For those with overdue balances on citations through the court, the court is offering an amnesty program throughout April. The court will waive the $35 default late fee, the $50 warrant cost and the 20 percent late fee on eligible cases.

For those with cases involving license suspensions by the Michigan Department of State, the mandatory $45 clearance fee cannot be waived. Consideration may be given on other cases for people appearing in front of a judge on pending cases or cases with open warrants.

To take advantage of the program, payments must be made in full. No payment plans will be allowed.

Individuals may come to the court to pay or clear up delinquent, payable citations during regular business hours, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. Payments made by cash, check or money order at the court, located behind the Westland police station on Ford Road between Newburgh and Wayne. Credit card payments may be made by phone or over the Internet. The court's phone number is (734) 595-8720. The Web site is www.18thdistrictcourt.com.

City looks at 'trash-into-cash' recycling

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Westland appears ready to become the first Wayne County city — and only the second in Michigan — to embark on a bold, curbside recycling program that will actually pay residents to participate.

Mayor William Wild likened it to a "trash-into-cash" program that will amount to Westland's own economic stimulus package by potentially returning $240 to $540 a year to every household that gets involved.

Wild and recycling company representatives rolled out the plan Monday to an enthusiastic crowd that packed Westland City Council chambers and spilled into a hallway. Residents who have lobbied for it applauded a curbside program that is expected to start in mid-June.

"This is the right time for the city of Westland," resident Mary Murphy said. "It's 2009, and we deserve curbside recycling."

Over the next three years, Wild's administration has proposed setting aside $860,000 a year from the city's trash-disposal sanitation fund to hire the companies who say they can make the plan work and reduce the cost of dumping garbage in a landfill.

Moreover, recycling would be easier than ever for residents, who could simply put all their glass, plastic, tin cans and other recyclable materials into one container, then roll it out to the curb every other week on the same day their trash is picked up.

City council members are expected to vote as early as Monday to hire Republic Services to pick up recyclables, Toter Inc. to provide the containers, Great Lakes Recycling to process the materials at its New Boston facility and RecycleBank to administer the financial-incentive program. All the contracts would be for five years except for Great Lakes' two-year agreement.

The recommendations came from Ann Arbor-based Resource Recycling Systems CEO James Frey, who was hired last year by the city to seek proposals and find the most cost-effective plan. Residents will not have to pay any additional fees.

Recycling carts would come equipped with computerized chips allowing Republic's trucks to track each household's participation. Residents could either go online to RecycleBank's Web site or call a toll-free number to check the points they accumulate, then cash them in for gift cards for businesses, such as Target, CVS pharmacy and Dick's Sporting Goods, that partner with RecycleBank.

"We know this is going to take your trash and turn it into cash," Wild told the crowd Monday.

Every 400 or so households on a shared recycling route would be rewarded equally based on an average weight of the materials they place in

State: Polling places open to petition drives

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

State elections officials have ruled in favor of a recall group that claimed it was unfairly blocked from circulating petitions on Wayne-Westland school property as voters went to the polls last November.

Christopher M. Thomas, state director of elections, has said the group, which sought to recall five Westland city officials, should have been allowed to collect signatures as long as the petition drive was kept 100 feet from polling places.

Thomas has warned in a letter to Westland City Clerk Eileen DeHart that she should move polling places away from the schools unless Wayne-Westland officials agree to drop their policy on election days.

However, school officials have chosen to comply with the state ruling rather than force the city to change its polling places — a change that could have led to widespread confusion and a $12,000 price tag for new voter registration cards.

"Right now we are certainly trying to review this, but in the meantime we would do nothing to jeopardize the city and their need to have the polling places in our schools," said Charlotte Sherman, the district's deputy superintendent.

The latest developments came as the recall group, Save Our Neighborhood, missed its March 28 deadline for collecting signatures in hopes of recalling Mayor William Wild and Westland City Council members James Godbout, Michael Kehrer, Bill Johnson and Dewey Reeves.

The group had hoped to oust the city officials for supporting a controversial senior citizen village that critics have said will be too massive for their neighborhood of single-family homes on Joy Road east of Newburgh. City officials have lauded the proposed development and said it would bring in much-needed tax revenues.

The recall group had hoped to circulate petitions last Election Day, but were told by city officials that the effort would violate school district policy.

One recall organizer, Donna DeWitt, said she was "happy" with the state ruling, "but this never should have happened." Moreover, DeWitt said Tuesday that DeHart, Godbout, Wild and City Attorney Angelo Plakas should resign over the matter.

City officials have said they didn't set the school district policy, but simply advised the recall group about it. "I did, I do and I will follow state regulations," DeHart said Monday. State elections officials in previous years had declined to comment on the district policy, but Thomas cited recent

Fire marshal faces charge in accident

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Westland Fire Marshal Chris Szpara, already slapped with a 90-day unpaid suspension that will cost him more than $20,000, is facing a misdemeanor charge of leaving the scene of a property damage accident.

Szpara, 37, came to the Westland police station Tuesday so that a traffic officer could book him on the charge and fingerprint him. He was released as he awaits court proceedings.

Szpara could face penalties ranging up to 90 days in jail and a $500 fine, if he's found guilty, although many defendants charged with misdemeanors are given options other than spending time behind bars.

Szpara is accused of pulling out of a Taco Bell in a city car around 3 a.m. March 24, hitting another vehicle near Merriman and Cherry Hill, and leaving the scene. He was stopped in neighboring Wayne, and a Westland command officer who went to the scene didn't test him for alcohol because he didn't believe Szpara was drunk, officials have said.

The charge against Szpara was recommended by Westland attorney James Nellis after City Attorney Angelo Plakas chose to avoid any potential conflict of interest by having the case handled outside of his office. If convicted, Szpara could receive up to six points on his driving record.

Westland 18th District Court judges Sandra Ference Cicirelli and Mark McConnell will not hear the case. They have disqualified themselves and asked a state court administrator to assign it to another judge.

Szpara and city officials have come under fire for the incident, particularly because he wasn't given a Breathalyzer. Police have said Szpara admitted having a couple of beers, but that he didn't appear drunk.

Fire Chief Michael Reddy suspended Szpara without pay for 90 days, ordered him to receive counseling and warned other fire administration officials not to drive city cars for personal business. Reddy has called Szpara's alleged actions "inexcusable."

Despite Szpara's troubles, he has received some accolades for his work as fire marshal.

their carts. Only participating homes would benefit. One resident, Mark Rodriguez, suggested each household should accumulate points separately, but officials said that method would drive up costs for the curbside program.

Frey estimated that, on average, a household would receive $240 a year in financial incentives, though they could earn as much as $540 depending on how much they recycle. In all, Wild said that could mean $6 million to $15 million a year for local residents.

Westland will become only the second Michigan community to use RecycleBank. Rochester Hills recently started the program.

For now, Westland's program would be eligible to 28,000 households that get their garbage picked up by the city. Officials hope to eventually expand the service to condominiums, apartments and businesses.

Most households would use a 96-gallon recycling bin, although seniors and others could opt for a 64- or 32-gallon size.

RecycleBank regional manager Tom Hernandez estimated that Westland's program could eventually trim the city's landfill costs from $686,000 a year to $472,000, marking a $214,000 savings.

The city will need to achieve a participation rate of 40-50 percent for the program to work, Frey said, and recycling enthusiasts strongly encouraged the city to mount an education campaign that targets children who, in turn, will sell it to their parents.

Wild said the city, for now, has set aside enough money to pay for the program for three years. Councilman Charles Pickering questioned whether the city can afford the plan beyond that without depleting the sanitation fund or seeking a tax increase.

"Where will the money come from?" Pickering asked.

And although he supports recycling, he said he is skeptical that the city will get the level of participation it needs. Two earlier curbside programs failed, but they came with annual fees.

Councilman James Godbout mentioned one possible method of future funding — dropping a leaf pickup program that benefits less than 40 percent of residents yet costs nearly $500,000 a year.

Ed McArdle, representing the southeast Michigan Sierra Club, a group dedicated to protecting the environment, lauded Westland for its efforts. He said when the group approaches other cities to push for environmentally friendly programs, "we'll use Westland as an example."

federal court decisions that he said have clarified the issue.

Sherman said the district still hasn't received written notice of the state's position, but she has seen a copy of the letter to DeHart. She has said the district wanted to keep political activity not related to elections off school property.

In part, Thomas wrote in a letter dated March 3 that "it is our position that individuals who wish to campaign or collect petition signatures outside of the polling place at issue must be permitted to do so as long as they remain at least 100 feet from the entrance to the school building in which the polling place is located."

Sherman described district officials as "disappointed" that they didn't receive any direct notice from the state.

DeWitt said no decision has made whether the effort to recall any city officials will be revived, but she called it "very serious" that the group was blocked from collecting signatures.

"The matter should have been cleared up well before the election," she said.

I am a local business owner and entrepreneur, 39 years old, with a beautiful wife and four wonderful children. My eldest daughter attends Stevenson Jr. High School and her two younger sisters attend Patchin Elementary School. My son has just started preschool at Noah's Ark, in Wayne. I attended Wayne Westland schools and am a proud graduate of John Glenn High School, class of 1988. I decided to run for School Board because I am committed to seeing our children reach their full potential. When my family immigrated to the United States, I was very young and my family came here with nothing. The teachers at Patchin literally helped cloth me, educate me, empower me and make me the person I am today. I want to give back to the community that gave so much to me. I believe my personal and business experiences will bring a refreshing perspective to the School Board. I have run a startup business and raised over $10 million in funding. I have unique insight, strong leadership skills, dedication, and the ability to solve problems effectively. I am eager to bring my skills to the School Board to improve our schools and provide the best possible environment for our children to learn and grow.

Non-athletes can learn from sports stars' money mistakes

You can't go anywhere these days without hearing or reading something about the economy. I pulled out my Sports Illustrated recently and there was an article — with a different twist — on what's happening in the economy.

Money Matters
Rick Bloom

The article dealt with athletes and how they go through money and what was a surprise was some of the statistics cited. For example, according to the SI article, 75 percent of all NFL players are in bankruptcy or in serious financial shape two years after they retire. Of course, you are asking how someone could be in serious financial shape when they have made millions and millions of dollars. As I always say, it is not what you make, it is what you save.

The SI article pointed out some of the common problems athletes have when it comes to investing money. There are some lessons to be learned from their mistakes. What's not surprising is one of the common mistakes athletes made was dealing with unscrupulous financial advisers. It is amazing how many athletes have been conned out of millions by their financial adviser.

Dealing with the wrong financial adviser is not unique to athletes. It happens to many people.

The lesson to learn from athletes is the importance of dealing with the right financial adviser. I believe the majority of individuals should be dealing with fee-only financial advisers. Fee-only financial advisers do not work on commissions. They are independent from investment products. One of the problems many investors have is that they're getting advice from an adviser who has an inherent conflict of interest. When there is commission involved, you have to ask where is the loyalty. Is it to the product or to the investor? I believe an investor should deal with an adviser whose loyalty is to the investor and only the investor.

Another common subject amid the athlete's stories was excessive fees. Unfortunately, it's not only athletes who are paying excessive fees. For as long as I have been involved in the investment world, I have always preached to investors the need to understand fees. Never buy an investment unless you know what it cost to buy, to sell and to hold.

Fees matter and if you don't ask about fees there is no doubt that you will be taken advantage of. The reality of the situation is high fees equal low returns. Particularly in today's financial environment, high fees make it impossible for an investor to make money.

Another common issue involving athletes and their money is that they get involved in deals that are "can't miss." As far as I am concerned, investments and deals described this way are those to walk away from. All investments have risks. When an investment sounds too good to be true, it generally is.

Athletes have some unique issues when it comes to investing. After all, very few of us will ever make the money they do. However, we can learn from their mistakes and become better investors. The result of becoming a better investor is that more money stays in your pocket, exactly where it belongs.

Rick Bloom is a fee-only financial adviser. Observer & Eccentric readers can submit questions at monymatters@hometownlife.com. For more information, visit Rick's Web site at www.bloomassetmanagement.com.

Musician shares message of social change

BY JULIE BROWN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

JULIE LEONARDSSON

Musician Anne Feeney doesn't agree with all of President Barack Obama's actions, but considers him a big improvement over his predecessor.

"It's a tremendous opportunity for us, isn't it?" the Pittsburgh area resident said during an appearance Monday at the William P. Faust Public Library of Westland.

Feeney is an activist who uses her music to share a message of social change and justice. During last year's presidential campaign, she and others performed in a 23-city swing of Ohio.

"Of course, we were personally interested in seeing Ohio go blue," she said of her Obama support.

"We've proven we can elect a president," said Feeney, who thinks of Obama as the first president not elected by corporate interests. "Can we get national health care?" She asked her audience the same question about ending wars, with the refrain of Yes, We Can.

Her political leanings weren't secret at the library performance, with a song on she still prefers him to George W. Bush.

She told of Florida college students she met who were largely unaware of Rosa Parks and the Montgomery, Ala., bus boycott of the 1950s. She asked them how long that boycott lasted.

"Their best answer was six days," she said of the more than a year long boycott. "Our history is not being taught right."

Based in Pittsburgh, Pa., Feeney is the granddaughter of a mineworkers' organizer, who also used music to carry the message of solidarity to working people. After two decades of community activism and regional performances at rallies, Feeney took her message on the road. Since 1991, Feeney has traveled to 42 states, as well as Canada, Mexico, Denmark, Ireland and Sweden.

Her anthem Have You Been to Jail for Justice? is being performed by activists everywhere, including Peter, Paul and Mary. She sang that song, like others with guitar accompaniment, in Westland. In 2005, she received the Joe Hill Award from the Labor Heritage Foundation in Washington, D.C. Past recipients include Cesar Chavez, Pete Seeger, Faith Petric and Hazel Dickens.

Feeney was headed next to Elkhart, Ind., for an anniversary of a labor strike; she sang of Rosa Parks My Feet Are Tired — But My Soul Is Rested.

She writes her material and performs others' songs as well. Feeney cut back on Irish music as it became more prevalent, but did perform I Married a Hero, a song for Irish women.

"My kids were raised on picket lines and rallies," she told her Westland audience. The children would ask, "How come we always put signs in our yard for people who lose, Mommy?"

The Vietnam War and civil rights movement were strong influences on Feeney.

Feeney worked for about a dozen years as a trial attorney. She served as president of the Pittsburgh Musicians' Union.

Now, she's on the road more than 200 days a year, performing all over the U.S. and Canada, and more recently, Sweden and Denmark. Her Web site, www.annefeeney.com, notes, "It's my privilege to spend most of my waking hours with people who are trying to make a difference in this world ... people on strike, or in a union or community organizing drive, or defending women's rights, the environment, human rights ... working to end poverty and racism ... teaching peace."

Feeney performs at many rallies organized by teachers and other education unions to protest school cuts. She sang a song at the library urging there be more books, more learning, less fighting and less greed in schools.

She sang a song of the recently passed Lilly Ledbetter Fair Pay Act as a tribute to Women's History Month. Feeney also sang songs of the Industrial Workers of the World union, known as the Wobblies.

"I loved it," said Cheryl Napsha, Westland library director. "I'm a happy girl."

She noted the library is working to offer cultural and social events.

"We're doing a lot of music," Napsha said.

Another fan was Kathie Gladden, a Canton resident and Canton Public Library staffer.

"I think it's great," Gladden said during the break. "I'm enjoying it tremendously. It's perfect for the new era we're embarking on."

OUR VIEWS

Law and order: let that happen

There has been a lot written on our Web site about Westland Fire Marshal Chris Szpara who was involved in a hit-and-run accident on March 24, and the actions of the Westland police related to that incident.

The authors of those comments believe Szpara was given special treatment because of his position with the city, that the police failed to do their job by not administering a Breathalyzer test. Szpara has admitted that he had a couple of beers before the accident.

The firestorm that surrounds this incident is understandable. There are steps that the police take when they encounter a drunken driver. We all know them, we've watched them play out on television shows like Cops. We also pretty much know the ramifications of being arrested and found guilty of driving drunk.

None of those things have happened here. Even before Chris Szpara's case has been completed, he has been tried and found guilty in the court of public opinion. He is already paying a price for his mistake. Being suspended without pay will cost him $20,000 in wages. That is far more severe than the fines and penalties he potentially faces if charges are brought against him. How many of us could afford that?

Chris Szpara got caught and he is paying the price. How many of us have never made a mistake, exercised poor judgment or gotten behind the wheel of a car after having a couple of beers or mixed drinks? Let's face it, we all at some point in time have made mistakes. Sometimes we get caught, sometimes we don't.

What is lost in all this is the good things Szpara has done for the city during his 17 years with the fire department. According to Fire Chief Michael Reddy, Szpara has a good record and "does an excellent job for the city."

We are not here to say the police did right or wrong nor to demand Szpara's head on a plate. We believe city and fire officials have acted wisely in addressing the situation. We are here to urge residents to let justice take its course. Attorney James Nellis already has approved a warrant against Szpara for leaving the scene of a property damage accident, which could put six points on his driving record.

Enough stones have been thrown. It's time to back off and let the legal process go forward. Under our judicial system, Chris Szpara is innocent until proven guilty. That's what our country stands for and what needs to happen here and now.

ONLINE VOICES & VIEWS

Questions need answers

I know that there are a lot of people who need to answer as to why this situation was handled or not handled correctly. Maybe people should call the mayor's office or attend the next council meeting and ask why our city is being run like the big D. Questions to ask would be why such an expensive car for city use. Why is he being paid while on leave? Why wasn't he tested? Why no ticket for causing an accident? Who is footing the bill? Enough of protecting the member's of the city's country club. I have lost what little respect I have left for Police Chief Reddy. Not only should the fire marshal be suspended without pay, so should the officers who failed to do their job! There are lots of people looking for jobs and I am sure that they would be willing to do their job according to set policies. Drunk driving is unacceptable no matter who you are, and some one needs to take a stand against the city in how this was handled.

Help the people

Is the middle class being sold out?
1. How is freeing up credit going to help the millions of middle class Americans that have lost their jobs due to the financial institutions' reckless lending practices obtain any type of credit to purchase homes or any other high end purchases?

2. Millions of middle class Americans have already been foreclosed on due to these job losses and are now faced with a bad credit score. What bank is going to go out on a limb and extend credit to them (without high risk interest rates)?
3. How is middle class America that is still fortunate to have a job but have been subject to wage cuts and can barely, if at all, keep their heads above water going to be able to qualify for any type of credit to sustain their households?

While our government tries to fix this catastrophic problem, what happens to the people already in financial ruins (through no fault of their own)? Their credit scores will be so low that they won't qualify for any type of loan from the banks (who created this problem). These Americans will be left behind so to speak.

While billions and billions of dollars are being thrown around to the institutions that caused this mess, millions of households are going to have to struggle for years to overcome the mess they put us in. While tax credits for people buying homes is a good gesture, they don't help the millions already kicked out of their homes. These once proud homeowners are going to be forced into renting a home until their credit is repaired to the point that a bank might give them another chance. That could take years.

I constantly listen to the news and I fume over the fact that we have to act immediately to save the economy. How is this economy going to rebound when no one that has been left behind (millions of people) will be able to buy an automobile or a home because no one will finance them due to the fact that there is a foreclosure on their credit report?

With all the billions being thrown around I have yet to hear any politicians say "let's bail out the middle class Americans affected by this crisis." If this government (for the people) were to go that route, I think it would cost a lot less. The government could have given every American over the age of 21 $250,000 dollars to take care of mortgages, student loans, auto loans and credit cards. With all that debt wiped away, what do you think would happen with the money they may have left over? I know what I would do, I would spend it.

That is just what this economy needs, me to spend my money. The government would save money due to the fact that the banks wouldn't have all these toxic assets on their books, they would be paid off by the people who own those debts.

Put blame on Congress

This "outrage" over corporate bonuses has to change directions. The outrage should be aimed at the problem, our government. They created this mess and now that we're fed up paying through the nose for their mistakes, they are trying to slide the blame onto the banks and financial institutions.

What makes this all the more painfully ridiculous is the fact that those members of Congress who have had the most to do with creating the risks that led to the current economic dump, are making the most noise against others, and summoning people before their committee to be raked over the coals and humiliated on nationwide television.

No one pushed harder than Congressman Barney Frank to force banks and our financial institutions to reduce their mortgage lending standards, in order to meet government set goals for more homeownership. Those lower mortgage lending standards are at the heart of the problem of the mortgage market and the cause of the collapse of Wall Street and the global economy.

Sen. Christopher Dodd has played the same role in the Senate as Barney Frank played in the House. Now both are summoning government employees and the officials of financial institutions before their committees to be hammered in front of the media.

Dodd and Frank know that the best defense is a good offense. Both know how hard it would be to defend their own roles in the housing debacle, so they go on the offensive against others who are in no position to fight back, given the venomous powers of Congress.

Dodd and Frank are creating this distraction from their own role because they voted for the very legislation that enabled contracted bonuses to be paid to companies like AIG from the TARP funds. If they and other members of Congress couldn't be bothered to read the laws they pass, then they have no basis for being there and therefore should at the very least, resign. I for one would like to see them convicted!

They were entrusted to oversee these operations and they have failed on multiple levels. President Bush asked Barney Frank and Maxine Waters on many occasions to report on the problems that were brought to his attention by the likes of John McCain and others as early as 2004 and was told by Frank and Waters that "Freddie and Fannie are fine, nothing to worry about"

President Obama stated that the company's (AIG) financial problems were the result of "recklessness and greed" and "under these circumstances, it is hard to understand how derivative traders at AIG warranted any bonuses, much less $165 million in extra pay. How do they justify this outrage to the taxpayers who are keeping the company afloat?"

Some of these "bonuses" were earned prior to the collapse. These traders work on commissions and these commissions were due them before the collapse happened. Now Congress wants to tax those bonuses at 90 percent because Geithner, Frank and Dodd got caught with their pants down and they are creating a smoke screen to save their own hides. They signed the agreement when they signed the stimulus package without reading it!

Now these traders have decided to return the money because our government told them that they were going to release their names and then they would be under public scrutiny, not to mention what harm might come to them and their families.

This should scare the hell out of all of us. If they can tax people like this because they feel they are getting too much money, then they can surely dictate to us how much money we can make by taxing us accordingly.

Remember to mail your tea bags to "The White House, 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. NW, Washington, D.C. 20500" or just after April 1 to get it there in time for Tax Tea Day. This prom gown by Alyce Designs is short and sparkly in line with today's trends.

Today's teens are doing their research when it comes to finding the perfect prom dress.

That's according to Claudine Hamm at Alyce Designs, which has been designing dresses for over 40 years — including the one Britney Spears wore to her own prom.

"Today's prom-goers have been watching their favorite television shows, ripping out pages of inspiration from fashion magazines and taking notes on what young Hollywood stars wore during the recent award season," Hamm said.

So what's hot for prom this year? Hamm shares the top trends:

Metallic mix: From shimmer satins to silver lame, the gold standard is still metallics. Look for them in burnished tints, from bronzed and coppered satin to softly minted taffetas with a blush of shine.

Animal prints: The wild side of fashion remains in vogue. If you're not daring enough for a full leopard print gown, try a hint of animal print in sashes, exposed lining or bead details.

Brilliant hue: Bright, juicy color choices are knocking out the little black dress this year. Whether you favor fuchsia, emerald green, neon yellow or radiant red, no color is too bold for prom night.

Noticeable necklines: From the recent Academy Awards to fashion runways around the world, varying one-shoulder silhouettes and sweetheart necklines have turned heads. Simple or striking, the necklines can also be embellished with sequins and beads.

Short and sassy: Cocktail length is completely acceptable for Prom 2009. Try on short dresses with bubble hems, belted bodices, full skirts or tulle for a fun and flirty look.

Alyce Designs Prom Collections are sold at over 1,800 retailers nationwide including Star Fashion, Troy; First Lady, Southfield; and Boutique Angelique, Rochester. Visit www.alycedesigns.com.

Chargers' Matigian handcuffs CC, 6-3

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

It's still early, but Livonia Churchill notched a signature baseball win Monday at home with a 6-3 triumph over Novi Detroit Catholic Central.

Sophomore right-hander Ben Matigian showed maturity beyond his years by going all seven innings, allowing just four hits and three walks to pick up the victory as the Chargers improved to 2-0-1 overall.

Senior catcher Tyler Bledsoe provided the offense with a bases loaded, 2-run single in the opening inning. He also added an RBI single in the third inning, while Mike Mato's sacrifice fly brought Matt Kowalis home with another run in the fifth.

CC (1-1) got three back in the top of the sixth highlighted by Keenan Hart's RBI double.

But Matigian closed out the game by blanking the Shamrocks in the top of the seventh to secure the victory.

"He's a quiet kid, but a competitive kid who pitches with a lot of composure," Churchill coach Ron Targosz said of his 10th-grade starter. "He kept the ball around the plate, and even when he missed, it was not by much, the umpire said."

CC starter Brett Gossett suffered the loss, while Tony Thomax collected two of the Shamrocks' four hits.

"The kids played well, they were fired up," Targosz said. "We have a veteran infield, but on Friday (a win and a tie with South Lyon East) we struggled at times in the field. Today our guys made some plays that were not easy and it helped Ben out."

Franklin girls have high aspirations in Kensington Lakes

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Could there be a changing of the guard in area girls track?

This could be the year for Livonia Franklin, which returns a trio of first-team All-Observer performers in pole vaulter Emily Quint, who has already equaled the school record (10 feet); high jumper Liz Holloway, who ranks second all-time in school history); and 400-meter runner Ashly Butkowski (1:01.9).

The Patriots move out of the Western Lakes and into the new KLAA Kensington Conference's South Division along with defending Division 1 regional and Public Schools of Livonia champion Churchill; Canton, Plymouth, Westland John Glenn and Wayne Memorial.

"I know the other teams in the (KLAA) South division have improved a lot and will be gunning for us," said Franklin ninth-year coach Dave Bjorklund, whose team finished third at the regional last year. "And swapping Northville for Churchill means first place in the division will definitely go through them. We had a lot of third places in the regional last year, and we are hoping to catapult that into a lot of state qualifiers this season."

Churchill was hard-hit by graduation losses, but coach Pat Daugherty will rely on junior Sara Kroll, who clocked a 2:17.3 in the 800 run en route to a sixth-place finish at the state meet. She also ran 5:14.8 in the 1,600.

"Last year, we relied heavily on our outstanding senior class and they did not disappoint carrying us to a division and regional title and runner-up to a very good Northville team at

Passing the baton: boys squads ready

It could be another sprint to the finish again this season for area boys track teams.

Livonia Stevenson, Livonia Franklin and Westland John Glenn all carried the baton effectively last spring in the 4x100-meter relay.

Stevenson, which captured the Observerland Relays, Western Lakes Activities Association and Division 1 regional titles, led the area with a time of 42.74 in the 4x100, which led to a fifth-place finish in the Division 1 state finals.

Stevenson, which lost its season opener Tuesday to Salem, returns three of the four legs including seniors Nick Anagnostou and Jacob Gudeman, along with junior Austin White.

Not far behind was Franklin, which clocked a sixth-place time of 42.8 with Isaac Cadet, Paul Voegele and Mike Baumgardner all returning.

Glenn's 400 (42.81) and 800 relay quartets (1:29.9) placed seventh and sixth, respectively, in the state. Unfortunately for the Rockets, all four members have departed, three via graduation.

Wayne Memorial may have one of the area's top hurdlers in senior Renaldo Powell, who opened the outdoor season Tuesday against Livonia Franklin with an impressive clocking of 14.4 in the 110 hurdles.

Livonia Churchill is also optimistic under 14th-year coach Rick Austin.

The Chargers return first-team All-Observer pole vaulter Derik Peterman, a senior, who cleared a school-record 15-3 en route to a fourth-place finish in the Division 1 meet.

Peterman also stands out as a hurdler.

Three of the Chargers' 4x200 relay team returns in seniors Travis Tomey, Jeff Ricketts and Devon Easterling.

In the Metro Conference, Lutheran High Westland's Mike Unger enter his 37th season coaching the Warriors, who won the Division 4 regional.

The top returnee for the defending conference champions is senior distance runner Spencer Lyle, a third-team All-Area selection in the 1,600.

Also hoping to make an impact in the Metro is Livonia Clarenceville, coming off a successful dual meet season (11-3) and a third-place finish.

The Trojans should get a boost from Livonia City Meet 100 dash champion Jeremy Gainer, a Michigan State football signee who was hampered most of last season with a sore hamstring.

Churchill's Derik Peterman soared to a school-record 15 feet, 3 inches in the pole vault and finished fourth in the Division 1 state meet.

GAME WRAPS

KLAA baseball

FRANKLIN 5, GARDEN CITY 1: A five-run sixth broke open a scoreless game Tuesday as visiting Livonia Franklin (2-1) defeated Garden City (2-2) in a nonconference baseball matchup.

Gigactic Williams picked up the ball and threw out the potential tying run at home plate to end the game.

Nate McHugh earned the pitching victory, going 4.1 innings while Chad Even finished up for the save.

Gordie Dial collected two hits, drove in two and scored a run. What turned out to be the game-winning RBI was a sacrifice fly by Josh Merryman in the sixth.

MADISON 6, CLARENCEVILLE 1: Several first-inning errors cost Livonia Clarenceville (1-1) in Tuesday's nonconference setback to Madison Heights Madison (1-0).

The Trojans fell behind 5-0 in the first could not rally before starter Mike Schiffman settled down after the rough first inning and threw a complete game.

Schiffman also went 2-for-3 at the plate along with Ben Gehan, who contributed an RBI double.

CLARENCEVILLE 14, LATHRUP 13: On Monday, host Livonia Clarenceville (1-0) walked off with a win in this nonconference season opener on Ben Gehan's bases loaded free pass in the bottom of the seventh scoring Chris Diaz for the winning run against Southfield Lathrup (0-1).

Clarenceville actually grabbed a 9-0 lead, but the Chargers rallied for a 13-11 advantage. The Trojans, who rattled 15 hits around the home field, evened things in the bottom of the sixth thanks to a two-run single by Jimmy Moody (3-for-5, including two doubles, three runs, 4 RBI).

Earning the victory was Damien Sanchez, who gave up just two hits while striking out four in 2.1 innings.

Other offensive highlights for Clarenceville included an RBI single by Eric Trotter (2-for-2) and a run-scoring double by John James. Also with multiple hits was sophomore infielder Danny Blacker.

Late Athens goals beat Spartans

Troy Athens scored a pair of goals in the final 12 minutes Monday to upend Livonia Stevenson, 2-1, in a non-league girls soccer encounter.

Stevenson jumped out to a 1-0 lead at the 18-minute mark on a goal by Krysta Kane off an assist from Renee Boudreau.

"I was proud of my girls tonight," Stevenson coach Chris Pinta said. "I thought overall they worked hard, and competed against a very solid Troy Athens team. For the amount of pressure they were under, I felt my backs did an impressive job tonight, many are currently still learning to play there."

Pinta singled out the play of Taleen Mergian on the backline, along with the play of Kayla Kimble in the middle and Boudreau up front.

FERNDALE 3, WAYNE 1: In a non-conference matchup Tuesday, host

GIRLS SOCCER

Wayne Memorial (0-2) fell to the visiting Eagles (1-1).

Alysa Escobar scored unassisted in the first half for the Zebras, who trailed 2-1 at intermission.

Goalkeeper Ashley Struppa made 15 saves in the loss.

LADYWOOD 1, SALEM 1: Ariel Dew's goal in the 61st minute Monday enabled the host Rocks (0-0-1) to earn a draw against Livonia Ladywood (2-1-1) in a non-leaguer.

Ladywood's Alexa Hyman scored in the ninth minute from Allison Bielski.

Michele Ring made six saves for the Blazers, while Tracey Whalen had five stops for Salem.

MARIAN 5, LADYWOOD 0: On Friday, three first-half goals carried host Bloomfield Hills Marian (2-0, 1-0) to a Catholic League Central Division triumph over Livonia Ladywood (2-1, 0-1) at Ultimate Soccer Arena in Pontiac.

Goals by Stephanie Pilarski, Erin Ring and Anina Ciccerone staked the Mustangs to a 3-0 halftime lead.

Danielle Mazur and Sara Zawacki added second-half goals.

Goalkeepers Whitney Sarkis and Marisa Opie combined for three saves and the shutout for Marian.

Michele Ring made 11 saves for the Blazers.

"They got two early goals and things avalanched on us," Ladywood coach Ken Shingledecker said. "Marian was excellent from the opening whistle. The amount of injuries we have been dealing with has not helped us. We know we have work to do."

MILFORD 8, WAYNE 0: On Friday, Ryan Winn scored four times in the opening half and freshmen Sarah Bonhard added a pair of goals as the Mavericks (1-1) booted host Wayne Memorial (0-1).

Other goal scorers for Milford including Adrien Allward and Michelle Dant. Goalkeepers Alyssa Adams and Sam Sturgeon combined for the shutout.

the last WLAA conference meet," Daugherty said. "I see Franklin, John Glenn, Stevenson and Northville as the top challengers for the division and conference titles."

Livonia Stevenson will once again rely on one of its most decorated track and field athletes in senior Courtney Calka, who clocked an area best 5:01.43 at last year's regional. She also placed fifth in the Division 1 state meet. She also ranked second in the area in the 800 (2:21.4) and 3,200 (11:24.4).

Meanwhile, Westland John Glenn will be led by senior sprinter/long jumper Chanel Payne, while Wayne Memorial returns top sprinter Rochelle Woods, a junior.

Livonia Ladywood, with everybody returning, could make noise in the Catholic League's Central Division and the Division 2 regional as the first-team All-Observer and league champion 4 x 400 relay team of Meghan Clark, Katie Morasso, Megan Vitale and Megan Yanik remains intact (4:09.3).

Yanik, a junior, also led the area in the 100 hurdles (15.4) and 300 hurdles (school record 46.5).

Another team on the rise is Livonia Clarenceville, led by Southfield-Lathrup transfer Syndi Clark, a state placer in Division 1 who has signed an NCAA letter-of-intent at Michigan State.

"It looks to be an exciting year for us as this is the most talented team I have seen in my years at Clarenceville," coach Brady Gustafson said.

Lutheran High Westland, co-coached by Alyssia Hall and Angie Matthews, will get a boost from 1,600 runner Nicole Zehel, a junior.

All-Observer grapplers secure hold on greatness

FIRST-TEAM

DUSTIN GAJOWIAK, SR., JOHN GLENN (285): The junior went 47-11 this year including a fifth-place finish at the Division 1 individual state finals following runner-up finishes at both the district and regional.

Sporting a career mark of 83-31, Gajowiak was also KLAAs Kensington Conference champion, second at the Observerland Invitational and third at the Novi Detroit Catholic Central Invitational.

"Dustin finished this year peaking at the right time," Glenn coach Bill Polk said. "His fifth-place finish was the result of his work ethic in practice and on the mat in competition. He is also a three-sport athlete for Glenn as well as a good student. He is the most successful heavyweight I have coached thus far and he still has one year of competition remaining. He wants to play college football and we're helping him train for that opportunity. We look forward to great things from Dustin in his senior year."

STEVE WAKEFORD, JR., JOHN GLENN (103): The junior, 45-15, took sixth at the state finals after placing runner-up at both the regional and district.

He also won the Kensington Conference crown and was runner-up at both Observerland and Napoleon. He also added third at the CC and Salem invitationals.

"Steve is a competitor and a very good athlete," Polk said. "A lot of kids his size would make excuse why they can't compete with bigger guys, but not Steve. He looks forward to taking on all challengers. He is very strong for his size and can lift more than most of my guys that are 145 pounds. He is also on the varsity baseball and football teams. Not many kids are three-sport athletes anymore, but he is competitive in all three. Next year he'll be in the hunt for a title."

NICK KIM, SOPH., SALEM (103): Kim, who finished with a 37-13 record, enjoyed a sensational sophomore season, which was highlighted by a championship performance at the Fowlerville Invitational and an eighth-place showing at the Division 1 individual state meet. The effort earned Kim a spot on the Salem "Wall of Champions."

"Nick is only in his second season of wrestling and he proved what can be done when all the components of the sport are put together," said Salem coach Greg Wochuk. "We look forward to watching Nick develop even further in the future."

WALEED FARAJ, JR., CANTON (112): The junior went 45-12 to improve his career mark to 82-36. He was the KLAAs individual conference champion at 112 pounds before placed third in the District tournament, second at Regional and eighth at the Division 1 state meet.

"Waleed is one of our talented juniors that will be back next season," said Canton coach Corey Mancuso. "It will be exciting to see how he makes the transition to a heavier weight class next season as he tries to improve on this season's eighth-place finish at the state meet."

CARL LUCKE, SR., CANTON (119): Lucke capped a spectacular high school career with a 51-13 record that closed with a stellar seventh-place finish at the Division 1 state meet. He earned second at the District meet and third at the Regional competition. His four-year varsity record was 146-54.

"Carl is nicknamed 'Tank' because he goes after his opponents at a hard pace for six minutes every time he steps on the mat," said Mancuso. "Carl was a captain the past two seasons and one cannot say enough about what he has done for the Canton program. Carl is currently looking for a college where he hopes to wrestle next season."

ANTHONY PAVLICH, JR., JOHN GLENN (125): The junior, 30-11 overall, earned an eighth-place finish at the Division 1 state finals after placing runner-up at the district and regional. Pavlich, sporting a 115-30 career mark, also took first at the Salem Invitational and second at Observerland.

"Anthony has put a lot of time into this sport since he was in middle school," Polk said. "He wrestles all summer because he has his sights set on being Glenn's next state champion. He has had a humbling year and was able to finish strong medaling for the second time after jumping three weight classes from last year - and two during the season. We're proud of him and look forward to his senior year."

JEREMY FILLIPPELLI, SR., CANTON (130): Fillippelli wrapped up an outstanding high school career with a 45-8 record, which improved his overall mark to 101-35. Highlights of his success-laden season were titles at Observerland and the KLAAs conference championship meet.

"Jeremy was the heart and soul of this year's team," said Mancuso. "A vocal leader who helped keep the team together through this transition season. Jeremy is currently looking for a college where he plans to wrestle next season."

JARED STEPHENS, SR., JOHN GLENN (135): The state runner-up, who fell in overtime in the finals, finished the season with a 27-4 record.

He was runner-up at the district and Kensington Conference meets, while adding a third at the regional.

He is a three-time state qualifier and two-time state placer who finished 130-39 for his career.

"Jared is the type of person that could make the entire room laugh or have to work extra for the day depending on the situation," Polk said. "Jared is a very intelligent young man that can accomplish anything he puts his focus on. He has had a few setbacks over his career and I'm glad to see him finish with another state medal. I look forward to seeing what Jared becomes in the future."

DONNIE WATKINS, JR., CANTON (135): Watkins is etching his name onto the list of the school's all-time great grapplers following a season in which he won 59 of 62 matches to improve his three-year prep record to 156-19. He won three top-level tournaments before placing first at the District meet, second at Regionals and third at the D1 state meet.

"Donnie is one of our most talented juniors," said Mancuso. "He is a near-fall scoring machine as he broke the records for most two-point and three-point falls in a season. He is a three-time state placer who will look to cap next season off with gold."

JIMMY MANN, SR., JOHN GLENN (140): The transfer from New Boston Huron ended up 43-6 overall, including a fifth-place finish at the state meet.

He also took the district, Kensington Conference, Salem and Napoleon invitationals titles. He was runner-up at the CC Invitational and fourth at the regional.

His career record is 158-41 overall.

"Jimmy was the most consistent performer on our team," Polk said. "He's one of our quiet guys that came to practice and got the job done on a daily basis. Every coach enjoys having those guys in the lineup that you can depend on to get the win in whatever situation that is need."

"He was a great addition to our team and was in intricate part of contributing to our run to Battle Creek. It's tough to replace guys like Jimmy."

BRENT WINEKOFF, JR., CANTON (145): Winekoff was ranked No. 1 at 145 pounds most of the season by MichiganGrappler.com. The junior compiled a 62-2 mark that included first-place showing at the Observerland meet, the KLAAs individual conference tournament, the district tourney and the regional competition. He capped a remarkable year with a third-place showing at the state meet.

"Brent Winekoff is one of our most talented juniors," Mancuso said. "He led the team in pins with 36 and tied his own school record for takedowns in a season with 209. Brent is a two-time state placer and next season will be in the hunt for Canton's second state individual title."

ZAID AMMARI, SR., JOHN GLENN (152): The state qualifier posted a 46-16 record his senior year after placing third at the regional and second at the district.

Ammari also captured the Kensington Conference and Napoleon Invitational crowns. He added a runner-up finish at Salem.

"Zaid is proud of what hard work and dedication can do for you," Polk said. "In his younger days he scrapped with the best kids in our room and took it like a man. Because of all his determination and commitment, he made it to the Palace this season. Zaid is an example of what we want our wrestlers to become year after year. He was very easy to coach because he did whatever we asked him to do."

The two-year captain was 109-70 during his Glenn career.

"His work ethic is second to none and I'm sure it will lead him to many successes in life," Polk said.

STEPHEN KEMP, SR., LUTH. WESTLAND (160): A four-time individual state qualifier, Kemp ended his career with a fifth-place finish at the Division 4 finals. He was 45-6 this season and 192-30 for his career.

The team captain was also a district champion and third-place finisher at the regional. Kemp earned Metro Conference MVP honors and won both the Dearborn Fordson and Romulus Summit Academy tourneys, as well as going undefeated at the Franklin Tournament.

"His commitment and hard work is what set him apart from most," Lutheran Westland coach Dennis Tuomi said. "He was a tremendous leader. Kids like him don't come along often."

KEITH ZECH, JR., CANTON (171): Zech sparked in his first full season on the varsity, racking up a 40-18 record to improve his career mark to 69-49. He qualified for the state meet thanks to a third-place showing at the Regional.

"Keith was one of our major surprises this season," said Mancuso. "Last season Keith finished with a record of 24-25 and this season he was a state qualifier. Keith's success on the mat this season is a result of his hard work in the practice room."

AUSTIN ROOT, JR., SALEM (189): Root posted a 31-9 mark to improve his career record at Salem to 63-21. He advanced to the finals in six tournaments, including Observerland and the KLAAs conference meet.

"Austin is by far the best athlete on our team," Wochuk emphasized. "He is a large part of the success of our upper-weights this year because of how hard his teammates had to work to keep up with his natural ability."

CODY HAY, SR., LIV. FRANKLIN (215): The senior finished the year 55-15 overall, including an eighth-place finish at the state finals following a first at the district and a third at the regional.

He was also the Franklin Invitational champion. Hay's career mark is 100-44.

"Cody turned it on at the right time of the year," Franklin coach Dave Chiola said. "He's not the most physically dominate person on the mat, but he gives everything he has. He's very determined, and very tough to score on. When he's in a match he knows exactly what he needs to do to win. He's come a long way since his freshman year and should be very proud of his accomplishments."

COACH OF THE YEAR
BILL POLK, JOHN GLENN: The ninth-year coach is no stranger to success on the mat as he guided the Rockets to their most successful season in school history.

Under Polk's guidance, Glenn reached the Elite Eight of the Division 1 state team finals in Battle Creek as the Rockets posted a 27-8 dual-match mark.

After capturing the district, Glenn won a thrilling regional tie-breaker over Canton.

"Early in the season we beat some good teams, but we had some injuries, discipline issues and some things we had to fix," said the 35-year-old Polk. "This team came together at the right time and believed in themselves. We had come close the last few years, but everything had to come together for the run we had - and it did. We had a great year, it was fun and rewarding."

The Rockets were also KLAAs Kensington Conference champions and took runner-up team honors at the Observerland Invitational.

"We switched our lineup around, something we did not have the luxury of doing over the year," Polk said. "We had a lot of young kids in the lineup who got beat up, but no matter who we had in the lineup, we were always in the top two or three, which was very encouraging."

Glenn also qualified eight for the individual state individual finals and five placed.

"To say I'm not pleased is one thing, but like any coach I think we could have had more," Polk said. "But I'm still happy with what we accomplished."

Westland-Garden City Strictly Business

IT'S YOUR BUSINESS Q&A

TOM HAWLEY | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

A buyout for one of the Big Three and a little research led Christian Allers to open the Game Yard, a video gaming center on Ford in Garden City two years ago.

It's a gamer's heaven at the Yard

Observer: Tell us about your business, including the types of service and/or products you feature.

The GameYard is a Videogame LAN Center, featuring 19 Xbox 360's, 2 Wii's, and 11 custom-built gaming PC's. We have well over 100 games available for the various systems and try to stay current as new games are released. All for only $3 per hour. We also offer birthday party packages, and host videogame tournaments.

Observer: What makes your business unique?

The GameYard is unique in that videogamers can come here and play their favorite games in a social setting. Many games today feature the multiplayer experience, and here gamers can sit side by side and experience these features together on their own screens.

Observer: How did you decide to open your first business?

After working at one of the Big 3 auto companies

THE GAMEYARD

Address: 29552 Ford Road, Garden City
Name and Title: Christian (Chris) Allers, owner
Hometown: Southfield
Business Opened: March 10, 2007
Number of Employees: 4
Your Business Specialty: Video games
Hours: 2:30-10 p.m. Monday-Thursday, 2:30 p.m. to midnight Friday, noon to midnight Saturday and 2-9 p.m. Sunday. During the summer, we'll open at noon Monday through Saturday.
Business phone and e-mail: (734) 261-0214, www.thegameyard.com, www.myspace.com/thegameyard as a Mechanical Engineer for 17 years, I was offered a buyout package. I took the opportunity to research what it would take to open my own business, and after working up a business plan pursued the chance to work in a field that I have always enjoyed - videogames.

How did you decide to locate in the Westland community?

I decided on our current location in Garden City because the space was right, the price was right, the space was available, and working with the city (and the DDA) was very straight-forward.

Do you have a funny tidbit or story to share with our readers about your experience so far as a small business?

The main bit of humor is that most people in the area have no idea what a LAN center is - I see a lot of people think they are going into a store like a Gamestop where they can buy videogames - they walk in the door, get hit with the wall of sound from all the TVs going, and just back away. I wish they'd at least come up and ask what we are all about, but I've seen some horrified looks so far.

New position

MARS Advertising, a leading shopper marketing advertising agency, has named Kim Pawlak of Westland vice president and director of creative operations in its Southfield corporate headquarters.

A MARS Advertising veteran, Pawlak joined the agency in 1989 as a junior account executive. She spent more than a dozen years serving on the agency's account services team working in various capacities with multiple CPG clients, such as H.J. Heinz Co., Philips Lighting Company and Nestlé Frozen Foods. She earned numerous promotions, eventually rising to the rank of director of operations.

In 1998, Pawlak took a brief hiatus from the day-to-day agency business to spearhead the launch of Little Martians Playcare, an on-site day care center for MARS employees. She ran the center for seven years until its closure following a fire at MARS' corporate headquarters, which forced the agency's relocation to a new facility.

Pawlak later rejoined the account services team and, in 2008, transitioned to the agency's creative side as director of creative operations. Having served in both creative and account service capacities, she brings a unique perspective and depth of understanding to her role in executing MARS' shopper marketing expertise on behalf of its clients.

Pawlak hold a bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

Joins Alliance

The Family Service Alliance for Southeastern Michigan has added Starfish Family Services to its regional collaborative model which aims to build organizational capacity for its members in order to improve services and access for children and families throughout the region.

As a leading family service agency in western Wayne County, Starfish Family Services joins Oakland Family Services, Macomb Family Services, and Family Service Inc. of Wayne County, bringing to the Alliance expertise in children's services including an array of early childhood and mental health services, an expanded service footprint, and additional scale.

"I cannot think of a better way to celebrate the first anniversary of the Alliance than to welcome Starfish Family Services as a member," said Michael Earl, Oakland Family Services CEO and spokesperson for the Alliance. "The Family Service Alliance was created on the fundamental belief that the community is better served when non-profit organizations work together. The addition of Starfish affirms our belief and accelerates us towards realizing our potential."

Last year, Starfish Family Services worked as a business partner with the Alliance to jointly adopt a regional technology platform to support the agencies' behavioral health practices.

"At Starfish, we recognize the need to be smarter and more efficient in everything we do and truly believe in the power of collaboration. Through the Alliance, we can share information, standardize practices, and reduce redundancy in administrative services," said Ann Kalass, CEO of Starfish Family Services. "As an alliance, we will leverage the collective expertise and resources of four agencies as we pursue our missions to help strengthen families across three counties."

An advisory group composed of the four chief executives and a board member from each agency will direct the Alliance's priorities and activities.

Archives hold history of metro Jewish community

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
O&E STAFF WRITER

Joanie Schott sorts through photographs of her ancestors. The Livonia woman takes pride in the family whose association with Temple Beth El goes back to her mother's confirmation in 1914. At the time the synagogue was located in Detroit.

Today Schott sits in the second floor climate-controlled archive on the campus of the Bloomfield Hills location where she volunteers every Monday. The historical records tell a story not only of the temple but the Jewish community since 1850 when the congregation was founded by 12 German immigrant families who gathered in the home of Isaac and Sarah Cozens.

It's the job of Jan Durecki as director to make sure the collection is preserved, so once a week volunteers Schott and Marlene Lipman of Southfield spend hours cataloging materials. The rest of the time Durecki is on her own in the archives named after Rabbi Leo M. Franklin who led the temple from 1899 to 1941 and was one of the leaders of the Reform Movement.

"The reason for the archives is to maintain and make accessible for the community administrative documents for auxiliaries like the sisterhood," said Durecki. "Of special interest is families. We have over 800 family files from a complete history to a few documents. It's good to have one safe place instead of being dispersed to cousins."

"I can always visit my aunt and uncle here," added Schott.

Joanie Schott of Livonia looks through her family's historical records now housed at Temple Beth El in Bloomfield Hills. There are thousands of documents at the Rabbi Leo M. Franklin Archives there.

"I can visit this whenever I want. Someday my great grandchildren can come and look in the boxes and have access to all this information. My grandmother's wedding invitation, Emma Epstein, from 1891, pictures of me and my twin brother, my mother and father in the 1920s, poetry my grandmother wrote."

Schott could go on and on about Rabbi Franklin marrying her parents, William and Marguerite Stark, her wedding ceremony to Arthur Schott in front of The Ark in 1956. Durecki is presently researching the craftsman who carved the receptacle which holds the temple's Torah Scrolls. The Ark originally was housed in the 1903 temple at Woodward and Elliot (now the Bonstelle Theater).

Records relating to construction of the present-day temple show Minoru Yamasaki, best known as architect of the twin towers of the World Trade Center in New York, as designer of the building opened in 1973 at the corner of 14 Mile and Telegraph in Bloomfield Hills.

At one point Albert Kahn was a member of the congregation and designed the temples at Woodward and Gladstone in 1922 and Woodward and Elliott. The archive treasures the contributions of members in the area. The war collection features paintings of World War II soldiers, like Roy Green, who died in service to their country. Last year the temple became archivist for the Jewish War Veterans of Michigan.

"It's an important part of our service to the community," said Durecki. "We have history about Temple Beth El but also the community. We welcome family histories from all congregations. I like to think there's a story to be told."

Schott found eulogies for her mother and father who died in 1954 and 1977 which gave her further insight to her parents. Marlene Lipman is currently making a spreadsheet of more than 2,000 eulogies delivered by Rabbi Richard Hertz from 1953 until 1996. He wrote notes about the deceased on envelopes which sat in filing cabinets for years until Robbie Termin, an intern from Wayne State University, began organizing the material.

"This is history," said Lipman, whose family background is traced back to Europe. Her father was the first to come to this country. "There's a sermon given after President Abraham Lincoln was assassinated. It's been interesting to look back at the death of Abraham Lincoln."

Letters written during the Great Depression from temple members to Rabbi Franklin tug at the heart as they ask for financial assistance. Even though she is not Jewish, Durecki has been moved by the stories.

'It's an important part of our service to the community. We have history about Temple Beth El but also the community. We welcome family histories from all congregations.'

JAN DURECKI

"Even if you don't like history as a youngster, as a parent family ties pull at you. Where do you go to retrieve history? A time will come when they want to know more," she said. "You have to put things together for yourself, have to be a history detective, be willing to go down some dead ends and find different ways to approach."

"The archives are like the local Smithsonian," added Lipman.

'Joey' hosts 2 nights of high-flying comedy

BY WENDY VON BUSKIRK
O&E STAFF WRITER

What do you get when you cross a pilot and a comic? Find out as Joey Bielaska hosts two nights of comedy at Karl's Cabin in Plymouth April 3-4.

Bielaska, a senior captain for Spirit Airlines, gets plenty of fodder for his standup routines from his day job. His act includes a healthy dose of cockpit humor, including a gay flight attendant character named Curtis.

Likewise, the comic isn't shy about using his improv skills in the friendly skies.

"Say the plane's a few minutes late. I throw a joke in over the loudspeaker to lighten things up," he said. "Look out the left window and you'll see your luggage. Look out the right and you'll see your stuff."

Bielaska, a Plymouth native, grew up idolizing comics who appeared on the Johnny Carson Show, and first took the stage in 1979 at Mark Ridley's Comedy Castle in Royal Oak, where he appeared with the likes of Tim Allen and Dave Coulier.

"Mark was my mentor. All us guys started out there and I decided to take it one step further," Bielaska said.

Partnering with his brother Ed, who now owns Stone Fire Bistro in Brighton, Sal Demilio, "Detroit's Don of Comedy," focuses on his Italian upbringing, current events and his battle with the bulge.

Comic Joey Bielaska, founder of Joey's Comedy Club of Livonia, will stage two shows at Karl's Cabin April 3-4.

and "Bill Cosby-ish — real life with a twist."

"It's a set routine with ad lib moments. I like thinking on my feet. That's why I love hosting shows," he said.

Bielaska will emcee the shows at Karl's Cabin, which also feature Sal Demilio, "Detroit's Don of Comedy," whose jokes focus on his Italian upbringing, current events and his battle with the bulge.

Bielaska said he decided to stage shows at Karl's Cabin after being inspired by the atmosphere at the cozy restaurant.

"I came here for dinner with my wife and thought it would be perfect. It's a great venue," he said. "You should

Ed Nuccilli is like the name of his 18-piece band Plural Circle, never ending. At age 84 he just keeps traveling around the Detroit area playing gigs. The Southfield trumpeter has no intention of stepping down from the stage.

On Sunday, April 19, Nuccilli brings his straight ahead jazz to Schoolcraft College in Livonia from 3-5 p.m. This time though he's donating their talents so the Michigan Jazz Festival can continue to provide fans with an entire afternoon and night of the American art form July 19, on campus. But this isn't any jazz concert — he and the band will let the audience sit in on a live rehearsal.

Nuccilli started studying trumpet at age 12 with his father Peter who played the instrument with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. While the classical music foundation did serve him well over the years, Nuccilli wasn't about to sit and wait for 90 bars to play a few notes. For him trumpet was all about jazz.

"I got exposed to Swing when I went to Cass Tech," said Nuccilli. "I used to go across the street to a confectionery store for Cokes and chips for a nickel, and put a nickel in the nickelodeon. That's where I first heard Benny Goodman and Jimmy Lunsford. I started performing professionally at age 14 in a little neighborhood band and began writing arrangements during my junior year of high school."

Nuccilli didn't stop playing even when drafted into the U.S. Army infantry during World War II. He managed to find a group of musicians who shared his love for Count Basie, Woody Herman and the big bands. Nuccilli returned home only to leave again to tour the Midwest and East Coast with Shorty Sherock and Bobby Sherwood. In 1949 he came back to Detroit, this time to stay.

Detroit Institute of Musical Arts, but met wife Jean and decided to raise a family. He took a 4-year hiatus from music in the mid 1950s but couldn't stay away from the trumpet. Nuccilli played nights while first working in property accounting at Ford Motor Co, and then as a Metropolitan Life Insurance Company agent. In 1960 he formed a Latin band and started playing at Elmwood Casino in Windsor where he was asked to become band leader in 1972.

Because of the training his father gave him, Nuccilli was able to read all styles of music and by 1963 was house trumpet for performers like Paul Anka. In 1969 he retired from Metropolitan Life and made the rounds of clubs including the Roostertail.

It wasn't long before he was writing commercials, one of which brought him to Motown in the early 1970s. When the record company moved to the West Coast he decided to stay in Detroit. He formed Plural Circle around 1972.

Nuccilli and the group's CDs will be available at the April 19th concert at Schoolcraft College. The program combines Nuccilli's original arrangements with standard jazz classics. "My philosophy for jazz emanates out of improvisation, creating on the spot. That's what jazz is all about," said Nuccilli. "I enhance it with a lot more horns with the emphasis on improvisation."

to Schoolcraft College for the fund-raiser. It was she who suggested they hold their regular Sunday rehearsal on campus so ticket sales could go to the Michigan Jazz Festival, which features nearly 200 local musicians. It should be an interesting experience.

"The audience gets to sit in on their rehearsal. Most are closed rehearsals and the audience doesn't know how they got there. Ed is a composer and he's going to bring some new music and they're going to discuss it and the audience is going to hear that," said Ellis of Livonia. "Our mission with the festival is to get people to appreciate jazz more so they're learning about what they're hearing. It's very innovative, jazz, and the solos are off the tops of their heads. To hear somebody do that is incredible."

Best bets for French wine values

If you read this column regularly, you know that we've been scouring the world of wine to bring readers top wine values available in this market.

This month, the French brand La Vieille Ferme has wines on one of the best sales ever. Don't miss it because if the economy turns around, you may never see such

La Vieille Ferme wines are made by the Perrins, the most heralded wine-making family in France's southern Rhone Valley and producers of the legendary Chateau de Beaucastel Chateauf-du-Pape.

Started in 1970, La Vieille Ferme focuses on value for money (even more so today!) with the following three wines priced at $8.

La Vieille Ferme 2007 Cotes du Ventoux Rouge comes from vineyards high on the slopes of Mont Ventoux, east of the Rhone River. There the Perrins select grenache, syrah, carignan and cinsault, to a make a wine reflecting their Chateauf-du-Pape tradition. It's supple and fruity with blackberry and ripe plum aromas and flavors.

La Vieille Ferme 2008 Cotes du Luberon Blanc comes from the hillside vineyards in the ancient Cotes du Luberon, where the wind known as mistral cools grapes in the heat of summer. Made from four white Rhone varieties, among which 10 percent of the Grenache Blanc is fermented in new Limousin cooperage, the wine is floral, and slightly spicy with a crisp finish.

La Vieille Ferme 2008 Cotes du Ventoux Rose is the ultimate warm weather wine that combines not only a deep pink color, but the richness of a blend of grenache, syrah, carignan and cinsault, grown in the Cotes du Ventoux.

GOVERNOR DECLARES "WINE MONTH"

LANSING — The Michigan International Wine Expo, April 3-4 at Rock Financial Showplace in Novi, coincides with the kickoff of "Michigan Wine Month."

Governor Jennifer M. Granholm has declared April a time to honor Michigan's wide selection of quality wines and the wine industry's significant contribution to the economy, which amounts to nearly $800 million each year.

Sales of Michigan wines rose 5 percent in 2008, while total wine sales experienced no increase.

"With eight new wineries slated to open this year, Michigan's grape and wine industry demonstrates that our state is ripe for growth and opportunity," Granholm said. "Michigan's wine industry is an important component of the state's $71.3 billion agri-food business sector and is vital to our tourism efforts."
