Robert St. Onge thought about his sleeping neighbors when he realized that fire was racing through a twostory Westland apartment building.

St. Onge, 40, rushed to a hallway and banged on doors, kicking one in when no one answered. "Bob was terrific," neighbor David Beecher said. "I helped get people out," St. Onge said Monday afternoon. "They're still thanking me."

Westland and Garden City firefighters battled a blaze that erupted about 1:24 a.m. Monday at a River Bend Apartments building on Merriman, south of Warren. Residents stood outside and watched many of their possessions go up in flames.

Fire official said they knew of no serious interies among the estimated 20 people who fled the 10-unit building. One resident suffered minor injuries.

"It was a nightmare," second-story resident Lee Caudill said. He was rescued from his balcony by a fire truck ladder.

Patrick Harder, Westland assistant fire chief/fire marshal, said the fire started inside a plastic planter being used as a trash can on a second-floor balcony.

Residents sift through damaged belongings

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER dclem@oe.homecomm.net

After fire ravaged their Westland apartment early Monday, David Beecher and fiancee Carolyn Doherty faced a weary task of sifting through belongings charred by flames, soaked by water and covered by soot.

"We had a lot of our wedding contracts in the apartment - contracts for the priest, the reception hall, our cake and the DJ," Beecher said.

"We're hoping that we still have them," he said. "All of our stuff is just wet and in bags and boxes."

Monday afternoon, Beecher and his brother-in-law to be, Pat Doherty, carried load after load of damaged belongings from a fire-gutted, secondstory residence inside a River Bend Apartments building on Merriman south of Warren.

Beecher placed pictures alongside other possessions that littered a grassy courtyard bathed in sunlight.

"I pulled some pictures off of the refrigerator and put them out in the sun to dry," he said. "I'm still looking for my discharge papers from the Navy."

Beecher hoped to salvage a more than 100-year-old trunk that his fiancee's grandmother brought to America from Poland. He also carried out wooden tables and shelves that hemade himself.

"They're soaking wet, they have soot on them and they're charred," he said. "We had one coat closet and some camping gear that didn't seem to be touched, but everything else is pretty much damaged."

Beecher, 30, and Doherty, 29, had gone to bed when fire erupted inside an adjacent residence, eventually damaging all 10 apartments in the building: Patrick Harder, Westland assistant fire chief/fire marshal, said flames started on a balcony inside a plastic planter used as a trash can.

City seeks state money for parks improvements

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER dclem@oe.homecomm.net

Three Westland parks will receive major facelifts if city leaders can convince state officials to help pay for the projects.

City officials want to spruce up Merriman, Corrado and Central City parks with $146,000 in improvements,

Officials are seeking state grants to cover the bulk of costs for basketball courts, picnic'shelters, in-line hockey rinks, decorative landscaping and other projects.

State dollars would pay for 75 percent of costs, but Parks and Recreation Director Robert Kosowski said the city may face a several-month wait for a decision on the grants.

"We'll keep our fingers crossed," he recently told Westland City Council members. "Hopefully the state will grant us a couple of these."

The proposals appear in a long-range plan for Westland parks, and officials such as Councilman Glenn Anderson have voiced strong support for boosting recreation services by focusing on neighborhood parks.

Merriman Park, a one-acre park at Merriman and Alcona in the city's Norwayne subdivision, would receive a full-size basketball court, a parking area and a picnic spot with a shelter, two grills and four tables.

Estimated cost: $34,000.

"There's nothing out there right now except a backstop for baseball," Kosowski said.

Officials hope to draw more families to Merriman Park if they are able to *make the improvements.

"The number of people served will dramatically increase with the pro-. posed plan," according to a report from Kosowski.

Area enforcement team helps in raids of drug network

BY LEANNE ROGERS STAFF WRITER Logers Doc.homecomm.net

Western Wayne Narcotics Enforcement Team officers recently participated in raids on eight Detroit homes – part of a suspected cocaine distribution network.

The search warrants executed on the homes were the culmination of a 10-month investigation by the narcotics unit, said Michigan State Police Lt. Edward Gerds, who heads the unit staffed by troopers and officers assigned by local departments, including Garden City.

Three of the homes – located on the same block on Detroit's. west side – had to be raided simultaneously, he said. About 80 officers participated in the raids, including the Western Wayne County Special Operations Team, the Detroit Police Department Special Response Team and the state police Special Response. Team based in Livonia.

"We had intelligence and personal knowledge that these were large scale cocaine dealers," said Gerds. "They had guns on their persons and lookouts. The houses were all reinforced. They were very organized."

Detroit police officers had to enter one of the houses through the picture window, Gerds noted, since the door had been so heavily reinforced.

During the raid on the first three houses, Gerds said the Western Wayne Narcotics officers closed off the street.

"They shut down an entire city block to stop drive-by shootings," he said. "They also provided outside security for the houses. You run into retaliation shots being fired."

Five more houses were raided on the east side of Detroit with Western Wayne. Narcotics officers entering and securing one home. "The major players were taken down in the first round. We didn't expect the same level of threat in the second round," said Gerds. "All our information was that the first three houses contained the major players." Four Detroit men have been bound over for trial on charges of conspiracy to deliver/manufacture cocaine in varying quantities. Depending on the amount, the defendants could face prison sentences of 10 years, 20 years or life.

POLICE

Along with unspecified amounts of cocaine, officers confiscated about $25,000 in cash and items valued at about $60,000 that were believed to have been purchased with drug sale proceeds.

"We bought a lot of drugs from them (the suspects) but we didn't confiscate a lot on the search warrants," said Gerds. "We believe they were using the drug proceeds as their livelihood – for homes and vehicles."

Western Wayne Narcotics officers began the investigation locally, Gerds said, but the information gathered led to the suspects based in Detroit.

"When we have a supplier in Garden City or Westland, we backtrack and go after the their supplier," said Gerds. "It happens that most of the drugs come from major metropolitan areas. Drugs come to Detroit from the East Coast or the Southwest. At that level, we turn it over to the feds - like the Drug Enforcement Administration."

Normally the unit executes their own search warrants, Gerds said, but this could have been a particularly dangerous situation:

"Unless you have been involved in this kind of work, you can't appreciate the security these teams offer," he said. "It's a real sense of security to be able to call out the expects such as these special response teams."

Officials say as many as 3,000 people within a one-mile radius of Merriman Park could be served if the improvements are made.

Plans for Corrado Park, a 10.5acre park at Gladys and Flamingo, call for adding an in-line hockey rink and skating pathways, and modifying the ball diamond and soccer field. The price tag is $49,000.

"The current trends indicate a strong rate of participation with in-line hockey," Kosowski said.

Some residents who live near Corrado Park complained to city officials last year that the park appeared to be ignored. Some also voiced concerns that trouble-makers seemed to be frequenting the area.

The city's plan calls for sprucing up the park and, simultaneously, making it a safer place for as many as 5,000 people who live within a one-mile radius.

"Corrado Park is highly utilized by the community," Kosowski said in his report. "The park has a wide variety of amenities such as a walking path, tennis courts, horseshoe area, pavilions and recently the addition of a new play structure."

Corrado Park also has strong community support.

Last year, when the city scheduled public hearings on parks improvements, Corrado residents outnumbered citizens who had concerns about the city's other 16 parks.

City officials also have placed Central City Park on their 1999 list of hoped-for improvements, including an added pavilion, an in-line hockey rink and a resurfaced tennis court.

"Our department is very excited about this proposal because it follows the family theme that we have set up in this area of the park," Kosowski said in his summary of improvements.

The Central City Park plan also calls for the addition of a ship Police Department, the Western Wayne County Special Operation Team also has officers from Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton Township, Van Buren Township and Wayne.

"The raids were executed without incident. All the bad guys went to jail and the good guys went home," Gerds said.

"The weekend usage of this park is phenomenal," Kosowski noted, "and by offering even more amenities, our growth will continue."

Still, it may be late summer before city officials learn whether state officials will loosen their park purse strings enough to help pay for improvements at Merriman, Corrado and Central City parks.

"We probably will not do them unless we get the grants," Kosowski said, although he didn't rule out all improvements.

Cooper students get science awareness on the brain

Students from Livonia's Cooper at Whittier Elementary School in Westland had science on the brain, literally, as they celebrated Brain Awareness Week - 1999.

Celebration of the week was begun four years ago to create and increase interest in brain and nervous system research. The Dana Alliance for Brain Initiatives and the Society for Neuroscience united to sponsor educational events and handson activities across the country. Cooper students participated in three, one-hour long programs conducted by Shayne-Emile Martinez Boucher, Ph.D. from the Department of Anatomy and Cell Biology at Wayne State University School of Medicine.

"The purpose of my visitation to Cooper Elementary School was to increase awareness about science in general among young children, with a particular emphasis on neuroscience." said Boucher. "By having children perform hands-on demonstrations of general scientific

Through the popular DARE drug-awareness program, police officers are a familiar sight in the district's elementary and middle schools. Right now, eight officers teach classes and befriend students in these 26 schools.

The ninth officer would be stationed at either Churchill or Franklin high school and would cost the district about $60,000 a year.

The extra officer is just one on a list of proposed program improvements contained in Livonia Public Schools' proposed 1999-2000 budget, which should be approved in June by the Livonia Board of Education.

At the three high schools, the district also plans to combine $2.1 million from the general operating budget with $2 million from its building and site fund to build an outbuilding, or annex, near the athletic fields that would house public restrooms, showers and locker rooms.

Miscellaneous proposed program improvements include:

- once with an extinguisher and once with water - but flames crupted a third time and spread before the Westland Fire Department was finally called, Harder. said.

No one will face criminal charges. Harder said, but he said the incident should serve as a warning for residents to call for help when they first notice a fire.

St. Onge wasn't alone in alerting River Bend residents about the fire.

"A Wayne County sheriff deputy was driving by and saw it and started notifying the residents," Harder said.

One of those residents was Julie Cervantes, 32, who escaped with roommate Laura Bowser.

"I heard this banging on the door, and I didn't want to open it at first because I didn't know who it was," Cervantes said.

"When I heard the building was on fire I just grabbed a coat and my purse. I forgot my shoes," she said. "We just stood outside and watched it blaze. We watched it 'til 4 in the morning." Cervantes and Bowser plan to stay with relatives until they find a new residence.

Fire Chief Mark Neal said fire spread rapidly through a wooden area of the roof as firefighters tried to douse it.

"They knocked a big part of the fire out within the first hour, but it took several hours after that to chase the hot spots," Neal said. "It looks like it started on a balcony and went up on the roof from there. Once it gets in that attic area, fires get real big real fast."

Three apartments were badly burned by the fire, which collapsed a roof, and the remaining seven units were damaged by smoke and water, Harder said.

"I think we're looking at upwards of $500,000 in damages," he said.

Neal said none of the 10 apartments will be habitable, adding that "the building will have to be abandoned for now."

Residents talking among themselves learned that only one renter had fire insurance, but ments - some in the same complex - and some residents said they would be staying with relatives for now.

Monday afternoon, residents' damaged belongings littered the grounds around the building. Couches, televisions, mattresses, vacuum cleaners, clothing, plants, baseball gloves and hundreds of other items could be seen as residents tried to make arrangements to have their possessions hauled away - to where, some didn't know.

The American Red Cross was called in to help residents replace clothing, medication and eyeglasses, Neal said.

Firefighters from all four Westland stations and from Garden City fought the blaze. Wayne firefighters temporarily answered other Westland emergency calls.

"Firefighters were there until daylight putting out little hot spots," Neal said.

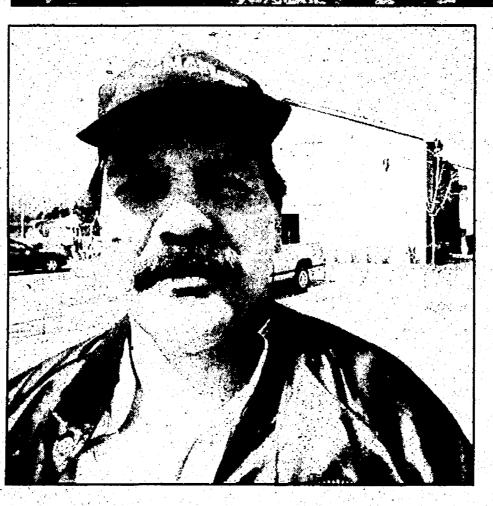

Many residents seemed in low spirits Monday afternoon, although most said they pulled together as neighbors to help each other through a grueling experience. Most also said they felt lucky to be alive and uninjured.

St. Onge, meanwhile, stood inside his first-floor apartment as water dripped onto his already soaked carpet. Most of his belongings had been hauled out to a grassy courtyard, but he didn't have a long-term plan.

"Everything I did salvage is ruined by smoke and water damage," said St. Onge, a sheetmetal workers Local 292 member who is still reeling from a divorce.

"I just moved in here in December," he said. "I have no family to go to, so I'm pretty much out on the street.

"I woke up about 1:11 and went to the bathroom. I laid down about 10 minutes later, and then I heard someone yelling and woke up," Beecher said. "My fiancee thought she smelled smoke. We had our window cracked about an inch."

- Beecher looked outside and saw a River Bend maintenance man yelling about a fire.

"It started just a few feet from our bed," Beecher said. "We put on some clothes and got the cat (Bailey) and went outside.

"We didn't anticipate the fire being as horrible and as devastating as it was," he said. "It was the worst feeling. We just sat outside and watched it burn. It seemed like a week went by while we watched it go."

Westland and Garden City firefighters battled the blaze for apartments, Beecher and Doherty learned the hard way that they should've bought fire insurance.

"That's one of the first things we'll do when we get moved," Beecher said.

The couple placed their damaged possessions in a U-haul on Monday and spent the night with Doherty's parents in Livonia. The pair hopes to move as early as this week to a Farmington Hills apartment complex which has the same owners as River Bend.

Eventually they want to buy their own house. Beecher is an Oakwood Healthcare System human resources employee, and Doherty is a Beaumont Hospital cytotechnologist who studies cells for possible cancer.

Senate Dems fall short in bid to add nursing home inspectors

State Senate Democrats came up one vote short in an effort to add 23 nursing home inspectors to the Department of Consumer and Industry Services.

"Senior citizens should be paramount. They are the most vulnerable," said Sen. Joe Young Jr., D-Detroit, during the March 25 debate.

But Sen. Joel Gougeon, R-Bay City, said a state panel to study nursing home conditions would convene soon and "be done by summer. We don't know how many inspectors and how we pay for long-term health care. Funding the exact number of inspectors now is premature."

Sen. George Hart, D-Dearborn, said, "We've closed two nursing homes in the metro Detroit area in the last six months. The state said you don't pay enough, and we don't have the inspectors. Some say, 'Just

Commission to consider Metro parking contract

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK STAFF WRITER kabramczyk@oe.homecomm.net

Wayne County commissioners expect to act today on a parking contract at Detroit Wayne County Metropolitan Airport.

But on Tuesday, commissioners still had questions about the proposed three-year agreement with APCOA-Williford Parking of Cleveland.

Commissioners have studied the contract closely after Auditor General Brendan Dunleavy and his staff released an audit in December that disclosed that $1.4 million in parking taxes were underreported and APCOA's lease agreements - for which Wayne County reimbursed APCOA - cost an average of $28,000 per vehicle.

Dunleavy and his staff found the airport could have leased the majority of vehicles for an average of about $17,000 each and estimated the airport could be paying as much as $400,000 too much to lease 37 vehicles.

Dunleavy reported his findings to the Wayne County prosecutor's office in accordance with the county ethics ordinance.

George Ward, chief assistant prosecutor, is expected to complete a review by today's commission meeting of the lease agreements between APCOA and financing companies to see if Wayne County is entitled to reimbursements.

"We took the position that (contract approval) would not prejudice our claim to a refund," Ward said.

Treasury view.

County officials also waited for an interpretation from the state Treasury Department for the $1.4 million in underreported parking tax. Airport Director David Katz said in a recent interview the tax is now being reported on the full amount.

Katz recommended that APCOA-Williford Parking of Cleveland receive a threeyear contract for the management of public parking facilities. Katz said eight compa-. nies responded and APCOA was the low bidder.

The contract calls for APCOA to operate and manage the public parking facility's 11,810 parking spaces at Metro. Wayne County would pay to APCOA-Williford Parking an amount equal to 0.23297 percent of the total gross revenues. APCOA-Williford Parking is a joint venture between APCOA of Cleveland and Williford Enterprises of Detroit.

Commissioner Robert Blackwell, D-Detroit, told commissioners Tuesday that the prosecutor's office had "signed off" on it, and that the commission could act on the contract.

"We should not hold up approval," Blackwell said.

But commissioners had not received a letter yet from Ward, which concerned some of them.

"I have no problem with Commissioner Blackwell's word, but for a contract of this magnitude, we need it in writing from the prosecutor's office," said Vice Chair Kay Beard. D-Westland.

Commissioner Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, wanted more time to review the contract after commissioners received a list of recommended contract amendments from Dunleavy. Dunleavy suggested that the operator maintain all "pertinent underlying supporting

SC asbestos removal won't hamper summer classes

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK STAFE WRITER kabramczykoe.homecomm.net

Ceiling and floor tiles containing asbestos will be removed from the Liberal Arts Building at Schoolcraft College this summer. The asbestos was discovered there and in the Applied Science Building earlier this year.

Once used for insulation because it is fireproof and does not conduct heat or electricity. asbestos is a cancer-causing agent when it becomes airborne and can be breathed by humans. The asbestos at Schoolcraft is not "friable" or does not crumble into the air, so in that condition. it is not a health concern or risk. college officials said.

"It can be easily and safely removed," said Butch Raby, vice president for business services.

Between May and August contractors will remove asbestos from ceiling tiles and elbow joints of water pipes. Raby will present a contract for approval to the college's Board of Trustees at the next meeting on April 28.

Officials from the Air Quality Division of the state Department of Environmental Quality could not be reached for comment on this project.

School officiats hired consultant Jeff Heydanek and environmental consultant J. Scott Environmental of Plymouth to survey all the college's buildings after administrators heard concerns from physical plant employees that asbestos may be present in the elbow joints.

The asbestos was found in the tiles, but it was not airborne. This was confirmed by air quality tests completed by the consultants, Raby said.

If the building was to be renovated and asbestos disturbed, then the Environmental Protection Agency requires that it be removed. "As we do projects, we need to get it out of there," Raby said.

The board of trustees approved a contract March 24 for $19,688 with the Wyandotte Electric Supply Co. for 355 light fixtures and 900 lamps for the Liberal Arts Building.

The entire building renovation, including the asbestos removal, new fixtures, ceiling tiles, painted walls and carpeting, will cost $500,000, Raby said. The college's $2 million plant fund will finance the improvements.

Once the board approves the asbestos removal contract, contractors will begin sealing off one section at a time within the Liberal Arts Building. They expect to begin May 10 and be finished by Aug. 4.

"We're doing it when our census is as low as possible." Raby said. Schoolcraft houses 9,500 students during the regular school year. During the summer that figure falls to 3,500 students, Raby said.

Raby expects the building's other sections will remain open during the asbestos removal. Efforts will be made to house spring/ summer classes in other buildings, but Raby expects some classes will remain in the Liberal Arts Building.

The building will be sealed off with a 4-millimeter-thick polyurethane sheathing, covering all doorways, windows and vents. The air will be monitored by the consultant during the asbestos removal.

Ceiling and floor tiles and elbows for hot water pipes will be removed. Self-containing "glove bags" will be used to remove the asbestos on the elbows on water pipes. Air pressure will be made lower within that sealed space to prevent untreated air from getting out of . the building. Air from the inside will be filtered before it is blown outside.

Caution signs will be set up outside the enclosed area by work crews, warning people of the possible environmental hazards. The first segment will require three days work for three classrooms and a hailway.

Once the tiles are removed, crews will install new ceiling tiles and lights, paint and add new carpet.

The administration was surprised by the presence of asbestos in ceiling tiles, Raby said. "We were concerned because the physical plant staff raised the issue. We really didn't think there was any, but rather than be unsure, we had it tested. The ceiling tiles were a surprise.

Other projects expected to be worked on this summer include rebuilding a parking lot west of the McDowell Center: the purchase of 400 computers, and air conditioning of a section of the Radcliff Center in Garden City.

"I am a slow learner and 🖡 can't digest this information in 10 minutes," Bankes said.

After Dunleavy told commissioners there were no changes from his earlier, original letter. Commissioner Bernard Parker, D-Detroit, told commissioners they had two weeks to review the contract.

was not ready to vote. "I want to be sure we do our due diligence on this contract," Beard said.

Bid questions

Commissioner Kathleen Husk. R-Redford, asked Commission Counsel Ben Washburn about the bid process. Washburn responded that the commission had received bid sheets. "It is a reasonable process with a wellfounded recommendation," Washburn said.

with Katz, who told Dunleavy a letter of understanding would be sent to him. Dunleavy had not received that letter as of Tuesday.

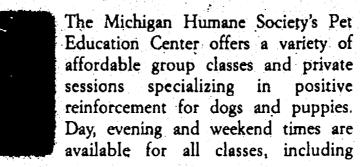

That letter may not carry weight if the contract's language does not allow any such letters to carry contractual obligations, but Washburn said he would check into it.

Commissioners voted, 8-4, to send the contract out of the committee of the whole and send it to full commission today for a vote. Blackwell, Parker, Chair-But Beard responded that she man Ricardo Solomon, D-Detroit, and Commissioners Ed. Boike, D-Taylor, Susan Hubbard, D-Dearborn, John Sullivan, D-Wayne, and Jewel Ware, D-Detroit, supported the action, while opposing it were Bankes, Beard, Husk and Ilona Varga, D-Detroit.

> "There are some very serious legal questions that have not been answered," Beard said.

ALZHEIMER'S DI

Alzheimer's disease is the most common dementia (cognitive and memory decline) in people over the age of 65. It affects approximately 4 million Americans and ranks as the fourth leading cause of death after heart disease, cancer and stroke. The emotional and social impact of this disease is suffered no only by patients, but also the caregivers

The functional and behavioral decline in Alzheimer's disease result from destruction of the nerve cells that control memory, thinking and behavior. Initially short-term memory fails and there is decreased ability to perform familiar tasks. As the disease gradually robs people from cognitive and social skills, behavioral symptoms such as aggression, disorientation and wandering are seen. Older individuals, especially those with lamily history of Alzheimer's disease are at high risk. Complaints of social withdrawal, depression and decreased awareness of time along with memory decline require prompt medical attention and early diagnosis.

The future holds promise for effectively treating this "silent epidemic", and current treatments ignificantly improve symptoms. When given in uncomplicated disease, a Attorney Donald L. Knapp Jr. of Livonia was elected first vice chair and Herb Scott of Canton, vice president for managed care at Major Pharmaceutical, was elected treasurer.

Elected as chair was attorney Margaret V. Van Houten. She replaces state Sen. Thaddeus

Residents from Canton and McCotter of Livonia who decided not to seek another term. Van Houten, 63, is a councilwoman in Dearborn Heights and the youngest chair in the history of the Wayne County Republican Committee.

"Senator McCotter is to be commended for his leadership in ensuring the election of Republican county commissioners and conservative judges to the Wayne County Circuit Court. He went above and beyond the call of duty to ensure that taxpayers are protected from big government.

"As a result of his leadership, Wayne County is the only county in Michigan that requires a supermajority to raise taxes," said Van Houten.-

Others elected include: Gloria

Rocha of Detroit, the former chair of the 15th Congressional District Republican Committee. second vice chair and Krista Haroutunian of Detroit, an attorney with Edward L. Haroutunian, P.C., secretary.

The committee's major goals include the re-election of U.S. Sen. Spencer Abraham as well as judges "dedicated to interpreting the law instead of creating it."

UM-D chief supports Engler's tier funding

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER trichard@oe.homecomm.net

The chancellor of the University of Michigan-Dearborn broke with the leadership from Ann Arbor and is supporting Gov. John Engler's "four-tier" formula for funding 15 state universities.

James C. Renick, who is leaving for North Carolina July 14 after six years, told a House budget panel that Engler's recommendation "establishes a plan for stable and predictable funding."

"While there are many questions about the rankings recommended in the executive budget," Renick said, "the idea of funding tiers recognizes that our colleges and universities have different missions and meet different needs, and hence require different levels of support from the state."

UM-Dearborn would be in tier 2, along with Oakland and Western Michigan universities, getting $4,700 per student.

The plan was opposed a week later by Lee Bollinger, U-M president, who called the tier formula "unwise. It takes away the role of the Legislature to make annual complex judgments. Every single university is special. Abandon the idea of formula funding altogether."

Bollinger predicted Engler's formula, if enacted, would force up U-M tuition 4 to 5 percent.

Renick said UM-Dearborn, however, "will be able to stay within the governor's recommendation for minimal tuition. increases."

Meanwhile, U-M announced March 22 that Renick is leaving to become chancellor of the North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University. It's considered an "historically black college," said Molly Corbett Broad, president of the 16-campus University of North Caroli-worked his way up the administrative ladder in Florida before joining UM-D in January-of 1993.

Bollinger praised Renick for "working closely with faculty and business and community leaders."

While one board of regents governs U-M's Ann Arbor, Dearborn and Flint campuses, they are operated separately and have separate line items in the $1.48 billion state higher education budget.

UM-D is proposed for $25,7 million in Engler's FY 2000 budget.

The campuses have quite different missions.

While UM is considered a world-class research university, UM-Dearborn notes that it's part of "the intellectual capital of the auto industry," with twothirds of students in some programs gaining work experience and salaries as interns in business

Renick said he got a "valentine" message from a Compaq recruiter who said he's "happy if I get one candidate from each day's interviewing." At UM-D, the recruiter had five applicants and "I found four that I would have hired on the spot ... These are the best prepared and brightest students that I interviewed all week."

Now 40 years old, the UM-Dearborn campus has the highest percentage of engineering students (12 percent of credit hours) of any state university except Michigan Tech, Renick said.

"At UM-Dearborn," said Renick. "instructional and physical plant costs associated with teaching engineering, computer science and natural sciences are major factors in our cost structure."

During Renick's tenure, UM-D enrollment has risen to a record 8.300 and will continue to rise 2-3 percent a year, he said. Major

As required by U.S. Congressional Statutes, the City of Westland has prepared a Five Year Consolidated Plan Strategy for the period July 1, 1995-June 30, 2000 as a prerequisite to receiving funds from a variety of Federal and State sources including Community Development Block Grant (CDBG), Homeless Assistance Programs, the HOME Program, and certain other Federal Programs, including Section 8 Housing Assistance. In addition, the City prepares an annual Consolidation Plan Action Plan with funding requests for project and programs for the upcoming fiscal period.

The Five Year Consolidated Plan and Annual Action Plan are designed to be integrated documents for identifying and meeting the needs for Community Development and and Affordable Housing within the City of Westland, Further, they include a review of the total resources expected to be available to assist in the provision of Community Development and Affordable Housing needs. This potential includes public and private resources, non-profit housing and community development organizations, fiscal institutions, state housing organizations, social service agencies, and others. The Five Year and Annual Consolidated Plan Strategy process is intended to produce a Five -Year Strategy and Annual Action Plan to begin closing the gap between the quantity of decent housing which is affordable to individuals and families with low or moderate incomes and the need for such housing and to restore the community with CDGB funded capital outlay projects and public SERVICES. 1999/2000 ANNUAL CONSOLIDATED PLAN ACTION PLAN REVIEW PERIOD:

This publishing shall serve as notice that the (30) day Consolidated Plan Public Comment period shall begin April 2, 1999 and end on May 3, 1999. The Five Year Consolidated Plan Strategy document and 1999/2000 Annual Action Plan Summary will be on review at locations throughout the City listed at the end of the notice. Several public hearings on the 1999/2000 Annual Action Plan will be held during the month of April in accordance with the schedule shown at the end of this notice. The purpose of the public hearings and comment period will be to obtain the views and opinions of citizens on the effectiveness of programs and activities proposed and planned for the next fiscal period, as well as during the next five years.

1999/2000 CONSOLIDATED PLAN ACTION PLAN NARRATIVE

The 1999/2000 Consolidated Plan Action Plan will provide information regarding the financial resources which are expected to be available in federal fiscal year 1999 for Community Development and affordable housing programs including new construction, rehabilitation, rental assistance, homeless programs, home purchase assistance programs, etc. The Consolidated Plan reviews various Federal, State, County, and local resources as well as those of the private and non-profit sector.

The Consolidated Plan Action Plan also discusses implementation for the City fiscal year 1999/2000 (7/1/1999-6/30/2000) in terms of the number of households to be assisted by Federal, State or Local programs and which family types the assistance will be targeted to. For fiscal 1999/2000, the City anticipates programs and projects which are already projected under the 1998/99 Consolidated Plan Action Plan. The 1998/99 Consolidated Plan Action Plan provided a mixture of housing programs to serve very low and lower income families; owners and renters; elderly, small family and large family commensurate to the amount of Federal and State assistance provided to the City. Housing rehabilitation for owners; rehabilitation of rental property in the Norwayne and Carver Subdivisions; and the provisions of Section 8 rent subsidies to all family types will continue at levels provided during the five-year period 1990-1995. The City has begun a demonstration Home Buyer Program in both the Norwayne and Carver Subdivisions to encourage a greater interest in homeownership amongst families who currently rent. The Westland Housing Commission (WHC) will continue to operate its Family Self-Sufficiency Program for up to as many as (25). interested families who are currently receiving Section 8 Housing Assistance benefits. The program encourages families to either work or obtain an education and become independent of government assitance. In April of 1999, the Commission will begin to administer 220-230 Housing Preservation Vouchers at the Point West Apartment complex in Westland. This contract was awarded to WHC by HUD when the owners opted out of their long-term contract with HUD.

The City will continue with the implementation of its Carver Subdivision zation Plan starting v designation of a non-p vith the provider, Peoples' Community Hope for Homes, to continue affordable housing initiatives including in-fill housing on vacant lots and an acquisition, rehabilitation and resale program for vacant homes. PCHFH may also undertake some demolition activities to remove long term vacant, substandard housing. In its place, PCHFH will build new construction, single family homes. PCHFH has an approved Neighborhood Preservation Program with the Michigan State Housing Development Authority. Construction should start his year on Phase I of a new subdivision in the Carver Subdivision. Engineering plans are almost completed for Currier Street which will consist of 32 new homes. One a development Agreement has been finalized between the City and Developer, construction will begin on the infrastructure and two to three model homes. Homeless shelter programs will continue as is, with Wayne County and local governments needing to plan for transitional and permanent housing for the homeless, Supportive housing programs for special needs individuals will continue to be provided by county-wide non-profit organizations who may possibly be subject to budget cutbacks. It is assumed that Wayne County will continue to support the operation of the Wayne County Family Center which provides (23) units of emergency shelter. The shelter is operated through a contract with Lutheran Social Services of Michigan.

PROPOSED YEAR XXV COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT AND HOME HOME PROGRAM

The City of Westland anticipates receiving approximately $1,086,000 in Federal Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds for the Year XXV Program which begins July 1, 1999, from the Department of Housing and Urban Development. It is proposed to utilize $236,000 in program income returned to the City from loan and grant repayments from the CDBG funded Housing Rehabilitation Program to provide an increased level of capital improvements and public services activities in the Year XXV Program. The City also anticipates receiving an increase in the amount of HOME funds from that received in the prior fiscal period from both Federal and State resources. The total expected HOME funding is $407,000.

NATIONAL OB DOTTITE-

The CDBG program was enacted by Congress in 1974 to address the problem of deteriorating cities and neighborhoods. In order to achieve this goal of revitalizing the nation's communities, the federal government establishes three broad national objectives to which the City of Westland has certified it will give maximum feasible priority. These objectives include:

- 1. Activities which benefit low and moderate income families.
- Activities which aid in the prevention or elimination of slume or blight.
- Activities which address an urgent threat to the health or safety of the Ś., DED ED UDITY.

A total of 4,620 sq. ft. addition was constructed on the east side of the existing assembly hall. The addition houses (4) new activity rooms with folding partition walls. The total project cost was $883,487 (excluding interest on the project financing). A primary loan was obtained from HUD via the Section 108 loan program in the amount of $530,000 and $100,000 was budgeted for the project in the Fiscal 1997/98 Consolidated Plan Action Plan. Repayment will be made in five years for the first loan. The difference between the revised project cost and the allocated funding was met by the City obtaining a second, concurrent 108 Loan in the amount of $300,000 with a term of ten (10) years. The $171,000 in funding represents a scheduled loan repayment. $10,000 Low/Mod. Public 1 Rehab Code 1 Enforcement Improvement Sexual Assault Prevention

This space will be used to replace office space taken away from FNS during the past several years due to growth in the City's own Housing and Community development Programs. The funding will also be used to integrate existing office space at the rear of the building (barrier free access compliance, ingress/egress) with the new addition.

Westland Observer OPINION 36251 SCHOOLCRAFT, LIVONIA, MICHIGAN 48150

Motive questioned Comments more than updates?

Wayne-Westland school board candidate has recently begun a practice that we think raises many questions, and we're not sure it should continue.

Skip Monit, the citizen leader of the Wayne-Westland school district's bond committee and a confirmed candidate for the school board, has begun addressing the board at each meeting during the citizens' comments portion of the meeting to give an update on the district's bond construction projects.

While we feel these updates may be needed in some forum, we think it more than just an odd coincidence that they began as Monit laid plans for a school board campaign.

We have little information yet on Monit's campaign or his ideas, so we're not questioning that. We question, however, whether his "updates" should continue at a forum that is televised to cable viewers in Wayne-Westland.

Are other candidates going to get the idea they should come before the board at each meeting to get in a television appearance? We realize the board is pretty much required to allow anyone who wishes to speak the opportunity to speak - and that includes candidates.

But we're concerned that Monit's talks have the appearance of a semi-official update in the guise of a campaign for school board. After all, he did help the district win a $108 million school bond vote.

Also, if every candidate is encouraged to come forward in the citizen question and comment portion of the meeting, it seems those meetings could become just a campaign advertisement.

We question whether some school board members would object if other potential candidates - perhaps those who aren't in the board's favor - started making regular statements at meetings, just to stump for votes and to get their name on the air.

Monit, however, seems to have the board's blessing.

That said, we'd like to reiterate that, of course, we encourage interested and active residents to get involved with committees and even run for school board. We're pleased to see strong and involved residents at work on school board issues.

In fact, any interested residents still have time to file petitions for a school board seat. Voters will fill two four-year seats in June.

The filing deadline is 4 p.m. April 12, and packets can be picked up at the schools election offices, 3001 Fourth, behind Wayne Memorial High School. -

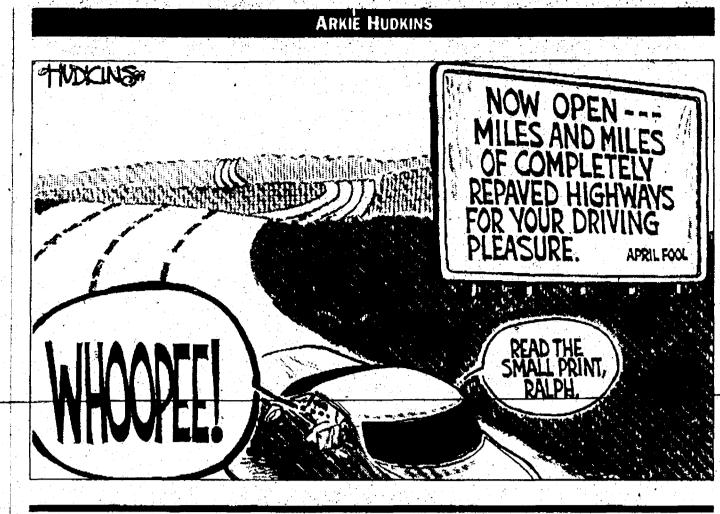

Let's just take another look at how this board race is beginning. We think this type of campaigning raises questions and concerns. It just doesn't look right.

View of Federalist Society

This is in response to Tim Richard's Feb. 11 column on the Federalist Society.

First, let me say the column was more benign than others on this subject. However, there are few principles which I believe would be helpful in understanding the view of the Federalist Society.

The Federalist Society does not categorically condemn judge-made law – it cannot and would not take such a position because much of what is known as common law is precisely that - judge-made law.

The significant point where the Federalist Society differs from the judicial philosophy know as "activism" is in the arena of "constitutionalizing" issues. Saying an issue is controlled by the U.S. Constitution when it is not, wrongfully takes the issue out of the arena for public debate and the decision away from the voters by this judicial sleight of hand. Let me give you an example – abortion. The pertinent question is not are you for or against abortion, but who should make that decision. The Federalist Society contends, correctly in my view, that the abortion issue is not one which is either endorsed or prohibited, much less addressed by, the U.S. Constitution. What it regards as improper is the "constitutionalizing" of this and other issues so that states, through its voters and representatives, no longer have a say on whether abortion, or other such key issues are legitimate nor not. For example, you will recall that in the doctor-assisted suicide case, the Supreme Court said – something which the Federalist Society has been saying for years - that the question of doctor-assisted suicide is not controlled by or even addressed in the Constitution and therefore rests, as it should, in a democratic society, with the people to vote as we did in Michigan, and as voters did in Oregon. I believe the central tenet of the Federalist Society is intellectual honesty. That is, if the legislature passes a law, it is irrelevant whether a judge likes or dislikes the legislation; judges simply should apply the law as written. To do otherwise, would be to take away power from the people as surely as the United State Supreme Court has improperly done in a number of cases. No doubt there are areas, be it Miranda or Gideon – where reasonable minds may differ on whether or not the Constitution actually affords a right articulated by the United State Supreme Court. However, there are areas which are clearly in the arena of the democratic process wherein the people should vote and the courts should not decide an issue for hundreds of millions of judicially disenfranchised citizens. As you know, federal judges are not elected and therefore, not accountable to the people and, accordingly, if we err at all, judges should err on the side of advancing democratic, not elitist principles.

Clearly, this is a very complicated subject and there are volumes written on this subject and the foregoing discussion is, by necessity, an oversimplification. However, I thought it might be helpful for you to hear at least one view from one judge who is a member of the Federalist Society.

Great loss

sincerely regret that Chuck Pickering has

Families and their guests at the traditional Passover dinner seders will be retelling the story of the Hebrews in Pharaoh's Egypt escaping slavery and looking toward a life of freedom.

That theme of freedom is more relevant in today's world.

There are many examples of large groups of people still living without freedom - freedom of religion, freedom of speech and personal

Those victims certainly aren't free to enjoy their lives because they are living in fear.

Christians are reminded that Jesus' last supper with his disciples was a Passover seder.

The Passover holiday - rooted in history and the traditions of the Hebrew and Christian religions - should be remembered and continually observed by all faiths as mankind's continuing struggle for freedom.

Holiday symbolizes great values

"God, who foresaw your tribulation, has specially armed you to go through it, not without pain but without stain."

-C. S. Lewis in "Letters of C. S. Lewis." This thoughtful quote of one of America's more favorite Christian writers expresses with much more depth the bumper-sticker proclamation "Christians are not perfect -They are Forgiven." The quote also is a reminder of why Easter is so important to Christians.

Remember that the prince of the church, St. Peter, experienced his share of tribulation. By cutting off the guard's ear in the garden, he earned Christ's disapproval. This man of strong faith denied Christ three times and went into hiding after Jesus was arrested.

Yes, it was Peter who was ordained to be the head of the first church. Christ proclaimed Peter was the rock upon which the Church would be built and explained that the allegorical "rock" was Peter's personal faith. Prior to Peter's tribulation, he was the only apostle to recognize who Jesus was when he emphatically announced "Thou Art the Christ!"

St. Peter, who struggled with great emotional pain, emerged without the stain of sin as Christ would not have chosen a sinner to head His Church. And so, not surprisingly to those who read him, C. S. Lewis was right. Christians believe Jesus died, was resurrected and ascended to reunite with God so that Peter and the rest of us fragile humans can live without the stain of sin.

Easter embodies three great spiritual values: Hope, that we can surmount our failings and live a successful life; Grace, that God continually provides us with what we hardly deserve; and Love, the comfort that the Trinity cares for us personally. Hope, Grace, and Love (and Peter's own faith) is what propelled him after the ascension into becoming one of the greatest Christian leaders of our times.

Easter offers Hope, Grace and Love to each of us also. After all, Jesus did not die for Peter alone.

Easter provides power which allows us to have Hope in our future, take comfort in God's love for us, be amazed always by His Grace, and be optimistic that we have God's approval no matter what is our standing in life.

Easter means we may live with pain but without stain.

chosen to step down from the city council. I'm not surprised, however, that he made the honorable choice to protect his clients. His loss will be great for the community which he has served in several capacities for more than two decades.

Often, he had the only reasonable and logical head on the council or in the mayor's office. And despite the engineered effort to relieve him of the mayor's position, the voters saw value in his decision-making skills and his refusals to pander to self-interest groups. Nor did he succumb to self-aggrandizement or the potential power of the offices he held. The voters were aware of his character traits integrity, dedication, vision - and they elected him time and time again. His absence will be profound. I'm doubtful that this void will easily be filled.

POINTS OF VIEW

Realistic view of law prompts Kelly's label

y dander rose, as did yours perhaps, when Marilyn Kelly called an 1846 Michigan law against cohabitation by an unwed couple "antiquated and rarely enforced."

Kelly is the state Supreme Court justice who wrote the Dec. 22 majority opinion against Jackson landlords John and Terry Hoffius. They refused to rent apartments to two unwed couples, citing the 152-year-old statute that "Any man or woman, not being married to each other, who shall lewdly and lasciviously associate and cohabit together ... shall be guilty of a misdemeanor."

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffius declared that the state of sin in which the two couples were living offended their religion. They argued their freedom of religion should take precedence over the 1968 Civil Rights Act forbidding discrimination in real estate dealings "on the basis of religion, race, color, national origin, age, sex, familial status, or marital status"

Kelly and four other justices ruled for the renters: "The state's need to provide equal access to such a fundamental need as housing outweighs defendants' religious beliefs that they should not rent to an unmarried couple."

An old law, surely, but "antiquated"? The Magna Carta, which limits the power of a sovereign, is 784 years old; the U.S. Constitution and Bill of Rights, more than 200. Law, one would think, is either just or unjust, not "antiquated."

Justice Patricia Boyle dissented sharply. "The Legislature has not repealed the prohibition against cohabitation," she said, adding, "the fact that a criminal statute has not been successfully prosecuted does not somehow render the prohibited conduct legal or the criminal statute void."

Freshman state Rep. Clark Bisbee, R-Jackson, has proposed House Bill 4258 that would allow landlords to deny dealing with unwed couples.

And this generated a missive from the American Association for Single People, with a Bloomfield Hills telephone number, yet. AASP says:

Michigan has 300,000 unrelated

I The Bible says God decreed the death penalty for adultery, incest, homosexual contact, marrying a mother and daughter, and carnal relations with an animai (Leviticus 20: 10-16). Some 16,000 seniors and many disabled cohabit because "they would be penalized by pension plans and government benefits programs if they were to legally marry."

More than 66 percent of unmarried couples are persons of the opposite-sex. Nearly 40 percent of these male-female unmarried couples are raising children."

More than half of the people. who have married in recent years cohabited together beforehand," according to the University of Wisconsin Center for Demography and Ecology, which concluded that "cohabitation is now an integral part of the marital decision-making process for most people."

The last paragraph is stunning to those of us who grew up before the 1960s. We all knew many couples "jump the gun" before the wedding. But the Wisconsin research says they're actually living together.

The Bible says God decreed the death penalty for adultery, incest, homosexual contact, marrying a mother and daughter, and carnal relations with an animal (Leviticus 20: 10-16). But God eased up on premarital intercourse (Exodus 22: 15-16), letting the man off with barely a slap on the wrist and a woman with no sanctions at all.

Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr., who spent more than 30 years on the U.S. Supreme Court and penned "The Common Law," would have sided with Kelly, I think. He saw the law as dynamic, not static. In his opening paragraph, he wrote:

"The life of the law ... has been experience. The felt necessities of the time, the prevalent moral and political theories ... The substance of the law at any given time ... corresponds ... with what is then understood to be convenient."

Later: "In the course of centuries the custom, belief, or necessity disappears, but the rule remains."

Whether you approve of current morals or not, Kelly had the most realistic view of the law.

Sinking economy

s a return of stagflation inevitable? I saw yes. Here's why: Contrary to popular opinion, our economy has been experiencing a violent run-away inflation. The problem is that it has been confined almost entirely to the stock market. Furthermore, the Federal Reserve has been furiously printing huge amounts of money to keep this financial market inflation going. But, as the financial economy has soared like a rocket, the real economy, hest exemplified by commodity prices. has sunk like a stone. So, here's the problem. At some point, the corporate economy is going to reach a saturation point of too much capacity and too little pricing power, resulting in declining profits.

Then, the flow of money out of ridiculously overpriced defensive, "nifty-fifty" stocks and into ridiculously under-priced commodities will begin. (Be warned, this process may have already begun.)

Amazingly, the public will perceive this shift as a rise in prices in the real economy at the very moment when business activity seems to be slowing down, in other words, stagflation. Then, the bond market vigilantes will punish this rise in real economy prices by raising interest rates making the stock market's decline even worse.

stock market mania in the 1960s gave way to the stagflation decade of the 1970s. Commodities, like oil, effectively soak up the money that was originally printed to support the stock mania.

In effect, stagflation is how we "do" depressions in the post-gold standard world of paper money economies.

Abraham-Stabenow race is on o it's going to be Debbie Stabenow vs. Spencer Abraham for the U.S. Senate in November 2000.

That's fine. If the public purpose of an election contest is to pit the two best possible candidates against each other, a Stabenow-Abraham race fits the bill perfectly.

Some early polls have shown Stabenow with a slight (45-39 percent) lead over Abraham. They won't mean much once the campaigning get serious. But they do give substance to the widely held theory that Stabenow has a real chance and that Abraham is unusually vulnerable for an incumbent senator.

Don't be fooled. Abraham has lots going for him. As an incumbent with statewide reach, he'll work the Washington sound-bite culture to get on the 11 p.m. news. And he's hard at work on Republican fund-raising circuit, with a stated $9 million goal.

Most of all, Abraham has in his corner the Republican machine built and fine-tuned by Gov. John Engler. Just how solidly in his corner is another question, given Abraham's decision to endorse his old boss, former Vice President Dan Quayle, for president rather than Engler's choice, Texas Gov. George W. Bush. GOP insiders are cluck-clucking over this slip in Abraham's usually cautious political maneuvering.

And Abraham has hardly set the Senate on fire. Other than an easy-to-attack vote for impeachment and a sensible but easy-to-forget bill easing immigration restrictions, Abraham hasn't constructed much of a legislative record. And a lot of people who have repeatedly tried and failed to get schedule commitments through Abraham's office are very critical of his staff performance and Abraham's evident preference for appearing at very controlled and scripted events.

As for Stabenow, the only question was whether she'd run for Senate next year or governor in three years. Michigan likely will lose a congressional seat after the 2000 census results are in. Stabenow's district, uneasily poised between liberal and urban Lansing and conserv-Ative and exurban Livingston County, is ripe for elimination when the redistricting deals are finally cut.

So for Stabenow, necessity - in this case, runming for the Senate - is the mother of invention. he loses a Democratic primary and could well siphon votes away from Stabenow. With former Gov. Forget what the Abraham spin doctors are saying that Stabenow is only a second stringer, now that Bianchard is out of the race. I've watched her on the campaign trail, and I can confirm that she's one terrific campaigner.

A longtime Livingston County political observer calls her "one of the most formidable campaigners I've ever seen. When she works a room, it's a work of art."

Politically, she's a moderate who has won a reputation in Congress for solid reasonableness* and good staff work. In fact, Stabenow has a somewhat unusual reputation for being both a good campaigner and a good legislator.

Who knows whether Democrat Stabenow will be able to knock off an incumbent Republican U.S. senator, especially in a state where the institutional Democratic Party has essentially vanished. I'd guess the issue will turn on whether Stabenow can stay close to Abraham in the money-raising contest and whether organized labor still bears a grudge for Proposal A.

VIRGINIA BAILEY PARKER Fashion trends can prove to be bit unhealthy ny woman whose feet ever hurt wearing shoes with spike heels and pointed toes knows that current fashions are not always in her best interest. Looking back on fashions, it's clear that some trends have been downright unhealthy.

Take the 19th century, for example. In the 1830s, fashions were designed for the well-to-do.

Dropped shoulders – with seams placed part way down the upper arm - on stylish dresses prevented women from raising their arms. Dressed this way, a woman could do little work around the house.

Naturally, a woman who could afford to wear such a dress needed servants for household chores. But the expectation was also in place that she would be graciously sedentary, which did her cardiovascular system no good.

The average women could not afford the luxury of such a style. Nor could she wear the hobbled skirt that restricted walking, which was produced later in the century. In some ways, those of lesser means were better off.

Finishing touches: Fellow students watch as Cheryl Gamble of Livonia holds her completed egg near a candle to remove the layers of wax.

Ideals of physical beauty were also detrimental. A fair complexion was so valued, along with a fragile nature, that the porcelain pallor of a consumptive (tubercular) victim was admired. Some praised the "halfclosed eye" - an unfortunate euphemism for the heavy lidded look of illness - as "beauty soft-reclining." Women whitened their faces with rice powder to imitate this delicate appearance, which they equated with femininity.

Dreaded corsets

And what of corsets? This unfortunate contraption impeded the simple. ability to breathe normally as I saw demonstrated at a contra (Virginia Reel style) dance a few years ago. When a woman in Civil War costume was winded, I asked if she found the spirited dance too taxing.

"No," she said." My corset won't let me get enough air!"

No wonder Victorian women were prone to fainting.

Social activists, including doctors, condemned corsets for causing other serious – and sometimes fatal – problems. Tight lacing constricted the waist so much that organs were pushed out of place. Lower ribs, also crushed into unnatural positions, sometimes poked into lungs.

Various social reform campaigns encouraged looser fitting clothes, including pants and divided skirts. The most famous, of course, was designed by Amelia Bloomer, whose name is forever linked with "bloomers." When she introduced the Turkish-style trousers in 1849, ladies weren't too fond of the style, nor were most men, so it didn't catch on.

Not every woman dismissed the need for pants, however. In 1865, Dr. Mary Walker was photographed in a knee-length, flared jacket over straight-legged pants. Braided trim gave the outfit a military flair. Even her wavy hair, which fell loose to her waist, disregarded convention. She blazed a lot of trails, though, starting with the fact that Walker was an assistant surgeon in the Civil War, when women doctors were few and far between.

One group that agitated for improvements was the Rational Dress Society, which Viscountess Harberton formed in 1880. It promoted styles "based upon considerations of health, comfort and beauty."

One of its recommendations dealt with heavy layers of fabric in dresses and undergarments that encumbered women. The society recommended that underslothing - it noted that this should exclude shoes - should not. weigh more than 7 pounds.

The society also proposed a divided skirt - or knickerbockers - with a fitting tunic. Playwright Osca t's become a tradition at Livonia's Sandburg Public Library - Sandy Ewasek of Livonia teaching the art of Ukrainian Easter egg decorating to an eager group of students.

Thirty people, ages 12 and up, spent four hours Saturday learning how to create the eggs, called pysanky. While Ewasek has been teaching the class at the library for four years, the peasants of the Ukraine and other Eastern European regions have been decorating egg shells with melted beeswax and dye for thousands of years.

"I try to help them get the technique down, so they'll be able to do more complicated designs on their own," said Ewasek. "I teach them how to measure the egg. One side should be the same as the other. Some of the designs they do better with, if the egg is measured properly."

Traditionally, pysanky are made during the last week of Lent, Holy Week in the Catholic and Orthodox calendars. They are then taken to the church on Easter Sunday to be blessed, after which they are given to family members and respected outsiders.

Pysanky are whole, raw eggs which have been decorated with a complicated wax-resist method, As the egg goes through a series of dyebaths, from light to dark colors, designs are drawn (or "write," as Ukrainians would say) on the shell with hot wax after each dyeing.

All done: Stonee Moran of Livonia holds up her finished Ukrainian-decorated Easter egg.

A small, hollow funnel attached to a stick, called a kistka, is often used to heat the wax and write with. The egg is dipped in a light colored dye - yellow, for instance - and those designs that are intended to be yellow are written.

Another, darker dye bath is followed by more writing, and so on until the entire design in its several colors is on the egg. Then the egg is heated, often in the flame of a candle, and the melted wax is wiped off it. The finished egg is then coated with varnish to protect it.

In earlier times, decorated eggs were buried in the newly planted wheat fields and hung from, fruit trees to assure bountiful crops. People believed the eggs had special powers to help them. in daily life. Of the designs, animals represent prosperity and wealth; birds, the warding off of evil; the 8-pointed star, success; and wheat, the life's work of the peasant.

Each of the designs and colors on the pysanka is likely to have a deep, symbolic meaning. Traditionally, pysanky designs are chosen to match the character of the person to whom the pysanka is to be given.

Ewasek learned to make pysanky about eight years ago. Her husband, who is half Ukrainian, always wanted his children to make the eggs, but they were too busy. So Ewasek, who isn't Ukrainian, learned how.

"I adore my father-in-law and have interest in art, so I decided to do the eggs," said Ewasek, who confirmed that she will be teaching the class at the library next year.

It was a somber scene at Holy Transfiguration Orthodox Church in Livonia last Friday. Families rolled relatives in wheelchairs up to the church. Others walked slowly with canes or with a limp.

Almost all of the 600 people who attended services that night came to pray in front of an icon streaming rosescented oil that the Very Rev. Michael Matsko of Holy Transfiguration said is myrrh.

They were seeking miracles.

Williams added that it was worth a try because Holy Transfiguration is so close to her home.

Believers look to icon for help

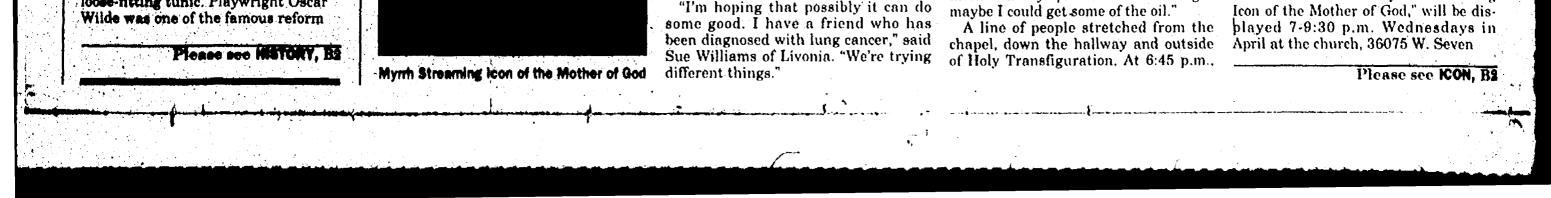

"It's not something I'd make a pilgrimage to; it's in my neighborhood," she said. "It's something I can actually get involved with without too much expense or trouble."

She came with Dorothy Williams, also of Livonia. She is hoping that a sample of the oil coming from the icon will cure her mother.

"I used to go to the healing Mass over at St. Genevieve; this is an extension to that," Dorothy said. "Also because my mother has eye problems and I thought 15 minutes before the service started, the seats of the small, muggy chapel were filled. Some stood inside while others waited outside or in the hallway.

As each person came to the end of the aisle separating two sections of folding chairs, he or she stopped in front of the icon and prayed. The icon sat at an angle so a clear glass could catch the dripping oil. After the service, patrons were anointed with the oil and received a swab of it to take home.

Visitation is decided on a monthly basis, Matsko explained. The icon, which is called the "Myrrh Streaming

Wholesome image

Change did not come quickly, but, fortunately, reformers didn't give up. The wholesome, turn-ofthe-century, Gibson Girl image took hold. Its time had come because it went hand-in-hand with efforts to promote exercise for women.

Tennis, golf, bicycling, mountain climbing and ice hockey - to name but a few sports - began drawing Victorian women participants. Fashions began to accommodate these activities, and society's attitudes began changing,

So, have history's lessons taught us to dress more sensibly?

Well, scanty beachwear overexposes us to radiation, increasing chances of skin cancer.

Then there are platform shoes, which tried to make a comeback. They're not easy to walk in. In the 1970s, I knew a young woman who loved platforms; she sprained her ankle falling off her shoes

It seems fashion will always find some way to defy common sense.

Piece of success Top-selling CC seniors savor pizza party

The apples weren't a big hit," but 15 pizzas, a selection of brownies and cookies and pop. disappeared quickly as members of adviser Gene Grewe's senior homeroom class at Detroit Catholic Central High School in Redford enjoyed the "spoils" of victory at a party last week.

The winning class, led by senior captains Keith Rowe, Dave Lusky and Kyle Entsminger, raised close to $800 of $1,300 collected by the school rocks for Hospice" as an opportuin Community Hospice and Home Care Services' annual "Shamrocks for Hospice" fundraiser. CC students have been involved in the campaign for several years, with a competition developing between the classes for a pizza party offered to the winning classroom.

The class captains, including juniors Rod Hunt and Jeremiah Hicks, sophomores Jim Spiewak and Dave Groth and freshmen Anthony Guerreso, Rick Thompson and Ryan Wrobleski, gave up their lunch hour for three days to visit each room and solicit "Shamrock" money for the Hospice Home Project.

At Livonia Franklin High School, students in the student leadership class used "Shamnity to set up and coordinate four days of fund-raising in the cafeteria. Seniors Dawn Vorhes and Abby Wojtowicz recruited 12 students to go to all of the classrooms to educate students on hospice care and the plan for a Hospice Home. They passed out pamphlets, answered questions and convinced local business to donate prizes for the "Shamrock" raffle.

"We were surprised at the number of students who came up to us to tell us of their families' personal experiences with hospice," said Abby.

"We already have ideas for next year which we have passed on to the director of student activities," added Dawn.

The students not only raised part of the agency largest yearly fund-raiser, the St. Patrick's Dinner-Dance and Auction. Collegiate notes

Two former Observerland stand outs came home with titles March 25 from the University of Florida men's track relays.

Sophomore Paul Terek (Livonia Franklin) captured the decathlon with 7,156 points, just 50 points shy of the school record he set last season.

Meanwhile, junior teammate Joe Leo (Redford Catholic Central) captured the 5,000-meter run in 14:48.25, his first collegiate outdoor victory.

University of Michigan senior center Bobby Hayes (Westland John Glenn), who helped the Wolverines to three straight Frozen Four berths and two NCAA championships, scored his team's lone goal in a 2-1 regional final overtime loss Saturday to the University of New Hampshire in a game played at Worchester, Mass.

Hayes, an assistant captain and four-year performer, finished his career with 42 goals and 61 assists. This season he had seven goals and 14 assists.

Michigan senior first baseman Bryan Besco (Westland John Glenn) clubbed a pair of 2-run homers Saturday as the Wolverines posted a 9-1 victory and earned split in the nightcap of a double-header with host University of Iowa.

Michigan entered Tuesday's nonleague home opener with Central Michigan at 11-11 overall and 3-1 in the Big Ten.

Athens ends Spartan streak at 43

The state's longest win streak in girls soccer came to an abrupt halt Tuesday when host Troy Athens upended two-time defending state champion Livonia Stevenson, 2-0.

Stevenson, 41-0-2 overall during the past two years, lost its first game since the 1996 regional semifinal when Brighton handed the Spartans a 3-0 defeat.

Athens, which opened its season Saturday with a 5-2 victory over defending Division III state champion Madison Heights Bishop Foley, scored a pair of second-half goals to end Stevenson's 43-game unbeaten streak:

Tiffany Laskowski scored five minutes into the second half, while Kristen Weidle added an insurance goal five minutes later to spoil the Spartans' season opener.

"Troy played extremely physical and they beat on us pretty good," said Stevenson coach Jim Kimble. who lost six starters from a year ago. "They're a good high school team. They'll win a lot of games." Kimble was forced to juggle his lineup, moving returnee Brianna Roy from midfield to sweeper. She was one of three new defenders in the lineup.

GIRLS SOCCER

The Spartans' were also missing All-State defender Andrea Seid, who has been touring with the U.S. Junior National Team in Europe since last Thursday.

Returning midfielder Cheryl Fox sat out the match with a hyperextended knee and Stevenson played most of the second half without All-State forward Lindsay Gusick, who went down with a leg fracture.

"It's difficult being that it's the first game," Kimble said. "It's a new group and it will take time to sort things out, but overall I was happy with the effort.

"This is a game that tests you. And they don't like it at all that they lost. We'll find out how it affects us."

During the first half, Stevenson tried to protect goalkeeper Lesley Hooker with a defensive approach.

Kimble then went with a 3-4 attack in the second half to create a few more scoring opportunities.

"We got a couple of chances, but in a game like this we obviously didn't get enough chances to win." Kimble said.

Stevenson doesn't return to action again until after spring break.

On Monday, April 12, the Spartans host Walled Lake Western and then travel Wednesday, April 14 to face Plymouth Canton in a key Western Lakes Activities Association matchup.

"They realize they're still the state champions until somebody knocks them off, Kimble said. "And we have at least until May to find that out.

"I think something good will come out of this."

.LADYWOOD 2, SHRINE 1: Melissa Harakas scored the game-winning goal from off a cross from Stefanie Stachura in the second half Monday to give the host Livonia Ladywood (2-0 overall) the victory over Royal Oak Shrine.

Shrine scored first in the opening half, but Ladywood tied it on Katle Rozum's goal from Harakas.

Ladywood first-year coach Jill Logsdon also praised. the play of midfielders Lauren Arnold and Andrea Schimmel. Liz Obrecht was in goal for Ladywood.__

The Sharks also took the Livonia Hockey Association's Hockey Championship (March 13) with a 6-4 overtime win as Matt Kahkonen tallied the game-winning goal and goaltender Ryan Dennett stopped three of four shoot-out attempts.

The Sharks also finished 11-0 en route to the first-half league title and qualified for the Michigan Amateur Hockey Association District IV tourney. Their overall LHA record and Hockey Day record was 21-2-1.

The 16th annual Metro Grand Spring Tour, sponsored by the Downriver Cycling Club, will start and finish Sunday, May 2, at Willow Metropark in New Boston.

Preregistration (by April 20) is $13 per person or $25 per family. Date of event registration is $18 per person and $35 per family. Applications are available at area bike shops.

The tour is limited to 1,500 riders and will take place rain or shine.

disorder, stop her from succeeding on the court or in the swimming pool.

McDonald, diagnosed with Perthes at age 10, helped her team win the fifth annual Junior Wheelchair Basketball Tourney in Addison, Ill. A member of the Sterling Heights Challengers, McDonald and her teammates captured six straight games, including an 18-16 victory in the championship game over the Rollin' Rebels of Indiana (Feb. 21).

Her two tournament trophies are prominently displayed in Frost's main office.

 "Nicole is just a neat kid who shows" a lot of courage," said Frost Middle School assistant principal Mike Saltz.

And whether it's Duke versus Connecticut or the Challengers against the Rebels, basketball is basketball. Coaches force the players to use their left hand and they do "killer drills" when things don't hustle in practice.

"I really like playing basketball," the 13-year-old Nicole said. "We have set plays and watch the other teams. We see what kind of plays they run and discuss it. We have 50 minute games and usually I play all 50 minutes. Six games in one weekend gets a little tiring."

The Challengers, coached by Diane Winterstein, reached the nationals by capturing the Mid-South Regional, Jan. 19-21, in Hot Springs, Ark.

Nicole, just in her rookie season, notched double figures in two different games playing on the 8 foot, 6 inch rims. She not only sets picks, but has become one of the team's main shooters.

"She's very good, being it's her first year playing," Winterstein said. "And she's just a real good kid --- that's number one.

"She's very competitive, tries very hard and is not one to give up. She works well with the team. She's a scorer. She's tall and is our center. She's all over the boards. She's learning a lot. And she's got a soft touch as far as get-

But what started out as heel injury became something much more serious when Nicole began limping severely.

She had surgery in early 1996 and had her femur reattached to her hip in March of 1997

"She had padding in between, but now the hip is entirely disintegrated and the shelf is no longer there," said Nicole's mother Debra. "By the time it was diagnosed her hip was 75 percent gone. It's an English disease. From what I know it could be hereditary or it could be caused by trauma at birth. Girls get it worse and she has a severe case of it."

During a stay at the Shriner's Hospital, Nicole and her mother noticed an organizational board and a flyer about Challengers, which is part of the Sterling Heights Parks and Recreation program.

"This is a developmental league, but Nicole also plays at the 10 foot level against older and more experienced players," Winterstein said. "This program builds teamwork and friendships. What you'd expect to see in an ablebodied team can be developed the same way here.

"They train like anybody else. They travel in airports and pick up there own bags. We don't want anyone feeling sorry for them. We just want people to treat them just like anyone else."

Despite long treks to the east side for weekly basketball or swim practices, Nicole looks forward to her sports. The family moved from their ranch in Howell to Livonia in order to be closer to her activities and programs.

"You can't believe what a difference it's made in the kid's life," Debra said. "She throws a fit if she's not there on Monday.

"I just wish there were more programs like this. The kids have bonded and feel so accepted among themselves."

Nicole has also set national agegroup records in swimming.

Diegel, who replaced Ann Hutchins during the off-season, inherited a young, but talented Franklin team which had captured two straight Western Division titles in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

In her first season with the varsity, Diegel led the Patriots to a 39-15-1 overall record and a third straight Western Division crown.

But under her guidance, Franklin captured its first-ever Class A district title beating a competitive field, which included host eight-time defending Catholic League champion Livonia Ladywood, along with Livonia Stevenson and Redford Union.

The Patriots went on to reach the Class A regional final at Ann Arbor Huron before losing to WLAA runner-up Plymouth Salem.

Young also had 124 aces, 141 digs and 94 solo blocks en route to second-team All-State honors.

"Jenny was outstanding all year," Ladywood coach Larry Wyatt said. "She was by far our biggest impact player and one of the best in the. state.

"Offensively she's always been good, but this year defensively she stepped it up and played well this year."

The team captain and MVP is a three-year starter and four-year varsity player. She was also voted All-Catholic and All-Region.

Young's brother Chris is a member of the University of Michigan basketball team.

Stephanie Dulz, 5-10 Sr., Llv. Stevenson: Headed for Hillsdale College, Dulz broke a school record this season with a total of 467 kills. She also broke the single-game kill mark with 14.

The tri-captain was named team MVP, best offensive player, All-Western Lakes, All-Metro (Detroit News) and All-Tournament at the University of Michigan Dearborn Tournament.

Suder was an all-WLAA Lakes Division selection.

She racked up 842 assist-to-kills in 2,012 attempts (41.8 percent) with 38 aces, 59 block-assists and 34 digs.

> Holly Crouse, 5-7 Sr., Red. Thurston: Listed as a setter on the Thurston roster, Crouse was just as comfortable hitting, serving and receiving.

> A three-year varsity member and allaround player extraordinaire, Crouse had a 92 percent kill rate while averaging one block per game. She averaged four assists and one ace per game and served at a 92 percent clip. She finished the year with 39 aces and was 75 percent on serve receive.

"Holly's the best all-around player we've seen (at Thurston) In a long time," Thurston coach Laura Gruenwald said. "She can play defense, hit and has beautiful hands. She's a play- set. She was one of my better defensive players in the back row and one of my top servers. "She's a smart setter, always knew where to put the ball on the other side, if she needed to tip it, or if she needed to set it to someone. She know how to man a puick attack very well." Carrie Branklewicz, 5-8 Jr., Farm. Hills Mercy: An outside hitter, Branklewicz plays much bigger than her 5-foot-7 height, leading the Marlins in every major category in terms of percentage. Her kill percentage was .272, serving percentage .941 and serve-receive percentage .909. She had 302 kills, only 17 errors in 289 serves, 39 aces, 261 digs and 310 good passes from a total of 341 serve receptions. Brankiewicz is a three-sport athlete who also plays basketball and softball and is a straight-A student. "Carrie is a terrific floor leader; the kids would all say that," Mercy coach Ed Moeller said. "She's very positive but at the same time very intense. "She has a great will to win and is always looking to improve herself. She also makes suggestions to improve the team and also takes some kids off to the side voluntarily to work with them on their skills. "Whatever college gets her will absolutely love her attitude. She works on her vertical every summer; she has a great vertical. =She told me she'll increase it by another four inches this summer, and I don't doubt her. She just works until she does it; that's who she is. "She's the kind of kid every coach wants on his or her team because of her will to win and her positive attitude." Danielle Siedz, 5-6 Sr., Liv. Clarenceville: The All-Metro Conference selection played in a total of 58 games with 183 kills in 321 attempts (3.15 per game) with a hitting percentage of :507. She also had 50 aces. "Danielle collected outstanding statistics for the season, but even so. it does not measure up to the allaround performance she displayed," Clarenceville coach Alisha Love said. "My only regret is that I will not be able to coach her for another three vears. "Wherever she goes she will definitely make an impact." Andrea Kmet, 5-10 Jr., Liv. Franklin: The middle hitter, who made All-Western Division in the WLAA, racked up 287 kills for the year (.397 percent) with 32 solo blocks, 85 assist-blocks and 229 digs (89.1 percent). "Andrea is a dynamic player," Diegel said. "She's tough all-around and plays big in the middle with her attack and block. She's working on a lump serve. "She's just a tenacious player."

Three Patriots, all whom are juniors, were named to the firstteam All-Observer squad.

Salem, 48-11-1 overall and a state Class A quarterfinalist, also placed three on the squad led by 5-foot-10 power hitter Angie Sillmon.

Among the other first-team repeat selections were Ladywood's Jenny Young and Stevenson's Stephanie Dulz.

Introducing the 1999 All-Observer Girls Volleyball Team:

Angle Sillmon, 5-10 Sr., Ply. Salem: The 5-foot-10 middle hitter was power personified for the Rocks, who reached the Class A state quarterfinais for the first time and posted a 48-11-1 record. Sillmon led Salem in kills with 351, an average of 3.77 per game, with a kill percentage of .300. She also had 50 service aces (third n the team), 218 digs (third), and a team-best 32 solo blocks and 37 block assists as she developed as an all-around player.

An all-Western Lakes Activities Association selection, Sillmon verbally committed to attend, and play volleyball at, Western Michigan University prior to the season."

"She's just a phenomenal athlete," said Salem coach Tom Teeters. "Her potential has not even been realized yet. It'll be scary if she gets close to her potential."

Sillmon shared team MVP honors with Amanda Suder.

Jenny Young, 6-1 Sr., Liv. Lady-

Graham said. "She has extreme abili ties to do a lot of stuff with the ball when she hits.

"She knows the game very well, which helps her place the ball, change position and put the ball with with a kill or side-out. She has tremendous jumping skills which aides in her attack. She was a lot of fun to watch and will be truly missed."

Dulz also made Academic All-State with a 3.92 grade-point average.

Tera Morrill, 5-11 Jr., Liv. Franklin: The left-handed outside hitter was named All-Western Lakes, All-Region, co-team MVP and best offensive player for the district champion Patriots.

Morrill had a total of 345 kills and hit at an impressive .426 clip. She also had 76 aces, 63 block-assists, 340 digs (92.1 percent) and only 82 errors in in 521 service receptions.

"Tera is extremely athletic and a formidable force," Franklin coach Mary Helen Diegel said of the honor roll student. "She can hit, set, dig and serve with tenacity.

"She's a playmaker and a ball magnet."

Morrill had a match-high 15 kills against Stevenson.

Amanda Suder, 5-6 Jr., Ply. Salem: A 5-foot-6 outside hitter, Suder was the kind of player a coach can build a team around.

She could do a bit of everything, and do it well.

"She was very consistent through most of the year," said Teeters. "That was her strength, her consistency and her focus. I thought she got the most our of her athletic ability."

"Mikkelson was one of the fastest middle schoolers in the city in the 100 and 200. Hopefully that group can fill up some holes on the varsity."

Westland John Glenn

Laying one down: Madonna University's Courtney Senger attempts a bunt during Tuesday's double-header sweep of Siena Heights.

NOTICE OF RECEIPT OF A REMEDIAL ACTION PLAN

The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ) has received a proposed remedial action plan for the Nankin Township Landfill site, located approximately 1,200 feet northeast of the intersection of Newburgh Road and Warren Road, City of Westland, Wayne County, Michigan. This site is the location of environmental contamination which is the result of landfilling activities conducted from approximately the mid 1950's to the 1960's.

This notice is provided according to the requirements of Part 201 of the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Act (NREPA), 1994 PA 451, as amended, MCL 324.20101 et seq, or the Part 201 Rules, 1990 AACS R 299.5101 et seq, to notify interested persons that the MDEQ has received the proposed remedial action plan. This notice is provided to allow for public comment prior to final action on the proposed plan.

The Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference softball season couldn't have opened better for Madonna University.

The Lady Crusaders swept a pair of games from Siena Heights, 7-3 and 5-2, to improve to 10-7 overall. The Saints are 6-5 overall.

In the opener, freshman Missy Bako (from Garden City) earned her first-ever collegiate victory, allowing two earned runs on nine hits and four walks, with three strikeouts in seven innings. Bako is 1-2 overall.

The Crusaders got 11 hits off Siena Heights' starter Kristin Heinze, including two doubles, and stole four bases. Jamie Cook (Westland John Glenn) had two hits and drove in two runs to top the offensive effort; Vicki Malkowski, Courtney Senger and Jen Walker each added two hits, with Malkowski scoring twice. Angela Litwin (Plymouth Canton) had a hit, an RBI and two runs scored.

Julie Giovannucci led Siena Heights with a double and a triple and an RBI.

In the second game, Madonna used a pair of two-run innings in the second and third - to top the Saints. Janell Leschinger (Plymouth) improved to 5-3 with a complete-game victory, allowing eight hits and five walks while striking out six in seven innings.

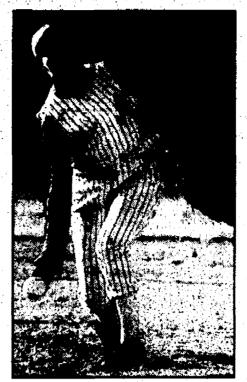

Kristy McDonald (Redford Thurston) had a triple and a single, driving in one run, to lead the Crusaders' offense. Walker again had two hits, including a triple, and Cook had a triple and an RBI.

.SAGINAW VALLEY 6-4, MADONNA 4-2: Going against one of the better NCAA Division II teams proved to be a learning, and a losing, experience for Madonna University's softball team.

The Lady Crusaders lost twice Sunday to Saginaw Valley State at Madonna. The wins boosted the Cardinals' record to 19-4.

Crusader ace: Madonna's Janell Leschinger won the second game to improve to 5-3 on the season.

Jamie Cook had two hits, including a double, and two runs batted in to pace the Crusader offense; Jenny Kruzel also had a tworun double, while Melissa Bako (from Garden City) and Jen Walker each chipped in two hits.

Janell Leschinger went the distance and took the loss, failing to 4-3; she gave up six runs (five earned) on 11 hits and five walks, with seven strikeouts. Kelly Prill relieved Clements and worked the final 3% innings without surrendering a run to get the win for SVSU.

In the second game, Courtney Senger got two of the five Madonna hits and knocked in both runs in the fourth inning, but it wasn't enough to offset a 4-0 Cardinal lead. Janelle Schmidt started and took the loss for the Crusaders to fall to 2-1; she allowed four earned runs on seven hits and four walks, with one strikeout, in four innings. Bako gave up a hit and a Fill material, composed primarily of municipal rubbish with a limited volume of industrial material, was placed at the Nankin Township Landfill Site from approximately the mid 1950's to the 1960's. The industrial fill materials were removed. The remaining fill material contains certain hazardous substances in excess of residential direct contact standards promulgated under Section 20a(1)(a) of the Part 201 Rules. This RAP outlines the risk evaluation and strategy to remediate the Site by removing the potential for direct exposure to the fill using a combination of engineered exposure barriers placed over the Site and may impose deed restrictions on future uses of the Site. Wayne County, 3M and Crestwood Development, propose to remedy any potential direct contact hazards by capping the fill area (See figure 2) with a geosynthetic fabric covered by a one foot thick layer of clean soil and 3 inches of topsoil. The creek bank erosion barrier will require grubbing and the installation of erosion controls along the creek bank, which will be completed by reshaping the creek bank. Fill material removed from the creek bank will be moved back into the fill area and placed under the exposure barrier, as necessary. A geosynthetic fabric will be placed on the graded slope covering the fill, and covered using a material designed to prevent direct contact and erosion of the creek bank. An inspection and maintenance plan is included in the remedial action plan to assure the integrity of the cover is maintained.

A copy of the complete remedial action proposal, is available for review at the William P. Fauet Public Library, $123 Central City Parkway, City of Westland and the City Clerks office, City Hall Building, 20001 Ford Road, City of Westland during normal business hours. This review period will not In less than 30 calendar days from the date of this publication.

Wings' Chris, Whalers' Nik reunited by family

BY DUNCAN E. WHITE STAFF WRITER dwhiteGoe.homecomm.net

One cousin just breezed through his professional hockey league's opening round of playoffs. The other cousin is hoping to sometime next month.

Both are highly touted defenseman who are expected to make a big impact for their respective teams on the ice this year come crunch time.

Nik Tselios, cousin of newly acquired Detroit Red Wings defenseman Chris Chelios, scored his fourth goal of the playoffs for the Plymouth Whalers Friday night to help his team sweep the Windsor Spitfires in an opening-round Ontario Hockey League playoff series.

With Chelios' trade from the Chicago Blackhawks early last week, the two are residents of the same metropolis for the first time in several years, a fact that Tselios is obviously happy about.

"We're both originally from Chicago and it's great," he said. "Now I can go see him play instead of just seeing him on TV. I love to watch him play and pick up little tricks here and there. He's a great competitor and it's great watching him."

Since both have the occupation of hockey player in common, as well as both being defensemen, Tsehos said that the two naturally share a common bond.

"We're actually pretty close," he said. "He (Chris) is pretty busy all season but in the summer I help him out with his hockey camps and things like that."

Moving from one city to another is usually pretty time consuming, let alone making a move between states on a moment's notice.

Yet, even with all that has happened for Chelios in the past week, he was able to find time to see his cousin on Thursday . . . or, at least see him play hockey.

"He came to the game last night in Windsor but a lot of the fans were bothering him for autographs so he decided to skip out early," said Tselios. "I didn't get a chance to talk to him but he left me a note telling me to get a hold of him soon."

So the big question remains: With Tselios having made the trip to metro Detroit to play for, the Whalers, and his older cousin making the switch within the past week, are these two now true, blue Detroit Red Wings fans?

"Yeah," said Tselios, a draftee of the Carolina Hurricanes organization, but he quickly switched to the politically correct answer. "Well, part of me is and part of me isn't. I'm a Carolina fan right now."

headline Domino's race expo

Olympic gold medalists Sheila Taormina (from Livonia Stevenson) and Peter Snell, and former world record-holder Herb Lindsay, will be part of a weekend of run and walk races as part of a health expo April 10-11 at Domino's Farms in Ann Arbor.

Taormina, a gold medalist in swimming; Snell, a three-time gold medalist in the 800-meter and 1,500meter runs; and Lindsay, a former world record-holder in the 10-mile and 20-kilometer road runs, will be joined by 11 other nationally-known speakers.

Also, 47 exhibitors will address such issues as nutrition, sports medicine, acupuncture, massage and homeopathy. Admission to these discourses is free.

Race events are scheduled for April 11 and will include the Domino's Distance Classic 20K run at 9 a.m.; the U-M Heart Care Program Healthy 5K run, and walk at 9:05 a.m.; and the U-M Heart Care Mitral Mile run, walk and racewalk at 8:30 a.m. All will be at Domino's Farms.

The races will benefit the Easter Seals Society and the clinical care, research and educational activities of the U-M Mitral Valve Clinic.

Taormina, who won her gold at the Atlanta Olympics, is a professional motivational speaker and a triathlete.

Her talk is called, "More than Gold: Get to know an Olympic Athlete, and then you'll realize you can be one too!"

Born at Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak, Grove lived in Birmingham as a child, and later moved to Ohio where she is an honor student at Hilliard David-son High School. Home is Hilliard, Chie near Spinsbus, where she lives with her parents, Willie and Katie, and her brother, Thomas. 'I still like going home, but also, there's no place like the road. It's like a second home," said Jessica Grove who plays Dorothy in "The Wizard of Oz," now playing at the Fox Theatre in Detroit. Grove has been touring with the show since 1997. She was 15 years old then, and celebrated her 17th birthday in February. She's followed the Yellow Brick Road all across the country, but her journey is coming to an end. The search is on for a new Dorothy to replace her, "My last show will be late this year," she said. "I've decided to finish my senior year in my own backyard." There have been a few breaks in between shows. This tour of "The Wizard of Oz" began Dec. 26, and Grove's been on the road ever since.

It hasn't always beemhin or easy. "Ronestly, during the first tour. I started doubting myself," she said in a telephone interview from Chicago where the show is now playing. "I was missing home, my friends, my cat."

But now, she feels differently about things. "It's definitely opened a lot of doors. I got to go to the Grammy's this year. It was like one big huge concert."

Grove also liked seeing all the different stars, "and what they were wearing."

Traveling has allowed her the opportunity to check out some colleges. She's leaning toward Boston Conservatory because they're supportive of actresses like her, and allow time off to be in shows.

But Grove's not star struck, and recognizes that being Dorothy is an opportunity to too. She has some advice for the girls who will be auditioning to be the new Dorothy in this production, or for other shows,

Just have a good time," she said. The environmental product your stuff. It's good experience to audition whether you get to finals or not. You win some, you lose some. You don't get everything you try out for. You have to fit the role, and you don't always. They won't cast you to play the mean girl if you look too sweet. Ive been at auditions where people said I was too nice."

Working with Mickey Rooney who plays the Wizard has been fun. "He's a character," said Grove laughing. "But he takes good care of me, and makes sure I eat my dinner,"

Being on the road is also a challenge academically. Grove still has to do her school work, often while other cast members are out for a leisurely dinner, or working out at the gym.'

"We do 10-12 shows a week," she said. "It's a pretty tough schedule. Sometimes I feel left out, but it's one of the sacrifices I have to make."

This production of "The Wizard of Oz," has changed a little from the one presented last year. "They improved it a bit," said Grove. "It's pretty much the_ same, except for the scenery improvements, and choreography."

'Her favorite moment of the show is when she gets to sing "Somewhere Over The Rainbow." "The stage is mine," she said.

Hyke had to quickly learn a new part middle school student.

"It's good, I'm getting used to it, except for getting up at 6 a.m." said Hyke about starting at West Middle School in the middle of his sixth grade year. On the road, bedtime was 1 a.m. with a 10 a.m. wake-up from mom.

Acting since second grade when he appeared in a Channel 62 TV commercial, Hyke has already had a pretty impressive career.

He's played Tiny Tim in "A Christmas Carol" at Meadow Brook Theatre for the past three years and appeared in shows at Paper Bag Productions in Detroit and Avon Theatre in Rochester Hills. He played the demon child in "Nerd," a role his father Stuart teases "he was born to play," and is rehearsing for the Avon Players' upcoming production of "Children of Eden," in which he plays young Abel.

Hanging out with members of the allfemale pop quintet StunGun is kind of like joining a girls club. They laugh and giggle, whisper across the table about guys in the coffee shop and talk about nail polish.

Laughing and giggling isn't something that StunGun could do the latter part of 1998 thanks to a female stalker that was harassing the band. With that almost behind it, the band members are concenaccording to platinum-blonde guitarist Joell of Redford.

"I kind of wanted more on the CD, but we really didn't have enough time and money," she said.

"StunGun" was recorded with Warren Defever, a Livonia resident and multiinstrumentalist best known for his band His Name is Alive. When the women were introduced to him, they were unaware of his international reputation as a top-notch musician. All they knew was that he was a great guy.

"He's a very good guy to work with. The

"I've always had it on my mind, said Hyke about acting. "My dial worked at Oakland University, and I started going to concerts and seeing different shows when I was six weeks old. My brother and sister were in shows and I always got dragged along to watch. Then one day I said, 'why can't I do that?"

Asked where his acting talent comes from, Hyke answers honestly, "I don't know. It just comes natural to me. I can memorize things pretty fast."

For the past 13 months, acting has been his full-time job. He worked six days a week, did four shows a week, and was in the theater four times a week in the dressing room as the understudy. Hyke and the other boy who played Gavroche alternated. He also went to school, too. A tutor traveled with the show and Hyke and the other young cast members attended class together.

His family was supportive, which helped a lot. Birthdays and holidays weren't always celebrated together because Hyke was on the road, mostly with his mother, but sometimes with his father, while brother Fred, 18, and sister Rebecca, 16, stayed home.

Of the 23 cities he visited. Toronto and Chicago were his favorites. For six months Toronto was home while the show played at the Princess of Wales Theatre. His sister Rebecca moved to Toronto, and attended school there for one term.

"It was like I got to sit down for half a year," he said. "I didn't have to move every week. I got to make friends and take a rock climbing class."

Hyke liked the museums in Chicago, especially the aquarium.

His favorite parts of the show were the scene when he dies. "because I'm on stage all alone," and when he sings the verse, "That Inspector," part of the "Look Down" song.

Learning how to play dead wasn't hard. "I loved just fooling around," he said. "I play dead with my dog Peaches. When I do it, she eats my hair."

Now that he's getting back into the groove of being home; Hyke says he thinks he'll take a year off before auditioning for any major shows.

When he grows up, Hyke says he wants to be a famous movie star, and if that doesn't work out, he'll be an elementary school teacher or an electrician. "I might become a Broadway star," he adds. "People have told me I could be."

He's got some advice for kids who might be thinking about auditioning for one of the Munchkin roles, or to play Dorothy in "The Wizard of Oz," which opened Wednesday at the Fox Theatre.

"Really try to be natural, don't over do it," he said. "Here's a tip I know that works, never sing a song from the show you're auditioning for. They're sick of hearing it, and if you sing something different, they'll notice you. You'll have to sing a song from the show for callbacks though."

When he auditioned for Gavroche in November 1997, Hyke sang simply, "Doe, a Deer, a Female Deer..."

"Instrumentally, he brought in a piano. He brought in strings for this one song 'Hollywood' that's melancholy. It's slow and it all fit. He'd ask you what you think and then he'd suggest something." Keyboardist Justine added that Defever made the recording process "easy."

"He wasn't crabby ever or anything. Dealing with five girls, you can see some crabbiness," explained Justine, a Redford resident who is pursuing an associate's degree in science from Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

Space-age and 1960s-era pop play a big role in StunGun, Keyboards similar to the B-52's "Rock Lobster" line one song, while other songs are simple and sweet.

"We just go in any direction that we want to, which we can do because I think we're very diverse. I think we're starting off very basic right now, but we're like growing. Right now we have so many songs in the works and they're so different. It's so frightening," Joell.explained.

The topics of StunGun's songs are basic girl-meets-boy, girlloses-boy love tunes. Joell is the main songwriter, basing her songs on "every day experiences."

"I'm a chick, so I write about stuff that has to do with relationships. Some of it's fictitious, like 'Killer.' I don't kill people or anything."

She keeps the specifics of the relationships out of the songs and has a stock answer when paramours ask about them.

" 'It's not about you,' " Joell said in a high-pitched voice. "I would never admit it. They're very personal thoughts. I take a feeling and exaggerate it times 10. And then I would prefer that they didn't realize it. Certain That song, "Rock Star Thing," was written about one of Joell's ex-boyfriends. The second half of the song contains the lyrics "You're losing all your charm/You never really were a star/So take your sorrows and go." StunGun will celebrate the CD's release with a party and performance Thursday, April 1, at the Motor Lounge in Hamtramck. The show is the only one scheduled so far for the band, which will embark on a west coast tour in June booked by Ann Arbor-based Prism Productions.

"We're just really trying to scale down playing so much," Joell explained.

Longtime friends

Joell and Justine, 1993 graduates of Redford Union High School, have known each other since kindergarten. Both of them got early starts on their careers.

"I started writing songs very young, when I was 9 I wrote a Christmas song. I didn't have any music but I remember I wrote it and showed it to my sister. I'd write poetry throughout the years and stuff. I really started writing music when l started playing guitar, which was about three years ago," Joell said.

Justine has been playing piano for 10 years, but is also handy on the recorder and the acoustic guitar.

Local promoter Rich Rice introduced the two women to drummer Kelly, of Garden City, who then recommended singer Danielle, a Plymouth resident. Bassist Tania, who lives in Auburn Hills, joined StunGun after answering an ad in a local monthly magazine.

These days StunGun is using only first names to dodge potential stalkers. Last year, the harassment began with an email that threatened rape and "I was the first one to read it. When I clicked on there and I started reading it, my heart was getting this sinking feeling. It was a really scary feeling," Justine explained.

They were so scared that Joell fell ill whenever she thought about leaving her house. Still, the quintet took a proactive approach by generating publicity about the threats.

"If we didn't go on the news, she'd still be doing it - guaranteed," Justine explained about the Fox 2 piece.

"When somebody is sending those messages you don't want to sit there and go, 'God we should have done something about it' (after) one of your band members got shot," Joell said.

"We know who it is. We're not going to say who it is. We're talking to our lawyer right now. It's still going through legal things. This person is going to get in trouble and they're going to have to pay the repercussions," she added.

But with the bad, comes the good. The publicity upped the band's visibility. StunGun's members are Detroit's mediadarlings.

Wearing sunglasses and a patent leather black jacket inside a Royal Oak coffeehouse, Joell admitted she now enjoys the publicity.

"Well, it's great. We think it's fabulous. There's good stuff and bad stuff that comes along with that," Joell explained. "I don't think everybody knows who we are."

"I'm to the point where I don't really read anything on us in case there's anything bad. We know people write about us. We know people are aware of us. We know we're on TV. We just keep doing our music (and) making more. I want to be ignorant. It's bliss,"

Second-City Detroit steps up to serious satire challenge

BY KEELY WYGONIK STAFF WRITER kwygonik@oe.homecomm.net

It's a man's world, so they say, except at The Second City-Detroit where, for the first time, women out number men on the Mainstage cast.

Music director Marc Evan Jackson also plays a big role in the revue, tickling the audience almost as much as he tickles the ivories.

"It's very cool, you get to play a broader range of characters," said Mary Jane Pories, one of seven cast members. "We're not just a rarity. Instead of just playing the mother, wife and whore, we play doctor, lawyer, co-worker - regular people. We're only separated by our ability to play the characters."

Celebrating its fifth anniversary, The Second City-Detroit opened its 15th revue, "Impeachment and Cream," on March 17.

"Do the right thing," is a theme that weaves in and out of the show. "Are we on our own, or are there angels, forces that have an impact on what we do? Our job is to raise the question," said Margaret Exner.

Ignore the title, it's a joke that hardly ever has anything to do. with the show. There are a few clever Clintonesque quips, but that's it.

In one scene, Keegan-Michael Key, promises to have "affairs, lots of affairs. I love America, I love Americans, I will try to love each and every American to the best of my ability."

Directed by Michael Gellman, who also directed the hilarious "Down Riverdance," this show is satirical in a serious way. Gone is the lewd shallowness that marked the last revue. In it's place is insightful, cleverly written material. The show is tightly written, and the intergenerational humor is something everyone can relate to.

Nyima Anise Woods said that often it's a question of looking at father whose son (Key) doesn't an issue being posed, and know "anything about history or to the cast, said the new show is me." putting the characters in that work." As they're sitting in a a lot more theatrical. "It's more or status. If you're working as a temporary employee, you'll love the scene about the "Temp God" who tells the temp to "steal pens and Sweet & Low and make long distance phone calls to college friends."

Motown humor, this show covers all the bases with lots of surprises thrown in.

variances in this show," said Woods. "It's all Detroit sounding - Motown, Soul and R&B."

boat fishing, McKay sings "I heard it through the grape vine." Key answers "I love those California raisins," showing his ignorance. As the skit progresses, Key explains that his father's work ethics are obsolete. "You like what you do," his father says after hearing Key talk about work. "I do," Key answers. "I wish I could say the same thing," says the father who worked at Ford Motor Co. all his life. "I know you want to leave me," the father sings. "Temptations," says story driven than being joke to joke," added Exner. "The scenes take longer," said Pories. That's true. In a downtown Detroit vintage clothing shop scene. Vinette plays store owner Marcy. Danielle (Pories) lives in Section 8 housing and comes to the store every day. Danielle has an angel hat, one for every day. She even makes a sale while Marcy's in the back room. Clearly disabled, Danielle is optimistic offsetting Marcy's pessimism. Marcy's friend Dee (Exner) dishis son, giving the correct misses Danielle. "There's something wrong with everyone," says Pories. "It's just shows m If you were to make a play about the whole City of Detroit, it might sound a lot like Second City-Detroit.

"You get to know these people," said Pories about the current show. "You know where you've been."

It's no easy feat, especially when you're wearing a lot of different hats. It's high pressure you have to develop the material and then rehearse it.

Working at Second City-Detroit is challenging, but also fun.

"You have the opportunity to do anything you want within reason," said Exner. "It prepares you to step out of here and be. more employable as an actor," said Vinette.

With a hip audience, represented by a wide range of ages and cultures, Second City-Detroit is, agree the women, "theater for the common man."

"It was the first place to be integrated," said Exner. "We need an area to represent all cultures in town."

"What we do on stage reflects life," adds Woods.

One of the keys to their success is the women say they write about what they know and their own foibles. The scenes are about stuff they've experienced, they're not there to preach.

The three new cast members Antoine McKay, Mary Vinette, and Marc Warzecha - add freshness and new ideas.

"There was a time when " Detroit sat empty and quiet, what has happened to our ghetto home?" the cast sings. "What they saw as a wasteland was our wasteland. There ain't no place to squat no more."

'EDtv' takes a funny look at the price of celebrity

BY HUGH GALLAGHER STAFF WRITER hgallagher@oe.homecomm.net

"EDtv" is the latest in a group of movies that explore the impact of the media on our lives. Ron Howard's film follows "The Truman Show" and "Pleasantville" is this media navel gazing genre and, despite Howard's special insight, it is amusing but the weakest of the three.

Howard grew up before our eyes as a child of television, first as Opie Taylor and then as the quintessential teenager Richie Cunningham. He has continued to be a very visible celebrity as a successful director of well crafted though sometimes thin movies. He more than anyone should be what being a celebrity all the Conaughey) and his brother Ray time does to a person.

But "EDtv" makes its obvious point early on and then offers little to think about except for some enjoyable performances and over-the-top jokes. It is neither as insightful or poignant as "The Truman Show" or as magical as "Pleasantville."

A San Francisco cable channel producer played by Ellen DeGeneres gets the idea of following "a regular guy" around for 24 hours a day, every day of the week. To select the subject for this show, the cable channel scouts out the places where common folks supposedly hang out, like bars. That's where they find able to give us a special look at Ed Pekurny (Matthew Mc-(Woody Harrelson), redneck refugees from Texas.

> Ray is an obnoxious loud mouth (Harrelson at his most aggressively lowbrow) who tries to get himself selected. But it is disheveled but handsome, quiet and sweetly goofy Ed who catches the eye of DeGeneres (who sort of shares the Ed Harris role in "The Truman Show" with Rob Reiner, who plays the overbearing station owner). Ed works as a clerk at a video store and apparently lacks any ambition to do anything else (he's no Quentin Tarrantino). He even lacks enough ambition to shave. But he is obviously in love with his brother's new girl friend Shari, played by Jenna Elfman, and she's obviously in love with him.

Of course, as soon as television cameras begin following Ed and his family, they are no longer "common folks," they're celebrities. The camera changes them, Unlike Truman, who doesn't know he's a TV show, Ed does, and even when the camera begins to intrude on deeply personal matters, he resists calling it quits.

Howard should be able to tell us more about being in the public fishbowl, about the sometimes thin line between reality and television, about what we give up in the name of celebrity, about the stupidity of celebrity itself. He's been there, done that and triumphed over it. But his film rarely gets beyond the obvious and often, especially toward the end, degenerates into bobrish jokes and a plot twist that's extremely stupid.

This is a weakness that has afflicted many of Howard's films and the scripts of his regular collaboraters Babaloo Mandel and Lowell Ganz. Maybe they spend too much time in Hollywood and not enough time in the real world. They write some funny stuff but it is often a joke for the joke's sake only. And the scenes of people watching Ed on TV are too close to similar scenes in "The Truman Show,"

The portrayal of working class people here is just one tiresome bowling shirt cliche after anoth-

"EDty" is slickly made, well crafted and well acted, which is to be expected in Howard's films.

Jenna Elfman, of TV's "Dharma and Greg," is especially winning as the girl of Ed's affections. She is less manic here than in her television show. sweeter. more down to earth. Yet she still uses her expressive face and her gangly body to wonderful effect.

McConaughey has been on the verge of the big breakthrough for a while now, but this isn't it. He has obvious charm, but Ed is too much a cliche.

In smaller parts, Martin Landau as Ed's stepfather and Dennis Hopper as his real father give solid performances.

Candid '20 Dates' will find its way to your heart

BY VICTORIA DIAZ SPECIAL WRITER

A couple of years ago, while in his early 30s, Myles Berkowitz found himself newly-divorced and clearly out of his depth when it came to dating. An aspiring filmmaker in Los Angeles, he also found himself with no movie to his credit, and not a hint of any movie deal on the horizon. Then, one day, he got an idea. Why not combine his knowledge of filmmaking with his ignorance of the singles scene? Soon, he had scraped together a bit of money (about $70,000), and hired buddy/ cameraman Adam Biggs to shoot the action as he crashed and burned with girl after girl. The result is "20 Dates," an odd and imperfect piece of camera verite that will probably never find its way on to any 20 Greatest Films lists, but may find its way into your heart, nevertheless.

Much of its appeal lies with Myles himself who runs the gamut from charming to obnoxious, but never comes across as dull or boring or mean-spirited. Another huge plus: Though "20 Dates" was shot unscripted, its overall "plot" and surprise ending is not just clever, it's delightful. More about that later.

Many of the movies problems are indicated early on in a question asked by Myles' first date. Seated in a restaurant one night and totally exasperated, she queries huffily, "Are you going to find love with a camera two feet in front of my face?" And, though she may seem a little prissy, we have to admit she has a point. Throughout "20 Dates," the camera (there's only one remains bothersome. It not only gets between Myles and his dates, it persists in getting between us and them, holding us at a distance and giving this movie that purportedly about romance a curious lack of intimacy.

In the meantime, though, we're chattily entertained by Myles and his motley crew of dates. There's the dark-haired beauty who gets plenty ticked off when she learns that Myles is trying to record their date with a Insightful look at love: Myles Berkowitz and Elisabeth Wagner in "20 Dates."

hidden camera. There's the intense "feminist ballerina." There's the young woman who, after dinner, tells Myles she's going to the ladies' room, then slips out of his life forever. There's the date who ends the evening with a handshake in lieu of a goodnight kiss. There's the too-expensive date whose cravings must have eaten up a good part of the movie's budget. There's the outdoorsy type who forces Myles into his first (and last?) bungee-jumping adventure. There's the date who wants to visit Marilyn Monroe's tomb, the date he picks up at the supermarket, the model, the Playboy Playmate, Tia Carrere ... We also get to meet Myle's agent, Richard Arlook; screenwriter, technician, University of Michigan and Meadow Brook Theatre alum, Robert McKee and (via audio only) his producer, Elie Samaha who definitely wants Myles to make a sexier movie.

And then, there's Elisabeth. Elisabeth is a designer who looks like the California girl next door, and Myles meets her at the design shop where she works in Brentwood. Attracted to her from the start, he finds out she's "involved" with someone else, however, and so it's on to his next cinematic date.

But when he returns sometime later, he discovers she's dissolved her former relationship and is ready to look at Myles in a new light. Faster than you can say head-over-heels, Myles has, in the course of making his movie, fallen in love. The feeling is soon mutual on Elizabeth's part.

End of story? Hardly. Myles, his producer keeps reminding him, has signed on for 20 dates. And, thought he filmmaker may feel that he's already met the love of his life in Elisabeth, he's got to keep dating other women until he's reached that magic number. "20 Dates" means 20 dates or no movie deal. It may seem silly. It may seem ridiculous, but the producer is the man with the money. How will Myles avoid compromising his reel life and his real life? Or will he?

"Real love is like a great movie..." Catch it before it disappears." Myles tells us his story ends. This is not a great movie, but catch it before it disappears anyway.

Entertaining 'True Crime' is an edge-of-your-seat thriller

BY ANNIE LEHMANN SPECIAL WRITER

It's a race against the clock in "True Crime," a thriller featuring Clint Eastwood as Steve Everett an investigative reporter who, after a co-worker is killed in a car crash, is asked to cover her beat.

His assignment is to write a "human interest sidebar" on the final hours of death row inmate Frank Beachum (Isaiah Washington). The problem is that Everett is not a "human interest" kind of guy. Working on a hunch that the Beachum story has not been told in its entirety, Everett starts nosing around,

When Everett interviews Beachum the Bible-reading family man, he believes his story of having been wrongly convicted of ing execution as a done deal and wants the reporter to back off. But bad boy Everett, a recovering alcoholic who doesn't think twice about sleeping with his boss' wife, is unrelenting in his quest for justice. It's down to the wire with Eastwood laying everything on the line to prove the man's innocence.

Eastwood directed, produced as well as co-wrote the movie's jazzy score and "True Crime" bears his signature interest in misunderstood good and bad guys.

The plot is somewhat uneven and the film, running over two hours, is much longer than it needs to be. But Eastwood has not lost his touch as the unpredictable fringe character. Everett is the guy who thinks less man without taking out his wallet to offer some cash.

A variety of characters add color to the dark, moody script including the conflicted prison warden, the easy-to-hate selfpromoting minister and most notably, Lisa Gay Hamilton who plays Beachum's anguished wife masterfully.

James Wood is electric as Everett's sugar-crazed big boss.

The film is also something of a family affair featuring cameos by Eastwood's wife Dina Eastwood as Wilma Francis; his daughter Francesca Fisher-Eastwood as Everett's daughter; and the child's mother Frances Fisher as the Cecilia Nussbaum, district attorney.

If you like Eastwood films, "True Crime" is one that will

Collective Soul plays the Peach Pit and lives to tell

Soul lective drummer Shane Evans admitted, he was a little skeptical about the non-traditional venue in which it was booked. But since the Barenäked Ladies. Duncan Sheik and the Flaming Lips did it, why not Collective Soul?

"I'll admit, it was funny playing the Peach Pit," Evans said about the nightclub on the television show "Beverly Hills 90210."

"I didn't know if it was such a good thing to do. (But now) I don't think there's anything wrong with it. It gives the people who watch the show to become familiar with the band and let them decide if they like Collective Soul or not. Hopefully they like us."

The band performed "Run," from the Varsity Blues soundtrack, and its record-breaking single "Heavy," on the show which airs at 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 19. The song has the new record for the number of times a since was played on radio in one

At first, Col- week. The band's eighth No. 1 rock radio hit was played 6,057 times the week of March 21 beating out the record of 6,027 set by Metallica earlier this year.

The two bands are the only two to ever cross the 6,000 mark. Both of the songs appear on Collective Soul's latest album "Dosage" (Atlantic Records). "Dosage" is a beautiful pop. album. In "No More, No Less," the next single, singer Ed Roland sings "So, let's shake it like this" leading the band into a staccato guitar and piano break. Strings soften the ballad "Needs," while lead guitarist Ross Childress takes on vocal duties during his

Brit poppy offering, "Dandy Life." "We really wanted to try to stretch things a bit as far as the soundscape and different instrumentation and people playing different instruments and stuff like that," Evans explained. ,

During the recording process. there was no limitations. "I never really thought something wouldn't work. Personally, I'm a very open-minded musical person. I like a lot of different things. As long as it wasn't like 'some avant garde jazz or something, I was pretty down with it." "Dosage" was recorded at Criteria Studios in Miami, Fla., which Evans called the perfect backdrep for the process.

"We had a house in Miami that we had rented that made things a little bit better. You would wake up and there you are in Miami on the bay looking out on the ocean. Dolphins would be playing out on the water. It was nice," Evans explained.

"It's the most accommodating record we've ever done as far as everybody's mental condition and overall good vibe about everything."

Criteria Studios was also where Collective Soul recorded its second album, "Collective Soul." The third album, the appropriately titled "Disciplined Breakdown," was a labor of love that put a financial and emotional strain on the band.

"The third record we did in a cabin, which wasn't the greatest experience because we really didn't have any kind of financial support we were going through a lawsuit," Evans said about Collective Soul's lawsuit against its former manager.

"All the money was frozen. It was just tough. You're trying to scrape together equipment to do it, somehow we did it. I still don't know how to this day we actually did this record."

"Dosage" is heavy on the spiritual side with words like "messenger," "savior," and phrases such as "Now that I've learned to believe/ Who's gonna be the answer/ To all my questioning (in "Crown") peppering the album. Roland and his brother, rhythm guitarist Dean Roland, are the sons of a preacherman,

"I don't think it's purposely written to portray any religion, any certain religion. It's mostly written with a universal sort of appeal. Most religions believe in a heaven and a hell, you know," Evans said.

"It's mostly just spiritual, realizing that there's a higher power. I think that's the best way to go that way more people can get more out of it. Me, personally I am a Christian. We try not to really let that get tied up in the music."

Evans added it's "a good thing for people to realize there's a higher power, something else beyond the life we have on earth. It helps you understand there's a bigger picture. A lot of things are more important than rock 'n' roll music."

Joe Henry hits the stage uneasy

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO STAFF WRITER cruoco@oe.homecomm.net

Playing live is the next logical step, after recording an album. Sure singer/ songwriter Joe Henry is looking forward to hitting the stage again. But there's a certain uneasiness about this tour which included a Saturday. March 13, stop at 7th House in Pontiac. It's the first time he's left his wife home alone with two in itself."

The result is a low-fi pop effort, a departure from his highly acclaimed roots rock/ countryinspired previous works. Funk. hip-hop-inspired drum beats, and hints of jazz electrify "Fuse." "I certainly set out to make a different record. I was reall∉conscious of that with the last record ('Trampoline'). I had to find a new way to work. I felt really kind of trapped by the way that I knew how to physically think I was still in high school when it happened. My brother wonderfully enough recorded the whole thing on an old reel-to-reel tape. It was an amazing bit of performance art, the whole persona he embodied."

The tapes sat in his parents' attic until Henry purchased a reel-to-reel tape recorded at a flea market in Pasadena, Calif., last year.

The first single, "Skin and Teeth," features Jakob Dylan on background vocals. The two met while the Wallflowers were recording "Bringing Down the Horse." "Jakob had heard my records and he was interested in meeting me. We just really hit it off instantly, mostly because we were both dads on the road. His son is slightly a bit younger than my son, that was kind of the beginning of our relationship."

The Grammy-nominated album, "Big Backyard Beat Show," mixes covers of country classics with rockabilly sounds and originals which not only rock but swing. Still in his twenties, Timlin's adulthood is turning out to be as non-conventional as his childhood, in which his artist parents created an open environment for creative development. What the rural home lacked in formal education, plumbing and electricity, it flourished with music, art and the, wonders of nature. It remains a family immersed in art. Detroit Contemporary's current exhibit, Naked, convenes some of the area's most recognized artists with talented newcomers in the mediums of photo, painting, sculpture, installations, and live performances. The building is old, neighboring lots are barren, but the energy inside Detroit Contemporary has the promise of new life in the area. "I like to play but playing is a small fragment of what you actually do on the road. I really like to play and I have such a great band at the moment but I don't relish being away from home. My son is 7. My daughter was born 17 months ago. I have not left my wife with two children home alone. It's a new thing for us," Henry, a 1978 graduate from Rochester Adams High School, said.

The making of Henry's latest album "Fuse" (Mammoth Records) is a lesson in time management. He wrote two songs before the birth of his daughter to see what direction "Fuse" was going in. After the joyous event, he worked on the album during the baby's naps.

"I took English only because I didn't have to take any math," he said with a laugh.

One of the freshest things to come out of Nashville in recent years is BR5-49, a ground-breaking country band which got its name from Junior Samples' used-car salesman character on "Hee Haw," and has received endorsements from the Grand Ole Opry's legendary Grandpa Jones. So what is the band doing on the same bill as alternative rock acts like Smashing Pumpkins and Beck, not to mention artists like Bob Dylan and the Black Crowes?

I can relate to that, maybe that's why I'm never in a rush with these guys. Sanding out a dent here and there, restoring the gears ... soon I'll have all the time in the world for them, just like they have for me. That's the beauty of retirement. And now that it's almost here, I'm grateful that I started planning early — with U.S. Savings bonds. I started buying Savings Bonds when I got my first real job, through a Payroll Savings plan. I put aside something every payday. And little by little, it really added up. Bonds are guaranteed safe, too, and earn interest up to 30 years.

In a few more years, you'll find me out here in the workshop more and more, fixing a hinge or polishing a case. I know that there's a lot of life left in these old guys. I can relate to that.

Catefi the freshest seafood at Charley's Crab

BY ELEANOR HEALD SPECIAL WRITER

Some U.S. cities tout their oldest restaurants as institutions. Troy has one — Charley's Crab. And it has become not only the pride of its owners, the Chuck Muer Restaurant Corp., but of. Oakland County.

Pleasing diners since 1976 in Troy, Charley's remodeled in late 1998, has a new general manager, Mark Hinds, and an executive chef, Gary Tottis, who for nearly five years has demonstrated that he knows what to do with the rarest catches from the sea.

While Charley's Crab is about the freshest seafood, it's also about ambiance, with a spectacular dining room. Guests, as they always have, dine in a replica of the famous Macauley mansion. But it, too, became part of a $500,000 Ron Rea design team facelift of the entire restaurant. A stunning wall hanging represents the waters of the world with the Queen Mary majestically in voyage. Models of her red stacks are the bar lighting near an updated cigar-martini lounge with over-sized plush leather chairs.

Clear exterior windows have been replaced by Caribbean/blue, offering a sense of being under water. Highlighted with a pin spotlight, new aquamarine glass settings and large cobalt blue bowls of lemons, serve as centerpieces. Large, blown-glass jellyfish chandeliers appear to be swimming above tables. Fivefoot-tall white trees made from ocean shells, coral and sea urchins are "planted" in large urns throughout the room. Escargot lamps "climbing" the walls complete the modernized lighting. A state-of-the-art sound system softly plays only Frank Sinatra and Tony Bennett.

Charley's Crab or haven't been there since the remodeling, take a moment to relax and admire your surroundings before jumping into the creative menu orchestrated by West Bloomfield Township resident Executive Chef Gary Tottis and his kitchen team.

Tottis is an early 1980s graduate of Schoolcraft College, who got his start working in New Orleans restaurants for 10 years. In 1983, he was hired by wellknow TV Food Network's Master Chef Emeril Lagasse, who then was executive chef at Commander's Palace before launching out on his own with Emeril's and NOLA and now others in New Orleans and elsewhere.

Tottis came to Charley's Crab in 1994, and his food focus is both fresh and seasonal catches. It's a safe bet to say that there are probably only five restaurants in the whole U.S. serving rare, farm-raised California Pink Abalone. At nearly $40 on the menu, it's a special treat.

General Manager Mark Hinds came on board last December. He moved from Charley's Crab in Jupiter. Florida. and now makes Troy his home.

"Honestly," he said, "since I've been here, I've met the nicest people I've met in my whole life. I consider it a privilege to work in a restaurant that's been around for 25 years and is still receiving accolades."

Hinds has learned our Midwest preferences. At lunch, he says the most popular items are Cedar Point Oysters, Flash-fried Calamari and Escargot with Warm Goat Cheese. Charley's Chowder (Mediterranean-style) is in a dead heat with Boston Clam Chowder (New England style). From the sea, most popular are Chargrilled Pacific Swordfish Oscar, Maryland Crabcakes, Cedar Planked Atlantic Salmon, Seafood Jambalaya and Shrimp Fettuccine Verde.

Oysters from the raw bar again top the dinner appetizers, but also very popular is the Raw Bar Sampler, which includes oysters, clams and shrimp. Seattle's Mediterranean Mussels, Yellowfin Tuna Sashimi, Crispy Spicy Sushi Tuna Roll lead in the "beginnings" category followed by sea specialties including Grilled Yellowfin Tuna Aqua, the Abalone, Pacific Swordfish Oscar, Live Maine Lobsters (a two-pounder market price is about $40 currently) and Cioppino, a San Francisco-style shellfish stew.

Charley's is not only about fish. Most popular from the land is Colorado's Finest Rack of Lamb with sundried cherry demi-glace, pesto risotto, green beans and baby carrots or an aged 16-ounce New York Strip Steak with wild mushroom pinot noir sauce, roasted garlic mashed potatoes and Swiss chard.

The best-kept secret at Charley's, however, is the Sunset Menu served with reservations until 5:45 p.m. each evening. There's a daily special each day ranging $14-25; 11 featured entrees range $11-18. Depending on what you choose, "sunset" prices are 26-42 percent less than the same items on the regular dinner menu.

Upcoming at Charley's: Easter Sunday 11:30 a.m.-8 p.m. regu- like a frequent flyer club lar menu with Easter specials. In May, Florida Mahi Mahi will make its seasonal appearance along with a special promotion of Alaskan Copper River Salmon around the 15th. Soft Shell Crabs will be featured in May and June. "Lobster Mainia" will occur in June and July.

Because there are eight Chuck Muer restaurants plus three affiliates in Michigan, along with 11 more scattered in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Florida, joining the Friends of Chuck Muer's Dining Club is a viable option. It works rewards. At the first level, after spending $250, you have the option of receiving a $25 dinting gift certificate or working your way up to free air travel.

Unlike an airlines club, you can join on your first visit and receive points for that meal. Just ask your-friendly and very professional server to bring a membership form to your table.
