Police still seek information in woman's death

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Five weeks after an 18-year-old woman was found fatally shot in a Westland apartment, Wayne County authorities still haven't ruled her death a murder or suicide.

Candace Marie Marcou of Farmington Hills was found dead the morning of Feb. 21 inside her boyfriend's Woodbridge Pond apartment, on Newburgh south of Joy.

"At this time, the official manner of death has been ruled undetermined by the Wayne County Medical Examiner's Office," said Westland police Sgt. David Heater. "That doesn't mean we're not going to continue investigating it."

Rather, police are urging anyone who may have information about Marcou's death to call the Westland Police Department's detective bureau during daytime business hours at (734) 721-6311.

Marcou died of a gunshot wound to the head. Her boyfriend reported the death as a suicide, and he has been released from custody as the investigation continues.

Marcou's death stunned those who knew her.

"There was no indication from the family and friends that she was depressed or suicidal," Heater said. "The family and friends are greatly troubled by this death."

Marcou was nearing her one-year anniversary working at the Bob Evans restaurant at Middlebelt and I-96 in Livonia. General manager Missy Chapman called the death "a huge shock to everybody."

"She was always funny, to the point that she would make a joke at her own expense - anything for a laugh and to keep the spirits high," Chapman said. "She was very dependable as a worker."

Those who knew Marcou have described her as a strong-willed teenager who always tried hard to improve her life.

"She was a fighter," Chapman said. "Nobody believes that she took her own life."

Musicians ready for Disney experience

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

The world will literally be watching when students from Wayne Memorial and John Glenn high schools perform at two locations in Walt Disney World in Florida later this month.

More than 150 students, 25 pairs of chaperones and their respective music directors, Scott Cramer from John Glenn and Matthew Diroff from Wayne Memorial, will be in Florida April 17-22 to attend a Disney workshop and perform at the theme park.

"They're going to go onstage for the world at Disney," Cramer said. "It's an opportunity a lot of students might never have via their family. It's a great week for them to explore and branch off."

The students are members of the two schools' symphonic bands and orchestras. They've been divided into two groups and will perform in concerts in the park.

The A group - about 58 students - will perform in Downtown Disney, while the B group - 105 students - will perform in Epcot. A few of the students will perform with both groups.

They also will perform in a workshop where they will have the opportunity to work with Disney professionals and learn what they do.

"It builds on what we talk about in class," Cramer said. "They learn about planning, time management and what's expected at that high of a level."

The bands will be traditional concert bands, performing marches and a mix of contemporary Disney music, including several pieces from the Star Wars movies and The Incredibles.

"We have a nice variety, so people are able to sit down and tap their toes," Cramer said. "It's going to be a lot of fun."

This the fourth time Cramer has taken Glenn musicians to Walt Disney World and

Greenfield agrees to pay restitution to civic league

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A former Wayne-Ford Civic League president was ordered Friday to repay $16,000 for embezzling from the Westland-based nonprofit organization.

Neal Greenfield, 43, of Westland has agreed to pay the money after pleading no contest in January to embezzling between $1,000 and $20,000.

An amount hasn't been settled for Greenfield's ex-wife, Shari Greenfield of Livonia, the league's former vice president. Her restitution hearing will continue April 20.

Abed Hammoud, lead attorney for the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office, confirmed the latest developments following a ruling Friday by Wayne County Circuit Judge Gregory Dean Bill.

Neal Greenfield's $16,000 tab will bring to $32,000 the amount so far returned to the civic league, said Vic Barra, the new president. Police already had turned

New library director ready to start work

BY DARRELL CLEM

Chosen in a nationwide search to become the new Westland library director, Cheryl Napsha didn't mince words Thursday when asked whether she plans to accept the job.

"I'm on the way," she said. Napsha, 51, plans to start her new job May 1, leaving behind her position as library director in Bethel Park, Pa., near Pittsburgh. She confirmed her decision during a telephone interview.

Napsha seemed eager to start her $78,500-a-year job here, after the Westland Library Board voted 4-0 in mid-March to hire her. She easily beat her Thursday deadline for accepting.

Napsha has 20 years of library experience, including seven years as Bethel Park's director. She cited a few reasons why she was drawn to the Westland job.

"I like the area, and I think that Michigan is doing some interesting things in library service. There's an openness there," she said. "And I was really drawn to the staff. I think they'll be fun to work with."

With a $2.3 million budget and 46 employees, the Westland library is larger than the Bethel Park facility she oversees.

Still, Napsha said, "for a town that size, it's not a huge facility. But I'm not yet familiar enough with the area to see how it fits in."

If, indeed, library officials ever decide to expand the Westland facility, Napsha has had experience in such matters. She helped lead a renovation in Bethel Park.

Befitting a library director, Napsha described herself as an avid reader. She enjoys mysteries, legal thrillers, women's novels and biographies.

But, it's her experience and her responses during candidate interviews that won over the Church presents annual Easter pageant

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

The passion of Christ will come to life next weekend when Merriman Road Baptist Church presents its ninth annual Easter pageant.

The one-hour musical drama will be presented at 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday in the sanctuary of the church on Merriman south of Ford in Garden City.

Written by pastor Wayne Parker, the drama tells the story of Christ's crucifixion as seen through the eyes of Mary Magdalene and Salomé, who witnessed the crucifixion and was present at the tomb. It was performed six years ago and is back with new music and a different ending.

"The story hasn't changed, the ending has," said Parker. "This time there will be a heavy scene with Jesus sitting on the throne. Previously, it ended with his ascension into heaven."

More than 80 church members are involved in the production which features the church choir and drama ministry. In addition to those performing and singing, church members are doing the make-up, costuming and designing and building the sets.

The production is under the direction of John Rowe and Russ Weathers who inherited the job when the original director fell ill. According to Weathers, the changes in the production were decided by the previous director.

Those changes include a more dramatic depiction of the crucifixion.

"We reworked the hill so we can nail him on while laying down and then raise him up," said Parker. "It's pretty dramatic."

The production is somewhat of a family affair for members. Luann Englehart's son Haylee and son Ethan are playing children in the production while husband Clifford is one of the disciples.

"As a family, it's the first time we've done it," the Westland resident said. "It's nice for the kids to get to do something like this with their dad."

It's also a family affair for the Parkers. Wayne Parker is handling lighting for the production. His wife, Cindy, plays the role of an older Mary Magdalene, while daughter Autumn is the young Mary Magdalene and daughter Shannon is an Angel.

Son Caleb is Judas while son Evan is playing the role of Jesus.

"The difficult part is making it as real as I can for people without making it look corny," said Evan Parker.

A freshman at Wayne State University, Evan Parker had been in theatrical productions while at Garden City High School. He also appeared in the Easter pageant as a child and then helped with the lights and staging.

He said he was "kind of a shoe-in" for the role.

"They needed someone light enough to fit on the cross," he said.

To accommodate the production, the sanctuary has been transformed into a theatrical set. A house on one side of the stage is a scrim which depending on the lighting provides the setting for interior or exterior scenes.

Stairs have been painted to look like stones and lead the way to heaven and the throne. Below it, at center stage, is Christ's tomb.

"One thing that surprises me was the hours that are put in behind the scenes," said Weathers. "The set they used for years pretty much fell apart. This is pretty much all new."

Parker estimates the church members have been working on the production for six weeks. Friday was the first time that the choir and the cast came together for rehearsal.

The Easter pageant is free of charge and opened to the public.

"We typically fill the church, but never have had to turn anyone away," Parker said.

Question: Why doesn't the ocean say goodbye?
Answer: Because it prefers to wavel!
The library can certainly be a funny place. Between the nonfiction numbers 814 and 818 there are literally hundreds of jokes, wit and humor books.

Children seem to love riddles, the siller the better. There are many riddle and joke books for the elementary crowd. Some of them are on very specific topics, such as fish riddles, school riddles, creepy jokes, space jokes. The possibilities are endless.

Sometime around the age of five-six, knock-knock jokes become hilarious. Check out some of our knock-knock joke compilations.

If your tastes are more sophisticated, there are many selections for adults. The New Yorker magazine is known for its wit and humor writing. Check out Fierce Pajamas: An Anthology of Humor Writing from the New Yorker. Inside this book, you will find witty essays by authors such as Woody Allen, E.B. White and John Updike.

Books by authors such as Erma Bombeck, James Thurber and Andy Rooney will be found in this general area as well.

Many of the most well known comedians have written books on their observations of life or have compiled their anecdotes. These books can be found in the 818 section.

The Late Night with David Letterman Book of Top Ten Lists has all of the best of his wacky lists. There is another edition called David Letterman's Book of Top Ten Lists and Zesty Lo-Cal Chicken Recipes. Just the title should make you laugh!

Dave Barry's deadpan wit on love and marriage can be found in his many books such as Bad Habits or Dave Barry Is Not Taking This Sitting Down. He is always good for exposing the insanities of life.

Some of these authors are in our audio book section, too.

If you are looking for a joke to add to a speech, the library can help. Any speech can be enhanced by adding a joke or two. We have books specifically on wedding toasts, speeches and public speaking. In fact, one of our books on this subject is entitled 2400 Jokes to Brighten Your Speeches.

Although these books may seem hidden, a trip to the 800s will be well worth the effort and will surely make you smile.

Pull-out communities douse regional fire plan

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER

The concept of a regional fire department may have gone up in flames when four communities doused any chance by deciding this week to pull out of discussions.

Plymouth, Livonia and Northville Township representatives decided Monday to spend up to $15,000 each for a study by consultant Plante Moran on the regionalization of fire and EMS services.

However, Livonia's director of public safety, Pete Kunst, said while they want the feasibility study to identify potential cost savings, the city's involvement in regional talks ended when Plymouth Township announced it wasn't going to pay for the study, and opted out of further talks.

"If Plymouth Township is out of the conversation, then I don't see any reason to continue the discussion at this time," Kunst said. "If you look at the geography and the different borders, it really doesn't make sense to go in this direction if Plymouth Township isn't part of the discussion."

"It doesn't mean Livonia and Northville Township wouldn't have discussion on areas that might save money," he said. "It makes sense for us to talk to them."

Also opting out of talks were Canton Township and Westland, leaving only the city of Plymouth and Northville Township ready to move forward.

Plymouth Township Treasurer Ron Edwards said the Plymouth Community Fire Department has the lowest cost of any of the communities in the discussions, and he sees no need to spend $15,000 to tell him that.

Westland Fire Chief Mike Reddy said he's taken a look at a similar feasibility study conducted for Downriver communities and said it answers some questions, but leaves others unanswered.

"We weren't interested unless it could show a benefit in improved service without additional cost," Edwards said. "The other departments are operating at a higher cost than we are, so we would have to raise our costs to meet theirs."

"If they're not talking personnel reduction, then it's not worth talking about," he said. "There would have to be a combined cut of $6 million among all the departments to come down to our current rate per-resident. The idea is flawed all the way around."

Township Trustee Chuck Curmi didn't agree. "How do you know it's not possible if you don't investigate it?" Curmi said. "You don't know until you do the analysis. You can't make a decision without the data."

The news was disappointing to Plymouth Mayor Dan Dwyer, who has pushed ahead with fire department regionalization efforts ever since the City Commission made it the No. 1 goal for 2007.

"Regionalization is dead, I'd have to say," Dwyer said. "I still think it's the right thing, and down the road I think we will see it everywhere. But, at least I now know what option is out."

"Then we're going to look hard at public safety," said

Dwyer of a plan to cross-train police to also be firefighters. "If it's a cheaper price and a better product, we'll do it. If not, the next option will be to continue with the fire agreement with Plymouth Township."

The city of Plymouth has already negotiated a provision in the police contract that addresses the public safety concept.

Dwyer lamented it's the second time Plymouth Township has blocked the city's efforts to regionalize services.

"They blocked us when we tried to regionalize dispatch," said Dwyer. "It's frustrating, to say the least."

Westland Fire Chief Mike Reddy said he's taken a look at a similar feasibility study conducted for Downriver communities and said it answers some questions, but leaves others unanswered.

"We know the study doesn't get in-depth on how really to consolidate," Reddy said, "like how to deal with personnel and unions, and how four different communities would deal with contracts, pensions and insurance. The study doesn't address the real hurdles."

"I can't ask my residents to pay for a study that I've already done research on myself and know the issues," he said.

Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack made it known earlier that when it was time to "ask for the check" his community would opt out.

"We're hard-pressed to see any benefit for Canton residents," Yack said of regionalization. "We have the best of the best, and Canton residents have gotten used to it. What we've tried to do is be as efficient as we can, spreading our three fire stations in a way to create maximum coverage in the community. Our response times are real strong."

Showing off their completed expressionist artwork are Cameron Cramier, The Light of Blue, and Aubrianna Kolb, The Fireworks.

Ivy Davis has a baster to do her splatter painting in the style of Jackson Pollock.

Kindergartners paint like the grand masters

Kindergartners at Schweitzer Elementary School in Westland got up close and personal with a few famous artists, then tried their hand at creating their own masterpieces.

According to teacher Anne McKolay, the youngsters studied the work of Picasso, Leonardo DaVinci, Claude Monet, Vincent Van Gogh and Georgia O'Keeffe as well as Jackson Pollock, a leading abstract expressionist who used the method of splattering paint onto canvas.

The students used watercolor to paint flowers like O'Keeffe and did Van Gogh's Sunflower and Starry Night.

"They did 'action painting,' another name for Jackson Pollock is Action Jackson," McKolay said, adding that "the children splattered the paint using brushes, bottles, sticks, toothbrushes and a baster."

"The children used movement to make the design," she added.

DIRECTOR

Westland Library Board. One trustee, Daniel Bourdeau, pointed to Napsha's "proven record of work with libraries that have had varying levels of challenges."

Westland library watchers hope that Napsha will be a good fit with the board, the employees and the community. They have called for an end to turmoil that resulted in the firing of two previous directors within a two-year period.

Napsha indicated she will lead the Westland library but let her employees do their jobs.

When asked to describe her management style, she said, "I give them a lot of room to be creative. I just stand back and let them be wonderful. I try not to stand between them and greatness."

MHS offers Summer Tails day camps

It's back by popular demand. The Michigan Humane Society's Summer Tails Day Camp is returning for a second season with seven one-week sessions at its three animal care centers.

Summer Tails Day Camp is a week-long camp offering hands-on, interactive animal learning experience for children ages 7-13. The camps will meet 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday and offered the weeks of June 25, July 16 and July 23 at the Berman adoption center in Westland, the weeks of July 30 and Aug. 6 at the Detroit adoption center and the weeks of Aug. 20 and 27 at the Rochester Hills adoption center.

Summer Tails Day Camp is age-appropriate, with program materials suited to learning styles and maturity level. The program is open to "Junior Paw Pals" (children ages 7-8), "Paw Pals" (ages 9-11) and "Senior Paw Pals" (ages 12-13). "Summer Tails offers kids with a love for animals the opportunity to experience animal welfare first-hand," says Kimberly Korona, community humane initiatives coordinator at the Michigan Humane Society. "Kids are immersed in a week-long session of fun and educational activities teaching humane values toward animals and people."

To provide the optimal learning experience for each "Paw Pal," MHS has collaborated with other animal welfare organizations to expand and enhance knowledge of animal issues, humane training techniques and veterinary medicine.

Children will learn about ferrets from members of the Midwest Fellowship, and may even get a visit with one of the stars of the Animal Planet series, "ANIMAL COPS: DETROIT." And, of course, everyone will spend plenty of quality time with the animals at MHS.

"Respect and compassion for animals is a critical component of any well rounded educational program," added Korona. "Summer Tails makes learning a fun and interactive experience."

A scholarship program is available to ensure Summer Tails Day Camp is available for all children interested in attending. Registration and scholarship forms are available at all three MHS locations

-7401 Chrysler Dr. in Detroit; 3600 W. Auburn Road in Rochester Hills and 900 N. Newburgh in Westland.

For more information about Summer Tails Day Camp, visit the MHS Web site at www.michiganhumane.org, or contact Kimberly Korona at (248) 799-7400, Ext. 127 or by e-mail at kkorona@michiganhumane.org.

The Michigan Humane Society is a private, nonprofit organization which cares for more than 100,000 animals each year at its three metro Detroit adoption and veterinary centers.

Established in 1877, MHS is one of the oldest and largest animal welfare organizations in the country. For more information, call MHS at (866) MHUMANE.

over $16,000 seized during their criminal investigation, Barra said.

The civic league, on Wayne Road south of Ford, sponsors such events as bingo to support youth baseball, senior citizen programs and other community activities.

Barra, who became president after Neal Greenfield was ousted in 2004, had accepted the amount of restitution ordered for his predecessor. Neal Greenfield is supposed to pay $10,000 by Thursday and the remaining $6,000 in monthly increments of $500.

"I feel that the judge worked very hard with all parties concerned to come to this agreement," Barra said Friday. "We are satisfied that a fair amount of restitution was recommended in light of the financial circumstances that the defendants have found themselves in."

Judge Bill has said that Neal Greenfield is working to get his truck-driving license and that Shari Greenfield is employed as a restaurant/bar waitress.

Barra and others had been upset in February when Bill decided to place the Greenfields on probation for three years, rather than giving them time in jail. Bill had told the Observer his goal was to force the defendants to repay money.

Earlier, Hammoud had said he would seek restitution of more than $150,000, but he said new league officials and Neal Greenfield had accepted the $16,000 amount.

Moreover, the amount Shari Greenfield will have to repay hasn't been decided.

Bill also has ordered the Greenfields to perform 100 hours of community service and to avoid contacting the league. He also has warned them to find "legitimate employment" for at least 30 hours a week.

Bill also has threatened to place the Greenfields in prison if they violate their probation. They pleaded no contest to a charge that carries a possible five-year term behind bars.

Barra, meanwhile, said he has turned his focus to restoring the civic league's image. The state has allowed the organization to resume bingo.

"As interesting as it's all been, I need to remain focused on the future of the civic league. I'm relieved that the bulk of this situation is behind us now," Barra said.

He described bingo activities as drawing crowds.

"Bingo is going absolutely wonderful," he said. "The people are here, they're playing and they're having fun."

the first for Diroff and his Wayne Memorial students. The two men have been talking about a joint venture.

This one has worked out well, especially with Cramer's organizational experience, Diroff said.

"It's a nice way for the students to go on a trip and for the students to get exposure to their counterparts," he said. "Scott also has a lot of experience, especially the organizational aspect, that's been great. I've learned a lot."

Planning for the trip began in November 2005. They had to apply and send a recording to Disney to see if they would be accepted. According to the teachers, the trip was pretty much planned before it was mentioned to the students.

"We tested the waters by asking the kids if they'd liked to go to Disney World. Matt's kids were all over it," Cramer said.

Rehearsals began in early February. The students have been gathering at John Glenn for three hours twice a week, with each group rehearsing 1 1/2 hours.

They will take a break from rehearsing to perform the music in a concert at 7 p.m. Monday, April 2, at the Stockmeyer Auditorium on the Wayne Memorial High School campus in Wayne.

"It'll give parents who are not going down to see what their kids will be doing," Cramer said.

"They'll have a captive audience, it'll be a nice opportunity for them," Diroff said. "I'd love to see the auditorium packed."

The two teachers see the trip as a catalyst for other ventures, possibly an honors group that would meet after school and perform music they might not get to do.

The students will leave by bus for Florida after school April 17, and both teachers admit that there are plenty of people who need thanking for helping make it possible.

"It's taken more than us," Diroff said. "Everyone played a part in this. We're just getting on the bus and going."

"We're just a small part of this," he added.

Senior Alliance honors employee for service

The Senior Alliance, Area Agency on Aging 1-C, recently honored long-time employee Georgia Bradford who has retired after 23 years with the agency.

Bradford was the guest of honor at a retirement celebration held at the Woodlands of Van Buren.

During her years as a TSA Program Specialist, she was able to act as an advocate for many aging individuals.

She provided seniors with information about Medicare, health insurance and senior transportation and also worked as a good-will activist within her community. The Romulus resident demonstrated outstanding benevolence while she worked as the President of her church's Mission Society, providing assistance to the sick and homebound.

"The Senior Alliance has been truly lucky and very blessed to have such dedicated and accomplished employees like Mrs. Bradford," said TSA's Executive Director Bob Brown.

Third-grader Jenna Salyer gives the clues to her character, Dolly Madison, during Grant Elementary School's wax museum.

Grant's wax show 'better than a party'

When Grant Elementary opens a wax museum, everybody comes.

Dolly Madison was there along with a couple other first ladies, three Harry Houdinis, Abe Lincoln, Grandma Moses and Chief Pontiac.

On Tuesday, third-graders depicted these famous Americans and dressed the part. "Some of them went all out," said teacher Ann Jenkins.

Visitors, from parents to classmates in other grades, got three clues and three guesses.

Jake McDowell found a mustache and big white wig at a party store to portray "one of the greatest mathematicians."

As Albert Einstein, McDowell knew that E=MC squared. As a third-grader, it took him just a second to answer that six times four is 24.

Travis Cote was the third president, Thomas Jefferson. He also invented the dumb waiter.

"I couldn't think of anything else," Cote said, explaining why he noted that second accomplishment. "Everybody's saying they didn't know that, so that's good."

Sean O'Connell, who wore fingerless gloves and a shirt emblazoned with logos, replenished between sessions by squirting water from an orange sports bottle — just like the real Lance Armstrong.

Thomas Hartwig was Harry Houdini.

"One of my most famous tricks is when I was locked in a box and lowered into the Detroit River," the third-grader said, with his hands cuffed in another Houdini, said the wax museum was "better than a party."

Third-grader Eric Estes,

"I like pretending that we're famous," he said.

Rally supports anti-bullying bill

State Senator Glenn Anderson — a longtime proponent to fight bullying in schools — joined Gov. Jennifer Granholm and hundreds of parents, educators, and children who united Thursday at the Capitol to support Matt's Safe School Law.

The legislation is intended to help stem the social torment known to cause poor school performance and depression and even force some children to drop out of school.

"Bullying affects real kids in a real way," said Anderson, D-Westland, who also represents Garden City, Livonia and Redford.

The bill has passed the House and now moves to the Senate, where Anderson is sponsoring a Senate version of the bill. He also had proposed such a bill as a former state representative.

"As adults and lawmakers, we have a duty to do everything we can to help kids succeed, and that begins with making school a safe place to learn and grow," Anderson said.

Under Matt's Safe School Law, schools would be required to implement a bullying policy that defines bullying and puts in place a policy that outlines the consequences of such behavior.

This year's version of the bill also extends the policy to Internet bullying — for instance, harassment done over instant messaging on school property or similar activity with the use of a school-sponsored Internet service provider.

"Intimidation and fear have no place in our schools. No child in Michigan should have to be the victim of a schoolyard bully, and no child should have their learning disrupted by an unruly child," Granholm said in a press release. "To give our children the world-class education they need, we need to make sure all schools are safe and that is why I support tough, anti-bullying legislation like Matt's Safe School Law."

In a radio interview earlier in the day, Anderson stressed the school performance issues associated with bullying. He explained that, while children hear from adults that they must do well academically to succeed, they often experience substantial harassment from their peers as a result of that success.

Granholm, state Rep. Pam Byrnes, D-Lyndon Township, and Sean Kosofsky, Triangle Foundation director of policy, also spoke Thursday. The Michigan Safe Schools Coalition hosted the event.

RAYNAUD'S PHENOMENON

This term refers to a condition of the hands, and at times the feet. In Raynaud's, your hands are unusually sensitive to the cold; that sensitivity shows itself in episodes in which one or more of your fingers (or toes) turns white, then blue, and lastly deep red.

These changes parallel what is happening in the blood vessels surrounding the fingers. Initially, cold exposure causes spasm of the small blood vessels; the vessels shut down and blood ceases to flow to the digits affected. This lack of blood supply causes the finger to look white. Blueness occurs because the blood remaining in the fingers becomes desaturated of oxygen causing the finger to look blue. Finally, the spasm ends, the blood vessel opens up and blood flows to the finger at an accelerated rate; this change brings a red color to the finger.

Usually, Raynaud's is a nuisance. If spasm of the blood vessel lasts long enough or occurs frequently, it is possible that the affected finger will develop a skin ulcer or even gangrene. As a result of these possibilities, Raynauds needs treatment. That therapy may be as simple as wearing gloves even in mild exposure to cold. If Raynauds worsens, then use of medication to keep blood vessels open is in order.

Certain rheumatologic conditions can cause Raynauds. These conditions are scleroderma, systemic lupus erythematosus, and rheumatoid arthritis. Your doctor will screen for them. If present, then treatment for the Raynauds would include therapy for the underlying rheumatic disease.

No load funds are a better investment

Dear Rick: My adviser told me that if you hold a mutual fund long term, generally over five years, that there is very little difference between a load and no-load fund. Do you agree? Jessica

Dear Jessica:
First, let me explain what a load is. The load refers to the commission that you pay to purchase a mutual fund. For example, in a mutual fund that has an 8 percent load, if you invest $10,000, $850 right off the top goes to the salesperson while the remaining $9,150 goes into the investment. If you go into a true no-load fund, like the funds I recommend, and invest $10,000, the entire $10,000 goes to work for you. Therefore, when your salesperson tells you that over the long run there is no difference between load and no-load fund, he/she is not telling you the truth. All things being equal, in a no-

Money Matters

load fund you have more money invested will mean more money ends up in your pocket. When you look at the independent studies they all reach the same conclusion - the average commission-free fund (no load) out performs the average commission fund (load) even if you do not take the commissions into effect. When I've spoken to commission-based financial advisers, who sell commission-based mutual funds, they generally state that the commission is how they are compensated and that they are entitled to a fair compensation for the services performed. I have no problem with a professionals being compensated for professional services. My problem is when it comes to mutual funds, commissions and sales incentives are generally undisclosed. A professional should have no problem discussing their fees. I'm always suspicious when fees are undisclosed. On the whole, I do not favor commissions in the financial world. They create a conflict of interest. The best commissioned salespeople I know never worry about commissions, they worry about taking care of their clients. However, there are too many commissioned salespeople that are only concerned with the commissions and the sales incentives, such as free trips. That is why in the great majority of cases, I recommend that investors invest commission-free.

Dear Rick: I have just turned 60 and it has been recommended I purchase a long-term care policy. Do you recommend these types of policies?
Barry
Dear Barry: In the past, I had been very much opposed to long-term care policies and the reason had nothing to do with the need for these types of policies but rather that it was very difficult to collect on these types of policies. The insurance companies made it difficult to file a claim and that is why I generally did not recommend these types of policies. In today's world, because of government intervention, these policies have gotten better, however, the adage of "let the buyer beware" still applies. In all too many cases it is still very difficult to collect on these policies. If someone purchases a long-term care policy, the most important thing to examine in a company is how it pays claims. All too often, people will receive competitive bids on long-term care and purchase the cheapest policy. The least expensive policy isn't necessarily the best policy because many companies make it very difficult to collect. Just like with any other type of insurance, I believe long-term care insurance should be needs-based. Unfortunately, long-term care insurance is not purchased, it is sold. Too many seniors purchase a policy when they don't need it. Before purchasing this type of policy, do independent research on long-term care policies in general. One source is AARP which has some very good information regarding long-term care policies on their Web site, www.aarp.org. The first issue is to determine is need. Don't believe what the salespeople tell you that everyone is going to end up in a nursing home and everyone will lose all their money. This is not the case. If it were, the insurance industry would never offer this type of policy. The great majority of people don't end up in nursing homes and do not lose all their money. The question you should ask yourself before purchasing long-term care is if you are unable to care for yourself, do you have the resources to protect yourself? If not, long-term care is an alternative. However, as I mentioned earlier, take your time, do your homework. Shop around, receive a number of independent bids and then decide what policy fits your situation.

PLAID will study economic impact of segregation to area

BY SCOTT HEINZMAN

We all know times are tough economically for southeast Michigan. The domestic auto industry is in decline. Our region needs to attract the types of businesses which will be viable for the foreseeable future.

PLAID formed in 1992 to promote the importance of diversity. Our mission statement reads — PLAID (People of Livonia Addressing Issues of Diversity) is a group of people who believe in actively promoting the acceptance of all people because a community's diversity is a strength.

This is particularly relevant, as our area must compete with other metropolitan regions to recruit high-tech businesses. They seek cosmopolitan centers, places where workers they may recruit from anywhere on the planet will feel comfortable. Greater Detroit is generally not considered cosmopolitan.

Our reputation as the most segregated urban center in America is counterproductive to business attraction. Metro Detroit is not high on most professionals' list of cool places to live. This is a disadvantage.

PLAID is dedicating itself in 2007 to study the extent to which segregation impacts our region economically. We intend to share our findings in the near future.

We invite any person or group to share any resources viewed as useful to this undertaking. Specifically, we look for counsel from the business, academic, faith-based and social justice communities. Also, we look to engage interested citizens in whatever capacity they wish to contribute.

It is also our hope to build good relationships as this project unfolds. We hope to see barriers based upon racial divisions, ethnic ignorance and accompanying negative stereotypes further dissolve.

Progress has been made, but we still have a long way to go. The longer we remain segregated, the longer we put off the kinds of regional cooperation necessary to revitalize our region.

The expansion of Cobo Convention Center underscores the big picture. Area leaders such as Robert Ficano, Kwame Kilpatrick, L. Brooks Patterson, the Ilitch family and many others acknowledge the regional importance of Cobo.

Similarly, the condition of our core city has everything to do with our regional well-being. Neither Livonia, Dearborn, Sterling Heights, Rochester, Trenton or any other suburb has the capacity to create a thriving downtown.

Only Detroit has the concentration of office buildings, museums, stadiums, universities, and other attractions necessary for a thriving, dynamic, attractive cosmopolitan urban center. We only hurt ourselves if we continue to isolate ourselves using Telegraph Road and Eight Mile as attitudinal boundaries.

Such attitudes are certainly a two-way street. Many people in the suburbs are afraid to go into Detroit. Many people of color fear going into the suburbs. What do Americans of varied descent have to fear from each other?

Ironically, Livonia is comparable to Detroit 40 years ago. It is almost completely developed with no way to expand borders. Both municipalities are challenged to attract new businesses while redeveloping vacated property.

Self-integration and candid, respectful dialogue among people from differing cultures will encourage understanding and inevitably, trust. Denial and defensiveness do not foster constructive relationships.

It is not fictitious to say European-Americans and African-Americans have been sufficiently separated as to have evolved into separate cultures. Each culture identifies with its own people, distrusting the other culture.

The history of humankind is filled with clan mentality. As cultures clash, there is territorialism, which can breed oppression and violence. Often, one culture is dominant wielding either political and/or economic power.

Clan mentality tends to reward its own, whether it is just or not; yet, history teaches us those who expand inclusiveness realize greater peace and prosperity.

As we ponder our economic vitality, we would serve ourselves by addressing the racial divide. "Those" people on the opposite side of attitudinal boundaries are also our people. They are fellow Americans. They are our brothers and sisters in spirit.

If we are to compete at a global level, we must value regional cooperation over whatever forces divide us.

PLAID strives to encourage cooperative approaches.

Anyone wishing to help is invited to contribute as they see fit. We seek information, expert speakers, written materials, films, presentations or anything else which helps us better understand how segregation affects us economically.

PLAID meets the first Monday of the month at the Livonia Civic Center Library. Scott Heinzman is co-chair of PLAID and can be reached at (734) 462-2423 or at sheinzman@twm1.rr.com.

Condemning Islamic terrorism is not attack on Arabs, Muslims

BY PAOLO MOTTA

I am writing in response to the March 18 Sunday Perspectives column titled, "Hateful rhetoric won't help ease tensions in Middle East." In the column, Terry Ahwal characterizes vocal condemnation of Islamic terrorism as hateful and ignorant. Her perspective is troubling on many counts.

First, Ms. Ahwal seems to ignore or trivialize the atrocious acts committed by terrorists acting in the name of Islam. Here's an abbreviated list: 1993 World Trade Center Bombing (six killed); 1998 bombings of the U.S. Embassies in Kenya and Tanzania (224 killed); bombing of the U.S.S. Cole (17 killed); Sept. 11, 2001, attack on the World Trade Center (almost 3,000 killed); October 2002 bombing of a Bali nightclub (over 200 killed); March 2004 bombings in Spain (191 killed); July 2005 London bombings (53 killed). A complete list includes many more acts with many more deaths and injuries. The perpetrators of all of these incidents claimed to be acting in the name of Islam. Accurately identifying our enemy is not hateful; it is a necessary step in defending ourselves.

Second, Ms. Ahwal equates the condemnation of Islamic terrorism as an attack on all Muslims and Arabs. This is a gross mischaracterization. None of the persons identified in her article — Thomas Friedman, Glenn Beck, or the president — claims that all Muslims or all Arabs are terrorists. Living in southeast Michigan, we live and work among the largest population of Muslims and Arabs in the U.S. We recognize them as our co-workers, neighbors and friends and as hard-working, peaceful people. Accurately identifying and fighting radical Islamists committing acts of terror is no more an indictment against all Muslims than identifying and prosecuting teachers who molest children is an indictment against all teachers. Assuming all Muslims or Arabs are terrorists is wrong. Failing to accurately identify our enemies as radical Islamists for the mistaken belief that we are offending all Muslims is dangerous.

One of the most disheartening aspects of the war on Islamic radicals has been the reluctance of peaceful Muslims to strongly denounce the violence of Islamic terrorists. It is this reluctance on the part of moderate Muslims that causes many people to question whether Islam itself is to blame for the terrorist threat. Ms. Ahwal only compounds this problem when she criticizes the president or Thomas Friedman rather than those who are committing the violence. Has Ms. Ahwal written any columns denouncing Islamic terrorists for killing innocent civilians, including fellow Muslims?

Third, it is not hateful to defend ourselves against a threat to our existence. We are facing an enemy who wishes to kill us and destroy our way of life. The Islamic terrorists attack all whom they consider to be "infidels" and seek to eradicate any society that is not governed by Sharia law. Let's be clear. These are radicals who plan unprovoked attacks on thousands of civilians, issue death warrants for authors of books and cartoons, and behead journalists. It would be irresponsible for our government not to actively defend our country against those who wish to destroy us. In the years following the first World Trade Center bombing, we ignored the growing threat of Islamic terror. As a consequence, thousands of innocent Americans were murdered.

Ms. Ahwal's comments obfuscate the real issues that must be addressed in the war on terror. We must not be covered into refusing to identify and fight our enemy for fear of being labeled anti-Muslim or anti-Arab. It is not hate or ignorance that is motivating our war against Islamic terrorists; it is self-defense. Moderate Muslims in Afghanistan and Iraq, those who have most closely seen the danger of Islamic radicals, have joined us in the war against Islamic terror. Until moderate Muslims across the globe are willing to join in the fight against those who commit violence in the name of Islam, people of all religions and cultures will remain vulnerable to the threat of Islamic terror.

Rather than listen to those who would attack our resolve to defend ourselves with mistaken claims of hate and ignorance, we would be better served by remembering the response by Hamid Karzai, president of Afghanistan, to a reporter in a September 2006 press conference at The White House:

"(Terrorism was hurting us way before Iraq or September 11th. The President (Bush) mentioned some examples of it. These extremist forces were killing people in Afghanistan and around for years closing schools, burning mosques, killing children uprooting vineyards, with vine trees, grapes hanging on them, forcing populations to poverty and misery. They came to America on September 11th, but they were attacking you before September 11th in other parts of the world. We are a witness in Afghanistan to what they are and how they can hurt. You are a witness in New York. Do you forget people jumping off the 80th floor or 70th floor when the planes hit them? Can you imagine what will be for a man or a woman to jump off that high? Who did that? And where are they now? And how do we fight them, how do we get rid of them, other than going after them? Should we wait for them to come and kill us again? That's why we need more action around the world, in Afghanistan and elsewhere, to get them defeated — extremism, their allies, terrorists and the like."

Clerk, sheriff create one-stop office for permits

Wayne County Clerk Cathy M. Garrett and Wayne County Sheriff Warren C. Evans are collaborating to offer county residents a one-stop office to obtain a permit to carry concealed weapon.

Instead of going to downtown Detroit to apply, they will be able to visit the Clerk's "one-stop-shop" at the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol office in Westland, 3100 Henry Ruff Road, to apply for a concealed weapons permit.

The new service is part of the Garrett's new satellite office at the Sheriff's western Wayne County headquarters.

In addition, a step has been eliminated for all citizens who visit the Clerk's downtown office to apply for a CCW license. In the past, they had to apply in the downtown office and travel to the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol office in Westland to be fingerprinted. Those citizens now will be able to process their application in a one-stop visit by having their fingerprinting conducted at the downtown location when they initially apply for the permit.

The Clerk's Office has purchased a state-of-the-art fingerprinting machine and the staff will receive specialized training from the Sheriff's Office.

"I'm always assessing ways to more conveniently serve the citizens of Wayne County," stated Clerk Garrett. "I'm pleased that two Wayne County government offices are working together to improve services for our citizens."

Applicants applying for CCW permits at the Clerk's downtown location will only have to make one trip because their CCW permit, if approved, will be mailed to them. In the past, they had to make a second trip to personally pick up the CCW permit.

Improvements in technology have reduced the previous on-average fingerprinting processing time from five weeks to one week. In the very near future, applicants will be able to go online to WayneCountyClerk.com to track the status of their application in real time.

Wayne County issues approximately 4,500 CCW permits each year.

"We have done a great deal in the past two years to reduce the wait for law abiding citizens to receive a CCW permit and this one-stop shop is the final piece of the puzzle," Sheriff Evans said. "Now citizens will be able to apply for and receive their permits in as convenient and expedient a manner as possible."

The Clerk's Western Wayne Satellite Office also will be staffed to provide a number of the most requested Clerk services, including: Assumed Names; Birth/Death Certificates; Marriage Licenses; Passports and Notary Public.

Churchill gets inside track for '07 season

Stevenson girls not far behind

See capsule outlook of area girls track teams B5

PREVIEW

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Call it the carry-over effect.

Livonia Churchill's success last fall in girls cross country (runner-up in the state) and during the winter in volleyball (Class A state champs) will more than likely rub off again this spring on its girls track and field squad.

Frey

The Chargers are defending Western Lakes Activities

Association and Division I regional champions with 12 members returning that have earned either first-, second- or third-team All-Observer honors.

Two pivotal members of the state championship volleyball team, Kyndra Abron and Lauren Krupsky, lead a talented cast that will be tough to beat.

Abron, a junior, placed eighth in the Division I state in the shot put and won the WLAA title with a throw of 39 feet, 5 inches. She was also discus champion in the WLAA with a heave of 118-11.

Krupsky, a senior, took seventh in the state in the discus with a throw of 120 feet. She also threw a season-best 36-7.5 in the shot put.

Churchill also has plenty of depth in the sprints and distance events despite the losses of first-team All-Area picks Lache Wilkins and Kylen Cieslak.

"We lost some excellent athletes to graduation, but we are still a veteran driven team," fourth-year coach Keith McDonald said. "Our varsity athletes have experience in big meets. We're hoping this will pay dividends again for us this season."

Regional runner-up Stevenson also has formidable again despite the loss of stand-out 800-meter runner Lisa Arrowsmith, who took fourth in the Division I state meet (2:16.75).

Senior Kristen Frey earned first-team All-Area honors in the 1,600 (5:04.9) and led the Spartans last year with a team-high 152.5 points.

Third-place regional finisher Livonia Franklin is coming off its best season ever under seventh-year coach Dave Bjorklund, who lost All-Area high jumper Alyssa Supplee to graduation. Four-year senior thrower Robyn Whalen leads the returnees.

New Westland John Glenn coach Alan McGowan, who takes over for Carmella Turrentine, boasts one of the area's top sprinters in junior Ashley Parker, who went 25.6 last spring to earn first-team All-Area accolades.

Rival Wayne Memorial, meanwhile, hopes to be improved and avoid the cellar in the WLAA. Livonia Ladywood also has a new coach in Lori Brauer, who takes over for Marcus Colonna. The Blazers took fourth in last year's Catholic League A-B Division meet and added a third at the Division II regional.

In the Metro Conference, Lutheran High Westland, led by sprinter Lauren Schewecke, looks to improve upon its runner-up finish along with a third place showing at the Division IV regional.

Fellow conference member Livonia Clarenceville, will try and improve on its fifth-place showing in last year's Metro meet.

Sprinter Mandi Coppola returns for Livonia Churchill, which will defend its Western Lakes Activities Association and Division I regional titles.

SIDELINES

All-State bowlers

Livonia Clarenceville senior Danielle Fecso recently earned second-team All-State honors in Division 2 by the Michigan Interscholastic Bowling Coaches Association.

Fecso

Fecso averaged 193 over 60 games and held the girls high average in the Wayne-

Oakland Bowling Conference, along with the high two-game series (459).

The Division 2 state quarterfinalist and first-team All-Conference pick plans to bowl collegiately and study journalism.

Wayne Memorial senior Trey Reynes, who helped the Zebras to the Division 1 team semifinals, earned third-team All-State honors. Reynes averaged 222 in league play and 238 in tournaments, including two-game sets of 562 and 567, along with a 761 three-game set.

MU loses pair

One day after scoring 23 runs in a wild win, Madonna University could not even score once in a doubleheader loss to visiting Indiana Tech, dropping 7-0 and 2-0 decisions.

In game one of the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference twinbill, Pete Pignatello scattered three hits, did not walk a batter and struck out 12 as he completely baffled Madonna hitters.

Collecting two of those hits, including a double, was Madonna freshman catcher Zach Flavin, whose fifth-inning single broke up Pignatello's perfect game-bid. The other MU safety was tallied by freshman outfielder Rikco Rhoades.

Meanwhile, Indiana Tech (14-6-1, 2-0) scored three runs in the third against MU starting pitcher Eric Wendling and it was more than enough offense.

In the second game, it was Josh Judy's time to blank the Crusaders. He gave up just four hits and walked two, while fanning 10. Judy outdueled Madonna senior pitcher Josh Regits, who took a tough loss (7 innings, 4 hits, 1 earned run, 12 strikeouts). Both Indiana Tech runs came in the fourth. Senior shortstop Kyle Fedorka, senior outfielder Manny Alvarado (Southfield), senior third baseman Gary VanAllen and Rhoades each registered a hit.

With the double defeat, Madonna fell to 11-9 overall and 0-2 in the WHAC.

Chargers on Fox

FoxSportsNet Detroit will air a replay of the state Class A girls championship volleyball match held March 17 at University Arena in Kalamazoo between Livonia Churchill and North Branch beginning at noon Sunday, April 8. Additional airings of the match will be determined (consult your local listings).

Patriots win opener for new coach

BY TIM SMITH
STAFF WRITER

PREP BASEBALL

Livonia Franklin made more big defensive plays than host Garden City on Friday and the Patriots came away with a 6-4 season-opening victory.

The Patriots scored four runs in the top of the first, two coming in on a double by senior second baseman Matt Mills, and never trailed - although the Cougars had several scoring opportunities they failed to cash in on.

"We had a bad first inning," said Garden City head coach Steve Herman. "If we make them earn it they don't score four runs. They had a couple nice hits, though."

Cougars senior starting pitcher Brett Lackey turned it around after the rough start, and gave his team a chance to bounce back.

Finishing strong with three scoreless innings was senior Matt Fitzgibbon, who allowed just one hit and struck out five Pats.

"Pitching will make or break us," Herman continued. "But we only had one bad inning. Lackey settled down and Fitz pitched very well for the last three innings. This is a learning game for us."

Kicking off the opening rally for the Patriots was left fielder Tyler Canyock, who singled. Lackey walked two and a run came in on a fielder's choice, setting the table for Mills who made it 3-0 with his drive.

"We were kind of joking with him that might be the hardest-hit ball he's had in his four years at the school," said Franklin first-year head coach Matt Fournier, opening with a victory. "But it was key, we got three just like that when it looked like we might only get one."

Trailing 4-0, however, Garden City showed some mettle. Senior catcher Josh Hudson (1-for-2, two walks, three RBI) delivered a bases-loaded single to center to score Brendon Gnida and Lackey, who both walked against Franklin starter Jesse Carpenter.

But Carpenter, who pitched four innings for the victory, managed to escape without further trouble as an indecisive Garden City baserunner got hung up between second and third.

The Michigan High School Athletic Association is bracing for a long-awaited decision as early as Monday in its ongoing court case against Communities for Equity.

The Grand Rapids-based group, which filed a class-action lawsuit nine years ago, claims girls sports are discriminated against because of the scheduling of seasons, most notably basketball (in the fall) and volleyball (in the winter).

A review of lower court rulings of the case was on the docket and discussed Friday by the U.S. Supreme Court, which could announce as early as April 2 whether to hear the case or not.

In 2001, a federal district judge in Kalamazoo ruled that the seasons discriminated against girls on three grounds, including the U.S. Constitution under Title IX provisions.

The MHSAA has appealed in various stages to both the 6th Circuit of Appeals in Cincinnati along with the U.S. Supreme Court.

If the Supreme Court decides to hear the case, it's likely it will delay any change of the MHSAA sports calendar for the 2007-08 season.

The MHSAA, however, has alerted its member schools that it has devised a contingency plan to flip-flop seasons if rebuffed in its most recent appeal. The change in seasons may affect as many as 120,000 high school athletes.

The revised seasons for girls includes moving volleyball to the fall; basketball to the winter; tennis to the spring; and golf to the fall.

The boys seasons that will change includes tennis to the fall and golf to the spring.

The case originated from a lawsuit filed in 1998 by Jay Roberts-Eveland and Diane Madsen, mothers of two area female athletes citing the MHSAA's seasons, contrary to the rest of the country, limits chances for winning athletic scholarships.

The MHSAA counters that different athletic seasons for boys and girls maximizes participation opportunities.

The Dynamic Boxing Club of Westland came away with two victories March 16 in an amateur card held in Sarnia, Ontario. Josh Ivezaj (right) captured the 105-pound weight class when he stopped Ryan Rogers of Sarnia in the first round. Teammate Adam Graham (left) won a unanimous decision over Mike Mayers of Sarnia in an exciting bout. Dynamic's Sean Sedgeman (not pictured) lost on a split decision to James Moore of Sarnia.

Churchill girls stellar in 3-2 win vs. Pioneer

Livonia Churchill got an early season confidence boost Friday with a 3-2 girls soccer victory at Ann Arbor Pioneer.

The Chargers, coming off a scoreless deadlock in Wednesday's opener against Northville, upped their record to 1-0-1 overall as Bailey Brandon had a goal and assist.

Churchill's Alisha Lussiez opened the scoring midway through the first half on an assist from Brandon before Pioneer (1-1-1) answered with goal to make it 1-1.

The Chargers went into halftime leading 2-1 on Brandon's goal from Julianne Puroll with 16 minutes to play.

Hannah Otto's unassisted goal five minutes into the second half gave Churchill a two-goal cushion before Pioneer cut the deficit to one with 25 minutes to go.

"It was a good overall team effort," said Churchill coach Dave Hebestreit. "I thought Andrea Lopez and Lindsey Marlow did a nice job in the back, while Alisha (Lussiez) and Bailey (Brandon) controlled the midfield."

"We carried the play, but did not get behind them much at all. Things got a little chaotic at the end on both sides, but we played through the adversity. It was a good win."

Stefanie Turner made four saves for the Chargers.

WAYNE 3, CLARENCEVILLE 1: Captain Samantha Dye and Chrissy Jones each tallied a goal and assist Friday as host Wayne Memorial (1-0) opened its season with non-conference win over Livonia Clarenceville (1-1).

Clarenceville's Amanda Moody scored on a penalty kick in the first half to give the Trojans a 1-0, but Whitney Jacobs answered with a goal to make it 1-1.

Dye scored the go-ahead goal midway through the second half and Jones added an insurance goal with four minutes remaining to give rookie coach Evan Baker his first win as the Zebras' varsity coach.

Elizabeth Hardy also had an assist in the victory, while Baker also praised the play of junior captain Danielle Borg, who was a stand-out defensively.

Clarenceville goalkeeper Chelsea Gregg made nine saves in the loss, while Nickole Jarvis went all the way in goal for the Zebras.

NOVI 4, STEVENSON 0: The Two-time defending Division I state champion Wildcats got two goals apiece from Stephanie Crawford and Katie Chaklos in a non-league win Friday over host Livonia Stevenson (1-2-1).

"Novi's definitely the best team we've seen," Stevenson coach Chris Pinta said. "They're packed with talent and there's a reason they're two-time defending state champs."

Crawford scored the game-winner at the 14-minute mark of the first half when she slipped behind Spartan defender Jamie Chandler and slipped a one-timer into the corner.

"I thought Jamie did well against Crawford," Pinta said. "She's one of the best forwards in the state, and very tough to stop."

"Our goal was to try and get to half ahead or tie, and we almost got there. Unfortunately a player like Crawford only needs one chance. None-the-less, I was happy with our half"

Rachel Simari played most of the night in goal for Stevenson.

FOLEY 7, LADYWOOD 2: In a Catholic League game played Thursday, visiting Madison Heights Bishop Foley rolled the victory over Livonia Ladywood and spoil the debut of rookie coach Brent Petkus.

Kaitlyn Vitale scored both goals for the Blazers (0-1).

CHURCHILL 0, NORTHVILLE 0: The defense stood out Wednesday as host Livonia Churchill (0-0-1) battled the Mustangs (1-0-1) to a scoreless draw.

"I thought we dominated the first half, we hit the post at the 25-minute mark and had a couple of other good chances that were cleared off the end line," Churchill coach Dave Hebestreit said. "Northville came at us the second half, but no real clear-cut chances. The team played well and I'm happy with the play and the result."

Hebestreit singled out the play of his backline defense led by Andrea Lopez, Jessica Stroud, Lindsey Marlow and Tessa Allen, along with the play of outside-midfielders Alyssa Mira and Kayla Johnson.

Churchill goalkeeper Stefanie Turner made a pair of saves, while Northville's Liz Watza stopped nine shots.

STEVENSON 3, FRANKLIN 0: Livonia Stevenson (1-1-1) tallied a pair of first-half goals Wednesday to beat visiting Livonia Franklin (1-1).

"It was an ugly game," Franklin coach Chris Pinta said. "Franklin packed the numbers back to make it difficult to score on them, and it worked to an extent."

"In the second half, Franklin opened it up a bit in terms of formation, which allowed us to create some more opportunities. We just struggled to finish. I thought they (Franklin) did a solid job pressuring us and frustrating our forwards and midfielders."

The Spartans got on the board at the 10-minute mark on Victoria Slavin's left-footed drive.

Ten minutes later, Rachel Stevens made it 2-0 off a deflection from Kat Griffith's header off a corner kick.

The Spartans added an insurance goal midway through the second half when Kaitlyn O'Hara whipped a ball into the box and off a Patriot defender and into the net.

Slavin was then taken down in the box, but Franklin keeper Erica Pepper, a standout all night, stopped Taleen Mergian's penalty shot.

"On the whole, I'm satisfied with the way we played," Franklin coach Jen Barker said. "It's still early in the season, and we have a few things to fine-tune, but I think we had a good showing. Erica did a great job of helping to keep us in the game. We had major contributions from everyone in trying to keep our game organized and find our times to attack."

CLARENCEVILLE 8, SUMMIT NORTH 2: Trevor Johnson wasted little time in notching his first victory as varsity coach Wednesday as host Livonia Clarenceville (1-0) got a pair of hat tricks from Amanda Moody and Kristen Jolly in a non-conference win over Romulus Summit North Academy (0-1).

"It's always good to get that first win, but we'll see in the next two games if we're real," said Johnson, who took over the program in only its second varsity season from Jake O'Brien.

Chelsea Gregg, who started in goal before giving way to Amber Cummin, also scored along with teammate Nour Saad for the Trojans, who led 6-0 at halftime.

Amber Powell tallied both goals for Summit North.

Twice is nice: Franklin sweeps Novi in doubleheader

Livonia Franklin scored three times in the top of the seventh inning of the second game Friday to complete a doubleheader sweep of host Novi in non-league girls softball action.

After winning the first game, 7-1, the Patriots rallied for a 3-1 victory in the nightcap as freshman pitcher Alecia Geraghty scattered eight hits and a walk to pick up the win.

Franklin improves to 3-1 overall.

With one out, Kelsey Garbutt reached base on an infield error followed by Geraghty's single of the game. Nicole Emery's single brought home Garbutt with the game-winning run and Brittany Taylor's sacrifice fly scored the ninth-grader with the go-ahead run. Allison Bonsall then singled home Emery.

Novi senior pitcher Brittany Luka allowed seven hits, walked two and struck out one over seven innings.

In the opener, sophomore hurler Natalie Sanborn improved to 2-0 as she allowed just four hits and one walk over seven innings. She fanned three.

Offensively, Brittany Taylor led the Patriots going 3-for-4 with two RBI. Heather Jaroh added two hits and two RBI, while Sanborn helped her own cause with an RBI single.

Luka, who went six innings before giving way to reliever Paige Hogan, took the loss for Wildcats (0-2), managed by former Livonia Ladywood coach Bob Lulek.

LATHRUP 11, CLARENCEVILLE 1: In a non-conference matchup Friday, host Livonia Clarenceville (0-2) managed just one hit in a setback to Southfield-Lathrup.

Senior Jenna Mrljak reached base twice and collected the only hit for the Trojans, a bunt single.

Brittany Foxhall went 2-for-4 with a double, two RBI and three runs scored for the Chargers. Martina Hooke added two hits and an RBI.

Winning pitcher Destiney Finch went all seven innings, striking out 17 of the 29 batters she faced. Finch walked six.

Lathrup led 1-0 after three innings, but scored three times in the fourth to break the game open thanks to three consecutive Clarenceville errors. The Chargers added four in the fifth, one in the six and two more in the seventh.

Losing pitcher Abby Sochacki allowed 10 hits, struck out eight and walked only two in seven innings.

"Abby's stat line does not look good to the reader, but she had tremendous improvement compared to the last game," Clarenceville coach Joe DeCaire said. "She threw strikes and did what I asked her to do."

STEVENSON 16, DEARBORN 2: Janice Hollandsworth went 3-for-5, including a homer and triple, to propel Livonia Stevenson (1-0) to a season-opening victory Thursday over the host Pioneers.

The Spartans collected 18 hits in the five-inning mercy. Laura Deacon went 3-for-3 with a triple and three RBI, while Kathleen Hoehn belted a 3-run homer to spark an 11-run fourth inning.

Winning pitcher Jamie Johnson worked the first three innings, allowing two earned runs on three hits and two walks. She struck out six. Deacon finished up, fanning four and walking two in two innings of work.

FRANKLIN 3-2, A.A. HURON 2-11: In a non-league season opener Wednesday, visiting Livonia Franklin (1-1) and Ann Arbor Huron (1-1) divided a twinbill.

Franklin took the opener, 3-2, as winning pitcher Natalie Sanborn allowed three hits and three walks in outdueling Huron starter Andi Martin.

Brittany Taylor, who led off the game with a first-pitch homer over the 220-foot mark, collected three hits and two RBI for the Patriots. Briauna Taylor and Sanborn added two hits apiece. Briauna also had two stolen bases.

Huron took the nightcap, 11-2, as winning pitcher Kristy Arbour gave up just two hits.

Lindsey White and Martin each collected three hits, while Rebecca Friedman and Arbour added two apiece.

Franklin starter Alecia Geraghty took the loss. She was relieved by junior Meghan Schemanske. The pair gave up a total of six walks and seven hits. The Patriots committed three errors.

Briauna Taylor had an RBI single, while Sanborn knocked in the other run.

Blazers' coach Holland eyes improvement

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Livonia Ladywood's lacrosse program remains a work in progress, but second-year coach Julie Holland says brighter days are ahead.

Holland became the team's coach two weeks after the 2006 season had already started. She literally hit the ground running as the Blazers wound up a respectable 7-8 overall.

"I expect this season to go smoother for us," Holland said. "I saw a lot of last year as a transition season, with a new coach joining a few weeks into the season with a different style of coaching."

The Blazers lost first-team All-Stater Chelsea Nugent to graduation. Also gone are Paige Ryan, Meghann Swiderek and Danielle Greco.

Among the leading returnees are senior attackers Holly Brake and Lauren Anastos.

"Holly (Brake) loves to play, and she works hard every second she's out there," Holland said. "She reads the game well.

"Lauren (Anastos) makes a coach's job a lot easier. She's like Todd Bertuzzi - she gets the ball and takes it to the net. Creating scoring chances means scoring goals. She has that drive and desire that you cannot teach a player."

Also back is center Rachel Killian and midfielder Kathryn Lorenz - both seniors.

"Rachel (Killian) was outstanding last year, maybe not getting the recognition she deserved playing behind our star center Paige Ryan," Holland said. "But she'll be very strong for us."

Meanwhile, Sarah Tarrant and Caitlin Cox will anchor the defensive wing positions.

"Both are highly skills and will both be leaders for our new, young defensemen," Holland said.

Junior center and midfielder Ellen Gwozdek, a standout on last year's JV squad, and defender Kelly Lorenz (Kathryn's sister), are among the promising newcomers.

"We have 14 seniors on the team this year," Holland said. "Some have played for four years, some have played a little less, but they bring with them experience.

"We have a lot of girls this year that want to give it their all, knowing this may be the last time they pick up a lacrosse stick. Their fundamentals are great, we need to work on putting it all together. Making sure they are in the right place at the right time, looking for passes and being support.

"I can see the desire to win, the desire to play hard, but it will be my job to bring that out in them on the field. I have high expectations for the season.

And despite a season-opening 9-1 loss to Ann Arbor Pioneer, the Ladywood coach remains optimistic.

"We're still trying to find our place among the sea of other high school girls lacrosse teams," she said, "and it's a goal of ours to turn it into more of a program."

"I played on the first (Farmington Hills) Mercy team when we were a good team in Division B - But, now they rival the rest of the teams in the state. I would like to see Ladywood grow to that level of competition, but that takes hard work. We had girls begin attending camp and play indoor for the first time. The off-season training is so important."

Area boys track teams return talent

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

All the stars aligned last year for the Livonia Stevenson boys track and field squad. The Spartans enjoyed one of their most productive seasons in school history by winning the Western Lakes Activities Association meet and the Division I regional title.

Fourth-year coach Scott Shaw also had the fastest 400-meter relay team in the state going 42.76 and breaking the school record of 43.5 (set in 1974).

All four members of that 400 and first-team All-Observer 800 relay team - Nana Adomako, Pat Clagens, Kevin Murawski and Brian Chandler - have either graduated or departed.

But Shaw's team is far from being gutted as first-team All-Observer pick Matt Rzepka, a senior, returns in the 1,600 run where he clocked an impressive 4:21.84, good enough for sixth place in the Division I state meet.

Rzepka also posted a stellar time with an area best 1:57.73.

And Shaw has two of the area's top field event performers in the White brothers - Mitchell, a high jumper who has already cleared 6 feet, 8 inches indoors, and Myles, who soared 21-2 in the long jump last spring.

"It won't be as easy this year, Shaw said. "It's going to be more of a challenge. We have some young guys, but we'll see how they'll develop."

It may be more of a challenge because of longtime rival and fellow Lakes Division member Livonia Churchill.

The Chargers were the Lakes dual meet champions, and finished second at both the regional and Observerland Relays.

Coach Rick Austin, now in his 12th season, may have the team to beat as he returns a slew of talent despite the graduation losses of first-team All-Observer picks Ryan Santa (pole vault) and Timothy Howse (3,200 run).

First-team All-Area selection David St. Amant placed eighth in the 400 at the state meet with a time of 50.21 after winning the WLAA title in 49.8. Teammate Brandon Grysko, a sophomore, set a school-record in the 1,600 with a seventh-place finish in the Division I state meet (4:21.96).

Churchill's first-team All-Area 1,600 relay team of St. Amant, Andrew LaBerge, Billy Gutowski and Jacob McDonald also remains intact after posting a sixth place finish in Division I (3:24.19).

"We come into the season with many outstanding veterans who are hungry and have the desire to win a WLAA conference championship," Austin said. "They will have to out-compete several quality teams in the area to do that. Depth and leadership in all of the events will help us."

Livonia Franklin, 4-2 in dual meets last year, will get a boost from 13-foot pole vaulter

Mike Sylvester, a senior.

Westland John Glenn, meanwhile, could break into the upper echelon of the WLAA thanks to the return of sprinter Larry Dawkins and discus state qualifier Bryan Henley.

Wayne Memorial fourth-year coach Lee Grizzell has additional numbers (35) and could have one of the area's best sprint teams led by Casey Wolfe, Kevin Lewis, Antwain Calloway and the Freeman brothers, Alan and David.

In the Metro Conference, Lutheran High Westland will miss first-team All-Area pick Paul Rosin (300 hurdles), but will be favored to repeat its title thanks to the return of sophomore distance runner Spencer Lyle.

Livonia Clarenceville, third overall in the Metro, may have its best team under sixth-year coach Dean Bergeron, who returns senior sprinter John Stewart, who placed in last year's Division III state meet with a time of 22.6.

BOYS TRACK CAPSULE OUTLOOK

LIVONIA CHURCHILL

Head coach: Rick Austin, 12th year.
League affiliation: Western Lakes Activities Association (Lakes Division).
Last year's finish: second (Division I regional); fourth (WLAA meet); Lakes Division champs.

Notable losses to graduation: Ryan Santa (first-team All-Area pole vault); Timothy Howse (first-team All-Area 3,200); Chuck Elstone.

Promising newcomers: Mike Birney, Jr., throws; Bernard Mincey, Soph., sprints; Nate Coleman, Fr., throws; Mike Beasley, Fr., middle distance; Robert Freed, Jr., distance; Sean McAuliffe, Fr., throws.
Houstoulakis' 2007 outlook: "Our senior class is very small in numbers compared to the junior, sophomore and freshman classes. Although we may be filling varsity spots with underclassmen, we feel we have quality students with a lot of athletic potential. We really feel this team will improve a ton as the season goes on because they work hard every day."

"Mike Kratochiv and Evan Sirena are coming off good cross country seasons and are primed to improve this track season. "Mike Sylvester had a great year in the pole vault (13 feet) and intends to improve upon his accomplishments. "We have lots of competition happening with our sprints because we graduate most of our sprinters with the exception of Cole Kelly. We feel we definitely have some speed in the younger classes to compete and field a competitive sprints team with Brandon Straub, Israel Woolfork, Bernard Mincey and Darell Myree to name a few. We have big and athletic throws this year so we're hoping that can translate into distance for them, but we are young in that department with the exception of senior Mike Wood."

"Rzepka, Gibbons, York and McIntyre will lead our middle distance and distance teams. The White brothers had a good indoor season. "Our people in the throws need to do a little better, but they're coming along."

Grizzell's 2007 outlook: "We have around

35 kids out this year. It's a good number, the most we've had since I've been there.

"I'd say we're pretty deep in the sprints, 400 on down. I think we'll be really good in the 400, 800 and 1,600 relays, we have a lot of depth. We took third in the conference in the 1,600 relay with four freshmen, and we have Kevin Lewis back last year from injury, which should help. "We have a lot of new guys, getting them used to handoffs in relays, and get some of the young kids into jumping events. If we can convert some of those kids into the high jump and long jump, we can have a successful season. "We have a really good sophomore class. We lost two to transfers."

Bergeron's 2007 outlook: "We have about 47 out right now, but it's a smaller number than the last two years. We lost some guys to academic ineligibility. "We hope to compete for a Metro Conference championship. We need to develop hurdlers, high jumpers and depth in the distance events."

"Joe (LaBate) should compete for a conference championship in the 800. Parent took sixth last year in the 3,200 at the conference and should be up there this year. They also have a chance to qualify for state as individuals."

"We're expecting big things from Stewart this season."

"He's a state qualifier. He placed last year in the Division III meet in the 200. Page has a chance in the long jump and shot put. I would also like to think we could qualify a relay."

"One positive we have this year is coach (Ralph) Temby full-time, along with (assistants) Darryl Stewart and Anthony Salicicchio."

Bjorklund's 2007 outlook: "We are coming off our most successful season ever with four state qualifiers. Losing Judy and Supplee to graduation is a lot of points, especially in the big meets. "However, Whalen, Wilson and Lynett can still score some big wins for us and are in excellent shape. Whalen placed in the indoor state finals (sixth) and took first at the Wolverine Invitational. "We should improve a lot in the distance events this season, as Saarela had an outstanding cross country season and worked hard this winter, along with the rest of the team. "We also have some new talent in the 400

We had a huge loss of talent from graduation last year and I'm counting on my veterans to fill their shoes in their respective events and make a name for themselves. "I'm also very excited to see some of our new additions to the team this year who will fill some of the voids. Obviously, our main goal again this season is to be as competitive as we can, stay healthy, and have a sound presence at the regional, conference and state meet levels."

McGowan's 2007 outlook: "We are returning a large portion of our team. Our main nucleus of sprinters return from last year. Ashley Parker and Chanel Payne lead a very talented group of sprinters. We missed the state meet in both the sprint relays - 400 by 3-tenths of a second; the 800 by 0.9 - and we return everyone on both relays. "The girls have been working hard and are determined to make it this year. I have a lot of expectations for this group of girls. They are talented enough to score a lot of points at meets. We are finally building some depth to the program and we're able to field three top-caliber girls in almost every meet. I'm very excited to get the season going."

We have a group of young women who are working hard in practice every day. "The team members have been producing very good times in their time trials so far. Gustafson's 2007 outlook: "After coming off a successful season last year based on the strength of our senior sprinters, our team flip-flops and will rely on our middle distance runners to carry the load. We have a very young team with a great deal of potential and heart. "I expect our team to get better each week and continue to make steady climbs throughout the season as our younger athletes become acclimated to the varsity arena. PATRIOTS the second. Garrett Gumm singled and took third on a double to left-center by Canyock. Gumm came in on a fielder's choice.

Garden City sliced the deficit to 5-3 in the third, on a bases-loaded walk by Hudson. Singles by Lackey (1-for-2, two walks) and junior shortstop Hagan Risner (2-for-4) set up the tally.

But the Patriots benefited from three Garden City errors in the fourth to make it 6-3.

Other than an RBI-single to left by junior leftfielder Paul Cole in the fifth, off Franklin sophomore reliever Michael Basner, that was all the scoring in the non-league matchup.

One reason was stellar defense by the Patriots. The best of the lot were diving grabs by Dave Leins and Anthony Andrus at third and in center, respectively.

"The kid who started in center (Andrus) made two very good catches for us," said Fournier.

In the third, Andrus grabbed a fly ball and threw a strike to catcher Frank Pencola to nail Lackey at the plate.

Also turning in an outstanding grab in the outfield was Carpenter, who moved from the mound to center in the fifth.

Carpenter flagged down Lackey's extra-base bid in the seventh, which opened with a walk issued to Gnida. Had Lackey's drive found the gap, the Cougars could have been on their way to a game-winning rally.

Both coaches admitted first game's aren't always indicative of trends. They did see some positive signs, however.

Hudson said it was good to see the top five batters in the lineup all swing the bat extremely well against Franklin. "But we need consistency from top to bottom."

According to Fournier, whose Patriots exacted some revenge Friday against the team that knocked them out of the 2006 districts, the victory was a "team effort."

Along with the top-notch defense, the coach was glad to see the good performances from Carpenter and Basner, pitchers the team will be "leaning on heavily this year," Fournier said. "They're going to log innings for us."

C'ville shines in baseball opener

Livonia Clarenceville's baseball team already has topped the nightmarish 2006 season.

The Trojans, who went winless a year ago, opened their 2007 campaign Wednesday at home with an 11-1 mercy-rule win in six innings over Romulus Summit North Academy.

Winning pitcher Allen Mazur allowed just one hit and one walk over six innings. He struck out five.

Mazur also helped his own cause at the plate, going 2-for-3 with three RBI. Teammate Brad Schwartz was the offensive catalyst going 3-for-4 with four RBI.

WAVNE 13, WILLOW RUN 3: Mike Green and Jamie Harris were the hitting stars Wednesday as host Wayne Memorial (1-0) opened the season with a five-inning mercy-rule victory over the Flyers (0-1).

Green went 2-for-4 with a double and three RBI, while Jamie Harris went 2-for-3 with a double and two RBI.

The Zebras broke it open with six runs on six walks and a double by Harris.

Sophomore Jon Bryant stole three bases for the Zebras and pitched the final two innings in relief, allowing no runs on no hits with a walk and three strikeouts.

Starter Ryan Collop went the first three innings, allowing one hit and three walks with two earned runs. He struck out seven.

Playing role part of growing up

I have a question regarding my son's "thug" persona. He is a 12-year-old boy who has lived in the suburbs for his whole life yet he listens to urban music and tries to act like he is in a gangster rap video. He uses slang terms that he doesn't even seem to know the meaning of and he spends long periods of time staring into the mirror practicing his "thug looks." At first I just laughed this off as a phase, but now I'm growing concerned that his idolization of these gangster rappers is a bad omen for the future. Don't get me wrong, he is a good kid and his grades are high and he never really gets into trouble at home or at school. I guess this is where my confusion comes in, why does he idolize these rough characters so much? And should I be worried that he will follow them down the wrong path?

Your son sounds like a good kid who is trying on a new role in life. It is completely normal for kids to try on new personalities and roles as they get older. This part of the process is known as individuation and identity formation. In short, this is the life stage in which your son is developing his identity and differentiating himself from his parents. It can be a confusing time for parents as they watch their offspring take on odd characteristics, hairstyles, clothing, musical choices, etc. But this process is an essential component of adolescent development.

Even your son's current role of choice is normal. It is not uncommon for quiet, well behaved kids to suddenly try on the role of a tough, loud rule breaker. They want to know what it feels like to act in a way that is so completely opposite of their usual selves. That can be very attractive. And right now, rap is a very popular form of music that provides a wide variety of role models for our children. Unfortunately, some of the most charismatic and attractive role models are those that are the most unsettling for parents ... the hard-core gangsters whose attractiveness is firmly entrenched in their anti-establishment and parent-frightening qualities. This is not a new trend and is not usually an omen of a criminal future. If you remember back to your own adolescence, you may find that the preferred role models were something less than wholesome. (Anyone remember James Dean, Elvis, Alice Cooper, punk rock...?)

To be on the safe side, here are some basic warning signs to watch out for ... If your son loses interest in other aspects of his life such as school, activities, or hobbies; if he starts hanging out with new friends that are in trouble often; if anger and aggressive behaviors increase dramatically; and if he begins taking on a negative world view that reflects glorification of violence, crime, or drugs.

But your son's present "thuggish-ness" is probably part of a normal process and not the start of a lifelong career path. To be sure, talk to him about his music, clothing, and personality choices. Listen to the reasons that he provides and you may be surprised ... and relieved.

As an expecting mother, I have so many questions about what is best for my baby. I read books, visit Web sites, talk to friends and relatives, and bug my doctor. However, sometimes, this ends up causing me so much confusion. I mean, one source will tell me one thing and another will say to never do that. Usually, my husband and I can sort it out, but there is one area that we are still struggling with. We do not know if we should breast feed or use formula. What do you think?

Let me start off by admitting that I myself have never breast fed a baby and my experience is based solely on using a bottle ... filled with breast milk for my first born and formula for my second. In each case, my wife and I considered all of the options and circumstances and then made the best decision for us at that time. This is the process that I recommend to you. Medical professionals seem to agree that breast milk is a more natural and physically healthy option and therefore the most commonly recommended. On the other hand, other factors such as mother's work schedule, child care, and milk-producing abilities, need to be considered. As such, the best option seems to be to use breast milk if you have the time, ability, and desire to do so. However, this is not to say that formula is an unhealthy selection. For any of the reasons listed above, the use of formula may be the more appropriate choice. In the end, the decision is yours. Remember to consider all of the options carefully and do not feel that this is a life-or-death decision. As long as your child is fed healthy foods in appropriate amounts, you cannot really come up with a wrong selection.

Real love

Livonia couple rescues coonhound and vice versa

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN

Bob and Mary Anne Heinrich thought after retiring two years ago they'd be free to take trips on the spur of the moment. The Livonia couple still plans to travel only now they're thinking of purchasing an RV to take Cody along with them.

The Heinrichs never dreamed of owning a dog let alone him becoming a member of the family. Then Cody was found wandering the back roads of Spring Arbor outside of Jackson.

Bob is allergic to dogs and now takes medication daily to relieve the symptoms he's suffered since the couple adopted Cody. The abandoned Red Tick coonhound definitely changed their lives. The Heinrichs say Cody rescued them as much as they did him. They can't imagine life without him.

"Our daughter, Amy, is a social worker and into animal rescue and was on the Internet one day and checks Petfinder.com regularly. She saw a message from a woman who had found this hound dog, all skin and bones and walking on three legs," said Bob Heinrich. "My daughter picked him up and took him to Last Chance Rescue (a no-kill shelter) in Howell where they realized he had a problem with his leg."

'SWEETEST DOG'

Cody has hip dysplasia and required surgery in January 2006 so Amy asked her parents if they could care for him during the recuperation period. Mary Anne had fractured a hip the year before so she sympathized with Cody.

"He was just the sweetest dog," said Heinrich. "We returned him to the shelter, but they weren't successful in finding him a home so my wife took him every weekend to fairs to try to adopt him."

When Cody needed a second surgery on his hip in August 2006, once again he returned to live with the Heinrichs. Then in October Mary Anne convinced Bob that the dog needed training to make him more adoptable. Bob agreed the three of them should go to obedience school, but first he set some ground rules to follow during the three months Cody would live with them.

"We had an agreement that he wouldn't sleep in our bedroom," said Heinrich. "He'd already wormed his way into my wife's heart and was getting close to mine."

Before long, Cody was sleeping alongside them in his own bed. By Christmas,

Local fans go all out to attend Super Bowl of wrestling

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN

Ordinarily, Rachael Leck wouldn't go out of her way to watch wrestling, but her first trip to the Super Bowl of the sport has turned into an event.

The Westland mother is not only taking sons Benjamin, 11, Zachary, 9, and their cousin, Larry Allen, 12, to WrestleMania 23, but the four of them will join more than a dozen other friends for the festivities.

This is the first time in 20 years that WrestleMania has come to Detroit. Today, April 1, more than 70,000 fans will gather at Ford Field.

Leck recently called to confirm her reservations at the Holiday Inn downtown and learned there are no vacancies at hotels all over town.

"We made reservations at Christmas," said Rachel Leck, a single mom. "We're making kind of a big deal out of it. We're excited. Santa brought the tickets as presents."

"The kids are excited. It's all they've been talking about. They've posted it on their MySpace page and have an official countdown going." Benjamin and Zachary know every wrestler by name and each has his favorite. Benjamin set his clock so he could wake up to hear an interview with John Cena on the radio Monday morning. Zachary's favorite is the Undertaker even though the younger boy finds him frightening. Zachary has asked his mother if he could sit next to her in case the Undertaker decides to stand next to him when the lights go out and come back on again as they usually do. The Undertaker likes to make grand entrances. "Even though I'm not that crazy about wrestling I'm looking forward to seeing my kids so excited," said Leck. "It's over the top, hitting people with chairs, breaking tables with people. "My sons' goal is to be on TV. They've told their friends and family to look for them." Last weekend, Leck and her sons spent hours creating posters to carry in with them Saturday evening. "We arrive at the hotel

Saturday morning and stay Saturday and Sunday. We'll let the kids swim and hang out," said Leck. "WrestleMania starts at 7 p.m. on Sunday so we'll go early to see if they can get autographs. "They're especially looking forward to the Battle of the Billionaires. They're having a showdown between Donald Trump and Vince McMahon, WWE (World Wrestling Entertainment) chairman. One will have their head shaved if their wrestler loses." lchomin@hometownlife.com | (734) 953-2145

Passover holiday to begin Monday at sundown

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN STAFF WRITER

Ask Martha Gordon what she likes best about Passover and the Livonia woman will tell you "it's the joy of the holiday."

Gordon doesn't mind the work that goes into preparing for the observance that commemorates the liberation of the Jewish people from slavery in Egypt. Prior to the beginning of the holiday at sundown on Monday, April 2, Gordon had to remove the everyday dishes, utensils and pans from her cupboards and replace them with items used only for the holiday feast known as seder. She also spent time shopping for special Passover foods such as matzah which symbolizes the unleavened bread the Jews took with them. In their haste to leave Egypt, the bread dough did not have time to rise.

This year, the seder traditional meal occurs in Jewish homes on the first two nights, April 2-3 (Reform movement members the first and last days only).

'VERY FESTIVE'

"It's very festive, a festive dinner, singing," said Gordon, who'll be joined by her son Mitchell and friends. "Seder means order and we read from the Haggadah which tells you actually how the story goes. It's supposed to be explained so that every child understands how God led Moses out of the land of Egypt to freedom. One matzah is hidden during the reading of the story for a child to find."

Gordon says it's very important to retell the story of Passover. The feast symbolizes events that occurred during the Exodus from Egypt in about 1280 B.C.E. (Before the Common Era). Moses, the leader of the Jewish people in Egypt, had asked Pharaoh to let his people go before a series of 10 plagues descended a.m. Monday-Tuesday, April 9-10. The April 10 service includes a Yizkor memorial for anyone who has lost family.

Roberta Malkowski has been celebrating Passover her entire life and looks forward to the seder she'll share with husband Craig and sons Andrew, 16 and Bret, 21, on April 2. On the second night they'll gather with a Jewish family in Bloomfield Hills for a seder.

Malkowski is president of Congregation Bet Chaverim, a Reform Jewish congregation in Canton. On the third night she'll have seder with the families led by Rabbi Peter Gluck. On Sunday, April 1, the children, ages 5-13, will hold a seder to learn the retelling of the story of Passover. For more information about the congregation which meets regularly for Friday evening services and Jewish holidays, call (248) 231-6280.

"Passover has always been my favorite Jewish holiday. I think that's true for a lot of Jewish people," said Malkowski, 52, of Northville. "The seder is very hands-on. You learn a lot, get to taste different foods of the holiday. It's a fun holiday to participate in. Children and adults look forward to it. It's an interactive holiday. When I was growing up in New York, we invited people who weren't Jewish to take part. Different families do different things. I've told the story of Passover at a Methodist church.

Recently, David Sigmon, director of our religious school, spoke about Passover at the United Methodist Church of Manchester.

"The entire event is very symbolic. It requires a lot of preparation. You have to remove leavened products from the house. You can't eat on regular plates and have to pay attention to dietary rules for the holiday."

on the Egyptians. Pharaoh refused. The final plague took the lives of all first-born males in Egypt prompting Pharaoh to allow the Jews to leave.

"Matzah is called the bread of affliction. We don't eat anything with leavening in it," said Gordon, a retired pediatric registered nurse. "The traditional seder plate has a shank bone, a reminder of the lamb that was sacrificed, horseradish for a bitter herb to symbolize the bitterness that we suffered as slaves in Egypt. Charoset is a mixture made from cinnamon, apple and nuts. The consistency of it makes it look like the mortar used to make bricks as slaves. A vegetable (celery or parsnip) and a hard boiled egg symbolize spring and the rebirth."

OBSERVANCE

Although Congregation Beit Kodesh is too small to hold a seder (feast), Gordon plans to attend services at the Conservative synagogue during the Passover holiday that runs through sundown Tuesday, April 10. The congregation does have a mock seder for children 9:30 a.m. Sunday, April 1 at the synagogue in Livonia. For more information, call (248) 477-8974.

Synagogue services are scheduled 9 a.m. Tuesday-Wednesday, April 3-4, 7:30 a.m. Sunday, April 8, and 9

Bob knew there was no separating Cody and Mary Anne. He called Last Chance Rescue and had the adoption papers drawn up. On Christmas, Bob tied the papers and a ribbon around Cody's neck.

THIRD HIP SURGERY

But the story doesn't end there. In January, the couple with the big hearts noticed Cody's other leg was giving him problems. On Feb. 7, Dr. Kyle Kerstetter performed surgery on the coonhound at Michigan Veterinary Specialists in Southfield. Kerstetter said he was planning a hip replacement, but there was "very little bone left" for support so instead did a different procedure, a femoral head and neck osteotomy, to relieve the pain. He expects recovery to take up to six months for the dog who's thought to be around 2 years old. Kerstetter praises the Heinrichs for the commitment to their faithful friend.

In addition to spending $3,500 for the surgery, the couple initially paid $500 for X-rays to diagnose the problem.

On Friday, Cody begins hydrotherapy at a veterinary hospital in Union Lake. The three will make the long trip three times a week for the next month. The Heinrichs are not concerned about the $500 cost for therapy, but for Cody who gets car sick. But then they knew before adopting Cody that he had problems such as chronic ear infections.

THE RESCUERS

The Heinrichs have followed in daughter Amy's footsteps when it comes to rescuing animals. Neither Amy or her sister Jill, 32, were able to have a dog as kids due to allergies inherited from their father. After Amy adopted her first dog while a student at Michigan State University, she began going to shelters to rescue dogs.

Today, Amy continues to rescue dogs from her home in Grass Lake. The 29-year-old woman helps her boyfriend find homes for pit bulls.

"She was playing musical shelters," said Heinrich. "There's a 30-day rule if dogs don't find a home they are euthanized. Amy would pick them up from one shelter and take them to another, and then she found Last Chance Rescue with its no-kill policy."

"Sometimes she would ask us to take a dog for a weekend if she had too many," added Mary Anne Heinrich.

These days, Cody is the only dog romping around the Heinrichs' back yard and barking at a squirrel up on the wires overhead. During the day, Bob says Cody charges through the pain. Come evening the dog will start to limp. That's when tender loving care becomes somewhat heavy. Cody weighs 55 pounds.

"By nighttime we have to end up carrying him upstairs," said Mary Anne.

As long as the three of them are together nothing else seems to matter. Bob, a 62-year-old retired banker, and Mary Anne, a retired Oakwood Hospital oncology nurse, spend all of their days together with Cody.

"There's something about knowing some entity needs you," said Heinrich. "It's so rewarding for us."

Mary Anne says Cody is a calming influence. When her 87-year-old mother moved in with them after Mary Anne's father died, Cody wove his way into the elderly woman's heart as well.

Mary Anne smiles as she looks out onto their back yard and talks about caring for her mother and Cody.

"God bless my husband," said Mary Anne. "His back yard was his pride and joy."

Now little patches of brown grass remind the Heinrichs of their love for Cody.

"We've gotten more out of it than what we've given," said Heinrich. "When we adopted Cody, it was her dog. Now he's our dog."

Network's new Web site hopes to match pet owners with in-home caretakers

With more and more caring pet owners looking to in-home care when they leave a pet behind to go on vacation or just have to work long hours, the business of pet sitting is growing rapidly in the southeast Michigan area.

Seventeen charter businesses recently joined together in the southeast Michigan area to form the Michigan Pet Sitters and Dog Walkers Association, a network aimed at encompassing the entire state of Michigan.

The network is designed to connect pet owners with local professional pet sitters and dog walkers, with a Web site — www.michiganpetsitters.com — set up to help pet owners to find a local pet sitter. The Web site also offers guidelines and suggestions for choosing the right pet sitter.

"The organization is dedicated to the promotion of professional pet sitting by insured and bonded professionals," said owner Roberta Cubbin of Wayne, who also is co-owner of Comfy Creatures, a pet-sitting and dog-walking company serving primarily the Plymouth-Canton area. "It provides business-related support to all members, builds an awareness of the pet sitting industry to our community and supports local pet-related charities."

According to Cubbin, in-home pet sitting provides a unique alternative to boarding facilities — or relying on family or neighbors to check on pets. Pet sitters come to the home daily and animals are able to keep their regular routines of feeding, walks, medication and one-on-one care and attention.

"Our owners report their pets experience less stress and adjust better to their owner's absence when they can remain in their normal environment," Cubbin said.

Most pet sitters also offer the bonus of home security measures by bringing in mail and newspapers, rotating lighted areas, opening and closing draperies and other touches that make the house appear occupied while the other is away. Many pet sitters also offer daily dog walking service for busy professionals who have to long work days. "Many dogs need and enjoy the mid-day visit to socialize and exercise," Cubbin said. "The dog-walking service is especially helpful for puppies and elderly pets that may not be able to wait the whole work day to get outside to relieve themselves."

The demand for these professionals is due to the fact that today's pet owners consider their "fur children" part of the family and are taking better care of them than ever. Cubbin pointed out a 1999 survey of pet owners in which the American

Animal Hospital Association determined 87 percent of pet owners include their pet in holiday celebrations, 94 percent have photos of their pets on display and 84 percent refer to themselves as their pet's "Mom" or "Dad." America's first professional pet sitters, she said, began their businesses more than 20 years ago. Today's pet sitters are knowledgeable professionals who visit approximately 10 million homes annually.

DELMYRNA (DEL) K. (SIMPSON) MOORE

Born February 2, 1937, in Greybull, Wyoming, she had a two year older brother, Russell. Her father, William A. Simpson, was the first Big Horn County Welfare Director, and her mother, the former Margaret Draper, was a homemaker. Just prior to Del going into school, her mother got an infection and in a relatively short time was paralyzed from neck down except for limited use of one arm and hand, but not fingers. Del began to do the cooking and cleaning and washing for the family from kindergarten through high school and on college vacations. Her mother became a reporter for the Greybull Standard, and other regional newspapers for decades. Everybody in the area called Margaret with the news, and she reported it to the world. Her body wasn't working, but she had a good mind and an intelligent one. Del sang and entertained the town folks, then in college she was on traveling show teams singing and dancing all over Wyoming. In 1958 she was invited to accompany a Fred Warring Show Group that toured Europe entertaining the troops and she sang at the 1958 World's Fair in Brussels. She graduated as a grade school teacher and began to teach in Cheyenne, the capital city. She met her husband, George W. Moore III, from Ohio, when they were in a play together, became engaged, and married in August 1961. He became a CPA, they decided to go to law school. He became a Tax Lawyer/CPA and practiced in Ashtabula, Ohio and Kalamazoo, MI and then Bloomfield Hills, MI. They had three children, George W. Moore IV, Brian P. Moore, and Heather M. Moore, all college graduates. George IV, lives in Hilton Head, is a Comedian, and also manages upscale restaurants in southeastern USA, Brian, lives in Boston area, is a Computer Scientist, for major world wide computer company, and Heather, lives in Chicago area, was a star salesperson for Meade, before marriage. Del was a homemaker and sewed most of the children's clothes and some of her own, until all the children were in school. Then she and another lady started an automotive industry visitors helper company, sold it out, and then Del was part of a group that moved GM International offices from NYC to Detroit. She got a real estate license, and went into sales, became a broker, and assistant office manager of the Birmingham office of Schweitzer Real Estate, a large local firm. She and George got into Rotary, PTO, Scouts, their church's "Christmas Hand in Hand" pageant, and they hosted several Rotary youth exchange students from Europe and Heather was also a youth exchange student who studied in Europe. Del and George got into First Theatre Guild at their church, then Village Players, an independent group with their own facility, in Birmingham. Del was in many musical comedies and she was President in 1990-91. For several years she was a member of a four person stage show with a banjo band, called the "Gartersnappers", that entertained in the Detroit area. She was state Treasurer of Alpha Delta Kappa, a teaching honorary. Del and George started traveling in the middle '80s to Europe to see Heather and the other former exchange students and their families. George became a Rotary District Governor in the middle '90s and they began a stint of going to 14 Rotary International Conventions everywhere in the world. George got involved in providing almost 2,000 Rotary water wells for India and they went there for several weeks. They have met a lot of wonderful people, both in and out of Rotary. As a past officer of Rotary, George and Del went to Zone training sessions all over Canada, and the Midwest USA, and even drove to Alaska one year. Del also stayed as an active alumnae of her college sorority, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and she recently became President of the Birmingham/Bloomfield Panhellenic Council. Del also belonged to the Birmingham Republican Woman's Club, and has done singing programs for them. Del and George have been in a duplicate bridge group for decades. In recent years Del has taken up quilting and recently did all the quilts for the VP play called "Quilters". Del recently entered the Michigan State Fair Quilting show and her quilts and quilted jackets both won first prizes and other prizes too. Del recently said she wanted to slow down a little and enjoy their six grand children more. She loved to visit and play with them, cook for them, sew for them, and she was a very welcome grandmother. Del died accidentally and unexpectedly on March 20, 2007. Del was many things to many people, and only they will truly know the extent to which she touched their lives and helped them on their way. We all miss her smiling face and bubbly personality.

Rescue shelter recommends adopting, not buying bunnies

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
STAFF WRITER

Dominique Moroz is hoping parents don't go out on a whim and buy a live bunny for their child this Easter when 90 abandoned rabbits are waiting to be adopted from Midwest Rabbit Rescue and Rehome in Old Village in Plymouth.

She says the sad part is most commercially sold rabbits will not survive long enough for parents to turn them into the shelter once the family tires of the long ears. Moroz estimates 80-percent die within the first two weeks leaving behind plenty of broken hearted kids.

"They're taken from their mothers at about 3 weeks and their digestive system require mother's milk 8 weeks, 6 weeks minimum," said Dominique Moroz, adoption coordinator. "They're not born with the bacteria to digest their food."

"I'd like to encourage people to look to rescue and to be informed about the pet that they're going to bring into the home. Rabbits do make a wonderful pet, a family pet, but it's important to have them evaluated for temperament and health. They have as varied a nature as cats and dogs. One of the differences though is that rabbits are a prey animal so they tend to be a bit more quiet and don't come to commands until they know and trust you."

The no-kill shelter specializes in matching the right rabbit to a family or individual. Currently there are about 15 bunnies under the age of four months, many under one year, and adults. The males are neutered at three months, females spayed at six months to make them easier to litter train. Since rabbits sleep during the day and are active morning and evening, they fit well into family life and are not uncomfortable being confined.

"If they come to the shelter they'll be seeing many types and breeds," said Moroz. "A family might want to adopt an older rabbit because they have a life span of about 10 years. A 12-year-old might want to adopt a 5-year-old rabbit, because they'll be going off to college. Another good reason to come and visit the rescue is so many people may be allergic to the rabbits or the hay."

Midwest Rabbit Rescue offers a foster program for those uncertain about adopting.

"For a month we lend you a cage, give you the hay and as much support as we can," said Moroz. "Rabbits main food is hay. They should not eat seeds because they can gum up their insides."

Moroz and the shelter's volunteers provide prospective owners with a wealth of information on caring for domestic rabbits. Founded about two years ago, the nonprofit specializes in indoor pet rabbit rescue.

"We don't encourage people to take rabbits outside," said Moroz. "They are prey animals, not indigenous to this area. They can get parasites of wild rabbits and don't have the immune system to fight them off."

In order for the nonprofit to continue finding homes for the rabbits and educating the public, volunteers and donations are needed.

Hops for Hope, an April 7 beer and chocolate tasting benefit for Midwest Rabbit Rescue, takes place 2-4 p.m. at

The Corner Brewery, Ypsilanti. The event pairs six to eight micro-brews and a wide variety of fair- and ethically-traded chocolates from Equal Exchange, Dagoba, Divine, Alter Eco, Green & Black's, 3400 Phinney Chocolate Factory, and Endangered Species Chocolate Company. There will also be a vegetarian appetizer buffet, fair-trade coffee, and Easter baskets full of fair-trade goodies for auction.

Tickets are $20 or half-price for non-drinkers, children under age 12 free. Call (734) 717-8545 or visit www.rabbitrr.org. You must be 21 or older to consume alcoholic beverages.

"It's not possible to have too many volunteers," said Moroz. "We would like to make books with photos and stories of the rabbits to hand out and to do a float for the Plymouth parade. We need manpower for this, volunteers to go into schools to speak and to take the rabbits to Petco Novi for adoptions."

For those unable to adopt, volunteer or attend the benefit, there's still a way to help the rescue, especially if you're a gardener. The shelter has lots of good compost to offer. Unlike horse and cow manure, rabbit manure does not need to be matured long and can be directly applied to flower beds. Moroz says the shelter has a huge amount of the manure that they would rather not put in a landfill.

RealAge makeover

Physician tells how to add years to your life

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
STAFF WRITER

Until 1994, Dr. Michael Roizen thought he was living a healthy lifestyle. Then a friend who was a lifelong smoker developed severe arterial disease. The news sent the doctor on a search for the latest findings on reversing the aging process. Along the way he wrote several books, including two New York Times best sellers, and came up with a test to determine a person's RealAge as opposed to their biological or calendar age.

Today, RealAge Inc., an education-oriented health company, and RealAge.com, the Web site, attract millions of people looking to add years to their lives. The phenomenon has boosted Roizen to celebrity status. Dressed in scrubs, Roizen regularly lectures to PBS, Channel 56 television viewers who hope to look younger and avoid the diseases of aging by following his makeover program. In fact, his message has become so popular an upcoming appearance presented by Crittenton Hospital Medical Center sold out more than one month in advance.

FEELING GOOD

Much of the information Roizen shares during the April 25 lecture can be found online at www.RealAge.com and in his books including The RealAge Makeover, an updated version of his first book RealAge: Are You as Young as You Can Be? published in 1999 by HarperCollins. Once a person knows the RealAge, he or she can make the necessary changes to look and feel younger.

"I'll be telling people how their body gets a do-over, that the body is really unusual because you get to do a makeover," said Roizen, professor of anesthesiology and internal medicine, and chair of the division of anesthesiology, critical care medicine, and comprehensive pain management at Cleveland Clinic.

In his practice, Roizen frequently sees patients who are "overweight, hypertensive and don't take time for themselves." His goal is to help people realize they can take control of their health. In the 1960s when Roizen was in medical school the thinking of the medical establishment was that genetics defined how a person aged. Prevention did not figure into the equation for good health. Out of the 2,800 hours of lectures Roizen sat through in medical school, only two hours were devoted to nutrition and lifestyle.

"I didn't know most of the data so I decided to write the book," said Roizen, who with the RealAge Scientific Advisory Board analyzed more than 35,000 medical and scientific studies to discover the factors instrumental in aging. "What we want to do is let people understand their bodies so they can be the world expert and take control. I realized fish was much more important than meat. Weight lifting is more important than cardiovascular."

Roizen grew up in Buffalo, N.Y., eating the typical American diet. Today, he's instituted healthier habits that include eating a good breakfast every morning and walking 10,000 steps a day. He does 48 minutes of cardiovascular exercise three times a week, and 20 minutes of weight lifting three times a week. Plus he takes the vitamins and supplements he recommends in The RealAge Makeover.

His biological age is 61, but his real age is around 42 according to the results of the RealAge test on the Web site. The calculations factor in lifestyle, genetics and medical history to come up with an individual's RealAge and a 90-day plan to turn back time. Genetics account for only 25 to 30 percent of the aging process, the rest is the result of choices. A person's RealAge can be years younger than their calendar age depending on the changes they're willing to make.

Roizen recommends eating 25 grams of fiber and an ounce of nuts a day, and four or five servings each of vegetables and fruits as part of a balanced diet. About 25 percent of daily calories should come from healthy fats like olive oil, avocado, flaxseed, and cocoa butter-based chocolate which provides age-reducing flavonoids for the body. According to Roizen's makeover book flavonoids decrease the rate at which our arteries and immune system age.

ON THE GO

Roizen admits he "doesn't get enough sleep and has too much stress" in his life. It's difficult for him to do much about his schedule as a physician and author. In addition to his own five books, Roizen's co-written three with Dr. Mehmet Oz, including his latest, You on a Diet: The Owner's Manual for Waist Management (2006) in which they talk about waist size not weight being the key number. For optimum health, a woman's ideal waist size should be 32 1/2 inches, a man's 35 inches.

"I'm an avid Cavaliers basketball fan, me and my wife," said Roizen. "She lets me go crazy rooting for the Cavs and I play squash, and do deep breathing exercises once a day to relieve my stress."

Watch for subtle asthma symptoms

Cheryl from Chesterfield Township e-mails that asthma runs in her family. She wants to know more about some of the subtle warning signs for the dangerous condition.

Cheryl, when we think of asthma, we usually picture wheezing and inhalers. That can be an accurate image in some cases but not all. Symptoms can be much less severe, and often go unrecognized.

It can be a danger sign if you have wheezing or shortness of breath during any of the following activities: exercise, sleeping, laughing, crying, being in cold air, being around airborne toxins like cigarette smoke and exposure to allergens. Some symptoms can be tougher to spot. In some kids it can be as simple as a cough. A detailed exam by a doctor is the best way to be sure if a problem exists. Sometimes the condition can be diagnosed by something as simple as an airflow test.

The main thing is to find out if the condition is present so the right steps can be taken to avoid a potentially life-threatening situation.

Jill from Ann Arbor is looking to cut her chances of getting breast cancer and e-mails for tips.

Jill, keeping your weight in check should be one of your top priorities! We know that excess weight can boost the chances for breast cancer. Now we are learning that how much weight is gained and when it happens can be a prime predictor for getting the disease.

Researchers tracked 63,000 postmenopausal women. They found those gaining 21 to 30 pounds between the ages of 18 and 40 had a greater risk than those with a gain of five pounds or less. Women who gained 70 pounds or more had nearly double the risk. So far there is no conclusive evidence that shows losing weight once it is on will help counter the problem. But since the increased risk is tied to high estrogen levels triggered by weight gain, it is a good bet that weight loss can only help.

Victory tastes sweeter when shared with kids

BY DIANNE NOVAK
CORRESPONDENT

What could be better way to spend a Saturday than sharing a Pine Car Derby victory with your son? How about sharing one with your daughter? On the same day. That is what Livonia dad, Brian Aitken, and his son, Erik, 11, and daughter, Emily, 6, did on a recent Saturday at the Livonia YMCA. Brian and his two children are members of the Adventure Guides and Adventure Princesses programs sponsored by the YMCA.

Brian and Erik have been members of the Adventure Guides father-son program since the fall of 2000 when Erik started kindergarten. They joined the program after Brian, an engineering supervisor at Ford Motor Co., heard about it from a friend, Greg Dabkowski, also of Livonia.

Since that time, Brian and Erik have enjoyed many special father-son moments like the one shared March 24 when they captured the Pine Car Derby trophy for the second time. They also won this event in 2004 when Erik was a third grader at Cass Elementary and raced his yellow "Corvette" to a victory. Erik is currently a sixth grader at Riley Upper Elementary School. This year's car, the "Marty Mobile" was inspired by one of the characters in the popular animated movie, Madagascar. Erik and his dad admit they spent several evenings before the race fine-tuning their vehicle and were obviously pleased with the outcome of their combined efforts.

Brian brought his second child into the program last fall when he and Emily joined the Adventure Princesses father-daughter program. This was Emily's first Pine Car Derby and that helped to make her victory even sweeter, and perhaps even more surprising, when her "Ariel - The Little Mermaid" car captured first place in the Adventure Princess race. Emily, a kindergartener at Cass Elementary, was especially excited to receive her trophy when she noticed that the trophy's colors, teal and purple, matched those of her winning vehicle. Emily, like her brother, worked closely with her dad in the design and development of her car.

Besides competing in pine car races, Brian and his children enjoy the other opportunities for parent-child fun that the Adventure Guide/Princess programs offer. A favorite activity of Erik's is the campouts that occur three times each year: fall, winter, and spring. The campouts takes place at different YMCA camps around Michigan and in Ohio. These weekend getaways provide ample opportunity for father-child bonding when traveling to and from the camp, and enjoying camp activities, like archery, crafts, campfires, sledding, fishing, hiking, canoeing, hayrides, high- and low-ropes, and seasonal games.

FUN NIGHTS

Although Emily also enjoys the campouts, her favorite activity is the Fun Nights that take place three times a year when the Guides or Princesses take over the YMCA for three hours on a Saturday night. The parents and children get together to enjoy basketball, tennis, racquetball, and swimming as well as other activities, and the evening is always topped off with pizza, ice cream, or other treats.

The Adventure Guides and Princesses sponsor other events, with most occurring on an annual basis, such as roller skating, banquet, and bowling. These events provide additional opportunities to share parent-child fun, and have given Erik and Emily the chance to make good friends with several of the other children who participate in the programs.

Brian says the best part of this program is the chance to spend quality time with his kids. Whether paddling a canoe at camp, shooting hoops at the Y, or painting pine cars in the basement, he enjoys the opportunity to get to know and better understand his kids. He not only watches them enjoy and grow in the activities in which they are participating, but he also can talk with them about school and friends, and their worries and dreams.

Just having these special one-on-one times with his kids makes them closer than many of today's parents who instead drive their children to many activities yet simply drop them off at the door and pick them up when the activity is done, missing out on the chance to spend time together. The Adventure Guide/Princess programs are not "drop off" programs. Parents participate side-by-side with their children in each event or activity. This can be father-son as in the Guides aspect of the program, father-daughter as in the Princess portion of the program, or mother-daughter as in the Maidens part of the program.

The Adventure Guides/Princess/Maidens programs are open to all parents and children and provide a great way to make memories that can last a lifetime. Just imagine in few years when Erik and Emily tell their own kids about the day they both won the Pine Car Derby. Oh, yes, with a little help from their dad.

For more information about the programs, contact Linda Kirby at (734)464-1360.

Dianne Novak was previously a professor at Madonna University and is currently a self-employed, stay-at-home mom.

Playwright turns Shakespeare's Hamlet tragedy into a comedy

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
STAFF WRITER

Nancy Florkowski can't wait for Melissa Zinn to return to Livonia with her version of Shakespeare's Hamlet. The tragedy makes an about turn to tell the story from the character's point of view.

Zinn originally came up with the concept while playing Ophelia in the Motor City Youth Theatre's production of Hamlet in 2005. Florkowski founded MCYT to give budding young local actors and actresses a chance to perform. She brings Zinn's Nineteen Variations on Hamlet to the Grantland Street Playhouse in Livonia 8 p.m. Friday, April 6.

Tickets are $10. Call (313) 535-8962 or visit www.mcyt.org.

"It takes Shakespeare's language and combines it with Melissa's wittiness," said Nancy Florkowski, a retired Redford teacher. "It helps to know Hamlet but plays like this are enjoyable even if you don't know Hamlet inside out. What's hilarious is all the characters tell their side of the story. The king who was the evil character decides not to kill Hamlet and everybody lives happily ever after."

Not all of Zinn's ideas for Nineteen Variations occurred to her while playing in MCYT's Shakespeare in the Park in 2004 and 2005 in Redford and Livonia.

"I was watching Twin Peaks and saw similarities of agent Dale Cooper and Hamlet," said Melissa Zinn, the 31-year old Kalamazoo resident who wrote and directed the play being performed by Abstraction Theatre.

"It's a comedy. People think Hamlet tragic, dark, serious, fast paced. This is kind of Monty Python-esque and there is some audience participation."

Zinn wrote Hamlet over a period of about two years. Writing is something she's loved to do since revising the story of Alice in Wonderland at age 6. Her Perils of Prince Charming was performed on the Sterling Heights Public Library channel, her Garbo and Gable Show at Meadow Brook Hall. Zinn attended Oakland University in Rochester. She moved to Kalamazoo to be with her husband.

"I do miss the Detroit area and come back as often as I can," said Zinn. "We performed this the first two weekends in March in Kalamazoo. I thought I would like to take the show to other places and larger audiences and so I thought of bringing it to Livonia."

Grantland Street Playhouse is located at 27555 Grantland, Livonia.
