AROUND TOWN

Early start

Spring weather came early, bringing with it a chance to clean up the yard.

Normally, curbside compost collection doesn't begin until April 15. However, this year, the curbside pickup started March 15, a month early.

"With the unseasonable weather and no snow, we started the pickup early," Westland Department of Public Services Director Kevin Buford said. "The weather was nice enough that the compost yard in Taylor opened a little early."

The city's trash hauler, Midwest Sanitation, also handles the curbside yard waste collection and agreed to begin picking up a month early.

Leaves, grass clippings and other compost materials can be put at the curb in a 32-gallon trash container marked as compost or in kraft paper bags. Compost collection is done on the regularly schedule trash pickup day.

The city is also encouraging residents to cut brush into three-foot lengths and tie it into bundles for curbside collection.

AFSCME contract aims at avoiding layoffs

BY LEANNE ROGERS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A tentative agreement has been reached between Westland and its largest employee bargaining unit, the only union currently not under contract.

"We're waiting to receive it on paper so we can go on to ratification," said Larry Roman, president of American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Local 1602. "There was movement by both sides and it is beneficial to both sides. We didn't want more layoffs."

Last month, the city had laid off 10 workers from the AFSCME unit, which includes Department of Public Services workers, clerical staff and parks and recreation employees.

Unlike police and fire unions, which had contracts in place through 2012 and have agreed to two-year extensions delaying scheduled raises, the AFSCME local had been without a contract for more than a year. The four-year tentative agreement is retroactive to 2009 and no raises would be received until the last two years — 1 percent in 2011 and 1.5 percent in 2012.

Like police and firefighters, AFSCME employees would have an opportunity to purchase up to five years credited service to allow an early retirement. The employee would pay 5 percent annual salary per year of credited service. The 5 percent per year payment could be made using unused sick/vacation banks that otherwise would have been paid off on retirement.

It's expected that about 15 AFSCME members would take advantage of the early retirement program. If those positions are left unfilled, Mayor William Wild estimated the city would save $1 million annually. The savings from the 10 layoffs is projected to be $750,000 annually.

"We hope those leaving will alleviate further

Village 'gala' has a touch of Hollywood

Louis Kovach didn't expect Marilyn Monroe to fall over when he touched her. But that's what happened when the Westland resident met up with the starlet Thursday afternoon.

"I didn't even touch her," Kovach said as he helped the actress up off the floor.

"You had your arm around her ... a once in a lifetime," responded his wife Dona.

Monroe didn't seem to mind the nose dive, and there was nary a snicker from Clark Gable and Humphrey Bogart who watched the mishap. But that's to be expected when you're a life-sized cardboard cutout.

It was all in good fun at an Oscar-style Hollywood Night at the Village of Westland, where residents dressed to nines to enjoy dinner served by a dapper wait staff and snacked on hors d'oeuvres while listening to music by Ginny Papper.

"We thought it would be nice to have them dress up and have their pictures taken with the movie stars," marketing director Nancy Roberts said. "There will be awards for things like the friendliest and the nicest dressed. We'll have ballroom dancing. It's really a nice thing to do for them."

Papper kept her audience busy singing songs from the 1920s through rock 'n' roll. Laying in front of her piano was her therapy dog Shorty who came appropriately dressed for the event with his black tie.

3 Westland firefighters get top honors

BY LEANNE ROGERS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

About 150 turned out for an awards dinner honoring current and former Westland firefighters.

A 15-year veteran, Kevin Tomaszewski was honored as the department's Firefighter of the Year.

"He's always very motivated and people-friendly. He's all about community service — he's very active in charities and the community," said Capt. Brian Craft, who organized the awards program. "He's also a great firefighter and a very good paramedic."

Soon to be promoted to sergeant, Tomaszewski attended the Schoolcraft College Fire Academy after graduating from Westland John Glenn High School in 1992. He is 35 and married with two children.

"I always wanted to be a firefighter, I wanted to help people. I still want to help people," said Tomaszewski, who is active in fund raising for the Muscular Dystrophy Association and the Westland Firefighters Charity Committee.

The major fund-raiser for the charity committee had been a golf outing which was discontinued about four years ago. Tomaszewski has organized an raffle which raises about $15,000 for the fund, used for charitable donations, such as the recent contribution for the funeral expenses of the two brothers who died in an apartment fire.

"We have really picked up our fund raising and Kevin has been instrumental in that," said Craft.

Also recognized at the awards program were Capt. Eric Smith as Paramedic of the Year. With more than 18 years with the department, Smith was honored for his work keeping the department current on paramedic protocols.

"He's very knowledgeable and teaches other paramedics," said Craft. Married with two children, Smith is also a John Glenn graduate.

Energy grant lets city make needed upgrades

BY LEANNE ROGERS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Efforts to make Westland facilities more energy efficient are moving ahead, beginning with Mike Modano Arena.

The first step was the council awarding a split bid to J.S. Vig, a construction management firm, for up to $23,715, and engineers Orchard, Hiltz and McCliment not to exceed $33,600, for the $731,000 federal grant funded project.

With a $416,000 tab, the ice arena is the biggest part of the project receiving a refrigeration system, dehumidifier and heating and cooling systems.

"We hope to be completed by December. It all depends on the refrigeration equipment for the arena. We want to get those bids out in the next couple of weeks," said Community Development Director Joanne Inglis. "It takes three or four months to build the equipment. The installation takes only a week or two.

"We're working on those bids right now."

The Energy Efficiency and Conservation Block Grant, awarded by the federal Department of Energy, will also provide $153,000 to replace the frequency drivers and air handlers at the Bailey Recreation Center and $75,000 to replace the boiler at the police department.

Much of this heating and cooling equipment is 25 or more years old. The police station boiler, for example, is original to when the building was constructed. The city is projecting a $127,000 savings from an approximately 28 percent reduction in energy costs due to the retrofitting at a time when Westland is cutting spending in the face of declining revenues.

"This is wonderful timing for this grant. Also, it's great timing because the equipment is so old and we don't have to replace it on an emergency basis," said Inglis.

At the Mike Modano Ice Arena alone, the city hopes to save 830,000 kilowatt hours.

"The City of Westland is very thankful and excited to be awarded this grant to promote energy efficiency," said Mayor William Wild. "During these tough economic times there is not money to address these concerns and this money will help the city complete these projects and is consistent with the principles of our Mission Green initiative."

The city's EECBG Strategy Plan includes accomplishment and sustainability measurements, which the city will share with residents. Other activities include working with local vendors to provide energy efficient light bulbs to Westland residents at an affordable price and supporting the efforts of Mission Green to further educate the community about energy saving strategies.

"So many of these songs melded into rock 'n' roll," she said. Singing along was Jim Brosious, who knew words to most of the songs and led Papper to substitute his name in her rendition of Sitting in the Back Seat Kissing and a Hugging with Fred. "My mom used to play in a tavern on Livernois. She'd come home from work at 2 a.m. and I'd get up," he said. "She'd play the piano and I'd sing with her. I've always enjoyed music." Hollywood Night is one of many festive occasions held at the Village of Westland. In addition to the "beautiful Christmas dinner," it has parties for Valentines Day, St. Patrick's Day and the other big holidays. "It's a very festive dinner and some of the residents invited their families to the event," said administrator Erna Laza, who came as CoCo Chanel for Hollywood Night. "They're having such a nice time, a nice dinner and all the festivities." Dona Kovach agrees. She and her husband moved to the village a year ago and don't miss a chance to be a part of the festivities. "I think it's wonderful, it's nice to do all these activities," she said as she stood by Humphrey Bogart for a photograph. "I liked Bogart," she added. "He had a lot of spirit. He seemed more real to me."

Hearing aid, clothing stolen from car CONTRACT

LARCENY FROM A VEHICLE

A Riverview man told police March 22 that someone had stolen two suits, three dress shirts, two pairs of pants and a hearing aid, valued at $350, from his vehicle while it was parked at Rocky's Restaurant, 1622 S. Wayne Road, from 2 a.m. to 8 a.m. He said the vehicle had been locked but the rear window had been left open.

LARCENY

A resident of an apartment in the 37000 block of North Orchard told police March 18 that a man he had met at a bar accompanied him to the apartment. The man stayed about an hour and used the resident's cell phone to call for a ride. After the man had left, the resident said he noticed his laptop computer was missing. The guest, whose last name he didn't know, wasn't seen taking the $500 computer but the resident said no one else had been at the apartment.

• An employee at Heartland Market, 34414 Ford, told police March 17 that while she was working she had placed her cell phone on the counter behind some taller items. The counter is located just inside the entry door where she works. The $300 phone disappeared while she was away from the counter.

The woman said she checked the store security video once she realized her phone was missing. The tape shows a man entering the store, walk directly to the machine that checks lottery tickets and then reach over the machine and other items to take the cell phone. The officer noted the man took time to scroll through numbers on the phone before walking away with it. He was joined by a woman and they later returned to another part of the counter to request change.

VANDALISM

On March 18, a resident in the 33000 block of Avondale told police that someone had scratched the driver's door of her vehicle and part of the lower front grill was missing. The damage to the 2008 Chevy Cobalt was estimated at $500.

VEHICLE STOLEN

A Livonia woman told police that someone had stolen her 1996 Ford Taurus March 17 while she was visiting a friend who lives at an apartment in the 7500 block of Woodview. She said she had the only keys to the vehicle and she owned it outright.

VANDALISM

The manager of ACO Hardware, 31059 Ann Arbor Trail, told police she arrived for work March 21 to find someone had cut the plastic on the store greenhouse. The damage was set at $50 but nothing had been taken. She noted the person would have had to jump the fence to get to the greenhouse.

HIT AND RUN

On March 16, a resident of Pointe West Apartments in the 1900 block of Cottrill told police that someone had hit his parked vehicle, damaging the front bumper/grill. The damage had occurred March 12-13 and the man said he filed the report for insurance purposes.

Also on March 16, a resident of the 32000 block of Anita told police that someone had hit his vehicle, causing damage to the rear bumper.

layoffs," Roman said. Other changes in the tentative agreement include new hires paying 10 percent of PPO2 medical coverage — current employees will switch to a PPO1 plan, which the city projects will save $2,300 per family covered and $1,300 for a single person.

Two other major changes include changing the pension for new hire AFSCME members from a defined benefit plan to a defined contribution plan. That means the city would pay 10 percent of the workers' base pay toward the pension and the worker would contribute 5 percent of base pay.

Even more significantly, the contract would end retiree health care benefits for new hires — something Wild said he will eventually seek from the city's police and firefighters. Currently, city employees get lifetime medical benefits after retirement.

Firefighters and the Westland Lieutenants and Sergeants Association have both ratified their contract extensions, with members of the Police Officer Association of Michigan scheduled to wrap up voting Saturday.

Wild has already met with the supervisors' bargaining unit, which is represented by the UAW and has a contract in effect through June.

"That meeting went very well. I assume we will reach a similar agreement," Wild said. "That would take care of everyone except the (18th District) court. I'm meeting with the judges to give them the information."

Reaching agreements with cost reductions became more pressing as the city deals with a projected $3.5 million deficit for the fiscal year beginning July 1. That deficit was projected at $12 million for the 2011-21 fiscal year.

Under city charter, Wild is required to have a proposed budget to council by April 1.

"I'll present council with a two-year balanced budget," he said.

Council is expected to consider the AFSCME agreement at its April 19 meeting.

We had retired speakers talk about the department," he said. "One would talk about the '50s or the '60s. Like when our firefighters helped out at the 1967 riots in Detroit. It was like an oral history."

When he organized the dinner, Craft said he hoped for 100 people to attend so he was pleased with a turnout that included a large number of retirees.

The dinner was catered by the William D. Ford Career Technical Center's culinary arts program.

"They had a big role in making the night a success and were a tremendous help," said Craft.

Some firefighters mentioned wanting to continue this type of program next year, but they'll have to do it without Craft, who will have joined the list of retirees before then.

Battalion Chief Martin Reddy was named Officer of the Year, an award that notes in particular his work making the department current on technology through computers and online services. Married with two children, Reddy is also a John Glenn graduate, giving their alumni nearly a clean sweep of the top departmental awards.

"It was a coincidence, we have no Wayne (Memorial High School) prejudice," said Craft.

Receiving the Training Award was Capt. Mark Wilhide, who has been a member of the department Urban Search and Rescue team since its inception in 2008. He was recognized as a valuable resource in his role as a team leader and devoted significant time and personal effort in creating an extensive, multi-jurisdictional training event for the USAR team. This training involved extensive coordination and planning which was spearheaded by Wilhide.

A 24-year veteran with the department, Wilhide was cited for raising the level of training of the department USAR members. Wilhide is married with two children including his son, Matt, a Romulus firefighter. He is a 1979 graduate of Huron Valley Lutheran High School.

Among other award recipients was Aris Argy, owner of Northside Hardware in Wayne. "He is always generous with us, more than giving," said Craft.

A number of Life Saving Awards were also presented to firefighters, sergeants and captains. One of the more memorable moments was when the names of former firefighters who had died were read and the bell was rung for each name, Craft said.

"What we wanted was to make it an awards ceremony, but also retiree recognition.

Members of the choir rehearse for the Merriman Road Baptist Church production of "The Risen Christ," which will be presented at 7 p.m. Good Friday, April 2, at the church.

Church provides multi-media Easter program

BY SUE MASON
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Garden City's Merriman Road Baptist Church is known for its Easter dramas that transform the sanctuary into the streets of ancient Jerusalem.

But this year, people who attend the Friday evening performance will be treated with a multi-media production, featuring a 100-voice choir.

"It will still be the same story, the gospel of Matthew, but this will be a straight telling of the story," the Rev. Wayne Parker said. "In the past, it was stories told by different individuals like Paul or Mary, as side story to what was going on."

"The Risen Christ" will be presented at 7 p.m. Friday, April 2, at the church at 2055 Merriman, just south of Ford, in Garden City. John Rowe will be the voice of Jesus, while Alan Hyma will play John, Elaine Weathers will play Mary Magdalene and Russ Weathers will play Peter.

Unlike previous dramas that were written by Parker, this year's production is a purchased piece written by John Cason. It has an easier set design and costuming — no biblical costumes — and short video clips. According to Parker, over-the-top music and the choir singing will depict aspects of the biblical scenes.

The story line will begin with the call of the disciples and because it isn't a dramatic portrayal, it will last just 1 hour, 15 minutes.

"In between the readers, there will be a vocal drama of the gospel story," he added. "We won't try to depict the biblical scenes. The stage will be dressed up a bit, but we're putting a lot of work into the staging."

Church members who come from Garden City, Westland and other neighboring communities have been working on the production since mid-January. The idea for it was based on the thought of "what nice music can we use that we use all year long."

"There will be more music because we don't have a long drama," he said. "It'll be nice music — old hymns that have been redone like Beneath the Cross of Jesus and newer praise music like In Christ Alone. It's nice because we can blend the worship service with the old and the new."

The church always has a strong attendance for the Easter production. Many come year after year and a lot are the extended families of the performers, Parker said, adding that "Easter is family time."

The Easter production is one way to introduce people to the church. Parker normally works the technical end of the production and will see the newcomers come in.

"They look at the ceiling and they look like well, it hasn't fallen in yet," he said.

Seating will be first-come, first-served. The sanctuary can seat up to 650 people comfortably, and there also will be an overflow area with people able to watch it on TV scenes.

For more information about the production, call the church at (734) 421-0472.

Police department gets new K-9 cop

The purchase of a new dog for the Westland Police Department was recently approved by the Westland City Council.

The adult male imported Belgian Malinois, a medium size dog similar in appearance to a German Shepherd, will cost $6,500 and be paid for with drug forfeiture money.

The department currently has two dogs trained to track and alert to narcotics. Officer Grant Allen's dog Drago is expected to retire soon due his age at 8 1/2 years old. Drago will be allowed to live out his retirement with Allen, his partner of eight years, and the rest of the family at their Westland residence.

The new canine, a one-year-old who has not been named yet, will pick up where Drago left off. On March 26, he will begin his training with Allen. As a full service dog, he will be trained in narcotic detection, tracking, evidence searching, area searching and handler protection.

"We are very fortunate to continue providing this service in our community," said Mayor William Wild. "It is fitting that Drago will remain with Officer Allen in retirement, as these two truly became one crime fighting officer for the residents of our All American City for the past eight years."

The new dog is being purchased from Von der haus Gill German Shepherds Inc. of Wapakoneta, Ohio.

Sorority packs its bag for cancer patients

BY SUE MASON
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

It started out as a project to provide chemo care totes for cancer patients at Oakwood Annapolis Hospital, but it ended up also helping American troops stationed overseas and people utilizing the services of First Step.

Members of the Wayne-Westland Community Schools' Beta Sigma Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa, an educational honor sorority, were able to make 150 well-stocked bags for the hospital, thanks to donations from staffers around the district.

"It was such a nice project because people got so excited about it," said Shawn Cornelissen, a kindergarten teacher at Madison Elementary School in Westland. "The little places like Annapolis get missed by things like this. We wanted to help in our community."

Cornelissen credits Annemarie Gantchart, who had lost a husband to brain cancer, with coming up with the idea for the bags. Sorority members have collected books and blankets for the schools in the past, but wanted to do something different this year. They researched the idea of providing a comfort bag for cancer patients going through treatment and came up with a list of items needed.

The sorority began collecting donations in January. Donation boxes were set in staff rooms at the different school buildings and even at Wayne-Westland's Central Office. Two student groups also got involved — the John Glenn High School Interact Club and the Stevenson Middle School National Junior Honor Society.

"The word went out and we collected so much that we had tables full of items," Cornelissen said. "We had tissue, hand sanitizer,

The chemo bag was designed by Tracey Cosgrove and coordinated by Ruth Ann Petres at William D. Ford Career Technical Center.

puzzles, books, water bottles and small blankets that CVS helped get for us. We did 50 bags for the guys and put baseball caps in them."

There also were several bags that were specific for breast cancer patients put together by Madison's Grammy — Linda Jackson.

"We put pink ribbons on them," Cornelissen said. "We heard from a woman who was going through chemo for a third time. She said, 'This is so great, it's such a good thing.'"

Cash donations helped pay for the bags that were gotten through the William D. Ford Career Technical Center, with the help of nurse Ruth Ann Petres. Stevenson Middle School teacher Tracey Cosgrove designed the logo which was printed on it at cost.

The media center at Stevenson was utilized for an assembly line with many of the 40 sorority members pack bags that were delivered Feb. 11 to Annapolis Hospital. The group decided not to put books in the bags, but instead gave them to the hospital to set up a lending library. According to Cornelissen, it took a minivan and several cars to get the bags to the hospital, where a wheelchair was pressed into service to get them inside.

"The nurse was overwhelmed. She called and said they gave out eight bags the first day," Cornelissen said. "Some of the stuff we couldn't use we sent to First Step; the kids at John Glenn were doing chemo bags for children so we sent them stuff. We sent stuff for the troops. This became a multi-layered project."

The sorority provides scholarships in alternating years to graduates at John Glenn and Wayne Memorial. Cornelissen said the group will have to look at the project to see if it will make the chemo bags again next year. Schools and uses the Parisian Community Sales — "our big fund-raiser currently" — to fund it.

"This was nice," she said. "Most of it was donated and we purchased the bags and the water bottles. We went in thinking we'd do 50 bags and buy a lot for them and then this happened."

Academy scholarship

Michigan high school sophomores and juniors are being invited to apply for full scholarships to participate in the Bill of Rights Institute's Constitutional Academy, a six-week summer distance learning program that culminates with a week in Washington, D.C., and earns them three hours of college credit.

The scholarships are being funded by the Rodney Fund in Southfield.

The Constitutional Academy program challenges and enriches students as they read and study works written by and about the leading minds of the American Founding era. Participating students discuss the ideals of the American Founding along with contemporary issues in weekly online reading and discussions with university scholars and other students from across the country.

Five Michigan students will receive full scholarships to participate in the program and travel to the nation's capitol where they will, over the course of one week, work with historical documents at the National Archives and visit landmark sites, including George Washington's Mount Vernon and Thomas Jefferson's Monticello.

Upon successful completion of the program and all course requirements, students will earn three free college credits from Ashland University.

To apply, students must be a junior or senior for the 2010-2011 school year, meet the eligibility requirements listed on the program Web site at www.ConstAcademy.org/ApplyNow, and submit a teacher recommendation. Applications must be received by April 15.

Debbie Wiesner and Lee Derrick show off their life membership awards they received from the Garden City Soccer Club Thursday evening.

GC Soccer Club awards life memberships to two

The Garden City Soccer Club has recognized two members for 10 years of service each to the soccer club and community.

Debbie Wiesner and Lee Derrick received life memberships during a presentation Thursday evening. Life membership is one of the highest membership classifications for the club. According to Club President Carl Sheko, it can be granted to any member who has shown long and commendable service to the club and the game of soccer.

"We are all in their debt," said Sheko in making the presentations.

Wiesner "has gone above and beyond the call of duty numerous times and has set the standard of what this club defines as a volunteer," Sheko said in making the presentation.

"She has been so much more than a parent that has sent a child through the club," he said.

Wiesner has served as vice-president, in-house registrar, travel registrar, referee assigner, assistant to the director of coaching, assistant coach and team manager. Her "ultimate accomplishment" was chairing the first tournament in Garden City Soccer Club history.

"As volunteers, we bring certain characteristics to the organization," Sheko said. "I have to admit her strongest asset for the club has been the ability to solicit other volunteers. At least 10 years ago, she approached me to come to a general membership meeting to fight a wrong that was going on with the club. Needless to say I am still here because of her. If you look around in our club today you will find that quite a few have been touched by her in a positive way."

"She has made Garden City a better place to live and play sports. We are definitely better off for having known her."

Derrick has served The Garden City Soccer Club in many capacities, including interim president, vice-president, treasurer, equipment manager, coach and assistant coach.

"At one time he coached all three of his children on three different teams," Sheko said. "During special events for the club he was present and accounted for. His willingness to walk in the parade, help at the club picnic, or serve as chair during Senior Night at the high school. His energy and enthusiasm is an inspiration to all of us."

Sheko added that he has had the privilege of serving on the executive board with Derrick and they have "seen good times and bad times together."

"When others have cut and run, he has been steadfast to his beliefs, chose to do the right thing by the children of Garden City," Sheko added. "He has been a rock and Garden City is a better place for having known him."

To buy or rent is a question only you can answer

Q: Dear Rick: I am a snowbird and I spend about four to five months a year in Florida. The last five or six years, I've been renting a condominium that costs a little over $2,000 a month. I can buy a condominium in the same complex that I'm renting at and my mortgage payment would be about $1,000 per month. Does it make sense to buy. If you agree, do you recommend a 30-year or 15-year mortgage?

A: In order to make an informed decision, you need to look at the total out-of-pocket cost of renting vs. buying. You know what your rental price is per month. On the other hand, the cost of ownership is a little more complex. If you did purchase the condominium, your mortgage payment — which includes your property taxes — would be about $1,000 a month. However, there are additional costs that you need to consider. For example, there will be monthly condominium association dues. As the owner of the condo, you would be liable for all 12 months of association dues and any special assessments. As an owner, if there are repairs that need to be done inside the condo, it is your responsibility. Therefore, if you are thinking about buying, you need to estimate what your total out-of-pocket cost of owning would be.

Money Matters

Don't forget to take into consideration that there will be certain tax breaks for you. Not only will you be able to deduct your property taxes, but also the interest on your mortgage.

I also recommend that if someone is considering whether they should buy or rent, he/she should factor in some non-financial issues — for example, quality of life. Would owning a condo in Florida increase the quality of your life? If not, the decision is purely financial. On the other hand, if it would increase the quality of your life, then that is something only you can quantify.

One thing everyone should recognize is that buying real estate is not a short-term investment. Real estate is illiquid and, thus, you have to think long term. In addition, there are many people who are speculating on real estate assuming that, just like the stock market, the real estate market will have a significant turnaround. As far as I am concerned, I do not see a significant improvement in the real estate market anytime soon.

With regards to the type of mortgage, 15 or 30 years, all things being equal, I lean toward a 30-year mortgage. My reasoning is mortgage rates are still near record lows and I would take advantage of these low interest rates for as long as you can. In addition, when you have a 30-year mortgage you can always turn it into a 15-year mortgage by making extra mortgage payments. If you have a 15-year mortgage, the only way you can turn it into a 30-year mortgage is to refinance.

One further note regarding mortgages: Always remember the key is not what is the best mortgage for everyone but, rather, what is the best mortgage for your situation.

In making that decision, one of the key questions you need to ask yourself is how long do you plan to be in your home? If you plan to be in your home for only a few years, sometimes an adjustable-rate mortgage would make sense. On the other hand, if you plan to be in your home long term, fixed-rate mortgages are where you need to be. Good luck!

Let's talk: Trouble with property taxes? County wants to help

As part of our expanded effort to educate and reach out to Wayne County residents about property tax issues during these extraordinarily tough economic times, I am asking taxpayers who are experiencing difficulty trying to pay their delinquent property taxes for 2007 and earlier years to make every effort to contact our office. It is not too late but time is running out. The deadline to make payments or payment arrangements on your 2007 delinquent property taxes is March 31. Give us a chance to help you keep your property.

Ask the Treasurer Raymond Wojtowicz

The theme of this year's outreach campaign is "Let's Talk," which simply means we don't want delinquent taxpayers to panic, or to stick their heads in the sand and hope this all goes away. The best way to prevent losing property to tax foreclosure is to come in and see us. Maybe there's something we can do. We can't guarantee that everyone who comes to see us will be able to save their property, however, we will do all that we can to advise you of your options.

In November 2007, the first year the state-mandated listing of delinquent parcels was placed in three consecutive Sunday editions of the Detroit News and Free Press, the total number of delinquent parcels listed was 18,110. Several news reports expressed shock and dismay that the problem was so serious. One year later, in November 2008, the total number of delinquent Wayne County parcels listed came to 21,269 — an increase of 17.18 percent. In last year's Sunday supplement listing, there were more than 23,000 delinquent properties listed.

As a means of meeting this challenge I have launched a massive educational/informational campaign designed to alert delinquent taxpayers to the options we have available to help them resolve their property tax issues.

Those with delinquent 2007 taxes can apply for a substantial hardship extension, which would grant them up to an additional year to pay off those taxes.

The other option is to sign a payment agreement which requires the taxpayer to pay 20 percent of the delinquency by the end of March, another 20 percent by the end of May, another 20 percent by the end of August, and the remaining balance by the end of 2010.

More information about these two programs can be found on our website at www.treasurer.waynecounty.com, or by calling our Taxpayer Assistance Department at (313) 224-6105.

It's never too late to help us help you. So before you decide to throw up your hands in despair, first take a deep breath. Now let's talk.

By Raymond J. Wojtowicz Wayne County Treasurer.

Bread-making on the rise at Aunt Millie's bakery

BY MATT JACHMAN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

If you buy store-labeled bread at Meijer or Spartan supermarkets, burgers at Burger King or sandwiches at Arby's, or favor the Sunbeam, Aunt Millie's or Hillbilly brands, chances are that a factory in Plymouth Township played a big role in making your food.

Aunt Millie's Bakeries, a family-owned company based in Fort Wayne, Ind., has a plant in the township that can turn out 230,000 loaves of bread and 700,000 dozen hamburger and hot dog buns each week. It opened in 2005 as a hamburger and hot dog bun bakery, and this January started a bread line as well, bringing in 36 new workers.

Aunt Millie's is scheduled to add a second shift to its bread production in mid-May, meaning 36 new jobs and a doubling of its output, said Tony Daló, vice president for baking technology and quality assurance.

"It's been great for the community around here," said Daló on Thursday as he began a tour of the plant with Michigan Department of Agriculture officials. "We've brought a lot of people in."

The high-ceilinged plant is a buzzing forest of automated dough troughs, conveyers, ovens, loaf-slicers and packaging machines. From the bins that each hold 1,200 pounds of dough is it rises for four hours — and gets machine-kneaded three times during those hours — to the machines that slice and package the finished product — and even send wheeled carts laden with full bread crates toward the loading dock — the bread is largely untouched by human hands.

MONITOR MACHINES

There's a machine for everything — not just kneading, baking and packaging but also shaping the loaves and buns, adding toppings, and delicately slicing the loafs, before they're baked, for the split-top variety. For the most part, workers are monitoring machines; those working closet to the food are identified by their white uniforms, which are sent out for special cleaning.

More hot dog buns than you can imagine pass over head at the Aunt Millie's bakery.

From raw flour to finished 24-ounce loaf, it's a seven-hour process, Daló said. That includes the four hours for the dough to rise, 56 minutes for the loaves to rise individually, and an hour for the baked loaves to cool before packaging.

"It's quite a feat that they have bread that fresh going on the shelves," said Don Koivisto, the MDA director.

That was part of the plan, says Daló. Before the expansion, Aunt Millie's bread was coming in from a bakery in Jackson. Now, he said, the bread is fresher and customers in the Detroit area are noticing a difference.

Aunt Millie's, which has four other bakeries in Michigan (in addition to Jackson, there's one in Kalamazoo and two in Coldwater), makes 15 varieties of buns and 13 varieties of breads in Plymouth Township, Daló said. The company added 60,000 square feet for bread production and is negotiating for the purchase of a neighboring building, where officials plan to move shipping operations.

Plant manager Larry Christie, of West Bloomfield, has 33 years in the baking business, including 18 years at the now-closed Taystee factory in Detroit and 10 years at Awrey Bakeries in Livonia. He's a graduate of the American Institute of Baking in Manhattan, Kan., where Taystee sent him for training years ago.

Christie said he finds the work satisfying.

"I just want to make the best possible, the safest, product I can," he said.

Daló, who is from the Philadelphia area, said he grew up in a bakery family in which hard-crust Italian breads were the norm.

"Here, you can't make it soft enough," he said. Daló began working for Aunt Millie's when the company opened a plant in Coldwater, where he now lives.

A BRIGHT SPOT

Koivisto, the MDA director, said the agricultural and food-processing sector is a bright spot in Michigan's economy. Farming, food-processing and related businesses employ more than a million people in the state, and there are some 500 major processors, plus another 300 smaller ones, so-called mom-and-pop operations, in Michigan, he said.

"We have all kinds of these (expansions) that are going in," Koivisto said.

Aunt Millie's, Daló said, uses Michigan-grown products, like sugar, as much as possible.

C.B. Jones, the director of production at three Aunt Millie's plants, including the local plant, said he likes the variety the work offers.

"It's a little different each day," said Jones, of Sidney, Ohio, where Aunt Millie's also has a plant. "It's not like standing at a machine all day putting a bolt on something."

Jones got his first bakery job, at a Wonder Bread plant in Knoxville, Tenn., through a brother-in-law.

"I guess it kind of just got in my blood that way," he said.

Family owned bakery has century-old tradition

BY MATT JACHMAN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Despite being family owned for more than 100 years, with deep Midwestern roots, company officials say there was not really an Aunt Millie behind Aunt Millie's Bakeries.

Nevertheless, the Fort Wayne, Ind., company has built a proud history and an impressive set of baking statistics since its founding, as the Wayne Biscuit Co., by John B. Franke in 1901.

Aunt Millie's (the official corporate name is Perfection Bakeries Inc.) employs about 1,600 people in five states, including 168 people in Plymouth Township, where it opened a bakery on Port Street in 2005. Company president John F. Popp is a grandson of the founder.

There are five bakeries in Michigan — two in Coldwater, one in Jackson and one in Kalamazoo in addition to the local plant — plus the Fort Wayne bakery and another in Sidney, Ohio. The plant in Plymouth Township bakes 13 varieties of bread and 15 varieties of hamburger and hot dog buns for the Detroit-area market; lower-demand items, such as croutons and English muffins, come from Coldwater.

Meijer Inc. is the company's biggest customer, but Aunt Millie's also supplies Wal-Mart and Spartan stores, plus Burger King, Arby's and Red Robin restaurants. Products are made in the Aunt Millie's, Hillbilly and Sunbeam brands, in addition to the store brands.

In the Plymouth Township bakery:

- Production capacity is 9,000 loaves of bread and 48,000 buns per hour. A second bread production shift will double that output beginning in mid-May; company vice president Tony Daló said the goal is to eventually turn out between 900,000 and 1 million loaves a week.

- The plant has seven flour silos, each with a capacity of 135,000 pounds of flour.

- A half-million pounds of white flour are used each week, plus 25,000 pounds of whole wheat flour, 50,000 pounds of yeast, 65,000 pounds of corn syrup and 10,000 pounds of salt.

- The stacked cooling racks, on which the baked loaves cool for an hour before they're packaged, would extend for three miles if taken down and stretched end-to-end.

Senate GOP torpedoed foreclosure amendment

Michigan Senate Democrats are continuing to try and combat the negative impact of home foreclosure on Michigan families with an effort to lower property taxes for homeowners in communities hit hard by it.

However, an amendment to Senate Bill 395 that would have required tax collectors to consider foreclosed homes in a neighborhood when determining property values and taxes was defeated by the Republican majority on a party line vote.

"As homeowners struggle to stay afloat in communities being racked by foreclosure, we should be helping them in any way we can, including lowering their property taxes," said Senate Democratic Floor Leader Buzz Thomas, D-Detroit. "These people are sticking it out as homes are boarded up around them, and we want to help them stay in their homes and rebuild their neighborhoods."

Michigan has had one of the highest foreclosure rates in the nation over the last three years. As the foreclosure crisis continues to hit Michigan hard, Senate Democrats have been fighting to pass legislation to help keep people in their homes. They have proposed a moratorium on all home foreclosures, and helped pass a new state law that went into effect in July that freezes foreclosure proceedings for 90 days.

"People should not be taxed the same for a house in an area struggling with foreclosure as they would for one in a more vibrant and affluent area," said Sen. Tupac A. Hunter, D-Detroit. "This proposal would aid the people who are fighting to help their communities rebound, and we should be offering them legitimate relief on their taxes accordingly."

"I have been working to help families protect their homes, and offering property tax relief to those who are in communities struggling with foreclosure is another way to do that," said Sen. Glenn Anderson, D-Westland. "We should be taking foreclosed properties into consideration when assessing the value of neighboring property."

Combs makes Blazers title contender again

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

If pitching is the name of the game in softball, then Livonia Ladywood is set for another three years.

Last year's Division 2 state runner-up has one of the best in Briana Combs, who is coming off a sparkling 2009 freshman season where she finished with a 36-4 record to go along with an astounding 0.37 earned-run average.

The slightly-built Combs also fanned 305 batters in 285 innings of work en route to first-team All-State honors.

Those strikeouts numbers could actually increase in 2010 as the Blazers will try to duplicate, if not surpass, last year's 38-7 season.

"Briana is 10 pounds heavier, she's stronger because she's put in the time," Ladywood third-year coach Scott Combs said. "As time goes by, she'll become bigger and stronger as she gets older."

Two big question marks will have to be answered when the Blazers travel Thursday, April 15, to take on Catholic League

Central Division foe Dearborn Divine Child in their season opener.

Sophomore Allyssa Kashat assumes the role as Briana Combs' battery mate, replacing the graduated Jordan Searcy.

"Allyssa got her feet wet in a few games last year," Scott Combs said. "She's a very hard worker. She does gymnastics and she'll be pretty solid for us back there."

Cara Miller, the Blazers' first-team All-Area outfielder as a freshman and third hitter in the lineup, transferred to Divine Child. That means sophomore Carli SanMillan will now patrol center field.

The Blazers' infield should also be formidable with Rochester transfer Jenny Rohn going to short and Gina Sykes moving over to third.

Alysa Gietl returns to first and Jennifer Kelley returns at second.

"Rohn is a very good hitter and Gina goes back to her natural position at third," Combs said.

In the KLA's Kensington Conference, defending champ Livonia Franklin (32-6) lost its dynamic All-State duo of Brittany and Brianna Taylor, along with second-team All-Area pitcher Natalie Sanborn (now at Madonna University).

Junior Chelsea Williams moves from second to shortstop, while senior Nicole Emery stays at third for the defending South Division, conference and Division 1 district champions.

Tiffany Lamble, a sophomore, takes over the mound duties for the Patriots.

Livonia Churchill (15-16) could make a big leap this spring as second-year coach Lou Kuratko loses only one starter to graduation.

"On paper we should have a stronger team, but we play a strong schedule and all of those teams have skilled players and are improving as well," Kurtako said.

Livonia Ladywood sophomore Briana Combs went 36-4 last year with an 0.37 ERA for the Division 2 state runners-up.

SIDELINES

Stansik All-America

Adrian College defenseman Chris Stansik (Livonia) was recently selected to the NJCAA Division II Second-Team All-America team by the American Hockey Coaches Association.

Stansik recorded eight goals and 30 assists this season as the Bulldogs finished 24-4 overall and reached the NCAA Division III Tournament before losing in the first round March 10 to St. Norbert (Wis.), 4-3.

Stansik led the Midwest Collegiate Hockey Association in scoring by a defenseman and was sixth overall.

The All-MCHA pick ranked among the top players in Division III hockey in assists per game and his 38 points led the nation for a defenseman.

He reached a milestone this season, becoming the all-time MCHA career leader in points by a defenseman.

Baker honorees

Andrew Carlson (Livonia Churchill), Jacob Wirgau (Livonia Franklin) and Danny Sager (Livonia Stevenson) were among the boys recipients for the 2010 Hobey Baker High School Character Award in recognition of exemplary character, sportsmanship and inspiration.

Livonia Ladywood's Veronica Fradette was also recognized as one of the girls recipients.

MU harrier honored

The Michigan Campus Compact (MCC) announced its annual Outstanding Service Awards on Thursday (March 25) and Madonna University sophomore cross country runner Cassie Yarnall (Clarkston/Auburn Hills Christian) was among the honorees.

Yarnall was selected for the Heart and Soul award, which recognizes undergraduate and graduate students for their time, effort and personal commitment to their community through service on a MCC member school campus.

Yarnall recently helped organized a campus-wide dodgeball tournament and has taken an active role in the intramural program at MU in addition to being one of the cross country team's top runners last fall.

Michigan Campus Compact is a coalition of college and university presidents who are committed to fulfilling the public purposes of higher education. MCC has 42 member campuses and Michigan members are part of national Campus Compact, a coalition of nearly 1,100 college and university presidents, representing some 6 million students.

Free golf clinic

A free golf clinic will be offered 1-2 p.m. Saturday, April 3, at Canton's Hickory Creek Golf Course, located on 3625 Napier Road (just north of Ford Road and west of Canton Center Road).

The clinic, which will also raise funds for the Susan K. Komen 3-Day for the Cure Walk to fight breast cancer, is open to all ages and skill levels.

To reserve a spot in the clinic, e-mail TrainWithTami@yahoo.com. (Reservations must be made by April 2.)

For more information, call (734) 731-0238.

All-Area matman

The photo of Curtis Castleberry, senior captain for the Livonia Churchill wrestling team, was inadvertently omitted from the Thursday, March 25 edition of the Observer. The first-team All-Area selection went 51-8 this season and was a state qualifier for the Chargers after earning runner-up finishes at both the district and the regional tournaments. Castleberry also placed runner-up at the Observerland Invitational and KLA's Tournament. He was the Livonia City Meet champion.

"He just one of those kids, from his freshman year until now, that wrestled two weight classes above the weight classes where he should have been and never complained about it," Churchill coach Marty Altounian said. "Because we were so young, he did what was needed for the team."

Livonia tumbler second in Pan Ams

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Cassandra Skinner thought she performed well enough to earn a gold medal in Friday's 2010 Trampoline & Tumbling Pan American Championships held at the Ocean Convention Center in Daytona Beach, Fla.

The freshman from Livonia Stevenson High School found herself deadlocked with two other Level 10 competitors in the Girls 13-14 finals — all achieving identical scores of 30.20.

But it came down to an eye test among the judges to break the tie and the gold was awarded to Tamara O'Brien of Team British Columbia, with Skinner earning the silver and Hannah Nowak of Indiana Tumbling Express settling for the bronze.

The Girls 13-14 Level 10 division featured 11 tumblers, including some from Mexico, Brazil, Argentina and Canada.

"It was a little bit disappointing, but I knew I did my best and it was good," said Skinner, who led after the first two preliminary rounds on scores of 30.0 and 29.0 for a total of 59.0.

Alicia Russell of Gymnastics Ontario was second in the prelims with a 58.60, while Nowak was situated in third place with a 58.10 followed by the eventual winner O'Brien in fourth with a 57.90.

All the preliminary scores were then thrown out and the three medalists earned the same marks of 30.20.

"My coach (Peter Roberts) said he was proud of me and he knew I should have won," said Skinner, who competes for AGT Flip City in Warren. "He was a little disappointed, but said it was not my fault."

Skinner's next competition will be June 26-27 at the U.S. Elite Challenge in Virginia Beach, Va. The Junior Olympic National Championships follow June 27-July 2 also in Virginia Beach.

Lutheran Westland wins in rout, 20-0

It wasn't much of a warmup to the 2010 baseball season for Lutheran High Westland on Friday as the host Warriors rolled over Pontiac Academy of Excellence, 20-0, in a three-inning mercy.

"It was a great opportunity to be able to play on the 26th of March," Lutheran Westland coach Kevin Wade said. "Even though it was a little cool today, it wasn't too bad once we got going and into it."

Senior Austin Baglow pitched two scoreless innings. He struck out five of six batters and did not allow a hit. Junior Thomas Hanschumaker wrapped it up by fanning three straight batters in the top of the third.

Offensively, Baglow went 3-for-3, including a pair of doubles, two RBI and three runs scored.

Senior Gage Flanery also went 3-for-3 with a double, triple, three RBI, three runs and two stolen bases.

Junior Marc Rosin also got into the act, going 3-for-3 with three RBI and three runs scored, while junior Jake Andrezejewski went 3-for-3 with an RBI and two runs scored.

Other contributions came from junior Kent Krzyske (2-for-2, four RBI); sophomore Taurrek Fikes (2-for-2, RBI, two runs); and senior Tony Cipolla (1-for-2, three walks).

"We did our best to work on things and get everybody who could play into the game," Wade said. "That's all we can ask for at this early stage of the season. We have some things to work on. But that is why you play the game, to get better and improve everyday."

Skating's A-Team

Blazers get late goal for season opening victory, 2-1

Livonia Ladywood got a sterling performance from goalkeeper Maddie Reed on Friday night in a 2-1 girls soccer victory over host Macomb Township L'Anse Creuse North.

Reed, a junior, made nine saves in the season opener for both teams.

"She was fantastic along with our back four defenders," Ladywood coach Ken Shingledecker said. "It was a big win against a good team with two Division 1 players. We're excited about the win."

"She (Capoccia) took a through ball from Becky and timed it right," Shingledecker said.

It was 1-1 at intermission.

Catherine Garber opened the scoring for Ladywood at the 20-minute mark off an assist from Paige Brennan.

Angela Vulcaggio, an Eastern Michigan University signee, countered for the Crusaders at the 30-minute mark to knot the count.

L'Anse Creuse North goalkeeper Kaila Kujawa also stood out with nine saves.

"Both keepers were pretty good," Shingledecker said.

STEVENSON 1, ROCHESTER 1: Nothing gained, nothing lost in Chris Grodzicki's debut Thursday night as coach.

The former Spartan player and Schoolcraft College assistant coach watched from the sidelines as his host Livonia Stevenson (0-0-1) and the Falcons (0-1-1) battled to a draw in a non-association encounter.

Dayna Stevens scored off an assist from Molly McConnell to give Stevenson a 1-0 halftime lead, but the Falcons countered three minutes into the second half on Maddie Chillote's goal.

GIRLS SOFTBALL CAPSULE OUTLOOK

LIVONIA CHURCHILL

Head coach: Lou Kuratko, second year.
League affiliation: KLAAs Kensington Conference (South Division).
Last year's overall record: 15-16.
Notable losses to graduation: Katie Stodulski.
Leading returnees: Taylor Kerr, Sr. OF (All-KLAA); Katina St. Pierre, Sr. Inf. (All-KLAA); Natalie Hiser, Jr. P; Abby Jewell, Jr. P; Missy Sidor, Soph. P; Rachel Jason, Soph. Inf.
Promising newcomers: Casey Bias, Fr. C; Nicole Salloum, Fr. Inf.
Kuratko's 2010 outlook: "We're hopeful that the experience that our younger players received last year will bring us dividends. Only one starter from last year will have to be replaced due to graduation, and we have welcome additions from our JV team as well as the two freshmen. Tryouts were competitive and we had a record number of girls coming out, and we have now settled into a good practice routine. The weather has cooperated and with our first game not scheduled until after the break. We have the advantage of working to improve fundamental skills."

LIVONIA FRANKLIN

Head coach: Linda Jimenez, 15th year.
League affiliation: KLAAs Kensington Conference (South Division).
Last year's overall record: 32-6.
Titles won last year: Division 1 District, Kensington Conference, South Division, Public Schools of Livonia Invitational and Farmington Invitational champions.
Notable losses to graduation: Brittany Taylor (first-team All-Area); Brianna Taylor (first-team All-Area); Natalie Sanborn (second-team All-Area).
Promising newcomers: Maggie Leins, Fr. Inf.; Mackenzie Lukas, Fr. OF; Afton DeWyse, Fr. OF; Katelynn Devers, Fr. Inf.
Jimenez's 2010 outlook: "With 13 returning players, but only five starters, we are working hard to find the right combination. We are fortunate to have a very good freshmen class since we were hit hard by graduation. Our pitchers and catchers have worked hard in the offseason. Both pitchers are sophomores so we do not have much experience on the mound. Nicole Emery remains at third base while Chelsea Williams moves from second base to assume the shortstop responsibilities. Jessica Emery, who will play center, will be the leader in the outfield."

LIVONIA STEVENSON

Head coach: Rob Witherspoon, eighth year.
League affiliation: KLAAs Kensington Conference (Central Division).
Last year's overall record: 15-16.
Titles won last year: Gibraltar Carlson Komen Breast Cancer Awareness Tournament champion.
Notable losses to graduation: Laura Deacon (second-team All-Area); Kathleen Hoehn, Amanda Paison, Kristina Vaclavek.
Promising newcomers: Ashley Avery, Soph. SS; Sarah Fier, Fr. 3B; Allie Koestering, Fr. C-Utility; Becca Koestering, Fr. OF-Utility; Morgan Copperstone, Fr. 1B-P; Mackenzie Shea, Fr. OF-Utility.
Witherspoon's 2010 outlook: "Our team has a well balanced mix between veteran players and younger players. The returning players should provide the stability offensively, as well as defensively, while the younger players gain valuable experience. We are replacing a group of very experienced group of infielders, including our starting pitcher Laura Deacon, from last season with a group of talented and athletic players that are only missing the experience at the varsity level. Shelby Wilson, as one of our only seniors on the infield, will be a workhorse behind the plate as she directs the younger players in the infield. The key to this season, defensively, is to be patient, make routine plays, and not let one mistake lead to multiple errors."

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN

Head coach: Kristin Potoniec, first year.
League affiliation: KLAAs Kensington Conference (South Division).
Last year's overall record: 0-29.
Notable losses to graduation: Stacey Truskowski, Amanda Murakami.
Leading returnees: Samantha Fox, Soph. C; Brooklyn Holbrook, Soph. OF; Brandi Holbrook, Jr. P-OF; Allie Murphy, Jr. 1B; Katie Down, Sr. 2B; Amanda Caudill, Sr. 1B; Megan McGrew, Sr. Utility.
Promising newcomers: Rachel Romanek, Jr. CF; Nicole Quaine, Soph. SS; Claire Truskowski, Fr. P.
Potoniec's 2010 outlook: "As far as our starting pitcher, right now it's between Claire (Truskowski) and Brandi (Holbrook). We prefer Brandi in the outfield. Claire has the talent, we just have to make sure the nerves are there. After coaching most of these girls on JV for the last few years, we are eager to utilize the Rocket talent at the varsity level. The KLAAs can expect our girls to bring the competition necessary to making high school softball so exciting. We've had winning seasons on the JV, so I feel we should be able to do the same things this year."

WAYNE MEMORIAL

Head coach: Crystal Little, second year.
League affiliation: KLAAs Kensington Conference (South Division).
Last year's overall record: 8-29.
Notable losses to graduation: Kathy Harris, Megan Callahan, Ashley Ringel, Ashley Odom, Bianca Hayes, Taylor Krohn, Jessie Harris.
Leading returnees: Halee Lankton, Sr. SS; Jordan Berry, Sr. 2B-CF.
Promising newcomers: Shelby Hooper, Soph. OF; Alyssa Florn, Soph. OF; Nicole Odom, Soph. P; Kayley Porta, Soph. 3B; Edina Whittenberg, Sr. Inf.
Little's 2010 outlook: "We had nine seniors we lost from last year, so we're a young team rebuilding for the future. Hopefully some of the younger girls will step up and become leaders. Nicole (Odom) has been pitching for awhile, so our pitching should be pretty good. Offensively it will be an adjustment for a lot of the players coming from JV. That will be our biggest challenge because defensively we should be O.K."

LIVONIA LADYWOOD

Head coach: Scott Combs, third year.
League affiliation: Catholic League (Central Division).
Last year's overall record: 38-7.
Notable losses to graduation: Jordan Searcy, Courtney LaValley, Sarah Stempin.
Titles won last year: Division 2 state runner-up, regional and district champions, Central Division, Michigan Stars and Pinckney Tournament champions.
Notable losses to graduation: Jordan Searcy (second-team All-Area), Courtney LaValley, Sarah Stempin.
Leading returnees: Briana Combs, Soph. P (first-team All-Area; 36-4, 0.37 ERA; 308 Ks); Alysa Gietl, Sr. 1B (captain); Gina Sykes, Sr. SS (captain); Jennifer Kelley, Sr. 2B (captain); Julie Bushart, Sr. OF (captain); Carli SanMillan, Soph. CF; Alyssa Kashat, Soph. C.
Promising newcomers: Jenny Rohn, Jr. SS (transfer from Rochester); Andria Gietl, Fr. Inf.; Celeste Fidge, Fr. C.
Combs' 2010 outlook: "We have good players coming back - 12 letter winners returning. We have a pretty decent pitcher coming back. We won't sneak up on anyone and we don't talk about last year. If we avoid any drama, we could have another good year."

LIVONIA CLARENCEVILLE

Head coach: Joe DeCaire, ninth year.
League affiliation: Metro Conference.
Last year's overall record: 10-17.
Notable losses to graduation: Charmaine McQueen (first-team All-Metro); Lisa Wilson (second-team All-Metro); Brittany Brooks (second-team All-Metro); Miranda Cummings.
Leading returnees: Val Sochacki, Sr. P (first-team All-Metro); Stephanie Bishop, Jr. C; Kellie Ankiel, Jr. SS; Megan McLaughlin, Sr. CF; Joanna Burling, Jr. Inf.-OF; Angela McAlpine, Soph. Inf.; Chelsea Gehan, Sr. P-OF; Reba Bibik, Soph. OF; Rochelle Haddad, Sr. Inf.; Izzy Sidon, Jr. OF; Brittany Tallman (injured).
Promising newcomers: Jodi Ankiel, Fr. Inf.; Lauren Katz, Soph. Inf.; Rachel Grefke, Soph. OF; Courtney Brooks, Soph. Inf.; Nicole Grates, Fr. OF; Justine Bateman, Fr. OF; Jackie Bateman, Fr. OF; Kiana Smith, Jr. OF.
DeCaire's 2010 outlook: "We should go 10-to-12 players deep. Although three out of the four starting infielders have been lost to graduation along with a fourth in a season-ending knee injury, the starting lineup should be fairly competitive along with its reserves. The remainder of the team will contain newcomers with little experience, but demonstrate an eagerness to compete and learn the game and possess the athleticism needed to play. The coaching staff expects its experienced players to be ready to play and continue to lead on-and-off the field. We expect good things from Sochacki, McLaughlin, Ankiel, McAlpine, Bishop, Bibik, Burling, Gehan, Haddad, and Sidon. These players have three-to-four years experience within the program and understand the commitment needed to be competitive. The entire roster demonstrated their commitment to the program throughout the off season conditioning program and workouts."

LUTHERAN HIGH WESTLAND

Head coach: Paul Guse, seventh year.
League affiliation: Michigan Independent Athletic Conference (Red Division).
Last year's overall record: 12-13.
Titles won last year: Division 4 district champs.
Notable losses to graduation: Emily Whitaker, Cathy Haller, Carla Krzyske.
Promising newcomers: Shannon Abbott, Fr. 2B; Shelby Abbott, Fr. Utility; Chandler Davenport, Fr. RF; Aldrena Fikes, Fr. 3B; Samantha Roberts, Fr. 1B-P.
Guse's 2010 outlook: "We have four seniors, while the other nine kids are freshmen or sophomores, so we're young. We're strong up middle. Wilson strongest two-way player we've had up middle. Hahn moves from third to short and she's great with the glove. Conley plays second. We think that's going to be our strength. Taylor Baptist Park team to beat. They're pretty good, but it looks like it should be competitive."

WESTLAND HURON VALLEY LUTHERAN

Head coach: Eric Ruth, 13th year.
League affiliation: Michigan Independent Athletic Conference (Red Division).
Last year's overall record: 5-12.
Notable losses to graduation: Kayla Stockdale, Samantha Barber, Abby Hoff, Lindsay Buschong, Katie Markham, Crystina Gutierrez.
Leading returnees: Kelly Kubinski, Sr. SS; Claire Wood, Sr. 3B; Megan Kubinski, Soph. 1B.
Promising newcomers: Lauren Jones, Fr. P; Amy Cornwell, Fr. OF.
Ruth's 2010 outlook: "We return some key positions in the infield and look to them for leadership. Pitching is a question mark. The potential is there, we just need to get quality innings. We look to be able to compete in the MIAC."

two All-KLAA picks, senior outfielder Taylor Kerr and senior infielder Katina St. Pierre. Junior pitchers Natalie Hiser and Abby Jewell both return as well.

Livonia Stevenson (15-16) will be one of the youngest teams in the area.

The Spartans, members of the KLAAs Central Division, lost second-team All-Area pitcher Laura Deacon, but senior Emily Hollandsworth returns on the mound along with sophomore Jacqueline Johnson.

"Emily throws the ball hard, but has been hurt and hasn't been as accurate lately," Stevenson coach Rob Witherspoon said. "But we're a better team when she's on the mound and we're able to move Jacqueline to first base. We will depend on them to keep the ball down and give our infielders a chance to make plays."

"Though the younger players will experience some growing pains along the way, I am fully confident that our team has the ability to overcome those challenges as a cohesive unit. The main question that has to be answered this year is our ability to be disciplined and make routine defensive plays."

Both Wayne Memorial (8-29) and Westland John Glenn (0-29) have nowhere to go but up in the KLAAs South Division.

Wayne second-year coach Crystal Little lost nine seniors and returns only two with significant varsity playing experience — senior shortstop Halee Lankton and senior second baseman-center fielder Jordan Berry.

Meanwhile, the Rockets have a new coach in Kristin Potoniec, who will soon be going on maternity leave. She will be replaced during the interim by assistant Elisabeth Tyzo.

Next-door neighbors Lutheran High Westland (12-13) and Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (5-12) will both be members Michigan Independent Athletic Conference's Red Division.

Lutheran Westland, formerly of the Metro Conference, will be part of the MIAC Red along with Huron Valley, Taylor Baptist Park, Novi Franklin Road Christian, Plymouth Christian Academy, Warren Macomb Christian and Grosse Pointe Woods University-Liggett (formerly of the Metro).

Taylor Baptist Park will be the favorite, according to Lutheran Westland coach Paul Guse.

"We hope it's good for us because perennially we've been in seventh- or eighth-place in the Metro," Guse said. "Last year we lost our senior pitcher (Emily Whitaker) four games in with a broken back and it knocked her out for season. Allison (Guse) stepped in and got 11 wins for as a pitcher. Both Erica Killian and Samantha Roberts give us some depth there that we've never had before."

In the final year of the five-school Metro Conference, Livonia Clarenceville (10-17) will rely on All-Conference pitcher Val Sochacki and fellow senior pitcher Chelsea Gehan.

"Our pitching duo of Sochacki and Gehan, along with catchers (Stephanie) Bishop and (Joanna) Burling, are looked at as the oil that runs the engine," Clarenceville ninth-year coach Joe DeCaire said. "If these combinations are successful then the season should be very positive for us."

Warriors roll in season opener

It was over before it even got started.

Lutheran High Westland opened its girls softball season Friday afternoon with a 24-1 mercy-rule victory in three innings over Pontiac Academy of Excellence.

Emily Wilson's grand slam highlighted the victory.

Winning pitcher Allison Guse went the first two innings before giving way in the third to relievers Erica Killian and Samantha Roberts.

Guse also collected three hits in the victory, while Killian and Hannah Conley added two hits apiece.

Whalers clinch in five games

SOCCER

BY TIM SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

When Plymouth Whalers coach and general manager Mike Vellucci pulled the trigger on a January trade to obtain center Phil McRae, he had games like Friday in mind. The 6-3, 195-pounder scored twice — including the eventual game-winning goal — and was a force all night as Plymouth eliminated Sault Ste. Marie with a 6-2 victory at Compuware Arena. Plymouth thrilled the sellout crowd of more than 3,700 in Game 5, taking the Ontario Hockey League first round series 4-1. Barring a comeback by Saginaw against Kitchener in that series, the Whalers likely will face Western Conference leader Windsor in the second round.

"I think he (McRae) had a great series," said Vellucci following the traditional on-ice handshake line between the OHL rivals. "That's why we traded for him."

"We needed him to come up big and we needed some goals and he and (winger Ryan) Hayes played really well the whole series."

McRae scored his fifth and sixth goals of the series and along with linemate AJ Jenks (1 goal, 2 assists) set up Hayes' goal at 44 seconds to get Plymouth off and running. On the early goal, which came on the first rush into Soo territory, McRae spun and sent a sweeping wristed from the right circle that Greyhounds goalie Robin Lehner (24 saves) stopped but couldn't smother. The energetic Hayes banged in the rebound from near the left post.

But with a string of four penalties called against Plymouth, the Greyhounds evened the score 1-1 with 13:18 remaining in the frame.

Ex-Whaler Myles McCauley tapped in a rebound past stellar Plymouth goaltender Matt Hackett (33 saves), who again showed why the National Hockey League Minnesota Wild recently signed him to a three-year contract.

GLOVE WORK

Hackett flashed a mean glove hand on several occasions, stylishly snapping up a couple of hard point shots from defenseman Michael Quesnele.

"(Hackett's) a great goalie, he played exceptionally well every game and kept us in," Vellucci said. "He made some big saves again tonight when the game was in question."

The Soo outshot Plymouth 15-10 in the first, but thanks to Hackett and the Whalers' strong penalty killing the game remained 1-1 entering the second.

"It's been (key) the whole series, special teams," Vellucci noted. "Our penalty kill's been very good and our goaltender is a big part of it."

Plymouth regained the lead at 15:24 of the second on an outstanding individual play by Jenks. He skated from the right circle over to the left and then ripped a shot against-the-grain that beat Lehner inside the right post.

"I was trying to get myself a lane and shot through a screen and luckily it just found the net," said Jenks, of Wolverine Lake. "It's more luck than skill on that, I guess."

Then came perhaps the key stretch of the game. On a delayed penalty against the Soo, following a thunderous body check in the corner to the right of Hackett, the Whalers made it 3-1 with much of the crowd still riled up about the big hit.

Jenks and Hayes worked the puck down ice to McRae, who slipped it past Lehner at 19:35.

Hackett also was shaken up when a Greyhound apparently hit him with a stick as he was skating off the ice for an extra attacker.

After the period ended, Hackett exchanged words with Soo players who were obviously trying to get under his skin.

STAYING CALM

"Yeah, the whole series has been like that," Hackett said. "I just had to calm down and not let it bother me anymore."

McRae then widened Plymouth's lead to 4-1 just 5:15 into the third. Forward Tyler Seguin broke his stick trying to one-time a shot, which didn't go too far. But that didn't matter because McRae wired the loose puck top shelf.

A seemingly routine shot by Brandon Archibald fooled Hackett to make it 4-2 with 6:17 left and perhaps put some fans on edge.

But the always hard-working forward Tyler Brown tallied an unassisted goal at 17:52 to pretty much ice the victory. Brown, using Hayes as a decoy on the rush, snapped a shot over Lehner's trapper.

Plymouth added an empty netter at 18:46 when winger Josh Brittain scored (from linemate Jamie Devane).

Both Hackett and Jenks said it was good to wrap up the hard-hitting series early and get ready for the next round.

"The last game is always the hardest to win and our boys played real hard tonight and battled and competed," Hackett said. "We did all the little things right."

tsmith@hometownlife.com

told my team at halftime this was the type of game you win 1-0. We had a few opportunities. We were close, but we have issues offensively that we have time to sort out."

FARMINGTON 6, FRANKLIN 0: The Falcons (2-0) put it away with three second-half goals Friday in a non-association triumph over Livonia Franklin (0-2).

The Patriots were led by senior midfielder Erin Roulier. "She kept us organized in the back and kept it close because they (Farmington) merced us last year," Franklin first-year coach Dean Kowalski said.

W.L. WESTERN 6, FRANKLIN 0: Rachel Good scored a pair of goals and added one assist Wednesday as Walled Lake Western (1-0) spoiled the opener for host Livonia Franklin (0-1) and new coach Dean Kowalski.

Other goal scorers for the Warriors included Jenny Shaba, Alivia Kempster, Madison Schram (unassisted), Rachel Shuman and Shaba also collected assists.

Senior goalkeeper Jessica Gatten notched the shutout.

Walking on air

Dog bed business lands woman on entrepreneur DVD

BY SHARON DARGAY
OGE STAFF WRITER

Julie King found a niche in dog beds.

"Use what you've got. Be smart about it. Use two covers and don't cheap it out. Make it the best, most easy thing that will last the longest," she said, sharing the philosophy behind her Gertie Gear air beds for dogs.

The Westland woman didn't plan to make and sell a new product when she began her search for an easy-to-clean, sustainable bed two years ago. She simply was tired of doing laundry generated by her potty-challenged pooch, Gertie, a senior Beagle with back problems and "an attitude" about piddling indoors.

"I bought one of every kind. I've gone through two dozen beds. The foam beds you can't wash. If you wash the stuffing beds they take days to dry. It's like washing a pillow," said King, who also owns a Beagle-Shepherd mix, Jackie, 8, and a cat, Veto, 16. She supplied multiple beds for Gertie, who promptly urinated on them.

"I noticed when I bought a bed with a pillow in the middle, she nests. I wondered how can I come up with something like that? It ended up being an air bed."

She bought two different brands at first. One quickly sustained a hole. The other had such a small zipper opening that King struggled to pull the inflated tube in and out of its protective covering.

DO-IT-YOURSELF

King, 39, had created a carpeted ramp for Gertie and figured she also could custom make a bed. She'd start with a doughnut-shaped inflatable pool toy, encase it in a canvass covering with a wide-zippered opening and top it all off with a colorful, soft fabric that would slip over the entire bed like a fitted sheet.

A few sewing lessons later from one of her four siblings, King assembled the bed and tested it on Gertie.

"She loved it."

So did dog owners who saw her handiwork.

Their interest compelled King to create Gertie Gear and begin making the beds herself. A Center for Creative Studies graduate, King had worked with branding, creative graphics, design, marketing at several firms in the Detroit area before creating Greenworld Creative LLC, her own creative services agency. The work from Greenworld helped her pay bills while launching Gertie Gear in March 2008 and getting ready to sell her product for the first time at a street fair in Ferndale two months later.

It was a rocky start. Her father, who had struggled with esophageal cancer during the prior six months, died just three days before the fair. King barely slept between the fair and her father's funeral, the day before, but managed to break even on the show.

NETWORKING, SELLING

Later that summer she began promoting her work on Etsy.com, a Web site for artisans. She joined Twitter, Facebook, LinkedIn and networked with other individuals selling dog-related products. By the following summer she resumed selling at dog shows, craft fairs and farmers' markets.

Her work caught the eye of a "swag bag" supplier for West Coast events that draw celebrity dog lovers. She supplied beds and vouchers for beds for Earthday in Hollywood and HOLLYWOOF last year. That led to a call from Jai Rodriguez, Queer Eye for the Straight Guy star, who expressed interest in the product.

The American Kennel Club featured Gertie Gear in its holiday gift guide last year and invited it back for this year's spring-summer guide.

Fido Friendly magazine listed Gertie Gear among its top 100 products this year and Detroit Public TV included King's story in a special project, StartupNation — Open for Business with the Sloan Brothers. The television special aired last week on Channel 56. King's story is told on a "special features" section of the show's DVD, which will be released this summer.

"I've been so lucky. I've gotten so many breaks, but one thing led to another," she said. Her best advice for budding entrepreneurs is "use your resources."

"I'm not talking about asking your parents or friends for money. I'm talking about their knowledge. Everybody knows something. Everybody is willing to give a little bit of information."

Gertie Gear dog air beds come in three sizes and cost $55, $65 and $110. The zippered canvas covering is nail- and claw-proof. The slipcovers are made of various fabrics in prints and solids.

All covers are machine wash/dry and the tube never compresses nor holds odors or allergens. They are orthopedic, portable and leave a minimal eco-footprint.

INFORMATION

Usually, what doctors need most from a patient is information. What is the reason that the patient made the appointment? What data does the patient bring that bears on the matter at hand? Does the patient have notes that detail what made pain come on and how the patient tried to stop the discomfort. Are there recent laboratory tests, x-rays, CT scans or MRIs that other physicians ordered? If the patient came because the doctor wanted a second opinion, is there a letter or notes that describe the other doctor's thinking and what question the other doctor wanted answered?

It is not sufficient at the time of an appointment to say: "Just call the other doctor's office, and get what you want?" Fax machines, phones, and even E-mail are everywhere, but the office asking for the information depends on someone to be at the other end of the line who is willing and able to get the information. The chart that holds the reports may be misplaced, or the office person who handles such requests may be at lunch.

The best way to provide the doctor with information is for the patient to have it in hand and bring it to the doctor at the time of the appointment. Computer entry, Internet storage, a chip embedded in the patient's insurance card will never replace the patient with information on paper for the doctor to review. Any electronic communication is subject to breakdown, glitches and problems of compatibility.

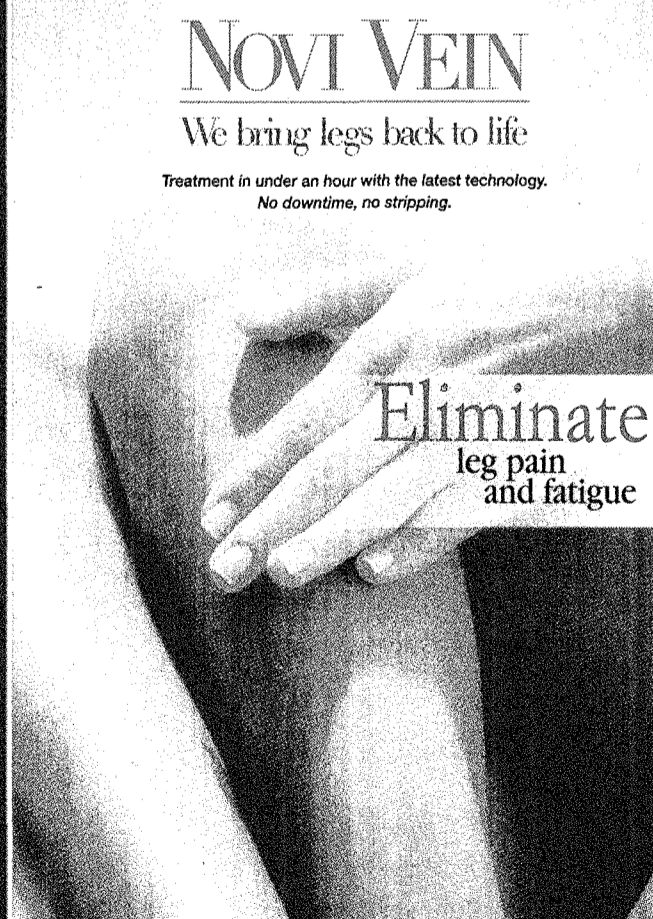

Doctors, now and for the foreseeable future, are experienced in reading words and taking notes.

Encountering Jesus: See Shroud of Turin replica at Livonia church

BY SHARON DARGAY
O&E STAFF WRITER

The Rev. Todd Lajiness hopes worshippers feel a profound encounter with Jesus Christ after viewing a replica of the Shroud of Turin on exhibit at St. Michael the Archangel Parish in Livonia.

Lajiness, dean of studies at Sacred Heart Major Seminary in Detroit, weekend associate at Holy Family Parish in Novi, and former associate pastor at Our Lady of Victory in Northville, will be the guest speaker at the exhibit, which opens today and runs through noon, Good Friday, April 2. His presentation starts at 1:15 p.m. in the church, located in the gymnasium of St. Michael's School, 11441 Hubbard, south of Plymouth Road, in Livonia.

"I'd like to give the people in part some historical background — the history and experiments that scientists currently are doing and what they tell about the authenticity of shroud."

He'll also look at the shroud from an artistic perspective.

The Shroud of Turin is a centuries old linen cloth that bears the image of a crucified man. The Roman Catholic Church, which has custody of the original Shroud in Turin, Italy, does not require belief in the authenticity of the artifact as part of its dogma, but millions believe the image it bears is of Jesus Christ. The Church encourages research and scientific investigation, but does not formally espouse the authenticity of the shroud.

PRAYER PORTAL

"It's unique in terms of the image of Christ," said Lajiness, who became interested in the artifact after writing a shroud. "The second is the wounds you see on the shroud. They are accurate from a pathologist's perspective. Most have said they are a very accurate picture of a crucifixion — the nails through the wrist and not the palm. A lot of traditional art does not do that."

Lajiness, who has visited Turin, said pollens in the authentic cloth demonstrate that it is exclusive to the Middle East and that the style of the weave is consistent with first century cloth making.

"The actual image itself pathologists say is consistent with a real body and execution. It's remarkable."

But Lajiness said value of the shroud lies in what it reveals for spiritual life today, "the way we as individuals can encounter Christ."

The Holy Week display is open to the public at no charge. Exhibit times are 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2:30-7 p.m. Sunday, March 28; 7-9 p.m., Monday-Tuesday, March 29-30; noon to 6 p.m., Thursday, April 1 and 9 a.m.-noon, Friday, April 2. (734) 261-1455, Ext. 200; www.livonia-stmichael.org.

research paper on it in the mid-1980s. "It gives us an image of Christ we don't normally encounter." During the second half of his presentation at St. Michael the Archangel, he'll lead worshippers through a meditation on the shroud.

"I want to use the shroud as doorway or portal to encountering Christ more deeply."

Lajiness said the faint image on the shroud is unlike most other representations of Christ found in sculpture and painting through the ages.

UNUSUAL CHARACTERISTICS

"In artistic or photographic terms, we normally see everything in positives," Lajiness noted, adding that the image on the shroud looks similar to a photographic negative. "That's one of the first and many odd characteristics of the Information, please: Is customer satisfaction a thing of the past?

In the old days of not so many years ago a homeowner was capable of doing most of the service needed on major home appliances. Today I believe it is harder by far to do repairs such as replacing the light bulb inside of a microwave oven.

Appliance Doctor

Joe Gagnon

Could it be possible that the manufacturers don't want the homeowner doing their own repairs? Could they be engineering the products in such a way that only their service technicians can do the repairs and therefore reap the monetary gain? I don't think the above are possibilities, I think they are a fact. Brand loyalty is being deflated one customer at a time by appliance manufactures and they won't be happy until all products are coming from China. The following e-mails are just two examples of the

I get a lot of inquiries from homeowners who are very angry that one dishwasher rack can cost more than $150 or that they are no longer available. Such expense can cause a consumer to go out and purchase a new dishwasher and that is exactly what the manufacturer has in mind. There is a repair kit made by Maytag which comes in a liquid form using a bottle and brush for application that will certainly help you to repair that rack.

many stories I hear and read from the American consumer.

Ann writes: Let me start by saying how I've enjoyed seeing you and hearing you on radio and TV. You have helped save people lots of money and given great advice for many years.

I have a Maytag dishwasher ... works great. I used to have well water and it corroded parts of the racks inside. It does an excellent job and looks like new but I am planning on selling my house soon and wanted to replace those racks. Unfortunately after calling Servall parts I find that the those particular racks for that dishwasher are no longer available from Maytag. My question is this: Is there any kind of tape or plastic that can be wrapped around those racks where the corrosion is (Would like to make it look cleaner) and still able to withstand the heat and also to be non toxic? I really can't afford to go out and buy a new one. This economy is such that I have to try and make do with what is already here. Would appreciate any advice you can give me on this. Thanks so much.

Reply: I get a lot of inquiries from homeowners who are very angry that one dishwasher rack can cost more than $150 or that they are no longer available. Such expense can cause a consumer to go out and purchase a new dishwasher and that is exactly what the manufacturer has in mind. There is a repair kit made by Maytag which comes in a liquid form using a bottle and brush for application that will certainly help you to repair that rack. The metal rack is dipped into a tank at the factory and coated with the plastic surface and the repair kit is the same plastic product put on at the factory. They also have plastic tips that you can put on the prongs of the rack. Before doing this you will need to take your emery board and clean off the old rust and clean the surface using white vinegar. You may also get on the phone and call appliance retailers who sell dishwashers. Years ago, I did have an appliance store and I always had 20 or so used dishwasher racks in my back yard which I gave away at a special price.

Marilyn writes: We have an older (14 years) Panasonic microwave oven that works fine, except the light burned out. Is there any way to replace the light? Thank you for your time in answering this.

Reply: I went into our kitchen and looked at my two-year-old, under-the-counter microwave and checked out how to replace the light bulb. There is a grill on the outside top part which is removable or else I have to take the whole thing down (two-man job) to get at the light bulb.

Counter top units may require taking the whole cabinet off to get at the light bulb. In the old days you had a little trap door you removed and it was easy to do. You didn't have to spend $60 to have a technician change a light bulb. Stay tuned.

Joe Gagnon can be heard at 8 a.m., Saturdays on WAAM 1600 and Sundays at 2 p.m. on WDTK 1400. You can e-mail your problems and questions on appliances to appldr@twm1.rr.com

Retailer offers tips for sports safety for youth

In recognition of National Youth Sports Safety Month, which is observed in April, Brian Kean of Play It Again Sports of Livonia offers a few reminders:

- Wear the right gear for your sport: Protective gear such as wrist and shin guards, and knee and elbow pads should be worn during all active sports. For children who participate in hockey, baseball, lacrosse, fastpitch softball, ski and snowboarding, a helmet should be worn at all times.
 - Make sure it fits: If a helmet is the wrong size, it cannot do its job. Avoid the temptation of letting your kids borrow equipment from friends or siblings.
 - Maintain quality: Analyze your child's gear at the start of each sporting season. If padding is worn or buckles are missing or broken, it's time to get something new.
- "There is always the risk of injury when a child participates in a sport, but the prevalence of injuries can be diminished with proper prevention," Kean stated in a press release. "In particular, being equipped with gear that is safety approved and designed for the specific sport is a child's best defense again sustaining an injury."

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), more than half of the seven million sports and recreation-related injuries that occur each year are sustained by youth between ages 5-24, Kean noted.

In addition to the use of inefficient gear, causes for injury include varying sizes of participants and slower reaction times in growing children.

"Fortunately, thanks to the popularity of events such as the X Games and the Olympics, children are growing more accustomed to seeing athletes wearing protection," Kean stated. "However, parents should never allow wearing protective gear to be a choice. It's a prerequisite for participating in sports."

Play It Again Sports of Livonia, which is part of a nationwide chain that sells a wide selection of new name brand fitness and sports equipment, and also buys, sells, and trades quality used sports and fitness gear.

Staff members are trained to properly fit both children and adults for the protective gear needed for a wide variety of sports.

For more information about Play It Again Sports, call Kean at (734) 266-1999.

Spring Wolverines football game benefits Mott Children's Hospital

See the University of Michigan football team play its annual spring game and help C.S. Mott Children's Hospital at the same time.

The spring game, set for 1 p.m., April 17, is a free public event, but U-M football and Mott are partnering in a fund-raiser to help build the new C.S. Mott Children's Hospital scheduled to open in Fall 2012.

"We are thrilled for the opportunity to partner with the U-M football team and Coach Rodriguez to benefit the patients at U-M Mott Children's Hospital," stated Pat Warner, Chief Administrative Officer for C.S. Mott Children's Hospital and Von Voigtlander Women's Hospital. "The annual spring game is always a great way for U-M fans to come out and support the team and we are truly grateful that the team has offered their support to Mott."

Fans can make a donation of choice to C.S. Mott Children's Hospital upon entering the gates of Michigan Stadium. Donations are accepted at any level but fans will receive giveaways for donating at the following four levels:

- $5 donation receives an "All in for Michigan Towel"
- $20 donation receives a spring game "All in for Michigan, All in for Mott" T-shirt
- $250 donation receives four passes to a pre-season scrimmage

• $500 donation receives two pre-game sideline passes to one of four games: Bowling Green, Massachusetts, Iowa or Illinois.

All of the money raised will benefit the Michigan Football Experience, an interactive play area for patients at Mott to experience what it's like to be a Wolverine football player. In addition, there will be a silent auction on the course during the spring game.

For more information call Mott's office of Medical Development and Alumni Relations at (734) 998-0370.
