Council looks at hiring new manager

By LeAnne Rogers Staff Writer

As Wayne City Manager David Murphy moves on to Farmington, the Wayne Council is looking ahead to finding a replacement.

"We've had a lot of discussion, and there are a variety of opinions on what we should do or not do," Wayne Mayor James Hawley said.

The council is expected to accept Murphy's resignation at its meeting Tuesday night.

"We're get-ting a number of people who want to apply — some are qualified. There are a variety of qualifications and people," Hawley said. "There could be a couple of strong candidates. We need to start quickly."

Once Murphy's resignation is accepted, Hawley said the council will announce the search for a new city manager. He said he expects the council will schedule a meeting to interview city manager candidates within a short time, possibly later that week.

"Most of them (possible candidates) are in the area. We're not going out for a national search," Hawley said.
"We did that twice (previously). We have some strong candidates with city management experience.

Not a surprise

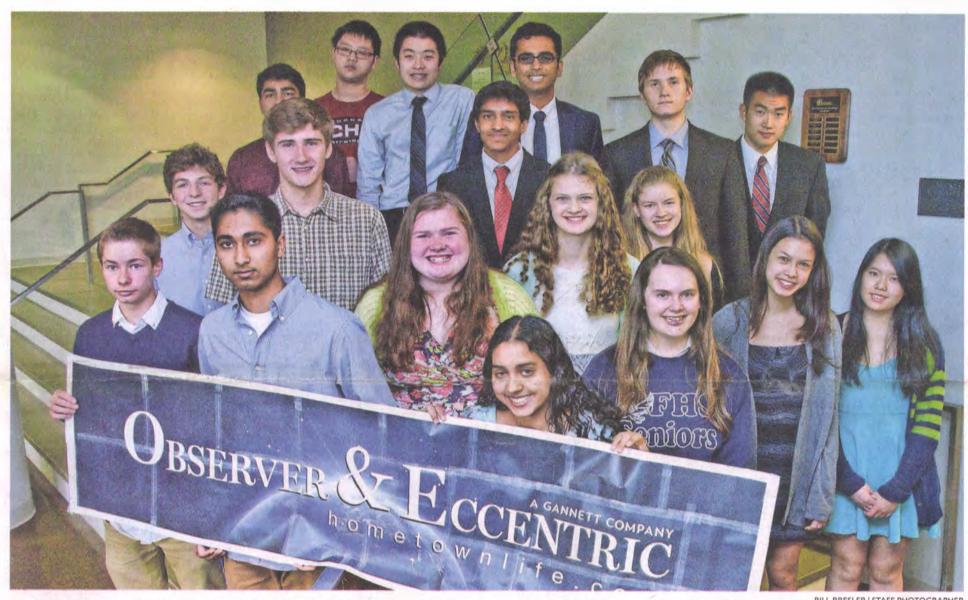

That Murphy would be moving on from financially strapped Wayne wasn't a surprise after he opted for a six-with the start of the fiscal year July 1. Murphy followed a series of interim managers who had filled in since Robert English retired.

"I'm disappointed that he is leaving. I had hoped we would create some stability in city management so we could look longer term," Hawley said. "I thought we had that kind of

Two men plead guilty for moving body

By LeAnne Rogers Staff Writer

Two Westland men have entered guilty pleas to charges of being accessories after the fact in the death of a Westland

Michael Bashlor, 34, and Joshua Hurston-Herron, 23, were each charged with help ing dispose of the body of Diedra Akins, 46.

Dead from blunt force trauma, Akins's body was discovered laying in the street on Powers near John Daly in Dearborn Heights early Jan.

Bashlor has been sentenced to 2-5 years in prison. Hurston-Herron has been sentenced to one year in the Wayne County Jail with 103 days credit for time served and two years probation. Two other Westland men, Terrence Johnson, 44, and Randy Batts, 30, are charged with first-degree murder in the death of Akins. Batts is also charged with second-degree murder. Both are being held without bond and scheduled for trial on June 22 in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Johnson was Akins' live-in boyfriend. Testimony was that a dispute over drugs escalated at the couple's home on Grand Traverse, where Akins was fatally beaten.

Later the same day Akins' body was found, police said Bashlor, accompanied by a cousin who is a Detroit Police officer, came to the Westland Police Department to provide information in the case. That led officers to obtain and execute a search warrant at the home on Grand Traverse where Akins and Johnson were living.

Identity theft charge dismissed in HalloWayne case

By LeAnne Rogers Staff Writer

A charge of identity theft the last of six criminal charges originally filed against the operator of a Wayne nonprofit — has been dismissed in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Christopher Sanders, 46, had been charged over the handling of funds donated to the nonprofit he operates, Destination Wayne - specifically the HalloWayne event it sponsored.

There had been a mistrial declared in February after the jury deadlocked on the identity theft charge against Sanders. Five other charges, including larceny by conversion, embezzlement as an agent or trustee and embezzlement from a nonprofit charitable organization, had been dismissed at the preliminary examination.

'This was another political witch hunt in an attempt to inflict irreparable damage to my reputation," Sanders said. "People who know me stood by me during this entire ordeal, and I will never forget the importance of their support, their belief in me and their

Wayne police chief discusses crime, staffing, service with residents

By LeAnne Rogers Staff Writer

About a dozen people turned out to hear from the Wayne Police Department about crime trends in the city.

Held at the Wayne Activities and Banquet Center, it's the first of monthly meetings established by Chief Alan Maciag. The meetings will be at 7 p.m. on the last Thursday of each month.

"We have a strong relationship with the community, but we can build it stronger," said Maciag, a 17-year member of the police department. "These meetings will provide citizens with knowledge about our operations, our staffing levels and what kind of service they can expect with our staffing levels."

That staffing level is currently 24 officers working 12-hour shifts. At one time, the department had 45 officers. That number declined over recent years due to budget cuts, which Maciag said forced the department to stop having School Resource Officers, plainclothes surveillance units and other

"My job as chief is to provide the best service I can with the resources we have," Maciag said. "What worked with 45 people 20 years ago is not going to work today."

Like other departments, Wayne has hired civilian Police Service Aides to answer nonemergency calls and other duties to free up officers. "It gives them (PSAs) a chance to grow into a law enforcement career," Maciag said.

Some statistics shared by Maciag and Sgt. Matthew Spunar, who heads the Detective Bureau:

» In 2014, Wayne police officers responded to 16,671 calls for service. As of April 29. 2015, officers handled 5.186 calls for service.

"It's a small town but busy. It's a lot of calls," Maciag said.

» Wayne officers responded to 423 vehicle crashes in 2014. That number is 156 through April 29 this year.

» The city had 78 residential break-ins in 2014, that's more than one a week, Spunar not-ed. So far this year, 12 residential break-ins have been reported.

There were 52 nonresidential break-ins reported in 2014, exactly one per week, Spunar said, with 10 reported so far this year. "That number might actually be down for the full year," he said.

» Last year, 193 reports were taken on larceny from vehicles. That number is 49 so far this year.

"They happen all over the city," said Spunar, responding to a question.

vehicles were reported "We have 22 stolen

» During 2014, 54

vehicle reports this year so far, so that's a little higher," Spunar said.

» There were 28 robberies, armed and unarmed, reported in 2014 That number is 10 for the current year so far. To clarify terminology, Spunar said, "If you break into a house and take property, it is not a robbery."

» In 2014, 126 vandalism reports were taken by police. That number is 24 so far this year. "This is a very common crime and costs people money," said Spunar.

» There were five arsons reported in 2014, including a residential structure. So far this year, only one arson, involving a vehicle, has been reported.

Wayne residents can keep track of crimes in the community through the crimedar.com web-

"Call us if you have questions or concerns in your neighborhood. We want to get the right information out there," Maciag said.

The department used to have a Neighborhood Watch program with an officer assigned to the program. Although that is no longer available, Maciag said some areas of the city have continued to maintain their local Neighborhood Watch and he encouraged other residents to organize.

Fake bills, IRS scams lead crimes

By LeAnne Rogers Staff Writer

Counterfeit $20 bills, calls from phony IRS representatives and money flipping are among crimes trending recently » "People always want to know crime trends. Counterfeit currency — $20 bills — we had a couple in the last few months. The money has a different feel, the paper is the hardest part to counterfeit," Wayne Police Sgt. Matthew Spunar said.

» Vehicles thefts are up, Spunar said the incidents commonly happen when people leave their vehicles unlocked and running to warm up outside their homes or while they run inside a gas station.

A simple hindrance to vehicle thefts and items being stolen from vehicles, he said, is to lock the car or truck doors.

"Park in your driveway and a well-lit area," he added.

» "The IRS scam is common now. They call and say you owe the IRS $2,000. You have to pay now or they are sending the police to arrest you, Spunar said. "I have never had the IRS call and ask us to go out to arrest someone. If it probably isn't."

» Then there is what is called flipping money. "They call and tell you if you send $250 today, I send you $500," Spunar said. "A woman sent $250. They called wanting more. They have you send the money through Western Union. It's hard to track. But it's good that we haven't seen a rash of violent crimes."

individual coming in. I was a little concerned when he wanted a sixmonth contract. On the other hand, I had hopes he'd want to stay."

Being hired by Farmington is a unique opportunity for Murphy personally, Hawley said, adding he is excited about possible new city managers who hopefully sign on long-term with Wayne.

"It's a big disappointment; we thought we had made a decision that would last," Councilman Skip Monit said. "This throws us back to where we were last year. It's really difficult to put my arms around the whole situation. I understand he has to look out for himself and his family, but this comes at a difficult time. He's leaving the city in a bad way.

The council has two candidates that it can interview to replace Murphy, Monit said, but that can't happen until Murphy has tendered his resignation.

"It's unfortunate for us, but for David Murphy it's a good fit for him and his family," Councilman John Rhaesa said. "We have to find the right person to get Wayne through the challenges it is facing. The number of quality candidates is diminishing as more things don't turn around."

"I think he'll do fine in Farmington, but the challenges we have in Wayne are huge," Monit added.

City's challenge

doesn't sound right, it

The biggest challenge facing the city is financial. Working with auditors Plante Moran, Murphy prepared and recommended a budget that is balanced for the upcoming fiscal year. The council reached a consensus to adopt that budget, which relies on the last of reserve funds and closing the Wayne Community Center, to balance it.

Council members also agreed that if the proposed budget is adopted, work would continue to get city spending within actual revenues and avoid a projected deficit going forward. The city is working to have the community center operated privately.

"We need to find someone with financial experience, someone with economic knowledge of development," Rhaesa said. "We need someone who can come up with a strategy to bring in new development. We're not bringing in enough money to cover the services we offer. We have to make choices and figure out how to keep things going the best we can.

Finance, budgeting and economic development experience in a new manager are also a priority for Hawley.

"In the administration of the organization, we're fairly small. We're set with police and fire leadership," he said.

Parents, staff argue for keeping special-education preschool open

By Karen Smith

Years ago somebody thought it was a great idea to combine all of Livonia Public Schools' special-education programs for preschoolers under one roof at Perrinville Center. "It still is. It works," said Deborah Squirewell, program administrator for the Great Start Readiness Program housed there.

Squirewell was among about 130 parents, staff members and other stakeholders who attended a meeting Tuesday night to explain to Livonia school board members why the building should not be closed and razed. Administrators have recommended tearing down the building to save $150,000 a year and moving all the programs to six other schools, where there is space due to the district's declining enrollment.

Superintendent Randy Liepa told the crowd that the district expects to have just under $1 million in fund equity at the end of this school year. With a $140 million general fund budget last year, that figure should be closer to $11 million, he said. Community members at budget meetings in January told the school board they would prefer to preserve programs over property, Liepa said.

"Every year we have to balance the budget when the state is not giving us very much money," he Perrinville is also slated to have $800,000 in improvements made under the construction bond approved by voters in 2013 that could be used at other buildings, if Perrinville is closed, school officials said.

The board is expected to make a decision before June 30 when it adopts its budget for the 2015-16 school year.

'A school dynamic'

Perrinville PTA President Kristin Noel said parents are more opposed to separating the programs than closing the building. Having all the programs under one roof makes the difference between the preschoolers remaining in special ed for the rest of their school careers; and eventually blossoming, integrating into the ing their diplomas, she said.

She said her son, Logan, who has Autism was non-verbal when he started at Perrinville. "Now he's a social butterfly.'

"It's a school dynamic," said par-ent Jennifer Andrzejczak. "It's a new way of teaching children with special needs and if you separate them, you're going to lose it and it's lost forever.'

Parent Yolanda Keaton said her son Evan is a Perrinville alum who attended the Autism Spectrum Disorder program and wouldn't be where he is today without the school. "My developmental pediatrician says if you want to have your kid in the best school, sell your house and move to Livonia."

Parents said with all the programs in one building, children can try out a more advanced program for five to 15 minutes at a time. That wouldn't be possible if they had to travel from one building to another, Parapro Kelly Bouer said it's difficult finding substitute teachers and substitute parapros for special education preschoolers because no one wants to be bitten, spit on or have to help kids with the toilet. But with all the programs under one roof, staff can more easily cover for each other when someone has to take time off.

School board secretary Tammy Bonifield said that could be a potenpreviously hadn't been considered.

Parents said they are concerned general-education students won't understand their children's behavior and their children will be prone to bullying. How will a general education student react to a special-education preschooler getting naked in the hallway and urinating on the floor, Perrinville has special adaptive playground equipment that can more easily be shared by students if they all stay in the same buildings, the parents and staff members said.

Parent Jessica Connolly said she has two children who have been at Perrinville and her third, a non-verbal 3-year-old, is supposed to start this fall. With the way administrators have proposed breaking up the programs, her youngest will have attended three schools before starting kindergarten. "That's unacceptable," she said. "That's not Livonia." If Perrinville remains open, he will stay at Perrinville until he graduates to a general-education kindergarten classroom, she said.

Bonifield said contrary to rumor, closing Perrinville is not a done deal. While the administration may have recommended closing it, it's the board's decision, she said.

Military retiree heads up county's Veteran's Services

Wayne County Executive Warren C. Evans appointed a retired military veteran, as Veteran's Services Administrator. John Gardner will begin his duties immediately.

"Mr. Gardner brings a wealth of knowledge and experience to Veteran's Services, which will be invaluable as we continue providing services to veterans in Wayne County," Evans said.

In his new role, Gardner will oversee Wayne County Veteran's programs such as the Soldiers and Sailors Relief Fund and the Michigan Veteran Trust Fund. The programs help veterans who are experiencing financial hardships pay their mortgage, rent or utility bills. Both funds also help veterans with transportation needs.

Gardner will also oversee the county's Veteran Burial Benefit program, which provides qualified veterans or their next of kin with up to $1,000 to go toward burial fees.

He will serve as the county's representative for the Veteran's Community Action Team (V-CAT), which is made up of a consortium of more than 230 groups in southeast Michigan that provide a wide array of resources to veterans. These resources include, but are not limited to access to employment, housing and education opportunities and health care.

Gardner retired from the U.S. Air Force after 24 years of service in logistics management, computer operations and recruitment. He was most recently the Military Veteran Recruiter and Program Manager at Quicken Loans, where his responsibilities included leading the veteran hiring strategic direction for projects, partnerships and placements to establish new community partnerships.

Seat belt enforcement runs through end of month

By Philip Allmen

Police agencies across the state are using federal grant money for increased seat belt enforcement zones this month.

The Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning states that research shows that when seat belts are used properly, the risk of being killed in a crash is reduced by nearly 45 percent. But seat belt usage has been on the decline in recent years. Michael L. Prince OHSP director, said most motorists in Michigan obey the seat belt law. In 2009, compliance was at 98 percent. By 2014, it dropped to 93 percent. He said every percentage point increase in belt use means 10 fewer traffic deaths and 130 fewer injuries each year.

'Wearing a seat belt is the easiest, most effective way to save your life in the event of a traffic crash," Prince stated in a release.

Local Madonna students win awards at international math contests

Nine Madonna University students were recognized for their participation in two international math contests, pitting their real-world problemsolving skills against students from all over the globe.

One team — made up of students Stephanie Mackley (Canton), Jonathan Morgan (Northville) and Catherine Sulich (Southfield) - received a "meritorious winner" award in the Interdisciplinary Contest in Mod-

Two teams participated in the Mathematical Contest in Modeling: Catherine Crombez (Livonia), Stephen Lisius (Redford) and Yang Zhang (Plymouth/Urumqi, China) received "honorable mention;" Lauren Finger (Plymouth), Rachel Head (Plymouth) and Caleb Schumake (Belleville) earned "successful participant" sta-

Susan Toma, Ph.D., assistant professor of mathematics at Madonna University, acted as faculty adviser and prepared the students through a series of problem-solving workshops.

Caleb Schumake (from left), a double major in mathematics and computer science, works in the background as Rachel Head, a computer science major and mathematics minor, and Lauren Finger, a mathematics major and chemistry minor, work on a problem for the Mathematical Contest in Modeling.

"The mathematical contest in modeling was a valuable experience for our Madonna students as they applied their analytical, computing and research skills to a realworld problem in a teamwork setting," she said.

"I am truly proud of their motivation, hard work and incredible achievements."

Morgan, a math major, said the contest was 'quite the learning experience.

"It gave me the opportunity to see how we can use math to solve realworld problems," he said. "It was also an eye-opening experience in how difficult solving these problems can be. The challenge my team chose was an actual international problem that the world has yet to solve.

"The ICM taught me and my team how to think critically," he added. "We probably tried 100 different approaches and learned 100 different ways how not to go about solving problems, but in the end, our mistakes are what made it such a powerful learning experience for us.

Crombez agreed with the value of the contest: "Participating in the MCM competition gave me a chance to apply the knowledge I have gained at Madonna to a situation outside of the classroom," she said. "I think this is an important opportunity for any student, as it provides a different outlook on education, teamwork and research skills that cannot always be addressed directly in a classroom setting but are still important for career preparation.' The international contests for college undergraduates are given annually by the Consortium for Mathematics and Its Applications, an "award-winning nonprofit organization whose mission is to improve mathematics education for students of all ages' (www.comap.com).

The Interdisciplinary Contest in Modeling is designed to develop and advance interdisciplinary problem-solving skills as well as competence in written communication, while the Mathematical Contest in Modeling stimulates and improves problem-solving and writing skills in mathematics. There were 2,137 teams that participated in the ICM worldwide, 45 of which were from the U.S., and 15 percent were Meritorious Winners, including the team from Madonna. Of the 7,636 teams that participated in the MCM, 418 were U.S teams, 31 percent received Honorable Mentions and 57 percent were Successful Participants.

The contests took place in February with Madonna students working in classrooms and computer labs on campus. This was the first year Madonna students participated. Winners were announced last month.

Pen pals of 70 years have a new tool — Skype

By Darrell Clem Staff Writer

Seventy years have passed since Maxine Ellis and Helen Burns, then mere schoolgirls, became pen pals separated by the Atlantic Ocean.

They still have the yellowed letters they wrote, the personal diaries they kept, the thoughtful gifts they sent, the shared memories that best friends cherish.

And now they're using Skype, an online tool that allows Ellis, 85, and Burns, 84, to hear one another's voice and see each other's face, even though Ellis lives in Canton and Burns in Eng-

The second Friday of each month, the two women have a lengthy conversation during their virtual visit, before blowing each other a kiss and counting down from three before they simultaneously log off.

They reflected on their friendship and how they have embraced technology such as Skype. This time, however, they sat side-by-side and held hands after Burns arrived in Michigan for a two-week visit.

'I'm a hugger," Ellis said, "so when I see Helen on Skype, I feel like I could put my arms

Ellis recalls the time she mailed chewing gum and nylons to Burns because she couldn't get either in England.

"I think the Lord brought us together," Ellis said. "We both have very strong beliefs.' The women say they are as close as sisters. "We both like people," Burns said. "We care for people - and we are very cared for by people.' As evidence, Burns' daughter Penelope Mc-Millan and Ellis' daughter Claudia Vanderpool joined the pen pals as they retraced the years while sitting inside Waltonwood at Carriage Park, a senior independent living center in Canton where Ellis lives.

McMillan, inspired by the friendship, decided to check with the Guinness Book of World Records to determine if Ellis and Burns might be the longest-lasting pen pals on record. They were not, but McMillan said it makes them no less fascinating. "I think it's incredible," she said.

Vanderpool agreed, saying 70 years of close friendship is unique.

"I got to see the queen," she said. Though it was from a distance, Burns stood on a bench and snapped a picture.

Burns has made it to America several times, first in 1969 when the women met for the first time. She has said "it was like I had known Maxine all my life."

As decades passed, their letters documented happy years and sad times, such as the deaths of their husbands. Ellis was there as Burns made a career teaching school, while Burns kept up with Ellis' life as she raised seven children and worked at jobs such as a drugstore clerk and giving pedicures to senior citizens.

As modern communication has evolved, Ellis and Burns still occasionally send written letters and they correspond by email, but now Skype has become part of their lives. They embrace any

"I don't know what I'd do without her," Ellis said. "I can't picture life without her.'

Portion of Ford Road named for Brian Woehlke

Gov. Rick Snyder made it official Wednesday, naming a portion of Ford Road after a fallen Wayne-Westland fire-

Snyder did a ceremonial signing for House Bill 4985, as its sponsor, state Rep. Robert Kosowski, D-Westland, watched. The bill, now Public Act 439 of 2014, passed both the House and Senate and Snyder signed it into law.

PA 439 names a portion of M-153 between Newburgh and Wayne roads as the Firefighter Brian Woehlke Memorial Highway. Woehlke, 29. was killed May 8, 2013, fighting the fire that destroyed Marvaso's Italian Grille/the Electric Stick. Married with a daughter, he had worked out of the old Fire Station No. 1 on Ford at Carlson. The fire has been ruled an arson and Woehlke's death a homicide.

"I'm proud to be able to honor Brian Woehlke and his sacrifice. The least we can do for someone who gave his life for his community is to honor his memory," Kosow-ski said. "I'd also like to thank Westland Mayor Bill Wild, Fire Chief Michael Reddy, IAFF Local 1279 and the Westland City Council for their help on this legislation."

Kosowski was joined by Wayne-Westland Firefighter David Polite and his son Tyler and fellow state Rep. Julie Plawecki, D-Dearborn Heights, whose district includes a portion of Westland, at the ceremonial signing.

MDOT: Ford Road improvements could help ease traffic crashes

By Darrell Clem Staff Writer

Canton has three of the top 10 most crashprone intersections in Wayne County, a new report shows, with Ford and Haggerty once again topping the list.

But road construction crews are arriving in Canton this week for $3.7 million in Ford Road improvements that officials say should ease traffic congestion until a much larger project converting Ford into a boulevard — receives funding.

"This is something that is going to help alleviate the problem short term," said Mike Bellini, Michigan Department of Transportation engineer, though officials say it's far from a panacea.

Canton, despite being just one of 43 communities in Wayne County, has three of the worst 10 intersections for crashes. Using Michigan State Police statistics, Michigan Auto Law compiled a list for a blog post to urge extra caution.

The Ford-Haggerty intersection topped the list with 89 crashes in 2014, down from 95 the previous year. Rounding out the top 10:

» Wayne and Warren in Westland, 71 crashes. » Ford and Wayne in Westland, 70.

» Middlebelt and Plymouth in Livonia, 69.

» Ford and Lilley in Canton, 66. » Ford and Beech Daly in Dearborn

Heights, 65. » Ann Arbor Road and Officials say Ford Road traffic should be eased after construction work is done.

» Ford and Middlebelt in Garden City, 52.

Canton Township Supervisor Phil LaJoy said Canton's trafficcrash problem along Ford Road begs for a major fix, but MDOT has pointed to a lack of money. In the meantime, LaJoy said Canton is trying a seventh time for a new round of federal

"We are going after it with everything we've got," he said, despite six rejections from TIGER, or Transportation Investment Generating Economic Recovery, a federal program aimed at improving roads and creating jobs.

As construction crews roll into Canton for the initial phase of improvements along Ford, officials say motorists can temporarily expect even worse traffic congestion. MDOT project manager Bill Erben said the first part of the project involves closing a lane on eastbound Ford, west of Haggerty, where work crews plan to extend the right turn lane "by a few hundred feet." Erben said a huge part of the traffic problem along Ford Road is that Haggerty is too close to I-275 — a problem that has resulted in a high-crash area.

Todd Berg, a Michigan Auto Law attorney, said the firm's blog focuses on Ford-Haggerty and other intersections to urge drivers to be safe, especially when approaching areas known to be dangerous.

"If you're being vigilant about being safe, put your phone down, hands on the wheel, observe the project this construction season - also should alleviate some Ford Road MDOT officials have warned motorists to expect detours and sporadic, staggered closings of the I-275/Ford ramps, likely on weekends. Canton Municipal Services Director Tim Faas said the work, once completed, also should make the Ford Road corridor safer for pedestrians.

During the Ford Road project, slated for completion later this summer, workers plan to complete the following: » Build a continuous, third westbound lane from Lotz to Lilley.

» Resurface the stretch of Ford between Lotz Road and Marlowe Street, which is west of Morton Taylor near the Rusty Nail Lounge.

» Convert right-turnonly lanes for eastbound and westbound Ford at the Haggerty intersection into a shared turn/ through lane by modifying pavement markings, signs and traffic signals.

» Extend the rightturn lane for eastbound Ford at Haggerty.

» Add pavement markings to improve turn lanes from the northbound and southbound I-275 exit ramps onto Ford.

» While having three through lanes on westbound Ford, also maintain a dedicated lane for westbound Ford motorists to enter the loop ramp onto southbound I-275

» Add sidewalks along eastbound and westbound Ford Road to connect those already there. improving access to places such as the I-275 Metro Trail that runs alongside the interstate.

» Provide an optional second exit lane at the southbound I-275 exit ramp to Ford Road, allowing motorists to more easily exit the interstate.

The industrial waste pollutant strength surcharge shall be computed in accordance with the following formula. SC = 0.0624 V a(BOD-275) + b(TSS-350) + c(P-12) + d(FOG-100)

In which the following apply.

- SC = Pollutant strength surcharge fee in dollars for the billing period in Mcf (1000 cubic feet).
- V = Volume of waste discharged in the billing period in Mcf (1000 cubic feet).
- BOD = Five-day biochemical oxygen demand of the waste expressed in milligrams per liter (ppm).
- TSS = Total suspended solids in the waste expressed in milligrams per liter (ppm).
- P = Phosphorus in the waste expressed in milligrams per liter (ppm).
- FOG = Fats, oils, and grease expressed in milligrams per liter (ppm).
- a, b, c, d = Surcharge rates, p/pound for treating BOD, TSS, P, and FOG respectively.
- 0.0624 = Factor which converts Mcf to MM lbs.
- a = $.254.285/pound.
- b = $324.341/pound.
- c = $3.7293.862/pound.
- d = $.221/2.55/pound.

How to handle required minimum distributions

Q: Dear Rick: This year, I will turn 70½. I know I have to take the required minimum distribution from my account this year. I know I can delay my distribu-tion to April 1 but I don't want to. What is included in my required minimum distribution? I have three 401(k) plans - two from my previous employer and the third from my current employer. I also have four separate traditional IRAs. I understanding is that I have to take out from my traditional IRAs, but since I am working, I don't have to take money from my 401(k)s. Since I don't need the money from my retirement account, can I take the distribution and put it into a Roth IRA? Can I continue to contribute to my traditional IRA?

A: You are correct that when it comes to computing your required minimum distributions, as long as you're not an owner of the company, you do not have to take from that 401(k) plan.

However, that rule only applies to your current employer. It does not apply to your past 401(k) plans. Therefore, the two 401(k) plans from previous employers must be taken into consideration when you compute required minimum distributions.

The ongoing 401(k) contributions are not a problem. As long as you're working for that company, you can continue to make 401(k) contributions. However, since you now are 701/2, you can no longer contribute into a traditional

If you meet the income requirements you can contribute to a Roth IRA. It is also important to recognize that with a Roth IRA, there are no required minimum distributions. You can let Roth IRAs continue to grow tax free for as long as you choose.

It would be nice if people who did not need the required minimum distribution could roll that amount into a Roth IRA, Unfortunately, it does not work that way. Your required minimum distribution must come out of the IRA and that money is subject to tax at your ordinary income bracket.

However, that does not mean that you cannot convert the remaining balance of your traditional IRA into a Roth IRA. You cannot convert your required minimum distribution amount but you can convert anything above and beyond that.

My rules to determine whether to convert from a traditional IRA into a Roth IRA are the following:

1.) You must have the money to pay the tax generated by the conversion without touching any of the money that is being converted.

2.) Converting money won't throw you into a higher tax bracket.

3) You can leave money in the IRA for at least five years.

If you meet those three criteria then a conversion makes sense.

Don't forget you don't have to convert your entire traditional IRA at once. You can do it piecemeal. Also, if you do a Roth IRA conversion, you may have to make an estimated tax payment to the IRS and potentially, the state of Michigan.

One further note, if you are working after 70½, you can contribute to a Roth IRA. In addition, if you meet the income requirement, you can also contribute to your spouse's Roth IRA. Good luck.

Livonia youth coalition gets new leadership team

For three years, Karen Bonanno watched and learned as Katie Olex steered the Livonia Save Our Youth Coalition as the group's executive director.

Now Bonanno, formerly the coalition's program director, has replaced Olex as executive director and is applying the lessons she learned and praising Olex for the success of her stint leading the coalition.

"Katie took on the job when we received (funding) from SEMCA," Bonanno said. "She legitimized the coalition and understood what the mission meant within the community."

One of Bonanno's first orders of business: replacing herself. She's done that, hiring Martha Kaczala as the coalition's new program director.

Kaczala came to the coalition as community outreach specialist for the Southeast Michigan Community Alliance, where she was "well aware of the reputation" of the Livonia Save Our Youth Coalition.

When Kaczala, a Plymouth Township resident, got the chance to work for the LSOY, she took it.

Executive director Karen Bonanno (left) and program director Martha Kaczala form the new leadership team of the Livonia Save Our Youth Coalition.

"I believe strongly in what the (LSOY) coalition does," Kaczala said. "If I can support their mission in any way, I'm happy to do so.'

The coalition's mission is to educate and empower the community regarding the health and safety of young people, with a focus on substance use disorder prevention.

As program director, Kaczala will coordinate events such as the coalition's biggest fundraiser, the Livonia Run to Save Our Youth, which is coming up in June. She will also provide technical assistance and perform a variety of "behind the scenes" tasks essential to running the coalition. Bonanno believes Kaczala fits right in. "Martha brings a commitment to the community, with a foundation of knowledge that fills a gap within the coalition," Bonanno said of Kaczala, who is a certified prevention specialist. "(Kaczala's certification) gives weight and meaning to our mission. It gives us credibility.'

Bonanno recognized the coalition has a core of strong partners - The Livonia Police Department, Livonia schools and a variety of civic organizations – and hopes to expand the group's reach outside Livonia's boundaries.

"We've been expanding that partnership to the greater area," she said. "We share the same mission with those communities. Substance abuse issues are everywhere. By partnering with these communities, we can strengthen the message. I'm excited."

The Livonia Save Our Youth Coalition is led by its 2015 Board of Directors, including Jerry Kwas, Robert Douville, Mark Menestrina, John Tait, Jason Schwartz, Susan Nicholas, Diane Montes, Mary Olex and Caryn Epps.

Livonia Save Our Youth's general meetings are held the first Wednesday of each month and are open to the community. Check the website www.livonias aveouryouth.org, for meeting dates and times.

EXERCISE AND FIBROMYALGIA

The treatment of Fibromyalgia continues to vex physicians. Drugs crowd pharmacy shelves including Cymbalta, Lyrica, Savella, Flexeril, Elavil, Paxel, Prozac, Valium, Xanax, etc

To date, these medications alone and in combination have failed to give sustained relief from the pain and fatigue of Fibromyalgia. The only therapy known to work over time is exercise

The exercise must have certain features. First, it must be constant, that is involve movement. The movement needs to be walking, biking, or swimming. Stretching and Yoga like exercises are good, they promote coordination and good gait. But these exercises are not a corrective to Fibromyalgia because only persistent movement as in walking promotes the body to generate its own painkillers called endorphins.

Second, the individual needs to undertake the activity seven days a week. The rationale is that if a person is on a medication for Fibromyalgia, such as Lyrica, then he or she would expect to take the medicine daily; most medicines are taken that way. In Fibromyalgia, the medicine is exercise and it needs to be taken every day.

Third, more exercise is better than less exercise is a useful rule up to a point. In Fibromyalgia, the exercise goal is 30 minutes. Walking longer may help build up muscles or be to the liking of your dog, but studies have shown that maximum benefit for relieving the pain and fatigue of Fibromyalgia comes with a half hour of continuous exercise. Keep in mind one does not have to go far or fast, but just

St. Michael Quiz Bowl teams compete in Middle School Championship

St. Michael Catholic School in Livonia joined 126 of the top middle school quiz bowl teams in Dallas last weekend for the 2015 Middle School National Championship Tournament.

St. Michael had two teams competing: St. Michael A, which finished the preliminary rounds with a 4-4 record; and St. Michael B, which finished the preliminary rounds with a 3-5 record.

There were some tense moments. The B team defeated University School from Hunting Valley, Ohio, by the narrow margin of 180-170 during round 11.

St. Michael A was on the brink of elimination when they defeated Stratford-San Jose from California in round 9 to stay alive. They lost to Midtown Classical from Tallahassee, Fla., ending their shot at the playoffs.

St. Michael B's shot at the playoffs ended when they lost to Alphonsus Arts B from Chicago in round 6.

The tournament champion was the A team from Kealing Middle School of Austin, Quiz bowl is a competitive, academic, interscholastic activity for teams of four students.

DISTINGUISHED HONOR

Churchill's Hage earns prestigious MHSAA award

By Ed Wright Staff Writer

Just a few years into what promised to be a successful career in advertising, Marc Hage experienced a change of heart regarding his future employment.

And scores of student-athletes at Livonia Churchill have reaped the benefits of the longtime Charger athletic director's decision.

Earlier this week Hage — an educator in the Livonia Public Schools since 1990 and his alma mater's AD since 1996 — was notified that he was a recipient of the Michigan High School Athletic Association's Allen W. Bush Award, which is awarded to a handful of honorees annually. Bush award presented to high-achieving contributors to high school athletics

According to the MHSAA website, the award — which was established in 1992 — is presented to administrators, coaches, officials, trainers, doctors or members of the media with at least 15 years of experience who have "made frequent and significant contributions to the MHSAA."

Hage will officially accept the award from MHSAA Executive Director Jack Roberts at the June 8 Livonia Board of Education meeting.

"I am humbled and honored to receive this award," Hage said Friday afternoon. "It is the culmination of a lot of hard work by a lot of people. I have been fortunate to have been able to work with a group of people who realize the benefits of athletics and people who are extremely supportive.

Hage said he is especially thankful for the support of his family: wife Anne, sons Joe and Jake, and daughter Mer-

"The day I accepted this job, my second son was born," Hage revealed.
"With a one-and-a-half-year-old son already and knowing the unique hours an athletic director's job demanded, I initially told my wife that I'd pass on it and remain a teacher. But she insisted that I take the job and that we'd make it work. I wouldn't have been able to do it without her support."

Hage said his decision to change careers from the business world to one that centered around education was an

"It's not that I didn't like my advertising jobs; I did," he said. "But I had coached and worked with young athletes a lot, and I really enjoyed it, and I ultimately decided I wanted to be an educator."

When it comes to his job, Hage takes the most pride in the relationships he develops with coaches, athletes and athletes' parents. "I really try to get to as many games and practices as I can because I enjoy the interaction with the athletes, the coaches," he said. "Obviously, there is a

Chargers victorious in rivalry showdown

Game played in memory of Domenic Gentilia

> By Ed Wright Staff Writer

An emotional Friday for Livonia Churchill head softball coach Steve Gentilia was capped by the Chargers' 7-2 victory over crosstown rival Livonia Stevenson in a game that doubled fundraiser for th American Heart Associa-

The contest was a fitting tribute to Gentilia's father Domenic, who passed away unexpectedly in February at the age of 72 after suf-fering a heart attack. Domenic Gentilia was a wellknown fixture in softball and baseball circles in Garden City, where he owned and operated the Put Me In Coach Batting Cages at Garden City Park.

"I thought about my dad pretty much all day today," said Steve Gentilia, moments after Friday's game.

Garden City junior shortstop Kaylen Glenfield is greeted at home plate after bashing the first of her two home runs Thursday night against Livonia Churchill.

WELCOME HOME, GC junior slugger puts on fireworks show with bat

By Ed Wright Staff Writer

Moments after Thursday night's underthe-lights softball game against Livonia Churchill, Garden City shortstop Kaylen Glenfield diligently smoothed out the "Lighted Field" infield with a rake.

It was an appropriate job for Glenfield given that her cleat marks were all over the dirt as a result of her pair of over-the-fence home runs that powered the Cougars to a 7-3

Glenfield's first opposite-field blast over the right-center field fence came with one out in the bottom of the first and knotted the game at 1-1 after Churchill struck first when lead-off batter Victoria Lupher singled and scored following Erin Carpenter's sacrifice bunt and Madison Christianson's RBI single. Garden City grabbed the lead for good in the bottom of the third when Natalie Billings led off with a single, moved to second on Aleea Montgomery's sacrifice bunt and scored on lead-off batter Mikey Smolar's single.

Glenfield then launched Melanie Richardson's second pitch on a clothes-line over the same section of chain link that she sent her first one to up the hosts' lead to 4-1.

Glenfield, who was walked intentionally her final two at-bats, now has a team-high seven home runs.

"I knew the first one was gone when I hit it because I couldn't even feel the ball hit the bat," she said. "When you can't feel it, you know you hit it good. I wasn't sure about the second one until it went over.

"I wasn't surprised they pitched to me my second time up. I've hit home runs before

Walk-off HR ends MU's year

Dickinson State steals game in seventh

> By Brad Emons Staff Writer

It felt like a kick in the teeth and a punch in the gut – all in one swoop – for the Madonna University women's softball team Wednesday afternoon in the NAIA tournament's opening round held in Irvine, Calif.

Just three outs away from advancing to the NAIA National Championship, the fourth-seeded Crusaders bottom of seventh inning only be stunned by thirdseed Dickinson State (N.D.), 7-3, on a no-out, walk-off grand slam by senior Janell LaRont.

MU finishes its season at 37-14-1 overall, while the Blue Hawks will take a 43-11 overall record to the Sioux City, Ia. for the NAIA National tourney, which starts

The Crusaders scored all three of their runs in the top of the fifth inning thanks to a 3-run homer by Emma Cook. The rally started when Karleigh Creighton (North Farmington) drew her first walk of the season and Morgan Kaiser (2-for-3)

Madonna senior righthander Bree Crampton, who earlier in the day blanked Dickinson State, 8-0, averted trouble for the most part by blanking the Blue Hawks through the first six innings in the winner-take-all game of the double-elimination tournament.

But in the bottom of the seventh, Brianna Grayson led off the inning reaching first base via an error by the MU shortstop Nicole Salloum (Livonia Churchill). Monique Yslas followed with an infield single and pinch-hitter Tiffany Morgan worked her way on via a walk to load the bases.

Madonna baseball season ends in NAIA tourney loss

By Brad Emons Staff Writer

It was two-and-done for the Madonna University in the NAIA National Baseball Championship opening round held in Bellevue,

The Crusaders, who dropped their tourney opener Tuesday to Mayville State (N.D.), 6-2, couldn't stand prosperity on Wednesday as they failed to hold a 6-2 advantage through the top of the seventh as William Woods (Mo.) rallied for five runs in the bottom of the seventh and one in the eighth for an 8-6 triumph.

Konrad Kemper, who went 3-for-3, crushed a 3-run homer over the left field fence off Madonna reliever Dylan Cooper to key the 5-run uprising and give the Owls (39-13) the lead for keeps, 7-6.

Nick Spagnola, who went 3-for-5, added a solo homer over the center field fence in the eighth off MU reliever Patrick Wierimaa to provide William Woods a two-run cushion.

William Woods' Dylan Hastings, who worked the final four innings in relief allowing one run on two hits and a walk, earned the victory. Hastings, who struck out four, got out of a ninth inning jam as the Crusaders left runners stranded at first and third base.

Madonna, which ends its season at 37-17 overall, out-hit the Owls 12-11 as Levi Larmour led the way going 3for-5 with an RBI.

Taylor Grzelakowski also went 2-for-5 with an RBI, while Logan Brennan contributed two hits. Shane Dokey and Ryan Lambrecht each knocked in a run.

MU starter Evan Piechota (Livonia Stevenson) went the first six innings and did get the decision. The righthander allowed four runs (three earned) on eight hits and three walks while striking out

Cooper, who took the loss, was charged with three earned runs on two hits in two-thirds of an inning.

5TH ANNUAL BAT AWAY CANCER AWARENESS EVENT

Rockets capture own tournament

By Ed Wright Staff Writer

Westland John Glenn's softball team proved to be the host with the most during the fifth annual Bat Away Breast Cancer Awareness tournament on the Rockets' diamond.

Thanks to timely hitting, strong pitching and air-tight defense, the Rockets went 3-0 to win the tournament championship.

In the opening game, John Glenn blanked cross-town rival Wayne Memorial, 4-0, as Mackenzie Huren tossed a shut-out in addition to belting two home runs and knocking in all four runs at the plate. Other key hitters for the Rockets were Chelsea Gilbert (2-for-3, double, two RBI), Heather Gains (1-3, three steals) and Cheyenne Grim, who went 2-for-4.

In the second game, John Glenn whitewashed Dearborn Heights Crestwood, 7-0, as Huren threw a perfect game while striking out

In the championship game, John Glenn walloped Berkley, 8-2, as Huren yielded just three hits and zero earned runs over seven frames. Offensively, John Glenn was paced by Huren (2-for-4, home run, two RBI), Michlowski (3for-4), Hamill (2-for-4, double) and Gains (2for-4). Gains also made a spectacular catch to subdue a Berkley threat.

Trojans' bats come to life

After winning a 22-14 slugfest Wednesday over Thurston, Clarenceville's softball record slipped to 3-9 overall Thursday following a 15-10 loss to host Redford Union.

The Lady Trojans rallied in the top of the fifth inning to get within two runs, 11-9, but the Panthers scored four in the bottom of the sixth to clinch the win Thursday.

Senior Emily Schwartz (3-8) went the distance in the circle, allowing seven earned runs on 13 hits, striking out eight and walking one. The defense made six errors.

Schwartz was on base four times and scored two runs. She walked twice and was hit by a pitch twice. Senior Mia Sampson had two hits and also scored two runs.

Junior Kylee Hammond reached five times with two singles, a walk and two hit-by-pitches; she scored one run. Clarenceville stranded 10 base runners

Cougars roll

Garden City improved to 10-2 overall and 8-1 in the WWAC with a couple of impressive victories earlier this week.

Churchill's John Doyle carded a 44 during the Chargers' match against South Lyon.

Juston Bastion (38) and Connor Johnson (39).

For an encore, GC took care of RU on Thursdasy, 151-196 at Westland Municipal. Pummill was on fire, carding a one-under 33 while Johnson chipped in with a 37. Latham shot a stellar 38 while while Bastion contributed a 43.

Evan Breen (43) and Austin New (44) played well, but didn't count toward the scoring. RU was led by Ryan Ruffner (46), Hebner (49), Randall (49) and Albright, who turned in a 52.

On Thursday, the Cougars defeated Redford Union High School 151 to 196 at Westland Municipal. Leading the Cougars were Joe Pummill with a 1 under par score of 33. Connor Johnson shot 37, Jarid Latham carded a 38 and Juston Bastion shot 43. Rounding out the scoring was Evan Breen with a 43 and Austin New with a 44. The Panthers were led by Ryan Ruffler with 46, Luke Hebner with 49, Ryan Randall 49, Evan Albright with 52.

Led appropriately enough by a golfer with the last name of Cupp, South Lyon snapped Livonia Churchill's fourmatch winning streak Thursday with a 163-181 triumph at Coyote Golf Course.

South Lyon's Nate Cupp earned medalist honors with a 38. Sam Spayd was low man for Churchill with a 40. Also scoring for the Chargers were John Doyle (44) and Griffin Ahmet (48). Logan Welch and Peyton Elkins both carded 49s. Chase Fallu shot a 54 for Churchill, which is now 4-4.

"Really, the past few months have been an emotional whirlwind. He loved the games of softball and baseball, and he passed his passion for the sports on to me.

"He was at a lot of our games, and he was at all of our golf outings and fundraisers. He was someone I could call after a game — win or lose — and he'd say the right things.'

Churchill senior Rosie Garvin, who knew Domenic Gentilia, emphasized to her teammates prior to Friday's game how significant it was.

"I tried to tell all the girls that it was a big game because, No. 1 it's Stevenson, which is our biggest rival, and No. 2 we needed to go out with a lot of fight and win it for Steve and his dad, and we did that," she said. "Steve didn't really talk about it before the game, but we all went to the funeral and we knew this game was for the American Heart Association, so we knew we had to win it for him."

Sophomore starting pitcher Madison Christianson played a huge role in the Chargers' triumphant performance as she limited the Spartans to just one earned run over seven innings. She also singled her first two times up and the pinch-runner in her spot scored both times.

"I thought Maddy pitched really well today," Gentilia said. "She was hitting her spots and making them miss here and there. When her change-up is on like it was today, she's tough to hit. She probably had three or four strikeouts off her change.

"We hit the ball well today, too, and everybody got to play, which is always nice.'

The defensive play of the day was turned in by Churchill shortstop Erin Carpenter who ranged deep into the hole to back-hand a well-struck shot off the bat of Natalie Moore before squaring her shoulders and throwing out the speedy Moore at first base.

Churchill never trailed after scoring two runs with two outs in the first on three consecutive singles by Christianson, Regan Peyton and Melanie Richrard-

The Chargers upped their lead to 3-0 in the second when Victoria Lupher's two-out single plated Lauren St. Pierre, who had reached on a fielder's choice.

Stevenson drew within 3-1 in the third when starting pitcher Sarah Mesack's sacrifice fly brought home Megan Gronau, who reached on an error.

Churchill broke it open in the bottom of the third with a three spot that was generated by an RBI single by Richardson and a run-scoring ground-out by Rachel Mattison.

The Chargers tacked on their final run in the fourth when Carpenter's single scored Lupher, who led off the frame with a double.

Stevenson scored its second run in the sixth when Clare Bunton singled with one out, advanced to second on a passed ball and scored on Cori Wilson's single to right.

Ladywood eyes another run to state finals

It's getting near the critical stretch run for the 2015 girls softball season and one area team that can't be overlooked once again is Livonia Ladywood.

Currently ranked No. 2 in the latest Division 2 statewide rankings, the Blazers improved to 22-5 overall on Wednesday with a 16-3 six-inning Catholic League playoff victory at Allen Park Cabrini.

The win puts the Blazers in Monday's A-B Division championship game against Warren

The two team will play for the coveted title beginning at 6 p.m. Monday at the University of Detroit Mercy.

Ladywood finished second in the Central Division with an 8-4 record, while Mercy took the title with a 10-2 mark. Four of the Blazers' five losses this season have come against their rival Marlins.

Against Cabrini, Ladywood built an 11-3 advantage through five innings before ending the game with five runs in the sixth as Rachel Hendrickson and Maddie Haas each clubbed 3-run homers.

Winning pitcher Rozlyn Price, a junior, struck out 12 and allowed just two hits.

'We're really swinging the bats well," Ladywood coach Scott Combs said. "Everybody is hitting well and 'Roz' is throwing very, very well. She's only walking one, maybe two a game, so she's really in con-

On Tuesday, Ladywood rolled to a 9-0 A-B Division quarterfinal victory at home over Riverview Gabriel Richard as Price threw a 1-hitter.

Michaela Warner collected three hits, while Erika Selakowski added a 3-run double in the

But the win was marred by an injury to starting outfielder Morgan Larkin, the Blazers' No. 2 hitter who went out with an injury after being hit by a

"She was just trying a simple bunt for a hit and the pitch rode up inside and hit her on the finger, split it and displaced it,' Combs said. "We might be looking at getting a pin placed in it, so she may be done for the year. That's the only downside of the last week or two.'

Larkin, who helped the Blazers reach last year's MHSAA Division 2 finals, was scheduled to see a hand specialist on Wednesday.

"We're hoping they can do some miracle and get her at least to contribute somehow because she was playing very well," Combs said.

Prior to the Catholic League playoffs, Ladywood competed in the Canton Classic before falling to the host Chiefs, 3-2, who earned the victory in the final round of pool play with a 2-run homer in the sixth.

The Blazers started the Canton Classic with wins over Tecumseh (9-2) and Livonia Stevenson (16-1), but three starters and one reserve player missed the third-round game against Canton to attend the Dearborn Divine Child High School prom.

"Even though we didn't have everybody, it was still good ballgame and it's always good to get that kind of competition prior to the state playoffs," said Combs, who has guided Ladywood to five state semifinal appearances in the past six years, including a Division 2 crown in 2012 along with runner-up finishes in 2014 and 2011.

HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL

Wildcats roll to division title against Patriots

By Ed Wright Staff Writer

Many championship baseball games are decided by balls that sail over fences.

Wednesday's pivotal KLAA South Division match-up featuring host Livonia Franklin and Plymouth was impacted by a ball that rolled under a

With the Patriots trailing the Wildcats 2-0 in the bottom of the fourth inning in the first game of a double-header that Plymouth needed to at least split to capture a division crown, Wildcat starting pitcher Kevin Anthony sailed an attempted pick-off throw over the third baseman's head with the bases loaded with Patriots.

All three Franklin baserunners came around to score on the play, however, the runners who were on first and second - Tyler Camp and Mitch Gonyaw - were sent back to second and third because the ball became embedded under the chain-link fence that runs parallel to the third-base line.

Anthony, who was sharp all day, then extinguished the Patriots' rally by retiring the next three hitters on a strikeout, pop-out and ground-out and preserved his team's 2-1

Plymouth went on to tally three runs in the top of the fifth and two more in the sixth to put the clamps on a 7-1 vicand South Division title.

Franklin needed to sweep the twinbill to earn its first division title since 2009.

Anthony was the unofficial MVP as he yielded just four hits two walks while striking out five in six innings of work. The only run he yielded in the fourth was unearned.

Wildcat reliever Kyle Wolter hit the first batter he face in the bottom of the seventh, but was spotless from then on, getting two straight groundouts, the final one resulting in a game-ending 6-4-3 double-

Plymouth broke a scoreless battle in the fourth when Patrick Downing led off with a single and Cameron Stella

Seth Hubbard then smoked a hard-hit grounder up the middle that deflected off the leg of Franklin pitcher Adrian Reed, who recovered in time to throw Hubbard out at first.

With Wildcats at second and third, Wolter scored Downing with a sacrifice fly to center-field. Stella scored on the play when the throw from the outfield eluded the Patriots' third baseman.

Plymouth's three-run fifth feature an RBI ground-out by Stella and a run-scoring single by Hubbard.

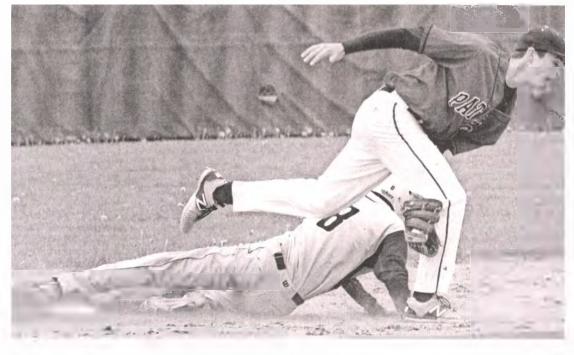

Both the Wildcats' runs in the sixth scored without a hit as Plymouth took advantage of two Franklin errors and a pair of walks.

Churchill, John Glenn split

Pitching and defense were the names of the games Wednesday as Livonia Churchill and Westland John Glenn split a double-header in which both games ended with a 2-1

The Chargers made good use of their four hits against Brendan Wetmore in the first game - a 2-1 triumph. James Rintala was lights-out good on the mound for the winners, giving up just two hits and one walk while striking out seven in a complete-game gem.

Wetmore struck out eight and did not walk a batter.

Joe Hattley led the Chargers' offense with two hits and an RBI. Noah Cross delivered the game-winning single with two outs in the seventh.

Wetmore went 1-for-3 with a run for the Rockets.

John Glenn won the nightcap, 2-1, as freshman pitcher Brian Martin scattered four hits and two walks while fanning 13 Chargers. Losing pitcher Jon Hovermale was sona, too, giving up just rive hits and three walks while striking out five over six in-

Reed Zielinski led the winners with two hits, a walk and two stolen bases. Hovermale was 2-for-3 for Churchill.

Stevenson blanks Churchill

Livonia Stevenson was dialing long distance against host Livonia Churchill Friday afternoon.

When the Chargers came to bat, all's they got was a busy signal against Stevenson starting pitcher Jack Ferguson.

Powered by home runs from C.J. Breen, Dan Morris and Frank Carlin, the Spartans prevailed 8-0 in a KLAA Kensington Conference crossover game that improved the winners' record to 19-9 overall and 10-6 in the conference. Churchill slipped to 15-14 and 9-7, respectively.

In addition to the long-ball hitters, Stevenson was bolstered by strong swings from Jack Ferguson (two hits, two RBI), Gordon Ferguson (two doubles, RBI) and Dan Bos, who lashed a pair of hits.

Steve Szymanski, Jon Hovermale and Joe Hattley notched the Chargers' only Rob Copciac took the loss for Churchill after yielding five runs and seven hits over 3.1 innings.

Warriors win

Lutheran Westland improved to 15-4 on Thursday with a 10-0 five-inning victory over Macomb Christian. Macomb dropped to 10-8.

"I felt we did the things necessary to win tonight," said LW head coach Kevin Wade. "We had timely hitting, solid defense and solid pitching. Our next six games will be incredibly tough so we will see what we are made of."

Nate Abbott threw a nohitter for the Warriors, striking out six while walking just Jordan Williams was the offensive star, going 2-for-3 with a home run and two RBI.

Drake Snyder, Abbott and Travis Fry also stroked two hits for the winners.

Northville sweeps Spartans

Livonia Stevenson dropped both ends of a well-played double-header Wednesday at state-ranked Northville, falling 2-1 and 5-3.

The Spartans slipped to 18-9 overall and 9-6 in the KLAA Kensington Conference while the Mustangs improved to 22-2 and 16-0, respectively.

Northville starting pitcher Evan Flohr was stingy in the opener, limiting the Spartans to seven hits and a walk while fanning seven. Stevenson hurler Gordon Ferguson was stellar as well, giving up just three hits and four walks while striking out three Mustangs in six innings.

Northville scored both its runs in the third. Stevenson's lone run came in the fourth on Ferguson's RBI single that scored Frank Carlin. Ferguson and Dan Bos both had two hits for the Spartans.

The Mustangs jumped out to a 5-0 lead after two innings before repelling a late Stevenson push. Ian Borthwick earned the complete-game win after giving up nine hits. Dan Bullard took the loss.

C.J. Weiss and Danny Morris both ripped a pair of hits for Stevenson. Jack Ferguson contributed a two-run single and a run.

RU drops heart-breaker

On Monday, Dearborn Heights Annapolis erased a 3-0 fourth-inning deficit and outlasted Redford Union, 7-6, in a Western Wayne Athletic Conference Red Division encounter. The loss dropped RU pitcher Vince Diaz's record to 5-3.

Brandon Pratt was the Panthers' No. 1 catalyst, drawing three walks and ripping a double in addition to scoring three runs. Diaz added a single and two RBI.

On Thursday, the Panthers rebounded with an 11-1 victory (in five innings) over Dearborn Fordson. Starting pitcher Jacob Gagnon improved to 2-1 with a strong outing while the Panthers were led offensively by Brendan McGurk (3-for-4, four RBI), Brendan Kerkhof (two RBI) and Gagnon (two RU took a 15-5 overall record and 7-1 mark in the division into Saturday's pair of games at Livonia's Ford Field against Allen Park (3 p.m.) and Catholic Central (7:30 p.m.).

Annapolis edges Eagles

Redford Thurston received a stellar pitching effort by Austin Benoit (six innings, two earned runs, five hits, four strike-outs) Thursday afternoon, but lost to Dearborn Heights Annapolis, 3-2.

Thurston seized an early 1-0 lead in the third when Bobby Snell walked and ultimately scored when the catcher overthrew the third baseman while Snell stole third. The Eagles added another run in the fourth when Zack June singled, Nygel Beaman and Travis Wesenberg walked and Snell drew an RBI walk.

Trojans down Eagles

Clarenceville scored three runs in the top of the eighth inning and held on to beat host Redford Thurston in a Western Wayne Red Division game Thursday, 6-3.

Freshman Nick Bisaro pitched three scoreless innings of relief to get the win. Rvan Menifee went five innings and gave up three runs none of which was earned and three hits.

"Ryan struggled finding the plate, especially in the fifth inning, and he never really got into a rhythm,' coach Craig Cotter said.

He added the Trojans had great discipline at the plate. Clarenceville batters worked six walks and were hit by pitches three times.

"Even when we made outs, we were having seven-pitch at-bats," Cotter said.

Bobby Snell pitched the first six innings for Thurston, allowing three runs on five hits while striking out five Trojans. Chalfontae Phillips delivered a two-run single for the Eagles in the fifth.

Menifee and Matt Drain led the offense with two hits apiece. Jayson Harris reached base four times; Bisaro and Adam Sade also had hits.

Menifee had a two-out, two-run single to give the Trojans two insurance runs in the eighth inning and pushed the lead to three runs

Second baseman Mitch Kubiak played great defensively, according to Cotter.

"He made a great diving stop in the eighth and was able to field cleanly three other balls hit right in front of runners," he said.

The Trojans were in second place with a 5-2 division record going into a Friday game with Dearborn Heights Robichaud.

KLAA 'A' TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Northville wins event, Stevenson takes fifth

By Ed Wright Staff Writer

All three of Livonia's Division 1 high schools were represented at the KLAA Girls "A" Tennis Championship hosted by Brighton.

Northville stroked its way to the title by piling up 33 points after placing first in seven of the nine flights.

Novi placed second with 22 points, followed by Grand Blanc (20), Plymouth (13) and Livonia Stevenson (nine).

Churchill tied for sixth in the 12-team tournament with six points while Livonia Franklin tied for 10th with three

The Spartans' No. 3 and No. 4 singles players – Danielle Marzec and Molly Cormier, respectively – each won two matches. Stevenson's No. 1 doubles tandem of Arryn Dochenetz and Sam DiGiovanni and No. 5 duo of Alyssa Ayyash and Allison Malkowski also picked up two points a piece for the Spartans.

Stevenson's ninth point was generated by its No. 3 doubles team of Lauren Larson and Saran Morse.

The Chargers' top point producer was freshman No. 1 singles standout Kaitlyn Rogosch, who won two matches. Churchill received one win each from No. 2 singles player Triveni Arvikar, No. 3 singles player Madison White, its No. 2 doubles pairing of Maggie Trinka and Kayla Gruich; and its No. 3 tandem of Julia Marsh and Franceska Spaillari.

Franklin earned one point each from No. 1 singles player Kendall Payne, No. 4 singles player Yasmeen Freeman and its No. 4 doubles team of Haley Griffin and Emma Fogle.

lot of office work involved, but my favorite time is getting out and talking to the athletes and watching them compete.'

Prior to securing a position with the Livonia Public Schools, Hage worked as a physical education teacher in Holt and Berkley.

Hage served as the Western Lakes Activities Association president from 2000-04 and the Kensington Lakes Activities Association president from 2006-09. He was named an MIAAA Regional Athletic Director of the Year in 2002 and 2011 and the recipient of the MIAAA George Lovich Award.

Hage said that declining enrollments in public schools is among the tallest hurdles athletic departments face compared to when he started his current role in 1996.

"More kids are going to charter schools and private schools than they were 20 years ago," he said. "But it is a credit to our coaches and administrators at Churchill that even though our enrollment is down, our participation rates are stable and we remain com-

Garden City bulldozes Clarenceville

Sherlock nets hat trick for Cougars

> By Ed Wright Staff Writer

Garden City's girls soccer team overwhelmed Livonia Clarenceville, 12-0, in a Western Wayne Athletic Conference match played Wednesday.

The Cougars improved to 8-7-1 overall and 5-2 in the league.

Hope Pickens and Tatum Spears split time in the net for the winners, who compiled all 12 goals in the first half. Pickens also netted her first goal of the season.

The Cougars' offense was spearheaded by freshman Alex Sherlock, who scored three goals. Senior standout Lindsay Yankasky is adjusting well to her new role as a forward as she registered a goal and two assists.

"We've been struggling to finish plays, so I moved Lindsay from outside mid to forward and she's doing a great job," said GC head coach

Jeff Szypula. Yankasky's net-finder pushed her over the 50-goal mark for her career. She is also one of the program's all-time leaders in points, Szypula noted.

Other key players for GC were Chelsea Booker

(two goals), Gabby Castillo (goal, assist) Samantha Sultana (goal, two assists) and Savanna Childress, who added her first goal along with an

and the other team has always pitched to me. After I hit the second one, I had a feeling I wouldn't get to swing any more.

The game marked the second straight season the two teams have honored the memory of former Garden City associate softball coach Bob Bako, who passed away in December of 2013 after a valiant struggle with amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS), which is a progressive neurodegenerative disease that causes muscle weakness, paralysis and, ultimately, respiratory failure.

Bako was a coaching fixture in the Garden City youth softball leagues. He also coached several years with Cougars head coach Barry Patterson.

Glenfield never met Bako, but her mom played for him.

"It's exciting for us as players to play in this game because we know coach Bob Bako was a big part of Barry's life and we care about Barry, so we want to give him a good game," said Glenfield.

"This is a special night for us because Bob was such a big part of Garden City softball, not only at the high school, but in the GCYB-SA," Patterson added.

"We not only want to honor Bob with this night, but also promote awareness of ALS. "Bob brought so many great memories to this program. It's the one night a year I ask the girls to let it all hang out and have fun, because that's the kind of guy Bob was. Bob was a full-throttle guy. He lived life to the fullest." Churchill is an appropriate opponent in the tribute game because Chargers head coach Steve Gentilia grew up in Garden City and he grew up with Bako's daughters.

"It's always a good night when we do this because both teams are competitive, the girls like playing under the lights and 'Lighted Field' is such a great location," Gentilia said.
"It's nice, too, because some of the parents can't make it to all of the 4 p.m. games, so playing a night game gives everybody a chance to come out and watch."

GC maintained its three-run lead until the top of the fifth when Churchill sliced its deficit to 4-2. Lupher led off with a single, stole second and scored on Christianson's single. After Regan Peyton laced a solid hit to put the tying run on first with two outs, GC center-fielder Amber Swisher ended the threat by tracking down Richardson's wellstruck liner in deep right-center field.

The Cougars padded their lead to 7-2 in the bottom of the sixth with a two-out, bases-empty rally. Billings singled and scored on Smolar's second triple of the night. After Glenfield and Kelsie Powell walked, Alicia Ascencio delivered a two-run single to make it 7-2.

Churchill made it interesting in the top of the seventh with a twoout rally of its own. After Carpenter walked, Christianson and Peyton reached on back-to-back GC errors, the second of which plated Carpenter.

The game ended in dramatic fashion when right-fielder Billings made a shoe-string catch on a sinking liner off the bat of Richardson. The second-base umpire initially ruled the play a hit, which would have made it 7-4 with the tying run at the plate, but he was overrufled by the homeplate ump, who said Billings secured the ball before it hit the grass.

GC freshman pitcher April Rudolph went the distance, scattering seven hits and two walks. She didn't strike out a Charger, but kept the home team in the game by delivering a steady stream of strikes.

The Cougars improved to 19-7 with the win while Churchill slipped to 15-14

DIVISION 1 TRACK & FIELD MEET

Churchill's Elisabeth placed fourth in the Division 1 regional pole vault competition.

John Glenn boys, Churchill girls win championships

By Tim Smith Staff Writer

A little inadvertent nudge around the outside edge of the track at Plymouth-Canton Educational Park Friday night changed everything as far as Plymouth's varsity girls track and field team was concerned.

Moments after Wildcats head coach Ricky Styes and his jubilant athletes were celebrating what appeared to be a regional championship, they were heartsick after finding out officials disqualified their 1,600meter relay team.

With the ruling, Livonia Churchill captured the Division 1 team trophy with 119 points, seven ahead of Plymouth. In third with 111 points was Salem.

Plenty of Plymouth athletes still qualified for the May 30 individual state finals; making the cut were the top two finishers in each event, along with any athletes meeting the qualifying standards.

The boys regional also had a thrilling finish, as Westland John Glenn rallied in the late stages to overtake Livonia Churchill, 104-103. With two events to go, the Chargers were up, 95-81.

"I wasn't too much focused on that (team score)," Rockets head coach Jason Dixon said.

Publish: May 17, 2015

"I stayed focused on my team, focused on what we came here to do and that's put up great performances.

Dixon said one of the key reasons for the late turnaround was the showing of alternate David Graham in the final event.

Even though the Rockets edged Churchill, it was still a good day for the Chargers, head coach Rick Austin said. "We had Shakur Lockett, an exceptional athlete, he won the long jump today," Austin said. "Not his best jump of the season, he broke our school record (earlier this year) at 21 feet, 10 inches. But he jumped well enough for first. Also qualifying for the Chargers was Jamal Allen in the 800 run and the 800 relay.

NEW ORGANIZATION FOSTERS COLLABORATION IN THE ARTS

By Sharon Dargay Staff Writer

PAPA Weeze is bringing creative individuals together for mentoring, collaborative events, career opportunities and new projects.

Think of it as a matchmaker for the arts.

"The part of art that always intrigued me is that it can't happen without so many forms of art working in collaboration, with everyone coming together to make one solid piece," said Barbie Weisserman, founder of PAPA Weeze, a new organization dedicated to helping artists produce their works for "public consumption, enjoyment, education and personal expansion." That includes artists involved in theater, film, fashion, writing, composing, musicians, directors, dancers, choreographers, photographers, sculptors, painters, performance artists and more.

Weisserman of Farmington Hills is a longtime theater professional, with numerous credits in acting, costume design, and producing. She co-founded Two Muses Theatre in West Bloomfield, teaches makeup, costume design and an acting class at Oakland Community College and makes costumes for Mosaic Youth Weisserman, who is married and a mom, quit Two Muses last fall after four seasons with the nonprofit theater.

"Running a theater, doing set dressing and costumes and everything else, got overwhelming, time-consuming. It stopped being fun," Weisserman said. She had toyed with the idea of leaving for a year, thinking the situation might improve. "Then I got an opportunity to fund a movie. That's when I decided this is the direction I needed to go in. I started thinking about what I'd do if I wanted to seriously fund a short film."

Making connections

The idea for PAPA Weeze took shape. The organization, named after Weisserman's late father-in-law, Harold Weisserman, sponsors a few smaller collaborative projects annually, to help fund one larger project every 12-18 months. This year the major project is the short film that Weisserman promised to help fund. The film, Getting Ed Laid, is written and will be directed by Deborah Pearl, who wrote and produced the television sitcom, Designing Women, and will star veteran actor Ed Asner. Weisserman and Pearl met when Two Muses produced Pearl's musical last year.

"Deborah needed a place to stay," said Weisserman, who welcomed the playwright into her home "She was at our house six weeks. We are like soul mates. We have so much in common. She respected me as a producer and I respected her as a playwright.

'One opportunity led to another. We were just having a conversation and she said I'd like to make a short film while he (Asner) is still around."

Weisserman is executive producer on the project and will take local wardrobe, makeup and continuity professionals with her to California for the shoot in August. A Kickstarter funding campaign has surpassed its $18,000 goal by more than $2,000 and as of May 15 had nine days remaining for donations.

and also will help fund the film. The first, an evening of short plays, was held in March at the Ringwald Theatre in Ferndale. The next event, 6 p.m. June 13, 31440 Northwestern Highway in Farmington Hills, will combine fashion and stand-up comedy. Stand-Up Fashion Show will give aspiring and established Michigan designers a chance to show their work. Allie Shapiro of Farmington Hills will supply the comedic commentary. Fine artists also will sell their work in the lobby. The deadline to fashion portion of the event is May 25. Applications for both artist and fashion designers are online at papaweeze.org. Tickets for the fashion show and comedy are $20, also available online.

In addition to sponsoring the events, PAPA Weeze through its Jumpstart program helps connect new and aspiring artists with successful professionals. Newcomers get the encouragement and guidance they need to get an artistic career or project up and running.

"I have a high school student who is quite good at playwriting and needs impetus and counseling. I'm having Deborah help," Weisserman said. "I have a friend who always wanted to write a book. Now it's time for her to put her She paired her with a professional and plans to help with the editing.

Teen job hunt a combination of common sense, luck

By Julie Brown Staff Writer

Aylin Lopez, 18, and Kyra Dickinson, 14, are off to a good start on their summer job search.

"I'm actually looking for anything to do with computers or engineering," said Lopez, who'll graduate this June from Plymouth Canton High School. She's tutored in the past and is headed to the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor this fall to study chemical engineering.

She found a May 13 job search for teens workshop at the Plymouth District Library a good place to start. "I thought it was very helpful," Lopez said. "I'm really excited I got a job lead" from Mary Kelly, the presenting librarian and a staffer at the Lyon Township Public Library.

Dickinson is a ninth-grader at Canton High School who wants to baby-sit. "It was very informational," she said of the program. She learned about filling out job applications and "not what to do and what to

"We happen to live in one of the most depressed areas of the country," said Kelly, a South Lyon resident who also works as a substitute librarian at the Plymouth library. In addition, she said, teens must overcome negative perceptions among employers, such as that they're lazy.

"I wouldn't let this stop you. You just have to persevere," Kelly said.

She had practical tips for the more than 20 teens at the evening session, including organizing their personal information to make it easy to access. "If there are pictures of you being stupid on the Internet, you want to take them down," Kelly said. You'll need a unique and professional email for your job hunt, she added, as well as a Social Security number.

Kelly and Barb Dinan, PDL teen librarian, urged the teens to create a list of contacts and references, "anybody that can vouch for your character,' Kelly said. "You also want to let these people know you're looking for work."

Family members generally shouldn't be references, they said, although one teen had worked for his grandfather in a "real" job. Teachers are good references, Kelly said, provided they think well of you.

Teens know technology

"One of the things young people can bring to the table is technology," Kelly said. Teens may know Microsoft Word or Microsoft Publisher; they may have been baby-sitters, "managing horrible children. She had the teens go through a printed schedule of their availability, blocking off school time. You need travel time to get to a job, Kelly said, reminding them of Plymouth's frequent trains and delays.

My kid once had a car accident on the way to work," Kelly added.

She emphasized hard work, along with such "soft skills" as team spirit, communication, empathy and trustworthiness.

How you handle people is key on the job, Kelly said.

"They want reliable and showing up on time," Kelly said of employers. "You want to market those skills that you can handle crazy people. She covered good manners, professional dress (it's good to dress one level up from the current staff, even when picking up applications) as well as the need for common sense. You should "conform before you deviate," in terms of your appearance when approaching an employer, Kelly said.

"Then let out your pink hair slowly," she added. With time and reading of an employer, teens learn "where can you bend the rules and where can you not.'

Other basics include:

» Don't complain. » Don't use your cell phone at work (parents can reach the business phone in an emergen-

» Don't have your friends stop by at work.

» Delay asking for "favors," such as a night off, until you're more of a known commodity at

» Don't involve parents directly in your job search, such as having a mother pick up job applications. Parents can give counsel at home, but teens should appear to be "orphans" to the employer, Kelly

"So many people are horrible at this," she said of job hunting, adding applicants should always carry a pen, never asking to borrow one.

Teens can stand out in the labor market, she said, if they're courteous and professional.

Dinan added to make sure in online applications you're actually on the real job site, such as McDonald's. Kelly noted some employers don't obey the law when it comes to hours worked by teens.

"You do not need to instruct anybody in the law," she said of those employers. "If you feel uncomfortable, I say quit and move on with your life.'

'A lot of this is luck'

"A lot of this is luck, too," she added. "You have to be in the right place at the right time."

At the workshop, teens covered job applications, including the use of "NA" for "not applicable," on things like military service. That shows they've read the entire application and filled it out completely. Being "convicted" of a crime is what matters, said Kelly, not arrested. although she encouraged avoiding crime.

When asked why you left a job, "You may not write 'The manager was stupid."

Kelly and Dinan said schedule conflicts, another job or academics are all reasons you can list for leaving.

The librarians added a date when you'll receive your driver's license is fine to write in. If you've trained workers or been selfemployed, such as raking leaves or shoveling snow, that's fine to list.

"I would tell them everything that's relevant, even if it's volunteer work" that's formalized and continuous, Plymouth resident Dinan said.

Applicants can say "no" on contacting a current employer, for not wanting to jeopardize that relationship. Resumes can be left with potential employers. All job postings and descriptions should be read carefully.

"You never know who is weighing in on the decision," said Kelly, whose daughter had a say in who was hired at the restaurant where she worked. Being polite to all, and spelling correctly and not texting language matter.

Online applications are often frustrating, the librarians noted, so leave yourself lots of time. Save often, and have the basic information readily available. Your public library and its staff can help with online applications for teens and older job seekers, the women added.

"You are about looking neutral and putting your best foot forward," said Kelly, adding never wear flip-flops when job hunting. In interviews, understand the basics of the business (libraries can help here, too), don't talk salary or ask for time off, and communicate your availability.

Some employers will be rude, Kelly said, and rejection can be tough. It must not be taken personally, she conclud-

Teen Lopez, who's headed to U-M for engineering, said the recession hit some jobs for teens, although pizza eateries, for example, continued to hire. Her job goal in her field is different.

'That's definitely going to be something that's going to be harder to get into," she said.

Don't Fry Friday raises awareness of sun overexposure, cancer risk

Don't Fry Friday is set for

It's the day the National Council on Skin Cancer Prevention encourage everyone to protect their skin outdoors while enjoying the Memorial Day weekend.

The sun safety awareness day aims to reduce rising rates of skin cancer from overexposure to the ultraviolet (UV) rays of the sun.

The American Cancer Society estimates that one American dies every hour from skin cancer. Skin cancer is highly curable if found early and can be prevented. The National Council on Skin Cancer Prevention says everyone should "Slip! Slop! Slap!... and Wrap" - slip on a shirt, slop on broad spectrum sunscreen of SPF 30 or higher, slap on a widebrimmed hat, and wrap on sunglasses before going outdoors into the sun. The best way to detect skin cancer early is to examine your skin regularly and recognize changes in moles and skin growths.

St. Mary Mercy Hospital in Livonia will offer free skin cancer screening at its annual Healthy Aging Conference, 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, June 6, at the hospital, located at Five Mile and Levan. Register by calling 734-655-2929 or visit stmarymercy.org/healthya-gingconference.

'Overexposure to the sun can lead to sunburn, premature aging of the skin, wrinkling or skin cancer," said Ramesh Mohindra, M.D., FACP, oncology and hematology physician, St. Mary Mercy Livonia. "It is important for people of all ages and all skin types to protect themselves from the sun. Skin cancer is preventable."

The hours between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. are the most hazardous for exposure to ultraviolet rays. The sun's rays can be harmful to everyone, but individuals with pale skin, multiple or unusual moles, weakened immune system or who have experienced severe sunburn in the past have an increased risk for skin cancer. St. Mary Mercy Hospital offers these protection tips:

» Always use sunscreen with sun protective factor (SPE) 35 or higher. Wear sunscreen even when you are under an umbrella or sitting in ply sunscreen again if you are in the sun for more than two hours, after you swim or sweat.

» Check your sunscreen's expiration date. Sunscreen without an expiration date has a shelf life of three years. However, if your sunscreen bottle has been exposed to high temperatures, the shelf life is even less.

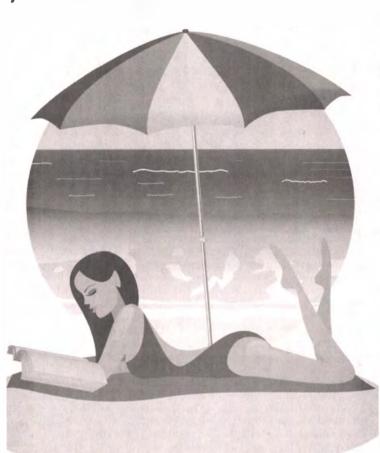

» Wear loose-fitting, long-sleeved shirts and long pants made from tightly woven fabric for the best protection from the sun's ultraviolet rays. Wet clothing offers much less protection from ultraviolet rays than dry clothes.

» Wear a hat with a wide brim to shade your face, head, ears and neck.

» Wear sunglasses to protect your eyes from ultraviolet rays and reduce the risk of » Seek shade under a tree or umbrella as much as possible.

» Be vigilant of changes to your skin, such as a new growth, a sore that does not heal or a change in a mole. These could be signs of skin cancer, and you should consult your physician.

Blood drive

St. Mary Mercy Hospital will hold a blood drive 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday, May 18, in the North Auditorium at the hospital, 36475 Five Mile, Livonia. To schedule an appointment, call 1-800-GIVE-LÎFE or visit redcrossblood.org. Walk-ins also are accepted.
