IN BRIEF
Facebook fans

The City of Westland has reached a milestone with its online communications. On Nov. 11, 2010, Amanda Diaz became the 1,000th City of Westland Facebook Fan.

With widespread popularity of the semantic web and the concept of connecting content from various sources, the city has made a presence in the social media realm by launching pages on Facebook, Twitter, Nixle, LinkedIn and Livestream and integrating content from photos to WLND videos on these sites.

"Our city administration recognizes that with over 500 million Facebook users on the web, this is the quickest growing media channel for us to connect with our residents and others interested in Westland," said Mayor William Wild. "Thank you to all our fans for helping us reach this goal."

The City of Westland has invited Diaz to be recognized at the City Council meeting at 7 p.m. Monday, Dec. 6, at the Westland City Hall.

To become a fan of the City of Westland on Facebook, simply go to www.facebook.com/cityofwestland and click the "Like" button. Residents who do will receive daily updates from the city regarding its latest news and events.

White Christmas

Youngsters living in Westland have until 10 p.m. Friday, Dec. 10, to enter Westland's We Promise You A White Christmas Poster Contest.

Children in kindergarten through fifth-grade are asked to draw a poster of what their house would look like covered in snow on Christmas Day. Posters can be drawn at home or school and should include the child's name, age and address, home phone number so winner can be contacted and the name of their school and their grade.

Entries can be mailed to Poster Contest, Westland Parks and Recreation Department, 36651 Ford Road, Westland, MI 48185.

Winner will be notified on Monday, Dec. 20. If there is no snow on the ground, a truck load of snow will be placed on the winner's front lawn on Dec. 21. If there is snow already covering the ground, another prize will be awarded.

Volunteers needed

Help is needed to decorate the Westland senior Friendship Center for the holidays 4-6 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 1.

There will be a Christmas concert by the Dyer Senior Center Choir at 6:30 p.m., and pizza and beverages will be provided for those who help with decorations. After the concert, volunteers can enjoy hot chocolate, coffee and Christmas cookies.

For more information, call the Friendship Center at (734) 722-7628.

Shoppers help brighten Christmas for troops

Terri and Amanda Dewyer had been on the hunt for bargains at Westland Shopping Center and found one they couldn't refuse — sending a Christmas card, free of charge, to U.S. troops overseas.

"We just had to let them know we're thinking of them and appreciate what they're doing for us," said Terri Dewyer.

The Canton residents were among shoppers who helped the Westland Jaycees in their mission to collect signed 3,000 Christmas cards to military personnel in Iraq and Afghanistan this holiday season. This is the fifth year the Jaycees have been at the mall the day after Thanksgiving to ask shoppers to stop and fill out one of the cards.

"We do it every Fourth of July and Christmas," said Bob Cartty, an associate member of the organization. "We do anything we can do to help the community and help our soldiers."

The Dewyers, a mother-daughter team, were on the downside of their shopping when they stopped by the Jaycees table to sign the cards. They had a "small game plan" and had started out at 5 a.m. had been to Radio Shack, Target, Sam's Club and Best Buy before stopping at the mall and at the card table.

"We knew what we wanted and knew what to look for," said Terri Dewyer, adding that "we're out here Christmas shopping and they're out there. It doesn't seem fair."

Also stopping to sign cards were Canton residents Lina Kapadia and Alexander Clark.

Being a welcoming community is something that parishioners at SS. Simon and Jude Catholic Church take pride in.

So when parishioner Henry Johnson suggested that the Westland church join with the Archdiocese of Detroit to host the 2010 AIDS Day Prayer Service on Wednesday, Dec. 1, the parish agreed.

"The reception from the parish has been very warm, I'm very proud of that," said Johnson.

The ecumenical prayer service has been held for about 15 years at various locations in the metro Detroit area but this is the first time it has been held at a western Wayne County church, said Michael Harning, director of the archdiocese department of parish life and services and the office for Catholic charities.

"I think it's to remember back to the days when people died so quickly of AIDS, to remember the loss to their family and friends and also the loss it has been to the community," said Harning. "A lot of family members come to this — it's a way to remember a loved one."

The prayer services will be held at 6:30 p.m. for all affected directly or indirectly by HIV/AIDS. The names of more than 420 Metro Detroit residents and others who have died of AIDS will be read as the tower bells ring every 11 seconds to represent the fact that someone in the world dies every 11 seconds from AIDS.

Famous Dave's joins lineup for Taste Fest

BY LEANNE ROGERS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Sandra Santiago is excited that Famous Dave's will be participating for the first time in the Holiday Taste Fest sponsored by the Westland Chamber of Commerce.

"We wanted to get more involved in the community and get our name out there," said Santiago, catering sales manager for the Westland Famous Dave's. "We want to be more famous, if that's possible."

The Famous Dave's team is still debating which menu items to feature at the Holiday Taste Fest, which will be held 6-8:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 7, at the Hellenic Cultural Center, 36375 Joy, between Wayne Road and Newburgh.

"We're fighting over which item is the best food to bring. I'm extremely excited, especially for myself being in charge of this for the first time," said Santiago, who started her current position earlier this year. "A lot of my team that is going to the event are excited, too."

This is the 12th year for Holiday Taste Fest which draws about 500 people each year. Tickets are $25 per person in advance from the chamber.

"All of the restaurants are along the outside of the room. You walk up, pick what you want to eat and go on to the next one," said chamber President Brookellen Swope.

Along with Famous Dave's, another first-time participant is Knox Restaurant and Catering based at their restaurant on Middlebelt at Annapolis.

Returning restaurants include the Hellenic Cultural Center, Longhorn Steakhouse, Maria's Italian Bakery, Marvaso's Italian Grille, McDonald's, O & W Miller Beer, Rose Catering, Qdoba Mexican Grill, Red Robin, Texas Roadhouse, Toarina's Pizza, Vintage Market and the Culinary Arts Department of the William D. Ford Career Technical Center.

Some of the unusual auction items includes flowers or massages each month for a year. There are about 200 tickets remaining for the Holiday Taste Fest but Swope expects another sellout. A portion of the proceeds from the event will benefit the Joseph Benyo Scholarship Fund.

For more information, call the chamber at (734) 326-7222.

Patrons respond to library's Food for Fines

The Food for Fines program at Westland's William P. Faust Library is off to a good start.

According to reference librarian Andy Schuck, in just two days the monthlong program received donations of more than 100 nonperishable food items and forgave more than $150 in fines.

"We are on our way to 1,000 donated items," said Schuck in a posting on the library website, www.westland.lib.

mi.us. "Help us reach our weekly goal of 250 donated items by stopping in."

The Food for Fines program has a goal of collecting 1,000 items by Thursday, Dec. 23 — that means a weekly goal of 250 items. Nonfine related donations and monetary contributions are also being accepted, all to benefit the Gleaners Community Food Bank and distributed to various food agencies in the Westland area.

"A $1 donation can serve three meals for someone in need," Schuck said.

One nonperishable, unexpired donation will clear $2 in fines with donations offsetting up to $20 total in fines. The donations cannot be used to cover the costs for lost or damaged items but can cover fines on those items.

Nonfood items such as health and beauty products also will be accepted. To see a list of eligible food and non-food items, stop by any of the library service desks or call (734) 326-6123.

'A Wonderful Life': A wonderful cause

'Tis the season to do good. And to do good shows, according to Inspire Theatre of Westland.

This holiday season, Inspire Theatre will present the perennial classic, It's a Wonderful Life, with a twist. In addition to presenting a heartwarming story of a man's worth, Inspire Theatre is endeavoring to raise the hopes of local families this Christmas by collecting cash and gifts from attendees. Inspire Theatre also will designate a portion of each ticket sold toward the cause.

It's a Wonderful Life - A Radio Play promises to be sensory adventure, according to artistic director Len Fisher. Saturday night tickets include an hors d'oeuvres buffet donated by local restaurants. Attendees will be treated to all the sights and sounds of live broadcast of a radio theatre.

Originally broadcast on the Lux Radio Theatre on March 10, 1947, on the CBS network, It's a Wonderful Life is the story of a man who, tired of his life on Earth, finds out what it's like never to have been born, with the help of his guardian angel Clarence.

Performers from Westland, Redford, Livonia, Farmington,

Canton, and Garden City will bring the holiday favorite to life, and audiences will have a front row seat for all the lights and sounds that a live broadcast could bring.

Show times are 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 4, and 3 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 5. Tickets for the Saturday night performance are $15 and the matinee tickets are $10.

The Inspire Theatre is located inside the Warren Road Light and Life Church at 33445 Warren Road, east of Wayne Road, in Westland. For more information, call (734) 751-7057.

NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt will be on display for the prayer service and remain at the church through Dec. 5. The panels, each with a Michigan connection, have individual squares remembering someone who died of AIDS.

The panels range from skillfully crafted with photographs and precise embroidery to simple but no less heartfelt messages written on white material with a black marker.

"I went to Washington, D.C., when the NAMES Project panels were on display. It's so large that it can no longer be displayed in one location," said Johnson. "Three or four years ago, I went to the prayer service at Shrine of the Little Flower in Royal Oak."

Next year will mark 30 years since the first case of HIV/AIDS was diagnosed. In the early years, Johnson recalls patients often had a life expectancy of nine months after diagnosis.

"People are living longer now — people look at it as a chronic illness rather than a death sentence," said Johnson. "People are living with it and taking medications but it's not an easy path. It takes a great deal of commitment."

Along with the spiritual aspect of prayer and compassion, Johnson said he wanted the parish to make a strong statement on social justice for those who have HIV/AIDS.

"I felt strongly that people living with HIV/AIDS are discriminated against. They can lose their jobs — it carries a stigma," said Johnson. "This was an opportunity for a parish-wide event to educate on HIV/AIDS. It's a social justice issue that so many people don't have access to universal health care and access to the retroviral medications. They aren't available or they can't afford them."

Following the prayer service, the church will hold a reception with time for reflection. The 4:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 4, Mass will include prayers acknowledging those who have died of HIV/AIDS and those living with the disease, along with their families and caregivers.

Donations of baked goods for the prayer service reception are being accepted. To donate baked goods or add a name to the AIDS prayer list, call Johnson at (734) 444-8344.

SS. Simon and Jude Catholic Church is at 32500 Palmer, west of Merriman, in Westland. The quilt panels can be viewed at other times when the church is open. For more information, call (734) 722-1343.

FOUR SEASONS REHABILITATION AND NURSING

GREAT STAFF. GREAT CARE.

Families talk about the quality of care at Four Seasons

Carol Henry rests easy knowing her 94-year old mother Genevieve Nehring is receiving the best care at Four Seasons. Genevieve arrived at Four Seasons with congestive heart failure complicated by COPD.

"It gives me relief to know she has medical care and is not just languishing. In nice weather we go out and sit on the patio," said Carol Henry who works in a lab hospital near her home in Howell. "They've been very accommodating. Mom likes it that they all say 'Hi Genevieve' when they see her." "They all know me," added Genevieve Nehring.

"My mother is active at Four Seasons... she plays bingo five days a week, enjoys the live entertainment and looks forward to getting her nails done."

Socialization motivates patient recovery

Dr. Keith Tobin, an attending physician at Four Seasons Rehabilitation and Nursing, recognizes the need for socialization to stimulate residents and patients. "Here at Four Seasons nursing center, we believe in the importance of social interaction," said Dr. Tobin. "Studies show that social stimulation helps to maintain and, in many instances, actually improves cognition in patients with neurological deficits. Interacting with others requires the utilization of many parts of the brain."

Dr. Tobin is certified in family medicine and geriatrics, practices at Livonia Family Medical, and on staff at Botsford, Garden City, St. Mary Mercy and Oakwood hospitals.

Recent renovations to Four Seasons include a state-of-the-art activities center which encourages and facilitates resident-to-resident and resident-to-staff interaction. Rooms with two, three, or four residents are favored to foster a sense of community within each resident and minimize social isolation.

Quality Care Provided with Dignity and Compassion by Outstanding Staff

"Residents are encouraged to take their meals in the dining room and participate in group facility activities," said Dr. Tobin. "Residents who share semi-private rooms often bond to the point of encouraging one another during their physical therapy sessions."

a card and thank them for what they do for us," said Kapadia.

"I can only imagine what they're going through with the rough terrain and being away from their families," added Clark. "The least we can do is sign a card and make their day a little bit better."

The Jaycees got help with the project from Men on the Move, Uht Funeral Home and Dr. Amanda Apfelblat and Michigan Chiropractic Specialists. The group is partnering with the Westland Veterans Association and the John Glenn Alumni Association which will include the cards in care packages they will be mailing out to the troops next week. "That will save them the cost of postage," said Kenneth Mehl of the veterans association who was on hand to help at the booth. Susan and John Suboch of Smile Day response 'phenomenal'

BY SUE MASON
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Wayne County Commissioner Diane Webb, D-Garden City, is sending out some serious thank yous following last weekend's highly successful Make a Senior Smile Day.

Appearing before the Garden City Council last Monday, Webb praised the work of volunteers who cleaned up the yards of 67 homes of seniors in her district, which includes Garden City, Redford and Dearborn Heights. That number included 26 homes in Garden City.

"We had 215 volunteers show up, which is phenomenal," Webb said. "We filled 1,026 yard waste bags. It was a lot of work and took a lot of volunteers. Most went home with a smile on their face like the seniors they helped."

Webb offered thank yous to her staff, which helped organize the event, as well as six Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops and the Garden City High School SADD, DECA, National Honor Society and Key clubs, which helped clean up the seniors' yards.

She also offered a special thank you to sponsors like Garden City ACE and Town N Country Hardware, which donated bags, Home Depot in Canton and Dearborn Heights and Keith Bower "who got us T-shirts, the bags and pizza."

"Whatever we can't get donated, he comes up with," she added. Kudos also went to Maplewood Community Center Supervisor Cheryl Stepanian and her staff for opening the center early and using it as the project headquarters.

This is the second year Webb has taken on the Make a Senior Smile Day, after Wayne County did not fund it. Originally, it was coordinated through the Wayne County Department of Senior Citizens and the Senior Alliance.

The success can be measured in phone calls Webb has received from the seniors. "My phone has been ringing off the hook at home and at my office with seniors saying thank you," she said. "This is the reason why this is a great place to call home."

Franklin history teacher an 'exceptional educator'

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Gerald Bagazinski, a Franklin High School parent, believes that Mary Helen Diegel created a "terrific" forum for students to express ideas and debate current events and political issues in her role as faculty adviser for the Junior State of America Club at Franklin.

"She has also gone above and beyond to help arrange and chaperone trips to the regional JSA Mock Legislature events in Wisconsin and Washington, D.C.," Bagazinski said.

Bagazinski's comments and others highlighted Diegel's achievements Monday as she was honored as the Secondary Teacher of the Year in the Livonia school district.

Diegel, a history teacher at Franklin High School, was chosen by a committee of teachers, parents and administrators.

A resolution approved by the school board Monday stated that Diegel "is an exceptional educator, going far beyond the expected range of her duties to meet the needs of students, colleagues, parents and others."

Diegel has served as her building's teacher mentor; world history learning community chair; volleyball, basketball and softball coach; and has assisted with Players Theatre Productions. She has also served on numerous district curriculum committees, including formative assessment, accelerated English and world history.

LIVONIA PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Among her awards and achievements are the Veterans of Foreign Wars Southeast Michigan Teacher of the Year, the Livonia Education Association's Spotlight Award, and Volleyball Coach of the Year. She also served as a teacher in the Livonia Public Schools South African Exchange Program.

'THOUGHTFUL AND HUMBLE'

Dan Willenborg, Franklin's principal, said Diegel "is a thoughtful and humble person who has continually brought credit upon the teaching profession."

"She has earned a stellar reputation as a classroom instructor and has been an all-around contributor to the school setting," Willenborg said.

"Students appreciate the extensive planning she puts into her lessons and that she cares about their individual success. She offers respect and gets respect from all."

Willenborg called her "a gifted teacher and a tremendously valuable asset" to Livonia Public Schools. "She has a perspective much larger than self, and sacrifices much toward the advancement of others," Willenborg said. "Her high character and her devotion to the teaching profession have earned her the honor to be named as Teacher of the Year."

Assistant Principal Dennis Gerathy said Diegel promotes the success of students by "developing a vision of learning that is shared and supported."

"Her passion for student learning and personal growth is visible to everyone who works with her," Gerathy said.

Kathy Frame, teacher at

Cooper and past district curriculum facilitator, said Diegel is a much-respected member of the social studies department in her school and across the district. "She has played a key role in aligning our world history curriculum to the new state standards and developing a curriculum that will help our students become critical thinkers," Frame said.

CRITICAL THINKING MOTIVATES DIEGEL

In accepting the award, Diegel said teaching "is bridging the wisdom of experience with the enthusiasm of youth."

With the support of building principals, along with Kathy Frame, Carol Tinney and David Mitchell, Diegel and Kelly Eddy from Churchill have been able to connect Advanced Placement U.S. history students through social networking "in a responsible and productive way," Diegel said.

"Having 200 students from two buildings think critically about history and engage in the issues of our world motivates me," Diegel said.

"Developing and implementing writing and critical thinking within our world history classes across the district — and seeing the positive improvements our students are making excites me."

Casey Rhines, a 10th-grader at Franklin, said Diegel treats JSA students with the utmost respect.

"JSA teaches how to put your leadership skills in action, and how to make you an effective member of society," Rhines said.

"She's a great all-around person and influential. She really teaches both sides of political issues so you get an all-around view of it. She's not biased."

Livonia Teacher of the Year Mary Helen Diegel works with student Garrett Gault.

BILL BRESLER | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

In her speech, Diegel quoted Eleanor Roosevelt, also a former history teacher. "She said we need informed and intelligent citizens and that we are all responsible for the trend of thought and the action of our times," Diegel said.

The Livonia Public Schools do just that, she said.

"I hope to show my students a glimpse of their potential greatness and teach them that the internal strength that resides within each person is enough for anyone to believe in the future and continue to persevere," Diegel said. "I hope to give my students a passion for learning, a sense of responsibility to the greater community, and a desire to make this world better each day."

SOCIAL SECURITY

Many people are wrongly rejected when they apply for Social Security Disability benefits. Money was taken out of their paychecks for Social Security taxes to ensure that they would receive disability benefits if they could no longer work full-time. Sadly, the government denies approximately 60% of those who apply for disability benefits.

The tragedy is that less than half of those persons who are denied benefits file an appeal. Thus, many thousands of people who deserve benefits never receive them.

Those denied can appeal on their own, but statistics for many years reveal that those represented by attorneys win a much higher percentage of appeals. And attorneys who specialize in Social Security Disability cases win a much higher percentage yet.

Attorney J.B. Bieske has represented only Social Security Disability clients for over 20 years. That is the only type of law he practices. And, he personally meets with all clients and appears himself at all court hearings. Many large firms assign clients to young associate attorneys with much less experience.

In addition to practicing only Social Security Disability law Bieske has written a book for attorneys about the subject. He also has been interviewed on various radio and television programs and has given speeches to many groups.

Bieske's office staff consists of paralegals and secretaries who are also highly experienced in assisting him with Social Security Disability cases. And they are extremely helpful in answering questions with regard to the status of clients' cases and administrative procedure.

Attorney Bieske welcomes you to call him to determine if you may be eligible for these benefits. He offers free phone or office consultations. If Bieske represents you, there will be no fee charged until after the case is won. The fee is a percentage of retroactive benefits.

In a recent radio interview attorney Bieske explained that many people are not even aware that they are eligible for Social Security Disability benefits. These are not the same as Workers' Compensation benefits. It is possible to receive both benefits at the same time. If you have an illness or injury (whether or not related to your work), are under 65 and unable to work full-time you may be eligible. Social Security Disability benefits are based on your work record or your deceased spouse's work record (Widow's/Widower's benefits).

Bieske represents clients from all over the state of Michigan. Call him at 1-800-331-3530 for a FREE consultation if you have been denied. Or if you are thinking of possibly applying for Social Security benefits call him for FREE advice.

Something that matters

New Morning students reach out to others

BY BRAD KADRICH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Molly Kramer likes to teach her preschool class at New Morning School about worlds — their world consisting of the classroom, and their bigger world that includes friends and family at home.

On Monday, with Thanksgiving approaching, Kramer had her students in the Cantica Cafe at the St. Al's Community Center, the outreach arm of St. Aloysius Catholic Church, trying to teach them about doing a greater good for the world at large.

New Morning students, who'd spent several weeks collecting hygiene products, were at St. Al's to put together some 75 hygiene kits for the homeless and disadvantaged served by the center.

"We've been working with a theme of helping with our hands," Kramer said. "Not just in our school community, but in our homes and out in the big world."

Students started the hygiene drive at the beginning of November, with the "whole school community" getting involved in the collection of soap, shampoo, conditioner, razors, deodorant, lip balm and other health-care items.

When Kramer went looking for a project with a broader scope, colleague Lori Brugman told her about friends who volunteered at St. Al's, and the idea was born.

The kids spent a few hours there Monday, putting together baggies loaded with hygiene products to be distributed to the people served by St. Al's.

The center serves meals, collects clothing, provides nursing services and other essentials to some 250-300 people a day. Help from places like New Morning School, the Plymouth Township-based school that draws students from Plymouth, Canton, Livonia, Westland and other western Wayne County communities, is invaluable to the center's mission.

"It means a great deal on a variety of levels," said Brother Al Mascia, a Franciscan who works at St. Al's. "Certainly there's the direct benefit of the efforts of the children. More importantly, this gives the children a very early experience of a lifestyle and culture that is different than theirs."

"It plants the seeds of sensitivity and compassion for people less fortunate than them," Mascia added. "Hopefully, society benefits at the end of the day." That's the hope of the parents involved in the project, too. As she helped her 3-year-old daughter, Clara, put together the kits, Renee Armstrong of Wayne, whose daughters attend New Morning School, agreed that's the lesson she hoped her kids would take away from the project.

"I've been wanting to expose my girls to projects that serve the community," Armstrong said. "I want to get them used to helping others, and make it part of what we do as a family."

Directly helping people who need it, Kramer said, is a little different than other, equally worthy, efforts such as food drives. Building the kits, she said, gives the children a more direct benefit.

"We wanted to have something meaningful for them," Kramer said. "We wanted to do something that had some impact, and show (students) they're doing something that matters."

"I want my students to be exposed to the blessings they have," she added. "I hope we're preparing them not just for reading and writing, but for having a heart for other people."

Roadshow Comes to Livonia!

By Jason Delong
Treasure Hunters Roadshow
STAFF WRITER

Clean out your attics, closets and lock boxes, because the Roadshow is coming to Livonia. Roadshow experts are in town examining antiques, collectibles, gold and silver.

While the Roadshow will accept anything that's old, they will be focusing on gold and silver coins made before 1964, military items, toys and trains, musical instruments, pocket and wrist watches. Scrap gold is expected to be a popular category this week due to soaring gold prices.

"U.S. coins made before 1964 are most sought after by collectors. Coins made before 1964 are 90% silver and valuable because of the silver content or could be worth even more if one happens to be a rare date."

Expert buyers for the Roadshow have noticed a tremendous increase in the amount of gold coming to the Roadshow and for good reason. Record gold prices have Roadshow guests cashing in on broken jewelry or jewelry they don't wear anymore with our "fair and honest" purchase offers.

Got Gold? This week, visitors can cash in on antiques, collectibles, gold, silver, coins or just about anything that is old.

The Roadshow encourages anyone planning a visit to take a minute and examine their jewelry box or their lock box at the bank and gather anything that's gold. If a guest is not sure if something is gold, bring it anyway and the Roadshow staff will test it for free. Other gold items of interest include gold coins, gold ounces, gold proof sets and dental gold.

Other types of items Roadshow experts hope to see include old toys and train sets. Archie Davis, roadshow toy expert spoke about some of the top toys getting great offers. "Old tin windup toys from the late 1800's through the 1960's are in great demand now," said Davis, "Especially those that are character related. Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, the Flintstones or any character toys are sought. Old Buddy L toys from the 1920's to 1960's are in demand." Basically any toys made before 1965 are wanted. Train sets made by Lionel, American Flyer, Marklin and others have the potential to fetch high prices. Davis also stressed, "Toys with boxes and in mint condition bring sensational prices. Most of the toys that come to the Roadshow are not in perfect shape but can still bring good prices from collectors."

When expert Tom Fuller was asked what he enjoyed most about working at the Roadshow, he was quick to answer "Old coins and paper currency. For as long as I can remember I have been fascinated with collecting coins. I would go through the change in my parents grocery store looking for rare dates and errors. Once, I found a silver quarter that I sold for $300.00. Not bad for an 8 year old."

Fuller went on to explain that any U.S. coins made before 1964 are most sought after by collectors. Coins made before 1964 are 90% silver and valuable because of the silver content or could be worth even more if one happens to be a rare date. "We help people sort through their coins for unique dates. We buy all types of coins at the Roadshow from wheat pennies to buffalo nickels, which are valuable from one coin to an entire truckload. See you at the Roadshow," said Fuller.

Holiday shoppers find plenty to buy on Black Friday

BY SUE MASON
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Gary Martin was prepared to wait, that was his job for the day after Thanksgiving shopping spree. All you had to do was read the back of his T-shirt. Embroidered in red and green, it announced that the Garden City resident was the "official line holder."

His job: waiting in long checkout lines while his wife, Alice, and sister-in-law Kristie Thompson of Livonia shopped.

"We started out around 2:30 a.m. this morning," said Martin who sat in a chair in the center's Central Court scratching off instant lottery tickets. "We've been to five stores and Target was the worst. I waited in line 1 1/2 hours once we got in the door. They got a lot of good buys, most of it's in the car."

"He's been the official line holder for eight years, including last year. Even on crutches and in a wheelchair, he still did it," said his wife.

Nearby, it was obvious Susan Howard of Brownstown Township and her group had yet to make a trip to their car. A wheeled cart from Kohl's was heaped high with bargains the party of seven had gathered at J.C. Penney, Sears, Aeropostale and Victoria's Secret.

"We got up a midnight and hit Aeropostale at Southland mall," said Howard. "Then we met up here with my five daughters for more shopping. We've gotten everything we've come for."

The meeting place is actually Renee Cooper's home in Garden City.

"I'm mad because I couldn't fall asleep early so I could get up," said Cooper. "I'm usually up first, but my sisters were on the ball this year."

And even though she was late to rise, Cooper did "make a big dent" in her holiday shopping.

According to Howard's daughter Chynna Howard, "there were a lot of good deals." She stood in a long line at Victoria's Secret with her cousin, Celia Cooper of Riverview, to get a free bag containing samples of perfume and lotions.

"You spend $60 and get a bag, it's a treat for us," said Celia Cooper.

"It's a yearly tradition," added Chynna Howard.

Calvin Crawford didn't look thrilled to be on the shopping expedition with his mother, Tonya, and Williamae Lane of Westland, even though the youngster had bought watches and jewelry for cousins and grandmothers.

"I really didn't want to go, but I had no choice," he said.

The trio started their shopping at Walmart where Tonya Crawford admitted that "I didn't know they had a back lot."

"The shopping is great, we've caught a lot of good sales," the Garden City resident said. "We stayed true to our plan. We knew what we wanted, we knew what to look for. We did miss out on the laptops and TVs. We didn't need them, but they were a good price."

Dressing up for the shopping spree is a given for Diane Musser of Livonia, a part of the five-member Holiday Bargain Hunters who have been shopping as a well-coordinated team since 2004.

The group has a coordinated outfit with red vests decorated with a patch designed for each shopping year. This year's patch has question for Santa: Define good. They also wore red shoes and matching socks that say naughty and nice, had purses Musser found in Florida that looked like Santa's jacket and reindeer antler headpieces.

"We've already been to ToysRUs, Target, Office Max and Best Buy," said Musser. "We come here to check out the mall, then go and have breakfast and come back to shop."

The Bargain Hunters include Musser, daughter Aimee of Commerce Township, and Diane's sisters, Laura Condroik of Jacksonville, Fla., Sue McCann of Madison, Conn., and Lisa Barnett of Baton Rouge, La. Also a part of the shopping spree is their mother, the late Patricia Piper. The sisters promised her they'd take her with them to shopping and bring an urn containing her remains.

Jennifer Fenech and her family didn't come quite as far as Barnett to shop. The family hails from Thompson Station, Tenn., and were in Michigan to visit mom Sharon Welke of Dearborn.

"We been out since 5:30 a.m., we've already made a quick trip to the car," said Fenech.

The shopping trip included husband Adam, sons Adam and Austin and daughters Alexis and Sierra.

Little Adam wasn't thrilled to be involved, but had to admit he got a few early presents — a stop watch and sea patrol boat.

"This is a tradition, we've been doing this for eight years," Fenech said.

Bags in hand, Jaylee Lynch had determined she had her

Christmas shopping almost done after making her way through the entire mall.

"I was here to shop and ran into things I hadn't thought of," said the Garden City resident, showing off her "catch of the day," a dog bank that barks and moves its ears when you put money in it. "I found sales on everything. I just fell into things."

Homemade gifts for the holiday season

As busy as the holiday season can be, there are many good reasons to spend the extra time on homemade gifts. When giving to a number of people such as neighbors, coworkers, teachers, etc., creating a "batch" of gifts can be cost-effective and fun! For those special someones in your life, something made by hand can convey a heartfelt sincerity not found in most store-bought gifts.

Even if you do not consider yourself a "crafty" person, there are a lot of things you can do to show those you care about that you are thinking of them this holiday season. Consider enlarging and framing a picture of you and a loved one, personalizing a store-bought gift with ribbon, paint, embroidery or glass etching, or using your computer to create a music CD with personalized cover.

You will be surprised by what can be accomplished with a hot glue gun, an iron and solid-color fabric, or custom clip art (tip: try MarthaStewart.com for calendar templates, tag stencils and more).

For those more "craft-inclined," the library has a wide variety of books on paper arts, candle making, glass etching, drawing and painting, framing, photography and pretty much anything you can sew, knit, embroider or otherwise apply needle and yarn to in the pursuit of a unique gift. For knitters, the library hosts a drop-in knitting group every Wednesday complete with tips and instruction for all skill levels.

Beginning in December, the William P. Faust Public Library of Westland will be hosting four programs aimed at teaching you about inexpensive ways to make heartfelt gifts for everyone on your "nice" list. We'll be making candy wreaths and hot chocolate kits (great for teachers and co-workers!), learning how to etch glass and exploring inexpensive ways to create beautifully-wrapped gifts without breaking the bank.

Feel free to give us a call (734-326-6123), check the online catalog (catalog.westland.lib.mi.us/) or stop by the library to learn more about our resources for innovative and crafty gift-givers.

Purchase of long-term care calls for caution

Q: Dear Rick: I just read that MetLife is getting out of the long-term care area. I've had a MetLife policy for 10 years and I'm sure I cannot qualify for a policy with a different company. Do I have any options and what do you think I should do? I paid for 10 years under this policy.

A: MetLife did announce it would stop selling long-term care policies. However, the company also stated it will continue to service existing policies. MetLife has been one of the largest long-term care companies and it has over 500,000 policies in effect. As long as you continue to pay your premiums you will be covered.

I've done some research regarding the MetLife situation. At this point in time it does not appear that MetLife has any plans to sell its long-term care business. However, it would not surprise me if that happened sometime in the future. Typically, when insurance companies sell a portion of their business to another carrier, that company assumes the original insurance company's obligations and there is very little effect to the policy holders.

One question many people may be asking is why MetLife and other companies have left the long-term care business. I think the simple answer to that is economics. People are living longer and these insurance companies are finding that more people are collecting on their policies. Therefore, these types of policies are not as profitable as they used to be. This is one of the reasons that many of the long-term care companies have asked for substantial premium increases. In fact, over the last few years some companies have increased premiums by as much as 40 percent.

I anticipate that many long-term care insurance companies are going to re-evaluate their policies and the business of long-term care in the near future. How many more companies decide to leave the long-term care business, I don't know, but I do know that premiums will rise in the near future.

I know that many people are sold long-term care policies with the idea that premiums cannot increase. Unfortunately, when agents tell you that, they are being less than honest with you. As far as I know there are only two types of long-term care policies where premiums cannot increase. These types of policies are a single-pay long-term care policy or a limited-pay long-term care policy with a rate guarantee.

A single-pay long-term care policy requires that you make one premium payment and that is it. As long as you live you are covered by that policy. Since you are only making one premium payment, there cannot be a rate increase.

The second type of policy that does not have a rate increase is a limited-pay long-term care policy. If these types of policies have a rate guarantee, then the premium cannot go up. Typically, in these types of policies, the policy holder pays a fixed premium for a fixed number of years. For example, a limited-pay long-term care policy with a rate guarantee ensures that if you pay the premium for five years, the policy is paid up and cannot have additional fees. Of course, in reality most people cannot afford a single premium long-term care policy or even a limited-pay long-term care policy. Most people that have long-term care policies have a standard pay policy where premiums can be increased.

For those who have had MetLife for a number of years, there are limited options at this point in time. However, for those who recently purchased a MetLife policy, it may make sense to shop around for a new company dedicated to the long-term care market place.

The long-term care insurance industry is going through a restructuring. How it will settle, I don't know. If you are thinking about purchasing a long-term care policy, proceed with caution. A long-term care policy can be an important part of someone's overall personal financial plan and that is why changes in the industry are important to you. MetLife said it does not intend to sell the business and those policies will be maintained as they always have been. I hope that is the case. However, the reality is that even in the best of times insurance companies sometimes make it difficult to collect on valid claims. Consequently, when a company is winding down its business it may be a little more difficult to collect on valid claims. Therefore, be vigilant when it comes to claims.

Good luck!

Teen caught following police chase

Police Chase

A Westland teenager is facing charges that he stole a car and led police on a high speed chase through several communities before crashing in Ann Arbor early Monday, Nov. 22.

The vehicle was reportedly stolen in Westland. Romulus police attempted to stop the vehicle at about 1 a.m., but reportedly the teen fled at speeds of 90-110 mph on I-94.

The chase ended when the car crashed into the median wall near State Street in Ann Arbor. Officers from Michigan State Police, the Washtenaw County Sheriff Department and Van Buren Township assisted in the chase.

The teen driver was taken to a local hospital after the accident and then taken to jail. As a juvenile, his name has not been released.

Larceny from building

A laptop computer was reported stolen from the computer lab at Cambridge Alternative High School Nov. 17.

The teacher told police he discovered the computer missing from the desk of a student who had asked to go to the office because he wasn't feeling well. The teacher checked the classroom for the laptop. He also said that none of students in the class had bags large enough to conceal the computer.

A security camera reportedly showed the student leave the lab with a red backpack and go to the bathroom before leaving the school without reporting to the office. The student reportedly denied having anything to do with the missing laptop and said he had gone to the office for some medicine before leaving the school. The office staff reportedly didn't recall the student coming in before leaving.

The computer was valued at $1,500.

Identity theft

A 42-year-old Garden City

woman filed a complaint with police Nov. 18 after she started receiving calls from cell phone companies, hotels and collection agencies about outstanding balances on accounts in her name.

She told police she did not make any of the purchases and didn't give anyone permission to use her information to do so.

Vandalism

A landscaping brick was used to break the glass in the door of Sunoco Gas Station at 32843 Ford Nov. 19.

A surveillance video reportedly showed a white male with a white scarf around his face throw the brick at the window. When the alarm sounded, the suspect fled on foot.

Damage was set at $500.

Larceny from a vehicle

More than $700 in hand tools, a miter saw, band saw, socket set and drill were reportedly taken from a tool box in an open bed of a pickup truck parked on the street in the 29000 block of Sheridan sometime between 10:30 p.m. Nov. 18 and 6:45 a.m. Nov. 19.

The owner told police the tool box locks were not very secure and it's easy to open the box without a key.

A GPS navigational system and iPod were reportedly taken from at vehicle parked on the street in the 28000 block of James Avenue Nov. 19-20.

Vandalism

The manager of Sure Stop Auto, 6940 Middlebelt, told police that on Nov. 17 he discovered the window of a sliding door on the passenger side had been shattered. The car had been parked in front of the business at the time.

The vehicle wasn't searched, and the owner of the van said that there had been nothing of value in it.

A large piece of concrete was used to break the driver's side rear window of a vehicle parked in a lot at Garden City Opportunity Mamom, 6337 Central, sometime between 10 p.m. Nov. 19 and 8 a.m. Nov. 20.

The piece of concrete was found on the floor in the back-seat of the car.

Warrant arrest

A 38-year-old Inkster man was arrested after he reportedly was found in Garden City Park after curfew with a 35-year-old Detroit woman at 11 p.m. Nov. 20.

The couple was found in a vehicle parked in the lot by the Civic Arena. The woman was ticketed for a park hours violation while the man reportedly was held for failure to appear in 22nd District Court on a marijuana possession charge.

Wish You Were Here

When Denise Spillman of Tecumseh drove her parents, Ron and Pat Kendra of Westland, to Traverse City for vacation, they made sure to take a day trip to the Legs Inn in Cross Village where they posed with their Observer for a Wish You Were Here snapshot. According to the Kendras, they drove through Charlevoix, Petoskey and Harbor Springs to get to Cross Village where they "enjoyed a delicious, authentic Polish lunch." Afterwards, they walked around the flower gardens and enjoyed the view of Sturgeon Bay. Last-minute Stevenson goal stuns Churchill, 4-3

Palushaj gets game-winner, hat trick

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The traditional Thanksgiving Eve game between boys hockey rivals Livonia Stevenson and Livonia Churchill proved to have all the stuffings and plenty more.

And it was Andrew Palushaj who provided the dessert as he notched a hat trick, including the dramatic game-winner with only 8.5 seconds remaining Wednesday night to give Stevenson a 4-3 comeback win over the Chargers at Edgar Arena.

Palushaj, a 6-foot, 195-pound senior assistant captain, took a pass from Justin Shureb and scored on a two-on-one breakaway to break the 3-all deadlock after the Spartans won a face-off in their own end with just 18.2 seconds remaining.

"My friend Ryan (Urso) made a great play," Palushaj said. "He chipped it to Justin Shureb and he (Shureb) made a great play back door to me."

Palushaj scored all three of his goals during the final period to help erase Churchill leads of 2-1 and 3-2.

"We had to wake up because the first two periods we thought it was just a hockey game," Palushaj said. "Coach (Gerry Vento) came in and talked to us. We woke up and played in the third."

"We had to wake up and play. We haven't lost to them in a couple of years. We were losing the battles and we had to win them. We were getting outworked."

With the all-important Kensington Conference crossover victory, Stevenson improved to 2-1 overall and 1-0 KLAA's Central Division.

Churchill, meanwhile, falls to 2-1 overall and 0-1 in the KLAA's South Division.

"Mental mistakes killed us," Chargers coach Pete Mazzoni said. "We were our own worst enemy. Two five-on-threes — got nothing — and gave up two short-handed (goals)."

"Just too many mental mistakes on our end. It's a shame because we started off pretty good."

It was 0-0 after the first 17-minute period as Stevenson took four penalties in the opening period. But Churchill failed to convert including a two-man advantage on the power play for a minute and 36 seconds.

The Chargers, however, scored twice in the first 3:55 of the second period to take a 2-0 lead.

Michael Gambino's backhand shot past Stevenson goaltender Connor Humitz at the two-minute mark after Matt Sinclair capitalized on a Spartan turnover at mid-ice.

Steven Klisz then scored just 1:55 later on assists from Chris Mireles and Nick Proben.

Churchill got another five-on-three power play chance at the 6:17 mark with a chance to go up 3-0.

That's when Mazzoni called a timeout to go over strategy.

"We thought we saw something by moving the box around a little bit, but we weren't disciplined enough to execute it," the Churchill coach said. "We had the exact same scenario against in the (North) Farmington (Harrison) game and they did it."

Meanwhile, Stevenson first-year coach Gerry Vento also used the timeout to regroup his team.

Girls hoop season tips off Tuesday

Rockets boosted by PSL transfers

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The landscape for area girls basketball is undergoing quite a makeover.

There are new coaches at five of the nine schools.

Players are also transferring, most notably into Westland John Glenn where the Rockets have picked up three high-profile cagers from the Detroit Public School League.

Chelsea Williams

The Rockets, 6-15 a year ago, could be a factor in the KLAA South Division race where Canton, a Class A state semifinalist with a slew of returnees, remains a heavy favorite.

That will definitely put second-year coach Mark Anderson under the microscope.

Anderson hesitates to call the transfer triumvirate "The Big Three," but the Heat could be on.

Glenn's new faces include 6-foot-1 junior forward Erica Covile, who averaged 23 points and 12 rebounds per game at Detroit Cody; 6-foot junior forward Joslyn Massey, a key reserve last year for state Class A runner-up Detroit Renaissance; and 5-9 sophomore guard Shakeya Graves, who spent the first semester of her freshman year at Detroit King before returning to Westland in January and sitting out the second half of the season due to MHSAA transfer rules.

Massey's transfer has been red-flagged by the MHSAA, according to Anderson.

"Her move is OK, but they're delaying her from playing right away," he said. "She might not be eligible until Jan. 18."

So how are things shaping up for the Rockets?

"We're going attack the defense, play up-tempo," Anderson said. "We'll let the girls play to their abilities. The new players are blending in. They're starting to get an understanding of what I want and what's best for them to display their talents."

Livonia Franklin (18-6), another formidable member of the KLAA South, still has two starters remaining from the 2008-09 Class A state runner-up team led by 5-9 senior

BILL BRESLER | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Stevenson's Kristen Balhorn (41) and Churchill's Erin Menard (34) both averaged in double figures for their respective teams a year ago.

Oh Lourdes: 1-6 Madonna loses, 65-62

Madonna University squandered a 20-point half-time advantage Tuesday as host Lourdes College (Ohio) roared back for a 65-62 men's basketball triumph at the Tam O'Shanter Complex.

The Crusaders shot a blistering 62 percent (16-of-26) in the opening 20 minutes, but made only 26 percent on just seven second-half field goals to fall to 1-6 overall.

Senior Bryant Slaughter (Westland/Cherry Hill Academy) led MU with 13 points, while sophomore red-shirt Kevin Henry added 11.

Joe Davis paced Lourdes (5-5) and all scorers with 23 points, while Brett Young contributed 17 points and nine rebounds.

After trailing 44-24 at the break, Lourdes opened the second half with a 26-6 run and tied the game at 52-all on a jumper by Davis.

A pair of Gray Wolves free throws followed by a three from John Washington (15 points) put the Gray Wolves up 57-52, and ahead to stay. Slaughter connected on

9-0 Owens derails No. 2 Ocelots

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Owens Technical Community College (Ohio) came out blazing Friday night and the No. 2-ranked Schoolcraft College women's basketball team had no answer.

Hailey Galvan scored 20 points and Jasmine Blanton added 13 to pace a balanced scoring attack as the 12th-ranked Express rolled to an 82-69 win over the Lady Ocelots in the Turkey Shootout at Kalamazoo Valley CC.

"We were not ready to play against a team we've beaten the last two years to go to the (NJCAA Division II) nationals," said Schoolcraft coach

COLLEGE HOOPS

Karen Lafata, whose team dropped to 5-2 overall. "They have a veteran team of sophomores and they remembered. They came out smoking."

Hitting five 3-pointers, Owens (9-0) built a 42-31 half-time advantage and led by as many as 25 points (64-39) with 11:07 remaining.

Schoolcraft cut the deficit to 76-64 with 2:51 to play, but couldn't draw any closer.

Schoolcraft's Shawnicka Thomas, a 5-foot-9 freshman forward from Warren Fitzgerald, scored a game-high 33 points. Sophomore center Kimberly Bee contributed 10 points and 12 rebounds. Owens made 30-of-70 shots from the floor (43 percent), including 8-of-17 from three-point range. The Express made 14-of-22 free throws.

Schoolcraft hit 25-of-60 shots from the field (42 percent), including 4-of-12 from beyond the arc. The Lady Ocelots were 15-of-23 from the foul stripe.

Owens had the edge in total rebounds, 45-39, and made only 12 turnovers to Schoolcraft's 18.

Schoolcraft returned to action Saturday in the Turkey Shootout to face Columbus State (Ohio).

League affiliation: Michigan Independent Athletic Conference (Red Division).
Last year's overall record: 5-13.
Notable losses to graduation: Claire Wood, Anna Schaffer, Devon Linderman, Olivia Bogenschutz.
Leading returnees: Katie Nell, 5-6 Sr. G (second-team all-MIAC Red); Becca Lovell, 5-11 Jr. C; Paige Schmidt, 5-6 Jr. G; Gabrielle LeClerc, 5-7 Jr. F.
Promising newcomers: Dayna Schroeder, 5-10 Fr. F; Amy Cornwell, 5-2 Soph. G; Megan Prieskorn, 5-5 Soph. F.
Stockdale's 2010-11 season outlook: "With only seven players we can't afford injuries. We don't have a lot of experience, but we hope to work hard and put forth a good effort. It's bigger squad than what we had last year. Last year we only had a varsity team. It's still going to be a rebuilding year, but we have a lot of freshman on the JV and expect an even bigger class next year."

guard-forward Chelsea Williams, a first-team All-Observer pick who averaged 15 points, eight rebounds, five assists and four steals per game for the three-time district champions.

New coach Bob Ostrowski, who moves over from Redford Thurston replacing Dave McCall, also inherits 5-9 senior forward Amanda Borioe.

Livonia Churchill (10-11) was hit heavily by graduation losses, but returns a young and tall front line led by 6-1 junior center Erin Menard, who averaged 12 points and eight rebounds a year ago.

Wayne Memorial (1-19), trying to avoid the basement of the KLAA South, returns three-year starter Holland Boertje, 5-9 junior guard; Jane Thayer, a 5-7 senior forward; and Jaylyn Hammac, a 5-8 Jr. G.

In the KLAA's Central Division, Livonia Stevenson (7-15) could be much improved with the return of 6-foot senior center Kristen Balhorn (10 ppg, 8.6 rpg), along with the junior guard tandem of 5-2 Molly Knoph and 5-7 Jordan York.

Meanwhile, Livonia Ladywood (12-11) is also under new management as JV coach Anthony Coratti takes over for Pat Cannon.

Coratti coached a 21-0 JV squad and returns two varsity starters led by 5-10 senior forward Teresa Wojnarowski and 5-9 senior guard Alyssa Anastos.

"Having gotten to know these kids over the last four years and watch them develop, I am extremely excited for this season to begin because I know we will compete and put forth great effort, which is really all you can ask for as a coach,"

BILL BRESLER | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER
Franklin's Amanda Borioe (left) and Ladywood's Teresa Wojnarowski (5) both return as seniors for their respective teams.

Coratti said.

There will also be two new area coaches in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference as Sandra Wade, who moves up from the JV ranks to take over at Lutheran High Westland (6-15) of the MIAC's Blue Division. Wade coached four seasons as an associate coach at Madonna University and played collegiately at Concordia University.

The Warriors, who won a Class D district crown a year ago, lost 6-3 center Emilie Freeman to graduation, but return 6-0 junior center Amanda Terranella.
Next-door neighbor Westland Huron Valley

Lutheran (5-13), a member of the MIAC Red, also has a new coach as alumnus Karen Stockdale, the Hawks' JV coach the past six years, takes over for Kris Ruth. The Hawks top returnee is 5-6 senior guard Katie Nell.

Another new area coach is Katrina Vanover at Livonia Clarenceville (8-12). She takes over for Julie Patterson and will welcome two promising front line players in 6-foot sophomore power forward Ashley Murphy and 6-1 freshman shooting forward Ayanna Buckley. The Trojans will play this season as an independent after the Metro Conference folded.

a three-pointer with nine seconds remaining to make it 65-62.

After Young missed a pair of free throws, Slaughter's game-tying three attempt was short and Lourdes earned its first home victory in school history.

The series is now tied at 1-1 between the two teams with the rubber match set for 7 p.m. Monday at the MU Activities Center.

SCHOOLCRAFT 96, UM-FLINT 71: Karl Moore recorded a game-high 28 points and grabbed 10 rebounds Friday at Schoolcraft College (4-4) pulled away in the second half to beat University of Michigan-Flint (2-12) in the opening day of the Kirtland Community College

Firebird Invitational. Lydell Mason chipped in with 19 points and 13 rebounds, while Daniel Hills (Wayne Memorial) added 14 points, 15 rebounds and six assists for the Ocelots, who led 47-39 at halftime.

Mohamed Elhaj led the Ocelots with 10 assists.
Brian Chols paced UM-Flint with 16 points.

Schoolcraft was 8-of-18 from the foul line, while UM-Flint hit 15-of-29.

Michael hat trick lifts Patriots by Crestwood

Just two games into the 2010-11 boys hockey season, Livonia Franklin has already matched its win total from the previous two seasons.

The Patriots, getting a hat trick from Adam Michael, improved to 2-0 Wednesday with a 7-2 triumph over host Dearborn Heights Crestwood at Canfield Arena.

Franklin outshot the Chargers 45-18 and led 3-1 after one period and 4-1 after two.

Ryan Gavin opened the scoring for Crestwood (1-2) just 1:40 into the game, but

BOYS HOCKEY

Franklin answered with three unanswered goals before the period ended.

Michael scored from Kevin Webb and Tyler Dewhirst at 4:45 followed by Zach Wiacek's goal from Tyler Satkowiak and Mike Diaz at 5:16.

Diaz then scored from Satkowiak and Wiacek at 9:27 of the same period.

In the second period, Michael scored on a power play from Webb and Dewhirst at 9:30 to make it 4-1.

Franklin tacked on three more in the final period to build a 7-1 lead - Wiacek from Diaz at 1:20; Michael from Dewhirst and Brian Roulier at 2:18; and Diaz from Wiacek and Dewhirst at 5:08.

Ryan Krolkowski got the final goal unassisted for Crestwood at 11:46.

Franklin goaltender Travis Ferrier made 16 saves in the victory, which equals the Patriots' combined record of 2-47-1 during the 2009-10 and 2008-09 seasons.

"I just told my guys they dug themselves in this hole with their lack of discipline," he said. "It was up to them to dig themselves out. They created the problem and they had to find the solution."

"We took way too many penalties. We knew it was going to be an emotional game. We talked about that. But we have a lot of guys who are the first time at it and they got a little carried away."

Stevenson finally got on the board with 3:21 remaining in the second period when Josh Pettersson's quick wrist shot from the right point eluded Churchill netminder Alex Estes to cut the deficit to 2-1.

Palushaj's power play goal just 54 seconds into the third period off an assist from Urso knotted the count at 2-all.

But Michael Kutek answered with a breakaway goal at 3:10 off an assist from Jake Ott to put Churchill back on top 3-2.

Palushaj's second of the night at 5:05 off a back-door play from Urso and Dominic Lutz tied the game again at 3-3.

"Those five-on-three kills made a big difference," Vento said of his penalty-killing unit. "They figured out after two periods they played some pretty bad hockey and were only down two goals after giving up all those power plays. They knew they could still win this thing."

Churchill nearly took the lead again with a pair of sterling chances in the final three minutes, but Humitz (23 saves) stood tall.

That set the stage for Palushaj, who notched his third goal of the game.

"I don't remember — actually last year against (Livonia) Franklin," Palushaj said of his rare hat trick.

Churchill outshot the Spartans 26-22 and Mazzoni called the loss "disappointing."

"I like our team, but right now we're own worst enemy and I guarantee that will change," he said. "I guarantee it."

Vento, meanwhile, also sees plenty of room for improvement.

"Everything needs to be tightened up," he said. "I told the guys that was a game we won on sheer talent, but we did nothing system-wise. Pretty much everything — to the neutral zone, although the way through to our forecheck — has to tighten up."

To your health: Year-round sun protection safeguards skin

The temperatures have dropped and clouds have hidden the sun, but that doesn't mean it's safe to forego skin protection regimens during the winter. The amount of ultraviolet (UV) solar radiation that reaches earth remains very strong, even during cooler weather.

Although ultraviolet B (UVB) rays, the main cause of sunburn, are the strongest in the summer, ultraviolet A (UVA) rays remain constant throughout the year. UVA rays account for up to 95 percent of the UV radiation reaching the Earth's surface. Although they are less intense than UVB, UVA rays are 30 to 50 times more prevalent, and go through glass, making sun protection necessary indoors as well as out.

"Our knowledge of the dangers associated with the sun's longer-wave UVA rays has grown significantly over the last few decades," said Dr. Perry Robins, president of The Skin Cancer Foundation. "We now know that UVA radiation can penetrate windows to reach the skin, accelerating skin aging."

The need for sun protection indoors was reinforced in a recent report published in Clinical Interventions in Aging. Eight women and two men had significantly more wrinkles, brown spots, and sagging skin on one side of the face, even though they worked indoors. The side of the subjects' faces that was regularly closer to a window exhibited more signs of sun damage ("asymmetrical facial damage"), and UVA rays are believed to be the culprit. While both UVA and UVB rays can harm the skin and lead to skin cancers, UVB is blocked by glass. However, at least 50 percent of UVA radiation can pass through windows. Using a broad-spectrum sunscreen with an SPF of 15 or higher and one or more of these UVA-protective ingredients — avobenzene, ecamsule, oxybenzone, titanium dioxide, and zinc oxide — along with window film, which can be applied to home, office and car windows, blocks almost all UVA and UVB radiation.

The Skin Cancer Foundation offers

these tips for safeguarding skin during winter:

- Use a broad-spectrum sunscreen with an SPF of 30 when spending extended time outdoors, and don't forget areas such as underneath the nose and chin. Snow reflects up to 80 percent of the sun's UV light, so the rays hit you twice, further increasing your risk of skin cancer and premature aging.

- Wear protective clothing such as a broad-brimmed hat, gloves and UV-blocking sunglasses with wrap-around or large frames.

- Reapply sunscreen every two hours, and immediately after sweating or significant exposure to wind and snow which can wear away sunscreen. Activities such as skiing and snowboarding call for just as much sunscreen as you would use at the beach, since UV exposure increases 8 to 10 percent with every 1,000 feet above sea level.

- Remember to be mindful of time spent in the sun, regardless of the season. Sun protection is a part of a healthy lifestyle.

The Skin Cancer Foundation is the only global organization solely devoted to the prevention, detection and treatment of skin cancer. The mission of the Foundation is to decrease the incidence of skin cancer through public and professional education and research. For more information, visit www.SkinCancer.org.

See warm decor, 'Up North' setting at Christmas walk

BY SHARON DARGAY
OSE STAFF WRITER

The first time Wendy and Ed Crowley's home was on the Livonia Christmas Walk, it not only drew ticket-holders, but homeowners as well.

"Eddy said a lady told him her house was on the walk, but 'everyone is coming in and telling me to go to yours,'" Wendy recalled, adding that the woman had to see what all the fuss was about.

"It's a very different kind of house. A lot of people are surprised there's a house like this in Livonia. You don't even know it's here in the summer."

Designed as a solar structure, set amid woods teaming with wildlife, next to a creek, the 22-year-old house is of post and beam construction and has a tongue and groove fir ceiling. It's the kind of framing found often in a log cabin.

The public will get another chance to see inside the home during this year's walk on Saturday, Dec. 4. It's one of several that will be decorated for Christmas, along with the Hill House at Greenmead's Historic Village. Proceeds go to Friends of Greenmead for the restoration and preservation of the structures on the corner of Newburgh and Eight Mile.

Wendy Crowley hopes the walk not only draws ticket-holders but a few prospective buyers, as well.

"I thought it would be good advertising," she said, explaining that she volunteered to participate this year. The couple plans to sell the house and move closer to their daughter and her family in Washington because Ed has Parkinson's disease.

The stockings are hung on the balcony.

Santas decorate the kitchen.

They also have a son and grandchildren in Alaska.

LEAVING THE STATE

"I'm going to miss this area very much," Wendy said, adding that they also will sell property they own in Saugatuck. "I'm going to miss Michigan because I like the seasons and I like Lake Michigan. But it will be better weather and we have three grandchildren out there."

Wendy, who works as a dental hygienist, is originally from Grand Rapids and Ed is from Jackson. They lived in Detroit after they were married and moved to a small bungalow in Livonia. When they decided to build the house of their dreams it was easy for them to serve as general contractors. Ed is a former construction field supervisor for Skanska who had a part in building the Livonia Recreational Center, the Ford Community and Performing Arts Center in Dearborn and other local buildings.

Wendy identified the layout of the house as an "envelope" design with no major living area on an outside wall. Large windows on the south side of the house, which also includes a sun-room where she stations the family Christmas tree, brings in heat and light, creating a passive solar environment.

The walk-out basement includes a woodburning stove, living area and basement with a bedroom set from Wendy's great-great grandmother.

throughout the house as "country," with build-in shelves and some furniture handcrafted by her husband. He culled some pieces from job sites and renovated them, sometimes adding twigs and branches.

"On the stairwell we have a shelf with a duck collection on it. It's actually a printer's box that used to have type in it. I think it was from one of Ed's jobs," Wendy said.

A pewter nativity scene stands on furniture that was used to hold mail at Wayne State University.

"When Eddy renovated the chemistry building at Wayne State, it was going to be thrown out. I liked it and said why not use it for magazines."

And old kitchen hutch from her family's centennial farm displays a "hodge podge" collection of Santas. One is made from a screwdriver; another is of green glass.

Visitors will see one of Wendy's handmade stained glass sun catchers hanging from a hutch on the sun porch. She crafted the stained glass panels hanging at the south windows, too.

A collection of snowmen decorate tables in the living room and perch along beams near the ceiling. Hand-knitted stockings also decorate a deck on the second floor.

"I hope people look up,"

Wendy said "You have to look up to see them."

Both Wendy and Ed will be at home during the walk. She missed the event in 1994 because she had to work. She's looking forward to it this time.

"I want to be there. And Eddy enjoyed it last time. He loves to talk about the house."

Shop safely on 'Cyber Monday,' watch for Internet predators

Cyber Monday — the Monday after Thanksgiving — means avoiding the crowds, but it also opens the buyer up to attacks from scammers and hackers.

"The convenience and ease of shopping online has replaced the hassle of going to the store for many people, but online shopping has its own set of risks," said Patrick Bennett, Director of Community Relations with the Better Business Bureau (BBB) Serving Eastern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula.

"Taking steps to avoid the fraud online will result in a much happier holiday for everyone — except, of course, for scammers and hackers."

Following are the top 10 tips to help holiday shoppers fight unscrupulous online retailers, scammers and hackers:

1. Protect your computer — A computer should always have the most recent updates installed for spam filters, anti-virus and anti-spyware software and a secure firewall.

2. Shop on trustworthy Web sites — Shoppers should start with Better Business Bureau to check on the seller's reputation and record for customer satisfaction. Always look for the BBB seal and other widely-recognized "Trustmark's" on retailer Web sites and click on the seals to confirm that they are valid.

3. Protect your personal information — The Better Business Bureau recommends taking the time to read the site's privacy policy and understand what personal information is being requested and how it will be used. If there isn't one posted, it should be taken as a red flag that personal information may be sold to others without permission.

4. Beware of deals that sound too good to be true — Offers on Web sites and in unsolicited e-mails can often sound too good to be true, especially extremely low prices on hard-to-get items. Consumers should always go with their instincts and not be afraid to pass up a "deal" that might cost them dearly in the end.

5. Beware of phishing — Legitimate businesses do not send e-mails claiming problems with an order or an account to lure the "buyer" into revealing financial information. If a consumer receives such an e-mail, BBB recommends picking up the phone and calling the contact number on the Web site where the purchase was made to confirm that there really is a problem with the transaction.

6. Confirm your online purchase is secure — Shoppers should always look in the address box for the "s" in https:// and in the lower-right corner for the "lock" symbol before paying. If there are any doubts about a site, BBB recommends right-clicking anywhere on the page and select "Properties." This will let you see the real URL (Web site address) and the dialog box will reveal if the site is not encrypted.

7. Pay with a credit card — It's best to use a credit card, because under federal law, the shopper can dispute the charges if he or she doesn't receive the item. Shoppers also have dispute rights if there are unauthorized charges on their credit card, and many card issuers have "zero liability" policies under which the card holder pays nothing if someone steals the credit card number and uses it. Never wire money.

8. Keep documentation of your order — After completing the online order process, there may be a final confirmation page or the shopper might receive confirmation by e-mail. BBB recommends saving a copy of the Web page and any e-mails for future reference and as a record of the purchase.

9. Check your credit card statements often — Don't wait for paper statements; BBB recommends consumers check their credit card statements for suspicious activity by either calling credit card companies or by checking statements online regularly.

10. Know your rights — Federal law requires that orders made by mail, phone or online be shipped by the date promised or, if no delivery time was stated, within 30 days. If the goods aren't shipped on time, the shopper can cancel and demand a refund. There is no general three-day cancellation right, but consumers do have the right to reject merchandise if it's defective or was misrepresented. Otherwise, it's the company's policies that determine if the shopper can cancel the purchase and receive a refund or credit.

For more advice on staying safe online this holiday season, and to see reports on thousands of online retailers, go to <http://easternmichigan.bbb.org/Consumer-Tips/>.

INFLAMMATION OR IMPAIRMENT

A patient with rheumatoid arthritis may have gnarled and deformed hands. A person talking to the patient may be startled that the patient takes on no medication to treat those hands. A physician would not be so surprised.

The reason is that a doctor caring for a patient with rheumatoid arthritis makes a distinction between joint inflammation and impairment.

If joint deformity comes from inflammation, then adding medication to the patient's regimen is in order. If the hand's appearance results from changes caused by weakened ligaments, lost muscle and destroyed cartilage, then no medication will reverse the hand deformities.

No laboratory test can determine if the hands are inflamed or irreversibly deformed. The doctor must examine the hands with the aim of finding which joints are enlarged from swelling and which joints are off their proper position because of changes in alignment.

X-rays of the hands may help. Even though x-rays cannot show tendons or ligaments, the way the bones line up on the joints give an indication of the extent to which these supporting structures are functioning properly.

Once the doctor determines that the pain and hand deformities come from the effect of wear and strain, then he needs to explain to the patient that more medication will not help the hands. Further medication only runs the risk of unwanted side effects and the expense of co-pays and deductibles.

Instead of medication, the patient needs moderation, that is, using the hands only for what the hands can bear to do. Also, the patient needs to see an occupational therapist at least once to learn what aids for daily living would give assistance.

Loving local hands give warm quilts to Detroit mission

BY JULIE BROWN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Women at Geneva Presbyterian Church in Canton were glad to make quilts for the Detroit Rescue Mission Ministries.

"We started in January with the women's Bible study for their mission project," said Charlene Jones of Canton, who headed up the first-time project with fellow church member Cheryl Caldwell.

The women worked sporadically on the colorful quilts, all the same size, and began weekly sessions in June, said Jones, a registered nurse with Primary Pediatrics in Ann Arbor.

"We gained friendship and fellowship," Jones said. "People said it's been healing."

The 40 quilts went to the Genesis portion of the Detroit Rescue Mission Ministries, which serves women and children.

"Winter is here," said Karen Love, vice president of public relations for the Detroit Rescue Mission Ministries. "You can't be warm enough. We're very grateful for the donation. I think that's a wonderful outreach for that church," the Downriver resident and retired Michigan Chronicle staffer added.

Genesis has a program for teen moms, she said, including expectant moms, with a goal of finishing school. There's also Genesis House II and III for women and children.

Detroit Rescue Mission Ministries gets year-round donations of clothing, furniture, food and other items, said Love. You can find out more at www.drmm.org or by calling (313) 993-4700. There are opportunities for youth groups and others to volunteer year-round, she added.

The women at Geneva have 20 additional quilt kits to finish. "We'll start those in the new year," Jones said.

MANY HANDS

Some Geneva women sewed at home, others cut fabric at the church on Sheldon. Plymouth YMCA youth volunteers helped, as did Sunday schoolers in elementary grades who helped to tie knots.

The knots are tied three times to represent the Trinity of Father, Son and Holy Ghost.

Jones said about 50 people helped "that have had their hands touching the quilts." The core group of women was about 10.

Jones' home church in Toledo, where she grew up, had a woman start a similar project in memory of her mother who had a lot of fabric to use. The Geneva women remembered their mothers while working on the quilts, made to be washable, durable and warm.

WORKING TOGETHER

Geneva member Angie Stark of Canton was able to help one evening. "It was nice working with the other women, the fellowship," said Stark, a Ford employee in Dearborn and mom to three. "Plus knowing you were making something for someone who was homeless."

Stark helped with pinning, tying of knots and matching colors.

The quilts were displayed in the Geneva sanctuary for Sunday, Nov. 21, worship. "I thought it was great," said the Rev. Bryan Smith of Canton, Geneva pastor. He noted missions don't often get new items.

"It hopefully conveys a sense of people being valued and cared about," Smith said.

The DRMM's Love said they serve 3,500 meals a day, touching over 1,400 people daily. "There is a great need," she said, not only in Detroit but also in the suburbs. "The people of the Detroit area are very generous even in these economic times."

"It couldn't come at a better time," Love said of the church donation. "The need in the city of Detroit is high."

Helen Livingston of Farmington Hills will celebrate her 100th birthday next month.

Farmington Hills resident celebrates 100 years

Helen Livingston, currently a resident of Baptist Manor in Farmington Hills, will celebrate her 100th birthday on Dec. 27, 2010. Family and friends will gather with her for a celebration at Family Buggy Restaurant in Farmington Hills. Helen KERRUISH was born in 1910 in Webster Groves, Miss. With her parents and two brothers, she moved to Michigan where she graduated from Northwestern High School in Detroit and attended the University of Michigan. She met her husband, Norman Livingston, through her good friend and future cousin, Doris Fedus. Helen and Norman were married in 1937 and eventually had five sons: Kenneth (Mary Sue) of Troy; Robert (Peggy) of Houston, Texas; the late James Livingston; John (Christine) of West Bloomfield; and William (Carol) of Farmington Hills. Sadly, Norman died before their youngest son, William, was born. As a widow, Helen raised the five boys on her own, working as a school secretary in Detroit. Middle son, James, died in the Vietnam War, but the other sons went on to earn graduate college degrees. Helen is the proud grandmother of David, Megan, Eric, Joel, Ian, Kim, and Jennifer. She also has five great-grandchildren: Chase, Adam, Elijah, Jonah, and Joshua. With so many athletic males in the family, she always has been an avid sports fan. A "night owl," she also enjoys playing card games, especially in the evenings. After retirement, she had the luxury of time to volunteer and to travel extensively, both domestically and abroad. She continues to be an avid reader of the New York Times and library books, works crossword puzzles daily and enjoys socializing with friends over cards and games. The secret to her longevity? Helen jokingly says it's dark chocolate and potato chips.
