Goal: $120,000

Need has no season

This year's local Salvation Army Red Kettle campaign has reached nearly 69 percent of its goal of $120,000. "We're moving along," said Lt. Chuck Yockey, corps commander. The campaign will continue through Christmas Eve. "I really, really appreciate everything the community is doing," Yockey said, urging people to dig deep this holiday season. The Salvation Army expression "Need has no season" certainly applies, he said, as money given now will fund programs throughout the year. Checks should be made payable to The Salvation Army.

THE WEEK AHEAD

Closings: Westland City Hall will close Dec. 23-24 and Dec. 30-31. Emergency services won't be affected. The 18th District Court will close Dec. 23-24 and Dec. 30-31. The Westland library will close Dec. 24-26 and Dec. 31 through Jan. 2.

MONDAY

City Hall: The Westland City Council will meet at 7 p.m. at City Hall. This will be the final meeting for retiring Councilwoman Justine Barns. There will be a 6:15 p.m. study session (city audit).

Teachers OK contract extension

A majority of Wayne-Westland teachers favored a four-year contract extension. The Central Office Administrators Association in the district has ratified a three-year pact. Both contracts face school board approval.

Wayne-Westland teachers ratified a four-year contract extension Wednesday that keeps annual pay raises under 3 percent.

About 62 percent of voting teachers favored the new pact, indicating less than overwhelming support for it.

"I understand that the teachers wanted more, and the union wanted to get more for them," Wayne-Westland Education Association President Steve Becher said.

"I think they deserve more, but the district didn't have the resources to provide a lot more," he said.

The new agreement adds four years to a contract that expires next Sept. 1.

In all, 600 teachers favored the new pact and 308 opposed it, Becher said. The school board is expected to approve it Jan. 4.

"We can anticipate labor peace for four years out as we continue to face the (financial) challenges that are in front of us," Wayne-Westland Superintendent Greg Baracy said.

Teachers will receive annual pay raises of 2.5 percent for the first two years and 2.75 percent for the last two years.

"Unfortunately we're not in the same economic situation as the Farmingtons and the Livonias," Becher said.

Parity question

He said Wayne-Westland has lost $7 million in revenues each year since major school-funding changes occurred in 1994, when voters passed Proposal A.

"We know we'll never reach parity with Bloomfield Hills and the richer districts," Becher said. "Proposal A has really devastated Wayne-Westland in terms of finances."

Local teacher salaries now range from $29,817 for a new teacher with a bachelor's degree to $76,940 for a teacher who has 13 years of experience

Stalker of teacher could get 90 days

BY DARRELL CLEM

A John Glenn High School student who admitted stalking a teacher will be sentenced Wednesday in Westland 18th District Court.

Derek Ingle, who confronted the teacher near her classroom Wednesday despite being ordered to stay off school property, could face 90 days in jail.

Ingle pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor stalking charge on Thursday — one day after police arrested him at his Westland home.

Ingle, a 17-year-old special education student, was jailed in lieu of a $50,000 cash bond.

"He has been bothering the teacher since last August," Westland police Sgt. Michael Terry said. "It started off with what appeared to be a slight infatuation."

Problems allegedly escalated until Ingle in October was slapped with a personal protection order barring him from contacting the teacher or coming onto school property, Terry said.

"He has been on school property a couple of times since then," the sergeant said. "Wednesday, he went to the second floor and confronted the teacher out by her classroom, asking her why she did this to him."

Ingle left school after the 8:30 a.m. incident but was arrested about two hours later, Terry said.

The teacher was described as married and in her 30s, and her only involvement with the suspect had been as his teacher, Terry said.

Ingle had been accused of stalking the teacher away from school, too.

Police-fire communications enhanced in city

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER
dclem@oe.homecomm.net

Residents' calls for help for police and fire emergencies are being handled more efficiently now that Westland and four other cities have a new communications system, officials say.

Dispatchers and public safety officers won't be competing for air time and cutting into each other's conversations with the new 800-megahertz system that uses 11 frequencies.

The system came with a $6 million price tag paid by participating cities of Westland, Garden City, Wayne, Dearborn Heights and Inkster. "This is a state-of-the-art operation," Westland Police Chief Emery Price said.

The Westland department is home to a 300-foot-high communications tower for the new system, which just ended its first week with few snags.

"Everything works," Westland police Lt. Steve Ryskamp said. "Virtually, you have your own channel for each department. Basically, Westland (dispatchers and officers) can only hear Westland, but you can talk to other departments if you need to."

Dispatchers and police say their radio communication is much clearer on the new system, compared to an old system that crackled and had voice interruptions.

"We were all fighting for air time," Westland Sgt. Harry Misener said.

"There's really no comparison between the new system and the old one," Price said.

Westland, Garden City, Wayne and Dearborn Heights are using the system at their own departments, and Inkster plans to shift its dispatching duties and several employees to Westland's department as early as next month.

Dispatchers rave about the new system.

"It's fantastic," Westland dispatcher Gail Lazosky said. "It's so much more efficient. Everything is at your fingertips."

Lazosky also said working conditions have improved inside a 2,700-square-

Credit union, school have great partnership

Every child at Jefferson-Barns Elementary School received an early Christmas gift Wednesday because Wayne-Westland Federal Credit Union volunteers cared enough to get involved.

"Today has been a terrific day for each student," Principal Michael Holuta said. "Their eyes are wide open."

Credit union employees volunteered their time on their day off to deliver coats, games, Barbies, mittens, hats, action figures and other gifts to Jefferson-Barns' 282 students.

"We want to make sure that all the kids get at least one present," Ruth Johnson, credit union administrative assistant, said.

To collect gifts, volunteers placed a mitten for every student on a Christmas tree in the credit union lobby.

Mirth and merriment abound as good cause receives a boost

The Westland Community Foundation presented its holiday program Wednesday at the Hel- lenic Cultural Center. The focus was on helping oth- ers, with admission by an unwrapped toy for children helped by The Salvation Army in Westland, or by canned/boxed food.

A sing-along highlighted the evening with pianist Stefan Kukurugya. The Northwest Vicariste Handbell Choir and Singers also performed. Songs of the season were evident.

"It was great, a nice party," said Glenn Shaw Jr., foundation chairman. "We got a lot of toys for the kids in Westland."

Shaw said the "great toys" were worth some $2,500 to $3,000. "The toys are just incredible."

He said attendance was 150-200, a festive crowd. "We had people singing Christmas carols."

The ongoing annual event started with Shaw as a private party and evolved into a foundation one several years ago with the foundation's creation. The foundation also has "Christmas in July" and the Spring Ball, its two major fund-raisers.

Shaw laughed when it was suggested that a beach theme be adopted in December, to comple- ment "Christmas in July."

The music enhanced the evening, he said. "It was just a nice evening. You get to see peo- ple." Those include Westland civic leaders, civic leaders from other communities and other residents and business people.

"So it's just a nice mixture of people."

Pet visitation program brings smiles of delight all around

By KATHLEEN MOORADIAN
SPECIAL WRITER

The first Saturday of each month is a special day for the residents at Presbyterian Village in Redford, thanks to several volunteers from the Pet-A-Pet organization.

The volunteers and their pets spend a couple hours visiting with senior citizens and providing them an opportunity to interact with a family pet.

This visit is planned and directed by Danielle Manning, a bright, energetic 15-year-old who has been a Pet-A-Pet volunteer since she was 9.

For the first four years, she visited the village with her family dog, and for the last two years she has been coordinator of the Presbyterian Village Chapter of the Pet-A-Pet organization.

She credits Ruth Curry, the organization founder, and Natalie Hansen, former coordinator, for encouraging her to continue her work.

"It's fun," said Manning. "It feels good to do this for the senior citizens. They really enjoy spending time with the animals."

It takes a couple hours a month to contact the volunteers to remind them of the visit, and she also has to keep the paperwork in order.

All of the pets are required to be in good health and have current shots.

As the coordinator, Manning must review the records and notify the volunteers when it's time for their pet's shots.

"This is really good for the senior citizens and it's also good for our pets," said Kay Mills, who has been volunteering with her white shepherd Maverick for several years.

Volunteer Patty Riggio and daughter Roxanne agree.

"It socializes our pets and teaches them good manners too" said Patty. Big Dog, her peek-a-poo, and Vino, her Rhodesian ridgeback, lapped up the attention.

For the senior citizens, it's a pleasure. "I can't have a pet of my own now, so I really enjoy other people's pets," said resident Dorothy Smith.

"Oh, this is a great joy" said Ruth May Nagle, another Village resident. "I look forward to this every month. I really enjoy these dogs, especially little dogs that can sit on my lap."

The Pet-A-Pet organization was founded 13 years ago by Ruth Curry. With her father in a nursing home, she wanted to find something to bring to the seniors, some of whom don't get out of their rooms.

After hearing about the positive effects of "pet therapy," she launched Pet-A-Pet.

The organization has grown to include more nursing homes and children's hospitals in several communities throughout southeastern Michigan. If you are interested in volunteering for the Pet-A-Pet organization, contact Ruth Curry at (313) 535-0410.

Amber Alert links police, media on kidnappings

BY MATT JACHMAN
STAFF WRITER
mjachman@hometown.com

A planned link between law enforcement and the electronic media is designed to foil child kidnappings in Michigan in their early stages.

Amber Alert, through which a police agency can, with a single fax, inform all radio and television stations in its area of a child abduction, has proven successful in Texas and California, its proponents said Thursday.

The systems can make the public, including motorists who are listening to their vehicle radios, the eyes and ears of the police shortly after a kidnapping is confirmed.

"We think this is a really terrific program," said U.S. Sen.

Spencer Abraham (R-Mich.) on Thursday. "It'll give us one more tool to be as effective as we can."

"It should be effectively implemented in every corner of this country," said Mark Klaas, the father of a 12-year-old, Billy Klaas, who was abducted in California in 1993 and later murdered.

Abraham, Klaas, Michigan State Police Sgt. Greg Jones and others joined Livonia Mayor Jack Kirkey and Police Chief Pete Kunst at Livonia Police Department headquarters Thursday to announce the program. Amber Alert of Michigan president Robin Trumbull said the system should be up and running by March.

With Amber Alert, named after 9-year-old Amber Hagerman of Arlington, Texas, who was kidnapped and killed in 1996, police fax descriptions of the child, his or her abductor and any vehicle involved to Michigan State Police, along with other relevant information, once they confirm an abduction has taken place and the child is in danger.

State police then notify the media in that area. Radio stations are to interrupt programming to broadcast the information, while television stations can display it in a "crawl" across the bottom of viewers' screens.

"By activating Amber Alert, we create a net," Jones said.

The system has been successful in two cases, Trumbull said. In one, a motorist spotted an abductor's pickup truck minutes after a broadcast and called police. In another, an abductor who heard his own description on the radio got scared and returned the child.

"It's much more effective when you've got 10,000 people looking for a perpetrator" as opposed to a dozen or so law enforcement officials, Trumbull said.

Kunst said the system would save critical time in the case of child abductions. Right now, he said, a detective would have to be pulled off the case to notify all broadcast outlets individually and explain the details.

"In a critical incident, such as an abduction, time is of the essence," Kunst said.

In order to prevent abuses, a standard set of criteria would have to be met before a case could be broadcast on Amber Alert, Jones said. The exact criteria have not been finalized, he said.

Klaas said that when his daughter was kidnapped, it was decided the information should not be for the media. Therefore, it was not broadcast to police in the field because it was feared the media would be monitoring the police radio frequency.

Two sheriff's deputies unwittingly helped the abductor 20 minutes after the kidnapping, Klaas said.

"They helped him pull his car out of a ditch and sent him on his way. Unbelievable," he said.

Trumbull said Amber Alert of Michigan has applied for non-profit status and is accepting donations. Trumbull, of Battle Creek, can be contacted at (616) 964-7100 or (616) 789-1302, or via e-mail at amberalertofmi@

Klaas said his organization, the Klaas Kids Foundation, will match, up to $3,000, donations to Amber Alert of Michigan.

Madonna launches adult nurse practitioner master's program

Anticipating the future career needs of nurses, Madonna University in Livonia will offer a new master's degree and certificate program with an adult nurse practitioner specialty. The program, which begins in January 2000, prepares nurses to diagnose and manage primary health needs of adults.

According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, future career opportunities will be best for nurses with advanced education and training, such as nurse practitioners. Overall, the Bureau predicts that employment of registered nurses is expected to grow faster than the average, or 21 to 35 percent, for all occupations through the year 2006.

"The adult nurse practitioner specialty provides the advanced practice nurse with the knowledge to make sophisticated health management decisions," said Dr. Mary Wawrzynski, dean of the College of Nursing and Health. "The training is vital, since an increasing number of complex procedures, which once were performed only in hospitals, are being carried out in physician's offices and clinics."

The adult practitioner specialization will be offered as a master of science in nursing degree, as well as a post-master's certificate for nurses who already possess a master of nursing degree.

Upon completion of either the master's degree or the certificate, students will have the educational theory and clinical practice necessary to take the National Adult Nurse Practitioner Certification exam through the American Nurse Credentialing Center and become licensed as a Nurse Practitioner in the State of Michigan.

Students enrolled in the program will benefit from the expertise of faculty members who are active nurse practitioners.

"The nursing faculty are pleased and excited to now offer the adult nurse practitioner specialty and post master's certificate. The nurse practitioner specialty will allow our graduates to work in multiple practice settings, offering comprehensive primary health care in collaboration with other health providers," said Betty Dornbrook, assistant professor and a nurse practitioner.

Dornbrook will coordinate the program with Deborah Dunn, also an assistant professor and nurse practitioner. Assistant professors Gail Lis and Therese Jamison, nurse practitioner, will teach in the program along with Duan and Dornbrook.

For convenience of students, classes will be scheduled in the evenings and other suitable times.

"We recognize that students who enroll in the program will most likely be working adults, so we have designed the program so it can be completed on a part-time basis," said Dr. Edith Raleigh, dean of graduate studies.

The Madonna University nursing program was established in 1962 and is one of the largest four-year nursing programs in Michigan. At the graduate level, the College of Nursing and Health also offers a master of science in nursing with specialties in nursing administration, adult health, chronic health conditions, as well as a dual degree in nursing administration and business. The adult practitioner post-graduate certificate joins two existing certificates for the nurse educator and nurse entrepreneur.

Business panel gives upbeat forecast for metro economy

BY MIKE MALOTT
HOMETOWN NEWS SERVICE
mmalott@hometown.com

After nine years of economic expansion, one of the longest periods of growth in U.S. history, a slowdown could actually provide some welcome relief.

"There is going to be a mild pullback, there is no question," Larry Yost, chairman and CEO of Meritor Automotive, told members of the Detroit Economic Club Monday, Dec. 13, during its annual Economic Outlook Luncheon. "For those of us that are in the (auto) industry, it is expected. Not only expected, it is welcomed... We look it as an opportunity to get some breathing space... It is time for us to get back to basics. There are a lot of things we need to work on, time to market, time to customer. And given all the overtime that we have all been putting in, it is really important that we get back into balance our work and families, because people have been spending too much time at work."

Still, that "pull back" won't necessarily be recessionary. Yost explained that while initial projections for the year 2000 had been that the economy would see at least one quarter of "negative numbers," the belief now is that overall the economy will grow 3 percent for the year. He said he could only describe that as "robust."

That was the consensus of the remainder of the panel, selected by the Economic Club to give a look ahead at business, jobs and spending for the coming year... at least one more year of growth before any slow down is anticipated.

In fact, Eugene Miller, chairman and CEO of Comerica Bank, said the biggest danger to the U.S. economic outlook is that "federal spending is accelerating in anticipation of the election next year. The markets no longer 'look kindly at election year.'"

Tim O'Brien, of O'Brien Waterford Construction in Pontiac, told the Economic Club he foresees a 7 percent growth in the construction industry in the Detroit area, surpassing the national expectations for the building industry. In the Detroit area, construction will continue to be dominated by "mega-projects," like casinos and sports stadiums in Detroit, he said. "Housing starts will likely decline by about 7.5 percent. Despite that drop, the decline in units represents a number similar to what was the entire market only a few short years ago."

The biggest obstacle to construction is a shortage of labor, O'Brien said.

Floyd Hall, chairman, president and CEO of the Troy-based Kmart Corp., said that even if there is a slow down in the economy generally, an "anticipated increase in the population in the Detroit metropolitan region" will bring retailers here more customers.

The real challenge to retailers, he said, will be the growth of e-commerce, purchases made over the Internet. It won't be additional spending, he concluded. The money spent on purchases made over the World Wide Web will be money transferred from more traditional "bricks and mortar" retailers. But, he predicted, as more traditional retailers enter the e-commerce arena, there will likely be a shakeout of companies doing business on the Web. Kmart, for instance, plans to jump into sales over the Web in the coming year, he said.

Miller said he believes the current booming economy can be sustained into the next century, as long as business and political leaders remember what brought us to this point.

Miller said the Federal Reserve's "focused resolve" at keeping fluctuations in interest rates down has had much to do with that growth.

Additionally, four factors have contributed to the length and strength of the current economic boom - declining inflation and a strong dollar; streamlining of businesses, both through mergers and internal cost cutting; waves of new technology; and increased globalization of trade.

If businesses and political leaders remain focused on those areas, Miller said, it should be "more of the same" for the economy in the future.

Fire training key to public safety

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER
dclem@oe.homedomain.net

Local businesses are expected to become better protected from fires as Westland fire inspectors move beyond state-level training to achieve national schooling, officials said.

New training will help inspectors become more proficient at inspecting businesses, testing fire-protection systems and reviewing plans for new buildings, Westland Fire Marshal Patrick Harder said.

"We're very happy our people are pursuing these avenues. It's good for them, and it's good for our citizens," he said.

The ultimate goal will be to avoid possible fires, injuries and even deaths by making Westland buildings safer.

Two fire inspectors, Assistant Fire Marshal Chris Szpara and Capt. Gary Leirstein, already have completed the first of three training levels in the National Fire Inspector Certification program, Harder said.

"In the past, we've pretty much kept our training to the state level," he said.

Szpara and Leirstein spent 10 months on in-house studies and field work that culminated in a four-hour written examination that they passed.

"Now they will go for two more levels (of training). What this is really doing for them is giving them more in-depth training than they're getting at the state level," Harder said.

A third inspector is expected to start the program within the next year.

"We hope to have all three of our inspectors certified (at all three levels) within the next two to three years," Harder said.

In a separate program, Leirstein has completed an intense, two-week course in the Principles of Fire Protection and Structures and Systems at the Maryland-based National Fire Academy.

"It's a very prestigious academy," Harder said. "There are very few people who are accepted into those courses. Gary was lucky enough to get accepted."

The course drew firefighters from as far away as Australia and England and focused on topics such as legal matters for fire inspectors, extensive reviews of new building plans, conducting in-depth inspections, and testing of fire protection systems.

Fires reported

The Westland Fire Department last week responded to two structure fires, including one that killed a pet dog.

Firefighters were called to a fire at Sheltering Pines condominiums about 1 p.m. Dec. 11. Fire damage was confined to the kitchen area, but extensive smoke damage was evident throughout the condo, Deputy Chief David Carignan said.

Firefighters discovered that the owner of the condo had tried to put out the fire with a kitchen fire extinguisher.

Fire officials recommend that homeowners not risk their lives by attempting to enter a burning room, Carignan said.

The owner said he returned home from a store and was hit in the face by hot smoke when he opened his door. He hoped to rescue his black Labrador retriever, Carignan said.

However, the pet couldn't escape the heat and smoke that had traveled up the stairwell. Firefighters recovered the animal's body and took it to the Michigan Humane Society.

A small appliance on the counter started the fire. The overall loss to the interior, as well as its contents, was estimated at $30,000.

The second fire occurred about 9 p.m. Wednesday on Powers in Westland's south end. Firefighters found a vacant single-family home suffering heavy smoke damage and with fire coming from a rear window, Carignan said.

Firefighters were able to contain the fire quickly.

Investigators haven't made a final determination of cause, but said the fire appeared to have begun in the bathroom.

Neighbors said the house has been vacant for the last month or so. No gas service was being supplied to the dwelling. A Consumers Energy spokesman said gas service had been discontinued for a month. The estimated loss was $20,000 to $30,000.

This is the second fire near the corner of Powers and Harrison within the last year. The first home has been razed.

ORDER TO ANSWER BY PUBLICATION WITH MAILING REQUIREMENT
EXCLUDED

At a session of said Court held in the City-County Building, City of Detroit, County of Wayne, State of Michigan on November 23, 1999.

On August 25, 1999, an action was filed by the Plaintiff, the City of Westland, against Defendants, UNION INVESTMENT COMPANY, n/a/
NORTHWEST ACCEPTANCE CORPORATION, RICHARD LEE PETERSON and JEAN GAUTZ, in this Court to quiet title on a parcel of real property located in the City of Westland, Michigan, described as The North 72.0 feet of Lot #50, Supervisor's Nankin Plat No. 18, as recorded in Liber 70, Page 1, of Plats, Wayne County Records.

The Plaintiff acquired title to this property via a tax deed and/or quit claim deed from the State of Michigan on February 18, 1998.

Upon information and belief, the Plaintiff believes that the Defendants, UNION INVESTMENT COMPANY, n/a/NORTHWEST ACCEPTANCE CORPORATION, RICHARD LEE PETERSON and JEAN GAUTZ, at one time claimed or have claimed an interest in this property which, by virtue of the tax deed and/or quit claim deed from the State of Michigan to the City of Westland has expired. The purpose of this action is to declare that the Plaintiff, the City of Westland, is the sole owner of said property and that any interest the Defendants may have had in said property has expired.

Upon consideration of the Verified Motion of Plaintiff, and the Affidavit in Support thereof, attesting to the fact that the Defendants, UNION INVESTMENT COMPANY, n/a/
NORTHWEST ACCEPTANCE CORPORATION, RICHARD LEE PETERSON and JEAN GAUTZ, in this action cannot be personally served with a Summons and a copy of the Complaint herein because their present whereabouts are unknown, and they have no last known address, and that publication of notice of this action in a newspaper of general circulation is most likely to give notice to these Defendants, and it appearing to this Court that Plaintiff, after diligent inquiry, has been unable to ascertain the Defendants' residence or other address or where they can be served, and it further appearing that the Defendants' service of the Summons and Complaint in this action cannot be made on the Defendants for the above stated reasons, and that publication is the best means available to apprise Defendants of the pendency of this action.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the Defendants, UNION INVESTMENT COMPANY, n/a/
NORTHWEST ACCEPTANCE CORPORATION, RICHARD LEE PETERSON and JEAN GAUTZ, shall answer to the Complaint in this action on or before the 24th day of February, 2000, serve an answer on Mark A. McConnell, attorney for Plaintiff, whose address is 3830 Nankin Boulevard, Suite 702, Westland, Michigan, 48185, or such other address as may be furnished by law. Failure to comply with this Order may result in a judgment by default against the Defendant for the relief demanded in the Complaint filed in this Court.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that a copy of this Order be published once a week for three consecutive weeks, commencing December 5, 1999, December 12, 1999, and December 19, 1999 in the Westland Observer and Eccentric! Newspaper, a newspaper of general circulation hereby designated as most likely to give notice to the Defendants named above. Publication shall occur within the County of Wayne, Michigan.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the first publication of this Order be made within 90 days from the date of entry of this Order, and that mailing a copy of this Order be dispensed with because Plaintiff cannot, with reasonable diligence, ascertain a place where the Defendants would probably appear. This notice transmitted by mail.

ees took the mittens and returned with gifts, while others chose to give money.

"One (elderly) couple spent $350 and brought back numerous gifts. They have no grandchildren," Johnson said. "Every year, we raise close to $4,000 in money, alone, plus the gifts. We put all the money in a fund to shop for gifts."

"We're getting these kids something that they can really use," she said. "Then the volunteer employees take the gifts to the school."

The program emerged after Wayne-Westland Federal Credit

Union decided five years ago to "adopt" Jefferson-Barns Elementary. The school is located in a largely low-income neighborhood.

"The program has been so successful," Johnson said. Holuta agreed.

"It means that every student is acknowledged for their behavior, for the good things that they've done, for their accomplishments," he said. "Every student is rewarded. What's most important to me is that we can find good in every student, and that's what we've done."

"He also had gone to her home," Terry said. "She lives in a neighboring community."

"There's been no threat to the school or involvement of any other students," Terry said.

When asked if Ingle had threatened violence against the teacher, Terry replied, "He made a veiled threat that he might want to hurt her."

Glenn High Principal Neil Thomas declined to discuss the situation, and Wayne-Westland Superintendent Greg Baracy said he could say little.

"At this point in time, it's in the hands of the court," he said. "He's out of school now because he's incarcerated."

Baracy couldn't say whether Ingle will continue to be barred from school or eventually allowed to return. Baracy said he won't discuss any pending disciplinary measures.

Terry said it is the police department's hope that Ingle gets help.

"He's troubled," Terry said, "and it's our hope that he gets some type of care."

1.6 million to travel over the Christmas holidays

An estimated 1.6 million Michiganders - 17 percent of state residents - have travel plans for the upcoming Christmas/New Year's holiday period, according to a AAA Michigan survey. The number represents an increase over last year, when 1.4 million state residents made holiday travel plans.

Although 71 percent of travelers surveyed plan on visiting relatives, only 37 percent of those traveling will remain in Michigan. Popular destinations outside Michigan include Florida (18 percent), California (13 percent) and Indiana (13 percent).

Six percent of respondents indicated they have special travel plans related to the celebration of the Year 2000.

"We anticipate busy travel volumes - on land, sea and air," said AAA Michigan Director of Vendor Relations and Travel Support Larry Dickens. "We're booking cruises and land packages this season. As usual, we urge travelers to plan ahead and remain calm when things get crowded."

Other survey findings:
 ■ The average trip will include three travelers and last eight days - three days longer than the average Thanksgiving weekend trip - and the average amount spent will be nearly $880.

■ Eighty-four percent of the trips planned will be inside the United States, with 87 percent of those trips exceeding 100 miles.

■ Most of the Michigan destinations will be in the Lower Peninsula (93 percent), and these are most likely to be in the northwest (23 percent), southwest (10 percent) and central (19 percent) regions.

■ Seventy-two percent of all trips will be by car, truck or van. Thirty-two percent will travel by air, an increase of six percentage points over last year.

TOP 10 DESTINATIONS

Based on requests for AAA TourBook (guides and TripTik) routings, this winter's top 10 destinations (including Christmas/New Year holiday period) are:

By air: 1) Orlando, 2) Las Vegas, 3) Tampa, 4) Phoenix, 5) Caribbean.

By land: 1) Florida (Orlando, Daytona, Gulf Coast), 2) South Carolina (Myrtle Beach), 3) New York (NYC and ski resorts), 4) Ontario (Niagara Falls, Toronto), 5) Illinois (Chicago).

Michigan motorists can expect to pay about 39 cents more for a gallon of gas this year.

Nationwide, a near-record 44.6 million Americans are expected to travel during the Christmas/New Year's holiday - the second-highest number for any holiday period. Growth in travel for this period has increased 63 percent since the beginning of the decade. Approximately 35 million people plan to travel by auto this holiday period, while 9.6 million will go by plane, train or bus.

The official 78-hour Christmas holiday period begins at 6 p.m.

Thursday, Dec. 23, and runs to midnight Sunday, Dec. 26. The 1999-2000 New Year holiday period (also 78 hours) begins at 6 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 30 and runs to midnight Sunday, Jan. 2.

During last year's 78-hour Christmas holiday period, eight persons died in Michigan in eight fatal traffic crashes. None of the crashes were alcohol-related, and restraints were not used by two of the victims who had belts available.

During last year's 78-hour New Year holiday period, 12 people died in 12 fatal crashes statewide. At least two of last year's crashes were alcohol-related, and restraints were not used by four of the victims who had belts available.

AAA Michigan reminds motorists that, as of Oct. 1, 1999, they will face tough new drunk driving laws. Drivers convicted of drunk driving now face severe consequences, including loss of vehicle.

AAA Michigan urges motorists to allow extra time, buckle safety belts, get plenty of sleep and avoid alcohol for a complete list of non-alcoholic drink recipes, visit News & Info at www.aaa-mich.com.

Schoolcraft registering for online classes

Persons who believe they are too busy with job, family or other time constraints to get a college degree can earn college credits through Schoolcraft College distance learning classes. There are 44 distance learning classes offered during the winter semester, including 24 telecourses and 20 online courses.

New online courses include Introduction to Literature; Shakespeare, 19th Century America, Microsoft Word '97, State and Local Government and Principles of Sociology. Distance learning classes range from art appreciation to economics, philosophy and business.

Classes include both freshman and sophomore levels, and it is possible to earn an associate degree via distance learning.

Classes begin Friday, January 7 and phone-in and walk-in registration continue through January 8, including the holiday break days of Dec. 27-29. For information, call (734) 462-4532.

McKinley Elementary students yuletide givers

Students at McKinley Elementary this holiday season helped make the holidays brighter for needy families in the Livonia school district. Students collected 1,300 food items in a recent collection drive for the needy. They collected the items through an in-school canned food drive that generated 650 items and in a door-to-door collection drive.

High marks: Dispatcher Gail Lazosky likes the new system and work environment.

foot police department addition, built to accommodate the new system. The new system comes ready for other changes, such as when 911 calls made from cellular phones start coming directly to local departments. Those calls are now automatically routed to state police agencies.

Local police officials have struggled for five years to get an 800-megahertz system.

"The chief (Price) got it initiated and started it all," Misener said.

A few local departments already had such a system. Livonia is one.

Price commended a team that he said helped usher in the new system: Ryskamp, Misener, dispatcher coordinator Ellen Florn and systems manager David Rozenbaum.

or more and a doctorate, said Dan Slee, assistant superintendent of employee services.

Only 15 teachers are at the top level, he said. The salary range will be $33,072 to $85,343 when the new contract extension expires in 2003-04, Slee said.

Slee, Baracy and Becher all described the contract as fair considering the district's ongoing financial struggles.

"I believe it's good for all sides," Baracy said. "It's good for the teachers, and it's good for our community."

Among other contract highlights: The instructional day will be lengthened by 20 minutes starting next school year to comply with changing state rules.

Two additional days of instruction will be added for each of the next two years, Slee said. One more day will be added in the third and fourth years, he said.

Four additional half-days of professional development will be added starting next year for teachers, Slee said.

Eight new elementary expressive arts teachers will be hired while the contract is in effect to increase staffing for music, physical education, art and enrichment classes. The new positions will help free up more planning time for regular classroom teachers.

Longtime teachers will be offered a $35,000 early retirement plan if they leave at the end of next school year, amid district hopes of saving money by hiring new, lower-paid teachers.

Teachers will get the Friday before Memorial Day off for the next three years only.

Changes in one of the district's three medical plans for teachers will usher in 20 percent savings, Slee said.

Other staffers

In other contract developments, the 32-member Central Office Administrators Association has ratified a three-year contract extension that also will go to the board for a Jan. 4 vote.

COAA includes employees such as executive directors and executive secretaries, but not the superintendent or his few closest cabinet members.

The current COAA contract expires June 30, 2001.

Union members will receive raises of 2.5 percent for the first year and 2.75 percent for each of the following two years, Slee said.

Their salaries now range from $26,929 to $91,393. When the new contract extension ends in 2003-04, the range will be $29,869 to $101,374, Slee said.

COAA members who retire early next June will get an "incentive" amounting to 40 percent of their salaries, Slee said.

That will generally amount to about $35,000, he said.

COAA members who retire early in 2001 will receive 30 percent of their salaries, he said.

The district won't save as much by replacing administrators as it will by replacing teachers, but school board members wanted to treat the two unions fairly, Slee said.

PSC warns to check your phone bill

Do you routinely review your monthly telephone bill and its itemized charges? If not, the Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC) recommends that all consumers begin checking their monthly bills as a matter of routine.

Telephone bills have become more complex and sometimes may include unfamiliar and even inappropriate or incorrect charges. Therefore, it is wise for consumers to become familiar with the charges their telephone service provider assesses to their account monthly.

A monthly bill will always include charges for basic local exchange service. Other charges may include:

- Costs for optional services, such as a second telephone line;
- Long-distance charges from other companies;
- Voice messaging services;
- Inside-the-home wire maintenance contracts; and
- Customer calling features (the specific names for these services can vary from company to company).

It is a good idea to review your bill monthly to ensure that charges appear only for the services you ordered. If a charge does not appear to be correct, call your local telephone company and request an explanation.

Upon request, the company must provide a complimentary copy of the rate schedule applicable to your usage. Note, however, that the MPSC does not regulate the rates and charges for optional services, and the charges may change without notice.

Unfamiliar charges that may appear on your monthly local and long distance bills and are required by state or federal laws:

- Federal/State Subscriber Line Charges - covers the cost of the local telephone network, with a maximum charge of $3.50 each for a single line and $6.07 for additional residential lines (business line charges are higher).

■ Universal Service Fund, or School/Library Internet Charge - helps provide technology to libraries and public schools, and varies by telephone company.

■ 9-1-1 Surcharge - covers the cost of operating the local emergency phone system.

■ State and Federal Taxes

■ Cellular Phone and Paging Charge - allows cellular phone companies to assess long-distance charges for calls made to cellular phones and pagers; these charges may include long-distance charges and air time.

■ Primary Interexchange Carrier Charge (PICC) - covers the costs of long-distance, interstate, and intrastate telephone networks for use of the local telephone company's network. Charges may vary between telephone companies.

■ Local Number Portability Charge - covers the cost for customers to keep the same telephone number under certain conditions.

For questions regarding the above charges, call your local or long-distance telephone company.

Some actions you can take to protect yourself:

■ Always review the summary of long-distance calls and verify that you or someone in your household is responsible for those listed on the bill.

■ Immediately contact the telephone company and request an investigation if you don't think you are responsible for a particular call.

Because of the changing nature of the telecommunications industry, there may be charges for other telephone services on your bill that are not addressed in this alert (e.g., returned check charge, minimum long-distance calls charge, etc.). If you have questions about other service charges appearing on your bill, contact the telephone company. Always follow up with a letter and keep a copy for your records. Remember basic local service cannot be terminated for non-payment of non-regulated service.

For more information related to your monthly telephone bill, call the MPSC at (800) 292-9555, write to the MPSC Communications Division, Service Quality Section, P.O. Box 30221, Lansing, MI 48909, contact the commission at <http://cia.state.mi.us/mpsc>, or fax the agency at (517) 241-8217.

Information technology is seminar topic

Information technology companies can learn about the future of government contracting in the third in a series of seminars on Wednesday, Jan. 12 at Schoolcraft College. This session in the series, "Coffee with the Colonel," is aimed at IT firms, who will have the opportunity to meet and question

Col. Paul Dronka, commander of defense contract management command - Detroit.

Dronka has 15 years experience working with small businesses, and experience with the Secretary of Army Research and Development (Procurement) at the Pentagon. He will guide the seminar, answer questions and explain how government contracting changes impact individual businesses. The government is this country's single largest buyer of goods and services.

The seminar begins at 8:30 a.m. and ends at 10:30 a.m., in room 310 of the McDowell Center. Other seminars in the series are aimed at disadvantaged 8(a) companies, women-owned firms and any companies unable to attend earlier seminars. The fee for each seminar is $10. Reservations are required and can be made by calling the Business Development Center at (734) 462-4438.

Seminar offered on contracting

If your company is considering competing for government contracts, attend How to Become A Government Contractor at Schoolcraft College Thursday, Jan. 13.

Learn how technological advances have streamlined the dynamics of doing business with the government. Topics include: government registrations; regulations; electronic commerce; electronic funds transfer; available markets and resources; and the services and training programs available at Schoolcraft College's Business Development Center.

The seminar will be presented from 9 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. for a $25 per person fee. To register, call the Business Development Center at (734) 462-4438.

Schoolcraft College is located at 18600 Haggerty Road

Youth hockey champions

Goaltender Doug Borda was named MVP of the Little Caesars Thanksgiving Tournament as the Livonia Midget B Rangers blanked the Westland Predators, 3-0, in the championship game.

The two teams tied 1-1 in a previous meeting.

Aaron Swintek, Andrew Kruk and Andrew Hamme scored goals for the victorious Rangers, sponsored by Kruk Brothers, Campbell Co. and Borda, Inc.

Other wins came against Southfield Omaha (3-1), Great Lakes Flyers (3-2) and Dearborn Heights Capitols (5-1).

Other members of the Rangers include: Alex Williams, Ronnie Friend, Mike Clarey, Mike Targus, Paul Dewitt, Matt Spiteri, Kyle O'Neil, Tom Remillard, Josh Moyer, John Hanley, Brandon Czekaj, Bill Hanley, George Georvassilis, Dave Furtak and Joe Obidzinski.

The head coach is Bob Lake. His assistants are Mark Williams, Jack Remillard, Paul Furtak and Dale Swintek. The team manager is Sue Remillard.

Collegiate notes

Marian College (Fond Du Lac, Wis.) hockey player Scott Ball, a freshman from Garden City High School, was named Midwest Collegiate Hockey Association Player of the Week.

Ball had one goal and one assist, a plus-three rating, in Friday's 5-4 loss to nationally-ranked St. Thomas (Minn.). He had a goal in a 5-4 loss to St. Mary's (Minn.) the next night.

He is the team's second-leading scorer with 19 points.

Kalamazoo College senior defensive tackle Nick Lachapelle, a 1996 Redford Catholic Central graduate from Dearborn, played for the U.S. team against the Mexican National Team in Saturday's Aztec Bowl in Mexico City.

Lachapelle, a first-team Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Conference first-team choice, keyed a defense that set a school record for fewest rushing yards allowed in one season.

Ladywood spiker omitted

Livonia Ladywood 5-foot-8½ senior outside-hitter Rachel Rock should have been listed as one of the Blazers' leading returnees in the Thursday, Dec. 16 high school volleyball previews (for Livonia-Westland).

Holiday baseball camps

Madonna University baseball coach Greg Haeger will conduct a Winter Hitting Camp for baseball Sunday, Dec. 19 and Monday, Dec. 20 at Madonna.

Class times are 1-4 p.m. for 13-18 year-olds and 5-8 p.m. for 8-13 year-olds. Cost to register at the gate is $100 per person.

For further information, call Haeger at (734) 432-5609.

The Wayne State University baseball camp, administered by the WSU baseball staff, will be from 9 a.m. until noon and noon to 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday, Dec. 27-30.

Cost is $150 for all four days. For more information, call WSU coach Rodger George at (248) 477-6590.

Madonna softball camp

Sessions are limited for the Madonna University softball fundamentals camp, which includes all phases of bunting, fielding, throwing, sliding, hitting and defense, 10 a.m.-12:30 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 8, 22 and 29, and 3:30-6 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 15.

Sessions also will be from 2-4:30 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 9, 16, 23 and 30.

Players will also face live pitching and hit off a pitching machine.

The cost is $90 for four sessions. (Checks should be made payable to Madonna University Softball.)

For more information, call MU women's softball coach Al White at (734) 432-5783.

Christmas hockey clinic

Redford Unified hockey coach Pete Mazzoni will host a Christmas Clinic for youth players on at 3 p.m. Monday-Tuesday, Dec. 28-29 at Redford Ice Arena.

Cost is $12 per player, per session. Call Mazzoni at (248) 960-0273 for more information.

Franklin's Jobbitt reaches milestone Gains 200th career win

PREP HOCKEY

Livonia Franklin High hockey coach Terry Jobbitt put win No. 200 in the bank Wednesday night at Edgar Arena.

Actually, it was Sam Dismuke who made the individual deposit, scoring the game-winning goal on an unassisted effort with just 3:20 left to beat Walled Lake Central, 3-1.

Chad Van Hulle added an empty netter from Paul Statham in the final minute to insure the victory for the 18-year coach.

"It's nice to have 200 — all at the same school," said Jobbitt, who took the Franklin reins over in 1982 from Dave Felker. "I do it for the love of the game. I don't do it for money. I enjoy working with the kids and seeing their development, especially the ones who come in from the ninth grade.

"The athletic director (Dan Freeman) and the administration at Franklin has also made it easy for me."

Jobbitt's Patriots improved to 3-2-1 overall and 2-2-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association with the win.

It was 1-1 after one period as Nick Borg scored for Central (1-5-1, 0-4), while Jesse Wright countered with a goal for the Patriots as Dismuke and Adam Beaudoin drew assists.

Central, playing without top defenseman Jason Howell (fractured bone in his hand), got a sterling effort from goaltender Chris Walts, who stopped 19 of 21 shots, many from close range.

Meanwhile, Franklin goaltender Rob Williams faced just eight shots.

"Their goalie was absolutely fabulous," Jobbitt said of Walts. "We came out slow in the first period, but in the second and third periods we played our systems well.

"We played short-handed numerous times, but we came up strong with our penalty-killing."

Meanwhile, Jobbitt doesn't plan to stop at 200. He notched No. 201 Friday against host Plymouth Salem, 9-0, at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

"I'll keep going until it's not fun or I'm not helping the boys anymore," the Franklin coach said. "I'm glad (No. 200) is over. The boys were excited for me tonight."

Former Patriot All-State player Tim Olschanski, Jobbitt's top assistant coach the past eight years, doesn't see his 52-year-old mentor stepping down anytime soon.

"He'll stay in it long enough if he can keep teaching the game of hockey, teaching the game of life and having fun," said Olschanski, now 30. "I played three years for 'Coach' and he was strict, but fair.

"As a coach he taught a lot of lessons

Charger goalie stops Stevenson

BY BRAD EMONS

bemons@oe.homecomm.net

Every hockey team now has a loss in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Livonia Stevenson was the last to fall from the ranks of the unbeaten Wednesday as Livonia Churchill skated past the Spartans at Edgar Arena, 3-1.

The outcome left both teams at 4-1 in the WLAA.

The Chargers jumped on top of Stevenson 2-0 after one period on a pair of power-play goals.

After Stevenson was whistled for a delay of game, Churchill's Aaron Jakubowski knocked in a rebound from Sean Smith and Sean Szostak at 2:45.

The Chargers then took advantage of a two-man advantage later in the period when Adam Krug scored from Smith with 5:53 left.

There was no scoring in the second period, but it was not uneventful as Stevenson coach Mike Harris, who had complained loudly to the officials about excessive noise from Churchill's sound system, tipped over a mounted speaker just behind the scoring table. (See related story on page B2.)

Churchill was able to fight off a two-man disadvantage at the end of the period, but Stevenson scored 1:47 into the final period on a goal by Mark Blazok from Mark Nebus and goaltender Kevin Marlowe.

But the Spartans could not get the equalizer past Churchill junior netminder Matt Williams. Jason Turri followed with a short-handed goal from Nathan Jakubowski with 6:35 left to seal the victory.

"We had been in the holiday spirit too long," said Churchill coach Jeff Hatley, whose team was coming off a 4-2 upset loss to city rival Franklin. "We did not want to give Stevenson odd man chances and get caught pinching in.

"Our power-play and penalty-killing came through for us. The kids exuded poise and confidence when the pressure was on and when Stevenson carried the play."

"Matt has done a nice job for us," Hatley said. "He takes it one game at a time. Jim McBroom, our goalie coach, works with him every day and you can see Matt get a little better each time out.

"You can't ask for anything more." Stevenson's inability to work its power-play was a key factor in the defeat.

4-0 Cougars take holiday break GC rips Lincoln Park; St. Mary's routs Shamrocks

Yuletide greetings — Garden City-style.

The Cougars will take a perfect 4-0 boys basketball record into the holiday break after Friday's 72-43 homecourt demolishing of visiting Lincoln Park.

It was the Michigan Mega Conference Blue Division opener for both schools.

The Cougars jumped out to a 24-8 first-period lead by pressuring the Railsplitters (0-4 overall) into a series of turnovers.

It was much of the same in the second quarter as GC outscored Lincoln Park 24-8 again to take a commanding 48-16 halftime advantage.

Senior guard Rob Hudson led the winners with 13 points, while senior forward Jess Webb scored nine of his 12 in the opening quarter.

Sophomore guard Dee Crawford and senior forward Dan Brooks chipped in with nine and eight, respectively. Junior center Justin Ockerman contributed seven points and seven rebounds, Angelo DiMichele also grabbed seven boards.

Junior forward Jeff Brown led Lincoln Park with 10 points.

GC made 11 of 14 free throws (78 percent), while the Railsplitters were 11 of 26 (42 percent).

Garden City resumes its schedule Tuesday, Jan. 4 at home against Livonia Churchill (3-1).

•O.L. ST. MARY'S 71, REDFORD CC 40: Considered the top team in the state regardless of class, Orchard Lake St.

BOYS BASKETBALL WRAP

Mary's (2-0) did little to dispel that notion Friday against visiting Redford Catholic Central (1-1) at Dombrowski Field house.

Senior guard Maurice Searight led the victorious Eagles with 20 points, while Charles Davis and Donnie Jones contributed 12 apiece. Jermaine Gonzales added 11.

"They're real good, every bit of what they say," said CC coach Rick Coratti, whose team trailed 49-19 at the half.

Matt Loidas and Rod Hunt scored 14 and 12, respectively, to lead the Shamrocks.

CC returns to action 1:45 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 28 at University of Detroit Jesuit Tournament against Detroit City.

Coratti said he expects starters Lou Willoughby (concussion) and Ryan Celeskey (flu) to return after missing Friday's game at St. Mary's.

•MELVINDALE 69, THURSTON 66: Poor free throw shooting (two of 10) led to Redford Thurston's undoing Friday at home in a Mega Conference Blue Division opener against the Cardinals (eight of 11).

Melvindale improved to 3-1 overall and 1-0 in the Blue by outscoring Thurston 20-11 in the third period after trailing 33-32 at halftime.

Guard Shaun Calhoun led the Cards with a game-high 28 points. Anthony Zoorski chipped in with 16.

Senior guard Cedric Mann paced Thurston with 24 points, including five triples, and seven assists. Junior guard Matt Nowak added 15 points and seven assists, while Jared Kazmierczak snared seven rebounds.

•SOUTHGATE 82, REDFORD UNION 67: RU's 39-33 halftime lead failed to stand up Friday as visiting Southgate Anderson stormed back in the second half to earn the Mega Conference Blue Division triumph.

Joe Greene and Bobby Garza scored 17 and 16, respectively, to lead the victorious Titans, who outscored RU 26-16 in the third quarter and 20-12 in the final period.

Senior forward Dave Brown paced RU with 17 points, while senior guard Joe Wax and senior center Phil Garrett contributed 10 each. Mike Macek added nine points and 12 rebounds.

"We played faster than our desired tempo in the third and we made some mistakes," RU coach Lloyd Praedel said. "We got within six (66-60) with three minutes before we fell apart."

RU made 14 of 27 free throws, while Southgate was 15 of 23.

•ST. AGATHA 67, OUR LADY OF LAKES 57: Center Greg Russell scored 27 points and hauled down 20 rebounds Friday night to lead the Aggies past the Lakers.

St. Agatha (3-1) squirted out to an 18-14 lead after one quarter and stretched it to 40-29 by the half.

Dan Boulter chipped in with 14 points, and Chris Mayers added 13.

Visiting Our Lady of the Lakes (1-4) got 15 points from Nick Body and 14 from Evan Selahowski.

The Aggies made 7 of 10 free throws while the Lakers were 18 for 24 from the line.

about the game, but also lessons about life.

"I've been with him 12 years now. He's a friend."

Franklin players congratulated Jobbitt afterwards in the dressing room.

"We tried to keep it low key, especially after our big win Friday (4-2 against Churchill)," Olshanski said. "It's a joy and we're glad it came right away."

In 18 years, Jobbitt has noticed a few changes in coaching hockey to high school-age players.

"It's very different now," he said. "The attitudes are different. Back then there was probably less talent, but more desire. Now there's more talent, but maybe less desire."

"Like last year we had a good group, very hard-working and I see a lot of same in this team. I won't trade this team for any."

Chargers 3-1 from page B1

"We dug a hole with two power-play goals and that put us on our heels," Harris said. "Our power-play struggled and that short-handed goal (by Turri) killed us. Special teams killed us."

The Chargers went with an aggressive special teams scheme.

"You can't sit back and be tight in the box, you have to be in the attack mode all the time because we have too much respect for Stevenson and guys like Nebus," Hatley said. "We tried to cut down their passing lanes and their cross ice passes."

"And even though we gave up a power-play goal, we came out of that two-man (disadvantage) in good shape."

The two teams, now in opposite divisions of the WLA, will meet again Friday, Feb. 4 at Edgar.

"We wanted it, but the whole Churchill team played well," Harris said. "We just couldn't execute. Our power-play cost us, but we'll regroup. We have good character."

HIGH SCHOOL HOCKEY ROUNDUP

State-ranked Redford Unified goes to 7-0

Moodie is his last name, not a description of the way he acts on the ice.

Steady would be more like it.

Redford Unified sophomore forward Kevin Moodie scored four goals and added an assist in an 11-1 win Thursday over host Lincoln Park at the Community Center.

Moodie has a team-high eight goals for the Panthers, ranked 10th in Division I with a 7-0 overall record, 3-0 in the Mega.

Eric Pagel was the Panthers netminder, stopping 10 of 11 shots. RU, which fired 33 shots on goal, led 5-1 after one period and 8-1 through two.

Moodie centered a line with Jason Moul, who had one goal and two assists, and Justin Jagosz, who was active despite going scoreless.

"Kevin's had a couple multiple point nights for us," RU coach Pete Mazzoni said. "He just goes about his business, does nothing flashy, but then you look at the score sheet and he's got two, three points. Their line was all over the place tonight."

Joining Moul with a goal and two assists was senior center Steve Elliott.

Picking up one goal and one assist each were senior defensemen Kyle Robertson and Justin Rosin, senior winger Nick Ostrowski and junior winger Brad Johnson.

"Playing in their place will be tough to do."

CHURCHILL 3, P.H. NORTHERN 1: Three goals in the middle period carried Livonia Churchill (5-3 overall) to the non-league victory over Port Huron Northern in a battle of Division I state-ranked teams Friday at Edgar Arena.

Adam Krug deked out Northern netminder Duke Campbell on an unassisted short-handed effort at 5:22.

Sean Smith's rebound goal at 8:52 made it 2-0. Krug and Tom Sherman drew assists. Adam Jakubowski then went top-shelf from Ryan McDonnell and Jason Turri at 9:39.

Jason Gray's power-play goal with 50 seconds left in the third period ruined Churchill goaltender Matt Williams (17 saves) bid for a shutout.

manance in net, allowed the game-winning goal off the stick of Craig Hartz with 1:44 left in the first 8-minute overtime.

"I was really proud of our team, they showed a lot of heart and character," Stevenson coach Mike Harris said.

Marquette is now 3-0 overall, while Stevenson falls to 4-3.

Stevenson met Ann Arbor Pioneer in Saturday's consolation final.

Calumet beat Pioneer in the other game, 3-0.

Temperatures hovered around 15 degrees with a foot of snow on the ground. Stevenson's charter bus broke down after the game due to a frozen air pressure line.

Panthers relying on family history

By Steve Swanson
 Sports Editor
 swanson@observer.com

Senior Union juniors Nicol McCausland and Amy Walker used to pick up volleyballs for RU coach Viki Toth.

Now Toth is happy when the two are putting one down, as in a kill for a point.

McCausland and Walker had older sisters play for the Panthers and were ball girls on the teams Toth played on before Toth started a volleyball career at Madonna University.

McCausland's sister Kelly McCausland, a 1998 RU graduate, was an all-American at Madonna. Walker's sister, Theresa, a 1994 RU graduate, played at Concordia College.

It's ironic the younger sisters are now among the Panthers' best hitters, McCausland standing 5-8-6-9 and Walker 5-10.

They are two reasons Toth is optimistic RU can have a successful season in her fourth year as coach.

"Amy is a huge force in the front row and is a natural at a lot of the skills that the game requires," Toth said. "She's very strong and is running all sorts of different hits with the setter. She has long arms and is able to get on top of the ball to put it down to the floor with authority."

"Nicol has a great volleyball build. Her vertical has increased by an inch and a half since last season and she has really stepped it up this season thus far. She will be a huge force for us. She has the ability to put a smile on everyone's face around her but when she steps on the court she's all business."

The Panthers have four seniors, six juniors and one sophomore on their roster.

Among the seniors is Bernadette Merriman, a 5-foot-7 outside hitter who has a chance at playing in college, according to Toth.

"She's stronger than ever and very focused on ending her high school career with a bang," Toth said. "She's jumping out of the gym right now and has matured dramatically since her sophomore year as a player and a person."

Erin Lisura, a 5-7 senior, and Sharon Barnes, a 5-8 senior, also are counted on as hitters.

"Lisura has potential to be a huge asset," Toth said. "She has great leaps but is a bit quiet. I'm trying to get her to open up a little bit."

"Sharon didn't get much playing time last season but I will be looking to her for bigger and better things this season. I like having her on the right side."

Alex Booser, another 5-8 senior outside hitter, also will battle for playing time.

"She's a great leader and role model for others," Toth said.

The tallest player on the roster is 6-11 junior Debbie Hitt, who was promoted to the varsity last year for the districts. She also should start, Toth said.

"She's an animal at the net, very aggressive and exactly what we needed," Toth said. "She's magically motivating for the team. She has more potential than most players I've coached."

The setter appears to be junior Megan Kelley, who is "probably the smartest and quickest defensive specialist that I have seen walk through RU," according to Toth.

This is her first full year as a setter after concentrating on defensive specialist.

"She is a rock solid athlete who does not give up until the whistle blows," Toth continued. "The middle of last season I decided that she was the only one tough enough to follow in the footsteps of all conference setter Debbie Christensen."

The Panthers also can depend on junior defensive specialist Cassiopia Urban and 5-11 sophomore outside hitter Franny Deering.

Urban has some roots at RU like Walker and McCausland.

"The Urbans are all about power," Toth said. "She is strong as an ox and her quick feet in the middle-back position is undeniable."

Deering is "long and lean and will soon be a huge force at the net," according to Toth.

"We are walking into this season with nothing to lose and everything to gain," Toth said. "For the amount of talent we had on the team last year there's no reason that we should have had as many losses as we did."

"Our team has a new and improved attitude - our goal is to win and that's our number one priority. The girls have been working very hard since November."

"This is the first season I've noticed some consistency with the incoming players. We're all starting on the same foot. I don't have to go over plays, defense and the basic skills over and over again until they get it."

Chargers spike Glenn, Wayne

Livonia Churchill is off to a 2-0 start in girls volleyball.

On Wednesday, the Chargers opened the 1999-2000 season by defeating host Wayne Memorial (15-4, 15-6) and Westland John Glenn (15-2, 15-13).

The Chargers, who passed and served consistently in the first game against Glenn, trailed the entire second game until tying it up at 13-all.

Sheila Gillies served the final three points for Churchill. Shannon Munn came up with a stuff block on match point.

In the win over Wayne, Meagan Sheehan and Amy Cadovich each recorded six kills, while Kelly Wright served six points.

In the other match, Glenn outlasted Wayne, 14-16, 15-9, 16-14.

Glenn is 1-1, while Wayne is 0-2.

In the two matches, Glenn senior Noelle Swartz had 10 kills and three solo blocks.

Jamie McLeod added seven kills and five ace serves, while Nicole Panyard recorded three solo blocks and two block-assists.

Setter Jessica Sanchez collected 35 assists, while Sarah Paek served seven aces.

Aggies open campaign at 2-0

Redford St. Agatha's girls volleyball team finished its first week of play with two wins and no losses and will be idle until the New Year.

The Aggies started the week on Monday with a 15-3, 15-9 win over Detroit Benedictine.

Senior outside hitter Sonia Lousia had six kills in the first game. Senior outside hitter Danielle Krehmelmer had four aces for the match and Krehmelmer outside hitter Kristen Rogers, in her first year of playing, had six kills in game one.

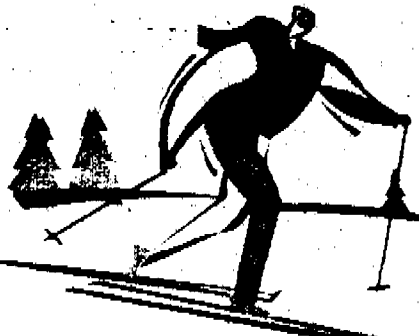

Senior backcourt player Evelyn Sciberras had four aces and one kill for the match.

On Thursday, the host Aggies stayed undefeated with a 15-4, 15-6 win over Dearborn St. Alphonsus.

Lousia had five kills and an ace in the first game and two kills and two aces in the second game.

Junior outside hitter Rhonda Humbarger had one kill and two aces in the first game followed by four kills and three aces in the second game.

Junior setter Erica Haist had three assists in the first game and one in the second. She recorded two kills in the second game.

Bench lifts Chargers past Spartans, 70-50

BY BRAD EMONS
SPORTS WRITER
bemonsoe@homecomm.net

So much for the sixth-man theory. Livonia Churchill boys basketball coach Rick Austin is not afraid to use his bench. He likes to go 10 deep.

The "Pine Brothers," a reserve group of three juniors and two seniors, combined for 24 points and helped stave off a Livonia Stevenson third-quarter run Thursday, lifting the host Chargers to a 70-50 victory.

The game between Western Lakes Activities Association rivals did not count in the WLAA standings.

Churchill enters the holiday break at 3-1, while Stevenson falls to 1-3.

"Those five kids are talented enough and have been ready to play since day one," said Austin, referring to seniors Avery Jessup (10 points) and Kevin Kotzian, along with juniors Will Pendergrass, Dan McMahon and Brandon Dziklinski (eight points). "We haven't skipped a beat with those kids in there. They play solid in practices and give us different looks against our starters both offensively and defensively. Overall we have more depth and competition in practice."

Austin normally subs in the "Pine Brothers" at the end of the first quarter, but he needed their presence again early in the third quarter.

After being tied 12-all with 3:10 left in the first quarter, Churchill went on a 20-4 run to open up a 17-point second-period lead.

Stevenson cut the deficit to 39-28 at the end of the first half thanks to a three-pointer from junior guard Mike Lenardon, who led the Spartans with 16 points.

Stevenson then reeled off six straight points to start the second half, four by Lenardon and two by Keshay McChristian, cutting the deficit to 39-34 with 6:13 left in the third quarter.

But the "Pine 5," led by Jessup's six points and Dziklinski's three-pointer, extended the lead back up to double-digits and the Chargers never looked back.

"The group behind our starters are there to give them support," Austin said. "We had to make some adjustments with our starters because they had problem getting kick-started in the third quarter."

"But then our 'A' group came back ready to play and they took us home from there."

John Bennett, a 6-foot-4 senior forward, led the starters and all Churchill scorers with 15 points. The other four regulars combined for 31 points. Josh Odum, Ryan Cousino and Randall Boboige each had eight, while Brad Bescoe chipped in with seven.

Meanwhile, Stevenson's problems began early.

The Spartans, under the scrutiny of a three-man officiating crew, piled up 10 quick first-quarter fouls before one was called on the Chargers.

But Stevenson coach Tim Newman wasn't about to make excuses.

Committing 29 turnovers and getting beat continually on the backboards had the Spartan coach looking beyond the striped shirts.

"We're just not a good ballclub right now and we won't compete with anybody in our league right now," Newman said. "It's going to be a tough winter break because we have to do some soul searching.

"We're going to have to spend a lot of time on the fundamentals."

Newman, however, didn't want to take anything away from the Chargers.

"They have good athletes and a nice ballclub," the Stevenson coach said. "They deserved this win. We've had two frustrating games in a row. It's frustrating because I thought the kids were ready."

There was a silver lining, however, for the Spartans.

"Our kids made a good run in the third quarter, but give Churchill credit — they withstood our charge," Newman said.

Churchill offset Stevenson's quickness with a matchup zone defense.

"We put an asterisk by McChristian's name and (Harland) Beverly's," Austin said. "We wanted to keep McChristian out of the paint, make him stay in front of us and stop his penetration. And we wanted to keep Beverly off the perimeter."

Meanwhile, Stevenson's man-to-man defense could not prevent the Chargers from scoring easy baskets.

"We play a man-to-man to use our speed, but teams are beating us inside the free throw line," Newman said. "We're also getting pounded on the boards."

Romulus holds off Zebras; Pats, C'ville notch 1st wins

Wayne Memorial put up quite a battle Friday against host Romulus in its Mega Conference Red Division boys basketball opener.

The visiting Zebras were outscored 16-8 in the decisive final quarter as Romulus pulled out a 62-55 victory.

Romulus won it at the free throw line, hitting 27 of 33 (81 percent), including 10 of 14 in the final eight minutes.

Wayne was nine of 16 overall from the foul stripe (56 percent).

Senior point-guard Shane Nowak paced Wayne with 15 points, while senior forward Taron Smith and junior guard Gary Johnson added nine apiece.

Kevin Thomas, a senior forward, scored a game-high 28 points, including 12-for-12 from the line. Byron Cole added 19.

•FRANKLIN 65, COUSINO 48: A 24.5 third-quarter run Thursday proved to be the difference Thursday as host Livonia Franklin (1-3 overall), earned its first victory of the season against non-league foe Warren Cousino.

It was 19-17 in the favor of the Patriots at halftime before they exploded in the third period.

"We were able to maintain our defensive intensity from the first half and were able to capitalize on their turnovers, and able to get some easy baskets," Franklin coach Dan Robinson said.

All 11 Franklin players scored led by Tim Borric's team-high 14 points. He hit four triples. Joe Ruggiero contributed 10 points, while junior center Mike Copeland had eight points and nine rebounds.

Greg Huskey led Cousino with a game-high 20 points, hitting eight of 10 free throws.

•CLARENCEVILLE 64, URBAN 55: Senior Rick Burack had 22 points and 10 rebounds Friday, propelling Livonia Clarenceville (1-2) to the non-conference triumph over host Detroit Urban Lutheran (1-2).

The Trojans jumped out to a 15-2 first quarter lead and never looked back. Seniors Scott Carr and Tim Riedl each contributed nine points for Clarenceville.

William Evans scored 24 to lead Urban and all scorers. Duane Edgar and Dan Catloway added 11 and 10, respectively.

•LUTHERAN NORTH 56, LUTHERAN WESTLAND 43: Senior guard Charlie Hoelt's game-high 23 points were not enough Friday as Lutheran High Westland (1-1) lost to Macomb Lutheran North (1-3) in the opener of the Rochester Hills Lutheran North west tournament.

Senior guard John Blanchard paced the winners with 15 points, while junior center Steve Green added 12 points, 11 rebounds and six blocks.

•AGAPE 73, HURON VALLEY 38: The strategy employed by Westland Huron Valley Lutheran was clear: pressure Canton Agape Christian into making mega mistakes. It didn't work.

Agape handled Huron Valley's pressure with ease, scoring mega baskets off of its en route to a lopsided non-league victory in a game played Thursday at Marshall Middle School.

The Wolverines evened their record at 1-1 with the win. Huron Valley slipped to 0-3.

Agape led 20-4 after one quarter and never retreated. "They pressured us the whole game and we went through it like butter," Agape coach Keith Anleitner said. Chief among those who took advantage of the Hawks ill-fated pressure was senior guard Julian Wettlin, who led Agape with 25 points. He also had eight rebounds and eight steals.

Paul Anleitner, a junior guard, contributed 21 points and seven assists, and sophomore forward Josh Anthony added 10 points for Agape.

Huron Valley got 10 points from Alan Klenke, a junior forward, and seven from Jeremy Husby, a senior center.

Lady Crusaders show grit

It has been one dark December for Madonna University's women's basketball team.

First the Lady Crusaders lost leading scorer Kathy Funganis. Then last Monday, back-up center Stephanie Thomas lost an all-Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference volleyball player — suffered a severe knee injury and is lost for the season.

That was followed by more trouble. In Thursday's non-league game against visiting Wayne State, starting center Lori Enfield suffered a severe finger injury that could keep her sidelined for a considerable length of time.

With the bench shrinking each game, it seems amazing that the Crusaders can put up much of a fight. But they not only put up a fight against WSU, they got a victory — 74-61.

The win boosted Madonna's record to 8-4. The Lady Warriors are 4-6.

The Crusaders, who lost Enfield after just five minutes, still built a 10-point lead by halftime (37-27), thanks to 14 first-half points from Chris Dietrich. Dietrich finished with 17 points, making all three of her three-point attempts.

Jan Amy's basket and free throw brought the Warriors to within four (47-43) with 12:46 left in the second half, but they could get no closer. A basket by Kristi Fiorenzi (from Plymouth Canton) and a triple by Jackie Kocis pushed Madonna's lead back to nine (52-43) with 11:52 remaining.

Joining Dietrich in double-figures in scoring were Kocis with 12 and Carissa Ginzicki with 10. Fiorenzi finished with nine.

Gizicki also totaled seven rebounds, five assists and three steals.

WSU got 14 points from Amy and 11 from Liz Beach.

Madonna outshot the Warriors, converting 22-of-48 from the floor (45.8 percent) crusaders fell behind by 26 at the half and ended up absorbing a 103-49 shellacking.

The loss left Madonna at 2-12 for the season. Not much went right for the Crusaders. They converted just 20-of-57 floor shots (35.1 percent) and were just 3-of-15 from three-point range (20 percent); at the free-throw line, Madonna made 6-of-9 (66.7 percent) compared to WSU's 20-of-23 (87 percent).

The Crusaders were outrebounded 46-38 and committed a whopping 33 turnovers compared to 11 for the Warriors.

Jason Skoczylas led Madonna with 17 points, eight rebounds and two blocked shots. Chad Putnam (from Redford Thurston) added 11 points. No one else scored more than six.

WSU got 14 points apiece from Adam Jones and Alex Ward. Brent Wall and Charles LeSure added 12 each, Ben Bakken scored 11 and A.W. Canada had 10.

Jones also had a team-high 11 rebounds and eight steals.

Madonna played without sophomore Mike Massey, the team's top scorer who sat out the game for disciplinary reasons.

Lansing topples Lady Ocelots

An 11-point advantage evaporated down the stretch for Schoolcraft College's women's team, which lost at Lansing CC 55-51 Wednesday.

The defeat led the Lady Ocelots carry a 1-6 record into the millenium break. They don't play again until Jan. 3 (at Macomb CC).

With 11:30 left in the game, SC had an 11-point lead, but squandered it. Janelle Olson and Antone Watson topped the Ocelot scorers with 13 points apiece; Angelica Blakely added eight points, 16 rebounds and five blocked shots.

Schoolcraft men romp 102-51

They warm-up.

Which is all Wednesday's home game against Sinclair (Ohio) Community College was, in truth — preparation for a much tougher test, which came yesterday at Owens CC (Toledo), ranked No. 1 in the NJCAA Division II.

Sinclair was no test at all for Schoolcraft College's men's team, which raced to a 50-21 lead by halftime, then coasted to a 102-51 triumph.

The win improved SC's record to 6-3.

"I thought that was one of our better efforts of the year defensively," said Ocelot coach Carlos Briggs. "We're starting to play better as a team. We're starting to share the ball more, rotate the ball better."

"And we're cutting down on our turnovers, which has been an Achilles heel for us."

Five Ocelots reached double figures in scoring, led by Lamar Bigby with 22 points. Robert Brown added 17 points and 14 rebounds, Quentin Mitchell had 12 points, and Chris Colley and Dwight Windham netted 10 points apiece.

Warriors rout Madonna men

The question is, why play this game?

Madonna University's men's basketball team had virtually no chance when it took on Wayne State Wednesday in Detroit. And it showed from the start: the Cru-

Oakland hits rough stretch

Oakland Community College's men's and women's basketball teams ran into a little tough going late in the week.

Lake Michigan College's men's team defeated Oakland Community College, 71-66, Wednesday night in Benton Harbor.

Edward Wallace came off the bench to lead the Raiders 4-6 with 16 points. Tim Swafford had 15. Jovell Leatherwood 13 and Walter Malone 11.

A 28-2 deficit in points off turnovers hurt OCC, as did 35 percent shooting because the Raiders held a 64-38 rebounding edge. Leatherwood had 16 rebounds to help OCC gain a 31-5 advantage in second-chance points.

OCC had 27 turnovers in the game to just 11 for Lake Michigan. Guard Scottie Shaver led Lake Michigan 16-4 with 19 points.

OCC women drop two

OCC's women's basketball team lost two more basketball games — but at least the Raiders were coming closer to victory.

On Friday, OCC lost a 48-41 decision to visiting Alpena CC, wasting a 23-17 halftime lead in the process. OCC made it to overtime

Thursday night but fell, 71-61, to Sinclair (O.) CC.

Mahogany Fletcher (Ledington Hills Harrison) led the Lady Raiders with 16 points Friday afternoon but no other player reached double figures. Sara Wesa had nine for OCC (1-8).

Alpena CC (2-5) got 12 points from Sofie Bootz and 10 from Melissa VanStedam.

In the second half Alpena shot 43 percent while holding OCC to just 25 percent (6-for-24) shooting. Alpena made half its 10 three-point shots in the second half while OCC went 1-for-10.

The Lady Raiders lost the rebounding battle, 41-28.

In the Thursday night overtime tussle, Wesa scored 23 points to lead four players in double figures.

Fletcher had 15, Nicole Schulte 13 and Breanna Pearson 10.

Sinclair made nearly twice as many turnovers, 31-16, but won the rebounding contest by a 55-37 margin.

Sinclair shot 54 percent in the second half to just 29 percent for the Lady Raiders.

OCC forced a 29-26 second half to force the overtime but couldn't overcome Courtney Weng's 27 points for Sinclair (2-0).

Bearly possible: Bear range stretching south

OUTDOOR MOMENTS
BILL PARKER

A surprise encounter with a Michigan black bear has landed a Thumb-area bow hunter in a world of trouble.

While hunting deer from a tree stand in Tuscola County on the afternoon of Oct. 7, the hunter allegedly shot a black bear because "she was fearful and did not know what the bear would do," according to Michigan Department of Natural Resources conservation officer Jason Haines.

Bear encounters are extremely rare in southern Michigan so it's not inconceivable to think the hunter was quite surprised by the appearance of the bear.

However, since there is no bear hunting season in the Thumb, or anywhere in southern Michigan, shooting one is a game law violation.

A Tuscola County property owner notified the DNR that a black bear had been killed on his property by an archery deer hunter. The hunter allegedly shot the bear at approximately 8 p.m.

that day. The bear was found dead the following morning.

"Basically the hunter claimed she was fearful and did not know what the bear would do," explained Haines. "The animal didn't make any attempt to climb the tree and was on the ground on all four feet when she shot it."

"I couldn't determine any good, valid reason for the bear to be killed so I turned the case over to the prosecutor's office and charges were filed."

A costly mistake

The illegal killing of a bear in Michigan is a misdemeanor and carries a sentence of a mandatory five days and up to 90 days in jail, revocation of hunting privileges for the remainder of this year and the next three years, $1,500 in restitution along with additional fines and court costs.

The Upper Peninsula and the extreme northern haunts of the Lower are traditionally thought of as Michigan's black bear range, but sightings and bear encounters in the southern Lower Peninsula are occurring with more frequency as the bear population grows and its range expands.

The DNR estimates that Michigan's bear population is growing at an annual rate of approximately six-percent in the Lower Peninsula and five-percent in the Upper Peninsula.

Prior to the Sept. 10-Oct. 26 bear hunting season, there was an estimated population of 14,000 bears across northern Michigan.

"Their range is expanding, too," said DNR bear biologist Tim Reis. "Based on the number of observations we have received there are more and more instances when bear show up in the southern Lower Peninsula, particularly on the west side of the state."

"We've had several reports of bear sightings just north of Grand Rapids and one of a sow with cubs."

Summer residents

Reis feels the young, 160-pound bear shot in Tuscola County may have been establishing a home range in the area and could have been there since early last summer.

"It's uncommon for a bear to make long movements like that at this time of year," Reis said. "Cubs will stay with a sow for two winters. Then, when she's ready to reproduce again in the spring, she'll get real aggressive with her cubs, especially the young males who will leave the area and venture out on their own."

"As they try to establish their own home range they'll undoubtedly encounter other bears and they'll get run off until they find a suitable area. But that usually occurs in the spring and early summer, not in the fall. There's a pretty good chance this bear had established a home range and maybe even started denning in the area."

Two summers ago a young male bear was spotted several times near Clarkston and Grand Blanc. That bear showed up in early summer and eventually made a 100 mile-plus trek to Port Austin before being captured and relocated back into northern Michigan.

(Anglers and hunters are urged to report your success. Questions and comments are also encouraged. Send information to: Outdoors, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, MI 48009. Fax information to (248) 644-1314 or call Bill Parker evenings at (248) 901-2573.)

Gift-giving is no problem for those who love nature

NATURE NOTES
TIM NOWICKI

People who enjoy the natural world and the outdoors are not hard to buy for during this gift-giving season.

If you do not have a gift for someone who enjoys nature, here are a few suggestions.

Being outside is the most important place for people who enjoy nature, so why not give them places to go? Fortunately in the Detroit area there are several places that fit the bill. The Huron-Clinton Metro Park Authority has a ring of parks that surround the city of Detroit and its suburbs. There are many places in them to hike, bike, fish and swim.

A season car pass would enable an outdoor lover to explore the forests, fields and wetlands all year long.

This same idea holds true for the Oakland County Parks and Recreation system, along with the state parks and recreation areas. While vacationing or traveling away from the Detroit area the pass holder can enjoy natural beauty as far north as Fort Wilkins State Park in the Keweenaw Peninsula. Outdoor enthusiasts also need to be comfortable. I think a lot of people don't enjoy the natural world because they are not prepared for it.

Hiking trails for a couple hours, or snowshoeing in winter off the beaten track is not like hopping from one store to another, or getting out of the car and into a warm house.

Proper footwear, comfortable clothing and a fanny pack with a water bottle are just a few examples of essentials for a modest hike.

Those hikers who plan to be outdoors longer need even more equipment like raincoats, compass, whistle and waterproof matches.

Consider a gift from one of the outfitter stores like REI, Gander Mountain, The Benchmark, or Dicks, all of whom sell clothing designed for extended outdoor adventures.

A gift certificate for a good pair of hiking boots will allow the recipient to get a comfortable make they will appreciate every time they take to the field.

These stores and others also have books and gadgets that make an outdoor experience more enjoyable. Binoculars, sunglasses, warm gloves, practical hats and lots of other ideas that may fit the person you're buying for.

Many organizations are instrumental in preserving land, buying land, protecting land, or educating people about the natural world.

Most of these organizations publish attractive and informative magazines about the natural world.

Subscription money is used to establish new preserves, maintain existing land and to alert the public of land that is valuable.

Nature has a chapter of the Michigan Conservancy, whose primary goal is to buy and protect prime natural areas.

The Detroit Audubon Society is affiliated with the National Audubon Society, which is an active environmental organization.

The National Wildlife Federation is active in the state through its affiliate, the Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

A membership to these, or other groups of your choice, would give the nature lover information and a place to visit.

Our local libraries have addresses for these groups. Enjoy the natural world and have a Merry Christmas.

All types of balls available for the 'different' bowler

TEN PIN ALLEY
HARRISON

Dear Santa: With less than a week 'til Christmas, is it too late to wish for a new bowling ball?

I already have one or two I like a lot, but Ebonite has come out with the new 'Skull' ball.

It may seem ghoulish, but this is a lot different from the dull or mundane black, red or blue.

They have developed a Fun Ball series that has already brought forth the brightly colored Zebra and Tai Chi balls in polyester.

The Skull ball was introduced in prototype for the movie 'Mystery Men' starring Jeanine Garafolo, not exactly a box office hit, but coming to home video in January.

In the movie, this ball supposedly contained the skull of Garafolo's father, Carmine the Bowler, who was slain by the mob. The ball then became a weapon for her to avenge his death.

Even though the motion picture won't win any Oscars, the ball caught the attention of many fans and Ebonite began production in November, announcing that 8,000 of these would be available that month.

"The supply was sold out before they even hit the shelves," said Bill Scheid, Ebonite president. "In a category that was virtually non-existent, the Fun Balls were quickly sold out and had created a lot of hype and Beanie Baby mystique."

Beyond being eye-catching, the new Skull ball is a technological wonder. Utilizing Everclear, an exclusive polyester to create a completely clear veneer, Ebonite engineers were able to create the first actual see-through bowling balls.

Other see-through balls were cloudy, at best. This type of ball will have a very low hook coefficient, therefore it will perform best as a spare ball, or for use on very dry lanes.

"The bowling industry has been introspective for a very long time," says Bob

Reid, vice-president of marketing for Ebonite, "Not only have we been too caught up in a technology to improve scores of a small percentage, the real serious bowlers, the industry simply overlooked the millions of recreational bowlers."

"More importantly, the industry forgot what made bowling a wonderful sport from the beginning — fun."

"Millions of dollars have been spent to find the right core shape, weight and veneer for different types of bowlers and conditions."

The highly aggressive balls that many bowlers are using help produce a more powerful shot, but they make spare shooting more difficult.

With the Fun Balls, spares shooting is just a step back to straight basics. If you can throw it, you should make most of the spares.

As for the Skull ball, the production run will be limited, so if you want to own one of the freakiest balls ever, see your pro shop guy right away.

"In the Bacardi/Blue Ribbon group scratch tournament last week at Westland Bowl, Chris Mowinski emerged victorious after a final match dogfight with Bill Zacheranik.

It was Zacheranik, however, who stole the show, by being high qualifier with a 300 and 278 among his three game total of 805.

Bill also breezed by his match play opponents only to lose his carry in the final match, enabling Mowinski, who was a steady performer all day to take home the $1,500 first prize.

In the second match-play round, Mowinski defeated Gary Duarard 219-170; Bill Zacheranik downed Jim Graves, 249-223 and Mike Gehrke bested last month's winner, Don Parks, 211-193.

Zacheranik got a bye, then Mowinski bested Gehrke 279-184 to move into the final match. The next event is slated for 11 a.m., Jan. 15, 2000, at Drakeshire Lanes in Farmington Hills.

Congratulations to Jeff Nieman for his victory over Jeff Potts of Redford in the Midstates Masters 198 division bowled at Super Bowl in Canton last Sunday.

Nieman qualified 23rd and Potts made match play by one pin in the 52nd spot.

Other qualifiers from O&E Cities: Chuck Saperstein, Birmingham (2nd), Mike Wiatr (4th), Scott Allen (9th), Al Anderson (12th), of Westland; Bob Worley (11th) of Livonia; Glenn Swiney (17th) and Tom Brisbey (38th) of Redford; Allyn Madden (26th) of Southfield; Bob Maki (29th) of Canton and Earl Pugh III (50th) of Garden City.

Jason Nieman earned a trophy and $2,300 for first and runner up Potts pocketed $1,150 for second place.

Jarvis Woehlike rolled a perfect game Tuesday morning in the Senior Men's Invitational League at Wonderland Lanes in Livonia.

There have been a lot of other 300 games around town, but Jarv is only 86 years young and underwent knee replacement surgery a few years ago.

He is nicknamed 'The Mechanic', descriptive of his precision style. It was the second 300 for Woehlike, in his long bowling career.

Table listing bowling events and winners across various leagues and locations including: Michigan League (Redford), Wednesday Men's Senior Classic, Thursday Morning Men, Friday Seniors, Saturday 11 a.m. Majors, and various youth and women's events.

HOCKEY NOTES

Roemensky to U-M

Mike Roemensky, one of Compuware's top defensemen, has verbally committed to the University of Michigan. He will leave the Ambassadors at the Christmas break for U-M.

Roemensky is the second key loss for the Ambassadors. Earlier this month, forward Steve Jackson announced he will leave at the break to enroll at Michigan State.

"Mike will be missed, but this just shows the caliber of players, and the level of competition, throughout the NAHL that has prepared him for this opportunity," said Compuware GM/coach Mike Vellucci, who following last season sent 10 players to the NCAA Division I ranks.

"Michigan is one of the premier programs in the country, and the Wolverines coaching staff has full confidence in Mike's ability to step in and contribute right away."

"The same can be said for forward Steve Jackson, who is joining another premier program, Michigan State, after the holidays."

A 5-11, 175-pounder, Roemensky is in his third season with the Ambassadors. He played in 50 regular-season games for the league and national championship team in 1998-99; thus far this season, Roemensky has collected two goals and five assists in 18 games.

Junior stars selected

USA Hockey has announced the 20-player roster for the junior select team that will compete in the Viking Cup later this month at Augustana College in Camrose, Alberta.

Three members of the Compuware Ambassadors were among those chosen: defenseman Mike Roemensky and Andy Burnes, and goalie Craig Kowalski.

The USA junior selects will go against national under-18 select teams from the Czech Republic, Slovakia, Finland and Sweden; all-star teams from the Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba and Saskatchewan junior hockey leagues; and the host Augustana College Vikings.

The tournament format features preliminary round-robin games, followed by play-downs for the eight teams that survive the round-robin portion of the tournament. It all culminates in the Cup championship game Jan. 5.

The tournament begins Dec. 26.

ARTISTIC EXPRESSIONS

LINDA ANN CHOMIN

1999 — a fruitful year for the arts

The end of the year is typically a time to assess our growth and set goals for the next 12 months. Several arts organizations and individuals deserve a pat on the back for introducing and encouraging the arts in our communities in 1999.

These supporters deserve praise for their commitment and working together:

■ The Michigan Jazz Festival Committee for producing its annual festival — which featured nearly 200 musicians at Schoolcraft College — and for hosting a series of concerts spotlighting the music of Stan Kenton, Woody Herman and Count Basie at Clarenceville High School in Livonia.

The committee also held a workshop at Clarenceville High School to nurture jazz skills in student musicians. They've already started planning their sixth annual jazz festival, which is scheduled Sunday, July 16, at Schoolcraft College.

■ Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack, Plymouth Symphony Orchestra president Don Soenen, the Canton Community Foundation, and Partnership for the Arts for their efforts to build a performing arts center in Canton.

■ Canton Project Arts for showcasing photography from a Focus: HOPE program that transcends barriers between Detroit area students. The workshops brought students together and promoted harmony by exposing them to people of diverse racial, religious and socioeconomic backgrounds.

■ The Livonia Arts Commission and the Verdi Opera Theatre of Michigan (based in Canton) for awarding thousands of dollars in scholarships to promising fine arts students. The students may or may not pursue a career in music, dance or painting, but they'll have formed an appreciation for the arts and, it is hoped, support arts in the future.

■ Jack Pierson, a former Livonia resident, and Matt Michaels, a Southfield pianist whose jazz trio plays at Ron's Fireside Inn in Garden City, for giving their time and expertise to high school and college students at the 20th annual Montreux Detroit Jazz Festival. The students took part in the educational programming led by Pierson and Michaels, a professor

Sweet Music

Musician cultivates ethereal sounds of dulcimer

By LINDA ANN CHOMIN

Charlene Berry taps out melodies on her hammer dulcimer as easily as if she were speaking. After playing the multi-stringed instrument for nearly 15 years, she's comfortable creating ethereal melodies.

Berry doesn't really need to practice her instrument to play a variety of music ranging from folk renaissance to modern. After all, she's performing at venues ranging from the Plymouth Historical Museum to art fairs every week. And come January she'll be passing on her knowledge by teaching dulcimer at Village Music in Plymouth.

"There's a nationwide revival of hammer dulcimer," said Berry, who originally played pipe organ.

"The sound of the instrument is so unique and pretty and not locked into any one style. People are more conscious of their history. They're looking back. That's why Victorian festivals and Civil War reenactments are so popular."

An advocate for the revival of this ancient instrument, Berry believes the soothing sounds of the dulcimer can bring peace and healing as well as set the tone for meditation. She frequently touts its benefits on her radio program, "Dulcimer World," heard 7-8 p.m. Fridays on WPON AM 1460.

A librarian at Madonna University in Livonia, Berry has intensely researched the dulcimer, a popular instrument during the lumberjack era in Michigan.

"The history dates back to biblical times when it was known as the psaltery, the gut-stringed instrument mentioned in the Bible," said Berry. "It was plucked in ancient times. During medieval times, they started using wire string. Stravinsky used large European type dulcimers. The dulcimer can play loud or soft. A harpsichord couldn't. The dulcimer lost popularity when the piano was introduced."

New Year Jubilee

On Dec. 31, Berry along with more than 50 musicians and performers will celebrate the New Year during a celebration in downtown Ypsilanti. The hard driving blues of Madcat & Kane, children's songs by Gemini, steel drum music by Nite Flight, LaRon Williams' African American folk tales, the Paul Vornhagen Jazz Ensemble, Mr. B's boogie woogie piano, and the comedy and magic of Boyer & Fitzsimmons will assist revelers in ringing in 2000 at the event, which is open to the public.

Berry's two CD's "Hymns of Prayer & Praise" and "Dulcimer Americana," which features selections including mountain, folk tunes and original music, along with her "Joy, Peace, Healing" cassette will be available for sale.

"It's a beautiful celebration in and around historic Depot Town," said Berry, who became "hooked on dulcimer" then joined the Silver Strings Dulcimer Society for support in learning the instrument.

Berry is looking forward to teaching classes at Village Music because she believes that learning to play dulcimer is a way of instilling self-esteem in people who thought they could never learn an instrument.

"Anyone can play one but no one can master it," said Berry, who also teaches dulcimer through the Clarkston community education program. "The music is very therapeutic and it helps to show students that they can play music."

With prices for student dulcimers ranging around $250 to $350, Berry recommends students rent their first instrument then shop around. Students have spent $600 for a dulcimer only to find out they're not interested in dulcimer after all or they don't have time for it.

"We thought it was an opportunity to offer something different and kind of historic in Old Village," said Norma Atwood, owner of Village Music, which also offers classes in Kindermusik, and private voice and piano. "The classes tie in with the third level of Kindermusik (ages 6-7) where they're learning dulcimer as part of trying to learn the basic instruments — percussion, string and wind. The fingering is a little difficult on the dulcimer but they're learning."

REPORT

Unprecedented findings could be catalyst for a cultural boom

By LINDA ANN CHOMIN
STAFF WRITER
lchomin@oe.homecomm.net

It's still too early to assess the impact of a study coordinated by ArtServe, but local arts organizations are enthusiastic about utilizing the findings to increase audiences and funding for programs.

Released Monday, Dec. 6, by Southfield-based ArtServe Michigan, a statewide advocacy and networking agency for artists and arts groups, the study indicated the area already ranks high on the list of cities valuing the arts. ArtsMarket Inc., which conducted the in-depth analysis of audiences for cultural activities in the seven-county southeastern Michigan region, revealed 57.6 percent of households attend or participate in the arts. That's several points above the national average of 49 percent estimated by the National Endowment for the Arts.

The report, entitled "Southeastern Michigan Geodemographic and Database Analysis," is an exhaustive analysis of the audiences of 59 nonprofit regional arts organizations. It examines types of participation, and presents an empirical breakdown of the demographical segments who attend cultural events, including concerts, plays, exhibits at arts and historical museums and art associations. Funded by a $75,000 grant from the Southeastern Michigan Community Foundation, the analysis offers no easy solutions but requires arts organizations to intensely study its 400 pages, evaluate their current audiences and determine opportunities for expansion.

The estimate that 2.8 million people already support arts in the area is promising news to Plymouth Community Arts Council assistant director Betsy Calhoun. Calhoun provided ArtServe with the council's database, which was then plugged into existing demographics.

"The study as a whole has potential, but it's going to take us awhile to use it," said Calhoun. "We found that basically our audience is families. It will help refine our audience. They found that 24.8 percent of what's called successful suburbanites are supporting the arts. And that the total regional audience is higher than other parts of Michigan and the U.S."

The study is all part of the arts council's master plan to develop its audience. Stella Greene was recently hired as development director to help build corporate and individual support, membership and to apply for grants to meet the arts council's $200,000 operating budget.

"The study is going to help us continue to offer our programs (classes, cultural events and youth theater)," said Calhoun.

Growth opportunity

Mike Yeager was excited to learn that the results of the study strengthen the case for building a new performing arts center in Canton Township.

Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack has long believed that arts and cultural participation is a major contributor to the quality of life in a community. Yack and Township treasurer Elaine Kirchgatter founded Canton Project Arts to provide residents with the opportunity to attend cultural activities in their own backyard.

So the study's finding that people who live in Wayne County are affiliated primarily with local organizations is particularly encouraging. The study further showed that Wayne and Oakland county venues and organizations draw the bulk of audiences in the area and that Wayne and Washtenaw counties show the most growth opportunity.

"I think it's something that as time goes on will be beneficial in building an audience database," said Yeager, Canton Township liaison to Canton Project Arts, the township's official arts organization. "That's important in the cultural development in the township and will help with

'We've been looked at as a blue-collar town, as not being sophisticated enough to appreciate the arts. For years, we've been looking for ways to make a convincing argument that the cultural industry is important to our way of life, and now we have it. A thriving culture is good economics.'

developing a performance arts center. We'll be able to plug into the database to find out what kinds of programs to bring into the center."

Yeager appreciates ArtServe's ongoing commitment to provide workshops and consultations to help arts organizations determine how to use the findings of the demographic report. It will help Yack, Plymouth Symphony Orchestra president Don Soenen, the Canton Community Foundation, and the Partnership for the Arts to lead the effort in building the performing arts center in Canton.

A business plan, which is now in the works, will finalize the size of the theater, the cost and operating expenses. Yeager said the study's recommendation that arts organizations diversify programming in order to capture a greater market share is important for the survival of the performing arts center.

"We're very enthusiastic about what ArtServe and the Southeastern Michigan Community Foundation is doing," said Yeager. "In the future we'll be able to go back and refer to the study."

Gene Hammonds, president of Canton Project Arts, agrees with the study that the arts are definitely on an upswing. As Canton Project Arts president, he sees how far the organization has come since its founding in 1992. A fine arts exhibit in October, spring theater series and performances for youth offer a variety of arts activities for every age.

"Every year we try to take on one more project," said Hammonds. "In the year 2000 we'll have an art exhibit, theater or other cultural activity every other month." (And of course they're still looking for volunteers to make them reality.)

Tool for growth

Over the last two weeks, the ArtServe study has been received as the ultimate "told-you-so" tool for arts advocates. The southeastern Michigan region can now point with pride to the findings.

"We've been looked at as a blue-collar town, as not being sophisticated enough to appreciate the arts," said Barbara Kratchman, executive director of ArtServe. "For years, we've been looking for ways to make a convincing argument that the cultural industry is important to our way of life, and now we have it. A thriving culture is good economics."

"A study like this will make everyone more self-sufficient and independent," said Kratchman. "It also provides information about why arts organizations should collaborate. So many of them share audiences."

Culture is regional

The Southeastern Michigan Community Foundation, established three years ago with $1 million from the Lila Wallace Foundation, is currently in the third year of a five-year, $4.5-million effort to fund local arts, ethnic and civic organizations working to cultivate culture in the metro area.

Not only are the empirical findings of the demographic report invaluable for nonprofit arts organizations trying to identify and build audiences in times of reduced public funding, but art advocates contend that the extensive analysis offers a compelling case that culture in metro Detroit is defined regionally.

This is a sign, perhaps, of the perceived wall crumbling between the city of Detroit and the surrounding suburbs.

"There's a tremendous level of cooperation across regional and county lines," said Larry Coppard, senior consultant at the Community Foundation. "We haven't seen the type of parochialism that has plagued other regional issues."

ArtServe's Kratchman predicts that the findings in the demographic analysis will help the campaign to pass a regional arts tax. Until now, discussions about the proposal have been contentious among Oakland, Macomb and Wayne counties. The latest notion involves a half mill assessment on property in Oakland and Wayne counties. Tax revenue would finance the operating budgets for the area's 14 major cultural institutions. And each county would also receive a block grant to divide among local arts groups.

Dynamic changes

On the surface, cynics could contend that if arts organizations succeed at the business of marketing, then they might need even less public funding. That, according to Louise Stevens of Artsmarket Consulting, fails to consider the inherent difference between art and commerce and the utter upheaval of arts funding over the last decade.

"(Arts organizations) need to realize that the marketplace is dynamic," said Stevens. "They need to find ways to rebuild earned income and build awareness among contributors."

Typically, funding is derived from public, foundation or private donations, and revenue generated from ticket sales, referred to as earned income.

Largely because of the explosion in the entertainment economy, nonprofits have been forced to compete alongside for-profit venues.

"We'd like to believe that the arts can stand outside the marketplace, but they don't," said Stevens.

"Consumers want value for their money. The days of boosterism and supporting the 'arts' because it's the 'arts' are gone."

at Wayne State University. In September, Pierson revived the Schoolcraft College Jazz Ensemble. Expect great things from him as he directs the ensemble in 2000.

■ Ken Gross and The Art Museum Project for the exhibit "Diversity: Victims and Survivors" in the Alfred Berkowitz Gallery at the University of Michigan-Dearborn. The exhibit combined Richard Kozlow's stark black-and-white paintings with selected interviews from the university's Holocaust Survivor

Oral Histories. The archival collection, assembled by history professor Sidney Bolkosky, made visitors witnesses to the atrocities committed against Jews by the Nazis during World War II.

■ Artrain USA for exhibiting works from the NASA Art Program and the National Air and Space Museum. Norman Rockwell, Andy Warhol and Peter Max were among the 250 American artists who interpreted space program activities for those of us who couldn't be on site.

■ The Detroit Women Writers for publishing their "Century of Voices" anthology. The book documents the accomplishments of local women writers during the past century.

■ The Plymouth Community Arts Council raised awareness of the plight of migrant workers by exhibiting the paintings of West Bloomfield artist Nora Mendoza. The works touched viewers with their depiction of life in the fields.

■ The singers and bell ringers from nearly one dozen local Catholic church choirs who came together to present a Thanksgiving festival concert at St. Edith Church in Livonia. The churches (from Livonia, Redford, Plymouth and Canton) are all members of the Northwest Wayne Vicariate.

■ My special thanks to The Art Gallery/Studio and director Norma McQueen for exhibiting portraits from Lin Baum's "Children of War" series. Baum painted these moving artworks on site in Nicaragua, Mozambique, Belfast, Israel, Palestine and on the Thai-Cambodia border.

New kids' books make ideal gifts

VICTORIA DIAZ
SPECIAL WRITER

Want to make this final Christmas of the century truly memorable for that special youngster on your list? Any of the following books will prove to be a gift that continues giving, even as we move into the next millennium:

"Sector 7," by David Wiesner (Clarion Books, $16).

This enchanting picture book by the author/illustrator of "June 29, 1999" contains not a single word of text, but is nonetheless an extraordinary literary experience. Ever engaging, sometimes comical, and ultimately moving, "Sector 7" shows us an imaginative schoolboy who, on a "field trip" with his class visits the Empire State Building's observation deck. There, he meets a companionable cumulus who whisks him away to Sector 7, a magical place in the sky where clouds are designed and manufactured.

The concluding scenes of this book are truly exceptional both in themselves and in how they are exquisitely linked to the preceding pages.

"Knock at a Star: A Child's Introduction to Poetry," by X.J. Kennedy and Dorothy M. Kennedy, illustrated by Karen Lee Baker (Little, Brown and Co., $10.95).

This newly-revised edition of "Knock at a Star" is all about the delights of words and wordplay in sections titled "What Do Poems Do?," "What's Inside a Poem?," "Special Kinds of Poetry," and "Do It Yourself." kids can enjoy becoming better versed with verse.

From anonymously written nonsense rhymes to the works of such greats as John Updike, William Carlos Williams, Robert Frost, Michigan's Theodore Roethke, and many more, this well-organized anthology more than lives up to its subtitle. Best of all, it's a book the entire family can savor together.

"The Very Noisy Night," by Diana Hendry, illustrated by Jane Chapman (Dutton, $15.99).

Little Mouse is trying to be brave, but the wind is making a frightful racket. Ditto for that spooky old owl, and a "burglar" bent on breaking into the tiny mouse house (said "burglar" is a tree limb, scratching at a window). Big Mouse ultimately succeeds in providing just the right touch of cozy comfort, however, and all ends happily in this charming bedtime mouse tale.

There's definitely nothing mousy about Chapman's artwork. It's as colorful and fun to look at as your granny's crazy quilt.

"Here Comes Mother Goose," edited by Iona Opie, illustrated by Rosemary Wells (Candlewick Press, $21.99).

In this fat volume, Wells' lively artwork adds new punch and pizzazz to such classic favorites as "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary," "Pease Porridge Hot," "As I Was Going to St. Ives," and "Bobby Shaftoe."

Some verses — such as "What Are Little Girls Made of?" — have been freshened with a contemporary twist. Throughout, the zany cast of characters is headed up by dozens of our furred and feathered friends. Ducks, chicks, hamsters, kittens, bunnies, and (of course) geese abound.

"The Gargoyle on the Roof," by Jack Prelutsky, illustrated by Peter Sis (Greenwillow Books, $16).

Though tiny tots may be spooked (especially at bedtime), older kids will probably find this inventive collection a spine-tickling, rib-tickling delight. In verses like "Mother Gargoyle's Lullaby," "Bugaboo," "My Sister is a Werewolf," and "A Vampire Speaks of Grooming," Prelutsky displays his wonderful way with weird. Sis' oddly tinted illustrations add yet another turn to the bizarre hill, and hit the spot precisely.

"The Birchbark House," by Louise Erdrich (Hyperion, $14.99).

A National Book Award finalist, "The Birchbark House" tells the engrossing story of an Ojibwa girl growing up in the Lake Superior region in the mid-19th century.

For the legions who enjoyed Laura Ingalls Wilder's "Little House on the Prairie," this book may hold special appeal. It is Erdrich's ("Love Medicine") first novel for young readers.

COSTA RICA. YOU CAN REST UNDER A RAINFOREST CANOPY AND A SEASIDE CANOPY ON THE SAME DAY.

Pack your swimsuit and your hiking boots. You're off to lush, tropical Costa Rica where Travel Charter International offers 7 and 14 day vacations at a wide choice of beautiful beachfront resort hotels.

Our resort vacations center in the Pacific Northwest region, where long, deserted beaches nuzzle against forested mountains, steaming volcanoes and breathtaking countryside. Here all kinds of exciting daytrips are offered. Raft a river lined by howler monkeys, mot mot and egrets. Hike among geysers, craters, monkeys and sloths. And more.

Or travel the extents of the countryside and be swept away on a guided adventure to the rich biodiversity of the Costa Rican landscape with overnight stops at fascinating lodges...and a restful finish at a seaside resort.

Does Costa Rica cost a lot? Not with Travel Charter's resort vacations. These air and hotel packages range from moderate to luxury and include round trip air from Detroit, transfers and baggage handling, hotel tax and service charges. We also offer several all-inclusive vacations.

Travel Charter's nonstop Friday departures start Jan. 7. Choose from beachfront resort vacations or inland eco-vacations priced from $899 - $1,899.

Resolve to rejuvenate your skin

DISCOVERING BEAUTY

MARY ANNE TOCCALINO

New Years resolutions are made and are meant to be broken but a precious few should be kept.

The ones that can change your life - the way your look and, more importantly, the way you feel.

This time of year many of us are getting away to warm places and though we know we all look great with a tan, it's a fact that sun-exposure (even casual exposure such as walking the dog, or sitting looking out a window) causes age-revealing spots, crow's feet, and potentially deadly skin cancer.

Fortunately for the vacationing sun-worshiper, it's not too late to start behaving and taking care of ourselves. Skin repair itself through regeneration. By just using a strong sunscreen everyday and reducing the sun exposure to your skin, you will reverse some of the damage.

Find a formula that not only works with your skin type but also works with your lifestyle.

Gel formulations won't upset an oily skin and won't clog pores of a very active person. Lotions work best for combination skin, and cream formulas will help in the hydration of dry skin.

Power peels are micro-dermabrasion treatments that have been used in Europe for years. This procedure is helping men and women in the United States experience remarkable improvements in their skin texture. Power peels are a safe, non-surgical approach to skin care.

SPF foundations aid in the prevention of skin damage but they shouldn't replace your sunblock. Neutrogena makes an excellent block for all three skin types and it can be found in most drug stores - convenient for the forgetful traveler who didn't pack skin care essentials.

For those already showing signs of sun damage (fine lines around the eyes, sun spots and broken capillaries) and those concerned enough to start taking early precautions, the future looks bright.

I highly recommend Power Peels. Skin care specialist Carolyn Shy performs this procedure which does everything from brighten complexions to reducing fine lines and age/sun spots.

Power peels are micro-dermabrasion treatments that have been used in Europe for years. This procedure is helping men and women in the United States experience remarkable improvements in their skin texture. Power peels are a safe, non-surgical approach to skin care.

An extremely effective age-battling at-home regimen includes topical antioxidants such as Vitamin C (the most concentrated form is L-Ascorbic acid which is present in Cellex-C and SkinCeuticals).

Another topical solution is Vitamin A (retinol) which accelerates cell turnover, evens tone and improves smoothness and texture. Vitamin A can be found in Giovanna's Anti Age Serum.

Also, alpha- and beta-hydroxy acids exfoliate dull sun-damaged surface cells. This procedure takes more time to see noticeable improvement but it's worth the effort in the long run. Antioxidants stabilize cells so they metabolize properly which can help prevent skin cancer in the future.

So while you're plugging your allegiance to New Year's resolutions keep in mind the long term rewards you can gain by keeping them.

Good health and good looks for years to come, is worth all the effort to keep your resolutions throughout the year.

Late picks: Time is running out, but retailers still have something for everybody on your list. Photo frames are as unique as ever; try red leather, $85 at The Coach Store. Candles are available in any scent imaginable, $14.50 and $30 at L'Occitane. Leather wallets are a simple and practical gift, $110 and $184 at The Coach Store. Decorative note pads can be found in a style to suit just about anybody, $9.95, and holiday keepsakes are always cherished, $15, both at Rand McNally. All from the Somerset Collection in Troy.

Don't panic

There's still something for everybody on your list

Everybody forgets. Everybody procrastinates. It's human nature.

That's why retailers and malls have extended their hours next week and are making sure shelves and display cases are stocked with merchandise that's easy to see, snatch and purchase.

In addition to offering a variety of services aimed at streamlining last-minute shopping trips, including gift-wrapping and valet parking, most retailers have stocked up on holiday favorites, from winter gloves and scarves to holiday ornaments to cashmere sweaters to decorative, scented candles and boxed fragrance collections.

Some stores and malls also plan to offer discounts to last-minute shoppers. At Wonderland Mall in Livonia, for example, 19 stores are offering 20 percent discounts through Christmas Eve.

Anything cashmere: Everybody loves cashmere and there's still plenty in stores. A pair of cashmere gloves in classic or off-beat colors makes for a useful, luxurious and relatively inexpensive gift, $35 at Ann Taylor stores, $40 at Saks Fifth Avenue and $75 at Cole Haan.

"Generally, sales and discounts depend on how the season has been," said Tom Scott, spokesperson for the Michigan Retailers Association. "You will generally see deeper discounting and more discounting, if the season has been less than expected for retailers." On the other hand, if sales are high, last-minute shoppers will have less merchandise from which to choose, Scott said.

If stores are in short supply and you're unable to find a suitable gift, you probably shouldn't buy one, said Bren Hillis, manager of Select personal shopping at Hudson's Twelve Oaks store in Novi. "I don't believe people should buy something just to buy something and box it." Instead, purchase a gift certificate, Hillis said. "Put some kind of a smaller gift in the box, maybe an ornament, and put a nice little note in there saying 'this is what I planned, and I couldn't find what I wanted for you.'"

A gift certificate and note is more thoughtful than giving a gift that doesn't suit the recipient, said Hillis. "Besides, people don't return gift certificates," she said.

Christopher Radko holiday ornaments, fragrance collections and cashmere clothing and accessories, from gloves to sweater-sets to evening wear, are last-minute shoppers' best bets, added Hillis. Both items appeal to women (since most last-minute shoppers are men) and are being carried in abundance by local retailers.

Other expert tips from Hillis included:

- Wearing comfortable shoes and lightweight clothing that will keep you cool
- Making a gift list with several ideas and a budget for each recipient before heading out to shop
- Taking advantage of retail services, which include gift-wrapping, package pick-up, valet parking and personal shopping services, for convenience and to save time
- Making sure to set aside enough time to accomplish your goals
- Spending a day at the mall, rather than just a few hours
- Planning to take an enjoyable lunch or coffee break
- Shopping with someone whose opinion you trust who will not rush you.

Information must be received by 5 p.m. Monday for publication the following Sunday.

New York dazzles during the holidays

BY JUDITH DONER BERNE
SPECIAL WRITER

No city wraps itself up for the holidays quite like New York.

If you are traveling to the Big Apple anytime between now and New Year's, you are in for a treat.

The bright lights that always shine in Times Square are rivaled by the dazzle coming from streets and stores, plazas and parks throughout the city at this time of year.

Rockefeller Center is a traditional focal point of the holiday hubbub. The giant Rockefeller Center Christmas tree boasts 30,000 light bulbs on five miles of wire. This year's tree, according to the center's holiday hotline, is a 100-year-old, 100-foot-tall, 55-foot-wide Norway spruce, imported from Connecticut.

And you'll most certainly want to check out the windows of the big department stores: Barneys New York, Bergdorf Goodman, Bloomingdales, Lord & Taylor, Macy's and Saks Fifth Avenue.

Innovative Christmas themes abound, but because this is also the turn of the century some stores have chosen to focus on the millennium.

Lord & Taylor looks toward the future through the eyes of children from around the world. Five of its Fifth Avenue windows recreate familiar landmarks from various countries and continents, with the sixth window a global tribute. Each features animated figures of children, dressed in fashions appropriate to their heritage.

Barneys New York, living up to its cutting edge reputation, isn't content to confine its windows to one century. Entitled "Two Thousand Years of Talk," they pay homage to five icons of communication from the past 2,000 years. Each icon is represented by a seven-foot-tall head, made up of and surrounded by a variety of materials, with a mouth that constantly moves.

more than 1,000 bottle caps, many filled with the image of Hollywood beauty queen Elizabeth Taylor. Other talking heads are of William Shakespeare (Sweet Talk), Queen Elizabeth II (Tiara Talk), James Brown (Jive Talk) and Millennium Man (Cyber Talk).

Truer to the Christmas theme, Saks Fifth Avenue's windows feature an animated interpretation of a new book, "Auntie Claus," by Elise Primeval. The windows tell the story of Sophie, described as a rather precocious New York child. She learns the true meaning of the holiday spirit from her aunt, who turns out to be Santa's sister. Hand-sculpted figures are dressed in costumes made from velvets, fake Park Avenue site in 1931. The lobby, adorned with art deco murals and mosaics, is the setting for the re-creation in miniature of wintry street scenes from the Waldorf's past set against blow-ups of vintage photographs of the original hotel.

The windows at F.A.O. Schwarz toy store depict various adventures of beloved author E.B. White's "Stuart Little," obviously well-timed for the film that opens this month. And Tiffany & Co. continues its impressive run of highlighting spectacular pieces of jewelry in sophisticated wintry settings.

Much as I enjoy the windows, it's the street scenes that I really love: the delicately lighted trees on the grassy median of Park Avenue, with the limestone and brick facade of St. Bartholomew's Church (1919) as backdrop; the parade of candy canes on 57th Street west of Fifth Avenue; the golden snowflake dangling high above Fifth Avenue at 57th Street.

Bake and be merry

Throughout the year we answer thousands of questions about food preservation, cooking, baking and canning from people who call the Michigan State University Extension/Oakland County Food and Nutrition Hotline. Generally around the holidays, the questions turn to baking. I hope the following questions and answers will help you with your holiday baking.

Q. How can I avoid crystallization of the sugar when making candy?

A. Make sure the sugar is completely dissolved before it reaches a boil. Stir the sugar and liquid together thoroughly. Bring the sugar syrup slowly to a boil, stirring occasionally. Cover the pan while the syrup is coming to a boil, the condensed steam will wash down the side of the pan and help prevent crystallization.

BEEF UP YOUR HOLIDAYS

BY RENEE SKOGLUND

On the 13th day of Christmas, my true love brought me beef! Gregg Johnson of Canton is a beef-loving, grill-happy, deep-frying man who loves to cook for his friends. This past Thanksgiving he injected a 14-pound turkey with Cajun spices and boiled it in oil. The bird cooked in 45 minutes. If he gets enough requests, he might just deep fry another turkey for Christmas.

STAFF PHOTOS BY PAUL HUBSCHMANN

kind of explode inside." However, Johnson's first love is beef, especially steak, which he learned to cook when he was 9 years old.

"I loved steaks. I'd ask my mom to cook me steaks all the time, one for breakfast, one for lunch, one for dinner. She went out and bought a countertop broiler and left a few steaks in the fridge, and I was on my way, Jack. That was my starter kit."

Today, Johnson has perfected his mother's technique. He starts with a two-pound black Angus porterhouse, pokes both sides with a sharp knife to tenderize it, then sprinkles both sides with seasoned salt, pepper and some garlic powder.

Sounds ready for the grill or broiler, doesn't it? Wrong. Johnson always rubs a few pats of butter (real butter, buddy, not margarine) across the surface of one side of the steak for some extra juices, which he uses to sauté mushrooms.

Finally, for an extra, extra touch, he squeezes a bit of fresh lemon juice over the top. This is a man infatuated with flavor.

He broils his steak on high about eight to 10 minutes per side, flipping just once. "They're very tender and rare," said friend Terrie Poe. "I like mine well done, but he likes his rare. I always make him cook mine a little more."

Roasts
Although it's hard to beat a perfectly prepared steak for a romantic holiday dinner for two, premium roasts - ribeye, rib, tenderloin and top loin - are perfect for entertaining larger crowds. Select roasts that are bright cherry red in color without any grayish or brown blotches. They can be stored unopened in the refrigerator three to four days before cooking.

Try dressing up your Christmas or New Year's roast with a seasoning rub prior to roasting. A rub containing liquid such as oil or mustard is sometimes called a "paste." The result of this rub-down is a crusty finish after roasting and a juicy, tender roast. Always prepare these roasts by dry heat: Roasted in

RUB, CRUST AND PASTE

- Classic beef rub - Dried thyme leaves, minced garlic and cracked black pepper.
- Mustard and parsley crust - Dijon mustard, fresh bread crumbs and minced parsley combined with fresh herbs, prepared horseradish, wasabi or grated Parmesan cheese.
- Rosemary-blue cheese crust - dried or fresh rosemary, chopped walnuts, crumbled blue cheese. Cook roast halfway, press on coating and continue baking.
- Tropic island rub - Minced garlic, chopped jalapeno pepper, chopped fresh ginger, lime juice, brown sugar, dried thyme leaves, salt and ground allspice.
- Chimichurri paste - Chopped Italian parsley, olive oil, white vinegar, minced garlic and salt.
- Bouillon herb paste - Beef bouillon cube (crushed) or granules, olive oil, fresh or dried herbs.
- Southwest paste - Finely chopped dried tomatoes, minced chipotle chiles in adobo sauce, minced garlic and oil.

These rubs are equally good for less expensive roasts, such as round tip, tri-tip or eye round. Eye rounds are particularly good first marinated in red wine, herbs, garlic and onion for six hours or overnight. Prior to roasting, remove from marinade and coat with a mixture of cracked peppercorns (black, white, pink), crushed red pepper and salt.

Cookbook for manly taste 'buds'

Is there a cooking-impaired man on your Christmas list? If so, consider "Bake It Like a Man," an entertaining and practical cookbook that demonstrates the ability to bake, broil and braise has nothing to do with estrogen.

"Life under roofs is centered in the kitchen. It's where humans go for good news and bad, to celebrate birthdays, perform home surgery, and crack pecans," said Irish-born author David Bowers.

"All real human drama takes place in the kitchen. And for too long, it's been the sole domain of woman. But man has an equal right to the place, and it's time he asserted himself domestically."

Yes, guys, it's home-home-on-the-range time.

The index to "Bake It Like a Man" reads like a do-it-yourself home-repair manual: Men and

Some fizz for holiday bubbly

BY ELEANOR & RAY HEALD

Are you planning to open a premium bottle of champagne or sparkling wine this holiday season? Here's some fizz ed.

Joy Sterling, marketing director of her family's Iron Horse Vineyards in Sonoma County, Calif., considers champagne a "subset" of sparkling wine.

"The word champagne is like Kleenex, a brand name that has become part of common speech," she said. "For the purist, Champagne is a geographic region of France, and only wine from there can legitimately be called champagne."

Call it what you will, the real difference between champagne and California sparkling wine is the fruit. California enjoys more sunlight hours, therefore the fruit is richer and more fla-

Meat, Men and Flame, Men and Big Food, Men and Fermentation and Brass Tacks. With practice, any man worth his T-bones can make Spaghetti and Meat-boulders (with freshly grated Pecorino Romano or Parmesan cheese, please), Stovetop Deep-Fried Turkey (how manly can you get?), and the artery-busting Cadillac Mac and Cheese.

Although there's an entire chapter devoted to potatoes, this is far more than a meat-and-potatoes cookbook. Bowers goes into detail on the tools and techniques needed to produce just the right dish. Everything starts with a good knife, he says. Or a good cast iron skillet.

"If I had to choose only one frying pan, this would be it. A seasoned cast iron pan is the most durable and highest-performing cooking utensil you can have."

Bowers enhances the basics. A well-cooked steak, he says, needs little to adorn it besides a glass of strong red wine and a baked potato. However, in the chapter "Men and Meat," he includes several sauces — blue cheese, horseradish, mushroom, red wine and herb butter — to improve upon perfection. In the same chapter, he also ventures into Wiener Schnitzel, Roast Pork Loin with Crackling, and Roast Bone-In leg of Lamb with Mint Sauce.

For the man handy with a propane torch, there's a red-hot section on flambéing. "Once you've experienced the thrill of a lick of blue flame flaring toward the ceiling, you will want to flambé everything," said Bowers. He offers recipes for Whiskey Chicken, Steak Diane, Rotterdam Flaming Bananas, and even Glogg, the "viciously potent" Swedish Christmas punch.

There's even a whole section on baking bread, disproving the old adage, "Man does not live by bread alone." Bowers likes to make his bread by hand. Bread-making machines are for wimps, he believes.

Forget the new circular saw or orbital sander, girls. Don't even think about routers and planers. Get the man in your pantry something you'll both enjoy. "Bake It Like a Man."

David Bowers, an artist and illustrator who worked for many years in restaurants in London, Montreal and New York. He ran his own restaurant in Dublin. He currently lives in New York with his wife, Sharon Bowers, a food writer and editor. "Bake It Like a Man" is published by William Morrow and Co. Inc. and retails for $16.

an oven, uncovered without the addition of water.

Always use a meat thermometer since the internal temperature is the best indicator of doneness. An ovenproof meat thermometer is inserted prior to roasting and remains for the entire cooking time. An instant-read thermometer is not ovenproof; use it toward the end of the cooking time. Insert it long enough to get a temperature reading, about 10 to 15 seconds.

The USDA says beef roasts need only be cooked to medium rare or an internal temperature of 145 degrees F. Remove the roast when the thermometer reads 10 degrees less than the desired internal temperature.

For example, for medium rare doneness, remove the roast from the oven when the thermometer registers 135 degrees F. For medium doneness, remove the roast when the temperature registers 150 degrees F. During the standing time, the temperature continues to rise to reach the desired doneness.

Every magnificent holiday roast or steak deserves a great side dish or two. Johnson served buttered noodles with thyme and some dressed-up baked beans with his steak. But you can't beat a baked potato and a salad, he said. "If I want to go overboard, I'll do crab legs on the side."

When asked if Johnson cleans up after he cooks, Poe snickered a bit. "Is this going in the paper? No, he doesn't clean up. Does he serve himself? No."

ful. Champagnes have subtler fruit elements and often have higher acidity which is masked by sugar added in the dosage at final bottling. California fruit achieves balance naturally on the vine and can therefore be made drier than a number of champagnes.

While technically, it takes only three weeks to get bubbles, by law in the Champagne region, a non-vintage sparkler must be aged 18 months on the yeast in the bottle before disgorging when the yeast sediment is expelled.

Characteristics

Vintage champagne must be aged three years. Longer aging on the yeast in the bottle impacts the three most important characteristics of any bubbly.

■ Bouquet: When the cork is popped, you should sense aromas such as freshly risen bread dough, toast or biscuits.

■ Texture: The wine should be creamy and rich with a soft bubbling action that lasts a long time in the glass.

■ Finish: Never plodding, but always with a lift at the end inviting the next sip.

We personally enjoy champagnes or sparkling wines a year or two after disgorging. In that time, they develop more richness and palate weight. That's one of the reasons Iron Horse sparklers appeal to us. The disgorging date is on the bottom right hand side of every label. No guessing how long the wine has been on the shelf.

Champagne should be served chilled from the refrigerator at 40°F or from a champagne bucket filled with half water and ice. Glasses should be either tall flutes or long tulip-shaped. A 750mL bottle serves five glasses.

Plan on two to three glasses per person at a sparkling cocktail party and 2/3 of bottle per person at an all-sparkling wine dinner.

Look for Focus on Wine on the first and third Sunday of the month in Taste. To leave a voice mail message for the Healds, dial (734) 953-2047 on a touch-tone phone, mailbox 1864.

Q. Can I buy a cheese ball or special cheeses now and freeze them for gifts later?

A. It depends on the variety of cheese. Hard cheeses such as Cheddar, Swiss, Mozzarella or Colby can be frozen safely, but these cheeses will be drier and more crumbly after freezing. Only keep cheese frozen for about three months. Thaw in the refrigerator.

Q. What is the liquid measurement of an egg? How do you measure part of an egg?

A. For a recipe that gives a measurement instead of a number, use this rule of thumb:

1 large egg (2 ounces) equals 1/4 cup

1 medium egg (1 3/4 ounces) equals 1/5 cup

1 small egg (1 1/2 ounces) equals 1/6 cup

To use only part of an egg in a recipe that you have to cut in half, beat the egg slightly, measure out about 1 1/2 tablespoons to equal part of an egg.

Q. Why won't my fudge get harder?

A. Fudge that doesn't "set up" hasn't been cooked long enough. Scrape it back into the pan and add a couple of teaspoons of water. Keep cooking and stirring. Use a candy thermometer and watch the temperature. Some things cannot be hurried.

Q. How do I use gingerroot?

A. Gingerroot is used just by peeling. It can be sliced, grated or made into a sliver to add to Asian dishes or stir-fry foods.

Q. Are egg substitutes safe in a raw product?

A. Yes, because frozen egg replacers are made from eggs that have undergone pasteurization at temperatures to kill microorganisms. Pasteurization does not cook the egg but effect its color, flavor or nutrient content. Do not eat raw eggs, you may get sick.

Delicious dishes to beef up holidays

HOLIDAY HOTLINES

David Bowers and Sharon Bowers, authors of "Bake It Like a Man" claim a well-cooked steak needs little more than a glass of strong red wine and a baked potato. But if you're can't resist a sauce, they suggest the following sauces:

Blue cheese sauce: Using a fork, mash a clove of garlic to a paste with 1/4 teaspoon salt in a small bowl. Add 2 tablespoons brandy and blend well. Stir in 3 tablespoons heavy cream and 1 tablespoon olive oil. Gradually beat in 6 ounces of blue cheese, such as Maytag blue, Stilton or Roquefort. Spoon some sauce over each cooked steak and put them under the broiler for just a minute to melt the cheese.

Horseradish sauce: Blend 1 cup sour cream with 1 teaspoon sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, a few grindings of black pepper, 1/4 cup finely grated fresh horseradish (or 1/4 cup prepared horseradish), and the juice of 1/2 lemon. Serve on the side.

Mushroom sauce: Melt 1/4 cup butter in a large skillet over medium heat. Add 2 cups thinly sliced mushrooms (white ones are fine, but try the flavorful shiitake, chanterelle, morel or porcini) and 3 minced shallots (or a small onion and a clove of garlic). Sauté about 5 minutes. Add 1/2 cup white wine and simmer over medium heat until the liquid is nearly gone. Add 1 cup beef stock, the juice of 1/2 lemon, and 2 tablespoons chopped parsley. Bring to a boil and spoon over cooked steaks immediately.

Red wine sauce: Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a skillet over low heat and add 1 finely minced garlic clove. Sauté 1 minute, making sure the garlic does not brown. Add 1/2 cup strong red wine, such as a Bordeaux or Cabernet Sauvignon. Bring to a boil and cook until the wine is reduced by half. Add 3/4 cup beef stock, 1 bay leaf, and 1/2 teaspoon coarsely shredded black peppercorns. Return to a boil, reduce the heat and simmer for 10 minutes. Just before serving, whisk in 2 tablespoons butter.

Herb butter: Blend 1/2 cup softened butter with 1 teaspoon dried mustard, 1 minced garlic clove, 2 tablespoons each of fresh, finely chopped parsley, tarragon and chives; a few grindings of black pepper, and a splash of cognac or brandy. Place a dollop of the butter on top of each hot steak just before serving.

STEAK DIANE

- 2 6-ounce sirloin or strip steaks
- Salt and freshly ground black pepper
- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons cognac
- 3 shallots, minced
- 2 tablespoons medium-dry sherry
- 1 teaspoon Dijon

- mustard
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh parsley

With a mallet, pound each steak until it's about 1/4 inch thick. Season well with salt and pepper on each side. Heat a cast-iron skillet over high heat for several minutes. It should be very hot. Add the olive oil and 2 tablespoons of the butter. Seconds later, as soon as the butter is melted, slap in the steaks. Sear them for about 40 seconds on each side.

Very carefully, because the pan already is so hot, pour in the cognac and ignite it with a match. When the flames die down, remove the steaks to a warm serving platter and cover.

Reduce the heat under the skillet and add the remaining tablespoon of butter and the shallots. Cook, stirring occasionally, until they are transparent, 4 to 5 minutes. Stir in the sherry, mustard, Worcestershire and lemon juice. Heat until ingredients boil.

Pour the sauce over the steaks on the warm platter and garnish with the chopped parsley. Serve immediately.

MEDITERRANEAN

BEEF PINWHEELS

- 3/4 pound well-trimmed deli roast beef, thinly sliced
- 1 container (8 ounces) soft cream cheese with chives and onions
- 4 large (10-inch) flour tortillas
- 1 cup finely seeded cucumber
- 1 cup pitted, chopped Kalamata or ripe olives.

Spread cheese evenly over one side of each tortilla. Top with equal amounts of cucumber and olives. Layer deli roast beef over olives, leaving 1/2-inch border around edge. Roll up tightly and wrap in plastic wrap. Refrigerate at least 2 hours or up to 4 hours before serving. To serve, cut each roll crosswise into 8 slices. Makes 32 appetizers.

Recipe compliments of the National Cattlemen's Beef Association

- prebaked frozen mini phyllo shells
- Chopped parsley

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Remove beef pot roast from package and transfer gravy to large saucepan. Shred enough beef with 2 forks to measure 2 cups. Add to gravy. Reserve remaining beef for another use.

Add thyme and pepper to saucepan. Cover and cook over medium-low heat 7 to 10 minutes or until heated through, stirring occasionally. Place phyllo shells on baking sheet. Bake at 375 degrees 5 to 8 minutes or until hot. Spoon beef mixture evenly into phyllo shells and sprinkle with fresh parsley. Makes 30 appetizers.

Frozen puff pastry shells may be substituted for the phyllo shells.

BEEF & PISTACHIO PATÉ

- 2 pounds lean ground beef
- 1 cup soft bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup shelled unsalted pistachio nuts
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 3 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 1/4 cup brandy
- 1/4 cup heavy

- cream
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon cracked black pepper
- 1 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
- Vegetable cooking spray
- Thin slices of French bread

Heat oven to 350 degrees. In large bowl, combine beef, bread crumbs, nuts, onion, garlic, parsley, egg, brandy, cream, salt, pepper and thyme. Mix lightly but thoroughly. Lightly spray bottom of 9 x 5 loaf pan with cooking spray. Press mixture into pan and cover tightly with aluminum foil. Place in 13 x 9 baking pan and transfer to middle rack of oven. Carefully pour hot water into outer pan until water reaches halfway up loaf pan. Bake 1-1/2 hours.

Cool slightly and carefully pour off drippings. To weight pâté, place heavy cans into a second 9x5 loaf pan. Cover pâté loosely with foil and place loaf pan with cans on top of pâté. Refrigerate overnight.

To serve, loosen sides of pâté with knife, invert onto serving platter and wrap tightly and refrigerate up to 2 days.

Cut crosswise into thin slices, then cut each slice in half. Serve with French bread. Makes about 80 slices.

Cornea recipient sees miracle in donation

BY KIMBERLY A. MORTSON
STAFF WRITER
kmortson@e.eccentric.com

You wouldn't have to ask Katio Dougherty twice if she enjoys seeing her five grandchildren - there isn't a question the answer would be yes. But to Dougherty the doubt lied in whether she'd be able to "see" them for very much longer.

The 68-year-old Canton resident had been plagued with vision and eye-related problems for as far back as she can remember.

"I've been to see so many ophthalmologists I've lost count," quipped Dougherty.

Approximately 20 years ago Dougherty's lens in her left eye was removed due to a cataract.

The purpose of the lens is to focus images sharply on the retina. When the clouding or cataract occurs, the lens is no longer able to focus clearly onto the retina. After surgery, the eye is unable to focus because it does need a lens to function normally again. The alternatives are cataract glasses which are thick and heavy, a contact lens which is worn on the eye, or a lens implant or intraocular lens, which is an artificial lens placed within the eye.

Glasses were out of the question because she had such good vision in her right eye. "The doctor said I would have a thick lens on one side of the glasses and a regular in the other," said Dougherty. "My brain wouldn't be able to tolerate it."

The optician then tried a contact lens. "That didn't work either. My eye just couldn't acclimate to it." After two different contact lenses Dougherty gave up and settled for the loss of vision.

"I was totally blind in that eye after they removed the lens," said Dougherty. "I don't know how I drove all these years without getting in an accident."

The 68-year-old also had no peripheral vision and no depth perception making life somewhat frustrating.

"I would over estimate things when I walked because I couldn't tell how far I was from a step. I would drop things if people reached out and handed them to me and when I was pouring cream in my coffee I would pour it all over the table because I thought I was pouring it right into the cup. My husband was very patient."

Then in 1991 Dougherty received an artificial lens implant that restored vision to her left eye. Unfortunately a common occurrence following this type of surgery is a detached retina. The condition was detected during a routine checkup and Dougherty was rushed to the hospital for emergency surgery.

"I didn't even have time to go home and pack a bag," said Dougherty.

In the past eight years the Canton senior has had cataract surgery in her right eye, once considered her "good" eye, and again a detached retina developed. An artificial lens was implanted just like the one in her left eye.

More bad news followed. The lens that was implanted in 1991 was being rejected by her eye and was rapidly deteriorating.

"They told me I'd have to have the lens removed and receive a cornea transplant," recalled Dougherty.

Gift of sight

In September of 1998 Dougherty received a cornea for her left eye from the Michigan Eye-Bank of Ann Arbor. She was awake during the procedure, performed by Dr. Roger F. Meyer of the University of Michigan Kellogg Eye Center. Meyer, a staff member of the Kellogg Eye Center and a professor of ophthalmology and visual sciences, removed the old lens and transplanted the donor cornea, the clear surface at the front of the eye.

A corneal transplant replaces a disc-shaped segment of an impaired cornea with a similarly shaped piece of a healthy donor cornea. According to the Michigan Eye-Bank/Midwest Eye Banks Transplantation Center, approximately 130 people in Michigan are currently waiting for a corneal transplant.

A year following the transplant Dougherty has 20/30 vision thanks to the cornea donation.

"People say to me, 'let someone else donate.' But if everyone felt that way no one would donate. It's so important to get donors. I can see now, thanks to someone's unselfish generosity," said Dougherty.

Recently the 68-year-old became an ambassador for the Michigan Eye Bank in hopes of sharing her story with others and spreading the urgent news about organ and tissue donation.

Dougherty's first public appearance as a Michigan Eye Bank ambassador occurred in the fall when she was the speaker at the Detroit Federal Executive Board's North Avenue Disability Awareness Training Seminar for Federal employees.

Dispelling myths

Lisa Langley, a registered nurse and an 11-year professional educator for the Michigan Eye Bank, said there are several aspects of organ and tissue

Special gift

While families gather during this holiday season, the thoughts of many of us turn toward giving thanks for the many gifts that we have received this year. To do so is to express our thanks in tangible ways even as we seek to find the perfect gift for the loved ones in our lives.

This year, the Michigan Eye-Bank asks you to consider giving a gift to someone that you may never meet. This is a gift that is so valuable it is beyond measure, encompassing, life, sight, and hope; yet it is virtually cost-free to the giver. It is a gift that is literally within the power of each of us to offer and makes a powerful impact on individuals, families, as well as communities.

By signing a donor registry card and telling your loved ones of your wishes to donate your eyes and organs after death, you could potentially give the gift of sight to one or more of the 130 persons in Michigan waiting for a corneal transplant. By donating your eye tissues to research (Gift of Hope) scientists are able to develop new surgeries and treatments to combat blindness. Through the Gift of Life, donated organs allow one or more of the 2,300 persons waiting for an organ transplant to continue living.

However, signing the donor registry card and mailing it in is simply not enough; you must discuss your decision with your family and/or the persons representing your estate to ensure that your wishes are known. This is essential, because your loved ones and/or person representing Power of Attorney ultimately make the final decision regarding donation.

The Michigan Eye-Bank receives many letters from recipients expressing the joy that they feel after having their vision restored by a corneal transplant. The Gift of Sight is only made possible by the generosity of those who have consented to donation. Here is something very worthwhile to remember during this holiday season and every season: The Gift of Sight, Gift of Life, or Gift of Hope could be the most valuable gift that you may ever give or may even receive yourself.

— The Michigan Eye-Bank

donation that people misunderstand, including whether their religion will allow them to become a donor after their death.

"All major religions approve of organ and tissue donation and acceptance," said Langley who, as a regional coordinator, works in conjunction with 30 hospitals throughout southeastern Michigan regarding the procurement and retrieval of tissue.

The registered nurse noted there is no cost to the donor family because the recipient's insurance takes care of the cost of procurement. "People also need to know that when eye tissue is removed, no matter what is removed everything is replaced with something artificial. It's possible to have an open casket," said Langley.

Langley said talking about your wishes regarding organ donation may seem like an unusual topic during the holidays, but it's actually an ideal time. Signing the back of your driver's license isn't enough because it's not considered a legal document and ultimately your family makes the final decision.

"Giving the gift of sight to someone whose vision was robbed from a blinding eye disease is one of the most valuable gifts you could give and you may have to receive yourself one day," said Langley.

Langley looks forward to having Dougherty speak at future engagements throughout southeastern Michigan. "She was very well received at the training seminar and she has a wonderful story to share as a successful patient."

If you would like more information about organ and tissue donation, contact the Michigan Eye-Bank/Midwest Eye Banks and Transplantation Center at (800) 247-7250 or (734) 764-3262. The MEBTC has a Web site at www.mebtc.org.

Organ donor list expands Make donation wishes known throughout family

MICHIGAN

Secretary of State Candice S. Miller recently announced that 100,000 names have been added to the Gift of Life Organ and Tissue Donor Registry in just one year thanks to the Department of State's new organ donor enrollment card program.

Only about 15,000 names were on the Gift of Life registry before the enrollment card program began in August 1998.

"The numbers say it all - our message about greater organ donor awareness is touching people's hearts, and they are responding by placing their names on the organ donor registry," Miller said.

The Michigan Donor Registry is a computerized listing of Michigan residents who wish to someday become an organ and tissue donor. Donor registry cards are available through various health agencies, the Gift of Life Agency and at all Michigan Secretary of State branch offices.

As holiday greeting cards start to fill mailboxes, many Michigan residents are finding an unusual surprise tucked inside: Michigan Donor Registry cards are being inserted into greeting cards by a growing number of people, according to The Gift of Life Agency, Michigan's licensed organ and tissue recovery agency.

"The greatest gifts one can give is the Gift of Life," said Tamara Havermahl, Public Education Director. "This year, we are being contacted by a significant number of people who want to send donor registry cards to their friends and family."

The Michigan Donor Registry is a computerized listing of Michigan residents who wish to someday become an organ and tissue donor. Donor registry cards are available through various health agencies, the Gift of Life Agency and at all Michigan Secretary of State branch offices.

"Taking time at the holidays to discuss your donation wishes with family members is the most effective way to ensure that your personal wishes will be carried out," said Havermahl.

Listing your name on the Michigan

Donor Registry is one way to begin a family discussion about donation. Family consent is always obtained before any organ or tissue recovery efforts begin.

The number of Michigan patients waiting for organ and tissue transplants continues to grow. Currently, over 2,500 Michigan patients are on the organ waiting list while thousands more await a tissue transplant. Each month nearly 20 patients will die needlessly while waiting for an organ transplant.

"You can help solve the organ donor shortage by simply encouraging your family and friends to communicate their wish to be an organ and tissue donor," said Havermahl.

For more information about organ and tissue donation, or to receive Michigan Donor Registry Cards, call The Gift of Life Agency of Michigan, 800-482-4881.

Growing in popularity

Online shopping is here to stay say experts, consumers

MIKE WENDLAND

One thing we've learned from this holiday season is that shopping online is hot.

But sorting through all those Web sites and trying to determine who has the best deal is not.

To help make wise online buying decisions all year around, I've found some Web sites that offer up lots of e-commerce help.

All the surveys show the first thing consumers want is reliability in an online shopping site.

And the Web site that's getting all the best buzz for helping online shoppers find not just good prices but good service and delivery is www.bizrate.com. Its name describes precisely what Bizrate does. It rates online shopping Web sites. Type in the name of the online store you're interested in doing business with and it spits out an instant report on how that site meets various consumer needs, from ease of shopping to security, selection and shipping policies. The ratings come from thousands of online shoppers who are regularly surveyed.

Another great resource for evaluating online shopping sites is www.bbbonline.com from the Better Business Bureau. Besides receiving up practical tips about online shopping, you can search for Web sites that adhere to the bureau's reliability and privacy standards. You can even order up reports on businesses from across the country to see their track record with consumers.

After reliability, the next big issue for online shoppers is price. Who has the best deal?

The new www.ichoose.com Web site lets you download a little shopping helper program. It runs in the background while you do your e-shopping at any of the e-commerce sites. But before you click your mouse to make a purchase, that little program you downloaded then goes out and searches hundreds of other online merchants that sell that particular item to let you know if someone else has a better price.

Another extremely popular comparison price Web site these past few weeks is www.pricewatch.com. You are not required to download any program here. It does comparison shopping with its own built-in Web-based search engine. To see how it works, I decided to price out one of those hot new Palm VII organizers.

At brick-and-mortar computer stores around town, the price quoted was firm: $500. Take it or leave it.

I typed in the words "Palm

VII" on Pricewatch and, zap, in less than three seconds, I had a report showing online merchants selling it for a low of $444 and a high of $495.

And, of course, most of these online merchants do not charge state sales tax. That's a major issue with the state of Michigan and traditional retailers. The state is losing millions in taxes on items purchased online. Online retailers are clearly at an unfair advantage when it comes to e-commerce.

But even aside from the fairness issue, I'm convinced by phone calls to my radio show and e-mail from my TV and newspaper reports that the online public loves online shopping. It clearly is going to only get bigger. And Web sites like the ones we just talked about make the convenience of online shopping even more convenient.

I predict that the millions of first-time Internet shoppers who bought gifts online this holiday season will remember the experience and buy more and more goods and services via the Internet all year round.

Mike Wendland reports about computers and the Internet for NBC television stations coast-to-coast. His radio show is heard every weekend on TalkRadio 1270, WXYT. You can reach Mike through his Web site at www.pcmike.com

MALPRACTICE

When professional negligence is mentioned, there is an immediate association with medical malpractice in the minds of many people. However, physicians are not the only professionals who are required to perform professional work according to the best judgment and a degree of competence expected of persons in that specialty. While instances of medical malpractice have been widely reported in the media, such professionals as engineers, architects, and even caterers may also conduct their work in such a negligent manner that it results in loss or injury to their clients. With this in mind, consumers should be aware that there is a legal remedy available to them in the event that they encounter professional malpractice.

When professional malpractice leads to physical injury (or loss of life), an attorney should be contacted as soon as possible. There are not only time parameters within which one must file a suit, but also an attorney should explain what needs to be done to document injuries and preserve evidence that will become vital if a suit goes to trial.

HINT: The mere fact that someone was negligent does not necessarily give you the right to sue. Other elements must present themselves before a person has a chance to win a legal action.

BEING OLD WITH ARTHRITIC PAIN

Being old and experiencing arthritis pain presents a difficult problem both for you and your doctor.

For you, the difficulty is getting to the doctor when you need him.

For your physician the problem is one of prescribing appropriate medication. What he does not want to do is give you something that will make you dizzy, daffy, or sleepy. That is why he is reluctant to order narcotic medicines.

If you live alone, such medications are risky. A fall induced by narcotics could go unnoticed for hours. Since arthritis can last for years, the need for pain relief may last just as long. Reliance on narcotics brings tolerance if not addiction. In time, a greater amount of drug renders less pain relief, while the side effects remain a risk.

Use of medications such as acetaminophen and ibuprofen, often proves insufficient to relieve the pain you experience. Heat helps, but its effect is short lived.

If the pain comes from a joint, an aspiration of excess fluid in the joint and injection of a steroid preparation may help for days to weeks. However obtaining the injection necessitates an office visit, and delay in getting to the office brings up the need for interim relief.

The reality is that no physician can turn to a text or article for a formula that outlines a reliable solution. What doctors search for is a combination of medications that you tolerate well, are not addictive, and which relieve your pain consistently.

COME TO A GRINDING HALT

In response to stress, many people grind their teeth as they sleep. Not only does bruxism, as it is technically called, create a disturbance for bed partners, but it wears down teeth enamel. Bruxism may also weaken the bone holding the teeth to the point where periodontal disease can occur. To prevent these adverse effects, the dentist can fabricate a custom-fitted mouthguard for teeth-grinding patients that prevents the teeth in the upper and lower jaws from contacting one another. As effective as mouthguards are in protecting teeth, patients who grind their teeth may also want to explore the long-term benefits that can be derived from relaxation and stress-reduction therapies.

Do you grind your teeth? Please feel free to discuss your dental concerns with us. Our mission is to provide unparalleled patient care and service, creating a positive change in our patients' lives, and live it ours. At LIVONIA VILLAGE DENTAL ASSOCIATES, we stress preventive dentistry and recommend regular dental check-ups for all family members. We're located at 18171 Merriman Road. Come in and see what a difference we can make in your smile - and what a difference your smile can make in your life. We welcome your call at 478-2110 to schedule an appointment. Smiles are our business. We offer "Twilight Sleep," an intravenous sedation.
