Westland boy hit by car dies of injuries

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

The family of a Westland boy who died after being struck by a car is seeking help in paying his funeral and medical expenses.

Kayale Fruge, 8, had been hospitalized on life support since the June 20 accident. He died Wednesday.

A funeral for Kayale is being planned at Husband Funeral Home in Wayne, with services at New Hope Church. His family has established an online account at gofundme.com/xu5w8f8 to receive donations.

"His mother needs help with the funeral costs and medical not covered by insurance. There was a lot not covered," said Alesia Whiting, Kayale's great-aunt.

An only child, Kayale had just completed second grade at Thorne Intermediate Elementary School in Dearborn Heights.

"Kayale was a typical little kid. He loved cars, trucks, movies and video games," Whiting said. "He always wanted to make something of life. He always wanted to help you. He wanted to be a police officer when he grew up." Kayale lived with his mother Sequoia Fruge in the neighborhood where he was killed. The accident occurred about 8:15 p.m. on Darwin near Delton Court. "He was in the yard near a fence walking home. She (the driver) ran him down and kept going," Whiting said. "He was nowhere near the street. She veered off the roadway."

Police said witnesses followed the vehicle to a home in Romulus after the accident. Romulus police were called and a suspect taken into custody.

The driver was intoxicated and illegal narcotics also are believed to have been a factor in the accident, according to police.

Kimberly Garrett, 39, of Romulus has been arraigned on felony charges, including drunken driving causing serious injury, one felony count of reckless driving causing serious impairment of a body function, one felony count of failure to stop at the scene of an accident resulting in serious impairment or death and a misdemeanor count of operating while intoxicated/second offense.

"Our thoughts and prayers are with Kayale and his family," Westland Police Chief Jeff Jedrusik said. "The Westland Police Department anticipates that the charges against Kimberly Garrett will be amended by the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office."

At arraignment, a not-guilty plea was entered for Garrett, who remains jailed in lieu of $500,000 cash/surety bond.

Westland's Hope Healthcare care specialists celebrate their longevity

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

There tends to be a lot turnover among people working as certified nursing assistants.

Hope Healthcare Skilled Nursing and Rehabilitation

Center would be an exception. The CNAs, called residential care specialists at Hope, have a tendency to stay on the job.

"I looked through the seniority list. The top 21 people had 250 years in this building and they had worked other places," said Kathleen Tolbert, director of nursing. "The experience speaks for itself. I'm a newbie at two years."

There was a recent week-long celebration of the residential care specialists, including a visit by Westland Mayor William Wild and state Rep. Robert Kosowski, D-Westland.

"We're family-oriented. We fall out, we fall in but we love each other," said RCS Patrice Lewis of Detroit. "That's what

Work on Jefferson Barns center moves forward

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

Work is continuing at Westland's Jefferson Barns Community Vitality Center.

There is a new floor in the gym, a volunteer library is being organized and the Westland Community Development Department is expected to move into the building at the end of July.

"The biggest thing is moving in without having air conditioning - we'll have to get windows units," Westland Community Development Director Joanne Campbell said. "It is coming together."

Westland youngster to compete in national pageant

Eight-year-old Breanna George is looking for top honors when she competes July 2-4 in the National American Miss Michigan Pageant in Dearborn.

The National American Miss pageants are held for girls ages 4-18. Breanna, the daughter of Shawn and Miranda James of Westland, is competing in the Junior Pre-Teen division. The winner of the pageant will receive $1,000, an official crown and banner, bouquet of roses and air transportation to the national pageant in California.

Breanna is involved in her younger brother's school, where she reads to the class, collecting donations and giving out food to the homeless. She also enjoys, dancing, singing, modeling and art.

"I aspire to be a singer and an advocate for the less fortunate," she said.

The pageant will be held Adoba Hotel in Dearborn.

City honored for Norwayne efforts

Westland's work at renovating the Norwayne Historic District has received an honorable mention in the 2015 City Livability Awards Program during the U.S. Conference of Mayors' 83rd annual meeting in San Francisco.

"The successes of the revitalization efforts are due to the collaboration among government, schools, churches, non-profit organizations and community residents," Westland Mayor William Wild said. "Our focus has been improving the quality of life for our residents and that is why we have focused on economic development, enhancing parks and recreation as well as implementing programs that improve the health and well-being of our residents."

A part of the Arsenal for Democracy, Norwayne was built for workers at the Willow Run B-24 Bomber plant during World War II. It began as a community with 2,000 residential units, elementary schools, fire house, church, businesses and municipal building.

Norwayne received national historical designation in 2013 and is on the Register of National Historic Places.

After many years of decline and neglect, Wild designated the Norwayne revitalization as a top priority for his administration in 2009.

The city uses local and federal Neighborhood Stabilization Program, CDBG and HOME funds for single-family home renovations, demolition of blighted structures, green space, roads, sidewalks, water and sewer upgrades and park renovations.

The city is renovating the vacant elementary school as the new Jefferson Barns Community Vitality Center. The community center will house social programs, volunteer library, Nankin Transit and the Norwayne boxing gym.

The Norwayne Citizens Council provides community organization and social programming, including community events and a community garden.

These efforts keep this remarkable community on the right path to once again be a Community of Choice.

This is the 36th year in which cities have competed for the award, which is sponsored by the Conference of Mayors and Waste Management, Inc.

The award recognizes mayoral leadership in developing and implementing programs that improve the quality of life in America's cities, focusing on the leadership, creativity and innovation demonstrated by the mayors.

This year's winning cities were selected by former mayors from a pool of more than 200 applicants.

"Our City Livability Awards Program gives us the opportunity to highlight mayoral leadership in making urban areas cleaner, safer and more livable," said Tom Cochran, CEO and executive director of the Conference of Mayors.

Salvation Army rings bells in July

The Wayne-Westland Salvation Army is holding its Christmas in July Campaign again this year.

Salvation Army bell ringers will be ringing in the streets at the corner of Warren Road and Wayne Road, near the Westland Shopping Center, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, July 11 and 18, weather permitting.

Organizers have alternative dates in the event that the weather is bad those days, including Friday, July 10, 17 and 24, and Saturday, July 25.

The campaign is an effort to help fund the local Summer Day Camp program and has a goal of raising at least $3,000, Envoy Jim Hulett said.

keeps us coming back. We have 30 and 25 years here, some have 13-14 years. That's a lot of longevity."

With the hours spent on the job, Lewis said the employees spend more time together than at home.

"This is our Hope family," she said.

Belleville resident Pam Hixson has worked at Hope's Westland facility on Cherry Hill for more than 30 years.

"I really never left here. I kind of like it; it's like family. And I love the residents," Hixson said.

With 19 years working at Hope, Marrion Fuller worked at other facilities in her career.

"I love my job, my residents and my co-workers. It's wonderful here," said Fuller, a Redford resident. "It's a warm, friendly place. It's just like one big happy family."

The original building occupied by Hope was opened in 1964, with an addition built in the 1970s. It serves up to 129 patients for short- and long-term skilled care, hospice and nursing home services.

"Turnover is very high among resident care specialists. Of 10 facilities we have in Michigan, we have the lowest turnover at 14 percent," Tolbert said. "That's why I wanted to do something for them. They go above and beyond. I have great respect for them."

Along with a photo op with the mayor and state representative, the resident care specialists had a week of activities, including cake and lunch, a barbecue complete with a DJ and games like Family Feud.

me to believe the council can't come to an agreement if the issues are all addressed."

Coming to an agreement might take a month longer than expected,

Hawley said, but he was hopeful the due diligence was being completed.

Keeping the community center open for another month under city operation won't have a serious budget impact, Nocnerini said, after consulting with Plante Moran, which is serving as the city's finance director.

"It's not a perfect scenario. I'm not sorry that we have a little extra time so both sides have a good deal," said Nocnerini, who was hopeful that HYPE will be able to take over community center operations by Aug. 1.

The IT installation is just about complete. (IT director) Dan Bourdeau confirmed the service date, that's why I feel comfortable with the July date."

A former elementary school, Jefferson Barns is located on Grand Traverse east of Venoy. The vacated Dorsey Center will be occupied by Safe Step.

Volunteers, mainly coming from nearby Sts. Simon and Jude Catholic Church, are coming in weekly to shelve and organize donated books for a library inside Jefferson Barns.

"It will be run by volunteers. They are kind of in the process of putting together how they want it to work," Campbell said. "People can come in and sign out books. They need a method for keeping track of the books."

The target date is to have the library open and operating in September.

Building trades students from the William D. Ford Career Technical Center and volunteers from Safe Step have completed a project removing the gym floor from the closed Bailey Center and installing it in the Jefferson Barns gym.

The gym is finished. That will also open in September," Campbell said.

Plans are underway to have a youth basketball league in the renovated gym.

The Wayne Metro Community Action Agency will be renting space in the building. Not only will the services currently housed at the Dorsey Center move to Jefferson Barns, staff from Taylor and Garden City will also be relocating.

"They are consolidating their financial empowerment services in one location. They help people become financially independent," Campbell said.

Nankin Transit, which currently has offices in the Westland Department of Public Services building on Marquette, will be relocating to Jefferson Barns in October.

"They were looking for the building trades students to do the work," Campbell said. "They started the office renovations, but then the school year ended. Nankin Transit will wait to move until the students can finish work on the office."

The Westland Police Department has a community relations office in Jefferson Barns. "They will be able to do programming as soon as they move in," Campbell said. "That office just needed some minor painting."

The Norwayne Boxing Gym has been operating in the building since it opened earlier this year.

Career Tech students shine at IVD Challenge

The students and staff of the William D. Ford Career Technical Center have a few more trophies to add to the school's showcase.

They were at Belle Isle to compete May 23 in the eighth annual Innovative Vehicle Design Performance Challenge. The event was hosted by Square One Education Network and encourages STEM—science, technology, engineering and math—skills to create mini and full-size IVD vehicles.

There were 55 high schools participating in the competition. William D. Ford collected two first-places honors for innovation and ambassadorship and a second-place for Figure 8 performance for its full-scale IVD.

"Many thanks to instructors J.C. Irvine, Jim Schirmer, Zack MacLean and Mark Batko," Career Tech Principal Steve Kay said. "It was a full-day event on Belle Isle, 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., and the students did excellent and represented Wayne-Westland Community Schools and the William D. Ford Career Technical Center well."

The IVD Project is all volunteer on the part of students who work on the vehicle after school with Schirmer, the auto tech teacher, and Irvine, who teaches game design and programming. For this competition, the students transformed a dune buggy into their IVD.

This year's competition focused on infotainment and safety, specifically an early warning system in the case of the William D. Ford students.

Students also competed in the mini IVD competition.

"Unfortunately, we did not win, but were very close and competitive," Kay said.

Pure Michigan was at the event filming as part of a four-minute career technical video meant to change the perception of the auto industry. Kay has said the video's goal "is to transform how we look at the industry and see it in a different light and see that there is more opportunity out there."

The center was selected for the video because of its more

Westland student receives full scholarship to MSU

Zachary Smith of Westland, a recent graduate of Livonia Churchill High School, has received a full scholarship to attend Michigan State University beginning this fall.

"Several aspects of the university were appealing to me, including the ability to get involved in research right away with the Professorial Assistantship program and the depth of the study abroad program," Smith said.

During his time at Churchill, Smith participated in chess and tennis. He plans to major in biochemistry at MSU.

Smith was chosen from an MSU applicant pool by the director of admissions and dean of the Honors College on the basis of his high school program, achievements and standardized test scores.

"Each year, Michigan State University receives tens of thousands of applications from bright and talented students from around the world," said Jim Cotter, director of admissions. "Being honored with a full scholarship to attend one of the nation's most widely recognized universities is truly exceptional."

In all, 19 incoming MSU students will receive either a University Distinguished Scholarship or an Alumni Distinguished Scholarship. The scholarships are considered among the most competitive awards in the country. They cover full tuition, room and board and a stipend for up to eight semesters of study. The average high school grade-point average for these scholarship recipients is approximately 4.4. The average ACT score is 35 (out of 36) and the average SAT score (critical reading plus math only) is 1,540 (out of 1,600).

Smith will join the Honors College along with more than 650 other incoming students.

LPS board approves separation agreements for three teachers

By Karen Smith
Staff Writer

The Livonia school board has approved separation agreements for three teachers, including two it had filed tenure charges against for alleged misconduct.

The board approved the agreements for Kelly Graham, a teacher and longtime coach at Stevenson High School; David Adkins, who worked at the Livonia Career Technical Center; and Sherry Aronson, a fifth-grade teacher at Cooper Upper Elementary School.

Graham and Adkins, the two teachers against whom the district had filed tenure charges in May, are withdrawing their challenges to the charges so the state tenure commission is dismissing the cases, said Stacy Jenkins, the district's administrator of communications.

The agreements outline the conditions for the district to accept their resignations, she said.

FILE PHOTO

The Livonia school board approved a separation agreement Monday for Stevenson coach Kelly Graham. The board had suspended Graham in May for alleged misconduct.

Aronson is resigning under the terms of the separation agreement, Jenkins said.

All three agreements are confidential personnel matters and the district cannot discuss them, she said.

Adkins, reached Tuesday by the Observer, said he had no comment. Messages seeking comment were left with Graham and Aronson.

Graham was the volleyball head coach at Stevenson for 20 years. In 2013, her team reached the state quarterfinals. She also coached track and field and previously coached at Livonia Churchill. She was listed on the Stevenson website as teaching personal fitness, gymnastics, sports and track and field. She had been employed by the district for 27 years.

Adkins taught auto technology. He had been employed by the district for 20 years.

Aronson spent her entire teaching career at Livonia Public Schools, starting in 1986 as a first-grade teacher at Adams Elementary (now Perinville). Later she taught fifth-grade at Adams, moving to Cooper when it became a fifth- and sixth-grade building, according to the Cooper Upper Elementary School website.

MOD Pizza opens first state location, raises $6,700 for LPS Foundation

By David Veselenak
Staff Writer

Several fast-casual pizza restaurants have begun to infiltrate metro Detroit. Livonia-based Team Schostak Family Restaurants believe it's found the right brand to be successful across the region with MOD Pizza.

"This is not just another restaurant for us," said Jake Schostak, brand manager for Team Schostak Family Restaurants. "This is something we really believe is something very, very special. We have a unique brand and we're just excited to share it with everybody else."

The first MOD Pizza in Michigan, which stands for "made on demand," opened Monday at 13229 Middlebelt in Livonia under the direction of Team Schostak. Another location is scheduled to open at Seven Mile and Haggerty in Northville Township in August, plus Schostak said the company hopes to open 25 shops across Michigan over the next five years.

With the opening, the store hosted a "pay what you want" day Monday, allowing customers to choose their price. About $6,700 was raised during opening day, with all proceeds going to the Livonia Public Schools Education Foundation.

The Livonia store is one of the few located east of the Mississippi River, with most shops operating in Washington, Oregon, Arizona and California near its Seattle headquarters, where it began in 2008. Schostak said his family's company, which operates several Applebee's and Burger King restaurants across the state, looked carefully at what it next wanted to operate. He said MOD Pizza seemed like a no-brainer, especially with the pizza culture throughout Michigan.

"Fast-casual is always picking up steam," Schostak said. "Michigan is such a big pizza state; it only made sense that pizza and fast-casual would intersect with each other."

The store in Livonia has some localized touches, including a modified city of Livonia logo on a canvas on a back wall and photos of local landmarks in Livonia and Redford on a wall covered in photographs, including Livonia City Hall, Stevenson High School, Franklin High School and Thurston High School.

Personalized food

The company focuses on making personal pizzas and salads with a variety of unique toppings, sauces and flavors. Prices range from just under $5 for a six-inch pizza to just under $11 for a double crust pizza. Also available are milkshakes, fountain drinks and a selection of draft beer and wine.

The ovens cook the personalized pizzas at 730°F for no more than five minutes.

"It gets dished out pretty quickly," Schostak said. "It's hot, fresh, personalized and you get it quickly."

Northville resident and Schostak employee Warren Strietzel stopped in during a preview lunch last week and ordered a pizza with pepperoni, sausage and crumbled meatballs on it, as well as a milkshake. He said he was impressed with the taste, especially the thin crust.

"The crust is thin crust, but still flavorful," he said. "This was perfect."

Music from the Heart series resumes July 9

The Music from the Heart outdoor concert series continues 7-9 p.m. Thursday, July 9, in Livonia with a performance by Dean Martin and Friends, who play a blend of songs.

The free concerts, held each Thursday through Aug. 27, are held on the steps of Livonia City Hall, located at Five Mile and Farmington roads.

Sponsored by the Livonia Arts Commission and the Parks and Recreation Department, the series started with the Livonia Symphony Orchestra.

Dean Martin and Friends will be the second performance.

This rest of the schedule is as follows:

- » July 16 - Dan Rafferty Band, top 40/Motown
- » July 23 - The Millionaires, big band

- » July 30 - Steve King and the Dittilies, oldies
- » Aug. 6 - Motor City Soul, classic rock
- » Aug. 13 - Billy Mack and the Juke Joint Johnnies, '50s oldies
- » Aug. 20 - Comic Groove Band, variety dance music
- » Aug. 27 - T.J. Thomas and Kentucky Strait, country

Music lovers gather for the Music from the Heart concert series at Livonia City Hall.

Independent contractor? The good and the bad

Q: Dear Rick: I have been unemployed for a couple of years now and I was just offered a new job. It is basically the same type of job I had before, although I would not get any benefits. On my first day, I had to sign a variety of forms and one of the things that I signed was an agreement saying that I was an independent contractor and not an employee. When I asked about that, I was told that it doesn't mean that much and the only difference is that as opposed to them withholding my taxes, I would have to do that myself. My question is,

Rick Bloom

did I make a mistake by signing this document and, in addition, is there anything else that I should know?

A: The first thing you should know is that there is a difference between being an employee and an independent contractor. As an independent contractor, you are your own business and, as a result, you don't have the same rights granted an employee. For example, as an employee, if you lose your job, you're entitled to unemployment. It is not that easy to collect unemployment as an independent contractor. In addition, as an employee in most businesses, you receive paid vacations. That is not the case with an independent contractor. The relationship between you, an employee and your employer is totally different than the relationship between an independent contractor and the company.

From a tax standpoint, what they told you was correct, but it's not the whole story. As an employee, if you were paid $1,000 a week, the paycheck you receive at the end of the week would not be $1,000. It would be $1,000 less federal and state withholding taxes and Social Security. On the other hand, as an independent contractor making $1,000, your paycheck would be for $1,000. You, as your own business, are responsible to make estimates for your state and federal withholding. In addition, you are also responsible for Social Security. As an employee, your employer would withhold 7.65 percent from your check for Social Security and Medicare. In addition, your employer matches those amounts. When you are an independent contractor, you're treated as self-employed and, thus, you are responsible for both the employer and the employee ends of Social Security. Your rate is 15.3 percent for the first $118,500. You may discover that being an independent contractor substantially raises the amount that you are paying into Social Security.

One of the benefits to being an independent contractor is that you are allowed to deduct expenses. Employees have a much more difficult time deducting expenses vs. an independent contractor. If you have substantial business expenses, it is much easier to deduct those for tax purposes than if you were an employee. Furthermore, you can establish your own retirement plan, which may allow you to contribute more than you could otherwise in your 401(k) plan.

The reason many companies want to classify someone as an independent contractor is so they're not responsible for employee-related costs such as the matching of Social Security, federal and state unemployment taxes and perks such as health care. That does not mean it's not also good for the independent contractor, but in many situations the independent contractor ends up paying more in taxes.

If you accept a position and become an independent contractor, it is important to make sure you pay your taxes on time. Many people think taxes are due April 15, but that's when your tax return is due. The payment of taxes is done on a quarterly basis. It is important for independent contractors to make timely quarterly payments, not only to the federal government, but also to the state of Michigan.

Good luck!

Livonia, Westland businesses part of largest Medicare fraud takedown

A nationwide sweep led by the Medicare Fraud Strike Force in 17 districts has resulted in charges against 243 individuals, including 46 doctors, nurses and other licensed medical professionals, for their alleged participation in Medicare fraud schemes involving approximately $712 million in false billings.

The charges were announced last week by U.S. Attorney General Loretta E. Lynch and Department of Health and Human Services Secretary Sylvia Mathews Burwell.

In addition, the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services also suspended a number of providers, using its suspension authority as provided in the Affordable Care Act. The coordinated takedown is the largest in Strike Force history, both in terms of the number of defendants charged and loss amount.

In the Detroit area, 16 individuals, including six doctors, a social worker, a pharmacist and two physical therapists were charged with a variety of health care fraud and kickback schemes totaling over $122 million. The schemes involved services that were medically unnecessary or never rendered, including physician visits, hospice care, home health care and the billing but not dispensing of pharmaceuticals.

In addition, law enforcement agents executed search warrants at eight locations and seizure warrants of 24 bank accounts related to the alleged schemes. The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services has moved to suspend 14 providers associated with the schemes.

Among the charges filed or unsealed:

» Five individuals, two physicians and three owners of hospice and home health care companies, were charged in an indictment with conspiring to commit health care fraud for their roles in a $58.3 million scheme to defraud Medicare by submitting fraudulent claims for home health care and hospice services that were medically unnecessary or not provided.

The owners of the home health care and hospice companies, two of whom are also physical therapists, paid physicians and recruiters kickbacks for referring patients, then billed Medicare for unnecessary services, which were often never provided.

The companies, located in Livonia, are A Plus Hospice and Palliative Care, At Home Hospice, and At Home Network Inc., a home health care agency. The physicians who solicited and received kickbacks also submitted claims to Medicare for medically unnecessary physician services through their companies are Dr. Waaseem Alam, Woodward Urgent Care, and Hatem Ataya. Those physicians prescribed beneficiaries medically unnecessary prescriptions, including controlled substances, for which Medicare also paid.

Also charged were Shahid Tahir, 45, of Bloomfield, Muhammad Tariq, 60, of West Bloomfield, and Manawar Javed, 40, of West Bloomfield.

» Dr. Laran Lerner, 59, of Northville, a physician, and Mohamad Bazzi, 42, of Dearborn, a licensed pharmacist and pharmacy owner, were charged by complaint with an over $24 million health care fraud scheme. Dr. Lerner provided medically unnecessary prescriptions for expensive pharmaceuticals for which Bazzi's pharmacy, Advanced Pharmacy Services would bill Medicare, but not dispense.

City adds more water fun at Clements Circle Park

The city of Livonia is offering youngsters who live near the Clements Circle Pool a bit of water fun each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon this summer.

Two inflatable water features – an 18-foot high water slide and a slip and slide – will be at Clements Circle Park from noon to 4 p.m. each Tuesday and Thursday through Labor Day, weather permitting.

This is the second year the Clements Circle Pool has been required to remain closed due to damage caused by a contractor and lawsuits that have been filed.

“We know the Clements Circle Pool is very popular,” Mayor Jack Kirksey said. “Keeping it closed is a big disappointment for many families. We are taking extra steps to provide some fun activities for the kids in the neighborhood.”

The water slides are being rented by the city and will be staffed by Livonia Parks & Recreation aquatics employees, who will enforce safety rules at the park. Children ages 3 and under are permitted to ride with an adult only.

Additionally, the city is providing free outdoor pool passes to residents of Section 36 (bounded by Plymouth, Joy, Middlebelt and Inkster roads) to use Sheldon or Botsford pools this summer. Residents are invited to bring photo ID to the Livonia Community Recreation Center to register for a pool pass.

This summer, Livonia Community Transit buses will also be providing rides from the Clements Circle Pool parking lot to Sheldon Pool at about 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. each weekday (not weekends or holidays). Return trips will leave from Sheldon Pool to the Clements Circle parking lot at about 3:30 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. The fee will be just $1 each way.

Bus riders must meet the same restrictions as required for pool admission. Children age 11 and under must be accompanied by someone over age 16.

For more details, contact the Parks & Recreation Department at 734-466-2298.

Wish you were here

Thief saws four catalytic converters off cars in Redford

By Beth Jachman
Staff Writer

Redford Township had four larcenies of catalytic converters take place in the same general area, likely by the same person, between 3-5 a.m. Wednesday, according to Redford Police.

The culprit is described as a black adult, approximately 6 feet tall and 230 pounds, wearing a gray hoodie. He was driving a 2015 silver Chevrolet Impala with a dent near the driver’s side rear tire.

He was observed by two witnesses, police said. The man parked his car next to the victim’s vehicle in the street, lifted the vehicle with a jack, then cut off the catalytic converter with a power saw that was loud enough to be heard inside nearby houses, police reports said.

All four damaged vehicles were parked in the street. They were a Malibu, a Seville, an Aurora and a Grand Am.

The locations were on Seminole north and south of Seven Mile, Indian north of Margareta and MacArthur north of Curtis.

A Redford Police officer spotted the vehicle in the area of Grand River and Telegraph and began a pursuit that was terminated for safety reasons.

Residents are advised to pay attention to unusual noises and suspicious vehicles at night and to report anything unusual to the police. Residents are also advised to park vehicles in as secure an area as possible.

Anyone with information is asked to contact the Redford Police at 313-387-2551.

Redford Police seeking suspect in check fraud case

Redford Township Police are looking for a check fraud suspect who made deposits at Bank of America at 24400 Joy Road in Redford.

The suspect is a black male in his late teens or early 20s driving a black Chevy Camaro convertible.

The Redford Police Department posted photos of the suspect from surveillance cameras on its Facebook page early Thursday morning.

Anyone with information is asked to call Redford Police at 313-387-2551.

'Action Speaks' to a group of area volunteers

By Jay Young
Correspondent

For the past five years, a contingent of residents from Canton, Westland and other western Wayne County communities has journeyed to Mount Joy, Pa., to join other volunteers from around the country at a large distribution center operated by Global Aid Network, the humanitarian arm of Campus Crusade.

Seven area residents who made a recent trip include Jay and Linnea Young of Canton, Orville and Pat Butzin of Canton and Dennis and Della Danielson and Ruth Wenzel of Westland.

Founded in 2003 as an outgrowth of Operation Care Lift (another arm of CRU), the organization offers a holistic approach to meeting the needs of displaced and disadvantaged peoples throughout the world through several avenues, including food, seed/harvest, education, water, sanitation and hygiene and relief programs.

According to the latest statistics from the United Nations, the number of displaced persons today stands at more than 43 million, the highest number since the mid-1990s. Of that number, 27 million have fled their home countries due to sectarian conflicts in the Middle East and elsewhere. Of the total number of refugees, 41 percent are children. Women account for about half of all refugees, most seeking refuge in developing countries which can least afford to care for their needs.

It is within that context that GAIN purchased a large, former fish hatchery in the rolling, rich farm lands of central Pennsylvania and transformed it into a modern distribution facility, complete with a large meeting room, called the Gospel Hall, fully-equipped kitchen and administrative offices amid 70,000 square feet of warehousing space.

Since its founding in 2003, $226 million in aid consisting of thousands of packets of seeds, bales of clothing, bags of beans and rice, medical and hygienic supplies, blankets, quilts and water filtration and irrigation systems have been shipped around the world.

Much of the work has been accomplished through the efforts of more than 100,000 volunteers, who have gathered twice a year in June and October to sort, stuff, count, package, sew, cut, measure and otherwise perform the time-consuming tasks necessary to get the various supplies ready for shipment.

"We couldn't afford to ship nearly the amount of aid around the world we do without the help of these volunteers," said Phil Liller, director of the GAIN Logistics Center. "We purchase some aid and stockpile donations for months prior to our two work weeks to provide the items to keep our hundreds of volunteers busy. Local residents also come in throughout the year to sew, quilt or string gospel beads and process clothing, among other things."

In addition to gathering and shipping aid around the world, GAIN supports trips to a number of third world countries, where volunteers conduct vision screenings and construct eye glasses; distribute water filtration and irrigation systems; provide natural disaster aid; and host dental or medical clinics organized by in-country CRU staff.

GAIN president Al Goff challenged this year's volunteers to "go, give, volunteer and pray." He told the story of an encounter with a Syrian refugee during a recent trip to a Middle Eastern refugee center to illustrate the harsh realities of life for thousands of displaced persons.

While at the camp, he met a young woman who was forced to marry at age 13, had three children and was then abandoned by her husband by age 19. She was subsequently imprisoned for two years for her conversion to Christianity before being released and escaping to a refugee center in a neighboring country, where she was helping other refugees cope with being separated from their homes and families.

"Action Speaks" was the theme of this year's work week, emblazoned on T-shirts worn by volunteers, and was a motivating factor for the Michigan volunteers in attendance. "I love to give of my time and effort," Pat Butzin said, "because I truly believe my actions to help others, counts."

Pat Butzin of Canton with Lorie Mumaw from Delaware. Butzin helped work on dozens of quilts destined for needy families and children.

"I shared my knowledge of quilting with two teenagers this year as we worked on dozens of quilts destined for needy families and children. Some people don't realize how good it makes you feel to help others," she added.

Anyone interested in going, volunteering, giving or praying for the work of GAIN is encouraged to go to its website at www.gainusa.org. The reward is knowing your efforts are helping to alleviate the suffering of others in need throughout the world.

Jay Young of Canton has been part of a group of volunteers to the GAIN Logistics Center for the past five years. He is the former director of community relations for the Livonia Public Schools. Retired in 2007, he and his wife Linnea like to travel and do volunteer work.

More than 100,000 volunteers gather twice a year to sort, stuff, count, package, sew, cut, measure and otherwise perform the tasks necessary to get the various supplies ready for shipment.

Do Unto Others supplements work of Special Olympics

By Julie Brown
Staff Writer

A new nonprofit, Wayne-Westland Do Unto Others, is supplementing the work of Special Olympics and improving life for people with developmental disabilities.

"DUO is very near and dear to our hearts," said Stacy Kessel of Redford, Do Unto Others president. She and Rob Sherman of Belleville, vice president of finance for the nonprofit, are among co-founders who shared the story at a recent Westland Rotary luncheon.

Both Kessel and Sherman have coached Special Olympics, he for 10 years and she for five. They were at a Central Michigan University gathering for Special Olympics and realized the need for a supplemental but separate local group for education and socializing.

"Special Olympics is great," said Kessel, who grew up in west Michigan and earned a bachelor's degree in business with an advertising and promotion major from Western Michigan University in 2008. "We realize it's a good need in our area."

Their focus is beyond Wayne-Westland to nearby communities, to serve the developmentally disabled and their families. Activities beyond Special Olympics have included a trip to the Detroit Historical Museum followed by a Pizza Hut dinner, "to laugh and have a good time and experience situations they may not have before," she said.

Transportation is an issue for many with developmental disabilities, Kessel said, and some don't have parents nearby to help.

Another activity was a play, Young Frankenstein, which included meeting the actors.

"The actors were great," said Sherman, a Belleville High graduate who attended ITT Technical Institute. "It was a really great event."

Wayne-Westland Do Unto Others also seeks to give educational information and resources for parents and the disabled. "Some of the parents don't understand what the whole process is," said Kessel, who also works in marketing at Gleaners Food Bank.

They're reaching out to area group homes, including some adult residents who were earlier in Special Olympics. Sherman noted fundraising (it has 501(c)3 status) will include team jerseys very much in need of replacing.

"It's hard for somebody with Down syndrome to approach somebody for a donation," said Sherman, who works in real estate and has a small commercial painting and dry-wall business.

They're organizing a 5K and Family Field Day as a benefit Saturday, July 11, at Lower Huron Metropark, 17845 Savage Road, Belleville. Registration will be 8-9 a.m. for the 5K with the fun run/walk 9-11 a.m.

The Family Field Day will start 11 a.m. and include softball, tug of war, a three-legged race and more. Registration information is at DUO5KFieldDay.eventbrite.com or you can email 5KFieldDay@duo.org or go to www.wduo.org.

Price for the 5K is $35, with a $10 charge per person for the Family Field Day.

"We want to get as many people as possible," Kessel said, adding organizers hope to make this event annual. She noted the social benefits, including interaction of the general public with those with disabilities.

"It is life-changing, it is amazing," she said of volunteering, adding they'd appreciate volunteer help July 11 at the 5K and Family Field Day. "You leave with a smile."

Kessel, a high school soccer player, added, "They've become a second family."

They serve on a board of five, which includes several co-founders for Wayne-Westland Do Unto Others and is helped by a committee of volunteers.

Harrison grid standout picks Alabama

Star defensive lineman Khalid Kareem had offers from 39 major schools

Staff Writer

The phrase "Roll Tide" is not often heard in Michigan, but it was stated a few times Wednesday afternoon at Harrison High School in Farmington Hills.

The occasion was Khalid Kareem's announcement of his verbal commitment to play football at the University of Alabama in 2016.

The 6-foot-4, 245-pound defensive lineman, one of the most sought-after players in the country, made his decision late Tuesday, choosing the Crimson Tide over Michigan.

Kareem, who is preparing for his senior season with the Hawks, will graduate in December and enroll early next year at Alabama, a perennial contender for the national championship under coach Nick Saban.

"It's just the best fit for me and my family," Kareem said.

"It gives me the best opportunity to play and to succeed on the college and professional level, potentially."

He visited the university in Tuscaloosa two weeks ago and was there on another occasion for the spring game.

Kareem said he developed a close relationship with other Alabama coaches, including former Michigan State head coach and Eastern Michigan assistant Bobby Williams.

"I've been in contact with them every week through the (recruiting) process," he said.

"Since our relationship was so good, it just impacted my decision. Coach Saban said he's very excited to have me on the team."

What he likes most about Saban is that he's a down-to-earth guy, Kareem added.

"He's all about his players," he said. "He has an open-door policy where anybody can come in and talk to him about anything. That's what I really liked about him."

Camaraderie, friendly competition among reasons Canton golfer loves sport

By Tim Smith
Staff Writer

As the golf ball soared through the air in the direction of the pin at Willow Golf Course's No. 6 hole, Steve Wieczorek intently tracked its flight.

It was Father's Day and Wieczorek was out on the New Boston course with his buddies, so things already were going great for the nearly 59-year-old Canton resident — who began playing golf as a youngster when he caddied at Redford Township's Western Golf & Country Club.

But he didn't know he was about to live the dream of every recreational golfer. He aced the 180-foot tee shot, scoring his first-ever hole-in-one.

"I was struggling until then really bad," Wieczorek said Thursday, recalling the June 21 feat. "I said, 'I'm just going to stay down, swing real easy, keep my head down and whatever happens, happens.'"

"I thought it was a good shot and it was even better when I got up there and found it was in the hole. The other guy said it was really close, because it looked like it was tracking right at the pin."

There was a mark on the green where the ball struck, about 18 inches from the cup.

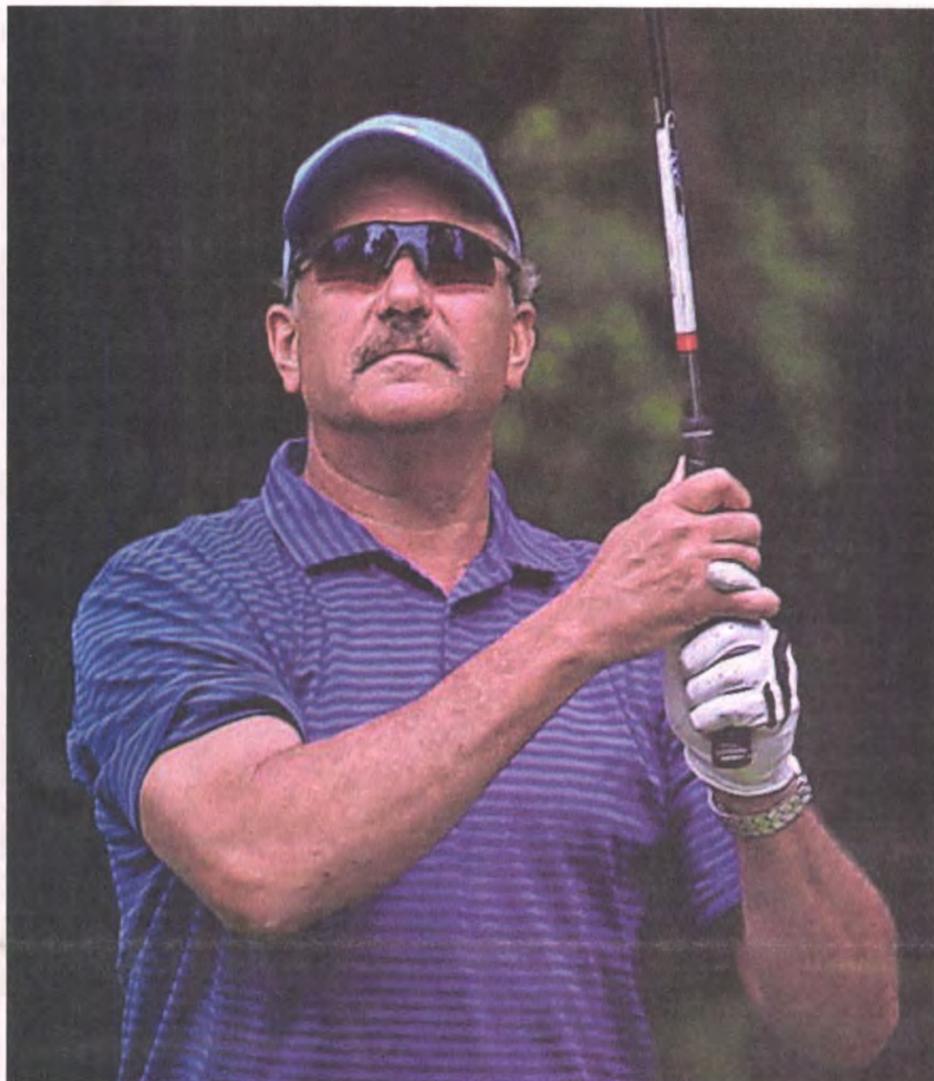

MICHAEL VASILNEK
Leaning into a fairway shot is 58-year-old Steve Wieczorek. As a youngster he caddied at Western Golf & Country Club in Redford Township.

"So it must have bounced right in," Wieczorek said. "It's a great feeling."

Wieczorek talked about his accomplishment after playing nine holes in an adult league at Fellows Creek Golf Club in Canton.

One member of his Fellows Creek foursome, Len Byrne of Canton, also happened to be with Wieczorek on Father's Day at Willow.

"That was one of those ones you weren't sure went in the hole," said Byrne, 60. "You couldn't tell from the tee box; you knew it was close. But until you walked up there looking for the ball and can't find it ... then you realize it's in the hole. It's pretty neat."

Wieczorek said the only other hole-in-one he ever witnessed was by Byrne, so it was fitting that his friend was there to reciprocate.

Good and lucky

"I really didn't think I was ever going to get one," the Redford Thurston graduate said. "But I feel very lucky that I was able to get one. Kind of neat to have your buddy with you and witness the whole thing."

For Wieczorek, any success

WOMEN'S WORLD CUP SOCCER

Young, local players cheer on, learn from United States team

By Ed Wright
Staff Writer

Sometimes it's difficult for Taylor Meadows to keep her emotions in check when she's watching the United States women's soccer team compete in the World Cup, the 11-year-old AC Milan Detroit attacking midfielder admitted.

"I really get into it," the Canton resident said, while cracking a wide smile. "When the games get really intense, I scream at the TV."

Taylor can count herself in the majority of young female soccer players who get charged up about the U.S.

team, which had advanced into the round of eight heading into Friday night's game against China.

With a roster filled with talented, charismatic and high-character players, the Americans' appeal is broad and strong — especially with impressive upper-elementary and middle school-aged players who admire how the team operates.

"Prior to this era, you really didn't see as much interest in the United States team in the World Cup," AC Milan president and 12U girls head coach Chris Burnette said. "For a long time, it just wasn't a cool sport. "Now the World Cup really impacts these girls, because they can watch the games and see what I'm telling them to do in practice sessions being performed at a high level by players they look up to."

Juliana Morrow confirmed what her coach said, revealing she doesn't wait long to apply what she sees on TV to her skill set.

"I'll watch a game and look for moves the players make," said Juliana, a student at Riley Upper Elementary School in Livonia. "Then I'll go out in the

THE TIGERS' UNBREAKABLE BOND

Original Garden City West football players come together for ex-coach

By Ed Wright
Staff Writer

Fifty-year spans can turn once-vivid high school football-themed newspaper articles to an aged golden tint.

Five decades can deteriorate knees, hips and other essential joints and they can scatter members of even the most close-knit high school football teams across the country, if not the world.

But father time's chisel hasn't diminished one bit the bond members of the original Garden City West football team developed during their memorable mid-1960s run.

That was never more obvious than last Saturday evening at the Plymouth home of Bill Gray — the Tigers' glue guy, who has orchestrated recent get-togethers that have not only been well-attended by West's inaugural group of players, but a few of their 80-something-year-young coaches as well.

"When you're still hanging with guys you've known for 50 years, it's a pretty big deal," Gray said. "There's a lot of love between these guys."

The attraction to congregate with their old buddies is so magnetic that some former Tigers traveled across the country for the team's latest reunion. Bob Hollingsworth flew in from Edmond, Okla., while Gary Kalen traveled the farthest, catching a flight from Portland, Ore.

"A lot of us grew into men on that team — we learned about honor and integrity," said Hollingsworth, who still plays slow-pitch softball at a championship level. "I've used principles I learned from the coaches on that team and from my teammates throughout my life — not just in sports, but in how I live."

Due to decreasing enrollment, West was switched to a middle school following the 1981-82 school year — with the Tigers' No. 1 rival, Garden City East, becoming the city's lone high school.

The man given the opportunity to lead the football program during its early seasons was Harold Burkholder, an old-school (even for the mid-'60s) disciplinarian who instantly molded the Tigers into a contingent of fearless warriors.

Burkholder, now 83, is still referred to by his former athletes as a life-changing mentor who built a level of toughness and dignity in his players that led many of them to ultra-successful careers.

Still sharp as a tack, the former coach was dealt a setback last Thanksgiving when his wife of 53 years, Beverly, died.

"Coach really took his wife's death hard, as you can imagine," Kalen said. "His granddaughter reached out to me earlier this year and said it would really lift his spirits if we could all get together again. Being able to see coach again was a very touching experience for all of us."

"His kids brought him to the reunion," Gray added, "and they told us it was the first time he was able to talk about his wife since her death without crying. While it was nice to see everybody again, I think the No. 1 thing all of us took away from our get-together was being able to sit down, one-on-one, and tell coach how much he impacted our lives."

Former West football player Joe Kuciemba, who currently lives in Dearborn Heights, said that Burkholder — and the community of Garden City itself — cultivated an attitude of brotherhood and a sense of belonging.

"One thing about that team," Kuciemba said, "was that everybody had everybody else's back. There were no cliques, no divisions. We were all brothers. We still are."

backyard with my dad and work on learning what I just saw."

Grace Distelrath, an 11-year-old AC Milan forward who will be a sixth-grader at Cooper Upper Elementary School in the fall, voiced the most-popular answer during an unscientific poll to determine the girls' favorite U.S. player.

"Definitely Alex Morgan," she said, smiling. "She's fast, she works hard, she scores a lot and, well, she's Alex Morgan. She's the perfect player."

Not surprisingly, given the position she plays, AC Milan midfielder Sarah Marasco politely disagreed with Grace's choice, picking U.S. center midfielder Carli Lloyd as her favorite player.

"She makes smart decisions with the ball and she's a role model for young girls like me," said Sarah, who will attend Frost Middle School in Livonia in the fall. "She plays like I want to play when I grow up."

Also mentioned in the favorite-player poll were Lauren Holiday — "I like how physical she plays," Audrey Porter said — and Abby Wambach, who impresses Olivia Ahlgren by the way she "runs fast and plays hard all the time."

But Morgan undoubtedly rules.

"I watch all of the players," Taylor said, "but Alex inspires me."

All of the U12 AC Milan players expressed a deep passion for soccer and most admitted they'd like to someday follow in the cleat marks of Morgan, Lloyd and Wambach.

"I'd like to play for the United States when I get older," 10-year-old Kirsten Jones said. "It's going to take a lot of running, a lot of training and playing against good competition, but I think I can do it."

REC-KING IT

on the links is a bonus. What he loves most is the chance to get outdoors, spend time with friends and try to play good, consistent golf.

"Sometimes you stand over the ball and you feel like nothing can go wrong, that you're going to hit it good," he said. "A lot of it's mental. I think most of it's mental with golf. That particular day (Father's Day) I didn't have it, except for that one shot."

Thursday afternoon at Fellows Creek, golfing with Byrne, Westland's Tim Robbins and Inkster's Mark Thomas, he had a 43 on the par-36 South course.

But still, it was all good.

"I think you get to meet a lot of good people and there's the camaraderie," Wieczorek said about playing in the Club Canton league. "I like the competition. Even though it's not a lot of competi-

"But it just makes you a better person. I look forward to getting out at least once a week and doing something like that. I love being outside and enjoying the scenery."

He stayed with it

An avid bowler and angler, Wieczorek's passion for golf began when he started working at Western at the age of 12.

"I grew up right by the 14th hole" at Western, he said, smiling. As a caddie, he golfed whenever he could, but "never really took any lessons. Just learned on my own. I played with my father when he was alive and never got really good at it."

But, he added, that didn't matter as long as he was out there whenever he could: "You have your high times and your low times, but it's always been a great game to play."

Of course, finding the time to hit the links became more challenging as Wieczorek got older. First, he married Jeanette. Then, they had two children — pushing golf onto the back burner.

Their daughters, Lindsay and Lisa (now 28 and 26, respectively), never picked up the sport and Jeanette golfed with him only once. Things didn't go smoothly.

"If we would have kept on golfing together, we probably would have been divorced," he said with a laugh.

League a godsend

For him, it was a godsend to find out about the Fellows Creek league about 15 years ago.

"I had a friend I used to bowl with because I like to bowl, too," Wieczorek said. "He told us about it and we live really close. We started out as subs ... we kept trying to get in the league. It took a few years. It's just a great, great time."

It costs him $520 for 20 weeks. Thursday's action marked the end of the season's first half.

There also is enough time to play nearby courses such as Pheasant Run Golf Club in Canton or to go on golfing excursions — with his good-natured wife's blessing, of course.

"We always pick a course, it could be anywhere," he said. "I've played Northville. ... we're playing Boyne the end of July, (we'll) go up there for four days."

"This year we're going to play Arcadia Bluffs, which is a really nice course. I'm looking forward to playing that."

Go with the flow

Even though Wieczorek doesn't hit the ball as far as he once did, golfing is much more enjoyable and rewarding than it ever was.

"I find I'm actually a better golfer now," he said. "I concentrate more. I hit better shots now."

And when he inevitably blows a short putt, he doesn't let it ruin the rest of his day, like it might have in the past.

"I used to have more of a temper," Wieczorek said. "Now I just say, 'Hey, whatever.' You shake it off and it seems like it's better. You can always recover if you just let it go."

Yet it's a game he never wants to quit.

"They say a bad day of golf is better than a good day at work, something like that."

Joining the coveted hole-in-one club on Father's Day is about as perfect a day as there can be for rec golfers like Steve Wieczorek.

ALL-AREA BOYS TRACK AND FIELD

Athletes out-stride, out-leap, out-throw foes

FIRST TEAM

Vonn Pallett, shot put, Farmington: Pallett had his best performances of the season at the Division 1 state meet and finished second in the shot put and discus.

He had the best shot put of his high school career (56-1½) and the second-best discus throw (163-5) despite less than ideal weather conditions.

The 6-foot-5, 200-pound Pallett is the OAA White Division champion in the shot put (52-11½) and runner-up in the discus (154-7). He was second in the shot put (52-2) and sixth in the discus (154-4) at the Oakland County meet.

Pallett will compete for Grand Valley State University next year while studying for a career in medicine.

"Vonn has been a tough competitor and varsity athlete for four years," coach Kim Sturm said. "During his time at Farmington, he has won league, regional and county championships in the shot put and discus."

Michael Jordan, discus, Plymouth: Already a powerful force for the Wildcats in football and wrestling, Jordan added a third sport to the mix with a sensational season in the throwing department.

He set school records in the shot and discus while notching the Plymouth-Canton Educational Park record in the shot.

After his throw of 154-3 earned him a Kensington Conference championship in the discus, he followed up with the D1 regional championship in the shot (50-7) and discus (138-4), qualifying for the state meet.

Jordan was a consistent scorer all spring, amassing the second most points on the squad.

"M.J. is the of the most athletic thrower that we have ever had at Plymouth," coach Jon Mikosz said. "Everything finally clicked this year and he started throwing to the caliber that he should be in both shot and disc by the end of the year. I look forward to him continuing his success next season."

Nathan Harris, high jump, Plymouth: The four-year varsity performer closed out his prep career in style, finishing in a seventh-place tie at the D1 state meet with a jump of 6-0 even to nab all-state honors.

Other highlights including jumping 6-6 at the Kensington Conference meet to set a new Plymouth record and capturing the D1 regional title with a mark of 6-3.

Consistency and precision in his technique enabled Harris to score the fifth most points for the Wildcats this season.

"Nathan has put in a lot of hard work over the past four years," Mikosz said. "It was good to see all that hard work pay off with him getting all-state this season. He deserved it."

Harris, a two-sport athlete at Plymouth, will attend Concordia University and continue both with men's soccer and men's track and field.

Shakur Lockett, long jump, Churchill: The senior closed out his career in grand style by placing 15th in the long jump at the Division 1 state meet. Lockett was the regional, Kensington Conference and Livonia City meet champion. Lockett, who was undefeated during the Chargers' dual-meet slate, peaked with a school-record leap of 21-10.

"Shakur has demonstrated improvement every season he has been in our program, culminating as a recipient of our Michael Guara Award for Most Valuable Field Event Performer," Churchill coach Rick Austin said. "Further demonstrating his athleticism, Shakur also competed in the 100 dash and ran the lead leg of our city championship 400 relay team."

"Shakur is one of the most explosive athletes I have coached at Churchill. He also was a starting defensive back on our football team and played guard for the school's basketball team."

Ethan Burke, pole vault, Churchill: Burke, who also garnered first team all-area accolades as a diver this past winter, enjoyed a splendid spring, vaulting to a personal-best effort of 14-0. He was the champion of the Observerland Relays pole vault relays.

"Ethan has been improving every year as a member of our track and field program," Austin said. "A KLAAS Scholar-Athlete award recipient, he ran into some bad luck at the regional championship meet when he no-heighted after snapping his pole and falling on his head the night before in practice."

Theodore Lang, pole vault, Canton: It was a strong senior season for Lang, who increased his numbers as the year went on.

Lang was victorious at P-CEP's Bolger-Mangan City Meet with a mark of 12-0 and upped that to 13-10 to win the D1 regional.

He matched the latter mark at the state meet, finishing 11th overall.

"Teddy Lang was determined to excel in the pole vault in 2015," pole vault coach Matti Kipelainen said. "He trained hard and smart to improve to 14 feet."

Lang will compete on the men's track and field team at Eastern Michigan University.

Xalen Onyemelukwe, 110 hurdles, Harrison: Onyemelukwe was a state qualifier in this event and one of the area's best in both hurdles.

He was fourth at the North Farmington regional in the high hurdles, fifth in Oakland County and third in the OAA Blue Division. He also competed in the Midwest Meet of Champions. Onyemelukwe was sixth at the regional, 12th in the county and fourth in the division in the 300 hurdles.

"Xalen was a fantastic hurdler over a four-year period," coach John Reed said. "He trained himself to be one of the best hurdlers in the county and at the state level."

"We will really miss him next season. We wish him great success next year as he plans to continue running track at Case Western Reserve University and study bio-medical engineering."

Michael Ojemudia, 300 hurdles, Harrison: Ojemudia, who will play football at Iowa, is the Oakland County champion in this event with a time of 39.68.

He won the 110 and 300 hurdles at the North Farmington regional and was seventh in the state in the 300. Ojemudia was a key member of Harrison's sprint relay teams, too.

"Mike was the heart and soul of our track team," Reed said. "He was a huge contributor to our overall team success over the past four years. Mike was willing to run any race necessary to help the team be successful."

"Over a two-year period, the Hawks have not lost a dual track meet and Mike had a lot to do with that. He was an all-state performer in the 110 hurdles two years in a row and a regional champ in the 110s and 300s."

Jaron Flournoy, 100 dash, John Glenn: Flournoy earned the distinction as the fastest high school athlete in the state this spring as he motored to first-place finishes at the Division 1 state meet in both the 100- and 200-meter dashes.

An exemplary football player as well for the Rockets, he will be attending Louisiana State University beginning in the fall with a full-ride scholarship for track and field.

Iwarri Smith, 200 dash, Harrison: Smith had an outstanding senior year and was a state qualifier in the 100 dash and long jump. In the list of top 10 times, he was second only to Flournoy in both sprint events.

Smith is a regional champion in the long jump with an area-best jump of 22-2, and he was the runner-up in the 200.

He is the OAA Blue Division champion in the 100 and long jump. He was fifth in Oakland County in the long jump. He also was a member of Harrison's sprint relay teams.

"Iwarri is easily one of the best all-around track athletes I have ever coached," Reed said. "Iwarri was dominant in the sprints, relays and the jumps."

"It was so fun to coach him as he was able to help the team anywhere. He has Division 1 speed and should consider running track at the next level. We will miss him as he heads off to North Dakota to play football."

Montel Hood, 400 run, Wayne: Hood was an absolute point machine this past season for the Zebras, excelling in everything from the 100 to the 400. His fastest time in the 100 was 11.24, which was the eighth-fastest time registered by Observerland-area sprinters.

Hood's time of 23.04 in the 200 was tied for eighth-best in the area, while his 48.47 clocking in the 400 was second only to Flournoy.

Jonny Dalton, 800 run, Plymouth: The senior's fourth varsity season was his best, winning the conference and regional championships in the 800 run.

Then, at the D1 state meet in Rockford, Dalton earned all-state honors with his eighth-place — and Plymouth record — time of 1:54.66.

He qualified with his first-place time of 1:55.40 at the D1 regional and prevailed at the Kensington Conference meet with a time of 1:55.14.

"He ran the hardest triple that can be done in a meet in my opinion (1,600, 400, 800 runs) in a lot of meets, including the city (Bolger-Mangan) meet," Mikosz said.

Dalton, also part of the state-qualifying 3,200-meter relay, scored more varsity points than any other member of the team. He was named Plymouth High School's top male scholar-athlete.

Keenan Jones, 1,600 run, Franklin: Jones was absolute long-distance beast for four seasons for Franklin. A rare dual state-qualifier in both cross country and track, he placed 10th at the state meet as a junior in the 3,200 with a school-record time of 9:29. This year, Jones was 11th in the state in 1,600 with an extraordinary time of 4:18, just one second away from the school record in that event.

Jones added to his incredible credentials by cruising around the track to the tune of a 1:55 time in the 800, which nearly eclipsed the school record. The hard-working senior was undefeated in 1,600 races until the state meet.

To cap his phenomenal career, Jones was part of the Team Michigan first-place 3,200-meter relay team at the Midwest Meet of Champions in Ohio. He will be taking his talents to Saginaw Valley State University.

"Keenan has had a very successful career at Franklin and he has the potential to do so much more at SVSU," Franklin coach Pat Koelzer said.

Matt Pahl, 3,200 run, Plymouth: Another runner who left a major legacy during his four-year varsity career was Pahl, a state qualifier this season in the 3,200 run and as part of the 3,200-meter relay.

He set a new school and Park record in the 3,200 with a time of 9:29.27 at the Saline-hosted Golden Triangle Invitational.

At the D1 regional, Pahl finished second in the 3,200 (9:39.34) and was part of the 3,200-meter relay team that finished second with a time of 8:19.14 (along with Ethan Byrnes, Matt Weiner and Dalton).

Pahl scored the third-most varsity points for the Wildcats in 2015 and was honored by being selected Plymouth High School Male Athlete of the Year.

"Matt was one of the hardest-working kids I have ever coached," Mikosz said. "Not only is he the school cross country record holder, he is now the school and Park record holder in the 3,200 as well. Meaning that in the entire history of P-CEP, no one has ever run a faster two-mile than Matt."

400 relay, Salem: It was a record-busting spring for Salem's speedy quartet of freshman Andrew Davis, junior Freddie McGee, junior Jacob Miller and sophomore anchor VerShawn Patrick. They were key contributors to the Rocks' KLAAS Central Division championship.

The relay team ran together just three times and in those races finished first at the Kensington Conference and D1 regional championships.

They also registered the second, third and fourth fastest times in Salem history. Their fastest time of 43.06 was good for the D1 regional championship and is the second fastest in

Andrew Davis Salem

VerShawn Patrick Salem

Plymouth-Canton Educational Park history.

At the state meet in Rockford, they placed 12th overall with a time of 43.23.

"I think this team surprised a lot of people this season because it had two newcomers," coach Steve Aspinall said.

"Davis had an extremely successful freshman campaign (breaking freshman records in the 100, 200, 400 relay and 800 relay) and Patrick broke the sophomore record in the 200 and ran the fourth-fastest time in the 100, both as first year runners for us."

"Miller ran the sixth-fastest time in the 100 in school history and is also an accomplished long jumper and McGee ran the 23rd-fastest time in the 100."

Aspinall added that the quartet is the only D1 relay team that will return intact in 2016.

"The future is definitely bright," he said. "Next year, we will look to continue to improve and ultimately the goal is to be top eight (all-state) at the state championships, which we just missed out on this year."

800 relay, John Glenn: The foursome of Johnathan Parker, Freddie Thompson, Kenyatta Mason and Austin Hickerson qualified for the Division 1 state meet after enjoying a spectacular dual-meet season.

1,600 relay, Wayne: The Zebras' quartet of Andrew Chant, Montel Hood, DuJon Brown-Deacon, Jah'mir Alonzo, 2. John Glenn (Austin Hamlett, Freddie Thompson, Kenyatta Mason, Austin Hickerson), 3. Churchill (Jamal Allen, Tim Dulin, Dash Dobar, Carrington Smith).

group was one of the hardest-working groups on our squad, earning our coveted 'Last Man Standing' recognition more times than not during the season."

COACH OF THE YEAR
Rick Austin, Churchill: Austin's 20th year at the helm produced a trophy-case full of awards, including the school's first KLAAS South Division title, first Kensington Conference crown and 10th Livonia City Invitational championship.

The Chargers were runners-up at the regional meet, producing 12 state qualifiers. Under Austin's direction, they won the Observerland Relays.

"This has been one of the most athletic teams that I have had the opportunity to coach at Churchill," Austin said. "No matter the meet, our kids embraced the competition to improve their performances. Each week, our confidence grew. I am so proud of this group."

"Much of the credit for our success goes to our coaching staff of John McGreevy, John Filatruaut, Dave Simpson, Taylor Byron and Jordan McClellan. They, along with our captains — Tim Dulin, DeMarco McKinney, Caleb Guthard, Paul Romain, Matt Cohan and Ryan Bragiel — kept our momentum rolling during my four-meet absence in the middle of the season."

COACH OF THE YEAR
Rick Austin, Livonia Churchill

group was one of the hardest-working groups on our squad, earning our coveted 'Last Man Standing' recognition more times than not during the season."

COACH OF THE YEAR
Rick Austin, Churchill: Austin's 20th year at the helm produced a trophy-case full of awards, including the school's first KLAAS South Division title, first Kensington Conference crown and 10th Livonia City Invitational championship.

The Chargers were runners-up at the regional meet, producing 12 state qualifiers. Under Austin's direction, they won the Observerland Relays.

"This has been one of the most athletic teams that I have had the opportunity to coach at Churchill," Austin said. "No matter the meet, our kids embraced the competition to improve their performances. Each week, our confidence grew. I am so proud of this group."

"Much of the credit for our success goes to our coaching staff of John McGreevy, John Filatruaut, Dave Simpson, Taylor Byron and Jordan McClellan. They, along with our captains — Tim Dulin, DeMarco McKinney, Caleb Guthard, Paul Romain, Matt Cohan and Ryan Bragiel — kept our momentum rolling during my four-meet absence in the middle of the season."

"This group's success can be directly attributed to their willingness to train as many of our kids started training during the winter in my speed camp. During the season they loved being around each other and were supportive of one another. When you have that kind of team chemistry and bond, great success usually follows. It was a good mix of seasoned veterans and youth."

KAREEM

arship offers, had committed to Michigan State earlier this year. He also visited Northwestern, Louisville, Pitt, Penn State and Stanford, among others.

The fact MSU has established a lot of depth on the defensive line in recent years caused Kareem to change his mind about the Spartans.

He said MSU coach Mark D'Antonio was up front about the situation and acknowledged there was a numbers problem.

"They didn't really have room for me on the team," Kareem said.

"That kind of ended it. It wasn't good to hear, but it was good to know he was telling me the truth and not just telling me, 'There's an opportunity for you to play,' when there's not."

Though the Crimson Tide and Southeastern

Conference teams are noted for red-shirting almost all first-year players, Kareem believes Alabama presents the opposite situation.

"Being a mid-year player, it will give me a better opportunity to play," he said. "The strength in their depth chart right now is low and it will give me a great opportunity."

"The size of the player they want at that position (defensive end/outside linebacker) is basically me and most of the players they have now are a little undersized. That, too, will give me a great opportunity to play."

"A lot of people were saying, 'Alabama is going to be loaded,'" Kareem's father Ken said. "They're not. They suffer from a good problem. They lose a lot of guys to the NFL. Their situation at defensive end is just the same as Michigan or anybody else."

Kareem added the difference in regard to his Alabama commitment is he's 100-percent certain this time.

"I had a chance to see everyone that was on my list," he said. "When I committed to Michigan State, I only got a chance to see a few schools. Since then, I got a chance to get out and see multiple schools and I'm sure of my decision."

After returning from a vacation, he made his decision Tuesday night, talked it over with his dad Wednesday morning and called Saban to give him the news.

"The most exciting aspect is being on a national stage and being a contender for the national championship every season," Kareem said. "It's a feeling of relief that I can focus on playing with my (high school) team and going after a state championship with them."

Kareem, who plans to study business or sports management, emerged as a top prospect last season, helping Harrison reach the semifinal round of the Division 2 state tournament and making the all-Observer first team.

"I didn't have any offers last year," he said. "My parents kept telling me, 'They're going to come; they're going to come. Just trust the process and eventually it will happen.'"

"After talking with him, I told him to put his own footprints in the ground and decide where he wanted to go," Ken Kareem said. "We went to Alabama a couple times. Both times we went it made a lot of sense — the position he would be playing, the defense, the roster."

Livonia seminar focus: Africa mission work

By Sharon Dargay
Staff Writer

The Rev. Emily Campbell felt a call to mission work nearly 10 years ago.

Members of First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, where she serves as associate pastor, were interested in expanding their outreach to the world, too.

But they weren't sure exactly where to focus their energy.

"We started exploring," said Doug Kee, a church member. "Just as we were going through that dialogue, when she (Campbell) got a flier announcing the Malawi Mission Network Conference. Malawi seemed like a good possibility. One of their tourist taglines is that they are called the warm heart of Africa."

Campbell and several church members attended the conference, which is held annually in a different city throughout the country, met Malawi-based ministers and learned about mission work in the east African country. The conference will be held this summer in Livonia.

"The conference for us was an answer to our prayer on how to learn more about Malawi. It was less money to learn about Malawi than to go there ourselves," Campbell said. "It prepared us for taking our first trip there and gave us an idea on what to expect, on what to avoid and practical advice."

The following year, First Presbyterian developed an ongoing partnership with the Mtenthera Church of Central Africa Presbyterian in Malawi. Church members have traveled to visit each other, prayed for one another and joined forces on projects. First Presbyterian also became active in the Malawi Mission Network.

"That continues to this day," said Kee, who has traveled to Malawi 14 times. "The conference does move around the country. We thought, hey, it's our turn."

Conference details

"Build & Rebuild Together to God's Glory," the 2015 Malawi Mission Network Conference, is Aug. 6-9, at the Vis-Ta-Tech Center at Schoolcraft College, located on Haggerty between Six Mile and Seven Mile.

Keynote speaker is the Rev.

The Rev. Vasco Kachipapa, left, general secretary of Nkhoma Synod, Church of Central Africa Presbyterian, and the Rev. Davidson Chifungo, national director, Veritas College, Malawi, will speak at a conference on mission work in Malawi, Aug. 6-9 at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

Vasco Kachipapa, general secretary, CCAP Nkhoma Synod. The deadline to register is Monday, July 6. Guests from Malawi will include the Rev. Davidson Chifungo, national director of Veritas College, and Hussein Latif, coordinator for the First Presbyterian-Mtenthera partnership.

Full program cost, which includes three nights in the Hampton Inn, Northville, and all meals, is $350-$495, depending on accommodations. Commuter program cost is $200 for the program, two lunches and three dinners, or $100 for one day, including a dinner and lunch. Registration deadline is July 6 at www.malawinetwork.org.

Participants will get a chance to network, and attend workshops and panel discussions. They'll learn how to succeed in Christian ministry in Malawi, how to build church partnerships, overcome partnership challenges and work through a crisis such as floods or droughts.

"The benefit of this type of conference is the sharing of ideas, experience and resources," Campbell said. "Not every mission organization that goes out has to reinvent the wheel."

Kee said the conference is open to any denomination and to individuals and groups, as well as churches, interested in mission work.

"The first time we went we had no idea which way to go," he said. "We said let's explore this, come for a couple of days and learn about it. It worked out for us."

Give your dog a vacation from noisy fireworks July 4

By Sharon Dargay
Staff Writer

I watched a fireworks display Thursday night from inside a cat shelter.

I wanted to see if my feline friends at New Beginnings Animal Rescue, where I'm a board member, would get rattled by the ear drum-rattling booms from a public display up the street.

It was business as usual in the free-roam rooms as cats snoozed or punted toys across the floor. Same story in the cage room, where eating, sleeping and pawing through cage bars took priority.

But that wasn't the case when I returned home during the second half of the show. The continual boom boom sound was more distant, but still audible and I found my dogs in their "safe" place on the bathroom floor. They'll spend a lot of time there, sandwiched between the bathtub and sink during the Fourth of July weekend.

But they don't have to, according to Stacy Karafotis, a former veterinary technician and co-owner of Lucky Dog Luxury Daycare & Boarding in Garden City.

"I have a whole display with fireworks and thunderstorm stuff," she said. "We sell Calming Chews. They have tryptophan, the same thing that's in turkey to calm them down."

The product, with other natural ingredients, helps dogs relax without drugs and cost between $6-$8, depending on chew size, from Lucky Dog.

Music might also calm a nervous canine. Karafotis also sells a CD of classical music specifically arranged for dogs, called Through A Dog's Ear, for $18.

"We sell it for thunderstorms and fireworks. You play it every day. It triggers something (to settle down) every time you play it."

She also recommends the Thunder Shirt and suggests that dog owners consider talking to their veterinarian if they suspect calming medication is in order.

"I do not recommend taking your dog with you to a fireworks display no matter if you think he does OK," she said. "This will be a bad time for storms, too. It's supposed to rain all week. Dogs feel it (high pressure) long before the rain comes. Watch your dogs for anxiety, pacing, drooling. Some dogs are afraid of wind. We have a lot of people who have dogs with anxiety problems and they bring them here on days it rains."

Karafotis said dogs often

Lola and Hunter love to lounge outside, but fireworks and thunder send them running to the house and their "safe place" in the bathroom.

feel more secure in a pack and are less likely to hear loud noises during daycare sessions inside her building. Her boarding kennel has room for more than 100 dogs.

"We'll probably have at least 10 dogs boarding here on Fourth of July because they (owners) don't want them at home."

Karafotis said calming treats also are available for cats, although she noted they are less likely to become rattled by fireworks and thunder.

The Animal Care Network, a division of the Michigan

Animal Adoption Network, also offers these reminders about pets, fireworks and storms:

» Keep them at home inside during fireworks or a big storm, with a fan or other white noise, so they can't hear the noise outside.

» Be sure to confine them if they tend to run and jump fences.

» If your dog is on a chain, make sure it is not near a fence or obstruction that the dog can jump over and get injured.

» Do not throw fireworks at pets or strays.

Get trained in appliance repair

It has been a number of years since I broached this subject and the outlook hasn't improved for many companies in the service industry. I was speaking with my neighbor, Steve, who is in charge of a large construction company, and he told me that the majority of his skilled trade people are 40 years plus and it's tough to find trained new young people to bring into the trades. It is not only the appliance industry that is affected but most of the service industries across America.

Go to school, get an education or you will not make it in life. We hear this all the time until it's ingrained in the mind of all young people within earshot. But in reality, it doesn't apply to everyone. There are millions of young people who are not geared to go on to college for many various reasons. These kids should be geared to get into some form of trade that will provide a great living and a job for life anywhere in this country. This role was a part of school in years past when they had all sorts of shop classes and the students loved those educational formats and then the degree became so almighty important.

Please don't get me wrong, I respect all people who go on to receive degrees and make a success out of life and I also love to hear the success stories from those who work with their hands. I believe the educational system has to go back to the old days of schooling to help and direct the young kids make a smart choice. If not, the service industry will never improve and getting things fixed will be in a sad condition for the American consumer.

Now, of great importance to the homeowner who requires a service technician to repair a major home appliance and the question is: Will you be able to find a qualified repairman to fix it? I know that today we have repair people who visit a home and don't even know how to take it apart. That reason is simple; They have never been trained on that particular product. The way things have changed on our newer products means that the service industry just can't keep up. Service schools are at a minimum which means a lot of on the job training. It's not like the old days when products were just plain simple and a good service tech could tell you what was wrong by just listening to your conversation. So simple in fact that most people could fix it themselves with a little direction.

Complicated repairs

You must also consider how products are made today and if the future holds a throw-away mentality when it comes to your appliances. I am not a big fan of the quality standards that apply to appliances today because I know what quality once was and the improvements sorely needed by manufacturing. As for the appliance repair industry, it is in a tough situation in today's world. I tell technicians that if they can't figure out what is wrong with a product in the first 10 minutes of a service call, they'd just be in trouble trying to figure it out. A good service technician today has to be able to read a schematic and know the value of certain electronic components. The old guy who would hold a stethoscope to the side of a washing machine and tell you what was wrong is long gone. He or she doesn't live around here anymore.

We are in need of some 10,000 appliance repair technicians in this country right now. That's an amazing figure, isn't it? But it shows the importance of why young people should start to think with their hands. Don't think that a repair company will pay you top dollar when you can't be an income producer. Offer to work for next to nothing until you learn and make a commitment to that company that teaches you a trade that makes it enticing to hire you. Not everyone goes to college and not enough of you think of a career in some sort of skilled trades. Stay tuned.

Music, fireworks make Rooftop Party a blast

The timing was impeccable for the 57th annual Ford Fireworks on the Detroit River on Monday. Torrential storms hit our area hard in the late afternoon and the late evening. The Parade Company, producer of the Ford Fireworks and the covered Rooftop Party Fundraiser, made an excellent call to move up the fireworks start time to 9:06 p.m., from the usual start time of 10:06 p.m. The sun was out, spirits were high and 10,000 pyrotechnic effects created by Zambelli Fireworks went off without a glitch.

Next to the Hob Noble Gobble, the Rooftop Party — held atop the Miller Parking Garage next to the Renaissance Center in Downtown Detroit — is the Parade Company's second largest fundraiser. Guests are treated to nonstop carnival games, prizes, clowning, unlimited food catered by Andiamo's, dancing and singing to Fifty Amp Fuse and, of course, the best view in the city for the Ford Fireworks.

"We are so lucky that the weather turned out to be perfect," said Parade Company Foundation chair, Eric Larson. "We have a sell-out at 2,500 guests and we raised over $475,000."

Nifty the clown makes 9-year-old Farmington Hills resident Marley Wyatt look pretty nifty.

WDIV-TV Local 4 broadcast live from the Rooftop Party that included Local 4's annual Super Singer competition. Celebrity judges included Farmington Hills native and American Idol finalist Jena Irene who performed her new song, Unbreakable.

Financial checklist is a must when divorcing a spouse

On my 30th birthday, I made the decision to get a divorce from my first husband. It was one of the hardest decisions I have ever made. I had two children to support and I wasn't sure if I could make it financially. I was scared but I knew I couldn't stay married. So I packed up the kids and walked out the door. Even though I had to work two jobs and live in my grandparent's basement, I have never regretted my decision.

Divorce is a huge step and not one to be taken lightly due in part to its enormous emotional and financial ramifications. Most women face a 40 percent decline in their standard of living after divorce. As a woman going through divorce, you may wonder how you can possibly make it on your own. Let's face it, losing your husband's income can seriously change the way you do things. But, the sooner that you take steps to adjust to your new situation, the better for your financial survival. You are now in the driver's seat of your financial future.

This checklist can help you transition from "ours" to "mine" and "yours."

Day-to-day transactions and financial accounts

» Divide all bank account balances as called for in the divorce agreement.

Paula Swain

» Cancel joint checking, savings and revolving credit accounts, such as credit cards.

» Establish individual accounts in your name for ATMs, checking, savings and credit cards.

» Let your utility companies know if you're assuming responsibility for the bills or if your name should be removed from the accounts. Make sure to update the accounts for gas, electric, heating oil, water, sewer, cable/satellite television, telephone and broadband Internet.

» Notify all of your creditors of your changed circumstances and responsibilities, including change of address, if applicable.

The divorce agreement negotiated during your proceedings should spell out who owes what to whom and who is assuming which obligations. You should make suitable arrangements for your responsibilities and remove yourself from things you are no longer responsible for.

Other financial assets

» Revoke any joint authorizations or powers of attorney you gave to your ex-spouse over investment accounts and assets.

» Remove yourself from any joint accounts your spouse intends to maintain independently. You may have to explicitly notify the institutions that you will claim no future interest in the account.

» Remove your ex-spouse from any accounts you intend to maintain individually.

Retirement plan issues

» Update the beneficiary designations of your existing retirement accounts and insurance policies.

» Seek a qualified domestic relations order (QDRO) for any retirement assets you are entitled to in your spouse's employer-sponsored plans. The QDRO is a tax-efficient way to preserve and enforce your financial interests in your ex-spouse's pensions and defined contribution plan assets.

» Create rollover IRAs in your name to receive any assets you might be due immediately from your ex-spouse's IRAs under the terms of your divorce settlement. Taking those transfers as cash distributions could trigger immediate and costly tax consequences.

Property and other resources

» Update the deeds and title papers to reflect any changes in property ownership conditions specified in your divorce agreement. Notify any mortgage holders and lien holders of the changes.

» Notify all taxing authorities (city, county, school district, etc.) of any changes in responsibility for real estate tax payments.

» Update motor vehicle title, tax, insurance and lease arrangements.

Moving forward on your own

Take a fresh look at your plans for the future to determine whether your divorce will affect your financial needs, risk tolerance and time frames. Among the things to re-evaluate are:

- » Life insurance and disability insurance needs
- » Investment allocations
- » Retirement savings rates

Review your will to be sure that its provisions reflect your new circumstances. If you have no will for yourself, create one.

Evaluate your Social Security status. A divorced person may be eligible for Social Security benefits based on his or her ex-spouse's earnings record if he or she is at least 62 years old, was married for at least 10 years, and does not remarry before age 60.

I am dedicated to walking you through the steps that you need to make to take control of your financial future and prepare you for a secure retirement. Now it is the time to start focusing on your finances.

BURKALL, LORI SUE
Passed away June 20, 2015, in Ann Arbor, Michigan, after a courageous fight with cancer. She was 54 years old. Preceded in death by her mother, Eleanor Burkall, and both sets of grandparents, Peter and Marie Burkall and Ken and Olive Hughes, of Muskegon, Michigan. Lori leaves behind her father, Al Burkall of St. Joseph, Michigan; sister Linda (Dan) Derbas of Galien, Michigan; sister Julie (Jim) Painter of Centerville, Ohio; brother Don (Shirley) Burkall of Durham, North Carolina; sister Mary (Dave) Schmidke of St. Joseph, Michigan; life partner Burt Sloan of Ann Arbor, Michigan; special cousin Norman (Ilene) Tyler of Ann Arbor, Michigan; and many nieces, nephews, cousins, and dear friends. Lori graduated from St. Joseph High School in St. Joseph, Michigan, received her Bachelor of Education from the National College of Education in Evanston, Illinois. During her career she taught special needs students in Dayton, Ohio; Antioch, Illinois; Charlotte, North Carolina; and ultimately, Livonia, Michigan. Lori was exceptionally close to her eight nieces and nephews, always being very interested and involved in their lives. She lovingly shared many special times with each one of them as they grew from childhood into the adults they are today. She was so proud of each and every one of them. While in high school Lori's family hosted Gundi Mathews, a foreign exchange student from Hamburg, Germany, who became a special sister. This wonderful experience led Lori and her partner Burt to open their home and hearts to many foreign exchange students over the years. The bonds formed remain to this day; many students, along with their families, have returned for visits to see their "American mom." When not in the classroom or spending time with family, Lori loved to travel. She enjoyed learning about other cultures and exploring near and far, whether it was on road trips with her dad, taking cruises with Burt or her girlfriends, or backpacking through Europe. She jumped out of airplanes, rode her motorcycle, and loved the water, whether swimming and sailing, or playing cards with her dad at the beach. Lori's creative side led her to explore a variety of artistic avenues. After taking a stained glass class, she fell in love with glass, and subsequently, lampwork (glass bead-making). Her friends and family treasure the unique and beautiful gifts she made for them. To showcase her culinary talents, Lori would entertain friends and even cater various events. Happy were those who were called to her table. Lori will be greatly missed by family, her very many close friends and neighbors, and former students. Her loving and generous spirit and beautiful smile touched the lives of so many. Lori made a difference, and left the world a better place because she was here. Those wishing to share a memory of Lori can do so at www.muelligannarbor.com. A celebration of Lori's life will be held at a future date. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions can be made to either St. Joseph Mercy Hospice Ann Arbor (www.stjosephannarbor.org/hospice) or Youth for Understanding USA (www.yfuusa.org).

WILCOX, DORIS ANN
76, of Garden City, MI, passed away peacefully where her immediate family surrounding her Monday, June 22, 2015 at Maple Manor, Wayne, MI. She was born October 11, 1938 in Garden City, MI to Doris and Harold Anderson. Surviving are one son, Eric Wilcox of Lisbon Falls, Maine; two daughters, K. Aspen Mikella (Todd Steele) and her grandchildren, Kohen, Kipri and Blake of Lisbon Falls, ME, and Melissa Adams (Benjamin) and grandchildren Braeden and Caelen of Pea Ridge, Arkansas; one sister Theone Alashari (Nasrat) and their children, Sherri, Laela and David; two brothers, Harold Whitney Anderson (Christa) and their children, Robert, Cheryl, Sandy and Linda; and Kenneth Anderson (Doris) and their daughter Jerri, and step-children, Rod, Jan and Susi; along with many sisters-in-law and brothers-in-laws, nieces and nephews on the Wilcox side of the family. Doris was a long time resident of Garden City, living in her childhood home until marrying Melvin Wilcox (her children's father) and moving to 28922 Block Street, where she resided for the rest of her life. She graduated from Henry Ford Hospital School of Nursing as an RN in 1961. Doris was then employed at the Garden City Hospital for 43 years, many of those years in the ER, and in her later years with G.C. Hospital as integral part of Community Education. Doris was awarded the prestigious honor of the Athena Leadership Award in 2001 for professional excellence and her many years of dedication to the community. She was beloved by all who had the pleasure of meeting her and there will be a void for many that that is impossible to replace. The family will honor the last wishes of Doris and not have a service. There will be a donation to the hospital in her honor, where she worked so selflessly doing what she did best...caring for others.

TRUDGEON, JACK HOWARD
Beloved husband and father, Jack Howard Trudgeon, passed into the arms of his heavenly father on April 21, 2015. Born in Calumet, Michigan on July 26, 1920, Jack was married to his dear wife Helen for 63 years. Together they shared a joyous life filled with love of music, family, church, summers at their cabin in the U.P. of Michigan, retirement in Arizona, and final years in Lancaster, California. After military duty in WWII he served as both church and high school choir director for nearly 40 years. He was most happy sitting on the dock of his cabin in the woods, putting in the back chopping wood, or working in his garden. Jack was beloved by his large extended family and will be sorely missed. He is survived by his brother, William Trudgeon of Warren, and five children and their families: Jill and Kurt Sprenger of Texas, Jane and Robert Neal of California, Susan and Brad Marten of Colorado, Sandra and Douglas McLaren of England, and Garry Perryman of Wales. Cheers, Dad! Memorial service to be held at First Lutheran Church, Winona, Michigan, on July 5th at 2:30. In lieu of flowers the family requests that memorial contributions be made to the Lancaster United Methodist Pipe Organ Renewal Fund.

Paying tribute to the life of your loved one.

You can do it: Overcoming travel-related anxiety takes practice

For many, the summer months are associated with vacations, get-aways and traveling. Unfortunately, traveling can be worrisome event for some, and they may simply stay home and miss out on the many benefits of travel. For many, travel is a very anxiety-provoking experience.

Travel anxiety may be a part of a more generalized anxiety disorder or it may be a specific phobia which could involve a fear of flying or a fear of driving or a fear of being away from one's familiar surroundings of home. The underlying reasons for travel anxiety, often unconscious, can be uncovered in psychotherapy although the process is arduous and can take a good deal of time. However, while uncovering the reasons for the fear, there are tactical approaches which can be simultaneously pursued.

In addition to working with a therapist who can help you uncover the reasons for your fears, you can also directly face your fears with some straightforward "self-help" techniques. Some call this exposure therapy.

Think logically

In general, the process involves learning control over one's nervous system through breathing exercises with relaxation techniques. This is coupled with challenging one's thoughts about feared situations. For example, the anxious traveler is full of "what if?" questions. These can be listed and then categorically answered.

For example, one may hesitate to fly on a plane because "what if I have an anxiety attack and feel like I can't breathe and am going to pass out?" This can be countered by a statement to one's self such as "If I have an anxiety attack, I'll remind myself that it's painful but harmless, that my rapid heartbeat does not mean I'm having a heart attack, and if I stop breathing and fall down from my shortness of breath, my body will immediately start breathing again on its own."

In flying anxieties, it is interesting that most sufferers aren't worried about the plane being out of control but are worried about themselves being out of control on the plane. Armed with relaxation techniques, deep breathing exercises, and distraction methods, a grounded traveler can become a frequent flyer with practice.

Some airlines offer desensitization programs for those with severe flying phobias in which they are taught these various relaxation techniques on board a grounded plane. In session two, they are taxied around without lifting off, continuing to practice their relaxation exercises and in the final phase, they achieve a take-off, a short flight, and a landing – all under the influence of self-induced relaxation guided by a "travel coach" provided by the airlines who is trained in these techniques.

Critical to desensitize

Fears of traveling by automobile are often, on the surface, experienced as fears of being hurt in an accident. Frequently underneath, there is a real fear of separation. The anxiety may increase the farther one gets away from familiar surroundings of their own home.

Again, as in airplane flying the learning of fear desensitization techniques is critical. So is facing the fear and getting in an automobile, first as a passenger and later as a driver, armed with techniques that will induce relaxation. Mentally rehearsing trips in cars can also help. While in a relaxed state, one imagines the details of what one might see and hear on a motor trip. Through imagination, one can begin to cope with the fears of the physical sensations of anxiety: rapid heartbeat, shortness of breath, feelings of light-headedness, and nausea, etc. The more one rehearses, the more one will be prepared and able to become an observer of anxiety sensations rather than react to them.

The important thing is to face the fear through behavior that will expose the underlying thoughts, fantasies and feelings so as to master them. These usually turn out to be concerns about loss of control of some things.
