Man, 22, charged in Westland killing

Police say roommate dispute led to incident

David Veselenak

Westland police say the man charged in his roommate's murder fled their apartment for several hours before returning and calling 9-1-1. Jovica Nikoloski, 22, of Westland was arraigned Tuesday morning in Westland's 18th District Court on one charge first-degree murder. He's accused of killing his roommate, 25-year-old Westland resident Spase Grazhdani, Saturday at their residence in the Skygate Apartments in the 6500 block of Yale. Sgt. Jerry Farrar of the Westland Police Department said in court Nikoloski told police he got into a dispute with Grazhdani in the early morning hours of Saturday when a knife was produced. Police say Nikoloski then stabbed him with it. The two then struggled over the knife, police said, before he was able to obtain the knife and stab him several more times. Farrar said Nikoloski told him he then showered and left the apartment for several hours. He returned in the early afternoon before calling 9-1-1. Police later arrived and arrested him under the suspicion of murder. District Judge Sandra Cicirelli remanded Nikoloski to the Wayne County Jail pending his trial, denying him bond. He's due in court Sept. 21 for a probable cause conference and Sept. 28 for a preliminary examination. If convicted, Nikoloski faces up to life in prison.

Six things to know about summer road projects happening in Westland

hometownlife.com

Westland's summer road projects are being wrapped up as the fall phase of improvements are getting underway. "(Westland Department of Public Services Department Director) Ramzi (El Gharib) has a whole wave of neighborhood street repairs scheduled — over $500,000 in work," Westland Mayor William Wild said. "Our guys will start on the work immediately." The city has also just more than $1 million earmarked for local road projects. "There is a little bit of everything — crack sealing, cut out repairs and repairing curbs," Wild said. The city uses the Pavement Surface Evaluation and Rating, or PASER, system to evaluate road conditions. It's a system for visually rating the surface condition of pavement from a scale of 1 to 10, with 1 being pavement in a failed condition and 10 being pavement in excellent condition. "The PASER rating is tied to those projects. We're required to do that every couple of years to qualify for Act 51 (road funding)," Wild said. Here are 2017-18 summer road projects recently wrapped up:

1. Cowan Road resurfacing project between Wayne and Farmington roads. This project included a complete resurfacing of the road and the installation of Americans with Disabilities Act ramps. The total cost of the project is approximately $600,000, with most of the funding coming from a $420,000 Michigan Department of Transportation grant.

2. Parkwood and Bennington water main and road replacement project. This project included the removal and replacement of the existing 58-year-old defective water main and construction of new eight-inch concrete pavement. The total cost of this project is $1 million.

Parkwood and Bennington are main routes to Elliot Elementary School. Wild said this project will increase the safety and functionality in the area.

3. Central City Parkway landscaping project. Work was completed between Ford and Warren roads. The project cost approximately $800,000.

The landscaping project followed Central City Parkway's $1.5 million road reconstruction, which included a $1.2 million MDOT grant.

The scope of this project included removal of all overgrown trees, planting of 170 new trees, planting of 1,100 ornamental shrubs, perennials and grasses, brick work at the intersection of Central City Parkway and Warren, installation of river rock islands and 10 benches and relocation of two war memorials from the former city hall site.

4. Spring Valley Drive resurfacing. The entire resurfacing of Spring Valley Drive in Holliday Park was completed by mid-July.

5. The second phase of the 2017-18 road rehabilitation program will start by mid-September and will include:

Asphalt milling and resurfacing of Louise

Court and Shackett between Gary and August;

Defective concrete removal and replacement of Badelt, Lear Court, School Street west of Wildwood, Avondale between Forest and Schuman;

Concrete joint and crack sealing of Fountain Street in Holliday Park and Westland Woods Subdivision; Asphalt joint sealing of Newburgh between Enterprise and Cherry Hill, Barton, Sheridan, Rosslyn and Hamblton.

The total cost of Phase 2 is estimated at $450,000

6. Westland is also in the planning stages for Phase 3 of the 2017-18 road rehabilitation program in the area bounded by Wayne to Merriman and Palmer to Cherry Hill.

Phase 3 of the 2017-18 road rehabilitation program will include the following neighborhood streets:

Defective concrete removal and replacement of Bayview, east of Wayne Road;

Concrete joint and crack sealing of the area bounded by Cherry Hill to Sansburn and South Wildwood to Wayne Road; Melton to Palmer and Regene to Ackley; Parkwood to Harvard; and Flynn to Northgate.

The asphalt pavement sealing of areas bounded by South Farmington Road to Forrest and Hivley to Beechnut; Glen, Hazelwood, Melton and Cady Ave. between South Wildwood and South Wayne Road.

The total cost of Phase 3 is estimated at approximately $150,000.

"These road projects are a part of the comprehensive Neighborhood Makeover Program that was launched in May," Wild said. "The city has made great progress in the program so far and you can track the progress on www.cityof-westland.com."

Foundation event hopes to battle depression

Brad Kadrich
hometownlife.com

In a lot of ways, Bethany Anne Galdes was a typical kid.

She was smart (scoring in the 90th percentile on standardized tests), she was athletic (she played softball for Dearborn Divine Child) and she loved to dance and sing.

After transferring to Notre Dame Prep as a junior year, she couldn't participate in sports because of transfer-student rules, but she practiced with the track team anyway. She loved art and was inducted into the National Honor Society.

But she did it all while battling a depression that started with the death of her father when she was 12. While keeping up with her school work and often excelling in activities, Bethany battled the depression, being hospitalized a couple of times and - finally - losing the battle with depression.

In her honor and in an attempt to help others battling depression, Bethany's mother, Catherine Galdes, started the Bethany Anne Galdes Foundation, the mission of which is to "educate the public about depression as a life-threatening disease and ways to prevent and improve outcomes."

Bethany Anne Galdes with her dog, Kodiak. Bethany's mom said Kodiak provided "the reason for Bethany to get out of bed in the morning."

"It was an evolution of an idea that I needed to celebrate Bethany's birthday," said Galdes, an occupational therapist with Dearborn Public Schools. "I decided to have a gathering of friends and family that could help me decide on a way to celebrate her birthday that would create something good to help others and transform the tragedy." Now, Galdes is hoping to find a brick-and-mortar home for the foundation. Toward that end, the foundation hosts the Bethany Anne Galdes Foundation Founders' Day Celebration from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, Sept. 16, at the Helms Haven shelter, located at

22777 Edward N. Hines Drive in Dearborn Heights.

The event, which carries a $20 entry fee, will feature a T-shirt, a color obstacle course, musical performances, dancing, massages and other activities, along with light nutritional snacks.

Galdes hopes the festival will attract people who "would like to join the movement to save lives by changing the way we manage and treat depression."

"I hope to achieve part of our mission, which is to educate people about depression being a life-threatening disease," Galdes said. "Many people have been touched by depression and the fear of losing their loved one or the reality of losing their loved one to depression. Over the past 15 years, the rate of deaths from depression has increased by 24 percent. We are inviting people to become committee members and asking for our community to provide spiritual, moral or financial support."

Eventually, the foundation aims to have a specialized treatment center focused on distinct diagnosis that can provide more specific treatment. Galdes said when her daughter was hospitalized, she was on a floor with patients who suffered from "every possible mental health issue." Galdes believes that's no way to treat depression.

"It is not appropriate to treat someone with a broken bone on the cardiac unit just as it is not appropriate to treat someone with depression on the unit for schizophrenia or anger outburst," she said. "It is not sufficient to focus on pharmacological intervention and not provide other evidence-based interventions for depression during hospitalization. It is time for a treatment center focused on treating depression."

Police: Redford man robbed 7-Eleven at gunpoint

hometownlife.com

Livonia police say a Redford Township man will face federal charges after he robbed a convenience store on the east side of the city at gunpoint this past week.

Brandon Lamar Lucas, 22, was arrested after police say he entered the 7-Eleven at 27435 Seven Mile in Livonia at about 3:30 a.m. Sept. 6. Police say he pulled out a gun and pointed it at the clerk, telling him to empty the cash register.

After the robbery took place, police say Lucas then left the store on foot with about $80 in cash. After police were informed of the robbery, a Livonia police sergeant in the area saw the suspect in a vehicle driving in the area. Police pulled Lucas over and arrested him, confiscating a handgun and cash from the car. After Lucas was arrested, the case was later adopted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. A federal arrest warrant was issued Sept. 6 by a federal magistrate for Lucas on charges of interference with commerce by robbery, use of a firearm during and in relation to a crime of violence and possession of a stolen firearm.

Lucas

Police say Lucas is also a suspect for a robbery that took place several days before at a 7-Eleven at Schoolcraft and Inkster in Redford Township.

Livonia woman, refugee, works to help Iraqis

hometownlife.com

Jihan Daman knows firsthand the effects of keeping refugees out of the United States.

She and her family lived in northern Iraq at the beginning of the Iran-Iraq War in the early 1980s. When her father began receiving more information about Saddam Hussein's Ba'ath Party and pressuring him to join, he decided it was time to leave their home and head out.

He couldn't get to the United States yet, as refugees were limited at that time, Daman said. So he applied to tour Greece on a tourist visa and got out of Iraq that way. They wouldn't return home, instead applying to become refugees in Athens.

"Then we applied and we stayed. And that's how my dad got us out," said Daman, a Livonia resident.

Jihan Daman (right) with the Rev. Araam Romeel Qia in Alqosh, Iraq. Daman has established a charity designed to help those in her former village in Iraq.

Today, Daman has used her upbringing and skill set learned in the United States to try to help those in her home country facing incredible challenges, especially as ISIS reigns across Iraq.

She's set up St. Rita's Hands of Hope, a non-profit that has assisted with creating a clinic in Daman's native city of Alqosh, Iraq, which is about 30 miles north of Mosul. Daman, who graduated with a social work degree from Wayne State University, traveled to Iraq twice in recent years, working with a Chaldean priest in Alqosh in setting up the clinic.

It's a different world in Alqosh when it comes to mental health, an area that is still not accepted as widely as it is in places such as the U.S.

"There's no such thing as therapy," she said. "Anybody who has an issue ... they would go straight to the psychiatrist and get medication."

Her organization has helped hundreds of people in the city and she had high hopes of doing even more education on mental health and what it means for its residents.

"There, they don't have it," she said. "Literally, we're trying to build mental health, promote mental health, empower women."

Refugees

It isn't just mental health that Daman has gotten involved with. She's received thousands of calls from people overseas looking for assistance in fleeing the country as ISIS took over communities across Iraq.

Daman said her business, St. Rita Family Services in Sterling Heights, has gotten messages for years from people looking to escape for a better life. Those calls began during the Barack Obama administration and have continued into President Donald Trump's tenure.

"I had cases that were brought to my attention that people were being stopped and were not being processed for their security clearance. They waited years and years for that. I received over 4,000 cases. People call and they give their case number," she said. "They are just waiting for security clearance."

The mentality toward refugees like her, Daman said, has become a difficult one. She understands the need for safety and security for the U.S., of which Daman is a citizen, but said punishing all innocent people for the sake of such safety isn't the way to go.

"I am with him to protect this country, I am with him because I live here, my daughter lives here, this is my home. I want all the protection," she said. "But at the same time, there are innocent people. ... A lot of people don't want to leave their country they live in. You cannot just pick up and leave because you want to pick up and leave. Unless it's a safety issue."

LIVONIA POLICE BRIEFS

Cart of merchandise pushed out

Livonia police were called Sept. 7 to Walmart, 29555 Plymouth, on the report of a retail fraud.

When police arrived, they spoke to an employee, who told them the suspect had pushed out a cart of items without paying for them. He then got into a vehicle, which pulled away. Police located the vehicle and pulled it over nearby in Wonderland Village. The employee told police they noticed the suspect fill the cart with items and begin to look nervous. He then pushed it out without paying. Police arrested him and took him to the police station for processing.

Toothbrushes taken

Police were called Sept. 6 to Rite Aid, 27401 Six Mile, on the report of a retail fraud.

An employee told police they saw the male suspect and believed he had taken razors from the store. An employee said they saw him enter the store, go to the hygiene aisle and then abruptly leave with several concealed items in his jacket. She confronted him, though he ignored her and fled on a bicycle. He was last seen riding on Ryland in Redford. They later checked and saw two electric toothbrushes were missing.

Four fabulous events around town this weekend

hometownlife.com

Don't have any plans this weekend? There's plenty to do in Detroit's western suburbs. Here's a sampling of some activities taking place:

Northville Heritage Festival

Travel back in time to celebrate Northville's 150th anniversary during this weekend's Northville Heritage Festival.

The festival, which will take place in downtown Northville, will kick off at 6:30 p.m. Friday with Victorian Parade through downtown. In addition, community nonprofit groups will have booths out, as well as live entertainment, a kids zone and horse and carriage rides.

The festival, formerly known as the Victorian Festival and in its 29th year, will also feature an old-time touch dating back to the incorporation of the village. A concert featuring the Dodworth Saxhorn Band will take place at 1 p.m. Saturday in Town Square, and festival-goers will be able to see banners and posters around downtown showcasing historical Northville.

The festival runs 5-11 p.m. Friday, 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday. More information, including a complete list of events, is available at northvilleheritagefest.com.

Cemetery walk in Livonia

Halloween is still a month away, but those interested in hearing from some ghostly figures from the past can do so at this weekend's cemetery walk in Livonia.

FILE PHOTO

William Mitchell Shaw evidently came from a family of means. Born in Ireland in 1800, at 16 years of age he studied medicine in Scotland. Emigrating to the U.S. when he was 21 years old, Shaw never practiced medicine, but supervised construction of the Erie Canal. He moved to Michigan, bought land and married. Shaw is played by Gerald Turlo during the last cemetery walk at Clarenceville Cemetery in 2013.

The annual cemetery walk will take place 2-5 p.m. Sunday at the historic Clarenceville Cemetery, located south of Eight Mile between Grand River and Middlebelt. The walk will feature local, costumed interpreters sharing stories from Livonia's settlers buried in the cemetery. Cider and doughnuts will be available and all proceeds from the walk will go toward preservation of Livonia's four historical cemeteries.

Tours will begin every 30 minutes. Tickets are $8 in advance and can be purchased at the Alexander Blue House in Historical Greenmead Park, 20501 Newburgh. Tickets bought the day of the event are $10. Parking can be found at Clarenceville Middle School, 20210 Middlebelt, with a free shuttle to the cemetery. For more information, call 248-477-7375 or email greenmead@ci.livonia.mi.us.

Milford historical homes tour

Those with an interest in historical homes can take a peek during the Milford Historical Society Home Tour, taking place Saturday and Sunday in Milford.

Five homes throughout the village will be available to tour and tour-goers are also invited to visit other historical sites in the village, including Oak Grove Cemetery and the log cabin in South Park. A car show will also take place Sunday.

Tickets are $15 and are available for pre-purchase at Acorn Farm, 367 S. Main; Main Street Art, 432 N. Main; Your Nesting Place, 105 W.

Gigabit Internet speeds coming to town

hometownlife.com

How fast can you download an HD movie? In some parts of Livonia, that time could significantly decrease for some Internet customers.

AT&T recently announced it is launching gigabit-speed Internet in parts of Livonia. Gigabit speed, which is 1000 megabits, can download a 90-minute HD movie in less than 34 seconds, according to AT&T officials.

The company, which already provides Internet and cable service across Livonia, said its gigabit speeds will be available in parts of Livonia, though officials declined to share specific locations where it can be accessed.

"It's a portion of the city," AT&T spokeswoman Teresa Mask said.

Livonia is the latest city in metro Detroit to have AT&T provide high-speed Internet service. Communities such as Canton, Novi and Lyon Township received access to the service last fall. The company currently offers gigabit Internet speeds in 57 markets across the United States and hopes to expand it to 75 by 2019.

"Our customers are increasingly interacting with their world in more data-intensive ways," Jim Murray, president of AT&T Michigan, said in a statement. "A growing number of people are streaming content directly from their devices and interacting with family and friends through live videos. For these reasons, we're continuing to expand the availability of our fastest Internet speeds to more Detroit area communities."

Other companies

Higher-speed Internet has sprouted up across several service providers in recent years. Other companies, such as Charter Spectrum, have provided gigabit fiber for the past few years for businesses in its metro Detroit coverage area.

Leigh Byrd, a spokeswoman for Spectrum, said Internet speeds provided by the company to residents top several hundred megabits and are fast enough to handle several connected devices in the home.

"Our current offerings are 60 (megabit download) by five (megabit upload) and 300 by 20. That's residential," she said. "In the business world, we do offer a one gigabit and a 10 gigabit for business."

She said there are no current plans to roll out gigabit speeds to residential customers through Spectrum, which was formerly Bright House Networks and provides service in Redford, Livonia, Farmington Hills, Farmington and Novi.

She said, though, that could change.

"I can't say whether or not we have plans," she said. "We've positioned ourselves for faster speeds in the future."

The newcomer to Livonia, WOW cable has worked over the past few years installing its lines across the city after getting approval back in 2015. Robert DiNardo, a vice president and general manager for the cable and Internet company, said they hope to have the entire city covered by the end of the month.

Those Internet speeds top out at 500 megabits for customers, DiNardo said. The company does offer gigabit speeds in some communities, including one in eastern Wayne County earlier this year.

"We just launched it in Grosse Pointe Shores earlier this summer," he said. "We're taking a look at the next steps on where we want to move with that product."

DiNardo said he did not have a timetable as to when WOW would offer gigabit speeds in the western suburbs of Detroit, but said it's clear consumers are clamoring for higher speeds as more devices get connected households.

But to do so requires some planning on the company's part that will take some time, he said.

"It's just not flipping a switch," DiNardo said. "It's one constant we've seen is the increase in demand for Internet bandwidth."

Finance classes should be mandatory in high school

Growing up, I knew little about money. I knew that I wanted it and I knew that I needed it. As a financially-clueless adolescent, I figured I'd learn more about money in high school. Some kind of way, I'd be introduced to the basic life skills of saving, credit cards and budgeting, right?

Wrong. I never learned about any of those key concepts in high school, but I should have. And given that I graduated high school in May, my memory is quite clear. Many of my classmates were in the same position and, like myself, had to take it upon themselves to become more financially educated.

This is highly problematic. One minute, we're studying for standarized tests and playing powder puff football. The next, we're expected to make good financial decisions. Despite this rough transition, only 17 states require personal finance courses, according to a 2017 study by the Council for Economic Education. This needs to change.

Every single high school student should take a personal finance class in order to graduate, not through an elective or club, but through a mandatory course.

All young people need to know

Personal finance classes are equally needed in inner-city neighborhoods and affluent suburbs. Even if a child's parents are well off, that child still needs to know how to navigate the world of money. No matter financial status, every young person can benefit from knowing how to make their money work for them.

It is completely irresponsible and irrational to send 18-year-olds into the already confusing, stressful world of money management with no financial education and, even worse, mis-education. For example, I've heard plenty about credit cards from adults. What I didn't know until recently was that, in order for credit cards to actually help your credit score, the bill must be paid in full, on time every single month.

Trial and error isn't the best method of learning when it comes to money; especially at a young age, it can be very risky to figure it out along the way. Imagine how much credit card and student loan debt young people could avoid if they knew the rules before playing the game. Imagine if a 45-minute class every day could be worth 100 points of a FICO score. Suddenly, this seems more important, doesn't it?

Making it mandatory

Young people are important consumers in the economy and we cannot build it if we can't even build our own bank accounts. If everyone really cares about achieving key economic goals, such as price stability and full employment, then we will begin making efforts to implement personal finance curriculum into high schools. As the age-old expression states, if we fail to plan, we plan to fail.

Money is something that can be awkward to discuss, but it is a part of life. And just because 15-year-old me wasn't making much money, doesn't mean that she didn't deserve to learn about it. If I had the same mindset that I do now four years ago, well, I wouldn't be so worried about managing my finances in college. I'd also have a lot more money now, which wouldn't be so bad, either.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Condemn hate

As representatives of the Westland Democratic Club, striving for peace and justice, we condemn the display of hatred, racism and violence that was manifested in Charlottesville, Va., by white supremacists and members of the Ku Klux Klan and neo-Nazi groups.

These abhorrent acts of hatred displayed in Charlottesville are an attack on the unity of our nation and therefore summons the Westland Democratic Club to peaceful action.

These shameful acts of hatred exposed in the most explicit way that racism and violence against African Americans and other racial groups in our country have become deeply imbedded in our history and in our institutions.

It further demonstrated that the hatred and genocide of Nazi Germany against Jews, persons with disabilities, gay and lesbian people, artisans, educators and political opponents have no place in our society anywhere on this planet. Furthermore, there is no place in our society for hateful words or violent actions that put the lives of our sisters and brothers at risk, especially African Americans and other people of color as well as Muslims, Jews and people of other faiths.

We invite the citizens of Westland to stand with us and all people of goodwill for an end to racial violence and for the building of peace in our communities.

The Westland Democratic Club is equally indignant at the lack of strong condemnation by name of these groups by our government leaders, including our President, as well as the initial silence of many political leaders which only enables and empowers those who espouse such hatred, racism and violence.

Westland Democrats off prayers for the family of Heather Heyer, who was murdered during the Charlottesville protest, and we fully embrace and admire her mother's words that her daughter's death must not be an occasion for further hatred against the young man responsible for her death. Furthermore, we offer prayers for Troopers Lt. H. Jay Cullen and Berkeley Bates who were killed while monitoring the events of the Charlottesville protest and for all those who were injured.

The Westland Democratic Club upholds the dignity of every person, and we embrace the diversity of the great American family. And in the spirit of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., we are called to be bold witnesses to nonviolence and to nonviolently resist any display of hatred and violence. But we must be vigilant and continue to work for a day when the Beloved Community will become a reality, devoid of hatred, intolerance and institutional racism.

Keep discussion civil

After reading your letters to the editor, I noticed that the anti-Trump letters dominated the section.

Hannah P. Donigan, James Huddleston and Mitch Dubanik are so full of hate and bigotry toward President Donald Trump and the people who voted him into office that it is shocking. The name-calling and labeling of Trump and his supporters was rude and disgusting.

I will just remind them that Trump did win the popular vote here in Michigan. Dubanik even wanted your newspaper to take a stand and not stay silent! What stand? His stand? Such bigotry. I would suggest that your newspaper not print letters with such hatred for our President and for the people that voted him into office.

We do make up half of the people that subscribe to your newspaper. I can handle a respectful discussion, but not the name calling and hate.

Hate, insults in disagreements

As I read the letters to the editor I wondered what happened to critical thinkers. When I went to college, we were encouraged to listen to and debate opposing opinions in a respectful manner. I found it enlightening to hear opposing views and often found, if I did not agree, I at least now understood that view.

I'm an independent

voter who votes based on a candidate's platform. I voted for President Donald Trump because "politicians" no longer represent the people. Rather, they go to Washington to fulfill their own dreams. PACs are paying for their votes and we truly do have a "swamp" in D.C. on both sides of the aisle.

Trump is doing what we elected him to do. He's appointed a conservative Supreme Court Justice, our economy is booming with over a million jobs created in his first six months. Illegal border crossings are down 70% by enforcing existing laws. Companies are building new locations in the U.S. based on Trump's promise to reduce our corporate tax rate, one of the highest in the world. And ISIS is on the run because he isn't simply drawing a red line in the sand.

Trump did not win the cumulative popular vote. He did win the popular vote in 30 of 50 states; that is how our elections work. Otherwise, candidates would only campaign in California and New York. Because we are a Republic, all states matter.

I read a letter preaching all Trump supporters are either "Nazi lovers, KKK fans, racists, gay bashers, a greedy rich person or a shill for the rich, a vile corporate leader..." Really? It sounds like the true hater is the author of the letter. Trump won Michigan.

We need to get back to a space where we can discuss opinions, even political ones, without over shouting or categorizing one a hater simply because you may not agree with his or her opinion.

I don't belong to, nor do I support the hate groups. Rather, I'm an Air Force veteran who used his GI Bill to pay for a college education. I worked through the ranks of a Fortune 500 corporation and retired at a middle management position. I was born in Detroit to parents who had fourth and ninth grade educations and was the first in my family to graduate college. Let's focus our energies on things that bind us together as Americans. Let's begin by bringing respect back into our conversations and remind ourselves, we have two ears and one mouth for a reason.

Tough on immigration

One of the fundamental founding principles that distinguished the United States from essentially every other nation is that our country is "a nation of laws, not a nation of men". What this means is that our laws rule, not the whims of men. No one - not even Barack Obama - is above the law.

In June 2012, Obama arbitrarily decided to implement his "Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals" (DACA) idea, which granted social security numbers and federal benefits to approximately 800,000 illegal immigrants currently between the ages of 15 and 36. Obama knew this action was illegal and admitted he can't just do these things by himself. However, Obama decided to ignore his oath of office and, instead, traded it for the applause of his political supporters (just the type of dictatorial action that our founders worried about). Obama knew that he was leaving his successor a big mess.

Fortunately for the American people, so far President Donald Trump has taken his oath of office far more seriously than Obama ever did.

Path to nowhere

At its Aug. 21 meeting, Farmington City Council voted to buy two century-old houses on Grand River and Thomas Street. Land-banking, they called it. The idea was to acquire space for a cut-through path between Grand River and the stairs to Shiawassee Park, with the end goal of increasing walkability.

The cut-through to the park often gets billed as the "poster child" for walkability in Farmington. But there's so more to being a pedestrian-friendly city than building one new path. When it comes to this project, the council has jumped the gun. If the apartment complex that's currently proposed for the Maxfield Training Center ends up going in, the path is dead. The building would cover the entire block on Thomas, cutting off the path completely, and the developer isn't obliged to design their building around this path in the first place.

The price for the purchase was almost half a million dollars. That money's coming from the unrestricted fund in our general fund. Essentially, the council is saying that buying two buildings to tear down is more important than any other funding need the city has.

One week after that council meeting, Farmington had a huge rain-storm. Streets in the neighborhoods flooded - in particular, Mayfield Street in the Warner Farms sub just south of downtown, where the water in the middle of the street was waist-deep on a grown man. Homeowners on Mayfield told me the street floods every year - whenever there's a big rain - because the drains are old and can't handle all the water.

Those drains are the City of Farmington's responsibility to maintain.

Doesn't it seem a bit more urgent to invest in fixing a street that floods than to dump money into teardowns for a project that's little more than a sketch in a city document?

Plymouth teacher missed

I was very sad to see Plymouth Salem High School's announcement that longtime teacher Scott Beaman died. If any person has ever been put on this earth for a purpose, Mr. Beaman was put on this earth to be a high school teacher.

As a 17-year-old who fancied myself far smarter than my teachers, I was skeptical when I first encountered Mr. Beaman in his A.P. U.S. history class in 1993. The first thing that struck me about him was, he was old. I now know he was 53 at the time, only a few years older than my parents, but he seemed even older than my grandparents, in his manner. His formal, professorial style made him feel like he had been transported from a black and white movie about a teacher in a one-room schoolhouse.

And then the 1993 MTV Video Music Awards took place on Sept. 2 -- I just looked up the date to make sure my memory was right, that we had only been in school a few days. Mr. Beaman asked us why "Jeremy" had won the Video of the Year award: How could our generation love a song about a teenager committing suicide? He wasn't asking disapprovingly, like those Baby Boomer parents who thought Generation X music revealed Satanic messages when played backward. He was asking because he wanted to know. He wanted to understand us. Mr. Beaman's own tastes leaned more toward opera and big band music, but if grunge was what his students listened to, grunge was what Mr. Beaman wanted to know about.

And yet I'm selling Mr. Beaman short if I make him sound like a "cool" teacher who wanted his students to love him. Mr. Beaman was the furthest thing from a teenager's idea of "cool," and what he wanted his students to love was American history. He brought the subject alive with his lectures, and he demanded excellence of us academically. Those notebooks we had to turn in at the end of each quarter were a real bear. The four days those notebooks were due were the four days I hated Mr. Beaman.

The rest of the time, I loved him. I never met a more caring teacher, and I never grasped how many hours of his life he must have given away, considering that he advised so many after-school clubs, sold the tickets to every football game, and never said no if a student wanted to talk to him outside of class. I moved away after junior year, but when Mr. Beaman was on a trip to Chicago one summer, he got in touch. He took me out to lunch, and I mentioned a book I'd been meaning to read, and a few days later that book was in the mail, with a note from Mr. Beaman wishing me well.

That was the last contact I had with him, more than two decades ago. My regret is that I'm writing this now, after he's gone. I wish I'd told him how much he meant to me. I bet hundreds of former students feel the same way.

Heritage Festival will celebrate 150-year anniversary

The Northville Chamber of Commerce will present one of the community's longest and most popular events, the Northville Heritage Festival, scheduled for Sept. 15-17. In its 29th year, the Heritage Festival, formally the Victorian Festival, celebrates the history of the Northville.

The Heritage Festival will kick off the festivities Friday, Sept. 15, with the traditional Victorian Parade and will continue with the festival's most popular features throughout the weekend. Included will be community nonprofit booths, live entertainment, a kids zone, crafters, horse and carriage rides and the Heritage Festival Saloon.

As part of this year's event, Northville will commemorate the 150th anniversary its of village incorporation. To celebrate, Northville will celebrate like it's 1867! A concert is planned at 1 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 16, in Town Square featuring the Dodworth Saxhorn Band.

What was the village of Northville like in 1867? Festival-goers will be able to see banners and posters throughout downtown that offer a glimpse of its historical past. A lot has happened in the past 150 years and Northville's "four corners" at Main and Center mark the epicenter of the city's downtown. The origins of these four distinct sites began with the community's first settlers in 1827. Historic signage will be featured at each of the four corners, as well as individual posters at many of the downtown businesses.

Saturday night at the saloon will be dedicated to supporting veterans, with all admissions revenue going to Northville's American Legion post. Big Ray and the Motor City Kings will be providing the entertainment 7-9:30 p.m.

A schedule of festival activities is available at www.northvilleheritagefest.com.

Crosby stays active during cancer fight

West Bloomfield natatorium named in honor of longtime coach

Brad Emons
hometownlife.com

Even a bout of pancreatic cancer and subsequent rounds of chemo can't keep Bob Crosby away from the swimming pool.

The volunteer assistant for the South Lyon Unified girls swim team was at practice Thursday and head coach John Burch is glad to see his volunteer assistant lend his 40 years of knowledge in any way, whether it's working with JV team members or doing the announcing at upcoming meets.

"He's got the coaching bug, he loves to coach and I think he's going a little stir crazy at home, so I'm glad to offer him," Burch said. "I welcome his expertise anytime he wants to come in."

When the JV swimmers walked onto the South Lyon East High School pool deck late Thursday afternoon, junior Emma Russo was one of the first to ask Crosby, "How are you feeling?"

And to answer Russo's question: "I'm doing OK, not too bad," Crosby said.

Crosby, who received the Michigan High School Swim Coaches Association's highest honor, the Matt Mann Award, in 2009, has been through a lot during the past 12 months after being diagnosed with pancreatic cancer.

First there was surgery, during which he had to undergo a Whipple procedure, followed by radiation treatments when he traveled 28 times - Monday through Friday for five weeks - to downtown Detroit (through the Henry Ford Health System).

Crosby just completed his third round of chemotherapy at the Henry Ford Medical Center-Columbus in Novi. He has one more month of treatment and he's holding up well at age 67.

Crosby remains encouraged. He said his surgery went well and his oncologist is pleased with the results so far.

"The chemo I'm getting post-surgery is milder than what I did pre-surgery," Crosby said. "So I really haven't had any bad side effects. And I didn't really have anything extreme before, but I did start losing some hair, lost my taste, stuff like that. That hasn't happened with the second one, because the chemo

Farmington Hills Harrison football fans were treated to a special ceremony about a half-

As the pep band played and the four green flags in the plaza swirled in the breeze, the school's booster club members took down the green covering over the archway leading into the football field.

A hearty applause ensued as the Herrington Athletic Complex was officially unveiled.

The archway was, of course, named after the only football head coach Harrison has ever

All-Marine team gives CC grapplers life lessons

Marine Week Detroit makes stop in Novi

Brad Emons
hometownlife.com

The U.S. Marine Corps All-Marine wrestling team from Camp Lejeune, N.C., found more than a few good young men after making a stop Sept. 7 at Detroit Catholic Central High School.

"Wow, this room is filled with some studs," said Lt. Peyton Walsh, who hails from Richmond, Va. "They've got a great coaching staff ... and that's just one encounter, one experience with these guys. But like I said, very fortunate to come here and roll around with them. Hopefully, they learned something from us and learn a little bit about what the Marine Corps has to offer."

It was Marine Week Detroit (Sept. 6-10) and the all-Marine wrestling team wanted to make an impression, sharing not only members' grappling skills, but also their life stories.

Marine Week Detroit also featured hands-on static displays, live demonstrations, time-honored Marine Corps traditions, musical performances and other events to showcase the history, military capabilities and community involvement of the Corps.

The all-Marine team, which also made stops during the week at Westland John Glenn and Troy High School, is a mix of wrestlers who competed in college or enlisted right out of high school.

Stevenson defense puts hurt on Churchill, 20-9

Tim Smith
hometownlife.com

Two high-scoring teams with undefeated records met Friday, but the match-up between Livonia Stevenson and Livonia Churchill turned out to be a defensive slug-fest instead.

The host Spartans, behind Devin Dunn's two interceptions and constant defensive pressure against Chargers junior quarterback Drew Alsobrooks, ground out a 20-9 win to improve to 3-0.

"The defense worked hard all week preparing," Stevenson coach Randy Micallef said. "With the city rival, they rose to the challenge. It was a great night."

Dunn and a fearless defensive line would be the main reasons.

Stevenson trailed 3-0 with time running out in the first half, but a personal foul against Churchill kept a drive moving and the Spartans finally got on the board with 48 seconds to go, when quarterback Parker Graham threw a 12-yard TD pass to Joe Kubeshesky, who later caught a 33-yard touchdown toss.

Churchill then tried to get the points back, but Dunn spoiled those plans when he picked off a pass along the right sideline and dashed 75 yards for a TD and a 13-3 halftime edge.

"Devin's a stud, he's a great athlete," Micallef said. "He's a multiple-sport athlete. And the first couple games, guys kind of keyed on him. George (Ferguson) had some success and Parker had some success."

"Tonight, defensively he shined, he showed what he's capable of."

The pass is intended for Churchill's Brendan Lowrey (left) in the end zone, but Stevenson's Scott Rushlow knocks it out of the way.

BILL BRESLER | HOMETOWNLIFE.COM

Dunn said the pick-six "felt really good, too. That touchdown, that really switched the momentum right there. That gave us a bigger lead."

The Chargers (2-1) tried to mount a late rally as Alsobrooks teamed with Avery Grenier for a fourth-quarter score.

But Stevenson's ferocious defense kept the pressure turned up. Robert Cavin and Camden Gould were in on a pair of sacks and Ferguson then intercepted Alsobrooks's desperation pass in the end zone with time running out.

"The kids did a great job up front getting pressure on him," Micallef said. "I think that was the key to the game, causing him to be uncomfortable in the pocket, which allowed our secondary to look better as well."

Churchill head coach Bill DeFillippo gave credit to Stevenson's defense and said the game largely swung on Dunn's 75-yard interception return.

"He tried to throw it away and hit their kid right in the numbers and he went 75 yards for a touchdown," DeFillippo said. "I don't think he even saw the kid at all, I think he was just trying to get rid of it."

Meanwhile, the Spartans earned a win despite struggling early on offense for the second time in three weeks.

"We don't quit, our offense, we just got to feel the defense out. That's how we are," Dunn said.

DeFillippo said the Spartans were better in the trenches. "Their D line played outstanding tonight. We had a hard time just getting in rhythm and getting any consistency going to establish any drives."

Here are some more

takeaways from the game:

BAD TIME FOR A PENALTY

The Chargers looked to have Stevenson down and out late in the first half, still leading 3-0. But a Spartans drive took on new life when a Churchill player was called for a personal foul. Stevenson went on to score on a 12-yard pass from Graham to Kubeshesky with 48 seconds remaining to put the Spartans ahead.

MAKING IT HAPPEN

Churchill tried to get it back quickly. After a 33-yard gainer from Alsobrooks to Avery Grenier, the junior quarterback was hit by Stevenson's Nicholas Leginza while trying to complete the very next play. Instead, the ball floated into the hands of Dunn and he took it from there. All of a sudden, Stevenson enjoyed a 13-3 lead with 15 seconds to go before halftime.

WHERE'S THE OFFENSE?

Stevenson and Churchill combined to score 78 points in Week 2, but both teams struggled to get anything going offensively through most of the first half. After 23 minutes without either team finding the end zone, however, the Spartans cracked it twice in the final minute.

BAG OF TRICKS

Trying to jump-start the attack, the Spartans tried some kickoff trickery as Ferguson flipped the ball to Dunn, who ran the ball to midfield. Three plays later, a Stevenson fumble turned into an 8-yard gain when the ball rolled down the field, with Giovanni Agazzi recovering it.

FUN ATMOSPHERE

The stands on both sides of the field were packed for the big rivalry game. There also was a celebratory mood before the contest as the Livonia Junior Athletic League Orioles, Falcons, Blue Jays and Eagles — along with Livonia cheer and Livonia pom — were on the field to form a tunnel for the Spartans to run through. Each youth athlete in uniform received a Stevenson spirit towel.

When Dylan Kutzleb get his hands on the ball, good things generally happen.

The shifty and sturdy 5-foot-10, 175-pound senior running back carried the ball only 14 times, but rushed for a game-high 254 yards Friday as host White Lake Lakeland earned a 34-14 Lakes Valley Conference football win over South Lyon.

Two of those runs went for touchdowns, including a 69-yarder in the first quarter and an 86-yarder in the early in the third quarter, to help seal the win as the Eagles improved to 2-1.

"I'm a little hyped up right now," Kutzleb said. "I just kept my feet moving all the time, always looking forward and never looking back. Getting those cut-back blocks, a lot of key blocks from those linemen, which I'm very thankful for."

Lakeland built a 21-0 halftime lead as Robbie Tracy added a 30-yard TD run and C.J. Davis chipped in a 1-yarder. Lakeland had 380 yards total offense, all on the ground.

Salem the real deal in victory over Brighton

Bill Khan
Livingston Daily

Entering the 2017 season, Salem was dismissed as a contender in the KLAA Black.

With six playoff teams residing in the new division and Salem only reaching the five wins necessary to qualify for the playoffs once since 1998, no one gave it much of a chance.

Well, it appears the Rocks used that as some serious motivation, because the way they played throughout the game Friday against Brighton (and New Boston Huron in Week 1 and Howell in Week 2) made it very apparent that they are the real deal after a 10-7 victory.

"When I was out there, they were tough, energetic," Brighton senior Luke Helwing said, "and that was something we lacked a little bit. They were just super-pumped up and they had more fire than us."

The Rocks held Brighton, which entered the game averaging 41.5 points on offense, scoreless until 3:30 remained.

Andrew Davis, meanwhile, scored a second-quarter 65-yard touchdown to put Salem ahead. And although it wasn't the four-TD, 299-yard rushing night he had vs. Howell the week before, it was another solid outing for the Rocks' leading rusher.

"They have been on the verge of getting over that hump the last few seasons and they're doing a good job this year and their coaches should be very proud," Brighton coach Brian Lemons said.

Brighton's offense unexpectedly stymied

Through the first two weeks of the season,

Brighton looked unstoppable.

The 'Dogs' 49 points against Hartland tied for their most since Week 8 of the 2014 season against Waterford Kettering. Before that, one would have to venture back to Week 8 of 2010 against the same opponent to find when Brighton had scored more (50).

Well, in Week 3 against Salem, the Bulldogs reversed course. Their seven points tied for their lowest total since being shut out by Howell in Week 7 of 2012.

Yet each time they closed in on the end zone, something happened to keep them out. There was a penalty or they turned the ball over on downs (which happened three times) or a tipped pass for an interception that signaled it just wasn't the Bulldogs' night.

they're giving me is milder of the two. Thankful for that."

Crosby said it takes time to adapt, but he's on the comeback trail.

"Every time I eat, I take a pancreatic enzyme that helps my body digest the food better," he said. "Slow but sure, it's coming around. The doctors said it could take up to a year."

For 40 years during the summer months, Crosby coached swimming at Western Golf & Country Club in Redford. This summer, he got back into the pool to help augment his recovery process.

"My daughter (Whitney Wasielewski) was working at Walnut Creek Country Club and both my sons (Chad and Brady), so I got to know Kris Goodrich, the pool director, the Milford girls coach, and she gave me permission to come over and swim," Crosby said. "I started swimming again for exercise and I think that helped the healing process, too. People have been real good to me."

Crosby was first discovered while doing a swim test during a physical education class at Detroit Henry Ford High School. He went on to become the Detroit Public School League record holder as a senior in the 100-yard freestyle in addition to winning the 200 freestyle.

The honorable mention all-stater also became an 11-time All-American at Eastern Michigan University, where he was part of two NAIA national titles and one NCAA College Division championship, earning first in the 100 freestyle and 400 freestyle relay in 1972.

As a senior, he was also a part of EMU's 800 freestyle relay team that qualified for the NCAA Division I meet for the first time. In 1995, Crosby was inducted into EMU's Athletic Hall of Fame.

He was also MISCA Zone Coach of the Year twice and served as president from 2002-04. In 2006, he was named Girls Swim Coach of the Year by that same association.

In 2011, Crosby received the outstanding service award from Michigan Masters Swimming. A year later, he was inducted into the Michigan High School Coaches Association Hall of Fame and was a finalist for the NHACA Swim Coach of the Year.

He was also West Bloomfield's first-ever inductee into its Coaches Hall of Fame.

"I respected him as one of the elder coaches," Burch said. "We were both involved with the coaches association and, when I first started getting involved with MISCA, Bob was always there and one of the people who was speaking up at board meetings and things like that. I looked up to him. We'd see him at the Oakland County meet and places like that."

But the highlight of Crosby's career was being selected to carry the Olympic torch for the 2002 Salt Lake City Winter Games after being nominated by Jodie Woznica, a West Bloomfield swim team member.

In Crosby's distinguished coaching career, he has received many honors, but Monday the West Bloomfield school board voted unanimously to rename its high school natatorium the Bob Crosby Natatorium, where a plaque will be placed at the pool entrance.

Crosby's high school coaching career started at Redford Union (1976-80) before he moved in 1980 to West Bloomfield, where he coached the boys for 35 seasons and the girls for 34, while guiding the Lakers to a total of 12 conference titles.

His 1985 girls team recorded its highest state meet finish ever at seventh, while the 2013 boys team took 11th.

"I'm really honored," said Crosby, who ironically will return Saturday to West Bloomfield with the SLU squad for the Laker Invitational.

Crosby, who retired from teaching after 37 years at West Bloomfield in 2010, moved along with his wife Marsha from Livonia to South Lyon five years ago and that's where he got connected with Burch.

"When I was a young coach, he reached out to me even though we weren't in the same league and we really didn't swim West Bloomfield," Burch said. "But I always knew who he was and he's just a great human being. After working with him the past couple of years, I've realized what a great person he is ... beyond just the sport of swimming. I know him as a great person, somebody who cares deeply for swimming, the people, for the girls as human beings, not just as athletes in the pool. That just struck me as something wonderful to experience somebody that feels that way."

Crosby, meanwhile, is able to find those instant connections with his swimmers as well, while offering a wealth of experience.

"He was the first person that got me into the sport," Russo said. "He taught me everything that I know - to technique to what it means to be a part of a team. And if it wasn't for him, I don't think I would have made it through another season. So for me, he's always been such a motivation. And I owe him everything, in terms of my swim career, to him. He will always be the coach who started it all."

Crosby's outlook has changed from when he was first diagnosed last fall, which caused him to miss meets and practice sessions. There were some dark days, but now he sees the light.

"I had to miss three different times during the season to be in the hospital because I picked up these infections," he said. "Everybody was so nice and supportive for me. You just get tired sitting around and watching TV all day. So I'm happy to have something to do."

Russo believes Crosby brings many different intangibles.

"He brings a sense of unity," she said. "He reminds us what it means to be a team. Because it's such a big team with so many girls - varsity, JV - at the end of day, he reminds us that we're all in this together. And we're all doing what we love."

said. "I thought our backs did a really good job of finding holes. I think we got in and out of the right plays we needed to be in. Probably left a couple of points on the board a couple of different times in the first half. But again, I still emphasize that we're a very young football team that's trying to grow and trying to mature a little bit. This was a good win for us."

Tracy and Davis contributed 51 and 47 yards, respectively, on the ground. Davis scored the last Lakeland TD on a 27-yard run with 3:47 left after South Lyon had cut the deficit to 28-14.

Here are four other takeaways:

SKUPIN IT UP

After going up 14-0 on Robbie Tracy's 30-yard TD run, Lakeland got the ball right back when Leo Skupin executed a perfect onside kick, recovering the ball on the South Lyon 49.

"Our defensive coordinator (Mike Sherrill) was the one who called the onside kick," Woodruff said. "He made a great call on that. Leo executed perfectly and made a great play."

The 5-foot-9, 155-pound sophomore also recovered fumble on the ensuing kickoff after the Eagles went up 28-0 on Kutzleb's 86-yard TD run in the third quarter.

"We executed a lot of things really nice," Woodruff said. "We executed an onside kick and we were plus on a lot of the punts. We had three different kickers attempt extra points. Our special teams were pretty good. Our coaching staff - after three years - we're starting to become a little bit more firm as to what we do and what we know."

THREE'S COMPANY

In the first half, Lakeland used three quarterbacks, Joe Rzeppa got the start, followed by senior Mitchell Boles and junior Brady Woodruff.

Rzeppa started out in the wildcat formation. The Eagles attempted only three passes.

"We have a two-quarterback system that we all have a role as to what we're doing," Woodruff said. "When we run the wildcat, obviously, with Joe in there that's something we planned a little bit. As far as the quarterback situation, it's a little bit unique as far as what we're asking them to do out there. And that's just because of the personnel that we have. Our quarterbacks are sitting at the line of scrimmage getting us in and out of plays. They make me look smart and they're doing a great job."

CASE FOR THE DEFENSE

The Eagles got three turnovers on night and held the Lions off the board until the final quarter, when Fracassi hooked up for a pair of scoring passes with Ian Goins.

South Lyon had zero yards rushing in the first half, while Lakeland controlled the ball and the clock.

"On defense, we were on the field a ton tonight," South Lyon coach Jeff Henson said. "I actually thought we played pretty well but, obviously, we gave up some big plays. Our youth showed at times. I thought we competed well on that side of the ball. As much as we were on the field tonight, I thought we competed well on that side of the ball."

TOUGH SLEDDING

The Lions finished the game with only a net 14 yards on 26 carries, while Fracassi finished 11-or-23 passing for 210 yards and two TDs with one interception (with 2:42 to go by Lakeland's Sean Cullen).

"We got to fix our offense ... I don't even know what to say, to be honest, until I see it on film," Henson said. "It's been a struggle for us from beginning. I hate to keep going back to the youth and inexperience, but it is what it is at this point."

South Lyon (0-3) rushed nine times for a net zero yards in the first half, while Lakeland had 214 on the ground.

"Our quarterback did some good things, he made some good throws tonight, made some good plays," Henson said. "But hey, we can't seem to put it all together right now. We'll get there. I'm optimistic that we can keep building on what they're doing. We're competing and we'll eventually get to that point."

Salem was ahead 7-0 at halftime, 7-0, thanks to Rocks running back Andrew Davis's rushing score. Not only was the seven-point deficit the first time Brighton was trailing this season at the break, but it was the first time through three weeks of the 2017 season that the Bulldogs had been behind in regulation.

The focus then became how the Bulldogs would deal with the adversity, as the offense had been stifled and the defense punctured.

But Brighton didn't have an answer until late in the fourth quarter, when Salem was up, 10-0.

The offense had a tough night, no doubt about it. A team with a usually phenomenal ground attack was held to just 73 rushing yards and the leading runner, QB Will Jontz, was kept to minus-2 yards on 13 carries.

#HTLSPTS WEEK 3 FOOTBALL SCOREBOARD AND WRAPS

Coaches/statisticians are encouraged to send game information to LIV-sports@hometownlife.com by 7 p.m. Saturday to be included in the following Thursday print editions.

Friday, Sept. 8Birmingham Groves 24, Berkley 0

The visiting Falcons remained unbeaten Friday. Groves improved to 3-0 overall, 2-0 in the OAA White. The Bears fell to 1-2, 0-2.

Groves quarterback Colton Tinsley was an efficient 7-of-9 passing for 137 yards and a touchdown. Zak Abdulawasi was Tinsley's favorite target, catching three passes for 81 yards. Chaise Ford led the Falcons' rushing attack, carrying 16 times for 128 yards and two TDs. Defensively, Maurice Kelley had seven tackles for Groves, including one sack, while Khalil Dawsey picked off two Berkley passes.

Clarkston 34, Bloomfield Hills 20

The Black Hawks dropped Friday's game despite another sensational performance from Ty Slazinski. For the second consecutive week, the star wide receiver caught 14 passes, turning them into 120 yards, including touchdown receptions of 4 and 9 yards. Bloomfield Hills quarterback John Padock completed 20-of-34 passes for 197 yards and added 53 yards rushing. Defensively, the Black Hawks were led by their linebacker corps. Jordan Bailey had nine tackles - including five solo - Paul Mucci had two solo tackles, seven assists and blocked an extra-point attempt and Eli McCourt added a pair of solo stops among nine total tackles.

Canton 54, Hartland 6South Lyon East 42, Dexter 13

After trailing 13-7 at the half, the visiting Cougars (1-2) shocked Dexter with 35 second-half points Friday.

Jake Waranaukas led the Cougars' comeback by rushing 24 times for a school-record 256 yards and three touchdowns, while adding an interception on defense. Quarterback Chris Kaminski threw for 79 yards, completing 7-of-14 attempts, including a touchdown pass to Sean Clary. Donovan Wright chipped in 11 carries for 25 yards and a touchdown and Jace Barackman capped the scoring with a 1-yard TD plunge. Nick Helfrick added an interception, as South Lyon held Dexter to just 87 yards rushing and 87 yards passing.

first half Friday. Garden City finally got on the board with six points in the fourth quarter.

Grand Blanc 41, Plymouth 23

Plymouth led 16-13 in the third quarter Friday, but host Grand Blanc scored three touchdowns in a span of 6:19.

The game featured two outstanding rushing performances. Carson Miller was the workhorse for the Wildcats, carrying 39 times for 190 yards and two touchdowns. His performance helped Plymouth dominate the time of possession, as the Wildcats held the ball for 30:25 to Grand Blanc's 17:27. Unfortunately for Plymouth, the time of possession also reflected the Bobcats' quick-strike offense, as they scored three TDs of 80 yards or better, including runs of 87 and 83 yards by Kentrell Ware Jr. Ware finished with 226 yards on just 16 carries.

The Wildcats opened the scoring on Miller's 16-yard, first-quarter TD run. Miller added a 2-yard score late in the half to tie the game at 13-13. A 26-yard field goal by Mike Mathias early in the third quarter gave Plymouth its last lead, but Ware scored the next three TDs - two rushing and one receiving - to secure the victory. Mathias ended the scoring for Plymouth with a 70-yard TD run in the game's final minute. Plymouth quarterback Zach Beadle completed 8-of-22 passes for 134 yards. His leading target, Kyle Aniol, caught three passes for 48 yards. Ashton LeBeau spearheaded the Wildcats' defense with 10 tackles, including two solo stops.

Novi 20, Howell 0

Sean Gillam ran for one score and passed for another to lead the visiting Wildcats (1-2) Friday. Howell dropped to 0-3.

scoring run late in the second quarter to send Novi into the break with a 7-0 lead. Gillam's 70-yard TD pass to Traveon Maddox late in the third quarter gave the Wildcats some breathing room, with a 14-0 lead entering the final quarter. Drew O'Connor closed the scoring, capping a nine-play, 94-yard drive with a 2-yard touchdown run with 4:12 remaining.

Novi gained 383 yards while holding the Highlanders to just 200. Kyle Klosterman ran 12 times for 109 yards for Novi, while Noah Grier gained 95 yards on 10 carries. Gillam was 6-of-16 passing, but he made his completions count, gaining 203 yards through the air. Maddox caught three of those passes for 127 yards. Chad Howell led Novi's defense with six solo tackles, including one sack.

Redford Thurston 44, Livonia Clarenceville 13

The Eagles started fast Friday, returning the opening kickoff for a touchdown, and never lifted their foot off the throttle. Clarenceville managed one big play of its own in the opening half, as Terrence Ealy threw a 66-yard touchdown pass to Kyle Nolan. The pair connected again on a 4-yard, fourth-down TD pass in the second half.

On the day, Ealy completed 9-of-25 passes for 121 yards. Nolan grabbed six receptions for 102 yards. Dion Turner led the Trojans' rushing attack with 52 yards on eight carries. Clarenceville will face Redford Union this Friday.

Livonia Franklin 19, Northville 16

After the host Patriots fell behind 13-0 entering the fourth, they staged a big comeback that was capped off with a 37-yard game-winning field goal by senior Brad Gibson with 10 seconds left. Earlier in the fourth, Franklin sophomore quarterback Jacob Kelbert (10-of-14 passing, 139 yards) connected on a pair of touchdown passes, a 25-yarder to Matt Elrod to get the Patriots (2-1) on the board and a 7-yard toss to Julius Simmons with two minutes left to tie the game. The winning field goal followed a big play by Isaac Moore (112 all-purpose yards), who forced and recovered a fumble.

Northville's Jake Moody had field goals of 26, 19 and 31 yards. The Mustangs' lone TD was a 5-yard pass from Jonathan Michalak to Nicholas Prysash. Michalak had six receptions for 69 yards, while running back Abe Khoury tallied 120 yards in 22 rushes for the Mustangs.

Livonia Stevenson 20, Livonia Churchill 9, Walled Lake Northern 38, Milford 16, Oak Park 28, Birmingham Seaholm 0

The Knights rolled up 448 yards total offense, 270 rushing and 178 passing, Friday. Oak Park improved to 2-1 overall, 2-0 in the OAA White. The Maples dropped to 1-2, 1-1. Four different players scored for the Knights. Phillip Stewart and Travis Boston both scored on a 65-yard run. Dejuan Mathis added a 5-yard touchdown carry, while quarterback Corey Graham completed an 18-yard scoring pass to Malik Carr.

North Farmington 26, Pontiac 16Romulus 14, Redford Union, 12

Romulus' Terrell Huguley scored on a 5-yard touchdown carry and then ran in the two-point conversion Friday night. A key penalty on its final drive cost Redford Union a chance to regain the lead.

The visiting Panthers had built a 12-0 lead on two touchdown runs by Thornton Cain, but they failed on two-point tries after both scores. Cain scored on a 52-yard run in the second quarter and a 41-yard run in the third. Romulus responded with a 46-yard TD catch by Peirre Brown to enter the final quarter trailing 12-6.

Cain led Union's attack, rushing 20 times for 175 yards and adding 21 yards on two receptions. Huguley gained 75 yards on 13 carries for the Eagles. The Panthers won the turnover battle, gaining five fumble recoveries and an interception while losing just one fumble, but they were still outgained on the day, 235 yards to 225.

Salem 10, Brighton 7

The Rocks held Brighton, which entered the game averaging 41.5 points on offense, scoreless until 3:30 remained in the game. Andrew Davis scored a second-quarter 65-yard touchdown to put Salem ahead. Salem held Brighton to just 73 rushing yards and the Bulldogs leading rusher, QB Will Jontz, to minus-2 yards on 13 carries.

"They have been on the verge of getting over that hump the last few seasons and they're doing a good job this year and their coaches should be very proud," Brighton coach Brian Lemons said.

Westland John Glenn 28, Wayne Memorial 27White Lake Lakeland 34, South Lyon 14*Saturday, Sept. 9*Detroit Catholic Central 28, Detroit U-D Jesu-it 18

On just the second play of the game, CC's Ryan Birney picked off U-D's Walter Reynolds at the Cubs' 45-yard line and raced down the right side for a score, aided by a block inside the 10-yard line by Carson Kovath.

Leading 21-18 in the fourth quarter, Catholic Central got the ball with 9:00 remaining and wouldn't let go. The Shamrocks ran 17 plays, marching down the field and eventually scoring on Samih Beydoun's 1-yard plunge, putting the game out of reach by leaving only 50 seconds on the game clock. The drive had two plays that went 12 yards each, but otherwise CC earned chunks of yards a little at a time.

CC's kicking game pinned U-D deep on three occasions: two punts by Joe Jasser and a kickoff by Ethan Pattinson put the Cubs at their own 4-, 2- and 6-yard lines.

"I'd say the player of the game was Joe Jasser," CC coach Dan Anderson said. "He had some great punts tonight."

Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook-Kingswood 42, Royal Oak Shrine Catholic 7MARINES

"We got with the local recruiting commands and they hooked us up with some local high schools and then fortunate enough and blessed to be here at Catholic Central," Walsh said.

"It's just insane how hard they worked with us and I really appreciate just all they did with us, how they came out here and taught us new moves," CC senior Jack Chevalier said. "They just didn't stop attacking. No matter what, they just kept coming at us and just continued to help us to work harder, so they could work harder as well."

Following the practice session, the Marines made their recruiting pitch to the CC students.

Chevalier, who will wrestle for the Shamrocks at 152 pounds this year, is contemplating his future plans beyond high school, whether it's going on to college or possibly a career in the armed forces.

"I can tell there's so many opportunities in Marines, just not in the infantry," Chevalier said. "You can do anything in the business world, in medicine world, just anything like that. Any opportunity that you can get through the normal world you can also get in the Marines and they can help me get that job."

The Marines' pitch was about the many different kinds of options they have to offer.

"It's just not like you're going to serve your country overseas, but you can still get your college degree and a good job after the Marines and after college," Chevalier said.

Lt. Col. Michael Murray, a Marine reservist who resides in Northville, was also on hand to participate in Detroit Marine Week. In 2006, Murray was deployed to Iraq in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom, where he served with the 1st Battalion, 14th Marines.

Murray, a Dearborn Divine Child High grad who had sons graduate from Catholic Central, is also legal counsel and administrative director for the Office of Gift and Estate Planning at Hillsdale College.

The Albion College and Detroit College of Law grad is currently working out of the Pentagon and talked about the connections he's made as a reservist.

"Marine Week is an effort the Marine Corps started about seven years ago," Murray said. "We go from different cities. Last year was Nashville, Phoenix, San Diego. We just try and get the Marines out in the community to help the American people know what their Marines are doing. So it's all about community, country and Corps."

The U.S. Marine Corps was born Nov. 10, 1775, in Philadelphia, Pa., and has been America's expeditionary force in readiness since. Marines are forward-deployed to respond swiftly and aggressively in times of crisis from air, land and sea.

There are approximately 182,000 Marines actively serving today, with another 38,900 Marines in the reserves.

"Just a wonderful experience for our guys," CC coach Mitch Hancock said. "These guys put their lives on the line for our guys and our freedom every single day. For our guys to be able to work with them hands-on and being able to experience this is pretty darn special. We just told them every night before you go to bed that these guys are the ones you're praying for. And for them to come back to Catholic Central and give up their time for our young men is pretty special."

Harrison scores seven touchdowns in convincing win

Marty Budner
hometownlife.com

John Herrington celebrated the dedication of the new entrance into Farmington Harrison's Buller Field with a bullish victory Friday over Rochester Hills Stoney Creek.

The Hawks dominated the opening two quarters and soared to a 34-0 half-time lead en route to an eventual 47-8 victory over the Cougars. Harrison mustered four rushing touchdowns and two through the air on the night the school named the archway entrance way into the field as the Herrington Athletic Complex.

Harrison lifted its overall record to 2-1. Stoney Creek fell to 1-2.

Here are five takeaways from the Oakland Activities Association White Division clash:

FOLLOW THE HEARD

Harrison's junior running back Roderick Heard had quite an evening.

Heard scored on touchdown runs of 17 and 11 yards in the first half. He caught an 8-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Noah Hendricks midway through the third quarter, which gave Harrison the 41-0 lead and briefly forced a running clock until the Cougars broke the shut-out a short time later.

Heard accumulated 105 yards rushing on 18 carries in the first half. He finished the game with 103 yards after just one second-half carry for minus-2 yards.

Harrison junior running back Joe Stephens may have scored the evening's most exciting touchdown. Stephens broke at least three tackles and dodged from one sideline to the other en route to a crowd-pleasing 68-yard second-quarter TD run.

The other three Hawks touchdowns were scored by junior Ben Williams (19-yard run), senior Ovie Oghoufo on a second-quarter pass (24 yards) from quarterback Noah Hendricks and junior Javair Beeler (4-yard run).

DEFENSIVE DOMINANCE

Pass-happy Stoney Creek advanced into Harrison territory just twice in the game.

The Cougars had a nice drive that took up most of the first quarter, treading all the way down to the Harrison 1-yard line. On fourth-and-one to open the second quarter, Harrison senior linebacker John O'Connor, who was a mighty defensive presence all evening, stuffed Cougars quarterback Frank Potenza on a dive play to punctuate a great goal-line stand.

Stoney Creek's only other venture into Harrison territory was its third-quarter touchdown, when reserve quarterback Peyton Youngblood hit junior Jordan Tungate on an 18-yard scoring play to complete a 57-yard, 10-play drive.

Other than that, it was all Harrison.

The Hawks had three interceptions — by senior Jerrin Harvey, senior Nik Cotton and Trey Walker. They also had fumble recoveries by Stephens and Beeler. In addition, Oghoufo, Harvey and Caleb Williams had sacks totaling 31 yards in losses.

TEMPER, TEMPER

Midway through the third quarter, Stoney Creek ran a running play into the middle of the line. A few seconds later, players from both teams engaged in some pushing and shoving around mid-field.

It turned out seven Harrison players — five starters — were ejected from the game. All the ejected players are ineligible to play in next week's OAA White Division battle at Birmingham Seaholm.

COACHING LEGENDS CLASH

Stoney Creek head coach Bob Lantzy and Herrington are two of the state's most decorated coaches.

Lantzy coached 41 years at Utica Eisenhower before retiring in 2011. He returned to coaching last year with the Cougars and is now in his second season at the helm.

Herrington, in the midst of his 48th season as Harrison's head coach, is just three wins away from tying former Brother Rice head coach Al Fracassa as the state's winningest high school coach. Herrington owns 427 career wins, while Fracassa, who retired after winning the state championship in 2013, sits at 430 career wins. Lantzy is also among the state's top coaches. The Harper Woods Notre Dame graduate is ninth on the state's all-time victory list with 307.

Ironically, this was the first meeting between the coaching legends in 47 years. The only other time they met each other was in 1970, the year Eisenhower's program began. Incidentally, Harrison won that game, 15-12.

HARRISON LEADS SERIES

Farmington Harrison and Stoney Creek, even though both are Oakland Activities Association members, have met just six times on the gridiron. The Hawks own a 5-1 series lead.

Stoney Creek won the first meeting between the schools in 2008. Harrison has won the last five meetings. In their last game in 2013, Harrison slipped by the Cougars, 27-26.

Stoney Creek's football program has been around for just 16 years, with its first season in 2002. The Cougars have enjoyed seven winning seasons, including three playoff appearances.

By contrast, Herrington has led Harrison to 13 state championships and owns nine undefeated seasons.

PREP VOLLEYBALL

Novi aces early season test vs. Mustangs

Brad Emons
hometownlife.com

Novi's volleyball team may resemble the walking wounded, but the two-time defending MHSAA Class A state champion is far from being down for the count.

The Wildcats have demonstrated remarkable resiliency during the early stages of the 2017 season, as they improved to 13-1 overall and 2-0 in the KLAA Gold Division on Sept. 7 by sweeping a formidable Northville squad in three sets, 25-18, 25-18, 25-21.

Northwestern University commit

Abyranna Cannon, who suffered a Grade 1 ligament tear the Aug. 9, first day of tryouts, saw her first significant playing time of the season, registering a match-best 21 kills to go along with 13 digs for the visiting Wildcats.

"You can tell it's still a little gingery," Novi coach Jen Cottrill said of the 6-foot senior. "I felt like in that third set, you could see she wasn't jumping as well or moving as well. She hasn't been practicing so, obviously, her endurance and her stamina is still a work in progress. She hasn't played since June, so for being out for three months, I thought that was pretty impressive."

Starting front row player Kathryn Ellison, another 6-0 senior, was held out of the lineup with an injury and hasn't played since the first tournament Aug. 19.

Both players missed Friday's tourney at Temperance Bedford as the Wildcats suffered their first defeat of the season to the host Kicking Mules.

"They're all-state, Division 1, six-rotation outside hitters," Cottrill said. "But it's been really good for the rest of our team to really establish themselves and work on their connection with (setter) Erin (O'Leary) and get some experience. It's only going to help us in the long run, but we're eager to be healthy again. Jaeda (Porter) has also been in and out. She injured her ankle the first week, so she's not really been practicing, so we're kind of beat up right now."

Meanwhile, the always steady and dependable O'Leary, a Miss Volleyball candidate headed to play for University of Michigan in January, finished the night with another solid effort with 47 assist-to-kills and five kills.

"I'm so proud of these girls," said O'Leary, who was a member of the USA Volleyball U18 National Team in 2016.

"We've had a lot of setbacks early on in the season, a lot of injuries and things, so we've been changing the lineup a lot. But everyone was out there did a great job, stayed calm, were confident and worked together. It was great."

And with O'Leary running the control board, more often than not, Novi is going to be in good hands.

"I told you this before, but I don't even know how to do Erin justice," Cottrill said. "She just knows who to set, when to set them, keeps everybody calm, knows when to become offensive. She just understands the game of volleyball."

Here are five other takeaways from the match:

MORE CANNON

It appears the senior outside hitter has displayed some increased explosiveness when going on the attack.

"She made a big jump in the off-season," Cottrill said. "She's been working hard. She's jumping a lot better. Beginning of the season last year, she was touching about 9-foot-8 and now she's at 10-2, so she's jumping a lot higher."

O'Leary, meanwhile, could only marvel at her teammate's performance despite limited practice.

"I'm so proud of her," she said. "She did a great job tonight. Her mental toughness is incredible. I know she was in pain tonight playing, but to push through that and do a good job, she's so reliable and I love playing with her."

FAVORABLE STATS

The Wildcats hit at a .400 attack rate, much to the delight of O'Leary.

"That's incredible; I didn't know that," she said. "Definitely our hitters have been working hard early on in the season. I think that they know they're going to have to do a great job keeping it successful and they're really stepping it up and exceeding what they're expected to do."

Porter, a 5-10 junior outside hitter and middle blocker, chipped in 12 kills to help augment Cannon.

"(Porter) exceeded any expectation that she had," O'Leary said. "She did a great job, again, with confidence and just knowing I could get her the ball and she'll get the job done."

Defensively, senior libero Claire Pinkerton also finished with 13 digs.

NORTHVILLE ATTACK

Senior Morgan Rodgers paced the Mustangs with 13 kills, while fellow senior Brianna Maccoux chipped in nine. Sophomore Clare McNamara also showed flashes of promise with seven.

"We do have one man down (Alli Tithof), but we're 16 strong," Northville coach Julie Fisette said. "We've got great hitters and we've got phenomenal defense. We just need to fix a few things, make a few less errors."

The Mustangs led 13-12 in the first set and were tied 15-15 in the third, but couldn't hold off the talented Wildcats. Northville made a total of 16 attack errors and hit for only a .202 percentage.

Setters Rachel Holmes and Gabi Fisette combined for 27 assist-to-kills with 14 and 13, respectively. Hannah Grant and Fisette combined for 17 digs.

"I think it comes down when you're playing a top team you've got to make fewer errors," Julie Fisette said. "We kind of hurt ourselves in some respect getting in those rallies, making those errors and letting them get back in the game."

THE BOTTOM LINE

Northville slipped to 9-4 overall and 2-1 in the KLAA Gold.

"I'm not anywhere upset about tonight," Julie Fisette said. "I told my team, 'Yeah, we definitely have some work to do, but I'd rather lay low. I know what they've got and I know how to handle it and I know what we can do to counterattack.'" period. Dunn, a sophomore outside hitter, built a healthy lead over Bloomfield Hills Marian volleyball player Lauren Wenzel and never was threatened, despite a late push by Canton football player Colin Troup.

In the final tabulation, Dunn tallied 7,590 votes (36.5 percent), while Troup roared into second place with 6,030 votes (29 percent). Wenzel placed third with 5,357 votes (25.75 percent).

"I never thought I would have been nominated, yet have won, but I am very happy to compete with these other athletes," Dunn wrote in an email to Hometownlife.

Against the Rocks, Dunn led Churchill's win with 21 kills and 19 digs.

"I just went out there and played my game and did what I needed to do and good things happened," Dunn said about the performance.

Her older sister Anabelle also is on the Churchill volleyball team and led the cheers on social media during the voting period.

"I think she will be proud of me," Sarah Dunn said.

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
