Man dead after New Year's Day shooting

David Veselenak

USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Redford police say a New Year's Day shooting at a recording studio has left one person dead.
The Redford Township Police Department was dispatched Monday to a multi-unit recording studio located at 19300 Olympia, located south of Grand River and two blocks east of Beech Daly, near the Redford Oaks shopping center. There, police found a 27-year-old man who had suffered a gunshot wound.

The victim was transported to a local hospital, though he died after arriving. Police said in a Facebook post the suspect and the victim knew each other. A message seeking more information was left with police Tuesday morning. Anyone with information regarding the shooting is encouraged to call Redford police at 313-387-2551 or submit a tip to Crime Stoppers of Michigan at 800-SPEAK-UP.

Michigan drinkers: Here's your chair

"I thought it would go viral in Michigan," Garden City's Matt Thompson said. "I didn't realize worldwide it would go crazy."

Elisha Anderson

Detroit Free Press
USA TODAY NETWORK

Ridiculous. Over the top. Practical yet goofy.

That is how Matt Thompson describes his creation: an Adirondack chair in the shape of Michigan's Lower Peninsula, an attached Upper Peninsula-shaped cooler and a chute that delivers drinks between the two.

Just goofy enough and practical enough to go viral.

Thompson posted a video of his woodworking project on Facebook and it has generated nearly 9.9 million views and nearly 200,000 shares in four months. He estimated about 40 million more views came from other places.

"I had a feeling that it was going to go viral," he said. "I thought it would go viral in Michigan. I didn't realize worldwide it would go crazy."

Thompson, 48, of Garden City spent more than 100 hours on the creation dubbed the "Michigan beer/pop chair." He said the inspiration came from a similar Labatt Blue chair, but he came up with his own mechanism for the creation.

Thompson, a woodworker for nearly three decades, used pine to tinker and perfect the chair, then built the final version out of cedar.

"It was a lot of fun to make it," he said. "And I thought people would be entertained by it."

The comments on the Facebook post, many from across the globe written in other languages, show he was right.

"I need a chair like this," John Lapin wrote.

"This one has Michigan written all over it!" Yvonne Wiegand posted.

Feedback, Thompson said, has been about 98 percent positive, but not everybody gets it, some pointing out it would be easier to just use a cooler.

"The whole thing is ridiculous," he said. "It's meant to be funny."

He posted the video Aug. 24 and it quickly circulated around the country. It's still getting watched around the world.

"It seems to explode in one area," Thompson said. "Then a few weeks later, it will explode in a different country."

Wrong-way driver was not drinking in fatal crash on Interstate 275

Darrell Clem

hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

A wrong-way driver involved in a head-on crash that killed two people in Canton hadn't been drinking alcohol at the time, police say, even though open alcohol was found in his vehicle.

"Having an open bottle of alcohol in the car doesn't necessarily mean he was drinking that day," Michigan State Police Lt. Mike Shaw said.

With possible charges pending, authorities are awaiting toxicology results to determine whether the driver may have been under the influence of drugs, Shaw said. The investigation is continuing.

The crash killed Nicholas Pare, 33, of Wayne and Shannon McIntyre, 32, of Woodhaven. They were engaged to marry and left behind three children, ages 7, 13 and 15.

Shaw said the wrong-way driver's blood alcohol level was 0.00 percent when the crash occurred about 10:40 a.m. Dec. 12 on Interstate 275, near Palmer Road, based on some results authorities have received.

Shaw said Dec. 28 it wasn't known when the investigation might be concluded. Possible charges will be up to the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office.

After the crash, the victims' family set up a GoFundMe account to help cover funeral expenses and for the three children.

Police have declined to identify the suspect, who was injured in the crash, but media outlets reported that Wolverine Lake Village Councilman Michael Stack was involved.

Council President John Magee addressed the incident at a council meeting, saying local officials had received "credible information that Wolverine Lake resident and council member Mike Stack was involved in an accident on I-275 in Canton Township on Tuesday, Dec. 12 and was treated for injuries."

Authorities have only said that the driver was a 59-year-old man from Wolverine Lake who was taken to a local hospital.

January is busiest month for divorce filings

Henry Gornbein
TALES FROM THE FRONT LINES

Q: I have read that January is the busiest month for new divorces being filed. Is this true?
A: You are raising a good issue. Studies have shown that January is the busiest month for new divorces being filed. Following are some of my thoughts on this issue.

» Think of that Currier and Ives scene, with one big happy family congregating together to celebrate the Christmas and/or Chanukah holiday season. Reality is often far from the ideal. Coming together for the holidays is often fraught with tension and conflict.

» Therapists are very busy during the holidays because people are so unhappy in their marriages. Therapy can result in someone becoming more resolved to move forward and file for a divorce after the holidays.

» I have had marriages break up over one drink too many at an office Christmas party. Often alcoholism will rear its ugly head during the holidays, when people tend to let loose.

» An indiscretion can happen at the office party, where someone is acting inappropriately with someone who is not his or her spouse.

» People are often very disappointed with the holidays because of unrealistic expectations of family and holiday traditions.

» Issues that have been festering for months or years can be exacerbated over the holidays.

» I see many people toward the end of the year who are considering a divorce, but want to wait until after the holidays so as not to spoil the holidays for their children or other family members.

» People will make resolutions during the holidays to make sure that this is the last one to spend with a spouse.

» A common new year's resolution will be to get rid of a spouse and not spend another year in an unhappy marriage. I have had a wife resolve to lose 200 pounds of ugly fat - her husband!

» You may hate your in-laws or other relatives and decide that enough is enough. Dealing with them during the holidays can be daunting.

» Sometimes the holidays will escalate an abusive situation. Alcohol, drugs and abuse often go hand in hand. There is often a lot of domestic abuse during the holidays.

» The year end is a time for reckoning and taking account of your personal life, as well as your career. People often decide to change jobs as well as spouses.

» There may be a bonus that does not come through or is too small, with the result that this can bring more tension to your marriage.

» People often act more rashly during the holidays. The result can be a divorce being filed in January.

» Holidays are during the dark, cold, winter months, when people are often more depressed than during the spring and summer. This can lead to action and a divorce as well.

» Disappointment in life, unreasonable expectations, a failure to communicate. These are all issues that people will look at and take stock of as the end of the old year and bring in the new year.

» This could mean that change is necessary, including a divorce.

» To recap: Drinking, alcohol, drugs, infidelity, money issues, lack of communication and growing apart are just some of the many examples that lead to divorces being filed at a higher rate in January than any other month.

» Last but not least, we have the rise of Facebook and other social media, which means that everything is being shared. We are losing our privacy, which contributes to more divorces being filed after the new year as well.

These are some of my thoughts. Please share yours.

Hundreds of people have expressed interest in buying a duplicate of the handcrafted piece, but he said it's not practical to sell them, pointing out he spent about $400 to $500 for the cedar wood alone.

Thompson, who works fire protection maintenance at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor and runs Thompson Woodworks in his spare time, has just made one so far.

But he plans to make two more this winter to be used as fundraisers, one for Life Remodeled, a Detroit-based nonprofit that invests in neighborhoods, and a second for World Vision, to help raise money for clean water in communities in Africa.

Meanwhile, he's working on a new creation: a wine chair with pulleys and springs. He hasn't publicly revealed many of the details yet but offers some clues. There are moving parts, he hopes to have it done by spring and the theme is designing something complex to do something simple.

"The most important thing is something you wouldn't expect," he said. "And I can't give that away because if you see it coming it won't be that exciting."

Three events worthy of checking out this weekend

David Veselenak
hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

The lights are put away, the tree is out on the curb and the tinsel is ... in a box somewhere. Christmas is over, but there's plenty of fun to be had in the month of January.

Take a look at these three events taking place in the hometownlife.com area this weekend if you're looking to get out of the house.

Bridal show in Novi

If that special someone popped the question over the holidays, it's definitely time to start planning that dream wedding. Luckily, there's a bridal show taking place the first weekend of the year in Novi.

The Novi Bridal Expo takes place from noon to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday at the Suburban Collection Showplace, 46100 Grand River. There, brides-to-be can check out the latest wedding trends when it comes to things like the dress, food, music and much more.

Come try food samples and talk to vendors. Tickets for the event are $10 and can be purchased at the door, though those who preregister are eligible to win prizes in a special drawing to take place over the weekend.

For more information on the show, go to novibridalexpo.com.

Hundred Days to Health in Livonia

Did you eat too many Christmas cookies this holiday season? (We sure did). Then pop in at the Jack E. Kirksey Recreation Center in Livonia this weekend to move forward on those fitness goals for 2018.

The center's annual 100 Days to Health event kicks off at 9 a.m. Sunday at the rec center, 15100 Hubbard, and will feature keynote speakers, refreshments and activities at the center. The several-months event will feature a wide-range of classes on topics such as fitness, healthy eating and more.

A weight loss challenge over the 100 days will take place, with prizes being awarded. A total of 578 pounds were lost by participants last year, with the top finisher losing 67 pounds. More information on the program can be found at livoniaparks.org

Learn about chocolate in Bloomfield Hills

To completely negate the previous event listing, let's take a trip to Bloomfield Hills to learn more about everybody's favorite delicacy: chocolate.

This weekend is the final weekend for a special exhibit on chocolate at the Cranbrook Institute of Science, 39221 Woodward. Learn about the ways chocolate began, as a spicy drink in the rain forests consumed by the Mayans, all the way to how it's become a $13 billion commodity across the globe.

The exhibit runs through Sunday at the center and is a separate admission charge from the rest of the museum. For more information, go to science.cranbrook.edu.

Sweepstakes discovery reveals dad's dementia

Dan Dean
DEALING WITH DAD

The man on the other end of the line told dad that he was a government official and wanted to release dad's sweepstakes winnings. He just needed dad to send him $2,000 to pay a fee.

I listened over dad's shoulder for a couple of minutes. The man was agitated that dad did not show up at the drug store as instructed with the money. Time was running out and, if dad wanted his winnings, he needed to act fast.

I could not stand it any longer. I took the phone from my dad and asked the scammer how he slept at night, preying on the elderly. How he lived with himself preying on hardworking individuals who have saved their entire lives building a nest egg, only to have scum like him try to steal it.

My chance to talk directly to a scammer came as my mom had called me, concerned that dad was going to go meet a man in person at the local drug store to give him money. I saw this as my chance. It was fall 2015 and we were about to learn that dad's short-term memory loss was far more than a result of normal aging. I drove quickly to the parking lot where the scammer was to meet dad. Armed with my camera I was ready — but, of course, he never arrived.

Talking to a scammer

I went back to my parent's house, where I had instructed dad to stay. As I arrived, the phone rang.

As I unleashed my furry over the phone, he played it cool. And for a short time, had me going as well — he was good, there is no doubting that — but I finally came back to my senses. And this time, Mr. Cool scammer lost his cool. With threats of "I know where you live and I will come over and kick your ass" I smiled, because I knew he realized he had failed, again.

Looking back, it was dad's interest in sweepstakes mailings that became the first clue he was dealing with something beyond normal aging memory loss.

Dad loved to invest. I think it was an extension of his engineer-trained mind. He probably could not stand the thought of interest working against him, so he always had it working for him. When he retired, investing became his main hobby. He was shrewd when dealing with finances and very protective of every dime.

It made our discovery of the sweepstakes mailings that much more eye opening — and sad.

It was not long after the phone incident that I remember going downstairs at my parents' home and finding a stack of sweepstakes mailings on dad's desk. Envelopes screaming "Rush, Rush, Rush" with wording like "immediate action required," "do not destroy," "certified & recorded" — all meant to separate dad from his money — were piled high.

If that was not maddening enough, dad had written notes asking for clarification on delivery of "his" money addressed to the sweepstakes companies. I also found a dozen or so $20 checks my dad had written, ready to mail.

When I confronted dad about the checks, he responded that they were not sweepstakes, but his investments. That was the "Oh, boy" moment.

Technically, I guess most of these sweepstakes mailings are legal. But they certainly should not be. It was no coincidence that, as dad responded by mail, scammers then started to pounce by phone.

Dad had a couple of angels looking out for him before we fully realized just how bad it had gotten. The scammers were constantly calling him, trying to get him to send them money.

There was the drug

Sweepstakes mailings from late 2015 that help reveal that Dan Dean's dad was dealing with more than normal aging memory loss. DAN DEAN store clerk who stopped dad from mailing a Green Dot card, as well as a post office clerk and her manager who stopped dad from sending a large check through the mail. When a scammer told my dad he was going to deliver his new Mercedes to the house, the local police also stepped in.

These ruthless individuals harassed my parents constantly and dad was a willing, unknowing participant, as every time he answered the phone, he thought he was dealing with legitimate companies.

Never stops

We switched my parents' phone number, paid to have it unlisted and the calls would stop, but only temporarily. We then started forwarding all his mail to a P.O. box so we could monitor it. But if one or two slipped through, the phone calls would start again.

Sadly, despite our efforts, the scammers finally hit pay dirt this past October. Once again,

Technically, I guess most of these sweepstakes mailings are legal. But they certainly should not be.

It appeared an angel looking out for dad had stopped an attempt to withdraw money from his bank account. They called his bank armed with dad's account number and Social Security number, but the alert teller suspected something was not right.

Investigators from state of Michigan and local police were notified and it appeared the attempts were thwarted, but in the end we discovered a large sum had been removed from his account.

Today, amazingly, when asked, dad recognizes that it was all a scam. But we move on to other areas of concern as the care for loved ones with dementia is constantly changing.

I appreciate all those who have shared their stories in dealing with dementia.

One thing is certain: my outlook on his disease has evolved from a lot of frustration to one of compassion. Thank you to all who have reached out since my first column to help me better understand.

My oldest sister, who recently retired, has taken dad to doctor and dentist appointments and given mom breaks three to four days a week by taking dad home with her. My other sister pays their bills and, for the most part, we are managing care for our parents far better than even a couple of months ago.

Next up: Local filmmaker Keith Famie is on the front lines of dementia and Alzheimer's.

Dan Dean is managing editor of hometownlife.com and writes occasionally about dealing with dad and dementia.

Human trafficking, opioid case ends in prison

hometownlife.com

Cooper McGinnis Niblett Rushton

Four defendants, including a 27-year-old Canton woman, have landed in prison after authorities busted a human trafficking and opioid drug ring that spanned two counties in southeast Michigan. Authorities have said the investigation revealed how organizers of human trafficking schemes can prey on victims of opioid drug addiction to make money. The scheme unraveled after the FBI and Oakland County Gang and Violent Crimes Task Force acted on a tip of a drug and prostitution operation in Madison Heights.

Jasmin Christine McGinnis of Canton is facing one to 20 years in prison after she pleaded guilty to one count of human trafficking involving allegations she provided forced labor for commercial sex and one count of possession of 50 grams of cocaine with intent to deliver, Oakland County online court records show.

Other counts against McGinnis, including prostitution/accepting earnings, were dismissed during her sentencing Dec. 19 by Oakland County Circuit Judge Wendy Potts.

Three other defendants were sentenced the same day.

Melvin Dwight Niblett, a 38-year-old Southfield man who authorities portrayed as the ringleader, was sentenced to 6½-20 years in prison after he pleaded guilty to three counts of human trafficking involving threats of physical harm and one count of conspiracy to deliver a controlled substance, court records show. Several other charges were dismissed.

Corey Michael Cooper, 45, whose place of residence wasn't known, has been sentenced to 5½-20 years in prison after he pleaded guilty to conspiracy to deliver a controlled substance.

Niblett and Cooper could have faced life in prison if they had been convicted of a wide range of other, now-dismissed charges including conducting a criminal enterprise. Maurice Rushton, 57, whose residence wasn't known, has been sentenced to 19 months to 10 years behind bars for his plea to one count of human trafficking involving injury or sexual assault, according to court records.

Charges against the four defendants were announced in mid-August by Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette's office, culminating an investigation that lasted a year. Schuette issued a statement condemning human traffickers for holding victims "hostage in their dark world."

After the investigation began, authorities said they received information that Niblett was using rooms at an unnamed Southfield hotel to conduct a drug and human trafficking operation. Officials say it involved dozens of people and led to a flurry of felony charges against Niblett and the other three defendants.

FBI Special Agent David P. Gelios has said drug and human trafficking continue to plague area communities. He has urged anyone who has information about such crimes to contact authorities.

Downtown Plymouth's Box Bar now closed, complete makeover begins

hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

New owners are moving ahead with a sweeping makeover of the now-closed Box Bar in downtown Plymouth. BILL BRESLER | HOMETOWNLIFE.COM

The new owners of the now-closed Box Bar in downtown Plymouth are hopeful that a new Italian restaurant, Bigalora Wood-Fired Cucina, can open in its place by early May.

Plans to open an Arbor Brewing Co. on the same site are, for now, less certain because the company hasn't yet received a liquor license for the brewing operation.

Building co-owner Ron Cook said the building sale was completed Dec. 22, one day after the Box Bar officially closed after a 75-year run. Owners scrapped plans to keep the bar open through the Plymouth Ice Festival, Jan. 12-14.

"We wanted to get started on the renovations," Cook said, adding that residents are curious about the upcoming plans. "I can't walk down the street without people stopping me and asking me what's going on."

Co-owner Paul Salloum said it was easier to move forward with renovation plans than for the new owners to try to step in and temporarily keep the Box Bar open.

"We would like to have kept it open for two more weeks, but there were a lot of moving parts," Salloum said. "We're decided to move forward with all the improvements instead of staying open two more weeks."

"It's definitely exciting," he added. "I think it's going to be a big deal for the city."

Although Bigalora is expected to take over the Box Bar's liquor license, a separate license currently is needed for the brewing operation — and the city's limit of 25 liquor licenses, including 14 in downtown, has been met for places that sell alcohol by the glass.

The new owners are hopeful the situation can be remedied as the Plymouth Liquor License Review Committee reviews the rules to determine if they need amending and, if so, how.

Colleen Pobur, who chairs the LLRC, said the longstanding discussion is not specific to the Arbor Brewing Co. situation, but centers on what is best for the entire downtown area.

Pobur said officials found flaws and inconsistencies within the ordinance that may need changing.

"We're trying to clean up the ordinance," she said.

Whether that means easing the liquor license licenses are defined isn't yet known. The discussion is expected to resume in January.

Salloum said he is hopeful the issue can be resolved so that Arbor Brewing Co. can come to town. He has said Bigalora and Arbor Brewing would have separate entrances, but share what has long been one building for the Box Bar.

Salloum has contended that since the two businesses share a building, they should only need one liquor license.

Bigalora already has six locations in southeast Michigan. Arbor Brewing has a microbrewery in Ypsilanti and a brewpub in Ann Arbor.

State sending $554M in school refund checks this month

Paul Egan and Kathleen Gray
Detroit Free Press
USA TODAY NETWORK

The state of Michigan is planning to send $554 million in refund checks for school employees Jan. 22, an official said.

The money, which pays back 3-percent deductions that were taken from the checks of school employees between 2010 and 2013, will be sent to school districts on that date, said Kurt Weiss, a spokesman for the Department of Technology, Management and Budget.

Those school districts will then make payments to individual school employees and former school employees eligible for the refunds, Weiss said.

In a long-awaited move, the Michigan Supreme Court ordered the money to be returned last month, ending years of court battles in which judges at all levels of Michigan systems sided with unions representing the school employees.

The money was intended to help pay for retiree health care, but the courts ruled the 2010 law that provided for the mandatory deductions was unconstitutional.

The Legislature passed a replacement law in 2012, which gives school employees an opt-out provision.

The state also posted on its website a series of answers to commonly asked questions about the deductions and refunds.

Local skaters Cora DeWyre and Jacob Nussle have made their way to San Jose.

DeWyre, a 15-year-old freshman at South Lyon East High School, and her partner, the 22-year-old Nussle of Fenton, were scheduled to compete on Monday starting with their short program in Junior Pairs at the 2018 Prudential U.S.

They are among 13 Junior Pairs teams competing for the title, which culminated with the free skate program on Wednesday.

DeWyre and Nussle are coming off a fifth-place showing at the Midwestern Sectional Championships, Nov. 15-18, at the Bloomington (Minn.) Ice Garden.

The team, which has only been together for 30 months, placed eighth a year ago in the Novice Pairs at the U.S. Nationals in Kansas City, Mo.

"It's definitely been a grueling year," Nussle said. "We're still learning new tricks, still putting new stuff out there. It's been put into practice every day. We're still definitely in the daily grind. We've turning up the intensity in our practices as we get closer to competi-

Farmington Harrison's basketball team may have started the season 0-3, but if first-year coach Jarrell Hogan has anything to say about it, the Hawks will soon be in high gear – literally.

Hogan

Hogan, an assistant to Stefon Wilson last season, says that no matter the team's personnel, any squad he coaches will always "be defensive-minded first. So we're going to pressure the team from the jump. We have a very athletic team here at Harrison this year, so we're going to use that to our (advantage) and we're just going to keep the pressure on every team. Our offense is going to be up-tempo, continuous motion. Our goal is to just wear everyone down and just be more conditioned."

Despite having a new head coach this season, Hogan stresses that it's not a transition year.

Having coached and played with Wilson in the past, Hogan says the two coaches' styles are complementary. As a result, Hogan building on top of Wilson's foundation, rather than tearing it down.

"I just put a little cherry on the top of (Wilson's framework) and took it up another notch," Hogan explains.

Hogan first came to Harrison last season. Previously, he played high school basketball at Cass Tech and Murray Wright in Detroit, before moving on to Division II St. Paul's College in Lawrenceville, Va., where he lettered in football as well as basketball.

Hogan went on to play basketball at Algoma University in Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario – that's where he teamed with Wilson – and made his coaching debut at a Sault Ste. Marie middle school.

Hogan returned to Michigan, where he coached some local AAU teams, as well as coaching elite fourth- through 12th-grade talent at Joe Dumars Fieldhouse in recent years, before joining Harrison last season.

Hogan lists River Rouge head coach Mark White, a two-time state champion, as a key coaching influence and mentor. And, despite being a similar age, Hogan also mentions Wilson as someone he looks up to.

"He's a young coach well beyond his years. ... A lot of

Transfers helping with team's turnaround

After finishing 12-18 last season, Madonna University's men's basketball coaches didn't have to look far to find a fresh pool of talent.

Three Plymouth/Canton-area standouts transferred to the Livonia-based school this season and have played key roles in the team's turnaround, helping the Crusaders begin the season 9-5. Additionally, a pair of Livonia Stevenson recruits hope to help Madonna maintain that improvement in future seasons.

The five newcomers join Salem grad Chris Dierker, a third-year starting senior forward who recently became Madonna's all-time leading rebounder, with 786 boards (all statistics are current through 14 games of this season).

Dierker, a three-time All-KLAA standout and an All-State selection as a Salem senior, has started all 14 games this year, averaging 11.9 points and a team-leading 6.5 re-

Northville's 12 triples sink South Lyon in tourney final

Mark Grimes leads way with 19 points in 60-55 triumph against Lions

Brad Emmons

HometownLife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

After getting limited playing time and minutes during his junior year, Northville's Mark Grimes is already making the most of his senior season just eight games in.

The 6-foot-4 senior guard scored a game-high 19 points as the 6-2 Mustangs connected on 12 three-pointers Thursday night en route to its fourth straight Northville Holiday Boys Basketball Tournament title with a 60-55 win over South Lyon.

"I think that was our best game of the year from the three-point line, for sure," said Grimes, who connected on four triples himself. "We were just looking to come off the down screens, swing the ball against the zone

... that was the main thing. I think the big thing is when they went to zone (defense), swinging it from arc to arc was the big thing, and wing to wing."

Grimes was coming off a 17-point effort in a lopsided 82-31 semifinal win the previous night over Lincoln Park. He also scored a career-high 25 in a 61-45 KLAA Gold Division win Dec. 21 over Hartland.

"The off season I shot a lot, tried to work on my handles a little bit, work defensively getting low, get a little bit stronger," said Grimes, who made 6-of-9 shots from the floor and was 3-of-6 from the foul line.

Northville coach Todd Sander has noticed a big leap in Grimes' game early on in the season.

"He's always been a really good shooter, but over the last couple of weeks he's put a lot of time in with coach (Shaun) Dicken at attacking the rim and looking to score off of the dribble, so he's not just labeled a three-point shooter," Sander said.

Grimes had plenty of support as senior point-guard Niko Barach added 17 points, including five rainbow-like three-pointers.

Grimes

Junior forward Steven Morrissey also scored in double figures with 11.

"Niko was big tonight," Sander said. "He has some experience going back to last year. We were a little bit short-handed, but Niko took control and hit a couple of big shots today, too. Niko shoots it up to the rafters, but it was working tonight. It was good to see. He had a good couple of days and we really needed it, and he stepped up big time."

Grimes connected on a three-pointer with 4:30 left in the final quarter to give Northville its biggest lead of the game, 52-35, but South Lyon refused to fold.

Helped by a late technical foul, the Lions (5-2) implemented a full-court press and went on an 18-5 run pulling to within four, 57-53, with only 28.2 seconds left on a basket by senior guard Ben Call, who scored a team-high 18 points.

"It changed the game a little bit," Sander said of the technical assessed to Ryan Pumper, who after diving for a loose ball, shoved South Lyon's Noah Grimes to the floor. "It was unfortunate that it happened to Ryan that way. We didn't put him in a good spot with the decision that we made to throw the pass that we did."

South Lyon then came up with a steal, but couldn't capitalize as Call was whistled for a charge. Northville, however, missed two free throws with 15.3 seconds left.

Call drew a foul less than two seconds later and made a pair of foul shots closing the deficit to 58-55, but Northville's Daniel McLaughlin sank two free throws with only 12.3 seconds remaining to seal the victory.

"We're typically a very strong half-court man (defense) team, but the press certainly rattled them and we kind of put in a late game offense, too, where we tried to get Noah (Grimes) and Ben (Call) going downhill, get flatter and get some shooters in the corner even though we didn't make a lot of shots," South Lyon first-year coach Troy Weidman said.

Northville biggest blemish was committing a total of 20 turnovers. The Mustangs also struggled from the foul line late and went 10-of-18 (56 percent).

"Coleson White is really good at the top of that press," Weidman said. "He got three fouls in the first half. I wish he had a few more fouls so he could have been out there doing his thing. But he gave us some really good minutes from that standpoint."

Northville shot 51.3 percent from the field (19-of-37), including 12-of-18 from beyond the arc. The Mustangs went 8-of-12 from three-point range during the first half to lead 34-24 at half-time.

"I told my guys if they duplicate that the second half, great for them," Weidman said. "My encouragement to them was to just stay in the fight, just continue to do what we do and show character regardless of what's going on. There were things that we could have done a little better, but we stayed together, played hard and were able to claw our way back in it in a game that we didn't necessarily shoot the ball the best and do some other things the best. So I was just proud of them for that."

In addition to Call's 18, Noah Grimes added 13 points, while Will Kelley contributed nine. The Lions shot only 18-of-48 from the floor (37.5 percent), including just two 3-pointers, but made 19-of-24 free throws (79.1 percent).

bounds per contest. He also helped open the area pipeline to Madonna by encouraging former Salem teammate Jon Swift join the squad.

After two seasons at Delta Community College, Swift was considering Madonna, along with some NCAA Division II schools. He was pleased to receive some texts from Dierker, suggesting that he check out Madonna. "Just knowing that he was interested in me coming and playing alongside of him his last year, that really helped my decision," Swift adds.

Swift was also impressed by his preseason visit to the school. He says that head coach Noel Emenhiser and the rest of the Crusaders' staff "really made me feel at home and they really showed me that they cared more about my development as a person versus me just being a basketball player. And I really liked that a lot. It made me more comfortable with my decision because I felt like they were going to help me grow more as a person."

After committing to Madonna, Swift rapidly pivoted into a recruiting role, helping to convince Canton grad Davon Taylor and Plymouth High alum Josh Reynolds to join the Crusaders.

"When I saw that Jon Swift committed, I talked to him and he told me that I should come here too," Taylor recalls. "And then we also talked with Josh Reynolds and he said that he was going to come here too."

Swift is the only Crusader other than Dierker to start all 14 games. The junior guard is the team's ironman, averaging 28 minutes per contest. He's scored 10.9 points per game while shooting 48.8 percent from the floor.

Taylor, a junior forward, transferred after playing two years at Schoolcraft College. He's started three times this season, averaging 10.7 points and 6.2 rebounds per game. Reynolds is a sophomore guard who transferred from Wayne State. He's made eight starts and leads the team in scoring at 13.3 points per contest. Reynolds is the team's key outside gunner, shooting 48.5 percent overall, and 47.2 percent from three-point range.

The presence of the local group has helped Madonna play "a lot better this year," Dierker says. "We have a lot better team chemistry."

"We were already familiar with each other," Swift adds. "Me, Davon, Josh we were already close before we all committed, so it really helps out a lot."

The team also boasts a pair of Livonia Stevenson graduates. Freshman guard Ian Knoph has seen limited action in seven games so far, averaging a point per contest, while another freshman guard, Noah Campbell, hasn't played and will likely redshirt.

Madonna, which plays in the NAIA, was a disappointing 7-15 in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference last season, but the Crusaders are already 4-3 in conference play this year. That's thanks in part to Reynolds, who hit the biggest shot of Madonna's season so far, draining what proved to be the winning three-pointer in a 78-76 victory at conference rival University of Northwest Ohio.

As the team prepared to end a 10-game holiday break and return to action last week, Taylor predicted that the second half of the season will be even better than the first.

"We have huge potential," Taylor says, "I see it coming."

"I think we're growing more as a team, every day, every game that we play," Swift adds. "We're just still learning more about each other, just learning who works well with each other. ... We will gel more as a team. I'm very confident that we will have a great season."

our style reflects what he instilled in this program since he took over."

"We wanted to keep the things that we have from Coach Wilson," Hogan continues, "but we also started - from summer time voluntary shoot-around, the guys just working out playing against each other - we wanted to get back to the basics. So we just tried to wipe everything that we could out of the kids' memories and all the bad habits they picked up over the years, and get back to the basics. So we've gotten back to the basics and now it's time to move forward and learn new things and more complex things that'll make us a team to be reckoned with in this league."

Despite posting a disappointing record in 2016-17, Hogan believes that "last year was a good year. I know our record didn't reflect it, but this program took leaps and bounds. And because of that, the kids knew what to expect this year. And I'm so proud of them. I told them the other day, over Christmas, I was so proud of those guys."

So what does Hogan see from the Harrison program moving forward?

"I'm real excited to see how everything plays itself out this year," he says. "Because I really just think this team is very smart, very fundamentally sound, and they're very athletic. So we're going to keep our pedal to the metal. We have a great group of guys, and good senior leadership - we have a couple of four-year guys, Sean Nelson and Trey Walker, along with Chris Rexroth, who's an Ivy League prospect for football. So we have a lot of different guys at all different positions that are just solid players and good guys, and the younger guys are taken under their wings. And it's looking great."

GIRLS BASKETBALL

Northville girls cagers stymie short-handed Skyline

Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

Sometimes being just O.K. is good enough.

And that was the case Thursday night as Northville repeated at home as the Holiday tournament girls basketball champion with a 35-29 win over a depleted Ann Arbor Skyline squad, which suited up only five players.

"We're 6-2 and we know we can compete with just everybody on our schedule if we're playing at our maximum capacity," Northville coach Todd Gudith said. "And that's what it's going to take to finish out the season."

The Mustangs won despite 20 turnovers and 15-of-43 shooting from the floor (34.8 percent).

"Taking care of the basketball, taking high quality shots and trying to get to the rim more instead of settling for outside shots all the time," Gudith said of his team's laundry list of things to improve upon.

Nine different players for Northville scored led by senior point-guard Kendall Dillon, who in her fourth season on the varsity, finished with a team-high eight points. Sophomore center Morgan Thompson added six.

"All those seniors are three- and four-year varsity players," Gudith said. "Games like tonight - when it's kind of a drag on everybody - you kind of need those kids to step up and use their leadership to take over."

Dillon is one of three senior starters returning off last year's 17-4 KLAA Central Division championship team along with Roan Haines and Jasmin Prince.

"The transition has been really good," Dillon said. "We were a little bit shaky at first, but once we started playing more together in practice and in games, I think we all started to mesh pretty well. We've got some young players, but the older players are bringing it along pretty good, so it's going well."

Northville never trailed in the game leading 6-5 after one quarter, 19-15 at halftime and 27-17 after three quarters.

"I think just think we tried to tire them out as much as we could since they had no bench, I guess," Dillon said. "We just tried to really take it to them in the first half. But they did really well for having only five players out there, so I give them credit."

Turnovers have been the biggest issue so far for the Mustangs.

"I think we just need to take care of the ball better, focus on passing and dribbling better,"

Dillon said. "I think our shots were a little off. We had trouble attacking the zone (defense) from the outside. I just think we need to break them apart a little bit more so they come out and man defense. Hopefully we get the shots straightened out in the future. We saw a 1-3-1 last week against Hartland and that was pretty tough up against them. Yes, zones are an issue."

Skyline (1-9) dressed only six players in a 38-36 opening round victory Dec. 27 over South Lyon East, but lost another player to injury for the final.

Coach Johnnie Horne has a 10-player roster, but that number was cut in half during the two-day Northville Holiday Tournament.

"Two are hurt," he said. "We have a softball player . . . that's her number one sport, so she let us know coming in she couldn't play here this week. Then we had a couple on vacation."

Horne opted to go with just five players instead of dipping down into the JV ranks.

"The reason I didn't is because we had eight JV girls playing," he said. "And then won (the semi-final), so they were playing for the championship today. So I didn't want to leave her (coach Jakeyla Ford) with five or six players on my account, so that's the reason why I didn't."

Freshman Lauren Courtright paced the Eagles with nine points, while sophomore Renee Faulkner added eight. Twin sister Janee Faulkner chipped in with six.

"I thought we did exceptional," Horne said. "South Lyon East is an exceptional team and Northville is a tough team. I was actually looking forward to this game . . . I want to be careful because I don't want to say we struggled the first eight, nine games. We did, but we had bright spots, so coming in we said, 'Let's see where at against a Northville team that's been pretty successful over the years.' And I thought we handled ourselves pretty well."

Horne took all of his allotted six timeouts to give his "Iron Five" some timely breathers.

"I tried to save the timeouts when I saw them gasping for air or when there was a dead ball situation where they gave me everything for loose ball, just to say, 'I've got your back,'" he said. "Those are the times I wanted to use them and I used them all."

South Lyon's Hagenbach Super Senior Golfer of Year

Gregory Johnson

Special to Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

Rick Hagenbach of South Lyon and Oak Pointe Country Club found more time to golf after age 50, and found competition in Golf Association of Michigan senior tournaments after age 60.

He has it figured out, and was recently named the Golf Association of Michigan's Super Senior Golfer of the Year by Ken Hartmann, senior director of rules and competitions for the GAM.

"I feel honored with the designation, it's great," said the 68-year-old Hagenbach, who has been retired from General Motors for nine years. "I'm really pleased with the Golf Association of Michigan and the way they run tournaments, and there is really great competition. There are so many good players and good guys to play with in the tournaments."

Tom Werkmeister of Grandville and Aya Johnson of North Muskegon were previously announced as the men's and women's players of the year, while Randy Lewis of Alma and Julie Massa of Holt were named the top senior players of the year.

The winners will receive their awards in the spring at the GAM's annual meeting for 2017. Honorees are determined based on the GAM Honor Roll, which awards points for tournament accomplishments.

Hagenbach's key accomplishment among the Super Senior age 65-plus set was winning the Third GAM Super Senior Championship at his home course. He used a hot putter to shoot a closing 72 and win by five shots.

He finished with 160 Honor Roll points for the season topping last year's Super Senior Player of the Year John French of Bloomfield Hills, who had 128.

Jim Russell of Stevensville and Point O'Woods Golf & Country Club, and Lawrence Horgard of Flint and the Michigan Publinx Seniors Golf Association rounded out the top four. See the complete Honor Roll at gam.org.

"Since I retired I've been able to focus on playing golf," said Hagenbach, who winters near Sarasota, Fla., and plays golf multiple times each week. "I enjoy the competitive aspect. It gets the adrenaline going. It keeps me in better shape. I play in three or four GAM tournaments each year and I really enjoy the four-ball tournaments."

Hartmann called Hagenbach a personable, friendly golfer.

"He is a very consistent player," he said. "The Super Senior being at Oak Pointe helped him some, but he plays well at other places and is usually in the running. He is one of those regular top 10, top 15 guys who are that age, have their health and can really play. It's not a surprise that he is Player of the Year."

DeWyre has been taking an hour's worth of online classes at East to allow her more time to practice each day between 2-4 p.m.

"My expectations . . . it's our first year in Juniors and we're competing against some really good teams and skaters," he said, "but I think anything can happen."

"Do You Know the Way to San Jose" was the 1968 popular song written and composed for singer Dionne Warwick by Burt Bacharach, who composed the music, while Hal David, who wrote the lyrics. The song was Warwick's biggest international hit, selling over a million copies and winning Warwick her first Grammy Award.

DeWyre and Nussle hope to be a big hit next week in San Jose.

This year's U.S. Nationals also has an added significance.

It's also an Olympic year and much is at stake this week in San Jose for the Senior Dance, Pairs, Men's Singles and Women's Singles competitors hoping to earn spots on the U.S. team this February in Pyeongchang, South Korea.

Meanwhile, the 2022 Winter Olympics is scheduled for Beijing, China and by that year DeWyre and Nussle hope make it on Senior stage as well.

This is just the first step and it will be their first appearance in the Juniors.

"We're hoping for the top 10, and to perform clean programs, and try our best," DeWyre said.

Prayer to the Holy Spirit. Holy Spirit, you who makes me see everything and who showed me the way to reach my ideal. You who gave me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrongs that is done to me and you who are in all instances of my life with me, I, in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen. Thank you for your love towards me and my loved ones. Say for 3 consecutive days without mentioning your petition and your prayer will be answered. Promise to publish this prayer. Also wish to thank Blessed Mother, St. Joseph and St. Jude. Thank you St. Jude for all favors received. J.M.

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
