Teachers conquer nervousness on 1st day of school

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

Stacy Gunther and Erin Gould were so excited about the first day of school, they arrived early at Jefferson-Barns Elementary School ... really early. But instead of lining up in front of school, they marched right in and went to their classrooms. Gunther went to her second-grade classroom and Gould to first grade.

"I was so nervous I think I slept one hour last night," said Gunther. "All weekend I had dreams about school."

"I was up every hour on the hour," said Gould. "I kept reminding myself to do different things."

Gunther and Gould aren't students at the Westland school, they're first-year teachers. Tuesday marked the beginning of a career they both chose in elementary school. For Gunther, the choice was made her first day of preschool. Arms and legs extended, she tried to prevent her grandmother from getting her inside the school. It didn't work and once inside the school, what she encountered led to her to decide she wanted to be a teacher.

"I loved it. I got smiley faces; I jumped off the jungle gym and got a sad face," said Gunther, who is teaching second grade at the same school she didn't want to enter so many years ago. "In my interview, I told them my dream job would be a second-

Company pulls entertainment license request

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

A request for an entertainment license to allow a Westland theater to offer dinner and drinks with a movie has been postponed indefinitely by the Westland City Council.

The decision came Monday evening just hours after National Amusements Inc. requested that a vote on the transfer of liquor license and a new entertainment license be pulled from the agenda. It also followed a study session called for by Council President Charles Pickering who expressed concern about the potential for "topless and nude activity."

"The bottom line is I'm concerned that they're using the entertainment license to put on entertainment I believe is geared for adults," he said. "I think we are going in the wrong direction."

According to Mayor William Wild, National Amusements is looking to revamp the Showcase Cinema on Wayne Road to have stadium seating and serve dinner and drinks during movies. The plan calls for going from seven screens to six screens.

"I feel this is an important project for long-term prospects in the city," Wild said. "National Amusements has an aging facility, a limited market. They're not looking to get into legal problems, they're looking at a way to survive in the marketplace."

According to City Attorney

Angelo Plakas, National Amusement has created a unique situation for the city. The liquor license it plans to transfer from a bar in Detroit, under current state statute doesn't allow for alcoholic beverages to be served with "a monologue, dialogue or motion picture."

"It wants to do what Emagine (Theater) in Novi is doing," he said. "If the Tigers made it to the playoffs and they got a live feed, they wouldn't be able to show it. They can't do anything without the entertainment license."

Plakas has been "going back and forth" with the company in an effort to hammer out a side agreement that would protect the city from the possibility of topless or nude entertainment. Saying that he wants something that has some teeth in it, he admitted that National Amusements is balking at some of the verbiage.

"We're still arguing over the terms," he said. "We don't want a place that has zoning and building code violations, we want to tie it together with the license, so if there is a problem, we can cure it quickly."

Pickering, however, maintained that the theater would be "an adult entertainment center."

"For us to say yes the first time ever to allow an entertainment license opens the door to the wrong kind of entertainment, that's why we keep saying no," he said. "This

Ceremony Sunday remembers 9/11

Almost six years ago, Americans watched in horror as passenger airliners were used to topple the twin towers of the World Trade Center in New York City and to crash into the Pentagon in suburban Washington, D.C.

A fourth plane crashed into a field in Pennsylvania, the planned attack foiled by the passengers.

Those acts of terrorism claimed more than 3,000 lives.

On the sixth anniversary of that day, now known simply as 9/11, the City of Westland will host a memorial service, conducted by St. Matthew Lutheran Church and School.

The program, scheduled for 11 a.m., will be held on the south steps of Westland City Hall at 36601 Ford Road. This marks the fourth year for the service which remembers those who perished in the attacks, as well as honors those who continue to serve and protect our community.

Pastor Kurt Lambart of St. Matthew Lutheran Church in Westland will preside over the memorial service. It will include the singing of patriotic songs by the St. Matthew Lutheran School Cherub Choir, comprised of children in grades 3-5. The Jubilee Choir, which includes students in grades 6-8, also will perform.

"What happened on Sept. 11 cannot — and will not — be forgotten," Westland Mayor William R. Wild said. "There isn't one community in our nation that was immune to the effects of that day. This is our community's way of paying respect."

Guilty plea gets duo probation for embezzlement

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A former Westland apartment worker and her boyfriend will remain on probation for five years for embezzling money from tenants who thought they had paid their rent.

Sharon Krajewski, 41, and Darnell Ware, 44, learned their fate in late August after pleading guilty to embezzling $1,000 to $20,000 and to an additional charge of uttering and publishing, which involves tampering with financial documents.

Their pleas averted a trial in Wayne County Circuit Court on charges they stole money from Willow Creek Apartments, on Newburgh south of Ford, where Krajewski had worked as an assistant manager.

Krajewski had been accused of taking personal checks and money orders from renters who didn't make them payable Willow Creek. Some tenants told authorities they were asked not to write the name of the apartment complex on the financial documents, police Sgt. Steve Borisch has said.

Krajewski and Ware then put Ware's name on the documents and cashed them for their own financial gain, Borisch said.

The couple, who had lived at Willow Creek, had been ordered to stand trial after they waived their right to a preliminary hearing in May in Westland 18th District Court. Krajewski had been fired from her job amid accusations she stole money between last December and April.

"People started getting notices that their rent wasn't paid," Borisch said.

Krajewski and Ware fared well considering that they could have faced penalties ranging up to 14 years in prison for the charges against them.

Under terms of their probation, they are supposed to not break any laws, not leave the state without asking judicial permission, report monthly to a probation officer, make restitution to Willow Creek and pay certain fees, such as court and attorney costs.

Indie film producers find locales close to home

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

It's not like Hollywood. You won't see the city's name plastered in huge white letters on a hillside, simply because there is no bump in the road high enough.

But Anthony Vallone and Sara Stepnicka are doing their best to put Garden City on the independent film road map.

The western Wayne County community is home for their production company, ValloNicka Films, as well as one of several locales featured in their upcoming release, Sometimes in Life.

"We wanted to represent the Detroit area in the film, we wanted to showcase it," said Stepnicka. "The Detroit area doesn't get the recognition filmwise, it's music, cars and sports. We want to get major producers to come here."

Working with a $20,000 budget, the duo shot Sometimes in Life over 16 days in August and September 2006 at spots around Wayne County. The pier on Newburgh Lake in Livonia, the Garden Cafe in Garden City, the Whole Food Market in Bloomfield Hills and the Rainbow Room in Detroit as well as homes in Garden City, Livonia and Dearborn Heights were used.

A nighttime street shoot in Livonia drew attention not only from people living in the neighborhood, but by a passing motorcyclist.

"A guy on a Harley was looking at the set and crashed into the grip truck Sara had rented," said Vallone. "The motorcycle was trashed and it delayed filming, but we had to laugh about it ... not at that time ... but especially since it wasn't my car."

Local restaurants like Dario's in Garden City were sponsors and provided food for the cast and crew, and businesses like Better Made, Faygo, Liz Lovely Cookies and Nutricious Doughnuts also provided food and allowed their products to be featured in the film.

"When you're in indie films around here, you usually get, pizza, pizza, pizza," said actress Gunhild Gill who appeared in the film. "The quality of the food on this production was amazing."

'WONDERFUL ACTORS'

The Norwegian-born Gill was among the cast Vallone and Stepnicka picked for the film. They worked with the I Group for casting, attracting the likes of Wayne David Parker, Ethan Sue and Angela Roberts. Even the couple's dog Molson has a part in the movie.

"We had wonderful actors, we were fortunate to have them," said Vallone. "Gigi (Gill)

was a wonderful find."

Gill plays the role of cheating best friend opposite Stepnicka who joins the ranks of Drew Barrymore and Sandra Bullock as an actor-producer.

"It was an awesome experience, we became like a family," Gill said. "There are things happening in Michigan, the film industry is a small community, so everyone knows someone, but this is the first film I've done where I didn't know anyone."

"The chemistry was really, really good," added Stepnicka.

Even with the low budget, Vallone and Stepnicka paid the cast and crew, a "cool thing because the film industry here generally doesn't pay the cast."

They used the Screen Actors Guild agreement for low-budget films. The budget determined how much they were paid each day, plus the cast received points, so in the end they get a percentage when the film hits distribution, Stepnicka said. The film is in post-production and Vallone and Stepnicka are looking for music. So far they have lined up music by Presley, the Bloids out of Ann Arbor and The Cetan Clawson Revolution.

"He's an absolutely amazing guitarist," said Stepnicka of Clawson. "I'm glad his song is over one of my scenes. It's the one when I find out my girlfriend has been unfaithful."

By using technology, Vallone and Stepnicka were able to hold down costs. They filmed Sometimes in Life in high definition with high speed film in a format for HDTV. They're working with CustomFixix, which helped with their previous film Mongol King, in producing and packaging the DVDs and customer service.

COLLEGE START

Vallone ventured into filmmaking while at EMU. He enrolled in the film program for the experience and left before getting his degree.

"I started producing films and it took on a life of its own," he said. "I went through the classes knowing that I wanted to make films."

His first film, In the Bag, out in 1998, was picked up by the Independent Film Channel. Stepnicka graduated from EMU with a degree in management and theater performance and production. She met Vallone her second year at EMU. They met romantically. She didn't know he was into film production until he brought a script he'd never let anyone one read.

"We've been together 10 years and working together for nine," she said. "It's all about compromise."

The film has been in post-production and is within weeks of being finished. Vallone and Stepnicka plan to take the film to the Bare Bones International Film and Music Festival in Muskogee, Okla., as well as the Sundance or Slamdance Film Festivals in Park City Utah and the Detroit-Windsor International Film Festival next summer with the goal is to find a distributor.

They're also looking for locations for its premiere. The list includes the Main Art Theater in Royal Oak, the State or Michigan theaters in Ann Arbor and the Emagine Theater in Novi.

"We may well do showings at colleges," Vallone added.

Helping them get the word out about the film is Lee Raunchey and her Silver Media Group. The Garden City resident specializes entirely in film and music publicity.

"We were fortunate to find her," said Vallone. "She has an inside track in the film and music industry. She's recognized by people wherever she goes."

Raunchey has been in the business for 15 years and counts among her clients bands like Dendura, "a female Egyptian-themed progressive metal band with belly dancers." She also helped promote another indie film, Broken, directed by Derek Justice of Farmington and David DeLeon of Sandusky, Ohio.

"I think I have a lot of passion and dedication," Raunchey said. "I had to have the passion to make it happen and the determination to make it succeed."

With Sometimes in Life almost done, the duo are already looking at their next script, Boys of Summer.

"It's the Natural meets Dazed and Confused," said Vallone. "I got it from a couple of great script writers in Ann Arbor. Sara will have a role in it."

grade teacher at a school like Jefferson-Barns and I got it. It was perfect."

Gunther, who graduated from Eastern Michigan University in April, admits she was nervous when the school bell rang, but says her students "calmed me down as soon as they came in."

"They're so amazing," she said. "I was nervous for sure. I put on a good facade. I think I was more nervous than the students."

To break the ice, her class spent part of the morning talking about their summer vacations. She also showed them her baby pictures and pictures of herself in the second grade.

"I'm good now, I'm not nervous anymore," she said. "I love my class."

She admits she was excited and surprised to get hired by the district. She said some 1,100 people applied for same position, adding that while she was scared when she walked into the interview, she went in confident "and that paid off."

She also was surprised to run into her preschool teacher at a district inservice.

"It was so cool, I started crying," she said.

Gunther, also a recent EMU graduate, said it was a long summer waiting for the first day of school. She, too, was "a little nervous, but it's going great now."

"We had our name tags on and we played the name game with a ball before getting into the curriculum. My mom made a book of me in first grade and I read them some of that. It made me more real to them."

Like Gunther, it was an early experience with her first- and second-grade teachers that led her to choose teaching.

"I was so nervous going to school and they understood that," said Gould. "They made it exciting, they made me love school. They helped make me feel full of confidence to learn in a safe environment."

Both women played school as children. Gunther would use things she gathered from school and an old copier her dad had brought home to keep her "class" supplied with worksheets. Gould said her brother and her teddy bears were her students in her basement classroom.

"Me and my friends spent many, many hours playing school," she said. "We even had an old wooden desk."

By lunchtime, the two women were more than at ease with their new jobs. They were talking about the things they planned to do with the students in the coming months.

"Once I got in the classroom and started doing what I trained for all those years, it just came to me," said Gould.

"And today was a crazy day," added Gunther. "I woke up today and realized that I was starting a new career. Now I can devote all of my time and energy to what I love."

takes away a family-oriented business."

Saying he's not a proponent for the company, Plakas told Pickering that by calling the theater an adult business gives the theater the wrong connotation.

Several council members questioned how alcoholic beverages would be served to limit exposure to underage moviegoers. Councilman Dewey Reeves suggested restricted seating where servers could check identifications.

Councilman James Godbout, citing reports about theater attendance dropping off, said National Amusements wants the theater to "become more of an entertainment destination where people have the ability to have a snack or a meal and an adult beverage."

While he said he appreciated the work Plakas has done on the agreement, he also expressed concern that the company could reconsider its plans for the theater complex.

"I don't want to go to the extreme where they end up not wanting to do business here and we end up with another shuttered movie house," he said.

"It's pretty plain what they can and can't do," added Councilman Michael Kehr. "I understand why you're trying to stick up for families and that we may lose a family business, but we're stepping in an area where we're telling them how to run their business."

"I have to weigh the citizens' concerns and moral values. If the citizens are protected and the city is protected, it's tough for me to tell them to go away."

Wild, in comments at the end of the council meeting, stressed that it's not the intent of his administration to bring topless or nude entertainment to the city.

"National Amusements is a top-notch business looking to change with the times," he said. "They have an aging complex they need to change. They owned the Quo Vadis and you can see what happened when it didn't change."

Research studies at Wayne State University
Locations in Detroit & Farmington Hills

Pain and Stress Management for Rheumatoid Arthritis:
Seeking adults with rheumatoid arthritis for a study funded by the National Institutes of Health. The purpose of the study is to see whether writing about stress or health behaviors and receiving training in coping skills or arthritis education improves the pain, disability, and disease activity of people with rheumatoid arthritis.

The study tests the benefits of a brief writing exercise followed by an 8-session class, which is conducted individually. Health evaluations occur before and several times after the class and require completing brief daily checklists, several health questionnaires, and a physical examination by a rheumatologist that includes a blood test. Study participants are paid up to $215 for the evaluations.

You do not need to change your current medical care, and you can continue with any medications or change them during the study, as your physician prescribes.

Other studies being conducted or planned:

- Sleep study of patients with either rheumatoid arthritis or fibromyalgia
- Survey of stressful experiences in fibromyalgia
- Treatment of stress in people with fibromyalgia

HAIL TO THE VICTORS VALIANT.

The U-M Cardiovascular Center is known the world over for helping patients like Ralph. His successful heart transplant and subsequent care got him back to being the competitive swimmer he once was. From the compassion and encouragement of Ralph's doctors, like Dr. Nash, to his RNs, especially Marguerite who made him feel like he was the highlight of her day, to those like his social worker Ruth, who were there with a shoulder to lean on - it's true: what you remember most about U-M are the people who are there for you along the way. That's the Michigan Difference.

Army vet competes in the Golden Games

A U.S. Army veteran from Westland was one of more than 600 veterans who travelled to Houston, Texas, last month to compete in the 21st National Veterans Golden Age Games, the largest sporting event in the world for senior veterans.

All participants are U.S. military veterans from across the country age 55 and older, receiving medical care through the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA). Frank Bray, who currently receives care at the VA medical facility in Ann Arbor, competed in air rifles, horseshoes and ambulatory bowling at the games.

"I enjoy participating in the National Veterans Golden Age Games and always have a great time," said Bray, 78. His daughter Deborah is a recreation therapist at the VA medical center in Ann Arbor and serves as coach for the local team from the facility.

The event is sponsored by the Department of Veterans Affairs, the Veterans Canteen Service and Help Hospitalized Veterans. Hosted this year by the Michael E. DeBakey VA Medical Center in Houston, the Golden Age Games demonstrate the value of regular exercise, recreation and friendly competition for all veterans, especially those dealing with age-specific illnesses.

Veterans competed in seven age categories in ambulatory, wheelchair or visually impaired divisions. Events included swimming, bicycling, table tennis, dominoes, shuffleboard, horseshoes, nine-ball, bowling, checkers, golf, croquet, shot-put and discus.

Sports and fitness are vital ingredients of VA's National Rehabilitation Special Events.

Frank Bray of Westland shows his form in the horseshoe pitching competition at the 21st National Veterans Golden Age Games on Houston, Texas.

Physical activity and friendly competition engage the mind as well as the body, and recreation therapy fills a special need in the lives of older patients at VA health centers across the country.

The Games encourage VA patients over the age of 55 to make physical activity a central part of their lives, and support VA's comprehensive recreation and rehabilitation therapy programs. It is a national showcase for the preventative and therapeutic value of sports, fitness and recreation in the lives of all older Americans.

The National Veterans Golden Age Games are one of the most progressive and adaptive rehabilitative senior sports programs in the world. The games serve as a qualifying event for competition in the National Senior Games in a number of competitive sports.

Postal Annex sponsors Operation Slugger

Play Ball! That's the call going out from the Livonia PostalAnnex+ which has partnered with USA Cares for Operation Slugger II, a campaign to collect new and gently used sporting equipment for U.S. military troops serving overseas.

"In 2005, more than 13 tons of sporting equipment was sent to our servicemen and women serving in Iraq and Afghanistan," said Pradip Patel, owner of the PostalAnnex+ in Livonia. "This year, USA Cares has a goal of sending more than 20 tons, and we're excited to be part of this program."

The equipment, ranging from baseball gloves to volleyballs, provides a morale boost to servicemen and women by providing a break from the challenges they face every day, he added.

The list of suggested items for Operation Slugger II include:

- Softball and baseball gloves (right and left-handed).
- Bats (wood and aluminum).
- Baseball hats (must be new, corporate logos are encouraged along with notes of encouragement).

- Softballs.
- Basketballs with nets (no backboards).
- Footballs.
- Volleyballs and nets (no poles).
- Frisbees, NERF products, and hacky sacks.
- Hand air pumps with needles for basketballs and footballs.

Donors may bring the equipment in to the Livonia PostalAnnex+ at 33523 8 Mile Road through Saturday, Sept. 22.

"We're calling on schools, PTAs, civic organizations and other local businesses to help us get the word out," said Patel. "We need sports equipment for our troops."

For more information on PostalAnnex+ or Operation Slugger II, call Patel at (248) 471-4144.

USA Cares, based in Radcliffe, Ky., serves military families of all branches and services with financial support. More information is available on the organization's Web site, www.USACares.com or call toll-free at (800) 773-0387.

Flea market supports preservation

This year's flea market fundraiser for the Livonia Historical Society will be the biggest ever with 150 vendors.

The event runs from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 9, at Greenmead Historical Park off Newburgh at Eight Mile Road in Livonia.

The market draws between 4,000 and 5,000 browsers each year.

Proceeds support historical preservation at Greenmead. In past years, the market has generated $10,000 profit, said Gene Kramer, president of the Livonia Historical Society.

"It takes a lot of money to put a roof on a building like the Alexander Blue house." Another upcoming project is the restoration of the Hill House Museum.

Last year's event featured 134 vendors, selling items like antiques, discontinued merchandise from store liquidations and crafts.

"We decided to expand the limit," said Kramer, who rented a booth to sell his own effects last year. "We have the room and we think we can manage it."

Admission is $2; children under 12 are admitted free. The grounds are suitable for strollers and wheelchairs.

Food and refreshments are available for purchase.

The market is held outdoors, which makes weather a concern.

Aside from dressing for the rain or shine, bring a shopping bag, Kramer said. "Because you're sure to buy something."

The Village Painters will sell decoratively painted art objects during a concurrent sale inside the Blue House. The village is open for tours from noon until 3 p.m. For more information, call (248) 477-7375.

ATTENTION LANDLORDS

The Plymouth and Dearborn Heights Housing Commissions will be hosting a Landlord Informational Session on Friday, September 14, 2007 at 2:00 p.m. at the housing commission offices, 1160 Sheridan, Plymouth, MI. 48170. This session is open to all landlords with rental property in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Washtenaw counties who are interested in learning about the Housing Choice Voucher Subsidy Program. If you want to know more about the program, how to become a Section 8 landlord and explore a new opportunity to expand your tenant base, you are encouraged to attend. There is no cost to attend the session however you must pre-register by calling (734) 456-3670.

Teen leads team to Guts and Glory

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

Katy Gierak has a goal, but she needs a little help. The Stevenson Middle School student needs to raise $500 by Saturday, if her team is to meet its goal by the time the fourth annual Guts and Glory Walk kicks off at Maybury State Park in Northville.

"My parents are asking friends at their work and I'm asking my teachers at school," said Katy. "So far, the response has been pretty good."

This is the second year Katy has done the walk, a fund-raiser for the Crohn's and Colitis Foundation of America. Last year she did it with her mother, Penny Gierak, but this year, she is captaining the 14-member Point Counterpoint Dance Divas, a team that includes her mother, teacher Lindsey Humpbert, teacher and studio owner Becky Simpson and teacher Nicole Kaplan and fellow dancers like Brooke Pietruszka and Haley Woodhouse.

Guts and Glory helps raise funds and awareness for the research, education and advocacy work of the CCEA.

It also helps provide a summer camp for youngsters like Katy who have Crohn's disease, a chronic disorder that causes inflammation of the digestive tract.

The eighth-grader has become involved in the walk after attending the CFAA summer camp last year. The camp is for youth ages 7-17.

"It was great experience," said her mother. "Most kids with Crohn's disease stand out, but she was able to go to camp and be with other kids just like her. She met kids she kept up with all year-long and was able to see them at camp this year."

"It was a lot of fun," added Katy. "It showed me a bunch of kids like me who go through the same thing and know what I'm going through.

"The first camp was a lot of fun, there were activities I couldn't even think of. We were at a new camp this year and it was even more fun."

Katy was diagnosed with the disorder when she was 8 years old. Living with the disorder has been "really hard," she said.

"It's about what you eat, I have to be very careful," she said. "Dairy — milk and cheese — don't set well and I don't eat fried food, that tends to go right through me."

Katy talks matter-of-factly about her disease, pointing out that she's had three colonoscopies this year and will have a fourth next month. She's excited that she's "been really healthy the better part of the year."

"It's the longest I've been in remission," she said.

The disease doesn't get in the way of Katy's interest in dance. She practices five days a week at the Point Counterpoint studio. She does everything from ballet, tap and jazz to point and hip hop. She's been studying dance since she was 5 years old.

"I love to dance," she said. "It keeps me going, it doesn't let Crohn's get me down."

While Katy isn't sure how big her team will be for Guts and Glory, she's confident the team will reach its fund-raising goal. People who would like to help can call the Gieraks at (734) 722-2637. Donations can also be made on line at www.cfaa.org/michiganchapter.

Registration for Saturday's event begins at 9:30 a.m. The one-mile or 5k walk kicks off at 10:30 a.m. and is followed by a picnic lunch follows at 11:30 a.m. The registration fee is $10 with children age 12 and under are free. Anyone who attends will receive the official Guts & Glory T-Shirt. For more information, visit the Web site at www.cfaa.org/michiganchapter.

Shawn Polite of Wayne Memorial High School was named Top Overall Cadet during a program for JROTC cadets held recently at Joint Forces Training Center in Alpena. Some 575 cadets from 37 JROTC programs in Michigan practiced skills they had learned in JROTC during the year at the center.

Fellow cadet Andrew Pate was named top male cadet for his company, and Michael Bailey won Most Improved Male Cadet. First-year cadet honors went to Christian La Haine and Frances Jackson.

In addition, three of the six company commanders were from Wayne Memorial - Briann Rice, Trevor Fletcher, and John Rogers. Two Wayne High cadets were selected to be on the Color Guard. Timothy Bliven guarded the colors, and was selected as color sergeant.

The most significant achievement at JCLC was in the area of academics.

Each school sends their top cadets who competed in an academic challenge which tests them on the curriculum taught in the classroom. The cadets don't know they will be tested or what was on the test.

Joshua Fletcher scored the highest of the 575 cadets, followed by Taylor Riggs. Andrew Pate had the third highest score.

"Our cadets filled most of the slots in the top 10," said Steven La Haine, senior Army instructor of the Army JROTC Battalion at Wayne Memorial. "Wayne's accomplishment of outscoring all the programs in the state is a very rewarding achievement. Although we receive a lot of recognition for our Color Guard, Raiders, Drill Team, and other events, the true measure of our value is the leadership education and training that is taught in the classroom."

"My Community.
My Hospital.
My Annapolis."

We have deep roots in the community. That's why we are proud to watch it grow and prosper. And, it's why we continue to look for new ways to improve health care for you and your neighbors. In the last three years alone, Oakwood Annapolis Hospital has invested more than $25 million in its medical campus with an additional $10 million this year alone. Why are we doing all of this? It's simple. We believe that in order for you to get better, we must too. A new Birthing Center and Outpatient Surgery Center, a Zero Wait emergency room and advanced diagnostic imaging services, to name a few. See for yourself why more and more people are saying, "My Community. My Hospital. My Annapolis."

Investing in... Southeast Michigan's future.

Detroit Edison is planning more than $600 million in upgrades to Southeast Michigan's electrical system. Work has already begun. Once completed, it will provide improved reliability for years to come. We'll be:

- Repairing or replacing hundreds of transformers, fuses, lightning arresters and other pieces of equipment.
- Trimming thousands of trees to reduce power outages.
- Replacing or reconducting miles of overhead power lines.
- Inspecting thousands of utility poles to identify and correct potential problems.
- Rebalancing Southeast Michigan's electrical system to prevent overloaded electrical circuits.

This is all a part of our ongoing commitment to deliver the energy our customers need, when they need it — today, tomorrow and into the future.

For information on Detroit Edison programs, products and services, call 800.477.4747.

Art Institute has openings for volunteers

For those who long to be part of art, the Detroit Institute of Arts (DIA) is looking for enthusiastic people with excellent customer service skills to join its Volunteer Council.

Those interested in exploring a volunteer opportunity can attend one of two open house sessions 1-3 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 9 or Sunday, Sept. 16, in the DIA's Lecture Hall.

While volunteer docents (tour guides) are already in place for this year, there is an immediate need for other service volunteers when the new DIA opens on Nov. 23 after a six-year building renovation and expansion project. Galleries have been redesigned to showcase the museum's world-class collection and allow visitors to make more meaningful connections with the art. It is one of the most exciting times in the museum's history, and one of the best times to come on board as DIA volunteer.

The service committees currently seeking volunteers include:

Gallery Service - maintain a presence in the galleries, greet and assist visitors

Museum Shop - assist in restocking and helping visitors select purchases

Detroit Film Theatre Ushers - welcome and assist theater-goers

Gallery Information - welcome and assist visitors at the information desks

Staff Aides - assist museum staff and the Volunteer Council with everything from stuffing envelopes to special projects.

While recruitment for docent positions will not begin until spring 2008, those interested in learning more about volunteer docent opportunities are welcome to come to the open house. The three volunteer docent committees are: Museum Docents - provide tours and presentations to children and adults at the DIA; Art to the Schools - bring images of art and lively discussion to grades three through six in metro Detroit area schools; and, Speakers Bureau - present talks on the DIA's collection and special exhibitions to adult community groups.

While the commitment is great, so are the rewards. Not only do DIA volunteers gain valuable knowledge about art, they also develop lasting friendships and have opportunities for personal growth and enrichment. In addition, volunteers have the satisfaction of giving back to the community.

Call 313-494-5221 or e-mail diavol@dia.org

Long road to a cure

Grueling bike trip tests heart, mind and body

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
STAFF WRITER

Dave Stormzand knows way too much about hydrocephalus. That's because his cousin, Megan Nanaronni, 20, has suffered from the condition since being diagnosed with a brain-stem tumor when she was just 3 years old.

"Her life has been surgery after surgery," Stormzand said. "All the things she went through during her life, it was almost inspiring. ... I wanted to do something where I could show her how much she meant to me and how much she impacted me."

So Stormzand, 20, of Rochester, planned, organized and executed a bicycle ride to raise money for STARS-kids (Seeking Techniques Advancing Research in Shunts). Another cousin, Ian Jorgensen, also 20, of Oxford, went along for the ride. Nanaronni lives with a shunt, a valve that is surgically implanted to drain cerebrospinal fluid that builds up with hydrocephaly, also known as water on the brain.

"If you just met her you would never know anything was wrong with her," Stormzand said. "She looks fine and she's a normal person. But she has to have a shunt." He estimated she's had about 10 surgeries since receiving the shunt.

STARS-kids is raising money to help researchers find breakthrough technology to make the problems associated with shunts, such as breaks, blockage and infection, a thing of the past.

On Aug. 4, Stormzand and Jorgensen, neither of whom had experience with long-distance riding, began their journey. Their support team included their dads, Greg Jorgensen and John Stormzand, a photographer for the Rochester Eccentric, who chronicled the trip with his camera.

Starting at the Mackinac Bridge, the travelers rode U.S. 2 into Wisconsin, then followed the Lake Michigan shore to Manitowoc. There they boarded a ferry to Ludington. They ended their trip back home in Oakland County.

MIND OVER MATTER

"I spent one month training for it," Dave Stormzand said. "It was surprising how many cyclists said, 'You don't have the legs for it.' ... A lot of people were saying, 'They can't do this.'"

But Stormzand, who admits, "I live for adventure," said the battle was simply mind over matter.

"If your mind gives up, then your body is going to give up right behind," he said. "I rode about 500 miles before the trip in about a month, so I felt I was pretty ready. But our ride, it was just day after day; very grueling. ..."

"When I did pick spots to rest, I tried to pick good views of Lake Michigan. ... I really got to see what Michigan is about."

"A few days into the trip, the boys started referring to a 60-mile ride as a short day," Greg Jorgensen said.

On the third day, in the middle of a 70-mile ride in drizzly weather, Stormzand crashed.

Rochester's Dave Stormzand and Oxford's Ian Jorgensen pull into the dock in Manitowoc, Wisc. after a 100-mile ride along the Lake Michigan shore during their rigorous fund-raising trek this month. "A few days into the trip, the boys started referring to a 60-mile ride as a short day," said Ian's dad, Greg Jorgensen.

"My bike fell sideways and so did I," he said. "I couldn't sleep on my left side for about a week."

Greg Jorgensen said his son, who had never ridden more than 50 miles, was still going strong at the end.

"As we pulled up to home, he was elated. The last mile, as we entered Oxford, the speed limit is 25 miles per hour; he was doing 30. ... He seemed in pretty good shape. I was amazed."

In its maiden voyage, the ride raised $650. Sponsors included KLM Bike and Fitness in Rochester Hills and the Rochester Mills Beer Co, where Stormzand works.

"I learned a lot," Stormzand said. "I want to do it again and raise a lot more money."

Up next for the two young men is college. Ian Jorgensen, an Oxford High School graduate, is attending Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University in Daytona Beach, Fla. Stormzand, an Avondale High School graduate who recently spent 10 months working for Americorps in the South, plans to attend Oakland Community College this fall.

Americorps, he said, "was definitely life-changing. That really put a focus on ... what do I really want to do. I wanted to have a life where I would help other people. It really motivated me."

"Guys like Ian and David are an inspiration to me," Greg Jorgensen said.

"Experiencing their values, determination and dedication gives me faith in the future. They contribute to global heart-warming."

Military Moms to host benefit walk

Michigan Military Moms is sponsoring its first annual walk - the 2007 MMM Walk - to support the troops.

The walk takes place on 11 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 15, at Dearborn's Ford Field, off of South Brady St. Check-in tables open at 9:00 a.m. Total walking distance is just under two miles.

The Michigan Military Moms is a non-political support group of mothers who have sons and/or daughters serving in the U.S. military. The 2007 MMM Walk is an effort by the group to host an activity for those who wish they could do more to show their support for the men and women who are serving in the military during a time of war. MMM also hopes it will serve as a gentle reminder of what their sons and daughters do on behalf of all Americans every day.

"The troops include a number of young men and women from southeastern Michigan, and this walk is a grass-roots activity that enables moms, dads, brothers, sisters, friends, family, and just plain concerned citizens a more personal opportunity to show their support," said Kathy Demko, an active MMM and chairperson of the 2007 walk.

The participation fee is $30 for adults, $20 for youths and senior citizens. The price includes a complimentary 2007 MMM Walk T-shirt, which will be handed out on the day of the Walk. Children age 9 and under can walk for free. They will not receive a T-shirt, but they also registered.

There is no need to collect pledges; participants who pay the registration fee can walk. A registration form for the 2007 MMM Walk is available at the organizations' Web site at www.michiganmilitarymoms.org or by calling (313) 274-1877. Participants are encouraged to register in advance.

Proceeds from the 2007 MMM Walk will be used to benefit the troops, with special emphasis on care package supplies.

Michigan Military Moms is a support group for Moms with sons and daughters serving in the United States Military. MMM is a one-of-a-kind organization focusing on the support of Michigan Moms and their children in the military. All branches of the service are represented in the organization. For more information, go to the Web site, www.michiganmilitarymoms.org.

Canton facility shapes cheerleaders into confident athletes

BY TIFFANY L. PARKS
STAFF WRITER

While the smaller cheerleaders on the other side of the gymnasium worked on the perfect execution of throwing their left fists in the air, Peyton Philbeck, 8, took a deep breath and broke out into a sprint.

As her petite body flipped into the air and then landed back on the ground, she grinned and her coach offered her a compliment.

Peyton is one Michigan Xtreme Cheer's 301 athletes, who travel to the Canton facility from all over the metro area.

"We are one of the top notch programs in the state," said Michele Julien, a MIX Cheer coach and administrative worker.

Founded by Lisa Hemmie in 2002 with less than 50 cheerleaders, MIX started as a hobby, but quickly grew into a business and has satellite offices in Ann Arbor and Lansing.

The company has merged operations twice, with the most recent one taking place in May with Premier Cheer Zone of Canton.

In addition to its award-winning cheer leading teams, MIX offers private lessons in tumbling, stunting and Tai Kwon Do. Athletes are age 3 and up.

With several championship banners hanging from the ceiling of its Ronda Drive facility and dozens of polished trophies in clear view, infectious giggles and chants pierced the air.

A group of parents watched the action on a set of bleachers. Some talked amongst themselves, while others snapped pictures.

Jill Georgeson of Plymouth has four daughters in the program, Bailee, 11; Olivia, 9; Gabrielle, 7 and Miranda, 5.

"It's fun, it's great exercise and it teaches them that competitive spirit," Georgeson said. "This really makes athletes out of them."

Georgeson said her girls have been with MIX for three seasons.

"The kids get to go to competitions and the program has great organization," she said, adding that the staff members listen to parent concerns and put an emphasis on safety.

In addition to occasionally bringing in outside choreographers, MIX has more than a dozen coaches. One of its teams captured the 2007 Cheersport National Championship.

The company was previously chosen as one of the country's top 25 cheer leading programs by American Cheerleader's All Star Insider Magazine.

Julien, whose 14-year-old daughter, Caitlyn, has cheered with MIX since its inception, said the coaches place as much emphasis on having fun as they do on winning trophies.

"We like to think that we're one big happy family," she said.

Leukemia foundation launches endowment

Children's Leukemia Foundation of Michigan will announce a $10 million endowment fund campaign at an inaugural auction and dinner gala, Saturday, Sept. 15, at the Townsend Hotel in Birmingham.

Titled "Legends of the Heart," the black tie event will also honor a founder and first executive director, Sylvia Brown of Southfield, and the organization's 55th anniversary.

To honor and celebrate their contribution to the organization, CLF named the endowment fund for Sylvia and Harry Brown and set the ambitious goal to continue with and build upon the work the Browns began over a half-century ago.

The purpose of the endowment fund is to provide consistent revenue and reduce the reliance on other types of funding sources. CLF completed a phase one endowment fund that today stands at $1.8 million.

The evening will also recognize the 55th anniversary of CLF service to Michigan families affected by leukemia, lymphoma and related blood disorders with many friends and supporters in attendance. Founded in Detroit in 1952 by the Brown and other families who lost children to leukemia, CLF has grown into an organization currently serving 3,900 families throughout the state. CLF support programs help patients and families cope, overcome barriers and maintain or improve their quality of life as they face the challenges of dealing with a serious illness.

The Sylvia and Harry Brown Endowment Fund will benefit, as Sylvia describes them, "all my children," the thousands of children and families who have been provided for, comforted, and cherished by CLF over the years, as well as those who are to come.

"There is no more fitting way for CLF to honor its founders than to name this endowment for them and recognize Sylvia in September," said CLF President Glenn Trevisan. "It will forever assure that Sylvia and Harry Brown will be associated with CLF."

Honorary chairs of the event are Cindy Obron Kahn and Dr. Marc Kahn, Ellen Lesser Siegel and Dr. Les Siegel and Sylvia Brown.

Event chairs are Anne Lehker and Sam Slaughter and Kathryn & David Pothier. Tickets are $150 for general guest admission and $200 for patrons. Reservations can be made at leukemiamichigan.org or by calling (248) 353-8222.

OUR VIEWS

Stopping for school buses isn't enough

They're back — yes, the kids have returned to school this week, but so have the long, yellow buses and, with them, the need for renewed attention to safety precautions. When parents send their kids off to school by bus, trusting they'll make it without a mishap, they're trusting that drivers will use good common sense as well.

Unfortunately, that doesn't always happen. According to a state Web site, while the number of bus accidents has decreased from 1995-2004, the number of fatalities has actually risen.

It's just because this is the first week of school that drivers need to pay special attention at bus stops, on the road and near schools. If there is one characteristic common to all kids, it's that they get excited, and excited kids don't always pay attention to the traffic around them.

For other kids, finding the bus stop — and the right bus — can lead to careless darting between parked vehicles. In fact, 12.8 percent of all school bus accidents reportedly happen at bus stops.

Parents, teachers and kids all can play a role in keeping youngsters safe. It's suggested that parents get their kids to the bus at least five minutes early, to avoid carelessness born out of haste.

Teachers and parents need to instruct youngsters on the elements of bus safety, and then see to it that those same youths practice what they've hopefully learned.

Caution by drivers is also called for in areas where there are no sidewalks, such as subdivisions and rural areas. Without a defined area for walking, like a sidewalk, it's easy for kids to wander into the middle of the road.

Coming around a bend in the road, a driver bent on making it to work on time could be unable to stop in time to avoid kids in the car's direct path. Headlights ought to be on at all times, for viewing by both drivers and kids, especially since the return to Eastern Standard Time is now delayed in the fall and mornings will be darker longer.

The key to child safety from the bus stop to the school door is for drivers to use good common sense. But for those who want to go by the book, Michigan requires that drivers stop 20 feet behind and before a bus whose red overhead lights are flashing. But don't wait until then; prepare to stop the moment the bus's yellow lights are activated.

If you think you're seeing more of them, you could be right. The number of registered buses has been up in recent years, but it is still less than in the late 1990s. And that's the important thing, isn't it? That we see the buses and act accordingly.

There's a reason why we're called adults. We're supposed to understand that actions have consequences.

A combination of common sense and good driving practices will ensure that our kids have a safe return to school.

Michigan puts on its best face during autumn

Although the thermometer doesn't seem to know it yet, autumn is right around the corner. While many people might be lamenting summer's pending departure (school children come to mind), it is during the fall season that Michigan is at its finest.

Fall means cooler days, football and bountiful harvests, but most people associate the season with the dazzling show of color that takes over Michigan's plentiful forests. With Labor Day weekend now in the rearview mirror, it won't be long before trees start changing color. In fact, some trees are already beginning to change in the northern part of the state.

Between now and late November, forests in the state will undergo a wonderful transformation, changing from their summer green to an array of gold, yellow, scarlet and orange. If you are lucky enough to catch them at their peak, these colors provide a breathtaking vista unmatched during any other time of the year.

Fall is certainly a time much anticipated by hunters in the state. There are more than 750,000 licensed hunters in Michigan, which ranks third in the nation. And they are chomping at the bit to get out in the field. More importantly, they will be spending lots of money not only buying gear, but also staying in hotels, eating at restaurants and buying gas. According to state officials, hunters will contribute about $1.3 billion to the state's economy, which helps many northern towns stay afloat after the busy summer tourism season has waned.

But you certainly don't have to be a hunter to get out and enjoy the brilliant fall colors. There are dozens (if not hundreds) of fall color tour routes across the state. Some follow major state highways, while others are on secondary roads. For a list of some of these, check out the Web site, www.michigan.org.

You can also make up your own route. All you need is a map and an afternoon or two to enjoy Michigan at its finest. Visit a cider mill or a winery — the state has plenty of both. Or drive along one of Michigan's beautiful coast lines to really get an appreciation of this state's bountiful natural resources.

Of course, the one negative about fall is that it is too short. And, unfortunately, we all know what comes next. But it's too early to think about winter. First, let's enjoy Michigan's most beautiful season.

Veteran needs help

I would like to tell a story about WHY Veterans Haven Inc. was born. Fourteen years ago this concept was developed from a seed in my mind. I knew it had never been done and would be able to provide a great deal of assistance to vets that were homeless or in need. To date we have given away more than $1.4 million worth of food, tons of clothing, furniture, appliances and hundreds of vehicles to help vets maintain their employment or go to school. Gleaners Food Bank has been a great supporter of vets and Augie Fernandes, president, recently donated $5,000 to help us purchase food.

Even though we do receive some federal dollars to operate our housing program, we operate strictly on donations from the public, businesses, churches and various Vets organization. Recently I seen a news story on Channel 7 Action News, it involved a disabled vet, Terry Edwards with post-traumatic stress disorder and his wife Brenda.

Apparently, they were behind in their property taxes and needed to borrow some money. They owned their home, paid in full. The individual/company that they thought they could trust to borrow this money came to their home and did a JOB on them. While they were signing the papers they thought were for a loan, this slime ball snuck in a quit claim deed and voila, the Edwardses no longer owned their home. I've been in contact with these people and now they have to get a loan to buy back their house from the bank that bought the paper from Mr. Slick. How anybody can do this to another person is beyond my comprehension and I've seen and heard many stories.

Val Clark from Channel 7 came out to our center and interviewed me about this event. I could care less about being on TV, but the word about the Edwardses hit the airways. While being interviewed, we, the staff and crew at Veterans Haven donated $10,000 to help these people out of this bind. I did some investigating before we put our money in the hat, all money collected on their behalf will go toward the down payment and other fees associated with obtaining this loan. A trust fund has been set up at National City Bank. If anyone would like to make a donation, please send it to the attention of Andy Daily, Edwards Home Relief Fund, National City Bank, 114 S. Stevenson Highway, Royal Oak, MI 48067. I'm sure the Edwards family would appreciate any support they receive. In closing, on behalf of Veteran's Haven, our crew and volunteers, we would like to offer our thanks to anyone that can help.

State supports schools

As your state representative, I am dedicated to serving the residents of Westland. It is my goal to do everything in my power to make Michigan's communities a better place to live, work and raise a family. In response to the recent column, "District waits for Lansing to fix budget," I wish to reiterate that my focus is on giving our schools the tools and resources they need to produce the best educated, best trained graduates. For Michigan to be a leader in the 21st century global economy it is essential that our students are top-notch and that our work-force is second to none. It is my belief that it begins with providing our schools the resources they need.

Both Wayne-Westland Superintendent Greg Baracy and Deputy Superintendent for Administrative and Business Services Gary Martin expressed frustration with the state of Michigan budget process in that article, and I cannot blame them for that. Michigan is facing an unprecedented budget crisis that stems from numerous issues, including outsourcing of jobs and massive downsizing of our manufacturing sector which drops us into a nearly $2 billion deficit for fiscal year 2008.

This deficit necessitates meticulous planning, organizing and difficult work as we try and manage our way out of this hole. Even as the state experiences such a massive funding shortage, it is important to know that in order for us to thrive in the future we cannot lag behind the country and the world when it comes to educating our children.

During a marathon House of Representatives' floor session Wednesday, Aug. 22, two budgets for the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1, the School Aid Fund (SAF) and the Department of Education (DOE) were presented. Michigan's SAF budget increased 2.3 percent, or $300.2 million, compared to the 2006-07 budget year. The budget increases the per-pupil funding by $100 and invests more money in early education programs to prepare students for academic success from an early age. The DOE budget increased by 7.95 percent, or $7.2 million, as compared to the 2006-07 budget.

For Wayne-Westland Community Schools, there will be $7,881 allocated per pupil, up $100 from last school year. It should be noted that state funding for Wayne-Westland schools for the 2007-2008 school year has been increased by approximately $1.3 million. As legislators, we have a responsibility to make sure that all of our children across the state get the education they'll need to succeed. And although an extra $100 per student isn't nearly as much as we wanted to provide our children, we were still able to invest more in education this year while being fiscally responsible as we work through this unprecedented budget crisis. Now that the budgets have been presented, I am hopeful our school administrators and educators will have a better understanding of what financial resources will be available so they can plan the next school year and to maximize the funding for our students.

State Rep. Richard LeBlanc

Thanks for the assistance

On Friday Aug. 25, the John Glenn football team was leaving for the "Big Day Prep Showdown" at Eastern Michigan University when the storm hit. As the buses pulled out of Glenn, the windshield wipers stopped working. So the driver for safety reasons had to pull over. She called and they were sending another bus.

We were pulled over on Marquette at the driveway of Vermeulen Funeral Home. I asked her if she wanted me to go out and try to get the wipers going, so coach Massey and I stood out in the rain trying to get them to work. No such luck, so we suggested that she pull into the parking lot so when we transferred the players and cheerleaders and equipment to the other bus when it arrived, we wouldn't have to do it in the street.

Well as soon as we pulled into the parking lot, the bus drivers were advised to pull over and take cover, so I ran into Vermeulen Funeral Home. I was already wet, so I walk in and said, "Hi, I am with the Glenn football team and our bus broke down and they informed us to pull all buses over and take cover. Would it be OK if we came in. I promise we will be very quiet." They said absolutely, so I ran back outside to the back of the funeral home. We got the cheerleaders out first then the players.

They let us go into the room on the left. The players and cheerleaders were very respectful as were the coaches, although we were all soaked. The people at Vermeulen were wonderful. They were dealing with some people that were involved in an accident as the storm started, so we kept the place pretty busy for about a half hour.

It started clearing up and the other bus arrived. We transferred all the equipment and were on our way. With all the storms and the tornadoes that touched down in the area, our game was delayed until 9 p.m.

The Rockets played Livonia Franklin. They say lightning never strikes twice, but it did and the Rockets defeated Franklin, 26-17.

On behalf of all the players, cheerleaders, coaches and parents involved in the John Glenn football program, we would like to thank everyone at Vermeulen Funeral Home for all the help and keeping us safe, and somewhat DRY. As vice president of the JGHS Football Boosters, I also would like to thank you for all you did. It was greatly appreciated.

Jobs program would give state workers preference

Last weekend, we celebrated Labor Day — a day set aside to honor Michigan's working men and women, who make up the backbone of our state.

We know here in Michigan that our workforce is second to none. We have highly trained and highly skilled workers who can give workers from elsewhere a run for their money.

Unfortunately, though, Michigan's working families have been hit hard in this tough economy. Many of our workers' jobs have been outsourced to other states and countries. Still more are losing out on job opportunities right here at home when out-of-state companies that contract with the state of Michigan choose out-of-state workers over our own.

When companies receive economic development incentives from the state, Michigan workers should be the ones on the job, plain and simple.

That's why I've proposed an aggressive job-creation plan that gives priority for economic development projects to companies that employ 100 percent Michigan workers.

The Hire Michigan First plan gives companies that hire 100 percent Michigan workers priority in the awarding of tax breaks and other economic development tools. This rule would apply to projects handled by the Michigan Economic Development Corp. and certain state-funded programs, including the Strategic Fund Act, Transportation Economic Development Fund, Brownfield Redevelopment Financing Act and the 21st Century Jobs Fund.

It requires businesses with contracts for construction of state buildings to hire 100 percent of their workers from Michigan, strengthening the current requirement of 50 percent.

It cracks down on companies that hire illegal immigrant workers by canceling their state contracts and tax incentives. The plan also requires them to pay back incentives already received and bars them from future contracts.

The Hire Michigan First plan sends a clear message to companies: Incentives that are funded with taxpayer dollars should be used to create jobs for our workers here in Michigan, not workers from other states and countries.

Since 2000, Michigan has lost more than 240,000 manufacturing jobs, according to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. That number will continue to climb unless we take action, and that's what the Hire Michigan First plan is all about. We must fight to ensure that when Michigan invests in companies, our workers are first in line for the jobs.

Companies that bring in workers from other states and countries hurt the qualified, experienced workers we have in our state. Here are two examples:

When Michigan approved a tax-free Agricultural Processing Renaissance Zone to support the construction of an ethanol plant in Marysville, an out-of-state company brought in its workers from Texas for the project.

Battle Creek-based Duncan Aviation received a tax break valued at more than $2.2 million over six years when it decided to undergo a major expansion in 2005. The Colorado-based company working on the project not only brought in its own workers for the project, it also failed to obey Michigan's wage laws, according to the Michigan State Building and Construction Trades Council.

Our taxpayer dollars should not be used to support businesses that choose workers from elsewhere over our very own highly skilled workers here in Michigan. Hire Michigan First will make sure that our workers come first because when we invest in our workers, we invest in our future.

Rep. Marc Corriveau

Unite citizens, leaders to solve woes

Take a minute to cast your mind forward to New Year's Day, 2011. For that will be a key moment in Michigan history — the day we start over with a leadership that is nearly all new.

That presents us with a challenge and opportunity unlike any other in recent history. We know that a new governor and lieutenant governor have to be sworn in at noon that day in Lansing. Gov. Jennifer Granholm and Lt. Gov. John Cherry are term-limited and cannot run for those offices in the November 2010 election.

Mike Cox and Terri Lynn Land also will be both term-limited out of office, so we'll have a new attorney general and secretary of state.

The day the voters choose their replacements, the entire 110-member House of Representatives will also be up for election. The revolving door will be operating there, too: A sizable number of state representatives are sure to be term-limited out. Others will voluntarily be defeated or step down, so that a majority of the House will be new.

And the Senate will resemble a freshman dorm. At least 31 out of 38 presently sitting state senators will be term-limited out. Others will undoubtedly leave voluntarily or be defeated.

That means a large majority of the 152 elected state officeholders sworn in on Jan. 1, 2011, will be men and women who are rookies, just starting their jobs.

That's why they are starting to call Nov. 2, 2010, a "watershed election." Much of today's leadership slate will be wiped clean.

But though we will be starting with a fresh cast of characters, the problems we face today — problems that add up to the greatest economic and political crisis since the Great Depression — will not have gone away.

That's why Michigan's present state of flux represents truly a "defining moment" — a time to call forth a new generation of citizenship and civic leadership to help make a new Michigan.

As a result, a statewide effort called "Michigan's Defining Moment Public Engagement Campaign" is being launched this fall. The goal: To bring leaders and citizens together to grapple with some of the problems our political system hasn't been able to solve.

The economic challenge is formidable. Dominated by the automobile industry, Michigan is experiencing terrible stress as the industry struggles to remake itself in a globalizing economy. The long-term effort to restructure the industry and its labor relations will certainly not have been completed by Inauguration Day, 2011.

Partly as a result of the auto woes, the state General Fund budget has experienced a chronic annual structural deficit of more than $1 billion for years. It's a good bet the existing Legislature and present governor will not have fully succeeded in getting our financial house in order by 2011. They have failed to do so, year after year.

For six straight years, Michigan has foolishly disinvested in its long-term, competitive assets — our colleges and universities, the Great Lakes and our environment and the quality of life they bring.

That has made it far harder to nurture, attract and retain talented people. Even if our lawmakers finally launch a sustained public investment program to undo the damage done over the past decade, it will be far from complete by January 2011.

On another front, the structure, workings and costs of government at nearly all levels is complicated, mostly unexamined, in some cases excessively expensive and ripe for reform. This includes not only the state government, but thousands of units of local government and the schools. At most, this process will have only barely gotten under way by the time the new governor moves in.

So we face a series of massive problems — and each of them calls for in-depth public input leading to broad consensus about what to do to guide our state toward prosperity. That's the purpose of the Michigan's Defining Moment campaign.

On an optimistic note: Leaders in Michigan are taking up the challenge. More than 100 gathered in two separate meetings this May to discuss these problems. They agreed on three reform principles designed to transform Michigan to a new era of prosperity. They are:

■ Greatly enhance the skills and potential of our people so they can compete with workers around the globe — and win. That means we must grow, retain and attract talent.

■ Invest in those competitive assets which differentiate Michigan from other places in order to best attract and retain those who provide jobs and other talented people.

■ Make our public sector nimble, thrifty and accountable.

And now it's your turn — your chance to weigh in and refine these ideas for statewide transformation. The Defining Moment Campaign will launch more than 80 statewide Community Conversations in October and November. Through those meetings, more than 1,000 additional leaders and engaged citizens will discuss and refine these reform principles. Then we will tackle the job of prioritizing the trade-offs in taxes and public services that may be necessary to achieve significant change.

This is not something new, or unique to Michigan. In northwest Ohio, more than 20,000 citizens have worked together to come up with priorities and solutions for transforming that struggling region. In New Jersey, citizen panels are working to rewrite the state's outdated tax system. In New Orleans, officials are hearing from the diaspora of residents displaced by the hurricanes of 2005.

They may be elsewhere, but they are weighing in on the rebuilding plans through large-scale, teleconferenced town hall meetings. Involving citizens in discussing and refining these reform principles and in making the tough trade-offs required to achieve them is the highest challenge of our times.

Truly, what we are about to do will be Michigan's Defining Moment. And through the campaign, you, too, can have a voice in the future of your state. I'll further detail the reform ideas for Michigan and the Community Conversations in additional columns over the next several weeks. Meanwhile, to learn more or reserve a seat for a conversation near you, go to www.thecenterformichigan.net.

Don't toss out those proxy statements with junk mail

I don't know about you, but I no longer read half my mail. The junk mail comes and I shred it without opening it. One piece of mail that may be considered junk mail but merits close attention is the proxy statements from various companies.

Unfortunately, because these documents are sometimes confusing and difficult to understand, they get thrown away.

It is important for investors to review these documents to make an informed decision on investments.

Proxy statements are required by law to be sent to investors when a publicly held company seeks shareholder approval on a corporate matter.

In the proxy statement, you will find information on proposals along with other pieces of information including executive compensation, insider ownership and credentials and affiliations of directors who serve on the company's board.

WEALTH OF INFORMATION

Proxy statements contain a wealth of information about the company and its management. One piece of information I find helpful in reviewing proxy statements is how many shares of the company are owned by the directors and management team.

Money Matters

When I analyze investments, I want to see members of the management team owning the company stock. After all, if they're not committed to the company, why should I be?

When I review a mutual fund proxy, one item I always focus on is fees. I am a big believer that fees do matter and before a mutual fund company raises my fees, it better have a very good reason. In most cases, if a fund company is seeking to raise fees, it's an indication something is changing within the company and I ought to be aware. Underperforming funds that already have high fees are typically the ones that ask for more fees.

PROPOSALS VARY
Some of the proposals in proxy statements may seem somewhat strange and unusual. The reason is you do not have to be a large shareholder to submit a proposal. Some proposals also have political and social implications.

In today's world, voting is easier than it's ever been. The traditional method of voting is to cast a ballot by mail. However, in many situations a shareholder can also vote by phone or the Internet.

Whether you choose to vote your proxy or not, the key is to review the document to increase your knowledge of an investment.

An informed investor is a successful investor. When you receive proxy statements from a company and, in fact, even when you receive annual and quarterly reports, it's a good idea to spend some time reading the document. An informed investor is a better investor.

Decathlete Terek 10th in World Championships

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Terek

Paul Terek's next return to the Orient will hopefully be Beijing, China, for the 2008 Summer Olympic Games. The Livonia decathlete survived his latest trip to the Far East, finishing 10th with 8,120 points in the IAAF World Track and Field Championships held last week in Osaka, Japan. Terek's coach in San Luis Obispo, Calif., Harry Marra, reported in an e-mail that Osaka was "hot, humid, draining." "Beijing will be the same, only add smog, dirty air," he added. "So physically, it was a war zone out there. Paul is sore, but healthy coming out of the meet." It was best finish among his three trips to the Worlds for the 2004 Olympian, but stifling conditions took a toll on the entire field.

The top two Americans, 2004 Olympic silver medalist Bryan Clay and 2003 World champion Tom Pappas, dropped out of the competition with injuries. Clay suffered a quad injury and completed only four events, while Pappas, unable to continue after the first event of the second day, will more than likely undergo foot surgery for plantar fasciitis. Roman Serble of the Czech Republic, scoring 8,676 points in the 10-event discipline, overhauled Maurice Smith of Jamaica on the second day for the World title. Smith took the silver with 8,644, while Dmitry Karpov of Kazakhstan captured the bronze with 8,536. On opening day, Terek started off well, posting a time of 10.95 seconds in the 100-meter dash, but he finished the day in the medical tent after collapsing from heat stroke in the 400 (posting a time of 49.34). His other marks on the day included 23 feet, 7 inches (long jump), 47-8 (shot put) and 6-5.5 (high jump). Hooked up to an IV, Terek's heart rate dropped to 115 coupled with high blood pressure. Marra, unable to locate his competitor for an hour, eventually got Terek back to the hotel just after midnight. With just under four hours of sleep, the 1996 Franklin High grad got back on the track Saturday to finish off the competition. He posted performances of 15.1 seconds (110-meter hurdles), 146-7.5 (discus), 17-0.25 (pole vault), 183-0.25 (javelin) and 4:37.38 (1,500-meter run). Terek, former Big Ten Track and Field Athlete of the Year and NCAA decathlon and indoor runner-up in the pole vault, bested his 2007 USA Track & Field National Championships showing in Indianapolis of 8,036 points, but was below his personal best of 8,312 points established in the 2004 USA Olympic Trials. The 27-year-old Terek is no stranger to Japan, perhaps more well-known when he competed on a pair Japanese TV shows which feature obstacle courses and challenges involving speed, strength, agility and coordination. He competed in Sasuke (Ninja Warrior), where he reached the third stage, and Muscular Athlete Championship, which he won.

Sidelines

Silvernail stars

Albion College senior receiver Josh Silvernail (Livonia Clarenceville) hauled in four passes for 163 yards and two touchdowns in the Britons' season-opening 42-14 loss Saturday to Division 1-AAA member Butler University (Ind.).

Silvernail caught TD passes for 63 and 67 yards from Blake Evans in the second half.

Albion plays its next three games at home, starting Saturday against Wheaton (Ill.) College.

Hole-in-one club

■ Livonia's Michelle Sroka used a 6-iron to ace the 166-yard, No. 11 hole Saturday during the semifinals of the Michigan Women's Golf Association Match Play Championship at Dunham Hills.

Sroka's foursome included Jackie McFarland (Livonia), Nancy Serra (Clarkston) and Sue Merrick (West Bloomfield).

■ On Aug. 28, Norman Larson, 80, of Wayne, used an 8-iron to ace a 110-yard, par-3 hole at Fox Hills Strategic Fox Golf Course. Larson shot a round of 49.

Golden glove

Concordia College first-year short-stop Tony Pounders (Livonia Stevenson) was named to the 2007 Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference's Gold Glove team recognized by the baseball coaches as one of the WHAC's top nine defensive players.

Youth baseball tryouts

■ The Livonia Travel Baseball Club, along with the Livonia Baseball & Softball Association, will stage 2008 tryouts for the following age groups for players who are committed to playing at a high level while preparing them for high school baseball.

Make-up tryouts for the following age groups will be on Saturday, Sept. 8 at Rotary Park (fields nos. 1 and 2): Under-9: 9-11 a.m.; under-10, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.; under-11, 1-3 p.m. Tryouts for the following age groups will be Sunday, Sept. 9 at Rotary Park (fields nos. 1 and 2): Under-12: 10 a.m.-noon; under-13: noon to 2 p.m.; and under-14: 2-4 p.m. (rain date is Sept. 15).

Players ages are determined as of May 1, 2008. Arrive 30 minutes early to register and warm-up.

For more information, call Bruce Rosen at (313) 531-0721; or e-mail mblr1218@aol.com.

Stevenson gains Lakes triumph vs. Rocks, 3-1

Anytime Lars Richters can get a win against longtime nemesis Salem — no matter what the Rocks' record might be — he'll take it. The Livonia Stevenson boys soccer coach let out of a deep sigh of relief Tuesday night as his host Spartans gained a hard-earned 3-1 victory. Stevenson, last year's Division 1 state runner-up, is off to a 4-0 start, including a 2-0 mark in the Lakes Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association. The loss drops Salem to 0-2-4 overall and 0-1 in the division.

Stevenson's Chris Long celebrates after scoring his team's first goal during Tuesday night's 3-1 Lakes Division win against Salem.

BOYS SOCCER

"I have tremendous respect for Salem and their program — I'm pleased that early in this season that we played a pretty strong game," Richters said. "But everybody knows it's a long season and they (Salem) will continue to improve."

Midway through the opening half, Stevenson's Chris Long scored from Adrian Fylonenko to make it 1-0 for the Spartans.

Salem sophomore Mohammad Pourmandi tied it later in the half on an assist from Kevin Cope.

The Spartans took the lead for keeps, 2-1, before halftime, on a goal by Brian Klemczak assisted by Joey D'Agostino.

David Simor tacked on an insurance goal from Brandon Kopitz to make the two-goal margin hold up.

Connor Burton (first half) and Justin Collins (second half) split the goalkeeping duties for the Spartans, who also received strong play on the back line from Dylan Green.

W.L. NORTHERN 2, CHURCHILL 1: Aaron Rosenberg's free kick from 25 yards out late in the second half proved to be the difference Tuesday as host Walled Lake Northern (5-1, 2-0) dumped Livonia Churchill (2-3, 0-1) in a WLAA Lakes Division matchup.

After a scoreless opening 40 minutes, Churchill's Adam Bedell scored from Etienne Lussiez to make it 1-0 early in the second half.

Northern tallied the equalizer on an "own goal" off a deflection later in the half.

"Everything fell apart the last 15 minutes," Churchill coach Reid Friedrichs said. "We had a goal called back and should have been awarded a couple of penalty kicks. It went from good, to bad, to ugly."

Goalkeeper Adrian Motta stood out despite the loss for the Chargers, who lost Bedell to a red card in the second half.

Capsule outlook of area boys cross country teams C3.

The Livonia Churchill boys cross country team was overshadowed last year by its female counterpart, which finished runner-up in the Division 1 state meet.

But with three returning first-team All-Area performers returning for the 2007 season, the Charger boys will be looking to carve out their own identity.

Coach John McGreevy, now in his 13th season, hopes to improve upon last year's 22nd-place finish at the state finals following a third-place showing at the regional and runner-up finish to Plymouth at the Western Lakes Activities Association meet.

"The conference is very competitive this year with a number of teams that can win the championship," McGreevy said. "Churchill should be one of the challengers."

With Novi and Novi-Detroit Catholic Central assigned to the Whitmore Lake regional, the scramble is on to win the Salem regional, which includes six WLAA schools — Churchill, Livonia Franklin, Livonia Stevenson, Canton, Plymouth and Salem — along with four more from the Michigan Mega Conference and four others from Detroit Public School League.

"I would like to think with the new regional assignments that we have a shot to make states," Stevenson coach Eric Mink said. "However, Churchill looks to be quite strong once again and the Plymouth-Canton schools are always tough. We'll just keep working hard and see where we end up in October."

October and September should be Churchill's months as the Chargers return seniors Brandon

25th anniversary marks softballers' strong bond

STAFF WRITER

The team name is different these days. But the mix of slow-pitch softball and friendship haven't changed one bit for nine guys who show up every season to play recreation softball in Redford Township.

Those guys - wrapping up their 25th season together - play for the Inspired Packaging Solutions team, formerly known as Curtis Mathes, in the Redford Friday Night Men's Softball League (organized by Redford Parks and Recreation).

"We're starting to get a kick out of being called 'old men,' 'old timers' and a new one this year, 'grandpa,'" said one of those longtime players, John Szybisty, one of the team's founders when it joined the league in 1978. "It's especially fulfilling when we've won or been very close. Win or lose, blow-out or close (game), it doesn't matter. We're there, week in and week out, competing and giving the youth a run for their money."

Szybisty added that the guys are "just not running quite as fast as we used to."

The 25-Year Gang also include another founder, Mike Harris, as well as Tim Kubera, Joe Santana, Joe Carrier, Mike Franz, Ron Hymes, Mark Azzopardi and Mike Mardiros.

For those players, the league they play in is just a little bit different than the one they joined in the late 1970s or early 1980s. Back then, all but two or three of each team's players had to live in Redford; today, so-called outsiders from Garden City, Livonia and other communities are welcomed to fill out rosters.

For example, Harris lives in Farmington, Franz lives in Westland, Todd Cabanaw hails from Plymouth and Livonian Dennis Montie also is on the squad.

"To stay competitive, the league has evolved more into an 'open style' than the primarily resident league it was when we began," Szybisty continued.

"It also has kept a very family friendly environment as well, with good sportsmanship and safety shown as primary concerns.

"All in all, (it's) a very enjoyable part of the summer that we just keep looking to come back to year after year."

Szybisty, meanwhile, tipped the bill of his cap to Scott Gray of Redford Parks and Recreation for helping keep the league going strong. Gray is coordinator of the softball program.

Even prep prognosticators can be fooled a-la college

Pigskin prognosticators all over the land were sacked for huge losses Saturday as Appalachian State handed University of Michigan the upset of the century in college football. (Hey, it's only 2007, so that's not too much of a reach.)

So, whether you're talking college or high school, this job of "grid picks" is not such a sure thing. The U-M meltdown at The Big House perhaps takes a little bit of the sting out of what was a so-so week for those of us in the Observer sports department. You throw in all the information you have on a particular matchup into the mixer and see what gets churned out.

Obviously, this isn't rocket science. But people like to guess what could be happening with their favorite teams, so I guess it is somewhat of a community service that football forecasters big and small attempt to provide.

And since Livonia-Westland Sports Editor Brad Emons last week basically called my first-place showing in Week 1 a fluke, I guess I should be gloating about another top finish last weekend. But both of us didn't exactly light it up, tying at 6-4 for the week to edge Plymouth-Canton Sports Editor Ed Wright, who went 5-5 and is struggling with an overall mark of 12-11.

Yours truly, the Redford-Garden City Sports Editor,

Grid Picks

remains at the top of the standings with a record of 15-8, one game ahead of Emons. I'll enjoy the view for now.

That's because there are no guarantees. It never fails that a slam-dunk pick - whether concerning a bonafide powerhouse or a team at the bottom of the heap - goes awry every week.

So, fully aware that any contest can be this week's version of Appalachian State-U-M, here is the slate for another unpredictable week of games.

FRIDAY'S GAMES (ALL AT 7 P.M. UNLESS NOTED)
WAYNE (1-1) AT PLYMOUTH (2-0) AT P-CEP, 4:30 P.M.: These two WLAA Western Division rivals collide after posting impressive victories and both will be eager to open conference play on a winning note. The Wildcats pounded crosstown rival Plymouth Salem while the Zebras trounced host Walled Lake Central.
PICKS: Smith (Plymouth); Wright (Plymouth); Emons (Wayne).
LIV. CHURCHILL (2-0) AT W.L. CENTRAL (0-2): Both the Chargers and Vikings play their first WLAA Lakes Division game headed in opposite directions so far. In order for the Vikes to turn things around, they'll have to move the football despite Churchill's defensive standout Ryan Whittum.
PICKS: Smith (Churchill); Wright (Churchill); Emons (Central).

W.L. WESTERN (1-1) AT LIV. FRANKLIN (0-2): The host Patriots are keyed up to win their conference opener, but to do so means having to slow down a high-powered Warriors attack. Western last week routed Walled Lake Northern, 37-2.
PICKS: Smith (Western); Wright (Franklin); Emons (Western).

CANTON (1-1) AT NORTHVILLE (0-2): This game will pit two teams with polar-opposite offensive philosophies as the Chiefs rarely throw more than five passes a game while the Mustangs are apt to put the ball in the air close to 50 times. PICKS: Smith (Canton); Wright (Canton); Emons (Canton).

W.L. NORTHERN (0-2) AT JOHN GLENN (1-1): After the Rockets fizzled in the final minute Thursday against Canton, they'll be chomping at the bit when Walled Lake Northern comes to town. The Knights, meanwhile, have nowhere to go but up after a slow start.
PICKS: Smith (Glenn); Wright (Glenn); Emons (Glenn).

LIV. STEVENSON (2-0) AT SALEM (0-2) AT CEP, 7:30 P.M.: Could this be this week's Appalachian-U-M mismatch? Nah, probably not. The Spartans gained 419 yards offense last week against Livonia Franklin, and Salem will have difficulty slowing them down.
PICKS: Smith (Stevenson); Wright (Stevenson); Emons (Stevenson).

WOODHAVEN (1-1, 1-0) AT REDFORD UNION (1-1, 0-1): If the host Panthers are to stem the tide, it would be a good idea to do so against the Warriors, fresh off a 27-0 thumping of Taylor Kennedy. RU should rebound from a tough loss to Wyandotte Roosevelt and have a dynamic running duo of Yourey Wilson and David Calolia - who combined for nearly 350 yards in the defeat.
PICKS: Smith (RU); Wright (RU); Emons (Woodhaven).

GARDEN CITY (1-1, 1-0) AT YPSILANTI (1-1, 1-0): Week 3 might be a bit early for a Mega Blue showdown, but one of these teams could start to get on a roll with another win. The Cougars are eager to build off of a 14-9 win over Romulus, their first victory since 2005.
PICKS: Smith (Ypsilanti); Wright (Ypsilanti); Emons (Ypsilanti).

SATURDAY'S GAMES (ALL AT 1 P.M.)

LIV. CLARENCEVILLE (0-2, 0-2) AT B.H. CRANBROOK (0-2, 0-1): Livonia Clarenceville needs to get on track and this Metro Conference matchup with winless Cranbrook-Kingswood could be the right tonic.
PICKS: Smith (Clarenceville); Wright (Clarenceville); Emons (Cranbrook).

A.A. GABRIEL RICHARD (1-1) AT LUTHERAN WESTLAND (1-1, 1-1): The Fighting Irish scored 51 points in a come-from-behind win against Sacred Heart Academy, and will be looking to keep the momentum going. But the host Warriors also won, with a solid defensive effort against Livonia Clarenceville.
PICKS: Smith (Gabriel Richard); Wright (LW); Emons (Gabriel Richard).

RED. COVENANT (1-1) AT OLD REDFORD ACADEMY (1-0): After winning in their opener, the Spartans took it on the chin 49-7 at Galesburg. But their opponent this weekend lost 51-0 in its lone contest so far. Something has to give.
PICKS: Smith (Covenant); Wright (Covenant); Emons (Old Redford).

RED. THURSTON (0-2, 0-1) AT INKSTER (2-0, 1-0): The Eagles have struggled mightily, giving up 61 points in two games. Inkster, even though in the lower Mega Gold, will go into the matinee on a high note after blanking River Rouge, 36-0.
PICKS: Smith (Inkster); Wright (Inkster); Emons (Inkster).

Crusaders defeated in tourney final

Point Loma wins Seaside Invitational in California

It was a case of déjà vu for the Madonna University volleyball team on Saturday at the Seaside Invitational at Point Loma Nazarene University in San Diego, Calif.

The Crusaders took the day's opening match 3-0 (30-21, 30-26, 30-23) against Hope International, but fell in the tournament's championship match against the host Sea Lions in three games (30-20, 30-27, 30-15) to end the tournament at 2-2 and run their season record to 5-4.

Following the championship match, Livonia Churchill product Jacqui Gatt and Lubovj Tihomirova were named to the all-tournament team.

Much like Friday's match against Point Loma, the Crusaders could never find a good hitting rhythm and fell in three games. MU did hit better than Friday (.137 compared to .080), but it was not enough to overcome a .320 hitting percentage and 54 kills from Point Loma.

Game two was the closest of the match as MU stayed with in two points of PLNU, but could not get over the hump and fell 30-27.

Tihomirova once again led the way with 13 kills, with Gatt posting 18 digs. Joining Gatt is double digit digs was sophomore Brynn Kerr (Livonia/Schoolcraft) with 10 of her own.

Saturday against Hope International, the Crusaders bounced back from an early deficit to take the lead for good at 8-6 on a pair of aces from Tihomirova.

MU extended the lead and put the opening game of the match away with aces from Gatt and Liz Dempsey (Livonia/Franklin) to take game one 30-21.

Game two was much like game one until HIU went on a run to take a 13-11 lead and forced Madonna head coach Jerry Abraham to call a timeout.

MU responded with a kill from Whitney Fuelling and used four more points, including an ace from Redford's Amy Szymanski (Livonia/Ladywood) to retake the lead at 15-14.

The two sides took turns holding the lead with neither side holding a lead of more than two points until a trio of Mary McGinnis kills and a combo block from Inta Grinvalds and Stephanie Parslow helped take game two 30-26.

In the clincher, the Crusaders raced out to a 9-1 lead behind kills from Fuelling and Tihomirova.

Hope International crept back into the match taking advantage of a few Madonna miscues, forcing Abraham to call a time out at 18-13. The time out paid off as Hope committed a service error coming out of the break and MU then went on a 7-3 run, capping the streak with a Dempsey kill to hold a 25-16 lead.

A Gatt service ace forced match point, but Hope would not go quietly, reeling off three points to make it 29-23 and forcing Abraham to call his second time out and once again it paid off, as a Tihomirova kill ended the match and gave MU a 3-0 win.

Fuelling and Tihomirova led the way with 11 kills each, while Gatt recorded 23 digs and Grinvalds added 32 assists.

On Friday evening, Madonna fell 30-19, 30-22, 30-24 to the Sea Lions, taking away some of the momentum from an earlier 3-0 win over Dominican (Calif.).

The hot hitting that was everywhere for the Crusaders in match one was absent in the night cap as MU hit just .080 and produced just 34 kills to a .370 hitting percentage and 55 kills for Point Loma.

Tihomirova was the only Crusader player to record double digit kills with 15. Gatt led the way again with 16 digs. Grinvalds chipped in with 11 digs and 31 assists in a losing effort.

The Crusaders open their home schedule on Friday when they host the annual Julie Martin Memorial Tournament at the Madonna Activities Center (MAC).

Play gets underway at 3p.m. Friday with MU taking on Davenport followed by a 7 p.m. match against Taylor University (Ind.).

Lady Ocelots split Schoolcraft College went 3-3 overall in last weekend's Owens Community College Tournament in Toledo, Ohio.

The Lady Ocelots, now 8-5 overall, lost two of three matches on Saturday defeating Clark State (Ohio), 31-29, 30-24, before losing to Lansing CC, 30-23, 12-15, and Parkland (Ill.), 21-30, 25-30.

On Sunday, Schoolcraft bounced back to win a pair of matches against Flint Mott CC, 30-14, 30-20, and St. Clair CC, 30-19, 31-29. SC lost to Columbus State (Ohio), 14-30, 26-30.

JV soccer champs

The Livonia St. Michael's Grade School JV boys soccer team captured the 18th annual St. Alfred's Tournament, Aug. 24-27, in Taylor with victories over St. Pious (7-0), Sacred Heart (5-2) and Our Lady of Good Counsel (6-1). Members of the St. Michaels team, coached by Pat Fanning, includes Troy Branton, Scott Cole, Jake Fanning, Matt Hughes, Matt McGillivray, Drake Morse, Lucas Pucheta, Andrew Brow, Rory Brosnan, Ryan Gibson, Richard Hayward, Tommy Herrmann, Josef Pisek, Zach Bowling, Steve Barczuk, Jordan Cernick, Ben Grund, Gregory Killroy, Ryan McGillivray, Owen Maher and Patrick O'Dowd. Assistant coaches include Bob Bowling, Sean Brosnan and Gene O'Dowd.

BOYS CROSS COUNTRY CAPSULE OUTLOOK

LIVONIA CHURCHILL
 Head coach: John McGreevy, 13th year.
 League affiliation: Western Lakes Activities Association (Lakes Division).
 Last year's finish: 22nd (Division 1 state meet); third (regional); runner-up (WLA meet); first (WLA Lakes Division).
 Notable losses to graduation: Mark Pilat (second-team All-Area); Brian Robertson (second-team All-Area); Jim Waterbury.
 Leading returnees: Brandon Grysko, Sr. (first-team All-Area); Joe Varilone, Sr. (first-team All-Area); Mark Waterbury, Jr. (first-team All-Area); Mark Freyberg, Soph. (second-team All-Area); Paul Folk, Sr.
 Promising newcomers: Nathan Wise, Jr.; Matt Szado, Jr.; Michael Schmidt, Jr.; Quinn Osgood, Soph.; Ryan Keeling, Soph.; Patrick Tremel, Jr.; Tom Winkle, Jr.; Josh Wasser, Sr.
 McGreevy's 2007 outlook: "Joe Varilone and Mark Waterbury have been outstanding so far. Paul Folk has blossomed as a senior and Brandon Grysko has always delivered at crunch time. The key to our success will be the improvement of our kids - Mark Freyberg, Nathan Wise, Matt Szado, Michael Schmidt, Quinn Osgood and Ryan Keeling. These young runners will determine how far we'll go as a team."

LIVONIA FRANKLIN
 Head coach: Walt Reesor, fourth year.
 League affiliation: WLA (Western Division).
 Last year's finish: 10th (Division 1 regional); 10th (WLA meet).
 Notable losses to graduation: John Church, Josh Walker, Jeremy Diamond, Seth McRobb, Elliot Smith, Luke Solt, Chris Schotten, Aaron Taylor.
 Promising newcomers: Austin Jones, Fr.; Chris Noffze, Sr.; Garrett Hay, Jr.; Zack Belanger, Soph.; Eric Czech, Soph.; John Ferreira, Soph.; Bobby Wilson, Fr.; Cory Jacobson, Fr.
 Reesor's 2007 outlook: "This should be a very good year for our team. Our boys have worked extremely hard in the off-season. We have a strong group of returning varsity runners this year and with the help of Tobin Jones, our runners have completed many precise and strenuous workouts in preparing for the season. Our lead runners should help us make a big jump in the standings this year."

LIVONIA STEVENSON
 Head coach: Eric Mink, second year.
 League affiliation: WLA (Lakes Division).
 Last year's finish: eighth (Division 1 regional); ninth (WLA meet); third (Lakes Division).
 Notable losses to graduation: Dave Antishin, Bryan Betke, Dave McIntyre.
 Promising newcomers: Joe Urso, Fr.; Brian Fenech, Jr.; Scott Brewer, Fr.; Andrew Longhi, Fr.; Travis Gosselein, Soph.; Brandon Cicala, Fr.
 Mink's 2007 outlook: "There will be a lot of competition to get on and stay on the varsity squad. There are 37 guys this year. I have three who have been leading the way, then there's a gap. If we can tighten up the fourth and fifth runner, we'll be alright. We have a nice freshman class of 10. I really like the potential there. Urso has already ran a varsity race, and Brewer had a nice first race as well. I see about 10 guys that could potentially be our fourth man. I'm hoping that some juniors and seniors will step up and we can be a competitive squad this season."

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN
 Head coach: Jess Shough, 19th year.
 League affiliation: WLA (Lakes Division).
 Last year's finish: 12th (Division 1 regional); 12th (WLA meet).
 Notable losses to graduation: None.
 Leading returnees: Jeff Adkins, Jr.; Tim Boes, Jr. (co-captain); Larry Dawkins, Sr.; Mike Gardner, Sr. (co-captain); Ryan Lockhart, Sr.; Shawn Long, Sr.; Eric Mlynar, Jr.; Steve Shak, Soph.
 Shough's 2007 outlook: "With the return of our entire squad, plus the addition of several promising newcomers, the team is looking to improve on last year's standings and win the City championship. They've been working hard all summer to accomplish this."

WAYNE MEMORIAL
 Head coach: Ed McGovern, fifth year.
 League affiliation: WLA (Western Division).
 Last year's finish: ninth (Division 1 regional); 11th (WLA meet).
 Notable losses to graduation: James Holbrook (second-team All-Area); Kelvin Lewis, Jr.; Jacob Schiffield, Sr.; Braham Mender, Sr.
 Promising newcomers: Mike Gallagher, Jr.; Patrick McKinzie, Jr.
 McGovern's 2007 outlook: "For the past two years the Zebras have been improving as a team, but with the loss of four seniors, and only five returning runners, this promises to be a tough year. The runners that are on the team are hard-working and hungry for faster times, but a lack of depth will probably hurt their team performance. The team is still trying to recruit new runners in hopes that the groundwork can be laid for the 2007 and future seasons."

LUTHERAN HIGH WESTLAND
 Head coach: Jeremy Fabris, second year.
 League affiliation: Metro Conference.
 Last year's finish: eighth (Division 4 regional); third (Metro Conference).
 Notable losses to graduation: Matt Edwards, Nick Gaur.
 Leading returnees: Spencer Lyle, Jr. (first-team All-Area); Josh Rice, Sr. (captain); Ross Pursifull, Sr. (captain); Alex Kemp, Jr.
 Fabris's 2007 outlook: "At this point, I see us slightly better than last year with Bealfield, Banks and Robinson filling in for Gourd and Edwards. Lyle, Rice and Pursifull are still the front-runners for the team. Alex Kemp looks a little stronger than he did last year. It's early, but I feel we may have a chance to do better than that this year. We still have boys interested in possibly coming out for the team this year, so it will be interesting to see just how far we can go this year."

Lady Ocelots cruise past Lake County, 9-1

Three players with Observerland ties scored goals in their first regular season game with Schoolcraft College's women's soccer team Saturday, as the Lady Ocelots rolled to a 9-1 victory over visiting Lake County College (Ill.) in the opener.

Finding the back of the Lake County goal were Clare Baptist (Plymouth), Jessica Austin (Livonia Franklin) and Ally

WOMEN'S SOCCER

King (Livonia Stevenson); all three also drew an assist during the rout.

"We had very good possession, work rate and controlled the tempo for most of the game," said Lady Ocelots head coach Deepak Shivraman, who needed just one game to post his first career win at Schoolcraft. "Ally King and Jessica Austin had great control over the offensive game... They created numerous scoring opportunities for others."

Scoring two goals each for Schoolcraft (1-0-0) were Megan McCabe and Sam Harrington, while Gloria Soyad and Nicole Polite collected two assists.

Other goal scorers for the Lady Ocelots included Kayleigh Maurer and Sally L'Esperance.

Also strong was Schoolcraft's defense, paced by Livonia Churchill alum Margaret Mayer (who assisted on a goal), Maurer and L'Esperance.

Livonia Ladywood product Jessica Tuggle earned the victory with some "great goal-keeping," added Shivraman.

Davenport spoils Crusaders' day, 2-1

Two second-half goals Tuesday were enough for Davenport University to nip host Madonna University, 2-1, in a men's soccer match at Greenmead Field in Livonia.

The Crusaders got on the board first, when Livonia Stevenson's T. J. Djokic rifled a shot from the right side past

MEN'S SOCCER

Panthers goalkeeper Tyrone Avniti just 10 minutes into the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference match.

That's how the game remained until Efrain Hernandez chipped the ball behind MU's Kristofer Lyons (seven saves) with just under 28 minutes remaining to deadlock the match at 1-1.

Hernandez then broke in and beat Lyons from the left side, with 3:43 to go.

The defeat dropped Madonna's mark to 2-2-1 overall and 0-1-0 in the conference while Davenport improved to 3-0-1, 1-0-0.

On Saturday, MU defeated host Albion College, 2-0, in a non-conference matchup as Djokic and Doran Drai each tallied unassisted goals in the 22nd and 67th minutes, respectively.

Lyons made five saves to earn the shutout.

Madonna soccer trio earn conference honors

The Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference honored three Madonna University soccer players for having outstanding weeks.

Livonia native T. J. Djokic (Livonia Stevenson) was selected the WHAC Men's Soccer Offensive Player of the Week after netting the game-tying goal in a 1-1 tie at Bethel College (Ind.) and he added another marker in a 2-0 triumph over Albion College. For the week, the senior midfielder collected four points, helping MU to a 2-0-1 record.

His teammate, senior goalkeeper Kristofer Lyons, earned the conference's first-ever Defensive Player of the Week honor after giving up just two goals in three games between Aug. 26 and Sept. 2. He stopped eight of nine shots during the week.

The defensive award was added by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics prior to this season.

Meanwhile, MU's women's soccer program also had some conference honors as junior midfielder Ashley Stoychoff was named WHAC Women's Soccer Offensive Player of the Week.

Stoychoff, a junior from Canton, scored her second game-winning goal of the young season in a 1-0 conference victory over visiting Cornerstone.

Nick Lewin scored a pair of goals Tuesday as Walled Lake Western (3-1, 1-0) opened WLA Western Division play with a win at Livonia Franklin (1-4, 0-1).

Franklin took a 1-0 lead in the first half on Joe Boettcher's goal from Steve Trapp, but Lewin answered with a pair of goals before intermission to give the Warriors the lead for good.

Franklin got a man-advantage when Western's Mark Wright was sent off with a red card midway through the first half.

"The game started 45 minutes late," Franklin coach Vic Rodopoulos said. "Both teams were scrambling to find legal shin guards. We had a couple of PKs (penalty kicks) and handballs that did not get called."

Goalkeeper Brad Mangune stood out despite the loss for the Patriots, who lost midfielder Ryan Matthey in the second half when he was sent off for two yellow cards.

"We hit the crossbar a couple of times," Rodopoulos said. "Overall we played a pretty good game."

Western coach Lee Fruman and Rodopoulos said the game was poorly officiated both ways.

Fruman said neither yellow card was deserved.

"We overcame that and playing short-handed to come up with, in my opinion, a well-deserved and hard-fought victory," Fruman said. "They pressured us the whole game, and I give them credit for a game well-played. Both teams played a fair game; I have nothing but praise for Franklin."

"We played courageously and found a way to win it. It was a division game and a vital game against an opponent with whom we've had some great rivalries over the years."

W.L. CENTRAL 3, JOHN GLENN 1: On Tuesday, Walled Lake Central (5-2, 1-1) earned the WLA Lakes Division victory over host Westland John Glenn (1-4-1, 0-2).

Central led 1-0 at halftime following a goal by junior Evan Martinak on a penalty kick after senior Corben Titus was fouled in the box on a break-away.

Titus scored from senior Evan Dropriewski in the second half, while freshman John Alonzo's first varsity goal gave the Vikings a 3-0 lead.

The Rockets' Adam Patruno scored with eight minutes left off a corner kick from Jeff Thompson.

Senior Dennis Rau played the first 60 minutes in goal for Central, and junior Tyler Esmacher took over for the final quarter of the game.

The Vikings outshot the Rockets, 16-4.

Glenn goalkeeper Zach Redden was outstanding in defeat, according to coach Reavis Olive, along with David Kalvelage.

"It was a hard-fought, clean played game," Olive said. "I'm proud of the effort. Our guys played hard all the way around."

NORTHVILLE 8, WAYNE O: Alex Marilley and Latif Alashe each scored twice Tuesday, propelling the Mustangs (6-1, 1-1) to a WLA Western Division triumph over host Wayne Memorial (1-4-1, 0-1). Andrew Kelleher, Matt

Hagan, Nate Hrivnak and Andre Ionescu also tallied goals for the Mustangs, who led 4-0 at halftime before scoring four times in the second half to invoke the eight-goal mercy rule.

Junior Jarrod Daul posted his third shutout in goal for Northville.

Zebras keeper Jeff Nielson made a total of 15 saves.

CLARENCEVILLE 3, LUTHERAN NORTHWEST 0: Livonia Clarenceville (1-3, 1-0) opened Metro Conference play Tuesday by blanking host Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest.

The Trojans jumped out to a 2-0 halftime lead on goals by Matt Garant (from Mike Schiffman) and Matt Parent (from Jimmy Moody).

Phil Strachan completed the scoring from Chris Diaz in the second half.

Goalkeepers Garret Hintzman (first half) and Phil Hiedler (second half) combined on the shutout.

"We improved in some aspects, but we're still waiting to see our best effort," said Clarenceville's Trevor Johnson, who earned his first victory as the school's boys coach.

Grysko and Joe Varilone, along with junior Mark Waterbury.

Grysko, who normally starts slowly before coming on late in the season, was Churchill's MVP in 2006 after placing ninth at the regional (16:40.11 for 5,000 meters) and fourth in the WLA meet (16:34.17). He was also Livonia Public Schools Invitational and Lakes Division champion.

Varilone was 100th in the state meet last November with a personal-best 16:38.9 after taking 20th at the regional and 10th in the WLA.

Waterbury added a 12th at both the WLA and regional meets to go along with 122nd place at the state finals.

Second-team All-Area pick Mark Freyberg, a sophomore, along with senior Paul Folk, give the Churchill a formidable scoring combination.

Stevenson's top returning runner is senior Mike Gibbons, who clocked a 16:49 P.R. last year. He is joined by holdovers Shawn Howse and Kevin Reschke.

Livonia Franklin, meanwhile, is led by senior Evan Sirena, who qualified individually for the Division 1 state meet last season after placing 15th at the regional. He was 134th overall in the state meet with a time of 16:54.5.

Wayne Memorial lost its top runner from a year ago to graduation, second-team All-Area pick James Holbrook. Coach Ed McGovern will rely on senior Jacob Schiffield, who has been running since last season with the Michigan Accelerators, and senior Abraham Mendez, who is running cross country and playing soccer simultaneously.

Rival Westland John Glenn, trying to climb out of the basement of the WLA, keeps its entire team intact led by co-captains Tim Boes and Mike Gardner.

Meanwhile, Lutheran High Westland will try to ride first-team All-Area selection Spencer Lyle, a junior who finished 32nd overall in last year's Division 4 state meet with a personal best 16:57 after placing fifth at the regional. The Warriors finished third last year in the Metro Conference and eighth in the regional.

"We're heading to a regional (Holly) where this year where we will have a better chance to compete, and hopefully get more individuals to qualify for the state meet," Lutheran Westland second-year coach Jeremy Fabris said. "Last year, the second- and third-place Division 4 state meet teams emerged from our regional."
