took the words to heart as a broken leg sidelined him most of that year.

Rich excelled when healthy the last three years, finishing his career with 17 goals and 31 assists. Primarily a playmaker his first two seasons, Rich scored 12 goals with 14 assists as a senior, making first team Mega Conference Red Division the last two years.

"He is highly skilled with a great touch on the ball," coach Bill Torni said. "I can't even think about replacing him. He was a playmaker, setting up goals his first three years. We needed him to score this year and he finished for us."

Rich has also excelled on the club level, playing for the Livonia Wings and Northville Sting organizations.

Brad Woehlke, midfielder, Luth. Westland: The senior not only led Lutheran Westland to its best finish ever in the Metro Conference (third place with a 6-2-2 mark), but was also named the league tri-MVP. Woehlke became the first Warrior in seven years to claim the league's MVP honor, and was later named to the all district and all region teams, as well as being the fourth rated player in the region. Woehlke netted 18 goals and collected eight assists while playing superior defense

Division, while North Farmington enjoyed an above .500 record thanks to junior forward Craig Hearn (26 goals). And you can't omit Lutheran Westland, as the Warriors finished third in the Metro Conference — their best finish ever and compiled a 15-5-2 mark.

Here is the 1997 All-Area first team selections.

FIRST-TEAM PICKS

Brett Konley, forward, Ply. Salem: The runner-up for the state's Mr. Soccer honor was again the best player in Observerland. After scoring 26 goals last season, the senior dominated the WLAA by notching 38 goals and 29 assists this year. His 38 goals broke Salem's record of 30 goals, set by Jeff Gold Konley, who was named to the State's Dream Team, scored the winning goal in Salem's regional final victory which sent the Rocks on to the state championships.

"I certainly didn't expect him to have that kind of terrific year, McCarthy said. "There weren't many games he didn't score. He has a terrific shot and is very creative. You won't find anyone who will be able to replace a 38-goal scorer."

In addition to leaving with Salem's season records for goals and assists. Konley will be remembered as scoring the game-winning goal as a sophomore in Salem's state championship game.

Rob Bartoletti, forward, Liv, Churchill: The senior led the Chargers in goals with 24 and led Churchill to a perfect 5-O record in the WLAA Western Division. It was his best year scoring of his three years as a varsity player.

"He has improved each year he's been here," Churchill coach Chad Campeau said. 'He was out go-to guy up front and was a threat to score at all times. He could make the most out of the smallest holes and be able to create something."

Craig Hearn, forward, N. Farmington: This junior recorded a school record 26 goals this season, breaking his own mark of 19 he set last season. Hearn was named to the all-state third team and is only one of three underclassmen on this year's all-area first team,

"He made a big improvement this year and not just in goal scoring," coach Ron Meteyer said. "He was able to bring the other players along with him. Last year he had no assists and this year he had 14. That's a huge improvement.

"He became a playmaker. I told him 'if a good player doesn't bring his teamscore on. Matt Kessler, goalkeeper, Catholic mates along with him, the team doesn't get any recognition and, consequently, you as an individual don't get the proper recognition. If we can highlight the team, you'll be seen in a better light," and he understood that. He was a much rocks. better player overall. "I think he was one of the best two Tim Rais, junior, Farmington: What a goalkeepers in the state," CC coach career Rais has had --- and he still has a year remaining. The forward scored 28 Dana Orsucci said, "He makes smart decisions and knows every inch of his goals this season, bringing his threeyear total to 54 goals. He also recorded net. He's solid and has all the tools a three assists this season. good goalkeeper needs. Andy Power, midfielder, Ply. Salem: "He has unbelievable potential and single-handily won some games for us Power used the same speed and agility he utilizes as Salem's point guard to this season."

"He helped us control the midfield area and anchored that whole section of the field for us." Westland coach Rich Block said. "He will very tough to replace."

Dave George, defender, Liv. Churchill: Other than Konley, this senior was the only repeat member to the All-Area first team. The four-year starter was the leader in the backfield for the Chargers and has played sweeper for the past two years.

"He takes over in the back for us and things run smoothly for us when he's out there," Campeau said. "He's very skilled with the ball and he's excellent in the air. He will be a tough guy for us to replace in the back.

Rob Zdrodowski, defender, Ply. Salem: The senior was the best defender on perhaps the best defensive team in the state.

Zdrodowski led a stingy Salem defense which surrendered only 13 goals in 23 games this season. The Rocks allowed only three goals to be scored in 12 WLAA contests.

"There wasn't a better defender in the league," McCarthy said.

Jared Page, defender, Ply. Canton: It was the first year Page played on defense, but no one could tell. The senior did a fantastic job filling in for Matt Ammons, a first-team defender from Canton in 1996.

"He brought a lot of hustle and determination," Plymouth Canton coach Don Smith said. "He was a real scrapper. He's not real big or strong or a superstar, but he did a heckuva job for us this season."

Mike Skolnik, goalkeeper, Liv. Churchill: It wasn't the fact that Skolnik recorded five shutouts this season. What was impressive was who he blanked: Stevenson, Troy Athens, Ann Arbor Pioneer and in Churchill's first two district games (Wayne Memorial and Westland John Glenn).

"He had a great year as he only gave up a total of 14 goals, compared to 20 last year," Campeau said. "He made some huge saves in big games for us and allowed us to stay in some games. in several of those games, we were able to win.

"He's strong on one-on-one breaks and is very acrobatic. He's very tough to Central: The senior saved his best season for his last as he posted 11 shutouts. This three-year starter used his big 6-foot-3, 180-pound frame to make incredible saves for the Sham-

ROLLER SPEEDSKATING Craven that gold

Trip to Argentina rewarding for Canton student

BY C.J. RISAK SPORTS WRITER

Charlie Craven missed quite a bit of school to travel to Mar Del Plata, Argentina late in October for the World Speed Roller Skating Championships.

But it can definitely be considered a learning experience. Indeed, Craven will certainly go down as a fast learner. Must be, to come away with gold medals in two races and silvers in four others.

Quite a haul for the 16-yearold Plymouth Canton HS junior. And in a competitive atmosphere that was a bit different than what he is used to.

"It was so ... different," Craven said in describing his overall experience, which lasted from Oct. 27 through Nov. 10.

The competition alone took some adjustment. Not that Craven was unfamiliar with the races — it was how they were raced.

On his first day of competition, he was in front in his race when he felt a tug on his shirt. His Colombian adversary "pulled me, then went flying by me.

"It was my first race. I didn't let that happen again."

That tactic cost Craven a gold medal. He finished with a silver. Although the American team arrived five days prior to the start of the championships, to get adjusted to the conditions and climate, there was nothing that could adequately prepare them for that kind of racing.

And yet, none of the other 24

PEOPLE IN SPORTS

teams competing could knock the U.S. team off stride. Top medal honors for men and women, in both the junior and senior divisions, went to the U.S.

Craven did more than his share. He was the top point-scorer among the U.S. junior men.

It wasn't something he was specifically aiming to do, but it was something he knew he was capable of. "I just wanted to do the best I could," he said.

His time in Mar Del Plata was no vacation. The pre-tournament workouts were difficult; then came his nine races, which combined all sorts of different elements.

This wasn't just get on the track, stay in position, then win it with a strong closing burst.

Craven won both his golds in the 5,000-meter races. Skaters earned points for their position on each of the 25 laps. For the first 13 laps, points awarded were 3-2-1 for first, second and third; for the next 11 laps, it was 5-3-1. And for the last lap, points scored counted down from 10 for first to one for 10th.

So crossing the finish line first is hardly a guarantee of victory.

Then there's the 10,000-meter elimination races (both on the road and track), in which Craven got silvers. At certain times in the race, the slowest skaters are eliminated — which means one must stay near the front the entire time.

What race was the toughest for Craven? It might well have been the half-marathon, a through-the-streets skate that was on all sorts of surfaces, including cobblestone which "left my feet numb." He placed 10th. Factor in all the physical contact, something officials allowed, and it becomes clear this was no skate through the park.

Other silver finishes for Craven came in the 5,000-meter relay and in the 1,500-meter time trial, in which he raced as part of a team of three.

His world-championship performance capped a year marked by improvement. Craven was second in the Professional Inline Racing Series, which consisted of seven races around the country.

"I started slow at the beginning of the year and improved like big-time," he said, crediting his time spent at the Olympic Training Center last summer as well as his coaches, Robb Dunn and Jay Ingrum.

As far as relishing his accomplishments, Craven hasn't the time or desire to do so. "I just keep on setting new goals," he said. "At the Worlds, I was already thinking about next year. I just want to get better."

Craven has one more year of eligibility in the men's junior division; however, he could qualify for the senior men's, a challenge he is contemplating.

It would be a big step up, with even more to digest, but as Craven has already proven he's a fast learner.

Top skater: Plymouth Canton High student Charlie Craven goes to the victory stand in the World Roller Speedskating Championships in Mar Del Plata, Argentina.

WHALERS ADD RUSSIAN

In an effort bolster their defense, the Plymouth Whalers of the Ontario Hockey League resigned defenseman Sergei Fedotov.

A 1995 second-round draft pick of the Carolina Hurricanes, Fedotov rejoins Plymouth after playing five games for the New Haven Beast of the American Hockey League. The 20-year-old, 6-foot 1-inch, 190-pound native of Moscow, Russia, recorded 10 goals and 27 assists for the Whalers last season.

•Joe Thumbal, of Rochester Hills, shot a doe with his bow and arrow and took a 5-point buck on Nov. 16 with his 12 ga. shotgun. Thumbal took both deer while hunting private land in Oakland County.

•Seventy-year-old Virgil Thill traveled "north of the Big Mac" for the start of the firearms deer season as he has for most of his watched as a group of hunters

Firearms deer season ends life. The trip to St. Ignace paid dividends this year as the Farmington Hills resident tagged a buck around 9 a.m. on opening day.

"I saw a huge buck and a doe but I couldn't get them in my scope because it was so thick," explained Thill, who grew up around Fayette at the west end of the Upper Peninsula. "Then I noticed a smaller buck behind them and he stepped out and I got him."

That "smaller buck" turned out to be a 9-point with a 16inch spread and nine-inch brow tines. The buck dressed out at 160 pounds.

"I like to hunt the old fashioned way," explained Thill. "I don't use bait and I don't use a blind and it has worked pretty well. I've got three deer in the last three years."

•Redford's Kevin Veith enjoyed a fantastic hunting season and was able to tag a pair of °bucks. On Oct. 13 Veith shot a spike with his bow and arrow. On opening day of the firearms season Veith dropped a 3-point buck. Both were taken in Crawford County.

•On Nov. 15th Mike Kafila broke a 13-year drought. The Canton resident shot his first buck since 1985. Hunting state land in Hillsdale County, Kafila

"They got the 12-point and I got a 7-point," explained Kafila.

Kafila's 7-point was a dandy buck. The antlers featured a 15inch spread and the buck dressed out at 180 pounds

•Last month a group of Oxford Lions went on a pheasant hunt_/spring count and 89 species in at the Harsen's Island Hunt Club. Bob Collins, Ed Spinazzola, Carl Szoff, Jim Klauza, Stan Sala and Mike Sauer combined to drop 29 birds.

Clay target champs

Wings & Clays hosted the 1997 A 1-Around Clay Target Championships earlier this month at the Bald Mountain Gun Range in Lake Orion.

Clarkston's Gerald Perzyk won the Top Gun Trap, Jim Siudara of Metamora won Top Gun Five Stand, Jim Beckman of Owosso won Top Gun All-Around and Sporting Clays, and Hank. Jensen of Naples, Florida won the Top Gun Skeet.

Volunteers honored

A number of area residents were recently honored for their volunteer work at Kensington Metropark near Milford.

•Dave and Kathy Renwick and their nine-year-old daughter Bridgett made volunteering a family affair. The Walled Lake jumped two big bucks out of a family helped the park naturalist conduct a number of programs throughout the year.

• Southfield's Georgia Reid, an avid birder, has been a leader in the park's three annual bird counts since 1978. This year Reid and others helped spot 97 bird species in the park for the the fall count.

• Canton's Roland Brege donated pictures he took at the Farm Center, providing a valuable pictorial history of the facili-

NOTES

NOWICKI

Now that the association is sponsored by Budweiser "King of Beers," the prize money is greater and the level of competition is at an all-time high as there are now 535 members consisting of the best bowlers in the state of Michigan.

The leadership of executive secretary and tournament director Ken Charrette has a lot to do

Snow of Farmington Hills who set a new nine game qualifying TEN-PIN record for this event with 2,232 ALLEY and that is averaging 248; 2. Lonnie Jones of Detroit, 2,218; 3. Val Sherlock of Flint, 2,187; 4. Rick Eiermann of Garden City. 2,170; 5. Jon Putti of Roseville, 2,166; 6. Todd Subka of Grand Haven, 2,158.

The next six included: 7. Larry Walker of Garden City, 2,154; 8. Chris Sand of Roseville, 2,149; 9. Mark Applegate of Dorr, 2,145; 10. Bill Froberg of Baroda, 2,143; 12. Arnie Goldman of Plymouth, 2,126.

There were two 300 games in the qualifying round rolled by Bob Wiszowaty and Chuck Morris.

Eiermann posted a 299 game and celebrated his 44th birthday during the finals on Sunday by qualifying for the 5th spot in the TV finals.

However, we must backtrack a few hours to the evening of the banquet at Hawthorne Valley.

For it was there that he received the ultimate honor, being inducted into the Micihigan Majors Bowling Association

If Sand had carried the seven, he might have won.

Walker started with the first four strikes, then left the door wide open with a split in the fifth frame. Sand was unable to take advantage of the break, and Walker ran up the next four strikes in a row which proved to be decisive.

Eiermann was eliminated in the first match by Jones 238-208, then Walker defeated Jones, 238-225, and crushed Goldman 254-187.

This was the second championship win for Walker.

•While the MMBA has celebrated 30 years, the Metro Bowling Tour has just begun.

The November event was held at Cherry Hill North Lanes in Clarkston on Nov. 16.

The big difference in the two tournament organizations, the Metro Tour is an 80 percent handicap event.

Quite often, a lower average bowler can compete very competitively.

Shawn Furman of Waterford took first by defeating Michael Rose of Pontiac 204-180, his second victory on the MBT.

In the opening match, Bruce MacDonald of Clarkston defeated James Robertson of Waterford, 223-155.

The second match featured MacDonald disposing of Brett Tieman of Waterford. Tieman then was defeated by Rose in a low scoring match 165-140.

For information or entry forms for the next event is Saturday, Dec. 27 at Lakewood Lanes in Waterford. For more information, call Roy Akers at (248) 673-7407.

Honor roll to appear Dec. 7.

Older adults are those individuals that guide the young birds to their over wintering site. Not only do they show the young birds where to go and how to get there, they are also strong flyers.

Generally, an older bird is the first bird in the traditional V formation of geese flying during migration. Their strength allows them to cut through the air and provide uplifting currents to make it easier for those flying behind them.

Crows in the neighborhood are also members of the same family.

Young from the summer will stay with their adults until spring.

Most adult birds would exclude their young from the family unit in spring when nesting starts, but adult crows actually enlist the help of their one year old offspring to help raise the new nestlings.

This is in sharp contrast to the white-tailed deer.
