Library brings storytime to preschoolers

OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Most youngsters go to the library for storytime, but for 4-year-olds at the Willow Creek Cooperative Preschool, the library came to them for a morning filled with monsters and a blowhard wolf.

"We asked and they came out and have been coming ever since, and I've been here eight years," said preschool teacher Darlene Taig. "It kicks off our We Love Books Week."

Bernadette Dewyer, children's associate at the William P. Faust Public Library, had plenty of volunteers to provide the "action" for the Three Little Pigs, and an enthusiastic crowd of snowflake catchers as she dropped thin scarves on their

"Don't they feel like a snowflake?" she asked before having them turn the "flakes" into snowballs for throwing.

Wearing a bathrobe and covered with a blanket, she pondered what the bumps were at the "foot of her bed," a query that had the youngsters telling her they were her feet.

"They're very curious at this age," said Taig. "Four-year-olds like to help, they don't miss a

Trial start delayed in Laci Green case

BY DARRELL CLEM OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A murder trial has been delayed for the former boyfriend of Westland nursing student Laci Green, who was found strangled to death last May 7 in a grassy field near her parents' home on the city's southwest side.

Robert James-the-First Howard, 25, of Dearborn Heights was supposed to stand trial Monday in Wayne County Circuit Court for first-degree murder, but defense attorney Bertram Johnson indicated he plans to file new motions that are expected to be argued on

During a telephone interview Monday, Johnson hinted that he may file motions asking that a charge of premeditated first-degree murder be dismissed and that attempts by prosecutors to introduce any new evidence be declared irrelevant and prejudicial.

Moreover, Johnson didn't indicate that the delay in Howard's trial could be a move to buy more time to arrange a potential plea agreement with prosecutors.

"At this point, right now I would think that it will go to trial because of the nature of the (circumstantial) evidence," he said.

The latest developments mean that Edward and Barbara Green will have to wait even longer to find out whether their 22-year-old daughter's accused killer will be convicted or acquitted.

Late last year, Edward Green said he and his wife have had difficulty accepting the death of a daughter who "was the joy of our life," and he said they were glad that a trial date then had been set for January.

"It's still hard to talk about it," Edward Green said. "It's the most devastating thing for a parent."

testified during a preliminary hearing in Westland 18th District Court that they encountered Howard outside their Dunn Court home just a few hours before their daughter was found dead around 6 a.m. last May 7. Westland police have testified that they believe Howard took a late-night taxicab to meet and talk with Laci Green outside her home. Police Sgt. Steve Borisch said in court last summer that he believed Howard was angry that Laci Green had broken up with him and was seeing another man.

W-W union, district eye settlement

A Muskegon-based school group is the proposed settlement claiming victory in obtaining copies of e-mails sent by the president of the Westland Education Association to members,. See story on Page A3.

> BY SUE MASON OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The contract dispute involving the Wayne-Westland school board and the Wayne-Westland Education Association could come to a close by next week, if both sides ratify an agreement hammered during factfinding.

In an e-mail sent late last week, the Michigan Employment Relations Commission announced that "as the result of intense negotiations, the parties have arrived at a proposal that will be voted on shortly by the Wayne-Westland Board of Education and members of the Wayne-Westland Education Association. If ratified, it will settle the current contract dispute.*

Because of a gag order imposed by an administrative law judge in October at the start of expedited fact-finding, the two sides declined to comment on the proposed settlement agreement. According to the MERC statement, "more information will be available once the proposal has been ratified by the parties."

"We are still covered under the interim agreement and no information will be available until after the (school) board ratifies," noted Evelyn Baran, Michigan Education Association UniServe director for the WWEA.

Likewise, Wayne-Westland School Superintendent Greg Baracy would only say that agreement "must be ratified by both sides."

"Once it's ratified by both sides, the contract will come into effect," he said.

The Observer has learned that union members were told about the proposed settlement agreement at a meeting Monday evening and that a ratification vote will take place later this Baracy said a special school board meeting will be called for early next week for the school board to vote, if union members approve the agreement.

Approval of the proposed agreement would bring to an end a contentious negotiating process that saw schools closed for four days in October while teachers walked the picket line. The strike was the first one outside of the city of Detroit since 1994.

The illegal strike prompted the school board to vote to draw up procedures for disciplining the striking teachers, a move that angered parents sympathetic to the union's call for smaller class sizes. As a result, a recall effort, led by Wayne resident Shawnn Maxwell, was launched against two board members, Martha Pitsenbarger and Skip Monit.

The district also has had to adjust the school calendar to make up the four days lost because of the strike. The mid-winter recess in February, normally oneweek long, has been shortened to two days, Feb. 16-17, and two half days at the end of the school year have been changed to full days of

"He had his hand on her neck holding her down to the floor," Hunt testified, adding that Mongo pulled Jarrett off

Hunt also testified that Jarrett "was kicking at Tara on her side."

Mongo, however, had testified that he didn't see Jarrett hit or threaten Murphy. He said he pulled Jarrett away from Murphy to keep the situation from escalating.

Senators throw support behind 2nd bridge to Canada

Two Michigan state senators have thrown their support behind plans to build a second border crossing between Michigan and Ontario which recently received approval from the U.S. Department of Transportation to move forward.

Sens. Ray Basham, D-Taylor, and Glenn S. Anderson, D-

Westland, have been significant proponents of this proposal. Their districts are in Wayne County and they are members of various transportation committees. The "Record of Decision" (ROD), signed by U.S. officials, represents the Detroit River International Crossing's (DRIC) final environmental clearance to gain project approval, following four years of consultations, public hearings, traffic analyses, and environmental studies. Michigan may now begin right-of-way acquisition and construction planning for the bridge.

While the debate on DRIC has dragged on for far too long in Lansing, this action by the U.S. Department of Transportation shows that there merce with Canada have been are no environmental concerns with this project," said Basham, the Minority Vice Chair on the Senate Transportation Committee and a longtime advocate of the DRIC project. "And in moving forward, we can now focus on the economic concerns of the state, creating jobs and increasing commerce.

"At a time when so many headlines around the state are negative, this is great news and a prime example of how closely our infrastructure and our economy are related.

The United States and Canada share the largest bilateral trade relationship in the world and states in the Great Lakes region account for more than half of this trade-supporting 7.1 million U.S. jobs. Michigan accounts for more than half of the total U.S. trade with Canada. International trade and commerce supports more than 221,500 Michigan jobs, and almost 60 percent of Michigan goods are exported to Canada.

Activity on the new crossing on the Michigan side of the border will create 10,000 construction jobs and more than 30,000 indirect jobs during the construction period.

"Michigan's opportunities for international trade and comstuck in traffic long enough," said Anderson, a member of the Michigan Transportation Funding Task Force. "Opening up another avenue for personal and professional transportation between our state and our neighbor to the north will result in construction jobs now, and increase the flow of economic activity for years to come."

If completed, the project - including a plaza where tolls and U.S. border inspection activities would occur, and an interchange connecting it to I-75 - would span nearly seven miles. Under current estimates, construction on the new crossing is expected to begin in 2010 and it should be open to traffic Environmental review for the U.S. side of the project, which concluded with ROD signing, began March 24, 2003, with the publication of a Notice of Intent in the Federal Register. A similar review of environmental impacts on the river's Canadian side conducted earlier this year by Ontario and Transport Canada is nearing completion.

The process to complete DRIC's federal environmental documentation lasted less than four years and included more than 100 meetings and public

Convicted killer seeks new trial

BY BRAD KADRICH OBSERVER STAFE WRITER

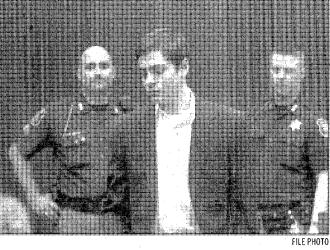

Jean Pierre Orlewicz, the 18-year-old Plymouth Township resident convicted last year of killing and beheading a River Rouge man, finds out next month whether he'll get another day in court.

Orlewicz, sentenced to life in prison without parole for killing and dismembering the body of 26-year-old Daniel Sorensen, is scheduled to appear before Circuit Court Judge Bruce Morrow in a motion hearing set for Feb. 13.

The hearing, designed to seek a new trial for Orlewicz, reportedly will include testimony from a defense expert. However, Detroit attorney Elizabeth Jacobs, who is handling Orlewicz's appeal, declined to discuss the hearing in any detail, other than to confirm the date.

Likewise Maria Miller, spokeswoman for the Wayne County Prosecutor's office, declined comment, citing a policy of not talking about cases on appeal.

Orlewicz was convicted in April 2008 in the November 2007 death of Sorensen, who died in the garage of Orlewicz's grandfather. Orlewicz then beheaded Sorensen, burned his fingertips in an attempt to prevent identification and dumped the body in a Northville field. The body was later identified by a fingerprint not destroyed in the burning.

Wayne County Prosecutor Kym Worthy at the time labeled the killing a "thrill kill," a label thought prejudicial by Orlewicz's attorneys, who said the killing was done in self-defense. The jury didn't buy it, instead depending largely on the testimony of Alexander Letkemann of Westland, who pleaded guilty to second-degree murder in exchange for his testimony. Letkemann is serving a 20- to 30-year sentence.

A third teen, Isam Ayyash, who helped Orlewicz load Sorensen's body onto a truck, was granted immunity in exchange for his testimony. No one else has been charged in the case.

MEA: 'No story' in release of union e-mails by EAG

BY SUE MASON OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A Muskegon-based education watchdog group is claiming a victory in defense of the state's Freedom of Information Act after securing copies of e-mails sent and received by the president of the Wayne-Westland Education Association, using a taxpayer-funded e-mail account.

The Michigan Education Association, the WWEA's parent tling for smaller class sizes or group, however, contends that the Education Action Group Vice President Kyle Olson is just "trying to insert himself into a situation that, as a Muskegon resident, doesn't affect him."

It took two attempts under the Freedom of Information Act for Olson to obtain the emails from the Wayne-Westland Community Schools. The first attempt was blocked when the MEA obtained a temporary injunction until the merits of the interest in the amount of money request could be heard in court. Lacking funds, EAG dropped the request, but submitted a second one, addressing the objections the union attorneys had stated in court.

"Throughout contract negotiations with the school board, and during its illegal four-day strike last October, the teachers union maintained that it was battling over several fundamental issues, including staff health insurance coverage and class sizes," Olson said. "The e-mails strongly suggest that maintaining health coverage through MESSA, an expensive insurance carrier owned and operated by the MEA itself, was far-andaway the union's highest priority, just like it is in many other districts throughout the state currently dealing with labor unrest.'

'TALKING POINT'

He added that the e-mails also suggested that class size may have been little more than a "talking point, or wedge issue," to gain the sympathy of parents and get the school board to budge on health insurance.

"Throughout the e-mails to and from union President Nancy Strachan, the continuation of MESSA insurance coverage is a frequent theme," he said. "That should be of particular interest to taxpayers, because cash-strapped school boards throughout Michigan, including the Wayne-Westland board, have been looking for ways to dump MESSA and replace it with less expensive insurance coverage."

The MEA spokeswoman, Rosemary Carey, said "the emails simply reflect the president's daily e-mails to members regarding bargaining, insurance and class size. "Kyle Olson insists that the issue of class size was not a real issue for the WWEA, but simply a ploy to get public support, yet, the bargaining note proves that class size was a major issue of discussion at every session," Carey said. "Olson keeps asking for information to prove his biased claims. However, all of the documentation is proving his claims to be nothing more than Olson's one-man show with a biased political agenda against MEA and MESSA."

According to Olson, one email, urging Wayne-Westland teachers to contribute to the MEA's political action committee, says potential donors should consider everything the union does for them, specifically noting salary, medical coverage, worker's compensation, length of the school year, and fighting privatization efforts.

"There was no mention of batimproved student achievement," he said, adding that class size is mentioned a few times in the e-mails, "but with less vigor or determination."

'LITTLE USE FOR TRUTH

Carey countered that Olson isn't interested in the information that compares the cost of the district's health insurance plan with the savings MESSA would bring. He also has little the district has spent on items that do not improve education like new buildings and Astroturf.

"But then that data would prove his claims to be false," she said. "He has little use for the truth."

EAG has posted most of the documents, minus duplications

and insignificant material, on its Web site at www.educationactiongroup.org "for the residents of the Wayne-Westland district, and other interested parties, to

The EAG's release of the emails comes at a time when the school district and the WWEA have reached a proposed settlement agreement. Union members are expected to vote on it this week, with the school board to met in special session next week. The two sides have not commented on the agreement because of a gag order issued by an administrative law judge at the start of expedited fact-find-

Carey finds it ironic that Olson FOIA'd the Wayne-Westland president's e-mails in the spirit of full disclosure, but refuses to disclose where his funding comes from.

"EAG has no credibility," she said. "It is a Republican front group. "There is no story here, he is just looking to have his name in the news. He didn't find what he was looking for so now he's trying to fabricate news about bargaining. He's on a oneman campaign against MESSA and MEA.

Man charged with assault after domestic dispute turns violent

BY DARRELL CLEM OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A Westland man could face trial for attempted murder following accusations he stabbed another man while intervening in a domestic dispute Saturday night on a residential street near Wayne and Cowan.

Leon Anthony Anderson, 26, was among four people who went to a house on Sandwood after a woman in her early 20s called for help when her boyfriend refused to leave during an argument, police Sgt. Michael Harhold

Anderson, two other men and the woman's sister had gone to Sandwood to intervene, but Harhold said the dispute only escalated and ended with the boyfriend being stabbed multiple times. The incident happened around

According to initial reports, the woman's boyfriend eventually decided to leave the house and was followed outside by Anderson while everyone else stayed inside, Harhold said.

They heard the victim yell from outside" as he shouted the words "you stabbed me," Harhold said.

The boyfriend apparently had to undergo surgery and was listed in stable condition in a local hospital, the detective said Monday.

The incident resulted in Anderson being arraigned Monday by 18th District Judge Mark McConnell on charges of assault with intent to murder, assault with intent to do great bodily harm and felonious assault.

According to a court clerk. Anderson was jailed with a $250,000 cash bond, and a not-guilty plea was entered for him. McConnell ordered him back in court for a Feb. 5 preliminary hearing that will determine whether he should stand trial in Wayne County Circuit Court.

If convicted, Anderson could face penalties ranging up to life in prison.

Prior to Saturday's incident, the victim and the defendant had no known encounters, according to a preliminary investigation.

"To my knowledge, there's no history between them," Harhold said.

The road to a new you

The latest trends in eyewear fashion

BY AMY SKIMIN

If you're ready to try a new look for the new year, don't forget about your eyes. A new pair of glasses can offer you a quick style upgrade while improving your vision.

This year, rectangular frames are big, with designs around the temples for women and a heavier, European look for men, according to Lisa Dubuis of Henry Ford OptimEyes in South Lyon (pictured above).

A popular new line of frames for men is the Randy Jackson collection, designed by the "American Idol" judge for which it was named.

"That's the latest one that we just got in," Dubuis said.

The list of popular women's brands reads like an inventory of designer handbags, with names like Juicy Couture, Valentino, Bebe, BCBG and Kate Spade.

Dubuis expects the big styles now will stay popular for a while — "at least a couple of years," she said.

Of course, it's also important to take into account what will look good with your facial shape. Dubuis said a good rule of thumb is to look at frames opposite the shape of your face. A person with a round face, for example, would best be able to pull off rectangular frames.

Also remember to take skin tone and facial size into account when selecting new glasses. You don't want to pick a frame in a color that will wash you out or in a size that will look too big or too small.

If you can't figure out what looks best on you, just ask. Dubuis and other employees are there to help.

While you're thinking about new glasses, don't forget to protect your eyes from the sun with a new pair of sunglasses. As well as looking stylish, sunglasses also shield eyes from harmful UV rays.

Exposure to UV rays from sunlight has been associated with the development of cataracts and age-related macular degeneration.

This year, bigger is definitely better when it comes to stylish frames, especially for women. Expect to see a lot of over-sized, plastic frames both in stores and out on the street.

Revolutionary heart care

New equipment treats heart attacks below patient reaches hospital doors

BY ALISON BERGSIEKER
ADVERTORIAL COORDINATOR

Cardiovascular diseases, including stroke, are the nation's No. 1 killer, according to the American Heart Association.

Annually, more than 500,000 patients are admitted to emergency rooms suffering from heart attacks nationwide.

When the time comes for immediate treatment, Garden City Hospital's Emergency Services staff is standing by, trained in effective treatment methods that can save your life.

Current procedures involves opening up a blocked coronary artery with a balloon-tipped catheter and should be performed in 90 minutes. Today, only 32 percent of patients are treated effectively within that timeframe, the American Heart Association reports.

Garden City Hospital's emergency department acknowledged this reality and purchased a new telehealth system, CAR Epoint EMS Workstation with Rosetta ™ Lt 12-Lead ECG capability—high-end equipment to expedite the diagnosis and treatment of heart attacks before a patient even reaches the hospital doors. The hospital will introduce this equipment to its patients Feb. 2.

"This technology will allow us to bridge the gap from when a patient is in the ambulance to when they enter the emergency department," said Barb Coldren, Emergency Services Director. "The pre-hospital 12-Lead ECG data sent from EMS will help the physicians within the emergency department determine the best treatment path for the patient while en route to the hospital, therefore decreasing door-to-balloon time, and ultimately mortal-

When EMS responds to an individual experiencing chest pain, they will now have the Rosetta 12-Lead ECG to transmit patient information instantly to the CAREpoint EMS workstation housed in Garden City Hospital's emergency department. While in the ambulance, patients will be hooked up with ECG leads and live, streaming ECG transmissions will be sent directly to the hospital. This will allow physicians to confirm a heart attack diagnosis and ready the cath lab prior to the patient arriving.

"We believe that this system will change the way patients view emergency care," Coldren said. "Patients are used to receiving care when they enter the emergency room. This technology will allow emergency physicians to begin caring for them, before they even meet."

Make it a point to maintain a healthy heart, with smart nutrition choices, good fitness habits and regular medical check-ups this year and the next.

If you're in need of treatment and don't know where to begin, Garden City Hospital offers a range of non-invasive and invasive procedures, where expert staff is on-hand to assess your needs and provide you the utmost in special-

zed care

The hospital features a state-of-the-art Cardiac Catheterization Lab for invasive procedures, including placement of pacemakers, implantable loop recorders (ILR) and implantable cardiac defibrillators (ICD) and cardioversion.

Non-invasive tests — including electrocardiogram (ECG), a variety of stress testing options, echocardiogram, transesophageal echocardiogram (TEE) and tilt table test — are performed every day on patients from across Metro Detroit.

Health education is just as important as seeking treatment for those with heart needs. The American Heart Association recently reported that heart failure patients who participated in exercise training quickly improved their quality of life.

Community Assistance Pricing 'caps' emergency medical costs during hard times

Today, healthcare is more expensive than ever, making it more difficult to stay healthy.

But don't sacrifice your wellness because you're worried about the bills – check out the Community Assistance Pricing program at Garden City Hospital's emergency department, so you don't have to chose between your family's health and your budget.

If you pay the same day you're treated, Garden City Hospital will "cap" your emergency department charge at $300 – no matter what emergency services you receive or tests and procedures you have.
The result is hundreds of dollars in savings on each emergency visit.
During tough economic times, many people decide to put off procedures because they can't afford them, hurting the health of our economy.

Delaying a medical exam or screening could be dangerous – it could even cost you your life.
Garden City Hospital

Update your smile

Most New Years resolutions have something to do with looking or feeling better, but it can be hard to know where to start

Local dentists think good health starts with the mouth.

Visiting your dentist can have a great impact on both your health and your appear-

Looking to improve your smile? Teeth whitening is now so commonplace that whitening kits of all prices and varieties can be found local supermarkets.

But for a more professional look, cosmetic dentists offer more effective ways to brighten smiles.

Dr. John Halmaghi in Southfield is fully certified in whitening techniques, like

BriteSmile.

"It can last up to two years, assuming (the patient) takes care of their teeth," Halmaghi

Halmaghi applies a painless, light-sensitive gel to the teeth. He then uses a special BriteSmile light to activate the gel. The whole process takes just over an hour. A patient can even have the process completed on the same day as a consult. After a few follow-up processes at home, a patient can see results within a few weeks.

But how white is too white? "If your teeth are transparent, you've gone too far," said Dr. Richard S. Bernstein, Farmington Hills.

Bernstein is an expert in the business of designing smiles. Bernstein believes each smile should be as unique as the person using it.

"One size does not fit all,"
Bernstein said. "I follow certain principles that will bring a more pleasing nature. It's an art when you're doing this."

Bernstein is a member of the American Society for Dental Aesthetics, an organization built around the idea that teeth should not only be healthy, but they should also be pleasing to the eye. He is the only member who operates in Michigan.

Designing a smile usually involves shaping the teeth to help them have a proportional nature. In addition to shaping and using veneers, Bernstein also provides Invisalign, the popular, nearly invisible alternative to braces.

Invisalign uses a series of molds that are replaced every two weeks. The molds are expertly made of acrylic and use pressure points to quickly and painlessly set teeth straight. Best of all, Invisalign molds are virtually unnoticeable.

Visiting the dentist isn't just about how you look, as many dentists like Bernstein will say. A regular checkup can keep the whole body healthy, just by preventing the growth of gum disease. Bacteria from gum disease can easily travel into the rest of your body.

"Once you have gum disease, you never get rid of it," Bernstein warned.

"You can only maintain it."

Reverse mortgage may help some seniors meet expenses

o one segment of society is immune to the current economic turmoil. However, one population more affected than others is senior citizens.

Seniors are always one of the most vulnerable because they typically do not have many options. For example, for seniors who are retired, it is very difficult to get back into the workforce.

One option they do have is a reverse mortgage which are generally for people 62 years and older. A reverse mortgage allows one to use the equity in his/her home during their lifetime. Reverse mortgages are not for everyone, however, they do

The reverse mortgage has an interest factor but unlike a traditional mortgage there is no monthly payment. The reverse mortgage is due either upon death of husband and wife or upon sale. What's nice about a reverse mortgage is there is no liability for your loved one. If, upon your death the reverse mortgage balance is greater than the value of your home, the mortgage company can take the home. It cannot seek payments from your loved ones. If the reverse mortgage is worth less than the property, the house could be sold, the reverse mortgage paid off, and the balance paid to the beneficiaries.

The key to remember about a reverse mortgage is that during your lifetime you can stay in your house for as long as you want and you do not have to make any payments.

During the boom in the real estate market, many people were using reverse mortgages to buy second homes, take vacations, or even pay for a grandchild's college. In today's economy, reverse mortgages are most often used to provide a cash flow for seniors so they can continue to maintain their lifestyle.

In today's market of falling real estate prices, the value of a reverse mortgage is not as great as it used to be. However, it still can be an effective vehicle to help seniors cover living expenses.

Reverse mortgages have fees so it's important to shop around. Take the time to understand the terms and how it works. An informed decision will guarantee you do the right thing.

Even maligned squirrels have their place in nature werv now and then someone writes a request for a master plan on how to banish squirrels from their suburban yard. Others are more extreme, "I wish I could kill them," behaving as if squirrels that express their acrobatic antics at bird feeders have morphed into sabertoothed beasts.

Something puzzles me. The squirrels that are the subject of that disproportionate anguish and anger are not red squirrels, those energized hyperactive rodents that chew holes in roof eves and host wild-winter, pitter-pattering, nut-gnawing chit-chattering all night attic breath, grab that coffee and settle back down for a winter's morning ramble on squirrels in our county: OAKland. And I hope you noticed the emphasis on OAK in Oakland. Oaks mean acorns.

Acorns means squirrels. And the survival instincts and learned behavior of squirrels have made them masters of their art:

Raiding easy pickings at bird feeders. Darwin would look back and smile. And I could end this ramble here and simply say, "Accept squirrels!" I won't.

Gray squirrels are generally a silvery gray color, and are the squirrels that the Red Coats noted in the lofty tree tops as they marched on the rebellious colonists. All sides in the Revolutionary War feasted on squirrel stew. My neighbor still does. Gray squirrels have a strong preference for oak forest and dense woods. The "black squirrel" is simply a melanistic phase of the gray.

Red squirrels are small, but larger than a chipmunk. These vocal squirrels chatter warnings of danger and have a preference for pine cones and other conifer cones. With a reddish back and a white belly and their mastery at tunneling through snow and lightning fast grab and stash feeder hits they are a pleasure to watch. Time for me to scatter sunflower seeds, nuts and apple cores. And, if birds want to visit my feeder that welcomes all, that's just fine with me. Birds have to accept the social interspecies hierarchy of manipulated ways in our not so wild kingdom of squirrels. And fresh covote tracks near the feeder remind me coyotes love all gluttonous feeder-addicted squirrel species as a winter day's entree. Perhaps they taste like furry chicken.

OUR VIEWS

Consider running for school board

If you're considering running for the Wayne-Westland Board of Education, you don't have as long as you might think to make the decision.

And if you're not thinking about it, maybe you should. The filing deadline is Tuesday, Feb. 10. That gives prospective board members just 12 days to answer this basic question: Do I want to have a role in determining the course of our schools?

Historically, there isn't a whole lot of interest in running for the board. Traditionally, there aren't a lot of candidates. Interest in what happens on the board seems to increase when bad things happen, like last year's teachers strike.

And, judging by the annual vote totals, where the last few years' turnout has been less than 5 percent, there isn't a lot of interest in the school board ... period.

This always baffles us, because perhaps nowhere in elective government can an elected official affect more lives than on the school board. It's the one body that has control over the future of our most important asset, our children.

And in these tight economic times, the Wayne-Westland school board — along with school boards across the state — really faces huge challenges, particularly with its budget.

There's three seats up for grabs this year — those of incumbents Ed Turner and Steve Becher and the remainder of former board member Frederick Weaver's term. Shawna Walker is currently filling the position as a board appointee.

There are a lot of reasons not to run for the school board: I don't have the time; it's a big responsibility; I don't know anything about running a school district; the dog ate my filing application.

There is some truth in those reasons. Yes, it is a fact that serving on the school board is more than one meeting a month. There are committee meetings, school functions and the like that school board members attend. And, yes, there will be a learning curve for a newcomer; there is with any new job. As for the dog, let's leave Fido out it.

The truth is, not running is much easier than running. However, the one true reason for getting involved trumps all excuses for not: You can help determine the future of our children.

Look beyond holidays to help those in need

It sounds simple enough. You need to go to the grocery store to pick up a few things. Nothing special, just some coffee, cereal for the kids, tea, maybe some canned fruit and — oh, yeah — some toilet paper.

Not a big deal, right?

Well, unfortunately, it is a very big deal for a growing number of people, many of whom live right in our hometowns. The list of people needing such basic things grows with each announcement of yet another company planning layoffs.

That list of items amounts to what is most needed in January by the Rochester Area Neighborhood House, which operates a food pantry that is housed in First Congregational Church in Rochester.

January. The holiday hoopla is over, and so are the pleas for donations of money, food and clothing to help our neighbors. But the need is as great — no, greater — than ever before.

There are plenty of ways in which you can help. Here are a few of the organizations which provide food pantries and would welcome your contributions.

Troy People Concerned acts as a referral agency, while St. Anastasia Catholic Church, also in Troy, has a food pantry.

Good Hope Lutheran Church in Garden City has a food bank that distributes food that serves 500 people — 200 families — each month. It relies on donations and is a partner with Gleaners.

Gleaners is one of two major agencies which battle hunger, the other being Forgotten Harvest. Forgotten Harvest, based in Oak Park, picks up food from restaurants and grocery stores for distribution to shelters and soup kitchens. It doesn't take food from the public, but it does take contributions.

The John Bolde Memorial Food Depot at the St. Mary Outreach in Wayne also relies on food and monetary donations that help purchase food from Gleaners.

The Plymouth Salvation Army has a food pantry, and it's always taking donations.

That is just a brief sampling of organizations that could use your help. Check with your town hall, service organizations or local churches for other ways to offer help.

Remember, as tight as your own budget is, there are a lot of folks out there who are really hurting.

Doing the flip-flop

And the winner of the "no class" award goes to ... His Majesty ... the messiah ... President Obama.

Despite the comparisons that are being made between former President Bush and President Obama in the media where Bush is hated and Obama is the beloved, the fact is that at the outset of the Bush administration, the former president attended a Democrat retreat as a show of goodwill and to try to set the tone for bipartisanship in Washington. President Obama, on the other hand, is showing his "bipartisanship" with his own version of "it's my way or the highway" attitude.

The liberal Democrats have been Bush-bashing since his inauguration, complaining he spent too much money on his inauguration celebration while Obama has spent three times that amount and not a peep from the mainstream media about it.

In a recent Fox News story, Obama told Republican leaders at a meeting "you can't just listen to Rush Limbaugh and get things done." So what he was saying was; Republicans need to see things Obama's way. So much for tolerance of ideas!

Included in the Fox news article, in a meeting on the "stimulus" (read that as welfare programs, bailouts and more spending), Obama told Rep. Eric Cantor, R-Va., "I won. I will trump you on that." Cantor was objecting to Obama's "proposal to increase benefits for low-income workers who don't owe federal income taxes." In other words, Cantor was objecting to a government welfare program.

Obama's plan is sending us into a socialist-type government that we may not be able to come out of without a total collapse of the economy. Bush was no prize with his spending, but he at least made an effort to be bipartisan and stuck to his guns as to what he believed was right while Obama flipflops on a daily basis

Era of change for youth

Paradoxically, in this time of almost crushing concern over the state of our nation, the inauguration of a new president ushers in, at least briefly, a period of palpable hope. Hope for a better economy, for demonstrable progress in Iraq, Afghanistan and the Middle East and for improvements in everything from climate change to education to Social Security to health care. Indeed, optimism abounds even as things seem to be falling down all around us. It's the American way.

But those aren't the only things we have to feel hopeful about. Or, for that matter, to worry about. In some very important ways, the state of our nation's youth mirrors that of our country. For example, according to statistics from the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), suicide is rising rapidly, incidences of death and injury due to violence are staggering, and sexually transmitted diseases and infections are epidemic.

The CDC reports that:

The suicide rate for young people under the age of 20 increased by 20 percent between 2003 and 2004 and, in 2007, 14.5 percent of U.S. high school students reported that they had seriously considered attempting suicide during the 12 months preceding the survey;

In 2005, 5,686 young people ages 10-24 were murdered, and in 2006 more than 720,000 were treated in emergency departments for injuries sustained due to violence; and

■ In 2008, one in four (26 percent) young women between the ages of 14 and 19 in the United States was infected with at least one sexually transmitted disease.

No less alarming is the drug and alcohol use that often accompanies decision-making about self-injury, violence, and sexual behavior among teens.

The federal Office of Legislative Policy and Analysis says that by the time they reach eighth grade, nearly 50 percent of adolescents have had at least one alcoholic drink and more than 20 percent report having been "drunk."

In addition, SADD's Teens Today research reveals that more than one-third of young people (35 percent) report using other drugs, such as marijuana, Ecstasy, and methamphetamines.

So, where does the hope part come in? With a continued federal commitment to address those issues that most threaten the health, safety, and development of youth. It is a priority that carries with it, in President Obama's oft-repeated words of Dr. Martin Luther King, "the fierce urgency of now."

Good thing that we have a running start.

Over the past decade, our government, with the support of key partners, has mobilized to reduce "demand" for drugs and alcohol among adolescents and children. Here is a sampling of those efforts:

1988 — The U.S. Congress proclaims the first National Red Ribbon Week, drawing attention to the dangers of drug use in our society, especially among young people.

1998 — The White House Office of National Drug Control Policy launches the Youth Anti-Drug Media Campaign to prevent and reduce youth drug use, delivering anti-drug messages to America's youth, their parents and other influential adults.

2003 — The National Academies publish Reducing Underage Drinking: A Collective Responsibility, exploring ways individuals and groups contribute to the problem and how they can be enlisted to boost prevention.

2005 — Congress passes the STOP (Sober Truth on Preventing Underage Drinking) legislation, recognizing that a coordinated approach to prevention, intervention, treatment, and research of underage drinking is key to making progress.

2006 — The federal government's Interagency Coordinating Committee on the Prevention of Underage Drinking supports Town Hall Meetings across the country, addressing the problem of youth alcohol use.

2007 — The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services issues The Surgeon General's Call to Action to Prevent and Reduce Underage Drinking, pointing to new research indicating that the developing adolescent brain may be particularly susceptible to long-term consequences of alcohol use.

What are the results of these collaborative efforts?

A 2007 Monitoring the Future report noted that, since 2001, the overall use of drugs by young people had dropped by 24 percent (alcohol by 15 percent, marijuana by 25 percent, Ecstasy by 54 percent, and methamphetamines by 64 percent). Come 2008, the decline was 25 percent ... 900,000 fewer young people using illegal drugs than there were in 2001.

Now that's change we can believe in. Given the enormity of the risk that remains, can our country continue to make progress in its climb up that great big hill of hope? With a fierce urgency of now and the enduring commitment of critical federal resources for youth drug and alcohol education and prevention, the answer is a resounding "Yes, We Can!"

And we must.

Unfair treatment

The following is in response to the Murphy letter of Jan. 8 concerning

Murphy letter of Jan. 8 concerning a "special election" being expensive. Financial burden or not, maybe the persons being recalled should have at least shown the appearance of being interested in the citizens of the Nankin Mills Village area before voting as they did. At some point, it might be any of us finding ourselves standing before council, facts in hand (as the Nankin group did), hoping actually to be heard.

There is no need for a tight economy to add guilt to unfair treatment. Waiting for a special election would be too late and would be "no recall" at all, further insulating the council from the citizens.

Michigan's 'Black Eden' focus of library exhibit

OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The Westland library will host a Michigan State University traveling exhibit, "Welcome to Idlewild: The Black Eden of Michigan," focusing on the northwestern Michigan resort, during February. The unveiling will be 2-4 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 1, at the library, on Central City Parkway between Ford and Warren Road.

"We are going to have a speaker, Dr. Ben C. Wilson," said Marilyn Kwik, department head for adult services at the William P. Faust Public Library of Westland. "He's a professor emeritus from Western Michigan University and an Idlewild historian."

The monthlong program, part of Black History Month, is presented with support of the Michigan Humanities Council and the Friends of the William P. Faust Library. Idlewild was a resort prominent from 1912 to the 1960s. Blacks could buy property there, and the resort hosted well-known entertainers like Louis Armstrong.

The library exhibit will feature panels with photos and displays on Idlewild, along with a reproduction quilt of an original on Idlewild done by Michigan's Deonna Todd Green.

WOW seeks nominees for 2009 ATHENA Award

A bronze statue topped with a crystal and tables filled chocolate ... The latter has become synonymous with the former when it comes to the Women of Westland's ATHENA Award program.

In its fifth year, the ATHENA Award Chocolate Fantasy Ball is "an opportunity for the whole community to come together to recognize our unsung heroes," according to Mary Denning, president of Women of Westland.

"This glamorous event supports an effort to empower women who might not have the financial means to gain higher education," she said.

The formal event will be held on Saturday, March 7, at the Hawthorne Valley Country Club in Westland when the 2009 ATHENA Award winner will be publicly honored by state and local dignitaries and will receive the coveted ATHENA sculpture.

Westland Mayor William R. Wild, The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and the Women of Westland have teamed up to host the Chocolate Fantasy Ball. The event supports the Barbara Douglas Scholarship Program, giving financial awards to qualified women of the Westland community who want to attend college for undergraduate credit or trade

Helping women to achieve their goals in life continues to be the focus of the Women of Westland organization. "In these uncertain times, some women are finding themselves jobless and lacking the education skills to remain competitive in their career field," said Denning. "This void requires the building of long term community partnerships to empower the women of our community."

Nominations are being sought for the ATHENA Award which celebrates the potential of all women as valued members and leaders of the community and recognizes those who support them. An international award, the ATHENA Award is given to an individual, female or male, who demonstrates excellence. creativity and initiative in their business or profession. They also must contribute time and talent to help improve the quality of life for others in the community. The final qualification is helping women to realize their full leadership

People interested in making a nomination can find a form on the Women of Westland Web site at www.womenofwestland.com. For more information, call Meghan Giersdorf at (248) 255-8241.

The Chocolate Fantasy Ball will begin with cocktails at 6 p.m., followed by dinner and the ATHENA Award presentation at 7:30 p.m. There will be an open bar and silent auction. Topping things off will be the famed dessert extravaganza.

Tickets are $20 each and only 300 will be sold. Sponsorship opportunities also are available. For more information or to order tickets, call the Women of Westland at (734) 467-9113.

favorite: CC

When asked which team is the one to beat at Saturday's 18th annual Observerland Invitational wrestling tournament, the same two-letter response rolled off the tongues of several area coaches: CC.

BY ED WRIGHT OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

That acronym is short for Novi Detroit Catholic Central, which is long on talent

The state-ranked Shamrocks' confidence will be sky-high following a recent dualmeet triumph over perennially powerful

"They probably have more depth than the other teams,"

PREP WRESTLING Salem coach Greg Woochuk said. "If they lose a No. 1 wrestler at a weight, they can plug in another talented wrestler without losing much, if anything."

The tournament begins at 9 a.m. at Livonia Churchill High School. Admission is $5, except for Frost Middle School students, who get in free with a student I.D. "CC is probably the favorite going in," Westland John Glenn coach Bill Polk said.

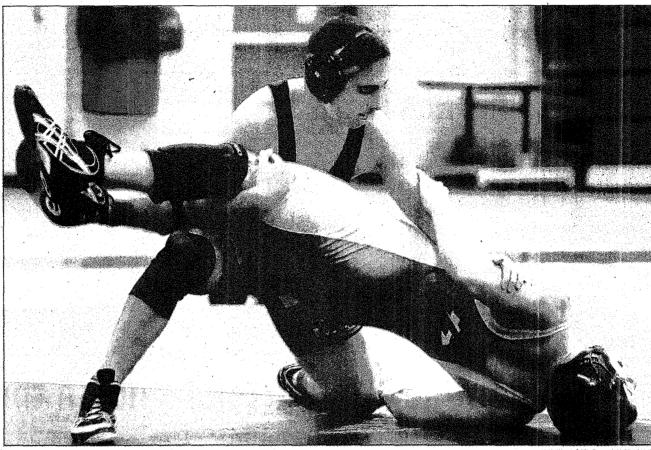

"They've been coming on strong lately. But it all comes down to matchups. There are several teams that are capable of winning. If the Shamrocks prevail, it won't be easy. Several teams - including defending champion Canton, Livonia Franklin and Westland John Glenn — figure to be in the mix when the event's finals roll around in the late afternoon at Churchill. "This is a big tournament for our kids," first-year Canton coach Cory Mancuso said. "I know they want to win it all and defend their crown. Catholic Central is probably the favorite. Their lineup is stacked from top to bottom."

Canton survives test against Rockets

BY ED WRIGHT OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Canton's wrestling team didn't have much time to savor Tuesday night's emphatic 45-28 victory over Westland John Glenn.

Approximately 22 hours, to be exact. That's how much time elapsed between the Chiefs' important KLAA South Division triumph over the Rockets and Wednesday night's equally important match against Livonia

"I really liked how we came out and wrestled aggressively against John Glenn," first-year Canton coach Cory Mancuso said. "We won a couple matches that we knew were going to

What, if anything, did Mancuso learn about his young team Tuesday

I learned that we have a pretty darned good team," he said. "You have to be pretty good to beat a team as good as John Glenn at their place. Hopefully, we can keep it going."

Of the eight matches the Chiefs won, Mancuso pointed to Carl Lucke's 3-2 nail-biter over Joshua Austin at 119 pounds as possibly the most pivotal.

Five Chiefs registered pins: Jeremy Filippelli at 130 pounds, Donnie Watkins at 140, Brent Winekoff at 145, Keith Zech at 171 and Tyler Bourcier at 215.

The Rockets most impressive victories came from Steven Wakeford at 103; Mark Thompson at 125; Jeff Adkins, who defeated Anthony Abro, 6-4, in overtime at 152; and Zaid Ammari, who notched a pin at 160.

John Glenn's Dustin Gajowiak pinned Canton's Robert Lincoln in 1:18 in the heavyweight showdown.

Ammari honored

Second-year Westland John Glenn wrestling captain Zaid Ammari, who carries a 3.74 grade-point average and is a member of the National Society, was honored as Farmers Insurance Group and Fox Sports Detroit's monthly Student Athlete Citizen Award.

Ammari is a member of the student council, diversity math and clubs, and is on the school's quiz bowl team. He is volunteer at St. Mary's Hospital and serves as a D.A.R.E. role model.

Ammari will be featured in a 30-second video vignette running throughout February during Fox Sports Detroit programming.

■ It was a highly productive Saturday for the Livonia Stevenson wrestling team, which finished runner-up to the host school in the Sterling Heights Stevenson Team Duals.

The Spartans, now 17-15 overall, scored wins over Romulus (65-18), Pontiac Notre Dame Prep (72-4), Grosse Pointe South (51-30) and Almont (48-33) before losing to the host Titans (37-30).

"We got off to a slow start. We were kind of lethargic," said Jenkins, whose team was down 20-17 at intermission. "We weren't attacking the basket and kind of standing around."

The second half proved to be a different story, as the Chargers outscored Glenn 30-20 en route to a 47-40 victory.

"Fortunately we played good defense and rebounded the ball, then our offense started to click a bit," said Jenkins, whose team is 6-4 overall and 2-1 in the South Division of the KLAA's Kensington Conference.

Seniors Alysa Boldiszar and Kia Griffin led the Chargers with 13 and 12 points, respectively. Brittany Holbrook and Chanel Payne each tallied 11

McReynolds added 10.

"We got within two in the fourth quarter, but missed some easy putbacks and we did not make free throws when we needed them," said Glenn coach Mike Schuette, whose team was 7-of-13 from the foul line.

It's academic: Wayne grapplers ahead of the curve in classroom

Observer & Eccentric | Thursday, January 29, 2009

BY BRAD EMONS OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The Wayne Memorial wrestling team's roster size has tripled, but what has fourthyear head coach Steve Vasiloff excited is improvement he has seen on his wrestlers' report

Twenty members of the wrestling team were recently recognized by the National Honor Society and Livonia Congressman Thaddeus G. McCotter (Rep.-Mi-11th) for Outstanding Student Achievement. This recognition is for student-athletes with a 3.5 grade-point or higher.

Among those recognized for their academic efforts: Aman Brar, Jacob Montgomery, Sharif Hegazi, Dimitrus Renfroe, Alex Driessche, Adam Kay, Dylan Shepard, Doug Rutan, Kyle Szalai, Matt Hansen, Dylan Korzetki, Jimmy Kassis, Max Hershey, Cody Allen, Avery Barron, Nate Cavanaugh, Nick Wagnitz, Chris Schmidt, Micheil Hood and Chet Hershey.

"I have always been tough on the team academically, and have run study table every day we practice since Day One," Wayne fourth-year coach Steve Vasiloff said "Yet, we have always struggled with grades, because they would start the year off wrong and have to build them up from there. I will not wrestle my kids that do not meet and exceed the districts academic standards."

Last year only five grapplers were eligible after the first card marking. Vasiloff said this year has been different.

"We have attracted a different kind of student-athlete to the program," he said. "We now have wrestlers that give 100 percent on and off the mat. This is the kind of foundation we need to build a successful foundation for the future.'

The Wolfpack has already seen their fair share of success this season winning the Blissfield Invitational while placing third at both the Michigan Center Team Tournament and the Romulus Royal Invitational.

Wayne currently stands 11-6 overall and is 2-4 against KLAA Kensington Conference opponents. The Wolfpack is 1-1 in the KLAA South Division.

"Things are really turning around for us, and my staff and I couldn't be more excited," Vasiloff said. "I have given it my all and tried my best to be patient these last four years. And it's finally starting to pay off. We are building a program. We will take our lumps, but in a few years I hope to be one of those top teams in our conference."

Churchill overcame a gamehigh 32 points from senior Austin Anderson, who scored 22 in the final quarter. The 6-0 point guard was coming off a 31-point effort in Friday's 73-67 setback to rival Wayne Memorial.

WAYNE 81, FRANKLIN 64: Senior guard Robert Woodson poured in a gamehigh 27 points to propel KLAA South Division co-leader Wayne Memorial (5-3, 3-0) past host Livonia Franklin (2-6, 0-3).

Wayne jumped out to a 34-24 halftime led before Franklin cut the deficit to six in the third quarter. The Patriots couldn't get any closer. Daniel Hill, a junior forward, added 18 points for the victorious Zebras. Reggie Reeves and Delorean Holland added 10 apiece. Seniors Jeff Poole and Connor

"I like the way the guys played, but Wayne was better," Franklin coach Jeremy Rheault said.

"Woodson hit some big threes and did a great job scoring at the rim. Hill was also tough around the rim."

STEVENSON 50, S. LYON EAST 49: In a KLAA Central clash Tuesday, host Livonia Stevenson (6-2, 2-1) needed a 26-16 fourth-quarter run to avert upset-minded South Lyon East (0-8, weights, which is what we did when we won it," Chiola said. "This year, we've been strong in the lower and upper weights, but we've struggled a little in the middle. We seem to be a different team week to week this year. Some weeks we look really strong; the next week we'll look like we've never wrestled."

Last year, the Chiefs racked up 212.5 points to edge runner-up CC by 18 points. Franklin was third with 178.5.

Canton placed first in just two weight classes at the 2008 tournament, but the Chiefs conquered the 18-team field by advancing five grapplers to the finals.

Among the returning elite wrestlers is Canton's Donnie Watkins, who is thus far unbeaten at 135 pounds.

Richard was born in Ypsilanti, MI, on June 7, 1925, the son of Marcus Willoughby and Dorothy (McClumpha) Wiseley, the eldest of seven children. Raised in the Plymouth area, he graduated from Plymouth HS in 1942 and attended MSU. He was a sergeant in the US Army during WWII, serving in England, France, Belgium, Germany and Italy. He married Dilys Elizabeth Richards on June 15, 1957 in Franklin, Michigan and remained devoted to her until his dying day. After they were married, they moved to the farm near Dexter. He owned Huron Farm Supply, a John Deere dealership in Dexter for 30 years. Richard enjoyed his grandchildren and spending time at his cabin on Lk Huron (and Lucky Strikes). A recent highlight was visiting the WWII memorial in Washington with Pride and Honor Flights. Home business keeps its clients in cards Observer: Tell us about your business, including the types of service and/or products you feature.

Life is full of moments where we are "prompted" - either by an inner voice or a thought that pops into our head. But who has the time to go buy a card, write a note, and go to the post office to buy a stamp and drop it off. Technology has allowed us to instantly communicate our words via e-mail or text messages, but there is something about receiving a heartfelt card in the mail that says so much.
