School death lawsuit dismissed

A Wayne Circuit judge has ruled the staffers of the Wayne-Westland school district's Dyer Center weren't negligent in the death of a 24-year-old woman. The incident occurred the morning of Oct. 10, 1997.

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER delemCos.homecomm.net

A Wayne County judge dismissed a $2 million lawsuit filed by the mother of a mentally impaired woman who died in a Wayne-Westland school district swimming pool.

Circuit Judge Paul Terranes ruled that employees of the district's Dyer-Center didn't act negligently in the Oct. 10, 1997, death of Keya Perry, 24.

District attorney Suzanne Bartos maintains that Perry died of a seizure and that six employees pulled her from the pool and tried to help her.

But Southfield attorney Lawrence Buckfire, representing Perry's mother, Nancy, claims that Perry drowned and that employees didn't keep close watch on her in the pool.

Terranes dismissed the case Oct. 15. but Buckfire said he will file a motion by late November asking the judge to reconsider his decision.

If that fails, then Buckfire said he will file an appeal of Terranes' ruling because he believes a jury should hear

"I think the facts show that she died from drowning and not from a seizure." Buckfire said of Perry. "Why wasn't she properly observed? They (the employees) claimed they were watching her. Well, then they watched her

State's second in command at Glenn

By DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER delem@oe.homecomm.net

Lt. Gov. Dick Posthumus hinted Friday that Michigan families earning lower middle incomes could receive a tax cut - but he didn't indicate when;

Posthumus also suggested possible tax cuts to discourage urban sprawl as one of several measures to be discussed by state leaders,

He answered questions about potential tax cuts during an interview Friday at John Glenn High School, where he addressed roughly 100 political science students.

Posthumus, a former Michigan senator, predicted more tax slashing in the wake of 26 cuts he said he has already helped shepherd.

While talking with students, Posthumus touted 1994's school tax-slashing Proposal A as "the most important piece of legislation since the state constitution was adopted."

The law has helped close the gap between rich and poor public school districts, even though Posthumus conceded some inequities still exist.

Still, he said 90 percent of all public school districts now receive per-pupil revenues of $5,900 to $6,900.

During an interview, Posthumus didn't rule out that legislators may slightly tinker with Proposal A to help districts like Wayne-Westland, where officials say they've lost more than their share of money. But he didn't offer any guarantees, either.

Wayne-Westland Superintendent Greg Baracy said the district has lost nearly $40 million since Proposal A went into effect.

"The last person buried there was around February 1948," she said.

Johnson also has devoted many hours to restoring - and now preserving - the old oneroom Perrinsville school in Westland.

LeBlanc said in his nomina. tion that Johnson's work on behalf of Westland's history "is preserving the past for the future to enjoy."

Johnson, along with longtime city/ state legislator Thomas Brown, was one of the founders of the Westland Cultural Society in 1987.

"As founder and president of the Westland Cultural Society, she brought Concerts in the Park (behind the Westland library) to the city." Valovick said. "Country, big band, jazz, modern and bluegrass concerts have been appreciated by thousands of citizens throughout the years."

Johnson had served on the Westland library board until she stepped down last month. She and her husband also were long active in the volunteer Friends of the Library.

Johnson said her husband has more time to help her with volunteer work now that he has retired after working as an engineer with Ford Motor Co.

"Now that he's retired, we do a lot of the (volunteer) things together," Johnson said.

Johnson only held one parttime paying job, and that was at a Plymouth antique shop. Otherwise, all of her work has been volunteer.

Johnson found out she had been named First Citizen in a telephone call from Lori Brist. Westland Chamber of Commerce executive director. "I was very proud," Johnson

The play's the thing at Glenn

John Glenn seniors Bradford Clark, Corrine Garrett, Latoya Sealie, Alisha Hamilton and classmates wax enthusiastic about their time on the stage. Clark calls the theater "like a second home to me."

The student thespians are eager for the opening of "The Million-Heirs," with performances set for 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday, Nov. 11-12, and 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 14, at the Glenn High School Auditorium. Tickets are $5 for adults, $3 for students, and will be sold at the door.

The cast includes 32, said teacher Sheri Smith, director for the production. There are about 25 students in the crew, with all four class years represented in cast and crew.

"I hope they have fun," she said of the students. "It's a great way to learn commitment and responsibility while enjoying themselves.

The comedy by Delmar Burkitt was originally set at the turn of the century. The Glenn production is set in the 1950s, with the change basically for costuming.

"We just couldn't afford the cost of renting all the period costumes," Smith said.

The play tells the story of a gent who leaves each of his three grown children a million dollars, with a few conditions. The talkative son must not speak, while the shy daughter must sing on stage. The other son must fall in love and marry.

The John Glenn Theatrical Guild has been rehearsing for about a month, daily after school and on some Saturdays.

Smith's in her fifth year at Glenn and is working with a new cycle of students. "The Million-Heirs" is more of a rebuilding, with a big cast and smaller parts for younger students, along with bigger parts for seniors.

In addition to the evening shows and matinee, the Glenn students will perform Wednesday during the day for middle schoolers from Marshall and Stevenson. The Sunday matinee's a new effort, Smith said, and is intended to make attending easier for seniors.

Family members and students often attend the Glenn shows, she said, but about one-fourth of the audience is from the community without a school link. .

Smith wouldn't mind a bit if her students went on to star on Broadway.

"We hope so."

Mother seeking justice for son

BY LEANNE ROGERS STAFF WRITER lrogers@oe.homecomm.net

Two years ago, Shirley Hill went to Lansing to speak against parole for one of the men serving a prison sentence for the 1980 murder of her son.

Now that man is up for parole again and Hill is waging a campaign, including a petition drive, to prevent him from being released.

"It just seems like I put all the stuff away and I'm digging it out again," said Hill. "It never goes away."

Gregory Hill was a 16-yearold junior at Garden City East High School - the youngest of Hill's three children. On the night of Nov. 12, 1980, he was working alone at the Clark service station on Cherry Hill at Middlebelt. Charles Roots and Larry Grinage robbed the gas station at gunpoint and shot the teenager in the head.

In their statements to police at the time, Roots and Grinage indicated they had intended to kill whoever they robbed after an earlier prison stint, they concluded that leaving witnesses led to their arrests and convictions.

This is a murder police Chief David Harvey remembers well.

"In 1980 when this occurred, I was attending the police academy," he said. "I never forgot that incident. It was a horrible murder that didn't have to happen."

After talking with Hill's family to get her approval, Harvey said he plans to attend the parole hearing

"These are two guys who don't need to ever be on the streets again," he said.

"That's not set in stone. They can keep him songer. It was a 25-50-year sentence," said Hill. "I'm striving for that - keeping him closer to 50 years. He's not been an ideal prisoner."

Roots is currently incarcerated in the state prison at Marquette. Imprisoned at the Mid-Michigan Correctional Facility near Alma, Grinage will be eligible for his first parole hearing this summer.

Two sets of petitions are being circulated - one for each of the convicts. "I didn't want to have to do one and then start again on the next one,

Carmen Shepler, a 25-year cafeteria veteran overseeing the kitchen staff at Churchill High, and Sharon Fetter, a 24-year employee who oversees Holmes Middle's kitchen staff, have handled lunch time longer than most, It's a job both take serious-Ŋ.

"I think (hot lunches are) getting to be more popular because we are treating students more like customers," Shepler said. Over the past 25 years, she's watched "meat and potatoes" meals like turkey dinners and meat loaf sit unsold on cafeteria lines. But "junk" food items like tacos, nachos, French fries and pizza continue to top kids' lists of favorite cafeteria foods.

Less popular food picks include pastas like spaghetti, lasagna and ravioli; fish and chips, Salisbury steak and turkey dinners.

"Kids are not gung ho on meatloaf," Shepler said.

Shepler supervises a 12-person kitchen staff at Churchill. She begins at 6 a.m., turns on all the equipment, makes cookies and gets breakfast items like bagels, cereal, milk and juice ready to put out for the breakfast crowd. Breakfast is served before school starts at 6:45 a.m.

"The cookies are nice and hot in the morning," Shepler said.

After breakfast is served, the kitchen crew gets rolling on the lunch menu. Mashed potato mix gets blended in an institutional sized mixer. French fries get dropped in the hot oil. Chicken nuggets are put on huge sheets in ovens. Gravy and nacho cheese gets heated in large kettles on the stove.

Staples like pizza, hamburgers and French fries are served every day. For pizza, students can choose school-made pizza or restaurant pizza. Pizza vendors used by Churchill include Domino's, Little Caesar, Italian Bakery and Jet's Pizza.

Name brands are a fairly new thing in school cafeterias but have been good for business, said

Mike Howard, supervisor of food services for Livonia Public Schools. "We treat all the students as customers."

Other name brands students see in cafeteria lines are Frito-Lay and Subway. Once a week, 6-inch Subway subs are sold in cafeterias. Prices are comparable to the restaurants' prices.

Fetter, the head cook at Holmes, said middle schoolers are tougher customers than high schoolers.

"Middle school students don't want to change," Fetter said, adding that high schoolers tend to be more adventurous with food.

Surprisingly enough, salads are fairly popular with middle schoolers as well as cottage cheese and tuna plates. But, as with high schoolers, pizza, tacos and nachos rule.

"They like pizza, nachos and tacos in any way, shape or form," Fetter said.

A unique Holmes invention is the "traveling taco." Ground meat, cheese, lettuce, salsa and sour cream are put inside bags of plain or flavored tortilla chips, making it a true grab-and-go

Fetter said she's unsure who invented it, but the kids seem to love it.

"It just came about, I guess," she said.

Though satisfying middle school appetites might be challenging. Fetter said the effort is worth it.

"The people are wonderful and the kids are great," she said.

There are 19,000 students enrolled in the Livonia Public Schools and about two-thirds, or

"We have a lot of brown baggers," Howard said, adding that they supplement their lunches with juice or a side order like

Cafeteria food has come under fire recently for its high fat and sodium content. Livonia schools, responded by trimming the fat and salt in many of the students' favorite dishes. Grease from the taco meat is drained before serving. The grated cheese is reduced-fat. Whole milk has been replaced with 2 percent. Monosodium glutamate was eliminated, and salt was trimmed.

"We've eliminated salt from most recipes," Howard said. Low-salt soup bases are used in many recipes to keep the flavor intact, but not the fat and salt.

Livonia's school cafeterias took in an estimated $3.8 million last year, and expect to take in more than $4 million this year.

"it's basically a break-even operation," Howard said. All revenue goes back into the food services budget.

"We exceed requirements for fruit, vegetables, protein and bread on a daily basis," Howard 贈 'I think (hot lunches are) getting to be more popular because we are treating students more like customers.'

"What You Ought to Know About Living Trusts"

(What you don't know could cost your family thousands of dollars!)

I f you own a home...or you have assets worth at least 1100,000...you owe it to yourself--and your family--to get the facts on living trusts. If you think you're protected with a simple Will...think again... A Will guarantees that your estate will go through probate, which means that your family may not be able to take possession of your estate for many months, or even years!

Plus, if your estate is over '650,000, your family may owe estate taxes which could amount to 37-55%.

This means that your family may have to sell some assets just to pay the estate taxes!

A living trust avoids all this by avoiding probate and minimizing estate taxes. Plus, a living trust will protect your estate if you become incapacitated during your lifetime by avoiding a conservatorship. This means that your estate will be managed as you see fit, not as a court-appointed guardian sees fit.

Employers may have trouble filling jobs next 2 years

By KEN ABRAMCZYK STAFF WRITER kabramczyk@oe.homecomm.net

Wayne County can expect moderate job growth - mainly in the private nonmanufacturing sector - over the next three vears and continued declining unemployment through 2001. Because of the tight labor market, companies in Wayne County may have continued difficulties finding workers.

Those were some of the conclusions from University of Michigan economists George Fulton and Donald Grimes at a Wayne County Economic Forecast 2000 lunch Wednesday. Fulton and Grimes highlighted a report completed by U of M's Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations for Wayne County's Department of Jobs & Economic Development.

"The nonmanufacturing sectors will pick up 8,000 jobs over the next three years," Grimes said. That will include 3,000 construction jobs and 3,000 jobs in air transportation, both sectors of which will be fueled by the expansion expected to be completed in 2001 at Detroit Wayne County Metropolitan Airport.

Casinos will help add another 6.000 jobs in amusement and recreation industries of the economy. The expanded airport and three Detroit casinos are expected to add another 1,000 restaurant and bar jobs and 1,000 retail jobs.

Grimes expects those gains to be tempered by declines in the banking industry - 5,000 fewer jobs expected between 1998 and 2001 and 7,000 manufacturing jobs lost.

Based on population surveys from late 1998, the study also found:

Overall job growth in the private sector will grow 0.4 percent in 1999, 0.4 percent in 2000. then fall 0.6 percent. That growth translates to 3,000 additional jobs in 1999 and again in 2000, followed by a loss of 5,000 jobs in 2001. ■ Purchases of 16.6 million auto and light trucks nationally in 1999 will help keep Michigan's automotive industry healthy, bolstered by this year's expected record sales of 8 million trucks.

Wayne County Forcast for 1999-2001 Growth In Private Norwarm Jobs by Sector

■ Labor force trends show increases in the number of Wayne County residents who have jobs, but "private establishment" employment in Wayne County declined, which economists said indicates that many residents are commuting to jobs outside of Wayne County.

■ In 1993-98, the industries that added at least 1,000 jobs were fabricated metal products, furniture and fixtures, eating and drinking places, miscellaneous retail (drug stores, toy stores and others), wholesale trade, auto dealers and service stations. Those industries that declined by 1,000 jobs included printing and publishing, primary metal industries, food and kindred products, and apparel and accessory stores.

Job growth will flatten

The economists predicted that employment in the private sector would peak at 732,000 in 2000. up from 1998's 726,000, then fall to 727,000 in 2001. That overall employment was attributed to the tight labor market and increased productivity in the manufacturing sector. Unemployment rates will fall to 3.6 percent in 2000 and 3.3 percent in 2001, the economists predict.

That translates to a change from 78,000 unemployed persons in 1993 - an 8.3 percent rate - to 41,000 and 4.3 percent in 1998. That sounds like good news, but it also restricts job growth, the economists said.

"You need to keep in mind that firms in Wayne County and southeastern Michigan are having a very hard time finding employees," Grimes said.

Truck sales up

The boom in light truck sales and continued growth in auto sales have resulted in a shift in 1.600 new jobs in fabricated metal products and another 1,000 in furniture and fixtures. While the manufacturing sector is expected to lose 8,000 jobs by 2001 with 4,000 lost in the motor vehicle manufacturing industry, those losses will occur because of advances in the auto sector and declines in sales from the recordsetting numbers of 1999, the economists reported.

"Clearly the motor vehicle industry remains vital to Wayne County," Fulton said. Construction jobs increased 33 percent between 1993 and 1998, from phenomenal." Fulton said.

Fulton said inflation rates of less than 2 percent "are just" about over, and labor markets remain "extraordinarily tight."

"Economists believe when labor markets are tighter, the inflation rate goes up." Grimes

Leaving town

The number also shows that more Wayne County residents commute to jobs outside the county. "The county must increase its work force, either by importing workers from other areas, reducing the net outflow of commuters, or by increasing the participation rate of those Wayne County residents who are excluded from the work force because of low education levels and job skills." Fulton said.

THINKING ABOUT FREE ESTIMATES (734)525-1930 UNITED TEMPERATURE 8919 MIDDLEBELT • UNO

Statistics show that education helps job marketability and obtaining job skills.

For suburban residents with at least some college education. the unemployment rate is 1.7 percent. Only 9 percent of the total adult population are not participating in the labor force because they are homemakers. who choose not to work outside the home, and disabled people. who are unable to work. They are not included in the unemployment figures.

Grimes said it was nearly 18.714 to 24.946. "That's just - impossible to draw those potential workers to a company. For companies in Wayne County who want to expand operations or others who want to start a business, it presents a dilemma in tapping into that job market there isn't one.

What drew attention from the economists and county officials was the 28.4-percent unemployment rate among high school dropouts in Detroit - at a time when the rate is 4 percent for the entire county.

"Only 45 percent of that population are even looking for work. which means 55 percent is not looking for work, Grimes said. "That is an incredibly frightening statistic in 1998."

Dog struck by automobile has them working together

By JEFY COUNTS STAFF WRITER

It was an accident with a happy ending,

A Livonia police officer, a driver and a Farmington Hills veterinarian joined forces on Thursday to make sure a Redford dog received the best possible treatment after being hit by a car.

The dog, a white female shepherd mix, was struck by a driver shortly after 6 p.m. at Inkster and Joy roads.

The unidentified driver took the dog to a nearby home for immediate treatment. Police were called, and Livonia Officer Tim Larion was called to the scene.

An attempt was made to call several veterinary hospitals, but some were closed for the day, and others didn't want to treat a dog without the owner being present and able to pay.

Finally, the Jeffrey Animal Hospital in Farmington Hills was called.

"We told them to bring the dog in," said Heidi Morgan, a vet at the hospital.

"She's doing pretty well today (Friday), she's resting comfortably," she said. "Right now we're just waiting for the owner to come in."

She said the Jeffrey Animal Hospital is looking to start a fund to help treat injured dogs who don't have an owner pre-

Children's Center debuts sculpture

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK BLAFF WRITER kahramesyk@os.homecomm.net

Ring Around the Rosey may be a child's game, but that whimsical children's fun takes on a more serious tone at the Children's Center at Schoolcraft College.

There the game takes the form of a sculpture, which will be officially dedicated 5 p.m. Wednesday in a brief ceremony at the Children's Center.

That sculpture symbolizes a serious mix of nature, education and art at the Children's Garden Project at Schoolcraft College. The theme of playing children was developed by Dorothy Whitten, director of child care and development at Schoolcraft College, while the hife-sized bronze sculpture was created by Bernadette Zachara of Farmington Hills.

"We wanted to show the joy of active play, kids getting together, enjoying themselves and life in general," Whitten told the Observer when the same days as the college.

sculpture's idea was conceived.

The sculpture promotes the theme of art. Children will learn about art at the center through the use of water, clay and sand, and about nature by working in raised bed gardens. Plans call for raised-bed gardens, walking paths and nature trails to extend from the center's entrance to the natural areas west and south of the building.

The exhibit also features about 50 laser-inscribed bricks installed in the brickscape and adjacent paths. A $100 contribution entitled donors to a 4by-8 inch brick with their name or the name of a loved one or organization inscribed on the brick. That drive raised about $5,000 for the Schoolcraft College Foundation.

Join a baby shower to benefit First Step

BY STEPHANIE ANGELYN CABOLA STAFF WRITER scasols@oe.homecomm.net

Baby showers tend to be festive occasions celebrating the arrival of a new member of the family. And gifts are given to assist the parents-to-be.

The Livonia Newcomers and Neighbors have organized a baby shower that will assist the community, and they're welcoming the public to join in and help First Step.

First Step is a Plymouth-based agency working to end domestic and sexual violence in western Wayne County. Services include a 24-hour helpline, counseling, emergency shelter and support groups.

The baby shower, a philanthropic effort for the Livonia organization, will be at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 9, at Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Seven Mile and Gill in Livonia.

The idea to give needed baby gifts, rather than a monetary donation, came from Tami Zellner, president of Livonia Newcomers and Neighbors.

"Last year, the Boy Scouts did a goods drive and sent out flyers for First Step," said Zellner. "I was looking through and saw a lot of baby things on the list. Every year, we come up with the dilemma of what to do.

"Livonia Newcomers and Neighbors is a philanthropic organization. It gets harder and harder to come up with ideas to make money to give away. Charity is not only money. I thought. why not give a baby shower?"

Judy Ellis, executive director of First Step, said the agency appreciates the concept.

We are always in need, especially of diapers," she said. "As the holidays approach, if you can provide any kind of supplies, give us a call."

Children range in age from newborns to teenagers, so gifts appropriate for all those ages are néeded, she added.

And so planning began for the

"We thought that would be a cool alternative fund-raiser," said Zellner. The group chose First Step as beneficiaries this year because it offers a chance for a women's organization to help other women, she said.

Livonia Newcomers and Neighbors sent out invitations with their newsletter. Anyone may attend.

It will be just like any other baby shower, with wrapped gifts and games, punch and other refreshments. A representative of First Step will be on hand to open gifts and transport the

JOINT INFLAMMATION

Physicians are careful in describing findings about enlarged joints Your doctor may say you have a swollen joint, an inflammed joint, or, when the evidence warrants, an injected joint. Each phrase is special

A swollen joint is the most general term. What the doctor tells you is that something is wrong with that knee or hand, but the cause is unclear Most often, injury is at fault, and resting the joint with a splint, cast or by decreased use, is often the treatment of choice Saying your joint is inflammed is more specific, inflammation results from a series of related reactions in which chemicals open up blood vessels attract white blood cells to a particular site cause the breakdown of cell walls, and irritate surrounding cells to produce excess joint fluid. Identifying that inflammation is the cause of your painful hand or knee is important. A number of medications, the non-stenoidal anti-inflammatory drugs, are useful to break up the cascade of chemical reactions and resolve an episode of inflammation. The most specific term is an infected joint. This designation means your doctor has undertaken tests to determine that a bacteria is present in your paintul hand or knee. Then the treatment of choice is an antibiotic specific to the type of bacteria causing the infection Appropriate choice is limited and the need to start therapy soon is imperative. In short, listen keenly to what your physician says when you have an enlarged and painful joint. His choice of words carries considerable meaning.

Richard Reaume named Schoolcraft College trustee

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK STAFF WRITER kabramesyk@os.homecomm.net

For Richard Reaume, the second time is the charm. Five months after he unsuccessfully ran for the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees, Reaume, the owner of Worldwide Express in Plymouth Township, was selected by trustees Wednesday to fill a board vacancy created by the resignation in September of Steve Ragan.

Reaume, 49, of Plymouth, will serve the unexpired term of the vacancy through June 2001.

"I know that Steve Ragan was considered a student-oriented trustee, and I hope to continue. that concern for the college and students by attending events and considering what students feel (about the college)." Resume said. "I myself attended (Henry Ford) community college and look forward to continuing the high standard of excellence the board has provided the college."

In June 1999 Reaume (pronounced Ray-ome) ran for the board along with Greg Stempien, trustee Patricia Watson and Michael Novak. Watson and Stempien won that election to six-year seats on the board.

In October, Reaume and Novak, a Westland resident and a Livonia police officer, applied for the most recent board vacancy, along with Fred Bolden, a Canton resident and Y2K consultant for Detroit Edison, and Tod Kilroy, of Westland and Westland's city planning director. Kilrov and Novak reside in the portion of the Livonia school district within the north end of Westland.

After trustees interviewed the four applicants Wednesday night, trustees were asked to Write a personal preference on a sheet of paper. Four trustees preferred Reaume, while one Bolden. The full board then the college's presence and convoted, 6-0, to officially seat tact local schools in the college

New trustee: Richard Reaume.

Reaume, currently the foster parent of three children, has been active with Orchards Children's Services, Kamanos-Cancer Institute, Special Olympics, Multiple Sclerosis and American Heart Association.

Reaume also was active in Plymouth Canton Community Schools, Central Middle School Parent Council, High School Parent Forum, District Parent Council, Hiring Committee, Food and Nutrition Advisory Council and Technology Advisory Council. He is also active in the Michigan Citizens for Fairness in Public School Funding.

Reaume has a bachelor in science in finance from Wayne State University and a master of business administration from the University of Texas. Resume brings to the board 20 years experience with mainframe and personal computers, computer software, training and develop-

After he was chosen, Reaume preferred Kilroy, and another, said he would like to increase district, which includes Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia. Northville, Plymouth-Canton and part of Novi school districts. "I would like administrators, parents and students to consider education a K-14 experience." Reaume said.

Reaume hopes the college can obtain state funding for a new technical center to be built at the college. Trustees also will need to deal with continuing the college's financial stability, advancing technology and the needs of students and communities, Reaume said.

Reaume told trustees increases in state funds to the college "seemed to be shrinking." Tuition increases were small, which was "nice," Reaume said. "You'd probably have more of a rebellion if you had a large one in five years," Reaume said. "One of the things that is going down is the state portion. Maybe that should be brought back up."

Reaume also would like to examine education in a "non-traditional" way. He quoted Lt. Gov. Richard Posthumous that 55 percent of the new jobs will require two years or less of postsecondary education.

"Those same students will be back in four or five years," Reaume said. Four or five years ago, Reaume trained COBOL programmers for computers. today it is visual programmers, he said.

Carol Strom, chair of the Board of Trustees, said Reaume is "obviously very interested" in the board and will make a good trustee. "He's attended every board meeting since the election earlier this year," Strom said.

Reaume also brings a different perspective to the board with his computer background, Strom

"He's not an attorney and he's not a former teacher."

"I think he's enthusiastic and he has a real strong background in community service. I think

Rockets' rally stuns Henry Ford

BY BRAD EMONS SPORTS WRITER bemons@oe.homecomm.net

Westland John Glenn took an emotional roller coaster ride Saturday in the Division I-Region II District 2 championship game at Detroit Henry

But when the Rockets came to rest, theys emerged the winner in a heartstopping 27-23 football victory over the previously unbeaten Public School League champions.

Senior tailback Eric Jones, who rushed for 182 yards in 35 carries, scored the game-winning touchdown with just 1:53 remaining.

The victory puts Glenn, now 9-2 overall, into the Region II final against Western Lakes Activities Association rival Walled Lake Western (11-0). Site and time will be determined Monday.

Glenn seemingly had the game in control, bolting out to a 21-0 halftime lead, but Henry Ford, behind the elusive running of quarterback Damon Dowdell and the play of agile 6-foot-4, 251-pound tight end, came storming back for 23 straight points.

"Henry Ford had so many good athletes that we knew it would be tough to hold them down the entire game," Glenn coach Chuck Gordon said. "We got some breaks and they got some breaks, but the team who makes the fewest mistakes usually wins the football game."

Down 23-21 with less than five minutes remaining, Glenn's big break came when Dan Smitherman recovered teammate Jeremy Catarino's punt at the Ford 48-yard line when Ford return men Ken Wright fumbled.

"I knew he (Wright) was coming up to field it, it went through his hands and through my legs - I just scooped it up," said Smitherman, a junior cornerback.

capped by a 9-yard TD run.

"The offensive line pumped me up, said Jones, who had 113 yards at halftime, but only 21 in the third quarter. "They said, 'Don't quit, and run hard.

"It was a crazy game. I give credit to the offensive line.

The Rockets did it without two of their stellar lineman who were lost during the course of the game - 6-6, Glenn then rode the powerful legs of 260-pound Nick Samples went down of an infected throat.

"There was a point in time where everything was going against us," Gordon said. "But our guys wouldn't quit and I was proud of them."

Glenn; however, owned much of the first half.

Freshman quarterback Brian Cechiewicz hurled a 23-yard touchdown strike to Ben Harris with 1:54 left in the first quarter for a 740 lead.

teammate Chad Sansom pounced on it in the end zone for a 14-0 advantage.

Jones then ripped off 26-yard TD run up the middle with 5:19 left until intermission. Catarino's third straight extra point made it 21-0.

But the host Trojans would not roll over as Dowling delivered a fourthdown, 34-yard TD strike to Knott with just under a minute left.

"We knew their quarterback (Dowling) had a lot of natural ability, a guy who can run and pass," said Harris, who made some key plays for the Rockets from his defensive end spot. "He's definitely going to be good at the next

The TD catch by Knott seemed to inject new life in Henry Ford.

Behind the running of the 6-2, 185pound Dowling, Ford marched 80 yards in nine plays on its first possession of the third quarter. Dowling, who had 101 yards on 13 carries, scored on a 19yard keeper and Fiacre Kra's extra point cut the deficit to 21-14 with 8:05 left in the third.

Ford's defense then began to stiffen and the Trojans' Craig Brown returned an interception 40 yards for a score.

After two penalties, including one for having 12 men on the field, Kra's extra point from 30 yards out made it 21-all with 11:50 left in the game.

Ford took the lead when Cechiewicz, trying to pass on third down from his own 9, was sacked in the end zone for a But the fumbled punt let Glenn back in the side door and the Rockets responded in a big way with Jones' game-winning TD run.

Trailing by four and out of timeouts with 1:44 to go, Dowling was pressure into three straight incompletions, including a key third-down knockdown by Smitherman, followed by a fourthdown sack by Harris.

Livonia Stevenson's Mike White, however, dealt with the pain following a head-knocking 3-0 victory over defending Division I state boys soccer champion Novi in the Region II finals Priday at South Lyon Middle School.

The Spartans, now 18-2-1 overall, move into the state semifinals, 7 p.m. Wednesday at Jackson's Mehall Field against the Region I champion (either Western Lakes champion and rival Plymouth Salem or Okemos).

"I got popped in the nose, the teeth, the mouth, all over the place," said White, a senior midfielder who figured in two of Stevenson's three second-half goals, "But it would have hurt a lotworse if we hadn't come out of here with a win."

Novi, bowing out a 19-2-1 overall, took no prisoners; coming at the Spartane with hard fouls and aggressive play from the outset:

"We were so emotionally into the game that we let the refs' calls and a lot of little things bother us early on;"

BOYS SOCCER

Stevenson coach Lars Richters said. "At halftime we talked about staying aggressive. And if we kept creating chances, we'd have something to show because it was "new game" being that it was 0-0.

"We knew it was that time of year and the team (Novi) really wanted to win. We knew they were going to do whatever it takes to win."

Stevenson goalkeeper Joe Zawacki made two critical saves during the opening 15 minutes to frustrate the Wildcats.

The tide slowly began to turn midway through the first half as the Spartans didn't let the rough stuff bother

"We knew they (Novi) were good and solid all over," White said. "They're the defending state champs. That gave us incentive to play hard. Everybody was ready, no matter what the circumstances."

Just three minutes into the second half, White made a sterling individual one-on-one play, zig zagging through a slew of Novi defenders. Just inside the box, he fired a shot from the left side. A scramble ensued and the Spartans' leading goal scorer Tom Eller (25 goals and 21 assists steadied the ball from 15 yards out and rocketed the rebound shot to make it 1-0.

With 23:36 left, Eller struck again in a most unsual way as his sideline throw in sailed over the out-stretched arms of Novi keeper Nick Slovan and off a Wildeat defender into the goal.

"You can't make mistakes in a game like this or they'll capitalize. On that second goal, our goalie came out and the person in goal (the defender) thought he had touched it and tried to head it out.

"That goal proved to be our doom."

Western end CC's year, 24-7

BY STEVE KOWALSKI STAFF WRITER kowalski@os.homecomm.net

Redford Catholic Central scored on a 27-yard touchdown pass from quarterback John Hill to Matt Loridas with 1:03 remaining in the first half of Saturday's Division I district championship at Howard Kraft Field.

The Shamrocks used three short "out" pattern passes to receiver Steve Ivy to aid the scoring drive that covered 57 yards.

The next time the Shamrocks tried a pass like that, Walled Lake Western's Paul Merandi was waiting for it.

Merandi intercepted an "out" pass intended for Ivy and raced 32 yards for the go-ahead score with 7:01 left in the third quarter as Western upset CC 24-7 before an overflow crowd.

"Merandi always gets picked on because we have Lorenzo Parker on the other side and no one wants to throw his way,' said Western coach Mike Zdebski, whose team is undefeated in 11 games. But Merandi is on the same 400-meter relay team that made it to state's in track and is an incredibly fast young man."

"He beat me a couple times before the half," said Merandi, who had another interception that led to a Western field goal in the third quarter. "Their receivers don't run that fast and I knew from the start they might do the same. I played in on it and it just happened."

Three second half CC turnovers led to Western points and the Warriors also added a two-point safety to erase a 7-6 halftime deficit and gain a berth in the region championship against Westland John Glenn.

CC, which had a 30-game winning streak snapped and is the two-time defending Class AA state champion, played without starting tailback and linebacker John Kava, held out for precautionary measures with a shoulder injury.

The player who would have taken Kava's place, junior Dave Groth, also missed with a shoulder injury. That left junior Matt Markowicz as the Shamrocks' starting tailback and he gained 38 yards on 18 carries.

CC senior fullback Mike Wilk. who averaged four yards per carry coming in, was held to 24 yards in nine carries.

CC's first possession of the secand half ended with a 52-yard field goal attempt that was just short and the next three ended in turnovers, allowing Western to enter the fourth quarter with a 22-7 lead.

"We heard about (Kaya's injury) coming over and it's a travesty for the young man,' Zdebski said. "Of course you'd like to see him play because some might second guess that this isn't the best CC team we've faced. But they're still going to play 'CC football.' This was a big win for us but it won't really matter if we stumble next week.'

Merandi's second interception and return to the CC 36 set up a 42-yard field goal by Alan Mukhtar that gave Western a 15-7 lead with 1:53 left in the third

On the Shamrocks' next offensive play, Western's Rob Pisha picked up a CC fumble near mid field and returned the ball to the Shamrocks' 4. Two plays later quarterback Chris Payton scored on a 4-yard run for a commanding 22-7 lead with 47 seconds left in the third.

"Delore Seeman pulled the guy

(the CC ballcarrier) away from the ball, it was just laying there and I just started running," said Pisha, who almost had a lineman's dream: a touchdown. "I got caught though. That would have been cool if it was a TD."

A long Western punt that was downed at CC's 1 led to the Warriors' last points, a two-point safety when Hill was sacked in the end zone with 3:51 left in the game.

Western took the game's first lead with 3:37 left in the first half when Payton scored on a three-yard run to end a 38-yard drive set up by a short CC punt.

Western fullback Cody Cargill, who had a game-high 68 yards rushing in 18 carries, rambled 20 yards on second down to put the Warrior at CC's 5.

Payton completed only one pass all game but had 28 yards rushing in sixattempts and the Warriors had no turnovers. Hill was seven for 21 passing for 56 yards.

"I think, overall, we had too many mistakes and they played very well," CC coach Tom Mach said. "We had two (running) backs out that we had for 10 weeks and not having them makes a lot of difference but you can't make excuses. The team has to come through no matter the circumstances. Western deserved to win."

DuPage ends Lady Ocelots' season, 2-1

All things considered, there's just no way Schoolcraft College's women's soccer team should have lost this game.

But the Lady Ocelots did. College of DuPage (Glen Ellyn, Ill.) managed just four shots on goal in the NJCAA District Tournament match Friday at SC, while surrendering 24. But two of DuPage's shots found the net. something the Ocelots could not match in losing 2-1.

The disheartening, frustrating defeat ended SC's season at 18-2-2. DuPage, which improved to 11-5-1, met the winner of the WOMEN'S SOCCER

Rochester (Minn:)/Waldorf (lowa) for the district championship Saturday.

"They did what they had to do. and not much more," said SC coach Bill Tolstedt. "I can't discount what they accomplished. They took advantage of the opportunities presented them. They took four shots and hit on two of them.

"We should have won the game. We just didn't get it done."

DuPage got the game's first goal, pouncing on a mistake made by the Ocelot defense. which failed to clear the ball. DuPage made SC pay, putting the ball behind Ocelot keeper Shannon Brooks for a 1-0 lead.

Two minutes later, SC evened it when Kelly Connell (from Plymouth Canton) pounded a shot at the corner of the DuPage net that the keeper got her hands on but couldn't stop. The ball rolled in, knotting the score at 1-1.

Which is the way the first half ended. The eventual game-winning goal was scored three minutes into the second half; it was one of the very few forays DuPage made into SC territory.

Indeed, as Toistedt recounted, "Six times they were in our end of the field during the course of the game. We spent the rest of the time in their end --- but we kept shooting high and shooting

"Eighty of the 90 minutes of this game we dominated. We had a wonderful opportunity to advance to nationals. We played well enough to win, it just wasn't

Crusaders reach final

MEN'S SOCCER

Now it gets interesting:

All season, it seems Madonna University's men's soccer team has struggled to retain its standing as the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference's premier

They took a major step in that direction Wednesday when they traveled to Siena Heights University for a WHAC Tournament semifinal.

Madonna was the third seed in the tournament; Siena Heights was No. 2.

With key players on both teams out of action, it required a determined effort to come out on top. The Crusaders did just that. getting a first-half goal out of a scramble in front of the Saints' net and then relying on Dave Hart to do the rest in posting a 1-0 victory.

Combined with Aquinas College's win over Tri-State University Wednesday, the triumph means Madonna (now 15-5-1) will earn a berth in the upcoming NAIA Regional Tournament.

On Saturday, the Crusaders took on regular-season champion Aquinas for the WHAC title.

Siena Heights finishes with a 13-7-1 record.

The only goal of Wednesday's match was scored with just under five minutes remaining in the first half.

With the ball bouncing free in front of the Siena Heights net. Joe Suchara (from Livonia Stevenson) got a foot on it and knocked it past Saints' keeper Nick DeKam. Charlie Bell and Bill Fischer (Livonia Franklin) assisted.

In the second half the wind favored Siena Heights, but the Sainta couldn't take advantage - thanks to Hart, who played his finest game of the season. without doubt.

Throughout the game, Hart made several key stops - 13 in all. The win was the ninthstraight for Madonna, which once again was without leading scorer Sam Piraine tleg injury suffered in first round).

PREP GIRLS BASKETBALL WRAP

Morrill scores 1,000th in 50-49 loss to Glenn

Tera Morrill scored a game-high 25 points to surpass the 1,000point mark in her girls basketball career, but it wasn't enough as Livonia Franklin fell to host Westland John Glenn in a Western Lakes Activities Association crossover matchup, 50-49.

Glenn, which outscored Franklin 18-13 in the decisive fourth quarter, improved to 10-9 overall.

Three Glenn players scored in double figures - Stephanie Crews and Lacey Catarino with 12 each, and Bianca Woods with 10.

Franklin, which slipped to 8-11 overall, got 14 from junior center Kerstin Marshall.

"It was a tough loss, but it's the best we've played team-wise,"

Franklin coach Gary Warner said. "I'm proud of the effort. We just •WAYNE 41, WOODHAVEN 33: Nine players scored Thursday as host Wayne

MEN'S COLLEGE HOOP PREVIEW

Ocelots play favorite's role

BY C.J. RISAK SPORTS WEFTER ojrinak@oe.homecomm.net

No more talk about turnarounds where Schoolcraft College's men's basketball team is concerned. That's old news.

Last season, the Oceleta costed a 26-5 record, their secondstraight 20-win season (after 15 seasons without one). They won the Michigan Community College Athletic Association's state tournament and reached the NJCAA Region 12 final before losing 90-74 to Cincinnati State.

So building a winning program is no longer a goal for SC's Carlos Briggs, entering his third season as coach. After all, he's posted a 50-13 record in his first two years.

Maintaining it is the current objective.

"Now, teams are out to beat Schoolcraft," Briggs explained. "We've taken over the top spot, now we've got to keep it. That won't be easy."

One problem, as Briggs detailed, is the constant rebuilding process that's the norm at a two-year college like SC. The Ocelots will open their season at Siena Heights Wednesday against the Saints' junior varsity, with only two starters and five players returning with expe-

Gone are starters David McGlown, who enrolled at Florida A&M, Derek McKelvey and Dashawn Williams. Also gone are Corey Bates (now at Rochester College), Jim Rebbeck (at Concordia College), Dave Jarrett, Mario Montgomery and Michael Murray.

In addition, Cincinnati native Mike Peek -- a 6-foot-2 guard who missed most of last season with a broken foot - has been sidelined for the season due to academic problems that will prevent him from graduating this

There are some major losses there. But there are some impressive additions, too.

But first the anchors. That title goes to the returnees: <ocaptains Lamar Bigby, a 6-foot-5 sophomore guard/forward from Detroit Northern who led SC in scoring last season (17.1 points) and was second in rebounding

STAFF PROTO BY PAUL HURSCHMANN

Pondering: Can Schoolcraft coach Carlos Briggs top last year's season?

(5.3), and Chris Colley, a 6-7 forward from Hazel Park who averaged 10 points and five boards a game.

Those two will share the captain's title with Robert Brown, a 6-4 guard/forward from Oak Park who transferred from Central Michigan University. Colley and Bigby started last season. Quentin Mitchell, a 6-3 guard from Detroit Cody; Reggie Kirkland, a 6-3 guard from Remulus; and Dwayne Holmes, a 6-6 forward from Taylor Truman, are other returning sophomores whose raies should expand this season.

How much depends on those impressive newcomers, like Brown; Mike Williams, a 6-7 forward from Detroit City HS who was a Class D all-stater; Brian Williams, a 6-2 point guard from Wayne Memorial who played last vear at Kalamazoo Valley CC; Nick Evola, a 6-7 forward from Warren Woods Tower who signed with Hillsdale, then left and enrolled at SC; Dwight Windom II, a 6-4 guard/forward from Dearborn Robichaud; and Tony Jancevski, a 6-9 forward from Plymouth Salem.

The difference with this season's team is obvious: size. "This year, we'll be bigger inside," said Briggs. "We'll want to take advantage of that. We've got some big guys inside to go to."

That doesn't mean wholesale changes in playing style. "We'll always run," said Briggs. "But the last few years we've relied on our guards and forwards to carry

That won't be the case this season, not with guys like Holmes, who weighs in at 225; Colley, who's 230; Evola, who's 220; and Jancevski, who's 225.

Still, Briggs tempers his optimism with a healthy dose of caution. "A lot of our size is inexperienced," he noted, adding, "That's going to be one of our most important things - how fast they grown up.

"We're still searching for someone to step up and be a leader for us. We had that last year. Now we need our sophomores to step forward."

With Bigby and Colley back, and some proven scorers among the recruits, Briggs concern is defense and - despite their increased overall size rebounding. Making the adjustment to this level of play isn't always easy.

"The key is can we play defense and rebound," he said. "That's always the key. If we can do that, it'll keep us in most

Among the freshmen, Briggs believes Evola and Mike Williams have the best chance of making an early impact. "Both have size and both can score," Briggs noted. "We just need them to play harder."

One other element that has been pivotal to SC's success the past two years, something Briggs plans to continue, is keeping players academically eligible.

*Every successful program, at every level, begins with the administration," he said: "Ours has been outstanding. I want to thank them for that.

In particular, he singled out the Learning Assistance Center, which works closely with the players. Now it's just a matter of how quickly the newer Ocelots learn on the court.

Coach of the Year

GC contingent leads the way

BY STEVE KOWALSKI STAFF WRITER skowalski@oe.homecomm.net

Garden City boys golf coach Ron Pummill and his wife, Justine. have five children, ages 2 through That's way over par by today's standards, and the high school sweethearts, 1982 graduates of Garden City West High School, are through - for this century at least.

"Not any this calendar year," said Pummill, though not ruling out an addition in the next millenium. "(A big family) is awesome. We're both school teachers and we love children and recommend it."

So while Pummill doesn't have a family birth to brag about this year there's another berth he's happy to discuss, though he isn't handing out cigars: The first-ever state meet berth earned by the Garden City boys golf team.

The Cougars also won a Class A regional and the Mega Conference White Division Meet under Pummill, the 10th year coach who has been named the Observerland Coach of the Year.

Pummill was a nine-letter winper at West, which closed its doors after merging with East to former Garden City High the year after Pummill's class graduated. Pummill played golf, basketball and baseball in high school, the former being a "warm up" for his Pummill is hoping the senior class that led the Cougars helps start a tradition of excellence with the golf program, which has wontwo of the last three White Division Meet titles.

"This year's Cougars' golf team was truly a pleasure to coach," said Pummill, a physical education teacher and athletic director at Garden City Junior High. "I am proud of the way this team conducted themselves throughout the season. The guys were gentlemen on and off the course. They grew together as a team over the years and I am blessed to be a part of that growth. I would like to thank the boys for their hard workd and dedication and their parents for raising such fine young men."

Pummill suspects his children, Rehekah, Ronald, Jackie, Julene and Joseph will show an interest in playing in the future.

"I've taken my two oldest out to a par three a couple times," said Pummill, who carries a 7 handicap. "They like to go out in the backyard and swing the clubs."

Following is a profile of each player on the first team:

Matt Bartnick, Soph., Uv. Stevenson: It was a breakthrough season for Bartnick, who took medalist honors at the Division I regional at the Links of Pinewood with an Bartnick averaged 38.4 per nine holes in dual meets where he was medalist twice, including a low of 34 against Livonia Churchill. He was also co-medalist twice.

*By virtue of his his post-dual match competition, Matt was our MVP," Stevenson coach John Wagner said. . . Scott Wolfe, Soph., Liv. Stevenson:

Wolfe also broke through in 1999 winning the WIAA title with a 79 at Links of Pinewood, He also took the WLAA's Scholar Athlete Award. Wolfe took dual-meet medalist honors

"Golf for me was something to do three times, including a low of 36 each efore the basketball season," he against Westland John Glenn and North Farmington. He also was co-medalist twice. His nine-hole average was 38.5.

At the Pinckney invitational, Wolfe shot a 1-over 74 to finish fourth. Scott was our Most Improved Player as:

he dropped over three strokes from his '98 average." Wagner said. "He also led our scorers using the dual-match season, Both Scott and Matt will be tough to beat in their junior, and seniors years. I can't wait to see these skillful, competitive golfers in action next season."

Randall Bobolge, Sr., Liv. Churchill: The fourth year varsity performer and Charger co-captain qualified for the state meet at El Dorado in Mason where he shot a-twoday total of 163 (79-84).

At the regional, held at the Links of Pinewood, Boboige shot a 79 to early a tie. Boboige, who averaged 39.85 per nine, earned medalist honors four times during the regular season.

He's showed steady improvement in each; of his four years, and culminated just . He scored 78kin the White Division

He qualified for the state meet with a round of 79 at the regional at Links of Pinewood. He fired a round of 81 at the 'state meet, which didn't make the cut for the second day at El Dorado Golf Course in-Magon

Currie had a 38.9 average for nine holes, including a one-under par 35 in a dual meet against Warren DeLaSalle at Cattails Golf Course

A captain, he carries a 4.1 grade point average. He's leaning toward studying engineering at Virginia Tech, where he aspires to be a member of the golf team.

"He's quite a young man, just a joy, not only to coach but a great individual." CC coach Bill Hayes said. "He's never really down, Winning the Catholic League Meet was guite a feat for him. He hit the ball a lot longer this year and was a lot tougher minded after a year's experience on the Nikos Markelios, Sr. Red. Thurston: This was only the second year of golf for Markellos, though you'd never know it by his results:

Described as a "natural" by coach Emil Majeski, Markellos qualified for the Division II state meet for the second straight.

winters in the Upper Peninsula, coupled with fair weather during the spring fawning seasons. has resulted in an increase in the deer population across the region. For proof of that increase, look no further than the recent success of Dale Horst's hunting party.

For the past seven years, Horst and nine or 10 friends have made their bow camp during the last week of October in the western Upper Peninsula - somewhere near the Marquette/Iron County line. Last week there were 10 hunters in the "Spike Ridge Bowhunter's" camp and all 10 tagged a deer.

year and the best we had done before this year was eight deer between 11 hunters back in 1995. The (deer) numbers are definitely up. On the average we were probably seeing three or four deer each day, which is pretty good for up there. The numbers are coming back up."

Of the 10 deer, four were bucks. The largest was a four-point.

"We're all dedicated bow hunters. There are bigger bucks up there, but we're really not after the trophies," Horst said.

· Clarkston's Jack Ross arrowed a 5point buck last week in Oakland County while hunting from a tree stand on private property.

DNR seeks deer heads

As part of the state's overall strategy to eradicate bovine tuberculosis from Michigan's white-tailed deer herd the DNR is asking for hunter's assistance. Hunters who shoot deer in northeastern Michigan are asked to bring the head of their deer to a DNR check station for free examination. Fawns will not be

Hunters who take deer from the following counties are asked to participate in the testing program: Emmet, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Alpena, Montmorency, Otsego, Antrim, Kalkaska, Crawford, Oscoda, Alcona,

Iosco, Ogemaw, Roscommon, Missaukee, Osceola, Clare, Gladwin and

Heads of bucks and does are needed for laboratory examination because the lymph nodes located in the head near the base of the neck are used to determine if a deer had TB. Deer with advanced stages of the disease may have pea-sized yellow or tan lumps on the lungs or body cavity, but 60 percent of infected animals do not have these visible lesions.

For a list of check stations call the DNR Rose Lake Laboratory at (517) 373-9358.

Red Man Regional

Four area bass anglers will join 116 other competitors next weekend in the Red Man Regional bass fishing tournament on Table Rock Lake in Kimberling City, Missouri.

Linda Bennett of Canton, Scott Emery of Livonia, Kevin Long of Oxford, and David Reault of Livonia have all qualified for the regional by placing in the top 30 in the Red Man Michigan Division.

The top prize at the regional is a new Chevy truck and a Ranger bass boat equipped with a 175 hp Johnson outboard motor. In addition, the top eight finishers at the regional will advance to the $290,000 Red Man All-American, May 8-13; on Lake Hamilton in Hot Springs, Arkansas.

(Anglers and hunters are urged to report your success. Questions and comments are also encouraged. Send information to: Outdoors, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, MI 48009, Fax information to (248) 644-1314, send e-mail to bparker@oe.homecomm.net or call Bill Parker evenings at (248) 901-2573.)

mals depend on oxygen in the water from photosynthesis, food chains of various size animals exist, and the seasons cause changes in life styles.

Today, the temperature was only in the 30s and the wind was blowing constantly making it feel much colder.

As I walked down to the lake with a group of third graders, we were hard pressed to find insects flying around. Yet that is what we hoped to find in the water.

Getting our hands wet in the cold wind did not make it comfortable looking for aquatic critters, but we found a good sampling of representative aquatic animals.

While sampling down by the river, large dragonfly nyniphs were plucked from the sediments in the net. In fact, we seldom find such large nymphs in the warm weather. Later we dipped our nets along the lake shore off the dock and discovered different kinds of dragontly nymphs.

Two water-boatmen, insects with long legs flattened to resemble oars, were captured. In the specimen trays, they demonstrated their rowing technymphs were not bothered by their movements above them. The leech kept on inching its way along the bottom of the pan, while the mayfly nymph stayed next to a small twig.

One student even caught a 2inch long crayfish. We spotted it when she brought up the net and we saw its escape movements.

When we put it in the pan of water, it immediately scooped its tail under its body and propelled itself backwards, a typical maneuver used to escape danger.

Though it was cold, and some got wet, no one complained, ing things.

Some animals that we typically see in warm weather were not seen, but that didn't matter to

The participants were all medal winhers in their events from their home states, progressing to the nationals with a starting field of a 250,000 senior athletes.

Bowling is one of the many Olympic sports, which include softball, basketball, tennis, archery, cycling, track & field, triathlon, race-walking, etc.

In the bowling events last week, Bill Funke and Mary Mohacsi of Livonia each won gold medals. Phil Horowitz and Mort Friedman of West Bloomfield each won silver medals, while Scotty Laughlin and Lloyd McNabb of the Detroit area also took home gold medals in bowl-

 Last Monday was a special treat at Cloverlanes in Livonia.

A former teammate, Westland's Tina Barber-Judy, rolled 15 in a row, but did not get a 300 game out of it. She finished the second game with six straight strikes and started the third with the first nine.

Barber-Judy finished with a 279, tied with Angela Wilt, another Westlander for the third game jackpot.

 Chris Kliczinski of Westland finished third in the latest round of the Budweiser Michigan Majors tournaments held recently at Chez Ami Lanes in Grand Rapids.

Kliczinski defeated Billy Orlikowski 224-196 to reach the final match against Ray Eddy III of Saginaw.

Eddy closed with four strikes to edge out Kliczinski, 235-221, uliana Athayde is living proof that exposure to music at an early age leads to a longtime love - and sometimes even a commitment.

Arnie Goldman finished second.

The 19-year-old concertmaster for the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra developed an early interest in music. Her mother is a violinist and her father a junior high school music teacher. Her father also teaches trumpet privately.

But that alone isn't always enough reason for a child to want to play an instrument. For whatever reason, not all musicians encourage their children to pick up an instrument. The last string for Athayde's mother was having to fend off her 2-year-old daughter's attempts to grab her vio-

*Music was in the house all the time," said Athayde, who moved to Michigan two years ago to study with Paul Kantor at the University of Michigan School of Music in Ann Arbor. "I would be screaming in the crib and my mom's violin student would be playing and I would be enamored. Later on, there were just instruments everywhere. I'm the oldest of four children with a 14-year-old sister cellist, a brother who plays jazz trumpet and drums, and a 9-year-old sister, also a violinist."

Athayde will perform American composer Samuel Barber's "Violin Concerto, Op. 14" with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra Saturday, Nov. 13. at St. Kenneth Church in Plymouth. It is a work she heard one of her mom's students play long ago.

Also on the program are Hartok's "Rumanian Folk Dances" and Beethoven's "Symphony No. 6 (Pastorale)." Special guests are the North-in Baum wonders whatever happened to the children whose portraits she painted in wartorn countries during the mid- to late '80s.

The fighting may have stopped in Nicaragua, Mozambique, Belfast, Israel/ Palestine, and on the the gaunt and haggard looks, which reveal the effects on the children, linger.

Surrounded by her paintings at The Art Gallery/Studio in Garden City, Baum contemplated her words carefully as she talked about experiences behind the paintings and drawings in the exhibit: the sad eyes of a little girl at a TB clinic on the Thai-Cambodia border, a boy living in the camps of Mosambique after his father died at the hands of bandits - Baum painted all of these children on site. She did take photographs, though, for slide presentations she made to peace and justice groups and churches. Many of the images are on exhibit in the lobby of the School of Education at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor where she earned a bachelor of fine arts degree.

Shock

"It was a real shock to me not only to see the horrific suffering endured by the children during the fighting but the effects of the war-induced famine that causes mental impairments," said Baum who began the series with a trip to Nicaragua during the Contra War in 1985.

It was a subject that would continue to haunt her before and after her return to Detroit. All of Baum's work deals with issues of human vulnerability like the children at the Thai/Cambodia border who were afraid of "white people."

"I kept pushing the idea to paint these children to the back of my mind only to have it resurface again and again," said Baum, who teaches portraiture at The Art Gallery/Studio and Schoolcraft College in Livonia. "I weighed the idea against the expense and the danger and then decided I'm never going to have any peace until I do this. I really believe God

Setting up a studio in a refugee camp, school, hospital or village, Baum would work all day on a single portrait, sometimes surrounded by the entire village, whose people who would come out to watch. The Art Gallery/Studio exhibit features three paintings from each of the six sites: Nicaragua, Thai-Cambodia border, Belfast, Mozambique, Israel/ Palestine, and Detroit, plus 12 drawings.

Human experience

An artist committed to representing the human experience with authenticity and rapidity. Baum painted the oils on canvas at first. Then she discovered it was quicker to do the portraits on linen on glue ground. This eliminated the need to paint a background. Stretchers made it easy to transport the rolled-up works.

"I'd heard all the stories, and I wanted to go and find out for myself. I wanted to go with as open a mind as possible," said Baum. "The children weren't just casualties of war, but targets. Many of the children were captured or kidnapped and made to Baum estimates that 300,000 children are fighting in 36 world conflicts.

"A tactic that's being used is they kidnap then drug them to fight," said Baum." Baum, an appointee to the Wayne County Council for the Arts, hopes the paintings will help "to change our whole sense of what war is and, hopefully, that war will end" as viewers reflect on the . After Nicaragua, Baum tried to get into South Africa but was denied a visa by the apartheid regime. By 1986, she was traveling to the Thai-Cambodia border. In 1987 it was Belfast, then Mozambique in 1988 followed by Israel, Gaza and the West Bank, in 1989. Finally, Baum returned to paint Detroit children in 1990 to tie it all together. "I'm not going to say it's horrific as conditions the children in the war-torn countries were living in. but there is a high poverty rate. I believe the children are the umbrella issue under which all others fall. If you address the needs of the children, you address everything."

Of all the war-torn scenes Baum traveled to, Belfast and Israel stand out in her mind because both were occupied areas at the time.

There was a shoot-to-kill policy for the English selders in Belfast," said Baum. "It's very dehumanizing. You have no recourse. It's an awful, awful feeling to have."

New DIA director deliberates on reconfiguring museum

BY FRANK PROVENZANO STAFF WRITER forovenzano@oe.homecomm.net

May as well take away Graham W.J. Beal's nattily twisted professorial bowtie, stylish wide-lapel suit, neatly groomed GQ looks and impeccable diction. For that matter, even take away his two middle initials. Despite living in a museum world filled with aristocratic thin air, Beal doesn't show any sign of being another typical, high-falutin' stuffed shirt. Of course, there's no taking away the English gentleman or the precise manner in which Beal is going about transforming one of the region's most-coveted cultural gems, the Detroit Institute of Arts. For an art historian raised in the hills of southern England and educated at a public university who has risen in . the curatorial ranks of American museums, the new director of the DIA has a firm outlook for the future of one of the largest encyclopedic museums in the country.

In less than a month on the job, Beal has already demonstrated the political savvy and administrative marksmanship that made worthwhile the twoyear wait to fill the top post, which had Samuei Sachs.

changes any time soon. Except for exhibits of provocative works, changes are imperceptibly subtle and, for the most part, conservative in tone in the museum world.

Beal is a meticulous planner who characterizes his style as "consultative leadership.

It's a style he's honed during his career as director for the Los Angeles County Museum of Art and the Joslyn Art Museum in Omaha, Neb., and stints as curator at the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art and the Walker Art Center in Minneapolis.

Over the last several weeks at the DIA, Beal has made headway on meeting with a long list of corporate and civic leaders, although he admits that he isn't quite used to those "Midwestern early-morning breakfast meetings."

Preferring not to speak in specific terms, Beal laid out his vision for the

"There's an opportunity for me to make a contribution in reconfiguring a great cultural institution to make it more relevant and accessible."

By "more accessible," Beal means making the DIA a place where multiculturalism is celebrated, not just given a passing nod. He pointed to his been vacated by former director effort to make the LA County Museum of Art more accessible to Latinos and our currency, he said. But don't expect sudden or sweeping. Quite likely, he said, the DIA will broaden its exhibits and collection of African American art since the metro area has one of the largest collector bases of that art in the world.

Of course, Beal is acutely aware of the DIA's strength. "Our collection is pieces from the r useum's expansive collection, there will be opportunities to gain, in return, other historically significant pieces, such as the yan Goghpaintings that will be exhibited in Another sometimes-controversial topic is the DIA's role in promoting local artists. For many, the museum should offer display works by contemporary Michigan artists. Beal contends that the quality of the art, not the residency of the artist, should be the deter-

"I don't believe in art by ZIP code," he said. "Art should be judged against the greatest art. The institution has a duty to find the right context to exhibit contemporary exhibits

And because the region doesn't have a contemporary art museum per se, the DIA is also expected to serve as a major exhibitor of new works.

"We won't take on an exhibit that is gratuitous and provocative," said Beal. who turned down the "Sensation" exhibit when he was director at the LA County Art Museum.

"But we won't shy sway from being part of the discussion about the important role of how and why contemporary

Challenging position

Assuming the position of concertmaster at any age is a challenge, but Athayde sees herself less as an authority figure and more as a liaison between the strings and conductor.

"The responsibilities go beyond leading the strings," said Athayde. "The challenge was gaining the respect of my peers in the orchestra. You don't want to overstep your boundaries. There's a fine line between giving insight and being pushy."

Since Washburn's arrival as the PSO's new conductor this fall. Athayde feels more at home. The two knew each other in California when Washburn was director of one of the string ensembles at Athayde's high school in the San Francisco Bay

"As a concertmaster, you have to be able to offer really quick solutions to problems," said Washburn, who returned to California this weekend to conduct the West Hollywood Orchestra. Earlier this season, she led the Cheyenne Symphony in Wyoming. "Unlike other young violinists who grow up wanting to become a soloist, Juliana has from very early on wanted to be a concertmaster."

music later in life is equally as important to a person's wellbeing. In spite of the tremendous cost (a three-octave set of handbells can cost up to $7,000) and the difficulty in transporting them, Knorp thinks the unique sound of handbells touches many people in a way no other instru-

Over the years her groups have performed on the lawn of the White House, for the Pope John Paul II and for thousands of spectators in Rome, and in the Magic Kingdom at Walt Disney World.

"Handbells seem to bond people together and form a sense of unity," said Knorp, who began directing handbell choirs 15 years ago. "I've seen people who almost look catatonic in nursing homes lift up their heads and smile." The Northwest Vicariate Handbell Choir also will perform during a Thanksgiving festival at 3 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 21, at St. Edith Church, 15089 Newburgh, south of Five Mile, in Livonia.

There is no charge for admission. "To Deum," written by Louis Canter, will be performed during a vesper service following the ensemble performance. Canter, director of music ministries at St. Augustine Church in Richmond, is an instructor at Madonna University in Livonia.

"Emotionally, physically and financially, it's hard," said Baum, who has exhibited her work in the Our Town and Celebrate Life exhibits in Birmingham and the Livonia Arts Commission's Fine Arts in the Village. "I spent a lot of years healing, processing my own pain, asking what can we do?

"We need a greater compassion, a sense we're all in this together. This is the new millennium and globalization. We need to remember if we don't take care of our children, who are we?"

II 'We need a greater compassion, a sense we're all in this together. This is the new millennium and globalization. We need to remember if we don't take care of our children, who are we?'

> Lin Baum Artist

Not too long ago when Baum saw photos of the children of Kozovo on TV, those painful feelings returned.

Their eyes, it's that same look," said Baum. "I basically realize children are children, the universality of children. In spite of the horrific conditions, they want to play and have fun," said Baum motioning to the painting of cousins Paul and Billy sitting on the steps of their home in west Belfast.

"How much alike we are. We tend to focus on our differences.

instead of the vulnerability we all have in common. We're not going to survive if we don't help one another."

Survival of the species is the reason Norma McQueen chose to exhibit selections from Baum's "Children of War" series.

"It's the awareness, anything to raise awareness," said McQueen, director of The Art Gallery/Studio. "I can't imagine anyone not having emotional feelings seeing the pictures, not only all over the world but here. too. museum begins, however, Beal insisted that he's planning on a year-long period of "listening and learning."

In all, Beal suggested that it might be realistic to consider the typical management model of a three-year plan before obvious changes can be seen at the DIA.

After the first year of meetings and getting to know the community, Beal expects that the subsequent two years will be spent setting goals then implementing a plan to transform the museum, including expanding hours, adding outreach programs and offering more diverse exhibits.

"The role of a great museum is to be all things to all people," he said. "It's an impossibility, of course, but that's the kind of attitude you'd like the public to take."

Ironically, as Beal sat crosslegged in his third-floor office at the DIA on a rainy Tuesday afternoon, the museum was closed to the public. In the early 1990s, the DIA was forced to cut back its hours because of it was receiving less state aid.

Already, Beal realizes that, on some level, the greatest challenge in transforming the museum comes down to building a greater appreciation for the DIA.

Convincing the general public of the need for a tri-county cultural tax to help support the operating budget of the museum and other regional cultural institutions will be eventually one of Beal's top priorities.

"The purpose of culture should override parochial issues," he said. "We can't be seen as arrogant or complacent but need to be an integral part of the culture of this region."

Mystery writer throws fans a 'Hanging Curve' in newest book

Hanging Curve by Troy Soos (Kensington, $22)

For those of you who have been waiting, here is another imaginative tale by Troy Soos, author of such mysteries as "The Cincinnati Red Stalkings" and "Hunting a Detroit Tiger." For readers who aren't vet

familiar with

VICTORIA DIAZ

Hanging Curve" is a good place to begin your relationship. Though this unpretentious, slightly off-beat whodunit marks another adventure in the life of fictitious major leaguer Mickey Rawlings, it's not necessary to read Soos' previous stories to find real pleasure in this one.

It's also not necessary to be a sports fan, or even a mystery maven, for that matter. If you simply enjoy a thought-provoking story, propelled briskly forward by some colorful characters and played out against an authentic, finely-etched background, you'll find "Hanging Curve" a real winner.

As the story opens, we find ourselves in St. Louis, Mo. It is 1922, the beginning of spring, that "exhilarating time of year when .200 hitters imagine winning the batting championship, dead-armed pitchers feel strong enough to win thirty games, and St. Louis baseball fans believe that this will be the year the Browns finally capture an American League pennant."

At 30, veteran utility infielder Rawlings (recently traded to the Browns from the Cincinnati Reds) isn't particularly dreamyeyed about his own abilities. Still, he hangs in there, never really losing hope that this year he'll get the chance to do something other than warm the bench and that, somehow, he'll become an integral, heroic part of a championship season.

Life does throw him a curve, however, and we're around to see how he handles it. One night, a talented pitcher for a semi-pro team called the East St. Louis Cubs meets an especially cruel fate. He is hanged from the backstop at Cubs Park. The Cubs are an all-black team which handily defeated an all-white semi-pro team the day before, while a gun-toting group from the local Ku Klux Klan looked on.

Who murdered the Negro pitcher? Was it certain members of the all-white team who had been embarrassed at the plate that day by the young pitcher's prowess? Was his death a lynching, instigated by the Klan? Or was his life snuffed out for reasons that had nothing to do with the game of baseball?

Mainly because he has played in the game against the Cubs (as an illegal "ringer"), Rawlings soon finds himself involved in tracking down the killer or killers. Assisting in his efforts is his old pal Karl Landfors, a distinctly unathletic journalist and "diehard socialist" dedicated to championing the rights of the underdog.

Also joining the fray this time around is new acquaintance Franklin Aubury, a highly knowledgeable Negro attorney who goes to bat for the cause of justice: Rawlings' live-in lover, former actress and Hollywood stuntwoman Margie Turner, rounds out the main cast (and also reveals a dark secret of her own before the story is played

As they try to run the villains into the ground and stave off further bloodshed, Rawlings and Listen for narration by comedian Janeane Garofalo and appearances from REM's Michael Stipe and 10,000 Maniac's John Lombardo.

And the award for best live upright-bass solo goes to... Royal Crown Revue. At the band's Oct. 25 performance at Saint Andrews Hall, bassist Veikko "The Count" Lepisto sent shivers down the spines of his well-dressed audience when he was accompanied by drummer Daniel Glass's technique — tapping his drumsticks along the thick strings in succession, and keeping the beat all along. The pair dazzled the crowd with royal treatment.

For three decades. Bobby Lewis and his Crackerjack Band have been rocking around Metro Detroit. The classic rock band will grab audiences attention at Livonia's Winter Wonderland Parade Saturday, Nov. 20 while performing at Wonderland Mall.

Sure it isn't the old "Your Mustache" lounge in Dearborn, where Lewis played with his band Sticks and Stones for 13 years, but audiences are sure to love that blend of rock, jazz and bluegrass.

It's a mystery to me. One Livonia reader wrote with a question. What has happened to KISS FM? One night she turned on the radio to find it changed to a rock format? Anyone with information may e-mail scasola@oe.homecomm.net.

While Dollah may be missing from the airwaves, director Kevin Smith ("Clerks," "Chasing Amy") is in plain sight with his latest film "Dogma."

While the movie may be shrouded in controversy for it's take on religion, Alanis Morissette's latest single "Still" should tide eager fans over before she completes another album. Look for Morissette's cameo as God in "Dogma," opening Friday, Nov. 12.

Sequins, beads and crystals visit day wear and accessories

THE REAL DEAL

WALDMAN

Sparkle has always been synonymous with evening wear, but, then again, fashion codes are always. changing.

All types of clothing pieces and accessories are gleaming this season, from sweater sets to evening bags. Familiar daytime clothing like cardigans, bangles, mules and belts are showing up adorned with sequins, beads and crystals. While there's been much talk about minimalist style, a dash of shimmer may be just the "comph!" your basic black staples need. Besides, shiny details surely will come in handy during the holiday party season.

The next time you find yourself in a panic, saying, "I have nothing to wear," think sequins:

While sequins may seem excessive for day wear, small doses of such embellishments serve to add luxury and playfulness to casual outfits, rather than drama and extravagance.

A wool sweater or cardigan adorned with beading is one of the easiest ways to give ordinary skirts and pants sophistication and playfulness. Jacobson's, for example, sells a simple beaded snowflake sweater in pale blue and pink for $84.

And, if the season has caught you expecting, consider Pea In The Pod's silver-beaded, two-piece sweater set in black.

If adding sparkle in the form of accessories sounds more your speed, shop for an ornate hand bag or shiny piece of jewelry.

Necklaces you can layer and beaded chokers are suitable for most outfits and occasions, especially if you'd like something light-catching around the While these pieces are available in major department stores and many small retail boutiques, I recommend stopping by Presence II in Birmingham. The store has a nice selection of these types of necklaces.

If you're looking for a piece of gleaming jewelry at a bargain price, visit Elizabeth Green Boutique on Orchard Lake Road in West Bloomfield. The store's jewel-colored, crystal bead bracelets sell for only $10.

"(They're) perfect with blue jeans or a black ball gown," insists boutique owner Elizabeth Green. And, at $10, you can indulge yourself. Wear one or two in the same shade; or mix colors and stack upwards of three around Beaded purses, a season must-have for party attire, can be purchased just about anywhere at any price. I spotted interesting and affordable versions at two local stores. Imajica in Pleasant Ridge has vintage-inspired, sequined purses for about $62. At Bellissima in downtown Rochester, I found gray flannel purses with sequin details priced at about $42.

While sequins and beads are suitable for both party girls and corporate divas, just remember it's all in the way you wear them; most of the time that means "a dash will do ya."

Holiday dressing

Cozy sweaters cover all the bases and more

BY NICOLE STAFFORD SPECIAL EDITOR

nstafford@oe.homecomm.net

Holiday apparel shoppers beware: the line between dressy and casual wear looks fuzzy these days. Fuzzy like a sweater.

Designers and retailers are pushing sweaters and long skirts, rather than fusey dresses, to wear to holiday balls, as well as the plethora of semi-formal and informal occasions that come with the season.

Cardigans, funnel-neck and spaghetti-strap knit tops, even hooded sweatshirt-style sweaters, are being toted as the model party look for the holidays. Just add one of a variety of long skirt designs: ball gown, ball-style, parachute, to-the-floor and to-the ankle.

While the notion of wearing a sweater and a long skirt to either a black-tie ball or casual dinner party might confuse some fashion followers, the trend has its advantages.

"It wardrobe stretches," said Somerset Collection Fashion Manager Amanda Turner. Not only can women wear the same skirt to both formal and informal affairs during the holiday season, but also the sweater they purchased for the look can be donned with jeans on a Sunday afternoon or paired with pants and jacket in the workplace.

Bren Hillis, Select Personal Shopping manager for Hudson's at Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi couldn't agree more. "You can wear sweater-sets with a pair of dress slacks or a ball skirt through the seasons, but it's very unusual that a woman would wear a spectacular evening gown more than once. This way, they're, what is the saying? ... Getting more bang for their buck."

Another benefit of the trend, women can mix fabrics and colors in their evening wear. They also don't have to settle for less-than-flattering neck lines or styles on top.

Many designers, including Anne Klein and DKNY, offer up to three sweater and top styles to pair with their full-length skirts, said Hillis.

Sizing is less of a problem, too, said Andy Szkrybalo, Parisian Room and Dresses selling manager at Laurel Park Place's Parisian store in Livonia. Not to mention, she said, "it seems to take away the emphasis on your bottom."

Sweater-sets and shrugs also give women the option of hiding their arms but don't constrict movement like jackets do. More revealing sweater styles, sleeveless funnel-neck and spaghetti-strap tops, are being shown with shawls and Pashmina wraps, which also hide the arms.

al this season and suit both ball gown skirts and jeans. Hudson's Country Shop beaded cashmere cardigan in charcoal, $235, is paired with a Country Shop black silk dupioni ball gown skirt, $130.

While ball gown and parachute skirts may require alterations, sweaters rarely do, said Hillis.

Most importantly, special occasion sweater and skirt separates are a thousand times more malleable than a formal, or even semi-formal, dress.

"You can make (the look) casual or dress it up as much as you want," said Hillis. Elegant jewelry, a formal evening bag and a pair of beaded slides create a dressier look. A casual, beaded choker, plain shoes and simple evening bag render the look more informal.

"Two women can buy the same outfit, but it's how they accessorize that makes the look individual," said Hillis. "And, the look makes women feel like Cinderella. It's very feminine."

Couple on a Harley take anything but an easy ride

BY DOUG JOHNSON STAFF WRITER

This July, Jeff and Kim Dold of Garden City rode their 1999 Harley-Davidson Electroglide Classic on a little cross-country jaunt that was a classic in its own right.

Eighteen states. Eighteen days. More than 7,200 miles. Four-hour summer downpours in Chicago. Death Valley at the height of the afternoon heat.

. You need a lot of sunscreen when the temperature is 126°.

It was all part of their summer vacation and a longtime dream to go cross country on Jeff's Harley.

They started in Michigan, went down to Interstate 80 and across Indiana and Illinois into the Chicago area in search of the legendary Route 66.

The route that John Steinbeck called "The Mother Road" starts outside of Chicago. In many places, it is no longer there, it's simply covered by freeways. In other places, it can be driven on.

The duo went down to St. Louis, across Missouri and Oklahoma.

They stopped at "Cadillac Ranch" in the Texas panhandle.

There really are nearly a dozen Cadillacs upended in the Texas plain west of Amarillo, roughly midway between Chicago and L.A. Two hundred yards south of I-40 six miles west of Amarillo, where old US-66 rejoins the interstate, the rusty hulks of 10 classic Caddies are front enddown in the dirt.

In August 1997 the Cadillacs got another 15 minutes of fame when the artist decided to dig. them up and move them a mile west from where they'd been - to escape Amarillo sprawl.

On to New Mexico, where they stayed in Albuquerque, saw the Petrified Forest National Park in Arizona and took a side trip north up to Four Corners where the corners of New Mexico, Arizona, Utah and Colorado meet. A small monument marks

It was in Vegas they relied on their only real advanced reservation, for the Mirage. They came in at 11 p.mt and were lucky enough to be upgraded to a penthouse suite for $75.

On into California they rode, where they visited San Francisco, Fisherman's Wharf, Chinatown and then closed the day at a blues bar.

Turning eastward, they went to Yosemite ("our favorite spot" says Jeff) and then zipped to Mono Lake (directly east of the park) and saw the calcium formations, then drove to Lake Tahoe.

The next day they were off to Idaho to see the spectacular Shoshone Falls at the city of Twin Falls.

"Yellowstone was a quick drive through. We saw snow at the higher elevations, and we went through some of it at night," Jeff

Saké basics surely add to enjoyment

aké (sah-KAY) production has reached the U.S. just as more Americans are discovering how well the intriguing taste of sake goes with a variety of light, fresh cuisines. Hand-crafted sake brewing techniques were brought to Oregon from the Momokawa Brewery in Japan and are being overseen by a Toji or master saké brewer.

Saké is a fermented rice product. Rice is polished and steamed, and in a single process, the starch is converted to sugar and simultaneously fermented to alcohol. Most saké contains 15-18 percent alcohol. No sulfites or preservatives are used, a fact that appeals to the health-conscious consumer.

Shelf life

On the other side of the coin, the lack of preservatives means a shelf life of only six months to one year. It is important, then, to pay attention to the saké label since it's best when

Momokawa sakés are easily identifiable in retail shops and restaurants by their distinctive cobalt blue botties. We had the opportunity to taste a flight of Momokawa sakés at the Little Tree Sushi Bar in Royal Oak (11 Mile Road and Main St.) where you can try these new sakes with Japanese, Filipino, and Thai dishes

The super-premium Millennium Series sakés are labeled Diamond $24 (dry, complex for delicate foods), Silver $20 (dry, assertive for robust foods), Pearl $24 (for dessert) and Ruby $16 (soft and smooth to accompany spicier foods). They range from very dry and light to slightly sweet and are best enjoyed well chilled. Although you may have heard that saké is consumed warm, the best sakës should be at least slightly chilled.

Momokawa's Moonstone series represents sakes infused with natural fruit essence such as Asian Pear, Yuzu (Japanese Citron), Black Raspberry, and Hazelnut. Depending on your preference, this may be a great way for you to experiment with the taste of saké.

Attributes

Saké should be colorless and bright, except for some specialty products that are produced unfiltered. Yellow or amber sakés are too old and will taste like it. Sakés exhibit clean, delicate aromas, and mild intensity.

The finest examples have low acidity, less than half of most wines. Aroma and flavor descriptors include

Swedes love to eat, drink and be merry

God Jul! For the food- and fun-loving Swedes, it's never too early to get into the holiday spirit.

Members of the Swedish Women's Educational Association Michigan Chapter are getting ready for the group's ninth annual Swedish Christmas Fair Saturday, Nov. 13. at the Finnish Center in Farmington Hills.

Of course, that means making lots of Kottullar, those delicate tasting Swedish meatballs made with finely ground beef, pork and veal and seasoned with-sautéed onions and cream. The meatballs, served with mashed potatoes and lingonberries, will be sold at the fair, along with a variety of Swedish open-faced sandwiches.

To wash down all the goodies, fair-goers can sample glogg, a delicious and sometimes potent Swedish hot drink that extends a warm welcome on a wintry evening.

The cooks

Five SWEA members recently gathered in the kitchen of Elisabeth Maxe of Livonia to prepare a traditional Swedish meal: meatballs, mashed potatoes, sliced cucumbers with vinegar and parsley, lingonberries, Swedish farmer's cheese, and two kinds of bread. Maxe broke several large rounds of crisp. flat, hard bread known as knackebrod into pieces and cut thick slices of limpa, an aromatic rye bread flavored with anise. "The two breads are an absolute must," said. Ebba Belfrage-Slomeana of Redford, "Swedes would get shocked if they

Celebrate Thanksgiving the vegetarian way

My daughter Elana came home from nursery school last year and apprehensively told me, "There is a turkey that will be coming to visit my school next week."

Concerned about her fear, I validated her feelings, but reassured her that turkeys are very hice animals. When the turkey made its visit just before Thanksgiving, Elana excitedly told me about her positive experience with the turkey. As I tucked her into bed that evening, she asked, "Mommy, that's not the same turkey that people eat on Thankagiving, is it?"

Well, I thought maybe it was time to have a little talk. Not that we did not already have several "vegetarian" talks in the past as Elana had a good sense at this point of why our family practiced vegetarianism, but this question was a little different.

I explained to her that, "yes," the animal that visited her school was the same kind of turkey that people eat on Thanksgiving. Her eyes became larger than they already were, as she exclaimed, "No, they put the blood and feathers in their mouths, too?"

So, I continued to explain how people. go about eating turkey. "You mean the turkey has to be killed before people eat it?" Elana continued quizzing me. I proceeded to address all of her concerns She finished our conversation, by saying, "People don't eat each other, so we shouldn't eat turkeys." I left it at that

The following day, Elana went to dance class. At the conclusion of the class, the instructor had the young girls gather around in a circle and exchange with each other what their favorite food was to eat at Thanksgiving. Miss Heather explained, "Some people like the mashed potatoes, some people like the stuffing, some people like the turkey

With this, Elana looked at me sitting in the audience and gave me her saucer-eyed look again. I knew our talk full-page cartoon of a classroom was highlighted. The teacher stood in front of the room with a picture of a large cow on her blackboard. Using a pointer, she was showing how different parts of the cow were used for food. The kids sat in the classroom with either their eyes popping out of their heads or their hands over their mouths ready to become sick.

Elana is now in kindergarten and still proud to be a vegetarian. We celebrate Thanksgiving with all of the trimmings. but the lonely turkey sits in the corner for our few meat-eating relatives. Highlighted are the colorful vegetables squash, corn, cranberries, pepper and sweet potatoes. Non-traditional Thanksgiving dishes are featured such as vegetarian lasagna and cold salads of mixed greens. If you want to forgo the meat, but want a similar substitute. many health food stores in the area now offer "tofurkey" (turkey made out of tofu) or meatless turkey made out of tan, a wheat gluten.

Like many other products, the quality of the water used to produce saké is as important as the quality of the rice. The degree of rice polishing also has an effect on quality. The outer part of the rice contains proteins that cloud the sake and produce off flavors. As a matter of fact, 50-60 percent of the rice is removed during polishing since the desirable part is in the middle of the grain.

Like any other beverage, you can apend as much or little as you want, but excellent examples that will enhance your dining experience can be found between $15-30.

Holiday entertaining

Y2K talk has got us all thinking "holiday entertaining" a lot earlier this year. If your fingerfood recipe file is in the "been there, done that zone, a new appetizer book may be just what the chef ordered. "Cocktail Food: 50 Finger Foods with Attitude" by twin sisters Mary Corpening Barber and Sara Corpening Whiteford, owners of Thymes Two Catering in San Francisco; (published by Chronicle Books, San Francisco, 1999, $16.95, ISBN 0-8118-2418-7) is a must. In addition to 50 easy, flavorful recipes, there are tips on matching hors d'oeuvres to beverages, party planning, and presents# The last French Beaujolais harvest of the century is in, and the nouveau wines will arrive Nov.

Beaujolais

The last French Beaujolais harvest of the century is in, and the nouveau wines will arrive Nov. 18. Cost will be under $10. per bottle. King of Beaujolais Georges Duboeuf describes the vintage as having the "ideal balance of soft, velvety, fruity, and harmonious elements expected of a Beaujolais Nouveau. The wine offers more to savor than in previous years and is harmonious, pleasing and captivating."

If you've never tried a Beaujolais Nouveau, Duboeuf is a good label with which to start. Produced from 100-percent handpicked Gamay grapes, it is an uncomplicated red wine meant for early consumption. Serve it slightly chilled, at about 55 degrees.

Direct wine shipping

On Sunday, Oct. 3, our wine column focused on federal and state wine legislation restricting direct shipping of wine. We suggested you contact federal and state legislators, either online at www. freethegrapes: org or by letter, consulting the blue section of your local telephone book under Political Leaders, National and State. Did you do this?

So far, we have received just one response (from State Rep. John Pappageorge, R-Troy) to our letters. He says he contacted a number of interest groups affected by the issue of direct shipment of wines. He cites the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, Michigan Beer & Wine Wholesalers Association, Michigan Licensed Beverage Association, and the Associated Food Dealers of Michigan. These are all groups interested in keeping a status quo, state-legislated monopoly and who fear that direct shipping might offer you freedom of choice. These groups are also political campaign contributors.

Do you understand what your freedom is up against?

Pappageorge also suggested that we could track down hardto-find wines online at www. mbwwa, org. We did and in three weeks had no response. So, we phoned (800) 456-2992. home of the Web site and Michigan Beer & Wine Wholesalers Association. The person in charge pointed out that this service only tracked wine already in the state. Pappageorge doesn't get it. We and you want to he able to buy wine that is not available in the state. That's your right under the Interstate Commerce clause of the U.S. Constitution, establishing free trade among states. It has been taken away from you by the Michigan legislature. Are you going to accept this?

For your convenience, sample letter content to your legislators:

As an adult voter in the stateof Michigan, I ask that you oppose restricting my ability to buy fine wine by direct shipment. Such legislation favors state-legislated monopoly in wine distribution at the expense of consumer access to the diversity of America's wines.

Wine laws, currently restricting my rights guaranteed under the Interstate Commerce clause of the U.S. Constitution establishing free trade among states, need to be changed.

Please let me know where you stand on this consumer rights issue and what you plan to do.

"Chop them (onions) fine and sauté them lightly before adding them. Otherwise, it doesn't taste like Swedish meatballs," said

Belfrage-Slomeana. Sadler slipped an extra pat of butter into the frying pan as Skogfeldt shrugged her shoulders in good-natured resignation. "I'm light on butter, but she's like my husband. More butter," she said.

A confident cook, Sadler carefully turned the browning meatballs with a spatula. She's been cooking for many years. "Since I was 18. I went to Stockholm and took care of three children. My boss was a school teacher. She said I want you to start cooking. The first thing I made was meatballs. When Elisabeth got married, I taught her."

Maxe finished mashing the potatoes and invited the women to sit down. She passed around small apéritif glasses and removed several small bottles of Aquivit, a Swedish schnapps, from the freezer. It's similar to vodka but stronger. Swedes down it in one gulp.

"Before you drink it, you raise your glass and say 'skal," said Belfrage-Slomeana. "Then we always sing 'schnapps' songs, traditional ones and humorous ones. There's no end to it."

"You have to have a meatball ready before you drink this," warned Margareta Olsson of Southfield.

Meatballs poised, the women including me - raised their glasses, said a hearty SKAL! (sounds like "skoal") in perfect unison, then downed the contents. A fireball burst in the center of my chest.

"Do you feel the warmth?" asked Belfrage-Slomeana. "It's cold in Sweden. This keeps the circulation going."

Talk quickly turned to food from home, food not available in local specialty shops. Maxe sighed. She misses the hot dogs and mashed potatoes sold on. street corners in Sweden. "There's no describing what those hot dogs taste like."

She also misses creamy pear ice cream served on a stick. "Ahhhh," said Sadler.

SWEDISH MEATBALLS (KOTTULLAR)

- 1 cup boneless beef
- 1/2 cup veal
- 1/2 cup boneless pork. preferably with fat
- 1/2 cup crushed rusks or
- white bread
- 3/4 cup cream 1/2 onion, finely chopped
- 1 egg
- Salt and white pepper to taste
- Butter or margarine for frying

Soak the bread in the cream. Grind the meat three or four times through the finest disc of the meat grinder or use the blender. Add the bread and cream mixture for the last two grinds.

Brown the onion in a little butter. Add the onion and egg to the meat mixture and work until smooth. Add some water to give a smooth consistency, seasoning with salt and pepper as you go.

Fry a sample of two balls in butter until golden brown to check the seasoning. If they taste good, roll the remaining meat into balls using the wet palm of your hand. For a smorgasbord, make the meatballs walnut-sized; for a main dish, make them the size of Ping-Pong balls.

Place meatballs on flat plates rinsed in cold water or on a wet cutting board.

Melt a fairly large amount of butter or margarine in a not-toolarge frying pan and leave it to brown until it stops hissing. Depending on their size, fry 10-20 meatballs at a time

Let them brown, shaking the pan now and then so they roll around.

If the meatballs are to be served with a sauce, pour thick or thin cream into the pan after the last frying.

Serve meatballs with mashed potatoes, lingonberries and pickled cucumber. For a smorgasbord, meatballs may be served either. cold without sauce or hot in the

OLD-FASHIONED PICKLED CUCUMBER (GAMMALDAGS PRESSOURKA)

- 1 medium sized cucumber
- a little salt.
- 1/2 cup white spirit vinegar (12 percent)
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon freshly ground white pepper
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley

Peel the cucumber and slice very thinly. Put slices into bowl, salting slightly between layers. Place a similar bowl and top and weight it down. Let stand for about one

Mix a dressing of spirit vinegar, water, sugar, white pepper and parsley. Stir until the sugar is dissolved.

Discard the liquid that has collected around the pressed cucumber. Pour on the dressing and chill for several hours before serving.

The road less traveled

Midwives are popular with families seeking alternative to traditional birth experience

By Kurt Kuban Special Writer

Modern midwives are emerging from an age-old shroud of misconceptions. In recent years, word has spread, often by word of mouth, that midwifery is no longer about an old woman, a farmhouse and a pot of boiling water.

Rather it has become an intimate alternative to the often overwhelming and sometimes less-than-personal experience of giving birth with a busy obstetrician and a team of nurses. While your great-grandmother may have had no choice but to rely on a midwife during the birthing process, today midwives are just one of many options available to pregnant women.

Most women do not choose this avenue, instead deciding on a more traditional birth with an obstetrician. However, the number of women choosing midwifery is growing. According to the American College of Nurse Midwives, each year there are over 220,000 deliveries performed by nearly 5.000 certified midwives nationwide. Women choose to go with a midwife for various reasons, but one of the main attractions is the personal, intimate relationship that often develops.

"We look at ourselves as a middle-ofthe-road option. A lot of people like the fact that we're a small practice with just two people," said midwife Jennifer Cartwright, who, along with partner and fellow midwife Cheryl Bachman, performs midwifery services for Integrated Health Associates of Ann Arbor. "Women feel comfortable with us, because we will talk to them any time they need it. A physician is often unable to take the time to directly talk to them in the time leading up to the birth. We are available and accessi-

It was this type of person-to-person care that convinced area resident Michelle Friss to choose the midwife option. Although she had not used a midwife during her previous two delivery experiences, Friss set up an appointment with Bachman during her eighth month of pregnancy and decided it was the right option for her.

She was not disappointed with the

"The whole experience was great. It was exactly what I had hoped for. I received extremely good labor support." Friss said. "They make you feel very well cared for. Cheryl suggested a lot of things that helped me get through the labor. She even gave me a foot massage. You are not going to get that from the typical obstetrician.

Still, breaking through the misconceptions surrounding midwifery has not been easy.

"There are two great myths about midwives. One is that we always come to a patient's home, and the other is that we never administer painkillers when they are needed," said Cartwright.

There are actually two types of midwives. A group known as lay midwives, who more closely resemble the traditional view of a midwife. Many of the women in this field have received their training while acting as a sort of an apprentice to an obstetrician or other midwife. In most cases they provide a less expensive alternative to delivering a baby in a hospital. They still come into the home of a patient, but most do not have the certification to administer

In the other category are the certified nurse-midwives. These women are registered nurses who normally do not come into the home, but base their appointments in an office and perform deliveries in a hospital. They are authorized to administer certain drugs and are in contact with a team of physicians that they can count on if emergency situations arise.

Cartwright and Bachman perform their deliveries at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. Other area hospitals also have midwifery programs in

"With us, the patients get the best of both worlds. We give them an intimate, personal atmosphere. But we have a group of professional physicians behind us. If the patient needs it, it is there," said Cartwright.

Certified midwives also perform a number of other gynecological services outside of the actual delivery. For instance, Cartwright and Bachman both perform pap smears and pelvic and breast examinations. They also conduct counseling sessions on issues such as family planning, contraception and menopause.

One of their main functions is to educate patients during the preconception period. Once a patient receives a positive pregnancy test, they sit down with Cartwright and Bachman and determine a schedule that will help prepare them for the eventual delivery. While the goal is to have as "smooth and quick" a delivery with as little intervention as possible, most midwives will admit that such a scenario is rare.

Oftentimes a woman will need some type of labor medication, either to achieve stimulation or to combat dehydration or pain. When Cartwright or Bachman encounter a situation that they can't handle, they seek out the services of an obstetrician or anesthesiologist, who can.

"Women need to know that they have the same options of pain management when they choose us as they would have during a traditional birth with an obstetrician. A healthy baby and mother is the bottom line. Sometimes intervention is necessary and sometimes it is not," Bachman said.

There are some circumstances that would cause a midwife to turn away patients and direct them down another avenue for their delivery. These high risk women include those with medical problems such as diabetes or high blood pressure and those who are having multiple births such as twins. Despite the many advantages of choosing a midwife, many women still don't consider it after becoming preg-

What is a midwife?

A Certified Nurse Midwife (CNM) is a registered nurse who has completed her degree in midwifery. He/she usually works through a hospital, obstetrician's office or birthing center. Some certified nurse midwives have home birth practices. Physician back-up is usually required.

A Cortified Midwife (CM) is certified their state or midwifery organization. Has generally passed both oral and written tests and has had their practice scrutinized. CM may have received her training in a school or in a manner similar to the lay midwife.

A Lay Midwife is one who has usually apprenticed with an experienced midwife. Some are self-taught. Many have attended additional workshops and classes to supplement their education. Some lay midwives are affiliated with a physician but are not necessarily under a physician's direc-

A Direct-Entry Midwife may receive specialized training at a midwifery school, which includes hands-on preceptorship. Many are apprenticed with an experienced midwife or doc-Some states certification/licensure. There are a number of established midwifery schools in the U.S. The curriculum varies in length of time and content. At least one school currently offers a degree-granting program.

A Certified Professional Midwife (CPM) is either a direct-entry midwife, certified nurse midwife or a lay midwife who has received certification by the North American Registry of Midwives.

nant. Much of the reason may have to do with the misconceptions that have surrounded midwifery. However, many women don't feel they are eligible for a midwifery program.

Friss was one such person.

"I just assumed that when I got pregnant with my third child that a midwife wouldn't take me because of the csection I had with my second child and my age," said Friss, who was 41 at the time. "I found out that I was a good candidate. So if someone thinks like I did, they should check it out anyway. I would definitely use a midwife again."

Oakwood physician specializes in treating women with incontinence problems

Oakwood Healthcare System recently welcomed Veronica Mallett, M.D. to its Obstetrics/Gynecology - Woman's Service Line.

As a subspecialist in urogynecology, Mallett focuses primarily on the mantineses and female organ prolapse. In addition to her expert reconstructive pelvic surgical skills, Mallett also offers out-patient care for these condi-

Mallett will be collaborating with other physicians within the Oakwood Healthcare System such as family practice, urology and other gynecoloment of women with urinary incongrists to assist patients in receiving comprehensive clinical care.

Mallett is one of the few physicians in the state to perform a new, minimally invasive procedure called the Tension-Free Vaginal Sling. This procedure is designed to treat female urinary incontinence on an out-patient basis with fewer risks and side effects than surgery.

"I am very excited to be joining forces with Oakwood to bring urogynecology services to its wide patient base," said

"Urogynecology is a specialty much needed in the community and I look forward to this opportunity to reach a new segment of the population anxious to eliminate these conditions."

Internet access in your car changes driving experience being connected has been the buzzwords when it comes to the Internet.

First, we saw Internet access move from the work place and schools, converging in our homes. Then we saw various forms of media converge around the World Wide Web, such as print and pictures, audio and video, that turned webpages into multimedia wonders.

Now, we're networking multiple computers in the home. And technology companies are working on so-called "Internet devices," things like toasters and microwaves, air conditioning and home security systems, that can be remotely controlled via the Net.

But General Motors thinks the ultimate convergence of the Internet will occur in our automobiles. Last week in Las Vegas, GM announced that starting Convergence and in 2000, it will offer Internet access in select Cadillac models. The service will later expand to other GM models.

Americans spend a total of about 500 million hours a week in their cars. That's a lot of down time. Being online while on-the-road could make for a much more efficient commute, GM reasons, thinking lots of us who live in "Internet time" will welcome the Net into our cars.

"We think offering personalized webbased services will usher in a new era in automotive communications that will change the role of cars and trucks for the American driving public," said Rick Wagoner, GM's president and CEO.

The reason we haven't seen the Internet in our cars until now has largely been safety-related. The technology to reliably connect to the Net from our cars has been available for a couple of years. It's the danger of having to look away from the road to read Internet messages on an in-dash computer screen, that has stopped manufacturers from harnessing that technology

GM's innovative approach will deliver the Internet through something called the OnStar Virtual Advisor, a personalized service that uses wireless technology, state-of-the-art voice recognition and text-to-speech synthesis to audibly deliver e-mail. Net-based news stories, sports scores and stock reports.

There is no computer screen to distract the driver. The whole process is hands-free and works through driver voice commands. Saying something as simple as "Get e-mail" activates the system, sending it out on the Net to gather your e-mail. The text messages are then instantly processed by the OnStar system and read back by a synthesized voice.

GM expects that as many as a million people will sign up for its OnStar services in the next 18 months. Besides the Internet, OnStar offers driver navigation services through an in-vehicle Global Positioning System satellite device that keeps track of exactly where you are. Real, live people called OnStar Advisors are instantly reachable by a touch of a button for turn-by-turn directions. The advisors can also summon help the event of an accident or breakdown.

The convergence of the Internet with all these on-board vehicle services is something all the carmakers are working on. But by announcing last week that personalized web-based services for a production model automobile will be offered next year, GM plans to out scoop the competition.

And e-mail and the other services are (near Evergreen). just the start.

At the sneak peek given journalists last week in Las Vegas, GM talked about other Internet innovations slated for our driving time. GM engineers showed me how a Paim VII personal digital assistant can be used to remotely unlock a vehicle, or flash the lights or sound the horn.

The automaker plans to offer Internet access capabilities that will allow MP3. music files to be downloaded from a home PC and then uploaded to a vehicle's entertainment system.

And just as many people now watch satellite TV at home, GM plans to offer satellite radio capabilities into cars and trucks so that drivers can receive as many as 100 stations anywhere in the U.S.
