otorists can expect to see construction completed on the Eight Mile Interchange and on ramps exiting and accessing southbound 1-275 by Monday or Tuesday, according to the Michigan Department of Transportation. Once that Interchange is completed, the Six Mile Interchange ramps will be closed, tentatively scheduled for either Wednesday or Thursday, said MDOT spokeswoman Robin Pannecouk. Southbound motorists will need to watch for this closing since Six Mile is the last Interchange and exit before the M-14/I-96 Interchange, Seven Mile and Eight Mile exits to Newburgh or Haggerty roads will be the closest alternate routes. Freeway signs may be revised so motorists can be alerted to exit earlier. Most construction was suspended this weekend. Southbound traffic will continue to be crossed over to the northbound side through the middle of July. Northbound and southbound traffic will be rerouted onto the southbound lanes once construction is completed on that side of the freeway.

The ramp from westbound 1-696 to southbound I-275 remains closed, but that is expected to be re-opened in mid-July:

There were some highs and lows in this year's Michigan Educational Assessment program results, and Wayne-Westland educators vow to improve.

"We saw some real growth in seventh-grade reading as well," Barresi said. Statewide, writing results on the test have been down. "Our writing is also down and we are looking at that." Fifth-grade writing has 39.9 percent locally proficient this year, down from Fourth- and seventh-graders were tested on math and reading skills. Fifth- and eighth-graders were tested on science and writing. Barresi and other educators have some questions about the test, which is developed by the state Department of Education with a committee's help.

Both Barresi and Greg Baracy, Wayne-Westland superintendent, noted that 58 percent of students tested just below the top level in fifth-

Fest parade draws people to Westland

BY JULIE BROWN STAFF WRITER jbrown@oe.homecomm.net

You didn't have to be a Westland resident to go to the Westland Summer Festival parade.

"I grew up in Westland," said Milford resident Judy Huguelet, watching the parade with daughter Nicole, 10. Huguelet's son is in the Oak Valley Middle School Marching Band, and marched in the parade Wednesday.

"We came last year when he was invited...and it was so neat." said Huguelet, a 1976 John Glenn High School graduate. She saw people she knew, including Councilman Richard LeBlanc,

"It's interesting to see how it's changed," she said of Westland, mentioning the pool, ice arena and other opportunities for youth. There were fewer businesses on Ford when she was growing up. The former Girl Scout, who marched in the parade. "Nice day, nice weather, low humidiremembers a different route.

"As a little girl, it even seemed small. It's nice to see that they've expanded it." Huguelet gets back to Westland maybe twice a year.

Seated nearby on Ford Road's edge were Cass and Adeline Vokal of Detroit and daughter Lori Kuehn of Westland, They were eagerly awaiting the Hayes Elementary Majorettes, of which Kuehn's 11-year-old daughter is a member. This was her first time in the parade.

"It's wonderful," Lori Kuehn said. ty. It's nice to see everybody out enjoying it."

Many Hayes parents and other family members lined the parade route. Kuehn's parents were excited about seeing their granddaughter. "We sure are; we love it," Adeline Vokal said.

The parade included police and fire vehicles, along with military/ veterans' organizations such as the Vietnam Veterans of America, AMVETS, American Legion and others. Public officials participated, as did representatives of local businesses.

Neighborhood rat problem vexes local mother

BY RENÉE SKOGLUND STAFP WRITER rskoglund@oe.homecomm.net

Three weeks ago, Westland resident Gretchen Love, the mother of three small children, saw what she thought said the resident, whose name she was a squirrel running across the play set in her backyard. It wasn't. It was a rat.

Love yelled for her children to get away as she hurried to investigate. The rat ran under her chainlink fence into a large grass pile behind the garage inher neighbor's yard. Love said both the house and property are in disrepair. Half of that yard abuts Love's property.

Love, who lives on Steinhauer Street, walked over to the house on Hively Street to report what she had seen. She doesn't know, told her the grass pile was a composter.

"It's not. It's a rotting grass pile." Love sent a letter to the city's ordinance department detailing the condition of her neighbor's home, including the grass pile. On June 24 she spoke to Mayor Robert Thomas before delivering a copy of the letter and a videotape of the home's property to his office the same day.

"He said he would have the building director handle it personally."

As of Wednesday, June 30, Love has heard nothing more from the mayor's office, nor has she seen an ordinance officer in the neighborhood.

"So far, nothing has been done. I've seen no tag on the door. In fact, they leaves in the dirt. (her neighbors) cut their grass today. and threw it on the stinking, rotting grass pile," said Love.

Neither Mayor Thomas nor anyone from the city's ordinance department has returned the Observer's calls over several days.

Love has since spotted a few more rats and seen evidence of others. She has repeatedly filled in two small holes dug under the fence in the back corner of her yard with dirt. The dirt is always dug back out, she said. And there are

MEAP: Livonia educators mostly pleased

By MARIE CHESTNEY STAFF WRITER mchestney@oe.homecomm.net

A baffing drop of 10 percentage points in the number of fifthgraders who passed the state writing test is the only thorn among the roses on the battery of tests taken in January by Livonia Public Schools' fourth-, fifth-, seventh- and eighthgraders.

Livonia's scores on the Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) tests have continued to climb over the last three years.

Still, it took the 1999 scores to finally bring words of cheer from Superintendent Ken Watson. In past years, he has spoken mostly of "disappointment."

"I'm extremely pleased,", Watson said. "This is the only time in the last five years I've been able to say that."

Over the last eight years, Livonia has been steadily building on low base scores set in 1991 in math, reading, science and writing. The proficient scores ranged then in the 30s and 40s - meaning more than half of students didn't pass the tests 🔄

All along the way, administra-'tors have said that what they want to see most is slow, steady progress upward, not herkyjerky movements back and forth.

"We look at performance over time, not over just one year," said Marlene Bihlmeyer, curriculum director.

And slow, steady, upward progress is what Livonia's students have achieved over the past three years, judging from the scores recorded on the accompanying chart.

Today, two of the eight scores are in the 80s. Two are in the 70s; and two are in the 60s. Science is the one subject with scores still below 50.

Of the eight MEAP tests taken in January, only two show backward movement. The first is a two-point drop on the fifth-grade science test.

Even so, Bihlmeyer is pleased. The fifth-graders did well, she said, considering the fact that they were tested on more scientific topics on the 1999 test.

"It's a minor blip, when you consider the amount of things they were tested on," Bihlmeyer said.

But the second drop - 10 percentage points down on the fifthgrade writing test - is the one still not to the point we want to be."

MEAP

A new science curriculum, new textbooks and curriculum monitoring are essential, the superintendent said. "You can't change them overnight, that's the bottom line," he said of test results.

Baracy and Barresi agree there's some pressure on educators to generate good test results. "We've been playing catch up in some respects," Baracy said.

Barresi believes in the MEAP, "provided it's used correctly." It's a tool to evaluate curriculum. "It is an evolving process so it does take time," Barresi said. Baracy noted there are other measures of student achievement, such as grades.

One local example of change is a hands-on elementary science curriculum planned for this year, following a pilot program the previous year. "The children will have an opportunity to explore this inquiry-based approach," Barresi said. The math curriculum is also being revised. "We're continuing to move forward," Barresi said. Both as a district and building by building, educators are looking at test results "to better prepare our children not only for the MEAP test but as contributing members of society." Baracy noted that Adams Middle School did particularly well on the MEAP.

III One local example of change is a hands-on elementary science curriculum planned for this year.

Both educators emphasized that parents have a lot to do with children's success. "Parental support is one of the strongest factors in students achieving success in school,' Baracy said, He and Barresi also encourage parents to read to children right from the start, take them to libraries, museums and other places, help them get a good night's sleep, help with homework and get involved in school activities. Even talking to children while fixing dinner is a help, Barresi said. "It helps their language. development.'

Camp offers summer fun for young

School's out, school's out! Camp's in, camp's in!

Once again, the Wayne-Westland Family YMCA's summer day camp is filled with happy campers age 5-12 enjoying games, crafts, sports and field trips to the Detroit Zoo and Tigers Stadium.

"I want to be in the paper. I want people to think of me as cool," said Christina Karadsheh, 8, as she jumped up and down and waved her arms.

After getting this reporter's attention, Karadsheh settled down to the serious business of having fun. "We really get to have fun here, and my favorite part of the day is swimming. All the camp leaders are really nice."

Shantell Shebli, 7, also agreed the summer camp was big-time fun. "We get to play games, like sometimes we go under that tent over there. We play ring toss. My favorite game is ring toss.'

Damron, 8.

"Mine, too," said the fickle Shantell. Who said a girl can't change her mind?

Eight-year-old Nick Marek, who had a dolphin tattoo on his leg, is into sports. "My favorite is kickball. I play soccer." Nick stepped back and demonstrated a quick but mighty soccer kick.

"I can kick from here to that tree," boasted Kara Windsor, 8, as she pointed to a tree about 50 ... no, 100 ... no, let's make that at least 500 feet away. Whatever the distance, Windsor is a good kicker.

Todd Hammerick of Dearborn, 19, has been a counselor at the Y's summer camp for two years. The kids think he's a good guy, pretty cool and easy on the discipline. It was the kids who brought Hammerick back for a repeat performance.

"The kids are the whole reason. You get attached to them. And they all remember you when you come back," he said.

Camp enrollment as been a bit light this year. but for those who attend, life seems a lot better, including lunch. Mike Wilson, 8¹₂, gobbled up the cheese and bologna sandwich, fruit drink, pudding cup and bag of Cheetos his mother had packed. "It just tastes better," he said.

A voice boomed across the camp grounds: "ALL RIGHT, EVERYBODY GO TO THEIR GROUP LEADERS.

The kids quickly began running in all directions, all except for Jordon Gergle, 8, who waited patiently to give his opinion of summer camp. "When I wasn't here, I didn't have much friends. But now that I'm here I have more friends. I feel they take better care of me here."

Parents can still sign up their children for several camp sessions, which run weekly from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each weekday through Aug. 27. The fees for YMCA members are $100-week. $72-three days, and $60-two days. Fees for nonmembers are $150-week, $108-three days, and $90-two days.

that leaves her, Watson and educators across the state puzzled.

The 10-point drop also shows up in the statewide average. And it also shows up in the results of such nearby school districts as Farmington Community Schools.

One possible answer, Bihlmeyer said, is that the state switched to another company to do the testing, and tests were scored differently.

But that's not a complete answer, she said, because this same new company also handled the eight-grade writing test. And in Livonia these scores went up by two points.

Boosting math scores has been one of the district's top priorities since 1996, when many were alarmed over a jump backward in MEAP math scores.

The district bought new textbooks geared to teaching the kind of math problems found on the state's MEAP test. The math test is as much a reading and writing test as it is a math test; the math problems are often word problems.

The district also put the same emphasis on improving reading scores.

"The teachers made these two areas their instructional focus," Bihlmeyer said.

In 1998, still not pleased with scores on either subject, Watson created a new administrative. post - MEAP czar - and sent Linda Gantos out into school buildings to hammer away at the importance of MEAP tests to teachers, administrators and students.

Creating this new rost showed how frustrated the superintendent was over what he called "Livonia's mediocre scores."

At the time he was quoted as saying: "MEAP scores don't match the public image of Livonia schools. There is no justification for mediocre test results."

Better scores were achieved this year, Watson said, through the combined efforts of everyone involved.

"Linda helped the district ocus and made them see this is

Audit shows taxpayers picking up tab for Willow Run

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK STAFF WRITER kabramczyk©oe.homecomm.net

Wayne County taxpayers have picked up part of the tab for the operations of Willow Run Airport as the facility has not operated with a positive cash flow in the last six years.

That was the conclusion of the county's Auditor General Brendan Dunleavy in a report to county commissioners. The auditor general is required to audit county departments at least once every two years, according to the county charter.

Commissioners approved the report on June 17, along with recommendations to address problems found by auditors.

Dunleavy found that an Enterprise Fund, which through user charges --- landing, rental and concession fees — provides funds to pay for the airport's operations, fell short. Operating revenue has declined $387.616 between 1996 and 1997. During 1997, 21 percent of its cash requirements were financed by loans from other Wayne County funds.

"It appears that Willow Run is currently unable to operate in such a manner without reliance on financial assistance from the county's pooled cash," Dunleavy stated in the report.

Fourth busiest in state

Willow Run reports more than 150,000 landings and take-offs annually from its five runways, making it the fourth busiest airport in the state. A 2,600-acre facility located about 10 miles west of Detroit Metro Airport straddling Wayne and Washtenaw county lines, Willow Run offers facilities and services for regional and international cargo carriers, and corporate and private aviation companies.

Willow Run handles nearly 100,000 tons of cargo annually. Carriers transport a wide range of cargo, including automotive and electronic components, emergency medical supplies, mail and packages.

operators "due to their troubled" financial state."

Dunleavy also found the airport was owed $1.2 million in bills from companies in 1997-98. He has yet to audit the 1998-99 records.

In a May 26 letter to the commission, Wayne County Chief positive cash flow from opera-Financial Officer Thomas Naughton said he was "puzzled" as to how they could get it so wrong."

"The report would suggest that said. Willow Run cannot continue to operate independently due to serious cash flow problems,"

Naughton said. "Simply put, nothing could be further from the truth."

Naughton said Willow Run has generated increases in working capital (funds) from operations in excess of $2 million since 1993 and over $1.8 million in tions: "This is not an enterprise on the brink of disaster as may have been implied in the Auditor General's report," Naughton

Naughton said Willow Run representatives met with two of the airport's largest operators who fell behind in payments and "have negotiated payment plans and are current on all receivables."

The six-week General Motors strike temporarily affected revenue from landing fees and fuel flowage fees, and an electrical failure cost $360,000, Naughton said.

Letter 'diverts' issues

Dunleavy responded to the letter with one of his own on June 7, stating Naughton's letter attempts to "spin and distort" the facts, and "diverts the real"

issues" identified in the report."

Dunleavy said airport management, and county's management and budget office, delayed in responding to the report, which was wrapped up in March at a closing conference. The auditor general allows the auditce 15 business days after such conferences to respond in writing to the draft audit report.

Dunleavy pointed out that Willow Run has operated with cumulative net losses in excess of $2 million since 1994. Willow the end of each year since 1993." Run also has had negative working capital in each of the six.

years since 1993.

Working capital is defined as current assets over current liability, Dunleavy said. That only improved by $870,000 and remained at a negative $510,000 at the end of 1997-98.

"The inability to build cash reserves has forced Willow Run to rely on financial assistance from the county's pooled cash," Dunleavy said. "As a matter of fact, Willow Run has only carried a $500 petty cash balance at

Commission balks at relinquishing charter powers

Their review asked: "May the legislative branch irretrievably delegate any of the powers and the duties with which it has been vested to the chief executive officer?"

Sauvignon blanc pairs perfectly with food auvignon blanc is the most versatile wine with food. Yet, only four percent of more than 300,000 vineyard acres in California produce it. With an increasing U.S. interest in pairing wine with food, this planting neglect is disappointing. " Despite this, no one is more enthusiastic about showcasing sauvignon blanc's versatility with food than chef Sunny Cristadoro at St. Supery Winery in the Napa Valley.

Versatile varietal

"Because sauvignon blanc is the most versatile varietal with food. some, even professional chefs, have taken that to mean they can put anything with this wine, and that's an overstatement," Cristadoro began as we chatted at Birmingham's Big Rock Chop & Brew House where she was an invited celebrity chef.

Cristadoro agrees that sauvignon blanc's freshness makes it an ideal aperitif: a sipper, even without food. But the freshness, coupled with clean flavors, matches the spiciness of Thai foods, all Asian cuisine and harmonizes well with Mexican dishes.

& "Even with the broad range of sauvignon blanc wine styles, if the wine is balanced and so is the dish, the chances of the wine pairing with the food are quite good," she said. "Cajun and Creole cooking are popular, but sometimes with outrageous amounts of cayenne pepper. That's not authentic New Orleans cooking. Excessive amounts of cayenne put the dish out of balance and it will not match any wine." To achieve the best harmony of sauvignon blanc with food, Cristadoro suggests assessing the style. Warm climate sauvignons yield grapefruit, lemon and slightly grassy characters. "This directly relates to citrus qualitics perceptible in food matches;" she added. "Grassiness suggests cilantro, chives, basil and light green herbs. There's a direct correlation and a simple complement." Saucing is another of Cristadoro's focal points. Chicken can pair with any wine from sauvignon blanc to a big red, she notes. But you have to ask, "what are you putting on the chicken as a sauce?" It's not just the main element you're working with, but also the flavors you're putting alongside it.

Inside

Once upon a time, along the sandy shores of Old Mission Peninsula, a Presbyterian minister named Peter Dougherty defied the advice of local, Indians and planted a cherry orchard.

on the web: http://observer-eccentric.com

He prayed the waters of Grand Traverse Bay and nearby Lake Michigan would temper the cold Aretic winds and cool his orchard in the summer.

That was in 1852. Today, Michigan grows 70 to 75 percent of the nation's tart cherries and about 20 percent of the sweets. About 40 percent of the state's 36,000 acres of cherry trees are concentrated in the Grand Traverse. Region, with Traverse City dubbed the "Cherry Capital of the World.' A spring ceremony known as the "Blessing of the Blossoms" was initiated in 1924 to honor the region's cherry-growing prowess. The event evolved into the National Cherry Festival, held in Traverse City this year July 10.

But you don't have to travel to Traverse City to get your fill of cherries. Local cherry growers say the tarts are ready for picking, and ine sweets should follow in about 10 days.

BERRIES

Peter Blake, owner of Blake's Orchard & Cider Mill in Romeo. expects a medium-size crop this year due to spring frosts. He grows the tart Montmorency cherry (excellent for pies, preserves, jellies, and juices) and the popular Bing and Van sweets.

"I'm partial to tart cherry pie, warm with a scoop of cold ice cream," said Blake, who prefers his cherries bedded down between two flaky crusts. Others like their cherries au naturel.

Eaten plain, cherries are low in fat, calories and sodium and contain no cholesterol. They contain more vitamin A, calcium, iron magnesium, phosphorus and copper than apples, cranberries, strawberries and peaches. They have about the same amount of potassium as peaches and grapes.

Current medical research also suggests eating about 20 tart cherries per day could reduce inflammatory pain and provide antioxidant protection as well.

Both tart and sweet cherries freeze well. Just remember to pit

Fruit characters

Cristadoro likes to play on the fruit characters of sauvignon blanc. Sea bass with a salea made from mango, kiwi, papaya, ginger, cilantro, and lemon juice is a winner. Sea bass can be poached in sauvignon blanc or seared if a crisp crunch is desired.

"The key is to let the buttery quality of the fish, particularly sea bass or halibut, add its own richness to the dish," she said. "Tropical fruits bring out the same elements in the wine."

A VIEW OF THE RIDGE

The bone that surrounds and supports the teeth is called the alveolar ridge. When a tooth is extracted or there is severe periodontal disease, bone loss may occur that threatens the stability and health of the teeth that it is meant to support. If lost bone is not replaced, teeth may shift and the bone may resorb, making replacing lost bone integral to maintaining healthy teeth. With this in mind, the dentist may choose to replace lost bone with a synthetic, calciumcontaining material that works with the body to stimulate new bone growth. With the passage of time, the material resorbs and is replaced with new bone growth that is sufficient to preserve the alveolar ridge and supporteremaining teeth. Call LIVONIA VILLAGE DENTAL ASSOCIATES at 478-2110 to find out more information on today's column. Good dental health is no accident. We're located at 19171 Merriman Road, where our goal is to help preserve your natural teeth for a lifetime. harlene Teeter R.N. spent two weeks away from her family volunteering as a member of the Michigan-1 DMAT team at Fort Dix treating the medical needs of ethnic Albanian refugees seeking temporary asylum from their war-torn country.

The Garden City resident said the time away from her family was hard but incomparable to the experiences displaced Kosovars shared with her and the other DMAT volunteers during the Provide Refuge operation.

"I heard the gamut of stories some that brought tears to my eyes," said Teeter. "I can't ever imagine being uprooted from my home and family like that.' Teeter, the Nurse Manager of the Emergency Department at Oakwood Annapolis Hospital - Wayne has been a member of the Michigan-1 DMAT (Disaster Medical Assistance Team) since 1987. A volunteer organization that serves as a branch of the National Disaster Medical System, DMAT members are activated during medical emergencies when local resources are unable to meet the needs of their community in a crisis situation. The 1 1 first response team, which includes 120 members total, can remain self-sufficient for up to 72 hours in the field and of 120 volunteers - a full team element consists of 35 staff. One of the most recent activations of the Michigan -1 team called for members to establish a fully functional emergency room for the "village" of refugees at Fort Dix Army post in New Jersey. The base had the capacity to house more than 3,000 refugees who were temporarily residing in barracks on the Army post that is largely occupied by reservists. Teeter, another nurse, two paramedics and a physicians assistants were activated from the 35 member team of MI-1 DMAT and arrived at McGuire Air Force Base where the refugees were flown by the hundreds. The DMAT members were responsible for evaluating the status of the refugees upon arrival, then providing health assessments in a makeshift emergency department. Some of the general tests included immunizations, chest x-rays to rule out tuberculosis, and gynecological and obstetric exams for female refugees.

"We did everything from setting up a crash cart to building shelves, writing protocols and ordering supplies," said Teeter. "All in all we saw approximately of to 70 people a day, work ing 12 and 14 hour shifts for the two weeks I was there."

Making friends

During Teeter's two weeks at Ft. Dix she befriended both young and old Albanians. One 87-year-old woman in particular, who was not able to exit the plane unassisted was accompanied by the Oakwood registered nurse to a wheelchair and then into an awaiting van that took the elderly woman to the Ft. Dix clinic run by the DMAT members. The woman kept referring to Teeter as "the queen" and repeatedly said Everything will be okay, I'm in America now, said Tceter.

"Every time I saw her in the village she would say 'the queen, the queen." Teeter said she saw a wide variety of conditions being treated ranging from patients (cardiac, diabetic) who had gone without critical medication for weeks to broken bones, psychiatri

"The attention he and his parents received was overwhelming," said

Teeter. "It was such a media event." Children throughout the village came to know Teeter as the bubble . lady. She wore a small bottle of bub-ble solution around her neck and blew bubbles wherever young refugees

Disaster team mobilizes during crises

The Michigan-1 DMAT team, rated Level 1 by the Federal Government, means that a team of 35 individuals and $200,000 worth of supplies and equipment can be moved anywhere in the United States within hours.

Members, like Charlene Tecter, R.N. Nurse Manager of the Emergency Department at Oakwood Annapolis Hospital - Wayne, come from diverse backgrounds including healthcare professionals representing hospitals (physicians, nurses, nurse practitioners, physicians assistants) emergency medical personnel (EMTs, paramedics) and support staff (cooks, supply persons, office administrators.

"It takes a rare kind of person to do this work," said Bob Miljan; executive director of HEMS, Inc. (Health Emergency Medical Services) of Wayne. "These individuals go into areas "The nature of this work is so where earthquakes have occurred and have slept in places where there is no running water, no electricity, no anything. Teeter said Level 1 status requires members to provide medical care as part of the National Medical Mutual Aid system on three different levels:

AOL service in Europe on target good to be true? For the vast MIKE majority of WENDLAND dialup Internet users in the U.S., such access is indeed only a dream. But for the past three weeks, that is just what I enjoyed.... in Europe. What amazed me most, however, wasn't the reliability and speed of the connection. It was the source.

For all my dial-in access in Europe was done through America Online.

Imagine that: America Online in Europe.

In Germany, the United Kingdom and Wales, the connection was solid, sure and stable. I simply had all my e-mail, normally sent to my pemike.com domain address, forwarded to an AOL account. AOL's latest version 4.0 has the European numbers already programmed in, so overseas travelers need only change the dialup configuration under "Setup" and plug into a phone jack.

I was amazed at the reliabili-

With a six hour time difference, I found e-mail was the best way to stay in touch. My kids wished me a happy Father's Day by e-mail, I connected with clients and business associates and, thanks to AOL's instant messaging capabilities, was even able "talk" in real time by exchanging chat messages with friends back home.

That was often rather bizarre. On one occasion, it was midnight in the U.S. and a friend I was "chatting" with was about to go to bed. For me in Germany, it was 6 a.m. the next day and I was about to leave my hotel room for my morning appointments.

He said good night, I said good morning.

As I exchanged e-mail messages with my wife back home, she was always complaining about the difficulty of getting through to her AOL access number in Michigan. If it wasn't busy, it booted her offline for no reason as it apparently bogged down under heavy usage and inadequate network capabilities. That's why, in the States, AOL for many means "Almost On Line."

But not so for me in Europe.

There is a cost for all this. In Europe, there is a telecommunications surcharge for all calls placed through a modem. For regular Net users in Europe, those surcharges can easily reach $50-$75 a month. But for me, temporarily using AOL's European dial-in numbers during a three-week business trip, the $40 or so in extra charges were well worth it.

If you're planning an overseas trip and you want to be in touch with friends, family and business associates, I highly recommend AOL.

AOL really has become global In Europe, the television channels were filled with ads telling people to look for the free disks in the mail that will give them a month's access, also free. And there was a story I caught in the London Times that noted AOL was planning on giving away free $299 Internet PC's to new subscribers in Europe.

But if you are traveling to Europe and don't have an AOL account, don't worry. You can still check your e-mail. Try the cyber cafes.

While Internet coffee houses have all but disappeared in America, where affordable Internet hookups are widely available, they are still very popular in Europe. For about an $8-anhour, you can check your e-mail; or catch up on the news back home by surfing the web.

Ann Wilson has watched her, sister Nancy perform numerous times since they formed Heart in 1973. After all those years and performances, Naney Wilson still gives her sister the chills.

"I went and saw her in a club and her singing just kind of blew me away. She's going to be amazing on this tour," she said.

The tour about which Ann Wilson is speaking is a series of acoustic shows including Tuesday, July 6, at Pine Knob Music Theatre - they are doing to road-test new material. This is the first time the Wilson sisters have played as a duo.

On the tour, Nancy Wilson is playing electric and acoustic guitars, mandolin, dulcimer, dobro, blues harp, bass and piano. Her sister takes on bass, rhythm guitar, piano and flute.

"Nancy and I we've never really done it before. This is the first time we've ever gone out as a duo. We have been

This year's 19th annual show in downtown Plymouth features more than 400 artists from 34 states displaying a variety of media ranging from lacquer painting to mouth stick art. Quinn's also scheduled a long list of entertainment, and children can paint a square in a nineloot-long mural designed by 16-year

Hardeman's memories of being stuck in the snow may overshadow the Minnessota photographs but weather never detracts from his enjoyment of shooting Michigan scenes. Hardeman's shot over 50 images of lighthouses, one of his favorite subjects. To photograph them he must sometimes lug 50 pounds of equipment to a rocky site, but no matter. The destination is worth the trek.

Sky's the limit: William Savola guest conducted the George Enescu Philharmonic Orchestra in Romania earlier this year.

A dreamer

"This is something of a dream," said Savola, who waves a baton before the Marquette Symphony in November-Tm a dreamer. Back in grade school T knew I wanted to be in front of an orchestra. I wanted to be a showman. All the dreaming, it's just part of me."

Although Savola's guest conducted orchestras in Finland, Ecuador and the Philippines, Romania quickly became one of his favorite countries because of the people.

"There's two million people in Bucharest. With 17 McDonald's, Pizza Hut and cell phones, it feels like home. Fast food is big with standing room only," said Savola. "It's the pro-American attitude that anything American, they love."

Don't get the idea that Savola is flighty and always chasing a dream. Born in Marquette, Savola has conducted orchestras on a full-time basis as well. He's served as music director of the Women's Symphony of De (now defunct), the Scandinavian Symphony of Detroit, and the Allen Park Symphony.

It was while he was with the Scandinavian Symphony that he became friends with Mischa Mischakoff, who was then concertmaster. Mischakoff, a former concertmaster of the Detroit Symphony and the NBC Orchestra under Arturo Toscanini, honored Savola by giving him a special gift, a baton that had been used by Toscanini. Savola was a 19-year-old concertmaster with the Northern Michigan University Orchestra when he rode 21 hours on a train to Texas to see Toscanini-conduct. He never forgot the experience of watching this legend. lead the orchestra in which Mischakoff was then concertmaster.

"I will save it in my violin case all of my life. Linever felt I could use that baton," said Savola, who spent a year as a guest conductor in Finland. "I won't let anyone touch it. Toscanini is the only conductor I recognize as great.

"To buy a little snail created by a 7-year-old with his mom's leftover clay can be as much fun as buying a $5,000 painting.

Stimulating environments

Norris-Hardeman jokes that his job for Ford Motor Co. takes him to Minnessota in January and Arizona in August, not exactly ideal months. The Canton photographer takes advantage of these harsh environments, where he oversees the testing of cars, by shooting landscapes. He's bringing a variety of his works to Art in the Park.

The wind weathers them and they become gnarly. I'm able to see the raw, rugged beauty, when altitude testing (cars) at 14,000 feet, that few people can."

Hardeman admits to "practically sleep walking" for the early morning shots. He prefers sunsets himself unless he's photographing the Grand Canyon.

"We finished it up together in his music room, which was really a thrill, in his big mansion in Hollywood. It's the mansion that hits built. You walk in there and it's so extreme. The song, it's very retro. It's a song for a woman to sing and he's gotta be the king of that. He really knows how to write melodies for women to sing. It was really a cool experience."

A classic touch in the great outdoors

BY FRANK PROVENZANO STAFF WRITER fprovenzano@oe.homecomm.net

Typically, around this time of year, the Detroit Symphony Orchestra would be getting ready for a trip to Vail, where they've performed for the last five years at the annual Bravo Colorado Summer Festival.

This year, the closest mountain range orchestra members can expect to see will be rolling suburban hills, as in Rochester Hills.

Beginning this Friday, the DSO will travel north on I-75 from their intimate acoustical gem. Orchestra Hall in Detroit, and embark on a five-week season of outdoor concerts at Meadow Brook Music Festival on the campus of Oakland University.

By expanding its summer season from three to five weeks, the DSO will perform 15 concerts Friday-Sunday, through August 8.

"The audience is substantially different than the audiences at Orchestra Hall," he said. "Most live in Oakland" County."

While it's important for the orchestra to "keep the faith" with the classical-musical form; Calmer said the upcoming season provides a way for the DSO to honor the past, stretch its repertoire and fit in with the interactive age.

The program includes images, animation and film from NASA's unmanned spacecraft projected on giant video screens. The presentation will be set to John Adams' "Short Ride in a Fast Machine," and Wagner's "The Flying Dutchman" Overture.

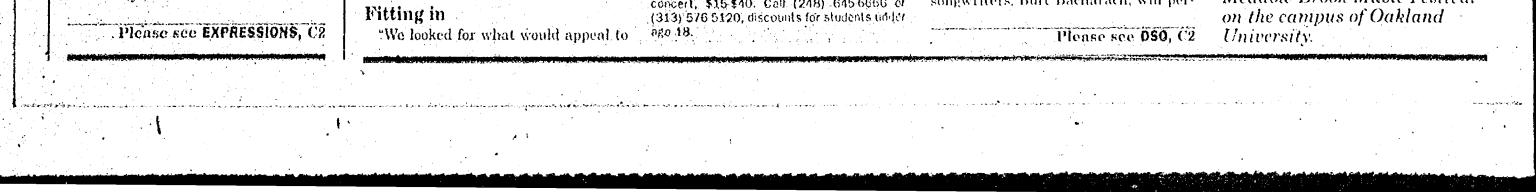

Don't expect wispy, light string music that dissipates with a passing summer breeze. Calmer is planning on fireworks, literally.

Displays of fireworks will be a regular feature every Friday, along with explosive soloists on Saturdays such as violinist Pinchas Zukerman and pianist Per Tengstrand. Meanwhile, Sunday's line-up includes programs dedicated to the music of Gershwin, Broadway, Big Bands and Hollywood films.

Will Pardee's violent collision 18 years ago with the bottom of the Muskegon River left him a quadriplegic able only to turn pages with a mouth stick. After the diving accident, his wife Sarah suggested he try drawing with a pencil adapted for his mouth. Today, Pardee travels to 30 art shows a year throughout the state of Michigan. He's bringing a variety of pencil and color pencil drawings of lighthouses, wildlife, country scenes, and an old Model T pickup to Art in the Park.

"The Lord gave me the talent but I never took an interest until then," said Pardee. "Now I meet a lot of really nice people and I like to minister while I'm doing the shows."

> Quinn receives great satisfaction from giving artists like Pardee, who spend hundreds of hours creating their work, the opportunity to exhibit. The satisfaction of knowing that she's helping artists is all Quinn needs to continue the massive task of producing Art in the Park. It's taken her and daughter Rachel a year to set up exhibitors, entertainment, ven-... dors, and a tent for the mural to benefit C.S. Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor.

When the task of jurying artists applications is completed in early spring, Quinn is "ready for the fun-part to begin." Coordinating the more than 60 volunteers, is gratifying, she said, "because every year there are more people who want to work."

"As our endowment has grown, we've been able to expand our summer season and establish the institute."

In the last five years, the DSO endowment has grown from $25 million to $53 million. While the two-fold increase is impressive, Woodward noted that most major orchestras around the world have endowments two-tothree times as large.

Jewelry Dear Lady, of my diamond stud earrings at the beach? My husband wants me to remove them before we head for the sand, but I think they look great with a DENISE bathing suit. What do you think?

Bathing Beauty

Dear Beauty,

Congratulations! You are married to a bona fide worry wart. Let your husband know that, if your earrings are properly adjusted and you check them before heading out to the sand and sun, it's unlikely you'll lose them.

However, as a precaution, consider checking your homeowner's insurance to make certain you're covered in case of loss. (Otherwise, that worry wart will never forgive you for losing those diamond studs!)

Another alternative: consider having your diamonds reset in Eurowires, which clip more securely behind the ears. Even if you bury your head in the sand, there's no way you'll lose one of those babies!

Dear Jewelry Lady,

I am very annoyed with my jeweler. I recently took my engagement ring in for a cleaning, and he told me I should have my prongs re-tipped. My jeweler also said I would eventually I need a motherhood today

BY NICOLE STAFFORD

SPECIAL EDITOR nstafford@oe.homecomm.net

Twenty, even 10 years ago, Johnson & Johnson baby oil and talcum powder were enough to soothe and pamper soft bottoms and baby-soft skin. Likewise, little boys and girls were delighted by the addition of tear-free baby shampoo at bath time.

Today, products for mothers, babies and children seek to do more than show tenderness and pacify: they strive to help the parent-child bonding process.

Recently introduced personal products aimed at mother and child include Bylgari's colorfully packaged Petits et Mamans line, Bobbi Brown's extra gentle, dye-free, baby essentials and a baby care line from Origins, a subsidiary of Estee Lauder.

The Petits et Mamans line includes an alcohol-free fragrance touted as a bonding agent when worn by mother and daughter. Origins' top selling baby care product is "Bear Hug," a massage cream said to promote bonding between parents and babies.

Of course, massage and other form's of sensory stimulation are always beneficial to newborns and help with bonding, but many of today's mothers, who hold down full-time jobs, have less time and energy to devote to such activities.

Motherhood at a price: Matching leather backpacks for busy mothers and children, $595 and $535 at Louis Vuitton.

Arguably, baby massage cream not only acts as a vehicle for sensory stimulation but also as a reminder to take time out for bonding. When mother and daughter dot on fragrance from the same bottle before rushing out the door to work and school, they've had a shared — albeit brief — experience.

"Petits et Mamans has great relevance to the lives of today's mothers, who may not have as much time as they wish to bond with their children," says Connie Ruscio, vice president of sales for Bylgari's distributor. And when mothers do have extra time to spend with their daughters, luxury bath and beauty products enhance those "precious moments," says Ruscio.

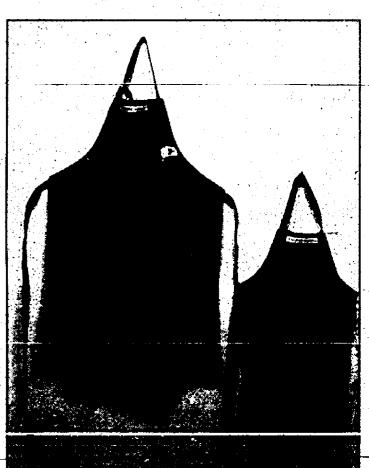

Bath products aren't the only goods on store shelves aimed at uniting mother and child and mitigating working mothers' guilt over limited family time.

Sleepwear designer Karen Neuburger launched a line of nightgowns, pajamas and robes for mothers and daughters in March. Available at Jacobson's, Neuburger's women's pieces run $35-60 and children's pieces retail at $24-42.

Numerous stores at the Somerset Collection in Troy also carry goods for mother and child. William Sonoma sells appropriately sized cooking aprons for joint ventures in the kitchen.

Louis Vuitton offers matching leather backpacks priced at $595 for mother and $535 for child. And several retailers carry matching clothing for mothers and daughters, including Laura Ashley, April Cornell and Oilily, all at the Somerset Collection.

Another factor at work behind the trend is society's changing attitude towards motherhood and pregnancy. The prevalence of expectant mothers in the workplace, coupled with working women's increased discretionary income and a slew of stylish pregnant stars in the media, has encouraged high style. among soon-to-be mothers. "It's in style to be stylish when you're pregnant," says Karen Karzmar, assistant manager at A Pea in the Pod maternity store in downtown Birmingham where body-hugging, "french fit" maternity clothes have replaced oversized garments that conceal curves and bulges. Diana Mahacek, store manager at Mimi Maternity at Laurel Park SLAFP PHOTO BY JERRY ZOLYNSKY Place in Livonia, agrees, Kitchen ventures: Williams-Sonoma carsaying "women have ries cotton twill cooking aprons for mothreally embraced the closer fit clothing. ... new set of prongs for the ring. I thought diamonds were forever. I feel taken.

Feeling Cheated

Dear Cheated,

Diamonds are forever, but they are susceptible to cracks and chips. After all, diamonds don't come out of the ground fully faceted; they have to be cut and polished to bring out their beauty.

Furthermore, your jeweler isn't talking about your diamond, but the prongs of your ring, which are probably made of gold. Since gold wears' over time, your jeweler is doing you a favor by suggesting you keep the mount in good condition. Otherwise, you might lose the diamond.

If you wish to avoid such maintenance, I suggest replacing the gold head (the set of prongs) for another one made of platinum. Platinum is tougher than gold and much less vulnerable to wear.

Dear Jewelry Lady,

I am maybe what you'd call a "jewelry-aholic." I regularly buy new rings and necklaces and then stop wearing older-pieces in my jewelry box. It. seems like a terrible waste. What should I do with my old jewelry? Loaded with Baubles

Dear Baubles,

You have a wonderful problem, and The Jewelry Lady knows numerous jewelers who would be more than happy to make your acquaintance.

But seriously, have you considered redesigning some of your older jewelry? Many independent jewelers also work as jewelry designers and would jump at the chance to sketch some designs that utilize the precious gems and metals you already have.

The beauty of gold, platinum and precious gemstones is that they can be reworked again and again into new and cutting-edge pieces.

Another option: leave your outdated pieces on consignment with a jeweler who sells estate pieces, and take the money and run. Just imagine the number of new pieces you'll be able to buy in coming years!

Also consider having your outdated jewelry professionally cleaned and polished, and then give them as gifts to special people in your life. What you see as old and outdated, might tickle another person's fancy. (After all, beauty is in the eyes of the behold er.)

Finally, you can let your older pieces collect not only dust but also value in a safety deposit box until you pass them on to family, friends or a favorite charity.

"Parents who purchase designer items for themselves are likely to do so for their children," says Ruscio at Bylgari. "Therefore, the idea of a shared bath line for mothers and children is especially appealing. Another contributing factor is that motherhood has become very trendy and glamorous, thanks to star moms such as Madonna."

TRAVEL Wonderful Hawaii

BY SANDRA ARMBRUSTER STAFF WRITER sarmbruster@oe.homecomm.net

"I wonder," said my seat mate thoughtfully as we looked at the snowy runways on our approach to Metro Airport last March. "I wonder if anyone gets off the plane, turns right around and asks for a ticket back to Hawaii."

The idea of heading back to this paradise was especially tempting after a 10-day stay that included an American Hawaii cruise among four islands — Oahu, Kauai, Maui and Hawaii, which is also known as "the big island."

Much of the uneventful flight -back on Northwest had been spent listening to passengers debate which of the four was the "best" island.

That would be a tough debate to win. In my travels, from Alaska to the Virgin Islands, no other state provides opportunities for "such varied contrasts in climate or activities. The islands hold something for everyone, from the lush greenery of Kauai to the moonscape of a dormant volcano on Maui to the snow-capped Mauna Loa on Hawaii.

Snow skiing in Hawaii? Yes, it's possible in winter on Mauna Kea — at an elevation of 13,700 feet. 🕤

In contrast are the picturepostcard beaches for sunning or -catching the 20-foot waves offshore on Oahu in December. Visitors can look up at the largest telescope on earth, look down at living coral while snorkeling and watch out for humpback whales playing at sea. There is, of course, much more.

The people, the culture

If travelers look only for the typical tourist sites, however, they will miss much of what the islands are all about. There is people, which is as mild as the covering the islands. there are few people left on the islands who are solely of Hawaiian heritage.

"affordable" in recent months. Concern for the environment is paramount on the minds of those who live in the islands to preserve their biggest revenue source - tourism - as well as for quality of life reasons. Tourism became their biggest industry, since the sugar cane industry all but dried up. Hawaiians know that without their unpolluted air and unspoiled waters, few would make the trip of nearly 5,000 miles from the metropolitan Detroit area.

Island adventures

My adventure in Hawaii began with a stay in Waikiki. Yes, it's a typical-tourist town and, frankly, its famed beach is outdone by those elsewhere on Oahu and the other islands. The Waikiki/Honolulu area is built up, but it's the place to go if you're interested in nightlife or shopping. Don Ho is still crooning, and it seems as though every hotel is touting its own version of shows representing cultures in islands of the South Seas.

There are several major shopping areas, and transportation is easily accessible by way of The Bus.

To be fair, there are the Arizona Memorial (see related story), fine museums, churches and a zoo which make a stopover there worthwhile.

$250,000 and, as everywhere, and it's like being in another advantage over other ship lines, the coral and fish which swim up age and as with many ship lines, to bathers on Hanauma Bay beach, a non-smoking area. Sometimes it is so crowded in season it needs to be closed to protect the environment.

Time it right on the tour, and you might get to see the "blow hole" rock formation spouting sea water. While in the area, be sure to keep an eye out for the green sea turtles. Look offshore for Molokai island, and around on the north shore are friendly, smaller communities playing host to beautiful beaches and monster wayes.

Travel is easy between the islands, by air or by boat. Those of us — and there were many who chose a cruise smiled at how one could watch airplanes lift off one island and rise slowly in the air only to quickly set wheels to firm ground on a neighboring island.

Traveling solo

We left Honolulu at the Aloha Tower aboard the S.S. Independence in festive style, to the sounds of kettle drums and water spouts from a fire boat, all courtesy of the Honolulu City Council.

The trip for many of us had been organized by AAA Travel branches throughout the country: Lucky for solo travelers like myself, the Independence has a few rooms for passengers travel-Get outside the city, however, ing alone. That's a distinct, that meant transfers were taken care of - a welcome aid for those of us who have difficulty. handling baggage.

Agent Diana Ralston of the Birmingham AAA branch recommended a large table for dinner on board ship, to avoid getting stuck with an obnoxious passenger. That was never the case on this trip, as congenial passengers laughed and chatted our way through a day at sea before arriving in Kauai.

A warning: The venerable ship was built during the 1950s and doesn't have the stabilizers or size of more modern ships. So if you're prone to sea sickness, come prepared.

But don't let that stop you. The captain and his crew are proud of their ship and can't do enough to make your stay memorable.

Next week share the adventure aboard the S.S. Independence with a helicopter ride on Kauai, whale-watching off of Mauj and viewing a live volcano in Hawaiil Try, if you will, to think of the "best" island to visit.

EMU_awards ex-hoop player Pierce letter 48 years later

BY BRAD EMONS SPORTS WRITER bemons@oe.homecomm.net

Mac Pierce is a prime example of the old adage: "Good will come to those who wait."

This story certainly is a lesson in patience.

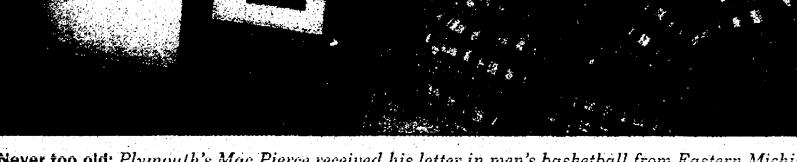

Nearly 48 years later, the 70-year-old retired elementary school teacher from Plymouth received his varsity men's basketball letter from Eastern Michigan University.

Pierce, a 5-foot-11 junior guard, played for EMU (then called Michigan State Normal College) during the 1050-51 season as an invited walk-on, but left the team in early February to be with his ailing father Cyrus, who died at age 51 shortly after from colon cancer.

Michigan Normal coach William Crouch told Pierce, who was a key reserve, he understood his decision to leave the team, but would not earn a letter if he did not finish the season.

"I was never the kind of guy who asked favors in return for favors," Pierce said. "It was our last road trip (to Northern Illinois) and told him (Crouch) I was not going because I had to take care of him and my mother needed my support.

"I told him it was a privilege to play college basketball and I appreciated what he had done for me. On June 26, as part of a golf outing, Pierce was stunned to learn that one of his former fifth-grade students at Bird Elementary School, longtime friend Bruce Gerish, had written the EMU Athletic Department in Nov. of 1998 on his behalf.

Never too old: Plymouth's Mac Pierce received his letter in men's basketball from Eastern Michigan University 48 years later with the help of his former fifth-grade student Bruce Gerish.

in the mail the varsity letter and a message from EMU interim athletic director Carole Huston.

Gerish, a former Plymouth Salem High cager and baseball player, immediately framed the two items together to present it to Pierce at Gerish's annual Legends Hall of Fame outing.

"Malcolm deserved it, he's been a good supporter of EMU over the years," Gerish said. "Mac made the right decision, as his dad passed while the team

Pierce was nearly speechless when Gerish asked him to come forward in front of a large gathering at his house. His wife Marilyn, along with his three sons and daughter, also witnessed the surprise presentation.

"I loved basketball, that was my game," Pierce said. "And it sure means a lot to me. It means more 48 years later, more than walking on some girls' arm, -"I wondered why my wife was invited. I thought she was baby-sitting (the grandchildren). And to get it from one of my fifth-grade students - I was really choked up."

"Because of a lack of statistics, our records really don't go back that far and sometimes things like this are difficult to document," Huston said. "But given the time and the circumstances. we thought it was the proper thing to do. We've had history of trying to do the right thing here and I'm sure we made the right decision." Pierce enrolled at Michigan Normal in 1948. He was a three-sport standout at Northville High School where his dad was principal.

Registration is from 9-9:45 a.m. All registrants must live in the Livonia or Clarenceville school districts. Cost is free.

Livonian 4th: Realtor David Reault turned in his best professional finish.

Bass angler nets 4th, $35,000 check

BY BILL PARKER STAFF WRITER BPARKER@OE.HOMECOM.NET

Livonia's David Reault took advantage of the home-lake advantage in the Wal-Mart FLW Tour Forrest Wood Open, a professional bass fishing tournament, which concluded June 26, on Lake St. Clair.

A real estate broker at Century 21 in Livonia, Reault finished fourth in the 164-angler field with a finals limit of five smallmouth that tipped the scale at 15 pounds, 14 ounces.

It was Reault's biggest cash pay day as the 42-year-old father of three netted $35,000 for his efforts.

"In terms of professional tournaments this is the best I've done," said Reault, who fishes the local bass tournament circuits when he can get away from his full-time job. "I won a Red Man Regional a few years ago and got a Ranger bass boat and a pick-up truck. But this was a lot more prestigious and there was much better competition here."

FLW tournaments follow a unique format.

Anglers then start from scratch and the top five on the third day advance to the final day of competition where they again start from scratch.

Co-angler competition ends at the conclusion of the third day.

The Forrest Wood Open featured

some of the world's best bass anglers.

In fact, the other four top-five finalists in the angler division are all fulltime professionals.

Rochester's Art Ferguson III, a twotime qualifier for the BASSMASTER Classic, posted his highest finish to date in a major tournament when he wound up third.

On the final day of the four-day tournament Ferguson weighed a five-fish limit of smallmouth that tipped the scale at 17 pounds, 10 ounces.

He pocketed $50,000 for his efforts. Pete Thliveros of Jacksonvale, Florida, a seven-time BASSMASTER Classic qualifier and the Angler-of-the-Year in the inaugural Wal-Mart FLW Tour 'in 1996, won the Forrest Wood Open and a check for $200,000 with a finals

Livonia drag racer rather run a Buick

BY BRAD EMONS SPORTS WRITER

bemons@oe.homecomm.net

Drew Edwards treats his 1970 Buick Gran Sport like a baby - except when he puts it on a quarter-mile track.

The 33-year-old Livonian, who restored the vehicle eight years ago, won his Bracket 2-B2 class and a $1,000 check, not to mention a nice trophy, at the Buick GS Nationals, June 26, at National Trail Raceway in Columbus, Ohio-

Edwards, who outraced a field of 96 cars, covered the quarter-mile track in 11.8 seconds in his bracket for racers who compile speeds anywhere from 11.5 to 12.5 seconds. (The Super 16, Bracket I-B1, are the quickest, 11.5 seconds. and under)

"It was my first win down there and a big meet for me because I didn't have a lot of luck there," said Edwards, a wet surface grinder for S.E.E. Gage Co. in Wirom "I had to win seven munds"

Most summer weekends Drew Edwards and his brother Darren are either at Buick GS Club of America races or shows. They'll usually do testing Wednesday nights and hit the road on Fridays.

Fourth of July weekend the brothers loaded up the trailer and traveled to Ubly.

You can also find them other weekends at venues such as Milan or Norwalk, Ohio, the latter track where Edwards has carned three wins and one runnerup finish.

Edwards' Buick Gran Sport can also be spotted on Woodward Avenue Cruise where he treats his vehicle with tender loving care.

members.

Edwards' affinity for racing started when he turned 16.

"It started with the Chivsler-Mopar and Chevys," he said. "Then I found a Buick GS for sale at a swap meet and I fell in love with it.

"I went to technical seminars and learned about restoration and high performance.'

Edwards' win also pleased his sponsor, Mike Tomaszewski of T.A. Performance of Scottsdale, Ariz. (where he gets discount on parts).

Racing at speeds upward of 114 MPH, the Livonia drag racer is well aware of the risks of his sport-hobby.

"There's always danger involved," said Edwards, who pushes his 455 cubicinch motor to the limit. "But both the National Hot Rod Association (NHRA)

Feigner's legacy endures

BY RICHARD L. SHOOK STAFF WRITER

Anne Marie Feigner was mirprised at how many people remembered.»

Feigner returned to Canton with her husband, Eldie, promoting athletics for girls and women while playing first base for The King and His Court against a local team of softball stars.

The score? There wasn't any. And if there was, nobody cared. It was mostly part of a farewell tour for Eddie Feigner.

But it was homecoming of sorts for Anne Marie Feigner, whom quite a few in the audience remembered as Anne Marie Dozbush, former Canton high student.

Dozbush went to East Middle School in the early 1970s and was so good an athlete the coach, "Mr. Bartlett, asked me to come out for the boys team. This was in eighth grade.

"He was the math teach then. I hear he's still teaching school."

"He's teaching at Canton now," said Liz DeKarske, a senior-to-be at Salem who pitched two innings for the All-Stars against The King & His Court.

"I was pretty nervous," she admitted.

She shouldn't have been. Anne Marie Feigner took time after the game to chat with DeKarske — and anyone else who was interested — and give her advise on how to approach. Central Michigan University about playing softball for them when she's done at Salem.

Feigner had an interesting experience playing for the East Middle School boys baseball team. Interesting if you're interested in archaic attitudes. When word got around that Anne Marie was playing baseball, some area schools let it be known they wouldn't be receptive to her playing freshman ball the next fall.

"The next year, they had a girls softball team," Feigner said, "the very first one at Canton."

She played as a freshman and sophomore but in 1975 her family moved to Georgia, ending that footnote to Canton athletic history.

"I've been promoting girls softball for 25 years," she said.

It was how she met her husband. She was promoting in Texas when The King and His Court barnstormed through. Feigner was impressed, asked her to sign on to promote his team and eventually married. ber.

Eddie Feigner isn't a fulltime player any more. Time has taken care of what opponents could never do - retire Eddie Feigner.

"I had a heart attack in 1990," Feigner said. "I just had triple-bypass surgery and I've had two strokes.

"Those pizzas will kill you, man. That's all I ate for years. - pizzas and hamburgers."

So Feigner works the microphone, sets up and delivers those famous one-liners, and trots out to throw the phantom two-strike pitch he's famous for inventing.

Feigner recruited Ray-Barnes, Vice President-Girls with the Canton Community Junior Baseball and Softball

Association, to fill out his fourperson team.

Sherry Harper, a fourthgrade teacher in the Wayne-Westland school system, pitched three innings for the All-Stars.

The Feigners and their team, which includes pitcher Rich-Hoppe and catcher-shortstop Eddie Aucoin, will make another benefit appearance on the farewell tour July 8 in Westland.

They left at 6 a.m. Saturday morning to drive to Ludington, so they could ferry across Lake Michigan and do some dates in Wisconsin. They would ferry back for their Westland game and then leave again.

It was a good show when it started in 1946 and it's a good show now.

What's going to happen when Feigner officially retires. "Who cares?" he cracked,

"What happened to basketball when Michael Jordan retired? What happened to baseball when Babe Ruth retired?

"It will go on.

"Hopefully, Anne Marie and my son will keep it going."

Anne Marie Feigner thanked the crowd for choosing to come out and watch the team instead of staying home to watch television.

She never missed a minute to promote athletics for girls and gave advice to every kid who asked about getting into college or how to improve their skill level.

"You have to help children," she said. "We see it everywhere we go.

"Communities that support children have low crime rates.

"We have to take care of our kids."

SUMMER SANDLOT BASEBALL

DCI turns back Michigan Rams

There's a tie for first place in the Adray Metro Baseball Association.

DCI defeated the Michigan Lake Area Rams, 8-3, Friday at Ford Field in Livonia to give both teams 22 points, most in the league.

Jason Popham (CRJC) pitched a five-hitter and struck out six to lead DCI, now 10-5-2, to its victory. The Rams are 11-10.

First baseman Mike Gates went 2-for-3 and drove in two runs while both Troy Bergman (MSU) and Eric Harden (Oakland U.) went 1-for-3 with an RBI. Chris McChristion (MSU) went 1-for-3.

Phil Kommer took the loss for the Rams, although four of the six runs he gave up were unearned. He struck out five in five innings.

Chet Rees went 1-for-2 with a two RBI and Peter Varon went 1-for-3 with an RBI for the Rams.

No Adray games were scheduled in Windsor on Wednesday night because of the Freedom Festival Fireworks Show.

The Michigan Lake Area Rams even felt the effects of traffic for their at Ford Field.

Outfielder Ricky Green couldn't make it in from Lake Orion and pitcher Shawn Morrison (WMU) arrived late, missing a starting assignment.

Coach Rick Berryman gave the ball to Jeremy Stevens (Madonna) and he was the winning pitcher in a 5-3 victory over Hines Park.

Stevens threw 41/2 innings before relief help came from SCHEDULE

Padre hurler Berryman on mend

Morrison and Tom Gallus, who was also one of the hitting heroes!

Morrison pitched 2% innings and Gallus came in with two outs and two runners on base in the seventh inning. The only batter Gallus faced hit a grounder between first and second base that hit the Hines Park baserunner for an out, ending the game.

Stevens, who set down the first nine batters in order, improved his pitching record to 3-0.

Gallus, strictly a pitcher at Eastern Michigan University, contributed even before given the ball on the mound in the seventh. He had two hits coming in as a late-inning replacement in left field, where he also made a splendid diving catch.

One of his singles drove in three runs in the sixth for a 5-1 lead, scores that proved to be more than just insurance.

Gallus came into left field when shortstop Chris Kimball injured his knee and had to leave the game: A Hines Park player accidentally fell on Kimball's knee after tagging him out near second base in a run-down:

Berryman moved Lance Siegwald from second base to shortstop and Joel Halliday (Redford Union) from left field to second base, creating the opportunity for Gallus.

Gallus has three hits in four plate appearances this year, so maybe it won't be the last time he hits.

Ben Rush was 1-for-3 with two runs scored.

Early fireworks finds Concealed in control

Concealed Security baseball player Andrew Stafford lives on the east side, so it's no wonder he felt right at home (plate) on Thursday in the 15th annual Firecracker Classic at Halmich Park in Warren.

Stafford, who lives a short drive from the park in Starling Heights, was a combined 4-for-6 as Concealed's 12-under team won its first two games Thursday at the Yourth of July tournament,

"Guess he likes playing close to home," joked Concealed coach Lou Pirronello, whose team is based in Livonia.

Concealed bee the Rochester Reds, 12-2, in a game shortened by the eight-run , four-inning mercy rule.

Jeff Richard (West Bloomfield) moved his record to 5-0, pitching a one-hitter with four strikeouts and two walks. The two runs were unearned.

Stafford collected a pair of doubles in three plate appearances. Richard was 2-for-2 and Scott Szpryka (Orchard Lake 2-3 with an RBI. Lance Latkiewicz had an RBI double and also drew two walks.

Stafford went 4-for-4 with two RBI and three stolen bases as Concealed beat Manchester, Qhio, in the second game. Ryan Shay (Garden City) was the winning pitcher, allowing four hits with 10 strikeouts in a complete-gam. Chris Russin (Canton) had two hits and Eric Vojtkoľsky (Wayne) also had two hits, both doubles, Steve Karchefske was 2-for-4 and Szpryka had one hit and three RBI.

Stafford also had three stolen bases had

Chris Russin (Canton) had two hits, Eric Vojtkofsky (Wayne) had two doubles.

Steve Karchefske was 2-for-4, he's a pick-up. Szpryka one hit, three RBI.

Concealed, 54-11 overall, played the last game of the regular season on Wednesday, beating the Michigan Indians, 19-2; at Stepping Stone Park in Farmington.

Alan Hagedon (Westland) threw a one-hitter over five innings to improve his pitching record to 5-2.

Matt Rodeghier (Farmington Hills) pitched in relief.

Concealed collected 25 hits so there was plenty to go around. Eric Drieselman (Garden City) went 3-for-6, including two doubles, with two RBI. Russin had three hits, missing only a home run for the cycle.

BOWLING & RECREATION

Dolph shows stuff in Midstates

As we customarily celebrate our nations Indépendence Day with grand i displays of fireworks, there have been plenty of fireworks going on in the local tournament scene.

First and fore-HARRISON most, it was Richard Dolph

III from Waterford who captured the 198 division championship June 26 in the Midstates Masters at Bowl One Lanes in Troy.

TEN-PIN

ALLEY

Dolph qualified 31st in the field of 180 entries and won all six match-play games to capture the $2,100 top prize and trophy presented by Linda Malavolti of Bowl One.

His 248 match game average started with his third 300 game this year in the first round.

Winning his semifinal match with top qualifier Joe Wenzloff, 248-246, proved to be the turning point for his win.

Wenzloff needed to close out with a spare and nine to win, but only got a seven count.

Dolph's win moved him to the 212 division, where he should do very well.

Other bowlers from O&E communities who fared pretty well included: Rich Hamilton, Rochester, seventh; Dan Wagner, Troy, 12th; Scott Miller, Waterford, 15th; Paul March, Southfield, 30th; Kevin Coshatt, Livonia, 38th; David Simmons, Westland, 49th; and Bob Worley, Livonia, 55th.

Galloway qualified in the No. 7 position and downed Jeff Curtis from Lansing in his first match. He then made better-adjust-

In the semifinal game, Galloway defeated Livonia's Ed Dudek, setting up the final match against Ernie Segura (bowling's version of golfer Chi Chi Rodriguez).

Segura's Mexican hat dance worked well in his prior wins against Joel Eitner, Rico Odorico and Al Bilheimer, but B.J. played his own game and easily defeated Segura, 248-198.

Predators play a role

Back at the turn of the century, people climbed Hawk Mountain in Pennsylvania to kill hawks that migrated through the area. Coyotes were killed wantonly, along with wolves, grizzly bear, and cougar...

Predators in general were killed without considering their role in the ecosystem and their importance in maintaining a dynamic natural system.

Aldo Leopold, author of "A Sand County Almanac," a classic in natural history and conservation writing, once held the belief that predators were bad. He soon realized that they are not bad and that they should not be killed NATURE indiscrimi-NOTES nately.

Leopold and other wildlife managers began to teach the value of TIM in the 1940s. Since then, this principle of conservation has been proven in studies time and time again. Laws in túrn were passed to protect predators from uncontrolled killing. Through the years people have changed their attitudes toward predators and today their are more of the large predators in Michigan than we have had in a long time.

PRO TIP OF THE WEEK

This is a repeat for David Mahaz, owner of David's Right Line Pro shop located in Cloverlanes in Livonia. David has experience on the Pro-

Tour and has numerous other David Mahaz tournament titles. Cloverlanes In the past several months we have had various pros offer solid advice on lane playing the conditions, the types of balls to use and the ways to best defiver the ball physically.

David tells us how to make all of this information como together and be able to apply this kinowledge to your game.

"First, there are many variables," says David. "Every bowler does it differently, the fanes conditions will atways vary, and there are so many choices when it comes down to balls.

*All-Star and Classic league bowlers who are carrying over a 200 average will have an arsenal of many different types of balls.

"They pretty well know which one to use in whatever lanes they are on. Most of us who are pretty good at the game and average in the 170s to 190s may have two, three or four balls to select from.

*This should really be sufficient if the balls themselves vary. I suggest that each ball is that of a different make.

*Each manufacturer has its own coverstock technology and types of weight blocks.

""You need to pick your favorite ball and work from that. You can learn to ence, especially in the types of coverstock. Some balls are much more versatile than others and can be sanded or polished to change the ball for the fane conditions. "Consideration should be given

when you buy a new ball, as to the pin placement for the type of bowler

*Do you want to be known as a 'cranker,'' or a 'roller, or a 'tweener?' "This will help your pro shop determine how to set up your ball to your advantage. Remember, the objective is to get the ball to the pocket and to hit the pocket with the most power you can apply in terms of a very effective roll.

-If you have oil carrydown conditions, you will want a ball they will finish well. If you bow! on mainly dry lanes, the ball must get you through the heads and the pines to arrive at the pins where you want it to and with plenty of energy left for hitting power.

"It may be necessary to add surface (rough up the ball) prior to the games when there is a lot of oil out there. A good item for your bag is a plastic scouring pad which will come in handy for that.

"Some of the newer balls like the Columbia Chaos, which hooks on most oil carrydown conditions would be a good choice if you bowl mostly on that kind of a condition.

. That is a very aggresive ball. I would suggest two or three aggressive balls but from different companies.

"Use a ball that has a high flare potential on oilier lanes. This will put a different arc of the ball on the lane with each revolution, and will be able work well on oil. If you are limited to two or three balls, you want them as different as possible.

Then, you can vary them more by different drift patterns. That also depends on whether you prefer to shoot outside, or an inside line.

Let your ball fitter know what you want your ball to do on the lanes, the best way for you to find the pocket with plenty of hitting power in the ball.

"You may have to experiment some, but it will all be worth it, you will bowl better and have more fun and higher scores.

"When you get a new ball drilled up, have your project the pin position that will work best for your style of bowling.

"There are differing drill patterns for people who like to play an outside line versus those who prefer to go inside,

"Pin position will also help you with the control of your shot, better accus racy. If you bowl on a lot of heavily oiled lanes, the pin placement would be between 3 or 4 inches from the center of gravity, this would be fike a leverage weighted ball and would do well from an outside angle.

"On dry conditions you would not want a dull finish ball. it just would not get through the heads without early hook and a roll out offect.

"Ideally, you want a skid, roll: and flip or hook action no matter what the condition is. That is the way to hit the pocket with the maximum scoring potential "To do that takes knowledge and experience, and that means to get out and practice, practice, practice." David adds: "Some bowlers will hit good example.

For many years since the 1970s, the only wolves found in Michigan were on Isle Royale in Lake Superior. This population main-tained itself for many years surviving natural highs and lows due to disease and their food supply. Wolves were almost extinct in the Upper Peninsula during this time.

A recent survey conducted this past winter confirmed the presence of 174 wolves across the Upper Peninsula.

Earlier this decade they were restricted to the western counties, close to the Minnesota border where they most likely came from. Today wolves are scattered across the length of the U.P. in at least 30 packs.

Coyotes, too, are increasing in numbers across the state. They are found in every county within the state.

Despite extensive poisoning programs, hunting and trapping, this canine cousin has increased in numbers despite man's expansion. Their modest size and adaptable appetite has enabled them to survive in marginal habitats. As man encroaches on the traditional habitats of predatory species, some individuals are able to adapt to the presence of man because we have learned to leave them alone. If man is not a threat to their survival, some can tolerate their presence.

Bald eagles are another good example.

This past winter the bald eagle count was 708 for the entire state - that is 16 more birds than were counted last year.

That is incredible news, considering in the 70s bald eagles were almost extirpated from the state.

Nature can be very flexible and adaptable if given a chance. This may not be true for all species, but if we understand that each species has an important role to play in the natural system, then by maintainling a population we can; learn what that role is inrelation to other species.

But the species has to be
