Mayor wins Lions award

The Lions Club of Westland, a chapter of Lions International, has awarded the Pure American Award to Westland Mayor William Wild for "exceeding expectations of family, community and God in providing tireless service and consideration for others."

The award recognizes the mayor's contributions on behalf of the city, including the remediation of Thomas H. Brown Central City Park, Mission Green and Passport to a Healthy City. Active in the U.S. Conference of Mayors, a key initiative of Wild has been for Westland to be among the nation's healthiest cities, from its nationally acclaimed, award-winning recycling program and local farmers market to physically fit youth and active adults.

"Mayor Wild exemplifies the spirit of this award through his many efforts to improve the quality of life for everyone living in, working in or visiting Westland," said George Marvaso, a Westland Lions member. "I can think of nobody more deserving than the mayor to earn this prestigious award."

Westland council eyes fire union merger

By LeAnne Rogers
Observer Staff Writer

Two agreements that would move forward the merger of the Westland and Wayne fire departments have been presented to the respective city coun-

One agreement is a letter outlining the merger of the two firefighter unions into a single collective bargaining unit. Both cities need to agree to that consolidation and also an Interlocal Agreement creating the joint tinue to operate under their fire department. adopted budgets and pay the

"This is phase 2 of about 10 phases," said Wayne-Westland Fire Chief Michael Reddy, whose hiring as a shared chief started the merger process. "We'll see savings of $10,000 to $40,000 that we would have paid for mutual aid. We won't pay that for Wayne anymore."

Likewise, Wayne would no longer pay for Westland's assistance under mutual aid. At present, each department would continue to operate under their adopted budgets and pay their own bills. But the firefighters are already working as a combined unit.

"We've been doing it now sharing resources, going back and forth," said Reddy. "The agreements let us operate as one."

To allow time for both councils to review the agreements, approval of the agreements won't be sought until the second meetings set in October.

"The firefighter unions voted to merge the unions — it already passed overwhelmingly," said Mitch Tokarski, president of the Westland Firefighters Union. "There will be one union with a different name. This outlines the procedure in the contract to make this happen."

Along with a combined workforce of 90 firefighters, the departments will also share equipment which avoids duplication

2012 Westland First Citizen

Sharps have different style, same goal — a better world

By Sue Mason Observer Staff Writer

Ken Sharp says his wife, Carol, has always been involved "where things are needed.

"She has never stopped helping and working to make the world a better place," he said. Carol Sharp says there is but one word to describe husband Ken and that's "selfless." He gives to his family, his friends, also to the community and those who are hungry.

Put them together and you have the recipients of the 2012 Westland First Citizen Award which will be presented at the Westland Chamber of Commerce's Awards Celebration Wednesday, Oct. 10, at Joy Manor.

The couple was nominated by Westland Mayor William Wild who had Ken write Carol's nomination and had Carol write Ken's. Neither knew what the other was doing, it was a "big secret." Three days after being told they had won the city's highest honor volunteerism, they had yet to sit down and read what the other wrote.

"We may have to do that together," she said. "Our goals are the same, but we have different styles. We both want the same kind of world."

"It's unbelievable," said Ken.
"I never thought about doing it for the recognition. This was a big part of me during my 25 years with the fire department.

Sharp is a active in the Westland Land Lions Club. He started out helping Mack Mayfield with the golf outing and after about 15 years he asked his friend what he thought about him joining the club.

"Mack had never asked me to join, so when I told he said he'd love that," Ken said.

Ken's work to the organization has won him the Melvin Jones Award in recognition of his dedication and commitment. He also serves on the Westland Planning Commission has helped the Westland Goodfellows and is his wife's "transporter." Wherever she needs stuffed delivered, he's there to help.

Nonprofits share proceeds from Blues, Brews and Barbecue

By LeAnne Rogers
Observer Staff Writer

Local nonprofit groups who volunteered at the recent Blues, Brews and Barbecue were presented with oversized checks Monday — the real checks were in the mail.

In a wrap of last month's two-day event,
Westland Mayor William Wild noted that 11 charities had provided more than 100 volunteers for the event.

After the participating restaurants were paid, $17,500 was raised, he said, compared to $10,500 raised last year for six charities.

"I want to thank all of the organizations. The volunteers kept costs to a minimum, so we were able to return more money to the charities," said Wild.

In particular, Wild said he wanted to thank Ken and Carol Sharp, who had coordinated the volunteers workers.

Those comments were echoed by Council President James Godbout.

"Thanks to all the volunteers, this would not be possible without all the volunteers," he said. "The money we are able to give back to the volunteers is small compared to their efforts. We'll need more volunteers next year when we do it again."

Receiving checks, the amount determined by the number of volunteers and hours worked,

Number, please: City has limit on compost bags, cans for fall

By LeAnne Rogers
Observer Staff Writer

Some ambitious homeowners like to get all their leaves collected and bagged up all at one time.

That could cause a problem for crews collecting the compost curbside, so Westland is reminding residents about limits on the number of bags or cans that can be put out for collection each week.

"We haven't had a problem. It's just a reminder. We have people trying to put out 30-40 bags of leaves," said Department of Public Services Director Kevin Buford.

During the majority of the compost season — first week of April until the first week of December — 10 bags or five cans of compost are accepted. However, during the fall months of October through November, the amount of compost bags or garbage cans containing leaves is doubled to accept up to 20 bags and 10 cans of leaves each week.

This is done in an effort to help residents dispose of the large volume of leaves experienced during this season, said Mayor William Wild.

Residents are being reminded not to put leaves in street or loose leaves at the curb. All leaves must be in a can marked compost or in brown paper leaf bags. They also are being advised to be mindful of the weight of the garbage cans and/or compost bags that are being put out to the curb as wet leaves will become heavy.

The city's waste hauler will pick up leaves on the resident's regularly scheduled trash and compost pickup days until the first week of December when the program ends.

This date is used because typically because most composting facilities stop accepting materials at that time. In the past some composting facilities have expanded the date due to unseasonably warm temperatures, and the city has continued to allow compost disposal beyond the first week of December. If that opportunity arises this year, the city will send notification using various sources or media, including the newspapers and the city website.

Anyone with questions or needing more specific information can call DPS at (734) 728-1770 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Hayton: Find ways to reduce spending

Jeffrey Hayton is concerned about the negative impact a fiscal crisis could have on the Wayne-Westland Community Schools district. It's a big reason the Westland resident is making a second bid for an elective seat on the Board of Education.

"I am a longtime resident with two children in the school district," he said. "I'm concerned that the district is heading for a financial disaster which will negatively impact the education of students in the district and the community in general."

Hayton served on the school board for several months in 2011, after being appointed to replace longtime school board member Martha Pitsenbarger. He believes that prior experience will serve him well, if he is elected to one of two six-year terms that will be filled in the November. school election.

"I believe my prior experience as a board member and my work experience in reducing costs through process improvement and contract administration will be helpful in finding methods to reduce spending while improving the quality of education for students," he said.

With school funding from the state at levels lower than 2008, where do you think the Wayne-Westland Community Schools can trim expenses to maintain a balanced budget?

I think that every area of expenditure has opportunities to find savings. I would like to see the district begin to benchmark some of its spending against other districts to identify areas where we spend comparatively more than other districts.

We need to be more aggressive in seeking low prices and discounts from vendors and suppliers.

A lot has been said about putting more money in the classroom. What is your definition of putting more money in the classroom and how would you accomplish that?

"Putting more money in the classroom" is about allocating a higher percentage of our budget into activities and services that directly impact the educating of students. This requires spending less in noncore educational activities, such as administrative overhead.

. I would work with the board and administration to find administrative efficiencies and eliminate redundant or unnecessary activities that do not add to the learning process

What is your main goal, if elected, and how do you plan to accomplish it?

My main goal will be to work with the board, administration, parents, teachers, students and other stakeholders to bring the district into a financially stable state while helping our students to reach their highest academic potential.

Weaver: Keep the focus on students

Frederick Weaver has three reasons for seeking election to the Wayne-Westland school board. The first is to work with the administration to solve the district's per pupil funding difficulties.

The second is to get the district's funding language restored, and the third is to work closely with Weaver is campaigning for one of two six-year terms on the board after being appointed in August 2011 by the Wayne RESA Board to fill a vacancy. He also was elected to the board twice and served until resigning in 2008.

"What makes me the best choice for the school board is my experience," said Weaver. "I have served for nine years on this board. In that time, I have served three years as president, one as secretary and one as treasurer. My attendance at meetings is nearly per-

Unfortunately, continued cuts will have to be made. However, I am a strong proponent of keeping our teachers, bus drivers, custodians and other workers in the district and have continued raises when applicable. I believe that well-paid workers are happy workers. If the workers are happy and feel appreciated, it will show in the classroom in the area of students achievement. A lot has been said about putting more money in the classroom. What is your definition of putting more money in the classroom and how would you accomplish that?

Again, I would start with a continued investment in our staff. After that, we need to keep improving in the are of technology. Our children learn at tremendous rates of speed. Technology allows us to invest in the way that students learn.

What is your main goal, if elected, and how do you plan to accomplish it?

Keep the focus on students. Our students are progressing in every school in the district. Test levels show that continued improvement throughout the district. This goal transcends to students who are not achieving at a higher level. We must nor forget about them. Every student showing improvement every year.

Sponsored by the Westland Downtown Development Authority and the Westland Chamber of Commerce, Wild said the second annul event was well-received. Westland native and former American Idol Josh Gracin was the musical headliner.

"Josh Gracin was very well received, he was very gracious and spent a lot of time with fans," said Wild.

If adopted, the Interlocal Agreement with Wayne lets the employees go back and forth between the two existing departments, said City Attorney James Fausone.

"You didn't address that when you approved the chief sharing. This allows sharing and helps with EVIP," said Fausone.

The merger of the two departments with the expected improved efficiency and cost-savings is helping the cities qualify for the governor's Economic Vitality Incentive Program. That , would bring $425,000 in phase 1 funding and over $1.25 million for the current fiscal year, if all EVIP phases are met.

In 1996, Carol formed Warm Hearts, a 501(c)3 nonprofit that reaches out to those in need. The group has provided dictionaries to thirdgraders in the Taylor school district, thousands of Christmas gifts to youngsters around Wayne and Oakland counties and staged workshops that shower mothers with gifts and knowledge.

"People started giving me things and I said 'Sure, sure, sure,' and then I'd find someone with a need," said Carol.

Places like the VA Hospital in Ann Arbor, the Capuchin Soup Kitchen and the Coalition on Temporary Shelter in Detroit have been the beneficiaries of the books, magazines and clothing she has collected, not to mention handmade pillowcase and blankets.

Ex-FBI agent says Hoffa won't be found

By Darrell Clem Observer Staff Writer

Former FBI Special Agent John Anthony of Canton has a strong opinion of when the body of Jimmy Hoffa, former Teamsters union president, will be found.

Never. Anthony believes his 8-year-old grandson, Jack, summed it up perfectly after a tipster notified Roseville police to report Hoffa's body may be buried beneath a Roseville concrete driveway that was once the dirt floor of a shed.

"My grandson said,
'Papa, this is just a bunch of crapola.' I think he's right," Anthony said.

As Anthony had predicted, no human remains were found in the soil removed from the home on Florida Street in Roseville last week. The Rose-

John Anthony

The Roseville Police Department said in a news release Tuesday that it is concluding the investigation.

"Our department just received the soil sample report from Michigan State University, after a battery of tests, and the samples submitted for examination showed no signs of human decomposition," the release stated.

Amid a media frenzy, even Roseville Police Chief James Berlin had indicated local authorities didn't believe Hoffa's body was buried there.

Authorities, however, dug beneath a concrete driveway last Friday and removed four tubes of dirt from the home on Florida Street.

Anthony, a Canton Township trustee, worked part time for several years on the Hoffa case after Hoffa disappeared July 30, 1975, outside a Bloomfield Hills restaurant.

He believes Hoffa was killed by Detroit's organized crime because he was trying to get back into union activity, even though such a move wasn't allowed after then-President Richard Nixon pardoned him for crimes he committed and ushered in his release from prison.

Anthony said he and other FBI officials believed then — and now — that mob leaders wanted Hoffa killed because he was stirring up too much trouble.

"We believe the body was disposed of, probably cremated," Anthony said. "Every once in a while a lead will pop up when somebody's writing a book or wanting to get out of jail or trying to get to heaven."

Anthony once stood in a suspect lineup as one of the good guys when FBI authorities were trying to find Hoffa's killers. Anthony returned to the media spotlight on CNN and other outlets as the latest Hoffa story has again drawn the national spotlight.

Anthony recalled the days after Hoffa's disappearance, when the union leader's wife received a phone call in an extortion

attemnt

"We (the FBI) quickly jumped into the investigation and quickly found out it was an abduction and killing," Anthony said. "The case took on a life of its own."

He estimated probably 1,000 FBI agents across the nation have been involved in the Hoffa investigation. Scores of agents spent the better part of a year working it full time.

Anthony believes the FBI solved the case—that Hoffa was abducted and killed—even though there wasn't a conviction. His belief stems from wiretaps, informant statements and good old-fashioned gumshoe detective work.

FBI officials have long said it appears Hoffa, trying to parlay his ties to the mob and Teamsters officials into his post-prison return, was killed after people he was supposed to meet at the Machus Red Fox restaurant failed to show.

"He called his wife and said he was stood up," Anthony said. "We believe he was picked up by someone he knew and driven to a location where he was killed and his body was disposed of."

In 2006, the FBI dug up a Milford Township horse farm on a tip that Hoffa's remains were buried there. Other rumored Hoffa burial grounds have included Giants Stadium in New Jersey and underneath the Renaissance Center in Detroit.

"This is cool," said Lang. "She's doing quite well. She has a few problems, but who wouldn't at 104."

"We didn't even have a car," said Archibald. "It was at the end of a street where the cars would turn around. We couldn't afford the house, so we moved to Detroit and lived in a house with three rooms — a kitchen, bedroom and living room. My sisters and I slept in the attic where the studs were covered with paper." CIOR WAS BUILD Archibald remembers learning to drive a Model T out in a field. When her father learned she could drive a tractor, "he was so mad.'

"He said, 'Now I'll have ment in Canton until last November when she fell and cut her head.

"I was in rehab for 24 days, they said I'd never walk, but they don't know how stubborn I am," she said. "I do walk, but not well and I'm afraid of falling."

Family ties

Archibald was married twice. She married Nelson Nagorsen in 1931 and they divorced shortly after the war. She had a son, Robert, and a daughter, Jeannine, who was unable to attend the party. She has had three strokes and now lives in American House in Clinton Township.

She married George Archibald in 1947. He died in 1975.

"He died on the golf course," said Archibald.
"We had moved to Florida. He had made a 40foot putt and that was it."

She also held three jobs. She worked at the Kresge store at Seven Mile and Fenkell, at Montgomery Ward — "I outlived them" - and in the office at Chrysler during the war. She retired in 1958 and took care of her grandson.

She's been on her own since 1975," said her sister. "She lived in an apartment until last year and did everything herself. She crocheted and made afghans. She did a lot of craft work and decorated her apartment."

According to Archibald, there was nothing she and friend Sylvia couldn't do.

"We'd put our heads together and figure it out," she said. "We did sewing. What one couldn't do we did it together. There wasn't anything we couldn't make, even clothes."

A lot has changed in the past 104 years. The simple way of life has been ramped up with electronic gadgets, instant messaging and cable TV, but for Archibald, the most important invention is the one thing she treasures the most, her portable radio.

"She's so thankful to have her portable radio. she can't see well, so she listens to it," said Marty Barikmo, who is Archibald's home health care worker.

Employed by Homestead Health Care Services, she put together the party with the help of Patricia D'Agostino, community manager at Westhaven. Her birthday celebration included cake and ice cream, but when it came time to blow out the candles, she needed help.

"To be 104, that's just awesome," said Barikmo. "She's such a special lady."

With front-runner absent, U.S. House hopefuls spar

Observer Staff Writer

Observer & Eccentric | Thursday, October 4, 2012

Sharp differences were apparent Monday as five men campaigning to represent western Wayne County in the U.S. House of Representatives answered voters' questions during a forum in Plymouth.

With front-running Republican Kerry Bentivolio absent, Democrats Syed Taj and David Curson staked out the middle positions on issues ranging from health care to Social Security to job creation to taxes. That showed three third-party candidates, Green Party hopeful Steven Duke, Libertarian John Tatar and Marc Sosnowski of the U.S. Taxpayers Party, in starker contrast, with Duke on the opposite end of the political spectrum from the more laissezfaire Tatar and the conservative Sosnowski.

However, Duke, Sosnowski and Tatar found common ground in challenging a political system they said limits voters' choices.

"Voting for either party is an acceptance of business as usual," Tatar said. "It's time to give a third option a try before it's too

The forum in Michigan's 11th Congressional District race, at the Plymouth District Library, was sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Northwest Wayne County and held before a standing-roomonly crowd of about 100 people.

Taj, Bentivolio, Duke and Tatar are running in the new 11th District, which will take effect in January as a result of redistricting, while Sosnowski and Curson are running only for the remainder of the current term, vacant since Rep. Thaddeus McCotter, a Republican, resigned abruptly in July. Tatar and Bentivolio are running both for the partial term and the full term.

Both the current and the new 11th District includes Livonia, Red ford is in the old 11th District, but not the new.

'Don't get sick'

Candidates had vary-∨ ing views on the future of Medicare, which provides health insurance to Americans 65 and older, and Social Security.

Dr. Syed Taj, Steven Duke, John Tatar, Marc Sosnowski and David Curson were part of the candidates forum at the Plymouth District Library Monday.

A standing room only crowd filled the meeting room at the Plymouth District Library for Monday's forum featuring candidates for the 11th U.S. House District.

Curson and Taj said they would work to keep both programs intact. "This is a contract between the people and government and we have to make sure this contract remains." Tai sai

Tatar said he would keep the programs as they are "until some time in the future," but that they are "not on the top of the table" for him.

Duke said he favors "Medicare for all" as a national health plan, and that he would never favor privatizing Social Security. "Privatizing it will only secure profits for Wall Street and bigger bonuses for executives," he said.

Sosnowski took the opposite view on health care.

"The best health care is, don't get sick," he said, adding that there is no Constitutional provision for national health care. People should take responsibility for their health, he said.

Addressing a question candidates agreed the has increased too fast and by too much.

"There has to be some oversight ... particularly in state schools," Curson said.

"We have to bring the cost of tuition down," said Taj, who said he'd like to see universities cut spending, student-loan interest rates kept low and monthly loan repayment installments capped at 10 percent of a gradu-

Job losses in the last 30 years and the elevation of financial speculation over the same period have had the opposite effect, he said. "Tax the rich," Duke said.

Sosnowski parted company with the others, saying "federal government has no Constitutional role in welfare" and the issue should be decided by

'To help the poor, that's the job of the church, and we should all be tithing," Sosnowski said.

Taxes and spending

On taxes, Taj stuck osely to nation ocrats' view that the federal income tax should go up for higher-income households; he put that threshold at $250,000 for individuals and $500,000 for a couple filing jointly. He said both spending cuts and new revenue have to be part of the solution in balancing the federal budget. Curson said what is currently an uneven system that, for example, gives subsidies to oil companies and has some profitable corporations paying no taxes, needs to be made equitable.

Tatar called for the abolition of the federal income tax, saying that spending needs to be controlled.

Sosnowski called for the income tax to be thrown out and replaced by a national point-of-sale tax of 2 percent. He also called for spending cuts, saying federal departments like the Department of Education and the Department of Energy should be dismantled.

"These are excessive programs and they shouldn't have been allowed" without a Constitutional amendment, he said.

Duke repeated a line from earlier:

"I think I've been pretty clear about, it but let me say again: Tax the rich," he said, drawing laughs.

According to the League, Bentivolio's campaign informed the group last week that the forum conflicted with a previously scheduled event and he would not attend. The League said forum invitations were made in August.

Hopefuls have array of backgrounds, views

By Matt Jachman Observer Staff Writer

The five 11th Congressional District candidates at Monday's League of Women Voters forum at the Plymouth District Library

Democrat Syed Taj of Canton Township, a physician and member of Canton's Board of Trustees. Taj was born in India and came to Michigan 30 years ago.

"In many ways my life has been an American dream," he said Monday.

Taj is running for a two-year term in the redrawn 11th District, which includes Plymouth, Plymouth and Canton townships and Livonia.

 Steven Duke of Livonia, a member of the Green Party. No biographical information about Duke was available. Duke is also running for the full twoyear term in the new district.

• Libertarian John Tatar of Livonia, a retired Stevenson High School teacher and the owner of a home construction company.

"These parties, the Democrats and Republicans, are selling America into slavery, enslaving our people for generations to come," Tatar said.

Tatar is running for both the full term in the new district and the remainder of the current term in the current district, which has been vacant since Republican Thaddeus McCotter resigned in July.

 Marc Sosnowski of Dearborn Heights, a member of the U.S. Taxpayers Party, an affiliate of the national Constitution Party.

Sosnowski is a guest services specialist at Corporate Comfort, which locates apartments for executives, and also works for the Detroit Tigers. Also a candidate for Wayne State University's Board of Governors, Sosnowski is only running for the remainder of McCotter's term.

"The federal government has no business in our health care," he said.

 Democrat David Curson of Belleville, a former autoworker and a United Auto Workers activist, currently executive assistant to UAW secretary-treasurer Dennis Williams. "I've been a problemsolver my whole life. That's what we do in the union." Curson said. He is running only for the remainder of McCotter's term.

Candidates Kerry Bentivolio, a Republican and the front-runner in the latest polling, and Daniel Johnson, of the Natural Law Party, did not attend.

'Star Wars' invades bookstore for Read Day

By Sue Mason Observer Staff Writer

Luke Skywalker and Han Solo may have battled the Stormtroopers in George Lucas's bevy of Star Wars films, but there will be none of that when a few of the fictional characters show up at the Barnes and Noble store in Northville Township Saturday evening.

Costume-clad Star Wars characters, members of the Great Lakes Garrison of the 501st Legion, as well as R2D2 and an X-wing pilot will be at the store at 17111 Haggerty at Six Mile, as part of a nationwide Star Wars Reads Day, an initiative of Lucasfilm and its publishing partners to celebrate reading and Star Wars. Participating publishers include Abrams, Chronicle Books, Dark Horse Comics, Del Rey, DK, Klutz, Random House Audio, Scholastic, Titan Magazines and Workman.

'This event is one of the things we do for Lucasfilms, we'll try to promote the books and get kids reading," said Mike Lica of Garden City. "We get to go out to the event and help promote Star Wars books." Nearly 1,000 volunteers from the international fan-based costuming organizations, the 501st Legion, the Rebel

Legion, the Mandalorian Mercs and the R2 Builders Club are participating at select Star Wars Reads events around the country.

23 events

In Michigan, the 93 members of the Great Lakes Garrison will be at 23 events from as far north as Traverse City to as far south as Monroe. Lica, whose dresses as a Stormtrooper, will do an appearance in Allen Park from noon to 2 p.m.

and then head over to Northville for the evening.

"The adults have more fun then the kids at these kind of events," said Lica. "A lot of guys my age are more excited than the kids because they don't know about Star Wars yet.".

Since 1997, the 501st Legion, also known as "Vader's Fist," has been dedicated to re-creating film-quality costumes of the villainous characters of the Star Wars galaxy and entertaining Star Wars fans with public appearances.

Members fabricate their costumes — no buying off the rackand then submit photos of them to Lucas for his approval. Lica's Stormtrooper costume took about four months to make and his Dremel tool became his best friend during the pro-

"They'll look at the photo and send you an e-mail telling you to fix this or adjust that," said Lica. 'It takes a lot of time to do a costume. It looks overwhelming, but you just make it one piece at a time."

Also a member of the R2 Builders Club, Lica and his brother, Jerry, made a remote controlled R2D2 that does everything but project a holographic image of Princess Leia. Made of aluminum, Styrene and resin, the brothers "had to do a lot of cutting" during the ninths months it took to build it.

'My brother and I worked on it every night," he said. "There were thousands of parts and electronics. It wasn't as simple as a Stormtrooper's costume."

Lica also has gotten his wife Kristie into Star Wars. She dresses as an X-wing pilot.

Limited use

The members are allowed limited use of the copyrighted characters by Lucasfilms as long as they promise to never to use their costumes for personal profit. As a result, much of what members do is raise money for charity, including $12 million worldwide last year.

The Great Lakes Garrison takes part in more than 100 events annually, including Detroit Tigers and Pistons Star Wars Nights, Great Lakes Loons Star Wars Night, Midland Balloon Festival, along with numerous charity walks and . hospital visits. They've also have appeared in the annual Downtown Garden City Santaland Parade for three years.

"We've been used for events by Lucas, the Reading Day is one of them," said Lica. "On occasion he pays us, but only Lucasfilms can.'

The popularity of Star Wars, which first hit the movie screens in 1977 is evident beyond groups like the 501st. There are currently more than 120 million Star Wars books in print and more than 110 Star Wars titles have been on The New York Times best-seller list.

And for Lucasfilms that's good news.

"We at Lucasfilm are proud to be a part of initiatives like Star Wars Reads Day and hope that it will encourage more young people to read, said Carol Roeder, director of publishing at Lucasfilm.

City repairs, re-erects Chief

Tonquish historical marker

By LeAnne Rogers Observer Staff Writer

The Michigan historical marker commemorating the burial place of Chief Tonquish is back in place . along Wayne Road.

Erected in 1977, the historical marker had disappeared at some point after it was knocked down by a vehicle a couple years ago.

A recent letter to the editor in the Westland Observer complained about the missing historical marker. It seems the marker wasn't lost — the Westland Department of Public Services had it.

The vehicle which hit the historic marker sheared off the supporting posts and also damaged the marker itself, said DPS Director Kevin Buford. Getting the proper parts to repair the marker delayed getting it reinstalled.

"It's not like we dropped the ball. We were literally in the process of putting it back up when the mayor called and asked about it," said Buford. "The timing was a coincidence. We just got it repaired."

Students at Tonquish Elementary School, closed in 1978, had collected pennies to help raise the money for the sign honoring the burial place of the Potawatomi Indian leader. The school was subsequently demolished except for a portion which now houses WLND on Warren Road.

The letter to the editor incorrectly stated Chief Tonquish had been fatally shot by a British soldier, said Jo Johnson of the Westland Historical Commission. The chief had actually been shot by a pioneer settler from Dearborn in a dispute over stolen bread, she said.

The marker notes that Chief Tonquish and his son are buried near the site. The marker is located on the east side of Wayne Road at Fountain, the entrance to Holliday Park Cooperative.

Chief Tonquish led a band of Potawatomi Indians in this area in the early 19th century. In 1819, a series of clashes between the Indians and pioneers in the vicinity culminated in the death of a white man. Angry settlers pursued the Indians along the River Rouge to the point where it branches into what is now known as Tonquish Creek. Chief Tonquish was killed in a futile attempt to save his son's life. Their deaths marked the end of significant Indian skirmishes in southeastern Michigan.

. The event reflected many of the tensions and conflicts between Indians and settlers over such matters as food and territory which occurred during the westward movement in America, according to the marker.

This is the second time it was hit by a car. I've asked the manager at Holliday Park to let us know if it happens again," said Johnson. "That way maybe the insurance will cover it and we won't have to pay for the posts."

Museum gala honors men who flew Flying Fortress

Former University of Michigan football coach Lloyd Carr will be the featured speaker at the Yankee Gala, the annual premier event of the Yankee Air Museum.

The gala will be held 6:30-11:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 10. This year, the YAM gala will focus on the legendary B-17 Flying Fortress and the heroic men who flew the heavy bombers into World War II combat for the first time some 70 years ago.

The 2012 Yankee Award for Valor will also be presented to Norm Ellickson, the esteemed founding member of the Yankee Air Force and crew chief of the "Yankee Lady" B-17 which is still flying todav.

"As a museum, and as an organization of patriots, it's paramount that we celebrate our heroes, past and present," said Ray Hunter, YAM chairman of the board. "This year we are very fortunate to honor Robert J. Shoens and the late Joseph W. Edwards, both

The B-17 Flying Fortress and its pilots will be celebrated at the Yankee Air Museum Gala in November.

B-17 pilots of the 8th Air Force in England during World War II."

Hunter said that the entry of the B-17 in the European Theater of Operations (ETO) brought strategic, daylight precision bombing to the enemy's homeland and began to destroy their ability to make war. More than 12,700 of the aircraft were built and nearly 5,000 were lost in combat in the ETO alone. Today, only about 10 B-17s are still airworthy and flying, including the YAM's Yankee Lady.

"Yankee Gala brings us face to face with the opportunity to achieve our purpose of honoring aviation history and its participants through a living, flying museum," added Hunter. "We hope the public will support us, by joining our festivities and taking this opportunity to meet some truly great men."

Yankee Gala will begin with cocktails followed by dinner. There also will be a silent auction. Tickets are $175 per person, $300 per couple. They're available online at www. yankeeairmuseum.org. Information, especially about sponsorships and table pricing, is available by contacting Velda Garcia at velda.fayz@yankeeairmuseum.org or by calling (734) 483-4030.

"The museum will be taking a week-long pause from its normal operations to prepare for this major event, said Kevin Walsh, YAM's executive director. "We're changing everything. We're working every detail. Our exhibit hall will radiate this celebration of freedom."

The museum will be closed Nov. 5-12 to prepare for the gala. According to Walsh, moving airplanes and displays has to be done with great care. The museum will reopen on Tuesday, Nov. 13 and resume its regular sched-

"I'm excited, honored and proud to emcee this event," said Bob Hynes, chairman of the YAM's Public Relations Committee. "The people comprising Yankee Air Museum have genuine, heartfelt admiration and appreciation for America's Greatest Generation. We'll see it outpoured with class on Nov. 10. This will be an evening to remember our veterans at a very memorable event."

Hynes is encouraging the public to observe Veteran's Day 2012 by purchasing a ticket, attending the Yankee Gala and meeting some real heroes to say a simple "thanks."

Yankee Air Museum is located on the grounds of Willow Run Airport at 47884 D St., Belleville. For more information about the Yankee Air Museum, a non-profit 501 (c) (3) organization, visit the museum website at www.yankeeairmuseum.org website.

You can save cash on cable TV

By Jon Gunnells
Guest Columnist

his space is used quite a bit to tell consumers how to get more. More streaming content from providers like NetFlix, more NFL games

from providers like DirecTV. But what's equally important is getting more for less

Jon Gunnells

when paying for content such as streaming video services, cable, Internet or satellite dish services.

Here are seven tips to save money on media services, particularly cable.

• Lower your programming tier. Surprisingly, many cable providers are now offering low price cable subscription options with fewer channels. If you are cable subscriber who doesn't watch much programming this might be a great option. Comcast, for example, offers a $25 basic cable option in some parts of the country.

• Cut the cord. The art of eliminating your cable subscription in favor of NetFlix, Hulu, Amazon Prime or all three. The costs for streaming services like NetFlix are typically around $10 and include access to videos, TV shows and documentaries that you can pause and play at will.

 Negotiate. Tell your current provider that you have a better offer — this option works best when you have many cable or satellite dish providers in your area. Call your cable company and tell them their competitor has offered you a better deal by $5, $10 or $20. The customer service representatives will likely help cut the bill down with a promotional price or transfer you to someone who can. This tactic is especially useful if your cable and Internet bill spiked after a promotional offer ended. Sometimes, the representatives will even add in some free premium channels like three months of HBO.

• If the Internet is telling the truth (and why wouldn't it?) the same approach can be used to lower a DirecTV bill. Try haggling with customer service or counter offering their price. They may lower your bill for six months or a year, whereupon you can call and haggle some more. The worst they can say is no.

• Remove extra equipment. Tuners are typically cheap ($2-$5) per TV, but if you have a them on TV's you don't use, why not remove them. Additionally, if you have an extra DVR that has been forgotten you can cut about $10 by sending it back. You can also try eliminating HD service however, that's one premium feature I'm not willing to part with.

• Buy your own equipment. How much are you being charged for extra equipment that you can buy yourself — maybe up to $20 per month? Consider buying your own modem and DVRs on Craigslist or eBay. The $20 per month works out to be $480 and you don't even own anything. If you bought your own equipment, your rental costs would decrease and you could always sell the items later.

• Get an antenna. Yes, they do still exist and they can still get you a few stations if you don't mind hooking up the rabbit ears and moving them from time to time. They wont pick up digital channels and don't even think about HD service. Still, a TV with an antenna could be useful for a TV in the garage or at the cottage.

• Lower your Internet speed. If you aren't a power user and don't stream videos or download content why not lower your Internet speed? Your provider may be charging you for a premium service that you don't need.

If all else fails, you can always try the old method of looking for spare cash in the couch cushions.

W-W school board race

We recommend Weaver, Hayton

Serving on the school board is the most basic of elective office. It is a modest position that carries a lot of importance and responsibility to the students, the staff and the school community.

Voters in the Wayne-Westland Community Schools District will fill two six-year terms, one held by outgoing Trustee Cindy Schofield and the other held by appointed incumbent Frederick Weaver - in the Nov. 6 election.

Five candidates are campaigning for the two positions. In addition to Weaver, they are Chandra Cozart, Paul Futch, Jeffrey Hayton and Sally Madison. Each candidate would bring different skills to the board. However, the candidates we believe would best serve the district at this time are Frederick Weaver and Jeffrey Hayton.

With the departure of Schofield, there will be only one member with a good working knowledge of what the board does, and that's Weaver. He has served on the board for nine years and has the institutional knowledge to help guide a board through the difficult times the district faces. There are those citizens who believe he should not serve because of his actions four years ago when he took a job in Midland and did not immediately resign. Weaver delayed in vacating his seat after making Midland his legal residence, a violation of state law. He is now in compliance with the law. He lives in the district and he is a registered voter in the district.

He was appointed to the school board in August 2011 by the Wayne RESA board, we believe, because he has experience. His past service has shown his commitment to the students, the parents and the school district.

He has held different positions on the board and during his tenure as president, he started Project 180, a school board initiative to reach out to families and help them turn around their lives.

Weaver has made it clear he has one agenga – to make the wayne-westiang better place for students to learn.

If anything, we would like to see him temper his remarks at board meetings. He is frustrated by the dysfunctional nature of the current school board and it shows. He needs to be and can be part of the solution to helping the board function as a team.

Hayton served on the board briefly in 2011 and understands the difficulties the school district is facing. His learning curve will be less shorter because of his previous experience.

While he believes the district is headed in the right direction, he would like to see school officials look at ways to smooth the transition to scale back services before Wayne-Westland hits the financial brick wall. His concern is what could happen to the programs in place. He believes this district would be well served to look at twoyear budgets so school officials can knowwhat to expect.

He would like to see the district give parents tools they can use to help their children at home and in turn improve learning in the classroom. And he favors the board focus on policies that will strengthen the boards ability to communicate with parents.

The four candidates who participated in the Observer interview process deserve a thank you. We take our job seriously and try to afford candidates every opportunity to express themselves and reach out to voters.

We respect the choice of the one candidate who chose not to be interviewed because of her belief that newspapers should remain neutral in the election process. However, our concern is how open she will be with residents, if she is unwilling to be open with us. An endorsement is subjective and it appears only on our Opinion page.

On Nov. 6, we recommend Frederick Weaver and Jeffrey Hayton for the two sixyear terms on the Wayne-Westland Board of Education.

Marker returned

I would like to commend resident Marty Johnson who recently submitted a letter to the Observer expressing his concern over the removal of the historical marker erected on Wayne Road near Holliday Park Cooperative to commemorate Chief Tonquish, leader of the Pottawatomie tribe. Like Mr. Johnson, I believe it is important to honor our heritage. Respectfully, I would submit that recognizing our origins is but one reason ours is known as the "All-American" city of Westland.

As Mr. Johnson reported, the historical marker was removed from its Wayne Road location upon being struck by a motorist and damaged. City employees removed the marker so that repairs could be made. This included having parts welded together (utilizing the services of a Westland business) and restoring the cast aluminum marker to its original appearance.

I'm pleased to report that the marker has been repaired and is anticipated to be erected this week.

For those readers who may be unaware, Chief Tonquish was killed during a battle attempting to save the life of his son. This battle in 1819 was instrumental to putting an end to the skirmishes among the Pottawatomie and white settlers seeking to locate in what is now known as Westland.

In closing, I trust Mr. Johnson will appreciate that in Westland, it is easier to raise a marker than to raise the

Glad it's back

It is good to see the Chief Tonquish marker back on Wayne Road again. Thanks to all involved in its resurrection. Our city has an interesting history and we need to promote and celebrate it any way we can. And if the marker has returned after all these years, . . who knows, maybe the chief WILL be next!

Won't vote for Weaver

Elections are coming up fast and every voter should be informed. I'm writing this in agreement with a letter written a few issues back. I am not voting for Fred Weaver for the Wayne-Westland school board.

Yes, I have backed him in the pass, but after attending several school board meetings and the informative meetings that I think were study sessions that explained the functions of the school board and the superintendent and the fact that he moved and took a job in Midland without resigning, I have completely changed my mind. This and the fact that he called for another member to resign because of charges he had pending and were later dropped.

There's an old saying, "People who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones." He also remarks about moving forward and at the same time brings up how it always was this way or that. Seems like he wants it both ways as long as they go along with him and the superintendent. All this and then he challenges a private citizen to meet with him one on one? Why would

Most of all, it is every registered voter's duty to vote and be informed. I would love to see this the year Westland had the highest number of voters in its history. If everyone voted, maybe there would be no need for recalls (and that goes for every city in the nation).

Five people are running for two seats on the Livonia school board Nov. 6. We recommend voters elect incumbent Patrice Mang and newcomer Julie Rob-

Mang has been on the board for four years, the last year as president. She has served as a check and balance, helping to bring in a new auditor and voting no on the superintendent's $50,000 raise.

More recently, as president, she gave audience members the opportunity to speak at length about the Webster Elementary abuse allegations and then responded in-depth to questions and concerns at the next regular board meeting.

Under her leadership, the board is putting together a bond proposal for 2013 for building improvements and technology upgrades. She should be allowed to see that project through, regardless of how district resi-

Julie Robinson is the wife of Livonia City Councilman Tom Robinson. She is new to the district, having just lived here two years. We think that is a benefit. While growing up, she attended nine schools across the country before graduating from high school early and going on to earn a master's in business administration.

She benefitted from innovative educational programs involving parents and community leaders, some of which she'd like to see implemented in Livonia. Her background in finance would be an asset as the board considers a bond pro-posal. The mother of a 4-year-old who starts kindergarten next year, Robinson is smart, organized and brings fresh ideas to the dis-

'Fiscal cliff' could trigger some big changes for everyone

By Rick Bloom Guest Columnist

here's a term that you probably have begun to hear lately and it doesn't have to do anything with the presidential election. This is not a term coined by the Democrats or the Republicans, but it is something that concerns us all. The term is "fiscal" cliff" and it describes what automatically happens at the end of this year when the Budget Control Act of 2011 takes effect.

Last year when we had a debt ceiling crisis, a compromise was worked out that increased the debt ceiling. However, the agreement stated that unless the parties agreed to a change, there would be

The budget cuts included substantial cuts to Medicare and defense spending. It's estimated that approximately 1,000 government programs would be affectaddition to the tax increases that are scheduled to take effect next year because of Obamacare. Some of the tax increases will affect individuals who don't pay income tax because, under this legislation, the current reduction in payroll taxes (paid by employees) would no longer be there, resulting in a 2-percent tax increase on

It is referred to as the "fiscal cliff" because even with tax increases and spending cuts, the budget deficit would be cut by more than $500 billion, however, it is also estimated that if these cuts and tax increases take effect, GDP (gross domestic product) predicting the result could . be a recession.

The intent of the legislation was not to have tax increases or budget cuts take effect, but rather to force both parties to sit down and negotiate a bipartisan debt reduction plan. Unfortunately, the environment in Washington is toxic and there is no such thing anymore as bipartisan. Therefore, there is a possibility that these changes will take effect. Of course, there is also the possibility that after the election, the parties will actually sit down like adults and work out their differences.

As we get closer to the end of the year when these changes are implementmore talk about the "fiscal cliff." At this point in time, it's hard to know what someone should do to prepare for this. I believe that after the election, the parties will sit down and work something out. Not because they want to be responsible, but rather because neither party wants to take the blame if the economy goes into a recession.

I'm sure as we get closer to the deadline, there will be lots of articles and commentary from the doom and gloomers. My advice is to ignore them, not because they are never right (even a broken watch is right twice a day), but because more often than

mer. The doom and gloomers were talking about the market meltdown and it didn't happen. The people that rushed out of the market missed a nice little run that the market had this summer.

Will we reach the financial cliff and, if we do, what will be the reaction in the market? I don't know. However, one thing I do know is that investors who are informed will be in a better position to make better decisions with their money.

Churchill upset by Chiefs

DOUGLAS BARGERSTOCK

Churchill's Casey Bias gets down on the floor for the dig in Tuesday's KLAA South Division clash against host Canton.

By Tim Smith Observer Staff Writer

Canton senior outside hitter Erica den Boer tumbled out of bounds to keep the volleyball from touching the floor late during Tuesday's Set 4 against Livonia Churchill - acrobatically batting it back toward her teammates.

That extra effort kept a rally going that enabled Canton to win 25-19 to send the KLAA South Division showdown into a fifth game.

In Set 5, the Chiefs went on to win 17-15 and take the match 3-2, the first league blemish on Churchill's record (33-5 overall, 7-1 in the KLAA South), while delaying the Chargers' divisional title celebration plans.

"Nothing hits the ground, this is our court, this is our house," said den Boer about what the Chiefs' collective mission was against the KLAA South Division leaders. We just wanted to touch every ball like it was our last."

Canton first-year coach Steve Johnson, whose team improved to 20-9-1 overall and 5-2 in the KLAA South, said the energy from the home crowd played a role in helping the Chiefs finally dispatch Churchill in their third meeting of the season.

"I think the crowd was a big force for us, the kids drew a lot of energy off our home crowd," Johnson said. "That was probably the biggest crowd I've seen since we've been here.

"... We didn't have anything to lose by going for it and our team really went for it tonight."

According to Churchill coach Mark Grenier, "it was just a great high school match, two good teams going against each other. We just came up a little short.'

The Chargers, featuring a stellar front row including Marissa Pomaville (23 kills) and Emily Norscia (17 kills), looked in control after taking sets 2-3 by scores of 25-20 and 25-12.

Net presence

Churchill led much of Set 4, too, but the Chiefs drew even 16-16 during a service run by den Boer (18 kills, 25 digs) in which Jordan Diedrick and Alexis Madis put a combo block on a Pomaville spike attempt.

On the tying point, Madis drove the ball over the net with emphasis to remind the Chargers nothing was going to

Plymouth girls rule Kensington golf tourney

By Tim Smith Observer Staff Writer

When Dan Young took over from Chris Moore early this season as Plymouth's varsity girls golf coach, he knew he had an excellent team.

It remains to be seen just how good the Wildcats can be, but they served up even more evidence with Tuesday's dominant first-place finish at the KLAA Kensington Conference meet at Salem Hills.

Plymouth finished with 313 strokes — well ahead of runner-up Northville's 337 tally — and boasted the individual medalist in senior Sarah Thompson (73)

Five Wildcats earned all-conference medals with the sixth member of the team (senior co-captain Danielle Allen) falling just one stroke short of joining them. Allen finished the 18-hole course with a 90 score.

"I'm very proud of the girls, it was a great day,' Young said. "We're very pleased and grateful for having such a great day. And we're very happy.'

Observer & Eccentric | Thursday, October 4, 2012

In addition to Thompson, other Plymouth medalists included senior Kelsey Murphy (74), Sydney Murphy (83), freshman Katie Chipman (83) and Kayla Whatley (84). Finishing third with 357 points was South Lyon, followed by Novi (358), Canton (361), Livonia Stevenson (369), South Lyon East (399), Livonia Churchill (405), Salem (424), Westland John Glenn (485) and Livonia Franklin (no team score).

But the Crusaders couldn't tally the equalizer against Aquinas goalkeeper Mike Sweers, who made four saves. Adrian Motta (Livonia Churchill) had five stops for the Crusaders, who were outshot 19-15

"I am pleased with the performance today, but obviously not the result," MU coach Eric Scott. "They (Aquinas) took their chances well, and we didn't. That's a good team, and you have to be at your best to beat them. I thought Nicholi (LaRocca) and Keith (Swistock) were good for us today.

Spartan volleyball team slams Rocks

Livonia Stevenson is building some late season momentum following a 25-10, 17-25, 25-13, 25-18 KLAA Central Division girls volleyball win Tuesday over visiting

The Spartans, now 15-13-1 overall, evened their division record at 4-4.

Junior Katie Tomasic turned in a solid allaround performance with 13 kills, two blocks, 11 assists and nine digs.

Setter Allie Koestering also contributed 24 assistto-kills and eight digs.

Other Stevenson standouts included Amanda Hawkins (eight blocks, four kills); Holly Mossoian (10 digs, 19-of-23 serve receive); Annie MacDonald (nine digs, 14of-14 serve receive); Abby Whitehead (five aces, four blocks, five kills); Morgan Copperstone (four kills, two blocks); Mara Murray (four blocks); and Meghan Knorp (4-of-5 serve receive).

Patriots downed

In a KLAA South Division match Tuesday, host Plymouth came away with a 25-14, 25-15, 25-19 win over Livonia Franklin.

The Patriots, who dropped to 9-20 overall and 3-5 in the KLAA South Division, got eight kills from Kelly O'Brien.

Afton DeWyse and Kelly Newton chipped in with 14 and 10 digs, respectively, while Sarah Cramton added nine.

Newton and Cramton also combined for six aces.

Warriors prevail

Alissa Flury finished with seven solo blocks and seven kills to propel Lutheran High Westland to a 25-18, 25-16, 22-25, 25-18 triumph Tuesday at Allen Park Inter-City

Other standouts for the Warriors, now 15-

12-5 overall and 3-2 in the MIAC Blue Division, include Leah Refenes (seven kills, nine assists); Sam Roberts (seven kills); Shannon Abbott (10 assists); Julia Yancy (17 digs); Chandler Davenport (six aces, eight digs); and Aldreanna Fikes (nine digs).

Refenes was also 30-of-31 serving with 25 points (including five aces).

"Overall I am happy to pick up the win on the road, but we still had issues with start-ing strong," said Luther-an Westland coach Kevin Wade, whose team fell behind 8-1 before going on a 24-10 run to win the first set. "We can't afford to do that against better teams because better teams will make that lead hold.

"I thought we did a good job serving aggressively today and I thought we played very well at the net and got a lot of touches and blocks."

good to see."

The Rockets had no answer for Wayne's 6foot outside hitter Katie Horton, who finished the match with 17 kills, seven blocks and six ace serves. The senior, bound for Ohio University also paced the defense with a team-high 16 digs.

Other contributions for the Zebras came from junior Deja Tamlin (five kills, seven blocks, two aces); senior Samantha Hershey (seven digs, four assists); junior Savannah Monette (six assists); senior Ashley Carey (six digs, two kills); and junior Danielle Robbins (three

"This was our best performance (against Glenn) by far," Dye said. "We've been struggling, not coming together as a team. We went into (Livonia) Franklin and finally stepped up last week and now we're continuing it this week.

"We kind of said, 'Hev,' things aren't going to be handed to us. We've got to work hard and they're not going to be handed to us.' They realized that and they knew last year they had great success, but this year it's a new team. We lost five people and we have to start over. They finally realized that and stepped up in practice. We've been working on some new things, so it's showing in the games."

It was a frustrating night for the Rockets, who dipped to 10-20-3 overall and 0-8 in the KLAA South.

"It was mostly the girls couldn't pass today,' Glenn first-year coach Krista DePoy said. "At the Bedford tournament we serve-received at 70 percent and tonight I'm going to guess it's more like 30 percent. It all starts with serve receive. It was lacking tonight."

Senior captain and setter Claire Truskowski finished with 19 assists and seven digs.

Truskowski, Briana Robinson, Valerie Ernat and Epperson each served two aces.

"We couldn't hit the ball on the court tonight and that really hurts us," DePoy said. "When you don't have your best hitters leading in kills, you can't win matches.

Despite the loss, the Glenn coach was pleased with the energetic crowd and sizable turnout.

"There was a spirited crowd," DePoy said. "It was nice to see a lot of people come out for the match. We have a few girls sick and a few girls hurt, too, but those girls still came in and played tonight and stepped it night. "Our blockers absolutely allowed us to win the match tonight," Johnson said. "They did a great job staying disciplined, getting a lot of touch blocks, getting a lot of solo blocks, just putting a hand in their faces."

With Diedrick serving, Canton scored the game's final four points — including the one made possible by den Boer's desperation tumble. Diedrick's game point was on an ace expertly placed inside the far-left corner.

The Chiefs opened up a 4-0 lead in the fifth game and never trailed. although the Chargers rallied several times to draw Canton led 14-12 but Churchill's Megan Damico served up two points including an ace to even the game at 14-all.

Churchill subsequently hit the ball out of bounds to fall behind 16-15 and den Boer finished off the victory, drilling a perfect pass from Chelsea Janice.

Other top performers for the Chiefs included Diedrick (10 kills, 14 digs); Sasha Cucuz (nine kills); Courtney Kurkie (seven kills); Madis (six solo blocks); Rebecca LeChevalier (one solo block, four assists); libero Becca Middleton (22 digs); and Dia Jackson (10 digs).

Orchestrating the Canton attack was the setter Janice, who collected 23 assists, along with Madison Kielty and Rachel Buzenberg, who contributed nine and eight, respectively.

Wake-up call

For the Chargers, setter Katie Chartrand had a standout match with 49 assists. Grenier said the way Canton went after his team is something his players should expect from other opponents as the postseason looms.

"Absolutely, from here on in everybody's out for blood," Grenier said. "It's a nice wake-up call for us. We have a big target on our backs.

Canton definitely had the Churchill game marked in red on the schedule.

"It was our last game playing them so we just really wanted to come strong and be able to remember this night for many years to come," den Boer said.

Johnson, meanwhile, said getting the victory over Churchill was something that could lift the team down the stretch.

"We're just happy with the win, to get the monkey off our back and take down a great team like Churchill," Johnson said. "It will definitely add confidence for districts. We've been doing things kind of quietly and tonight we kind of woke up and probably opened up some eyes."

Schoolcraft spikers upend No. 9 OCC

- By Ed Wright Observer Staff Writer

The Schoolcraft College gymnasium was rockin' last Thursday --- and for good reason.

The school's volleyball team posted a heartpumping four-set victory over visiting Oakland Community College, which entered the match as the No. 9-ranked team in the National Junior College Athletic Association poll.

After the two teams split the first two sets with identical scores of 26-24, the Ocelots prevailed in the final two, 25-20 and 27-25, to improve to 6-1 in the Michigan Community College Athletic Association standings. OCC is also 6-1 and 12-5 overall.

"Both teams went at it head-to-head for all four sets," said Schoolcraft coach Rod Brumfield, whose team is 15-7 overall. "I've never seen a two-year program competition be a dogfight like the match was this eve-

"The crowd was really getting into it and the girls stepped up and played as well as they have all season. I'm proud of all the girls for answering the call and bringing the game we all knew they could play."

Stephanie Gibson paced the Ocelots' attack with a team-high 12 kills. Danielle Hopson and Emily Bodnar terminated seven points each.

Brittany Sprinkles also excelled in the front row, notching a match-high four blocks.

Defensively, Kara Kempinski hit the floor for 29 digs. Megan Wright was also a thorn in OCC's side, digging out 13 potential kills. Nicole Kempinski and Gibson sparkled from the service line, netting two aces apiece.

Ocelots nip Mott

On Sept. 25, the Lady Ocelots outlasted Macomb Community College 25-21, 21-25, 25-17, 21-25, 15-12 in a five-set nailbiter.

"Macomb has a small squad, but they're efficient and they run a fast offense," Brumfield said. "They really came at us and, for a while, it appeared they would capitalize on their homecourt advantage. But we have learned to recover in point-deficit situations and pull out wins, which is something other teams struggle to do."

Livonia Stevenson alum Monika Rudis had a huge night against MCC. knocking down 27 kills, 12 more than Sprinkles.

The Kempinski twins -Nicole and Kara — combined for 31 digs and five aces, while Hopson led the winners with four blocks.

Of course we would've liked to win our tournament, and we're never satisfied losing the last match we play of any day, but I really liked some of the things I saw from us on Saturday."

Junior Lexus Medina paced HVL's attack with 53 total kills, seven solo blocks and seven aces, while sophomore Madison Dest contributed 45 kills, 15 aces and was 103-for-110 on serve reception.

Other top performers for the Hawks included Dayna Schroeder (27 kills, nine blocks, 75-of-90 serve receive) and Anne St. John (157 assists, 12 aces, 15 digs).

trolled the first half. Vic (Rodopoulos) is a class coach and they had a good game plan.

"In the second half our guys were able to elevate their game and take the lead.'

Dan Savor scored the go-ahead goal, while Carlos Santiago and Madalin Pop each chipped in with an assist.

"Jeff Luke did some great work on the flank and won the ball at key moments," Tomlinson said. "Austin Hartford, Ryan McCarthy, and Madalin Pop did a great job at shutting down their forwards and at creating for our attackers. Jimmy Merdani did a terrific job digging the ball out of the back and getting it up to our scorers. Tyler Simpson showed again that he is willing to do whatever it takes to get the 'W." Glenn goalkeeper David Isaacs made nine saves.

"Every one of them was huge," Tomlinson said. "He is unshakable."

Franklin goalie Spencer Lewandowski also made nine saves, while Jordan Bickham added an assist on one of Fogle's goals. "The one thing we didn't want to do is lose control of the middle and let them get through," said Franklin coach Vic

Rodopoulos, whose team falls to 4-9-1 overall and 3-6 in the KLAA South. "Our marking got slim. We still played a good second half, but we were a step behind and they took advantage of it."
NOVI 5, STEVENSON 1:
Don Nakashima notched a hat trick Tuesday as the host Wildcats (9-3-3, 5-2-2) way-laid KLAA Central Division co-leader Livonia Stevenson

Nakashima scored in the 13th, 14 and 61st minutes, while Anton Karamuco and Tony Asimadu added goals in the 27th and 69th minutes. Billy Werthman tallied the lone Stevenson goal off a free kick in the 27th minute to cut the deficit to 2-1.

"We ran into a team on fire tonight," said Stevenson coach Ken Shingledecker, whose team dropped into a second-place tie with Novi. "I think Novi had five goals on five shots at one point. We have to move on and start preparing for Northville on Thursday (7 p.m. at home)." Novi goalkeeper Andy Netter made three saves, while Mike Bolin and Zack Verant combined for two saves for the Spartans.
PLYMOUTH 1, (44, 3), (4, 4)
CHURCHILL 0: Chandler

Olah scored on a penalty kick with eight minutes remaining on the first half to give the Wildcats (6-8-2, 6-3) the KLAA South Division Livonia Churchill (4-8-2, 4-5) in a game that was marred by a swarm of flying ants. Churchill goalkeeper Colton Robison made five saves, while the Chargers could muster only one shot on James Gibbs. 'It was a pretty slow, uneventful game and we were kind of lifeless," Churchill coach Matt Grodzicki said. CANTON 8, WAYNE 0: On Tuesday, the KLAA South Division champion and stateranked Chiefs (13-2-2, 8-0)

goal against Plymouth's rolled to a mercy-rule victory over Wayne Memorial (1-13, S'FIELD CHRISTIAN

WESTLAND 1: Goals by Aaron Harting, Parker Brose and Ladi Olaniran sparked Southfield Christian (9-7, 8-7) to a Michigan Independent Athletic Conference Blue Division win Tuesday at home over Lutheran High Westland (3-11, 2-11). The Warriors, who trailed 2-0 at halftime, got a goal two minutes into the second half by Jeonghun Han off an assist from Troy Gotchev. But Olaniran's goal in the 51st minute helped put the match away for the Eagles. Lutheran Westland goalkeeper Jordan Williams made nine saves, while Christian. VILLE 1, FRANKLIN ROAD 1: On Monday, host Livonia Clarenceville (5-6-3) and Novi Franklin Road Christian settled for a tie. Clarenceville led 1-0 at halftime on Ma Sambou Jatta's goal from Cameron Fyffe, who was a standout on defense.

'Michigan Phil' kicks off new season with back-to-back concerts

By Joanne Maliszewski
Correspondent

A heralded name change has paved the way for the Michigan Philharmonic to offer more concerts in more locations during its 67th season.

"We want to become Michigan's Philharmonic and have a reach throughout Michigan," said Don Soenen, Philharmonic board president. "We aren't trying to replace the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. I think there's an opportunity for an orchestra on the next tier down. We believe there is plenty of room in the market."

The Philharmonic will open the season at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 5, at the Seligman Performing Arts Center at Detroit Country Day School, 22305 W. 13 Mile, Beverly Hills. It will repeat the concert the following day at the Village Theater at Cherry Hill, 50400 Cherry Hill Road, Canton. Headliner Sharon Isbin will perform Rodrigo's popular Concierto de Aranjuez at both venues.

Isbin is a multi-Grammy award winner and founder of the Guitar School at Juilliard School in New York City. Lauded as the "greatest guitarist of our time" by Boston Magazine, Isbin has appeared as a soloist with more than 160 orchestras.

The geographic expansion follows the Philharmonic's long-term growth plan while on the heels in 2011 of a significant 27-percent revenue increase to almost $369,000. Revenue from admissions also grew 21 percent, while business giving grew 71 percent and individual giving by 20 percent

"This sound financial performance puts the Michigan Philharmonic in a very strong position to continue its rapid growth in the future," Soenen said. "It is anticipated that revenue will increase by approximately 30 percent again in the coming season."

Expanding its reach

Formerly known as the Plymouth Symphony, the organization changed its name more than a year ago with the intent to step beyond its longtime Plymouth-Canton roots.

"We have struggled with the fact that we have had no venue of our own," said Beth Stewart, Philharmonic executive director. "So we decided, 'Let's go with what we are really doing — we play all over the place.' We decided to take advantage of not having a venue. Who are we? We are the Michigan Philharmonic. We will go to them."

Opening the season at the Seligman is expected to spread the Philharmonic's popularity. The orchestra consistently sells out all of its concerts at the 400-seat Village Theater, a longtime venue where the orchestra plays repeat concerts because of popular demand. In May 2012, the Philharmonic sold 1,600 tickets to its widely popular Bollywood — a celebration of Indian music at the Detroit Music Hall.

The Philharmonic's goal is to become one of the top five orchestras in Michigan with an annual budget of $1 million and a roster of more than 45 concerts performed annually by the year 2017, Soenen said.

More venues

In addition to having performed in the past at Kensington Metro Park, the Detroit Music Hall and Concours d'Elegance at St. John's Conference Center, the Philharmonic this year will perform in Livonia, Milford, Detroit and other southeast Michigan venues.

Stewart and Soenen credit the name change, involved board members, and the decision to make Nan Washburn the orchestra's fulltime director, as the strength behind the Philharmonic's growth spurt. Washburn has long divided her 13-year career between Michigan and California and now calls Plymouth home.

"The expansion is simply giving us the oppor-

Classical to pop: Philharmonic offers variety

Nan Washburn, the Michigan Philharmonic's conductor and musical director, is well-known for interesting and out-of-the-ordinary choices of music for the expanding orchestra.

"For years now, our orchestra has show-cased such a great variety of music with a great balance of both traditional classics and new or lesser-known works," Washburn said.

Sharon Isbin performs with the Michigan Philharmonic this weekend in Beverly Hills and Canton.

A new and larger audience requires a special splash, especially for the season opener, Washburn said. In addition to Grammy winner Sharon Isbin on the guitar, Washburn has an interesting mix of music in store for concert-goers in the new 67th season.

tunity to reach a larger audience with what we know is already a wonderful product and exciting concert experience," Washburn said. "We want to make a big splash, show off our terrific orchestra and feature a fabulous, well-known guest artist like guitarist Sharon Isbin."

The Philharmonic's leaders brought in help from well-known public relations and marketing firms to rebrand and market the orchestra for its planned expansion and financial growth. Geff Phillips of Gail & Rice and Tim Pryor of Pryor Terrassi were given the task of taking the Philharmonic's marketing to a higher level.

"Once we changed the name, we needed help and institutional expertise," Stewart said. The expanding organization is now often affectionately referred to as the "Michigan Phil." Concert goers will see the phrase, "Orchestrating the Extraordinary." Essentially that means patrons can count on an experience, Phillips said.

No longer is the experience just sitting and listening to an orchestra. "Orchestra goers want an experience from the time they leave home. Now it includes eating out, parking, having some drinks. The whole experience has to be good," Stewart said.

"It's a whole different mindset today. Everyone wants an experience," she added.

Quinoa-Stuffed Peruvian Avocados

Add big flavor to family meals

If you're looking for a way to add flavor to your family meals without spending all afternoon in the kitchen, start by incorporating fresh and rich ingredients into simple-to-prepare dishes. For example, Peruvian avocados — which are in season through October - are creamy, buttery and incredibly versatile.

Grown in the central western region of Peru, these Hass avocados are watered from the Andes mountain range. Because of the slightly nutty flavor of Peruvian avocados, this fruit can be quickly added to boost the flavor in salads, sandwiches, soups and sauces.

But the flavor alone isn't the only benefit of eating avocados. In fact, avocados include monounsaturated fats, potassium (142 mg), fiber, vitamins

Quinoa-Stuffed Peruvian Avocados

Makes: 4 servings

Quinoa Salad:

34 cup quinoa

1/4 cup olive oil

1 teaspoon sugar

½ teaspoon salt

1 cup water

Prep Time: 20 minutes

Total Time: At least 1 hour

1/4 cup fresh corn kernels

Lime-Jalapeño Dressing:

3 tablespoons lime juice

2 ripe Peruvian avocados

Fresh cilantro leaves to a medium bowl.

3 tablespoons minced red onion

3 tablespoons fresh cilantro leaves

½ jalapeño pepper, stemmed and seeded

Bring water to a boil in a small saucepan.

Rinse quinoa in a fine mesh sieve and add to

pot. Cook, covered, over low heat for 12 min-

Add corn, tomato, yams and onion to bowl and mix well. Puree all dressing ingredients in a small food processor or blender and stir into salad. Cover and chill for at least 1 hour. Cut avocados in half and remove pits.

Place avocado halves on 4 small plates and top with quinoa salad. Garnish with cilantro minutes, then fluff with a fork and transfer

1/4 cup diced tomato ¼ cup cooked, diced yams E (0.5 mg) and C (2.5mg), folate (25 micrograms), as well as vitamin B-6 (0.08mg). And these nutrient-dense fruits are only 50 calories per serving (1/5 of an avocado). They're also naturally free of cholesterol and sodium.

To help save precious time each evening and pump up your menu with big, trendy flavors, add a Peruvian twist to dishes your family will love. Try these recipes for Quinoa-Stuffed Peruvian Avocados and Peruvian Avocado Ceviche, which require only 20 minutes of prep before chilling for at least one hour, leaving you plenty of time to help out with homework or catch up on laundry.

Coffee Preacher

are a signal that football games are in full swing, cider mills are gearing up for weekend rushes and it is time to make a temporary change in my morning coffee routine.

For at least a couple of weeks in late fall, the morning coffee making is made easier as my wife and I converge on one coffee that makes us both smile. In a single 32ounce Chemex we can share, for a short period of time as the season changes, our coffee from the same vessel.

While some see the changing color of fall leaves as a time for a pumpkin latte, for me, it is a cup of Sumatra that I long for and one my wife wishes we just could brew all the time.

We opened our coffee shop in the month of October and it may have a sentimental appeal as the Sumatra blend we sold was our first introduction to quality, freshroasted coffee.

For most of the year the appeal of coffee roasted light with a clean, sweet and berry or citrus profile is too much to resist. But the change of the season signals a desire to go back to one of my favorite coffees. With its earthy, rustic and spicy flavor profiles, Sumatran coffees go great with a bit of half and half. It is a great coffee for cool, fall mornings.

Flavor profile

Sumatra is an island in western Indonesia. Coffee Review's Kenneth Davids describes the best Sumatran coffee as "one of the great romance coffees of the world." Sumatra is also where you can find Kopi Luwak coffee, which made headlines in newspaper and was featured on many television shows a few years ago for the way it processed. Basically coffee cherries are fed to a small animal called a palm civet and then the seeds are collected from the animal's excrement. It is a rare coffee that currently sells online for $59.99. for half a pound. But for most Sumatran coffee, the wonderful flavor profile comes from the way it is processed or the soil it is grown in or a combination of both.

To satisfy my craving, I recently stopped at Caribou Coffee, of all places. Regular readers of this column know I am not a big fan of corporate coffee houses, but when buying Sumatra, the top lots that many independent roasters purchase may not produce the superior cup that I can appreciate. I have found that Caribou's Samosir Batak does just fine in satisfying my fall craving. It is described as an "exotic coffee grown and processed by the Batak people who live in the coffee production areas around Lake Toba." I like it because Caribou resists the temptation to roast it too dark, as many do with Sumatra, and it has some spice to it with a slight vanilla taste. At $14 for a 16-ounce bag, it is also a pretty good deal.

So whether you enjoy the change of season with a pumpkin latte, a cup of Sumatra or a good Oktoberfest brew, take a moment to enjoy the sights and smells that accompany this great time of the year, because we all know what is right around the corner.

Metro Detroiters with cerebral palsy, MS get home ramps through partnership

Home Depot employees Marsha Burley and Lee Penny.

This summer and fall, Project Build! — a joint program of Jewish Family Service and Building Industry Association of Southeastern Michigan that provides home repairs for older adults, people with disabilities, and low-income individuals and families — is bringing together local businesses and nonprofit organizations in a Community Wheelchair Ramp Project for children and adults living with cerebral palsy and multiple sclerosis.

Sponsors and partner businesses include The Home Depot, BIA member companies Cohen. Homes, Gordy Oliva Remodeling/Go Barrier Free and Elder Living Construction as well as Pro Carpentry. Nonprofit partners include United Cerebral Palsy of Metro Detroit and Neighborhood Service Organization. Together, they are building four wheelchair ramps for individuals with cerebral palsy and multiple sclerosis, at no cost to the individuals. During August, Cohen  Homes and Pro Carpentry built and installed a wheelchair ramp. One ramp is for a Detroit man living near Dexter and Davison who has cerebral palsy and is being cared for by his sister.

On Sept. 20, three additional ramps were built onsite at The Home Depot in Commerce Township. Elder Care Construction will led a Home Depot team of volunteers in building an extensive ramp for a 6-yearold girl living in Highland Park who has cerebral palsy and is blind. Gordy Oliva Remodeling/Go Barrier Free led a second team of volunteers from The Home Depot to build a ramp for a Southfield teenager who has cerebral pal-

The Home Depot volunteers also built a ramp for a woman with multiple sclerosis in West Bloomfield. On Sept. 27, these ramps were delivered to the homes and installed by the volunteers, under the supervision of the professional builder and remodeler volunteers.

"Project Build! is now beginning to make a larger community impact. Due to the lack of available resources for individuals with physical disabilities who are in need of ramps, home modifications and repairs, other non-profit organizations in metro Detroit are starting to come to Project Build! for help. With the help of Building Industry Association of Southeastern Michigan, The Home Depot, The Jewish Fund and other great partners, Jewish Family Service feels that at this point, Project Build! should try to help where it can," said Michelle Malamis, Jewish Family Service development associate. In January, Jewish Family Service won $25,000 from The Home Depot Foundation through its Aprons in Action Facebook contest. These funds are used to purchase supplies for Project Build! programs, including this wheelchair ramp project, when the supplies are not donated.

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
