Friday night blaze destroys two condos

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER.

Westland fire officials are investigating the cause of a Friday evening blaze that destroyed two Heather Ridge condominiums, damaged two others and injured two firefighters.

Flames erupted inside an unoccupied residence but caught the attention of neighbors who heard "loud popping sounds" inside the building on the east side of Newburgh Road, between Warren and Jov, Fire Chief Mark Neal said.

While fighting the 8:30 p.m. blaze, firefighter Tim Marshall suffered burns when hot embers fell on his back and his neck, and Capt. Avis Dorsey received leg burns after falling drywall knocked him onto a couch, Neal said.

But their injuries weren't severe enough to keep them from battling the fire, Neal said. "They just kept watering down their burns.

No Heather Ridge residents suffered any injuries, he said.

Neal described two condos as a "total loss" and said two others were damaged by water. He didn't immediately have an estimate of damages.

The fire chief commended his firefighters for quickly dousing the worst of the flames.

"They knocked it down fairly quickly, I'd say within a half-hour," he said, although it took firefighters longer to extinguish some remaining hot areas. "They saved another eight units" from damages in what Neal described as a 12-unit building, "They did a real nice job. Early Saturday morning an insur-

Westland District Court security officers have confiscated knives, razor blades, corkscrews and syringes - but no guns - since metal detec-

State 'snap suspension' won't have big impact

BY MARIE CHESTNEY. STAFF WRITER mehestney@oe.homecomin.net

Michigan's school teachers, not just building principals, now have the power to suspend a misbehaving student for up to one day.

Once school districts update their policy books to include this "snap suspension" change passed by the Michigan Legislature and approved in July by Gov. John. Engler, the questions becomes: Will teachers use the new power given to them by the state?

"I'll be surprised if teachers support it," said Livonia school board trustee Ken Timmons during a recent discussion of the change to the state's school code. "Teachers want to maintain a good rapport with students. Anything bad done to students shouldn't be placed on the shoulders of teachers."

Added trustee Patrick Nalley: "The assistant principal should be the hated person, not the teacher." In the Wayne-Westland district, Superintendent Greg Baracy said he expects the law will have little impact on "how we dobusiness."

"We have a strong code of conduct and disciplinary procedures already in place. I do not anticipate an increase in suspensions."

Discipline problems will still go to the principal or assistant principal, he said. The district is, however, having meetings to "tweak" their policy and procedures, and the matter will come before the Wayne-Westland school board soon.

During the Livonia board meeting, resident Dale Carse asked trustees how the district intends to implement the new state law.

"Are you going to encourage this? Discourage this?" Carse

Those are questions that can't istrators iron out the new policy, said Stephen Smith, assistant superintendent for personnel.

Once a policy is written, it will go to the board of education for approval later this school year," he said.

Working on the new policy are Paul Derwich, director of elementary instruction; John Kuenzel, director of secondary instruction; Robert Dietiker, director of student services; and the district's building principals. The district also will consult its attorney, Smith said.

Whatever policy the district adopts, it will take effect in January, said Superintendent Ken Watson.

Nalley questioned why the state has meddled in areas of school discipline.

"The board always likes to keep matters of suspension and expulsion a local decision," Nalley said. "Normally, we don't like when the state mandates something. We have fought against those types of laws that demand a certain action."

The new act says:

If a public school teacher. believes that a student during a school activity has done something that merits suspension. the teacher may then and there suspend that student for up to one full school day.

■ The teacher must immediately report the suspension and the reason for it - to the building principal.

If that action means the student continues to stay at school. then the student will be appropriately supervised.

The teacher will ask the stirdent's parent to attend a parentteacher conference regarding the "snap suspension." If possible, a school counselor, school psychologist or school-social worker shall attend the conference. # If the parent requests it, a school administrator will attend the conference.

M A student will not return that school day to class or school activity without the approval of the teacher or school principal.

The school board will adopt a nolicy spelling out the types of conduct for which a student can be given a "snap suspension."

■ The policy will be included in the school board's code of student conduct.

Civic leaders make their case on local control

STAFF WRITER rpearl@oe.homecomm.net

A rally in Lansing last week by municipal leaders from across Michigan intended to halt a bill seen as a major threat to communities' right to self-government appears to be working.

One of House Bill 4777's cosponsors, state Rep. Andrew Raczkowski, R-Farmington Hills. told officials from Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties Wednesday that it likely will be changed or allowed to die.

Raczkówski, who also is majority House floor leader, schedules the House voting agenda.

However, he warned, there likely will be new legislation retaining "the flavor" of House Bill 4777.

The bill originally was aimed at killing Detroit's "living wage" provision in its contracts and preventing other municipalities from instituting it.

But the Michigan Chamber of Commerce - spurred by Marquette's smoking ban - added 21 provisions. The bill was further linked to 14 new proposals still to be introduced.

Furthermore, local officials heard the bill was on a "fast track" to passage - a charge Raczkowski vehemently denied.

Other assurances of the bill's pending demise came from state Sen: Thaddeus McCotter and state Rep. Laura Toy, both Livenia Republicans.

"Put away your pitchforks and torches. From my perspective, I think you're right." McCotter told officials at the spirited anti-4777 rally Wednesday at the state capitol building.

And Livonia Councilman John Pastor, one of more than two dozen metro Detroit officials on hand, said Toy told him the bill "a. is" won't pass.

But, despite McCotter and Toy, the verbal "pitchforks and torches" remained out.

"The audacity of this bill is overwhelming," said big Jim Barker, the bear-sized mayor of Garden City, to cheers.

"I'd like to tell these legislators to keep their grubby hands out of Garden City," he boomed.

His city, like many others, passed a resolution opposing HB

'Under attack'

Councilwoman Vicki Barnett of Farmington Hills, the city that led Wednesday's rally, said HB 4777 had put both home rule and free speech "under attack."

We now "have the right to complain" and get changes made if a local government "does something people don't like," she said.

But HB 4777 would curtail. those rights and also those of elected officials and administrators to assure "quality of life" for residents and businesses in housing, zoning ordinances, noise and traffic control and pollution.

She said the right of a community to zone church locations, for example, would be removed in HB 4777 "with no concern" for traffic problems.

The bill, however, claims freedom of religion is being infringed.

Barnett suggested House members follow "the government version of the Golden Rule: Let the state do unto the locals as they would like the feds to do unto them."

Bates called HB 4777 a gross abuse of power." She said the expanded bill was "like taking an elephant gun to kill a gnat."

Bates said, "We should have a place at the table when these bills are being drafted. We should be consulted on bills that impact on local government."

Regarding Raczkowski's cosponsorship of the bill, Bates said he "really didn't completely understand the bill" at first and probably was honored to be invited as a co-sponsor by "people he has respect for."

But, she said, "Rocky did not come through city government on his way to the state House.

'I'd like to tell these legislators to keep their grubby hands out of Garden City.'

and "so is not sensitized" to what local officials deal with.

Farmington Hills Mayor Aldo Vagnozzi, defending Detroit's living wage provision by noting that 80 percent of its citizens voted for it, said it lifts people up to the poverty level and requires some kind of health insurance" for them.

'We'll pay'

"If: they, don't have health insurance, the rest of us will be paying for it," he warned.

The Hills mayor also had one of the better quips about HB

"I read the bill in Italian," he said. Spoken in Italian, it sounds even worse: It would prevent the pope from standing on his balcony."

Pastor of Livonia agreed the bill would "limit our ability to create our own quality of life.". The city's right to pass signage ordinances, building codes and have site plan approval, for example, "should remain," he said.

But he agreed with other provisions in HB 4777 that would prohibit municipalities from legislating on banking and occupational health and safety matters.

Troy, where HB 4777's other main co-sponsor, Republican State Rep. Bob Gosselin, was once a city councilman, sent a busload of delegates to the rally.

"We loved him on the city council," Mayor Jeanne Stine deadpanned. "If memory serves, he got term limits passed in our city government, so you know how much we love him."

Plymouth Township trustee Chuck Curmi also attended the rally.

Detroit and Downriver communities and the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments were represented, as were Lansing and metropolitan Grand

Falun Dafa offers slow exercise and paths to peaceful living

BY RENEE SKOGLUND STAFF WRITER rskoglund@oe.homecomm.net

Its practitioners say it's the way to the truth. Its opponents claim it's a threat to their government.

Yun Xia Guo of Canton said practicing Falun Dafa, now banned in China, has brought her peace, health and enlightenment. Once an atheist, the 23year-old University of Michigan student is now a convert.

She feels physically stronger, more focused, and better able to control her appetite and temper. "I'm peaceful most of the time. I don't feel so down or so up."

Like Tai-chi, Falun Dafa involves a set of slow-moving exercises. It can be practiced alone or with a group. Guo often meets with a few people on weekends, including her sister, Yung Ping, in the gazebo in Heritage Park.

Falun Dafa has become a way of life for its followers, said Guo. who came to this country from China in 1992. "It's like a personal conduct. It teaches you to follow the three elements of the cosmos - truthfulness, benevo-

Guo emphasized that Falun Dafa is not a religion. It has no formal structure, and there are no temples or churches. It is free of religious, political and commercial motivations, claim its followers.

Falun Dafa has spread worldwide by word of mouth and through the Internet, According to information on the Michigan Falun Dafa website, there are now more than 100 million practitioners in Asia, Europe, Australia and North America.

"I'm not sure how to define it. We call it a mind and body cultivation, a spiritual guidance. It enlightens," said Guo.

That fact that some followers claimed cures for illnesses was a basis for Falun Dafa's initial popularity. But, more importantly, it has cured souls, said Guo.

Falun Gong, from which Falun Dafa derived, was founded in China in 1992 by Master Li Hongzie amidst a climate of social discontent. The idea of a market-driven economy was beginning to take hold. Many people no longer had the protection of the "iron bowl," China's practice of assigning life-long jobs.

"But now, it's broken. They encourage that you define your own job," said Guo.

Also, people were resenting Western influence on Chinese culture while, at the same time, doubting Communism: "I believe people were sort of lost," said Guo.

Master Li, who has resided in New York since 1995, no longer gives any classes, said Guo. But his followers conduct public activities all over the world free. The movement is growing exponentially.

Guo, who once explored Christianity, Buddhism and Islam, wants to share the wisdom of Master Li.

A free 9-day seminar was held from Sept. 15 through Saturday. Sept. 25 (except Sept. 19 and 20) from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m at Auto Nation on Ford Road. The workout sites closest to Westland are in Canton at Heritage Park on the weekends. Sessions are also held in Ann Arbor Sunday mornings at Gallup Park.

A new series of demonstrations will be held in the next few weeks in Ann Arbor, Guo said Friday.

She is hoping the curious will become converts. For more information, contact Guo at (734) 207-3577. Internet information of Falun Dafa is available at http://www.umich.edu/~falun/

House approves a 4-day Labor Day school holiday

BY MIKE MALOTT HOMETOWN NEWS SERVICE mmalott@homecomm.net

Labor Day weekend will be a four-day break for school kids in the coming years.

On its first day back in session for the fall, the Michigan House of Representatives reversed itself and voted to mandate that school districts close down the Friday before Labor Day. The same bill was repeatedly rejected by the House this spring.

"It was rejected more than Wrice, and it was by a solid marin," House Speaker Chuck Perricone, R-Kalamazoo Township, said. "My thought was that if we try to engage in that debate the first day back in session, we have a lot of factors going in our

BY BRAD EMONS SPORTS WRITER bemons@oe.homecomm.net

The Lakes Division football race began to take shape Friday as host Westland John Glenn remained unbeaten with a hard-fought 17-7 win over visiting Farmington. The Rockets, behind the running of senior tailback Eric Jones (28 carries for 211 yards) and stout defense which limited the Falcons to 170 total yards, improved to 5-0 overall and 3-0 in the Lakes side of the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Farmington, meanwhile, drops to 3-2 and 2-1.:

The 5-foot-11, 190-pound Jones, who had to earn most of his yards on second efforts much of the night, broke the game open with an electrifying 74-yard dash to the end zone with 6:16 remaining in the game to provide the final margin of victory.

"We ran a little basic counter play and he (Jones) was fortunate to break out of there," Glenn coach Chuck Gordon said. "Eric ran very hard for us."

The Rockets led 10-0 at intermission. They took advantage of a Farmington fumble on the Falcons' initial drive of the game. Glenn's Nick Rogiero fell on the loose ball at the Farmington 20. Quarterback Randy Sinnott scored on a 1-yard sneak with 8:22 left in the first period.

Franklin pulls out wild OT victory vs. Spartans

BY BRAD EMONS SPORTS WRITER

ton.mmonemonleg@gemenet

Weird, bizarre and wacky.

That was the story Thursday as host Livonia Franklin overcame 42 turnovers and nine of 21 free throw shooting, while squandering a 20-8 halltime lead before pulling out a 48-43 girls basketball overtime victory over city rival Stevenson.

Franklin is now 5-3 overall and 2-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. Stevenson drops to 3-2 and 1-1.

The one-two punch of 5-foot-11 senior forward Tero Morrill, who had a teamhigh 21 points, and 5-9 Lisa Balko, who added 12 points and 11 rebounds. proved to be the difference.

The Franklin due offset the point production of Stevenson junior guard Lindsay Gusick, who had 21 of her game-high 23 points in the second half.

The Spartans, shooting an anemic three of 21 in the opening half (14 percont), got back in the game in the third quarter by nailing four triples with Gusick and Abby Schrader (eight points) nailing two apiece.

"They went from an inside to an outside game in the second half," Franklin coach Warner said. They were more accurate with their shooting and we didn't take away their three point sheoters right away."

The Spartans eventually took the lead, 38-35, with 2:17 remaining in regafation play when Gusick converted a three point play.

But the Spartans failed to work the elock correctly and Fyanklin tied it on reserve guard Stephanie Polkowski's banker off the glass for a trey.

Gusick countered with another basket, but Morrill answered to send the Please see WILD VICTORY, BZ game into OT at 40-all. Another key play was Kerstin Marshall's block by Gusick for the potential game-winiter with 12 seconds left.

Stevenson then cooled off consider ably during the four-minute extra session, missing all 12 of its field goal attempts from the floor

Meanwhile, Franklin had only one field goal in OT (by Morrill), but it was two free throws from Polkowski with 39 seconds left that put the Patriots inthe driver's seat, 47-43.

"Our girls were a little down on themselves in the third quarter, it was a bad quarter," said Warner, whise team was outscored 16-8. But their they pulled together as a team. They moved the ball better on offense and things opened up a little more.

"But give Stevenson credit, too. They were down and came back." - !

With lead assistant coach bori Shingledecker away scouting and out of the building, the Spartans went to the bleachers for coaching help.

Bill Leaga, an AAU coach and father of Stevenson guard Melanie Leagar momentarily took the reins as the Spartans made a 9-0 run. He remanged. on the bench and stayed with Rozman to finish the game.

"This was bad timing and I take fullresponsibility." Rozman said. "I was inno condition to couch. I didn't realize it until it hit me."

"To play championship football you can't turn it over," Farmington coach John Bechtel said. "That was a seven-point gift. We didn't get many breaks and that was the difference in the game."

Glenn's Jeremy Catarino booted a 27-yard field goal 53 seconds into the second quarter to give the Rockets a 10-point cushion.

Farmington's defense then made some adjustments to contain Jones, who had 12 carries for 54 yards in the opening quarter; by moving their linebackers inside. The Falcons moved eight or nine men into the box.

The Falcons tried a 41-yard field goal with 3:38 left in the half, but came up short.

"At halftime we told our kids to keep their poise and realize it was a 48-minute game," Gordon said. "We knew it would go four quarters and we would have to play hard. They'd have to be tough physically and mentally. It would take a great team effort."

Two costly penalties stymied Glenn's drive to start the third quarter and Farmington. responded as quarterback Grant Weber directed a 12-play, 82yard drive capped by his 1-yard TD sneak. Stephen Wayne's extra point cut the deficit to 10-7 in the third period.

"We had to be patient and run the ball to keep it away from Weber because we have a lot of respect for the guy," Gordon said. "We just had to stay with the plan.

"And our defenders better be where they were supposed to be. Just stay where you belong because he (Weber) can create creases with his fakes."

Bechtel said time of possession was pivotal in the matchup.

"We were confident we could drive the ball, but we didn't get he ball enough to get things going," Bechtel said. "They did a nice job of containing. Especially number 25 (Nick Paddock). He's heckuva player for them."

But it was Jones' long TD

passing for 70 yard. He was the which broke the Falcons' back.

"Their game plan was to hit us to the short side, they've done it in the past," Bechtel said. "You just don't make mistakes. We did and Glenn didn't. That's coaching, that's the program. We've made some headway, but we're not there yet. I'm proud of our kids and our coaches."

With one more victory, Glenn will earn its 11th playoff appearance under Gordon since 1985. But it won't be easy as the Rockets face another stern test Friday at Livonia Stevenson.

"Each of these teams present problems of their own, we just have to improve each time out,' Gordon said.

Langston scored on a 27-yard run to end the first quarter, then added scoring runs of 41 and 10 yards early in the second. A Jon Campion interception of a John Bennett pass, and his 20-yard return for the TD, with 7:07 left in the half gave the Mustangs their 28-7 lead.

Divine Child thumps Blazers

It was a showdown of sorts. Problem was, Livonia Ladywood's shooters didn't show up.

In an early-season battle for supremacy in the Catholic League's Central Division, host Dearborn Divine Child fended off the Blazers until the fourth quarter - at which point the Falcons just pulled away to a 57-40 triumph Friday at Divine Child.

The win kept the Falcons perfect at 7.0 overall... 2-0 in the division. Ladywood is 6-2 overall, 1-1 in the division.

The Blazers, coming off an emotional thumping of defending state champion Birmingham Marian last Tuesday, managed to keep it close with Divine Child through three quarters. They trailed 13-8 after one quarter and 20-15 at the half; at the end of three quarters, it was 37-31.

"We just missed some good opportunities," said Ladywood coach Andrea Gorski. "We just shot really poor," Indeed, Ladywood connected on just 13-of-51 shots from the floor (25 percent) for the game.

A 15-6 final-quarter surge by the Falcons finished the Blazers. Liz Obrecht led Ladywood with 10 points and nine rebounds; Melissa Harakas. added seven points, three assists and two steals.

Henry Ford halts Lady Ocelots' win streak

The streak is over.

Too bad for Schoolcraft College's volleyball team. The Lady Ocelots streak of consecutive wins was snapped by Henry Ford CC Thursday at SC which was bad news indeed.

But the good news was far better. Because while SC may have lost a game (after winning 11 in a row), it still won the match, beating their Eastern Conference rival Hawks 9-15, 15-3, 15-12, 15-12. "They're doing very well," said the Ocelots' coach, Tom Teeters, his team now 11-7 overall and tied for first in the conference with Henry Ford and St. Clair CCC at 4-1. "I thought Danielle (Wensing) did a great job for us setting."

Wensing (from Livonia Franklin) was indeed hot, collecting 52 assists to kills - an average of 13 per game. She also had a team-best 17 dig- and two service aces.

COLLEGE VOLLEYBALL

Lauren Ruprecht (Livonia Churchill) and Nicole Boyd (Franklin) were the beneficiaries of many of those sets. Each had 23 kills in the match. Ruprecht also had 11 digs.

Rebekah Thornton added five kills, one ace and two blocks, while Amanda Yaklin had 13 digs and Cindy Maloof 12; each also had one ace.

Seven different Ocelots registered kills in the match, something Teeters believes will increase even further.

"I think you'll see us go more in that direction," he said, his team now riding a seven-match winning streak. "As (Wensing's) setting gets stronger and stronger, it'll open up even more options for

Nastally lifts R&D

BY RICHARD L. SHOOK STAFF WRITER

R&D/Easton was looking for a good substitute pitcher to help it in the USSSA Super Major World Series.

It found one in Westland: Scott Nastalty, a 1989 graduate of John Glenn High Nastally pitches for the Journeymen of Michigan, which has made a name for itself nationally with its tournament performances.

"We were at the World Tournament in Liberty Park," Nastally said. "They approached me and wanted to know if I would be interested in pitching for them.

I said 'yes,' after our season was over."

So R&D/Easton of Lima; Ohio, a power at the national Super Major level, had Nastally join them for a weekend of play prior to the recent Super Major World Series in Cocoa Beach, Fla.

R&D/Easton won the tournament, winning five of six games in the 16-team field including a 20-16 victory over Dan Smith/Worth in the title game.

Much of it was due to the efforts of 'Scooter' Nastally, a slowpitch softball pitcher who floats a knuckler up to the plate to mess up the timing of the sluggers.

It does.

Slowpitch softball played at the Super Major level is a lot different than neighborhood leagues. Some teams boast 300-pound sluggers who specialize in booming home runs. Others feature players who look like linebackers who do the same thing.

Speed in the outfield and infield defense are a must.

Dan Smith/Worth, R&D/Easton's chief rival this season, came out of the loser's bracket to force an extra game with a 13-9 victory.

R&D/Easton came back to take the title, 20-16, in the rematch.

Wendell Rickard of Dan Smith/Worth was named tournament MVP for hitting nine home runs and driving in 25

That irked R&D/Easton sponsor Moe Tackett because traditionally the tournament MVP comes from the winning

"Our pitcher, Scott Nastally, should have been MVP," Tackett said. "We won the tournament. We won the big one. We're No. 1."

"If Scooter isn't pitching for us," R&E/Easton manager Cobbie Harrison said, "there's no way we could win the tournament."

Nastally hit .538 (7-for-13) and made the All-World team.

R&D/Easton opened the tournament with an 11-5 victory over Charlie Rose/Easton of Calfornia, then edged Team Easton, 17-16, with a 13-run fourth-inning that erased a seven-run deficit.

Next to fall was Team TPS, 12-10, before the 8-3 win over Hendu's/Long Haul. The two games against Smith/Worth followed...

The tournament was played on fields which measured 360-Pitching at that level is a feet down the foul lines, 385feet in the power alleys and 410-feet in center.

Livonia auto dealer promotes Sunday's State Theatre card

BY BRAD EMONS SPORTS WRITER bemons@oe.homecomm.net

Most weeks, New Car Alternatives of Livonia is dedicated to the sale and service of used cars.

But last week, the Plymouth Road dealership's showroom was partly transformed into a boxing gym. The public was able to watch boxers go through sparring sessions, while tuning up for Sunday's card at the State Theatre in Detroit. Fans also met the boxers and got autographs.

New Car Alternatives owner Al Tanski of Plymouth, who made space available in his showroom to help promote the card, has become converted boxing fan.

"I guess I'm intrigued by it," Tanski said. "It's controlled aggression in a controlled environment. I think it's a good atmosphere to let out your aggressions. There's just too much violence outside the ring, and that's not good."

New Car Alternatives, which has 17,000 square feet, including the old Garfield Auto Parts store across the street (between Wayne and Stark roads), recently celebrated its third anniversary.

"We're a full service center with an off-sight body shop," Tanski said. "We buy most of our cars from the south, mostly from Georgia and Tennessee, which we feel have a cleaner look to them."

The headliner on the card is 20-year-old Windsor native Amy Tunks, who will be making her pro debut against Christine Miller, a former kick boxer from Ohio.

Billed on the card as "Hit Woman 2000," the 6foot-3, 135-pound Tunks is compared favorably with Thomas "Hit Man" Hearns.

Tunks' trainer is Detroiter Jesse Robinson, who once had a contract to manage and train former WBC women's champ Christy Martin. Robinson predicts great things from Tunks, who also wants to embark on modeling career.

"Her goal is to break Hearns' record and her main goal is to become world champ and draw the biggest women's purse ever," Robinson said. "Everything is set up for her. The sky is the limit. She's going to be the Bill Gates of boxing.'

Tunks, who played various sports growing up, including basketball in high school, met Robinson one night at a Detroit nightclub.

At the time, Tunks had fallen prey to smoking and drinking, while trying to work a job during the day as a landscaper.

Robinson invited her to the gym, and liked what he saw. After watching her spar two rounds against a Canadian women's champion, the Detroit trainer was convinced Tunks had the mind-set, ability and heart to become a great

"The other sports just weren't challenging enough," said Tunks, who sports a Michael Jordon No. 23 tattoo on the back of her neck. "I just started hanging out a lot. I was just young and wild. But there was something missing."

Getting up at 5 a.m. each morning and running five miles gave Tunks the discipline she needed.

"I can't tell you what boxing did for me," Tunks said. "After training, I'm just too tired to do something else."

Tunks, who likes to stick foes with the long left jab, would some day like to get into photography or architecture. She's also a rapper, poet and painter. "The brightest star in the sky is not as bright as my eyes," Tunks said. "And I'm amateur enough to know that I want to turn pro."

"We want to keep her consistent," he said. "She's got to be physically fit. The dedication to the sport is hard. You can't do it part-time."

Tunks will not be the only boxer on the card. Undefeated light-heavyweight Cleveland Nelson (10-0) will face veter Arthur Willis in an eight-round matchup. Super-middleweight Demetrius Jenkins (15-4) takes on Maurice Brantley in another eight-rounder. Two unbeaten junior-middleweights, Kenito Drake (8-0) and Michael Warrick (6-0) tangle in a six-rounder, while light-heavyweights Damon McCreary (3-0) and Rashid Lee (5-7-2) square off. Doors open tonight at 5 with the card starting at

Glenn blanks rival Wayne in city tussle, 4-0

At least the week ended better for Westland John Glenn's soccer team than it began.

After a pair of frustrating performances that resulted in a tie and a loss for the Rockets, they put things together Friday and blanked crosstown rival Wayne Memorial 4-0 in a non-league match.

The win gave Glenn a 3-5-2 overall record. Wayne is 1-6-1.

Derek Gismondi supplied Glenn with the early lead, converting a pass from Nick Sharoian in the first half.

Once the second half started, it didn't take the Rockets long to assert themselves. Jeff Shelby scored off a pass from Matt Trussler two minutes into the half, and two minutes after that Jason Brunett made it 3-0 on a pass from Gismondi.

Jeff LeBlanc capped the scoring midway through the second half, with Trussler picking up another assist.

Jeff Ballard was in goal to earn the shutout.

Last Wednesday, Glenn jumped out to a 2-0 lead on Western Lakes Activities Association Western Division favorite Northville, scoring twice in the first 10

"You can't give Northville anything." said Glenn coach Jerry Poniatowski. "They're a darn good team."

Shelby gave Glenn the early lead on a set-up by Trussler in the game's first 90 seconds. Jeff Ruppel then headed home a shot off a throw-in by Gismondi, making it 2-0 with 10 minutes elapsed.

It was 2-1 at the half before the Mustangs took command in the second half. Last Monday, Glenn and Walled Lake

The benefits are many, including an expanded awards program, bonding against loss of league funds due to fraud, theft, burglaries and holdups.

Deer baiting limitations

Archery season brings new baiting guidelines

OUTDOOR INSIGHTS

There has been a tremendous amount of confusion surrounding the new deer baiting regulations handed down by the state Natural Resource Commission.

With opening day of the archery season just around the corner hunters should be aware that there are restrictions across the state.

In the tuberculosis management area - north of highway M-55 and east of I-75 — it is unlawful to use bait of any kind to take deer. Earlier this year the NRC voted to allow limited baiting in the TB management area.

However, at its July meeting, after receiving a mandate from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the commission reversed its decision and voted in favor of a total ban on deer baiting in the TB management area. In the reminder of the state:

•No deer bait can be put out before Oct. 1 or after Dec. 15.

•Quantity of bait is limited to five gallons on the ground and no more than five gallons per day at any one site.

• Any type of food material may be used except salt blocks. •Bait must be scattered on the ground and not placed in a pile.

•Use of mechanical feeders is illegal. · Food plots, naturally occurring foods, standing agricultural crops, or food that is in place as part of normal farming practices are not considered bait.

Fishing access improves

Three cheers for Oakland County Parks!

Thanks to a recent grant. Oakland County Parks will enhance fishing access to inland lakes in three area parks.

A handicap-accessible floating dock will be built on Crooked Lake at Independence Oaks in Clarkston and new concrete boat ramps will be built on Lake Sixteen at Orion Oaks in Orion Township and on Buhl Lake at Addison.Oaks near Oxford.

Oakland County Parks received a $20,000 matching grant from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources Inland Fisheries Grant Program to be used to improve fishing access and opportunity.

The state awards grants annually, but this is the first time Oakland County Parks has been a recipient.

Antlerless tags available

More than 130,000 leftover antierless deer permits will be available for over-the-counter purchase this week at retail sales outlets across the state.

Some 52,253 leftover private fand antierless permits go on sale beginning at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Sept. 29. (See related chart.)

The DNR has installed additional computer software that gives it the ability to use 300 telephone lines in the Retail Sales System. That's an increase if 75 lines over last year's capacity and 180 more lines than were used in 1997.

General antierless permits can be used either on public or private land - with the land owner's permission — within the respective DMU.

Private land permits are valid only on private land within the respective DMU. To purchase private land permits a hunter must provide a property tax number and the land owner's phone number for at least five acres in southern Michigan or the Upper Peninsula or 40 acres in the northern Lower on which he/she has permission to hunt.

Antlerless permits are again a stand-alone license and no other license is required to be legally afield.

Hunter's help sought

The DNR is asking goose hunters to participate in a research project by donating the heads and tails - with the sex organs intact — from hårvested Canada geese.

Using the bill size and the sex of each goose, biologists will be able to analyze the harvest of local geese versus migrant geese in order to measure the effectiveness of season dates at decreasing migrant harvest while increasing the harvest of resident

"Data from Michigan hunters will ensure we are able to provide the greatest amount of goose hunting opportunity while helping to build the Mississippi Valley population, said Greg Soulliere, the DNR's wetland and waterfowl specialist.

Parts from individual birds should be bagged together and frozen, with the date and county of kill and the hunter's name included in the package. Frozen parts may be delivered to any DNR field or district office. Include the words "Attention Wildlife Division" on the package.

(Anglers and hunters are urged to report your success. Questions and comments are also encouraged. Send information to: Outdoors, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, MI 48009. Fax information to (248) 644-1314, send e-mail to bparker@se.homecomm.net or call Bill Parker evenings at (248) 901-2573.)

When a forest reaches a particular age without disturbances by man, either of these two tree species combinations could develop — if the conditions are right for their growth. Many factors will determine which tree

Everyone can grow where.

An early successional forest developing from a once plowed field will have aspen, choke cherry and maybe some white birch.

These sun loving trees will eventually die when trees like oak, hickory, beech or maple start to invade the area. They will shade out seedlings of the pioneer species and prevent them from maturing. Ultimately the forest will become primarily beech-maple or oak-hickory.

A forest is just one example of how living things exist in particular areas.

The same is true for aquatic plants. Some, like cattail, survive near shore where the water level is not too deep. Cattail need wet conditions, in fact, they are one of the plants that identify a wetland.

In water slightly deeper water lilies grow, but they too cannot survive when the water gets so deep that their stems become too long for adequate support of their leaves on the surface.

in water so deep sunlight cannot penetrate to the leaves. Without the ability to photosynthesize, plants cannot grow. The depth that plants can no longer grow depends, in part, on the clarity of the water. Fewer in a forest, take time to notice that their are limited kinds of trees in each forest. Look at the variety of leaves on the ground, their shapes and patterns, but look carefully again if you walk in a wet area, or a more open area, the trees there will be different.

CHEF JOSEPH STYKE

Warm up with soup, bread, firebrewed beer

ell, here it is, the end of September – my favorite time of the year. I love that sky of ... blue you only get in the fall, the beautiful, not-too-hot, nor too-chilly days, when there's just enough nip in the air at night so I can wear my favorite sweatshirt. Football is in full swing, and the Lions are playing pretty well this year.

The end of September is also the unofficial start of the home brewing season for many of us. In my household, it's also the start of soup-andbread season.

I was in the market a few days ago, with nothing planned, just checking out what looked good. Then it hit me - the mushrooms looked great, and there were so many kinds. What to make for dinner was an easy decision - mushroom soup and Porcini Sundried Tomato Bread.

Now that it's getting a bit brisk. you might want to try a real firebrewed beer such Rauchenfels Steinbier to go with your soup and bread.

Beer with a past

Firebrewed beer has an interesting story. Long ago, in a land far, far away, before there were metal brew kettles, stones were heated in a fire and added to large wooden barrels filled with wort to boil the beer. As technology enabled large metal kettles to be made, the style died out, except for an Austrian brewery, into the early 1900s.

In 1982, Gerd Borges read an article about firebrewed beer and decided to revive the style. He bought a stone quarry in Kütschachtal that contained a type of sandstone called grau-wacke. This sandstone can be heated to 2,200°F without exploding.

Rauchenfels is brewed at the Ewald Werner Brewery in Neustadt, Germany. It is made with an equal amount of malted barley and malted wheat and very soft water. The wort is brought to a near boil. A steel basket containing 880 pounds of stones is. heated outside in a fireplace that holds 212 cubic feet of beechwood. When the stones reach the right temperature, an overhead crane picks up the basket, brings it to the brewery, and lowers it into the brew kettle. The wort begins boiling dramatically, and a lot of the sugars are caramelized on the outside of the stones.

After hopping with Hallertau and Tettnang, the stones are removed at the end of the boil, placed in lagering tanks to await the beer after fermentation, then lagered for around 90 days. The result is a beer that is kinda smoky, toffee flavored, very smooth, with a nice balanced finish.

Here are my bread and soup recipes to enjoy with a Rauchenfels Steinbier. Renovations at the Box Bar in downtown Plymouth are moving right along. I'll keep you posted. PORCINI MUSHROOM SUNDRIED

- TOMATO BREAD 1 package dry yeast
- 3 cups bread flour 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 4 tablespoons honey
- 1 ounce dried porcini mushrooms
- 1 bunce sun dried tomatoes
- 2 cups hot water
- 1 cup hot water

Combine flour and salt in a food processor or mixing bowl. Bring mushrooms back to life in 2 cups of water and the tomatoes in I cup of water. Reserve . the mushroom water but throw away the tomato water.

You'll need 3/4 cup of the reserved water, cooled to 90°F. Dissolve the yeast and honey in the water and let it stand 10 minutes.

Judging guidelines

Even body thinks they make the best-tasting chilr. But what, you serve to friends and family on a Sunday afternoon is not necessarily a ly compétition style chib. said. Annette Horn, Great Lakes Region al Chili Cook off organizer and long time chili cook-off judge. If you're thinking about competing in a chili cook off, judges look for the following characteristics:

Good flavor. "I look for the yummy factor," said Horn. Meat texture. Meat and quality will determine tenderness and length of cooking time. You don't want squishy meat.

Visual factor. Meat must be cut in consistent pieces. Vegetables must not be visible. Consistency. Chili must not be too thick or too thin. Aroma. If it sinelfs good, it most tikely will taste good Color. Don't worry, color is not a factor in determining winders.

inger Broome and her 11-yearold daughter Kristin worked together to create Caramel Apple Pizza, one of this year's Michigan State Fair blue ribbon recipes.

The Broomes, long-time Canton residents, whipped up the delectable dessert, which was chosen as firstplace winners in the Land O' Lakes "Sweet Treat Team Championship" at the fair. They received a prize of $200 and will be asked to judge the competition at next year's Michigan State Fair,

"When they call you in first place. it's 'oh my gosh," said Ginger Broome, enthusiastically. She recalled the judges faces when they saw and tasted the dessert.

When asked what makes the recipe special, Ginger said the carmel-covered apples and cinuamon-peanut garnish can make it look just right. She emphasized the importance of presentation with any dish. When in doubt, she said, pit it on a doily!

If you are using a food processor, just add the tomatoes and mushrooms. If you are using a mixer, or mixing the dough by hand, cut the mushrooms and tomatoes into small pieces before adding flour.

Add remaining mushroom water and process or mix until dough becomes nice and clastic and pulls away from the sides of the bowl. You might need to add a little more water, just add a little at a time.

Knead dough for 15 minutes by hand, 8 minutes with a mixer, or 5 minutes in a food processor.

Turn dough out into a greased bowl, cover and let rise in a warm draft-free spot until double in size.

Preheat oven to 375°F. Place dough in a greased loaf pan and let rise again for 30 minutes while the oven is heating. Bake bread for 25-30 minutes or until the loaf sounds hollow when it is tapped.

About 10 minutes before the bread is done, throw 4 ice cubes into the bottom of the oven and close the door fast. This will create steam and give the bread a nice crust. Place bread on a wire rack

"I'm surprised every time I win a cook-off," said Vargo, who competed in four cook-offs, including the one in Plymouth, to qualify for the World Cook-off. "This pot of chili was good. I knew a half hour after it started cooking. It had the right spice and heat."

Denise's story

Sisters' unselfish love guides woman through bone marrow transplant

BY KIMBERLY A. MORTSON STAFF WRITER kmortson@oe.homecomm.net

s Denise DeRaud played Chinese jump rope with her daughters, she could feel her strength coming back. It was a significant event for the 36-year-old Redford resident, who was just three months out from a bone marrow transplant.

The weakness she felt in her arms and legs was a reminder of the physical limitations she still faced, but, mentally, the value of the moment was overwhelming. She was alive and being a mom to her two young daughters - something she cherished more than anything.

Turn of events

What DeRaud considered to be a "normal" life with her husband, Mark, and daughters, Sara and Colette, was turned upside down in January when she was diagnosed with an aggressive precursor to leukemia.

Denise had myelodysplastic syndrome (MDS), which had already transformed to acute leukemia, said her physician Dr. Voravit Ratanatharathorn, associate professor of Internal Medicine - University of Michigan,

"Patients who had the type of leukemia transformed from MDS are not curable with conventional chemotherapy. The only curative treatment is to perform a bone marrow or stem cell transplantation," said Ratanatharathorn.

Within a month she was undergoing an initial treatment of chemotherapy to destroy diseased bone marrow. She was back in the hospital at the end of April preparing both her mind and body for a bone marrow transplant,

One of DeRaud's two sisters, Annette Russo of New York, tested positive as a perfect match to be a bone marrow donor.

The morning of the transplant, May 10, DeRaud, Russo and their other sister, Michele Rice of Canton, gathered quietly in her hospital room to hold hands and pray.

"When we got to U of M, we went straight up to Denise's room and waited a few minutes for her to wake up. Then I told them both that we needed to hold hands and meditate together, the three of us - in order to gain strength," said Russo.

The women reluctantly separated so that Denise could get the rest she was desperate for after a grueling bout of chemotherapy while Russo went to another floor at the hospital and spent the next six hours having her bone marrow harvested.

During the procedure she experienced numbness in her limbs and mouth area, a common occurrence in bone marrow donors. As the marrow is being harvested, the donor is intravenously administered calcium that is stripped away during the collection. Her numbness however, became more profound, and doctors feared they would have to stop the procedure because she was experiencing one of the worst cases of hypocalcemia (too much calcium for her body to absorb) they had seen.

"After that, I pretended that I was okay," recalled Russo. "After they unhooked me, the doctor had to come check me out.... He wanted to keep an eye on me for a few hours - I didn't care I lasted through the entire collection."

After all the cells were harvested, the bone marrow transplant team from the Bone and Marrow Stem Cell Transplant Program at the University of Michigan performed a number of tests to ensure enough marrow was harvested. Russo said it was a tense waiting period for right.

'We had a camera and we wanted to take a picture of the bag of cells (Michele had tied a yellow ribbon around it), then we thought to take one of Denise and I holding hands while the cells went in. I remember looking into her the whole family. "I remember breathing a sigh of relief inside when all of it was finally in her, like Thank God, I was able to do it.' I didn't die on the way here, there wasn't a technical difficulty somewhere along the line or something crazy like that," said Russo.

"The care is highly coordinated," said Ratanatharathorn of the BMT team, "and its success, to a certain degree, depends on the support a patient receives from their loved ones.

"Marrow and blood stem cell transplantation is a very demand ing endeavor for the transplant team and the family. Without good family support, this procedure can never be successfully carried out.

"Mark, her hus-

Symbolic gesture

Both sisters and Denise's husband, Mark, assembled in Denise's room when the bag of cells was brought in for her to receive. Michele tied a yellow ribbon around the bag for good luck.

"That marked the beginning of her homecoming," said Rice. Russo said she remembered, "looking into her (Denise's) eyes and willing those damn cells to do their job right."

For DeRaud, the day was taxing. "I remember being pretty in and out of it." The last dose of chemotherapy toeradicate any remaining bone marrow took a toll on herphysically.

"That's the closest I was to death," said DeRaud. "One of the hardest things before I went into the hospital was that I was still feeling fine up until then. It was hard to accept that I had anything wrong with me.'

DeRaud was released from the hospital Sunday, May 23 - less than two weeks after the transplant. During those 13 days the 36-year-old woman went through her share of ups and downs: nausea, substantial weight loss, weakness and fatigue.

Russo said one of the saddest days she shared with her sister came just before she had to return to New

Bone marrow donor

"She was barely coherent and couldn't talk at all. She looked so pale and frail to me. Her body was failing her, and it was the worst feeling knowing that there was nothing I could do at that point to help her. I wished there was some way I could take all of her suffering away for a while and put it on me.

"I read to her from a spiritual book that she had there about courage and fighting disease, desperation and fear, I was fighting back the tears, trying to not let her see me filled with desperation and fear. That day will stay with me forever."

Life goes on

At home Denise's sister Michele was spending her days caring for DeRaud's children as well as her own, trying to keep things as normal as possible for the

The following are excerpts from e-mails reporter Kimberly A. Mortson received from Annette Russo, Denise DeRaud's sister, over the course of the last four months. Russo regularly updated our Observer staff writer on the health status of her sister who received a bone marrow transplant from her May 10; 1999.

Things are going better than a few weeks ago. As you already know, I left on the 18th and she was steadily going downhill. It was hard to leave like that. She pretty much didn't eat for 4 weeks and she was in a lot of pain. Then she started to turn around pretty quickly. I think she's just taking longer this time to get back on her feet and that is frustrating her. Hopefully, pretty soon, this will all be behind us - but not forgotten. It has really changed us all. Anyway, I'll let you know if there's anvthing major going on. Thanks again.

Annette

Just to give you an update, she was at the hospital today and things seem to be progressing pretty well. She had her first biopsy since the transplant last week and we have the all clear. She is still pretty weak though, and not able to function like she used to. We have a long road ahead of us in that respect. Mentally, she is a little frustrated but we're trying to keep her positive. Thanks for your thoughts and

Sincerely. Annette

July 29, 1999 Hi Kim,

About a week and a half ago, she was pretty down because she was feeling so weak, she was still throwing up and she got news that a schoolmate's uncle that had had a transplant around the same time that she did, had died. But things are better this week. She is actually starting to grow some hair back! I think it's an important milestone - psychologically at least. She hasn't thrown up for about a week now and her counts all look good. She still goes to the hospital once a week for blood work and also needs to have someone with her most of the time to help takecare of the kids. My sister Michele has really sacrificed a lot of her life over the last months — she is there pretty much 4 days a week with her kids, cleaning; cooking and taking care of the kids and the house. It's like another job for her. I don't know how she would have managed all of this without her. I guess we've all been there for each other in our own way- it's kind of nice to think what lengths we will go to help each other and to know that we'll always have each other no matter what. Sisters can be a powerful thing.

Aug. 11, 1999

I'll talk to you soon, Annette

Hi Kim.

She's been having some really great days. but still losing weight. She's around 103. She's not too concerned with that. As long as she feels well. I will be in MI from Aug 26-30 visiting both sisters and celebrating the 100 day passing. Hope you're having a great summer.

Aug. 16, 1999

Denise has her 100 day post appointment this Friday and they are going to give her a full workup — and hopefully decrease some of her meds. We had a really great weekend. I can't believe the difference from my last visit. She really kept up with us the whole weekend and didn't sit in "the chair" very much at all. Her energy level has increased dramatically. She is still really skinny, but I guess that's ok as long as she's feeling good. Take care and I'll talk to you soon.

Sept. 9, 1999

Yesterday Denise got back all cytogenet ics results from her biopsy and everything. yes everything was normal. No Q-5 Deletion present, no abnormal cells whatsoever. She was pretty excited. The hard thing now is to convince Denise to believe it and not divell on whether or not it is going to come back. Time will help that I guess. Annette

-aud. "Michele bathed, clothed and fed my children, ran errands, took them to school and made sure things were as normal as possible under the circumstances. I'm very lucky. I know she'll always be there for me and there's nothing she wouldn't do."

Rice continued to care for DeRaud and the rest of her family until mid-August when she was scheduled to take a two-week vacation. The trip coincided with a medical milestone DeRaud was about to reach: the 100th day from the BMT.

Day 100 after a transplant is an important milestone because most people who die after the procedure die during the first days, said Dr. Ratanatharathorn. Patients who survive 100 days will likely be free of subsequent serious complications, "although this is by no mean a guarantee," he said.

"It was sink or swim for me," said DeRaud, who was facing the prospect of being without sisterly support for the first time in nearly three months with her children, "and I did it!"

Slowly she has started to return to her routine with her husband and daughters. She began driving again, taking the girls to school, going grocery shopping, cooking meals and doing chores around the house.

There is still a risk of recurrence of her disease, but it is small, Dr. Ratanatharathorn said. There is also the risk that DeRaud's body might recognize that the stem cells are from a "stranger" and attack them. 🕟

In most situations this reaction can be controlled. "In about 10 percent of the patients, the reaction can be severe and cause life-long disability.

About a month ago DeRaud underwent the second biopsy

and DNA fingerprinting since the transplant to find out if all of her bone marrow cells were that of her sister's and not any

"The results came back normal. One hundred percent of my cells were Annette's. That's wonderful to hear," said DeRaud, "it's always in the back of my mind."

Her next biopsy will be at 180 days from the transplant. Once a year for the next five years she'll have to be hospitalized for a heart and lung biopsy. "Generally, if patients remain diseasefree after two years, the probability of relapse is extremely low, certainly not zero. I have seen patients relapse after eight or nine years after transplant, but this is a very rare event," added Dr. Ratanatharathorn.

Changed forever Each member of DeRaud's family has been affected by her illness in a different way. "I don't look at myself as invincible anymore. I worry more about my kids' future. I think more about after people are gone and what happens spiritually. And now I truly believe that certain things happen for a reason," said Russo.

Rice says she has a new-found thankfulness for her health. "I'm definitely closer to my sisters and feel like Denise's children are my own. Every day is a gift you never know what's going to happen."

DeRaud, her husband and children have been affected the most. The family has been looking forward to the fall and spending more time together.

"The worst part is over," said DeRaud. "Mark has been the pillar of strength, and somehow we made it. We don't wait to say things because you never know how much time you have. I'm Feeling a void All three sisters say the absence of their mother, who died from leukemia in 1995, has made this even more difficult to handle.

"The really sad thing has been not having a mother. I miss her and wish she was still here," said DeRaud.

Rice and Russo say their parents, Marie-Claire Williams and John Hopkins, would have been

"I believe my Mom and Dad had a part in all this," said Russo. Mark has said that there is a lot of my Mom in all three of us - her strength, courage and perseverance. I have to agree with him after all of this. I know she's out there somewhere looking out for us and smiling on us."

n a flight to New York City the other day, I read the New York Times, The Detroit Free Press, the Wall Street Journal, Wired Magazine and USA Today as I sat wedged in between two huge guys on one of those sardine-can rides courtesy of Northwest.

But I had no problem reading all these papers because there was no turning of pages.

I read them all on my Palm

I use the Palm V, a sleek little unit with a crisp little grey-scale screen. I wish, however, I had the latest version, the Palm VII and I will soon, when Palm Computing makes wireless e-mail and web browsing nationwide. Right now, that service is only available on the east coast. But I nevertheless was able to read Internet

V thanks to a great service called AvantGo.

From the AvantGo Web site (www.avantgo.com), you can download a little program that installs on your Palm and then, every time you hook up your desktop computer to the Internet and sync the Palm, it loads web versions of the newspapers on the handheld.

And the best news of all is it's free. It works on the older Palm III's, too, as well as many of the Windows CE machines.

There are dozens of newspapers and magazines that make their content available through the AvantGo Web site. You can select them from a menu after installing a seamless little application that goes out and grabs the material whenever you synchronize files with your Net-attached desktop

The amount of content the various sources make available online varies widely, from a little (the Free Press updates sporadically and not very completely) to a lot (USA Today and Wired Magazine's Web site versions of those newspapers on my Palm news service download numerous full-content stories and articles throughout the day).

Surprisingly, reading the stories isn't as difficult as you'd think. Granted, it does take some getting used as you scroll down the tiny screen. But when you consider that you can carry a full load of current stories from several newspapers in a devise that fits in your shirt pocket, you'll quickly adjust. And it only promises to get better.

Palm has been enjoying some great reviews from East Coast reporters who have been using the new Palm VII, which uses a wireless modem that works by radio signals to connect to the Internet. Sending and receiving e-mails from the back of taxicabs, downloading instant traffic jam reports and maps from the web and staying in touch with bosses and wives on the road has made them hardly complain about the steep $24.95 month access charges.

Palm is expected to roll out Palm VII coverage in 260 cities across the nation later this fall and many speculate that those high access fees will then be cut.

It can be quite brief, or last a lifetime - often even if substances are never used again. It is the presence of a substance addiction which is largely responsible for the illness.

Schizophrenia is the most common psychotic diagnosis made. Like SDIP, it is also a largely functional type of psychosis. Probably half of schizophrenic diagnoses are actually cases of SDIP! The onset of a SDIP can occur during active use of the substance; while stopping its use, or months later. One type of onset is diagnostic for the diagnosis. It is when these symptoms occur shortly after a resumption of usually moderate use of the substance- following a significant period of abstinence. There is always a marked decrease of desire for the substance with the onset of the psychosis.

I first made the diagnosis of SDIP 25 years ago in a 45 yearold executive who was doing well brother, he was confused and told his wife: "I'm afraid my car will tell my employer that I want to drink.

In fact, it was a company car, and his employer didn't want him to drink. It was this delusion and his being early in his recovery that led me to conceive of the diagnosis. After six months of weekly outpatient psychotherapy, he was able to safely get off all medication. His knowledge of the diagnosis helped to further motivate his abstinence. With the help of AA, he never drank alcohol again and remained free of any psychotic symptoms for his remaining 15 years.

The more chronic the dependency is, and the more substances are involved, the greater is the likelihood of an eventual psychosis. Alcohol, tobacco, marijuana and cocaine are the most common substances involved --though tobacco alone is unlikely to be a cause. The nature of the psychosis is largely independent of the substance used. All substance dependencies involve some degree of psychological regression. Enough regression

For example, some alcoholic persons know they are literally drinking themselves to death, don't want to die, but still do kill themselves this way. That degree of regressive power, if applied a little differently within the mind, can produce a psychosis. One man stated that either alcohol or being psychotic could make him "feel powerful and important."

Substance dependency treatment is an effective and specific treatment for SDIP patients. "Specific treatment" means that it can directly treat the cause of a disorder. In contrast, essentially only the symptomatic treatment of antipsychotic medication is available for the treatment of schizophrenia. Such treatment is often effective, but there are frequent unpleasant side effects and, occasionally, serious toxic complications of its use.

Almost all of the patients who qualified for outpatient treatment of their SDIP illnesses experienced better functioning and a lesser need for medication than had been the case under their earlier diagnoses. Much more impressive is the fact that, fully one-third of these patients eventually enjoyed a full remission of all psychotic symptoms. This means they no longer needed any medication and returned to normal functioning. The remissions would likely be permanent, provided they continued to abstain from all addictive substance use.

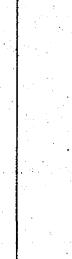

There was a Swedish study which revealed that, among army conscripts, heavy marijuana users later developed what was diagnosed as schizophrenia at a rate almost six times that for non-users. It also found that the premorbid personalities of the users were significantly betthan for non-using schizophrenic conscripts. These findings correlate well with my finding that SDIP-afflicted persons are usually less ill than those truly suffering from schizophrenia.

"Biological psychiatry" is the predominant scientific philosophy in psychiatry today- and it has strongly opposed the SDIP diagnosis. It greatly stresses the importance of biochemical theorizing and has an anti-psychological bias. Because of it, many psychiatric training programs have dropped any training in psychotherapy. "Biological psychiatry" believes that virtually all psychiatric disorders are eaused by genetically caused "chemical imbalances." But how could the complex psychological (information processing) functioning of our brains not be considered as "being biological?" One evidence for its strong ideological elements is what a President of the American Society for Biological Psychiatry

Health fair for women approaches

CITY OF LIVONIA

A series of health fairs sponsored by Blue Care Network will be held at six Michigan locations, beginning on Wednesday, Oct. 6 at Laurel Manor, 39000 Schoolcraft in Livonia. The event runs from 1 to 4 p.m. and is designed to educate women about health concerns.

"These events are free and open to BCN members as well as their friends and family," says Stacey Ott, health educator for Blue Care Network. "All women are welcome to participate and learn about disease prevention as well as to obtain information about agencies in their local communities whose goal is to help them stay healthy."

During the Women's Wellness Fair, women will be able to learn about their risk for high cholesterol, breast cancer, osteoporosis, skin cancer, thyroid problems, high blood pressure, depression and many other health problems that are of particular importance to women.

"Events like this wellness fair can provide critical information to allow women to maintain and improve their health and can also serve to reassure them about their current health status," Ott

"According to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, the percentage of women 50 years old and over who had a mammogram in the past two years more than doubled in the last decade — from 27 to 60 percent — and I think it's safe to say that health education was a key factor leading to this notable increase," Ott points out.

"But more work needs to be done. HHS also reports that almost one-third of adult women lead a sedentary life, and that the proportion of women who are overweight has increased from one in four to one in three over the past decade. For these and many other reasons, we urge women to take advantage of this wellness fair."

Of definite support to the SDIP diagnosis is an article citing that 80% of cases diagnosed as schizophrenic in state hospitals had an associated diagnosis. of substance dependency. Unfortunately, its author accepted the "biological assumption" that the mental illness comes first in these cases. But this is a theoretical assumption, and wasn't based on patients' histories:

· A therapist at a state hospitalmental illness/substance dependency ward reported that, in over half of such dual diagnosis cases, the dependency clearly comes first.

The Ann Arbor premier of Shostakovich's Symphony No. 13, "Babi Yar," will feature the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and conductor Neeme Jarvi, the National Male Choir of Estonia and bass/baritone Sergei Leiferkus, along with the Choral Union under conductor Sheets. The landmark work was set to a poem by Yevgeny Yevtushenko, a Soviet poet who condemned anti-Semitism in Russia and the massacre of 150,000 people, including 80,000 Jews, at Kiev by the Nazis during World War II.

"It's a towering work that has to do with the massacre of tens of thousands at the site called Babi Yar," said Sheets, an instructor and director of the choir at Oakland Community College in Farmington Hills. 'The emotionalrange of the piece is extremely broad, portraying in sound the suffering of others in the first movement to the irony of the last movement. It's also a challenge singing in Russian and in unison. Everyone singing the same note is difficult but imagine the sound of 135 men and a Russian baritone all singing it together on stage." University Musical Society president Kenneth C. Fischer said "Babi Yar" is but one of the highlights of the season featuring 81 performances of 60 different productions, and more than 150 educational events. The 121st UMS season features an array of internationally renowned recitalists and orchestras, dance and chamber ensembles, jazz and world music performers, and opera and theater from around the world.

"One of the highlights is the return of the Berlin Phil harmonic after their 35-year absence," said Fischer. "When you can have them come at all it's a real treat. They rarely tour. We had to plan well in advance. We've been working on the appearance 3-4 years and couldn't have done this, to bring this great orchestra to Michigan, without the help of German businessman Wilhelm Kast. It's the most expensive one-night show in UMS history.

"I'm also excited about the way we end the season April 22 with Wynton Marsalis and the Lincoln Center Jazz Orchestra doing a swing dance tour. What a hot night that's going to be."

In between the opening program spotlighting Anderson's new work co-commissioned by UMS, "Songs and Stories from Moby Dick," and the Lincoln Center Jazz Orchestra encouraging dancers to take to the floor at the Eastern Michigan University Convocation Center, the University Musical Society has planned a season that also includes Ballet Folklorico de Mexico, drummers of West Africa, and orchestras from all over the world including the Czech Philharmonic, the Gothenburg Symphony from Sweden, and the Russian National Orches-

The Choral Union, under conductor Thomas Sheets, returns to give its 121st performance of Handel's "Messiah" with the Ann urday-Sunday, Dec. 4-5, and Bach's "St. Matthew's Passion" April 16. The year 2000 marks the 250th anniversary of Bach's death.

From the beginning

The University Musical Society has come a long way in programming in the last 120 years. The nonprofit organization, which grew out of an 1879 performance of Handel's "Messiah" by the Choral Union, was established in December 1880 when it began presenting a handful of concerts featuring the Choral Union, and local and visiting artists and ensembles.

Today, UMS annually aims "to engage, educate and serve Michigan audiences by bringing a diverse spectrum of vigorous and exciting live performing arts to the community." Although affiliated with the University of Michigan, UMS is a separate organization depending on ticket sales (about 60 percent), corporate and individual contributions, endowment income, and UMS membership to support an operating budget of $6.3 million this year.

"The Choral Union was formed with members of four churches in 1879 who got together to sing 'Messiah,' " said Sheets. "It inspired an interest in bringing music of all types together - to reach out internationally and nationally for all the brightest stars and bring their unique light to Ann Arbor."

Fischer proudly lists some of the legendary artists who've appeared in UMS concerts over the years - Enrico Caruso (1919), the Vienna Philharmonic with Leonard Bernstein (1988), Rachmaninoff, and Benny Goodman who died just a few months after his 1986 Ann Arbor engagement. Thirteen of the most famous performances can be found in the recently released UMS cookbook, "Bravo!"

"There's legends, lores and recipes from UMS history," said Fischer. "It will give someone a flavor of what UMS is all about."

The cookbook is $29.95, plus 6 percent sales tax and $5 shipping and handling for the first copy, and $2 for each additional copy mailed to the same address. Call (877) 238-0503 or (734) 615-3589, weekdays 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. to place your order.

And just as "Moby Dick" is a novel to be interpreted on many levels, so too is the performance artist's latest intrigue. Anderson doesn't set out to retell the story in this 2 1/2 hour work. Rather, she utilizes it as a compass to navigate the dark waters of life, love and obsession.

Anderson and performers Tom Nelis, Anthony Turner and Price Waldman use video and projection art, dance, music, poetry and narration to capture the sense of profound wonder and disillusionment that is Ishmael's a few of the multisensory images conjured up in the rich, rhythmic moments that constitute this production.

The New York artist has an extensive history with cuttingedge technology, and she proves it again with a long, slim wireless device of her own invention called a "Falking Stick." With it. Anderson can replicate sounds or prompt phantom voices with merely a wave or touch. It is her way of representing the disembodied voices that tell the tale of the obsessed Captain Ahab on his ill-fated voyage of the Pequod.

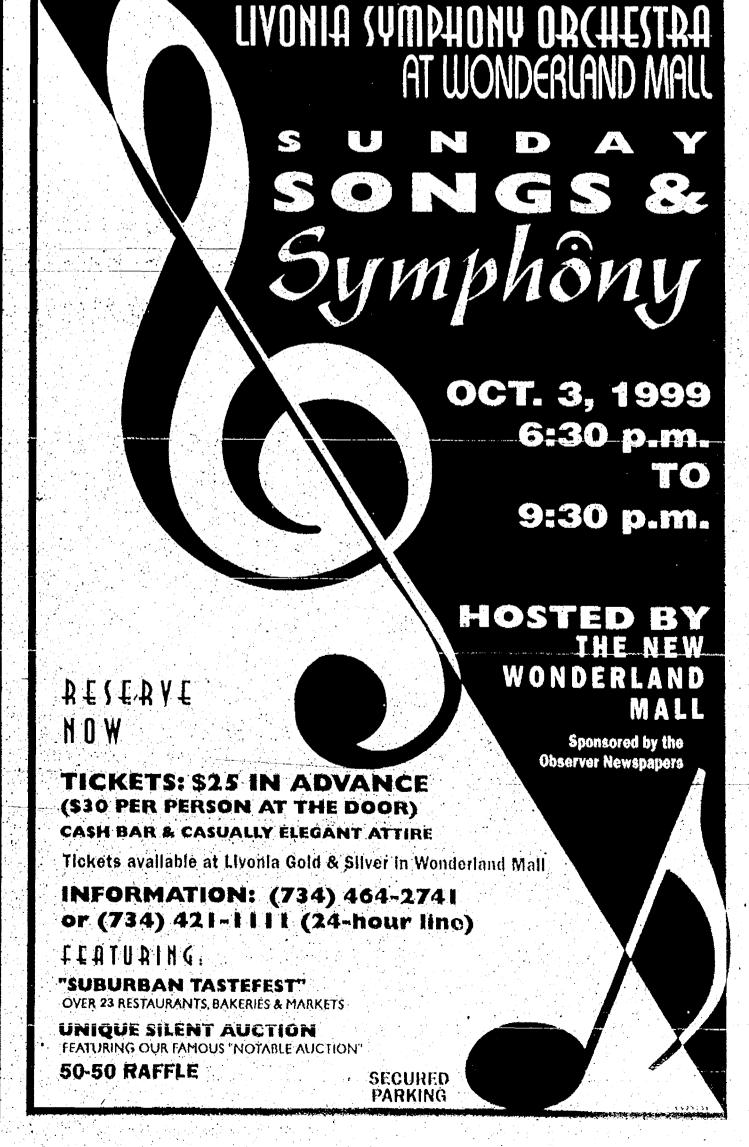

Anderson's performance art dates back to the early '70s when she performed "Duets on Ice" on a New York summer street. Wearing ice skates frozen in blocks of ice, the Columbia University graduate played her violin accompanied by taped cowboy music. The pool of melted ice signaied the end of the perfor-

In 1981, "O Superman," which subsequently appeared on the album "Big Science," brought her name into the mainstream - or at least into many dorm rooms when it gained wide popularity on college radio stations. With its repetitive glottal stops and heavily synthesized orchestration, Anderson experimented with techno music 20 years before it became a bona fide musical genre.

Anderson last toured the world with her solo show The Speed of Darkness" and her criticallyacclaimed multimedia stage production "The Nerve Bible."

'Flashpoint' takes readers by surprise

"Flashpoint" by Linda Barnes, (Hyperion, 1999), $22.95

ESTHER LITTMANN

of high drama. But novelist Linda Barnes has a knack for converting the mundane into a plot of mystery and intrigue. In her latest novel, "Flashpoint," an ordinary, true-to-life experience leads to a series of events that end in arson, burglary and murder. With recent employment pickings rather slim, private investigator Carlotta Carlyle agrees to burglarproof the apartment of eccentric grand dame Valentine Phipps. Returning to her flat with hardware and tools, Carlotta finds Valentine's lifeless body sprawled on the bedroom floor, below an open medicine chest and several feet from a cracked phone, its receiver off the hook.

Police determine foul play, and soon the 6-foot 1-inch redheaded detective finds herself dealing with some shady characters with big egos. Peritti, the ambitious landlord and commercial builder, stands to gain by Valentine's death. After all, he's been trying to evict her for some time now, so he could raze the old and erect the new. Music mogul Hohen, it turns out, has a secret connection to Valentine and is obsessed with finding the impoverished widow's last will and testament. And lawyer Henry Fine cares less about justice than about putting the proper spin on a case that might advance his career. It's Carlotta's job to uncover their hidden agendas and to locate the "article of value" the victim was so anxious to protect.

Hardly a loner, the former Boston cop readily elicits the help of her motley but dependable crew. There's Roz, Carlotta's sex-crazed but computer-literate, mural-painting tenant; Mooney, the handsome but sadeyed police detective; and Gloria, black, overweight, wheelchair-bound friend, who's a wellspring of information and sympathy. The appearance of Paolina, Carlotta's "Little Sister" whom she "adopted" while working on the police force, advances the plot while helping to establish the protagonist as a person with compassion and a social conscience.

Narrated in the first-person, the prose is both detailed and direct. Dialogues are brisk and sometimes sassy, counterpoint to occasional melancholy reflections on lost loves and failed opportunities. Though style rarely "overtakes substance" (Washington Times), the author's ear is finetuned to the poetic possibilities of language. Describing the experience of having a gun pointed in her direction, for example, Carlotta seems to hold her breath while she comments: "Time focused on a finger tucked into a trigger, on the necessary pressure, the impending tug."

Born and raised in Detroit and winner of the Anthony Award plus nominations for both Shamus and the American Mystery Award, Linda Barnes has written 12 mystery novels, eight featuring the tough yet sensitive Carlotta Carlyle. A former drama teacher, Barnes has also authored award-winning plays and short stories.

Options for sweaters are endless this season

Outside, the air is terpretation of yesterday's sweaters. We are even finding sweaters to be a big trend in designer arenas like the Oval Room at Hudson's. Of course, sweaters are just as important in clothing departments and stores that sell junior fashion. Nothing has changed in that arena. While the season's knit sweaters have the ease and comfort of a T-shirt, when they're layered under a suit or worn over a tailored bottom, any woman of any age will feel dressed-

I also love the neck lines and distinct details of the season's sweaters.

You'll see the all-important funnelneck, the split V-neck and the feminine scoop-neck. Making a comeback is the cowl neck.

With the weather being unpredictable at present, I am living in a scoop-neck sweater I purchased for $29 at Lerner New York at Oakland Mall. It epitomizes the ease to which I was referring earlier and fits well, too. While the season's sweaters offer

The mannequins at Ann Taylor are touting lustrous pick-me-up colors like pink, deep green and eggplant.

And, Abercrombie & Fitch is selling sweaters with the season's new, extralong sleeves, which are made to hang over the wrists.

At Anthropologie in downtown Birmingham, cropped sweaters are everywhere, from today's take on the shrug to the more classic cropped cardigan.

Anthropologics is also showing cropped knit crew necks that hit just below the rib cage. They are worn with a shell underneath to cover the navel. Available in an array of autumn and holiday colors, like pumpkin, spinach, and silver, the store's cropped crew necks sell for about $50.

The bottom line is sweaters are just right for fall. You can wear one to a Saturday afternoon little league game as easily as you can to a corporate luncheon.

PECIALTY SHOPS

Local store captures the East Coast aesthetic

By Ken Van Steenkiste staff writer

Birds: Wooden birds

are handcrafted.

About six years ago, Leonard Xerri went on a vacation to the Philippines for an old college buddy's wedding.

That short vacation turned into a lifelong career; it led Xerri to start importing East Coast-style decorative goods and eventually to open his own specialty store, New England Home.

Xerri, who lives in Romeo, opened his third New England Home store on Sept. 16 at Oakland Mall in Troy, following up on successful locations at Livonia's Laurel Park Place and Auburn Hills' Great Lakes Crossing.

While in Manila, Xerri noticed a fine line of handcrafted New England-style boats, gulls, ducks and other collectibles carved by local crafts people.

"The quality was so amazing, I couldn't believe it. I met some buyers who worked for importers in England and Europe who pointed out that no one in the United States imported this stuff," Xerri said. The proverbial little light bulb above Xerri's head went off, as he realized the unique opportunity that awaited him, as well as shoppers back home.

So, he began importing as a wholesaler, selling to upscale boutiques and high-end chain stores like Scott Shuptrine and Gorman's.

Xerri was quick to say he only deals with Philippine crafts makers who are his personal friends.

"I won't go into China because of that country's human rights violations. I know all my crafts men by name. I eat ding ner with their families when I'm over there, and we say prayers together that begin Dear God, please let Larry sell a lot of stuff for us," Xerri said.

The next stop was Laurel Park Place, where New Englind Home set a record for sales over a threemonth period shortly after opening.

Nev England Home's success draws on a unique product line with a rustic aesthetic, which is carried through to every feature of the store's interior

Antque tables of bleached and stained wood that Xerripicked up at estate sales for a pittance are displays for the store's New England-style collectibes, like wooden ducks, lighthouses and model ships.Prices range $5 to $529.

Xeri even makes his own store signs by hand. He sains paper with tea and then mounts it on foamboard. The result - signs with a unique weathered look that resemble parchment and cost next b nothing to make.

"Wewanted to make everything look antique, but we diln't want to spend a fortune. You have to get creative sometimes," Xerri explained.

To get creative," Xerri called upon the expertise of Macy McKinnon, an Oxford artist who specializes in Trompe L'oeil, French for the art of creating

"Wedidn't have enough money for carpet, but we didn' mind because you see carpet everywhere. And, we wanted to do something new, but we werei't sure what," Xerri said.

The solution - McKinnon painted the floors to resemble antique wood, and did a good enough job to fod the unsuspecting passer-by. She also refinishedan existing false fireplace with an imitation stonefacade complete with soot and smoke stains.

McKinnon's most subtle touch - painted on crack on the walls that could make a plaster workeverybody.

"We have little handmade Christmas ornaments that sell for $5 and plenty of items under $100, so that shows there's something for everyone here. Our stuff goes well with fine furniture, but we don't want to be a store just for the rich," he said.

Xerri's next move is to open additional stores in the Midwest, starting close to home in Ohio cities like Toledo, he said, adding, "We'd like to consider ourselves the next Crate and Barrel."

Specialty shops is an occasional profile of smaller stores with a unique niche. If you know about or own such a store, contact us at Malls & Mainstreets, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, Mich. 48009 or by email at nstafford@oe.homecomm.net

TRAVEL

Diverse Catskills only a day away from Detroit

PECIAL WRITER

In her 1969 tribute, Joni ditchell wrote, "We got to get wurselves back to the garden."

While the song "Woodstock" was written for the 1969 festival In Max Yasgur's farm in the Latskill Mountains, it is also a netaphor for leaving the chaos of the city in favor of the peace and solitude of the country.

Just a 10-hour drive from the Detroit area – the same distance s some locations in the U.P. and a two hour drive northwest of New York City, the Catskill Nountains, home of the original Woodstock Music and Arts Festi-*2val, offer not only music memosies but picturesque scenes of mature, remote tranquility and a tiost of wholesome activities for The traveler searching for relaxation and peace of mind.

The Catskill Mountains, in Southeastern New York, are in the central section of the Appalachian mountain chain and border the Hudson River. A Significant portion of the region Contains the Catskill Forest Prederve, a nature and wildlife pro-Dected area.

Writers and painters have Seen inspired by the majestic Serenity and views of the Catskills. Author Washington arving used the Catskills as the etting of his short story, "Rip Yan Winkle."

In addition, the area inspired The Hudson River School, the rst group of landscape painters o emerge in the U.S. after inde-Sendence from Great Britain. The aintings of Thomas Cole and sher B. Durand reveal landcapes of the area with a poetic, realistic attention to detail.

Larrived in Livingston Manor, N.Y., on a cool June night in the middle of a pounding rainstorm. The dark shadows of mountains and trees suggested beauty, but could see very little in the itch-black night. Upon waking, expected soaked soil and conditions unfriendly for exploration, aut my fears were unwarranted. 🖟 I awoke to sunny skies, chirping birds and chilly weather. Mountain temperatures tend to be a bit cooler than city temperadures, sometimes as much as 10 degrees, and for that reason the Eatskills are a popular weekend destination for weary city dwellers in search of relief from the hot, humid and stagnant air gf New York City, 🚩

Verdant: Deep, deep greens greet anyone taking an early morning walk along the winding roads in the Catskill region.

A morning stroll

An early riser and walker, once I started my morning walk any chill I may have had was quickly replaced with an increased heart rate and slight perspiration.

Like any mountainous region the Catskills have many small, narrow roads that snake around the hills - wonderful for fitness walkers. Fortunately, the roads were smooth and newly blacktopped, but at times I found myself walking up hills with fairly steep inclines. Though the walking was intense at times, the sights were breathtaking. Everywhere I looked was deep green, unspoiled foliage interspersed with yellow, orange and purple wildflowers.

On many occasions I spotted deer less than 20 yards from where I walked, happy to nibble at the greenery as I watched. While driving the winding roads, views from the tops of hills were of sparkling lakes and bubbling streams. Evenings around the campfire consisted of a palette of stars in the sky, the rustling of oak leaves in the breeze, and the sounds of coyotes bouncing down the valley.

Meeting the locals

Talking to locals, I learned that many of the towns in the Catskills have a core group of year-round residents that expands during the summer months as people populate the area for summer relaxation and fun. It isn't uncommon for the rich and famous to retreat to the area, as many of the summer

A local pointed out John Lennon's former summer home – a white, unassuming two-story cottage, about two miles down the road from where I stayed.

While many associate the Catskill Mountains with Woodstock, there is much more to this gem than music. It is home to a thriving literary community. Every June, the Catskill Reading Society sponsors the Outloud Poetry Festival, held this year in Clarysville. Some area poets who read their work were not only well-known in the Catskills but throughout the entire country, such as Ed Sanders, Andy Clausen, and Enid Dame.

Though the Catskills offer a lot to do, they can also serve as a place of rejuvenation. You can do as much or as little as you like, but if you opt for activities, there is nothing lacking.

The Sullivan County Visitor's Association offers five self-guided driving tours depending on your desired length and inter-

Covered bridges

You've heard of the Bridges of Madison County? Sullivan County is home to several covered bridges, which are the highlight of the 100-mile Historic Sites and Bridges Tour. This driving tour will take you past the Chestnut Creek covered bridge, the Halls Mills covered bridge, the Willowemoc covered bridge, the Livingston Manor covered bridge, and the Beaverkill covered bridgè.

The Catskill Fly Fishing Center Museum, on old route 17 in Livingston Manor, is one of the last stops on the driving tour. It offers special exhibits, a video room, examples of rods, reels and flies, and anything you can imagine about the science, history and literature of fly fishing.

Willowemoc Creek is nationally known for its great fly fishing. Many resorts cater to those interested in fly fishing.

The town of Roscoe, otherwise known as Trout Town USA, is the home of Junction Pool, a famous fishing hole, and winds up the driving tour.

In addition to fishing, hiking is a popular option. On my trip to Livingston Manor, a local friend told me about a little-used trail that led to a beautiful waterfall. Locals are usually a great source for finding these otherwise hardto-find gems. I discovered that the Catskills are filled with hidden waterfalls and trails just waiting to be discovered.

If canoeing is your forte, you may wish to try a water trip. Several outfits in both Pond Eddy and Barryville cater to the water-minded traveler with a plethora of options, from guided tours on placid waters to white water rafting, Wild & Scenic River Tours and Rentals is a popular outfit in Barryville that offers reasonable getaways via raft, canoe, or kayak, with riverfront camping. Call (800) 836-0366 for details.

Though the Catskills are wonderful in the summer, fall's changing colors are awe-inspiring. Fall is when the summer tourist season starts to thin out, leaving the area less crowded before the winter season picks

Winter brings a new multitude of options, such as cross country and downhill skiing, Many resorts cater to the winter traveler.
