disappearance.”

Stislicki also said she hopes people will “search areas in their surroundings and local neighborhoods” for the items for which police have said they’re searching: Danielle’s sky blue colored three-in-one Eddie Bauer coat, black zip-up shirt, blue jeans and burgundy boots.

The search came weeks after the arrest of Floyd Galloway of Berkeley on charges of assault for the attempted rape of a woman in Hines Park in October. Galloway’s arrest came as the result of joint investigations of the Farmington Hills and Livonia police departments.

Farmington Hills Police have called Galloway a “person of interest” in Stislicki’s case. Galloway, 30, formerly worked as a security guard at the same Met-Life office in Southfield where Danielle Stislicki worked and was last seen Dec. 2. Farmington Hills

Police Chief Chuck Nebus said Wednesday morning that no direct information has been obtained from Galloway. But he also said talks with FBI profilers also convinced him that criminals often return to the scene of previous crimes. The fact Galloway was arrested for a crime police believe he committed in Hines Park made Wednesday’s search seem a good idea.

“This is a routine search because we know (Galloway) was arrested for a crime in the park,” Nebus said. “It’s a natural place to search.”

While it’s not the first search conducted in the case — “We’ve executed more than 60 search warrants in this case,” Nebus said — the Hines Park search is the largest and a “more intense” search.

Nebus reiterated Wednesday the department’s position that Stislicki was a victim of a crime, and that they believe she is no longer alive. He said police have “no specific information” that leads them to believe Wednesday’s search would produce any evidence.

That doesn’t mean he isn’t optimistic the case will eventually be solved.

“I can’t say I’m optimistic we’ll find something (Wednesday),” Nebus said. “I can say I’m optimistic we will solve this case.”

Nebus said the public can help by being alert for potential evidence at any location, especially when outdoors. Evidence could be out in the open or concealed inside objects such as bags, containers, suitcases, trunks or bedding. In addition to the clothing items, Nebus said they’re looking for a tan-and-brown-striped comforter which could also be important to this case.

Anyone with any information about the disappearance of Danielle Stislicki is urged to contact the Farmington Hills Police Department Command Desk at 248-871-2610.
