Future of Malarkey's Pub in limbo

Owner trying to find new location before June 30

USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Up against a June 30 deadline to move, Malarkey's Irish Pub owner Domenico Policicchio said he still hasn't found a new home for his Westland bar or the financing he needs to make a new start.

"I'm in limbo," he said Monday. "I don't know what's going to happen."

Malarkey's is located in a commercial strip mall that Garden City Hospital bought last year, though plans for its use haven't been revealed. The bar has leased the site on Warren Road, west of Westland Shopping Center, for 23 years.

Repeated phone calls to hospital CEO Saju George have not been returned.

Policicchio was initially supposed to move out last year, but Garden City Hospital agreed to extend until June 30 the deadline for Malarkey's to leave the building it has occupied since 1995. Westland Mayor William Wild helped negotiate the extension.

Policicchio said he is working with two unnamed property owners about a possible new location, but no agree-

Senior Expo returns to Schoolcraft College

Vendors, businesses will convene Tuesday, May 1

USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

A sure sign that temperatures are beginning to warm up takes place next week at Schoolcraft College.

The 15th annual Senior Expo will once again grace the halls of the VisTa-Tech Center at the Livonia college, 18600 Haggerty, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Tuesday, May 1.

Sponsored by Schoolcraft College, The Elder Care Firm, St. Mary Mercy Hospital, Marycrest Manor and the Observer & Eccentric, the spring expo has everything seniors need, including booths discussing elder law, asset management, health care and pain relief. More than 30 businesses and organizations will have a presence at the expo.

Admission is free and those who attend will receive several free goodies, including tote bags and other items. Raffles for various prizes will also take place, including for Detroit Tigers tickets, gift baskets and an electronic toothbrush.

"Observer & Eccentric Media and our advertising partner, Michigan.com, is once again thrilled to bring the Senior Expo to Schoolcraft College. With huge numbers of baby boomers hitting 65 years of age, the importance of planning and caring is extremely important," said Dan Dean, managing editor at the Observer & Eccentric. "From financial decisions, senior housing, estate planning and caring for loved ones, it is a time when many important decisions are being made. The exhibitors and speakers at the Spring Expo provide a wealth of information for not only adults hitting this stage of life, but for their families as well."

In addition to the informational booths, several seminars will take place, including the O&E's Money

Students seek a safer environment with gun-violence walkouts

The irony was thick enough to cut when North Farmington junior Bebe Schaefer got the alert on her cellphone. It was so stunning she couldn't believe her eyes. She had to show the alert she'd just gotten on her cellphone to classmates.

It was a report about a student being wounded in a shooting Friday morning at a high school in Ocala, Fla., shortly before students were to walk out as part of a national protest against gun violence.

The irony? Schaefer had to interrupt the gun violence protest she'd helped organize herself to make the announce-

CATHOLIC. DIVORCED. NOW WHAT?

(Common Myths and Questions about Annulment)

TUESDAY, MAY 1ST
7 PM
IN THE SCHOOL CAFETERIA

The Catholic Church's teaching on divorce, remarriage, and annulments often gets a bad rap in and outside of the church. Wherever you may be on that journey, St. Michael's Parish would like to support and walk alongside you. Msgr. Ronald Browne, a canon lawyer from the Archdiocese of Detroit, will join us to offer a detailed presentation on what the Church teaches on divorce, remarriage, and annulments. There will be plenty of time for discussion, so please feel free to bring all your questions.

Retail fraud probes lead to felony charges

Matt Jachman
hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Six men have been arrested on organized crime charges and other felonies following months-long retail fraud investigations by police in Westland and Canton.

The arrests came in conjunction with the execution of search warrants in several communities April 18, including Westland, Dearborn and Dearborn Heights.

Authorities say the defendants, five of whom were formally arraigned Friday, worked in local pawn shops and bought and then resold high-end merchandise that had been stolen from big-box stores such as Home Depot, Lowe's and Target. Some are also accused of selling stolen goods on eBay.

"The impact of these cases illustrates why the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office is trying to form a business protection unit," county Prosecutor Kym Worthy said in a press release. Retail fraud increases the prices of goods and services as well as retailers' insurance costs, Worthy said.

The defendants are: Mounier A. Hassan, 41, of Dearborn Heights. He is charged with one count of running a criminal enterprise, one count of using a computer to commit a crime, seven counts of organized retail crime, seven counts of violating laws for second-hand dealers and four counts of receiving and concealing stolen property.

Hassan was arraigned Friday in Westland's 18th District Court, where Judge Sandra Cicirelli set bond at $75,000 and scheduled a probable cause conference for Thursday, May 3.

Bilal M. Taleb, 37, of LaSalle, Ontario. He is charged with one count of running a criminal enterprise, one count of using a computer to commit a crime, nine counts of organized retail crime, nine counts of second-hand dealer violations and four counts of receiving and concealing stolen property.

Taleb was also arraigned in 18th District Court and Cicirelli set a bond of $100,000. He is also scheduled for a Thursday, May 3, probable cause conference.

Taleb was scheduled to be arraigned Saturday on additional charges stemming from what the prosecutor's office says was the sale of stolen goods at a pawn shop in Southgate. He faces one count of using a computer to commit a crime, two counts of organized retail crime, two counts of second-hand dealer violations and one count of receiving and concealing stolen property in that case.

Ali Hassan, 33, of Dearborn Heights. He faces one count of using a computer to commit a crime, four counts of organized retail crime, four counts of second-hand dealer violations and two counts of receiving and concealing stolen property. Hassan was also scheduled to be arraigned Saturday.

Spencer R. Szostak, 31, of Dearborn. He is charged with one count of running a criminal enterprise, two counts of using a computer to commit a crime, six counts of organized retail crime, seven counts of second-hand dealer violations and four counts of receiving and concealing stolen property.

Steven T. Kilbourne-Bullion, 30, of Allen Park. He is charged with one count of using a computer to commit a crime, five counts of organized retail crime, five counts of second-hand dealer violations and three counts of receiving and concealing stolen property.

Stephen R. Dodge, 31, of Dearborn. He is charged with one count of using a computer to commit a crime, three counts of organized retail crime, two counts of second-hand dealer violations and three counts of receiving and concealing stolen property.

Szostak, Kilbourne-Bullion and Dodge were all arraigned Friday in 35th District Court and given $10,000 personal bonds. They are scheduled for Monday, May 2, probable cause conferences.

ment has yet been reached.

"We're going to try real hard to open someplace around here," he said.

However, Policicchio, who has owned Malarkey's for nearly six years, said financing has become another problem. He has been in the restaurant business nearly 50 years, but he said getting a bank loan has been difficult.

He remains optimistic Malarkey's will survive, but he isn't certain how or where.

"The chance of us closing is very minimal," Policicchio said, "but it's possible we could close if I can't come up with the money and find a place."

Last year's reprieve by Garden City Hospital gave him more time to find a suitable place for the bar, restaurant and adjoining poker room, but finding a new spot has become far more difficult than Policicchio anticipated.

Policicchio owns the interior contents of the building he has been leasing. Malarkey's, which has about 6,000 square feet of space, is located in a commercial building that once housed the long-closed David's Bridal, among other businesses.

Garden City Hospital has remained hushed about its plans for the site. Hospital officials last year said it was too early to comment on those plans until a formal announcement is made. It wasn't clear when that might be.

Woodworth named Veteran of the Month for April

Donald (Woody) Woodworth, a World War II, Korean War, Cold War and Vietnam War veteran from Livonia, was honored as the April 2018 Veteran of the Month by the Sons of the American Legion, Squadron 32, of the Myron H. Beals American Legion Post 32 in Livonia.

Woodworth served in the U.S. Marine Corp from 1945-66. He was born and raised in Detroit and graduated from Aero Mechanical Vocational High School in Detroit in 1945. His brother became a marine sergeant in 1943 and was part of the first wave to storm the beaches at Guadalcanal. Woodworth couldn't wait to follow in his brother's footsteps and, as soon as he graduated, he went downtown to the recruitment office and signed up.

The war was over in Europe, but still going strong in the Pacific. Woodworth enlisted and was shipped off to Paris Island for boot camp. During boot camp, the war ended and new troops were needed to replace the ones coming home, so his training was shortened by four weeks and they were only given two days on the rifle range. After basic, they were sent to Norfolk, Va., and put on the troop ship U.S.S. Wakefield, destined for China.

"It was a 31-day trip and I was seasick all the way down and through the Panama Canal until we reached San Diego," Woodworth said. "Then I was OK the rest of the way to Tsingtao."

Tsingtao was the headquarters of the Western Pacific Fleet of the U.S. Navy and an air base for the marine air wing. The military was there to provide protection and transportation to Japanese soldiers to repatriate them back to Japan. Woodworth also provided security to protect U.S. assets from marauding communist Chinese under the leadership of Mao Zedong.

"They shot at us as we were traveling on a train, but we never stopped," Woodworth said. "I think the guns they were using were from World War I. They were after armament and ammo to support their civil war with Chiang Kai-shek. We were lucky no one was killed." Woodworth heard his brother was stationed 35 miles away at Tientsin. "I hadn't seen him in a long time, so I asked the C.O. if I could have a jeep to visit him," he said. "I went there, only to learn he had left the day before to go back to the States."

After eight months in China, Woodworth was sent to Hawaii, where he spent two years in the flight crew on a DC-3. In 1948, Woodworth was transferred to El Toro Marine Air Station in California, where he was assigned to the 1st Marine Air Wing, as it was forming a new fighter squadron with F4U-4 Corsair aircraft. Six months later, he was sent to Marine Corp Air Station Cherry Point, N.C., where he spent 3½ years on modernization of the base for VMA-255 jet planes.

In 1952, Woodworth was transferred to Opa-Locka Marine Air Station, Fla., where he was an aircraft engineering

"THIS is why we're here," she practically shouted to a shocked group of a couple of hundred students in the gym at Orchard United Methodist Church in Farmington Hills, down the street from North Farmington High School. "These things keep happening. We're not going to stop until schools are safe!"

Gun violence and school safety was the whole point at walkouts staged at area schools Friday, the 19th anniversary of perhaps the most infamous school shooting at Columbine High School in Colorado.

The rallies are designed to raise awareness about gun violence and school safety. The national rallies were organized around the country to mark the anniversary of Columbine and followed similar rallies that took place last month.

Shootings like the one Feb. 14 in Parkland, Fla., and the one that took place Friday show there's still a need, organizers say.

The walkout at P-CEP drew more than 300 students. BILL BRESLER | HOMETOWNLIFE.COM

"In wake of the Parkland shooting, we were frightened and outraged and beyond inspired by the students who spoke up from Marjory Stoneman Douglas," Schaefer said. "A small group of us came together, many of us strangers unified in our common horror and motivation, to lead the change. We cannot just sit idly by and wait for someone else to do something, because as we have seen for 19 years of school shootings, no change has come. We are the change."

At Churchill High School in Livonia, more than 1,000 students took part in an event on the football field. Organized by several students, including seniors Cole Nelson and Sophie Tomasi, students walked the track, heard speeches from liberal and conservative students and lit candles in remembrance of those killed in the Columbine and Marjory Stoneman Douglas high school massacres.

"It's because of you guys that this walkout was able to happen," Tomasi said.

After the hour-long event, students were able to sign up to register to vote if they were of age and even have a conversation with students with differing opinions on the topic. Having such discussions, Nelson said, was a critical part of the movement to curtail gun violence.

"Nothing will ever get done if we don't talk," Nelson said. "This is how we make a difference."

Some 500 students from the three high schools at the Plymouth-Canton Educational Park walked out of class and gathered on the varsity football field behind Canton High School. The event featured 17 minutes of silence (one minute for each victim of the Parkland shooting) and then speeches, spoken words and songs.

Canton junior Raleigh Nolan, one of the student organizers, said she felt obliged to help lead the way because "it's something I and many other students are very passionate about."

"When rumors about a P-CEP walk-out started circulating, my friends and I decided to take it into our own hands," Nolan said. "It was very important for us as a school to come together and stand up for what we believe in, no matter the consequences or criticism we faced. We hope to have been a positive influence on the people who came and supported us."

The North Farmington event, a town-hall style session, included speakers such as U.S. Rep. Brenda Lawrence, state Rep. Christine Greig, gun violence survivor Lesley Lebrun, whose brother was killed by a shooter, and attorney Jim Makowski, an NRA member and corporate counsel for Michigan Gun Owners.

Lebrun, whose brother Mark was killed by convicted killer Clay Hayward in 1992, advocated heartily for stricter gun laws.

"A lot of things have changed and amazing things have happened that my brother would have loved," Lebrun said. "But there is one thing that hasn't changed — our gun laws."

Makowski disagreed. Drawing light applause and a few boos, the lawyer pointed out that laws designed to keep guns out of the hands of the mentally ill, for instance, have been around since the 1960s.

"Let's enforce the existing gun laws," Makowski said. "The vast majority of gun owners are law-abiding citizens. Nobody deplores these school shootings more than I do. If someone is intent on committing a crime with a firearm, the only way to prevent it is with another firearm."

In the midst of the protest against gun violence, Schaefer said it was important to have Makowski's views explored, as well.

"We think it's important to not have an echo chamber," Schaefer said. "The point is to educate people and we can't educate from only one side. It's important to make people aware of both viewpoints."

Schaefer said students are still distraught by all the violence. From Columbine to Parkland, she pointed out, students simply don't feel safe.

"Shootings are still happening. ... They never stopped in between walk-outs," she said. "We are doing this because innocent people are killed every single day due to gun violence. School should be a safe place where we never have to worry about a shooting taking place. We should never have to think 'where is the exit?' when we walk into a classroom."

That's how Plymouth High School junior Nash Salami feels about it, too.

"We all want to be safer at school and it's sad that so many lives had to be lost before we, the students, finally stood up and took things into our own hands," Salami said. "Our politicians were elected to serve us, not the NRA. We are watching and listening and we will vote."

Students taking part in these walk-outs heard the criticism, some of it whispered and some spoken out loud, that they are "just kids" who "don't understand" the issue.

Nolan has a message for those critics. "To the people calling us 'stupid kids,' we're the next generation," she said. "Change is coming, whether you like it or not."

maintenance supervisor, responsible for six aircraft. While there, an oxygen tank blew up in one of the hangers. Everyone ran except Woodworth: "I don't know why I did it, but I ran down to the hanger and saw where the oxygen was escaping. I saw a valve about a foot from the flame shooting out and went in and shut it off. I didn't think a lot about it until I received a special commendation from the Marine HQ in Washington D.C." The commendation he received is the highest award the U.S. Marines give out for non-combat heroism.

In 1952, the whole squadron was sent by aircraft carrier to Atsugi, Japan. Its mission was to fly close air support for the troops fighting the North Koreans. Woodworth was the aircraft maintenance chief for the squadron and spent 14 months in Japan. "That was a terrible war," he said. "A lot of the troops were called up from the reserves and not ready for battle. Some of them even froze to death due to the cold winter."

He was then transferred back to El-Toro, where he spent the next eight years making several tours on aircraft carriers as the U.S. Navy started allowing marine planes to join it as standard procedure. In 1962, with the escalation of the Cold War, orders came in to fly 24 aircraft from El-Toro Base to Iwakuni Marine Air Station in Japan. The planes only had a range of 300 miles, so they had to island hop the whole way. Their assignment was top-secret at the time. Each plane was given a target in the USSR and would deliver an atom bomb, if needed. Submarines and aircraft were patrolling the coast 24/7.

"The Japanese government would not allow us to have atom bombs on their soil, so we had to store them offshore," Woodworth said. "We would practice retrieving the bombs and mounting them to the aircraft at night so it would not disturb the locals. Of course, we used dummy bombs for the practice. We also practiced attaching two 300-gallon wing tanks to give the pilots enough fuel to reach their target, make one pass and fly back just far enough to reach the Pacific before they would run out of fuel and have to ditch in the ocean. Destroyers would then be nearby to pick them up."

In 1963, Woodworth was reassigned to the Grosse Ile Naval Air Station as a casualty assistance officer. "As the Vietnam War escalated and casualties were shipped home, our job was to inform next of kin of the loss of their sons," he said. "I was so taken aback by the loss of all these kids, I decided to retire. These boys were 18 or 19 and their life was over."

Woodworth was a member of the Inter-City Baptist Church in Allen Park and, after retiring in 1966, told the pastor he would like to do something to help young people. He was put on staff as youth director and that was the beginning of his new life after serving 21 years in the military. Three years later, he attended Baptist Bible College in Springfield, Mo., and the Detroit Bible College. He became administrator of non-academic affairs at BBC for six years. He was ordained in 1976, retired in 2000 and now lives in Livonia with his wife of 68 years. He and Easter (Livvy) have three daughters, 16 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Woodworth was interviewed by members of S.A.L. and a DVD was made of the interview and shown at the S.A.L. April membership meeting. A plaque was presented to him from Livonia Trophy at the meeting with his picture and service information. An additional plaque was also put on display in the vestibule of the American Legion Hall. The S.A.L. invites local residents to attend their monthly meetings to listen to the Veteran of the Month. The public is also encouraged to nominate veterans to be honored at its meetings. Nomination forms can be picked up at the American Legion Hall, 9318 Newburgh Road, in Livonia.

Jakacki tops Farmington Invite field

Northville wins tiebreaker for second over De La Salle

Brad Emmons
 hometownlife.com
 USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Connor Jakacki is already proving he can skate through 18 holes on a golf course as well as he can maneuver around a hockey rink.

The Livonia Stevenson senior, a defenseman who helped the Spartans to a 23-6 record and a Division 2 regional hockey title last month, shot an even-par 71 to earn medalist honors Friday at the 32nd annual Farmington Invitational at Farmington Hills Golf Course.

"Hockey was very busy in the winter time," said Jakacki, who balanced his 18-hole round of three bogeys with three birdies to win by a stroke. "We actually only had one match before this one, so just a lot of practice at the range, not much outside. But a lot of practice and hard work pays off."

Jakacki, who during the hockey season went indoors a couple of times a week to keep sharp, held off a strong field that featured players from 23 different schools from Oakland, Wayne, Washtenaw and Monroe counties.

Once hockey season ended March 13, Jakacki focused his attention to hitting in the dome before eventually moving outside — weather permitting, of course.

"I was expecting to do well," Jakacki said. "This is my first time playing (Farmington Hills). I liked it a lot. The greens were rolling a lot better than the ones we had been playing. It was in nice shape."

Among the other top individual finishers were Jackson Tellerico (Farmington), Alexander Oda (Clarkston) and Anthony Comito (Warren De La Salle) at 72 each, while Jimmy Dales (Northville), Jack Muir (Birmingham Seaholm) and Jake Radom (Berkley) shot 73 each.

"I started off really well off the tee," Jakacki said. "I hit about my first seven

All it takes is one team to like you. That was the message players, including Wayne State running back Romello Brown, were trying to send March 20 during their participation in Eastern Michigan University's Pro Day.

More than 20 scouts from the NFL and the Canadian Football League were on hand to get a read on players like Brown, the former Livonia Churchill High all-state Dream Team player, who showcased his skills during drills and exercises that mirrored the NFL Scouting Combine.

For the 5-foot-11, 242-pound Brown, WSU's third all-time leading rusher, it

Other drills included the bench press, broad jump and vertical jump. The prospects also went through a flexibility test and had their height, weight, hand width, arm length and

New summer sandlot circuit targets urban communities

Brad Emmons

 USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

When it comes to his love of baseball, Bob Miller Jr. doesn't want summers to go to waste anymore.

The former high school baseball coach, who spent the past five years at Redford Union, is launching Coach's Kids, a summer sandlot baseball/softball program for youths ages 5-18.

"The mission behind this is to give kids an opportunity to play baseball who, No. 1, don't have the ability to make a travel team nor the money to play travel baseball," Miller said. "There will be no cuts, no tryouts. Everybody who wants to play this great, fun game of ours will be able to play for $100."

Miller, son of former longtime University of Detroit baseball coach and former MLB pitcher Bob Miller (now age 92), has been on the recruiting circuit reaching out to several area high schools, including RU, Thurston, Dearborn Heights Robichaud, Dearborn

North Farmington's Gabriela Sgambati scored her first goal of the season April 19 against host Farmington in the girls soccer city championship game. It couldn't have come at a more opportune time.

Farmington junior Emily Pace opened the scoring midway through the first half and the Falcons held the 1-0 advantage for the next 58 minutes. It appeared as if the slim lead would hold up and give Farmington its first win over North in at least three years.

But Sgambati, who had never lost to Farmington in her three varsity seasons, treated fans to a dramatic finish on the frigid evening. The Raiders senior tri-captain scored after a long run down the left wing with just a little more than three minutes remaining in the OAA White contest to tie the game at 1-1.

Neither team threatened over the final three minutes to account for the draw.

"We work on those things a lot in practice, running up the left side and crossing," Sgambati said. "But I saw (the keeper) was too far over and I slipped it through and I was just hoping it was going to go in or someone else was going to tap it in. So it feels good that it went in."

"I was very excited for this game. We usually go through the whole day and hang out with each other and try to motivate each other," she added. "We just want to get each other ready, because this is a big game every year."

Tie a 'fair reflection' of game

Second-year Farmington head coach Shaun Gray felt his team had a number of opportunities it didn't convert, which would have made a difference in the outcome.

"The longer it stayed 1-0, it always gives North Farmington the opportunity and the confidence to get one on the break," said Gray, whose team is 2-0-2 on the season. "Twenty seconds earlier, we hit the crossbar with a great shot that we all thought was going in, then right after that, Gabby breaks away and scored a very, very good goal."

"I mean, Gabby is a very good player and we talked about the threat that she has and that she can score goals," he added. "Overall, we reflect that we are kicking ourselves a little bit for not scoring on the chances we had, but I don't think we can be too disappointed. A 1-1 tie is probably a fair reflection of the game."

Farmington started fast against the Raiders, controlling play from the opening minute through the first half.

Twice in the first 15 minutes, for example, Falcon sophomore forward Kristina Agee booted excellent crosses through the box that rolled harmlessly to the opposite side of the field. Then, at the 21:15 mark, senior Erin Abramczyk took a corner kick that landed to Pace, who redirected it into the net for the 1-0 lead.

Both teams had more scoring chances in the much more physical second half.

Abramczyk had some great opportunities to give her team a two-goal lead, including two shots from 15 yards out 14 minutes into the second half. The first shot was stopped by North Farmington defender Maya Kelly, but she tracked the ball down and took a left-footer that got through to Raiders goalie Patil Tcholakian, who smothered it without further damage.

Then, with 3:30 remaining in the game, Abramczyk's blast from 25 yards out slammed off the crossbar and caromed off to the left side of the field. The ball eventually found its way to Sgambati, who hustled down the pitch, worked her way past a Falcons defender and then booted the ball with her left foot to the far side of the net to forge the tie.

'Good things' for North

Veteran North Farmington head coach Tim Russell couldn't have been happier to see Sgambati register the crucial game-tying goal.

"I was especially glad that Gabby got the goal, because she's been with us for four years," Russell said. "And she's never lost a city championship. She wanted to make sure it didn't happen this year."

North Farmington senior Gabriela Sgambati scored the game-tying goal against host Farmington in the city championship game with just 3:04 left on the clock. BILL BRESLER | HOMETOWNLIFE.COM

"I thought we played a better second half than we did the first. I thought we were a little sloppy in the first half, but we got it together in the second half," he added. "It was just a lot of heart, that's what we've been talking about. Our young players are starting to step up and we saw a lot of good things today."

Farmington outshot North Farmington by a 10-7 margin and enjoyed a 5-1 advantage in corner kicks. Farmington junior goalie Alex Thomas and Tcholakian were both credited with six saves.

North Farmington captured the city championship last year, so the Raiders retained the trophy since they were the last to own it. However, the coaches agreed afterward that they would officially share the crown since the game ended in a draw.

"We share the title, but we'll keep the trophy," said Russell, whose team is 1-3-1 on the season.

"If it's based on one-off game, then we should share it, but if it's based on them winning it last year, they should rightly walk away with the trophy," Gray said. "It's always better if we can take it off of them. But Tim suggested sharing it and I think that was nice. Today was a tie and that was it."

Regardless, it wasn't a loss and that made Sgambati and her Raiders teammates a happy group.

Brown

wing span measured by personnel from NFL teams.

In preparation, Brown trained during the winter months, along with current NFL players and future pro hopefuls, under the guidance of Jim Kielbaso at Total Sports Performance in Wixom.

"I thought it was a good experience," Brown said. "It was something I should be grateful for, obviously, fortunate enough for the opportunity, I thought. Pretty solid overall. That's probably how I kind of viewed it. I could have done better, but overall, I thought I did solid."

To nobody's surprise, the super strong Brown did 31 reps in the bench press.

"I thought, for sure, my 40-yard dash time was going to be where it is, but I'm not really a 40-yard sprint guy, that's not my strength," he said. "My shuttle and (cone drill) could have been better."

Brown, who is represented by agent David Jones of VIP Sports Management in Detroit, could be viewed as a long shot to even get an invite to an NFL mini-camp.

But former WSU running back Jioique Bell, the school's all-time leading rusher, made the most of his undrafted free agent opportunity and played for seven different teams in the NFL (from 2010-16), including two stints with the Lions.

And if Brown does find a landing spot, Detroit might be the most logical choice.

"There's a lot of dudes that hang around a few years and not every story in the NFL is a great draft day story, first-round kind of thing," said one of Brown's biggest supporters, former Churchill coach John Filiatraut. "We'll see how Romello does. He's got an agent working toward some things. We'll see what happens. He needs to find the right fit. And that's what it's all about — finding the right team that needs you and showcase what you've got. If you're him, you can't focus on your shortcomings. You can't focus on the things you don't have, you've got to focus on your strengths and sees if it falls right for you."

Even if Brown doesn't get a tryout, he's been already deemed a success story coming out of Churchill.

As a sophomore for the Chargers, he rushed for 700 yards and seven touchdowns (2010) before upping his numbers to 1,043 yards with nine TDs as a junior (2011). That was followed by a monster senior season (2012) as the Chargers went 10-1 overall and Brown racked up 1,843 yards on just 242 carries and 29 TDs.

After sitting out his freshman season at WSU, Brown saw limited action as a red-shirt sophomore (2014), dressing for all 11 games and appearing four.

In 2015, Brown broke out and was voted second team all-Great Lakes Athletic Conference and WSU's Offensive MVP as he rushed for 1,287 yards, which included six 100-yard games.

The 2016 season proved to be his best for the Warriors as he earned second team D2Football.com All-America and third team Don Hansen All-America honors, along with first team all-GLIAC after a career-best 1,564 yards.

All things were pointing in the right direction for another big season for the red-shirt senior in 2017, but behind a depleted and inexperience offensive line, Brown's numbers slipped to a team-best 827 yards as the Warriors finished 5-6 and 4-5 in the GLIAC.

"It was a very frustrating season, but my biggest thing, honestly, given the life that I had, that is you've got to take the good with the bad," said Brown, who made second team all-GLIAC. "I also had some great seasons with some great offensive lines. I'm was fortunate enough, from my overall career standpoint, and I'm thankful."

Brown started 33 of 37 games during his four-year career, totaling 17,100-yard rushing performances (third most in the last 34 years, behind Bell and Joe Gough). He concluded his collegiate career third in school history in rushing touchdowns (42), rushing yards per game (102.2) and touchdowns scored (42) and fourth in rushing yards (3,780), rushing attempts (686), yards per carry (5.51) and points scored (252).

Brown, who graduated in December with a degree in criminal justice, also made all-academic GLIAC and WSU Coach's Honor Roll in fall 2014, 2015 and 2017, as well as winter 2017 (with a term grade-point average of 3.0-3.49).

"I'm fortunate enough to be able to achieve something that no one in my family has ever done, which is to get a college degree," said Brown, who hails from Westland. "It took four-and-a-half years and I'm also fortunate enough to play some really good football at Wayne State. I appreciate them for giving me the opportunity to be able to play and get my degree. Overall, I had a great career football-wise and I finished up with a 3.0 and earned my college degree."

During his days at Churchill, Brown had many mentors in his corner, including Churchill assistant coaches like Allen Fiegel and Bill DeFillippo.

He also drew support from Churchill faculty staff member Paul Mercier and Rob Suida, the father of Brown's teammate and close friend Seth Suida, who went on to play quarterback at Concordia University.

"All of them were there for me as soon

I left the door," Brown said. "They gave lead in life, a future in life, guidance and a structure and discipline. Without them, I wouldn't have found a home. I appreciate what Churchill has given me. Without them, I wouldn't be where I am today."

Brown arrived at Churchill has an unpolished stone who eventually became a glittering diamond.

"I'm not sure what Romello did in school before he got to Churchill, but he learned how to go to class," Filiatraut said. "I think he learned how to excel a little bit at Wayne State. I think, for him, it took some maturity and some people believing in him like coach (Paul) Winters and that crew down there. It worked out for him and I'm sure proud of him."

Brown's maturation period has been nothing short of remarkable, according to his high school coach.

"The things that are endearing about him are still the same, still a likable guy, still a good person," Filiatraut said. "Those are easy when you meet him. He's always had a great athletic way about him from his build, the way he moves, to his strength, which hasn't deserted him in that regard. He's grown up quite a bit. I think college for Romello is what it should be for all kids. He has to grow up, have some new experiences, stretch yourself a little bit mentally and, in his case, physically and he did that."

Brown just recently took a temporary job with a home remodeling company, where he is doing some painting work. The NFL Draft will be April 26-28 in Dallas and Brown's name will more likely than not be on any draft boards.

But it only takes one team to make the call and Brown hopes his agent has some good news following the draft.

"Regardless of what happens to that kid from here on, he's got a college degree and he's on his way," Filiatraut said. "Whatever happens with a tryout here or a pro day there is just icing. He had such a good career, too, at Wayne State, my goodness."

PREP BASEBALL

Up north teams make pitch to play in sunny Canton

A mid-April snowstorm buried Onaway High School's baseball field under two feet of the stuff.

Chances are pretty good the Onaway Cardinals won't be back on their home diamond anytime soon. So head coach Mike Crull sounded the S.O.S., looking for temporary baseball homes in southern Michigan.

Crull knew Allen Park Inter-City Baptist athletic director Nate Chatfield, but there wasn't room there.

"But he put me in contact with the A.D. from Plymouth Christian (Matt Windle), who contacted the baseball coach," Crull said. "And Joe (Bottorff) has been nothing but awesome. He's facilitating not only us to come down there, but also two additional northern Michigan teams."

Livonia Clarenceville also chipped in. The Cardinals squared off against the host Trojans in a Saturday twinbill that originally was slotted for PCA. Over at Plymouth Christian, Inland Lakes and Newberry played the Eagles, with the two northern squads facing each other as well.

After the two games at Clarenceville, Onaway bused over to PCA for a game against the Eagles.

"The southern schools, they don't have this issue," Crull said. "We're looking at, optimistically, the first week of May before we can even see the field."

"We've been stuck indoors since the first day of practice. We were able to get outside one time during spring break for about an hour and that's it."

Bottorff also finagled the schedule for April 27-28, when Onaway and Inland Lakes will once again take bus trips from up north to play at PCA.

"We always play the same guys every year," Bottorff said. "It's nice to have a chance to play somebody new."

They'd rather play

The only downside for the Eagles is they will lose their doubleheader against Clarenceville, unless a mutual make-up date can be found.

"The pro is that we get to play some teams that we would normally never get to play and possibly create a relationship where we could start some home-and-home contests," Bottorff continued.

According to Bottorff, this is the first time in his coaching career that he was approached about helping northern teams find emergency fields.

"We've had years where the weather significantly reduced the number of games we got in or delayed the beginning of the season, but I've never had teams from up north contact me because they still had snow," Bottorff said. "One time several years ago, we went to a tournament in Traverse City in mid-May and it snowed during the game, which surprised us, but the home team said it happens all the time."

There could have been a drawback to this weekend's trip for Onaway upperclassmen. The school, located an hour south of the Mackinac Bridge, also had its senior prom April 21.

But three senior players told Crull they'd rather play baseball.

"They're actually playing college ball next year and they prioritized baseball over the senior prom," Crull said, with a slight chuckle. "That's maybe not cool for the parents, but as a baseball coach, it made me smile. It shows what kind of kids we have here."

USA HOCKEY

U-17 team wins 3-0 to open Clark Cup playoffs

Tim Smith
hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

For the first time since the OHL Whalers left town, there was playoff hockey in Plymouth.

On Saturday at USA Hockey Arena — formerly Compuware — area fans were treated to Game 1 of the United States Hockey League Clark Cup Playoffs. The U.S., behind a sparkling performance from goalie Cameron Rowe, outstanding special teams and two shorthanded goals, defeated the Chicago Steel 3-0.

Game 2 of the best-of-five matchup didn't go as well, as the Steel bounced back for a 6-2 victory to even the series. The third game is at 7 p.m. Thursday in Chicago.

"I thought the players came out at the beginning and most importantly they weren't intimidated by the stage," U.S. head coach John Wroblewski said. "They came out and really dictated the pace."

Rowe (34 saves) was on his game all night, snagging hard point shots with ease and playing positionally strong. And his team gained important momentum thanks to his clutch stops. With about 14:30 left in the game and the U.S. up 1-0, Rowe kicked out a dangerous shot taken from the right circle.

Moments later down in the Chicago end, defenseman Drew Helleson surprised Steel goaltender Oskar Autio with a wrist shot from the right half-wall to put the home team up 2-0 with 14:13 left.

"It's really interesting, especially in those kinds of situations," Rowe said, "because you never know how pucks are going to bounce off."

"Every save is important, just like that one. If I didn't make the save, if it didn't hit me the right way (and carom out), then we wouldn't have got that goal."

Forward John Beecher then padded the lead with a shorthanded goal at 10:30 of the third, the second U.S. shorthanded goal of the game. Beecher cut in from the left wing and flipped a low shot past Autio.

Opening the scoring at 5:53 of the middle period was forward Owen Lindmark, also during the penalty kill. Lindmark took an outlet pass from Helleson and streaked up the middle before sniping a shot over Autio's trapper.

"It was an emphasis point for our players to be heavy on the penalty kill," Wroblewski said. "They're lethal, they've got a collection of players that are big and strong and skilled. ... You really have to fight for your loose pucks."

"It was a really nice bonus (the short-handed goal by Lindmark) and then Johnny Beecher is a man-child, which we've been seeing here the last two-and-a-half or three months. He's been like this, just outstanding, and so it's really cool to see him get rewarded."

There were several other similar breakouts from the U.S., with players picking off Chicago passes like low-hanging fruit and launching dangerous rushes as a result.

"It's really big, something we've worked on in practice, working on our penalty kill and clearing pucks out," Rowe said. "I think that definitely translated into two goals and offensive chances we had."

Rowe needed to stave off a flurry of last-minute chances in order to protect the shutout.

"He's played a lot of really good games for us this year," Wroblewski said about Rowe, a 6-1, 185-pounder from Illinois. "The kid can rise up and really steal games."

"Tonight, it was a team effort. I don't think he stole this one. He was there when we needed him and I thought the guys played really well in front of him, too."

The National Team Development Program U-17 team is playing all USHL postseason games while the U-18 team is in Russia at the 2018 IIHF Under-18 World Championships.

UNDER-18 WORLD CHAMPIONSHIPS: The U.S. U-18 Men's National Team is off to a 1-2 start in the preliminary round, losing 6-4 to Canada on April 19, defeating Switzerland 8-5 on April 21 and falling 3-1 on April 22 to Sweden.

fairways or so and I was hitting every green. I putted pretty well ... 32 putts. I could have had two more birdies, honestly, but made a lot of clutch par putts and three birdies on the day, so that helped."

Jakacki is entering his third varsity season. He was a team captain last year and is again this year for the Spartans, who opened the season April 13 by winning the Livonia Public Schools Invitational at Whispering Willows as Jakacki took medalist honors with 36.

"He's just gotten so strong in his tempo and he just has a good mind to fight back when he gets in trouble," third-year Stevenson coach Curtis Hay said. "I saw a lot of good birdie chances. And if you're shooting for birdies a lot, you're going to score well."

Jakacki got an early start in the game of golf. He started playing competitively at age 11.

"My grandparents got me into it when I was really young. They're big golfers," Jakacki said.

Although he's hanging up his hockey stick, Jakacki is taking his golf clubs to the next level.

"I visited a bunch of schools last fall and Saginaw Valley gave me the best offer, so I didn't want to turn that down," Jakacki said. "Took that, signed last week and very excited for the future. I think golf is the way to go for me now."

Clarkston, meanwhile, placed first in the team standings with 305 points, while Northville beat Warren De La Salle for second on the fifth-player score tiebreaker after both teams finished at 310.

Rounding out the top 10 were Birmingham Seaholm (321), Farmington (323), Royal Oak (327), Stevenson (329), Troy Athens (336), Rochester Adams (341) and Salem (344).

Northville was led by Dales, the University of Wyoming golf signee who made honorable mention all-state in hockey for the Mustangs. Dales, a senior, was in contention for medalist honors before taking a double-bogey on the par-4, 418-yard 18th hole.

"It's a dogleg right; I've never liked it," Dales said. "I think I've only played it a few times. It's weird driving hole and I didn't execute on it."

Other Northville scorers included

Abhi Alluri (eighth, 75), Saahith Mummandi (80) and Nick Weaver (82) — all seniors — along with junior Ryan Gallagher (87), whose score on the third playoff hole was the difference between second and third place in the team standings.

"Our team showed a lot of good things today," Dales said. "We had really good scores from our fours and fives. It really helped us and I think up top, we have a really good top three and we're really going to have to have our four and five come through. And it happened today. Today was a really good showing. It shows a lot of promise for the rest of the year."

Second-year Northville coach Chris Cronin was also encouraged by his team's showing.

"I'm excited. The weather was nice, but it's been a rough start with all the snow, rain and cold," he said. "But I'm really pleased with how we played. The guys kept it together for a full round. And I'm happy for these four seniors, too, in our lineup today. It's nice to come out in early season and put in a good performance."

The remaining teams in the field were Temperance Bedford (347), Berkley (348), Rochester Stoney Creek (348), South Lyon East (350), South Lyon (352), Saline (355), Livonia Churchill (358), Birmingham Groves (360), Canton (364), Rochester (375), Walled Lake Northern (383), North Farmington (389), Farmington Hills Harrison (421) and Rochester (475).

Other top scorers for Seaholm included Andre Krivan (80), Hagen Cunningham (83) and Connor Everett (85), while Farmington's other three cards came from Brendan Klimas (81), Jack Johnson (81) and Tyler Klimas (89).

Other area top individual team leaders outside the top 10 included A.J. Clark (South Lyon East), 77; Easton Schlatterbeck (Stevenson), 78; Jack McCarthy (Salem), 81; Bryce Henderson (Salem), 82; Logan Welch (Churchill), 83; Daniel McDermott (South Lyon), 84; Quinn Yun (Canton), 86; Luke Tsuji (North Farmington), 87; and Derek Schmidt (Harrison), 93.

Henry Ford Academy and Detroit Communication & Media Arts, as well as Hilbert and Pierce middle schools in Redford.

The Coach's Kids' season will run from June 12 through July 31, with league games played at 6 p.m. each Tuesday and Thursday at RU and Thurston.

"We're projecting, but it's early, 100 kids," Miller said. "This year, we can accommodate 200 without a problem, but our goal is to get it up over 500."

Coach's Kids will be sponsored and has been approved as part of the MLB RBI program, which reinvests in baseball in urban communities.

"They're supplying us with all the equipment," Miller said. "We have to raise money for everything else."

He is in the process of adding additional league sponsors, but the start-up cost is part his foundation, Real Estate Donations, USA (www.redusa.us), a 501(c)3 nonprofit.

Miller said he has been involved in the fundraising business more than 10 years and has raised more than $4 million for charities such as Veteran Housing, Habitat for Humanity, Special Olympics and American Cancer Society, to name a few.

"People donate real estate for several reasons, usually for a tax write-off," Miller said. "The property is sold and we (use) proceeds for charity. The mission is changed. We're still raising the money, but it's something I've formed with Coach's Kids."

High school assistants, along with former RU coaches, will serve as Coach's Kids coaches. To pass MLB RBI guidelines, each coach will be fingerprinted and go through a background check.

"They'll also have to pass a class that I teach on coaching, which is something I just put together because I want coaches to do it for the right reason," Miller said. "This is not win the national championship, this is to do it for the right reasons, educate and mentor these kids like I did at RU, turn them into good citizens."

"I've always said everybody has talent, but not everybody has opportunity, so I want to bridge that. This is where talent meets opportunity. I don't care if they go on and play college. It doesn't matter to me. Police will be involved to do conflict resolution training. We're going to do a lot of educating and mentoring. That's the bottom line on this thing and we're going to give kids a future."

After coaching high school baseball for five years, Miller noticed that there was a huge void to fill during the summer off-season.

"There's no Colt, Pony, American Legion leagues anymore," Miller said. "There's nowhere for them to go and it's a big problem. I've been recognizing this. When I went over to Thurston, I asked all of the kids, 'How many of you play summer baseball?' One kid raised his hand. How many kids play (summer) baseball at Robichaud? None. How many at RU? One. I said, 'What are you going to do?' Most won't pick up a bat until the first game in April. So that's what I want to put an end to."

Down the road, Miller would like to expand Coach's Kids into other sports.

"One of the things I really want to get into next year is lacrosse, which is so big," Miller said. "I think at RU and Thurston, you'd have great lacrosse players, too. There's not an opportunity because there are no teams around. I'm going to look at a lot of things, just not baseball. This is just the start."

Miller is not only looking for players, but also volunteers and sponsors.

Here's How it Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
