Mayor responds: 'I'm in charge'

Seven months into his third consecutive four-year term, Mayor Robert Thomas responded to mounting criticism that he is shirking his duties as mayor. Thomas fired back Thursday at critics.

Mayor Robert Thomas fired back Thursday at critics who accuse him of spending too much time away from Westland, saying they are trying to tarnish his image and hurt him politically.

"I'm in charge of the city just like I have been for the last eight years," Thomas, in his ninth year as mayor, said during a telephone interview. Thomas also rejected allegations that his longtime girlfriend and new wife, city Purchasing Agent Jill Thomas, travels too often with him while neglecting her job.

"She is on the job full-time," he said. "I think she's doing a fine job."

Seven months into his third consecutive four-year term, the 47-year-old mayor responded to mounting criticism that he is shirking his duties as mayor. He has come under fire from Westland City Council members Glenn Anderson, Richard LeBlanc and Charles Pickering, and some residents also are complaining about his out-of-town travels.

The mayor addressed the issue after he and Jill Thomas returned Monday from a five-day camping vacation at a lake on the Kentucky-Tennessee border. They did not go to the Carolinas, as an administration official had earlier indicated.

The trip coincided with the Westland Summer Festival and its kickoff parade, and some critics said the mayor should have been involved. "While it is a big event for the city and a great event for the city, I don't think it's the most important thing for me to be in the parade," Thomas said.

He said he receives "hundreds of requests" each year to attend events, "and I can't go to them all."

Anderson called the mayor's absence a "slap in the face" to city residents and parade volunteers.

Thomas has drawn criticism for missing two opportunities this year to welcome Gov. John Engler to Westland. Engler was in the July 1 parade - a move Thomas viewed as political.

"It's an election year, and he's a

4 teens get 1-year jail terms in beatings

Four Garden City teenagers Thursday received one-year jail terms for severely beating two Westland men last October in Hines Park.

The teens, who also received five-year probation terms, include David Ryan Kozakowski and Brian Alan Wiatr, both 18, and James Thomas Domagalski Jr. and Christopher Toten, both 17.

The sentences, handed down by Wayne County Circuit Judge Timothy

Kenny, came after the teenagers in early June pleaded no contest to reduced charges of assault with intent to do great bodily harm.

Their pleas stemmed from a 3:30 a.m. Oct. 4 assault that occurred when a bonfire party turned sour following an earlier exchange of words at the bonfire party.

HINES PARK BEATINGS

Police said the teenagers used bonfire logs and beer bottles to beat Robert Sumey, 20, and his friend Kevin Baker, 19, as the two men walked along a dark, wooded path leading from the park to a dead-end residential street near Warren and Inkster.

Sumey suffered a weeklong coma and still has occasional seizures due to head injuries inflicted on him, Westland police Sgt. Jon Handzlik has said.

With their no-contest pleas, the four teenagers avoided trial on higher charges of assault with intent to murder, which carries a maximum penalty of life in prison.

A fifth teen, Kyle Anders Tingstad, faces sentencing this Thursday after pleading no contest to aggravated

Blood drive to honor local teen's memory

Friends of a Westland teenager who died in a Dec. 18 car accident will honor him Monday by helping the American Red Cross combat a critical shortage in southeast Michigan's blood supply.

Friends of John Robert Lee Anusavage, a popular John Glenn High School track team member who died at age 17, helped organize a blood drive scheduled for 2-8 p.m. Monday at the VFW Harris-Kehrer Post 3323 on Wayne

Road south of Cherry Hill. "I would rather have him with me, but this is a major tribute to my son," parent Robert Anusavage said Friday. "He gave blood on several different occasions."

Coordinator Mandy Long and other former classmates of Anusavage decided to honor their friend by helping the American Red Cross, donor representative Diane Risko said.

"There's an emergency appeal right now," she said. "There's not even a one-day supply in the southeast Michigan area."

"We're hoping to get a good part of the community involved," Risko said. "Every pint of blood helps save three lives."

She said some cancer patients, in particular, suffer during blood shortages.

"They're living on our blood," she said.

Anusavage, an 11th-grade track team member who also played football in 10th grade, died early Dec. 18 after finishing a night of work at Toarmina's Pizza in Westland.

(The pizzeria on Wayne Road will provide free ice cream, to Monday's donors, Risko said.)

On his way home from work, Anusavage lost control of his 1989 Mer-

Christmas in July Benefit gets in holiday spirit

It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas. For the Westland Community Foundation - that is. The foundation's annual Christmas in July fundraiser is planned for 6 p.m. Thursday, July 23, at the Hellenic Cultural Center, 36375 Joy Road west of Wayne Road in Westland.

This year's party, which features a Christmas theme, will also include the awarding of the foundation's scholarships. The foundation will be awarding nine $1,000 scholarships and four $500 scholarships - all to Westland students, according to Glenn Shaw, president and founder of the foundation.

The scholarships honor students who are interested in and did well in vocational training, Shaw said.

This year the recipients include students interested in physical therapy, environmentalism, emergency medical technician training and animation.

The scholarships have been geared toward vocational students because of a lack of aid of this kind.

Let's dance

Swing time: Above, Russelle Sturtevant and Jim Dignan of D & J Entertainment from Livonia take to the dance floor to the song "Deep Purple" during the "June Swing" at Marquette House in Westland recently. Jim and Diane Dignan provided 20, 30, 40's music for retirement homes. At right, Antoinette (Tony) Broadbent of Detroit enjoys the music. Marquette House has other events coming up this month, including a Just For Kicks Dancers performance 7 p.m. Tuesday, July 14. The event will benefit Matthew J. Anderson, a boy who is battling to overcome a brain tumor. A Iso, on Tuesday, July 21, state Sen. Loren Bennett, who is seeking re-election in the 8th District, will speak 7-9 p.m. at Marquette House, 36000 Campus Drive (off Marquette Road).

WESTLAND ACHIEVERS

Julie P. White of Westland was recently inducted into the Albion College chapter of Mortar Board. A national honor society, Mortar Board was established at Albion in 1941 to honor women who have been outstanding in scholarship, leadership and service. In 1976, the Albion chapter voted to open membership to both women and men. White is a senior majoring in biology. She is the daughter of James and Patricia White of Westland and is a graduate of Churchill High School. Albion is a private liberal arts college in Albion.

Bryce A. Loughlin has been named to the dean's list at Albion College for the spring 1998 semester. Loughlin, who will be a sophomore at Albion, is the son of David and Andrea Loughlin of Westland and a graduate of John Glenn High School. To be named to the dean's list students must achieve a grade-point average of 3.5 or above at the completion of the semester.

Angela Y. Boucher-Notturmo and John Paronish of Westland have been named to the academic honors list at Owens Community College in Ohio for the spring 1998 semester. Students must achieve at least a 3.5 grade point average to be eligible for academic honors. Boucher-Notturmo is working on a basic supervision certificate and Paronish is working on a computer numerical control certificate.

Jennifer M. Westenberg of Westland recently graduated from John Carroll University, a Jesuit university in suburban Cleveland, Ohio.

The following Westland students have been named to the dean's list of Concordia College in Ann Arbor for achieving a grade point average of 3.5 or above for one semester of the 1997-98 school year: Maria Buisson-Sullivan, a recent graduate, for the fall semester and Janet Stecher, post bachelor's degree work, for the winter semester. Elizabeth Handzlik of Westland has been named to the dean's list at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor after completing her second year. She is currently working at Westland Convalescent Center and will begin her third year at U-M in the fall. She is a 1996 graduate of John Glenn High School and is the daughter of Jon and Lynne Handzlik of Westland.

Several Westland residents have earned scholarships at Lawrence Technological University: Alan Kulifay of Westland has earned a Buell Honor Scholarship; Chris Biggs of Westland has earned a Lawrence Tech Scholarship and Brian Miller of Westland has earned a Lawrence Tech Scholarship.

Cheryl Marie Faber of Westland, a student at Middle Tennessee State University, has been selected as a campus leader and will be included in the 1998 Who's Who Among Students in American Universities & Colleges. She is the daughter of Pamela Blanchard. She was selected for the book based on criteria such as her academic activities.

Ronald L. Schomer, a sophomore at Northwood University in Midland, has been named to the dean's list for the spring term. He is the son of Ronald Schomer of Westland.

Angelina Grubb, the daughter of Larry and Susan Grubb of Westland and a student at Wayne Memorial, was among the gifted students at Adrian College during the Michigan State Board of Education Summer Institute for the Arts, Sciences and Technology. She studied environmental chemistry during the program called SEEKS - Sustaining the Environment through Education, Knowledge and Skills. She is active in band, Students Against Driving Drunk, philosophy club and German club at Wayne Memorial.

Hickey considers candidacy in 13th District an honor

Being asked to run for the U.S. Congress is "a unique honor," said Plymouth's Tom Hickey.

Hickey said he hesitated to tell his wife the day he was asked to run against U.S. Rep. Lynn Rivers.

Urging him to run were Washtenaw County Republican Chairwoman Karen Valvo and Joe Fitzsimmons, who ran against Rivers two years ago.

"My reaction to that was I'm a family man with my own business, I didn't think there was any way I could do this," said Hickey, 42.

But after a sleepless night, he talked to wife Kimberly: "She looked at me and said 'You have to do this.'"

Hickey, a former president of the Plymouth Republican Club, current precinct delegate and Wayne 13th District Republican chairman, said he sees participation in politics as a form of community service.

So when someone asks you to serve, "One has to step up to the plate. You are compelled," he said. "If you're going to complain, you better get involved in the process to make things better."

While much of political involvement means running telephone banks or distributing literature, Hickey said, "I've always tried to make it fun."

"You meet some wonderful people along the way. The spirit and camaraderie that is developed is almost fraternal."

Born in Dearborn Heights and raised in the Union Lake area, Hickey has also lived in Ann Arbor and Canton before moving to Plymouth seven years ago.

Hickey said he and his wife both share a "spirit of involvement." She serves on the Plymouth District Library board and last fall was elected president of the Michigan Nurses Association.

The couple has two sons, Kevin, 8 and Sean, 2. Hickey's Canton company Mediquest sells medical products.

"I am seeking the 13th Congressional District seat, I'm not running against Lynn Rivers," said Hickey.

Rivers, D-Ann Arbor, recently won about $5 million in federal funding for a railroad underpass on Sheldon Road. Asked how he'll be able to run against someone able to bring home that sort of local project, Hickey responded, "I think things like railroad crossings are nice, but that's not the key issue."

"There is some contrast between my opponent and myself. Voters will have a choice in this election," he said.

Hickey said he and Rivers differ on education: "I believe very strongly that education needs to be a locally controlled entity, that parents should have the ability to choose and direct their education instead of a federal bureaucracy."

He identifies other key issues in the campaign as crime and drugs. He said that while drug abuse declined in the 1980s, "There is now a dramatic shift upwards."

To deal with the drug problem, "You have to be assertive, you have to find creative approaches," Hickey said. "You need to control the source, cut the demand and increase accountability for those who sell drugs, especially to minors."

He criticized Rivers for suggesting "feel-good" solutions for crime such as midnight basketball. "These are some of the issues voters have to take a strong look at," he said.

"We need somebody that can introduce legislation, not just vote," Hickey said.

Health care is also a key campaign issue for Hickey, who said that while national health care was rejected in the early 1990s, the issue has been returning: "We need to stop that trend. We need to give the consumer some opportunity to make choices."

Of other interests, Hickey has been a member of the Fred Hill Briefcase Drill Team for three years.

He said the Red Wings second victory parade, in which the drill team marched, "was a terrific event. The fan appreciation was phenomenal."

Hickey said he plans to raise $800,000 to finance the campaign.

Lifer law

Local lawmakers split over modifications

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

No longer does Michigan's '650 drug lifer' law mean 'death in prison,' but it still will be tough for inmates convicted of carrying 650 grams of heroin or cocaine to get out.

For 20 years, Michiganders have either boasted about or deplored the harshest drug penalty in the nation: mandatory life in prison with no hope of parole for those caught with 650 grams (2.2 pounds) of a controlled substance.

The Legislature modified the law in the closing hours of its July 2 session and sent it to Gov. John Engler for signing.

"There is nothing 'soft' about a penalty that is still more severe than that for second-degree murder," said Laura Sager, director of Families Against Mandatory Minimums. F.A.M.M. argued that instead of putting drug 'kingpins' out of circulation forever, the law was harshly penalizing young, naive 'mules' of the trade. More than 200 are currently serving life terms.

The new law will say:
■ The penalty is 20 years to life, at the judge's discretion.

■ Current convicts are eligible for parole after 15 years if they have cooperated with the prosecutor.

■ Current lifers with no other convictions for serious crimes are eligible for parole after 17 years, six months; 20 years if they have been repeat offenders.

■ The parole board must consider whether the convict played a key role in the trade, whether the offense involved children, 17 or younger, or committed the offense in a drug-free school zone.

Urging modification of the 650-lifer law were ex-Rep. Paul Rosenbaum, D-Battle Creek, who sponsored it, and ex-Gov. William G. Milliken, who signed it.

The final version was tougher than a House amendment offered by Rep. Barbara Dobb, R-Union Lake, but milder than the police-oriented bill preferred by Sen. William Van Regenmorter, R-Jenison.

The Senate passed the main measure 26-9 with two not voting. Here is how area senators voted:

YES - Alma Smith, D-Salem, Bob Geake, R-Northville.

NO - Loren Bennett, R-Canton, Mike Bouchard, R-Birmingham, Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, Mike Rogers, R-Brighton, George Z. Hart, D-DeARBORN.

Sen. Michael Bouchard, joined by the other dissenters, placed a formal protest in the Senate Journal, saying the reductions 'are not called for... I don't believe first-time offenders, which is the misnomer that has been applied to some of these individuals, are given that amount of drugs any first time. I think the correct label would be 'first-time convicted.'

Michigan again is trying to make assisting a suicide illegal, an attempt to halt the work of retired West Bloomfield pathologist Dr. Jack Kevorkian. When signed by the governor, Senate Bill 200 would take effect Sept. 1.

The Senate vote was 29-5 with three not voting. Here is how area senators voted:

YES - Republican Loren Bennett of Canton and Democrat George Z. Hart of Dearborn.

NO - Democrat Alma Smith of Salem.

ABSENT - Bob Geake, R-Northville.

"This issue will be on the ballot in fall, and the people will finally have an opportunity to express their opinions one way or another," said Democrat Gary Peters, referring to the proposal of Merian's Friends to regulate assisted suicide. If approved by voters, the Merian's Friends plan would supersede SB 200.

The House vote was 59-41.

YES - Bob Brown, D-DeARBORN Heights, Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, Tom Kelly, D-Wayne, Deborah Whyman, R-Canton. NO - Eileen DeHart, D-Westland.

ABSENT - Lyn Bankes, R-Redford.

A 1992 law sponsored by then-Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, expired after four years. No jury has ever convicted Kevorkian.

The Legislature agreed on bills to:

■ Encourage organ donation by making it easier. Three bills signed by Gov. Engler give the Secretary of State responsibility to provide donor registry enrollment cards and information with all driver's license and personal ID card transactions. Michigan ranks 45th among the states in per-capita organ donations. Among the sponsors were Sen. John Schwarz, R-Battle Creek, and Lingg Brewer, D-Holt.

■ Raise penalties for possession of biological weapons and explosives. Engler signed bills sponsored by Democratic Sens. Gary Peters of Bloomfield Township and Dianne Byrum of Onondaga and Rep. Mark

Struggling Students Show Change And Progress

Your child barely survived school last year. With a short attention span, he is easily distracted, and can't sit still. He avoids reading. He can't remember his spelling words or his times tables.

Summer was a needed break, but you're very concerned about school next year.

You are not alone.

Dr. John Jacobi, a specialist in children's vision and learning problems, works with many children with these symptoms. "I have found many, many children with learning problems have an undiagnosed vision problem," Dr. Jacobi shares with parents. "Basic eye exams and school screenings miss many of these kids. Finding the causes of the learning struggle is the first step."

"I often find that A.D.D. kids can't focus, get headaches, and even have double vision. They have so much at risk."

"For years we have spun our wheels trying to find an answer, and now we are really seeing results," comments one parent. Another mother adds, "Thank you!" because her son is OFF Ritalin. "He has made major gains. He does not put such effort in his writing. This gives him the ability to concentrate. He is receiving A's or B's, which he never did!"

The staff at Dr. Jacobi's office see case after case of children who go from failing to success. They offer full vision and visual processing testing to determine if your child has all of his vision skills, not just 20/20.

They can be reached at (734) 625-8170. It may be just the answer you've been looking for.

One patient says it all: "It will help me for the rest of my life. I will be able to achieve without getting frustrated and fatigued. I had no idea it was because of my eyes. I thought I just wasn't capable."

Symptoms to Alert Parents

- short attention span, easily distracted, can't sit still
- avoids reading
- works slowly, then brings work home to do
- can't remember spelling words or multiplication tables
- headaches, and tilts head to study
- letter reversals
- poor handwriting (but may draw detailed pictures)

Invest in Michigan

The Michigan Equity Growth Trust

Robert W. Baird & Co. Incorporated has created a unit investment trust that will invest in a diversified portfolio of between 21 common stocks of companies incorporated, headquartered or with a strong presence in the state of Michigan. These are well managed, growing companies you read about regularly in your local business pages, and where you and your families and friends work.

An Investment Opportunity

Baird analysts believe that economic growth in the state of Michigan should continue its upward trend. A portfolio of Michigan companies has the potential to provide capital appreciation potential to the extent the companies in the portfolio continue to grow.

Employees of the companies represented in the trust's portfolio which are listed below, will be able to purchase units of the trust at the public offering price, less the applicable upfront sales charge, during the initial offering period.

Schauer of Battle Creek. Simple violation (intent but no harm) would call for 15 years in prison and a $10,000 fine. The scale would rise to life without parole for violation resulting in death. Twenty years would be added to the sentence if there were a "vulnerable" target such as schools, churches, hospitals or other public buildings.

No action. With the House controlled 58-52 by Democrats and the Senate 22-15 by Republicans, it was inevitable there would be a lot of posturing - passing bills in one chamber that didn't stand a chance in the other. Among the casualties:

 ■ Tax cuts - Senate Republicans wanted income tax rate cuts two years down the road; House Republicans favored immediate income tax cuts; House Democrats sent over targeted tax cuts for favored groups. None passed both chambers. Everyone agrees tax cuts are a campaign issue.
 ■ Supermajority - Gov. John Engler and most Senate Republicans favored an amendment to the Michigan Constitution requiring tax hikes to need 60 percent approval of the Legislature. The Senate GOP was unable to get two-thirds support to put an amendment on the ballot. Instead, it passed four bills that the House Tax Policy Committee intends to neglect to death. Senate GOP leaders say they're hopeful for the two-week session beginning Sept. 15.

 ■ Student assaults - Two conference committees were unable to agree on House Bill 5424 and Senate Bill 313 aimed at punishing student assaults. SB 313 would have required automatic, 180-day expulsion of assaultive youth. Democrats wanted alternative programs in place before kicking kids out. Republicans accused Democrats of "coddling violent youths."
 ■ Court merger - The Senate approved a constitutional amendment ballot proposal to merge circuit and probate courts. The measure died in the House Judiciary Committee. It's too late to place it on the ballot for 1998.

 ■ Revenue sharing - The Senate worked on changing the formula to favor "growth" areas and give less to high-tax cities, but nothing was passed.
 ■ Interstate waste - The Senate passed SB 4 and 5 to restrict the importation into Michigan of out-of-state wastes and penalize "midnight dumping," but a disappointed sponsor, Sen. Loren Bennett, R-Canton, reported no House action.

were recovered in a raid on a drug dealer's home. Finally, for those who say drugs are a non-violent crime, the Department of Justice concludes that about 70 to 75 percent of all crimes are related, either directly or indirectly, to drugs.
 Rogers further asked that his name be removed as a sponsor of the bill. The House vote to concur was 66-31.
 Here is how Observer area lawmakers voted:
 YES - Tom Kelly, D-Wayne, Eileen DeHart, D-Westland.
 NO - Bob Brown, D-Deborn Heights, Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, Deborah Whyman, R-Canton.
 ABSENT - Lyn Bankes, R-Redford.
 In a news conference in Southfield, Republican senators said they had done a good job in rewriting state sentencing laws. "It's one of the most important things we've done this session," said majority leader Dick Posthumus, R-Alto.

"There will be some truth in sentencing," said Mike Bouchard, R-Birmingham. "What does 4-10 years in prison mean if they're out in 2 1/2? I arrested a home invasion and armed robbery suspect who got 6-20 years (as a sentence) and was out in four," said the former police officer.
 "Generally, the new law increases penalties for the more serious crimes. The intent is to keep violent offenders behind bars. There has been a reduction in crime with swift, certain, predictable punishment. The longer you keep them behind bars, the less time they have to commit crime."
 It wasn't the first time the state had tried to stiffen the meaning of judges' sentences. In 1978, Oakland's then-prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson led a petition drive to prohibit parole for violent crimes until the court-imposed minimum sentence was served.
 Voters said yes, 2.1 million to 711,000 - a 3-1 margin.

Hospice offers camp for grieving children

Community Hospice and Home Care Services of Westland and Plymouth has joined forces again with Hospices of Henry Ford Health System in offering the fifth annual Camp Phoenix Weekend Aug. 21-23.
 "Camp Phoenix is designed to facilitate a healthy grieving process for children 5-17 who have experienced a significant loss due to death within the past 24 months," said Kathleen Dattolo, Community Hospice director of social work.
 The partnership between Community Hospice and Henry Ford "enhanced an already wonderful program," said Peggy Nielsen, who manages the Henry Ford "SandCastles" Children's Bereavement Program for Hospices of Henry Ford.
 The staff running the weekend consists of trained volunteers, social workers, counselors and child life specialists. Parents/guardians attend an informational meeting about camp and are invited to a family picnic on Sunday as they pick up their children.

 The three-day camping trip will be held at Camp Tamarack in Ortonville. Activities will include group interactions, art, music and play activities. Children are assigned to small, age-specific groups to encourage the sharing of feelings, with the ultimate goal of camp being to develop coping strategies for dealing with grief.
 Because of the support of the Women's Committee for Hospice Care, the camp, including lodging and meals, is free. However, a $20 registration fee is due at the time of application. Scholarships are available.
 For more information, visit Community Hospice's Westland office at 32932 Warren Road, suite 100, or call (734) 522-4244. "Giving the children an opportunity to be with their peers helps normalize the grief experience," said Jean Butrico Cooper, child life specialist at Hospices of Henry Ford Health System.

 Community Hospice Executive Director Maureen Butrico knows how these children feel first hand.
 "I lost my father at a very young age, which taught me the importance of being able to express grief and to be with other children who had suffered a similar loss and understood how I felt."

WORKERS DENIED OVERTIME LAWSUIT

Past and present non-union employees of Ameritech are invited to call to discuss their legal rights in a pending, national class action lawsuit filed against Ameritech on May 29, 1998 in Wayne County Circuit Court for alleged violations of the Fair Labor Standards Act, to-wit: failing to pay overtime.

The Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C. Sec. 207, requires most employers to pay employees time and a half for each hour worked over 40 hours per week. Ameritech and other major employers have failed to pay overtime. This class action lawsuit has been filed to recover lost overtime for the thousands of employees who have been short-changed.

Non-union individuals who worked for Ameritech and other companies between 1994 and the present and, who did not receive pay for hours worked in excess of 40 hours per week, may call or submit a letter with their name, address and telephone number to:

Dentistry in the 90s
 by Herbert M. Gardner, D.D.S.

TOOTH BLEACHING

The dentist can offer significant advantages to patients who elect to have their teeth bleached professionally, rather than use over-the-counter bleaching products. The dentist uses bleaching agents that are significantly stronger than the ones available in a drugstore. Furthermore, unlike the ill-fitting mouth trays that hold the bleaches close to teeth to prevent excessive amounts of peroxide gel from coming in contact with delicate gum tissue. Dentists also monitor the bleaching process for safety and effectiveness to ensure that patients meet their goals of eliminating stains and discoloration. All this can be accomplished in up to six power bleaching sessions or about four weeks of passive bleaching at home.

Are you a candidate for cosmetic dentistry? At LIVONIA VILLAGE DENTAL ASSOCIATES, we provide quality, comprehensive dental care for the entire family. Preventing dental disease is less costly and more rewarding than correcting the problems after they occur. We're located at 19171 Merriman Road, where we're always happy to discuss improving your smile, and thus, your total feeling of self-esteem. We're currently accepting new patients - call 478-2110 to schedule an appointment. Smiles are our business.

P.S. While yellow or light-brown teeth usually bleach easily, gray teeth caused by antibiotic use at an early age do not.

Sun Protection is Critical to Prevent Skin Cancer

By: Thomas Waldinger, M.D.

Skin cancer is the most common form of cancer in the United States, with approximately one million new cases diagnosed each year. The three most common forms of skin cancer are basal cell carcinoma, squamous cell carcinoma and melanoma. One in five Americans will develop some form of skin cancer over their lifetime.

The early detection of skin cancer is extremely important in improving the survival rate. Basal cell carcinoma and squamous cell carcinoma have a 95 percent cure rate if detected and treated early.

Exposure to the sun is a critical factor in determining a person's risk for skin cancer. Sun protection tips include:

- Apply sunscreen thirty minutes before sun exposure.
- Anyone over six months of age should use a broad-spectrum sun screen with a sun protection factor (SPF) of 15 or higher.
- Wear protective clothing, wide brimmed hats and UV protective sunglasses.
- Avoid the sun between 10 am to 4 pm when the sun's rays are the strongest.
- Melanoma accounts for only four percent of skin cancers, but causes six out of seven skin cancer deaths. The incidence of melanoma is rising faster than any other malignancy. The ABCDs of detection is a method to evaluate a mole for the presence of melanoma: Asymmetry, irregular Border, irregular Color, and large Diameter.
- Sun protection is the most important preventable cause of melanoma. The early detection of melanoma dramatically improves the cure rate. Enjoy the Michigan summer with sun protection.

Thomas Waldinger, M.D. is a board certified dermatologist, a fellow of the American Academy of Dermatology, and was elected to the Best Doctors in America - Mid-West Region. He maintains a private practice in Dearborn with a special interest in skin cancer and geriatric dermatology.

Veg-out with salads fresh off the grill

I can't speak for all chefs and cooks, but for myself, once I leave my kitchen for the day, often after having worked in heat that registers in, and over, the 90°F mark, the last place you will find me at home is in the kitchen.

Over the past decade I have joined the ranks of millions of Americans as our backyard Weber Warrior of sorts.

My prerequisites for summer dinner menus are cold food: the more fresh summer produce the better, and if it can't be cooked on the grill, it won't be cooked at all. I have become a fan of entree summer salads.

Nutritionally speaking, greens could be your best friend in the fridge. Fresh greens of most varieties are loaded with vitamins including C, E and A, which are loaded with mega antioxidants and soluble fiber, linked to lowering bad cholesterol. Greens are so low in calories that you can munch to your heart's desire without fear of weight gain.

There are no set rules for grilled salads, but I'll give you a few ideas and guidelines to help you on your way.

Rules

The first rule is there are no rules. Be creative and experiment with a variety of vegetables, marinades and dressings.

■ Although some greens do well on the grill like radicchio, endive and bok choy, most greens and herbs can't take the heat.

■ Root veggies should be grated or sliced 1/8 to 1/2-inch thick. Use a lower heat and longer cooking time.

■ Add a smooch of olive oil, a sprinkle of kosher salt, and freshly ground pepper to your prepared vegetables to add flavor, prevent them from drying out and sticking to the grill.

■ All vegetables cook a little differently. Keep a close eye on them, keep moving them around the grill, turning often to prevent them from burning. You want your vegetables to be crisp on the outside, tender on the inside.

■ Experiment with vinaigrettes and marinades especially with larger items such as portabella mushrooms. Balsamic vinegar works well with portabella mushrooms and root vegetables.

■ Think of wood as a spice as well as a fuel; apple, oak and mesquite are just a few suggestions.

■ Grill tomatoes and peppers whole.

■ Cut most squashes and eggplant 1/8-inch thick to grill.

Tips for success

Tips for grilling success from "Fine Cooking," magazine (Sept. 1997)

■ Short grilling - Salad ingredients, including asparagus, beans, bell pepper slices, bok choy, leeks, sugar snap peas, summer squash, tomatoes and zucchini. Time window: 5-8 minutes over medium coals.

■ Medium grilling - Salad ingredients include cabbage wedges, eggplant slices, endive, large mushrooms, and onion slices. Time window: 13-20

FOOD FOR SPORT

Get moving for your health

BY PEGGY MARTINELLI-EVERTS
SPECIAL WRITER

It is important to take responsibility for your health by participating in physical activities. Along with being physically active, you need to eat responsibly, as well. An evening walker, a weekend golfer and a marathon runner have different diet and training requirements. However, there are some important principles common to all athletes.

The nutrient needs of athletes are the same as non-athletes - except athletes need more of them. Eating is usually a pleasure for athletes because they can get these extra nutrients from eating large amounts of foods they like. Supplements and ergogenic aids (performance enhancing) such as amino acids, vitamins, minerals, bee pollen or salt tablets are rarely needed. Athletes may gain psychologically from these substances but will not benefit physiologically from them. The exception is iron for premenopausal female athletes and only if prescribed by a doctor. Young women who experience menstrual irregularities from training may also need calcium but again only after being evaluated by a doctor.

Athletes who participate in endurance sports should eat lots of complex carbohydrates (60-70 percent of calories) like grains, potatoes, peas and corn which the body will store as an easily obtainable fuel called glycogen. Carbohydrate loading is a two-phase process whereby muscles are depleted by glycogen then supersaturated right before the event. However, repeated loading can have side effects such as depression, lethargy, loss of muscle tissue, chest pains and abnormal electrocardiograms.

It is now recommended to follow a high carbohydrate diet throughout the training and taper off approximately seven days prior to the event. Such rigorous diet programming is beneficial only for athletes in endurance sports (who exercise vigorously for more than 90 minutes straight), and should be utilized only three or four times a year. School-age children and teens and athletes with diabetes or high blood fats (hypertriglyceridemia) should be discouraged from this type of regime.

Athletes need a little bit more protein than non-athletes but certainly not the mega doses recommended by some body builder "nutritionists." Ten to 20 percent of calories should come from protein or 1.0-1.5 g per kilogram of body weight. Excess protein, not immediately needed for repair of muscles, gets converted to fat for long-term storage in the body. A diet that is too rich in protein puts a strain on your kidneys as they work to filter the blood and get rid of all the excess nitrogen from protein that your body doesn't store.

All athletes need plenty of clear, cool fluids to keep hydrated. Drink before, during and after training. Sports drinks contain lots of sugar along with the minerals and are not nutritionally necessary. The exception is for ultra-endurance athletes in extremely hot weather. Avoiding fluids is never a good idea for athletes who need to "make weight," (like wrestlers).

There are many reasons to participate in sports including improved mood, heart health, weight control and better sleep. There are lots of "everyday" activities to get you started such as using the stairs rather than the elevator, using your speaker phone and moving around during phone calls and walking every chance you get. Just remember the old "new" adage - "walk the dog, don't watch the dog walk."

Play it cool with poached salmon and summer sauce

MAIN DISH MIRACLE

Poaching has become one of my favorite cooking methods. A few minutes in the morning or late evening can yield enough fish, shellfish or chicken to help me sidestep the kitchen for two to three days. You see, I take a famous president's advice quite literally. "If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen."

This recipe should be a delicious addition to your quick fish repertoire. Poaching is one of the easiest, most flavorful ways to get moist, tasty fish, once a few poaching myths are demystified.

First, you don't need one of those fancy, expensive poachers. They look pretty, but an ordinary roasting pan, or even that old black cast iron skillet will do. If you're cooking a large piece of fish, you may even want to wrap it in cheesecloth so that it's easier to lift out of the cooking liquid.

Second, you've read about Court Bouillon in poching recipes, but that's nothing more than flavored water. I'm going to give you my secret poaching liquid recipe that I use to cook my fish in this recipe for salmon. It's really suited to almost any fish. Adjust quantities of liquid according to your poaching utensil because you want the fish covered.

You're probably well aware of the nutritional virtues of fish and shellfish and their role in helping prevent heart disease. However, there are more studies being reported on the effect of Omega-3 fatty acids on reduction of triglycerides - the fats circulating in the blood. These reports also suggest that the Omega-3's may influence the course of arthritis and help to prevent cancer. Omega-3 fatty acids are found in the fatter fish - sardines, salmon, whitefish, white albacore tuna, herring, mackerel and shellfish. Though these fish are higher in fat, they are monounsaturated and polyunsaturated fatty acids not artery-clogging saturated fats.

Besides the nutritional positives, this recipe has much taste appeal for jaded summer appetites. Do use the Summer Sauce. It's cool - there's no cooking involved. Serve the salmon with some "naked" tiny new potatoes and a salad with a wonderful home-grown tomatoes, chopped fresh basil and a misting of good olive oil. Summer eating doesn't get much cooler or easier, unless you're not doing the cooking.

SUMMER SAUCE

1 cup fat-free sour cream (I like Land O'Lakes)
1/2 peeled cucumber, diced
2 tablespoons chopped fresh dill
1 tablespoon white horseradish

Mix all ingredients. Adjust the horseradish to taste. Serve with salmon. Serves 4.

Nutrition facts per serving:
Calories 216; Total Fat, 9.1g; Saturated Fat, 1.8g; Cholesterol, 66mg; Sodium, 150mg.

Food exchanges = 4 lean meats

Look for Main Dish Miracle on the second Sunday of the month in Taste. Muriel G. Wagner is a registered dietitian and nutrition therapist with an office in Southfield. She publishes "Eating Younger," a quarterly newsletter with recipes and nutrition tips. To subscribe, send a check for $13.50 to "Eating Younger," P.O. Box 69021, Pleasant Ridge, MI 48069.

EATING YOUNGER POACHED SALMON WITH SUMMER SAUCE

1/2 to 1 quart liquid per pound of fish (I use 1/2 white wine and 1/2 water)
2 onions, sliced
2 cloves garlic, minced
3 tablespoons pickling spice
4 sprigs fresh dill or 1 tablespoon dried
3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon sugar
1 pound salmon fillets or other fish

Bring liquid and all of the ingredients, except salmon, to a boil. Reduce heat to simmer. Immerse fish in liquid to cover. Cover pan. Cook 10 minutes per inch thickness. For a half or whole fish fillet, allow 10 minutes per pound. Test doneness before removing from liquid. Drain fish. Refrigerate.

Web sites fuel millennium computer fears

PC TALK

MIKE WENDLAND

The Y2K computer problem that occupies so much attention in the media these days is doing more than producing headlines.

Some people are so worried that if government and corporate computer systems are unable to recognize dates in the year 2000 and start crashing, massive economic and social disruptions will make life in cities and suburbs unbearable.

So, some people are actually packing up and moving out.

Consider the following Internet posting I found on a discussion forum devoted to relocating because of Y2K:

"I presently live in suburban southeastern Michigan and wear a three-piece suit by day. I am very soon going to escape that disguise and concentrate full-time on finishing construction of my own Y2K Sanctuary located on one of my two contiguous 35-acre parcels set in the most serene, secluded and beautiful part of the southern Colorado Rockies.... I am looking for a well educated, prudent & prescient individual or family who is very 'Y2K Aware' to consider purchase of my other 35-acre parcel."

The man who wrote the notice, like most of those planning to move out of populated urban centers, is not anxious for publicity. He has, so far, not replied to my e-mail request for an interview.

But he is not the only one planning to get out of town before Y2K.

In Arkansas, there's a Y2K community being developed called "Prayer Lake." Located in the Ozarks, it's chief developer told me he's worried about being "discovered" by the national media. "They'll make us all look like a bunch of weirdoes," he said. "They'll portray our communities as armed camps, like Waco or something."

In Virginia, another Y2K-worried homesteader, agreed to talk to me but only if I withheld details about precisely where his community is located. "This isn't a commune," he said. "We're not banding together in a compound. We're just a group of concerned people who believe that Y2K will cause serious problems with civil unrest. Most of our people are moving from big cities. We're learning how to grow our own food and become self-sufficient."

Are these people off the wall?

They sure don't sound that way. I've talked to several dozen of them from all over the country over the past couple of months. Many are deeply religious people. Most aren't particularly happy about moving. Most have never farmed or done anything more challenging than grow a couple of backyard tomato plants.

Now, they're on the Internet, studying how to make windmills, what kind of wood is best for heating, how to grind flour, purify water and milk goats.

"This is all very scary stuff for us," said a woman from Troy who spends weekends up north with her husband looking for land they can move to in the Upper Peninsula. "We've read a whole lot about this and it seems very clear to us that if we really care about our family, we must prepare." Here's an assortment of Internet sites that will give you a glimpse into how serious some people are taking Y2K:

■ Gary North site: (www.garynorth.com) — This guy, an economist by profession, moved from Texas to rural Northwest Arkansas because of Y2K and now runs a millennium crisis mega site. He predicts a total collapse and has almost a cult-like following among those who see nothing but gloom and doom. North's site also has a relocation chat room that is heavily used by folks planning to head for the hills.

■ Rivendell — A Refuge in the Storm (http://www.ethell.com/kgiffith/) — In the Appalachian Mountains, this is a developing agrarian community built around church and neighbors helping neighbors.

■ God's Wilderness: (www.shilhavy.com/godswilderness) — Web site owners David & Johanna live in the wilderness of northern Minnesota. They reared their 11 children in a pioneer atmosphere using draft horses for their farm work and logging and "around the farm" travel needs. Their Web site shares their insights and ideas and offers land for sale for those seeking to relocate for Y2K preparedness.

■ PC Mike's Y2K Diary: (http://www.pcmike.com) — I've been covering this for over a year and come across so much material it's hard to get it on the air in either my radio or television reports. So, I use this site to chronicle and analyze the Y2K things I find significant.

Sci-fi novels mind-bending

Factoring Humanity. By Robert J. Sawyer TOR, 1998, $23.95

Darwinia. By Robert Charles Wilson TOR, 1998, $22.95

ESTHER LITTMANN

Alien messages on the World Wide Web. A father accused of molesting his teenage daughter...

archive of our memories - some infallible record of everything that... ever happened. As they await the inevitable lawsuit...

tion have suddenly vanished as well as people who once inhabited these parts. Some explain the occurrence as an act of divine retribution...

Both books are available at Borders in Farmington Hills where the authors appeared for a signing.

Oates' biography is fascinating

Invisible Writer: Biography of Joyce Carol Oates. Greg Johnson (Dutton, $34.95, 492 pp.)

VICTORIA DIAZ

Fiction, writer critic, English professor Greg Johnson explores in this doorstop-sized volume some truly large questions...

has never possessed normal communication skills, but bears a striking resemblance to her profoundly articulate sister. Oates' intellectual gifts were apparent early on...

apparently has an unfortunate tendency to show favoritism toward certain talented students in her classroom...

Finally, Johnson (who has authored "Understanding Joyce Carol Oates" and "Joyce Carol Oates: A Study of the Short Fiction") adds depth...

Birmingham: ice cream and fresh flowers

The thing to know about downtown Birmingham is that it's big. Really big. It has four parking garages. That's how big it is.

So if you plan on doing much exploring there, wear comfortable walking shoes and leave plenty of time to look around.

Now, it's true that many of the things I've seen there are out of my price range. For instance, at one shop I found a cute little sundress and thought about getting it for my 2-year-old daughter until I saw the price tag: $146. Puh-lease.

But it is fun to look around in Birmingham and you never know what kind of bargains or treasures you might find. My best "discovery" yet: the huge ice cream cones at Willy's Place, located at 327 Hamilton Row; phone (248) 644-2044.

Customers have about 35 different flavors to choose from, including Guernsey Farms ice cream (if you've never had it, you have to try it; it's made in Novi and is delicious!), Savino Sorbets, and Heart Smart soft yogurt. A regular cone is $3 and with three generous scoops on top, it's more like a large. A small cone is $2, with two heaping scoops on top. Willy's Place recently added a deli (it opened July 6), so now you can get soups, salads, sandwiches and pizza there, too. Hours are 11 a.m.-10 p.m. Monday-Thursday and 11 a.m.-midnight Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Two of my favorite places to visit in downtown Birmingham are Blossoms Home Store, located at 175 West Maple, and Paterson Carney Florist, located at 239 Pierce Street. Walk into either of these lush floral shops and you'll hear tranquil music combined with the trickling of water fountains. You will be surrounded by beautiful plants, topiaries and flowers - some real, some artificial but very realistic - plus unique gift items. Blossoms Home Store is open from 10 a.m.-8 p.m. Thursday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. the rest of the week (Monday-Saturday), and closed Sunday; phone (248) 644-4411. Paterson Carney Florist is open from 9 a.m.-9 p.m. Thursday, 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Monday-Saturday, and noon-5 p.m. Sunday; phone (249) 647-7477.

I also like Michigan, located at 205 Pierce St. It's similar to Michigan Made Inc. in Plymouth, which I wrote about last week. Both stores carry food, artwork and gift items representative of Michigan. Michigan doesn't carry the small lighthouse figurines that I collect. But Michigan carries Mackinaw fudge, whereas the other store doesn't. So which is better? You be the judge. I like them both. Michigan's hours are 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Monday-Saturday, closed Sunday; phone 1-800-443-9284.

Cargo Hold, located at 202 E. Maple, sells lots of different things for the home, but I especially like its greeting cards. Some of them feature black-and-white photographs that have been culled from old family scrapbooks and then hand-colored. Hours are 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Monday-Wednesday, 10 a.m.-8:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday, 10 a.m.-5:30 p.m. Saturday and closed Sunday. Phone (248) 642-8661.

Next week: Downtown Farmington.

Sidewalk Stroll

Feel the buzz and bustle of Birmingham

Birmingham exudes a certain resort-like refinement, a taste level that emanates from its distinctive boutiques, classic clothiers and contemporary galleries. Open-air cafes, a cadre of coffeehouses and a restored theater add to the casual cachet.

Though posh surroundings often seem intimidating, merchants here are warm and welcoming. Don't come uptown seeking the ordinary or the whimsical. Rather, celebrate the area's forward-thinking style and well-edited collections, but know that dogs, strollers and jogging shorts are as appropriate around town as cell phones and Armani suits.

Environs

Downtown Birmingham is situated just west of Woodward Avenue between Lincoln Road and Oak Street. The Avenue becomes S. Old Woodward as it veers off into downtown proper, and 15 Mile Road, or Maple, narrows to two lanes and intersects Old Woodward at the city's center. Shain Park, Baldwin Library, the Townsend Hotel and The Community House form the nucleus of the downtown area. The Community House offers an ongoing schedule of special events, classes and seminars, as well as patio dining at the Bates Street Cafe. Join residents for weekly concerts in Shain Park during the summer months and annual outdoor celebrations all year long. And treat yourself to tea at the posh Townsend Hotel.

Birmingham is booming - on the cusp of becoming a shopping, dining and entertainment mecca. When you visit, take the time to explore all of its side streets and tucked-away boutiques. The following "Sidewalk Stroll" suggestions are but a fraction of what you'll discover.

Art & Antiques

Home to a burgeoning fine art community, Birmingham's streets are lined with galleries that feature all manner and media of art. The venerable David Klein Gallery, 163 Townsend, is showing paintings by William Glen Crooks and Lester Johnson through Aug. 15. The Robert Kidd Gallery, 107 Townsend, exhibits new paintings by Winifred Godfrey and sculpture by Chris Berti through Aug. 15. G.R. N'Namdi Gallery, 161 Townsend, is the country's premier purveyor of African-American art by national artists. Enjoy "Prints by Jacob Lawrence" through July 30.

Visit the Hill Gallery, 407 W. Brown, to ogle museum-quality contemporary art and American folk art. Through July 30, "Book Works" by Don-Fine fragments: Presence II on Bates Street displays exclusive Mosaicware.

Chez Lilith: Vive la mode Francaise at Lilith, a boutique hideaway that romances the alley at 130A W. Maple.

Maple Road Regalia

Grab a croissant at the Townsend Bakery, 175 Merrill, and rendezvous at Shain Park to soak up some sun and get your bearings. Head north up Bates Street toward Maple Road and stop in Presence II, 155 S. Bates, a European-style gift gallery that brims with antique silver, glass lamps, barware, home accessories and exclusive jewelry designs. At the corner of Bates and Maple, find Linda Dresner, the premier address for designer labels, including Jil Sander. Next door, Tender, 271 W. Maple, a contemporary upscale women's boutique, displays this summer's newest craze, the capri pant, as well as separates and suits and sexy sheer tops. For the hippest kid clothes, check out Kiddywinks, 120 W. Maple. It's the Ritz, 195 W. Maple, is a one-stop shop for youthful fashion-forward ensembles. At Adventures in Toys, 163 W. Maple, pinpoint the perfect present for your little one.

Maple Road Regalia

New to the block is Imelda's Closet, 123 W. Maple, a shoe boutique with trendy bags, baubles and silver-buckled belts. Cross the street and venture down the alley to Lilith, 130A West Maple, another newcomer to the street scene. The urban warehouse space is juxtaposed with romantic French clothing designs. Guys will want to peruse the casual clothing at Article II, 138 W. Maple.

Picks on Pierce

Edward Dorian, 237 Pierce, has a contemporary mix of stylish separates, silver jewelry and Kate Spade bags. Edward Dorian Shoes promises the perfect pair of pumps or sandals to match every outfit. At Timbuktu Station, 235 Pierce, the women's casual and adventure apparel is ideal for trekking the Himalayas or having lunch with friends. Find cards and stationery at Barbara's Paper Bag, 147 Pierce, and classic clothing at Kathryn Scott, 148 Pierce.

On the Avenue

Old Woodward Avenue, distinguished by the grand marquee of the renovated Birmingham Theater, is dotted with coffeehouses, clothiers, salons and galleries, even some hidden treasures. Climb the stairway to Shops at the Top, a collection of vintage and recycled clothing and jewelry stores, well-known to area teens. Also, duck into Quatrine, a home furnishings store; The Claymore Shop, a haberdashery; Gayle's for handmade chocolates; CR Shades for casual cotton and linen separates; Relax the Back for spine soothers; and Tutto Bene for Italian ceramics.

Eclectic East Maple

Discover Magnolias, 288 E. Maple and Woodward & Maple, 266 E. Maple, for bed and bath luxuries and fine French porcelain. Art Loft, 203 E. Maple, exhibits silver jewelry, artful frames and contemporary room accessories. Also check out Upstairs/Downstairs, 275 E. Maple, for furniture and home decoratives and Fittiges on the corner for thermal weave separates - as cozy as your favorite longjohns. The Purple Bear Ltd., 244 E. Maple, is a delightful children's boutique. Love the umbrellas!

Hamilton - Out of Hiding

Hamilton Street is located just off North Old Woodward between Maple and Willits. Venture down the charming side street and find Moran's, florist, Festivities shop for the home, and the ever-popular Pogo Skate Shop.

News of special events for shoppers is included in this calendar. Send information to: Malls & Mainstreets, c/o Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 805 East Maple, Birmingham, MI 48009; or fax (248) 644-1314. Deadline: Wednesday 5 p.m. for publication on Sunday.

TRAVEL

Adventure, history and friendship combine on trip

BY HUGH GALLAGHER
STAFF WRITER

A love for far-away places probably began for Jerry Zelenick when an aunt gave him a copy of Richard Haliburton's book on the ancient worlds.

Zelenick of Livonia still remembers Haliburton's description of the long gone Colossus of Rhodes. But it wasn't until October 1996 that Zelenick finally got to Rhodes and other sites of that fabled ancient world.

The trip was the latest in a series of trips Zelenick and his wife, Barbara, have taken with longtime friends Jerry and Joanne Schmidt.

"We've been traveling together since 1972. Then they moved to Florida, but it didn't stop our friendship. We'll be going to St. Petersburg and Latvia this year," said Zelenick.

The Zelenicks get together and decide where they want to go. Past trips have included such highlights as a train ride through White Horse Pass in Alaska, the lush splendor of Kauai, a cruise through the sunny Mediterranean and through the brisk capitals of northern Europe and the usual Vegas and Caribbean adventures.

The trip to the Greek Isles, Turkey and Ukraine was another chance to cruise, but this time in an exotic setting.

"It wasn't do much Greece as the rest of the itinerary — Turkey, the Greek Isles like Santorini, Rhodes, Ephesus with its spectacular ruins," Zelenick said.

Zelenick, retired from Ford Motor Co., was struck by how different life was in Turkey, where strict Islamic rules dominated daily life.

"We went out on a Sunday morning and we were walking across a bridge and there were no women around. It was all men except for my wife and Joanne," Zelenick said. "Everything, I was a photo retoucher, was a No. 4 gray."

But the trip was not predominantly gray. It featured colorful dances, historic sites, beautiful architecture, crowded bazaars and an exciting bus ride up a mountain.

The trip began in Athens with a stop at the Acropolis and then moved on to Meteora. Here a monastery is carved into the face of a rock cliff.

"You have to climb up, but it's not as bad as it seems at first," Zelenick said.

At Yalta the couples visited the conference center where Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin met near the end of World War II.

"They put on performances of Ukrainian dances from different provinces. I think they knew there were Americans in the audience and made an effort to acknowledge it," he said.

In Odessa they walked on the steps made famous in Sergei Eisenstein's "Battleship Potemkin" and visited the Opera House when Tchaikovsky was once the musical director.

The couples traveled on the Island Princess, usually stopping a day or two at the different ports-of-call.

"It wasn't one of the larger ships, but it was excellent service, good food and entertainment. The crew was very helpful," Zelenick said. "It was also the nicest group of people we've run into on a ship."

For Zelenick, though, it was the cultural clash of Turkey that Ethnic entertainment: Ukrainian dancers and singers entertained at Yalta.

Every Sunday, you can take a 40-minute round-trip from Tecumseh to Clinton in Lenawee County in a 1900s-era train pulled by a 1943 Diesel engine. The train leaves Tecumseh at noon and 2 p.m. Fee is $7 for adults, $6 for those over 65, $4 for those under 13. For more information, call the non-profit Southern Michigan Railroad Society at 517-423-7230.

RIDING THE RAILS II

"Rails By Water" rail-theme boat cruises are being offered made the biggest impression.

"In Istanbul, we visited the Blue Mosque, St. Sophia and Topkapi, the harem," Zelenick said. "I was fascinated, their society is so different from ours. What we take for granted, like walking with your wife anywhere, isn't the same."

The Grand Bazaar, the largest of the many bazaars in this part of the world, was "so huge you wouldn't want to get lost," Zelenick said they had a lot of fun walking through the many stalls.

At Kusadasi or Ephesus, they visited the amphitheatre and other ancient sites and rode a camel, something they'll never do again.

"We had a tough time getting my wife off, this thing was so huge," Zelenick said with a laugh.

The most exciting part of the trip was a ride up the volcanic mountain at Santorini.

"It was the most exciting thing I've experienced, going up in that bus and looking down on the town from Santorini was an unbelievable experience. It took about an hour to get up the mountain," Zelenick said.

And at Rhodes, the famous harbor straddling statue of Apollo is gone but tablets mark the spot where each foot once stood.

Here also, the Zelenicks and Schmidts stood, experiencing history first-hand.

Dramatic site: The monastery at Meteora occupies a rock solid site.

OBSERVER SPORTS SCENE

Polanski wins qualifier

Recent Michigan Amateur runner-up Steve Polanski of Livonia shot 155 over two rounds to take medalist honors last week at U.S. Junior Amateur Qualifier at Lakewood Shores Resort in Oscoda.

The 17-year-old Polanski, who will be a senior this fall at Stevenson High, will compete in his second straight U.S. Junior Amateur, July 21-25 at Conway Farms Golf Club in Lake Forest, Ill.

Area golf divots

•Evan Chall of Livonia, carding a 73, won the Downriver Junior Golf Championship for Boys 13-15 on July 5 at Taylor Meadows.

•Brad Cruts of Glenhurst and former Observer golf champ Doug Cumming each shot 71s Thursday at Kensington to earn qualifying spots in the Golf Association of Michigan Tournament, July 20-22 at the Country Club of Detroit in Grosse Pointe.

James Norbeck of Salem Hills and Patrick Cenknor of Greater Macomb were co-medalists with 69 each.

•In the GAM qualifier Thursday at Partridge Creek, Livonian Dave Higham, who plays out of Western CC, shot 75 to earn a spot.

•Kristen Polanski shot a 110 to finish second in the Girls 11-12 age division at the Power Bilt Junior Tour stop June 26 in Gaylord.

Street hoop tournament

Street Hoops USA will host the Motor City Hoops 3-on-3 Basketball Tournament July 18-19 in the northwest corner of the Livonia Mall parking lot.

Teams will be grouped in divisions based on age, starting with 8-9 year-olds; 10-11; 12-13, 14-15; 16-17; 18-19; 20-and-over; 30-and-over; and 40-and-over. All competition is double-elimination. Those finishing first and second will receive awards, and all entrants will receive a T-shirt.

In addition, there will be a slam-dunk contest and a $5,000 long distance shot contest.

The tournament will benefit the St. Gregory Community Center of Detroit's youth athletics program.

Entry forms are available at the information booth in the Livonia Mall or by calling Street Hoops at (313) 394-0943.

For more information, call Jim Gray at (248) 476-1160.

Benninger medalist

Carolyn Benninger shot an 80 Friday to win first flight low gross honors at the Women's Suburban Golf Association stop at Highland Hills G.C.

Diane Wazney had an 87 to finish second.

Low net honors went to June Wright of Livonia with a 67. Sandy Rivers of Rochester Hills was second with a 70.

In the second flight, Lori Wilson of Livonia shot 99 to earn low gross honors. Gloria Hudson of Southfield was second with a 101.

Peggy Osip of Dearborn Heights won low net with a 70, while Mary Ann Kraft, also of Dearborn Heights, was runner-up with a 71.

Junior golf lessons

Junior golf lessons will begin Wednesday, July 15 at the Pheasant Run Golf Course practice facility, for those 7-18 years old. Cost is $50 for the four-session lesson.

The first day of lessons will be 10-11:30 a.m.; the remaining lesson times will be determined by age and ability level. The fee includes instruction from PGA professionals, range balls, Parks and Recreation/Pheasant Run T-shirt, and a certificate of completion.

There are no residency requirements. Register at Canton Parks and Recreation offices, 46000 Summit Parkway in Canton, through July 10. For more information, call (734) 397-5110.

Meteors need players

The Livonia Y Meteors II, a new under-17 girls team which will compete in the Little Caesars Open Division, is seeking one or two new players (born Aug. 1, 1981 through July 31, 1983) who can compete at this level.

To schedule a tryout, call Mike McGrath at (734) 462-6169.

Up and over: Livonia resident Michael Bessen shows he means business as he attempts to clear the bar in the pee wee boys high jump.

He can fly: Cody Michlos of Redford Township anticipates a safe landing in the bantam boys long jump event.

FUN and GAMES

40th annual event brings children joy

Complete results, D2

Despite threatening skies, no rainbows appeared during the 40th annual Charter Township of Redford Junior Olympics on Wednesday at Howard Kraft Field.

The brightest colors could be found on the ribbons given to each participant. And ribbons, unlike rainbows, can be taken home.

This year's event, along with the 16th annual Senior Olympics held later in the day, was another success. Rain stayed away but participants did not.

Organizer Heather Miller said there were close to 100 participants from various communities in both the Junior and Senior Olympics.

"It didn't rain but it looked threatening and that might have kept some people away," Miller said. "The parents of the Junior Olympians) seemed happy overall. We made sure no one left without a ribbon."

Flamethrower: Whoever was catching this toss from Redford's Riley Wood better have had a glove on their hand. The future star outfielder was competing in the bantam girls softball throw.

Hannan missed on circuit

The team William Hannan was most associated with was National Trails, a 55-over men's softball team that routinely earned national rankings.

Fittingly, he played for someone with that name because Hannan was known to go anywhere, any time, for a game of softball, hockey or golf.

Hannan died of cancer at age 69 last December, two days before the 44th anniversary with his wife Barbara.

Softball diamonds are just not the same without Hannan, who also was well known around Redford Ice Arena, where he ran Hannan Pro Shop with his brother Dick from 1972-92.

Hannan and his wife met at General Motors, where he was a supervisor and she a clerk typist. They married less than a year after their first date.

Barbara said she "liked his personality, he was easy to get along with and talk to."

She wasn't as thrilled about his penchant to play sports at all hours of the day and night, but she learned to live with it. Years ago there were no indoor rinks in the Detroit area and Hannan

'He (William Hannan) was taking chemo three times a week, he'd hurry home and go play hockey at night.'

Barbara Hannan
Hannan's widow

would often go over to Windsor to play games at Riverside Arena.

"At 3 a.m. Sundays they'd go to Windsor for hockey games at Riverside Arena," said Barbara, who also was an athlete in high school. "I told my mother and dad this will change after we get married. It didn't - I'd go with him. His relatives were Canadian and they learned to skate before they walked."

Besides his wife and brother, Hannan is survived by son Bill Jr., daughters Kathleen Haggard and Marcia Szarek, another brother Tom and five grandchildren.

Up until he was diagnosed with stomach cancer in late 1995, Hannan played softball in two Livonia leagues, four mornings per week, and pickup hockey three nights per week. His play diminished after the diagnosis but he managed to play his three favorite sports once in a while, when the cancer was in remission and even while going through chemotherapy.

"He was taking chemo three days a week, he'd hurry home and go play hockey at night," Barbara Hannan recalled.

The Hannans bought a "starter" home in the heart of Redford Township 40 years ago and never left. The street is filled with Hannan offsprings and relatives.

One daughter lives next door, another across the street and a brother lives down the street.

It must have made car pooling to games easier.

Bill McSween, Redford Township Parks & Recreation director, played in several hockey leagues with Hannan, who was old enough to be his father.

"I ran into him in over 40 leagues and he was close to 60 and still playing," McSween said. "He was a fun guy,

Leaving U-D:
Franklin graduate Matt Bauman left U-D Mercy's basketball program.

Bauman leaves U-D

Citing "I couldn't buy into the coaches philosophy," Livonia Franklin's 6-foot-8 center Matt Bauman is leaving the University of Detroit Mercy men's basketball program after only one year.

Bauman, a first-team All-Observers pick in 1996-97, said he plans to enroll the fall semester at Schoolcraft Community College and then transfer to Wayne State University in the winter.

He doesn't have immediate plans of the traveling secretaries. Hannan first learned he had cancer in November, 1995 after returning home from a hunting trip to Marquette, where they had property. Hannan lost 40 percent of his stomach after surgery and exactly a year later, he was given a clean bill of health with a catscan. In March, 1997, William and Barbara vacationed in Florida and "he brought his golf clubs." He must have been feeling well. Hockey became a regular routine again as well. It was an inspiration to others that he seemed to be beating cancer. "I knew he had cancer and remember saying 'Who would have believed a year ago at this time when you were fighting cancer you'd be here skating?'" McSweeney said, "I thought he had licked it, then it came back." Cancer reappeared later that spring and by the fall of 1997, after one last trip as a spectator with National Trails to a tournament in St. Louis, Mo., Hannan entered the hospital. "In October he started radiation and chemo and that just wiped him out," Barbara Hannan said. "I took him to the hospital in November and he came back home for four days in December (before he died)." Just as Hannan's wife would follow him to games, he would do the same with their children. The love of hockey extended to Hannan's daughter Marcia, who is still playing at age 38. For 13 straight Easter and Valentine's Day weekends, Marcia's games would take the Hannans to Ontario for holiday tournaments. "We traveled to every one for her games - to Minnesota, Chicago, Buffalo, Niagara Falls," Barbara said. Barbara was a registered nurse but after all these trips she probably could teach a class in geography.

to play next season. "I wasn't really happy with a lot of things," said Bauman, who played in 17 games for the Titans last season, averaging 1.8 points and 1.2 rebounds. "Right now I need a year off and then I'll decide if I'll play again."

"Things just didn't work out like I hoped they would. I just didn't think it was a good situation for me."

Bauman saw valuable action during December meetings against Michigan and Michigan State and scored a career-high eight points in a win at Georgia State.

But after suffering a mid-season ankle injury, the 222-pound freshman was the odd man out as U-D head coach Perry Watson went with an eight-man rotation as the Titans finished 25-6 overall and earned their first NCAA Tournament berth since 1979.

They beat St. John's in the opening round in Chicago and then fell to Purdue in the second round.

"Like any other freshman I had my doubts about where I stood and I talked to the coaches about during the season," Bauman said. "I decided close to the end of the year that I wouldn't come back, but I finished out my duties to the team."

Asked to specify why he didn't "buy into" the coaches philosophy, Bauman said simply: "There was nothing in particular I'd want to get into."

"I don't regret my decision for going there. I liked the school and the people. It was a great experience from a school standpoint."

Watson and his assistants, out of town for the entire month of July, were unavailable for comment.

U-D assistant athletic director Jeff Eisen confirmed Friday that Bauman had left the program.

Bauman played four years on the varsity at Franklin. He averaged 19.7 points and 7.3 rebounds per game as a junior and 17.6 points and 8.4 boards as a senior.

He scored a career-high 35 against Walled Lake Central as a senior and also had 34 against Plymouth Salem.

SUMMER HOCKEY

Lakers win battle of unbeatens

It figured to be one of the best games of the season, a battle between the only two remaining unbeaten teams in the Metro Summer Hockey League, when the Bulldogs — leaders of the Eagle Conference — took on the Lakers.

It didn't turn out that way. Perhaps the Lakers were still peeved about that 4-4 tie against the Broncos last Monday, which dropped them into second place in the Bakes Conference. If they were, they certainly wasted no time going after the 'Dogs, building an 8-1 lead by the midpoint of the second period and coasting from there to an 11-5 victory Wednesday at Plymouth Ice Arena.

The victory made the Lakers the Bakes Conference leaders and the only unbeaten team in the MSHL at 5-0-1. The Bulldogs slipped to 5-1.

Nick Jardine scored both of his goals in the first period as the Lakers opened up a 5-1 lead. Jardine also collected three assists in the game.

Two other Lakers had two goals apiece: Eric Dolesh (from Farmington Hills), who also had two assists, and Joe Bien (Livonia).

But perhaps the player that caused the Bulldogs the most discomfort was Brian Jardine, who had six assists — a season-high for the league.

Other goal-scorers for the Lakers were Miles Meibers (Canton), Jeramie Murray (Redford), Mike Vigilante, Austin Meibers (Canton) and Chris Libbett. Vigilante added three assists.

The 'Dogs got two goals and two assists from Kevin Swider (Livonia). Other goal-scorers were Ian Crockford, Chad Theuer, who had an assist, and Eric Bratcher, who also had one assist. Ben Blackwood chipped in two assists.

Shawn Miller was in goal for the Lakers. Bob Harrison played Wolverines 6, Spartans 5: When Paul Khawam knocked in a goal for the Spartans, breaking a 4-4 tie with just 2:47 left in the game, it must have made that first win of the season seem a certainty Wednesday at Plymouth.

It wasn't.

The Wolverines struck for two goals in the final 1:28 to slip past the Spartans. Dennis Elenich's (Livonia) second goal of the game with 1:28 to go tied it at 4-4; Keith Rowe (Redford) got the game-win-

SOFTBALL

Lasers sweep; Knights swept

The Livonia Lasers swept the Canton Cobras in an Incredible Girls Fastpitch Softball League double-header Thursday at Livonia Franklin, 6-1 and 6-5.

Jamie Linden had an RBI double to help complete the sweep in the nightcap as the Lasers improved to 10-3-1 in league play.

Daylin Starks and Kelli Young each doubled and scored a run as the Lasers had a seven-hit attack. Monica Little also knocked in a run with a single.

Winning pitcher Tara Muchow struck out 12, walked five and allowed just three hits. She also won the opener, fanning nine, walking three and giving up just one hit.

Linden and Sara Knopsnyder each had RBI singles, while Starks collected the other Lasers hit.

MOLD 5-2, KNIGHTS 0-1: In a battle of league unbeatens Thursday, the host Motor City Mold swept the Livonia Knights at Canton High School.

The Mold, made up primarily of Canton varsity players, is 14-0 overall, while the Knights, Churchill's upcoming varsity, fell to 11-2-1.

Pitcher Adrienne Doyle, who allowed seven hits and two walks, took the loss in the opener.

Kristin Derwich and Christine Fones had the only hits for the Knights.

Doyle also took the loss in the nightcap, allowing three hits and no walks. She fanned five.

Fones went 2-for-3 and scored the Knights' lone run. Carly George had the other hits.

On July 2, the Knights swept the host Plymouth Lightning at Salem High School.

Doyle was the winning pitcher in the opener, while Meghan Mislak took the nightcap.
