Office closings

3/28

Westland city offices including the 18th District Court and the Recycling Center, will be closed on Good Friday, March 29. The William P. Faust Public Library will be closed Saturday and Sunday, March 30-31, for the Easter holiday. It will reopen at 9 a.m. Monday, April 1.

Police and fire services, garbage and recycling pickup will not be affected.

Wayne City Hall is closed on Fridays normally and will not be open Good Friday. Wayne 29th District Court and the Wayne Public Library also will be closed but trash collection and emergency services will not be affected.

All divisions of the Wayne County Clerk's downtown and satellite offices will be observing a half day on Friday, March 29, due to the Easter holiday. The hours of operation will be 8 a.m. to noon.

Services affected by this include elections, court services, birth and death certificates, marriage licenses, assumed names, notary publics, and concealed weapons.

Also, the Vital Statistics Division and both satellite offices in Northville and Westland of the Wayne County Clerk's Office will be closed on Monday, April 1, due to a mandatory furlough day. Regular business hours will resume on Tuesday, April 2.

Easter events

The Wayne-Westland Parks and Recreation Department presents the 34th annual Marshmallow Drop, sponsored by Crosspointe Church, at Attwood Park at 10 a.m. Friday.

There will be three drops — first for walking toddlers to age 4 and children with a disability, second for ages 5-7 and third for ages 8-10.

Attwood Park is next to the Wayne-Westland Community Center on Howe south of Annapolis. The event is free of charge to the Wayne and Westland communities.

Wayne County Parks invites family and friends to the 29th annual Marshmallow Drop on Friday at Nankin Mills in Westland at 11 a.m.

More than 20,000 marshmallows will be dropped from a helicopter for children to collect and trade in for a prize. Children will be divided into age groups.

Nankin Mills is 33175 Ann Arbor Trail, Westland. For more information, call (734) 261-1990.

Wage reductions, employee concessions save W-W millions

By Sue Mason
Staff Writer

Wayne-Westland school employees will see their wages cut and health care cost more under contract extensions approved by the school board Tuesday evening.

The board met in special session to approve the contracts, which covered the remaining one year of current agreements and three-year extensions, with all of its employee groups. The new contracts will save the district an estimated $11-$13 million over the three years and avoid a deficit through 2014-15.

"The only way to address the deficit was through contracts," said James Larson-Shidler, deputy superintendent for administrative and business services. "We will be in a stable position through 2014-15 with passage of these contracts, and we will be able to identify other savings to get us through to 2016-17."

According to Larson-Shidler, a bulk of the savings will come in 2013-14, with a small amount spilling over to 2014-15.

Wayne-Westland joins more than 40 school districts around the state in ratifying contract extensions in advance of the implementation of the state's right to work law today (March 28). The law, which applies to new contracts, prohibits employers or labor unions from making workers pay union dues or fees as a condition of their employment.

The contract extensions were for the Wayne-Westland Education Association, MEA Local 4, Wayne-Westland Educational Secretaries Association, Brotherhood of Specialized Skills (BOSS), Wayne-Westland Association of Paraprofessionals, Wayne-Westland Central Office Administrators Association, Wayne-Westland Building Administrators Association and Wayne-Westland Education Association-Adult and Community Education (ACE). Members of the district's Cabinet — Superintendent Greg Baracy, Larson-Shidler and Paul Salah, deputy superintendent for instruction — also made similar concessions.

Wage reductions

All but two groups — the paraprofessionals and WWEA-ACE — agreed to 5 percent wage reduc-

Edison students 'map out' Westland on school wall

By Sue Mason
Staff Writer

The city of Westland is more than a spot on a map. It's part of a mural created by second-grade students at Edison Elementary School.

The length of a classroom, the mural depicts the area around the school and includes such important sites as city hall, the library, police station and the park by the Bailey Recreation Center.

"The whole thing was to get through to them what makes up a community," said teacher Kathie Ormond. "We've been studying our local community and thought it would be cool to do a mural of some of the roads, homes and buildings."

"We put in the important buildings, with the school in the middle," said fellow teacher Amy Kincaid. "We put in city hall, the post office and library."

The project was done the school's three second grades taught by Ormond, Kincaid and Michele Measel. It was sketched out by the teachers and parent volunteers worked with the students to paint it. It was hung in the hallway outside the three classrooms in mid-February, and students with parent volunteers painted it.

'Nicely' done

The mural is more than 10 feet long and took more than three days to paint by the 90 students.

"We did it during the morning, we sent them out a few at a time," said Ormond. "It came along nicely."

In working on the mural, Navier Washington realized "that there are a lot of apartments" in the vicinity of the school, located on Hunter at Wildwood. He helped paint some trees and tree bark near the roads depicted on the mural.

"Community means a lot to me," he said. "This was really the fun part of learning about it."

The teachers used curriculum and a book on the history of Westland to help students understand their community. They learned

Youth Assistance Programs join to train mentors

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

Area Youth Assistance Programs are looking for a few good men and women to be trained as youth mentors.

"We're looking for someone who is kind, sensitive and will be a positive role model," said Westland Youth Assistance Program Director Paul Motz. "It's a lot easier to be a mentor than to be a parent."

Westland is joining with the Wayne and Garden City Youth Assistance programs to host the required 15 hours of mentor training that is scheduled for Friday through Saturday, April 11-13. The training will be held at the Westland Youth Assistance Office.

"We need people who are good listeners — mentors aren't there to give answers," said Motz. "It's important for kids to develop relationships. One good relationship can turn into many good relationships."

One mentor recently mentioned that she still had relationship with the youngster she had mentored — now a 22-year-old, Motz said.

"The mentor went through some health issues, they have been connected the whole

Brighton woman charged with murder in fatal accident

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

A Brighton woman has been charged with second-degree murder and two other felonies in the death of a Westland woman run over by a vehicle during an argument.

Shannon Marie Gruden, 30, was arraigned Tuesday afternoon in Westland 18th District Court, charging her with killing Amanda Hall, 25.

Along with second-degree murder, which carries a sentence of up to life in prison, Gruden is also charged with reckless driving causing death and failure to stop at the scene of an accident at fault resulting in death, both 15-year felonies. A not guilty plea was entered for Gruden.

Police reported that Gruden and Hall were near Hall's home in the 32600 block of Manistee Court in Westland March 21. The two women were having a dispute over a man with whom each has been involved, according to police.

There were a number of people present as the two argued. Gruden is charged with striking Hall with her vehicle and fleeing the scene.

A mother of four, Hall was taken to Oakwood Annapolis Hospital where she later died of her injuries.

Gruden was arrested in Livingston County later on March 21. She was released while police gathered more information, then taken into custody and arraigned Tuesday.

A preliminary exam for Gruden has been scheduled for Thursday, April 4, in 18th District Court. Gruden is being held in lieu of $1 million cash/surety bond.

Funeral arrangements have not been announced for Hall. A fundraiser was held Monday in Wayne to help cover the funeral costs.

about what makes up a community, including the local government — the mayor and council — what services are needed, why laws are important and what makes them all work. The mural helped put a face on what they learned.

For Navier, he now knows “that you can’t throw trash on the ground or leave your stuff behind.”

“I remember the mayor’s name, Mayor Wild,” he said.

After studying about the local community, Jada Enrici created a poster of things that are important to do.

“I did for the project, I didn’t have to do it but I did,” said Jada. “I think it tells us what we have to do and not do in the community.”

Do’s and don’ts

Her list includes being helpful, not littering, living, working and playing in the community, making friends and always being friendly and working to have a safe neighborhood. She also including driving safely on residential streets and not talking to strangers.

For Madison Sullivan, studying the local community and doing the mural fueled her interest places to go and things to see in the city.

“I like learning about all kinds of different places so you can do stuff and have fun in the community,” she said.

Kincaid pointed out that it was hard for students to connect with the photographs in the book about Westland so activities are planned to help link their school to the surrounding community.

“We’re planning a field trip to Nankin Mills in May to learn more about the community and hope to walk to the library,” she said.

CONTRACTS

tions over the term of agreement. According to Kelly Bohl, senior executive director of human resources, the two unions were able to reach their targeted savings through other concessions. Those two unions will have their wages frozen through the end of the agreements.

The wage increase for 2013-14 was replaced with the 5 percent wage reduction and the salary scale and step increases frozen for the duration of the agreements for the WWEA, Local 4, BOSS, WWCOAA, WVBAA and Cabinet. The paraprofessionals and ACE unions agreed to eliminate the salary increases for 2013-2014 and a salary scale freeze for the life of the agreement.

Under the new agreements, the amount the district pays toward the cost of medical insurance will be capped at the limits prescribed by law (hard cap). All employees also will be moved to a higher deductible plan of $1,250 for single person, $2,500 for two people and full family, as of July 1, 2013.

Eliminated in all of the agreements was a cash payment in lieu of medical coverage and furlough days for 2013-14. Pay in lieu of vacation time for transportation employees will be eliminated at the end of the current school year. According to Bohl, because the drivers worked 10 months, they received they pay at the end of the school year and carried them through the summer months.

Conflicts of interest

All but the WWEA and Local 4 contracts were approved 6-0 with Trustee Charles “Trav” Griffin absent. Board President Carol Middel and Trustee Frederick Weaver abstained on the WWEA contract, and Weaver also did the same for the Local 4 agreement because of a new state law which that requires board members to abstain from voting on financial issues or contracts when a conflict of interest exists.

Middel abstained because her husband is a scorekeeper for athletic events, a position included in the WWEA agreement. Weaver’s wife is a counselor at Wayne Memorial High School and his son “sometimes works in the district as a custodian.”

Griffin, had he been present, also would have had to abstain on the WWEA agreement because his daughter-in-law is a teacher in the district. In a statement read by Middel, he voiced his objection to new law and applauded “the union and board negotiating teams in what they did, this will save the district money.”

Board members expressed their appreciation for what the unions did for the district.

“You came to the bar and the sacrifices you made show your love for this district,” said board Treasurer Shawna Walker. “I appreciate it, the board appreciates it.”

“Everybody made contributions to keep this district viable,” said board Vice President Thomas Buckalew. “If we can’t do that we can’t service our children. The situation we’re in is not the fault of the administration, it’s not the fault of the employees. We done the right things, we’ve cut the things necessary to keep our programs viable.”

Baracy recognized the spirit of cooperation apparent in negotiations. “A heartfelt thank you to all of the employees who stepped up and supported this initiative,” he said. “Thank you for your contributions and for saving the programs for the children.”

time,” he said.

Currently, the Westland Youth Assistance Program has about 20 mentors and about 12 youngsters waiting for a mentor.

“Life happens for mentors. They have grandkids, move or get new jobs,” Motz said.

Mentors must be at 21 years old, have a clean criminal history and be able to commit to one hour weekly or two hours every other week to meet with the youngster.

“The training focuses on communication — verbal and nonverbal — and about the mentors’ role,” said Motz. “It’s very interactive training. They will learn a lot about themselves in the training. There is no commitment. We screen our people and interview folks to find out who will be a good fit.”

The training will be combined but volunteers should register through the Youth Assistance Program in which they plan to be a mentor. For Westland, call (734) 467-3156; Wayne, (734) 721-7004; and Garden City, (734) 793-1600, press 9.

Suspects face trial in crime spree

By Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

Two Detroit men are facing trial on charges arising from a suburban crime spree that authorities say included an armed robbery inside a Canton Family Dollar store and conspiracy to rob a Westland Cash Advance store.

Eric Anthony Reed, 21, and Raymond Maurice Whatley, 19, could face penalties ranging up to life in prison if they are convicted of a robbery-related spree that police say began Jan. 29 in Taylor and ended when Westland Police captured the suspects Feb. 16.

According to Wayne County Circuit Court documents, Reed and Whatley are charged with armed robberies in Canton, Taylor and Allen Park and conspiracy to commit another offense in Westland. The two men are jailed with cash bonds totaling over $500,000.

Reed and Whatley are facing trial after they voluntarily waived their preliminary examinations last Friday in Plymouth 35th District Court, which handled charges from the four communities.

Reed faces trial for additional counts of felony firearm and second-degree criminal sexual conduct out of Canton. Detective Sgt. Dave Schreiner said Reed was accused of fondling a female employee during a robbery that occurred just before 9 p.m. Feb. 6 inside the Family Dollar store on Joy Road near I-275.

"There was inappropriate contact between the suspect and a female in the store," Schreiner said. Reed and Whatley are accused of seizing cell phones from Family Dollar workers and taking money from the store, Schreiner said.

Westland Police arrested the defendants Feb. 16 after two men arrived outside the Cash Advance store at 208 S. Merriman. The men had arrived before the store opened, police said, and a male employee refused to open the door for two men described as wearing hoods.

"The men left. The teller knew there had been robberies of cash stores, so he decided to go the Chase Bank branch to make a deposit," Westland Police Sgt. Randy Thivierge has said. "While he was at the bank, he saw the suspects' vehicle at a Burger King drive-through."

The employee got a license plate number and called police as the suspects returned to the business. He again refused to let the suspects in with their hoods up.

Westland Police said the license plate didn't belong to the car driven by the suspects, who were stopped by police. "The driver didn't have a license and a gun was found in the car," Thivierge said.

Once police had the pair in custody, they were identified as suspects in the Canton robbery.

"One of our dispatchers remembered an article in the Observer from Canton (about an armed robbery)," Westland Police Sgt. Dan Serrano said. "We printed out the photos. One of the suspects was wearing the same clothes he was arrested in."

Staff Writer LeAnne Rogers contributed to this story.

Student leaving bus struck by car

A Westland student suffered non-life-threatening injuries Monday after being struck by a van as he exited a school bus.

The student, 17, was hit as the driver of a van tried to pass the bus on Schuman south of Cherry Hill about 2:15 p.m. The van then struck a tree on the west side of the road.

Both the student and the driver, a 33-year old man, were taken to the hospital suffering non-life-threatening injuries, according to police.

The driver was arrested and police reported alcohol was likely a factor in the accident.

Vehicle stolen from Garden City work site

Stolen vehicle

A man who had been working at a home in the 31000 block of Brown left a truck secured at the close of the work day and when he returned the morning of March 23, it was gone. The man who works for Elite Development Company had parked the work truck there over several months but never had a prior problem.

The worker, a Dearborn resident, couldn't provide the makes or the serial numbers for the numerous tools contained within the truck which were also stolen including hand tools, a portable generator, a drill, nail guns and hammers.

Attempted theft

A resident in the 6900 block of Fairfield reported March 21 that somebody attempted to steal his 2009 Dodge Journey. He found that someone tried to remove the ignition from the vehicle.

Although he told police

that he locked the vehicle, they found no signs of forced entry.

Retail fraud

A Garden City resident helped detain a shoplifter about 1 p.m. March 21 after he observed a police car in his neighborhood and then saw an unknown man in a yard.

Garden City police arrested a 43-year-old Garden City man after he reportedly stole items from the Kmart store at 29600 Ford. The suspect had stolen Lego toys valued at about $152 and then exited the store without paying for them.

The suspect cut through the yards between Beechwood and Dawson. The citizen spotted him in a yard in the 29000 block of Dawson and detained him until the police arrived.

The suspect had concealed the 34 packages of Lego toys in his coat and pockets.

Retail fraud

A shoplifter at the Kmart store at 29600 Ford first reportedly made a layaway payment and then stole some items from the store about 3 p.m. March 23.

The store's loss prevention officer reportedly observed a 52-year-old Garden City man concealing a package of hair dye in his pocket and also a can of Red Bull and cleaning cloths.

The man left his pickup parked in the fire lane in front of the store prior to entering the store. He was arrested when the police arrived.

Suspended license

Garden City police arrested the driver of a 2005 Dodge Magnum about 11:30 p.m. March 24 at Ford and Middlebelt after they ran his license plate and found his driver's license was suspended. They also learned that the man had outstanding warrants out of Allen Park and Flint.

Suspended license

When police stopped a 61-year-old Westland driver at Ford and Henry Ruff, they reportedly found his driver's license was suspended and he had an outstanding warrant out of Westland. His passenger was transported to her residence because she was intoxicated.

Theft

A 17-year-old Garden City High School student reported at 3 p.m. March that she found her driver's side door partially open. When she looked inside, her debit card and check registry were gone.

Although she said that she locked her car, the police found no signs of forced entry.

Never acquired a license

The police arrested a 36-year-old Inkster man about 6:30 p.m. March 24 at Cherry Hill and Inkster Road after they reportedly discovered he never acquired a driver's license. Police also said the man had no proof of insurance and an improper plate.

Changing course

Rouge River has gone from open sewer to potential urban water trail

If you mention the Rouge River to someone from the Detroit area, the thought might conjure up images of industry, which only makes sense considering the river had been for years synonymous with Ford Motor Company's River Rouge Complex. Affectionately known as The Rouge, the massive factory that became the world's largest in 1928 as it cranked out instant mobility for the masses still casts quite a shadow above the lower reaches of our modest little river.

And the Ford factory is not alone. The area between the Ford complex and Zug Island where the Rouge River ultimately runs its course and empties into the Detroit River is an industrial landscape straight from a post-apocalyptic, sci-fi movie. It is the very buckle of the Rust Belt — an area where the Rouge River famously caught fire in 1969. It is also the area where the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers paved much of the river channel in a misguided effort to curb flooding back in the 1970s.

Not surprisingly, many people equated the Rouge River with the pollution that despoiled it. That's what happens when a watershed is located in the cradle of the automobile industry and is home to 1.5 million people.

And when you consider the stormwater and sanitary pollution that municipalities all over Wayne and Oakland counties flushed into the river every time there was a thunderstorm, you begin to see how the Rouge River ended up getting listed by the E.P.A. as a Great Lakes AOC - Area of Concern (www.epa.gov/greatlakes/aoc/rougeriver/index.html). The reality is, for years, much of this urban river system was pretty much off limits to people.

That dubious history, however, shrouds some very positive news about the River Rouge in recent years. There has been a combined effort between the federal government, local municipalities and especially a small army of dedicated volunteers who have fought for a generation to bring the river back from the brink. Beginning in the 1980s, millions of mostly federal but plenty of local dollars have been spent to curb pollution, especially the sanitary discharges that plagued the river for years (and still do in some places).

Just as encouraging, there has been a successful grassroots effort involved as well. Over the last 25 years, thousands of area residents have volunteered in the annual Rouge Rescue cleanup, led by the group Friends of the Rouge (www.therouge.org). Volunteers have removed a mountain of garbage — everything from cars and shopping carts to liquor bottles (and just about everything else imaginable).

And sure enough, the river is coming back to life, especially in communities that have implemented best practices. Water quality has improved, including dissolved oxygen levels. Fish and aquatic insects have made a comeback in portions of the river where they had disappeared years ago.

Most of the 48 Rouge communities have joined together to form the ARC, or Alliance of Rouge Communities (www.allianceofrougecommunities.com), which has allowed a pooling of resources to heal

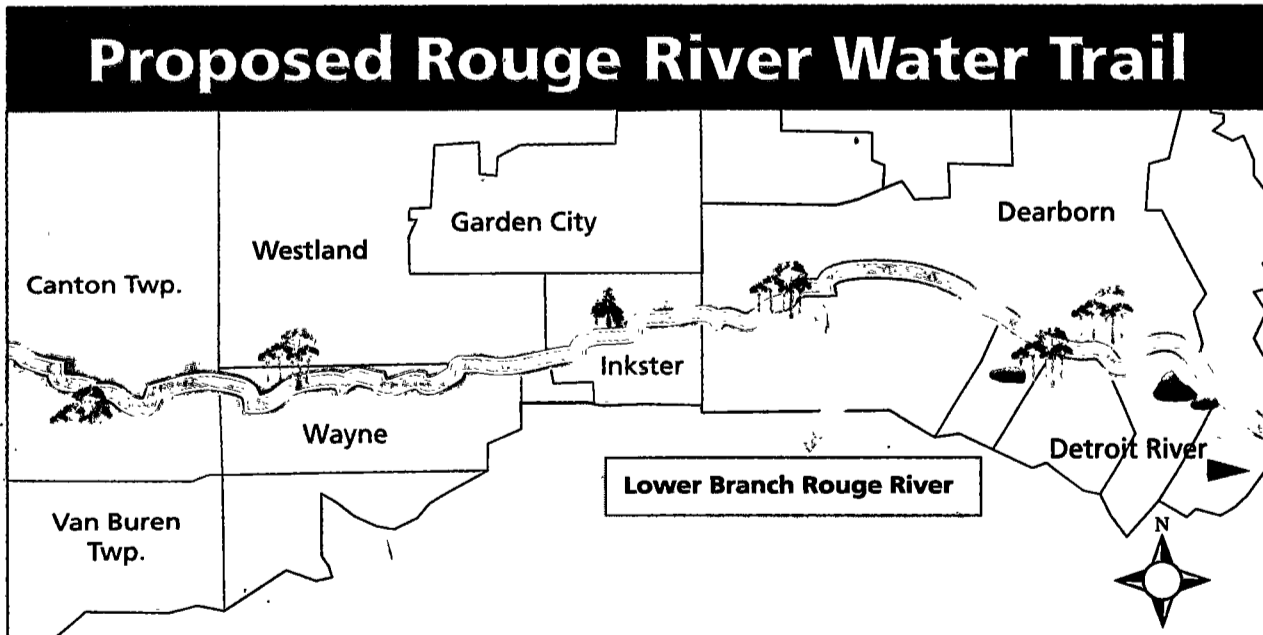

KURT KUBAN

It wasn't that long ago that canoeing on the Rouge River seemed like a pipe dream. However, a number of communities — including Canton Township and Wayne, along with Wayne County Parks — hopes to get a federal grant to designate the Lower Rouge River an urban water trail that would provide 25 miles of canoeing/kayaking, including through this section of Wayne.

Most of the area along the proposed urban water trail is wooded and publicly owned.

the watershed. For example, in the city of Wayne, ARC secured a federal grant and led the effort last fall to remove an obsolete dam dating back to the 1930s. With the dam removed, fish, including salmon and steelhead, can now move up from the Great Lakes all the way to the headwaters in Canton Township and Washtenaw County where they will be able to spawn with greater success.

Many Rouge communities are now realizing what a fantastic resource they have in their own backyards, and there is an ongoing effort to reconnect residents to the river. This movement is picking up momentum as the water quality continues to improve.

In recent years, for instance, volunteers have hacked away at logjams to open up the Lower Branch of the Rouge to canoeing, especially in the city of Wayne — home to a half dozen river miles. In addition to locals who do paddle the river on occasion, large group trips organized by Friends of the Rouge each fall have proven more and more popular. Last October, for example, a group of more than 50 people participated in the trip, which took them past the dam removal site for the first time.

I recently sat in on a meeting with numerous Rouge River stakeholders who agreed to partner up and pursue an "urban waterway" designation for the Lower Branch, which begins in Washtenaw County and generally follows Michigan Avenue through Canton Township, Wayne, Westland, Inkster, and Dearborn before reaching the Detroit River. Despite the fact that there are a half million people living in these communities, the river flows through a wooded corridor that resembles northern Michigan in many places.

The shareholders in this effort — including Dearborn, Canton, Wayne, Wayne County and the Alliance of Rouge Communities — are collaborating to get a grant through the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation Urban Waters program. They want to designate the Lower Branch from Canton Township all the way to the Detroit River as an 'Urban Water Trail'.

Riverside Kayak Connection and Heavner Canoe Rental are also on board with the effort. They are located on the opposite ends of the watershed. Riverside Kayak Connection is located in Wyandotte near the Detroit River, and Heavner is actually based in Milford in the Huron River watershed (though they do rent canoes on Newburgh Lake in the Rouge watershed). The owners of both establishments see the urban waterway concept as a great way to promote "getting outdoors" but they also recognize the potential to capitalize on people reconnecting with the river. Paddling sports have always been very popular in Michigan. In a watershed of 1.5 million people, a few of them are bound to rent canoes or purchase kayaks.

This urban water trail is nearly 25 miles long, and would allow paddlers a day long journey from Canton to the Detroit River — through sections of peaceful woodlands and past historic structures like Henry Ford's incredible Fairlane Estate, the River Rouge Complex and even Zug Island. Once out in the Detroit River, people will be able to paddle in the shadows of passing freighters plying the waters of the Great Lakes.

Much work needs to be done to make this possible. The communities need to establish canoe launches along the route, not to mention bathroom facilities and parking. The stakeholders hope to get the grant to do this work. The fact that much of the land is already park land and in public hands makes these tasks much easier.

The biggest struggle will be to open up the logjams along the route — and keep them open. Friends of the Rouge led an expedition on this route two years ago, which I happened to be part of, and we encountered nearly 200 logjams of various sizes. It will take many volunteer hours, and hopefully some work by municipal crews to open up the entire route. With more and more people taking an interest in the Rouge, however, this is certainly possible.

The bottom line is canoeing on the Rouge River is no longer a pipe dream. I recently read an article published in the Detroit Free Press back in 1985 that all but declared the Rouge a dead river. Well, to steal a quote the great Mark Twain, the reports of the Rouge's demise were greatly exaggerated. Yes, people were responsible for nearly killing the river, but they are now leading the charge in its renaissance.

Changing perceptions isn't always easy — especially when you are talking about the Rouge River. But once people start seeing kayaks and canoes moving through their communities, chances are they won't be thinking about all that industry downstream.

Fred Rogers: Won't You Be My Neighbor Day

Wednesday, March 20, was the 85th anniversary of Fred Rogers' birth. Rogers was an American educator, Presbyterian minister, songwriter, author, television host and sweater enthusiast. He is best known for the PBS classic family television program, Mister Rogers' Neighborhood, which he created and hosted from 1968 to 2001.

He passed away in 2003 at the age of 74, having made a lasting impact on generations of American children. For his contribution to the well-being of children and his work in demonstrating the importance of kindness, compassion, and learning, Rogers received the Presidential Medal of Freedom.

He was recognized by Congressional resolutions in the U.S. House and Senate, he was inducted into the Television Hall of Fame, he won five Emmys, including a lifetime achievement award, and he received a Peabody Award, which recognizes distinguished public service in the radio and television industry. One of his signature cardigan sweaters now hangs in the Smithsonian Institution.

Won't You Be My Neighbor Day, celebrated on March 20, is a day that honors Fred Rogers' philosophy and legacy. The suggested celebration is simple: wear a sweater and do something neighborly that day. Through his television program and work as an author, Rogers encouraged children to consider their role as members of a broader community and to treat others with understanding and generosity.

He emphasized imagination, the joy of learning new things, and the importance of strong moral character. Since the official Won't You Be My Neighbor Day has passed, we suggest being mindful this week of opportunities to wear sweaters and do something special to support your neighborhood.

The library has a variety of books, videos, and audio materials related to Rogers. For adults, check out the books The World According to Mr. Rogers or The Mister Rogers Parenting Book, both by Rogers himself, Mister Rogers' Neighborhood: Children, Television and Fred Rogers by Mark Collins, or the DVD, Fred Rogers: America's Favorite Neighbor.

For children, we have DVDs of Mister Rogers specials and CDs of songs written and performed by Mister Rogers, as well as books Rogers wrote to help children deal with topics such as adoption, moving, divorce, and when a pet dies.

Dog Scout troop donates canine masks

Julie Benson heard the statistics: Every year approximately 4,000 humans die in house fires and 40,000 family pets are killed, the leading cause of death from fire being asphyxiation.

When Benson, the leader to a local Dog Scout troop, heard this, she knew she wanted to do something with her troop members to take action and help save as many animals as possible.

So, with the help of troop 217 members Melissa Perez of Wayne, Michelle Neu of Taylor and Vickie Lomas of Walled Lake, Benson helped collect more than $500 in returnable cans and bottles in order to purchase six full canine oxygen mask kits.

"Pets are members of our families, they aren't just pets to the people of my Dog Scouts of America troop," said Benson, a Novi resident who leads Troop 217. "What better way to serve the community than to help pets, throughout the metro Detroit area, that may not have a chance of surviving without the aid of these masks."

The kits (which contain a large, medium, and small mask) will be distributed to Huron Valley Ambulance, who in turn will issue to EMS and local fire houses in Oakland, Wayne and Washtenaw counties.

Benson and fellow troop members will present the canine oxygen mask kits to Eric Fields 10 a.m. Saturday, April 6, at HVA's Plymouth station, located at 1270 Goldsmith in Plymouth.

Dog Scouts of America is a non-profit organization that promotes positive reinforcement training and responsible pet ownership.

Viktor Berisaj is offering diners a taste of southern cooking at his new Country Grill Restaurant on Wayne Road in Westland.

It took Viktor Berisaj "as good six months" to remodel the inside of the former Coney Island restaurant. The interior features a fire place and bar as well as seating for 150.

Country Grill serves a taste of the South

By Sue Mason
Staff Writer

When Viktor Berisaj opened the doors of the Country Grill Restaurant in Westland on Jan. 14, he expected his customer base to build slowly. That didn't happen.

"It was very crazy," said the Novi resident. "As soon as the doors opened it was jam packed. We couldn't keep up with food. I had two food trucks coming everyday six days a week."

"It's been a very huge success, very much so," he said.

Berisaj spent more than $750,000 transforming a vacant restaurant on South Wayne Road. The exterior was completely redone and the inside was "pretty much demolished" to provide customers with a "high class dining experience at affordable prices."

A gas log fireplace is the focal point of the dining room which seats 150 people. It also features dark wood accents on the ceiling, at the bar and hostess station. There are tablecloths on the tables and food is served on rectangular plates.

Berisaj is well-known in Westland for his popular Village Place Coney Island. It's popular with locals and has become known as the "Blue Roof" because of its distinctive blue roof. But Berisaj wasn't looking for a similar restaurant when he opened the Country Grill less than a mile south of the Coney Island. His plan was to open a different type restaurant with food not found in the area.

He hired chefs from down south who prepare southern foods. He's earned raves from Southerners who have tried it and "said it's good."

"There's nothing like it around here, it's a different concept," Berisaj said. "It was the right concept for this area."

The restaurant serves breakfast, lunch and dinner, and the menu features such things as four-five choices of soup daily, a Southern sampler for two with barbecued ribs, pulled pork and brisket, jambalaya, ribs and shrimp, fried okra and fried green beans, all made fresh. The restaurant doesn't have a freezer; the food is delivered fresh daily.

"It's all made from scratch," said Berisaj. "We've got a lot of employees. We have two chefs and a pastry chef. Everything is made from scratch everyday. My chef has worked all over for 35 years and has said he has never seen a place like this."

The restaurant has a full liquor license, but currently serves only beer and wine. Berisaj is waiting for the weather to break to build a patio on the west side of the building to begin offering liquor. He wants to offer his customers the opportunity to sit outside on a nice day and enjoy a drink and nice dinner.

Berisaj has been in the restaurant business for 20 years. The first restaurant, which he operates with his brother, was Joseph's Coney Island in downtown Northville. He also had a restaurant in Farmington Hills before opening Village Place in Westland. He opened a second one in Redford, but that burned down several years ago. He still has three restaurants with Joseph's serving as the base.

Currently, he's offering customers free coffee between 7-11 a.m. through the end of the month and will have a special Easter Brunch menu 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday, March 31.

Berisaj also is listening to his customers, asking for their suggestions, what they'd like to see on the menu and what they like and don't like and then fine tuning the menu. He already putting a few new items on the men and taking a few off.

The success of the Country Grill has Berisaj thinking about the future. "We'll possibly open another restaurant, we'll keep on expanding," he said.

Public input

Marywood Nursing Care Center in Livonia has once again been recognized by U.S. News & World Report as one of Michigan's best nursing homes for 2013.

The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) continues to rate Marywood a 5-star facility.

"As a non-profit organization, our focus is always on the welfare of our residents. We are blessed with an outstanding staff who understand that their work is critical to providing high-quality care," Marywood Administrator John Mimnaugh said of the Felician-sponsored ministry.

In the rapidly changing landscape of health care today, Marywood is now examining how it can best respond in order to continue offering 5-star quality care. Guided by its board of directors an effort is under way to solicit ideas, concerns and opinions from various Marywood stakeholders, including the local Livonia community and others living in Southeast Michigan. The input will assist the board in identifying strategic pathways for the next several years.

A brief on-line survey can easily be found on Marywood Nursing Care Center's website at www.marywoodnursingcare-center.org, just look for the Survey Monkey link.

Home sales up

An improving economy has given residential real estate sales in Westland one of its best years, according to recent reports. A Detroit News story reported included Westland among 12 cities in metro Detroit with large increases in home sales in 2012. Westland was ranked 6th with a 12.5 percent jump.

An improved economy gave the city's residential sales business one of its best years since the economic downturn of 2007.

"The improving economy, lower interest rates, rising residential rents and the continuing safety and vibrancy of the city are driving our housing market," said Westland Mayor William Wild. "We expect to see the same progress in 2013."

Westland has long been known as one of Wayne County's premier destinations to work, live and play.

The thriving "Shop and Dine" district has grown by leaps and bounds, sparking investment from business owners and retailers across the state and nation. That, coupled with a diverse mix of affordable housing options and award-winning schools, Westland is becoming an irresistible draw for families.

Work seriously, but don't act serious at work

If laughter is the best medicine, when is the last time you laughed out loud? You know - really laughed until your sides hurt!

ly believe that taking work seriously doesn't have to mean acting serious at work. Quite the contrary! Humor and silliness help keep spirits up so lots of great work can get done. Certainly sensitivity to circumstances is important, but usually even awkward attempts at humor do more good than harm.

If you haven't laughed out loud lately, I'll recommend a recent movie that's likely to make you laugh and cry at the same time - The Best Exotic Marigold Hotel. It's main character also said my favorite line of 2012, "Everything will be all right in the end. So if it is not all right, it is not yet the end."

Let the corny jokes begin - and have a sunny day!

W-W hires customer service consultant

By Sue Mason
Staff Writer

The Wayne-Westland Community Schools will get help from a consulting firm to achieve its goal of creating a culture of customer service in the district.

The school board voted 4-3, with board President Carol Middel, Secretary John Goci and Trustee Sally Madison dissenting, to hire the firm of Rahmberg, Stover and Associates to provide customer training for the staff to address the district's current needs.

The school board earlier this month decide that it would participate in the customer service project it had set as a goal for Superintendent Greg Baracy. Considering the size of the district and number of employees, he recommended that a consultant be hired to help.

At that workshop, Baracy equated changing the culture of the district to turning around a submarine. "It takes miles and miles," he had said.

The firm is no stranger to Wayne-Westland. Jeff Rahmberg has worked with district for some 30 years, most recently on the reconfiguration of its elementary program in 2009.

The contract, however came under fire by Goci for its inclusion in the consent calendar and not being a separate business item.

"I'd like to see an open discussion, we need to address this with the public so they know what we're doing," he said. "I'd like to be forthright and open. There's a lot of misconception and misinformation out there. I don't know how we can have a customer service piece when you never talk to the customer."

Goci also expressed concern that the firm was using three-year-old data, an issue shared by Madison.

Madison had initially expressed concern at the workshop about the cost of the two-year contract — $65,000 — but at last week's board meeting said she was troubled that the firm planned to use three-year-old data. She also was concerned that Rahmberg hadn't been present at the meeting "to make a presentation."

"I did look hard at the data, and I didn't find it relevant," she said.

Baracy pointed that this is something that has been under discussion for months.

"The only horse I have in this race is that we provide quality customer service training to all of our staff and utilize some expertise to do that," said Baracy. "We are not using three-year-old data, moving for we know we have to look at what going on now and it may disclose other areas of need."

Trustee Charles "Trav" Griffin told his fellow trustees that had done his homework. He knows who Rahmberg is due to his association with Plan-te Moran.

"I have tremendous amount of respect for him," he said. "He will provide the kind of service that we in-house don't have the skills or staff to do."

Griffin added that he received tremendous recommendations from the people he talked to about the firm.

"It's not a tremendous amount of money," he added. "I'm going to support this. I going to support giving them a chance to do what I've seen them do."

Board Vice President Thomas Buckalew agreed that changing the culture of the district isn't easy to do and that "it's hard to get people to change."

"We're going to train the administration and in their spare time they're going to teach their staff how to change culture. We need the thing that Rahmberg suggests, which is that we spend time with every teacher. We need to get started and Rahmberg is a better first step."

Trustee Frederick Weaver called the project a tremendous undertaking and the question of doing it inhouse was "who was going to do what during what part of an 18-20-hour day."

"There's not enough time for a staff member to put in that kind of energy," he said.

Madison, however, said she still wasn't comfortable with the proposal.

"I've had more than enough data to go through, and I'm still not convinced or comfortable, no where in this does it does it have anything to do with including our community," said Madison. "I feel vitally important to include the community and they be a part of this process to continue it on."

Jachym is Westland Police Officer of Year

Bryan Jachym has been named the 2012 Westland Police Officer of the Year.

A six-year veteran of the department, Jachym serves as a field training officer, a firearms instructor and police Explorer coordinator.

"Officer Jachym is a great police officer who has become a true leader. He is a highly motivated officer who pays great attention to detail," said Westland Police Chief Jeff Jedrusik. "He is the first to volunteer for any task needing to be taken care of and always responds to every high priority police run whether dispatched or not. The City of Westland is lucky to have him."

There was one particular incident which stands out in Jachym being honored, Jedrusik said.

On April 4, 2012, Jachym and his partner responded to Merriman and Michigan Avenue for a serious automobile accident. The vehicle involved was a Mustang which had flipped upside down and was on fire.

Jachym arrived at the scene and learned that the driver was trapped inside. Despite the fact that the vehicle was burning, Jachym ran to the vehicle, broke out the driver's side window, and pulled the driver to safety. The driver later told the Police Department that he thought that he was going to die and was thankful to Jachym for saving his life.

W-W, Wayne police set up Cop Shop in schools

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

Elementary schools in Wayne will see an increased police presence after returning from Easter break.

The Wayne-Westland Community Schools and Wayne police have set up a plan for Cop Shops in the elementary schools — Hoover, Roosevelt-McGrath and Taft-Galloway. Rather than returning to the police station, Wayne patrol officers will stop in at the schools to write reports during their shifts. The officers will work on laptop computers in office space provided by the schools.

"It's a great idea. It's an opportunity for the officers to come and go during the day without being scheduled," said Wayne-Westland Schools Superintendent Greg Baracy. "It will increase the ability for students to see the officers and feel more comfortable. It will give parents more of a sense of security."

The idea of establishing Cop Shops was brought to the schools by Wayne Police Chief Jason Wright.

"I wish I could take credit for it but one of my officers, Lt. Daryl Rize, came in with it," said Wright. "I said yes immediately."

In the wake of the Sandy Hook school shootings, Rize had seen a television news story about a similar program established by a police department in another state.

Assigning an officer to work at a schools — like the school liaison officers at Wayne Memorial High School, Franklin Middle School and Westland John Glenn High School — can be cost-prohibitive.

By having officers stop by during their regular shifts, working on laptops with secured wireless equipment in space provided at the school, there is no added cost to either the district or the city.

"We will spend $2,000-$3,000 for computer equipment. We'll use drug forfeiture money," said Wright. "It's a minor dollar amount in the over all picture."

In the past, Wayne police officers used a similar program in the community stopping to write reports at local stores. Officers had to be wary about who was approaching them but also the older technology in use at the time could prove cumbersome.

Unlike the public report writing in stores or even patrol cars, Wright said the officers will have a secure office in the schools.

"The kids will see the officers more. It will be a different working environment," Wright said. "We won't disrupt the school and we will not send anyone to the school. It will be a report writing station."

Both Wright and Baracy are excited about the Cop Shop program, which is projected to be operating after school resumes April 8.

Upgrades greet golfers at municipal course

However, chilly the weather has been lately, it's time to hit the links.

The Westland Municipal Golf Course officially opens for the season at 7 a.m. Monday, April 1.

Golfers hitting the links locally during the upcoming season, might notice a few changes when they get there.

Westland has made significant upgrades to the facilities, including major changes to the clubhouse, remodeled bathrooms and several energy efficient upgrades.

"The outdated amenities were in dire need of a face-lift. I don't think our patrons will be disappointed when they see the improvements," said Westland Mayor William Wild.

This historic 9-hole golf course presents the quintessential player-friendly golf experience. For a casual, relaxing round on a conventional course that won't strain your budget, the Westland Municipal Golf Course is as good as it gets, said Wild.

"We're ready for the start, and we're looking forward to it," added Wild.

The course, 500 S. Merriman Road, is open from 7:00 a.m. until dusk seven days a week. Resident and senior discounts will be available for Westland and Wayne residents.

For more information about tee times, rates or joining or starting a league, call (734) 721-6660 or visit online at www.cityofwestland.com/golfcourse.html.

Gun charge stays, trial ordered in Verizon robbery

By Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

A 35th District Court judge has rejected an attempt by defendant Eric James-Lee Wilkins to fend off gun-related charges arising from allegations he was involved in a Canton Verizon store robbery, although Wilkins isn't accused of carrying the semiautomatic assault rifle used to blast open a sliding glass door an employee had locked.

Judge Ronald Lowe issued his decision Monday, refusing to dismiss a felony firearm charge, punishable by a mandatory two-year prison term, and a four-year felony of discharging a firearm into a building. Lowe's ruling mirrored a decision he made one week ago against defendant Dantez Lamar Boykin-Johnson.

Defense attorney Vincent Toussaint conceded in court there was "no question" Wilkins aided in the robbery. However, he argued Wilkins shouldn't face gun charges amid allegations the third defendant, Antonio Jerome Porter, fired the AR-15 weapon that got the three 18-year-old men inside to seize merchandise such as cell phones from the Verizon store on Ford Road east of Sheldon.

Lowe indicated the three teens are accused of setting out to commit an armed robbery when the incident happened around 11 a.m. Feb. 25. "It's kind of hard to do if you don't have a weapon," Lowe said.

Toussaint said he is likely to appeal Lowe's decision in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Lowe has now ruled that Wilkins, Boykin-Johnson and Porter all should stand trial on the gun charges and additional counts of armed robbery, breaking and entering a building with intent to commit a crime, first-degree retail fraud, receiving and concealing stolen property over $1,000 and illegal entry without the building owner's permission.

Wilkins and Porter, both of Inkster, and Boykin-Johnson of Westland are now facing trial in Wayne County Circuit Court after they all have waived their right to a preliminary examination in 35th District Court. Wilkins became the last to forgo his hearing Monday after Lowe ruled against him on the weapons charges.

In court Monday, Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Eric Sterbis argued that all three defendants should face the same charges because they all hatched the robbery plan. Moreover, he indicated a video shows Wilkins tried to force his way into the Verizon store before the locked door inside a vestibule was shot open. "Wilkins can be seen attempting to kick out the door unsuccessfully," Sterbis said.

Porter then fired the shot that allowed the men to seize electronics such as phones, Sterbis said.

Statements in court Monday indicated Boykin-Johnson drove the car to the scene. Canton police say the three men fled the store, led police on a car chase and ran on foot before they were captured hiding in a storm cellar of a home on Willard Drive, near Oakview and Saltz.

In his ruling, Lowe said Wilkins, like the other defendants, had numerous opportunities to back out of the robbery. Porter, Wilkins and Boykin-Johnson have remained jailed with $1 million cash bonds.

The three also are accused of a break-in on Feb. 25 of the Verizon store at 37950 Ann Arbor Road in Livonia. A window was smashed, then five cell phones, two tablets and $400 cash were taken from the store. The men are charged with breaking and entering a building with intent and with larceny in a building.

Catalytic converters reported stolen from cars

Larceny from a vehicle

Ten catalytic converters valued at $15,000 were reported stolen from pickup trucks, RVs and motor homes parked at Westland Truck and Car Wash, 28735 Joy, between March 21-23.

Break-in

On March 19, a resident in the 2400 block of Ackley told police someone entered the home through a bedroom window between 4:30-7 a.m. The resident said his girlfriend's son, 9, was awakened by someone in his room. The boy saw someone at the bedroom door but assumed it was the resident checking on him.

The resident reported a 47-inch flat screen television, an Xbox 360 with controllers and a Playstation 3 with controllers, valued at $1,150, missing. He said the bedroom window was open and screen popped out.

Vandalism

A resident in the 2100

WESTLAND COP CALLS

block of Ackley told police March 20 that someone slashed two tires and smashed the rear window of her 2005 Dodge Neon while it was parked in the driveway.

Break-in

On March 20, a resident in the 200 block of Dawson Court told police he was gone for just under 90 minutes. When he returned home, he said he noticed the rear sliding door was open slightly. He said the dining room table was moved, two chairs and trash can were tipped over and a coffee mug was broken on the kitchen floor.

There was no sign of forced entry and nothing was reported missing.

Stolen vehicle

A resident in the 32000 block of Birchwood told police March 24 that someone stole his 2004 Ford F250 pickup truck overnight. He said he had both sets of keys.

Vandalism

On March 24, a resident in the 2300 block of Deerfield Court told police he heard a noise about 12:30 a.m. and looked out to see a group of subjects fleeing. When he went outside, he said he found four tires punctured on his 1998 Ford Taurus.

Break-in

Nothing was reported missing after a break-in was reported March 22 at a home in the 31000 block of Bay Court. The owner said he had been living elsewhere but left some belongings at the home. When he arrived March 22 he found the rear door had been kicked in.

Attempted larceny

An employee at 7-Eleven, 8791 N. Wayne Road, told police that about 2:15 a.m. March 24 a man entered the store and went straight to a charity collection box. The man grabbed the box and attempted to take it before realizing it was attached to the counter. He then dropped the box and fled. The employee said there was about $20 in coins in the box.

Vehicle recovered

Police were called to the 32000 block of Birchwood on March 24 about a suspicious vehicle parked on the street. It turned out the 1996 Chrysler Town and Country van had been reported stolen in Detroit.

Larceny from a vehicle

A Westland woman told police March 12 that someone had stolen her purse from her unlocked car while it was parked in the 100 block of Waterbury Court. She said it contained $150 in cash and a credit card.

Hit and run

On March 13, a Mio man told police that he stopped at a stop sign on westbound Fairchild at Wayne Road when his GMC Envoy was struck by a southbound vehicle. The other driver, in an unknown silver vehicle, didn't stop.

The officer noted a large amount of front end damage to the vehicle.

Larceny from a vehicle

An oxygen tank valued at $500 was reported stolen from a vehicle parked in the 2000 block of Kaley March 13. The owner told police she was positive the car door had been locked when she left it on March 11. When she returned, she said the driver's door was slightly open. The woman noted her GPS unit and some cash hadn't been taken.

Larceny from a vehicle

The catalytic converter was stolen from a vehicle parked at the Scotsdale Apartments, 37848 Dale, on March 15. The owner, a Livonia resident, was visiting at the time.

Larceny

A resident in the 7200 block Cavell told police he was working in his detached garage about 1 a.m. March 16 when the power went out. Thinking he had blown a fuse, the owner said he went to check the electric box.

Once he went outside, the resident said he saw a man in a gray hoodie removing the electric meter from the south side of his home. The suspect fled toward Warren Road.

Stolen vehicles

On March 17, a resident in the 1200 block of Edwin told police he arrived home from vacation to find someone had stolen his 2007 Chevrolet Trailblazer. He said he had left March 8 leaving the vehicle parked in the driveway and the keys inside the home.

A resident of the Parkcrest Apartments, 7100 Parkcrest, told police March 17 that she had just purchased a 2006 Chevrolet Malibu from a man in Detroit. She said she had been unable to transfer the title because a clearance letter was needed.

The resident told police that she had placed an old license plate she had on the vehicle. She later heard the car start and looked out to see an empty parking spot.

A 2002 F150 Ford Crew Cab pickup truck was reported stolen March 16 from a home in the 300 block of South Hanlon. The owner said the vehicle wasn't locked due to an electrical problem. Several hand tools were reported to have been in the truck.

Vandalism

A resident of an apartment in the 1300 block of Fairwood told police March 17 that someone smashed the driver's side window of his 1993 Ford Ranger pickup truck. A large rock was found on the driver's seat. Nothing was reported missing.

Larceny from a vehicle

On March 14, a resident in the 400 block of Apple reported the passenger window smashed and the windshield were cracked on a 2004 Honda Civic CRV. She said her son noticed the damage when he came home around 1 a.m. but didn't inform his mother before leaving for work at 4:30 a.m.

The resident said two gift boxes of body spray valued at $40 were missing from the car.

License plate missing

A resident in the 400 block of Pecan told police that someone had stolen the license plate from her 2008 Kia Sedona while it was parked on the street overnight.

Jo-Ellan Dimitrius discusses the O.J. Simpson trial at Livonia Town Hall.

Consultant studied juror behavior at Simpson, Rodney King trials

By Ken Abramczyk
Staff Writer

Jo-Ellan Dimitrius was retained by the O.J. Simpson defense team as a jury consultant.

The hiring of Dimitrius thrust her into the national scene as someone who could decipher messages sent by jurors, judges and attorneys through body language and facial expressions.

"It was a fascinating ride, and something I will never forget," Dimitrius said about the trial. "Some of the fun things were what you didn't see on TV."

Dimitrius, a trial consultant, talked about the Simpson trial with the audience at St. Mary Cultural Center at the Livonia Town Hall lecture series.

Prosecutor Marcia Clark threw her arms around him, giving him a hug, as if to tell him "attaboy, good job," Dimitrius said.

"But nobody ever saw that," Dimitrius said, except the jury. "Every one who did said it was absolutely disgusting. That's Lawyering 101. You don't do that."

High-profile cases

Dimitrius has worked as a trial consultant in several high profile cases, including Simpson, Rodney King and Robert Blake. She has also appeared on news shows and networks discussing the behavior of witnesses, jurors, lawyers and judges.

The Rodney King case was the first one in which she worked with a law enforcement agency, the Los Angeles Police Department. The department retained her services as a consultant after they learned of her work with a couple who ran a preschool in California who were accused of several counts of child molestation, but jurors acquitted Peggy Buckley of all charges and Ray Buckley of most charges. Dimitrius had been hired by the defense team, and prosecutors and defense teams noticed her work.

She was hired by the defense team in the Simpson case. Several deputies were hired to watch the jurors in that case. The deputies would report to the judge and attorneys on the jurors' behavior away from the courtroom.

"There were wars over the TV remote in which they were throwing it at each other," Dimitrius said. "There was only one TV to watch." There was another juror who put his stocking feet on the table, and an earphone on his ear," she said. "But the earphone wasn't hooked up to anything."

She knew Judge Lance Ito, whom she described as a friend. She walked into his office after he was named the judge to hear Simpson's case to congratulate him. He quipped, "I don't know if that should be congratulations or condolences."

Soon prosecutors lent more credence to consulting. Dimitrius was hired by the prosecution in the Rodney King case. One juror had filled out a questionnaire indicating that her husband said the officers "should be hung by their toes."

"There is no way she is going to acquit," Dimitrius said, remembering what she told the prosecutors. The woman's husband was authoritarian, Dimitrius said, and she would follow her husband's opinions. Dimitrius found out later from the juror's deliberations that she was right.

Risky business

After that trial and the riots began after the officers' acquittals, Dimitrius was told to leave town, so she went to Palm Springs with her children. "You did your job, but we have to send you away for a while," Dimitrius said she was told.

In the federal case when the officers were tried on charges that King's civil rights were violated, the prosecutor focused on the moments after King was on the ground. "That's when his civil rights were violated," Dimitrius said. "The prosecutor was absolutely right." Two of the four officers were found guilty at that trial.

Dimitrius highlighted some of her book, Reading People. "It is about a skill set we all have, but we are all so busy."

The characteristics are personal appearance, open or closed body language, a loud or soft voice, communication style (changing the subject), actions (how people treat others) and environment.

Dimitrius looks at the way people stand and sit. "I'm looking for that open body position, that says 'I am willing to hear what you have to say.'"

Voice tone and how people answer questions is critical, too. "How many of you have asked a question to avoid a question?" she asked.

Reading people is important especially in the age of the Internet. When an email message makes you wonder about the sender's well-being, you should pick up the phone and call. "You can get a better sense of their angst in their voice," Dimitrius said.

She encouraged the audience to "follow your heart" in living life.

ORDINANCE NO. 188-A-2

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND CHAPTER 50, ARTICLE IV, FIREWORKS, OF THE WESTLAND CITY CODE BY AMENDING SECTION 50-101 THROUGH 102 DEFINING FIREWORKS, GOVERNING THE USE OF FIREWORKS AND PROVIDING PENALTIES FOR A VIOLATION

THE CITY OF WESTLAND ORDAINS:

Section 1. That Chapter 50, Article IV, Fireworks Division 1, Sections 50-101 through 102, of the Westland City Code is hereby amended to provide as follows:

ARTICLE IV. FIREWORKS

DIVISION 1. GENERALLY

Sec. 50-101. - Sale or use of fireworks

(a) Definitions as used in sections 50-101:

- (1) Act means the Michigan Fireworks Safety Act, MCL 28.451 et seq., as that statute may be amended from time to time, which is hereby adopted by reference as part of the ordinance from which this section derives.
- (2) Agricultural and wildlife fireworks means fireworks devices distributed to farmers, ranchers, and growers through a wildlife management program administered by the United States Department of the Interior or the department of natural resources of this state.
- (3) Articles pyrotechnic means pyrotechnic devices for professional use that are similar to consumer fireworks in chemical composition and construction but not intended for consumer use, that meet the weight limits for consumer fireworks but are not labeled as such, and that are classified as UN0431 or UN0432 under 49 CFR 172.101.
- (4) Consumer fireworks means fireworks devices that are designed to produce visible effects by combustion, that are required to comply with the construction, chemical composition, and labeling regulations promulgated by the United States Consumer Product Safety Commission under 16 CFR parts 1500 and 1507, and that are listed in APA standard 87-1, 3.1.2, 3.1.3, or 3.5. Consumer fireworks does not include low-impact fireworks.
- (5) Display fireworks means large fireworks devices that are explosive materials intended for use in fireworks displays and designed to produce visible or audible effects by combustion, deflagration, or detonation, as provided in 27 CFR 555.11, 49 CFR 172, and APA standard 87-1, 4.1.
- (6) Fireworks or fireworks means any composition or device, except for a starting pistol, a flare gun, or a flare, designed for the purpose of producing a visible or audible effect by combustion, deflagration, or detonation. Fireworks consist of consumer fireworks, low-impact fireworks, articles pyrotechnic, display fireworks, and special effects.
- (7) Low-impact fireworks means ground and handheld sparking devices as that phrase is defined under APA standard 87-1, 3.1, 3.1.1 to 3.1.1.8, and 3.5.
- (8) Novelties means that term as defined under APA standard 87-1, 3.2, 3.2.1, 3.2.2, 3.2.3, 3.2.4, and 3.2.5 and all of the following:
 - (i) Toy plastic or paper caps for toy pistols in sheets, strips, rolls, or individual caps containing not more than .25 of a grain of explosive content per cap, in packages labeled to indicate the maximum explosive content per cap.
 - (ii) Toy pistols, toy cannons, toy canes, toy trick noisemakers, and toy guns in which toy caps as described in subparagraph (1) are used, that are constructed so that the hand cannot come in contact with the cap when in place for the explosion, and that are not designed to break apart or be separated so as to form a missile by the explosion.
 - (iii) Flitter sparklers in paper tubes not exceeding one-eighth-inch in diameter.
 - (iv) Toy snakes not containing mercury, if packed in cardboard boxes with not more than 12 pieces per box for retail sale and if the manufacturer's name and the quantity contained in each box are printed on the box; and toy smoke devices.
- (9) Special effects means a combination of chemical elements or chemical compounds capable of burning independently of the oxygen of the atmosphere and designed and intended to produce an audible, visual, mechanical, or thermal effect as an integral part of a motion picture, radio, television, theatrical, or opera production or live entertainment.

(Ord. No. 188-A-2, 3-18-13)

Editor's note -

Ord. No. 188-A-2, adopted March 18, 2013, amended section 50-101 in its entirety to read as herein set out. Formerly, section 50-101 pertained to sale or use of fireworks prohibited, and derived from the Code of 1963, § 9.102(6).

Sec. 50-102. - Use of consumer fireworks prohibited.

- (a) It shall be unlawful for any person to ignite, discharge or use consumer fireworks, as such term is defined in section 50-101 except for the use of consumer fireworks on the day preceding, the day of, or the day after the following national holidays:
 - (1) New Year's Day, January 1
 - (2) Martin Luther King, Jr. Day, the third Monday in January
 - (3) Washington's Birthday, the third Monday in February
 - (4) Memorial Day, the last Monday in May
 - (5) Independence Day, July 4
 - (6) Labor Day, the first Monday in September
 - (7) Columbus Day, the second Monday in October
 - (8) Veterans Day, November 11
 - (9) Thanksgiving Day, the fourth Thursday in November
 - (10) Christmas Day, December 25
- (b) A person shall not ignite, discharge, or use consumer fireworks on public property, school property, church property, or the property of another person without that organization's or person's express permission to use those fireworks on those premises. Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, a person that violates this subsection is responsible for a civil infraction and may be ordered to pay a civil fine of not more than $500.00.
- (c) Consumer fireworks shall not be ignited, discharged or used by a person under the influence of alcoholic liquor or controlled substance or a combination of both.
- (d) Low-impact fireworks shall not be ignited, discharged or used by a person under the influence of alcoholic liquor or controlled substance or a combination of both.
- (e) Unmanned free-floating devices. Any unmanned free-floating device (sky lantern) which requires fire underneath to propel it and is not moored to the ground while aloft, have an uncontrolled and unpredictable flight path and descent area so as to pose a potential fire risk and are therefore prohibited.
- (f) Novelties. This section does not apply to novelties.
- (g) Unless otherwise provided in this section, if a person knowingly, intentionally, or recklessly violates this section, the person is guilty of a crime as follows:
 - (1) Except as otherwise provided in this section, a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment for not more than 30 days or a fine of not more than $500.00, or both.
 - (2) If the violation causes damage to the property of another person, a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment for not more than 90 days or a fine of not more than $500.00, or both.

(Ord. No. 188-A-2, 3-18-13)

State law reference--Fireworks, MCL 28.451 et seq.

Sec. 50-102a. - Display and articles pyrotechnic fireworks.

- (a) Pursuant to MCL 28.451 et seq., (the "Act") the city may grant a permit, upon application in writing on forms provided by the department of licensing and regulatory affairs, for the use of the following:
 - (1) Agricultural or wildlife fireworks (as defined in the Act);
 - (2) Articles pyrotechnic;
 - (3) Display fireworks; or
 - (4) Special effects manufactured for outdoor pest control.

Filling two jobs is nothing new for GC city manager

It doesn't come as a surprise that the Garden City Council selected Robert Muery as the new city manager. Some members of the council were less than subtle in dropping hints months ago about his applying for the position.

What does come as a surprise is that he will continue to serve as the chief of police.

The idea of serving a dual position was Muery's idea. He proposed it during the interview process earlier this month. At the time, he said his "goal" in seeking a combined position was "stability," and he suggested he be paid $30,000-$40,000 more to handle the city manager's responsibilities.

Muery is a well-spoken, hard worker who has shouldered the responsibility of the two positions for more than six months. He has done an admirable job, publicly earning the praise of one council member who complimented him on responding to his inquiries in a timely fashion.

Muery was candid in his interview with council, saying that he has a lot on his plate and sometimes his organizational skills fall short, preventing him from finishing reports to the council on time. But in a city as downsized as Garden City, too much on a plate is a fact of life and a late report isn't necessarily the end of the world.

But some question his serving in a dual role, saying it violates the Incompatible Public Offices Act of 1978. The act defines "incompatible offices" as those held by a public official which, when the official is performing the duties of any of the public offices held by the official, results in among other things, subordination of one public office to another, supervision of one public office by another or a breach of duty of public office.

However, a 2009 opinion by then Attorney General Mike Cox states that the Supreme Court found "the act requires an actual breach of public duty to support a finding that incompatibility is present" and "that a breach of duty arises when a public official holding dual offices cannot protect, advance, or promote the interest of both offices simultaneously."

We are surprised that incompatibility would crop up now, considering a city manager holding other positions has been a practice in the city dating back to at least the late David Kocsis who worked for an extended period of time as the city manager and police chief. David Harvey also wore more hats than hooks on a hat rack during his tenure as city manager. He also served as the human resources director and building official, to name a few.

City services have dwindled, and so have managerial responsibilities. The Parks and Recreation Department is now basically the arena operation; the Library Board oversees the library; city services like dispatching are now handled by Wayne. Negotiations are ongoing involving the Wayne-Westland and Garden City fire departments. There were many good candidates for the position, and it appears the majority of the council opted to go with a known quantity in Robert Muery. He has proven capable of doing the job. He has found solutions to problems the council wants solved, and comes across as a quick learner.

Could the council have done better? Maybe, but Muery fits at this time. A majority of the council wasn't happy with former manager Darwin McClarey. With Muery, a majority of the council appears confident in what he has done and what he can do.

Muery could be the dose of stability the city needs right now. He is well-liked and has a hands-on management style. He doesn't wait for problems to come to him, he goes out and sees what they are.

Six months is a long time to find out if you like a job. Muery had that, and based on his experience, it appears he can handle the double duty. If he didn't believe he could do, he wouldn't have asked for it.

Can't hold both jobs

When the Garden City mayor and Council voted to employ Robert Muery as city manager while also serving as police chief, they knowingly and willfully violated Michigan state law, and unfortunately Robert Muery also violated that same law by accepting.

MCL 15.181(2): "A public officer or employee is prohibited from holding 2 or more incompatible offices at the same time." Incompatible offices means offices held by a public official which, when the official is performing the duties of any of the public offices held by the official results in any of the following:

- One office is subordinate to another or one office supervises another.
- A municipality with a population of less than 25,000 may by council action authorize an officer or employee to perform other additional services for the unit of government.

Currently the population of Garden City is greater than 25,000.

There is not a person I like or respect more than Bob, and I have no doubt he would make a fine city manager but he can't hold both jobs. It would be like our superintendent of schools also serving as the principal of Garden City High School.

As a friend, Bob, I ask you to resign one position or the other, and comply with the state laws that you took an oath to uphold and defend.

upgrade facilities, and strongly encourages its member units and local PT/APSTA members to support it as well.

The bond issue will allow for necessary renovations and improvements to the aging buildings as well as technology upgrades throughout the schools. Failure to approve the school bond issue would only delay the renovations and improvements, making them more costly in the future.

The LPTSAC is privileged to be an integral part of the Livonia Public Schools district community and recognizes that the school environment affects the ability of children to learn. We believe current times mandate the need to attract young families into our school district, by renovating our facilities to meet current architectural and technological standards.

LPTSAC also feels that attracting and retaining exceptional teachers is fundamental to the superior education historically provided by Livonia Public Schools. Approving the proposed school bond issue is essential toward providing an exemplary and meaningful education experience for every child in Livonia's public schools.

We ask all Livonia Public Schools district voters to approve the millage renewals in the November election.

Guns not the problem

With the feverish barrage of more gun control legislation, Democrats and in particular the president himself seem to be foaming at the mouth in a big hurry to take away the rights of the law-abiding citizens of this country, at the same time, hypocritically freeing convicted felons who were arrested, tried and convicted of breaking existing gun laws.

Case in point, on March 1, President Barack Obama pardoned Larry Wayne Thornton of Forsyth, Ga. Because you won't hear about this in the so-called "mainstream media," you should know that Thornton was sentenced to four years of probation for "possession of an unregistered firearm" and "possession of a firearm without a serial number." He is one of 17 people pardoned by the same president who champions more gun control law on the law-abiding while freeing the guilty.

In 2010, out of more than 76,000 firearms purchases supposedly denied by the federal instant check system, only 62 were referred for prosecution and only 44 were actually prosecuted. We don't need more legislation and restrictions. We need a president and a Justice Department who not only enforces current law, but does not circumvent the law by freeing their pals from prison.

Guns in the hands of the law-abiding are not the problem, releasing felons from prison early and not pursuing people who fail background checks at the point of purchase is the problem.

OUR VIEWS

Rich traditions mark Easter and Passover observances

The rich traditions of faith and family come together this week with special significance as Christians and Jews around the world celebrate Easter and Passover. They are celebrations filled with the foundation stories that are recounted ritually each year.

For Christians, Easter is about the redemption of people through the sacrifice of Christ and the eternal life given to those who believe in him. Holy Week retells and commemorates Christ's last days on Earth and his resurrection on Easter Sunday.

For Jews, Passover recounts the remembrance of deliverance and redemption from 400 years of slavery in Egypt and the exodus to the Promised Land. It lasts for eight days and commemorates the sparing of Hebrew families when God punished Egypt by killing the firstborn in every family.

Easter is a celebration of resurrection and redemption. Passover celebrates deliverance and liberation. The stories are thousands of years old, but their messages transcend time. Even today people from Libya, Afghanistan and Somalia seek to be saved and to be delivered from oppression.

What would we say or what would do if these two historic events took place today? What would we post on Facebook about them? Would we like, would we comment, would we share? What would we tweet? Who would get our Instagram?

In this day of being connected 24/7, it is not technology but the words of people we don't know, from a different time and a different place who continue to offer us hope of freedom, renewal, redemption and resurrection.

It is our faith that guides us, and it is that faith that is being renewed this week. Whether you worship Easter Sunday at a church or are concluding Passover with your family at home, know that those around you are also sharing in the hope and the renewal that faith offers.

Is there an encore in 2013 for the Livonia Stevenson baseball team?

The Spartans tend to think so after going 28-12 and reaching the Division 1 state quarterfinals before losing to Saline, 5-1, in 2012.

Ninth-year coach Rick Berryman believes many of the pieces are in place as the Spartans return 11 seniors led by infielder Travis Harvey, a first-team All-Observer and All-State selection who hit eight homers and knocked in 55 runs while batting .373.

First-team All-Observer catcher Mike Vomastek (.398, 34 RBI) also returns, while the Spartans' pitching staff will be led by Mike Kanitra, who finished 7-1 with a 2.00 earned run average.

But Berryman remains cautiously optimistic as the Spartans will try and unseat perennial area power Northville in the KLAA's Central Division.

"To quote Jim Leyland," the Stevenson coach said. "We look good on paper, now we have to play the games."

Meanwhile, Livonia Franklin (14-18) could be on the upswing in the KLAA's South Division.

The Patriots will rely on a trio of seniors including pitcher-infielder Tom Gorman, a first-team All-Observer selection who hit .451 with 26 RBI.

The Indiana Tech signee is joined by Madonna University signee Alex DeYonker, a crafty left-handed pitcher and outfielder (.379), along with Henry Ford Community College signee Kevin Nisun, a senior outfielder (.409).

"Goals were set very early in the winter with this group and they have been working very hard to reach those goals this upcoming season," Franklin seventh-year coach Matt Fournier said. "I think this team has a lot of pieces that I can use in many ways that I was not able to the past couple seasons."

And don't count out Livonia Churchill (21-11) despite losing some key performers to graduation.

The Chargers will be led by second-team All-Area catcher Dan Cameron, a senior who hit .342 last season.

"As always, our seniors will have to lead us on-and-off of the field," Churchill 10th-year coach Ron Targosz said. "We had another very successful off season and hopefully that will carry us into the regular season."

Two other KLAA South Division teams, Wayne Memorial (14-18) and Westland John Glenn (7-20) hope to play spoiler roles.

Wayne captured a Division 1 district crown last year, but lost second-team All-Area players Jacob Lefler and Tyler McCurry to graduation.

The Zebras will be led by senior pitcher Chris Briggs, sophomore infielder Tyler Harnos

Barber is top CCHA rookie

Miami University freshman right winner Riley Barber (Livonia) becomes the first Red-Hawk to ever win Central Collegiate Hockey Association Rookie of the Year honor.

Barber was also the first freshman to earn first-team All-CCHA honors since 2003-04 and was the lone unanimous selection to the CCHA All-Rookie Team.

The Washington Capitals prospect leads Miami and the entire CCHA with 38 points in 37 games, while his 15 goals and 23 assists are both tops on the team.

His 23 assists are third in the league and tops among all rookies nationally, as are his 38 points, while his 15 goals tie for sixth in the league and rank first among freshmen in the CCHA.

Barber was named CCHA Gongshow® Rookie of the Week four times.

He recorded a team-high 12 multi-point games on the season, including a two-goal game and four multi-assist contests, while tallying three game-winning goals and four power play goals.

He also carries a +15 rating.

The CCHA regular season champion and No. 5-ranked RedHawks (24-11-5) open NCAA Midwest Regional play 5 p.m. Saturday at the Huntington Center in Toledo where they will face Minnesota State.

MU's Collura earns salute

The Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference Monday that Madonna University sophomore Chelsea Collura (River-view Gabriel Richard) was named WHAC Women's Golfer of the Week for the period of March 18-24.

Collura led MU to the Perry Park Spring Fling with rounds of 89 and 82 for a 171 total in the 36-hole event.

As a team, MU finished 20th in a field that consisted of 22 NCAA Division II teams and fellow NAIA member Marian.

The Crusaders return to the course on April 1-2, taking part in the Cumberlands Invite in London, Ky.

Goad WHAC's lead golfer

Madonna University's Dave Goad (Allen Park) was selected as the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference Men's Golfer of the Week for the period of March 18-24.

The award is the second for Goad this season as the senior was also honored on Sept. 3, during the fall campaign.

Goad helped MU to a second-place finish at the Capital University (Ohio) Purple and White Invite by shooting rounds of 84 and an even-par 72 in cold and windy conditions over the two-day event. Goad's round of 72 was the lowest round on day two and was one of just two rounds at or under par for the entire event.

The Crusaders return to the course on April 5-6, taking part in the USF Spring Invite in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Ex-Glenn track coach starts new chapter

By Brad Emons
Observer Staff Writer

After resigning last fall following 26 years of coaching boys track and field and cross country teams at Westland John Glenn High, Jess Shough admitted he suffered through coaching withdrawal.

The 68-year-old Shough, who spent 22 seasons as head coach and another four as an assistant with the Rockets, thought he'd stay connected to the sport he loves in a different way.

"That was my intent ... was to do track officiating," Shough said. "I didn't get started because I wasn't getting any contacts. I got registered and put contacts out, but didn't get anything because around here pretty much all the officiating assignments are locked up at this time of year already."

So Shough went to Plan B and started Monday as an assistant coach at KLAA South Division rival Canton.

"I stayed around the house not doing anything ... then I was just feeling, 'I want to coach,'" Shough said. "I went back and got a contact with (athletic director) Sue Heinzman and she said they were looking for an assistant. I had been a great friend for many years with (head coach) Bob Richardson and coached against him, so I thought it would be a natural fit and it happened."

Jess Shough didn't stay retired very long after coaching boys track 26 seasons at John Glenn. He is now an assistant at Canton.

Shough retired from teaching in 2010 from the Wayne-Westland Community Schools following 44 years (including 20 with the Cherry Hill Schools), but stayed on coaching at Glenn where he compiled a 104-84 dual-meet record.

And after Shough ended his brief hiatus, he became reacquainted with track.

"It's been an adjustment," Shough said. "Everybody looks at me and says, 'What's he doing over here?' It's been an adjustment, but up to this point it's been very natural. The coaching staff has really been receptive and the kids have been really receptive."

Shough started coaching at Glenn in 1986 and served as an assistant under Richard Gordon before taking the head coaching reins in 1991.

In 1995, he guided the Rockets to Western Lakes Activities Association and WLAA Lakes Division titles. But his best season came in 1997 when Glenn captured the WLAA, division and regional crowns.

When Glenn moved into the Kensington Lakes Activities Association in 2009, Shough's top finish with the Rockets was fourth in the Kensington Conference meet in 2010.

In the past few years wins had become harder to come by for the Rockets in the KLAA.

every tough Division 1 team and pitcher that we can find," Combs said. "By tournament time our underclassmen will know our system and strongly contribute."

Next-door neighbors Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (20-5) and Lutheran High Westland (16-16) will now butt heads in the Blue Division of the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference.

Huron Valley, which captured the MIAC Red and Division 4 district titles last season, virtually returns its entire starting lineup led by sophomore pitcher Julie St. John, the MIAC MVP and second-team All-Observer selection.

Lutheran Westland also returns its top two pitchers in sophomore Emily Hahn and junior Lindsey Ermert.

Livonia Clarenceville (14-14) will also be moving to the Western Wayne Athletic Conference this spring after languishing the past few years as an independent.

"Our program is very excited about entering the WWAC this season," 15th-year Clarenceville coach Joe DeCaire said. "It is going to be challenging, but our girls will be motivated to make a good impression and will compete the entire season."

Both Livonia Churchill (22-8) and Livonia Franklin (21-13) could seriously challenge in the KLAA's South Division.

Churchill is led by first-team All-Observer catcher Casey Bias, a senior who has signed with Ferris State, along with Madonna University signee Nicky Salloum, a senior shortstop.

"After losing in the districts the way we did last year to Canton in extra innings, this team is determined to leave a mark and make a statement," third-year Churchill coach Steve Gentilia said.

Franklin also has a veteran cast led by sophomore center fielder Becky Giacobbi, a first-team All-Observer selection, along with senior shortstop Katelynn Devers, a second-team All-Area pick.

Coach Linda Jimenez, now in her 18th season, needs a strong performance on the mound.

"The question mark will be the pitching," Jimenez said. "Mallori (McCullough) and Courtney (Garbarino) will give it their best shot."

Westland John Glenn (10-20), another KLAA South member, reached the district final last year under first-year coach Patrick McGrath before losing to Belleville.

The Rockets will be led by senior catcher Danielle Saunders.

Rival Wayne Memorial (1-21) brought up the rear in the KLAA South last season and second-year coach Larry Lankton is determined to put the Zebras back on the radar screen with a young team led by freshman center fielder Ri'onna Clements.

Livonia Stevenson (17-17) is under new management as former Eastern Michigan player and ex-Canton High stand-out Lauren Delapaz takes over for Rob Witherspoon, who resigned after 10 seasons to take an administrative position.

Pitchers Morgan Copperstone, a senior, and Erika Randall, a junior, will lead the way as the Spartans try and replace graduated infielders Ashley Avery (first-team All-Area) and Molly Knoph (second-team All-Area).

Leading returnees: Casey Bias, Sr. C (first-team All-Area; .403, 8 HRs, 38 RBI); Nicky Salloum, Sr. SS (second-team All-Area; .453, 6 HRs, 42 RBI); Katie Shereda, Jr. P-Inf.; Julia Cavagnini, Jr. OF-Inf.; Julia Twigg, Jr. OF; Lauren St. Pierre, Soph. Inf.

Promising newcomers: Lauren St. Pierre, Soph. Inf.; Rachel Mattison, Soph. Inf.-P; Mellanie Richardson, Fr. P-Inf.

Gentilia's 2013 season outlook: "Although we are young at some positions, we are extremely experienced in the key positions with Casey Bias at catcher (signed with Ferris State) and Nicky Salloum (signed with Madonna University) at shortstop. With their experience and leadership, this team is already poised to make some noise and surprise some teams this season."

LIVONIA FRANKLIN

Head coach: Linda Jimenez, 18th year.
League affiliation: KLAA Kensington (South Division).
Last year's overall record: 21-13.
Titles won last year: Public Schools of Livonia Invitational champs.

Notable losses to graduation: Tiffany Lambie, Nicole Williamson.

Leading returnees: Becky Giacobbi, Soph. CF (first-team All-Area; .438, 25 runs); Katelynn Devers, Sr. SS (second-team All-Area; .395); Afton DeWyse, Sr. OF; Mackenzie Lukas, Sr. OF (.434, 46 RBI); Maggie Leins, Sr. Inf.; Caitlin Milican, Sr. C; Dana Gresock, Jr. Inf.; Colleen Mandrink, Jr. Inf.; Courtney Garbarino, Jr. P; Ashley McDowell, Jr. OF; Megan Chapman, Soph. C; Morgan Larkin, Soph. Inf.-OF (.382); Lauren Michael, Soph. Inf.; Morgan Larkin, Soph. Inf.-OF (.382); Lauren Michael, Soph. Inf.

Promising newcomers: Mallori McCullough, Jr. P; Sarah Cramton, Soph. Inf.

Jimenez's 2013 season outlook: "I always say that a team is as good as its seniors. We have an experienced senior class. Four of the five seniors have been on varsity since their freshmen year. They are all leaders on field and in the classroom. Last year we had an outstanding freshmen class with Giacobbi and Larkin leading the way. A newcomer, Sarah Cramton, was a sweet addition. She is very athletic."

LIVONIA STEVENSON

Head coach: Lauren Delapaz, first year.
League affiliation: KLAA Kensington (Central Division).
Last year's overall record: 17-17.

Notable losses to graduation: Ashley Avery (first-team All-Area); Molly Knoph (second-team All-Area); Julia Potvin, Sarah King, Jacqueline Johnson.

Promising newcomers: Courtney Carter, Jr. P-utility; Megan Coliton, Sr. OF; Alex Knorp, Jr. utility; Kaitlyn Lipinski, Jr. C-Inf.; Cassidy Lipinski, Soph. Inf.; Natalie Moore, Soph. Inf.; Natalie Reilly, Jr. P-Inf.; Rachel Wilkinson, Jr. OF.

Delapaz's 2013 season outlook: "We are excited to start the season. Our team has been working very hard and has high expectations for the upcoming season. We have great leadership and presence on the mound with two returning varsity pitchers (Copperstone and Randall). We have two junior catchers (Kaitlyn Lipinski and Omietanski) who are coming into their own to be leaders behind the plate. Every day at practice the girls surprise us with their fielding abilities. Everyone at the plate has shown great promise and we will strive to be an aggressive offensive team."

WESTLAND GLENN

Head coach: Patrick McGrath, second year.
League affiliation: KLAA Kensington (South Division).
Last year's overall record: 10-20.

Notable losses to graduation: Nicole Quaine, Katelyn Barker, Arika Agnew, Taylor Bonarek, Leila May.

Leading returnees: Danielle Saunders, Sr. C (.369, 26 RBI); Cassandra Huren, Sr. CF; Brittany McGrath, Jr. 3B; Alexis Lester, Jr. P; Katlin Keast, Jr. C; Sam Duprie, Jr. OF.

Promising newcomers: Julia Michalowski, Fr. C-Inf.; Heather Gains, Soph. 2B; Julia Huren, Fr. 1B.

McGrath's 2013 season outlook: "Our team is a mix of veterans and rookies that have a positive attitude and are working hard together. We will through some growing pains, but I expect to be hitting on all cylinders come time for districts."

WAYNE MEMORIAL

Head coach: Larry Lankton, second year.
League affiliation: KLAA Kensington (South Division).
Last year's overall record: 1-21.
Notable losses to graduation: Shelby Hooper, Alicia Nielson, Kayley Porta, Jessica Fisher.

Leading returnees: Megan McCurry, Soph. 1B; Ashley McGeorge, Soph. P-SS; Valerie Green, Jr. C-2B-3B.

Promising newcomers: Ri'onna Clements, Fr. CF; Sharon Carpenter, Fr. OF; Jade Walls, Fr. P; Rachel Lefler, Soph. C; Emily Phipps, Jr. LF; Taylor Festerman, Jr. 3B.

Lankton's 2013 season outlook:

"We have an extremely young and inexperienced team. We'll have three freshman starters, along with three sophomore starters, but the girls are putting in a lot of work. We have a hard-working group here. The pitching is inexperienced. We'll be rotating between Walls, our starter, and McGeorge. I think our outfield will be O.K. Our infield will be O.K. We may be struggling offensively with our inexperience, but we have some nice bats. I think we're deeper hitting-wise, but the top of our lineup isn't as good as last year because of our inexperience."

LIVONIA LADYWOOD

Head coach: Scott Combs, sixth year.
League affiliation: Catholic League (Central Division).
Last year's overall record: 40-2.

Titles won last year: Division 2 state, regional, district, Catholic A-B Division, Central Division, Wisconsin Invitational champions.

Notable losses to graduation: Briana Combs (first-team All-Area); Carli San Millan (first-team All-Area); Allyssa Kashat (first-team All-Area); Nicole Payne, Kristin Eisterhold, Brittany DeCamillo, Michelle Nelson.

Leading returnees: Celeste Fidge, Sr. 3B (second-team All-Area); Andria Gietl, Sr. 1B (second-team All-Area); Lauren Hayes, Jr. P; Haley Lawrence, Jr. SS; Anna Lewis, Soph. C.

Promising newcomers: Erica Selakowski, Fr. Inf.; Mary Kate Warner, Fr. C; Rosalyn Price, Fr. P; Rachel Hendrickson, Fr. OF; Alivia Craig, Fr. OF.

Combs' 2013 season outlook: "We won't have as many 1-0 wins as the last four years - we had over 25. We will pitch as a committee. And our hitting lineup, eventually, can be as good or better than our best teams. We have 10 returning letter winners, including all starters at the corner infield spots, along with at least two others who I expect to be there this year. We expect to challenge for the Catholic League and state titles every year and this year no different."

LIVONIA CLARENCEVILLE

Head coach: Joe DeCaire, 15th year.
League affiliation: Western Wayne Athletic Conference (Blue Division).
Last year's overall record: 14-14.

Notable losses to graduation: Angela McAlpine, Rachel Grefke, Lauren Katz, Nicole Grates.

Soph., Inf.-OF; Mia Sampson, Soph., Inf.-OF; Lindsey Cairns, Soph. OF; Morgan Cairns, Soph., OF.

Promising newcomers: Logan Sade, Jr., Inf.-P; Nicole Scott, Fr., Inf.-OF; Sarah Kirschweg, Fr., Inf.-OF; Haley Ray, Fr., Inf.-OF; Sarah Meili, Fr. Inf.-OF; Kylee Hammond, Fr. Inf.-OF; Ciara Miller, Fr., Inf.-OF; Elizabeth Martinez, Fresh., Inf.-OF.

DeCaire's 2013 season outlook:

"The players have been dedicated to the off season conditioning program and are eager to get the season started. Our coaching staff set a goal to go back to teaching the fundamentals and to put the most competitive players on the field. We have a balance of experienced players with a few first- and second-year players that will have every opportunity to play every day. Our success will be dependent upon our pitching. Defense will be interesting in that a few positions will be new to some of our players. We are young, which means you never know."

LUTHERAN WESTLAND

Head coach: Paul Gusé, eighth year.
League affiliation: Michigan Independent Athletic Conference (Blue Division).
Last year's overall record: 16-16.

Notable losses to graduation: Marissa Hahn (second-team All-Area); Hannah Conley, Erika Killian.

Leading returnees: Sam Roberts, Sr. 1B; Shannon Abbott, Sr. 2B; Aldreanna Fikes, Sr. C; Lindsey Ermert, Jr. P (6-4, 4.54 ERA); Emily Hahn, Soph. P (10-11, 110 Ks, 131 IP); Promising newcomers: To be determined.

Gusé's 2013 season outlook: "The loss of three 4-year starters will be tough to overcome. We have big holes to fill on the left side of the infield, but our pitching should be good."

HURON VALLEY LUTHERAN

Head coach: Eric Ruth, 16th year.
League affiliation: Michigan Independent Athletic Conference (Blue Division).
Last year's overall record: 20-5.

Titles won last year: MIAC Red Division and Division 4 district champs.

Notable losses to graduation: Meghan Kubinski.

Leading returnees: Julie St. John, Soph. P (second-team All-Area; MIAC MVP); Ashley Hower, Jr. 1B; Bethany Schaffer, Soph. 2B; Brooke Kuehn, Jr. SS; Jessie Strauch, Soph. 3B (first-team All-MIAC); Lauren Jones, Jr. OF (first-team All-MIAC); Dayna Schroeder, Jr. OF (first-team All-MIAC); Anne St. John, Soph. OF (first-team All-MIAC); Sarah Setian, Jr. OF.

Promising newcomer: Madison Ott, Fr. C.

Ruth's 2013 season outlook: "We return a great deal of experience from last year's squad. We are in the (MIAC) Blue Division this year, which means we have to come ready to compete every day. We look to grow as a team and improve as we take on a different schedule this year."

GARY STEELE

Grappler signs

Livonia Franklin senior wrestler Allen Steele (middle), flanked by teammates Danny Martinez (left) and Jordan Atienza (right), recently signed an NAIA letter-of-intent with Indiana Tech. Steele is two-time Observerland, KLAA and regional champion. He also won the Wayne County and district tournaments this year en route to a sixth-place finish at the Division 1 state finals at 189 pounds. He is the first Franklin wrestling scholarship recipient under 13th-year coach Dave Chiola. Steele plans to study criminal justice and follow in the footsteps of his father Gary, a Detroit Police officer.

Girls bowlers on target in the clutch

FIRST TEAM

Caitlyn Webb, Jr., Plymouth: A second individual regional championship in two years provided plenty of evidence that Webb is one of the elite girls bowlers in Observerland. Webb tallied a 1,194 total — including a 276 game — to win the Division 1 individual regional at Super Bowl in Canton, thus qualifying for the D1 individual state finals for the third year in a row.

In Muskegon, Webb's total of 1,175 for six games in the qualifying block enabled her to finish 14th and make it to the Round of 16. There, she came up short 391-378 to Heather Baur of Davison. She also was named to the All-KLAA team.

And the best Webb has to offer could be in her senior season, if her career trajectory of improving each year is any indication. "I am looking forward to next season and can't wait to see what she will accomplish," coach Tammy Thompson said. "She is an extremely talented bowler. As a coach it is very rewarding when your bowler does well. I am so proud of her."

Rae'ven Turner, Sr., North Farmington: In her third varsity season, Turner averaged 197.6 in 70 match games with 64 games over 165. She started the season by winning the OAA singles championship. In match play, she defeated all three opponents with games of 233, 257 and 236 without a single open frame.

Turner was the medalist at the Farmington Early-Bird tournament with a 625 series. She was third overall and made the Ladywood Holiday all-tournament team.

Turner, who averaged 196.64 in 33 league games, was 12th in the Oakland County tourney and sixth at the Mercy Invite. Another notable score was the 269 she bowled in a dual match with Royal Oak. Turner also bowled four of the team's top-10, all-time best games and six of the top-10, all-time series.

"Rae'ven has just completed her third season as our anchor bowler and her first season as captain," coach Mike Horner said. "We are so fortunate to have her returning for one more year. She is a tireless worker and has watched her average climb from 165 to 175 and this year to 197. This season marked her second trip to the state finals. With her willingness to work and her dedication to the team, she is poised to have an outstanding senior season."

Kristin Larkins, Sr., Salem: The Rocks' team co-captain capped off an outstanding four-year varsity career, averaging 183 in the KLAA (good for all-conference) and rolling a high game of 267.

At the D1 regionals, Larkins finished fifth with a total score of 1,080 to qualify for the state finals a third consecutive year.

She reached the Round of 16 at the D1 individual finals in Muskegon, where she lost 399-371 to eventual state champion Barbara Lawson of Grand Ledge.

Larkins placed fifth in the qualifying block, rolling a 244 game along the way.

"She was our anchor bowler and handled this tough position with such ease," coach Kathie Hahn said. "She carried herself with such grace and professionalism on the lanes and off. We wish her only the best in her future."

Maria Walawender, Sr., Mercy: Walawender was in the starting lineup for four years and was the Mercy team captain the past two seasons. She averaged 182 in the Catholic League and made the all-Catholic team for the third year in a row. Walawender won the Oakland County championship with an outstanding 673 series that included games of 202, 247 and 224.

In the biggest events of the year — Oakland County, Catholic League, regional and state tournaments, Walawender averaged 189. At the regional, she packed four strikes in a row into the last of six games to move up from 18th to 10th place and qualify for the state finals.

"Coaches Mike and Vicky Kowalski are very proud of Maria's accomplishments, and we thank her for being an outstanding anchor bowler in leading Mercy to a 10-0 record in the Catholic League," Vicky Kowalski said.

Olivia Cabildo, Soph., Westland Glenn: The sophomore posted a 181 average en route to all-KLAA honors and a third-place finish at the regional.

Cabildo wound up 35th at the Division 1 singles finals, while also earning all-tournament honors at the Ladywood Holiday Invitational. She also posted the high game and second high series at the Plymouth-Canton-Salem Tournament.

"Olivia came back this year with a lot of experience," Glenn coach Ralph Cabildo said. "She is mentally tough when it comes down to pressure moments and knows how to handle those moments. Her biggest strength is being a team player and trying to pick up the team when things are not going well."

Caylin Doran, Jr., Farmington-Harrison: Doran, who made the all-area second team last year, had the Oakland Activities Association's highest average (199) during the past season and is a two-time, All-OAA selection.

A three-year varsity letter winner, Doran improved her season average by six pins to 193. She also bowled 21 games of 200 or better with a high game of 264 and best series of 477. Doran was voted the team MVP by her teammates and coaches for the second year in a row.

"At her current pace, Caylin will end up being the most decorated girl bowler in Farmington-Harrison program history," coach Dennis Hermah said. "She has bowled anchor for us the last two seasons, and she has clinched many matches with her heroics in the 10th frame. We are definitely excited to have Caylin back to lead our girls program next season as well."

SECOND TEAM

Julia Huren, Fr., Westland Glenn: The freshman posted a team-best 194 average while earning All-KLAA honors.

Huren posted both high series and high games at the Ladywood Holiday Invitational. She also rolled second high series and second high game at the Wayne County Tourney.

"Having freshman on the team with a 194 average was a big surprise," Cabildo said. "After the experience she has had this year, I expect Julia to come back next year even stronger."

What makes Julia such a good bowler is her commitment to bowling year-round.

Caity Lenard, Sr., Westland Glenn: The senior captain was the Region 6 champion at Woodhaven Lanes and also earned all-tournament honors at the Valentine's Invitational at Novi Bowl.

Lenard also earned a 46th-place finish at the Division 1 singles finals.

"Caity played such a big part in our success this season," Cabildo said. "Although her average was a 172, she peaked at the right time. Her strongest performance was when she took first at regionals. I'm so proud of the leadership she has brought to this team. Caity plans on bowling at the college level. A coach could not be any prouder of his senior captain."

Sabine Hutter, Jr., Liv. Ladywood: The junior took eighth at the regional and placed 19th at the Division 2 state finals (while sporting a 186 average).

Hutter is a two-time state qualifier who also competed as a freshman. She also earned All-Catholic League honors.

"Throughout her bowling career Sabine has set goals not only for herself as an individual, but for her team as well and works to achieve them," Ladywood coach Judy Jaeger said.

Bridget Maul, Sr., Salem: The senior was the consummate "roll" model, providing guidance for young teammates and also showing them how it's done.

Maul, a scholar athlete, finished with an all-KLAA average of 164 and a high game of 245. At the D1 individual finals in Muskegon, her six-game tally of 1,120 was good for 30th overall. She did finish strong with a 237 in Game 6. The previous week at Super Bowl, her total of 1,045 earned her seventh place to make the cut for the individual finals.

"She was the heart and soul of the team," Hahn said. "She took the freshmen under her wing, constantly helping them with their game."

"We know whatever Bridget pursues in her future she will do it with 100 percent and succeed," Hahn said.

Lorissa Willet, Sr., Wayne: The senior finished fifth in Region 6 with a six-game total of 1,067 and ended up 56th in the state singles qualifying block with a 974.

Willet averaged 168 for the season, including a high series of 428 and a high game of 247. "Lorissa comes from a family of bowlers," Wayne coach Diane St. Louis said. "Her parents and brother have been big supporters and have attended all of her division matches and tournaments."

Willet plans to bowl at Schoolcraft College and major in culinary arts with hopes of transferring to the University of Florida.

Kira Leach, Sr., Wayne: The senior placed eighth in Region 6 with a 1,039 total including a high game of 214.

Leach also took 31st in the state singles qualifying block with a total of 1,119 including a 214 high game.

She averaged 165 for the season with a high series of 413 and a high game of 221.

"Kira will graduate 36th in her class and will be attending Alma College where she'll study elementary education," St. Louis said. "She will also continue to bowl as a member of the Alma College team."

COACH OF THE YEAR

Ralph Cabildo, Westland Glenn: The first-year coach guided the Rockets to a perfect 15-0 season along with KLAA Central Division and Division 1 regional titles.

The Lady Rockets took fifth in the qualifying block at the Division 1 state finals before being eliminated by eventual state champion Davison in the match play quarterfinals.

Glenn also captured the Valentine's Invitational at Novi Bowl and earned seconds at the Ladywood, P-C-S and Wayne County tournaments.

"The thing I tried to do, if anything, was really getting the girls to become a team," said Cabildo, who also served as a volunteer assistant coach the previous year. "We had talent last year also, but the big thing is the girls becoming a team. That is where our success came from. The mental part of the game is what I stress more than anything."

The 53-year-old Cabildo also is entering his third season as the Glenn varsity girls soccer coach. He also owns RC & DJ Video Productions in Westland.

we've had the last three years is lack of depth," said Shough, who was replaced by Jason Dixon. "We've had some great athletes and state qualifiers. I've coached four of the Midwest Meet of Champions selections. We've had good success in terms of individuals, but that lack of depth was making a difference in terms of being competitive in the (KLAA South) division."

Shough graduated from Adrian High School and played fourth years of both basketball and baseball at Eastern Michigan University where he earned a B.S. degree in physical education.

His first coaching job was as an assistant at Garden City East under Clayton Kelly.

Shough then took the head girls track position at Cherry Hill.

"I got hooked on the fact that track was the sport that I really could see myself coaching it," said Shough, who also holds a master's degree in educational administration from EMU. "It was something that I was actually looking for in coaching. I got hooked and I've been coaching it ever since."

Shough has begun a new phase in his life and he's glad he accepted the Canton position.

"I love coaching," Shough said. "That's just it. I found track and field was a sport that there's so much to learn. Every year I try and learn something more and now I have a new chapter to continue in."

Stevenson's Carlin O'Malley (3) leaps into the air to avoid the contact with the Dearborn goalkeeper during Tuesday's non-conference encounter.

Power surge

Spartans zap Dearborn in opener, 5-0

By Brad Emons
Observer Staff Writer

With electricians and DTE citing possible hole in the transformer, Livonia Stevenson's stadium scoreboard was out and the lights could only be partially lit. So that meant the Spartans' season opener had to be switched Tuesday to Dearborn High and they were completely plugged in rolling to a 5-0 triumph over the Pioneers. Stevenson jumped out to a 4-0 halftime lead with Carlin O'Malley scoring at the 3-minute mark when she dribbled through the backline and slotted a ball to the far post off a pass from Emily Mulcahy. In the 32nd minute, Allie Corp picked off a pass, dribbled through three Dearborn players and slammed the ball into the back of the net for a 2-0 lead. Just three minutes later, junior forward Katelyn Foster scored on a volley off a throw-in from Maddy Caves. And Sari Rakowicz gave the Spartans a four-goal cushion a minute before the half when she placed shot inside the far post off a Caves through-ball. Mulcahy completed the scoring with a second-half header into the near post off a corner kick from Foster. Stevenson goalkeepers Rylee Jayson and Emily Kubeshesky made three and one save, respectively, to combine on the shut-out. The loss drops Dearborn to 0-2. LADYWOOD 5, FOLEY 0: Emily Huddleston's hat trick propelled Livonia Ladywood (2-0, 1-0) to a Catholic League victory Tuesday night at Madison Heights Bishop Foley (0-1, 0-1). Huddleston scored in the first (unassisted), 39th (from Connor Huggins) and 52nd (from Jenna Urso) minutes for the victorious Blazers. The Blazers used three goalkeepers with Sara Even, Whitney Bauriedl and Katie Miller combining for two saves. Ladywood, which led 4-0 at halftime, also got a first-half goal Marissa Ozog (unassisted) and Shelby Walsh (from Ani Ramon).

"Emily was fantastic tonight," Ladywood coach Ken Shinglededecker said. "All three of her goals came from over 25 yards out. It was a nice game for us. Everyone got in and played well." NORTHVILLE 2, CHURCHILL 0: On Monday, goals in each half by Emily Bush and Kelly McHugh carried the host Mustangs (1-0) to a victory over Livonia Churchill (0-2) in matchup of KLAAs Kensington Conference teams. Churchill goalkeeper Alexis Tzafaroglu helped keep it close by making a diving catch on a Northville penalty kick in the first half. The Chargers also got strong play from junior Kelsey Parinello in the midfield and from freshman Lauren Wynns up front. First-year coach Reid Friedrichs also singled out junior Kathleen Rubenson and senior Rachel Tomassi. GLENN 1, HARRISON 1: Goalkeeper Jenna Redden stopped in a penalty kick in the first half as Westland John Glenn (0-0-1) earned a season-opening draw Monday at Farmington Harrison (0-0-1). Glenn's Sydney Climie scored at the 24-minute mark from Lori Thompson, but Jessica Khoury countered for the Hawks with a goal in the 35th minute. The Rockets outshot Harrison, 8-6.

PREP BASEBALL CAPSULE OUTLOOK

LIVONIA CHURCHILL
Head coach: Ron Targosz, 10th year.
League affiliation: KLAAs Kensington Conference (South Division).
Last year's overall record: 21-11.
Notable losses to graduation: Connor Dwyer (first-team All-Area); Brent Ochodnicki (second-team All-Area); Alex Taskos, Derek Jakubowski, Jake Otto, Mike Rybinski, Ryan Baker, Tyler Keeter, James Targosz.
Promising newcomers: Logan Facione, Jr. OF; Zach Glidden, Jr. Inf.-P; Austin Hovermale, Jr. 1B-P; Mark Leja, Jr. OF-C; Josh Shepard, Jr. OF; Andrew Summers, Jr. Inf.-P; Matt Vincentini, Jr. P-Inf.; Jon Hovermale, Fr. OF-Inf.-P.
Targosz's 2013 season outlook: "We have some very talented players, but some of them lack varsity game experience. If we are able to put that aside, then I think that we can be very successful. I think that it is very important for us to get off to a good start in order to build some confidence, especially for our younger players. We are looking forward to getting the season underway."

Head coach: Matt Fournier, seventh year.
League affiliation: KLAAs Kensington Conference (South Division).
Last year's overall record: 14-18.
Notable losses to graduation: Joe Barczuk (second-team All-Area); Joel Trudell, Kyle Curtis, Justin Forrester.
Fournier's 2013 season outlook: "We return many of our core pieces from last year's team including all three starting outfielders and four-fifths of our starting infield. On the mound, both our number one (DeYonker) and our number two (Gorman) return with battles going on for the remaining innings. The new kids coming up from the JV are catching on quick and there is great competition. going on for playing time, not just for starting spots, but for those role spots as well. This is the deepest outfield group I have had and our infield is coming along. This group is a lot of fun to be around. I'm anxious to see what we can do."

LIVONIA STEVENSON
Head coach: Rick Berryman, ninth year.
League affiliation: KLAAs Kensington Conference (Central Division).
Last year's overall record: 28-12.
Titles won last year: Livonia City, Division 1 district and regional champions.
Notable losses to graduation: Chris McDonald (first-team All-Area); Nick Lagerstrom (second-team All-Area); Justin Small, Pete Michalak.
Leading returnees: Travis Harvey, Sr. IF (first-team All-Area, All-State; .373, 8 HRs, 55 RBI); Mike Vomastek, Sr. C (first-team All-Area; .398, 34 RBI); Mike Kanitra, Sr. P-1B (7-1, 2.00 ERA, .309); Jake Semak, Sr. P-Inf. (5-3, 3.17 ERA; .301); Josh DeYonker, Sr. OF (.363); Mike Barill, Sr. Inf.; Matt Hunt, Sr. 1B; Austin Stevens, Sr. OF; Brandon Jurczynski, Sr. OF; Cody Coleman, Sr. OF-P; Jason Rakowicz, Sr. P.

Promising newcomers: Tim Burdt, Jr. P; Mitch Deacon, Jr. OF-P; Sean McCann, Jr. Inf.; Kyle Giamapola, Jr. C; Billy Bonanno, Jr. Inf.-P; Rodney Bies, Jr. C-P-Inf.; Nick Marcon, Fr. P-Inf.; Jake Ivey, Jr. 1B.
Berryman's 2013 season outlook: "This season looks very promising. There are 11 returning seniors from last year's team that reached the quarterfinals in the state playoffs. This year's team features pitching depth, with four pitchers throwing in the 80s (MPH). The defense is very solid in both the infield and outfield. The hitting appears to be very good with a batting order that should be strong one through nine. The order features a combination of power, speed and good contact hitters."

WESTLAND GLENN
Head coach: Lawrence Scheffer, first year.
League affiliation: KLAAs Kensington Conference (South Division).
Last year's overall record: 7-20.
Notable losses to graduation: Zach Quinn, Danny Croft.
Scheffer's 2013 season outlook: "My goals this year are to organize and bring back a baseball program to John Glenn. I have worked with the assistant coaches and E.J. Roach, our head JV coach, to institute practices and workouts with our players. I can't say in the first season that we are going to come out and win, but I can say that we have a solid team of players who are going to work hard. We have some good pitching this year and our bats are warm. We will see what happens. The best I can do now is give our players all the support and instruction they need to compete in our league. The rest is up to them when they take the field April 2."

WAYNE MEMORIAL
Head coach: Chris Bailey, third year.
League affiliation: KLAAs Kensington Conference (South Division).
Last year's overall record: 14-18.
Titles won last year: Division 1 district champions.
Notable losses to graduation: Jacob Lefler (second-team All-Area); Tyler McCurry (second-team All-Area); Tom Briggs, Zach Lankton, Jordan Lowry.
Leading returnees: Chris Briggs, Sr. P; Tyler Harnos, Soph. SS-2B; Kody Wojewski, Jr. 3B; Joey Chapman, Sr. OF; Hatt Hartford, Sr. 1B.
Promising newcomers: Jacob Griffith, Fr. OF; Jimmy Herdon, Soph. C; Beau Smith, Soph. OF-3B.
Bailey's 2013 season outlook: "I think we have a lot of promise on this team. We have an excellent returning starting pitcher in Chris Briggs, a very dependable and excellent middle infielder in Tyler Harnos, and a steady third baseman in Kody Wojewski. We have great leadership, and everyone has really bought in to the team-first mentality. We are a little younger this year, but I'm really looking forward to seeing this group play."

Head coach: John Rogatski, first year.
League affiliation: Western Wayne Athletic Conference (Blue Division).
Last year's overall record: 10-16.
Notable losses to graduation: Ben Gehan (second-team All-Area); Damien Sanchez.
Promising newcomers: Ryan Menifee, Fr. RHP-SS-2B; Mitchell Kubiak, Fr. SS-2B-OF.
Rogatski's 2013 season outlook: "There will be several challenges for the players and coaching staff with a new system, strategy and level of expectation that will be implemented. As with any team, pitching will be paramount in the team's success with five of seven staff spots secured with two remaining bullpen spots open. The offense will include above-average speed with occasional power expected from the core players."

Head coach: Kevin Wade, ninth year.
League affiliation: Michigan Independent Athletic Conference (Red Division).
Last year's overall record: 9-15.
Titles won last year: Division 4 district champions.
Notable losses to graduation: Taurrek Fikes (second-team All-Area).
Leading returnees: Nick Andrzejewski, Sr. CF; Mark Mika, Jr. C; Nick Flanery, Jr. Inf. (.528, 35 RBI); P.J. Gusé, Jr. Inf.-P; Nate Abbott, Soph. OF-P; Travis Fry, Soph. 3B-P; Cleveland Tarp, Soph. Inf.-P.
Promising newcomers: Alex Glinn, Sr. OF; David Whitaker, Jr. OF; Jacob Baval, Soph. OF; Marco Gogola, Soph. OF; Noah Huffman, Soph. OF-P; Brandon Ruelle, Soph. Inf.-P; Jordan Williams, Fr. Inf.-P; Kevin Brewer, Fr. OF-P.
Wade's 2013 season outlook: "It will be interesting to see how we progress as the season goes along. We also are in a new division of the conference and are going to have to learn all the new teams. I expect (Westland) Huron Valley Lutheran and Plymouth Christian to be the top two with the rest of us battling for third. I'm happy with how parts of our lineup look on paper. We have some guys who can hit very well and hopefully that helps us and keeps us in games as our young pitching staff learns and grows throughout the season."

HURON VALLEY LUTHERAN
Head coach: Matt Schaeve, 11th year.
League affiliation: Michigan Independent Athletic Conference (Red Division).
Last year's overall record: 12-5.
Notable losses to graduation: None.
Promising newcomer: Jordan Runstadler, Fr. CF.
Schaeve's 2013 season outlook: "We only lost two starters, who were outfielders from last year's team. And with the injuries we had, there were a number of other players who got experience. Our infield should be strong, returning all our starters. Our two top pitchers (Schaffer and Harris) are back. And with some promising young pitchers, the staff should be strong. Overall I'm very excited about the upcoming season and the kids are looking for good things."

Mitchell Heard (No. 15) of the Plymouth Whalers, shown from earlier this season, is one of many players making offensive contributions in the team's first-round OHL series against Sarnia.

Plymouth Whalers just 1 win from 1st-round sweep

The Plymouth Whalers are within reach of a sweep of their first-round OHL Western Conference playoff series against Sarnia, following Monday's 5-2 victory in Game 3. Plymouth jumped out to a 2-0 lead at the RBC Centre in Sarnia before the contest was four minutes old with Rickard Rakell and Ryan Hartman finding the range against Sting goalie JP Anderson. After Sarnia got on the board at 5:57, when Nickolas Latta scored an unassisted goal against Plymouth netminder Alex Nedeljkovic, the Whalers regained a two-goal edge before the period ended. Making it 3-1 at 10:49 of the first was Stefan Noesen, on a play set up by Cody Payne and Vince Trocheck (three assists). Hartman's second of the game, from Trocheck and Tom Wilson, opened up a 4-1 lead with 13:05 to play in the middle stanza. Both teams scored in the third, with Rakell garnering his second marker of the contest at 16:49. Assisting were Noesen and Sebastian Uvira. Nedeljkovic won for the third straight game against Sarnia, making 19 saves. Anderson stopped 39 of 44 shots directed his way. The Whalers will have a chance to sweep the series 7 p.m. Wednesday in Sarnia. But if the Sting stave off elimination, the teams will reconvene 7 p.m. Friday at Compuware Arena for Game 5.

Plymouth opened the best-of-7 series with Friday's 11-2 rout at Compuware. On Saturday, the Whalers hung on for a 3-2 home victory before just under 3,000 fans. Zach Lorentz and Mitchell Heard each had a goal and an assist with Wilson scoring the other goal for Plymouth. The contest was 1-1 after 20 minutes before Lorentz and Wilson each scored in the second stanza to make it a 3-1 contest entering the third. A power-play goal by Sarnia's Reid Boucher closed the gap to a goal and Sarnia kept pressing, outshooting the Whalers 13-7 in the frame. Nedeljkovic held the fort, however, and Sarnia could not send the game to overtime.

and junior third baseman Kody Wojewski. "Defense will be key for us this season, seeing how we lost a lot of firepower on offense from last year's team," third-year Wayne coach Chris Bailey said. Glenn will have a new coach, but a familiar face in the dugout as Lawrence Scheffer takes over for Dan Danic. Scheffer, who played his college baseball at the University of Detroit, is a Glenn alum with strong roots. The Rockets will be led by senior third baseman and second baseman Daniel Ammons, who batted .398 last second en route to second-team All-Observer honors. "After going 17-44 the last two years, these kids want to win," Scheffer said. "I believe that they are excited at the changes that are being made in the baseball department and they will work hard to make the changes they need to make themselves out on the field." Livonia Clarenceville (10-16) also has a new coach (John Rogatski) and a new league affiliation (Western Wayne Athletic Conference). The Trojans will certainly miss second-team All-Area pick Ben Gehan along with Damien Sanchez, both lost to graduation. "With entry into the WWAC, we'll find ourselves playing new schools and have to plan according to division and nonconference games," said Rogatski, who was an assistant last year at Stevenson. Meanwhile, Lutheran High Westland (9-15), coming off a Division 4 district title, will be reunited with next-door neighbor Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (12-5) in the Red Division of the Michigan Independent

Athletic Conference. Lutheran Westland coach Kevin Wade, entering his ninth season, should have his team contending after moving over from the MIAC's Blue Division. The Warriors return senior center fielder Nick Andrzejewski, along with junior catcher Mark Mika and junior infielder Nick Flanery, the latter whom hit .528 with 35 RBI. "We are going to be very young, so our biggest challenge will be getting those guys up to varsity speed," Wade said. HVL's 11th-year coach Matt Schaeve returns his entire outfield and seven of nine starters led by senior shortstop-pitcher Alex Harris and junior pitcher-shortstop Ryan Schaffer. "Our offense remains strong if we can be more patient and cut down on our strikeouts," Schaeve said.

Egg hunt benefits kids in foster care

By Sharon Dargay
Staff Writer

Youngsters will hunt for Easter eggs on Good Friday at Newburg United Methodist Church in Livonia, but will give away the goodies connected with their search. "Basically, I wanted to turn an egg hunt upside down. We tried to give the traditional egg hunt a twist," said Rachel Benton, director of Family and Children's Ministry for the church. "This is something new we're trying out this year. We wanted to offer something for the community ... to celebrate Easter in a meaningful way."

Children will collect plastic eggs and then trade them in for a chance to create a "birthday kit" for a child in foster care at the United Methodist Children's Home in Redford. They'll choose a cake mix, frosting, party supplies, balloons and other components of a birthday celebration. They'll also decorate a gift bag to contain the items.

The church will donate 100 birthday kits to the foster care facility. Benton said the activity helps young participants learn how to give to others.

The egg hunt is one of several events planned during the Easter Fair that will run 11:30 a.m.-2 p.m., March 29, at the church, 36500 Ann Arbor Trail, between Wayne Road and Newburgh.

Children who egg hunt on Good Friday at Newburg United Methodist Church, will get a chance to build birthday kits for youngsters in foster care. Kits will contain cake mix, frosting and birthday party supplies.

Lunch will be served and children who participate in six activities will receive a small prize and candy.

"We'll have a couple of crafts, cookie decorating, games like bean bag toss," Benton said. "We have an interactive Bible story that will run through the entire event. It starts with Jesus on Palm Sunday and ends with the Resurrection. We tell the story in engaging and age-appropriate ways."

Youngsters will get a chance to participate in the story by waving palms, tasting "Last Supper" bread, and visiting Jesus' tomb.

"It's our hope that they really feel engaged."

The fair is aimed at families with infants, toddlers and elementary-aged youngsters and is open to the community. Benton said the church's pastor chose Good Friday for the fair because families — including those planning to attend Wayne County's annual Marshmallow Drop at nearby Nankin Mill in Westland — might be more likely to drive by and drop in.

"It's unconventional, but we thought we'd give it a try. We want people to come and enjoy their time together. Easter is about God's love and the gift of life. Our hope is that by offering this event, families will be able to experience the components of that narrative."

The church will hold its Good Friday service at 7 p.m.

Power Play

Local band plays classic rock with high energy, experience

By Sharon Dargay
Staff Writer

Mike Smith knows exactly what sets his group, Power Play, apart from other cover bands — showmanship and experience.

"We do more than just stand there and play," said Smith, a Livonia resident. "We do what would be like a 70s rock show, where there is a lot of movement. I play guitar behind my back and we go out and interact with the audience."

"People want to see something that is kind of exciting instead of just a pretty girl in an evening gown and a bunch of overweight, bald guys standing behind her playing. Our band has a younger vibe, even though we're older guys."

Smith began playing guitar at age 9 and has performed with numerous bands over the years. Dave Tatro on bass and Mario Resto on drums, both of Livonia, played together with Resto's brother, Luis, throughout the U.S. and Canada before Smith recruited them for Power Play two years ago. Resto, who plays drums and sings, composed and produced two CDs and has written music for television, radio and Web projects. April Hudson, vocals, sang with various local bands before joining Power Play a little over a year ago. Smith founded the band five years ago, but didn't find the right mix of performers until Tatro, Resto and Hudson came along.

"It went through different combinations," he said. "The last couple of years we've tried to get the group established solidly, with some solid booking, a solid following. We're starting to pick up steam."

Playing at Spree

With his wife, Tama, in charge of booking for the band, Power Play has picked up regular gigs at T.C. Gators in Canton and Bayside Sports Grill in Walled Lake. The group's spring-summer schedule also includes weddings, country club appearances, a senior all-night party at Northville High School, Lake-a-Palooza at Grass Lake and a coveted spot in the music line-up on the main stage at Livonia Spree. The band will play the evening of the annual festival's fireworks display.

"Everything is clicking and hopefully it will continue," said Tama, who also assists with managing her husband's carpentry business. "We're really excited about Spree. I'm always looking for new opportunities, but the band sells itself once they play somewhere and people see them."

She said the band plays mostly classic rock, but includes some current sounds. The set list is an eclectic mix of music by Cee Lo Green, Adele, Stevie Ray Vaughan, Maroon 5, AC/DC, Rolling Stones, Pink, Foo Fighters, Ozzy Osbourne and Dave Mathews, among many others.

"The musicians have been around and are a cut above the rest. They've been in the business a long time. That's what makes them special."

met while working at Jamie's on 7, a popular spot for live music in Livonia several years ago. She was a waitress and he played with a house band called Undercover.

"We played over 3,000 nights — 300 nights a year for 10 years. That was 1982-92," Mike Smith recalled. "Those were very formative years for me. We used to have national acts come in from time to time and we got a chance to play as a warm-up for them. When you're playing night after night, that's where you really develop your chops. You learn to work a live audience and read the room. A lot of bands make a set list and never vary from it. But we'll change on the fly. That's something that comes with experience."

After Smith left Jamie's, he focused on family — the couple have three sons — recording in his home studio and working in his carpentry business.

"I just got back into the live (performances) about five years ago. I had kind of dropped out of it," he said. An acquaintance from his years at Jamie's invited him to play with a band. He did, but it didn't take long before he assembled his own group.

"We all get along. I love playing with these guys," said Hudson, whose day job entails snow removal, mowing and other grounds maintenance at Schoolcraft College. She looks forward to their appearance at Livonia Spree because it will introduce the band to "a whole new group of people."

"I'm super excited," she said.

You don't have to wait for Livonia Spree to see Power Play. Catch their act at 9 p.m. Saturday, April 20, at Bayside Sports Grill, 142 E. Walled Lake Drive, in Walled Lake. They also will perform at 9 p.m. Saturday, May 18, at T.C. Gators 42775 Ford Road, Canton.

Concert raises funds to feed the hungry

Tom Birchler of Livonia will take the stage at Marian High School in Bloomfield Hills, along with his brothers, Dave, Keith, Jim and John, for the family's "Jammin' to End Famine" concert on April 26.

The concert was inspired by the brothers' father, Don Birchler, who reached out to help others when needed. Proceeds from the concert will pay for food that will be packaged by volunteers at a Kids Against Hunger event in June at Marian.

"All of the Birchlers had our first experiences performing on this very stage back in our high school days," Tom Birchler wrote in a press release. "I remember winning the Marian/Rice talent show there and getting seriously bitten by the performing bug."

The sixth annual concert will start with a pre-concert reception and sweet table in the school auditorium lobby from 7-8 p.m. Music will start at 8 p.m. Marian High School is located at 7225 Lahser.

Performers will include The Paisley Fogg, a 1960s-style rock band, featuring David, Keith and Tom Birchler; The Grunyons, a jazz a Cappella group with John Birchler; and Moose Wampler & the Overdays, a 1950s party rock group, featuring Jim Birchler.

Tickets are $25 for adults and $10 for students. They are available at the door or in advance by e-mailing Tom Birchler at tbirchler@mi.rr.com or by calling (248) 722-1830.

Kids Against Hunger works with churches and local nonprofits to package its specially formulated soy caserole for delivery in the US and 40 other countries to feed starving children and their families. Since 2004, volunteers have packaged more than 10 million meals in Michigan. They've been distributed to disaster victims, starving people worldwide and to food shelters in the Great Lakes states. Since 2008, Jammin' to End Famine has raised funds for more than 75,000 of those meals.

The Stray Birds will perform April 12 at Trinity Theatre in Livonia.

Smashed Potato Bar

Yield: 4 servings

2 pounds potatoes, washed and quartered
½ cup milk, warmed
2 tablespoons unsalted butter
½ cup plain yogurt or light sour cream
Sea salt and fresh ground pepper to taste

Place potatoes into a soup pot and add water until they are completely covered. Lightly salt water and place over medium high heat. Cook potatoes for 15 to 25 minutes until they are soft, but not falling apart. Carefully drain the water and return them to the pot they were cooked in.

Kids can: Use a potato masher to achieve desired texture, being careful not to work the potatoes too much. They also can add milk, butter and yogurt to mashed potatoes. Stir ingredients to combine. Taste mashed potatoes and season them with salt and pepper. Add any extra flavorings or toppings and serve warm.

Chef Justin's tips: Use a combination of purple, yellow and red potatoes to make multi-colored mashed potatoes. Leave the skin on the potatoes for extra nutrients. Don't over-mash the potatoes; overworking can cause them to become gummy.

Potato Bar toppings:

- Low fat yogurt or low fat sour cream
- Chives/scallions
- Cheese
- Bacon bits
- Fresh herbs
- Sun-dried tomatoes
- Lemon

Potato and Green Bean Salad

Yield: 10 servings

½ pound green beans, washed, ends trimmed and cut into thirds
2 pounds potatoes, washed, peeled and diced large
½ cup low-fat mayonnaise
2 lemons, juiced
¼ cup olive oil
3 bell peppers, seeded and diced small
1 cup fresh parsley, chopped fine
1 red onion, diced small
Sea salt and fresh ground pepper to taste

Kids can: Snap the ends off the beans and break them into thirds.

Fill medium-sized mixing bowl halfway with ice and water; set aside.

Fill large-sized stock pot ¾ full with lightly salted water. Bring to rolling boil over medium-high heat. Add green beans to boiling water and let cook for 2 to 3 minutes. Using a hand strainer, remove green beans from boiling water and place into the ice water to stop them from cooking. After the green beans have cooled down, remove them from the ice water and set aside.

Carefully add cut potatoes to same boiling water greens beans were cooked in. Cook potatoes in boiling water for around 15 minutes, depending on size. Once tender, drain and rinse with cold water.

Kids can: In large mixing bowl, combine mayonnaise, lemon juice and olive oil. Stir the mayonnaise mixture to combine. Add all of the rest of the ingredients to the bowl and lightly stir to combine all flavors. Taste and adjust seasoning with salt and pepper. Keep potato salad cold in the refrigerator and stir before serving on favorite greens.

Mashed Potato Bar

Pass the potatoes, please

Chef Justin Timineri

French fries are one of a kid's favorite things to eat. But there's a whole lot more that can be made from delicious, nutritious potatoes.

"There are so many different kinds of potatoes that can be flavored in just about any way you like," said Chef Justin Timineri, executive chef and culinary ambassador, Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services. "Get the kids into the kitchen with you and experiment with making potato dishes the whole family will enjoy."

Potatoes are a good source of potassium (for your muscles and growth), vitamin B6 (to help fight illness and help your nerves function), and fiber (for digestion). Most of the nutrients are right under the skin — leave the skin on whenever possible.

You can find more recipes that will have the kids saying, "Pass the potatoes, please!" at <http://bit.ly/flpotato>.

Potato and Green Bean Salad

Homemade Potato Chips

Roasted Campfire Pockets

Yield: 4 servings

20 fingerling potatoes, sliced thin
1 large onion, sliced
2 bell peppers, sliced
2 cups mushrooms, sliced
2 tablespoons fresh herbs, chopped fine (basil, oregano, thyme, rosemary)
2 tablespoons olive oil
Sea salt and fresh ground pepper to taste
4 skinless, boneless chicken breasts

Preheat an outdoor grill for medium-high heat, or an oven at 375°F. In medium sized mixing bowl combine potatoes, onion, bell peppers, mushrooms, herbs and olive oil. Stir ingredients to combine and season lightly with salt and pepper.

Make 4 12-by-12-inch squares of aluminum foil and lay them out to be stuffed. Place a chicken breast in the middle of each foil square, and lightly season with salt and pepper. Evenly distribute vegetable mixture on top of each chicken breast. Fold each packet so that a tight seal is formed and all the food is contained.

Grill packets, or bake them in the oven, for 20 to 30 minutes until internal temperature of chicken reaches 165°F. Remove packets from heat and let cool slightly. Open packets carefully as hot steam may rush out.

Kids Can: Help slice veggies and stuff their pockets with their favorites.

Homemade Potato Chips

Yield: 4 servings

4 medium fingerling potatoes, unpeeled (mixed colors)
1 tablespoon olive oil
Pan release spray
Sea salt and fresh ground pepper to taste
Additional seasonings (see below)
Special equipment needed: French mandolin

Preheat oven to 425°F.

Rinse and dry potatoes. Slice potatoes as thin as possible with a mandolin.

Place sliced potatoes in medium sized mixing bowl and rinse several times with warm water. Lightly squeeze and dry potatoes.

Kids can: Place sliced potatoes back in a dry mixing bowl and add olive oil. Toss potatoes to make sure they are evenly coated with the oil, using a little more oil if needed.

Lightly spray a cookie sheet with pan release spray. Lay sliced potatoes in a single layer on cookie sheet. Place cookie sheet in oven and bake for 15 to 20 minutes or until golden brown and crispy.

Remove cookie sheet from oven and let cool slightly. Use a thin spatula to remove potato chips from cookie sheet into a mixing bowl.

Kids can: While they are still warm, season chips with their choice of seasoning, a favorite dried spice mix such as Greek, Cajun or barbecue.

In-law suites, storage space among abode buyers' top picks

Purchasing a home is an important life decision, and many factors can influence the home choice buyers make.

The National Association of Realtors 2013 Profile of Buyers' Home Feature Preferences examines the features buyers prefer when it comes to purchasing a home, as well as the differences in preferences when it comes to factors such as region, demographics and household composition. The survey captures buyers who purchased a home between 2010 and 2012.

"Deciding where to live comes with a lot of options, but buyers quickly realize that some features are more important than others when it comes to choosing the right house for them," said NAR President Gary Thomas, broker-owner of Evergreen Realty, in Villa Park, Calif. "Buyers need to have a clear idea of what features are important to them and know where they are willing to compromise; in this respect, Realtors can bring buyers home. Realtors visit hundreds of homes with buyers each year, and have a unique understanding of what buyers value in their local markets."

Geography and demography strongly influence what buyers value in a home. The typical recently purchased home was 1,860 square feet and was built in 1996. Repeat buyers, buyers of new homes, married couples and families with children typically purchased larger homes. First-time buyers and single women tended to buy older homes. The typical buyer purchased a home with three bedrooms and two full bathrooms. Slightly over half of the homes purchased were on a single level.

Southerners tend to buy newer homes; they were more likely to want a home less than five years old and in a wooded lot with trees when compared to other regions. Not surprisingly, buyers in the South also placed a higher importance on central air conditioning.

While more than three-fourths — 78 percent — of all buyers purchased a home with a garage, garages were more popular among new-home buyers, Mid-westerners, and suburbanites. Forty-one percent of homes purchased had a basement, but this feature was more popular among buyers in the Midwest and Northeast. Northeastern buyers also value hardwood floors more than people in other regions. Southerners typically bought the largest home at 2,000 square feet. Those in the Northeast followed closely behind with a typical home purchase of 1,850 square feet.

Among buyers 55 and older, 42 percent considered finding a single-level home very important, compared to just 11 percent of buyers under age 35. Single women also placed higher importance on single-level homes, while single men wanted finished basements. Both single men and married couples placed higher importance on new kitchen appliances.

Among all 33 home features in the survey, central air conditioning was the most important to the most buyers; 65 percent of buyers considered this feature very important. The next most important feature was a walk-in closet in the master bedroom; 39 percent of buyers considered this feature very important. Closely behind was having a home that was cable, satellite TV-, and/or Internet ready, as well as an en-suite master bathroom.

When it came to actually buying a home, among buyers who considered central AC and cable, satellite TV-, and/or Internet ready very or somewhat important, 94 percent bought a home with these features. The next most common feature was an eat-in kitchen; 89 percent of buyers who thought this was important purchased a home with an eat-in kitchen.

Buyers value some features so much that they are willing to spend more money to have them. Sixty-nine percent of buyers who did not purchase a home with central AC would be willing to pay $2,520 more for a home with this feature. Sixty-nine percent of buyers who did not purchase a home with new kitchen appliances would be willing to pay $1,840 more for a home with this feature. A walk-in closet in the master bedroom was the third most common feature on

Co-op has legal status

By Robert Meisner
Guest Columnist

Q: Does the co-op have a right to decide who is buying the cooperative shares unlike a condominium?

A: So long as the co-op is not violating any laws such as human rights violations, they have the right to determine who will be shareholders with them. Remember that Barbra Streisand and Richard Nixon were denied co-op membership in New York because the co-op was concerned about the paparazzi that would be hanging around trying to take pictures. Of course, the co-op board must exercise sound business judgment and must weigh the fact that the shareholder that is trying to sell will be upset if they nix the sale. On the other hand, the co-op might have a right of first refusal as well.

Q: I am wondering if we, as a homeowner, have an obligation to disclose that there was a murder/suicide in the home which we have purchased, assuming we want to sell it. I know that it is of concern to some prospective purchasers. What do you think?

A: While each case has to be decided on its facts, and depending upon the individual state's law, in a recent case out of the Pennsylvania Superior Court, the court basically said that the fact that a murder once occurred in a house falls into the category of homeowner-buyer concerns best left to the term caveat emptor, i.e., let the buyer beware. The decision went beyond considering whether a combined murder/suicide should be disclosed, essentially holding no psychological defects need to be disclosed because they are not considered under state law. It has also been argued that this court's opinion could apply to such diverse circumstances as a past rape on the property, a sex offender living next door, or even a high crime rate in the neighborhood. In any event, caution being the better part of valor, you may want to consider discussing it with your lawyer before issuing a disclosure statement.

which buyers would spend more. Sixty percent of buyers who did not purchase a home with a walk-in closet would be willing to pay $1,350 more for a home with this feature.

The features on which buyers placed the highest dollar value were waterfront properties and homes that were less than five years old. Thirty-two percent of buyers would be willing to pay a median of $5,420 more for a home on the waterfront, and 40 percent of buyers would be willing to pay a median of $5,020 more for a home that was less than five years old.

The rooms that buyers were willing to pay the most for were a basement and an in-law suite. Thirty-three percent of buyers would be willing to pay a median of $3,200 more for a home with a basement, and 20 percent of buyers would be willing to pay a median of $2,920 more for a home with an in-law suite.

When it came to rooms that buyers want in a home, 55 percent of buyers thought it was very important to have a living room, although buyers in the Northeast placed more importance on a home with a dining room. Buyers aged 55 and older placed more importance on a bedroom on the main level of the house. Buyers aged 35 to 54 placed more importance on a laundry room, while those with children placed more importance on a family room.

The two most common rooms buyers were willing to spend more for were a laundry room and a den/study/home office/library. Sixty-three percent of buyers who did not purchase a home with a laundry room would be willing to pay $1,590 more for a home with this room. Forty-four percent of buyers who did not purchase a home with a den/study/home office/library would be willing to pay $1,920 more for a home with this room.

Although 97 percent of recent buyers were satisfied with their home purchase, there are always features buyers would like that they don't have, said NAR Vice President of Research Paul Bishop. "Most satisfied homeowners still said they would like more or larger closets and storage space. In addition, nearly half of recent buyers would prefer a larger kitchen, and two out of five would prefer a larger home overall."

Within three months of a home purchase, 53 percent of buyers undertook a home improvement project. The typical buyer spent $4,550 on various projects. Remodeling the kitchen was the most common home improvement project; 47 percent of buyers undertook a project in the kitchen. Bathrooms were a close second at 44 percent. Forty-one percent of buyers who made home improvements added or replaced lighting, and 37 percent added or replaced appliances soon after becoming a homeowner.

In October 2012, a sample of households that had purchased any type of residence real estate during 2010 to 2012 and still owned the property was surveyed. The survey sample was drawn from a representative panel of U.S. households monitored and maintained by an established survey research firm. A total of 2,005 qualified households responded to the survey. Households were sampled to meet age and income quotas representative of all home buyers drawn from the 2011 NAR Profile of Home Buyers and Sellers.

The 2013 Profile of Buyers' Home Feature Preferences can be ordered by calling (800) 874-6500, or online at www.realtor.org/producers/nar/research. The study costs $14.95 for NAR members and $49.95 for nonmembers.

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
