be sparking the most interest among local voters, Gibbons

"If they're saying anything, they're saying they want to vote in the governor's race," she said.

Of the 3,117 absentee ballots that had been pulled by voters, about 2,000 had been returned as of Friday, Gibbons said.

In some key races, partisan candidates will automatically advance to the Nov. 3 general election because they are unopposed. Consider:

State Rep. Eileen DeHart, D-Westland, and Republican challenger Steve Conley face no opposition in their respective races. They are competing in the 18th District that serves most of Westland and a small portion of Canton Township.

■ State Rep. Thomas Kelly, D-Wayne, will face Republican Dan Smelser in November because they, too, are running alone in their partisan 17th District races. Bennett, R-Canton Township, will automatically face Democratic challenger Kenneth Warfield of Wayne on Nov. 3 because of unopposed partisan races in the 8th District.

They also will help decide judicial races for the Court of Appeals and Circuit Court.

Local voters also will cast ballots on the following three countywide proposals:

The so-called "supermajority" Proposition A would, if approved, amend the county charter to require 60 percent of voters to approve a tax increase before it would go into effect. It also would require a two-thirds vote of Wayne County Commission members to place tax increases on the ballot.

A county jail millage, Proposition J, would, if approved, renew a tax of .95 mills and generate at least $31,636,566 in property tax revenues in 1998.

The proposal would support jail operations of the Dickerson facility for four years, costing the owner of a $100,000 home with a taxable value of $50,000 about $48 a year.

The proposal also would allow Wayne County to use the funds Likewise, state Sen. Loren for jail acquisition, construction or operations, including misdemeanor prisoners, juvenile incarceration or detention facilities. It also would pay for adult penalty options, such as work release, home detention and community restitution with at least one-10th of the mill used to acquire, build and operate a juvenile offender work/training institution.

year, saying she spent under and we ran a very small cam-"I had a lot of leftover signs, paign," she said, "I had made my decision (to wage a campaign) at the last minute."

On June 8, Robbins captured 858 votes, meaning she spent about $3 for each vote she received in her bid for a fouryear term.

Fowlkes finished second with 712 votes, while Brown came in third with 354 votes. Brown suffered her second defeat in as many years; voters last year ousted her at the end of her first four-year term.

Notably, Fowlkes and Brown had both risen to the post of board-appointed president before voters ousted them from office. As this year's top spender, Robbins said she shelled out more money because she was a "brand new" candidate who needed to buy hundreds of signs and send out literature to make her candidacy known. Prior to her campaign, she had attained name recognition primarily from her heavy involvement in a successful effort to save 50-plus acres of school district land - known as Sassafras Trails - from residential development.

Even though she spent the most money, Robbins attributed her victory not to dollars but to how hard she and her supporters worked to win votes.

"I was out there listening to the constituents," Robbins said. That's the only way I'm going to be an effective board member is to be out there and listening to what their needs are - and what their ideas and visions are for the community and for their children's education."

Many school board candidates actually spend more to be elected than they will actually earn during an entire year serving in their post.

According to district offices, board members earn a maximum of $1,830 a year.

They receive $30 a meeting, with an annual ceiling of $1,530, plus they are paid $25 a month for mileage, with a cap of $300 a

Plea bargain for city man is expected

A plea bargain was made with a 19-year-old Detroit man and is expected to be made with his alleged accomplice in a Dec. 7, 1997, shooting at the Holiday Estates Mobile Home Park in Canton.

Tom Esch, 20, of Livonia was injured after a shot from a 12gauge shotgun pierced the rear passenger door of his friend's Ford F150 truck as the two of them were leaving the trailer park. The shot struck the 1995 Franklin High School graduate in the lower back, searing a kid-

"The shooting stemmed from an alleged racial incident involving the victims... The defendants claimed they were just scaring them for the earlier incident." said Assistant Prosecutor Maurice Morton.

Edward Boldon pleaded guilty to pulling the trigger in the shooting. He faces up to four years behind bars for one count of felonious assault and a mandatory two years in prison for felony firearm.

He will be sentenced Aug. 13 by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Prentis Edwards.

"It was discussed with the victims. I can't comment much more than that," said Morton.

Boldon was originally charged with intent to commit murder and felony firearm. His attorney Cyril Pessina was unavailable for comment.

Boldon's alleged accomplice, Timothy Scott, 26, of Westland is charged with one count of assault with intent to commit murder. A plea bargain has yet to be made, although Morton indicated it was possible.

According to testimony at the preliminary exam in 35th District Court, Esch's friend Patrick McVeigh said they went to the trailer park twice that day to meet girls another friend had met through the Internet.

McVeigh and Esch spoke by. telephone with the girls that day, and the girls invited them over for a party, McVeigh testified.

McVeigh said he saw a suspi-. cious vehicle, a dark-colored Thunderbird at Hemlock and Orchard and circled around the trailer park.

As he neared the car again, McVeigh saw the passenger step out of the car, then he heard the gunshot. Esch told McVeigh he was hit. McVeigh sped off, calling 911 on his cell phone.

Meanwhile, police officers on a domestic violence call at nearby Sherwood Village trailer park spotted a speeding Thunderbird as they headed west on Michigan Avenue. The suspect's car was heading east. The men were apprehended at the I-275 entrance ramp.

Officers found a 12-gauge shotgun on eastbound Michigan Avenue, west of Haggerty. The gun was in two pieces after apparently being thrown from a Sherman confirmed school hours late last week, and she said the district also will announce the information in a newsletter to be sent to district homes by mid-August.

Former school board member Patricia Brown, contacted about a separate matter of campaign finances, said last week that several teachers and parents have voiced complaints to her that they haven't received timely information about the new school year, particularly starting times.

"I've never known a year when employees didn't know (before now) when they were to report to work and when students didn't know when to report to school," she said. "Usually they know by the end of the (previous) school year."

Meanwhile, negotiations are continuing as district officials and the teachers' union - the Wayne-Westland Education Association - try to reach a contract settlement. Talks started in spring.

When asked about the possibility of a strike that could delay the school year, Sherman said there has been "certainly no discussion of any kind regarding that matter."

"We're negotiating this week," Sherman said Wednesday, "We're proceeding,"

County proposals

Jail millage worth of renewal

bserver area voters will decide on Aug. 4 whether to renew 1-mill for Wayne County jail operations, juvenile detention facilities and youth assistance programs for four years.

The millage renewal is a key to continuing the fight against crime in Wayne County and merits voter support.

The mill costs the owner of a $100,000 -home with a $50,000 taxable value $48 annu-

While the communities are not getting all their jail needs fulfilled, a recent compromise is a good start.

In weighing the millage question, voters should consider this: The criminals are being locked up. In 1996, the Dickerson Detention Facility in Hamtramck detained 6,033 inmates from Wayne County suburban communities and townships, including 1,115 sentenced felons, 3,782 sentenced misdemeanants and 1,098 ordinance violators.

County officials say they have more than delivered on the millage, delivering 2,724 beds in cells for prisoners after promising 1,220.

Although we recommend that voters approve the millage, county officials also need to follow up on promises made to the CWW.

Public safety is key to healthy, strong, economically viable communities. The 1-mill renewal will continue to build on the successes in battling crime in Wayne County.

SMART deserves tax renewal

he property tax rate we voted three years ago for SMART, the suburban bus system, not only helps th elderly and handicapped Itake care of their periodic chores, but it , opened the doors to jobs for hundreds of thousands of people.

We suggest that part of the reason for Michigan's low unemployment rate is the investment we have made in SMART buses. radio equipment, computers and drivers to help people get to work here in the western Wayne County suburbs.

The SMART renewal Aug. 4 is four years this time. The tax amounts to 33 cents per $1,000 of taxable valuation. For a home with a market value of $100,000, SMART costs $16.50 a year.

Voters in Westland should continue SMART's successful jobs program by renewing its millage Aug. 4.

'Supermajority' bad policy

Voters in will decide Proposition A – known as supermajority – on Tuesday's ballot. If approved by voters the proposal will amend the county charter to require a twothirds vote of the county commission to place any new tax increase on the ballot. It will also require a 60 percent (or supermajority) vote of the electorate to approve any new tax

The proposal represents bad public policy and according to information from the Citizens Research Council violates the state Constitution and the Headlee Amendment.

The proposal goes against the very basic democratic principle of majority rule.

On Tuesday, Aug. 4, don't forget to vote the nonpartisan portion of the ballot and vote no on Proposition A.

On Aug. 4 voters will nominate candidates in the Democratic and Republican races for Wayne County executive. Given the current political demographics in Wayne County, the Democratic primary is tantamount to elec-

The Democratic race features incumbent Edward H. McNamara, former mayor of Livonia, and challenger Sharon McPhail, an attorney and unsuccessful candidate for Detroit mayor in 1993. Also on the Democratic ballot is Wallace Servlo of Detroit.

In the Democratic race, we recommend that voters return McNamara to a fourth term to finish the job he started nearly 12 years ago.

The McNamara Administration has been the engine for economic growth and fiscal responsibility in Wayne County. It has improved the parks system (western Wayne County taxpayers need only to travel along Hines Drive to see the positive results), been an advocate for a cleaner environment (Rouge River cleanup and Newburgh Lake restoration) and a champion of public transportation.

McNamara offers voters a proven track record of getting the job done. Unemployment is at a record low, and crime is down. He has put the county on a solid financial track. He has surrounded himself with, and delegated responsibility to, a diverse, dedicated, hardworking group of people. He has,

however, some unfinished business with airport expansion and renovations and deserves to be returned to office to finish what he started. What happens in the next four years will be his political legacy, and we're confident that he won't disappoint the residents of Wayne County.

McNamara has the experience, vitality and vision to lead Wayne County into the 21st Century.

In the Republican race, the Observer recommends Herb Scott of Canton Township. Scott, vice president of Major Pharmaceuticals of Livonia, serves as treasurer for the GOP in the 13th Congressional District.

Scott knows the issues and offers Republican voters a credible, intelligent candidate for county executive.

Voters to narrow circuit court field on Tuesday

For many attorneys, becoming a judge is a dream that may go back to their days as law students.

Six attorneys who live in Wayne County hope to achieve that dream in November. But only four will advance to the general election Nov. 3 when two will be elected.

Six candidates are running to replace Wayne County Circuit Judges Terrence Boyle and Geraldine Ford. The terms end Jan. 1, 2005.

They are: Annette Jurkiewicz Berry of Taylor, an assistant attorney general with the state of Michigan: Patricia Fresard of Grosse Pointe Woods, an assistant Macomb County prosecutor; and practicing attorneys Gary Gardner of Dearborn, Jane Gillis of Grosse Pointe Woods, Muriel Hughes of Grosse Pointe Woods and Brian Sullivan of Grosse Pointe Park.

Jurkiewicz Berry

Jurkiewicz Berry, 38, said she's always wanted to be involved in public service, but also wanted to be a judge since she was 19 during her undergraduate days at the University of Michigan.

But it was her father,

Jurkiewicz, who started her on the path of public service during his days as a Wayne County commissioner and city council member in Taylor. Jurkiewicz Berry worked on high profile cases such as ticket fixing with court employees and working on a task force prosecuting stores that trafficked food stamps illegally. She worked on the task force for more than six years.

Jurkiewicz Berry graduated from the University of Michigan, then later the Detroit College of Law.

Fresard

Fresard, 41, has worked in the Macomb County Prosecutor's Office since 1987, currently serving as chief of Fresard criminal sexual conduct division, personally prosecuting or overseeing criminal sexual conduct and child molestation cases in Macomb County.

"As a judge there's no better

Joseph way to get experience than to be in the court room every day," Fresard said.

Fresard said she brings outstanding credentials to the race and a desire to serve as a "dedicated and fair" judge. Active with the National Child Advocacy Centers, Fresard is their Midwest regional speaker.

Fresard initiated CARE houses for child abuse and molestation cases in Macomb and Oakland counties. The houses are located near courts and allow an unbiased social worker to interview molestation victims so prosecutors and police can obtain a clearer picture of the truth in a case.

She hopes to bring a similar program to Wayne County.

Fresard's appointments include a team that studies child's deaths, Carehouse Program Committee, Turning Point Nurse Examiner Committee, and Michigan Juvenile Officers' Association. Fresard has been involved with Governor's Task Force Against Child Abuse.

Lotz Corridor project would border Westland

Imagine a multi-screen movie complex, fine hotels, upscale retail shops and unique restaurants all tied together in one development.

That's the vision of Canton's new Lotz Road Corridor Development Plan. Farmington Hillsbased Burton Katzman Development Company is working on a $150 million project along Ford Road and I-275 that would be the centerpiece of the new plan.

The Lotz Road corridor spans nearly two square miles bounded by the highway on the west, Koppernick Road on the north, the township boundary on the east and Cherry Hill Road on the

The plan, which has been more than a year in the making, seeks to create a mixed use for the area with residential, commercial and light industrial. Community Planner Jeffrey Goulet said the 124-acre Burton Katzman development would set the tone for the corridor.

"I think it would be the impetus," he said, "because it would be so large."

Recently, Canton's planning commission unanimously recommended approval for amending its comprehensive development plan by incorporating the Lotz corridor plan.

"It's a long-range plan and a decision-making tool for the planning commission and board," he added.

The idea is to avoid piecemeal development that has occurred elsewhere in Canton. Commissioner Melissa McLaughlin praised all those involved with creating the plan.

"It was immensely difficult to come up with this plan," she said. "It truly meets the township's needs. I think you guys did a very good job."

The plan identifies five major goals for the corridor. Additionally, it states that the corridor should act as a "gateway" to Canton from Westland and establish a "corporate park" identity for the township.

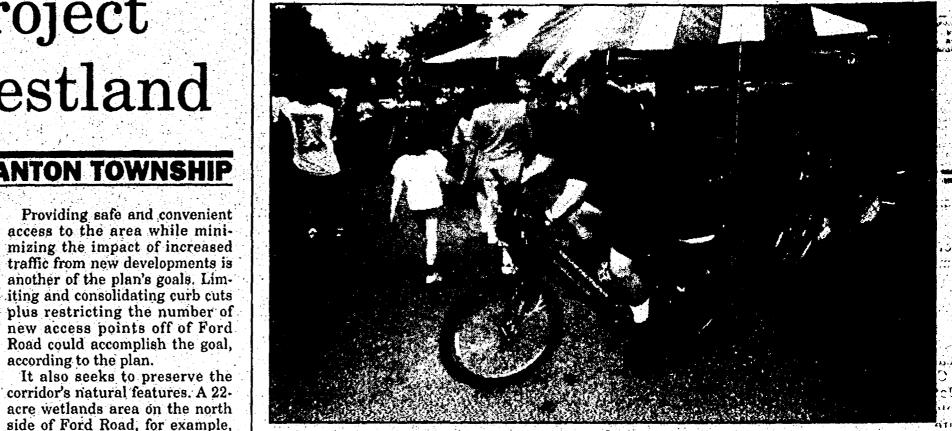

The plan's first major goal is to ensure development is consistent with community standards for site and architectural design. Goulet said it will be important for the corridor to match existing development, especially along Ford Road.

Lighting, landscaping and signs for any new project in the corridor would have to conform with design concepts of the. Downtown Development Authority. The plan also allows for the DDA to review development plans for the corridor.

Devising such an extensive plan for Lotz Road is key in Canton's continued development, Goulet said. Little remaining commercial area exists, he said. "It's one of our most important corridors."

The plan now heads to the township board of trustees for

If you're sick or hurt at a local event, a person on a bike might just come to your rescue. Paramedics are patrolling on bicycles as part of a program of the Westland Fire Department.

In its second year, the program just finished a busy time earlier this summer at the Westland Summer Festival. But paramedics on bikes can be found at work on Saturdays in Hines Park and at other area events such as the concerts behind the library.

Riding a bike gives paramedics more and easier access at community events. At the festival, access is easier because vehicles can't very easily get back to where the rides are, according to Capt. Mike Reddy, EMS coordinator.

Many patients the paramedics deal with have only bumps and bruises. They are patched up and sent on their way, Reddy said.

But more serious injuries and emergencies are also handled such as a pedestrian hit by a car or someone overcome by the heat.

Access was also easier on bicycles during the festival fireworks show which was held in Central City Park in an area where rescue vehicles didn't have easy access, Reddy said.

People who needed emergency medical help before, during and after the festival parade were also assisted more quickly by the paramedics on bikes, according to assistant fire Chief Bob Fields of the public education division. "The bikes were there in 15 seconds," he said, while the closest rescue

County Family Law Bar Association.

A graduate of University of Detroit Law School and Michigan State University, Gardder is running for the fourth time for judge. He has previously run for Michigan Court of Appeals and twice for 19th District judge in Dearborn. Gardner also was a law instructor at Detroit College of Law for eight yeats until 1990.

Gardner also worked for Ford relocating to Australia in the ate 1970s. Today, he practices out of a law office in Dearborn.

Gardner has indicated he wants to adjudicate in the family division of the circuit court if elected.

"When you think of the volume of cases with family court, Judge (Kirsten) Kelly has done a good job," Gardner said. "This is the place I want to go.

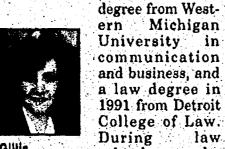

"It's something where I think I can make a difference. I would bring fairness and effectiveness to the court."

Jane Gillis

Gillis, 35, has practiced law in of the Wayne areas of probate, criminal, collection, appellate and family law. Gillis received a bachelor's ern Michigan University in communication and business, and a law degree in 1991 from Detroit College of Law. During law. school, she interned at the Michigan Court of Appeals and the former Detroit Recorders Michigan Attorney General Motor Co. for five years, twice Frank Kelley appointed Gillis to special assistant attorney general in May 1995. She also worked as a law clerk for the Third Judicial Circuit Court from 1987 to 1991. Prior to that, she worked on the staff of the Michigan Court of Appeals in Detroit.

> Gillis also has tutored at the Dominican Literacy Center for four years, which resulted in her receiving the "Spirit of Detroit" award in 1993.

Gillis believes she is qualified because she has a diverse practice. She calls her organizational skills another strength.

A MORE EFFECTIVE WAY TO BRUSH

Perhaps it is time to rethink the way you toothpaste, and give teeth a thorough brush your teeth. A study presented at an International Association of Dental Research meeting showed that "day-brushing" teeth, starting on the inner surfaces first, resulted in a 60% decrease in tartar buildup and a 50% decrease in gingival bleeding. It seems that a dry, soft brush does a better job of moistened toothbrush. Researchers suggest starting with a dry, soft-bristled toothbrush on the inside of the bottom teeth, then the inside surfaces of the top teeth. After 45 seconds of brushing, take another 45 seconds to brush the outer and cherring surfaces. Finally, moisten the brush, apply overall brushing. The correct way to brush and floss is an important factor in your dental hygiene. At LIVONIA VILLAGE DENTAL ASSOCIATES, we can provide you with complete general dental services, from a professional cleaning (preventative) to full mouth reconstruction dentistry. We're located at 19171 Merriman 478-2110 to schedule an appointment. Smiles are our business. We provide "twilight sleep," intravenous sedation.

FOCUS ON WINE

RAY & ELEANOR HEALD

New Zealand wines make market splash

ome of the best wine regions of the world tout the merits of their maritime climate. Coastal wine regions are warmed by sunlight during the day and cooled by sea breezes at night. Grapes grown in these ideal conditions are referred to as "cool climate."

New Zealand's two main islands (known simply as North Island and South Island), create a long narrow country where no site is greater than 80 miles from the sea. White grapes, in particular sauvignon blanc and chardonnay, and red pinot noir have a happy homeland in New Zealand.

French and English missionaries brought grape vines to New Zealand over 150 years ago, but it was not until the 1980s that New Zealand wines with intense, high level varietal aromas and flavors began to make international waves. Some very good wines from Giesen Estate and Tas-

Bailey's Crunchy Fudge Sandwiches are a hit at her husband Bert's company picnic. "I made them a couple of times, and they just disappeared," she said. The recipe is nearly 20 years old, and came from a booklet - "Baking Made Easy," written by Mrs. Marie Silverstein and her students at Pierson Junior High in Redford. "I like to make desserts more than main dishes," said Bailey, who cooks most every night. Strawberry Fluff is another one of her favorite no-bake summertime desserts. "Most people like strawberries," she said. "It's easy."

The crust is made with store bought angel food cake torn into bite size pieces. It's topped with a mixture of strawberry Jell-O, sliced strawberries and Cool Whip. Mary Piontek of Redford would rather bake than cook, but every night, no matter what, she cooks dinner for her husband, David, and 18-month-old daughter, Madeline.

"My husband gets a home cooked meal everyday," she said. "You can make time for things that are important. Life is centered around meals. They say the kitchen is the heart of the home."

Piontek's Best Banana Pie is a family favorite. "It's easy, and the almond flavor is a nice surprise," she said. "This cream pie is also very light.

Her recipe is three or four recipes combined. "I changed things and added things," she said. "I have a lot of my grandma's cookbooks. People always like this pie. The almond flavor surprises them.

She got the idea from a breakfast she and her husband enjoyed at a bed and breakfast. "They served French toast and bananas soaked in Amaretto, Almond is one of my favorite flavorings I never thought of combining it with bananas until

If you crave chocolate, consider Mocha Frost Dessert (pictured above) - fat-free or low-fat coffee and chocolate-flavored frozen yogurt or ice cream are layered onto a crunchy wheat germ crust laced with cinnamon and brown sugar. The wheat germ adds a delicious nut-like flavor that compliments the mocha filling.

Lime Twist Daiquiri Pie takes the flavor of one of summer's favorite beverages - the daiquiri and turns it into a delicious, tropical dessert.

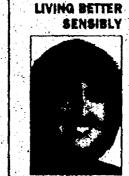

The crunchy oatmeal cookie crust is easy and bakes in just 15 minutes. The rum and tangy-lime flavored filling is made with reduced or fat-free cream cheese, condensed milk and whipped top-

A chocolate-lover's dream, Frozen Chocolate Mint "Julep" Squares features a minty chocolate ice cream filling in a quick and easy chocolate oatmeal cookie crust. Using fat-free ice cream and whipped topping cuts the fat, but not the flavor. A sprinkling of crispy chocolate oatmeal cookie crumbs is a delicious finale in this triple-layer frozen dessert.

Both of these oat crusts are very versatile. Simply bake either crust and fill with fat-free ice cream or frozen yogurt, layering several different flavors if you prefer. Or swirl ice cream topping through the softened ice cream before spooning it into the crust and freezing.

Preserve fruits, vegetables to enjoy later

PRICE

Harvest time is fast approaching. Now that your garden is growing by leaps and bounds, what do you do with the fruits (vegetables and herbs) of your labor? There are many ways to preserve home-grown produce. The advantage is that you can consume the freshest foods possible in or out of season.

Growing your own produce, and especially herbs, is a highly economical way of obtaining a nutritious

Food preservation methods

Anne Kohls, Living Better Sensibly's Healthy Home Cooking program chef, suggests these methods for preserving the fruits of your labor;

■ Canning - Yields the best quality results with fewest risks. Canning maintains integrity of the product, natural color, fresh flavor and generally high nutritive value.

Canning also prevents moisture loss and reactions with oxygen which, in turn, prevents the activity of food enzymes that can destroy the food. However, you may lose nutrients, specifically in vegetables. Canning also takes time, and requires special equipment. Organization and following directions carefully are very important to avoid the risk of food poison-

Cold storage or Root Cellaring - Is the easiest, fect for our climate. However, you must have a base- duty freezer bags for storage. ment or outdoor cellar. You can create an outdoor the ground, below frost level. Root crops such as beets, cabbage, and potatoes can be stored for up to eight months, unwashed, in cardboard boxes, baskets, crates or containers in a cool and dry atmosphere. Late fall is a good time to use this method.

Huntington Woods Seed and Sod Garden Club

■ Drying - Fruit, vegetables, herbs and spices can be dried or dehydrated using special equipment. Apples, bananas, cherries, grapes, peaches, nectarines, pineapple and pears are most popular fruits to dry. Vegetables that work well include beans, beets, carrots, mushrooms, peppers, tomatoes, squash. You can dry foods any time of year. Make baby food at half the cost by adding water to dried fruits or vegetables and then blending them. Drying herbs and spices is very easy. You can hang them, or use a conventional oven or dehydrator.

Freezing - Freezing can be done as soon as produce is ripe. You can freeze anything that you would normally eat cooked such as green beans, broccoli, tomatoes, and carrots. Freezing vegetables is both convenient and fast. All you need is a heavy duty pot

If you're interested in preserving foods, pick up a storage facility by digging mounds and trenches in copy of The Ball Blue Book: Guide to Home Canning, Freezing & Dehydration." It explains how to safety can, freeze and dehydrate fruits and vegetables. Look for the "Blue Book," wherever canning supplies are sold, or call 1-(800)-240-3340.

Cathy Fresia, vice president of the Huntington Woods Seed and Sod Garden Club, has an organic garden in her backyard. Cathy feels strongly about organic herbs.

"If your herbs are not organic, removal of water in the drying process makes for a high concentration of pesticides in the finished product," she said.

Satisfaction guaranteed

"Canning is the most satisfying form of food preservation," she said. "When I walk downstairs to my basement, I can see the beautifully canned foods that sit on my shelves."

She uses her canned foods for gifts and exchanges home canned products at Christmas-time with friends and family.

Preservation of food has endless possibilities. Learning how to preserve foods can be a very rewarding experience for children. Having a pantry stocked with homemade spaghetti sauce, fruits, and vegetables is a time saver for families on the go. Canned and dried fruits and vegetables can be healthy, nutritious snacks, and additions to tasty meals.

CRUNCHY FUDGE SANDWICHES

- Butter to grease pan
- 1 cup butterscotch chips 1/4 cup peanut butter
- 4 cups Rice Krispies
- 1 tablespoon water
- 1 cup chocolate chips
- 1/2 cup confectioners' sugar 2 tablespoons soft margarine

Butter a 9-by-9-by-2-inch pan. In a small saucepan, melt butterscotch chips and peanut butter over low heat. Stir until smooth.

In a large bowl add 4 cups Rice Krispies, stir butterscotch mixture into Rice Krispies.

Press half of cereal mixture into buttered pan. Chill for 30 minutes.

In a small saucepan, add and stir while melting, 1 tablespoon water, 1 cup chocolate chips, 1/2 cup confectioners' sugar, 2 tablespoons soft margarine.

Spread chocolate mixture over cold cereal mixture. Cover with rest of the Rice Krispy/butterscotch mixture. Chill 45 minutes, cut into squares.

STRAWBERRY FLUFF

- 1 purchased angel food cake
- 1 (8 ounce) tub Cool Whip
- 1 (3 ounce) package Jell-O 1 1/2 cups boiling water
- 1 (10 ounce) package sliced frozen strawberries
- (thawed) 1 tablespoon sugar

Pinch of salt Dissolve Jell-O into 1 1/2 cups boiling water. Stir in strawberries, sugar, and pinch of salt. Cool until mixture thickens, 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Cut 3/4 of the angel food cake into bite-size pieces. Set the other 1/4 aside for later, or eat it while you work. Put the angel food cake pieces in the bottom of 9-by-13inch Pyrex baking dish.

After Jell-O thickens, fold in Cool Whip. Pour mixture over angel food cake. Refrigerate 4-5 hours or overnight. Cut into squares to serve. This Best Banana Pie recipe is compliments of Mary Piontek. "I use very, very ripe bananas," she said. When the skins of your bananas start to turn black, don't throw them out, make banana pie.

nce upon a time there was a young man named Bob who loved to run in the morning and work in the meat business after school. In fact, he loved working in the meat business so much that he wished he could own a meat market some day. He continued to work and learn everything he could about the meat business. So where was Bob? He was the manager of the meat department at Chathams, His passion for his work was unsurpassed until he ran into a different passion.

Her name was Cindy. He hired her to work in his meat department and quickly learned that she was a woman he could be a lifelong partner with, both in and out of the business world. She was a hard worker, a true wine connoisseur and she shared his dream to own a store of their own. So where was Bob? Well, twenty-some years ago he and Cindy were at the altar saying "I Do," and planning their next commitment; to open a party store of their own. 🕒

From that party store they went on to other ventures until they met another Bob and decided to go into partnership with him. So where was Bob? Comanaging Bob's Farm Market in Westland. During this partnership he and Cindy dreamed of a different kind of market. A magical place where customers could shop and not have to wait in long lines. Where they could find specialty spices and seasonings to add flavor to their favorite recipes. A place where they could discover new Bob and Cindy were so determined to make their dream come true that they should their interest in Bob's Farm Market and journeyed to Canton. So vast knowledge of food, preparation with his customers. And if you couldn't find Bob, he had trained all of his employees so well that any of them could answer your questions. Or they would find someone who could. This was the special kind of service Bob had always dreamed of for his store.

His dedication to customer satisfaction grew out of a genuine love of people. So where was Bob? He could be found lending his freezer to an elderly couple who had just lost power and desperately needed some place to store their perishables. Or may-be he was in the back room preparing one of the 732 food baskets for the less fortunate of Holy Trinity. And sometimes he was out in the parking lot sponsoring a fund raiser for his other favorite cause, the "Make-a-Wish" Foundation, Now Bob was able to help make the wishes of others come true!

Just when Bob thought all of his dreams had come true, something else happened. The owner of the old Bob's Farm Market building called. It seems that the other Bob had since gone out of business and the old building was in need of a new tenant, as well as some tender loving carel So where was Bob? # Casserole is a flavorful way to use up summer squash

BY DANA JACOBI SPECIAL WRITER

Once the zucchini season starts, the supply of summer squash seems to increase faster than you can get a sunburn. The year I shared a country house. complete with its own garden, the zucchini situation got so out of hand that we even tried playing softball with the squash that had grown to the size of a baseball bat. Since then, I have settled on three more practical strategies for using zucchini. They should help you cope with even the most enormous glut.

My first strategy is to reach for the grater. Shredded zucchini can be used in much more than cake and muffins. Try it in a casserole; toss it raw, with lemon juice and a drizzle of olive oil to make a light "slaw;" or sauté it with chopped scallions and basil. This last dish is an easy way to use large amounts of zucchini. since the squash cooks down in the pan like fresh spinach.

As much as zucchini itself, I love eating the squash's golden blossoms. They are one of summer's unique delicacies, as well as a great way to literally nip an over-abundance of squash in the bud. If you don't garden, check ask neighbors and friends to pluck some of their zucchini blossoms for you.

One way of eating zucchini blossoms is to wilt the blossoms in a dab of butter, then pour eggs beaten with extra whites over them to make a special. frittata. You can also enjoy their buttery flavor by tossing a handful into the pan when you sauté grated zucchini or make zucchini risotto. Add the flowers near the end of the cooking so they retain their shape and texture.

As a last resort, when I have exhausted all of my zucchini recipes and the squash continue to produce faster than rabbits, my generous nature takes over. I load up the back seat of my car with my excess supply and pay a visit to my city-dwelling friends. Neighbors in my apartment building are delighted to get a garden-fresh taste of summer's bounty. One woman even requests the baseball bat-size squash; shredded, they make the best zucchini bread.

This "en-lightened" version of an old-fashioned casserole is great for two reasons: it uses a fair amount of zucchini and, it your local farmer's market, or has a rich creamy flavor the whole family will enjoy.

Sleep disorders Over 35 million Americans complain about insomnia

h, for a good night's sleep, some peaceful zzz's, a little shut-eye.

Not everybody is as fortunate as Rip Van Winkle, who snoozed for 30 years, most likely in sleep's deepest and most health-restorative delta and REM stages.

Facts compiled by St. Mary Hospital Sleep Disorders Unit indicate more than 35 million Americans complain about chronic insomnia and one in four Americans over age 60 suffer from sleep apnea or experience disturbed breathing.

Dr. Mark Villeneauve, a pulmonologist and director of the Sleep Disorders Unit, said a person deprived of one night's sleep is equivalent to being legally drunk. "You can imagine if someone has sleep apnea on a steel girder."

Consider these implications of sleep deprivation:

■ Sleep experts have linked lack of sleep with major catastrophes like the Exxon Valdez oil spill in 1989, the Three Mile Island nuclear accident in 1979, the space shuttle Challenger explosion in 1986, and the Chernobyl nuclear reactor explosion in 1986.

The Michigan Sleep Disorders Association reports that sleepiness behind the wheel is associated with 240,000 motor vehicle accidents in the United States each year, with 60,000 fatalities.

A National Sleep Foundation survey released in March 1998 reported 23 percent of 1,027 Americans surveyed had fallen asleep while driving.

The Institute of Circadian Physiology says sleeping problems in workplace - the result of irregular shifts or medical disorders - cost companies about $70 billion annually in lost productivity, medical bills, and industrial accidents.

ing oxygen levels to drop. The person then wakes from a deep sleep, often gasping for air. Besides chronic fatigue and nodding off during the day, Villeneauve said medical risks of sleep apnea include high blood pressure, heart attack and stroke. Sadly, sleep apnea is also linked to a three- to seventime increase in risk for falling asleep

With sleep apnea, severe and prolonged snoring occurs when the breathing airway becomes obstructed.

Breathing briefly stops (apnea), caus-

Sleep apnea is most associated with the obese, although studies have shown the obesity-sleep apnea connection in the elderly is much less pronounced.

According to the National Sleep Institute, 4 percent of middle-aged men and 2 percent of middle-aged women suffer from sleep apnea. After age 65, the figure rises to 28 percent for men and 24 percent for women.

John Chelenyak, 73, of Livonia suffered from sleep apnea for several years before seeking help.

"I snored loudly, and my wife noticed my shallow breathing and that I would sometimes gasp for air. It was getting to the point where I was waking up two or three times a night, and it was interfering with her sleep almost nightly."

Last February Chelenyak had a sleep study done at St. Mary Hospital and received a diagnosis of sleep

Villeneauve recommended the use of "continuous positive airway pressure" or CPAP. Chelenyak began wearing a mask over his nose at night that emitted air pressure in waves, which created an air splint to hold his airway open during sleep.

"My wife noticed that I slept times I used the CPAP device. There was a remarkable difference in my Studies have shown CPAP is 85 percent effective, and surgery is 40-50 percent effective in treating sleep

"Usually the trade-off of the discomfort of wearing the mask is more than balanced by the sense of wellcompromised," said Dr. Thomas Gravelyn, director of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Sleep Disorders Cen-

Middle-aged men weighing 120 percent of their ideal weight and with collar sizes of 18 inches and over (and women with collar sizes of 16 inches and over) are most at risk for sleep apnea. As their neck sizes increase, their air passageways decrease in size. Interruption in oxygen flow causes the basal metabolic rate to go

"It's almost impossible for them to be treated for obesity without the sleep apnea being treated," said Ville-

Other causes of sleep apnea include a backwards displaced jaw, huge tongue, backwards positioned soft palate, large uvula, and use of alcohol or sleep aids.

Sleep's stages

Normal sleep consists of two major states: REM (Rapid Eye Movement) sleep and NREM (nonREM) sleep. NREM sleep is further divided into four deepening sleep stages. Sleep typically begins with stage 1, light sleep, before progressing into the later stages. Stages 3 and 4, also called delta sleep, provide the deepest sleep. Our fifth stage is REM sleep, the place of dreams.

The National Sleep Institute says our sleep needs remain constant throughout adulthood, including our golden years. Most of us still require the same seven to nine hours of sleep through the night the first couple of a night that we did when we were

> However, middle-aged and elderly people spend less time in deeper sleep than younger people. By age 60 or 70, many adults experience a decrease in the proportion of time spent in delta sleep

The NSI also reports that middleaged and elderly people suffer from

Rules for 'sleep hygiene'
You may wash behind your ears and brush your teeth every day, but that doesn't mean you have good "sleep hygiene." Here's a few rules from the sleep experts:

Sleep only as much as needed to feel refreshed and healthy. Curtailing time in bed solidifies sleep; excessive time in bed leads to fragmented and shallow sleep.

Get up at the same time in the morning. Don't compensate by sleeping late. Remember, it's the time you get up that sets your sleep clock.

■ Daily exercise can deepen sleep. However, vigorous exercise should cease three hours. before bedtime.

■ Do not go to bed on a full stomach; a light snack is OK. ■ Occasional foud noises (alreraft flyovers) disturb sleep even though you don't wake up and cannot remember them in the morning. Sound proof your bedroom as much as possible if you must sleep close to noise.

Excessively warm rooms may disturb sleep; however, there is no evidence that excessively cold rooms solidify sleep.

An occasional steeping pill may help, but their chronic use is ineffective in most insomni-

Caffeine (including chocolate) in the evening disturbs sleep, even in those who believe it

Alcohol helps tense people fall asleep more easily, but the ensuing sleep is disruptive and fragmented.

The chronic use of tobacco disturbs sleep. Leave your troubles behind. Download your mind at least a half hour before sleep.

■ Do not read or watch TV in bed. Your bedroom should be associated with sleep.

If you cannot sleep, do not allow yourself to get angry or frustrated. Get up and do something else. Turn your clocks around or cover their faces. Your body will tell you when it's

Mortality rates higher for disadvantaged

Scientists, policy makers and pundits have generally assumed that disadvantaged Americans have higher mortality rates primarily because they more often engage in risky health behaviors. Not true.

Health-risk behaviors such as smoking, drinking, lack of physical activity, and being overweight account for only a small part of the excess mortality among Americans with low levels of income and education, according to Paula Lantz, assistant professor of health management and policy at the University of Michigan School of Public Health.

Lantz's study, titled "Socioeconomic Factors, Health Behaviors and Mortality: Results from a Nationally-Representative Prospective Study of U.S. Adults," appeared in the June 3 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The study investigated the association between high mortality rates, socioeconomic position, and four behavioral risk factors - cigarette smoking, alcohol consumption, physical activity and weight. Using a national sample of 3,617 adults first interviewed in 1986, Lantz and her colleagues examined the increased exposure to occupational and health behaviors on the risk of dying in lack of preventive medical care.

family incomes over $30,000, those ed potential for reducing socioeconomic more than health risk behaviors. If we with incomes of less than $10,000 were over three times as likely to die. Those with incomes between $10,000 and $30,000 were more than twice as likely

The increased prevalence of health risk behaviors, however, did not explain the higher rate of age-adjusted mortality among those with lower incomes.

"After taking baseline health status and personal health behaviors into account, we found that people with lower incomes still had a much higher risk of dying," said Lantz.

A combination of other factors associated with lower income likely play a greater role than personal lifestyle factors in explaining the elevated mortality risk. These factors include the greater chronic and acute stresses of daily life, decreased social supports, lower self-esteem, heightened levels of anger and hostility, and a decreased sense of control.

Other key elements thought to be associated with high mortality rates among the disadvantaged include impact of education, income and these environmental health hazards, and disparities in mortality. This gap is due to more than lifestyle choices and therefore would persist even with improved health behaviors, Lantz said.

Programs designed at improving Compared with people with annual individual health behaviors have limit-

"The bottom line here is that income differences in mortality are due to a lot least four sleep disorders in numbers far greater than younger people: sleep annea, restless legs syndrome, periodic limb movements disorder, and advanced sleep phase syndrome.

Insomnia

Signs of insomnia include difficulty falling asleep, waking up frequently during the night with difficulty returning to sleep, waking up too early in the morning, and unrefreshing sleep, Insomnia results in tiredness, a lack of energy, difficulty concentrating, and irritability during the day.

However, insomnia is a symptom, not a disorder in itself. Villeneauve said don't confuse an insomniac with a "night owl," whose sleep clock is based on a different set of circadian, or physiological, rhythms.

Transient insomnia is most likely stress related; chronic insomnia is more complex, often involving a combination of underlying physical or mental disorders. One of the most common causes of chronic insomnia is depression.

Depression is often "reactive" and results from the loss of a job or a loved one. It does not require seeing a sleep specialist but needs to be addressed through a family physician.

Physical causes of insomnia include arthritis, kidney disease, heart failure, asthma, sleep apnea, narcolepsy, restless legs syndrome, Parkinson's disease, and hyperthyroidism.

A 1995 National Sleep Foundation Gallop Poll (Sleep in America) reported nearly half of Americans suffered from insomnia.

In the resulting report, Thomas Roth, Ph.D., Health and Scientific Advisor of the National Sleep Foundation and director of the Sleep Disorders Research Center at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit, warned:

"People have no idea how important sleep is to their lives. Most of us need eight hours of sound sleep to function at our best, and good health demands good sleep. Conversely, lack of sleep and sleep problems have serious, often life-threatening consequences. This is a case where what we don't know can harm us - and harm those around us."

Thirty-seven percent of those polled reported being so sleepy during the day. that it interfered with daily activities, and the percentage increased to 52 percent for shift workers. Those who reported daytime sleepiness believed their job performance dropped by 30 percent and their performance of family duties fell by 50 percent.

Chronic insomnia may also be due to behavioral factors, including the misuse of caffeine, alcohol, or other substances; disrupted sleep/wake cycles resulting from shift work or other nighttime activity schedules; and chronic stress.

Villeneauve said shift-workers need at least four or five days to adjust their sleep clocks. The minimum they should be assigned to a shift is one month.

Sleep clinics

Gravelyn said people experiencing insomnia do not need expensive sleep studies unless they have underlying physical problems. However, with sleep apnea and other physical-based sleep disorders, a sleep study is necessary. Diagnosis and treatment are important. What does diagnosis entail?

In an overnight sleep study at a sleep disorders clinic, individuals are monitored by noninvasive polysomnographic equipment that measures respiration (breathing) and arousal through EEG (brain wave) readings.

The activities that occur during sleep (brain waves, muscle movements, eye movements, breathing through your mouth and nose, snoring, heart rate, leg movements) are monitored by applying small metal discs called electrodes to the head and skin.

Flexible elastic belts are placed round your chest and abdomen to measure your breathing. A clip that fits on your finger or earlobe monitors the level of oxygen in you blood and your heart rate.

Some clinics use regular hospital rooms, while others have set up suites. However, don't expect a find a TV in your room.

"Most of the people are sleep apnea patients, and most are pretty beat" by the time they check in by 9:30 a.m., said Jon Lapinski, head technician at St. Mary Hospital Sleep Disorder Unit.

If the disorder is mild, weight loss, use of pillows, a change in sleep position (avoiding lying on one's back), and abstaining from alcohol and sedatives may be all that's get back into good sleep

However, if the disordered breathing is moderate to severe, the sleep specialist may recommend the CPAC mask.

With an sleep-related health problems affecting approximately 4 percent of the population, Villeneauve hopes more people will seek help. "With two to three million people in the Detroit metropolitan area, this means that potentially about 100,000 people suffer from sleeprelated problems."

Everybody deserves a good night's

Take steps to avoid Internet pedophiles

f you have Internet access at your home and allow your young children to have access to chat rooms, it is practically impossible for them not to be bombarded by pornography, X-rated ads for Web sites and ... worse.

Much worse. In the past three months, a dozen men have been arrested around the country for using the Internet to sexually prey on young boys and girls. Two of the arrests involved Michigan men, including a 37year-old Romeo man who used the Internet to try and "buy" a 13-year-old girl for sex.

Ex-con drove to Boston

Three weeks ago, an ex-con with a record for sex crimes drove his pickup from Hillsdale County in Michigan to a suburb of Boston. He had posed as an 18-year-old teenager and had convinced a 16-year-old girl to runaway with him

The girl's father saw his daughter sneaking out the door with her suitcase and was able to stop her just as she was getting in the suspect's truck.

These cases are not unusual.

In Oakland County, Sgt. Bob Kowalski of the Troy Police Department had a case earlier this year involving a 13year-old girl who ran away from home. Kowalski located her in Baltimore, where a 40-year-old man she met on the Internet had put her up in a sleazy motel.

"This is a very real concern for parents," said Kowalski. "Child molesters frequent the Internet chat rooms that the kids are more apt to be at. Either they'll pose as kids to get into the conversation or they'll pretend to be somebody they're not.

'Ashley' gets mail

A couple of weeks ago, as part of a television investigation into online predators, I sent up an America Online screen name and profile for a 15-yearold girl called Ashley. The first ad for a Web site offering live sex videos appeared four minutes later. Over the next four days, 53 other ads and pornographic e-mails came in.

Then I logged Ashley" onto a teen chat room. Almost immediately, messages arrived on my computer screen in which "Ashley" was propositioned, offered more pornography, solicited for dates and asked to meet older men.

Kids who use the Internet told me my Cyberspace chat rooms can get very on," he says.

19 and has been using the Internet since she was 12. She met three of her boyfriends online but says there are "seriously dangerous" people online.

Personal questions

"They'll first start talking to you about general things and then they'll start asking personal questions about what you look like and what you like doing for fun. They'll bring up sex," she says. "I have a girlfriend who was talking to one guy He said he was 18. He turned out to be 35 years old and he actually had a criminal record."

Sgt. Kowalski says police agencies are sharing information, setting up online sting investigations and doing all they can to catch these perverts. "But we need more resources, maybe a multijurisdictional law enforcement experience as "Ashley" was typical. task force to really put the pressure

"The Internet is part of our lives Mary Jane is from Royal Oak. She's now. And it's a great resource. But parents need to know that there are down sides, too, and before they just hand over a computer and modem to their kids, they'd better think about their online safety."

> Here's my advice on what parents can do:

■ If you have Internet access at home for the kids, first make sure you understand how e-mail and instant messaging works. Then talk to your kids about the dangers of online predators and striking up online "chats" with strangers.

Keep the computer in an area accessible to the whole family so adults can observe what is happening on screen, Don't let young kids have Internet access from their room.

Restrict young children from using chat rooms... no matter how innocent pcmike.com they sound. I wouldn't allow any child under 16 to ever access a chat room. Period. There are simply too many sickos online who troll these areas, and it is impossible to keep their trash from your kids.

■ Install filtering software such as Net Nanny or Surfwatch and use parental controls on America Online to block access to X-rated Web sites, prevent your children from entering chat room and using instant messaging features. Don't forget to block your child's screen name from receiving any e-mail from strangers.

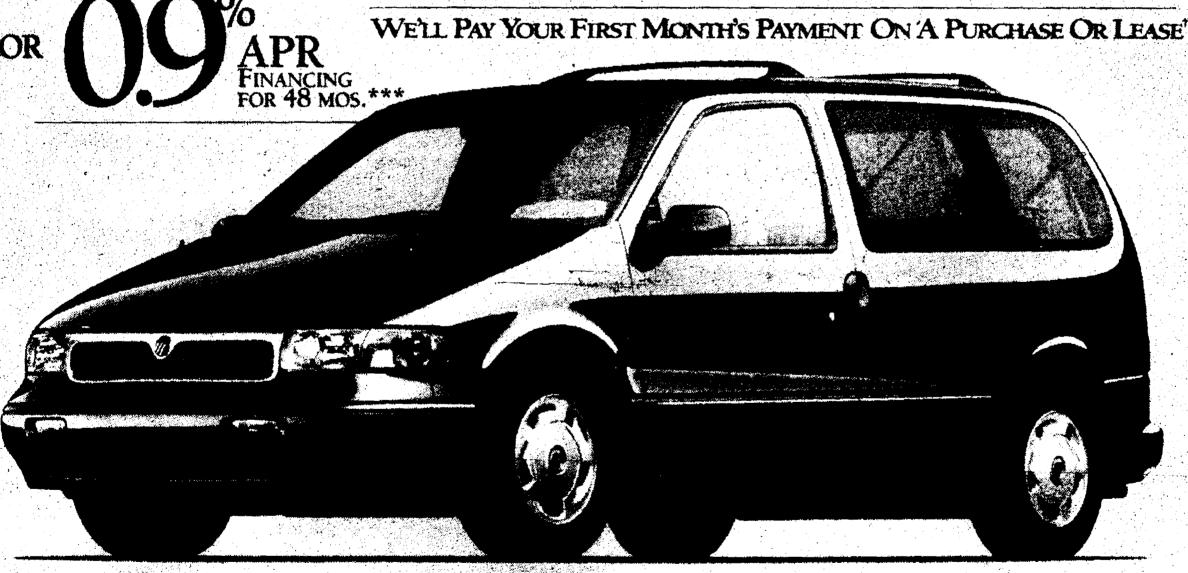

Never give out personal information on the Internet such as an address, telephone number or Social Security number. And change your passwords frequently, monthly, if pos-

Artist plays on his love of music

usic and art just seem to go hand-in-hand in John Nieckarz's paintings. When he was 15, and playing trumpet in the school band at John Glenn High School in Westland, Nieckarz painted a portrait of Dizzy Gillespie.

Nieckarz, now 22, no longer plays trumpet because of a lung infection he suffered, but that doesn't stop him from painting horns. His love of music seems to run in the family. Twin brother Steven is principal trombone with the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra.

"There was a time when anything I painted or drew had to do with -music," said Nieckarz, a Wayne State University student. "There are a lot of people out there who are in music who like art."

The ceramic hand and keyboard sculpture on the coffee table of his family's Westland home is evidence of the brief interlude clay played in Nieckarz's life. Ceramics failed to hold his interest. Nearly all of the art works he does now are on paper or canvas. The sculpture, and white line drawings of Dizzy Gillespie and Charlie Parker on black T-shirts, reveal a strong love of jazz music.

Self-portrait

A surreal self-portrait featuring Nieckarz playing trumpet reflects his admiration for the work of Salvador Dali. Head in the clouds, Nieckarz pours horn music into the river below. In the distance a pair of leafless trees serve as a makeshift stand for sheet music. In another work, Nieckarz is authentic right down to the score. The black and white drawing of a trumpet and note-for-note sheet music could be played by a viewer without missing a beat.

"I have to listen to music while I paint," said Nieckarz. "I like classical music, Chopin, and anything by the Dave Matthews Band, or someone with good lyrics who gives me inspiration and makes me think."

For the last few weeks, Nieckarz's plan to start a new painting were delayed due to a flare-up of rheumatoid arthritis in his right arm. Nieckarz's first bout with rheumatoid arthritis came at age 11. The disease sometimes prevents him from painting. When he can paint, he has "to move around so as not to stiffen up." He also finds it easier during a flareup if he paints while lying on the floor. When he's "really hurting," Nieckarz finds it necessary to use his left arm.

"I don't touch a canvas unless I'm truly inspired," said Nieckarz.

The art of Monet has significantly influenced Nieckarz's work. He also likes art ranging from the realism of Edward Hopper to the surrealism of

"I'm a huge fan of Claude Monet," said Nieckarz. "When I saw the recent Monet exhibit in Ann Arbor, I almost cried, just to be able to study his brush strokes that closely."

Reflections of life

Nieckarz's paintings tend to reflect his life. When he worked last summer parking cars in the executive lot at-Joe Louis Arena, the result was a drawing of the Red Wings' player number 16 Brett Hall.

This summer Nicckarz is working at Clyde Smith and Sons Greenhouses and Farm Market in Westland to

Sculpture Well-kept CITY Secret

An environmental sculpture nestled between Livonia's City Hall and the Police Department attracts so little attention that it's almost a secret.

The Livonia Arts Commission wants to draw visitors to the work by placing a traditional sculpture on top of the interactive artwork - an idea that doesn't sit well with the artist.

Set in a grassy area, the environmental sculpture by New York artist Andrea Blum was completed in November 1992, but few people know of its existence. The top of the gray cement structure, which looks like the foundation for a building, is all that is visible from Civic Center Drive.

Approaching the pit-like structure, the depth of the sculpture lures visitors down one of two sets of stairs into a space meant for exploration. A half circle ledge on one wall allows visitors to sit and ponder the space or anything else of their choosing. One of Blum's major considerations when designing the piece was city hall's location and design. Since Livonia lacked a downtown or central point, she created lines to radiate outward to the city's streets and subdivisions. The curves of Blum's work mirror the reflecting golden glass structure to the north.

Plans call for the traditional sculpture to rest on. one of Blum's discs, and that's where the controver-

Art's history

The Livonia Cultural League, through the cooperation of the Livonia Arts Commission, City of Livonia, National Endowment for the Arts, the Michigan Council for the Arts (now the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs), and generous contributions of businesses and citizens of Livonia, was able to bring to fruition the project on the site of the Livonia Civic Center in 1992, but not without a lengthy process.

*The idea started off slowly and humbly," said Sheridan in reference to the project which began in the early 1980s.

Robert Bishop, then a city councilman and liaison to the Livonia Arts Commission, served on the sculpture committee which obtained a $10,000 planning grant from the National Endowment for the Arts in 1983. After a national search was conducted for an artist to carry out the design, Blum was commissioned in spring of 1984.

By the time Sue Slavik became president of the Livonia Cultural League in 1987, Blum's design had been selected for the public art project. She remembers only the controversy between the sculpture committee and artist during the two year construction period. Blum wanted to use white concrete Instead of off-white concrete. The committee decided to build the sculpture with off-white because of cost.

*it's a space you can participate in." said Slavik, a Livonia Public Schools art teacher, "but because it's tucked away, it's not easily accessible. I would like to see performance art or a sculpture garden there to make it more user friendly."

interactive art: Bob Sheridan and the Livonia Arts Commission are working together to give higher visibility to the city's Environmental Sculpture by New York artist Andrea Blum.

sy comes in. The placement was cleared by the city's promoting the arts. Sheridan admits, some people legal department according to community resources director Sue Montambeau "but nothing is set in stone" as to a final decision.

"We hope in the next few months to review some sketches and sculptures," said Montambeau. "Ultimately it has to go to city council for their approval."

When contacted in New York City about the placement of a new sculpture on her environmental art. Blum was unaware of the plan to use her art as a pedestal. She plans to contact the arts commission with her concerns.

"I'm shocked," said Blum, "This is not acceptable. It's against the copyright of the piece. That's like putting a Bernini on top of a Picasso."

But arts commission president Bob Sheridan said something has to be done to help residents better.

appreciate Blum's work. "We feel very strongly that the people of Livonia will relate to this well and maybe appreciate the sculpture more," said Sheridan. "No one in the city at all appreciates it or understands it at all. We want to make it more people friendly." Sheridan, a Livonia resident for 34 years, first learned of the sculpture when he became a commissioner for the nonprofit organization dedicated to would like to see the sculpture bulldozed but the arts commission has a vision. After all, the value is already there. Sheridan estimates that in today's market Blum's site-specific sculpture would cost between $200,000 and a quarter million dollars to construct.

"We'd like it developed as a plaza of sculptures," said Sheridan. "We'd like to see lunch time concerts in summer. It's something that can be embellished and can be a source of enjoyment."

After becoming arts commission president last year, Sheridan oversaw the building of a planter leading to the sculpture, but the addition did nothing to attract visitors. Sheridan donated the $3,000 in foundation work through his Garden City construction company. The arts commission paid $5,000 for the brick work.

In the next couple months, the arts commission will make a decision on the artist for the new public art project. paintings, more than likely, is a reflection of earlier days when he was growing up on a farm in Illinois. The simplicity found in the Livonia artist's compositions no doubt was instilled in Weber during elementary years spent in one-room school houses.

Weber's affinity for experimentation, however, dates back only 20 years or so to when he modeled clay concept cars for Ford Motor Co.

"New Attitude," one of 50 watercolors in Weber's one-man exhibit at the Livonia Civic Center Library Arts Gallery, is a portrait of an African American woman painted on paper he marbled. Sponsored by

The love of nature apparent in Elbert C. Weber's the Livonia Arts Commission, Weber's work shows not only a love for using innovative approaches to painting but a slice of his life.

Subject matter from vintage cars to florals, music scenes, landscape and wildlife illustrate Weber's desire to retain a freedom of choice. Although cars seem a likely subject after 30 years as a clay modeler, Weber never concentrated on them in his paintings because he likes the freedom to focus on a variety of themes. That doesn't mean he couldn't earn a living doing it. Eight of his classic car paintings are in the collection of the Arco Chemical Co. in Southfield.

"Watercolor is a challenging media and every painting is something I've never done before," said

Weber. "I enjoy that." As a consultant for Ford Motor Co. after his retirement in 1982, Weber was coordinating the shipping and exhibition of concept cars at auto shows around the world when he painted the purple exterior of a Venezuelan restaurant in 1992. The oldest work in Weber's show is a polar bear, "The Northerner," exhibited several years ago in an endangered species show in the House of Representatives building in Washington, D.C. Painted in 1984, the fur of the polar

Weber began painting seriously after retiring in 1982 but took art classes with Livonia artist Nancy Hurd even before retiring from Ford. His years of training in mechanical engineering at Purdue University and fine arts classes at Indiana University taught him the importance of drawing. Before beginning any painting, Weber does "a thorough, reliable drawing."

"I use a photo to get a good drawing down because of the immediacy of watercolor," said Weber. "I like the transparency and brilliance you can get with watercolors, the way the pigment and water react when you put them down.

Weber, a frequent exhibitor in judged shows presented by the Visual Arts Association of Livonia. Livonia Artists Club, Canton Project Arts, and the Scarab Club in Detroit, is painting five and six days a week to prepare for his one-man show at the library and a group show- the Associated Artists' Invitational Art Exhibit and Sale Aug. 8 at Rio Bravo Cantina in Livonia. That same weekend. Weber also exhibits his work and demonstrates painting techniques at

In between painting sessions, Weber is restoring a kit car he built in 1968 on a Volkswagen chassis. Weber seems to like working with his hands. Maybe that goes back to the days when he was developing the model for the 1994 Mustang. Now, he works on the fiberglass roadster and builds custom clubs for his family and golfing buddies.

Livonia arts commissioner Billy Thompson learned of Weber's paintings several years ago. The two belong to several art clubs together including the Visual Arts Association of Livonia and the Livonia Artists Club. Thompson scheduled Weber's exhibit in the library's fine arts gallery to spotlight his "Al's work needs to be shown, his tremendous ability for design and color," said Thompson. "I love his work. He does a wide variety of subject matter."

Weber and his wife, Edith, recently took a trip to Stratford to celebrate their 48th anniversary. The experience probably will not evolve into painting but will inspire mood, instead.

"The drama of the stage inspires me to get more drama into my painting," explained

A painting of Jesus on a cross was "done" for his mother. This work illustrates that content is an important element in Nieckarz's art work. Quiet by nature, Nieckarz prefers to let his paintings speak for themselves. One of the acrylics, Nieckarz is currently working on features a chair, table and a clock with no hands.

"One half of the face of Christ on the cross is white the other

The moon, stars and water show up frequently in Nieckarz's paintings. Camping is one of his favorite activities. Nieckarz loves nature.

"Art relaxes me," said Nieckarz. "It relieves stress. When I paint I go away on vacation. Right now, I'm working on a large canvas of a night sky with water and the whales of Nova Scotia."

'Someone Else's House' vents over the failure of integration

Someone Else's House

By Tamar Jacoby (Free Press, $30, 614 pp.)

In a section on Detroit's racial problems, Tamar Jacoby writes about how the city's white leaders following the 1967 riot invited young black "thugs" (her word) to "vent" their frustrations. She views this as a waste of time that gave credence to people who had no real leadership positions.

But "Someone Else's House" is itself "venting." Jacoby, a former Newsweek and New York Times journalist now associated with: the conservative Manhattan Institute for Policy Research, vents about the sorry state of race relations in this country. In her peculiar take on history, it is white liberals who sabotaged the dream of an integrated America. Hers is the latest in a series of books by conservatives who are suddenly neo-integrationist and integrationist who became neo-conservatives. Jacoby is strong in her support for integration and subtitles her book "America's Unfinished Struggle for Integration." Her book is a carefully researched but bitterly skewered view of race history since the 1960s.

Jacoby examines the recent racial history of three cities -New York, Detroit and Atlanta. The section on Detroit ( "gritty, grimy, violent") deals with citysuburban relations and Irene McCabe and the busing controversy but centers particularly on the alienating effect of Coleman Young's administration as Detroit mayor. The villains in this piece include white liberals who tried to "social engineer" racial policies and caved in to black mili- blacks seeing someone, even a tants. The result was they alien- gangster, standing up to the ated whites who would have supported racial integration and encouraged blacks to see themselves as a separate group rather than as Americans, giving them a major chip on their shoulders.

But the real villains are black militants who changed Dr. Martin Luther King's dream of integration into a nightmare of racial separatism. They are described as "hulking," "menacing," "sour looking," "sullen," "embittered." We apparently have these cretins to blame for "diversity politics." By emphasizing black pride they apparently undermined black Americanism.

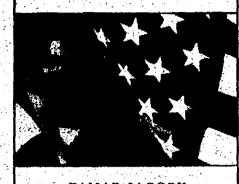

When describing the New York mayoral contest between John Lindsay and William Buckley, Jacoby allows that Buckley was guilty of "race-baiting" rhetoric, but the real problem was that squishy Lindsay was so full of himself that he wouldn't listen to Buckley's "intelligent" perspective on race relations. (Essentially that blacks have themselves to blame for their poverty, pregnancies, slums, crime, drug problems etc.)

Race is a cauldron in this country and always has been. It boils and bubbles and makes a mockery of politics as usual. Conservatives have a catch phrase, "The failed liberal policies of the past." This is yet another take on that worn and mostly dishonest theme.

For hundreds of years white society and whites individually have seen black Americans as a group (when they saw them at all), but now Jacoby and her conservative allies want to deal with blacks as individuals and help them get over the "sin" of "color-coding" (another of those banal catch phrases).

Jacoby certainly captures the anxiety, terror really, that whites felt when confronted by the likes of Malcolm X, Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown. She also captures the frustrations of suburban Detroiters at Judge Stephen Roth's busing decision and the prospect of sending their children to ghetto schools. Her portrayal of the failure of Coleman Young's last terms and his growing alienation are well chronicled up to a point.

AMERICA'S UNFINISHED. STRUGGLE-FOR INTEGRATION SOMEONE ELSE'S HOUSE

But except in passing phrases, her history of America's black ghettos begins in the '60s and inner-city problems are primarily caused by black culture. Her discussion of Young's police reform program, for instance, skims over "police brutality" complaints as if they were an illusion. And she just can't grasp what Young was so angry about.

In her opening section on New York, she has a ready villain in Sonny Carson, a thug by anyone's definition, who bullied his way into a position of power. According to Jacoby's take on history, it is the failure of Lindsay and the Ford Foundation's McGeorge Bundy to stand up to Carson and his ilk that created racial separatism. Never does it occur to her that for many young "white man" after years of being Stepin' Fetchits was a rallying point. They were already separated - denied access to decent housing, good schools, any but the most dangerous and lowest paying jobs. Sonny Carson didn't create separatism, he exploited it. The conservatives of his day created separatism scores of years before he was even born. Wretched as he was, he was a product of the problem not the problem.

She is willing to forgive the rhetoric of good old Bill Buckley as "politics" but not the political posturing of black militants whose speech was certainly ugly and violent, but so was that of George Wallace, Orval Faubus, the Ku Klux Klan etc.

The disasters of decentralization, attempted cross district busing and other programs were the failure of good people trying to overcome a pattern of racism that had strangled this country since Reconstruction.

Jacoby allows that there is white racism and it is "a" factor. but not the most important factor in the condition of America's black community. But she never spends much time discussing racial steering, block busting, insurance red lining, newspaper ads for "colored only" or "white only," schools that openly discouraged black students from taking college prep classes, unions that wouldn't allow blacks into their training programs, absentee landlords who never fixed the plumbing and on and on and on.

She writes about how "social engineering" by upper middle class white liberals created a wedge between working class whites and blacks, but she never acknowledges that wedge was created decades before. She briefly mentions and then skims over Henry Ford's cynical hiring of blacks for the most dangerous jobs as a hedge against unionization, when he would use them as strikebreakers, further dividing working class whites and blacks.

(And Ford wasn't the only company to use this ploy.) And real estate agents created panic selling whenever a black family moved into a white neighborhood.

Clearly, Jacoby thinks of racism in terms of personal bigotry. In a visit to the Observer & Eccentric she said she thought institutional racism was no longer an issue. If it is less an issue, it is because of liberal legislation that makes such blatant racism illegal, the same legislation that conservatives fought tooth and nail.

This is the point. Jacoby writes strictly from a white point of view. Her notes show that she interviewed blacks, but only in her section on Atlanta do you get a sense that she even tried to get beneath the rhetoric or understand the history.

Atlanta is presented as a somewhat positive example of racial cooperation, though too racially separated and not without its conflicts. But when discussing the city's first black mayor, Maynard Jackson, she writes about his racially divisive tactics. What about the 150 years of white only power, wasn't that racially divisive?

She also discusses Afro-centric education in this section, rightly deploring the shoddy scholarship and pure fantasy of some of these courses but totally missing the point that education in our diverse country has been too Euro-centric and too dismissive of any other cultures.

Finally, what this book is really all about is to suggest a conservative approach to "integration," after decades of standing in school doorways and other conservative approaches. This is an argument against affirmative action (color coding). Jacoby also argues for acculturation, against big government programs, for committing to national ideals. The real point is that black people will just have to make it on their own, shape up and stop

Oh, she does suggest training programs but heaven forbid that "big" government should pay for it. Some mythical private groups are going to do this.

As someone who respects and lives by "middle-class" values, I don't particularly argue with some of this or with the plethora of black columnists who have won syndication for their conservative views (Thomas Sowell, Ken Hamblin, Armstrong Williams etc.). These columnists essentially blame black innercity people for their own prob-

And, to an extent, that's true. It's depressing to drive into Detroit and see rundown housing, gangs of aggressive looking teenage boys, drug deals being transacted just blocks from the Detroit Institute of Arts. Clearly the black community has long lacked leadership that will drive the criminal element from the city. The constant whine that everything is "white racism" doesn't cut it anymore. And the recent enthusiasm for Dennis Archer's leadership will last only so long as he is able to solve that problem.

But I don't see our wrecked city and its population of poor, under-employed black residents and think that the larger society and its decades of racism don't have a lot to answer for; and Jacoby hasn't convinced me that black anger is the reason for racial separatism.

If you want a more detailed history of Detroit's race problems leading to the 1967 riot, read Thomas Sugrue's "Origins of an Urban Crisis." He doesn't have a big publisher and the backing of the conservative power groups. Ile's just an honest scholar who tells the whole story.

Customers lend a hand to Nail Suite

DONN MULCAH

Here's a story about a downtown Franklin business that catered to its customers and treated them like valued friends.

Two weeks before the Fourth of July, the owners of Gayle's Nail Studio in Franklin announced that the salon would be going out of business, effective July 3.

The closure came as a shock to customers and the five nail technicians who worked there, said Michelle McCue of Birmingham, a seven-year customer, and Chrissi Novak of Livonia, who was a nail technician at Gayle's for about 13 years.

McCue said she hated to see the salon close because, "I made a lot of friends there and you could just tell that all of the people who worked there were friends with each other.

"They were very accommodating," she continued. "If you couldn't make an appointment with your regular nail technician, you could make one with one of the other girls and feel good about it, because they were all equally talented and trained."

Novak explained, "We never felt like we were in competition with each other. We always worked as a team." Patrons began urging the nail technicians to stay together and go into business for themselves.

Longtime customers Sue and Ellie Rontal told them about some office space that was available above their store, Mesa Arts. The office had been used as a storage room for several years and was a mess. But as it turned out, the rent was within the technicians' budget and the location couldn't have been better. One of the technicians decided to take a job at a Birmingham salon. But the other four - Novak, Suzanne Gardner, Angel East and Lisa Zeskind agreed to set up shop. They got the keys on July 6 and immediately began ripping out the old carpeting. Their salon, called The Nail Suite, opened a few days later.

Knowing that the technicians are working on a'shoestring budget. many of their customers have volunteered to help out. Connie Sczilagy of Dearborn helped them pick out new light fixtures and paint. She's also donating a couch, Gardner said. Dan Fink, husband of longtime customer Ann Fink, helped install the new lights, and the Rontals donated a small table and "an incredible piece of art that's also a coat rack," Gardner said. A client named Mrs. Galassi donated an antique shelf, and Julie Pincus, a graphic designer, has volunteered to work on a logo for the new salon. Kim Finateri of West Bloomfield and Judy Berger of Birmingham donated a big floor plant. And Sue Schwayder has offered a magazine subscription.

Beth Lipin and Jill Stone sent over a tray of assorted candies and nuts; Linda Levitin and her sisterin-law, and Paulette Lerman brought over candy dishes.

Countless other customers have helped just by offering encouragement. Gardner said she was totally surprised by this outpouring of affection. "You know, I'm just a nail technician," she said. "I'm totally dispensable. But I guess our customers feel otherwise. I feel like Jimmy Stewart in It's a Wonderful Life. You just never realize how important you are to people."

The Nail Suite is located at 32800 Franklin Road For more information, call (248) 538-6245.

Sidewalk Stroll

Franklin retains a timeless ambience

There are few sidewalks in Franklin's meandering little one-road business district. And it's not the sleepy village that it once was, as mammoth-sized new homes have encroached upon the older, more genteel neighborhoods. But the town's charm still is evident in its quaint shops, white picket fences, wide verandas and New England-style architecture.

Nestled between 13 and 14 Mile roads, just a stone's throw from busy Northwestern Highway, the village was settled in 1825 and its active historical society has dedicated itself to preserving its 19th-century ambience. In fact, in 1969, the downtown historic district (a few blocks along Franklin Road), was the first in Michigan to be recognized by the National Register of Historic Places.

In addition to its vintage cider mill and one-of-akind shops, Franklin village is home to a picturesque cemetery that is the resting place of Levi Warner, an early settler who is believed to be the first resident buried here (1929). The town also has preserved acres of green space for a park, complete with a large white gazebo, tennis courts, a baseball diamond and a playground. Adjacent to the park is the Village Library, 32455 Franklin Road, a tiny wooden cottage that, in addition to serving as a book repository, is a friendly gathering spot from June through September. History buffs will want to peruse the shelves for All About Franklin, a primer to the village's colorful past, with legends and lore about the historic buildings in the area and the interesting characters who peopled them.

From the Cider Mill to the Cemetery

We begin our stroll at the Franklin Cider Mill, a landmark situated at the bottom of the hill where 14 Mile Road intersects Franklin Road. The rustic facade once housed a grist mill, built by Peter Van Avery in 1832. Today, visitors can ogle one of the largest and oldest waterwheels in the country while they sip cider and savor warm doughnuts. The cider mill is gearing up for its opening on Labor Day weekend.

On the east side of Franklin Road, at 32800, stands a pillared home with green trim and giant wooden tulips that tower over the blooming annuals in the flower beds. Inside, find the Curiosity Shoppe Ltd., a warren of rooms filled with decorative home accessories, furniture, artwork and reams of fabric swatches. Interior design services are available. Check out the animal-skin painted metal spheres on stands.

Down the hall is Mesa Arts, a contemporary space filled with Southwest painted furniture, pillows, pottery, rugs and lamps. Native American art and jewelry also are featured. The gallery will soon move to new digs in Birmingham, so visit here before the summer ends.

Next door, you'll see longtime storefront Gerald's hair salon and just across the driveway, The Village Barn, 32760 Franklin Road, a welcoming red mews that resembles the original circa 1825 buggy works barn that burned to the ground in 1979. The shop's display vignettes carry a bumblebee theme right now, with wooden beekeepers, beeswax candles, bumblebee glassware and table linens. Climb the stairs to The Christmas Attic for holiday finery. On Saturday, Aug. 8, breakfast at The Village Barn while shopping its sunrise sale from 8-10 a.m.

As you leave the barn, peek around the corner to see if Franklin Buggy Works is open for browsing. The rustic wooden shed houses garden and patio fixtures, including cement statuary.

Tucked in the corner at 32744 Franklin Road, Escapades may be diminutive but it's filled with exclusive table linens, painted trays and Gail Pittman's charming handpainted pottery. Also find unique gifts and vanity items.

See Spot Run, a stamping and stickering emporium at 32716 Franklin Road, is like a candy shop for arts and crafts lovers. It offers children's birthday parties and classes in stamping, stenciling, calligraphy and sticker art. Just around back at 32722—Franklin Road, is the jewelry making studio called Fritzwillis. Workshops in silversmithing are offered.

Time for a lunch break? The only gastronomic game in town is the deli counter at Market Basket, 32652 Franklin Road. Tables out front offer unobstructed views of the street scene. Enjoy fresh soups, salads, sandwiches and pastries. The mini grocery store also shelves gourmet foods and party supplies.

Intrigued by the big yellow house with the wraparound porch and old-fashioned screen door? It's home to Giftpeople, a custom invitation, stationery and gift emporium. Look for vibrant ceramics and a huge selection of bath accessories.

Cross the street to Yanke Designs, 32611 Franklin Road, and find cases filled with award-winning jewelry creations. Kim and Frank Yanke's innovative custom designs are recognized throughout the area.

Who says customer service is a thing of the past? In Franklin, the BP gas station is full-serve and a bevy of eager young attendants use elbow grease to keep your car in tip-top shape.

Don't miss the window display at Gorback photography studio. The experts there specialize in copying and restoring old photographs, and some of those photos give passersby a glimpse of the village at the turn of the century. You'll recognize the facades of several of the shops you've visited.

Franklin's lone clothier is Apple Tree Room, 32749 Franklin Road. Pretty handknit sweaters line the shelves, along with great silver-buckled belts and other supple leather goods.

The building next door at 32751 Franklin Road contains several unique shops, including Bead Works, Thing-A-Majigs and Paige Stanton. Thing-A-Majigs plans and hosts arts and craft parties, from doll making to collage, and ceramic painting parties that include firing. Paige Stanton is a tiny boudoir-like space that displays decoupage furniture (check out the rocker), quilts, pillows, broken china jewelry (bring in your cherished fragments and see them transformed into pins and bracelets). Eighty percent of the merchandise is made by the owner or her friends.

Save Monday, Sept. 7 for Franklin's Labor Day Parade and Art Fair in the park. It's a memorable extravaganza in "the town that time forgot."

Visitors to Hawaii take ride down volcanic mountain

By Hugh Gallagher Staff Writer

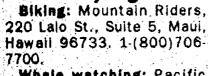

On a cool morning in March, Canton residents Bob Bulmer and Tim Carter coasted down a volcano.

It was just another wonderful day in paradise - Hawaii. This was the fifth trip for Bob and Nancy Bulmer. "I had never wanted to go, then we had an opportunity to go in 1984 to a time share condo on Kauai," Bulmer said. "It was great. We've gone five times, and I would go again in a heartbeat."

The Bulmers have done the usual tourist things - the visit to the Arizona Memorial marking the attack on Pearl Harbor ("It gives you goosebumps"), the Polynesian Cultural Center and

"We've never been ripped off and there are only two things I would never do again," Bulmer

He said a luau on Oahu made him feel like cattle being herded and a train ride on the Quaquano Railroad was a very expensive view of messy backyards.

But this year, sharing a time share condo with Tim and Diana Carter, included two special activities, the bike ride down a volcanic mountain and whale watching.

Bulmer, retired from Chrysler, was working at McCabe Funeral Home when he got the chance to go again to his favorite place.

"We had this opportunity to go for $780 a week for four people," Bulmer said.

At the condo, day excursion operators set up shop by the pool and that's where Bulmer found out about Mountain Riders, a van ride up a mountain and bicycle coast down.

"We got up at 2:30 in the morning to go on this crazy trip," Bulmer said.

Nancy Bulmer opted to stay on the beach; and once up on the mountain top, Diana Carter decided to take the van down.

"It's the best maintained highway on the island because satellite communications are on the top," Bulmer said.

The early start was so that Mountain Riders could have their group among the first to Bulmer and Carter were outfitted like spacemen in motorcycle helmets and warm, bulky clothing to ward off the morning chill.

"They ask you a bunch of questions, like when was the last time you rode a bike. At our mid-60s we were the oldest, the youngest were in their mid-20s," Bulmer said.

After being served coffee and rolls in 41 degree temperatures, the bikers waited 2-1/2 hours for leveled off and we pedaled for sunrise. Mountain Riders were the second group out. Carter and Bulmer took the back positions,

"The sign at the shelter said we were at 9,640 feet elevation," Bulmer said.

The bikes, no gears and hand brakes, coasted down at 25 to 30 miles an hour, as bikers held to the center of the lane. The van followed behind and would signal the bikes to get over when cars stacked up behind them. The mountain was a popular spot for sunrise watchers.

"It was a nice constant speed, there was one spot where ground 200 yards," Bulmer said. "We stopped three times on the way down. You could see we were even with the clouds."

Before setting off, one of the guides took breakfast orders from all the riders. About halfway down, at about 9 a.m., the bikers stopped at the town of Makawao to have breakfast at Polli's Mexican Cafe. At the Cafe, bikers took off the heavy gear as temperatures began to rise.

The ride ended at Baldwin State Park in Paia, where bikers cooled their feet in the surf waters of the Pacific.

One of the biking guides led the Bulmers and Carters to the Pacific Whale Foundation where his wife worked. It was another early morning as the foursome had to be on the boat at 6 a.m.

A 30-40-foot catamaran carried 25 people out to watch for

"We had 10 whale sightings," Bulmer said.

He said he has video shots of a baby whale leaping over its mother.

If you've got a time share deal, Bulmer would gladly go again to experience the special activities of Hawaii.

Not for three wrestlers from Livonia, who consider their sport year-

The Stevenson High trio of Dan Seder, Katsuhiko Sueda and Joe Moreau will represent a team from Michigan in the AAU Junior Olympic Freestyle Wrestling Tournament, Aug. 2-7, in Norfolk, Va.

Sueda and Seder will be walk-ons this fall at the University of Michigan, while Moreau is entering his senior year.

"I don't know how I'm expected to do, but I know you can get in a lot of matches - up to 17-18," said Seder, a Division I state runner-up in the 135-pound class. "And freestyle is a totally different style. I have to put together different moves than what I already know."

Seder finished his Stevenson career with a 130-40 record, including 50-2 as a senior.

Seder, who counts Olympic gold medalist Steve Fraser "as somebody to look up to," was Western Lakes Activities Association, lower weights MVP at the Observerland Invitational, regional and district champion.

During the summer he has his own lawn business.

"Between practice and cutting lawns, it keeps me in pretty good shape," said Seder, who will wrestle at 143 pounds in Norfolk.

The trio travels twice per week to train at Roseville. They also practice at local gyms.

Sueda, third in Division I in the 112-pound class, will compete at 123 pounds.

He was 141-25 as a Spartan, setting the school record for career wins. A three-time state qualifier, Sueda finished 48-5 as a senior en route to a third-place finish at the state meet. He won Observerland, WLAA and district titles, along with a second at the regional.

"I'm going because I'm looking for competition," said Sueda, who didn't try wrestling until he entered middle school. "Freestyle is a little bit different. I'm still learning the rules.

"It's also a chance to be part of Team Michigan."

During the summer, Sueda works as a busboy and host for Akasaka, a Japanese restaurant in Livonia.

And he doesn't shy away from eating raw fish.

"Katsuhiko is fast, strong and can hit moves from anywhere," his teammate Moreau said. "You think you've n't come cheap. got him taken down, but there he is on top."

Sueda also has another admirer on the mat.

"He's pretty slick, he's fast and comes from nowhere," Seder said.

Moreau, who wrestled 103 pounds as a junior, will compete at 98 at the AAUs.

He finished 30-11 last year with a second place at Observerland and a third in the WLAA.

Moreau also gained some valuable experience, along with Seder, wrestling at Fraser's summer camp. Fraser's camp also provided the ultimate test, requiring a 15-mile run and a two-hour match on the mat. Amazingly, Seder ran the 15-miler in 1 hour, 46 minutes. "Dan works real hard, always doing extra," Moreau said. "He's strong and he has a lot of moves." Moreau, meanwhile, spends part of his summer building decks. "That keeps me in pretty good shape," the 98-pounder said. "I hope this tournament will make me a better wrestler on my feet and give me more experience."

Moreau's diligence is starting to

"Joe never gives up," Sueda said. "He works real hard. He's a good opponent in practice."

Ironically, the trip to Norfolk does-

Each of the three wrestlers will fork out $350 apiece and travel by van. Part of the fee includes uniform and meal money.

But the three wouldn't have summer vacation any other way.

In the men's recurve division, No. 1ranked Butch Johnson of Woodstock, Conn., edged Justin Huish of Simi Valley, Calif., outscoring him 2,631 to 2,612 in the three-day event. Huish was coming off a big year in 1996, having won two gold medals at the 1996 Olympics; he followed his second-place finish with a gold medal-winning performance in the first-ever U.S. Open Elimination Round, a single-day event held in conjunction with last year's National Target Championships.

Huish outshot Norway's Martinus: Grov in the final, 109-104, to win the elimination round. Johnson was beaten in the quarterfinals of the elimination round by eventual bronze medalist Grzegorz Targonski of Poland, 110-108.

In the women's division, No. 1ranked Janet Dykman of El Monte, Calif., was the winner of the National Target Championship in the women's recurve division, scoring 2,606 points to outdistance runner-up Khatouna Lorig of Flanders, N.J., who scored 2,591. But Dykman and No. 2-ranked Wenche Lin-Hess of Norway were eliminated early in the U.S. Open Elimination Round, leaving it an open battle for the recurve gold - which was captured by Mexico's Erika Reyes, who beat Australia's Melissa Jennison, 105-95 in the final.

The format for this year's week-long tournament, the 114th National Target Championship, will be much the same as last year's. Competition will be in traditional, recurve and compound divisions (the traditional tournament started Saturday and will be completed today). Archers will compete through two rounds, shooting 36 arrows from four distances in each for a total of 288

Competition at Heritage Park, located at 1150 S. Canton Center, starts at 9 a.m. Monday through Friday, following a 45-minute warm-up session (8-8:45 a.m.). Friday's Olympic Round competition will put the top 64 male and female archers, from all divisions, into one Olympic-style elimination round tournament from 70 meters.

There will also be team competition.

Motor City Madness hosts tourney

It's only appropriate that a team called the Motor City Madness will be a co-host in the Amateur Softball Association Girls 16-and-under Fastpitch National Championship.

Approximately 80 teams from across the country, including the defending champion Fresno (Calif.) Force, will converge this week on Founders Sports Park in Farmington Hills and Power Park in Novi.

The madness begins in earnest with tournament pool play starting at 8 a.m. Tuesday at both sites, which contain five fields

Motor City Madness is managed by former Livonia Franklin All-Stater and ex-University of Detroit first baseman Gar Frantz.

Along with assistant coaches Bill Crews and John Fitzgerald, Frantz has put together a potent lineup.

Madness has compiled an impressive 36-10 record this summer, including a respectable 7-3 mark in the Ann Arbor Women's Fastpitch League.

Madness has captured the state ASA and USSSA 16-andunder titles. They also finished fourth behind three California squads in a World Qualifier.

Three of the team's original members played together on the NSA 12-and-under national championship squad pitcher/third baseman Amanda Fitzgerald (Byron High School); outfielder/pitcher Joelle Frantz (Novi); and infield Katie Cameron (Novi).

Fitzgerald, an All-Stater, is 20-8 with a 0.22 earned run average. She is also hitting .327.

Frantz, hitting .361, has combined with Fitzgerald to strike out over 700 high school batters. Meanwhile, Cameron leads the

Stingers grab 12th in Columbus

The Stingers 18-year-old and under travel team finished 12th at the NSA World Series, July 20-26, in Columbus, Ohio.

The 18 and under bracket was made up of 66 of the best teams in the nation and Canada. All of the participants had to win berths to attend the prestigious five-day event.

A loss in the first game put the Stingers in the losers bracket early and set the tone for an early exit. But the Stingers players set their minds to play for pride and finished the tournament with a 4-2 overall record.

It was the first time the Stingers have been to the World

The squad opened the tournament against the Lady Louisville Sluggers, falling 6-2. Jen Elwell pitched a six-hitter for the Stingers, striking out four.

Poor defense plagued the Stingers. Five errors contributed to several Louisville runs.

The Stingers out hit with seven for the game. Shayla O'Mara, Wendy Boase and Melissa Baliko each had two hits.

In game two, the Stingers came back to blank the Indiana Sting 7-0. LeAnne Schraufnagle (Livonia Stevenson) was the winning pitcher and didn't allow a runner past second base.

The Stingers' edged the Rascals of Lexington, Kentucky, 4-3 in game three. Leah Moeller pitched a five-hitter for the Stingers, striking out five and allowing no walks.

Lumberjacks advance to AABC district semis

The Livonia Lumberjacks fell 9-6 to the North Oakland A's in the American Amateur Baseball Congress district semifinals (July 27) in Rochester.

The Lumberjacks, as has been their trademark all year, did notgo down without a fight. With a pitching staff weakened due to injuries, the Lumberjacks were forced to use an assortment of hurlers.

After giving up eight runs in the first few innings, the Lumberjacks settled down and fought their way to narrow the gap, 9-6, after five innings.

Key hits by Brian Williams (Redford Catholic Central), Jeff Potts (CCI) and Tim Greenleaf (Livonia Churchill) fueled the comeback, which was capped by a three-run homer by Ricky Strain (Churchill).

With two outs in the bottom of the seventh inning and down by three, the Lumberjacks made a last ditch effort. Mark Gursky (CC) beat out an infield single Huron) walked to put runners at and Steve Bauer all contributed first and second.

The Lumberjacks were unable to push the runners across, however, as North Oakland got a key strikeout to close the game...

Livonia advanced to the semifinal by beating the Waterford Renegades, 9-6.

"This was one of the better games we played all year," coach Jim Moss said. "It was a great game to be involved in with great pitching, outstanding hitting performances, and some clutch defensive plays by both

The one-two defensive punch of lead off hitter Brian Williams and second baseman Dave Moss got the ball rolling for the Lumberjacks as they have all year. Williams, who led the team in on base percentage (.790) and walks (32), lead off the second inning with a single. Moss followed with a single. The Lumberjacks ended up sending nine men to the plate and scored five times. Brad Bescoe and Joe Tackett (Ann Arbor (Churchill), Jeff Potts, Gursky hits during the uprising.

Again in the sixth inning, after the Renegades had chipped away to tie the game 6-6, Tackett tripled and scored on a Bauer single. Williams capped the rally with a two-run double.

The Lumberjacks got a fine pitching performance from Tom Oestrolee (Ann Arbor Huron), a tournament pick up, who went five strong innings. Greenleaf worked the final two innings in relief.

"This has been just a tremendous group of ball players," coach Moss said. "They don't know the meaning of the word quit. We got contributions from everybody all season."

The Lumberjacks close the season as Little Caesar Travel co-champs with a 27-6 overall record.

Other team members included Tom Alberty, Mike Wilk and Aaron Harkness.

The coaching staff also included Greg Williams, Mike Potts, Dennis Tackett.

METRO SUMMER HOCKEY LEAGUE

Bulldogs, Lakers gain championship berths

The stage is set.

And for once in the long, and storied, history of the Metro Summer Hockey League and its playoffs, there is no major surprise heading into the championship game. For most of the season, three teams dominated the league; two of them have survived to meet in the final.

The most dramatic of the semifinals was Wednesday between the Lakers and the Huskies in the Bakes Conference final. Until the final week of the regular season, the two teams had battled for the top spot in the conference. A late Laker collapse - they lost their last three regular-season games after going unbeaten through the first eight - handed first place to the Huskies.

The Lakers avenged that ignominy last Wednesday, repelling a late Huskie rally to post a 5-4 victory at Plymouth Ice Arena.

In the Eagle Conference final Thursday at Plymouth, the Bulldogs scored three times in the last 1:37 to win going away over the Broncos, 8-4 — thanks to four goals and two assists from Ben Blackwood.

Which means the Bulldogs and the Lakers will meet for the MSHL championship at 8 tonight at Plymouth Ice Arena.

In the Bakes final, the Huskies had the early advantage, getting first-period goals from Jesse Hubenschmidt (from Redford) and Scot Curtin (Redford) to go up 2-0. The Lakers trimmed that deficit to 2-1 by the end of the period, thanks to a goal by Matt Frick with 3:25 left, then took command in the second with three unanswered markers, by Ryan Ward, Nick Jardine and Jeramie Murray (Redford).

The Lakers made it 5.2 with 10:49 left in the third period on a goal by Eric Dolesh (Farmington Hills). The Huskies narrowed the gap with goals by Sean Kass and Jeremy Sladovnick, but the latter came with just 12 seconds remaining in the game.

Hubenschmidt and Bobby Davis each added two assists to the Huskies' cause. Nick Jardine had two assists for the Lakers.

Lanny Jardine was in goal for the Lakers. Ed Souilliere (Livonia) played in the net for the Huskies.

•BULLDOGS 8, BRONCOS 4: Blackwood's outburst was the key ingredient in the 'Dogs semifinal victory Thursday at Plymouth, but the goal-keeping of J.J. Weaks helped, too.

PLAYOFF ROUNDUP

Blackwood's second goal of the game, with 1:37 left in the second period, had given the Bulldogs a 5-2 lead. But the Broncos weren't quitting; thirdperiod goals by Jim Storm and Matt Langley trimmed the gap to 5-4 with more than 65 minutes left.

But with Weaks manning the net, the 'Dogs kept the Broncos from drawing any closer, and Blackwood insured the victory with two goals in an 11second span (with 1:37 and 1:26 left in the game). lan Crockford iced it with a goal with 30 seconds remaining, his second of the game.

Also scoring for the 'Dogs were Eric Bratcher and Matt Grant (Livonia), each with a goal and an assist. Kevin Swider (Livonia) also contributed two assists.

The Broncos were led by Langley, with three goals. Jake Wiegand and Mark Pietila each had two Weaks played the whole game for the Bulldogs, while Kevin Brady (Livonia) and Art Baker split time in the Broncos' goal.

*BRONCOS 15, FALCONS 6: Jim Storm and Jake Wiegand each netted three goals, with Darrin Sylvester adding two goals and three assists and Keith Pietila collecting a goal and five assists, to lead the Broncos to an opening-round victory over the Falcons Wednesday at Plymouth.

The Broncos never trailed in the game and were tied only briefly, at 1-1 early in the first period when the Falcons' Paul Goleniak scored with 10:49 left. The Broncos then scored four unanswered goals to take a 5-1 lead into the second period; the gap was never less than two after that.

Lewis Lanway added two goals and an assist for . the Broncos, with Nick Smyth, Matt Langley, Frank Bourbanais and Corey Almas adding one goal apiece. Smyth also had four assists, with Almas getting three and Langley two.

The Falcons were paced by Goleniak with three goals. Paolo DeCina (Canton) chipped in with a goal and three assists, with Josh Shuryan getting a goal and an assist and Vic DeCina (Canton) collecting a goal and an assist. Scott Goleniak also had three assists for the Falcons.

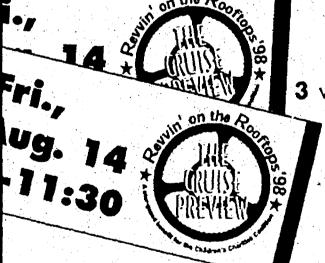

Kevin Brady (Livonia) and Art Baker split time in goal for the Broncos. Casey Osting was in the net for the Falcons.

Concealed 11s take 2

So far, so good.

Concealed began its quest for a Continental Amateur Baseball Association World Series championship Friday with a pair of wins in Tarkio, Missouri.

The Farmington Hills-based squad edged Tamaulipas, Mexico in the opener then whitewashed a club from Iowa. Concealed was set to play two more games Saturday and one today.

The 11-year-old tournament features 24 teams from Mexico, Canada and various American states. Squads were broken down into four divisions of six.

Each division played round-robin this weekend with the top four teams advancing to the double elimination round starting Tuesday.

Concealed (45-9) put itself in a solid position to advance by garner wins Friday. Chris Rusin (Canton) was the story of game one. He pitched a one-hitter, striking out nine and walking just one in a 3-1 victory over Mexi-

"He had good command of everything," coach Lou Pirronello said. "He mixed his knuckleball, fastball and curveball well. He struck out three guys on his knuckleball."

Rusin (11-1) also had two of Concealed's three hits. Ryan Shea (Garden City), however, scored the team's first run in the first inning.

He singled and advanced to second on a Rusin

Concealed scored two more runs in the fourth

Rusin singled to lead off the frame and was promptly balked to second. He later scored on an error after Scott Szpryka laid down a perfect bunt,

Concealed got a second run on a squeeze bunt from Casey Sargent (South Lyon). Pirronello said his team had to make everything count. "Mexico's pitcher was the best we've faced all year," he said. "He was the hardest thrower we've seen." The same couldn't be said of game two. Concealed took an easy 9-0 win in a game shortened to four innings because of the mercy rule. A run in the first got things started as Concealed added five in the third and three in the fourth. The team ended up with nine hits in Szpryka, Shea and Richard each had two hits. Szpryka belted a two-run homer.

On the mound, Phil Mabey (Livonia) was perfect. He tossed a no-hitter, walking two and striking out seven.

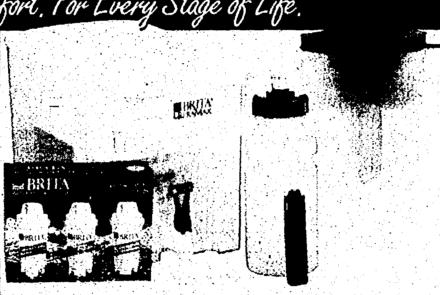

Concealed moved on to play Colorado (0-2) single. Shea then came around to score on a pair—and Tennessee (1-1) on Saturday.

Sailboat racing is definitely a labor of love.

Miller's team receives no money for its triumphs, just a victory flag to hoist, wall plaques and a trophy.

During the summer, Miller and his crew keep sharp by competing in series of Saturday races on Lake St. Clair (sponsored by the Detroit River Yachting Association). The boat also goes out each Wednesday evening for casual races near Jefferson Beach and Nine Mile Road.

"We do a lot of racing," said Miller, who grew up on the water on Lake George near West Branch. "It's been a great year, It really doesn't matter what happens the rest of the season."

But hopefully Miller got that cleared with his crew.

RECREATION

Butterflies make comeback

Lives of invertebrates are just as intriguing as the vertebrates.

In fact, in many cases, even more interesting.

Zoos and private institutions have begun to recognize this. resulting in more and more NOWICKI invertebrate exhibits for display. Butterfly houses are just one example of how popular one invertebrate can be.

Back in the 1980s private enterprises began to establish tourist attractions with the lure of butterflies.

Butterfly World in Florida started and, as far as I know, is the largest display of butterflies in the United States. They have separate houses for North American butterflies and for exotic, tropical species.

Several other butterfly houses have now started, like the one at the Detroit Zoo.

can be breath taking. Sometimes they even land on you. Their colors and patterns are beyond the imagination.

Not only do the butterfly houses have adults, they also display the chrysalises of many of the butterflies. They too can be colorful and distinctly shaped. Exotic butterflies are not allowed to leave their enclosures, nor breed, because host plants are not available for them to lay their eggs on. It's better to keep tropical dealers in business and get shipments into the facility, rather than have some of these exotics escape and begin reproducing in a foreign land. Many situations like this in the past have proven very costly.

Mackinac Island has a butterfly house and Meijer's Gardens has butterflies in the spring for a short period of time. Calaway Gardens in Georgia also has butterflies, while the Cincinnati Zoo has both butterflies and many other invertebrates.

One of the popular invertebrate exhibits are the walking

Tropical walking sticks do not look just like a twig. Many tropical species are camouflaged to look like lichen covered twigs, or

Some even have bright colored wings to startle potential predators. North American walking sticks do not have wings.

Toronto's Science Center has both walking sticks and a working leaf cutter ant colony.

If you are plagued with cockroaches, be thankful you don't have the large hissing cockroaches they have on display, they are about three inches long.

If you are interested in invertebrates, especially insects, the Lewis E. Wint Nature Center at Independence Oaks County Park near Clarkston, Michigan will host an insect festival from 1:30-4 p.m. Saturday Aug. 8.

There will be insects, both live and mounted on display, hikes to demonstrate collecting will be conducted, lectures, crafts and more will be featured.

The first place money was $9,000 Schoolcraft College hosts Classic

The 4-Seasons Kite Club, along with help from the M2S2 Kite Club and many sponsors, will again host the third Michigan Sport Kite Classic.

The event will be held at Schoolcraft College Aug. 8-9, located on Haggerty Road between Six and Seven Mile roads. The Kite Classic is free to all spectators. While competitive sport kite flying is not well known by the general public, it is one of the fastest growing sports around. Anyone can enjoy and participate in the sport, adults, kids and the young at heart.

It embodies the beauty and grace of figure skating with the sky as its canvas instead of ice. Like figure skaters, the competitive kite flyer must execute certain maneuvers, in order, within a certain amount of time.

There is also a "ballet" portion of the competition, which is a series of maneuvers choreographed to music. Flyers are judged against specific criteria at soveral skill levels and accumulate points throughout the year.

Top flyers from around the country are then invited to compete at the national convention at the end of the season.

The Michigan Sport Kite Classic will have games and kite building for kids. Room will also be set aside to teach folks how to fly their kites.
