Tour updates school board on technology, renovation projects

By Doug Johnson

Wayne-Westland school board members and administrators toured their district via bus Monday evening for a close look at some of the construction and renovation projects currently under way.

The improvements are being paid for by a voterapproved 1998 bond issue that designated $82 million for construction and $26 million for technology upgrades. Included in the tour were walk-throughs at the William D. Ford Career/Technical Center. Adams Middle School. Taft-Galloway Elementary School and Walker-Winter Elementary School.

School Superintendent Greg Baracy said the extensive projects will eventually touch every school in the district and the work is "on time and within budget."

Representatives of the construction management firm of McCarthy and Smith Inc. of Redford Township, and from the architects for the project, TMP Associates of Bloomfield Hills, also took part in the tour.

Council member extends apology

LeBlanc offered the city council an apology for questioning four council members' ethics in relation to the January firing of Clerk Patricia Gibbons.

BY TRACEY BIRKENHAUER STAFF WRITER

Councilman David Cox got his apology at Monday's Westland City Council meeting.

Unfortunately, he wasn't there to hear it. Council President Charles Griffin said Cox was ill and couldn't attend the session.

At the May 1 meeting, Cox demanded councilmen Richard LeBlanc and Glenn Anderson publicly apologize for accusing him of violating the Michigan Open Meetings Act. Cox also wanted LeBlanc and Anderson to help him pay more than $1,000 in attorney's fees. but that's not likely to happen.

Anderson didn't comment on the fees at the meeting, but in the past he called Cox's request for monetary reimbursement fridiculous

LeBlanc didn't say he'd help defray the expenses, but offered to help Cox explore ways to pay his legal bills.

"I am told personal funds were expended to enable a response to the prosecutor for actions involving council members acting within their elected positions," LeBlanc said. "While others have suggested the advice of an attorney is viewed as a form of insurance, I would say that it would be difficult to consider those expenses normal. If council members believe they were responding to an inquiry involving their elected position, there might exist another method or methods by which repayment could be achieved.

"I am willing to assist in the exploration of those methods."

Citizen pleads for decorum at council meetings

BY TRACEY BIRKENHAUER

While the majority of residents at Monday's council meeting were vocally disgruntled, one man stood up and called for peace.

"I'm concerned about our community and the direction it's taking as far as the children and the role models that are being displayed right here at city council," said George Marvaso. "Here, as a silent majority, I say that I am in favor of the institution. What is the institution? Whether it be a church, the YMCA, a manufacturing plant or our government, there must be a structure of authority in any institution or the institution will fail."

He doesn't support the effort to recall council members Sharon Scott, David Cox, David James and Charles Griffin, who voted to abruptly fire then-City Clerk Patricia Gibbons in January.

"If you have a government, you have to support the government," Marvaso said. "The government is not always right, but we need to support the community. We don't need to overthrow the government."

Since Gibbons was fired, some Westland residents have shown mistrust for their city government. At the meeting, several citizens boasted of filing Freedom of Information Act requests regarding budget items and investigations into campaign funding histories.

Marvaso encouraged residents to voice their concerns but pleaded for decorum. He criticized residents who mock their elected officials, cursing and berating council members as they

"I don't see a lot of good role models coming up here to voice their opinions,"

Residents probed the council for answers until after 11:30 p.m. Many

City OKs bids for new fire station

By TRACKY BIRKENHAUER

Residents on the southeast side will be a little safer after the construction of Fire Station 5.

Response times for Westland Fire Department fire trucks and ambulances should drop from about 6 to 9 minutes to about 2 minutes, said Fire Chief Mark Neal.

On Monday, the city council approved the low bid from EGH Contractor Inc. for $895,991.

The station, to be located near Irene Street and Annapolis Road, has been a long time coming for Dorothy Smith, who has seat lecture hall, and large additions to the auto body lab, construction trades room, CAD-CAM lab and welding labs.

They also toured video/media production labs and a new computer lab for graphic design courses. About two dozen computers will be installed there along with airbrush and signmaking equipment.

About $5.5 million is being spent for construction at Ford and another $2.1 million is set aside for equipment. Mechanical work is at about 95 percent complete at Ford; cement flooring is due to be poured in the auto shop lab in the next few days.

Lecture hall

The lecture hall will be available to the public for small groups to rent and the district can use it for staff in service. Each seat will have a "drop" for such things as laptop computers and phone lines.

Most of the building's duct work is exposed, with ceiling tiles removed as the facility is being wired for technology.

At Adams the board saw new rooms for choir and instrumental music as well as new administrative offices.

About half the classrooms at Adams have been redone; the other half will be done this summer.

Most impressive at Adams is a new vaulted ceiling entryway with multi-colored geometric tile on the floor.

■ Taft-Galloway students moved into a new building just after Easter. Baracy said the move went smoothly. Students packed a grocery bag full of their stuff before spring break; they returned to their old classroom after break, found their things and went to their new rooms.

"It couldn't have gone better." Baracy said.

The two-story structure was dictated by the small site at Galloway as well as the need to keep the old school in place.

Assistant Superintenden Charlotte Sherman said the old Taft building, parts of it dating to the 1940s, will be torn down this month. Asbestos abatement in the old structure is under way now, but the building is sealed off from the new school.

The site at Taft is next to a city of Wayne park. "The city has been great" Baracy said. And temporary work road and other outside improvements will be done this summer.

Lots of light

Brick work on a stage addition to the multipurpose room was nearing completion as of Monday. Six big windows will bring lots of light into the new curvedwall instructional materials center. Dark green and dark blue dent Charlotte Sherman is in the back. ■ At Walker-Winter on Michigan Avenue in Canton, across from the Ford truck plant, board members saw an essentially completed renovation which includes refurbished classrooms and brand Baracy proudly pointed to an old fireplace from the original one-room school house on the site. It has become the focal point of the office renovation and includes low-slung wooden seats on either side just right for small children.

Board reaction

enough.

Board members Skip Monit, Martha Pitsenbarger and Teresa Robbins all offered comments:

"Based on the amount of work we have to do it is encouraging to see it is going so well. It is good that the voters can see that what we promised has come to fruition. I'm looking forward to the next few years with all the buildings tied together (with technology and networks) and all the buildings renovated and revamped." Monit said.

"I think we have a superb record so far in completing our projects," Pitsenbarger said. "Things are running on time and it is because of quality people; the administration hired quality people and the result is work is being done in a timely manner."

"I'm very impressed with all the progress we've made; we are lucky to have fantastic consultants (McCarthy-Smith); everything they promised has come to pass. This project will allow our kids to compete with any other school district in the state and the country, with everything we are doing with technology," Robbins said. She also said the district has been lucky that, even with a robust economy, workers in the skilled trades have been found for the district's projects. And many items have come in under bid.

"The flip side of that is that sometimes after renovation begins we find problems that couldn't be seen by the naked eye and they have to be fixed."

Five other schools are complete or near complete but were not part of the tour: Lincoln, Jefferson-Barns, Hoover, Kettering and Schweitzer.

This summer

Schools that will undergo construction this summer include Elliott, Hamilton, Vandenberg, Hicks, P.D. Graham, Madison and Patchin elementary schools.

Marshall Middle School on Bayview in Westland will have a new entryway built and classroom remodeled this summer.

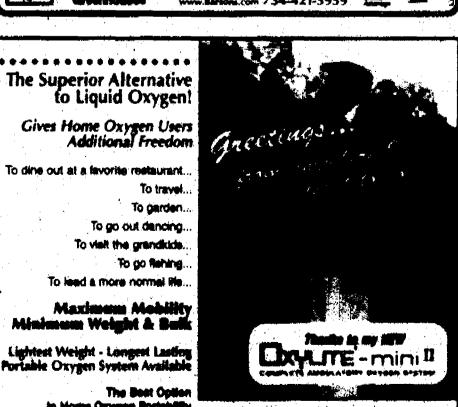

During the 2001-02 school year Edison and Wildwood elementaries will be renovated as will the Tinkham Center and the Stottlemyer Early Childhood Center, and Franklin and Stevenson middle schools.

Improvements will be made at Wayne Memorial High, especially in the auditorium. Room renovations will be done in 9- and 10room blocks.

Bids for renovations at John Glenn High School are due to the board in June.

"The redesigned all-glass front of the library (at Glenn) will make it roomier, lighter and more conducive to learning," Sherman said:

Sign of the times: Judy Baker of Westland holds up a sign showing some "new math" during Sunday's Million Mom March in Washington, D.C.

Westland mom part of march in D.C.

By Brad Kadrich Staff Writer bkadrich@oe.homecomm.net

Judy Baker of Westland was in Dallas when the shootings occurred at Columbine High School in Littleton, Colo, in

The events of that day were so terrifying to Baker that she wanted to pull her grandchildren in around her and keep them out of harm's way forever.

Knowing she couldn't do that, Baker did what she thought was the next best thing. She was one of an estimated 750,000 people on The Mall in Washington D.C. for Sunday's Million Mom March, the movement asking Congressional leaders for "reasonable gun control."

"When Columbine happened, I was so petrified I was ready to home-school my grandchildren," Baker said, "My husband told me, 'Why go (to the march), what difference is one more woman going to make?' Well, it might not make a difference (overall), but it makes a difference to me."

Baker was one of thousands of Michigan mothers who made the trek. Many left on buses from Livonia, making the 12-hour drive en masse in a show of solidarity and support for the mission, which grew out of the ashes of the April 1999 attack at Columbine High School in Littleton, Colo.

Twelve students and a teacher were gunned down by students armed with weapons.

The Livonia bus contingent, which included women from Farmington Hills, Livonia, Plymouth, Troy, Auburn Hills. Dearborn and Royal Oak, was greeted by U.S. Rep. Debbie Stabenow, D-Lansing.

Stabenow, locked in what is by most accounts a bitter, hotly contested battle with Republican Sen Spence Abraham, talked to the mothers individually, then addressed them as a group just before they left

"This is one of those times when you're going to feel great about standing up and making a statement," she told them. "One day you'll look back on this and see it as a defining moment."

It was a theme carried on at the march, by speakers ranging from talk show host Rosie O'Donnell to Kerry Kennedy Cuomo, the daughter of Robert F. Kennedy, who told the group there "are more federally licensed gun dealers in this country than there are McDonald's franchises."

Other speakers included Jim Brady, Ronald Reagan's press secretary who was wounded in the attempted assassination of the president, and his wife, Sarah, actresses Susan Sarandon and Reese Witherspoon; several mothers of victims of gun violence, including Veronica McQueen, the mother of 6-yearold Kayla Rolland, shot by her 6year-old Flint classmate; and Dawn Anna, the mother of Lauren Townsend, who died in the Columbine shootings:

All of them expressed gratitude and amazement at the turnout, which was much larger than expected, and urged the mothers to leave Washington and carry on the cause in their own communities.

While the turnout for the march was "incredible." that kind of continuing effort is critical to the mission, according to one of the local state coordina-

"I was flowed by the passion of those women, and astounded by the numbers," said Barb Case of Plymouth "I found (the march) to be one of the most inspiring. awesome things I've ever seen. But from here we definitely have to work on educating people and identifying those (politicrans) who support us and those who don't: I think we need to continue to recruit members and get our message out."

He criticized Mayor Robert Thomas for refusing to answer some questions at the last meeting and demanded an apology from him.

Mario Gracin, a recall leader, said he agrees with Marvaso as far as demonstrating decorum, but he won't accept his government as it is.

"I disagree with some of the individuals who run the city," he said. "Under the present circumstances, when no answers are given, when no cooperation is given, I'll exercise my constitutional right by recalling them."

Reading from a lengthy statement, Councilman LeBlanc said "please consider these comments as a statement of retraction, apology and regret regarding the request of the Wayne County prosecutor.

LeBlanc knew his statements would incense some constituents. Many shook their heads in disapproval during his statement.

"Many people have encouraged me to not apologize and may believe this statement is akin to kowtowing," LeBlanc said. "It is not. Failure to comply with certain requests based upon the advice of legal counsel can set the stage for something far more unappealing."

Council members and the mayor thanked LeBlanc for his statements. "That makes me feel very Clearly, Anderson isn't as willing to forgive and forget.

"I'm not offering a blanket apology," he boldly stated.

He said he still believes council members discussed Gibbons' firing outside of a public meet-

"An apology was in order," Griffin said, "He was wrong. It's clear and simple that he was wrong."

He said he encourages Anderson to follow LeBlanc's example. "I hope we can work together to get past this," Griffin said. Anderson did offer one backhanded apology. "If anyone was professionally or personally harmed by any statement I made, I regret that," he said. "Even though I don't believe I did that."

Candidates file

McPhail joins prosecutor's race

BY RICHARD PEARL STAFF WRITER

rpearl@oc.homecomm.net

A late filing as candidate for Wayne County prosecuting attorney grabbed the spotlight from other races as registration for the Aug. 4 primary election closed earlier this week.

Sharon McPhail, a Detroit attorney and former mayoral and county executive candidate, announced on Tuesday - the final day - and heated a simmering race to a near-boil.

Before, the race to succeed retiring prosecutor John O'Hair had been largely a three-way contest between Deputy County Executive Michael E. Duggan of Livonia, Chief Assistant Prosecuting Attorney George Ward of Plymouth and state Sen. Virgil A. Smith of Detroit, with Duggan seen as leading.

But the addition of four other Detroit-based candidates - in particular McPhail, who has a reputation for speaking her mind - overshadowed at least a couple of surprise candidacies in western Wayne County races.

One was the entry into the Democratic primary for county treasurer by longtime state Sen. George Hart, D-Dearborn Heights, who will be one of four opposing incumbent George Wojtowicz in the primary. No Republicans are running.

Hart, a former Wayne County commissioner who has less than three years left before being term-limited from office, said only that he has run for treasurer before. "I want to serve" and "improve efficiencies" in the treasurer's department, he said.

Treasurer pays about $15,000 more per year than the $55,000 he earns as state senator, Hart said.

Also filing on Tuesday was Philip M. Cavanagh, a son of the late Detroit mayor Jerome Cavanagh. Philip Cavanagh, of Dearborn Heights, is a Democratic candidate for the District 9 county commission seat held by Republican Kathleen Husk of Redford Township, who is seeking re-election.

Sharon McPhail

Cavanagh, who resigned as a law clerk to federal judge Arthur Tarnow before filing, is the brother of District 1 commissioner Christopher F. Cavanagh, who is seeking re-election.

Cavanagh, who said "there needs to be more control" of county government by the commission, said as a Democrat, he would be more effective on the Democratic-controlled commission. "Husk doesn't have a bigsay. She can't get a lot done," he said.

At least four deputy sheriffs are among the seven candidates running in the Democratic primary against Sheriff Robert A. Ficano of Livonia, who was first elected in 1983.

A common thread from deputies Richard A. LeGreair, Darron McKinney and Marvin Taylor of Detroit and Brian Keating of Dearborn Heights is the desire to improve morale and gain higher visibility for the department.

"Sheriff Ficano is doing the best that he can," said McKin- other. ney. "I respect him as my sher-appointed to the office to complete an unexpired term by' County Executive Ed McNamara, said, "I'm proud of my record and will campaign on my vision and leadership."

A Youngblood - Bernard J. of Grosse Pointe Farms - was among the 15 Democrats filing for the primary in the Register of Deeds race, opened via the pending retirement of longtime registrar Forest A. Youngblood.

Outgoing state Rep. Thomas H. Kelly and Jim Netter, both of Wayne, were the only two western Wayne County candidates seeking the deeds position.

In the race for prosecutor, McPhail, who once worked under O'Hair as warrants division chief, said she knows the office "and would do very good."

The issue, she said, is "the independence of the prosecutor's office. You've got to have someone in that position who will not exercise a political vendetta against anyone," she said.

The concern is that Duggan is endorsed by his boss, McNamara, whom McPhail noted has two other proteges in high legal positions: Saul Green, U.S. district attorney for Detroit, and Jennifer Granholm, state attorney general. Both previously worked for McNamara.

"We don't need another county executive candidate running the last major legal criminal prosecutor's office in the state," she

Although George Ward is "a wonderful guy and a great candidate," McPhail said the results of a poll by Zogby International which she said showed she had far greater name recognition (80 percent) - motivated her to run.

"Maybe the other races were not for me," she said.

She said she was "not going to allow" the other candidates "to turn this into a personal race.

"I'm tired of the divisiveness and tired of people hating each O'Hair issued a statement emphasizing his support of Ward's candidacy.

Tougher recall standards may be revived

By Mike Malott HOMETOWN NEWS SERVICE mmalott@homecomm.net

Recall attempts can have a "chilling effect" on local government officials, according to State Rep. Charles LaSata, R-St. Joseph.

City Council members, township officials and school board members have told state lawmakers how recall threats have been used to intimidate them, often causing them to avoid making tough or controversial decisions, or putting off those decisions until they can no longer be subjected to an ousterattempt.

That's why LaSata sponsored legislation to tighten down on recalls. His House Bill 4221 would make it more difficult to recall local officials by raising the number of votes needed to be successful. The legislation would require that a local official must be recalled a number of votes equal to or higher than the number by which his or she was originally elected.

The legislation was set aside recently by the House Committee on Constitutional Law and Ethics, but may come back. According to LaSata, a number of committee members who would have voted in favor of the bill were not present for the meeting and it was voted down in the 4-1 ballot. LaSata said

I 'I want local voters to know that their vote during elections means something.'

> State Rep. Charles LaSata R-St. Joseph

three members, who would likely have voted yes, were absent.

The chairmen of the committee, Rep. Mike Bishop, R-Rochester, has left the door open for reconsideration if LaSata feels he can get the votes.

Several committee members opposed the bill on the grounds it would be seen as protecting themselves from recall. State lawmakers can be recalled. although it is usually local officials who are the targets.

LaSata said he's willing to amend the bill to exclude state officeholders from the new vote standards. He wants the tougher recall law to apply only to local officials.

Recall attempts have long been the bane of local government officials. LaSata tells of recall attempts that have been highly disruptive to communities. One town on the west side. the state, Benton Harbor, saw 24 recall attempts against the mayor and city council members in a 12-month period. Oakland County likewise has seen a large number of recalls in recent years, 68 in the last five, resulting in four elections and the ouster of one township official.

LaSata said lawmakers have heard from as many as 150 local government officials from across Michigan about how attempts to throw them and their colleagues out of office have disrupted the operations of municipal boards. He said the bill has the support of a long list of state organizations - including the Michigan Township Association, Michigan Municipal League and the Michigan Association of School Boards - as well as the Secretary of State.

LaSata cited one case in which a mayor was recalled after having been voted into office by 70 percent of the municipality's electorate. The recall election, held during the holidays, ousted that mayor with a turnout of less than 4 percent.

"I want local voters to know that their vote during elections means something," the representative said.

LaSata admits his proposal won't do anything to eliminate the fact that local officials will have to go through the long process of defending themselves when they have become recall targets. His bill only changes the end of the recall process, when the vote is taken. But his original bill would have restricted recalls to those cases in which the reason for recall is "misfeasance, malfeasance and nonfeasance" - essentially doing the job in a wrongful or illegal manner, or not doing the job at all.

Only 33 states allow recalls of local elected officials, LaSata said, and roughly half of those restrict the use of recalls to instances of misfeasance or nonfeasance. According to the representative, that change would return Michigan to the standard used up until the adoption of the current state Constitution in "Michigan is in the minority of states that allow recalls for just any reason," he said.

Local officials would still be held accountable by voters, he argued, but they would have to wait for regularly scheduled elections to make their views known. He noted that the longest term of office to which officials who can be recalled is four years, and most recallable offices carry only two year terms.

Michigan touts good boating safety record

LIVONIA, Mich., May 16 /PRNewswire/ -- Michigan has more registered boaters than any other state in the country (980,378), and National Safe Boating Week, May 20 - 26, 2000, is a time for these boaters to celebrate their impressive safety record.

It is also a time for experienced boaters to review safety skills and for new boaters to learn how to boat safely before the start of the 2000 boating season

Boating safety has been a priority for the industry for the past 30 years. The joint efforts between marine dealers, the Michigan DNR, Local Sheriff's Departments, the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, the U.S. Power Squadron, other training groups, as well as responsible boaters has paid off.

"The Michigan DNR reports that through education and responsible operation, boating accidents and fatalities in Michigan have declined steadily as boat registrations in this state have increased dramatically," said Michigan Boating Industries Association President Van Snider.

Boating accidents in Michigan dropped in 1999 to 430 from 514 in 1998. Boating related fatalities in Michigan for 1999 remained at a low of 28 (up only three compared to 25 in 1998).

Twenty-one of the 27 boats involved in fatal accidents in Michigan in 1999 were 16 feet or less in length. Ten of these 27 boats did not have a motor, and 14 of the 27 were kayaks, canoes: rowboats, paddleboats, and/or personal watercraft.

Nationally, seven out of ten people who die in boating related accidents drown. In Michigan, 23 of the 28 who died on the water in 1999 were not wearing a life jacket.

"If life jackets had been worn, it's possible that 23 of these Michigan boaters may still be alive today," said Snider. The theme of this year's National Safe Boating Week campaign focuses on the use of personal floatation devices (PFDs). "Wear Your Life Jacket - Boat Smart From the Start" is the slogan.

Michigan law mandates that all children under 6 must wear a life jacket while on the water. For more information visit

Cost of airport audit gets expensive

BY MIKE MALOTT HOMETOWN NEWS SERVICE mmalett@homecomm.net

Expenses of the Legislature's Detroit Metropolitan Airport Joint Select Committee may have reached the $200,000. according to Rep. Raymond Basham, D-Taylor, well over the amount originally allocated for a review and audit of airport operations.

That price tag would include $50,000 in direct costs and the rest in salary and other expenses incurred, for instance, when state staffers attend meetings about the issue, Basham estimated.

But according to Rep. James Koetje, R-Grandville, the costs aren't anywhere near that high. Yes, he admitted, the committee has exceeded the $10,000 mentioned in the resolution creating the committee, but it had been expected to. The resolution allowed for additional costs with the approval of the Speaker of the House and the Senate Majority Leaders. So the Select Committee has not exceeded its original authorization, he said.

It's the latest round to be fired in the partisan battle over Metro Airport.

Last year, after a federal review of the snow-related delays that left passengers stranded on planes for hours in Detroit, state lawmakers launched into an audit of airport operations of their own. Specifically of concern are 33 contracts for services to the airport including food concessions, construction, maintenance, parking and snow removal. Preliminary results indicate there are no records to show that 21 of those contracts were subjected to a competitive bid process.

Republicans defend the review as appropriate, considering the amount of state and federal money that flows to Metro.

Democrats say it is all politics, little more than a continuation of a feud between Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara and House Speaker Chuck Perricone, R-Kalamazoo.

In any case, the six members of the committee agreed to order up a report from the state Auditor General's office about the cost of the review itself, to be presented at every future meeting of the panel.

Democrats also allege that Republicans are dragging the audit out. State auditors would have already completed their work if the airport would turn over the documents they need, Koetje said. "If fact; they'd have been done months ago,"

Delays criticized

Former airport director David Katz said he wanted information requests from the auditors to flow through his office so he could log them, to determine what records had been turned over and which had not. The practice initially continued under new director Lester Robin-

But auditors complained that caused long delays in getting the necessary documents. Somerequests for records remain unfilled three to four months. after having first been made, Koetje said. It took more than 120 days to fill a request for a copy of a county ordinance, he said

"They say they are cooperating with us, but that kind of falls on deaf ears with me." Koetje said. Rep. Mickey Mortimer, R-Hanover, said the purpose of the state review is to bring the airports operations into alignment with "generally accepted accounting practices." And he said he hopes the committee can make recommendations, when it's done with its work later this year, to assure taxpayers that public money is being spent wisely at the airport.

Mortimer said he believed the state has the authority to conduct the audit, because the airport receives some $65 million from the state and federal governments each year. Basham questions the state's legal authority to conduct the audit. Normally, airport officials would report to the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, which would be the appropriate body to order up such a review, Basham argues.

Mortimer contends that Basham's criticisms of the committee are simply intended to diminish the impact of its work when the audit report is finally

PSC wants return of authority over phone company

BY MIKE MALOTT HOMETOWN NEWS SERVICE mmulott@homecomm.net

Deregulation is working in Michigan, according Ameritech Vice President Bob Cooper, "a little bit. It needs to be accelerated here."

"In New York and California, it's working a lot. What's the difference? The difference is regulation ... competition brings lower prices and more choices, but we can't get there through more rules and artificial price cuts. Price cuts and more regulation is not the answer," Cooper told members of the state House of Representatives last week.

Allowing Ameritech to enter the long-distance market and compete against companies like AT&T and MCI would force them to come in and compete against Ameritech, Cooper argued.

Repeated complaints

That won't happen, according to Rep. Marc Shulman, R-West Bloomfield, if Ameritech engages in anti-competitive practices. When a competitor moves into an "incumbent" phone company's territory it must connect to the wider phone network, to Ameritech.

But Shulman said lawmakers have heard repeated complaints: that the connection can take up to 53 days when Ameritech has to do the work. Few customers can wait that long, he noted. And Ameritech customers get hooked up in only a couple of

Cooper said that's the goal of a new center Ameritech has opened in Grand Rapids, to provide competitor companies with same services needed to hook up customers that Ameritech provides for itself.

Still, the complaint of slow access to the network for competitors is the basis of a bill-Shulman is sponsoring, HB 4804, now pending before the House Energy and Technology Committee. His proposal would . give the PSC the ability to hear complaints from competitors when incumbents act in anticompetitive ways.

Along with HB 5721, by Rep. Ameritech.

Mary Ann Middaugh, the bills form a package that would count as the House's version of a needed rewrite of the Michigan Telecommunications Act. Passed in 1995 to deregulate the telephone industry, that law expires at the end of the year.

Competition 'anemic'

Cooper gave Ameritech's position on the bills in a hearing before the committee last week.

Public Service Commission member David Svanda would agree with Cooper on at least one issue, there is little competition in Michigan. He calls it "anemic."

Syanda, along with Public Service Commission chairman John Strand, were on hand to testify before the committee. Strand too agreed in part with Cooper and Regulation and delay are the enemies of competition. Competition can't wait," Strand said. He's looking for more authority for the PSC and the ability for it to reach quicker decisions.

Other states have given their utility oversight commissions a great deal more authority to manage deregulation and the initiation of competition than Michigan has given its Public Service Commission, Strand said. Every other state's commission has the authority to declare area code splits, but not the PSC. Other states have given their commissions the authority to "yank licenses" when telephone companies engage in anticompetitive practices.

Authority needed

Some states, like Texas, have given their commissions too much authority, Strand said. Still, Michigan needs more than

Gov. John Engler's proposal for a 5 percent cut in telephone rates, part of Middaugh's bill, is a fine idea, Strand said. But true competition should be able to trim prices much further.

Long distance service, Strand said, is the one area of the telephone industry where true competition does exist. As a result. rates in some areas have been gent shopper can find long distance service for as low as 5 cents a minute, he said.

It is local phone service where the state has been unable to spur competition. Strand said that five years after deregulation was called for in the telecommunications act, 98 percent of phone lines are still in the hands of the incumbent carrier, the original service provider. Most of those lines are in the hands of Ameritech. More than 100 licenses have been issued to competitor companies, Strand contended, but most remain unused.

Middaugh's bill also proposes, as Engler urged, giving additional authority to the PSC until it determines that true market competition has been achieved here. Committee members asked Strand to give his definition of competition, and Strand declined.

"I hate to give you a specific definition. Companies could go that far and, when that definition has been achieved, you could see things begin to tighten down again," he said.

Cooper defended his company before the committee. He said Ameritech has invested $10 million in the state's telephone infrastructure. He said he believes the state now has a state of the art telephone sysslashed up to 90 percent. A dilitem, And he noted that

Ameritech's 17,000 employees provide 25,000 hours of community service within the state in the course of each year. But his main point was that. the lack of competition is because some companies who have ability to enter the market have chosen not to. AT&T and MCI, for instance, would be quite able to begin competition against Ameritech for local service but have not entered the market in a significant way.

Long distance

Cooper argues that competition for local service could be spurred if Ameritech was able to enter the long distance market and compete with them there. They'd have to respond, Cooper argues, into that incursion into their market.

Committee members promised support of Ameritech in receiving approval from the Federal Communications Commission to enter the long distance arena. But according to Michigan Alliance for Competitive Telecommunications (MiACT). the FCC has turned Ameritech's application on the grounds the company has not done enough to spur competition in its own base market in Michigan.

judgment in how they handled their discharge of Ms. (Patricia) Gibbons. But I watch the city council meetings on television and I have seen numerous times when I think our entire council has made bad decisions. That doesn't make me want to run in and recall each one. I have seen times when our council has voted because they were afraid they might be recalled, and that has disappointed me, but I don't want to run and recall them.

In addition, our city council members need to do some healing as well. They need to be able to work as a cohesive team. This constant haranguing from well-meaning citizens will only detract them from the work they should be doing, which is helping to run this city.

My ex-husband was on the school board during a recall. The recall was successful only in removing several of the best school board members I have ever seen. Robert Arbor, who recently wrote in support of the recall, had a spouse who was recalled as well. I was surprised he would support the effort that is occurring now. Both he and I know that' recalls only serve to divide and not build the community. This is exactly what is happening

Believe me, I do think the Patricia Gibbons situation could have been handled differently. I don't know two of the city council members that well, but I do know Sharon Scott . and Trav Griffin, and I believe they have the best interest of this community at heart. So they made a mistake. What is the line that fits here: "Let he who is without sin ..."

I don't want to vote for city clerk. I don't know what the job completely involves, and I don't know what the qualifications should be. I don't want to sit in on hours of interviews to determine who is most qualified, nor should I have to. The city clerk works for the city council and the city council should make the decision who they would like to have work for them.

As for Ms. Gibbons running for office - when did being "wrongly discharged" make someone qualified for higher office? Let's make our decisions for our public offices on who is most qualified, not out of sympathy.

Come on people, if you love this city, then let's spend time doing positive things. Like how about organizing a clean-up day? I was recently in the city of Ypsilanti, where there were fliers posted everywhere for a city pride clean-up day. Local businesses were going to provide lunch for the workers. We certainly could use some cleanup around here!

How about participating in the planning of the Fourth of July celebration? What about volunteering at your elementary school or library to read to children?

While I may not agree with everything our city council or mayor does, I believe they try their best. I believe that forgiveness starts the healing process and that is what we need now, not a recall. I believe that, if no illegal activity has been done, the way to remove a public official is through the election process, not a recall.

Finally, I believe this is a great place to live!

Firing was arrogance

So . . . after weeks, and weeks, and weeks . . . of words, words, words . . . our posturing, pretentious, politically inept Westland Council would have us believe that the Pat Gibbons affair was simply a difference in management style. They simply chose one route to an end over another. Like choosing to drive to the Mackinaw Bridge via US 23 over I-75.

It's laughable the way they create bogus straw men, and blow them away with equally bogus excuses for their actions. Pat Gibbons job performance scores by various council persons, and similar nonsense, have nothing to do with continuing or not continuing her tenure. That was properly an item for consideration by the fiell council. The manner in which Tray Giffin and David Cox took Pat Gibbon's keys and threw her out of the office in front of her employees was first order arrogance. People who don't understand that basic fact deserve the outrage (and yes, the offensive, disparaging rhetoric). That's the price you pay for parliamentary high jinks and employing extraordinary powers (that are generally meant for emergency use only). Predictably, the mayor and council are mad as hell, and aren't going to take it anymore: They're bailing out. Good. The sooner the better.

Westland will come back stronger than ever . . . just like

Requests full report

The efforts being made by the mayor and the council of the city of Westland to pay the contractual obligations to the Central Wayne County Sanitation Authority within the present tax structure are laudable. It removes the necessity to ask the voters (for) approval to extend the one-mill levy approved by the voters in 1985

It does not remove the responsibility of the mayor and council to request a complete and concise report on the Waste to Energy Program instituted in 1995.

Many questions need answers. If the mayor and city council fail to request this report, many more questions may surface.

This is presented as a formal request for a full report on this Waste to Energy-C.W.C.S.A. cooperative operation.

Two vie for GOP nomination to face Sullivan for commission

The winner of the race between Fred A. Bolden, 45, a computer consultant, and Rob A. Bovitz, 39, a certified public accountant, will get the chance to unseat incumbent Democrat John J. Sullivan in the Nov. 7 general election.

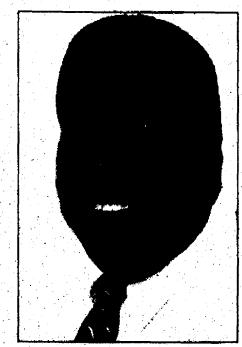

Sullivan, 29 of Wayne, was first elected in 1998 and is seeking re-election to the two-year post. The district includes the townships of Canton, Huron, Sumpter and Van Buren and the cities of Wayne, Belleville and Romulus.

Bolden, an eight-year Canton resident who ran for the commission seat in the '98 primary as a Democrat, switched parties this year because the Republicans "are more in line with my philosophy of lower taxes and tax reform," he said.

36251 SCHOOLCRAFT, LIVONIA, MICHIGAN, 48150 Justifiably proud

School board tour is revealing

s the school year moves toward proms, graduations and end-of-year student awards programs, the Wayne-Westland school district can be justifiably proud of its current position.

Consider the following:

■ The district bus fleet just passed state inspections at a 96 percent rate.

The district's rainy day equity is up $975,000 to about $11 million.

■ The district just honored its first National Merit Scholarship finalist in some years; she's Martina Moro, a senior at Wayne Memorial High School. She has a 4.0-plus grade point average and will go to UM-Dearborn to study computer science. She was also named an Observer Newspapers Academic All-Star.

■ The school board toured the district Monday night to get an update on the district's $108 million building bond issue. Approved early in 1998, the money is being used to renovate the schools, build new classrooms and upgrade equipment, especially for technology.

The district, the parents, staff and board of trustees can all be very happy with the progress the district is making.

The board, members of the original bond committee and representatives from the architects, construction company managers and central office administrators hopped on a school bus and hit some of the highlights Monday evening.

These included a big addition of floor space at William D. Ford Career/Technical Center, and fixups at Adams Middle School, Lincoln Elementary School, Taft-Galloway Elementary School and Walker-Winter Elementary School.

School chief Greg Baracy led the tour, pointing out improved classrooms and additional space for programs for kids.

and Bill McCarthy from McCarthy and Smith Inc. of Redford Township answered questions as the tour progressed.

Board members were concerned with everything from the big changes for Taft students who moved into a new building to minor details like a tacky door at Walker-Winter that needs paint.

Trustee Skip Monit was even asking about better housekeeping for computer cables.

The Taft-Galloway project is dramatic; students at that site at the south end of the district moved into an attractive new two-story building just after Easter.

The admittedly ugly old Taft building, some parts of it dating back to the 1940s, is being torn down this month.

At Adams, the tour high spot was a spacious new entranceway with high ceilings and artistic use of colored floor tiles. Here visitors can see what a creative architect and building team can do on a limited budget.

At Ford board members learned more students can enter the programs there, programs that now have more students than the district can handle.

At Lincoln board members learned neighbors are proud of the improved look of the school and will call the school district if they see illegal or unusual activity at the building during off hours.

At Walker-Winter a fireplace from the original one-room school house has been pre-

Tattered flags

This letter is in regards to a situation I have been bothered by for quite some time now. As I ride around Westland and other local cities I have noticed many business flying our symbol of freedom, the American flag. But, in many instances these flags are torn and weathered. They should be taken down and destroyed in the proper manner.

These business owners that fly Old Glory to exemplify their patriotism show they are Americans and attract new patrons. But when approached to make them aware of this existing problem and to suggest that they take down the old and put up the new, they give you double talk and excuses.

One particular place I used to frequent quite often is on Wayne Road in Westland. I told the management of this facility two months ago about their torn raggedy-looking flag. I suggested to them that with the weather breaking and Memorial Day rapidly approaching they should consider replacing this flag to show respect and to honor America's veterans.

They looked at me as if I were from Mars. The management blames their flag company, and no one has made a move to rectify this situation.

Perhaps other people need to be made aware of these people who don't think much of "Americans" but do enjoy the freedoms of America that give the right to earn a very good living.

Maybe vets should stop by these places and voice their opinions on the topic.

I'm sure they can afford to buy a new flag every six months or whenever needed. People should look around as they drive through our fair cities to notice what's going on around

Open with prayer

We've been residents in Westland since 1956, and proud of it. We never ran for any political position, but watched the candidates and their views closely, and never were doubtful of our success as a city. We watch the council meetings, but never attended any.

Now we watch and are fearful for our city. We see division never before seen. How can this happen?

So it's suggested the meetings open with prayer. What can be so wrong with prayer? When something is wrong you ask for a mediator, and Christians ask their creator. That's attacked, too.

We can't get divine help unless we ask for it. We have to allow Him to come into our lives. When God is denied, anything can fall. Civilizations have.

There is a misconception about separation of church and state. It's in the communist constitution, not ours. We're not communists. But we open ourselves up to their doctrine. We, as a nation, believe in God; they don't.

There is nothing wrong with a prayer before a meeting. They do it in Congress. Why I'm sorry I wasn't there at city hall for the Day of Prayer; I wanted to be. I was there another time. We should all be there who believe in prayer. It is our right and privilege to attend. I'll be there next year, Mr. Mayor.

If we don't support our rights, we can lose them.

POINTS OF VIEW

State high court strikes blow against Miranda rights few weeks ago, I wrote about a case before the U.S. Supreme Court in which the police lobby, aided and abetted by Federalist Society lawyers, is trying to rip up the "Miranda rights" case – the one where police must advise you of your right to remain silent, to have counsel and to know that anything you say can be used against you.

I feared that the five "so-called Republicans" (Federalist Society adherents) on the Michigan Supreme Court may want to go the same route.

Well, the bad news is they already have, twice, on April 25. Justices Elizabeth Weaver, Clifford Taylor, Maura Corrigan, Robert Young Jr. and Stephen Markman voted for the police lobby.

Justices Michael Cavanagh and Marilyn Kelly (Democratic nominees) dissented, arguing the defendants' Miranda rights were abused. Cavanagh even quoted retired Justice James Brickley, a real Republican, as being concerned about the highcourt's direction. The battle has gone on for 600 years.

In an Oakland County shooting death, Corey Sexton was taken to the Hazel Park police station for questioning. And questioning. And more questioning. It started at 2:23 p.m. and ended at 11:35 p.m.

At 4:45 p.m. Sexton's father showed up, but police denied him permission to see his son. The father hired attorney Neil Miller of Troy. Miller contacted police, left a message for "whoever was holding" for Corey Sexton to call him, and demanded all questioning be stopped.

Police never forwarded the message to the interrogating officer and certainly never stopped the questioning. Sexton had no hint that a lawyer had been retained for him.

To make a long story short, Sexton made five statements – the final two admitting some culpability. In court, Miller moved to suppress the final two statements as "not freely and voluntarily made." Judge Steven Andrews denied the motion, and that's what this case is about.

Charged with firstdegree murder,

Sexton pleaded guilty to seconddegree. Judge Andrews gave him 20-40 years plus two years for use of a firearm in a felony.

TIM RICHARD

Ultimately, the Supreme Court majority upheld Andrews, saying the trial judge who had weighed the "totality of the circumstances" shouldn't be second-guessed, even though Sexton had "an auditory processing disorder" and was of "below-average intelligence."

(Police had two eyewitnesses, so it was unlikely Sexton would have gone scot-free if his statements had been tossed out.)

Cavanagh dissented: "In the present (Sexton) case, the police kept an accused away from his attorney during an interrogation."

As I read the Federalist Society majority opinion, if the desk sergeant can keep the suspect's lawyer cooling his heels in the lobby, the inquisitor officer can take nine hours to squeeze out a confession. That's the kind of police power Chief Justice Earl Warren blistered in his 1966 Miranda decision.

The second case came from Saginaw County, where James M. Stevens sought to plea bargain a murder case. Again, the police had other sources. In negotiations, Stevens admitted guilt then changed his mind when he got to court. The prosecutor sought to admit Stevens' statements. The trial judge agreed, saying Stevens had waived his Miranda rights. The Federalist Five upheld the trial judge and police.

Five upheld the trial judge and police. Justice Kelly, joined by Cavanagh, dissented, saying the majority had started down a "slippery slope." Kelly sounded like Earl Warren himself when she wrote:

"Something more than a Miranda warning is necessary for a court to find that a defendant waived his right to exclude from evidence statements made during plea negotiations. A waiver must be supported by a showing that the accused was aware of the rights being relinquished and the consequences that could result from relinquishing them."

So the police lobby and the Federalist Society are sliding us back to the days when an inquisition could use any trick in the police manual to extract a confession.

Repeating: If you want to read the police manual, forget it. It can be kept secret even under the Michigan Freedom of Information Act.

Firm's bad behavior has GOP sounding like Ralph Nader

the state representative from Troy, a Republican who is so pro-business that he walked into a firestorm last year with his proposed House Bill 4777. A favorite issue of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce, Gosselin argued then that when business people go into a new community, they shouldn't have to deal with a lot of different and unusual local rules.

Municipal officials obviously saw it differently. And regardless of where you stand on that issue, let's just consider it evidence that Gosselin is probusiness.

Nader these days? What business could behave so badly that Gosselin has begun referring to its business practices as "sleazy?" What business could incur his wrath to the degree he concludes it has become "belligerent" and "abusive" of its own customers.

caused another good Republican, Rep.

Patricia Birkholz, R-Saugatuck, to tell Ameritech Vice President Bob Cooper that when she is in her district, attending town hall meetings and church gatherings, she hears complaints from constituents about one thing and one thing only – the phone company?

Could it be the same company that caused a free-market governor like John Engler to propose more regulation and price controls? The same John Engler who has privatized and deregulated everything he could get his hands on over the last 10 years?

"I'm tired of waiting," he said when proposing a 5 percent immediate reduction in phone rates. "I want Michigan customers to get a rate cut now."

When Engler urged the Legislature to temporarily put Ameritech back under the control of the Public Service Commission, because five years of deregulation in this state have failed to produce any meaningful competition, it should be seen as rather islative aide, Kristina Pavelich, is an Ameritech customer and she has voice mail on her home phone. The charge for the service is $4.95 per month, but without her consent, she says, Ameritech in April decided to improve the service to voice mail plus, costing $9.95 per month. When she called to protest, she received another sales pitch. When she insisted her service be returned to basic, Ameritech said it would have to charge $7.50 to "downgrade" the service.

That's right, Ameritech said it would charge $7.50 to take off a service enhancement she didn't ask for Ameritech officials say they are looking into the complaint, but could neither confirm nor deny that the company is using the practice, either upgrading services without permission or charging to downgrade them again. Incidentally, such aggressive sales pitches recently earned SBC, the company that just bought up Ameritech, a $44 million fine in California for what were called "marketing abuses."

It is happening here because, five years after deregulation, no real competition for local phone service exists in Michigan. Ameritech continues to control the vast majority of phone lines. Ameritech has become, according to Rep. Mike Kowall, R-White Lake, is an "unregulated monopoly."

Back in 1995, when the state last addressed telecommunications law, it deregulated. The Public Service Commission lost authority over local phone companies. Even the creator of that bill, Sen. Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, according to his aides, admits deregulation here has been a failure.

Now Ameritech is pushing to have the state buy into Dunaskiss' latest incarnation, SB 1193, which would remove the last vestiges of state control over the phone company.

Engler and House Republicans prefer HB 5721, sponsored by Rep. Mary Anne Middaugh, R-Paw Paw, and HB 4804 by Rep. Marc Shulman, R-West Bloomfield. They would simply return local telephone service to the control of the PSC until it determines that true competition has been established here, or until the year 2003.

We've tried it Ameritech's way.

More of the same won't likely work any better. Clearly it is time for another approach.

System of electing justices is a fraud

ustices of the Michigan Supreme Court are elected statewide. Candidates are nominated respectively at the state Republican and Democratic conventions, but they appear on the November ballot as "non-partisan" judicial candidates.

Most voters have no idea who they're voting for, much less the qualifications and judicial philosophy of the candidates. Moreover, in recent years enormous amounts of money – as much as $1 million for one campaign! – have been raised to finance these campaigns, giving the distinct impression that justice in Michigan's highest court is up for sale to the highest bidder/contributor. And, given the increasingly partisan cast the court and its decisions have demonstrated in recent years, it's not surprising the political rhetoric has become increasingly shrill and unseemly.

This is a terrible system. Consider but two current examples:

Last week, I received a visit from Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Edward Thomas, who almost certainly will be a Democratic Party nominee for Supreme Court justice. Judge Thomas, who worked his way through college and law school on the assembly line, has an excellent reputation as a thoughtful, balanced and thorough judge. In fact, he was ranked among the top 10 judges in the Detroit metro area in a 1991 article in Detroit Monthly magazine.

I asked Judge Thomas what the judicial panons of ethics allowed him to talk about while campaigning. Not much, it turns out. He can talk about decisions he has made, but only if the case is all over and not before an appellate court. He can discuss his judicial philosophy, but he can't talk about any matter of substance that might ever come before the Supreme Court.

After our conversation, I made a note to myself: "Ed Thomas is real nice guy. He's smart decent, thoughtful, down to earth. Too bad he's running for Supreme Court."

What I meant is that Judge Thomas is about to be caught in the may of big-time judicial politics in Michigan. He'll have to raise tons of money, campaign day in and day out throughout the state, take lots of abuse from his opponents and suffer a gag rule that insures he talks in irrelevancies

And when Election Day rolls around this November, it's a sure thing he will be nearly as unknown across the state as he is today

So whether he wins or loses is little more than a crap shoot. That's a lousy way to pick a Supreme Court justice

Example two has to do with the flap that arose last week surrounding Robert Young July who was originally appointed to the Michigan Supreme Court by Gov. John Engler and who almost certainly will be a Republican Party noninee for election this fall.

PHIL POWER

Young, who is African American, was the target of a flier put out by the Michigan Democratic Party and distributed at the recent National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) dinner in Detroit. The flier asserted that Judge Young is a "staunch believer that Brown vs. Board of Education was wrong." ("Brown" is the landmark case outlawing racial segregation in schools.)

Young promptly wrote Mark Brewer, Democratic State chairman, saying that "this statement is a lie... an attempt to create an ugly, racist campaign to impugn me as Michigan's only sitting African American justice. Such virulent race-baiting has no place in our political discourse." Young pointed out that he is on the record (in an Aug. 22, 1999, editorial in the Detroit News) as being "a beneficiary (of Brown) - and I think society is a beneficiary - of ending segregation." He also demanded a retraction and a public apology, as well as threatened a lawsuit

Brewer says Young told a group of lawyers last year that "Brown was wrongly decided." And, indeed, it's been a long line of argument among conservative jurists that lots of U. S. Supreme Court decisions are based on "sociology" rather than hard law. So it's entirely possible Young may agree with the substance of the Brown vs. Board of Education opinion while at the same time disagreeing with the juridical logic the Supreme Court used to reach its decision.

So what are we to make of the whole brouhaha? Just this. It's the most current example of how politicizing the selection of Michigan Supreme Court justices has resulted in partisan rhetoric that is shrill and unseemly.

Don't hold your breath, but wouldn't it be great if all the candidates. Democratic and Republican alike, actually said what they no doubt think and condemned our system of electing justices for the fraud it really is.

Participants are advised to wear old clothing, including long pants and shirts with long sleeves. Bring gloves and headcovering and wear shoes to prevent puncture wounds.

Coordinators say there'll be plenty to do.

Moms have chance to make change

he idea didn't necessarily appeal to me when it was broached: a 12-hour bus ride on an estrogensaturated Greyhound full of mothers headed to the Million Mom March Sunday.

(Gun rights activists alert: You might want to stop reading here.)

Boy, was I wrong. And I knew it as soon as they started going seat-byseat; introducing themselves and explaining why they were there. My first inclination was that this was a "chick" thing, pouring their hearts out to a bunch of strangers. You'd never catch 50 guys doing that.

When they began this bonding experiment, I expected to hear sad stories about the manner in which each of them had been personally affected by gun violence, about their children or spouses killed by guns.

But nobody - not a single one of the 47 women on that bus - spoke about a tragedy affecting her personal life. Sure, a couple mentioned the Kayla Rolland shooting. And the Columbine massacre came up frequently. But none of them mentioned losing any one to violence. None made the trip to avenge the loss of a child.

Mostly, they're frightened. Mostly, they don't think the mothers of murdered children should have to bear the brunt of the load. To a woman, they were there for one reason: They're committed to a cause. They're dedicated to a mission.

And they care.

In the end, that could be the greatest strength of the Million Mom March. Like MADD 20 years before, the MMM could end up being the kind of grass-roots, difference-making movement that finally makes people sit up and take notice.

"It gave me so many emotions my head is bursting," said Janice Harris of Livonia. "I found it wonderful to be with people who agree with me. I'm very encouraged, because I don't think this is going to die. I think we're going to change the world."

Any politician who doubted the determination of this group simply wasn't paying attention - or didn't want to see - what was going on on The Mall Sunday. Hundreds of thousands of women cheered and clapped and whistled for Kerry Kennedy Cuomo, the daughter of Robert F. Kennedy, who pointed out there are more licensed gun dealers in the U.S.

than there are McDonald's franchises. Hundreds of thousands cried at the story of Karen Scott, a Scottish mother who lost her daughter when a gunman opened fire at a Dunblane, Scotland school, snuffing the lives of 16 kindergartners in March 1996.

Want more evidence this movement holds the potential for great power? Try this: There were more than five million hits on the MMM Web site in the week leading up to the march. And where else could you get 750,000 mothers to drop deathly silent, as this group did while listening to Dawn Anna, the mother of Columbine victim Lauren Townsend?

Hundreds of thousands of mothers spoke in a single voice Sunday, proclaiming loudly, to paraphrase Peter Finch in the movie, Network, "We're mad as hell and we're not going to take it any more.'

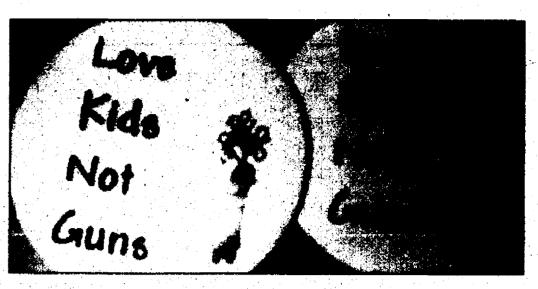

Supporters of the National Rifle Association have already begun claiming the mems are a misinformed, rag-tag group being led around by the nose by the media, a patently absurd notion. The NRA believes mothers will disappear now that the march is over.

If they do, the NRA is right: The march will have accomplished nothing. If there women come home from the march and do the things they're Talking about doing, if they stay involved in the process and don't let discouragement or apathy set in. these mathers could be a viable force, whether their opponents want to believe it or not.

After riding to Washington and back with 47 of them. I would have this advice for any politician: Ignore them at your own peril.

hey came. They saw. They marched.

Well, congregated is probably a better word, but whatever term you want to apply, dozens of Western Wayne County mothers joined thousands of Michigan moms who were part of an estimated 750,000 women who converged on Washington, D.C., Sunday for the Million Mom March for reasonable gun control.

They rode in Greyhound buses, interrupting the 12-hour odyssey by eating meals in terminal cafeterias.

And they came all with the same mission: Join others like them in asking politicians and Congressional leaders for what they call "reasonable gun control."

Some of them were surprised to find so many of a like mind.

"I'm a retired teacher and I love kids, and I don't want to see them go to school in fear," said Janice Harris of Livonia, who taught in the Dearborn Heights school district. "It felt good to be with so many people on the same side of the issue."

For the cause: Jennifer Scarbrough of Livonia (front) and Barb Case of Plymouth (back left) were among the Michigan moms marching Sunday.

Monumental march: With the Washington Monument in the background, Michigan participants in the Million Mom March tried to spread one message: "Moms vote."

The Michigan contingent was one of the largest, drawing compliments from moms from other states.

Michigan moms met Saturday night in a pre-march reception that drew many guest speakers, including Sen. Carl Levin, D-Michigan

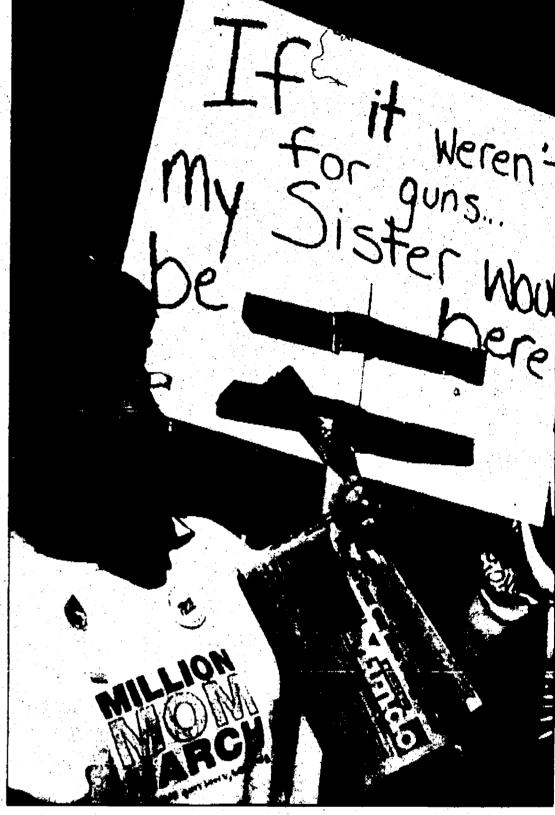

"I don't know of a greater cause than the one to which you are committed," Levin told the cheering throng. "I promise you, you will make a differ-

"They say the NRA is a powerful lobby, and it is. But they're not nearly as powerful as you."

Sally Rowley of Redford is a grandma four times over. She hopes Levin turns out to be prophetic.

"I want the world to be safe for my grandchildren," Rowley said. "It was good to know there were so many more women interested in gun safety. I hope it does some good, but even if it doesn't, we had to come.

"We had to make it clear we are for different measures."

Zak Morgan to perform at Trinity House Theatre

BY STEPHANIE ANGELYN CASOLA STAFF WEITER scasola@oe.homecomm.net

Zak Morgan believes he became a musician by default. But his career seems to make perfect sense for someone who began writing and playing music at the tender age of 13.

Now all grown up, Morgan keeps in touch with his inner child and reaches out to children across the country through his music. Following the 1999 release of his first album geared toward children, Morgan is touring with long-time friend and guitarist Steve Davis. They'll. visit Livonia's Trinity House Theatre May 20.

Morgan's wasn't always filled child-like with thoughts and musical aspirations. He graduated from Kenyon College, a liberal arts school in Ohio, with a bachelor's degree in English and then began working in sales for a Manhattan company that happened to record children's audio books. That's about the time he dove back into children's literature and into music.

"My sense of humor has always been kind of goofy," he added. "I didn't really say, 'I'm writing songs kids will like.' I came up with the plots and thought they were funny. I figured I'd see what happetis."

Finished product

The result is Bloom, a collection of 10 songs and stories reflective of childhood experience and evolving from the fantasy realm to personal experience. Morgan tells honest stories of the circle of life, com-tales like the one that stars Bill Fisher, a boy who picks his nose so much it runs away.

"My music is not written down to kids," said Morgan. For that reason, he uses sophisticated language which is defined in easy-to-understand, humorous definitions on the CD's booklet.

Bill Keith of WSDP 88.1 FM at Plymouth Salem High School appreciates the humor in Morgan's writing. "The first thing I noticed about Zak's music is that it doesn't speak down to kids," he said. "So much children's music has a condescending tone to it. I really enjoy the Shel Silverstein/Dr. Seuss feel to the lyrics. I hear something new each time that makes me laugh. His songwriting, both lyrically and musically, can be enjoyed by adults as well as kids."

To accompany his infectiously funny words and melodies; Morgan got a few friends involved. Ric re songs like Hide My Muscles Well and tall Hordinski, well-known guitarist, songwriter and record producer in Cincinnati, produced Bloom, C.F. Payne illustrated the 32-page booklet and Michael Wilson contributed photography. The project took a year and a half to complete.

"The music has a very sophisticated pop sound," said Keith. "I can hear Beatlesque influences in some. of the songs. Ric Hordinski from Over the Rhine and Monk produced the disc and his musical influence can be heard throughout it."

All his work shows in a live performance. Parents and children can enjoy the shows together. "The parents seem to have as much fun as the kids." And it's interactive. Children will dress up and be invited to play percussion. Morgan is even bringing along props to enhance the fantasy world he's created on Bloom.

He prompts the children to look for subtle messages in his songs. Crowd involvement is a major part of his performance.

Keith is looking forward to Morgan's first appearance at Trinity House Theatre. "I hope a wide variety of people come out for the show. I'm sure there will be kids and parents. But I have no kids and this would be the kind of show I would love to attend."

Performing for youngsters, Morgan has learned he has some of the most honest audiences around. "There's a purity to kids," he said. "They respond to being treated with respect. They're not afraid to laugh.

Karmanos Institute raises money for research

BY STEPHANIE ANGELYN CABOLA STAFF WRITER scasola@oe.homecomm.net

While Huey Lewis and The News made The Power of Love a hit song in 1985 for the film Back To The Future, the idea holds true and takes on more profound meaning in the eyes of those who attended the Barbara Ann Karmanos Cancer Institute's annual dinner on May 6.

The power of love was the notion that drew together this year's Phantom Of The Operainspired theme and the quest for a cure for cancer. That power is the driving force behind raising awareness and funds for the institute on its mission to stop this devastating

The institute raised more than $700,000 toward cancer research and a cure at the annual benefit, which is one of the area's largest charitable events. Held at Compuware Sports Arena in Plymouth, more than 1,200 supporters attended for the cause.

"The Phantom of the Institute" incorporated the moody. festive atmosphere of a French opera house complete with candelabras at every table, plush velvet curtains and, of course, the famous chandelier from Phantom of the Opera.

To make the evening a smashing success, Broadway stars of the long-running musical Sandra Joseph (Christine) and Ron Bohmer (Phantom) and Lawrence Anderson (Raoul) performed songs like Masquerade, Angel of Music and The Phantom of The Opera on stage.

Between songs, video footage from the history of the institute to personal battles with cancer and even recent footage of the Race For The Cure at the Detroit Zoo told another story of love and loss. The lyrics "Wishing you were somehow here again" took on new meaning.

Dick and JoAnn Purtan hosted the evening as masters of ceremony, and awarded the institute's prestigious Leonard Simons Award to Bernice Gershenson and her sister Sylvia Gershenson-Sloman.

Lavish meal

The feast fit for a hungry phantom began with hors d'oeuvres like shrimp cocktail and spinach pies and was followed by an elegant dinner including a fresh salad, twicebaked potato, asparagus, prime rib and a choice of red or white

Attendees came dressed in classic black tuxedos and evening dresses accented in bright spring colors like lavender and green. The little black dress was just as appropriate and timeless as ever when coupled with delicate beading; but it sparkled when adorned with vintage jewelry:

Men carried Phantom masks and women were given sparkling and feathered masks to shade their eyes Mardi Grasstyle. The evening offered glamour fit for a real operahouse, thanks to Events and Entertainment of Michigan Inc., the Southfield-based production company that transformed the arena into a fantasy

"I think it's a great fund-raiser," said Susan Reesman, who was surprised of the sports arena location. She was accompanied by her husband, Jon. The Rochester Hills couple attended the event in past Irene and Martin Bader of Orchard Lake noted the importance of the annual benefit. "They've gotta find a cure," said Irene Bader. "It's just insane what's happening to our friends and family. People are dying needlessly.'

Lisa Gilpin of Berkley attended the event with fellow

General Motors employees, but had personal reasons as well. She lost a 33-year-old friend to cancer, after a 7-month battle. "Seeing her life is done, I know a lot more needs to be done," she said.

Gilpin's friend Anne Marie Schultz of West Bloomfield was a first-time attendee to the benefit. But Gilpin recalled the 1998 benefit with a Beach Boys theme. "It was the best event I'd ever gone to."

That confidence may have been what led Rochester Hills couple Larry and Joann Yost to co-chair the annual event. Larry D. Yost, CEO and chairman of Troy-based automotive supplier Meritor Automotive Inc., echoed what much of the crowd before him reflected on: "I do not know of a family that has not been touched by can-ore and more people are gambling, either for the thrill of it or to escape their problems, or to get money. Sometimes it seems like an innocent method of raising funds. Yet increasingly, news reports talk about how harmful it is. Aren't there safer, more reliable: ways to have adventure and fulfill our desires?

Even those few people who win big through gambling often find that it can bring more problems. The satisfaction they had hoped for evades them. What can we turn to that would satisfy our needs and not result in greater losses and frustration? Many people have found that the Bible is a great source for guidance during a time of need and in just plain, every day liv-

In Matthew (21:22) we read, "And all things, whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive." Some may question, then, why don't we always receive what we ask for in prayer? A passage from James in the Bible (4:3) gives us a hint: "Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss." This suggests that we need to think deeply about the right thing to pray for.

For instance, if we are having financial problems we might be tempted to pray for money, or a good job, or even to win the lottery. If so, we might be asking amiss. But if we pray for wisdom, understanding, and direction, and do not doubt, we would certainly receive an answer to our prayer.

There was a time when our family was about to lose our source of income and we had nearly depleted our savings just to make ends meet. We had a house with a mortgage and two young children to support. So we turned to God for guidance knowing we would receive an answer and that He would guide us to take the steps that would 1. Never ask for tomorrow; it is enough that divine love is an ever-present help; and if you wait, never doubting, you will have all you need every moment" (Miscellaneous Writings).

We can each begin, step by step, to trust in God, and see our needs be met. So let's stop taking chances and experience the shot from Verbeek, who had skated behind the Whalers' defenders.

Plymouth tied the game at 1-1. Six minutes later, Zepp

Verbeek tallied the first of his two goals seven minutes into the third period when he took a pass from Henderson on a two-on-one break and beat Zepp with a high screamer to make it 3-1.

The Whalers were re-energized at the 10:32 mark of the third period when winger George Nistas stuffed a shot through Finley's five hole. Nistas' unassisted goal came on the Whalers' first shot of the third period.

It was the last mistake Finley would make. Plymouth outshot Barrie 26-

"We had an outstanding year," DeBoer reflected. "This is a great group of hard-working, overachieving kids who surprised a lot of people this year."

Colts forced Game 7

There were some elements the Plymouth Whalers could neutralize when they visited Barrie Sunday for Game Six in their best-of-seven series for the Ontario Hockey League championship.

Sheldon Keefe and Denis Shvidki, the Colts' top two scorers during the regular season; were kept scoreless, giving them a total of just three goals (one an empty-netter) in six games.

However, the Whalers couldn't combat the raucous sellout crowd of 4.250.

Nor could they do anything to disrupt the play of Barrie goalie Brian Finley, who stopped all 26 Whaler shots in posting a 3-0shutout win that forced a Game Seven Tuesday at Plymouth's Compuware Arena.

The game was fairly even goal for the Whalers.

through the first two periods, with Barrie scoring at 6:13 of the first on a goal by Mike Jefferson his seventh of the playoffs.

Ryan Barnes and Erik Reitz ---a Plymouth native - earned assists.

The Colts had a 23-22 advantage in shots on goal through two periods. But in the third, they scored twice more while outshooting Plymouth 9-4. Both goals were scored by Mike Henrich, with Mike Christian assisting on both.

Reitz a force for Barrie

BY C.J. RISAK STAFF WRITER

cirisak@oe.homecomm.net

There were plenty of happy people in the Compuware Arena stands Tuesday when the Barrie Colts held off the Plymouth Whalers to win the J. Ross Robertson Cup and the Ontario Hockey League championship that goes with it.

All of them were from Barrie - or at least most of them were.

There were a bunch of Plymouth natives cheering for those enemies from abroad, and with good reason: a native son was playing for the Colts.

And that made this homecoming a particularly sweet one for Erik Reitz, a 17year-old defenseman in his first year with Barrie.

"This," the former Plymouth Salem student (graduating class of 2001) said happi-"is the biggest game of my life, by far."
It should have been. The best-of-seven ries figured to be a struggle all the way, d it was, but when Plymouth took a 3-2 evantage in games Barrie's back was up ainst the proverbial wall.

Enter the defense.

After giving up 19 goals in the first five times, the Colts allowed just two in the st two.

"This is all about character, emotion, intensity," said Reitz. He tried to downplay his coming home for the deciding seventh game, "It was never really (a factor)," he said. "But it does make you play a bit harder.

"Yeah," he added, after a bit more reflection, "To win it at home was great. I would have liked to win it in Barrie because of all the fans, but this was special."

With one of the largest crowds in Whaler history in attendance - a standing-room only assemblage of 4,426 - it was nice to know a few of them were fami-

And it was also nice to know the defense was the difference down the stretch.

"They did a good job clearing us out in front of the net," said Whaler coach Pete DeBoer. "They took away all the rebounds, and they have a world-class goalie."

That would be Brian Finley, who appreciated all the work his defensemen did.

Including Reitz. His 6-foot-1, 195-pound bulk helped keep the goal area void of Whalers. Coming into the game, he totaled five assists in 22 playoff games and was tied for the team lead in plus/minus with a plus-10 rating.

Barrie's first-round pick (19th overall) in the 1999 OHL priority selection draft, Reitz was never really an offensive force as a defensemen, collecting two goals and 10 assists in 63 games. He also had a plus-20 rating.

Good numbers for a first-year player in the OHL. But Reitz now has something even more special: a league championship and a chance to play for the Memorial Cup, a quest that begins Saturday.

Native son: Plymouth native Erik Reitz was a force on defense for the Barrie Colts, who knocked the Plymouth Whalers out of the OHL playoffs in Game 7 of the finals.

Miller steps down from UDM baseball How

BY PAUL BEAUDRY STAFF WRITER

pheaudry@oe.homecomm.net

Having to raise money for his program for the last 38 years grew old for University of Detroit Mercy baseball coach Bob Miller.

So after this season is done, so is Miller.

The Redford Township resident - who has been part of Titan athletics as a player, booster, assistant coach or head coach in one way, shape or form since the 1940s - announced he's stepping down as coach effective the end of the season.

"I had a great career there," said Miller. "It was a wonderful career. From my mother and father going to every game when they were alive. God rest their souls, to my kids, to my grandkids... But this is not the way I wanted to go out."

Miller decided to quit when assistant coach Lee Bjerke said that he would resign if he wasn't Bierke that "If you leave, I'm

"I've been a part-time coach for 38 years at U-D," Miller said. "I've got no pension from them, no nothing. I tried to get money for (Lee). He's done a helluva good job for this program."

"I got no money from U-D." said Bjerke, who went to Miller's staff after a short stint at Henry Ford Community College and several years at Willow Run High School. "My salary was fund-raised for four years and it got to the point where I was no longer going to be an assistant for no salary. Bob gave the ultimatum that the school was going to pay his assistants or he was not going to be back."

UDM athletic director Brad Kinsman said he took the issue up with school president Sr. Maureen Fay, but the answer was no.

"All teams have to fund-raise paid by the school. Miller told to a certain extent," said Kinsman, who added that Miller's replacement will also have to raise funds to pay for coaching salaries. I think Bob got tired of it and felt the school should do ABC and D and decided to step down. The issue of the school paying for assistants was taken forward and declined.

"He's a legend. He's worked tirelessly on behalf of our student-athletes and we're indebted to him. Everything Titan baseball has become over the years is a credit to Bob and his staff. He is remarkable."

· Miller was outstanding at raising money for his program guessing he raised about $1 million over the years.

He held banquets and parties with such sports stars as Sparky Anderson, Tommy Lasorda, Brooks Robinson and Bill Freeple like Jim Campbell, Remo Vielmo and Ken Elliott, along 15-26 and 4-14 in the league with average donors from people who wanted to help the program. The money funded things like dugouts, spring trips, salaries. "They've been fantastic over the years," Miller said. Remo gave money to pay for the assistant coaches and the southern trip, Mr. Campbell gave fantastic donations for the scoreboard and fence. He was my man."

Miller was unquestionably an area baseball legend. He played two years for the Titans, then signed a contact with the Philadelphia Philles, helping the club to a National League pennant in 1950 as a rookie pitcher. He made 261 appearances before; retiring in 1958.

In 1963, he returned to U-D as an assistant coach under Lloyd Brazil, before becoming head coach in 1965. As a head coach, he's compiled an 896-751-2 han. He accepted gifts from peo- record and had 28 20-win seasons. This year, the Titans are heading into this weekend's Midwestern Collegiate Conference tournament in Dayton.

And the memories acquired in that time have been plentiful.

"I've been able to coach my sons (Tom, Bob and Pat) and that was a thrill," Miller said. "My team in 1965 came within a game of going to Omaha (for the College World Series) and the teams in the 1970s were as good as any around. But the one thing I always told my players and recruits is that they were going to get their education and play for a helluva baseball program. That was my philosophy. They were going to play ball, but they were also going to get a degree."

Miller knows he'll miss coaching and UDM. In addition to coaching, he also takes care of the Campbell Athletic Complex as if it were his own house -and in a sense, it is. He cuts the grass and edges it, builds and rebuilds the mounds.

For most of his years as a baseball coach, he also sold insurance for lifelong friend Chuck Davie, who was paralyzed in a freak accident in Puerto

"I started to work for him, and I told him that I had the chance to become baseball coach at U-D," Miller said. "He told me to do it. Just don't spend all your time coaching, sell some insurance

He'll still be dealing with grass in retirement, but most of it will be on a golf course. He's had several old friends begging him to play for years - now he'll have the chance to do it.

And baseball won't be out of his system entirely.

"I'll still go to high school games. Connie Mack games. Ford Field in Livonia," mused Miller. "I'm still going to go out and do it even though I'm not recruiting. I enjoy the game.

"It's in my soul now."

Crusaders eliminated

At least Madonna University's baseball team reached the second day of the NAIA Region VIII Tournament. Two days and one inning, to be precise.

The Crusaders surrendered eight runs in the opening inning of their game against Indiana Tech Saturday, eventually falling 17-3.

They finished with a season record of 29-25-1.

Indiana Tech, the regular-season champ in the Wolverine: Hoosier Athletic Conference, ended up claiming the Region VIII title by beating Marian College twice, 11-4 Saturday and 8-4 Monday to improve to 41-19.

It advanced to the NAIA Sectional that starts today in Joliet, Ill., playing a best-of-threegames series against St. Francis (Ill.), with a trip to the NAIA World Series at stake.

Dale Hayes (Westland John Glenn HS) started for Madonna against Tech, but he lasted just 1/3 of an inning, giving up seven

The score reached 10.0 by the end of two innings, as five Crusaders went to the mound and were tagged for 12 earned runs on 22 hits. Hayes took the loss.

Madonna did manage 10 hits in the game, with Eric Lightle (Livonia Churchill) getting three of them, one a double. Chris Woodruff had a pinch-hit double and an RBI and Mark Cole had a single and an RBI.

Adam Ward and Jeremiah Deakins each had four hits for Tech, while Casey Reid had three hits and four RBI and Ryan Campbell contributed two hits, including a homer, and four

Brad Sparks went the distance to earn the pitching win for

All-Region players

Two Madonna baseball players and two more softball players were selected to the NAIA All-Region VIII team, which was released Monday.

Seniors Derick Wolfe and Todd Miller were named to the allregion baseball squad. Wolfe, an outfielder, led the Crusaders in virtually every offensive category, batting .395 with a team-best .704 slugging percentage, eight home runs, 16 doubles and five triples. He and Miller were both named to the all-Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference

Miller, a shortstop from Farmington Hills (Birmingham Brother Rice HS), was second on Madonna in batting with a .378 average. He also had a teamhigh 36 runs batted in.

Softball all-region choices were senior catcher Vicki Malkowski and junior shortstop Kristy McDonald, Malkowski paced Madonna with a 339 batting average, 19 doubles and 34 RBI; she also committed just three errors in 55 games, posting a .984 fielding percentage. McDonald, from Redford (Thurston HS), was second on the team in batting with a 335 average and in RBI with 32. Her .532 slugging percentage and five homers led Madonna, which finished 31-24 overall.

Both players were all-WHAC

Spartans doing some fine-tuning for impending playoffs ready to get serious about the Western Lakes Activities Association and Michigan High School Athletic Association playoffs.

The regular season is winding down and the playoffs right around the corner and the Spartans are getting ready.

Stevenson went to Farmington on Monday and came home with a 5-0 WLAA win after losing its first two games of the season.

The Spartans imported two out-of-state powerhouses, however, to get a gauge on what needs to be done before the playoffs.

It lost both, dropping the second of the two games Saturday. 2-1 to Catholic Memorial of Milwaukee (Wis.) in a game played

On Friday, Stevenson dropped a 1-0 decision to the four-time defending state champions from Illinois, St. Charles.

Stevenson piled up a 4-0 halftime lead over Farmington in cruising to the WLAA win.

Lindsay Gusick had two goals plus an assist, Megan Urbats scored a goal and added an assist while Katie Beaudoin and Deanna McGrath each notched a goal. Andi Sied registered three assists.

Koch split time in goal for the Spartans, with Koch turning aside a Falcons' breakaway.

The Spartans (9-2-2) are now 8-0-2 in the WLAA.

The difference between winning and losing: opportunities.

Plymouth Canton got the better of Plymouth Salem Monday in a cross-campus girls soccer match that had major implications in deciding opponents in the Western Lakes Activities Association title match.

The Chiefs had more scoring chances than Salem and, thanks in large part to Anne Morrell. cashed in more of them - two more, to be precise, making the final 2-0 Monday at CEP.

The win boosted Canton's overall record to 13-1-1; Salem, which lost 3-0 last Friday to second-ranked Troy Athens, slipped to 12-2-1.

The loss ruined the Rocks' hopes for playing in the WLAA title match. Going into the game, Salem and Livonia Stevenson were tied at 3-0-1 in the WLAA's Lakes Division. Since they tied against each other and beat everyone else in the division, the tiebreaker formula came down to who did what against the best teams in the Western Division.

Enter Canton, the top team in the Western. Stevenson and the Chiefs played to a 1-1 tie; since Canton beat Salem, Stevenson will get the nod as the Lakes representative in the WLAA title match, and will host it as well.

first goal of the game four minutes in when she took a pass from Melanie Dunn and dribbled past a Salem defender to a spot just a few yards inside the end line - between the goal's near post and sideline.

Such an extreme angle would not be considered a likely scoring position, but Morrell left-footed a shot over Salem keeper Jenny Fitchett that hit the far post and banked into the net.

The Rocks fired some hard shots on goal in the opening half, but Canton keeper Amy Dorogi snagged them all.

But with 13:15 left, Jami Coyle's corner kick went into the box and Dorogi couldn't field it.

"I think there were a lot of opportunities we had," said Salem coach Joe Nora. "In past games we put those away. Tonight, we didn't."

The Chiefs pressured for the remainder of the game, Dombrowski diving to deflect one shot wide and leaping to knock another just over the crossbar.

"They couldn't just concentrate on Anne," Coach Don Smith said. "A lot of other people had scoring chances. I thought everybody contributed."

Southgate scored with 3:40 to play to break the scoreless tie.

Bluesman's new material 'rocks harder'

By Stephanie Angelyn Casola STATY WRITER scasola@oe.homecomm.net

Nearly a decade since the release of Ambition, an album that launched Larry McCray's musical career, the Arkansas-born and Saginaw-bred guitarist confirms his status as one of the most powerful bluesman around as he prepares to kick out new tunes at the 2000 Greektown Arts Festival.

With a new album in the works, the man who last declared he was Born To Play The Blues (1998) returns to Detroit to celebrate the 10th year of the festival. McCray is more than ready to showcase new songs like Blues Is My Business, Love Gone Bad and the tentative title track Believe it. While he said the music he's been playing for years hasn't changed much, it has shifted focus "in terms of what people are into at the time." Today, blues has to appeal to rock, reggae, soul and R&B audiences.

"People are into very rhythmic music," said McCray, in a telephone interview on May 9. "You have to do these things to continue to survive."

McCray's new material "rocks harder," contains a wide array of rhythms and strong vocals, but never strays from its bluesy origins. "I came from a history of it," said McCray. "My family were blues listeners and musicians before me. I always needed music with more of an inner soul."

Influences Influenced by greats Jimi Hendrix,

George Benson and Wes Montgomery, McCray will be featured as the opening night headliner for the Greektown festival. "We're just gonna try to have an intense show," he said. "I'm really anxious and happy to have new music available for the people I think the time is right for the band."

The time is right in Detroit to celebrate spring and the beginning of outdoor festivals as well. As the Greektown Arts Festival begins to heat up, the musical line up is sure to emit sounds of cool blues and steamy funk. To kick off the festival Friday night, The Brothers Groove start their engines at 6 p.m. blending funk, jazz, rock and blues into something undefinably delicious. While singer/keyboardist Chris Codish has played the festival with the likes of Johnnie Bassett and Thornetta Davis - who also return this year . it's a first for The Brothers

Comic book convention more than kids' stuff

BY NICOLE STAFFORD SPECIAL EDITOR

The silver age of comic books may have passed long ago - thanks to video games and computers - but the genre is far from dead.

In reality, it's branched out, creating new categories and targeting different audiences, particularly older Otherwise, attracting more than 300 comic artists

Techno artists master building a loyal audience

As someone who has been on the receiving end of voluminous recording industry hype, I've always been intrigued by artists who reach their audience in a direct, non-mainstream way.

There may be example media-resistant artists than those who create the Detroit area's biggest musical export techno music. You may not be familiar with names like Carl Craig. Richie Hawtin, and Derrick May, but they have an incredible following in places like London, Belgium, and Ams-

"Detroit's techno artists are big in Europe because radio stations in the United Kingdom and other European cities are given the freedom to play what their listeners want to hear. In London in particular, musical trends are created by the feedback from the clubs where techno music rules," said Ron Pangborn, music producer for Detroit Public TV's Backstage Pass.

Although it may seem on the surface that techno producers revel in their anonymity, they are masters at building a loyal audience. Derrick May, along with former Belleville High classmates Juan Atkins and Kevin Saunderson, is credited with originating the "techno' form. As an international DJ, electronic music producer and has total control in the creation and distribution of his music. While that may seem like a unique arrangement in the mainstream recording industry, it is not unusual in techno. Car Craig is CEO of Planet E Records, and has created music under various guises including Paperclip People, Innerzone Orchestra and his own name. Hawtin helped to establish Plus 8 Records and now records under his Minus label.

There are signs that techno artists are making themselves more accessible to those that aren't necessarily "plugged in." Craig will serve as artistic director for the Detroit Electronic Music Festival noon to midnight, Saturday-Monday, May 27-29 at Detroit's Hart Plaza.

"Techno music really needs founder of Transmat Records, he these type of events if the artists want to broaden their visibility. They've been very successful in using the club scene to mobilize their audiences, and it seems like it is just a matter of time before major record companies realize their potential," said

Pangborn.

A rare, if not unprecedented, television gathering of Detroit's techno artists will take place on the next edition of Detroit Public TV's Backstage Pass airing 7:30 p.m. Sunday, May 21. Carl Craig, Richie Hawtin and Derrick May will make appearances to reveal the ins and outs of their underpublicized segment of the music industry. Hart Plaza, festivals? TV appearances? It appears the reclusive days of techno music

Female comics stand up to be counted

BY NICOLE STAFFORD SPECIAL EDITOR

nstafford@oe.homecomm.net

When Connie Ettinger and D'Anne Witkowski do stand-up, and a male heckler blurts out opinions and mean sentiments, the female comics don't usually try to get the last laugh.

That is, shoot back a witty, embarrassing comeback with shut-them-up impact. Neither local comic is "there yet," they say of their development in stage comedy... "I'm a 120-pound demeanor and female. I don't feel I can cut down some drunk guy and make, it to my car that night," jokes Witkowski, whose "day job" is studying English at the University of Detroit-Mercy.

Anyway, embarrassing the heck out of a heckler may not be their comedic style.

Though, Witkowski, a Clarkston native who now lives in Royal Oak, may be well on her way. When a heckler recently yelled out "take off your shirt," the 22-year-old comic came back with, "Settle down, Dad," and got a few laughs.

Witkowski and Ettinger are two of six women comics in Sorry About the Apple, an all-female showcase of stand-up acts on Sunday, May 21 at Mark Ridley's Comedy Castle in Royal Oak.

The program deviates from stand-up's standard format — an MC warm-up followed by a 25-minute feature performer and headliner, a model created by Mark Ridley.

There's no hierarchy of perfermance in Sorry About the Apple. Once more, it's all women, so the audience gets "a concentrated dose of women comics," says. Ettinger, who came up with the format and pitched it to Ridley.

"And, I think they'll be delightfully surprised at the caliber of humor that they're going to see," says the Franklin resident, a "recovering" attorney.

Under the standard format. audiences rarely see more than one comedienne, if even one female comic, leaving many comedy-goers with the impression women aren't as funny as men.

There's a stereotype about female comics, says Witkowski. "It's believed that men are fun-nier, are more capable of handling a crowd and so forth.... Male comics have to prove that they're not funny. Females have: to prove that they are."

Audiences are also quick to conclude female comics only joke about menstrual cycles, pregnancy, relationships and housewifery. "I suspect that when people see a lineup of six women performing, they expect a night of man-bashing, and nothing could be further from the truth," says Ettinger. "While we all work, I don't think there have been many forums for women comics to showcase their talents. It is a male-dominated industry, not to say that we've been held back because of that. I've been treated very well. But it is a little bit harder. The networking is more difficult."

Memorable 'Kiss Me, Kate' sparked with fun

Farmington Players presents "Kiss Me, Kate," 8 p.m. Thursday. Saturday, May 18-20, and 2 p.m. Sunday, May 21 and May 27, at the barn, 32332 W. 12 Mile Road, Farmington Hills. Tickets $15, call (248) 553 2955.

BY VICTORIA DIAZ SPECIAL WRITER

Cole Porter's Kiss Me, Kate has been selected by the Farmington-Players as their final production at the aging barn theater on Twelve Mile Road, which they have occupied for 48 years. The musical comedy, directed by Emily McSweeney with musical direction by James Morisi, couldn't be more fitting. Much of the time, it's sparked with fun. Some of the time, it's downright mentorable.

First staged in 1952, Kiss Me, Kate may not be exactly politically correct these days (especially in the matter of wifely obedience), but surely most of its musical numbérs are no less tuneful or engaging than they were when the house lights dimmed and the curtain went up for the first time on the production 48 years ago.

Due to some frail voices and a rather shaky start to this version of Kate, playgoers may initially wonder if the music is going to be given short shrift. Not to worry, though. Eventually, everything seems to get better, and some of it morphs into sheer delight.

Kiss Me, Kate is a show within a show within a show. That is, it these two still have eyes for each is the story of a group of 20thcentury troupers putting together a musical version of William Shakespeare's early comedy, The Taming of the Shrew.

If you're confused, you're probably not alone. Just remember that the point here is fun, not

E Almost from the moment Nate Kaufman appears on stage as Fred/Petruchio, we just know we are in for some theatrical fun.

Center of action

At the center of all the action are Lilli Vanessi and Fred Graham, two actors who play the willful Kate and the mercenary Petruchio in the adaptation of Shakespeare's Shrew. Both are "celebrating" the first anniversary of their divorce from each other, but it's soon apparent that other.

Almost from the moment Nate Kaufman appears on stage as Fred/Petruchio, we just know we are in for some theatrical fun. He seems to be having so much of it himself in this role, and he has a way of milking every moment for all it's worth without ever going quite over the top. While you may not catch him at the Met, he really does know a lot about putting across a song, and playgoers may especially enjoy his Where Is the Life That Late I Led? Besides all that, he cuts a dashing figure in tights.

Leading lady Angie Tyburski in the role of Lillie/Kate starts out a little shakily, but gradually seems to really warm to her part. She's especially effective as the forever-frustrated, objecthurling Kate. Her body language and facial expressions lend a touch of the cartoonish to her "shrew," and sometimes you may imagine you can see little puffs of steam emerging from her pret-

Special mention

Special mention should be made of Craig Forhan and Chuck Fisher who play a couple of gangster-goons who think they are looking for Fred; when who they are really looking for is Bill. Somehow, these two wind up in the cast of the Shakespearean musical, also, playing (rightfully) a couple of coxcombed fools. Their frolicsome Brush Up Your Shakespeare ("If she says your behavior is heinous - kick her right in the Coriolanus") is definitely one of the high spots of the evening.

uneven, but ultimately most contribute toward making this Shrew a happy occasion.

Costumes are as bright, be-ribboned, and be-feathered as a Venetian carnivale, and really add to the eye appeal of the musical. In fact, they're an essential part of the fun, cleverly complementing all the dazzling hullabaloo.

Next season

The Farmington Players will perform at a theater facility in the Barnes and Noble building at 6800 Orchard Lake Road in West Bloomfield Township during their 2000-01 season. They plan to open the 2001-02 season at their completely refurbished theater on the same site where the old barn is now located.

'The Marriage of Figaro' at the Hilberry invites laughter

The Hilberry, Wayne State University's graduate theater company, presents The Marriage of Figuro which runs through Sunday, May 21. The Hilberry is at Forest and Gass on the Wayne State campus in Detroit. For tickets and show times, call (313) 577-2972.

BY SUE SUCRYTA SPECIAL WRITER

The Hilberry Theatre closes its 1999-2000 season with the nonmusical version of the comedy, The Marriage of Figuro. Ironically, the popular opera is better known than the play upon which it was based. French playwright? Pierre Augustin de Beaumarchais also wrote, The Barber of Seville.

Both plays are full of clever leges and foibles of the upper virtue. The Count, who seeks pampered prince and a devious class. At one point Louis XVI was so incensed by the potency of the satire that he banned, The Marriage of Figuro from the comedy and verbal audacity of the play ensured its survival to the present day.

Beaumarchais, who was also a songwriter and musician, left a legacy even more profound than his flays - a glance at your wrist will likely reveal another of his clever machinations, for he developed a precise clock system that we now refer to as the wristwatch.

The Marriage of Figuro is a "bawdy farce of marital mishap and romantic intrigue, Two wise servants, Figaro and Suzanne, want to wed, but they have to prevent a randy Count

However, the sheer The Countess, not one to sit idly by in the face of her husband's dalliances, is encouraging a besotted pursuit by her husband's page. Amidst much contriving, lying, hiding and diving from windows, the clever Figaro and Suzanne find a way to keep the romantic wolves at bay and return the royals to their rightful bedchambers.

Professor Anthony Schmitt, the show's director, delivered a fast paced, tightly woven performance. Dallas Henry, as Figaro, and Emily Miller, as Suzanne, were well-matched. Fred Shahadi is a standout as the selfcentered Count Almayiva. His dialogue that satirize the privi- from stealing the maiden's movements were those of both a Heidi Olson, as the Countess, was a strong foil to the Count, and kept the humor in the character well.

Orestes Arcuni, the fall guy, is delightfully funny as the Cherubin, the page courting the Countess. His long suffering looks and puppy dog affections were funny. However, his attempt to disguise himself as a bridesmaid was what caused the house to roar with unrestrained mirth. Quite simply. Arcuni's face is handsome on a man, but he was one ugly maiden!

Charles Moser's set design is elegant and versatile, with modular pieces easily rearranged for each of the three acts. He effectively used the ostentatious gilt of the French aristocracy. Mary Levendecker's costumes were richly appointed and appealing. The gowns were striking, and the colors accented the boldness and audacious of the show and its characters.

'Time Code' a challenge for the eyes

By JON KATZ STAFF WRITER

Time Code isn't one of the worst movies of the year so far. It's four of the worst movies of the year so far.

You'll hear that it's a breakthrough and is greatly innovative (and it is), but you'll also be intimidated by the warning that if you don't like it, you don't "get it." But most people stop calling each other chicken around the fourth grade.

Time Code is an ambitious gimmick, far worthier of discussion than its plot. Shown as a continuous four-way split screen, Time Code goes against the traditional filmmaking grain in numerous ways. Director Mike Figgis (Leaving Las Vegas). bringing his musical background to bear, literally arranged the basic screenplay on music paper as a string quartet, with bar lines indicating minutes. There was no script as such.

His 93-minute concertina was then shot in real time with four hand-held digital video cameras rolling simultaneously in different (and sometimes identical) locations. Movies have played out in real time before (Alfred Hitchcock's Rope), but could never be shot in one unbroken and unedited take because of the limitations of 10-minute film magazines.

Over two-dozen actors were given story outlines and rehearsed hitting exact marks at exact times. Much of the rest. according to press releases, was improvised. Figgis, as one of the four camerapersons, could control only his own setup once they were shooting.

They shot the film 15 times – a total of 60 individual versions and used the final day's work, complete with four fortuitous earthquake aftershocks that occurred while the cameras rolled.

Only the sound levels were manipulated to nudge your attention to a specific quadrant. The viewer, in effect, becomes the film's editor, selecting which corner of the screen to concentrate on at the momet.

So why be downin such an apparently importan work? For one thing, the stry stinks. Something about a mall Hollywood movie compay auditioning for a new projet. "Time

Code."

As a result of this boorish plot, the four-way split is pretty much. one part storyline and three parts tedious filler. Look in the lower left, there's a close-up of a clock. And up there on the right, there's Jeanne Tripplehorn chewing gum, snorting coke or playing with a cigarette lighter for minutes on end. And down there in the lower right, a security guard stands around, maybe waiting for the next aftershock, which is the most action in the film anyway.

Time Code has its place as a film school project or a demotape for Sony's digital video cameras. It is a technical achievement in that the idea proved functional.

When they find a story that's even one-fourth watchable, they may have something.

Travislands headlining U.S. tour

But Detroit got a taste of Travis two years before the recent, sold-out Oasis show. On tour with Chapel Hill's prized trio Ben Folds Five, Travis performed at The Shelter, below St. Andrews Hall, "I remember the loud metal show (upstairs)," said Dunlop in an accent as thick as fog on a dreary Glasgow day. But Travis is moving up, literally; up the charts and up the stairs to St. Andrews main stage.

The Man Who has garnered enough attention to cause quite a stir on either side of the Atlantic. The title of the album was taken from Oliver Sack's Wife for a Hat. Dunlop considers it to be quite an ambiguous title, allowing listeners to come to their own conclusions about its meaning.

But the title also offers an answer to all the journalists who considered the band's first album, Good Feeling, too much a mix of emotions. "The press kept saying we were a schizophrenic band," explained Dunlop. While he maintains that the album was meant to be true-tolife rather than a reflection of psychosis, The Man Who offers a much more even flow, both musically and stylistically. But Dunlop said that it was "purely by accident."

Fran Healy writes the band's songs on his guitar in his room, then brings them to the attention of his bandmates. "At any stage you can sort of ruin it as a band," said Dunlop. "So many bands over-play." Travis' motto would be something like, "Keep up-and-comers to look out into a sea of people filling every last pavilion seat and spot on the hill at Pine Knob Music Theatre,

What musician doesn't strive for the level of success that could only be contained by the largest entertainment venues in the area? In an effort to make those dreams reality for local bands, The Palace Sports and Entertainment Inc. organized it's Opening Act Contest.

In it's second year, the contest offers some of the best local bands an opportunity for exposure unlike any other. "Because Meadow Brook, Pine Knob and The Palace are such large venues in comparison with most other venues and clubs in the area, we have the opportunity to showcase local artists on a larger scale," said Amy Bryson, publicity manager for PS&E. "This contest allows us to give talented local musicians the experience and exposure of performing in front thousands of people they may otherwise not get to do."

Out of 251 submissions from area bands, eight finalists were chosen by a panel of judges who book and promote the events for the three venues. The judges considered all genres of music and asked for feedback from local media to narrow down their choices. Only three will win opening spots for artists performing at Pine Knob Music Theatre in Independence Township this summer and Meadowbrook Music Festival in Rochester

Hills. The finalists in this year's competition are Blue Dahlia, Domestic Problems, Scott Fab. Kingsnakes, Knee Deep Shag, Molly, Rooster and Southfield:

Ten judges (including myself) have been chosen based on their knowledge of and interest in the local scene, to narrow down the group to three lucky winners. Finalists will be judged on their overall performance and stage presence. Each band is allowed 10 minutes of stage time to perform about two original songs.

Ken Karasek, drummer of Rooster and a former Rochester resident, said he's "extremely thrilled." "We all are. It's always been a dream of ours to play the Palace, Pine Knob or Meadowbrook."

Together since 1997 and based in Lake Orion, Rooster's twangy Americana rock sound has catapulted the band from the local scene to performing regular gigs across the Midwest and recording in Nashville. The band's debut, Solid State, has been followed up by recent recordings with producer Clarck Hagen (Chet Atkins, Ray Stevens). "We're gonna do the best we can," said Karasek. "We're completely prepared."

The Kingsnakes entered the contest last year, but didn't make it to the finals. The blues-rock quintet based in Westland will rely on sheer musical ability to be a worthy competitor. Bassist Tom Diaz said he doesn't think of the show as a competition. "It's just gonna be fun to go," he said of Meadowbrook, the biggest venue the 3-year-old band has ever played.

based quartet called Southfield a band that got it's start after singer-songwriter J.T. Harding won prize money on VH-1's Rock and Roll Jeopardy and used it to record a CD. Ferndale's Scott Fab will draw on his soulful sound and past performances with the likes of Sheryl Crow to compete in the competition:

From the Kalamazoo scene, Blue Dahlia and Knee Deep Shag are ready to battle it out. Blue Dahlia gained national radio airplay with three singles from the band's self-titled 1997 debut, and has recently release of a 4-song EP, Estival. Guitarist Becky Pingston is a Clarkston native and vocalist Leslie Boughton is a Plymouth native.

Knee Deep Shag will prove to be a worthy contender, holding such accolades as the 1999 Detroit Music Award for Best Urban/Funk Artist. On the heels of the band's latest and most profound album to date, Good Disguise, Knee Deep Shag can pack a house.

Then, of course, you've got the Grand Rapids set, Domestic Problems and Molly. Together since 1993, Domestic Problems is a virtual party onstage, six members strong. Capturing the comical mayhem of a DP show, the band released Live last October and has shared the stage with heavyweights like the Dave Matthews Band, Morphine and Ben Folds Five.

tant," said Dunlop, "You can smother a song."

One song on the album, Slide Show, went through many incarnations before reaching its final form. "We wanted the sound of a car behind it," recalled Dunlop. "We tried recording it in a car." After "too much noise and bumping about," producer Nigel-Godrich (Radiohead, Beck, Pavement) opted for a backdrop of recorded street sounds. "Nigel is very much a perfectionist," said Dunlop. But it worked.

The band even went so far as to start the engines of several cars in a parking lot. "I think it's incredible," said Duniop of the album critics call a must-have. "It was the first time we sounded like we sounded in our heads."

Four years after the band began, four friends solidified a space in the current wave of popmusic trends. They're not so schizophrenic after all. "We got to know each other after playing so many live shows, he rea-

Touring steadily since last spring, the band will head back to London after the next round of shows. But they still insist Glasgow is home. "We moved to London to get a deal in the first place as a band," said Dunlop. There was more of a chance in London."

Dunlop's musical roots trace back to his early teens. "I used to play piano when I was younger," he said, "I got into guitar, it was easier to carry about with you."

Having parents who listened to Scottish country music and developing an early obsession with metal - of the ACDC and Kiss variety - Dunlop's early influences were scattered somewhere between the two. He picked up a guitar at age 13 and hasn't turned back.

Dunlop, now 28, said he doesn't notice much difference between touring in the States and touring in Britain. "I think people are people no matter where you go " It's that sweet sincerity that's gained Travis a sterling reputation in pop music. While The Man Who spins its web around new American fans, Travia has already written enough material for a third album and plans to go back into the studio by the end of summer. Travis hopes to team up with Godrich again and record in

Sweet Lorraine's brings comfort, joy to Marriott

BY KEELY WYGONIK STAFF WRITER

Laurel Park Place shopper wanders into the newly opened Sweet Lorraine's at the Livonia Marriott and asks, "Are you open yet?"

Shhh ... don't tell anyone. They've been open nearly a month; and it's the best kept secret in Livonia.

Guests at the hotel have been "Sweet" on "Lorraine" since the restaurant opened in April. It's become their home away from home and a surprise discovery for shoppers, office workers, and people in the neighborhood who didn't know it moved in.

Lorraine Platman is meeting in a corner booth with her kitchen staff. Suddenly, she jumps up and goes to the kitchen. She emerges minutes later apologizing and explaining that she had to talk to one of the staff about the way a sandwich

"It's a grilled sandwich. It's supposed to be golden brown and the cheese melted," she said.

Platman cares about food. That's one of the ingredients of her success. She's very hands-on, and she pushes her staff to excel.

"The people knew how to cook, but they're working triple harder. They're working with fresh ingredients, and they're enthused," she said.

Executive Chef Clark DeKett, who grew up in Redford Township and studied culinary arts at Oakland Community College in Farmington Hills, agrees.

"We're working harder, but we're considerably more satisfied," he said. "We enjoy the food. It's challenging and satisfying. It has a global perspective. It's a very large menu. There are new recipes to learn. They're all complicated, but all are wonderful."

pares the orchestration of a meal to playing the piano. "You can play notes and read music, but you've got to get the melody. down. It's the nuances, the taste, that make a product wonderful."

Consistency is also important. Repeat performances have to be as good as the first. Platman's recipes include notes on presentation, and she's a stickler for detail. "I want to be able to reproduce the same dish next year," she said.

Everything, even the bread and desserts, is made fresh daily. The menu reflects what's in season and changes accordingly. Duck was added as a regular item, along with "French Onion" Steak Tenderloin - Angus beef tenderloins served over garlic toasted croutons, caramelized onions and a French onion sauce, topped with melted mozzarella

You can get a sandwich, burger, main-dish salad, pasta, seafood or chicken. There are a number of vegetarian items, including the new Brie Portabello Melt. Specials and soups change daily. Cream of tomato soup is offered daily because customers requested it.

The lunch menu is lighter with fewer side dishes. "It's for people who are on a time, dollar and calorie budget," said Gary Sussman, Platman's husband and business partner.

Desserts are comforting and reassuring, ones Platman remembers from her childhood in England - Apple Brown Betty, Blueberry Bread Pudding and Strawberry Rhubarb Crisp. They're warm desserts served with a dollop of Ray's ice cream.

including one produced by Local Color Brewery in Novi. The lemonade is always freshly squeezed, and you can get an espresso, a cappuccino or smoothie.

Diners eat in an open, colorful and comfortable setting. "We wanted something curvy to bring the ceiling down to make it more intimate," explained Sussman, pointing to shapes that resemble clouds. "We wanted it to be fun but comfortable.'

Dennis Larsson of Northville painted the murals and designed the ceramic tile mosaic bar. Light fixtures are made from Italian glass. Stephen Sussman and Howard Ellman of Birmingham were the restaurant's archi-

Bringing Sweet Lorraine's to the Livonia Marriott took nearly two years. Both the hotel and the restaurant had reservations. Haydn Kramer, general manager of the Livonia Marriott, has been a fan of Sweet Lorraine's for about 10 years.

"Whenever i had special friends in town that's where I took them," said Kramer, who lives in Plymouth. "They have great food, cool music, and I thought, 'Why can't I have this restaurant." Their strength is at my hotel?"

"It was a long, steady battle of convincing a lot of people on both sides," he said. "I had to propose it to people at all different levels of the company, It's a great product. It's that special place where you feel special. It even sounded
