

Modest water rate increase proposed

LeAnne Rogers

In what might be a good kind of sticker shock, Westland is projecting a 2.35-percent increase in the water/ sewer rate for 2016.
"I went back 16 years this is one of the smallest rate increases we've had," Westland Finance Director Steve Smith said.

The city anticipates 5-percent increases from both the Great Lakes Water Authority and Wayne County, the latter handling sewage. By using a five-year rate study and analysis, the city attempts to avoid rate increase spikes by spreading out the increases.

With an average Westland water customer using 13.5 units of water — a unit is 1,000 gallons — during a two-month billing cycle, the city projects the average water bill will increase $3.78 or $22.68 annually. Additionally, the city passes on $28 per billing for the fixed rate charge from GLWA and an increase is not proposed.

"When you look at the proposed rate, it's $10.12 for 1,000 gallons of water. When you add the $28 fixed rate charge, it's 4 cents per gallon," West-land Mayor William Wild said. "If you buy a bottle of water at a gas station, you'll probably pay $2. This is very reasonable for clean drinking water when you turn on the tap and having it go away when you flush the toilet."

Wayne County has shifted from a commodity charge to billing communities entirely through a fixed rate for sewage.

"Now it is all fixed-cost charges. It's not based on usage anymore," Smith said. "We are currently paying just under $1 million per month in fixed costs (combined water and sewer). If we bill to collect the fixed charges, it would cost $400 per bill. The charge is at $28 currently."

Even with the proposed rate increase, Westland's water/sewer fees are lower than current rates charged by neighboring communities, including Wayne, Canton, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights and Inkster, which has the highest rate in the area. Smith noted Inkster doesn't charge for the fixed rate, which means that cost must be recouped through the rates.

Westland converted the different community billing rates to the average 13.5 units

the city's rate model.
The bill ranged from $115.02 in Livonia to $260.43 in Inkster.
Garden City, $155.55, and Plymouth Township, $164.07, at the current rates would be below the proposed new rate in Westland. Livonia recently posted a comparison chart that incorrectly calculated Westland's water-sewer rates due to an error in applying the fixed rate charge, Smith not-

Hopgood said. "You (Junior ROTC members) helped make it possible. They could feel your honor and respect for them. You had some fun

Hopgood connected with the students after meeting their senior instructor Sgt. Major Stephen Young at 'The kids clamor to do it — I turn them away. They ask when it is and if they can get involved," Young said. "They get to visit with veterans from World War II through the current war. We're still on the smaller end of the rates," Smith said. "I talked to them and they are sup posed to be correcting it on their website." "It's so hard to get an apples-to-apples comparison. Canton and Northville are considering building a water tower," said City Attorney James Fau-sone, past water board

Results can be deadly in fire when children are left home alone

only wish I could be re-ferring to the lighthearted Christmas comedy Home Alone. Unfortunately, I am referring to a fire that hap-pened in a Romulus home in October of last year.

In that fire, a 1-year-old baby girl died and her 3-year-old brother was in critical condition after the fire that found them home alone. While the mother who left these children home alone faces involuntary manslaugh-ter and child abuse charges, the fact is that the kids were left home alone. Many of the neighbors interviewed knew that was common for the mother to do this, but didn't report it or offer help.

These young children are in a risk category all their own. They depend on adults for every need they have, including safety and security. While this mother often left them home alone, disaster had not been present in those instances. This time, the odds weren't in their favor. A fire broke out, and the results were deadly.

In many cases, a quick and proper response to an un-wanted fire can result in everyone getting out of the home safely. If you add in some home fire safety items like working smoke alarms and carbon monoxide alarms, then you increase your odds by having those devices work when you are sleeping or have your attention turned elsewhere.

The upper-story bedroom in this fire could have been equipped with an escape ladder for a way out from upper floors when fire blocks the stairs leading down. This fire lacked the responsible adult to implement the plan.

While the 1-year-old had

little they could physically do to escape the fire, the 3-year-old may have had the physical ability, but lacked the knowledge and experience of an adult. Most children this age tend to hide from things that frighten them. They may be found in closets or under beds, neither of which are safe havens from the deadly effects

The main point regarding this tragedy is that young children should not be left home alone, without adult supervision until you have a comfort level in their abilities to react to situations involving fires, medical emergencies, strang ers at the door and a host of other things that often confront people at home. Many places offer babysitter classes that follow a schedule of all of those items and more, and are usually open to those around the age of 12 or older. None of the children in this story were that old. This is where the family, friends and neighbors may have been able to step in. While I am not famil-iar with all the dynamics of lar with all the dynamics of this family situation, family did speak out on the mother's behalf after the incident. We can't go back in time and save this baby girl. We can only learn from the incident and plan how we would better handle the situation if we are confronted with it. This incident happened close to where we live. Plan ahead

Westland's Inspire Theatre presents high-seas drama

Westland's Inspire Theatre is presenting its first full-length musical in more than nine years when it presents The Lady Pirates of Captain Bree for what theater officials are calling "an unprecedented" threeweekend run that starts

In a bold move, pirates are holding hostage the passengers and crew of merchant ship The Kayla May and demanding an undisclosed amount of gold for their release. Included in the passen ger list are the wife of Ambassador Prescott, Madam Prescott and their niece Julia and nephew Samuel.

"Bree," is notorious for forcing her captives to walk the plank. In this unprecedented move, it is suspected that the pirates are capitalizing on the fame of the Mad am to garner more than just the suspected cache carried by this type of ship. The Royal British Navy has dispatched a fleet, led by the esteemed Admiral Moore, to end the siege and rescue the hostages. As this drama unfolds, waiting seems to be the only course of action for the family and friends of the Prescotts.

The Lady Pirates, is the largest undertaking for Inspire Theatre in recent history and certainly in its short history at its new location on Warren Road. Moving in July of last year, this is only the second produc-tion at the Westland Center for Performing Arts. Listed on Facebook as Westland's only live theater, Inspire Theatre has been located in Westland for most of its 10-plus years of existence. Formerly housing the West land cable TV station, WLND, managed by Craig Wellenbach and owned by the city of Westland, the building has been refitted by IT for performances, classes and concerts. Playback rooms, stu-dios, editing bays and office space have been revamped into theater space, dressing rooms, concession and ticket offices, a green room and a scene shop. Artistic Director Len Fisher said he's amazed at the level of talent represented in this show performance. Patrons dressed as pirates will be judged on creativity and prizes will be awarded. The show opens Friday, Jan. 29, and runs for the next three weekends on Friday and Saturday at 7:30 p.m., and Sundays at 3 p.m. Tickets are $16 and are available on line at inspiretheatre.com or by calling 734-751-7057. Oakland FlexTech Academy announced the launch of its state-of-theart makerspace. Community members of all ages are invited to tour the space, experiment with the new tools and tech-nology, participate in hands on activities and enjoy light refreshments. The academy cut the ribbon on the space Thursday (Jan. 14). Oakland FlexTech

The cast includes a mixture of Inspire regulars and newcomers from Wayne, Westland, Garden City, Canton, Livonia, Royal Oak, Redford, Plymouth, Farmington Hills, Northville and Ann Arbor.

Oakwood ACO participating in federal Shared Savings Program

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services announced 121 new participants representing 49 states and the District of Columbia will take part in an innova-tive initiative — Medicare Accountable Care Organizations, which are designed to improve the care patients receive in the health care sys-tem and lower costs.

The Dearborn-based Oakwood Accountable Care Organization was selected as one of nearly 150 renewing Medicare Shared Savings Program Accountable Care Organizations providing Medicare beneficiaries with access to highquality, coordinated care across the United States, the Centers for Medi-care & Medicaid Services announced. That brings the total to 434 Shared Savings Program ACOs serving more than 7.7 million beneficiaries.

Doctors, hospitals and health care provid-ers establish ACOs in order to work together to provide higher-quality coordinated care to their patients, while helping to slow health care cost growth. The Oakwood ACO will be one of 434 ACOs participating in the Shared Savings Program as of Jan. 1. Beneficiaries seeing health care pro-viders in ACOs always have the freedom to choose doctors inside or outside of the ACO. ACOs receive a portion of the Medicare savings generated from lowering the growth in health care costs as long as they also meet standards for high-quality care.

"People across America are going to be bet-ter cared for when they go to their health care providers, because these hospitals and providers have made a commitment to innovation, a commitment to change how they do business and care for patients," HHS Secretary Sylvia Matthews Burwell said "Medicare, and the health care system as a whole, is moving toward paying providers based on the quality, rather than just the quantity of care they give patients. The three new ACO initiatives that are being launched today mark an important step forward in this effort."

Since ACOs first began participating in the program in early 2012, thousands of health care providers have signed on to participate in the program, working together to provide better care to Medicare's seniors and people with disabilities. The new and renewing ACOs will bring approximately 15,000 additional physicians into the ACO program starting Jan. 1. ACOs are delivering better care and they continue to show promising results on cost savings, the organiza-tion says. In 2014, they had a combined total net million for 333 Medicare Shared Savings Program (Shared Savings Program) ACOs and 20 Pioneer ACOs. Based on 2014 quality and financial performance results for Shared Savings Program ACOs who started the program in 2012, 2013, and 2014, ACOs that reported in both 2013 and 2014 improved on 27 of the 33 quality measures, including patients' ratings of clinicians' communication, beneficiaries' rating of their doctors, screening for tobacco use and cessation, screening for high blood pressure, and Electronic Health Rec-ord use. Shared Savings Program ACOs also outperformed group practices reporting quality on 18 out of 22 measures.

Stay the course in turbulent times

only way you can describe how the markets began the new vear. Across the board markets were down on average 6 percent during the first week of 2016. This makes it the worse opening week on Wall Street in history.

The news is full of doom and gloom and, as a result, investors are nervous. That's why I think it's important to take a step back and understand what's hap pening before you decide to make a move. Remember, one of the keys of investing is don't let short-term comfort cause long-term pain.

If you take a step back and analyze what's hap-pening, it's clear that China has been the main reason for the downturn. China, which has been the fuel that's driven the world's growth over the last number of years and whose economy has been growing at an incredible pace, has started to slow down. As a result, the markets have had an adverse reaction. It's not that we didn't know that China was slowing, but every time there's a new report that confirms it, markets are adversely affected. It is important to understand China is the second largest econo my in the world. When the Chinese economy slows, it has a domino effect worldwide.

The other major reason for the market selloff has been oil prices, which continue to fall. In fact, oil prices are now around $33 a barrel, where they were in 2004. A drop in energy prices is a double-edge sword. As consumers, we love the fact that we can fill up our tanks at less than $2 a gallon. The other side is that many econo mies throughout the world are dependent upon energy prices, including ours. Numerous oil wells throughout the United States have been shut down because of low energy prices. As a result, jobs are lost and local economies are hurt.

The question we're faced with as investors sell off and wait it out or do we stay the course? My problem with selling out is that, now what? Do you leave your money in cash that is paying virtually nothing? You are losing purchasing power because we know the cost of living is going up much faster than the return you're getting in It would be nice if we could get out of the mar ket when it's retreating and get back in when it starts going up, but that's nearly impossible to do. Markets in today's world can change direction relatively quickly. Don't forget, last August we saw a 10-percent correc tion before markets bounced back. As I've said many times in the past, it is impossible to time the market because good news is bad news and bad news is good news. When you attempt to time the markets, you have to be right twice: once when you buy and once when you sell. No one's been able to do that consistently.

Exhibit shows work of concentration camp prisoners

Collected from Auschwitz and other concentra-tion camps, the sketches, carvings and other pieces of artwork represented in Forbidden Art are also pieces of history

The powerful and poignant exhibition will be on display in Madonna University's Franciscan Center through Feb. 9. The collection includes photographs of 20 pieces of art, as well as accompanying historical commentary for each.

"The Nazis did all they could to make their captives faceless; in a sense, the numbers tattooed on their arms became their new identi-ties," said Deepinder Singh Uppal, assistant professor in the Religious Studies Department, and co-director of the Center for Catholic Studies and Interfaith Dialogue at Madonna University. "In the midst of profound loss, Forbidden Art became a means for prisoners to express their defiance and preserve something the Nazis could never take: their dignity. If we can learn only one thing from Forbidden Art, perhaps it should be what happens when the exclusion of religious and ethnic identities is left to grow unchecked." Among the art are candid sketches of prisoners, abstract representations of emotion and even miniature carvings. Many artists are represented in the exhibition, although some were never identified

Sr. Nancy Marie Jam-roz, co-director of the Center for Catholic Studies and Interfaith Dialogue at Madonna, said the mission of Madonna University is to instill in its students Christian humanistic values, intellectual inquiry and a respect for diversity.

"This mission receives its spirit from Franciscan Values, two of which are respect for the dignity of each per-son and education for truth and service," she said. "With this in mind, the suggestion, from Marcin Chumiecki, director of the Polish Mission of the Orchard Lake Schools, that Madonna University host the For-bidden Art exhibit was eagerly welcomed." The display is hosted by the Madonna Univer-sity Center for Catholic Studies and Interfaith Dialogue, and presented in North America by The Polish Mission of the Orchard Lake Schools in exclusive partnership with the Auschwitz-Bir-kenau State Museum. OUR VIEWS

Honor MLK, explore diversity close to home

There's a great line in the movie The American President from a couple of decades back. Michael Douglas, as the U.S. president, says, "America isn't easy. America is advanced citizenship. You gotta want it bad, 'cause it's gonna put up a fight."

The specific context in which Douglas, as President Andrew Shepherd, spoke in the 1005 movie was dent Andrew Shepherd, spoke in the 1995 movie was a personal attack on him and a loved one by a political rival. The film's larger point shows that, throughout our nation's history, we have indeed faced advanced citizenship if we care to live up to the ideals of our

This month, many communities will celebrate observances of the late Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., whose leadership of the U.S. civil rights movement in the 1950s and 1960s forever changed America. Some communities take a more active role than others do in honoring the King and discussing how America has changed and hopefully advanced since his 1968 assassination.

Westland's Martin Luther King Jr. Freedom walk takes place Monday at 9 a.m., moving from John Glenn High School to the Friendship Center for a prayer breakfast. The formal presentation, which starts at 10 a.m., features keynote speaker Mildred Gaddis as well as local church leaders.

Locally, our communities are changing, too, be-coming more ethnically diverse and becoming home to those of multiple faiths. Many houses of worship that are not Christian have held open houses, to explain their beliefs and practices and engage those who live and work in their communities.

This is particularly important in a time of fear in the U.S. and worldwide, as evidenced by the recent attacks in Paris and closer to home. It's understandable to worry for the safety of your loved ones, but we must avoid becoming a nation so gripped by fear that we stereotype those who are different and fail to see our commonalities.

In the wake of World War II, many Germans struggled with their role in the Nazi Holocaust, which killed millions of Jews and others. If more in their nation had spoken out earlier — and been more informed by a free press of their government's actions — who knows how different history would have

It's all too easy now to look at Muslims and others of Middle Eastern background with suspicion, to question their motives and allegiance to this country, where many are U.S. citizens. We must not let history repeat itself by allowing legitimate law enforcement concerns and practices to be overridden by fear and abuse of power.

Why not participate in your local Martin Luther King Jr. Day observance or visit a nearby community if no such observance is available? Schools that remain in session on MLK Day often use much of the great and age-appropriate curriculum on civil rights and related issues in their classrooms.

Dialogue is the key to welcoming new neighbors to our communities whose backgrounds vary from our own. Don't think your question is silly; speak up in the forums that are available in which to learn about people's heritage, beliefs and religious prac-

Don't underestimate the power of food, either, in such gatherings. There's a Christian hymn that says, "May we who eat be bread for other," and often the simple but common act of breaking bread together (and learning of foods of different cultures) helps to break the ice.

Plight of Detroit Public Schools' children impacts us all

Don't turn away from this column or issue, believing because you don't live in Detroit and your children don't at-tend its schools that this educational travesty does not impact you - it does!

The state has a moral and constitutional responsibility to fix what it is partially responsible for breaking. The state of Michigan took control of Detroit Public Schools.

Tom Watkins GUEST COLUMNIST

placing an emergency manager in charge, which has proved to be an utter failure. The district's financial woes have not been fixed, thus it can't provide even a minimal education to the majority of Detroit stu-

Be clear, this is not solely a Gov. Rick Snyder issue. Going back as far as Govs. Engler and Granholm, state intervention has not provided the return on investment anyone wants.

The public schools in Detroit have been hollowed out over the years. Today, there are not enough fingers on two hands to point to the various culprits respon-sible for the mess that exists. This is not to say there are not exceptional teachers, principals, classrooms and schools. There are many. Yet, for far too many of our children, public education (both traditional, charter and EAA schools) exists as small islands of excellence surrounded by a sea of despair.

Know this: A child without a decent education today becomes an adult without much of a future tomorrow. Our failure to educate the children of Detroit to even minimal standards, let alone world-class standards, dooms them to a mediocre life at best and a collective disaster for us all at worse.

The problems with public education in Detroit are immense and will require real change to produce the results our children need and deserve. Detroit's schools – public, charter and EAA – have been found to be among those with the worst test scores and graduation rates in the nation.

DPS enrollment has dropped by nearly 100,000 students in the past decade, which great-ly contributes to the accumulation of more than $500 million in operating debt. That figure, combined with borrow-ing for buildings, puts the district at risk of fiscal collapse — and

Such a collapse would greatly affect students, schools and local units of government, as the state is constitutionally responsible to cover many debts and liabilities, a figure that could be in billions of dollars.

If you don't care about what this means to these children, you'd better - if only for selfish self-in-terest. Without the ability to read, write, calculate or navigate life, these children will be coming to your place of business someday – as potential customers, employees or, perhaps, with nefarious ideas in mind. Let me ideas in mind. Let me assure you, the uneducated children of Detroit don't simply disappear.

DPS has reached a tipping point which the governor and Legislature must address early this year. Every day of in-action delays the day when learning can begin. Proposed legislation, backed by Snyder, builds upon recommendations from a community coalition of Detroiters. The proposed goal is to address the financial crisis while offering Detroit parents access to quality schools, regard-less of the type of public school they want their children to attend.

A legislative package, supported by Snyder, to address the financial crisis is apparently ready to be introduced.

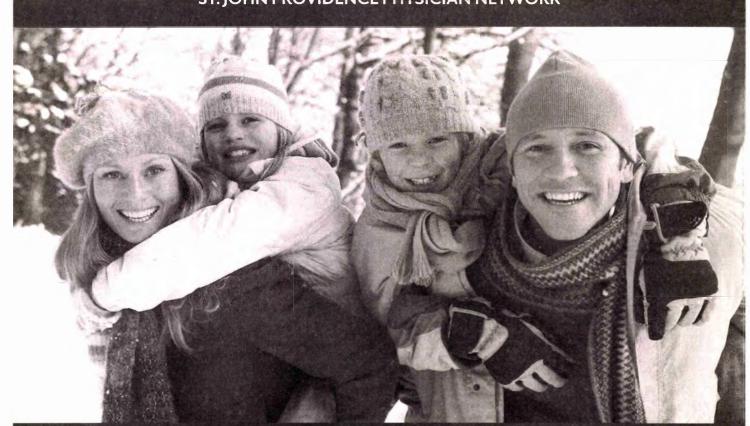

Clearly, there is not a consensus on the governor's plan in the streets of Detroit, inside the state Capitol, among teachers union leadership or in the mayor's office. One needs to be forged. It is past time for the focus to switch from power, control, ideology, politics and adults to TLC: teaching, learning and children.

Tom Watkins served as Michigan's superintendent of schools, 2001-05.

Residents fight proposed cell tower near church

A proposal by Verizon Wireless to build a cellphone tower behind a Canton church has rankled some nearby residents who fear the plan could hurt property val-ues, intrude on wetlands, create an eyesore and potentially pose health

Verizon wants to build a 120-foot tower behind Adundant Life Church of God, on the west side of Hannan, south of Palmer, and lease the property for $1,000 a month. It's money the pastor, the Rev. Dan Smitherman, said could help a church food pantry that feeds 250-300 people a week.

"We're walking a thin line here," he said. "We don't want to make enemies of the community because, as a church, we are here to serve the community."

Verizon and church leaders have discussed a lease agreement, but it hasn't been signed. "It's not a done deal," Smither-man said.

Some residents of Canton, Westland and Wayne oppose the Verizon plan and have initiated a petition drive that, as of Thursday morning, had received about 145 signatures against it.

"I oppose it because Protesters carry signs to oppose plans for a Verizon cellphone tower proposed near a Canton church.

our property values are going to take a huge hit," said Cindy Campeau, who lives in the Meadows of Canton subdivision.

Residents plan to op-pose Verizon's proposal during a Canton Planning Commission public hearing — initially set for Monday — that has been delayed until February at township hall. The commission is expected to decide whether to issue a recommendation to the Canton Township Board of Trustees to approve or deny what is called a minor planned development agreement, including a preliminary site plan, Canton Community

Planner Jeff Goulet said. Goulet said Verizon officials have to make a case for the plan. "They have to demonstrate that the service is needed and that it's a benefit to the communi-ty," he said. "The benefit to the community would be providing continuity of cellphone services in this area." The company has said its network has a service gap near Hannan and Palmer. Verizon last July lost a battle to build the cellphone tower on town-ship-owned property north of the church, on the east side of Fellows Creek Golf Course, after the township board re jected it, amid opposition from residents.

Under the latest plan, Goulet said the closest house would be about

Resident Steve Seregny said he has lived for 50 years in the first house just south of Abundant Life Church of God. He opposes the Verizon tower.

"I don't want to look out my window every day and see it," he said, add-ing that he has two children, 14 and 15, and he is concerned about potential health risks.

Theresa Walter, who lives in Brookside Village subdivision, said Verizon needs to find a more suitable location.

"This is not an industrial park," she said.

Campeau said resi-dents just emerged from the housing market crash and foreclosure crisis and can't withstand another hit on property values. She said a Verizon tower would keep new homeowners away.

Responding to questions by email, Karen Smith, Verizon public relations manager, said the tower is needed "to continue to provide reli-able service to our customers, including public safety service provid-

Smith said Verizon works with local jurisdictions to ensure all federal, state and local regulations are followed. The company also will need final site plan approval in Canton.

"For this project, we worked diligently to lo-cate a viable location that meets the needs of our customers and the com-munity," she said.

Regarding a potential wetlands issue, Goulet said Verizon will, indeed, have to move the proposed tower location a few feet closer to the church. Original plans call for it to be built 85 feet behind the church.

Despite the petitions signed by about 145 peo-ple, Smitherman said the church had received only a couple of phone calls about the Verizon tower. He said he hadn't been aware of the level of opposition.

Smitherman said $1,000 a month from a Verizon lease would help the church expand its food pantry services to help people who are home-bound or don't have transportation.

"We would definitely like to do this," he said. "It would tremendously help our food pantry." Some residents indicated they may move away from the Palmer-Hannan area if the tower is built. They questioned why Verizon couldn't improve its service using an existing tower, such as one near Stevenson Middle School in Westland.

Jim Rubasky, who lives in Westland, just across the road from the church, said he belongs to a group — the Westland Homeowners Committee

Smart Growth — that opposes the tower. He said some residents have met with Westland officials to discuss the issue. Verizon has said it needs a tower close to Palmer and Hannan.

Goulet said the tower would be 340 feet from the center of Hannan Road and 820 feet from Palmer.

Some residents say their Verizon cellular phones work in the area, while others say they do have some issues. Smitherman said when he is at the church, there are times when he can't get on the Internet or make a phone call. Resident Nancy Lemkie, who lives two houses south of the church, said the problem isn't enough to warrant building the tower. She said she's not willing to take a hit on her property values because some people experience dropped calls.

Tower opponents have letters from two Realtors, Pat Rice and Laurie Radiwon, who contend that property values could drop 10 percent or more because of the tower. They do live near the Radiwon called the potential impact on property values "a big deal. It's huge."

Fans warm to ice fest despite weather

Matt Jachman

Fans found it cool at this year's Plymouth Ice Festival, organizers say, even though the weather — and the ice itself were unseasonably

The three-day festival, the city's 34th annual, opened Friday to rain, temperatures near 40 degrees and small crowds. On Saturday, temperatures climbed but so did attendance, said producer James Gietzen, demonstrating the festival's unwritten law: Higher temperatures mean larger atures mean larger crowds but smaller ice. "It's really a love-hate relationship with the weather," said Gietzen on Monday, "It's hard to find that happy medi-um." On Sunday, with the weather colder and weather colder and roads snowy, the crowds dipped again, he said.

But Gietzen and Rob Parent of Sun & Snow Sports, a festival spon-sor, said festival-goers had a good time regard-

"The festival this year just seemed to have a very positive energy," said Gietzen, whose JAG Entertainment has produced every festival since 2014. "I think things are going to be even bigger and better" next year, he added. "People understood that the weather was out of anyone's control "

"The kids had a blast. Most had never experienced a winter sport of any kind," he said. "It was a special feeling to introduce them to an activity that will hopefully develop into lifelong passions."

There were more than 100 ice sculptures at the festival, including about 50 in Kellogg Park. Gietzen said that canopies, donated by local compa-nies, protected some sculptures from the rain on Friday and the sun on Saturday; likewise, Parent said, tarps were put over critical sections of

Grys named new Franklin coach

Former pitching standout has big plans for Patriots

Ed Wright

Given the impressive credentials its new coach has accumulated, it's safe to say the Livonia Franklin softball program could be on the same path as one of Brittany Grys's best pitches: the fast riser.

A former stand-out pitcher at Portland High School, which is located about 30 miles west of Lansing, Oakland University and Alma College, Grys was named the Patriots' new softball coach in mid-December. She will succeed the popular and successful Linda Jimenez, who stepped down following the 2015 season

In addition to her full-time job as a district manager at Vector Market-ing in North-ville, Grys is a softball instructor at Top Prospects Sports in Farmington Hills.

Pitching runs deep in her DNA as both of her parents — Mike and Kelly — were standouts on the mound in high school and at the collegiate level and two of her three sis-ters also pitched for the Raiders.

"I am excited to start," said Grys, whose high school pitching accolades include a season when she went 42-4 with an 0.54 earned-run average while leading Portland to the state semifinals. "The team has six or more seniors returning, along with some very skilled underclassmen, so there's underclassmen, so there's already a solid foundation."

Knowing firsthand the importance of top-notch pitching, Grys has worked briefly with two of the Patriots' returning hurlers — senior Kaeleigh Kerpet and junior Danielle Hoskins.

"I actually had an opportunity to work with Kaeleigh this past summer (at Top Prospects), before I knew any thing about the coaching op-portunity at Franklin," said Grys.

Grys has already taken steps to introduce herself to the Franklin community. Along with meeting with the Patriots' returning players, she visited Emerson Middle School to discuss her favorite sport with potential future Patriot diamond gems.

"One of my goals is to build offering camps and clinics—for the area's up-and-coming softball players," said Grys. "There were about 20 girls at the middle school meeting, so interest is high." Grys has received commitments from two assistant coaches: Ashley Jones, who is a former teammate of Grys's at Alma, and Danielle Godair.

Willie Monroe will return as the Patriots' junior-varsity coach, she said.
Grys pitched one year for OU before transferring to Alma, where she earned three letters for the Brits.

The majority of the gifts you receive on your eighth birthday end up in a garage sale by the time you reach high school.

Others — like the one Livonia Churchill senior Marissa McVey received from an aunt close to 10 years ago — are the rare kind of presents that never cease to enhance your life, no matter how old you are.

"On my eighth birthday. my aunt gave me gymnas-tics lessons at the YMCA," McVey reflected Monday afternoon, just outside the Livonia Churchill gymnas tics room. "I thought it was going to be a fun hobby at first, but then I started to take it more seriously.

"I found a love for the sport — not because of the spotlight, but because of the spotting, out because of the sense of accomplishment it brought me. There came a point when I figured out that, hey, this is difficult; not everyone can do this." McVey has proven that she can do it very well — but her talent hasn't come without an incredible amount of hard and strenuous work.

The multiple-time statequalifier, who started enter-ing official competitions when she was 10, consistent-ly leads Livonia Red's squad in all-around points thanks to a well-honed combination of grace and athleticism.
"At first, when I started competing I was very shy and self conscious; I was very hard on myself, and I still am," she said, smiling. "But I was able to get through it and keep going."

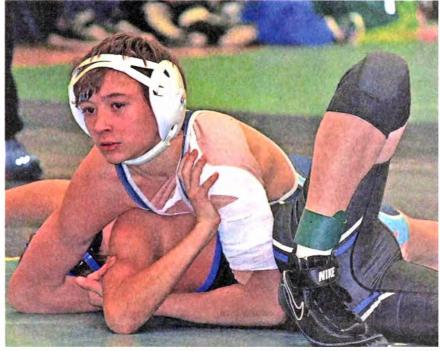

Reflecting the instincts of most productive athletes, McVey figured out quickly that she would need to dedicate extra time to the skills that she didn't necessarily

There were several times Saturday when Livonia Steven-son's wrestling team looked like "The Host with the Most". The Spartans made themselves at home in three of their fives matches during the annual Spartan Invitational, defeat-ing Ann Arbor Skyline and Troy Athens handily before squeezing out a 45-36 victory over Walled Lake Western.

The fact that his team came out on the short end of matches against Grand Rapids Forest Hills Central (52-27) and Ypsilanti Lincoln (62-18) didn't diminish Stevenson head coach Dan Vaughan's optimism.

"I feel our kids are continuing to develop and overcome challenges in shifting weight classes," said Vaughan, whose team improved to 14-8 with its 3-2 Saturday ledger. "There have been quite a few setbacks due to injuries, but they continue to battle, which is what wrestlers do."

Perennially-strong Linden won the tournament championship by outlasting Grand Rapids Forest Hills Central in the gold-medal bout.

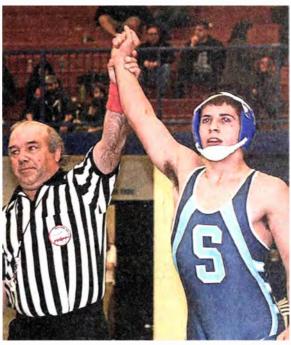

A pair of Spartans powered through the fournament with 5-0 records. Taylor Doste was unbeaten while wrestling at 119 and 125, while Tarik Alcodray carved out an unblemished record at 140 and 145.

Leading the Panthers' charge was Kyle Keating, who rolled a 224 game, and David Nordstrom, who teased the 200 mark before finishing with a 191.

The loss dropped the Panthers' record to 2-3. Dennis Jackman turned in a strong performance for the RU junior-varsity contingent, notching a 207.

'When I was younger, the floor exercise always came easiest to me, because I was pretty good at tumbling," she remembered. "The (bal-ance) beam was the hardest event for me, no doubt about it.

"Now, it's the opposite. I realized I couldn't be really weak in one of the four events, so I worked extra hard on the beam, and the hard work has paid off."

The more committed McVey became to excelling in gymnastics, the more she accepted the reality that it was always accompanied by some not-so-pleasant perks: aches and pains.

"After a tough workout, my joints and muscles are sore," she said. "I crack so much, my parents call me the grandmother of the family. I think it just comes from the fact that gymnastics is such an impact sport — especially with the floor exercise, but with all of the events, really. You kind of get used to the soreness

McVey showed signs that she meant business in the sport during her freshman year at Churchill when she posted a school-record score of 9.7 on the balance beam. Competing in a sport in which your score is fully determined by someone else's opinion is "a little scary" at times.

"We know what the judges are looking for, but certain judges pay more attention to different things," she said, "so it can be tricky. Sometimes, you think you may have de-served a little higher score, but other times — like when I received my 9.7 on beam — you're a little surprised by how high the scores are. It works both ways.'

A two-year captain for Red, the personable McVey is a solid student who is involved in several extracurricular activities, in-cluding Churchill's Spirit Club and Diversity Club. "The Spirit Club is my favorite because I have a lot of spirit," she said, smiling broadly. "Some of the things we do are create events for homecoming week. It's a lot of fun.'

Q: I am president of our association and am wondering whether we have to pro-vide email addresses and phone numbers to a request for information from a mem-

A: There is a new amendment to Michigan Nonprofit Corporation Act that provides various questions which have to be satisfied before members are given the right to the access of the books and records of the associa-tion. That is yet to be determined and it is on a case by case basis. However, in the case out of Utah, the Utah Court of Appeals on a similar statute held that an association was not obligated to provide a member with the email addresses or phone numbers of other members, although it was not a unanimous decision. Obviously, this is the kind of thing that needs the review by the association's legal counsel as to the purpose for the in-quiry and a number of other factors that the new Nonprofit

Meisner

Corporation Act requires.

Q: We are members of a subdivision association wherein all of the owners have easements over the association's own parks and streets. However, the associa-tion is threatening to give permission to one of our owners to construct a private deck on the park property next to his lot. Several of us have objected to the deck and we are wondering whether we have a basis to stop the association from authorizing the private use of what we think to be a common area.

A: I think you are on firm ground, particularly based upon a recent decision from the Michigan Court of Appeals that clearly determined that constructing a private deck in the common area was contrary to that subdivision's restrictions and the dedicatory language on the plat. The court reasoned that an easement is a right to use land owned by another, but it does not include the right to occupy and possess the land in the same way as the property's owner. In essence what the court said was where a plat dedicates land for use by all subdivision lot owners, they have an irrevocable right to use it. That should help a lawver vou retain to advise vou on this matter.

Swap up with sausage

Chicken wings, guacamole and cheesy dips are America's top choices for most big game day menus, but the same recipes year after year can get tiring. Forget the same old spread and surprise your guests with a little more taste and pizazz this year.
Put these tips into play for a winning combination your team can celebrate.

Swap up with sausage. Transform typical dishes by swapping sausage into recipes, such as chili and na-chos, which typically incorporate ground beef. The built-in flavor lends great taste and convenience to these dishes. Instead of chips and queso, add brat sausage to your nachos to make brat-chos.
Use unexpected ingredients.

Many dips and sides prominently feature the gooey goodness of cheese. Put a fresh spin on these dishes with high-quality, sophisticated options that feature more ro-bust flavors, such as pungent blue cheese, smoked Gouda or tangy goat

Sweeten up your spread. To mix in sweet with the savory options, find a spot on the table for some fresh fruit flavor. Favorites such as fruit salad, fruit pizza or fruit ka-bobs can make for a delectable treat to accompany the rest of your gameday fare

Mix it up. Smoky flavors and bourbon are trending upward in kitchens, backyards, bars and restaurants across the country. Combine the two for a creative spin to your beverage spread. Seep Johnsonville Fully Cooked Smoked Brats in bourbon for about a day to extract smoky and savory flavors and mix the bourbon for a modern twist on the Manhattan cocktail. Or give this MVP Chili recipe a

Birmingham restaurant introduces $55 hamburger

Jay Grossman Staff Writer

If you're tired of steak or lobster, there's always the $55 hamburger at the Townsend Hotel's Rugby Grille in Birmingham.

Chef Damian Yopek is the creator behind the Rugby Grille Foie Burger. Sold exclusively at dinner, the burger is composed of waygu beef, sweet onion jam, seared foie gras, arugula, braised short rib narmesan gioli burging the state of the st braised short rib, parmesan aioli, burgundy truffles and Thomasville tomme cheese. It's served with a side of burgundy truffle fries.

"The $55 hamburger is pretty much an opulent hamburger," Yopek said. 'We know hamburgers aren't supposed to cost that much, but we wanted to offer something unique with great flavor. It's gratifying and satisfying and a good conversation piece Yopek said the eight-ounce burger has been on the menu for three weeks and took off right away. The first one to purchase one was a food blogger by the name of Grace D, who gave it a great review on Yeln.

"First time dining here and it was delicious," she blogged about the Rugby Grille. "Sat up at the bar and had a nice glass of wine with the new Foie

Burger This burger is outstanding! Yopek promises the burger is not as heavy as it appears. As for the competition, he challenges anyone in town to come up with a better burger.

"It's possibly the most expensive burger in Michigan — and the tastiest," he said.

Talk about drawing a line in the

"I don't know what sort of magic they can put in a hamburger to charge $55," said Kelly Cobb, whose family owns and operates the Hunter House on Woodward Avenue. "My guess is it has to be 25 times the size of a regular hamburger.

he popular slider at Hunter will cost a customer $2.23 — with tax. A cheeseburger is $2.49. Paula Deen herself deemed their sliders as one of the 10 best hamburgers in the country in 2015.

"I think there's beauty in simplicity — that's what Hunter House is all about," Cobb said. "We're no frills ... just use a lot of fresh ingredients to make a juicy burger."

Bri Traver, supervisor at the Townhouse on Pierce Street, said the bistro's award-winning juicy hamburger is a cut above the competition when it comes to flavor.

"I stand by our burger for sure," she said. "It's so good that I come in here on my days off just to have one."

The Townhouse Burger is a 10-ounce proprietary blend of prime steak cuts that are dry-aged for 28 days, prepared daily and hand-pattied to order on a Plugra butter brioche bun, topped with bourbon glazed onions and and aged white cheddar.

It's served with Townhouse fries and

"We never season it, and when we we never season it, and when we cook it on the grill we never press it so you savor that first juicy bite," Traver said. "Let's see the Townsend step up to that game!"

Yopek, who grew up in South Lyon, shrugs off the good-natured taunts. He insists what he created is nothing less than a culinary masterpiece with some

"Our first trial run ended up being a $500 hamburger," he said with a smile. "This one is much better."
