Video helps police identify and arrest robbery suspect

By Sue Mason
Observer Staff Writer

A keen eye helped a Westland police detective arrest one of two individuals being sought in two armed robberies at a Westland convenience store earlier this month.

A 15-year-old Canton teen was arrested Nov. 21 after Westland

Police Detective Mark Cholak spotted him walking along Hix Road south of Joy Road. Cholak, who had just gotten off work, recognized the teen as a suspect from surveillance photos of the Nov. 11 and 18 robberies at the 7-Eleven on North Wayne Road at Joy.

"It was dumb luck, I'd looked at those videos so many times," said Cholak, who with the help of on-duty officers arrested the teen. "I promised the store owner I'd have them locked up before Thanksgiving."

The teen has been turned over to juvenile authorities and was transported to the Wayne County Juvenile Detention Center in Detroit. A hearing was held Nov. 23.

The first robbery was reported at 5:46 a.m. Sunday, Nov. 11. The second robbery was reported at 4 a.m. Sunday, Nov. 18 — exactly a week later. The suspects received $54 in cash during the first robbery and $111 in the second.

Santa has his workshop at the North Pole. Carol Sharp has hers in a vacant storefront in Westland. While Santa looks to make Christmas merry for children around the world, Sharp is interested in Detroit area children who would might otherwise miss out on the holiday if it weren't for the kindness of strangers.

Sharp and her "elves" have been working since mid-October behind paper-covered windows, creating gift bags that will be given out at soup kitchens and shelters. They've been meeting in the storefront, donated by businessman Glenn Shaw Jr., assembling the packages that include story books, stuffed toys, tooth brushes, hats, gloves, scarves and school supplies. Sharp estimates the work won't be done until sometime in December.

"This makes life fun, it really does," said Sharp, founder of the Westland-based Warm Hearts that has a goal of making the world a better place for the less fortunate. "What's better than seeing smiling children?"

Sharp describes her penchant to pair books with stuffed toys as a "disease." One gift bag contains a butterfly purse and a butterfly story book. Another has the Take a Mouse to the Movies book and a king-sized stuffed mouse.

Her cadre of friends also fill small cups with tooth brushes and paste, a small McDonald's Beanie Baby and crackers that will go to soup kitchens.

There's also plenty of socks, given to Sharp at her request at her 70th birthday party, and a box of baby hats from the "bingo ladies."

Sharp's helpers include Linda Cielieska of Dearborn. She and her husband Bob started out making items for baby showers that Sharp holds for new and expectant moms.

"Bob started doing baby hats and I did the booties," Cielieska said. "He still makes hats, he does two-three a night, and I do afghans."

Drivers stuff buses for Westland Goodfellows

By Sue Mason
Observer Staff Writer

Three school buses will be waiting to be filled Saturday — not with students, but toys, clothing and nonperishable food for the Wayne and Westland Goodfellows.

Employees of the district's transportation department are partnering with the Goodfellows and the Wayne-Westland Fire Department to hold their annual Stuff A Bus event in hopes of provide holiday cheer for needy families in Wayne and Westland.

"Last year we stuffed two full buses, and with the Goodfellows and fire department helping, we figure we'll do three this year," said Sherice Roark, Wayne-Westland's transportation director. "Times are hard, people need help."

Transportation employees will have the 78-passenger school buses in the parking lot of the Kmart store at Wayne Road and Cherry Hill in Westland from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 1, to collect donations. People can drop off unwrapped new toys, new and gently used warm-weather clothing like hats, gloves, clothes and boots, as well as nonperishable food.

This is the fourth year that district transportation employees have held Stuff a Bus. The first year they were able to fill one bus, and bumped it up to two the next year. According to Roark, the effort benefits the students who ride the buses.

Each bus has 26 seats, and Roark is confident that all 78 seats on the three buses will be filled — and with good reason. Her employees have already been collecting items.

"We have a lot of canned goods, coats, gloves and hats and school supplies and some cash donations," Roark said. "We're already doing pretty good."

Wayne Goodfellows look for crowd at 26th annual party

By Sue Mason
Observer Staff Writer

Shawn Bell admits that he would be "ecstatic" if more than 250 people show up Friday, Dec. 7, for the 26th annual Wayne Goodfellows party.

"That would not be a bad problem at all," said Bell, president of the Wayne Goodfellows. "We'll do what we need to do to accommodate people."

The fundraiser will be held 5:30-9:30 p.m. at the Wayne Community Center, 4635 Howe, at Annapolis. Tickets are $15 each and include two drink tickets, hearty appetizers and a ticket for the door prize. There also will be prizes, raffles and auctions throughout the evening.

DJ Steve will be there for Swat Karaoke and juggling bartender Andy Bro will show off his mixology techniques.

The party is the Wayne Goodfellows' major fundraiser for their No Child Without a Christmas effort. The money will be used to buy gift cards for food and gift cards for parents to purchase items for their children.

Wayne families in need of assistance have until tomorrow, Nov. 30, to fill out an application and turn it in at the fire station on Wayne Road, south of Glenwood.

Last year, the Goodfellows helped more than 250 Wayne families and Bell expects that number to increase this year. As tolic Church in Westland, met Sharp at the Wayne Metropolitan Community Action Agency which works with low-income families. Along with Annette Kutnich of Canton, they became known as the "Three Musketees."

"We help each other, that's how we know each other," Flowers said.

"Carol told us what she wanted to do and asked others to join her," added Gloria Norman of Plymouth Township. "It started out with scarves and blankets for the homeless and grew from there. It just grew."

"We do this because we care and because of all the need in the community," added Kutnich. "I've had a good life. When you do, you give back."

Kutnich who is involved in Wayne Metro, calls her work with Sharp her "side job."

Barbara Cadaret of Dearborn says Sharp "is the instigator of everything I do." Cadaret, who works with the social worker at Christ King Church in Detroit, was the first to meet the Westland resident.

"Carol took me under her wing," she said.

Last year, Sharp and her friends assembled 2,400 bags to give away. Looking around the room, she suspects Warm Hearts will have even more to give away this year. She's grateful for the donations and the help of her friends, admitting that sometimes it can look overwhelming. But there's a bright side.

"When you surround yourself with giving people, it has a domino effect," Sharp said. That may be so, but of Tuesday, those families registered for assistance had 150 children.

"Every year the need increases," said Bell, the Wayne deputy chief/fire marshal. "This fundraiser gives us the money to buy the gift cards. Parents get a $50 Kmart gift card for each child."

For many years, bars like U.S. 12, Jake's and Village held parties, with the Goodfellows bringing the prizes and auction items. However, in 2012, the Goodfellows shifted to one big party at the community center.

Different businesses have donated the food, which includes "hearty appetizers" like pizza, subs, meatballs, humus with chips and fruit platters.

Business also have helped with donations for the raffles and auctions. Gift certificates, a fire pit, fishing poles, drills, tools and household items like a Dyson vacuum, sports memorabilia and digital cameras are among the prizes.

One or two "big" items will be the prizes in a button raffle in which guests buy numbered buttons at $5 each. The Goodfellows will be selling 250 buttons, and there's no limit on how many a person can buy.

"We usually try to get something of good value for the button raffle, it's kind of been very successful," Bell said, adding that "we have some great businesses in town."

Tickets for the party are $15 each and are available by calling Kathy at the fire station at (734) 722-1111.

"I'm looking forward to this," Bell said. "It's going to be a good party and bring the community together for a good cause."

Gloria Norman of Plymouth Township is the only one left of the original group that started working with Carol Sharp.

Susan Parker thinks the volunteers need more than squash soup and snacks.

want a raise," she said with a laugh.

two robberies is that in the Nov. 11 incident, the clerk reported one suspect was armed with a handgun. During the Nov. 18 incident, both suspects were described as armed with handguns.

In addition, during the second robbery, the clerk told police one of the suspects pointed the gun at him.

Cholak said the two suspects may have robbed the same convenience store twice because they got away with it the first time.

"They were successful once, so maybe they thought let's do it again," he said.

Westland Police Chief Jeff Jedrusik praised Cholak for making the arrest.

"Detective Cholak's attention to detail and his alertness in this incident is amazing. I commend him," Jedrusik said. "His dedication to the job both on and off duty took a dangerous felon off the street."

The second suspect has yet to be apprehended. Cholak said he is following up a lead.

"I hope to get the other individual, but it's going to take a little more work," he said.

Salvation Army expects more families to seek assistance

By Sue Mason
Observer Staff Writer

Black Friday sales may have been good for retailers, with some stores opening Thanksgiving evening. But the switch from early morning openings wasn't so good for the Wayne-Westland Salvation Army's Red Kettles.

Even with bell ringers manning kettles at 5 a.m., the organization saw donations drop $1,500 from what was collected Black Friday 2011.

"Some stores started opening at 8 p.m. on Thanksgiving. We made a decision not to go out until 5 a.m.," said Capt. Derek Rose, corps commander. "That was a big left hook we didn't see coming. We're actually going to have to adjust our schedule next year and consider starting at 2 a.m. or even midnight because the shoppers were not there at 5 a.m. like we've typically seen."

As of Tuesday, the Wayne-Westland Salvation Army had raised $56,231 through its Red Kettle campaign, as well as $3,400 in mail-in donations. The corps hopes to raise $200,000, up from the $185,000 raised in 2011.

Rose said the Wayne-Westland Corps expects to register between 500 and 600 families and help some 2,500 people this year. Currently, 223 families have registered for assistance. People can apply 8:30-11:30 a.m. or 12:30-3:30 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays through Wednesday, Dec. 5.

The number of people helped can fluctuate from year to year. Requests may be down for several years, but bounce back up, which was the case in 2011, when the organization helped 522 families for a total of 1,921 people with Christmas food and toys.

"We're looked on more as emergency assistance. We can't do the job the Goodfells do," Rose said. "We give a food box and a toy for each child."

While people can make cash donations at the Red Kettles, or by mailing a donation to the Wayne-Westland Corps, they can also help by buying toys for children up to age 14. The Salvation Army has an Angel tree at Westland Shopping Center where people can take a tag and buy gifts for children. The Angel Tree is the "main funnel" of toys for the corps.

"The type of things we lack are for children ages 10-14," Rose said. "The older children tend to get forgotten at Christmas. People like to buy for the younger children, but for the older kids, they can be gift cards or cards for the movies or bowling, prepaid cell phones and mp3 players."

People can donate new toys at the community center between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. They can also sign up to sponsor Christmas for a family. Monetary donations can be sent to the Wayne-Westland Salvation

Army Corps, 2300 S. Venoy, Westland, MI 48186.

While donations are needed, the biggest need right now is volunteers to man the Red Kettles. People can sign up at ringbell.org for any number of hours. They can do it by themselves or with a group. People can also start their own online red kettle at www.onlineredkettle.org/waynewestland.

"We can't say enough about the Wayne-Westland community," Rose said. "Every year we put out our need and the every year we meet it. This is a community to cherish."

For more information, call the Wayne-Westland Corps at (734) 722-3660.

Westland swears in three new police officers

The Westland Police Department has three new officers, following the swearing in of Joel Belanger, Jason Soulliere and Kevin Cullum Monday.

Belanger has worked for White Lake Police Department for the past three years. He received an associate's degree from Schoolcraft College and graduated from the Wayne County Regional Police Academy. He is married and has a two-year-old daughter.

Soulliere has worked in the private security field for the past two years. He received an associate's degree from Schoolcraft College and graduated from the Wayne County Regional Police Academy. He is engaged to be married. Cullum has worked the past year with Melvindale Police Department. He received an associate's degree from Schoolcraft College and graduated from the Wayne County Regional Police Academy. He is married with a two-year-old daughter. He and his wife are expecting a second child. "The Westland Police Department has a reputation as one of the finest departments in the State and these talented new officers will help carry on that tradition," said Mayor William Wild.

Concert features Santa, Nutcracker performers

Santa will make an appearance at the Livonia Symphony Orchestra's concert at 4 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 1, in Clarenceville High School's Louis Schmidt Auditorium.

Joining the symphony will be the Angie Hahn Academy of Dance doing excerpts of the Nutcracker. New this year is the addition of a young children's group singing to Santa, played by Michael Deller, retired director of the Livonia Public Library. The children are siblings of the dancers.

The symphony will also be joined by members of the Livonia Youth Symphony and the Livonia Civic Chorus for a variety of Christmas music. As an added bonus, pianist Sasha Burshtain has written and will perform his unique version of Hannukah.

Tickets are $20 for adults and $10 for students. They are available at the Livonia Civic Center Library, Madonna University Student Life office and at the door. Group tickets of 10 or more are available by calling Ron Laing at (313) 538-2536.

Police: Couple go on spending spree with stolen credit card

Westland Police are looking for a man and woman who used a stolen credit card to make more than $4,000 in purchases at Target and Meijer stores in Westland on Nov. 24.

A Wayne resident had been shopping at the Meijer store at Warren Road and Newburgh at 6 p.m., but it wasn't until the next morning that she realized her wallet was missing from her purse.

The woman called her credit card company to cancel her VISA card and was told that it had been used on Nov. 24 to make two purchases of $3,282 and $800 at Target. There also was an ey left on them which Target closed out, police said. No identification was requested for Target purchases at Target because the store doesn't want to bother the customers, police said.

The suspects also tried to purchase two iPads at Meijer, but the charge was declined.

The suspects are both black and have medium builds. The man is in his 30s and was wearing a black fur coat and black derby hat. The woman was in her late 40s-50s and was wearing a long curly wig, brown coat and brown hat with a wide brim.

People with information about the suspects can contact the Westland Police at (734) 722-9600.

Break-in spoils couple's arrival of new grandchild

Home invasion

A couple who live in the 30000 block of Sheridan said that after they spent most of the day Nov. 24 at the hospital to welcome a new grandchild, they returned home to find a break-in at their house.

The front door was open and lights were on all over the house.

There was search activity in their daughter's bedroom and her laptop computer was stolen. Some jewelry was also taken.

There was no forced entry but they observed that a window frame was slightly bent back.

Disorderly conduct

Garden City Police arrested a 23-year-old New Boston man for interfering with a police officer and disorderly conduct just after midnight Nov. 27.

A police officer noticed a man acting suspiciously when they were driving near Bar 153 on Ford. They saw him go between two parked cars and then end up in the 31000 block of Krauter.

The police officer observed the man urinating on a tree and called out to him. The man, who caught sight of the police officer, fled on foot. He fell into a wooden privacy fence, landed on the ground and then began kicking at the officer who said that the man appeared to have been trained in "mixed martial arts fighting."

He finally calmed down after the officer got out his baton and swatted him in the right leg.

The suspect registered a .22 blood alcohol level which is more than twice the legal limit. He was transported to the police station and booked.

Break-in

Two people who live at a house in the 800 block of Deering said that someone broke into their home sometime between 7:30 a.m. and 6:45 p.m. Nov. 26.

Although the doors were locked, they observed that a bedroom screen was on the ground. The screen displayed pry marks made from a screwdriver which the officer said in the report was similar to a tool used in an incident in the 28000 block of Florence. The police also found a yellow hair tie outside the Deering home which the two female occupants said didn't belong to them.

The owner of the rental home on Deering was notified of the incident.

The thief stole some jewelry and ransacked two bedrooms.

Theft

A Farmington Hills woman who parked her 2012 Chrysler in the parking lot of 30925 Ford, discovered at noon Nov. 23 that someone broke her rear driver's side window and stole her stereo from the dashboard.

A flat head Craftsman screwdriver which didn't belong to the car owner was left inside of the vehicle.

Fraud

A woman who lives in the 29000 block of Balmoral applied to be a bar manager after she answered an ad on Craig's list.

She heard back from the alleged bar owner who lives in Orlando, Fla., who sent her a check to deposit to be used to begin buying bar supplies. Chase Bank recognized the check as fraudulent Nov. 21 and put a freeze on her checking account before she could buy any bar supplies.

Theft

An employee at Video Stop, 30080 Ford, reported that a man about 5 foot, 8 inches tall stole 30 DVD covers about 5:30 p.m. Nov. 25. He replaced the cases and DVDs on another shelf.

With the theft of the covers, the employee told police that the value of the DVDs decreased significantly.

Stolen car

A business owner at 27832 Ford reported that his BMW, which was parked in his parking lot between Nov. 12-13, was discovered stolen. He left the car in the lot because it had a flattened tire.

The police found no broken glass and could recover no evidence.

Expired license

The police arrested a 36-year-old Westland man for driving with a suspended license on Merriman and Maplewood about 4:30 a.m. Nov. 27. They found that the man had an expired driver's license and could only produce immigration papers for identification.

Man arrested after brandishing facsimile handgun

Fake gun

A Westland man was arrested for possession of a facsimile handgun Nov. 20 after a complaint at the Wayne-Westland Salvation Army.

The man, 21, was spotted with what appeared to be a 45-caliber handgun in his waistband while at the feeding program at the Salvation Army on Venoy.

When police arrived, the man had already left. The man, who had been identified by name and was known to officers from prior contacts, was stopped nearby.

The man was carrying an Airsoft-style pellet gun which looked like the real thing.

Criminal Sexual Conduct

A Troy man is facing a charges of sexually molesting a Westland girl while visiting her home.

Derek Ricard Hartfield, 43, is charged with one count of second-degree criminal sexual conduct and two charges of third-degree criminal sexual. A not guilty plea was entered for Hartfield, who is jailed in lieu of $500,000 cash/surety bond.

Scheduled for Wayne County Circuit Court arraignment this week, Hartfield is charged with fondling a 14-year-old girl. Police said that Hartfield was a family friend who was alone with the girl during the incidents which happened over the summer.

A Georgia man has been charged with sexually assaulting his cousin at her Westland home while visiting to attend a family funeral.

WESTLAND COP CALLS

Walter Lionel Knight, 48, is facing four charges of third-degree criminal sexual conduct.

Police said that Knight was watching a movie with his cousin, 48, during the early hours of Nov. 10. The woman told police she was sexually assaulted by Knight and subsequently reported the attack.

Arrested the same day, Knight is also facing a charge of carrying a concealed handgun which is unrelated to the other charges.

A not guilty plea was entered for Knight, who waived his preliminary examination in 18th District Court and was ordered bound over for trial in circuit court.

Knight is jailed in lieu of bond.

Break-in

A stove, refrigerator and window air conditioner were reported stolen in a break-in of a home in the 28000 block of Van Born.

The break-in occurred between 8 p.m. Nov. 11 and 5 p.m. Nov. 12. It appeared that the suspect gained access through a window. Also taken were drills, miscellaneous tools and a radio.

Stolen tires

Four chrome rims and tires were stolen from a vehicle in the 35000 block of Castlewood.

The owner told police she had her 2008 GMC Yukon in the parking lot at 8 p.m. Nov. 12. When she came out at 6:30 a.m., she found a passenger side window broken out and the tires gone. A key to the rims' safety locks was missing.

Attempted theft

A resident living in the 2300 block of Wilshire Parkway told police someone attempted to steal his 1999 Dodge pickup Nov. 12. The driver's door lock had been punched out and plastic from the steering column broken off. The ignition also had been damaged.

A resident of an apartment at 36032 Hunter told police Nov. 26 that someone had broken the rear sliding window of his pickup truck in the overnight hours. The center column was damaged and the ignition was destroyed. There also was a small hole under the driver side door.

Stolen vehicle

A 2001 Chevrolet was reported stolen Nov. 13 from in front of the home in the 7000 block of Donna Nov. 13. The owner told police that he had parked the car at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 12 and discovered it missing at 7 a.m. All of the keys were accounted for and only he and his wife have access to the vehicle.

Stolen bike

Thieves cut a lock and stole a BMF bicycle from the backyard of a home on Alaska Court Nov. 14. The owner told police he had added a motor to the older model bike and had kept it under a tarp and locked to a clothesline pole and in the backyard.

Stolen purses

A Westland resident reported her purse, containing $800 in cash, credit cards, driver's license and checkbook, was stolen from her shopping in the parking lot of Kroger, 7530 Middlebelt, Nov. 13.

The woman told police she was loading groceries in her vehicle and never saw who took the purse.

A Chesterfield woman reported her purse stolen while shopping in Westland Shopping Center Nov. 16.

The woman told police she was in checkout at Charlotte Russo and had placed her purse on the counter. She turned to put her baby in her stroller and left the store without her purse. When she realized her mistake, she went back to get it. The clerk told she had never seen the purse.

An Inkster woman told police that her purse was stolen while she was at the Golden Corral, 37101 Warren Road, Nov. 25. She said that the purse had been hanging on the back of a chair. It contained her driver's license, insurance and credit cards and two safe deposit keys from Chase and the State Bank of Fenton.

Vandalism

The rear windows of 2003 Mercury Mountaineer and a 1996 Ford Mustang were found shattered Nov. 25. The cars were parked in the driveway of a home in the 700 block of South Norma. A brick paver was found in the rear compartment of the Mountaineer.

A car was reported sprayed with red paint while parked at 38287 Carolon Nov. 15. A neighbor who was walking her dog saw the damage and alerted the owner. He told police he had parked and locked it at 7 p.m. and there was no damage.

Stolen copper

Thieves stole the copper plumbing from the basements and one bathroom of a duplex in the 1900 block of Stieber Nov. 14. The owner told police he had come to check on the properties, which are for rent, and found the bedrooms broken out, apparently by a landscaping brick that was left in the rear bedroom of one of the units. Both front doors also were unlocked.

Larceny from a vehicle

A Westland woman told police she heard breaking glass Nov. 19 and when she looked out the window of her apartment at 31041 Warren Road, she saw two suspects inside her 2003 Dodge Durango.

She ran out and the two suspects, who were wearing black ski masks, ran from her vehicle to the back of a small black older vehicle and fled. She discovered they had got into her vehicle by breaking the rear passenger door vent. The steering column had minor damaged and a small black wallet was missing from the center console.

Christmas presents were stolen from the car of a Dundee woman while it was parked in front of her sister's house in the 34000 block of Spring Valley Nov. 24. The culprits broke out the driver side rear window to get in to the vehicle.

Attempted break-in

The lock cylinders had been removed from the doors in an attempt to gain access to the BP Gas Station at 1220 N. Wayne Road Nov. 25.

The manager told police that when he arrived for work he noticed the doors were unlocked. However, the building wasn't entered because the doors are chained together on the inside and employees leave from the rear of the business.

Stolen property

A riding fertilizer spreader/sprayer valued at $6,500, was reported stolen Nov. 25 from the backyard of a home in the 1900 block of Christine.

The owner told police he has a lawn care company and had stored three fertilizer spreaders under a tarp in the backyard. Two walk-behind spreaders also were stolen from the bed of his truck.

Oakwood Annapolis's da Vinci used in single incision surgery

A surgical team at Oakwood Annapolis Hospital in Wayne recently performed their first da Vinci Single-Site Cholecystectomy. The patient's gallbladder was removed through one tiny incision in the belly button, making the procedure virtually scarless.

Dr. Edward Mavashev led the team through the procedure in which, using robotic assistance, the gallbladder was removed through a single one-inch incision.

"Neither robotic surgery nor single-incision surgery is new, but combining the two to remove the gallbladder requires additional training and special equipment," Mavashev said. "To be one of the first hospitals to offer this technically advanced surgery demonstrates Oakwood's leadership in providing patients with the most up-to-date minimally invasive surgical options."

The da Vinci is a robotic surgical system widely used in complex minimally invasive surgery. The Food and Drug Administration cleared the specialized Single-Site instruments for use with the system in December 2011. Oakwood Annapolis started using a da Vinci Si — the newest version of the system — earlier this year. Mavashev is one of a small group of surgeons in the country who has received training to perform the surgery. Dr. Mohamad Hakim and Dr. Mehran Mirkazemi are two other Oakwood-affiliated surgeons trained in the technique.

During the procedure, the surgeon sits at a console, viewing a 3D, high-definition image of the patient's anatomy. The surgeon uses controls below the viewer to move the instrument arms and camera. In real-time, the system translates the surgeon's hand, wrist and finger movements into more precise movements of the miniaturized instruments inside the patient.

Unlike traditional robotic surgeries requiring three to five small incisions, this new technology allows for a single incision in the belly button where instruments are placed and the diseased gallbladder is removed.

Potential benefits of Single-Site gallbladder surgery include virtually scarless results, minimal pain, low blood loss, fast recovery, a short hospital stay and high patient satisfaction. The surgery takes about one hour and patients can be discharged the same day.

"Single-Site instruments used with the da Vinci platform are the next step in the evolution of surgical technologies," said Debbie Gendron, Robotic Coordinator at Oakwood Annapolis Hospital. "We are truly excited to be a leader today in the surgical treatment of tomorrow."

More than 1 million people in the U.S. have their gallbladder removed each year, including as many as 12,000 in metro Detroit. Most are performed with traditional laparoscopy using several incisions. Most people who require gallbladder removal are candidates for the robotic, single-incision surgery. According to the American College of Surgeons, surgery is the recommended treatment for gallbladder pain from gallstones and non-functioning gallbladders.

Oakwood Annapolis performed its first Da Vinci procedure in June 2012. Since then, Oakwood Annapolis surgeons have performed robot-assisted surgical gynecological, urological, thoracic, general, colo-rectal and ear, nose and throat procedures.

"We've really embraced the technology," said Gendron. "I think it's fantastic that a small community hospital can offer something like this. It's fabulous for Oakwood and the community we have the privilege to serve."

Shop & Dine Westland

Everything You Want ~ Everything You Need

Over 160 Stores & Restaurants • Big Retailers & Unique Local Shops
Easy Access from I-96, I-275 & I-94 • Easy No-Hassle Parking

Former Miss Michigan and Westland resident Ashlee Baracy is once again helping to promote Westland's shopping and dining district during the holiday season.

Westland launches holiday Shop and Dine campaign

The holiday season is here and so is the fourth annual Shop and Dine Westland Holiday Campaign.

The six-week multifaceted marketing campaign started Sunday and promotes the fact that Westland truly has "Everything you need" this holiday season.

Westland's shopping and dining district is anchored by Westland Shopping Center and is surrounded by more than 160 shops, restaurants and services making it Wayne County's premier shopping and dining destination.

"This is the fourth year of our Shop and Dine Westland Campaign," said Westland Mayor William Wild. "The campaign has been designed to attract visitors to the area from a 30 mile radius. So, when you visit the Shop and Dine District this season, tell them the city of Westland sent you."

TV commercials are airing on Comcast and WOW on popular channels, such as the Food Network, FS Detroit, HGTV and The Family Channel, just to name a few. If you are watching the Lions on Thanksgiving Day, you are sure to see a spot. The commercials encourage individuals to visit the city's shopping and dining district for all of their holiday needs. It also mentions the MJR Westland Grand Digital Cinema located on Wayne Road.

Radio ads are airing on Detroit's number one news/talk radio 760 WJR and print ads will appear in prominent Wayne County news publications.

The city also has updated its online Shop and Dine Directory to include new businesses that have moved to the area over the past year. The directory can be found on the City's web site, www.cityofwestland.com/shop-dine/.

New this year, shoppers will notice a sticker in the window of many of our Westland retailers showing that they support the "Shop Westland Campaign."

Paragon properties collecting for Gleaners

Paragon Properties is coordinating a food and fund donation drive for Gleaner's Community Food Bank of Southeastern Michigan at its 12 apartment communities, including two in Westland, as part of the organization's "Give a Hand for the Holidays" campaign.

Paragon Properties is asking its residents and community neighbors to join the fight against hunger and participate in the "Give a Hand for the Holidays" collection effort by giving $5 or five pounds of food. Gleaner's Community Food Bank is hoping to provide 600,000 meals for neighbors in need now through Dec. 31.

Donation items are being accepted at the company's Leasing Offices/Clubhouses through Dec. 15. The property management company's Westland community locations that are accepting donations are Woodland Villa at 7360 Drew Circle, #9, and Westwood Village located at 37830 Westwood Circle.

Requested canned and dry good foods include tuna fish, canned meat, beef stew, meat soups, canned spaghetti or pasta, dry or canned beans (kidney, pinto, green, yellow, refried or black beans), fruits, baby food or formula, Ensure or other nutritional supplement drinks, rice, noodles, macaroni, powdered milk, pancake or baking mixes, cereal/oatmeal (including single serving size), granola bars, peanut butter (in plastic jars), jelly (in plastic jars).

Personal care items, such as diapers, toothpaste, toothbrushes, soap, shampoo and disposable razors are also being collected.

Food and fund drives are an important source of free food for the needy. Each dollar raised provides three meals due to Gleaner's close relationships with companies in the food processing industry. To make a financial contribution and help give families in the community a happy and healthy holiday season, visit www.paragonapartments.com/events.

An increasing number of Michigan families are facing hunger as a result of job loss, foreclosure, or wage reduction. Over 700,000 people are missing meals each week, half of whom are children. Meals provided by "Give a Hand for the Holidays" will be distributed to hungry families through Gleaner's Community Food Bank's 600 partner agencies in five counties, including schools, shelters, food pantries, soup kitchens and church based programs.

Results: How you achieve them matters

A SUNNY NOTE

We don't burn the bridges that got us this far. That's why "how the results were achieved" is often as important, or more important, than the results themselves.

When it comes to success, our greatest assets are not our skills, our degrees or our financial resources. Our greatest assets are the relationships we build with others. So no matter what we wish to accomplish, "how" we go about it — by building trust and strengthening collaboration — means more in the long term than "what" we achieve today.

Wishing you the best of success — and a sunny day!

Don't wait to do year-end tax planning

By Rick Bloom
Guest Columnist

It seems like just yesterday I wrote a column saying do not wait to do year-end planning. Well, another year is just around the corner and those who are going to do any year-end planning, don't have any time to delay.

I recognize that many people are waiting to see how the fiscal cliff issues will be resolved. Unfortunately, if and when these issues are resolved, it will be too late to do anything this year. Time is of the essence for any year-end planning — particularly tax planning

The general rules regarding year-end tax planning are to defer income and accelerate deductions. However, general rules no longer apply. In any type of planning, the key is not what's good for everyone, but rather, what is good for you.

The following are some general thoughts that will hopefully make you more efficient when it comes to your taxes.

The first issue regarding year-end tax planning is whether to convert existing IRA money into a Roth IRA. The test I recommend to determine whether converting makes sense is:

1) It will not throw you into a higher tax bracket.

2) You have money to pay the tax liability without touching the money you are converting.

3) you can leave the money within the Roth IRA for at least five to seven years.

If you meet these criteria, Roth conversions make sense, no matter what happens with the fiscal cliff.

The idea of accelerating deductions into the current tax year only makes sense if you are itemizing deductions. If you're taking the standard deduction this year, it would make sense to defer your deductions into next year where you may have the chance to itemize. If you are itemizing this year, then in many situations, accelerating deductions makes sense.

If you're a business owner or someone who can control when income is recognized, the general advice is to defer income for as long as you can. That, however, may not be the right advice this year. No matter how Washington resolves fiscal cliff issues, any people will be paying higher taxes in 2013. The reason is because of Obama Care, where a variety of new taxes will come into place. Therefore, particularly if recognizing income this year will keep you in the same tax bracket, it may make sense to accelerate income into this year and avoiding higher taxes next year.

From an investment standpoint, some investors may also wish to accelerate income. Capital gains are currently taxed at a maximum 15 percent. Some investors may wish to sell certain investments just to recognize gains and pay taxes at the current rates. I don't know how the negotiations will go with the fiscal cliff, particularly with regards to taxes. However, one thing that I'm almost certain about is that taxes will not be lower next year. Therefore, for many people, recognizing some income this year may be a smart move.

Another dandelion Dec. 7 affects senior citizens. It is the deadline to make a decision regarding Medicare D Prescription Drug Plan. Unless a selection is made by Dec. 7 seniors will automatically be enrolled in their existing plan. For many people, the existing plan may work, however, in many situations that may not be the case.

If you are eligible for Medicare, do some research to make sure you're in the appropriate plan. A great place to go is the Medicare website at www.medicare.gov. The site offers a wealth of information. It is also important to remember that just because a plan is good for you doesn't necessarily mean it's good for your spouse. Each person needs to look at his/her individual situation to determine which plan best suits your needs.

Parade goers brave cold weather to welcome Santa to Garden City

Thousands of people braved freezing temperatures along Middlebelt and Ford Road Saturday as Garden City kicked off the holiday season with the 52nd Annual Downtown Garden City Santaland Parade.

The parade had more than 70 entries that included everything from Miss Michigan to Elvis. The parade's theme was a "Rock'n'Roll Christmas" and dozens of participants included the theme in their floats and entries, including rock bands, records and guitars.

Cub Scout Pack 792 won first place in the float competition with their float that include a jukebox and records. The Garden City Elementary PTA and 1 Touch finished second and third.

Members of the Great Lakes Garrison Star Wars character group were in the parade and collected toys for the Toys for Tots campaign from people along the parade route.

The parade lasted more than an hour and ended at the Garden City Town Center where the Downtown Development Authority put on their Santaland post-parade event that featured entertainment, hot chocolate and a chance for youngsters to visit with Santa and give him their Christmas wishes.

GCTV's telecast of the parade can be seen this weekend on GCTV - Comcast 12, WOW 18 and U-verse 99 - at 10 a.m. and 2, 7 and 11 p.m. Friday-Sunday, Nov. 30- Dec. 1. It also can be seen on YouTube. The YouTube link and the live stream of the channel can be found at www.gardencitymi.org/gctv.

Seewald pleads guilty, Yowchuang no contest in McCotter petition fraud

By Ken Abramczyk
Staff Writer

Two former congressional staff members entered pleas Tuesday to all but one of the criminal charges they faced in connection with former U.S. Rep. Thaddeus McCotter's petition scandal.

Don Yowchuang, 33, of Farmington Hills, who worked as deputy district director for the former congressman, pleaded no contest in Wayne County's 3rd Circuit Court before Judge Margie Braxton to 10 counts of forgery, a five-year felony, and six counts of falsely signing a nominating petition as circulator, a misdemeanor punishable by up to 93 days in jail.

Paul Seewald, 47, of Livonia, who worked as district director for the former congressman, pleaded guilty before Braxton to nine counts of falsely signing a nominating petition as circulator, a misdemeanor punishable by up to 93 days in jail.

A sentencing hearing for Seewald and Yowchuang is scheduled for 9 a.m. Jan. 18 before Braxton.

The remaining charge of conspiracy to commit a legal act in an illegal manner, a five-year felony, remains pending against both Yowchuang and Seewald. Braxton will hold a hearing Jan. 9 to consider a motion filed by the defendants to quash the charge. The attorney general's office has indicated it will oppose the motion in court.

No plea or sentencing

Seewald

agreement was offered, according to Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette. "As attorney general, I have a responsibility to enforce the law and ensure public integrity," Schuette said in a prepared statement. "After a thorough investigation, my office determined that criminal acts were committed, and the appropriate criminal charges were filed. We will continue to prosecute those involved with this disgraceful violation of the public trust."

On Aug. 9, Schuette announced the results of an investigation by the attorney general's Public Integrity Unit into the alleged fraud surrounding nominating petitions filed in May 2012 on behalf of McCotter. At that announcement, Schuette explained the former congressman was "asleep at the switch" and that four staff members faced criminal charges. Schuette alleged that members of McCotter's staff were involved in a deliberate fraud involving a pattern of copying and altering petitions in order to qualify the five-term congressman for the 2012 Michigan ballot.

On Sept. 18, Lorianne O'Brady, 52, of Livonia, who worked as a scheduler to the former congressman, pleaded no contest in Wayne County's 16th District Court before Judge Kathleen J. McCann to five counts of falsely signing a nominating petition as circulator, a misdemeanor punishable by up to 93 days in jail.

O'Brady was sentenced to 20 days in jail or 20 days in a work program. Following that sentence, she will serve 18 months probation, with the first 12 months as reporting probation. O'Brady was also ordered to pay $2,625 in fines and court costs.

The fourth staffer, Mary Melissa Turnbull of Howell, faces one count of falsely signing a nominating petition as circulator and one count of conspiracy to commit a legal act in an illegal manner. She was bound over for trial Nov. 1 on both charges by Judge Dennis Drury of Troy's 52-4 District Court. Turnbull is next due in court Jan. 8 for a pre-trial hearing before Judge Leo Bowman.

McCotter was not charged, as there was no direct evidence of his involvement, according to Schuette.

Tim Dinan, Yowchuang's attorney, said his client "took responsibility for his actions and cooperated fully at all times with the attorney general's office."

"I was very surprised that he was not offered any plea bargain based on his cooperation with the investigation," Dinan said.

Dinan believed Schuette "played politics" and "had another agenda." When asked what that agenda was, Dinan said: "I don't know, but I've dealt with professionals over the years and when defendants cooperate, it engenders some sort of plea bargain because of the time and effort saved in the investigation."

Mark Mandell, Seewald's attorney, said Seewald signed what he believed was a petition with valid signatures, but acknowledged that Seewald was not the actual circulator, which Seewald took responsibility for.

"Absolutely no justice was served," Mandell said. "He's never even had a traffic ticket and dedicated his whole life to Livonia youth football and public service, yet the attorney general would not even offer a plea agreement for this not to be on Paul's record."

Mandell pointed out that drug offenders and domestic abusers who commit far worse crimes than misdemeanors are allowed to complete probation to clean their records, yet Seewald is not.

"The attorney general started this case off by characterizing the staff as the Keystone Kops, but the only Keystone Kops here was the investigation by the attorney general," Mandell said. "There are over 800 cut-and-pasted, invalid signatures that have still not been accounted for as to who committed the act," he said of the signature fraud.

Mandell said Seewald believed the signatures were valid, but did not collect them and only signed the petition.

"Paul knows he did something wrong," Mandell said, but added that no one in state history has ever been convicted of signing a signature petition knowing that they did not collect signatures as the circulator.

Adult Book Club starting up at the Garden City Public Library

Have you wanted to join a book club, but haven't been able to find one that is just right? Barbara Reddy, a member of the Friends of the Garden City Public Library is organizing a new book club that will meet at the library every two months. The first book selected for discussion is, Pope Joan by Donna Woolfolk Cross.

Book Description: Brilliant and talented, young Joan rebels against medieval social strictures forbidding women to learn. When her brother is brutally killed during a Viking attack, Joan takes up his cloak — and his identity — and enters the monastery of Fulda. As Brother John Anglicus, Joan distinguishes herself as a great scholar and healer. Eventually, she is drawn to Rome, where she becomes enmeshed in a dangerous web of love, passion, and politics.

The first book club meeting will be held at the library on Thursday, Jan. 24 at 3 p.m. For anyone interested, you can stop by or call the library to register and a copy of the book will be reserved for you. (Space is limited to the first 12 people who sign up).

Upcoming Programs

In order to properly prepare for the programs, all programs listed below require registration. Call the library at (734) 793-1830 or stop by the Reference Desk to sign up.

• Preschool Play Date: Lunch and Show at the Library, Thursday, Nov. 29, 11:30 a.m.

Join Ms. Stephanie for lunch and a show. This month we will be watching Mickey Mouse Clubhouse.

• Sanders Confectionery Talk, Thursday, Nov. 29, 7 p.m.

Come hear the interesting history of Sanders led by author Greg Tasker. It is sure to be a yummy hit with our library users! We will be serving Sanders' famous "bumpy" cake after the presentation.

• Recycled Wreaths,

Monday, Dec. 3, 6 p.m.

Join us as we use pool noodles and many other craft supplies to create a holiday wreath. This is a family friendly program but we do ask an adult to be present with our littlest users.

• Cookie Decorating and Exchange, Saturday, Dec. 15, 1 p.m.

You bring the cookies; the library will provide frostings, candies and sprinkles to decorate your holiday cookies this year. Bring a second type of cookies for the cookie exchange. We are asking that everyone bring a dozen or so cookies to decorate. This family friendly program will sure to delight the whole family.

• Get into the Holiday Spirit with a Holiday Concert, Tuesday, Dec. 18, 7 p.m.

Get in the holiday spirit by joining us for our first Holiday Concert being held at the Straight Farmhouse/Garden City Historical Museum. The Straight Farmhouse is located at 6221 Merriman.

The library is at 31735 Maplewood St. in Garden City. The best entrance to get into the library is off of Balmoral, one road south of Maplewood. Our hours are: Monday and Wednesday 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Tuesday and Thursday 11 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.; and Friday and Saturday 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

You can visit the library at www.garden-city.lib.mi.us.

'I would give my life'

Distraught driver begs forgiveness in double fatality

By Darrell Clem
Observer Staff Writer

Fighting back tears, Rufus Thomas Brandon II stood in court Monday, begged for forgiveness and said he wishes he could change places with two teenage girls who were killed in his car when he ignored a flashing red light while driving south on Canton Center at Michigan Avenue.

"In a heartbeat I would give my life to get these girls back," Brandon, 24, said, his head bowed at times as he faced 35th District Judge Ronald Lowe for a sentencing that brought heart-wrenching statements from the families of the two Belleville teens, Danielle Beavers and Brooke Kennedy.

Lowe imposed a 120-day jail term on Brandon, but allowed him to delay, serving his time until he finishes his semester finals at Eastern Michigan University. Lowe called it one of the most difficult decisions he has made in his 18 years as a judge.

"I believe there's a lot of pain that you feel," Lowe told Brandon. "I believe in some ways you're a broken man."

Brandon, who wasn't drinking or using drugs, was driving Beavers, 19, and Kennedy, 18, home shortly after 2 a.m. July 24 from the nearby Ruby Tuesday restaurant, where they all worked. Lowe called it "an intentional act" when Brandon ignored the flashing red light, resulting in his Chevrolet Cavalier being struck on the passenger side by a Monte Carlo driven east on Michigan Avenue by a 21-year-old Westland man.

Tragic mistake

Beavers's parents had sought leniency for Brandon, calling him a kind young man who made a tragic mistake that is haunting him. By contrast, Kennedy's family said even the harshest sentence Lowe could have imposed — one year in jail for a moving violation causing a death — wasn't enough.

Brandon faced an emotional sentencing Monday after he pleaded no contest to the charge in October. Authorities have said Brandon slowed but never stopped before he entered the intersection.

Lowe ordered Brandon to start serving his 120-day jail term before Christmas, after he finishes his finals Dec. 19. The judge also placed Brandon on probation for two years and accepted Brandon's offer to teach young people through his church and in schools the importance of obeying traffic rules.

Brandon also indicated he plans to start a campaign to warn others of what happened to him and his late friends. He said he hopes to make a documentary, start a website and continue writing songs in repentance for his actions.

"I am without a shadow of a doubt very sorry," Brandon said in court. "I didn't mean for any of this to happen." He said he has had difficulty sleeping and eating since Beavers and Kennedy died in his car.

"It feels like my soul is being tortured every single day," he said, adding he has had suicidal thoughts that prompted his defense attorney, Constance Ross, to suggest he seek professional help.

Higher charges

Kennedy's family sought jail time and said they believe Brandon should have faced a higher charge from prosecutors.

"Personally I can't understand how this is not a felony," her father, Anthony Kennedy, told Lowe. "Everybody in my family is crushed by this."

Alyssa Kennedy, Brooke's younger sister, said she will never be the same after losing her older sister and best friend.

Amy Gabany, a cousin of Brooke Kennedy's mother Jeannette Kennedy, reads a letter from the mother in court. Brooke's father, Anthony Kennedy, stands next to her.

"All I have left of her are the memories," Alyssa said.

Kennedy's mother, Jeannette Kennedy, sat in the courtroom but has been so distraught she had her cousin, Amy Gabany, read a letter in court for her. Jeannette Kennedy sought the maximum one-year jail term, saying her late daughter "will be forever missed."

However, Theresa Beavers, Danielle's mother, called what happened "a terrible accident" and said the intersection is dangerous. She said she once missed the same flashing red light while her daughter was with her. She cried in court and said Danielle wouldn't want Brandon punished.

"She loved him. She loved all her friends," Theresa Beavers said, adding Brandon "has a good heart. He's a good boy. ... I don't want him to go to jail."

"It's not that I don't love my little girl," she said. "I love her very much." Andrea Beavers, Dan-ielle's 30-year-old sister, said Brandon often gave Danielle rides, was a good friend to her and came to her funeral.

"He cared very much for Dani and Brooke," Andrea Beavers said in court. Sending Brandon to jail, she said, "is not something Dani would have ever wanted."

Brandon is expected to start serving his 120-day jail term before Christmas for the deaths of two girls he said he loved "like sisters." He begged for forgiveness Monday and said, "I can't express how sorry I am."

The Mike: Ice rink offers plenty to do on ice

By LeAnne Rogers
Observer Staff Writer

There isn't any hockey at the Joe on the schedule anytime soon but there are plenty of chances to get on the ice at the Mike.

That's Westland's Mike Modano Arena, name-sake of the retired NHL great and Westland native.

"With the weather and it getting dark earlier for inside stuff to do — someplace safe and warm," said Brian Harnos, director of Westland's Municipal Services Bureau which operates the arena and the municipal golf course.

As families have more free time over the holidays, the Mike is offering some special programs along with open skating.

• Glow Skate is offered 8-9:20 p.m. every Friday. "We turn off the lights and there are black lights," said Harnos.

Skaters can get battery-powered items like two-foot-long glow swords, necklaces, sticks and bracelets during Glow Skate. On an average Friday, 50-70 skaters participate. The cost is $3 for youths, $4 for adults and after five visits, the sixth skate is free.

• Skate with Santa at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 8. In addition to taking the ice with Santa, there will also be a one-hour exhibition by members of the Westland Figure Skating Club.

"There is a $10 charge for skaters who perform. We donate part of that to charity — for the last few years that has been the Westland Goodfellows," said Harnos. "The performance is fun for the skaters who have been working hard on their skating. It's not a competition."

• Open skating is offered 6-7 p.m. Mondays, 1-2:20 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays and 1:30-3:20 p.m. Saturdays. The cost is $3 for youths, $4 for adults and the sixth visit is free.

For those wanting to learn to skate and play hockey, the Mike also offers learn to skate programs and Tim Bits instructional hockey run by the Westland Hockey Association.

"Saturday is my favorite day to work here, the kids run through the door and want to get their stuff on so they can get on the ice," said Harnos. "It's pretty cool."

Along with youth hockey teams, the arena is also home to adult hockey leagues with six teams each in over 18 and over 40 levels.

The arena is also working to make it a nicer experience for parents waiting for youngsters on the ice. That includes wifi and an upgraded concession stand.

"We have 10 times more products than in the past," said Harnos, adding that the menu includes hot dogs and pretzels but also healthier items like protein bars, muffins and on the weekends, fresh fruit.

For more information about programs at Mike Modano Arena, call (734) 729-4560.

Social Security office changes hours

Residents used to using the Social Security office at 28657 Cherry Hill, east of Middlebelt, Inkster, will need to adjust their schedules. As of Nov. 19, the office is closing to the public a half hour early. It's new hours are 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday. And beginning Wednesday, Jan. 2, the office will close to the public at noon every Wednesday.

Employees will continue to work their regular hours. The shorter public window will allow them to complete face-to-face interviews and process claims work without incurring the cost of overtime. According to Social Security officials, the significantly reduced funding provided by Congress under the continuing resolution for the first six months of the fiscal year makes it impossible for the agency to provide the overtime needed to handle service to the public as it has done in the past.

Most Social Security services do not require a visit to a local office. Many services are available at www.socialsecurity.gov or by calling (800) 772-1213. People who are deaf or hard of hearing can call the TTY number, (800) 325-0778. Many of the online services also are available in Spanish at www.segurosocial.gov.

OUR VIEWS

Good decision

Fire merger is win-win for Wayne, Westland

In his special message on public safety, Gov. Rick Snyder spoke of intergovernmental agreements to overcome fiscal "challenges through collaborative, comprehensive and long-term approaches." Little did Wayne and Westland residents know that their respective fire departments would become the poster children for what the governor was proposing.

The two councils' approval of a letter of agreement between the cities and their two firefighters unions earlier this month clears the way for receipt of a $791,787 state grant to offset the costs of implementation and the consolidation of equipment, facilities and staff and personnel training, and the merging of information technology in the creation of the Wayne-Westland Fire Department.

While some may grumble that merging services is the beginning of a takeover by one or the other community, the fire merger truly is a win-win for the two cities. They will save $320,000 annually while putting more firefighters - 21 - on duty each day.

The effort has not gone unnoticed. The cities won praise from Lt. Gov. Brian Calley who said the merger "represents a new way forward for local governments to reduce costs through consolidation while continuing to meet their critical public safety duties."

Wayne and Westland have been connected for many years, mainly through the Wayne-Westland Community Schools. Residents should not feel any loss of identity with this merger or that of the parks and recreation departments. They should focus on the positives these collaborations bring to their lives and to their respective communities.

Cities are facing the same painful decision that automakers faced four years ago. They can no longer afford to do business as usual. They need to face their economic issues and address them in a clear and concise manner. These mergers do that and as a result, Wayne and Westland are looking at a more solid financial future.

Help the Garden City Goodfellows by giving

The Garden City Goodfellows are gearing up to make sure there is no child without a Christmas, and they rely on the generosity of the community to make that happen.

Last week, volunteers were at Kroger and Kmart and street corners in the city continuing the decades old tradition of selling Goodfellows newspapers. The sale, along with a mail campaign, and other donations helps the Goodfellows in their efforts.

Right now, Century 21 Castelli is sponsoring its annual toy drive to support the Garden City Goodfellows. The Realty is collecting new, unwrapped toys until Dec. 22 at its office at 1812 Middlebelt, south of Ford Road.

If you're out shopping, take a moment and pick up a few items to put in their toy box. It doesn't need to be an expensive toy, nor does it need to be a big toy. Just something that will bring the smile to a child on Christmas Day.

And when you're considering your end-of-the-year charitable donations for income tax purposes, remember the Goodfellows. One hundred percent of the donations they receive benefit Garden City residents. Make your checks payable to the Garden City Goodfellows and mail them to: Garden City Goodfellows, P.O. Box 2407, Garden City, MI 48136.

Let's all do our share to help make the holiday brighter for the less fortunate.

Pay attention

Gov. Snyder is proposing a major shift in public education. His idea, presented by the well-funded Oxford Foundation, is to remove all borders between school districts. This would allow per-pupil funding to follow the student to district(s) of their choosing. In addition, this new shift also makes room for a state-wide and state managed school district run by the new EAA (Education Achievement Authority).

There are serious flaws to the current proposals that make for poor policy for all Michigan students. First, last year Lansing passed a series of reforms to address charter schools, cyber schools and teacher evaluations. None of these changes have been given even one year to see if the polices produce better results. The same can be said for the EAA, the newly created state run school system that is managing 16 Detroit schools with a combination of "for" profit and nonprofit companies. The EAA has been operational for only three months, with no data to support its efficacy, not even first semester report cards. Why is the governor pushing through more legislation that is unproven, relying on the potential for success instead of proof of real success?

Second, the new shift in legislation disregards local funding, local school board authority and even usurps the state superintendent's authority. In an almost socialized government maneuver, it turns over the control of underperforming schools and unused property from any district to the governor and opens the door to profit-seeking corporations to manage at their discretion.

Yet another flaw should be especially concerning for those who choose to pay more in property taxes to live in an area with higher achieving schools. Under this new legislation, you no longer need to live in Birmingham, Troy, etc., to attend their schools. Your tax dollars will not change. What will be your control over how your education tax dollars are spent.

This legislation is deliberately moving swiftly through the current lame-duck session of the Legislature, but there are many more questions than answers to Gov. Snyder's education reform plan. With diluted school aid to all districts, what will happen to the students left behind? Will there be transparency in results and accounting? What criteria will be used to choose "for" profit management companies?

We all need to pay attention and ask questions.

GUEST COLUMN

USS Detroit is important to a city and a nation

By Sen. Carl Levin
Guest Columnist

In early November, I traveled to Marinette, Wis., just across the state line from Michigan's Upper Peninsula, to attend a ceremony that marked a very big day for me, for my wife, Barbara, for Michigan and for the country: the ceremonial "laying of the keel" of the new USS Detroit.

The ceremony is a revered naval tradition, marking the official beginning of the construction of a new ship. It was an honor to attend for many reasons, beginning with the fact that Barbara will serve as this ship's sponsor. Under Navy tradition, a sponsor is considered a permanent member of a ship's crew and expected to advocate for the well-being of both ship and crew. Barbara will be a tremendous sponsor for the USS Detroit and a great supporter of her crew.

It's also deeply significant to me that this ship will carry the name of Detroit. Barb and I have lived in Detroit all our lives. When Detroit hurts, so do we, and when it celebrates, it brings us great joy. Detroit is a proud, hard-working, tough, determined, resilient city, one that refuses to surrender, one unwilling to accept defeat. That's a pretty good role model for a combat vessel.

It's also meaningful that this ship will be the product of workers from two great states. While the USS Detroit will be built in Wisconsin, just across the Menominee River from our state, hundreds of Michigan workers at the Marinette Marine shipyard will help carry on Michigan's great legacy as an arsenal of democracy, a legacy earned during World War II.

This will be the sixth USS Detroit in the history of our Navy. Ships bearing that name have protected America and its interests in the waters off Brazil and off the coasts of China and Korea; shot down enemy planes attacking Pearl Harbor and witnessed the Japanese surrender in Tokyo Bay; and served in the Persian Gulf. All of us who call Detroit home are proud that once again, a USS Detroit will join her sister ships in flying America's flag on the oceans of the world.

As important as these personal connections are to me, far more important is the significance of this new ship for our nation and for the Navy's ability to defend us as we move through a turbulent era. As chairman of the Armed Services Committee, I spend much of my time thinking about the national security challenges we face today, the myriad of threats and, especially in the current fiscal environment, the limited resources we have to meet them.

As global commerce grows, as more and more nations join the world marketplace, and as terrorists, criminals and rogue nations seek to create chaos and crisis, global security will increasingly depend on what happens in the world's littoral zones - the meeting place of land and ocean that surrounds the continents. Our military planners see conflict in coastal zones as a contingency for which we must prepare, especially in light of the increasing importance of Asia to global commerce and to U.S. national security.

Potential adversaries know that too. They also know that they can exploit the importance, and the vulnerability, of these important geopolitical intersections by trying to turn them into chokepoints where they can disrupt the flow of goods and people.

A crucial part of our answer to those challenges is a new class of ships, called Littoral Combat Ships, including the new USS Detroit. These ships are the flexible, adaptable multi-taskers of the seas. Whether the mission is combatting pirates, clearing mines, supporting troops on land, or bringing aid at times of natural disaster, they can be quickly reconfigured to the task. And thanks to the innovative acquisition strategy recommended by the Navy and approved by the Congress late last year, America's taxpayers will get more of these ships, in less time, and for less money.

So the USS Detroit will carry a great deal across the world's oceans: The labor of workers from two great states. The spirit of a great city. A great nation's beacon of liberty. May she serve long and well, and may her crews always come home to the embrace of a grateful nation.

Carl Levin is the senior U.S. senator from Michigan.

Nazi boxcar will be used to teach horrors of Holocaust

Henrietta Weisberg and Rachael Schwartz at the dedication of a new wing of the Holocaust Memorial Center in Farmington Hills.

Bruce Schwartz, son of Rachael, examines the infamous boxcar which once carried his people to their death during the second world war.

By Joanne Maliszewski
Observer Staff Writer

The morning after Henrietta and Rachel's family had their first Passover seder in the Warsaw Ghetto, Nazi soldiers came, gathered hundreds of Jews and put them into a railroad boxcar headed for the concentration camps.

It took the sisters and their family: Sara, mother; Israel, father; and two brothers, Reuben and Herschel, one week to reach Majdanek, an extermination camp near Lublin, Poland.

When the train finally reached its destination, Nazi soldiers made their selections. The men and women were separated. They never again saw their father or brothers. Their mother was pulled out of the group of women. Rachel and Henrietta last saw her waiting in a grassy area. "Little did we know that she would be put in the gas chamber," Rachel Schwartz said. "Never did we think we would never see her again."

Gallery dedication

The sisters, Rachel Schwartz and Henrietta Weisberg, told their story at the Nov. 20 dedication of The Henrietta and Alvin Weisberg Gallery at the Holocaust Memorial Center in Farmington Hills.

The newly constructed addition to the center houses an authentic World War II Nazi boxcar, the type used to transport the sisters and their family to the concentration and extermination camps in 1943-45.

"This exhibit brings back many painful memories," Schwartz said, choking back tears as she spoke of her family and the Nazi persecution and murder of Jews and others in Europe.

The boxcar is set against a brick backdrop resembling the Hannoverscher Bahnhof (Hanover Railroad Station), complete with cobblestone floor, reminiscent of the Warsaw Ghetto.

The Hanover station was a major Nazi deportation center for Jews and gypsies, both considered enemies of Adolf Hitler's Third Reich.

The boxcar is of a size that could hold 40 soldiers or eight war horses, said Stephen Goldman, center executive director. Boxcars of this type were retired in the 1970s without much thought about the role they played in the Third Reich's Final Solution. "The precious cargo carried and forgotten are now remembered," Goldman added.

Sacred task

Alvin and Henrietta Weisberg of Bloomfield Hills were contacted when Goldman learned of the boxcar's availability. "They found it, called and said, 'We need help,'" Henrietta Weisberg said, as the dedication began. "It was our pleasure to do this."

Alvin and Henrietta donated the funds to build the gallery addition and to bring the boxcar from Germany to Farmington Hills. When the addition neared completion, the heavy boxcar was lifted by a crane and positioned in the gallery. The new gallery was completed within 90 days by Neumann Architects.

"We have the sacred task of teaching thousands the lessons of the Holocaust," said Laurie Weisberg, Alvin and Henrietta's daughter-in-law who serves as a docent at the center. "Most docent-led groups, such as school kids, without exception are fascinated by this important artifact."

Laurie Weisberg spoke of her in-laws, their generosity to the center and how the exhibit sets the journey for visitors as they learn about "the unimaginable fear and cruelty of the Holocaust."

Three journeys

After sisters Rachel and Henrietta lost their family at the Majdanek extermination camp, they were later transported in a box car again to another camp where they were assigned to work in a munitions factory.

Though hard labor, Rachel said, the assignment saved their lives because they were given more food and water than had they been sent to another camp. Yet while there, the sisters witnessed the deaths of 25 other prisoners.

In the summer of 1944 as Russian soldiers drew closer, the sisters boarded another box car for their third trip.

This time, they were sent to Buchenwald. But again the Russians were drawing near, and camp leaders forced the sisters and other prisoners on a "terrible march" for three weeks without food.

One morning as they slept near the Elba River, Rachel said, they could again hear Russian voices. The soldiers at last arrived and freed them. "They were very good to us."

As the sisters received standing ovations, Henrietta told guests that she can't believe that 70 years have passed. Though she said she "prefers to look at my future, not my past," Henrietta added: "I can honestly say I believe in miracles. I can't imagine how Rachel and I survived the horrors known as the Holocaust."

Bradley Schlafer, the Weisbergs' grandson, assured his family he would continue to tell the stories of the Holocaust. "I will be my grandmother's voice."

MU spikers crash in opener

White grabs 7 passes, TD

By Brad Emons
Observer Staff Writer

The Madonna University women's volleyball team already finds itself behind the eight-ball after dropping its first match Tuesday in the NAIA National Championships in Sioux City, Iowa.

Kristin Pressley racked up a match-high 18 kills and 31 digs to lead 10th-ranked Oklahoma Baptist to a 25-23, 25-18, 22-25, 26-24 Pool C victory over the No. 15 Crusaders in the first-round of Pool C.

The Lady Bison, now 33-4 overall, also got 50 assist-to-kills and 14 digs from setter Sabra Clark, while Patricia Moura and Tarah Derden contributed 11 and 10 kills, respectively.

Oklahoma Baptist, which beat MU in five sets Aug. 31 in Daytona Beach, Fla., also got 24 digs from Gabby Samuels, while Kaitlyn Lucy and Carey Strong chipped in with 19 and 15, respectively.

"We just did not come out ready to play in my opinion," said MU junior setter Evia Prieditis, who finished with 46 assists and 21 digs. "We thought we were ready to play. Earlier in the season when we played them we knew what we did wrong and tried to fix it today, but we just didn't come out with enough effort and enthusiasm.

"We were screwing up in all areas of the game, but after we were making the mistakes, we were hanging on to it and mentally we just weren't there today."

Madonna, which had its six-match winning streak snapped, falls to 34-8 overall.

The Crusaders got a team-high 16 kills from junior middle hitter Emilee Freeman (Lutheran High Westland), while Samantha Geile and Taylor Dziewit added 13 and nine, respectively.

Stacey Catalano finished with a team-best 23 digs, while Geile and Ashley Hulbert added 20 and 18, respectively, in the 1 hour and 45 minute match.

"The last time we played them we did a really good job of beating their middles so we knew that Nastija (Baranovska) and I had

Louisiana Tech senior wide receiver Myles White (Livonia Stevenson) recorded a seven catches for a team-best 126 yards and one touchdown in a season-ending 52-43 loss Saturday night at San Jose State.

The 6-foot-1, 185-pound White, a transfer from Northwest Mississippi Community College and Michigan State, has played in all 12 games for the 9-3 Bulldogs with a total of 56 catches for 718 yards (12.8 average) and six TDs.

Area grapplers making weight

Glenn, Franklin formidable

Observer Staff Writer

Time to check your high school wrestling calendar.

That's right, the 2012-13 season starts next week and some of the key tournament dates include the Wayne County Championship (Dec. 15 at Westland John Glenn); the 22nd annual Observerland Invitational (Jan. 26 at Livonia Churchill); team districts (Feb. 7); individual districts (Feb. 9); state team finals (Feb. 22-23); and state individual finals (Feb. 28-March 1-2).

The best bets in the area to make noise are last year's Observerland co-champions John Glenn and Livonia Franklin.

Glenn, under 13th-year coach Bill Polk, returns two state placers in senior Kyle Gillies (fifth), who moves up to 112 pounds from 103 and junior Travis Mann (fourth), who stays at 152.

Gillies went 49-7 a year ago, while Mann finished 43-7.

"We have plenty of

Mann

seniors in the lineup this season so anything less than another trip to Battle Creek (state finals) would be an underachievement for this team," Polk said. "With that said, we will have several strong teams standing in our path that want the same thing as we do, so it will be a battle as always."

That battle comes from Franklin, which returns three state qualifiers including senior Dan Martinez (59-4), who moves up to 125 and 130 after placing fifth at 112; junior Jordan Atienza (53-7), who goes from 140 to 152 and 160; and senior Allen Steele (49-11), who goes from 160 to 171 and 189.

made a name for themselves yet," Franklin 13th-year coach Dave Chiola said. "This would be a good opportunity to do so. We have three very good pieces — we just have to build a competitive team around them."

Wayne Memorial, which finished 14-2 in duals and shared the KLAA South Division title with Franklin and Glenn, lost its top performer in 215-pound state runner-up Dimitrus Renfro, but returns senior Allen Parker (37-14), a state qualifier at 140 along with 171-pound senior Sam Ekanem.

"It'll be tough to match last year's level of success, but my wrestlers have found new motivation after seeing the success of Dimitrus Renfro," Wayne eighth-year coach Steve Vasiloff said. "Watching a teammate wrestle in the state finals and then continue their career at a university like Michigan State has helped them understand what this sport can do for you."

Churchill, meanwhile, should be much improved, led by senior heavyweight Manny Haddad, a state qualifier who finished 26-16 a year ago. Haddad is ranked No.

Pratt propels MU to victory

Senior guard Heather Pratt scored a game-high 19 points and senior center Kaylee McGrath (Livonia Stevenson) posted a double-double as the Madonna University women's basketball team earned a 66-58 non-conference win Saturday night over host Rochester College in a game played at Rochester High.

Pratt also had seven rebounds and four assists, while McGrath scored 15 points and grabbed 10 rebounds.

The Crusaders, who improved to 3-2 overall, also got 12 points from sophomore guard Rachel Melcher with 10 coming from the foul line.

The game was tied at 49-all with 6:53 left before Melcher hit a pair of free throws to propel MU to a 17-7 run to end the game.

Sam Tomaschko led Rochester (4-5) with 13 points, while Meagan Heiden added 12 points and a team-best eight rebounds off of the bench.

MU made 21-of-42 shots from the floor (50 percent), including 8-of-19 from three-point range.

Rochester was only 21-of-58 from the field (36.2 percent), including 9-of-30 from beyond the arc.

Patriot missiles

Devers' 26 sparks 60-18 rout of RU

By Ed Wright
Observer Staff Writer

The Livonia Franklin and Redford Union girls basketball teams both launched 27 shots during the first half of Tuesday night's season-opening game in the Patriots' gym.

But that's where the similarities ended between the two non-conference foes.

Sparked by a swarming zone defense and a 26-point explosion from senior guard Katelynn Devers, Franklin rolled to a 60-18 triumph.

A good chunk of the second half was played with a running clock due to the Michigan High School Athletic Association's 35-point mercy rule.

A good portion of the first half was played with the Patriots running down the court on a barely-contested fast break — the end product of scrappy, tenacious defense.

"It was just a straight zone, but the girls played it well," Franklin coach Jim Milican said. "We've been working a lot on recognizing passes and reacting to what the other team is doing. The girls knew where the ball was at all times tonight."

"Offensively, we've been working on three or four set plays. When we ran the plays tonight, we got a lot of good looks. I like the way the girls executed, both offensively and defensively."

The Panthers trailed 43-8 at the break after connecting on just three of their 27 first-half attempts. The Patriots, on the other hand, drained 19 shots.

"We obviously have a lot of work ahead of us," first-year RU coach Diane Ziroll said. "We need to do a better job of getting back on defense. We didn't transition well on offense or defense tonight."

"We got a lot of shots off, but we need to more shots off closer to the basket. We weren't getting it inside."

An and-one three-point play by Devers 95 seconds in gave the hosts a quick 5-0 lead. After the Panthers answered on their next possession with a Candice Brennan jumper, it appeared as if a competitive game was about to unfold.

Franklin doused that notion by squeezing off a 25-2 spurt over the next 10 minutes to put the hammer down on their first win of the campaign.

"One thing I didn't see a lot of — which was really good — was turnovers," Milican said. "We had a few early, but once we settled down, we took care of the ball."

The same couldn't be said for

Garden City's box-and-one stops Zebras

By Brad Emons

Garden City missed layups and foul shots, but the Cougars found one common denominator that worked nearly to perfection in Tuesday's 49-24 season-opening girls basketball victory.

The Cougars' defense held Wayne's top scorer Ashley Bland to a mere two points as Michele Tyree, a longtime assistant under Barry Patterson, notched her first victory as head coach.

GIRLS HOOPS

"They came out and you could tell they were pretty amped up the first half," Tyree said, "but we missed a lot of free throws, but started to settle down. The defense — Julene Pummill, Minta Whitaker, and down the stretch Deija Collier, really did a nice job containing number 24 (Ashley Bland). She had 19 against us last season. Someone told me she had two tonight, so they did a great job."

The host Cougars missed their first eight free throws of the first quarter, but still led 11-7.

And it didn't hurt that Bland, a junior guard who averaged 16 points per game last season, went to the bench early with quick three fouls.

"I think Garden City's box-and-one was pretty effective," Wayne first-year coach Joyce Massey said. "Ashley got a little overzeal-

MSU harriers 16th at NCAA

On Nov. 17, The Michigan State University women's cross country team placed 16th with 422 points at the NCAA Women's Cross Country Championships held at Tom Sawyer Park in Louisville, Ky. Big Ten champion Sara Kroll, a junior from Livonia Churchill, was the Spartans' top finisher overall in 53rd with a 6,000-meter time of 20 minutes, 24.2 seconds.

"It's a little bitter-sweet today," Kroll said after the race. "My first 4,000 were really strong. I don't know what happened, because mentally I was ready for this race. I just didn't have my legs under me and I didn't feel very strong. I lost a lot of people."

"Unfortunately, I'm not going to be an All-American today. But I still have one more season, so I'm really looking forward to improving next year."

Redshirt senior Rachel McFarlane, also from Churchill, was MSU's fourth runner in 131st with a time of 21:00.2.

She was a second-team All-Big Ten selection after finishing 14th.

MU men's cagers succumb to EMU

By Brad Emons
Observer Staff Writer

An underdog Madonna University men's basketball team stepped up in class Saturday night to face NCAA Division I foe Eastern Michigan University at the Convocation Center.

The Crusaders hung close before a half before the Eagles gained control to post a 75-57 win.

The loss drops MU to 5-2 overall, while EMU improves to 5-1.

Forwards Daylen Harrison and Glenn Bryant scored 17 and 16 points, respectively, for the Eagles, while 7-foot center Da'Shonte Riley, a transfer from Syracuse, added 13 rebounds and five blocks.

Freshman guard Ray Lee came off the bench to add 14 points.

"Da'Shonte kind of locked up the middle and we did a good job of going wide on their shooters and we rebounded the ball well," EMU coach Rob Murphy said of his team's second-half surge. "Ray Lee did a great job coming in the first half and getting us going offensively. We needed a punch there.

"But I give them (Madonna) a lot of credit. They play tough defense, they hit some shots and they made us play, and we did. We needed this test."

The Crusaders got off to a great start and built their largest lead, 19-8, with 12:23 left in the first half on a layup by Donald Owens.

But EMU charged back to take a 33-30 halftime advantage thanks to eight points off the bench by Lee.

"He (Lee) really changed the game, especially with (Bobby) Naubert getting two fouls and we left him in the game some the second half," MU coach Noel Emehiser said. "He (Lee) was able to get some penetration and create for a few others, and that definitely hurt us. His offense in the first half definitely changed the game."

The Eagles asserted themselves to start the second half going on a 20-5 run during the first 9:45 to take a 53-35 advantage as the Crusaders made just 1-of-6 from three-point range and connected on only two field goals.

"We did a better job of locating those guys in the second half, actually late in the first half and into the second half," Murphy said. "(Travis) Schuba is the best shooter we've faced all season and could be one of the best we will face all season. We knew going in they averaged 90-plus points. We widened our guys four and five out in the second half and made it tough."

Schuba's back-to-back three-point baskets helped stopped the bleeding momentarily to cut the deficit to 53-41 and Owens followed with shot on an up-and-under move to cut it to 10 with 8:54 remaining, but MU would get no closer.

Naubert, who came in averaging 18 points per game, was held to six points, but junior point-guard did dish out six assists.

Schuba, averaging 22.5, ended up with a game-high 23, but shot only 7-of-24 from the floor including 7-of-22 from three-point range.

"Schuba is a great player and so is their point guard (Naubert)," Murphy said. "He (Naubert) doesn't get a lot of credit, but his penetration allows the zone or man to break down, and he gives guys a lot of open shots."

Junior forward Fred Williams added 13 points with 11 coming in the first half.

"They (EMU) did a good job making adjustments to stop our penetration," Emehiser said. "In the first half they were playing the 1-2-2 (zone defense) a little bit, which let Bob get a head of steam in a few instances and opened a few things up. They backed up and that kept Bob from getting in the paint."

"And that really changed the game. We got a few good looks, but not many. I thought they really made good adjustments and we didn't counter those adjustments very well as a coaching staff."

NOTICE TO BRIGHT HOUSE NETWORKS CABLE CUSTOMERS

This notice is to inform our Bright House Networks customers of upcoming changes to their cable programming lineup.

From time to time our agreements with cable channels and television stations come up for renewal. While we do not anticipate any loss or disruption of service, regulations require us to notify you of the possibility of losing programming. Therefore, please be advised that our agreements with BBC America, Channel One Russia, Cooking Channel, Current TV, DIY, E!, Encore, Encore Action, Encore Drama, Encore Family, Encore Family West, Encore Love, Encore Suspense, Encore West, Encore Westerns, Food Network, Game Show Network (GSN), GoTV, Hallmark, Hallmark Movie Channel, IFC, IndiePlex, Lifetime, Lifetime Movie Network, Lifetime Real Women, MC, NHL Center Ice, NHL Network, Ovation, RetroPlex, Smithsonian, Starz, Starz Cinema, Starz Cinema West, Starz Comedy, Starz Edge, Starz in Black, Starz Kids & Family, Starz West, Style, This TV, TV Japan, WE and YouToo TV remain in effect on a month-to-month basis, but we may have to cease carriage in all formats if our authority to continue is withheld. We are working diligently at this time to come to acceptable and fair terms with all of these channels.

Bright House Networks utilizes a new digital video delivery technology known as Switched Digital Video (SDV). SDV is a robust bandwidth management system that makes it possible to offer more digital video programming services than before including new HD channels. To be able to offer more new video services, Bright House Networks will be moving some existing programming services to the new SDV system as well as adding new services on the SDV system.

Effective by December 31, 2012, the following channels will launch on the SDV system:

BBC World News	Channel 146
BBC World News HD	Channel 339

As of November 2, 2012, the following channels launched on the SDV system:

beIN Sport	Sports Pass Channel 578
beIN Sport HD	Sports Pass Channel 678

These services will not be available on uni-directional retail devices as of the date(s) noted above. If you want to subscribe to these services, you will need a digital set-top box or tuning adaptor from Bright House Networks. Customers may continue to use their uni-directional retail device and CableCARD to receive video programming other than the programming delivered on the SDV system. Customers who also utilize a digital set-top box or tuning adaptor will be able to receive video programming delivered on the SDV system. Customers will be notified in advance of any other programming changes.

PREP WRESTLING CAPSULE OUTLOOK

LIVONIA CHURCHILL

Head coach: Marty Altounian, 15th year.
League affiliation: KLAAs Kensington Conference (South Division).
Last year's dual match record: 10-17.
Notable losses to graduation: None.
Leading returnees: Manny Haddad, Sr., 285 (first-team All-Area, state qualifier, 25-16); Josh Perez, Jr., 125 (third-team All-Area); Jon Locklear, Sr., 135 (third-team All-Area); Ben Leck, Sr., 145; Justin Baker, Jr., 152; Jake Bercieca, Soph., 215; Jake Hale, Sr., 135; Matt Siemasz, Sr., 160; Nathan Dietrich, Soph., 171; Jake Humphrey, Sr., 130.
Promising newcomers: Zach Leck, Fr., 135.
Assistant coach Mike Gaffke's 2012-13 outlook: "We're going to be a lot deeper than last year, which will help out quite a bit. The guys coming back are a year older a year more experienced. Manny (Haddad) is the only returning state qualifier. He's ranked top five (in the state) right now. He's put on quite a bit of size and strength. He should do pretty well this year. I think both (Jon) Locklear and (Josh) Perez have the potential to go. We've got a lot of guys who have been here for four years, and who knows, come the end of the year? (Ben) Leck, (Jake) Hale and some of those other guys could make that turn, too."

Haddad
 All-Area, sixth, 215, Division 1); Joe Scott, Samer Shebak, Corey Davis.

Leading returnees: Kody Roy, Sr. co-captain, 145 (second-team All-Area; 44 wins); Jake Kelley, Sr. co-captain, 171-189; Devantae Austin, Soph., 112; Connor Vaughan, Soph., 145; Brad Scott, Soph., 171.
Promising newcomers: Zac Saleh, Soph., 285.
Vaughan's 2012-13 outlook: "We look to improve upon our 10-10 season last year. Our captains worked very hard during the offseason and gained valuable experience wrestling in tournaments. Our numbers are good, but the kids are young and inexperienced. The 2012-2013 season will be a great year of learning in the strong KLAAs."

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN
Head coach: Bill Polk, 13th year.
League affiliation: KLAAs Kensington Conference (South Division).
Last year's dual match record: 23-6.
Titles won last year: Division 1 district, Observerland (co-champs) and Salem Christmas Invitational.
Notable losses to graduation: Jesse O'Neal (first-team All-Area); Danny Croft (first-team All-Area); Anthony Long, Sr., 152 (first-team All-Area; eighth, 152, Division 1).
Leading returnees: Kyle Gillies, Sr., 112 (first-team All-Area; fifth, 103, Division 1; 49-7); Travis Mann, Sr., 152 (first-team All-Area; fourth, 152, Division 1; 43-7); Quinn Dupraw, Sr., 125 (second-team All-Area); Jordan Brandon, Sr., 215 (second-team All-Area); Dylan Morantes, Sr., 285 (second-team All-Area).
Promising newcomers: To be determined.
Polk's 2012-13 outlook: "This season I would like to see a level of consistency with our guys from beginning to end. We hope to shuffle several wrestlers in and out of the lineup this season. While doing that, we hope to maintain a strong team with whomever we send out on any given day. We have a great freshman class that will be ready to make a mark at the JV level this year and replace the graduating seniors by next season."

WAYNE MEMORIAL
Head coach: Steve Vasiloff, eighth year.
League affiliation: KLAAs Kensington Conference (South Division).
Last year's dual match record: 14-2.
Titles won last year: South Division co-champs; Garden City Christmas and Lincoln Park Invitational champions.
Notable losses to graduation: Dimitris Renfro (first-team All-Area, 215, Division 1 state runner-up); Devin Korzetki (third-team All-Area); Micheil Hood, Tristan Jarosiewicz, Devon Adams, Sharif Hegazi, Nick Wagnitz, Kyle Szalai.
Leading returnees: Allen Parker, Sr., 140 (third-team All-Area; state qualifier); Sam Ekanem, Sr., 171 (third-team All-Area); Lucas Hofbauer, Sr., 189; Tim Way, Jr., 119; Tyler Mulligan, Jr., 112; Mike Nicholson, Sr., 130; Tyler Castells, Sr., 215; Colin Mullins, Sr., 189; Aaron Mauldin, Jr., 285.
Promising newcomers: Jack DeJack, Fr., 103.
Vasiloff's 2012-13 outlook: "We are looking at another strong team this year, and we will be loaded with juniors and seniors. We had a great season last year, winning our first piece of a division title since 1996. We had some wrestlers get involved with freestyle and Greco over the summer with Sam Ekanem qualifying for Team Michigan and wrestling in Oklahoma City and Fargo (N.D.). We need some wrestlers to step up and fill the spots of last years seniors, but we are confident and look forward to seeing if we can exceed the high level of success we achieved last season."

LUTHERAN WESTLAND
Head coach: Joe Schmidt, fourth year.
League affiliation: Michigan Independent Athletic Conference.
Last year's dual match record: 18-4.
Titles won last year: Division 4 district.
Notable losses to graduation: Matt Sankey, Philip Weite, Stewart Tarp.
Leading returnees: Zachary Francis, Jr., 125 (first-team All-Area, 44-4; state qualifier); Caleb Richter, Soph., 135 (third-team All-Area); Martin Kemp, Sr., 160 (third-team All-Area); Conner Even, Soph., 130-135; Jacob Bavol, Soph., 135-140; Jacob Richter, Sr., 145; Kole Niemi, Jr., 140; Adam Seta, Sr., 140; Newman Harper, Jr., 152; Jonah Lambart, Jr., 152; Cullen McNamara, Sr., 189; Alex Reardon, Sr., 215; Thomas Krueger, Soph., 215.
Promising newcomers: Troy Gotchev, Jr., 140; Doug Lavolette, Soph., 103-12; Manny Rankine, Fr., 103; Ethan Becker, Fr., 112; Garrett Harper, Fr., 125; Andy Cross, Fr., 140; Wes Warren, Fr., 145; Robert Marshall, Fr., 171; Nic Garber, Soph., 160; Mitch Klein, Fr., 285.
Schmidt's 2012-13 outlook: "The leadership on this team is the best I have seen in all my years at Lutheran Westland as the upperclassmen lead by example and their enthusiasm and love for the sport has already caught on with the youngsters. The work ethic is also very strong, which makes my job a lot easier we will also be able to cover the 14 weight classes without any bumping around of the lineup. This might be the nicest group of kids I've ever been around. We don't have one bad seed in the group, which makes coaching them even more fun. I'm looking forward to when we start competing I think it's going to be a really fun year."

LIVONIA CLARENCEVILLE
Head coach: Nick Elam, first year.
League affiliation: Independent.
Last year's dual match record: 12-7.
Notable losses to graduation: Denzale Leonard, Alan Zhen.
Leading returnees: Aaron Bibik, Sr., 160; Mike Weiss, Jr., 130; Joey Walker, Jr., 135-140; Dominick Slagle, Soph., 145; Devin Howell, Sr., 152; Shane Martin, Sr., 135; Cameron Fyffe, Soph., 140; Justin Carl, Sr., Elijah Bean, Soph., 189; Jeshua Nimmo, Fr., 135; Bryce Cozart, Fr., 135.
Elam's 2012-13 outlook: "I'm extremely excited for the upcoming season. We are returning all but two wrestlers to this year's team. The middle weights is where we are stacked and we have a lot of young talent behind the seniors. My toughest problem this year as the coach is going to be getting everyone mat time. We have a great turnout this year - 30 kids - and 16 are within four weight classes."

LIVONIA FRANKLIN
Head coach: Dave Chiola, 13th year.
League affiliation: KLAAs Kensington Conference (South Division).
Last year's dual match record: To be determined.
Titles won last year: Wayne County, Observerland (co-champs), South Division (co-champs); Division 1 district.
Notable losses to graduation: Gabe Martinez (first-team All-Area; third, 119, Division 1); Omar Haymour (first-team All-Area); Ryan Derry (second-team All-Area; state qualifier); Avery Opperman (third-team All-Area); Matt Horne.
Leading returnees: Dan Martinez, Sr., 125-130 (first-team All-Area, 59-4, fifth, 112, Division 1; 59-4); Jordan Atienza, Jr., 152-160 (second-team All-Area; state qualifier); Nick Frazier, Jr., 152-160 (second-team All-Area); Allen Steele, Sr., 171-189 (second-team All-Area; state qualifier); Jack Newa, Sr., 103; Nick Robertson, Soph., 112-119; Tyler Solnikowski, Sr., 145.
Promising newcomers: To be determined.
Chiola's 2012-13 outlook: "This could be a rough year. Our numbers are decent, but we are very top-heavy. We have a lot of kids in the upper weights, but we are going to have a hard time filling in the middle and light weights with any experienced kids. Some of the kids that are getting into the starting lineup for the first time are going to have to step up. This could be the best freshman class we've had in a decade, so if we can piece it together this year, we should be O.K. I definitely think we will get better every week and that's all we can really ask."

LIVONIA STEVENSON
Head coach: Dan Vaughan, ninth year.
League affiliation: KLAAs Kensington Conference (Central Division).
Last year's dual match record: 10-10.
Notable losses to graduation: Jake Range (first-team

HVL rolls in opener; Jays rally past C'ville

Three players scored in double figures Tuesday night as Westland Huron Valley Lutheran rolled to a 60-22 girls basketball triumph at Warren Macomb Christian.

The Hawks, who jumped out to a 19-3 first quarter lead, were led by sophomore Julie St. John's 15 points and 10 rebounds.

Senior Megan Prieskorn added 10 points and seven rebounds, while junior Sarah Setian had 10 points and three steals as HVL outscored the Crusaders 41-19 over the final three quarters.

"We saw some good things tonight on offense with a well balanced scoring attack," HVL coach Kris Ruth said. "We got some good looks at the basket in our offensive set. Our defense was sloppy at times and that has to improve."

Freshman Shania Raw-

Is scored a game-high 19 points for the Crusaders. SOUTHFIELD 42, CLARENCEVILLE 38: Junior center Ayanna Buckley's 22 points and 12 rebounds were not enough Tuesday as Livonia Clarenceville fell at home to the Blue Jays in the season opener.

Senior Ashley Murphy also grabbed a game-high 18 rebounds and senior Jodi Ankiel chipped in with seven points for the Trojans, who were outscored 21-9 in the decisive fourth quarter.

Chelsea Brown and Tallar White tallied 12 and eight points, respectively, for South-the Panthers, who committed 27 miscues — 20 of which came in the first 16 minutes.

 Devers led the Patriots with seven steals.
 Senior guard Caitlin

Milican formed a potent back-court duo with Devers as she registered eight points in her season debut. Rebecca Giacobbi added five for the Patriots, who were coming off a 1-20 season.
 RU, which sank just 8-of-42 shots from the floor, was led by a quartet of players who scored four points each — Ashley Henderson, Cashmere Jones, Brennan and Renee' Reed.

ous to say the least. I think she picked up a foul in the first 20 seconds of the game."

Garden City, despite going 10-of-30 from the floor and 1-of-12 from the foul stripe during the first 16 minutes, increased its lead to 22-10 at halftime.
 "Definitely there's room for improvement," Tyree said. "I think a lot of the layouts and a lot of the free throws were when we were just pushing things too hard. You could tell that their shots were a little off, so hopefully as we settle in, we'll start to hit a little bit more. Lots of practices on free throws and layouts."

The Cougars put it away with a 15-3 run in the third quarter as sophomore guard Hannah Vera-Burgos and senior forward Cassea Bear each scored four points.
 Vera-Burgos led a balanced GC scoring attack with 10 points, while Bear and Collier contributed eight apiece. Sophomore guard Abby Joseph chipped in with seven.

 "We want to up-tempo the ball," said Tyree, whose team was 22-of-69 from the floor (31.8 percent). "We're pretty small, so we want to push the ball and tire people out. Our goal is to be in shape and push the ball."

Wayne shot only 15.3 percent from the floor (8-of-52) and committed 24 turnovers.
 Bailey Hart and Honia Williams led the Zebras with nine and eight points, respectively.

Meanwhile, Bland went 0-9 from the floor and was limited to two free throws.
 "I know most teams will try and implement a box-and-one, especially after this game with Ashley being face-guarded," Massey said. "We had gone over that, but now that it's happened, I'm pretty sure in practice they'll do a little more instinctively on how to neutralize the box-and-one."

"She is the leader on the team and that's something I'm going to have to reiterate to her that she's the head of the team whether she likes it or not. Because if they cut off the head, the body comes after."

"We had some guys go away to camp for a month and do a lot of off-season wrestling, so I think that will make the difference in them turning the corner and getting to the next level," Churchill assistant coach Mike Gaffke said. "We should have quite a better year than last year."

Livonia Stevenson lost state placer Jake Range, who took sixth in Division 1, to graduation, but returns senior co-captain Kody Roy, who notched 44 wins a year ago. Roy is joined by senior returnee Jake Kelley (171-189), a co-captain.

"We have to be on top of our game," said the Livonia native. "We have to hit, pass, everything. We need to block better because they have some huge players. We really just have to step our game up."

Icettes take 1st

Motown Cup champs

The Livonia Midget A Travel team captured the Motown Cup tournament with a 3-2 victory Sunday over the Whitby (Ontario) Wildcats at Farmington Hills Ice Arena. The Knights, coached by Ken Hunt, also posted wins over Oakbridge (Ontario), Howell JV Green and the Michigan Jaguars, along with a tie against the Wildcats to advance to the title game. Members of the team include: Cullen Barber, Alex DeFlorio, Bobby Diegel, Jeff Flannigan, Vince Glenn, Jay Hague, Luke Justice, Max McCrory, Robert Schneider, Drake Shepard, Nick Smith, Christopher Tripi, Michael Warner, Alec Wells and Alex Williams. Assistant coaches included Craig Justice, Bob Warner and Don Barber.

Cranbrook icers blank Spartans

There was a silver lining for coach David Mitchell even after his Livonia Stevenson boys hockey team suffered its first loss of the season, 7-0 to host Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook in the finals of the Cranes' Thanksgiving tournament.

"It was a good learning experience for our young team," said Mitchell, whose Spartans slipped to 4-1 overall. "We had some injuries and some guys out, but give Cranbrook all the credit in the world. They played fast and moved the puck and took advantage of our mistakes. We will learn from this and be better. I'm sure of that."

Connor Humitz made 42 saves in goal for the Spartans, many of which were point-blank Cranbrook chances.

"He played very well," said Mitchell, whose team was outshot 49-17.

And so did the Cranes' Alex Alger, who tallied four goals on the afternoon while brother Austin added a goal and two assists.

Kevin Shand and Michael Romund also added goals for Cranbrook, now 4-0 overall.

Vellucci mum after Whaler loss

By Tim Smith
Observer Staff Writer

The way the Plymouth Whalers imploded during the final 26 minutes of their game against Kingston on the night after Thanksgiving must have made their head coach sick to his stomach.

In fact, Mike Vellucci handed off the postgame interview duties to assistant coach Don Elland following a disappointing 7-6 loss to the Frontenacs before 3,161 at Compuware Arena — an Ontario Hockey League game in which the Whalers blew a 5-2 lead.

Despite the loss, Plymouth (12-8-3-1) remains in first place in the OHL West Division with 28 points. Second-place Sarnia also lost Friday. Kingston improved to 13-10-0-0, good for third in the East Division.

"It certainly wasn't the same group effort we got against Windsor," said Elland, referring to a 3-0 win over Windsor two nights earlier. "Tonight, it seemed like maybe they thought with Saturday and Sunday off they were already on break."

"But it was a group effort. The forwards, 'D', goaltending, we didn't get any of it tonight."

Elland stuck to that critical assessment when reminded the Whalers held a 53-34 edge in shots on goal, peppering Kingston netminder Colin Furlong with 22 of those shots in the second period.

"We scored six goals but we gave up a lot of good chances to them," Elland said. "And that's not a team you should be giving up that many chances to."

No excuse

Plymouth played without two key players, forward Stefan Noesen (high ankle sprain) and defenseman and captain Colin MacDonald (concussion). The Whalers then lost defenseman Austin Levi (Farmington Hills) to an injury early in the game.

However, Elland wasn't about to use injuries as an excuse.

"We all have to bounce back," he said. "Matty (Mahalak) wasn't great, but it wasn't just Matty. It was a group effort."

Two third-period goals by Kingston (by Henri Ikonen and Billy Jenkins) completed the Frontenacs' comeback and chased Plymouth starting goalie Mahalak (32 shots, 25 saves) in the process. Finishing the game was Alex Nedeljkovic, who stopped both shots he saw.

Perhaps foretelling the way the game would unfold was a goal scored by Kingston's Cody Alcock just 32 seconds after the opening faceoff.

The Whalers rebounded with 16:21 left in the period when forward and Farmington Hills product Alex Aleari threaded a pass through the half-wall to linemate Matt who scored a hat trick — ripped the shot high into the Kingston cage.

Let Alex do it

Aleari was sensational over the first half of the wide-open contest, tallying either a goal or assist on the first five Plymouth goals.

With 52 seconds to play in the first, Aleari set up center Michael Whaley for the go-ahead marker. Cody Payne drew the second assist.

Kingston regained the lead at 3-2 when Darcy Greenaway (three goals, one assist) tipped a shot by Ryan Hayes past Mahalak with 16:20 to play in the second period.

Less than three minutes later, Aleari struck for the first of two goals he would score in a span of 3:18. Almost as if he had the puck on a string, he deked a defenseman near the right hash mark and fired the puck into the twine.

Aleari's second goal and 12th of the season was due to being in the right place at the right time. He stuffed the puck in at the left post after collecting the carom of a wide shot by defenseman Simon Karlsson (two assists).

With 6:46 left in the period, the Whalers made it a 5-2 advantage and looked primed for a blowout as Mistele buried Aleari's centering pass.

Downhill from there

That's when things started turning sour.

"When we were up 5-2, that's when it started," Elland said. "We took a bad penalty behind their net (by Danny Vanderwiel at 13:39) and gave up a power play goal. Then we gave up a goal in the last minute of the period. Good teams don't do that."

Scoring both Kingston goals was Greenaway, who now has 14 markers for the season.

The first goal was a shot between the circles; it was a 5-4 Plymouth lead at 18:59 when Greenaway converted a centering feed from Sam Povorozniouk (two assists).

Kingston evened the contest at 5-5 just 1:40 into the third. A routine wrist shot by Jenkins changed direction after hitting the stick of a Plymouth player and got past Mahalak.

Compuware fans had the chance to cheer again when Mistele scored his third goal (and 10th of the year) with 12:06 left, putting the Whalers back in front 6-5.

A bad-angle shot by Ikonen tied the game at 6-6 with 9:21 remaining and Jenkins (two goals) put the Frontenacs ahead with 6:06 left.

A turnover at the Kingston blueline launched Povorozniouk and Jenkins on a 2-on-1 rush. Jenkins successfully finished the play with his low shot beating Mahalak.

Ceramic artists sell thousands of items at annual Potters Market

By Sharon Dargay
O&E Staff Writer

Oakland Community College ceramics student, Carol Fitzpatrick, works, thinks and dreams clay.

"I come in four days a week, 9:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.," she said, preparing a handmade bisque bowl for color earlier this week. "That's 28 hours worth of clay."

On days when she attends glaze formulation class, the 55-year-old Farmington Hills woman packs lunch and dinner and settles in for a long stretch at her work bench in the college's ceramics technology lab in Royal Oak.

And after she shuts her tool kit, carefully wraps up her fragile art pieces and goes home, there's still plenty of time at night to dream up new projects.

"I was thinking the other day at 2:30 in the morning, I could make a Christmas ornament and put a glaze on it. Let me show it to you," she said, eager to show off a blue-green test strip. "Now, when you look at it in the light, you can see a rainbow. Could you imagine a spherical ornament with this glaze on it?"

"I have so many ideas in my head. It's crazy. I pull things out of magazines. I take pictures. I collect all these ideas. It's so much fun. I thought I might work a little more at home when I'm not in class and make a list of five things that are new and try to bring them to life."

Fitzpatrick, who has taken classes at the college part time for 13 years, will introduce a few new pieces along with her popular bread and dipping oil plates at the 37th annual Potters Market this weekend. She's one of 138 potters — including approximately 60 OCC students — who will sell their work at the three-day show in Madison Heights. Visitors to the free exhibit and sale will see handmade decorative ceramics, including sculpture; functional pottery such as bowls, plates, mugs; tiles; jewelry and ornaments. The artists serve refreshments, work the check-out area, and restock shelves during the show.

Experiencing a show

For the buyer, the "advantage of this sale is that we constantly restock," said Alan Paulson, show organizer and head of the ceramics department at OCC Royal Oak. For students, it offers an opportunity to experience a show.

For most of its 37 years the sale was a college-sponsored event. Last year, it was separated from the school and became an organization, run by the artists.

"My goal, when we were separating this from the school was to maintain an opportunity for people who are learning the art of ceramics to have the experience of showing their work and learning to apply for a show," said Paulson, a Livonia native who lives in Detroit.

The application process is offered first to students and then opened to professional potters. Paulson said approximately 250 students are enrolled in OCC's ceramics classes.

"The work has to be of a quality nature and hopefully they'll have more than four or five pieces for the show. And even if they don't sell, they are part of a great group experience," he said.

"Sometimes a show can be a double-edged sword. You don't want to focus on making things for the sake of money. Hopefully they are enjoying making the work. That should be number one. The students who come here, they take their first ceramics class and they get hooked. There is something magical about it.

"But it's not something you can learn within one or two semesters. To really explore and get your own signature work does take time."

Pagodas, dance sculpture

Dave Albrecht, 70, of Farmington has put in 11 years at OCC. He was an art major during the 1960s at Ohio State University, but took a 35-year hiatus to work in pharmaceutical sales.

He has shown at the Potters Market for eight

A ceramic dish by potter Carol Fitzpatrick of Farmington Hills. She'll show and sell her works at the upcoming 37th annual Potters Market.

Where: United Food and CI, 876 Horace Brown Drive, one block south of 13 Mile between John R and 1-75, Madison Heights

Details: The pottery sale features 138 potters offering nearly 40,000 pieces of pottery ranging from pots, vases, platters, tiles and mugs to bird baths, jewelry, ceramic framed mirrors, sculpture, lamps, tile-topped tables and just about every product possible in clay. Prices range from $5-$400. Artists include approximately 60 students from Oakland Community College, as well as professionals

Local artists: Jack Adelman of Farmington Hills, Robert Crisp of Farmington, Carol Fitzpatrick of Farmington Hills, Dave Albrecht of Farmington, Julie Gaynett of Farmington Hills, Betty Kowalczyk of Farmington Hills, Gaylin Bates of Farmington Hills, Donna Williams of Plymouth, and Kathy Sandberg of Plymouth years and will have approximately 100 items for sale this weekend. He is known for large pagoda pieces that can be used as lawn sculpture. He'll also have bowls and dance-related sculptures and tiles for sale.

"One hundred isn't much compared to seasoned production potters," he noted. "Many people here are production potters and they love making a lot of stuff that they can make many of the same pieces of. I'm not equipped to do that. It's not my thing. I get distracted by new ideas pretty easily."

He has created hand-built and wheel thrown items, but increasingly is working on sculpture.

Fitzpatrick will package about 50 of her dipping plates with spices, tying everything together with raffia.

"It looks like a complete gift. So I do really well with those," she said. The plates sold out by the second day of the sale last year.

Her newest items — trays sporting the impression of a sunflower that grew in her yard — reflect her interest in nature and recall her career in the floral industry. Fitzpatrick, married and the mother of three children, owned and operated a flower shop for 34 years at Grand River Ave. and Haggerty. She sold it last March and retired from the business, but continues to let nature inspire her work.

"When I came into the studio in September it was so thrilling to come here and see all these nice people again," she said. "I didn't have to get up and go to work. I could come here and play."

Yummy recipes

Angela Hospice publishes first cookbook

By Sharon Dargay
O&E Staff Writer

Mike Cuba had all the necessary ingredients to produce a cookbook.

He knows his way around the kitchen. He has a knack for organizing and writing and he volunteers with others who are passionate about their cooking.

When he suggested that Angela Hospice create and sell its own cookbook, Syndie Best, volunteer services manager, was more than happy to give him the green light — and a box full of recipes.

"We had kicked around this idea a few years ago and it was one of those things that a few staff members said we should do," Best said. "It got tabled for a number of years. When Mike came on as a volunteer ... he talked about different recipes and suggested it."

Best and other staff members didn't have time to create a cookbook, but Cuba did. She handed over the box of recipes that staff members and volunteers had contributed over the years and watched him take on the challenge.

"Two hundred fifty recipes later and three rewrites ... it took a year," said Cuba, of Livonia. "It was interesting seeing the kinds of recipes we had."

Cuba and his wife, Jane, are retired teachers who volunteer for Angela Hospice. She is a home visitor and he cooks for events, helps with clerical tasks and pitches in where needed.

They and several friends will bake cookies from the new book, Where the Butter Flies!, during the Livonia Christmas Walk Saturday, Dec. 1. As visitors walk through the couple's kitchen, they'll get a chance to taste a cookie. Copies of the cookbook will be available for purchase. The cost is $10.

The couple will serve such goodies as "Lady Jacoba," a sugar cookie with a rind of crushed almond, peanut butter cookies, Czechoslovakian cookies and a ginger snap.

"I took the recipe from the Grandma's Molasses jar and altered it," Cuba said, describing the ginger cookie.

They'll serve coffee and

Sausage Shrimp Creole Jumbalaya

From Mike Cuba
Serves 6-8

All amounts are estimates and subject to ingredient availability. Feel free to invent!

- 1/2 pound each three different types of precooked sausage, sliced
- 1/2 pound chicken breast, cut into 1-inch cubes
- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 4-6 medium onions, coarsely chopped
- 1/4 cup wine
- 1 each red, orange, yellow and green bell peppers, cleaned and cut into 1-inch pieces
- 1 pound button mushrooms, cut up (sliced or chunk, your choice)
- 2 big portobello mushrooms, cut into 1/2-inch pieces (they end up chewy, so keep them small)
- 1 big can peeled Italian tomatoes in tomato sauce
- 1 little can tomato paste
- 1 pound raw shrimp, peeled and deveined

Heat the oil in a large skillet or pan, brown the sausage and chicken. Remove from the oil and set aside. Add the onions to the skillet and sauté. If onions start to look dry, add the wine and cover the pan. You want the onions translucent. Add the peppers and portobellos and the Italian tomatoes. Break up the tomatoes with a spatula. Cook covered 5-10 minutes. Add the button mushrooms, tomato paste and the meat. Cook covered 5-10 minutes more. Add the shrimp and cook until the shrimp turn pink, about 2 minutes. Serve over brown rice. If you want a little more kick to this, add a couple of poblano peppers and/or a couple of habaneros. Watch out! Their kick is not instantaneous, but it lingers.

Lady Jacoba Cookies

From Barb Brown and Sister Mary Giovanni

- 1/2 cup of butter
- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 egg
- 1 cup ground almonds
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla

Cream together the butter and sugar. Add the vanilla, egg and beat. Sift together the flour and baking soda and add to the butter mixture. Shape the dough into several oblong rolls about 2 inches wide. Roll in the ground almonds and wrap in plastic wrap. Refrigerate at least 2 hours. Unwrap and slice quite thin. Bake at 350 degrees for about 15 minutes.

Bourbon Pecan Pork Roast

From Barb Iovan
Serves 4

- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 2 pounds rolled pork loin roast
- Salt and pepper
- 1/2 cup (or more) pecan pieces
- 1/2 cup bourbon (airplane-size bottle)
- 3 tablespoons brown sugar

Heat oven to 325 degrees. Heat oil in a large frying pan over medium high heat and brown pork on all sides. Put meat on rack in roasting pan and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Roast 30 minutes. Meanwhile, add pecans to oil in frying pan, cook over medium heat 1 minute and remove pecans from pan. Combine the bourbon, sugar and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Add to the frying pan and boil until the sugar dissolves and bourbon reduces slightly — 1-2 minutes. After meat has cooked 30 minutes begin basting with the bourbon sauce. Cook until a meat thermometer stuck in the center reaches 160 degrees, about 30 more minutes. Five minutes before meat is done, sprinkle with pecans.

the cookie recipes will be on view.

"Everything we'll be baking is from the book," Cuba said.

Lentils and Rice Casserole

From Syndie Best

- 1 cup dried lentils
- 1 teaspoon margarine
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup green pepper, chopped
- 1 can (14 ounces) chopped tomatoes (do not drain!)
- 1/2 teaspoon ground red pepper
- 2 cups cooked brown rice
- 1 1/2 cups shredded cheddar cheese
- Salt and pepper to taste

Cook the lentils according to the package directions. Melt the margarine in a large skillet over a medium heat. Add the onion, green pepper and garlic, stir often and cook until tender. Stir in the lentils, tomatoes, paprika, salt and pepper. Cover, reduce heat and simmer for 20 minutes. Preheat the oven to 325 degrees. Spray a 2-quart baking dish with cooking spray. Place the rice in the bottom and top with the lentil mixture. Bake for 25 minutes. Add the cheese to cover the top and bake 5-10 minutes or until the cheese is melted.

stitutes, calorie counts, napkin-folding diagrams, advice for buying and cooking fruits and vegetables, and a guide to herbs and spices. All of the recipes are from volunteers or staff members. Cuba submitted eight, including the recipe for a favorite bread. "For the holidays I cook a bohemian egg bread called Hoska," he said. "It's a sweet egg bread from my grandmother's bohemian ancestry."

The book also includes favorite recipes from Angela Hospice pot lucks and summer barbecues.

"We have a volunteer known as The Pie Lady. She's been baking for 15 years (for Hospice)," Best said. The Pie Lady, also known as Alberta Karll, bakes for the Angela Hospice's Care Center every Tuesday. "She started with apple pies. Her recipe is in the book.

"We do a high tea every Thursday for patients and their families. Jane (Cuba) makes shortbread for the high tea and that recipe is in the book."

Fundraiser

Proceeds from the sale of the cookbook will benefit such programs as bereavement services — which are available to the all in the community — prenatal hospice and counseling.

It's available from Angela Hospice, 14100 Newburgh, Livonia; www.AskForAngela.com. Buy a ticket to the Livonia Christmas Walk — and get a chance to see five decorated houses, in addition to tasting a cookie from the book — at Livonia's libraries, Livonia City Hall, 33000 Civic Center Drive, or at the Quaker House in Greenmead, located at Eight Mile and Newburgh. Tickets are $9 before Dec. 1 and $10 on Dec. 1.

"We're really excited about the book. One of our volunteers came up with the title," said Best, noting that the butterfly is part of Angela Hospice's logo. "It's professionally done. The cover is plastic and it lays flat. It has all those pluses for cooking."

Chef offers meal tips for dialysis patients

Chef Aaron McCargo, Jr., star of Food Network's Big Daddy's House television show, will visit with patients Friday-Saturday, Nov. 30-Dec. 1 at Detroit-area Fresenius Medical Care clinics where he will help dialysis patients and their families learn how to create kidney-friendly meals.

He'll also give a live cooking demonstration at the National Kidney Foundation of Michigan's Kidney Ball fundraising event on Dec. 1.

More than 940,000 Michigan residents have chronic kidney disease, according to the National Kidney Foundation of Michigan. African-Americans are among those most at risk, because of their high rates of diabetes and high blood pressure, which are the two leading causes of chronic kidney disease. This progressive, usually permanent loss of kidney function, frequently leads to kidney failure, which can only be treated with dialysis or a kidney transplant. Michigan has one of the highest rates of kidney failure in the entire country with close to 14,000 patients on dialysis.

Maintaining a healthy diet can be a matter of life and death for individuals on dialysis. To stay healthy, dialysis patients must control their levels of potassium, phosphorus, salt and saturated fats by limiting their intake of certain foods.

"We're pleased to bring Chef McCargo to Detroit to share his healthy cuisine tips with the area's dialysis community," stated Steve Chowen, regional vice president, Fresenius Medical Care. "His unique recipes for adding bold flavors and variety to meals help dialysis patients learn how to get more enjoyment from eating, while still complying with their renal diets."

The free events are open to the general public. Meet McCargo:

- 2-4 p.m. Friday, Nov. 30, at Fresenius Medical Care Garden City, 27201 W. Warren Street in Dearborn Heights
- 6-8 p.m., Friday, Nov. 30 at Fresenius Medical Care St. Clair Shores, 26210 Harper Ave. #200 in St. Clair Shores
- Noon to 2 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 1 at Fresenius Medical Care University, 18430 Livernois, in downtown Detroit

Each clinic will give away the Fill Your Plate cookbook with dialysisfriendly recipes for all attendees.

Also on Saturday, Dec. 1, McCargo will present a live cooking demonstration for attendees of the National Kidney Foundation of Michigan's Kidney Ball at the MGM Grand Detroit, 1777 Third Street, Detroit. He will demonstrate how to prepare appetizing dishes that are tasty, affordable and dialysis-friendly. One of the appetizers at the event will be prepared by McCargo, and a dietitian from Fresenius Medical Care North America (FMCNA) will be available to answer questions. To purchase tickets for the Kidney Ball, visit www.nkfm.org or call (734) 222-9800.

Mediterranean Nachos

Game-worth party fare

When the big game rolls around, you want to make sure you have everything ready to go so you can focus on the action. Prepping in advance for watch parties means you don't have to worry about last-minute details. And while standard watch party fare may be enticing, game day snacking guilt can set in once the day is over. Avoid snacking guilt by serving up flavorful, better-for-you dishes that will still please the party palates of your fellow fans.

Mediterranean Nachos

Makes: 4 servings
Time: 25 minutes

- 4 cups pita chips
- 2 tablespoons Sabra Roasted Garlic

- Hummus
- 2 tablespoons Sabra Roasted Red Pepper Hummus
- 8 to 10 grape tomatoes, cut in half lengthwise
- 1/4 cup chopped zucchini, cut into 1/4-inch chunks
- 2 tablespoons chopped Greek olives
- 2 tablespoons chopped pepperoncini
- 1 1/2 cups shredded mozzarella
- Preheat oven to 375°F. Place pita chips in a 9- to 10-inch skillet or other oven-proof pan or baking dish. Top with small spoonfuls of hummus. Sprinkle tomatoes, zucchini, olive and pepperoncini over the chips. Top with shredded mozzarella. Bake 15 to 20 minutes, or until cheese has melted and edges are beginning to brown. Serve warm.

Laurel Park Place Office Center garners kudos, among other pros, properties

The Building Owners and Managers Association of Metro Detroit (BOMA) held its annual awards program, The Outstanding Building of the Year (TOBY) and Leadership Awards Presentation on Nov. 9 at the MotorCity Casino Sound Board, Detroit.

The program honors outstanding leaders and commercial properties in the local commercial real estate industry. The TOBY Awards, now in its 28th year, is the most prestigious and comprehensive program of its kind in the commercial real estate industry, recognizing excellence in office building ownership and management.

William M. Wylonis, president of BOMA of Metro Detroit, addressed the large gathering and paid tribute to BOMA's outstanding members, "This afternoon we recognize and celebrate our collective and individual efforts ... our people, our innovations and development in our industry."

With a sold-out crowd of nearly 300 people in attendance, Kevin Livingston of Hines was named Property Manager of the Year; Laura Marble, FMA of General Services Administration, Facility Manager of the Year; Plumbing Professors, Service

Citizenship & Immigration Services Region 7, Detroit District Office; Southfield property One Northwestern Plaza; and Laurel Park Place Office Center in Livonia all took first place in their respective square footage categories as Building of the Year. The Coleman A. Young Municipal Center in Detroit was first in the Government Building class, 50 West Big Beaver in Bloomfield Hills took the top award in the Medical Office category, and the Bingham Center in Southfield was recognized in the Suburban Office Park Low-Rise grouping.

Local TOBY winners advance to regional competition and then move on to international competition at the BOMA International North American Real Estate Congress and the Every Building Show in San Diego, Calif., in June 2013. For additional information on the 2012-13 TOBY and Leadership Awards, visit www.bomadetroit.org.

Founded in 1908, BOMA of Metro Detroit is a professional, non-profit trade association whose nearly 400 members either own or manage commercial real estate, or provide goods and services to the industry. BOMA Michigan members represent organizations managing more than 250 million square feet of office and industrial space, with employees and tenants totaling more than 1.25 million people in Michigan. Michigan members' annual expenditures contribute $3.2 billion to the state's economy.

BOMA of Metro Detroit provides commercial real estate professionals the opportunity to work together for professional growth, advocacy rights, corporate profit, and the benefit of the nine Southeastern Michigan communities it serves.

Security good idea at meetings

By Robert Meisner
Guest Columnist

Q: I am a member of our homeowner association and I am worried about one vocal and, sometimes, violent resident who attends the meetings. Should they have security at the meeting? I have asked the board for it.

A: I am deluged with emails from fellow community association

practitioners who can recount numerous stories where violent behavior has been perpetrated at meetings of the association and/or on directors. One story I have heard was about the treasurer of his condominium association being at a meeting where one of the owners in a community called the board president "as queer as a three dollar bill," whereupon chairs were thrown at various individuals sending the rest of the board members under the table. The individuals involved were all over the age of 70, so age has no bearing upon judgment or conduct. To say the least, where there is any potential threat, adequate security should be provided if for no other reason than to enhance the participation by the members of the association.

Q: Has the Michigan legislature enacted a statute that prohibits nonrecourse mortgages and deficiency judgments?

A: No. However, the Michigan legislature did enact the Nonrecourse Mortgage Loan Act, 2012 PA 67, MCL 445.1591 et seq., which retroactively prohibits a postclosing covenant in a nonrecourse loan from being used as a carve-out or basis for a deficiency judgment against a borrower or guarantor. The Act does not apply to loans that are initially classified as recourse loans, and the Act specifically states that it does not prohibit fully recourse loans.

Q: What is a deficiency judgment in a mortgage, and does my mortgage company have the ability to pursue one?

A: When a borrower cannot repay their mortgage and the lender pursues foreclosure, the lender may or may not be able to sue the borrower to collect the shortfall commonly known as a deficiency. In Michigan, the key is whether or not the note, not the mortgage, is classified as a recourse or nonrecourse loan. If the note is classified as a recourse loan, the lender can pursue a deficiency judgment on the covenants contained in the note. Generally speaking, conventional residential notes do have recourse provisions. However, in order for you to determine if you may be subject to a deficiency judgment, you may need to contact a real estate attorney to review your specific situation.

Volt, eAssist, All-Electrics Will Be GM Strategy Now

By Dale Buss

General Motors is saying "uncle" in a key area of vehicle electrification: conventional hybrids. At the same time, the automaker indicated that it'll redouble efforts to stake out a brand-defining position on one end of the electrified-vehicle spectrum, in highly electrified so-called "plug-in" hybrids like Chevrolet Volt and in all-electric vehicles.

The move essentially is surrendering the conventional-hybrid field to Toyota, which created and is dominating that segment with the Prius sub-brand. Interestingly, GM's move — ceding what once was a prime battlefield in green cars, where it invested heavily — comes at the same time that its cross-town rival, Ford, has just introduced an entirely new hybrid-only brand, C-Max, to battle Prius in the U.S. market.

An all-electric version of the 2013 Chevrolet Spark is being introduced this month at the Los Angeles Auto Show.

Mary Barra, GM's product chief, told reporters today that the company has narrowed its future development plans to emphasize plug-ins like Volt, and EVs such as the all-electric version of the new Chevrolet Spark that GM will unveil at the Los Angeles Auto Show this month. Both kinds of cars are propelled only by batteries, while conventional hybrids rely on a combination of an electric motor and a gasoline engine.

"We need to make educated bets on which technologies hold the most potential for creating values for our customers and our company," Barra stated, echoing remarks she recently made to Autoline.

A few months ago, GM confirmed that it was shutting down its previous plans for future versions of a type of conventional-hybrid powertrain that has been offered in its pickup trucks and SUVs. But GM also has been introducing some new so-called "mild" hybrids that only lightly assist the gasoline engine under its eAssist sub-brand, including versions of the Buick Regal and Chevrolet Malibu; it will continue to invest in eAssist, Barra indicated.

Barra conceded that the conventional-hybrid technology occupying the middle ground between plug-ins and EVs on one end, and mild hybrids on the other, remained "important, of course," the magazine said. But she emphasized that "plug-in technology will play an increasingly important role over the years to come."

In other words, GM is doubling down on its trailblazing investment in Volt and the extended-range technology that supports it, as well as all-electric vehicles. Though Volt has been selling at the rate of only a couple thousand units a month, two years after its launch and in the midst of a doubling of gasoline prices, GM executives are confident that the car and its underlying technology will gradually catch on.

Toyota made a similarly large but opposite bet recently, putting more resources behind Prius and saying that it will de-emphasize EVs. Toyota faced a hiccup today with Prius because about 670,000 Prius hybrids were included in the company's second significant recall in a few weeks, of 2.77 million vehicles worldwide to fix a possible water-pump problem and steering defect.

Meanwhile, only Ford still seems to be trying to do it all on the electrification spectrum.

Sorting out the winners and losers in this battle will be, well, electrifying.

GM will continue to ride the Chevrolet Volt as an important innovation.
