Here are some different ways to beat wicked summer heat

Tim Smith
hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Ever have an urge to stick your head in an ice bucket to gain some relief from fry-an-egg-on-the-sidewalk summer heat in metro Detroit?

Well, you're not alone in at least giving that impulsive action some thought. But there are many different "cool" ways to beat the heat during red-hot July and August.

There have been several mid-90s scorchers already and many more are likely to come. So head out to a water park, go to a movie theater or walk the mall, float down a "lazy river" or even go ice skating in July.

So instead of filling up that ice bucket, maybe check out some of these options.

Nice and easy

Wild and crazy water amusement parks might be one adventurous way to chill. But fun on the water doesn't have to be a helter skelter experience.

Consider taking a nice, leisurely ride down the Huron River — cruising in a kayak, canoe or, perhaps, a raft.

It's the only way to go for Milford's

Decision on future of Ladywood property delayed

David Veselenak
hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

A decision on what the future holds for the former Ladywood High School property will come at a later-than-expected date.

Felician Services, the business arm of the Felician Sisters, had originally said in packets for those interested in utilizing the property the former high school sits on at 14680 Newburgh in Livonia a decision would be made by July 1. But now, that page that housed that information now simply says a decision would be delayed.

"Regarding the Livonia property: though we had hoped to have a decision regarding the property transfer by July 1, the due diligence process on the next phase is still in process," reads the statement on the website. "As soon as the decision is made and finalized, we will post that information here."

A message was left via phone with Felician Services seeking more information on when an announcement for the future of the property would take place.

The high school closed earlier this spring, holding its final graduation ceremony in May. The Felician Sisters, who ran the school since its inception in 1950 in Livonia, cited declining enrollment as the reason behind its closure when it was announced in December.

Even though a decision has not yet been made on what will happen with the property, at least one applicant has publicly said its proposal had been turned down. A parent/alumnae group organized earlier this winter calling itself Project Blazer had said it turned in a proposal earlier this spring to keep a Catholic high school at the site, though said late last month its proposal had been turned down by Felician Services.

Share your story about music — live, on stage

hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

If I were to share my story on music, it would revolve around my lack of appreciation, interest and understanding of anything music-related. It was rough going through my teen years not recognizing band names or having any affinity toward music. If I attended a concert, I am the guy who cannot keep beat clapping with the rest of the audience. When I recently received a Father's Day T-shirt from fellow marching band chaperones, I had no idea the musical notes spelled out "DAD."

Yes, it would be a sad story of how music, or lack thereof, has impacted my life.

Has music impacted you, changed your view on life? We are looking for five or six brave souls to share a true, first-person story to a live audience. Hometown Life is pleased to announce the date of our first storytelling event Sept. 20. We will present "Music" at the Village Workshop in downtown Northville.

Doors will open at 6:30 p.m., with the show to begin at 7 p.m.

While humor is popular, we are not looking for stand-up comedy. We are looking for stories on how music shapes lives, good, bad, sad, happy, tragic or inspirational ... the range of emotions can run the gamut.

If you are unsure you have a great story to tell, no worries, we will help.

Future events will have themes of Food & Culture, New Beginnings, Tattoo Tales and Glory Days of High School Sports. Follow the Hometown Life

Facebook (<https://www.facebook.com/OEHometown/?fref=nf>) page for up-to-date information.

Send all inquiries, proposals and questions to Dan Dean at ddean@hometownlife.com. For examples of previous storytelling events from the USA Today Network Storytellers Project, go to <http://www.storytellersproject.com/national/watch-listen/>.

Amrhein Road construction set to begin

hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK —
MICHIGAN

Those recognizable orange barrels will sprout along Livonia's industrial corridor in the coming days.

The city began work Monday along Amrhein Road between Levan and Newburgh, a project being done with the help of additional money allocated from the state earlier this year.

"We're happy to finally see some bad roads reconstructed," said Todd Zilincik, city engineer.

Work will include new pavement and also ADA-compliant sidewalk ramps at cross streets.

That project will see traffic move in one direction only, with only the eastbound lane remaining open during the first phase that began Monday. The second phase, scheduled to begin in mid-August, will see traffic maintained going westbound only.

The detour for the work will take drivers who are north of Amrhein to use Levan to go north, then west on Schoolcraft and then south on Newburgh. The posted detour route for those south of Amrhein is to use Levan Road heading south and then travel west on Plymouth Road, then north on Newburgh Road.

The nearly $1.1 million project will run until the end of September. About $700,000 of the project's funding comes from the additional $175 million allocated from the state earlier this year for roadwork across Michigan, something approved by the Livonia City Council earlier this year. Several other communities and projects received money for work this year, including along Telegraph Road in Bloomfield Township. The remaining funding comes from the Plymouth Road Development Authority: the city's finance department allocated recollection of unspent funds from the street-lighting project.

Other area roadwork

Additional construction is taking place all over the city, including work along Stark between Schoolcraft and Lyndon. That work began as soon as Livonia Spree ended and will wrap before school begins later this summer.

The work along Stark has closed the southbound lane and kept the northbound lanes open.

"We're doing the west side first, then we're flipping over to do the east side," Zilincik said.

While the work is taking place during the summer, the reading program at Frost Middle School will continue.

Also coming later this summer is the long-awaited work along Farmington Road, north of Plymouth. That project, a collaboration between Livonia and Wayne County, will most likely begin sometime in late July, Zilincik said. Work along Inkster, between Six Mile and Seven Mile, also continues through late September.

The city's annual road program is also working its way through neighborhoods, as well as work along the driveway to Bicentennial Park along Bicentennial Drive, north of Seven Mile.

DYW Scholarship Program

The Distinguished Young Women of Michigan Scholarship Program is holding its 61st annual pageant at 6 p.m. Saturday, July 21, at The Village Theater at Cherry Hill, 50400 Cherry Hill Road, in Canton. This scholarship program promotes academics, leadership and talent and is open to high school junior young women graduating in 2019.

This program awards college scholarships to young women who have distinguished themselves at school and in their communities. Contestants will be judged based on academic achievement, talent, self-expression, physical fitness, and interview. Last year, more than $7,000 in cash scholarships were awarded at the state program, along with numerous college-granted scholarships. The winner will go on to represent the state of Michigan at the Distinguished Young Women National Finals in Mobile, Ala., as well as community events throughout our state.

Tickets are available at www.cantonvillagetheater.org. Tickets are $20 for adults, $18 for children and senior citizens. All proceeds go toward the Distinguished Young Women of Michigan Scholarship Program.

Teresa Silver. She and friends (sometimes family) make it part of their regular summer recreation schedule. They put kayaks into the back of the family van and often drive to Milford's Central Park, where the river is "so shallow we can step in and push off."

Sometimes they ride the Huron toward Proud Lake; other times Kensington Lake is the destination of choice.

"It is so calming to float down the river on a hot summer day, enjoying the sun on your face and the cool water at your fingertips," Silver said. "More than anything, I like seeing the diverse wildlife along the journey into Kensington Lake.

"The elegant swans, painted turtles lined up on logs sunning themselves and the long-legged herons seemingly walking on water. I bought the kayaks a couple of years ago for my teen boys, but I and my friends — all of us 50-plus-years-old — take them out on the river just as often."

Often, the Huron River's current is so quiet it could be a tub of warm bath water. "What I love about the Huron River is the fact I can almost as easily paddle upstream as I can downstream, because the current is so mild it is almost non-existent," Silver said.

There are a pair of canoe and kayak rental businesses nearby: Heavner's Canoe Rental and Village Canoe Rental.

Camp Dearborn

Not too far from Silver's favorite stretch of the Huron River is Camp Dearborn, located at 1700 General Motors Road in Milford (call 248-684-6000 for information).

Camp Dearborn not only is a campground, it has six lakes and myriad activities, such as renting a paddleboat ($3 per person) and getting out on the water.

Swimming, of course, is another foolproof antidote to hot, humid weather that Camp Dearborn visitors can partake in whenever they want.

Here comes the H2O

Don't really want to have to take a drive out to Milford for summer fun? Westland has a hot spot to stay cool — the H2O Zone, a splash park located at 1901 N. Carlson (east of Newburgh, south of Ford Road).

On a recent scorcher, Westland's Kiayra Moore took her daughter Laila, 9, to the facility for the first time and gave it a soaking wet thumbs up.

"I think it's a good way (to beat the heat). It's a fun place for kids to come," Moore said. "And it's something that all ages can enjoy. That's a good thing.

"It's not expensive, so that's even better. I've gotten pretty wet since I've been out here."

One recent 95-degree scorcher, Jake Rebecca stayed cool by skating at Arctic Edge in Canton. TIM SMITH | HOMETOWNLIFE.COM

It is open daily from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. through Labor Day and there are family and group rates available.

For a daily pass, the cost is $3 for Westland residents (the venue is operated by Westland Parks and Recreation) and $10 for non-residents.

Head to the rink

Believe it or not, many ice arenas have summer open skating sessions for a nominal fee ($6 at Arctic Edge in Canton, for example) and it's no accident when you see people like Jake Rebecca making the rounds wearing shorts and a T-shirt.

"Without a doubt, I know for a fact it's got to be cold, the ice has got to stay frozen," said Rebecca, 19, of Plymouth. "And when I go out there in shorts and T-shirt, it's just a great way to cool down during the summer."

Rebecca added that it isn't uncomfortable to be out on the cold, hard surface without all extremities covered by a jacket and jeans — as one might think would be a prerequisite to skate.

"Not at all," he said. "I'm one of many people out here in shorts and T-shirts."

Just like home

It is becoming almost the norm for movie patrons to go to their favorite theater and get a touch of home along with the mandatory popcorn, cold soda and always-on air conditioning.

At Phoenix Theatre in Livonia's Laurel Park Place (Newburgh Road, near Six Mile), the experience is perhaps even better than the man cave.

Every customer can lean back and put their legs up thanks to plush, reclining leather seats complete with cup holders.

Unfortunately, that is good for a couple hours at a time — unless you don't mind punching your ticket for encore movie showings.

Tried and true

Don't forget the AC is always on full blast at your favorite neighborhood shopping mall.

But just remember to patronize the food court and mall businesses while there.

Obituaries

Neil McCallum

-- December 18, 1925 – July 4, 2018 Neil McCallum, 92 years of age, passed away on Independence Day 2018 in Milford MI after a struggle with cancer. Neil was born and raised in Detroit, Michigan to Neil and Edna (Turnbull) McCallum on December 18th, 1925. He had one younger sibling, Robert (Bob) McCallum, who succeeded him in death. Neil's mother died in childbirth when he was only 7 and his father also passed away a few years later. This was during the Great Depression and so Neil and Bob were separated to live with relatives. Neil attended high school at Cass Tech with an eye toward going to university to study engineering. After graduation he started college at the University of Cincinnati but when WWII broke out he enlisted in the Army Air Corps and became a navigator on a B-26 bomber. When the war was over Neil completed his engineering degree at the University of Detroit and went to work at GM as a safety engineer. While at GM he became acquainted with his soon to be wife Suzanne Freitag. They were married in 1951 and Neil was recruited to work for Chrysler Corporation. Together they had four children, Laurie, Heidi, Robert and John. They moved out of the city to Farmington in 1958. Through the years Neil was very involved with the family including taking them on vacations all over the country. He was involved in the Girl Scouts, the Boy Scouts and especially managing Little League baseball. As Neil progressed through the ranks at Chrysler he became involved in the National Safety Council and numerous other safety organizations including being Named Safety Man of The Year by the Michigan Safety Conference in 1984. It was during these years he was asked to become Assistant Secretary of Labor for the new Reagan administration but the offer came at a poor time. His wife Suzanne had a reoccurrence of a cancer that she had battled years before. She passed away in September 1982. Neil made the easy decision to retire early and left Chrysler at the age of 61, in 1986. He traveled north to Alaska and went white water rafting and fishing. He happened to go on a guided fishing expedition with the Knowlton family and made such good friends with them that he then spent the next 20 some years with them fishing in Alaska in the summer and as a volunteer helping with archaeological tours in the southwest during the winter months. In between seasons he would return home to Michigan and live with his children. In his later years Neil would spend nearly all year with the kids in Michigan and only the winters in his Park Model unit in Lake Martinez, Arizona near the Knowlton family and friends. Neil is survived by his four children Laurie (Pat – deceased) Vial, Heidi (Mike) Villemonte, Robert (Wendy) McCallum and John (Roxanne) McCallum, his nine grandchildren Lisa (Frank) Niscoromni, Emilie (Chris) Kaman, Adrienne Vial, Allison Vial, Erinn (Nick) Giles, Bryan McCallum, Ryan McCallum, Jessie Vial and Scott McCallum, and his six great grandchildren Raegan, Chase, Miles, and Paige Niscoromni, and Barrett and Lena Kaman. We invite Family and Friends to gather at George Murphy's at the Creek, on Sunday, July 15th anytime between 2pm-5pm. George Murphy's at the Creek is located in the Fox Creek Clubhouse, at 36000 Seven Mile Road, Livonia, Michigan.

Nancy Joy Brooks Browning

-- Nancy Joy Brooks Browning, beloved daughter, mother, grandmother, and lifelong educator died peacefully on May 4, 2018, at the age of 86. Nancy passed away in Colorado, where she had lived for eight years not far from her oldest daughter. Nancy was the eldest child of William Henry Brooks and Madge Marie Moyer Brooks. Born January 12, 1932 and raised, along with her brother, in what was then the small town of Vineland, New Jersey, Nancy was surrounded by many loving and close family members and friends. After high school, she attended the University of Delaware, graduating in 1953 with a Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education. It was at Delaware that she met her husband, marrying in 1952.

Throughout her work life, Nancy worked as an educator in one way or another, serving, for example, as a tutor, teacher, and principal. In the late 1970s, Nancy began to focus her career in reading instruction, English as a Second Language, and alternative education for young adults. In 1983, she earned her master's degree in Teacher Education from Eastern Michigan University. Among other roles across the state of Michigan, Nancy was an instructor and later supervisor of the English as a Second Language Program, Whitman Center, Livonia, Michigan; Principal, Adult and Alternative Education, Curriculum and Staff Development, Bentley Center, Livonia Public She was a consultant to business and industry, encouraging leaders to hire struggling students and teach them on-the-job skills. She developed curriculum materials, trained hundreds of teachers statewide, and taught countless people of all ages how to read and speak English. Well-known as a master teacher, Nancy was a highly admired leader, friend, and mentor to many. Nancy was preceded in death by her husband of 55 years, Roger Dee Browning, and her brother, Robert Alan Brooks, of Warsaw, Indiana. She is survived by the family she dearly loved: her daughter Barbara Browning Carrio and husband, Glen, and Barbara's son, Brian Brooks Gaddy (with Robert Smith Gaddy), all of Colorado; her daughter Diane Joy Browning and daughter, Emma Joy Browning, both of Seattle, Washington; and her daughter Susan Browning Justice and husband, Russ, and their son Matthew Steven Justice, all of Farmington, Michigan, along with their son David Browning Justice, of Denver, Colorado. Nancy is also survived by her sister-in-law, Patricia Venita Browning, of Cottage Grove, Wisconsin. A memorial service and celebration of Nancy's life will be held Sunday, July 15, 2018, at 3:30 pm at Ward Presbyterian Church, 40000 Six Mile Road, Northville, Michigan. She will be interred with her husband at Great Lakes National Cemetery, Holly, Michigan. In lieu of flowers, if you wish, contributions may be made to Plymouth Canton Community Literacy Council (www.plymouthcantonliteracy.org) or Ward Church (ward.church/give). No one can replace such a beloved mother, grandmother, and person, the joy of our lives.

Robert Warren Wilkins

DEXTER - His Legacy... Robert Warren Wilkins, age 87, passed away July 7, 2018. He was born on February 16, 1931, in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania to Warren and Ruth (Metzger) Wilkins. Robert married the love of his life, Mary Sieg in Glenshaw, Pennsylvania in 1952. He served in the Army as an instructor with the 10th Mountain Division during the Korean War. Robert was an outdoorsman; he especially enjoyed camping and skiing with his family. During retirement, he and Mary put many miles on the family camper traveling the United States. Robert was committed to his community, serving the Novi school board for 12 years and the City Zoning Commission also. After earning the Eagle Scout award when he was 17, he continued a lifetime support of scouting activities. He served as a volunteer Cub and Boy Scout troop leader and as a little league coach. He was a longtime member of the United Methodist Church. Most importantly, Robert adored his family and enjoyed spending time with them. He will be greatly missed by all who knew and loved him.

His Family... Robert will be missed by his wife Mary; children, Patricia, Thomas, Christine (Greg), Roberta (Patrick); grandchildren, Michelle, Shannon, Elisabeth (Christian), Rebecca, David, Hope, Erica; great-grandchildren; Isabella, Cadence and Charlotte; sister-in-law, Christine. He is preceded in death by his brother, Daniel.

His Farewell... Robert's Community Farewell will be held at 3:00pm (2pm gathering) Friday, July 13, 2018 at Dexter United Methodist Church, Dexter, Michigan. Memorial contributions are suggested to Dexter United Methodist Church and the local Boy Scouts council. Please leave a message of comfort for Robert's family at 1-877-231-7900, or sign his guestbook at www.borekjennings.com.

Mercy's Mruzik serving notice on national stage

Brad Emons
hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Everybody in the state had already discovered how good Jess Mruzik was as a volleyball player.

But now the nation is also starting to see where the 6-foot-2 outside hitter from Livonia stands following last week's USA Volleyball Girls Junior National Championships held at Detroit's Cobo Center.

Mruzik, who will be a junior this fall at Farmington Hills Mercy, certainly impressed after leading the Legacy Volleyball Club's Elite 16 team to an 8-3 overall record and a 10th-place finish against some of the nation's best 16-and-under club teams.

The previous week, the Livonia native was named a 16 Open All-American at the AAU National Championships in Orlando, Fla., after leading her team to a fifth-place finish.

Mruzik is also among 20 invitees, including eight outside hitters, who will compete for 12 roster spots on the U.S. Girls Youth National Team from July 20 through Aug. 3 in Colorado Springs, Colo., for a chance to compete Aug. 25 to Sept. 2 at the 2018 NORCECA Girls U-18 Continental Championship in Honduras.

The top two countries in the NORCECA event will qualify for the 2019 FIVB Girls U-18 World Championship.

Ironically, this is Mruzik's first full year of playing club volleyball. As a freshman at Mercy, Mruzik was the starting center on a 22-5 basketball team that reached the Class A state quarterfinals.

But Mruzik opted out of hoops her sophomore year.

"It was so hard," Mruzik said. "I've

DeBiasi hurdles health obstacles en route to college success

Going to college in Florida might just be every high school senior's dream — especially for a Michigander like Plymouth's Marina DeBiasi. Who wouldn't want the opportunity to mix books and beach while experiencing university life hundreds of miles from home?

But the past four years haven't always gone swimmingly for the 21-year-old DeBiasi — a cross country and track runner who recently graduated with a degree in chemical engineering from Florida Institute of Technology.

"I went in my freshman year (2014) and I had mono, so that was horrible,"

Livonian Newell takes turn as USGA president

Brad Emons
hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

One of the perks of being the 65th president of the United States Golf Association was handing out the championship trophy to newly crowned U.S. Open winner Brooks Koepka.

That job belonged to Livonia native and 1974 Bentley High grad Mark Newell, whose job entails so much more as he steers an organization, founded in 1895, with more than 700,000 members.

Newell

The USGA is the United States' national association of golf courses, clubs and facilities and the governing body of golf for the U.S. and Mexico. Together with The Royal & Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, the USGA produces and interprets the rules of golf.

Newell, an attorney from McLean, Va., who graduated from Albion College in 1977, was elected president during the organization's annual meeting in early February in Miami Beach, Fla. He leads a 15-member volunteer USGA Executive Committee that provides strategic direction and oversight to the USGA's full-time management and staff.

This year's U.S. Open at Shinnecock Hills Golf Club, held in the town of Southampton on Long Island, did not come without some controversy. Due to the severity of the greens and pin placements and changing weather conditions during the third round, scores ballooned and there was some player backlash, not to mention the Phil Mickelson episode on the 13th green, where he struck a still moving ball.

But Newell's takeaway on the tournament was played straight down the middle.

Testy challenge

"I think we had a fantastic championship that produced a fantastic champion," Newell said. "Shinnecock Hills is one of the great golf courses in the United States, one of the great U.S. Open sites and plays challenging and plays well. It blew hard on Saturday been playing basketball since I was in fourth grade. Everybody in my family grew up playing basketball, so you kind of grow up with it in your family. That's why Mercy is very competitive and, obviously, it's such a good program and I love all coaches there and all the people there. It was so hard to make that decision to stop playing. An opportunity with USA Volleyball came up. I wanted to focus on volleyball so I could get on that team."

Mruzik

In May of her freshman year, Mruzik made a verbal commitment to play volleyball for the 2020 class at the University of Michigan.

"Michigan has always been my dream school," Mruzik said. "I grew up a die-hard Michigan fan and I had looked around at other schools all over the country, but every time I went there (Michigan) it felt like home. Nothing was going to change that."

Mruzik started playing volleyball in the fourth grade, but it wasn't always her sport.

"I actually quit cheerleading to play volleyball," Mruzik said with a chuckle. "I was a competitive cheerleader and it just didn't really seem like where I needed to be. I struggled playing volleyball and I said, 'Hey, I might as well give it a try' and fell in love with it."

Mruzik began playing club volleyball with Team Detroit, but switched this season to Legacy, where she led the Elite 16 team while also making the Junior Volleyball Association's All-National Team.

During her past club season, Mruzik traveled across the country, turning heads in Salt Lake City, Dallas, Chicago and Indianapolis, capped by the season finale at the Cobo Center.

"It's so nice playing in Detroit," Mruzik said. "It's, like, playing on your home court basically. All your friends and family get to come and it's really nice for everything from around the country to come to see the city and see what Detroit has to offer. It sounds cliché, but protecting your city, your state ... it means a lot to us."

In her first full season of club volleyball, Legacy coach Jen Cottrill, who guided Novi High School to three straight Class A state championships, has seen the hard work in the gym pay off for Mruzik.

"She gets off the ground quickly, she has a super-fast arm swing, great ball control ... then you add all the intangibles," Cottrill said. "She's one of those special kids that has everything — the work ethic, the leadership, she's grounded, she's humble, such a good teammate. She's just got it all, really."

Mruzik played a huge role this season as Legacy finished 52-16 overall against the nation's best.

"We ask her to do a lot," Cottrill said. "She serves, plays defense and takes the big swings, but her teammates also complement her. There at the end, they're taking big swings also. You need everybody to win those big games."

Legacy's Elite 16 team features five NCAA Division I commits: Mruzik, Kennedy Dolmage, Macomb Lutheran North (Oakland University); Alexa Rousseau, Bloomfield Hills (Northwestern); Kendall Murray, Ann Arbor Skyline (Michigan); and Lauren King, West Bloomfield (West Virginia).

Rounding out the Legacy squad in Detroit were Christine Audette (Birmingham Marian), Kate Stratton (Rochester Stoney Creek) and Mruzik's high school teammate Kayla Shields (Mercy).

"It's such a different level of competition, it's crazy," Mruzik said. "Everybody that's committed, no matter what school they're going to, they're good. Pretty much everybody that plays club, whether committed or not, are good. So there's really not a bad player that's going to play club on the team."

Away from the volleyball courts, Mruzik likes to hang out with friends, work out or go to the gym for extra reps. She carries a cumulative 3.8 grade-point average and would like to study something related to the medical field in college.

And once her USA Volleyball obligations are fulfilled, Mruzik will rejoin her Mercy teammates sometime in August or September. The Marlins finished 49-8-1 overall last season, falling in a four-setter to Catholic League rival Marian in the Class A state semifinals as Mruzik finished with 26 kills, 13 digs and six blocks.

And for Mruzik, there's some unfinished business with the Marlins.

"We were disappointed from the loss last year," she said. "Obviously, we're returning such a huge group. We only graduated two seniors from last year. We're setting the bar really high this season and we're expecting nothing less than success this year."

And that's success, not only on the state level, but national level.

DeBiasi said. "I was just tired all the time."

From that unfortunate bout with mononucleosis to sustaining a crushed vertebra in a freak accident, DeBiasi's dream had some nightmarish moments.

All's well that ends well. She brought home a 3.92 grade-point average and special hardware, having won the prestigious Sunshine State Conference Female Scholar-Athlete of the Year Award.

The lofty accolades sneaked up on DeBiasi the same way she likes to lay back during a race before clicking into top gear for the stretch drive.

"I feel as though there's not any specific moment throughout my college experience that I thought 'Well, I really did it, I really succeeded,'" the soft-spoken DeBiasi said. "It was just kind of a continuous 'OK, that was good, I did well on that test or I did well in that race.'"

"But I'm just going to keep working my hardest and not get too caught up in the glory or the moment."

Setbacks, bounce-backs

She just kept grinding in the classroom, not to mention finding her way back as an athlete almost every year.

Her sophomore year began with promise, but then she broke a vertebra in her back after a freak fall. DeBiasi was going on a morning training run and decided to jump over a nearby fence, thinking that move would add some distance.

"I had this really strong feeling that I shouldn't do it," she said, adding that she slipped and sustained the compression fracture.

DeBiasi returned to health in time to run during the spring track season (placing second in the Sunshine State Conference in the 10,000-meter run).

That success extended to a healthy junior year, when she was named MVP of the women's cross country team.

Then, before her senior season as a cross country performer for Division II Florida Tech, she had to have a tonsillectomy.

"I just got my tonsils removed leading into my cross country season, so I had to miss, like, the first month of running, because I was still recovering from that," DeBiasi said. "With all the painkillers I was taking, it really messed up my sleep schedule. We have to practice early in the morning (5 a.m. or 5:30 a.m.) be-

ALL ABOUT MARINA

College award: Marina DeBiasi, 21, recently was named Sunshine State Conference Female Scholar-Athlete of the Year. She was Florida Institute of Technology's first recipient of the award since 1995.

Academic props: DeBiasi, whose parents are Charles and Laura DeBiasi, just graduated with a 3.92 grade-point average in chemical engineering.

During her time at Florida Tech (located in Melbourne), she was a four-time member of the FIT Athletic Director's Honor Roll, as well as the SSC Commissioner's Honor Roll. She was awarded FIT's Distinguished Student Scholar award three times (2016-18) and was named the Most Outstanding Junior for the chemical engineering department in 2017.

Athletic props: In 2017, DeBiasi finished ninth at the SSC cross country championship with a time of 23:27.09 in the 6,000-meter race. She then went on to finish 18th at the NCAA Division II South Region Championship. Her time of 22:53.87 placed her seventh among SSC finishers. Following her conference and regional performances she earned second team all-SSC honors and all-South Region honors.

High school: She graduated in 2014 from Plymouth High School, where she ran both cross country and track.

Miscellaneous: DeBiasi will study for her master's degree at Colorado State. She has four sisters, Lia, 29; Alaina, 28; Gina, 25; Anna Maria, 19.

cause it gets so hot during the day. ... I was just going crazy."

Totally unexpected

Yes, DeBiasi had personal setbacks and her share of athletic disappointments. But she still left Florida Tech with a major award, the school's first female athlete since 1995 to win the Sunshine State Conference Female Scholar-Athlete of the Year Award.

"I really wasn't expecting it at all," said DeBiasi, who seems to be her toughest critic.

One reason for her surprise is how she is wired. Her main goal in life isn't to jump the highest, be the loudest or get noticed the most. It is to work hard, grind and maximize her abilities.

"I don't think I'm that smart, I just apply myself and I'm willing to put in an effort," DeBiasi said, downplaying her academic achievements. "I think that's what gives me an edge over so many people. There's so many brilliant people that go to that school (Florida Tech), but if you're not willing to put in the work, then it doesn't mean much, really."

"And I've seen a lot of people kind of squander what they have, because they'd rather have some temporary satisfaction someplace else."

Not sweating the small things and maintaining balance in life keeps DeBiasi on the winning path.

"There's a balance of good and bad," she said. "If you're good all the time, then you beat yourself up for all the times that you're not good. But if you're bad sometimes and good sometimes, then you don't beat yourself up for either time. It's like the concept of Yin and Yang."

Friends and projects

DeBiasi also balanced her competitive pursuits in college by being active in several sororities (primarily Gamma Phi Beta), working as an engineering assistant and participating in Girls on the Run International — an experience-based curriculum that emphasizes running.

"It really helped that I was in a sorority, because then I could have another group of friends," she said. "The entire school feels much smaller than the (Plymouth-Canton Educational Park) ever did."

Two of her friends, Martha Perez (from Venezuela) and Sarah Torkaman (from New York) joined her for a project that won best in show at the 2018 Northrop Grumman Engineering & Science Senior Design Showcase.

In the chemical engineering project, they featured the production of acrylic acid from glycerol.

"We are the dream team, I swear," DeBiasi said with a smile. "We can't do anything without each other. We like to all keep our brains on the same wavelength."

If that trio splits up anytime soon, it is for a pretty good reason: DeBiasi is going to Colorado State University to study for a master's of science degree in civil engineering.

Earning such a degree isn't about ratcheting up her future salary, DeBiasi insisted.

With that knowledge and her propensity to do for those in need — she crochets hats to donate to a hospital; a 2016 mission trip to Costa Rica with Youth With A Mission gave her opportunity to build homes and pass out meals — DeBiasi wants her engineering acumen to help the greater good.

Ball State hires ex-Churchill standout Rachel McFarlane as distance coach

hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Ball State cross country and track and field head coach Brian Etelman announced recently the addition of former Michigan State standout and University of North Florida assistant coach Rachel McFarlane to the Cardinals' staff.

The Livonia Churchill High grad, who helped the Spartans to back to back Big Ten cross country championships (2010-11) and was a two-time NCAA cross country championship competitor (2011-12), joins the Ball State staff as distance coach.

"I want to thank coach Etelman for this opportunity and his confidence in me to continue to build the distance program at Ball State," McFarlane said. "I am excited to return to the Midwest and work closely with a talented group of women who are hardworking and ambitious to excel in their running careers."

For the past two seasons, McFarlane served as an assistant coach at North Florida, where she helped guide the Ospreys to a pair of Atlantic Sun cross country team championships (men in 2016 and women in 2017). In addition, she helped mentor the 2016 ASUN men's cross country individual champion and the 2016 and 2017 ASUN women's cross country individual champion.

North Florida also sent a runner to the NCAA women's cross country championships (2017), sent a competitor to the NCAA outdoor track and field championships (2017 and 2018) and had a student-athlete earn NCAA outdoor track and field second team All-America honors (2017) during McFarlane's tenure.

Prior to joining the North Florida staff, McFarlane spent two seasons as an assistant coach at Lansing Community College, where she helped guide the Stars to the 2015 NJCAA Division I women's cross country national championship. LCC's student-athletes earned 13 All-America honors under her tutelage.

McFarlane began her coaching career in 2013 as an assistant for Lansing Catholic High School, a job she maintained in the two seasons she worked at Lansing Community College. At Lansing Catholic, McFarlane helped lead the boys cross country program to the 2015 state title and helped mentor four individual state champions.

"I am incredibly excited to have Rachel on board," Etelman said. "I believe our program is fortunate to have someone who was a huge contributor to a Big Ten championship as a student-athlete and who has coached student-athletes to conference team championships and individual All-America awards at multiple levels. Her blend of Midwest roots and exposure to many different levels of competitive success as both a coach and athlete make her the perfect hire for us."

Prior to her coaching career, McFarlane was a three-year letter winner in cross country (2010-12) and a four-year letter winner in track and field (2009-10 to 2012-13) at MSU.

As a senior, she earned second team all-Big Ten honors in both cross country and indoor track and field. She finished her collegiate career running the 5,000 meters at the 2013 NCAA outdoor track and field east preliminary round.

McFarlane, who graduated from MSU in 2013 with a bachelor's degree in kinesiology, concluded her MSU career as a program record holder in the indoor distance medley relay and the outdoor 4 by 1,500 relay.

She also holds her level 1 USATF coach certification.

"Rachel inherits a very young, talented and ambitious group of distance runners," Etelman said. "Our program has grown tremendously over the past three years. I believe our final push to develop into a championship caliber team will come from Rachel's dedication to implementing our vision on a daily basis and establishing her event area as an integral piece to our success. We are anxiously waiting to welcome Rachel to Muncie."

PDL SOCCER

Bucks' playoff hopes take hit in loss to Dutch Lions

Brad Emons
hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

The Michigan Bucks had their chances Saturday night at Pontiac's Ultimate Soccer Arenas, but came up empty in a damaging 1-0 Premier Development League soccer setback to the Cincinnati Dutch Lions.

With only three games remaining, the Bucks — one of the PDL's most storied franchises with three North American Championship titles — (4-4-3, 15 points) slipped back into fourth place and will need a miracle to garner one of the top two playoff spots in the Great Lakes Division of the Central Conference.

"We have to depend on other people now, other results to go our way," first-year Bucks head coach Paul Thomas said. "That's the disappointing thing. We're full of quality, but just find ourselves in a really tough situation."

The Dutch Lions (5-3-3, 18 points) got the must win and moved into third behind the first-place Dayton Dutch Lions (24 points) and Lansing United (20 points), thanks to Max Wilschrey's team-leading sixth goal of the season in the 20th minute on a nifty unassisted effort to beat Bucks goalkeeper Lenny Wilson.

"We started out the season slow, but we've really come together as a team and now we're fighting for a spot," said Cincinnati midfielder Connor Rutz, who played two seasons at Schoolcraft College under coach Rick Larson. "It puts us in third right now. Lansing got a result today. They got a forfeit with Derby City. That's who we're fighting with."

In the second half, the Bucks amped up the pressure, but couldn't beat Dutch Lions keeper Wesley Storm.

In the 47th minute, David Goldsmith's potential game-tying shot rang off the post. And in the 74th minute, an attempt by the Bucks' Tam Dimairo got past Storm, but Dutch Lions defender Jacob Goodall cleared the ball off the line.

"We created seven or eight really goal edge opportunities and we failed to score," Thomas said. "They had a chance and scored it and we end up walking away with a defeat, so it's gut-wrenching. It's disappointing and sometimes it goes that way and it's difficult to take."

The Bucks' leading scorer, Austin Ricci (Oakland University), who missed the previous game in a 2-2 deadlock with first-place Dayton, came on for forward Amadou Cisse (Madonna University) late to make a last-ditch push offensively. But Cincinnati's defense held firm.

"They were a rigid 4-4-2, defended resolutely, they defended deep, they were hard to break down," Thomas said. "But again, we should be beating that team with the chances we created."

It was the first meeting between the two Great Lakes Division teams this season. The first match June 8 was postponed until the season finale Monday, July 16, at Northern Kentucky University.

It was a special homecoming for Rutz, who played high school soccer at Walled Lake Northern and will be a senior this fall at Saginaw Valley State.

As a junior, Rutz scored seven goals and added two assists as the Cardinals (13-4-2 overall) finished second in the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (9-2-1) before being ousted in the first round of the NCAA Division II tournament in a 1-1 penalty kick shootout against Davis & Elkins (W.Va.).

Rutz played last summer for the Michigan Stars of the National Premier Soccer League.

"This year, I wanted to go away from home and play PDL, play at the next level, got an offer from this team and had to take it," Rutz said. "At first, I started out slow. There's a lot of good players on this team. I worked my way onto the squad and now I'm a regular starter. I'm playing a lot of minutes and I'm happy."

Defense was certainly the key in shutting out the Bucks.

"In a game like that against the Bucks, who are really good and want to keep possession the whole time, so sat in a just defended," Rutz said. "We were disciplined. We got one break and we scored. And then we sat in and did our job."

And being in the Queen City this summer has its benefits on and off the field.

"I love it," Rutz said. "The city is awesome, the team is awesome. They treat us like pros. It's great."

and a couple of holes got pretty hard to play and we noted afterward we had not meant it to get quite that hard, but the course still played great. Obviously for the future, we'll just keep looking at making sure we set it up in a way that it will provide the real tough challenge that represents a U.S. Open and presents the players with a great test."

Newell is in his eighth year on the executive committee and has chaired the Rules of Golf Committee since 2013. He previously served as general counsel to the USGA in 2011-12 and as treasurer in 2014-15. He will also be chairing the compensation committee in 2018.

After receiving his bachelor's degree from Albion, Newell earned a master's of public policy from the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University and a J.D. from Harvard Law School. While at Harvard, Newell served as editor and treasurer of the Harvard Law Review.

Newell is retired from Latham & Watkins LLP, having served as vice chairman and chief operating partner from 2002-11. He served on the firm's executive committee from 1999 to 2011 and was managing partner of the Washington D.C. office from 1993 to 2000.

Newell previously served as a law clerk to U.S. Supreme Court Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. from 1982-83.

Passion for game

Newell played three sports at Bentley and only dabbled as recreational golfer as a youth, but had a passion for the game throughout his life.

"I was never a competitive player, just my friends in high school and college would go around playing at Whispering Willows, we played at Brae Burn, a handful of other public courses in the area," Newell said. "But we mostly stayed pretty local and just went out and had a good time and figure out how to play this hard game."

Newell, who continued to play with his friends Saturday mornings while starting his law career in D.C., became heavily involved and was in the forefront of a USGA and R&A joint effort to modernize the Rules of Golf.

"We have a pretty ambitious set of strategic objectives as an organization," Newell said. "We have been working really hard in the rules areas. We have been working for the last several years in modernizing the rules of golf and we're almost finished with that commencing Jan. 1 of next year. Those new rules will take effect, which will be pretty far reaching. So an important goal is just to see that all the way through, help golfers at all levels, understand the rule changes and hope they see that the game a bit easier in terms of the rules, a bit simpler and more intuitive."

And being an attorney certainly played a role in Newell becoming a rules official.

"A lot of people who have gone deeply into the rules have some legal background, although certainly not most, but a good number have," he said. "There's sort of an obvious parallel in terms of a skill sets and types of thinking that are involved there. I got involved in the USGA first as a volunteer general counsel, which is a position on our executive committee. And then ended up as chair of the rules committee for five years."

Other changes

Newell also said the USGA is in the final stages of creating a new handicap system.

"We've always had the leading handicap system in the world, the USGA, from more than 100 years ago," he said. "We're now joining with the R&A in Scotland in creating one for the world and that takes effect 2020, so we're definitely focused on that."

Newell succeeded Diana Murphy as USGA president. They are generally elected for a one-year term, but it is customary for the president to serve two such terms.

With an expected year-and-a-half remaining on his term, Newell's agenda is to grow the game, while creating a healthy golf environment. And working closely with the USGA's CEO Mike Davis, Newell's job is to help shape the sport toward the future.

Let's play nine

Newell, who is a member of the Robert Trent Jones Golf Club in Gainesville, Va., also believes golf does not have to be played over the traditional 18 holes and doesn't have to take several hours out of your day.

"We have a 'Play Nine' campaign to encourage golf courses to offer nine-hole rounds and encourage their play and to have people recognize that playing nine holes is actually a lot of fun," he said. "You can do it quickly and you can post your score for handicap purposes and have the time to do other things." And the use of new technology can also encourage players to stay interested in the sport without compromising the fundamentals of the game.

"It's still a game where you still have to use the club to hit a ball," Newell said. "You don't have to have a lot of artificial help. But there's lots of interesting things and some things that can be done to collect information that you can study later and otherwise try to make sure the game stays for all the people as society changes and that people find interesting changes."

The USGA, headquartered in Liberty Corner, N.J., just unveiled in March a newly expanded, cutting edge, state-of-the-art complex, not only for its employees, but also for golf enthusiasts and visitors.

Next chapter

The newly expanded USGA headquarters also gives its employees a place to sharpen their golf skills.

"It's a great place to come visit from the outside because you can see the museum, you can take a tour of the test facility," Newell said. "And it's a wonderful new place to work for our employees with the real focus with staying on their golf. We have a putting green outside by the golf simulator inside, so people can be active and not just work in an office."

Once his term ends, the 62-year-old Newell plans to enter the next phase of his life.

"I want to see what it's like to really retire," he said. "I retired from my law firm 6½ years ago, not really knowing what I was going to do next. I felt like it was that time for that next adventure and kind of fell into this opportunity and now in my eighth year with the USGA. In a year-and-a-half, I'll have to look for that next adventure and maybe hope it's no so all-consuming and I will get to play a bit more golf."

"It's a funny thing ... some note when you get involved in golf administration in different ways, sometimes you end up playing less golf. And there are times when I feel that way. On the other hand, I am extremely lucky to have had a chance - while doing this - to play some of the great courses in the world. So like most people, I probably don't play much golf as I like, but I get to play and having a great time doing it."

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

LIVONIA HOUSING COMMISSION

19300 Purlingbrook
Livonia, Michigan 48152
(248) 477-7086

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Livonia Housing Commission (LHC) has developed the fiscal year 2019 Annual Agency Plan and Five Year (2019-2022) Plan in compliance with the Quality Housing and Work Responsibility Act of 1998 and applicable regulations issued by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The Agency Plan reflects the goals and objectives of the Commission and the administration of housing and community development programs. The Agency Plan and supporting documentation are available for public review for a period of not less than 45 days at the Livonia Housing Commission's administrative office located at 19300 Purlingbrook, Livonia, Michigan 48152. The Commission's hours of operation are 8:30 am to 5:00 pm, Monday through Friday. The comment period will end on September 3, 2018. The Housing Commission will conduct a public hearing at 5:30 pm, Thursday, September 20, 2018 at the Housing Commission's McNamara Towers #2 conference room located at 19300 Purlingbrook, Livonia, Michigan, 48152. The purpose of the public hearing is to obtain final citizen comments on the Agency Plan, which will be submitted to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development no later than October 12, 2018.

July is FREE WINDOWS MONTH at Renewal by Andersen.¹

Why is July one of the best times to replace your windows?

Because more energy-efficient windows can help you get relief from your uncomfortably hot home.

Our exclusive High-Performance™ Low-E4® SmartSun™ glass is up to 70% more energy efficient.† It's engineered to help make your home cooler this summer.

Call before July 31st!

Our Fibrex® material is 2X STRONGER THAN VINYL

Why have our customers chosen us over another window company?

1. Fibrex® Material

Our exclusive Fibrex material was researched by Andersen for 30 years before it was installed in even one home. Our Fibrex material is twice as strong as vinyl.

2. Unique Look

Our window has the elegant look and strength of a wood window, but our Fibrex material doesn't demand the same maintenance of wood.*

3. Accountability

There's no frustrating "middle man" to deal with. We sell, build, install and warrant both our windows and installation.
