'Residents suffering' in foreclosure crisis

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

With hundreds of Westland residents agonizing through home foreclosures, city leaders have indicated they want to help their constituents cling to the American dream.

"A lot of our residents are suffering," Charles Pickering, Westland City Council president, said Monday.

He estimated that many property values have plummeted 10 to 30 percent during the last two years, but he said assessments often have remained artificially high.

Pickering, speaking during a council session, said foreclosures have created empty-home blight conditions that invite crime and have hurt property values for all homeowners.

"That in my mind is the No. 1 issue in our community," he said.

Mayor William Wild, saying many analysts "are characterizing this crisis as the greatest economic challenge of our time," last week attended a U.S.

Conference of Mayors summit in Detroit to discuss the problem and ways to deal with it.

By working with lenders and homeowners, Wild said it is his hope that "we can protect this piece of the American dream."

According to Wild's office, Westland has had 424 mortgage-related foreclosures this year, alone, although the city also has had 523 home sales.

During better years, however, Westland would typically see between 1,000 and 1,200 home sales, city Assessor James Elrod said. In another telltale sign of the problem, he said, many people hoping to buy are looking strictly at foreclosed homes, which they can usually get cheaper.

Pickering, in his unsuccessful mayoral campaign against Wild this year, said thousands of residents told him they are worried about losing their homes or seeing their property values plummet.

In one block, alone, Pickering said he saw three

Almost a half-century after he married and left home, 75-year-old Melvin Guthrie Jr. came back Friday for a festive party marking the long-awaited opening of Westland's historic Octagon House, where he grew up.

"I've got all kinds of good memories of this house," he said, standing in a sunroom that was once a porch.

Guthrie Jr. lived in the home with his parents, Melvin Sr. and Vera, his older sister, Rosemary, and his younger brother, Thomas. They grew corn and sold it

Arrival of Santa Claus warms up chilly night

BY DARRELL CLEM

Kerry Finley and sons Ryan, 5, and Kyle, 4, braved bone-chilling weather Monday evening to see Santa Claus and watch as a huge display of holiday lights came on, lighting up the front lawn of Westland City Hall.

Like a couple hundred other spectators, Finley expected to have to stand outdoors for the city's annual holiday ceremony. Instead, city leaders moved the tradition next door to Fire Station No. 1, crowding people inside the fire engine bays and raising the doors to let people see more than 100,000 lights switch on outside.

Finley and others literally warmed up to the change in location.

"I think it was a good decision," he said.

Finley's children enjoyed the holiday lights and a chance to see Santa and Mrs. Claus, even though the boys already had seen the jolly man in red this season.

"I told him what I want — a remote control Jeep," Ryan Finley said.

Westland author Nancy Spinelle read one of her Christmas stories Monday just before the St. Damian

Elementary School Choir performed holiday songs Jingle Bell Rock, Joy To The World and Here Comes Santa Claus.

As if on cue, the Clauses arrived not by sleigh, but in a big fire engine that rolled up in front of the station and dropped them off. Apparently the reindeer were elsewhere taking a long winter's nap in preparation for the gift-delivering task that lay ahead.

In the true spirit of the season, Mayor William Wild's administration wrapped up a scarf-collection effort to help city children who need a little buffer from the winter cold. Deputy Mayor Courtney Conover said "hundreds" of scarves had been collected and will be turned over to The Salvation Army, which will distribute them in places like the Norwayne neighborhood.

In another holiday tradition, city officials honored children who wrote winning essays on What Christmas Means To Me. The winners: Mackenzie Lago, 10, first place; Mark Markaj, 8, second place; Karley Lynne Buford, 10, third place; and Emily Rosowski, 10, and Stephanie Chapman, 9, honorable mention.

Westland man killed in I-75 crash

A Westland man was killed Tuesday night during a three-semi crash on I-75 near the Ambassador Bridge in Detroit, Michigan State Police said.

The 11:17 p.m. accident closed off traffic for several hours as road crews worked to clear the accident scene, police said.

The investigation into what caused the accident was continuing. Authorities hadn't released the Westland man's name because relatives hadn't been reached, according to the MSP post in Detroit.

Alcohol was not a factor in the accident, according to police.

Surgeon trains to treat mass casualties in Israel

Teacher faces more charges, stiffer penalty

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

A Wayne-Westland middle school teacher is facing additional tenure charges and a stiffer penalty as the result of a vote by the school board Monday evening.

The board voted 6-0 with Trustee Terrance McClain absent, to proceed with the amended tenure charges against longtime teacher James Zoltowski. The amended charges were filed with the State Tenure Commission on Nov. 28 by Superintendent Greg Baracy.

"The action the board took in amending the charges speaks for itself," said Baracy.

The vote came after a brief closed hearing that had been requested by Zoltowski who has been assigned as a visiting teacher with no reduction in compensation since the first tenure charges were filed in September.

In its initial charges, the district contended that the Zoltowski had received numerous verbal warnings for "unprofessional and unethical" behavior and communication with staff, parents and students, dating back to 2004-05. The amended charges stem from his performance as a visiting teacher.

In addition to amending charges, the district also is asking for a 180-day suspension without pay. Initially, it had asked for a 90-day suspension.

Zoltowski has been with the school district for 38 years. He was hired in 1969 and taught at Wayne Memorial High School until 1989 when he moved to John Glenn High School for one year. He also taught at Adams Middle School, and since 2006-07 had divided his time between Marshall and Stevenson middle schools.

A physical education instructor for most of his career, he was teaching technology when he was moved to visiting teacher status.

The district has asked the commission to approve the suspension. Under the Tenure Act, Zoltowski has 20 days from receipt of the school board's decision. An appeal would necessitate a hearing before an administrative law judge.

In response to the first round of charges, his attorney Bill Young said that Zoltowski would appeal. Young is representing Zoltowski on behalf of the Wayne-Westland Education Association.

"My client claims it didn't happen," he had said. "He will challenge the charges and say they didn't happen."

The Rev. Gerry Bechard of Sts. Simon & Jude Parish in Westland visits with state Sen. Glenn Anderson, D-Westland, during a trip to Lansing, where Bechard recently gave the guest invocation for a Senate session.

AROUND WESTLAND

Concert, toy drive

The Westland Community Foundation is inviting the public to a Christmas reception featuring John Glenn High School's Glenn Singers 6-8 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 13, in the school's media center, on Marquette between Newburgh and Wayne.

The cost is to bring an unwrapped, new toy as a donation for children being helped by the Westland-based Salvation Army.

Refreshments and hors d'oeuvres will be prepared by Chef Tony and his students from the William D. Ford Career-Technical Center.

A drawing will be held at 7 p.m. for a raffle for a new truck.

Attire is business casual. Anyone planning to attend should call (734) 595-7727.

Wrestling Club

Westland Bottle Rockets is a wrestling club for ages 5-14. The club meets on Monday and Wednesdays from 5:30-7:00 p.m. in Gym 4 of John Glenn High School, 36105 Marquette, west of Wayne Road, Westland, Michigan. The club runs from November through March and costs $20. For questions or more information, contact Judy at judylaw1122@yahoo.com or calling (734) 634-4595.

Surplus food

The City of Westland will distribute surplus federal food 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 20, at the Dorsey Community Center, 32715 Dorsey, south of Palmer, to eligible residents living north of Michigan Avenue.

The pickup time and location for Westland residents south of Michigan Avenue is 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Monday, Dec. 10 - or the second Monday of each month - at St. James United Methodist Church, 30055 Annapolis, between Henry Ruff and Middlebelt. Call (734) 729-1737 for more information.

Senior citizens living in Taylor Towers will collect their food at Taylor Towers and should contact the building manager about the distribution day. Greenwood Villa residents pick up their food items at Greenwood Villa.

The December distribution will include frozen beef, noodles and tomato sauce. This program is administered by the Wayne County Office of Senior Services. All food allocations, distribution sites, and dates of distribution are determined by that agency.

Further more information, call the Dorsey Center's surplus food hotline at (734) 595-0366.

Holiday Fest

The 20th annual Family Holiday Fest and Tree Lighting, hosted by Wayne County Parks and the Friends of Nankin Mills, will be held

4-6 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 8, at the Nankin Mills Interpretive Center, 33175 Ann Arbor Trail, Westland.

The old-fashioned celebration will feature indoor holiday crafts and unique seasonal games, such as fruitcake bowling, from 4-5:15 p.m. and a short outdoor community tree lighting and sing-a-long with an indoor visit from Santa Claus afterwards.

There's a $4 per person charge for crafts and games. Call (734) 261-1990 for more information or visit the Web site at www.nankinmills.org.

alongside Newburgh, then a dirt road near where the house stood.

"This means a whole lot to me," Gutherie Jr. said Friday, during an invitation-only, ribbon-cutting ceremony that came two days before the restored Octagon House was formally opened Sunday to the public. "It makes me feel good that this house has been restored."

The eight-sided house, built in the mid-1800s and flanked by two additions from the 1930s, has made two moves since Gutherie Jr. lived there - first to Warren

Road near Hix and finally to the Westland Historic Village Park, where it has stood since April 2002 off Wayne Road near Marquette. Gutherie Jr.'s son, Melvin Gutherie III, who also spent some years in the house with his own family, also returned home Friday.

Westland historians and countless volunteers have worked tirelessly to restore the two-story Octagon House, one of the city's most historically significant buildings. The 10-room, two-bath house was crowded Friday with spectators who wanted to tour it.

"It's a very important day for all of us," said Jo Johnson, who chairs the Westland Historical Commission.

Visitors marveled at the house, sparsely decorated with antiques such as an old stove, refrigerator, dolls and glass-enclosed war relics. A Christmas tree and decorations had been put up by the city's new garden club.

"This is a big day. We've been waiting for this day for a long time," Mayor William Wild said, shortly before cutting a ceremonial red ribbon with Westland Historical Commissioner William Tremper. "These are the kinds of things that make Westland a great city."

The Octagon House is situated near the Westland Historical Museum and other historic buildings, including the 1800s-era Rowe House, a Greek Revival-style house next in line for renovations. As Friday's celebration approached, volunteers rushed to finish getting the Octagon House ready.

Local historian Georgia Becker earlier sold T-shirts, coffee mugs and other items with her late husband, Howard, to raise money to renovate the Octagon House.

"I love it," she said of Friday's grand opening. "It's been a long time coming, and Howard would be thrilled."

City leaders have said the Octagon House, open to the public 1-4 p.m. Saturdays, eventually could be used for events such as wedding receptions.

Dance company shows skills at recital

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

Dancing will take over the stage at John Glenn High School Friday evening as the John Glenn Dance Company presents its fall recital.

The show will be presented at 7 p.m. and will feature 22 dance numbers, ranging from solos to group performances and covering a variety of styles — jazz, lyrical, classic ballet, tap and hip hop. Tickets are $5 and available at the door.

"The girls are responsible for choreographing their own solos, so all of the solos are choreographed by students," teacher Sheri Grove said.

This is the second year for the dance company. It has 12 female members — freshmen to seniors and beginners to advanced dancers. Grove and Carey Christian decided to bring it back the Dance Company last year.

"Carey and I were talking about how dance was an important part of our experience when we were at Glenn," said Grove. "We decide to offer it as an extracurricular to give those who dance outside of school an opportunity to showcase their talents at school. If you're not in cheerleading or on the step team you didn't have that chance until now."

Grove added that there hasn't been a dance company at the school in almost 15 years when dance was offered as a class.

Grove is the instructor and Christian is the coach. A 1990 Glenn graduate, she was a member of the dance team while at the school.

Also helping is student teacher Rachel Anderson. The captains are Ashley Hudy and Megan Walker.

According to Grove, some of the dancers have been going to the Children's Dance Theater of Plymouth where owner/instructor Lynne Taylor has been teaching the girls a number for the show.

"We're also inviting alumni from last year's company to come back and participate in that number," added Grove. "Lynne is acting as their personal instructor and is doing it free of charge."

Dancers audition for the company each semester which meets 2:30-4:30 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Thursdays. The drama teacher at the high school, Grove admits it can become hectic when the Theatrical Guild begins rehearsals for the fall play and during rehearsals for the spring musical.

"I have to run them simultaneously when we're doing the plays," she said. "Carey will be with them in one room and I'm in the other."

houses in a row that had been foreclosed.

"It was not unusual in some neighborhoods for there to be one on every block," he told the Observer.

Ultimately, city leaders know that the long-term loss of homes not only affects residents, it also could hurt the city's tax revenues.

Pickering suggested that city officials should try to organize local seminars to help homeowners in trouble — similar to efforts being rolled out by state and federal officials.

He also said home sales could improve if the city does a one-year-only market study to help bring state equalized values — the figure at which properties are taxed — more in line with where they should be. The problems are causing some potential homebuyers to hedge.

"Those people who are trying to sell their homes — they can't," Pickering said.

Several banks have agreed to help pay for a toll-free "Hope Hotline" — (888) 995-HOPE — where homeowners are advised of ways to get a better handle on their mortgage situation with help from financial counselors.

While many foreclosures have been attributed to predatory lending practices, Pickering stressed that many residents also are losing their jobs or took substantial pay cuts — and they can no longer afford what they once could.

"It's a crisis," he said, adding that the problem affects homes from low-income to high-end neighborhoods.

City leaders agree that homeowners who find themselves in trouble shouldn't take cover and hope the problem will work itself out. Rather, officials said, those residents need to be as proactive as possible to find solutions.

Inspire Theatre offers Christmas show

The theatre group Inspire Theatre is returning to Westland to present "Twas the night before Christmas."

Performing in borrowed space, the group was forced to find another home when the church where they were housed started growing. Their desire to return to Westland was rewarded when Warren Road Church opened their doors and their chapel to host this original presentation.

Director Len Fisher, who wrote the show, says that this show has, along with great music, a smattering of most of the classic TV Christmas specials.

"It's fun, big, and oh, too much fun," says Fisher. Performances are 7:30 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, Dec. 6-8, at Warren Road Church, Warren and Farmington in Westland. Tickets are $10. For more information, call (734) 751-7057

Listings for the Community Calendar can be submitted by e-mail at smason@hometownlife.com. They also can be mailed to Sue Mason at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150, or faxed to her attention at fax at (734) 591-7279. For more information, call (734) 953-2112.

UPCOMING EVENTS

Craft show
Lathers Elementary School will hold a craft show from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 8, at the school, located at Harrison and Marquette in Garden City. There is a $2 entry fee or two non-perishable food items.

Cookies with Santa
Academic Pathways Cooperative Preschool, located at Mt. Hope Church at 30330 Schoolcraft Road, is hosting "Milk and Cookies with Santa" at 6:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 14. Admission is $4 per child, adults free. It includes cookies and milk/coffee, crafts, photo with Santa and a raffle ticket to win the signed copy of the Night Before Christmas Story that Santa will read to the children. Investing in... Southeast Michigan's future.

Detroit Edison is planning more than $600 million in upgrades to Southeast Michigan's electrical system. Work has already begun. Once completed, it will provide improved reliability for years to come. We'll be:

- Repairing or replacing hundreds of transformers, fuses, lightning arresters and other pieces of equipment.
- Trimming thousands of trees to reduce power outages.
- Replacing or reconducting miles of overhead power lines.
- Inspecting thousands of utility poles to identify and correct potential problems.
- Rebalancing Southeast Michigan's electrical system to prevent overloaded electrical circuits.

This is all a part of our ongoing commitment to deliver the energy our customers need, when they need it — today, tomorrow and into the future.

For information on Detroit Edison programs, products and services, call 800.477.4747.

Caution: Set the proper foundation for your investment club

The other day on my radio show, I was asked about investment clubs. The caller and a group of friends were thinking about forming one and wanted my thoughts. On the whole, I am very favorable to investment clubs. If run successfully, they can be profitable, educational and a lot of fun. In too many cases, though, when not run properly, they have disappointing results.

One caveat — never invest your entire portfolio through an investment club. You are going to have to make compromises to other members and that is not something you should do with an individual portfolio. Prior to participating in an investment club, it is important to make sure that you have your own independent portfolio geared for your goals and objectives. The investment club portfolio should be a supplement to your own portfolio.

There are a number of issues that need to be resolved, and

Money Matters

Rick Bloom

The first one is to focus on the goals of the investment club. Whether it is to invest in stocks, new issues, penny stocks or whatever, it is important to make sure all the club members are on the same page. Nothing will break up an investment club faster than disputes over how to invest. Another issue is how the club will be run. What is the responsibility of each member and how will the legal aspects be handled? After all, one of the goals of an investment club is to make money and whenever you make money you know there are tax issues.

Investment clubs typically require regular contributions and meetings. Those issues should be decided up front to avoid problems. Another issue is what happens when a member wants out? What formula will determine how a member's interest is valued and how will payouts be administered?

In order to prevent adverse tax consequences or undue losses, there may be a provision that a departing member is paid off over time as opposed to a lump sum.

What happens if a member does not meet their responsibility by not paying dues or doing research? There has to be some sort of methodology to handle these situations. The National Association

OUR VIEWS

Charrette: vision worth looking at

In the gloom of what has become everyday life in Michigan, there was a bright spot last week when Westland's Downtown Development Authority held a design charrette for a portion of the Ford Road corridor.

The presentation gave the city's movers and shakers and average joes a vision of what the area along Ford from Wayne Road to Central City Parkway will look like in the future. And we have to say, we think it's going to look mighty fine.

The idea is to create a pedestrian-friendly shopping district with markets, stores, trendy boutiques, bakeries and coffee shops and possibly turning the five-lane thoroughfare into a boulevard.

If you look beyond the words, you will see that when it's done, Westland will have something it lacks — a downtown. It has a civic center complex, a major shopping district and a restaurant row. But when it comes to a downtown, there's nothing you can point to and say "that's it." This plan would provide that and more.

Many of the community activities — the summer festival, the Memorial Day and festival parades, community garage sales and the like — take place in the civic center area which would anchor the western end of the redesigned corridor. It's also an area with a strong residential component that would benefit from the improvements and further serve to draw in people from outside the community.

In the world of business, Westland isn't a powerhouse. It doesn't have large industrial plants. But it does have a strong base of small businesses and an even stronger commercial base. And that bodes well for the city.

Many years ago, then-mayor Eugene McKinney envisioned a road that would encircle the mall and create a shopping district. Only one leg of it was ever completed, but Nankin Boulevard did open up areas for development. This plan could help further connect the civic center, retail and restaurant areas, using Carlson to the bridge.

We realize it will take years — many years — for the redesign to happen. We're glad to hear city leaders say it will. We're also glad to see the Downtown Development Authority pursue the design charrette. To steal from the Pure Michigan ads, this vision is pure Westland and we like it.

The time has come to expand term limits

A proposal to extend term limits will not be on the Jan. 15 ballot; if it were on the ballot, it is likely that it would go down to defeat.

Proponents of term limits have done a good job of convincing a majority of potential voters, against all evidence, that term limits have been a boon to good government.

Term limits were approved as a constitutional amendment in 1992. The amendment limited the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general and state senators to two four-year terms. It limited state representatives to three two-year terms. The amendment was passed in the midst of a national movement that began in Oklahoma, based on the idea that office holders who remain in office too long are too vulnerable to lobbyists and develop power centers that are detrimental to democracy.

But during the recent partisan battles over the state budget, term limits have been cited as a major factor in legislative inaction.

While in theory term limits seem to hearken back to the ideal of citizen legislators, the reality is that term limits have robbed the Legislature of historical perspective, left legislators with little expertise in particular areas of state government and public policy, fostered an ability to see beyond narrow partisan positions for the greater good and robbed most of experience in crafting compromises that work. Term limits have shifted institutional memory, and power, to hired aides rather than elected legislators.

Professional politician needn't be a pejorative. The state needs some professionals in Lansing. Many legislators have admitted that their lack of experience has been a significant part of the problem. We have had a series of House speakers who have come to the position after a single term in office.

It is unlikely that voters would totally abandon term limits. The Michigan Chamber of Commerce has thrown its support behind a proposal that would allow legislators to serve a total of 12 years in either the House or Senate or a combination of 12 years in both chambers. Under the current law, legislators can serve up to 14 years in both chambers, but are limited to six years in the House, eight years in the Senate.

Ironically, this proposal did not make it to the ballot because of partisan wrangling over attempts by Democrats to append other reforms that the Chamber did not support.

We believe legislators need more time in office and urge the Legislature, the Chamber and others to continue making the case for extending term limits and bring it to the ballot for next November.

Thank you for support

The Salvation Army would like to thank several Westland businesses that have supported our Christmas 2007 efforts. With their support we will serve Christmas dinner to 100 senior citizens, visit almost 1,000 shut-in individuals in nursing and assisted-living facilities, supply Christmas toys, dinner and warm clothing to nearly 800 families.

While doing this special holiday outreach, we also have continued to provide after-school programs where 30 or more children participate each day in tutoring, recreational events and receive much needed individualized love and attention during a time of day when it is most critical.

Our Social Service workers have also maintained services such as utility and rental assistance, food pantry, services to the homeless and referrals to other community services.

Please allow us this opportunity to say a heartfelt thank you to the following businesses:

The Westland Shopping Center, Macy's, J.C. Penney, Sears, Kmart, Michaels, Kroger (various locations), Heartland Market, Value City, North Side Hardware of Wayne and The Palace Super Market, for welcoming our Red Kettle Campaign.

There also are several businesses in the Westland, Wayne and Romulus area that are supporting this campaign with our Counter Top Kettles. We will be publicly thanking them at an upcoming city council meeting.

It is our wish and our prayer that the communities we serve will support these businesses.

Thank you for your time and continued support.

Theft fosters mistrust

I had my purse stolen on Monday of last week in my child's school parking lot. My purse had less than $20 in it, but had a lot of other things in such as driver's license, cell phone, credit cards, Social Security card, insurance cards, etc.

The thief never tried to use any of the cards. He couldn't because everything was canceled immediately. Yet my purse is still missing.

I have been a wreck all week, and have had to go through a mess trying to get everything canceled and replace.

I think you should do a story on the fact that when you get your purse stolen, it is more than getting "money" stolen! It ends up being a long time of c-p that you have to go through, from the feelings of mistrust and paranoia to the year you have to wait and continuously check your credit report to make sure this person is not trying to steal your identity as well.

Decision was correct

I commend the Michigan Supreme Court and Secretary of State for upholding the Jan. 15 primary and maintaining a strong Michigan tradition of including the voice of the people in deciding who the presidential nominees should be from each party. As the Republican National committeeman for Michigan, I have been through many election cycles and know that more participation by the voters is a better system that leads to a better result for democracy.

This was also a big victory for the McCain campaign. Sen. McCain won Michigan in 2000 after gaining the momentum from a strong victory in New Hampshire and appealing to Republicans, independents, and, yes, conservative Democrats who chose to vote in the Republican primary for a Republican candidate. Sen. McCain's campaign is on the rebound and I am confident that he will once again win the Michigan primary in 2008.

There are dozens of reasons why I am supporting Sen. John McCain for president of the United States. The following reasons are just a few:

- John McCain has a 25-year pro-life voting record and has never voted for a tax increase.

- John McCain will end pork barrel attachments vetoing any and all that come across his desk. He is also known as the deficit hawk in the Senate, demanding fiscally conservative values. With his foreign policy and military experience, John McCain is most qualified to be our commander in chief.

In fact, John McCain was the only Republican to criticize the failed Rumsfeld strategy and proposed the currently successful surge strategy for Iraq back in 2003. He does not need on-the-job training and is ready to lead from day one.

John McCain does not do a poll to see what's popular, he is guided by common sense principles. Finally, poll after poll shows McCain is the only Republican who can beat Hillary Clinton.

For these reasons I thank the Secretary of State and Supreme Court for doing the right thing and giving the voters of Michigan a chance to once again vote for the next President of the United States, John McCain.

All about choices

Mr. Power's "Judge nixes Dem/GOP plan reminiscent of Orwell" (Observer, Nov. 15) makes lots of sense to me.

Why in our supposed democracy only two parties are favored and promoted, parties that many view as one under two names? It certainly appears there is not much difference — only minor, cosmetic — between the two. For personal convenience or gain, politicians freely switch from one party to the other with no regrets.

Under former Soviet domination behind the Iron Curtain, countries, the so-called People's Democracies, had likewise two parties, communist and socialist, controlled from above by a common to both parties ruling clique, parties basically similar, differently only in name.

This scheme was intended to fool the ruled people into believing they have a choice in deciding how they wish to be governed, and to fool the outside world into believing these countries had democratic systems of government, when in fact they had not.

But politically savvy people there knew better. When opportune time had arrived, they got rid of this kind of mendacious systems, and adopted true democracies. Now they have real choices, several, usually four or five major parties, representing ideas and interests of corresponding electorate.

It is wrong, certainly undemocratic, for the power-wielding elite to discriminate in various ways, including ignoring and omissions, against parties other than the Republican-Democratic, especially if it happens to be intentional for some mean-spirited reason.

Don't start war in Iran

Vice President Dick Cheney is now manipulating information to start a war in Iran so we can take over its oil, too. The American people don't need another war subverting our taxes to oil companies and government contractors. We need to focus on the issues at home. Creation of jobs, housing, better education and health care and new infrastructure in the U.S. are far more important.

Impeachment proceedings are long overdue.

Denise Berthiaume

Dissenting views needed

A free press (or media) is the hallmark of a free society. Media monopolized by a few large corporations severely curtails free speech and the information needed for a democracy to make choices, as evidenced by the lack of any serious balancing viewpoints permitted in the media, during the runup to the Iraq war.

We are again dangerously close to starting another war with Iran, with the same major media outlets (i.e., Fox News) playing their crucial role of not-so-subtle cheerleaders for war. The proposed rule changes by chairman of the FCC (loyal Bushie Kevin Martin) are apparently their reward for loyalty, and yet another insurance policy to ensure continued major media complicity.

When only money gets to talk, real democracy can no longer exist, because an informed electorate is no longer possible. I fear only manufactured consent will soon exist in what used to be the most free country in the world.

Detroit needs to toughen up its homeland security

So Detroit got slammed again, this time in a survey that rated it the most dangerous city in America for having the worst crime rate, at least according to CQ Press, a division of Congressional Quarterly.

Detroit has the worst crime rate, based on the incidents of murder, rape, aggravated assault, robbery, vehicle theft and burglary. Just about as soon as the rating came out, so did critics of CQ — including the FBI, which cautioned that statistics shouldn't be taken out of context.

They're right, of course, because crime isn't about statistics. It's about people — and perception.

I live in a city completely surrounded by Detroit that is perceived by many people to be extremely dangerous. It isn't, but neither is it the safest city in America, or the state, or the metro region. I'd say that it is the safest town within the borders of Detroit, but that's about as far as I would go.

Yet, I don't live in fear because I know while there is a moderate chance that I might be the victim of a non-violent crime, like burglary or car theft, there is an extremely small chance that I will be a victim of a violent crime.

That's because crime is a complicated business. It isn't as simple as it may seem paraded on the nightly news. People rarely go about randomly shooting at each other, and when they do, that type of crime can occur anywhere, including Amish schools.

But when it comes to murder, at least, most victims have an association with the killer, whether it be a family member or the neighborhood drug dealer that everybody seems to know. As for perception, the worst type of crime a town can experience is random homicide: a thief spots a person in a car, goes over and pulls out a gun, shoots the person and steals the car.

What makes this so bad is that it could happen to anyone who just happens to be in the wrong place. And if that occurs a few times, that brands the whole town as unsafe

I don't live in fear because I know while there is a moderate chance that I might be the victim of a non-violent crime, like burglary or car theft, there is an extremely small chance that I will be a victim of a violent crime. under any circumstances.

But that kind of crime just doesn't happen often.

When you look at a community the size of Detroit, along with its rate of poverty, it's not surprising that it has more than its share of violent crime.

Many factors cause crime, including poverty, lack of education and lack of opportunity, but I am firmly convinced the overriding problem is drugs — which themselves are directly related to those other factors.

Drugs are rampant. Sit in court in Detroit and see how many cases are directly related in some way to drugs. The presence of drugs — which, by the way, are not limited to the inner-city area — is rampant. If Detroit really wants to kill its crime problem, it should turn its attention in a huge way to eliminating drugs. Crack houses should be shut down as soon as they open. Drug dealers must be arrested immediately. If it takes a military-like operation to do that, so be it. This problem must be crushed in the strongest manner.

Take some of those resources we are squandering in Iraq and bring them home, where they can do some good.

That's real homeland security.

'Millennials' are saying goodbye to dreary Michigan

He was laid off from his job as a research assistant at the University of Michigan when the professor lost his grant. She had a teaching degree from Eastern Michigan but couldn't find a teaching job in a time when schools were laying off teachers.

They now live in Chicago. The story of my son and daughter-in-law has been repeated hundreds of times in this state. It has become a Michigan cliché. Young people are leaving the state for jobs, a better urban environment, a more stable economy.

Hugh Gallagher

SEMScope, the quarterly publication of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, spotlights the situation with a special report on "keeping them here."

The stories focus on the millennials, a name given to those young people between the ages of 22 and 30. They are just emerging from college with degrees and college loan debts, looking for a future. More and more that future does not include the state of Michigan. It most especially does not include southeast Michigan.

But without those young people, the state will face ever more crushing economic problems. It will lose the tax revenue from those young professional incomes. An aging population will put stress on an already overstressed health system.

The magazine asks some young people who have abandoned the state why they chose to live in other cities. The obvious first answer is that there were jobs in those cities. Though some actually moved to another city before having a job, trusting that conditions there would make it easier to find a job than conditions in metro Detroit.

The other reasons are telling. Those other cities have viable, exciting urban centers, not just big event venues where suburbanites drive in and then drive out as quickly as their cars can negotiate the freeways. In fact, the young urbanites don't need cars in these other cities, because Washington, Boston, Chicago and even Phoenix have intelligent mass transit systems. Those other cities meld the old and the new, they transform the existing into something new and vital. They are places where people walk their neighborhoods, drink coffee at the local java joint, pick up a book or magazine at the local bookstore, buy groceries at the local market, go running or biking through the local park.

The magazine looks at some cities that are prospering — Atlanta, Raleigh-Durham, Denver. The young are flocking to these places because the new jobs are there, but so, too, is the new (old) lifestyle. In Denver, the magazine also notes a strong commitment to protecting the area's parks and open land. Time and again, young people say they want urban places that are close to recreation areas or incorporate parks into their planning. Young people run, bike, hike, kayak, etc.

As Lou Glazer, president of Michigan Future Inc., notes in the magazine it is not just sunbelt cities. Chicago, Toronto and Minneapolis have all been able to attract young professionals.

Chicago is a place of real neighborhoods, where people live, work, dine, shop. My son, his wife and their new daughter take full advantage of the Lakeview neighborhood on Chicago's northside. They live a block from Lincoln Park, part of Chicago's Lake Michigan waterfront, that the city leaders long ago recognized as a vital component to a healthy urban life. Every day, people jog, bicycle and walk baby strollers. They dine in local restaurants of every conceivable ethnic variety. The neighborhood has great locally owned businesses and national chain stores.

Of course, Chicago is not a perfect city. It has, like Detroit, a racial divide. It has its share of crime. But it also has a rich mix of people, constantly busy streets, booming local businesses and a general sense of optimism about the future.

Here in metro Detroit we're apparently happier grumbling, doing nothing and saying goodbye to our children, except when they come to visit on the holidays (if they can tear themselves away from their more vibrant cities).

First-team All-America

NAIA honors MU's Tihomirova

Madonna University's Lubovj Tihomirova became the school's eighth first-team All-America women's volleyball player, which was announced Tuesday by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA).

The junior outside hitter becomes the first MU player to garner a first-team All-America honor since 2005 when fellow Riga, Latvia, native Natalja Tinina, along with Ashley Frost, also earned the award.

She joins an exclusive All-America list of Crusaders which also includes Shelley Stanton (2002), Brandy Malewski (2000), Kelly McCausland (1995, 1996), Kari Van Deusen (1993) and Dana Finley (1991, 1992).

Tihomirova was selected earlier this season as both the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference and NAIA Region VII Player of the Year. She became the first Crusader since the 2005 season to be selected to the all-tournament team at the NAIA National Championships.

Tihomirova posted 82 kills, 15 blocks and an ace, while accounting for 91.5 points for the Crusaders, who went 3-2 in the Nationals.

For the season, Tihomirova posted a new MU single season record with 967 kills, tops in the WHAC. She also hit a .311 clip, also best in the conference while posting 142 total blocks and accounting for 1,094 points.

MU, which earned its sixth straight trip to the national tournament this season, finished with a 35-12 overall record and captured the program's 11th straight WHAC

Blazer icers win

Heather Sartorius notched a pair of goals and added one assist Saturday as host Livonia Ladywood defeated host Plymouth-Canton-Salem, 4-2, in a Michigan Metro Girls High School Hockey League game at the Arctic Pond.

Ashley Ballarin also had a goal and two assists for the Blazers, now 2-3-1 overall and 2-1 in the league.

Abby Kienbaum had the other goals, while Maria Rotondo chipped in with two assists for the Blazers, who led 2-0 after one period and 4-1 after two periods.

Goalie Michelle Wyniemko stopped 20 P-C-S shots.

Kelsey Nikkila scored both goals for the Penguins, now 0-3 in the league.

CHS alumni hockey

The annual Livonia Churchill High School alumni hockey game will be from 5-6:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 28 at Eddie Edgar Arena's B Rink.

The Churchill varsity boys hockey team will also be playing Franklin at 6 p.m. at the A Rink.

Those interested should e-mail Churchill coach Pete Mazzoni at pmazzoni@livonia.k12.mi.us.

Hole-in-one club

On Nov. 25, 16-year-old Livonia Churchill High junior Matthew Charnley used an 8-iron to ace the 172-yard, No. 13 hole at Willow Metropark Golf Course in New Boston.

MU trio lauded

Three Madonna University women's soccer players were named recently to the 2007 NSCAA All-Region second-team including junior Ashley Stoychoff and sophomores Lauren Hess (Livonia Ladywood) and Gina Leone.

Hess and Stoychoff were named first-team All-Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference for the 8-7-2 Crusaders with five and four, respectively. Leone helped anchor the MU backline as the Crusaders finished 7-4-1 in the WHAC.

John Glenn wins opener vs. Belleville

Westland John Glenn made an early season statement Tuesday with a season-opening 66-59 boys basketball victory at Belleville.

Senior forward Earl Hardison led the victorious Rockets (1-0) with 22 points and seven rebounds.

Senior guard Keshawn Martin chipped in with 12 points, while senior forward Stefan Marken finished with 11 points.

Marken and Derrick Crosby each grabbed seven rebounds.

Glenn led 33-27 at the half and 50-43 after three quarters.

"Belleville is hard to guard and they're athletic, so we made it an emphasis to get back five-on-five defensively to give us a chance," Glenn coach Dan Young said. "We were able to get enough stops to hold them off."

Glenn was 10-of-12 from the foul line, while Belleville was 9-of-11.

The Tigers (0-1) finished with four players in double figures led by Kourea Hayes' 12 points.

Kyle Gupton added 11, while Vinnie Boyd and Ricky Love each added 10.

"Anytime you go to Belleville on the road and get a win, it's a good start," Young said. "They've got a lot of basketball tradition. Our guys have worked hard leading up to this point and it's a good start."

Glenn returns to action Tuesday, Dec. 11, at home against Novi.

Crusaders whip Alma College, 76-66

MEN'S BASKETBALL

Madonna University turned up the offense in the second half Tuesday to lift the Crusaders to a 76-66 nonconference win over Alma.

MU (4-6) made just 13 of 30 field-goal tries in the opening 20 minutes, but still led 32-24 at the break. The host Crusaders maintained a comfortable lead in the second half, when they connected on 17-of-32 attempts (53 percent).

Leading the way with 14 points was senior point guard Charlie Henry (Canton Agape Christian), while senior guard Jon Battle helped the cause with 13 points. Contributing 12 points each were senior forward D.J. Bridges (Canton) and junior guard Cedric Sims (Wayne Memorial).

Tallying 20 points for Alma (0-6) was Matt Brown.

On Saturday, Rocky Mountain scored 17 points in overtime to post a 102-93 victory over Madonna in a nonconference men's basketball contest at Havre, Mont.

The Crusaders (3-6) trailed 48-45 at halftime but forced OT with a 40-37 margin in the second half only to let the game slip away when the visitors went on their scoring surge.

Bridges led all scorers with 28 points while Battle and Henry contributed 23 and 18, respectively, for MU.

On Friday, Madonna defeated NAIA Division I Montana State University-

Northern 89-85, thanks to a 54-36 rally in the second half.

Netting 22 points each for the Crusaders were Bridges and Battle, with Sims adding 19.

Battle was named WHAC Player of the Week (Dec. 3) for the second time this year after averaging 20.7 points during a three-game stretch.

Ocelot men falter

Schoolcraft's men's basketball team lost 78-73 Saturday to Black Hawk (Ill.) College-East, despite 21 points from Greg Leavell and 18 from Marvin Walker in the Highland CC (Ill.) Tournament.

On Sunday, Lincoln Land (Ill.) defeated Schoolcraft, 85-62, dropping the Ocelots to 1-6 overall.

Spartans earn runner-up finish

PREP WRESTLING

Patriots 3rd at Glenn

Livonia Franklin captured four out of five matches in Saturday's Rocket Team Invitational at Westland John Glenn.

The Patriots opened with a 60-6 win over Dearborn before losing to eventual champion Clarkston, 47-17. Franklin also defeated Belleville (32-30), Walled Lake Central (58-23) and Roseville (44-27).

Dan Woodall (189-215) went 5-0 on the day for Franklin, while Matt Hintz (135), Brandon Smith (140), Brandon Billiau (145), Don Stratz (152-160), Jared Pieknik (119), Garrett Hay (160-171) and Mike Modes (285) each finished 4-1.

"If you had told me that we would be 4-1 and only lose to Clarkston, I would have been happy considering we graduated 10 seniors," Franklin coach Dave Chiola said. "But everyone showed room for improvement. The past three years I think we peaked at this tournament. We definitely have room to grow and improve."

"We only have about three kids with any real varsity experience and it showed. A lot of mental mistakes, a lot of hesitation and not the aggression that I'm used to. They're very good and enthusiastic, but it will take some time to jell."

Stevenson kickers lead All-Observer field

FIRST TEAM
GK - SASA MISKOVIC, SOPH., SALEM: Only a sophomore, the Novi Catholic Central transfer made a sudden impact on the Rocks and the WLAA as he recorded nine shutouts and was voted to the WLAA's All-Lakes Division team.

"Even though he's only a sophomore, Sasa was one of the top goal-keepers in the state this year," said Salem coach Ed McCarthy. "He has great size for a goalie, he's good at coming out to get the ball and he has tremendous quickness."

F - COLIN ROLFE, SR., PLYMOUTH: Rolfe was in the running for the state's "Mr. Soccer" award after completing a sensational season in which he netted 28 goals and 22 assists. The four-year varsity player finished his career with a school-record 65 goals and earned an athletic scholarship to the University of Louisville.

"Colin is such a dynamic player," said Plymouth coach Jeff Neschich. "He was very good as a freshman, but he improved year after year due to his strong dedication to the sport and our program. He played forward and mid-field — wherever we needed him."

MF - BRIAN KLEM CZAK, JR., STEVENSON: The Spartans co-captain capped off three excellent seasons as a starter, leading the team with eight assists and totaling seven goals and 22 points (third best in both categories).

Klemczak did all that in addition to his strong commitment to defense.

"Brian's high level of fitness allows him to cover a lot of ground and to excel at both ends of the soccer field," said Stevenson head coach Lars Richters. "He is an outstanding student-athlete (4.3 GPA) and a tremendous person away from the field."

Klemczak earned All-Western Lakes, All-District, All-Region and All-State (second team) honors. Meanwhile, he captained last summer's Michigan Wolves team to a second-place finish at nationals.

D - SCOTT ZECH, JR., CANTON: With a stunning combination of speed, skill and instinct, Zech was one of the state's premier defenders in 2007 and one of the mainstays in Canton's drive to capturing the WLAA championship. Zech is a two-year All-State honoree and is well on his way to a third

D - KEVIN COPE, JR., SALEM: Primarily a defender, Cope was called upon on several occasions to spearhead the Rocks' offense off set pieces. Three of the third-team All-State performer's four goals were game-winners, including one against cross-campus rival Canton. Cope was voted on to the WLAA's first-team All-Conference contingent.

"Kevin is one of the top one-way defenders in the state," said McCarthy. "He's great in the air and he's a very flexible player who we can bring up into our attack."

D - DYLAN GREEN, SR., STEVENSON: Green, a co-captain and second-year starter, earned team MVP honors for Stevenson while netting five goals and five assists from the back line.

For his efforts, he received selection to the All-Conference, All-District, All-Region and All-State (honorable mention).

"Dylan has the ability to be a talented forward," noted Richters. "But he has always placed the team's needs first. As a result, he has developed into a solid, intelligent and skillful back player."

MF - PAT NOLAN, SR., CANTON: A senior captain, Nolan was one of the main reasons the Chiefs enjoyed such a stellar 2007 campaign. He earned All-WLAA honors thanks to his all-out-effort style and knack for making big plays and scoring timely goals.

D - RON BERGER, SR., GARDEN CITY: Berger was Garden City's defensive anchor for two seasons, starting every game and being a big reason for the team's 9-8-1 record. In addition to clearing the ball out of danger numerous times in front of the Cougars' goal (he collected three saves), he chipped in with a goal and three assists.

"He is 6-1 with good vertical clearing and (passes) well with his head," said Garden City coach Bill Torni. "The other teams' set plays were hindered by this ability."

He was player of the game seven times and was named the Cougars' MVP, as well as being selected to the all-Mega White and all-district 6 teams. The Livonia Meteors club player intends on continuing with soccer in college.

MF - JEREMY STOYCHOFF, JR., SALEM: The Rocks' junior mid-fielder earned All-Lakes and All-District honors thanks to his hustling, unselfish play. While he didn't rack up flashy stats, his skillful passing ability generated plentiful scoring opportunities for his teammates.

"Jeremy has outstanding vision and a tremendous ability to find the open player with passes," said McCarthy. "He's a very good defender, too."

F - BRYSON MACHONGA, SR., PLY. CHRISTIAN: Machonga has been an assist machine for the Eagles the past four years, having racked up 54 helpers the past two seasons alone, including 28 with 13 goals in 2007. The captain earned Division 4 All-State honorable mention status.

"Bryson has been a consistent player throughout his career at Plymouth Christian, but he saved his best for last in his senior year," said PCA coach Larry Machonga. "Bryson plays with a lot of confidence and he and Ross (Gerulis) helped lead us to the championship this season."

MF - JOEY D'AGOSTINO, JR., STEVENSON: The second-year starter played virtually every minute of every match for Stevenson, finishing second on the team in assists and sixth in points. His contributions earned him All-Lakes Division honors, as well as All-District selection.

"Joey is a very smart player with good skill level and the ability to keep possession of the ball," Richters said. "He has a knack for positioning himself in just the right places. When he wasn't on the field, we simply were not the same team."

D'Agostino, meanwhile, was captain of the Michigan Wolves 15U team that won the national championship in summer 2007.

D - BRADY THOM, SR., STEVENSON: Thom,

a co-captain and second-year starter for the Spartans, was a major factor why Stevenson gave up just six goals in 20 games this season, said Richters. That perhaps was why teammates honored him with the team's "Unsung Hero Award."

"Brady is one of the nicest young men to go through our program," the coach continued.

"He had the respect of everyone on the team for his willingness to do whatever the team needed without looking to take any of the credit."

The Pearl Harbor Memorial Fund needs your help to preserve the memories of the greatest generation.

The current USS Arizona Memorial museum and visitor center, built in 1980, is not only over-crowded, it is sinking into its Pearl Harbor landfill.

Many of the artifacts donated by veterans and their families, like the Paxton Carter scrapbook, can not be exhibited due to these deteriorating conditions.
