Wayne holds budget kick-off meeting

By LeAnne Rogers Staff Writer

Financially strapped Wayne will host a Budget Kick-Off meeting Saturday, April 11, at the Wayne Public Library.

The city's auditors, Plante Moran will present an overview of the current budget followed a public questionand-answer period. Plante Moran is also providing additional finance services to the city, which has been without a finance director since last summer.

Based on data provided at previous meetings, the city has a shortfall of more than $650,000 in the current budget year. A $2 million deficit is projected for the upcoming 2015-16 fiscal year.

On the May 5 ballot, Wayne voters are being asked to approve establishing a P.A. 345 retirement plan for police and firefighters along with 3 mills to be levied for five years. That would generate just over $1 million per year. A similar proposal was rejected by voters in 2013. After seeing huge property value decreases during the recession, Wayne property values have begun to stabilize and increase slightly.

"We are starting to make progress and turn it around. We don't want to fall behind on the pensions," said Councilman Albert Damitio, who has been tasked to work on the city's budget and finances.

The pensions are currently 70 percent funded and the millage would cover the necessary payment without taking the $1 million from the general fund. That would address half the projected def-

When Dawn Lafferty started Angels Above Baby Gowns in May 2014, the goal was to make 200 infant burial gowns by the end of the year.

With the first anniversary fast approaching, her Angel Above volunteers have blown past that goal, making more than 4,000 gowns. Of that number about 3,500 have been distributed to 28 hospitals in Michigan, three outof-state hospitals and a military base hospital in Geor-

Wayne Police to hold community meetings

By LeAnne Rogers Staff Writer

Wayne residents and business owners will have a chance to talk with police and discuss their concerns at monthly meetings beginning Thursday, April 30.

"This is something I've been wanting to do since I became chief," Wayne Police Chief Alan Maciag said. "It's always important to have good relations with the community. This is a good community building

The meetings will be held at 7 p.m. on the last Thursday of the month in the Wayne Activities and Banquet Center on Sims at Wayne Road.

The department will provide an overview of current operations as well as recent crime trends and other information.

"The feedback that we receive from these meetings is tremendously important in helping us to improve upon the work the department does on behalf of our residents and businesses," Maciag said. "We look forward to a high level of participation.'

Everyone is welcome to attend the meeting, but Maciag said he expects to see representatives from crime watch/ neighborhood watch groups established around the city.

"Last summer, there was a big push for neighborhood watch and a meeting in the park," Maciag said. "It's hard for us to get to all their meetings. They can send their captains to get data about what is happening in the community."

Unlike some police departments which have had some high-profile issues recently, Maciag said there hasn't been a problem in Wayne prompting the community meetings.

'This will give people an opportunity to hear what is going on in the community," Maciag said. "We can't be successful without a good relationship with the city."

As kick-off to the community meetings, the Wayne Mc-Donald's Restaurant at Wayne Road and West Michigan Avenue is hosting a coffee with police from 9-11 a.m. Saturday, April 18.

County commissioner LeBlanc to run for city clerk

By LeAnne Rogers Staff Writer

Wayne County Commissioner Richard LeBlanc has filed paperwork to run for Westland

City Clerk. A Westland Democrat, Le-Blanc, 56, is midway through his second two-vear term on the county commission. Before that, he served three terms as a state representative, nine years on the Westland City Council and four years on the Wayne-Westland school board. "I've been elected in town nine terms. I am very appreciative of the electorate. That's something I pride myself on,"

LeBlanc said. LeBlanc is the first candidate to file to run for city clerk, which has a four-year term. It's a full-time job with a $91,000 salary.

Íncumbent Clerk Eileen DeHart Schoof, 66, will be not be seeking reelection and will retire at the end of the year.

Elected in 2003, Schoof took office as Westland's first elected city clerk in 2004. Before being elected clerk, Schoof had served in the state legislature and on the Westland City Coun-

LeBlanc

Schoof has endorsed Le-Blanc in his bid to replace her as city clerk.

"I have worked closely with Richard for nearly two decades and believe he will make an excellent Westland city clerk," Schoof said. "Longstanding public service is something we share, and I am confident I will be leaving the office to a person with unquestionable professional conduct. I plan to do all I can to assist in his election."

New trial date set in HalloWayne case

By LeAnne Rogers Staff Writer

A new trial has been scheduled for a Wayne man charged with identity theft related to the HalloWayne event.

There had been a mistrial declared in February after the jury deadlocked on the charge against Christopher Sanders, 46. Sanders is charged with a single count of identity theft. Five other charges, including larceny by conversion, embezzlement as an agent or trustee and embezzlement from a nonprofit charitable organization, had been dismissed at the

The new trial date is June 22 once again before Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Alexis Glendening.

Sanders operates the nonprofit Destination Wayne, which sponsored HalloWayne. The charges that were filed against Sanders centered on a $1,000 check that was deposited into his personal bank account. A complaint had been filed by an entrant into the 2013 HalloWayne pumpkin carving contest, which offered a $1,000 prize that was never awarded.

The check was written to Mike Spence, who had testified he was offered the money by Sanders if he claimed to be the winner of the 2013 Hallo-Wayne pumpkin carving contest sponsored by Destination Wayne and the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. Spence testified he never entered the pumpkin carving contest and didn't claim to have won.

Sanders deposited the check, payable to Spence, into his personal bank account. Having entered a not guilty plea at his arraignment, Sanders remains free on bond.

Complainant: Livonia Public Schools election violation 'no small matter'

Staff Writer

Loyd Romick, the Livonia resident who alleges the Livonia Public Schools district and its teachers union violated the Michigan Campaign Finance Act last fall by sending campaign-related messages to LPS email addresses, says it is no small matter even if it was accidental as the district and union Romick this week filed rebuttal statements to responses submitted by the district and teachers union with the state Bureau of Elections.

Those responses, dated March 17 and March 23, said the allegations should be dismissed in the district's case and result in no more than a warning letter for the union because use of the LPS email list and server by a union representative was inadvertent.

"I'll leave it up to you to decide the nature of the punishment. However, this is in no way a small matter," Romick wrote in an email to Lori A. Bourbonais of the Bureau of Elections.

Romick said the district did nothing to restore parity after the damage was done.

LPS Superintendent Randy Liepa could not be reached for comment Tuesday.

Dated Oct. 14, 2014, the email sent by the Livonia Education Association and the Michigan Education Association to LPS addresses recommended four of the eight candidates running: Mark Johnson, Colleen Burton, Liz Jarvis and Dan Centers. Only Centers ran unopposed. All four were elected; those who were opposed won by more than 2,200 votes each. The email also stated the MEA office had signs and literature

"if you want to stop by."

In Michigan, it is a misdemeanor for a public body, or an individual acting on its behalf, to use or authorize the use of computer hardware or software or other public resources to make a campaign contribution or expenditure. A knowing violation is a felony, punishable by a fine of up to

A letter from Goodman Acker, the law firm representing the teachers union, says an employee of the Michigan Education Association/ Livonia Education Association mistakenly sent the communication using the wrong email list and the MEA/LEA will reimburse the district $21.02 for the use of the list, the same amount it charged for the list in response to a recent FOIA request.

The letter says the complaint is "virtually identical" to one investigated by the state attorney general after a county clerk inadvertently used the county computer system to send a fundraising email on behalf of Secretary of State Ruth Johnson to a statewide list. The investigation determined the cost of the use of the email system was too minor to merit consideration and should result in no more than a warning

As in that case, the use of the LPS email list and server was inadvertent and should result in no more than a warning letter, the letter from Goodman Acker states.

A letter from Keller Thoma, the law firm representing LPS, states the email was not drafted nor sent by the district nor a person acting for the district, but rather a secretarial employee of the MEA, Pat Gearns, who mistakenly used the district's email system. "Representatives of the MEA immediately acknowledged and apologized for this error," the letter states.

Gearns is an MEA employee and does not act for nor on behalf of the district, the letter states: "To suggest that the school district is somehow responsible for the content of the email in this case is akin to contending that any employer is responsible for the content of every email (spam or otherwise) that is delivered to its employees through its email system.'

Romick said in his rebuttals that, accident or no accident, the damage was done and the district "could have provided the same list to the other candidates to restore parity. They chose not to.' He said at the time the email went out, the district had made it a policy to refuse to provide the district email addresses of any and all employees, even under FOIA.

"Can we not expect that our government will not only avoid breaking the law, but will also make amends without private citizens having to sue them into doing what is right?" he asked in the rebuttals.

Bourbonais said in the letter informing the district and union of the complaints that the bureau is neither making the allegations nor accepting them as true, but will investigate to determine whether there is reason to believe violations occurred.

If it determines that they have, the department's enforcement powers include referring the matter to the state attorney general for enforcement of the criminal penalty.

Fire in vacant Norwayne home under investigation

By LeAnne Rogers Staff Writer

The cause of a fire that destroyed a home on Calhoun Court on April 3 — the second fire at the location in a year is under investigation.

Wayne-Westland firefighters responded to a fire at the home at 31903 Calhoun Court about 1:30 p.m.

'The house was destroyed. It's a total loss inside. We've had trouble contacting the owner for permission to get

Meet muralist depicting city's Polish American history

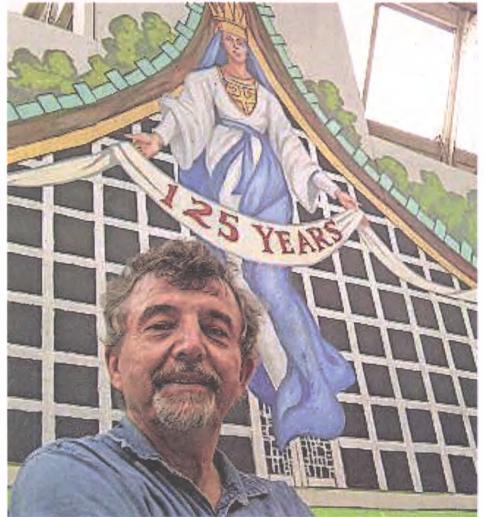

The West Side Detroit Polish American Historical Society will hold a "Meet the Muralist" reception from 12:30-4 p.m. Sunday, May 3, in its headquarters at St. Colette Catholic Church, 17600 Newburgh Road, Livonia.

In early February, the society commissioned mural artist Dennis Orlowski, a Detroit native and Wayne State University graduate, to create a mural in the Society's Heritage Room depicting scenes from life in Detroit's historic west side Polonia neighborhoods and including more than 20 faces of individuals who lived in those neighborhoods.

Those individuals or their family members have paid a stipend to have their images memorialized in the mural. It depicts historic sites, including Polish churches, from the neighborhoods in the society's official territory. It also incorporates Wyandotte's Polonia.

The mural is being painted on a special material that is attached to the wall in panels, which can later be removed if necessary in the event the Society relocates its headquarters in the future. The mural is intended to be a lasting work of art.

Central themes of the mural are a Corpus Christi procession and a May procession. The Polish heritage traditionally has deep ties to the Catholic Church. May is the month in the Catholic Church devoted to honoring the Virgin Mary as "the Queen of May," with special Marian devotions (Mojowka) that take place inside and outside the church. A May Crowning is a traditional Roman Catholic ritual that occurs during the

Fausone honored by Women's History Project

General Carol Ann Fausone of Canton was honored at last week's '2015 Inside Career Success Women's History Month Awards.' Fausone, who serves as a trustee of Madonna University in Livonia, joined the group of 30 honorees, which in-cluded other notable Michigan women such as Denise Ilitch, Florine Mark and Asia Newson.

The event, hosted by Linwick & Associates, commemorated the 35th anniversary of the Women's History Movement and National Women's History Project, in addition to celebrating the honorees and their career success. This year marked the first time the awards were given out, and the 30 women who received an award will be memorialized at the Michigan Women's Historical Museum and Walk of Fame, and the Detroit Historical Soci-

Speaking of her career in the U.S. Air Force and then becoming the Michigan Na-tional Guard's first female Brigadier General, Fausone said, "Life success is a journey. That journey is marked not by awards and promotions — but by relationships.

Fausone started her own small business, The Veteran Advocate, LLC, after retiring from the military. Fausone also works with her husband, Jim Fausone at Legal Help For Veterans, PLLC, in Northville. Together, the two companies, provide legal and consulting aid to veterans and their families.

"I am very grateful to have been included in a field of such strong women who are truly pioneers in their respective fields," said Fausone on receiving the award. "These are women who are role models for everyone."

3,000 expected May 2 for Breakthrough for Brain Tumors Race

By Cal Stone

More than 1,900 people participated in last year's run/walk to raise funds in the battle against brain tumors.

Organizer Larry Berg of Novi expects upward of 3,000 people at the May 2 event, which has grown so much that it's been moved from Novi's Providence Park Hospital to Kensington Metropark in Milford.

"It's much larger again this year," Berg said, "and we're pretty excited about our growth path.'

The first Breakthrough for Brain Tumors Race was held in Ypsilanti in 2013 and brought in around $150,000.

"Last year, we raised just shy of a quarter million dollars," Berg said. "This race has been very successful. People weren't aware of brain tumors. It's about building awareness.' Berg said it's the largest, and perhaps only, race of its kind based in Michigan. It pulls participants from all over the state, as well as out of

"We're excited about opportunities to engage communities and to grow as large as we have," he said.

Berg wants to build awareness for the Chicago-based American Brain Tumor Association and what it can do for patients and caregivers.

"It's a great organization," he said. "They do scholarships, clinical trials, educational research for professionals. ... It's a really well-run organization that I'm proud to be affiliated

Berg said there are 120 different types of brain tumors and every day 500 people are diagnosed with one. About 700,000 U.S. citizens are currently on the path to recovery.

"I got involved personally in 2011," Berg said. "My daughter, who is now a senior in (Novi) high school, had a tumor. We talked a lot about this and we said want to do something different and help people out.'

Berg and his wife Lynn said daughter Kaitlyn is doing much better now and is tumor-free.

"She's exactly where she should be and that's a good spot, considering what we've been through," he said

League of Women Voters discusses Proposal 1

By David Veselenak Staff Writer

Sitting in the Livonia Civic Center Library auditorium, Peggy Gray and Julie Lewis compared notes following a forum on the May 5 roads proposal.

Held Monday night by the League of Women Voters of Northwest Wayne County, the forum detailed how the proposal would change the way taxes are assessed in the state. The forum, Gray said, helped her understand the issue better.

"I was only going by what people were saying," said Gray, a Livonia resident.

The women were two of several dozen who attended the event to gain a better perspective on the statewide ballot proposal. While complicated, the proposal will essentially: remove sales tax from fuel and replace the current excise tax with a wholesale tax based on the price of gas; and increase the sales tax maximum from 6 percent to 7 percent, an increase that would replenish and supplement funding for schools and local governments taken away by removing the sales tax from fuel. Vehicle registration fees would also not see any depreciation as they currently do today. Registration fees on trucks would also increase, and a surtax would be applied to electric and hybrid vehicles.

The proposal is reportedly expected to increase funding for roads to more than $1.2 billion beginning in fiscal year 2017-2018.

Eva Packard, voter service director for the state League of Women Voters, gave the presentation, detailing how the proposal came into existence, what it would do to the price of fuel, and arguments given by those for and against the proposal. While the League of Women Voters does not endorse candidates, it can endorse proposals and issues.

Residents learn about the roads proposal.

However, the state League has taken no position on the May 5 ballot proposal.

Packard went over the effect on the price of gas at two retail prices, $2.40 a gallon and $3.83 a gallon. With the way the proposal is worded and tie-barred to other laws, the price of gas would increase to $2.50 and $3.85, respectively, if federal taxes and other fees are included in the retail price.

"The estimate is that this change would bring in about $1.3 billion for fiscal year 2017-2018," she said.

The proposal would also provide funding for some mass transit and a restoration of the Earned Income Tax Credit back to 20 percent. It is currently at 6 percent after being reduced in 2011.

Another aspect that would change is how vehicle registration fees are handled. Currently, a new car's fee decreases 10 percent each year for three years before it stops dropping.

"When you buy a new car, it is based on the list price of that new car," she said. "If you have a car that's 10 years old, you've been paying the same fee for the last seven years."

But under the new proposal, that three-year depreciation would not take effect starting next year, and the registration fees would remain the same throughout the duration of owning the vehicle.

"If you buy a car after that date, the initial registration fee will be what it is today," she said. "But the next year, it will not go down."

Lewis, a Livonia resident, said she came into the event not knowing how she would vote. She said having all the information provided makes her choice easier than what it was before.

"I think I am sure now," she said. "You have to get all the facts first." Polls for the vote are open across Michigan

Westland, GC youth perform in MOTCC production

Youth from Westland and Garden City will perform in the Michigan Opera Theatre Children's Chorus production of The Very Last Green Thing at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, April 25, at the Detroit Opera House.

Appearing in the show will be Gale Shrewsbury of Westland and Trinity Vallejo of Garden City.

Joining the stage, in a pre-opera presentation, will be the Michigan Science Center with its presentation entitled Go Green! This interactive demonstration will showcase watersaving measures, a composting recipe, ways to recycle various materials, how landfills work and more.

Prior to the performances, children and their families are invited to enjoy Earth
Day-related activities in the lobby of the Detroit
Opera House starting at 1:30 p.m. Educators from the Michigan Science Center will be teaching participants ways to "green up" their world.

The Very Last Green Thing is a children's opera composed by nationally recognized composer Cary John Franklin with libretto by Michael Patrick Albano. Kelsey Ross will be directing and

Gale Shrewsbury

Trinity Vallejo

Dianna Hochella will be conducting.

This family-friendly performance provides a glimpse of a classroom setting in the year 2492. Our "future" students are raised by an android and the planet has become environmentally challenged. A group of children are taken on a rare field trip outside where everyone has to wear protective goggles and masks to deal with the degraded conditions.

A shy and obedient member discovers something extremely unusual for the year 2492. It's a small, withered plant — the very last green thing on earth. Soon, all of the classmates confront the truth of their environmental past and the importance of preserving the world around us for generations to come. "This production is a timeless environmental message of hope," MOTCC director Suzanne Mallare Acton said. "The Very Last Green Thing reinforces that together we can all make an environmental difference both in our present and future."

Tickets range from $15 to $50 and can be purchased at the Detroit Opera House box office at 1526 Broadway, Detroit, by calling 313-237-SING, or online at www.MichiganOpera.org.

The MOTCC is a permanent ensemble of Michigan Opera Theatre, and appears with the company in main stage productions as well as its own performances. Children come from all around the Metro Detroit area to make up the 80-person ensemble. For more information, visit www.motcc.org.

Declutter your wallet with Stratos Card allets in America have reached a tipping point. Amidst countless loyalty cards, credit cards and debit cards, the clutter can be overwhelming. One Ann Arbor startup named Stratos has set out to give your wallet a vacation and help organize and simplify any card you carry.

The company's flagship product, the Stratos Card, looks similar to a credit card, but is digitally-enabled to store all of your cards including membership cards and gift cards. Stratos works anywhere you can use a card with a magnetic stripe — like your local ATM, gas station or store.

Owners can easily load their card data by plugging in the provided Stratos Reader into their phone's headphone jack. Once a card is swiped through the reader, the information will be stored into the Stratos App.

While it may sound dangerous to have all card information stored in a single location, Stratos Card has built-in security that makes it safer than current credit card use. For example, Stratos Card uses bank level encryption, so when you swipe your card at a gas pump (a common location for card skimmers), your actual card number and data isn't delivered to a third party.

Users can also change their preferences to lock their card from use if the card is misplaced or stolen. By configuring the app, card owners can automatically lock their Stratos Card from being used if it hasn't synced with the Stratos App for a predetermined amount of time.

The Stratos Card routinely syncs with the app to make sure it is within range of your phone and therefore not left on the table at a restaurant or bar.

When it comes time to pay, users can tap their card on their phone. Built in LED lights and touch sensors on the side of the card will activate the app, pulling up the users' favorite three cards such as a main credit card, debit or loyalty card.

You may have heard of similar technologies in the past. One such smartcard, named "Coin" was profiled in this space a few years ago. Unfortunately, Coin still hasn't been produced while Stratos will begin delivering cards to members in April.

Membership is another key differentiator between Stratos and other smart card concepts. For a yearly $95 fee (equal to or less than that of a yearly Amex Membership) users get a Stratos Card, Stratos Reader, customer support and access to new technologies.

Each time Stratos updates its product, a new card will be sent free of charge. If your card has a low-battery, the folks at Stratos will be notified and a free replacement card will be on its way.

Willow Run has $123 million economic impact on metro area

Willow Run Airport generates more than 950 jobs and $123 million in total economic impact throughout Michigan, according to a study released by University of Michigan-Dearborn and Wayne County Airport Authority (WCAA).

The airport also supports Detroit Metropolitan Airport's $10.2 billion economic impact, reported in a 2014 study.

Lee Redding, associate professor of business economics at UM-Dearborn, working with researchers from iLabs, the university's center for innovation research, estimated how Willow Run impacts the economies of Michigan and the southeastern Michigan Air Trade Area by measuring revenues, incomes and jobs.

"The cargo capacity available at Willow Run makes Michigan a more attractive place for business," Redding said. "Willow Run Airport connects Michigan manufacturing companies to the world, making quick deliveries of parts and finished products more viable."

Research findings include:

» Willow Run Airport provides area residents and businesses with access to convenient and efficient cargo shipment, general aviation and other related operations. The facilities, workers and businesses operating at Willow Run are responsible for an economic impact of $123 million annually, adding $40 million to area incomes and supporting 950 jobs in southeastern Michigan.

» Air cargo is a crucial way that production facilities connect to the world; annually 54.4 million pounds of air cargo departs from Willow Run, likely representing over $2 billion in goods. The shipment of this cargo itself creates an economic impact of $44 million, supporting over 300 jobs and incomes of $14 million per year.

» Passenger travel is limited at Willow Run, with 2527 enplanements in 2013. Visitors create an economic impact of $2.1 million, supporting $600,000 in local incomes and 21 jobs.

» General Aviation and Education also contribute $18.7 million and $3.1 million respectively to the overall economic impact of Willow Run.

» Willow Run is actively preparing for its future, working on capital improvement projects aimed at the airport remaining a vital component of the area economy for years to come. These activities have an economic impact of $54 million, with income impacts of $18 million supporting 457 jobs

"It's clear that Willow Run Airport provides substantial economic benefits for our region," airport authority CEO Thomas Naughton said. "Additionally, by capturing a considerable amount of the region's cargo and general aviation air traffic, it helps flights."

Detroit Metropolitan

Airport provide on-time

Occupying 2,600 acres, Willow Run has three runways, including an all-weather instrument landing system (ILS) runway; 24-hour aircraft rescue firefighting facilities; onsite weather bureau service; 24-hour FAA control tower and US Customs service. It is also home to the FAA's Flight Standards District Office and the Yankee Air Museum which hosts the annual Thunder over Michigan Air Show at Willow Run Airport.

OUR VIEWS

Check out Unlimited Possibilities @ Your Library during National Library Week

Within the library community, Benjamin Franklin is probably best known for founding the Library Company of Philadelphia in 1731. It was America's first lending library and can lay claim to being the predecessor of the today's public library.

Next week — April 12-18 — libraries will be the guests of honor for National Library Week. First observed in 1958, National Library Week is sponsored by the American Library Association. It is a time to celebrate the contributions of the nation's libraries and librarians and to promote library use and support.

The theme of this year's National Library Week is the Unlimited Possibilities @ Your Library.

Libraries, like those in Wayne, Westland and Garden City, are the communications heart of a good community. They are a place with something for everyone and also a place that provides something essential to a free society.

Without a public library, only those with means would have access to all the books they need to read. In the earliest days of the republic, it was understood that libraries and the promotion of literacy were keys to developing a working democracy. The idea was, and is, that the more people know, the better citizens they'll be.

A 2012 Pew Internet and American Life study indicated that 58 percent of Americans age 16 and older have a library card, and even more — 69 percent say the library is important to them and their families. In the suburbs, the figures are similar: 69 percent say the library is important and 61 percent have library cards.

Today's libraries are a cultural centerpiece of communities, providing programs that entertain and educate everyone from infants and toddlers to senior citizens. They foster an interest in reading with book clubs for students through adults; offer literacy programs for those who struggle to read; and provide an avenue for budding poets and writers to express

Libraries also are playing a transformative role in their communities. Faced with a staggering job loss during the recent recession, public libraries nationwide offered "a lifeline to people trying to adapt to challenging economic circumstances by providing technology training and online resources for employment, access to government resources, continuing education, retooling for new careers, and starting a small business," according to Maureen Sullivan, president of the American Library Association.

And librarians are in the vanguard on protecting First Amendment rights because they know how vital free information is. They are trained to find information, make sense of the information they find and package that information for maximum value. This is probably the one aspect of the library that doesn't get the promotion it deserves. But it is growing more and more significant for local businesses as they need to understand a shrinking world economy and their place in it. Librarians have that information on their fingertips

For residents who haven't been to the library, next week is an excellent time to stop by. Blow the dust off that library card and check out a book, tape or CD. And while you're there, say a thank you to the library staffers for the services they provide.

For Wayne, Westland and Garden City residents, the library has proven to be a vital resource to the community, one to treasure and preserve, and one to Plan a Pure Michigan vacation this summer

With temperatures warming up, couples and families are starting to make summer travel

This year, consider vacationing in our home state. You will save money on gas and tourist attractions, support the local economy and enjoy the great outdoors amidst some of the most breathtaking scenery in the country.

Michigan has more than 3,200 miles of freshwater coastline — more than any other state more than 11,000 inland lakes and 36,000 miles of rivers and streams. No matter where you go, you are never more than six miles from a lake or stream or more than a few hours from a Great

Michigan also has 102 state parks, 600 campgrounds and 650 public golf courses, where people can appreciate the state's natural beauty.

New this year, Michigan library patrons can get into more than 230 state parks, historic sites, forest campgrounds and recreation areas for

On May 24, the MI Big Green Gym program is being added to the Michigan Activity Pass program, which will continue to offer free admission or other discounts to more than 100 cultural attractions throughout the lower and upper peninsulas.

The Michigan Activity Pass program is and always has been free for library patrons. Some attractions offer free admission, others free offers or discounts in the gift shop. Five passes are available per attraction per library each week. Patrons visit www.michiganactivitypass.info to print out their passes; which are good for seven days.

The expanded Michigan Activity Pass program will include a free, one-day pass to get into the park of your choice.

Also for 2015 are several new attractions, which may or may not participate in the Michigan Activity Pass program. They include The Richard and Helen DeVos Japanese Gardens at the Frederick Meijer Gardens and Sculpture Park and the Discovery of King Tut Exhibit at the Grand Rapids Public Museum, both in Grand Rapids; a $21 million Penguinarium at the Detroit Zoo; the Sea Life Michigan Aquarium at Great Lakes Crossing in Auburn Hills; and Michigan's new statewide trail stretching from Belle Isle Park to Ironwood.

Dedicated leaders

Even though I knew Jim Plakas was having some problems and was at Oakwood Commons, it was still a shock to learn of his

Jim and former Mayor Vince Fordell who also died recently were both instrumental in moving Garden City forward from a small town to a modern, vibrant community.

No citizen problem was ignored by Jim. I recall sitting in his office while he called Congressman (William D.) Ford's office about the noise when airplanes turned directly over Cherry Hill Road. The legislative assistant tried to put Jim off just as a giant airplane was overhead. Jim jumped up, held the phone out the window and shouted, "Can you hear that? That's what the residents of Garden City are hearing day and night."

Jim was a strong supporter of the Garden City Library. The last time I saw him I had gone to his home to ask him to attend a council meeting and speak in favor of some library-related proposal.

The school community knew Jim could always be counted on for support.

Garden City was fortunate to have dedicated leaders like Vince and Jim.

Fees too high

On Friday, April 10, the mayor and city council are sponsoring Senior Appreciation Day. In return for the hundreds, if not thousands, of hours donated the seniors will receive a certificate from the mayor and hand shakes from the City Council, a lunch and a picture opportunity with the mayor.

Other appreciation rewards they receive are the huge reduction in senior social events, and the chance to keep healthy through the use of two work-out rooms filled with donated equip-

Since the city, even with its $4 million dollar reserve, feels it needs additional revenue, they feel the 50-to 80-year-olds can contribute. The charge, according to the council's fee ordinance, is $55 for a year, $31 for six months. The cost had been $50 and $30, but was changed to build up the city's coffers.

Take note: there are two rooms. If you wish to use both, it will cost you $110 and $62 per year. Seniors have said they use only one room because of the unreasonable cost.

How to fix Michigan's roads without raising taxes oters will be asked May 5 to consider a ballot proposal that would seek to fix our roads by increasing our taxes. Voters have been told that there are no viable alternatives. After much investigation, I believe that it is important that voters understand that there are indeed alternatives that merit further consideration.

Over the past four years, I served as vice chair of the Senate Transportation Subcommittee on Appropriations. During this period, I have spent significant time with constituents and other legislators studying the serious problem of the deteriorating condition of roads and bridges in our state. Furthermore, I have examined how Michigan's road investments and road quality compare to other states. As a result of these efforts. I have assembled no less than four viable options that would allow us to fix our roads without raising taxes. The first of these options is to simply ensure that the tax money collected at the pump goes to fixing our roads. One way to accomplish this objective is a blast from the past commonly referred to as the "Bolger Plan." This option had already passed the state House of Representatives last year, but was replaced by the current road plan in the Senate. Among other things, this plan would ensure that 100 percent of the taxes raised at the gas pump would go toward fixing our roads. Another way to accomplish this objective is what I refer to as the "Proos Plan" after legislation offered by Sen. John Proos in previous legislative sessions that restricts the 17 percent of general fund revenue collected at the pump via the sales tax to road construction. This legislation has already been passed previously by the Senate. Either of these approaches would yield an additional $150 million per year starting in the first year.

The second option is to simply prioritize the spending of existing funds. This option features freezing general fund budgets with projected increases except for K-12 education, allocating 100 percent of "one-time" spending to roads, using the Budget Stabilization Fund to "stabilize the budget" and open up several restricted funds to allow usage of their fund balances to offset road maintenance costs. This option would add $669 million to our road budget in the first year.

The third option is to reduce our expenses. These expense reduction opportunities can be broken down into MDOT cost reductions, non-MDOT government cost reductions and the removal of federal regulations that drive the cost of road construction. This option would not only address the quality of our road construction as a means of reducing total life-cycle costs; it would also address the quality of our government operations. This option would yield at least another $53 million to our road budget in the first year.

The last option is simply an "all of the above" option. All told, we have the opportunity to put $869 million toward fixing our roads in year one and apply over $1.4 billion toward maintaining our roads for each subsequent safety issue, I believe that we need to demonstrate that we are committed to fixing roads as quickly as possible. The options outlined above would enable us to put $869 million toward fixing roads in the first year without raising taxes. For comparison purposes, Proposal 1 would only put $434 million toward the roads in year one and that is after increasing the taxes you pay by $1.7 billion. In other words, the sum total of these options improves the safety of our roads more than twice as fast as the ballot proposal - and it does so without any tax in-

As a fellow taxpayer, I believe that these options deserve more consideration than the current dismissive commentary would indicate. I encourage you to take time to explore these four alternatives. There may be some who are opposed to these alternatives simply because they don't believe that there are the votes needed to pass them. As engaged citizens, it is our duty to keep pressing and ask "why?" Why are film credits a higher priority than roads? Why are we putting money away into restricted funds that sustain lower priority programs at the expense of putting more resources toward road construction? Why don't we build roads that last longer? Who should be pinching pennies, families or government?

It is important for us all to realize that there are indeed ways to fix our roads without taking more money out of your wallets. More information on these options is available in the Solution Center at Morningin-Michigan.com.

Grassroots effort promotes faith among leaders

By Philip Allmen Staff Writer

There's a slew of problems in this country, on that most can agree. But identifying those problems, how they started and their solution is open to more debate.

For some west Oakland County residents, it's clear cut. And it's up to grassroots efforts like one they've started to find the ideal solution.

Christian churches are teaming up to kick off a conference series focusing on God and government, and what the proper relationship should be between faith and politics. The problem, organizers said, is the two aren't corresponding with one another right now.

The conference opens this Friday in Highland Township at 59 West.

Pastor Rich LaBelle at Hickory Ridge Community Church said the conference series does not endorse a particular political preference, but what guides elected officials' decisions.

"Politics is an avenue to express morals, or lack there of," he said.

Changing culture

Joe Salvia, a member of Church of the Holy Spirit in Highland and another conference organizer, said fewer and fewer people believe in God, a marked change from how he and many others grew up in a society based on Judeo-

Christian values, he said. That, coupled, with government stifling religious-based discussions, is moving the country to a more secular and totalitarian regime, something that has been taking place since World War II, said J.P. Kraft Jr., another event organizer and member of the Hickory Ridge church. There's no longer talk in the public square," he said. "It's individual values and the state. There's no mediating factor, which has always been the church. You lose that oil between the two forces."

Elected leaders reference a Christian background and values when running for office, Salvia added, but those beliefs aren't seen in action once elected.

'Government is a reflection of its citizens," he said.

Ben Di Ponio has helped get the word out on the upcoming conference series. He agrees the Christian focus has been missing from government. But the state isn't the only one to blame, he said, pointing to religious leaders who no longer use their pulpit to address possibly controversial issues.

The pastors dropped the ball as shepherds," Di Ponio said. "They're afraid to say anything. They're afraid to offend.

Friday's opening conference is a "call to alarm to Christians," Kraft said. "A lot of Christians really don't know how to appropriate the faith ... In a secular world, the message is not getting out."

Share the faith

It's Christians' right and duty, all agreed, to share their faith.

"We want to see Christians wake up," Di Ponio said. "We are the majority in this country, and we're being silenced by a vocal minority.

"You can't separate your vote from your beliefs. And that's happening. It gets worse with each generation."

The church is the moral compass for society, and it's up to the church to call out the state when problems arise. All agree that the church does not have the authority - or desire to govern, but simply to give it the tools needed to govern in the right direction. When the state tries to take over the role of the church, as has been seen in various Marxist regimes, that problems arise.

"The Bible says to obey the state, but the state has a duty to do good," Kraft said.

A grassroots effort. organizers hope to see this conference spur others to start similar programs in other parts of Michigan and across the country.

"We truly believe the church is the way through this," Kraft said.

Opening conference

Scores of churches have joined in to support the God and Country conference series from Milford, Livonia and Dearborn to Traverse City, Grand Rapids and Battle Creek.

Based off Charles Colson's book God and Government, an Insider's View on the Boundaries between Faith and Politics, the conference kicks off at 7:30 p.m. Friday, April 10, at 59 West, 786 Highland Drive in Highland. The conference continues at 9 a.m. Saturday, April 11.

The opening conference "God & Government: How Can the Church Resist the Onslaught of Tyranny in America?" features guest speaker: Ret. Lt. General

Jerry Boykin. Boykin will discuss the continuing Constitutional crisis he sees in the country, as well as what he calls the threats of Marxism and radical

"There is a time to preach and a time to pray, and a time to fight. That time has come," he said. "It is time for believers to fight in the cause of liberty ... Nothing else can save America but the church."

People see there is a problem, but they don't know what to do, LaBelle said. This conference series, he said, is a first

Among the issues addressed this weekend will be how these issues can be addressed at the grassroots level.

No registration is needed for the conference. For more information, call 248-685-3520 or email pastor@myhrcc.com.

Monthly conferences are planned for the region to follow up weekend's events. Organizers plan similar national speakers for the series.

Vasan living an NFL-themed dream

Stevenson grad's draft website draws a large, national audience

But that would have diverted the 22-year-old Livonia Stevenson graduate's attention from the task at hand: evaluating the elite college football players in the country for his flourishing website, nfldraftgeek.com.

"I grew up a Detroit Lions fan, and as all Lions fans know, the NFL draft is their Super Bowl," quipped Vasan, when asked about how his passion for the draft developed. "I've since divorced myself from the Lions, but my interest in the draft has only gotten stronger. There was always something about the draft that drew my attention."

Turning that interest into a job started in the Livonia Career Center, where he learned how to build a website while still a student at Stevenson.

Once the site debuted in 2010, Vasan quickly drew a loyal fan base and financial backing. The combination of the two persuaded him to skip college.

"I had the opportunity to attend college, but I weighed my options and figured out that I learned a lot of the skills I needed to do this at the career center," he said. "I look at it as getting a four-year head start on my career."

With the 2015 NFL Draft just a few weeks away (it runs April 30 through May 2), Vasan is in the middle of his peak season. He scours the Internet for fresh knowledge regarding this year's class of NFL Draft prospects so that he can confidently update his site's threeround mock draft.

Vasan's daily regimen – especially this month – includes radio interviews with sports talk-show hosts across the country, who realize that many of their listeners' appetite for the NFL Draft is as deep as Vasan's.

PREP SOFTBALL PREVIEW

Junior shortstop Kaylen Glenfield returns to Garden City's line-up to give the Cougars a powerful bat in the heart of their order.

HIGH HOPES

PERENNIAL POWER GARDEN CITY LOOKS TO OVERCOME OFF-SEASON OBSTACLES

By Ed Wright Staff Writer

It would surprise no one if Garden City's softball team returned to the quarterfinal round of the Division 1 playoffs again this spring, just like it has done almost every year for the past decade.

In fact, it would probably astonish most local fans of high school softball if the Cougars didn't advance to the elite eight.

However, due to a string of off-season hurdles that have unexpectedly sprung up, it's going to be a bit more challenging for head coach Barry Patterson's contingent to still be swinging in June.

In addition to several key losses to graduation – most notably, the absence of No. 1 pitcher and lead-off hitter Rachel Bommarito, and all-state second baseman Katlyn McIntosh – the Cougars will be forced to compete for the bulk of the season without four-year varsity standout Abby Joseph, who is recovering from a knee injury she suffered during basketball season.

Along with serving as Garden City's potent clean-up hitter, Joseph was scheduled to succeed Bommarito in the circle, so her void will be doubly difficult to fill.

Compounding the Cougars' tough off-season was junior left-fielder Abby Lynn's decision to devote all of her athletic attention to volleyball, a sport that she thrives in along with softball.

ED WRIGHT Senior first baseman Kelsie Powell excels in the field and at the plate for Garden City's softball team.

"We're really a work in progress right now, and we probably will be at least through the early part of the season," said Patterson. "Obviously, losing our No. 1 pitcher, we'll be less-experienced on the mound, especially with Abby expected to be our No. 1 coming in this year

BOYS TRACK & FIELD PREVIEW

Chargers fueled by strong nucleus

By Ed Wright Staff Writer

It's too early (and cold) to predict how successful this season's Livonia Churchill boys track-and-field team can be, but judging by the depth of the Chargers' returning talent, its potential is sky-high.

"Pride in our program continues to run deep,' said head coach Rick Austin, who is marking his 20th year as the Chargers' mentor. "The weather has kept us indoors training, so it's difficult to know how talented we will be this season. I know the athletes in our program are working hard and improving, which is awesome considering the weather circumstances."

Churchill placed second in the KLAA South Division in 2014 with a 4-1 dual-meet record. The Chargers were consistently among the top finishers in big events, taking fourth in the Kensington Conference Meet and fourth in the MHSAA Region 4 compe-

The Chargers' solid crew of field-events athletes - who are coached by Jordan Mc-Clellan (pole vault), John Filiatraut and Dave Simpson (throwers) should be able to build strong foundations in dual meets. Churchill's trio of experienced vaulters - Ethan Burke, Caleb Guthard and Kyle Reppenhagen - are primed to be point machines, while Demarco McKinney will spearhead a corps of young throwers, including Austin Simpson, Ben Dietrich and Michael Grabda.

Churchill's distance fortunes are in good hands thanks to the return of Matt Cohan and Jonathan Allesandrini. the arrival of emerging newcomers Dash Dobar, Frank LaFave and Brendan Meakin, and the coaching of John McGreevy.

Senior Paul Romain will be in fast company in the sprint events as he forges with teammates Jamal Allen, Shakur Lockett, Carrington Smith and Lee Yetts to make the Chargers formidable in every meet they're in.

Last but not least, Churchill's experienced hurdling crew includes Ryan Bragiel, Tim Dulin, Joel Sankey, Josh Gyr mek and Taji Chappel.

pitcher Corrina

Rotondo (2-4) scattered eight hits, walked two and struck out four in eight innings, while Crampton gave up five earned runs on 13 hits, a pair of walks and eight strikeouts.

MU sophomore shortstop Nicole Salloum (Livonia Churchill) drove in four of MU's five runs. while teammate Emma Cook went 2-for-4 with an RBI. Morgan Kaiser and Mikey Kish each contributed two hits.

In game two, sophomore right-hander Erin Combs allowed just one run on seven hits over seven innings to run her season record to 11-4. She struck out four and did not allow a walk.

Losing pitcher Chevenne Brierley (3-4) gave up nine hits, walked one and struck out five.

Bri Giordano went 3-for-3, while Cook knocked in both MU runs. Kaiser also added two hits and scored both runs, while Kayla Rebain (Plymouth) also added two hits as MU improved to 21-8-1 overall and 5-1 in the WHAC

Concordia fell to 5-9 overall and 1-5 in the conference.

MU returns to action 4 p.m. Thursday with a double-header at the University of Michigan-Dearborn. The Crusaders play again at 1 p.m. Saturday at home against Cornerstone in another WHAC twinbill.

"It will take more than one person to replace Abby, who is a two-time all-state player. We'll have to fill the void collectively as a team. We're young in some areas, but we still have some solid veteran players and we have some nice additions. It may just take a little longer to get everything

"I'm anxious to see where we'll go. It's a big puzzle now and we're still figuring out where to put all the pieces."

One important piece will be wearing No. 16 three-year varsity player Amber Swisher, who has been tabbed as one of the players to take over the mound duties for the Cougars.

When not pitching, Swisher will roam center field, where she has excelled the previous two seasons

"Coming into this season, Amber only had a couple of innings pitched in high school, so we'll try to get her a lot of repetitions early," said Patterson. "She's a good athlete, so I'm confident she'll do well."

Also picking up innings in the circle will be freshman April Rudolph and sophomore Alissa Turnbull, Patterson revealed.

There is no void to fill behind the plate thanks to the return of senior Rachel Spellman, who is an excellent handler of pitchers and a threat at the plate. Spellman will be backed up by junior Hannah DeHetre, who caught for the junior-varsity team last spring, and Emily Ward. Both Ward and DeHetre can also play the outfield.

Senior slugger Kelsie Powell will play one of the two corner-infield positions on a regular basis. The same can be said of sophomore impact-player Alicia Ascencio, who will also fill the designated player

"Kelsie swings the bat well and she has good hands at first base," said Patterson. "Alicia showed good power before she was hurt around mid-season last year."

Filling the big second-base shoes left by McIntosh will be senior Hannah Vera-Burgos, a three-sport standout at GC. Freshman Julia Chapman will also get a shot at second, Patterson added.

Junior shortstop and No. 3 hitter Kaylen Glenfield, an honorable mention all-state player as a sophomore, returns to hold down the fort at shortstop.

"Kaylen is one of the best hitters in the area and one of the better defensive players around," said Patterson.

Sophomore Brittany Radtke will also play short in addition to some outfield

Powell will split time at third base with freshman Natalie Billings, who has a "big upside", Patterson noted.

The outfield will need a set of revolving doors, depending on who is pitching and starting each given day on the infield.

Junior Mikala Smolar brings speed and experience to left field (and center when Swisher is pitching). Turnbull, Radtke, sophomore Aleea Montgomery and senior Lauren Risner will also battle for playing time in the outfield.

'Aleea swings the bat really well," said Patterson. "It may take her a little time to adjust to the upper-level pitching, but she's a good athlete. so she'll learn fast.'

competed in my first heptathlon.'

Of the seven events, the 200-meter dash is Morrison's strongest event, having run it in 26.33 last season. "The javelin and shot put are probably the events where I have the most room for improvement," she admitted. "The shot put is tough because I'm not extremely powerful and the javelin was tough at first because I'm used to throwing a softball and the technique you use throwing a javelin is completely different, so I had to break that habit."

The heptathlon is divided into two days, with four events being run Saturday and the final three on Sunday. There is an approximate 30-minute break between events, Morrison said.

"It can be a little exhausting, but if you prepare yourself correctly and use the breaks to your advantage, it's not too bad," she added.

The early taste of success in the heptathlon has fueled Morrison's ambitions to get stronger in the event.

"I'd like to get close to 4,000 points by the end of this season," she said. "And since I'm only a sophomore, my ultimate goal would be to break the school record, which is around 4,500.'

Morrison is working toward a mathematics major at Albion with minors in computer science and economics. She is unsure of what career path she'll follow.

FIRST TEAM Julia Huren, jr., John Glenn: A Division 1 firstteam all-state bowler, Huren followed up a stellar sophomore campaign with an even better junior year, averaging 208 pins per contest.

She earned all-KLAA honors and a second-place showing at the Division 1 regional tournament before turning in a top-eight showing at the state tournament.

'Julia has become such a great team player and dominated our fifth position as our anchor bowler by striking out several times," said John Glenn coach Ralph Cabildo.

Emily Dietz, jr., John Glenn: A Division 1 secondteam all-state honoree, Dietz averaged a sizzling 201 while earning all-KLAA honors and an eighth-place finish at the D1 regional tournament. A 4.0 student, she was 21st at the D1 state meet.

"Emily has shown great confidence this year," said Cabildo. "She has been our most consistent bowler."

Olivia Cabildo, sr., John Glenn: The senior, who will continue her competitive bowling career

Heights University, enjoyed a sensational season, earning all-KLAA

at Siena

honors while placing fourth at the D1 regional.

The owner of a 191 average, she carries a 4.0 gradepoint average and received a Presidential academic scholarship as well as a bowling scholarship to Siena

Meghan Macunovich. soph., Canton: After pretty much topping the charts a second year in a row, the sky's the limit for Macunovich for her junior and senior seasons.

As a sophomore, Macunovich was virtually unstoppable, averaging 210 pins with a high game of 287 and repeating as Division 1 individual regional champion. She tallied a 1,345 score and made the D1 final for the second consecutive season.

At the D1 singles final at Sunnybrook Lanes in Sterling Heights, Macunovich's 470 was good for second place overall only behind the 512 registered by Allison Morris of Ann Arbor Huron.

Macunovich was named to the all-KLAA team for her efforts.

"Meghan Macunovich is a very strong competitor," coach Karl Brubaker said. "She won the Region 5 singles for the second straight year. Meghan finished second at the state finals for singles. She is a tough young lady and will compete for those awards for the next two years."

Candyce Bradley, soph., Farm. Unified: A repeat member of the all-area first team, Bradley followed a superb freshman campaign with a successful sophomore season, helping her team qualify for the Division 1 state tournament.

Bradley had the highest OAA average for the second straight year at 206, raising it by six pins over her first vear. She bowled 1,126 and averaged 188 in the Super Bowl regional, finishing in 11th place.

She won the Oakland County and Farmington-Harrison singles championships with 675 and 605 series, respectively. Bradley was named to the all-OAA first team for a second time and the all-state second

"Candyce seized control of the anchor spot at the beginning of the season and became a team leader in only her second year in the program," coach Dennis Hermani said. "She is a young lady we count on to make big shots at the most crucial moments of any baker game or singles match.

"In two years, she has thrown 75 games of 190 or better in the 120 she has bowled and nine games of 240 or better. Her high game this season was a 279; her high series was 514. With those scores, she had the eighth highest game and fourth highest series in "The sky is the limit for Candyce when it comes to bowling. For the second straight season, she was voted by her teammates as the Most Valuable Bowler in the Farmington-Harrison program.

Rachel Doran, fr., Farm Unified: Doran was named to the all-state second team standing freshman season. She finished 11th in the qualifying round at the Division 1 state meet, and she was fifth in the regional with a 1,194 score and 199

Doran was the OAA singles champion and the Oakland County singles runnerup to teammate Candyce Bradley. She had a 188 league average and was named to the All-OAA sec-

"This young lady began her career in a big way by winning the OAA singles championship in her first varsity event," Hermani said. "The fast start led to one of the greatest freshmen seasons in Farmington-Harrison bowling history.

"Her best performance came when she needed it the most. In the final three games at the regional, she bowled games of 245, 200 and 259 for a 704 series. The 245 and 259 games were her highest of the season and were bowled on the most difficult pattern of the year - middle of the road.

"Rachel is a finisher; she places herself in good situations and takes advantage of her talent when she needs it the most. This young lady has a tremendously bright future in bowling.'

Jessica Pate, sr., John Glenn: Pate, who will be attending Concordia University with a bowling scholarship beginning in the fall, averaged 187 while earned all-KLAA honors. She placed third at the D1 regional and was a top-16 performer at the individual state tournament. She earned a third-team all-state accolade.

"Jessica has always been a very confident and great lead-off bowler," Cabildo

SECOND TEAM Jenai Teamer, sr., Farm. Unified: Teamer finished her second season on the varsity with a 183 average — an increase of 66 pins from her first year in the program during tryouts as a freshman. With her steady improvement over four years, Teamer earned a full scholarship to Hampton University in Virginia for bowling.

Teamer had a high game of 264 compared to a high of 232 last year. She rolled a high series of 442 at the OAA tournament in the morning qualifying session.

She had the sixth highest average in the OAA with a 193 and was named to the all-OAA first team. A repeat member of the all-area second team, Teamer was third in the regional and a state qualifier as a junior.

"In her career on the varsity, Jenai has shot 49 games over 180 in the last two seasons," Hermani said. "While at Hampton, Jenai will not only bowl and bowl well, but she will be pursuing a degree in pre-med."

Christina O'Harris, jr., Wayne: O'Harris enjoyed a dynamite season for the Zebras, mowing down pins to the tune of a 194 average. She placed highly in several tournaments as well as led Wayne to a solid record in the KLAA.

Ashlei Brooks, sr., Mercy: After learning the game as a freshman on the JV team, Brooks became a three-year varsity player. She was the leadoff bowler for two years and moved to the anchor position as a senior.

Brooks was the secondbest bowler in the Catholic League with a 174 average and high game of 232. She bowled in every tournament game, averaging 179 with a high game of 246.

Brooks also helped the Marlins win the 2014 league championship, and she was an individual state qualifier this year.

At the regional, Brooks bowled four of the six games at 210 or higher and finished sixth, earning the right to represent Mercy at the state meet.

"Coaches Vicky and Mike Kowalski have enjoyed watching Ashlei improve every year and lead the team in her senior season," Vicky Kowalski said.

Dana Iles, sr., Farm. Unified: Iles, a repeat member of the all-area second team, posted a 172 average in her senior season. A three-year letter winner, she had the 16th highest average in the OAA and was named to the all-league third team.

After finishing 11th in the regional and missing the opportunity to bowl in the state meet by one pin last year, Iles was seventh this year with a 199 average and six-game total of 1,192.

"After last year's regional heartbreak, it would have been easy to give up during this year's regional when she was struggling, but Dana is a finisher and finish she did with games of 230 and 202 to capture a place in state singles final," Hermani said. "It is what sports should teach our athletes. If you want something, work extremely hard and never give Iles bowled a high game of 238 and high series of 449. Her best tournament finish was sixth place at the OAA singles tournament. Iles plans to continue bowling at the collegiate level and study chemistry.

Ninth-inning singles by Ryan Lambrecht and Taylor Grzelakowski (2-for-3, RBI) led to Lauro's game-winning RBI single in the opener.

Zack Byron also belted a solo homer, while Levi Larmour (two RBI) and Shane Dokey (RBI) also contributed offensively to MU's seven-hit attack.

Madonna starting pitcher Adam Prashad, who did not get the decision, went the first 61/3 innings allowing four runs (two earned) on five hits and a walk while striking out eight.

Freshman Patrick Wierimaa (Redford Union) came on and allowed one runs on two hits in 13/3 innings, while reliever Bobby St. Pierre, who pitched a scoreless ninth with two strikeouts, earned the victory. St. Pierre (3-1) also got the victory in the nightcap with two scoreless innings of relief. He struck out four and allowed one hit after taking over for Todd Jones, who allowed two hits without a run in 13/3 innings of work.

MU starter Alex DeYonker (Livonia Franklin) went the first 4⅓ allowing one earned run on six hits and a walk.

Losing pitcher James

PREP SOFTBALL PREVIEW

Rockets' strong suits: chemistry, senior leadership

John Glenn coaches like the way team has bonded

By Ed Wright Staff Writer

This season's Westland John Glenn softball team is all in when it comes to the "no-I-inteam" mentality.

That is the early assessment of co-coaches Dan Huren and Pat McGrath, both of whom have been impressed by the Rockets' dedication to team-

"These girls genuinely like each other and they want to put forth a good effort for one another," said Huren, who is entering his sixth season with the program. "There are no 'me-first' attitudes with this team, which is nice to see."

The Rockets' sterling chemistry was on display often during last week's season-opening victory over Dearborn Heights Annapolis. Both the players on the field and in the dugout shared a steady stream of encouragement with one another until the final out in the 6-4 triumph was squeezed.

Handling the bulk of the pitching chores will be junior Mackenzie Huren, who also swings one of the most potent bats in Observerland.

"Mackenzie has matured a lot on the mound since last season," said Dan Huren. "She understands how to pitch better based on each batter's strengths and what the umpire is calling that particular day.

"I wouldn't classify her as a power pitcher, but she can overpower weaker hitters.'

Senior Heather Gains will also see time on the mound

when she is not stationed at her primary position, second

Both Gains and Huren will benefit from throwing to junior catcher Julia Michlowski, who is skilled in the finer details of her position.

"Julia is very good at framing pitches and getting her thumb under the ball to help her pitchers get more strikes called," Huren said. "She's very explosive at fielding

Along with doing a solid job of fielding her position, senior first baseman Bailey Hamill can rake at the plate.

hitter," Huren asserted. "She has excellent power to the Among Gains' attributes at second base is her ability to cover a lot of ground, Huren

"Heather moves well vertically, she can cover first base when she needs to, and she can turn the double-play," said Huren.

The team's best all-around player may be sophomore shortstop Megan Buford, who earned all-Observer accolades as a ninth-grader.

"Megan is our lead-off hitter and a good take-charge kind of leader," praised Huren. Senior third baseman Hannah Udell returns to the squad after taking a year off to concentrate on volleyball.

"Hannah worked extremely hard over the winter in order to get ready for the season," said Huren. "She's never

Trojans' young baseball team has big upside

By Dan O'Meara Staff Writer

A young Livonia Clarenceville baseball team has a lot of upside potential and will only get better this season and into next, according to coach Craig

The Trojans have two seniors on their 12-man roster. Nine of those players had varsity experience entering the 2015 campaign.

"For a young team, that's really good." Cotter said. "The best thing is our team chemistry. The camaraderie is good. The kids really get along well."

Sophomore right-hander Kam MacIver, who moved to the varsity at the end of last year, has pitched the best so far in the young season.

Junior Adam Sade and sophomore Zach Richards will take regular turns on the mound. Sophomore Bobby Jaber and junior Mitch Kubiak are returning players who have pitched in relief roles.

Jaber also is the team's best infielder and has played flawless defense at shortstop. He threw a runner out at home plate from left field last week.

"His baseball IQ is really high," Cotter said. "He hits the ball hard. He's just solid."

The offensive leader is senior center fielder Jayson Harris, who is hitting around .500 from the leadoff spot in two games to date. He's also super fast, according to Cotter, and has scored four or five runs already.

When they're not pitching,

MacIver plays first base, Richards second and Kubiak third. When Jaber is on the mound, Kubiak moves to shortstop and junior Matt Drain takes over at third base.

The catcher is freshman Nick Bisaro, who has done very, very well as a rookie player on the varsity, according to Cotter. Bisaro has thrown out several base runners and produced a couple key hits.

The outfield lineup includes senior Ronnie Topolewski in left and Drain in right. Cotter said he also has high expectations for sophomore catcher-first baseman Justin Kelly. Junior Manny Maranda and sophomores Jonathan Murphy and Dante Marzolo complete the roster. All three are outfielders; Maranda also serves as the designated hitter when needed.

The Trojans, who won eight games last year, are 0-2 this season, although they battled well in losses to Clawson and Dearborn.

'We're very solid defensively, and we put the ball in play,' Cotter said. "We don't strike out much at all, which is contrary to last year.

"We have some good team speed, too. When you play good defense and put the ball in play, good things will happen."

Clarenceville was scheduled to play Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard and Wayne Memorial early this week and will be at Garden City for a 4 p.m. game Monday.

NFL DRAFT

"For example, in the past few weeks I've been on the radio with ESPN Honolulu, and stations in Pittsburgh and Oregon," he shared.

"They're usually 10-minute segments and they make them into podcasts. Locally, I'm also on with Matt Shepard on WDFN. It's definitely a fun part of my job."

Vasan's salary is based on traffic to his site. When the numbers dwindle during the post-draft summer months, Vasan has a part-time job with a window-washing company to supplement his income.

Vasan's long-term goals include an aspiration to serve as the USA Today's version of Mel Kiper, Jr., who has been ESPN's No. 1 draft guru for decades.

Judging by his current status, he's well on his way.

Although he's not as big of a fan of the Lions as during his youth, Vasan still has a strong opinion about who his hometown team may take during the first round on April 30.

"Ît's tough, because you never know what [Lions general manager] Martin Mayhew may do," Vasan admitted. "I had them taking Florida State cornerback P.J. Williams, but he just got arrested for DUI, so that probably won't happen.

"I think they'll take one of the two running backs, Georgia's Todd Gurley, who will probably be gone by their pick, or most likely Melvin Gordon of Wisconsin."

Lasting memorial for DeMolay

ED WRIGHT

A plaque featuring Westland John Glenn super-supporter Keith DeMolay, who passed away in 2014 at the age of 60, has been encased in the wall of the Rockets' baseball dugout as a fitting memorial to the man who did so much for the school's athletic department. Among his many duties was the official scorer for the John Glenn baseball team

Housing grant to help low-income disabled people

Michigan has been selected to receive more than $5.5 million in U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) funding to provide affordable rental housing and supportive services to extremely-low income persons with disabilities. The Section 811 Project Rental Assistance (PRA) grant application process was a collaborative effort between the Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA) and the Michigan Department of Community Health (MDCH).

"This is a great opportunity to help create and encourage independence for people with disabilities," Michigan Lt. Gov. Brian Calley said. "These grants will give those who are capable of living on their own the chance to build a home for themselves and their families, ultimately leading to a higher quality of

The funding, announced recently, will be administered by MSHDA. A work group consisting of representatives from MSHDA and MDCH will collaborate to identify, refer and support target populations throughout Michigan.

"This grant will help connect hundreds of low-income adults with disabilities to permanent affordable housing and the supportive services they need for a quality life," said Wayne Workman, acting executive director for MSHDA. "I am proud of the way MSHDA and MDCH worked together to identify and apply for this opportunity to help Michigan residents in a comprehensive way.'

Michigan has been selected to receive more than $5.5 million in HUD funding to provide affordable rental housing and supportive services to extremely-low income persons with disabilities.

Rick Snyder's "River of Opportunity" model for government and service delivery, the grant is intended to provide rental assistance to help prevent unnecessary institutionalization, and in some cases, homelessness

"Promoting communitybased services and systems of care for persons with disabilities is essential to ensuring that all of our residents have the support they need to lead healthy, productive lives," said Nick Lyon, director of the MDCH and interim director of the Department of Human Services. "This grant is a testament to inter-departmental collaboration, and I look forward to continued partnership with MSHDA as we work to provide stable, inclusive environments for those individuals and families who need it most."

The Michigan State Housing Development Authority provides financial and technical assistance through public and private partnerships to create and preserve decent, affordable housing for low- and moderate-income residents and to engage in community economic development activities to revitalize urban and rural communities.

Cuban land sales still nixed for U.S. citizens

Q: With assumed normalization of relations between the United States and Cuba, I am wondering if I can purchase land in Cuba at this point for development purposes as an American citizen?

A: You still have to be a Cuban National in order to purchase property, and most Cubans cannot afford to do so. I did meet one Cuban on my recent trip to Cuba who not only owned a house, but a farm. He obviously had connections with the government. However, what is interesting is that many hotels and restaurants are now partially privately owned in Cuba which may open the door for further private investment. Whether the possible normalization of relations between Cuba and the United States leads to investments by American companies and/or interests in Cuba is still debatable. The tobacco industry is "foaming at the mouth" about the opportunity to have relationships with Cuban farmers and the Cuban government. That may be the first area of entry in terms of American direct participation in the Cuban economy.

Q: I want to review my condominium association's books and records to see if it has received bids for repairing the swimming pool. Am I permitted to do this, and if so, how should I do it? Your association must be aware of significant new and extensive changes to the Michigan Nonprofit Act.

A: You are permitted to review these bids if they are deemed to be for a proper purpose. Whether they are for a proper purpose will depend on the facts. For example, have these bids previously been made available to the members, and if so why do you need to see them again? Is repair of the swimming pool a current issue, or is it something you would like the association to do but it previously decided not to

If the facts show you are requesting the bids for a proper purpose, then you should make a written demand for them. In your written demand, you must describe with reasonable particularity both the records sought for inspection, and the purpose of the inspection. The records sought must be directly connected with the proper purpose. A proper purpose is defined as one that is reasonably related to a person's interest as a member.

If inspection is not timely permitted, or if the association imposes unreasonable conditions on the inspection, the member is entitled to seek a court order compelling the inspection. If the court orders inspection of the requested records, it must also order the association to pay the costs and reasonable attorney fees incurred by the member to obtain the court order, unless the association proves that if failed to permit the inspection in good faith.

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Fun By The

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

2015 at home with his wife of 69 years, Nancy (Christman), by his side. George was born April 10,

1926 in VanWert, Ohio. After graduating from Upper Arlington High School, the Navy took him to the University of Michigan, where he got his BA in 1946 and attended Engineering School. As number "77," he played football for U of M in 1945 and won the national championship in 1947, beating USC in the Rose Bowl 49-0. While he was at Michigan, he asked girl-friend Nancy's father for her hand in marriage. Her dad said "No, not until you get your degree and a real job." Thus began Motors. Chevrolet/General George started his tenure shoveling sand at Saginaw Grey fron Foundry, eventually rising to Director of Purchasing for Chevrolet. His last three years were served as Director of Operations at Allison Gas Turbine in Indianapolis. George was a lifelong athlete, playing paddleball, jogging, and coaching his kids' teams. A true golf nut, he belonged to multiple country clubs, Crystal Downs in Frankfort, Michigan and Gator Creek in his favorites. After retirement from General Motors, George fulfilled a lifelong dream by obtaining his pilot's license and a Cessna, flying extensively for some years. George was a life-time member of the U of M Alumni Chub and the letterman's his loving wife, Nancy; sons Craig (Patti), Jeffrey, and Bruce; daughter Martha (Tom) Cook; grandchildren Justin (Ashley), Kinsey, Elizabeth, Craig, Philip Cook, and Amanda Machan (Charles); great grandsons, Jack-Austin Gene Johnson. Show about bongo-playing, brilliant physicist takes stage in Plymouth

By Sharon Dargay Staff Writer

Theoretical physicist Richard Feynman won a Nobel Prize in 1965 for his work in quantum electrodynamics

That's all the science you need to know to understand and enjoy Barefoot Productions' upcoming show, QED. The play, focusing on a day in Feynman's life, was written by Peter Parnell and originally premiered in 2001 in Los Angeles, Calif.,

with Alan Alda in the lead role.

Barefoot Productions will stage QED at 8 p.m. Friday-Saturday, April 10-11, and 2 p.m. Sunday, April 12, at 240 N. Main, Plymouth. Tickets are $15 for adults and $13 for students, available at justgobarefoot.com or at the door.

Steve Sedore of Plymouth plays the brilliant and eccentric physicist in this one-man show that also includes an appearance by Jenna Hinton of Farmington Hills as a graduate student. The play is set in 1986 - two years before Feynman's death - in his office at California Institute of Technology where he spent most of his teaching career. Feynman talks to the audience about his work on the atomic bomb, the theory of quantum electrodynamics, and his discovery of defective rubber O-rings in the 1986 Challenger space shuttle explosion.

"You don't need to know science at all. The deepest he goes into science is he talks about light reflecting off a mirror and light passing through a piece of glass," said Mike Cuba, director. "A deep, working knowledge of science is not a requirement.

"He's a storyteller. That's one of the reasons I love this guy. Carl Sagan did the same thing, Mr. Wizard did the same. They are explainers of sci-

Cuba can relate to Feynman's presentation style. The Livonia resident taught high school chemistry in Detroit before his retirement 10 years ago and often used storytelling to explain concepts - "especially the stuff you can't see" — to his students.

Achievements, challenges

Cuba wanted to direct QED after seeing it for the first time years ago in Benzie, while on vacation in northwest Michi-

"I was completely blown away by the show. The guy who played Feynman didn't look anything like him and he didn't sound like him, but he was Feynman," Cuba said. "In the first part of the play he talks about his achievements. In the second part he's battling cancer. He's already had three operations and lost one kidney."

The audience also learns about the lighter side of the Feynman's life, too. He loved to play bongo drums and act in university plays.

'He tells a story about being in Los Alamos working on the bomb ... to relieve stress he did two things. He played the drums and he picked locks. He broke into almost every locked cabinet on the base."

Portraying Feynman

Cuba cast the play without auditioning actors. He directed Sedore in Arsenic and Old Lace and Rehearsal for Murder at Spotlight Players. He knew Sedore, had both the energy and ability to memorize lines for a one-man show.

Steve Sedore of Plymouth portrays the bongo-playing, Nobel Prize-winning physicist Richard Feynman in "QED" at Barefoot Productions, Plymouth.

"It was a no-brainer. I knew he could handle it," Cuba said.

'The play is fascinating to me. I've essentially watched it 20 times, (as director) and it's still fascinating. That's partially the topic and Steve's ability to engage in the story. He becomes Feynman when he

But finding an audience for a one-man show can be challenging, especially if the main character is not a household

"There are one-man shows with Mark Twain and Will Rogers. Not everyone knows who Richard Feynman was. The recognition factor is the biggest hurdle.

ONIONS ADD DISTINCT FLAVOR, ENHANCE OTHER INGREDIENTS

some flavorful inspiration, look to the fresh and abundant offerings of Mediterranean cuisine. Inspired by its coastal origins, traditional Greek dishes feature a colorful collection of fruits, vegetables, grains, legumes and grilled fare. Whether you're serving friends with a themed event or simply enjoying a homemade meal with the family, delicious Greek cuisine is perfect for sharing with those you love.

hen entertaining calls for

From raw to roasted, pickled to caramelized, the onion is one of the most versatile vegetables, and is commonly found among the many fresh flavors of this fare. When you cook with the mighty onion, you also serve a good source of vitamin C.

The growers and shippers of the Idaho-

Eastern Oregon Onion Committee and the National Onion Association offer the following tips about onions:

» One large onion, diced equals about 1 cup fresh and 1/4 cup cooked.

» Grill and saute onions over low to medium heat. This will bring out a savory, sweet, mellow flavor. High heat can cause the onion to taste bitter.

» Store onions in a cool, dry, well-ventilated place with minimal exposure to light.

» Keep peeled and cut onions in a sealed container in the refrigerator for seven to 10 days.

TURKEY AND ONION MEATBALL KEBABS WITH YOGURT DIPPING SAUCE

Servings: 6 large or 9 small kebabs

- 1 tablespoon cumin seed
- 1 cup plain yogurt
- 1 tablespoon chopped cilantro 1 tablespoon chopped chives
- 1/4 teaspoon honey
- ¼ teaspoon salt 1 pound ground turkey
- 3 cloves garlic, chopped 2 teaspoons lemon zest
- 1/4 teaspoon kosher salt ¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 1 large yellow onion, peeled and cut in thin wedges
- 1 green pepper, cut into 1-inch dices 12 cherry tomatoes

Heat small pan over medium heat. Add cumin seeds to toast. Stir frequently, for about 3 minutes or until seeds are fragrant and slightly browned. Remove seeds to spice grinder or mortar and pestle; grind to moderately fine powder. In medium bowl, combine yogurt, cilantro, chives, honey, salt and 1 teaspoon ground toasted cumin. Cover and refrigerate at least 1 hour. In second medium bowl, combine turkey, garlic, lemon zest, salt, cayenne and 1 teaspoon ground toasted cumin; mix gently but thoroughly. Shape into 18 1 1/2-inch meatballs. Preheat grill. On metal skewers (or bamboo skewers soaked in water 30 minutes), thread meatball, onion wedge, pepper square and cherry tomato. Repeat. Finish skewer with another meatball and onion wedge.

Grill until meatballs reach internal temperature of 160°F, turning as needed. Serve immediately with dipping sauce. For mini-skewers, use 2 meatballs, 2 onion wedges, 1 cherry tomato and 1 pepper square on each skewer.

LENTIL SALAD WITH MARINATED ONIONS, ROASTED TOMATOES AND OLIVES

Servings: 6-8

- 2-3 medium tomatoes cut into eight
- wedges 1 (9.5-ounce) jar whole, pitted Greek olives,
- 4 tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil
- 1 tablespoon balsamic vinegar 8 thyme sprigs, leaves removed
- Sea salt
- 1 ½ cups lentils ½ medium red onion, thinly sliced
- 1 1/2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
- 2 garlic cloves, pressed 1 medium cucumber, chopped
- 1 (12-ounce) jar artichoke hearts, sliced ¼ cup parsley, chopped
- 3 tablespoons chives, chopped
- % cup crumbled feta 1 tablespoon lemon juice

Fresh ground black pepper Preheat oven to 400°F. On medium-sized baking sheet lined with parchment paper, arrange tomatoes skin side down. Add drained olives to pan; drizzle with 1 tablespoon olive oil and balsamic vinegar. Sprinkle with thyme leaves and sea salt. Roast for 20 minutes. Remove from oven and cool com-

Cook lentils according to package directions, approximately 20 minutes. While lentils are cooking, place red onion in small bowl. Pour red wine vinegar over onions and sprinkle with sea salt. Stir and let stand at room temperature while lentils are cooking.

When lentils finish cooking, drain if needed. In large bowl, combine lentils, marinated red onion, garlic and remaining olive oil. Mix well and cool completely. When cool, combine rest of ingredients with lentils. Serve

ORANGE, MINT AND ONION

SALAD Servings: 6

- 3 navel oranges
- 1/2 sweet yellow onion, peeled and thinly sliced
- 1/4 cup fresh mint leaves, torn 1/4 cup black olives, oil cured, pitted
- Vinaigrette:
- 1/2 cup cider vinegar 2 tablespoons honey
- 2 teaspoons Dijon mustard ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

1/4 cup canola oil For salad, cut top and bottom off each orange so it sits flat on cutting surface. Remove peel and pith (white part) by taking sharp knife and running it down sides of orange from top to bottom, following shape of each orange. Slice oranges into rounds. Arrange slices, overlapping each other slightly, on large platter. Scatter onion, mint and olives over oranges. For vinaigrette, whisk vinegar with honey, mustard, cinnamon and salt. Slowly add oil while whisking constantly, until well combined. Drizzle vinaigrette over salad and serve immediately.

Note: Any leftover dressing can be stored, tightly covered, in refrigerator for up to 5 days.
