Main Street facade grant program expands in Wayne

Wayne Main Street is expanding the reach of its façade grant incentive program.

For the remainder of 2016, owners of any commercial building used for commercial purposes in the city many apply for the grant. Businesses approved are eligible for reimbursement of up to 50 percent of the project's total cost, up to $10,000.

Proposed improvements must meet Wayne Main Street's stringent design guidelines, however. Exec-utive Director Lindsey Dotson said the idea is to help improve the appearance of buildings in Wayne Main Street's down town district.

"We're bringing history back to our store fronts," she said. "We want to be sure we're funding something that's well thought out."

The nonprofit's grant program started in 2014. Originally, it was the city's downtown district, which runs along westbound Michigan Avenue, between Sophia Street in the west to Third Street in the east. The district also includes Wayne Road, from westbound Michigan Avenue to Glenwood Road in the north.

With only one project ap-proved and completed since the start of the program, Wayne Main Street's Board of Directors recently approved the expansion. Dotson said the

Marathoner's dream: Run 100 miles in 24 hours

Sharon Dargay

David Ostafinski has just 24 hours to achieve his dream of running a 100-mile marathon.

The Livonia man came close to his goal in 2005, when he logged 90 miles at a 24-hour event in Toledo, Ohio.

He kept the dream alive over the next 11 years, running in shorter events, including the annual Detroit Free Press Marathon, which he used as a "training run" earlier this month. When a friend signed up for the Tunnel Hill 100, a 24-hour marathon on an old railroad-bed-turned-hikingtrail in southern Illinois, Osta-finiski knew it was time to revisit the challenge. He'll run the Tunnel Hill 100 on Nov. 12. ""I was younger at the time. I ran at a faster pace. I'm 64 now," Ostafinski said, compar-ing the 2005 and 2016 events. "I mess I never gave up on that guess I never gave up on that dream. When you have the dream to do something big, you don't lose it, If I'm ever going to do it, this is the time."

There's more at stake this time around than just a personal victory. Ostafinski also hopes to raise $10,000 for digging clean water wells in Africa through World Vision, a Christian humanitarian organization. He set un a race dona. zation. He set up a race donation page on World Vision's website and has raised just under $2,000. If he succeeds, the Tunnel Hill 100 will be his biggest event in terms of both mileage and dollars raised for Ostafinski has run marathons since the 1970s and fig-ures he has about 75 under his belt. His wife Susan trains with him and ran her first marathon in 2001. Her personal best is 62 miles during a 24-hour, 100-mile event. He's retired from Detroit Diesel and trains year

Charitable cause

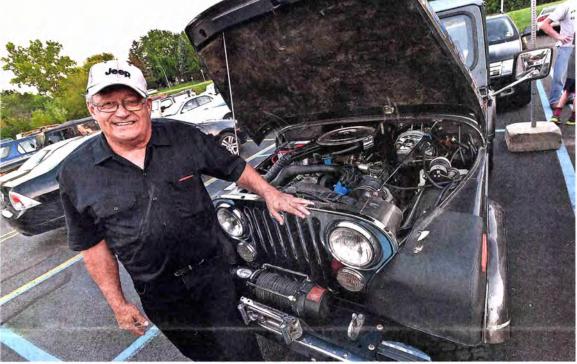

The couple started combining marathons and fundraising for water wells in 2012, when the church they attend Ridge in Plymouth Township, asked members to run in the Chicago Marathon to raise money for World Vision. "For every $50 we receive toward the clean water pro-gram, it guarantees an individual clean water for life. When you put it into those simple terms — you can save a life for 50 bucks — people can say, 'I can literally make a difference,'" he said.

Church members continued fundraising while running the Detroit Free Press Marathon the following year. NorthRidge executive director Bryan Amann said runners collected approximately $1.5 million for clean water over three years. The church's running ministry, RidgeRunners, turned its attention to fighting human traf-ficking last year. It completed its second marathon for the cause earlier this month.

Ostafinski decided to continue running for World Vision expanded boundaries of the program will be permanent, but that commercial building owners within the district will get the first shot at grant funds from January through June.

This change was made because we had $20,000 budgeted in 2016 to help up to two façade grant applicants with grants of up to $10,000 each," Wayne Main Street Design Chairperson Carolyn Marnon said. "Unfortunately, none of the businesses in our Wayne Main Street district have applied yet. We decided we would broaden our area for this particular grant to possibly help a business that was very close to our district make some improve-ments in their façade."

Interested commercial building owners must submit an application to the nonprofit's design committee for review. Grants are provided on a first-approved, firstfunded basis. By improv-ing the appearance of the building facades, the program aims to improve the economic viability of the downtown.

Dotson stressed that small projects, such as replacing doors or windows, are encouraged just as much as larger ones. No matter the size of the project, applicants must get at least two estimates for work from legitimate contractors.

Those interested in learning more about the façade grant program can go to www.downtown wayne.org/business/grant, where the application and more information can be found.

Cantor makes three appearances

Adat Shalom Syna-gogue and Temple Israel are pleased to bring to the community Cantor Jack Mendelson, who will be featured on three occasions during the weekend of Nov. 4-6.

At 7:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 4, the weekend will begin with a combined Kabbalat Shabbat service at Temple Israel, 5725 Walnut Lake Road in West Bloomfield. The clergy of both congregations, along with Men-delson, will join together in what promises to be a most memorable experi-

The Shabbat cele bration will continue the following morning, when Mendelson and Hazzan Daniel Gross will co-lead Shabbat morning services at Adat Shalom, 29901 Middlebelt Road in Far-mington Hills. "Hearing Cantor Mendelson in his element, on the bimah leading services, is something not to be missed," Gross said.
Services begin at 9 a.m.
Finally, the highlight of the weekend will take place at 4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 6, at Temple Israel, when Mendelson will present his one-man show, "The Cantor's Couch," an up-close and personal production about his own life. In a simple setting on a psy-chologist's couch, Men-

Livonia BP gas station broken into

David Veselenak

Livonia police are searching for a burglary suspect who broke into a local gas station early Friday morning. Police say a man be-tween the ages of 25 and 30 broke into the BP gas station at 17151 Middlebelt on the northwest corner of Six Mile and Middlebelt at about 5 a.m. Friday.

Capt. Robert Nencia-rini of the Livonia Police Department said the suspect broke the door's glass and gained entry to the convenience shop on campus and took several cartons of ciga-

"They smashed the front door with a hammer and snatched up the smokes," he said.

He said the suspect fled the scene driving a black vehicle.
Anyone with information regarding the break-in is encouraged to call Livonia police at 734-466-2470.

This isn't the first break-in of the BP station on that corner: in March 2015, police say over during a traffic stop on Merriman. Police discovered several cartons of cigarettes and connected the two men to the break-in that took place earlier that night at the BP station.

DAVID VESELENAK

The suspects in that case were both sent to prison. One convicted of the crime remains locked up in prison and is serving a 1-60 year sentence, while the oth-er was released on parole earlier this year.

more than $1,100 in Craigslist scam

David Veselenak

A Livonia man is out several hundred dollars in yet another Craigslist scam police are warning the public about.

The victim, a 67-yearold Livonia man, came into the police station the afternoon of Oct. 21 to report the swindle. He said he posted an ad on Craigslist to sell a Lincoln gas tank. After a while, someone he did not know texted him requesting information on the gas tank.

The two then decided on a price of $275 for the gas tank. The suspect sent the Livonia man a certified check for $1,500 for the gas tank. The victim called him to inform him the check was too much, though the suspect told him some of that money was for shipping costs for the tank. He instructed the seller to use money for the shipping costs and to send back the rest of the money to an address in North Dakota.

The Livonia resident withdrew the remaining money, which totaled around $1,100, and put it in a money order. He then mailed it to the North Dakota address provided to him

He later said he had not heard anything back from the suspect and has tried to call him on both phone numbers he has for him. Both lines were disconnected. He later came into the police station to file a police report. Craigslist recommends those who use its service to be wary of such scams and to never accept money orders or checks for more than the agreed-upon amount and then send money back. The website says these kinds of transactions are almost always fake and

Man arrested for drugs, fake credit cards

Jay Grossman

A 28-year-old Redford Township man who checked into hotel using a fraudulent name and credit card will probably be checking into a jail cell soon after po-lice arrested him on multiple charges

The incident unfolded Oct. 20 when Bloomfield Hills Police were dispatched to the Radisson Hotel at 39475 Woodward Ave. because of the fake credit card. When they searched the man's hotel room, they found multiple fraudulent credit cards, illegal drugs packaged for distribution, and per-sonal pieces of ID that did not belong to the Police also seized multiple cellular phones from the sus pect's room, along with computer items. The suspect was arrested for fraud, possession with intent to deliver dangerous drugs, identity theft and posses-sion of a stolen financial transaction device.

The suspect was processed at the Bloomfield Hills Public Safety Department, and then released pending the outcome of the investigation and a review of the charges by the Oakcutor's Office.

Livonia police briefs: purse taken from Family Dollar employee

David Veselenak

Livonia police were called Wednesday evening to Family Dollar, 29250

Joy, on the report of a stolen purse.

A store employee said a man came in asking for money and a phone charger he could borrow to charge his phone. A clerk let him borrow her charger, and he plugged his phone in near the counter. The employee then left to go help someone else in the store, but came back to find her purse and its contents missing. After reviewing the security footage, the man was seen picking up the purse and leaving the store with it. The employee told police she believed the man lived nearby and was a regular in the store.

Retail fraud reported

Police were called to Meijer, 13000 Middlebelt, Sunday afternoon, on the report of a retail fraud.

A store employee told police the suspects were seen at a self-checkout area with several items, including baby clothes. The suspects scanned some items and eventually placed them into a bag with items that were not scanned. The suspects then reportedly tried to leave without paying for some of the items in the bag. A store employee stopped them and tried to keep them at the store, but they reportedly fled the store and drove away in a vehicle northbound on Middlebelt.

Shoplifting suspect arrested

Police were dispatched Wednesday evening to Walmart, 29555 Plymouth, on the report of a retail fraud.

A loss prevention employee told A loss prevention employee and police they were watching a suspect in the store who was putting items into his backpack. He was seen purchasing diapers but reportedly did not pay for the items that were in the backpack. the items that were in the backpack. Items in the backpack, which were recovered, including socks, shorts and watches, police said. He also had a belt that belonged to the store that he had put on, police said. When he tried to leave, police arrested him. He was taken to the police station for processing.

LIVONIA BOARD OF EDUCATION

Eight candidates seek four seats in Livonia schools

Eight candidates, in-cluding two incumbents, are seeking to fill four open-seats on the Livonia Board of Education. Two of the seats are open because incumbents Dianne Laura and Eileen McDonnell are not seek-ang re-election. The remaining two seats are those of incumbents Tam my Bonifield and Dan meenters, who are seeking re-election. Newcomers in the race are Karen Bradford. Crystal Frank, Donald Glance, Jodi Rice-White, at Jason Anderson and Ky-lee Anderson.

5. The Observer asked spandidates to respond to a Q&A regarding school edistrict and educational issues. Glance, Jason Anderson and Kylee Anderson did not respond. ਸਾਂ The following are eresponses from the par-

Liticipating candidates

1. What is essential for the school board to move the district forward to become a "destination district?

Tammy Bonifield: I believe the district is salready a destination district. I know this from personal expe rience. My husband and my sole purpose for moving to Livonia was to provide our two education. Marketing is a big part of continuing to attract families. We must continue to reach out to framilies in the district that make choices other than public education, as well as encouraging families to move into the district. Continuing to find new avenues, such as reocial media to reach younger parents, as well as improving on current marketing is necessary. would also like to expand our program offerings that encourage families to move into the district. such as enhanced pre-school, STEAM programs and the Career and Technical Center.

Karen Bradford: We already are a destination district! We have an out-standing K-12 general education program. In addition, Livonia Public Schools offers a variety of additional programs such as Young 5s, ACAT, MACAT, MSC, CAPA,

Global Education, International Baccalaureate,

Bradford

and Career Tech Center . Since the 2013 Bond passed, we have up-graded facilities increased additional technology in the classrooms, as well as building three new state of the art Performing Arts Centers Our teachers and staff are highly skilled and bring their expertise to the classroom every day. Our community is sup-portive of LPS and we will continue to thrive as a destination district in the future. Dan Centers: The Livonia Public Schools District remains a destination for young families. We must continue the work of provid ing schools that are physically and emotionally safe for kids. We are ensuring physical safety through the reno vations at our schools. We are installing secured vestibules, updated cameras, and security sys-tems. Also, we have cre-ated new district climate goals and trained our entire staff to meet the psychological needs of students. Finally, we need a board that pushes for the best educational opportunities for our students. We are doing that with new data approach es. Also, we are preserv-ing important programs for gifted, special needs. dual-language and performing arts students. Finally, we need to work with parents and teachers as valued partners.

Crystal Frank: As an active volunteer in Livo nia Public Schools over the last seven years, I have learned that LPS has room to improve engage families My goal would be to reach out to our families to build a stronger partnership. It is imperative to not only talk to parents, but to really listen to their needs in order to best educate the children in our care. LPS should re-evaluate the way the district interacts with parents and seek innovative ways to cultivate that relationship in order for every student in LPS to be successful. For example, Open Houses and Parent Teacher Conferences need to be re-evaluated to best use that opportunity to build a strong relationship for the growth of our stu-

2. What do you be-lieve the school board must do to address declining funding and declining enrollment? Tammy Bonifield:

how I will be part of this

Although enrollment is declining, LPS continues to educate approximately 1 percent of the state's student population. Based on the state's calculation of school aid funding declining enrollment leads to declining funding. There was an in depth demographic study completed by the district this year showing that enrollment is leveling off over the next five years thus funding should begin to level off. The board continues to look for cost containment as well as opportunities for revenue enhancement, such as leaving some positions unfilled, aggressively conserving utilities and supplies, bringing in additional students, and selling unneeded pieces of property. The state Legislature needs to pro vide adequate funding for Public Schools, for which the School Board must actively advocate.

Karen Bradford: Declining funding along with declining enrollment has been plaguing us for the last few years. It is difficult when the State constantly fluctuates funding and we are left with the difficult task of balancing our budget while trying to maintain our excellent programs for our students. We need to address funding at the state level. Locally, we need to continue to look at ways to generate revenues, be it applying for grants, leasing our facilities, selling excess properties, or offering limited school of choice, etc. In addition, we currently operate an energy reduc tion program, which con-tinues to save our district

Dan Centers: I am proud of the work we have done in the last two years to help address the consequences of declining enrollment. The district has worked to grow unique offerings like our Japanese immersion program. We have worked to solicit private and home school families to our district. Additionally, we have made celltower agreements and sold property as revenue enhancements. If I am re-elected, I will look to continue to find unique ways to help Livonia Public Schools.

Crystal Frank: We must continue to improve our standards for learning and making LPS the best choice for students. While there are fewer children in Livonia, we must retain students and attract new families. Our preschool program should be expanded to capture young children early and attract new students whose parents work in our community Once established in our district, parents would be more likely to choose LPS for K-12. I am in favor of accepting a very limited number of students from other districts into specific grades or programs where we have available seats. Our magnet programs, such as the International Baccalaureate and ACAT, have attracted many students, enriching the programs. These address declining enrollment and bring additional long term funds to our Declining funding is not new to the middle class society of Livonia as we have all adjusted our budgets, cut-up our credit cards and stopped overpriced contracts. We need great teachers, low legacy costs and minimal administrators. We want to practice what we preach so families that are choosing to drive miles to out-of-area charter and private schools will see what the state Constitution, Article VIII, Section 1 pertaining to education encourages through LPS as "Religion, Morality and Knowledge being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind.. the Voice in the Field of Dreams states "If you build it, they will come"!

Jody Rice-White:

3. If elected, what would you do to further involve the community in the schools?

Tammy Bonifield: There are so many oppor-tunities for the community to become involved in the schools. I spent many years participating with PTA, keeping me very involved and eventually leading to a seat on the school board. I would continue to encourage the community to attend sporting, music, theater and other events. I think the new auditoriums will provide a great resource for the community to interact with the schools and students. The district maintains a very infor-mative website and the community can register to have emails sent automatically to them. I would continue to hold community forums to not only inform the community but also to get feed-back on some of the tough decisions that need to be

Karen Bradford: We have great community support in Livonia and have formed wonderful partnerships with many businesses throughout the city . ZF TRW Automotive recently gifted monies to our district to promote reading literacy and enhance our reading programs for our young est learners. This is just one example of the many businesses who support LPS on a regular basis. Every year, LPS Founda-tion hosts Bounce Back to School and invites our families and community out to start the school year. In addition, we have community members donate time volunteering in our ELVS, Masterworks, Motor Moms/Dads programs, etc. I would continue to promote all these partnerships and programs. Community involvement positively affects our students, goes directly into the classrooms, and enhances student learning.

Dan Centers: One of the most enjoyable aspects of being a Livonia School Board Member is talking with the commu-nity regarding the great things happening at Livo-nia Public Schools. I am proud to be active at community events as a member of the Board of Education, and as a member of the Livonia Jay-cees. When I am around town, I encourage others to connect with LPS. There are many chances to attend plays, musicals, robotics, or sporting events. Additionally, there are great opportunities to volunteer in our schools, or with the Livo-nia Public Schools Education Foundation. The best way to be informed about our district is to visit or get involved.

Crystal Frank: My goal is to enrich our district by more intentionally engaging our community. I would build alliances with Livonia leaders in order for us both to thrive. I would reach out to businesses to commu-nicate our needs and work toward a solution. For example, there is no longer funding for Read-ing Recovery, that assists elementary students who struggle with reading. Our community can part-ner with LPS by volunteering time to assist these students. My goal would be to encourage community members to donate time to work with these kids. We can reduce the learning gap between struggling learners and their peers by spending one on one tutoring time with each student.

Jody Rice-White: Declining funding is not new to the middle class society of Livonia as we have all adjusted our budgets, cut-up our credit cards and stopped overpriced contracts. We need great teachers, low legacy costs and minimal Administrators. We want to practice what we preach so families that are choosing to drive

Livonia resident running for circuit judge

David Veselenak

Circuit court judge candidate Kelly Ann Ramsey says she's prepared her whole life for a seat on the court.

One of eight candi-dates running for four non-incumbent seats on the circuit court for Wayne County, Ramsey said she learned a love of the law when her father would bring her to work with him. That job, a police officer. meant she would find herself sitting in the back aisles during court cases in the courthouse downtown.

"I spent my summer going to Frank Murphy Hall of Justice and I loved it," the Livonia resident said. "I was just kind of fascinated by the whole thing." Ramsey, Melissa Cox, Matthew Evans, Wanda Evans, Robert Ficano, Thomas Hathaway, Brian Morrow and Regina Thomas are all seeking one of four non-incum bent positions on the Third Circuit Court bench this election season. The terms run for six vears. Judge seats are listed under the non-partisan side of the Nov. 8 ballot and must be voted partisan section.

Growing up in Detroit, Ramsey moved to Livonia seeking a solid place to raise and educate her daughter. She settled on Livonia and has lived here ever since. A gradu-ate of the University of Michigan-Dearborn and Wayne State University, she served as a referee in the circuit court's family division for 23 years before retiring last year. She has also served as a prosecutor and currently serves as a special assis tant attorney general as a part of the Sexual Assault Kit Task Force.

She's also been in-volved in several organizations, including the Governor's Task Force on Child Abuse and Neglect, as well as the co-founder of For The Seventh Generation, an organization that provides enrichment to disadvantaged chil-

If elected, she said she would like to focus on continuing to serve fam-ilies and children in Wayne County, saying "we've kicked the can down the road" when it comes to some services dedicated to those people.

"We need to shift our attention and provide real and meaningful services to children and families," Ramsey said.

4. Do you favor local or state control of education in Michigan? Why?

Tammy Bonifield: I favor an adequately funded public school system that meets the needs of the community, while providing an outstanding education that prepares students to meet the challenges of a fast paced global economy. I see the need to have a well-bal-anced mix. I do feel strongly that Michigan is overpowering, over regulating and over testing our districts. As classroom funding declines, the state continues to increase legislation that further depletes dollars that directly impact stu-dents. Rather than grabbing at power, let's think about what makes sense

Karen Bradford: I believe we need a balance of both state and local control over education in Michigan . The state funds us and we have statewide testing. This testing measures many outcomes for our district. We should be accountable to them. However, state-wide decisions which are made in one district may not be suitable or in the best interest of another, in which I would favor more local control. I be-lieve that our local parents and educators should have decision making authority over what is best for their students and community.

Dan Centers: Over the last two decades. the state of Michigan has asserted greater controls over public schools. Local districts can no longer raise money in their individual community for operational needs. As a result the Michigan State Legislature is responsible for funding local schools. In many ways this has been disastrous. In recent years, funding has been cut significantly and schools across the state are making cuts to stu-dent services and closing schools. The recent adequacy study showed that Livonia Public Schools, and most other districts, are underfunded by hundreds of dollars per student. Additionally, recent laws have created unfunded mandates, un-dermined parents and educators, and created a looming teacher shortage. It is time to fully fund public schools and empower our local pro-fessional educators.

Crystal Frank: With four children spread over four LPS schools, I have clearly witnessed the need for local control over school districts, especially one the size of LPS where we have such a diverse learning pop-ulation. Each community has its own identity and the vital decisions that affect it cannot be dictated by the State. There is currently legislation before the state that would mandate certain students be retained in a grade level without input from parents or teachers. We must return educa-tion back to the control of educators, parents, and local school boards. We cannot continue to take away parental choice from the people who know and work with individual students on a daily

Jody Rice-White: For sure local! Starting today! Parents and the community should manage how they want their standards to be for their children. We want civic leadership, righteous law enforcement and moral and ethical behavior promoted. As a Christian, I love the 10 Commandments that help make our job easy as we all speak one language while say ing the Pledge of Allegiance to One Nation, Under God, Indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all. This will encourage unity in our local community. We don't need the state school board making our district "change" and "redefine" laws and standards as many of them have missed the mark that was clearly defined by our forefathers just a few generations back. Vote in good leadership, Count on them to do the right thing, and let's all be part of the solution!

policy committee. Karen Bradford: She and her husband and four children have lived in Livonia for 21 years. She is a substitute teacher in the Livonia schools and an ACAT Tester at Webster Elementary School. Bradford has a bachelor degree in elementary education from Saint Mary's College in Indiana and master's degree in reading from Eastern Michigan University. She has actively been involved in LPS, serving as president, vice president, and secretary of PTA's at Jackson Center, Hoover, Riley, and Holmes. She ha served as a committee chairperson for the Ste-venson Senior All Night

Dan Centers: He was born and raised in Livo-nia and graduated from the Livonia Public Schools. Centers is currently the Alumni Rela-tions and Annual Giving Officer for Madonna University. He hold a bachelor degree with a certificate in elementary education and is current-working on a master's degree in business administration. He has earned the status of "Certified Board Member" through coursework with the Michigan Association of School Boards."

Crystal Frank: She and her husband and four children have lived in Livonia for nine years. Frank has worked as a customer service manager for Ford Motor Company in the Sales & Marketing Division. She is current a community volunteer. Frank has a bachelor degree in organizaton communication from Miami University. She currently is the Webster Elementary PTA president and has been the vice president of Cass PTA

Jody Rice-White: She purchased her first home in 1987 in the southwest portion of Livonia, where Washington Elementary once stood. In 2012, She moved a mile down the road to Westland/Livonia School jurisdiction to live on an acre near Churchill High School. She was a real estate agent 1983-2010 and currently teaches pre-licensing classes for the real estate industry. She has a bachelor degree in business and marketing from Madonna University and a degree in secondary education in family and consumer science with a minor in digital media and speech communication. Rice-White was the 2015 primary winner for West-land City Clerk, but lost with 22 percent of the vote in the general election. She is part of an Educational and Property Rights Task Force Team; Co-Director of Days For Girls International and State Committeewoman for the 13th Congressional District. She is an advocate promoting more transparency and accountability for school bullying, on and off cam pus, and promoting and encouraging morality per the state Constitution Article VIII, Section 1 pertaining to Education.

The Uke Kings will perform at Mini Uke Day at the Trinity House Theatre in Livonia.

Strum your 'jumping flea' at Mini Uke Day

Sharon Dargay

Ben Hassenger is both a king and an ambassador in the world of ukulele. "It's a self-appointed title, Michigan's ambassa-dor of the ukulele. And I didn't get a sash or any-thing like that," said Has-senger, with a laugh. "I really try to be the hub of ukulele activities across the state. There are at least 20 active ukulele groups in Michigan. I call it the great uke state." The Lansing-area resident is a member of the musical trio, The Ukulele Kings, co-founder of the Lansing Area Ukulele Group, and orga-nizer of The Mighty Uke Day festival, Interlo-chen's Uketoberfest, and the Midwest Uke Camp. He also takes credit for helping to name the Far-mington-area's ukulele group, Motor City Ukes. He's planning a oneday festival that will include workshops, an open mic, group strum-alongs, and an evening concert. Mini Uke Day will run 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. with the concert starting at 8 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 5 at Trinity House Theatre, 38840 Six Mile, in Livonia. Tickets are $45 for four workshops, $18 for the concert only or both for $55. The concert features The Ukulele Kings and Andy Andrews, a ukulele musician and teacher. Tickets are available at mightyukeday.com and at the door.

Here's a few of Has-senger's thoughts on ukulele in Michigan:

Q: First, how do you pronounce ukulele?
A: The original Hawaiian pronunciation is oo-koo-lele. What that means in the Hawaiian language is jumping flea. In the mid-1800s there were a lot of Portuguese working in the islands. They had their own instruments that were predecessors to the ukulele and the native

Andy Andrews of Hawaii will play ukulele at Mini Uke Day, Nov. 5, in Livonia.

Hawaiians were amazed how quickly their hands moved up and down the strings, like a jumping flea. Q: What's the ukulele's appeal?

A: I like to say it's the ultimate folk instrument because it brings folks together. I think that's the beauty of the ukulele, getting people together, sharing something together, face to face, in a group, working together. It's an incredibly social instrument. You just kind of share the joy of this little jumping flea.

Q: Does it cost much to get started?

A: That's one of the nice things about ukulele. I like to say it's a very accessible instrument. It's easier to learn how to play than a lot of instruments.It's easy to carry on an airplane, or stick in your car. But it's also accessible price-wise You can get a playable ukulele for 50-60 bucks. Now, there is a thing called ukulele acquisition syndrome. It's a very contagious disease. It seems like you never have just one ukulele.

Q: How many do you

A: Of the ukuleles I play, I probably have 10. But then, because I teach a lot of school programs, I easily have 100 ukuleles in my house right now.

It's ridiculous.

Q: What kind of music is considered ukulele music?

A: You can play all kinds of music. People think, well, a ukulele is just Hawaiian music or silly music. But you can also play jazz, pop, folk, rock, country, hip-hop. There's a band out of Traverse City and they're almost like a Goth band and they play the ukulele. It's incredibly versatile. It's popping up everywhere.

Q: What unusual song have you played on uku-

A: I worked up "You Shook Me All Night Long" (AC/DC) on ukulele.

Q: Do you think the ukulele is a trend that will fade?

A: I think people play it and genuinely like the instrument. It's not a gimmick. I mean, all the Beatles were huge ukulele fans, especially George Harrison. It has a huge history with all the British rockers, like Pete Townsend and all those people. If anyone goes into it with an open mind and picks it up, they can't help but love the instru-

Don't allow taxes to unduly influence strategy

Q: About a year ago, the company that I worked with for more than 30 years closed its doors and went out of business. At the time, I received severance pay, which was a year-and-ahalf of my salary. I have been living off that money and it will be up in a few months. I am in my late 60s and I have decided to retire. I will be collecting Social Security, but that will not cover my needs. My question to you is, from a strategy standpoint, where should I get the additional income I need? I have three buckets of money: a traditional IRA, Roth IRA and personal in-vestment account at Vanguard. Between the three accounts, I have nearly $1 million and I will need about $2,000 a month in addition to Social Security. What accounts should I access first? I have been told that I should first use my personal account before I touch my IRAs. Do you agree? A: No, I do not necessarily agree with that strategy. That strategy is based upon the theory that, since your traditional IRA is subject to tax, it would make sense to defer paying the tax for as long as possible. I feel that theory is based upon taxes and I have always been a believer you never want to let the tax tail wag the dog. As far as I am concerned, you want to do things that make good economic sense, not only for today, but also into the future. In addi-tion, I do not believe that one strategy works for everyone. You always need to look at your indi-vidual situation and make decisions that work best for you, not necessarily what works for everyone else.

In reviewing your situation, one thing you need to keep in mind is that since you are in your late 60s, in just a few years you will have to begin taking minimum required distributions from your traditional IRA. The Roth IRA can continue to grow tax-free for as long as you choose, but you will be required to take minimum required distribu-tions, from your tradi-tional IRA. In many situations such as yours, it pays to begin to withdraw first from your traditional IRA, reducing

your future minimum

required distributions. Although I do not ever want to let the tax tail wag the dog, it does not mean I do not want to take taxes into consideration. Taxes are important and we certainly do not want to pay more taxes than we have to. That being said, what I would recommend is taking a look at your tax situa-tion and, in order to supplement your in-come needs, withdraw first from your tradi-tional IRA, but only enough to keep you in the same tax bracket. Then, for additional monies you may need, I would then take it from the personal account. I would let the Roth IRA continue to reinvest and grow tax-free into the future.

Once you begin taking your minimum required distributions, I would follow the same strategy. If after taking your minimum required distributions you need additional money, I would first look to withdraw from the traditional IRA, but only withdraw enough to keep you in the same tax bracket. Remember, minimum required distributions are only the minimum; there is nothing to say that you cannot take more.

I recognize that the general belief is you should let your IRA grow for as long as you can before you tap into it. This is based on the belief that since tradi-tional IRAs grow tax-deferred, it's always better to defer your taxes for as long as possible. That sounds like a good strategy, but what people don't realize is that sometimes, when you defer your taxes, you are defer ring yourself into a higher bracket; the deferral did not save you taxes, it cost you. Therefore, do not be caught up in the mis-taken belief that tax deferral is always good, because it is not. In many situations, you would be much further ahead by paying the taxes today versus in the future.
Good luck!

SLEEP APNEA IMPACTS YOUR OVERALL HEALTH

Dear Dr. Stewart: Does sleep apnea lead to any other problems besides feeling really tired during the day?

Dr. Stewart: Yes. Obstructive sleep apnea has been shown to impact a patient's overall health. Without treatment, the frequent episodes of waking up due to sleep apnea can lead to low blood oxygen levels and increasingly active hormonal levels, a combination that can cause a higher risk of hypertension, stroke, and heart attack. Sleep apnea has also been linked to acid reflux, weight gain, persistent headaches, and even type 2 diabetes. If you experience potential symptoms of sleep apnea, such as chronic snoring and daytime exhaustion, you should seek a diagnosis right away.

If you have questions about your sleep difficulties contact Dr. Stewart by calling 734-425-4400 or visiting sleepbettermichigan.com.

RTA vote: A path to independence for some riders

Jay Grossman

Natasha Palffy recently rode on a SMART bus the first time by her self. It was a great feeling of accomplishment for the 15-year-old Birmingham teenager, who is legally blind.

"She uses cabs and Uber, but with buses it's a little more difficult because you have to know the schedules," said her father, Carl Palffy. "But the goal is to make her more independent as she gets older and public transportation is certainly a key toward achieving that goal.

To Peggy Branch, public transportation means freedom for her daughter Maggie. The 17-year-old Birmingham teenager has fragile X syndrome, which is an autism spectrum dis-

"The more these kids can do things on their own, the more it will boost their confidence and give them that feeling of independence and adventure," she said. "It lets them say, 'Hey, I can do this by myself' and that's a pretty big deal."

has autism and will likely never drive. Even so, Ernzen said she wants to carve out as much inde-pendence for her daughter as possible. "We're hoping she gets into some type of voca-tional program one day," Ernzen said. "And public transportation gives parents like me a lot of hope, because that's something she could master. The routes are typically the same and she's very schedule-driven. That's why I think something like this would work with her."

Maggie already works at a neighborhood business called Simply Good Kitchen that's three blocks away from her house. Peggy Branch said reliability and safety are two priorities if her daughter started taking the bus.

"Safety is a huge is-sue," Branch said. "What if someone gets in a fight on a bus? Anything out of the ordinary and these kids are easily flustered. Ernzen said she likes the RTA plan because it will expand the number of stops and pickup times. The plan will also benefit her family with the creation of some east-west

The RTA plan could open up a new world for our daughter," Ernzen said. "She could live along the Woodward corridor and catch her BRT (Bus Rapid Transit) stop to get to her therapy in Berkley, attend vocational training at Oakland Community College in Royal Oak or catch a Tigers game with her sister downtown."

If the millage fails, Branch and Ernzen said the responsibility of providing transportation for their kids falls onto their shoulders. In Nicola's case, for example, the existing bus system has too many changeovers and delays for her to

A house divided: She's a Democrat, he's a Republican

Jay Grossman

If only Donald Trump and Hillary Clinton could get along like the Imer-

Larry Imerman is a Republican precinct delegate from Bloomfield Township. His wife Miriam is the Democratic precinct delegate for the same area. Politically speaking, they're the odd couple. And yet, listening to the two talk politics over breakfast at Nello's in Royal Oak, one can re member the good old days when the two parties seemed to get along better.

"We're a house divided," Miriam said, "but look at how we reach across the aisle and help each other."

She then passes the pepper to Larry.
A study by the Pew Research Center indicates binnetics and in the control of the period of the control of the period of cates bipartisan politics is practically at an alltime low, with Democrats and Republicans more divided than at any other point in the past 20 years. Michael Traugott, a re-search professor with the Center of Political Studies at the University of Michigan, points out the same division exists in many households across America, where families don't want to see their kids marrying across the aisle

According to a Stanford University study, 33 percent of Democrats and 49 percent of Repub-licans polled in 2010 said they would be displeased if their daughter or son married someone of a differing political ideology. When the same poll was conducted in the 1960s, only 4 percent of Democrats and 5 percent of Republicans said they'd be displeased

Traugott said the polarization can be traced back to the 1990s and the

Miriam and Larry Imerman of Bloomfield Township are precinct delegates, only he's a number of instances where members of Con-gress refused to cross over to vote with their colleagues from the other

"In the mass electorate, citizens have begun to internalize what it means to be a Democrat and a Republican and how and a Republican and now the two sides differ from each other," he said about the political divide. "Over time, this has produced a growing dislike of the other side."

More pepper, please

Back at Nello's, Larry and Miriam talk about how they went door-todoor together on the campaign trail.

"If the person at the door was a Democrat, Miriam would step up and introduce herself," said Larry, who first ran as a precinct delegate in 2012. "If they were a Republican, I'd take the lead."

Miriam first ran as a write-in candidate in 2014, when she saw that no other Democrats in her area were running for precinct delegate.

"I'm your conduit to the Democratic Party, she said. "I'm there to encourage you to vote and participate."

The two-year position requires delegates to serve as liaisons between their precincts and the party. Delegates also meet at the county and state level to nominate party members for certain offices, such as university regent.

Larry said the political landscape is changing within the local Repub lican Party. He cited conservative political groups, such as Battle Cry Michigan, that were recruiting candidates to run for precinct positions last summer in order to build a power structure from the grassroots level

At the same time, he also noted Republicans in his precinct picked Ohio Gov. John Kasich over Trump in the August primary.

"In terms of position, I try to reflect that moderate middle-of-the-road Republican position," he said. "I'm economically conservative - I'm not conservative on most social issues.

The two met on a fixup date in 1987 and mar-ried a year later. Larry was already a staunch Republican going back to his college days at Washington University, where he took an economics course from a professor who had done his Ph.D. dissertation under Milton Freedman. Miriam grew up in a Democratic house-

"What can I tell you?" she said. "My dad voted for Adlai Stevenson."

Overall, it's clear the two agree with each other on a number of issues except when it comes to Clinton and Trump

Political heartburn

Larry said the reason Trump is doing well is because of his message

"I think the voters like that's he a successful businessman," he said. "Trump tells it like it is and he does not represent a Republican establishment that has failed their constituency in numerous ways. ... In the U.S., we always hope our kids will be better off than we are and I think that dream has died with a lot of people." Miriam said Clinton supporters appreciate her experience and breadth of knowledge when it comes to politics.

"She knows the issues inside and out," Miriam said. "And I think people know she'll make decisions based on intellect and not on emotion.

Miriam then mentions how the "trust issue" with Clinton has been overblown by the media - and that's when breakfast starts to heat up a little. "She's ethically chal-lenged," Larry says in a matter-of-fact way.

"Name me a politician who isn't," Miriam challenges him.

Ketchup anyone? "She's made some big mistakes," Miriam said of her candidate. "There's no good rationale for the emails – for someone who has spent 30 years in public life she should have known better. But between the two candidates, I have no problem whatsoever pressing the button for Hillary.

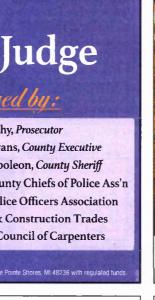

Miriam believes a segment of the population won't support Clinton for no other reason than she's a woman. Larry said Trump's complete lack of experience in politics could hurt him at the polls. As for the rhetoric, both believe their candi-date could say just about anything at this point and it wouldn't affect the outcome.
And yet, they both

Said Miriam, "What's that old quote about de-mocracy? 'It's the worst system in the world except for all the other ones.' Every democratic nation has its rough-and-tumble politics. But right now, you have an incredibly engaged electorate and, if a few more people become engaged, I think that's for the good.

Livonia's Franklin's offense will never be confused with old San Diego Chargers' "Air Coryell," but the Patriots demonstrated Friday night that they can throw the football when called upon.

In Friday's MHSAA Division 2 opener at Brownstown Woodhaven, the Patriots used a balanced attack to ring up a 49-28 victory over the host Warriors and advanced to next Friday's regional championship game at Temperance Bedford.

Senior dual threat quarterback Jacob Clark pulled a Dan Fouts, completing 7-of-13 passes for 175 yards, including a pair of third-quarter touchdowns, a 24-yarder to Ke-Mauri Heard and the other on a 46-yard rope to Jake Giacobbi, as the Patriots extended their halftime lead from 21-6 to 35-6.

"We've been working on that all season long trying to get better at it and I think that's the best we've thrown the ball," Franklin coach Chris Kelbert said.
"That touchdown to Giacobbi was the best ball I've seen Clark throw. It's something we keep trying to get better at and we were able to do it tonight."

Franklin also ran for 240 yards on 41 attempts, led by senior Nyassinu Crowell, who finished with 132 yards on 17 carries and three TDs.
"Our linemen are always good up front pass blocking and Clark can get out of the pocket and make something happen," said senior Chris Nehasil, a two-way standout in the backfield and sec-ondary for the Patriots. "He found the open receivers tonight. We had a great week of practice, worked hard and it paid off."

After the Patriots were stopped on fourth-and-four at the Woodhaven 45 on their opening possession, the Warriors struck just four plays later when quarterback Alex Theisen hit Raekown Castelow on a wheel route for a 41-yard TD with 7:57 left in the first quarter. The gaming 412 yards on the ground. On its last drive, in fact, RU ran the ball a bit too well for their coach's liking.

With the score tied at 34-34 late in the fourth quarter, the Panthers threw Fitzgerald's Najon Moore for a 4-yard loss on a fourth-and-one try with 4:02 remaining. At that point, Redford Union coach Miles Tomasaitis was hoping to run the clock down as far as possible, to prevent the powerful Spartans' offense from counter-punching in the closing minutes.

But Isaac Grant had other ideas. The RU junior gained 21 yards on the drive's second play, 11 on the next snap and then, on second down from the 18, he fired through the middle and dragged would-be tacklers across the goal line with 1:33 remaining.

"I didn't want to give them any more time on the clock than I had to," Tomasaitis said. "If I had my way, I would've scored with 17 seconds left. But un-fortunately, my backs decided that they didn't want to do that. They just broke the runs. It was nerve-wracking with them getting the football back."

The Spartans drove the ball to Redford's 34, gaining a first down with 43 seconds left. But they moved no farther

Be safe and prevent 'boo-boos' this Halloween

alloween has always been one of my favorite times of year and, now that I have several of my own trick-or-treaters, I think a lot more about making sure kids are safe. Here is a list of tips to keep your children safe this Halloween and, hopefully, prevent "boo boos" as well.

If you're driving on Halloween:

""> Turn your headlights on, even if it is dusk and they haven't automatically turned on yet.

» Watch for children darting out from between parked cars.

» Watch for children walking on road-ways, medians and curbs – and don't assume they see you coming.

» Enter and exit driveways and alleys carefully.

» At twilight and later in the evening, have a plan:

watch for children in dark clothing.

If you're a parent of a trick-or-treater,

Guettler DR. JOE

» Make sure that an adult or an older responsible youth will be supervising the outing for children under age 12.

» Plan and discuss the route trick-or-treaters intend to follow. Know the names of older children's companions.

» Instruct your children to travel only in familiar areas and along an established route.

» Teach your children to stop only at houses or apartment buildings that are well-lit and never to enter a stranger's home.

» Establish a return time.

» Tell your youngsters not to eat any treat until they return home.

» Pin a slip of paper with the child's name, address and phone number inside a pocket in case the youngster gets separated from the group.

Here are a few safety tips about costumes:

» Only fire-retardant materials should be used for costumes.

» Costumes should be loose so warm clothes can be worn underneath.

» Masks should have eye holes that allow a reasonable field of vision.

» Costumes should not be so long that they are a tripping hazard. (Falls are the leading cause of unintentional injuries on Halloween).

» If children are allowed out after dark, outfits should be made with light colored materials. Strips of reflective tape should be used to make children » Knives, swords and other accessories should be made from cardboard or flexible materials. Do not allow children to carry sharp objects.

» Carrying flashlights will help children see better and be seen more clearly. Kids need to understand and follow these rules: » Do not enter homes or apartments without adult supervision.

w Walk — do not run — from house to house. Do not cross yards and lawns where unseen objects or the uneven terrain can present tripping hazards.

Walk on sidewalks, not in the street.Walk on the left side of the road, facing traffic if there are no sidewalks. Happy Halloween!

'Defensively, we came up big when we had to," Tomasaitis said. "I'm not really happy overall with how many yards we gave up, but we made some great plays when we needed to."

Fitzgerald, which entered the game 8-1, received the opening kickoff and needed just 55 seconds to reach the end zone, as Eddy's 30-yard run set up a 2 yard Moore toughdown. The Parthers 2-yard Moore touchdown. The Panthers needed much more time, but achieved the same results on a 13-play, 79-yard drive that took 6:45 off the clock. The drive featured a 5-yard run by Thorton Cain on fourth-and-one from the Fitzgerald 48 and was capped by Grant's 6-yard run.

Eddy's 14-yard scoring run early in the second quarter gave the hosts a 14-7 lead, but the Panthers responded, as Cain's 40-yard run set up Marquise Hathaway's 3-yard TD carry. RU got the ball back midway through Fitzgerald's 33. The Panthers faced a fourth-and-six from the 13, but Grant swept left for 12 yards, setting up a Cain 3-yard TD run two plays later. Evan Albright's extra point gave the Panthers a 21-14 lead.

In the closing minute of the half, Eddy engineered a 72-yard drive in just 56 seconds, as his 30-yard keeper set up another 2-yard Moore dive and the teams entered halftime tied at 21-21.

The Panthers almost literally owned the third quarter, returning the kickoff to their 33 and then grinding out four first downs to reach Fitzgerald's 24. But thanks to a pair of sacks, RU turned the ball over on downs at the Spartans' 30, having held the ball for all but the last 1.08 of the quarter. 1:08 of the quarter.
The teams then exchanged touchdowns on their next four possessions. Fitzgerald got TD runs of 2 and 12 yards from Moore. Sandwiched in between was a two-play Panthers drive featuring Cain's 53-yard scamper and a 12-yard Grant scoring run. Their next drive was just as quick, as Eric McCarter busted a 72-yard scoring run on second down. Each team missed its extra point following their fifth touchdowns, leaving the score at 34-34, and setting the stage for RU's late-game heroics.

Grant led the Panthers with 157 yards on 20 carries. Cain ran 14 times for 145 yards, while McCarter gained 101 yards on just six carries. Hathaway chipped in 23 yards, but Tomasaitis noted that Hathaway's lead blocking for his fellow backs was "just fantastic. He was knocking people on their butts and it was fun to watch."

Also thrilled to compete in the high-profile tourney is NTDP Un-der-18 forward Randy Hernandez, a Florida native in his second season in the program since it relocated from Ann Arbor to Plymouth.

"We've been working so hard as a team and I can't wait to show what we're made of."

Each team will play four games, with three points awarded for a win, two for an overtime draw and one for an overtime defeat. The first-place team will be determined based on final point standings.

Hernandez and other players on the U18s had the same international experience on home ice last February, ring the well-received Five Nation Under-17 Tournament. That tourney ended on a high note with Canada and Team USA playing before a packed extra point, however, was no good after a bad snap from center kept it at 6-0.

Keyed by a fourth-and-four conversion with an 18-yard first-down screen from Clark to Heard, Franklin scored with 1:53 left in the first quarter on Crowell's 1yard TD run and took a 7-6 lead after

With 8:42 left in the second, the Patriots went up 14-6 on a 39-yard draw play by Crowell.

An 8-yard shanked punt by Woodhaven with 8:03 left in the half gave the Patriots the ball at the Warriors' 46.

And after converting a pair of third downs, Brandon Smiley took a Clark handoff and ran 16 yards for a TD with 4:55 left in the half, putting the Patriots ahead 21-6.

The Patriots then stopped a Wood-haven drive when Jalen Wellons fumbled at the 20 as the ball popped into the hands of Nehasil with 3:02 left in the half.

Franklin got down to the Warriors' 21, but Giacobbi's 38-yard field-goal attempt had plenty of leg, but was wide left, keeping the count at 21-6.

The Patriots outgained Woodhaven in the first half, 248-137.

After Woodhaven went three-and-out on its first second-half drive, the Patriots took just three plays to score, on Clark's 24-yard TD pass to Heard with 8:59 remaining in the third to make it 28-6.

After the Patriots' held on fourth-and-two at the Woodhaven 46, Clark hit Giac cobi for a 46-yard TD pass to make it 35-6 just 2:07 later. "We do have a lot of really good skill players that we can spread the ball around," Kelbert said. "One time you take away the running back and the quarter-back hurts you. Take away the run game and we've got some kids that are fast. Giacobbi is one of the fastest kids with great hands and Ke-Mauri will catch anything. It forces defense to play honest and not load up the box on them."

On fourth-and-11, Theisen scrambled out of the pocket and hit Castelow on a screen for a 38-yard TD pass. The Warriors' attempt for two points was good as Theien hit Jalen Smith on a slant to cut the deficit to 35-14.

A 50-yard return by Smiley on the ensuing kickoff put the ball on the Woodhaven 35 and, four plays later, Nehasil went in from 4 yards out, pushing the Franklin lead to 41-14 with 1:59 left.

"We made a couple of adjustments, a couple of different guys in a couple of different places, but we stuck to the game plan." Nehasil said of the halftime talk.

Castelow, however, went 75 yards on the ensuing kickoff to the Patriots' 18. And on fourth-and-11, the Warriors' Jalen Wellons scored on a run to slice the deficit to 42-21.

Woodhaven showed no quit, pulling to within 42-28 when Theisen and Smith hooked up for a 13-yard TD pass on a fourth-and-eight with 6:14 left in the

The Patriots then went three-and-out and were forced to punt for the second straight time with 5:13 left, but they got a break when the Warriors' Josh Dodd roughed Giacobbi on the punt, giving Franklin an automatic first down.

Three players later, Crowell broke a tackle at the line of scrimmage for a 26-vard TD run and the Patriots were up

49-28 with 3:31 remaining.
Franklin was able to cleanly secure two Woodhaven onside kick tries in the final quarter to close out the victory. But the Warriors, led by Wellons' 140 yards rushing and Theisen's 66, finished with 326 total yards, including 225 on the ground. Franklin finished with 415 total Woodhaven (7-3) was able to convert each time on fourth down to score its three second-half TDs.

"Tackling wasn't up to par," Kelbert said. "It wasn't where it needs to be.

That's a big issue."

But the Patriots, who reached last year's Division 2 state semifinals, live to play another day. They will go on the road again Friday at Bedford, which advanced with a 43-7 pre-district win over host Wyandotte Roosevelt.

'Playoff football is not supposed to be easy," Kelbert said with a chuckle. "We just made it a little bit harder."

Chiefs ground game pummels Mustangs

The fact Tim Baechler had to take his Canton Chiefs back to Tom Holzer Field to face Northville for the second time in two weeks wasn't something he was crazy about in the first place. He really disliked the idea after his offense coughed up the football on the opening series of Friday's Division 1 first-round playoff game against the Mustangs — leading to an early 7-0

But the veteran coach reached into his bag of tricks and pulled out senior running backs Julian Thornton here, Markus Sanders there and Reid Mc-Donnell everywhere.

Canton racked up more than 500 yards on the ground and defeated Northville, 55-29, led by McDonnell's career game of 255 rushing yards, four touchdowns and a crucial interception that helped stem a second-half come-back bid by the Mustangs. The Chiefs (8-2) now advance to face Saline on Nov.

"To play a team back-to-back and win in the playoffs is very hard to do. We dominated them, we put more on them, we won by more than we did the last time (42-27 on Oct. 21). So that's good.

"But we played very sloppy, we had a couple stupid penalties. And that first turnover was the stupidest thing I've ever seen in my life." Baechler was referring to a play where senior quarterback Jake O'Donnell could not get the handle of a snap, dropped back and hurried a short throw that landed in the hands of Northville's Ryan Doroudian, who returned the fumble 54 yards down to Canton's 1yard line.

The Mustangs took the early 7-0 lead on senior Jack Burke's quarterback keeper with 6:56 to go in the first.

Quick response

The Chiefs were able to score the equalizer on the subsequent series, with Thornton (182 yards rushing) shooting through the left side of the line and scampering 48 yards for the score. McDonnell capped off Canton's 61-yard drive in 13 running plays with a 5-yard TD, about 4:30 into the second half. The Chiefs set up that drive by stopping the Mustangs on a fourth-

Northville (7-3), by deferring the opening kickoff of the night, got the ball to open the second half with a chance to get some momentum. Burke, however, injured his foot in the series and limped off, never to return.

On a roll

On Canton's next series, it was Mc-Donnell again, racing up the gut for a 56-yard touchdown to make it 21-7 with 8:42 left in the third

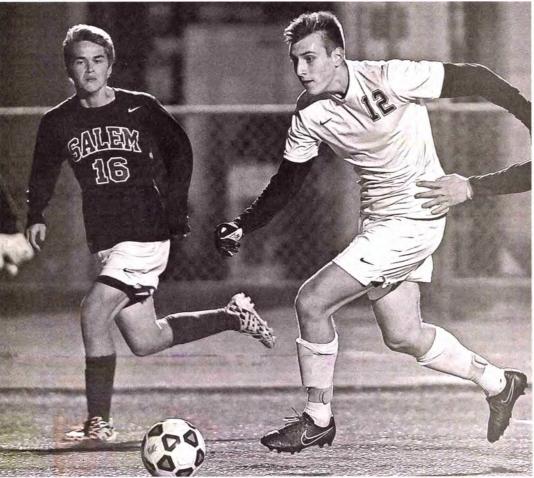

He topped himself just two minutes later, ripping through the line and rolling 69 yards for another TD. That launched Canton's six-touchdown half, which followed Baechler's move to a double-wing formation that the Mustangs did not have an answer for.

Canton padded its lead to 35-7 with 3:11 remaining in the quarter, on a short plunge (2 yards) by McDonnell. Northville didn't fold its tent, however, as Jonathan Michalak (10-of-27 passing) scored on a 1-yard run.

The teams traded touchdowns just 13 seconds apart to make it a 42-21 Canton lead going into the fourth.

Novi nips Salem 1-0 in regional final

Goal by Bandyk, strong defense lifts Wildcats to first regional title since 2012

During halftime, Kyle Bandyk and his Novi teammates figured one goal would probably win Thursday's Division 1 boys soccer regional final against Salem.

So when Bandyk spotted senior forward Hernan Brarda niftily dribbling away from a defender along the right side of the field, he got ready inside the 6-yard box in front of Rocks senior goalkeeper Andrew Kozan. Bandyk — a senior in his first sea-son at forward following three years in the back — chipped his close-range shot inside the right post with 34:40 remaining in the second half to put the Wildcats up 1-0 at Ann Arbor Huron.

That held up as the game's lone goal, giving Novi (15-2-4) a regional championship for the first time in four seasons. The Wildcats will face East seasons. The Wildcars will race East Kentwood (14-3-5) at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 2, at Holt.

"In the first half, we were putting some pressure on," Bandyk said. "Salem's a really good team and we wanted to keep it going in the second half and we knew we were going to eventually get one if we kept putting the pressure on. "Hernan made a really good play and I was in the right spot and we just capitalized on it."

Coming close

The Rocks, who finished 13-7-3, made a late push only to face relentless defenders and junior goalkeeper Luke McDonald — who jumped high to tip a 30-yard boot by senior forward Jamie Crosby over the crossbar with 4:45 left.

"Luke thrives in these pressure situations," Novi head coach Todd Pheiffer said. "In first round districts, we were playing at (Catholic Central), we go into a penalty shootout and he just thrived in that moment.

"He made a key save for us on their fifth shooter to set up the win for us.

He's made two or three big saves ev-ery single game for us."

The KLAA Central Division rivals both won a 1-0 game during the season and Pheiffer emphasized at halftime of Thursday's clean, well-played contest that it was imperative to get the first goal.

"I said, 'The next 40 minutes, you got to do all the little things," Pheiffer said. "Run down every single ball, make sure you stay with your mark. Make sure we're marking tight on any set pieces they get because we know they're great in the air. "It was a great hustle play by Hernan and that's what you need when you get this far'

Salem first-year head coach Kyle Karns gave a similar message to the Rocks, who showed the ability to overcome adversity in winning the district and edging Saline in Tuesday's regional semifinal.

'I told them at halftime, the games of four goals a game, three goals a game, those are done," Karns said. "At this point in the tournament, goals are stingy and you're just going to have to battle and scrap for one.

"(Bandyk's winner) was one of those situations where they play all the way to the whistle," he added. "It was right by the line and he did a great job keeping the ball in bounds and. un fortunately, just found the back of the

Not much room

Another key to Novi's win was being able to frustrate Salem players such as junior midfielder Christian Freitag, who scored five goals during the postseason and demonstrated an uncanny knack to get to any open spaces near opposing goalies.

"We shifted the lineup around a couple times. We tried to find Christian up top and put more numbers forward," Karns said. "But (Novi) had the answer tonight and they did a great job."

Pheiffer acknowledged how important it was to stay close to Freitag and other Salem attackers.

"We made sure we had one person in front (of Freitag) and one person in back," Pheiffer said, noting the job junior midfielder Quinn Franchino did in containing the lanky Salem player. According to Salem senior midfield er Mikey Schwartz, Novi defenders "were playing a little deeper than usual and they had two defensive cen-ter mids. So it was hard for our midfield to penetrate them and play a through ball.

On the map

But Schwartz said the Rocks' big postseason run is something that 'means a lot" to him and his team-

"Since my freshman year, we haven't really gone on a run," Schwartz said. "So it means a lot to finally get a few trophies, get out there and make a name for ourselves in the Karns also tipped his cap to the senior class, which includes Schwartz, Kozan, Crosby, Shane Rusinek, Jake Wymer, Adam Graunke and Mariglen Serjanaj.

"I just told the boys they should be proud," Karns said. "I'm proud of our seniors. They were obviously here well before I was. "But for my first year, I couldn't be happier with the group that welcomed me and worked hard each and every
