Good books

Youngsters in Wayne-Westland's elementary schools have a new book to read, thanks to a donation from state Sen. Glenn Anderson, (D-Westland).

Anderson was at Monday night's school board meeting to present copies of Moose on the Loose to school officials in recognition of March Is Reading Month.

Written by Kathy-jo Wargin, illustrated by John Bendall-Brunello and published by Michigan-based Sleeping Bear Press, the book highlights the hilarity that ensues when wildlife wanders indoors. By story's end, young readers will know exactly what to do when a moose goes on the loose

"I also will do book reading in two schools in each of the six school districts in my district," Anderson said.

He also used his visit to thank school officials for all they are doing with the current budget challenges.

"I'm watching what's going with K-12 funding and I'm going to make sure we can hang for another year," he said. "I want to do what I can to ensure that our children get a quality education all the way through school."

Curtain times

Inspire Theatre, Westland's only live theater, will present Once Upon a Trunk, a musical-comedy revue, March 18-20 and 26-27 at The Theatre.

Included in the show are vintage commercials, songs and sketches from radio, Broadway, TV and Vaudeville, the comedy of Abbott and Costello, George Burns and Gracie Allen and movie scenes from Casablanca, The Notebook and even a surprise appearance from Elvis.

The show promises to be an evening of delightful event for the entire family.

"When our fall show, KORK-TV, went into encore performances, we scraped plans for our Valentine's Day show, pushed the dates back a month and looked for a new idea," said Inspire Theatre's artistic director Len Fisher. "We had purchased this old travel trunk, and I thought it might be fun to do a show of the bygone days of stage entertainment. And so the star of our show is a trunk."

Show times are 7:30 p.m. Thursday-Saturday, March 18-20, and Friday-Saturday, March 26-27, and 3 p.m. Sunday, March 28. Tickets are $12 each and group rates are available. The Theatre is inside the Warren Road Light and Life Church at 33445 Warren Road. For more information, call (734) 751-7057.

Youngsters at the Wayne County Family Center will have new coats thanks to a donation of 22 coats by Wayne County employees.

"We try to take special care with the shelter," said Wayne County Executive Robert Ficano, who presented the coats to the Westland-based shelter. "They are kids' coats for youngsters whose parents are in the shelter. We do the best we can in tough economic times. The more donations the better. The employees of Wayne County are always very generous."

Opened nearly 20 years ago in a building that once housed the Eloise commissary, the Wayne County Family Center provides transitional housing for a maximum of 24 homeless families — only families with minor children or pregnant females are accepted. It's operated through a partnership

Two W-W unions agree to concessions

 OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The Wayne-Westland Community Schools district has gotten help from two employee groups and its top administrators in its effort cutting millions of dollars out of its budget.

Wayne-Westland Building Administrators Association and the Wayne-Westland Central Office

Administrators Association have both agreed to forego a 1.5 percent pay increase and step increases for 2010-11. The changes affect the third year of four-year agreements. The unions also agreed to a $480 per year co-pay for health care which is equal to what teachers now pay.

Crime reports drop in 2009

BY LEANNE ROGERS
 OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The overall number of crimes reported in Westland during 2009 was down 2.9 percent over the previous year.

"I'm not necessarily surprised that rate is down. It's a rather modest decline, relatively speaking with the actual numbers," said Westland police Lt. Scott Fetner. "There were no alarming or unusual increases or decreases."

There were two murders reported in 2009, the same as in 2008. Also unchanged were the number of kidnapping/abductions - nine incidents, which Fetner said are generally custody disputes.

Assaults were down 7.2 percent while burglary/home invasions dropped 6.9 percent. The number of vehicle thefts was down 23.4 percent. The nine arsons reported in 2009 was the same number reported in 2008.

Federal funds buy SMART boards for W-W schools

BY SUE MASON
 OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The Wayne-Westland Community Schools will purchase 510 SMART boards and a like number of Dell projectors for use in 510 classrooms around the district.

The school board approved the $1.1 million purchase at its meeting this week.

The purchase will be paid for by federal Title I and Title IID grants that the district receives.

According to Paul Salah, senior executive director for instruction, the district is taking advantage of carryover money from the grants that are for at-risk students and professional development. Districts are allowed to carry over 15 percent each year and the third year carry over more than 15 percent.

"This is one of those (more than 15 percent) years," he said.

The purchases include the interactive whiteboards and multimedia projectors with wall mounts. According to Kenneth Galbraith, executive director of technology, the district has selected projectors with a bulb life of 5,000 hours. They use only 1 watt of energy in standby mode and 240 watts when in use. The whiteboards require only a USB connection to operate.

"The arms tie into existing wiring, we will be able to monitor their use and remotely shut down a unit that's been left on after school," he said.

The SMART boards and projectors will be used to facilitate classroom application of Thinking Maps, a visual language program, in core curriculum areas.

Deputy Superintendent Charlotte Sherman stressed that the district has been very aggressive in applying for every grant it can.

"In the years I've been associated with this board, you have sent a clear message to get every grant dollar available and squeeze out every federal dollar we can," she said. "We're pleased to get the money, but it can have limitations. If you don't follow the rules or if you give the money back, you may not get it again."

School board President Skip Monit stressed that the money isn't coming from the district's general fund.

"With all the terrible challenges we are facing, we have some federal dollars coming in that can benefit the students and the staff and are great learning tools."

"If I get this right, because we qualify for federal funds, we get to bring new technology into the classroom and it's paid for by federal money," added Trustee William Gabriel.

of Lutheran Social Services of Michigan and the county.

"We're always at capacity, we have so many requests but we're landlocked here. But we don't have to deal with zoning or neighbors and we're far enough from Michigan Avenue to have some privacy," said Carol Eddy, shelter director. "The county executive is very attentive to the shelter. We have a lot of interaction with them."

During the first 90 days of stay, Eddy said the shelter serves as emergency housing. Following that initial stay, the shelter provides transitional housing that allows a family to stay for up to two years.

"You've got to be seriously working on it — going to school or gaining a skill — working on becoming self-sufficient," said Eddy. "I've been here nearly seven years and one year was about the longest stay. She (the client) was completing an associate's degree in culinary arts. Most people want out of the shelter as quick as possible."

And to be served by the shelter, Eddy said people have to be truly without housing options, not just unhappy with their current accommodations. "It's not that you and your father aren't getting along, you really do have to be homeless," said Eddy.

The Wayne County Family Center, unlike most shelters, provides each family with their own room and allows families to stay together. Families are often housed separately by gender. While working with the families to get them back on their feet, the shelter provides services such as a certified preschool program on site.

Lutheran Services and Wayne County split funding for the shelter which Eddy said is always in need of donations.

"We need the things we go through all the time — diapers, diapers, diapers. We need baby wipes, personal hygiene supplies, sheets, towels and snacks," said Eddy. "We are very fortunate that a number of churches of all denominations help us."

The shelter has a lot of good supporters, she said, but singled out North Bros. Ford as the biggest donor.

"They do as lot for us, they were active here when I started. Tom and Doug (North) both are great guys and always thinking of others," said Eddy. "All of the people who work there are very giving and support charities. We'd be lost without them."

CONCESSIONS

Superintendents Charlotte Sherman and Gary Martin also have agreed to pay freezes for 2010-11 and the same health care co-pay. This is the second year that the trio have taken pay freezes.

"I think these members for their efforts to help in this time of economic crisis," said board President Skip Monit. "I want to express our thanks for your stepping up and helping out."

The unions are the first employee groups to agree to concessions that represent $315,000 in savings. School officials are in negotiations with its remaining employee groups, most of which are represented by the Michigan Education Association.

According to Martin, talks with those groups are in the preliminary stages. However, if the teachers were to agree to freeze their wages and step increases next year, the district could save $3.5 million.

"The administrators went out on a limb by doing it first," said Martin. "They're leading by example."

Wayne-Westland officials want to cut costs by $19 million in hopes of surviving the next two years with a minimal fund balance. It has a three-pronged plan which includes the closing of six elementary schools, which will save some $5 million, and seeking $4.5 million in concessions from employees.

The remaining $10 million will come from "board actions," such as layoffs, a cut in supplies and selling property, Martin said.

"We're trying to stay out of deficit for two years, we're trying to spread what little wealth we have around to keep programs until the economy turns around," he said. "Something has to happen in Lansing to have them fund the schools and cities the way they should be."

Board Trustee William Gabriel noted that the agreements "are a great start," but the two unions only represent 100 of the district's 1,800 employees.

"I hope union leaders take this back to their members," he said. "This district has a lot of challenges. If we can get this done, I'll probably do a dance in the aisle."

Board Vice President Cindy Schofield thanked the administrators who "took a step forward and took cost containment to the next level."

"I'd like to encourage all employees to step forward and help us out," she said. "Our job is to preserve as many programs as we can for the students. Pay freezes, restructuring benefits ... I don't care as long as we make progress. I don't want to see the programs gutted."

Two crime categories that saw increases in 2009 were forgery/counterfeiting which had 58 reported incidents - up 10 from the previous year - for a 20.8-percent increase and embezzlement/bribery/extortion which had a 19.1 percent increase with 56 incidents.

"Identity theft and credit card fraud is massive - that's been one of those trends in the last few years," said Fetner. "I don't know if you can attribute crime going up or down due to the economy. I know people like to do that. This kind of fraud is a trend across the board everywhere."

Other property crimes saw a decrease in 2009 like burglary/home invasion which had a 6.9 percent drop with 603 incidents reported. Reported vehicle thefts in 2009 were 328 which was a 23.4 percent drop from 428 reported the previous year.

The poor economy doesn't necessarily result in a jump in crimes, said Fetner.

"If someone is inclined to do crime, they will do it. You may see a guy who is unemployed steal some steaks to feed his family," said Fetner. "Occasionally, the number of robberies might go up - that's one of the few crimes that will go up with the economy. But you or I'd be working at 7-Eleven to make ends meet."

There was a 4.5-percent increase in drunk driving arrests in 2009 - 537 arrests compared to 514 arrests in 2008.

"The number of drunk driving arrests is pretty consistent - it will go up or down modestly," said Fetner. "It's luck of the draw. We have cars working drunk driving intervention but it's the right place at the right time. We have to be working at the right time to catch drunk drivers."

Law enforcement is largely reactive these days, he said. "We'd rather be proactive but it's the nature of the beast and current staffing levels," he said.

Marine Corps League selects name of Westland man for new chapter

A U.S. Marine who was killed in combat in Iraq in 2006 has been honored by the Marine Corps League at the Romanowski Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall in Westland.

Sgt. Bryan K. Burgess was a member of the 1st Battalion, 24th Marine Regiment. The new chapter has chartered itself under the name, the Sgt. Bryan K. Burgess Chapter, in honor of Sgt. Burgess, killed while executing combat operations in the Al Anbar province of Iraq in 2006.

The Marine Corps League is a service organization of former active duty Marines who join together to promote the ideals of American freedom and democracy, often-times rendering assistance to Marines, former Marines, and their families.

It's customary for MCL detachments to be named in honor of fallen Marines, and this detachment decided to honor a Marine killed while prosecuting one of the counter-insurgencies the Marine Corps is presently fighting, rather than reaching back to the Vietnam, Korean War, or even World War II eras, as had, until recently, been the common practice.

"We chartered Detachment 1337 last August, and we searched for Marines after whom we could name it. The choice was easy, as Sgt. Bryan Burgess gave all in Operation Iraqi Freedom, and also was from Westland," said Rick Ciaramitaro, the detachment's commandant. "His mother Evie, allowed us to name the chapter after her son, and we were proud to have her at the Dedication Ceremony tonight."

"We must not bury the dead twice," said Evie Burgess during the ceremony. "Keep Bryan alive by our sides with the things that he held dear and we still cherish. Always remember

"In a way, this dedication, the naming of this Marine Corps League detachment, ensures that one of our Marine warriors, who made the ultimate sacrifice in defense of our way of life, will live on in a tangible and public way," said Lt. Col. Steve White, the Inspector/Instructor for the battalion. "The attitude of selfless service that he stood for is continued."

The master of ceremonies for the event was Maj. Dave Marshall from Weapons Company, 1/24, the company with which Sgt. Burgess was serving when he fell as a result of small arms fire on Nov. 9, 2006. Weapons Company is headquarters in Perrysburg, Ohio, with the Battalion Command Post aboard Selfridge Air National Guard Base in Mt. Clemens, MI.

Other speakers were Gunnery Sgt. Eugene Coles, Sgt. Jessie Bragg and Sgt. David Payne, who all served with Sgt. Burgess during their 2006-2007 deployment in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom.

Donation benefits two veterans homes

The State Veterans Homes Board of Managers was on the receiving end of a check for more than $10,000 to help provide for the retired service members served at Michigan's two veterans' facilities.

"Our brave men and women have given a lot to defend our nation and our freedoms," said State Rep. Richard LeBlanc, D-Westland, who presented the check. "The least we can do is make sure that they are taken care of in their golden years and that they can live life to the fullest."

The donation, totaling $10,404, will be split between the Grand Rapids Home for Veterans and the D.J. Jacobetti Home for Veterans in Marquette. The funds will be used to provide services for Michigan's veterans that the state budget cannot provide for, including movies and other recreational activities.

LeBlanc, chair of the House Military and Veterans Affairs Appropriations Subcommittee, presented the ceremonial check to the Veterans Homes Board of Managers on Feb. 19. The donation was collected at his annual Noodles and Neighbors event - a spaghetti dinner and silent auction held in Westland in October.

"Our veterans' homes do an outstanding job of encouraging independence while giving our veterans the care and services they need," he said. "Unfortunately, these tough times have taken a toll on them. I am very pleased that the residents of Westland came together and that we were able to present this donation to aid our retired Michigan service members."

The first Veterans Facility of Michigan was established by the state in 1885 to provide residential and later health care programs for veterans who were unable to care for themselves.

Currently, Michigan's veterans' homes are open to all veterans who served 90 days from Dec. 7, 1941 to the present. Spouses and parents of eligible veterans may also be admitted.

Copper stolen

The owner of a rental home in the 28000 block of Powers told police March 7 that he visited the residence, which has been vacant for two months, to find a rear window open. He said the air conditioning unit was missing, the furnace was torn about with the interior working parts and metal pieces missing. Checking further, the Detroit man said the water heater was on the floor disconnected with the copper parts missing. At some point the water had been shut off inside the home. The owner said the toilet and ceramic sink were missing from the bathroom along with the copper plumbing to both. The missing items were valued at $2,000. The owner had last visited the home on Feb. 24.

Strong arm robberies

A Westland woman told police March 7 that she was leaving 7-Eleven, 1826 S. Merriman, at 12:30 a.m. carrying a six-pack of Bud Light in bottles. She said a man ran up to her with a clenched fist and she fell to the ground, fearing she would be struck. When she fell, the woman said the man grabbed the beer and ran south on Merriman. She described the man as a white male in his late 20s with short brown hair, clean-shaven with red acne-marked face and wearing a gray flannel hoodie.

Resident nabs man breaking into car

Citizen's arrest

An alert neighbor took matters into his own hands in the 32200 block of Bridge Street about 5 p.m. March 8 and held a thief until Garden City Police arrived.

The police found a 24-year-old Garden City man outside on his knees with his hands on his head. The neighbor had looked out onto the street and allegedly saw the man trying to open car doors. He tried unsuccessfully to gain entry into a 1999 Pontiac Grand Prix, but he was able to enter a 1998 Chevy Cavalier in the Bridge/Craig area.

The resident pulled the suspect, who was rifling through the console and glove box, out of the car, and walked him to the door of a nearby home where he had the occupants call 9-1-1. He held the man in a kneeling position until police arrived.

The suspect made no attempts to resist the citizen's arrest or the police when they arrived. Police found that the man had a 2005 drunk driving conviction in Garden City and 2004 larceny conviction in Westland.

Home invasion

A person taking care of a residence in the 7000 block of North Inkster discovered several items missing Feb. 12, according to a delayed report.

The back door to the residence was open and about $3,700 worth of appliances, including a stove, air conditioning unit and a hot water heater, were missing.

Stolen cars

During the short period of time that a man went into PKSA

Karate at 6315 Middlebelt to pick up some students about 3:30 p.m. March 8, someone stole his 1993 Jeep Wrangler, which was parked in the lot.

When the police arrived, they found indication that someone had spun the wheels of a vehicle near where the Jeep was parked. There were too many footprints in the parking lot for the police to gain evidence.

A 1999 Saturn was reported missing from Sparks Auto & Towing, 1550 Harrison, about 7 a.m. March 3. It was unknown whether the car was unlocked.

Identity theft

A 33-year-old Garden City man came to the police station at 6000 Middlebelt March 8 to report that someone fraudulently opened four new accounts and purchased four new phones with AT&T at a cost of $443. He is not an AT & T subscriber.

He contacted his credit card companies and checked his credit report.

Drunken resident

The police arrested a 51-year-old Garden City man about 10 p.m. March 6 after neighbors complained of a loud noise coming from his apartment in the 7000 block of North Venoy.

The neighbors said that the man tends to have erratic behavior.

When the police knocked on the man's door, he yelled, "Do you want to die?" and "I'm going to kill you."

As he swung the apartment door swung open, the officers entered with guns drawn and restrained and handcuffed the man.

The man registered a .24 blood alcohol limit which is three times the legal limit.

On March 8, a clerk at CVS Pharmacy, 31411 Cherry Hill, told police that she was working just before 10 a.m. when a man jumped over the counter and grabbed a carton of Newport 100s. The clerk said she yelled at the man to give back the cigarettes and wrestled with him when he refused to return them.

The clerk told police she was knocked around while tussling with the man and injured her wrist. The man tried to jump back over the counter, she said, so she grabbed his foot, trying to pull off his shoe. The man broke free, she said, and fled on a bicycle. The cigarettes were valued at $100.

Break-ins

On March 3, a resident in the 2200 block of Hix told police that someone had broken into her home through the side entry door of the attached garage. The owner said the suspect went straight to her bedroom. Reported missing was a tin, containing $200 in loose change, and assorted rings, necklaces, watches, bracelets and jewelry boxes valued at $4,650. Among the missing jewelry was a Wayne Memorial High School Class of 1987 ring.

A power washer and an air compressor valued at $350 were reported stolen from a shed at a home in the 28000 block of Powers March 8. A resident told police that the items belonged to his stepfather, who had been in the hospital. Someone had apparently entered the locked shed through a window. The items were reported taken March 4-8.

Ancient roots of beer making

Beer is one of the oldest beverages in the world having been around since ancient times. Many different cultures around the world simultaneously invented beer-like substances thousands of years ago. The first evidence of the existence of beer dates back about 7,000 years. Chemical tests have shown that beer was first brewed in present-day Iran, using ancient pottery jars.

Sumerians in Mesopotamia crudely brewed beer, stored it in pottery, and drank it through straws around 2600 B.C. The Egyptians got in on the act, brewing a fruity variety of beer, called hekt, soon after. It was the Egyptians who taught the art of brewing to the Greeks, who in turn, taught the Romans. Beer was popular among the Romans, at first, but was replaced by wine. It was thought of only being fit for barbarians, such as the Vikings.

During medieval times in Europe, beer making was primarily done in the home. By the 14th and 15th centuries, monasteries and pubs began making their own beers for mass consumption. Most beers at that time were actually what we refer to as ales today. It wasn't until the 16th century that lagers were discovered.

With the Industrial Revolution in the 18th century, there were many new innovations in brewing. Previously, beer would have an awful smoky flavor due to having been dried over a wood fire during the brewing process. Louis Pasteur discovered in 1857 how yeast can prevent the souring of beer by microorganisms during fermentation.

Before Prohibition came into effect in 1920, there were thousands of breweries in the United States. Brewers started producing non-alcoholic beer after losing their customers, but soon many went out of business completely. Bootleggers illegally watered down heavy beers to increase profits, which created the trend of lighter beers in America. Prohibition finally came to an end in 1933.

Today, beer has a major global market made up of huge multinational corporations as well as small regional microbreweries.

OUR VIEWS

Justine Barns' legacy is our city

Westland lost one of its history makers last week with the passing of Justine Barns. Fiercely loyal to her family, friends, neighborhood and community, she fought for what she felt was right and didn't stop until her mission was accomplished.

A lot has been said about the woman who was opening doors for her "sisters" long before Gloria Steinem launched her feminist movement. Jay, as she was called by those who knew her well, didn't let things like glass ceilings get in her way. She was as capable and successful in what was then considered a man's world as she was standing at the stove in her kitchen.

Many words could be used to describe Justin Barns' legacy. The one we like is phenomenal. Her lists of accomplishments were many and most were firsts as in the first woman to serve on the City Council, the first woman to be elected to City Council, the first woman to serve as council president and as mayor, and the first woman to represent Westland in the state House of Representatives.

But what stands out most is that while she was highly successful in politics, she didn't see herself as a politician. She was a public servant. She didn't serve for her own personal greater glory, but to help her community and the people who lived in it.

Her list of accomplishments were many, including authoring the city's anti-pornography ordinance, which has kept adult bookstores out of Westland, and the ordinance for the Westland Commission on Aging. She also led negotiations for the donation of land used for the Westland Municipal Golf Course.

As a state representative, she let the folks in Lansing know what type of community Westland was by organizing opposition to prevent the state from housing 1,000 state prisoners in the old N building on the grounds of the former Wayne County General Hospital.

Westland is a better place because of all that Justine Barns did. Her passing closes yet another chapter in the city's early history. From a PTA president to a state representative, she championed her community and gave a voice to those who felt they didn't have one.

She may be a rest, but we're sure she has found a few projects to work on in heaven. God bless and goodbye, Jay. You will always be remembered as "a great lady."

COMMUNITY VOICE

Would you consider paying higher taxes to keep services as they are now?

We asked this question at the Maplewood Community Center in Garden City.

"I think it's important. You can't keep believing it's not going to cost more. So yes, I'd be willing to pay more taxes."

"If a case could be made for higher taxes, I'd be willing to do it, but they'd have to make the case."

Ed Weiland
Garden City

"We're paying really high taxes now, but I guess I would."

Emily Jablonowski

"Yes. If you want to play, you have to pay."

Barns left a legacy

I want to commend Westland Observer Community Editor Sue Mason for a sensitive and comprehensive review of Justine Barns' life and legacy to the political community. I read Ms. Mason's story on the Observer's Web site Friday, just one day after Justine passed away.

As a former Observer editor, Justine (or Jay as nearly everyone called her) was one of the first political leaders I met. Shortly after one of my first City Council meetings, our paths crossed during the day in May 1966, just a few weeks after I joined the newspaper. She was in City Hall guiding a Jefferson Elementary School group of sixth-graders through a tour of the relatively new City Hall. Among the students was her youngest son, Scott.

Over the years, I learned and reported more about her and her contributions to the city's political life through her elections to the City Council, county Board of Commissioners and the state House of Representatives. Besides her public duties, she let me know her family, especially her late husband, Jonathan, and her oldest son, Duane, who I remember interviewing when he returned home from Army duty in Vietnam.

I hope the city administration and City Council will create a permanent, visible and meaningful tribute to reflect the legacy that she left.

Leonard Poger

Nearly endless first

If there is such a thing as a Founding Mother, Justine Barns was such a person. Her lists of firsts is nearly endless.

First woman on the City Council, member of the first elected City Council, first woman elected locally to the state House of Representatives, first woman president of the City Council, on and on.

She was an apron-clad housewife when she first learned how to get the attention of the township hall. Among the goals, street paving for Norway. Although she enjoyed the intrigue and repartee of politics, she wasn't in it for the gain or the glory. She always had another issue to raise or a project to accomplish.

Blessed with a patient and civic-minded husband, Jon Barns, and two sons of who she was very proud, she was successful because she was "of the people." While she was no great orator, she knew how to pin back the ears on a political opponent. She also knew how to work successfully as a legislator, standing for her principles but willing to compromise when her community stood to benefit.

As she knew her people and responded to their needs for more than 40 years, the community will respond with an outpouring of affection for Justine Barns in the coming days. She was Westland at its best.

However, one-third of a page of text did not seem to include: 1) explanation of the acronym; RESA stands for Regional Educational Service Agency — for schools in Wayne County, and 2) that its mission is to: provide services such as group purchasing, computer service, and staff development. Its service sector covers 34 local school districts having approximately 20,000 teachers and 400,000 students. There is also a lot of detail about the effects on individual districts, but nothing on how the RESA charter permits such a tax, which I believe I would support.

Wrong about health care

Obama stated in his speech on health care "I know it's right."

The latest poll to date (3/4/2010) comes from the Obama cheerleading channel of CNN that shows that 73 percent of the American people want this health care bill trashed and for Congress to start over.

Forcing people to buy health insurance, funding abortions, raising the cost to the taxpayers of $500 billion and cutting seniors off at the knees with $500 billion in Medicare cuts.

Which part sounds right to you? Forcing people to buy insurance is unconstitutional. The Dems like to compare it to auto insurance but it's not the same. You don't have to own a car; you will, however, have to pay for health insurance.

The Senate plan is to have the IRS oversee this function by granting them access to your bank accounts to see if they can collect the premiums in real time. That access will also alert them as to how much you money you make and what your spending habits are.

Obama was "schooled" by the teachings of Karl Marx and Saul Alinsky who wrote about how to destroy the U.S. by attacking the capitalist system. He sat in church every week for 20 years and listened to the Rev. Jeremiah Wright condemn American.

Saul Alinsky wrote in his book, Rules for Radicals, "From all our legends, mythology, and history (and who is to know where mythology leaves off and history begins — or which is which), the first radical known to man who rebelled against the establishment and did it so effectively that he at least won his own kingdom — Lucifer."

This is the man that Barack Obama and Hillary Clinton idolize and is what drives them to do the things they do. Barack may know he's right but I and 73 percent of the people in this country know he is wrong.

Health plan more of same

From watching the summit yesterday, as we understand the Republican position on health care reform, they prefer limits on medical malpractice, expanding health savings accounts, allowing consumers to buy insurance from out-state and provide tax breaks to small business.

This is the essence of Republican health care reform. This would be laughable if the Republicans were not so serious about putting forward their plan. Since the Republican senators are little more than subsidiaries of the insurance companies, we guess our expectations are confirmed. Each Republican senator has received more than $1 million from the insurance companies in campaign contributions.

Let us state clearly, this does very little, if anything at all, to extend health coverage to the current 45 to 50 million American citizens who have no health care. It does nothing for the estimated 45,000 American citizens who die each year from no health care. This is essentially the status quo to protect the obscene profits of the insurance companies. It does nothing to once and for all remove pre-existing conditions, cancellation of benefits at insurance companies' whims as well as the arbitrary denial of coverage.

The American people want and deserve what we, the taxpayers have provided to Congress, which is the Public Option, without which there is no competition and no lower costs. We pay in excess of $12,000 a year for the health coverage for each of our congressmen and women.

The Republican Party is increasingly becoming the party of "just say no" and "screw you," I have mine.

No remorse for Toyota

Being a GM retiree from the Ypsilanti transmission plant, I feel no remorse for the dilemma Toyota has put itself in.

For years, they have been given concessions from our government to make them more competitive with the cars that were produced on our own soil, now they build their cars here and do use Americans to do that and that's a good thing but, doesn't anyone wonder where most of the money they get from American car buyers from their monthly car payment goes?

In Japanese banks. The profit then goes to buy buildings in American cities and hurts our economy not to mention what it does to our morale.

I know a lot of people that read this letter will disagree with me but I'd lose no sleep if that company would go under tomorrow.

ONLINE VOICES & VIEWS

Here's what our online readers are saying about:

• McCotter being out of touch
I just have to love bleeding heart liberals! Doesn't it make you all warm and fuzzy knowing that this writer doesn't even think twice about taking other people's money while they themselves struggle to put a pot roast on the dinner table. Under this plan, working people (you know the lucky ones that STILL have a job) will not only pay for their own insurance, they will have to pay much more for a bunch of other people to be insured, including illegal aliens and the young people that don't want to be insured. And if you choose not to be insured, the IRS is in charge of fining you! We will become like Canada with waiting lines and months before you can see a doctor.

Debi911

We will take the world's best medical system and make it into third world status. The American people are waking up to this huge lie of "health care" and next time save the propaganda! Over 70 percent of the people KNOW this is a huge snow job.

ALMac7

Obamacare will be terrible for the working man! Too bad Obama and Congress are listening to the majority!

I-275 path gets summer facelift

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A deteriorating paved pathway along I-275 will get a $4 million facelift this summer along a seven-mile stretch between Michigan Avenue and Hines Drive — a project embraced by bicyclists like 31-year-old Canton resident Brian Rosol.

"I'm geeked. I can't wait for it to be done," said Rosol, who during warm months often rides his mountain bike 42 miles round trip to his job as an electrician for Robert Bosch Corp. in Farmington Hills.

"This trail is pretty chewed up," Rosol said. "It's a little scary in the dark when I can't see the potholes."

Using federal stimulus dollars, the Michigan Department of Transportation is spearheading work that Ron Roby, project manager for Angelo Iafate Construction Co. of Warren, said is expected to begin in April and be completed in October.

The project involves widening the path to 14 feet; installing four new bridges over Fellows Creek, Tonquish Creek and the Wiles and Smith drains; widening a fifth bridge; and ensuring the paved trail complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act.

Although the project will hamper the path's use this summer — because the old bridges will be taken out and replaced — officials say the long-term benefits will far outweigh any temporary inconvenience.

In a separate but related project, MDOT also plans this summer to patch and repair a 10-mile stretch of the I-275 trail from Hines Drive north to Meadowbrook Road — an area officials say isn't nearly as deteriorated.

That project is expected to cost $500,000 and be paid by separate federal and state funding.

Moreover, talks already have begun that center on far-reaching repairs — possibly in 2011 — to a 10.5-mile stretch of the I-275 path from Michigan Avenue south to Willow Metro Park.

In all, the three projects span 27.5 miles along the most heavily used portion of a larger, 40-mile I-275 path, MDOT officials said.

MDOT and construction officials provided specific details during a public meeting attended by some 35 people. Other meetings are expected in coming months.

Rosol and other path users embraced the plans. Rosol said the work will make his bike trips to work — trips that keep him in shape and reduce his carbon footprint — much more enjoyable and safer.

Brad Sharp, Canton's parks and facilities manager, said the path improvements also could result in more use of the Lower Rouge River Recreation Trail, a winding path that stretches several miles from the I-275 corridor west to Canton Center Road.

The latter trail already has been improved with five new wooden pedestrian bridges, and two others are expected to be installed as early as this spring. The Lower Rouge River Recreation Trail can be accessed from a trail head on Morton Taylor Road north of Michigan Avenue, where a parking lot is available for people who want to leave behind their motorized vehicles and explore nature.

A group of 30 to 40 trail users attended an open house in Canton this week to hear details of a planned $4 million renovation of the I-275 paved pathway.

Lady Ocelots book return trip to NJCAA tourney

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The Schoolcraft College women's basketball team is back in familiar territory — the NJCAA Division II National Tournament.

The Lady Ocelots, last year's national runner-up, improved to 31-1 overall with a hard-fought 74-64 victory Sunday over host Owens Technical Community College in District H finals played in Toledo, Ohio.

Schoolcraft, which could be among the top four seeds, now has nine days off before it returns to the court for the opening round of the NJCAAs, March 17-20, in East Peoria, Ill.

"It was our best effort of the year," Schoolcraft coach Karen Lafata said. "Our girls were not going to be denied. I really wanted these kids to go back."

Schoolcraft, which beat the Express for the third time this season, won it at the free throw line going 21-of-31 (67.7 percent).

Owens, meanwhile, shot a dismal 13-of-31 from the foul stripe (41.9 percent).

Tournament MVP Angie Burrell scored a game-high 21 points for the Lady Ocelots, who led 30-26 at halftime.

With only 4:39 left, Owens close the gap to 61-57, but Burrell answered with a pivotal three-pointer just 15 seconds later and the Express never go closer than five the rest of the way.

"We made big time shots and big time plays," Lafata said. "The second half we had only five turnovers and hit some big free throws. There were a lot of heroes."

Antania Shepherd added 16 points, while April Goins, who played all 40 minutes, contributed 15 for Schoolcraft.

Amber Avery, named to the All-Tournament team, chipped in with 12 points and a team-high 16 rebounds, while teammate Kimberly Bee grabbed 11 rebounds.

Schoolcraft's balanced attack offset the 19-point, 19-rebound performance by Owens' 6-foot-5 center Brittany Darling, who strug-

Trojans ousted

In the Class B district boys basketball opener Monday, Marcarius Zachary scored 25 points and Marcus Robinson added 17 as Inkster Cherry Hill School of the Performing Arts eliminated host Livonia Clarenceville, 74-52.

Clarenceville, which ended its season at 5-16 overall under first-year coach Justin Johnson, couldn't overcome a 21-6 first-quarter deficit.

"We did not come out with a good effort," Johnson said. "And they (Cherry Hill) played better than when I scouted them. They knocked down shots and we did not play good defense. They played well, give them credit. They seemed like they wanted it more."

Kassius Kelly led the Trojans with 12 points, while Dominic Patton, Damien Quarles and Lenny Smith each added eight.

The district championship is set for 7 p.m. Friday at Clarenceville.

Berger honored

Washington University in St. Louis (Mo.) junior forward Kathryn Berger (Livonia Ladywood) was named University Athletic Association Athlete of the Week in women's basketball.

Berger poured in a career-high 25 points on 9-of-13 shooting, including three 3-pointers, as the sixth-ranked Bears advanced in the NCAA Division II regional with an 80-64 win last Saturday over Thomas More (Ky.) College.

Berger averaged 17 points and 9.5 rebounds while shooting 61.1 percent (11-of-18) from the field in two regional games, which also included an 81-67 opening-round win Friday over Maryville (Tenn.).

She is averaging 8.7 points and 5.6 rebounds on the year.

On Friday, Washington University (25-2) will host Mount Union (Ohio) in the NCAA sectional with the winner facing either defending national champion George Fox (Ore.) University or Carthage (Wis.) College.

Lineberry saluted

Madonna University third baseman Brad Lineberry (Plymouth) was named Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference named baseball Player of the Week (ending March 7).

The honor, Lineberry's first of his career, comes after the freshman hit .556 in six games with two doubles, a triple, three RBI and eight runs scored.

Lineberry went 10-for-18 at the plate in addition to drawing three walks and stealing a base as the No. 21-ranked Crusaders improved to 10-2 overall.

Franklin girls cagers reach regional final

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

It took three quarters for Livonia Franklin to get in sync, but the Patriots were able to survive and advance in the state Class A girls basketball tournament.

Franklin, last year's state runner-up, pulled away in the final quarter with an 18-8 run Tuesday to subdue Detroit Cody, 51-39, in the regional semifinal at Livonia Ladywood.

The Patriots, 18-5 overall, had no scouting report on the Comets and got to the Ladywood gym prematurely thinking they'd be playing the first game of a double-header. Instead, it was Detroit Pershing edging Detroit King in the opener, 43-42.

"We came into this blind," Franklin coach Dave McCall said. "We didn't know anything about them. We couldn't get any information. We had nothing."

"The schedule got screwed up. We got here at 5 o'clock expecting to play at 6 o'clock. It kind threw everybody's tempo and everything off. We had to go to a place to get a smoothie. We tried to waste the time. Everything was a little upset as far as getting their families coordinated and it kind of threw us off our game mentally. I think it took us three quarters to get focused on what we were doing and where we were at."

Once the Patriots found their groove, they were able to solve Cody's zone defense.

Senior center Senneca Scott, who came into the game with a pair of impressive double-doubles (points, rebounds) in the district, came alive in the fourth quarter scoring eight of her 10 points.

"Senneca struggled," McCall said. "She got beat up a little bit inside and she decided that she was standing around a little bit, instead of moving in and out. She started moving

Glenn's Pavlich wins coveted state crown

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Like any high school wrestler when the season ends, Anthony Pavlich was waiting for that "big meal."

"It was the first time I didn't have to worry about cutting weight," said newly crowned 130-pound MHSAA Division 1 state wrestling champ from Westland John Glenn. "My dad (Andy) and I went back to the hotel and ate. I don't remember what we ate, but it was a big meal."

The senior devoured 60-of-63 opponents this season and ended his illustrious career with school-record 179 wins and 108 pins.

But no decision was bigger than his 4-2 overtime victory over Hartland's Jeff Lopez before cheering teammates, coaches, family and friends Saturday at The Palace of Auburn Hills.

set for Friday at Rockford High School. Quint, a Franklin High student, was the Division 1 all-around champion last Saturday at the Canton regional with a score of 37.70. She placed first in three events including vault (9.425), balance beam (9.75) and floor exercise (9.575), along with adding a fifth on the uneven parallel bars (8.95). Canton captured the team title with a total of 144.725 points followed by Northville and Livonia Blue with 140.825 and 140.000, respectively. Livonia Red, meanwhile, placed sixth with 136.300.

Quint's teammate, Alex Kitz, tied for second at the regional in the Division 2 all-around with a score of 34.975. She placed second on the uneven bars (8.9) and added sixth on vault (8.75).

Livonia Blue's other Division 2 state qualifier (top eight) was Cassie Morford, who tied for fifth on the balance beam (9.05).

Livonia Red freshman Katie Kretzchmer, eighth in the Division 1 regional all-around (35.675), is also headed to Rockford in four different events after placing third on vault (9.2) and floor exercise (9.175); seventh on the uneven bars (8.6); and eighth on beam (8.7).

In Division 2, Red's Katina St. Pierre qualified for Saturday's individual finals by tying for fourth on the uneven bars (8.6) and tying for sixth on floor (9.025).

The Division 2 individual finals start at noon followed by Division 1 at 3:30 p.m., both Saturday at Rockford.

and we started finding openings, and then we started hitting her with some passes."

Junior point-guard Chelsea Williams answered the bell early, scoring 13 of her game-high 19 points in the first half as the Patriots led 26-21.

Cody, however, stayed close behind the play of sophomore Erica Coville, who scored eight straight points in the third quarter to slice the Franklin lead to 33-30.

But Franklin went on a 12-3 run during the first five minutes of the fourth quarter to put the game away capped by Brittany Milican's basket with 3:09 remaining to make it 45-33.

Nicole Emery and Milican chipped in with seven and six points, respectively, while Amanda Borio had five.

"We made some adjustments on our defense — on our weak side," McCall said. "Once again the key to that defense is weakside support. We got a little bit lazy on it. We talked about fixing that. Instead of standing down low, we had to move Senneca back up and then back in."

Coville finished 15 points to pace the Comets, who shot only 26 percent from the field (13-of-50 and committed 20 turnovers.

Crona Posey and Jasmine Korezack added 11 and nine, respectively.

"We've been dealing with a whole lot of stuff," said Cody coach Charles Knott, whose team finished 16-5 overall. "Our best rebounder is at home (Amara Dixon) with a 102-degree fever. I just got the OK from her mom, number 10 (Posey), right before the horn went off that she could play. So we've been going back-and-forth all day. The chemistry wasn't there when we left the school."

Franklin now faces Pershing (19-2), the Public School League runner-up. Game time is 7 p.m. Thursday at Ladywood.

When asked about the impending regional championship matchup, McCall simply said: "We better play hard."

left in the first minute of OT for the victory

"I knew the next (OT) period I could ride him (Lopez)," Pavlich said. "Before the first overtime I just cleared my head, went out there, and fought for a takedown."

In the 2009 Division 1 Team State quarterfinals, Lopez won an 11-1 major decision over Pavlich at 125 pounds.

"He worked me over pretty good, he was a lot stronger back then," Pavlich said.

But after a rigorous off-season of workouts, Pavlich came back more determined to improve upon his eighth-place finish in the individual state tourney of a year ago. (He placed fifth at 103 as a sophomore.)

"I just got a lot more experience, I went to various tournaments, a couple of camps," said Pavlich, who would like to continue his mat career in college. "I trained really hard to where I got. I was fighting all along for this."

Pavlich becomes the school's third individual state champion and the first for 10th-year coach Bill Polk, who has had seven finalists in the past eight years.

Polk said he was getting encouraging words from his fellow coaching fraternity prior to Pavlich's final match.

It was funny," the Glenn coach said. "I was getting text messages from Dave Chiola, Dan Vaughan, Greg Woohuck, Rich Donahee, and a few others that are all area coaches saying, 'Break the curse.' It makes me happy to know they were all pulling for us."

The Glenn coach said he tried to take a calm, yet business-like approach with his senior grappler.

"I did the best I could to keep Anthony focused on the match and nothing else like that so he didn't have the extra pressure," Polk said. "He was very loose and relaxed because he knew he prepared for this match his entire career. We were all laughing together as he warmed up telling jokes so he would realize it was just another match in the spotlight, and he has had tons of them in his career."

"I could tell he was ready for the match when he walked out on the mat — win or lose he would leave it all out there and that's all we can ask."

More Glenn placers

Glenn senior heavyweight Dustin Gajowiak improved upon his fifth place finish of a year ago in the 285-pound class with a fourth this time and finished the year 58-9 overall.

"Dustin is the best 'Big Man' that John Glenn has ever sent out on the mat," Polk said. "He's a two-time medal winner and outstanding three-sport athlete (including football and track and field)."

Meanwhile, the Rockets' Josh Austin added a fifth at 119 and ended up 52-11 as a senior.

"Josh has appeared in the individual state finals twice both as a junior and senior," Polk said. "We are all very proud of Josh for becoming an Academic All-State and All-State medal winner."

Patriots' Tuyo 6th

Livonia Franklin junior Steve Tuyo (112) captured his first two matches of the tournament and wound up sixth overall to earn All-State honors.

"Steve really turned it on at the end of the year," Franklin coach Dave Chiola said. "He wrestled pretty high in the lineup all year to make the team better. Towards the end of the year he got down (in weight), and wrestling the bigger guys all year really paid off. I saw very few people pick him to get to the semifinals at the state tournament."

Tuyo finished 54-14 overall.

"He's been very focused and dedicated all year, but really turned it on the last month of the season," Chiola said.

Warriors' Francis 3rd

Lutheran High Westland senior Laith Francis bounced back from a second-round loss to earn a third-place finish at 125 pounds in Division 4.

Francis went 5-1 over the three-day span and finished the season 52-7 overall.

He defeated Dan Efting of Bangor in the consolation finals, 7-5.

tonight, and about them all year," said Stevenson coach David Mitchell, whose team finished 21-4-2 overall. "I'm extremely proud of every single one of our guys in the room."

CC's first goal came at 3:27 of the opening period when Austin Hervey popped home a rebound with Sean Gaffney and Dave Middleton assisting.

The Shamrocks then got a re-direct tip-in from Middleton off a shot from the point by defenseman Nick Crowley at 3:31 of the second period to make it 2-0.

"That's their game and that's what they do, and we knew that," Mitchell said. "We did a good job for the most part throughout the night of clearing pucks and doing that, but we had a couple of breakdowns. (Goalie) Danny Sager stood tall and that kid has been a rock all year. It was a heck of an effort by all our guys."

Stevenson had a couple of five-on-three man advantages, but couldn't slip the puck past CC netminder Connor Pankow.

"In my 15 years at CC he's been our only senior captain goalie," CC coach Todd Johnson said. "He's absolutely a fantastic team leader on-and-off the ice. He's great at playing the puck, which I thought was a huge factor tonight. He's a calming influence."

Stevenson was outshot 11-7 in the opening period, but held an 11-9 and 7-5 edge in the second and third periods, respectively.

"We knew it would be a very tough game," Johnson said.

"Stevenson's got a great team, a great record. They played us tough. They watched us play a lot this year. They know what we're all about. They took a conservative strategy trying to keep it a low-scoring game. They executed their plan great. It was a good, hard-fought playoff game."

Despite taking an uncharacteristic seven penalties, Johnson was pleased with the way his special teams unit held tough.

"I thought we (penalty) killed fantastic, both one man down and two men down," he said. "Stevenson has some highly skilled players. I thought we did a really good job limiting their good opportunities and slowing them down a little bit. Probably it was the difference in the game, our penalty killing."

Stevenson, meanwhile, took a slightly different approach after losing 6-2 to the Shamrocks back in December.

"We knew we had to do our best to limit them," Mitchell said. "They so strong, they're so powerful and they're so well coached that we knew we had to limit their chances. We definitely didn't want run and gun as much because we knew we couldn't get into a run-and-gun match with them. We put a system in the last couple days of practice. We implemented that system and I couldn't be prouder or happier to be the coach of those young men."

CC moves on to the state quarterfinals 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Ann Arbor Ice Cube to face Ann Arbor Huron.

Franklin Patriots take district opener over GC

BY JIM TOTH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

That 7-13 record of Livonia Franklin's entering the postseason may have been a little deceiving.

"We're playing better, but our division is so tough," Patriots coach Jeremy Rheault said after watching his club score an impressive 63-57 victory over Garden City Monday evening in the opening round of Class A boys basketball district at Livonia Stevenson. "We were in a lot of those games right to the end. Our division helps prepare us so our record and adversity we've gone through has made us stronger. We're really putting it together now which is a good thing."

The story of the game was the second quarter in which Rheault's Patriots put 22 points on the board after settling for just 13 in the opening eight minutes of play.

"We went man and our defense picked up," said Rheault, who saw his cagers turn a 14-13 first-quarter deficit into a 35-22 advantage at halftime. "We were able to shut them down more and were able to run. We can do pretty well in transition. But I think it was effort. The first quarter was just tough to get going and the second quarter we kind of pieced it together."

Seniors Andy McCaffery and Mike Gadsby were the catalysts for the Patriots as the duo time and time again found seams in the Cougars' defense to throw down some easy buckets.

Franklin's lead remained double digits for much of the third quarter until the Cougars showed signs of wanting to prolong their season by connecting on a couple of long treys late in the period.

When Garden City's Demetrius Brown converted two free throws with :07 remaining, the lead was just six points at 48-42 heading to the fourth quarter of play.

The Cougars continued to attack and chase fullcourt and the frantic play paid off as coach Greg Williamson's squad clawed their way back to within one point with 5:02 remaining.

But a McCaffery bucket, followed by a Jack Chinavare two-pointer, stalled GC's comeback bid and provided the necessary breathing room for the Patriots to close matters down the stretch and record their eighth victory in 21 starts this season.

McCaffery paced the winning effort with 19 points. Gadsby followed with 14 and Chinavare added 11.

For Garden City, which ended 12-9 overall, senior Matthew Mitchell led the way with 20 points, including three long bombs in the first quarter. Burton followed in the scoring column with 19 points and Moises Cruz added nine.

Franklin's Andy McCaffery (14) scored a game-high 19 points in the Patriots' opening-round Class A district win over Garden City.

"We didn't defend very well in the second quarter and it hurt us," Williamson said. "They kept beating us off the dribble. We fought back and played with a lot of desperation and then took some questionable shots. But give Franklin credit because they played very hard."

On tap for the Patriots was a meeting Wednesday with Redford Thurston in district semifinals.

High-powered Inkster eliminates Wayne, 69-43

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

It's arguably one of the toughest boys basketball districts in the state and host Wayne Memorial became the first victim Monday night.

The Zebras couldn't sustain an early 11-3 lead as Inkster roared back and rolled to a 69-43 first-round Class A triumph.

Wayne, which dropped its final three games, ended its season at 15-6 overall.

Inkster, meanwhile, advanced to face another formidable district foe Wednesday night in Ypsilanti. The Vikings, a state Class B semifinalist a year ago, improved to 14-4 overall.

"We prepared for everything that they did, they just did it better than what we prepared for - I guess," Wayne coach Wayne Woodard said. "We said we had to play transition defense, we'd have to rebound, and take care of the basketball. I think overall we did an OK job taking care of the basketball. The biggest thing was offensive rebounding. We just couldn't hold them out of there. That was a huge difference. And once they got up on us, they just started running and it was a little bit more than we bargained for."

The Vikings took the lead for good with 30 seconds left in the first quarter on Donald Owens' rebound basket, 15-13.

Inkster then outscored Wayne 16-8 in the second period to take command and went on an 18-9 in the third.

"It was a slow start for us, no question, but there was no question in my mind we'd make up that deficit," Inkster coach Durand Shepherd said. "We just tried to come out and play natural and not overplay. We came out early and didn't run our offense. We were trying to do too much. It took some settling down. Sometimes we let our seniors try and orchestrate things without me being the captain because a lot of these guys played on the Final Four team last year. But if it takes for me to call every set, I'll do it. Usually they start a game out correctly. Tonight they didn't, but they normally do."

Milton Cribbs, a junior, paced Inkster's balanced scoring attack with 11 points.

Deon Butler added 10, while Orlando Fickling, Jerry Jones and Rufus Baynham added nine apiece.

Wayne committed 15 turnovers and made only 16-of-52 shots from the floor (30.7 percent).

"Our plan was to execute, attack the rim and run out in transition," Shepherd said. "We pressured their guards for 32 minutes and eventually we're going to wear them down. We ran for 32 minutes. Either we're going to cause turnovers or get easy transition points. Our bench is deeper than theirs, no question, and more experienced."

Senior center Daniel Hill paced Wayne and all scorers with 16 points. Brian Gray added seven of his 10 points in the first period.

Top-ranked Romulus sinks young Rockets

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Nobody had a tougher first-round Class A district boys basketball tournament draw than Westland John Glenn.

The youthful Rockets took on No. 1-ranked Romulus, fresh from an impressive victory over Beverly Hills-Detroit Country Day, and the outcome Monday night was predictable at Wayne Memorial.

"They're hard to guard," Glenn coach Dan Young said of the 20-1 Eagles following a 55-35 setback. "They got a lot of good players and they're very well coached. And they're very good defensively. In playing them it's hard to score."

Romulus led 19-10 after one quarter and 33-17 at halftime before stretching their lead to 46-25 after 24 minutes.

The Eagles' relentless full-court pressure took its toll on the Rockets, who committed a total of 23 turnovers.

Romulus was 19-of-44 from the field (43.1 percent) and 10-of-19 from the foul stripe (52.6 percent).

Derrick Stewart and Marcus Trent each scored 11 for Romulus. Plymouth High transfer Justin Moss, a 6-foot-6 junior, added nine as the Eagles advanced to face Belleville in Wednesday's district semifinals.

Glenn, meanwhile, was 11-of-31 from the floor (35.4 percent) and also 10-of-19 from the free throw line.

Marcus Mecks scored a team-high nine for the Rockets, while Austin Omogbayi added seven.

"It's about the most fun I've ever had coaching a group of kids," said Young, whose team finished 6-15 and graduated only one senior starter (Zarik Barnes). "They worked as hard as any group I've ever coached at Glenn - anywhere I've ever coached. We're basically a pretty young group and we knew that going in. We competed with all the best teams.

That's what we were trying to do right now. We're going to try and take another step."

This time of year experience trumps talent and goes a long way in determining the outcome of a basketball game.

With five seniors on the court much of the time, Livonia Stevenson was able to flex its muscles and play mind-games with a youthful Redford Union squad Monday as the Spartans came away with a convincing 56-36 Class A district triumph on their home court.

"You love seeing your seniors step up, especially in a district like this," said Stevenson assistant coach Matt Bartnick, who took over the head coaching reins from Mike Allie (serving a one-game suspension after being ejected in the regular-season finale). "We have one three-year starter (Jordan El-Sabeh) and we have one four-year starter (Bobby Naubert), and they played a heckuva game. To have starters like that coming into a district is a real plus. They've been here before and they knew what to do."

What both Naubert and El-Sabah did was take the game over in the second quarter when the Spartans were looking for a spark to offset the scrappiness displayed by the inexperienced Panthers.

The duo led a 25-4 run over the middle two periods, turning a 16-13 deficit into a 38-20 advantage and a renewed vision of surviving to play another day.

"We stepped up the pressure a little bit," Bartnick said. "We wanted to get everyone going. We looked a little slow coming out, so we turned up the pressure and it got our kids going, our bench going and it ended up working out. It really set the tempo for the rest of the game."

The Panthers never recovered.

"We played about as good as we can play in the first 10 minutes," RU coach Brett Steele said. "We controlled the tempo, we executed offensively, we did exactly what we wanted to do for 32 minutes, but we were only able to do it for 10."

Naubert's 26 points paved the way for victory and earned the Spartans (16-5) a date Wednesday against Livonia Churchill in a semifinal matchup. Game time is 7 p.m. at Stevenson.

The Spartans drained nine three-point buckets on the evening, including three by Naubert.

Junior CJ Mwila came off the bench to added 12 points, while senior Kyle Bambach chipped in with six.

For the Panthers (3-18), sophomore JaVonte Davis tossed in 14 points and teammate Brandon Tinsley contributed 13. Tre Goynes, the third of four sophomores in the starting lineup, finished with six.

"Give RU a lot of credit because they played us tough," Bartnick said. "I told the kids before the game this is districts, and it's one-and-done out there. It was a fun game to coach."

Cards deck Warriors in regional play

It's surely wasn't the start Lutheran High Westland was looking for.

Surprising many with their district championship won last Friday at Allen Park Inter-City Baptist, the Warriors' girls basketball team was hoping to turn a few more heads with more postseason heroics Tuesday night against Marine City Cardinal Mooney.

Instead, what the Warriors did receive was a harsh dose of reality as the high-flying Cardinals soared to a lopsided 51-20 triumph in Class D regional semifinal action at Auburn Hills Oakland Christian.

Cardinal Mooney, which advanced to Thursday's regional final sporting a 15-8 ledger overall against Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes, held a two-touchdown lead (14-0) lead over the Warriors after one quarter of action.

Backed by more stellar play from the Pheut sisters - Allie and Clara - Cardinal Mooney was able to increase the advantage to 25-6 at the half and coasted home to victory.

Allie Pheut paced the victors with 13 points, while Clara Pheut and Breagh Beaton followed with nine points apiece.

Senior center Emilie Freeman topped the Warriors (6-15) with six points.

Open rehearsal appeals to families

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

Elizabeth and Lisa seem content to perched on the same chair as their mother Kristin Hoy while she rehearsed with the Schoolcraft College Jazz Ensemble.

At six years old, the twins aren't quite ready to sit quietly through a concert, so Family Night, held Monday, March 8, was the perfect way for Kristin and her husband Bob to introduce them to the music. Elizabeth was especially thrilled about "mom letting me come."

"I wanted to share my love of music with my children, for them to meet my friends, to see what mommy does," said Kristin Hoy of Farmington.

"At a concert they have to behave themselves but here they can roam around until 7:30 when I take them home for bedtime," said Bob Hoy.

Lisa and Elizabeth ran around excitedly until jazz band director Riccardo Selva took command of the evening's open rehearsal. Once he started to speak, the girls respected the hush that came over the room. This was the last time the ensemble would practice before performing at the Collage Concert 8 p.m. Saturday, March 13, in the VisTaTech Center on the Livonia campus.

"Tonight we opened regular rehearsal for show and tell," said Selva, director of jazz studies at the college. "We have grandparents and parents who want their children to experience the music. We have lawyers, teachers, manufacturing workers, all affected positively by a music teacher and they're still playing."

MUSIC MINISTRY

Selva started playing saxophone at age 12. He continues to teach and perform after earning his Doctor of Music degree in saxophone performance from Northwestern University in Illinois in 2003. He has years of experience in music ministry and wrote his dissertation on the Saxophone in Sacred Music. Selva taught woodwinds and coordinated the band program at Our Lady of Humility School in Illinois before moving back to Michigan. His goal is to expand the jazz studies program and attract more credit students along with those from continuing education.

On March 24, Selva plays saxophone as part of the faculty spotlighted in the Noon Recital Series in the Presentation Room of the VisTaTech Center. "The jazz ensemble opens up doors. It's a great opportunity," said Selva. "In April we're going to record student arrangements at Studio A in Dearborn and have our Up Jump Spring Concert, and in July play the Michigan Jazz Festival."

BLUES COMPOSITION

Selva composes music as well and encourages students to do the same. Ron Toth, trombone, wrote "Blues for Nate" for his grandson who was born with a heart defect. Surgeons at C.S. Mott's Children's Hospital were able to correct the problem. One part of the piece mimics the heartbeat.

"Blues is because when he was born he turned blue," said Toth. A West Bloomfield resident, Toth's played with the jazz band 10 years. "Rick encouraged my composition. I love music, love jazz. As an amateur musician I enjoy the band because of the selections — Stan Kenton, Count Basie, Thad Jones."

Travis Strickland finds it refreshing not to play trumpet in a symphonic setting. The 19-year-old South Lyon musician is taking jazz ensemble as a credit class. He's played trumpet since he was in fourth grade in Vermont.

"It's fun," said Strickland. "You get to play with certain styles."

SIDE BY SIDE

Collin Richter, 15, was sitting in on the rehearsal at the invitation of Bill Steele, his trumpet teacher and member of the jazz ensemble. Steele sat next to the Canton High School student and whispered instructions about playing the music.

"He was excited about coming," said Richter's father, Steve. "He was in marching band at East Middle School and joined the jazz band at Canton." Tim Kalvaitis especially likes the selections he's able to play on his trumpet. The electrical engineer joined the band last September. He's played trumpet since 1976 when he was in sixth grade in a Pinckney school.

"I moved back from the East Coast after 20 years looking for someplace to play," said Kalvaitis of Livonia. "I like the music, like to play. The concert band or classical is a different style of music. This is Big Band."

ON SAXOPHONE

Nino Biundo, an automotive engineer, was in a downriver community band when he heard the jazz ensemble needed a saxophone. Biundo began playing the instrument when he was in fourth grade in 1988. He travels every Monday night from Taylor just to rehearse with the band.

"Jazz is more free, artistic as far as your interpretation of the music," said Biundo who has two children, ages 4 1/2 and 3. They are still too young to come to Family Night but Biundo believes it's important to expose children to the music.

"It's good to get kids involved at an early age to get hooked," Biundo said.

Before long it was 7:30 p.m. But before the Hoy girls left Selva asked them if they liked mom's solo. He showed them the difference between a baritone sax and the tenor their mother was playing. They giggled when Selva asked the trombone to play a long, gliding note characteristic of the instrument.

"Kristin was excited to have her daughters come," Selva said. "She e-mailed me they were fascinated with watching and listening and seeing the band in action. They were really inspired to play an instrument. Kids don't have the opportunity to sit next to a musician playing professionally, to experience real people playing real instruments and a lot of schools don't even have jazz programs."

The Schoolcraft College Jazz Ensemble performs at the Collage Concert 8 p.m. Saturday, March 13. Selections include Manteca and Birk's Works by Dizzy Gillespie, Tickletoe by Lester Young, and Watermelon Man by Herbie Hancock.

Tickets are $8 adults, $5 students with ID, $3 children under age 12 and senior citizens.

IT'S YOUR BUSINESS Q&A

Petland pairs pets with families

The Petland store in Westland has reached a milestone - its fifth anniversary.

The Petland brand started more than 40 years ago in Chillicothe Ohio with one small pet store and has grown to more than 100 stores in the U.S. It also operates affiliates in other countries around the world, including Canada, Mexico and Japan.

The local Westland store has contributed to the community by providing jobs in tough economic times. It employs 15-20 pet enthusiasts. It also pays more than $115,000 in property taxes to support Westland and its schools.

The store also pays more than $115,000 in property taxes to support the community and schools. The store also raises money for the St. Jude's Children's Hospital each year, support various community events and is a five-year member of the Westland Chamber of Commerce.

In addition to the financial benefits to the community, the store helps find homes for the many small pets, that would have otherwise been turned loose and abandoned, according to store owner Donna Kurdziel.

"There are many good aspects to running a local business, but the best part of the job, besides playing with the pets is sharing my knowledge with customers looking for answers to everyday pet issues like, what do bunnies eat, or how do I get rid of fleas," said Kurdziel. "Often, the big box stores do not have personnel who can answer these questions, and customers don't want to search through all of the disinformation on the internet, wait for the product to show up and then find out that it is the wrong product or doesn't work."

"People are busy and quite often they just want a simple, quick answer like; buy this product, do this and your problem is solved. While we can't test everything in the store, we do welcome feedback and don't recommend items if we know that they don't work," she said.

While she confides that the business isn't "a gold mine" and has its challenges, the best part of the job, she said is "seeing how happy people are when they take home the perfect puppy, kitten or even tropical fish."

"Regardless of what type of pet it is, everyone, even folks who really don't have time in their lives to take on the responsibility for caring for a pet, still love to have a puppy snuggle up to them or to their children," Kurdziel said.

The store encourages people to take their time when selecting a puppy or kitten.

"We want them to be sure that they really want and have the time to care for a pet, and we discourage them from taking pets, if they really aren't committed to the idea that their pet will require attention all the time, even when it's inconvenient," she said.

Kurdziel added that the store invites customers to bring the kids in to play with the pets. It helps the pets be more relaxed around people and makes them better pets when they find a home of their own.

"It also let's the kids become familiar with handling pets, and, yes, each and every puppy, kitten and bird has found a home," she said. "We have never had one that we couldn't place in a home with a customer or an employee."

Compelling reasons to file annual tax returns

A recent press release caught my eye. In big, bold letters it said the IRS has $40 million for Michiganians who have not filed their 2006 tax return.

My first inclination was that some company was providing a service, legitimately or illegitimately, to help people recover money.

Throughout my years in the financial world, I've seen many companies claim they can help people recover money from the government. Although there are legitimate companies that do this, many are trying to scam consumers out of their hard-earned money. However, after reading the entire release I realized it was not issued by a company but the Internal Revenue Service notifying Michigan taxpayers of unclaimed refunds.

According to the IRS, they have more than $40 million owed to over 42,000 Michigan residents who did not file a 2006 U.S. tax return.

There are many reasons why people do not file tax returns including that they may not have had sufficient income to require it. Many people believe if you don't have to file you shouldn't. However, many of those individuals could have had taxes withheld from their wages that they legitimately could receive back from the IRS if they had filed a 2006 tax return. In other words, even though they are not required to file, all they have to do is file their 2006 return to receive money back.

I always encourage people to file their returns even if they end up owing money - if for nothing more than it is the law.

In addition, when people don't file it weighs heavily on them. A huge burden is lifted once they file their returns.

Anyone who has not filed past tax returns - now is the time to do it. In order to be eligible for a refund the return must have been filed within three years of the due date. Therefore, if you did not file the 2006 tax return and you are eligible for a refund, the latest you can file and still receive a refund is April 15, 2010.

When completing the 2006 tax return don't forget the earned income credit for low and moderate income taxpayers. In addition, in 2006 taxpayers were entitled to claim a one-time telephone excise tax refund.

For those who need forms and instructions download them from the IRS Web site at www.irs.gov or call the IRS at (800) taxform.

Unfortunately, 2006 is not the only year in which Michigan taxpayers are owed millions from the IRS. I have no doubt that there are similar numbers for 2007 and 2008.

There is no reason to let the IRS keep your money. It definitely pays to file those returns. Even if you don't get a refund and owe the IRS, I still recommend filing the return. If nothing else, the feeling of relief by being current with the IRS is worth its weight in gold. And don't forget that failing to file a tax return may disqualify you from certain government assistance programs.

Good luck!

Christian singer creates music to glorify God

BY SHARON DARGAY
O&E STAFF WRITER

Jake Doby's country rock band is as much about ministry as it is music.

"We're doing this for God and for glorifying his name. It's about Jesus, not about me being famous or making money," said Doby, 31, a Plymouth resident. "It's about getting the word of God out and telling our stories about how God helped our lives, about the good work done for us by having faith."

Doby, who struggled with alcohol abuse for 10 years, says God helped him kick the drinking habit a year and a half ago. He also credits divine intervention in finding the other Christian musicians who form The Jake Doby Band and in the creation of the group's first CD, Man on a Mission.

"We hammered these songs out in a hurry," said Doby, who founded the band last fall. "It was meant to be — it all came together so fast. I believe God was working the whole time."

Doby, a Canton High School graduate, wrote the song lyrics while in treatment at Grace Centers of Hope in Pontiac, nearly two years ago.

"I wrote the songs and then put them on the shelf," said Doby, who has sung all his life, in choirs and at church.

CHANCE MEETING

A cook by trade, he was applying for a job at a restaurant when he noticed an old friend he had met through Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) eating lunch there. The friend played guitar and wrote music. They talked about Doby's song lyrics and decided to get together. Now a member of the Jake Doby Band, the friend, Joe Walker of Northville, wrote music to Doby's lyrics. "Looking back on it now it was God's plan that I wasn't going to find a job. I believe God was really working to push me to do this," Doby said.

Danny Boyle of Plymouth had battled addictions for 20 years before becoming sober. He joined the group as lead guitarist, followed by Courtney Barrells of Madison Heights on bass and Mike Swiecki of Wyandotte on drums.

"It came together rather quickly. We'd rehearse the songs and they sounded really good."

JIM NAUM

Jake Doby, from cover art on the Jake Doby Band's "Man on a Mission" CD.

Some of the songs focus on recovery from addiction; all of them are about Jesus, Doby said. "They are songs about being saved and reborn."

He'd like to use his experiences with addiction, recovery and faith to help others, particularly high school students who are thinking about drinking.

STRUGGLING WITH ALCOHOL

Doby said he quit going to church as a teen-ager and began drinking before age 21, continuing to party while at Eastern Michigan University, where he was studying journalism. He spent several years after college in and out of AA and jail, for drunk driving offenses. It wasn't until he went to Grace Centers of Hope that he began to put his struggles behind him and started pouring his thoughts into song lyrics.

"I wish everyone could have what I do, because I know there are a lot of people out there struggling like I was," he said. "I'd love to be an example for them. I'm supposed to use my experience and strength and wisdom from what I've done to help others and hopefully, it will."

UPCOMING GIGS

The group will perform at 7 p.m., Saturday, March 6, at Blessed Hope Church, 1706 Fort Street, Lincoln Park. The performance is free and open to the public.

They'll celebrate the release of their new CD with a concert on Sunday, March 14, at Living Word Church, 46500 North Territorial Road, Plymouth; (734) 207-9673. Celebrate St. Paddy's Day with traditional Irish fare

BY SHARON DARGAY
OSE STAFF WRITER

St. Patrick's Day lasts just 24 hours but Sam Khashan, co-owner of Sean O'Callaghan's pub in downtown Plymouth, has been planning for months.

"There's a lot of prep that goes on — the band, the staffing — but it's what we do," says Khashan, who co-owns the business with his brother, Kevin. "We're a true Victorian Irish pub."

"Tomorrow we're having a mural painted on the window. The staff has St. Patrick's Day T-shirts. We're getting geared up."

They have to be ready by 7 a.m., Wednesday, March 17 when the tavern opens, four hours earlier than usual.

"We do it every year and believe it or not people are standing outside the door, ready to go. By 11 a.m. and noon, a line starts to form outdoors."

The que starts even earlier at Claddagh Irish Pub in Livonia. "We will be open at 6 a.m. and will serve beer beginning at 7 a.m.," said George Barker, manager.

Radio station 97.1 The Ticket will kick off activities by broadcasting its morning show on site. A live band, Belfast Gin, from Kalamazoo will perform at 11 a.m.

"They're just wonderful," Barker described the band, adding that other Irish music performers are slated for Friday-Saturday, March 12-13.

Marlarkey's in Westland won't open quite as early as some other establishments, but is expanding its space to accommodate all the entertainment it will offer on St. Patrick's Day.

"Blackjack, a local rock band will be on at 9:30 p.m. We're opening the building next door for that," said Megan Dettore, Marlarkey's manager. "Then on the regular side of the bar, we'll have DJ Larry D. He'll be on at 7:30 p.m."

Afternoon entertainment includes bagpipers, Irish dancers and duelling pianos.

Dettore said the tavern tried opening one year at 7 a.m., but found a 9 a.m. start works best.

"We usually have a line outside the door, but not until around 11 a.m.," she added.

Here's more about the St. Patrick's Day celebration at a sampling of area pubs:

• Sean O'Callaghan's Pub, 821 Penniman, Plymouth, (734) 459-6666: Breakfast will be available in the morning, including Scotch eggs, a variety of breakfast sandwiches and a corned beef dish. A limited menu, featuring Irish dishes, will be available in the afternoon and evening.

The Galway Celts, a band from Ireland, will perform Saturday-Sunday, March 13-14, as well as on St. Patrick's Day. The first 100 customers in the door on March 17 will receive a raffle ticket for the pub's "Pot o' Gold" contest. Five prizes will be given away at 10 a.m. The first is $500.

• The Claddagh Irish Pub, 17800 Haggerty, Livonia; (734) 542-8141: Breakfast will be served until 10 a.m. The tavern's Irish menu will be available after 10 a.m.

• Marlarkey's, 35750 Warren Road, Westland; (734) 421-0746: The pub will serve Irish stew, corned beef and cabbage, corned beef sandwiches and turkey green beer, along with Irish beers.

• John Cowley & Sons Irish Pub & Restaurant, 33338 Grand River Ave., Farmington; (248) 474-5941: The pub will open at 10 a.m. and feature music by Shawn Riley Band from noon-5 p.m. and "Free Beer: from 6 p.m.-midnight. Admittance is restricted to age 21 and above.

The special menu includes Cowley's Potato Soup, potato skins, Irish spring rolls, crispy chicken salad, chicken tenders, The Cowley Burger, chicken sandwich, hot corned beef sandwich, fish and chips and corned beef and cabbage, served from 11 a.m.-10 p.m. or while supplies last.

• Doyle's Irish Tavern, 860 Fralick, Plymouth; (734) 207-9656: The pub will open at 10 a.m., with a menu featuring bangers and mash, corned beef and cabbage and Irish stew. Bagpipers will perform.

• O'Malley's Bar & Grill, 15231 Farmington Road, Livonia; (734) 427-7775: Opens at 9 a.m. and will serve Irish fare, including corned beef and cabbage, shepherd's pie, and Irish stew. Breakfast also will be available. Bagpipers and Irish dancers will perform.

St. Patrick's Day Cooking: Save a Pint for the Kitchen

St. Patrick's Day celebrations are filled with dancing, green decorations, and Irish food and beer. This year, try something new and save a pint for the kitchen.

Traditional St. Paddy's Day favorites, like Irish stout and corned beef and cabbage, can be combined to make a delicious dish even better. Because beer pairs so well with beef, it's only natural to cook with beer.

"Beer adds great flavor to the corned beef brisket, and can be used in other slow-cooked or braised dishes also," says Dave Zino, executive chef for the National Cattlemen's Beef Association.

Braising and stewing are excellent cooking methods when preparing beef such as pot roast, brisket and beef for stew. Typically, you'll want to start by browning the meat in a bit of oil to caramelize and bring out rich beef flavors. However, corned beef brisket does not require browning.

Braising is used with large cuts of beef that are cooked whole, like corned beef brisket. When braising, the meat is simmered slowly in 1/2 to 2 cups of liquid such as beer or water to ensure moist and fork-tender results, for about 3 to 3 1/2 hours, depending on the size of the roast.

Stewing works best with cubes of beef. When stewing, the cubed meat is simmered for about 1 1/2 hours to 2 1/2 hours in enough liquid to cover the meat and other ingredients such as vegetables, resulting in fork-tender meat and a delicious broth.

Chef Dave also notes beer can serve as a substitute in many recipes. "Beer can also be used in place of wine in recipes and is especially good in beef stews and chilis," he says.

CORNEBEEF WITH RED CURRANT-MUSTARD SAUCE

Total recipe time: 6 to 10 hours
Makes 6 to 8 servings

- 1 boneless corned beef brisket with seasoning packet (2 1/2 to 3 pounds)
- 3 ribs celery, cut into 3-inch pieces
- 2 medium onions, cut into quarters
- 2 1/2 cups water, divided
- 1 bottle (12 ounces) beer
- 1 pound green cabbage, cut into thin wedges
- 1 pound red-skinned potatoes, cut into 2-inch pieces
- 6 to 8 baby carrots, trimmed, or 4 medium carrots, cut crosswise into thirds
- 2 tablespoons butter, melted
- Chopped fresh parsley (optional)

- Red Currant-Mustard Sauce
- 1 jar (12 ounces) red currant jelly
- 3 tablespoons country Dijon-style mustard

Celebrate St. Patrick's Day with corned beef.

1. Place celery and onions in 4-1/2- to 5-1/2-quart slow cooker; top with corned beef brisket. Sprinkle contents of seasoning packet over brisket. Add 2 cups water and one bottle of beer. Cover; cook on high 6 to 7 hours, or on low 9 to 10 hours, or until brisket is fork-tender. No stirring is necessary during cooking.
2. Meanwhile, place cabbage, potatoes and carrots in 2-1/2-quart microwave-safe dish; add remaining 1/2 cup water. Cover; microwave on high 15 to 18 minutes or until vegetables are tender, stirring or rearranging once. Drain; remove and discard cores from cabbage wedges. Add butter; season with salt and pepper, as desired. Toss to coat; keep warm.
3. Prepare Red Currant-Mustard Sauce. Place jelly in medium microwave-safe bowl. Cover; microwave on high 1-1/2 to 2 minutes or until melted, stirring once. Whisk in mustard. Cover; microwave on high 30 seconds. Stir; keep warm.
4. Remove brisket and carve diagonally across the grain into thin slices. Serve with vegetables and sauce. Garnish with parsley, if desired.

A Healthy Diet During Pregnancy Can Help Prevent Birth Defects And Clefts. Diet is an important part of pregnancy. According to the U.S. Government, women who plan to have a child should be sure to take sufficient levels of folic acid (400 micrograms per day) during pregnancy to help prevent neural tube defects and reduce the risk for cleft lip and palate. When folic acid is taken one month before conception and throughout the first trimester, it has been proven to reduce the risk for neural tube defects by 50 to 70 per cent.
