Livonia may regulate Airbnb, VRBO rentals

Shelby Tankersley Hometownlife.com
 USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

Love them or hate them, places like Airbnb, VRBO, HomeAway and Couch-Surfing have given municipalities a laundry list of things to consider.

Because these short-term rentals are run out of homes or apartments, they often go unregulated by local government unless the municipality updates its ordinances to include them.

But to keep cities from banning short-term rentals altogether through zoning ordinances, 56th District Rep. Jason Sheppard (R-Temperance) has introduced an amendment to the Michigan Zoning Enabling Act, known as House Bill 4046.

"To put it in the simplest terms, it doesn't allow (municipalities) to zone the use out, but it certainly allows the local municipalities to create ordinances to regulate in their own communities," Sheppard said.

As the bill stands now, that local control is explicitly spelled out. That has raised concerns in Livonia, which has had short-term rental woes in the recent past.

The experience at the new PappaRoti in Farmington Hills is truly an international one.

Ingredients from Asia, the Middle East, South America, and Oceania are used in its coffee, tea, and baked goods.

It's a taste that franchise owner Khaled ElShiwy hopes brings plenty of customers - those familiar with the brand and its more than 400 shops across the globe, and new ones who have never heard of it - to his new store at 35572 Grand River Ave., in Muirwood Square at the northwest corner of Drake, the first of its kind in the country.

It's an honor, he said, but also comes with some great responsibility with how big the brand is overseas.

"It gives, first of all, a lot of responsibility and a lot of opportunity too," he said. "Any business, it's hard to develop. But it's not impossible to do. It needs patience."

PappaRoti, which roughly translates to "father of the bun" from Malaysian, has locations mostly across the Middle East and eastern Asia, locating in countries such as Indonesia, Vietnam, Iraq and the United Arab Emirates.

It began in the early 2000s and has begun to expand into the western world,

Madonna University breaks ground on new building

David Veselenak Hometownlife.com
 USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

Archbishop Allen Vigneron joined the heavens Sunday in sprinkling water at the future site of the Madonna University Welcome Center and Felician Sisters Heritage Center.

He insisted he was just following God's lead.

"Admittedly, it seems a bit superfluous," he joked. "But I look at it as a way to cooperate with God's blessing."

Vigneron, along with about 100 other people, sat huddled in a tent during a rainy Sunday afternoon earlier this month at the Livonia university for the groundbreaking of the new 28,000-square-foot facility, which will lie to the west of the university's administration building off Schoolcraft Road.

The space was inspired by the Basilica of St. Francis of Assisi in Italy, and is reflective of the values of St. Francis that are espoused by the Felician Sisters and the university. The Felician Sisters of North America Heritage Center and Archives, along with the landscape and structure of the Welcome Center, are to be places for spiritual wonder and self-discovery, according to the university.

The welcome center also will feature a Great Room that can accommodate up to 400 people for a wide range of university and community events. In addition, the facility will include an art gallery, a cafe, and offices for university departments such as admissions and advancement. The Felician Sisters archives, as well as reading rooms, storage, and circulation equipment, will be housed in the lower level of the welcome center.

Sister Mary Christopher Moore, a provincial minister of the Felician Sisters of North America, said the traditional image of what an archive looks like won't be what the center will look like.

"Archives contain the living history of an institution, school, even of a family," she said. "Archives can open up a window to the past and can light the way to the future."

Construction is expected to begin next month and hopefully wrap up by the summer of 2021, said university President Michael Grandillo.

First responders honored at prayer breakfast

Shelby Tankersley Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

One of the state's longest-standing prayer breakfasts felt a little different this year. For Livonia's 45th annual Prayer Breakfast, the city broke with its tradition of holding the event on the National Day of Prayer and used the upcoming Memorial Day to honor first responders within the community.

Community members and leaders got together for the big breakfast at Burton Manor at 7 a.m. May 23. The event brings together Livonia residents who practice different denominations of Christianity to celebrate the things they have in common.

Livonia police officer Andrew Blaha participated in the program by reading Psalm 73:23-28 and Philippians 2:12-18. Dr. Erwin Lutzer delivered the morning's message, "Heeding the Call to be a Light in the Darkness."

Lutzer has been a pastor, author and radio host. He is a former pastor of the Moody Church in Chicago, Ill.

"The way we can take the cross of Christ and the light into this culture is to do so with a sense of honesty and plainness and at the same time with a sense of caring and brokenness and humility," he said.

Lutzer cracked a slew of jokes and did an impersonation of famed pastor Billy Graham. But, he spent most of the message encouraging the crowd of almost 600 to be kind and humble.

"There's often a race to see who can be the greatest victim," Lutzer said. "And in the midst of this, oftentimes, we don't listen to each other."

He reminded the crowd more than once that, according to the Bible, serving Jesus means serving one's neighbor. He used the example of immigration, saying that he believes in strong borders but thinks Christians should "help everybody, legal or illegal."

Lutzer told the crowd the well-known adage, "that which unites us is more than that which divides us" and encouraged them to be positive forces in their community.

Family fun center opens in Westland

David Veselenak Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

It didn't take long for Sam Sabra to determine the perfect spot for his new family fun center.

Looking at the site of a former liquidation center at Middlebelt and Ann Arbor Trail in Westland, Sabra, a Dearborn resident, knew it was a great fit.

"When you see a location, you just know," he said. "We just felt there was potential here, especially in Westland, with Westland up and coming."

That dream came true last month, as Sabra's business, Yoyo's Fun Center, opened at 8044 N. Middlebelt. The facility has a three-tiered indoor playground, activities for toddlers, and some games for older children. The space even has a ball pit, which is cleaned routinely, Sabra said.

"We've got all the fun stuff," he said. "It's for all ages."

Yoyo's is the first of its kind to open in Michigan. Sabra's parents have operated a Yoyo's Fun Center in Windsor for the last 10 years, and he decided he wanted to bring it to this side of the Ambassador Bridge.

He redid some of the infrastructure, painted the walls and prepped the play and party areas.

"From the ground up, everything had to be redone," he said.

The space can accommodate birthday parties, with each party having its own table area. Food is available for purchase and includes pizza and hot dogs.

Brittany Morgan, a Brownstown Township resident, recently brought her child to the center for an afternoon of playing.

She said cousin discovered it online and decided she'd make the drive up to Westland to check it out. It was a good experience for them and she plans to be back.

"Besides Chuck E. Cheese, Funtastic (in Canton and Woodhaven) was the only one we knew of until she found this place," she said. "I don't like Chuck E. Cheese and there's not a lot of places for toddlers."

The center is open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. weekdays and 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekends.

More information, including party reservations, is at yoyosfuncenter.com.

Livonia chamber endorses governor's roads tax plan

Livonia business leaders say paying 45 cents per gallon in new gasoline taxes now to appropriately fix the state's inferior roads is better than paying more in the future along with the current hidden costs.

This was the driving force behind a recent vote by the Livonia Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors to support Gov. Gretchen Whitmer's gas tax plan to generate $2.5 billion in annual revenue for lasting repairs to Michigan's crumbling roads and bridges.

"Safe roads and bridges are critical for the growth of businesses here in Livonia and across the state," said John Hiltz, a chamber board member and president of OHM Advisors in Livonia. "It's no longer an option to ignore or insufficiently fund this problem. Each year we delay, the price tag increases substantially."

The chamber's rationale for supporting this measure includes:

- Companies paying the added taxes now should see lower hidden costs in the future for lost business opportunities and damaged vehicles caused by poor road conditions.

- The gas tax is a user fee that fairly spreads the costs to driving residents and visitors.

- The state constitution requires gas taxes go to roads and bridges, preventing future lawmakers from reappropriating these funds.

- This infusion of $2.5 billion into the state will provide new jobs and economic development.

"There was little debate over the need for $2.5 billion for proper fixes to the roads, but the debate was on the method of collecting the revenue," said Paul Bohn, chair of the chamber's board and partner at the law firm of Fausone Bohn LLP in Northville. "We realize nobody wants to pay more taxes; however, in the three months since the governor presented her plan, no one has presented an alternative plan that provides the necessary funding and mandates the money goes to roads."

The chamber board is open to listening to alternative viable ideas that generate the $2.5 billion dedicated to roads, said Bohn.

Rentals

A slew of residents showed up to a Livonia City Council Committee of the Whole meeting April 25 to talk about Airbnbs specifically, originating from their concern of strangers coming in and out of the neighborhood on Flamingo Boulevard.

Local limitations considered

All but two of the homeowners within two blocks of the home signed a petition saying they wanted the Airbnb gone, so the owner shut it down.

The incident has left strong feelings toward short-term rentals among many of those living there.

"I have to get (neighbor) permission to put up a privacy fence, but (my neighbor) can run a hotel-motel next door to me and doesn't have to ask," said Elaine Yates, a resident of Flamingo who lives next door to the former Airbnb.

Airbnb and VRBO operators in the city declined to discuss the issue on the record.

Residents' issues with short-term rentals has city council considering regulation. But, Council President Laura Toy said it would be far from a simple process.

Though the city cannot watch everything, Toy said the council could consider the number of exits, bathrooms, license, fees, square footage, location, the number of rooms and more for short-term rental homes to ensure they're safe for renters and neighbors.

This would all be decided in committee, where the consideration currently sits.

Safety a concern

For residents like Yates, safety is a top concern. Homes in that neighborhood have relatively tight lots, and Yates said a neighbor could easily see into her home without leaving their own.

"I'm in a starter home, the sizes of our homes are roughly 1,100 square feet," she explained. "The only thing that really separates me from my neighbor's house is maybe three feet of a flower bed and a driveway."

Toy said, for she and her colleagues, safety is an important consideration.

"People have bought their homes in good faith to know what's there," she said.

Another worry for residents of Flamingo was, in their case, Airbnb's rental process. Hosts can accept "verified" guests, who have submitted to a background check, or "unverified" guests, who have not given their potential host personal information.

Yates said the former Airbnb on her street accepted both kinds of guests, and she feels someone's monetary pursuits shouldn't be at the risk of others.

"I think we're letting corporate America into our neighborhoods and it's destroying our neighborhoods and families and compromising the safety of those who live there," Yates said. "I bought my home 20-some years ago. I never in my wildest dreams thought I'd live next door to a hotel."

Despite the concerns council has heard, Toy said council wants to consider short-term rental owners and renters when drafting an ordinance.

"It's a tough issue, if you're looking at all sides of this," she said.

Considered a bed and breakfast

At request of the council, Livonia's Law Department wrote a letter regarding Section 10 in Chapter 42 of Title 5 in Livonia's Code of Ordinances that would classify short-term rental homes as "bed and breakfasts." This could require short-term rentals to operate with a business license and get inspections from the fire department.

"It is the Law Department's position that a short-term rental marketed for rent online by platforms such as Airbnb are nothing more than a traditional 'bed and breakfast' branded under a different way," a letter from the law department to the council reads.

Yates said, having lived next to a short-term rental, she is for some kind of regulation but doesn't think an outright ban is necessary.

"I'm for local regulation," she said.

For now, Livonia's amendment is staying in committee. The council has a lot to consider before anything can be put into law, with Toy saying, "we've got a long ways on this."

If the amendment makes it out of committee, it will go to a public hearing, to the planning commission and then to a regular council meeting for a vote.

But before it does anything, Livonia wants to see what the state will do.

"We're waiting to see what they're doing and we're trying to influence a bit of what they're doing," Toy said. "I know the next time they meet, if I have time, I'm going to go up there and testify."

Personal property rights

The state's side has a long way to go, too. Bill 4046, if passed by the House committee, would go to the House, Michigan Senate Committee of Local Government, the Senate and ultimately to the Michigan Governor's office. Throughout that process, it could be amended or rejected altogether.

Sheppard hopes his proposed amendment will protect homeowners' rights.

"It's the personal property rights aspect of it," he said. "I mean, we have a lot of people in this state that own second homes that like to put them on the market, we have a lot of tourism in this state."

Sheppard said the bill as it stands now would allow communities to limit the number of establishments in the community or the requirement for inspection.

Yates said she hopes that local control remains in the bill.

"Just let the cities do what they do best. They know my property size, they know the safety laws and things like that," she said. "They know how to keep me safe, keep (short-term rental owners) safe and keep the people who are coming safe."

Let's go fly a kite

What to know about the Lyon Twp. kite festival

USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

Any way the wind blows, doesn't really matter to me (to me).

However, here are five things that may matter to you about the 11th annual Lyon Township International Kite Festival, planned for June 1-2 at the James Atchison Memorial Park, 58000 Grand River Ave., in New Hudson.

1. It's free

Other than a $5 per vehicle parking fee, the event is free, and there are several hundred free kites that will be given away (while supplies last).

2. Go Pro

The festival's headliners are professional kite flyers ready to put on a show, all day long.

From 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, and from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday, you can see performances from individuals, pairs, and teams with kites ranging in size, some closing in on nearly 1,000 square feet.

"We fly choreographed kites to music," said Jon Trennepohl, Plymouth resident and owner of Kites and Fun Things. "It's like watching Olympic ice skating, with performances 4-5 minutes at a time to music. ... We've got special guests from as far as Montreal, Indiana and London, Ontario."

Also performing are the Windjammers, an international kite team from metro Detroit.

3. Go Fly a Kite

There are kites for kids to decorate, and they are encouraged to use the spacious park to fly them.

"Just like everything else in our culture, we are trying to fight to get people back outside and do non-technical stuff, get kids way from phones and computers," Trennepohl said. "It's great that Lyon has endorsed this to do things outside."

4. Fly high, friendly skies or not

A good breeze helps, but is not an absolute necessity, especially with some remote-controlled kites.

"To put on really good show, we do need wind, but there are other things going on and we try to fill the gap," Trennepohl said. "Usually up on that hill, we are getting something."

"Winds from 6-12 miles per hour is perfect. If it's windier than that, we will deal with it."

5. Down-to-Earth fun

While your eyes may be focused on the skies and the art happening above, there is plenty to enjoy on land - live music, carnival food, inflatables for the kids, a magician, Cinderella and Spider-Man, face-painting, and a reptile exhibit that features a 20-foot boa constrictor and alligators.

"We are growing in status," festival chairman Jim Chuck said. "We've gone from 500 people our first year to 5,000 attendees last year. ... It's good family fun and really something to see."

New secondhand store to open in Westland

David Veselenak Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

It's been a long time since Volunteers of America Michigan had a secondhand shop in metro Detroit. The Southfield organization hopes to change that.

The organization was recently approved for a secondhand shop to go in the former Toys R Us location at 34800 Warren in Westland. Preliminary work is beginning and the organization hopes to have the doors open by Labor Day, said Laura LeBlanc, director of development and communications.

The nonprofit has been looking to return to the area after closing some of its stores about 20 years ago.

"We're very excited to come back to the metro Detroit market," she said. "What we were finding is just all the parts weren't coming together at the right time. With Westland, I can definitely say the stars aligned."

Toys R Us filed for bankruptcy last year and closed all its stores, including Babies R Us. The company had stores in Westland, Livonia, Novi and Northville Township, to name a few.

The thrift store, which is roughly 47,000 square feet, will house a wide range of used goods for purchase, including clothing for men and women, linens, pots and pans, furniture, and tools. One hundred percent of proceeds from the store go to support Volunteers of America, which provides services to low-income residents across the state.

The store will allow for drop off of items for donation, and will even offer pickup in the surrounding area, though LeBlanc said the pickup area's boundaries had not yet been determined. To schedule a pickup, call 866-333-8281.

Volunteers for American Michigan currently operates four stores in mid-Michigan: two in Lansing, one in Burton and another in Corunna. LeBlanc said those stores have seen great success, and she expects it'll go the same way in Westland.

"When you offer transformational services, the community will uplift you," she said. "The communities that we're in right now, they love us."

List: Michigan's most dangerous intersections are in metro Detroit

Drive safely if you're traveling near the intersection of Telegraph and 12 Mile roads, which has been ranked the No. 1 most dangerous intersection in Michigan in 2018.

In an annual list released by Michigan Auto Law in Farmington Hills, all of the top 20 intersections are located in southeast Michigan.

According to the post on Michigan Auto Law's website, 145 crashes and 24 injuries were reported at Telegraph and 12 Mile roads.

Telegraph at 12 Mile was ranked No. 3 in 2017. The number of injuries also remains high with 24 in 2018," the post stated. "Use caution in this busy area where high speeds on Telegraph Road may be a factor in causing car accidents."

Farmington Hills man must avoid libraries, get help

Susan Vela Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

A Farmington Hills man charged with aggravated indecent exposure at his local library must stay away from libraries.

He also must get approval to visit playgrounds, day-care centers and other institutions known to be frequented by children.

Pavel Mirzoyan was sentenced May 22 to five years probation and a string of conditions because of his no contest plea in April.

Prosecutors accused him of fondling his genitals while exposing himself at the Farmington Community

Mirzoyan

Library, 32737 W. 12 Mile Road, in late 2017. A no contest plea is not an admission of guilt, but is treated as such for sentencing purposes.

Mirzoyan declined to comment after sentencing. A bond condition was that he not return to the library.

For his sentence, he also must spend two days in jail and commit to a sex offender program and mental health assessment.

Conditions also include domestic violence and anger management programs. He cannot possess a firearm or commit to assaultive behavior.

Sandhill crane adopts baby Canada goose

Keith Matheny Detroit Free Press
USA TODAY NETWORK

It's the Ugly Duckling fairy tale brought to life; only the waterfowl have changed.

A sandhill crane family at Kensington Metropark is attracting a fan following because of one unusual sibling. The female crane, in addition to mothering her hatchling, is also caring for a Canada goose gosling.

"I thought it was so cool, because I'm adopted," said Milford resident Jennifer Thrift, who frequently enjoys amateur photography in the Metropark. "I immediately felt a connection."

Added Todd Hill, another aspiring wildlife photographer who frequents the Metropark: "It's pretty interesting, not something you see every day."

How the gosling ended up with sandhill cranes is unclear. Holly Vaughn, a biologist with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources in Detroit, said a few options are possible.

A Canada goose may have laid its egg on a sandhill crane's nest, and then abandoned it or got chased off by cranes.

"It's more common behavior in duck populations than in geese or cranes," Vaughn said.

Sandhill cranes will also occasionally eat eggs - which are especially good protein for newly hatched young, she said.

"It could be that a crane kidnapped this egg and brought it to their nest with the intention of feeding their young, and it ended up hatching, and now they have a goose baby," Vaughn said. "That bond, that imprinting, that occurs when young babies meet their parents or adoptive parents for the first time is especially strong in birds."

So, what happens as they get older? Diet won't be an issue; Vaughn said Canada geese and sandhill cranes are both largely herbivores, feeding on the same kinds of grasses and seeds. By fall, when both Canada geese and sandhill cranes typically fly south for the winter, the parent-child connection is typically broken, she said.

"It could happen that the goose goes off and raises its own goose family; or it could be it will remain with these cranes," Vaughn said. "It would be interesting to see how this ends up playing out."

But that's a decision for another day. For now, the Canada goose gosling seems to enjoy discovering the world with its sandhill crane sibling, under the protective eye of its adoptive mother.

"It's a very cool, positive, nature thing," Thrift said.

My Place Hotel opens in Wixom

David Veselenak Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

Jeff Cobb hadn't heard of My Place Hotels when he saw a job posting looking for a general manager of a new hotel in Detroit's western suburbs.

Fast forward to now and he's a believer in what he and his staff do on a daily basis at the newest hotel along Interstate 96 in Wixom.

"It's a great company to work for," he said. "I started working for them when they were framing the hotel."

"That was a pretty good experience for me."

The 64-room, three-story hotel opened earlier this month at 4881 Alpha Drive in Wixom and is fairly new to Michigan.

The My Place chain, launched in 2011 by the original founders of Super 8 Motels, began with a hotel in North Dakota. Today, it has 47 across the country including one in Marquette, the only other one in the state.

Cobb said the ownership group knew such a concept would work well on this side of town, especially as more hotels continue to go up in Wixom, Farmington Hills and Livonia.

"The ownership group, they did their research and saw a demand for rooms in this area," he said.

Designed for longer stays, either by business professionals or families, the rooms come with some additional features that allow for a more comfortable visit.

"We're kind of set up for longer-term stays," Cobb said. "We've got the two-burner cook top, the full-size fridge, the microwave. All rooms are like this."

The My Place brand is more budget-conscious, so travelers can expect a few less amenities than other hotels: there's no continental breakfast (though the hotel offers breakfast delivered to the room for heat-up for a small additional fee), no pool and no conference center or meeting rooms.

Because of those adjustments, Cobb said, the hotel can offer more competitive pricing.

"We're mid-scale economy, but we're always going to be priced below them. And we've got a lot of value in our hotel because we don't have all the other amenities that some of the other properties do," he said. "We get this opportunity to attract the budget-conscious traveler because we're always going to be priced below our competitors in this area."

A grand opening for the hotel is planned for some time in June.

And while it's not a local chain, the hotel aims to make guests feel more like they're in Michigan: artwork of spaces such as Comerica Park, downtown Detroit and even the fountain at Wixom's Civic Center Park.

"We did a contest a year ago and a bunch of different artists submitted their artwork and our corporate office picked out the artwork that we hang," Cobb said. "It's nice. It's a little more personal for guests."

Coaches use experiences to help opioid users

Susan Vela Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

These coaches have gone through 12-step programs for a whole host of addictions, and their ability to say "me, too" seems to be making a difference for Western Wayne Rescue Recovery.

Run by Growth Works Inc., a human services agency in Canton Township, the endeavor to shrink the region's opioid problems released an annual report on its peer recovery coaching element and the details show success.

About 90 percent of about 900 people approached have agreed to connect with one of the program's peer recovery coaches. More than 75% of the 565 patients accepting the program between May 2018 and April 2019 were connected to treatment and support services.

It started with peer recovery coaches willing to meet addicts at the hospital, share their own stories and convince them to try their support network.

The coaches know what it's like.

"We say, 'That was me, too. I did that, too. I did that for alcohol. I did that for drugs.' It's that common bond, I think, that's the magic of it all," coach Sarah Spencer said.

In 2017, Michigan experienced about 2,000 drug overdose deaths involving opioids, according to a state report, "Drug Overdose Deaths in Michigan." At least 636 were in Wayne County.

Growth Works partnered with St. Mary Mercy Hospital and the police departments in Livonia, Westland, Canton and Northville Township so coaches could connect with opioid users.

"It has been a great success," said Laura Wojtyts, the hospital's business development manager.

Peer recovery coaches begin providing support, guidance, and their own stories once the patients leave the hospital and start over again.

"Everybody that comes into the hospital is not on a winning streak," Spencer said. "Everyone is either desperate for help, trying to dodge a consequence or this is their last option. This is kind of the last hope for them."

Livonia Police Chief Curtis Caid has been staggered by the program's success.

"When we began this program, really a short time ago, ... I would have never ever thought that we would be that high," he said of the program's coaching rate. "I think those are incredible numbers."

Douglas O'Brien, regional director for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, visited western Wayne County recently to learn more about peer recovery coaching.

"We at the national level have really dialed in on what's happening at the community level," he said.

In its first year, Western Wayne Rescue

Recovery's 15 peer recovery coaches took their two years of recovery and training as their guidance.

The endeavor is funded through a multitude of sources, including a $500,000 budget allocation from the state.

"We like to check out anything new. We're both tea drinkers, so this was right up our alley. In all the coffee and tea places I go into, I don't see anything like this. That's what's nice."

opening shops in the United Kingdom and Canada, and now, ElShiwy's shop in Farmington Hills.

The next closest PappaRoti is in Mississauga, Ontario, north of Hamilton.

It's a place that's always had special meaning to ElShiwy: he took his wife to one in Dubai, where he lived, on their first date.

When he came to the U.S. three years ago, he began looking at a way to bring the shop to the area.

He began looking in Dearborn, but could not find a suitable location. He looked at several malls in Oakland County but still could not find anything. Then, he saw space in the same plaza that houses Busch's grocery store and La Marsa Middle Eastern restaurant and decided to give it a go. He's been working on bringing the business to Farmington Hills for more than a year and opened it last month.

Even today, about 75% of customers that have wandered in are unfamiliar with the brand.

ElShiwy and his employees have no problems explaining the concept to customers.

"Seventy to 75% of the customers, they don't know about us, maybe 80%," he said. "Once they try it, they come again and again and again."

Two of those new customers were Farmington Hills resident Colleen Powers and her daughter, Meg.

Powers said they are big tea drinkers and saw the "grand opening" banner outside the business and decided to check it out last week.

After trying some of the tea, they said they'd probably be back.

"We like to check out anything new," Colleen Powers said. "We're both tea drinkers so this was right up our alley."

"In all the coffee and tea places I go into, I don't see anything like this. That's what's nice."

Signature bun

The highlight of the menu is the signature bun, made over a period of five hours to perfect its taste and texture.

A coffee-flavored frosting is placed on it before it's baked that gives it a unique flavor.

It can come with a variety of toppings, including local spins such as the Up North, which includes the bun topped with ice cream, caramel sauce, chocolate sauce and maple syrup.

For drinks, there's plenty of coffee to choose from that's sourced from across the globe, including South America and Hawaii.

Their signature drink is the Karak tea, made with black tea and spices including saffron.

It's a drink, ElShiwy said, that's unlike those most other coffee shops sell.

"The taste, the flavor, it's rich because of the ingredients," he said. "When you try it for the first time, you will like it."

The shop is open from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to midnight Friday and Saturday and 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday, though the shop is open until 2 a.m. Friday and Saturday evenings during Ramadan.

During the first weekend of Ramadan, a holy month in which Muslims fast during the day and only eat after sundown, ElShiwy said the shop can have plenty of customers looking for a late-night snack.

"The first days last weekend, people came here at 1:30 a.m.," he said.

He said the project, which has been in the planning stages for years, will make Livonia a place

Catholic tourists and pilgrims will come to for learning.

"For a school our size, it might be unprecedented," he said.

The university teased the groundbreaking earlier on, saying they would begin construction on the newest building on campus. Once completed, it will join two new residence halls and the Franciscan Center as the newest buildings at the school.

Grandillo said he's pleased to see the beginning of the project commence and looks forward to what will it bring for the future.

"I think it's a great celebration. It was a long time coming," he said. "We're so excited this day's here and it'll be a part of the community for years to come."

Plymouth defeats Northville in playoffs

Andrew Vaillencourt
Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

The Plymouth boys lacrosse team got the monkey off its back May 22 by beating Northville 11-8 in the regional semifinal.

It's a huge win for the program, which is back in the regional final just a year after losing to Northville. Plymouth, the No. 6 team in the state, also lost to Northville, the No. 5 team, earlier this season in overtime, but that didn't play a role in the motivation for the Wildcats.

"It feels good to get the victory tonight," Plymouth coach Ray Miller said. "I don't think we thought a whole lot about last year or earlier this season. We're always focused on the next game.

We came out firing."

Plymouth was led by senior Carson Miller, who scored two goals and tallied an assist.

"It feels amazing," Miller said. "Northville has always been a rival for us and Northville is the No. 1 team I want to beat personally the whole season, so it feels so good to beat them in the playoffs."

The Mustangs started off with a quick goal by senior Jack Harris just eight seconds into the game, but from that point on, it was the Wildcats, who took a 9-2 lead into halftime.

Eight players scored for Plymouth. Juniors Gavin Roach and Brendan Allen both scored two goals as well.

Canton thumps Churchill 5-0 in district quarterfinal

Ed Wright Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

Powered by Katie Nestico's unique hat-trick, Canton's girls soccer team steamrolled Livonia Churchill, 5-0, last week in a Division 1 district quarterfinal match played on the PCEP grass pitch.

The convincing triumph propelled the Chiefs into a semifinal clash against Salem, which sidelined Livonia Franklin, 8-0, in the second game of the May 22 district doubleheader.

The semifinals and final game were hosted by Dearborn Heights Crestwood. Find results at hometownlife.com.

Nestico's first goal came on a header off a pristine corner kick from Lilian Lucas and accounted for all of the game's first-half scoring.

Not long after Nestico assisted fellow senior Carly Schwinke on the Chiefs' second goal in the 47th minute, the senior forward made it 3-0 when she hooked a free kick from the deepest regions of the right corner through a traffic jam in the box and into the net.

Nestico tripled her pleasure when she placed a soft, strategically-placed penalty kick past Churchill keeper Trinity Vallejo with 20:28 left. The PK was set up by Schwinke, who was taken down in the box by a Charger defender.

Brighton topples Stevenson to win KLAA title

Andrew Vaillencourt
Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

For the first time since 2012, Brighton is the KLAA baseball champion.

Brighton, the KLAA West Division champ, beat East Division winner Livonia Stevenson 8-0 on May 23 at Novi High School.

The Bulldogs relied on the star pitching performance of senior Adam Szerlag, who pitched a complete game shutout, and had four one, two, three innings. He didn't walk a single batter and struck out three.

"It feels pretty amazing," Szerlag said. "It's the first time I've even competed for a conference championship in my three years on varsity. It's pretty cool, I'm pretty speechless. Especially with the guys we're out here winning with, it's a good group of guys and I'm super excited."

Brighton coach Charlie Christner said Szerlag located all of his pitches well, just like he has all year. He made strong pitches when he needed to and let his defense make plays behind him.

"I just went out there and tried to throw strikes and treated it like any other game," Szerlag said. "I knew my defense was behind me, they made four or five amazing plays to help me out. It's a lot easier to pitch when you're up by eight."

Despite the eight runs, none were produced by senior Zach Hopman, who has been a star this season. That left it up to the rest of the lineup to come up with key hits.

Senior Jack Krause went 4-for-4 and had two RBIs, senior Alex DePue drilled a two-run home run and three other players picked up RBIs for Brighton. It's exactly the type of game Christner likes to see.

"These guys all year have been swinging it well and have been pitching and playing good defense. We did that again today, hopefully we can keep that going," Christner said. "Obviously, this is the time of year where you want to play really good baseball and I feel like we are."

"We had a lot of guys who had big hits today. We had a lot of big swings, which is really good."

"We are a unique team in that any six members of our offense are always a threat," Ray Miller said. "Typically when we scout teams, we know a few numbers that we need to focus on and stop. Maybe I'm biased about my team, but I know there's six guys on the field at all times that can go to the net, have their head up and find the open guy or bury the shot. It's a luxury to have."

The balanced offense was necessary for the Wildcats, who were without star junior Harrison Albano after he went down with an injury early in the second quarter. It's unclear whether he will play in next week's regional final against Saline.

Junior Ethan Rottell slid over to fill his spot and did a great job, Miller said.

Plymouth senior goalie Blake Nowicki made several key saves that kept the game's margin wide in the first half and was able to hold off the Mustangs in the second half, despite their offensive pressure.

"Blake was outstanding," Miller said. "He plays some of his best games when they matter most against good teams. I thought early on in the first half, he made some really good saves that realistically, I don't think we should've been up 9-1 or 9-2, maybe it should've been 9-3 or 9-4 at the half. But that's the Blake Nowicki difference."

Miller added that he was pleased with the way his team came out strong, even after the opening goal. Plymouth hasn't typically been a strong first quarter team this season, but being able to bounce back from the early Northville goal was huge for them.

The second half got much tighter. Northville was determined to get back in the game, but never quite got it to the point where the game wasn't in doubt. The Mustangs got to within four in the third quarter, but two fourth quarter Wildcat goals were the dagger. Northville then tacked on two more goals in the final minute, but it was too little, too late.

"I thought the first part of the second half we fell apart defensively a little bit," Miller said. "I was happy with how we finished maybe the last six or seven minutes of the game, we knew we were up and I thought we did a good job killing the clock."

Northville was led offensively by Nick Salamone who scored three goals. Jack Pevovar scored twice for the Mustangs in the fourth quarter.

Senior goalie Jeff Varner also played a great game, despite allowing 11 goals. He made numerous key saves in the second half that kept his team alive, including a series where he made two back-to-back stops on key scoring chances.

"I've known Jeff for a long time and been playing with him for a long time," Carson Miller said. "He's so quick, he can save anything. He's an all-around good goalie."

Plymouth's Carson Miller, left, gets by Northville's Grant Hood. Plymouth will play Saline May 29 in the regional final.

It was a big day both on and off the field for Miller, who is also a running back on the football team. After the game, he received news that he had been named Plymouth High School's Athlete of the Year.

"It's definitely an honor, I'm super happy about it," Miller said. "I couldn't have done it without my teammates, my coaches and my parents, so I want to thank them. I'm kind of shocked. I love playing the games and I work my hardest. It definitely feels good to be recognized like that."

Despite several opportunities to play college sports, Miller decided to head out west where he will be a student studying architectural design at the University of Utah.

"I love the mountains, I love skiing and mountain biking, so I've always wanted to live in the mountains," Miller said. "My dad grew up in Salt Lake City, so we'd visit there every once in a while and it's just one of my favorite places to be. It's always been my dream to get out to Utah."

Before he gets that chance though, he wants to bring a regional title to Plymouth. The regional final against Saline will take place May 29 in Northville. Saline is ranked No. 10 in the state and beat Plymouth by one goal earlier this season.

"Saline is another team that we battle with every year," Miller said. "It's pretty tough, we're really looking forward to it."

Getting consistent production from his entire lineup has made life much better for Christner.

"It's been easy for me," Christner said. "The lineup has been pretty much the same for the last two months. We've had a couple of adjustments here and there but for the most part, most of the guys have been pretty steady."

On the other side, Stevenson scattered seven hits, with its best scoring opportunity coming in the fifth inning, when it strung together three singles in a row. However, no runs came in as the Spartans hit into an inning ending double play. It was clear momentum killer.

"I call it the 'the', we couldn't get the hit to get back into the game and start momentum and that hurt," Stevenson coach Rick Berryman said. "(Szerlag) mixed his pitches well. He moved up and down, in and out and changed speeds well. It's not like we couldn't hit it, he just kept us off-balance. Then when we did get something, we couldn't get the hit."

Stevenson starting pitcher Nate Wa-ligora, who had been solid most of the season, struggled with command for the second time in as many weeks. He lasted just two and 1/3 innings and walked five batters while also hitting one with a pitch. He allowed four runs.

"It happens," Berryman said. "He can either fix it or you go with somebody else."

Zak Ziemba replaced him, allowing two runs in three and 2/3 innings. Brighton scored two more runs off Coltrane Rubner in the seventh to put the game away.

"We have to give them credit," Berryman said. "Their pitcher threw well.

Walks, hit batters and timely hits killed us. It's that simple."

Each team now will be getting ready for the playoffs, which start next week. Stevenson will play Farmington on June 1 at Farmington High School, while Brighton takes on Howell on May 28.

Szerlag isn't sure yet if he'll be on the mound against Howell, but he knows the Bulldogs are poised for a run.

"It's pretty special to have a team that is this solid top to bottom," Szerlag said. "I don't think many teams can say they have that. Whether it's 1-2-3 or 7-8-9, to know you can score runs, it's pretty reassuring."

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Garden City's Staley sails through poll with 8 goals

Andrew Vaillencourt
Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

After scoring eight goals last week in two wins, Garden City soccer player Faith Staley has been voted Hometown Life Prep Athlete of the Week.

She led her team to a conference championship in addition to scoring eight goals (four in each game).

Staley collected 7,878 votes (37%) to take first, edging out second-place finisher Devon Beale of Milford's softball team (6,259 votes, 29.47%).

Seaholm's Abby Righter finished third, Livonia Stevenson's Bobby Cavin took fourth and Clarenceville's Michelle Marzolo ended up in fifth.

It's the second time this spring that Garden City fans have powered one of their athletes to win the award.

We caught up with Staley and asked her a few questions:

What's your favorite memory from this season? Do you have any team or personal goals you're still hoping to accomplish?

"This year I have made so many great memories with the all the girls on the team, but if I had to pick one it would have to be the goal I scored against Country

Day in a non-conference game. Our team goal this year was not only to win our conference ... but also to make it into the district finals."

Who is your favorite sports role model or athlete and why?

"When it comes to soccer, I have always looked up to my oldest brother AJ. AJ is always aggressive to the ball and has very good footwork. When we were little and used to play in the backyard he would not take it easy on me, which pushed me to meet my goals and work harder on and off the field. My favorite professional player would have to be Carli Lloyd."

Who is your favorite musical artist/band and why?

"My two favorite artists are Juice Wrld and A Boogie."

What is your all-time favorite movie (or TV series) and why?

"I also enjoy to watch the TV series called 'The Fosters.'"

What are your plans after high school? What year in school are you?

"After high school I hope to attend Madonna University to pursue my academic and athletic career and apply for their nursing program. I am currently finishing up my junior year at Garden City."

Schinke capped the scoring when she finessed a left-footed ground-hugger between a diving Vallejo and the right post.

Of her three scoring strikes, which one was Nestico most proud?

"I was happy to get a header goal," she said. "I've been getting a lot of heads off of corners lately, but I just wasn't able to put one in until tonight."

Canton dominated time of possession throughout the first half, but managed just one goal thanks in part to stellar goal-keeping play by Vallejo, a freshman, and a flurry of shots that flew over the crossbar.

"We had no idea she was going to be this good," Nestico said of Vallejo. "We finally figured out she's really good up top, so we had to keep our shots low or else she'd just tip them away."

"We struggled a lot shooting on frame. At halftime, Jeannine (Reddy) gave us a good talk and reminded us to keep our heads down when we shot, get our shoulders out over the ball and follow through."

Of her perfectly-placed free-kick goal, Nestico earned an A+ for honesty.

"I was actually trying to cross it, but I got a little lucky and it went in," she said, smiling.

Churchill's offense could never quite get it in gear against a hustling Chief defense that was led by Kylie Sourbeck, Morgan Kroon and Kiera Savage.

Here's How It Works:
 Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
