'Long shot': Park may not reopen this year

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Central City Park is virtually certain to remain closed this summer as county and city leaders inch toward a cleanup plan that officials concede will come with a multimillion-dollar price tag.

Even so, officials hope that a new round of methane tests in coming weeks will help them close in on a remediation plan for the park, a former landfill that also is widely contaminated with lead in places like the baseball diamonds.

"The odds are very long that the park will be available this play season," Assistant Wayne County Executive Alan Helmkamp said Monday.

His remarks followed a 75-minute meeting at Westland City Hall that, for the first time in 15 months, involved residents in talks with Wayne County officials, city leaders and Michigan Department of Environmental Quality representatives. The session drew a couple dozen citizens and was far less contentious than the public thrashing that officials endured in November 2006, when it became known that the park's contamination had been kept quiet for years.

Mayor William Wild, a former city council member who was among those kept in the dark, ordered the 100-acre park fenced off when he became mayor 13 months ago. Officials indicated Monday the site will remain closed indefinitely.

The latest meeting came after methane probes found elevated levels of the gas — common to landfills — in soil near the Bailey Recreation Center and Westland 18th District Court. Fire Chief Michael Reddy confirmed that four rounds of tests inside those buildings found zero levels of methane in recent weeks.

Elevated methane, which can potentially cause an explosion if it seeps into confined spaces, has triggered plans for a new round of testing in soil and groundwater in coming weeks closer to the municipal complex and also on the park's east side near Carlson, where earlier results indicated no problems.

Moreover, the county's environmental consultant, Soil & Materials Engineers Inc. of

Trash hauler submits reorganization plan

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Westland's trash-hauling company expects to survive financial woes that landed it in U.S. Bankruptcy Court late last summer, and city officials confirmed that garbage-pickup complaints by residents have tapered off.

Inkster-based Midwestern Sanitation Co. filed a Chapter 11 plan to reorganize amid hopes of emerging in a better financial position and remaining in business.

"I'm very optimistic," company President Paul Ruthenberg told the Observer.

Midwestern has submitted its reorganization plan in U.S. Bankruptcy Court in Detroit, he said, and interested parties, including creditors, will have several weeks to respond with any objections. Ruthenberg is hopeful that the court will formally accept the plan by spring.

Midwestern, part of a trash-hauling company that also includes Painter & Ruthenberg Inc., has historically been the city's garbage contractor. It lost business in some communities, but continues to serve Westland, Taylor, Inkster and Sumpter Township.

Ruthenberg indicated that the company's financial problems began after it tried too hard to expand, resulting in "uncontrolled growth" that impeded its ability to provide top-notch service as a small, family owned business.

"It's an extremely humiliating process to go through for any family," he said. "But we're back to doing business the way we did maybe 15 years ago, and it's comfortable."

City officials have remained hopeful that Midwestern's financial position will improve, because Westland's trash-hauling costs could potentially skyrocket by having to switch to a bigger company.

Responding to questions, Mayor William Wild said the city still receives sporadic complaints about garbage pickup, but the number of problems has decreased. A smaller volume of trash also could be helping the

McClain bows out of school board race

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

Just over 24 hours before Wednesday's 5 p.m. deadline for filing petitions in the May 6 school election, incumbent school board Trustee Terrance McClain made it official: He will not seek a second four-year term.

McClain made the announcement Tuesday afternoon. He had pulled petitions last week for the election, but said he "struggled with the idea of being an active participant with everything I have going on."

"It was a very difficult decision," he said in a phone interview. "I love this district, I love what I do, but I needed to take something off my plate."

Two four-year terms, currently held by McClain and Cindy Schofield, will be filled in the annual school election.

McClain

his wife's health and his position as a minister/evangelist at Annapolis Church of Christ in Westland as reasons for not seeking re-election.

"The church has been very gracious about the time I have spent on education and graduate degrees, I owe it to them to focus on my ministry," he said.

McClain was appointed to the board in October 2003 to fill a seat vacated by Richard Eisiminger and was elected to a four-year term in June 2004. At the time, he described himself

Schofield, the current board vice-president, has said she will seek a third term. McClain cited his work on his doctoral degree, his wife's health and his position as a minister/evangelist at Annapolis Church of Christ in Westland as reasons for not seeking re-election.

He began working on his doctoral degree last fall and hopes to complete the program in four years. His goal is to follow in his father's footsteps and become a university professor teaching counseling.

"My father retired as a university professor, he's now a consultant with the Georgia Department of Education," McClain said. "I've got some big shoes to fill."

He currently is licensed to be a school counselor and has a limited licensure in counseling. He has a position at Trenton High School that is related to his doctoral work at Oakland University.

"When I worked on my master's, my instructors were flexible; they'd let me go to (school) meetings and not count it as an absence," McClain said. "These professors are not like that."

McClain added that his decision "provides for someone else the opportunity I had for five years."

As of last Friday, four district residents — Schofield, Shawna Walker of Wayne, Brian Mulligan of Westland and Robert Robinson of Westland — had pulled petitions. Petitions also had been requested on behalf of Christopher Szabo.

"I love the district, I like to believe I brought something positive to the position," McClain said. "My colleagues on the board have been great to work with."

Hearing postponed again in beating case

Dressed in a suit and free on a $50,000 surety bond, a Wayne man appeared last Thursday in Westland 18th District Court for a preliminary hearing to determine whether he should face trial on charges of beating his pregnant girlfriend and causing a miscarriage.

But Daniel Reed Jarrett II's hearing was adjourned until March 6 — marking the second delay — after a defense attorney asked visiting Judge William Szlinis for more time.

Jarrett is accused of beating and kicking his 19-year-old girlfriend, who was 21 weeks pregnant, during a Jan. 3 incident at a friend's residence at Woodland Villa, an apartment complex near Warren and Central City Parkway in Westland.

Jarrett could face penalties ranging up to life in prison, if he's convicted of assaulting a pregnant woman and intentionally causing a miscarriage/stillbirth.

The victim has returned to Texas, where she had met Jarrett while he was attending Abilene Christian University, Westland police Sgt. Michael Harhold has said. The couple had been visiting Michigan when police said the incident occurred.

According to police, the incident erupted during an argument over whether Jarrett's girlfriend should have had an abortion.

Tenants return home after broken pipe fixed

Residents have returned to a high-rise Westland apartment building after a water pipe burst Sunday evening during one of the coldest days of the year.

Fire officials were called when the pipe ruptured at Hunters West Apartments and sent water flowing into some units, Chief Michael Reddy said.

Maintenance workers had to shut off power as they addressed the problem, and many residents sought warmth by staying elsewhere with family and friends.

The apartment complex is located at Yale and Hunter, in a neighborhood south of Westland Shopping Center.

ORDINANCE NO. 253

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND CHAPTER 2 OF THE WESTLAND CITY CODE BY ADDING CHAPTER 2, ARTICLE X, SECTIONS 2-701 THROUGH 2-708 TO GOVERN COMPETITIVE BIDDING FOR MUNICIPAL CONTRACTS

THE CITY OF WESTLAND ORDAINS:

Section 1. That Chapter 2, Article X, Section 2-701, of the Westland City Code is hereby added to provide as follows:

Policy
It shall be the purpose of this Article to regulate the purchasing of property by the City, consistent with the Charter and the desirable policy of assisting local business concerns.

Section 2. That Chapter 2, Article X, Section 2-702, of the Westland City Code is hereby added to provide as follows:

Definitions
For the purpose of this Article, the following words and phrases shall have the meanings respectively ascribed to them by this section:

(a) "City" shall mean the City of Westland.
(b) "City Council" shall mean the Westland City Council.
(c) "City-based business" shall mean a business which is located within the city and which has made payment of commercial, office, manufacturing or research and engineering property taxes on real or personal property to the City for at least one (1) fiscal year.
(d) "Fiscal year" shall mean the fiscal year of the City, being July 1st through June 30th.
(e) "Invitation for bids" shall mean the complete assembly of related documents whether attached or incorporated by reference, furnished to prospective bidders for the purpose of bidding.
(f) "Lowest responsible bidder" shall mean the bidder who submits the lowest bid, after utilizing the local business preference equalization formula, and otherwise meets all requirements set forth in this Code.

Section 3. That Chapter 2, Article X, Section 2-703, of the Westland City Code is hereby added to provide as follows:

Competitive Bidding: Required
Except as otherwise authorized by Michigan law or this Article, competitive bidding, to be conducted in accordance with the procedures set forth in Section 2-705 of this Article, shall be required for the following contracts:

(a) Where the obligation of the City under a proposed contract for the performance of any public work or for making any public improvement is five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars or more, sealed bids shall be solicited pursuant to the provisions of Section 2-705 of this Article.
(b) Where the obligation of the City under a proposed contract for the purchase of any materials, tools, apparatus or any other thing or things, the consideration or cost of which shall exceed seven hundred and fifty ($750.00) dollars.

Section 4. That Chapter 2, Article X, Section 2-704, of the Westland City Code is hereby added to provide as follows:

Exceptions to Competitive Bidding: Requirements
Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this Article, the bidding process as contained in Section 2-705 of this Article may be waived prior to the making of a contract for a public work or public improvement greater than Five Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars or contracting for the purchase of materials, tools, apparatus or other things in excess of Seven Hundred Fifty ($750.00) Dollars, in the following instances:

(a) In the case of an emergency which threatens the public health, welfare or safety of the residents of the City and which requires the immediate purchase of a supply, service or construction, the Mayor shall have the power to authorize the procurement of the necessary items on the open market without competition, regardless of the amount of the expenditure, but in no event shall the price exceed commercially reasonable prices. Prior to procurement of the necessary items, the Mayor and/or Department Director shall use all reasonable efforts to obtain three (3) written quotes, detailing the cost for labor and/or materials, and at the next regular meeting of the City Council following such purchase a full, detailed, written report of the circumstances of the emergency purchase shall be made by the Mayor to the City Council; or
(b) Where the subject of the contract is a product or material not competitive in nature and no advantage to the city would result from requiring competitive bidding, and the City Council, upon written recommendation of the Mayor, authorizes execution of a contract without competitive bidding; or
(c) Where a contract for goods or services is funded by a grant for which City Council approval is required, acceptance of the grant by the City Council shall be deemed an acceptance of the procurement regulations and procedures specified by the grant.

Section 5. That Chapter 2, Article X, Section 2-705, of the Westland City Code is hereby added to provide as follows:

Competitive Bidding Process
For all purchases for which competitive bidding is required, procurement of competitive bids shall be as follows:

(a) Invitations for bids. An invitation for bids shall be issued and shall include a purchase description, and all contractual terms and conditions applicable to the procurement. The purchase description shall seek to promote overall economy for the purposes intended and encourage competition in satisfying the City's needs, and it shall not be unduly restrictive.
(b) Public notice. Adequate public notice of the invitation for bids shall be given a reasonable time prior to the date set for the opening of bids. If a state or federal law or regulation controls the procurement process, the City shall comply with the state or federal law or regulation. In the absence of exigent or emergency circumstances, adequate notice shall mean publication of a public notice which summarizes the invitation for bids in a the City newspaper of record once, with the last publication being not more than one week prior to the date set forth therein for the opening of bids. After publication of one (1) advertisement, specifications shall not be changed without the publication of a new advertisement calling attention to such change.

(c) Vendor disclosure statement. All parties submitting bids for City contracts shall include with their bids a disclosure statement, as required by Section 2-507 of this Code of Ordinances, which shall disclose to their best knowledge any substantial interest held by the following individuals or their immediate family in the vendor's business; the mayor, members of city council, city clerk, department directors, deputy directors, and all other appointed boards or commissions or elected officials/employees.

(d) Bid opening. Bids shall be opened publicly by the Purchasing Agent or Controller in the presence of one or more witnesses at the Westland City Hall at the time designated in the invitation for bids. The amount of each bid and such other relevant information as may be specified by regulation, together with the names of each bidder, shall be recorded, and the record and each bid shall be open to public inspection.

(e) Bid acceptance and bid evaluation. Bids shall be unconditionally accepted without alteration or correction except as authorized in this Code. Bids shall be evaluated based on the requirements set forth in the invitation for bids, which may include criteria to determine acceptability, such as inspection, testing, quality, workmanship, delivery, and suitability for a particular purpose. Those criteria that will affect the bid price and be considered in evaluation for award shall be objectively measurable. The invitation for bids shall set forth the evaluation criteria to be used. In addition, to the evaluation criteria set forth in the invitation, the following criteria may be considered, in addition to price:

(1) The ability, capacity, and skill of the bidder to perform the contract promptly and within the times specified, without delay or interference;
(2) The quality of performance of the bidder on previous contracts with the City;
(3) The previous and existing compliance of the bidder with laws and ordinances relating to the contract;
(4) The sufficiency of the financial resources and ability of the bidder to perform the contract; and
(5) Whether the bidder is a City-based business.

(f) Correction or withdrawal of bids; cancellation of awards. Correction or withdrawal of inadvertently erroneous bids prior to the bid opening shall be allowed. After the bid opening no changes in bid prices or other provisions of bids prejudicial to the interest of the city or fair competition shall be permitted.

(g) Award. The contract shall be awarded with reasonable promptness to the lowest responsible bidder whose bid meets the requirements set forth in the invitation to bid. The City shall have the right to reject any or all bids.

Section 6. That Chapter 2, Article X, Section 2-706, of the Westland City Code is hereby added to provide as follows:

Local Business Preference
In comparing bids, the bid of any City-based business shall be deemed a better bid than the bid of any competing firm which is not a City-based business whenever the bid of such competing firm shall be equal to or higher than the bid of the City-based business, after the appropriate equalization percentage credit has been applied to the bid of the City-based firm. For all contracts with a value of One Hundred Thousand ($100,000.00) Dollars or less, the equalization percentage shall be Three (3.0%) Percent. For all contracts with a value greater than One Hundred Thousand ($100,000.00) Dollars, the equalization percentage shall be One (1.0%) Percent. The firm making the lowest bid thus evaluated shall be deemed the lowest bidder. Any bidder who claims entitlement to an equalization percentage credit shall agree to make available to the city the records necessary to establish eligibility.

Section 7. That Chapter 2, Article X, Section 2-707, of the Westland City Code is hereby added to provide as follows:

Assignment Prohibited
A City-based business may not assign or subcontract any contract with the City to a non-City-based business without the approval of such assignment or subcontract by the City Council.

Section 8. That Chapter 2, Article X, Section 2-70, of the Westland City Code is hereby added to provide as follows:

Conflicts with City Charter
In the event any provision of this Article is found to be in conflict with any provision of the Westland City Charter, the provisions of the Charter shall be controlling.

Section 9. That all other provisions of Chapter 2 of the Westland City Code shall remain in full force and effect.

Section 10. Severability. The various parts, sections and clauses of this Ordinance are hereby declared to be severable. If any part, sentence, paragraph, section or clause is adjudged unconstitutional or invalid by a Court of competent jurisdiction, the remainder of the Ordinance shall not be affected thereby.

Section 11. Repeal. All other Ordinances inconsistent with the provisions of this Ordinance are, to the extent of such inconsistencies, hereby repealed.

Section 12. Publication. The City Clerk shall cause this Ordinance to be published in the manner required by law.

Section 13. Effective Date. This Ordinance shall become effective upon publication.

Organizers ready to kick off 2008 Relay for Life PARK

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

If you like walking, don't mind doing it late at night and want to help a good cause, then organizers of Westland's 2008 Relay for Life want to hear from you.

Preparation for the 24-hour walk will be Tuesday, Feb. 19, at the AMVETS Hall, 1217 Merriman, west of Cherry Hill. Registration will be at 6:30 p.m., with the hourlong program starting at 7 p.m. Light refreshments will be served.

"Last year, the event raised more than $100,000 and we're looking to raise more than that this year," said Holly Sorrano of the American Cancer Society.

Twenty-three teams have already signed up for this year's event, thanks to an early bird special, but more teams are needed.

The kick-off event will provide an opportunity for people to get information about forming teams and fund raising and about helping with the event. Sorrano also is looking for the names of cancer survivors to participate in the survivor lap.

"Call me with the name and address and we'll send them an invitation to the event," she said.

Westland has been hosting a relay since 2001. This year's event is scheduled for May 31 to June 1 at Jaycee Park at Wildwood and Hunter. This is the second year at the neighborhood park. It was moved to Jaycee Park last year after Central City Park was closed to the public due to concerns about contamination.

Sorrano said organizers are glad to be back at the Jaycee Park.

"We're excited to be at the park again, we absolutely love the location," she said. "The track is a little smaller, so we could get cozier with the teams. We lined the entire track."

Relay for Life is the American Cancer Society's signature event. It helps raise money and awareness to support its mission to eliminate cancer as a major health issue.

Teams raise funds in advance and during the 24 hours during which members walk the track to show fact that cancer never sleeps. In addition to the survivors' lap, a luminary ceremony also is held to honor those who have lost their battle with the disease.

People interested in attending the kick-off event can call Sorrano at (248) 663-3452 or send her an e-mail at Holly.Sorrano@cancer.org. Or they can stop by the AMVETS Hall next Thursday evening.

"We always plan for more, we always have more space and food," Sorrano said. "The more the merrier."

Plymouth, will conduct its own air tests inside the city buildings, said Cheryl Kehres-Dietrich, SME senior consultant.

Councilwoman Cheryl Graunstadt has questioned whether tests also should be conducted inside the nearby police department, main fire station and at City Hall, where water is known to seep into the basement.

"This building floods terribly," Graunstadt said.

Chief Reddy has indicated that a methane monitor, similar to a carbon monoxide detector, will be placed in the Bailey Center. He also said fire officials will recommend that court officials install one.

All of the park test results, including findings of methane, surface-level and underground lead, and other contaminants, came from 56 soil borings throughout the park. County officials hope to conduct the next round of testing as early as March.

Beth Vens, the MDEQ's project manager, said the state will make its analysis of the tests a top priority. Moreover, she said there's nothing to stop county and city officials from moving ahead "now" with developing a remediation plan, as long as they include steps for venting methane from the ground.

Her remarks countered earlier statements from city and county officials that a possible cleanup plan is being delayed by the MDEQ's call for further testing.

Officials have said monitoring wells will likely remain on the park's perimeter to allow for ongoing testing, and those will be incorporated into a cleanup plan.

Some residents Monday said they want the park reopened as soon as possible, even though city and county officials still haven't developed a formula for paying for remediation efforts. The county owns the park and leases it to Westland, but the city may have some culpability because the former Nankin Township — now the city — once dumped garbage on the site.

"This worries me," resident John McGuire said. "It's a lot of money. It's a big expense."

The cleanup could potentially include hauling away some soil and certainly will involve covering the contamination with some type of barrier to protect park users. One MDEQ official has estimated the property will need capping with 30 inches of clean soil or clay.

Despite the contamination, Helmkamp reiterated that 140 children last year were tested for potentially harmful levels of lead, and ultimately no one was found at risk. Still, officials can't reopen the park for baseball, soccer and other uses until it is deemed safe.

Helmkamp predicted the park will be closed this year for a second summer, but he couldn't speculate about 2009. He confirmed that the remediation will be in phases and that it will cost millions of dollars.

Although the project will certainly be expensive for the county and potentially the city, Helmkamp said officials also are exploring the possibility of securing federal dollars to offset local costs.

School's cultural fair lets guests see world

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

"Do you know why they throw firecrackers at the feet of the dragon?" asked Sister Teresa Howard as youngsters in her kindergarten class snaked their Chinese dragon through the hallway of St. Mary's School.

"It's to keep the dragon awake," was the response. The youngsters were showing off their eight-person dragon which will be displayed during a cultural fair at the Wayne school on Sunday, Feb. 17.

Each of the school's 15 classrooms have studied a different country and will have different items, food, songs and in the case of the kindergartners, costumes related to their country. In addition to China, Vietnam, Scotland, Ireland and Japan are among countries studied by elementary grades, while the middle schoolers tackled North America, said Principal Jaylee Lynch.

The cultural fair also is an open house for parents of prospective students and is a "no pressure way of checking out our school," Lynch said.

"It's an opportunity to take a trip around the world without leaving the city," she added. "Anyone who'd like to stop in, it's a great way to see what we do in St. Mary's."

The fair will open immediately following the church's 10 a.m. Mass and run through 1:30 p.m. The school draws students from Wayne, Westland, Canton, Garden City, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Van Buren Township and Belleville. It offers a strong academic program and is in the "last leg" of the process for school of distinction, Lynch said.

"What's wonderful about the school is that the parish supports it," Lynch said. "The cultural fair is a great way for parish members who don't have students here to come in and see what students are learning."

Preparation for the cultural fair began last October and Kindergartners have been learning a little bit every day, said Sister Teresa. They have made Chinese lanterns, fans and panda bears to decorate their classroom and made their own Great Wall on the hallway.

Joining them as they walk around with the dragon will be Lucy Hoblach's kindergartners who have been studying Vietnam. Her students will wear gold hats that they made, while Sister Teresa's students will wear red hats and shake noise makers when they walk with the dragon.

Kindergartners shake noisemakers to keep their dragon awake as they rehearse for St. Mary's School's cultural fair.

The dragon was made by parent Carol Verla of Canton. She used colorful material and black see-through netting to create the dragon students hold up with poles to maneuver around the school.

Verla also made a papier-mâché head and with the help of daughter Colleen painted it and decorated with feathers.

"It's exciting," said Colleen, who gets to carry the head. "It's cool, but the head is heavy."

Parents interested in more information about the school, can call (734) 721-1240 or just show up for the cultural fair. Eighth-graders will be available for guided tours of the building.

"Anyone thinking about bringing a student here, it's a great time to meet the teachers and the staff," said Lynch.

Fish fry a crowd pleaser

An overflow crowd of nearly 600 filled the school cafeteria as St. Michael the Archangel Parish of Livonia offered its first all-you-can-eat Lenten Fish Fry of the season Friday, Feb. 8. Project chair, Bruce Murray of Westland judged the dinner to be "one of the busiest and most successful evenings yet" in the dinner's three-year history. "We've gone through more than 300 pounds of fresh, center-cut Alaskan cod and at least 175 pounds of french fries," he added, "and all the comments that I've heard have been really favorable." The dinners continue 4:30-7 p.m. each Friday in Lent through March 14, in the St. Michael School Cafeteria, 11441 Hubbard, south of Plymouth Road. The menu includes hand-dipped fried or baked cod, green beans, french fries, macaroni and cheese, coleslaw, rolls and beverages. Cost is $8 adults, $4 for children ages 3-11, free for age 3 and under. Carry-out orders available at $7 each. Stations-of-the-Cross will be offered in the church immediately after each dinner at 7 p.m. Information is available at (734) 261-1455, Ext. 200, or www.livoniastmichael.org. Pictured is Dan LaViolette of Livonia enjoying a brief break from his kitchen duties to join his wife, Jackie, and sons Mike (right), Chris (far left) and Joe (next to Jackie) for dinner.

O&E editor Klemic put 'heart and energy into her work'

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK
STAFF WRITER

Mary Klemic loved writing. Klemic chose journalism as a career while in high school at about the time of Watergate, remembers her sister, Gladys Klemic. Mary closely followed the reporting of the story and it made a strong impression on her, Gladys said.

"Mary saw journalism as a form of community service to provide useful, accurate information to the public," Gladys said. "She had a strong sense that it is important to have a free press to investigate and record events as an unbiased source of truth."

Mary Klemic, who edited a regional hometownlife section and special sections, and previously the At Home, Arts and Creative Living sections for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, died Saturday morning after battling cancer for nearly 10 years. She was 50.

"Mary appreciated the power of well-chosen words to affect people's hearts," Gladys said. "She liked to refer to historical speeches that managed to defuse difficult situations or rouse people to action or persuade them of a good cause. That was important to her — the importance of journalism in the community, that sense of community, justice and the truth. She put a lot of heart and energy into her work." She called Mary a "wonderful sister and a terrific aunt who was generous, considerate and thoughtful."

Klemic's work ethic and dedication will be missed at the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

"The news staff is saddened by Mary's death," said Susan Rosiek, executive editor of the O&E and a longtime colleague. "Mary was an award-winning member of the O&E family for nearly 25 years. Mary was passionate about her work. She truly loved being a community journalist."

"A former Observer & Eccentric Journalist of the Year, Mary was a superb and meticulous copy editor. She was so proud of the O&E award because it came from her colleagues," Rosiek added.

A Birmingham resident, Klemic was a member of the Bloomfield Hills Village Club, belonged to the Church of St. Alan in Troy, was active in her condo association board and a member of several organizations supporting arts in the Detroit region, including the Detroit Institute of Arts and Cranbrook House and Garden Auxiliary.

Klemic had a significant impact in publicizing and promoting regional developments in the arts. Linda Chomin, health and community life reporter, began writing for Klemic when she was editor of Creative Living 17 years ago.

"Mary was a strong supporter of the arts community for many years and one of the most versatile reporters I know," she said. "She was always looking for a good story and dedicated to getting the story right. But besides being a co-worker, she was a friend."

Diane Gale Andreassi worked with Klemic as a temporary reporter in the early 1980s, and later as a freelance writer. Andreassi described her as "brilliant, humble and thoughtful," demonstrating a "keen ability to write the wittiest lead."

Jeanette Keramedjian, who publicized events for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, worked with Klemic for more than 20 years. Her articles helped boost ticket sales and turned the annual events into successes, Keramedjian said.

"Her articles are beautifully written and accurate," she said. "Her articles were beautifully detailed and that's when Mary's personality really came out."

Klemic graduated from St. Mary's of Redford, then graduated with honors from Wayne State University with a degree in mass communications and English, attending on a full scholarship. She worked at The South End, WSU's student newspaper, then worked at the Dearborn/Dearborn Heights Times-Herald before the O&E.

Mary is survived by her parents, John and Rozene Klemic, as well as siblings John Klemic Jr., Gladys (Pepin Carolan), James (Kathryn) and the late Thomas Klemic.

The funeral Mass will be 10

Mary Klemic

a.m. Monday at the Church of St. Alan, 2345 Coolidge (between Maple and Big Beaver roads) in Troy. Friends may arrive at the church beginning at 9:30 a.m. Visitation is 4-8 p.m. Sunday and a prayer service is scheduled at 7 p.m. at Lynch & Sons Funeral Home, 1368 N. Crooks Road (between 14 Mile and Maple roads). Interment will be in St. Michael's Cemetery, Sioux Falls, S.D.

Memorials can be sent to Providence Cancer Center, Providence Health Foundation, 22255 Greenfield Road, Suite 228, Southfield, MI 48075. Condolences can be e-mailed to lynchfuneraldirectors.com.

Cold weather a reminder of needs of needy in our community

BY JULIE BROWN
STAFF WRITER

This week's cold weather has many of us thankful we have warm homes and workplaces. Not everyone's so fortunate.

The Salvation Army is reaching out a helping hand to homeless people and others in need during this cold snap and year-round. If you'd like to support the work of the Salvation Army in eastern Michigan, you can call (877) SAL-MICH or make an online donation at www.salmich.org.

Also under way is planning for the 21st annual Dick Puritan Bed & Bread Radiothon, to be broadcast 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. Friday, Feb. 29, from Oakland Mall in Troy in support of the Salvation Army. You can donate now either at www.salmich.org or via the radio station WOMC's Web site at www.womc.com.

Checks may be sent to the Salvation Army, Eastern Michigan Division, 16130 Northland Drive, Southfield, Mich. 48075.

"Unfortunately, the need never seems to go away," said John Hale, interim director of development. Hale cited the successful Red Kettle fundraising campaign this past Christmas.

For Christmas 2006, the Salvation Army raised more than $7.1 million, and a $7.2 million goal was set for Christmas 2007. The effort didn't do well at first, Hale said, but picked up and ended with just over $8 million raised.

"We started to get some bigger gifts," he said. "One person gave us a quarter of a million dollars." That was a big help, with needs up significantly, Hale said, citing a 292 percent increase in the suburbs alone.

"So those dollars have been put to good use," said Hale, adding donations for the Dick Puritan Bed & Bread Radiothon can be made by phone at (248) 307-1043. He noted just giving up morning coffee a few days will give you money to support the Radiothon.

Hale said the Feb. 29 event is the largest single-market, single-day radiothon in the U.S. and possibly worldwide. Its goal is $2.4 million.

"There's still a great need," he said. "It's so dangerous for people to be outside when it's 5 degrees or below."

The Salvation Army in our region provides:

- over 700,000 nights of shelter annually
- shelters more than 2,100 people daily
- serves 9,300 meals a day.

The Puritan event supports a mobile feeding truck, along with several shelters for needy people. The Salvation Army has more than 40 locations in southeast Michigan, some of which like Royal Oak aren't shelters but can be used as such temporarily with mattresses or cots for the multipurpose room.

"It's just too cold to be outside, so we do that," Hale said.

He and other Salvation Army officials particularly appreciate financial contributions. "We're able to use those dollars for purchasing power. We know exactly what we need. It allows us to be flexible," Hale said.

Another nonprofit group helping in Michigan is The Heat and Warmth Fund (THAW) at 1212 Griswold

St., 10th floor, Detroit, Mich. 48226. Those who need help with utility bills should call (800) 866-THAW (8429). Information on donating to THAW online is at www.thawfund.org. The nonprofit's e-mail is info@thawfund.org.

"Once the winter season commences, it's always an important time," said John X. Miller, chief executive officer for THAW. THAW just held its own radiothon with co-sponsor WWJ radio, which raised some half million dollars.

"Ninety percent of that will go to help people paying their utility bills," Miller said. THAW gets some matching money from utility companies DTE Energy, Consumers and SEMCO (serving the Thumb), which is appreciated.

Both men agree Detroiters are a generous bunch, even when times are tough. Hale finds Detroiters "are sharing to help their community and in some cases to help their neighbor."

"Metro Detroit is generally recognized as one of the most philanthropic communities in the country," Miller said. That probably goes to our religious diversity, he said. "I also think it's just part of our culture."

THAW works with people to avert crisis, working on such things as energy conservation. You can better insulate your home, Miller said, turn down the thermostat when going to bed and even be attentive to recharging of a cell phone or laptop.

"We're advocates for long-term solutions for energy issues," Miller said.

Rolling over into IRA is most flexible option when leaving a job

It seems almost weekly we read about layoffs, buyouts or other restructuring plans. If you are in this situation, it is important to review the alternatives and make the right decision. There is, however, one issue that every employee who loses his/her job does have control over and that's what to do with their retirement money.

When someone leaves their employer, regardless of the reason, they have a number of options with regard to their retirement account. The first option is to leave the retirement account as is. Another option is to directly transfer the retirement money into an individual retirement account (IRA). The third option — if they have a new job — is to directly transfer their old retirement savings account into a retirement savings account with the new employer.

I recommend a direct transfer into an IRA because you now have 100 percent control of your retirement money. In addition, you can also control cost.

Many retirement plans have high fees that erode an investor's return. Unfortunately, many of these fees are not readily disclosed and unless you do some research you don't know what you're paying. By directly transferring the money into an IRA, you can have better investment options and lower fees.

One of the downsides of leaving the money in your old employer's retirement plan is you are bound by its rules, which may not be as flexible as you would like. In addition, employers are changing the options within their retirement savings plan at an accelerated rate. You can be in an investment that you like, but because of an employer's change in the plan, you may no longer have that option.

If you directly transfer your money into an IRA, once you purchase an investment it's yours and you don't have to worry about any changes.

I'm not a fan of directly transferring money into a new employer's plan. Once again, it has to do with control over your money. Your new employer can decide to change its investment options and once again you have no say.

I used to have one major exception for individuals who were leaving one of the major auto companies — Ford, General Motors or Chrysler. I used to say you wouldn't be making a mistake by leaving your money in these plans. Things, however, have changed. Even though the plans offered for their current employees are still good, they're not as good as they used to be. For instance, GM has just gone through a major revamping of its retirement savings program and many funds that were offered are no longer available to investors.

Unfortunately, it's not as easy as just transferring the money into an IRA, because you have to be leery of the vultures in our society who prey on people leaving their employer. What some financial salespeople do is to put investors into high-cost, underperforming investments. I have seen many retirees who left their company and put their retirement accounts in investment vehicles such as variable annuities, which make no sense whatsoever except for the people selling them. The key to being a good investor is to keep money in your pocket.

Change won't curb citizens' comments

In November 2002, the Westland City Council came under fire when it decided to revamp its agenda, limiting citizens' comments to the first half hour of the meeting and to time at the end of the business agenda.

The idea at the time was to put an end to lengthy comments that delayed the business portion of the meeting. At the time, residents denounced the decision, saying it was an assault on their and other residents' right of free speech.

Now the council is considering streamlining the agenda even further by removing the second citizens' comments. Residents would still get to speak during the first half hour. If there are more comments than time, it would resume after the business items.

According to Council President James Godbout, the city has one of the most liberal policies for public comment in the area. He wants to make the meetings more businesslike, but the proposal isn't setting well with residents who again see it as curbing their right to speak.

While it does appear it is an attempt to rein in the amount of time people spend at the podium, it does not curb their right to speak. What is does do is allow council meetings to be conducted in a timely fashion.

Residents need to remember that the primary purpose of the council meeting is to conduct the business of the city. It convenes to do such things as approve site plans, pass ordinances and pay the city bills. It also hears comments and complaints and answers questions.

The people should be a part of the meeting, and we applaud those residents who show up at every meeting. However, residents need to understand that the business of the city is to provide services to them, and it's the council's job to make sure those services are provided. Residents are not and should not be the council's primary focus at meetings.

Citizens' comments is meant to bring issues to the council's attention and comment on agenda items. What's being proposed more than covers that. However, we believe that the time allotted for each citizen to speak should not be cut. Residents should have adequate time to address their concerns and make their comments. Godbout may call five minutes liberal, but it pales in comparison to the unlimited amount of time council members can spend speaking at the end of the meeting.

Freedom of speech is a foundation of our democratic lifestyle. We believe it will remain alive and well in Westland, even with the elimination of the second citizens' comments.

Take some simple steps to make flu season safer

Now that we're in the dead of winter, flu season — which got off to a slow start — is just starting to hit its peak.

While the number of cases from October through early January was below average, according to the federal Centers for Disease Control, the number of confirmed cases of influenza has jumped in the last month across the country. In fact, more than 30 states reported widespread influenza activity during the first week of February, and it is only expected to get worse.

The CDC's Influenza Division, which collects and analyzes information on influenza activity in the U.S. each week, reported this week that the status and severity of the flu in our area is currently high.

Between 30 million and 60 million Americans get influenza each year. As anyone who has ever had it can tell you, influenza can be a real pain. It can also be very dangerous. Each year, the disease hospitalizes about 200,000 Americans and kills about 36,000, according to the CDC.

Influenza is a contagious respiratory illness caused by several strains of the influenza virus. Its debilitating symptoms, which can last between two and seven days, include severe headaches, extreme fatigue, high fever, coughing, sore throat and muscle aches. It also can lead to life-threatening complications, such as pneumonia. Young children and adults above the age of 50 are particularly susceptible.

There are a couple of things you can do to minimize your risk of contracting the flu. First and foremost is getting vaccinated. Unlike in years past, when the amount of vaccine ran short, there are still some vaccinations available, including through the Oakland County Health Division — Flu Shot Hotline at (800) 434-3358 — and the Wayne County Department of Public Health, which can be contacted at (734) 727-7000.

Some other simple steps you can take include frequently washing your hands, and covering your mouth with a tissue (rather than your hand) when you cough or sneeze to keep germs from spreading. Also, getting plenty of sleep will help ward off the virus.

Perjury damages system

I pray Kym Worthy has the integrity to prosecute Kwame Kilpatrick and Christine Beatty for perjury. Last I knew, perjury was a federal offense ... a crime against the judicial system, attacking it at its roots and obstructing the process through which justice is carried out.

Has it become acceptable to lie under oath? What message is being sent? No big deal ... everyone (beginning with Clinton) does it ... and politicians can get away with it? If not dealt with, perjury will set a precedent and greatly damage our judicial system itself.

Recalls 'a petty waste'

As a taxpayer I would like to voice my opinion on these silly attempted recalls of elected officials. This is a complete waste of time and taxpayer money! There is a group of citizens called the Michigan Taxpayer Alliance that serves no purpose other than making the lives of our elected officials even more difficult than they are already.

Why doesn't this special interest group consider finding a way to serve our communities instead of trying to tear them apart?

As a constituent of state Sen. Glenn Anderson and state Rep. Andy Dillon (Speaker of the House), I have received immediate responses to any questions I have brought to either of them.

Andy and Glenn, thank you both for the service you give your constituents and this state. Your dedication will be at the forefront of our great state's turnaround.

People, the next time you find yourself faced with signing a recall petition, instead "ask not what your state can do for you; but what you can do for your state." Recalls are a petty waste of time!

Constitution has been ignored

I would like to see that the federal government is under control, whether both sides agree or not. This is not the case. It has become obvious that the government has been subverted to elements within the Republican Party instead of being American first.

We cannot get officials to respect congressional oversight and the president is using signing statements and executive orders to override laws passed by Congress.

The Constitution has been ignored in spite of the fact that all officials take an oath to protect and uphold the Constitution. The time to act has come.

Privacy invasion

This administration has taken too many liberties and gone against what is legal and appropriate far too many times.

The average citizen of this country, which is the largest percentage, are just living an everyday life and trying to make a living and survive, despite the cost of living steadily increasing at an astronomical rate. I wonder if this administration spies on the wealthy as much as they do the middle class and poor, or are they exempt from this disgusting and illegal practice. That the telecommunications companies do this administration's dirty deed, they should be held liable. Now all we have to do is somehow impeach this moron from the high position he has held for far too long. I'm sure many in this country are in agreement that we wait patiently with bated breath for the day that this administration is no more!

Comcast, stop whining

The scene is being replayed many times, in my living room: the Comcast invasion of their marketing muscle, telling us about their negative opinions about AT&T and the Big Ten Network.

Please, Comcast, stop giving us that apple pie image, while maintaining your ambitious course and dominating behavior of trying to crush your competition. I, for one, have waited through a 23-minute wait in your endless message loop, waiting to make human contact.

Try a new corporate game face, by steering some of those bullying dollars that you're spending trying to cripple your competition and embrace us with some good, old-fashioned human voice service.

We need a fair tax policy

Anti-tax groups are peddling an extremely simplistic, but very unrealistic and fiscally irresponsible message. Their message is that tax increases are bad and tax cuts are good. Anti-tax zealots preach that we can keep cutting all kinds of taxes without having to see corresponding cuts in the services and benefits we receive from government.

You almost never hear a serious discussion about how different taxes are paid by different sets of people, or how different taxes have differing impacts on the economy. The anti-tax folks also never point out that being opposed to taxes means also being opposed to all those government services and programs that those taxes pay for including police and fire protection, good schools — both K-12 and higher education, prisons to keep criminals off the streets, Medicare, Social Security, homeland security and our military.

On the federal level the fiscal irresponsibility of this anti-tax mentality can be seen with growing deficits being financed with money being borrowed from our children and grandchildren. Ill-advised tax cuts have led to a growing inequality between those few who have wealth and political connections and who receive much of the benefits from cutting such taxes as capital gains and estate taxes and the rest of us who pay the largest part of the cost for those tax cuts in the form of reduced government spending on such items as medical insurance for children, tuition assistance and veterans benefits.

Yes, I don't like paying taxes either. Yes, I agree that well-planned tax cuts can be fair, desirable and good for middle-class taxpayers. However, mindless demands for tax cuts without any truly thoughtful discussion and analysis are making it increasingly difficult for us to address serious, long-term problems. These problems include our deteriorating infrastructure (roads, bridges and schools) and our growing dependence on overseas oil.

We need a fair, well-thought out tax policy that leaves room for fiscally responsible tax cuts but which preserves essential government programs involving public safety, health, education, infrastructure and national security. Above all, that tax policy has to be equitable for middle-class taxpayers and not be at the expense of our children and grandchildren.

End cancer at ballot box

Do you know that one in eight women will be diagnosed with breast cancer in her lifetime? And that more than 40,000 women and 450 men die of breast cancer each year?

I know you're as troubled by these numbers as I am. That's why I wanted to tell you about a concrete step you can take right now to help end breast cancer. Susan G. Komen for the Cure Advocacy Alliance is launching a new campaign called I Vote for the Cure. It gives all of us a chance to challenge the 2008 presidential candidates to make breast cancer a priority in their campaigns.

Our next leader will have the power to make significant advances in treatment, screening and research — for all Americans. And we have the power to elect that leader. Join me in telling the candidates: American voters want to end breast cancer forever. Last year I walked all 12 walks in 12 different cities. I have walked with many survivors and I know from experience the pain and suffering they went through. Won't you please take a few moments to sign the petition on IVotefortheCure.org? Thank you for your time and God bless you.

Having right to recall lawmakers doesn't make it right thing to do

If Marc Corriveau thinks the recall effort against him is partisan politics at its worst — he does, and it is — he's also smart enough to know it's not the last shot he's going to take from Republicans angered over losing the 20th District they had claimed for so long. It's simply the latest salvo.

Brad Kadrich

Corriveau, the Democrat from Northville who won the open seat left vacant when former Republican John Stewart (himself, ironically, now a Democrat) was term-limited, was actually targeted last year, when former Republican state lawmaker Leon Drolet dragged a giant ceramic pig through Corriveau's district.

Now, a Plymouth Township resident named John Hett has drafted a recall petition aimed at forcing Corriveau out of office. Hett claims no political affiliation, and political observers don't seem to know much about him.

Hett's claim the recall is just about "one guy who got fed up" with what's going on in Lansing — after the legislature voted to raise taxes to help with the deficit — is a tough notion to swallow in an area as politically charged as this district.

Corriveau isn't the only target. Also in Republican crosshairs are Aldo Vagnozzi, who represents the Farmington-Farmington Hills area, and House Speaker Andy Dillon from Redford.

Want to convince someone these recalls aren't simply political ploys? Then come up with a valid explanation for targeting Vagnozzi, a frail, 82-year-old term-limited representative who'll be out of office this fall in the first place.

Recalling Corriveau might make sense because he's a young up-and-comer some are already touting for the state Senate seat being vacated in two years by Bruce Patterson.

One might think it made more sense for Corriveau's critics to find someone to run against him in November. Fear not, they're going to do that, too. A key Republican strategist said last week Republicans will "throw a lot of money" at the race, hoping to reclaim a seat to which, until two years ago, they could claim squatters' rights.

One might think it made more sense for Corriveau's critics to find someone to run against him in November. Fear not, they're going to do that, too. A key Republican strategist said last week Republicans will "throw a lot of money" at the race, hoping to reclaim a seat to which, until two years ago, they could claim squatters' rights.

election, when Republicans waged a nasty campaign against Beth Stewart.

And Stewart (at the time) was a Republican. Like her husband, she has since become a Democrat.

Vagnozzi said he's fighting back with a petition of his own, an unofficial campaign that says, simply, "No to recall." Corriveau isn't waging that kind of campaign and, frankly, both he and Vagnozzi probably have better, more productive things to do.

While Corriveau knows he can ill-afford to just ignore the recall, he also believes Hett isn't behind it, and the fact the real antagonist — Drolet — has made himself scarce has made him hard to combat.

"I will continue to do the job I was elected to do, and do it to the best of my ability, but I can't afford to fall asleep at the switch and ignore this, either," Corriveau said. "But, it's hard to fight a ghost."

The people out in front of these recall efforts certainly have the right to petition, and watching the Legislature slug it out in the closing moments of the budget didn't do much for the popularity of politicians.

The thought here is recalls are a waste of time and don't work often enough to make them a viable option. Unhappy with a legislator? The primary is six months away, plenty of time to find a viable candidate.

That would be an easier path to support than is the dog-and-pony show we're being asked to believe now.

Just because you have the right to do something doesn't mean it's the right thing to do.

Raising state's dropout age essential in modern economy

Gov. Jennifer Granholm has it right — raise the dropout age and do it now!

Why does Michigan have a law on the books dating back decades that makes it "legal" for children to drop out of school at the age of 16? Whose kids should be allowed to leave school without at least a high school diploma? Yours, mine? Our state policies should mirror what any of us would at a minimum want and expect for our own children.

Times have changed. There was a time in Michigan and America where one could drop out of school and get a good-paying job at a factory, join the military or work on the family farm. Those days are long gone.

Factories have not hired someone without a high school diploma, let alone a high school dropout, in more than a decade. The armed forces now require at least a high school diploma to join today — GEDs are not readily accepted. And you need exceptional skills and knowledge to be a successful family farmer today.

We have moved from a society where you needed to be able to "lift" for a living to a society where you now need to "think" for a living.

Given today's fast-paced global economy, allowing children to leave school without the education they need and deserve is state-sponsored stupidity at best and institutionalized racism at worst.

If we had the horrific dropout statistics in our white, middle-class suburbs as we do in Native American, African American or Hispanic American communities, Michigan's citizens would be marching on Lansing demanding that our lawmakers do something. If the dropout problem were viewed as a public health issue in our urban centers — it would be labeled an epidemic.

However, it is far more than just raising the legal age at which one can drop out. As responsible adults and educators, there is a moral, societal and economic imperative to develop appropriate alternative programs to educate children so they may, one day, support themselves and their families and fully participate in our democratic society.

We need to move beyond the old Henry Ford slogan, "You can have any color of car you like as long as it is black," and develop a wide array of educational opportunities

It is far more than just raising the legal age at which one can drop out. As responsible adults and educators, there is a moral, societal and economic imperative to develop appropriate alternative programs to educate children so they may, one day, support themselves and their families and fully participate in our democratic society. We need to move beyond the old Henry Ford slogan, "You can have any color of car you like as long as it is black," and develop a wide array of educational opportunities for our kids. A one-size-fits-all educational system should quickly find itself on the scrap heap of history.

Let's not forget that this is one social problem with a built-in solution. Under Proposal A, Michigan's schools are funded by the number of students attending. The local school district loses a minimum of $7,200 for every child who drops out.

Once again, Gov. Granholm has urged the state Legislature to adopt legislation that sends a clear message to our students — education matters.

We need to do more than just change the law. We need to change our attitudes, beliefs, and our educational programs to meet the needs of today's students.

Is it OK for your child to leave school at age 16 without an education to survive and thrive in the 21st century? The community and state that truly leave no child behind will also be the community and state that will rule economically. Michigan can only be that state if we are serious about doing all we can to assure our children are prepared to compete in this rapidly changing, disruptive, technologically driven knowledge economy, where ideas and jobs can and do move around the globe.

For Michigan to prosper, we must remember — it is education, stupid.

C'ville hangs tough

16-1 Trojans prevail, 76-67, in triumph over Thurston

BY TIM SMITH
STAFF WRITER

Tuesday's snow kept some spectators from attending host Clarenceville's big game against "friendly rival" Redford Thurston. But the good-sized crowd that did make the trek enjoyed sizzling action, with the Trojans holding off the tenacious Eagles 76-67 in a nonconference varsity boys basketball thriller.

Clarenceville (16-1) led all night against Thurston (14-3) until a fourth-quarter 14-2 run keyed by several steals by Eagles' junior guard Greg Morgan knotted the contest at 65-65 with one minute to play.

"Greg came up with some steals, they all played hard and never gave up," said Eagles' head coach Brian Bates.

A pull-up jumper in the lane by senior forward Delmichael Youngblood brought Thurston even for the first time since the opening tip.

Moments later, however, Clarenceville junior wing guard Jamie Stewart (28 points, 11 rebounds, four blocks) broke a 67-all tie when he drove the lane for a layup. The Trojans then finished off Thurston with seven foul shots.

But Bates lamented the turnovers and inconsistent shooting that took place earlier, enabling Clarenceville to take a 20-10 lead after one frame and maintain a comfortable advantage most of the game.

"Turnovers put us in the hole," Bates said. "They came out fired up and ready to play. It was a big game for them, a huge game for them."

Clarenceville head coach Corey McKendry said his team did get off to an excellent start, with Stewart and 6-foot-3 senior forward Jeremy Gainer scoring 13 and nine points, respectively, in the first half when the Trojans built a 37-31 edge.

All seemed decided in the final minute of the third quarter. Clarenceville's Gainer and senior point guard Lonnie Fairfax scored baskets following Thurston giveaways to pad the Trojans' lead to 53-44 after three.

Then, in the first play of the fourth, Stewart threw down a rousing slam, opening up an 11-point margin.

But the Trojans needed to catch their collective breath in the fourth, suddenly finding themselves in a ballgame.

"They (Eagles) just refused to quit, and our kids were kind of surprised at how hard they came at us," said McKendry, asked about Thurston's late rally. "And when things got real tight, our players just stepped up."

"Jamie made a great take to the basket. Lonnie Fairfax gets rolled on and makes those two free throws."

McKendry added that the coaches and players know each other, and that "the past couple years this has become a really good rivalry, a friendly rivalry. ... This is a game we circle on the schedule each year."

One reason it's a big game for the Trojans is it provides an

Schick lifts ISU

The Illinois State University women's gymnastics team is off to a 4-1 start following a 193.975-190.625 win Friday at home over Rhode Island as freshman standout Erica Schick (Livonia Stevenson) took runner-up honors in the all-around with a score of 38.825.

Schick posted scores of 9.575 (vault), 9.775 (uneven bars), 9.75 (balance beam) and 9.725 (floor exercise).

On Feb. 1, Schick was the all-around winner with a 38.675 in a 192.775-191.825 road victory at Centenary (La.) College.

She posted scores of 9.475 (vault), 9.775 (uneven bars), 9.85 (beam) and 9.575 (floor).

Blazer icers split

Livonia Ladywood is now 11-8-1 overall after splitting a pair of Michigan Metro Girls High School Hockey League games last weekend.

On Saturday, Ann Arbor improved to 11-1-1 in the league with a 5-2 win over the host Blazers at Plymouth's Arctic Pond.

Kristina Harter twice, while Angie Chronis, Rachel Freeman and Emy Gutman (empty-netter) each added one goal for Ann Arbor.

Heather Sartorius had a goal and assist for Ladywood, which slipped to 11-6 in the league. Abby Kienbaum tallied the other Ladywood goal.

Ladywood netminder Michell Wymienko made 24 saves, while Ann Arbor's Tori Carito had 20.

On Friday, eight different Blazers scored in an 8-0 mercy-rule win over Bloomfield at the Southfield Civic Center Ice Arena.

Elise Sarwarski, Kaitlin Gaule, Veronica Fradette, Eman Freij and Courtney McCauley scored first-period goals.

Niki Jacobs, Julie Bushart and Kelsey Campbell added second-period goals.

Ladywood goalie Jessica Pavela had to make only two saves en route to the shutout.

LJAL-MU clinics

On Saturday, Feb. 23, the Livonia Junior Athletic League and Madonna University staff will stage a pair of clinics (ages 7-16) including a girls fastpitch skills beginning at 9 a.m. at Frost Middle School; along with a hitting, catching and batting skills for boys from 1-3 p.m. at Churchill High School.

The cost is $25 each for the girls fastpitch skills and the boys baseball skills.

MU blows chance

Bridges' 36-point scoring effort goes in vain

BY TIM SMITH
STAFF WRITER

COLLEGE BASKETBALL

Pretty much all that Madonna University's men's basketball team had going for it Saturday was the strong play of senior forward D.J. Bridges, who set a personal record for points with 36 against visiting Cornerstone.

Bridges also hit four-of-five treys in the first half, propelling the Crusaders to leads of 14-2 after just 2:24 of the key Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference contest and 47-37 at halftime.

But during second-half crunch time, the Golden Eagles took over with dominance in the low post, rallying for a stunning 80-76 victory.

Cornerstone tallied 46 points in the paint, compared to Madonna's 20, and that keyed the Golden Eagles (13-13, 7-3) to a victory that pushed them past the Crusaders into second place. "They played 40 minutes and we played about 37," said dejected MU coach Chuck

Henry, whose team dropped to 15-12 overall and 7-4 in the conference.

Canton alum Bridges also downplayed any personal achievement. He canned 12-of-17 field-goal attempts and grabbed eight rebounds, easily leading all scorers in the afternoon game.

"The points were nice," Bridges said. "But they don't really feel good now that we lost. I'm always 'win first.'"

According to Bridges, it was disappointing to lead virtually all day for nothing.

"That was a game we really wanted to win, especially to stay at the top of the league (close to Aquinas)," he said.

"They buckled down on defense, that's for sure. And they simply made plays."

"They had some players step up and hit some shots when they needed them. ... I take my hat off to that team."

The Crusaders hit just 11 of 30 field-goal tries in the second half, while Cornerstone came to life (16-32).

Freshman forward Kelvin DeVries (15 points, seven rebounds) probably was the top clutch performer for Cornerstone.

He threw down a slam, then stole an in-bounds pass at half-court and went in for a layup on the subsequent play to cut Madonna's once-comfortable lead to 72-71 with 3:20 remaining.

"We turned the ball over on a deadball situation out of bounds," said Henry, referring to the latter basket. "That's inexcusable."

But the Crusaders managed to stay in front, barely. Bridges took a nice dish from junior guard Cedric Sims and converted a bank shot down low for his record-breaking points.

It was 76-73 Madonna after Bridges hit two foul shots with a little more than two minutes to go.

DeVries came through again, however, this time

Stevenson posts rally vs. Trenton for 4-4 tie

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

PREP HOCKEY

To say it was a productive weekend for the Livonia Stevenson boys hockey team would be a huge understatement.

Following a 2-1 victory Friday night over the state's No. 2-ranked team in Division 1, Novi-Detroit Catholic Central, the Spartans laced up their skates again Saturday in the Michigan High School Hockey Showcase and rallied for a 4-4 overtime deadlock with host Trenton, ranked No. 1 in Division 2, in a game played at Kennedy Recreation Center.

"It was two pretty high level hockey games to play and it was great for our program," said Stevenson first-year coach David Mitchell, whose team is now 20-0-2 overall. "Trenton kept forcing the issue. They like to play up-tempo and it was much more wide open than the previous night (vs. CC). It was more of a special teams battle."

The game featured a total of 61 shots and six power-play goals.

Trenton (16-1-4) led 2-1 after one period on goals by Cory Denback and Scott Henegar, while John Vella countered for Stevenson on assists from Mike Voran and captain Mark Bekkala.

Ryan Kelly put the Trojans up 3-1 at 5:54 of the second period, but Ryan Baratono answered with a power-play goal from Vella and Bekkala.

In the final period, Josh Miller put the Trojans up two goals, 4-2, but the Spartans stormed back on Vella's power-play goal from R.J. Kierdorf and Voran at 5:46 followed by Voran's goal from Bekkala and Baratono with only 55 seconds remaining in regulation.

The Spartans had a power-play opportunity during the five-minute OT session, but couldn't cash in.

Stevenson netminder Pat McHugh made 29 saves, while Trenton counterpart Marco DeGrazia turned away 24 shots.

Livonia Clarenceville's wrestling program had reason to celebrate Saturday as the Trojans earned their first outright Metro Conference championship in school history at Lutheran High Westland.

Clarenceville, the dual meet champion at 5-0, edged Macomb Lutheran North for the tournament team title, 170-161. The host Warriors were third with 134, followed by Harper Woods (121), Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest (50) and Hamtramck (15).

Semifinals set: Churchill wins at buzzer to join Glenn, Wayne

Livonia Churchill earned its first Western Lakes Activities Association boys playoff win since 1986 in dramatic fashion Tuesday night with a 51-49 triumph over visiting Walled Lake Western.

Senior guard Ryan Whittum picked up a loose ball and drove the length of the floor for the game-winning lay-up as time expired to propel the Chargers, now 11-7 overall, into Friday's WLAA semifinal against 16-2 Wayne Memorial, the Western Division champion. (Game time is 7 p.m. at Wayne.)

With the score deadlocked at 49-all, Western got possession with 2:49 left and held the ball until the final eight seconds.

The Chargers' Ryan Woods and Ryan Rosenick both tipped the ball. It landed in the hands of Whittum, who went one-on-one and beat a Western defender for the game-winning basket.

It was Churchill's third win this season at the buzzer.

"We needed one stop at the end and we got it," Churchill coach Jim Solak said. "Ryan (Whittum) was under a lot of pressure going to the basket one-on-one.

WLAA BOYS BASKETBALL

"It was a battle. Both teams beat each other up. It was very physical. But it was a good way to end a hard-fought game."

Whittum ended up with a team-high 16 points, while senior guard Andrew Vagnetti added 11.

Rosenick, a senior center, finished with nine points and 14 rebounds, while Woods, a junior guard, came off the bench to score nine.

Dramel Hogan paced the Warriors (9-9) and all scorers with 19 points. Matt Vercellino contributed eight.

Churchill won despite making only 6-of-14 free throws, while Western was 6-of-8.

WAYNE 50, W.L. CENTRAL 34: Jeremy Lovelady's double-double propelled Wayne Memorial (16-2) to a first-round WLAA playoff win Tuesday at home over Walled Lake Central (6-12).

Lovelady, a 6-foot-10 senior center, finished with 12 points and 15 rebounds.

Martez Abney and Mike Lee paced the Zebras in scoring with 14 and 13 points, respectively.

Wayne got untracked after falling behind 12-8 in the first quarter.

"I thought our defense was bad the first half even though they (Central) had only 17," Wayne coach Wayne Woodard said. "Defensively we were much better the second half. We got down on our ankles and did not get beat off the dribble. And I thought we did a good job of keeping them off the foul line."

Cody Rzeznek and Derek Mitchell each scored nine points for Central, who went 6-of-6 from the free throw stripe. (Wayne was 0-for-1.)

JOHN GLENN 73, PLYMOUTH 33: State-ranked Westland Johu Gleun (17-1) invoked a second-half running clock en route to a 40-point, first-round WLAA playoff win Tuesday at home over the Wildcats (6-12).

Senior forward Stefan Marken paced a balanced Glenn scoring attack with 17 points.

Others in double figures for the Rockets included Keshawn Martin (15), Earl Hardison (11) and Dorian Prather (10). Austin Anderson also contributed eight.

The Rockets were 9-of-12 from the foul line, while Plymouth was 6-of-13.

Glenn led 22-5 after one quarter and 41-16 at intermission. The Rockets opened up a 40-point advantage with 4:34 to go in the game.

Senior guard Brandon Roberts scored eight for Plymouth. STEVENSON 58, CANTON 49: Senior Pat

York and junior Ricky Chrsasz popped in 18 and 13 points, respectively, leading Livonia Stevenson (7-11) to a WLAA consolation round win against the host Chiefs (5-13).

Stevenson led 25-19 at halftime and 39-35 after three quarters before outscoring Canton 19-14 during the final period.

"Both Pat (York) and Ricky (Chrsasz) really stepped up and played well tonight," said Stevenson first-year coach Mike Allie, whose team shot 12-of-15 from the foul line.

Chris Bailey scored 10 to lead the Chiefs. Marlon Glynn, Will Tidwell and Dan Stoney each added eight.

FRANKLIN 67, W.L. NORTHERN 52: Jeff Poole's 19 points sparked Livonia Franklin (5-13) to a WLAA consolation round victory Tuesday at home over Walled Lake Western (3-15).

Three other Patriots scored in double figures including Kevin Percin (12), Conner Leidal (11) and Ryan Matthey (10).

Northern's Leroy Jackson, who connected on six 3-pointers, scored a game-high 22 points.

"Early on we able to create scoring opportunities in the open court and we did a nice job against their zone," said Franklin first-year coach Jeremy Rheault, whose team jumped out to a 41-29 halftime advantage.

Franklin made 8-of-10 free throws on the night, while Northern hit 3-of-6.

Warriors no match for Clarenceville

Lutheran Westland boys basketball coach Brandon Bekius felt outgunned and outmanned on Monday night - and rightfully so.

His ninth-seeded Warriors were facing Metro Conference leader and top seed Livonia Clarenceville without top scorer Josh Kruger (out with the flu) and the result was predictable.

The host Trojans improved to 15-1 overall with a resounding 77-39 first-round playoff win.

"We tried to slow it down, take a good shot and not get into a running game with them," said Bekius of the Trojans. "Defensively they (Clarenceville) were just outstanding. They took us out of everything we tried to do. The pressure got to us."

Junior Jamie Stewart paced the Trojans with 19 points, while senior guard Craig Van Nostrand, a recent transfer from Detroit Southeastern, impressed in his Clarenceville debut with five 3-pointers en route to 15 points.

Darryl Whitaker and Matt Garant contributed 11 points each for the Trojans, who led 20-3 after one quarter and 43-17 at halftime.

Ryan Rakovalis scored 15 for the Warriors, whose modest three-game losing streak came to an end. Junior forward Sam Ahlersmeyer added seven points.

Clarenceville, which hit 20-of-29 free throws, takes on Grosse Pointe Woods University-Liggett in Friday's Metro Conference semifinal. Game time is 7 p.m. at Clarenceville.

Lutheran Westland (4-13) will travel Friday to meet Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest in a consolation round game.

FRANKLIN ROAD 44, HURON VALLEY 31:

Three players scored in double figures Tuesday as Michigan Independent Athletic Conference Red Division leader Novi Franklin Road Christian (14-2, 7-1) held off host Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (9-13, 1-8).

David Mansfield paced the victorious Warriors with 14 points. Jordan Ramos and Ryan Carlson added 11 and 10, respectively.

Junior guard Aaron Howell paced the Hawks and all scorers with 18 points.

Both teams shot proficiently from the foul line - Franklin Road (15-of-16) and HVL (13-of-18).

opportunity to silence critics of the team who don't take it seriously because of Clarenceville's Class B designation.

"If we didn't win this game tonight, ... it would be like, 'Oh, they're 15-1 but they haven't played anybody,'" McKendry said. "Where now we can say we have a win against a very good (Class A) team."

That very good team featured balanced scoring which came too little, too late. Youngblood (15 points) and

Morgan (12 points) did most of their scoring for Thurston down the stretch, scoring 22 of their combined 27 points after halftime.

Collecting 13 points was junior guard Marcus Jones (three triples).

Clarenceville's Gainer scored 17 and collected 11 boards, while Fairfax registered 16 points and nine assists.

The Trojans also were helped by senior guard Craig Van Nostrand, who scored 10 points in just his second game of the season. The transfer from Detroit Southeastern recently became eligible.

Glenn stops Wayne despite Goines' 29

Nastassia Goines scored a career-high 29 points and added six assists Monday, but it wasn't enough as the Wayne Memorial girls basketball team fell to rival Westland John Glenn, 65-44, for the second time this season.

Glenn ends the regular season at 9-11 overall, while Wayne falls to 3-16.

Junior center Brittany Holbrook paced a balanced Glenn scoring attack with 14 points. Jasmine Weddington added 13, while Shantinique Baker added nine.

Junior center Wendi Foster added seven points and 15 rebounds for the Zebras, who were outscored a combined 38-16 during the second and third quarters.

Wayne played without leading scorer Trena Barbee. The Henderson State (Ark.) signee underwent knee surgery Feb. 4 to repair a minor ligament tear.

The Zebras were only 10-of-25 from the free throw line (40 percent), while Glenn hit 16-of-33 (48.4 percent).

PLYMOUTH 40, CHURCHILL 30:

Shaakira Haywood's 15 points carried the Wildcats (8-11) to a victory Monday over host Livonia Churchill (6-14) in the seventh-place game in the Western Lakes Activities Association playoffs.

Kelsi Robinson and Stacey Klonowski each added 10 points for Plymouth, which overcame a 12-4 first-quarter deficit by outscoring the Chargers 18-6 in the second quarter.

Lindsey Graciak, a junior guard, led Churchill with eight points.

Churchill was 6-of-8 from the foul line, while Plymouth made 8-of-15.

CANTON 58, STEVENSON 40: Baylee Hollowell poured in a game-high 23 points Mouday as the visiting Chiefs (6-14) ended the regular season with a wiu over Livonia Stevenson (4-16).

Kayla Bridges contributed 16 points for Canton, which pulled away in the second half with a 30-12 run.

Kaylee McGrath paced the Spartans with 11 points.

Canton was 9-of-12 from the free throw stripe, while Stevenson made 9-of-17.

CANTON 48, WAYNE 27: On Friday, the Chiefs (4-15) snapped a four-game losing streak with a win at Wayne Memorial (3-15).

Freshman Kayla Bridges was the catalyst, racking up 16 points and seven rebounds. Baylee Hollowell (13 points and 12 rebounds) and Kaylie Martin (12 points and six boards) also played well for Canton.

Nastassia Goines scored 17 for pace the Zebras, who were only 7-of-23 from the stripe.

Upsetting defeat

Third time a charm as Marian opens Ladywood

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Livonia Ladywood's 16-game winning streak came to a crashing halt in Sunday's Catholic League Central Division championship game at the University of Detroit's Calihan Hall.

The Blazers, seeking their third straight league title, were outscored 15-2 in the decisive fourth quarter as underdog Birmingham Marian came away with a stunning 47-32 girls basketball triumph.

It was Marian's first Catholic League title since 2002 and the ninth overall for coach Mary Cicerone.

Sophomore guard Anina Cicerone scored 15 points and senior forward Kara Hammer added 14 for the victorious Mustangs (12-6), who will meet Detroit Public School League champion Pershing for the Operational-Friendship crown 2:30 p.m. Saturday at Cass Tech. (Ladywood takes on Detroit Renaissance in the consolation game at 1 p.m.)

Freshman Mara Mulroy also played an instrumental role in the victory for the Mustangs chipping in with eight points and 12 rebounds. The 6-foot center limited Ladywood senior center and Lafayette College (Pa.) signee Alex Serowoky to seven points and four boards.

Senior forward Alison Szczycka led the Blazers in scoring with 10 points.

Ladywood (16-3) had already posted wins of 43-33 (on Jan. 18) and 50-47 (on Dec. 18) over Marian, but couldn't work its magic a third time and was held to 12 second-half points after falling behind 23-20 at intermission.

"The whole second half we did not shoot well," Ladywood coach Andrea Gorski said. "We had good open looks, but not a lot of second chance opportunities. They (Marian) did a good job of boxing out."

Marian made 13-of-16 free throws in the final quarter, while Ladywood was 1-for-2.

The Blazers shot 13-of-38 from the floor (34 percent), while the Mustangs were 15-of-35 (42 percent).

"They were a much more hungry team than us both offensively and defensively on the boards," Gorski said. "Hopefully we'll learn from it. Maybe we needed something to kick us in the butt, but it was a bad time for it to happen."

HURON VALLEY 31, FRANKLIN ROAD 26:

Nicole Schaffer scored 12 points and Katie Kipmiller added 10 to power MIAC-Red Division champion Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (13-6, 9-1) to a victory Tuesday at Novi Franklin Road Christian (10-7, 5-5).

The Hawks led 14-13 at halftime and gained some breathing room with a 7-3 third-quarter margin. Maurual McSweeney led the Warriors with 11 points.

Huron Valley was 6-of-8 from the foul line, while Franklin Road hit 7-of-8.

Canton takes home WLAA wrestling championship

BY ED WRIGHT
STAFF WRITER

Chalk up another victory milestone for Canton's wrestling team, which added to its season-long list of impressive accomplishments by winning Saturday's WLAA Wrestling Championships at Canton.

One week after capturing the star-studded Observerland tournament and three days after completing an unbeaten WLAA dual-meet schedule, the Chiefs placed 12 wrestlers fifth or higher to outpoint two-time defending champion and runner-up Livonia Franklin, 231.50 to 191.50.

Northville (158), Westland John Glenn (152) and Livonia Stevenson (143) filled out the top five spots in the final standings.

"This was a great team accomplishment today because placing 12 kids is phenomenal in this type of tournament," said Canton coach Casey Randolph. "It's exciting to win the league championship because it's the first time we've done it since I've taken over the program. It's also extra special because this was the last WLAA tournament, so this group of kids will have this legacy forever."

A pair of Canton wrestlers won their respective weight brackets: 135-pound Steve Cox, who pinned John Glenn's Jared Stephens in 3:30; and 140-pound Brent Winekoff, who held off Franklin's Brandon Smith, 14-10, in the title match.

Just as important as the two gold-medal efforts were five second-place finishes for the Chiefs.

"We had a lot of guys really step up today," said Randolph. "I thought Steve Cox turned in a tremendous performance. He's been battling some sickness, like a lot of these kids are this time of year, but he got a pin in the finals against a really good kid who was a state-qualifier and is ranked No. 4 in the state."

"Our upper-weight guys also wrestled extremely well. Our guys from 171 and up finished second, second, second and fourth, and all three of the guys in the finals had a good opportunity to win. We'll work on a few technique issues with them so that if they meet those kids again they'll have a chance to win."

Randolph also noted the effort of 112-pound sophomore Connor Johnson, who placed fifth after not being seeded at the outset of the tournament.

"I couldn't be prouder of Connor," said Randolph. "He showed a lot of heart and determination."

Thanks to three individual champions, Livonia Churchill placed sixth with 133, eight points ahead of seventh-place Salem.

The field was rounded out by Walled Lake Central (77), Walled Lake Northern (67), Plymouth (51), Walled Lake Western (48) and Wayne Memorial (5).

Two Patriots placed first: Jared Piekenik, who edged Walled Lake Northern's Hunter West, 8-6, in the 112-pound final; and Dan Woodall, who outlasted Canton's Adam Powers, 12-7, in the 189-pound finale.

The Rockets' fourth-place showing was highlighted by championship efforts from Anthony Pavlich (103) and Jeremiah Austin (125).

Stevenson's unbeaten Ziad Kharbush won what was arguably the most intense match of the day — a 7-6 overtime triumph over Salem's Jeremy Epley. Matt Greenman (215) also battled to a title with a narrow 7-5 victory over Canton's Dan Wanshon.

Churchill's triumvirate of champions included 152-pounder Dan Small, 171-pounder Brian Ziemba and heavyweight Mark Parrish.

Salem's lone titlist was Kevin Hayter, who won at 130 by doubling up Northville's Evan Bentley, 12-6, in the first-place showdown.

The Redford St. Valentine School junior varsity girls soccer team recently won the Catholic Youth Organization season with a perfect record of 10-0-0. ## Perfect 10-0 for St. Val JV girls

BY TIM SMITH
STAFF WRITER

Perfect this year on the field, winning all 10 matches, St. Valentine's junior varsity girls soccer team also proved to be a coach's dream.

"These girls are all good athletes," said coach Bob Neaton, whose team is comprised of girls in grades 4-6. "They are fast runners, skilled ball-handlers at the offensive and defensive ends as well as the midfield area."

"And they play with a good attitude." That is the part that Neaton and others at St. Valentine School in Redford Township are most proud of.

"They listen well and learn quickly and are very polite," Neaton continued. "(That's)

But the team's actual performance is right there at the top, too.

The squad did go 10-0-0 this fall, the only one of 32 Catholic Youth Organization JV squads in southeastern Michigan to boast that claim. They scored 44 goals, with 15 players tallying at least one marker.

Meanwhile, St. Val's did not give up a single goal during CYO action, and allowed only two in non-league matches.

St. Val's parent Jim Omietanski of Livonia, whose daughter Madelyn is on the team, said this season's success followed an excellent 2006 season when St. Val's went 9-0-1 despite having a number of fourth graders and just three sixth graders on the roster.

"What did they do for an encore this season? They improved," commented Omietanski.

Helping Neaton with coaching duties are assistants John Fabrizio, Joel Graham and Dave Prowse.

All of the players either attend St. Valentine School, located on Beech Daly near Five Mile Road, or are parishioners at the church there.

Members of the team include: Madeline Barnauskas, Lindsey Gallagher, Taylor Graham and Madelyn Omietanski (of Livonia); Teagan Dillon, Alyssa Fabrizio, Tillie Kozlowski, Molly McDonald, Nora Neaton, Kerry Prowse, CeCe Reed and Ashley Sandelin (all of Redford); Christina Pappas, of Farmington Hills; and Katelyn Bonanno, of Northville.

The last time the Trojans got a piece of the title was 1999, when they shared honors with Harper Woods.

"We figured it would really be close because in the dual meet we had with North on Thursday (41-36 win) it came to one match," Clarenceville coach Anthony Salciccioli said. "And this meet came down to the one match as well."

Clarenceville junior Derek Robbins was the hero as he ran his record to 28-9 when he dethroned North's Ryan Schwark for the 160-pound title, 6-4, after getting pinned by Schwark only two days earlier.

Other individual champions for the Trojans included sophomore Brent Gilman (103), anything more. They've been a streaky bunch all season, but when they're on, they're on."

Lutheran Westland also brought home four individual titles, led by Observerland champion Stephen Kemp (152), as well as Brad LaRose (112), Justin Palka (125) and Craig Kowalski (215).

Harper Woods' Mike Marlin (130), who became a four-time conference champ, was voted Lower Weights MVP.

And Tom Pellegrini of Harper Woods, the heavy-weight champ, won his third straight conference title en route to being named Upper Weights MVP.

First-place Lady Ocelots win pair of games Alpena, Mott drub SC men

Schoolcraft College's women's basketball team stayed hot with home wins Saturday and Monday against a pair of conference opponents.

On Saturday, the 7th-ranked Lady Ocelots took care of Flint Mott CC, 87-75.

Two days later, they routed Alpena, 89-50. The victories upped Schoolcraft's record to 20-3 overall and 13-1 in the Michigan Community College Athletic Association - Eastern Conference standings.

With Monday's victory, led by Antoinette Brown's 26-point performance, the Lady Ocelots reached the 20-win mark for the fifth consecutive season.

Schoolcraft raced out to a 24-2 lead midway through the first half against Alpena and had no trouble after that.

In addition to Brown, the Lady Ocelots' attack featured 15 points by Brittney Ivey, 12 (and eight rebounds) by Heidi Warczynsky and 11 by Erica Ott.

Chipping in with six points each were Plymouth Salem product Taylor Langhem, Adrena Walker-Price and Japera English.

Kassie Campbell scored 13 for Alpena (2-19, 2-12).

In the Saturday victory, Schoolcraft went on a 24-15 run in the second half to pull away from the Bears (12-10, 8-5).

Scoring a career-high 25 points was Ivey, who hit 11 of 13 shots from the floor.

Warczynsky, meanwhile, set school records for free throws made and attempted in a game by making 15-of-19 from the stripe.

CORNERSTONE 67, MADONNA 59: In Saturday afternoon's Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference women's basketball contest at Cornerstone, the Crusaders fell behind 36-26 at the half and could not rally despite 20 points by guard Cali Crawford and 16 by senior forward Caryn Inman.

The Golden Eagles (18-8, 9-1) took control with a hot-shooting first half, making 13-of-24 shots (54 percent).

Jenna Plewes and Kara Overbeek scored 22 and 15 points, respectively.

Madonna (11-14, 6-5) also received nine points from forward Alyssa Gnerin and an eight-point, seven-rebound game from junior forward Christie Carrico.

The losses continue to mount for the Schoolcraft College men's basketball team.

In a make-up game Monday, visiting Alpena Community College downed the Ocelots, 85-62, as Austin Rowe scored a game-high 23 points while Matt Carr added 12.

Ryan Matthews tallied 13 for Schoolcraft. Anthony Harbin and Narmer Dudley each added 12, while Eric Henry scored 11.

It was the 15th-straight loss for the Ocelots, who fall to 2-21 overall and 2-12 in the Eastern Conference of the Michigan Community College Athletic Association.

Alpena improved to 9-13, 6-8.

On Saturday, the NJCAA's third-ranked team in Division II, Flint Mott CC, improved to 21-2 overall and 14-0 in the Eastern Conference with an 89-44 triumph.

Jeremie Simmons led the Bears with a game-high 21 points. Lamar Drake and Thomas Kennedy added 16 apiece as Mott pulled away from a 33-15 halftime lead.

Larry Wilson (Livonia Churchill) scored 17 in a losing cause. Narmer Dudley (Farmington Hills Harrison) added 12.

burying a try to even the contest 76-76 and the Golden Eagles went up for good when 6-5 sophomore center Matt Kingshott (24 points, seven rebounds) scored an uncontested layup at the 18:40 mark.

Kingshott finished the scoring with yet another layup.

One factor Henry cited in the loss was the way the visitors took guards Jon Battle and Cedric Sims (Canton) out of the game.

They combined for just nine points, and Battle wound up fouling out late in the fourth.

Pluses for the Crusaders, meanwhile, were senior point guard Charlie Henry (Canton Agape Christian) and senior guard Keith Hearn (Livonia Stevenson), who each registered 12 points.

In the second half, Henry delivered three treys in the first 7:30 to at that point help Madonna maintain its lead.

Reliance on that outside sharp-shooting, however, might have hurt Madonna when it needed to find other ways to score during the final minutes.

"Sometimes, when that (three-ball) is effective it just stagnates the movement on offense," said coach Henry. "It seemed to be that way."

Chipping in with eight points and six rebounds for the Crusaders was senior forward Mike Rashad.

Artists: Show us your homes

BY LANA MINI
STAFF WRITER

Calling all artists, musicians and creative people: We want to see inside your homes. While the rest of us pore through home publications for design inspiration, we know you have natural, interesting flair.

Whether you're a fine artist with a sophisticated home, or twentysomething rocker with old records glued to your ceiling, we're hoping you will share one of your creative rooms with us.

Recently we stumbled upon the artists who live in an Eastern Market loft that they have named Scrummage University.

There, members of the band Benny Stoofo use found vintage items, Christmas lights and bold paint colors for an eclectic style. The band has turned their Scrummage home into a communal atmosphere.

They host art exhibits and have invited bands from across the globe to perform at their space.

Benny Stoofo plays psychedelic music and their home decor suits the music well.

"It's spaced out alien rock 'n' roll," said Alex Lauer, guitarist/singer/keyboardist, formerly of Southfield and Beverly Hills. "A lot of people bring us pieces to add to our place."

See more at myspace.com/scrummageuniversity.

"It's our home, but it's also a do-it-yourself art-space venue. People can perform here and show their art here in an open, supportive environment."

Band members of Benny Stoofo design their home and allow artist friends to contribute. They call this 'The Scrummage'.

"There is no judgment on anyone here." And isn't that what a home is all about?

Owner of a Golden Heart

Restaurants can receive county's healthy designation

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK
STAFF WRITER

Oakland County health officials will be rewarding restaurants that offer low-fat menu items and cook with trans fat-free oil with a "Golden Heart Healthy Restaurant" designation.

Owners and operators of Oakland County's 4,000 restaurants can expect to receive 13-question surveys soon in the mail. The surveys are aimed at encouraging restaurants to offer healthier food alternatives on their menus and create trans fat reduction/healthy diet initiatives.

"Most Americans don't eat right," said Dr. Sharon Milberger, associate director for research at Henry Ford Health System's Center for Health Promotion and Disease Prevention. "Most Americans eat too many saturated fats and sugars." Milberger added that many diners want healthier items and want to eliminate trans fats from their diets.

With that in mind, county officials created the Oakland County Trans Fats Awareness and Reduction Group, which in turn developed the survey. The group consists of dietitians, health educators and representatives from the Oakland County Health Department, the Oakland County Board of Commissioners, the Oakland County Intermediate Schools District and Henry Ford Health Systems. Big Rock Steak and Chop House will represent area restaurants.

SURVEYS DUE APRIL 4

Restaurant owners and operators who want to modify their menus to create healthier food options can have recipes analyzed, for a fee, by Henry Ford Health Systems. Data collected from the surveys will be analyzed and restaurants that meet the healthy and trans fat free criteria will be eligible to receive the Gold Heart designation. The surveys are due April 4.

Oakland County Commissioner Marcia Gershenson (D-West Bloomfield and Bloomfield), who is also a member of the Trans Fat Awareness and Reduction Group, said today's trends toward informing the public in nutritional labeling of foods and calorie identification give the group a "natural position" to be involved.

"We also sought input from the restaurants," she said, citing Big Rock Chop House restaurant's involvement. Andy Delaney, president of the Michigan Restaurant Association, was also invited, she said.

"We wanted it to be a friendly process, and we want people to have choices," Gershenson said.

GOLD HEART DESIGNATION

Vera Day Rizer, general manager at Big Rock Chop House in Birmingham, said the restaurant was approached by the county to be involved in the survey. Rizer and chef Jeff Rose are involved in the group.

"It got us thinking about the way things are prepared," Rizer said. "We prepare everything from scratch, but people aren't always thinking about the kind of oil it's fried in."

Big Rock has used trans fat free oil for two years now, Rizer said.

"We know we're doing the right thing, and a lot of restaurants may be doing the right thing, and they just don't know it," Rizer said.

The group has not developed criteria on how to designate a Gold Heart restaurant. "The team will analyze the results," Rizer said.

Rizer thinks the survey will help for informational purposes, but would not lead to more regulation, such as mandates on the publication of calorie counts on menus.

"People are looking for freshness and taste," Rizer said. "People aren't always looking at calories when they go out. They can already ask for dressings or sauces on the side. Most people save their serious dieting for when they are home." As a lower fat alternative, Big Rock offers fresh fruit and sorbets on the dessert menu, Rizer says.

Commissioner Bradford Jacobsen (R-Oxford) hopes the golden heart designation encourages restaurants to offer healthy items — if they don't already. "I eat out a lot and I know I'm not always a healthy eater," Jacobsen said. He thought about how the gold heart designation would work with diners. "I'd order the seafood with cream sauce one day, and when I go out again, I'll see the logo and remember that I didn't eat healthy the other day, so I'll order that item."

Jacobsen is opposed to banning trans fats, which was in a bill introduced by Gershenson that's currently in committee.

"All I tell people is 'buyer beware,'" Jacobsen said. "But we need to make them aware of what they are eating. If a restaurant wants to put the calories on the menu, that's fine, but most of us can look at a list of ingredients and foods on a menu, and know if it isn't healthy."

Rizer believes the survey gives restaurants a chance to promote themselves. "The survey will give us a tool to do that," Rizer said. "We'll inform our guests with a little gold heart."

What makes a winery boutique?

There's no definition for boutique winery. In general in the United States, they're simply considered high quality with low production.

Yet, how low is low? That's not defined either, but we believe Gargiulo Vineyards, with a 3,500-case production, is a boutique winery -- and one you should get to know. Recently, the wines became available in the Michigan market.

Focus on Wine
Ray & Eleanor Heald

In general, boutique wineries set out to distinguish themselves by expressing a sense of place in their wines. The new word for that is an expression of somewhereness. With that aim in mind, the Gargiulo family is committed to crafting wines from two Oakville (Napa Valley) estate vineyards, Money Road Ranch and 575 OVX (an abbreviation for Oakville Cross Road, the vineyard location).

Best known for cabernet sauvignon and merlot, Gargiulo also produces a sangiovese blended wine named Aprile. In 2004 Food and Wine magazine named Gargiulo one of the top 20 new wineries on the planet.

FROM TOMATOES TO WINE

Proprietor Jeff Gargiulo has been farming nearly his entire life. Before selling his company to Monsanto, he was, at one time, one of the largest tomato growers in the world. Between 2001 and 2006, he was president and CEO of Sunkist Growers, where he spearheaded reorganization and developed diversified products such as Sunkist's pre-cut fruit and berry marketing.

Individual grapes are often called berries, so this fits! Gargiulo and his wife Valerie, purchased Money Road Ranch in 1992. By 1994, 35 of its 40 acres were reengineered and replanted to three different rootstocks and three different clones of merlot. Remaining acreage was divided among cabernet sauvignon, sangiovese and pinot gris.

In 2000, the Gargiulos purchased nine additional acres in Oakville at 575 Oakville Crossroad. This vineyard, named 575 OVX is located on the eastern side of Oakville, sandwiched between two famous Napa Valley vineyards Rudd and Screaming Eagle.

In spring 2001 Gargiulo replanted 575 OVX, one of the only south-facing sloped vineyards in Oakville, to cabernet sauvignon, cabernet franc and petit verdot. In May 2005 the Gargiulos began construction of a state-of-the-art winery.

Answers to virus, Vista, remote control and iPod movie questions

Question: I just received a suspicious e-mail attachment and want to make sure it doesn't have a virus. How can I scan it without opening it first?

Answer: Forward the e-mail to scan@virustotal.com. In a few minutes, you'll get back a report telling you what infections were found, if any.

This free service employs a whopping 32 different virus scanners, making it far more effective than the single anti-virus utility that's installed on your PC. (You do have one, right?)

You can also visit the VirusTotal.com site and manually upload any file for on-the-fly scanning. The service won't remove any viruses it discovers, but at least you'll know if you've got a problem file.

Question: I'm trying to help a friend or family member solve a computer problem, but it's really difficult to troubleshoot over the phone. How can I set up a remote connection to the other PC?

The free HandBrake program can copy your DVDs to your iPod for on-the-go viewing.

Answer: Professional tech-support departments increasingly rely on remote-control software, which lets them temporarily take control of the user's PC to diagnose and fix problems.

You can do likewise with CrossLoop (crossloop.com), a free utility that couldn't be much easier to use.

Just download and run the program, and instruct the other user to do likewise. He/she then clicks the program's Share tab and reads you the access code presented there. You type it into CrossLoop at your end, then click Connect.

Presto: You've got full (but temporary) control over the other PC. Now you can work your tech-savvy magic.

Question: I'm in the market for a new PC, but I've heard bad things about Windows Vista. Should I try to find a system that comes with Windows XP?

Answer: For all its shortcomings and annoyances, Windows Vista really isn't a bad operating system. It's more secure than XP, and it offers some worthwhile advantages, including Windows Media Center and improved search and networking capabilities.

That said, if you're determined to stick with XP, Dell is among the few manufacturers that let you order new PCs with the older OS.

Alternately, you could look for a closeout or recertified machine from a reseller like eCost or TigerDirect. Any model manufactured prior to January, 2007 will come with Windows XP.

There's another option, of course: Buy a Mac instead. The latest models can run both Mac and Windows operating systems, giving you the best of both worlds. Something to consider!

Question: I want to watch my DVDs on my iPod. Can I copy them somehow?

Answer: Absolutely. In fact, 20th Century Fox recently announced a collaborative effort with Apple called iTunes Digital Copy. When you buy select DVDs, you'll be able to pop the disc into your PC and sync a mobile version of the movie straight to your iPod.

For the moment, however, the only DVD to offer this compelling feature is "Family Guy Presents: Blue Harvest." If you want to watch the movies in your existing DVD collection, you'll need to get creative.

Start by downloading HandBrake (handbrake.fr), a freeware utility for Windows and Mac systems. It converts DVDs into iPod-compatible MP4 video files.

You'll also need a utility that can decrypt copy-protected

DVD43, you should then run HandBrake, click the Show Presets button, and then choose a suitable preset (such as "iPhone/iPod Touch" or "iPod High-Res").

Now insert your DVD, wait a minute for your system to recognize it, and then click the Browse button in the Source section. Navigate to the DVD's Video_TS folder and click OK. Next, choose a destination for the output file (your iTunes folder is a logical choice).

Finally, click the Encode Video button — and settle in for a long wait. Even on a fast system, it can take several hours to process a typical DVD. When it's done, copy the new video to your iPod like you would any other.

months gives the wine good length and roundness.

2003 Money Road Ranch Merlot $40 showcases bright cherry, raspberry and cassis aromas and flavors.

With good structure and well-integrated fruit, oak and acid, it comes across layered and attractive.

2004 Money Road Ranch Merlot $40 is nearly a mirror image of the 2003 with, perhaps, somewhat brighter fruit and a bit more lush in the finish.

The bad news here is that both the 2003 and 2004 Gargiulo Money Road Ranch Cabernet Sauvignon $75 are sold out.

These are stellar wines, so get your bid in for some 2005 and long term the 2007.

Appliance news from around world

Each day on my computer I can travel many miles with the flick of a fingertip and the constant instructions I receive from my darling Valorie. She says that I am getting much better and asking fewer questions.

My travels to Mexico reveal that Whirlpool is cutting 750 jobs at its Reynosa plant and plans to increase production at the Ramos Arizpe plant and add 600 employees by mid-year. Over in LaVergne, Tenn., Whirlpool is closing a refrigerator factory, laying off 500 workers and moving production to Fort Smith, Ark. This plant is expected to gain another 250 employees by the end of this year. Whirlpool has an employment enrollment of around 73,000 and the above numbers are just a drop in the bucket. Whirlpool is providing a severance package to these folks to I'm sure ease the upheaval they must go through.

Cut across Michigan from Benton Harbor to Greenville and take a look at the work going on at the Gibson Manufacturing factory. This 1.7 million-square-foot plant is being torn down and removed from the face of the earth. Built in 1877 by Frank Gibson, it has made products such as wood cabinets, bomber wings and aluminum gliders for the military of World War II, and modern refrigerators that have garnished the American home with food preservation.

This demolition project began in April of last year and will be completed some time this spring. Life as they knew it in Greenville is certainly not the same, and that is a shame.

Flying in my computer flight simulator I travel over the 401 highway heading east to Guelph, Ontario to visit the headquarters of W.C. Wood Company.

If you have purchased a freezer in the last 10 years then most likely it was built by Wood, no matter what brand name you see on the front.

Newspapers in Canada point out that W.C. Wood has been purchased by Red Diamond Capital, a private investment firm based in New York. W.C. Wood has been controlled by the Wood family since it was founded in 1930. Red Diamond is an affiliate of Mitsubishi Corporation, Japan's leading trading company. Freezer production in the U.S. is just about non-existent today; I hope they can keep it up in Canada.

In my computer travels I picked up a story with the headline: Liebherr to Introduce 36-Inch Refrigerator at K/BIS. The French-door model will be appearing at the Kitchen/Bath Industry Show in April in Chicago.

This product will have two separate compressors with ability to produce 3.5 pounds of ice in 24 hours and capacity to store seven pounds of cubes. The glass shelves are strong enough to hold 180 pounds. My hopes are that the appliance will be able to cool the refrigerator section down to around 35 degrees.

By the way, I must search out something on my computer. I haven't heard about this Liebherr brand name before this story. I don't know if they're from Canada, Mexico, Benton Harbor or Greenville. Time to find out!

Stay tuned.

Keep comfort in mind when outfitting a guest room

Kelly of Redford asks: "I'm decorating a guest room and I don't know where to begin. I already have an office, so this room will be a guest room, only."

How lucky you are to have enough space to allow for a permanent guest room! First, you need to evaluate the needs of any potential guests, space plan everything on paper, and then go shopping.

Design Solutions

Normally, a guest room has at least one full-size bed or two twin beds. If a queen bed fits, that's even better. If you have regular guests staying at your home, you need to evaluate how long they typically stay and try to anticipate their needs while at your house. Will they need a dresser? Probably not. A few drawers in a large nightstand should be plenty, but be sure to allow for ample closet space to hang clothing. A folding luggage stand is a great piece to have and pull out when guests arrive.

If your guests are technologically connected, a writing desk and chair is a nice addition. They will have a horizontal surface to set up their laptop, or simply charge their cell phone. Wireless or cable connection should also be considered.

A television set in the guest room is a worthwhile investment, too. It doesn't have to be large or fancy, but some people like to wind down alone and watch their favorite shows or catch up on the news.

For space planning, you will need to draw out the room in 1/4" inch scale and make sure these furniture items all fit in the room. Once that is decided, it's time to shop.

Establish a color scheme by selecting your bedding first or a dramatic piece of art work. A bed-in-a-bag set is fine for the guest room and there are deals to be had if you shop around. You can choose your paint color after you've selected the bedding and art.

Don't forget the alarm clock, a reading light, and a nice, full-length mirror. Enjoy the process of designing your guest room ... your guests will appreciate it.

Toast skirts promise to warm up winter days

Bring on the chilly temperatures — the long, dragging Michigan winter coated in snow. Vivian George won't shy from it. The Harper Woods resident and musician — who splits her time between metro Detroit and Toronto — has invented a fashion-forward solution to the frigid weather. She crafted a down-filled full-length snow skirt she calls Toast.

And it's unlike any other piece of outerwear we've seen.

"You feel like a superhero," she said. Toast's stylish superpower provides protection against the harsh elements. "My aunt came up with (the name)," said George. "It keeps you warm as toast."

The invention was derived from necessity. After years of working on film sets in Toronto, George learned a thing or two about keeping warm. Working on the set of Road to Avonlea, she noticed the actresses wearing large, flannel skirts didn't mind the weather. It sparked an idea. Her Toast prototype began with a visit to a Detroit thrift store. She found a down feather coat and experimented by slicing off the sleeves and neck, and fashioning it around her waist. "Down keeps you warmer than any other material," she said.

Over the past six years she's worked with three manufacturers who couldn't quite get it right. Then Canada Goose took the reins and helped George perfect her product. They modeled it after the technology used on their own Expedition Parka, favored by the National Science Foundation during South Pole expeditions. "The quality is unparalleled," said George.

It is versatile enough to be worn as a skirt or used as a snugly blanket or even a pillow. With a double-zipper and snaps for wearability, Toast is perfect for people who work outside 10 hours a day or those who just walk their dogs, George said. The skirt, which is surprisingly light-weight, is coated in Teflon. It can get wet without being damaged — and the down will never escape. Each skirt comes with one Grabber Mycoal Heat Treat that can be inserted into a back pocket for extra warmth and comfort.

It's durable and simple to clean. "You just wipe it with water," said George. "There is no need to dry-clean it."

The skirt runs from extra small to large. It comes in black, though George has added various colors of lining — in hot pink, white or polar blue satin.

George is currently working toward wider distribution. While the skirts are available for sale online and in stores in Boston, New York and Toronto, she recently added a local shop to the list — Excelsior, at 23900 Woodward Ave. in Pleasant Ridge.

Owner Patti Brock-Sklar had the skirts in stock for one day and two customers had already tried it on. A down coat can look "very Michelin Man" she said, whereas a Toast skirt adds glamour. "You can wear whatever you want underneath," she said.

Toast isn't limited to women. Men wear it, too. "Wearing the skirt forces heat up," said George. While it can be paired with any sort of winter coat, often a sweater is all that's needed. "It regulates to your body heat," she said.

And beyond the utility of the skirt, it's a slimming head-turner. George can't step outside without hearing the question "where did you get that skirt?" It literally sells itself. Women have offered to buy it right off of her, she said, adding that: "The skirt makes a scene in a snowstorm."

THE HEALTHY PLATE:

Recipe for Herb-Crusted Pork Tenderloin

BY JIM ROMANOFF
FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Usually when a food is described as having a golden, crispy crust, frying and plenty of grease are involved.

But it doesn't have to be that way. With the right ingredients and techniques, flavorful, crunchy satisfying results can be had without all the fat.

This recipe for pork tenderloin in a golden, herbed crust is loosely inspired by a classic Japanese preparation of breaded, deep-fried pork chops called tonkatsu.

But rather than pork cutlets, this dish uses pork tenderloin, which is as lean as white chicken meat.

Deep-fried crusts do have loads of flavor, so for this pork tenderloin we compensate with loads of added flavorings in the coating.

A crumb mixture is made with panko (Japanese-style bread crumbs), which have a crisper, lighter texture than most kinds of breading. Panko can be found in the Asian section of most grocers.

The panko is combined with chopped fresh parsley, thyme, rosemary and minced garlic to create a flavor that's more Mediterranean than Asian.

You can substitute any herbs you prefer as long as you keep to these quantities. Instead of buying individual bunches, which can be pricey, look for packaged fresh herb blends in the produce department, as well as in the freezer case.

The bread crumb mixture is moistened with a small amount of healthy, extra-virgin olive oil, which distributes flavors and helps the crust to brown during roasting.

To make the crumb mixture stick, a coating of zesty Dijon mustard is applied to the tenderloin, rather than the more common beaten egg. This adds an extra burst of flavor without any additional fat.

Roast the pork tenderloin just until the internal temperature of the meat reaches 155 F; the internal temperature will rise to 160 F while the tenderloin rests for 5. Overcooking lower fat meats is a surefire way to end up with dry results.

To complete this healthy meal, try serving the sliced pork with pureed sweet potatoes sprinkled with toasted chopped hazelnuts and some steamed broccolini.

PORK TENDERLOIN IN A GOLDEN, HERBED CRUST

Start to finish: 1 hour (15 minutes active)

Servings: 4

¾ cup panko (Japanese-style) bread crumbs
2 cloves garlic, minced
2 tablespoons finely chopped flat-leaf parsley
1 tablespoon finely chopped fresh rosemary
1 tablespoon finely chopped fresh thyme
1 tablespoon extra-virgin olive oil
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
1-pound pork tenderloin
2 tablespoons Dijon mustard

Preheat oven to 400 F. Lightly oil a wire rack or coat it with nonstick cooking spray. Set the rack in a baking sheet.

In a small bowl, combine the bread crumbs, garlic, parsley, rosemary, thyme, oil, salt and pepper. Mix thoroughly.

Use paper towels to pat dry the pork tenderloin.

On a piece of plastic wrap, spread out half of the breadcrumb mixture in a strip as long as the tenderloin. Coat one side of the tenderloin with half of the mustard.

Turn the tenderloin over and set it down on the crumbs so they stick to the mustard. Coat the remaining surface of the meat with the remaining mustard. Press the second side of the tenderloin into the remaining crumb mixture.

Transfer the tenderloin to the prepared rack. Roast until the crust is golden, the tenderloin is barely pink in the center and the internal temperature is 155 F, 35 to 45 minutes. Let stand for 5 minutes before slicing.

Tender at the Townsend shows future of fashion

BY WENDY VON BUSKIRK
STAFF WRITER

It's always satisfying when you can indulge your passion for fashion while supporting a good cause.

Every year, Tender presents a runway show at the Townsend Hotel to benefit ORT, an organization dedicated to education around the world. "Tender at the Townsend" is ORT America Michigan Region's premiere event, and 250 supporters turned out to see this year's show on Feb. 1.

We caught up with Cheryl Daskas of Tender, and Anthony Marsalese of Antonino Salon & Spa to find out more about the styles of the season.

Color: Splashy colors will be hot for spring and summer, and it's a great time to transition out of the winter doldrums by incorporating some bright pieces in your wardrobe, like a citrus green cardigan by Saverio Palatella, or a deep emerald green sleeveless top by Thakoon paired with slim, French blue Malo pants.

"Don't be afraid of bold color," Daskas said.

On the other end of the color spectrum, neutrals are hot too, Daskas said.

Dresses: Easy, flattering and simply chic, dresses continue to work wonders. According to Daskas, last season's volume has been reined in, and dresses are more body skimming than before. From a ruffled 'LBD' to a silk Thakoon dress in a graffiti-esque floral print, they hit above the knee and look fabulous.

Femininity: Between frills, bows and flowing fabric, the season's clothing celebrates feminine flair. Daskas said one of the spring/summer trends with a soft edge is transparent fabrics. "Having a transparent feel, whether it's the whole dress, ruffles or overlays, that's a huge look this season," she said.

Daskas wrapped some models in yards of tulle to emphasize the trend.

Black: One of the best things about attending runway shows is hearing your table's reaction to certain garments. One of the best loved was a simple black blouse with an attached capelet straight off the Miu Miu runway. Daskas paired it with pants and flats, creating a casually sophisticated look.

Pants: Despite the dominance of dresses, pants look fresh this season because the high waist continues to make headway, showing up on slim pants and wide leg trousers. Daskas warns this look is a little tricky to pull off. "The person has to have a little bit of length in their waist to wear them," she said. "If you can wear them, they look great with something tucked in."

During 'Tender at the Townsend' a black pencil skirt and white ruffled blouse were punched up with a citrus green cardigan by Saverio Palatella.

Lanvin sunglasses lend instant glamour, and don't forget the shoes.

Shoes: Jimmy Choo platform cutouts in brown and fuschia suede. Lanvin pumps in black satin with wood heels and big bows. Valentino platforms of rhinestone mesh. Sound wild? They are, but if you invest in statement shoes this season you can take your old look to a new level. For something that goes with almost anything, try a nude colored shoe, like Derek Lam pumps in buff.

Hair: Runway beauty is always exaggerated, but Anthony Marsalese said the average woman can take a cue from the over-the-top styles he and his team at Antonino Salon & Spa in Birmingham concocted for the show. Models sported smooth hair on top that expanded into voluminous curls on the bottom. Deep side parts and curled-under, clip-on bangs evoked the 1940s. For an everyday translation, Marsalese suggested bangs with straight hair, or loose, tousled curls. "It's not overly done, not too perfect. It's like doing a hairdo then undoing it," he said. "It goes really well with the clothing, feminine and textured."

Makeup: Runway makeup also blended retro and modern feel, according to Genna Gibson, a makeup artist at Antonino. The look was simple: a heavy sweep of dark eyeliner, complemented by high-shine lips in hot pink and red. "Heavy eyeliner and juicy looking lips are really in right now," she said. The lightest touch of rose blush — and perhaps a sweep of sheer eyeshadow — and you're good to go.

Neutral colors and wide leg trousers are great for work or weekends. All clothing available at Tender Birmingham.

Feminine and flowing dresses are the key to style this spring and summer. Accessorize with a chunky necklace and the look's complete.

Accessories: You might not wear neon green, thigh-high fishnets with a little black dress like Daskas showed on the runway, but the point is to use accessories to make a splash. Tie a patterned silk scarf around your hair, put on some prim purple gloves, or carry a handbag covered in silk roses. Large
